In 1996, an economist with the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston published a study of the effect of state tax policy on economic development. The study looked at various manufacturing industries in 22 states - including most major manufacturing states - and found no statistically significant correlation between business tax burdens and the location of new investment.

Throw-out Rule for Corporate Apportionment: Section 9.2 of Part IX would exclude certain out-of-state sales of tangible personal property from the base of the sales factor used to apportion business income to North Carolina, effective beginning with the 2002 tax year.

Like the previous provision, this proposal would bring under North Carolina's corporate income tax a part of a corporation's "nowhere" income that is currently not being taxed by any state. Under current law, the formula for determining how much of the business income pie goes to North Carolina focuses on sales, payroll, and property in North Carolina. The sales factor is a ratio of sales in North Carolina to all sales everywhere. Sales of tangible personal property are considered to be "in" the state[15] where the purchaser receives the item. Under the sales factor formula, the more sales a corporation has that are not in North Carolina, the smaller the sales factor used to calculate North Carolina's piece of the business income pie - because the formula assumes those sales will go into another state's piece of the business income pie.

But some sales of tangible personal property don't go into any state's piece of the pie. That may be because they are made in a state that cannot tax the corporation or because they are made to the federal government and so one cannot tell which state they are made in. Without the throw-out rule (or a similar rule called the throw-back rule), 50% to 100% of the profits of a state's corporations may be "no where" income, according to a 2002 article published by Michael Mazerov of the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities.

Under Section 9.2 of the bill, "nowhere" sales (sales of tangible personal property where the purchaser is the federal government or is located in a state or country that cannot tax the corporation) are excluded from the sales factor formula so that they do not reduce the ratio that determines how much of a corporation's business income North Carolina can tax. Thus, if another state cannot consider the sales in calculating its piece of the pie, the sales will not escape tax entirely - instead, there will be an increase in North Carolina's piece of the pie. If every state adopted the throw-out rule, then 100% of a corporation's interstate income would be taxed - there would be no "nowhere" income.

Here is an example of the throw-out rule. Corporation X has 20% of its sales in North Carolina, 20% of its sales in Virginia, and 60% of its sales in Tennessee. The corporation has no nexus with Virginia so Virginia cannot tax its income. Tennessee, like North Carolina current law, has no throw-out or throwback rule. Under current law, the sales factor for North Carolina would be 20% divided by 100%, or 1/5. The sales factor for Tennessee would be 60% divided by 100%, or 3/5. There is no sales factor for Virginia. Thus, the sales factors for North Carolina and Tennessee add up to only 4/5 of the company's sales. As a result, less than 100% of the company's business income will be apportioned to those states for taxation. If North Carolina adopted the throw-out rule, the 20% of sales to Virginia are subtracted from the denominator of the sales factor. Thus, North Carolina's sales factor would be 20% divided by 80%, or 1/4. Because 1/4 is more than 1/5, a larger proportion of the corporation's income would be allocated to North Carolina. If Tennessee also adopted the throw-out rule, its sales factor would be 60% divided by 80%, or 3/4. Thus, the sales factors for the two states would add up to 100% and all of the corporation's sales would be considered in apportioning its business income between the two states.

The throw-out rule and its sibling, the throwback rule, are not new. They predate the 1959 federal law limiting a state's ability to impose corporate income tax on corporations whose only connection with the state is soliciting orders there. The following information on states that do and do not have the throw-out rule or the throwback rule comes from Michael Mazerov of the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities. After the name of each state is listed the percent increase or decrease of manufacturing jobs in that state during the period 1995-2000. For that period, NC's manufacturing jobs decreased 9.5%.

21 States, including North Carolina, do NOT have a throw-out or throwback rule. These states include:

State	Job Loss or Gain
• Florida	0.0%
• Georgia	+0.1%
• South Carolina	-8.0%
• Tennessee	-5.7%
• Virginia	-3.5%

The following 25 States HAVE the throw-out or throwback rule. [16] (The underlined states have the throw-out rule.)

State	Job Loss or Gain
• Alabama	-7.9%
• Alaska	-18.3%
• Arkansas	-3.1%
• California	+8.4%
• Colorado	+6.7%
• Hawaii	+1.2%
• Idaho	+8.2%
• Illinois	-1.8%
• Indiana	+0.6%
• Kansas	+9.8%
• Maine	-6.5%

[16] Washington, D.C. also has the throwback rule, bringing the total to 26. In addition, Massachusetts technically has the throwback rule but Mazerov points out that its rule is full of loopholes so that it is not effective.

- Mississippi -9.3%
- Missouri -4.1%
- Montana +6.0%
- New Hampshire +3.0%
- New Jersey[17] -7.4%
- New Mexico -5.1%
- North Dakota +17.4%
- Oklahoma +6.7%
- Oregon +6.0%
- Texas +5.2%
- Utah +5.6%
- Vermont +8.4%
- West Virginia -2.1%
- Wisconsin +2.5%

According to Mazerov, this information shows that states with the throw-out and throwback rules (and the royalty loophole closing North Carolina enacted last year) are disproportionately represented among states with net manufacturing gains.

LLC Franchise Tax: In 2001, the General Assembly enacted S.L. 2001-327 to close a loophole that allowed corporations to avoid franchise tax on their assets by transferring their assets to a controlled limited liability company (LLC). Corporations pay franchise tax on their assets but LLCs do not pay franchise tax on their assets. Tax planners helped many corporations avoid most of the franchise tax they would otherwise owe by setting up an LLC for the purpose of holding the assets on behalf of the corporation. Although the corporation's business continued in the same way, the corporation eliminated most of its franchise tax through this paper transaction.

The 2001 legislation tried to address this problem by requiring a corporation to pay tax on assets owned by the LLC if the corporation, including its affiliated corporations, indirectly owned[18] at least 70% of the LLC's assets. Unfortunately, tax planners found that the tax could still be avoided by using an additional paper transaction. If the corporation interposed a partnership between itself and the LLC holding its assets, then technically the 2001 legislation would not apply and the assets would continue to escape franchise tax.

Section 9.3 of this Part broadens the approach of the 2001 legislation to include "related members" (other entities and individuals) who may partner with one or more corporate entities to own the LLC to which the corporate assets are transferred. This section would become effective beginning with payments due in March 2003. "Related members" is a term defined in the "trademark royalties" provision of last year's loophole bill and includes shareholders, partnerships, etc.

[17] New Jersey just enacted the throwback rule in 2002.

[18] Indirect ownership of an LLC's assets is determined based on who is entitled to receive those assets upon dissolution of the LLC.

If a corporation and its related members together indirectly own at least 70% of an LLC's assets, this Part provides that each corporation pays franchise tax on its relative share of the LLC's assets. The relative share is calculated after excluding those related members who are not corporations. Thus, the entire assets are subject to franchise tax, with the tax burden shared proportionally by the corporations that are involved in the ownership scheme. The language of the bill accomplishes this by stating that the following percentage of the LLC's assets are taxable to the corporation: "The attributable percentage is equal to the percentage of the limited liability company's assets owned indirectly by the principal corporation divided by the percentage of the limited liability company's assets owned indirectly by related members of the principal corporation that are corporations."

Here is an example:

A parent corporation, its subsidiary, and a major shareholder of the parent form a partnership to own an LLC that will own assets on behalf of the parent and subsidiary. The LLC's documents provide that upon dissolution its assets are distributed as follows:

- Parent Corporation: 20%
- Subsidiary Corporation: 45%
- Shareholder: 35%

Under current law, the assets would remain free of franchise tax. If this Part were enacted, the parent corporation would pay franchise tax on 31% of the assets and the subsidiary corporation would pay franchise tax on 69% of the assets. Those are their relative shares of the total once you exclude the non-corporate owner.

The approach taken by this Part is much broader than the 2001 legislation and is intended to anticipate the creative paper relationships tax planners may devise to try and avoid the franchise tax. The breadth of the provision is such that it could apply to a "legitimate" situation, such as an individual who is the sole shareholder of a corporation and who later forms an LLC with an associate. Under this proposal, the corporation would pay tax on the LLC's assets. Unfortunately, there does not appear to be a way to distinguish this type of situation from one in which the corporation is manipulating relationships to avoid its franchise tax. With different tax treatment of similar entities, tax planners can try to manipulate relationships to fall into the untaxed category. Because corporations and LLCs are similar, there may not be a strong policy reason to treat them differently for franchise tax purposes.

PART X: HOUSING TAX CREDIT EFFECTIVE DATE CHANGE

Part X of this bill enlarges the class of taxpayers eligible for an enhanced credit for investing in low-income housing in a county that sustained severe or moderate damage from a hurricane in 1999. In 1999, the General Assembly enacted a new tax credit for rehabilitating or constructing low-income housing. The credit is equal to a percentage of the amount of the taxpayer's federal credit for low-income housing with respect to eligible North Carolina low-income housing. The credit is 75% for buildings located in tier one or two counties and 25% for buildings located in other tiers. In 2000, the General Assembly enacted legislation providing that the 75% credit is also allowed for buildings located in one of 26 counties that sustained severe or moderate damage from a hurricane in 1999. This increase in the amount of the credit was made effective for buildings that are allocated a federal credit on or after January 1, 2001. The federal tax credits are allocated in December of each year. Thus, those taxpayers who made investments in hurricane counties and were allocated federal credits in December 2000 are not eligible for the enhanced State credit. This act would backdate the effective date for eligibility for the enhanced State credit to from 2001 to 2000, thereby including those who were allocated federal credits for investments in hurricane counties during 2000.

EXAMPLES RELATING TO THE DEFINITION OF "BUSINESS INCOME" IN SECTION 9.1.

Investment in an unrelated corporation. Corporation A is a manufacturer domiciled in State 1 and has business operations in States 1 and 2 and in North Carolina. Corporation A buys stock in Corporation B. Corporation A and Corporation B are not involved in the same industry and the stock is held for investment purposes only. Corporation A does not actively participate in the management of Corporation B and does not integrate operations with Corporation B. Corporation A recognizes no economies of scale due to its ownership interest in Corporation B. Corporation A and B are not unitary. Corporation A sells the Corporation B stock and recognizes a capital gain. Under this bill, the capital gain is not apportionable to North Carolina. (See: Allied Signal, Inc. v. Director, Division of Taxation, 504 U.S. 768, 112 S.Ct. 2251, 119 L.Ed.2d 533 (1992).) This income would also be nonapportionable, non-business income under current North Carolina law.

Reversion of excess pension funds. Corporation A is a manufacturer domiciled in State 1 and has business operations in States 1 and 2 and in North Carolina. Corporation A has made contributions to a defined-benefit employee pension plan for a number of years and has deducted these contributions from business income. The plan is found to be over-funded and a reversion of excess pension funds is allowed. The reverted funds are ordinary income for federal tax purposes. Under current North Carolina law, because the reversion is not a transaction that takes place in the regular course of business and because the right to a reversion is not an integral part of the corporation's regular course of business, the reverted funds are treated as non-business income and would not be subject to apportionment. (See: Union Carbide v. Offerman, 351 N.C. 310, 526 S.E.2d 167 (2000).) Under this bill, the reversion would be income subject to apportionment because it is income derived from a unitary business.

Liquidation of wholly-owned subsidiaries. Corporation X is a manufacturer domiciled in State 1 and has business operations in States 1 and 2 and in North Carolina. Corporations A, B, and C are wholly owned subsidiaries of Corporation X. Corporations A, B, and C are domiciled in State 1 and have no business operations in North Carolina. Corporation X liquidates Corporations A, B, and C and immediately distributes the proceeds of the liquidations to Corporation X's shareholders. Corporation X recognizes a capital gain from the liquidations.

Liquidation of Corporation A - There is centralized management between Corporations X and A and their operations are functionally integrated. Corporations X and A therefore constitute a unitary business, part of which is conducted in North Carolina. Under this bill, the proceeds of the liquidation of Corporation A would be subject to apportionment.

Liquidation of Corporation B - Corporations X and B are engaged in the same general line of business. Corporation B supplies Corporation X with the majority of a product used in Corporation X's manufacturing operations. Corporation B therefore performs an operational function in Corporation X's business. Under this bill, the proceeds of the liquidation of Corporation B would be subject to apportionment.

Liquidation of Corporation C - There is no centralized management, functional integration, or economies of scale between Corporations X and C, and Corporation C performs no operational function in Corporation X's business. Corporation C is not part of Corporation X's unitary business. Under this bill, the proceeds of the liquidation would not be subject to apportionment.

(Note: This bill removes the confusion under current law created by the decision in Lenox v. Tolson regarding the apportionability of income from the liquidation of an operating division or subsidiary. In Lenox v. Tolson, the Court found that the liquidation of a separate line of business was not a transaction in Lenox's regular course of business and was not a disposition of property integral to Lenox's regular trade or business. The Court held that the proceeds were therefore nonbusiness income and not apportionable. The Court, however, failed to analyze whether the acquisition or management of the property constituted integral parts of the corporation's regular trade or business, an analysis required under the actual language of the statute, the Department's administrative rules, and the Court's prior decision in Polaroid v. Offerman. As the dissent in Lenox points out, the property of ArtCarved was an integral part of Lenox's regular trade or business and the proceeds from the liquidation of this property should therefore have been apportionable business income under previous opinions of the Court.)

Receipt of dividends from wholly-owned subsidiaries. Corporation A is a retailer domiciled in State 1 and has business operations in States 1 and 2 and in North Carolina. Corporations B, C, and D are wholly owned subsidiaries of Corporation A. Corporations B, C, and D are engaged in retailing in foreign countries. Corporation A has no functional integration and no centralized management with Corporations B, C, and D. Corporation A realizes no economies of scale due to its ownership of Corporations B, C, and D. Corporations B, C, and D are therefore not part of a unitary business with Corporation A. Corporations B, C, and D perform no operational function in Corporation A's business. Corporation A receives dividends from Corporations B, C, and D. Therefore, under this bill, as well as under current North Carolina law, this income would not be apportionable. (See: F.W. Woolworth Co. v. Taxation and Revenue Dept. of NM, 458 U.S. 354, 102 S.Ct. 3128, 73 L.Ed.2d 819 (1982).)

"Article 42.

~~Additional Supplemental~~ Second One-Half Cent (1/2¢) Local Government Sales and Use ~~Taxes.~~Tax."

SECTION 1.15.(b) G.S. 105-495 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-495. Short title.

This Article ~~shall be known as the Additional Supplemental~~ is the Second One-Half Cent (1/2¢) Local Government Sales and Use Tax Act."

SECTION 1.16. The definitions in G.S. 105-521 apply in this section. As soon as practicable after September 15, 2002, the Secretary of Revenue must determine for each local government the product of its local sales tax share multiplied by the estimated amount that all local governments would be expected to receive during the 2002-2003 fiscal year if every county levied the tax under G.S. 105-517 effective January 1, 2003. The Secretary must then compare this estimated tax amount for each local government to the local government's repealed reimbursement amount. If the repealed reimbursement amount is more than three times the estimated tax amount for any local government, the Secretary must pay that local government the excess of its repealed reimbursement amount over three times its estimated tax amount. The Secretary must draw these funds from the source provided in G.S. 105-521(c).

In addition, a taxpayer who was allowed a thirty percent (30%) accelerated depreciation deduction under section 168(k) or section 1400L of the Code in a taxable year beginning before January 1, 2002, and whose

North Carolina taxable income in that earlier year reflected that accelerated depreciation deduction must add to federal taxable income in the taxpayer's first taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 2002, an amount equal to the amount of the deduction allowed in the earlier taxable year. These adjustments do not result in a difference in basis of the affected assets for State and federal income tax purposes. The applicable percentage is as follows:

Taxable Year	Percentage
2004 and thereafter	0%"

SECTION 3.2.(b) G.S. 105-134.6(c) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

In addition, a taxpayer who was allowed a thirty percent (30%) accelerated depreciation deduction under section 168(k) or section 1400L of the Code in a taxable year beginning before January 1, 2002, and whose North Carolina taxable income in that earlier year reflected that accelerated depreciation deduction must add to federal taxable income in the taxpayer's first taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 2002, an amount equal to the amount of the deduction allowed in the earlier taxable year. These adjustments do not result in a difference in basis of the affected assets for State and federal income tax purposes. The applicable percentage is as follows:

Taxable Year	Percentage
2004 and thereafter	0%"

SECTION 3.2.(c) This section is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2002.

SECTION 3.3.(a) G.S. 105-130.5(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(b) The following deductions from federal taxable income shall be made in determining State net income:

...

(21) In each of the taxpayer's first five taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2005, an amount equal to twenty percent (20%) of the amount added to taxable income in a previous year as accelerated depreciation under subdivision (a)(15) of this section."

SECTION 3.3.(b) G.S. 105-134.6(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(b) Deductions. – The following deductions from taxable income shall be made in calculating North Carolina taxable income, to the extent each item is included in taxable income:

(17) In each of the taxpayer's first five taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2005, an amount equal to twenty percent (20%) of the amount added to taxable income in a previous year as accelerated depreciation under subdivision (c)(8) of this section."

SECTION 3.3.(c) This section is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2002.

SECTION 3.4.(a) G.S. 105-32.2(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Amount. – The amount of the estate tax imposed by this section is the maximum credit for state death taxes allowed under section 2011 of the ~~Code.~~ Code without regard to the phase-out of that credit under subdivision (b)(2) of that section. If any property in the estate is located in a state other than North Carolina, the amount of tax payable is the North Carolina percentage of the credit.

If the decedent was a resident of this State at death, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of the estate that does not have a tax situs in another state, divided by the net value of all property in the estate. If the decedent was not a resident of this State at death, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of real property that is located in North Carolina plus the net value of any personal property that has a tax situs in North Carolina, divided by the net value of all property in the estate, unless the decedent's state of residence uses a different formula to determine that state's percentage. In that circumstance, the North Carolina percentage is the amount determined by the formula used by the decedent's state of residence.

The net value of property that is located in or has a tax situs in this State is its gross value reduced by any debt secured by that property. The net value of all the property in the estate is its gross value reduced by any debts and deductions of the estate."

SECTION 3.4.(b) This section is effective on and after January 1, 2002, and applies to the estates of decedents dying on or after that date. This section is repealed effective for the estates of decedents dying on or after January 1, 2004.

SECTION 3.5. Effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2002, G.S. 105-134.6(b)(13) is repealed.

SECTION 3.6. Notwithstanding Section 3.1 of this act, any amendments to the Internal Revenue Code enacted in 2001 that increase North Carolina taxable income for the 2001 taxable year become effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2002.

SECTION 3.7.(a) G.S. 105-188(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) Annual Exclusion. – The annual exclusion amount is equal to the federal inflation-adjusted exclusion amount provided in section 2503(b) of the Code. Gifts not exceeding a total value ~~of ten thousand dollars ($10,000)~~equal to the annual exclusion amount made to any one donee in a calendar year are not taxable under this Article. When gifts exceeding a total value ~~of ten thousand dollars ($10,000)~~ equal to the annual exclusion amount are made to any one donee in a calendar year, only the portion of the gifts exceeding ~~ten thousand dollars ($10,000)~~the annual exclusion amount in value is taxable under this Article. This exclusion does not apply to gifts of future interests in property. For the purposes of determining the ~~exclusion herein provided,~~annual exclusion, no part of a gift to an individual, or in trust for an individual, who has not attained the age of 21 years on the date of ~~such~~ the transfer ~~shall be~~is considered a gift of a future interest in property if the property and the income therefrom meet all of the following conditions: (i) they may be expended by, or for the benefit of, the donee before ~~his attaining~~the donee reaches the age of 21 ~~years, and~~years; (ii) they will to the extent not so expended pass to the donee ~~on his attaining~~when the donee reaches the age of 21 ~~years, and~~years; and (iii) they will, in the event the donee dies before ~~attaining the age of 21 years,~~reaching that age, be payable to the estate of the donee or as ~~he~~ the donee may appoint under a general power of appointment.

When a gift is made by one spouse to a person other than the donor's spouse, the donor may claim both the donor's annual exclusion and the spouse's annual exclusion ~~provided that~~ if both spouses consent and both spouses are residents of this State when the gift is made. Consent to share annual gift tax exclusions ~~shall~~ must be made in writing on a timely filed gift tax return. Once given, consent to share annual exclusions is irrevocable."

SECTION 3.7.(b) This section is effective January 1, 2002, and applies to gifts made on or after that date."

PART IV. UNAUTHORIZED SUBSTANCE TAX EXPENSES

SECTION 4.1. G.S. 105-501 is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"...

In determining the net proceeds of the tax to be distributed, the Secretary shall deduct from the collections to be allocated an amount equal to one-fourth of the costs during the preceding fiscal year of:

...

(1a) Seventy percent (70%) of the expenses of the Department of Revenue in performing the duties imposed by Article 2D of this Chapter.

SECTION 4.2. This Part becomes effective June 30, 2002.

PART V. INSURANCE REGULATORY CHARGE

SECTION 5.(a) The percentage rate to be used in calculating the insurance regulatory charge under G.S. 58-6-25 is six and one-half percent (6.5%) for the 2002 calendar year.

SECTION 5.(b) This section is effective when it becomes law.

PART VI. REGULATORY FEE FOR UTILITIES COMMISSION

SECTION 6.(a) The percentage rate to be used in calculating the public utility regulatory fee under G.S. 62-302(b)(2) is one-tenth percent (0.1%) for each public utility's North Carolina jurisdictional revenues earned during each quarter that begins on or after July 1, 2002.

SECTION 6.(c) This section becomes effective July 1, 2002.

PART VII. RESERVED

PART VIII. SECURE LOCAL REVENUES

SECTION 8.1. G.S. 105-113.82(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) Time. – The revenue shall be distributed to cities and counties within 60 days after March 31 of each year. The General Assembly finds that the revenue distributed under this section is local revenue, not a State expenditure, for the purpose of Section 5(3) of Article III of the North Carolina Constitution. Therefore, the Governor may not reduce or withhold the distribution."

SECTION 8.2. G.S. 105-116.1(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Distribution. – The Secretary must distribute to the cities part of the taxes collected under this Article on electric power companies. Each city's share for a calendar quarter is the percentage distribution amount for that city for that quarter minus one-fourth of the city's hold-back amount and one-fourth of the city's proportionate share of the annual cost to the Department of administering the distribution. The Secretary must make the distribution within 75 days after the end of each calendar quarter. The General Assembly finds that the revenue distributed under this section is local revenue, not a State expenditure, for the purpose of Section 5(3) of Article III of the North Carolina Constitution. Therefore, the Governor may not reduce or withhold the distribution."

SECTION 8.3. G.S. 105-187.44(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Distribution. – Within 75 days after the end of each calendar quarter, the Secretary must distribute to the cities part of the tax proceeds collected under this Article during that quarter. The amount to be distributed to a city is one-half of the amount of tax attributable to that city for that quarter under subsection (a) of this section. The General Assembly finds that the revenue distributed under this section is local revenue, not a State expenditure, for the purpose of Section 5(3) of Article III of the North Carolina Constitution. Therefore, the Governor may not reduce or withhold the distribution."

SECTION 9.1.(b) This section is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2002.

SECTION 9.2.(a) G.S. 105-130.4(l) reads as rewritten:

"(l) (1) Sales factor. – The sales factor is a fraction, the numerator of which is the total sales of the corporation in this State during the income year, and the denominator of which is the total sales of the corporation everywhere during the income year. Not withstanding any other provision under this Part, the receipts from any casual sale of property shall be excluded from both the numerator and the denominator of the sales factor. Where a corporation is not taxable in another state on its business income but is taxable in another state only because of nonbusiness income, all sales shall be treated as having been made in this State.

(2) Tangible personal property. – Sales of tangible personal property are excluded from the denominator if they are sales to the United States government or sales that are in a state in which the taxpayer is not taxable. Sales of tangible personal property are in this State if the property is received in this State by the ~~purchaser.~~purchaser and the purchaser is not the United States government. In the case of delivery of goods by common carrier or by other means of transportation, including transportation by the purchaser, the place at which the goods are ultimately received after all transportation has been completed shall be considered as the place at which the goods are received by the purchaser. Direct delivery into this State by the taxpayer to a person or firm designated by a purchaser from within or without the State shall constitute delivery to the purchaser in this State.

(3) Other sales. – Other sales are in this State if:

a. The receipts are from real or tangible personal property located in this State; or

b. The receipts are from intangible property and are received from sources within this State; or

c. The receipts are from services and the income-producing activities are in this State."

SECTION 9.2.(b) This section is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2002.

SECTION 9.3.(a) Section 2(a) of S.L. 2001-327 reads as rewritten:

"EQUALIZE FRANCHISE TAX ON CORPORATE-AFFILIATED LLCs

SECTION 2.(a) The General Assembly finds that most corporations engaged in business in this State comply with the State franchise tax on corporate assets. Some taxpayers, however, take advantage of an unintended loophole in the law and avoid franchise tax by transferring their assets to a controlled limited liability company. This tax avoidance creates an unfair burden on corporate citizens that pay the franchise tax on their assets. It is the intent of this section to apply the franchise tax equally to assets held by corporations and assets held by corporate-affiliated limited liability companies.

It is also the intent of this section to provide that a criminal penalty applies to taxpayers who fraudulently evade the tax.

The General Assembly further finds that, after this loophole was closed in 2001, some taxpayers continue to avoid franchise tax by manipulating ownership of assets. One method is to interpose a controlled partnership between the corporation and the controlled limited liability company. This tax avoidance creates an unfair burden on corporate citizens that pay the franchise tax on their assets. It is the intent of the General Assembly to apply the franchise tax equally to assets held by corporations and assets held by corporate-controlled entities."

SECTION 9.3.(b) G.S. 105-114(c) is recodified as G.S. 105-114.1 and reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-114.1. Limited liability companies.

(a) Definitions. – The definitions in G.S. 105-130.7A apply in this section. In addition, the following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Governing law. – A limited liability company's governing law is determined under G.S. 57C-6-05 or G.S. 57C-7-01, as applicable.

(2) Owned indirectly. – A person owns indirectly assets of a limited liability company if the limited liability company's governing law provides that seventy percent (70%) or more of its assets, after payments to creditors, must be distributed upon dissolution to the person as of the last day of the principal corporation's taxable year.

(3) Principal corporation. – A corporation that is a member of a limited liability company or has a related member that is a member of a limited liability company.

(b) Controlled Companies. – If a corporation or a related member of the corporation is a member of a limited liability company and the principal corporation and any related members of the principal corporation together own indirectly ~~the limited liability company's governing law provides that~~ seventy percent (70%) or more of ~~its~~ the limited liability company's assets, ~~after payments to creditors, must be distributed upon dissolution to the member corporation or to includible corporations of an affiliated group in which the member corporation is includible,~~ then the following provisions apply:

(1) ~~(i)~~ aA percentage of the limited liability company's income, assets, liabilities, and equity is attributed to that ~~member~~ principal corporation and must be included in the ~~member~~ principal corporation's computation of tax under this ~~Article, and (ii) the~~ Article.

(2) The principal ~~member~~ corporation's investment in the limited liability company is not included in the ~~member~~ principal corporation's computation of tax under this Article.

(3) The attributable percentage is equal to the percentage of the limited liability company's ~~assets, after payments to creditors, that would be distributable to the member corporation~~ assets owned indirectly by the principal corporation divided by the percentage of the limited liability company's assets owned indirectly by related members of the principal corporation that are corporations. ~~under the limited liability company's governing law if the limited liability company dissolved as of the last day of the member corporation's taxable year.~~

(c) Other Companies. – In all other cases, none of the limited liability company's income, assets, liabilities, or equity is attributed to a ~~member~~ principal corporation under this Article. ~~A limited liability company's governing law is determined under G.S. 57C-6-05 or G.S. 57C-7-01, as applicable. The definitions in section 1504 of the Code apply in this subsection.~~

(d) Penalty. – A taxpayer who, because of fraud with intent to evade tax, underpays the tax under this Article on assets attributable to it under this ~~subsection~~ section is guilty of a Class H felony in accordance with G.S. 105-236(7)."

SECTION 9.3.(c) This section becomes effective January 1, 2003, and applies to taxes due on or after that date.

PART X. HOUSING TAX CREDIT EFFECTIVE DATE CHANGE

SECTION 10. Section 10.(f) of S.L. 2000-56 reads as rewritten:

"SECTION 10.(f) Low-Income Housing Credit Changes. – G.S. 105-129.16B(d), as amended by Section 7 of this act, is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2000. The remainder of Section 7 is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2001, applies to buildings to which federal credits are allocated on or after January 1, ~~2001,~~2000, and expires January 1, 2005."

PART XI. SEVERABILITY CLAUSE AND EFFECTIVE DATE

SECTION 11.1. The provisions of this act are severable. If any provision of this act is held invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction, the invalidity does not affect other provisions of the act that can be given effect without the invalid provision.

SECTION 11.2. Except as otherwise provided, this act is effective when it becomes law. Notwithstanding G.S. 105-163.15 and G.S. 105-163.41, no addition to tax may be made under those statutes for a taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 2002, and before January 1, 2003, with respect to an underpayment of corporate or individual income tax to the extent the underpayment was created or increased by this act.

Senate Bill 1292 (PCS): Budget Revenue Act of 2002

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: July 24, 2002
Version: Draft

Introduced by: Senators Kerr and Hoyle
Summary by: Finance Team

SUMMARY: The proposed House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1292 contains the following tax changes:

- PART I accelerates the 2001 legislation establishing a sales tax swap, as follows:
  - Accelerates the effective date of the local option sales tax from July 1, 2003, to January 1, 2003.
  - Accelerates the sunset of the State's half-cent sales tax from July 1, 2003, to January 1, 2003.
  - Accelerates the repeal of the tax reimbursements, from July 1, 2003, to July 1, 2002.
  - Does not accelerate the hold harmless for local governments beginning in the 2003-2004 fiscal year, but provides a partial payment in 2002-2003 to those local governments with the greatest loss. Also sunsets the hold harmless provision in 2012.
  - Accelerates the change from quarterly sales tax distributions to monthly sales tax distributions, from July 1, 2003, to October 1, 2002.
- PART II delays the income tax breaks enacted in 2001. This Part is identical to the Senate version.
  - The phase-in of the increase in the standard deduction for married taxpayers is delayed until January 1, 2003.
  - The phase-in of the additional child tax credit amount is delayed until January 1, 2003.
- PART III conforms North Carolina's tax laws to many of the federal tax law changes enacted in 2001 and 2002, and to the gift tax annual exclusion. Except for the gift tax change and a reduction in the bonus depreciation add-back, this Part is identical to the Senate version.
  - Conform to the educational provisions in EGTRRA.
  - Conform to the pension tax provisions in EGTRRA.
  - Conform to the net operating loss provisions in EGTRRA.
  - Conform to the miscellaneous provisions in EGTRRA and in the Job Creation and Worker Assistance Act of 2002.
  - Conform to the increased estate tax limits in EGTRRA.
  - The bill does NOT conform to either the phase-out of the State estate death tax credit in EGTRRA or the accelerated depreciation provisions in the Job Creation and Worker Assistance Act of 2002.

- PART IV provides that local governments will bear a portion of the costs associated with the collection of the drug tax. These costs are currently borne entirely by the General Fund. Except for a correction to the effective date, this Part is identical to the Senate version.
- PART V sets the insurance regulatory fee at 6.5% for the 2002 calendar year. This rate is the same as the 2001 rate. This Part is identical to the Senate version.
- PART VI sets the public utility regulatory fee at 0.1% for the 2002-2003 fiscal year. It also sets the electric membership corporation regulatory fee at $200,000 for the 2002-03 fiscal year. These rates are the same as the rates established last year. This Part is identical to the Senate version.
- PART VII is reserved.
- PART VIII seeks to secure local revenues in two ways, listed below. This Part is identical to House Bill 1490 as it passed the House. It is similar to the corresponding provision in the Senate version.[1]
    - It prohibits the Governor from withholding certain shared tax revenues by classifying them as "local revenues" rather than "State expenditures" thus arguably removing those funds from the scope of the Governor's constitutional budgetary authority.
    - It restricts the Governor's ability to withhold funds otherwise appropriated or committed to local governments, including reimbursement money, by requiring that the Governor first exhaust all other sources of revenue, including surplus in the treasury at the beginning of the fiscal period, and be authorized to withhold the funds by an act of the General Assembly.
- PART IX closes three corporate tax loopholes, as described below. There is no corresponding provision in the Senate version.
    - Broadens the definition of "business income" to include all income that states can apportion for corporate income tax purposes under the U.S. Constitution, effective beginning with the 2002 tax year.
    - Provides that sales that no state or country has the right to tax are "thrown out" of the calculation of profits to apportioned among the states, thereby increasing the percentage apportioned to North Carolina for the purpose of corporate income taxation, effective beginning with the 2002 tax year.
    - Tightens the 2001 legislation that was intended to close a loophole that allows corporations to escape franchise tax by transferring assets to a controlled limited liability company, effective beginning with payments due in March 2003.
- PART X enlarges the class of taxpayers eligible for an enhanced credit for investing in low-income housing in a county that sustained severe or moderate damage from a hurricane in 1999. There is no corresponding provision in the Senate version.

[1] The Senate version lacks the conforming change to the electric cities statute, and lacks the extra requirement that the Governor needs General Assembly authorization before releasing any funds committed to local governments.

PART I: ACCELERATE SALES TAX SWAP

State and Local Sales Tax Changes.

Part I of this bill accelerates many of the provisions enacted last session and modifies others. The 2001 legislation authorized counties to levy additional local sales taxes of ½%, effective July 1, 2003. Under this bill, the tax may become effective as early as January 1, 2003. The 2001 legislation imposed an additional State ½% sales tax that was set to expire July 1, 2003. The bill would sunset this State tax January 1, 2003. Thus, the combined State and local rate would never exceed 6 ½%. To accomplish the sales tax acceleration, the bill provides for the following:

- It would allow the counties to enact the tax in the first 6 months of 2003 with a shortened notice to the Department of Revenue.
- It would allow counties and cities to amend their budget ordinances after July 1st to reduce their property tax levy to account for unanticipated revenues.
- It would authorize the Department of Revenue to withhold up to $275,000 for 2002-2003 to cover its excess nonrecurring costs for implementing the new sales tax on short notice.
- It would exempt the Department of Revenue from the public contract bidding requirements for the procurement of supplies, materials, equipment, and contractual services related to the provision of notice and the development of computer software necessitated by the expedited provisions of the bill.

Under general law, a county must give the Secretary of Revenue at least 90 days advance notice of a new tax levy or tax rate change; and a new tax levy or a tax rate change may become effective only on January 1 or July 1. This bill provides for an expedited levy. If the county enacts the tax effective to become effective in the first half of the 2003 calendar year, the tax may become effective on the first day of any month from January through July and the county must give the Secretary only 30 days advance notice of the tax levy. Thereafter, the current law requirements of 90 days notice and a January 1 or July 1 effective date are reinstated.

Under current law, counties are authorized to levy up to 2% local sales and use taxes[2]. All counties levy the maximum rate. The State collects the tax and distributes it quarterly to the counties and municipalities. In 2001, the General Assembly provided that local sales taxes must be distributed monthly rather than quarterly, effective July 1, 2003. This bill accelerates the effective date of the monthly distribution schedule to October 1, 2002.

Local Government Reimbursements.

In 2001, the General Assembly repealed all of the State's reimbursement payments to local governments, effective beginning with the 2003-2004 fiscal year. This bill would accelerate the repeal, effective July 1, 2002.

The 2001 legislation would have provided local governments "hold harmless" payments beginning in 2003-2004 if the amount they could potentially realize from the levy of the half-cent sales tax was less than the amount they would lose from the reimbursements. This bill does not accelerate the hold harmless provision, so it will not be in effect for the 2002-2003 fiscal year. It does, however, provide a one-time payment in 2002 for those local governments that would lose the most revenue from the swap in 2002-2003. If a local government's loss from the repeal of the reimbursements exceeds three times its potential proceeds from the new tax, the Department of Revenue will pay the excess to the local government.

The full, annual hold harmless payments will begin September 15, 2003, under the provision enacted in the 2001 legislation. This bill sunsets these hold harmless payments after the September 15, 2011 payment. The Department of Revenue will make these hold harmless distribution annually, drawing the funds from State sales tax collections.

State reimbursements are amounts distributed to local units to compensate them for revenue lost as a result of the removal by the General Assembly of property from the local sales and use tax base, the local property tax base, or the intangibles tax base. State reimbursements consist of reimbursements for the repeal of the property tax on inventories and on poultry and livestock, the repeal of the intangibles tax, the "homestead exclusion" from property tax, and the repeal of local sales and use taxes on food purchased with food stamps.

This bill does not repeal or reduce the distribution of local government tax-sharing revenues: excise tax on beer and wine, franchise tax on electricity, gross receipts tax on piped natural gas, sales tax on telecommunications service, and the Powell bill revenues.

PART II: DELAY 2001 TAX BREAKS

Last session, the General Assembly enacted two income tax breaks to become effective for 2002 tax year[3]: elimination of the marriage tax penalty[4] and an increased tax credit for children. Part II of this bill delays the enactment of these tax benefits.

Last session, the General Assembly reduced North Carolina income taxes on married couples that claim the standard deduction[5] by increasing the amount of the standard deduction for married filers so that it would be twice that of a single taxpayer. Since 1989, the basic standard deduction for a single person in North Carolina has been $3,000 while that for a married couple filing jointly has been $5,000. The increase in the deduction enacted in 2001 is phased in over the 2002 and 2003 tax years. The standard deduction for married persons filing separately is one-half that for a married couple filing jointly, so the 2001 act also phased it up from $2,500 to

[4] The so-called married tax penalty is the result of a tax system that recognizes that a married couple's living expenses are less than the expenses of two single people living separately but more than the expenses of one single person. In addition, if one spouse is not employed full-time, a married couple's income would be less than that of two comparable single people who work full-time, but more than that of one single person. The tax law addresses these situations through the tax brackets, the personal exemptions, and the standard deduction. The result of these tax provisions is that a married couple with only one spouse working experiences a tax reduction when they marry, a married couple where one spouse earns substantially more than the other experiences no tax reduction or increase when they marry, and a married couple with both spouses earning roughly the same amount experience a tax increase when they marry.

$3,000 over the 2002 and 2003 tax years. Part II of this bill would delay by one year the phase-in of the increased deduction, so that it would occur over the 2003 and 2004 tax years.

In 2001, the General Assembly increased the $60 tax credit per child to $75 for the 2002 tax year and to $100 for the 2003 tax year. Part II of this bill would delay the phase-in of the credit increase until the 2003 and 2004 tax years. The 1995 General Assembly enacted the tax credit of $60 per child for taxpayers who have dependent children and have family adjusted gross income below $100,000 for a married couple and $80,000 for a head of household. Neither the 2001 act nor this bill changes the income thresholds. The credit is in addition to the federal and state tax credits or exclusions for child care expenses. The credit is allowed for each dependent child for whom the eligible taxpayer could take a federal personal exemption under section 151(c)(1)(B) of the Internal Revenue Code. That Code section allows an exemption for each dependent child who either is less than 19 years old at the end of the taxable year or is a student and is less than 24 years old at the end of the taxable year. A child is a son, stepson, daughter, or stepdaughter. A dependent child is a child over half of whose support was provided by the taxpayer.

PART III: UPDATE IRC REFERENCE

North Carolina's tax law tracks many provisions of the federal Internal Revenue Code, by reference to the Code.[6] The General Assembly determines each year whether to update its reference to the Internal Revenue Code.[7] Updating the Internal Revenue Code reference makes recent amendments to the Code applicable to the State to the extent that State law previously tracked federal law. The General Assembly's decision whether to conform to federal changes is based on the fiscal, practical, and policy implications of the federal changes and is normally enacted in the following year, rather than in the same year the federal changes are made.

Congress enacted two bills that have changed the Code significantly since January 1, 2001:

- The Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2001 (EGTRRA), enacted on June 7, 2001, includes numerous changes to the taxation of pension benefits, accounts, distributions, and rollovers; of education initiatives; and of estates. All of the provisions of EGTRRA will expire on December 31, 2010, unless the provisions are renewed or modified by Congressional action.[8]
- The federal Job Creation and Worker Assistance Act of 2002, enacted March 9, 2002, includes an accelerated 30% bonus depreciation allowance for certain assets placed in service after September 10, 2001, and before September 11, 2004, and an extension of the [6] North Carolina first began referencing the Internal Revenue Code in 1967, the year it changed its taxation of corporate income to a percentage of federal taxable income.

[7] The North Carolina Constitution imposes an obstacle to a statute that automatically adopts any changes in federal tax law. Article V, Section 2(1) of the Constitution provides in pertinent part that the "power of taxation ... shall never be surrendered, suspended, or contracted away." Relying on this provision, the North Carolina court decisions on delegation of legislative power to administrative agencies, and an analysis of the few federal cases on this issue, the Attorney General's Office concluded in a memorandum issued in 1977 to the Director of the Tax Research Division of the Department of Revenue that a "statute which adopts by reference future amendments to the Internal Revenue Code would ... be invalidated as an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power."

carryback period for net operating losses occurring in tax years ending in 2001 and 2002 from two years to five years.

Both of these acts will substantially affect a taxpayer's federal taxable income. Since North Carolina begins its corporate and individual income tax calculations with federal taxable income, these acts also have a substantial impact on North Carolina's tax revenues to the extent the State chooses to conform to those changes.

Part III of this bill rewrites the definition of the Code to change the reference date from January 1, 2001, to May 1, 2002. It then provides that a taxpayer must add to federal taxable income the amount allowed as an accelerated depreciation deduction under section 168(k) or 1400L of the Code and that a taxpayer's estate tax liability is determined without regard to the phase-out of the state death tax credit. In effect, Part III would do the following:

- Conform to all of the pension tax changes in the Code.
- Conform to all of the education initiatives in the Code.
- Conform to the increased estate tax exemption limitations.
- Not conform to the phase-out of the state death tax credit.
- Conform to the extension of the carryback period for net operating losses occurring in tax years ending in 2001 and 2002.
- Delay the accelerated 30% bonus depreciation allowance.

Pension Tax Provisions: This Part conforms North Carolina's tax treatment of pension benefits and distributions to federal law. Some of the more notable changes EGTRRA made to the pension laws include:

- It allows taxpayers to contribute more to their tax-deferred retirement accounts. It gradually increases the amount that may be contributed to a 401(k), 403(b), and 457 accounts between 2002 and 2006. The contribution limit will increase to $15,000 in 2006. Starting in 2007, the limit will be indexed for inflation in $500 increments. It also allows persons who are 50 or older to make an additional catch-up contribution to their tax-deferred retirement accounts.
- It increases the amounts that may be contributed to both traditional IRAs and Roth IRAs from $2,000 in 2001 to $3,000 in 2002. This amount gradually increases to $5,000 for 2008. After 2008, this amount will be indexed annually for inflation. It also allows people over the age of 50 to make catch-up contributions to an IRA.
- It modifies the distribution rules for governmental 457 plan participants so that their deferred compensation funds will be taxed when they receive the distribution, not when it is made available to them.
- It repeals the coordination of deferrals between 457 and other elective deferral plans. Under former law, the maximum deferral amount for a 457 plan was reduced dollar for dollar by any contribution made to other types of retirement plans. The tax law change means that a person may defer the maximum annual contribution limit to a 457 plan as well as the maximum amount in a 401(k) or 403(b) plan.
- It expands the types of eligible tax-free rollover distributions to include distributions from qualified plans, 403(b) annuities, and 457 plans to other such plans and distributions from IRAs to qualified plans, 403(b) annuities, and 457 plans.

- It allows a surviving spouse to roll over distributions from a deceased spouse's plan to his or her own plan. Prior to this change, the tax-free rollover had to be made to an IRA.

Education Tax Provisions: This Part conforms North Carolina tax law on education incentives to the federal changes enacted last year. The more notable tax changes affecting education incentives include:

- It increases the annual maximum contribution limit to an education IRA from $500 to $2,000 per beneficiary.
- It allows education IRAs dollars to be used to cover expenses of students in grade, middle, and high schools.
- It eases the restrictions and limitations when using an Education IRA with other education initiatives, such as the Hope or Lifetime Learning tax credit.
- It moves the annual contribution deadline for Education IRAs from December 31 to April 15 of the following year.
- It provides that distributions from Section 529 Plans will be income-tax free up to the amount that is used to pay qualified higher education expenses.[9] Under former law, participants enjoyed only the benefit of tax-deferred contributions and investment growth.
- It allows a person to transfer 529 plan credits from one program to another for the benefit of the same beneficiary without incurring a taxable event.
- It extends the deduction for employer-paid college expenses to include graduate courses.

Estate Tax Provisions: North Carolina repealed its inheritance tax in 1998, effective for deaths occurring on or after January 1, 1999. It replaced its inheritance tax with an estate tax that is equivalent to the federal state death tax credit allowed on a federal estate tax return. This type of state estate tax is known as a "pick-up" tax because it picks up for the state the amount of federal estate tax that would otherwise be paid to the federal government.[10] EGTRRA made two changes that affect the estate tax:

- It phases out the estate tax over the next eight years by increasing the exclusion amount from $675,000 in 2001 to $1 million in 2002-03, $1.5 million in 2004-05, $2 million in 2006-08, and $3.5 million in 2009. There is no need for an exemption amount after 2009 since the tax is repealed in 2010. However, the tax is scheduled to reapply in 2011 unless a future Congress makes the repeal permanent. If the tax were reinstated in 2011, the exclusion amount would be $1 million. This bill would conform North Carolina's exemption limits to the federal exemption limits to ensure that estates in North Carolina do not have to pay State tax if there is no federal tax due.
- It phases out the state death tax credit over the next four years by reducing it 25% in 2002, 50% in 2003, and 75% in 2004, and repealing it entirely in 2005. This bill does NOT conform to the phase out of the state death tax credit for two years.[11] Therefore, under

[9] North Carolina currently allows tax free distributions for North Carolina plans. Section 3.5 of the bill repeals the State deduction.

[10] As of July 1, 2001, 36 other states, plus the District of Columbia, impose only the "pick-up tax".

[11] As of July 3, 2002 the following states have acted to decouple from the phase-out of the state death tax credit for some period of time or have introduced legislation to that effect: Connecticut, Illinois, Maine, Maryland, this bill an estate of a decedent dying on or after January 1, 2002, and before January 1, 2004, would owe North Carolina estate tax to the same extent that it would be owed without regard to the phase-out of the credit. The January 1, 2004, sunset ensures that the State will have to revisit this issue next year.

Because North Carolina's estate tax is based upon the federal credit for state death taxes, the repeal of the state death tax credit in 2005 and the ultimate repeal of the federal estate tax in 2010 will mean that the State must decide whether to replace or repeal its estate tax in the future.

Accelerated Depreciation Provisions: Under the Job Creation and Worker Assistance Act of 2002, a taxpayer is allowed an accelerated 30% bonus depreciation allowance for certain assets placed in service after September 11, 2001, and before September 11, 2004. The taxpayer is still entitled to the normal first-year depreciation on the remaining basis of the asset after reducing the basis by the bonus depreciation. This provision affects both corporate and individual income taxpayers.

The change in federal law results in a taxpayer recovering the basis in the asset sooner than under former law; however, over the life of the asset the taxpayer still receives the same benefit. This bill does not conform State law to the accelerated depreciation schedule allowed under federal law. [12] However, under this bill a taxpayer will continue to be able to deduct the same amount of an asset's basis under both federal and State law; it is just that the timing of the deduction will differ. To accomplish this decoupling from the federal accelerated bonus depreciation, the bill does two things:

- For the first three years of the federal accelerated depreciation, it provides that a taxpayer must add back to federal taxable income a percentage of the additional 30% accelerated depreciation in the year the accelerated depreciation is claimed for federal purposes.[13] The percentage is 100% for the 2001 and 2002 taxable years and 80% for the 2003 taxable year. There is no add-back for the 2004 taxable year. The add-back for the first three years of the accelerated depreciation means that for State tax purposes, a taxpayer would deduct less in tax years 2001-2003 than the taxpayer would have deducted if the State conformed to the accelerated depreciation law. The amount of the deduction will be the

The following states will remain decoupled unless they take legislative action: Arkansas, District of Columbia, Kansas, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon, Virginia and Washington. [12] As of July 3, 2002, the following 22 states have decoupled from a portion of the accelerated depreciation allowance as the result of explicit legislative action following enactment of the federal law or have introduced legislation to that effect: Arizona, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Georgia, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri (for one year), Nebraska, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont (for corporate income tax filers only), Virginia, and Wisconsin. In addition, New York City has decoupled from the bonus depreciation allowance. Six other states are decoupled automatically under pre-existing tax law: Arkansas, Idaho, Kentucky, New Hampshire, South Dakota, and Texas. (Source: Center on Budget and Policy Priorities; Tax Analysts) normal first year depreciation on the remaining basis of the asset after reducing the basis by the bonus depreciation amount allowed under federal law plus 30% of the bonus deprecation in 2003. In 2004, the State will have in effect conformed to the federal law and the entire bonus depreciation may be deducted.

[13] For tax years beginning before January 1, 2002, the add-back must be taken in the first taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 2002, so that the taxpayer will not recognize any retroactive tax increase.

- In tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2005, it provides that the taxpayer may deduct from federal taxable income the total amount of the add-backs required in earlier years, divided into five equal installments. This means that for State tax purposes, a taxpayer would be allowed to deduct a greater depreciation amount in the outlying tax years - the normal depreciation amount plus 20% of the accelerated depreciation amount the taxpayer had to add back. The purpose of this recovery provision is to enable the taxpayer to have the same basis in assets for federal and State purposes. Without this deduction provision, a taxpayer would have a different basis in the depreciable asset for State and federal purposes and would have to keep separate books and records for State and federal purposes until the disposal of the asset. In effect, the add-back and subsequent deduction will affect the timing of the impact of bonus depreciation on the State but it will not increase or decrease the total amount of revenue the State receives over the affected years.

Gift Tax Change: North Carolina imposes a gift tax on property transferred during the life of a donor. Gifts to a spouse are exempt from tax. The gift tax law allows an annual exclusion of $10,000.

The federal gift tax annual exclusion is more complex. Since 1998, the $10,000 federal gift tax annual exclusion has been subject to an inflation adjustment. The adjustment happens only in increments of $1,000 however. From 1998 until 2001, inflation had not grown enough to reach the first $1,000 increment. In 2002, that threshold was reached and the federal annual exclusion increased to $11,000. This amount won't increase to $12,000 until the cumulative inflation adjustment is at least 20%.

Section 3.7 of the bill amends North Carolina's gift tax annual exclusion to piggyback the federal amount, effective January 1, 2002.

PART IV. UNAUTHORIZED SUBSTANCE TAX EXPENSES

Part IV of this bill would allocate to local governments 70% of the State's expenses in collecting the unauthorized substance tax. The expenses would be drawn from local sales tax revenues. Under current law, the following expenses are deducted from local sales tax distributions: costs of the Property Tax Division, costs of the Property Tax Commission, the costs of the Institute of Government in operating a training program in property tax appraisal and assessment, and the costs of the Local Government Commission.

The General Assembly first imposed the unauthorized substances tax in 1989 to generate revenue for State and local law enforcement agencies and for the General Fund. Seventy-five percent of the tax collected is distributed to the State or local law enforcement agency that conducted the investigation that led to the tax assessment. The remaining 25% is credited to the General Fund. This bill does not change this revenue allocation.

PART V. INSURANCE REGULATORY CHARGE

Part V of this bill sets the insurance regulatory charge at the same rate as last year's rate: 6.5% for the 2002 calendar year. The insurance regulatory charge is a tax that was enacted in 1991 to defray the State's cost of regulating the insurance industry. The charge is a percentage of each insurance company's premiums tax liability. The insurance regulatory charge is imposed on insurance companies, health maintenance organizations, and medical service corporations. For health maintenance organizations and medical service corporations, the fee is levied on each company's hypothetical gross premiums tax liability determined at the 1.9% gross premiums tax rate applied to its premiums base. The hypothetical calculation is necessary because medical service corporations and health maintenance organizations do not pay premiums tax at that rate.

PART VI. REGULATORY FEE FOR UTILITIES COMMISSION

Part VI of the bill sets the tax rate for the public utility regulatory fee for the 2002-2003 tax year at the same rate as last year's rate: 0.1%. This rate must be set by the General Assembly each year. The utility regulatory fee is a tax that was first imposed in 1989. The proceeds of the fee are credited to the Utilities Commission and Public Staff Fund and used to defray the State's cost in regulating public utilities. The regulatory fee is imposed on all utilities that are subject to regulation by the North Carolina Utilities Commission. The fee is a percentage of the utility's North Carolina jurisdictional revenues. In general, jurisdictional revenue is revenue derived from providing utility service in North Carolina.

In addition to funding the State's cost in regulating public utilities, the money in the Utilities Commission and Public Staff Fund is currently used to finance the work of the Study Commission on the Future of Electric Service in North Carolina. The General Assembly established the Commission in 1997 to examine the cost, adequacy, availability, and pricing of electric rates and service in North Carolina to determine whether legislation is necessary to assure an adequate and reliable source of electricity and economical, fair, and equitable rates for all consumers of electricity in North Carolina. Section 14.10 of SL 2000-67, the Current Operations and Capital Improvements Appropriations Act of 2000, extended the life of the Study Commission and its funding from the Utilities Commission and Public Staff Fund through June 30, 2006.

Part VI also sets at $200,000 for the 2002-2003 fiscal year the annual public utility regulatory fee imposed on electric membership corporations whose principal purpose is to furnish or cause to be furnished bulk electric supplies at wholesale. This is the same rate that was in effect for the 2001-2002 fiscal year. The North Carolina Electric Membership Corporation is the only electric membership corporation that fits this description. The proceeds of the fee are credited to the Utilities Commission and Public Staff Fund and used to defray the State's cost in regulating electric membership corporations.

The 1999 General Assembly enacted S.L. 1999-180, which authorized electric membership corporations to form subsidiary corporations that may provide energy services and products, telecommunications services and products, and water and wastewater collection and treatment. The subsidiaries must fully compensate the electric membership corporation for its use of the corporation's personnel, services, equipment, and property. The Utilities Commission is charged with regulating this aspect of the subsidiary's business and, to pay for this regulation, S.L. 1999-180 levied a flat-rate regulatory fee to be paid annually by the North Carolina Electric Membership Corporation. The General Assembly must establish the fee amount each year. The North Carolina Electric Membership Corporation is the only electric membership corporation whose principal purpose is to furnish or cause to be furnished bulk electric supplies at wholesale, as provided in G.S. 117-16. It is a "generation and supply cooperative" owned by its members. Its members are all but one of the existing North Carolina electric membership corporations, which are "distribution cooperatives." Thus, the fee imposed on the North Carolina Electric Membership Corporation will be passed on to its member electric membership corporations.

PART VII: [RESERVED]

PART VIII: SECURE LOCAL REVENUES

Sections 8.1 through 8.6 of the bill amend the following tax-sharing statutes by characterizing the revenue distributed by those statutes as distributions of "local revenue" rather than "State expenditures" for purposes of interpreting Section 5(3) of Article III of the North Carolina Constitution:

- Section 8.1 - Beer and wine tax.
- Section 8.2 - Franchise gross receipts tax.
- Section 8.3 - Piped natural gas tax.
- Section 8.4 - Sales tax on telecommunications.
- Section 8.5 - Powell Bill funds.
- Section 8.6 - Electric cities distribution

Arguably, since the Constitution authorizes the Governor to reduce only "State expenditures," the classification of these state-shared tax revenues as "local revenues" prohibits the Governor from reducing or withholding the distributions. Moreover, the bill expressly states that the Governor may not reduce or withhold these distributions.

Section 8.7 of the bill amends the Executive Budget Act by limiting the Governor's authority to withhold from distribution funds that the General Assembly has appropriated or otherwise committed to local governments, including local reimbursement money. The Governor may withhold these funds only if, after making adequate provision for the prompt payment of principal of and interest on bonds and notes of the State, the Governor has exhausted all other sources of revenue of the State including surplus remaining in the treasury at the beginning of the fiscal period. In addition, the Governor must have been authorized to withhold the funds by an act of the General Assembly.

Based on the current information available, including a recent Attorney General's opinion, it is unclear whether amending the above-referenced statutes would be effective in preventing the Governor from withholding these funds from local governments. If the Governor withheld the funds despite the enactment of this legislation, enforcement of this limitation on the Governor's authority may have to be resolved by a court. The surest way to secure local revenues would be to pass a constitutional amendment prohibiting the Governor from withholding these funds.

PART IX: CLOSE CORPORATE TAX LOOPHOLES

This Part closes three corporate tax loopholes that allow some corporate profits to escape taxation and give corporate tax planners an opportunity to avoid existing taxes on corporate income and assets. The first loophole is caused by the definition of business income used in the corporate income tax law; the second loophole is caused by the treatment of certain sales in the formula for apportioning business income to the State for corporate income tax purposes; and the third loophole is caused by the different franchise tax treatment of corporations and limited liability companies.

Definition of Business Income: Section 9.1 of this Part amends the definition of "business income" to include all income that is apportionable under the U.S. Constitution, effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2002.

Corporations that do business in more than one state divide up their income among those states for income-tax purposes. Business income is apportioned based on a formula that takes into account how much sales, property, and payroll the corporation has in each state. Nonbusiness income is allocated to a state based on its connection with that state. In the most basic terms, nonbusiness income could be described as income that is earned in an unrelated sideline activity of the corporation.

As an analogy, each interstate corporation's income is in two "pies" - a business income pie that is divided up among the states in which it does business, and a nonbusiness income pie that is given entirely to the state it is connected to.

In an ideal system, all states would follow the same rules for dividing up interstate corporations' income for tax purposes, so that no more and no less than 100% of every corporation's net income would be subjected to state income tax. However, different states have different laws and even when the laws are the same, they may be interpreted differently. In theory, this can result in the taxation of more than 100%, as well as less than 100%, of a corporation's net income. In practice, corporate tax planners take the opportunity to create "nowhere" income - income that no state can tax. Instead of each state receiving its piece of the business income pie, some pieces are thrown away. Thus, although a corporation may do substantial business in North Carolina, much of its otherwise taxable business income may be characterized as nonbusiness, so that North Carolina gets no piece of it.

These tax avoidance schemes are possible not only because different states have different laws, but also because states such as North Carolina have laws that are vague or too narrow. In North Carolina, income is business income if it relates to the regular trade or business of the taxpayer. This definition is vague and narrower than what is allowed under the United States Constitution. If North Carolina is entitled to tax a significant percentage of a corporation's business income, the corporation may try to shift much of its income into the nonbusiness pie, which North Carolina does not share in. This may be true even though the corporation has deducted as a business expense the same items that it now claims are not business items when the time comes to pay tax on profits. Recent court decisions in North Carolina have upheld this tax avoidance technique. Examples of the types of business income that corporations most often recharacterize are rents, royalties, gain or loss from the sale of property, interest, and dividends.

This proposal would change the definition of business income to include any income that the United States Constitution allows a state to treat as business income. This eliminates the current statute's vagueness and narrowness, which allow it to be used by corporations to create "nowhere" income that should otherwise be taxable in North Carolina. One effect of this change will be to include income from extraordinary events, such as a liquidation of a division, in apportionable income, consistent with the Department of Revenue's historical position, as illustrated by its administrative rules, before the North Carolina Supreme Court's decision in Lenox v. Tolson. A corporation's income earned out of state from unrelated business activity that makes up a discrete business enterprise would continue to be nonbusiness income that cannot be apportioned – it would continue to be allocated to the state to which it is connected.[14]

26 states including North Carolina use the vague, unnecessarily narrow definition of business income.

18 states have a broader definition of business income:

- 5 states have the law proposed in Section 9.1 of the bill (define business income as all that the U.S. Constitution allows state to apportion):
    1. Florida
    2. Iowa
    3. Minnesota
    4. Pennsylvania
    5. Texas
- 13 states apportion all corporate income. These states' approach would gain less revenue than the proposal in Section 9.1 because it would relinquish the right to tax true nonbusiness income of North Carolina-headquartered businesses. The 13 states include:
    1. Georgia
    2. South Carolina
    3. Virginia

In 1996, an economist with the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston published a study of the effect of state tax policy on economic development. The study looked at various manufacturing industries in 22 states - including most major manufacturing states - and found no statistically significant correlation between business tax burdens and the location of new investment.

Throw-out Rule for Corporate Apportionment: Section 9.2 of Part IX would exclude certain out-of-state sales of tangible personal property from the base of the sales factor used to apportion business income to North Carolina, effective beginning with the 2002 tax year.

Like the previous provision, this proposal would bring under North Carolina's corporate income tax a part of a corporation's "nowhere" income that is currently not being taxed by any state. Under current law, the formula for determining how much of the business income pie goes to North Carolina focuses on sales, payroll, and property in North Carolina. The sales factor is a ratio of sales in North Carolina to all sales everywhere. Sales of tangible personal property are considered to be "in" the state[15] where the purchaser receives the item. Under the sales factor formula, the more sales a corporation has that are not in North Carolina, the smaller the sales factor used to calculate North Carolina's piece of the business income pie - because the formula assumes those sales will go into another state's piece of the business income pie.

But some sales of tangible personal property don't go into any state's piece of the pie. That may be because they are made in a state that cannot tax the corporation or because they are made to the federal government and so one cannot tell which state they are made in. Without the throw-out rule (or a similar rule called the throw-back rule), 50% to 100% of the profits of a state's corporations may be "no where" income, according to a 2002 article published by Michael Mazerov of the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities.

Under Section 9.2 of the bill, "nowhere" sales (sales of tangible personal property where the purchaser is the federal government or is located in a state or country that cannot tax the corporation) are excluded from the sales factor formula so that they do not reduce the ratio that determines how much of a corporation's business income North Carolina can tax. Thus, if another state cannot consider the sales in calculating its piece of the pie, the sales will not escape tax entirely - instead, there will be an increase in North Carolina's piece of the pie. If every state adopted the throw-out rule, then 100% of a corporation's interstate income would be taxed - there would be no "nowhere" income.

Here is an example of the throw-out rule. Corporation X has 20% of its sales in North Carolina, 20% of its sales in Virginia, and 60% of its sales in Tennessee. The corporation has no nexus with Virginia so Virginia cannot tax its income. Tennessee, like North Carolina current law, has no throw-out or throwback rule. Under current law, the sales factor for North Carolina would be 20% divided by 100%, or 1/5. The sales factor for Tennessee would be 60% divided by 100%, or 3/5. There is no sales factor for Virginia. Thus, the sales factors for North Carolina and Tennessee add up to only 4/5 of the company's sales. As a result, less than 100% of the company's business income will be apportioned to those states for taxation. If North Carolina adopted the throw-out rule, the 20% of sales to Virginia are subtracted from the denominator of the sales factor. Thus, North Carolina's sales factor would be 20% divided by 80%, or 1/4. Because 1/4 is more than 1/5, a larger proportion of the corporation's income would be allocated to North Carolina. If Tennessee also adopted the throw-out rule, its sales factor would be 60% divided by 80%, or 3/4. Thus, the sales factors for the two states would add up to 100% and all of the corporation's sales would be considered in apportioning its business income between the two states.

The throw-out rule and its sibling, the throwback rule, are not new. They predate the 1959 federal law limiting a state's ability to impose corporate income tax on corporations whose only connection with the state is soliciting orders there. The following information on states that do and do not have the throw-out rule or the throwback rule comes from Michael Mazerov of the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities. After the name of each state is listed the percent increase or decrease of manufacturing jobs in that state during the period 1995-2000. For that period, NC's manufacturing jobs decreased 9.5%.

21 States, including North Carolina, do NOT have a throw-out or throwback rule. These states include:

State	Job Loss or Gain
• Florida	0.0%
• Georgia	+0.1%
• South Carolina	-8.0%
• Tennessee	-5.7%
• Virginia	-3.5%

The following 25 States HAVE the throw-out or throwback rule. [16] (The underlined states have the throw-out rule.)

State	Job Loss or Gain
• Alabama	-7.9%
• Alaska	-18.3%
• Arkansas	-3.1%
• California	+8.4%
• Colorado	+6.7%
• Hawaii	+1.2%
• Idaho	+8.2%
• Illinois	-1.8%
• Indiana	+0.6%
• Kansas	+9.8%
• Maine	-6.5%

[16] Washington, D.C. also has the throwback rule, bringing the total to 26. In addition, Massachusetts technically has the throwback rule but Mazerov points out that its rule is full of loopholes so that it is not effective.

- Mississippi -9.3%
- Missouri -4.1%
- Montana +6.0%
- New Hampshire +3.0%
- New Jersey[17] -7.4%
- New Mexico -5.1%
- North Dakota +17.4%
- Oklahoma +6.7%
- Oregon +6.0%
- Texas +5.2%
- Utah +5.6%
- Vermont +8.4%
- West Virginia -2.1%
- Wisconsin +2.5%

According to Mazerov, this information shows that states with the throw-out and throwback rules (and the royalty loophole closing North Carolina enacted last year) are disproportionately represented among states with net manufacturing gains.

LLC Franchise Tax: In 2001, the General Assembly enacted S.L. 2001-327 to close a loophole that allowed corporations to avoid franchise tax on their assets by transferring their assets to a controlled limited liability company (LLC). Corporations pay franchise tax on their assets but LLCs do not pay franchise tax on their assets. Tax planners helped many corporations avoid most of the franchise tax they would otherwise owe by setting up an LLC for the purpose of holding the assets on behalf of the corporation. Although the corporation's business continued in the same way, the corporation eliminated most of its franchise tax through this paper transaction.

The 2001 legislation tried to address this problem by requiring a corporation to pay tax on assets owned by the LLC if the corporation, including its affiliated corporations, indirectly owned[18] at least 70% of the LLC's assets. Unfortunately, tax planners found that the tax could still be avoided by using an additional paper transaction. If the corporation interposed a partnership between itself and the LLC holding its assets, then technically the 2001 legislation would not apply and the assets would continue to escape franchise tax.

Section 9.3 of this Part broadens the approach of the 2001 legislation to include "related members" (other entities and individuals) who may partner with one or more corporate entities to own the LLC to which the corporate assets are transferred. This section would become effective beginning with payments due in March 2003. "Related members" is a term defined in the "trademark royalties" provision of last year's loophole bill and includes shareholders, partnerships, etc.

[18] Indirect ownership of an LLC's assets is determined based on who is entitled to receive those assets upon dissolution of the LLC.

If a corporation and its related members together indirectly own at least 70% of an LLC's assets, this Part provides that each corporation pays franchise tax on its relative share of the LLC's assets. The relative share is calculated after excluding those related members who are not corporations. Thus, the entire assets are subject to franchise tax, with the tax burden shared proportionally by the corporations that are involved in the ownership scheme. The language of the bill accomplishes this by stating that the following percentage of the LLC's assets are taxable to the corporation: "The attributable percentage is equal to the percentage of the limited liability company's assets owned indirectly by the principal corporation divided by the percentage of the limited liability company's assets owned indirectly by related members of the principal corporation that are corporations."

Here is an example:

A parent corporation, its subsidiary, and a major shareholder of the parent form a partnership to own an LLC that will own assets on behalf of the parent and subsidiary. The LLC's documents provide that upon dissolution its assets are distributed as follows:

- Parent Corporation: 20%
- Subsidiary Corporation: 45%
- Shareholder: 35%

Under current law, the assets would remain free of franchise tax. If this Part were enacted, the parent corporation would pay franchise tax on 31% of the assets and the subsidiary corporation would pay franchise tax on 69% of the assets. Those are their relative shares of the total once you exclude the non-corporate owner.

The approach taken by this Part is much broader than the 2001 legislation and is intended to anticipate the creative paper relationships tax planners may devise to try and avoid the franchise tax. The breadth of the provision is such that it could apply to a "legitimate" situation, such as an individual who is the sole shareholder of a corporation and who later forms an LLC with an associate. Under this proposal, the corporation would pay tax on the LLC's assets. Unfortunately, there does not appear to be a way to distinguish this type of situation from one in which the corporation is manipulating relationships to avoid its franchise tax. With different tax treatment of similar entities, tax planners can try to manipulate relationships to fall into the untaxed category. Because corporations and LLCs are similar, there may not be a strong policy reason to treat them differently for franchise tax purposes.

Part X of this bill enlarges the class of taxpayers eligible for an enhanced credit for investing in low-income housing in a county that sustained severe or moderate damage from a hurricane in 1999. In 1999, the General Assembly enacted a new tax credit for rehabilitating or constructing low-income housing. The credit is equal to a percentage of the amount of the taxpayer's federal credit for low-income housing with respect to eligible North Carolina low-income housing. The credit is 75% for buildings located in tier one or two counties and 25% for buildings located in other tiers. In 2000, the General Assembly enacted legislation providing that the 75% credit is also allowed for buildings located in one of 26 counties that sustained severe or moderate damage from a hurricane in 1999. This increase in the amount of the credit was made effective for buildings that are allocated a federal credit on or after January 1, 2001. The federal tax credits are allocated in December of each year. Thus, those taxpayers who made investments in hurricane counties and were allocated federal credits in December 2000 are not eligible for the enhanced State credit. This act would backdate the effective date for eligibility for the enhanced State credit to from 2001 to 2000, thereby including those who were allocated federal credits for investments in hurricane counties during 2000.

EXAMPLES RELATING TO THE DEFINITION OF "BUSINESS INCOME" IN SECTION 9.1.

Investment in an unrelated corporation. Corporation A is a manufacturer domiciled in State 1 and has business operations in States 1 and 2 and in North Carolina. Corporation A buys stock in Corporation B. Corporation A and Corporation B are not involved in the same industry and the stock is held for investment purposes only. Corporation A does not actively participate in the management of Corporation B and does not integrate operations with Corporation B. Corporation A recognizes no economies of scale due to its ownership interest in Corporation B. Corporation A and B are not unitary. Corporation A sells the Corporation B stock and recognizes a capital gain. Under this bill, the capital gain is not apportionable to North Carolina. (See: Allied Signal, Inc. v. Director, Division of Taxation, 504 U.S. 768, 112 S.Ct. 2251, 119 L.Ed.2d 533 (1992).) This income would also be nonapportionable, non-business income under current North Carolina law.

Reversion of excess pension funds. Corporation A is a manufacturer domiciled in State 1 and has business operations in States 1 and 2 and in North Carolina. Corporation A has made contributions to a defined-benefit employee pension plan for a number of years and has deducted these contributions from business income. The plan is found to be over-funded and a reversion of excess pension funds is allowed. The reverted funds are ordinary income for federal tax purposes. Under current North Carolina law, because the reversion is not a transaction that takes place in the regular course of business and because the right to a reversion is not an integral part of the corporation's regular course of business, the reverted funds are treated as non-business income and would not be subject to apportionment. (See: Union Carbide v. Offerman, 351 N.C. 310, 526 S.E.2d 167 (2000).) Under this bill, the reversion would be income subject to apportionment because it is income derived from a unitary business.

Liquidation of wholly-owned subsidiaries. Corporation X is a manufacturer domiciled in State 1 and has business operations in States 1 and 2 and in North Carolina. Corporations A, B, and C are wholly owned subsidiaries of Corporation X. Corporations A, B, and C are domiciled in State 1 and have no business operations in North Carolina. Corporation X liquidates Corporations A, B, and C and immediately distributes the proceeds of the liquidations to Corporation X's shareholders. Corporation X recognizes a capital gain from the liquidations.

Liquidation of Corporation A - There is centralized management between Corporations X and A and their operations are functionally integrated. Corporations X and A therefore constitute a unitary business, part of which is conducted in North Carolina. Under this bill, the proceeds of the liquidation of Corporation A would be subject to apportionment.

Liquidation of Corporation B - Corporations X and B are engaged in the same general line of business. Corporation B supplies Corporation X with the majority of a product used in Corporation X's manufacturing operations. Corporation B therefore performs an operational function in Corporation X's business. Under this bill, the proceeds of the liquidation of Corporation B would be subject to apportionment.

Liquidation of Corporation C - There is no centralized management, functional integration, or economies of scale between Corporations X and C, and Corporation C performs no operational function in Corporation X's business. Corporation C is not part of Corporation X's unitary business. Under this bill, the proceeds of the liquidation would not be subject to apportionment.

(Note: This bill removes the confusion under current law created by the decision in Lenox v. Tolson regarding the apportionability of income from the liquidation of an operating division or subsidiary. In Lenox v. Tolson, the Court found that the liquidation of a separate line of business was not a transaction in Lenox's regular course of business and was not a disposition of property integral to Lenox's regular trade or business. The Court held that the proceeds were therefore nonbusiness income and not apportionable. The Court, however, failed to analyze whether the acquisition or management of the property constituted integral parts of the corporation's regular trade or business, an analysis required under the actual language of the statute, the Department's administrative rules, and the Court's prior decision in Polaroid v. Offerman. As the dissent in Lenox points out, the property of ArtCarved was an integral part of Lenox's regular trade or business and the proceeds from the liquidation of this property should therefore have been apportionable business income under previous opinions of the Court.)

Receipt of dividends from wholly-owned subsidiaries. Corporation A is a retailer domiciled in State 1 and has business operations in States 1 and 2 and in North Carolina. Corporations B, C, and D are wholly owned subsidiaries of Corporation A. Corporations B, C, and D are engaged in retailing in foreign countries. Corporation A has no functional integration and no centralized management with Corporations B, C, and D. Corporation A realizes no economies of scale due to its ownership of Corporations B, C, and D. Corporations B, C, and D are therefore not part of a unitary business with Corporation A. Corporations B, C, and D perform no operational function in Corporation A's business. Corporation A receives dividends from Corporations B, C, and D. Therefore, under this bill, as well as under current North Carolina law, this income would not be apportionable. (See: F.W. Woolworth Co. v. Taxation and Revenue Dept. of NM, 458 U.S. 354, 102 S.Ct. 3128, 73 L.Ed.2d 819 (1982).)

*Department of Revenue will deduct 70% of costs of Unauthorized Substance Tax Division from sales tax proceeds.

The impact of the changes is essentially revenue neutral over the long-term since the conformity deals with an acceleration of depreciation, not the total amount of the deduction over the life of the asset. Thus, there will be substantial revenue losses starting in FY 2006-07.

MINUTES
HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

July 30, 2002

The House Committee on Finance met on Tuesday, July 30, 2002, at 8:30 A.M. in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building.

Representative Paul Luebke, Presiding Chair, called the meeting to order and the following members were present: Representatives Gordon Allen, Monroe Buchanan, and William Wainwright, Chairs; Representatives Dewey Hill and Mary Jarrell, Vice Chairs; Representatives Martha Alexander, John Blust, Russell Capps, Leslie Cox, Michael Decker, Andrew Dedmon, Rick Eddins, Zeno Edwards, Pryor Gibson, Lyons Gray, Joe Hackney, Hugh Holliman, Bill Hurley, Linda Johnson, Eugene McCombs, Edwin McMahan, Art Pope, John Rayfield, Jennifer Weiss, Shelly Willingham, Constance Wilson, and Larry Womble. Staff members present were Cindy Avrette, Trina Griffin, Martha Walston, Richard Bostic, and Linda Millsaps. A Visitor Registration Sheet is attached and made a part of these minutes.

Chairman Luebke introduced the pages as follows: Sam Gunnells, Wake County; Elliott Seeger, Henderson County; Lauren Brooks, Person County, and Elizabeth Carver, Person County. Sergeants-at-Arms serving the committee were Dusty Rhodes, Bob Fowler, Walter Spell, and Bill Freeman.

S.B. 1114, BADIN CHARTER/NORMAN BOUNDARIES, was before the committee for consideration.

Senator Bill Purcell, bill sponsor, advised that the Badin part of the bill had previously been before the committee. The bill added some metes and bounds in a description for the Town of Norman that had not been there before -- there was no change or addition to the town.

Rep. Gibson moved that the proposed committee substitute be before the committee.

Rep. Womble moved for a favorable report of the committee substitute. There being no discussion on the bill, vote was taken and the committee substitute was given a favorable report; unfavorable as to original bill.

H.B. 1523, AMEND PROPERTY TAX LAWS, was before the committee for consideration. Rep. Dewey Hill, bill sponsor, explained that the bill was a recommendation from the Revenue Laws Study Commission and contained five changes to the property tax laws that were proposed by the North Carolina Association of Assessing Officers and the Department of Revenue.

Martha Walston stated that an amendment concerning the debt set-off was adopted when the bill was before the committee on June 12th.

Rep. Hackney sent forth an amendment and was recognized to explain the amendment. He said it tracked another part of the law and put in place the same procedure for a waiver if circumstances made it extremely unfair that the penalty be assessed.

Rep. Hurley moved for adoption of the amendment. Vote was taken on Rep. Hackney's amendment and it received a favorable vote.

Rep. Hill sent forth an amendment that had been requested by two committee members. Martha Walston explained that if a local government received revenues that were substantially more or less than anticipated after July 1, then prior to January 1, the budget ordinance could be amended to reduce or increase the property tax levy to take into account the unanticipated revenue increase or decrease. Rep. Hill moved for approval of the amendment.

Rep. Pope, Rep. Womble and Rep. Edwards spoke against the amendment citing administrative problems with rebilling property taxes after the original tax bills had been issued and collections already having started. They felt that the logistics of collecting the additional revenue and the extra expense of the modification would outweigh the benefits.

James B. Blackburn, III, N. C. Association of County Commissioners, indicated that the Association had no opposition to the amendment, but to exercise the option that the amendment offered would mean that the county was in extremely difficult circumstances.

Pete Rodda, Forsyth County Tax Assessor and Collector, indicated that the assessors and collectors had no opposition to the amendment. He said there were some administrative problems, but in extraordinary times, extraordinary measures were a nice option to have available.

Rep. Hill withdrew the amendment.

Rep. Buchanan offered an amendment of Section 4, Page 2, Lines 27-32. Ms. Walston said that the amendment would delete that language so that it would retain the current law. In the last session, the definition of real property was changed to remove the requirement that a manufactured home had to be multi-sectioned. The tax assessors had requested that the effective date be moved from July 1, 2002, to July 1, 2004, due to their inability to identify the numerous manufactured homes in the state by July 1, 2002. This amendment would move the effective date back to July 1, 2002, for the change in the definition of manufactured homes.

Pete Rodda stated the reasons for the tax assessors' request for an extension of time was due to the abundance of manufactured homes in North Carolina. The assessors needed more time to make visual inspections to determine the proper classification of real or personal property.

Rep. Luebke clarified that the amendment removed Section 4 of the bill by deleting Lines 27-32 and renumbering accordingly. He also clarified that by removing Section 4, the 2002 date which was already in the statute would remain.

Rep. Wainwright asked Mr. Rodda if tax assessors could complete inspections in 2003, rather than 2004. Mr. Rodda repeated that they needed 2004, but would live with 2003.

After considerable debate from committee members, Rep. Buchanan withdrew the amendment. He then submitted an amendment that deleted the year 2004 and substituted the year 2003 on Page 2, Line 29.

Rep. Womble moved for adoption of the amendment to change the date to 2003, and it passed with a vote of 11-10.

Rep. Willingham sent forth an amendment and moved for its adoption. Martha Walston explained that the only thing that the amendment did was to change some effective dates to a later date. The amendment received a favorable vote.

Rep. Hill moved that the bill be given a favorable report with amendments rolled into a committee substitute, unfavorable as to original bill. Vote was taken and bill passed with a favorable report.

There being no further business, the Chair adjourned the meeting at 9:35 A.M. to reconvene on Thursday, August 1, 2002.

Respectfully submitted,

Representative Paul Luebke

Short Title: Amend Property Tax Laws. (Public)

BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND VARIOUS PROPERTY TAX LAWS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 105-357(b)(2) reads as rewritten:

"(2) Penalty. – In addition to interest for nonpayment of taxes provided by G.S. 105-360 and in addition to any criminal penalties provided by law for the giving of worthless checks, the penalty for giving in payment of taxes a check that is returned because of insufficient funds or nonexistence of an account of the drawer is twenty-five dollars ($25.00) or ten percent (10%) of the amount of the check, whichever is greater, subject to a ~~minimum of one dollar ($1.00) and a~~ maximum of one thousand dollars ($1,000). This penalty does not apply if the tax collector finds that, when the check was presented for payment, the drawer of the check had sufficient funds in an account at a financial institution in this State to pay the check and, by inadvertence, the drawer of the check failed to draw the check on the account that had sufficient funds. This penalty shall be added to and collected in the same manner as the taxes for which the check was given."

SECTION 1.2. G.S. 105-358 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-358. ~~Partial~~ Waiver of penalties; partial payments.

(a) Waiver. – A tax collector may, upon making a record of the reasons therefor, reduce or waive the ten percent (10%) penalty imposed on giving a worthless check under G.S. 105-357(b)(2).

(b) Partial Payments. – Unless otherwise directed by the governing body, the tax collector shall accept partial payments on taxes and issue partial payment receipts therefor.

When a payment is made on the tax for any year or on any installment, it shall first be applied to accrued penalties, interest, and costs and then to the principal amount of the tax or installment. In its discretion, the governing body may prescribe by uniform regulation the minimum amount or percentage of tax liability that may be accepted as a partial payment."

SECTION 2. G.S. 105-317.1 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(c) A taxpayer who owns personal property taxable in the county may appeal the value, situs, or taxability of the property within 30 days after the date of the initial notice of value. If the assessor does not give separate written notice of the value to the taxpayer at the taxpayer's last known address, then the tax bill serves as notice of the value of the personal property. The notice must contain a statement that the taxpayer may appeal the value, situs, or taxability of the property within 30 days after the date of the notice. Upon receipt of a timely appeal, the assessor must arrange a conference with the taxpayer to afford the taxpayer the opportunity to present any evidence or argument regarding the value, situs, or taxability of the property. Within 30 days after the conference, the assessor must give written notice to the taxpayer of the assessor's final decision. Written notice of the decision is not required if the taxpayer signs an agreement accepting the value, situs, or taxability of the property. If an agreement is not reached, the taxpayer has 30 days from the date of the notice of the assessor's final decision to request review of that decision by the board of equalization and review or, if that board is not in session, by the board of county commissioners. Unless the request for review is given at the conference, it must be made in writing to the assessor. Upon receipt of a timely request for review, the provisions of G.S. 105-322 or G.S. 105-325, as appropriate, must be followed."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-322(g)(5) reads as rewritten:

"(5) Duty to Change Abstracts and Records After Adjournment. – Following adjournment upon completion of its duties under subdivisions (g)(1) and (g)(2) of this subsection, the board may continue to meet to carry out the following duties:

a. To hear and decide all appeals relating to discovered property under G.S. 105-312(d) and (k).

b. To hear and decide all appeals relating to the appraisal, situs, and taxability of classified motor vehicles under G.S. 105-330.2(b).

c. To hear and decide all appeals relating to audits conducted under G.S. 105-296(j) and relating to audits conducted under G.S. 105-296(j) and (l) of property classified at present-use value and property exempted or excluded from taxation.

d. To hear and decide all appeals relating to personal property under G.S. 105-317.1(c)."

SECTION 4. Section 4 of S.L. 2001-506 reads as rewritten:

"SECTION 4. Section 1 of this act is effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, ~~2002.~~2003. Sections 2 and 3 of this act become effective January 1, 2002, and apply to manufactured home title cancellations and to declarations of intent, deeds, deeds of trust, and other instruments recorded after that date. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law."

A request for a hearing is considered to be filed when it is delivered for mailing with postage prepaid and properly addressed. The governing body of the local agency or a person designated by the governing body must hold the hearing.

If the debtor disagrees with the decision of the governing body or the person designated by the governing body, the debtor may file a petition for a contested case under Article 3 of Chapter 150B of the General Statutes. The petition must be filed within 30 days after the debtor receives a copy of the local decision. Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 150B-2, a local agency is considered an agency for purposes of contested cases and appeals under this Chapter.

In a hearing under this section, an issue that has previously been litigated in a court proceeding cannot be considered.

(d) Decision. – A decision made after a hearing under this section must determine whether a debt is owed to the local agency and the amount of the debt.

(e) Return of Amount Set Off. – If a local agency submits a debt for collection under this Chapter without sending the notice required by subsection (b) of this section, the agency must send the taxpayer the entire amount set off plus the collection assistance ~~fee~~ fees ~~retained by the Department.~~provided in G.S. 105A-13. Similarly, if a local agency submits a debt for collection under this Chapter after sending the required notice but before final determination of the debt and a decision finds that the local agency is not entitled to any part of the amount set off, the agency must send the taxpayer the entire amount set off plus the collection assistance ~~fee~~ fees ~~retained by the Department.~~provided in G.S. 105A-13. That portion of the amount returned that reflects the collection assistance ~~fee~~ fees must be paid from the local agency's funds.

If a local agency submits a debt for collection under this Chapter after sending the required notice and the net proceeds collected that are credited to the local agency for the debt exceed the amount of the debt, the local agency must send the balance to the debtor. No part of the collection assistance ~~fee~~ fees ~~retained by the Department~~provided in G.S. 105A-13 may be returned when a notice was sent and a debt is owed but the debt is less than the amount set off.

Interest accrues on the amount of a refund returned to a taxpayer under this subsection in accordance with G.S. 105-266. A local agency that returns a refund to a taxpayer under this subsection must pay from the local agency's funds any interest that has accrued since the fifth day after the Department mailed the notice of setoff to the taxpayer."

SECTION 5.(c) G.S. 105A-13 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105A-13. Collection assistance fees.

(a) State Setoff. – To recover the costs incurred by the Department in collecting debts under this Chapter, a collection assistance fee of no more than fifteen dollars ($15.00) is imposed on each debt collected through setoff. The Department must collect this fee as part of the debt and retain it. The Department must set the amount of the collection assistance fee based on its actual cost of collection under this Chapter for the immediately preceding year. ~~If the Department is able to collect only part of a debt through setoff, the collection assistance fee has priority over the remainder of the debt.~~ The collection assistance fee shall not be added to child support debts or collected as part of child support debts. Instead, the Department shall retain from collections under Division II of Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes the cost of collecting child support debts under this Chapter.

(b) Repealed.

(c) Local Debts. – To recover the costs incurred by local agencies in submitting debts for collection under this Chapter, a local collection assistance fee of fifteen dollars ($15.00) is imposed on each local agency debt submitted under G.S. 105A-3(b1) and collected through setoff. The Department must collect this fee as part of the debt and remit it to the clearinghouse that submitted the debt. The local collection assistance fee does not apply to child support debts.

(d) Priority. – If the Department is able to collect only part of a debt through setoff, the collection assistance fee provided in subsection (a) of this section has priority over the local collection assistance fee and over the remainder of the debt. The local collection assistance fee has priority over the remainder of the debt."

SECTION 6. Sections 1, 1.2, and 6 of this act are effective when they become law. Section 4 is effective on and after June 30, 2002. Sections 5(a), 5(b), and 5(c) become effective January 1, 2003. The remaining sections are effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2003.

HOUSE BILL 1523

Short Title:	Amend Property Tax Laws.	(Public)
Sponsors:	Representatives Hill; Allen, Buchanan, Holliman, Jarrell, Luebke, and Wainwright.
Referred to:	Finance.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND VARIOUS PROPERTY TAX LAWS.

SECTION 1. G.S. 105-357(b)(2) reads as rewritten:

"(2) Penalty. – In addition to interest for nonpayment of taxes provided by G.S. 105-360 and in addition to any criminal penalties provided by law for the giving of worthless checks, the penalty for giving in payment of taxes a check that is returned because of insufficient funds or nonexistence of an account of the drawer is twenty-five dollars ($25.00) or ten percent (10%) of the amount of the check, whichever is greater, subject to a ~~minimum of one dollar ($1.00) and a~~ maximum of one thousand dollars ($1,000). This penalty does not apply if the tax collector finds that, when the check was presented for payment, the drawer of the check had sufficient funds in an account at a financial institution in this State to pay the check and, by inadvertence, the drawer of the check failed to draw the check on the account that had sufficient funds. This penalty shall be added to and collected in the same manner as the taxes for which the check was given."

SECTION 2. G.S. 105-317.1 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(c) A taxpayer who owns personal property taxable in the county may appeal the value, situs, or taxability of the property within 30 days after the date of the initial notice of value. If the assessor does not give separate written notice of the value to the taxpayer at the taxpayer's last known address, then the tax bill serves as notice of the value of the personal property. The notice must contain a statement that the taxpayer may appeal the value, situs, or taxability of the property within 30 days after the date of the notice. Upon receipt of a timely appeal, the assessor must arrange a conference with the taxpayer to afford the taxpayer the opportunity to present any evidence or argument regarding the value, situs, or taxability of the property. Within 30 days after the conference, the assessor must give written notice to the taxpayer of the assessor's final decision. Written notice of the decision is not required if the taxpayer signs an agreement accepting the value, situs, or taxability of the property. If an agreement is not reached, the taxpayer has 30 days from the date of the notice of the assessor's final decision to request review of that decision by the board of equalization and review or, if that board is not in session, by the board of county commissioners. Unless the request for review is given at the conference, it must be made in writing to the assessor. Upon receipt of a timely request for review, the provisions of G.S. 105-322 or G.S. 105-325, as appropriate, must be followed."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-322(g)(5) reads as rewritten:

"(5) Duty to Change Abstracts and Records After Adjournment. – Following adjournment upon completion of its duties under subdivisions (g)(1) and (g)(2) of this subsection, the board may continue to meet to carry out the following duties:

a. To hear and decide all appeals relating to discovered property under G.S. 105-312(d) and (k).

b. To hear and decide all appeals relating to the appraisal, situs, and taxability of classified motor vehicles under G.S. 105-330.2(b).

c. To hear and decide all appeals relating to audits conducted under G.S. 105-296(j) and relating to audits conducted under G.S. 105-296(j) and (l) of property classified at present-use value and property exempted or excluded from taxation.

d. To hear and decide all appeals relating to personal property under G.S. 105-317.1(c)."

SECTION 4. Section 4 of S.L. 2001-506 reads as rewritten:

"SECTION 4. Section 1 of this act is effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, ~~2002.~~2004. Sections 2 and 3 of this act become effective January 1, 2002, and apply to manufactured home title cancellations and to declarations of intent, deeds, deeds of trust, and other instruments recorded after that date. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law."

SECTION 5.(a) G.S. 105A-2 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105A-2. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Chapter:

(1) Claimant agency. – Either of the following:

a. A State agency.

b. A local agency acting through a clearinghouse or an organization pursuant to G.S. 105A-3(b1).

(2) Debt. – Any of the following:

a. A sum owed to a claimant agency that has accrued through contract, subrogation, tort, operation of law, or any other legal theory regardless of whether there is an outstanding judgment for the sum.

c. A sum owed as a result of an intentional program violation or a violation due to inadvertent household error under the Food Stamp Program enabled by Chapter 108A, Article 2, Part 5.

d. Reserved for future codification purposes.

2. The State-County Special Assistance for Adults Program enabled by Part 3 of Article 2 of Chapter 108A of the General Statutes.
3. A successor program of one of these programs.

(3) Debtor. – An individual who owes a debt.

(4) Department. – The Department of Revenue.

SECTION 5.(b) G.S. 105A-5 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105A-5. Local agency notice, hearing, and decision.

(a) Prerequisite. – A local agency may not submit a debt for collection under this Chapter until it has given the notice required by this section and the claim has been finally determined as provided in this section.

(b) Notice. – A local agency must send written notice to a debtor that the agency intends to submit the debt owed by the debtor for collection by setoff. The notice must explain the basis for the agency's claim to the debt and that the agency intends to apply the debtor's refund against the debt. The notice must also inform the debtor that the debtor has the right to contest the matter by filing a request for a hearing with the local agency, must state the time limits and procedure for requesting the hearing, and must state that failure to request a hearing within the required time will result in setoff of the debt.

(c) Administrative Review. – A debtor who decides to contest a proposed setoff must file a written request for a hearing with the local agency within 30 days after the date the local agency mails a notice of the proposed action to the debtor. A request for a hearing is considered to be filed when it is delivered for mailing with postage prepaid and properly addressed. The governing body of the local agency or a person designated by the governing body must hold the hearing.

If the debtor disagrees with the decision of the governing body or the person designated by the governing body, the debtor may file a petition for a contested case under Article 3 of Chapter 150B of the General Statutes. The petition must be filed within 30 days after the debtor receives a copy of the local decision. Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 150B-2, a local agency is considered an agency for purposes of contested cases and appeals under this Chapter.

In a hearing under this section, an issue that has previously been litigated in a court proceeding cannot be considered.

(d) Decision. – A decision made after a hearing under this section must determine whether a debt is owed to the local agency and the amount of the debt.

(e) Return of Amount Set Off. – If a local agency submits a debt for collection under this Chapter without sending the notice required by subsection (b) of this section, the agency must send the taxpayer the entire amount set off plus the collection assistance ~~fee~~ fees ~~retained by the Department.~~provided in G.S. 105A-13. Similarly, if a local agency submits a debt for collection under this Chapter after sending the required notice but before final determination of the debt and a decision finds that the local agency is not entitled to any part of the amount set off, the agency must send the taxpayer the entire amount set off plus the collection assistance ~~fee~~ fees ~~retained by the Department.~~provided in G.S. 105A-13. That portion of the amount returned that reflects the collection assistance ~~fee~~ fees must be paid from the local agency's funds.

If a local agency submits a debt for collection under this Chapter after sending the required notice and the net proceeds collected that are credited to the local agency for the debt exceed the amount of the debt, the local agency must send the balance to the debtor. No part of the collection assistance ~~fee~~ fees ~~retained by the Department~~provided in G.S. 105A-13 may be returned when a notice was sent and a debt is owed but the debt is less than the amount set off.

Interest accrues on the amount of a refund returned to a taxpayer under this subsection in accordance with G.S. 105-266. A local agency that returns a refund to a taxpayer under this subsection must pay from the local agency's funds any interest that has accrued since the fifth day after the Department mailed the notice of setoff to the taxpayer."

SECTION 5.(c) G.S. 105A-13 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105A-13. Collection assistance fees.

(a) State Setoff. – To recover the costs incurred by the Department in collecting debts under this Chapter, a collection assistance fee of no more than fifteen dollars

($15.00) is imposed on each debt collected through setoff. The Department must collect this fee as part of the debt and retain it. The Department must set the amount of the collection assistance fee based on its actual cost of collection under this Chapter for the immediately preceding year. ~~If the Department is able to collect only part of a debt through setoff, the collection assistance fee has priority over the remainder of the debt.~~ The collection assistance fee shall not be added to child support debts or collected as part of child support debts. Instead, the Department shall retain from collections under Division II of Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes the cost of collecting child support debts under this Chapter.

(b) Repealed.

(c) Local Debts. – To recover the costs incurred by local agencies in submitting debts for collection under this Chapter, a local collection assistance fee of fifteen dollars ($15.00) is imposed on each local agency debt submitted under G.S. 105A-3(b1) and collected through setoff. The Department must collect this fee as part of the debt and remit it to the clearinghouse that submitted the debt. The local collection assistance fee does not apply to child support debts.

(d) Priority. – If the Department is able to collect only part of a debt through setoff, the collection assistance fee provided in subsection (a) of this section has priority over the local collection assistance fee and over the remainder of the debt. The local collection assistance fee has priority over the remainder of the debt."

SECTION 6. Sections 1 and 4 of the act are effective when they become law. Sections 5(a), 5(b), and 5(c) become effective January 1, 2003. The remaining sections are effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2002.

HOUSE BILL 1523:
Amend Property Tax Laws

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Rep. Hill
Date:	July 30, 2002	Analysis by:	Martha Walston
Version:	1st Edition, as amended		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1523 is a recommendation of the Revenue Laws Study Committee and contains changes to the property tax laws that were proposed by the North Carolina Association of Assessing Officers and the Department of Revenue. These changes:

- Authorize tax collectors to impose a $25 returned check fee or 10% of the amount of the check, whichever is greater, subject to a maximum of $1,000.
- Set out the procedure and time limit for appeals of personal property value, situs, or taxability.
- Clarify that the board of equalization and review may continue to meet after it adjourns to hear and decide appeals relating to personal property.
- Change the effective date of the definition of "real property" as amended in S.L. 2001-506 (HB 253).
- Amend the Setoff Debt Collection Act in Chapter 105A of the General Statutes to allow local agencies to impose a $15 local collection assistance fee on each local agency debt collected through setoff. When the bill was previously discussed in House Finance on June 12, the Committee adopted an amendment to require that a debtor be given written notice that the fee will be added to the debt if it is submitted for setoff.

House Bill 1523 was previously discussed in House Finance on June 12th. At that time, the bill was amended, as described above in the underlined sentence. No vote was taken on the bill as amended.

ANALYSIS: Section 1 of the Bill amends G.S. 105-357(b) regarding the penalty imposed on a worthless check given to pay taxes. Current law authorizes the tax collector to impose 10% of the amount of the check, subject to a minimum of $1 and maximum of $1,000. The Bill authorizes the tax collector to impose $25 or 10% of the amount of the check, whichever is greater, subject to a maximum of $1,000.

Section 2 of the Bill sets out the procedure and time limit for appeals of the value, situs, or taxability of personal property. The current statutory framework is oriented toward appeals of real estate tax values and does not specifically address appeals of personal property. Consequently, counties use different procedures and time limits for appeals of personal property. The Bill amends G.S. 105-317.1 to include the following:

- The appeal must be within 30 days after the date of the initial notice of value of the personal property. The tax bill will serve as notice of value if a separate written notice of value is not sent. The notice must set out the 30-day limit.

- Upon receipt of a timely appeal, the assessor must arrange a conference with the taxpayer and allow the taxpayer to present evidence or argument.
- Within 30 days after the conference, the assessor must give written notice of the assessor's decision. Notice is not required if the taxpayer accepts the value, situs, or taxability of the property.
- Within 30 days of notice of the assessor's final decision, the taxpayer may request review by the board of equalization and review or the board of county commissioners.

Section 3 of the Bill authorizes a county board of equalization and review to meet after its adjournment to hear appeals relating to personal property. Last session, the Revenue Laws Study Committee recommended that a county board of equalization and review be given the authority to meet after its adjournment date to hear appeals relating to motor vehicle property taxes, discoveries, and property reviewed annually to determine its continued qualification for exemption or exclusion. Cabarrus, Lincoln, and Stokes Counties already had this authority under local acts. The recommendation was enacted in S.L. 2001-139.

Section 4 of the Bill changes an effective date in S.L. 2001-506. Last session, the General Assembly made several changes to the laws regarding the classification of a manufactured home as real property. One of these changes was to amend the definition of "real property" in G.S. 105-273(13) of the property tax laws, by removing the requirement that a manufactured home have multiple sections in order to be considered real property. The amendment also clarified that a manufactured home would be considered personal property if it did not meet the following statutory conditions: has the moving hitch, wheels, and axles removed, and is placed upon a permanent foundation on land owned by the owner of the manufactured home. This definition change became effective for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2002. The Bill moves the effective date to taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2004. The tax assessors have not been able to determine whether the manufactured homes in their county meet this definition and have requested an extension of the effective date.

Section 5 of the Bill amends the Setoff Debt Collection Act in Chapter 105A of the General Statutes to authorize the charge of a $15 collection assistance fee on each local agency debt collected through setoff. The Act currently authorizes the Department of Revenue to impose a collection assistance fee of no more than $15 on overdue tax debts collected through setoff against the debtor's refund. The Act also provides for optional usage of the Act by a local agency (county) that is owed a debt. The local agency must submit the debt through one of the following:

1. A clearinghouse that is established pursuant to an interlocal agreement and that has agreed to submit debts on behalf of any requesting local agency.
2. The North Carolina League of Municipalities.
3. The North Carolina Association of County Commissioners.

The Bill amends the Setoff Debt Collection Act to require the Department of Revenue to collect a $15 collection assistance fee on each local agency debt collected through setoff. The fee must be remitted by the Department to the clearinghouse that submitted the debt. Last year the N.C. Association of County Commissioners and the League of Municipalities entered into an interlocal agreement to establish a clearinghouse for local debt collection. The clearinghouse is registered with the Department of Revenue as the North Carolina Local Government Debt Setoff Clearinghouse. The Association and League have also contracted with a third party to process and compile the local debts. The $15 collection assistance fee will be used to pay for the costs of collecting these debts.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Local Governments, North Carolina Department of Revenue, Property Tax Division.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 1 (worthless checks) and 4 (manufactured homes) are effective when they become law. The remainder becomes effective for taxes imposed on taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2002.

BILL SUMMARY: This proposal makes several changes to the property tax law and is recommended by the Revenue Laws Study Committee, the North Carolina Association of Assessing Officers and the North Carolina Department of Revenue.

Section 1 addresses the returned check fee charged by tax collectors. Under current statute the collector can impose a 10% fee for returned checks, with a minimum of $1.00 and a maximum of $1,000. The proposal increases the minimum fee to $25.00. The 10% rate and the $1,000 maximum provisions are retained. Section 2 defines the procedures and time limits surrounding a property tax appeal of personal property taxes. Section 3 authorizes local boards of equalization and review to meet after their adjournment date to hear personal property appeals. Section 4 changes the effective date of several property tax changes made last session in regards to manufactured homes. Section 5 authorizes the Department of Revenue to collect a $15 collection assistance fee on each local debt collected through the Setoff Debt Collection program. The funds are to be forwarded to the North Carolina Local Government Debt Setoff Clearinghouse.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Section 1: Because the proposal increases the minimum amount charged by tax collectors for returned checks, local fee revenues will increase. Fiscal Research is unable to offer an exact estimate of the increase, although it is expected to be relatively small.

Section 2: The statutory procedure for property tax appeals is oriented towards real estate and does not specifically address how to handle motor vehicle appeals. As a result, counties use a variety of procedures and timelines. Because the bill only clarifies procedure, it is not expected to have a fiscal impact.

Section 3: This section is not expected to have a fiscal impact as it merely extends the time limit for appeals.

Section 4: During the 2001 session several changes were made regarding the classification of manufactured homes for property tax purposes. In particular, the statute laid out specific qualifications for a manufactured home to be considered real property. This included having multiple sections, being placed on a permanent foundation, and having several items (hitch, wheels, axles) removed from the home. The effective date for the changes was July 1, 2002. Since the legislation passed, many assessors have been unable to determine if all the manufactured homes in the county meet the new criteria. As a result, they are asking that the current effective date be delayed until July 1, 2004. Because some properties would continue to be valued as personal property for two extra years, some impact is expected on property taxes. However, Fiscal Research is unable to make a reliable estimate of the impact during that period.

Section 5: Under current law, counties and cities can submit debts for collection to the Department of Revenue as long as the request is forwarded through the League of Municipalities, the County Commissioners Association, or a clearinghouse established through interlocal agreement. However, when the government submits the debt for collection, they must absorb the $15 fee themselves. The proposal authorizes the Department of Revenue to collect the $15 fee from the delinquent payer. This fee does not apply to child support. The proposal will reduce the cost of debt collection for local governments, and will likely increase program usage. However, no firm estimate is available on the total financial impact for local governments.

House Committee on Finance

Minutes
August 1, 2002

The House Committee on Finance met on Thursday, August 1, 2002, at 8:30 A.M., in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building. The following members were present: Chairmen Allen, Buchanan, and Luebke; Vice-Chairs Hill and Jarrell; and Representatives Alexander, Blust, Capps, Cox, Decker, Dedmon, Eddins, Edwards, Gibson, Gray, Hackney, Holliman, Johnson, McComas, McCombs, McMahan, Morris, Pope, Rayfield, Starnes, Weiss, Willingham, Wilson, Womble, and Cunningham. The following Sergeant-at-Arms staff were present: Dusty Rhoades, Bob Fowler, Walter Spell, and Bill Freeman. Staff persons present included: Trina Griffin, Martha Walston, David Crotts, Linda Millsaps, Canaan Huie, Martha Harris, and Committee Assistants Nancy Brantley, Blinda Edwards, Joyce Harris, and Glenda Jones. The Visitor Registration Sheet and Agenda are attached and incorporated as a part of these minutes.

Chairman Allen called the meeting to order and recognized Pages Thomas Packer of Nash County, sponsored by Rep. Arnold; Jonathan Hammill of Gaston County, sponsored by Rep. Rayfield; Carolina Batchelor of Mecklenburg County, sponsored by Speaker Black; and Nan Yang of Wake County, sponsored by Rep. Weiss.

Representatives Gregg Thompson and Ruth Easterling were recognized to explain HB 1736, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO DIRECT THE DIVISION OF MOTOR VEHICLES TO ISSUE A RETIRED LEGISLATOR SPECIAL LICENSE PLATE. Representatives Thompson and Easterling stated that the bill would authorize the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue a special license plate to any former member of the General Assembly who is receiving or is eligible to receive benefits under the Legislative Retirement System. In answer to questions from the members, they explained that the bill does not require 300 applications before the plate is issued, and legislators must serve at least three terms before being eligible for this special plate. Upon motion of Rep. Edwards, the bill was given a favorable report. Copies of the Bill and Bill Summary are attached as part of these minutes.

The next order of business was HB 1734, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO RAISE THE INVESTMENT THRESHOLD FOR THE CREDIT FOR INVESTING IN MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT; TO ESTABLISH TIERED RATES FOR THE CREDIT FOR INVESTING IN MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT; TO MODIFY THE WAGE STANDARD FOR THE CREDIT FOR WORKER TRAINING; TO MODIFY THE WAGE STANDARD FOR ENTERPRISE TIER ONE AND TWO COUNTIES; TO MODIFY THE WAGE STANDARD FOR TAXPAYERS WITH A TAX YEAR OTHER THAN A CALENDAR YEAR; TO TREAT CERTAIN PARCELS OF LAND PARTIALLY

LOCATED IN A DEVELOPMENT ZONE AS IF THE ENTIRE PARCEL WERE LOCATED WITHIN THE DEVELOPMENT ZONE; TO ENACT A JOB DEVELOPMENT INVESTMENT GRANT PROGRAM TO PROVIDE ECONOMIC STIMULUS, TO CREATE JOBS, AND TO AID IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL PROJECTS AND EXPANSIONS IN NORTH CAROLINA; TO MODIFY THE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT FUND TO ALLOW FOR EXPENDITURES RELATED TO TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND BROADBAND LINES AND EQUIPMENT AND TO ALLOW FOR EXPENDITURES FROM THE UTILITY ACCOUNT IN ENTERPRISE TIER THREE AREAS; AND TO MAKE A TECHNICAL CORRECTION REGARDING THE AUTHORITY OF A LOCAL GOVERNMENT TO LEVY A PROPERTY TAX FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT. Upon motion of Representative Buchanan, the Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS) for HB 1734 was adopted for discussion.

Rep. Bill Owens, as principal sponsor of the Bill, explained that there are two main components of this bill: 1) changes to the Bill Lee Act that would affect the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the wage standard, and the definition of a development zone, and 2) the establishment of a new economic development program that would allow a three-member committee to award grants to businesses, based on income tax withholdings from new jobs created by the businesses. The three-member committee would be made up of the Secretary of Revenue, Secretary of Commerce, and the State Budget Officer.

During discussion, questions raised by Committee members were answered by staff and by Commerce Secretary James T. Fain and Don Hobart, also with Commerce.

Amendment No. 1. Representative Holliman said he did have some concerns about the tier categories and was recognized to send forth an amendment to the bill that would add four new members to the committee: two appointed by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the President Pro Tempore of the Senate; and two members appointed by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the Speaker of the House of Representatives. Rep. Holliman moved for its adoption. By Roll Call Vote, the amendment failed 18 to 9.

Amendment No. 2. Representative Hackney sent forth an amendment that would add the following phrase between lines 11 and 12 on page 9: "(6) Whether the project utilizes existing infrastructure and resources in the community." By motion of Representative Hackney, the Amendment was adopted.

Representative Buchanan moved to give the PCS a favorable report, and an unfavorable report to the original bill, and recommended that the PCS be re-referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Because of time constraints, no action was taken on Representative Buchanan's motion, and Chairman Allen adjourned the meeting at 9:50 A.M. and announced that the Committee would meet again fifteen minutes after the 10:00 o'clock House Session to continue discussion of HB 1734.

Respectfully submitted,

Gordon P. Allen

Nancy G. Brantley

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO DIRECT THE DIVISION OF MOTOR VEHICLES TO ISSUE A RETIRED LEGISLATOR SPECIAL LICENSE PLATE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 20-79.4(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(36a1) Retired Legislator. – Issuable to a former member of the North Carolina General Assembly who is receiving or is eligible to receive benefits under Article 1A of Chapter 120 of the General Statutes. The plate shall bear the Great Seal of the State of North Carolina, surrounded by the words 'State Senate' or 'State House of Representatives', as appropriate, and the word 'Retired' below the Seal."

SECTION 2. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 1736:
Retired Legislator License Plate

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Rep. Thompson
Date:	July 30, 2002	Analysis by:	Martha Walston
Version:	1st Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1736 would direct the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue a special license plate to a former member of the North Carolina General Assembly who is receiving or is eligible to receive benefits under the Legislative Retirement System. The bill does NOT require 300 applications before the plate may be issued.

CURRENT LAW: The General Assembly has authorized the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue many different registration plates. Most of these plates are not issued until at least 300 applications are received. The DMV has issued at least 87 special license plates. Several of these plates are issuable to the following retired persons: military retiree, retired Highway Patrol, retired sheriff, and retired magistrate. Also under G.S. 20-79.6, the following retired members of the judiciary are eligible for special plates: justices and judges of the North Carolina court system and Justices of the U.S. Supreme Court and U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals if they are residing in North Carolina.

Applicants for the above special license plates issuable to retired persons must pay the regular motor vehicle registration plate plus an additional $10 fee. The additional $10 fee is credited to the Special Registration Plate Account. After deducting the cost of the plates from this account, $525,000 is annually appropriated to provide operating assistance for seven Visitor Centers. The Centers are located in Brunswick, Camden, Carteret, Caswell, Macon, Tyrell, and Watauga Counties. The remaining revenue in the account is transferred quarterly to the Department of Commerce for advertising (33%), the Department of Transportation for highway beautification (50%), and the Department of Health and Human Services to promote travel accessibility for disabled persons in the State (17%).

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1736 directs the DMV to issue a special license plate to a former member of the North Carolina General Assembly who is receiving or is eligible to receive benefits under the Legislative Retirement System.[1] The plate will bear the Great Seal of the State surrounded by the words "State Senate" or "State House of Representatives" and the word "Retired" below the Seal. There is no 300-application requirement for issuance. This proposed special plate is similar to the current special plate issuable to a member of the North Carolina

[1] Under G.S. 120-4.11, the following members are eligible for membership in the retirement system: (1) members of the General Assembly who serve on and after June 15, 1983; and (2) former members of the General Assembly who served prior to June 15, 1983; and who elect to transfer current and future entitlements, or contributions, from the Legislative retirement Fund established by Chapter 1269 of the 169 Session Laws; or who have five or more years of service as a member of the General Assembly.

General Assembly. The plate for a current member bears the Great Seal, the word "Senate" or "House" and the member's assigned seat number.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Transportation, Division of Motor Vehicles.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: This bill authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) to issue a retired legislator special license plate. This plate can be issued to a former member of the North Carolina General Assembly who is receiving or is eligible to receive retirement benefits under Article 1A of Chapter 120. The bill also addresses the appearance of the plate.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: In addition to the normal $20 vehicle registration fee for private passenger vehicles, each applicant for a retired legislator plate pays $10 that is deposited into the Special Registration Plate Account. There is no increase in the Highway Fund since the special plate applicants pay the same $20 vehicle registration fee that they were paying for a regular license plate.

According to the Division of Motor Vehicles, there is a one-time cost of approximately $100 to design a new plate. There is also a production cost of approximately $3.00 per plate based on one color design. The cost per plate will increase if more color is added or the design is complex.

Records at the state retirement system offices indicate that there are currently 236 former legislators who are receiving or qualify for benefits. If all 236 former members request plates the special plate account would see an increase of $2260 (236 members x $10, less the $100 to design a new plate). However, because the Fiscal Research Division cannot estimate the number of these former legislators that will request a plate, no accurate fiscal estimate is possible on the bill.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO RAISE THE INVESTMENT THRESHOLD FOR THE CREDIT FOR INVESTING IN MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT; TO ESTABLISH TIERED RATES FOR THE CREDIT FOR INVESTING IN MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT; TO MODIFY THE WAGE STANDARD FOR THE CREDIT FOR WORKER TRAINING; TO MODIFY THE WAGE STANDARD FOR ENTERPRISE TIER ONE AND TWO COUNTIES; TO MODIFY THE WAGE STANDARD FOR TAXPAYERS WITH A TAX YEAR OTHER THAN A CALENDAR YEAR; TO TREAT CERTAIN PARCELS OF LAND PARTIALLY LOCATED IN A DEVELOPMENT ZONE AS IF THE ENTIRE PARCEL WERE LOCATED WITHIN THE DEVELOPMENT ZONE; TO ENACT A JOB DEVELOPMENT INVESTMENT GRANT PROGRAM TO PROVIDE ECONOMIC STIMULUS, TO CREATE JOBS, AND TO AID IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL PROJECTS AND EXPANSIONS IN NORTH CAROLINA; TO MODIFY THE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT FUND TO ALLOW FOR EXPENDITURES RELATED TO TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND BROADBAND LINES AND EQUIPMENT AND TO ALLOW FOR EXPENDITURES FROM THE UTILITY ACCOUNT IN ENTERPRISE TIER THREE AREAS; AND TO MAKE A TECHNICAL CORRECTION REGARDING THE AUTHORITY OF A LOCAL GOVERNMENT TO LEVY A PROPERTY TAX FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 105-129.9(a) and (c) read as rewritten:

"(a) General Credit. – If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased eligible machinery and equipment places them in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to ~~seven percent (7%)~~ the applicable percentage of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold. Machinery and equipment are eligible if they are capitalized by the taxpayer for tax purposes under the Code and not leased to another party. In addition, in the case of a large investment, machinery and equipment that are not capitalized by the taxpayer are eligible if the taxpayer leases them from another party. The credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the machinery and equipment are placed in service but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which they are placed in service. The applicable percentage is as follows:

Area Enterprise Tier	Applicable Percentage
Tier One	7%
Tier Two	7%
Tier Three	6%
Tier Four	5%
Tier Five	4%

...

(c) Threshold. – The applicable threshold is the appropriate amount set out in the following table based on the enterprise tier where the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service during the taxable year. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service at more than one establishment in an enterprise tier during the taxable year, the threshold applies separately to the eligible machinery and equipment placed in service at each establishment. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service at an establishment over the course of a two-year period, the applicable threshold for the second taxable year is reduced by the eligible investment amount for the previous taxable year.

Area Enterprise Tier	Threshold
Tier One	$ -0-
Tier Two	100,000
Tier Three	200,000
Tier Four	~~500,000~~1,000,000
Tier Five	~~1,000,000~~2,000,000"

SECTION 2. G.S. 105-129.4(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Wage Standard. – A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for creating jobs ~~or the credit for worker training~~ in an enterprise tier three, four, or five area if, for the calendar year the jobs are ~~created or the worker training is provided,~~created, the average wage of the jobs for which the credit is claimed meets the wage standard and the average wage of all jobs at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed meets the wage standard. No credit is allowed for jobs not included in the wage calculation. A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the credit for research and development, or the credit for investing in real property for a central office or aircraft ~~facility, or the credit for substantial investment in other property~~facility in a tier three, four, or five area if, for the calendar year the taxpayer engages in the activity that qualifies for the credit, the average wage of all jobs at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed meets the wage standard. In making the wage calculation, the taxpayer must include any positions that were filled for at least 1,600 hours during the calendar year the taxpayer engages in the activity that qualifies for the credit even if those positions are not filled at the time the taxpayer claims the credit. For a taxpayer with a taxable year other than a calendar year, the taxpayer must use the wage standard for the calendar year in which the taxable year begins. No wage standard applies to credits for activities in an enterprise tier one or two area.

Jobs meet the wage standard if they pay an average weekly wage that is at least equal to ~~the applicable percentage times~~one hundred ten percent (110%) of the applicable average weekly wage for the county in which the jobs will be located, as computed by the Secretary of Commerce from data compiled by the Employment Security Commission for the most recent period for which data are available. ~~The applicable percentage for jobs located in an enterprise tier one area is one hundred percent (100%). The applicable percentage for all other jobs is one hundred ten percent (110%).~~ The applicable average weekly wage is the lowest of the following: (i) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county, (ii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the State, and (iii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county multiplied by the county income/wage adjustment factor. The county income/wage adjustment factor is the county income/wage ratio divided by the State income/wage ratio. The county income/wage ratio is average per capita income in the county divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the county. The State income/wage ratio is the average per capita income in the State divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the State. The Department of Commerce must annually publish the wage standard for each county."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-129.3A is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(d) Parcel of Property Partially in a Development Zone. – For the purposes of this section, a parcel of property that is located partially within a development zone is considered entirely within the development zone if all of the following conditions are satisfied:

(1) At least fifty percent (50%) of the parcel is located within the development zone.

(2) The parcel was in existence and under common ownership prior to the most recent federal decennial census.

(3) The parcel is a portion of land made up of one or more tracts or tax parcels of land that is surrounded by a continuous perimeter boundary."

SECTION 4. In addition to heightening the incentive effect of the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act in lower-tiered counties, the changes in Section 1 of this act are intended to reduce the cost of the Act and make more revenues available to the State of North Carolina in future years. It is the intent of the General Assembly in making these changes to provide a source of funds that could be used in future years to support other, more targeted economic development programs aimed at helping create new jobs in North Carolina.

SECTION 5.(a) Article 10 of Chapter 143B of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Part to read:

"Part 2F.

"Job Development Investment Grant Program.

"§ 143B-437.44. Legislative findings and purpose.

The General Assembly finds that:

(1) It is the policy of the State of North Carolina to stimulate economic activity and to create new jobs for the citizens of the State by encouraging and promoting the expansion of existing business and industry within the State and by recruiting and attracting new business and industry to the State.

(2) Both short-term and long-term economic trends at the State, national, and international levels have made the successful implementation of the State's economic development policy and programs both more critical and more challenging; and the decline in the State's traditional industries, and the resulting adverse impact upon the State and its citizens, have been exacerbated in recent years by adverse national and State economic trends that contribute to the reduction in the State's industrial base and that inhibit the State's ability to sustain or attract new and expanding businesses.

(3) The economic condition of the State is not static and recent changes in the State's economic condition have created economic distress that requires a reevaluation of certain existing State programs and the enactment of a new program as provided in this Part that are designed to stimulate new economic activity and to create new jobs within the State.

(4) The enactment of this Part is necessary to stimulate the economy, facilitate economic recovery, and create new jobs in North Carolina; and this Part will promote the general welfare and confer, as its primary purpose and effect, benefits on citizens throughout the State through the creation of new jobs, an enlargement of the overall tax base, an expansion and diversification of the State's industrial base, and an increase in revenue to the State and its political subdivisions.

(5) The purpose of this Part is to stimulate economic activity and to create new jobs within the State.

(6) It is not the intent of the General Assembly that grants provided through this Part be used as venture capital funds, business incubator funds, or business start-up funds or to otherwise fund the initial capitalization needs of new businesses.

(7) Nothing in this Part shall be construed to constitute a guarantee or assumption by the State of any debt of any business or to authorize the taxing power or the full faith and credit of the State to be pledged.

"§ 143B-437.45. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Part:

(1) Agreement. – A community economic development agreement under G.S. 143B-437.51.

(2) Base years. – The first two complete calendar years following the effective date of an agreement.

(3) Business. – A corporation, sole proprietorship, cooperative association, partnership, S corporation, limited liability company, nonprofit corporation, or other form of business organization, located either within or outside this State.

(4) Committee. – The Economic Investment Committee established pursuant to G.S. 143B-437.48.

(5) Eligible position. – A position created by a business and filled by a new full-time employee in this State during the base years or in subsequent years of a grant.

(6) Full-time employee. – A person who is employed for consideration for at least 35 hours a week, whose wages are subject to withholding under Article 4A of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes, and who is determined by the Committee to be employed in a permanent position according to criteria it develops. The term does not include any person who works as an independent contractor or on a consulting basis for the business.

(7) New employee. – A full-time employee who represents a net increase in the number of the business's employees statewide and who is first employed on the project that is the subject of an agreement. The term includes an employee rehired or called back from a layoff that occurs during or following the base years to a vacant position previously held by that employee or to a new position established during or following the base years.

(8) Related member. – Defined in G.S. 105-130.7A.

(9) Withholdings. – The amount withheld by a business from the wages of employees in eligible positions under Article 4A of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

"§ 143B-437.46. Job Development Investment Grant Program.

There is established the Job Development Investment Grant Program to be administered by the Economic Investment Committee. In order to foster job creation and investment in the economy of this State, the Committee may enter into negotiated agreements with businesses to provide grants in accordance with the provisions of this Part. The Committee shall develop criteria to be used in determining whether the conditions of this section are satisfied and whether the project described in the application is otherwise consistent with the purposes of this Part. Before entering into an agreement, the Committee must find that all the following conditions are met:

(1) The project proposed by the business will create, during the term of the agreement, a net increase in employment in this State by the business.

(2) The project will benefit the people of this State by increasing opportunities for employment and by strengthening this State's economy by, for example, providing worker training opportunities, constructing and enhancing critical infrastructure, increasing development in strategically important industries, or increasing the State and local tax base.

(3) The project is consistent with economic development goals for the State and for the area where it will be located.

(4) A grant under this Part is necessary for the completion of the project in this State.

(5) The total benefits of the project to the State outweigh its costs and render the grant appropriate for the project.

"§ 143B-437.47. Eligible projects.

(a) Minimum Number of Eligible Positions. – A business may apply to the Committee for a grant for any project that creates the minimum number of eligible positions as set out in the table below. If the project will be located in more than one enterprise tier area, the location with the highest enterprise tier area designation determines the minimum number of eligible positions that must be created.

Enterprise Tier Area	Number of Eligible Positions
Tier One	10
Tier Two	10
Tier Three	10
Tier Four	20
Tier Five	20

(b) Nonretail Facilities. – A project that consists solely of retail facilities is not eligible for a grant under this Part. If a project consists of both retail facilities and nonretail facilities, only the portion of the project consisting of nonretail facilities is eligible for a grant, and only the withholdings from employees in eligible positions that are employed exclusively in the portion of the project that represents nonretail facilities may be used to determine the amount of the grant. If a warehouse facility is part of a retail facility and supplies only that retail facility, the warehouse facility is not eligible for a grant. For the purposes of this Part, catalog distribution centers are not retail facilities.

(c) Health Insurance. – A business is eligible for a grant under this Part only if the business provides health insurance for all of the full-time employees of the project with respect to which the grant is made. For the purposes of this subsection, a business provides health insurance if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125.

Each year that a business receives a grant under this Part, the business must provide with the submission required under G.S. 143B-437.52 a certification that the business continues to provide health insurance for all full-time employees of the project with respect to which the grant is made. If the business ceases to provide health insurance to all full-time employees of the project with respect to which a grant is made, the Committee may amend or terminate the agreement as provided in G.S. 143B-437.53.

"§ 143B-437.48. Economic Investment Committee established.

(a) Membership. – The Economic Investment Committee is established. The Committee consists of the following members:

(1) The Secretary of Commerce.

(2) The Secretary of Revenue.

(3) The Director of the Office of State Budget and Management.

(b) Unanimous Decision Required. – The Committee may act only upon a unanimous decision of its members.

"§ 143B-437.49. Applications; fees; reports; study.

(a) Application. – A business shall apply, under oath, to the Committee for a grant on a form prescribed by the Committee that includes at least all of the following:

(1) The name of the business, the proposed location of the project, and the type of activity in which the business will engage at the project site or sites.

(2) The names and addresses of the principals or management of the business, the nature of the business, and the form of business organization under which it is operated.

(3) The most recent audited financial statements of the business and any other financial information the Committee considers necessary.

(4) The number of eligible positions proposed to be created during the base years and thereafter and the salaries for these positions.

(5) An estimate of the total withholdings.

(6) Certification that the business will provide health insurance to all full-time employees of the project.

(7) Information concerning other locations, including locations in other states and countries, being considered for the project and the nature of any benefits that would accrue to the business if the project were to be located in one of those locations.

(8) Information concerning any other State or local government incentives for which the business is applying or that it has an expectation of receiving.

(9) Any other information necessary for the Committee to evaluate the application.

A business may apply, in one consolidated application in a form and manner determined by the Committee, for a grant on its own behalf as a business and for grants on behalf of the related members of the business who may qualify under this Part.

The Committee will consider an application by a business for grants on behalf of its related members only if the related members for whom the application is submitted have assigned to the business any claim of right the related members may have under this Part to apply for grants individually during the term of the agreement and have agreed to cooperate with the business in providing to the Committee all the information required for the initial application and the agreement, and any other information the Committee may require for the purposes of this Part. The applicant business is responsible for providing to the Committee all the information required under this Part.

If a business applies for a grant on behalf of its related members, the related members included in the application may be permitted to meet the qualifications for a grant collectively by participating in a project that meets the requirements of this Part. The amount of a grant may be calculated under the terms of this Part as if the related members were all collectively one business entity. Any conditions for a grant, other than the number of eligible positions created, apply to each related member who is listed in the application as participating in the project. The grants awarded shall be paid to the applicant business. A grant received under this Part by a business may be apportioned to the related members in a manner determined by the business. In order for an agreement to be executed, each related member included in the application must sign the agreement and agree to abide by its terms.

(b) Application Fee. – When filing an application under this section, the business must pay the Committee a fee of five thousand dollars ($5,000). The fee is due at the time the application is filed. The Committee shall determine the allocation of the fee imposed by this section among the agencies whose heads make up the Committee. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the agency to which they are credited.

(c) Reports. – The Committee shall publish a report on the Job Development Investment Grant Program on or before October 31 of each year. The report shall include the following:

(1) A listing of each community economic development agreement negotiated and entered into during the preceding fiscal year, including the cost/benefit analysis conducted by the Committee during the application process, a description of the project, and the amount of the grant made under the agreement during that year.

(2) An update on the status of projects under agreements entered into before the preceding fiscal year.

(3) The number and enterprise tier area of eligible positions created by projects with respect to which grants were awarded.

(4) The wage levels of eligible positions created by projects with respect to which grants were awarded.

(5) The amount of new income tax revenue received from withholdings related to the projects for which grants were awarded.

(6) The criteria developed by the Committee to implement this Part and any changes in those criteria from the previous fiscal year.

(d) Study. – The Committee shall conduct a study to determine the minimum funding level required to implement the Job Development Investment Grant Program successfully. The Committee shall report the results of this study to the House of Representatives Finance Committee, the Senate Finance Committee, the House of Representatives Appropriations Subcommittee on Natural and Economic Resources, the Senate Appropriations Committee on Natural and Economic Resources, and the Fiscal Research Division no later than March 1 of each year.

"§ 143B-437.50. Calculation of minimum and maximum grants; factors considered.

(a) Subject to the limitations of subsection (d) of this section, the amount of the grant awarded in each case shall be a percentage of the withholdings of eligible positions. The percentage shall be no less than ten percent (10%) and no more than eighty percent (80%) of the withholdings of the eligible positions for a period of years. The percentage used to determine the amount of the grant shall be based on criteria developed by the Committee after considering at least the following:

(1) The number of eligible positions to be created.

(2) The expected duration of those positions.

(3) The type of contribution the business can make to the long-term growth of the State's economy.

(4) The amount of other financial assistance the project will receive from the State or local governments.

(5) The total dollar investment the business is making in the project.

(b) The term of the grant shall not exceed 15 years starting with the first year a grant is made.

(c) The grant may be based only on eligible positions created during the base years, unless the Committee makes an explicit determination that the grant shall also be based on additional eligible positions created during the remainder of the term of the grant.

(d) The percentage established in the agreement shall be reduced by one-fourth for any eligible position that is located in an enterprise tier four or five area.

(e) A business that is receiving any other grant by operation of State law may not receive an amount as a grant pursuant to this Part that, when combined with any other grants, exceeds eighty percent (80%) of the withholdings of the business, unless the Committee makes an explicit finding that the additional grant is necessary to secure the project.

"§ 143B-437.51. Community economic development agreement.

Each community economic development agreement shall include at least the following:

(1) A detailed description of the proposed project that will result in job creation and the number of new employees to be hired in the base years and later years.

(2) The term of the grant and the criteria used to determine the first year for which the grant may be claimed.

(3) The number of eligible positions that are subjects of the grant and a description of those positions and the location of those positions.

(4) The amount of the grant based on a percentage of withholdings.

(5) A method for determining the number of new employees hired during a grant year.

(6) A method for the business to report annually to the Committee the number of eligible positions for which the grant is to be made.

(7) A requirement that the business report to the Committee annually the aggregate amount of withholdings during the grant year.

(8) A provision permitting an audit of the payroll records of the business by the Committee from time to time as the Committee considers necessary.

(9) A provision that permits the Committee to amend an agreement pursuant to G.S. 143B-437.53.

(10) A provision that requires the business to maintain operations at the project location or another location approved by the Committee for at least one hundred fifty percent (150%) of the term of the grant and a provision to permit the Committee to recapture all or part of the grant at its discretion if the business does not remain at the site for the required term.

(11) A provision that requires the business to maintain employment levels in this State at the level of the year immediately preceding the base years.

(12) A provision establishing the conditions under which the grant agreement may be terminated, in addition to those under G.S. 143B-437.53, and under which grant funds may be recaptured by the Committee.

(13) A provision stating that unless the agreement is amended or terminated pursuant to G.S. 143B-437.53, the agreement is binding and constitutes a pledge and a continuing appropriation of the amount of the grant.

(14) A provision setting out any allowed variation in the terms of the agreement that will not subject the business to amendment or termination of the agreement under G.S. 143B-437.53.

"§ 143B-437.52. Grant recipient to submit records.

(a) No later than February 1 of each year, for the preceding grant year, every business that is awarded a grant under this Part shall submit to the Committee a copy of its State and federal tax returns showing business and nonbusiness income and a report showing withholdings as a condition of its continuation in the grant program. In addition, the business shall submit to the Committee an annual payroll report showing the eligible positions that are created during the base years and the new eligible positions created during each subsequent year of the grant. When making a submission under this section, the business must pay the Committee a fee of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500). The fee is due at the time the submission is made. The Committee shall determine the allocation of the fee imposed by this section among the agencies whose heads make up the Committee. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the agency to which they are credited.

(b) The Committee may require any information that it considers necessary to effectuate the provisions of this Part.

(c) The Committee may require any business receiving a grant to submit to an audit at any time.

"§ 143B-437.53. Failure to comply with agreement.

(a) If the business receiving a grant fails to meet or comply with any condition or requirement set forth in an agreement or with criteria developed by the Committee, the Committee may amend the agreement to reduce the amount of the grant or the term of the agreement. Any reduction of the grant is applicable to the grant year immediately following the grant year in which the Committee amends the agreement.

(b) If a business fails to maintain employment at the levels stipulated in the agreement or otherwise fails to comply with any condition of the agreement for any two consecutive years, the Committee may terminate the agreement.

"§ 143B-437.54. Disbursement of grant.

A business may receive an annual disbursement of a grant only after the Committee has certified to the State Controller that the business has met the terms and conditions of the agreement. No amount shall be disbursed to a business as a grant under this Part in any year until the Secretary of Revenue has certified to the Committee the amount of withholdings received in that year by the Department of Revenue from the business. A business that has met the terms of the agreement shall make an annual certification of this to the Committee. The Committee shall verify this information and certify to the State Controller that the terms of the agreement have been met. The Committee shall further certify to the State Controller the amount of a grant for which the business is eligible under the agreement and the amount of a grant for which the business would be eligible under the agreement without regard to G.S. 143B-437.50(d). The State Controller shall remit a check to the business in the amount of the certified grant amount within 90 days of receiving the certification of the Committee.

"§ 143B-437.55. Transfer to Industrial Development Fund.

At the time the State Controller remits a check to a business under G.S. 143B-437.54, the State Controller shall transfer to the Utility Account of the Industrial Development Fund an amount equal to the amount certified by the Committee as the difference between the amount of the grant and the amount of the grant for which the business would be eligible without regard to G.S. 143B-437.50(d).

"§ 143B-437.56. Sunset.

The authority of the Committee to enter into new agreements expires January 1, 2006."

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Reps. Owens and Allen
Date:	July 31, 2002	Analysis by:	Y. Canaan Huie
Version:	H1734-CSLYfx-47		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: There are two main components to this bill: changes to the Bill Lee Act and the establishment of a new economic development program. There are different effective dates for the various parts of the bill.

BACKGROUND: The William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act (hereinafter Bill Lee Act) was enacted in 1996, effective beginning with the 1996 tax year with a 2002 sunset. The Act is a package of State tax incentives and has been modified in each subsequent year. The incentives are primarily in the form of tax credits for investment in machinery and equipment and real property, for job creation, for worker training, and for research and development. Counties are divided into five economic distress tiers based on the unemployment rate, per capita income, and population growth of the county. For many of the credits, the lower the tier of a county, the more favorable the incentive. The Act requires the Department of Commerce and the Department of Revenue to report periodically on the credits allowed by the Act.

Before 1996, North Carolina had made little use of tax incentives to lure businesses to the State. Even without incentives, North Carolina was consistently one of the top states in attracting industry. The array of credits authorized by the Bill Lee Act was viewed as an experiment, to be evaluated in five years to determine whether the incentives were cost effective and actually affected behavior, or merely provided tax reductions to businesses that would have located or expanded in any case. In 1999, the General Assembly extended the 2002 sunset to 2006.

ANALYSIS: Bill Lee Act Changes. Sections 1 through 3 of this bill make significant changes to the Bill Lee Act. These changes affect the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the wage standard, and the definition of a development zone.

Machinery and Equipment. Under current law, a taxpayer is allowed a credit for machinery and equipment placed into service during a taxable year that exceeds the applicable threshold based on the location where the machinery and equipment is placed into service. The amount of the credit is equal to 7% of the cost of the machinery and equipment in excess of the applicable threshold. Section 1 of this act makes two changes to this credit. First, the amount of the credit is reduced in enterprise tiers three, four, and five. In those areas, the amount of the credit is reduced to 6%, 5%, and 4%, respectively, of the cost of the machinery and equipment in excess of the applicable threshold. Second, the amount of the threshold is increased in enterprise tiers four and five. In enterprise tier four, the threshold is increased from $500,000 to $1,000,000. In enterprise tier five, the threshold is increased from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

Wage standard. Under current law, a taxpayer is eligible for a credit under the Bill Lee Act only if the jobs provided by the taxpayer meet a wage standard. The wage standard is 110% (100% in an enterprise tier one area) of the applicable average weekly wage. The jobs that are included in calculating the wage standard vary depending on the particular credit.

Section 2 of this bill makes three substantive changes to the wage standard. First, this section eliminates the wage standard in enterprise tier one and two areas.

Second, this act eliminates the wage standard for the credit for worker training. In order to be eligible for the credit for worker training, the employee who is being retrained must either (i) occupy a job for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim a credit for creating jobs, or (ii) be trained to operate machinery and equipment for which a taxpayer is eligible to claim a credit for investing in machinery and equipment. Thus, the jobs for which the credit for worker training may be claimed have already been included in a larger group of jobs that has met the wage standard. Often the specific jobs for which worker training is required are lower-paying jobs that could not themselves meet the wage standard. This change allows the credit for worker training to be taken by more taxpayers.

Third, this act makes an allowance for a taxpayer that has a taxable year other than a calendar year. To perform the wage standard test, the taxpayer compares the average weekly wage of certain jobs to the wage standard determined on an annual basis. The test is performed for the calendar year that jobs are created or for which worker training is provided. However, performing a wage standard test based on a calendar year is not feasible because many companies have taxable years that do not coincide with the calendar year. Consequently, the taxpayer can engage in activity that qualifies for a credit during a taxable year that spans two calendar years. If the taxpayer creates jobs in different calendar years, it must compute the combined average weekly wage of the 80 jobs created during its taxable year and compare this average to the county wage standard to determine if it qualifies for a tax credit. It cannot however, compute this average "for the calendar year the jobs are created" as required by the current statute because the jobs are created over the course of two calendar years. Under this bill, the wage standard test would be based on the taxpayer's taxable year and not the calendar year. When a taxable year spans two calendar years, the applicable wage standard is that of the earlier calendar year. In addition to correcting a practical problem, this change generally will be favorable for taxpayers because county wage standards generally trend upward.

Development zones. In 1998, the General Assembly amended the Bill Lee Act to provide additional incentives for businesses that locate or expand in development zones, which are economically distressed areas located within cities. The statutory conditions for qualifying as a development zone were designed to target only these relatively small, economically distressed areas. The statutory conditions contained loopholes, however, that allowed large areas outside of cities to qualify, even if they were not economically distressed throughout. In 1999, the General Assembly moved to close those loopholes.

Current law defines a development zone as an area that meets all of the following conditions: (1) consists of one or more contiguous census tracts, block groups, or both, (2) has a population of 1,000 or more, at least 20% of whom are below the poverty level, (3) is located at least partly in a city with a population over 5,000, (4) every census tract and census block group in the zone must be located in whole or in part within the primary corporate limits of the city, (5) every census tract and census block group in the zone must have more than 10% of its population below the poverty level, or must be immediately adjacent to a tract or group that has more than 20% of its population below the poverty level, and (6) none of the census tracts or census block groups may be located in another development zone.

This act amends the definition of development zone to include all of a parcel of land that is located partially within the zone if all of the following conditions are met:

- At least 50% of the parcel is located within the zone.
- The parcel was in existence and under common ownership prior to the previous decennial federal census.

- The parcel is a portion of land made up of one or more tracts or tax parcels of land that is surrounded by a continuous perimeter boundary.

The following enhanced incentives apply in development zones: If a business locates in a development zone, the wage standard it has to meet is the same as for tier one counties -- slightly lower than the standard for other counties under current law and eliminated entirely under Section 2 of this act. In addition, if a business locates in a development zone, its maximum worker training credit is $1,000 rather than $500, it receives an additional $4,000 per job on its jobs tax credit, and there is no threshold for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

Jobs Development Investment Grant Program. Section 5 of this act creates a new economic development tool for new and expanding businesses in North Carolina. This tool would be used to attract businesses to the State by allowing a three-member committee to award grants to businesses. The amount of the grants would be based on income tax withholdings from new jobs created by the businesses.

Which projects are eligible for a grant? In order to be eligible for a grant under this Part, the business must create a minimum number of new jobs. The number of new jobs that must be created varies based on the enterprise tier designation of the location where the jobs will be located. For projects located in enterprise tiers one through three, the project must create at least 10 new full-time positions. For projects located in enterprise tiers four and five, the project must create at least 20 new full-time positions. If a project is located in more than one location, the enterprise tier designation of the location in the highest enterprise tier area determines the number of new jobs that must be created.

As with the Bill Lee Act, a business must provide health insurance for all full-time jobs associated with the project in order to be eligible for this new program. The test is the same as under the Bill Lee Act – the business must, for all full-time employees of the project, pay at least 50% of the premiums for health insurance that meets at least the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee.

Unlike under the Bill Lee Act, there are few restrictions based on the industry in which the business is engaged. All facilities other than retail facilities are eligible for a grant under this Part.

More generally, the project must satisfy the following conditions in order to be eligible for a grant:

- The project will result in net new employment in the State.
- The project is economically sound and will benefit the people of the State by increasing employment opportunities and strengthening the State's economy.
- The project is consistent with economic development goals for the State.
- A grant is needed in order to secure the project for the State
- The total benefits of the project to the State outweigh the costs associated with the project.

How a grant is obtained? In order to obtain a grant under this Part, the business must apply to the Economic Investment Committee for consideration. The Economic Investment Committee is a three-member committee consisting of the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Revenue, and the Director of the Office of State Budget and Management. The Committee may only act upon unanimous consent. The application for a grant must be under oath, be on a form prescribed by the Committee, and contain any information required by the Committee. At a minimum, the application must contain the following information:

- The name of the business, the proposed location of the project, and the type of activity in which the business will engage at the project site.

- The names and addresses of the principals or management of the business, and the nature of the business, and the form of business organization under which the business is operated.
- The most recent audited financial statements of the business.
- The number of new jobs proposed to be created by the project.
- An estimate of the withholdings of personal income tax of employees of the project.
- Information concerning other possible locations of the project, and the benefits, including tax benefits or grants, associated with locating the project at that other location.
- Information concerning other State grants for which the business is applying or that it expects to receive.

A group of related business involved in a project may submit a joint application for a grant under this Part.

Any application for a grant must be accompanied by a fee in the amount of $5,000. This fee will be allocated among the agencies responsible for evaluating the application (Department of Commerce, Department of Revenue, and the Office of State Budget and Management) in the discretion of the Committee.

The Committee will evaluate applications to determine which businesses shall receive grants under this Part. The awarding of a grant is solely in the discretion of the Committee. The Committee shall develop criteria for evaluating applications. These criteria shall take into consideration the economic impact of the project, the strategic importance of the project to the State, region, or locality, the quality of the jobs to be created, the quality of the industry and the project, and the environmental impact of the projects. The Committee is exempt from the rulemaking process in developing these criteria.

How is the amount of a grant determined? If the Committee approves a business's application, the Committee will then negotiate and enter into a community economic development agreement with the business. The agreement is a binding commitment on the part of the State to provide the grant for a set number of years, subject to the Committee's right to amend or terminate the agreement under certain limited circumstances. Each agreement shall include a description of the project, the term of the agreement, the number of positions expected to be subject to the grant and a method for determining the number of positions that are subject to the grant, and the amount of the grant as a percentage of the withholdings of personal income tax from eligible positions. The Committee has wide discretion in determining the percentage that determines the amount of a grant under an agreement. The Committee shall develop criteria to be used when negotiating the appropriate percentage. The Committee is exempt from the rulemaking process in developing these criteria. However, at a minimum, the following conditions apply:

- The amount of the grant may not be less than ten percent (10%) or more than eighty percent (80%) of the withholdings associated with new jobs at the project.
- The term of the grant shall not exceed 15 years.
- The percentage used to determine the amount of the grant shall be reduced by one-fourth for any eligible position located in an enterprise tier four or five area.
- Unless the Committee makes a specific determination that the grant should be calculated based on eligible positions created in any year during the term of the agreement, the amount of the grant shall be calculated based only on eligible positions created during the base years, the first two years, of the agreement.

- Unless the Committee makes an explicit finding otherwise, the total amount of all grants provided by the State may not exceed 80% of the withholding of eligible positions.

Use of funds? There are no restrictions on the use of the grant fund by the business. South Carolina has a similar grant program. Under the South Carolina program, grant funds may only be used for certain specific purposes, such as worker training, worker relocation, purchase or construction of real property, and construction or repairs to certain transportation-related real property.

The withholdings retained by the State shall be used in two different ways. First, the withholdings in excess of the percentage negotiated in the agreement shall flow to the General Fund.[1] Second, the withholdings that are included in the agreement, but that are excluded from the grant because the percentage was reduced by one-fourth because the eligible position is located in an enterprise tier four or five area, will be transferred to the Utility Account of the Industrial Development Fund. Under current law, funds in the Utility Account may be used to assist local governments in tiers one and two in constructing or improving utility lines or equipment (amendments to the law regarding the Industrial Development Fund and the Utility Account are discussed later in this summary).[2]

Follow-up on grantee businesses? This bill provides for monitoring of grantee businesses in several ways and allows the Committee to amend or terminate agreements if the business fails to live up to the terms of the agreement or the requirements of this new Part.

The business must submit annual reports to the Committee. At a minimum, the business must submit a copy of its federal and State income tax returns which show business and nonbusiness income, a report that shows withholdings, and a payroll report. This annual submission must also include any additional information that Committee considers necessary to implement the grant program. In addition, the Committee may audit at any time a business receiving a grant. This annual submission must be accompanied by a fee of $1,500. The Committee shall allocate the fee among the agencies responsible for evaluating the submission.

The Committee has a right to amend or terminate the agreement and to recapture all or part of a grant made in previous years under certain circumstances. If the business fails to meet or comply with any term of the agreement or with criteria developed by the Committee, the Committee, in it discretion, may amend the agreement. This amendment may take the form of a lower percentage being used to determine the amount of the grant or of a shorter term for the agreement. If the business fails to meet or comply with any term of the agreement or with criteria developed by the Committee for two consecutive years, the Committee, in its discretion, may terminate the agreement. In addition, in each agreement the Committee must include a provision describing the conditions that will lead to recapture of a grant made in an earlier year. The statute mandates that all agreements contain a provision allowing recapture if the business does not maintain operations at the project location or another location approved by the Committee for at least 150% of the term of the grant agreement.

1 Even though the maximum percentage that may be used to determine the amount of a grant is 80%, there may be no additional revenue from these positions that would flow to the General Fund. This is because most taxpayers over-withhold, meaning that more taxes are withheld than are actually due, resulting in a refund to the taxpayer. Because of this, a grant based on the maximum percentage of 80% could result in a net loss to the General Fund.

2 The following example will clarify this. Assume a project that is located in an enterprise tier five area is allowed a grant based on 80% of the withholdings of the eligible positions. Because those positions are located in an enterprise tier five area, that percentage is reduced by one-fourth, so that the business is allowed a grant equal to 60% of the withholdings of eligible positions. (80% multiplied by ¾ equals 60%.) Twenty percent of the withholdings of eligible positions would flow to the General Fund, 60% would be given to the business in the form of a grant, and 20% would be transferred to the Utility Account of the Industrial Development Fund.

Program evaluation. This bill would require the Committee to make annual reports regarding the program and the funding needed to implement the program. By October 31 of each year, the Committee must publish the following information:

- A listing of each agreement entered into during the previous fiscal year, the cost/benefit analysis conducted with respect to each agreement, a description of each project, and the amount of the initial grant.
- An update on the status of projects under agreements entered into in earlier fiscal years.
- The number, enterprise tier levels, and wage levels of eligible positions created by projects with respect to which grants were awarded.
- The amount of new income tax revenue received by the State related to the projects.
- The criteria developed by the Committee to implement the grant program and in changes in those criteria over the previous year.

In addition, the Committee shall conduct a study annually to determine the amount of funding needed to successfully implement the grant program. The results of that study must be reported to the House of Representatives Finance Committee, the Senate Finance Committee, the House of Representatives Appropriations Subcommittee on Natural and Economic Resources, the Senate Appropriations Committee on Natural and Economic Resources, and the Fiscal Research Division no later than March 1.

Finally, the authority of the Committee to enter into additional agreements expires as of January 1, 2006. This will allow the General Assembly an opportunity to review the program after it has been in effect for a few years in order to determine if the program is meeting its objections.

Miscellaneous changes associated with the program. Sections 7 and 8 of this bill provide exceptions to current law needed to implement the provision of the grant program.

Section 7 allows an exemption from the confidentiality requirements of the Department of Revenue. Generally, the Department of Revenue must keep confidential all information it receives in the course of administering the tax laws. There are numerous, specific exceptions to this requirement. This bill would allow the Department of Revenue to share information with the Economic Investment Committee relating to businesses that are applying for a grant or that are subject to an agreement.

Section 8 allows the Committee an exemption from the rulemaking process.

Industrial Development Fund changes. Section 6 of this bill makes two significant changes to the Industrial Development Fund and to the Utility Account, which is part of that Fund. The Industrial Development Fund provides assistance to local governments for improvements to infrastructure to enable the locality to attract new businesses. Usually, this assistance is provided to make general improvements, such as improvements to or development of industrial parks, and is not tied to luring a specific project.

First, the purposes for which funds in both the Fund and the Account may be used are expanded to allow expenditures for telecommunications and high-speed broadband lines and equipment.. Currently funds under both the Fund and the Account may be used for construction of and improvements to water, sewer, gas, and electricity lines and equipment. This change recognizes the growing importance to industry of telecommunications and high-speed broadband.

Second, under current law, funds in the Utility Account may be used to assist local governments located in enterprise tiers one and two only. This bill would expand the focus of the Account to allow funds in the Account to be used to assist local governments in enterprise tier three as well.

Property Tax Technical Correction. Section 9 of this act corrects a statutory reference in two laws dealing with the purposes for which a local government may levy a property tax.

EXPENDITURES: The enactment of the bill is not expected to affect budget requirements of any of the affected agencies.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENTS AFFECTED: Department of Revenue, Department of Commerce, Office of State Budget and Management

ISSUE BACKGROUND: The Bill Lee Act is the package of state tax incentives that was first adopted in 1996 and has been modified in each subsequent year. The incentives are primarily in the form of tax credits for investment in machinery and equipment, job creation, worker training, and research/development. The credits apply to activities undertaken by specifically named industrial classifications. For many of the credits, the counties of the State are divided into five economic distress tiers based on the unemployment rate, per capita income, and population growth. In general, the lower the tier of a county, the more favorable the incentive.

BILL SUMMARY:

Restructure Machinery and Equipment Credits. Under current law, the targeted statewide investment tax credit is equal to 7% of eligible investment in machinery and equipment. The credit is taken over seven years and applies to the investment that exceeds a certain threshold. The threshold amount varies by tier as follows:

Tier	Threshold	Credit
2	100,000	7%
3	200,000	7%
4	500,000	7%
5	1,000,000	7%

The threshold is used first to determine eligibility. In addition, the credit is based on the amount of the investment in machinery and equipment that exceeds the threshold amount. The bill restructures the credit rate and threshold by increasing the minimum investment threshold in Tiers 4 and 5 and lowers the credit percentage in Tiers 3 through 5. The new credit schedule would be as follows:

Tier	Threshold	Credit
2	100,000	7%
3	200,000	6%
4	1,000,000	5%
5	2,000,000	4%

The change is effective for business activities that occur on or after January 1, 2003, but not for those activities occurring on or after that date that are subject to a letter of commitment signed before the date.

Worker Training Credit Wage Test. In order to be eligible for Lee Act credits, taxpayers must meet certain wage tests. These tests are based on the average wage of the company's jobs, calculated based on all jobs at an establishment. The bill eliminates the wage test for the worker training credit. The change is effective for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2003.

Eliminate Wage Test for Tiers 1 and 2. Under current law, taxpayers applying for the Lee Act credits must meet 100% of the wage standard in Tier 1 and exceed 110% of the wage standard in the remaining tiers. The bill eliminates the wage standard for Tiers 1 and 2. The change is effective for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2003.

Development Zone Technical Change. Enhanced Lee Act credits are allowed for projects in development zones (high poverty areas). The bill indicates that a parcel of property partially located in a development zone is considered entirely within the zone if all of the following conditions are met: (1) at least 50% of the parcel is located within the zone; (2) the parcel was in existence and under common ownership prior to the most recent population census; and (3) the parcel is a portion of land made up of one or more tracts or tax parcels of land that is surrounded by a continuous perimeter boundary. This change becomes effective July 1, 2002.

Job Development Investment Grant Program. Establishes the Job Development Investment Grant Program to be administered by the Economic Investment Committee. Under the program, the Committee may enter into agreements with businesses to provide grants in the form of withholding tax payment givebacks. Before entering into an agreement, the Committee must find that all the following conditions are met:

(1) The project proposed by the business will create, during the term of the agreement, a net increase in employment in this State.

(2) The project is economically sound and will benefit the people of this State by increasing opportunities for employment and by strengthening this State's economy.

(3) The project is consistent with economic development goals for the State and for the area where it will be located.

(4) The project is at substantial risk of locating in another state.

(5) A grant is necessary to secure the project for this State.

(6) The total benefits of the project to the State outweigh its costs and render the grant appropriate for the project.

A business may apply to the Committee for a grant for any project that creates the minimum number of eligible positions as set out in the table below. If the project will be located in more than one enterprise tier area, the location with the highest enterprise tier area designation determines the minimum number of eligible positions that must be created.

Enterprise Tier Area	Number of Eligible Positions
Tier One	10
Tier Two	10
Tier Three	10
Tier Four	20
Tier Five	20

A project that consists solely of retail facilities is not eligible for a grant. If a project consists of both retail facilities and non-retail facilities, only the portion of the project consisting of non-retail facilities is eligible for a grant, and only the withholdings from employees in eligible positions that are employed exclusively in the portion of the project that represents non-retail facilities may be used to determine the amount of the grant. If a warehouse facility is part of a retail facility and supplies only that retail facility, the warehouse facility is not eligible for a grant. Catalog distribution centers are not considered retail facilities.

Just like the Bill Lee Act, a business must provide health insurance for all of the full-time employees of the project for which the grant is made.

The Economic Investment Committee will consist of the following members:

(1) The Secretary of Commerce.
(2) The Secretary of Revenue.
(3) The Director of the Office of State Budget and Management.

The Committee may act only upon the unanimous consent of the members. A business shall apply, under oath, to the Committee for a grant on a form prescribed by the Committee that includes at least all the following:

(1) The name of the business, the proposed location of the project, and the type of activity in which the business will engage at the project site or sites.
(2) The names and addresses of the principals or management of the business, the nature of the business, and the form of business organization under which it is operated.
(3) The most recent audited financial statements of the business and any other financial information the Committee considers necessary.
(4) The number of eligible positions proposed to be created during the base years and thereafter, and the salaries for these positions.
(5) An estimate of the total withholdings.
(6) Information concerning other states being considered for the project and the nature of any benefits the company would enjoy as a result of locating in those states.
(7) Any other information necessary for the Committee to evaluate the application.

A business may apply, in one consolidated application in a form and manner determined by the Committee, for a grant on its own behalf as a business and for grants on behalf of the related members of the business who may qualify.

The Committee will consider a application by a business for grants on behalf of its related members only if the related members for whom the application is submitted have assigned to the business any claim of right the related members may have under this program to apply for grants individually during the term of the agreement and have agreed to cooperate with the business in providing to the Committee all the information required for the initial application and the agreement, and any other information the Committee may require. The applicant business is responsible for providing to the Committee all the information required.

If a business applies for a grant on behalf of its related members, the related members included in the application may be permitted to meet the qualifications for a grant collectively by participating in a project that meets the requirements of the program. The amount of a grant may be calculated as if the related members were all collectively one business entity. Any conditions for a grant, other than the number of eligible positions created, apply to each related member who is listed in the application as participating in the project. The grants awarded shall be paid to the applicant business. A grant received by a business may be apportioned to the related members in a manner determined by the business. In order for an agreement to be executed, each related member included in the application must sign the agreement and agree to abide by its terms.

When filing an application under this section the business must pay the Committee a fee of $5,000. The fee is due at the time the application is filed. The Committee shall determine the allocation of the fee imposed by this section among the agencies responsible for evaluating the application. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the agency to which they are credited.

The bill establishes extensive reporting requirements for the Committee.

The Committee is required to conduct a study to determine the minimum funding level required to implement the program successfully and to report the results of this study no later than March 1 of each year.

The amount of the grant awarded in each case shall be a percentage of the withholdings of eligible positions. The percentage shall be no less than 10% and no more than 80% of the withholdings of the eligible positions for a period of years. The percentage used to determine the amount of the grant shall be based on criteria developed by the Committee after considering the following:

(1) The number of eligible positions to be created.
(2) The expected duration of those positions.
(3) The type of contribution the business can make to the long-term growth of the State's economy.
(4) The amount of other financial assistance the business will receive from the State for the project.
(5) The total dollar investment the business is making in the project.

The term of the grant shall not exceed 15 years starting with the first year a grant is made.

The grant percentage may be based only on eligible positions created during the base years (first two years of program) unless the Committee makes an explicit determination that the grant shall also be based on additional eligible positions created during the remainder of the term of the grant.

The percentage established in the agreement shall be reduced by 25% for any eligible position that is located in an enterprise tier four or five area.

A business that is receiving any other grant by operation of State law may not receive grant monies under this program if the total state grants exceed (80%) of the withholdings of the business, unless the Committee makes an explicit finding that the additional grant is necessary to secure the project.

Each community economic development agreement shall include the following:

(1) A detailed description of the proposed project that will result in job creation and the number of new employees to be hired in the base years and later years.
(2) The term of the grant and the criteria used to determine the first year for which the grant may be claimed.
(3) The number of eligible positions that are subjects of the grant and a description of those positions and the location of those positions.
(4) The amount of the grant based on a percentage of withholdings.
(5) A method for determining the number of new employees hired during a grant year.
(6) A method for the business to report annually to the Committee the number of eligible positions for which the grant is to be made.
(7) A requirement that the business report to the Committee annually the aggregate amount of withholdings during the grant year.
(8) A provision permitting an audit of the payroll records of the business by the Committee from time to time as the Committee considers necessary.
(9) A provision that permits the Committee to amend an agreement pursuant to certain guidelines.
(10) A provision that requires the business to maintain operations at the project location or another location approved by the Committee for at least 150% of the term of the grant and a provision to permit the Committee to recapture all or part of the grant at its discretion if the business does not remain at the site for the required term.
(11) A provision that requires the business to maintain employment levels in this State at the level of the year immediately preceding the base years.
(12) A provision establishing the conditions under which the grant agreement may be terminated and grant funds recaptured by the Committee.
(13) A provision stating that unless the agreement is amended or terminated the agreement is binding and constitutes a pledge and a continuing appropriation of the amount of the grant.

A community economic development agreement may contain the following:

(1) A provision setting out allowed variation in the terms of the agreement that will not subject the business to amendment or termination of the agreement
(2) A provision that allows the Committee to consider entering into an additional agreement with the business within five years after the execution of the agreement regardless of whether the program is still in effect at that time if all of the following conditions are met:

a. The business's decision to locate in North Carolina is contingent upon the ability to have a later project considered for a grant.
b. The later project is described in detail in the agreement. This description must include the nature of the additional project, the anticipated investment and new jobs associated with the later project, the anticipated location of the later project, the anticipated wage of the new jobs, and the relationship of the later project to the business's current project.

c. The later project will create at least 75 new jobs in counties currently designated as enterprise tier one, two, or three areas, or 150 new jobs in counties currently designated as enterprise tier four and five areas.

If the current program is still in effect at the time the business applies for a grant for the later project, the business must apply for a grant as it exists at that time. If the current grant program is no longer in effect at the time the business applies for a grant for the later project, the business must apply for a grant according to the provisions of the grant program as it existed immediately before it was repealed or otherwise became ineffective.

No later than February 1 of each year, for the preceding grant year, every business that is awarded a grant shall submit to the Committee a copy of its State and federal tax returns showing business and nonbusiness income and a report showing withholdings as a condition of its continuation in the grant program. In addition, the business shall submit to the Committee an annual payroll report showing the eligible positions that are created during the base years and the new eligible positions created during each subsequent year of the grant. When making a submission under this section the business must pay the Committee a fee of $1,500. The fee is due at the time the submission is made. The Committee shall determine the allocation of the fee imposed by this section among the agencies responsible for evaluating the submission. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the agency to which they are credited.

The Committee may require any information that it considers necessary to effectuate the provisions of this program. The Committee may audit any business receiving a grant at any time.

If the business receiving a grant fails to meet or comply with any condition or requirement set forth in an agreement or with criteria developed by the Committee, the Committee may amend the agreement to reduce the amount of the grant or the term of the agreement. The reduction of the grant is applicable to the grant year immediately following the grant year in which the Committee amends the agreement.

If a business fails to maintain employment at the levels stipulated in the agreement or otherwise fails to comply with any condition of the agreement for any two consecutive years, the Committee may terminate the agreement.

A qualifying business may receive an annual disbursement of a grant only after the Committee has certified to the State Controller that the business has met the terms and conditions of the agreement. No amount shall be disbursed to a business as a grant under this program in any year until the Secretary of Revenue has certified to the Committee the amount of withholdings received in that year by the Department of Revenue from the business. A qualifying business that has met the terms of the agreement shall make an annual certification of this to the Committee. The Committee shall verify this information and certify to the State Controller that the terms of the agreement have been met. The Committee shall further certify to the State Controller the amount of a grant for which the business is eligible under the agreement and the amount of a grant for which the business would be eligible under the agreement without regard to the 25% grant reduction in Tiers 4 and 5. The State Controller shall remit a check to the business in the amount of the certified grant amount within 90 days of receiving the certification of the Committee.

At the time the State Controller remits a check to a business, the State Controller shall transfer to the Utility Account of the Industrial Development Fund an amount equal to the amount certified by the Committee as the difference between the amount of the grant and the amount of the grant for which the business would be eligible without regard to the 25% reduction for Tiers 4 and 5.

In developing criteria for the awarding of grants and for determining the percentage upon which the amount of a grant is based, the Economic Investment Committee shall consider criteria that address the following:

(1) Economic impact of the project.
   a. Impact on gross regional product and gross State product.
   b. Costs and benefits of the project to the State, including the expected return on investment made in the project by the State.
   c. Number of direct jobs that will be created by the project, the wages of those jobs, and the total payroll for the project.
   d. Number of induced short-term, project-related jobs expected to be generated by the project as well as the number of long-term permanent jobs expected to be generated indirectly in the economy as a result of the project.
   e. Dollar value of the investment, including the size of the investment in real versus personal property and expected depreciation rates.
   f. Economic circumstances of the county and region, including the extent to which the project will serve to mitigate unemployment.
   g. The expected time frame during which the project is expected to pay back in State tax revenues the amount of any grants to be paid out.
   h. The economic demands the project is expected to place upon the community or communities in which it will locate.

(2) Strategic importance of the project to the State, region, or locality.
   a. The extent to which the project builds or enhances an industrial cluster.
   b. The extent to which the project falls within a classification of business and industry that the Department of Commerce regards as a target for growth and expansion in the State.
   c. The ability of the project to attract follow-on investment in the State by suppliers and vendors.
   d. The extent to which the project serves to maintain and grow jobs in the State in a business undergoing an internal restructuring or rationalization process.
   e. The extent to which the project can be expected to contribute significantly to and support the local community.
   f. The degree to which the project can be identified as at-risk of being developed or located in another state and the degree to which a grant would play a role in any final decision to develop or locate the project in this State.

(3) Quality of jobs.
   a. The wage level and status of the jobs to be created.
   b. The quality and value of benefits offered by the company.
   c. The potential for employee advancement.
   d. The extent of training programs offered by the company.
   e. The sustainability of the jobs in the future.
   f. The workplace safety record of the company.

(4) Quality of the industry and the project.
   a. The nature of the project and the projects' relationship to the larger business of the company.
   b. The nature of the industrial classification of the project and the nature of the business of the company undertaking it.
   c. The long-term prospects for growth at the project site or sites.
   d. The long-term prospects for growth of the company and the industry within the United States.
   e. The financial stability of the company associated with the project.

(5) Environmental impact of the project.
   a. The nature of the business to be conducted.
   b. The ability of the project to satisfy State, federal, and local environmental law and regulations.

The bill also makes two changes to the Industrial Development Fund (IDF) and to the Utility Account, which is part of that Fund. The IDF provides assistance to local governments for improvements to infrastructure to enable the locality to attract new businesses. Usually, this assistance is provided to make general improvements, such as improvements to or development of industrial parks, and is not tied to luring a specific project.

The first change is to expand the purposes for which funds in both the Fund and the Account may be used to allow expenditures for telecommunications and high-speed broadband lines and equipment. In addition, the bill would expand the focus of the Utility Account to allow funds to be used to assist local governments in enterprise Tier 3 as well as Tiers 1 and 2 (current law).

The provisions dealing with the job development investment grant are effective when the bill becomes law.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Bill Lee Act Changes. The fiscal impact estimates for the proposals modifying the Bill Lee Act are based on a sampling of 1999 tax returns filed by businesses reporting or claiming Lee Act credits. The sampling was carried out by the Department of Commerce, based on a universe of 566 firms claiming credits, and was based on scientific methodology. The actual sample size represented 39% of the firms. Since some firms in the sample had facilities at two or more sites, there were a total of 260 locations included in the sample.

Job Development Investment Grant. This initiative represents a significant change from the structure of the Bill Lee Act incentives. Eligibility language in the bill leaves the determination to the Economic Investment Committee. This committee will have broad discretion to negotiate the terms of an agreement, including the amount of the grant and the number of years for which the grant is provided. This makes it impossible to determine the usage of the grant program.

In lieu of an actual projection, the Department of Commerce developed a simulation of the impacts under a specific set of assumptions. The first step in the model was a discussion with industrial recruitment personnel within Commerce. This discussion suggested approximately 140 prospects per year. Of this amount it was assumed that about 70 would be new projects of interest under the program. The next step was to assume 30 would qualify for a grant, with 22 of the projects resulting in an actual agreement. Of this total, 10 units would be located in Tiers 4 and 5 and the remaining 12 projects would be allocated equally to Tiers 1 through 3. For the new jobs in Tiers 4 and 5, an average salary of $40,000 was used. The salary amount for Tiers 1 through 3 was $30,000. The model assumed that withholding taxes would amount to 6% of total salary. Each project was based on 200 employees. Annual salary growth of 4% was used for future years. Finally, the term of the grant was assumed to be 10 years.

South Carolina, meanwhile, is making headway in the biotechnology sector.

In a major coup, the state beat out North Carolina to lure CropTech, a Virginia company that is trying to use bioengineering to make medicines and other products from tobacco. Massachusetts-based Biopure Corp. will invest more than $100 million in a new plant in Sumter County, S.C., after being lured with an incentive package valued at more than $100 million.

Although N.C. universities still conduct twice as much research per capita, their counterparts in South Carolina are showing promise. In 1999, South Carolina was fifth in the number of start-up companies spun off per $10 million in research and development spending by its universities, according to the Corporation for Enterprise Development, a Washington, D.C., organization that ranks state economies.

Tourism

South Carolina's more-popular tourism attractions have proven remarkably resilient. Because they are relatively inexpensive and traditionally cater to visitors arriving by car, Charleston, Myrtle Beach and other destinations have been less affected by the decline in air travel after Sept. 11.

In fact, 7 percent of Americans polled this spring by the Travel Industry Association said they planned to visit South Carolina, making it the nation's 10th most popular destination. Florida, which ranked first, was the only other Southeastern state to make the top-10 list.

Service sector

South Carolina is not as far along as North Carolina in its transition from manufacturing to a service-based economy. That means its health-care, education, tourism and other service industries are still maturing and growing faster.

In the retail and wholesale trade, finance and construction industries, for example, South Carolina created 10,200 new jobs in the year ended May 31, 2002. North Carolina, in contrast, lost those sectors, according to preliminary Department of Labor estimates.

When it comes to service jobs, "we are probably in a more rapid growth phase," said Sam McClary, assistant director of labor market information with the S.C. Employment Security Commission. "They (North Carolina) are already where we will end up eventually."

Manufacturing

There are signs that S.C. manufacturers are becoming more competitive.

In 1997, S.C. companies spent 40 percent more on buildings, machinery and equipment than N.C. companies on a value-added basis. That was enough to rank South Carolina sixth in the nation, while North Carolina came in 27th, according to the CED's Development Report Card for the States.

The modernization is driven by growing investments in South Carolina's automotive, pharmaceutical, packaging and distribution industries, said George Harben, director of research for the S.C. Department of Commerce.

South Carolina's decision in 1992 to spend $130 million in incentives to lure BMW to the Greenville area has paid rich dividends.

North Carolina was never a contender for the project, in large part because leaders in Raleigh preferred investing in public education, reasoning that high-paying jobs would follow. But BMW has surpassed all expectations by investing $1.9 billion in and around its plant in Greer, just outside of Greenville. As textile and other companies laid off workers, the auto plant thrived. It now employs 4,000 and has generated an estimated 16,000 jobs by drawing dozens of suppliers to the state, according to a recent study by the University of South Carolina. The report, paid for in part by BMW, estimates that South Carolina has netted $26.6 million in additional annual tax revenues because of the project.

South Carolina now faces off against Florida and Georgia to lure a DaimlerChrysler van plant that could employ 3,000 in Charleston. The state has put together an incentives package that includes tax rebates, worker training and other incentives valued at $100 million, according to press reports.

North Carolina is not in the running for the DaimlerChrysler plant, largely because state law prevents it from rebating income taxes, a common tool now used by other Southeastern states.

In the last 10 years, the state has gone after only three major industrial projects, said Tad Boggs, a spokesman for the N.C. Department of Commerce. A $115.5 million package helped land a Federal Express air cargo hub at Piedmont Triad International Airport, while $168 million landed a Nucor steel plant in Hertford County in the northeast corner of the state. The state's $109 million bid for a Mercedes Benz plant in the early 1990s was squashed by a $380 million package offered by Alabama.

At the time, many criticized Alabama's bid – nearly $170,000 per job – as excessive. But as the auto industry has gone on to hire thousands of former textile workers in that state, leaders in North Carolina are reconsidering their industrial recruitment strategies.

"We've gotten a wake-up call, and it came six or eight months ago, when we figured out that 70 percent of our (state budget) shortfall was based on revenue lost on income tax," said John Merritt, a senior assistant to N.C. Gov. Mike Easley. "I think we have long underestimated what the long-term tertiary benefits of these plants are. You need one or two of these every so often."

A change of heart

Facing one of North Carolina's worst budget crises, Easley is pushing for tax breaks to lure new employers. Easley has made overhauling corporate tax incentives a top priority.

The governor is pushing the Job Development Investment Grant Program, which would allow the state to return up to half of the employee taxes companies pay to the state. Companies could use the rebates for worker training, buildings, equipment or infrastructure improvements needed to create jobs.

If lawmakers approve the measure, North Carolina could become more aggressive in bidding for the next auto plant, said Merritt. In fact, the state has already optioned 1,500 acres along Interstate 85 in Alamance County to prepare for the next opportunity.

The Charlotte Regional Partnership is also joining the fray. The partnership is in the early stages of putting together a large site within 70 miles of Charlotte/Douglas International Airport that could be used to lure a major project, said Mike Almond, president and chief executive officer with the private economic development organization.

"For a long time in 1980s, North Carolina was a leader in the Southeast," said Mark Sweeney, a former industrial recruiter for South Carolina, of the state's industrial-recruiting efforts. "North Carolina was sort of the king of the hill. Quite frankly, in terms of policy, organizational structure and practice, other states seem to have done a better job over the last few years."

Douglas Woodward, a professor of economics at the University of South Carolina, says he is not too concerned about the month-to-month employment numbers. When North Carolina's high-tech sector bounces back, he says, the state's robust university research puts it in a great position for long-term economic growth.

"The home-grown strategy will ultimately lead to higher per capita income," he said. "That's our vulnerability."

How S.C. is winning jobs race

Incentives, BMW help push the state ahead of its northern neighbor

BY CHARLES LUNAN
Staff Writer

With each passing month the numbers grow harder to ignore: South Carolina's unemployment rate sits well below North Carolina's – and the gap is growing wider.

In May, unemployment dropped a mere 0.1 percentage point in North Carolina to 6.8 percent, the nation's third-highest after Washington and Oregon. In South Carolina, unemployment fell 0.3 percentage point to 5.5 percent, or 19th-highest.

Equally disturbing for some leaders in Raleigh, North Carolina is shedding jobs at more than twice the rate of its southern neighbor.

What accounts for this unlikely disparity?

Economists and analysts say several factors explain the recent shift.

While both states have shed manufacturing jobs equally, South Carolina's service sector has added jobs at twice the pace of North Carolina's. North Carolina also was caught off guard by the rapid decline of its high-flying technology sector, which tanked just as textiles, furniture and tobacco were slumping more rapidly. South Carolina was never as dependent on technology employment, and thus suffered less.

Another key factor, economists say, is BMW's presence in South Carolina. Since opening its Greer plant in 1994, the German automaker has been a jobs magnet along the Interstate-85 corridor.

Despite the recent swing, economists say North Carolina remains better suited for long-term economic growth, though South Carolina has made key strides.

To get a better picture of how the two states measure up, consider how they fare in some key economic sectors:

Technology

In a matter of months, fiber optics went from being one of North Carolina's up-and-coming industries to one of its fastest shrinking. Employment in the electronics industry has dropped by nearly 13 percent, or 7,500 jobs, since the Nasdaq crashed in April 2000. That's the lowest level since the last recession.

The outlook is not expected to improve until well into 2003. Corning Inc. will lay off thousands this year, including hundreds at plants in Catawba and Cabarrus

Weighing the Differences

In the last year, North Carolina shed jobs at more than twice the rate of South Carolina. Here's how the states compare in other categories:

House Bill 1734

Recommendations of the North Carolina Economic Development Board
Recruitment and Retention Committee

Modifications to William S. Lee Act: Details

Background

Several changes to Lee Act thresholds and rates are proposed to enhance the incentive effect of the Act and provide a source of funding to support other more targeted economic development tools.

These changes are proposed in the bill only if the General Assembly enacts legislation to establish the proposed Job Development Investment Grant program and fund the One North Carolina Fund.

Two additional changes have been proposed to modify the wage test to render the Act more effective and to address a wrinkle in the way development zones are designed.

Alter Rates and Increase Threshold for Machinery & Equipment Tax Credits

- Taxpayers are currently eligible for Lee Act tax credits of 7% of the value of new investments in machinery and equipment above certain threshold amounts.

- Although the value of some Lee Act tax credits is graduated by tier, the machinery and equipment credit is not. The vast majority of credit is claimed in higher tier counties.

- The following new rates and thresholds are recommended:

Tier 1	7%	of value above $0	(no change)
Tier 2	7%	of value above $100,000	(no change)
Tier 3	6%	of value above $200,000
Tier 4	5%	of value above $1,000,000
Tier 5	4%	of value above $2,000,000

- These changes enhance the incentive value of the machinery and equipment credit in the poorer counties.

- Assuming a permanent funding source for the One North Carolina Fund is found and a Job Development Incentive enacted, making this change should not adversely North Carolina's competitiveness with other states in higher tier counties. Urban developers involved in recommending the change note that few other states provide a credit of this nature, and the changes would be a reasonable trade-off for a better tool like the Job Development Investment Grant Program.

- Projected to reduce program costs by $36 million over life of Lee Act ($3.6 million in FY 03-04)

Delete Extra Wage Test for Worker Training Credit

- Worker training tax credit is scarcely used at present.

- Provides state's primary incentive for encouraging retraining of existing workers.

- Currently, to be eligible, a taxpayer must first meet the wage test for creating new jobs or for investing in machinery and equipment. Then, the taxpayer must meet a second wage test -- whether the average wage of the workers trained exceeds the county wage standard.

- The second test is superfluous. Because the workers that require training are often production workers who are not highly paid, companies that meet the first wage test may nonetheless be rendered ineligible because the workers who are receiving the training cannot meet the second wage test.

Modify Wage Test in Tiers 1 & 2

- Companies currently must pay 110% (100% in Tier 1) of the county average weekly wage and provide health insurance to be eligible for any Lee Act credits.

- Current wage standard test tends to discourage jobs and investments in Tiers 1 and 2.
  - These tiers already have the fewest opportunities to recruit new jobs and investment.
  - They are suffering the most long-term damage in the current downturn.
  - With their smaller wage bases, their counties are the ones most likely to suffer distortion of their true wage picture by the presence of a single well-paying industry.

- Dropping the current wage test in these counties should aid in job creation and new investment.

- The requirement that Lee Act eligible industries provide health insurance ensures that only quality jobs and investment will be rewarded.

- Current wage test would be retained for Tiers 3, 4, and 5.

- Relatively minor fiscal impact ($804,000 over life of Lee Act).

Extend Development Zone Benefits to Some Parcels of Property Partially in Development Zones

- Currently, when parcels of property straddle the line of a development zone, jobs and investment on that tract may not be eligible for development zone benefits.

- Change would allow contiguous parcels that are at least 50% inside a zone, to be treated as entirely within the zone.

- Language of the changes requires parcel to have been in existence when last census conducted that determined the eligibility of the zone. Eliminates possibility of gerrymandering to create eligible larger eligible parcels after the zone was created.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO RAISE THE INVESTMENT THRESHOLD FOR THE CREDIT FOR INVESTING IN MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT; TO ESTABLISH TIERED RATES FOR THE CREDIT FOR INVESTING IN MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT; TO REQUIRE A TAXPAYER AND ITS RELATED ENTITIES TO SATISFY ANY OUTSTANDING STATE TAX ASSESSMENTS BEFORE RECEIVING A BILL LEE ACT CREDIT; TO MODIFY THE WAGE STANDARD FOR THE CREDIT FOR WORKER TRAINING; TO MODIFY THE WAGE STANDARD FOR ENTERPRISE TIER ONE AND TWO COUNTIES; TO MODIFY THE WAGE STANDARD FOR TAXPAYERS WITH A TAX YEAR OTHER THAN A CALENDAR YEAR; TO TREAT CERTAIN PARCELS OF LAND PARTIALLY LOCATED IN A DEVELOPMENT ZONE AS IF THE ENTIRE PARCEL WERE LOCATED WITHIN THE DEVELOPMENT ZONE; TO ENACT A JOB DEVELOPMENT INVESTMENT GRANT PROGRAM TO PROVIDE ECONOMIC STIMULUS, TO CREATE JOBS, AND TO AID IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL PROJECTS AND EXPANSIONS IN NORTH CAROLINA; TO MODIFY THE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT FUND TO ALLOW FOR EXPENDITURES RELATED TO TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND BROADBAND LINES AND EQUIPMENT AND TO ALLOW FOR EXPENDITURES FROM THE UTILITY ACCOUNT IN ENTERPRISE TIER THREE AREAS; AND TO MAKE A TECHNICAL CORRECTION REGARDING THE AUTHORITY OF A LOCAL GOVERNMENT TO LEVY A PROPERTY TAX FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 105-129.9(a) and (c) read as rewritten:

"(a) General Credit. – If a taxpayer that has purchased or leased eligible machinery and equipment places them in service in this State during the taxable year, the taxpayer is allowed a credit equal to ~~seven percent (7%)~~ the applicable percentage of the excess of the eligible investment amount over the applicable threshold. Machinery and equipment are eligible if they are capitalized by the taxpayer for tax purposes under the Code and not leased to another party. In addition, in the case of a large investment, machinery and equipment that are not capitalized by the taxpayer are eligible if the taxpayer leases them from another party. The credit may not be taken for the taxable year in which the machinery and equipment are placed in service but shall be taken in equal installments over the seven years following the taxable year in which they are placed in service. The applicable percentage is as follows:

Area Enterprise Tier	Applicable Percentage
Tier One	7%
Tier Two	7%
Tier Three	6%
Tier Four	5%

...

(c) Threshold. – The applicable threshold is the appropriate amount set out in the following table based on the enterprise tier where the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service during the taxable year. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service at more than one establishment in an enterprise tier during the taxable year, the threshold applies separately to the eligible machinery and equipment placed in service at each establishment. If the taxpayer places eligible machinery and equipment in service at an establishment over the course of a two-year period, the applicable threshold for the second taxable year is reduced by the eligible investment amount for the previous taxable year.

Area Enterprise Tier	Threshold
Tier One	$ -0-
Tier Two	100,000
Tier Three	200,000
Tier Four	~~500,000~~1,000,000
Tier Five	~~1,000,000~~2,000,000"

SECTION 1.1. G.S. 105-129.4 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(b6) Final Assessments. – A taxpayer is not eligible for a credit allowed under this Article if, at the time the taxpayer claims an installment or carryforward of the credit, the taxpayer or a related entity of the taxpayer has received a notice of final assessment and that assessment has not been satisfied or otherwise resolved."

SECTION 2. G.S. 105-129.4(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Wage Standard. – A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for creating jobs ~~or the credit for worker training~~ in an enterprise tier three, four, or five area if, for the calendar year the jobs are ~~created or the worker training is provided,~~created, the average wage of the jobs for which the credit is claimed meets the wage standard and the average wage of all jobs at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed meets the wage standard. No credit is allowed for jobs not included in the wage calculation. A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the credit for research and development, or the credit for investing in real property for a central office or aircraft ~~facility, or the credit for substantial investment in other property~~facility in a tier three, four, or five area if, for the calendar year the taxpayer engages in the activity that qualifies for the credit, the average wage of all jobs at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed meets the wage standard. In making the wage calculation, the taxpayer must include any positions that were filled for at least 1,600 hours during the calendar year the taxpayer engages in the activity that qualifies for the credit even if those positions are not filled at the time the taxpayer claims the credit. For a taxpayer with a taxable year other than a calendar year, the taxpayer must use the wage standard for the calendar year in which the taxable year begins. No wage standard applies to credits for activities in an enterprise tier one or two area.

Jobs meet the wage standard if they pay an average weekly wage that is at least equal to ~~the applicable percentage times~~one hundred ten percent (110%) of the applicable average weekly wage for the county in which the jobs will be located, as computed by the Secretary of Commerce from data compiled by the Employment Security Commission for the most recent period for which data are available. ~~The applicable percentage for jobs located in an enterprise tier one area is one hundred percent (100%). The applicable percentage for all other jobs is one hundred ten percent (110%).~~ The applicable average weekly wage is the lowest of the following: (i) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county, (ii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the State, and (iii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county multiplied by the county income/wage adjustment factor. The county income/wage adjustment factor is the county income/wage ratio divided by the State income/wage ratio. The county income/wage ratio is average per capita income in the county divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the county. The State income/wage ratio is the average per capita income in the State divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the State. The Department of Commerce must annually publish the wage standard for each county."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-129.3A is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(d) Parcel of Property Partially in a Development Zone. – For the purposes of this section, a parcel of property that is located partially within a development zone is considered entirely within the development zone if all of the following conditions are satisfied:

(1) At least fifty percent (50%) of the parcel is located within the development zone.

(2) The parcel was in existence and under common ownership prior to the most recent federal decennial census.

(3) The parcel is a portion of land made up of one or more tracts or tax parcels of land that is surrounded by a continuous perimeter boundary."

SECTION 4. In addition to heightening the incentive effect of the William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act in lower-tiered counties, the changes in Section 1 of this act are intended to reduce the cost of the Act and make more revenues available to the State of North Carolina in future years. It is the intent of the General Assembly in making these changes to provide a source of funds that could be used in future years to support other, more targeted economic development programs aimed at helping create new jobs in North Carolina.

SECTION 5.(a) Article 10 of Chapter 143B of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Part to read:

"Part 2F.

"Job Development Investment Grant Program.

"§ 143B-437.44. Legislative findings and purpose.

The General Assembly finds that:

(1) It is the policy of the State of North Carolina to stimulate economic activity and to create new jobs for the citizens of the State by encouraging and promoting the expansion of existing business and industry within the State and by recruiting and attracting new business and industry to the State.

(2) Both short-term and long-term economic trends at the State, national, and international levels have made the successful implementation of the State's economic development policy and programs both more critical and more challenging; and the decline in the State's traditional industries, and the resulting adverse impact upon the State and its citizens, have been exacerbated in recent years by adverse national and State economic trends that contribute to the reduction in the State's industrial base and that inhibit the State's ability to sustain or attract new and expanding businesses.

(3) The economic condition of the State is not static and recent changes in the State's economic condition have created economic distress that requires a reevaluation of certain existing State programs and the enactment of a new program as provided in this Part that are designed to stimulate new economic activity and to create new jobs within the State.

(4) The enactment of this Part is necessary to stimulate the economy, facilitate economic recovery, and create new jobs in North Carolina; and this Part will promote the general welfare and confer, as its primary purpose and effect, benefits on citizens throughout the State through the creation of new jobs, an enlargement of the overall tax base, an expansion and diversification of the State's industrial base, and an increase in revenue to the State and its political subdivisions.

(5) The purpose of this Part is to stimulate economic activity and to create new jobs within the State.

(6) It is not the intent of the General Assembly that grants provided through this Part be used as venture capital funds, business incubator funds, or business start-up funds or to otherwise fund the initial capitalization needs of new businesses.

(7) Nothing in this Part shall be construed to constitute a guarantee or assumption by the State of any debt of any business or to authorize the taxing power or the full faith and credit of the State to be pledged.

"§ 143B-437.45. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Part:

(1) Agreement. – A community economic development agreement under G.S. 143B-437.51.

(2) Base years. – The first two complete calendar years following the effective date of an agreement.

(3) Business. – A corporation, sole proprietorship, cooperative association, partnership, S corporation, limited liability company, nonprofit corporation, or other form of business organization, located either within or outside this State.

(4) Committee. – The Economic Investment Committee established pursuant to G.S. 143B-437.48.

(5) Eligible position. – A position created by a business and filled by a new full-time employee in this State during the base years or in subsequent years of a grant.

(6) Full-time employee. – A person who is employed for consideration for at least 35 hours a week, whose wages are subject to withholding under Article 4A of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes, and who is determined by the Committee to be employed in a permanent position according to criteria it develops. The term does not include any person who works as an independent contractor or on a consulting basis for the business.

(7) New employee. – A full-time employee who represents a net increase in the number of the business's employees statewide and who is first employed on the project that is the subject of an agreement. The term includes an employee rehired or called back from a layoff that occurs during or following the base years to a vacant position previously held by that employee or to a new position established during or following the base years.

(8) Related member. – Defined in G.S. 105-130.7A.

(9) Withholdings. – The amount withheld by a business from the wages of employees in eligible positions under Article 4A of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

"§ 143B-437.46. Job Development Investment Grant Program.

(a) Program. – There is established the Job Development Investment Grant Program to be administered by the Economic Investment Committee. In order to foster job creation and investment in the economy of this State, the Committee may enter into negotiated agreements with businesses to provide grants in accordance with the provisions of this Part. The Committee shall develop criteria to be used in determining whether the conditions of this section are satisfied and whether the project described in the application is otherwise consistent with the purposes of this Part. Before entering into an agreement, the Committee must find that all the following conditions are met:

(1) The project proposed by the business will create, during the term of the agreement, a net increase in employment in this State by the business.

(2) The project will benefit the people of this State by increasing opportunities for employment and by strengthening this State's economy by, for example, providing worker training opportunities, constructing and enhancing critical infrastructure, increasing development in strategically important industries, or increasing the State and local tax base.

(3) The project is consistent with economic development goals for the State and for the area where it will be located.

(4) A grant under this Part is necessary for the completion of the project in this State.

(5) The total benefits of the project to the State outweigh its costs and render the grant appropriate for the project.

(b) Cap. – The maximum number of agreements the Committee may enter into each fiscal year is 25.

"§ 143B-437.47. Eligible projects.

(a) Minimum Number of Eligible Positions. – A business may apply to the Committee for a grant for any project that creates the minimum number of eligible positions as set out in the table below. If the project will be located in more than one enterprise tier area, the location with the highest enterprise tier area designation determines the minimum number of eligible positions that must be created.

Enterprise Tier Area	Number of Eligible Positions
Tier One	10
Tier Two	10
Tier Three	10
Tier Four	20
Tier Five	20

(b) Nonretail Facilities. – A project that consists solely of retail facilities is not eligible for a grant under this Part. If a project consists of both retail facilities and nonretail facilities, only the portion of the project consisting of nonretail facilities is eligible for a grant, and only the withholdings from employees in eligible positions that are employed exclusively in the portion of the project that represents nonretail facilities may be used to determine the amount of the grant. If a warehouse facility is part of a retail facility and supplies only that retail facility, the warehouse facility is not eligible for a grant. For the purposes of this Part, catalog distribution centers are not retail facilities.

(c) Health Insurance. – A business is eligible for a grant under this Part only if the business provides health insurance for all of the full-time employees of the project with respect to which the grant is made. For the purposes of this subsection, a business provides health insurance if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125.

Each year that a business receives a grant under this Part, the business must provide with the submission required under G.S. 143B-437.52 a certification that the business continues to provide health insurance for all full-time employees of the project with respect to which the grant is made. If the business ceases to provide health insurance to all full-time employees of the project with respect to which a grant is made, the Committee may amend or terminate the agreement as provided in G.S. 143B-437.53.

(d) Wage Standard. – In order for a business to be eligible for a grant under this Part, the average wage of all jobs at the location with respect to which a grant is made must meet the wage standard set out in G.S. 105-129.4(b). If a project is to be located at more than one location, the average wage of all jobs at a location must meet the wage standard set out in G.S. 105-129.4(b) in order for that location to be included in the agreement.

"§ 143B-437.48. Economic Investment Committee established.

(a) Membership. – The Economic Investment Committee is established. The Committee consists of the following members:

(1) The Secretary of Commerce.

(2) The Secretary of Revenue.

(3) The Director of the Office of State Budget and Management.

(b) Unanimous Decision Required. – The Committee may act only upon a unanimous decision of its members.

(c) Conflict of Interest. – It is unlawful for a former member of the Committee to, within two years after the end of service on the Committee, provide services for compensation, as an employee, consultant, or otherwise, to any business or a related member of the business that was awarded a grant under this Part while the former member was serving on the Committee. Violation of this subsection is a Class 1 misdemeanor.

(d) Sunshine. – Meetings of the Committee are subject to the open meetings requirements of Article 33C of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes. All documents of the Committee, including applications for grants, are public records governed by Chapter 132 of the General Statutes, including applicable provisions of that Chapter protecting confidential information.

"§ 143B-437.49. Applications; fees; reports; study.

(a) Application. – A business shall apply, under oath, to the Committee for a grant on a form prescribed by the Committee that includes at least all of the following:

(1) The name of the business, the proposed location of the project, and the type of activity in which the business will engage at the project site or sites.

(2) The names and addresses of the principals or management of the business, the nature of the business, and the form of business organization under which it is operated.

(3) The most recent audited financial statements of the business and any other financial information the Committee considers necessary.
(4) The number of eligible positions proposed to be created during the base years and thereafter and the salaries for these positions.
(5) An estimate of the total withholdings.
(6) Certification that the business will provide health insurance to all full-time employees of the project.
(7) Information concerning other locations, including locations in other states and countries, being considered for the project and the nature of any benefits that would accrue to the business if the project were to be located in one of those locations.
(8) Information concerning any other State or local government incentives for which the business is applying or that it has an expectation of receiving.
(9) Any other information necessary for the Committee to evaluate the application.
(10) Certification that the project will not be undertaken in North Carolina unless the applicant is awarded a grant.

A business may apply, in one consolidated application in a form and manner determined by the Committee, for a grant on its own behalf as a business and for grants on behalf of the related members of the business who may qualify under this Part.

The Committee will consider an application by a business for grants on behalf of its related members only if the related members for whom the application is submitted have assigned to the business any claim of right the related members may have under this Part to apply for grants individually during the term of the agreement and have agreed to cooperate with the business in providing to the Committee all the information required for the initial application and the agreement, and any other information the Committee may require for the purposes of this Part. The applicant business is responsible for providing to the Committee all the information required under this Part.

If a business applies for a grant on behalf of its related members, the related members included in the application may be permitted to meet the qualifications for a grant collectively by participating in a project that meets the requirements of this Part. The amount of a grant may be calculated under the terms of this Part as if the related members were all collectively one business entity. Any conditions for a grant, other than the number of eligible positions created, apply to each related member who is listed in the application as participating in the project. The grants awarded shall be paid to the applicant business. A grant received under this Part by a business may be apportioned to the related members in a manner determined by the business. In order for an agreement to be executed, each related member included in the application must sign the agreement and agree to abide by its terms.

(b) Application Fee. – When filing an application under this section, the business must pay the Committee a fee of five thousand dollars ($5,000). The fee is due at the time the application is filed. The Committee shall determine the allocation of the fee imposed by this section among the agencies whose heads make up the Committee. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the agency to which they are credited.

(c) Reports. – The Committee shall publish a report on the Job Development Investment Grant Program on or before October 31 of each year. The report shall include the following:

(1) A listing of each community economic development agreement negotiated and entered into during the preceding fiscal year, including the cost/benefit analysis conducted by the Committee during the application process, a description of the project, and the amount of the grant made under the agreement during that year.

(2) An update on the status of projects under agreements entered into before the preceding fiscal year.

(3) The number and enterprise tier area of eligible positions created by projects with respect to which grants were awarded.

(4) The wage levels of eligible positions created by projects with respect to which grants were awarded.

(5) The amount of new income tax revenue received from withholdings related to the projects for which grants were awarded.

(6) The criteria developed by the Committee to implement this Part and any changes in those criteria from the previous fiscal year.

(7) The effectiveness of the program in recruiting new and expanding businesses.

(8) The environmental impact of businesses that have received grants under the program.

(9) The geographic distribution of grants, by number and amount, awarded under the program.

(d) Study. – The Committee shall conduct a study to determine the minimum funding level required to implement the Job Development Investment Grant Program successfully. The Committee shall report the results of this study to the House of Representatives Finance Committee, the Senate Finance Committee, the House of Representatives Appropriations Subcommittee on Natural and Economic Resources, the Senate Appropriations Committee on Natural and Economic Resources, and the Fiscal Research Division no later than March 1 of each year.

"§ 143B-437.50. Calculation of minimum and maximum grants; factors considered.

(a) Subject to the limitations of subsection (d) of this section, the amount of the grant awarded in each case shall be a percentage of the withholdings of eligible positions. The percentage shall be no less than ten percent (10%) and no more than eighty percent (80%) of the withholdings of the eligible positions for a period of years. The percentage used to determine the amount of the grant shall be based on criteria developed by the Committee after considering at least the following:

(1) The number of eligible positions to be created.

(2) The expected duration of those positions.

(3) The type of contribution the business can make to the long-term growth of the State's economy.

(4) The amount of other financial assistance the project will receive from the State or local governments.
(5) The total dollar investment the business is making in the project.
(6) Whether the project utilizes existing infrastructure and resources in the community.
(7) Whether the project is located in a development zone.
(8) The number of eligible positions that would be filled by residents of a development zone.

(b) The term of the grant shall not exceed 15 years starting with the first year a grant is made.

(c) The grant may be based only on eligible positions created during the base years, unless the Committee makes an explicit determination that the grant shall also be based on additional eligible positions created during the remainder of the term of the grant.

(d) The percentage established in the agreement shall be reduced by one-fourth for any eligible position that is located in an enterprise tier four or five area.

(e) A business that is receiving any other grant by operation of State law may not receive an amount as a grant pursuant to this Part that, when combined with any other grants, exceeds eighty percent (80%) of the withholdings of the business, unless the Committee makes an explicit finding that the additional grant is necessary to secure the project.

"§ 143B-437.51. Community economic development agreement.

Each community economic development agreement shall include at least the following:

(1) A detailed description of the proposed project that will result in job creation and the number of new employees to be hired in the base years and later years.
(2) The term of the grant and the criteria used to determine the first year for which the grant may be claimed.
(3) The number of eligible positions that are subjects of the grant and a description of those positions and the location of those positions.
(4) The amount of the grant based on a percentage of withholdings.
(5) A method for determining the number of new employees hired during a grant year.
(6) A method for the business to report annually to the Committee the number of eligible positions for which the grant is to be made.
(7) A requirement that the business report to the Committee annually the aggregate amount of withholdings during the grant year.
(8) A provision permitting an audit of the payroll records of the business by the Committee from time to time as the Committee considers necessary.
(9) A provision that permits the Committee to amend an agreement pursuant to G.S. 143B-437.53.

(10) A provision that requires the business to maintain operations at the project location or another location approved by the Committee for at least one hundred fifty percent (150%) of the term of the grant and a provision to permit the Committee to recapture all or part of the grant at its discretion if the business does not remain at the site for the required term.

(11) A provision that requires the business to maintain employment levels in this State at the level of the year immediately preceding the base years.

(12) A provision establishing the conditions under which the grant agreement may be terminated, in addition to those under G.S. 143B-437.53, and under which grant funds may be recaptured by the Committee.

(13) A provision stating that unless the agreement is amended or terminated pursuant to G.S. 143B-437.53, the agreement is binding and constitutes a pledge and a continuing appropriation of the amount of the grant.

(14) A provision setting out any allowed variation in the terms of the agreement that will not subject the business to amendment or termination of the agreement under G.S. 143B-437.53.

"§ 143B-437.52. Grant recipient to submit records.

(a) No later than February 1 of each year, for the preceding grant year, every business that is awarded a grant under this Part shall submit to the Committee a copy of its State and federal tax returns showing business and nonbusiness income and a report showing withholdings as a condition of its continuation in the grant program. In addition, the business shall submit to the Committee an annual payroll report showing the eligible positions that are created during the base years and the new eligible positions created during each subsequent year of the grant. When making a submission under this section, the business must pay the Committee a fee of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500). The fee is due at the time the submission is made. The Committee shall determine the allocation of the fee imposed by this section among the agencies whose heads make up the Committee. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the agency to which they are credited.

(b) The Committee may require any information that it considers necessary to effectuate the provisions of this Part.

(c) The Committee may require any business receiving a grant to submit to an audit at any time.

(d) Grant recipients are encouraged to use the State ports of North Carolina and must include in the report required by subsection (a) of this section a report on the tonnage of any freight moved in ocean-borne commerce through the State ports and through any other United States port. If freight is moved through a United States port other than the State ports, then the report must disclose the reasons for using that port.

"§ 143B-437.53. Failure to comply with agreement.

(a) If the business receiving a grant fails to meet or comply with any condition or requirement set forth in an agreement or with criteria developed by the Committee, the Committee may amend the agreement to reduce the amount of the grant or the term of the agreement. Any reduction of the grant is applicable to the grant year immediately following the grant year in which the Committee amends the agreement.

(b) If a business fails to maintain employment at the levels stipulated in the agreement or otherwise fails to comply with any condition of the agreement for any two consecutive years, the Committee may terminate the agreement.

"§ 143B-437.54. Disbursement of grant.

A business may not receive an annual disbursement of a grant if, at the time of disbursement, the business or a related member of the business has received a notice of final assessment of State tax due and that assessment has not been satisfied or otherwise resolved. A business may receive an annual disbursement of a grant only after the Committee has certified to the State Controller that there are no outstanding final assessments of State tax due and that the business has met the terms and conditions of the agreement. No amount shall be disbursed to a business as a grant under this Part in any year until the Secretary of Revenue has certified to the Committee (i) that there are no outstanding final assessments of State tax due against the business or a related member of the business and (ii) the amount of withholdings received in that year by the Department of Revenue from the business. A business that has met the terms of the agreement shall make an annual certification of this to the Committee. The Committee shall verify this information and certify to the State Controller that the terms of the agreement have been met. The Committee shall further certify to the State Controller the amount of a grant for which the business is eligible under the agreement and the amount of a grant for which the business would be eligible under the agreement without regard to G.S. 143B-437.50(d). The State Controller shall remit a check to the business in the amount of the certified grant amount within 90 days of receiving the certification of the Committee.

"§ 143B-437.55. Transfer to Industrial Development Fund.

At the time the State Controller remits a check to a business under G.S. 143B-437.54, the State Controller shall transfer to the Utility Account of the Industrial Development Fund an amount equal to the amount certified by the Committee as the difference between the amount of the grant and the amount of the grant for which the business would be eligible without regard to G.S. 143B-437.50(d).

"§ 143B-437.56. Sunset.

The authority of the Committee to enter into new agreements expires January 1, 2006."

House Bill 1734:
NC Economic Stimulus and Job Creation Act

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Reps. Owens and Allen
Date:	July 31, 2002	Analysis by:	Y. Canaan Huie
Version:	H1734-CSLYfx-47		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: There are two main components to this bill: changes to the Bill Lee Act and the establishment of a new economic development program. There are different effective dates for the various parts of the bill.

BACKGROUND: The William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act (hereinafter Bill Lee Act) was enacted in 1996, effective beginning with the 1996 tax year with a 2002 sunset. The Act is a package of State tax incentives and has been modified in each subsequent year. The incentives are primarily in the form of tax credits for investment in machinery and equipment and real property, for job creation, for worker training, and for research and development. Counties are divided into five economic distress tiers based on the unemployment rate, per capita income, and population growth of the county. For many of the credits, the lower the tier of a county, the more favorable the incentive. The Act requires the Department of Commerce and the Department of Revenue to report periodically on the credits allowed by the Act.

Before 1996, North Carolina had made little use of tax incentives to lure businesses to the State. Even without incentives, North Carolina was consistently one of the top states in attracting industry. The array of credits authorized by the Bill Lee Act was viewed as an experiment, to be evaluated in five years to determine whether the incentives were cost effective and actually affected behavior, or merely provided tax reductions to businesses that would have located or expanded in any case. In 1999, the General Assembly extended the 2002 sunset to 2006.

ANALYSIS: Bill Lee Act Changes. Sections 1 through 3 of this bill make significant changes to the Bill Lee Act. These changes affect the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the wage standard, and the definition of a development zone.

Machinery and Equipment. Under current law, a taxpayer is allowed a credit for machinery and equipment placed into service during a taxable year that exceeds the applicable threshold based on the location where the machinery and equipment is placed into service. The amount of the credit is equal to 7% of the cost of the machinery and equipment in excess of the applicable threshold. Section 1 of this act makes two changes to this credit. First, the amount of the credit is reduced in enterprise tiers three, four, and five. In those areas, the amount of the credit is reduced to 6%, 5%, and 4%, respectively, of the cost of the machinery and equipment in excess of the applicable threshold. Second, the amount of the threshold is increased in enterprise tiers four and five. In enterprise tier four, the threshold is increased from $500,000 to $1,000,000. In enterprise tier five, the threshold is increased from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

Wage standard. Under current law, a taxpayer is eligible for a credit under the Bill Lee Act only if the jobs provided by the taxpayer meet a wage standard. The wage standard is 110% (100% in an enterprise tier one area) of the applicable average weekly wage. The jobs that are included in calculating the wage standard vary depending on the particular credit.

Section 2 of this bill makes three substantive changes to the wage standard. First, this section eliminates the wage standard in enterprise tier one and two areas.

Second, this act eliminates the wage standard for the credit for worker training. In order to be eligible for the credit for worker training, the employee who is being retrained must either (i) occupy a job for which the taxpayer is eligible to claim a credit for creating jobs, or (ii) be trained to operate machinery and equipment for which a taxpayer is eligible to claim a credit for investing in machinery and equipment. Thus, the jobs for which the credit for worker training may be claimed have already been included in a larger group of jobs that has met the wage standard. Often the specific jobs for which worker training is required are lower-paying jobs that could not themselves meet the wage standard. This change allows the credit for worker training to be taken by more taxpayers.

Third, this act makes an allowance for a taxpayer that has a taxable year other than a calendar year. To perform the wage standard test, the taxpayer compares the average weekly wage of certain jobs to the wage standard determined on an annual basis. The test is performed for the calendar year that jobs are created or for which worker training is provided. However, performing a wage standard test based on a calendar year is not feasible because many companies have taxable years that do not coincide with the calendar year. Consequently, the taxpayer can engage in activity that qualifies for a credit during a taxable year that spans two calendar years. If the taxpayer creates jobs in different calendar years, it must compute the combined average weekly wage of the 80 jobs created during its taxable year and compare this average to the county wage standard to determine if it qualifies for a tax credit. It cannot however, compute this average "for the calendar year the jobs are created" as required by the current statute because the jobs are created over the course of two calendar years. Under this bill, the wage standard test would be based on the taxpayer's taxable year and not the calendar year. When a taxable year spans two calendar years, the applicable wage standard is that of the earlier calendar year. In addition to correcting a practical problem, this change generally will be favorable for taxpayers because county wage standards generally trend upward.

Development zones. In 1998, the General Assembly amended the Bill Lee Act to provide additional incentives for businesses that locate or expand in development zones, which are economically distressed areas located within cities. The statutory conditions for qualifying as a development zone were designed to target only these relatively small, economically distressed areas. The statutory conditions contained loopholes, however, that allowed large areas outside of cities to qualify, even if they were not economically distressed throughout. In 1999, the General Assembly moved to close those loopholes.

Current law defines a development zone as an area that meets all of the following conditions: (1) consists of one or more contiguous census tracts, block groups, or both, (2) has a population of 1,000 or more, at least 20% of whom are below the poverty level, (3) is located at least partly in a city with a population over 5,000, (4) every census tract and census block group in the zone must be located in whole or in part within the primary corporate limits of the city, (5) every census tract and census block group in the zone must have more than 10% of its population below the poverty level, or must be immediately adjacent to a tract or group that has more than 20% of its population below the poverty level, and (6) none of the census tracts or census block groups may be located in another development zone.

This act amends the definition of development zone to include all of a parcel of land that is located partially within the zone if all of the following conditions are met:

- At least 50% of the parcel is located within the zone.
- The parcel was in existence and under common ownership prior to the previous decennial federal census.

- The parcel is a portion of land made up of one or more tracts or tax parcels of land that is surrounded by a continuous perimeter boundary.

The following enhanced incentives apply in development zones: If a business locates in a development zone, the wage standard it has to meet is the same as for tier one counties -- slightly lower than the standard for other counties under current law and eliminated entirely under Section 2 of this act. In addition, if a business locates in a development zone, its maximum worker training credit is $1,000 rather than $500, it receives an additional $4,000 per job on its jobs tax credit, and there is no threshold for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment.

Jobs Development Investment Grant Program. Section 5 of this act creates a new economic development tool for new and expanding businesses in North Carolina. This tool would be used to attract businesses to the State by allowing a three-member committee to award grants to businesses. The amount of the grants would be based on income tax withholdings from new jobs created by the businesses.

Which projects are eligible for a grant? In order to be eligible for a grant under this Part, the business must create a minimum number of new jobs. The number of new jobs that must be created varies based on the enterprise tier designation of the location where the jobs will be located. For projects located in enterprise tiers one through three, the project must create at least 10 new full-time positions. For projects located in enterprise tiers four and five, the project must create at least 20 new full-time positions. If a project is located in more than one location, the enterprise tier designation of the location in the highest enterprise tier area determines the number of new jobs that must be created.

As with the Bill Lee Act, a business must provide health insurance for all full-time jobs associated with the project in order to be eligible for this new program. The test is the same as under the Bill Lee Act – the business must, for all full-time employees of the project, pay at least 50% of the premiums for health insurance that meets at least the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee.

Unlike under the Bill Lee Act, there are few restrictions based on the industry in which the business is engaged. All facilities other than retail facilities are eligible for a grant under this Part.

More generally, the project must satisfy the following conditions in order to be eligible for a grant:

- The project will result in net new employment in the State.
- The project is economically sound and will benefit the people of the State by increasing employment opportunities and strengthening the State's economy.
- The project is consistent with economic development goals for the State.
- A grant is needed in order to secure the project for the State
- The total benefits of the project to the State outweigh the costs associated with the project.

How a grant is obtained? In order to obtain a grant under this Part, the business must apply to the Economic Investment Committee for consideration. The Economic Investment Committee is a three-member committee consisting of the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Revenue, and the Director of the Office of State Budget and Management. The Committee may only act upon unanimous consent. The application for a grant must be under oath, be on a form prescribed by the Committee, and contain any information required by the Committee. At a minimum, the application must contain the following information:

- The name of the business, the proposed location of the project, and the type of activity in which the business will engage at the project site.

- The names and addresses of the principals or management of the business, and the nature of the business, and the form of business organization under which the business is operated.
- The most recent audited financial statements of the business.
- The number of new jobs proposed to be created by the project.
- An estimate of the withholdings of personal income tax of employees of the project.
- Information concerning other possible locations of the project, and the benefits, including tax benefits or grants, associated with locating the project at that other location.
- Information concerning other State grants for which the business is applying or that it expects to receive.

A group of related business involved in a project may submit a joint application for a grant under this Part.

Any application for a grant must be accompanied by a fee in the amount of $5,000. This fee will be allocated among the agencies responsible for evaluating the application (Department of Commerce, Department of Revenue, and the Office of State Budget and Management) in the discretion of the Committee.

The Committee will evaluate applications to determine which businesses shall receive grants under this Part. The awarding of a grant is solely in the discretion of the Committee. The Committee shall develop criteria for evaluating applications. These criteria shall take into consideration the economic impact of the project, the strategic importance of the project to the State, region, or locality, the quality of the jobs to be created, the quality of the industry and the project, and the environmental impact of the projects. The Committee is exempt from the rulemaking process in developing these criteria.

How is the amount of a grant determined? If the Committee approves a business's application, the Committee will then negotiate and enter into a community economic development agreement with the business. The agreement is a binding commitment on the part of the State to provide the grant for a set number of years, subject to the Committee's right to amend or terminate the agreement under certain limited circumstances. Each agreement shall include a description of the project, the term of the agreement, the number of positions expected to be subject to the grant and a method for determining the number of positions that are subject to the grant, and the amount of the grant as a percentage of the withholdings of personal income tax from eligible positions. The Committee has wide discretion in determining the percentage that determines the amount of a grant under an agreement. The Committee shall develop criteria to be used when negotiating the appropriate percentage. The Committee is exempt from the rulemaking process in developing these criteria. However, at a minimum, the following conditions apply:

- The amount of the grant may not be less than ten percent (10%) or more than eighty percent (80%) of the withholdings associated with new jobs at the project.
- The term of the grant shall not exceed 15 years.
- The percentage used to determine the amount of the grant shall be reduced by one-fourth for any eligible position located in an enterprise tier four or five area.
- Unless the Committee makes a specific determination that the grant should be calculated based on eligible positions created in any year during the term of the agreement, the amount of the grant shall be calculated based only on eligible positions created during the base years, the first two years, of the agreement.

- Unless the Committee makes an explicit finding otherwise, the total amount of all grants provided by the State may not exceed 80% of the withholding of eligible positions.

Use of funds? There are no restrictions on the use of the grant fund by the business. South Carolina has a similar grant program. Under the South Carolina program, grant funds may only be used for certain specific purposes, such as worker training, worker relocation, purchase or construction of real property, and construction or repairs to certain transportation-related real property.

The withholdings retained by the State shall be used in two different ways. First, the withholdings in excess of the percentage negotiated in the agreement shall flow to the General Fund.[1] Second, the withholdings that are included in the agreement, but that are excluded from the grant because the percentage was reduced by one-fourth because the eligible position is located in an enterprise tier four or five area, will be transferred to the Utility Account of the Industrial Development Fund. Under current law, funds in the Utility Account may be used to assist local governments in tiers one and two in constructing or improving utility lines or equipment (amendments to the law regarding the Industrial Development Fund and the Utility Account are discussed later in this summary).[2]

Follow-up on grantee businesses? This bill provides for monitoring of grantee businesses in several ways and allows the Committee to amend or terminate agreements if the business fails to live up to the terms of the agreement or the requirements of this new Part.

The business must submit annual reports to the Committee. At a minimum, the business must submit a copy of its federal and State income tax returns which show business and nonbusiness income, a report that shows withholdings, and a payroll report. This annual submission must also include any additional information that Committee considers necessary to implement the grant program. In addition, the Committee may audit at any time a business receiving a grant. This annual submission must be accompanied by a fee of $1,500. The Committee shall allocate the fee among the agencies responsible for evaluating the submission.

The Committee has a right to amend or terminate the agreement and to recapture all or part of a grant made in previous years under certain circumstances. If the business fails to meet or comply with any term of the agreement or with criteria developed by the Committee, the Committee, in it discretion, may amend the agreement. This amendment may take the form of a lower percentage being used to determine the amount of the grant or of a shorter term for the agreement. If the business fails to meet or comply with any term of the agreement or with criteria developed by the Committee for two consecutive years, the Committee, in its discretion, may terminate the agreement. In addition, in each agreement the Committee must include a provision describing the conditions that will lead to recapture of a grant made in an earlier year. The statute mandates that all agreements contain a provision allowing recapture if the business does not maintain operations at the project location or another location approved by the Committee for at least 150% of the term of the grant agreement.

1 Even though the maximum percentage that may be used to determine the amount of a grant is 80%, there may be no additional revenue from these positions that would flow to the General Fund. This is because most taxpayers over-withhold, meaning that more taxes are withheld than are actually due, resulting in a refund to the taxpayer. Because of this, a grant based on the maximum percentage of 80% could result in a net loss to the General Fund. .

2 The following example will clarify this. Assume a project that is located in an enterprise tier five area is allowed a grant based on 80% of the withholdings of the eligible positions. Because those positions are located in an enterprise tier five area, that percentage is reduced by one-fourth, so that the business is allowed a grant equal to 60% of the withholdings of eligible positions. (80% multiplied by ¾ equals 60%.) Twenty percent of the withholdings of eligible positions would flow to the General Fund, 60% would be given to the business in the form of a grant, and 20% would be transferred to the Utility Account of the Industrial Development Fund.

Program evaluation. This bill would require the Committee to make annual reports regarding the program and the funding needed to implement the program. By October 31 of each year, the Committee must publish the following information:

- A listing of each agreement entered into during the previous fiscal year, the cost/benefit analysis conducted with respect to each agreement, a description of each project, and the amount of the initial grant.
- An update on the status of projects under agreements entered into in earlier fiscal years.
- The number, enterprise tier levels, and wage levels of eligible positions created by projects with respect to which grants were awarded.
- The amount of new income tax revenue received by the State related to the projects.
- The criteria developed by the Committee to implement the grant program and in changes in those criteria over the previous year.

In addition, the Committee shall conduct a study annually to determine the amount of funding needed to successfully implement the grant program. The results of that study must be reported to the House of Representatives Finance Committee, the Senate Finance Committee, the House of Representatives Appropriations Subcommittee on Natural and Economic Resources, the Senate Appropriations Committee on Natural and Economic Resources, and the Fiscal Research Division no later than March 1.

Finally, the authority of the Committee to enter into additional agreements expires as of January 1, 2006. This will allow the General Assembly an opportunity to review the program after it has been in effect for a few years in order to determine if the program is meeting its objections.

Miscellaneous changes associated with the program. Sections 7 and 8 of this bill provide exceptions to current law needed to implement the provision of the grant program.

Section 7 allows an exemption from the confidentiality requirements of the Department of Revenue. Generally, the Department of Revenue must keep confidential all information it receives in the course of administering the tax laws. There are numerous, specific exceptions to this requirement. This bill would allow the Department of Revenue to share information with the Economic Investment Committee relating to businesses that are applying for a grant or that are subject to an agreement.

Section 8 allows the Committee an exemption from the rulemaking process.

Industrial Development Fund changes. Section 6 of this bill makes two significant changes to the Industrial Development Fund and to the Utility Account, which is part of that Fund. The Industrial Development Fund provides assistance to local governments for improvements to infrastructure to enable the locality to attract new businesses. Usually, this assistance is provided to make general improvements, such as improvements to or development of industrial parks, and is not tied to luring a specific project.

First, the purposes for which funds in both the Fund and the Account may be used are expanded to allow expenditures for telecommunications and high-speed broadband lines and equipment. Currently funds under both the Fund and the Account may be used for construction of and improvements to water, sewer, gas, and electricity lines and equipment. This change recognizes the growing importance to industry of telecommunications and high-speed broadband.

Second, under current law, funds in the Utility Account may be used to assist local governments located in enterprise tiers one and two only. This bill would expand the focus of the Account to allow funds in the Account to be used to assist local governments in enterprise tier three as well.

Property Tax Technical Correction. Section 9 of this act corrects a statutory reference in two laws dealing with the purposes for which a local government may levy a property tax.

EXPENDITURES: The enactment of the bill is not expected to affect budget requirements of any of the affected agencies.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENTS AFFECTED: Department of Revenue, Department of Commerce, Office of State Budget and Management

ISSUE BACKGROUND: The Bill Lee Act is the package of state tax incentives that was first adopted in 1996 and has been modified in each subsequent year. The incentives are primarily in the form of tax credits for investment in machinery and equipment, job creation, worker training, and research/development. The credits apply to activities undertaken by specifically named industrial classifications. For many of the credits, the counties of the State are divided into five economic distress tiers based on the unemployment rate, per capita income, and population growth. In general, the lower the tier of a county, the more favorable the incentive.

BILL SUMMARY:

Restructure Machinery and Equipment Credits. Under current law, the targeted statewide investment tax credit is equal to 7% of eligible investment in machinery and equipment. The credit is taken over seven years and applies to the investment that exceeds a certain threshold. The threshold amount varies by tier as follows:

Tier	Threshold	Credit
2	100,000	7%
3	200,000	7%
4	500,000	7%
5	1,000,000	7%

The threshold is used first to determine eligibility. In addition, the credit is based on the amount of the investment in machinery and equipment that exceeds the threshold amount. The bill restructures the credit rate and threshold by increasing the minimum investment threshold in Tiers 4 and 5 and lowers the credit percentage in Tiers 3 through 5. The new credit schedule would be as follows:

Tier	Threshold	Credit
2	100,000	7%
3	200,000	6%
4	1,000,000	5%
5	2,000,000	4%

The change is effective for business activities that occur on or after January 1, 2003, but not for those activities occurring on or after that date that are subject to a letter of commitment signed before the date.

Worker Training Credit Wage Test. In order to be eligible for Lee Act credits, taxpayers must meet certain wage tests. These tests are based on the average wage of the company's jobs, calculated based on all jobs at an establishment. The bill eliminates the wage test for the worker training credit. The change is effective for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2003.

Eliminate Wage Test for Tiers 1 and 2. Under current law, taxpayers applying for the Lee Act credits must meet 100% of the wage standard in Tier 1 and exceed 110% of the wage standard in the remaining tiers. The bill eliminates the wage standard for Tiers 1 and 2. The change is effective for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2003.

Development Zone Technical Change. Enhanced Lee Act credits are allowed for projects in development zones (high poverty areas). The bill indicates that a parcel of property partially located in a development zone is considered entirely within the zone if all of the following conditions are met: (1) at least 50% of the parcel is located within the zone; (2) the parcel was in existence and under common ownership prior to the most recent population census; and (3) the parcel is a portion of land made up of one or more tracts or tax parcels of land that is surrounded by a continuous perimeter boundary. This change becomes effective July 1, 2002.

Job Development Investment Grant Program. Establishes the Job Development Investment Grant Program to be administered by the Economic Investment Committee. Under the program, the Committee may enter into agreements with businesses to provide grants in the form of withholding tax payment givebacks. Before entering into an agreement, the Committee must find that all the following conditions are met:

(1) The project proposed by the business will create, during the term of the agreement, a net increase in employment in this State.

(2) The project is economically sound and will benefit the people of this State by increasing opportunities for employment and by strengthening this State's economy.

(3) The project is consistent with economic development goals for the State and for the area where it will be located.

(4) The project is at substantial risk of locating in another state.

(5) A grant is necessary to secure the project for this State.

(6) The total benefits of the project to the State outweigh its costs and render the grant appropriate for the project.

A business may apply to the Committee for a grant for any project that creates the minimum number of eligible positions as set out in the table below. If the project will be located in more than one enterprise tier area, the location with the highest enterprise tier area designation determines the minimum number of eligible positions that must be created.

Enterprise Tier Area	Number of Eligible Positions
Tier One	10
Tier Two	10
Tier Three	10
Tier Four	20
Tier Five	20

A project that consists solely of retail facilities is not eligible for a grant. If a project consists of both retail facilities and non-retail facilities, only the portion of the project consisting of non-retail facilities is eligible for a grant, and only the withholdings from employees in eligible positions that are employed exclusively in the portion of the project that represents non-retail facilities may be used to determine the amount of the grant. If a warehouse facility is part of a retail facility and supplies only that retail facility, the warehouse facility is not eligible for a grant. Catalog distribution centers are not considered retail facilities.

Just like the Bill Lee Act, a business must provide health insurance for all of the full-time employees of the project for which the grant is made.

The Economic Investment Committee will consist of the following members:

(1) The Secretary of Commerce.
(2) The Secretary of Revenue.
(3) The Director of the Office of State Budget and Management.

The Committee may act only upon the unanimous consent of the members. A business shall apply, under oath, to the Committee for a grant on a form prescribed by the Committee that includes at least all the following:

(1) The name of the business, the proposed location of the project, and the type of activity in which the business will engage at the project site or sites.
(2) The names and addresses of the principals or management of the business, the nature of the business, and the form of business organization under which it is operated.
(3) The most recent audited financial statements of the business and any other financial information the Committee considers necessary.
(4) The number of eligible positions proposed to be created during the base years and thereafter, and the salaries for these positions.
(5) An estimate of the total withholdings.
(6) Information concerning other states being considered for the project and the nature of any benefits the company would enjoy as a result of locating in those states.
(7) Any other information necessary for the Committee to evaluate the application.

A business may apply, in one consolidated application in a form and manner determined by the Committee, for a grant on its own behalf as a business and for grants on behalf of the related members of the business who may qualify.

The Committee will consider a application by a business for grants on behalf of its related members only if the related members for whom the application is submitted have assigned to the business any claim of right the related members may have under this program to apply for grants individually during the term of the agreement and have agreed to cooperate with the business in providing to the Committee all the information required for the initial application and the agreement, and any other information the Committee may require. The applicant business is responsible for providing to the Committee all the information required.

If a business applies for a grant on behalf of its related members, the related members included in the application may be permitted to meet the qualifications for a grant collectively by participating in a project that meets the requirements of the program. The amount of a grant may be calculated as if the related members were all collectively one business entity. Any conditions for a grant, other than the number of eligible positions created, apply to each related member who is listed in the application as participating in the project. The grants awarded shall be paid to the applicant business. A grant received by a business may be apportioned to the related members in a manner determined by the business. In order for an agreement to be executed, each related member included in the application must sign the agreement and agree to abide by its terms.

When filing an application under this section the business must pay the Committee a fee of $5,000. The fee is due at the time the application is filed. The Committee shall determine the allocation of the fee imposed by this section among the agencies responsible for evaluating the application. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the agency to which they are credited.

The bill establishes extensive reporting requirements for the Committee.

The Committee is required to conduct a study to determine the minimum funding level required to implement the program successfully and to report the results of this study no later than March 1 of each year.

The amount of the grant awarded in each case shall be a percentage of the withholdings of eligible positions. The percentage shall be no less than 10% and no more than 80% of the withholdings of the eligible positions for a period of years. The percentage used to determine the amount of the grant shall be based on criteria developed by the Committee after considering the following:

(1) The number of eligible positions to be created.
(2) The expected duration of those positions.
(3) The type of contribution the business can make to the long-term growth of the State's economy.
(4) The amount of other financial assistance the business will receive from the State for the project.
(5) The total dollar investment the business is making in the project.

The term of the grant shall not exceed 15 years starting with the first year a grant is made.

The grant percentage may be based only on eligible positions created during the base years (first two years of program) unless the Committee makes an explicit determination that the grant shall also be based on additional eligible positions created during the remainder of the term of the grant.

The percentage established in the agreement shall be reduced by 25% for any eligible position that is located in an enterprise tier four or five area.

A business that is receiving any other grant by operation of State law may not receive grant monies under this program if the total state grants exceed (80%) of the withholdings of the business, unless the Committee makes an explicit finding that the additional grant is necessary to secure the project.

Each community economic development agreement shall include the following:

(1) A detailed description of the proposed project that will result in job creation and the number of new employees to be hired in the base years and later years.
(2) The term of the grant and the criteria used to determine the first year for which the grant may be claimed.
(3) The number of eligible positions that are subjects of the grant and a description of those positions and the location of those positions.
(4) The amount of the grant based on a percentage of withholdings.
(5) A method for determining the number of new employees hired during a grant year.
(6) A method for the business to report annually to the Committee the number of eligible positions for which the grant is to be made.
(7) A requirement that the business report to the Committee annually the aggregate amount of withholdings during the grant year.
(8) A provision permitting an audit of the payroll records of the business by the Committee from time to time as the Committee considers necessary.
(9) A provision that permits the Committee to amend an agreement pursuant to certain guidelines.
(10) A provision that requires the business to maintain operations at the project location or another location approved by the Committee for at least 150% of the term of the grant and a provision to permit the Committee to recapture all or part of the grant at its discretion if the business does not remain at the site for the required term.
(11) A provision that requires the business to maintain employment levels in this State at the level of the year immediately preceding the base years.
(12) A provision establishing the conditions under which the grant agreement may be terminated and grant funds recaptured by the Committee.
(13) A provision stating that unless the agreement is amended or terminated the agreement is binding and constitutes a pledge and a continuing appropriation of the amount of the grant.

A community economic development agreement may contain the following:

(1) A provision setting out allowed variation in the terms of the agreement that will not subject the business to amendment or termination of the agreement
(2) A provision that allows the Committee to consider entering into an additional agreement with the business within five years after the execution of the agreement regardless of whether the program is still in effect at that time if all of the following conditions are met:

a. The business's decision to locate in North Carolina is contingent upon the ability to have a later project considered for a grant.
b. The later project is described in detail in the agreement. This description must include the nature of the additional project, the anticipated investment and new jobs associated with the later project, the anticipated location of the later project, the anticipated wage of the new jobs, and the relationship of the later project to the business's current project.

c. The later project will create at least 75 new jobs in counties currently designated as enterprise tier one, two, or three areas, or 150 new jobs in counties currently designated as enterprise tier four and five areas.

If the current program is still in effect at the time the business applies for a grant for the later project, the business must apply for a grant as it exists at that time. If the current grant program is no longer in effect at the time the business applies for a grant for the later project, the business must apply for a grant according to the provisions of the grant program as it existed immediately before it was repealed or otherwise became ineffective.

No later than February 1 of each year, for the preceding grant year, every business that is awarded a grant shall submit to the Committee a copy of its State and federal tax returns showing business and nonbusiness income and a report showing withholdings as a condition of its continuation in the grant program. In addition, the business shall submit to the Committee an annual payroll report showing the eligible positions that are created during the base years and the new eligible positions created during each subsequent year of the grant. When making a submission under this section the business must pay the Committee a fee of $1,500. The fee is due at the time the submission is made. The Committee shall determine the allocation of the fee imposed by this section among the agencies responsible for evaluating the submission. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the agency to which they are credited.

The Committee may require any information that it considers necessary to effectuate the provisions of this program. The Committee may audit any business receiving a grant at any time.

If the business receiving a grant fails to meet or comply with any condition or requirement set forth in an agreement or with criteria developed by the Committee, the Committee may amend the agreement to reduce the amount of the grant or the term of the agreement. The reduction of the grant is applicable to the grant year immediately following the grant year in which the Committee amends the agreement.

If a business fails to maintain employment at the levels stipulated in the agreement or otherwise fails to comply with any condition of the agreement for any two consecutive years, the Committee may terminate the agreement.

A qualifying business may receive an annual disbursement of a grant only after the Committee has certified to the State Controller that the business has met the terms and conditions of the agreement. No amount shall be disbursed to a business as a grant under this program in any year until the Secretary of Revenue has certified to the Committee the amount of withholdings received in that year by the Department of Revenue from the business. A qualifying business that has met the terms of the agreement shall make an annual certification of this to the Committee. The Committee shall verify this information and certify to the State Controller that the terms of the agreement have been met. The Committee shall further certify to the State Controller the amount of a grant for which the business is eligible under the agreement and the amount of a grant for which the business would be eligible under the agreement without regard to the 25% grant reduction in Tiers 4 and 5. The State Controller shall remit a check to the business in the amount of the certified grant amount within 90 days of receiving the certification of the Committee.

At the time the State Controller remits a check to a business, the State Controller shall transfer to the Utility Account of the Industrial Development Fund an amount equal to the amount certified by the Committee as the difference between the amount of the grant and the amount of the grant for which the business would be eligible without regard to the 25% reduction for Tiers 4 and 5.

In developing criteria for the awarding of grants and for determining the percentage upon which the amount of a grant is based, the Economic Investment Committee shall consider criteria that address the following:

(1) Economic impact of the project.
   a. Impact on gross regional product and gross State product.
   b. Costs and benefits of the project to the State, including the expected return on investment made in the project by the State.
   c. Number of direct jobs that will be created by the project, the wages of those jobs, and the total payroll for the project.
   d. Number of induced short-term, project-related jobs expected to be generated by the project as well as the number of long-term permanent jobs expected to be generated indirectly in the economy as a result of the project.
   e. Dollar value of the investment, including the size of the investment in real versus personal property and expected depreciation rates.
   f. Economic circumstances of the county and region, including the extent to which the project will serve to mitigate unemployment.
   g. The expected time frame during which the project is expected to pay back in State tax revenues the amount of any grants to be paid out.
   h. The economic demands the project is expected to place upon the community or communities in which it will locate.

(2) Strategic importance of the project to the State, region, or locality.
   a. The extent to which the project builds or enhances an industrial cluster.
   b. The extent to which the project falls within a classification of business and industry that the Department of Commerce regards as a target for growth and expansion in the State.
   c. The ability of the project to attract follow-on investment in the State by suppliers and vendors.
   d. The extent to which the project serves to maintain and grow jobs in the State in a business undergoing an internal restructuring or rationalization process.
   e. The extent to which the project can be expected to contribute significantly to and support the local community.
   f. The degree to which the project can be identified as at-risk of being developed or located in another state and the degree to which a grant would play a role in any final decision to develop or locate the project in this State.

(3) Quality of jobs.
   a. The wage level and status of the jobs to be created.
   b. The quality and value of benefits offered by the company.
   c. The potential for employee advancement.
   d. The extent of training programs offered by the company.
   e. The sustainability of the jobs in the future.
   f. The workplace safety record of the company.

(4) Quality of the industry and the project.
   a. The nature of the project and the projects' relationship to the larger business of the company.
   b. The nature of the industrial classification of the project and the nature of the business of the company undertaking it.
   c. The long-term prospects for growth at the project site or sites.
   d. The long-term prospects for growth of the company and the industry within the United States.
   e. The financial stability of the company associated with the project.

(5) Environmental impact of the project.
   a. The nature of the business to be conducted.
   b. The ability of the project to satisfy State, federal, and local environmental law and regulations.

The bill also makes two changes to the Industrial Development Fund (IDF) and to the Utility Account, which is part of that Fund. The IDF provides assistance to local governments for improvements to infrastructure to enable the locality to attract new businesses. Usually, this assistance is provided to make general improvements, such as improvements to or development of industrial parks, and is not tied to luring a specific project.

The first change is to expand the purposes for which funds in both the Fund and the Account may be used to allow expenditures for telecommunications and high-speed broadband lines and equipment. In addition, the bill would expand the focus of the Utility Account to allow funds to be used to assist local governments in enterprise Tier 3 as well as Tiers 1 and 2 (current law).

The provisions dealing with the job development investment grant are effective when the bill becomes law.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Bill Lee Act Changes. The fiscal impact estimates for the proposals modifying the Bill Lee Act are based on a sampling of 1999 tax returns filed by businesses reporting or claiming Lee Act credits. The sampling was carried out by the Department of Commerce, based on a universe of 566 firms claiming credits, and was based on scientific methodology. The actual sample size represented 39% of the firms. Since some firms in the sample had facilities at two or more sites, there were a total of 260 locations included in the sample.

Job Development Investment Grant. This initiative represents a significant change from the structure of the Bill Lee Act incentives. Eligibility language in the bill leaves the determination to the Economic Investment Committee. This committee will have broad discretion to negotiate the terms of an agreement, including the amount of the grant and the number of years for which the grant is provided. This makes it impossible to determine the usage of the grant program.

In lieu of an actual projection, the Department of Commerce developed a simulation of the impacts under a specific set of assumptions. The first step in the model was a discussion with industrial recruitment personnel within Commerce. This discussion suggested approximately 140 prospects per year. Of this amount it was assumed that about 70 would be new projects of interest under the program. The next step was to assume 30 would qualify for a grant, with 22 of the projects resulting in an actual agreement. Of this total, 10 units would be located in Tiers 4 and 5 and the remaining 12 projects would be allocated equally to Tiers 1 through 3. For the new jobs in Tiers 4 and 5, an average salary of $40,000 was used. The salary amount for Tiers 1 through 3 was $30,000. The model assumed that withholding taxes would amount to 6% of total salary. Each project was based on 200 employees. Annual salary growth of 4% was used for future years. Finally, the term of the grant was assumed to be 10 years.

DO GOVERNMENT INCENTIVES ATTRACT AND RETAIN INTERNATIONAL INVESTMENT? A STUDY OF FOREIGN-OWNED FIRMS IN NORTH CAROLINA

Abstract

In an era of strong global competition, national, state, and local governments are vying to attract and retain investment by international firms. Over the past decade, state and local governments in the United States have increased the range and value of publicly-funded incentives for businesses to invest in their jurisdictions. But questions concerning the effectiveness, appropriateness, and equity of such incentives and their impacts on influencing domestic and international firms to choose locations in a state or locality continue to be debated.

A survey of executives in 118 internationally-owned firms in North Carolina reveals that they rank state incentives low in a list of factors that they believe attract foreign-owned companies and retain them in the state. Labor force, transportation, quality of life, and overall business climate factors are consistently ranked highest by business executives, and state tax, finance, plant services, and marketing assistance are consistently ranked low. These findings confirm the conclusions of other studies in the United States and abroad that state incentives play only a marginal role in the location decisions of private firms. Critics of government incentives contend that they are not effective in attracting and retaining private investment, and can divert public expenditures from investments in human resources, quality of life, infrastructure, and services that business executives consider more important in their location decisions.

N. C. Economic Stimulus and Job Creation Act

The Need for Competitive Investment Tools to Recruit Jobs and Investment to N.C

In 2001 alone, more than 66,000 North Carolinians lost jobs. This number exceeded the 2000 year total by 99% -- and 2000 was a record year for job layoffs. So while every state is suffering from the weakened economy, North Carolina is suffering more than most.

Jobs are disappearing even in "new economy" firms of Research Triangle Park, at least in the short term. But the long-term damage – the real damage -- is being done in traditional industries.

Textiles, furniture, and apparel plants are shutting down at a record pace and moving overseas to take advantage of new free trade policies. Those jobs are gone. And they aren't coming back.

The Need for Competitive Investment Tools

To make the situation worse, our competitor states have developed sharper, more precise, and more powerful business incentives to attract new industries thinking of relocating. And they use these tools to compete against us every day. In a study done last year by consultants to the Department of Commerce, North Carolina's incentives were determined to be worthwhile investments, but not as competitive, targeted or flexible as our competitors.

- North Carolina consistently ranked near the lowest or last in overall incentive value over a one-, five- and ten-year period.
- Companies choosing to locate or grow in North Carolina will pay a greater financial price than in other states.
- North Carolina does not have access to the same level of this discretionary spending as do many of our competitors.

Economic Development Board: A Fresh Look at Incentives

As a part of the state's ongoing efforts to ensure that the William S. Lee Act and other incentives programs are the best investment they can be, the Governor's Economic Development Board took a fresh look at incentives. The goal: Make our state's recruitment and retention strategy more flexible, and give North Carolina the ability to aggressively seek high-skilled, good-paying jobs in the new economy.

Recommendations contained in House Bill 1734, The N. C. Economic Stimulus and Job Creation Act:

- Enact a targeted, negotiated Job Development Investment Grant Program modeled on similar programs in states like South Carolina and New Jersey.
- Modify William S. Lee Act to heighten its use as a competitive tool and to fund more targeted incentive programs
    - Reduce machinery and equipment tax credit rate and raise thresholds in more prosperous counties.
    - Alter Worker Training Credit to increase its utilization.
    - Remove or loosen wage standard requirement to assist the poorest counties in recovering from recent job losses.
    - Correct wrinkle in definition of "development zones."

The following Sergeant-at-Arms staff was present: Bob Fowler, Bill Freeman, Dusty Rhodes and Walter Spell. Staff including Cindy Avrette, Richard Bostic, Trina Griffin, Linda Millsaps, and Martha Walston were in attendance. A Visitor Registration list is attached and made part of these minutes.

Chairman Buchanan called the meeting to order and introduced the following pages: Chip Farrar, Chatham County, sponsored by Representative Hackney, Andrew Lamar, Randolph County, sponsored by Representative Culp, Angela Sunday, Forsyth County, sponsored by Representative Womble and Kristen Wilson, Pitt County, sponsored by Representative Nye.

Senator Kerr, bill sponsor SB 1416, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO IMPROVE THE LOW-INCOME HOUSING TAX CREDIT BY MAKING IT SIMPLER AND LESS COSTLY WHILE PROVIDING THE SAME LEVEL OF INCENTIVES FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF LOW-INCOME HOUSING AND TO MODIFY THE FORMULA FOR CALCULATING NORTH CAROLINA ESTATE TAX ON ESTATES WITH PROPERTY IN MORE THAN ONE STATE, was recognized by Chairman Buchanan to explain the bill. Senator Kerr gave a brief explanation of the bill. Senator Kerr explained the bill does two things: modifies the formula for calculating the state estate tax on estates with property in more than one state and modifies the low-income housing tax credit in several ways. Chairman Buchanan, upon the request of Senator Kerr, recognized the public to address the committee on SB 1416. Bill Kratt, North Carolina Bar Association, Robert Kucab, North Carolina Housing Finance Authority, Sabra Faires, North Carolina Department of Revenue, Franklin Pendergraph, Pendergraph, LLC, and Mike Hurst, Regency Development, were all recognized to speak on the bill. Everyone agreed this bill had been thoroughly studied and enthusiastically endorsed the bill. Chairman Buchanan recognized members of the committee for questions and after a brief discussion; Representative Weiss was recognized for a motion to give SB 1416 a favorable report. The motion carried. A copy of the bill, summary and fiscal note is attached.

SB 1407 A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO ESTABLISH A CONTRACT RIGHT REGARDING THE TIMING OF PAYMENTS UNDER CONTRACTS REQUIRING REIMBURSEMENT OF FEDERAL FUEL EXCISE TAXES AND TO MAKE VARIOUS MOTOR FUEL EXCISE TAX CHANGES, was the next bill on the agenda for discussion. Senator Kerr, bill sponsor, was recognized to explain the bill. After a brief explanation, Gary Harris, Vice President of North Carolina Petroleum Markers Association, was recognized to speak on the bill. Mr. Harris said NCPMA supported the bill and there was no opposition to the bill. Representative Cox made a motion to give the bill a favorable report. The motion passed and SB 1407 was given a favorable report.

Chairman Buchanan announced Finance would meet at 8:30 a.m., Wednesday, August 7, 2002, in 544 LOB. SB 1037 No Air Permit Required Until Facility Operational, sponsored by Senator Hoyle and HB 1520 Extend Qualified Business Venture Tax Credit, sponsored by Representative Allen would be on the agenda.

The meeting adjourned the meeting at 9:25 a.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Charles Buchanan

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO IMPROVE THE LOW-INCOME HOUSING TAX CREDIT BY MAKING IT SIMPLER AND LESS COSTLY WHILE PROVIDING THE SAME LEVEL OF INCENTIVES FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF LOW-INCOME HOUSING AND TO MODIFY THE FORMULA FOR CALCULATING NORTH CAROLINA ESTATE TAX ON ESTATES WITH PROPERTY IN MORE THAN ONE STATE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"Article 3E.

"Low-Income Housing Tax Credits.

"§ 105-129.40. Definitions applicable to Article.

The definitions in section 42 of the Code and the following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Housing Finance Agency. – The North Carolina Housing Finance Agency established in G.S. 122A-4.

(2) Pass-Through Entity. – Defined in G.S. 105-129.35.

"§ 105-129.41: Reserved.

"§ 105-129.42. Credit for low-income housing awarded a federal credit allocation on or after January 1, 2003.

(a) Definitions. – The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Qualified Allocation Plan. – The plan governing the allocation of federal low-income housing tax credits for a particular year, as approved by the Governor after a public hearing and publication in the North Carolina Register.

(2) Qualified North Carolina Low-Income Housing Development. – A qualified low-income project or building that is allocated a federal tax credit under section 42(h)(1) of the Code and is described in subsection (c) of this section.

(3) Qualified Residential Unit. – A housing unit that meets the requirements of section 42 of the Code.

(b) Credit. – A taxpayer who is allocated a federal low-income housing tax credit under section 42 of the Code to construct or substantially rehabilitate a qualified North Carolina low-income housing development is allowed a credit equal to a percentage of the development's eligible basis, as determined pursuant to section 42(d) of the Code. For the purpose of this section, eligible basis is calculated based on the information contained in the carryover allocation and is not recalculated to reflect subsequent increases or decreases. No credit is allowed for a development that uses tax-exempt bond financing.

(c) Developments and Amounts. – The following table sets out the housing developments that are qualified North Carolina low-income housing developments and are allowed a credit under this section. The table also sets out the percentage of the development's eligible basis for which a credit is allowed. The designation of a county or city as Low Income, Moderate Income, or High Income and determinations of affordability are made by the Housing Finance Agency in accordance with the Qualified Allocation Plan in effect as of the time the federal credit is allocated. A change in the income designation of a county or city after a federal credit is allocated does not affect the percentage of the developer's eligible basis for which a credit is allowed. The affordability requirements set out in the chart apply for the duration of the federal tax credit compliance period. If in any year a taxpayer fails to meet these affordability requirements, the credit is forfeited under subsection (h) of this section.

Type of Development	Percentage of Basis for Which Credit Is Allowed
Forty percent (40%) of the qualified residential units are affordable to households whose income is fifty percent (50%) or less of area median income and the units are in a Low-Income county or city.	Thirty percent (30%)
Fifty percent (50%) of the qualified residential units are affordable to households whose income is fifty percent (50%) or less of the area median income and the units are in a Moderate-Income county or city.	Twenty percent (20%)
Fifty percent (50%) of the qualified residential units are affordable to households whose income is forty percent (40%) or less of the area median income and the units are in a High-Income county or city.	Ten percent (10%)
Twenty-five percent (25%) of the qualified residential units are affordable to households whose income is thirty percent (30%) or less of the area median income and the units are in a High-Income county or city.	Ten percent (10%)

(d) Election. – When a taxpayer to whom a federal low-income housing credit is allocated submits to the Housing Finance Agency a request to receive a carryover allocation for that credit, the taxpayer must elect a method for receiving the tax credit allowed by this section. A taxpayer may elect to receive the credit in the form of either a direct tax refund or a loan generated by transferring the credit to the Housing Finance Agency. Neither a direct tax refund nor a loan received as the result of the transfer of the credit is considered taxable income under this Chapter.

Under the direct tax refund method, a taxpayer elects to apply the credit allowed by this section to the taxpayer's liability under Article 4 of this Chapter. If the credit allowed by this section exceeds the amount of tax imposed by Article 4 for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits allowable, the Secretary must refund the excess. In computing the amount of tax against which multiple credits are allowed, nonrefundable credits are subtracted before this credit. The provisions that apply to an overpayment of tax apply to the refundable excess of a credit allowed under this section.

Under the loan method, a taxpayer elects to transfer the credit allowed by this section to the Housing Finance Agency and receive a loan from that Agency for the amount of the credit. The terms of the loan are specified by the Housing Finance Agency in accordance with the Qualified Allocation Plan.

(e) Exception When No Carryover. – If a taxpayer does not submit to the Housing Finance Agency a request to receive a carryover allocation, the taxpayer must elect the method for receiving the credit allowed by this section when the taxpayer submits to the Agency federal Form 8609. A taxpayer to whom this subsection applies claims the credit for the taxable year in which the taxpayer submits federal Form 8609.

(f) Pass-Through Entity. – Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 105-131.8 and G.S. 105-269.15, a pass-through entity that qualifies for the credit provided in this Article does not distribute the credit among any of its owners. The pass-through entity is considered the taxpayer for purposes of claiming the credit allowed by this Article. If a return filed by a pass-through entity indicates that the entity is paying tax on behalf of the owners of the entity, the credit allowed under this Article does not affect the entity's payment of tax on behalf of its owners.

(g) Return and Payment. – A taxpayer may claim the credit allowed by this section on a return filed for the taxable year in which the taxpayer receives a carryover allocation of a federal low-income housing credit. The return must state the name and location of the qualified low-income housing development for which the credit is claimed.

If a taxpayer chooses the loan method for receiving the credit allowed under this section, the Secretary must transfer to the Housing Finance Agency the amount of credit allowed the taxpayer. The Agency must loan the taxpayer the amount of the credit on terms consistent with the Qualified Allocation Plan. The Housing Finance Agency is not required to make a loan to a qualified North Carolina low-income housing development until the Secretary transfers the credit amount to the Agency.

If the taxpayer chooses the direct tax refund method for receiving the credit allowed under this section, the Secretary must transfer to the Housing Finance Agency the refundable excess of the credit allowed the taxpayer. The Agency holds the refund due the taxpayer in escrow, with no interest accruing to the taxpayer during the escrow period. The Agency must release the refund to the taxpayer upon the occurrence of the earlier of the following:

(1) The Agency determines that the taxpayer has complied with the Qualified Allocation Plan and has completed at least fifty percent (50%) of the activities included in the development's eligible basis.

(2) Within 30 days after the development is placed in service date.

(h) Forfeiture. – A taxpayer that receives a credit under this section must immediately report any recapture event under section 42 of the Code to the Housing Finance Agency. If the taxpayer or any of its owners are required under section 42(j) of the Code to recapture all or part of a federal credit with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income development, the taxpayer forfeits the corresponding part of the credit allowed under this section. This requirement does not apply in the following circumstances:

(1) When the recapture of part or all of the federal credit is the result of an event that occurs in the sixth or a subsequent calendar year after the calendar year in which the development was awarded a federal credit allocation.

(2) The taxpayer elected to transfer the credit allowed by this section to the Housing Finance Agency.

(i) Liability From Forfeiture. – A taxpayer that forfeits all or part of the credit allowed under this section is liable for all past taxes avoided and any refund claimed as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i). The interest rate is computed from the date the Secretary transferred the credit amount to the Housing Finance Agency. The past taxes, refund, and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited. A taxpayer that fails to pay the taxes, refund, and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236.

"§ 105-129.43. Substantiation.

A taxpayer allowed a credit under this Article must maintain and make available for inspection any information or records required by the Secretary of Revenue or the Housing Finance Agency. The burden of proving eligibility for a credit and the amount of the credit rests upon the taxpayer.

"§ 105-129.44. Report.

The Department of Revenue must report to the Revenue Laws Study Committee and the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

(1) The number of taxpayers that claimed the credit allowed in this Article.

(2) The location of each qualified North Carolina low-income building or housing development for which a credit was claimed.

(3) The total cost to the General Fund of the credits claimed.

"§ 105-129.45. Sunset.

This Article is repealed effective January 1, 2006. The repeal applies to developments to which federal credits are allocated on or after January 1, 2006."

SECTION 2. G.S. 105-129.16B is recodified as G.S. 105-129.41 and reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.41. Credit for low-income ~~housing.~~housing awarded a federal credit allocation before January 1, 2003.

(a) ~~(Effective until January 1, 2005)~~ Credit. – A taxpayer that is allowed for the taxable year a federal income tax credit for low-income housing under section 42 of the Code with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income building, is allowed a credit under this Article equal to a percentage of the total federal credit allowed with respect to that building. For the purposes of this section, the total federal credit allowed is the total allowed during the 10-year federal credit period plus the disallowed first-year credit allowed in the 11th year. For the purposes of this section, the total federal credit is calculated based on qualified basis as of the end of the first year of the credit period and is not recalculated to reflect subsequent increases in qualified basis. For buildings that meet condition (c)(1) or (c)(1a) of this section, the credit percentage is seventy-five percent (75%). For other buildings, the credit percentage is twenty-five percent (25%).

~~(a) (Effective January 1, 2005) Credit. – A taxpayer that is allowed for the taxable year a federal income tax credit for low-income housing under section 42 of the Code with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income building, is allowed a credit under this Article equal to a percentage of the total federal credit allowed with respect to that building. For the purposes of this section, the total federal credit allowed is the total allowed during the 10-year federal credit period plus the disallowed first-year credit allowed in the 11th year. For the purposes of this section, the total federal credit is calculated based on qualified basis as of the end of the first year of the credit period and is not recalculated to reflect subsequent increases in qualified basis. For buildings that meet condition (c)(1) of this section, the credit percentage is seventy-five percent (75%). For other buildings, the credit percentage is twenty-five percent (25%).~~

(a1) Tax Election. – The credit allowed in this section is allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter, the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this Chapter, or the gross premiums tax levied in Article 8B of this Chapter. The taxpayer must elect the tax against which the credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of the credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of the credit must be claimed against the same tax.

(a2) Cap. – The credit allowed in this section may not exceed fifty percent (50%) of the tax against which it is claimed for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of all other credits made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. This limitation applies to the cumulative amount of credit, including carryforwards, claimed by the taxpayer under this section against each tax for the taxable year. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years.

(b) Timing. – The credit must be taken in equal installments over the five years beginning in the first taxable year in which the federal credit is claimed for that building. During the first taxable year in which the credit allowed under this section may be taken with respect to a building, the amount of the installment must be multiplied by the applicable fraction under section 42(f)(2)(A) of the Code. Any reduction in the amount of the first installment as a result of this multiplication is carried forward and may be taken in the first taxable year after the fifth installment is allowed under this section.

(b1) Allocation. – Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 105-131.8 and G.S. 105-269.15, a pass-through entity that qualifies for the credit provided in this section may allocate the credit among any of its owners in its discretion as long as ~~the amount of credit allocated to an owner does not exceed the owner's adjusted basis in the pass-through entity, as determined under the Code, at the end of the taxable year in which the federal credit is first claimed.~~an owner's adjusted basis in the pass-through entity, as determined under the Code at the end of the taxable year in which the federal credit is first claimed, is at least forty percent (40%) of the amount of credit allocated to that owner. Owners to whom a credit is allocated are allowed the credit as if they had qualified for the credit directly. A pass-through entity and its owners must include with their tax returns for every taxable year in which an allocated credit is claimed a statement of the allocation made by the pass-through entity and the allocation that would have been required under G.S. 105-131.8 or G.S. 105-269.15.

(c) ~~Definitions. – The definitions in section 42 of the Code apply in this section. In addition, as~~Qualifying Buildings. – As used in this section the term "qualified North Carolina low-income building" means a qualified low-income building that was allocated a federal credit under section 42(h)(1) of the Code, was not allowed a federal credit under section 42(h)(4) of the Code, and meets any of the following conditions:

(1) It is located in an area that, at the time the federal credit is allocated to the building, is a tier one or two enterprise area, as defined in G.S. 105-129.3.

(1a) ~~(Expires January 1, 2005)~~ It is located in a county that, at the time the federal credit is allocated to the building, has been designated as having sustained severe or moderate damage from a hurricane or a hurricane-related disaster, according to the Federal Emergency Management Agency impact map, revised on September 25, 1999. Those counties are Bertie, Beaufort, Bladen, Brunswick, Carteret, Columbus, Craven, Dare, Duplin, Edgecombe, Greene, Halifax, Hertford, Jones, Lenoir, Martin, Nash, New Hanover, Northampton, Onslow, Pasquotank, Pender, Pitt, Washington, Wayne, and Wilson Counties.

(2) It is located in an area that, at the time the federal credit is allocated to the building, is a tier three or four enterprise area, and forty percent (40%) of its residential units are both rent-restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is fifty percent (50%) or less of area median gross income as defined in the Code.

(3) It is located in an area that, at the time the federal credit is allocated to the building, is a tier five enterprise area, and forty percent (40%) of its residential units are both rent-restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is thirty-five percent (35%) or less of area median gross income as defined in the Code.

(d) Expiration. – If, in one of the five years in which an installment of the credit under this section accrues, the taxpayer is no longer eligible for the corresponding federal credit with respect to the same qualified North Carolina low-income building, then the credit under this section expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installment of the credit. If, in one of the five years in which an installment of the credit under this section accrues, the building no longer qualifies as a low-income building under subdivision (2) or (3) of subsection (c) of this section because less than forty percent (40%) of its residential units are both rent-restricted and occupied by individuals who meet the income requirements, then the credit under this section expires and the taxpayer may not take any remaining installments of the credit. The taxpayer may, however, take the portion of an installment that accrued in a previous year and was carried forward to the extent permitted under G.S. 105-129.17.

(e) Forfeiture for Disposition. – If the taxpayer is required under section 42(j) of the Code to recapture all or part of a federal credit under that section with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income building, the taxpayer must report the recapture event to the Secretary and to the Housing Finance Agency. The taxpayer forfeits the corresponding part of the credit allowed under this section with respect to that qualified North Carolina low-income building. If the credit was allocated among the owners of a pass-through entity, the forfeiture applies to the owners in the same proportion that the credit was allocated. This subsection does not apply when the recapture of part or all of the federal credit is the result of an event that occurs after the credit period described in subsection (b) of this section.

(f) Forfeiture for Change in Ownership. – If an owner of a pass-through entity that has qualified for the credit allowed under this section disposes of all or a portion of the owner's interest in the pass-through entity within five years from the date the federal credit is first claimed and the owner's interest in the pass-through entity is reduced to less than two-thirds of the owner's interest in the pass-through entity at the time the federal credit is first claimed, the owner must report the change to the Secretary and to the Housing Finance Agency. The owner forfeits a portion of the credit. The amount forfeited is determined by multiplying the amount of credit by the percentage reduction in ownership and then multiplying that product by the forfeiture percentage. The forfeiture percentage equals the recapture percentage found in the table in section 50(a)(1)(B) of the Code. The remaining allowable credit is allocated equally among the five years in which the credit is claimed. Forfeiture as provided in this subsection is not required if the change in ownership is the result of any of the following:

(1) The death of the owner.

(2) A merger, consolidation, or similar transaction requiring approval by the shareholders, partners, or members of the taxpayer under applicable State law, to the extent the taxpayer does not receive cash or tangible property in the merger, consolidation, or other similar transaction.

(g) Liability From Forfeiture. – A taxpayer or an owner of a pass-through entity that forfeits a credit under this section is liable for all past taxes avoided as a result of the credit plus interest at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the credit had not been allowed. The past taxes and interest are due 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited. A taxpayer or owner of a pass-through entity that fails to pay the taxes and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-129.15(4a) is repealed.

SECTION 4. G.S. 105-129.15A reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-129.15A. Sunset.

G.S. 105-129.16 is repealed effective for business property placed in service on or after January 1, 2002. The remainder of this Article is repealed effective January 1, 2006. The repeal of G.S. 105-129.16A applies to renewable energy property placed in service on or after January 1, 2006. ~~The repeal of G.S. 105-129.16B applies to buildings to which federal credits are allocated on or after January 1, 2006. (2000-173, s. 1(d).)~~"

SECTION 5. G.S. 105-129.17(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Tax Election. – The credits allowed in this Article are allowed against the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter or the income taxes levied in Article 4 of this Chapter. ~~In addition, the credit allowed under G.S. 105-129.16B is allowed against the gross premiums tax levied in Article 8B of this Chapter.~~ The taxpayer must elect the tax against which a credit will be claimed when filing the return on which the first installment of the credit is claimed. This election is binding. Any carryforwards of a credit must be claimed against the same tax."

SECTION 6. G.S. 105-129.19(2a) is repealed.

SECTION 7. G.S. 105-259(b) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(b) Disclosure Prohibited. – An officer, an employee, or an agent of the State who has access to tax information in the course of service to or employment by the State may not disclose the information to any other person unless the disclosure is made for one of the following purposes:

...

(28) To exchange information concerning a tax credit claimed under Article 3E of this Chapter with the North Carolina Housing Finance Agency."

SECTION 8. G.S. 105-256(a) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(7) The reports required under G.S. 105-129.19 and G.S. 105-129.44."

SECTION 9. G.S. 105-32.2(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Amount. – The amount of the estate tax imposed by this section is the maximum credit for state death taxes allowed under section 2011 of the Code. If any property in the estate is located in a state other than North Carolina, the amount of tax payable ~~is the North Carolina percentage of the credit.~~

~~If the decedent was a resident of this State at death, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of the estate that does not have a tax situs in another state, divided by the net value of all property in the estate. If the decedent was not a resident of this State at death, the North Carolina percentage is the net value of real property that is located in North Carolina plus the net value of any personal property that has a tax situs in North Carolina, divided by the net value of all property in the estate, unless the decedent's~~

~~state of residence uses a different formula to determine that state's percentage. In that circumstance, the North Carolina percentage is the amount determined by the formula used by the decedent's state of residence.~~

~~The net value of property that is located in or has a tax situs in this State is its gross value reduced by any debt secured by that property. The net value of all the property in the estate is its gross value reduced by any debts and deductions of the estate.~~depends on whether the decedent was a resident of this State at death. If the decedent was a resident of this State at death, the amount of tax due under this section is reduced by the lesser of the amount of the death tax paid the other state or an amount computed by multiplying the credit by a fraction, the numerator of which is the gross value of the estate that has a tax situs in another state and the denominator of which is the value of the decedent's gross estate. If the decedent was not a resident of this State at death, the amount of tax due under this section is an amount computed by multiplying the credit by a fraction, the numerator of which is the gross value of real property that is located in North Carolina plus the gross value of any personal property that has a tax situs in North Carolina and the denominator of which is the value of the decedent's gross estate. For purposes of this section, the gross value of property is its gross value as finally determined in the federal estate tax proceedings."

SECTION 10. Section 9 of this act is effective on and after January 1, 2002, and applies to the estates of decedents dying on or after that date. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law. Section 2 of this act applies to credits for buildings that are awarded a federal credit allocation before January 1, 2003, and for which a federal tax credit is first claimed for a taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 2002.

SENATE BILL 1416:
Housing Tax Credit Changes/Estate Tax Changes

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Sen. Kerr
Date:	August 6, 2002	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	3rd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1416 does two things:

- It modifies the formula for calculating North Carolina estate tax on estates with property in more than one state. (Section 9) This section is effective on and after January 1, 2002, and applies to the estates of decedents dying on or after that date.
- It modifies the low-income housing tax credit in several ways:
  - Section 1 converts the current State tax credit, which is sold to an investor, to a State refundable tax credit that is received directly by the owner and invested directly in the project. At the option of the owner, the credit may be taken as a tax refund or a loan fro the Housing Finance Agency. The revised credit is effective for housing awarded a federal credit allocation on or after January 1, 2003.
  - Section 2 reduces the tax basis required of a purchaser of a credit from 100% to 40% to support the sale of State tax credits allocated in 2001 and 2002.
  - Sections 3 through 8 make changes necessary to conform other tax statutes to the changes made in Sections 1 and 2.

LOW-INCOME HOUSING TAX CREDIT: Congress enacted the Low Income Housing Tax Credit in 1986 to fund housing for low- and moderate-income households. Each state receives a limited amount of credit each year. The IRS allocates the per capita low-income housing tax credit to state housing agencies, such as the North Carolina Housing Financing Agency, who in turn allocate the credit to project developers who agree to lower project rents for low-income tenants. In 1999, North Carolina authorized a State income tax credit equal to a percentage of the developer's federal tax credit for low income housing constructed in North Carolina. A project developer sells the tax credits to receive funds to finance the project. Developers indicate that the State tax credit sells for no more than 45 cents on the dollar.

There are several concerns with the current low-income housing tax credit:

- The sale of a dollar tax credit for less than 45 cents is an inefficient use of State tax expenditures.
- The process of selling the tax credits is complex. It involves finding investors, negotiating prices, and completing legal documents.
- The pool of investors interested in purchasing the credit is limited and is diminishing.

The bill addresses these concerns in two ways:

- To address the short-term problem of utilizing the current tax credits allocated to developers, the bill reduces the tax basis required of a purchaser from 100% to 40%.
- To address the long-term problem of the complexity and inefficiency of the credit, the bill converts the State credit, which is sold to investors, to a refundable credit, received directly by the owner and invested directly in the project.

Credit for low-income housing awarded a federal credit allocation on or after January 1, 2003: A taxpayer who is allocated a federal low-income housing tax credit is allowed a credit equal to a percentage of the development's eligible basis. Unlike the current credit that must be taken over five years, the proposed credit would be taken in one year. The current State credit is a percentage of the federal credit and the percentage varies depending on the tier designation of the county. The proposed credit would be a percentage of basis for which a State credit is allowed and the percentage would vary depending on the type of development. The eligibility of a development is based upon two factors:

- Income designation of the county or city in which it is located. – The designation of a county or city as "low income", "moderate income", or "high income" is made by the HFA in accordance with the Qualified Allocation Plan in effect as of the time the federal credit is allocated. The Qualified Allocation Plan is adopted annually. The Governor must approve it after a public hearing and publication in the North Carolina Register. A change in the income designation does not affect the developer's eligible basis for which a credit is allowed.
- Affordability requirements. – The affordability requirements are set in the statute and apply for the duration of the federal tax credit compliance period. If in any year a taxpayer fails to meet these affordability requirements, the credit is forfeited.

The chart below sets out the percentage of the developer's eligible basis for which a credit is allowed:

Type of Development	Percentage of Basis for which Credit is Allowed
• Units are in a Low Income county or city • 40% of the qualified residential units are affordable to households whose income is 50% or less of area median income	30%
• Units are in a Moderate Income county or city • 50% of the qualified residential units are affordable to households whose income is 50% or less of the area median income	20%
• Units are in a High Income county or city • 50% of the qualified residential units are affordable to households whose income is 40% or less of the area median income	10%
• Units are in a High Income county or city • 25% of the qualified residential units are affordable to households whose income is 30% or less of the area median income	10%

Credit Election: A taxpayer entitled to a State low-income housing tax credit may elect to receive the credit in the form of either a direct tax refund or a loan generated by transferring the credit to the HFA. Neither a direct tax refund nor a loan received as a result of the transfer of the credit is considered taxable income by the State. The IRS would consider a direct tax refund taxable. A letter ruling will be submitted to the IRS to clarify whether the loan proceeds would be taxable. The initial indication is that the proceeds would not be taxable.

If a taxpayer chooses the loan method for receiving the credit, the Secretary must transfer to the HFA the amount of credit allowed the taxpayer. The HFA must loan the amount of the credit to the taxpayer on terms consistent with the Qualified Allocation Plan. The HFA is not required to make the loan until the Secretary transfers the credit amount to it.

If a taxpayer chooses the direct tax refund method for receiving the credit, the Secretary must transfer to the HFA the refundable excess of the credit allowed the taxpayer. The HFA holds the refund in escrow, with no interest accruing to the taxpayer during the escrow period. The HFA must release the refund to the taxpayer upon the occurrence of the earlier of the following:

- The HFA determines that the taxpayer has complied with the Qualified Allocation Plan and has completed at least 50% of the activities included in the development's eligible basis.
- Within 30 days after the development's placed in service date.

Forfeiture: If a taxpayer fails to meet the State's affordability requirements for the duration of the federal tax credit compliance period, the State credit is forfeited. If the taxpayer is required to recapture all or part of the federal credit with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income development, the State credit is also forfeited. A taxpayer that forfeits all or part of the State credit is liable for all past taxes avoided and any refund claimed as a result of the credit plus interest. This amount is payable 30 days after the date the credit is forfeited. The interest rate is computed for the date the Secretary transferred the credit amount to the HFA.

A taxpayer that is required to recapture all or part of the federal credit with respect to a qualified North Carolina low-income development does not forfeit the corresponding State credit amount in the following circumstances:

- The recapture is the result of an event that occurs in the sixth or subsequent calendar year after the calendar year in which the development was awarded a federal credit allocation.
- The taxpayer elected to transfer the State credit amount to the HFA and received a loan form the HFA for that amount.

Report: The Department of Revenue must report to the Revenue Laws Study Committee and the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly by May 1 of each year the following information for the 12-month period ending the preceding April 1:

- The number of taxpayers that claimed the low-income housing credit.
- The location of each qualified North Carolina low-income building or housing development for which a credit was claimed.
- The total cost to the General Fund of the credits claimed.

Sunset: Like the Current low-income housing tax credit, this credit is repealed effective January 1, 2006.

CREDIT FOR LOW-INCOME HOUSING AWARDED A FEDERAL CREDIT ALLOCATION BEFORE JANUARY 1, 2003:

Often the investment group financing the low-income housing projects is a pass-through entity. Last session, the General Assembly provided that the low-income hosing credit could be allocated among any of the entity's owners, in the entity's discretion, as long as the amount of credit allocated did not exceed the owner's adjusted basis in the pass-through entity. This tax basis requirement means the investor must invest $1 into the project for each $1 of the State credit received. However, the market rate for the credit is about 45 cents for each $1 of State credit. The pool of investors willing and able to meet the tax basis requirement is smaller that the current need for investment. Without a change in the tax basis requirement, many developers with projects underway may lose money on those projects. To encourage more investment immediately, Section 2 of the bill reduces the tax basis required of a purchaser from 100% to 40%.

Section 2 also addresses the issue of forfeiture by providing that the taxpayer does not forfeit the State credit if a recapture of the federal credit occurs after the State five-year credit period has expired. The federal credit is taken over a 10-year period.

ESTATE TAX CHANGES:

Section 9 incorporates a proposal from the Estate Tax Section of the North Carolina Bar Association.[1] It changes the calculation of estate tax due when property is located in more than one state from a net value calculation to a gross value calculation. North Carolina is in a minority of three states, including North Carolina, that prorate based on a net value of federal taxable estate basis. At least 36 states prorate based on gross values, including the neighboring states of South Carolina and Virginia.

For estates with property only in North Carolina, the North Carolina estate tax equals the credit for state death taxes allowed on the federal estate tax return.[2] If the estate has property in more than one state, the federal credit must be prorated between North Carolina and the other states in which the estate has property. Under current law, the percentage of the federal credit allocated to North Carolina is determined by dividing the net value of the property in North Carolina by the total net value of the property in the estate.

Net value equals the gross value of the property less any debts associated with the property, such as a mortgage. The current law is attempting to allocate the credit based on the value of the property that was includible in the taxable estate for federal purposes. The federal estate tax is calculated on the taxable estate, which is the gross estate less allowable deductions such as debts.

The Estate Tax Section of the North Carolina Bar Association believes a state's share of federal estate tax is more appropriately based on the gross property located in a state whether or not the property generates any federal estate tax. It proposes that this is fair because each state has a responsibility for protecting and supervising the distribution of property regardless of whether it generates federal tax. Also, the use of a net value calculation sometimes results in a North Carolina resident paying more tax than 100% of the amount of the credit.[3] In other instances it may result in a loss of revenue to North Carolina[4]; this may be particularly true in estates in which property qualifies for the marital deduction.

[1] Rep. Haire introduced a bill on this issue last year, House Bill 276.

[2] The credit for state death taxes allowed on the federal estate tax return is being phased out over the next 4 years. Both the House and the Senate version of SB 1292 do not conform to the phase-out of this credit for 2002 and 2003.

[3] A Charlotte resident has a gross estate worth $10,000,000, including a $2,000,000 home in South Carolina with a $1,000,000 mortgage. The South Carolina portion of the credit is 20% because South Carolina uses a net value calculation: 2,000,000 divided by 10,000,000. The North Carolina portion of the credit is 88%: 8,000,000 divided by 9,000,000.

[4] A Charlotte resident has a gross estate worth $10,000,000, including a $2,000,000 home in South Carolina. The North Carolina property has a $1,000,000 mortgage. The South Carolina portion of the credit continues to be 20%. However, the North Carolina portion of the credit is reduced to 77%.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 1 (proposed credit) is effective on or after January 1, 2003, and is repealed effective January 1, 2006. Section 2 (current credit) applies to buildings that are allocated a federal credit before January 1, 2003, and for which a federal credit is first claimed for a taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 2002. Section 9 is effective on or after January 1, 2002, and applies to the estates of decedents dying on or after that date. The remainder of the bill is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY:

Section 1 of the proposed bill changes the state low-income housing tax credit program from one based on economic tiers established by the Department of Commerce to one based on household income and housing affordability established by the North Carolina Housing Finance Agency (HFA). The bill replaces the current credit that is based on a percentage of the federal tax credits with a credit based on a percentage of the project's basis. Briefly stated, the credit will be 30% of basis in low-income counties, 20% in moderate-income counties, and 10% in high-income counties. The proposed bill removes the credit's mandatory five-year carry forward period and makes the tax credit refundable in one year. The bill gives a developer the choice of a taking a direct tax refund (if credit exceeds tax owed) or a loan from the HFA. It allows the HFA to receive a housing developer's state tax credit from the Department of Revenue and use the proceeds to issue a 30-year loan back to the developer. Section 1 applies to tax years beginning in 2003.

Section 2 of the bill removes the basis requirement for credit allocations approved in SB 181 in 2001. The 2001 General Assembly allowed a pass-through entity to allocate the state credit among any of its owners, as long as the amount of credit allocated did not exceed the owner's adjusted basis in the pass-through entity.

Section 9 modifies the formula for calculating North Carolina estate tax on estates with property in more than one state. Other bill sections deal with technical changes in the low-income housing credit act and with the sharing of Department of Revenue information on housing credits with the Housing Finance Agency.

BACKGROUND:
In the Tax Reform Act of 1986, Congress created the Low-Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) program to fund housing for low and moderate-income households. In 2002, each state receives a tax credit of $1.75 per person that can be used for new construction or rehabilitation of housing. North Carolina has an allocation of $14,086,298 based on a 2000 Census population of 8,049,313. This per capita credit amount is indexed to the CPI beginning in 2003.

The federal credit has helped finance the construction of 21,423 low-income housing units in the state from 1987 to 1999. Federal data in the chart below shows that the more urban areas of the state have benefited most from the federal credit.

	Low-income Units Constructed	%
Tier I	1,799	8.4%
Tier II	1,921	9.0%
Tier III	2,311	10.8%
Tier IV	2,697	12.6%
Tier V	12,650	59.0%
Unidentified	45	0.2%
	21,423	100.0%

North Carolina is one of 12 states that offer a companion state low-income housing credit. North Carolina General Statutes 105-129.16B authorizes a state income tax credit equal to a percentage of a taxpayer's federal tax credit for low-income housing constructed in the state. The credit is 75% of the federal credit for buildings located in Tier 1 and Tier 2 counties and for housing located in 26 eastern counties affected by Hurricane Floyd. The credit is 25% of the federal credit for buildings in Tiers 3, 4, and 5. Tiers 3 through 5 also must comply with the following restrictions:

1) Must be located in a Tier 3 or 4 enterprise area and have at least 40% of its residential units rent restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is 50% or less of median gross income, or
2) Must be located in a Tier 5 enterprise area and have at least 40% of its residential units rent restricted and occupied by individuals whose income is 35% or less of median gross income.

The credit is taken over five years beginning when the federal credit is first claimed for the building. The federal credit requires that the low-income housing be used for that purpose for at least 30 years.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

SECTION 1

In tax years 2000 and 2001, the first two years of the state low-income housing credit, there were 66 projects that received both federal and state tax credits. These 66 projects were awarded $17,880,160 in federal tax credits by the North Carolina Housing Finance Agency (HFA), the credit administrator. Since the federal credit amount is taken each year for ten years, the total federal credit is worth $178,801,600 to the project investors. The North Carolina credit is a percentage of this ten-year total. The mix of 25% and 75% state credits for this two-year allocation period equal an average tax credit of 45% of the $178.8 million federal credit. If investors use 100% of the state credits allocated in 2000 and 2001, the General Fund will expend $80.5 million for credits to low-income housing investors. Since many of these projects are still underway and the credits cannot be used until project completion, there is no data on the actual use of the state credits.

To understand the fiscal impact of the proposed state credit in Section 1 of the bill, the same 66 projects from 2000 and 2001 are used. The HFA provided the General Assembly's Fiscal Research Division with a list of counties they divided into low, moderate, and high income levels. In most cases, the proposed county income structure follows the current tiers: Tier 1 is low-income, Tier 2 is low and moderate income, Tiers 3 and 4 are mostly moderate income, and Tier 5 is high income. The proposed 10% (high), 20% (moderate) and 30% (low) state credits are applied to the basis of the 2000 and 2001 projects. Since the federal credit allocation is equal to 8.6% of the project basis, the basis is determined by dividing the annual federal credit by 8.6%. For example, Maplewood Apartments in Sparta received a federal tax credit allocation of $68,214. This credit divided by 8.6% equals a property basis of $793,186. Since Alleghany is a low-income county, this project would qualify for a 30% credit under the proposed bill and receive a state credit or loan equal to $237,955. (($68,214/. 086)*.3) When all 2000 and 2001 projects are computed using the proposed state credits, the average credit amount for the 66 projects is 20.2%.

The chart below shows a savings to the General Fund over the life of the 2000 and 2001 state credits. Under the current state program, the 2000 and 2001 credits will produce a General Fund loss of $80.5 million over the five to seven years the credits will be used. If the proposed credit was in effect, the General Fund loss would be $36.5 million. In other words, the General Fund would save $44 million under SB 1416 versus the current tax credit.

of Projects	2002 Tiers	Current State Credit	Proposed State Credit	Savings to GF	Equity to Developers	Benefit to Developers
12	1	$14,422,566	$6,708,170	$7,714,396	$5,769,026	$939,144
15	2	$15,758,674	$7,737,897	$8,020,777	$6,303,470	$1,434,428
11	3	$13,224,492	$6,959,506	$6,264,985	$5,289,797	$1,669,710
12	4	$12,451,138	$6,023,119	$6,428,020	$4,980,455	$1,042,663
16	5	$24,673,814	$9,091,551	$15,582,263	$9,869,526	($777,975)
66		$80,530,684	$36,520,244	$44,010,440	$32,212,274	$4,307,970

While the proposed credit saves General Fund revenue, it is intended to increase funding to housing projects. Most tax credits are sold to investment companies at a discounted price in order to receive the funds immediately instead of five years for the state credits or 10 years for the federal credits. In the equity to developers' column in the chart above, HFA assumes that developers receive 40 cents for every $1 of credit they sell. For the 66 projects in 2000 and 2001, it is estimated that the developers sold their $80.5 million in state credits for $32.2 million. Since the proposed credit is refundable or can be taken as a loan, the 2000 and 2001 credits would have been worth $36.5 million. Compared to the current credit program, the developers would have received an additional $4.3 million to put into their projects. However, 15 of the 66 projects would have received less under the proposed credit than they did selling their current credits.

Section 1 of the bill applies only to tax years 2003 through 2005. The bill does not change the sunset of the credit in 2006. For tax years 2003 through 2005, the proposed tax credit will produce a long term General Fund savings, but will have a short-term loss on a fiscal year basis. The federal credit allocation for 2003 to 2005 is based on the 2002 per capita allocation, but adjusted annually by the CPI. The chart below uses CPI estimates from Economy.com and a population estimate for North Carolina from the 2000 US Census. Based on these assumptions, North Carolina is projected to receive the following federal credit allocations:

	Per capita	CPI	Population	Federal Credit
2002	$1.75		8,049,313	$14,086,298
2003	$1.79	2.0%	8,049,313	$14,368,024
2004	$1.82	2.2%	8,049,313	$14,684,120
2005	$1.87	2.5%	8,049,313	$15,051,223

In the chart below, the annual federal allocation is multiplied by 10 to get the full federal credit amount. The chart assumes the mix of 25% and 75% state credits in 2003 through 2005 will average 45% as it did in 2000 and 2001. From 1987 to 1999, the average construction time for low-income housing financed with federal tax credits ranged from one year for projects with less than 50 units to two years with projects with 100 to 200 units. Based on this experience, the chart for the current and the proposed credits assumes that half of the projects will be completed one year after the credit is allocated and half will be completed two years after the credit allocation. For example, the $64.7 million in 2003 state credits taken over a five-year period will equal approximately $12.9 million per year. If half of the 2003 credits are taken one year after allocation, then $6.5 million in state credits will be redeemed in FY 2004-05. In FY 2005-06, the remaining $6.5 million in state credits will begin their five-year payout. The 2003 credit allocation will not be completely used up until FY 2009-10. This chart assumes 100% utilization of the credits.

CURRENT CREDIT PROGRAM

Allocation	Federal Credit	State Credit			($Million)
Year	X 10 years	45%	2004-05	2005-06	2006-07	2007-08
2003	$143.7	$64.7	$6.5	$12.9	$12.9	$12.9
2004	$146.8	$66.1		$6.6	$13.2	$13.2
2005	$150.5	$67.7			$6.8	$13.5
TOTAL		$198.5	$6.5	$19.5	$32.9	$39.7

For the proposed program, it is assumed the mix of 10%, 20%, and 30% credits will average 20.2% as it did when applied to 2000 and 2001 credit allocations. This percentage is multiplied against the 10-year federal credit amount. In 2003, the state credit allocation in the proposed program is $29 million. The total credit amount can be taken in the year the project is completed. As in the current credit program, it is assumed that half of the projects will be completed in one year and half in two years, thus the $29 million is divided between FY 2004-05 and FY 2005-06.

PROPOSED CREDIT PROGRAM

Allocation	Federal Credit	State Credit			($Million)
Year	X 10 years	20.2%	2004-05	2005-06	2006-07	2007-08
2003	$143.7	$29.0	$14.5	$14.5
2004	$146.8	$29.7		$14.8	$14.8
2005	$150.5	$30.4			$15.2	$15.2
TOTAL		$89.1	$14.5	$29.3	$30.0	$15.2

DIFFERENCE			($Million)
Current Credit	$198.5	$6.5	$19.5	$32.9	$39.7
Proposed Credit	$89.1	$14.5	$29.3	$30.0	$15.2
	$109.4	($8.0)	($9.8)	$2.9	$24.5

The proposed state credit will save the state General Fund $109.4 million over the remainder of the low-income housing tax credit program. However, the chart illustrates a short-term revenue loss due to the timing of the projects. Again, assuming the $198.5 million will be sold for 40% of their value or $79.4 million, the proposed credit program will increase equity funding in housing projects by $9.7 million ($89.1 million in proposed credits - $79.4 million sale of current credits). The proposed tax credit/loan program will eliminate low-income housing tax credits as an investment option for financial institutions, insurance companies, and other interested parties.

Section 2 is meant to clarify an action taken in the 2001 General Assembly (SB 181, Chapter 431). The housing industry lobbied to allow the bifurcation of the state and federal housing tax credits. Bifurcation simply means that one investor can buy and receive the allocation of the federal credit for a project and another investor can buy and receive the allocation for the state credit for the same project. Allowing bifurcation was supposed to increase the pool of investors for the state credit, but the housing industry says the law is too strict. The language in SB 181 required a pass-through entity to allocate the credit among any of the entity's owners, as long as the amount of credit allocated does not exceed the owner's adjusted basis in the pass-through entity. For example, payment of 40 cents for a $1 tax credit only gave the investor 40 cents of credit if that was the investor's only investment in a project. Section 2 will give a $1 credit to the investor who pays at least 40 cents for the credit.

Since there is no information available from the Department of Revenue on the utilization of low-income housing credits, it is not possible to determine the true fiscal impact from this text change. However, because all previous notes on this tax program have assumed full use of the credit, the full cost of this credit has been factored into General Fund revenue projections. This change will insure the expanded pool of credit investors that was intended by SB 181.

SECTION 9

Research by the North Carolina State Bar Association found that North Carolina is one of only three states that prorate estate tax on multi-state property based on net value versus the more common practice of pro-ration based on gross value. The Department of Revenue has been asked to sample multistate estate tax returns to judge the fiscal impact of this proposal. Since this sample has not yet been provided to Fiscal Research, no estimate is available for Section 9.

SOURCES OF DATA: NC Housing Finance Agency

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS:

Proposed GS 105-129.42(c) allows the Housing Finance Agency to designate high, moderate, and low-income counties and cities each year by publishing a list in the North Carolina Register as part of the Qualified Allocation Plan. The proposed law does not specify what state or federal standard should be used in making this designation. Counties qualify for the current low-income housing tax credit based on their economic tier as defined in the statutes. The General Assembly may want to reduce the agency's discretion in awarding credits by defining what high, moderate, and low-income mean.

Proposed GS 105-129.44 requires the Department of Revenue to report to the Revenue Laws Study Committee by May 1 each year on the status of the credit program. Since the bill places most of the credit administration with the Housing Finance Agency, it would seem more appropriate for this agency to do the annual report.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ESTABLISH A CONTRACT RIGHT REGARDING THE TIMING OF PAYMENTS UNDER CONTRACTS REQUIRING REIMBURSEMENT OF FEDERAL FUEL EXCISE TAXES AND TO MAKE VARIOUS MOTOR FUEL EXCISE TAX CHANGES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Chapter 119 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"Article 6.

"Contract Rights Regarding Tax Reimbursement.

"§ 119-65. Timing of reimbursement payments under contract.

(a) Right. – When a contract calls for one party to reimburse a second party for the federal manufacturer's excise taxes levied on petroleum products in Part III of Subchapter A of Chapter 32 of the Internal Revenue Code, whether as a separate item or as part of the price, the party making the reimbursement has the right to choose to tender payment for the taxes no more than one business day before the day the second party is required to remit the taxes to the federal Internal Revenue Service. The party making the reimbursement has the option of exercising this right. Exercise of this right does not relieve the party of the obligation to make the reimbursement as provided for in the contract, but affects only the timing of when that reimbursement must be tendered.

(b) Procedure. – In order to exercise the contractual right established in subsection (a) of this section, the party making the reimbursement must notify the second party in writing of the intent to exercise the payment option and the effective date of the exercise. The effective date must be no earlier than the beginning of the next federal tax quarter or 30 days after the notice of intent is received, whichever is later.

(c) Security. – If the party making the reimbursement exercises the contractual right provided in this section, the second party may require security for the payment of the taxes in proportion to the amount the taxes represent compared to the security required on the contract as a whole. The second party may not, however, change the other payment terms of the contract without a valid business reason other than the exercise of the contractual right, except to require the payment of the taxes under the contractual right to be made by electronic funds transfer."

SECTION 2. G.S. 105-449.41 is repealed.

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-449.47 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"§ 105-449.47. Registration of vehicles.

(a) Requirement. – A motor carrier that is subject to the International Fuel Tax Agreement may not operate or cause to be operated in this State any vehicle listed in the definition of motor vehicle unless both the motor carrier and the motor vehicle are registered with the motor carrier's base state jurisdiction. A motor carrier that is not subject to the International Fuel Tax Agreement may not operate or cause to be operated in this State any vehicle listed in the definition of motor vehicle unless both the motor carrier and the motor vehicle are registered with the Secretary for purposes of the tax imposed by this Article.

(a1) Registration and Identification Marker. – When the Secretary registers a motor carrier, the Secretary must issue at least one identification marker for each motor vehicle operated by the motor carrier. A motor carrier must keep records of identification markers issued to it and must be able to account for all identification markers it receives from the Secretary. Registrations and identification markers issued by the Secretary are for a calendar year. The Secretary may renew a registration or an identification marker without issuing a new registration or identification marker. All identification markers issued by the Secretary remain the property of the State. The Secretary may withhold or revoke a registration or an identification marker when a motor carrier fails to comply with this Article, former Article 36 or 36A of this Subchapter, or Article 36C or 36D of this Subchapter.

A motor carrier must carry a copy of its registration in each motor vehicle operated by the motor carrier when the vehicle is in this State. A motor vehicle must clearly display an identification marker at all times. The identification marker must be affixed to the vehicle for which it was issued in the place and manner designated by the authority that issued it.

(b) Exemption. – This section does not apply to the operation of a vehicle that is registered in another state and is operated temporarily in this State by a public utility, a governmental or cooperative provider of utility services, or a contractor for one of these entities for the purpose of restoring utility services in an emergency outage."

SECTION 4. G.S. 105-449.52 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-449.52. ~~Penalty for operating a motor vehicle without a registration card or an identification marker.~~Civil penalties applicable to motor carriers.

(a) Penalty. – A motor carrier who does any of the following is subject to a civil penalty:

this ~~Article is subject to a civil penalty of one hundred dollars ($100.00).~~ Article. The amount of the penalty is one hundred dollars ($100.00).

(2) Is unable to account for identification markers the Secretary issues the motor carrier, as required by G.S. 105-449.47. The amount of the penalty is one hundred dollars ($100.00) for each identification marker the carrier is unable to account for.

(3) Displays an identification marker on a motor vehicle operated by a motor carrier that was not issued to the carrier by the Secretary under G.S. 105-449.47. The amount of the penalty is one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each identification marker unlawfully obtained. Both the licensed motor carrier to whom the Secretary issued the identification marker and the motor carrier displaying the unlawfully obtained identification marker are jointly and severally liable for the penalty under this subdivision.

~~The~~ A penalty imposed under this section is payable to the Department of Revenue or the Division of Motor Vehicles. When a motor vehicle is found to be operating without a registration card or an identification ~~marker,~~ marker or with an identification marker the Secretary did not issue for the vehicle, the motor vehicle may not be driven for a purpose other than to park the motor vehicle until the penalty imposed under this section is paid unless the officer that imposes the penalty determines that operation of the motor vehicle will not jeopardize collection of the penalty.

(b) Hearing. – The procedure set out in G.S. 105-449.119 for protesting a penalty imposed under Article 36C, Part 6, of this Chapter applies to a penalty imposed under this section."

SECTION 5. G.S. 105-449.60(1) is recodified as G.S. 105-449.60(1e).

If the Secretary determines that a bulk-end user or retailer used or sold untaxed dyed diesel fuel to operate a highway vehicle when the fuel is dispensed from a storage facility or through a meter marked for nonhighway use, all fuel delivered into that storage facility is presumed to have been used to operate a highway vehicle. An end seller of dyed diesel fuel is considered to have known or had reason to know that the fuel would be used for a purpose that is taxable under this section if the end seller delivered the fuel into a storage facility that was not marked as required by G.S. 105-449.123.

If motor fuel is diverted from North Carolina to another state, only the person who authorized the fuel to be diverted is eligible for a refund of the amount of tax paid on the fuel."

SECTION 11. G.S. 105-449.88 is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(8) Motor fuel sold to a county or a municipal corporation for its use."

SECTION 12. G.S. 105-449.101(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Requirement. – A ~~person that transports, by pipeline, marine vessel, railroad tank car, or transport truck, motor fuel that is being imported into this State or exported from this State~~ motor fuel transporter that imports motor fuel into this State or exports motor fuel from this State must file a monthly informational return with the Secretary that shows motor fuel received or delivered for import or export by the transporter during the month. This requirement does not apply to a distributor that is not required to be licensed as a motor fuel transporter."

SECTION 13. G.S. 105-449.106(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) ~~Government and~~ Nonprofits. – A ~~local governmental entity or a~~ nonprofit organization listed below that purchases and uses motor fuel may receive a quarterly refund, for the excise tax paid during the preceding quarter, at a rate equal to the amount of the flat cents-per-gallon rate plus the variable cents-per-gallon rate in effect during the quarter for which the refund is claimed, less one cent (1¢) per gallon.

An application for a refund allowed under this subsection must be made in accordance with this Part and must be signed by the chief executive officer of the ~~entity.~~ organization. The memorandum or agreement shall be approved by the Council and signed by the Chief on behalf of the Tribe and shall be signed by the Secretary of Revenue on behalf of Department of Revenue. The memorandum or agreement may not affect the right of an individual member of the Tribe to a refund and shall provide for deduction of amounts refunded to individual members of the Tribe from the amounts to be refunded to the Tribe on behalf of all members. The memorandum or agreement may be effective for a definite or indefinite period, as specified in the agreement."

SECTION 18.(a) Section 1 of this act becomes effective September 1, 2002, and applies to contracts entered into or renewed on or after that date and to all continuing contracts that are in effect on that date and have no expiration date. Section 1 of this act does not apply to a contract in effect on September 1, 2002, that, by its terms, will terminate on a later date. Section 1 of this act does not impair the obligation arising under any contract executed before September 1, 2002.

SECTION 18.(b) The remainder of this act becomes effective January 1, 2003.

SENATE BILL 1407:
Contract to reimburse fuel tax/ Fuel tax chgs.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Sen. Kerr
Date:	August 5, 2002	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	2nd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Section 1 of Senate bill 1407 would allow local petroleum distribution companies to retain the float on the federal motor fuel excise tax monies until they are due for payment. This provision would become effective September 1, 2002. The remainder of the bill would make several technical, administrative, and substantive changes to the motor fuel tax laws, effective January 1, 2003.

CURRENT LAW AND BILL ANALYSIS:

Contract Rights Regarding Tax Reimbursements: Section 1

The State and federal motor fuel excise taxes are payable by the distributor, but collected and remitted to the respective tax collection agencies by the supplier. G.S. 105-449.91 gives the licensed distributor the right to defer the remittance of any state tax to the supplier until the date the supplier, as trustee, must pay the tax to this State or to another state. This allows the distributor to retain the interest on the state tax monies until they are due for payment. Federal law does not address the distributor's right to defer the remittance of any federal tax due. The distributor's right as to the timing of the remittance of the federal tax due to the supplier is subject to the terms of the contract between the distributor and the supplier.

Section 1 would provide that a contract subject to North Carolina law must afford the distributor the same election for the timing of federal tax remittance that the distributor has for state tax remittance. It provides that the distributor may elect to remit the federal tax due to the supplier one day before the tax is due to the federal Internal Revenue Service. This election is optional. To exercise this right, the distributor must notify the supplier in writing of the intent to exercise this election and the effective date of the election. The effective date cannot be earlier than the beginning of the next federal tax quarter or 30 days after the notice of intent is received, whichever is later. To secure the receipt of the tax monies, the supplier can require security for the payment of the taxes in proportion to the amount the taxes represent compared to the security required on the contract as a whole.

In practice, this change in the law would not affect contracts between suppliers and distributors for branded fuel[1] when the contract names another state as the controlling state law. However, if no particular state's law is designated as controlling in the contract, then this State law would allow the distributor to elect to remit the tax the day before it is due, thus allowing the distributor to receive the benefit of any float associated with the federal tax monies. Likewise, if a supplier offers unbranded fuel[2] at a North Carolina terminal and a distributor lifts from that terminal rack, North Carolina law will control because the contract for the fuel is accepted in North Carolina and subject to North Carolina statutes. Currently, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Tennessee[3] have similar statutes.

[2] Unbranded fuel is fuel offered by a supplier at the terminal rack to any distributor who wishes to purchase it.

This section of the bill becomes effective September 1, 2002, and applies to contracts entered into or renewed on or after that date and to all continuing contracts that are in effect on that date and have no expiration date. It does not apply to a contract in effect on September 1, 2002 that, by its terms, will terminate on a later date; nor does it impair the obligation arising under any contract executed before September 1, 2002.

Motor Fuel Enforcement Tax Changes: Sections 2, 3, 4, 15, 16, and 17

Section 2 repeals the Class 1 misdemeanor for willfully and knowingly making a false statement for the purposes of obtaining or assisting someone else to obtain a credit, refund, or reduction of motor fuel tax liability. By repealing this statute, the general penalties in G.S. 105-236 would apply. It is a Class H felony under G.S. 105-236(7) to attempt to willfully evade a tax and it is a Class H felony under G.S. 105-236(9a) to willfully help someone else evade a tax.

A motor carrier subject to the International Fuel Tax Agreement must register with the carrier's base state and a motor carrier not subject to that Agreement must register with the Secretary of Revenue. It is unlawful for a motor carrier to operate motor vehicles in the State unless the motor carrier is registered. To indicate to enforcement officers that the carrier is properly registered, the vehicles must display identification markers, or decals. Section 3 requires a motor carrier to keep records of the decals issued to it and to be able to account for those decals.

Section 4 establishes a civil penalty for unaccounted for decals and for decals unlawfully obtained. The penalty for being unable to account for decals is $100 per decal. The penalty for displaying a decal unlawfully obtained is $1,000 per decal. This penalty is jointly and severally liable by both the motor carrier whose vehicles display the decal and the motor carrier who obtained the decals.

Section 15 simplifies the penalty for transporting motor fuel without a shipping document or with a false or an incomplete shipping document and the penalty for delivering motor fuel to a destination state other than the one shown on the shipping document. Currently, the amount of the penalty depends on whether the person against whom the penalty is assessed has previously been assessed a penalty under this statute. If the answer is "no", the amount of the penalty is $1,500. If the answer is "yes", the amount of the penalty is $7,500. To determine whether the person has previously been assessed a penalty under this section requires the enforcement officer to obtain detailed information, which the officer forwards to the Motor Fuels Tax Division so that the Division can check its records and then assess the correct penalty. The penalty is seldom imposed because the enforcement officers cannot enforce the penalty at the time the offense occurs. This section enables the enforcement officer to immediately assess the penalty by providing a flat penalty amount of $5,000.

Section 16 would enable the Motor Fuels Tax Division to be able to track motor fuel transported by a tank wagon after the fuel has left the terminal. A tank wagon is a truck that has a compartment designed or used to carry at least 1,000 gallons of motor fuel.[4] Under this section, a person could not transport motor fuel by tank wagon unless the person has an invoice, bill of sale, or shipping document that contains the following information: the name and address of the person from whom the motor fuel was received, the date the fuel was loaded, the type of fuel, and the gross number of gallons loaded. The person must carry this documentation when transporting the fuel and show the documentation upon request. These requirements are similar to, but less onerous, than the requirements for motor fuel transported by a railroad tank car or transport truck.[5] A violation of this statute would be grounds for a civil penalty in the amount of $1,000.

Section 17 simplifies the penalty for dispensing, or allowing to be dispensed, non-tax-paid fuel into a highway vehicle. Currently, the amount of the penalty varies depending upon the number of gallons dispensed. However, it is often impossible to know how many gallons have been dispensed. This section simplifies the penalty by providing a fixed penalty amount of $250 per occurrence.

Biodiesel and Fuel Alcohol Tax Law Changes: Section 6

North Carolina's motor fuel laws address fuel alcohol, but they do not address biodiesel. Both types of fuel are special fuels that may be used to operate a motor vehicle. Section 6 defines biodiesel fuel as a mixture of fuels derived in whole or in part from agricultural products or animal fats or wastes from these products or fats. There is one person in this State who is planning to produce biodiesel fuel using, among other fats, discarded french fry grease from fast food restaurants.

Under current law, a person who produces fuel that can be used to operate a motor vehicle is considered a refiner and is subject to a $2 million bonding requirement. North Carolina has not had a refiner before and so it has not needed to develop the definition of a refiner. However, it is anticipated that a vehicle can be operated with biodiesel fuel alone. It also appears that fuel alcohol may be used to operate a motor vehicle without blending it with gasoline. Under the current law, both a biodiesel provider and a fuel alcohol provider would be considered a refiner and subject to the $2 million bond.

Section 6 defines a biodiesel provider and a fuel alcohol provider as a person who produces an average of no more than 500,000 gallons of biodiesel or fuel alcohol a month during a calendar year. It establishes a definition of "refiner" as a person who produces an average of more than 500,000 gallons of fuel a month, thereby eliminating the small biodiesel and fuel alcohol providers from the large surety bond requirements. Biodiesel providers and fuel alcohol providers are subject to a bonding requirement of no less than $2,000 and no more than $250,000. The amount of the bond is determined by the provider's average expected monthly tax liability.

[4] Section 6 amends the term "tank wagon" to require that it be used to carry at least 1,000 gallons of motor fuel. This modification exempts trucks carrying less than that amount from the requirements imposed by this Section 16.

[5] Tank wagons would not be required to be registered, to have a tax responsibility statement, to have a machine-printed shipping document, or to have a destination state. Also, the penalty imposed on a tank wagon for failure to have the proper documentation is $1,000 as opposed to $5,000.

Section 6 also adds a biodiesel provider and a refiner to the definition of supplier. Section 7 adds a biodiesel provider to the list of license holders that must be bonded.

Special Mobile Equipment: Section 10

Special mobile equipment is a vehicle that has a permanently attached crane, mill, ditch-digging apparatus, or similar attachment. The vehicle is driven on the highway only to get to and from a non-highway job. It is not designed or used primarily for the transportation of persons or property. Under current State law, special mobile equipment may use dyed (untaxed) diesel fuel. However, it is not allowed to use dyed diesel under federal law. This contradiction causes confusion and sometimes results in the assessment of federal penalties. Section 10 conforms North Carolina law to the federal law. Special mobile equipment will continue to be entitled to a quarterly refund of motor fuel tax paid to operate the equipment off-highway.[6]

Diverted Fuel: Section 10:

A person may not transport motor fuel by railroad tank car or by truck unless the person has a shipping document indicating, among other things, the destination state of the motor fuel. The tax on the motor fuel is collected at the rack at the motor fuel tax rate of the state named on the shipping document as the destination state. The person transporting the motor fuel must deliver it to the state printed on the shipping document.

If the fuel is diverted to another state, the person transporting the fuel must notify the Secretary of the diversion and receive a confirmation number authorizing the diversion. The state tax owed on the fuel changes when the fuel is diverted to a different state. Currently, the distributor notifies the supplier of the diversion and the supplier makes the correction based on its business practices. The diversion may be accounted for in several different ways on one of four different motor fuel tax forms. However, the supplier is not the party responsible for paying the tax; the supplier's tax collection obligations ended once the fuel left the terminal.

Section 10 clarifies that North Carolina motor fuel excise tax is due on motor fuel that is diverted to this State. It specifies that the person who authorized the fuel to be diverted to a different state is liable for the tax owed to that state; likewise the person is entitled to a refund of the North Carolina tax paid on the fuel. The diversion corrections must be made on the backup tax form.

Motor Fuel Tax Exemption for Local Governments: Sections 11 and 13

Counties and municipalities are entitled to a quarterly refund of motor fuel excise taxes paid by them during the preceding quarter. The refund is calculated at the rate equal to the amount of the flat cents-per-gallon rate plus the variable cents-per-gallon rate in effect during the quarter for which the refund is claimed, less one-cent per gallon. Section 11 removes counties and municipalities from the list of entities entitled to a refund and Section 13 adds them to the list of entities exempted from the motor fuel excise tax. Other entities exempted from the tax include

Administrative and Technical Changes: Sections 5, 6, 8, 9, 12, and 14

A refiner, a terminal operator, a supplier, an importer, a blender, a permissive supplier, and a distributor must file a bond with the Secretary to be licensed. The bond is conditioned upon compliance with the motor fuel tax laws. Whenever a license holder changes bonding companies or decides to go out of business, the license holder must notify the Secretary. After determining that all taxes and penalties due under the motor fuel tax laws have been paid, the Secretary must return the previously filed bond and notify both the bonding company and the license holder that the person is released from liability on the bond. The Motor Fuels Tax Division often receives return mail on the correspondence sent to the license holder because the license holders have moved. Section 8 relieves the Division from the requirement that it notify the license holder; it need only return the previously filed bond and the notice of release from liability to the bondholder.

The Motor Fuels Tax Division must keep a record of all the license holders under Article 36C and it must send this list to all the license holders along with a monthly update. Many license holders have expressed a desire not to receive the list as often as it is received. Section 9 relieves the Division of the necessity of sending the monthly updates to all license holders. Under this section, the Division must send an annual list to each license holder of all the license holders under Article 36C. Thereafter, the Division need only send a monthly update to each licensed refiner or licensed supplier and to any other license holder that request a copy of the list.

Section 5 renumbers the definitions to allow for the inclusion of the new definitions in Section 6 in their proper alphabetical place. Section 6 includes within the definition of "motor fuel transporter" a person who transports motor fuel by pipeline. Section 12 uses the defined term "motor fuel transporter." Section 14 replaces the term "special fuels" with the defined term "alternative fuels".

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: N.C. Department of Revenue Motor Fuels Division; N.C. Department of Transportation – Division of Motor Vehicles; Local Governments

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 1 of the act is effective September 1, 2002, for contracts entered into or renewed on or after that date, as well as all contracts in effect on that date that have no expiration date and are continuing contracts. Does not apply to a contract in effect on September 1, 2002, that, by its terms, will terminate on a later date. The remainder of the act becomes effective January 1, 2003.

BILL SUMMARY: Section 1 of the legislation establishes a contract right regarding the timing of payments under contracts requiring reimbursement of federal fuel excise taxes. The party making reimbursements will not be required to tender payment for the taxes more than one business day before the day the second party is required to remit the taxes to the IRS. The procedures and security provisions for exercising this right are set out in the bill.

The remaining sections of the bill make technical changes to the motor fuel tax statutes.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Section 1 of the bill establishes the timing in which payments under contracts requiring reimbursements of the federal fuel excise taxes must be paid. Current state law gives the licensed distributor the right to defer the remittance of any state tax to the supplier until the date the supplier, as trustee, must pay the tax to this state or to another state. This allows the distributor to retain the interest on the state tax monies until they are due for payment. The proposed bill would provide that a contract subject to North Carolina law must afford the distributor the same election for the timing of federal tax remittance that the distributor has for state tax remittance. The proposed change will have no state General Fund impact. The legislation will have no impact on the state's Department of Revenue fuel tax collections, revenues, or payment schedules. Rather, it is designed to affect the timing of payments on the federal excise tax by fuel distributors.

The remainder of the bill includes technical changes to the motor fuel tax, some of which will have minimal fiscal impact. The Motor Fuels Division of the N.C. Department of Revenue (the Division) is responsible for the implementation and enforcement of the changes. This fiscal note will focus solely on those sections of the proposed legislation that have a financial impact.

Section 4 of the bill adds a penalty for improper use of vehicle identification markers that are necessary under the International Fuel Tax Agreement (IFTA) for legal travel in the United States and Canada. When the Secretary of Revenue registers a motor carrier, the Secretary must issue at least one identification marker for each motor vehicle operated by the motor carrier. However, the markers are not assigned on a Vehicle Identification Number (VIN) basis. Rather, each motor carrier requests a certain number of markers for its fleet and is then responsible for accounting for each marker listed with the company. The markers must be maintained for audit purposes and, most often, the Division finds a higher incidence of missing and unaccounted for markers (proposed $100 penalty) than display of unlawfully obtained markers (proposed $1,000 penalty.) Revenues realized from this penalty are difficult to estimate because accountability efforts, enforcement practices, and auditing opportunities will change after the penalty is put into effect. However, Fiscal Research can establish a base estimate from current Division data. The Secretary of Revenue assigned over 100,000 markers in the state for 2002. The Division is required to audit 3% of its motor carrier base each year. There were 129 markers unaccounted for in the six-month period between January and June 2002. Doubling this for an annual estimate would generate $25,800 in penalties. All the revenues generated from these two penalties are payable to the Department of Revenue or the Division of Motor Vehicles.

Section 10(a)(1) of the bill removes the motor fuel excise tax exemption on dyed diesel fuel used to operate special mobile equipment. This proposed change conforms the state to federal law by not allowing it to use dyed diesel fuel on the highway. The Division will see increased motor fuel tax revenues; however, because data are not maintained on the total number of special mobile equipment vehicles, no exact estimate can be made.

Section 10(a)(5) of the bill clarifies that the motor fuel excise tax is due on motor fuel that is destined for delivery to another state and is then diverted and delivered in this state. This practice is in place today; however, suppliers are currently accounting for it in a variety of different ways on one of four motor fuel tax forms to reflect the new delivery state. The suppliers are not obligated to perform this function, and many do not or could cease doing so in the future. The legislation seeks to require the distributors to perform the paperwork change by requiring the backup tax form to be filled out with the proper diversion number for the new destination. This change will make it more apparent when a diversion has occurred and to which state motor fuel taxes are due. It will also be easier for the Division to compare the monthly diversion report to the backup tax forms for audit purposes. Due to the increased ease of auditing a motor carrier, the Division will potentially see a minimal increase in motor fuel tax revenues.

Sections 11 and 13 of the bill exempt local government entities from paying a motor fuel tax and thus necessitating the need for receiving a refund. The following table shows the refunds issued in recent years.

Fiscal Year	1999-2000		2000-2001
	City	County	City	County
Quarter 1	$1,489,630.54	$754,584.10	$1,575,095.15	$916,539.92
Quarter 2	$1,551,601.65	$829,986.70	$1,080,506.83	$748,063.84
Quarter 3	$1,426,540.97	$712,121.66	$2,160,325.59	$944,865.85
Quarter 4	$1,644,436.73	$786,002.66	$469,891.98	$360,380.05
Subtotal	$6,112,209.89	$3,082,695.12	$5,285,819.55	$2,969,849.66
FY Total	$9,194,905.01		$8,255,669.21

The proposed exemption will be slightly revenue positive for local governments because of the interest that will be earned on funds that once went to fuel tax payments before being refunded. The proposal will save the Division from processing the quarterly refunds to local governments. Float will no longer be generated on the tax revenue paid by local governments before the state refunds the funds. Fiscal Research estimates the annual float loss would have been $227,030 for fiscal year 2000-01 and $252,860 for fiscal year 1999-00 (calculated by using half the fiscal year total at a 5.5% interest rate). The average annual estimated loss from the Highway Fund is approximately $240,000.

Sections 15 of the bill simplifies the penalty against transporters for transporting motor fuel without a shipping document or with a false or incomplete shipping document and delivering motor fuel to a destination state other than that shown on the shipping document. The penalty is $5,000 for railroad tank car or a transport truck. For the penalty to be assessed, actual offloading of the fuel must be seen. Officers will now be able to enforce the penalty on-site after a vehicle is stopped, which is the same as current dyed diesel penalty enforcement. Although this penalty has not been used heavily to date, the proposed changes may increase assessments and revenues. Revenues generated from the penalties are payable to the Department of Transportation, Division of Motor Vehicles, or the Department of Revenue to split between the Highway Fund and the Highway Trust Fund as mandated by statute.

Section 16 of the bill regulates motor fuel transported by a tank wagon after the fuel has left the terminal. Proper documentation as mandated in the statute must be included in the vehicle at all times. A violation of this statute would be grounds for a civil penalty in the amount of $1,000. Revenues generated from the penalties are payable to the Department of Transportation, Division of Motor Vehicles, or the Department of Revenue to split between the Highway Fund and the Highway Trust Fund as mandated by statute. However, the Division has no way to determine how many penalties will be assessed under the new regulations.

Section 17 of the bill changes the penalty for buying or selling non-tax-paid motor fuel to a flat penalty of $250 from the varying amounts based on gallons dispensed currently listed in the statutes. Officers have not been assessing the penalty because it was not possible to determine the number of gallons dispensed. The proposed changes will remove the gallon provision and allow a flat penalty to be assessed. Revenues generated from the penalties are payable to the Department of Transportation, Division of Motor Vehicles, or the Department of Revenue to split between the Highway Fund and the Highway Trust Fund as mandated by statute. It is not possible to estimate how many penalties will be assessed under the new process.

SOURCES OF DATA: N.C. Department of Revenue Motor Fuels Division

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: Pending court proceedings may change the fund designation for the collected penalties. Instead of having the funds earmarked for the Highway Fund or Highway Trust Fund, the outcome of the legal proceedings could require the funds to be allocated to local public school units.

MINUTES

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE
August 7, 2002

The House Committee on Finance met at 8:30 a.m. on Wednesday, August 7, 2002 in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building. Members present were: Chairmen Allen, Buchanan, Luebke, and Wainwright; Vice-Chair Hill; and Representatives Alexander, Capps, Cox, Decker, Eddins, Edwards, Gibson, Gray, Hackney, Holliman, Hurley, Johnson, McComas, McCombs, McMahan, Morris, Pope, Rayfield, Starnes, Weiss, Willingham, Wilson, Womble, Baddour, and Cunningham. Staff persons present included: Trina Griffin, Richard Bostic, Linda Millsaps, Martha Walston, and Committee Assistants Nancy Brantley, Blinda Edwards, Joyce Harris, and Glenda Jones. Sergeants-at-Arms included Dusty Rhodes, Walter Spell, Bob Fowler, and Jim Womack. The Agenda and Visitor Registration Sheet are incorporated into the minutes as Attachments 1 and 2.

Representative Wainwright called the meeting to order. He welcomed the Pages, Chip Farrar of Chatham County, Andrew Lamar of Randolph County, Zach Fulliniti of Mecklenburg County, and Rob Wilson of Mecklenburg County. The Committee considered the following bills.

HOUSE BILL 1520, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO EXTEND THE SUNSET ON TAX CREDITS FOR QUALIFIED BUSINESS INVESTMENTS AND TO AMEND THE DEFINITION OF QUALIFIED GRANTEE BUSINESS. The bill was back in House Finance for concurrence in an amendment adopted on the Senate Floor. The Chair recognized Representative Allen to present the bill. Representative Hill moved that the committee concur. The committee recommended that the House concur. The Committee Report, Committee Substitute, House and Senate Amendments, Bill Analysis, and Fiscal Note are included in Attachment 3.

HOUSE BILL 1685, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE TOWN OF CLAYTON TO ENTER INTO AGREEMENTS FOR PAYMENTS IN LIEU OF ANNEXATION. The Chair recognized Representative Daughtry to present the bill. Representative Buchanan moved for the adoption of the Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS) for consideration by the Committee. This was a local bill that would annex five tracts to the Town of Four Oaks in Johnston County and de-annex one tract. Representative Daughtry stated that there was no opposition to the bill. Representative Rayfield moved for a favorable report. A favorable report was given to the Committee Substitute Bill. The Committee Report, Proposed Committee Substitute, and Bill Analysis, are included in Attachment 4.

SENATE BILL 1037, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT ANY PROSPECTIVE APPLICANT FOR AN AIR QUALITY PERMIT FOR A NEW FACILITY MAY COMMENCE CONSTRUCTION PRIOR TO OBTAINING THE AIR QUALITY PERMIT TO OPERATE THAT FACILITY IF THE PROSPECTIVE APPLICANT SUBMITS A NOTICE OF THE CONSTRUCTION AND THAT ANY CURRENT HOLDER OF AN AIR QUALITY PERMIT MAY COMPLETE NEW CONSTRUCTION AT AN EXISTING PERMITTED FACILITY PRIOR TO OBTAINING THE AIR QUALITY PERMIT TO OPERATE THAT FACILITY IF THE PROSPECTIVE APPLICANT SUBMITS A NOTICE OF THE CONSTRUCTION. The Chair recognized Senator Hoyle to present the bill to the committee. Senator Hoyle stated that the bill would modify the procedures required before construction, expansion, modification, or operation of an air contaminant source and its components could commence. The bill would establish notification and review procedures for permit applicants, establish an application fee, and prohibit the use of economic and financial losses incurred by a person who proceeds without a permit as evidence during administrative and judicial review of permit decisions. The fourth edition of the bill also required notice by publication of an owner's intent to expand, modify, or operate an air contaminant source, and would require the notice to include the name and address information on the facility and the applicant.

Representative Luebke presented a technical amendment to amend the bill on page 6, line 29. The amendment would insert quotation marks at the end of that line. Representative Luebke moved for adoption of the amendment. The amendment was adopted. This was Amendment 1.

Representative Hackney presented an amendment to amend the bill on page 3, lines eight through 12. He stated that the debate on the bill was how far along you were allowed to go in construction before you got the permit. The bill, as written, would allow you to complete the construction before getting a permit. This amendment would allow construction to start, but it did not allow completion of the construction. The amendment had the backing of the Department of Environment and the Governor's office. Senator Hoyle stated that you could not operate the business without getting the permit. North Carolina needed to facilitate business and industry without hurting the environment. He asked that the committee vote against the amendment. Representative McMahan asked George Givens, Committee Counsel, about a previous bill that was similar to this bill, and why the prior bill did not work. Mr. Givens stated that the prior bill expedited permit review for permit applications that were signed off on under a professional engineer seal. It was a different approach to speeding up the permit process. Representative Wainwright recognized Keith Overcash of the Division of Air Quality Control to expand on the intent of the prior bill. Mr. Overcash stated that the prior bill expedited review, but it did not allow construction. Representative Hackney expressed concern that once the construction was finished and money had been spent towards the project, the regulators were under pressure to sign off on the project. Representative Gibson stated that the bill gave North Carolina an edge regulatory, it did not damage the environment. He asked the committee to defeat the amendment. Representative Gray, Womble, and Weiss spoke in support of the amendment. The amendment was adopted by a show of hands of 15 yes and 14 no votes. Refer to Amendment #2.

Representative McComas sent forth a third amendment which amended the bill on page 6, lines 21 through 25. The amendment clarified that a permit was needed for asphalt plants. Representative McComas moved for the adoption of the amendment. Representative Gibson spoke in opposition to the amendment. The Committee adopted the amendment. Refer to Amendment 3.

The committee continued their discussion of the bill as amended. Representative Wainwright invited interested parties to speak on the bill. Mollie Diggins, State Director of the North Carolina Chapter of the Sierra Club thanked the committee for the amendments that were adopted. She felt the amendments addressed public concerns. Mr. Randolph Cloud of the American Lung Association stated that it was important to preserve the quality of air and life in North Carolina. Mr. Steve Wall of the Conservation Council thanked the committee for adopting the Hackney amendment. Mr. David Mickey of Blue Ridge Environmental Defense League spoke in opposition to Senate Bill 1037. Ms. Leslie Bevacqua of North Carolina Citizens for Business and Industry (NCCBI) stated that she was disappointed with the Hackney amendment. The bill did not harm air quality standards and it would help with economic development. NCCBI did support the bill, but the Hackney amendment did not help business industry. Mr. Preston Howard of Manufacturers and Chemical Industry Council of North Carolina stated that he was disappointed with the Hackney amendment. The amendment hurt small industries that might come to the state. The bill, as amended, did nothing to benefit the business community.

Representative Womble moved for a favorable report of the Committee Substitute as amended. The committee gave a favorable report to the Committee Substitute. The Committee Report, Proposed House Committee Substitute, House Committee Substitute, Bill Analysis, Fiscal Note, Amendments 1, 2, and 3, and comments from interested parties, are included in Attachment 5.

The meeting adjourned at 10:10 a.m.

Respectfully submitted,

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO EXTEND THE SUNSET ON TAX CREDITS FOR QUALIFIED BUSINESS INVESTMENTS AND TO AMEND THE DEFINITION OF QUALIFIED GRANTEE BUSINESS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Section 7 of Chapter 443 of the 1993 Session Laws, as amended by Section 29A.15 of S.L. 1998-212, is repealed.

SECTION 2. Section 10 of Chapter 443 of the 1993 Session Laws, as amended by Section 29A.15 of S.L. 1998-212, reads as rewritten:

"Sec. 10. Section 6 of this act is effective upon ratification. ~~Section 7 of this act becomes effective for investments made on or after January 1, 2003.~~ The remainder of this act becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1994.

A business registered as a qualified business venture or a qualified grantee business before January 1, 1994, retains its registration until the renewal date for the registration of that business under Part 5 of Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes as in effect before January 1, 1994. The Secretary of State shall not grant renewal of a registration as a qualified business venture or a qualified grantee business unless at the time of filing the renewal application, the business meets the requirements then in effect for a new registration.

Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 105-163.014(a), as amended by this act, a credit under Part 5 of Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes for an investment made before January 1, 1994, is not forfeited solely on the grounds that a sibling of the taxpayer provides services for compensation to the business in which the taxpayer invested.

Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 105-163.014(d), as amended by this act, a credit under Part 5 of Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes for an investment made before January 1, 1994, is not forfeited solely on the grounds that a redemption of the securities received in the investment is made within five years after the investment was made.

The Secretary of State may require a qualified business venture or a qualified grantee business that is unable to renew its registration after January 1, 1994, to file reports the Secretary of State considers appropriate to determine the location of the headquarters and principal business operations of the business until three years after the date of the last investment in the business that qualified for the tax credit allowed under Part 5 of Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-163.010(9) reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-163.010. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Part:

(9) Qualified grantee business. – A business that (i) ~~has received during the preceding three years a grant or other funding from the North Carolina Technological Development Authority, the North Carolina Technological Development Authority, Inc., North Carolina First Flight, Inc., the North Carolina Biotechnology Center, the Microelectronics Center of North Carolina, the Kenan Institute for Engineering, Technology and Science, or the Federal Small Business Innovation Research Program, and (ii)~~ is registered with the Secretary of State under G.S. ~~105-163.013.~~105-163.013, and (ii) has received during the preceding three years a grant or other funding from a federal agency under the Small Business Innovation Research Program administered by the United States Small Business Administration or from an organization that meets any of the following qualifications:

a. It is a domestic or foreign corporation that (i) is tax-exempt pursuant to section 501(c)(3) of the Code, (ii) has as its principal purpose the stimulation of the development of the biotechnology industry, and (iii) in furtherance of that purpose has received, or is a successor in interest to an organization that has received, direct appropriations from the State in at least three fiscal years..

b. It is a domestic or foreign corporation that (i) is tax-exempt pursuant to section 501(c)(3) of the Code, (ii) has as its principal purpose the stimulation of the development of the microelectronics and communication industries, and (iii) in furtherance of that purpose has received, or is a successor in interest to an organization that has received, direct appropriations from the State in at least three fiscal years.

c. It is an institute that (i) is administratively located within a constituent institution of The University of North Carolina, (ii) is financed in part by a domestic or foreign corporation that is tax-exempt pursuant to section 501(c)(3) of the Code, (iii) has as a principal purpose the stimulation of economic development based on the advancement of science, engineering, and technology, and (iv) funds, either directly or in collaboration with other entities, small businesses engaging in developing technology."

SECTION 4. G.S. 105-163.013(c) reads as rewritten:

"(c) Qualified Grantee Businesses. - In order to qualify as a qualified grantee business under this Part, a business must be registered with the Securities Division of the Department of the Secretary of State. To register, the business must file with the Secretary of State an application and any supporting documents the Secretary of State may require from time to time to determine that the business meets the requirements for registration as a qualified grantee business. ~~A business meets the requirements for registration as a qualified grantee business if it has received during the preceding three years a grant or other funding from the North Carolina Technological Development Authority, the North Carolina Technological Development Authority, Inc., North Carolina First Flight, Inc., the North Carolina Biotechnology Center, the Microelectronics Center of North Carolina, the Kenan Institute for Engineering, Technology and Science, or the Federal Small Business Innovation Research Program.~~The requirements for registration as a qualified grantee business are set out in G.S. 105-163.010(9).

The effective date of registration for a qualified grantee business whose application is accepted for registration is the filing date of its application. No credit is allowed under this Part for an investment made before the effective date of the registration or after the registration is revoked.

To remain qualified as a qualified grantee business, the business must renew its registration annually as prescribed by rule by filing an application for renewal in which the business certifies the facts listed in this subsection."

SECTION 5. Part 5 of Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-163.015. Sunset.

This Part is repealed effective for investments made on or after January 1, 2004."

SECTION 6. Sections 3 and 4 of this act become effective January 1, 2003. Notwithstanding the amendments to G.S. 105-163.010 and G.S. 105-163.013 in Sections 3 and 4 of this act, a business to which a grant or other funding was committed before January 1, 2003, by the North Carolina Technological Development Authority, the North Carolina Technological Development Authority, Inc., North Carolina First Flight, Inc., the North Carolina Biotechnology Center, the Microelectronics Center of North Carolina, the Kenan Institute for Engineering, Technology and Science, or the Federal Small Business Innovation Research Program may still qualify as a qualified grantee business under the provisions of G.S. 105-163.010 and G.S. 105-163.013 as they existed before the enactment of this act. The remainder of this act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 1520:
Extend Qualified Business Venture Tax Credit

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Allen (Revenue Laws Recommendation)
Date:	August 6, 2002
Version:	2nd Edition with Senate Amendment	Summary by:	Martha Walston* Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1520, as it passed the House, extends the sunset for the tax credit for qualified business investments for one year. Without this bill, that tax credit would expire for investments made on or after January 1, 2003. The bill is back in House Finance to decide whether to concur in an amendment adopted on the Senate Floor.

The Senate amendment to HB 1520 does the following:

- Section 6(a)-(d) extends the State Ports Tax Credit to January 1, 2004. Currently this credit is scheduled to expire on January 1, 2003.
- Section 7(a) clarifies that the North Carolina State Ports Authority has fee-setting authority for its rates and tariffs, gives the Authority guidelines to use in setting those fees, and requires the Authority to report to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations no later than 30 days after it establishes or increases a fee.
- Section 7(b) exempts the Authority's fee-setting from the rule-making portion of the Administrative Procedure Act.
- Section 7(c) allows the Authority to report to Governmental Operations after increasing or establishing a fee rather than before it establishes or increases a fee.
- It amends the title of the bill to reflect the additions of the above sections.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Section 3 (definitions) and Section 4 (Qualified Grantee Businesses) are effective January 1, 2003. The act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: Sections 1 through 5 of the bill extend the individual income tax credit for Qualified Business investments from January 1, 2003, to January 1, 2004. The definition of Qualified Grantee Business is revised to replace specific named entities with general descriptions of entities that would encompass the North Carolina Biotechnology Center, MCNC, and the Kenan Institute for Engineering, Technology and Science. The new definition does not include the Technological Development Authority. Section 6 extends the State Ports Tax Credit from January 1, 2003, to January 1, 2004. Section 7 clarifies that the North Carolina State Ports Authority has fee setting authority for its services and provides the guidelines the Ports Authority is to use in setting its fees. Section 7 exempts the Ports Authority from the Administrative Procedure Act and requires the agency to report to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations within 30 business days of establishing or increasing a fee.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Qualified Business Venture Tax Credit

The amount of Qualified Business Venture tax credits given each year is capped at $6 million. Requests for credits have exceeded the $6 million cap for four out of the last five years. In fact, the amount of credit requested ($19 million) in 2001 was approximately three times the amount of credit available. Given the recent investor interest in the credit program, it is likely that the $6 million annual cost of the program will continue until its sunset in 2004. The General Fund fiscal impact occurs in FY 2003-04 because the investments made in 2003 will be awarded credits on returns filed in the spring of 2004. Credit demand will not be affected by the exclusion of firms receiving grants from the Technological Development Authority because most of these firms would qualify for the credit by applying for Qualified Business Venture status with the Secretary of State.

State Ports Authority Tax Credit

Enacted in 1992 to encourage exporters to use the two State-owned port terminals at Wilmington and Morehead City, this credit was extended in 1995, 1997 and 2001. The tax credit equals the amount of wharfage, handling, and throughput charges paid to the North Carolina State Ports Authority in the taxable year that exceeds the average amount of charges paid to the Authority for the current tax year and the two previous tax years. The credit is limited to 50% of the tax imposed on the taxpayer for the taxable year and has a five-year carryforward on excess credit. The maximum cumulative credit that one taxpayer may claim is $2 million.

The North Carolina State Ports Authority makes an annual report to the General Assembly detailing the annual increase in cargo tons, cargo fees, and the amount of tax credit taken in the previous year. The income tax credits reported in these annual statements since the program's inception are as follows:

1995	$643,965
1996	$854,645
1997	$515,977
1998	$814,986
1999	$656,134
2000*	$1,551,121

*Since the statute does not limit back certifications, four customers claimed $1,116,565 in credits for shipping expenses from previous years.

The average tax credit for the eight years 1994 through 2001 is $739,288 and the median tax credit for the same period is approximately $650,000. This fiscal note will use the median, thus extending the State Ports Authority tax credit will cost the state General Fund $650,000 in tax year 2003 or FY 2003-04. The Ports Authority staff reports that no company has reached the $2 million maximum cumulative credit and there are no companies close to the maximum amount of credits.

State Ports Authority Fees

Section 7 will have no new fiscal impact. In practice, the State Ports Authority has been setting fees for the services they provide since 1945. This section simply provides the Ports Authority with explicit statutory fee setting authority.

HOUSE BILL 1685:
Four Oaks Annexation/Deannexation

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Rep. Daughtry
Date:	August 6, 2002	Analysis by:	Martha Walston
Version:	PCS		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1685 is a local bill that annexes five tracts to the Town of Four Oaks in Johnston County and de-annexes one tract.

1. The five tracts to be annexed are owned by the Johnston County Board of Education. The new Four Oaks Middle School has been built on the property, and the School Board wants to be able to access municipal services.
2. The one tract to be de-annexed is not contiguous to the corporate limits and no longer has a business on its premises. The owner of the tract has requested the de-annexation.

The Town Board of Commissioners has approved both the annexation and de-annexation.

CURRENT LAW: Annexation is one method that a town may employ to extend its corporate limits, and the process must be done in accordance with Article 4A of Chapter 160A. Annexation may be either voluntary or involuntary. A voluntary annexation requires that the governing board of a municipality pass an ordinance upon presentation of a petition signed by the owners of all real property within the area to be annexed. An involuntary annexation requires, among other things, that the property meet certain characteristics:

- The area to be annexed must be adjacent or contiguous to the municipality's boundaries;
- At least 1/8 of the aggregate external boundaries of the area must coincide with the municipal boundary; and
- No part of the area may be included within the boundary of another incorporated municipality.

In addition to the requirements concerning location of the area in relation to the municipality's existing boundaries, the area must also be "developed for urban purposes" by meeting one of several standards concerning population, density, and development.

If property does not meet the statutory requirements for annexation, the municipality does not have the authority to annex the area. However, the General Assembly can extend the corporate limits of a municipality to encompass areas that the municipality would not statutorily have the authority to annex.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 of House Bill 1685 would add five tracts to the city limits of the Town of Four Oaks. On June 13, 2001, the Johnston County Board of Education passed a resolution requesting that the 5 tracts be annexed to the Town. The resolution states that the property was purchased by the Board of Education; that the Board intends to build Four Oaks Middle School on the property to be opened in the fall of 2002; and that the Board seeks the services of the closest medical, fire, law enforcement, and other related services. The Town Board of Commissioners approved the annexation on May 13, 2002. The Board of Education would like to have the property annexed as soon as possible because the new school opens in August.

Section 2 would de-annex a tract of property which is not contiguous to the town limits and which no longer has a business located on its premises. The property owner requested the de-annexation. The Town Board of Commissioner adopted a resolution to de-annex the property as of September 11, 2001, pending approval by the General Assembly.

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT ANY PROSPECTIVE APPLICANT FOR AN AIR QUALITY PERMIT FOR A NEW FACILITY MAY COMMENCE CONSTRUCTION PRIOR TO OBTAINING THE AIR QUALITY PERMIT TO OPERATE THAT FACILITY IF THE PROSPECTIVE APPLICANT SUBMITS A NOTICE OF THE CONSTRUCTION AND THAT ANY CURRENT HOLDER OF AN AIR QUALITY PERMIT MAY COMPLETE NEW CONSTRUCTION AT AN EXISTING PERMITTED FACILITY PRIOR TO OBTAINING THE AIR QUALITY PERMIT TO OPERATE THAT FACILITY IF THE PROSPECTIVE APPLICANT SUBMITS A NOTICE OF THE CONSTRUCTION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 143-215.108(a), as amended by Section 2 of S.L. 2002-4, reads as rewritten:

"(a) Except as provided in subsections (a1) and (a2) of this section, no person shall do any of the following things or carry out any of the following activities ~~which~~ that contravene or will be likely to contravene standards established pursuant to G.S. 143-215.107 or set out in G.S. 143-215.107D unless that person has obtained ~~from the Commission~~ a permit ~~therefor~~ from the Commission and has complied with any conditions of ~~this~~ the permit:

(1) Establish or operate any air contaminant ~~source;~~source, except as provided in G.S. 143-215.108A.

(2) Build, erect, use or operate any equipment ~~which~~ that may result in the emission of an air ~~contaminants~~contaminant or ~~which~~ that is likely to cause air ~~pollution;~~pollution, except as provided in G.S. 143-215.108A.

(3) Alter or change the construction or method of operation of any equipment or process from which air contaminants are or may be ~~emitted;~~emitted.

~~(4) Enter into an irrevocable contract for the construction and installation of any air-cleaning device, or allow or cause such device to be constructed, installed, or operated.~~"

SECTION 2. G.S. 143-215.108(f) reads as rewritten:

"(f) An applicant for a permit under this section for a new facility or for the expansion of a facility permitted under this section shall request each local government having jurisdiction over any part of the land on which the facility and its appurtenances are to be located to issue a determination as to whether the local government has in effect a zoning or subdivision ordinance applicable to the facility and whether the proposed facility or expansion would be consistent with the ordinance. The request to the local government shall be accompanied by a copy of the draft permit application and shall be delivered to the clerk of the local government personally or by certified mail. The determination shall be verified or supported by affidavit signed by the official designated by the local government to make the determination and, if the local government states that the facility is inconsistent with a zoning or subdivision ordinance, shall include a copy of the ordinance and the specific reasons for the determination of inconsistency. A copy of any such determination shall be provided to the applicant when it is submitted to the Commission. The Commission shall not act upon an application for a permit under this section until it has received a determination from each local government requested to make a determination by the applicant. If a local government determines that the new facility or the expansion of an existing facility is inconsistent with a zoning or subdivision ordinance, and unless ~~Unless~~ the local government makes a subsequent determination of consistency with all ordinances cited in the determination or the proposed facility is determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to be consistent with the cited ordinances, the Commission shall attach as a condition of the permit a requirement that the applicant, prior to ~~construction or~~ operation of the facility under the permit, comply with all lawfully adopted local ordinances, including those cited in the determination, that apply to the facility at the time of ~~construction or~~ operation of the facility. If a local government fails to submit a determination to the Commission as provided by this subsection within 15 days after receipt of the request, the Commission may proceed to consider the permit application without regard to local zoning and subdivision ordinances. This subsection shall not be construed to affect the validity of any lawfully adopted franchise, local zoning, subdivision, or land-use planning ordinance or to affect the responsibility of any person to comply with any lawfully adopted franchise, local zoning, subdivision, or land-use planning ordinance. This subsection shall not be construed to limit any opportunity a local government may have to comment on a permit application under any other law or rule. This subsection shall not apply to any facility with respect to which local ordinances are subject to review under either G.S. 104E-6.2 or G.S. 130A-293."

SECTION 3. Article 21B of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 143-215.108A. Control of sources of air pollution; construction of new facilities and the expansion of existing facilities.

(a) New Facilities. – A person may not, without obtaining a permit under G.S. 143-215.108, construct or operate an air contaminant source, equipment, or associated air-cleaning device at a site or facility where, at the time of the construction, there is no other air contaminant source, equipment, or device for which a permit is required under G.S. 143-215.108. A person may, however, construct any component of the facility that is peripheral to the operation of the air contaminant source, equipment, or associated air-cleaning device if the person complies with the requirements of this section. Peripheral construction includes grading, foundations, and structures not associated with an air contaminant source, equipment, or air-cleaning device. At least 30 days prior to commencing construction under this subsection, the person who owns the facility shall give notice by publication, and shall submit to the Commission a notice, of the person's intent to construct a facility for which a permit will be required under G.S. 143-215.108. Notice by publication shall be in a newspaper having general circulation in the county or counties where the facility is to be located; shall be at the person's own expense; shall include a statement that written comment may be submitted to the Commission, that the Commission will consider any comment that it receives during its review of the application for a permit, and the Commission's address for submission of written comment; and shall include all the information required by subdivisions (1) through (5) of this subsection. The person shall submit a proof of publication of the notice to the Commission within 15 days of the date of publication. The notice to the Commission shall include all of the following:

(1) The name and location of the proposed facility and the name and address of the person who will apply for a permit under G.S. 143-215.108.

(2) The nature of the air contaminant sources and equipment associated with the facility when constructed.

(3) An estimate of total regulated air contaminant emissions associated with the facility when constructed.

(4) The air-cleaning devices that are to be employed to address each of the air contaminant sources.

(5) The construction schedule for the proposed construction.

(6) An acknowledgment by the person that the actual air contaminant sources, equipment, and associated air-cleaning devices may not be constructed until the person has obtained a permit under G.S. 143-215.108.

(7) An acknowledgment by the person that any construction prior to the issuance of a permit under G.S. 143-215.108 is undertaken at the person's own risk and with the knowledge that the person may be denied a permit under G.S. 143-215.108 without regard to the person's financial investment or construction activities.

(8) A certification under oath that all of the information contained in the notice is complete and accurate to the best of the person's knowledge and ability, executed by the person or, if the person is a corporation, by the appropriate officers of the corporation.

(b) Permitted Facilities. – A person who holds a permit under G.S. 143-215.108 may apply to the Commission for a modification of the permit to allow the person to alter or expand the physical arrangement or operation of an air contaminant source, equipment, or the associated air-cleaning device in a manner that alters the emission of air contaminants. The permittee may not operate the altered, expanded, or additional air contaminant source, equipment, or associated air-cleaning devices in a manner that alters the emission of any air contaminant without obtaining a permit modification under G.S. 143-215.108. A permittee may, however, construct or modify any component of the facility that is peripheral to the operation of the air contaminant source, equipment, or associated air-cleaning device if the person complies with the requirements of this section. Peripheral construction includes grading, foundations, and structures not associated with an air contaminant source, equipment, or air-cleaning device. At least 30 days prior to commencing construction or modification under this subsection, the permittee shall give notice by publication, and shall submit to the Commission a notice, of the person's intent to construct a facility for which a permit modification will be required under G.S. 143-215.108. Notice by publication shall be in a newspaper having general circulation in the county or counties where the facility is located; shall be at the person's own expense; shall include a statement that written comment may be submitted to the Commission, that the Commission will consider any comment that it receives during its review of the application for a permit modification, and the Commission's address for submission of written comment; and shall include all the information required by subdivisions (1) through (6) of this subsection. The permittee shall submit a proof of publication of the notice to the Commission within 15 days of the date of publication. The notice to the Commission shall include all of the following:

(1) The name and location of the facility and the name and address of the permittee.

(2) The permit number of each permit issued under G.S. 143-215.108 for the facility.

(3) The nature of the air contaminant sources and equipment associated with the proposed modification of the permit.

(4) An estimate of total regulated air contaminant emissions associated with the proposed modification of the permit.

(5) The air-cleaning devices that are to be employed to address each of the air contaminant sources associated with the modification of the permit.

(6) The construction schedule associated with the proposed modification of the permit.

(7) An acknowledgment by the permittee that the air contaminant sources, equipment, and associated air-cleaning devices may not be operated in a manner that alters the emission of any air contaminant until the permittee has obtained a modified permit under G.S. 143-215.108.

(8) An acknowledgment by the permittee that any construction prior to the modification of a permit under G.S. 143-215.108 is undertaken at the permittee's own risk and with the knowledge that the permittee may be denied a modification of the permit under G.S. 143-215.108 without regard to the permittee's financial investment or construction activities.

(9) A certification under oath that all of the information contained in the notice is complete and accurate to the best of the permittee's knowledge and ability, executed by the permittee or, if the permittee is a corporation, by the appropriate officers of the corporation.

(c) Review and Determination by the Commission. – Upon receipt of the notice to the Commission required under subsection (a) or (b) of this section, the Commission may review the information contained in the notice, investigate the site or facility, and comment on the proposed facility or permit modification. If at any time during construction the Commission determines that there is a significant likelihood that a person or permittee will not qualify for a permit or permit modification under G.S. 143-215.108, the Commission may request in writing that the person or permittee submit, within 15 days of receipt of the request, specific additional information related to the reasons that give rise to the determination. If, after reviewing any additional information submitted by the person or permittee, the Commission again determines that there is a significant likelihood that a person or permittee will not qualify for a permit or permit modification under G.S. 143-215.108, the Commission may request that the plans for the construction be altered in order to address the anticipated inability of the person or permittee to qualify for a permit or permit modification or the Commission may order that construction or modification cease. If the Commission orders that construction or modification cease, then construction may resume only if the Commission either makes a subsequent determination that the circumstances that resulted in the determination that resulted in the order to cease construction or modification have been adequately addressed or the Commission issues a permit or permit modification under G.S. 143-215.108 that authorizes construction to resume. Any order by the Commission that construction cease shall be in writing and shall set forth specific reasons for the determination that the person or permittee will not qualify for a permit.

(d) Evaluation of Permit Applications; Administrative and Judicial Review of Permit Decisions. – The Commission shall evaluate an application for a permit or permit modification under G.S. 143-215.108 and make its decision on the same basis as if the construction allowed under this section had not occurred. The Commission shall consider any written comment that it receives in response to a notice by publication given pursuant to subsection (a) or (b) of this section. No evidence regarding any financial investment made, construction activity undertaken, or economic loss incurred by any person or permittee who proceeds under this section without first obtaining a permit under G.S. 143-215.108 is admissible in any contested case or judicial proceeding involving any permit required under G.S. 143-215.108.

(e) State, Commission, and Employees Not Liable. – Every person, permittee, and owner of a facility who proceeds under this section shall hold the State, the Commission, and the officials, agents, and employees of the State and the Commission harmless and not liable for any loss resulting from any construction or modification undertaken by any person, permittee, or owner of any facility pursuant to this section.

(f) Local Zoning Ordinances Not Affected. – This section shall not be construed to affect the validity of any lawfully adopted franchise, local zoning, subdivision, or land-use planning ordinance or to affect the responsibility of any person to comply with any lawfully adopted franchise, local zoning, subdivision, or land-use planning ordinance.

(g) Federal Air Quality Programs Not Affected. – This section does not relieve any person from any preconstruction or construction prohibition imposed by any federal requirement, federal delegation, federally approved requirement in any State Implementation Plan, or federally approved requirement under the Title V permitting program, as determined solely by the Commission or by a local air pollution control program certified by the Commission as provided in G.S. 143-215.112. This section does not apply to any construction or modification that is subject to requirements for prevention of significant deterioration or federal nonattainment new source review, as determined solely by the Commission or by a local air pollution control program certified by the Commission as provided in G.S. 143-215.112. This section does not apply if it is inconsistent with any federal requirement, federal delegation, federally approved requirement in any State Implementation Plan, or federally approved requirement under the Title V permitting program, as determined solely by the Commission or by a local air pollution control program certified by the Commission as provided in G.S. 143-215.112.

(h) Not Applicable to Asphalt Plants. – This section shall not apply to any facility for the manufacture, sale, or distribution of asphalt. No person may construct, modify, or operate any component of any facility for the manufacture, sale, or distribution of asphalt until the person has obtained all permits that will be required for any air contaminant source, equipment, or associated air-cleaning device at the facility.

(i) Fee. – A person or permittee who submits a notice of construction under subsection (a) or subsection (b) of this section shall pay a fee of two hundred dollars ($200.00) for each notice submitted to cover a portion of the administrative costs of implementing this section."

SECTION 4. This act is effective when it becomes law and applies to construction of any new facility and construction associated with the modification of a permit for an existing facility that commences on or after the date on which this act becomes law. This act does not apply to any application for a permit or permit modification under G.S. 143-215.108 that is submitted to the Environmental Management Commission prior to the date on which this act becomes law.

(c) Review and Determination by the Commission. – Upon receipt of the notice to the Commission required under subsection (a) or (b) of this section, the Commission may review the information contained in the notice, investigate the site or facility, and comment on the proposed facility or permit modification. If at any time during construction the Commission determines that there is a significant likelihood that a person or permittee will not qualify for a permit or permit modification under G.S. 143-215.108, the Commission may request in writing that the person or permittee submit, within 15 days of receipt of the request, specific additional information related to the reasons that give rise to the determination. (g) Federal Air Quality Programs Not Affected. – This section does not relieve any person from any preconstruction or construction prohibition imposed by any federal requirement, federal delegation, federally approved requirement in any State Implementation Plan, or federally approved requirement under the Title V permitting program, as determined solely by the Commission or by a local air pollution control program certified by the Commission as provided in G.S. 143-215.112. This section does not apply to any construction or modification that is subject to requirements for prevention of significant deterioration or federal nonattainment new source review, as determined solely by the Commission or by a local air pollution control program certified by the Commission as provided in G.S. 143-215.112. SENATE BILL 1037:
No Air Pmt. Req. Until Facility Operational.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Senator Hoyle
Date:	August 7, 2002	Summary by:	George Givens, Committee Counsel Tim Dodge Research Assistant
Version:	4th Edition

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1037 would modify the procedures required before construction, expansion, modification, or operation of an air contaminant source and its components can commence. The bill would establish notification and review procedures for permit applicants, establish an application fee, and prohibit the use of economic and financial losses incurred by a person who proceeds without a permit as evidence during administrative and judicial review of permit decisions. The 4th edition of the bill also requires notice by publication of an owner's intent to expand, modify, or operate an air contaminant source, and would require the notice to include the name and address information on the facility and the applicant.

The bill would become effective when it becomes law.

BACKGROUND: G.S 143-215.108 prohibits a person from carrying out activities that may contravene the air quality or emission control standards established by the Environmental Management Commission (EMC) under G.S. 143-215.107 unless the person has applied for and received a permit from the EMC. These laws prohibit the construction, alteration, or entering into an irrevocable contract for the construction or installation of any air contaminant source without a permit from the EMC.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate 1037 modifies G.S. 143-215.108 and adds a new G.S. 143-215.108A to clearly delineate the point at which a permit approved by the EMC becomes necessary for air contaminant sources during construction, expansion, modification, or operation. The bill makes the following changes:

Consistency with local government ordinances:

Current law (G.S. 143-215.108(f)) requires facilities to be consistent with local ordinances prior to construction or operation. The bill amends G.S. 143-215.108(f) to require persons proposing to construct or expand to ensure the facility or expansion is consistent with local zoning or subdivision ordinances prior to *operation. The bill also adds a subsection (f) to G.S. 143-215.108A that states that the new section does not affect the validity of any lawfully adopted franchise, local zoning, subdivision, or land-use planning ordinance or affect the responsibility of any person to comply with any local ordinance.

Procedures for construction of new air pollution facilities:

The bill authorizes a person to construct components of a facility that are not integral to the operation of the air contaminant source or equipment prior to obtaining an air permit, but the person must obtain a permit prior to construction or operation of the actual air contaminant source, equipment, or associated air-cleaning devices. Facilities would be required to notify the EMC at least 15 days prior to commencing construction and provide the EMC with the following information:

1. The name and location of the proposed facility and the name and address of the permit applicant.
2. The nature of the proposed contaminant source.
3. An estimate of regulated emissions.
4. The air cleaning devices that will be employed to address each contaminant source.
5. The expected construction schedule.
6. An acknowledgement by the person that the actual air contaminant sources may not be constructed until the permit is obtained.
7. An acknowledgement that any construction of an air contaminant source prior to the receipt of an operation permit will be performed at the applicant's own risk.
8. A certification under oath of the accuracy of the notice of construction.

The bill would also require the person who owns the facility to give notice by publication in a newspaper having general circulation in the county or counties where the facility would be located at least 15 days prior to construction. The notice by publication shall include the first five items listed above.

Procedures for facilities currently holding a permit:

The bill would allow a person that holds a current permit to modify a facility or emission source prior to obtaining a modified permit, but if the modification would alter the emissions from the facility, the facility must obtain a modified permit prior to operation of the modified emissions source. Notification requirements would be similar to those for a new facility and would require the following information:

1. The name and location of the proposed facility and the name and address of the permit applicant.
2. The current permit number.
3. The nature of the contaminant sources and equipment associated with the modification.
4. An estimate of regulated emissions under the proposed modification.
5. The air cleaning devices that will be employed to address each contaminant source.
6. The expected construction schedule.
7. An acknowledgement by the permittee that the actual air contaminant sources may not be operated in a manner that alters the permitted emissions until a modified permit is obtained.
8. An acknowledgement that any construction of an air contaminant source prior to the receipt of a modified operation permit will be performed at the permittee's own risk.
9. A certification under oath of the accuracy of the notice of construction or modification.

Review and Determination by the EMC:

Following receipt of a notice of construction, the EMC may review the information contained in the notice, investigate the site or facility, and comment on the proposed facility. If the EMC determines that there is a significant likelihood that a person or permittee will not qualify for a permit or modified permit, the EMC may request in writing that the person submit specific additional information. Upon review of the additional information, if the EMC determines that there continues to be a significant likelihood that a person or permittee would not qualify for a permit, the EMC may request that the plans be altered or may order that construction cease until the EMC issues a permit or permit modification that authorizes construction to resume.

Administrative and Judicial Review of Permit Decisions:

The bill would prohibit the use of prior financial investment, construction activity undertaken, or economic loss incurred as evidence by a person or permittee who proceeds with construction, expansion, or modification without first obtaining a permit. Under current law, a person or permittee may contest a decision based on dissatisfaction arising from any issue. The bill also directs the EMC to consider any written comment that it receives in response to the public notice.

State, EMC, and Employees Not Liable:

The State, EMC, and their employees shall not be held liable for any loss incurred by a person, permittee, or owner of a facility as a result of the enforcement of the provisions of the bill.

Federal Air Quality Programs Not Affected:

G.S. 143-215.108A would not affect a person's duty to comply with any federal requirement, federal delegation, federally approved requirement in any State Implementation Plan, or federally approved requirement under the Title V permitting program, nor would G.S. 143-215.108A apply if it is inconsistent with any federal requirement. The bill would also not apply to any construction or modification that is subject to the requirements for prevention of significant deterioration or federal nonattainment new source review.

Fee:

The applicant or permittee shall pay a processing fee of two hundred dollars ($200.00) at the time of notification.

Effective Date:

The bill would become effective when it becomes law and would apply to construction of any new facility and construction associated with the modification of a permit for an existing facility that commences on or after that date.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Environment and Natural Resources – Division of Air Quality; Environmental Management Commission

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill is effective when it becomes law and applies to construction of any new facility and construction associated with the modification of a permit for an existing facility that commences on or after that date.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill modifies the procedures required before construction, expansion, modification, or operation of an air contaminant source and its components can commence. The bill establishes notification and review procedures for permit applicants, establishes a $200 application fee, and denies the use of economic and financial losses incurred by a person who proceeds without a permit as evidence during administrative and judicial review of permit decisions.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The Division of Air Quality cannot easily estimate the number of notices of construction that will be issued under Section 3(f) of the bill. The Division normally makes 1,000 to 1,500 air quality permit decisions per year, of which 500 are renewals where no construction is needed. Thus the maximum number of persons utilizing the notice of construction powers of SB 1037 is 1,000 with resulting revenues of $200,000. However, the Division believes only a few notices will be issued because the majority of applicants will want to obtain their permits before doing any construction. The Division estimates only a few thousand dollars in fees from this new notice.

Re: NC SENATE BILL 1037 "No Air Permit Required Until Facility Operational"

S1037 would undermine the public the health protections of NC Toxic Air Pollutant laws

The NC Toxic Air Pollutant (TAP) program (15A NCAC 2D .1100) is health based and requires a plant operator to comply with toxic air pollution limits at the property line of the facility. Air toxics include carcinogens such as arsenic, benzene, cadmium, and formaldehyde. Location of a plant is often determined by the TAP rules; the location of components of a facility—foundation, walls, roof, vents. etc.—may all affect pollution levels at the property line. At present, before construction begins, DAQ's air pollutant computer modeling engineers assess the impacts of wind and terrain on pollution. Structures downwind from the smokestack may cause high levels of pollution, known as the cavitation effect. By allowing construction before permitting, S1037 would effectively eliminate the TAP review process and expose plant neighbors to unsafe levels of air toxins.

S1037 would undercut air pollution reductions enacted by the General Assembly in 2002

S1037 runs counter to statewide calls for air pollution reduction and public health protection. Recent amendments to S1037—Section 3(g) version 4, "Federal Air Quality Programs Not Affected"— provide false assurances. For example, New Source Review under the federal Clean Air Act is now being rolled back by the EPA in Washington, DC. New Source Review affects permitting of new sources and modifications of existing sources. With NSR is undermined, North Carolina must rely on its own rules to protect public health from toxic air pollution. The General Assembly recently enacted its own air pollution control bill for coal-fired power plants because of the federal government's failure to do so. The General Assembly would be giving with one hand and taking with the other if S1037 is approved.

S1037 is at odds with existing North Carolina law.

On February 8, 2001 the NC Dept. of Justice explained the current interpretation of construction and operation under NCGS 143-215.108: "The legislature juxtaposed the terms 'build' and 'erect' with 'use' and 'operate.' If 'build' and 'erect' were interpreted to refer to the completed act of building, there would be little if any practical difference between those terms and 'use' or 'operate.'" (emphasis added) DOJ stated that NC Environmental Management Commission regulation 15A NCAC 2Q .0301 confirmed this distinction, adding, "Thus, a person 'shall not begin' 'on-site fabrication, erection, [or] installation' of a source if that activity 'results in a change in emissions or affects the compliance status.' Clearly the construction of a new facility results in a 'change in emissions' from zero to some amount." (emphasis added) S1037 conflicts with the decision of the North Carolina Attorney General.

MINUTES
HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

August 14, 2002

The House Committee on Finance met on Thursday, August 14, 2002, at 8:30 A.M. in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building.

Representative Paul Luebke, Presiding Chair, called the meeting to order and the following members were present: Representatives Gordon Allen, Monroe Buchanan, and William Wainwright, Chairs; Representatives Dewey Hill and Mary Jarrell, Vice Chairs; Representatives Russell Capps, Leslie Cox, Michael Decker, Andrew Dedmon, Beverly Earle, Rick Eddins, Pryor Gibson, Lyons Gray, Joe Hackney, Bill Hurley, Linda Johnson, Daniel McComas, Eugene McCombs, Edwin McMahan, Mia Morris, Art Pope, John Rayfield, Jennifer Weiss, Shelly Willingham, Constance Wilson, and Larry Womble. Staff members present were Trina Griffin, Martha Walston, Linda Millsaps, and Gerry Cohen. A Visitor Registration Sheet is attached and made a part of these minutes.

Pages serving the committee were Jason Martin, Wake County, Merriweather Baidle, Wake County, and Daniel Furlough, Wake County.

Sergeants-at-Arms serving the committee were Dusty Rhodes, Bob Fowler, Walter Spell and Matt Myers.

HOUSE BILL 1630, AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE DIVISION OF MOTOR VEHICLES TO ISSUE NASCAR DRIVER THEME SPECIAL REGISTRATION PLATES, was before the committee. Representatives Andrew Dedmon and Wayne Goodwin, co-sponsors, came forth to explain the bill.

Rep. Womble moved that the Proposed Committee Substitute for HB 1630 be before the committee for consideration.

Rep. Goodwin said that HB 1630 added a specialty license plate for NASCAR racing teams and drivers. The Department of Motor Vehicles would issue the plate and set the fee at $30.00. The $30.00 fee was an addition to the $20.00 license registration fee. It would generate substantial revenue, estimated to be in excess of $1.5 million dollars. The revenue would go into the Specialty Plate Registration Account that paid all the expenses of specialty plates. He said that funds from the account would support seven visitors' centers, travel and tourism, highway beautification and travel accessibility for disabled persons. Race Plate Marketing would enter into a contract with the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue the plates.

Henry W. Jones, Jr., Race Plate Marketing, Ltd., said that Race Plate Marketing had the contract with NASCAR to market the plates. He explained that each team and driver had its own logo and design. Race Plate contracted with the individual teams to get the right logos and designs and provided these to the states.

Carol Howard, Department of Motor Vehicles, expressed concerns about the plates, one being the number of plates that DMV was approving, 25 or 30 at least, and the precedent that this would establish in dealing with royalties and licensing logos. DMV wanted these issues to be worked out in the bill, rather than through an agreement.

Rep. Womble brought up issues regarding licensure, royalties, and advertisement and Rep. Hackney was concerned about setting a precedent in advertising for-profit corporations on North Carolina license plates.

Rep. Hurley wanted to know why visitors' centers on I-95 were not included in benefits from the sale of these plates and wanted an amendment to add visitors' centers on I-95 and I-85, in addition to centers on U.S. highways already addressed in current law.

Rep. Johnson commended the bill because NASCAR was currently a large revenue producer and she thought this would generate millions of dollars for the State coffers.

Jon Carr, Race Plate Marketing, Ltd., said that there would be a royalty fee paid from the sales of plates. The royalty fee would be considered an expense of producing the plate and would be paid out of the $30.00 fee.

Rep. Decker was concerned about where the royalty was being paid – the $20.00 normal plate fee or the $30.00 specialty plate fee. After Stephanie Schmidt explained that she believed it came from the $30.00, Rep. Decker recommended support of the bill.

Rep. Hackney stated that a private corporation had hired lobbyists to get the GA to have public license plates available to pay it royalties and he wanted to know how much the royalties would be. Ms. Howard answered that in checking with other states, the part that went to NASCAR and to Race Plates would be approximately 20-25% of the $30.00 fee. Rep. Hackney also said there is no distinction between this and restaurant chains and felt that the State could not distinguish between one set of businesses and another in granting legislative authority to advertise on State license plates.

Rep. Pope questioned the constitutionality under Article II, Prohibition of Local and Private Acts. He said this bill was intended for a private business. The Act was not a private or special act; therefore, he felt the bill was unconstitutional.

Rep. Allen moved that H.B. 1630 be sent to a sub-committee for further study. Rep. Luebke indicated that the co-chairs would appoint a sub-committee as soon as possible.

HOUSE BILL 1751, AN ACT TO CREATE A TRAVEL AND TOURISM CAPITAL INCENTIVE GRANT PROGRAM, was on the agenda for consideration. Rep. Earle and Rep. McMahan, co-sponsors, appeared before the committee to explain the bill.

Rep. Buchanan moved that the Proposed Committee Substitute be before the committee for discussion.

Rep. Earle said that H. B. 1751 offered incentives to the North Carolina tourism industry and cited the importance of tourism to the State's economy. She felt we needed to encourage and support new projects.

Rep. McMahan also said we need to work hard to promote the tourism industry and this bill helped provide incentives for the industry. Other states do this and this bill is patterned after Kentucky.

Rep. McComas spoke of the erosion of North Carolina's tourist dollar to Virginia and South Carolina and hoped this bill would help eliminate the erosion.

Martha Walston said the purpose of the grants was to induce the creation of new or expansion or renovation of existing travel and tourism projects and she explained the application process for the grants. The three-member committee consisting of the Secretary of Revenue, Director of the Office of State Budget and Management, and the Secretary of Commerce, must review a feasibility study funded by the applicant. The grant money must only be used for capital costs and she explained the formula for determining the amount of the grant. No more than ten projects per year may be awarded grants.

Linda Millsaps said that this program essentially moved money that would be generated as State sales tax revenue. It took money from general fund sales tax and returned a portion of the money to local governments or local government/private partnerships to allow them to fund capital costs and debt service. Expenditures from this grant program, from a fiscal note basis, would show up as a loss to the State. She said the duration of the program was three years, with a maximum of thirty projects.

Chairman Luebke stated that after leaving the Finance Committee, this bill would be sent to Appropriations because it involved a question of grants.

James Hobbs, President of the N. C. Hotel & Lodging Association, Inc., spoke in favor of the bill. He said the legislation was supported by the travel and tourism industry, including the North Carolina Travel and Tourism Coalition and asked for the support of the bill.

No action was taken on the bill due to a lengthy question and answer session. Discussion on the bill was to be continued on Thursday, August 15, 2002.

There being no further business, the Chair adjourned the meeting at 9:50 A.M. to reconvene on Thursday, August 15, 2002.

Respectfully submitted,

Representative Paul Luebke

HOUSE BILL 1630:
NASCAR Driver Theme Special Plates

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Rep. Dedmon and Goodwin
Date:	August 13, 2002	Analysis by:	Martha Walston Committee Counsel
Version:	H1630-PCS6479-Laf-82

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for HB 1630 authorizes the DMV to issue Racing Theme special license plates for an additional $30.00 fee. This additional fee will go to the Special Registration Plate Account. The Racing Theme replacement fee will be $25.00, instead of the usual replacement fee of $10.00. SB 1370 is a companion bill.

CURRENT LAW: The General Assembly has authorized the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue many different registration plates. Most of these plates are not issued until at least 300 applications are received. The DMV has issued at least 87 special license plates. Applicants for the special license plates must pay the regular motor vehicle registration plate fee, and most applicants must also pay an additional fee. The additional fee is credited to the Special Registration Plate Account. After deducting the cost of the plates from this Account, $525,000 is annually appropriated to provide operating assistance for seven Visitor Centers. The Centers are located in Brunswick, Camden, Carteret, Caswell, Macon, Tyrrell, and Watauga Counties. The remaining revenue in the Account is transferred quarterly to the Department of Commerce for advertising (33%), the Department of Transportation for highway beautification (50%), and the Department of Health and Human Services to promote travel accessibility for disabled persons in the State (17%).

BILL ANALYSIS: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1630 directs the DMV to issue a Racing Theme special license plate for an additional fee of $30.00. The full additional amount will go into the Special Registration Plate Account. The special plate may bear an emblem, seal, other symbol or design displaying themes of National Association of Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR), or a NASCAR team or NASCAR driver. The DMV will not develop a plate without a license to use copyrighted or registered words, symbols, trademarks, or designs. Notwithstanding the Umstead Act, the DMV may enter into agreements with a person authorized to provide the State with such a license. The DMV may also contract for the production of blank plates in the series, provided the plates meet or exceed the State's expectations. The plate shall be designed in consultation with and approved by the person authorized to provide the license.

The DMV may require at least 300 applications before a plate in the series is issuable, or may develop the plate without the minimum number of applications if the person providing the State with the license produces the plate for the State without a minimum order quantity. The cost of the special plate shall include all costs to produce blank plates.

The cost for a replacement Racing Theme special plate shall be $25.00. The general replacement application fee is $10.00.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) to issue a series of plates with themes of the National Association of Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR). The DMV may enter into agreements with any person authorized to provide the State with the license to use the words, symbols, trademarks, or designs associated with the plate. The DMV may also contract for the production of blank plates in this series, provided the plates meet or exceed the State's specifications. The NASCAR license plate will not be a "First in Flight" plate.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Highway Fund – Special Registration Plate Account

In addition to the normal $20 vehicle registration fee for private passenger vehicles, each applicant for a NASCAR themed plate pays $30 that is deposited into the Special Registration Plate Account.

According to the Division of Motor Vehicles, there is a one-time cost of approximately $100 to design a new plate. There is also a production cost of approximately $3.00 per plate based on one color design. The cost per plate will increase if more color is added or the design is complex. The proposed legislation would allow the DMV to contract out the production of the special plates. It is not known how much such a contract would cost compared to internal production, but costs can be expected to increase due to NASCAR royalties of up to $7.50 for each plate (25% of the extra $30 cost).

According to Race Plates Marketing, LLC, a leading source for NASCAR driver license plates, and Motor Vehicle departments across various states, there are approximately 5 states that currently allow registered NASCAR special plates on licensed vehicles. West Virginia, as the first state to add NASCAR special plates, issued 4,053 plates in its first year with special registration fees of $65 for one year and $120 for two years. WV now estimates it has issued over 16,000 special NASCAR plates. Alternatively, Alabama was unable to reach the minimum number of orders required to begin issuing NASCAR plates, thus the implementation plans ceased in May 2002. South Carolina, Mississippi and Virginia have recently passed NASCAR special plate legislation and are beginning to make plans for issuing the plates. Many more states allow designer collector's plates to be made with their state name or insignia.

Because there is no way of knowing how many North Carolina citizens will apply for the plate, no accurate fiscal estimate is possible on either the revenue or expenditure side of this piece of the legislation.

Replacement Fee

Section 5 of the bill adds a $25 fee for each set of replacement registration plates issued under the revised statute. The replacement registration fee for a standard plate is $10. Currently, the DMV replaces less than 1% of plates annually; however, the NASCAR special plates might be more susceptible to theft and loss. It is not possible to estimate how many plates will need replacement.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO CREATE A TRAVEL AND TOURISM CAPITAL INCENTIVE GRANT PROGRAM.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Part 2 of Article 10 of Chapter 143B of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 143B-434.4. Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program.

(a) Program Established. – There is established the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program. Under the program, the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee established in subsection (c) of this section may award grants to the owners of qualified projects for the purpose of inducing the creation of new or the expansion or renovation of existing travel and tourism projects. The Committee shall develop guidelines to be used in determining whether the conditions in this section are satisfied and whether the project described in the application is consistent with the grant program.

(b) Owner Defined. – For the purpose of the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program, the owner of a qualified project is the unit of local government that will own the qualified project in whole or in an equal partnership with a private individual or entity.

(c) Committee. – The Travel and Tourism Grant Committee shall consist of the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Revenue, and the Director of the Office of State Budget and Management. The Committee may act only upon a unanimous decision of its members. It is unlawful for a member of the Committee to, within two years after the end of service on the Committee, provide services for compensation, as an employee, consultant, or otherwise, to any project that was awarded a grant under this section while the former member was serving on the Committee. Violation of this subsection is a Class 1 misdemeanor. Meetings of the Committee are subject to the open meetings requirements of Article 33C of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes. All documents of the Committee, including applications for grants, are public records governed by Chapter 132 of the General Statutes, including applicable provisions of that Chapter protecting confidential information.

(d) Application and Fee. – The owner of a qualified project may apply for a grant no later than one year after the qualified project is opened to the public. When filing an application under this section, the taxpayer must pay the Committee a fee of five thousand dollars ($5,000). The fee is due at the time the application is filed. The Committee shall determine the allocation of the fee imposed by this subsection among the agencies whose heads make up the Committee. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the agency to which they are credited. The application must contain all information required by the Committee, including a certification of the nature and cost of the tourism project, the estimated revenues to be generated by the project, the estimated economic benefit to the community, and the purposes for which the applicant will use the grant funds. If the tourism project is the result of a public-private partnership, the grant application must set forth in detail the respective rights and obligations of the parties and the specific terms of the agreement. The application must be signed by the finance officer and the chair of the governing body of the owner.

(e) Qualification. – A qualified project is a travel and tourism project that the Committee determines, pursuant to a feasibility study under this section, meets all of the following conditions:

(1) At least half of the project will be financed and owned by a unit of local government in which it is located.

(2) The project will target at least thirty-five percent (35%) of its visitors from among persons who reside outside the State or more than 100 miles from the project.

(3) The project has a business plan that demonstrates a positive economic impact.

(4) The applicant has provided impact projections regarding estimated State and local tax revenues with respect to the project.

(5) The project will have a significant and positive impact on the community, considering among other factors, the extent to which the tourism project will compete directly with existing tourism attractions in the area and the amount by which tax revenues from the tourism project will exceed the amount of the grant provided.

(6) The applicant has provided a cost-benefit analysis of the project.

(7) The applicant has provided an economic impact analysis demonstrating the employment, gross state product, and personal income effects of the project over a 10-year period.

(8) The project will be available to the public for a minimum of 100 days per year.

(9) The project will generate at least 10 new jobs in the local area.

(10) The project will have the following minimum cost based on the enterprise tier in which it is located:

Enterprise Tier	Minimum Cost
1 and 2	$ 1,000,000

3 and 4	$10,000,000
5	$20,000,000

(f) Feasibility Study. – The applicant must fund a feasibility study coordinated solely by the Committee. The Committee shall develop a list of qualified firms to conduct the study. The Committee shall prescribe the scope of the study to cover all of the qualifications established in this section.

(g) Amount. – Subject to the maximums provided in this section, the amount of a grant with respect to a qualified project is calculated as a percentage of the total amount of the following taxes collected by the State each year:

(1) The net State sales tax collected on sales by or within the qualified project, as identified to the Department of Revenue.

(2) The net privilege tax paid by the qualified project under G.S. 105-37.1, as identified to the Department of Revenue.

(h) Maximums. – The Committee shall set the grant percentage at the time it awards the grant. The percentage used to calculate a grant may not exceed the applicable percentage provided in the table below based on the enterprise tier, as defined in G.S. 105-129.3, in which the qualified project is located. In addition, the cumulative maximum amount of a grant may not exceed the applicable percentage of the total project cost provided in the table below based on the enterprise tier in which the qualified project is located.

Enterprise Tier	Percentage
1 and 2	35
3 and 4	30

(i) Use. – The proceeds of a grant may be used only for capital costs, including debt service, with respect to the qualified project for which the grant was awarded.

(j) Disbursement. – In order to receive grant disbursements under this section, the owner of the qualified project must provide the Department of Revenue with periodic, verified accountings of the tax collections provided in subsection (f) of this section. These reports must be made at the times and in the form prescribed by the Department of Revenue. Each report must include the name, address, and tax identification number of every taxpayer whose collections are included in the report and any other information required by the Department of Revenue.

The Department of Revenue must disburse grants awarded under this section in accordance with G.S. 105-269.16. Upon awarding a grant under this section, the Committee must provide the following information to the Department of Revenue:

(1) The name, address, and other identifying information of the owner to whom the grant was awarded.

(2) The address and other identifying information of each facility that is part of the qualified project for which the grant was awarded.

(3) The applicable percentage and the maximum cumulative amount of the grant as determined in accordance with this section.

(4) Any other information included in the application, if required by the Department of Revenue.

(k) Reports. – The Committee must report annually to the Revenue Laws Study Committee concerning the applications made for grants and the grants awarded under this section.

(l) Cap - The maximum number of projects that may be awarded grants each fiscal year is ten."

SECTION 2. Article 9 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-269.16. Travel and tourism grants.

The Department must annually disburse the travel and tourism grants awarded under G.S. 143B-434.4. Each annual disbursement must be made by October 1 for the preceding fiscal year. The amount of each grant must be calculated in accordance with G.S. 143B-434.4 based on information provided to the Department by the owner of the qualified project. If information necessary to calculate a portion of a grant is not available, the Department must disburse only that portion for which information is available. To pay for this program, the Department must draw from State sales and use tax collections under Article 5 of this Chapter an amount equal to the grant funds disbursed and the Department's costs of administering the grants. The Department must provide the Committee an annual accounting of grant funds disbursed under this section."

SECTION 3. G.S. 150B-1(d) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(d) Exemptions from Rule Making. – Article 2A of this Chapter does not apply to the following:

....

(10) The Travel and Tourism Grant Committee in developing guidelines for the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program under G.S. 143B-434.4 of the General Statutes."

SECTION 4. This act becomes effective January 1, 2003, and expires for grant applications filed on or after July 1, 2005.

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1751 creates the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program. The act becomes effective January 1, 2003, and expires for grant applications filed on or after July 1, 2005.

Grant recipient - Grants may be awarded to a unit of local government who owns a qualified project in whole or in an equal partnership with a private individual or entity.

Qualified project - A qualified project is a travel and tourism project that the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee determines, pursuant to a feasibility study, meets the following conditions.

1. At least half of the project will be financed and owned by a unit of local government in which it is located
2. The project will target at least 35% of its visitors from among persons who reside outside the State or more than 100 miles from the project.
3. The project has a business plan that demonstrates a positive economic impact.
4. The applicant has provided impact projections regarding estimated State and local tax revenues with respect to the project.
5. The project will have a significant and positive impact on the community, considering among other factors, the extent to which the tourism project will compete directly with existing tourism attractions in the area and the amount by which tax revenues from the tourism project will exceed the amount of the grant provided.

7. The applicant has provided an economic impact analysis demonstrating the employment, gross state product, and personal income effects of the project over a 10-year period.
8. The project will be available to the public for a minimum of 100 days per year.
9. The project will generate at least 10 new jobs in the local area.
10. The project will have the following minimum cost based on the enterprise tier in which it is located:

3 and 4	$10,000,000
5	$20,000,000

Amount of the grant - The amount of the grant is determined by multiplying the sum of the total amount of sales taxes collected on sales by or within the qualified project and the net privilege taxes paid by the qualifying project times an enterprise tier percentage, with maximum percentages outlined in the bill (35% tier 1 and 2, 30% tier 3 and 4, and 25% for tier 5). These same percentages apply to the maximum amount of the total project cost that can be funded through the program.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Travel and Tourism Grant Committee, NC Department of Revenue, and local governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 1, 2003

BILL SUMMARY: The bill creates the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant program to be administered by the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee. The program offers grants to local governments who own "qualifying projects" that meet the following criteria: 1) the project is financed and owned (in whole or at least in 50% partnership) by the unit of local government in which it is located, 2) the project will target 35% or more of its visitors from at least 100 miles away or out of state, 3) the project has a business plan that indicates that project will be profitable, 4) the applicant provides tax impact projections, 5) the project will have a significant and positive impact on the community, 6) the project will be open at least 100 days per year, 7) the project will generate at least ten new jobs in the local area, and 8) the projects will meet a minimum cost criteria based on the North Carolina enterprise tier in which it is located. The grant amount is determined by multiplying the total amount of sales taxes collected on sales by or within the qualified program and the net privilege taxes paid by the qualifying project by an enterprise tier based percentage, with maximum percentages outlined in the bill (35% tier 1 and 2, 30% tier 3 and 4, and 25% for tier 5). These same percentages apply to the maximum amounts of the total project cost that can be funded through this grant program. The Travel and Tourism Grant Committee is charged with determining if all project criteria are met and the percentages used to calculate the grant amount. Grant funds can only be used for capital costs, including debt service. To receive a grant disbursement, the project owner must provide the Department of Revenue with periodic, verified accounting of the tax collections. Annual disbursements based on this information must be made by the Department of Revenue by October 1 of each year and should reflect tax collections from that project for the previous fiscal year. The Department is only required to distribute funds based on data provided by the owner. If appropriate data is not provided to justify a complete payment, a partial payment can be made to reflect the information provided. Applicants must fund a feasibility study coordinated and directed by the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee and pay a $5,000 application fee. The funds to pay for the grants and the associated departmental costs are drawn from State sales and use tax revenues. The grant application period for the bill sunsets July 1, 2005, although payments for grants authorized before that date will continue to be made. Only ten (10) grants can be awarded per year.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Impact on Revenue

The bill effectively earmarks a proportion of state tax revenue drawn from a particular qualifying project and returns that funding to the institution to fund capital costs and debt service. The proportion returned varies by location and other factors. The bill would allow funding for ten projects a year, with a maximum of thirty grants awarded before the July 1, 2005 sunset. At present Fiscal Research is aware of several potential projects that have already reach the planning stages, primarily arenas and convention centers, that could easily qualify for these grants, although local government officials indicate that many local units would likely be interested applying for these grants. Fiscal Research is also not aware of any other state that uses a similar funding mechanism, so no data is available from other states to suggest a fiscal cost. Analysts involved in one of the largest potential projects suggest that their project alone could result in a $5 - $10 million annual grant award, based on their estimated revenues and tier designation. Because there is no good data on the type, size and location of qualifying projects or potentially qualifying projects, no fiscal estimate on this portion of the bill is possible. Because all economic activity, in total, is considered in determining the state's baseline revenue projections, all grants awarded under this program would be shown as a loss of state revenue. Depending on the number of projects that qualify for the program, the loss could be substantial, as there is no cap on the revenue invested in the program, or it could be more limited if few facilities are created or participate. However, none of that loss would appear in FY 2002-03, as the first payment would not be made for any project until October 2003.

Impact on Expenditures

Travel and Tourism Grant Committee: The bill charges the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee (the Committee) with carrying out the following activities in order to administer the grant program:

1. Adopt rules for the administration of the program.

2. Coordinate and direct feasibility studies funded by the applicants. This coordination function includes selection by the Department of qualified, independent consultants and prescription of the scope of each study.

3. Analyze applications to ensure they contain all necessary information regarding the nature and cost of the proposed tourism project, the estimated revenues to be generated by the project, the estimated economic benefit to the community, and the purposes for which the applicant will use grant funds.

Each of these activities will involve a cost to the Committee. The bill allows the Committee itself to determine how the fee revenue and associated responsibilities will be distributed. Since the bill does not specify the financial structure of the Committee, how the Committee will operate, or how the Committee will utilize the $5,000 fee per application, it is not possible to estimate the fiscal impact on the Committee.

Department of Revenue: According to the Department of Revenue, the anticipated responsibilities from the enactment of the bill will not justify any positions being assigned to handle the work and, therefore, no employee costs will be incurred. There will only be very minimal costs for printing and mailings of forms and possibly some other minor administrative costs. The Department's assumption is that there will be a relatively small number of projects that will qualify, at least initially. Therefore, on the basis of this assumption, taxes eligible for grants will not be generated until a project is completed and business performed in the project. The first fiscal year for which grants could be issued would most likely be FY 2003-2004. This should provide the department with ample time to get procedures in place.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

August 15, 2002

The House Committee on Finance met on Thursday, August 15, 2002, at 8:30 A.M. in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building.

Representative Paul Luebke, Presiding Chair, called the meeting to order and the following members were present: Representatives Gordon Allen, Monroe Buchanan, and William Wainwright, Chairs; Representatives Dewey Hill and Mary Jarrell, Vice Chairs; Representatives Russell Capps, Pete Cunningham, Michael Decker, Andrew Dedmon, Rick Eddins, Pryor Gibson, Lyons Gray, Joe Hackney, Hugh Holliman, Bill Hurley, Daniel McComas, Eugene McCombs, Edwin McMahan, Mia Morris, Art Pope, John Rayfield, Jennifer Weiss, Shelly Willingham, Constance Wilson, and Larry Womble. Staff members present were Martha Walston, Richard Bostic, David Crotts, Linda Millsaps, Martha Harris and George Givens. A Visitor Registration Sheet is attached and made a part of these minutes.

Pages serving the committee were Crystal Sanders, Wake County; Monica Hodges, Wake County; Jenna Smith, Wake County; Tobatha Rains, Johnston County, and Caitlin Sexton, Johnston County.

Sergeants-at-Arms serving the committee were Dusty Rhodes, Bob Fowler, Walter Spell and Matt Myers.

SENATE BILL 1253, AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT CERTAIN ANIMAL WASTE MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS SHALL NOT QUALIFY FOR SPECIAL PROPERTY CLASSIFICATION AND EXCLUSION FROM THE TAX BASE PURSUANT TO G.S. 105-275(8) AND TO DIRECT THE REVENUE LAWS STUDY COMMITTEE TO STUDY ISSUES RELATED TO THE TAX EXCLUSION, AS RECOMMENDED BY THE ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW COMMISSION, was before the committee for discussion. Rep. Pryor Gibson, co-sponsor, explained that the bill was recommended by the Environmental Review Commission and concerned an issue between waste systems which are exempt versus waste systems that should not be exempt.

George Givens, Research Division, reported that this bill was in Finance because it was primarily a tax matter. The bill would exclude certain animal waste management systems from qualifying for special property classification and exclusion from the tax base. The Environmental Management Commission must certify that a particular property was used for pollution abatement or waste disposal, but the local tax assessor would determine if it met the exclusivity requirement. Mr. Givens said the Revenue Laws Study Committee has been directed to study issues related to the tax exclusion and bring back a recommendation at a later time. He also said that the Revenue Laws Study Committee would need to examine and consider modification to the original broad language to reduce incentives after the technology becomes commonplace.

Rep. Decker stated that this credit was instituted in 1967 and wanted to know how many farmers had availed themselves of the credit.

John Bailey, Director of the Property Tax Division, Department of Revenue, answered Rep. Decker's question by saying that currently, to their knowledge, there were no taxpayers who were receiving the exemption.

Rep. Capps questioned that if none were receiving the credit now, are we making it possible that they can apply for credit? Mr. Bailey stated that lagoon and spray fields once were considered high technology, but now they are commonplace. The tax credits that were put in place in 1967 are outdated. This was an update of that language to ascertain that we attain leading-edge technology as a result of waste disposal.

Rep. Buchanan moved that the bill be given a favorable report. Vote was taken and it was given a favorable report.

HOUSE BILL 1751, AN ACT TO CREATE A TRAVEL AND TOURISM CAPITAL INCENTIVE GRANT PROGRAM, was before the committee for consideration.

Rep. Buchanan moved for adoption of the Proposed Committee Substitute for consideration.

The bill had been before the committee on August 14 and was carried over to today's meeting.

Rep. McMahan, co-sponsor of the bill, explained that the committee substitute had been perfected and Martha Walston further explained the changes to the committee substitute.

Considerable debate was heard on various issues, including the composition of the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee, a constitutional question regarding the procedure for delegation of funds, maximum amount of grants to specific projects, concerns over large projects receiving the majority of the funds, concerns about how bond agencies view the bill, the use of the $5,000 application fee, and suggestions that the Treasurer's Office be heard.

Rep. Pope moved that the bill be referred to the Revenue Laws Study Commission to look at the mechanism and constitutionally of the bill and how to frame it.

Chairman Luebke felt that the committee was divided on this issue. He directed the bill sponsors to meet and try to respond to some of the questions and attempt to move it forward later with some input from the State Treasurer.

Rep. Pope withdrew his motion and it was decided to carry the bill over to a later date.

Chairman Luebke announced the Sub-Committee members for House Bill 1630, AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE DIVISION OF MOTOR VEHICLES TO ISSUE NASCAR DRIVER THEME SPECIAL REGISTRATION PLATES, as follows: Rep. Wainwright, Chairman; Cox, Hackney, Jarrell and Johnson.

Also, Chairman Luebke announced that Will Smith's internship with Rep. Buchanan, ended today and thanked him for his service to the Finance Committee.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT CERTAIN ANIMAL WASTE MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS SHALL NOT QUALIFY FOR SPECIAL PROPERTY CLASSIFICATION AND EXCLUSION FROM THE TAX BASE PURSUANT TO G.S. 105-275(8) AND TO DIRECT THE REVENUE LAWS STUDY COMMITTEE TO STUDY ISSUES RELATED TO THE TAX EXCLUSION, AS RECOMMENDED BY THE ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW COMMISSION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 105-275(8) is amended by adding a new sub-subdivision to read:

"a1. Sub-subdivision a. of this subdivision shall not apply to an animal waste management system, as defined in G.S. 143-215.10B, unless the Environmental Management Commission determines that the animal waste management system will accomplish all of the following:

1. Eliminate the discharge of animal waste to surface waters and groundwater through direct discharge, seepage, or runoff.
2. Substantially eliminate atmospheric emissions of ammonia.
3. Substantially eliminate the emission of odor that is detectable beyond the boundaries of the parcel or tract of land on which the farm is located.
4. Substantially eliminate the release of disease-transmitting vectors and airborne pathogens.
5. Substantially eliminate nutrient and heavy metal contamination of soil and groundwater."

SECTION 2. The Revenue Laws Study Committee shall study issues related to the application of G.S. 105-275(8). The Committee shall consider whether the tax exclusion should be limited to real or personal property that is subject to or is part of a facility that is subject to an individual permit issued by the Environmental Management Commission. The Committee shall also consider whether the tax exclusion should be phased out for certain types of real or personal property. In conducting this study, the Committee shall consult with the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners and the North Carolina League of Municipalities. The Committee shall report its findings and recommendations, including legislative proposals, if any, to the 2003 General Assembly.

SECTION 3. This act is effective when it becomes law. Section 1 of this act applies to taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2002.

SENATE BILL 1253:
Amend Pollution Abatement Tax Exclusion.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Senator Odom
Date:	August 15, 2002	Summary by:	Tim Dodge Research Assistant for Environmental Issues
Version:	2nd Edition

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1253 would exclude certain animal waste management systems from qualifying for special property classification and exclusion from the tax base, specify the criteria that the Environmental Management Commission (EMC) can use for certification and exemption of an animal waste management system from property taxes, and direct the Revenue Laws Study Committee to study issues related to the tax exclusion.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 105-275 identifies classes of property that are excluded from the tax base. G.S. 105-275(8)a. excludes real and personal property used exclusively for air cleaning or waste disposal or to abate, reduce, or prevent the pollution of air or water (including, but not limited to waste lagoons and facilities owned by public or private utilities built and installed primarily for the purpose of providing sewer service to areas that are predominantly residential in character). The EMC may certify property for exclusion if the EMC finds that the property satisfies all statutory requirements for exclusion.

G.S. 143-215.10B defines animal waste management systems as a combination of structures and nonstructural practices serving a feedlot that provide for the collection, treatment, storage, or land application of animal waste. The General Assembly established a statewide moratorium on the issuance of permits for the construction of lagoons and animal waste management systems for swine farms in 1997 (S.L. 1997-458) and extended the moratorium in 1998 (S.L. 1998-188), 1999 (S.L. 1999-329), and 2001 (S.L. 2001-254). The moratorium currently extends to September 1, 2003. Under the moratorium, the EMC may issue a permit for the construction or expansion of an animal waste management system only if it determines, after consultation with the Animal and Poultry Waste Management Center of North Carolina State University, that the animal waste management system will satisfy all of the following performance criteria:

1. Eliminate the discharge of animal waste to surface waters and groundwater through direct discharge, seepage, or runoff.
2. Substantially eliminate atmospheric emissions of ammonia.
3. Substantially eliminate the emission of odor that is detectable beyond the boundaries of the parcel or tract of land on which the farm is located.
4. Substantially eliminate the release of disease-transmitting vectors and airborne pathogens.
5. Substantially eliminate nutrient and heavy metal contamination of soil and groundwater.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 1253 would add a new sub-subdivision to G.S. 105-275(8) that excludes animal waste management systems from certification and exemption, unless the EMC determines that the system meets the performance criteria specified in the moratorium on issuing animal waste management systems permits.

The bill would also direct the Revenue Laws Study Committee to study issues related to the tax exclusion and to report its findings and recommendations to the 2003 General Assembly.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill would become effective when it becomes law and would apply to taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2002.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Local Governments

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law. Section 1 of the act applies to taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2002.

BILL SUMMARY: The proposed legislation excludes certain animal waste management systems from qualifying for special property classification and exclusion from the tax base. The new section specifies the criteria on which the Environmental Management Commission can exempt an animal waste management system from property taxes. The bill also directs the Revenue Laws Study Committee to study issues related to the tax exclusion, as recommended by the Environmental Review Commission.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The bill would affect revenue from the property tax base in each county in the state. The state General Fund would not be affected.

Under current law, property tax exclusions are granted for real and personal property that is used exclusively for air cleaning or waste disposal or to abate, reduce, or prevent the pollution of air or water. The new section would require animal waste management systems to meet the requirements laid out by the Environmental Management Commission (EMC) to qualify for such an exemption. Although requests are received, few county assessors are currently approving the property tax exclusion for facilities. However, if the proposed legislation were enacted, the counties would again realize property tax revenues from a portion of the facilities that are now receiving an exemption. It is not possible to estimate how many exclusions would continue to be granted under the new law until the EMC inspects each facility. Thus, no estimate is available for the potential property tax revenues gained from the bill; however, it is expected to be small.

If the proposed legislation were not enacted, the potential revenue losses would be split among the counties based on the number of animal waste management systems maintained in each county. Again, it is not possible to estimate the number of exclusions under current law granted by the EMC in the future; however, a base estimate on county revenue losses can be determined by looking at the property tax base of the facilities. The most recent records from the Division of Water Quality of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources list a total of 2,276 swine facilities in the state. Those counties with higher concentrations of these facilities would experience the most impact. For example, 59% of all the swine facilities are located in five counties in North Carolina: Duplin, Sampson, Wayne, Bladen, and Greene. The total number of poultry facilities is estimated to be 4,557. The top five counties in chicken production are: Iredell, Union, Randolph, Nash, and Alexander. The top five counties in turkey production are: Sampson, Duplin, Wayne, Onslow, and Union. The number of facilities is expected to remain constant. These counties would experience substantial revenue losses from a property tax exclusion on these facilities.

The Department of Revenue Property Tax Division analyzed the property value of the state's swine and poultry facilities. It was estimated that each swine facility required approximately 50 acres valued at $1200 per acre for waste storage and disposal. The total value of the land was increased to include the amount of possible exemptions from personal property and real property improvements, based on copies of applications filed for pollution abatement exemptions. The estimated property tax revenue loss for each county was calculated using the 2001 property tax rate and a $.05 fire district tax for each county. The top five potential losses that could be experienced by counties each fiscal year are listed in the table below.

County	# of Swine Facilities	Total Property Value	Total Taxes
Duplin	512	$209,920,000	$1,584,896
Sampson	452	$185,320,000	$1,436,230
Wayne	145	$59,450,000	$416,150
Bladen	134	$54,940,000	$490,340
Greene	104	$42,640,000	$383,760
Total	1,347	$552,270,000	$4,311,376
State Total	2,276	$933,160,000	$7,379,139

The number of acres per poultry facility was estimated to be 30, also valued at $1200 per acre. The same methodology used to calculate property tax revenues for swine facilities was used to estimate the property tax revenue loss in the state (no breakdown by county is available.) The total number of poultry facilities in the state is estimated to be 4,557 with a total property value of $346,332,000. The total estimated property tax revenue loss statewide could be approximately $2.6 million per fiscal year. The potential revenue losses statewide could total approximately $9.9 million per fiscal year.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO CREATE A TRAVEL AND TOURISM CAPITAL INCENTIVE GRANT PROGRAM.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Part 2 of Article 10 of Chapter 143B of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 143B-434.4. Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program.

(a) Program Established. – There is established the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program. Under the program, the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee established in subsection (c) of this section may award grants to the owners of qualified projects for the purpose of inducing the creation of new or the expansion or renovation of existing travel and tourism projects. Grant proceeds may not be distributed to any private individual or entity. The Committee shall develop guidelines to be used in determining whether the conditions in this section are satisfied and whether the project described in the application is consistent with the grant program.

(b) Owner Defined. – For the purpose of the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program, the owner of a qualified project is the unit of local government that will own the qualified project in whole or in an equal partnership with a private individual or entity.

(c) Unit of Local Government Defined. – For the purpose of the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program, a unit of local government means a county or municipality in the State.

(d) Committee. – The Travel and Tourism Grant Committee shall consist of the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Revenue, the Director of the Office of State Budget and Management, and two elected local government officials. One elected local government official shall represent the Mountains and shall be appointed by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the Speaker of the House of Representatives. One elected local government official shall represent the Coastal Plain and shall be appointed by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the President Pro Tem of the Senate. Neither elected local government official shall be associated with or employed by the travel and tourism industry or an entertainment enterprise, or be in any contractual relationship regarding the qualified project. The General Assembly appointees shall serve two-year terms. The Committee may act only upon a unanimous decision of its members.

It is unlawful for a member of the Committee to, within two years after the end of service on the Committee, provide services for compensation, as an employee, consultant, or otherwise, to any project that was awarded a grant under this section while the former member was serving on the Committee, or to provide services for compensation to any person or entity that contracts with the project. Violation of this subsection is a Class 1 misdemeanor.

Meetings of the Committee are subject to the open meetings requirements of Article 33C of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes. All documents of the Committee, including applications for grants, are public records governed by Chapter 132 of the General Statutes, including applicable provisions of that Chapter protecting confidential information.

(e) Application and Fee. – The owner of a qualified project may apply for a grant no later than one year after the qualified project is opened to the public. When filing an application under this section, the taxpayer must pay the Committee a fee of five thousand dollars ($5,000). The fee is due at the time the application is filed. The Committee shall determine the allocation of the fee imposed by this subsection among the agencies whose heads make up the Committee. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the agency to which they are credited.

The application must contain all information required by the Committee, including a certification of the nature and cost of the tourism project, the estimated revenues to be generated by the project, the estimated economic benefit to the community, and the purposes for which the applicant will use the grant funds. If the tourism project is the result of a public-private partnership, the grant application must set forth in detail the respective rights and obligations of the parties and the specific terms of the agreement. The application must be signed by the finance officer and the chair of the governing body of the owner.

(f) Qualification. – A qualified project is a travel and tourism project that the Committee determines, pursuant to a feasibility study under this section, meets all of the following conditions:

(1) At least half of the project will be financed and owned by a unit of local government in which it is located.

(2) The project will target at least thirty-five percent (35%) of its visitors from among persons who reside outside the State or more than 100 miles from the project.

(3) The project has a business plan that demonstrates a positive economic impact.

(4) The applicant has provided impact projections regarding estimated State and local tax revenues with respect to the project.

(5) The project will have a significant and positive impact on the community, considering among other factors, the extent to which the tourism project will compete directly with existing tourism attractions in the area and the amount by which tax revenues from the tourism project will exceed the amount of the grant provided.

(6) The applicant has provided a cost-benefit analysis of the project.

(7) The applicant has provided an economic impact analysis demonstrating the employment, gross state product, and personal income effects of the project over a 10-year period.

(8) The project will be available to the public for a minimum of 100 days per year.

(9) The project will generate at least 10 new jobs in the local area.

(10) The project will have the following minimum cost based on the enterprise tier in which it is located:

Enterprise Tier	Minimum Cost
1 and 2	$ 1,000,000
3 and 4	$10,000,000
5	$20,000,000

(11) The governing body of the unit of local government has passed a resolution stating the need for and positive economic impact and enhancement of travel and tourism revenues from the project.

(12) The applicant has demonstrated by clear and convincing evidence all of the following:

a. The project will not result in unnecessary duplication of existing services.

b. The project will generate new visitors to the area rather than drawing visitors away from other existing tourism attractions.

(g) Feasibility Study. – The applicant must fund a feasibility study coordinated solely by the Committee. The Committee shall develop a list of qualified firms to conduct the study. The Committee shall prescribe the scope of the study to cover all of the qualifications established in this section.

(h) Amount. – Subject to the maximums provided in this section, the amount of a grant with respect to a qualified project is calculated as a percentage of the total amount of the following taxes collected by the State each year:

(1) The net State sales tax collected on sales by or within the qualified project, as identified to the Department of Revenue.

(2) The net privilege tax paid by the qualified project under G.S. 105-37.1, as identified to the Department of Revenue.

(i) Maximums. – The maximum term of a grant is ten years. No project may receive any grant proceeds for a year that is more than ten years beyond the date of the initial grant award.

The Committee shall set the grant percentage at the time it awards the grant. The percentage used to calculate a grant may not exceed the applicable percentage provided in the table below based on the enterprise tier, as defined in G.S. 105-129.3, in which the qualified project is located. In addition, the cumulative maximum amount of a grant may not exceed the applicable percentage of the total project cost provided in the table below based on the enterprise tier in which the qualified project is located.

Enterprise Tier	Percentage
1 and 2	35
3 and 4	30

(j) Use. – The proceeds of a grant may be used only for capital costs, including debt service, with respect to the qualified project for which the grant was awarded.

(k) Disbursement. – In order to receive grant disbursements under this section, the owner of the qualified project must provide the Department of Revenue with periodic, verified accountings of the tax collections provided in subsection (f) of this section. These reports must be made at the times and in the form prescribed by the Department of Revenue. Each report must include the name, address, and tax identification number of every taxpayer whose collections are included in the report and any other information required by the Department of Revenue.

The Department of Revenue must disburse grants awarded under this section in accordance with G.S. 105-269.16. Upon awarding a grant under this section, the Committee must provide the following information to the Department of Revenue:

(1) The name, address, and other identifying information of the owner to whom the grant was awarded.

(2) The name and address of any lessee or individual or entity who has entered into a contract with the qualified project.

(3) The address and other identifying information of each facility that is part of the qualified project for which the grant was awarded.

(4) The applicable percentage and the maximum cumulative amount of the grant as determined in accordance with this section.

(5) Any other information included in the application, if required by the Department of Revenue.

(l) Reports. – The Committee must report annually to the Revenue Laws Study Committee concerning the applications made for grants and the grants awarded under this section.

(m) Cap - The maximum number of projects that may be awarded grants each fiscal year is ten."

SECTION 2. Article 9 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-269.16. Travel and tourism grants.

The Department must annually disburse the travel and tourism grants awarded under G.S. 143B-434.4. Each annual disbursement must be made by October 1 for the preceding fiscal year. The amount of each grant must be calculated in accordance with G.S. 143B-434.4 based on information provided to the Department by the owner of the qualified project. If information necessary to calculate a portion of a grant is not available, the Department must disburse only that portion for which information is available. To pay for this program, the Department must draw from State sales and use tax collections under Article 5 of this Chapter an amount equal to the grant funds disbursed and the Department's costs of administering the grants. The Department must provide the Committee an annual accounting of grant funds disbursed under this section."

SECTION 3. G.S. 150B-1(d) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(d) Exemptions from Rule Making. – Article 2A of this Chapter does not apply to the following:

....

(10) The Travel and Tourism Grant Committee in developing guidelines for the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program under G.S. 143B-434.4 of the General Statutes."

SECTION 4. This act becomes effective January 1, 2003, and expires for grant applications filed on or after July 1, 2005.

HOUSE BILL 1751:
NC Tourism Development Act

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Rep. Earle, McMahan, McComas, and Barefoot
Date:	August 15, 2002
Version:	H1751-CSLAf-83	Analysis by:	Martha Walston Committee Counsel

BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 1751 creates the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program. The act becomes effective January 1, 2003, and expires for grant applications filed on or after July 1, 2005. The underlined language is new language added to the earlier proposed committee substitute discussed by the Finance Committee.

Grant recipient - Grants may be awarded to a unit of local government that owns a qualified project in whole or in an equal partnership with a private individual or entity. Grant proceeds may not be distributed to any private individual or entity. A "unit of local government" is defined in the bill as a county or municipality in the State.

Qualified project - A qualified project is a travel and tourism project that the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee determines, pursuant to a feasibility study funded by the applicant, meets the following conditions.

1. At least half of the project will be financed and owned by a unit of local government in which it is located
2. The project will target at least 35% of its visitors from among persons who reside outside the State or more than 100 miles from the project.
3. The project has a business plan that demonstrates a positive economic impact.
4. The applicant has provided impact projections regarding estimated State and local tax revenues with respect to the project.
5. The project will have a significant and positive impact on the community, considering among other factors, the extent to which the tourism project will compete directly with existing tourism attractions in the area and the amount by which tax revenues from the tourism project will exceed the amount of the grant provided.
6. The applicant has provided a cost-benefit analysis of the project.
7. The applicant has provided an economic impact analysis demonstrating the employment, gross state product, and personal income effects of the project over a 10-year period.
8. The project will be available to the public for a minimum of 100 days per year.
9. The project will generate at least 10 new jobs in the local area.
10. The project will have the following minimum cost based on the enterprise tier in which it is located:

Enterprise Tier	Minimum Cost
1 and 2	$ 1,000,000
3 and 4	$10,000,000
5	$20,000,000

11. The governing body of the unit of local government has passed a resolution stating the need for and positive economic impact and enhancement of travel and tourism revenues from the project.

12. The applicant has demonstrated by clear and convincing evidence all of the following
    a. The project will not result in unnecessary duplication of existing services.
    b. The project will generate new visitors to the area rather than drawing visitors away from other existing tourism attractions.

Amount of the grant - The amount of the grant is determined by multiplying the sum of the total amount of sales taxes collected on sales by or within the qualified project and the net privilege taxes paid by the qualifying project times an enterprise tier percentage, with maximum percentages outlined in the bill (35% tier 1 and 2, 30% tier 3 and 4, and 25% for tier 5). These same percentages apply to the maximum amount of the total project cost that can be funded through the program.

Maximum. – The maximum term of the grant is ten years. No project may receive any grant proceeds for a year that is more than ten years beyond the date of the initial grant award.

Use of grant proceeds. - The proceeds of the grant may be used only for capital costs, including debt service with respect to the qualified project.

Cap on number of projects - No more than 10 projects may be awarded grants each fiscal year.

Travel and Tourism Grant Committee - The Travel and Tourism Grant Committee shall consist of five members: the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Revenue, the Director of the Office of State Budget and Management, and two elected local government officials appointed by the General Assembly who will serve two-year terms. The Speaker of the House will appoint an official who represents the Mountains, and the President Pro Tem of the Senate will appoint an official who represents the Coastal Plain. Neither elected local government official shall be associated with or employed by the travel and tourism industry or an entertainment enterprise, or be in any contractual relationship regarding the qualified project. The Committee may only act upon unanimous consent. The Committee is subject to the open meetings law and the public records law. Members of the Committee are forbidden to work for a business that receives a grant under this program, or to provide services for compensation to any person or entity who contracts with the project, for at least two years after the member is no longer on the Committee.

Fees. - Each applicant must pay the Committee a $5,000 application fee.

Information provided by the Committee. Upon awarding a grant, the Committee must provide the Department of Revenue with specific information. The proposed committee substitute requires the Committee to provide the Department with the name and address of any lessee or individual or entity who has entered into a contract with the qualified project.

Disbursement of grants by the Department of Revenue - The Department of Revenue must annually disburse the grants by October 1 for the preceding fiscal year, based on information provided to the Department by the owner of the qualified project. In order to pay for the Grant Program, the Department will draw from State sales and use tax collections an amount equal to the grant funds disbursed and the Department's costs of administering the grants.

Exemption from rule making. - The Travel and Tourism Grant Committee is exempt from the rule making provisions under the Administrative Procedure Act when developing guidelines for the Grant Program.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Travel and Tourism Grant Committee, NC Department of Revenue, and local governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 1, 2003

BILL SUMMARY: The bill creates the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant program to be administered by the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee. The program offers grants to counties and municipalities who own "qualifying projects" that meet the following criteria: 1) the project is financed and owned (in whole or at least in 50% partnership) by the unit of local government in which it is located, 2) the project will target 35% or more of its visitors from at least 100 miles away or out of state, 3) the project has a business plan that indicates that project will be profitable, 4) the applicant provides tax impact projections, 5) the project will have a significant and positive impact on the community, 6) the project will be open at least 100 days per year, 7) the project will generate at least ten new jobs in the local area, 8) the projects will meet a minimum cost criteria based on the North Carolina enterprise tier in which it is located, 9) the governing body of the local government passes a resolution stating the need for, positive economic impact of, and the enhanced travel and tourism opportunities created by the project, 10) the applicant demonstrates that the project will not duplicate services and will draw new visitors to the area. The grant amount is determined by multiplying the total amount of sales taxes collected on sales by or within the qualified program and the net privilege taxes paid by the qualifying project by an enterprise tier based percentage, with maximum percentages outlined in the bill (35% tier 1 and 2, 30% tier 3 and 4, and 25% for tier 5). These same percentages apply to the maximum amounts of the total project cost that can be funded through this grant program. The Travel and Tourism Grant Committee is charged with determining if all project criteria are met and the percentages used to calculate the grant amount. Grant funds can only be used for capital costs, including debt service. To receive a grant disbursement, the project owner must provide the Department of Revenue with periodic, verified accounting of the tax collections. Annual disbursements based on this information must be made by the Department of Revenue by October 1 of each year and should reflect tax collections from that project for the previous fiscal year. The Department is only required to distribute funds based on data provided by the owner. If appropriate data is not provided to justify a complete payment, a partial payment can be made to reflect the information provided. Applicants must fund a feasibility study coordinated and directed by the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee and pay a $5,000 application fee. The funds to pay for the grants and the associated departmental costs are drawn from State sales and use tax revenues. The grant application period for the bill sunsets July 1, 2005, although payments for grants authorized before that date will continue to be made up to ten years after the initial award. Only ten (10) grants can be awarded per year.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Impact on Revenue

The bill effectively earmarks a proportion of state tax revenue drawn from a particular qualifying project and returns that funding to the institution to fund capital costs and debt service. The proportion returned varies by location and other factors. The bill would allow funding for ten projects a year, with a maximum of thirty grants awarded before the July 1, 2005 sunset. At present Fiscal Research is aware of several potential projects that have already reach the planning stages, primarily arenas, convention centers and athletic facilities, that could easily qualify for these grants, although local government officials indicate that many local units would likely be interested applying for these grants. Fiscal Research is also not aware of any other state that uses a similar funding mechanism, so no data is available from other states to suggest a fiscal cost. (Kentucky has a state sales tax incentive program for tourism development, which has funded seven (7) projects to date. However, because of substantial differences in the Kentucky plan and this bill, that state's experience can not be used as a proxy for estimating purposes). Analysts involved in one of the largest potential projects suggest that their project alone could result in a $5 - $10 million annual grant award, based on their estimated revenues and tier designation. Because there is no good data on the type, size and location of qualifying projects or potentially qualifying projects, no fiscal estimate on this portion of the bill is possible. Because all economic activity, in total, is considered in determining the state's baseline revenue projections, all grants awarded under this program would be shown as a loss of state revenue. Depending on the type of projects that qualify for the program, the loss could be substantial, as there is no cap on the revenue invested in the program, or it could be more limited if few facilities are created or participate. However, none of that loss would appear in FY 2002-03, as the first payment would not be made for any project until October 2003.

Impact on Expenditures

Travel and Tourism Grant Committee: The bill charges the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee (the Committee) with carrying out the following activities in order to administer the grant program:

1. Adopt rules for the administration of the program.

2. Coordinate and direct feasibility studies funded by the applicants. This coordination function includes selection by the Department of qualified, independent consultants and prescription of the scope of each study.

3. Analyze applications to ensure they contain all necessary information regarding the nature and cost of the proposed tourism project, the estimated revenues to be generated by the project, the estimated economic benefit to the community, and the purposes for which the applicant will use grant funds.

Each of these activities will involve a cost to the Committee. The bill allows the Committee itself to determine how the fee revenue and associated responsibilities will be distributed. Since the bill does not specify the financial structure of the Committee, how the Committee will operate, or how the Committee will utilize the $5,000 fee per application, it is not possible to estimate the fiscal impact on the Committee.

Department of Revenue: According to the Department of Revenue, the anticipated responsibilities from the enactment of the bill will not justify any positions being assigned to handle the work and, therefore, no employee costs will be incurred. There will only be very minimal costs for printing and mailings of forms and possibly some other minor administrative costs. The Department's assumption is that there will be a relatively small number of projects that will qualify, at least initially. Therefore, on the basis of this assumption, taxes eligible for grants will not be generated until a project is completed and business performed in the project. The first fiscal year for which grants could be issued would most likely be FY 2003-2004. This should provide the department with ample time to get procedures in place.

SUBJ.: NC Tourism Development Act

I am writing in response to your request for several research items related to HB 1751 – NC Tourism Development Act. I hope this information is of assistance.

1. Who is the $5-$10 million grant facility mentioned in the fiscal note?

This facility is the proposed Charlotte arena. The estimated annual grant cost is provided by the City of Charlotte and the Charlotte Area Chamber of Commerce.

2. What are the other potential projects mentioned in the fiscal note?

As I read the bill, a broad array of projects could qualify for the tourism grants. These include arenas, convention centers, museums, raceways, amusement parks, shopping facilities, hotels, and golf courses to name a few. Given the range of potential projects, it is impossible to provide you with a comprehensive listing of projects that could be in the development process statewide. Conversations with the editor of Trade Week magazine, the primary trade magazine for trade shows, indicate that out the convention center in Concord has moved far along enough in the development process to reach their "radar screen". Communication with travel and tourism officials at the Department of Commerce indicate that they have no listing of potential, under development, or in progress facilities. The County Commissioners Association does not have a listing of potential facilities, although they felt certain that most if not all of their members would be interested. The list of facilities and communities that have shown an interest in this bill to myself, the bill advocates, or both, are as follows:

Ashville – Minor League Baseball
Charlotte – Afro-American Cultural Center
Charlotte – Arena
Charlotte – Minor League Baseball
Charlotte – Motor Sports Museum
Charlotte – Riverwalk

Concord – Convention Center
Durham – Performing Arts Center
Fayetteville – Minor League Baseball
Gastonia – Convention Center
Jacksonville – Convention Center
Jacksonville – Marine Museum
Raleigh – Civic Center
Wilmington – Civic Center
Wilmington - Ampatheater
Swain County – Great Smokey Mountains Railroad
Union County – Convention Center

It should be noted that this list is clearly not exhaustive and could grow quickly as existing potential projects are modified. As an example, it would not be a far stretch to allow the proposed Durham Tobacco warehouse project highlighted recently in the News and Observer to compete for this grant funding.

3. What do other states do, and what issues are raised in these areas?

For the most part Tax Increment Financing (TIF) in other states revolve primarily around local government property taxes, and attempted to eliminate urban blight. According to NCSL 48 states and the District of Columbia all authorize some version of a TIF program. Typically, local governments create and maintain special TIF districts and pledge some portion of new local revenue from businesses and projects in these revenues to fund the TIF. However, in recent years states have begun to allow local governments to commit other tax revenues as well, including local sales taxes.

The issues generally raised in areas with TIF include accountability, funding projects that may have occurred without the government subsidy, and pressure on the tax base that limits additional investment in education.

4. What is the Kentucky program?

Kentucky does appear to be the only state that has an active state sales tax credit program for tourism development (Ohio, Louisiana, and Pennsylvania has all made attempts at developing such a program. Arkansas has a program, but has reportedly attracted only one facility since their program's inception. Indiana and Missouri have active programs, but they only commit local sales tax revenues).

Kentucky offers developers the opportunity to recover 25% of their project cost, through a sales tax abatement, over a period of ten years. Eligible attractions include cultural and historic sites, recreation and entertainment facilities, areas of scenic beauty or "distinctive natural phenomena", entertainment destination centers and Kentucky crafts centers. Lodging is also eligible when the facility is built on specific types or property, includes major historic renovations, or is a part of a larger recreational facility.

A summary of the Kentucky program is attached and can be found at http://www.state.ky.us/tour/incent.htm

5. How does H.B. 1751 differ from the Kentucky act?

H.B. 1751 differs from the Kentucky act in a number of significant ways. Major differences include:

- Attraction requirements: Kentucky requires that at least 25% of the attraction's visitors come from out of state. This must be verified through a feasibility study overseen by a Department selected consultant, a marketing study, and actual entrance receipts must reflect this within four (4) years of the start of the project. H.B. 1751 only requires that the owner "target" 35% of their visitors from out of state or more than 100 miles away. This is targeting will be shown in the feasibility study.

- Economic Impact requirements: The Kentucky program requires that the project must have a "significant and positive impact" on the state. This is verified through a feasibility study overseen by the state. The report must show that the project will generate more new state revenue and economic activity than it costs. They note that particular attention is given to the possibility of merely shifting revenues from one in state facility to another. H.B. 1751 only requires that the economic impact on the community, not the state, be considered. There is language is the bill that requires an estimate of state and local sales tax generation, and a study of how the new facility would compete directly with other tourism attractions in the area. A cost benefit analysis is also required, although the breadth of that analysis would have to be determined by the committee.

- Types of Projects: The Kentucky program supports several specific types of tourism developments. These include "destination centers" that are at least 200,000 square feet (or are a part of an existing attraction), are less than 40% retail, and have at least one major themed restaurant and at least 3 additional entertainment venues; "Crafts and products centers" that sell Kentucky products with at least 80% of the sales revenue coming from the sale of arts, crafts or agricultural products; and "tourism attractions" that are defined in statute. H.B. 1751 offers a much looser definition of eligible projects, and could include all of the facilities allowed in Kentucky, in addition to shopping facilities, golf courses, and a broader range of overnight accommodations.

- Eligible Owners: In Kentucky the funding is offered directly to the developer. In H.B. 1751, the local government unit must be the owner or at least equal partner.

- Employment: The Kentucky statute requires that the project "not adversely affect existing employment in the Commonwealth". H.B. 1751 requires that at least ten new jobs be created.

- Grant payments: In Kentucky the developer of an approved project receives 25% of project costs, regardless of location. This payment is offered for ten years, with the maximum amount ever released in one year 2.5% of project costs. H.B. 1751 varies the amount of capital cost covered, depending on location, limits the payment to ten years, but does not address maximum annual payouts.

- "If not for this" clause: In Kentucky developers are required to certify that "if not for this incentive" the project would not happen. No similar clause is included in the House proposal.

- Grant Amounts: In Kentucky the amount of the grant/refund is limited to 25% of the project cost. No specific limitation is placed on the sales tax generated to grant amount ratio. H.B. 1751 limits the grant by both the proportion of project costs that can be covered and the proportion of sales tax revenue that can be returned.

- Consultants: In Kentucky the state selects one consultant, through an RFP process, to handle all feasibility studies. They have used the same consultant, C.H. Johnson Consulting in Chicago, for the entire program. The state is considered the client, although the developer must pay for the study. H.B. 1751 allows the applicant to select a consultant from a list of approved consultants. The committee is charged with coordinating the study.

The statutes governing the Kentucky program are attached and can be found at http://www.lrc.state.ky.us/KRS/148-00/CHAPTER.HTM . The specific statutes related to this program are at .850 - .859. The rules relating to this program are also attached and can be found at http://www.lrc.state.ky.us/kar/300/002/010.htm .

6. What are Kentucky's results?

The program's director reports that they are currently funding $400 million in development through seven (7) grants. Their largest project was the development of speedway in a very remote area. They are currently paying out approximately $5 million annually. The director feels that the program has been successful in that it has generated development in areas that would otherwise not see development, and generated new development to the state. He feels that the "but for this incentive" clause, strong consultant reports, the net positive fiscal impact to the state requirements, the specific list of attractions to be funded, the board mix, and the 2.5% annual payment cap have all combined to make the program successful.

As a final note, the program director mentioned that their Department of Revenue found it difficult to determine how much sales tax was actually generated in the facility, as the vendors were often part of a larger corporation. Our Department of Revenue has mentioned the same auditing concerns. However, once this problem surfaced in Kentucky they began to require that the establishments within the facility get a separate tax id number. This has greatly improved their ability to see how effective the program has been.

House Committee on Finance

Minutes
August 20, 2002

The House Committee on Finance met on Tuesday, August 20, 2002, at 8:30 A.M., in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building. The following members were present: Chairmen Buchanan, Luebke and Wainwright; Vice-Chairs Hill and Jarrell; and Representatives Alexander, Blust, Capps, Cox, Decker, Dedmon, Eddins, Edwards, Gibson, Hackney, Holliman, Hurley, Johnson, McComas, McCombs, Morris, Pope, Rayfield, Starnes, Weiss, Willingham, Wilson, Womble, Baddour, and Cunningham. The following Sergeant-at-Arms staff were present: Dusty Rhoades, Bob Fowler, Walter Spell, and Bill Freeman. Staff persons present included: Trina Griffin, Martha Walston, Richard Bostic, Bill Gilkinson, and Jerry Cohen, and Committee Assistants Nancy Brantley, Blinda Edwards, and Joyce Harris. The Visitor Registration Sheet and Agenda are attached and incorporated as a part of these minutes.

Chairman Buchanan called the meeting to order and recognized Representative Culpepper to explain SB 1054, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO REFORM THE METHOD OF ELECTING SUPREME COURT JUSTICES AND COURT OF APPEALS JUDGES AND TO ESTABLISH A FAIR ELECTIONS FUND THAT PROVIDES CANDIDATES FOR THESE OFFICES WITH AN ALTERNATIVE MEANS OF FINANCING THEIR CAMPAIGNS. By motion of Representative Womble, the Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS) was adopted for discussion.

Representative Culpepper was recognized. He explained that the Bill would change the election of Court of Appeals and Supreme Court candidates from partisan to non-partisan and would lower the contribution limit for all judicial candidates from $4,000 to $1,000. He explained that the Bill is intended to be full public financing in the general election for those candidates, and the chief funding mechanisms would be a voluntary $50 contribution requested from lawyers at the time they pay their privilege license tax and a $1 "reverse check-off" on individual State income tax forms. Under the "reverse check-off," $1 of a taxpayer's tax liability would be designated to the Fund rather than to the State's General Fund unless the taxpayer made the decision to mark "Against" on the tax form.

Representative Culpepper noted that there were conditions for participation. Beginning in 2004, general election candidates for these judgeships can receive a set amount of public funding if they voluntarily meet those conditions that are set out in the Bill.

Former Senator Robert Morgan, who heads a non-profit foundation set up to attempt to better educate the public and improve public elections, spoke in favor of the Bill. He distributed a handout in which were listed 1,000 attorneys and judges who support judicial campaign reform

Replying to questions posed by the Committee members, Deputy Director of Revenue Sabra Faires reported that her department objected to certain aspects of the bill, particularly legislation dictating what language should be on State tax forms. She said that most of her department's concerns are reflected in the Fiscal Note on the Bill. Staff attorney Bill Gilkeson explained the Fiscal Note and answered questions posed by the members.

Amendment No. 1. After a lengthy discussion concerning the "reverse check-off," which would designate $1 of the taxpayer's liability to the Fund rather than the State's General Fund unless the taxpayer made the decision to mark "Against" on the tax form, Rep. Pope was recognized to send forth an amendment, which would amend the Bill on page 11, lines 42-44 and page 12, lines 1-8. By Roll Call Vote, the Amendment failed 17 to 13. A copy of the Amendment is attached as part of these minutes.

Amendment No. 2. Rep. Blust then put forward an amendment that would delete line 34 on page 12 through page 22, line 32; and on page 22, lines 40-41 by deleting the sentence that begins on line 40; and on page 1, lines 2-3, by rewriting the lines to read: "AN ACT TO ESTABLISH A FAIR." A copy of the proposed Amendment is attached as part of these minutes.

Because of time constraints, Chairman Buchanan announced that the Amendment would be left pending until the PCS on SB 1054 was discussed at the next meeting of the Finance Committee. He adjourned the meeting at 9:50 A.M.

Respectfully submitted,

Charles F. Buchanan

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REFORM THE METHOD OF ELECTING SUPREME COURT JUSTICES AND COURT OF APPEALS JUDGES AND TO ESTABLISH A FAIR ELECTIONS FUND THAT PROVIDES CANDIDATES FOR THESE OFFICES WITH AN ALTERNATIVE MEANS OF FINANCING THEIR CAMPAIGNS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Chapter 163 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"Article 22D.

"The North Carolina Fair Elections Fund.

"§ 163-278.61. Purpose of the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund.

The purpose of this Article is to ensure the fairness of democratic elections in North Carolina and to protect the constitutional rights of voters and candidates from the detrimental effects of increasingly large amounts of money being raised and spent to influence the outcome of elections. The potential for corruption and its appearance is especially problematic in elections of the judiciary, since impartiality is uniquely important to the integrity and credibility of the courts. Accordingly, this Article establishes the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund as an alternative source of campaign financing for candidates who demonstrate public support and voluntarily accept strict fund-raising and spending limits. This Article is available to candidates for justice of the Supreme Court and judge of the Court of Appeals in elections to be held in 2004 and thereafter.

"§ 163-278.62. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Board. – The State Board of Elections.

(2) Candidate. – An individual who becomes a candidate as described in G.S. 163-278.6(4). The term includes a political committee authorized by the candidate for that candidate's election.
(3) Certified candidate. – A candidate running for office who chooses to receive campaign funds from the Fund and who is certified under G.S. 163-278.64(c).
(4) Contested primary and contested general election. – An election in which there are more candidates than the number to be elected.
(5) Contribution. – Defined in G.S. 163-278.6.
(6) Expenditure. – Defined in G.S. 163-278.6.
(7) Fund. – The North Carolina Fair Elections Fund established in G.S. 163-278.63.
(8) Independent expenditure. – Defined in G.S. 163-278.6.
(9) Maximum qualifying contributions. – An amount of qualifying contributions equal to 60 times the filing fee for candidacy for the office.
(10) Minimum qualifying contributions. – An amount of qualifying contributions equal to 30 times the filing fee for candidacy for the office.
(11) Nonparticipating candidate. – A candidate running for office who is not seeking to be certified under G.S. 163-278.64(c).
(12) Office. – A position on the North Carolina Court of Appeals or North Carolina Supreme Court.
(13) Participating candidate. – A candidate for office who has filed a declaration of intent to participate under G.S. 163-278.64.
(14) Political committee. – Defined in G.S. 163-278.6.
(15) Qualifying contribution. – A contribution of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) and not more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) in the form of a check or money order to the candidate or the candidate's committee that meets both of the following conditions:
a. Made by any registered voter in this State.
b. Made during the qualifying period and obtained with the approval of the candidate or candidate's committee.
(16) Qualifying period. – The period beginning September 1 in the year before the election and ending on the day of the primary of the election year.
(17) Referendum committee. – Defined in G.S. 163-278.6.
(18) Trigger for rescue funds. – The dollar amount at which rescue funds are released for certified candidates. In the case of a primary, the trigger equals the maximum qualifying contributions for participating candidates. In the case of a contested general election, the trigger equals the base level of funding available under G.S. 163-278.65(b)(4).

"§ 163-278.63. North Carolina Fair Elections Fund established; sources of funding.

(a) Establishment of Fund. – The North Carolina Fair Elections Fund is established to finance the election campaigns of certified candidates for office and to pay administrative and enforcement costs of the Board related to this Article. The Fund is a special, dedicated, nonlapsing, nonreverting fund. All expenses of administering this Article, including production and distribution of the Voter Guide required by G.S. 163-278.69 and personnel and other costs incurred by the Board, shall be paid from the Fund and not from the General Fund. Any interest generated by the Fund is credited to the Fund. The Board shall administer the Fund.

(b) Sources of Funding. – Money received from all the following sources must be deposited in the Fund:

(1) Money from the North Carolina Candidates Financing Fund.

(2) Designations made to the Fair Elections Fund by individual taxpayers pursuant to G.S. 105-159.2.

(3) Any contributions made by attorneys in accordance with G.S. 105-41.

(4) Fair Elections Fund revenues distributed for an election that remain unspent or uncommitted at the time the recipient is no longer a certified candidate in the election.

(5) Money ordered returned to the Fair Elections Fund in accordance with G.S. 163-278.70.

(6) Voluntary donations made directly to the Fair Elections Fund. Corporations, other business entities, labor unions, and professional associations may make donations to the Fund.

(c) Determination of Fund Amount. – By October 1, 2003, and every two years thereafter, the Board, in conjunction with the Advisory Council for the Fair Elections Fund, shall prepare and provide to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations of the General Assembly a report documenting, evaluating, and making recommendations relating to the administration, implementation, and enforcement of this Article. In its report, the Board shall set out the funds received to date and the expected needs of the Fund for the next election.

"§ 163-278.64. Requirements for participation; certification of candidates.

(a) Declaration of Intent to Participate. – Any individual choosing to receive campaign funds from the Fund shall first file with the Board a declaration of intent to participate in the act as a candidate for a stated office. The declaration of intent shall be filed before or during the qualifying period and before collecting any qualifying contributions. In the declaration, the candidate shall swear or affirm that only one political committee, identified with its treasurer, shall handle all contributions, expenditures, and obligations for the participating candidate and that the candidate will comply with the contribution and expenditure limits set forth in subsection (d) of this section and all other requirements set forth in this Article or adopted by the Board. Failure to comply is a violation of this Article.

(b) Demonstration of Support of Candidacy. – Except for candidates described elsewhere in this subsection, participating candidates who seek certification to receive campaign funds from the Fund shall first, during the qualifying period, obtain qualifying contributions from at least 350 registered voters in an aggregate sum that at least equals the amount of minimum qualifying contributions described in G.S. 163-278.62(10) but that does not exceed the amount of maximum qualifying contributions described in G.S. 163-278.62(9). Candidates who hold office on the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals and candidates who were elected to the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals within four years of the beginning of the qualifying period are deemed to have demonstrated support and are not required to comply with the previous sentence of this subsection.

No payment, gift, or anything of value shall be given in exchange for a qualifying contribution.

(c) Certification of Candidates. – Upon receipt of a submittal of the record of demonstrated support by a participating candidate, the Board shall determine whether or not the candidate has complied with all the following requirements, if they apply to that candidate:

(1) Signed and filed a declaration of intent to participate in this Article.

(2) Submitted a report itemizing the appropriate number of qualifying contributions received from registered voters, which the Board shall verify through a random sample or other means it adopts. The report shall include the county of residence of each registered voter listed.

(3) Qualified to receive votes on the ballot as a candidate for the office.

(4) Otherwise met the requirements for participation in this Article.

The Board shall certify candidates complying with the requirements of this section as soon as possible and no later than five business days after receipt of a satisfactory record of demonstrated support. Candidates not required to obtain a minimum number of qualifying donations shall submit a record of any qualifying contributions received at the time they request certification according to procedures set forth by the Board.

(d) Restrictions on Contributions and Expenditures for Participating and Certified Candidates. – The following restrictions shall apply to contributions and expenditures with respect to participating and certified candidates:

(1) Beginning January 1 of the year before the election and before the filing of a declaration of intent, a candidate for office may accept in contributions up to ten thousand dollars ($10,000) from sources and in amounts permitted by Article 22A of this Chapter and may expend up to ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for any campaign purpose. A candidate who exceeds either of these limits shall be ineligible to file a declaration of intent or receive funds from the Fair Elections Fund.

(2) From the filing of a declaration of intent through the end of the qualifying period, a candidate shall expend no more than an amount equal to the maximum qualifying contributions for that candidate, not including possible rescue funds or the remaining money raised pursuant to subdivision (1) of this subsection. Contributions a candidate may use to expend to that limit shall be limited to qualifying contributions and personal and family contributions permitted by subdivision (4) of this subsection.

(3) After the qualifying period and through the date of the general election, the candidate shall expend only the funds the candidate receives from the Fund pursuant to G.S. 163-278.65(b)(4) plus any funds remaining from the qualifying period and possible rescue funds.

(4) During the qualifying period, the candidate may contribute up to one thousand dollars ($1,000) of that candidate's own money to the campaign and may accept in contributions one thousand dollars ($1,000) from each member of that candidate's family consisting of spouse, parent, child, brother, and sister.

(5) A candidate and the candidate's committee shall limit the use of all revenues permitted by this subsection to expenditures for campaign-related purposes only. The Board shall publish guidelines outlining permissible campaign-related expenditures.

(6) Any contribution received by a participating or certified candidate that falls outside that permitted by this subsection shall be returned to the donor as soon as practicable. Contributions intentionally made, solicited, or accepted in violation of this Article are subject to civil penalties as specified in G.S. 163-278.70. The funds involved shall be forfeited to the Civil Penalty and Forfeiture Fund.

(7) A candidate shall return to the Fund any amount distributed for an election that is unspent and uncommitted at the date of the election, or at the time the individual ceases to be a certified candidate, whichever occurs first. For accounting purposes, all qualifying, personal, and family contributions shall be considered spent before revenue from the Fund is spent or committed.

(e) Revocation. – A candidate may revoke, in writing to the Board, a decision to participate in the Fair Elections Fund at any time before the deadline set by the Board for the candidate's submission of information for the Voter Guide described in G.S. 163-278.69. After a timely revocation, that candidate may accept and expend outside the limits of this Article without violating this Article. Within 10 days after revocation, a candidate shall return to the Board all money received from the Fund.

"§ 163-278.65. Distribution from the Fund.

(a) Timing of Fund Distribution. – The Board shall distribute to a certified candidate revenue from the Fund in an amount determined under subdivision (b)(4) of this section within five business days after the certified candidate's name is approved to appear on the ballot in a contested general election, but no earlier than five business days after the primary.

(b) Amount of Fund Distribution. – By August 1, 2003, and no less frequently than every two years thereafter, the Board shall determine the amount of funds, rounded to the nearest one hundred dollars ($100.00), to be distributed to certified candidates as follows:

(c) Method of Fund Distribution. – The Board, in consultation with the State Treasurer and the State Controller, shall develop a rapid, reliable method of conveying funds to certified candidates. In all cases, the Board shall distribute funds to certified candidates in a manner that is expeditious, ensures accountability, and safeguards the integrity of the Fund. If the money in the Fund is insufficient to fully fund all certified candidates, then the available money shall be distributed proportionally, according to each candidate's eligible funding.

"§ 163-278.66. Reporting requirements.

(a) Reporting by Noncertified Candidates and Independent Expenditure Entities. – Any noncertified candidate with a certified opponent shall report total income, expenses, and obligations to the Board by facsimile machine or electronically within 24 hours after the total amount of campaign expenditures or obligations made, or funds raised or borrowed, exceeds eighty percent (80%) of the trigger for rescue funds as defined in G.S. 163-278.62(18). Any entity making independent expenditures in excess of three thousand dollars ($3,000) in support of or opposition to a certified candidate shall report the total funds received, spent, or obligated for those expenditures to the Board by facsimile machine or electronically within 24 hours after the total amount of expenditures or obligations made, or funds raised or borrowed, for the purpose of making the independent expenditures, exceeds fifty percent (50%) of the trigger for rescue funds. After this 24-hour filing, the noncertified candidate or independent expenditure entity shall comply with an expedited reporting schedule by filing additional reports after receiving each additional amount in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000) or after making or obligating to make each additional expenditure(s) in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000). The schedule and forms for reports required by this subsection shall be made according to procedures developed by the Board.

(b) Reporting by Participating and Certified Candidates. – Notwithstanding other provisions of law, participating and certified candidates shall report any money received, including all previously unreported qualifying contributions, all campaign expenditures, obligations, and related activities to the Board according to procedures developed by the Board. A certified candidate who ceases to be certified or ceases to be a candidate or who loses an election shall file a final report with the Board and return any unspent revenues received from the Fund. In developing these procedures, the Board shall utilize existing campaign reporting procedures whenever practical.

(c) Timely Access to Reports. – The Board shall ensure prompt public access to the reports received in accordance with this Article. The Board may utilize electronic means of reporting and storing information.

"§ 163-278.67. Rescue funds.

(a) When Rescue Funds Become Available. – When any report or group of reports shows that 'funds in opposition to a certified candidate or in support of an opponent to that candidate' as described in this section, exceed the trigger for rescue funds as defined in G.S. 163-278.62(18), the Board shall issue immediately to that certified candidate an additional amount equal to the reported excess within the limits set forth in this section. 'Funds in opposition to a certified candidate or in support of an opponent to that candidate' shall be equal to the sum of the following:

(1) Campaign expenditures or obligations made, or funds raised or borrowed, whichever is greater, reported by any one uncertified opponent of a certified candidate. Where a certified candidate has more than one uncertified opponent, the measure shall be taken from the uncertified candidate showing the highest relevant dollar amount.

"§ 163-278.68. Enforcement and administration.

(a) Enforcement by the Board. – The Board, with the advice of the Advisory Council for the Fair Elections Fund, shall administer the provisions of this Article.

(b) Advisory Council for the Fair Elections Fund. – There is established under the Board the Advisory Council for the Fair Elections Fund to advise the Board on the rules, procedures, and opinions it adopts for the enforcement and administration of this Article and on the funding needs and operation of the Fair Elections Fund. The Advisory Council shall consist of five members to be appointed as follows:

(1) The Governor shall name two members from a list of individuals nominated by the State Chair of the political party with which the greatest number of registered voters is affiliated. The State Chair of that party shall submit to the Governor the names of five nominees.

(2) The Governor shall name two members from a list of individuals nominated by the State Chair of the political party with which the second greatest number of registered voters is affiliated. The State Chair of that party shall submit to the Governor the names of five nominees.

(3) The Board shall name one member by unanimous vote of all members of the Board. If the Board cannot reach unanimity on the appointment of that member, the Advisory Council shall consist of the remaining members.

No individual shall be eligible to be a member of the Advisory Council who would be ineligible to serve on a county board of elections in accordance with G.S. 163-30. The initial members shall be appointed by December 1, 2002. Of the initial appointees, two are appointed for one-year terms, two are appointed for two-year terms, and one is appointed for a three-year term according to random lot. Thereafter, appointees are appointed to serve four-year terms. An individual may not serve more than two full terms. The appointed members receive the legislative per diem pursuant to G.S. 120-3.1. One of the Advisory Council members shall be elected by the members as Chair. A vacancy during an unexpired term shall be filled in the same manner as the regular appointment for that term, but a vacancy appointment is only for the unexpired portion of the term.

(c) Appeals. – The initial decision on an issue concerning qualification, certification, or distribution of funds under this Article shall be made by the Executive Director of the Board. The procedure for challenging that decision is as follows:

(1) An individual or entity aggrieved by a decision by the Executive Director of the Board may appeal to the full Board within three business days of the decision. The appeal shall be in writing and shall set forth the reasons for the appeal.

(2) Within five business days after an appeal is properly made, and after due notice is given to the parties, the Board shall hold a hearing. The appellant has the burden of providing evidence to demonstrate that the decision of the Executive Director was improper. The Board shall rule on the appeal within three business days after the completion of the hearing.

(d) Board to Adopt Rules and Issue Opinions. – The Board shall adopt rules and issue opinions to ensure effective administration of this Article. Such rules and opinions shall include, but not be limited to, procedures for obtaining qualifying contributions, certification of candidates, addressing circumstances involving special elections, vacancies, recounts, withdrawals, or replacements, collection of revenues for the Fund, distribution of Fund revenue to certified candidates, return of unspent Fund disbursements, and compliance with this Article. The Board shall adopt procedures for the distribution of rescue money that further the purpose and avoid the subversion of G.S. 163-278.67. For races involving special elections, recounts, vacancies, withdrawals, or replacement candidates, the Board shall establish procedures for qualification, certification, disbursement of Fund revenues, and return of unspent Fund revenues. The Board shall fulfill each of these duties in consultation with the Advisory Council on the Fair Elections Fund.

(e) Report to the Public. – The Advisory Council for the Fair Elections Fund shall issue a report by March 1, 2005, and every two years thereafter that evaluates and makes recommendations about the implementation of this Article and the feasibility of expanding its provisions to include other candidates for State office based on the experience of the Fund and the experience of similar programs in other states. The Advisory Council shall also evaluate and make recommendations regarding how to address activities that could undermine the purpose of this Article, including spending that appears to target candidates receiving money from the Fund but that does not meet the definition of 'independent expenditures.'

"§ 163-278.69. Voter education.

(a) Judicial Voter Guide. – The Board shall publish a Judicial Voter Guide that explains the functions of the appellate courts and the laws concerning the election of appellate judges, the purpose and function of the Fair Elections Fund, and the laws concerning voter registration. The Board shall distribute the Guide to as many voting-age individuals in the State as practical, through a mailing to all residences or other means it deems effective. The distribution shall occur no more than 28 days nor fewer than seven days before the primary and no more than 28 days nor fewer than seven days before the general election.

(b) Candidate Information. – The Judicial Voter Guide shall include information concerning all candidates for the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals, as provided by those candidates according to a format provided to the candidates by the Board. The Board shall request information for the Guide from each candidate according to the following format:

(1) Place of residence.
(2) Education.
(3) Occupation.
(4) Employer.
(5) Date admitted to the bar.
(6) Legal/judicial experience.
(7) Candidate statement, limited to 150 words. Concerning that statement, the Board shall send to the candidates instructions as follows: 'Your statement may include information such as your qualifications, your endorsements, your ratings, why you are seeking judicial office, why you would make a good judge, what distinguishes you from your opponent(s), your acceptance of spending and fund-raising limits to qualify to receive funds from the Fair Elections Fund, and any other information relevant to your candidacy. We will correct incidental errors of spelling, grammar, and punctuation which might prejudice the candidate's statement unfairly or confuse voters. We will make no changes to the content of any statement which would alter the meaning or substance of the statement. The State Board of Elections will reject any portion of any statement which it determines contains obscene, profane, or defamatory language.'

"§ 163-278.70. Civil penalty.

In addition to any other penalties that may be applicable, any individual, political committee, or other entity that violates any provision of this Article is subject to a civil penalty of up to ten thousand dollars ($10,000) per violation or three times the amount of any financial transactions involved in the violation, whichever is greater. In addition to any fine, for good cause shown, a candidate found in violation of this Article may be required to return to the Fund all amounts distributed to the candidate from the Fund. If the Board makes a determination that a violation of this Article has occurred, the Board shall calculate and assess the amount of the civil penalty and shall notify the entity that is assessed the civil penalty of the amount that has been assessed. The Board shall then proceed in the manner prescribed in G.S. 163-278.34. In determining whether or not a candidate is in violation of this Article, the Board may consider as a mitigating factor any circumstances out of the candidate's control."

SECTION 2. G.S. 163-278.13 reads as rewritten:

"§ 163-278.13. Limitation on contributions.

(a) No individual, political committee, or other entity shall contribute to any candidate or other political committee any money or make any other contribution in any election in excess of four thousand dollars ($4,000) for that election.

(b) No candidate or political committee shall accept or solicit any contribution from any individual, other political committee, or other entity of any money or any other contribution in any election in excess of four thousand dollars ($4,000) for that election.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) of this section, it shall be lawful for a candidate or a candidate's spouse, parents, brothers and sisters to make a contribution to the candidate or to the candidate's treasurer of any amount of money or to make any other contribution in any election in excess of four thousand dollars ($4,000) for that election.

(d) For the purposes of this section, the term "an election" means any primary, second primary, or general election in which the candidate or political committee may be involved, without regard to whether the candidate is opposed or unopposed in the election, except that where a candidate is not on the ballot in a second primary, that second primary is not "an election" with respect to that candidate.

(e) This section shall not apply to any national, State, district or county executive committee of any political party. For the purposes of this section only, the term "political party" means only those political parties officially recognized under G.S. 163-96.

(e1) No referendum committee which received any contribution from a corporation, labor union, insurance company, business entity, or professional association may make any contribution to another referendum committee, to a candidate or to a political committee.

(e2) The potential for corruption and its appearance resulting from campaign contributions is especially problematic in elections of the judiciary, since impartiality is uniquely important to the integrity and credibility of the courts. Accordingly, the following provisions shall apply with respect to candidates for justice of the Supreme Court, judge of the Court of Appeals, judge of the Superior Court, and judge of the District Court:

(1) No candidate shall accept, and no contributor shall make to that candidate, a contribution in any election exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000) except as provided for elsewhere in this subsection.

(2) A candidate may accept, and a family contributor may make to that candidate, a contribution not exceeding two thousand dollars ($2,000) in an election if the contributor is that candidate's parent, child, brother, or sister.

(3) No candidate for justice of the Supreme Court or judge of the Court of Appeals shall accept, and no contributor shall make to that candidate, a contribution during the period beginning 21 days before the day of the general election and ending the day after the general election. This subdivision applies with respect to a candidate opposed in the general election by a certified candidate as defined in Article 22D of this Chapter who has not received the maximum rescue funds available under G.S. 163-278.67. The recipient of a contribution that apparently violates this subdivision has three days to return the contribution or file a detailed statement with the State Board of Elections explaining why the contribution does not violate this subdivision.

As used in this subsection, 'candidate' is also a political committee authorized by the candidate for that candidate's election. Nothing in this subsection shall prohibit a candidate or the spouse of that candidate from making a contribution or loan secured entirely by that individual's assets to that candidate's own campaign.

(f) Any individual, candidate, political committee, referendum committee, or other entity that violates the provisions of this section is guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-41(a)(1) reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-41. Attorneys-at-law and other professionals.

(a) Every individual in this State who practices a profession or engages in a business and is included in the list below must obtain from the Secretary a statewide license for the privilege of practicing the profession or engaging in the business. A license required by this section is not transferable to another person. The tax for each license is fifty dollars ($50.00).

(1) An attorney-at-law. In addition to the tax, whenever an attorney pays the tax, the Department shall ask that attorney to make a contribution of fifty dollars ($50.00) to support the Fair Elections Fund established by G.S. 163-278.63. Payment of the contribution is not required and is not considered part of the tax owed.

SECTION 4. Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-159.2. Designation of tax to North Carolina Fair Elections Fund.

(a) Allocation to the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund. – One dollar ($1.00) from the income taxes paid each year by each individual with an income tax liability of at least that amount shall be allocated to the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund established in Article 22D of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes, unless the taxpayer indicates an objection to the allocation on the income tax return in the manner described in subsection (b) of this section. In the case of a married couple filing a joint return, each individual shall have the option of objecting to the allocation. The amounts allocated under this subsection to the Fund shall be credited to it on a quarterly basis.

(b) Form. – Individual income tax returns shall include a place for the designation of one dollar ($1.00) to the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund with two options given to the taxpayer: 'For' and 'Against,' and the following statement: 'One dollar will go to the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund to support a nonpartisan court system, unless you fill in the circle labeled "Against." Your tax remains the same regardless of which circle you choose.' A paid preparer of tax returns shall not choose one of the two options for a taxpayer without the taxpayer's consent. Every software package used in preparing North Carolina income tax returns shall default to the option 'For' on that question, if it uses a default, allowing the taxpayer to change the default response if desired. The Department of Revenue shall notify every person applying to have a software package approved for use in preparing North Carolina income tax returns of the requirement of the previous sentence.

(c) Instructions. – Individual income tax returns shall include in their instructions an explanatory statement for the designation described in subsection (b) of this section which shall read: 'The North Carolina Fair Elections Fund provides campaign money to candidates for the North Carolina Supreme Court and Court of Appeals who voluntarily accept strict campaign spending and fund-raising limits. The Fund also helps finance educational materials about voter registration, the role of the appellate courts, and the candidates seeking election as appellate judges in North Carolina. One dollar ($1.00) from the taxes you pay will go to the Fund unless you fill in the circle marked "Against." Regardless of what choice you make, your tax will not increase, nor will any refund you are entitled to be reduced.' The exact wording of this statement or the statement specified in subsection (b) of this section may be modified if the new wording does not change the statement's essential meaning and is approved by the State Board of Elections and the Advisory Council for the Fair Elections Fund."

SECTION 5. Article 22C of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes is repealed.

SECTION 6.(a) G.S. 105-269.6 is repealed.

SECTION 6.(b) In order to pay for its costs for the 2002-2003 fiscal year of programming, design, printing, and other expenses associated with implementing this act, the Secretary of Revenue may draw funds not to exceed one hundred seventy-eight thousand six hundred dollars ($178,600) from contributions made under G.S. 105-269.6 prior to its repeal by this section. After drawing those funds, the Secretary of Revenue shall transfer immediately to the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund any remaining funds that were contributed to the North Carolina Candidates Financing Fund pursuant to G.S. 105-269.6 before its repeal by this section. Funds the Secretary of Revenue withdraws but then determines are not needed shall also be transferred to the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund.

SECTION 7. Subchapter X of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes reads as rewritten:

The canvass of the primary shall be held on the same date as the primary canvass fixed under G.S. 163-188. The canvass shall be conducted in accordance with Article 16 of this Chapter.

(c) Determination of Election Winners. – In the election, the names of those candidates declared nominated without a primary and those candidates nominated in the primary shall be placed on the ballot. The board of elections shall verify the names on the petition, and if the petition and notice of candidacy are found to be sufficient, the candidate's name shall be printed on the appropriate ballot. Petitions must be presented to the county board of elections for verification at least 15 days before the petition is due to be filed with the State Board of Elections. The State Board of Elections may adopt rules to implement this section and to provide standard petition forms.

"§ 163-326. Certification of notices of candidacy.

(a) Names of Candidates Sent to Secretary of State. – Within three days after the time for filing notices of candidacy with the State Board of Elections under the provisions of G.S. 163-323(b) has expired, the chairman or secretary of that Board shall certify to the Secretary of State the name and address of each person who has filed with the State Board of Elections, indicating in each instance the office sought.

(b) Notification of Local Boards. – No later than 10 days after the time for filing notices of candidacy under the provisions of G.S. 163-323(b) has expired, the chairman of the State Board of Elections shall certify to the chairman of the county board of elections in each county in the appropriate district the names of candidates for nomination to the offices of Justice of the Supreme Court, judge of the Court of Appeals, and superior and district court judge who have filed the required notice and paid the required filing fee or presented the required petition to the State Board of Elections, so that their names may be printed on the official judicial ballot for Justice of the Supreme Court, judge of the Court of Appeals, and superior and district court.

(c) Receipt of Notification by County Board. – Within two days after receipt of each of the letters of certification from the chairman of the State Board of Elections required by subsection (b) of this section, each county elections board chairman shall acknowledge receipt by letter addressed to the chairman of the State Board of Elections.

"§ 163-327. Vacancies of candidates or elected officers.

(a) Death or Disqualification of Candidate Before Primary. – If a candidate for nomination in a primary dies or becomes disqualified before the primary but after the ballots have been printed, the State Board of Elections shall determine whether or not there is time to reprint the ballots. If the Board determines that there is not enough time to reprint the ballots, the deceased or disqualified candidate's name shall remain on the ballots. If that candidate receives enough votes for nomination, such votes shall be disregarded and the candidate receiving the next highest number of votes below the number necessary for nomination shall be declared nominated. If the death or disqualification of the candidate leaves only two candidates for each office to be filled, the nonpartisan primary shall not be held and all candidates shall be declared nominees.

(b) Death, Disqualification, or Resignation of Official After Election. – If a person elected to the office of Justice of the Supreme Court, judge of the Court of Appeals, or superior or district court judge dies, becomes disqualified, or resigns on or after election day and before he has qualified by taking the oath of office, the office shall be deemed vacant and shall be filled as provided by law.

"§ 163-328. Failure of candidates to file; death or other disqualification of a candidate before election.

(a) Insufficient Number of Candidates. – If when the filing period expires, candidates have not filed for an office to be filled under this Article, the State Board of Elections shall extend the filing period for five days for any such offices.

(b) Death or Other Disqualification of Candidate; Reopening Filing. – If there is no primary because only one or two candidates have filed for a single office, or the number of candidates filed for a group of offices does not exceed twice the number of positions to be filled, and thereafter a candidate dies or otherwise becomes disqualified before the election and before the ballots are printed, the State Board of Elections shall, upon notification of the death or other disqualification, immediately reopen the filing period for an additional five days during which time additional candidates shall be permitted to file for election. If the ballots have been printed at the time the State Board of Elections receives notice of the candidate's death or other disqualification, the Board shall determine whether there will be sufficient time to reprint them before the election if the filing period is reopened for three days. If the Board determines that there will be sufficient time to reprint the ballots, it shall reopen the filing period for three days to allow other candidates to file for election, and such election shall be conducted on the plurality basis.

(c) Vacancy Caused by Nominated Candidate; Ballots Not Reprinted. – If the ballots have been printed at the time the State Board of Elections receives notice of a candidate's death, other disqualification, or resignation, and if the Board determines that there is not enough time to reprint the ballots before the election if the filing period is reopened for three days, then regardless of the number of candidates remaining for the office or group of offices, the ballots shall not be reprinted and the name of the vacated candidate shall remain on the ballots. If a vacated candidate should poll the highest number of votes in the election for a single office or enough votes to be elected to one of a group of offices, the State Board of Elections shall declare the office vacant and it shall be filled in the manner provided by law.

"§ 163-329. Elections to fill vacancy created after primary filing period to use plurality method.

(a) General. – If a vacancy is created in the office of Justice of the Supreme Court, judge of the Court of Appeals, or judge of superior court after the filing period for the primary opens but more than 60 days before the general election, and under the Constitution of North Carolina an election is to be held for that position, such that the office shall be filled in the general election as provided in G.S. 163-9, the election to fill the office for the remainder of the term shall be conducted without a primary using the plurality method as provided in subsection (b) of this section. If a vacancy is created in the office of Justice of the Supreme Court, judge of the Court of Appeals, or judge of superior court before the filing period for the primary opens, and under the Constitution of North Carolina an election is to be held for that position, such that the office shall be filled in the general election as provided in G.S. 163-9, the election to fill the office for the remainder of the term shall be conducted in accordance with G.S. 163-322.

(b) Plurality Election Rules. – Elections under this section shall be conducted using the following rules:

(1) The filing period shall be prescribed by the State Board of Elections, but in no event may it be less than five working days. If a vacancy occurs in a second office in the same superior court district after the first filing period established under the section has closed, the State Board of Elections shall reopen filing for a period of not less than five working days for the office of Justice of the Supreme Court, judge of the Court of Appeals, or superior court judge. All persons filing in either filing period shall run as a group and the election results shall be determined by subdivision (3) of this subsection.

(2) When more than one person is seeking election to a single office, the candidate who receives the highest number of votes shall be declared elected.

(3) When more persons are seeking election to two or more offices (constituting a group) than there are offices to be filled, those candidates receiving the highest number of votes, equal in number to the number of offices to be filled, shall be declared elected.

(4) If two or more candidates receiving the highest number of votes each receive the same number of votes, the board of elections shall resolve the tie in accordance with G.S. 163-182.8.

(5) Except as provided in this section, the provisions of this Article apply to elections conducted under this section.

"§ 163-330. Voting in primary.

Any person who will become qualified by age or residence to register and vote in the general election for which the primary is held, even though not so qualified by the date of the primary, shall be entitled to register for the primary and general election prior to the primary and then to vote in the primary after being registered. Such person may register not earlier than 60 days nor later than the last day for making application to register under G.S. 163-82.6(c) prior to the primary.

"§ 163-331. Date of primary.

The primary shall be held on the same date as established for primary elections under G.S. 163-1(b).

"§ 163-332. Ballots.

(a) General. – In elections there shall be official ballots. The ballots shall be printed to conform to the requirement of G.S. 163-165.6(c) and to show the name of each person who has filed notice of candidacy, and the office for which each aspirant is a candidate.

Only those who have filed the required notice of candidacy with the proper board of elections, and who have paid the required filing fee or qualified by petition, shall have their names printed on the official primary ballots. Only those candidates properly nominated shall have their names appear on the official general election ballots.

(b) Ballots to Be Furnished by County Board of Elections. – It shall be the duty of the county board of elections to print official ballots for the following offices to be voted for in the primary:

Justice of the Supreme Court.

Judge of the Court of Appeals.

Superior court judge.

District court judge.

In printing ballots, the county board of elections shall be governed by instructions of the State Board of Elections with regard to width, color, kind of paper, form, and size of type.

Three days before the election, the chairman of the county board of elections shall distribute official ballots to the chief judge of each precinct in his county, and the chief judge shall give a receipt for the ballots received. On the day of the primary, it shall be the chief judge's duty to have all the ballots so delivered available for use at the precinct voting place.

"§ 163-333: Repealed by Session Laws 2001-398, s. 15, effective January 1, 2002.

"§ 163-334. Counting of ballots.

Counting of ballots in primaries and elections held under this Article shall be under the same rules as for counting of ballots in nonpartisan municipal elections under Article 24 of this Chapter.

"§ 163-335. Other rules.

Except as provided by this Article, the conduct of elections shall be governed by Subchapter VI of this Chapter."

SENATE BILL 1054:
Judicial Campaign Reform Act

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance Committee	Introduced by:	Senator Gulley
Date:	August 20, 2002	Summary by:	Gilkeson/Cohen
Version:	S1054-CSRR-73[v.8]		Staff Attorneys

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1054 would provide, beginning in 2004, what is intended to be full public financing in the general election for Court of Appeals and Supreme Court candidates who accept fundraising and spending limits. The chief funding mechanisms would be a voluntary $50 contribution requested from lawyers at the time they pay their privilege license tax and a $1 "reverse check-off" on individual State income tax forms. Under the "reverse check-off," $1 of a taxpayer's tax liability would be designated to the Fund rather than to the State's General Fund unless the taxpayer made the decision to mark "Against" on the tax form.

The bill would also lower the contribution limit for all judicial candidates to $1,000. In another major change to begin in 2004, Supreme Court and Court of Appeals candidates would be elected in nonpartisan primary and election method.

CONDITIONS FOR PARTICIPATION. Beginning in 2004, general election candidates for Supreme Court and Court of Appeals can receive a set amount of public funding if they voluntarily meet these conditions:

- Before filing a declaration of intent to enter the program, must not raise or spend more than $10,000 on campaign after the beginning of the year before the election. (p. 4, lines 27-33)
- After declaring intent to participate, raise the minimum in qualifying contributions as follows:
  1. Qualifying contributions must come in amounts between $10 and $500 each. (p. 2, line 28)
  2. They must come from North Carolina registered voters only. (p. 2, line 31)
  3. They must come from at least 350 contributors. (p. 3, line 43)
  4. They must be raised during the qualifying period, which begins September 1 of the year before the election and ends primary day. (p. 2, lines 34-36)
  5. The sum of the qualifying contributions must remain within a range pegged to a multiple of the filing fee for the office. The minimum is about $33,000 for Court of Appeals judges and the maximum is about $69,000 for Supreme Court justices. See Chart for details. Any excess contribution must be returned to the donor. (p. 2, line 14-19 and p. 5 lines 12-14)
- Spend only up to the qualifying contribution cap during the primary, raised from qualifying contributions and personal/family contributions (up to $1,000 per family member). (p. 4, lines 34-41 and p. 5 lines 3-7)
- Agree to spend only public funds and remaining qualifying donations in the general election. (p. 4, line 42 through p.5, line 2)

Candidates who hold office as statewide appellate judges or who were elected to the statewide appellate bench within the past 4 years are not required to raise the minimum qualifying contributions. They are deemed to have already shown that they have support. They are, however, required to abide by the spending limits and contribution limits. (p. 4, lines 2-5)

BENEFITS OF PARTICIPATION. If the State Board of Elections certifies a candidate as meeting these conditions, the candidate can receive from the Fair Election Fund:

- In a contested primary, rescue funds to match opposition spending that exceeds about $67,000 -- up to a total of about $135,000 in rescue funds. (p. 6, line 42 through p. 7, line 17)
- In the general election, an initial amount of 175% of the position's salary for Supreme Court candidates ($201,300) and 125% of the salary for Court of Appeals candidates ($137,500). (p. 5, line 44 through p. 6, line 5)
- In the general election, rescue funds to match opposition spending that exceeds the initial award, up to twice that amount. (p. 7, lines 18-21)

OTHER PROVISIONS IN SENATE BILL 1054:

- Uses mixture of a voluntary $50 contribution requested from attorneys at the time they pay their privilege license tax, effective July 1, 2003; leftovers from Candidates Financing Fund; voluntary contributions generally; and a new $1 reverse check-off on the State individual income tax form, effective for the tax years beginning January 1, 2003. (p. 3, lines 8-21; privilege license at p. 11, lines 17-29; reverse check-off at p. 11, line 30 through p. 12, line 21)
- Provides a non-partisan primary and election system for election of appellate judges, the same as that now in place for Superior and District Court judges. Some cities use the same method for municipal offices. The nonpartisan primary is used to narrow the field of candidates to twice the number to be elected. (If only two candidates file, there is no contested primary.) The general election is between the candidates left after the primary. (p. 12, line 34 through p. 22, line 32)
- Lowers contributions limits to $1,000 for all judicial candidates. Family members may give $2,000. (p. 10,lines 3-42)
- Provides in primary and general election a Voter Guide on all candidates in appellate judge contests. (p. 8, line 44, through p. 9, line 33)
- Provides substantial rescue money to a certified candidate who is hit with spending by an opposing non-certified candidate and/or by independent-expenditure activity that exceeds the spending limit accepted by the certified candidate. (p. 6, line 42 through p. 7, line 20) The bill provides for expedited reporting to make the rescue provision work. (p. 6, lines 14-30)
- To address last-minute "surprise attack," embargos fundraising in the 21 days before Election Day by a non-certified candidate who opposes a certified candidate who has not maxed out on getting rescue money. The non-certified candidate can still add more money from personal funds. (p. 10, line 43 through p. 11, line 16)
- Provides a civil fine of up to $10,000 for a violation of the Article, or up to treble the amount of any financial transactions involved in the violation, whichever is greater. A certified candidate in violation may have to give back all money received from the Fund.

(p. 9, line 34, through p. 10, line 2)

Chart – How Amounts Are Calculated in PCS for Senate Bill 1054

Office	Salary	Filing Fee (1% of salary)	Minimum Amount to be Raised in Qualifying Contributions (30x filing fee)	Maximum Amount to be Raised in Qualifying Contributions * (60x filing fee)	Distribution Amount – Court of Appeals # (125x filing fee)	Distribution Amount – Supreme Court # (175x filing fee)
Supreme Court 	$115,000	$1150	$34,500	$69,000 *		$201,300 #
Court of Appeals	$110,000	$1100	$33,000	$66,000 *	$137,500 #

 Numbers slightly higher for Chief Justice.

* This is also the limit on spending during primary, unless rescue money is triggered. Total rescue money is capped at twice the amounts above: $132,000 for Court of Appeals and $138,000 for Supreme Court candidate.

This is also the limit on spending during the general election, unless rescue money is triggered. Total rescue money is capped at twice the amounts above: $275,000 for Court of Appeals to $402,600 for Supreme Court candidate.

SUMMARY OF CHANGES TO SENATE PASSED SB 1054: The PCS presented today makes the following changes to the bill the Senate passed last November 20:

1. Nonpartisan Primary and Election. It changes the method of electing Supreme Court justices and Court of Appeals judges to a nonpartisan primary and election, rather than the partisan primary and non-partisan general election that were in the Senate-passed bill. The change follows the same pattern as the election of Superior and District judges. (Pages 12-22.) It also removes from the bill the authority for the political party that nominated a candidate to spend up to 20% of the candidate's base level of public financing on a ticket campaign. (Gone from page 5 and page 10.)

2. No Petition. It removes the requirement that qualifying candidates must collect 2,000 names on a petition. (Gone from page 2 in the definitions and from pages 3 and 4.)

3. Voter Guide During Primary. It provides for distribution of the Judicial Voter Guide in the primary as well as the general election. The State Board of Elections is also given more discretion in distributing the Guide. (Page 9, lines 6-8.)

4. Higher Threshold Number for Qualifying Contributors. It raises from 250 to 350 the number of registered voters from whom qualifying contributions must be raised. (Page 3, line 43.)

5. Higher Dollar Ceiling for Qualifying Contributions. It raises the multiplier for maximum qualifying contributions from 45 to 60. (Page 2, line 15.)

6. Higher Dollar Floor for Qualifying Contributions. It raises the multiplier for minimum qualifying contributions from 20 to 30. (Page 2, line 18.)

7. Clearer Rules for Measuring of Opposition Spending to Trigger Rescue Funds. It clarifies that to calculate rescue funds, spending by the single highest-spending noncertified opposition candidate is used rather than the sum of spending by all noncertified opposition candidates. However, for independent expenditures, the sum of all such expenditures is the measure. (Page 7, lines 4-14.)

8. More Specific Expedited Reporting of Opposition Money. It specifies that if a non-certified candidate or independent expender reaches a money flow that triggers a 24-hour filing duty, that entity shall thereafter file a report after raising or spending every $1,000 increment. (Page 6, lines 25-30.) Senate passed S1054 required the same entities to follow an expedited reporting schedule that would have been designed by the State Board.

9. Change in Contribution Limits for all Judicial Candidates. It sets the contribution limit at $1,000 per donor per donee per election for all judicial candidates – Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, Superior Court, District Court. A special $2,000 limit is reserved for family members of the candidate. The Senate-passed bill set a $500 limit for appellate judge candidates only. It left the trial court judges at the standard $4,000 limit. (Page 10, lines 36-42)

10. Reverse Check-off Changes. It changes the wording that introduces the reverse check-off on the State Income Tax return by adding a brief description of the Fund's purpose: "to support a nonpartisan judicial system." It also adds a provision that prohibits software packages that default to "Against" on the Fund check-off. (Page 12, lines 3-8)

11. Funding Wording. *It changes the wording of the funding, to make it clear that no money is to be spent from the General Fund, and to enable the Department of Revenue and the State Board of Elections to use the receipts of the Candidates Financing Fund more quickly. PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: State Board of Elections, Department of Revenue

EFFECTIVE DATE: 2004 Elections for Supreme Court, Court of Appeals

BILL SUMMARY[1]:

Beginning in 2004, the bill would provide what is intended to be full public financing for candidates in the general election for Court of Appeals and Supreme Court who accept fundraising and spending limits. The chief funding mechanisms would be a $50 voluntary contribution requested from lawyers who pay a privilege license fee and a $1 designation on the State income tax form (unless the taxpayer says against). This bill also requires the State Board of Elections to publish and distribute a judicial voters' guide to every residence before the primary and before the general election.

[1] Adapted from Committee Counsel Summary

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

NC Fair Elections Fund.

This bill establishes the NC Fair Elections Fund (Fund) from which candidates for the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals may choose to have their campaigns financed. If the State Board of Elections certifies a candidate to participate in public financing, the candidate can receive from the Fair Election Fund:

- In a contested primary, rescue funds to match opposition spending that exceeds about $67,000 -- up to a total of about $135,000 in rescue funds. A candidate in a second primary may receive the same amount of rescue funds for the second primary campaign.
- In the general election, an initial amount of 175% of the position's salary for Supreme Court candidates ($115,336 * 1.75 = $201,800) and 125% of the position's salary for Court of Appeals candidates ($110,530 * 1.25 = 138,200 rounded to the nearest hundred).
- In the general election, rescue funds to match opposition spending that exceeds the initial award, up to twice that amount.

Based on the base distribution per candidate and the number of seats for the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals that are up for election in 2004, 2006, and 2008, the amount needed to fund publicly financed campaigns for the appellate judiciary for each of those election years is noted in the table below, assuming 100% participation.

SUMMARY OF FUNDS REQUIRED FOR DISTRIBUTION TO CANDIDATES CERTIFIED TO PARTICIPATE IN PUBLICLY FINANCED CAMPAIGNS

		2004			2006			2008
	Base	Seats	Cand.	Funding	Seats	Cand.	Funding	Seats	Cand.	Funding
Supreme Court	$201,800	1	2	$403,600	2	4	$807,200	2	4	$807,200
Court of Appeals	$138,200	1	2	$276,400	4	8	$1,105,600	5	10	$1,382,000
Total for Appellate Judiciary				$680,000			$1,912,800			$2,189,200

Please note that in the above calculations, no assumptions were made about how much additional public funding would be required if privately funded candidates exceeded spending limits and triggered the release of matching or "rescue" funds to publicly funded candidates. However, it should be noted that if less than 100 % of the candidates opt for public funding, the money anticipated for their campaigns, as indicated in the table above, would be available for rescue funds.

The Fiscal Research Division believes the formula is consistent with the requirements of the bill and the estimates for the amount needed for the NC Fair Elections Fund appear reasonable. The bill requires the SBE to advise the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations of the funds received and the expected needs of the Fund during the next election cycle. The first report is due before October 1, 2003 and subsequent reports are due every two years thereafter.

The bill specifies that the source of funding will be unspent NC Fair Elections Fund grants; monies transferred from the NC Candidates' Financing Fund, tax return designations of $1 from each taxpayer that does not oppose making the designation, and voluntary donations. The bill also requires that a $50 voluntary contribution for the Fund be requested from attorneys who pay the $50 privilege license.

This bill abolishes the Candidates' Financing Fund that was established by G.S. § 105-269.6. Currently, that fund has a balance of $538,923. The bill authorizes the Department of Revenue (DOR) to draw up to $178,600 from the Candidates' Financing Fund to cover its nonrecurring cost associated with this bill. The bill also directs DOR to immediately transfer the remaining balance, estimated to be $360,323, to the new NC Fair Elections Fund.

The bill provides that each taxpayer will be deemed to make a $1 designation to the Fund unless they indicate that they are against making the designation. Currently, taxpayers may designate $1 of their liability for the NC Political Parties Fund; however, in tax year 2000 only 399,566 or 8 % of the 5,072,563 individual taxpayers (including single and joint filers) chose to make the designation. Data indicates that 57.6% of the tax returns were prepared by paid preparers. It is reasonable to believe that a paid preparer will require the taxpayer to make a designation and indicate accordingly on the return (i.e., "for," "against," or "no opinion"). Based on the low number (8%) of individual taxpayers who have affirmatively designated a portion of their tax liability for the Political Parties Fund, the Fiscal Research Division (FRD) believes that those who are required to make a designation (57.6%) are likely to indicate that they are against making a designation. The remaining 42.4% who are self-preparers may indicate "for" or "no opinion" or may make no selection at all, thereby indicating their desire to designate. If only 42.4% of the 5,072,563 individual taxpayers make the designation, $2,150,767 of the tax liability will be designated for the Fair Elections Fund (5,072,563 * .424 * $1= $2,150,767). However, because of the low number of taxpayers who currently affirmatively decide to designate $1 for the Political Parties Fund and considering the expanded use of tax preparation software that will prompt self-preparers to respond to the designation questions, FRD believes that even fewer than 42.4 % will indicate "for" or "no opinion." If FRD assumes that the affect of having a "reverse check-off" designation would not be significantly different than the current affirmative check-off designation because of the use of paid preparers and tax preparation software, it is possible that only 8% would choose to make the designation. If such were the case, the tax liability designated for the Fair Elections Fund would be approximately $405,805 (5,072,563 * .08 * $1 = $405,805). We believe the number of taxpayers who would designate $1 of their tax liability to the Fund is between 42.4% and 8%. Because we have no basis of estimating that number, we have included a range of estimated revenue.

The bill provides that each attorney who is required by N.C. G.S. § 105-41 to obtain a $50 privilege license will be requested to pay an additional $50 to fund the NC Fair Elections Fund. Based on July 1, 2002 renewals and license applications, 11,525 attorneys pay the $50 privilege license fee. The NC Bar Association believes that a high percentage of the attorneys will make the $50 voluntary contribution. However, neither the NC Bar Association nor the Fiscal Research Division has a reasonable estimate of what that percentage is. If 100% of the attorneys who pay the privilege license fee choose to make the $50 contribution, the total revenue to the NC Fair Elections Fund from this source would be $576,250 annually.

Fiscal Research has no basis for estimating the amounts, if any, that will come from unspent grants from the NC Fair Elections Fund and voluntary donations.

A summary of the required funding for candidates and the estimated revenue is noted in the tables below. Based on these estimates, it appears that revenue from taxpayer designations would be sufficient to cover the cost of the elections for the Appellant Judiciary if 42.4% of the taxpayers make the designations. Cumulative revenue collections over the five-year period beginning with fiscal year 2003-2004 would be sufficient to cover the funding needed for the 2004, 2006, and 2008 elections even if only 8% of the taxpayers make the designation, assuming that 100% of the attorneys elected to make the $50 voluntary contribution.

* Assumes 100% election by attorneys (11,525) to pay $50 increase in privilege tax.

Please note that the estimates assume the number of taxpayers would remain constant and there would be no change in the base level based on salary increases.

Also, Fiscal Research estimates that between 8% and 42.4% of taxpayers would designate $1 of their tax liability to the Fund. Any funds that would be designated for the Fund would normally go to the General Fund. Thus, any amount designated for the Fund would decrease General Fund availability.

Administration of the Legislation

The bill provides that the administrative and enforcement cost of the Board related to the NC Fair Elections Fund is to be a cost of the Fund. It also provides that the cost of the Department of Revenue is come from the Candidates' Financing Fund before it is abolished.

State Board of Elections:

This bill requires the State Board of Elections (SBE or Board) to administer the Judicial Campaign Reform Act (Act). The Board estimates that administration of the Act will require changes to their campaign reporting system to facilitate capture of income and expenditures by type as well as by election (i.e., primary vs. general). For example, the bill requires participating candidates to obtain qualifying contributions and it would limit the expenditure of participating candidates. The current system would have to be modified to capture the income and expenditure data. The estimated cost for modifying the system is $31,200 nonrecurring.

The Board also estimates that they will need to hire a full-time accounting employee at a grade 77 (Accountant III) to manage the fund. The minimum salary for a grade 77 position is $43,219 and the benefits total $8,400 for a total of $51,619. The nonrecurring operating cost is estimated to be $6,000 for office furniture and equipment and computer equipment.

The bill establishes a 5-member Advisory Council for the Fair Elections Fund that would be responsible for advising the Board on the rules and opinions it adopts for the enforcement and administration of this Act and the funding needs of the NC Fair Elections Fund. The Board estimates that the expenditures of the Council will include the per diem and travel cost incurred to attend meetings scheduled to accomplish its statutory responsibilities. The members will receive the legislative per diem pursuant to G.S. 120-3.1, which is currently $104 plus mileage at 29 cents per mile. Assuming the Council meets quarterly for 2 days each meeting, the estimated cost is approximately $5,000 ($104/day * 2 days for each meeting * 5 members * 4 meetings/year) including an estimate for mileage.

The bill also requires the State Board of Elections to publish and distribute a voters' guide to each residence in the state before both the primary and general elections. Per the 2000 Census, there are 3.1 million households in the state. The Board estimates that it will cost them between $750,000 and $1,500,000 to produce and distribute the guide. This would include cost for printing which is estimated to be $734,980 for 3 million copies of a 24-page guide as well as the cost for postage and for temporary help to prepare the guides for mailing or contracting with a mailing house. Because the estimate lacked sufficient detail, the Fiscal Research Division cannot determine the reasonableness of their estimate. However, based on information on the costs to other states to publish the guide, the Fiscal Research Division estimates that the guide for each election can be published and distributed to each household for no more than $750,000 for a total of not more than $1.5 million every two years for the primary and general election guides. (The state of Washington publishes and distributes approximately 3 million copies of its 48-page guide for approximately $740,000.)

In addition to the administrative cost discussed above, the Board may incur cost to hear any complaints that present themselves as a result of implementation of this bill. The Board estimates that, for each hearing held during a regularly scheduled meeting, it would incur $650

(excluding the cost of staff-time) in administrative expenses for scheduling, sending certified or special delivery of notices or subpoenas, preparing the correspondence and case file, and the cost of a court reporter. Fiscal Research believes the number of additional complaints will be minimal and therefore, has not included the cost of hearings in the fiscal impact.

The total cost to the State Board of Elections for administering the Judicial Campaign Reform Act is estimated to be $37,200 nonrecurring for modifying the campaign reporting system ($31,200) and start-up cost for additional accounting personnel ($6,000) and $56,619 recurring for the salary and benefits for the accounting personnel ($51,619) and for the meetings of the Advisory Council ($5,000). Though the bill is effective for the 2004 election of the Appellate Judiciary races, the Board is expected to determine the needs of the NC Fair Elections Fund by August 1, 2003 and to report to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations by October 1, 2003. The Fiscal Research Division estimates that the Board would begin to prepare for the 2004 election immediately and thus, estimates that they would incur these expenditures beginning in Fiscal Year 2002-2003. Additionally, every even calendar year, the Board will incur approximately $1.5 million for publishing and distributing a judicial voters' guide before both the primary and general elections. Because the primary election usually occurs in the fiscal year that ends on June 30th of the even year and the general election occurs in the subsequent fiscal year that begins on July 1st of that even year, the cost of the voter's guide will be spread over two fiscal years. Thus, each fiscal year, the Board is expected to incur approximately $750,000 to publish the voters' guide. Please note also, that though our estimate is the same for each guide, the cost for the voters' guide for the general election is likely to be less than the cost of the guide for the primary because there will be fewer candidates for the general election.

Department of Revenue:
To comply with the directives of the legislation would require non-recurring funding to implement changes in several areas. An estimated $178,600 is needed to make modifications to the Integrated Tax Administration System (ITAS) and to revise the individual income tax forms -- D400EZ and D400. On the processing side, the Department will have to make significant changes to the privilege license tax module for ITAS to be able to process a voluntary payment and split money into separate pots. The estimated non-recurring cost of these computer changes is $137,600, which assumes contract programmer payments of $80/hour and includes all costs for requirements, design, development, testing, and changes to notices. The form will have a line for the tax and a line for the contribution. If a return is filed indicating a contribution but the payment covers only the tax, the Department will apply the payment to tax and will not notify the taxpayer of any deficiency.

Also the additions to the forms required by this legislation will impact the department's forms processing. To be able to capture the information, account for it, and report it accurately, the department estimates a cost of $36,000. A review of the tax forms indicates there is not enough space on the D400EZ or the computer generated versions of the D400 to put another block as large as the Political Parties Financing Fund block (which this would require because of the separate listings of choices for each spouse). If this were required, it would be necessary to develop three-page forms for these returns. This would result in a significant cost increase as the result of processing three pages as opposed to two for several million tax returns. At this time there is not an estimate for this revision to the tax forms. The department assumes there are enough vacant ELF (electronic filing) fields to incorporate these changes. The last revision is the deletion of the Campaign Financing Fund check-off that will require $5,000 of processing changes.

Finally in regards to the new check-off for the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund, there are several considerations. First, this concept is contrary to the other contributions and check-offs. Those require a decision to participate. This contribution requires a decision to not participate. Second, the proposed law micromanages the tax form and requires two verbatim sentences to be repeated on the form. The last item that was mandated on the form (highlighting of information in a contrasting color) could not be carried out because forms come from software packages and from websites where the department has no control over the color. Over 70% of the forms come from software packages now. Taxpayers that use these packages do not read the form and fill it out. They answer questions posed by the computer. Printing the sentence on the form is therefore a waste of space for more than 70% of the forms.

SB-1054 - Judicial Campaign Reform Act

An opportunity to protect the integrity and impartiality of the state's highest courts

INSIDE: 1000 ATTORNEYS & JUDGES FOR JUDICIAL CAMPAIGN REFORM

WHAT THE BILL DOES

Essentially, the Judicial Campaign Reform Act (SB-1054) does four things:

- makes the elections of state Supreme Court and Court of Appeals nonpartisan (like Superior and District court races are now);
- gives candidates for state Supreme Court and Court of Appeals the option of public financing, if they voluntarily agree to fund-raising and spending limits;
- distributes a Voter Guide to households about the appellate court candidates; and
- lowers the contribution limits for the judicial candidates not in the public financing program to $1000 per election, from the current limit of $4000 per election.

WHY IT'S IMPORTANT

- Judicial candidates (and sitting judges) shouldn't be engaged in a chase for campaign money. The cost of these elections is climbing higher, and most of the campaign money comes from attorneys and their clients, which poses ethical problems for all involved. Spending per appellate candidate has doubled in just four years. In the current Supreme Court and Court of Appeals campaigns, two-thirds of the funds with identified donors come from attorneys and their families or from the candidates themselves.
- Judges are not supposed to promote a partisan agenda for a set of constituents; they are elected to be nonpartisan arbitrators of what the facts and the law/constitution say about a contested issue.
- A voter guide is needed to help voters know the experience and background of judicial candidates; over time, it can become an important resource, as it has in other states that use the guides.

HOW IS IT FUNDED

The public money in the Fair Elections Fund would chiefly come from two voluntary sources: (a) a $50 contribution attorneys would be asked to give when they get the invoice for their annual privilege license; (b) a $1 "reverse" check-off on the tax form, which means $1 from the state income taxes you pay would go to the Fund, unless you marked the box 'Against' – so if a person really disliked public financing they could withhold their $1 from the Fund. There is no impact on the budget for this biennium. The Fund pays all costs of the program.

WHO IS FOR IT

The current and past 12 presidents of the N.C. State Bar have all endorsed voluntary public financing for nonpartisan Supreme Court and

Court of Appeals elections. Hundreds of other attorneys and civic leaders – Democrats and Republicans – say it's a smart thing to do. So do the president of the American Bar Association (A.P. Carlton of Raleigh) and former Supreme Court justices from both parties (e.g., Burley Mitchell, Francis Parker, Jim Exum, Henry Frye). A poll by the N.C. Center for Voter Education, using a Republican pollster, found that 88% of Republican voters in N.C. favor nonpartisan elections for judges and 76% believe campaign money influences judicial decisions. The numbers are as high or higher for Democrats and Independent voters.

Support for Judicial Public Financing and Non-Partisan Elections Comes from Attorneys Who Spans the Political Sprectrum

I am alarmed at the money and influence being brought to bear on judges particularly from the plaintiff's trial bar. It has already eroded the conservative and reasonable judicial decisions that had been the backbone of our law in this state. I would prefer to see judges taken out of partisan political races. I hope that you will support this legislation, which is a step in the right direction.

■ Raleigh Attorney, Republican

As a trial attorney of 25 years' standing, let me weigh in with my two cents in favor of the Judicial Campaign Reform Act (SB-1054). Nonpartisan judicial elections and the option of public financing are essential to an independent judiciary. I have spent my professional life in courtrooms around this state, and there is nothing more comforting than to appear in front of a judge who is completely impartial, or more daunting than to argue before one who is not. This law will enhance the integrity of the law by which we are all governed. Judges have incredible power, and the slightest abuse tied to partisanship erodes public respect for the system designed to protect us all.

■ Winston-Salem Attorney, Republican

Under the current system, judges are forces to raise increasingly large amounts of money, and a large part comes from attorneys and their clients. That puts all of us in a troublesome situation and makes no sense. And what sense is there in requiring our judges to appeal to partisan constituents, when they are supposed to be nonpartisan arbiters of how our laws and constitution should be applied? We've changed to nonpartisan elections for District and Superior court judges, and we would be wise to do so for the appellate level as well.

■ Wilmington Attorney, Democrat

1000 Attorneys for Judicial Independence And A Public Financing Alternative

"We need an alternative to the money-chase that dominates so much of politics today, and we need to preserve the independence and impartiality of our state courts. We support a program that gives candidates for the state Supreme Court and Court of Appeals the option of financing their campaigns from a publicly supported Fair Elections Fund. It's a good place to begin providing an alternative to state candidates who accept strict spending and fund-raising limits."

House Committee on Finance

Minutes
August 21, 2002

The House Committee on Finance met on Wednesday, August 21, 2002, at 8:30 A.M., in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building. The following members were present: Chairmen Buchanan, Luebke and Wainwright; Vice-Chairs Hill and Jarrell; and Representatives Alexander, Capps, Cox, Decker, Dedmon, Eddins, Edwards, Gibson, Gray, Hackney, Johnson, McCombs, McMahan, Morris, Pope, Rayfield, Starnes, Weiss, Willingham, Wilson, Womble, Baddour, Cunningham, and Earle. The following Sergeant-at-Arms staff were present: Dusty Rhoades, Bob Fowler, Walter Spell, and Bill Freeman. Staff persons present included: Trina Griffin, Martha Walston, Richard Bostic, Linda Millsaps, Bill Gilkeson, and Marilyn Chism; and Committee Assistants Nancy Brantley, Blinda Edwards, and Joyce Harris. The Visitor Registration Sheet and Agenda are attached and incorporated as a part of these minutes.

Chairman Buchanan announced that the first order of business would be SB 1161, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO AMEND THE PRESENT-USE VALUE STATUTES, TO CREATE A PROPERTY TAX SUBCOMMITTEE OF THE REVENUE LAWS STUDY COMMITTEE, TO CLARIFY THE SALES AND USE TAX EXEMPTION REGARDING CERTAIN AGRICULTURAL SUBSTANCES, AND TO MAKE VARIOUS ADMINISTRATIVE CHANGES IN THE TAX LAWS. Upon motion of Rep. Hill, the Proposed Committee Substitute for SB 1161 was adopted for discussion, and Senator Hartsell was recognized to explain the Bill.

Sen. Hartsell pointed out that the PCS contained two recommendations of the Revenue Laws Study Committee: 1) to amend the present-use value statutes to more accurately determine the realistic present-use value of agricultural land, horticultural land, and forestland for property tax purpose--these changes were given a favorable report by House Agriculture on August 20 when it considered the third edition of SB 1161, and 2) to make several changes and clarifications in the tax laws. Sen. Hartsell noted that these same changes and clarifications were earlier considered and given a favorable report by House Finance on June 13 when the Committee examined HB 1509 (a Revenue Laws recommendation sponsored by Reps. Holliman, Luebke, and Wainwright).

Upon motion of Representative Allen, the PSC was given a favorable report, which changes the title, unfavorable as to the Senate committee substitute bill. Copies of the PCS, Bill, Bill Summary and Fiscal Note are attached as part of these minutes.

The next order of business was SB 1054, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO ESTABLISH A NONPARTISAN METHOD OF ELECTING SUPREME COURT JUSTICES AND COURT OF APPEALS JUDGES BEGINNING IN 2004; TO SET $1,000 CONTRIBUTION LIMITS ($2,000 FROM FAMILY MEMBERS) FOR JUDICIAL CAMPAIGNS BEGINNING IN 2004; TO ESTABLISH A FAIR ELECTIONS FUND THAT PROVIDES APPELLATE JUDICIAL CANDIDATES WHO AGREE TO CONTRIBUTION AND EXPENDITURE RESTRICTIONS WITH AN ALTERNATIVE MEANS OF FINANCING THEIR CAMPAIGNS BEGINNING IN 2004; TO SAFEGUARD CANDIDATES WHO OPT TO USE THAT SYSTEM BY PROHIBITING CERTAIN CONTRIBUTIONS TO THEIR OPPONENTS DURING THE 21 DAYS BEFORE AN ELECTION AND BY PROVIDING RESCUE MONEY WHEN THEY FACE LARGE EXPENDITURES BY OPPONENTS OR LARGE INDEPENDENT EXPENDITURES; TO PROVIDE A JUDICIAL VOTER GUIDE TO BE FINANCED BY THE FUND; TO PROVIDE THAT THE FUND SHALL BE ADMINISTERED BY THE STATE BOARD OF ELECTIONS ASSISTED BY AN ADVISORY COUNCIL; AND TO PROVIDE THAT THE FUND SHALL BE FINANCED BY METHODS INCLUDING A REVERSE $1 CHECK-OFF ON THE NORTH CAROLINA INCOME TAX AND A $50 CONTRIBUTION BY ATTORNEYS WHEN THEY PAY THEIR PRIVILEGE LICENSE TAX. Upon motion of Rep. Womble, the Proposed Committee Substitute was adopted for discussion. Rep. Bill Culpepper was recognized to explain the bill.

Rep. Culpepper reported that the new PCS addresses some of the concerns expressed by the Department of Revenue at the Finance meeting on August 20. Staff member Bill Gilkeson explained that the section dealing with the $1 of the individual's income tax to the Fair Elections Fund is the main item that had been changed. He said the Department of Revenue had objected to the idea that precise language inside quotation marks was prescribed to be put on the income tax form and they also had some concerns about the effect the bill would have on non-traditional ways of preparing income taxes through software packages. He explained that the re-write was done in close consultation with Deputy Secretary Sabre Faires.

The new language in the PCS was discussed, and Nancy Pomeranz with the Department of Revenue confirmed that the Department agrees with the changes that have been made; that the changes had addressed all of their objections made at yesterday's meeting of the Committee. Asked if he had any comments, Michelle Frazier with the NC Bar Association noted that the Association had not looked at that piece of legislation.

Amendment No. 1. Representative Decker sent forth an amendment that would delete the term "Fair Elections" and substitute "Public Campaign Financing" wherever it appeared in the Bill. The Amendment was adopted.

Amendment No. 2. Representative Pope sent forth an amendment that, among other changes, would delete the term "A REVERSE $1 CHECK-OFF" substituting "AN OPTION TO CONTRIBUTE." The Amendment failed by a Roll Call Vote of 17 to 12.

Amendment No. 3. Representative Pope then sent forth an amendment that would delete the sentence, "Candidates who hold office on the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals and candidates who were elected to the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals within four years of the beginning of the qualifying period are deemed to have demonstrated support and are not required to comply with the previous sentence of this subsection" on page 4, lines 17-20; and the sentence, "Candidates not required to obtain a minimum number of qualifying donations shall submit a record of any qualifying contributions received at the time they request certification according to procedures set forth by the Board," on page 4, lines 36-38. Mr. Bob Hall with Democracy South voiced his support of the amendment, stating that the judges of the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals have already demonstrated their viability and public trust, unlike state-level judges. Following discussion, the Amendment was adopted.

Representative Cunningham then moved for a favorable report on the Proposed Committee Substitute for SB 1054, which changes the title, unfavorable as to House Committee Substitute Bill #1. By Roll Call Vote, the Proposed Committee Substitute received a favorable report.

There being no further business to discuss, Chairman Buchanan adjourned the meeting at 10:40 A.M.

Respectfully submitted,

Representative Charles F. Buchanan
Presiding Chair

Nancy G. Brantley
Committee Assistant

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Chapter 163 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"Article 22D.

"The North Carolina Fair Elections Fund.

"§ 163-278.61. Purpose of the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund.

The purpose of this Article is to ensure the fairness of democratic elections in North Carolina and to protect the constitutional rights of voters and candidates from the detrimental effects of increasingly large amounts of money being raised and spent to influence the outcome of elections, those effects being especially problematic in elections of the judiciary, since impartiality is uniquely important to the integrity and credibility of the courts. Accordingly, this Article establishes the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund as an alternative source of campaign financing for candidates who demonstrate public support and voluntarily accept strict fund-raising and spending limits. This Article is available to candidates for justice of the Supreme Court and judge of the Court of Appeals in elections to be held in 2004 and thereafter.

"§ 163-278.62. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Board. – The State Board of Elections.

(2) Candidate. – An individual who becomes a candidate as described in G.S. 163-278.6(4). The term includes a political committee authorized by the candidate for that candidate's election.

(3) Certified candidate. – A candidate running for office who chooses to receive campaign funds from the Fund and who is certified under G.S. 163-278.64(c).

(4) Contested primary and contested general election. – An election in which there are more candidates than the number to be elected.

(5) Contribution. – Defined in G.S. 163-278.6.

(6) Expenditure. – Defined in G.S. 163-278.6.

(7) Fund. – The North Carolina Fair Elections Fund established in G.S. 163-278.63.

(8) Independent expenditure. – Defined in G.S. 163-278.6.

(9) Maximum qualifying contributions. – An amount of qualifying contributions equal to 60 times the filing fee for candidacy for the office.

(10) Minimum qualifying contributions. – An amount of qualifying contributions equal to 30 times the filing fee for candidacy for the office.

(11) Nonparticipating candidate. – A candidate running for office who is not seeking to be certified under G.S. 163-278.64(c).

(12) Office. – A position on the North Carolina Court of Appeals or North Carolina Supreme Court.

(13) Participating candidate. – A candidate for office who has filed a declaration of intent to participate under G.S. 163-278.64.

(14) Political committee. – Defined in G.S. 163-278.6.

(15) Qualifying contribution. – A contribution of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) and not more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) in the form of a check or money order to the candidate or the candidate's committee that meets both of the following conditions:

a. Made by any registered voter in this State.

b. Made during the qualifying period and obtained with the approval of the candidate or candidate's committee.

(16) Qualifying period. – The period beginning September 1 in the year before the election and ending on the day of the primary of the election year.

(17) Referendum committee. – Defined in G.S. 163-278.6.

(18) Trigger for rescue funds. – The dollar amount at which rescue funds are released for certified candidates. In the case of a primary, the trigger equals the maximum qualifying contributions for participating candidates. In the case of a contested general election, the trigger equals the base level of funding available under G.S. 163-278.65(b)(4).

"§ 163-278.63. North Carolina Fair Elections Fund established; sources of funding.

(a) Establishment of Fund. – The North Carolina Fair Elections Fund is established to finance the election campaigns of certified candidates for office and to pay administrative and enforcement costs of the Board related to this Article. The Fund is a special, dedicated, nonlapsing, nonreverting fund. All expenses of administering this Article, including production and distribution of the Voter Guide required by G.S. 163-278.69 and personnel and other costs incurred by the Board, shall be paid from the Fund and not from the General Fund. Any interest generated by the Fund is credited to the Fund. The Board shall administer the Fund.

(b) Sources of Funding. – Money received from all the following sources must be deposited in the Fund:

(1) Money from the North Carolina Candidates Financing Fund.

(2) Designations made to the Fair Elections Fund by individual taxpayers pursuant to G.S. 105-159.2.

(3) Any contributions made by attorneys in accordance with G.S. 105-41.

(4) Fair Elections Fund revenues distributed for an election that remain unspent or uncommitted at the time the recipient is no longer a certified candidate in the election.

(5) Money ordered returned to the Fair Elections Fund in accordance with G.S. 163-278.70.

(6) Voluntary donations made directly to the Fair Elections Fund. Corporations, other business entities, labor unions, and professional associations may make donations to the Fund.

(c) Determination of Fund Amount. – By October 1, 2003, and every two years thereafter, the Board, in conjunction with the Advisory Council for the Fair Elections Fund, shall prepare and provide to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations of the General Assembly a report documenting, evaluating, and making recommendations relating to the administration, implementation, and enforcement of this Article. In its report, the Board shall set out the funds received to date and the expected needs of the Fund for the next election.

"§ 163-278.64. Requirements for participation; certification of candidates.

(a) Declaration of Intent to Participate. – Any individual choosing to receive campaign funds from the Fund shall first file with the Board a declaration of intent to participate in the act as a candidate for a stated office. The declaration of intent shall be filed before or during the qualifying period and before collecting any qualifying contributions. In the declaration, the candidate shall swear or affirm that only one political committee, identified with its treasurer, shall handle all contributions, expenditures, and obligations for the participating candidate and that the candidate will comply with the contribution and expenditure limits set forth in subsection (d) of this section and all other requirements set forth in this Article or adopted by the Board. Failure to comply is a violation of this Article.

(b) Demonstration of Support of Candidacy. – Except for candidates described elsewhere in this subsection, participating candidates who seek certification to receive campaign funds from the Fund shall first, during the qualifying period, obtain qualifying contributions from at least 350 registered voters in an aggregate sum that at least equals the amount of minimum qualifying contributions described in G.S. 163-278.62(10) but that does not exceed the amount of maximum qualifying contributions described in G.S. 163-278.62(9). Candidates who hold office on the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals and candidates who were elected to the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals within four years of the beginning of the qualifying period are deemed to have demonstrated support and are not required to comply with the previous sentence of this subsection.

No payment, gift, or anything of value shall be given in exchange for a qualifying contribution.

(c) Certification of Candidates. – Upon receipt of a submittal of the record of demonstrated support by a participating candidate, the Board shall determine whether or not the candidate has complied with all the following requirements, if they apply to that candidate:

(1) Signed and filed a declaration of intent to participate in this Article.

(2) Submitted a report itemizing the appropriate number of qualifying contributions received from registered voters, which the Board shall verify through a random sample or other means it adopts. The report shall include the county of residence of each registered voter listed.

(3) Qualified to receive votes on the ballot as a candidate for the office.

(4) Otherwise met the requirements for participation in this Article.

The Board shall certify candidates complying with the requirements of this section as soon as possible and no later than five business days after receipt of a satisfactory record of demonstrated support. Candidates not required to obtain a minimum number of qualifying donations shall submit a record of any qualifying contributions received at the time they request certification according to procedures set forth by the Board.

(d) Restrictions on Contributions and Expenditures for Participating and Certified Candidates. – The following restrictions shall apply to contributions and expenditures with respect to participating and certified candidates:

(1) Beginning January 1 of the year before the election and before the filing of a declaration of intent, a candidate for office may accept in contributions up to ten thousand dollars ($10,000) from sources and in amounts permitted by Article 22A of this Chapter and may expend up to ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for any campaign purpose. A candidate who exceeds either of these limits shall be ineligible to file a declaration of intent or receive funds from the Fair Elections Fund.

(2) From the filing of a declaration of intent through the end of the qualifying period, a candidate shall expend no more than an amount equal to the maximum qualifying contributions for that candidate, not including possible rescue funds or the remaining money raised pursuant to subdivision (1) of this subsection. Contributions a candidate may use to expend to that limit shall be limited to qualifying contributions and personal and family contributions permitted by subdivision (4) of this subsection.

(3) After the qualifying period and through the date of the general election, the candidate shall expend only the funds the candidate receives from the Fund pursuant to G.S. 163-278.65(b)(4) plus any funds remaining from the qualifying period and possible rescue funds.

(4) During the qualifying period, the candidate may contribute up to one thousand dollars ($1,000) of that candidate's own money to the campaign and may accept in contributions one thousand dollars ($1,000) from each member of that candidate's family consisting of spouse, parent, child, brother, and sister.

(5) A candidate and the candidate's committee shall limit the use of all revenues permitted by this subsection to expenditures for campaign-related purposes only. The Board shall publish guidelines outlining permissible campaign-related expenditures.

(6) Any contribution received by a participating or certified candidate that falls outside that permitted by this subsection shall be returned to the donor as soon as practicable. Contributions intentionally made, solicited, or accepted in violation of this Article are subject to civil penalties as specified in G.S. 163-278.70. The funds involved shall be forfeited to the Civil Penalty and Forfeiture Fund.

(7) A candidate shall return to the Fund any amount distributed for an election that is unspent and uncommitted at the date of the election, or at the time the individual ceases to be a certified candidate, whichever occurs first. For accounting purposes, all qualifying, personal, and family contributions shall be considered spent before revenue from the Fund is spent or committed.

(e) Revocation. – A candidate may revoke, in writing to the Board, a decision to participate in the Fair Elections Fund at any time before the deadline set by the Board for the candidate's submission of information for the Voter Guide described in G.S. 163-278.69. After a timely revocation, that candidate may accept and expend outside the limits of this Article without violating this Article. Within 10 days after revocation, a candidate shall return to the Board all money received from the Fund.

"§ 163-278.65. Distribution from the Fund.

(a) Timing of Fund Distribution. – The Board shall distribute to a certified candidate revenue from the Fund in an amount determined under subdivision (b)(4) of this section within five business days after the certified candidate's name is approved to appear on the ballot in a contested general election, but no earlier than five business days after the primary.

(b) Amount of Fund Distribution. – By August 1, 2003, and no less frequently than every two years thereafter, the Board shall determine the amount of funds, rounded to the nearest one hundred dollars ($100.00), to be distributed to certified candidates as follows:

(1) Uncontested primaries. – No funds shall be distributed.

(2) Contested primaries. – No funds shall be distributed except as provided in G.S. 163-278.67.

(3) Uncontested general elections. – No funds shall be distributed.

(4) Contested general elections. – Funds shall be distributed to a certified candidate for a position on the Court of Appeals in an amount equal to 125 times the candidate's filing fee as set forth in G.S. 163-107. Funds shall be distributed to a certified candidate for a position on the Supreme Court in an amount equal to 175 times the candidate's filing fee as set forth in G.S. 163-107.

(c) Method of Fund Distribution. – The Board, in consultation with the State Treasurer and the State Controller, shall develop a rapid, reliable method of conveying funds to certified candidates. In all cases, the Board shall distribute funds to certified candidates in a manner that is expeditious, ensures accountability, and safeguards the integrity of the Fund. If the money in the Fund is insufficient to fully fund all certified candidates, then the available money shall be distributed proportionally, according to each candidate's eligible funding.

"§ 163-278.66. Reporting requirements.

(a) Reporting by Noncertified Candidates and Independent Expenditure Entities. – Any noncertified candidate with a certified opponent shall report total income, expenses, and obligations to the Board by facsimile machine or electronically within 24 hours after the total amount of campaign expenditures or obligations made, or funds raised or borrowed, exceeds eighty percent (80%) of the trigger for rescue funds as defined in G.S. 163-278.62(18). Any entity making independent expenditures in excess of three thousand dollars ($3,000) in support of or opposition to a certified candidate shall report the total funds received, spent, or obligated for those expenditures to the Board by facsimile machine or electronically within 24 hours after the total amount of expenditures or obligations made, or funds raised or borrowed, for the purpose of making the independent expenditures, exceeds fifty percent (50%) of the trigger for rescue funds. After this 24-hour filing, the noncertified candidate or independent expenditure entity shall comply with an expedited reporting schedule by filing additional reports after receiving each additional amount in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000) or after making or obligating to make each additional expenditure(s) in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000). The schedule and forms for reports required by this subsection shall be made according to procedures developed by the Board.

(b) Reporting by Participating and Certified Candidates. – Notwithstanding other provisions of law, participating and certified candidates shall report any money received, including all previously unreported qualifying contributions, all campaign expenditures, obligations, and related activities to the Board according to procedures developed by the Board. A certified candidate who ceases to be certified or ceases to be a candidate or who loses an election shall file a final report with the Board and return any unspent revenues received from the Fund. In developing these procedures, the Board shall utilize existing campaign reporting procedures whenever practical.

(c) Timely Access to Reports. – The Board shall ensure prompt public access to the reports received in accordance with this Article. The Board may utilize electronic means of reporting and storing information.

"§ 163-278.67. Rescue funds.

(a) When Rescue Funds Become Available. – When any report or group of reports shows that 'funds in opposition to a certified candidate or in support of an opponent to that candidate' as described in this section, exceed the trigger for rescue funds as defined in G.S. 163-278.62(18), the Board shall issue immediately to that certified candidate an additional amount equal to the reported excess within the limits set forth in this section. 'Funds in opposition to a certified candidate or in support of an opponent to that candidate' shall be equal to the sum of the following:

(1) Campaign expenditures or obligations made, or funds raised or borrowed, whichever is greater, reported by any one uncertified opponent of a certified candidate. Where a certified candidate has more than one uncertified opponent, the measure shall be taken from the uncertified candidate showing the highest relevant dollar amount.

(2) The sum of all expenditures reported in accordance with G.S. 163-278.66 of entities making independent expenditures in opposition to the certified candidate or in support of any opponent of that certified candidate.

(b) Limit on Rescue Funds in Contested Primary. – Total rescue funds to a certified candidate in a contested primary shall be limited to an amount equal to two times the maximum qualifying contributions for the office sought.

(c) Limit on Rescue Funds in Contested General Election. – Total rescue funds to a certified candidate in a contested general election shall be limited to an amount equal to two times the amount described in G.S. 163-278.65(b)(4).

"§ 163-278.68. Enforcement and administration.

(a) Enforcement by the Board. – The Board, with the advice of the Advisory Council for the Fair Elections Fund, shall administer the provisions of this Article.

(b) Advisory Council for the Fair Elections Fund. – There is established under the Board the Advisory Council for the Fair Elections Fund to advise the Board on the rules, procedures, and opinions it adopts for the enforcement and administration of this Article and on the funding needs and operation of the Fair Elections Fund. The Advisory Council shall consist of five members to be appointed as follows:

(1) The Governor shall name two members from a list of individuals nominated by the State Chair of the political party with which the greatest number of registered voters is affiliated. The State Chair of that party shall submit to the Governor the names of five nominees.

(2) The Governor shall name two members from a list of individuals nominated by the State Chair of the political party with which the second greatest number of registered voters is affiliated. The State Chair of that party shall submit to the Governor the names of five nominees.

(3) The Board shall name one member by unanimous vote of all members of the Board. If the Board cannot reach unanimity on the appointment of that member, the Advisory Council shall consist of the remaining members.

No individual shall be eligible to be a member of the Advisory Council who would be ineligible to serve on a county board of elections in accordance with G.S. 163-30. The initial members shall be appointed by December 1, 2002. Of the initial appointees, two are appointed for one-year terms, two are appointed for two-year terms, and one is appointed for a three-year term according to random lot. Thereafter, appointees are appointed to serve four-year terms. An individual may not serve more than two full terms. The appointed members receive the legislative per diem pursuant to G.S. 120-3.1. One of the Advisory Council members shall be elected by the members as Chair. A vacancy during an unexpired term shall be filled in the same manner as the regular appointment for that term, but a vacancy appointment is only for the unexpired portion of the term.

(c) Appeals. – The initial decision on an issue concerning qualification, certification, or distribution of funds under this Article shall be made by the Executive Director of the Board. The procedure for challenging that decision is as follows:

(1) An individual or entity aggrieved by a decision by the Executive Director of the Board may appeal to the full Board within three business days of the decision. The appeal shall be in writing and shall set forth the reasons for the appeal.

(2) Within five business days after an appeal is properly made, and after due notice is given to the parties, the Board shall hold a hearing. The appellant has the burden of providing evidence to demonstrate that the decision of the Executive Director was improper. The Board shall rule on the appeal within three business days after the completion of the hearing.

(d) Board to Adopt Rules and Issue Opinions. – The Board shall adopt rules and issue opinions to ensure effective administration of this Article. Such rules and opinions shall include, but not be limited to, procedures for obtaining qualifying contributions, certification of candidates, addressing circumstances involving special elections, vacancies, recounts, withdrawals, or replacements, collection of revenues for the Fund, distribution of Fund revenue to certified candidates, return of unspent Fund disbursements, and compliance with this Article. The Board shall adopt procedures for the distribution of rescue money that further the purpose and avoid the subversion of G.S. 163-278.67. For races involving special elections, recounts, vacancies, withdrawals, or replacement candidates, the Board shall establish procedures for qualification, certification, disbursement of Fund revenues, and return of unspent Fund revenues. The Board shall fulfill each of these duties in consultation with the Advisory Council on the Fair Elections Fund.

(e) Report to the Public. – The Advisory Council for the Fair Elections Fund shall issue a report by March 1, 2005, and every two years thereafter that evaluates and makes recommendations about the implementation of this Article and the feasibility of expanding its provisions to include other candidates for State office based on the experience of the Fund and the experience of similar programs in other states. The Advisory Council shall also evaluate and make recommendations regarding how to address activities that could undermine the purpose of this Article, including spending that appears to target candidates receiving money from the Fund but that does not meet the definition of 'independent expenditures.'

"§ 163-278.69. Voter education.

(a) Judicial Voter Guide. – The Board shall publish a Judicial Voter Guide that explains the functions of the appellate courts and the laws concerning the election of appellate judges, the purpose and function of the Fair Elections Fund, and the laws concerning voter registration. The Board shall distribute the Guide to as many voting-age individuals in the State as practical, through a mailing to all residences or other means it deems effective. The distribution shall occur no more than 28 days nor fewer than seven days before the primary and no more than 28 days nor fewer than seven days before the general election.

(b) Candidate Information. – The Judicial Voter Guide shall include information concerning all candidates for the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals, as provided by those candidates according to a format provided to the candidates by the Board. The Board shall request information for the Guide from each candidate according to the following format:

(1) Place of residence.
(2) Education.
(3) Occupation.
(4) Employer.
(5) Date admitted to the bar.
(6) Legal/judicial experience.
(7) Candidate statement, limited to 150 words. Concerning that statement, the Board shall send to the candidates instructions as follows: 'Your statement may include information such as your qualifications, your endorsements, your ratings, why you are seeking judicial office, why you would make a good judge, what distinguishes you from your opponent(s), your acceptance of spending and fund-raising limits to qualify to receive funds from the Fair Elections Fund, and any other information relevant to your candidacy. We will correct incidental errors of spelling, grammar, and punctuation which might prejudice the candidate's statement unfairly or confuse voters. We will make no changes to the content of any statement which would alter the meaning or substance of the statement. The State Board of Elections will reject any portion of any statement which it determines contains obscene, profane, or defamatory language.'

"§ 163-278.70. Civil penalty.

In addition to any other penalties that may be applicable, any individual, political committee, or other entity that violates any provision of this Article is subject to a civil penalty of up to ten thousand dollars ($10,000) per violation or three times the amount of any financial transactions involved in the violation, whichever is greater. In addition to any fine, for good cause shown, a candidate found in violation of this Article may be required to return to the Fund all amounts distributed to the candidate from the Fund. If the Board makes a determination that a violation of this Article has occurred, the Board shall calculate and assess the amount of the civil penalty and shall notify the entity that is assessed the civil penalty of the amount that has been assessed. The Board shall then proceed in the manner prescribed in G.S. 163-278.34. In determining whether or not a candidate is in violation of this Article, the Board may consider as a mitigating factor any circumstances out of the candidate's control."

SECTION 2. G.S. 163-278.13 reads as rewritten:

"§ 163-278.13. Limitation on contributions.

(a) No individual, political committee, or other entity shall contribute to any candidate or other political committee any money or make any other contribution in any election in excess of four thousand dollars ($4,000) for that election.

(b) No candidate or political committee shall accept or solicit any contribution from any individual, other political committee, or other entity of any money or any other contribution in any election in excess of four thousand dollars ($4,000) for that election.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) of this section, it shall be lawful for a candidate or a candidate's spouse, parents, brothers and sisters to make a contribution to the candidate or to the candidate's treasurer of any amount of money or to make any other contribution in any election in excess of four thousand dollars ($4,000) for that election.

(d) For the purposes of this section, the term "an election" means any primary, second primary, or general election in which the candidate or political committee may be involved, without regard to whether the candidate is opposed or unopposed in the election, except that where a candidate is not on the ballot in a second primary, that second primary is not "an election" with respect to that candidate.

(e) This section shall not apply to any national, State, district or county executive committee of any political party. For the purposes of this section only, the term "political party" means only those political parties officially recognized under G.S. 163-96.

(e1) No referendum committee which received any contribution from a corporation, labor union, insurance company, business entity, or professional association may make any contribution to another referendum committee, to a candidate or to a political committee.

(e2) The potential for corruption and its appearance resulting from campaign contributions is especially problematic in elections of the judiciary, since impartiality is uniquely important to the integrity and credibility of the courts. Accordingly, the following provisions shall apply with respect to candidates for justice of the Supreme Court, judge of the Court of Appeals, judge of the Superior Court, and judge of the District Court:

(1) No candidate shall accept, and no contributor shall make to that candidate, a contribution in any election exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000) except as provided for elsewhere in this subsection.

(2) A candidate may accept, and a family contributor may make to that candidate, a contribution not exceeding two thousand dollars ($2,000) in an election if the contributor is that candidate's parent, child, brother, or sister.

(3) No candidate for justice of the Supreme Court or judge of the Court of Appeals shall accept, and no contributor shall make to that candidate, a contribution during the period beginning 21 days before the day of the general election and ending the day after the general election. This subdivision applies with respect to a candidate opposed in the general election by a certified candidate as defined in Article 22D of this Chapter who has not received the maximum rescue funds available under G.S. 163-278.67. The recipient of a contribution that apparently violates this subdivision has three days to return the contribution or file a detailed statement with the State Board of Elections explaining why the contribution does not violate this subdivision.

As used in this subsection, 'candidate' is also a political committee authorized by the candidate for that candidate's election. Nothing in this subsection shall prohibit a candidate or the spouse of that candidate from making a contribution or loan secured entirely by that individual's assets to that candidate's own campaign.

(f) Any individual, candidate, political committee, referendum committee, or other entity that violates the provisions of this section is guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-41(a)(1) reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-41. Attorneys-at-law and other professionals.

(a) Every individual in this State who practices a profession or engages in a business and is included in the list below must obtain from the Secretary a statewide license for the privilege of practicing the profession or engaging in the business. A license required by this section is not transferable to another person. The tax for each license is fifty dollars ($50.00).

(1) An attorney-at-law. In addition to the tax, whenever an attorney pays the tax, the Department must give that attorney an opportunity to make a contribution of fifty dollars ($50.00) to support the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund established by G.S. 163-278.63. Payment of the contribution is not required and is not considered part of the tax owed.

...."

SECTION 4. Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-159.2. Designation of tax to North Carolina Fair Elections Fund.

(a) Allocation to the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund. – To ensure the financial viability of the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund established in Article 22D of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes, the Department must allocate to that Fund one dollar ($1.00) from the income taxes paid each year by each individual with an income tax liability of at least that amount, unless the individual objects. A taxpayer must be given the opportunity to indicate an objection to that allocation in the manner described in subsection (b) of this section. In the case of a married couple filing a joint return, each individual must have the option of objecting to the allocation. The amounts allocated under this subsection to the Fund must be credited to it on a quarterly basis.

(b) Returns. – Individual income tax returns must give an individual an opportunity to object to the allocation of one dollar ($1.00) of the individual's tax liability to the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund. The Department must make it clear to the taxpayer that the dollar will support a nonpartisan court system, that the dollar will go to the Fund if the taxpayer does not mark an objection, and that allocation of the dollar neither increases nor decreases the individual's tax liability. The following statement satisfies the intent of this requirement: 'One dollar will go to the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund to support a nonpartisan court system, unless you object. Your tax remains the same whether or not you object.' The Department must consult with the State Board of Elections to ensure that the information given to taxpayers complies with the intent of this section.

The Department must inform the entities it approves to reproduce the return of the requirements of this section and that a return may not reflect an objection unless the individual completing the return decided to object to the allocation after being presented with the information required by subsection (c) of this section. No software package used in preparing North Carolina income tax returns may default to an objection. A paid preparer of tax returns may not mark an objection for a taxpayer without the taxpayer's consent.

(c) Instructions. – The instruction for individual income tax returns must include the following explanatory statement: 'The North Carolina Fair Elections Fund provides campaign money to nonpartisan candidates for the North Carolina Supreme Court and Court of Appeals who voluntarily accept strict campaign spending and fund-raising limits. The Fund also helps finance educational materials about voter registration, the role of the appellate courts, and the candidates seeking election as appellate judges in North Carolina. One dollar ($1.00) from the taxes you pay will go to the Fund unless you mark an objection. Regardless of what choice you make, your tax will not increase, nor will any refund you are entitled to be reduced.'"

SECTION 5. Article 22C of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes is repealed.

SECTION 6.(a) G.S. 105-269.6 is repealed.

SECTION 6.(b) In order to pay for its costs for the 2002-2003 fiscal year of programming, design, printing, and other expenses associated with implementing this act, the Secretary of Revenue may draw funds not to exceed one hundred seventy-eight thousand six hundred dollars ($178,600) from the North Carolina Candidates Financing Fund. After drawing those funds, the Secretary of Revenue shall transfer immediately to the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund any remaining funds that were contributed to the North Carolina Candidates Financing Fund pursuant to G.S. 105-269.6 before its repeal by this section. Funds the Secretary of Revenue withdraws but then determines are not needed shall also be transferred to the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund.

AN ACT TO AMEND THE PRESENT-USE VALUE STATUTES, TO CREATE A PROPERTY TAX SUBCOMMITTEE OF THE REVENUE LAWS STUDY COMMITTEE, TO CLARIFY THE SALES AND USE TAX EXEMPTION REGARDING CERTAIN AGRICULTURAL SUBSTANCES, AND TO MAKE VARIOUS ADMINISTRATIVE CHANGES IN THE TAX LAWS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 105-277.2 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-277.2. Agricultural, horticultural, and forestland – Definitions.

The following definitions apply in G.S. 105-277.3 through G.S. 105-277.7:

(1) Agricultural land. – Land that is a part of a farm unit that is actively engaged in the commercial production or growing of crops, plants, or animals under a sound management program. Agricultural land includes woodland and wasteland that is a part of the farm unit, but the woodland and wasteland included in the unit ~~shall~~ must be appraised under the use-value schedules as woodland or wasteland. A farm unit may consist of more than one tract of agricultural land, but at least one of the tracts must meet the requirements in G.S. 105-277.3(a)(1), and each tract must be under a sound management program. If the agricultural land includes less than 20 acres of woodland, then the woodland portion is not required to be under a sound management program. Also, woodland is not required to be under a sound management program if it is determined that the highest and best use of the woodland is to diminish wind erosion of adjacent agricultural land, protect water quality of adjacent agricultural land, or serve as buffers for adjacent livestock or poultry operations.

(1a) Business entity. – A corporation, a general partnership, a limited partnership, or a limited liability company.

(2) Forestland. – Land that is a part of a forest unit that is actively engaged in the commercial growing of trees under a sound management program. Forestland includes wasteland that is a part of the forest unit, but the wasteland included in the unit ~~shall~~ must be appraised under the use-value schedules as wasteland. A forest unit may consist of more than one tract of forestland, but at least one of the tracts must meet the requirements in G.S. 105-277.3(a)(3), and each tract must be under a sound management program.

(3) Horticultural land. – Land that is a part of a horticultural unit that is actively engaged in the commercial production or growing of fruits or vegetables or nursery or floral products under a sound management program. Horticultural land includes woodland and wasteland that is a part of the horticultural unit, but the woodland and wasteland included in the unit ~~shall~~ must be appraised under the use-value schedules as woodland or wasteland. A horticultural unit may consist of more than one tract of horticultural land, but at least one of the tracts must meet the requirements in G.S. 105-277.3(a)(2), and each tract must be under a sound management program. If the horticultural land includes less than 20 acres of woodland, then the woodland portion is not required to be under a sound management program. Also, woodland is not required to be under a sound management program if it is determined that the highest and best use of the woodland is to diminish wind erosion of adjacent horticultural land or protect water quality of adjacent horticultural land.

a. A natural person. For the purpose of this section, a natural person who is an income beneficiary of a trust that owns land may elect to treat the person's beneficial share of the land as owned by that person. For the purpose of this section, a natural person who is a member of a business entity, other than a corporation, that owns land may elect to treat the person's share of the land as owned by that person. The person's share is a percentage of the land owned by the business entity that corresponds to the person's percentage of ownership in the entity.

b. A business entity having as its principal business one of the activities described in subdivisions (1), (2), and (3) and whose members are all natural persons who meet one or more of the following conditions:

1. The member is actively engaged in the business of the entity.
2. The member is a relative of a member who is actively engaged in the business of the entity.
3. The member is a relative of, and inherited the membership interest from, a decedent who met one or both of the preceding conditions after the land qualified for classification in the hands of the business entity.

c. A trust that was created by a natural person who transferred the land to the trust and each of whose beneficiaries who is currently entitled to receive income or principal meets one of the following conditions:

1. Is the creator of the trust or the creator's relative.
2. Is a second trust whose beneficiaries who are currently entitled to receive income or principal are all either the creator of the first trust or the creator's relatives.

d. A testamentary trust that meets all of the following conditions:

1. It was created by a natural person who transferred to the trust land that qualified in that person's hands for classification under G.S. 105-277.3.
2. At the time of the creator's death, the creator had no relatives as defined in this section as of the date of death.
3. The trust income, less reasonable administrative expenses, is used exclusively for educational, scientific, literary, cultural, charitable, or religious purposes as defined in G.S. 105-278.3(d).

e. Tenants in common, if each tenant is either a natural person or a business entity described in sub-subdivision b. of this subdivision. Tenants in common may elect to treat their individual shares as owned by them individually in accordance with G.S. 105-302(c)(9). The ownership requirements of G.S. 105-277.3(b) apply to each tenant in common who is a natural person, and the ownership requirements of G.S. 105-277.3(b1) apply to each tenant in common who is a business entity.

(4a) Member. – A shareholder of a corporation, a partner of a general or limited partnership, or a member of a limited liability company.

(5) Present-use value. – The value of land in its current use as agricultural land, horticultural land, or forestland, based solely on its ability to produce ~~income, using a rate of nine percent (9%) to capitalize the expected net income of the property and assuming an average level of management.~~ income and assuming an average level of management. A rate of nine percent (9%) shall be used to capitalize the expected net

(5a) Relative. – Any of the following:

a. A spouse or the spouse's lineal ancestor or descendant.

For the purpose of this subdivision, an adoptive or adopted relative is a relative and the term "spouse" includes a surviving spouse.

(6) Sound management program. – A program of production designed to obtain the greatest net return from the land consistent with its conservation and long-term improvement.

(7) Unit. – One or more tracts of agricultural land, horticultural land, or forestland. Multiple tracts must be under the same ownership. If the multiple tracts are located within different counties, they must be within 50 miles of a tract qualifying under G.S. 105-277.3(a) and share one of the following characteristics:

a. Type of classification.

b. Use of the same equipment or labor force."

SECTION 2. G.S. 105-277.3 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-277.3. Agricultural, horticultural, and forestland – Classifications.

(a) Classes Defined. – The following classes of property are designated special classes of property under authority of Section 2(2) of Article V of the North Carolina Constitution and ~~shall~~ must be appraised, assessed, and taxed as provided in G.S. 105-277.2 through G.S. 105-277.7.

(1) Agricultural land. – Individually owned agricultural land consisting of one or more tracts, one of which consists of at least 10 acres that are in actual production and that, for the three years preceding January 1 of the year for which the benefit of this section is claimed, have produced an average gross income of at least one thousand dollars ($1,000). Gross income includes income from the sale of the agricultural products produced from the land and any payments received under a governmental soil conservation or land retirement program. Land in actual production includes land under improvements used in the commercial production or growing of crops, plants, or animals.

(2) Horticultural land. – Individually owned horticultural land consisting of one or more tracts, one of which consists of at least five acres that are in actual production and that, for the three years preceding January 1 of the year for which the benefit of this section is claimed, have met the applicable minimum gross income requirement. Land in actual production includes land under improvements used in the commercial production or growing of fruits or vegetables or nursery or floral products. Land that has been used to produce evergreens intended for use as Christmas trees must have met the minimum gross income requirements established by the Department of Revenue for the land. All other horticultural land must have produced an average gross income of at least one thousand dollars ($1,000). Gross income includes income from the sale of the horticultural products produced from the land and any payments received under a governmental soil conservation or land retirement program.

(3) Forestland. – Individually owned forestland consisting of one or more tracts, one of which consists of at least 20 acres that are in actual production and are not included in a farm unit.

(b) Natural Person Ownership Requirements. – In order to come within a classification described in subsection (a) of this section, the land must, if owned by a natural person, also satisfy one of the following conditions:

(1) It is the owner's place of residence.

(2) It has been owned by the current owner or a relative of the current owner for the four years preceding January 1 of the year for which the benefit of this section is claimed.

(3) At the time of transfer to the current owner, it qualified for classification in the hands of a business entity or trust that transferred the land to the current owner who was a member of the business entity or a beneficiary of the trust, as appropriate.

(b1) Entity Ownership Requirements. – In order to come within a classification described in subsection (a) of this section, the land must, if owned by a business entity or trust, have been owned by the business entity or trust or by one or more of its members or creators, respectively, for the four years immediately preceding January 1 of the year for which the benefit of this section is claimed.

(b2) Exception to Ownership Requirements. – ~~G.S. 105-277.4(c) provides that deferred taxes are payable if land fails to meet any condition or requirement for classification. Accordingly, if land fails to meet an ownership requirement due to a change of ownership, G.S. 105-277.4(c) applies. Despite this failure and the resulting liability for taxes under G.S. 105-277.4(c), the~~Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (b) and (b1) of this section, land may qualify for classification in the hands of the new owner if ~~both~~ all of the conditions listed in this subsection are met, even if the new owner does not meet all of the ownership requirements of subsections (b) and (b1) of this section with respect to the land. If the land qualifies for classification in the hands of the new owner under the provisions of this subsection, then the deferred taxes remain a lien on the land under G.S. 105-277.4(c), the new owner becomes liable for the deferred taxes, and the deferred taxes become payable if the land fails to meet any other condition or requirement for classification.

(1) The land was appraised at its present use value or was eligible for appraisal at its present use value at the time title to the land passed to the new owner.

(2) At the time title to the land passed to the new owner, the new owner acquires the land for the purposes of and continues to use the land for the purposes it was classified under subsection (a) of this section while under previous ownership.

(3) The new owner has timely filed an application as required by G.S. 105-277.4(a) and has certified that the new owner accepts liability for the deferred taxes and intends to continue the present use of the land.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1995, c. 454, s. 2.

(d) Exception for Conservation Reserve Program. – Land enrolled in the federal Conservation Reserve Program authorized by 16 U.S.C. ~~§ 1381~~Chapter 58 is considered to be in actual production, and income derived from participation in the federal Conservation Reserve Program may be used in meeting the minimum gross income requirements of this section either separately or in combination with income from actual production. Land enrolled in the federal Conservation Reserve Program ~~shall~~ must be assessed as agricultural land if it is planted in vegetation other than trees, or as forestland if it is planted in trees.

(d1) Exception for Easements on Qualified Conservation Lands Previously Appraised at Use Value. – Property that is appraised at its present-use value under G.S. 105-277.4(b) shall continue to qualify for appraisal, assessment, and taxation as provided in G.S. 105-277.2 through G.S. 105-277.7 so long as the property is subject to an enforceable conservation easement that would qualify for the conservation tax credit provided in G.S. 105-130.34 and G.S. 105-151.12, without regard to actual production or income requirements of this section.

(e) Exception for Turkey Disease. – Agricultural land that meets all of the following conditions is considered to be in actual production and to meet the minimum gross income requirements:

(1) The land was in actual production in turkey growing within the preceding two years and qualified for present use value treatment while it was in actual production.

(2) The land was taken out of actual production in turkey growing solely for health and safety considerations due to the presence of Poult Enteritis Mortality Syndrome among turkeys in the same county or a neighboring county.

(3) The land is otherwise eligible for present use value treatment.

(f) Sound Management Program for Agricultural Land and Horticultural Land. – If the property owner demonstrates any one of the following factors with respect to agricultural land or horticultural land, then the land is operated under a sound management program:

(1) Enrollment in and compliance with an agency-administered and approved farm management plan.

(2) Compliance with a set of best management practices.
(3) Compliance with a minimum gross income per acre test.
(4) Evidence of net income from the farm operation.
(5) Evidence that farming is the farm operator's principal source of income.
(6) Certification by a recognized agricultural or horticultural agency within the county that the land is operated under a sound management program.

Operation under a sound management program may also be demonstrated by evidence of other similar factors. As long as a farm operator meets the sound management requirements, it is irrelevant whether the property owner received income or rent from the farm operator.

(g) Sound Management Program for Forestland. – If the owner of forestland demonstrates that the forestland complies with a written sound forest management plan for the production and sale of forest products, then the forestland is operated under a sound management program."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-277.4 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-277.4. Agricultural, horticultural and forestland – Application; appraisal at use value; appeal; deferred taxes.

(a) Application. – Property coming within one of the classes defined in G.S. 105-277.3 ~~shall be~~ is eligible for taxation on the basis of the value of the property in its present use if a timely and proper application is filed with the assessor of the county in which the property is located. The application ~~shall~~ must clearly show that the property comes within one of the classes and ~~shall~~ must also contain any other relevant information required by the assessor to properly appraise the property at its present-use value. An initial application ~~shall~~ must be filed during the regular listing period of the year for which the benefit of this classification is first claimed, or within 30 days of the date shown on a notice of a change in valuation made pursuant to G.S. 105-286 or G.S. 105-287. A new application is not required to be submitted unless the property is transferred or becomes ineligible for use-value appraisal because of a change in use or acreage. An application required due to transfer of the land may be submitted at any time during the calendar year but must be submitted within 60 days of the date of the property's transfer.

(b) Appraisal at Present-use Value. – Upon receipt of a properly executed application, the assessor ~~shall~~ must appraise the property at its present-use value as established in the schedule prepared pursuant to G.S. 105-317. In appraising the property at its present-use value, the assessor ~~shall~~ must appraise the improvements located on qualifying land according to the schedules and standards used in appraising other similar improvements in the county. If all or any part of a qualifying tract of land is located within the limits of an incorporated city or town, or is property annexed subject to G.S. 160A-37(f1) or G.S. 160A-49(f1), the assessor ~~shall~~ must furnish a copy of the property record showing both the present-use appraisal and the valuation upon which the property would have been taxed in the absence of this classification to the collector of the city or town. ~~He shall~~The assessor must also notify the tax collector of any changes in the appraisals or in the eligibility of the property for the benefit of this classification. Upon a request for a certification pursuant to G.S. 160A-37(f1) or G.S.160A-49(f1), or any change in the certification, the assessor for the county where the land subject to the annexation is located ~~shall,~~ must, within 30 days, determine if the land meets the requirements of G.S. 160A-37(f1)(2) or G.S. 160A-49(f1)(2) and report the results of its findings to the city.

(b1) Appeal. – Decisions of the assessor regarding the qualification or appraisal of property under this section may be appealed to the county board of equalization and review or, if that board is not in session, to the board of county commissioners. Decisions of the county board may be appealed to the Property Tax Commission.

(c) Deferred Taxes. – Land meeting the conditions for classification under G.S. 105-277.3 ~~shall~~ must be taxed on the basis of the value of the land for its present use. The difference between the taxes due on the present-use basis and the taxes that would have been payable in the absence of this classification, together with any interest, penalties, or costs that may accrue thereon, are a lien on the real property of the taxpayer as provided in G.S. 105-355(a). The difference in taxes ~~shall~~ must be carried forward in the records of the taxing unit or units as deferred taxes. The taxes become due and payable when the land fails to meet any condition or requirement for classification. Failure to have an application approved is ground for disqualification. The tax for the fiscal year that opens in the calendar year in which deferred taxes become due is computed as if the land had not been classified for that year, and taxes for the preceding three fiscal years that have been deferred are immediately payable, together with interest as provided in G.S. 105-360 for unpaid taxes. Interest accrues on the deferred taxes due as if they had been payable on the dates on which they originally became due. If only a part of the qualifying tract of land fails to meet a condition or requirement for classification, ~~a determination shall be made of~~ the assessor must determine the amount of deferred taxes applicable to that part and that amount becomes payable with interest as provided above. Upon the payment of any taxes deferred in accordance with this section for the three years immediately preceding a disqualification, all liens arising under this subsection are extinguished. The deferred taxes for any given year may be paid in that year without the qualifying tract of land becoming ineligible for deferred status.

(d) Exceptions. – Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (c) of this section, if property loses its eligibility for present use value classification solely due to one of the following reasons, no deferred taxes are due and the lien for the deferred taxes is extinguished:

(1) There is a change in income caused by enrollment of the property in the federal conservation reserve program established under 16 U.S.C. Chapter 58.

(2) The property is conveyed by gift to a nonprofit organization and qualifies for exclusion from the tax base pursuant to G.S. 105-275(12) or G.S. 105-275(29).

(3) The property is conveyed by gift to the State, a political subdivision of the State, or the United States.

(e) Repealed by Session Laws 1997-270, s. 3, effective July 3, 1997."

SECTION 4. G.S. 105-277.7 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-277.7. Use-Value Advisory Board.

(a) Creation and Membership. – The Use-Value Advisory Board is established under the supervision of the Agricultural Extension Service of North Carolina State University. The ~~Board shall annually submit to the Department of Revenue a recommended use-value manual developed in accordance with the guidelines in G.S. 105-289(a)(5). In developing the manual, the Board may consult with federal and State agencies as needed. The Board shall submit to the Department of Revenue recommendations concerning requirements for horticultural land used to produce evergreens intended for use as Christmas trees when requested to do so by the Department.~~

~~The Board shall be chaired by the~~ Director of the Agricultural Extension Service of North Carolina State University shall serve as the chair of the Board. The Board ~~and~~ shall consist of the following additional ~~members:~~members, to serve ex officio:

(3) A representative of the Agricultural Extension Service at North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University, designated by the Director of the Extension Service.

(4) A representative of the North Carolina Farm Bureau, designated by the President of the Bureau.

(b) Staff. – ~~All members shall serve ex officio.~~ The Agricultural Extension Service at North Carolina State University ~~shall~~ must provide clerical assistance to the Board.

(c) Duties. – The Board must annually submit to the Department of Revenue a recommended use-value manual. In developing the manual, the Board may consult with federal and State agencies as needed. The manual must contain all of the following:

(1) The estimated cash rental rates for agricultural lands and horticultural lands for the various classes of soils found in the State. The rental rates must recognize the productivity levels by class of soil or geographic area. The rental rates must be based on the rental value of the land to be used for agricultural or horticultural purposes when those uses are presumed to be the highest and best use of the land. The recommended rental rates may be established from individual county studies or from contracts with federal or State agencies as needed.

(2) The recommended net income ranges for forestland furnished to the Board by the Forestry Section of the North Carolina Cooperative Extension Service. These net income ranges may be based on up to six classes of land within each Major Land Resource Area designated by the United States Soil Conservation Service. In developing these ranges, the Forestry Section must consider the soil productivity and indicator tree species or stand type, the average stand establishment and annual management costs, the average rotation length and timber yield, and the average timber stumpage prices.

(3) The capitalization rates adopted by the Board prior to February 1 for use in capitalizing incomes into values. The capitalization rate for forestland shall be nine percent (9%). The capitalization rate for agricultural land and horticultural land must be no less than six percent (6%) and no more than seven percent (7%). The incomes must be in the form of cash rents for agricultural lands and horticultural lands and net incomes for forestlands.

(5) Recommendations concerning any changes to the capitalization rate for agricultural land and horticultural land and to the maximum value per acre for the best agricultural land based on a calculation to be determined by the Board. The Board shall annually report these recommendations to the Revenue Laws Study Committee and to the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

(6) Recommendations concerning requirements for horticultural land used to produce evergreens intended for use as Christmas trees when requested to do so by the Department."

SECTION 5. G.S. 105-289(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) It ~~shall be~~is the duty of the Department of Revenue:

(1) To discharge the duties prescribed by law and to enforce the provisions of this Subchapter.

(2) To exercise general and specific supervision over the valuation and taxation of property by taxing units throughout the State.

(3) To appraise the property of public service companies.

(4) To keep full and accurate records of the Commission's official proceedings.

(5) To prepare and distribute annually to each assessor ~~a~~ the manual developed by the Use-Value Advisory Board under G.S. 105-277.7 that establishes ~~five expected net income per acre ranges for agricultural land, horticultural land, and forestland, and establishes a~~

~~method for appraising nonproductive land as a percentage of the lowest use-value established for productive land. The high and low net income amount in each range may differ by no more than fifteen dollars ($15.00). The basis for establishing each range shall be soil productivity.~~

~~For agricultural land, the expected net income per acre ranges shall be based on the actual yields and prices of corn and soybeans over a period of at least the five previous years, and the actual fixed and variable costs, including an imputed management cost, incurred in growing corn and soybeans over the same period of time. The manual shall contain recommended adjustments to the net income per acre ranges for the growing of crops subject to acreage or poundage allotments.~~

~~Expected net income per acre ranges shall be similarly established for horticultural land and forestland, using typical horticultural or forest products in various growing regions of the State instead of corn and soybeans.~~ the cash rental rates for agricultural lands and horticultural lands and the net income ranges for forestland.

(6) To establish requirements for horticultural land, used to produce evergreens intended for use as Christmas trees, in lieu of a gross income requirement until evergreens are harvested from the land, and to establish a gross income requirement for this type horticultural land, that differs from the income requirement for other horticultural land, when evergreens are harvested from the land.

(7) To conduct studies of the cash rents for agricultural lands on a county or a regional basis, such as the Major Land Resource Area map designated and developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The results of the studies must be furnished to the North Carolina Use-Value Advisory Board. The studies may be conducted on any reasonable basis and timetable that will be reflective of rents and values for each local area based on the productivity of the land."

SECTION 6. G.S. 105-296(j) reads as rewritten:

"(j) The assessor ~~shall~~ must annually review at least one eighth of the parcels in the county classified for taxation at present-use value to verify that these parcels qualify for the classification. By this method, the assessor ~~shall~~ must review the eligibility of all parcels classified for taxation at present-use value in an eight-year period. The period of the review process is based on the average of the preceding three years' data. The assessor may request assistance from the Farm Service Agency, the Cooperative Extension Service, the Forest Resources Division of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources, or other similar organizations.

The assessor may require the owner of classified property to submit any ~~information~~ information, including sound management plans for forestland, needed by the assessor to verify that the property continues to qualify for present-use value taxation. The owner has 60 days from the date a written request for the information is made to submit the information to the assessor. If the assessor determines the owner failed to make the information requested available in the time required without good cause, the property loses its present-use value classification and the property's deferred taxes become due and payable as provided in G.S. 105-277.4(c). The assessor must reinstate the property's use-value classification when the owner submits the requested information unless the information discloses that the property no longer qualifies for present-use value classification. When a property's present-use value classification is reinstated, it is reinstated retroactive to the date the classification was revoked and any deferred taxes that were paid as a result of the revocation must be refunded to the property owner.

In determining whether property is operating under a sound management program, the assessor must consider any weather conditions or other acts of nature that prevent the growing or harvesting of crops or the realization of income from cattle, swine, or poultry operations. The assessor must also allow the property owner to submit additional information before making this determination."

SECTION 7. G.S. 105-299 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-299. Employment of experts.

The board of county commissioners may employ appraisal firms, mapping firms or other persons or firms having expertise in one or more of the duties of the assessor to assist ~~him or her~~ the assessor in the performance of ~~such~~ these duties. The county may also assign to county agencies, or contract with State or federal agencies, for any duties involved with the approval or auditing of use-value accounts. The county may make available to ~~such~~ these persons any information it has that will facilitate the performance of a contract entered into pursuant to this section. Persons receiving ~~such~~ this information ~~shall be~~are subject to the provisions of G.S. 105-289(e) and G.S. 105-259 regarding the use and disclosure of information provided to them by the county. Any person employed by an appraisal firm whose duties include the appraisal of property for the county ~~shall~~ must be required to demonstrate that he or she is qualified to carry out ~~such~~ these duties by achieving a passing grade on a comprehensive examination in the appraisal of property administered by the Department of Revenue. In the employment of ~~such~~ these firms, primary consideration ~~shall~~ must be given to the firms registered with the Department of Revenue pursuant to ~~the provisions of~~ G.S. 105-289(i). A copy of the specifications to be submitted to potential bidders and a copy of the proposed contract may be sent by the board to the Department of Revenue for review before the invitation or acceptance of any bids. SECTION 1. G.S. 105-277.2 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-277.2. Agricultural, horticultural, and forestland – Definitions.

The following definitions apply in G.S. 105-277.3 through G.S. 105-277.7:

(1) Agricultural land. – Land that is a part of a farm unit that is actively engaged in the commercial production or growing of crops, plants, or animals under a sound management program. Agricultural land includes woodland and wasteland that is a part of the farm unit, but the woodland and wasteland included in the unit ~~shall~~ must be appraised under the use-value schedules as woodland or wasteland. A farm unit may consist of more than one tract of agricultural land, but at least one of the tracts must meet the requirements in G.S. 105-277.3(a)(1), and each tract must be under a sound management program. If the agricultural land includes less than 20 acres of woodland, then the woodland portion is not required to be under a sound management program. Also, woodland is not required to be under a sound management program if it is determined that the highest and best use of the woodland is to diminish wind erosion of adjacent agricultural land, protect water quality of adjacent agricultural land, or serve as buffers for adjacent livestock or poultry operations.

(1a) Business entity. – A corporation, a general partnership, a limited partnership, or a limited liability company.

(2) Forestland. – Land that is a part of a forest unit that is actively engaged in the commercial growing of trees under a sound management program. Forestland includes wasteland that is a part of the forest unit, but the wasteland included in the unit ~~shall~~ must be appraised under the use-value schedules as wasteland. A forest unit may consist of more than one tract of forestland, but at least one of the tracts must meet the requirements in G.S. 105-277.3(a)(3), and each tract must be under a sound management program.

(3) Horticultural land. – Land that is a part of a horticultural unit that is actively engaged in the commercial production or growing of fruits or vegetables or nursery or floral products under a sound management program. Horticultural land includes woodland and wasteland that is a part of the horticultural unit, but the woodland and wasteland included in the unit ~~shall~~ must be appraised under the use-value schedules as woodland or wasteland. A horticultural unit may consist of more than one tract of horticultural land, but at least one of the tracts must meet the requirements in G.S. 105-277.3(a)(2), and each tract must be under a sound management program. If the horticultural land includes less than 20 acres of woodland, then the woodland portion is not required to be under a sound management program. Also, woodland is not required to be under a sound management program if it is determined that the highest and best use of the woodland is to diminish wind erosion of adjacent horticultural land or protect water quality of adjacent horticultural land.

a. A natural person. For the purpose of this section, a natural person who is an income beneficiary of a trust that owns land may elect to treat the person's beneficial share of the land as owned by that person. For the purpose of this section, a natural person who is a member of a business entity, other than a corporation, that owns land may elect to treat the person's share of the land as owned by that person. d. A testamentary trust that meets all of the following conditions:

1. It was created by a natural person who transferred to the trust land that qualified in that person's hands for classification under G.S. 105-277.3.

(a) Classes Defined. – The following classes of property are designated special classes of property under authority of Section 2(2) of Article V of the North Carolina Constitution and ~~shall~~ must be appraised, assessed, and taxed as provided in G.S. 105-277.2 through G.S. 105-277.7.

(1) Agricultural land. – Individually owned agricultural land consisting of one or more tracts, one of which consists of at least 10 acres that are in actual production and that, for the three years preceding January 1 of the year for which the benefit of this section is claimed, have produced an average gross income of at least one thousand dollars ($1,000). Gross income includes income from the sale of the agricultural products produced from the land and any payments received under a governmental soil conservation or land retirement program. Land in actual production includes land under improvements used in the commercial production or growing of crops, plants, or animals.

(2) Horticultural land. – Individually owned horticultural land consisting of one or more tracts, one of which consists of at least five acres that are in actual production and that, for the three years preceding January 1 of the year for which the benefit of this section is claimed, have met the applicable minimum gross income requirement. Land in actual production includes land under improvements used in the commercial production or growing of fruits or vegetables or nursery or floral products. Land that has been used to produce evergreens intended for use as Christmas trees must have met the minimum gross income requirements established by the Department of Revenue for the land. All other horticultural land must have produced an average gross income of at least one thousand dollars ($1,000). Gross income includes income from the sale of the horticultural products produced from the land and any payments received under a governmental soil conservation or land retirement program.

(3) Forestland. – Individually owned forestland consisting of one or more tracts, one of which consists of at least 20 acres that are in actual production and are not included in a farm unit.

(b) Natural Person Ownership Requirements. – In order to come within a classification described in subsection (a) of this section, the land must, if owned by a natural person, also satisfy one of the following conditions:

(1) It is the owner's place of residence.

(2) It has been owned by the current owner or a relative of the current owner for the four years preceding January 1 of the year for which the benefit of this section is claimed.

(b2) Exception to Ownership Requirements. – ~~G.S. 105-277.4(c) provides that deferred taxes are payable if land fails to meet any condition or requirement for classification. Accordingly, if land fails to meet an ownership requirement due to a change of ownership, G.S. 105-277.4(c) applies. Despite this failure and the resulting liability for taxes under G.S. 105-277.4(c), the~~Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (b) and (b1) of this section, land may qualify for classification in the hands of the new owner if ~~both~~ all of the conditions listed in this subsection are met, even if the new owner does not meet all of the ownership requirements of subsections (b) and (b1) of this section with respect to the land. If the land qualifies for classification in the hands of the new owner under the provisions of this subsection, then the deferred taxes remain a lien on the land under G.S. 105-277.4(c), the new owner becomes liable for the deferred taxes, and the deferred taxes become payable if the land fails to meet any other condition or requirement for classification.

(1) The land was appraised at its present use value or was eligible for appraisal at its present use value at the time title to the land passed to the new owner.

(2) At the time title to the land passed to the new owner, the new owner acquires the land for the purposes of and continues to use the land for the purposes it was classified under subsection (a) of this section while under previous ownership.

(3) The new owner has timely filed an application as required by G.S. 105-277.4(a) and has certified that the new owner accepts liability for the deferred taxes and intends to continue the present use of the land.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1995, c. 454, s. 2.

(d) Exception for Conservation Reserve Program. – Land enrolled in the federal Conservation Reserve Program authorized by 16 U.S.C. ~~§ 1381~~Chapter 58 is considered to be in actual production, and income derived from participation in the federal Conservation Reserve Program may be used in meeting the minimum gross income requirements of this section either separately or in combination with income from actual production. Land enrolled in the federal Conservation Reserve Program ~~shall~~ must be assessed as agricultural land if it is planted in vegetation other than trees, or as forestland if it is planted in trees.

(d1) Exception for Easements on Qualified Conservation Lands Previously Appraised at Use Value. – Property that is appraised at its present-use value under G.S. 105-277.4(b) shall continue to qualify for appraisal, assessment, and taxation as provided in G.S. 105-277.2 through G.S. 105-277.7 so long as the property is subject to an enforceable conservation easement that would qualify for the conservation tax credit provided in G.S. 105-130.34 and G.S. 105-151.12, without regard to actual production or income requirements of this section.

(e) Exception for Turkey Disease. – Agricultural land that meets all of the following conditions is considered to be in actual production and to meet the minimum gross income requirements:

(1) The land was in actual production in turkey growing within the preceding two years and qualified for present use value treatment while it was in actual production.

(2) The land was taken out of actual production in turkey growing solely for health and safety considerations due to the presence of Poult Enteritis Mortality Syndrome among turkeys in the same county or a neighboring county.

(3) The land is otherwise eligible for present use value treatment.

(f) Sound Management Program for Agricultural Land and Horticultural Land. – If the property owner demonstrates any one of the following factors with respect to agricultural land or horticultural land, then the land is operated under a sound management program:

(1) Enrollment in and compliance with an agency-administered and approved farm management plan.

(2) Compliance with a set of best management practices.
(3) Compliance with a minimum gross income per acre test.
(4) Evidence of net income from the farm operation.
(5) Evidence that farming is the farm operator's principal source of income.
(6) Certification by a recognized agricultural or horticultural agency within the county that the land is operated under a sound management program.

Operation under a sound management program may also be demonstrated by evidence of other similar factors. As long as a farm operator meets the sound management requirements, it is irrelevant whether the property owner received income or rent from the farm operator.

(g) Sound Management Program for Forestland. – If the owner of forestland demonstrates that the forestland complies with a written sound forest management plan for the production and sale of forest products, then the forestland is operated under a sound management program."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-277.4 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-277.4. Agricultural, horticultural and forestland – Application; appraisal at use value; appeal; deferred taxes.

(a) Application. – Property coming within one of the classes defined in G.S. 105-277.3 ~~shall be~~ is eligible for taxation on the basis of the value of the property in its present use if a timely and proper application is filed with the assessor of the county in which the property is located. The application ~~shall~~ must clearly show that the property comes within one of the classes and ~~shall~~ must also contain any other relevant information required by the assessor to properly appraise the property at its present-use value. An initial application ~~shall~~ must be filed during the regular listing period of the year for which the benefit of this classification is first claimed, or within 30 days of the date shown on a notice of a change in valuation made pursuant to G.S. 105-286 or G.S. 105-287. A new application is not required to be submitted unless the property is transferred or becomes ineligible for use-value appraisal because of a change in use or acreage. An application required due to transfer of the land may be submitted at any time during the calendar year but must be submitted within 60 days of the date of the property's transfer.

(b) Appraisal at Present-use Value. – Upon receipt of a properly executed application, the assessor ~~shall~~ must appraise the property at its present-use value as established in the schedule prepared pursuant to G.S. 105-317. In appraising the property at its present-use value, the assessor ~~shall~~ must appraise the improvements located on qualifying land according to the schedules and standards used in appraising other similar improvements in the county. If all or any part of a qualifying tract of land is located within the limits of an incorporated city or town, or is property annexed subject to G.S. 160A-37(f1) or G.S. 160A-49(f1), the assessor ~~shall~~ must furnish a copy of the property record showing both the present-use appraisal and the valuation upon which the property would have been taxed in the absence of this classification to the collector of the city or town. ~~He shall~~The assessor must also notify the tax collector of any changes in the appraisals or in the eligibility of the property for the benefit of this classification. Upon a request for a certification pursuant to G.S. 160A-37(f1) or G.S.160A-49(f1), or any change in the certification, the assessor for the county where the land subject to the annexation is located ~~shall,~~ must, within 30 days, determine if the land meets the requirements of G.S. 160A-37(f1)(2) or G.S. 160A-49(f1)(2) and report the results of its findings to the city.

(b1) Appeal. – Decisions of the assessor regarding the qualification or appraisal of property under this section may be appealed to the county board of equalization and review or, if that board is not in session, to the board of county commissioners. Decisions of the county board may be appealed to the Property Tax Commission.

(c) Deferred Taxes. – Land meeting the conditions for classification under G.S. 105-277.3 ~~shall~~ must be taxed on the basis of the value of the land for its present use. The difference between the taxes due on the present-use basis and the taxes that would have been payable in the absence of this classification, together with any interest, penalties, or costs that may accrue thereon, are a lien on the real property of the taxpayer as provided in G.S. 105-355(a). The difference in taxes ~~shall~~ must be carried forward in the records of the taxing unit or units as deferred taxes. The taxes become due and payable when the land fails to meet any condition or requirement for classification. Failure to have an application approved is ground for disqualification. The tax for the fiscal year that opens in the calendar year in which deferred taxes become due is computed as if the land had not been classified for that year, and taxes for the preceding three fiscal years that have been deferred are immediately payable, together with interest as provided in G.S. 105-360 for unpaid taxes. Interest accrues on the deferred taxes due as if they had been payable on the dates on which they originally became due. If only a part of the qualifying tract of land fails to meet a condition or requirement for classification, ~~a determination shall be made of~~ the assessor must determine the amount of deferred taxes applicable to that part and that amount becomes payable with interest as provided above. Upon the payment of any taxes deferred in accordance with this section for the three years immediately preceding a disqualification, all liens arising under this subsection are extinguished. The deferred taxes for any given year may be paid in that year without the qualifying tract of land becoming ineligible for deferred status.

(d) Exceptions. – Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (c) of this section, if property loses its eligibility for present use value classification solely due to one of the following reasons, no deferred taxes are due and the lien for the deferred taxes is extinguished:

(1) There is a change in income caused by enrollment of the property in the federal conservation reserve program established under 16 U.S.C. Chapter 58.

(2) The property is conveyed by gift to a nonprofit organization and qualifies for exclusion from the tax base pursuant to G.S. 105-275(12) or G.S. 105-275(29).

(3) The property is conveyed by gift to the State, a political subdivision of the State, or the United States.

(e) Repealed by Session Laws 1997-270, s. 3, effective July 3, 1997."

The rental rates must recognize the productivity levels by class of soil or geographic area. The rental rates must be based on the rental value of the land to be used for agricultural or horticultural purposes when those uses are presumed to be the highest and best use of the land. The recommended rental rates may be established from individual county studies or from contracts with federal or State agencies as needed.

(2) The recommended net income ranges for forestland furnished to the Board by the Forestry Section of the North Carolina Cooperative Extension Service. ~~method for appraising nonproductive land as a percentage of the lowest use value established for productive land. The high and low net income amount in each range may differ by no more than fifteen dollars ($15.00). The basis for establishing each range shall be soil productivity.~~

~~For agricultural land, the expected net income per acre ranges shall be based on the actual yields and prices of corn and soybeans over a period of at least the five previous years, and the actual fixed and variable costs, including an imputed management cost, incurred in growing corn and soybeans over the same period of time. The manual shall contain recommended adjustments to the net income per acre ranges for the growing of crops subject to acreage or poundage allotments.~~

~~Expected net income per acre ranges shall be similarly established for horticultural land and forestland, using typical horticultural or forest products in various growing regions of the State instead of corn and soybeans.~~ the cash rental rates for agricultural lands and horticultural lands and the net income ranges for forestland.

(6) To establish requirements for horticultural land, used to produce evergreens intended for use as Christmas trees, in lieu of a gross income requirement until evergreens are harvested from the land, and to establish a gross income requirement for this type horticultural land, that differs from the income requirement for other horticultural land, when evergreens are harvested from the land.

(7) To conduct studies of the cash rents for agricultural lands on a county or a regional basis, such as the Major Land Resource Area map designated and developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The results of the studies must be furnished to the North Carolina Use-Value Advisory Board. The studies may be conducted on any reasonable basis and timetable that will be reflective of rents and values for each local area based on the productivity of the land."

SECTION 6. G.S. 105-296(j) reads as rewritten:

"(j) The assessor ~~shall~~ must annually review at least one eighth of the parcels in the county classified for taxation at present-use value to verify that these parcels qualify for the classification. By this method, the assessor ~~shall~~ must review the eligibility of all parcels classified for taxation at present-use value in an eight-year period. The period of the review process is based on the average of the preceding three years' data. The assessor may request assistance from the Farm Service Agency, the Cooperative Extension Service, the Forest Resources Division of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources, or other similar organizations.

The assessor may require the owner of classified property to submit any ~~information~~ information, including sound management plans for forestland, needed by the assessor to verify that the property continues to qualify for present-use value taxation. The owner has 60 days from the date a written request for the information is made to submit the information to the assessor. If the assessor determines the owner failed to make the information requested available in the time required without good cause, the property loses its present-use value classification and the property's deferred taxes become due and payable as provided in G.S. 105-277.4(c). The assessor must reinstate the property's use-value classification when the owner submits the requested information unless the information discloses that the property no longer qualifies for present-use value classification. When a property's present-use value classification is reinstated, it is reinstated retroactive to the date the classification was revoked and any deferred taxes that were paid as a result of the revocation must be refunded to the property owner.

In determining whether property is operating under a sound management program, the assessor must consider any weather conditions or other acts of nature that prevent the growing or harvesting of crops or the realization of income from cattle, swine, or poultry operations. The assessor must also allow the property owner to submit additional information before making this determination."

SECTION 7. G.S. 105-299 reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-299. Employment of experts.

The board of county commissioners may employ appraisal firms, mapping firms or other persons or firms having expertise in one or more of the duties of the assessor to assist ~~him or her~~ the assessor in the performance of ~~such~~ these duties. The county may also assign to county agencies, or contract with State or federal agencies, for any duties involved with the approval or auditing of use-value accounts. The county may make available to ~~such~~ these persons any information it has that will facilitate the performance of a contract entered into pursuant to this section. Persons receiving ~~such~~ this information ~~shall be~~are subject to the provisions of G.S. 105-289(e) and G.S. 105-259 regarding the use and disclosure of information provided to them by the county. Any person employed by an appraisal firm whose duties include the appraisal of property for the county ~~shall~~ must be required to demonstrate that he or she is qualified to carry out ~~such~~ these duties by achieving a passing grade on a comprehensive examination in the appraisal of property administered by the Department of Revenue. In the employment of ~~such~~ these firms, primary consideration ~~shall~~ must be given to the firms registered with the Department of Revenue pursuant to ~~the provisions of~~ G.S. 105-289(i). A copy of the specifications to be submitted to potential bidders and a copy of the proposed contract may be sent by the board to the Department of Revenue for review before the invitation or acceptance of any bids. Contracts for the employment of these ~~such~~ firms or persons ~~shall be deemed to be~~ are contracts for personal services and ~~shall not be~~are not subject to the provisions of Article 8, Chapter 143, of the General Statutes."

SECTION 8. Article 12L of Chapter 120 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 120-70.108. Property Tax Subcommittee.

(a) The Revenue Laws Study Committee shall establish a Property Tax Subcommittee consisting of six members. The Senate cochair of the Committee shall designate three members appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate to serve on the Subcommittee and shall name one of those members a cochair of the Subcommittee. The House cochair of the Committee shall designate three members appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives to serve on the Subcommittee and shall name one of those members a cochair of the Subcommittee. The Subcommittee shall meet upon the call of the Subcommittee cochairs.

(b) The Property Tax Subcommittee shall study, examine, and, if necessary, recommend changes to the property tax system. The Subcommittee shall include in its study an examination of all classes of property, including exemptions and exclusions of property from the property tax base. The Subcommittee shall also study the present-use value system, including the following:

(1) Examine the implementation and application of the current present-use value statutes.

(2) Evaluate other tax credits, including adjustments to and credits for ad valorem taxes, to encourage agricultural, forestry, horticultural, and conservation use of land.

(3) Evaluate the treatment of undeveloped land in ad valorem tax.

(4) Evaluate the possibility of amending the present-use value system and developing other tax incentives to encourage conservation and environmental protection of land. The study shall include the feasibility of allowing lands managed for conservation and the preservation of water quality, wildlife habitats, and other conservation purposes to be taxed at their present-use value.

(5) Evaluate the possibility of adding more specific land and resource management criteria to the sound management programs required for all lands enrolled in the present-use value system.

(6) Review other issues related to the taxation of agricultural land, horticultural land, and forestland, including reducing the acreage requirement for land to qualify as forestland.

(c) The Subcommittee shall report any recommendations to the Revenue Laws Study Committee."

SECTION 9. G.S. 105-164.13(2a) reads as rewritten:

"(2a) Any of the following substances when purchased for use on animals or plants, as appropriate, held or produced for commercial ~~purposes:~~purposes. This exemption does not apply to any equipment or devices used to administer, release, apply, or otherwise dispense these substances:

a. Remedies, vaccines, medications, litter materials, and feeds for animals.

b. Rodenticides, insecticides, herbicides, fungicides, and pesticides.

c. Defoliants for use on cotton or other crops.

d. Plant growth inhibitors, regulators, or stimulators, including systemic and contact or other sucker control agents for tobacco and other crops."

SECTION 10. G.S. 105-164.16(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Quarterly. – A taxpayer who is consistently liable for less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) a month in State and local sales and use taxes must file a return and pay the taxes due on a quarterly basis. A quarterly return covers a calendar quarter and is due by the ~~15th~~last day of the month following the end of the quarter."

SECTION 11. G.S. 105-164.16(b2) reads as rewritten:

"(b2) Semimonthly. – A taxpayer who is consistently liable for at least ten thousand dollars ($10,000) a month in State and local sales and use taxes must pay the tax twice a month and must file a return on a monthly basis. One semimonthly payment covers the period from the first day of the month through the 15th day of the month. The other semimonthly payment covers the period from the 16th day of the month through the last day of the month. The semimonthly payment for the period that ends on the 15th day of the month is due by the 25th day of that month. The semimonthly payment for the period that ends on the last day of the month is due by the 10th day of the following month.

A return covers both semimonthly payment periods. The return is due by the 20th day of the month following the month of the payment periods covered by the return. A taxpayer is not subject to interest on or penalties for an underpayment for a semimonthly payment period if the taxpayer timely pays at least ninety-five percent (95%) of the ~~amount due for each semimonthly payment period~~ lesser of the following and includes the underpayment with the monthly return for those semimonthly payment ~~periods.~~periods:

(1) The amount due for each semimonthly payment period.

(2) The average semimonthly payment for the prior calendar year."

SECTION 12. Part 5 of Article 5 of Chapter 105 is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-164.28A. Other exemption certificates.

(a) Authorization. – The Secretary may require a person who purchases tangible personal property that is exempt from tax or is subject to a preferential rate of tax depending on the status of the purchaser or the intended use of the property to obtain an exemption certificate from the Department to receive the exemption or preferential rate. An exemption certificate authorizes a retailer to sell tangible personal property to the holder of the certificate and either collect tax at a preferential rate or not collect tax on the sale, as appropriate. A person who purchases tangible personal property under an exemption certificate is liable for any tax due on the sale if the Department determines that the person is not eligible for the certificate or the property was not used as intended.

(b) Scope. – This section does not apply to a direct pay permit or a certificate of resale. G.S. 105-164.27A addresses a direct pay permit, and G.S. 105-164.28 addresses a certificate of resale."

SECTION 13. Sections 1 through 7 of this act are effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2003. Section 10 becomes effective October 1, 2002, and applies to taxes levied on or after that date. Section 11 becomes effective October 1, 2002, and applies to payments due on or after that date. Sections 8, 9, 12, and 13 are effective when they become law.

SENATE BILL 1161:
Amend Use Value Statutes and Other Tax Laws

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Senator Hartsell
Date:	August 21, 2002	Analysis by:	Martha Walston
Version:	S1161-CSLAx-85		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for SB 1161 contains two recommendations of the Revenue Laws Study Committee:

1. Sections 1-8 of the bill seek to amend the present-use value statutes to more accurately determine the realistic present-use value of agricultural land, horticultural land, and forestland for property tax purposes. These changes were given a favorable report by House Agriculture on August 20 when it considered the 3rd edition of SB 1161.
2. Sections 9 through 12 make several changes and clarifications in the tax laws. THESE SAME CHANGES AND CLARIFICATIONS WERE EARLIER CONSIDERED AND GIVEN A FAVORABLE REPORT BY HOUSE FINANCE ON JUNE 13, WHEN THE COMMITTEE EXAMINED HOUSE BILL 1509 (A REVENUE LAWS RECOMMENDATION SPONSORED BY REP. HOLLIMAN, LUEBKE, AND WAINWRIGHT).

SECTIONS 1-8 of the bill are the result of the joint effort of representatives from the Department of Revenue, the NC Farm Bureau, the NC Association of County Commissioners, and the NC Association of Assessing Officers. The bill seeks to amend the present-use value statutes to more accurately determine the realistic present-use value of agricultural land, horticultural land, and forestland. The Bill does this by:

- Changing the method of determining the present use-value for agricultural land and horticultural land to one based on cash rents. The current method is based on the price and yield of corn and soybeans.
- Listing factors that demonstrate (1) agricultural land or horticultural land is operated under a sound management plan, and (2) forestland is operated under a sound management plan.
- Authorizing the Use-Value Advisory Board to set the capitalization rate within a range of 6 to 7% for agricultural land and horticultural land. Forestland remains at 9%.
- Adding five new members to the Use-Value Advisory Board.
- Making changes to the definitions that apply to the use-value statutes.
- Requiring a new owner to file an application within 60 days of the property's transfer and certify that the owner intends to continue the present use and accepts liability for deferred taxes on the property.
- Requiring the Use-Value Advisory Board to annually report to the Revenue Laws Study Committee and to the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives on any recommended changes to (1) the capitalization rate for agricultural land and horticultural land and (2) the maximum value per acre for the best agricultural land.

- Allowing property to continue to be appraised at use value if the property becomes subject to an enforceable conservation easement that qualifies for the conservation tax credit under NC tax laws. This property would continue to qualify for use value even though it no longer met the actual production or income requirements of the use value statutes.
- Amending the statutes establishing the Revenue Laws Study Committee by adding a new section that creates a 6-member Property Tax Subcommittee. The section lists the duties of the subcommittee. These duties are similar to those given to the Property Tax Commission established last session, but with language proposed by the conservation proponents added. The Property Tax Commission never met and was to submit its final report of recommendations to the 2003 General Assembly.

SECTIONS 9-12 of the bill make the following changes and clarifications in the tax laws:

- It clarifies that the sales and use tax exemption for certain agricultural substances does not include any equipment or devices used to apply those substances.
- It changes the due date of quarterly sales tax returns from the 15th of a month to the last day of a month to enable the Department to spread the processing work more evenly throughout the month.
- It changes the underpayment penalty calculation for semimonthly sales tax payers to conform to the requirements of the Streamlined Sales Tax Project.
- It clarifies the use of sales and use tax exemption certificates.

SECTION 13 of the bill sets out the effective dates.

USE VALUE BACKGROUND: In 1973, the General Assembly designated three classes of property as special classes of property under Article V, Sec. 2(2) of the North Carolina Constitution: agricultural land, horticultural land, and forestland. At that time, eligible property began to be appraised, assessed, and taxed at its present-use value, as opposed to its fair market value. The present-use value classification helps preserve farmland by insulating it from the rising property tax values caused by competing market pressures to develop farmland for commercial and residential purposes.

In 1985, the General Assembly enacted the current methodology for calculating present-use value. It directed the Department of Revenue to prepare and distribute annually to each tax assessor a present-use value manual to assist in appraising and assessing farmland. A four-member Use-Value Advisory Board, under the supervision of the Agricultural Extension Service of North Carolina State University, submits a recommended manual to the Department each year. The present-use value manual is advisory only, and each county remains free to develop its own present-use value schedules. Until several years ago, all counties used the manual. Today, an increasing number of counties do not use the manual because the present-use values in the manual cannot be supported by credible market evidence. For example, the values determined for agricultural land are based on yields and prices of corn and soybeans using a capitalization rate of 9%. Corn and soybeans no longer represent the typical crops grown in the State and are not the major money crops. This current method erodes the intent to foster uniformity and creates equity problems between similar types of properties.

In 1999, the Revenue Laws Study Committee recommended to change the method for determining the present-use value of agricultural land and horticultural land. The Committee based the value of such land upon its cash rents using a capitalization rate of 5%. The proposal was introduced during the 1999 session, but was not enacted.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 of the bill makes the following changes to the definitions that apply in the use-value statutes[1]:

- To qualify for use-value treatment the agricultural land, forestland land, and horticultural land must be actively engaged in commercial production under a sound management program. A "sound management program" is defined as "a program of production designed to obtain the greatest net return from the land consistent with its conservation and long-term improvement." SB 1161 exempts certain agricultural land and horticultural land from a sound management program:
  1. If the agricultural land includes less than 20 acres of woodland, then the woodland portion is not required to be under a sound management program. Also woodland adjacent to agricultural land is not required to be under a sound management program if it is determined that the highest and best use of the woodland is to diminish wind erosion, protect water quality, or serve as buffers for the adjacent agricultural land.
  2. If the horticultural land includes less than 20 acres of woodland, then the woodland portion is not required to be under a sound management program. Also woodland adjacent to horticultural land is not required to be under a sound management program if it is determined that the highest and best use of the woodland is to diminish wind erosion of adjacent horticultural land or protect water quality of adjacent horticultural land.
- To qualify for use-value treatment, agricultural land, forestland, and horticultural land must be individually owned. The term "individually owned" means:
  1. a natural person who (a) lives on the land, (b) has owned the land in their family for at least four years, or (c) received the land when it was eligible for use-value treatment in the prior owner's hands.
  2. a business entity if farming, horticulture, or forestry is its principal business and whose members are all natural persons who are actively engaged in the business, are related to a member actually engaged in the business, or have inherited the property from one of these members.
  3. a family or charitable testamentary trust that meets certain conditions. The family trust must be created by a natural person and the beneficiaries must be the creator of the trust, the creator's relatives, or a second trust whose beneficiaries are the creator of the first trust or the creator's relatives.

[1] The proposed changes are in bold type.

4. SB 1161 adds "tenants in common" within the term "individually-owned". Each tenant in common must either be a natural person or a business entity.

- The current definition of "present-use value" bases the value of agricultural land, horticultural land, or forestland on its ability to produce income, using a capitalization rate of 9%. SB 1161 provides that the capitalization rate for agricultural land and horticultural land is to be determined by the Use-Value Advisory Board pursuant to statutory guidelines defining the duties of the Board. The capitalization rate for forestland will remain at 9%.
- SB 1161 creates a definition for "unit". Current law requires agricultural land, horticultural land, and forestland to be part of a unit, but does not define the term.

Section 2 of the bill does the following:

- Under current law, the property must be the owner's residence or have been owned by the person for four years before the property can be classified in the use-value program. Prior to 2002, there was an exception to the four-year ownership requirement, if the new owner owned other property classified in the use-value program. S.L. 2001-499 removed the requirement that the new owner have other property classified in the use-value program. However, the new owner must acquire the land for the purposes of and continue to use the land for the purposes it was classified under the use-value program. Also, the new owner is liable for the deferred taxes. SB 1161 clarifies that when the land is transferred to a new owner who intends to continue its use-value purpose, the deferred taxes remain a lien on the land. SB 1161 also requires the new owner to file an application for use-value within 60 days of the date of the property's transfer and certify that the new owner intends to continue the present use of the land and accepts liability for the deferred taxes. Under current law, the deferred taxes for the preceding three years become payable whenever the property loses its eligibility for the benefit of the present-use value.
- Under current law, land enrolled in the federal Conservation Reserve Program is considered to be in actual production for use-value determination, and income derived from participation in the federal program may be used to meet the gross income requirements for use-value classification. SB 1161 corrects an incorrect cite to this federal program. (Under the federal Conservation Reserve Program, owners are paid for agreeing to refrain from farming their property in order to conserve and improve the soil and water resources of the land.)
- SB 1161 adds new language that would allow property appraised at use value to continue to qualify for use value appraisal, so long as the property is subject to an enforceable conservation easement that qualifies for the conservation tax credit under N.C. tax laws. This property would continue to qualify for use value even though it no longer met the actual production or income requirements of the use value statutes.[2]

[2] G.S. 105-151.12 and 105-130.34 gives a conservation tax credit to a corporation or individual who donates interest in North Carolina property that is useful for public beach access or use, public access to public waters or trails, fish and wildlife

- SB 1161 sets out a list of factors that the property owner may demonstrate in order to show that his or her land is operated under a sound management program. For agricultural land and horticultural land, a property owner must demonstrate only one of the listed factors or a similar factor in order to meet the sound management requirement. For forestland, the owner must demonstrate compliance with a written sound forest management plan for the production and sale of forest products.

Section 3 of the bill does the following:

- G.S. 105-277.4 sets out the requirements for a timely and proper application for present-use value classification, the duties of the assessor when appraising at present-use value, and the determination and payment of deferred taxes. An initial application for present-use value is required to be filed during the regular listing period or within 30 days of the date shown on a notice of change in valuation. A new application is required when the property is transferred or becomes ineligible because of a change in use or acreage. SB 1131 allows a taxpayer to file an application any time during the calendar year if the application is required because of a transfer of the land. However, the new application must be submitted within 60 days of the date of the property's transfer.
- SB 1131 clarifies that failure to have an application approved is ground for disqualification as classified property. This means that if classified property is transferred to a new owner who intends to continue the present use of the property and the new owner does not apply for and receive approval for present-use value classification, then the new owner becomes liable for the deferred taxes.

Section 4 of the bill does the following:

- Changes the make-up and duties of the Use-Value Advisory Board. Under current law, the Use-Value Advisory Board is established under the supervision of the Agricultural Extension Service of NC State University. The Board annually submits a recommended manual to the Department of Revenue. The Department of Revenue annually prepares and distributes this manual to each assessor.

  SB 1131 adds five new members to the current make-up of the Board:

  1. The Director of the Agricultural Extension Service of NCSU, serves as chair.
  2. A representative of the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, designated by the Commissioner of Agriculture.
  3. A representative of the Forest Resources Division of DENR, designated by the Director of that Division.

conservation, or other similar land conservation purposes. The property must be donated to either the State, a local government, or a body that is both organized to receive and administer lands for conservation purposes and qualified to receive charitable contributions under the Code. For a corporation, the credit is taken against the income tax and is equal to 25% of the fair market value of the donated property. The credit may not exceed $500,000, and any unused portion may be carried forward for the next succeeding five years. For an individual, the credit is taken against the income tax and is equal to 25% of the fair market value of the donated property. The credit may not exceed $250,000, and any unused portion may be carried forward for the next succeeding five years.

4. A representative of the Agricultural Extension Service at NC Agricultural and Technical State University, designated by the Director of the Extension Service.
5. A representative of the NC Farm Bureau, designated by the President of the Bureau.
6. A representative of the NC Association of Assessing Officers, designated by the President of the Association.
7. The Director of the Property Tax Division of the NC Department of Revenue or the Director's designee.
8. A representative of the NC Association of County Commissioners, designated by the President of the Association.
9. A representative of the North Carolina Forestry Association, designated by the President of the Association.

SB 1131 makes substantive changes to the duties of the Use-Value Advisory Board. Under current law, the required contents of the manual are set out in the statutory duties of the Department of Revenue. SB 1131 changes some of these requirements and moves them to the statute setting out the duties of the Use Value-Advisory Board. The Board must set out the following in the manual:

- The expected net income per acre ranges of agricultural land. These are to be based on the estimated cash rental rates for agricultural lands for the various classes of soil in the State, instead of the actual yields and prices of corn and soybeans over a period of at least the five previous years.
- The expected net income per acre ranges for horticultural land. These are to be based on the estimated cash rental rates for horticultural lands for the various classes of soil in the State, instead of typical horticultural products in various growing regions in the State.
- The rental rates for both agricultural land and horticultural land are to be used when agricultural or horticultural purposes are presumed to be the highest and best use of the land. These rates may be established from individual county studies or contracts with federal or State agencies.
- The expected net income per acre ranges for forestland. These are to be furnished by the Forestry Section of the NC Cooperative Extension Service and are to be based on six Major Land Resource Areas in the State. These areas are geographic regions designated by the US Soil Conservation Service. SB 1161 sets out in the statute a list of factors that the Forestry Section must consider when developing the income ranges. These same factors are currently listed in the Use-Value Manual.
- The capitalization rates adopted by the Board prior to February 1. The rate for forestland remains at 9%. The rate for agricultural land and horticultural land is changed from 9% to a rate of no less than 6% and no more than 7%. The rate is used to capitalize incomes into values.

- The value per acre for the best agricultural land, not to exceed $1,200.
- Recommendation of any changes to the capitalization rate for agricultural land and horticultural land and to the maximum value per acre for the best agricultural land. These recommendations must be annually reported to the Revenue Laws Study Committee and to the President Pro Tem and Speaker.

Section 5 of the bill changes the duties of the Department of Revenue as follows:

- Moves the required contents of the Use-Value Manual from the Duties of Department of Revenue statute to the Use-Value Advisory Board statute.
- Requires the Department to conduct studies of the cash rents for agricultural lands.

Section 6 of the bill amends G.S. 105-296, which sets out the powers and duties of the assessor. This section requires the assessor to annually review one eighth of the parcels in the county classified at present-use value and authorizes the assessor to require an owner to submit information needed by the assessor to verify that the property continues to qualify. SB 1131 (1) clarifies that the assessor must annually review "at least" one eighth of the parcels,(2) authorizes the assessor to request assistance in carrying out the review, (3) clarifies that the assessor may require the owner to submit information of a sound management plan when verifying the classification of forestland, (4) clarifies that the period of the review process is based on the average of the preceding three years' data, (5) requires the assessor to consider acts of nature that may prevent the growing of crops or the realization of income when determining whether the property is operated under a sound management program, and (6) requires the assessor to allow the property owner to submit additional information before determining that the property is not operated under a sound management program.

Section 7 of the bill amends G.S. 105-299, which authorizes the board of county commissioners to employ experts. SB 1131 authorizes the county to assign to county agencies or contract with State or federal agencies, for any duties involved with the approval or auditing of use-value accounts.

Section 8 of the bill creates a six-member Property Tax Subcommittee of the Revenue Laws Committee. The Senate cochair of the Committee shall designate three members to serve on the subcommittee and the House cochair of the Committee shall designate three members. The subcommittee must report any recommendations to the Revenue Laws Committee. The duties of the subcommittee include studying the present-use value system, including the following:

1. Examine the implementation and application of the current present-use value statues.
2. Evaluate other tax credits, including adjustments to and credits for ad valorem taxes, to encourage agricultural, forestry, horticultural, and conservation use of land.
3. Evaluate the treatment of undeveloped land in ad valorem tax.
4. Evaluate the possibility of amending the present-use value system and developing other tax incentives to encourage conservation and environmental protection of land. The study shall include the feasibility of allowing lands managed for conservation and the preservation of water quality, wildlife habitats, and other conservation purposes to be taxes at their present-use value system.

5. Review other issues related to the taxation of agricultural land, horticultural land, and forestland, including reducing the acreage requirements for land to qualify as forestland.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: North Carolina Department of Revenue and Local Governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 1 – 7 are effective for tax years beginning on or after July 1, 2003. Section 10 becomes effective October 1, 2002 and applies to taxes levied on or after that date. Section 11 becomes effective October 1, 2002 and applies to payments due on or after that date. The remainder becomes effective when law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill has two primary components. The first component addresses the property tax treatment of special classes of property. Under current law, farmers are charged property taxes based on the land value for agricultural and horticultural purposes, rather than the full market price. In general, this value is lower than the market price because it does not reflect any potential alternative uses for the property (i.e. new homes, commercial development, or industrial facilities). Under the current system the adjusted value for agriculture is based on the market price for corn and soybeans, as well as the cost of producing corn and soybeans. A Use Value Advisory Board is charged with determining the basis for horticultural land. The Use Value Advisory Board has generally created a manual each year. County tax assessors can use this manual to determine values under the use value program, or can include their own values in line with the county's schedule of values. This bill changes the current program in several ways. In Section 1, the proposal exempts certain agricultural, forestland, and horticultural land from the existing sound management program requirement, primarily if the "highest and best use" of the forestland is to serve as a buffer, or a small portion of the agricultural or horticultural unit is actually woodland. Second, it clarifies that the term "tenants in common" is a form of individually owned property for use value participation purposes. It also clarifies that each beneficiary of a family trust must be a natural person to meet the individually owned requirements. This section also provides that the Use Value Advisory Board determines the appropriate income and capitalization rates to be used to determine use value.

Section 2 clarifies that when land under the use value program is transferred to a new owner who intends to continue under the program, the deferred taxes remain a lien on the property. It also requires that the new owner file an application for use value within 60 days of the transfer, certify that they intend to continue to use the property for an allowable activity under the use value program, and accept liability for the deferred taxes if the requirements are not met. This section also clarifies that land voluntarily removed from production due to participation in certain federal programs will not be considered in actual production for use value purposes. This section of the bill also addresses the issue of conservation easements, taxation of land subject to those easements, and the roll back of taxes when land is placed under a conservation easement. A conservation easement limits the ways a particular piece of land can be used, generally to limit development. As such, a conservation easement has the potential to lessen the "highest and best" use of the property, and therefore limit its value for property tax purposes. Under currently law, when agricultural or forestland is placed under a conservation easement, and continues to be actively managed, no change in tax value or roll back of taxes should occur. However, if land in the use value program is placed under an easement and is no longer actively managed, the county will collect a roll back of deferred taxes, and will reassess the value of the property. This section of the bill removes the rollback when the land is placed under an easement and is removed from the use value program. It also insures that that particular parcel will continue to be taxed as agricultural or forest land as long as the easement is in place, regardless of the actual use of the land.

Section 3 modifies existing law to allow a taxpayer to file an application at any time during the calendar year if such an application is required due to a land transfer. It also clarifies that failure to have an application approved is grounds for disqualification from the program.

Section 4 makes the most significant changes to current law in this component of the bill. It modifies both the membership and duties of the Use Value Advisory Board. The new members include a representative of the Farm Bureau, a representative of the NC Association of Assessing Officers, the Director of the Property Tax Division of the Department of Revenue, a representative of the NC Association of County Commissioners, and representative of the Forestry Association. The Board is now charged with determining expected net incomes per acre for agricultural and horticultural land based on cash rental rates. (Currently yields and prices of corn, soybeans, and various horticultural products are used as the base). Thus, this section of the bill changes the tax basis for both types of land to cash rents. Section 4 also requires that the Use Value Advisory Board annually select a capitalization rate for converting incomes into values. This capitalization rate must be between 6% and 7%. It also limits the maximum value for agricultural land to $1,200 per acre.

Section 5 requires the Department of Revenue to study cash rents for agricultural lands, and moves some existing language to a different section of the Machinery Act. Section 6 authorizes the assessor to request assistance in the review and clarifies that the assessor may require the owner to submit evidence of the existence of a sound management plan. Section 7 gives county commissions the authority to assign county agents or contract with other state and federal agencies to assist with the use valuation process.

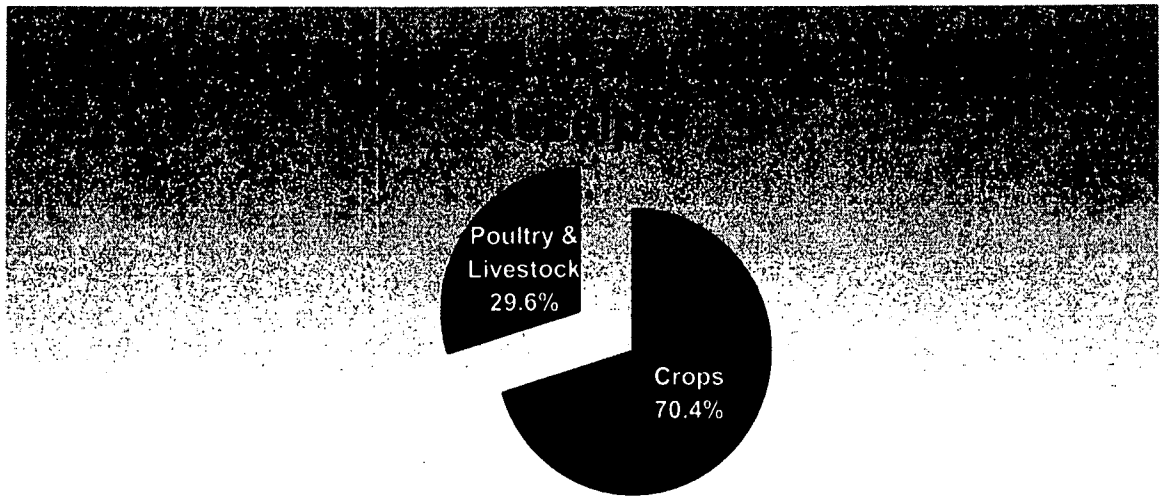
Section 8 of the bill creates a property tax subcommittee of the Revenue Laws Study Committee. This subcommittee will include six (6) members, and is charged with studying, examining, and (if necessary) recommending changes to the property tax system. The subcommittee is also instructed to examine all classes of property, including exemption and exclusions. This subcommittee is also charged with studying the present-use value system. All reports and recommendations are to be made to Revenue Laws.

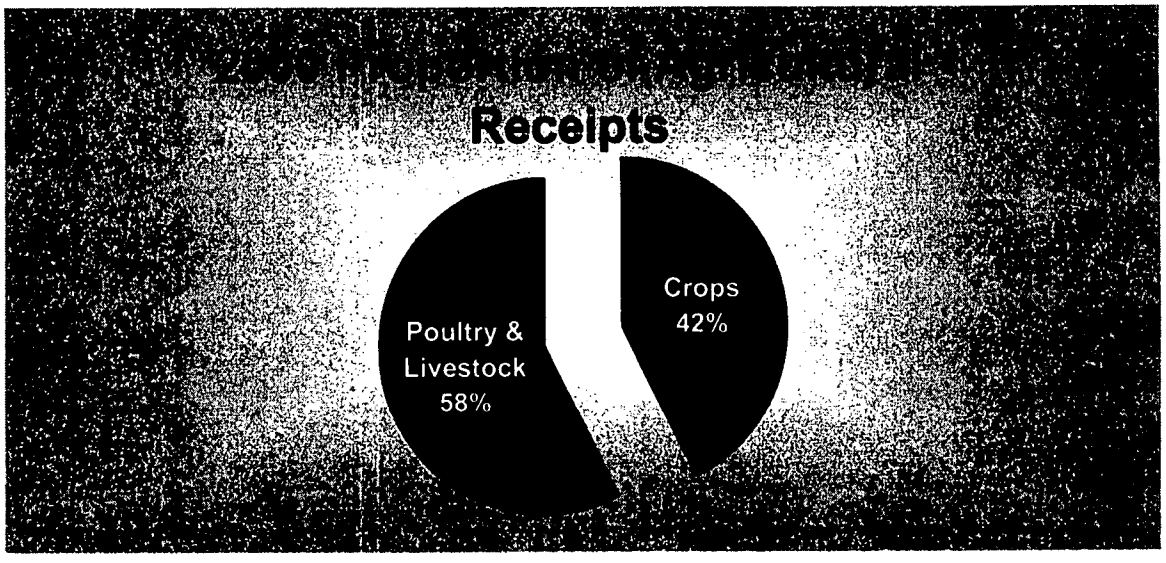
The second component of the bill addresses several technical issues considered by Revenue Laws. Specifically, Section 9 clarifies that equipment used to dispense plant growth inhibitors is not exempt from sales tax. Section 10 changes the due date for quarterly sales tax returns from the 15th of the month to the last day of the month, following the end of the quarter. Section 11 changes the underpayment penalty calculation for semimonthly taxpayers to conform to the Streamlined Sales Tax Project. Section 12 clarifies the use of sales and use tax exemption certificates.

BACKGROUND:

Under G.S. 105-289(a)5 the Department of Revenue and the Use Value Advisory Committee are instructed to develop a manual to assist county assessors in determining the use-value of agricultural, horticultural, and forest land. The law states that the use value should be based on expected net income from the property. The expected net income for agricultural land is based on actual yields, the price of corn and soybeans for the past five years, and the actual cost of growing corn and soybeans during that same period. The law allows the committee to set a method for determining the income potential of horticultural land. At the time this law was adopted, crops represented 52.8% of agricultural cash receipts.

In 1996, 1997, and 1999 the Revenue Laws Study Committee was informed that corn and soybean prices might no longer be the most appropriate method for determining the expected income for farmland, as crops were no longer the primary agricultural product of the state, and corn and soybeans represent an extremely small subset of crop receipts. As noted in the charts below, the proportion of agricultural cash receipts that come from crops has declined from 70.4% in 1964 to 42.4% in 2000. In 2000 corn and soybeans are only 3.8% of the total farm cash receipts, suggesting that those two items were approximately 8.9% of the crop total.





SOURCES OF DATA: North Carolina Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, Agriculture Statistics Section.

In 1996 Revenue Laws was also informed that cost of production data for corn and soybeans was also no longer available, as the federal government no longer created that database. As a result of these two factors, limited data and shifts in agricultural production, Revenue Laws directed the Use Value Advisory Board to study the issue and return to Revenue Laws with their recommendation for a new system.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

There are three primary fiscal impact related issues in the bill.

Agricultural Use Value

In May 1998 researchers from the North Carolina Cooperative Extension Service conducted a statewide survey to determine the appropriateness of cash rent as a new basis for the use value system. The survey asked Extension Directors, Tax Assessors, Farm Credit Service

Appraisers, and farmers to provide estimates of agricultural land values (when sold as agricultural land) and agricultural cash rents. Estimates were given for low, medium, and high productivity land. The data was sorted by region (referred to as a Major Land Resource Area or MLRA). Allowances were also made for quota crops. The Extension Service received responses from 98 County Extension Directors and 98 County Tax Assessors. Farm Credit also gave estimates for all 100 counties. They received at least one farmer response from 75 counties.

When the Use Value Advisory Board compared the sale price of farmland sold as farmland to the cash rent derived from that land, it found the average rent to value ratio to be 2% in most of the MLRAs. The notable exception is the Tidewater region where the average rent to value ratio is 4.5%. This ratio most closely reflects the true rent to value ratio because the agricultural use of the property in that region is often its highest and best use since there are not many competing pressures to increase the value of the property. For this reason, the Use Value Advisory Board recommended using a 5% capitalization rate. Also, 5% is the nationwide average capitalization rate for farmland.

Since that time the Department of Revenue and the Extension Service have attempted to update their findings. This new survey indicates that only 57 counties are currently using the Use Value Advisory Board manual, while 39 are not (4 counties did not report or did not have agriculture acres in the use value program). The data also showed that at a 6% cap rate under a cash rent system, 64 counties would gain revenue, while 32 would lose. At 7% the numbers move to 40 counties that will gain and 55 that will lose revenue. (The Use Value Advisory Board is charged with choosing a rate between 6% and 7%). The average rent to value ratio in this survey was 7.57%. A review of the newer revaluations suggests an average rent to value ratio of 6% or less.

At this time no data is available on the number of acres in the program in each county. Therefore, no overall estimate of the fiscal impact of this portion of the bill is possible. Additionally, no good data is available on the impact of the other changes in the bill, although the overall statewide impact is expected to be fairly small.

Conservation Easements

Section 2 of the bill makes two changes to the property tax treatment of lands subject to a conservation easement. The first of these relate to tax rollbacks. Under current law, if land no longer used for the purpose for which it receives special tax treatment under the use value program, the owner of that property is subject to what is called "roll back". This essentially means the owner has to pay the difference between the tax on the property if it would have been valued at "market" and the tax on the property under the use value program, for the past three years. Under this legislation, the property owner would no longer be subject to the roll back if the land was subject to a conservation easement. A statewide survey of tax assessors indicates the following amounts were remitted to the counties for "roll back" in the most recent fiscal year:

County Name	Rollback	Include Municipal Taxes?
Alexander	$11,600.00	No
Buncombe	$158,564.10	Yes

This amount represents the total amount of roll back under all circumstances, not the amount of roll back due to leaving the agriculture use program under a conservation easement. According to property tax experts, the proportion of this amount is likely to be relatively small, but no specific numbers are available. At present Fiscal Research is aware of two properties – one in Wake and one in Rutherford – where land that is currently under the use value program may become subject to a conservation easement. Other situations could exist, but are not known to Fiscal staff. Further, it is expected that the amount and value of land placed under a conservation easement will vary according to federal tax incentives. As such, no fiscal estimate is possible on this portion of the bill.

The second fiscal impact relating to conservation easement relates to the tax treatment of that land over time. As was mentioned previously, this bill continues to hold land that was under the use value program in the program as long as the property is under a conservation easement. This means that property that was once in active agricultural production would continue to be treated as if it was in production, regardless of how the land is now used, as long as it is subject to a conservation easement. Fiscal Research is not aware of any other state that treats land under conservation easement in exactly the same manner. Officials at the Clean Water Trust Fund have also attempted to develop an estimate based on their plans and that of similar organizations. However, because of the complexities of the bill and the limited data on property tax values related to easement, no data is available at this time. As such, no fiscal estimate is possible on this portion of the bill.

Other Revenue Issues

The third portion of the bill relates to other revenue related changes recommended by the Revenue Laws Study Committee.

Section 9: This proposal is a result of a North Carolina Court of Appeals decision. In American Ripener Co. Inc. v. Muriel K. Offerman, Secretary of Revenue, the court considered the application of state sales taxes to a plant growth regulator or stimulator which controls the ripening of fruits and vegetables (ethylene), as well as the equipment used to deliver that chemical. Tax on replacement parts was also an issue. The court held that all of these items are exempt from sales and use tax under G.S. 105-164.13(2) and G.S. 105-164.13 (2a) which exempts "plant growth inhibitors, regulators, or stimulators for agriculture including systematic and contact or other sucker control agents for tobacco and other crops". The court also ruled that the generators and associate parts are also inhibitors and are therefore exempt from sales tax. The proposal effectively amends G.S. 105-164.13(2a) to make the equipment and parts associated with this gas treatment subject to sales and use taxes. (The Department had previously assumed all these items were taxable). In making it's ruling, the court effectively reduced sales tax revenue. The bill would restore at least some of that revenue to the General Fund. As such, the bill in and of itself would create a small revenue gain. However, Fiscal Research is unable to create an exact estimate of the value of ethylene delivery parts and equipment. As a result, no estimate is possible on this portion of the proposal.

Section 10: Currently the Department of Revenue receives monthly withholding returns, monthly sales tax returns, and quarterly sales tax returns on the 15th of the month. On the 15th of March, April, September, and October income tax returns are due as well. Shifting the due date of quarterly sales and use tax returns from the 15th of the month to the end of the month will create a more even distribution of work in the Department. Because the payments are due in the month following the end of the quarter (October, February, April, and July) the shift will not move any revenue from one fiscal year to the next. Some loss of interest on the payments or "float" will occur. However, because of the relatively small sums of money involved, the Department expects the loss to be minimal.

Section 11: This section changes the calculation of penalty for underpayment by semimonthly sales tax payers. Under current law, the taxpayer must remit at least 95% of the amount due for each semimonthly payment period. This proposal allows the taxpayer to remit the lesser of this amount or the average semimonthly payment for the prior calendar year. Clearly this proposal will result in some loss of penalty revenue. However, no data is available to determine the magnitude of the loss. The Department expects the loss to be slight.

Section 12: Historically the Department of Revenue has issued exemption certificates to taxpayers in certain exempted industries to facilitate tax administration. However, there is no reference to exemption certificates in the statutes, except as it relates to penalties for misuse of such a certificate. This proposal would codify the practice of issuing exemption certificates. Since the proposal is only codifying the existing practice of the Department, no fiscal impact is expected.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Chapter 163 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"Article 22D.

"The North Carolina Public Campaign Financing Fund.

"§ 163-278.61. Purpose of the North Carolina Public Campaign Financing Fund.

The purpose of this Article is to ensure the fairness of democratic elections in North Carolina and to protect the constitutional rights of voters and candidates from the detrimental effects of increasingly large amounts of money being raised and spent to influence the outcome of elections, those effects being especially problematic in elections of the judiciary, since impartiality is uniquely important to the integrity and credibility of the courts. Accordingly, this Article establishes the North Carolina Public Campaign Financing Fund as an alternative source of campaign financing for candidates who demonstrate public support and voluntarily accept strict fund-raising and spending limits. This Article is available to candidates for justice of the Supreme Court and judge of the Court of Appeals in elections to be held in 2004 and thereafter.

"§ 163-278.62. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

(1) Board. – The State Board of Elections.

(a) Establishment of Fund. – The North Carolina Public Campaign Financing Fund is established to finance the election campaigns of certified candidates for office and to pay administrative and enforcement costs of the Board related to this Article. The Fund is a special, dedicated, nonlapsing, nonreverting fund. All expenses of administering this Article, including production and distribution of the Voter Guide required by G.S. 163-278.69 and personnel and other costs incurred by the Board, shall be paid from the Fund and not from the General Fund. Any interest generated by the Fund is credited to the Fund. The Board shall administer the Fund.

(b) Sources of Funding. – Money received from all the following sources must be deposited in the Fund:

In its report, the Board shall set out the funds received to date and the expected needs of the Fund for the next election.

"§ 163-278.64. Requirements for participation; certification of candidates.

(a) Declaration of Intent to Participate. – Any individual choosing to receive campaign funds from the Fund shall first file with the Board a declaration of intent to participate in the act as a candidate for a stated office. The declaration of intent shall be filed before or during the qualifying period and before collecting any qualifying contributions. In the declaration, the candidate shall swear or affirm that only one political committee, identified with its treasurer, shall handle all contributions, expenditures, and obligations for the participating candidate and that the candidate will comply with the contribution and expenditure limits set forth in subsection (d) of this section and all other requirements set forth in this Article or adopted by the Board. Failure to comply is a violation of this Article.

(b) Demonstration of Support of Candidacy. – Except for candidates described elsewhere in this subsection, participating candidates who seek certification to receive campaign funds from the Fund shall first, during the qualifying period, obtain qualifying contributions from at least 350 registered voters in an aggregate sum that at least equals the amount of minimum qualifying contributions described in G.S. 163-278.62(10) but that does not exceed the amount of maximum qualifying contributions described in G.S. 163-278.62(9).

No payment, gift, or anything of value shall be given in exchange for a qualifying contribution.

(c) Certification of Candidates. – Upon receipt of a submittal of the record of demonstrated support by a participating candidate, the Board shall determine whether or not the candidate has complied with all the following requirements, if they apply to that candidate:

(1) Signed and filed a declaration of intent to participate in this Article.

(2) Submitted a report itemizing the appropriate number of qualifying contributions received from registered voters, which the Board shall verify through a random sample or other means it adopts. The report shall include the county of residence of each registered voter listed.

(3) Qualified to receive votes on the ballot as a candidate for the office.

(4) Otherwise met the requirements for participation in this Article.

The Board shall certify candidates complying with the requirements of this section as soon as possible and no later than five business days after receipt of a satisfactory record of demonstrated support.

(d) Restrictions on Contributions and Expenditures for Participating and Certified Candidates. – The following restrictions shall apply to contributions and expenditures with respect to participating and certified candidates:

(1) Beginning January 1 of the year before the election and before the filing of a declaration of intent, a candidate for office may accept in contributions up to ten thousand dollars ($10,000) from sources and in amounts permitted by Article 22A of this Chapter and may expend up to ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for any campaign purpose. A candidate who exceeds either of these limits shall be ineligible to file a declaration of intent or receive funds from the Public Campaign Financing Fund.

(2) From the filing of a declaration of intent through the end of the qualifying period, a candidate shall expend no more than an amount equal to the maximum qualifying contributions for that candidate, not including possible rescue funds or the remaining money raised pursuant to subdivision (1) of this subsection. Contributions a candidate may use to expend to that limit shall be limited to qualifying contributions and personal and family contributions permitted by subdivision (4) of this subsection.

(3) After the qualifying period and through the date of the general election, the candidate shall expend only the funds the candidate receives from the Fund pursuant to G.S. 163-278.65(b)(4) plus any funds remaining from the qualifying period and possible rescue funds.

(4) During the qualifying period, the candidate may contribute up to one thousand dollars ($1,000) of that candidate's own money to the campaign and may accept in contributions one thousand dollars ($1,000) from each member of that candidate's family consisting of spouse, parent, child, brother, and sister.

(5) A candidate and the candidate's committee shall limit the use of all revenues permitted by this subsection to expenditures for campaign-related purposes only. The Board shall publish guidelines outlining permissible campaign-related expenditures.

(6) Any contribution received by a participating or certified candidate that falls outside that permitted by this subsection shall be returned to the donor as soon as practicable. Contributions intentionally made, solicited, or accepted in violation of this Article are subject to civil penalties as specified in G.S. 163-278.70. The funds involved shall be forfeited to the Civil Penalty and Forfeiture Fund.

(7) A candidate shall return to the Fund any amount distributed for an election that is unspent and uncommitted at the date of the election, or at the time the individual ceases to be a certified candidate, whichever occurs first. For accounting purposes, all qualifying, personal, and family contributions shall be considered spent before revenue from the Fund is spent or committed.

(e) Revocation. – A candidate may revoke, in writing to the Board, a decision to participate in the Public Campaign Financing Fund at any time before the deadline set by the Board for the candidate's submission of information for the Voter Guide described in G.S. 163-278.69. After a timely revocation, that candidate may accept and expend outside the limits of this Article without violating this Article. Within 10 days after revocation, a candidate shall return to the Board all money received from the Fund.

"§ 163-278.65. Distribution From the Fund.

(a) Timing of Fund Distribution. – The Board shall distribute to a certified candidate revenue from the Fund in an amount determined under subdivision (b)(4) of this section within five business days after the certified candidate's name is approved to appear on the ballot in a contested general election, but no earlier than five business days after the primary.

(b) Amount of Fund Distribution. – By August 1, 2003, and no less frequently than every two years thereafter, the Board shall determine the amount of funds, rounded to the nearest one hundred dollars ($100.00), to be distributed to certified candidates as follows:

(1) Uncontested primaries. – No funds shall be distributed.

(2) Contested primaries. – No funds shall be distributed except as provided in G.S. 163-278.67.

(3) Uncontested general elections. – No funds shall be distributed.

(4) Contested general elections. – Funds shall be distributed to a certified candidate for a position on the Court of Appeals in an amount equal to 125 times the candidate's filing fee as set forth in G.S. 163-107. Funds shall be distributed to a certified candidate for a position on the Supreme Court in an amount equal to 175 times the candidate's filing fee as set forth in G.S. 163-107.

(c) Method of Fund Distribution. – The Board, in consultation with the State Treasurer and the State Controller, shall develop a rapid, reliable method of conveying funds to certified candidates. In all cases, the Board shall distribute funds to certified candidates in a manner that is expeditious, ensures accountability, and safeguards the integrity of the Fund. If the money in the Fund is insufficient to fully fund all certified candidates, then the available money shall be distributed proportionally, according to each candidate's eligible funding.

"§ 163-278.66. Reporting requirements.

(a) Reporting by Noncertified Candidates and Independent Expenditure Entities. – Any noncertified candidate with a certified opponent shall report total income, expenses, and obligations to the Board by facsimile machine or electronically within 24 hours after the total amount of campaign expenditures or obligations made, or funds raised or borrowed, exceeds eighty percent (80%) of the trigger for rescue funds as defined in G.S. 163-278.62(18). Any entity making independent expenditures in excess of three thousand dollars ($3,000) in support of or opposition to a certified candidate shall report the total funds received, spent, or obligated for those expenditures to the Board by facsimile machine or electronically within 24 hours after the total amount of expenditures or obligations made, or funds raised or borrowed, for the purpose of making the independent expenditures, exceeds fifty percent (50%) of the trigger for rescue funds. After this 24-hour filing, the noncertified candidate or independent expenditure entity shall comply with an expedited reporting schedule by filing additional reports after receiving each additional amount in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000) or after making or obligating to make each additional expenditure(s) in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000). The schedule and forms for reports required by this subsection shall be made according to procedures developed by the Board.

(b) Reporting by Participating and Certified Candidates. – Notwithstanding other provisions of law, participating and certified candidates shall report any money received, including all previously unreported qualifying contributions, all campaign expenditures, obligations, and related activities to the Board according to procedures developed by the Board. A certified candidate who ceases to be certified or ceases to be a candidate or who loses an election shall file a final report with the Board and return any unspent revenues received from the Fund. In developing these procedures, the Board shall utilize existing campaign reporting procedures whenever practical.

(c) Timely Access to Reports. – The Board shall ensure prompt public access to the reports received in accordance with this Article. The Board may utilize electronic means of reporting and storing information.

"§ 163-278.67. Rescue funds.

(a) When Rescue Funds Become Available. – When any report or group of reports shows that 'funds in opposition to a certified candidate or in support of an opponent to that candidate' as described in this section, exceed the trigger for rescue funds as defined in G.S. 163-278.62(18), the Board shall issue immediately to that certified candidate an additional amount equal to the reported excess within the limits set forth in this section. 'Funds in opposition to a certified candidate or in support of an opponent to that candidate' shall be equal to the sum of the following:

(1) Campaign expenditures or obligations made, or funds raised or borrowed, whichever is greater, reported by any one uncertified opponent of a certified candidate. Where a certified candidate has more than one uncertified opponent, the measure shall be taken from the uncertified candidate showing the highest relevant dollar amount.

(2) The sum of all expenditures reported in accordance with G.S. 163-278.66 of entities making independent expenditures in opposition to the certified candidate or in support of any opponent of that certified candidate.

(b) Limit on Rescue Funds in Contested Primary. – Total rescue funds to a certified candidate in a contested primary shall be limited to an amount equal to two times the maximum qualifying contributions for the office sought.

(c) Limit on Rescue Funds in Contested General Election. – Total rescue funds to a certified candidate in a contested general election shall be limited to an amount equal to two times the amount described in G.S. 163-278.65(b)(4).

"§ 163-278.68. Enforcement and administration.

(a) Enforcement by the Board. – The Board, with the advice of the Advisory Council for the Public Campaign Financing Fund, shall administer the provisions of this Article.

(b) Advisory Council for the Public Campaign Financing Fund. – There is established under the Board the Advisory Council for the Public Campaign Financing Fund to advise the Board on the rules, procedures, and opinions it adopts for the enforcement and administration of this Article and on the funding needs and operation of the Public Campaign Financing Fund. The Advisory Council shall consist of five members to be appointed as follows:

(1) The Governor shall name two members from a list of individuals nominated by the State Chair of the political party with which the greatest number of registered voters is affiliated. The State Chair of that party shall submit to the Governor the names of five nominees.

(2) The Governor shall name two members from a list of individuals nominated by the State Chair of the political party with which the second greatest number of registered voters is affiliated. The State Chair of that party shall submit to the Governor the names of five nominees.

(3) The Board shall name one member by unanimous vote of all members of the Board. If the Board cannot reach unanimity on the appointment of that member, the Advisory Council shall consist of the remaining members.

No individual shall be eligible to be a member of the Advisory Council who would be ineligible to serve on a county board of elections in accordance with G.S. 163-30. The initial members shall be appointed by December 1, 2002. Of the initial appointees, two are appointed for one-year terms, two are appointed for two-year terms, and one is appointed for a three-year term according to random lot. Thereafter, appointees are appointed to serve four-year terms. An individual may not serve more than two full terms. The appointed members receive the legislative per diem pursuant to G.S. 120-3.1. One of the Advisory Council members shall be elected by the members as Chair. A vacancy during an unexpired term shall be filled in the same manner as the regular appointment for that term, but a vacancy appointment is only for the unexpired portion of the term.

(c) Appeals. – The initial decision on an issue concerning qualification, certification, or distribution of funds under this Article shall be made by the Executive Director of the Board. The procedure for challenging that decision is as follows:

(1) An individual or entity aggrieved by a decision by the Executive Director of the Board may appeal to the full Board within three business days of the decision. The appeal shall be in writing and shall set forth the reasons for the appeal.

(2) Within five business days after an appeal is properly made, and after due notice is given to the parties, the Board shall hold a hearing. The appellant has the burden of providing evidence to demonstrate that the decision of the Executive Director was improper. The Board shall rule on the appeal within three business days after the completion of the hearing.

(d) Board to Adopt Rules and Issue Opinions. – The Board shall adopt rules and issue opinions to ensure effective administration of this Article. Such rules and opinions shall include, but not be limited to, procedures for obtaining qualifying contributions, certification of candidates, addressing circumstances involving special elections, vacancies, recounts, withdrawals, or replacements, collection of revenues for the Fund, distribution of Fund revenue to certified candidates, return of unspent Fund disbursements, and compliance with this Article. The Board shall adopt procedures for the distribution of rescue money that further the purpose and avoid the subversion of G.S. 163-278.67. For races involving special elections, recounts, vacancies, withdrawals, or replacement candidates, the Board shall establish procedures for qualification, certification, disbursement of Fund revenues, and return of unspent Fund revenues. The Board shall fulfill each of these duties in consultation with the Advisory Council on the Public Campaign Financing Fund.

(e) Report to the Public. – The Advisory Council for the Public Campaign Financing Fund shall issue a report by March 1, 2005, and every two years thereafter that evaluates and makes recommendations about the implementation of this Article and the feasibility of expanding its provisions to include other candidates for State office based on the experience of the Fund and the experience of similar programs in other states. The Advisory Council shall also evaluate and make recommendations regarding how to address activities that could undermine the purpose of this Article, including spending that appears to target candidates receiving money from the Fund but that does not meet the definition of 'independent expenditures.'

"§ 163-278.69. Voter education.

(a) Judicial Voter Guide. – The Board shall publish a Judicial Voter Guide that explains the functions of the appellate courts and the laws concerning the election of appellate judges, the purpose and function of the Public Campaign Financing Fund, and the laws concerning voter registration. The Board shall distribute the Guide to as many voting-age individuals in the State as practical, through a mailing to all residences or other means it deems effective. The distribution shall occur no more than 28 days nor fewer than seven days before the primary and no more than 28 days nor fewer than seven days before the general election.

(b) Candidate Information. – The Judicial Voter Guide shall include information concerning all candidates for the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals, as provided by those candidates according to a format provided to the candidates by the Board. The Board shall request information for the Guide from each candidate according to the following format:

(1) Place of residence.
(2) Education.
(3) Occupation.
(4) Employer.
(5) Date admitted to the bar.
(6) Legal/judicial experience.
(7) Candidate statement, limited to 150 words. Concerning that statement, the Board shall send to the candidates instructions as follows: 'Your statement may include information such as your qualifications, your endorsements, your ratings, why you are seeking judicial office, why you would make a good judge, what distinguishes you from your opponent(s), your acceptance of spending and fund-raising limits to qualify to receive funds from the Public Campaign Financing Fund, and any other information relevant to your candidacy. We will correct incidental errors of spelling, grammar, and punctuation which might prejudice the candidate's statement unfairly or confuse voters. We will make no changes to the content of any statement which would alter the meaning or substance of the statement. The State Board of Elections will reject any portion of any statement which it determines contains obscene, profane, or defamatory language.'

"§ 163-278.70. Civil penalty.

In addition to any other penalties that may be applicable, any individual, political committee, or other entity that violates any provision of this Article is subject to a civil penalty of up to ten thousand dollars ($10,000) per violation or three times the amount of any financial transactions involved in the violation, whichever is greater. In addition to any fine, for good cause shown, a candidate found in violation of this Article may be required to return to the Fund all amounts distributed to the candidate from the Fund. If the Board makes a determination that a violation of this Article has occurred, the Board shall calculate and assess the amount of the civil penalty and shall notify the entity that is assessed the civil penalty of the amount that has been assessed. The Board shall then proceed in the manner prescribed in G.S. 163-278.34. In determining whether or not a candidate is in violation of this Article, the Board may consider as a mitigating factor any circumstances out of the candidate's control."

SECTION 2. G.S. 163-278.13 reads as rewritten:

"§ 163-278.13. Limitation on contributions.

(a) No individual, political committee, or other entity shall contribute to any candidate or other political committee any money or make any other contribution in any election in excess of four thousand dollars ($4,000) for that election.

(b) No candidate or political committee shall accept or solicit any contribution from any individual, other political committee, or other entity of any money or any other contribution in any election in excess of four thousand dollars ($4,000) for that election.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) of this section, it shall be lawful for a candidate or a candidate's spouse, parents, brothers and sisters to make a contribution to the candidate or to the candidate's treasurer of any amount of money or to make any other contribution in any election in excess of four thousand dollars ($4,000) for that election.

(d) For the purposes of this section, the term "an election" means any primary, second primary, or general election in which the candidate or political committee may be involved, without regard to whether the candidate is opposed or unopposed in the election, except that where a candidate is not on the ballot in a second primary, that second primary is not "an election" with respect to that candidate.

(e) This section shall not apply to any national, State, district or county executive committee of any political party. For the purposes of this section only, the term "political party" means only those political parties officially recognized under G.S. 163-96.

(e1) No referendum committee which received any contribution from a corporation, labor union, insurance company, business entity, or professional association may make any contribution to another referendum committee, to a candidate or to a political committee.

(e2) The potential for corruption and its appearance resulting from campaign contributions is especially problematic in elections of the judiciary, since impartiality is uniquely important to the integrity and credibility of the courts. Accordingly, the following provisions shall apply with respect to candidates for justice of the Supreme Court, judge of the Court of Appeals, judge of the Superior Court, and judge of the district court:

(1) No candidate shall accept, and no contributor shall make to that candidate, a contribution in any election exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000) except as provided for elsewhere in this subsection.

(2) A candidate may accept, and a family contributor may make to that candidate, a contribution not exceeding two thousand dollars ($2,000) in an election if the contributor is that candidate's parent, child, brother, or sister.

(3) No candidate for justice of the Supreme Court or judge of the Court of Appeals shall accept, and no contributor shall make to that candidate, a contribution during the period beginning 21 days before the day of the general election and ending the day after the general election. This subdivision applies with respect to a candidate opposed in the general election by a certified candidate as defined in Article 22D of this Chapter who has not received the maximum rescue funds available under G.S. 163-278.67. The recipient of a contribution that apparently violates this subdivision has three days to return the contribution or file a detailed statement with the State Board of Elections explaining why the contribution does not violate this subdivision.

As used in this subsection, 'candidate' is also a political committee authorized by the candidate for that candidate's election. Nothing in this subsection shall prohibit a candidate or the spouse of that candidate from making a contribution or loan secured entirely by that individual's assets to that candidate's own campaign.

(f) Any individual, candidate, political committee, referendum committee, or other entity that violates the provisions of this section is guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-41(a)(1) reads as rewritten:

"§ 105-41. Attorneys-at-law and other professionals.

(a) Every individual in this State who practices a profession or engages in a business and is included in the list below must obtain from the Secretary a statewide license for the privilege of practicing the profession or engaging in the business. A license required by this section is not transferable to another person. The tax for each license is fifty dollars ($50.00).

(1) An attorney-at-law. In addition to the tax, whenever an attorney pays the tax, the Department must give that attorney an opportunity to make a contribution of fifty dollars ($50.00) to support the North Carolina Public Campaign Financing Fund established by G.S. 163-278.63. Payment of the contribution is not required and is not considered part of the tax owed.

...."

SECTION 4. Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-159.2. Designation of tax to North Carolina Public Campaign Financing Fund.

(a) Allocation to the North Carolina Public Campaign Financing Fund. – To ensure the financial viability of the North Carolina Public Campaign Financing Fund established in Article 22D of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes, the Department must allocate to that Fund one dollar ($1.00) from the income taxes paid each year by each individual with an income tax liability of at least that amount, unless the individual objects. A taxpayer must be given the opportunity to indicate an objection to that allocation in the manner described in subsection (b) of this section. In the case of a married couple filing a joint return, each individual must have the option of objecting to the allocation. The amounts allocated under this subsection to the Fund must be credited to it on a quarterly basis.

(b) Returns. – Individual income tax returns must give an individual an opportunity to object to the allocation of one dollar ($1.00) of the individual's tax liability to the North Carolina Public Campaign Financing Fund. The Department must make it clear to the taxpayer that the dollar will support a nonpartisan court system, that the dollar will go to the Fund if the taxpayer does not mark an objection, and that allocation of the dollar neither increases nor decreases the individual's tax liability. The following statement satisfies the intent of this requirement: 'One dollar ($1.00) will go to the North Carolina Public Campaign Financing Fund to support a nonpartisan court system, unless you object. Your tax remains the same whether or not you object.' The Department must consult with the State Board of Elections to ensure that the information given to taxpayers complies with the intent of this section.

The Department must inform the entities it approves to reproduce the return of the requirements of this section and that a return may not reflect an objection unless the individual completing the return decided to object to the allocation after being presented with the information required by subsection (c) of this section. No software package used in preparing North Carolina income tax returns may default to an objection. A paid preparer of tax returns may not mark an objection for a taxpayer without the taxpayer's consent.

(c) Instructions. – The instruction for individual income tax returns must include the following explanatory statement: 'The North Carolina Public Campaign Financing Fund provides campaign money to nonpartisan candidates for the North Carolina Supreme Court and Court of Appeals who voluntarily accept strict campaign spending and fund-raising limits. The Fund also helps finance educational materials about voter registration, the role of the appellate courts, and the candidates seeking election as appellate judges in North Carolina. One dollar ($1.00) from the taxes you pay will go to the Fund unless you mark an objection. Regardless of what choice you make, your tax will not increase, nor will any refund you are entitled to be reduced.' "

SECTION 5. Article 22C of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes is repealed.

SECTION 6.(a) G.S. 105-269.6 is repealed.

SECTION 6.(b) In order to pay for its costs for the 2002-2003 fiscal year of programming, design, printing, and other expenses associated with implementing this act, the Secretary of Revenue may draw funds not to exceed one hundred seventy-eight thousand six hundred dollars ($178,600) from the North Carolina Candidates Financing Fund. After drawing those funds, the Secretary of Revenue shall transfer immediately to the North Carolina Public Campaign Financing Fund any remaining funds that were contributed to the North Carolina Candidates Financing Fund pursuant to G.S. 105-269.6 before its repeal by this section. Funds the Secretary of Revenue withdraws but then determines are not needed shall also be transferred to the North Carolina Public Campaign Financing Fund.

SECTION 7. Subchapter X of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes reads as rewritten:

"Article 25.

If only one or two candidates file for a single office, no primary shall be held for that office and the candidates shall be declared nominated. If the number of candidates for a group of offices does not exceed twice the number of positions to be filled, no primary shall be held for those offices and the candidates shall be declared nominated.

(b) Determination of Nominees. – In the primary, the two candidates for a single office receiving the highest number of votes, and those candidates for a group of offices receiving the highest number of votes, equal to twice the number of positions to be filled, shall be declared nominated. If two or more candidates receiving the highest number of votes each receive the same number of votes, the State Board of Elections shall determine their relative ranking by lot, and shall declare the nominees accordingly. The canvass of the primary shall be held on the same date as the primary canvass fixed under G.S. 163-188. The canvass shall be conducted in accordance with Article 16 of this Chapter.

(c) Determination of Election Winners. – In the election, the names of those candidates declared nominated without a primary and those candidates nominated in the primary shall be placed on the ballot. The candidate for a single office receiving the highest number of votes shall be elected. Those candidates for a group of offices receiving the highest number of votes, equal in number to the number of positions to be filled, shall be elected. If two candidates receiving the highest number of votes each

In issuing such certificate, the chairman or supervisor shall check the registration records of the county to verify such information. During the period commencing 36 hours immediately preceding the filing deadline, the State Board of Elections shall accept, on a conditional basis, the notice of candidacy of a candidate who has failed to secure the verification ordered herein subject to receipt of verification no later than three days following the filing deadline. The State Board of Elections shall prescribe the form for such certificate, and distribute it to each county board of elections no later than the last Monday in December of each odd-numbered year.

(e) Candidacy for More Than One Office Prohibited. – No person may file a notice of candidacy for more than one office or group of offices described in subsection (b) of this section, or for an office or group of offices described in subsection (b) of this section and an office described in G.S. 163-106(c), for any one election. (c) Receipt of Notification by County Board. – Within two days after receipt of each of the letters of certification from the chairman of the State Board of Elections required by subsection (b) of this section, each county elections board chairman shall acknowledge receipt by letter addressed to the chairman of the State Board of Elections.

"§ 163-327. Vacancies of candidates or elected officers.

(a) Death or Disqualification of Candidate Before Primary. – If a candidate for nomination in a primary dies or becomes disqualified before the primary but after the ballots have been printed, the State Board of Elections shall determine whether or not there is time to reprint the ballots. If the Board determines that there is not enough time to reprint the ballots, the deceased or disqualified candidate's name shall remain on the ballots. If that candidate receives enough votes for nomination, such votes shall be disregarded and the candidate receiving the next highest number of votes below the number necessary for nomination shall be declared nominated. If the death or disqualification of the candidate leaves only two candidates for each office to be filled, the nonpartisan primary shall not be held and all candidates shall be declared nominees.

(b) Death, Disqualification, or Resignation of Official After Election. – If a person elected to the office of justice of the Supreme Court, judge of the Court of Appeals, or superior or district court judge dies, becomes disqualified, or resigns on or after election day and before he has qualified by taking the oath of office, the office shall be deemed vacant and shall be filled as provided by law.

(b) Death or Other Disqualification of Candidate; Reopening Filing. – If there is no primary because only one or two candidates have filed for a single office, or the number of candidates filed for a group of offices does not exceed twice the number of positions to be filled, and thereafter a candidate dies or otherwise becomes disqualified before the election and before the ballots are printed, the State Board of Elections shall, upon notification of the death or other disqualification, immediately reopen the filing period for an additional five days during which time additional candidates shall be permitted to file for election. If the ballots have been printed at the time the State Board of Elections receives notice of the candidate's death or other disqualification, the Board shall determine whether there will be sufficient time to reprint them before the election if the filing period is reopened for three days. If the Board determines that there will be sufficient time to reprint the ballots, it shall reopen the filing period for three days to allow other candidates to file for election, and such election shall be conducted on the plurality basis.

(c) Vacancy Caused by Nominated Candidate; Ballots Not Reprinted. – If the ballots have been printed at the time the State Board of Elections receives notice of a candidate's death, other disqualification, or resignation, and if the Board determines that there is not enough time to reprint the ballots before the election if the filing period is reopened for three days, then regardless of the number of candidates remaining for the office or group of offices, the ballots shall not be reprinted and the name of the vacated candidate shall remain on the ballots. If a vacated candidate should poll the highest number of votes in the election for a single office or enough votes to be elected to one of a group of offices, the State Board of Elections shall declare the office vacant and it shall be filled in the manner provided by law.

"§ 163-329. Elections to fill vacancy created after primary filing period to use plurality method.

(a) General. – If a vacancy is created in the office of justice of the Supreme Court, judge of the Court of Appeals, or judge of superior court after the filing period for the primary opens but more than 60 days before the general election, and under the Constitution of North Carolina an election is to be held for that position, such that the office shall be filled in the general election as provided in G.S. 163-9, the election to fill the office for the remainder of the term shall be conducted without a primary using the plurality method as provided in subsection (b) of this section. If a vacancy is created in the office of justice of the Supreme Court, judge of the Court of Appeals, or judge of superior court before the filing period for the primary opens, and under the Constitution of North Carolina an election is to be held for that position, such that the office shall be filled in the general election as provided in G.S. 163-9, the election to fill the office for the remainder of the term shall be conducted in accordance with G.S. 163-322.

(b) Plurality Election Rules. – Elections under this section shall be conducted using the following rules:

(1) The filing period shall be prescribed by the State Board of Elections, but in no event may it be less than five working days. If a vacancy occurs in a second office in the same superior court district after the first filing period established under the section has closed, the State Board of Elections shall reopen filing for a period of not less than five working days for the office of justice of the Supreme Court, judge of the Court of Appeals, or superior court judge. All persons filing in either filing period shall run as a group and the election results shall be determined by subdivision (3) of this subsection.

(2) When more than one person is seeking election to a single office, the candidate who receives the highest number of votes shall be declared elected.

(3) When more persons are seeking election to two or more offices (constituting a group) than there are offices to be filled, those candidates receiving the highest number of votes, equal in number to the number of offices to be filled, shall be declared elected.

(4) If two or more candidates receiving the highest number of votes each receive the same number of votes, the board of elections shall resolve the tie in accordance with G.S. 163-182.8.

(5) Except as provided in this section, the provisions of this Article apply to elections conducted under this section.

"§ 163-330. Voting in primary.

Any person who will become qualified by age or residence to register and vote in the general election for which the primary is held, even though not so qualified by the date of the primary, shall be entitled to register for the primary and general election prior to the primary and then to vote in the primary after being registered. Such person may register not earlier than 60 days nor later than the last day for making application to register under G.S. 163-82.6(c) prior to the primary.

"§ 163-331. Date of primary.

The primary shall be held on the same date as established for primary elections under G.S. 163-1(b).

"§ 163-332. Ballots.

(a) General. – In elections there shall be official ballots. The ballots shall be printed to conform to the requirement of G.S. 163-165.6(c) and to show the name of each person who has filed notice of candidacy, and the office for which each aspirant is a candidate.

Only those who have filed the required notice of candidacy with the proper board of elections, and who have paid the required filing fee or qualified by petition, shall have their names printed on the official primary ballots. Only those candidates properly nominated shall have their names appear on the official general election ballots.

(b) Ballots to Be Furnished by County Board of Elections. – It shall be the duty of the county board of elections to print official ballots for the following offices to be voted for in the primary:

Justice of the Supreme Court.

Judge of the Court of Appeals.

Superior court judge.

District court judge.

In printing ballots, the county board of elections shall be governed by instructions of the State Board of Elections with regard to width, color, kind of paper, form, and size of type.

Three days before the election, the chairman of the county board of elections shall distribute official ballots to the chief judge of each precinct in his county, and the chief judge shall give a receipt for the ballots received. On the day of the primary, it shall be the chief judge's duty to have all the ballots so delivered available for use at the precinct voting place.

"§ 163-333: Repealed by Session Laws 2001-398, s. 15, effective January 1, 2002.

"§ 163-334. Counting of ballots.

Counting of ballots in primaries and elections held under this Article shall be under the same rules as for counting of ballots in nonpartisan municipal elections under Article 24 of this Chapter.

"§ 163-335. Other rules.

Except as provided by this Article, the conduct of elections shall be governed by Subchapter VI of this Chapter."

SENATE BILL 1054:
Judicial Campaign Reform Act

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance Committee	Introduced by:	Senator Gulley
Date:	August 21, 2002	Summary by:	Gilkeson/Cohen
Version:	S1054-CSRR-73[v.15]		Staff Attorneys

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1054 would provide, beginning in 2004, what is intended to be full public financing in the general election for Court of Appeals and Supreme Court candidates who accept fundraising and spending limits. The chief funding mechanisms would be a voluntary $50 contribution requested from lawyers at the time they pay their privilege license tax and a $1 "reverse check-off" on individual State income tax forms. Under the "reverse check-off," $1 of a taxpayer's tax liability would be designated to the Fund rather than to the State's General Fund unless the taxpayer made the decision to object on the tax return.

The bill would also lower the contribution limit for all judicial candidates to $1,000. In another major change to begin in 2004, Supreme Court and Court of Appeals candidates would be elected in nonpartisan primary and election method.

CONDITIONS FOR PARTICIPATION. Beginning in 2004, general election candidates for Supreme Court and Court of Appeals can receive a set amount of public funding if they voluntarily meet these conditions:

- Before filing a declaration of intent to enter the program, must not raise or spend more than $10,000 on campaign after the beginning of the year before the election.
- After declaring intent to participate, raise the minimum in qualifying contributions as follows:
  1. Qualifying contributions must come in amounts between $10 and $500 each.
  2. They must come from North Carolina registered voters only.
  3. They must come from at least 350 contributors.
  4. They must be raised during the qualifying period, which begins September 1 of the year before the election and ends primary day.
  5. The sum of the qualifying contributions must remain within a range pegged to a multiple of the filing fee for the office. The minimum is about $33,000 for Court of Appeals judges and the maximum is about $69,000 for Supreme Court justices. See Chart for details. Any excess contribution must be returned to the donor.
- Spend only up to the qualifying contribution cap during the primary, raised from qualifying contributions and personal/family contributions (up to $1,000 per family member).
- Agree to spend only public funds and remaining qualifying donations in the general election.

Candidates who hold office as statewide appellate judges or who were elected to the statewide appellate bench within the past 4 years are not required to raise the minimum qualifying contributions. They are deemed to have already shown that they have support. They are, however, required to abide by the spending limits and contribution limits.

BENEFITS OF PARTICIPATION. If the State Board of Elections certifies a candidate as meeting these conditions, the candidate can receive from the Fair Election Fund:

- In a contested primary, rescue funds to match opposition spending that exceeds about $67,000 -- up to a total of about $135,000 in rescue funds.
- In the general election, an initial amount of 175% of the position's salary for Supreme Court candidates ($201,300) and 125% of the salary for Court of Appeals candidates ($137,500).
- In the general election, rescue funds to match opposition spending that exceeds the initial award, up to twice that amount.

OTHER PROVISIONS IN SENATE BILL 1054:

- Uses mixture of a voluntary $50 contribution requested from attorneys at the time they pay their privilege license tax, effective July 1, 2003; leftovers from Candidates Financing Fund; voluntary contributions generally; and a new $1 reverse check-off on the State individual income tax form, effective for the tax years beginning January 1, 2003.
- Provides a non-partisan primary and election system for election of appellate judges, the same as that now in place for Superior and District Court judges. Some cities use the same method for municipal offices. The nonpartisan primary is used to narrow the field of candidates to twice the number to be elected. (If only two candidates file, there is no contested primary.) The general election is between the candidates left after the primary.
- Lowers contributions limits to $1,000 for all judicial candidates. Family members may give $2,000
- Provides in primary and general election a Voter Guide on all candidates in appellate judge contests.
- Provides substantial rescue money to a certified candidate who is hit with spending by an opposing non-certified candidate and/or by independent-expenditure activity that exceeds the spending limit accepted by the certified candidate. The bill provides for expedited reporting to make the rescue provision work.
- To address last-minute "surprise attack," embargos fundraising in the 21 days before Election Day by a non-certified candidate who opposes a certified candidate who has not maxed out on getting rescue money. The non-certified candidate can still add more money from personal funds.
- Provides a civil fine of up to $10,000 for a violation of the Article, or up to treble the amount of any financial transactions involved in the violation, whichever is greater. A certified candidate in violation may have to give back all money received from the Fund.

Chart – How Amounts Are Calculated in PCS for Senate Bill 1054

Office	Salary	Filing Fee (1% of salary)	Minimum Amount to be Raised in Qualifying Contributions (30x filing fee)	Maximum Amount to be Raised in Qualifying Contributions * (60x filing fee)	Distribution Amount – Court of Appeals # (125x filing fee)	Distribution Amount – Supreme Court # (175x filing fee)
Supreme Court 	$115,000	$1150	$34,500	$69,000 *		$201,300 #
Court of Appeals	$110,000	$1100	$33,000	$66,000 *	$137,500 #

 Numbers slightly higher for Chief Justice.

* This is also the limit on spending during primary, unless rescue money is triggered. Total rescue money is capped at twice the amounts above: $132,000 for Court of Appeals and $138,000 for Supreme Court candidate.

This is also the limit on spending during the general election, unless rescue money is triggered. Total rescue money is capped at twice the amounts above: $275,000 for Court of Appeals to $402,600 for Supreme Court candidate.

SUMMARY OF CHANGES TO SENATE PASSED SB 1054: The PCS presented today makes the following changes to the bill the Senate passed last November 20:

1. Nonpartisan Primary and Election. It changes the method of electing Supreme Court justices and Court of Appeals judges to a nonpartisan primary and election, rather than the partisan primary and non-partisan general election that were in the Senate-passed bill. The change follows the same pattern as the election of Superior and District judges. It also removes from the bill the authority for the political party that nominated a candidate to spend up to 20% of the candidate's base level of public financing on a ticket campaign.

2. No Petition. It removes the requirement that qualifying candidates must collect 2,000 names on a petition.

3. Voter Guide During Primary. It provides for distribution of the Judicial Voter Guide in the primary as well as the general election. The State Board of Elections is also given more discretion in distributing the Guide.

4. Higher Threshold Number for Qualifying Contributors. It raises from 250 to 350 the number of registered voters from whom qualifying contributions must be raised. (Page 3, line 43.)

5. Higher Dollar Ceiling for Qualifying Contributions. It raises the multiplier for maximum qualifying contributions from 45 to 60.

6. Higher Dollar Floor for Qualifying Contributions. It raises the multiplier for minimum qualifying contributions from 20 to 30.

7. Clearer Rules for Measuring of Opposition Spending to Trigger Rescue Funds. It clarifies that to calculate rescue funds, spending by the single highest-spending noncertified opposition candidate is used rather than the sum of spending by all noncertified opposition candidates. However, for independent expenditures, the sum of all such expenditures is the measure.

8. More Specific Expedited Reporting of Opposition Money. It specifies that if a non-certified candidate or independent expender reaches a money flow that triggers a 24-hour filing duty, that entity shall thereafter file a report after raising or spending every $1,000 increment. Senate passed S1054 required the same entities to follow an expedited reporting schedule that would have been designed by the State Board.

9. Change in Contribution Limits for all Judicial Candidates. It sets the contribution limit at $1,000 per donor per donee per election for all judicial candidates – Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, Superior Court, District Court. A special $2,000 limit is reserved for family members of the candidate. The Senate-passed bill set a $500 limit for appellate judge candidates only. It left the trial court judges at the standard $4,000 limit.

10. Reverse Check-off Changes. It changes the reverse check-off from a "For" or "Against" choice to one in which the dollar goes to the Fund unless the taxpayer objects. At the request of the Department of Revenue, it does not prescribe exact wording on the return. It also adds a provision that prohibits software packages that default to an objection on the Fund check-off.

11. Funding Wording. It changes the wording of the funding, to make it clear that no money is to be spent from the General Fund, and to enable the Department of Revenue and the State Board of Elections to use the receipts of the Candidates Financing Fund more quickly

12. Rescue Money, Independent Expenditures, and Issue Ads. It clearly states that the State Board has authority to adopt procedures for distributing rescue money that further the purpose and avoid the subversion of rescue money. It also directs the Advisory Council to study and report on how to address activities that could undermine the program, including sham issue ads.

EFFECTIVE DATE: 2004 Elections for Supreme Court, Court of Appeals

BILL SUMMARY[1]:

Beginning in 2004, the bill would provide what is intended to be full public financing for candidates in the general election for Court of Appeals and Supreme Court who accept fundraising and spending limits. The chief funding mechanisms would be a $50 voluntary contribution requested from lawyers who pay a privilege license fee and a $1 designation on the State income tax form (unless the taxpayer says against). This bill also requires the State Board of Elections to publish and distribute a judicial voters' guide to every residence before the primary and before the general election.

[1] Adapted from Committee Counsel Summary

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

NC Fair Elections Fund.

This bill establishes the NC Fair Elections Fund (Fund) from which candidates for the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals may choose to have their campaigns financed. If the State Board of Elections certifies a candidate to participate in public financing, the candidate can receive from the Fair Election Fund:

- In a contested primary, rescue funds to match opposition spending that exceeds about $67,000 -- up to a total of about $135,000 in rescue funds. A candidate in a second primary may receive the same amount of rescue funds for the second primary campaign.
- In the general election, an initial amount of 175% of the position's salary for Supreme Court candidates ($115,336 * 1.75 = $201,800) and 125% of the position's salary for Court of Appeals candidates ($110,530 * 1.25 = 138,200 rounded to the nearest hundred).
- In the general election, rescue funds to match opposition spending that exceeds the initial award, up to twice that amount.

Based on the base distribution per candidate and the number of seats for the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals that are up for election in 2004, 2006, and 2008, the amount needed to fund publicly financed campaigns for the appellate judiciary for each of those election years is noted in the table below, assuming 100% participation.

SUMMARY OF FUNDS REQUIRED FOR DISTRIBUTION TO CANDIDATES CERTIFIED TO PARTICIPATE IN PUBLICLY FINANCED CAMPAIGNS

		2004			2006			2008
	Base	Seats	Cand.	Funding	Seats	Cand.	Funding	Seats	Cand.	Funding
Supreme Court	$201,800	1	2	$403,600	2	4	$807,200	2	4	$807,200
Court of Appeals	$138,200	1	2	$276,400	4	8	$1,105,600	5	10	$1,382,000
Total for Appellate Judiciary				$680,000			$1,912,800			$2,189,200

Please note that in the above calculations, no assumptions were made about how much additional public funding would be required if privately funded candidates exceeded spending limits and triggered the release of matching or "rescue" funds to publicly funded candidates. However, it should be noted that if less than 100 % of the candidates opt for public funding, the money anticipated for their campaigns, as indicated in the table above, would be available for rescue funds.

The Fiscal Research Division believes the formula is consistent with the requirements of the bill and the estimates for the amount needed for the NC Fair Elections Fund appear reasonable. The bill requires the SBE to advise the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations of the funds received and the expected needs of the Fund during the next election cycle. The first report is due before October 1, 2003 and subsequent reports are due every two years thereafter.

The bill specifies that the source of funding will be unspent NC Fair Elections Fund grants; monies transferred from the NC Candidates' Financing Fund, tax return designations of $1 from each taxpayer that does not oppose making the designation, and voluntary donations. The bill also requires that a $50 voluntary contribution for the Fund be requested from attorneys who pay the $50 privilege license.

This bill abolishes the Candidates' Financing Fund that was established by G.S. § 105-269.6. Currently, that fund has a balance of $538,923. The bill authorizes the Department of Revenue (DOR) to draw up to $178,600 from the Candidates' Financing Fund to cover its nonrecurring cost associated with this bill. The bill also directs DOR to immediately transfer the remaining balance, estimated to be $360,323, to the new NC Fair Elections Fund.

The bill provides that each taxpayer will be deemed to make a $1 designation to the Fund unless they indicate that they are against making the designation. Currently, taxpayers may designate $1 of their liability for the NC Political Parties Fund; however, in tax year 2000 only 399,566 or 8 % of the 5,072,563 individual taxpayers (including single and joint filers) chose to make the designation. Data indicates that 57.6% of the tax returns were prepared by paid preparers. It is reasonable to believe that a paid preparer will require the taxpayer to make a designation and indicate accordingly on the return (i.e., "for," "against," or "no opinion"). Based on the low number (8%) of individual taxpayers who have affirmatively designated a portion of their tax liability for the Political Parties Fund, the Fiscal Research Division (FRD) believes that those who are required to make a designation (57.6%) are likely to indicate that they are against making a designation. The remaining 42.4% who are self-preparers may indicate "for" or "no opinion" or may make no selection at all, thereby indicating their desire to designate. If only 42.4% of the 5,072,563 individual taxpayers make the designation, $2,150,767 of the tax liability will be designated for the Fair Elections Fund (5,072,563 * .424 * $1= $2,150,767). However, because of the low number of taxpayers who currently affirmatively decide to designate $1 for the Political Parties Fund and considering the expanded use of tax preparation software that will prompt self-preparers to respond to the designation questions, FRD believes that even fewer than 42.4 % will indicate "for" or "no opinion." If FRD assumes that the affect of having a "reverse check-off" designation would not be significantly different than the current affirmative check-off designation because of the use of paid preparers and tax preparation software, it is possible that only 8% would choose to make the designation. If such were the case, the tax liability designated for the Fair Elections Fund would be approximately $405,805 (5,072,563 * .08 * $1 = $405,805). We believe the number of taxpayers who would designate $1 of their tax liability to the Fund is between 42.4% and 8%. Because we have no basis of estimating that number, we have included a range of estimated revenue.

The bill provides that each attorney who is required by N.C. G.S. § 105-41 to obtain a $50 privilege license will be requested to pay an additional $50 to fund the NC Fair Elections Fund. Based on July 1, 2002 renewals and license applications, 11,525 attorneys pay the $50 privilege license fee. The NC Bar Association believes that a high percentage of the attorneys will make the $50 voluntary contribution. However, neither the NC Bar Association nor the Fiscal Research Division has a reasonable estimate of what that percentage is. If 100% of the attorneys who pay the privilege license fee choose to make the $50 contribution, the total revenue to the NC Fair Elections Fund from this source would be $576,250 annually.

Fiscal Research has no basis for estimating the amounts, if any, that will come from unspent grants from the NC Fair Elections Fund and voluntary donations.

A summary of the required funding for candidates and the estimated revenue is noted in the tables below. Based on these estimates, it appears that revenue from taxpayer designations would be sufficient to cover the cost of the elections for the Appellant Judiciary if 42.4% of the taxpayers make the designations. Cumulative revenue collections over the five-year period beginning with fiscal year 2003-2004 would be sufficient to cover the funding needed for the 2004, 2006, and 2008 elections even if only 8% of the taxpayers make the designation, assuming that 100% of the attorneys elected to make the $50 voluntary contribution.

* Assumes 100% election by attorneys (11,525) to pay $50 increase in privilege tax.

Please note that the estimates assume the number of taxpayers would remain constant and there would be no change in the base level based on salary increases.

Also, Fiscal Research estimates that between 8% and 42.4% of taxpayers would designate $1 of their tax liability to the Fund. Any funds that would be designated for the Fund would normally go to the General Fund. Thus, any amount designated for the Fund would decrease General Fund availability.

Administration of the Legislation

The bill provides that the administrative and enforcement cost of the Board related to the NC Fair Elections Fund is to be a cost of the Fund. It also provides that the cost of the Department of Revenue is come from the Candidates' Financing Fund before it is abolished.

State Board of Elections:

This bill requires the State Board of Elections (SBE or Board) to administer the Judicial Campaign Reform Act (Act). The Board estimates that administration of the Act will require changes to their campaign reporting system to facilitate capture of income and expenditures by type as well as by election (i.e., primary vs. general). For example, the bill requires participating candidates to obtain qualifying contributions and it would limit the expenditure of participating candidates. The current system would have to be modified to capture the income and expenditure data. The estimated cost for modifying the system is $31,200 nonrecurring.

The Board also estimates that they will need to hire a full-time accounting employee at a grade 77 (Accountant III) to manage the fund. The minimum salary for a grade 77 position is $43,219 and the benefits total $8,400 for a total of $51,619. The nonrecurring operating cost is estimated to be $6,000 for office furniture and equipment and computer equipment.

The bill establishes a 5-member Advisory Council for the Fair Elections Fund that would be responsible for advising the Board on the rules and opinions it adopts for the enforcement and administration of this Act and the funding needs of the NC Fair Elections Fund. The Board estimates that the expenditures of the Council will include the per diem and travel cost incurred to attend meetings scheduled to accomplish its statutory responsibilities. The members will receive the legislative per diem pursuant to G.S. 120-3.1, which is currently $104 plus mileage at 29 cents per mile. Assuming the Council meets quarterly for 2 days each meeting, the estimated cost is approximately $5,000 ($104/day * 2 days for each meeting * 5 members * 4 meetings/year) including an estimate for mileage.

The bill also requires the State Board of Elections to publish and distribute a voters' guide to each residence in the state before both the primary and general elections. Per the 2000 Census, there are 3.1 million households in the state. The Board estimates that it will cost them between $750,000 and $1,500,000 to produce and distribute the guide. This would include cost for printing which is estimated to be $734,980 for 3 million copies of a 24-page guide as well as the cost for postage and for temporary help to prepare the guides for mailing or contracting with a mailing house. Because the estimate lacked sufficient detail, the Fiscal Research Division cannot determine the reasonableness of their estimate. However, based on information on the costs to other states to publish the guide, the Fiscal Research Division estimates that the guide for each election can be published and distributed to each household for no more than $750,000 for a total of not more than $1.5 million every two years for the primary and general election guides. (The state of Washington publishes and distributes approximately 3 million copies of its 48-page guide for approximately $740,000.)

In addition to the administrative cost discussed above, the Board may incur cost to hear any complaints that present themselves as a result of implementation of this bill. The Board estimates that, for each hearing held during a regularly scheduled meeting, it would incur $650

(excluding the cost of staff-time) in administrative expenses for scheduling, sending certified or special delivery of notices or subpoenas, preparing the correspondence and case file, and the cost of a court reporter. Fiscal Research believes the number of additional complaints will be minimal and therefore, has not included the cost of hearings in the fiscal impact.

The total cost to the State Board of Elections for administering the Judicial Campaign Reform Act is estimated to be $37,200 nonrecurring for modifying the campaign reporting system ($31,200) and start-up cost for additional accounting personnel ($6,000) and $56,619 recurring for the salary and benefits for the accounting personnel ($51,619) and for the meetings of the Advisory Council ($5,000). Though the bill is effective for the 2004 election of the Appellate Judiciary races, the Board is expected to determine the needs of the NC Fair Elections Fund by August 1, 2003 and to report to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations by October 1, 2003. The Fiscal Research Division estimates that the Board would begin to prepare for the 2004 election immediately and thus, estimates that they would incur these expenditures beginning in Fiscal Year 2002-2003. Additionally, every even calendar year, the Board will incur approximately $1.5 million for publishing and distributing a judicial voters' guide before both the primary and general elections. Because the primary election usually occurs in the fiscal year that ends on June 30th of the even year and the general election occurs in the subsequent fiscal year that begins on July 1st of that even year, the cost of the voter's guide will be spread over two fiscal years. Thus, each fiscal year, the Board is expected to incur approximately $750,000 to publish the voters' guide. Please note also, that though our estimate is the same for each guide, the cost for the voters' guide for the general election is likely to be less than the cost of the guide for the primary because there will be fewer candidates for the general election.

Department of Revenue:
To comply with the directives of the legislation would require non-recurring funding to implement changes in several areas. An estimated $178,600 is needed to make modifications to the Integrated Tax Administration System (ITAS) and to revise the individual income tax forms -- D400EZ and D400. On the processing side, the Department will have to make significant changes to the privilege license tax module for ITAS to be able to process a voluntary payment and split money into separate pots. The estimated non-recurring cost of these computer changes is $137,600, which assumes contract programmer payments of $80/hour and includes all costs for requirements, design, development, testing, and changes to notices. The form will have a line for the tax and a line for the contribution. If a return is filed indicating a contribution but the payment covers only the tax, the Department will apply the payment to tax and will not notify the taxpayer of any deficiency.

Also the additions to the forms required by this legislation will impact the department's forms processing. To be able to capture the information, account for it, and report it accurately, the department estimates a cost of $36,000. A review of the tax forms indicates there is not enough space on the D400EZ or the computer generated versions of the D400 to put another block as large as the Political Parties Financing Fund block (which this would require because of the separate listings of choices for each spouse). If this were required, it would be necessary to develop three-page forms for these returns. This would result in a significant cost increase as the result of processing three pages as opposed to two for several million tax returns. At this time there is not an estimate for this revision to the tax forms. The department assumes there are enough vacant ELF (electronic filing) fields to incorporate these changes. The last revision is the deletion of the Campaign Financing Fund check-off that will require $5,000 of processing changes.

Finally in regards to the new check-off for the North Carolina Fair Elections Fund, there are several considerations. First, this concept is contrary to the other contributions and check-offs. Those require a decision to participate. This contribution requires a decision to not participate. Second, the proposed law micromanages the tax form and requires two verbatim sentences to be repeated on the form. The last item that was mandated on the form (highlighting of information in a contrasting color) could not be carried out because forms come from software packages and from websites where the department has no control over the color. Over 70% of the forms come from software packages now. Taxpayers that use these packages do not read the form and fill it out. They answer questions posed by the computer. Printing the sentence on the form is therefore a waste of space for more than 70% of the forms.

House Committee on Finance

Minutes
August 27, 2002

The House Committee on Finance met on Tuesday, August 27, 2002, at 8:30 A.M., in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building. The following members were present: Chairmen Allen, Buchanan, Luebke, and Wainwright; Vice-Chairs Hill and Jarrell; and Representatives Alexander, Blust, Capps, Cox, Decker, Dedmon, Eddins, Edwards, Gibson, Gray, Hackney, Hurley, McCombs, McMahan, Morris, Pope, Rayfield, Weiss, Willingham, Womble, Baddour, and Cunningham. Also present were Sergeant-at-Arms staff Dusty Rhoades, Bob Fowler, Walter Spell, and Bill Freeman. Staff persons present included Trina Griffin, Martha Walston, Richard Bostic, and Karen Cochran-Brown; and Committee Assistants Nancy Brantley, Blinda Edwards, and Joyce Harris.

Chairman Allen opened the meeting and welcomed page Grayson Cave from Wake County, sponsored by Representative Minor, who would assist the Committee today.

The Chairman announced that the first order of business would be Senate Bill 104, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO REGULATE DEFERRED DEPOSIT TRANSACTIONS AND TO PROVIDE ADDITIONAL CONSUMER DISCLOSURES AND PROTECTIONS. Upon motion of Rep. Buchanan, the Proposed Committee Substitute for SB 104 was adopted for discussion, and Rep. Culpepper was recognized to explain the Bill.

Representative Culpepper explained that the Bill would reauthorize regulation of deferred deposit transactions, which were previously authorized under provisions of the Check Casher Act that expired on August 31, 2001. He pointed out that this Bill would create additional consumer protections, including mandatory repayment plans and prohibited practices for lenders who make deferred deposit loans. He pointed out that the check-cashing industry is now operating in the state totally unregulated, and several businesses have continued to operate by entering into agency agreements with national banks to fund the loans. Federal law preempts North Carolina from regulating national banks. This Bill would reinstate the $300 limit for loans and 15% of loan amount fee that would be charged in connection with the transaction. The transaction has to be completed before another loan is created, and borrowers who cannot repay may elect to enter into a mandatory repayment plan providing for four equal installments due on the borrower's next four paydays, with at least 14 days between installments.

Representative Baddour was recognized to speak on his Amendment, which he stated was essentially the same bill that was passed out of subcommittee last year. He highlighted what he thought were three major differences between the Bill as presented and his Amendment:

- The Amendment restricts rollovers or repeat transactions to four per year per customer. There is no limit in the original Bill as presented.
- Although both bills provide that a customer cannot receive a new loan if they have more than $300 in outstanding loans, under his Amendment, to track the loans, the Commissioner of Banks would set up a database that would be paid for through fees that the industry pays.
- The Amendment would provide 60 days for the customer to pay back the loan. Without the Amendment, the Bill provides for a 10-day minimum to repay the loan, which Representative Baddour felt would have a major effect on the interest paid by the borrower.

After some discussion by the Committee members, Chairman Allen recognized the following persons who spoke on the Bill and Amendment:

- Pat Kelly, Senior Counselor with the Naval Marine Corp Relief Society, who expressed his support of the Bill.
- Dick Hatch, AARP, who supported the Amendment.
- Ellen Schloemer, Director of Social Ministries with St. Raphael's Catholic Church, who supported the Amendment.
- Stella Adams, Executive Director of the N.C. Housing Center, who supported the Amendment.
- Rob Schofield, Attorney with the N.C. Justice Center, who supported the Amendment.
- Peter Skillern, Executive Director of the Community Reinvestment Association, who supported the Amendment.
- Martin Eaks, CEO of Self-Help Credit Union, who supported the Amendment.

Because of time constraints, Chairman Allen announced that the Committee would meet again fifteen minutes after Session adjourned to continue debate on SB 104. He adjourned the meeting at 9:50 A.M.

Respectfully submitted,

Representative Gordon P. Allen

The written agreement shall contain the following specific disclosures:

(1) The address and telephone number of the Office of the Commissioner of Banks with a statement that the licensee is licensed by the Commissioner of Banks and that the customer may file a complaint with the Commissioner if the customer believes the licensee has acted improperly or unlawfully either in the transaction or in the collection process.

(2) That the customer may not be prosecuted for a worthless check violation if the check is returned for insufficient funds but the customer may be liable to the licensee for no more than one fifteen dollar ($15.00) worthless check fee.

(3) That the customer has the right to contact a consumer credit counseling service for counseling or a debt management repayment program if the customer is unable to pay on the deferred deposit transaction when it becomes due.

(4) That the customer has the right to rescind the delayed deposit transaction at no cost to the customer on or before the close of the following business day.

(d) A licensee shall not directly or indirectly charge any fee or other consideration for cashing a postdated or deferred deposit payment device in excess of fifteen per cent (15%) of the cash advance. A licensee shall not charge a customer any fees or other consideration related to a deferred deposit transaction unless specifically authorized by this Article.

(e) No payment device cashed under the provisions of this section shall be repaid by the proceeds of another payment device cashed by the same licensee or any affiliate of the licensee. A licensee shall not, for any additional consideration, renew or otherwise extend any postdated or deferred payment device. A licensee may agree with its customer at any time to defer deposit or collection of a payment device without additional consideration.

(f) The customer shall have the right to rescind the delayed deposit transaction at no cost to the customer by giving written notice and returning the cash advanced on or before the close of the business day following the date of the deferred deposit transaction.

(g) After May 30, 2003, or upon the establishment by the Commissioner of the database described in G.S. 53-291, whichever occurs first, no licensee shall enter into a deferred deposit transaction with any customer who has had four deferred deposit transactions with any licensee or licensees within the previous 12 months. The licensee shall utilize the deferred deposit transaction database described in G.S. 53-291 to establish compliance with this subsection. No licensee shall use or rely on a customer's certification or warranty as a means of compliance with this subsection.

(h) After May 30, 2003, or upon the establishment by the Commissioner of the database described in G.S. 53-291, whichever occurs first, no licensee shall enter into a deferred deposit transaction with any customer who would have in the aggregate, including the new transaction, more than three hundred dollars ($300.00) in deferred deposit transactions outstanding with any licensee or licensees. The licensee shall utilize the deferred deposit transaction database to establish compliance with this subsection. No licensee shall use or rely on a customer's certification or warranty as a means of compliance with this subsection.

(i) A licensee may collect a fee for a returned check pursuant to G.S. 25-3-506, but the fee shall not exceed fifteen dollars ($15.00) if the check is returned for insufficient funds. Only one fee may be collected or imposed per payment device.

(j) Any deferred deposit transaction made under the terms of this section shall be payable in a lump sum at the end of the term, except that the customer, in the customer's sole discretion, may prepay the obligation in whole or in part without additional charge or fee prior to the end of the term.

(k) No licensee may make, originate, or arrange a deferred deposit transaction unless the licensee maintains a place of business in this State.

(l) Notwithstanding any other provision of State law, no deferred deposit transaction agreement shall include any provision that waives any federal or State constitutional right of customers or limits the remedies of customers available in law or equity, whether acting individually or on behalf of others similarly situated, or their rights to civil discovery or appeal. In addition, no deferred deposit transaction agreement shall require a party to assert any claim against the party who prepared the agreement in a forum that is less convenient, more costly, or more dilatory for the resolution of the dispute than a judicial forum established in this State.

(m) The Commissioner shall prescribe the format and contents of a consumer information sheet or pamphlet to educate consumers about deferred deposit transactions. The informational materials shall include information on the responsible use of deferred deposit transactions, the costs of deferred deposit transactions, the limitations on the number of transactions, and the dollar amount of outstanding checks, the fact that the customer cannot be prosecuted for a deferred deposit insufficient funds check, the availability of consumer credit counseling services and debt repayment alternatives, the procedure for filing consumer complaints with the Commissioner, and other matters that may be helpful or beneficial to customers. The informational materials shall be made available by the licensee in a conspicuous place at each location that offers deferred deposit check cashing and shall be presented to each customer before the deferred deposit transaction is executed. The licensees shall, at their own expense, produce, print, and distribute the materials.

(n) Effective July 31, 2003, this section shall apply only for purposes set forth in G.S. 53-277(a)(1). Also effective July 31, 2003, except as permitted under G.S. 53-277, the practice of making deferred deposit transactions shall be unlawful.'

(6) Bank statements of the licensee. If the statements are not maintained on the premises of the licensee, the statements shall be made available immediately upon request of the Commissioner.

~~Every person required to be licensed under this Article~~ In addition to the records required in this subsection, each licensee shall maintain in its offices such books, accounts, and records as the Commissioner may reasonably require. The books, accounts, and records shall be maintained separate from any other business in which the person is engaged, and shall be retained for a period prescribed by the Commissioner.

(b) The licensee shall ensure that each customer cashing a ~~check~~ payment device shall be provided a receipt showing the name or trade name of the licensee, the transaction date, amount of the ~~check,~~ payment device, and the fee charged.

(c) The Commissioner may examine the books, accounts, and records in order to determine whether the person is complying with this Article and rules adopted pursuant thereto. The cost of the examination shall be paid by the licensee and shall be determined by applying the hourly rate for special examinations adopted by the State Banking Commission by regulation.

(d) The Commissioner may require licensees to submit any data or information, including information concerning deferred deposit transactions, which is reasonably available to the licensee and which the Commissioner deems necessary to the performance of his oversight duties.'

Licensees shall submit such data before entering into each deferred deposit transaction and upon the repayment of each deferred deposit transaction in such format and with such identifying information as the Commissioner shall require, including the drawer's name, address, drivers license number, amount of the transaction, date of transaction, the date that the transaction is paid off, and such additional information as may be required by the Commissioner. The Commissioner may adopt procedures to administer and enforce the provisions of this section and to assure that the database is used by licensees in accordance with this section.

The term shall also include any such arrangement in which a person pays a cash advance in return for an authorization from a consumer for a draft or electronic debit rather than a check.

(4b) "Lender" means any person or entity that offers or makes a deferred deposit transaction, arranges a deferred deposit transaction for a third party, or acts as an agent for a third party, regardless of whether the

Notwithstanding that a bank, savings institution, credit union, or farm credit system may be exempted by federal law from this Article's provisions related to interest rate, finance charges, and licensure, all other applicable provisions of this Article apply to both a deferred deposit transaction and a deferred deposit lender.

(5) "Licensee" means a person or entity licensed to engage in a check-cashing business under this Article.

No person or other entity providing a check-cashing service may avoid the requirements of this Article by providing a check or other currency equivalent instead of currency when cashing payment instruments. "

SECTION 3. Article 22 of Chapter 53 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new sections to read:

"§ 53-281.1. Deferred deposit transactions permitted.

Lenders may make deferred deposit transactions pursuant to the following requirements:

(1) The face amount of the deferred deposit check may include a fee but the principal loan amount shall not exceed three hundred dollars ($300.00).

YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO CANCEL THIS TRANSACTION AT ANY TIME BEFORE 5:00 PM ON THE NEXT BUSINESS DAY AFTER THE TRANSACTION DATE SHOWN ABOVE. TO CANCEL YOU MUST RETURN ALL OF THE CASH PROCEEDS TO THE LENDER. THE LENDER WILL REFUND TO YOU ALL FEES IF YOU CANCEL THIS TRANSACTION.

(c) The written agreement shall be accompanied by a separate paper which contains all disclosures required by the federal Truth in Lending Act (12 USC §1601,et seq.) and the federal Reserve Board Regulation 'Z' and the consumer education information. The consumer education information shall be prepared by the Commissioner and shall inform the consumer of matters such as the complaint process through the Commissioner's Office, the relative cost of short-term consumer loans, the availability of other forms of credit, the right of the customer to elect a repayment plan, and any other matters the Commissioner thinks are necessary or beneficial to consumers.

(d) The written agreement shall not contain any of the following provisions:

"§ 53-281.3. Deferred deposit transactions limited.

(a) A lender shall not knowingly enter into a deferred deposit transaction with a borrower whom the lender knows has other transactions in the aggregate exceeding the principal amount of three hundred dollars ($300.00) or knows would exceed three

This certification shall not constitute the basis of a criminal prosecution under G.S. 14-100.

(2) The lender verifies the accuracy of this certification through reasonable means, including a manual investigation or an electronic query of all of the lender's own records, and also available databases approved by the Commissioner.

(b) A lender must pay the proceeds from a deferred deposit transaction to the borrower in the form of a check from the lender. Upon the borrower's request, the lender may cash the lender's check if the lender has cash available to do so. The borrower shall not be charged an additional finance charge or fee for cashing the lender's check."

"§ 53-281.4. Mandatory repayment plan.

If the borrower elects and so informs the lender at any time prior to the maturity date of the deferred deposit transaction, the borrower may declare an inability to repay and the lender shall accept a mandatory repayment plan with the following terms:

(5) Failing to comply with the Commissioner's request for assistance in resolving a complaint.

(6) Using or threatening to use criminal process to collect a dishonored check, unless fraud is involved.

(7) Assigning or selling to another lender an instrument taken in connection with a deferred deposit transaction unless the instrument bears the following endorsement: 'THIS INSTRUMENT WAS GIVEN BY ITS MAKER TO SECURE A DEFERRED DEPOSIT TRANSACTION UNDER G.S. 53-281.1 AND THE ASSIGNEE IS DEEMED TO HAVE KNOWLEDGE OF AND SHALL BE BOUND BY THE TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF THE LOAN AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE BORROWER AND THE ORIGINAL LENDER.'

The imposition or pendency of any order or penalty by the Commissioner shall not limit the right of any customer to pursue any available civil remedies."

SECTION 5. This act becomes effective October 1, 2002, and applies to transactions made on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 104:
Regulate Deferred Deposit.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:
Date:	August 20, 2002	Summary by:	Karen Cochrane Brown
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute (S104-CSRO-49 [v.1])		Staff Attorney

*SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute for SB 104 would reauthorize regulation of deferred deposit transactions. Deferred or delayed deposit transactions were previously authorized under provisions of the Check Casher Act. Those provisions expired on August 31, 2001. This committee substitute would create additional consumer protections, including mandatory repayment plans and prohibited practices for lenders who make deferred deposit loans.

CURRENT LAW: Article 22 of Chapter 53 of the General Statutes requires that certain persons who cash checks for a fee must be licensed as a check cashing business. Prior to August 31, 2001, G.S. 53-281 allowed licensed check cashing businesses to advance cash in amounts up to $300.00, for postdated or delayed deposit checks. The fee for this service was 15% of the face amount of the check. The deposit could be delayed for up to 31 days. G.S. 53-281 expired on August 31, 2001, and since that time North Carolina law has not permitted these so-called "payday loans". However, several businesses have continued to operate by entering into agency agreements with national banks to fund the loans. North Carolina is preempted by federal law from regulating national banks.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1. – Adds several new definitions to the Check Casher Act to clarify provisions relating to the renewed authorization for deferred deposit transactions. One important addition is the term "lender" which includes any person or entity that offers or makes a deferred deposit loan or acts as an agent for a third party that makes such loans even if the third party is exempt from the licensing requirements. The definition also provides that although national depository institutions are exempt from interest rate, finance charge and licensure provisions of the Act, they are subject to all other provisions when they act as a deferred deposit lender.

Section 2. – Adds a licensing requirement for businesses engaging in making deferred deposit transactions. The Commissioner of Banks is charged with issuing licenses and administering the Article.

Section 3. – Adds several new sections to Article 22, which reauthorize and regulate deferred deposit transactions. These transactions are permitted subject to the following requirements:

- Principal amount of the loan may not exceed $300.00;
- Lender may not charge a fee in excess of 15% of the loan amount;
- Loan may not be repaid by the proceeds of another deferred deposit loan;

- Loan must be documented by a written agreement signed by the borrower and the lender;
- The amount of the fees charged must be expressed both as a dollar amount and as an effective annual percentage rate (APR).
- The maturity date may not be less than ten days nor more than sixty days from the transaction date;
- A notice advising the borrower of the right to cancel the transaction must be included in 10-point type;
- The agreement must be accompanied by a Regulation 'Z' disclosure, as provided by the federal Truth in Lending Act.
- The agreement may not contain a hold harmless clause, a confession of judgment clause, a mandatory arbitration clause, a provision in which the borrower agrees not to assert a claim or defense, or a provision in which the borrower waives any provision of the Article;
- Lenders may not enter into transactions with borrowers who have outstanding loans in excess of $300.00;
- Borrowers who cannot repay may elect to enter into a mandatory repayment plan providing for four equal installments due on the borrower's next four paydays, with at least 14 days between installments. The lender may collect a $15.00 processing charge for each repayment plan;
- Prohibited practices related to deferred deposit transactions include: taking security other than the borrower's check, taking more than one check in connection with a single transaction, selling or offering credit insurance, tying the transaction to any other transaction, using or threatening to use criminal process, unless fraud is involved, assigning or selling the check unless the required endorsement is attached, failing to report positive repayment activity to credit reporting agencies, failing to assist or provide information to the Commissioner of Banks.

Section 4. – Increases the maximum amount of civil penalties which may be imposed for violation of the Act from $1,000.00 to $10,000.00 per violation.

The act would become effective October 1, 2002 and apply to transactions made on or after that date.

This fiscal analysis is independent of the impact of other criminal penalty bills being considered by the General Assembly, which could also increase the projected prison population and thus the availability of prison beds in future years. BILL SUMMARY:

The proposed committee substitute for SB 104 (hereinafter PCS) reinstates the authorization for payday lending that had been authorized originally by the North Carolina (NC) General Assembly in 1997 and extended in 2001.[1] In reauthorizing payday lending, the PCS also redefines the cashing of postdated and delayed deposit checks as "deferred deposit transactions," a term that was not present in the 1997 legislation, and identifies as "lenders" persons or businesses acting as agents for third parties who may be exempt from licensing under the act. The PCS also adds to statute a number of procedural requirements and limitations with which deferred deposit lenders must comply in order to avoid possible criminal and civil penalties. Finally, by specifying that civil penalties imposed for violations may be imposed "upon persons acting on behalf of a licensee," the PCS extends the statutory requirements to a larger group of businesses than had been identified in the former legislation.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

County School Funds

Statute directs that all civil money penalties imposed by the Commissioner under the act shall be paid to the county school fund. According to the Commissioner, since 1997 approximately $38,000 in civil penalties for violations of payday lending laws have been collected. The Commissioner does not anticipate that the reauthorization would lead to more violations of the law than occurred from 1997-2001. Assuming equal distribution of those penalties across that period of time, and a frequency and severity of future penalties that is consistent with historical trends, this data suggests that approximately $9,500 will be collected in each of the next five fiscal years. No estimate is available for the distribution of this revenue across counties.

Commissioner of Banks

The Office of the Commissioner of Banks (Commissioner) is authorized in statute to regulate the check cashing and deferred deposit industry in NC and to charge fees to recover the costs of licensure and investigations.[2] According to the Commissioner, this regulatory function was supported completely by fees from 1997 to 2001. Beginning October 1, 2002, when the new legislation takes effect, the Commission will once again operate on a completely fee-supported basis. While the reauthorization of payday lending, and accompanying regulatory function, will certainly increase the activity of the Commissioner, the PCS will therefore have no net fiscal impact on the Commissioner.

Department of Correction

The Sentencing and Policy Advisory Commission prepares inmate population projections annually. These projections are based on historical information on incarceration and release rates under Structured Sentencing, crime rate forecasts by a technical advisory board, probation and revocation rates, and the decline (parole and maxouts) of the stock prison population sentenced under previous sentencing acts. Based on the most recent population projections and estimated

The proposed legislation would create a new category of license for lenders offering deferred deposit transactions. These lenders would be subject to G.S. 53-276 and 53-287, making violation of the new statute a Class I felony. Since this is a new offense, the Sentencing Commission does not have any historical data from which to estimate the impact of this bill on the prison population. The Office of the N.C. Commissioner of Banks anticipates that most violations will not result in criminal charges or convictions.

Using available data on average sentences for Class I felons, the Sentencing Commission estimates that if this bill resulted in 5 additional convictions for Class I felonies each year, there would be the need for 1 additional prison bed in the first year and 2 additional beds in the second year due to active sentences and post-release sentencing revocations. While only 9 percent of Class I felons served active sentences (and thus impact prison beds) in FY 2000-01, another 37 percent served intermediate sentences and 54 percent served community sentences. In FY 2000-01, the average operating cost for a prison bed was $65.29 per day, and the average length of sentence for a Class I felon was seven months. Also in FY 2000-01, the average cost of an intermediate punishment was $12.69 per offender per day, and the average cost of a community punishment was $1.87 per offender per day.

Judicial Branch

For most criminal penalty bills, the Administrative Office of the Courts provides Fiscal Research with an analysis of the fiscal impact of the specific bill. For these bills, fiscal impact is typically based on the assumption that court time will increase due to an expected increase in trials and a corresponding increase in the hours of work for judges, clerks and prosecutors. This increased court time is also expected to result in greater expenditures for jury fees and indigent defense.

The PCS provides various regulations for deferred deposit transactions and creates a new Class I felony offense for engaging in the business of making deferred deposit transactions without first obtaining a license. While under current G.S. 53-287, any violation of G.S. 53-276 by a person required to obtain a license under Article 22 is a Class I felony, deferred deposit transactions are not currently permitted by law. As a result, there could be some additional workload for the courts due to violations arising under the bill.

The AOC does not have an offense code for the Class I felony under current G.S. 53-287, which is an indication that charges or convictions occur infrequently. The N.C. Commissioner of Banks website indicates that 233 licensed check-cashing businesses owned 1,131 check-cashing locations or branches across the State during 2000. Of those 233 check-cashing businesses, 165 check-cashing businesses owned locations that conducted either deferred deposit transactions only or both check cashing and deferred deposit transactions. The Office of the N.C. Commissioner of Banks also indicates that there were 260 licensed check-cashing businesses across the state as of August 31, 2001, 50 businesses reported for engaging in unlawful deferred deposit transactions as of May 21, 2002, and 13,805 deferred deposit transactions violations between August 1998 and August 2001.

While the data provided by the Office of the N.C. Commissioner of Banks suggest that there are numerous locations or branches owned by various check-cashing businesses across the State that could result in frequent violations under the bill, the Office does not expect many violations to arise. The Office expects that most check-cashing businesses engaging in deferred deposit transactions will comply with the law initially, or, if caught engaging in these transactions unlawfully, will then comply with the law (i.e., apply for the required license) and pay applicable civil penalties imposed by the Commissioner. The Office indicated that, although available by law, criminal penalties do not typically result from these violations. To the extent that check-cashing businesses conducting deferred deposit transactions comply with the law and civil penalties are imposed by the Commissioner rather than criminal penalties pursued, the AOC would not anticipate many new cases under the bill.

SOURCES OF DATA: Office of the NC Commissioner of Banks; Department of Correction; Judicial Branch; North Carolina Sentencing and Policy Advisory Commission; and Office of State Construction.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: The effective date for this legislation is October 1, 2002. Typically, criminal penalties are effective December 1, 2002, to give the court system time to adjust to the new statutes.

Who's paying for payday lending?

BY ELLEN SCHLOEMER

RALEIGH – To listen to the payday lending industry, North Carolina is overrun by unfeeling, paternalistic churches and community groups trying to prevent people in financial crisis from getting help from caring, altruistic payday lenders. And the industry's lobbyists say it's only a happy coincidence that selfless payday lenders in North Carolina raked in more than $100 million in fees in a recent year, when they really were just trying to help people.

Calling churches, social service groups and community advocates "paternalistic" to oppose payday loans as they exist today implies that we don't understand the needs of the poor or vulnerable, the people whom we serve every day. We do know them, and we know that in most cases getting a payday loan makes their lives worse, not better.

POINT OF VIEW

Here's what else we know:

• Payday loans are unfair. Consumers may need short-term credit to cover emergencies, but they shouldn't be charged fees equaling 500 percent interest to get it. Payday lenders say they must charge high fees because of the risk they take making loans. But companies that offer credit cards to people with bad credit charge around 25 percent interest — are payday loans really 20 times riskier?

• Payday loans trap people in a cycle of debt. They typically must be repaid in full in two weeks, which is far too soon for most borrowers. So lenders encourage them to take out new loans — the borrower gets no "new money" but does pay another fee to pay off the previous loan. Fees pile up, and the debt cycle gets worse.

In North Carolina, the average payday borrower took out 14 loans in 2000. Many consumers end up in worse financial shape than when they started. One of our church members, for example, will end up paying $1,780 to pay off $700 in payday loans.

• Social services groups are harmed by payday lending. Trapped in debt, many payday customers are turning to community groups and churches for food, money and other aid to deal with their desperate financial straits. (A Kansas City church recently found that 80 percent of visitors to its food pantry were in debt to payday lenders.) It is unconscionable that underfunded, understaffed nonprofits should be expected to handle a growing flood of needy people, so that payday lenders can pocket millions of dollars in fees.

• We need economic fairness, not the rule of the jungle. Payday lenders are taking advantage of a situation that is not just of their own making. As a society, we need to ensure that people earn a living wage, so they aren't thrown into financial crisis whenever an unexpected emergency hits. And banks need to step up here too, by extending overdraft protection to customers with less-than-perfect credit. (By the way, consumers who pay off payday loans on time don't improve their credit rating, because lenders don't report this to the credit bureaus. Talk about rigging the game in your favor!)

Payday lenders are operating in bad faith. Since the state law permitting payday lending expired in 2001, many payday lenders have dubbed themselves "facilitators" for out-of-state banks, and continue to do business here. And now they have gotten some state legislators to introduce last-minute "reform" legislation stacked with even more industry-friendly loopholes. Legislation must not be fast-tracked through the General Assembly without public discussion and thoughtful consideration of alternatives that would provide consumers with fair, affordable credit and lenders with a reasonable profit.

House Committee on Finance

Minutes
August 27, 2002

Continuing from its earlier meeting on this day, the House Committee on Finance met on Tuesday, August 27, 2002, at 3:45 P.M., in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building. The following members were present: Chairmen Allen, Buchanan, Luebke, and Wainwright; Vice-Chair Hill; and Representatives Alexander, Blust, Capps, Cox, Dedmon, Eddins, Edwards, Gray, Hackney, Hurley, Johnson, McComas, McCombs, McMahan, Morris, Pope, Rayfield, Starnes, Weiss, Willingham, Womble, Baddour, and Cunningham and Earle. Also present were Sergeant-at-Arms staff Dusty Rhoades, Bob Fowler, Walter Spell, and Bill Freeman. Staff persons present included Trina Griffin, Martha Walston, Richard Bostic, and Karen Cochran-Brown; Committee Assistants Nancy Brantley, Blinda Edwards, and Joyce Harris; and Grayson Cave, Page, from Wake County.

Chairman Allen opened the meeting to resume discussions on the Proposed Committee Substitute for SB 104, explained by Representative Culpepper, and the Amendment on the Bill, proposed by Representative Baddour.

Both Representative Culpepper and Representative Baddour went over points they wanted to make with regard to the PCS and the Amendment, and they explained the differences in their proposals.

After a lengthy discussion of the PSC and the Amendment, Representative Allen recognized the following persons who spoke on the Bill and the Amendment:

- Jerry Bird from Fayetteville, who has been in the check-cashing business since 1988 and is currently President of the North Carolina Check-Cashing Association, stated--as did all of the following speakers--that he had not been consulted when the Bill was being drafted, and he supported the Bill.
- Willie Green from Shelby supported the Bill.
- Vicky Woodward, representing Community Financial Services of America, spoke in support of the Bill.
- Mayor Fred Yates, 3rd Vice President of the NAACP, also spoke in support of the Bill.

Amendment No. 1. Representative Capps offered an Amendment that would make two technical changes to the bill. The Amendment was adopted.

Continuing the discussion, Chairman Allen recognized Mr. Byrd, who had spoken earlier. He reiterated that his company could not operate under the Baddour Amendment, but the Bill as presented would allow the industry--which had lost about 100 operators since the sunset of the last bill--to operate and make a reasonable profit and stay in business.

Amendment No. 2. Representative Baddour moved for the adoption of his Amendment. By a vote of 10 ayes and 16 nays, the motion failed.

Representative Hackney made a motion to adjourn the meeting, which failed.

Rep. Buchanan moved to give the PCS a favorable report, which changes the title, unfavorable as to the Senate Committee Substitute Bill. The motion carried. Copies of the PCS, Amendments, Bill, Bill Summary and Fiscal Note are attached as part of these minutes.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned at 5:40 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,

Representative Gordon P. Allen
Presiding Chair

Nancy G. Brantley
Committee Assistant

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REGULATE DEFERRED DEPOSIT TRANSACTIONS AND TO PROVIDE ADDITIONAL CONSUMER DISCLOSURES AND PROTECTIONS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 53-275 reads as rewritten:

"§ 53-275. Definitions.

As used in this Article, unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the term:

(1) "Cashing" means providing currency for payment instruments, but does not include the bona fide sale or exchange of travelers checks and foreign denomination payment instruments.

(2) "Check-cashing service" means any person or entity engaged in the business of cashing checks, drafts, or money orders for a fee, service charge, or other consideration.

(3) "Commission" means the State Banking Commission.

(4) "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Banks.

(4a) "Deferred deposit transaction" means a check-cashing or similar loan transaction in which a person pays a cash advance to a consumer in return for a check dated on the date it was written and agrees to hold the check for a period of days prior to deposit or presentment, or accepts a postdated check and agrees to hold the check for deposit or presentment at least until the date written on the check. The term shall also include any such arrangement in which a person pays a cash advance in return for an authorization from a consumer for a draft or electronic debit rather than a check.

(4b) "Lender" means any person or entity that offers or makes a deferred deposit transaction, arranges a deferred deposit transaction for a third party, or acts as an agent for a third party, regardless of whether the third party is exempt from licensing under this Article or whether approval, acceptance, or ratification by the third party is necessary to create a legal obligation for the third party. Notwithstanding that a bank, savings institution, credit union, or farm credit system may be exempted by federal law from this Article's provisions related to interest rate, finance charges, and licensure, all other applicable provisions of this Article apply to both a deferred deposit transaction and a deferred deposit lender.

(5) "Licensee" means a person or entity licensed to engage in a check-cashing business under this Article.

(5a) "Loan amount" means the amount financed as defined in regulation Z of the federal Truth in Lending Act, (12 C.F.R. 226.18(b).

(6) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, or corporation."

SECTION 2. G.S. 53-276 reads as rewritten:

"§ 53-276. License required.

No person or other entity may engage in the business of cashing checks, drafts, or money orders for ~~consideration~~ consideration, nor engage in the business of making deferred deposit transactions without first obtaining a license under this Article. No person or other entity providing a check-cashing service may avoid the requirements of this Article by providing a check or other currency equivalent instead of currency when cashing payment instruments."

SECTION 3. Article 22 of Chapter 53 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new sections to read:

"§ 53-281.1. Deferred deposit transactions permitted.

Lenders may make deferred deposit transactions pursuant to the following requirements:

(1) The face amount of the deferred deposit check may include a fee but the principal loan amount shall not exceed three hundred dollars ($300.00).

(2) Each deferred deposit check cashed by a lender shall be deemed to be a loan and shall be documented by a written agreement as provided in G.S. 32-281.2.

(3) A lender shall not directly or indirectly charge a fee or other consideration in excess of fifteen percent (15%) of the loan amount.

(4) No check cashed under the provisions of this section shall be repaid by the proceeds of another check cashed by the same lender or any affiliate of the lender. A lender shall not, for any consideration, renew or otherwise extend any deferred deposit check or withhold the check from deposit for any period beyond the time set forth in the written agreement, except as allowed under G.S. 53-281.4.

"§ 53-281.2. Written agreement and disclosures required for deferred deposit transactions.

(a) Each deferred deposit transaction shall be documented by a written agreement signed by the borrower and the lender. A legible copy of the agreement shall be provided to the borrower.

(b) The written agreement shall contain:

(1) The name and address of the borrower.

(2) The name, local street address, and telephone number of the lender.

(3) The transaction date, which shall be prominently labeled.

(4) The loan amount as defined in G.S. 53-275(5a).

(5) The amount of any fees charged, expressed as both a dollar amount and as an effective annual percentage rate (APR).

(6) The maturity date, which shall be no less than 14 days nor more than 60 days after the transaction date.

(7) The following notices immediately above the borrower's signature line in at least ten-point type: THIS TRANSACTION IS NOT MEANT TO MEET LONG-TERM FINANCIAL NEEDS AND SHOULD BE USED ONLY TO MEET SHORT-TERM CASH NEEDS. YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO CANCEL THIS TRANSACTION AT ANY TIME BEFORE 5:00 P.M. ON THE NEXT BUSINESS DAY AFTER THE TRANSACTION DATE SHOWN ABOVE. TO CANCEL YOU MUST RETURN ALL OF THE CASH PROCEEDS TO THE LENDER. THE LENDER WILL REFUND TO YOU ALL FEES IF YOU CANCEL THIS TRANSACTION.

(c) The written agreement shall be accompanied by a separate paper which contains all disclosures required by the federal Truth in Lending Act (12 U.S.C. § 1601, et seq.) and the federal Reserve Board Regulation 'Z' and the consumer education information. The consumer education information shall be prepared by the Commissioner and shall inform the consumer of matters such as the complaint process through the Commissioner's office, the relative cost of short-term consumer loans, the availability of other forms of credit, the right of the customer to elect a repayment plan, and any other matters the Commissioner thinks are necessary or beneficial to consumers.

(d) The written agreement shall not contain any of the following provisions:

(1) A hold harmless clause.

(2) A confession of judgment clause.

(3) A mandatory arbitration clause.

(4) Any provision in which the borrower agrees not to assert a claim or defense arising out of the contract.

(5) Any waiver by the borrower of any provision of this Article.

"§ 53-281.3. Deferred deposit transactions limited.

(a) A lender shall not knowingly enter into a deferred deposit transaction with a borrower whom the lender knows has other transactions in the aggregate exceeding the principal amount of three hundred dollars ($300.00) or knows would exceed three transactions regardless of value. It shall be mandatory for the lender to meet both of the following conditions:

(1) The borrower signs a certification in substantially the following form: I UNDERSTAND THAT NORTH CAROLINA LAW PROHIBITS A PERSON FROM HAVING MORE THAN $300.00 IN DEFERRED DEPOSIT CHECKS OUTSTANDING AT ONE TIME. I OWE THE FOLLOWING DEFERRED DEPOSIT AMOUNTS AND NO OTHERS: (Write the amount you owe and the names of the licensees or write 'NONE'). This certification shall not constitute the basis of a criminal prosecution under G.S. 14-100.

(2) The lender verifies the accuracy of this certification through reasonable means, including a manual investigation or an electronic query of all of the lender's own records, and also available databases approved by the Commissioner.

(b) A lender must pay the proceeds from a deferred deposit transaction to the borrower in the form of a check from the lender. Upon the borrower's request, the lender may cash the lender's check if the lender has cash available to do so. The borrower shall not be charged an additional finance charge or fee for cashing the lender's check.

"§ 53-281.4. Mandatory repayment plan.

If the borrower elects and so informs the lender at any time prior to the maturity date of the deferred deposit transaction, the borrower may declare an inability to repay and the lender shall accept a mandatory repayment plan with the following terms:

(1) The borrower and the lender sign a repayment plan agreement providing for four equal installments due on each of the borrower's next four paydays, with at least 14 days between the installments.

(2) The borrower agrees not to enter into any additional deferred deposit transactions during the term of the repayment plan.

(3) Upon completion of the plan, the lender shall report the borrower's positive payment history to consumer credit reporting agencies.

(4) Upon completion of the plan, the borrower is prohibited from entering into any deferred deposit transactions with any lender for at least one pay period.

(5) The lender may collect a fifteen-dollar ($15.00) processing charge for each repayment plan.

"§ 53-281.5. Prohibited practices regarding deferred deposit transactions.

In addition to the prohibited practices under G.S. 53-283, the following are prohibited regarding deferred deposit transactions:

(1) Taking or attempting to take any security other than the borrower's instrument.

(2) Taking or attempting to take more than a single check or other instrument from the borrower in connection with a single transaction.

(3) Selling, offering, or soliciting any application for credit insurance in connection with a transaction.

(4) Tying the transaction to any other transaction, offer, or obligation of the borrower.

(5) Failing to comply with the Commissioner's request for assistance in resolving a complaint.

(6) Using or threatening to use criminal process to collect a dishonored check, unless fraud is involved.

(7) Assigning or selling to another lender an instrument taken in connection with a deferred deposit transaction unless the instrument bears the following endorsement: THIS INSTRUMENT WAS GIVEN BY ITS MAKER TO SECURE A DEFERRED DEPOSIT TRANSACTION UNDER G.S. 53-281.1 AND THE ASSIGNEE IS DEEMED TO HAVE KNOWLEDGE OF AND SHALL BE BOUND BY THE TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF THE LOAN AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE BORROWER AND THE ORIGINAL LENDER.

(8) Failing to report accurately and promptly a borrower's positive repayment activity under G.S. 53-281.4 to credit reporting agencies.

(9) Failing to collect and provide information regarding the number, total, and average transaction amounts and any other information the Commissioner may request."

SECTION 4. G. S. 53-286 reads as rewritten:

"The Commissioner may order and impose civil penalties upon any person required to be licensed under this Article for violations of this Article or rules adopted thereunder. Civil penalties may also be imposed upon persons acting on behalf of a licensee or any other person who violates this Article. Civil penalties shall not exceed ~~one thousand dollars ($1,000)~~ ten thousand dollars ($10,000) per violation. All civil money penalties collected under this Article shall be paid to the county school fund. The Commissioner may also order repayment of unlawful or excessive fees charged to customers. The imposition or pendency of any order or penalty by the Commissioner shall not limit the right of any customer to pursue any available civil remedies."

SECTION 5. This act becomes effective October 1, 2002, and applies to transactions made on or after that date.

arise. The Office expects that most check-cashing businesses engaging in deferred deposit transactions will comply with the law initially, or, if caught engaging in these transactions unlawfully, will then comply with the law (i.e., apply for the required license) and pay applicable civil penalties imposed by the Commissioner. The Office indicated that, although available by law, criminal penalties do not typically result from these violations. To the extent that check-cashing businesses conducting deferred deposit transactions comply with the law and civil penalties are imposed by the Commissioner rather than criminal penalties pursued, the AOC would not anticipate many new cases under the bill.

SENATE BILL 104:
Regulate Deferred Deposit.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:
Date:	August 20, 2002	Summary by:	Karen Cochrane Brown
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute (S104-CSRO-49 [v.1])		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute for SB 104 would reauthorize regulation of deferred deposit transactions. Deferred or delayed deposit transactions were previously authorized under provisions of the Check Casher Act. Those provisions expired on August 31, 2001. This committee substitute would create additional consumer protections, including mandatory repayment plans and prohibited practices for lenders who make deferred deposit loans.

CURRENT LAW: Article 22 of Chapter 53 of the General Statutes requires that certain persons who cash checks for a fee must be licensed as a check cashing business. Prior to August 31, 2001, G.S. 53-281 allowed licensed check cashing businesses to advance cash in amounts up to $300.00, for postdated or delayed deposit checks. The fee for this service was 15% of the face amount of the check. The deposit could be delayed for up to 31 days. G.S. 53-281 expired on August 31, 2001, and since that time North Carolina law has not permitted these so-called "payday loans". However, several businesses have continued to operate by entering into agency agreements with national banks to fund the loans. North Carolina is preempted by federal law from regulating national banks.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1. – Adds several new definitions to the Check Casher Act to clarify provisions relating to the renewed authorization for deferred deposit transactions. One important addition is the term "lender" which includes any person or entity that offers or makes a deferred deposit loan or acts as an agent for a third party that makes such loans even if the third party is exempt from the licensing requirements. The definition also provides that although national depository institutions are exempt from interest rate, finance charge and licensure provisions of the Act, they are subject to all other provisions when they act as a deferred deposit lender.

Section 2. – Adds a licensing requirement for businesses engaging in making deferred deposit transactions. The Commissioner of Banks is charged with issuing licenses and administering the Article.

Section 3. – Adds several new sections to Article 22, which reauthorize and regulate deferred deposit transactions. These transactions are permitted subject to the following requirements:

- Principal amount of the loan may not exceed $300.00;
- Lender may not charge a fee in excess of 15% of the loan amount;
- Loan may not be repaid by the proceeds of another deferred deposit loan;

BILL SUMMARY:

The proposed committee substitute for SB 104 (hereinafter PCS) reinstates the authorization for payday lending that had been authorized originally by the North Carolina (NC) General Assembly in 1997 and extended in 2001.[1] In reauthorizing payday lending, the PCS also redefines the cashing of postdated and delayed deposit checks as "deferred deposit transactions," a term that was not present in the 1997 legislation, and identifies as "lenders" persons or businesses acting as agents for third parties who may be exempt from licensing under the act. The PCS also adds to statute a number of procedural requirements and limitations with which deferred deposit lenders must comply in order to avoid possible criminal and civil penalties. Finally, by specifying that civil penalties imposed for violations may be imposed "upon persons acting on behalf of a licensee," the PCS extends the statutory requirements to a larger group of businesses than had been identified in the former legislation.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

County School Funds

Statute directs that all civil money penalties imposed by the Commissioner of Banks (Commissioner) under the act shall be paid to the county school fund. According to the Commissioner, since 1997 approximately $38,000 in civil penalties for violations of payday lending laws had been collected. The Commissioner does not anticipate that the reauthorization would lead to more violations of the law than occurred from 1997-2001. Furthermore, the Commissioner does not anticipate that increasing the maximum imposable civil penalty from $1,000 to $10,000 will significantly affect the total amount of penalty monies imposed. Assuming equal distribution of the penalties imposed from 1997-2001, and a frequency and severity of future penalties that is consistent with historical trends, this data suggests that approximately $9,500 will be collected in each of the next five fiscal years.

Commissioner of Banks

The Commissioner is authorized in statute to regulate the check cashing and deferred deposit industry in NC and to charge fees to recover the costs of licensure and investigations.[2] According to the Commissioner, this regulatory function was supported completely by fees from 1997 to 2001. Beginning October 1, 2002, when the new legislation takes effect, the Commissioner will once again operate on a completely fee-supported basis. While the reauthorization of payday lending, and accompanying regulatory function, will certainly increase the activity of the Commissioner, the PCS will therefore have no net fiscal impact on the Commissioner.

Department of Correction

The Sentencing and Policy Advisory Commission prepares inmate population projections annually. These projections are based on historical information on incarceration and release rates under Structured Sentencing, crime rate forecasts by a technical advisory board, probation and revocation rates, and the decline (parole and maxouts) of the stock prison population sentenced under previous sentencing acts. Based on the most recent population projections and estimated available prison bed capacity, there are no surplus prison beds available for the five year Fiscal Note horizon and beyond.

[2] G.S. 53-278

The proposed legislation would create a new category of license for lenders offering deferred deposit transactions. These lenders would be subject to G.S. 53-276 and 53-287, making violation of the new statute a Class I felony. Since this is a new offense, the Sentencing Commission does not have any historical data from which to estimate the impact of this bill on the prison population. The Office of the N.C. Commissioner of Banks anticipates that most violations will not result in criminal charges or convictions.

Using available data on average sentences for Class I felons, the Sentencing Commission estimates that if this bill resulted in 5 additional convictions for Class I felonies each year, there would be the need for 1 additional prison bed in the first year and 2 additional beds in the second year due to active sentences and post-release sentencing revocations. While only 9 percent of Class I felons served active sentences (and thus impact prison beds) in FY 2000-01, another 37 percent served intermediate sentences and 54 percent served community sentences. In FY 2000-01, the average operating cost for a prison bed was $65.29 per day, and the average length of sentence for a Class I felon was seven months. Also in FY 2000-01, the average cost of an intermediate punishment was $12.69 per offender per day, and the average cost of a community punishment was $1.87 per offender per day.

Judicial Branch

For most criminal penalty bills, the Administrative Office of the Courts provides Fiscal Research with an analysis of the fiscal impact of the specific bill. For these bills, fiscal impact is typically based on the assumption that court time will increase due to an expected increase in trials and a corresponding increase in the hours of work for judges, clerks and prosecutors. This increased court time is also expected to result in greater expenditures for jury fees and indigent defense.

The PCS provides various regulations for deferred deposit transactions and creates a new Class I felony offense for engaging in the business of making deferred deposit transactions without first obtaining a license. While under current G.S. 53-287, any violation of G.S. 53-276 by a person required to obtain a license under Article 22 is a Class I felony, deferred deposit transactions are not currently permitted by law. As a result, there could be some additional workload for the courts due to violations arising under the bill.

The AOC does not have an offense code for the Class I felony under current G.S. 53-287, which is an indication that charges or convictions occur infrequently. The N.C. Commissioner of Banks website indicates that 233 licensed check-cashing businesses owned 1,131 check-cashing locations or branches across the State during 2000. Of those 233 check-cashing businesses, 165 check-cashing businesses owned locations that conducted either deferred deposit transactions only or both check cashing and deferred deposit transactions. The Office of the N.C. Commissioner of Banks also indicates that there were 260 licensed check-cashing businesses across the state as of August 31, 2001, 50 businesses reported for engaging in unlawful deferred deposit transactions as of May 21, 2002, and 13,805 deferred deposit transactions violations between August 1998 and August 2001.

While the data provided by the Office of the N.C. Commissioner of Banks suggest that there are numerous locations or branches owned by various check-cashing businesses across the State that could result in frequent violations under the bill, the Office does not expect many violations to

The written agreement shall contain the following specific disclosures:

(1) The address and telephone number of the Office of the Commissioner of Banks with a statement that the licensee is licensed by the Commissioner of Banks and that the customer may file a complaint with the Commissioner if the customer believes the licensee has acted improperly or unlawfully either in the transaction or in the collection process.

(2) That the customer may not be prosecuted for a worthless check violation if the check is returned for insufficient funds but the customer may be liable to the licensee for no more than one fifteen dollar ($15.00) worthless check fee.

(3) That the customer has the right to contact a consumer credit counseling service for counseling or a debt management repayment program if the customer is unable to pay on the deferred deposit transaction when it becomes due.

(4) That the customer has the right to rescind the delayed deposit transaction at no cost to the customer on or before the close of the following business day.

(d) A licensee shall not directly or indirectly charge any fee or other consideration for cashing a postdated or deferred deposit payment device in excess of fifteen per cent (15%) of the cash advance. A licensee shall not charge a customer any fees or other consideration related to a deferred deposit transaction unless specifically authorized by this Article.

(e) No payment device cashed under the provisions of this section shall be repaid by the proceeds of another payment device cashed by the same licensee or any affiliate of the licensee. A licensee shall not, for any additional consideration, renew or otherwise extend any postdated or deferred payment device. A licensee may agree with its customer at any time to defer deposit or collection of a payment device without additional consideration.

(f) The customer shall have the right to rescind the delayed deposit transaction at no cost to the customer by giving written notice and returning the cash advanced on or before the close of the business day following the date of the deferred deposit transaction.

(g) After May 30, 2003, or upon the establishment by the Commissioner of the database described in G.S. 53-291, whichever occurs first, no licensee shall enter into a deferred deposit transaction with any customer who has had four deferred deposit transactions with any licensee or licensees within the previous 12 months. The licensee shall utilize the deferred deposit transaction database described in G.S. 53-291 to establish compliance with this subsection. No licensee shall use or rely on a customer's certification or warranty as a means of compliance with this subsection.

(h) After May 30, 2003, or upon the establishment by the Commissioner of the database described in G.S. 53-291, whichever occurs first, no licensee shall enter into a deferred deposit transaction with any customer who would have in the aggregate, including the new transaction, more than three hundred dollars ($300.00) in deferred deposit transactions outstanding with any licensee or licensees. (l) Notwithstanding any other provision of State law, no deferred deposit transaction agreement shall include any provision that waives any federal or State constitutional right of customers or limits the remedies of customers available in law or equity, whether acting individually or on behalf of others similarly situated, or their rights to civil discovery or appeal. In addition, no deferred deposit transaction agreement shall require a party to assert any claim against the party who prepared the agreement in a forum that is less convenient, more costly, or more dilatory for the resolution of the dispute than a judicial forum established in this State.

(m) The Commissioner shall prescribe the format and contents of a consumer information sheet or pamphlet to educate consumers about deferred deposit transactions. The informational materials shall include information on the responsible use of deferred deposit transactions, the costs of deferred deposit transactions, the limitations on the number of transactions, and the dollar amount of outstanding checks, the fact that the customer cannot be prosecuted for a deferred deposit insufficient funds check, the availability of consumer credit counseling services and debt repayment alternatives, the procedure for filing consumer complaints with the Commissioner, and other matters that may be helpful or beneficial to customers. The informational materials shall be made available by the licensee in a conspicuous place at each location that offers deferred deposit check cashing and shall be presented to each customer before the deferred deposit transaction is executed. The licensees shall, at their own expense, produce, print, and distribute the materials.

(n) Effective July 31, 2003, this section shall apply only for purposes set forth in G.S. 53-277(a)(1). Also effective July 31, 2003, except as permitted under G.S. 53-277, the practice of making deferred deposit transactions shall be unlawful.'

(6) Bank statements of the licensee. If the statements are not maintained on the premises of the licensee, the statements shall be made available immediately upon request of the Commissioner.

~~Every person required to be licensed under this Article~~ In addition to the records required in this subsection, each licensee shall maintain in its offices such books, accounts, and records as the Commissioner may reasonably require. (4) Conduct business at premises or locations other than locations licensed by the Commissioner.

(7) Use or threaten to use the criminal process to collect on a payment device in a deferred deposit transaction.

(8) Make more than one deferred deposit transaction to a customer at the same time or accept or hold more than one deferred deposit payment device from a customer at the same time.

The Commissioner may contract with a private vendor at the Commissioner's discretion. The database must be accessible to the Commissioner and licensees to verify whether any deferred deposit transactions are outstanding for a particular customer in connection with a deferred deposit transaction involving that customer and may not be used for any other purpose. Licensees shall submit such data before entering into each deferred deposit transaction and upon the repayment of each deferred deposit transaction in such format and with such identifying information as the Commissioner shall require, including the drawer's name, address, drivers license number, amount of the transaction, date of transaction, the date that the transaction is paid off, and such additional information as may be required by the Commissioner. All information provided under this section shall be maintained by the Commissioner as confidential to be used only for the purposes specified in this Article, shall not be subject to public inspection, and shall not be a public record under Chapter 132 of the General Statutes. The Commissioner may impose a fee not to exceed one dollar ($1.00) per transaction to access the database. A licensee may rely on the information contained in the database as accurate and is not subject to any administrative penalty or civil liability as a result of relying in good faith on information contained in the database. The Commissioner may adopt procedures to administer and enforce the provisions of this section and to assure that the database is used by licensees in accordance with this section.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REGULATE DEFERRED DEPOSIT TRANSACTIONS AND TO PROVIDE ADDITIONAL CONSUMER DISCLOSURES AND PROTECTIONS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 53-275 reads as rewritten:

"§ 53-275. Definitions.

As used in this Article, unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the term:

(1) "Cashing" means providing currency for payment instruments, but does not include the bona fide sale or exchange of travelers checks and foreign denomination payment instruments.

(2) "Check-cashing service" means any person or entity engaged in the business of cashing checks, drafts, or money orders for a fee, service charge, or other consideration.

(3) "Commission" means the State Banking Commission.

(4) "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Banks.

(4a) "Deferred deposit transaction" means a check-cashing or similar loan transaction in which a person pays a cash advance to a consumer in return for a check dated on the date it was written and agrees to hold the check for a period of days prior to deposit or presentment, or accepts a postdated check and agrees to hold the check for deposit or presentment at least until the date written on the check. The term shall also include any such arrangement in which a person pays a cash advance in return for an authorization from a consumer for a draft or electronic debit rather than a check.

(4b) "Lender" means any person or entity that offers or makes a deferred deposit transaction, arranges a deferred deposit transaction for a third party, or acts as an agent for a third party, regardless of whether the third party is exempt from licensing under this Article or whether approval, acceptance, or ratification by the third party is necessary to create a legal obligation for the third party. Notwithstanding that a bank, savings institution, credit union, or farm credit system may be exempted by federal law from this Article's provisions related to interest rate, finance charges, and licensure, all other applicable provisions of this Article apply to both a deferred deposit transaction and a deferred deposit lender.

(5) "Licensee" means a person or entity licensed to engage in a check-cashing business under this Article.

(5a) "Loan amount" means the amount financed as defined in regulation Z of the federal Truth in Lending Act, (12 C.F.R. 226.18(b).

(6) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, or corporation."

SECTION 2. G.S. 53-276 reads as rewritten:

"§ 53-276. License required.

No person or other entity may engage in the business of cashing checks, drafts, or money orders for ~~consideration~~ consideration, nor engage in the business of making deferred deposit transactions without first obtaining a license under this Article. No person or other entity providing a check-cashing service may avoid the requirements of this Article by providing a check or other currency equivalent instead of currency when cashing payment instruments. "

SECTION 3. Article 22 of Chapter 53 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new sections to read:

"§ 53-281.1. Deferred deposit transactions permitted.

Lenders may make deferred deposit transactions pursuant to the following requirements:

(1) The face amount of the deferred deposit check may include a fee but the principal loan amount shall not exceed three hundred dollars ($300.00).

(2) Each deferred deposit check cashed by a lender shall be deemed to be a loan and shall be documented by a written agreement as provided in G.S. 32-281.2.

(3) A lender shall not directly or indirectly charge a fee or other consideration in excess of fifteen percent (15%) of the loan amount.

(4) No check cashed under the provisions of this section shall be repaid by the proceeds of another check cashed by the same lender or any affiliate of the lender. A lender shall not, for any consideration, renew or otherwise extend any deferred deposit check or withhold the check from deposit for any period beyond the time set forth in the written agreement, except as allowed under G.S. 53-281.4."

"§ 53-281.2. Written agreement and disclosures required for deferred deposit transactions.

(a) Each deferred deposit transaction shall be documented by a written agreement signed by the borrower and the lender. A legible copy of the agreement shall be provided to the borrower.

(b) The written agreement shall contain:

(1) The name and address of the borrower.

(2) The name, local street address and telephone number of the lender.

(3) The transaction date, which shall be prominently labeled.

(4) The loan amount as defined in G.S. 53-275(4b).

(5) The amount of any fees charged, expressed as both a dollar amount and as an effective annual percentage rate (APR).

(6) The maturity date, which shall be no less than fourteen (14) days nor more than sixty (60) days after the transaction date.

(7) The following notices immediately above the borrower's signature line in at least ten-point type: THIS TRANSACTION IS NOT MEANT TO MEET LONG-TERM FINANCIAL NEEDS AND SHOULD BE USED ONLY TO MEET SHORT-TERM CASH NEEDS. YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO CANCEL THIS TRANSACTION AT ANY TIME BEFORE 5:00 PM ON THE NEXT BUSINESS DAY AFTER THE TRANSACTION DATE SHOWN ABOVE. TO CANCEL YOU MUST RETURN ALL OF THE CASH PROCEEDS TO THE LENDER. THE LENDER WILL REFUND TO YOU ALL FEES IF YOU CANCEL THIS TRANSACTION.

(c) The written agreement shall be accompanied by a separate paper which contains all disclosures required by the federal Truth in Lending Act (12 USC §1601,et seq.) and the federal Reserve Board Regulation 'Z' and the consumer education information. The consumer education information shall be prepared by the Commissioner and shall inform the consumer of matters such as the complaint process through the Commissioner's Office, the relative cost of short-term consumer loans, the availability of other forms of credit, the right of the customer to elect a repayment plan, and any other matters the Commissioner thinks are necessary or beneficial to consumers.

(d) The written agreement shall not contain any of the following provisions:

(1) A hold harmless clause.

(2) A confession of judgment clause.

(3) A mandatory arbitration clause, unless the terms and conditions of the arbitration have been approved by the Commissioner, which approval shall not be unreasonably withheld.

(4) Any provision in which the borrower agrees not to assert a claim or defense arising out of the contract.

(5) Any waiver by the borrower of any provision of this Article."

"§ 53-281.3. Deferred deposit transactions limited.

(a) A lender shall not knowingly enter into a deferred deposit transaction with a borrower whom the lender knows has other transactions in the aggregate exceeding the principal amount of three hundred dollars ($300.00) or knows would exceed three transactions regardless of value. It shall be mandatory for the lender to meet both of the following conditions:

(1) The borrower signs a certification in substantially the following form: I UNDERSTAND THAT NORTH CAROLINA LAW PROHIBITS A PERSON FROM HAVING MORE THAN $300.00 IN DEFERRED DEPOSIT CHECKS OUTSTANDING AT ONE TIME. I OWE THE FOLLOWING DEFERRED DEPOSIT AMOUNTS AND NO OTHERS: (Write the amount you owe and the names of the licensees or write 'NONE'). This certification shall not constitute the basis of a criminal prosecution under G.S. 14-100.

(2) The lender verifies the accuracy of this certification through reasonable means, including a manual investigation or an electronic query of all of the lender's own records, and also available databases approved by the Commissioner.

(b) A lender must pay the proceeds from a deferred deposit transaction to the borrower in the form of a check from the lender. Upon the borrower's request, the lender may cash the lender's check if the lender has cash available to do so. The borrower shall not be charged an additional finance charge or fee for cashing the lender's check."

"§ 53-281.4. Mandatory repayment plan.

If the borrower elects and so informs the lender at any time prior to the maturity date of the deferred deposit transaction, the borrower may declare an inability to repay and the lender shall accept a mandatory repayment plan with the following terms:

(1) The borrower and the lender sign a repayment plan agreement providing for four equal installments due on each of the borrower's next four pay days, with at least 14 days between the installments.

(2) The borrower agrees not to enter into any additional deferred deposit transactions during the term of the repayment plan.

(3) Upon completion of the plan, the lender shall report the borrower's positive payment history to consumer credit reporting agencies.

(4) Upon completion of the plan, the borrower is prohibited from entering into any deferred deposit transactions with any lender for at least one pay period.

(5) The lender may collect a fifteen dollar ($15.00) processing charge for each repayment plan."

"§ 53-281.5. Prohibited practices regarding deferred deposit transactions.

In addition to the prohibited practices under G.S. 53-283, the following are prohibited regarding deferred deposit transactions:

(1) Taking or attempting to take any security other than the borrower's instrument.

(2) Taking or attempting to take more than a single check or other instrument from the borrower in connection with a single transaction.

(3) Selling, offering, or soliciting any application for credit insurance in connection with a transaction.

(4) Tying the transaction to any other transaction, offer, or obligation of the borrower.

(5) Failing to comply with the Commissioner's request for assistance in resolving a complaint.

(6) Using or threatening to use criminal process to collect a dishonored check, unless fraud is involved.

(7) Assigning or selling to another lender an instrument taken in connection with a deferred deposit transaction unless the instrument bears the following endorsement: 'THIS INSTRUMENT WAS GIVEN BY ITS MAKER TO SECURE A DEFERRED DEPOSIT TRANSACTION UNDER G.S. 53-281.1 AND THE ASSIGNEE IS DEEMED TO HAVE KNOWLEDGE OF AND SHALL BE BOUND BY THE TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF THE LOAN AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE BORROWER AND THE ORIGINAL LENDER.'

(8) Failing to report accurately and promptly a borrower's positive repayment activity under G.S. 53-281.4 to credit reporting agencies.

(9) Failing to collect and provide information regarding the number, total, and average transaction amounts and any other information the Commissioner may request."

SECTION 4. G. S. 53-286 reads as rewritten:

"The Commissioner may order and impose civil penalties upon any person required to be licensed under this Article for violations of this Article or rules adopted thereunder. Civil penalties may also be imposed upon persons acting on behalf of a licensee or any other person who violates this Article. Civil penalties shall not exceed ~~one thousand dollars ($1,000)~~ ten thousand dollars ($10,000) per violation. All civil money penalties collected under this Article shall be paid to the county school fund. The Commissioner may also order repayment of unlawful or excessive fees charged to customers. The imposition or pendency of any order or penalty by the Commissioner shall not limit the right of any customer to pursue any available civil remedies."

SECTION 5. This act becomes effective October 1, 2002, and applies to transactions made on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 104:
Regulate Deferred Deposit.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:
Date:	August 20, 2002	Summary by:	Karen Cochrane Brown
Version:	Proposed Committee Substitute (S104-CSRO-49 [v.1])		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute for SB 104 would reauthorize regulation of deferred deposit transactions. Deferred or delayed deposit transactions were previously authorized under provisions of the Check Casher Act. Those provisions expired on August 31, 2001. This committee substitute would create additional consumer protections, including mandatory repayment plans and prohibited practices for lenders who make deferred deposit loans.

CURRENT LAW: Article 22 of Chapter 53 of the General Statutes requires that certain persons who cash checks for a fee must be licensed as a check cashing business. Prior to August 31, 2001, G.S. 53-281 allowed licensed check cashing businesses to advance cash in amounts up to $300.00, for postdated or delayed deposit checks. The fee for this service was 15% of the face amount of the check. The deposit could be delayed for up to 31 days. G.S. 53-281 expired on August 31, 2001, and since that time North Carolina law has not permitted these so-called "payday loans". However, several businesses have continued to operate by entering into agency agreements with national banks to fund the loans. North Carolina is preempted by federal law from regulating national banks.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1. – Adds several new definitions to the Check Casher Act to clarify provisions relating to the renewed authorization for deferred deposit transactions. One important addition is the term "lender" which includes any person or entity that offers or makes a deferred deposit loan or acts as an agent for a third party that makes such loans even if the third party is exempt from the licensing requirements. The definition also provides that although national depository institutions are exempt from interest rate, finance charge and licensure provisions of the Act, they are subject to all other provisions when they act as a deferred deposit lender.

Section 2. – Adds a licensing requirement for businesses engaging in making deferred deposit transactions. The Commissioner of Banks is charged with issuing licenses and administering the Article.

Section 3. – Adds several new sections to Article 22, which reauthorize and regulate deferred deposit transactions. These transactions are permitted subject to the following requirements:

- Principal amount of the loan may not exceed $300.00;
- Lender may not charge a fee in excess of 15% of the loan amount;
- Loan may not be repaid by the proceeds of another deferred deposit loan;

- Loan must be documented by a written agreement signed by the borrower and the lender;
- The amount of the fees charged must be expressed both as a dollar amount and as an effective annual percentage rate (APR).
- The maturity date may not be less than ten days nor more than sixty days from the transaction date;
- A notice advising the borrower of the right to cancel the transaction must be included in 10-point type;
- The agreement must be accompanied by a Regulation 'Z' disclosure, as provided by the federal Truth in Lending Act.
- The agreement may not contain a hold harmless clause, a confession of judgment clause, a mandatory arbitration clause, a provision in which the borrower agrees not to assert a claim or defense, or a provision in which the borrower waives any provision of the Article;
- Lenders may not enter into transactions with borrowers who have outstanding loans in excess of $300.00;
- Borrowers who cannot repay may elect to enter into a mandatory repayment plan providing for four equal installments due on the borrower's next four paydays, with at least 14 days between installments. The lender may collect a $15.00 processing charge for each repayment plan;
- Prohibited practices related to deferred deposit transactions include: taking security other than the borrower's check, taking more than one check in connection with a single transaction, selling or offering credit insurance, tying the transaction to any other transaction, using or threatening to use criminal process, unless fraud is involved, assigning or selling the check unless the required endorsement is attached, failing to report positive repayment activity to credit reporting agencies, failing to assist or provide information to the Commissioner of Banks.

Section 4. – Increases the maximum amount of civil penalties which may be imposed for violation of the Act from $1,000.00 to $10,000.00 per violation.

The act would become effective October 1, 2002 and apply to transactions made on or after that date.

This fiscal analysis is independent of the impact of other criminal penalty bills being considered by the General Assembly, which could also increase the projected prison population and thus the availability of prison beds in future years. The Fiscal Research Division is tracking the cumulative effect of all criminal penalty bills on the prison system as well as the Judicial Department.*

BILL SUMMARY:

The proposed committee substitute for SB 104 (hereinafter PCS) reinstates the authorization for payday lending that had been authorized originally by the North Carolina (NC) General Assembly in 1997 and extended in 2001.[1] In reauthorizing payday lending, the PCS also redefines the cashing of postdated and delayed deposit checks as "deferred deposit transactions," a term that was not present in the 1997 legislation, and identifies as "lenders" persons or businesses acting as agents for third parties who may be exempt from licensing under the act. The PCS also adds to statute a number of procedural requirements and limitations with which deferred deposit lenders must comply in order to avoid possible criminal and civil penalties. Finally, by specifying that civil penalties imposed for violations may be imposed "upon persons acting on behalf of a licensee," the PCS extends the statutory requirements to a larger group of businesses than had been identified in the former legislation.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

County School Funds

Statute directs that all civil money penalties imposed by the Commissioner under the act shall be paid to the county school fund. According to the Commissioner, since 1997 approximately $38,000 in civil penalties for violations of payday lending laws have been collected. The Commissioner does not anticipate that the reauthorization would lead to more violations of the law than occurred from 1997-2001. Assuming equal distribution of those penalties across that period of time, and a frequency and severity of future penalties that is consistent with historical trends, this data suggests that approximately $9,500 will be collected in each of the next five fiscal years. No estimate is available for the distribution of this revenue across counties.

Commissioner of Banks

The Office of the Commissioner of Banks (Commissioner) is authorized in statute to regulate the check cashing and deferred deposit industry in NC and to charge fees to recover the costs of licensure and investigations.[2] According to the Commissioner, this regulatory function was supported completely by fees from 1997 to 2001. Beginning October 1, 2002, when the new legislation takes effect, the Commission will once again operate on a completely fee-supported basis. While the reauthorization of payday lending, and accompanying regulatory function, will certainly increase the activity of the Commissioner, the PCS will therefore have no net fiscal impact on the Commissioner.

Department of Correction

The Sentencing and Policy Advisory Commission prepares inmate population projections annually. These projections are based on historical information on incarceration and release rates under Structured Sentencing, crime rate forecasts by a technical advisory board, probation and revocation rates, and the decline (parole and maxouts) of the stock prison population sentenced under previous sentencing acts. Based on the most recent population projections and estimated available prison bed capacity, there are no surplus prison beds available for the five year Fiscal Note horizon and beyond.

The proposed legislation would create a new category of license for lenders offering deferred deposit transactions. These lenders would be subject to G.S. 53-276 and 53-287, making violation of the new statute a Class I felony. Since this is a new offense, the Sentencing Commission does not have any historical data from which to estimate the impact of this bill on the prison population. The Office of the N.C. Commissioner of Banks anticipates that most violations will not result in criminal charges or convictions.

Using available data on average sentences for Class I felons, the Sentencing Commission estimates that if this bill resulted in 5 additional convictions for Class I felonies each year, there would be the need for 1 additional prison bed in the first year and 2 additional beds in the second year due to active sentences and post-release sentencing revocations. While only 9 percent of Class I felons served active sentences (and thus impact prison beds) in FY 2000-01, another 37 percent served intermediate sentences and 54 percent served community sentences. In FY 2000-01, the average operating cost for a prison bed was $65.29 per day, and the average length of sentence for a Class I felon was seven months. Also in FY 2000-01, the average cost of an intermediate punishment was $12.69 per offender per day, and the average cost of a community punishment was $1.87 per offender per day.

Judicial Branch

For most criminal penalty bills, the Administrative Office of the Courts provides Fiscal Research with an analysis of the fiscal impact of the specific bill. For these bills, fiscal impact is typically based on the assumption that court time will increase due to an expected increase in trials and a corresponding increase in the hours of work for judges, clerks and prosecutors. This increased court time is also expected to result in greater expenditures for jury fees and indigent defense.

The PCS provides various regulations for deferred deposit transactions and creates a new Class I felony offense for engaging in the business of making deferred deposit transactions without first obtaining a license. While under current G.S. 53-287, any violation of G.S. 53-276 by a person required to obtain a license under Article 22 is a Class I felony, deferred deposit transactions are not currently permitted by law. As a result, there could be some additional workload for the courts due to violations arising under the bill.

The AOC does not have an offense code for the Class I felony under current G.S. 53-287, which is an indication that charges or convictions occur infrequently. The N.C. Commissioner of Banks website indicates that 233 licensed check-cashing businesses owned 1,131 check-cashing locations or branches across the State during 2000. Of those 233 check-cashing businesses, 165 check-cashing businesses owned locations that conducted either deferred deposit transactions only or both check cashing and deferred deposit transactions. The Office of the N.C. Commissioner of Banks also indicates that there were 260 licensed check-cashing businesses across the state as of August 31, 2001, 50 businesses reported for engaging in unlawful deferred deposit transactions as of May 21, 2002, and 13,805 deferred deposit transactions violations between August 1998 and August 2001.

While the data provided by the Office of the N.C. Commissioner of Banks suggest that there are numerous locations or branches owned by various check-cashing businesses across the State that could result in frequent violations under the bill, the Office does not expect many violations to arise. The Office expects that most check-cashing businesses engaging in deferred deposit transactions will comply with the law initially, or, if caught engaging in these transactions unlawfully, will then comply with the law (i.e., apply for the required license) and pay applicable civil penalties imposed by the Commissioner. The Office indicated that, although available by law, criminal penalties do not typically result from these violations. To the extent that check-cashing businesses conducting deferred deposit transactions comply with the law and civil penalties are imposed by the Commissioner rather than criminal penalties pursued, the AOC would not anticipate many new cases under the bill.

SOURCES OF DATA: Office of the NC Commissioner of Banks; Department of Correction; Judicial Branch; North Carolina Sentencing and Policy Advisory Commission; and Office of State Construction.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: The effective date for this legislation is October 1, 2002. Typically, criminal penalties are effective December 1, 2002, to give the court system time to adjust to the new statutes.

Who's paying for payday lending?

BY ELLEN SCHLOEMER

RALEIGH – To listen to the payday lending industry, North Carolina is overrun by unfeeling, paternalistic churches and community groups trying to prevent people in financial crisis from getting help from caring, altruistic payday lenders. And the industry's lobbyists say it's only a happy coincidence that selfless payday lenders in North Carolina raked in more than $100 million in fees in a recent year, when they really were just trying to help people.

Calling churches, social service groups and community advocates "paternalistic" to oppose payday loans as they exist today implies that we don't understand the needs of the poor or vulnerable, the people whom we serve every day. We do know them, and we know that in most cases getting a payday loan makes their lives worse, not better.

POINT OF VIEW

Here's what else we know:

- Payday loans are unfair. Consumers may need short-term credit to cover emergencies, but they shouldn't be charged fees equaling 500 percent interest to get it. Payday lenders say they must charge high fees because of the risk they take making loans. But companies that offer credit cards to people with bad credit charge around 25 percent interest — are payday loans really 20 times riskier?
- Payday loans trap people in a cycle of debt. They typically must be repaid in full in two weeks, which is far too soon for most borrowers. So lenders encourage them to take out new loans — the borrower gets no "new money" but does pay another fee to pay off the previous loan. Fees pile up, and the debt cycle gets worse.

In North Carolina, the average payday borrower took out 14 loans in 2000. Many consumers end up in worse financial shape than when they started. One of our church members, for example, will end up paying $1,780 to pay off $700 in payday loans.

- Social services groups are harmed by payday lending. Trapped in debt, many payday customers are turning to community groups and churches for food, money and other aid to deal with their desperate financial straits. (A Kansas City church recently found that 80 percent of visitors to its food pantry were in debt to payday lenders.) It is unconscionable that underfunded, understaffed nonprofits should be expected to handle a growing flood of needy people, so that payday lenders can pocket millions of dollars in fees.
- We need economic fairness, not the rule of the jungle. Payday lenders are taking advantage of a situation that is not just of their own making. As a society, we need to ensure that people earn a living wage, so they aren't thrown into financial crisis whenever an unexpected emergency hits. And banks need to step up here too, by extending overdraft protection to customers with less-than-perfect credit. (By the way, consumers who pay off payday loans on time don't improve their credit rating, because lenders don't report this to the credit bureaus. Talk about rigging the game in your favor!)

Payday lenders are operating in bad faith. Since the state law permitting payday lending expired in 2001, many payday lenders have dubbed themselves "facilitators" for out-of-state banks, and continue to do business here. And now they have gotten some state legislators to introduce last-minute "reform" legislation stacked with even more industry-friendly loopholes. Legislation must not be fast-tracked through the General Assembly without public discussion and thoughtful consideration of alternatives that would provide consumers with fair, affordable credit and lenders with a reasonable profit.

MINUTES

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE
August 28, 2002

The House Committee on Finance met at 8:30 a.m. on Wednesday, August 28, 2002 in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building. The following members were present: Chairmen Allen, Buchanan, and Wainwright; Vice-Chairs Hill and Jarrell; and Representatives Alexander, Blust, Capps, Cox, Decker, Dedmon, Eddins, Edwards, Gibson, Gray, Hackney, Hurley, Johnson, McCombs, McMahan, Morris, Pope, Rayfield, Weiss, Willingham, Womble, and Cunningham.. Staff persons present included Trina Griffin, Martha Walston, Richard Bostic, Canaan Huie, Martha Harris, and Committee Assistants Nancy Brantley, Blinda Edwards, Joyce Harris, and Glenda Jones. The Agenda and Visitor Registration Sheet are attached and made a part of these minutes. (Refer to Attachments 1 and 2).

Representative Wainwright called the meeting to order and introduced the Pages, Gary Quiller of Wake County, and Joshua Freeman of Granville County, and Sergeants-at-Arms, Dusty Rhodes, Walter Spell, Bob Fowler, and Bill Freeman. The committee considered the following bills.

SENATE BILL 1146, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT CONCERNING VOLUNTARY SATELLITE ANNEXATION BY VARIOUS MUNICIPALITIES. Representative Buchanan was recognized to speak on the bill. The bill would allow the Cities of Claremont, Concord, Conover, Newton, Sanford, and Southport, and the Towns of Maiden, Midland, Swansboro, and Warsaw to annex satellite areas without meeting one of the five standards required for voluntary satellite annexation. The named cities and towns would not have to meet the standard that limits the size of the area within the satellite corporate limits. Representative Gibson moved for a favorable report. The bill was given a favorable report. The Committee Report, Bill, and Bill Analysis are included in Attachment 3.

The next item for discussion was HOUSE BILL 1726, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE CONSTRUCTION AND THE FINANCING, WITHOUT APPROPRIATIONS FROM THE GENERAL FUND, OF CERTAIN CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS PROJECTS OF THE CONSTITUENT INSTITUTIONS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA. Representative Allen presented the bill to the committee. The bill authorized the construction of numerous projects by the University of North Carolina. The projects were financed through revenue bonds and special obligation bonds, not appropriations from the General Fund. Representative Allen moved to amend the bill on page 2, line 34. (Refer to Attachment 4). This was a request from Representative Haire to include the Student Recreation Center as part of the capital improvement projects for Western Carolina University totaling $11,500,000. Representative Allen moved for the adoption of the amendment. Representative Edwards asked if this appropriation had come through the Board of Governors. Dwayne Pinkney, Associate Vice President for Finance for the University of North Carolina responded that the appropriation had not come through the Board of Governors and the board would need to approve this project. Representative Edwards asked if this was a change from the normal procedure. Rob Nelson, Associate Vice President for Finance for the University of North Carolina, stated that the campuses were asked to submit their projects to the board for the fiscal year. They were asked to submit an 18-month schedule of those projects that would start construction during the fiscal period. This project's time schedule was on the cusp, early July of the next fiscal year. The Board considered these projects in February or March and drew the line at June 30. That was why it was not included in their package. If the committee decided to add this project, the University would seek the approval of the Board of Governors. Representative Haire was present and responded to questions from the members. He stated that this amendment met the same criteria as the other liquidated projects in the bill. The reason for bringing the bill forward at this time, was to allow Western University to move along with the project. In the event the next legislative session was an extended session, this project would not be delayed. Representative Pope asked what was the source of funds for the student recreation center at Western Carolina. Mr. Nelson stated that Western Carolina had represented to the Board that the project was supported by student debt service fee. Representative Allen asked if this amendment would take some of the power from the university system. Mr. Nelson said it would not. Representative Blust asked why there were no projects for NC A&T and the UNCG. Mr. Nelson responded that UNCG and A&T had projects that were considered in 2001. UNCG had a project for a parking deck and A&T had three projects. Over a two to three-year period, all 16 campuses come through this process. Representative Willingham noted that some of the funds were coming from the general fund, and he wanted to know where the other funds were coming from. Mr. Pinkney responded that there were projects in the package that the campuses would request from the General Assembly General Fund. Money from the General Fund supported the operating cost of those facilities, and those facilities were used for academic purposes. The approval of the bill today, would not obligate the General Assembly in any way to fund those requests that would be coming forth over the life of these projects. The committee adopted the amendment.

The committee continued the discussion of the bill. Representative Pope asked how much of the overhead receipts are obligated and for how long. Mr. Nelson responded that the funds are obligated at an estimate of $9.5 million a year for those projects that are supported by overhead receipts. The availability projection for next year is $126 million, the amendment in the House budget takes away $10 million. Ninety percent of the funds are available after you commit the debt service as authorized by this bill. Jim Newlin of Fiscal Research stated that the committed debt service at NC State and Chapel Hill, which represented the majority of overhead receipts, was $10.1 million annually. In this bill, at those universities, the proposed debt service once you get three or four years down the road, would be $13.7 million per year. If this bill passed, he estimated that just under $24 million dollars a year would be obligated from overhead receipts. He stated that the $10.1 million were existing debt agreements. Representative Buchanan moved for a favorable report of the Proposed Committee Substitute as amended, and an unfavorable report for the original bill. The committee voted in favor of the motion. The Committee Report, PCS, Bill Analysis, and Fiscal Note are included in Attachment 5.

HOUSE BILL 1665, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO AMEND TAX LAWS RELATED TO INTERSTATE AIR COURIERS. This bill made numerous changes to tax laws regarding interstate air couriers including the following: a new definition of "hub" for sales tax purposes; and an extension of the Bill Lee Act until January 1, 2010 for certain interstate air couriers. Representative Buchanan moved for the adoption of the Proposed Committee Substitute for discussion. Representative Gray was recognized to speak on the bill. He stated that the bill would extend and clarify provisions of the Bill Lee Act that deals with the Fed Ex project at the Greensboro Airport. The General Assembly must extend the time limits of the Bill Lee Act so that North Carolina could honor the commitment it made to FED Ex in 1998. Representative Wainwright recognized the public speakers to comment on the bill.

Lucy Smith from Summerfield spoke against additional incentives to Fed Ex. Roch Smith, Jr. of Greensboro spoke against the bill, particularly Section 3. This section would allow Fed Ex to exclude part-time jobs from the wage calculation. It would allow Fed Ex to pay less than the minimum wage standard and still qualify for tax credits. The intent of the Bill Lee Act was to insure that we spent incentives only on companies that provided jobs that paid a living wage. A court challenge had been filed, and there was a possibility that the court might reject the FAA's approval of this plan. Canaan Huie, Staff Attorney, asked if he could clarify a point made by Mr. Smith regarding the wage standard that was in the bill. The comment was made that interstate air couriers could exclude part-time job. Mr. Huie stated that the bill read that way in the first edition of the bill. The PCS before the committee states that a part-time job that offers health insurance will be considered to meet at least the applicable average weekly wage. The part-time job still must be considered in making the calculation. If the part-time job with health insurance had a wage that was less than the applicable average weekly wage, the applicable average weekly wage will be used in making the calculation. If the wage was higher, it will use the higher wage in making the calculation. If the part-time job did not have health insurance, the actual wage will be used in making the calculation. Mr. Walt Druce, of Guilford County, stated that the Hub would not generate more than 1500 jobs. Attorney David Clark of Greensboro, stated that there was no justification for the bill, and it should not be extended. This bill would exempt Fed Ex from the requirement to hire minorities, and competitive bidding. Ms. Christine Peeler of Greensboro, expressed concern for the quality of life, and stated that the extension was unfair to other businesses. Supporting documents to her comments are included in Attachment 6. Jean Black, a homeowner in Greensboro, spoke in opposition to the bill.

Chairman Wainwright stated his intent to continue the discussion of the bill after the session. Representative Pope suggested that the committee continue to meet now, rather than after the session. Representative Allen moved to extend the meeting time one hour past the normal adjournment time of 9:50 a.m. The motion was approved and the meeting continued.

Representative Gray was recognized and stated that he took offense to comments from Mr. Roch Smith regarding campaign contributions to members of the legislature from Fed Ex and its lobbyists. Mr. Smith apologized to Representative Gray and said that him comments were meant to question inaccurate lobbyist reports from Fed Ex lobbyists that do not show campaign contributions that were made to members of the legislature. This bill started with an attorney for Fed Ex who was not a registered lobbyist.

Representative Blust stated that a cost benefit analysis that realistically looked at what it was going to cost in noise mitigation in the future had not been done. Many houses would be bought through the process of law, and those costs were not being calculated. A cost estimate should be done for future costs to see if the Fed Ex project was worth doing.

The Chair recognized Representative Gray to explain the bill. Representative Gray stated that Fed Ex would not sign the lease to get started if the tax credits expire before they were able to get the project up and running. The project would have a major impact on the central part of North Carolina. This project had the potential to turn around some of the jobs that were lost in textile, furniture, tobacco, and our other manufacturing industries. Representatives Decker, Womble, Rayfield, Jarrell, and Cox spoke in support of the bill. Representative Capps spoke in opposition to the bill. Representative Pope felt that the Bill Lee Act violated the constitution. He was not in favor of special incentives to a few businesses. Businesses should come to North Carolina because it is a good place to do business, not because of this act. Representative Gray stated that Fed Ex would have 500 full-time positions and 1000 part-time jobs. Part-time employees would be given full-time benefits. One of the reasons Fed Ex picked Greensboro, was the number of colleges in the Greensboro area. Fed Ex hoped to get college students as part-time workers.

Representative Weiss noted that the Fiscal Note stated that it was possible that modification to the wage standard would enable some companies not currently eligible for the Lee Act credits, to become eligible. She asked Sabra Faires of the Department of Revenue about the fiscal impact if these companies were to become eligible. Ms. Faires said they did not have an estimate because the change applied to all companies and not just interstate couriers. If part-time benefits were provided, they would fall into the same category. Representative Weiss did not support the bill.

Representative Womble and Representative Decker moved for a favorable report of the PCS. The PCS was given a favorable report. The Committee Report, PCS, Bill Analysis, and Fiscal Note are included in Attachment 7.

The Chair asked the members of the NASCAR subcommittee to be on standby for a meeting later in the day.

The meeting adjourned at 10:45 a.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Blinda Edwards, Committee Assistant

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT CONCERNING VOLUNTARY SATELLITE ANNEXATION BY VARIOUS MUNICIPALITIES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 160A-58.1(b)(5) does not apply to the Cities of Claremont, Concord, Conover, Newton, Sanford, and Southport, and the Towns of Maiden, Midland, Swansboro, and Warsaw.

SECTION 2. This act is effective when it becomes law.

SENATE BILL 1146:
Various Municipal Satellite Annexations

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Senator. Allran
Date:	August 28, 2002	Summary by:	Martha Walston*
Version:	4th Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1146 would allow the Cities of Claremont, Concord, Conover, Newton, Sanford, and Southport and the Towns of Maiden, Midland, Swansboro, and Warsaw to annex satellite areas without meeting one of the five standards required for voluntary satellite annexation. The named cities and towns would not have to meet the standard that limits the size of the area within the satellite corporate limits.

CURRENT LAW AND BILL ANALYSIS:

G.S. 160A-58.1 governs the voluntary annexation by a municipality of noncontiguous property. All property owners in the satellite area may petition a city for voluntary annexation of the noncontiguous property if the property meets the following five standards:

1. The nearest point on the proposed satellite corporate limits must be not more than three miles from the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.
2. No point on the proposed satellite corporate limits may be closer to the primary corporate limits of another city than to the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.
3. The area must be so situated that the annexing city will be able to provide the same services within the proposed satellite corporate limits that it provides within its primary corporate limits.
4. If the area proposed for annexation, or any portion thereof, is a subdivision as defined in G.S. 160A-376, all of the subdivision must be included.
5. The area within the proposed satellite corporate limits, when added to the area within all other satellite corporate limits, may not exceed ten percent (10%) of the area within the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.

The cities of Hickory, New Bern, Statesville, Kenly, Troy, Mt. Airy, Mooresville, Marion, Oxford, and Rockingham and the Towns of Calabash, Catawba, Dallas, Godwin, Louisburg, Mocksville, Pembroke, Rutherfordton, and Waynesville have already eliminated the 5th standard.

Senate Bill 1146 would add the Cities of Claremont, Concord, Conover, Newton, Sanford, and Southport and the Towns of Maiden, Midland, Swansboro, and Warsaw to the list of cities and towns that have eliminated the 5th standard.

HOUSE BILL 1726:
UNC Nonappropriated Capital

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Allen
Date:	August 27, 2002	Summary by:	Emily Johnson and Phyllis Pickett Staff Attorneys
Version:	First Edition

SUMMARY: House Bill 1726 authorizes the construction of numerous projects by The University of North Carolina. The projects will be financed through revenue bonds and special obligation bonds, not appropriations from the General Fund.

CURRENT LAW: There are two types of self-liquidating bonds that may be issued by the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina. Article 21 of Chapter 116 of the General Statutes authorizes the Board of Governors to issue revenue bonds for the types of projects enumerated in the article. The types of projects for which revenue bonds may be issued include educational buildings, dormitories, recreational facilities, dining facilities, student centers, health care buildings, parking decks, etc. The revenue bonds are payable from rentals, charges, fees, and other revenues generated by the facility. The bonds are not payable from tax revenues.

Article 3 of Chapter 116D of the General Statutes authorizes the Board of Governors to issue special obligation bonds payable with any sources of income or receipts of the Board of Governors or a constituent or affiliated institution, but not including tuition payments or appropriations from the General Fund from State revenues. The bond proceeds could be used for construction, improvement, and acquisition of any capital facilities located at UNC constituent and affiliated institutions. The bonds are not payable from tax revenues.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1. States the purpose of the act to authorize the construction and financing of the capital improvements projects at various constituent institutions of The University of North Carolina. The projects authorized by the bill would not be financed with funds appropriated from the State's General Fund; but may be financed with gifts, grants, receipts, self-liquidating indebtedness, other funds available to the constituent institutions, or a combination of any of those financing methods.

Section 2. Sets out the self-liquidating projects the Board of Governors plans to finance with revenue and/or special obligation bonds. Although the UNC revenue bond act in Chapter 116 does not require the enactment of an appropriation bill, the customary practice for UNC system revenue bond issues has been legislation that lists the specific projects to be financed and their costs.

Section 3. Sets out seven additional capital improvements projects and authorizes the financing of some of the costs of those projects with revenue and/or special obligation bonds. The seven projects set out in this section were previously authorized for construction in S.L. 2000-3 as part of the earlier general obligation bond program.

Section 4. Authorizes the Director of the Budget, at the request of the Board of Governors, to authorize cost increases or decreases, or changes in the method of financing for the projects authorized by the bill. The Director of the Budget may consult with the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations, but consultation is not required.

Section 5. The UNC special obligation bond act requires that the specific projects and their costs be set forth in legislation approved by the General Assembly and that the maximum amount of special obligation bonds to be issued to finance the specific projects listed be stated. Sections 2 and 3 set forth the specific projects and their costs. This section expressly states that the maximum principal amount of special obligation bonds to be issued shall not exceed the amounts listed in Sections 2 and 3 plus $6 million for related additional costs for which bond proceeds are routinely used, such as issuance expenses, funding of reserve funds, and capitalized interest.

Section 6. The bill is effective when it becomes law.

The average operating cost for these eight buildings is $11.9 million over the next twenty years.

Comments to the NC House Finance Committee, August 28, 2002

As President of the Piedmont Quality of Life Coalition, I represent over 30,000 people living in thousands of homes directly in the flight path of a FedEx air and truck cargo hub – people whose nights would become nightmares with 126 flight operations during the hours of Midnight to 6:00AM. I also represent thousands of citizens in the greater Piedmont Triad who are concerned about what a nighttime air and truck cargo hub will do to our quality of life:

1) Our area is borderline for being in non-attainment for Air Quality;
2) We are at the headwaters of the Cape Fear River Basin and are experiencing the fifth year of drought which has brought our water table dangerously low;
3) The Piedmont Triad Airport is situated right in the High Point and the Greensboro watershed. We know that other airports (viz., Baltimore, Cleveland, etc.) have been cited for toxic pollutant run-off into nearby waters. If that happened here, our water supply could be compromised.

But we are here to talk about tax incentives for a multi-billion dollar company, while our state's budget shortfalls are well known to you.

Members of the Finance Committee: We are being played for suckers. FedEx is not investing a cent in our community. The $300 Million dollar sorting facility is being paid for through the sale of bonds. FedEx will pay rent. The unnecessary third runway will be paid for with our federal, state, and local tax dollars. NCDOT dollars, collected from taxes we pay on gasoline, etc., will pay to move a recently built highway (Bryan Boulevard) for FedEx. Those good citizens, whose homes, health, and quality of life are in jeopardy from this project, have been abandoned by the state and county to whom they pay taxes, and ignored by commercial developers anxious to make money off the "distribution centers," a.k.a. warehouses, to be built near the airport. Good, productive citizens, who have faithfully paid their state and local taxes, are now being betrayed and asked to be sacrificial lambs for this project.

But look what may happen: In Louisville, Kentucky, where there is a UPS cargo hub, that cargo company continued to bully state officials for more tax incentives after they were already there. In other words, the tax bite may not be over once FedEx is here. In Louisville, UPS kept threatening to pull up stakes and leave if their demands were not met. (See Wall Street Journal article, 4-24-98.) UPS could not get enough young college students to work the graveyard shift. (Strong young men are the preferred employees for these kinds of heavy package lifting jobs. These jobs would not be suitable, either because of job qualifications or wages, for many of our laid off textile workers, as has been suggested.) So, to appease UPS, the state of Kentucky came up with the idea of building "UPS University:" State officials voted to fund the university and pressured teachers from the local colleges to provide evening classes for college students/hub workers at this "UPS University" so the students could work the night shift. The university had special dormitories constructed so that hub workers could sleep during the day. You may have read about this in the Time magazine series on Corporate Welfare in November, 1998. (Time, 11-9-98, p. 49)

But that was not enough for UPS. They continued to threaten to leave and asked for more economic/tax incentives, including a break on the corporate income tax!

Sound familiar? Once you go down that path with these corporate robbers, at taxpayer expense, you may find yourselves going down a slippery slope. FedEx has been guaranteed by the Airport Authority that they will not have to pay for any required noise mitigation. Neither will FedEx have to pay property tax or sales tax on $70 Million worth of sorting/conveyor belt equipment in the hub. And perhaps the biggest insult to all those good companies who pay taxes on their property and equipment, and to all citizens who pay taxes on their cars and personal property, FedEx seeks to avoid paying tax on their fleet of 63 planes located at PTIA.

Assured of tax incentives from our state (and its taxpayers), FedEx turned around and offered to pay $200 Million for the right to name the Washington Redskin's stadium "FedEx Field." (The Washington Post, 10-28-99)

An answer exists, and that is to demand that, if FedEx wants to enjoy all that being in our state has to offer, they should locate their air and truck cargo hub in the Global TransPark at Kinston which was designed for such a purpose. We should not be paying them to rape beautiful, productive Guilford County. We should honor the intent of the Bill Lee Act, which is to encourage development in counties where the need is. The Global TransPark at Kinston is the place.

When UPS Demanded Workers, Louisville Did the Delivering

Even in a Strong Economy, Kentucky Wasn't Willing To Lose a Big Employer

College for Night-Shift Staff

By Greg Jaffe
And Douglas A. Blackmon
Staff Reporters of The Wall Street Journal

LOUISVILLE, Ky. – Last fall, United Parcel Service of America Inc. was feeling squeezed. Its $6 billion air-freight business was growing rapidly and would soon outstrip capacity for the nightly avalanche of packages from around the world. Meanwhile, with record-low unemployment here, workers were scarce, and prospects for expanding operations looked bleak.

Louisville itself also was deceptively vulnerable. Despite a robust economy, UPS was the driving force in the city's growth. "Losing UPS would be an economic disaster," says J.D. Nichols, a prominent real-estate developer here.

Could UPS expand and stay, or would it leave?

The Crucial Consideration

Over the next several months, UPS and Louisville played a tense poker game, for an unusual pot. UPS didn't want just the usual tax breaks and roads – which it eventually got to the tune of $120 million to $140 million. The company, which now employs 15,000 people here, half of them at its existing air-freight hub, also wanted something even more valuable: workers. Without 6,000 additional employees, and, in particular, 3,000 to staff UPS's most-critical – and hardest-to-fill – night shift, the company couldn't expand. But Louisville seemed to have no workers to offer.

The path to the unconventional solution that UPS and Louisville hammered out was a cliffhanger of threats and counterthreats. The deal finally came together following what might have been an enormous bluff by Atlanta-based UPS – a bluff that Kentucky's Gov. Paul Patton ultimately could not bring himself to call. The saga illustrates not only how companies' demands have changed in recent years as their need for workers has increased, but also how they can milk states for incentive packages even in a full-employment econ-

Last October, UPS quietly prepared its first move. It proffered an unusual invitation to two officials from Greater Louisville Inc., the chamber of commerce, and Mr. Nichols, a major contributor to the governor, to attend a presentation at the company's airline headquarters here. At the meeting, consultants from William H. Mercer Inc. tried to answer the question posed by UPS: Could Louisville supply the workers needed to staff a new $1 billion facility the company was planning?

Their answer was a resounding no.

Message Sent and Received

Louisville officials angrily argued that the study was biased, but they knew that their protests didn't matter. "There is no doubt UPS was trying to send us a message," says Steve Higdon, who heads economic development for the chamber, "and we got it."

A decade ago, UPS had no trouble finding thousands of workers to unload, sort and reload 800,000 parcels every night here. It didn't even advertise jobs in the local newspaper. "I would yearn for those days again," says Amy Whitley, UPS's human-resources director here.

By the early 1990s, though, UPS was resorting to increasingly desperate measures to fill its night shifts. It started bus service between its hub and impoverished sections of Louisville and rural Kentucky. It paid $1,200 bonuses to employees who brought in new workers and even recruited high-school students, offering them college-level classes at the hub if they worked the late-afternoon shift.

But as UPS lured more workers, it lost them at an alarming pace; the night hours, especially, were a problem despite starting pay of $8.50 an hour. By last year, the average stay of Louisville's hub employees dropped to just nine weeks. And the percentage of student employees – whom UPS prefers for late-night jobs – had fallen below 15%.

Grim Forecast

When the Mercer consultants unfurled their study last fall, they made it clear that things weren't going to improve. They predicted that because of Louisville's 3.5% unemployment rate and stagnant population growth, UPS would struggle endlessly to find even the 7,500 workers needed at its existing hub.

But UPS didn't want to leave Louisville, where it had already invested heavily in buildings, business relationships and a trained work force. Yet it wanted to put as much pressure as it could on state and local officials to assemble an attractive incentives package, including a major commitment to help find workers.

One major bone of contention: The parcel-delivery giant had long been irritated because local universities and city officials hadn't helped hire college students. "They weren't fully educated to the value of our jobs," Ms. Whitley says.

So UPS had a calculated strategy in which it would use all its political resources, says Doug Kuelpman, its public-affairs manager in Louisville and lead negotiator on the hub.

First, UPS sought to rattle Louisville with the Mercer report. The company invited to the Mercer meeting three business leaders: Doug Cobb, the chamber's president; his deputy, Mr. Higdon, a former UPS executive; and, most important, Mr. Nichols, who sat on the board of the airport authority and championed a $700 million airport expansion put together almost entirely at UPS's behest. "You know he's going to pick up the phone and do something," Mr. Kuelpman says.

Meanwhile, UPS sent signals to Gov. Patton's chief of staff, Andrew "Skipper" Martin, whom Mr. Kuelpman had know for years, that it was considering leaving Louisville and that it had visited other sites.

The stakes were huge on Kentucky's side of the table, too. UPS's hub was a bright spot in the state's manufacturing economy, which had been stagnant in the 1980s. The hub not only created jobs but also served as a magnet for a new logistics industry. In the past two years, seven computer-assembly and -repair companies, which need to ship and receive parts quickly, clustered around the hub. Without UPS, they would probably leave. So would the pharmaceutical industry.

Growing Concern

Following the consultants' presentation, concern over UPS grew quickly. The company was rumored to be looking at sites in Nashville, Tenn.; Philadelphia; and Columbus, Ohio. City and state officials misinterpreted a letter from UPS that said the company didn't support extensions of Louisville's runways.

"That letter was extremely shocking," says Mr. Nichols, who says local UPS operations officials had assured him that runway extensions were essential if the company were to expand its hub here.

UPS, in fact, never wanted the runway extensions. Although UPS's Mr. Kuelpman says he never desired any misunderstanding, the confusion was never cleared up. And some in Kentucky still view the letter as a sign of a threat.

In early November, at a $1,000-a-plate fund-raiser for Gov. Patton in Mr. Nichols' home, Mr. Nichols cornered the governor with the news that UPS might leave, rumors that it had looked at other sites and the foreboding letter. As UPS's Mr. Kuelpman looked on, Mr. Nichols asked Gov. Patton: "You wouldn't want UPS to decide to leave Kentucky, would you?"

The governor quickly ordered his staff to devise a plan that would appease UPS.

In Louisville, Mr. Higdon and Mr. Cobb, the chamber of commerce president, were scratching out a possible strategy. Talking to Mr. Kuelpman following a chamber meeting, Mr. Cobb hit upon what seemed to be a bizarre idea – one that nonetheless would become the cornerstone of Kentucky's efforts. He suggested that the company build its own university. "He kind of smiled at that idea," Mr. Cobb recalls. "It seemed beyond realistic."

But nothing was out of bounds. Working with Mr. Nichols, the developer, the chamber drew up a preliminary plan for what it called in early drafts "UPS University."

For years, UPS had difficulty keeping college students working on the 11:30-p.m.-to-3:30-a.m. shift because they couldn't wake up in time for morning classes at the University of Louisville. At the proposed university, students would live in specially built dormitories that would help them sleep during the day. In the evening, they would attend classes taught by professors from the University of Louisville, a local community college and a state technical school. After classes, they would work the UPS graveyard shift.

UPS liked the idea, and so did the governor. He called the three Louisville institutions' presidents to a meeting with Mr. Kuelpman.

"The governor looked at us," recalls John Shumaker, the University of Louisville's president. "He said, 'UPS will have the workers they need, won't they?' "

The schools – and shortly thereafter, the Legislature – signed on to the plan, which will cost Kentucky about $15 million over the next decade. UPS had won one big hand, and it decided it could stay in Louisville. But it wanted more.

In mid-January, UPS presented Kentucky officials with a binder that outlined what it would take to keep the company here. The 3-inch-thick volume asked for an incentive package totaling $300 million that included funding for the overnight university, a reduction in the state's jet-fuel tax (which the Legislature approved last week) and a $100 million cash grant, knowledgeable people say.

"Solving the employment issue gets [Louisville] on the long list" of potential expansion sites, John Hindman, a UPS executive, told state officials when the company unveiled its proposal. "Economic-development incentives get you on the short list."

Gov. Patton countered with a $100 million package that included foreign-trade-zone and enterprise-zone tax breaks.

Shifting Demands

On Feb. 19, the two sides squeezed into a small conference room a few feet from the governor's office in Frankfort to hammer out a deal. UPS quickly dropped its demand for the $100 million grant. But in its place, it asked for access to incentives available through a program called the Kentucky Jobs Development Act, which offers tax breaks on corporate income taxes. State officials balked.

For three days, negotiators wrangled over the package. State officials argued that giving back more tax revenue would cut into money that counties needed to handle the growth the new hub would create. They also contended that the city and state had already invested $700 million in upgrading the airport. "We couldn't give much more and make the deal worthwhile," Mr. Higdon says.

On Feb. 20, the two sides met for 12 hours of talks. At the end, the UPS team walked away from the table. No deal.

The day got even worse for the Kentucky team. Gov. Patton's advisers decided to have him phone Thomas H. Weidemeyer, the executive running the airline operations from Atlanta. But before he could place the call, UPS's Mr. Hindman phoned from Louisville. The message: UPS was going to start taking bids from all comers for the hub unless Kentucky officials could come up with a richer deal.

Some state officials urged Gov. Patton to hold firm, saying the costs of changing cities would be too high for UPS. "There was no doubt in my mind they were bluffing," says one member of the Kentucky team. "There was no way they could accommodate their next-day air service [growth] unless they started construction by July."

Governor's Last Pitch

But Gov. Patton and his team had to make a quick decision. The governor decided to make one last pitch. He called UPS's Mr. Kuelpman and offered a five-minute presentation on why he thought the deal Kentucky was offering was fair to both sides. Waiting for Mr. Kuelpman's response, with his aides gathered silently nearby, the governor heard only silence. "Doug, are you there?" he asked.

A capitol secretary broke in, saying she had Mr. Kuelpman on the line. The original phone connection had been lost.

Gov. Patton repeated his spiel. But this time, when Mr. Kuelpman said the state's offer wasn't enough, the governor caved in. If all that was separating the two sides was the disagreement over the Kentucky Jobs Development money, he said, the state would open up those funds to UPS, say people knowledgeable about the negotiations. After a short pause, Mr. Kuelpman said: "We're closer than you think."

The two sides broke for the weekend. On the following Monday, Kentucky officials agreed to surrender an additional $35 million in tax breaks on corporate income taxes to seal the deal. UPS agreed to continue paying a portion of what would have been covered by the foreign-trade-zone tax breaks.

The day's events brought home a powerful lesson: Even in a strong economy, large companies often hold most of the cards.

"The reality was that we couldn't afford to lose this project," Louisville's Mr. Higdon says. "I don't like the incentives game. I wish we didn't have to give them. But we couldn't afford to lose the state's largest employer."

er Air-Bag Fray ecting System

Ford disclosed yesterday that the company will announce today a new system of ...ttach child-safety seats to vehicle ...ore securely. Ford said it will roduce the system by August or Septem- as a standard feature on Focus cars d Windstar minivans sold in the U.S. d Canada, and then expand it to its other odels.

Ford spokesman Terry Bresnihan uldn't say whether Ford's decision to ake its safety-seat announcement today s triggered by word of GM's air-bag ove. But, he said, "this is a very competve business in every aspect."

The federal government is expected soon issue requirements for systems to fasten ild-safety seats to vehicle seats. GM, hich already offers straps to secure safety ats, will announce a new metal bracket- system of its own after those requirents are issued, company officials said.

GM won't be the first to offer so-called mart air bags that automatically shut off hen a child-safety seat has been placed the front passenger seat. Mercedes-enz cars and its M Class vehicles come andard with such a system, which, like M's, turns off the front air bag but leaves e side bag activated. But the system Mercedes, a unit of DaimlerChrysler G, works only with safety seats that feare a special electronic tag detectable by e vehicle. Those seats are sold by the uto maker itself.

GM says its system will be able to sense l types of child-safety seats that the comany is aware of. An onboard computer, sing the sensors in the seat's hidden eleconic mat, will detect the pattern of pressure from above. The computer will decide hether the pressure seems to be coming om a child-safety seat or a person—and hen decide whether to shut off the air bag.

The pressure sensors will kick in when he air-bag system's weighing device determines that the occupant weighs between 66 pounds and 110 pounds. If the occupant weighs less than 66 pounds, the system assumes it is a child, and shuts off the air bag. If the occupant weighs more than 110 pounds, the system figures it is an adult, and keeps the air bag activated.

Bob Lange, GM's director of safety engineering, said GM's decision to publicize the technology reflects a realization by the company's top executives "that this is an area of competitive advantage. We think we do it better than anyone else, and we ought to start telling people about it."

In another competitive jab, GM officials said Mr. Zarella also will disclose today the results of an internal study that GM says shows its side air bags are less likely to injure small children than are some of its competitors' side air bags.

GM won't name the competitors whose bags it says are less effective. Ford offers side air bags on several of its models. Chrysler vehicles aren't available with side air bags or front-air-bag weight-detection devices. A DaimlerChrysler spokeswoman says the company is researching those technologies, but hasn't decided when it will add them to its lineup.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration is looking at the operation of side air bags.

Development-Deal Jobs Often Pay Below Average, Study Finds

By Rekha Balu
Staff Reporter of The Wall Street Journal

Local governments often give sweet deals to rich corporations to open a factory and create jobs in the name of economic development. But a study released yesterday shows that in Minnesota many of those subsidized jobs pay wages far below market rates.

The study by the Institute on Taxation and Economic Policy, a research arm of Washington-based Citizens for Tax Justice, analyzed about 525 deals in 1997 totaling nearly $176 million in loans, grants and tax-increment financing by cities and state agencies in Minnesota.

The report concluded that two-thirds of the deals were approved despite wages projected at 20% or more below local market levels for their industries. Statewide, about half actually paid wages that low. In the Twin Cities metropolitan area, three-fourths of the deals projected below-average wages.

Minnesota's Department of Trade and Economic Development contends that, had the study compared wages of subsidized and nonsubsidized workers at the same skill level, it would have found little difference in wages. The agency said that high-paying, tenured jobs skew the average.

The study found that half the subsidized wages pay less than $10 an hour; statewide, 31% of jobs pay less than that, the report states. And more than half of the job-takers are older than 30 years old, hardly entry level. About 65% of the subsidized jobs paid too little to keep a family from qualifying for Medicaid, and 25% for food stamps.

The study also said that incentives that don't mandate a floor for wages can promote bidding wars between cities, which it called a "zero-sum game."

A bidding war is "counterproductive," said Art Rolnick, director of research at the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, which decried incentives in a 1995 report. "It just moves jobs."

Considering that Minnesota governments agreed to pay subsidies equaling $100,000 or more per job in 38 cases, some critics, including the liberal Institute on Taxation and Economic Policy, question whether financial incentives provide a clear economic benefit.

For their part, cities and counties say the purpose of incentives and financial assistance isn't always job creation. More often, it is redeveloping abandoned land, cleaning up environmental disasters or historic preservation.

For example, about two years ago, Philip Morris Cos.' Kraft Foods Inc. wanted to expand its facility in New Ulm, Minn., and create an access road on the very site where the city wanted to build a public street. So the city set up a $330,000 tax-increment financing district, which routes the tax payment on the increased property value back to the district. One of the city's conditions: Kraft must create one new job, but with no wage requirements.

Kraft proposed one job at $8.99 an hour. That job actually paid $12.08 an hour—and 22 other jobs were elevated to higher wage levels because of the expansion.

But study co-author Greg LeRoy says without a correlation between wages and subsidies, taxpayers can't weigh the benefits against the costs.

"How can you justify expensive payments for mediocre jobs?" he asks, "especially in an era of low unemployment."

Triad, FedEx are not a good match

Hub would destroy quality of life, endanger safety of 12,000 residents

By Mark S. Miller
GUEST COLUMNIST

My View

I want to thank the Journal for allowing me to respond to the Aug. 21 editorial on the Federal Express hub, "Residents misdirect anger." In the editorial my three-minute talk at the Federal Aviation Administration hearing was characterized as having "raised some legitimate concerns but did so with so much passion and hyperbole that those concerns lost much of their appeal to impartial observers."

As a biomedical research scientist who has spent his career studying the effects of environmental agents on human health, I will not apologize for being passionate about a subject that concerns me greatly. The stakes involved — the environmental soundness of my community, especially given the unfettered development in the name of progress in many Piedmont communities — are too important to be left solely to the business community and to the media.

The business community and the media elite, [illegible]ding the Journal, are once again out of [illegible] as to what the citizens truly want. As for [illegible] the Journal calls hyperbole, that was my attempt to humanize the impact this proposed cargo hub will have on a very large area of west Guilford County. If that embarrasses you or makes you uncomfortable, good! Because the human impact is something that has been glossed over by the business and political interests.

BUILDING THE FEDERAL EXPRESS cargo hub will destroy the quality of life of neighbors and endanger the health and safety of the more than 3,000 homes within a 3-mile radius of Piedmont Triad International Airport — 12,000 men, women and children. It will devastate the social fabric of this entire community to fulfill the expansionist dreams of the airport authority and make the wealthiest members of our community a little more wealthy.

I reject the Journal's editorial stance that the close proximity of residential developments to the proposed new runway is all the fault of real-estate developers — our local government provided the zoning ordinances and the water and sewer lines to make residential development possible. Indeed, the local government was too short-sighted to hold the land for later airport expansion. It wanted as much money as it could get from real estate taxes and the businesses that support this community. Well, we are here with our local government's blessing, and it is [illegible]late to turn the clock back.

[illegible]ave seen the Web site of the expansion's [illegible]ractor, Greiner, extolling its construction of the FedEx cargo facility in Memphis and other cities. I also have used the Internet to obtain documentation that cites complaints of flawed, biased studies that favored airport expansion plans at the expense of their communities in places such as Indianapolis and Memphis that have FedEx air cargo hubs.

I DO NOT BELIEVE that the citizens of this community want to be the victims of another bogus study that averages airport noise over a 24-hour period. When Greiner and the FAA analyze the noise effects of this cargo hub, they should do so during the peak hours when the planes will be operating.

Telling small children who are awakened at night crying in their beds because they can't sleep and are frightened by the constant roar of overhead jet engines that the noise is not so bad if you average it out over a 24-hour period won't get them to sleep at 3 in the morning. Nor will it help when their school grades suffer, and their parents can't focus on their work the next day because they haven't had a good night's sleep in five days, five weeks, five months, five years.

Biomedical literature from just the last eight years cites more than 100 papers documenting the adverse effects that this type of noise has on human health, especially in children. Greiner and the FAA need to carefully consider this before making their decision — the theoretical economic benefits do not outweigh the costs to human health and welfare.

I am concerned about the level of air pollution that will be introduced in a county that has one of the worst air quality levels in North Carolina. We already have too many ozone alerts during the course of the year. Will we eventually reach a point where the youngest and oldest members of our community have to stay indoors all summer because the air quality is so bad?

I have concerns about safety. Sixty to 100 planes going in and out of the airport every night, six days a week are an accident waiting to happen. FedEx has had its share of accidents, which often occur within three miles of an airport. In this case, any accident that would occur would be in a heavily populated residential community, assuring the loss of life.

I am concerned about the increase in truck traffic on roads that are already heavily traveled and crowded, with the accompanying problems of noise and increased accidents. I am concerned about the location of a sorting facility less than a mile from a densely populated region, creating noise and excess light in the late evening and early morning hours. I am concerned about the effects on our natural resources — the destruction of the line of trees that create a natural sound barrier, and the increased use of our already overburdened water and sewage systems.

This is an inappropriate industry for this area given the proximity of the airport to western Greensboro, northern High Point, and the eastern and southern parts of Colfax. The community has not had any input into this decision, and when we had the chance to vote on a cargo hub several years ago we voted against it. No sane, rational person doing an unbiased, objective, independent study could find this project environmentally sound.

I AM NOT AN ENEMY to progress or economic development. The best investment that could be made is an investment in our children's education. If our state and local governments would take the incentive money that they are offering to FedEx and invest it instead in our schools and in the education of our young people, we could build a far more valuable resource than an air cargo hub — an educated, talented work force that would attract companies that need talent and offer careers, not night-time, shift work in warehouses.

The Triad's true asset is our geographic location and network of highways, not the airport. We will attract these types of businesses, which will offer jobs that will be a boon to our economy and allow us to preserve the quality of life that is dear to so many of us in the Piedmont, only if we can provide the proper infrastructure to support them — brainpower.

CORPORATE WELFARE

A TIME investigation uncovers how hundreds of companies get on the dole—and why it costs every working American the equivalent of two weeks' pay every year

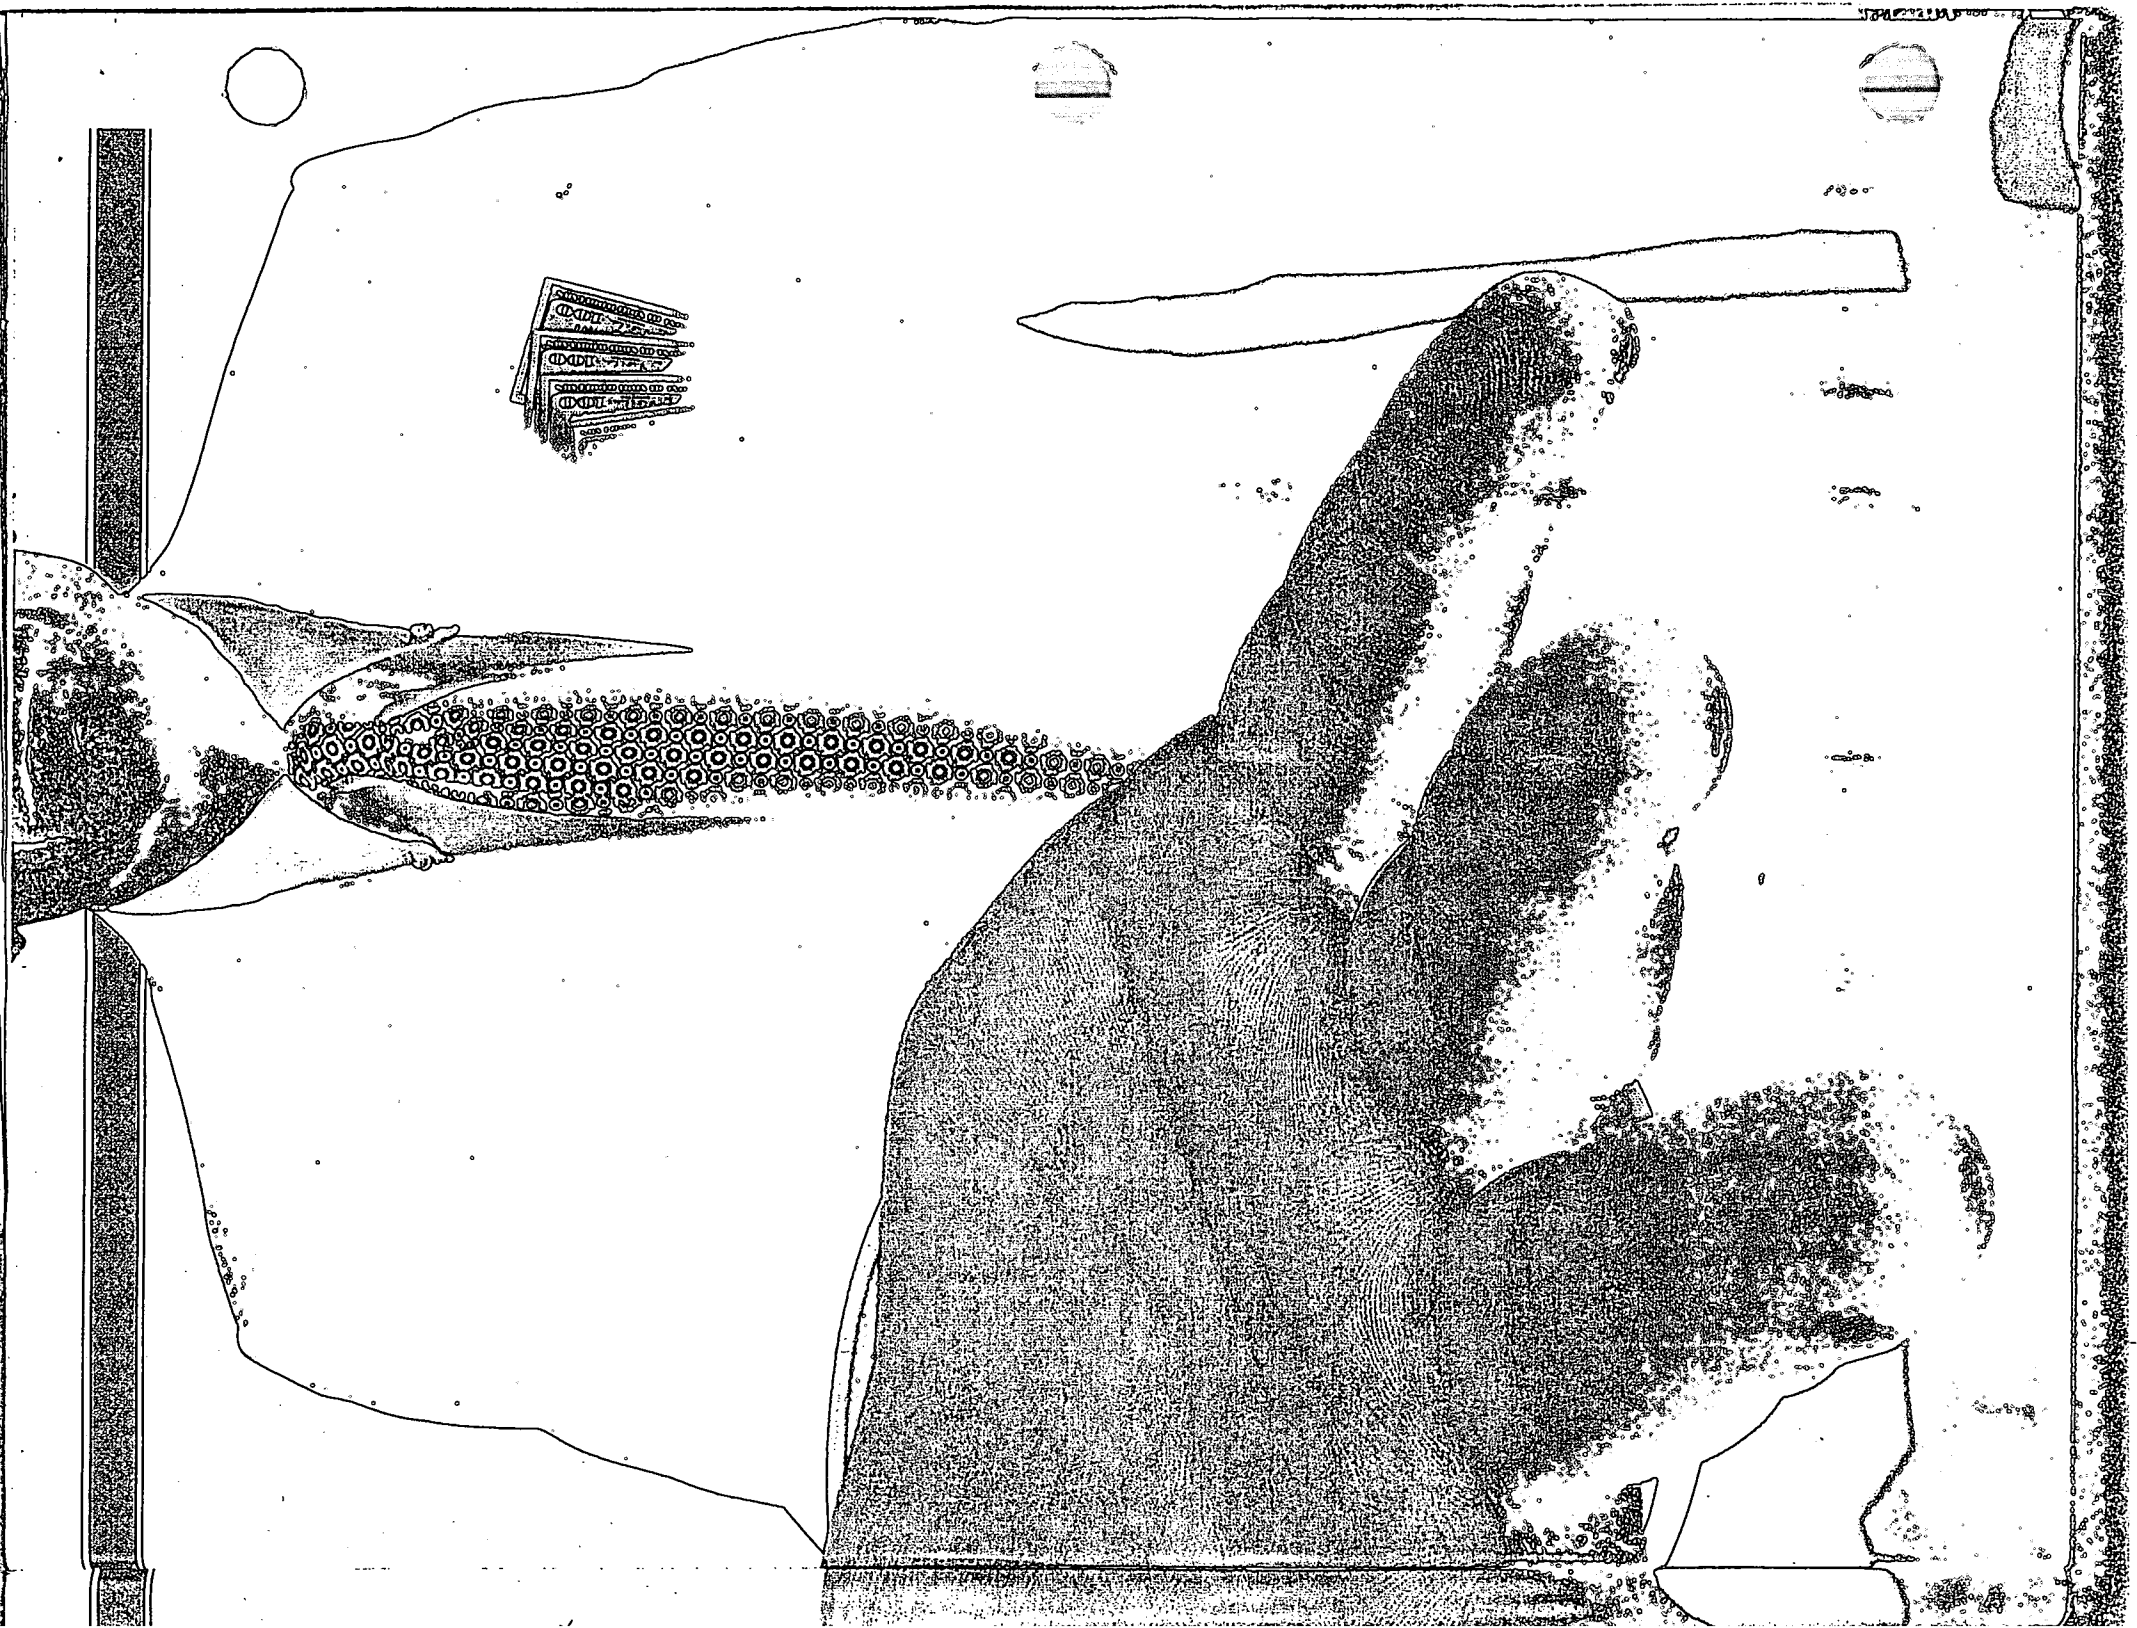
HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO PAY ONLY A QUARTER OF THE REAL ESTATE TAXES you owe on your home? And buy everything for the next 10 years without spending a single penny in sales tax? Keep a chunk of your paycheck free of income taxes? Have the city in which you live lend you money at rates cheaper than any bank charges? Then have the same city install free water and sewer lines to your house, offer you a perpetual discount on utility bills—and top it all off by landscaping your front yard at no charge?



Fat chance. You can't get any of that, of course. But if you live almost anywhere in America, all around you are taxpayers getting deals like this. These taxpayers are called corporations, and their deals are usually trumpeted as "economic development" or "public-private partnerships." But a better name is corporate welfare. It's a game in which governments large and small subsidize corporations large and small, usually at the expense of another state or town and almost always at the expense of individual and other corporate taxpayers.

Two years after Congress reduced welfare for individuals and families, this other kind of welfare continues to expand, penetrating every corner of the American economy. It has turned politicians into bribery specialists, and smart business people into con artists. And most surprising of all, it has rarely created any new jobs.

While corporate welfare has attracted critics from both the left and the right, there is no uniform definition. By TIME's definition, it is this: any action by local, state or federal government that gives a corporation or an entire industry a benefit not offered to others. It can be an outright subsidy, a grant, real estate, a low-interest loan or a government service. It can also be a tax break—a credit, exemption, deferral or deduction, or a tax rate lower than the one others pay.

During one of the most robust economic periods in o out $125 billion in corporate welfare, equivalent to all th

The rationale to curtail traditional welfare programs, such as Aid to Families with Dependent Children and food stamps, and to impose a lifetime limit on the amount of aid received, was compelling: the old system didn't work. It was unfair, destroyed incentive, perpetuated dependence and distorted the economy. An 18-month TIME investigation has found that the same indictment, almost to the word, applies to corporate welfare. In some ways, it represents pork-barrel legislation of the worst order. The difference, of course, is that instead of rewarding the poor, it rewards the powerful.

And it rewards them handsomely. The Federal Government alone shells out $125 billion a year in corporate welfare, this in the midst of one of the more robust economic periods in the nation's history. Indeed, thus far in the 1990s, corporate profits have totaled $4.5 trillion—a sum equal to the cumulative paychecks of 50 million working Americans who earned less than $25,000 a year, for those eight years.

That makes the Federal Government America's biggest sugar daddy, dispensing a range of giveaways from tax abatements to price supports for sugar itself. Companies get government money to advertise their products; to help build new plants, offices and stores; and to train their workers. They sell their goods to foreign buyers that make the acquisitions with tax dollars supplied by the U.S. government; engage in foreign transactions that are insured by the government; and are excused from paying a portion of their income tax if they sell products overseas. They pocket lucrative government contracts to carry out ordinary business operations, and government grants to conduct research that will improve their profit margins. They are extended partial tax immunity if they locate in certain geographical areas, and they may write off as business expenses some of the perks enjoyed by their top executives.

The justification for much of this welfare is that the U.S. government is creating jobs. Over the past six years, Congress appropriated $5 billion to run the Export-Import Bank of the United States, which subsidizes companies that sell goods abroad. James A. Harmon, president and chairman, puts it this way: "American workers ... have higher-quality, better-paying jobs, thanks to Eximbank's financing." But the numbers at the bank's five biggest beneficiaries—AT&T, Bechtel, Boeing, General Electric and McDonnell Douglas (now a part of Boeing)—tell another story. At these companies, which have accounted for about 40% of all loans, grants and long-term guarantees in this decade, overall employment has fallen 38%, as more than a third of a million jobs have disappeared.

The picture is much the same at the state and local level, where a different kind of feeding frenzy is taking place. Politicians stumble over one another in the rush to arrange special deals for select corporations, fueling a growing economic war among the states. The result is that states keep throwing money at companies that in many cases are not serious about moving anyway. The companies are certainly not reluctant to take the money, though, which is available if they simply utter the word relocation. And why not? Corporate executives, after all, have a fiduciary duty to squeeze every dollar they can from every locality waving blandishments in their face.

State and local governments now give corporations money to move from one city to another—even from one building to another—and tax credits for hiring new employees. They supply funds to train workers or pay part of their wages while they are in training, and provide scientific and engineering assistance to solve workplace technical problems. They repave existing roads and build new ones. They lend money at bargain-basement interest rates to erect plants or buy equipment. They excuse corporations from paying sales and property taxes and relieve them from taxes on investment income.

There are no reasonably accurate estimates on the amount of money states shovel out. That's because few want you to know. Some say they maintain no records. Some say they don't know where the files are. Some say the information is not public. All that's certain is that the figure is in the many billions of dollars each year—and it is growing, when measured against the subsidy per job.

In 1989 Illinois gave $240 million in economic incentives to Sears, Roebuck & Co. to keep its corporate headquarters and 5,400 workers in the state by moving from Chicago to suburban Hoffman Estates. That amounted to a subsidy of $44,000 for each job.

In 1991 Indiana gave $451 million in economic incentives to United Airlines to build an aircraft-maintenance facility that would employ as many as 6,300 people. Subsidy: $72,000 for each job.

In 1993 Alabama gave $253 million in economic incentives to Mercedes-Benz to build an automobile-assembly plant near Tuscaloosa and employ 1,500 workers. Subsidy: $169,000 for each job.

And in 1997 Pennsylvania gave $307 million in economic incentives to Kvaerner ASA, a Norwegian global engineering and construction company, to open a shipyard at the former Philadelphia Naval Shipyard and employ 950 people. Subsidy: $323,000 for each job.

This kind of arithmetic seldom adds up. Let's say the Philadelphia job pays $50,000. And each new worker pays $6,700 in local and state taxes. That means it will take nearly a half-century of tax collections from each individual to earn back the money granted to create his or her job. And that assumes all 950 workers will be recruited from outside Philadelphia and will relocate in the city, rather than move from existing jobs within the city, where they are already paying taxes.

All this is in service of a system that may produce jobs in one city or state, thus fostering the illusion of an uptick in employment. But it does not create more jobs in the nation as a whole. Market forces do that, and that's why 10 million jobs have been created since 1990. But most of those jobs have been created by small- and medium-size companies, from high-tech start-ups to franchised cleaning services. FORTUNE 500 companies, on the other hand, have erased more jobs than they have created this past decade, and yet they are the biggest beneficiaries of corporate welfare.

To be sure, some economic incentives are handed out for a seemingly worthwhile public purpose. The tax breaks that companies receive to locate in inner cities come to mind. Without them, companies might not invest in those neighborhoods. However well intended, these subsidies rarely produce lasting results. They may provide short-term jobs but not long-term employment. And in the end, the costs outweigh any benefits.

And what are those costs? The equivalent of nearly two weekly paychecks from every working man and woman in America—extra money that would stay in their pockets if it didn't go to support some business venture or another.

If corporate welfare is an unproductive end game, why does it keep growing in a period of intensive government cost cutting? For starters, it has good p.r. and an army of bureaucrats working to expand it. A corporate-welfare bureaucracy of an estimated 11,000 organizations and agencies has grown up, with access to city halls, statehouses, the Capitol and the White House. They conduct seminars, conferences and training sessions. They have their own trade associations. They publish their own journals and newsletters. They create attractive websites on the Internet. And they never call it "welfare." They call it "economic incentives" or "empowerment zones" or "enterprise zones."

Whatever the name, the result is the same. Some companies receive public services at reduced rates, while all others pay the full cost. Some companies are excused from paying all or a portion of their taxes due, while all others must pay the full amount imposed by law. Some companies receive grants, low-interest loans and other subsidies, while all others must fend for themselves.

In the end, that's corporate welfare's greatest flaw. It's unfair. One role of government is to help ensure a level playing field for people and businesses. Corporate welfare does just the opposite. It tilts the playing field in favor of the largest or the most politically influential or most aggressive businesses. In the next story, and those that follow in the coming weeks, you will meet the beneficiaries of corporate welfare—and the people who pay for it. ■

Shrewd companies are increasingly pitting politicians against one another in a quest for bigger and better tax breaks. Yet rarely do these subsidies create jobs, and the incentives sometimes rob government coffers of funds that could be used to improve services for you and your neighbors

ARKANSAS

Ever Try to Drink a Potato Chip?

THE WATER IN EVANSVILLE, ARK., STINKS—literally.

The town sits smack atop a geological formation where sulfur, natural gas and other petroleum products mingle with the groundwater. The result is a nasty mix that is unusable to residents. Many of the town's wells are also contaminated with potentially deadly E. coli pollutants. So a commodity most Americans take for granted simply does not exist in Evansville. "My five-year-old daughter doesn't know what it's like to get water out of a faucet," says resident Helen Martin. For the past five years, 200 families in this hamlet in the northwestern part of the state have sought $750,000 from the Arkansas Economic Development Commission for a new water system. Sorry, comes the reply, there is no money in the budget.

City water in Jonesboro, Ark., doesn't stink. In fact, even wastewater flowing out of the big, new Frito-Lay plant there runs through an expanded treatment facility in order to minimize environmental problems. That expansion was part of a multimillion-dollar incentive package the AEDC gave Frito-Lay to lure the company to Jonesboro. Frito-Lay is not exactly needy. It is a profitable subsidiary of PepsiCo Inc., the giant soft-drink and snack-food company that had sales of $20.9 billion in 1997.

Evansville is one of the minor casualties in the war among the states over jobs. Money is lavished on would-be employers even at the expense of some citizens' basic needs. But in the minds of state politicians and economic developers, this is a small price to pay. From a purely economic point of view, they are dead wrong. But economics and politics are seldom a rational mix.

Jonesboro got its plant after the community and state agreed to enlarge the sewage-treatment facility and provide an array of other economic incentives. Exactly how much aid was pumped into Frito-Lay to build the plant is not easy to find out. A Frito-Lay representative said the information was "proprietary." An AEDC representative, Michaela Johnson, was equally secretive, saying, "That whole project's confidential. We can't divulge that."

TIME can. Based on reports published when Jonesboro was recruiting Frito-Lay, and on more recent information obtained from other sources, TIME estimates the value of the Frito-Lay aid package at more than $10 million. And that is in addition to $104.7 million in industrial-development revenue bonds issued by the city of Jonesboro to build and equip the potato-chip plant. The other incentives include the 140-acre plant site, a rail spur, road improvements, a construction grant, tax credits for new employees and a 20% discount on sewer bills for the next 15 years. That sewage-treatment plant, by the way, cost $7 million and is large enough to accommodate a second city the size of Jonesboro (pop. 50,000). So for each of the 165 workers at the plant, the government has invested $61,000—which is a lot of chips.

Lynn Markley, a spokeswoman for Frito-Lay, says the company selects the general region where it wants to locate a new plant. It then prepares a sort of shopping list of requirements for the facility and contacts states about incentives.

"When we need to ... build a plant, say, in Jonesboro, [we] look at a 150-mile radius to the center of the market," says Markley. "We knew we needed a plant in the Tennessee-Arkansas-Missouri area. So with very detailed information, we contacted those states and gave them very specific details on what we needed ... [And] based on that, the states compete."

Meanwhile, in Evansville the campaign for clean water goes on, and the citizens cope as best they can. Says Janie Watkins, who along with her husband runs the town's only grocery store: "If we take a bath, we don't wash clothes. If we wash clothes, you can't take a bath. Most people get a bath every day. We can't ... You get [a bath] every two days or three days, you're lucky."

Christina Seward, mother of three small children, says her boys love to drink water. "But I don't have to tell them not to drink this water," she says. "The taste, the dirt—you wouldn't want to drink it. You put water in a glass, and you can see the dirt settle to the bottom. We don't know what's in it—we just know it's not safe."

Indeed, the Sewards' well was tested by the Arkansas Department of Health in 1996 and found to be contaminated with particles of fecal matter "too numerous to count." The Sewards use well water only to wash clothes, but not light-colored articles. The water turns "white things yellow," says Seward.

In order to drink, cook, bathe and wash, residents haul bottled water from nearby towns or load up on barrels from natural springs in the hills above Evansville. Since their campaign for water began, residents have appealed repeatedly to the state to provide a share of the $1.5 million project. "We've done everything they wanted us to do," says Kaye Trentham, who operates K.T.'s Café. "But we still don't have water."

The Evansvilles of America are growing in number as the job wars intensify. Since the 1980s, states have added one economic-incentive program after another to retain existing corporations and lure new ones. Even states that once refused to compete are reversing course. North Carolina, which had long shunned big-ticket deals, abruptly shifted gears last summer and enacted the Economic Opportunity Act of 1998. The first two beneficiaries:

- Federal Express, the global delivery service with headquarters in Memphis, Tenn., that had 1997 revenues of $11.5 billion, will receive $115 million in state tax concessions and other economic benefits to build a hub at Greensboro, N.C.
- Nucor, a company based in Charlotte, N.C., that operates steel mills in half a dozen states and had 1997 revenues of $4.2 billion, will receive $155 million in state economic assistance to build a mini-steel mill in Hertford County in the northeastern corner of the state.

Why has North Carolina joined in the great scramble to give away incentives? The same reason all the other combatants are in it: jobs. Or at least job announcements. As John Hood, president of the John Locke Foundation (a Raleigh, N.C., public policy institute that advocates individual liberty, a free-market economy and limited government), put it, "Creating jobs is not the goal of these [economic-incentive] programs. The goal of these programs is to create job announcements."

And create them they do.

Said David N. Dinkins (then mayor of New York City) in October 1993, on $31 million in incentives awarded to Kidder, Peabody Group Inc.: "The decision by Kidder, Peabody demonstrates in dramatic fashion that our job-retention strategies are working."

Said Jim Rout, mayor of Tennessee's Shelby County (where Memphis is located), in July 1995, on more than $20 million in incentives given to Birmingham Steel Corp.: "These are not expenses—they're investments. These kinds of investments will pay off... It represents skilled, well-paying jobs."

Said Frank O'Bannon, Governor of Indiana, in March 1997, on a $1.7 million tax abatement to Crown Equipment Corp. for a plant in Greencastle, Ind.: "With at least 200 good-paying new jobs, this expansion will be an important addition not only to Putnam County's economy but to all of west-central Indiana."

Said Christine Todd Whitman, Governor of New Jersey, in May 1997, on millions of dollars passed around to four large businesses under the state's new Business Employment Incentive Program: "This is what the BEIP was meant to do, create jobs and increase opportunities for New Jersey families ... This is ... a red-letter day for jobs [in New Jersey]."

Don't believe it.

Jobs are created, of course, by the American economy—not by this process.

TIME's investigation has established that almost without exception, local and state politicians have doled out tens of billions of taxpayer dollars to businesses that are in fact eliminating rather than creating jobs. Some of the money has gone to prop up individual companies and avoid the consolidation within industries that an unfettered market would bring about. Some has been pumped into profitable companies, making them more profitable. Some has been awarded to companies that have threatened to move if they don't get it. Some has been diverted to businesses that local politicians have somehow divined will be more successful than their competitors. And last, some has gone to entire industries that are shrinking.

Witness a $300,000 grant to Anchor Glass Container Corp. last year, described by Pennsylvania Governor Tom Ridge's administration as part of an effort "to retain 275 existing jobs" at the firm's Connellsville, Pa., plant.

Retain 275 jobs?

A decade earlier, in 1987, Anchor Glass employed 9,900 people nationwide—about 1,000 of them in Pennsylvania. By the time the company began seeking economic incentives, more than half the work force had vanished as employment plunged to 4,500. Two plants were closed in Pennsylvania. And just a few months earlier, the Connellsville plant had completed another round of layoffs, bringing the total for the year to 200. The company was telling the state all it needed to know about what kind of future it saw in Connellsville.

Cities go to extremes to keep jobs in the manufacturing sector, partially because they pay more than most service jobs. Here is how Edward G. Rendell, mayor of Philadelphia, explained why last year $307 million in local and state economic incentives in addition to $119 million in federal aid was being given to Kvaerner ASA, Europe's largest shipbuilder: "Those are good, honest jobs that pay a living wage and significant benefits. Jobs you can build a family on."

True enough. But Rendell cannot reverse the tide of economic forces. And no industry is a better example of the futility of subsidies than American shipbuilding. It has not been a vital U.S. business for decades. Yet surplus shipyards continue to be kept alive by subsidies from local and state governments, the Federal Government and sometimes all three. Without this aid, consolidation would have occurred long ago—as it has in virtually every other field, from defense to banking. Avondale Industries in New Orleans, for example, first went on the corporate-welfare rolls in the 1930s, when the state waived payment of personal property taxes. It's still on the dole today. Over the past decade, Avondale has been excused from paying $8 million in property taxes alone.

NEBRASKA

The Job Is Meaty; The Pay Is Not

Not long ago, the state of Nebraska created an authority to dispense corporate welfare. It's called the Nebraska Quality Jobs Board. So what does the board consider a "quality job"?

Well, when do you want to go to the bathroom? In the morning or the afternoon? Pick one or the other. Not both. That is your choice at Nebraska Beef Ltd., an Omaha beef-packing company and jobs-board beneficiary. Listen to a young Mexican worker—he has taken a few days off at the suggestion of a supervisor, who noted that immigration agents were coming to the plant to inspect citizenship papers. Listen as the worker describes his daily routine on the factory floor, where he wields a 6-in. knife, slashing carcasses on an assembly line that never slows:

"We tell the [supervisors], 'Hey, I want to use the rest room.' [They say,] 'O.K., 10 minutes. Go now.' [That's] only once a day [you can go] ... I have to think if I can go drink some water because I know I'm going to have to go use the rest room." He continues: "We start at 6 o'clock in the morning. But I got there at 5 o'clock to just get ready, drink my coffee, work my steel ... If we work 10 hours, they give us a break at 2:30. If we was going to go nine hours, they don't give us no break."

Nebraska Beef is the entity that got the breaks. The jobs board awarded the company an estimated $7.5 million in tax credits in 1996, as well as a laundry li[redacted]er benefits. The award was all t[redacted]e curious because the company had started work on its new plant before the board even existed. Other aid has pushed the total value of giveaways to Nebraska Beef to between $24 million and $31 million.

An exact total is not available, since the state refuses to disclose the amount of taxpayer funds for this or any other approved project. But Nebraska does say that the tax credits were extended under programs that "could substantially reduce or even eliminate [a] company's tax liability."

When state lawmakers created the jobs board in 1995, they had in mind "major business expansion and relocation projects needed to stimulate the growth of populations and create better jobs for the citizens of Nebraska."

At Nebraska Beef, many of the workers are not citizens, in part because even hardworking Nebraskans aren't likely to come running for jobs that start at about $8 an hour for such grueling la[redacted]e-braska Beef employees c[redacted]nt on a raise of 25¢ an hou[redacted]very year they stay on the job, which means that in two years, a butcher is making $8.50. That is $17,680 a year for a 40-hr. week, about $1,200 above the poverty level for a family of four.

Not surprisingly, Nebraska Beef goes through employees the way it does carcasses: at one point, 50% of the workers who completed state training for their jobs were gone within 10 months. A review by the state auditor of public accounts showed that Nebraska Beef had used at least a million dollars in state funds in one year to train workers who eventually left their jobs. The audit noted dryly, "It would appear the number of employees no longer employed with the company and amount of money spent for job training on these individuals was not in the best interest of the state of Nebraska."

Nebraska Beef did not respond to our inquiries.

"Want to go to the bathroom? Sorry, you went this morning"

When Factories Become Fixer-Uppers

Defenders of economic incentives like to say that safeguards can be built into the law, so that if companies fail to deliver on the promised number of jobs, they can be required to pay back the taxes that have been canceled. If you believe that, it might be worth pondering the story of ABB Instrumentation Inc. in Rochester, N.Y. The company, which makes industrial instruments, is a subsidiary of ABB Asea Brown Boveri Ltd., the giant Swiss and Swedish conglomerate with interests in power generation, transmission and distribution.

In 1991, ABB applied to the County of Monroe Industrial Development Agency, requesting tax breaks and other incentives to move from its aging downtown Rochester location into a new building in a suburban industrial park. The company explained that its plant, built in 1906, was in a "declining industrial neighborhood on the west side of Rochester." ABB said there had been "no significant cost improvements or modernization ... since 1950," which threatened its "ability to compete in a tightening world market." In short, neither ABB nor its predecessor had spent money updating the plant.

Nonetheless, the company was quite blunt about what it would do if economic aid was not forthcoming: relocate to Ohio, or England, or even Mexico or Venezuela. Only then did COMIDA agree to issue $21 million in industrial revenue bonds, with ABB using the proceeds to erect a new building. COMIDA excused the company from paying sales tax on materials to construct the plant. And it waived a chunk of ABB's real estate taxes for 10 years. Overall, the tax breaks were worth about $5 million.

To secure a real estate-tax abatement, a company is required by Monroe County to guarantee that it will create 25 new jobs. If it fails to do so, it must refund a portion of the reduced taxes. ABB promised to boost employment at the new facility from 723 workers in the first year to 819 by the third. Instead, even before moving into its new building, the company began cutbacks. By December 1996, ABB reported that its work force totaled just 393. In short, rather than creating the 25 positions required by the county, ABB eliminated 426 real and projected jobs.

Then ABB cried poverty, telling the development agency, "If you rescind the tax exemption, we'll owe $1.2 million in taxes, which we can't afford."

To date, Monroe County has waived collection. Thus, a division of a multinational company—which had sales of $31 billion last year—received some $26 million in tax breaks and economic aid. For what? To eliminate 426 jobs.

ABB illustrates another corporate-welfare story that TIME encountered repeatedly. After failing to keep a facility up to date, a company claims a plant is "archaic" and threatens to close it unless government officials come up with incentives to help pay for modernization. That is what happened in Louisville, Ky., where a much larger conglomerate, General Electric Co., said that to meet profit goals, its plant had to be modernized—with taxpayer dollars. This from a company that appears at the top of the lists of the "best managed" corporations in America, whose revenue last year reached $91 billion and whose earnings topped $8 billion.

GE, which over the years had failed to update a washing-machine factory in Louisville—described as an "obsolete facility" that is "just one step above archaic"—threatened to close it unless state and local governments helped subsidize its modernization and 7,000 hourly employees agreed to cost-cutting work rules.

Faced with this threat, Kentucky officials hired Coopers & Lybrand, an accounting and consulting firm, to conduct a study—paid for by GE—on whether the company really intended to turn out the lights. The answer Coopers & Lybrand came up with: yes.

It is not clear why the state of Kentucky believed it was the responsibility of taxpayers to improve GE's profit margins. Nevertheless, in 1993, Kentucky granted $19 million in income tax breaks over 10 years to the washing-machine factory in GE's sprawling Appliance Park complex. The city of Louisville and Jefferson County kicked in an additional $1 million.

The tax break notwithstanding, employment in Appliance Park continues to fall. Last February, GE announced that over the next two years, 1,500 jobs would be eliminated as range and dryer production is phased out and moved to Georgia, where wages are lower, and Mexico, where wages are much lower. Today 6,200 people work in Appliance Park—down 72% from a high of 22,250 in 1973.

Intel's Billion-Dollar Bunny Suits

With ABB and GE, the threat of losing jobs often became too much for a community to Monroe County granted $26 million and watched 426 jobs disappear bear. The workers, their families and local politicians wanted to keep the jobs at all costs.

Yet the same hysteria flows when large, fast-growing high-tech companies start shopping around for new plant locations. Intel Corp. invited six Western states—Arizona, California, New Mexico, Oregon, Texas and Utah—to compete for a new computer-chip fabrication plant, or fab, and selected the winner in March 1993. A senior executive explained the decision this way to the San Jose Mercury News: "We're going to build where Intel gets the best deal."

And what a deal it got. New Mexico and the community of Rio Rancho, just north of Albuquerque, won the bidding war by showering Intel with tax abatements and other assistance. Sandoval County, where the company erected its fab, authorized $2 billion in industrial revenue bonds in 1993 and an additional $8 billion in 1995—the largest local-government bond offering in history. The county held title to the land, building and equipment, which it leased back to Intel.

Since governments are not taxable, this arrangement enabled Intel to escape property and sales taxes. Then there is the investment-tax-credit deal, which allows Intel to pocket a portion of the state income taxes withheld from its bunny-suited tech workers' paychecks. In addition, the state provided money to train workers. These and other benefits add up to a third of a billion dollars in aid for Intel.

From Intel's vantage point, that is simply the way the system works. A company spokesperson said that states offer incentives "because they want to compete, and they obviously want the project in their jurisdiction rather than somebody else's ... They try to develop their incentive package around those specific industries ... that they want to build."

In any event, when some local residents challenged the giveaways as too costly, a citizens group supported by Intel commissioned a study to determine the company's impact. It concluded that the incentives "resulted in a good deal for New Mexico" and that Intel's expansion had created 10,000 jobs statewide by 1995.

But a TIME analysis of federal tax-return data raises questions. Let's look at two four-year periods, before and after Intel's massive Rio Rancho project.

Between 1989 and 1992, the number of federal income tax returns filed by New Mexico residents who showed wage income increased by 35,770—or 6.6%. Between 1993 and 1996, when the Intel-related jobs were created, wage returns rose 40,551, or 6.8%, a marginal increase.

More significantly, tax returns showing wages in three income groups ($30,000 to $50,000, $50,000 to $75,000 and $75,000 to $100,000) went up at a faster pace in the 1989-92 period than in the post-Intel era. Only two income groups increased faster in the later years: those at the bottom, with earnings of less than $30,000; and those at the top, with earnings in excess of $200,000.

Even more telling is the jump in the number of federal tax returns from New Mexico claiming the earned income tax credit. That is the credit intended to supplement the income of the working poor. Between 1989 and 1992, the number of such returns went up 14%, from 112,334 to 127,900. But between 1993 and 1996, it climbed twice as fast, shooting up 31%, from 134,613 to 175,797.

And although Intel is one of the largest corporate income taxpayers in the state, it has fared well in recent years. Documents filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission show that in 1991, Intel paid corporate income taxes to state governments at an effective rate of 8.6%. By 1997, while the company's taxable income had spiraled upward 1,097%, its overall state tax rate had dropped to 4.8%.

Let's put those numbers in more personal terms. Suppose in 1991 you had a household income of $30,000. If your in-

NEW MATH: $323,000 TO BUY A $50,000 JOB

IN 1997 THE CITY AND STATE GAVE INCENTIVES WORTH $307 million to Kvaerner ASA, a Norwegian global engineering and construction company, to reopen a portion of the defunct Philadelphia Naval Shipyard and employ 950 people.

WHAT WAS PAID OUT

Divide the $307 million by 950 jobs, and it turns out each job created cost local taxpayers $323,000.

WHEN IT WILL PAY OFF

Let's say the Philadelphia shipyard jobs pay, on average, $50,000. That would mean that each worker pays roughly $6,700 annually in local and state taxes. It will take more than 48 years of tax collections from the shipyard's employees to earn back the money first granted to create these jobs. And even that assumes that all 950 workers will relocate to Philadelphia from outside the city. In fact, of course, many of the workers will move from existing jobs within the city—where they already pay taxes.

KENTUCKY

An Extra-Special Delivery for UPS

Among the variables that companies take into consideration in site selection is the labor pool. They are concerned not just with wage rates but also with the availability and quality of workers. So some states and municipalities, in partnership with business, have created industrial-education programs, mainly in community colleges. The schools' curriculums are often designed to train skilled workers for the area's most prominent industries.

The state of Kentucky took a different tack earlier this year when it agreed to create higher-education programs specifically designed to provide United Parcel Service of America Inc. with a steady flow of part-time workers to load and unload packages from airplanes and trucks.

Confronted with a need to build an international air-hub facility and with a shrinking supply of willing workers at existing pay rates, UPS advised Louisville and Kentucky officials that it would pull 15,000 jobs out of the state if it did not receive suitable aid.

Government officials complied. On top of the usual assortment of incentives, worth more than $80 million, they agreed to form a joint educational venture, a sort of UPS University, that will allow students to attend classes offered by the University of Louisville, Jefferson Community College and Kentucky Tech-Jefferson Campus. Students enrolled in what has been dubbed the Metropolitan Scholars Program will be able to earn technical certifications and two-year or four-year degrees.

Most important, college life will be designed to fit the needs of UPS. Student workers, the company says, "will experience a daily schedule that will essentially reverse their internal clocks. Class schedules, social activities and sleep patterns will evolve around the hours of the night shift at UPS." This means classes will be held between 5 p.m. and 10 p.m., allowing students to work through the night and sleep during the day. Classes cease between Thanksgiving and New Year's Day, the company's peak delivery period. Special dorms will be built to accommodate the night-working students. Tuition will be free, with the state and other sources picking up half the cost and UPS the other half if "the student completes his or her work obligation."

To Kentucky Governor Paul Patton, this is one for the win column. "We will ensure that UPS has the workers it needs," he said. To fiscal conservatives, there is something wrong with this picture. If UPS wants to assure itself an adequate supply of labor, it might try raising wages. But with well-paying jobs now plentiful in the area, the company was having difficulty attracting a sufficient number of workers for part-time work, much of which is on the night shift. College students—the traditional source of night-shift workers for UPS—were not responding to the $8.50 an hour wage it offered, even with benefits. So the state will, in effect, create more college students.

Local authorities defend the deal with a rosy economic forecast prepared for Greater Louisville Inc., the metropolitan area Chamber of Commerce. The chamber study predicts that 6,000 UPS jobs "will spawn nearly 8,000 additional jobs" throughout the region. It is estimated that all those jobs in turn "will generate more than $477 million annually in payroll growth." As is the case with many economic-impact statements, the numbers are fuzzy. But whatever the case, growth would have occurred somewhere in the U.S., perhaps even in ...ut its state income tax rate nationwide fell nearly by half.

THE SCRAMBLE FOR JOBS

PLAYING THE ZERO-SUM GAME

IF YOU HAVE ANY DOUBT THAT THE WAR AMONG THE STATES TO OFFER TAX breaks and other economic incentives is a zero-sum game that creates no jobs, consider the case of the Bagcraft Corp., based in Chicago. In 1993, Bagcraft, whose claim to fame is the doggie bag, let out word that the paper bag–making factory it had operated in Joplin, Mo., for more than 20 years would be replaced.

Six towns in Missouri, Kansas and Colorado jumped at the bait, offering the company free land, infrastructure improvements and real estate–tax abatements. Meanwhile, Joplin tried hard to keep Bagcraft in town, assembling what a city official described as the most aggressive incentives package in this small (pop. 45,000) city's history—tax abatements for as long as 12 years, plus a town-funded day-care center for Bagcraft employees. "When you offer a private company incentives worth $5 million, coming from the taxpayers, I don't know how much more you can do," said Joplin city manager Leonard Martin.

Neighboring Baxter Springs, Kans., came up with more—a lot more. Working with state officials, the town of 4,000 crafted a deal that included free land and a 10-year exemption from real estate taxes. But Baxter Springs trumped Joplin by finding a low-interest loan from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The final tab: $15.8 million, or more than seven times the size of the town budget.

Not surprisingly, Baxter Springs won out. In 1994, Bagcraft closed the Joplin plant and moved 20 miles west across the state line to a new $12 million, 265,000-sq.-ft. facility.

All this was cause for celebration in Baxter Springs when, on Nov. 18, 1994, corporate and civic leaders gathered to dedicate the new plant. Of the participants, none was more pleased than then Kansas Governor Joan Finney. "Dreams are the seedlings of reality," she told the crowd. "Seeing what has been brought to reality here, through governmental cooperation at all levels with the company, is perhaps one of the best days I've had in 42 years of government service at different levels."

Let's hope not.

Baxter Springs did get 350 jobs, but Bagcraft did not create 350 jobs. Roughly half the work force transferred from the Joplin plant when it closed. Additional employees migrated from other Bagcraft plants that were closed.

The bottom line for the company's payroll: in 1993 about 700 people were making bags and other paper products at four Bagcraft plants. According to a company spokesman, today that number is the same.

ALABAMA

Singing Lessons from An Auto Company

There was no question that like UPS, Mercedes-Benz was going to build a plant someplace in this country. First of all, the U.S. is an important market for Mercedes; second, wages and more flexible work schedules make manufacturing costs lower here than in Europe.

Lower than Mercedes-Benz ever imagined. Alabama taxpayers essentially built and equipped a new plant for the company in the tiny town of Vance, a few miles east of Tuscaloosa. Mercedes received a package of incentives that totaled $253 million in value. For example, Alabama acquired and developed the plant site in Vance for $60 million. It used National Guard troops to clear the land and spent $77.5 million on utility improvements and roads.

The Mercedes-Benz plant illustrates a fundamental principle of corporate welfare: everyone else pays for economic incentives—either with higher t[illegible]wer services or both.

To understand this, go to the Vance Elementary School, located a football field or two from the plant. Of course, you cannot actually see the school building. That is because it is surrounded by portable classrooms—17 in all. They are being added at the rate of two a year. Inside the school, the results of crowding 540 pupils (expected to be 700 to 800 within the next two years) into a building designed for 290 are readily apparent—a marked contrast with the roominess of the $30 million training school the state built for Mercedes. Throughout the school day, students stand in line to take their turn in one of the six tiny rest rooms serviced by a septic system, which produces its own unpleasant consequences on occasion, since the septic tanks were also built for 290 pupils. That contrasts with the new sewer lines the state laid for Mercedes. Then there is the cafeteria. Because of the overcrowding, lunch starts at 10:30 a.m.—soon to be 10:15—not long after many pupils ate breakfast. Last there is the safety issue. Vance and other schools in the area are in the middle of tornado alley. Whenever a tornado watch is sounded, the portable classrooms are emptied, and pupils are shepherded into classrooms in the main building.

Baxter Springs offered seven times the town budget to lure a p[illegible]t

To be sure, Mercedes is not responsible for all these deficiencies. Alabama traditionally has ranked near the bottom of the 50 states when it comes to education. But the presence of Mercedes has not added anything, except more students.

Nevertheless, at the elementary school, principal David Thompson is an unabashed Benz booster. When the school needed extra buses to transport pupils to the ballet, Thompson said, Mercedes provided them. And when the car company learned the school was mounting a production of Hansel and Gretel, it dispatched several of its expats to help the pupils learn German songs. The experience made a lasting impression on the students. As Thompson put it, "They couldn't tell you your multiplication tables if you asked them. If you say, 'What's 9 times 7?', they probably have already forgotten it. But they can still sing those songs in German."

Does GM Mean General Movers?

Given the money politicians are willing to spend, it is no wonder companies have made their assets portable—game pieces that can be moved around the board of economic development. General Motors Corp. has played the game like a champion, a classic example of a company that has secured hundreds of millions of dollars in corporate welfare at the same time that it has eliminated thousands of jobs. And, according to business analysts, GM has to eliminate 50,000 more jobs if it wants to survive the next century.

In effect, the company is in the process of auctioning its surviving jobs to the highest bidders in the communities where it does business. Here's how it works: during the summer of 1997, GM let it be known that it was considering a $355 million expansion of an assembly plant in Moraine, Ohio, to build sport-utility vehicles. The decision would hinge on the size of tax breaks granted by the city government. After all, two other cities with GM truck plants—Shreveport, La., and Linden, N.J.—were vying for the new facility. At least that is what GM officials hinted to Moraine officials. And that is what the local newspaper, the Dayton Daily News, duly reported.

There was one problem. The story GM floated was not true. Company executives later apologized for any misunderstanding. Erroneous claims aside, Moraine agreed to exempt General Motors from taxes on $355 million worth of machinery, equipment and inventory for 10 years and to excuse the company from real estate taxes for 15 years on the planned $65 million building.

So how much did GM save? Moraine city officials will not say, but county officials estimate GM is off the hook for $30 million in real estate and personal property taxes. GM also put the touch on the county economic-development au-

DURANT, MISSISSIPPI

WHERE IT ALL BEGAN

IN 1936, IN THE MIDST OF THE GREAT DEPRESSION, MISSISSIPPI FIRED THE FIRST shot in what is now an internecine, multibillion-dollar battle for jobs among the states. The idea was simple enough: lure businesses from the North with offers of cheap and abundant nonunion labor, low-priced land, minimal taxes and, for the first time, state-sponsored, tax-exempt industrial-revenue bonds. In other words, a coordinated effort to raid other states for their corporations.

The first beneficiary was Real Silk Hosiery Mills Inc. The company, based in Indianapolis, Ind., employed 4,000 knitting-machine operators who turned out half a million pairs of hosiery weekly, which were peddled door to door across the nation by 11,000 sales reps. Hurt first by the Depression and then by a bitter strike in 1934, Real Silk was working its way back to solvency in 1936 when Mississippi came calling.

COURTESY INDIANAPOLIS HISTORICAL SOCIETY

THE ORIGINAL: Real Silk Hosiery mill in Indianapolis—before the job wars

The town of Durant (pop. 2,500), a farming community with more sidewalks than paved streets, was offering to issue $25,000 in industrial-revenue bonds to buy land and erect a 15,000-sq.-ft. building, which it would lease to Real Silk for 25 years for all of $5 a year. In addition, Durant would waive five years of county taxes on the building and property taxes on the machinery. On top of that, the city would provide insurance, set up a training school and even erect housing for workers. In a front-page editorial that sounds eerily familiar, the Durant News crowed that the project was a great deal for the town. In a special election, the town's voters approved the bond issue, 330 to 19. The people of Durant were in the hosiery business.

At least for a while. Indeed, nine years later, in December 1946, Durant's citizens approved a second bond issue of $60,000 to expand the plant. At its peak, the Durant factory employed about 150 people. They worked three shifts daily, turning out 84,000 pairs of hosiery each week.

By the mid '50s, all that came to an end. Before the first bond was due to be paid off, Real Silk shut all its factories, including Durant, sold off the equipment and became an investment company. The lesson, one that has been lost on generations of mayors, Governors and Presidents, is that capital ultimately ignores such incentives. It seeks its highest reward as dictated by market forces, not political ones. The building that was to put Durant on the industrial map still stands—empty.

And Mississippi? It was the poorest state in the nation when its corporate-welfare program began in 1936. Today, 62 years and hundreds upon hundreds of millions of dollars in economic incentives later, it remains dead last in per capita income.

GM auctions its dwindling jobs to whichever towns bid the most thority for a cash grant of $1 million.

GM extracted the concessions at a time when the company's profits for 1995 and 1996 totaled $11.8 billion. To put that figure in context, it would be enough money to run the West Carrollton schools, where most Moraine children attend classes, for the next 400 years. As 1997 gave way to 1998, GM dangled the possibility of yet another plant before the Moraine city fathers, and they jumped. This time the tax relief amounts to an estimated $28 million—or about $156,000 for each of the 180 new jobs to be created.

One final twist: Moraine employees will be hired under a new, three-tiered wage scale, with workers starting at about $9 an hour. Once upon a time, the starting wage for such jobs was in the double digits. Nonetheless, Mayor Roger Matheny said that "this offers us job security and lets us know GM is going to be here for a long while."

Not necessarily. Other communities have showered tax breaks on GM and its partners, assuming they would create or at least retain jobs. They were wrong. Volvo-GM closed a jointly owned plant (GM was the minority partner) in Orrville, Ohio, in 1996—just seven years after the county cut property and inventory taxes in half. Some 400 jobs were lost.

The two automakers moved operations t Pulaski County, Va., where millions of dol lars more in economic incenti ited.

In 1984 and 1988, Ypsilan ship Mich., granted 12-year tax abate ents o $250 million worth of new equipment an machinery that GM installed in its Willo Run assembly plant. On its application fo the second tax abatement, GM said no ne jobs would be created but 4,900 existing job "will be retained as a result of the project." GM executive reaffirmed the company' commitment at a township board meeting.

But in February 1992, GM announced i intended to close Willow Run and mov production to Arlington, Texas, where it go a better deal. The township countered wit a lawsuit, charging that the tax abatement created a binding obligation. A local judg agreed, accusing GM of "having lulled" th people of Ypsilanti and then trying to ski town. The state court of appeals reverse the decision and concluded that "hyperbol and puffery" in seeking tax breaks "does n necessarily create a promise."

In interviews with TIME, GM executive say they merely do what everyone else doe Moreover, they say, local and state govern ments often come calling on them. As a GM official explained, when Saturn was con ceived, it was a clean sheet, a new type o plant representing a huge inves Onc it became publicly known w wa planning, he said, "we receive posal from every state in the union except Hawa and Alaska. We had file cabinets full of ma terial from every state ... Every one had t be responded to. It took on a life of its own.

Yet there had to be states that knew GM could not build there just for logistical rea sons, he said. Nevertheless, government o ficials submitted formal proposals so the could tell their constituents they had at lea tried. "[A politician] always wants to be per ceived as someone who tried to bring hom the bacon, even if the bacon doesn't arrive

And that is where the real blame fo corporate welfare rests.

As Ohio state senator Charles Horn, persistent critic of tax abatements, put when commenting on concessions grante GM, "We know companies are manipula tive, but it's the nature of business to go a ter every dollar that's legally available. Don place the blame on the company; place th blame on government. This is government folly." —With reporting by Laura Karmatz an Aisha Labi, and research by Joan Levinstein

TIME WARNER

WE PLAY THE GAME TOO

LIKE MOST MAJOR CORPORATIONS, Time Warner Inc., the parent company of TIME, has received millions of dollars in tax concessions or free services from federal, state and local governments over the years. The benefits include:

- A $2 million-a-year exemption from Florida sales taxes on promotional items mailed from the Time Customer Service Center in Tampa, which sells and renews magazine subscriptions to TIME, PEOPLE, LIFE and SPORTS ILLUSTRATED.
- A five-year freeze on real and personal property taxes (a savings of $224,550) from Shelby County and Memphis, Tenn., on an operations center for cable installers.
- A rebate of $168,800 from Simi Valley, Calif., to defray construction costs of a warehouse for Warner/Electra/Atlantic Corp., a music subsidiary.

ARTIST'S VISION: New offices for Time Warner near New York's Central Park

Time Warner is based in New York City, and the company is expected to ask the city for a large incentives package for building its new headquarters at Columbus Circle, on the southwest corner of Central Park. Known as Columbus Centre, the $1.3 billion project has been called by one developer the "Rockefeller Center of the 21st Century." Time Warner president Richard D. Parsons confirmed that the company would ask for tax breaks—though he emphasized that the project was not contingent upon receiving them.

If Time Warner gets a special deal from New York, it will join a host of media companies that have received tax relief and other incentives worth an estimated $400 million to build new offices or to keep their work forces in New York. The list includes Germany's Bertelsmann AG, which now owns Random House and Bantam Doubleday Dell; ABC, part of the Walt Disney Co.; Condé Nast; McGraw-Hill; NBC, owned by General Electric; the New York Times Co.; the New York Post and its parent company, the News Corp., which also owns Fox; Reuters; and Viacom.

"Companies are manipulative. It's the nature of business."

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND TAX LAWS RELATED TO INTERSTATE AIR COURIERS AND TO AMEND THE WAGE STANDARD UNDER THE WILLIAM S. LEE QUALITY JOBS AND BUSINESS EXPANSION ACT TO ACCOUNT FOR THE VALUE OF HEALTH INSURANCE TO PART-TIME JOBS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 105-164.3(13) and (15) read as rewritten:

"§ 105-164.3. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

...

(13) Hub. – Either of the following:

a. An interstate air courier's hub is ~~the airport in this State that meets all of the following conditions:~~

~~1. The air courier has allocated to the airport under G.S. 105-338 more than sixty percent (60%) of its aircraft value apportioned to this State.~~

~~2. The air courier's primary function at the airport is to sort and distribute letters and packages received from multiple consolidation locations.~~

~~3. The air courier's primary function at the airport is not to consolidate letters and packages and deliver them to another airport for sorting and distribution.~~the interstate air courier's principal airport within the State for sorting and distributing letters and packages and from which the interstate air courier has, or expects to have upon completion of construction, no less than 150 departures a month under normal operating conditions.

b. An interstate passenger air carrier's hub is the airport in this State that meets both of the following conditions:
1. The air carrier has allocated to the airport under G.S. 105-338 more than sixty percent (60%) of its aircraft value apportioned to this State.
2. The majority of the air carrier's passengers boarding at the airport are connecting from other airports rather than originating at that airport.

...

(15) Interstate air courier. – A person ~~engaged in the air courier services business, as defined in G.S. 105-129.2, in interstate commerce.~~whose primary business is the furnishing of air delivery of individually addressed letters and packages for compensation, in interstate commerce, except by the United States Postal Service."

SECTION 2. G.S. 105-129.2A is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(a1) Sunset for Interstate Air Couriers. – Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this section, in the case of an interstate air courier that enters into a real estate lease on or before January 1, 2006, with an airport authority that provides for the lease of at least 100 acres of real property with a lease term in excess of 15 years, this Article is repealed effective for business activities that occur on or after January 1, 2010."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-129.4(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Wage Standard. – A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for creating jobs or the credit for worker training if, for the calendar year the jobs are created or the worker training is provided, the average wage of the jobs for which the credit is claimed meets the wage standard and the average wage of all jobs at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed meets the wage standard. No credit is allowed for jobs not included in the wage calculation. A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the credit for research and development, the credit for investing in real property for a central office or aircraft facility, or the credit for substantial investment in other property if, for the calendar year the taxpayer engages in the activity that qualifies for the credit, the average wage of all jobs at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed meets the wage standard. In making the wage calculation, the taxpayer must include any positions that were filled for at least 1,600 hours during the calendar year the taxpayer engages in the activity that qualifies for the credit even if those positions are not filled at the time the taxpayer claims the credit.

Part-time jobs for which the taxpayer provides health insurance as provided in subsection (b2) of this section are considered to have an average weekly wage at least equal to the applicable percentage times the applicable average weekly wage for the county in which the jobs will be located. There may be a period of up to 100 days between the time at which an employee begins a part-time job and the time at which the taxpayer begins to provide health insurance for that employee.

Jobs meet the wage standard if they pay an average weekly wage that is at least equal to the applicable percentage times the applicable average weekly wage for the county in which the jobs will be located, as computed by the Secretary of Commerce from data compiled by the Employment Security Commission for the most recent period for which data are available. The applicable percentage for jobs located in an enterprise tier one area is one hundred percent (100%). The applicable percentage for all other jobs is one hundred ten percent (110%). The applicable average weekly wage is the lowest of the following: (i) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county, (ii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the State, and (iii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county multiplied by the county income/wage adjustment factor. The county income/wage adjustment factor is the county income/wage ratio divided by the State income/wage ratio. The county income/wage ratio is average per capita income in the county divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the county. The State income/wage ratio is the average per capita income in the State divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the State. The Department of Commerce must annually publish the wage standard for each county."

SECTION 4. G.S. 105-129.4(b1) reads as rewritten:

"(b1) Large Investment. – A taxpayer who is otherwise eligible for a tax credit under this Article becomes eligible for the large investment enhancements provided for credits under this Article if the Secretary of Commerce makes a written determination that the taxpayer is expected to purchase or lease, and place in service in connection with the eligible business within a two-year period, at least one hundred fifty million dollars ($150,000,000) worth of one or more of the following: real property, machinery and equipment, or central office or aircraft facility property. In the case of an interstate air courier that has or is constructing a hub in this State, this investment may be placed in service in connection with the eligible business within a seven-year period. If the taxpayer fails to make the required level of investment within ~~this two year~~the applicable period, the taxpayer forfeits the large investment enhancements as provided in subsection (d) of this section."

SECTION 5. G.S. 105-129.5(c) reads as rewritten:

"(c) Carryforward. – Any unused portion of a credit with respect to a large investment, with respect to the technology commercialization credit allowed in G.S. 105-129.9A, or with respect to substantial investment in other property under G.S. 105-129.12A may be carried forward for the succeeding 20 years. Any unused portion of a credit with respect to research and development activities under G.S. 105-129.10 may be carried forward for the succeeding 15 years. Any unused portion of a credit may be carried forward for the succeeding 10 years if, before the taxpayer claims the credit, the Secretary of Commerce makes a written determination that the taxpayer is expected to purchase or lease, and place in service in connection with the eligible business within a two-year period, at least fifty million dollars ($50,000,000) worth of one or more of the following: real property, machinery and equipment, or central office or aircraft facility property. In the case of an interstate air courier that has or is constructing a hub in this State, this investment may be placed in service in connection with the eligible business within a seven-year period. If the taxpayer fails to make the required level of investment within ~~this two year~~ the applicable period, the taxpayer forfeits this enhanced carryforward period. Any unused portion of any other credit may be carried forward for the succeeding five years."

SECTION 6. G.S. 105-129.8(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) Planned Expansion. – A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to create at least twenty new full-time jobs in a specific area within two years of the date the letter is signed qualifies for the credit in the amount allowed by this section based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for that year even though the employees are not hired that year. In the case of an interstate air courier that has or is constructing a hub in this State, the applicable time period is seven years. The credit shall be available in the taxable year after at least twenty employees have been hired if the hirings are within the ~~two-year~~applicable commitment period. The conditions outlined in subsection (a) apply to a credit taken under this subsection except that if the area is redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or loses its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not hire the employees within the ~~two-year~~applicable period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the credit. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit under subsection (a) in the year any new employees are hired, the taxpayer may take the credit under that subsection."

SECTION 7. G.S. 105-129.9(e) reads as rewritten:

"(e) Planned Expansion. – A taxpayer that signs a letter of commitment with the Department of Commerce to place specific eligible machinery and equipment in service in an area within two years after the date the letter is signed may, in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service in that area, calculate the credit for which the taxpayer qualifies based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. In the case of an interstate air courier that has or is constructing a hub in this State, the applicable time period is seven years. All other conditions apply to the credit, but if the area has been redesignated to a higher-numbered enterprise tier or has lost its development zone designation after the year the letter of commitment was signed, the credit is allowed based on the area's enterprise tier and development zone designation for the year the letter was signed. If the taxpayer does not place part or all of the specified eligible machinery and equipment in service within the ~~two-year~~ applicable period, the taxpayer does not qualify for the benefit of this subsection with respect to the machinery and equipment not placed in service within the ~~two-year~~applicable period. However, if the taxpayer qualifies for a credit in the year the eligible machinery and equipment are placed in service, the taxpayer may take the credit for that year as if no letter of commitment had been signed pursuant to this subsection."

SECTION 8. Section 22 of S.L. 1998-55, as amended by Section 16(a) of S.L. 2001-476, reads as rewritten:

"Section 22. Section 10 of this act is effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2001. Section 11 of this act becomes effective January 1, 1999, and expires January 1, ~~2008.~~2010. The remainder of Part III of this act becomes effective January 1, 2001, and applies to sales made on or after that date."

SECTION 9. It is the intent of the General Assembly that the provisions of this act not be expanded. If a court of competent jurisdiction holds any provision of this act invalid, the section containing that provision is repealed. The repeal of a section of this act under this section does not affect other provisions of this act that may be given affect without the invalid provision.

SECTION 10. Section 1 of this act becomes effective October 1, 2002, and applies to sales made on or after that date. Sections 8 and 9 of this act are effective when it becomes law. The remainder of this act is effective for taxable years that begin on or after January 1, 2002.

House Bill 1665:
Interstate Air Couriers - Bill Lee

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Rep. Gray
Date:	August 27, 2002	Analysis by:	Y. Canaan Huie
Version:	PCS to 1st Edition		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: This bill makes numerous changes to tax laws regarding interstate air couriers including the following: a new definition of "hub" for sales tax purposes; an extension of the Bill Lee Act until

BACKGROUND: The William S. Lee Quality Jobs and Business Expansion Act (hereinafter Bill Lee Act) was enacted in 1996, effective beginning with the 1996 tax year with a 2002 sunset. The Act is a package of State tax incentives and has been modified in each subsequent year. The incentives are primarily in the form of tax credits for investment in machinery and equipment and real property, for job creation, for worker training, and for research and development. Counties are divided into five economic distress tiers based on the unemployment rate, per capita income, and population growth of the county. For many of the credits, the lower the tier of a county, the more favorable the incentive. The Act requires the Department of Commerce and the Department of Revenue to report periodically on the credits allowed by the Act.

Before 1996, North Carolina had made little use of tax incentives to lure businesses to the State. Even without incentives, North Carolina was consistently one of the top states in attracting industry. The array of credits authorized by the Bill Lee Act was viewed as an experiment, to be evaluated in five years to determine whether the incentives were cost effective and actually affected behavior, or merely provided tax reductions to businesses that would have located or expanded in any case. In 1997, the General Assembly amended the Bill Lee Act to make interstate air couriers[1] an eligible business under the Act. In 1999, the General Assembly extended the 2002 sunset to 2006.

To be eligible for the credits under the Bill Lee Act, jobs must meet the applicable wage standard. For the credit for worker training or the credit for creating new jobs, the average wage of the jobs for which a credit is claimed and the average wage of all jobs at the location are required to meet the applicable wage standard. For the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the credit for research and development, and the credit for investing in central office and aircraft facility property, the average wage of all jobs at the location with respect to which a credit is claimed are required meet the applicable wage standard. For a tier one county, the jobs are required to pay an average weekly wage that is equal to the applicable average weekly wage for that county. For other tier counties, the average weekly wage of the jobs must equal 110% of the applicable average weekly wage for that county.[2]

In 1998, the General Assembly provided sales tax and property tax reductions for interstate air couriers in order to encourage the development of air courier hubs in North Carolina. Effective January 1, 2001, sales to an interstate air courier of equipment for handling and storing materials at its hub became subject to a reduced sales tax of 1%, capped at $80 per item. In addition, interstate air couriers enjoy a sales tax

[1] An air courier is an air carrier that delivers individually addressed letters, parcels, and packages. Examples of air couriers include UPS and Federal Express.

[2] House Bill 1734, which has passed the House, would eliminate the wage standard in tiers one and two.

exemption for purchases of aircraft lubricants, aircraft repair parts, and aircraft accessories for use at the air courier's hub in this State. Effective beginning with the 2001 property tax year, there is a property tax exemption for aircraft owned by an air courier and apportioned for property tax purposes to the courier's hub in this State.

ANALYSIS: Section 1 of this bill amends the definition of "hub" for interstate air couriers and recodifies the definition of "interstate air couriers" for sales tax purposes. The amendment to the definition of "hub" is needed because the current definition does not accurately describe hubs. The current definition states, in part, that a hub is the airport in the State where the air courier has allocated at least 60% of its aircraft value apportioned to this State. Aircraft value is apportioned based on revenues generated and on the amount of time the aircraft is on the ground. In the case of air couriers, revenue is generated at the customer site, not at the hub. Additionally, aircraft spend very little time on the ground at the hub. For these two reasons, the definition of an air courier hub currently in the statutes does not fit the factual situation. This bill defines a hub as the primary airport in the State for sorting and distributing packages from which the air courier has, or expects to have, at least 150 departures a month. This definition is similar to the definition of "hub" under South Carolina law, but is a more stringent test as South Carolina only requires 25 departures a month.

The definition of "interstate air courier" is not substantively amended. Currently, for sales tax purposes, the definition of interstate air courier refers to the definition used in the Bill Lee Act. In this bill, the definition of "interstate air courier" for sales tax purposes is made a stand-alone definition. There is not substantive change to the definition.

Section 2 of this bill extends the sunset date on the Bill Lee Act until January 1, 2010, for certain interstate air couriers and Sections 4 through 7 of the bill increase various time frames in the act from two years to seven years. The interstate air courier industry, and the construction of a hub in particular, faces many regulatory, administrative, and legal hurdles not generally faced by other industries. Due to these extra burdens, time frames in this industry are generally longer than in other industries. There is generally a longer period between the time that a project is announced and a location is selected and the time at which the facility is placed in service. Due to these longer time frames, it is argued that an extension of the sunset and extensions of various time frames are needed to accommodate these projects.

Section 3 of this act amends the wage standards under the Bill Lee Act for all taxpayers. Currently, in order to be eligible for any of the credits under the Bill Lee Act, the average wage of all jobs at the location must meet or exceed the applicable average weekly wage for the county in which the jobs are located.[3] Included in this calculation are part-time jobs, converted to a full-time equivalency. It has been argued that since part-time jobs are not eligible for a credit for job creation, they should not be considered in this calculation. This has become an issue since part-time jobs generally pay less than full-time jobs.

This bill takes a middle ground. All part-time jobs must still be considered when the wage calculation is made. However, any part-time job for which the taxpayer provides health insurance will be considered to have a wage that at least meets the applicable average weekly wage. If a part-time job with health insurance has a wage that is less than the applicable average weekly wage, the applicable average weekly wage shall be used in making the calculation. If a part-time job with health insurance has a wage that is greater than the applicable average weekly wage, the actual wage of the job shall be used in making the calculation.

[3] As mentioned above, for the credits for job creation and for worker training, the average wage of the particular jobs for which the credit is claimed must also meet or exceed the applicable average weekly wage.

Section 8 of this bill provides an extension of the bidding law exemption for the Piedmont Triad Airport Authority. When the General Assembly enacted certain tax incentives for interstate air couriers in 1998, one provision of that act granted a bidding law exemption for the Piedmont Triad Airport Authority. The exemption is effective beginning January 1, 1999, and applies to design and construction of an air freight distribution facility on airport property, and related supplies, equipment, and services. S.L. 2001-476 (Senate Bill 748) provided an extension of this exemption from January 1, 2004, to January 1, 2008. Fed Ex has requested an additional extension to January 1, 2010. With this extension, the bidding law exemption would sunset at the same time as the Bill Lee Act for certain interstate air couriers.

Section 9 of this bill is a severability clause. It states that it is the intent of the General Assembly that the provisions of this bill not be expanded. It further states that if any provision of this bill is found to be unconstitutional that provision is repealed and that other provisions that may still be given effect remain in place.

	FY 2002-03	FY 2003-04	FY 2004-05	FY 2005-06	FY 2006-07
REVENUES	(See "Assumptions and Methodology")

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENTS AFFECTED: The Bill Lee Act credits are administered by the Department of Commerce and the Department of Revenue. The enactment of the bill should not affect the budget requirements of either department.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The air courier hub definition rewrite becomes effective October 1, 2002 and applies to sales made on or after that date. The bidding law exemption effective date change becomes effective when the bill becomes law. The remaining sections of the bill become effective for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2002.

ISSUE BACKGROUND: The Bill Lee Act is the package of state tax incentives that was first adopted in 1996 and has been modified in each subsequent year. The incentives are primarily in the form of tax credits for investment in machinery and equipment, job creation, worker training, and research/development. The credits apply to activities undertaken by specifically named industrial classifications. In 1998 the Act was amended to provide sales and property tax incentives to air courier hubs.

BILL SUMMARY: (1) Rewrites the definition of interstate air courier hub. (2) Extends the regular Bill Lee Act sunset of January 1, 2006 to January 1, 2010 for an interstate air courier that enters into a major real estate lease on or before January 1, 2006 with an airport authority (3) The Lee Act contains wage standards for determining eligibility for the tax credits. The bill rewrites the standard by allowing part-time jobs for which the taxpayer provides health insurance to be counted as having wages at least equal to the standard times the applicable average weekly wage for the county in which the jobs will be located. (4) Currently, taxpayers who may an investment of $150 million or more within a two-year period may be eligible for enhanced incentives. The bill provides for a 7-year investment period for an interstate air courier that has, or is constructing, a hub in North Carolina. (5) Extends the sunset on the Piedmont Trial Airport Authority's exemption from the bidding laws from January 1, 2004 to January 1, 2010.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The fiscal note for the 1998 legislation creating the air courier hub incentives contained fiscal estimates of the sales and property tax incentives. The delay in the construction of the Fed Ex facility has no effect on these estimates. The delay simply means that the incentives will be used at a later date than anticipated in the 1998 bill. The extension of the sunset from 2006 to 2010 will allow

It is possible that the modification to the wage standard will enable some companies not currently eligible for the Lee Act credits to become eligible. Discussions with officials of the Department of Commerce did not yield any information on how many taxpayers might become eligible or the impact on tax credit usage.

SOURCES OF DATA: Discussions with representatives of Fed Ex (sales tax incentives) and Department of Commerce (wage standard issue).

HOUSE BILL 1665*

Short Title:	Interstate Air Couriers - Bill Lee.	(Public)
Sponsors:	Representative Gray.
Referred to:	Finance.

June 13, 2002

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND TAX LAWS RELATED TO INTERSTATE AIR COURIERS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 105-164.3(13) and (15) read as rewritten:

"§ 105-164.3. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Article:

...

(13) Hub. – Either of the following:

a. An interstate air courier's hub is ~~the airport in this State that meets all of the following conditions:~~

~~1. The air courier has allocated to the airport under G.S. 105-338 more than sixty percent (60%) of its aircraft value apportioned to this State.~~

~~2. The air courier's primary function at the airport is to sort and distribute letters and packages received from multiple consolidation locations.~~

~~3. The air courier's primary function at the airport is not to consolidate letters and packages and deliver them to another airport for sorting and distribution.~~the interstate air courier's principal airport within the State for sorting and distributing letters and packages and from which the interstate air courier has, or expects to have upon completion of construction, no less than 150 departures a month under normal operating conditions.

b. An interstate passenger air carrier's hub is the airport in this State that meets both of the following conditions:

1. The air carrier has allocated to the airport under G.S. 105-338 more than sixty percent (60%) of its aircraft value apportioned to this State.

2. The majority of the air carrier's passengers boarding at the airport are connecting from other airports rather than originating at that airport.

...

(15) Interstate air courier. – A person ~~engaged in the air courier services business, as defined in G.S. 105-129.2, in interstate commerce.~~whose primary business is the furnishing of air delivery of individually addressed letters and packages for compensation, in interstate commerce, except by the United States Postal Service."

SECTION 2. G.S. 105-129.2A is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(a1) Sunset for Interstate Air Couriers. – Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this section, in the case of an interstate air courier that enters into a real estate lease on or before January 1, 2006, with an airport authority that provides for the lease of at least 100 acres of real property with a lease term in excess of 15 years, this Article is repealed effective for business activities that occur on or after January 1, 2010."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-129.4(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Wage Standard. – A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for creating jobs or the credit for worker training if, for the calendar year the jobs are created or the worker training is provided, the average wage of the jobs for which the credit is claimed meets the wage standard and the average wage of all jobs at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed meets the wage standard. No credit is allowed for jobs not included in the wage calculation. A taxpayer is eligible for the credit for investing in machinery and equipment, the credit for research and development, the credit for investing in real property for a central office or aircraft facility, or the credit for substantial investment in other property if, for the calendar year the taxpayer engages in the activity that qualifies for the credit, the average wage of all jobs at the location with respect to which the credit is claimed meets the wage standard. In making the wage calculation, the taxpayer must include any positions that were filled for at least 1,600 hours during the calendar year the taxpayer engages in the activity that qualifies for the credit even if those positions are not filled at the time the taxpayer claims the credit. However, in the case of an interstate air courier, the taxpayer may exclude part-time jobs in making the wage calculation.

Jobs meet the wage standard if they pay an average weekly wage that is at least equal to the applicable percentage times the applicable average weekly wage for the county in which the jobs will be located, as computed by the Secretary of Commerce from data compiled by the Employment Security Commission for the most recent period for which data are available. The applicable percentage for jobs located in an enterprise tier one area is one hundred percent (100%). The applicable percentage for all other jobs is one hundred ten percent (110%). The applicable average weekly wage is the lowest of the following: (i) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county, (ii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the State, and (iii) the average wage for all insured private employers in the county multiplied by the county income/wage adjustment factor. The county income/wage adjustment factor is the county income/wage ratio divided by the State income/wage ratio. The county income/wage ratio is average per capita income in the county divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the county. The State income/wage ratio is the average per capita income in the State divided by the annualized average wage for all insured private employers in the State. The Department of Commerce must annually publish the wage standard for each county."

SECTION 4. G.S. 105-129.4 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(h) Special Time Periods for Interstate Air Couriers. – In the case of an interstate air courier that has or is constructing a hub in this State, the terms 'two years' and 'two-year' are replaced by the terms 'five years' and 'five-year' respectively each place they occur in this Article."

SECTION 5. G.S. 105-129.9(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) Eligible Investment Amount. – The eligible investment amount is the lesser of (i) the cost of the eligible machinery and equipment and (ii) the amount by which the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that are in service in this State on the last day of the taxable year exceeds the cost of all of the taxpayer's eligible machinery and equipment that were in service in this State on the last day of the base year. The base year is that year, of the three immediately preceding taxable years, in which the taxpayer had the most eligible machinery and equipment in service in this State. Notwithstanding the other provisions of this subsection, in the case of an interstate air courier that has or is constructing a hub in this State, the eligible investment amount is the cost of the machinery and equipment at the hub that was not used and transferred by the interstate air courier from another location in this State."

SECTION 6. Section 22 of S.L. 1998-55, as amended by Section 16(a) of S.L. 2001-476, reads as rewritten:

"Section 22. Section 10 of this act is effective for taxes imposed for taxable years beginning on or after July 1, 2001. Section 11 of this act becomes effective January 1, 1999, and expires January 1, ~~2008.~~2010. The remainder of Part III of this act becomes effective January 1, 2001, and applies to sales made on or after that date."

SECTION 7. It is the intent of the General Assembly that the provisions of this act not be expanded. If a court of competent jurisdiction holds any provision of this act invalid, the section containing that provision is repealed. The repeal of a section of this act under this section does not affect other provisions of this act that may be given affect without the invalid provision.

SECTION 8. Section 1 of this act becomes effective July 1, 2002, and applies to sales made on or after that date. The remainder of this act is effective for taxable years that begin on or after January 1, 2002.

MINUTES
HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

August 29, 2002

The House Committee on Finance met on Thursday, August 29, 2002, at 8:30 A.M. in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building.

Representative Paul Luebke, Presiding Chair, called the meeting to order and the following members were present: Representatives Gordon Allen, Monroe Buchanan, and William Wainwright, Chairs; Representatives Dewey Hill and Mary Jarrell, Vice Chairs; Representatives Martha Alexander, Leslie Cox, Pete Cunningham, Michael Decker, Rick Eddins, Zeno Edwards, Lyons Gray, Joe Hackney, Bill Hurley, Eugene McCombs, Mia Morris, Art Pope, John Rayfield, Jennifer Weiss, Shelly Willingham, and Larry Womble. Staff members present were Trina Griffin, Martha Walston, Richard Bostic, and Michelle Nelson. A Visitor Registration Sheet is attached and made a part of these minutes. Mr. Chiyoshi Hatakeyama, Researcher, N. C. State Policy, and Director of Iwate Japan Business, introduced by Rep. Leslie Cox, was a guest of the Finance Committee.

Pages serving the committee were Justin Jetton, Wake County, and Grayson Cave, Wake County.

Sergeants-at-Arms serving the committee were Dusty Rhodes, Bob Fowler, Walter Spell and Bill Freeman.

HOUSE BILL 1313, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO ESTABLISH THE INTERPRETER AND TRANSLITERATOR LICENSURE ACT FOR PERSONS WHO ARE DEAF OR HARD OF HEARING AND TO MAKE CONFORMING CHANGES TO CHAPTER 8B AND CHAPTER 143B, was before the committee.

Rep. Buchanan moved that the Proposed Committee Substitute be before the committee for discussion.

Rep. Alexander, sponsor, came forward to explain the genesis and purpose of the bill, licensure requirements and exemptions, provisional licensing, creation of the North Carolina Interpreter and Transliterator Licensing Board and powers of the Board, reciprocity, expenses and fees, license renewals, list of qualified and available interpreters, the grandfathering clause requirements, and the Board of Education's educational requirements for interpreters and transliterators. She said that, in essence, the bill was designed to assure the deaf of qualified interpreters.

Rep. Luebke noted that the fiscal note showed that the measure would generate $14,125 in revenue and $14, 103 in expenditures.

Rep. Womble asked about opposition to the bill. Rep. Alexander said the initial opposition was from people who felt they needed exemption, but opposition to the bill at present was practically nil.

Rep. Weiss asked if school interpreters would be exempted. Rep. Alexander confirmed that exemption.

Rep. Gray asked if the Board could operate for the $30,000 that was allocated in the fiscal note. Michelle Nelson, Fiscal Research, said the Board proposed to contract for administrative services at a cost of $6,000 per year.

Rep. Jarrell wanted to know the number of people applying for licensure and how the license fee compared with other license fees in similar fields.

Leanne E. Winner, North Carolina School Boards Association, said the schools had asked for exemption because of statewide recruiting problems. They were concerned about lawsuits if they were required to utilize licensed interpreters, but were unable to provide them.

Rep. Weiss expressed concerns about the quality of interpreters and parents' satisfaction with their interpreters. Ms. Winner said there had been no complaints from parents. She felt that if licensed interpreters were required, they would not be able to furnish them. Rep. Alexander added that the bill required that transliterators or interpreters employed in education must annually complete 15 hours of job-related training that had been approved by the local educational agency.

Rep. Cunningham asked what kind of academic or practical training was presently required. He also stated his concern regarding the fee and hoped that it could be made more affordable.

Linda S. Suggs, Legislative Liaison for the Department of Instruction, stated that the current requirement for employment was experience that produced competency in transliterating and interpreting. Competency was assessed at the school system when the individual was employed; after employment, the school system offered whatever training was necessary to increase the individual's competence. Interpreters work under the supervision of qualified teachers or other professionals.

Rep. Allen recognized Dr. H. James Owen, President of Piedmont Community College, and a member of the Legislative Committee for Community College Presidents. He was very supportive of the bill and of the Associate Degree requirement which would qualify more certified instructors.

Linda Harrington, Division of Services for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing, was recognized. She was attending the committee meeting as an observer.

Patricia Houser, North Carolina Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf and Chair of the Licensure Study Committee, spoke to the merits of the bill. The Registry wanted the bill to become law because it desired the upgrading of interpreters' skills. Uncertified interpreters have no responsibility for errors in their interpreting and are not accountable for their work.

Rep. Willingham expressed concerns about the competency of school interpreters. He was also concerned about the education system's current exemption.

Rep. Womble moved for a favorable report for the proposed committee substitute, unfavorable to the original bill. Vote was taken and the proposed committee substitute received a favorable vote.

There being no further business, the Chair adjourned the meeting at 9:45 A.M.

Respectfully submitted,

Representative Paul Luebke

HOUSE BILL 1313:
Interpreter/Transliterator Licensure

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Rep. Alexander
Date:	August 29, 2002	Analysis by:	Martha Walston
Version:	H1313-CSLAf-42		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1313 establishes a new chapter 90D that sets out the licensure requirements for persons practicing as an interpreter or transliterator for a fee or consideration or holding themselves out as licensed interpreters or transliterators. The Chapter will be administered by a 9-member board.

CURRENT LAW: Under Chapter 8B of the General Statutes, a deaf person must be provided a qualified interpreter in judicial, legislative, or administrative proceedings. "Qualified interpreter" means an interpreter certified as qualified under standards and procedures promulgated by the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS).

G.S. 143B-216.33 directs the Division of Services for the Deaf and the Hard of Hearing within the DHHS to establish training and evaluation standards for determination of competency of individuals serving as interpreters.

The rules adopted by the DHHS require that persons providing interpreter services through the Division of Services for the Deaf and the Hard of Hearing must hold a current certification by the National Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf or a current certification by a governmental agency in another State. If a person wishes to be qualified under Chapter 8B, the person must meet the following requirements for Status I or Status II:

- Status I - must hold certain valid and current certificates awarded by the National Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf or have been awarded certain classifications obtained through an assessment procedure offered by the North Carolina Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf.
- Status II - must show interpreting skills together with names of four persons who may serve as references (2 hearing impaired persons familiar with the applicant's qualifications and 2 persons who may be former employers, professionals in the area of interpreting, interpreter trainers or instructors, staff to the Division of Services for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing.)

Under the Americans with Disabilities Act, a qualified interpreter means "an interpreter who is able to interpret effectively, accurately, and impartially both receptively and expressively, using any necessary specialized vocabulary."

SECTION 8 of the bill requires the Department of Public Instruction to provide the Board with a copy of the current standards and educational requirements for interpreters and transliterators employed by the local educational agencies.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED:
State and Local Government

EFFECTIVE DATE: G.S. 90D-5 and G.S. 90D-6 as enacted in Section 1 of this act and Sections 7, 8, 9, and 10 of this act are effective when the act becomes law. The remainder of the act becomes effective July 1, 2003.

BILL SUMMARY: Adds new GS Ch. 90D as title indicates. Provides that no person shall practice as an interpreter or a transliterator (defined as process of receiving message in one language and delivering into manual form in the same language) unless licensed pursuant to act. Establishes the NC Interpreter and Transliterator Licensing Board to consist of nine members: three appointed by the Governor, three appointed by the General Assembly upon recommendation by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and three appointed by the General Assembly upon recommendation by the President ProTempore of the Senate. Members to serve three year staggered terms. All Board members must be licensed pursuant to the act and employed in NC. The Board has the power to administer the act, adopt rules necessary to carry out purposes of the act, issue and revoke licenses, and maintain records. Sets out behavior that may result in Board denying, suspending, revoking, or refusing to issue the license for an interpreter or transliterator. Gives Board authority to seek injunctive relief against persons engaging in the unlicensed practice of interpreting and transliteration.

Licensure requires that applicant (1) be 18 or older, (2) be of good moral character as determined by the Board, and (3) be nationally certified by the National Association of the Deaf or by the Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf, Inc., or have a national certification recognized by the National Cued Speech Association or holds a quality assurance NC Interpreter Classification in effect on January 1, 2000. Licenses must be renewed annually. Allows provisional licenses for community interpreters or transliterators (defined as persons who provide services in a postsecondary or community setting). A provisional license is valid for one year and may be issued only up to four times per individual, unless extended by Board. Allows Board to set fee of $225 for a license, a provisional license, and for $150 for license renewal of either, and $10 for duplicate licenses. Exempts the following persons from licensure: persons providing interpreting and transliterating services in religious proceedings, mentoring and training programs approved by the Board, and emergency situations until a licensed interpreter is available. An intern under the supervision of a person licensed under this chapter is also exempted from licensure. All educational interpreters or transliterators are also exempted from licensure covering interpreters serving individuals in prekindergarten through grade 12 and in institutions of higher education. Allows persons presently practicing interpreter or transliterator services to register with the Board within eighteen months of effective date of act and pay a $75 registration fee to avoid complying with licensing provisions of act. Requires that after July 1, 2008, licenses will require that persons hold a four-year degree from an accredited institution. After July 1, 2008, persons seeking a provisional license as a community or educational interpreter must be a graduate of a two-year interpreter-training program or any four-year accredited degree institution.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

A. Fiscal impact of the New Licensing Board

Per statute, the new board may begin to assess fees for an 18 month period beginning January 1, 2003 for individuals who are eligible for grandfather status per G.S. 90D-7 (Section 7), and individuals who will apply as new licensees beginning July 1, 2003. The board plans to operate budgetarily on a fiscal year basis of October – September to coincide with the annual renewal of licenses, which occurs in October. Therefore, for the first year it is anticipated that 150 individuals will be grand fathered at a fee of $75 between January and September 2003; and 50 individuals will be new licensees assessed a prorated fee of $37.50 for the period July-September 2003. Additionally, the board anticipated revenue from verifications ($500) and the mail list ($500). The total projected revenue for the first year January-September 2003 is $14,125. Estimated expenses are $14,103 and include the following: $3,200 for board member per diem and travel; $500 for the annual audit; $900 for legal-rule-making; $563 for equipment; $4,500 for contractual services, i.e. the cost for the agency that will handle administrative responsibilities for the board; $1,440 for office supplies, website maintenance, telephone and bank charges; $2,000 for an Interpreter; and $1,000 for miscellaneous expenses Therefore, revenue minus expenses provides a balance or net income of $23 that may be used for unanticipated expenses. In subsequent years the board anticipates that new licensees will have a steady increase of 5-10 per year, individuals on provisional status will maintain a range of 30-60 each year, and renewals will number about 325 per year. Therefore, in the second through fifth years revenue is projected to increase on an average $40,000 and expenses on the same basis by $23,000. If this occurs the board would achieve a balance or net income annually of approximately $16,000.

B. Other Fiscal Impacts on State and Local Government

Under Chapter 8B of the General Statutes, a deaf person must be provided with an interpreter in judicial, legislative, or administrative proceedings. In addition, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) requires that interpreter services be provided to deaf persons who receive services from state and local governmental agencies and community colleges. These requirements cause state and local governments to purchase interpreting and transliterator services to meet the needs of their deaf clients. If the licensure of interpreters and transliterators causes the hourly rate for interpreting and transliterator services to increase beyond the usual inflationary increases, than expenditures for purchase of interpreting and transliterator services by state and local governments may increase.

Since the impact of licensure on the hourly rates for interpreting and transliterator services is unknown, this fiscal note will estimate the increased expenditures resulting from a $1 increase in the average annual hourly rate for interpreting and transliterator services.

In order to determine the number of hours of interpreting and transliterator services purchased by state and local government, the nine interpreter service agencies were contacted and asked how many services hours they billed to state and local governmental agencies. Seven of the agencies responded to the information request. Four of the seven agencies were able to identify the number of hours they had billed state and local governmental agencies in calendar 2001. The remaining three agencies replied that they did not keep records on the number of hours billed in past years or they rarely contracted with government agencies.

The agencies responding to the information request identified 12,456 hours billed to state and local government agencies. Since the agencies that were able to provide data are the larger agencies, this fiscal note assumes that they represent 80% of the hours purchased by state and local governmental agencies. Assuming that the agencies unable to provide data and independent interpreters not connected to an agency bill the additional 20% of service hours, then the estimated number of hours billed to state and local governmental agencies in calendar year 2001 was 15,570.

The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation purchases interpreting services for hearing impaired individuals who are receiving rehabilitation services and it usually uses independent interpreters who are not employed by the agencies. This fiscal note estimates that the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation purchases 36,000 hours of interpreting services per year for its hearing impaired clients. This estimate is base on annual expenditures of about $900,000 per year with an average cost per hour of $25. Most of the interpreting services purchased by the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation are for hearing impaired individuals who are attending institutions of higher education. Since interpreters in education settings are exempted from licensure, this fiscal note assumes that 10% of the hours purchased by the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation or 3,600 hours are not at an institution of higher education and will require licensed interpreter.

Estimated number of interpreting service hours purchased in SFY 2002 = 18,670

State Fiscal Year	Number of Services Hours	Cost if Hourly Rates Increase by $1
2001-02	18,670	No Impact
2002-03	19,603	No Impact
2003-04	20,584	$20,584
2004-05	21,613	$21,613
2005-06	22,694	$22,694
2006-07	23,828	$23,828

Note: This chart assumes that the number of hours of interpreting services purchased will increase 5% per year.

House Committee on Finance

Minutes
September 5, 2002

The House Committee on Finance met on Thursday, September 5, 2002, at 8:30 A.M., in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building. The following members were present: Chairmen Allen, Buchanan, Luebke, and Wainwright; Vice-Chairs Hill and Jarrell; and Representatives Alexander, Cox, Decker, Eddins, Edwards, Gibson, Gray, Hackney, Holliman, Hurley, Johnson, McCombs, McMahan, Morris, Pope, Rayfield, Starnes, Willingham, Wilson, Womble, Baddour, Cunningham, and Earle. Also present were Sergeant-at-Arms staff Dusty Rhoades, Bob Fowler, Walter Spell, and Bill Freeman. Staff persons present included Cindy Avrette, Trina Griffin, Martha Walston, Richard Bostic, David Crotts, Linda Millsaps, and Martha Harris; and Committee Assistants Nancy Brantley, Blinda Edwards, Joyce Harris and Glenda Jones.

Chairman Allen opened the meeting and welcomed Triston Hooks, David Sullivan and Joe Sullivan from Wayne County and Ryan Roberson from Wilson County, who were serving as Pages.

Representative Bill Culpepper was recognized to explain HB 1640, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO INCLUDE THE TOWN OF DUCK AS A MUNICIPALITY AUTHORIZED TO REGULATE AND CONTROL SWIMMING, PERSONAL WATERCRAFT, SURFING, AND LITTERING IN THE ATLANTIC OCEAN AND OTHER WATERWAYS ADJACENT TO THAT PORTION OF THE TOWN WITHIN ITS BOUNDARIES OR WITHIN ITS EXTRATERRITORIAL JURISDICTION; TO DESIGNATE THE TOWN COUNCIL OF THE TOWN OF DUCK AS THE GOVERNING BODY OF THE DUCK AREA BEAUTIFICATION DISTRICT; TO PERMIT THE TOWN OF MANTEO TO DECREASE THE DISTANCE WITHIN WHICH A VEHICLE MAY PARK FROM THE INTERSECTION OF CURB LINES; AND TO AMEND THE DEFINITION OF SUBDIVISION AS IT APPLIES IN CHOWAN COUNTY. Upon motion of Representative Buchanan, the Proposed Committee Substitute was adopted for discussion.

Representative Culpepper explained that HB 1640 adds the Town of Duck to a group of municipalities authorized to regulate and control swimming, personal watercraft operation, surfing, and littering in the Atlantic Ocean and other waterways adjacent to the Town. The Bill also designates the Town as the governing board of the existing Duck Area Beautification District. The PCS adds two additional provisions that would permit the Town of Manteo to decrease the distance within which a vehicle may park from the intersection of curb lines and amends the definition of "subdivision" as it applies in Chowan County. Representative Hill moved to give the PCS (#2) a favorable report, which changes the title, unfavorable as to Committee Substitute Bill #1. The motion carried. Copies of the PCS, Bill, and Bill Summary are attached as part of these minutes.

The next order of business was HB 1751, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO CREATE A TRAVEL AND TOURISM CAPITAL INCENTIVE GRANT PROGRAM. Upon motion of Representative Buchanan, the Proposed Committee Substitute for HB 1751 was adopted for discussion. At Representative Earle's request, Martha Walston of the Fiscal Research staff was recognized to explain some of the changes in the new PCS. Ms. Walston pointed out that the new PCS makes a number of clarifying amendments and one substantive amendment, as follows:

- Clarifies that an owner of a qualified project is a unit of local government that owns the project in whole or at least 50% partnership with a private individual or entity.
- Increases the membership of the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee to include an elected local government official representing the Piedmont and appointed by the Governor. There will now be three elected local government officials representing all three geographic areas of the State.
- Clarified that the applicant (was taxpayer) for a grant must pay the application fee. The applicant would be the owner of the project.
- Clarifies in the list of qualifications that the project will have a positive economic impact on the community in which the project is located and will generate at least 10 new jobs in the community (was local area) in which the project is located.
- Clarifies that the economic impact analysis and feasibility study must be certified by a certified public accountant.
- Clarifies that the Committee must provide information to the Department of Revenue that includes the name and address of any lessee or individual or entity who has entered into a contract with the owner of the qualified project.

Following a lengthy discussion, Representative Earle pointed out that the Bill would not impact the State's revenue until the year after next and urged the members to give it a favorable report. Representative Pope offered an Amendment that would amend the Bill on page 3, lines 32 and 33, by inserting the following new condition between those lines: "(13) The applicant has certified that the project will not be created, expanded, or renovated unless the applicant is awarded a grant." Amendment No. 1 was adopted.

Representative Pope then offered an Amendment that would amend the Bill on page 4, line 40, by adding the following sentence after the period: "No more than twenty million dollars ($20,000,000) in grants shall be awarded each fiscal year." Joe Stewart of the Department of State Treasurer, spoke in favor of the Amendment, stating that the Treasurer would prefer a cap on the grants. Amendment No. 2 was adopted.

Representative Pope offered a third Amendment, which inserted the following new condition between lines 32 and 33, page 3: "(13) The project is not a facility primarily for the use of a professional or semiprofessional sports team or club." Amendment No. 3 failed.

Because of time constraints, Chairman Allen announced that debate on the Bill would be continued at the next meeting of the Finance Committee. He adjourned the meeting at 9:50 A.M.

Respectfully submitted,

Representative Gordon P. Allen

HOUSE BILL 1640: Duck/Manteo/Chowan County Local Amendments

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Culpepper
Date:	September 5, 2002	Summary by:	Trina Griffin*
Version:	PCS for 2nd Edition		Committee Counsel
	H1640-PCS5458-STx-109

SUMMARY: House Bill 1640 makes two changes affecting the Town of Duck:

- It adds the Town to a group of municipalities authorized to regulate and control swimming, personal watercraft operation, surfing, and littering in the Atlantic Ocean and other waterways adjacent to the Town; and
- It designates the Town as the governing board of the existing Duck Area Beautification District.

The proposed committee substitute adds two additional provisions that would:

- Permit the Town of Manteo to decrease the distance within which a vehicle may park from the intersection of curb lines; and
- Amend the definition of "subdivision" as it applies in Chowan County.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1: Regulation of Certain Coastal Activities

Currently, eighteen coastal municipalities are authorized to adopt ordinances to regulate and control swimming, personal watercraft operation, surfing, and littering in the Atlantic Ocean and other waterways adjacent to the municipalities.

Section 1 of House Bill 1640 would add the Town of Duck to the group of municipalities authorized to regulate those activities, effective when the act becomes law.

Sections 2-6: Change Governing Body of Duck Area Beautification District

Sections 2 through 6 of the bill make amendments to the law governing the existing Duck Area Beautification District, effective January 1, 2003. The Duck Area Beautification District, created in 1984, is governed by the Dare County Board of Commissioners, and is authorized to levy a property tax for the purpose of placing power lines underground and to build and maintain sidewalks.

House Bill 1640 would replace the Dare County Board of Commissioners with the Town Board of the Town of Duck (incorporated in 2001) as the governing Board of the Duck Area Beautification District.

Section 7: Local Modification of Parking Regulation

Under current law, a person is not permitted to park a vehicle within 25 feet from the intersection of curb lines. Section 7 of the bill would authorize the Town of Manteo only to decrease the distance within which a vehicle may park from the intersection of curb lines. However, the town may not decrease the distance to less than 15 feet. This section would be effective when the act becomes law.

Section 8: Local Modification of the Definition of Subdivision

Under current general law, the definition of "subdivision" is a division of a tract of land into two or more lots, building sites, or other divisions for the purpose of sale or building development; but specifically excluding:

1. The combination or recombination of portions of previously subdivided and recorded lots if the total number of lots is not increased.
2. The division of land into parcels greater than 10 acres.
3. The public acquisition of strips of land for widening or opening streets.
4. The division of a tract in single ownership the entire area of which is no greater than two acres into not more than three lots.

The proposed committee substitute would amend the definition as it applies to Chowan County, to state that the division of land would have to be three or more lots to be a subdivision, and would add an additional exemption for transfers of a single lot from parent to child. Amendments similar to these have previously been enacted for counties such as Davie, Harnett, Jones, Montgomery, Onslow, Richmond and Stanly.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO CREATE A TRAVEL AND TOURISM CAPITAL INCENTIVE GRANT PROGRAM.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Part 2 of Article 10 of Chapter 143B of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 143B-434.4. Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program.

(a) Program Established. – There is established the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program. Under the program, the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee established in subsection (c) of this section may award grants to the owners of qualified projects for the purpose of inducing the creation of new or the expansion or renovation of existing travel and tourism projects. Grant proceeds may not be distributed to any private individual or entity. The Committee shall develop guidelines to be used in determining whether the conditions in this section are satisfied and whether the project described in the application is consistent with the grant program.

(b) Owner Defined. – For the purpose of the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program, the owner of a qualified project is the unit of local government that will own the qualified project in whole or in at least fifty percent (50%) partnership with a private individual or entity.

(c) Unit of Local Government Defined. – For the purpose of the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant Program, a unit of local government means a county or municipality in the State.

(d) Committee. – The Travel and Tourism Grant Committee shall consist of the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Revenue, the Director of the Office of State Budget and Management, and three elected local government officials. One elected local government official shall represent the Mountains and shall be appointed by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the Speaker of the House of Representatives. One elected local government official shall represent the Piedmont and shall be appointed by the Governor. One elected local government official shall represent the Coastal Plain and shall be appointed by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the President Pro Tem of the Senate. The elected local government officials may not be associated with or employed by the travel and tourism industry or an entertainment enterprise, or be in any contractual relationship regarding the qualified project. The General Assembly and Governor appointees shall serve two-year terms. The Committee may act only upon a unanimous decision of its members.

It is unlawful for a member of the Committee to, within two years after the end of service on the Committee, provide services for compensation, as an employee, consultant, or otherwise, to any project that was awarded a grant under this section while the former member was serving on the Committee, or to provide services for compensation to any person or entity that contracts with the project. Violation of this subsection is a Class 1 misdemeanor.

Meetings of the Committee are subject to the open meetings requirements of Article 33C of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes. All documents of the Committee, including applications for grants, are public records governed by Chapter 132 of the General Statutes, including applicable provisions of that Chapter protecting confidential information.

(e) Application and Fee. – The owner of a qualified project may apply for a grant no later than one year after the qualified project is opened to the public. When filing an application under this section, the applicant must pay the Committee a fee of five thousand dollars ($5,000). The fee is due at the time the application is filed. The Committee shall determine the allocation of the fee imposed by this subsection among the agencies whose heads make up the Committee. The proceeds of the fee are receipts of the agency to which they are credited.

The application must contain all information required by the Committee, including a certification of the nature and cost of the tourism project, the estimated revenues to be generated by the project, the estimated economic benefit to the community, and the purposes for which the applicant will use the grant funds. If the tourism project is the result of a public-private partnership, the grant application must set forth in detail the respective rights and obligations of the parties and the specific terms of the agreement. The application must be signed by the finance officer and the chair of the governing body of the owner.

(f) Qualification. – A qualified project is a newly created travel and tourism project or expansion or renovation of a travel and tourism project that the Committee determines, pursuant to a feasibility study under this section, meets all of the following conditions:

(1) At least half of the project will be financed and owned by a unit of local government in which it is located.

(2) The project will target at least thirty-five percent (35%) of its visitors from among persons who reside outside the State or more than 100 miles from the project.

(3) The project has a business plan that demonstrates a positive economic impact on the community in which the project is located.

(4) The applicant has provided impact projections regarding estimated State and local tax revenues with respect to the project.

(5) The project will have a significant and positive economic impact on the community in which the project is located, considering among other factors, the extent to which the tourism project will compete directly with existing tourism attractions in the area and the amount by which tax revenues from the tourism project will exceed the amount of the grant provided.

(6) The applicant has provided a cost-benefit analysis of the project.

(7) The applicant has provided an economic impact analysis, certified by a certified public accountant, which demonstrates the employment, gross state product, and personal income effects of the project over a 10-year period.

(8) The project will be available to the public for a minimum of 100 days per year.

(9) The project will generate at least 10 new jobs in the community in which the project is located.

(10) The project will have the following minimum cost based on the enterprise tier in which it is located:

Enterprise Tier	Minimum Cost
1 and 2	$ 1,000,000
3 and 4	$10,000,000
5	$20,000,000

(11) The governing body of the unit of local government has passed a resolution stating the need for and positive economic impact and enhancement of travel and tourism revenues from the project.

(12) The applicant has demonstrated by clear and convincing evidence all of the following:

a. The project will not result in unnecessary duplication of existing services.

b. The project will generate new visitors to the area rather than drawing visitors away from other existing tourism attractions.

(g) Feasibility Study. – The applicant must fund a feasibility study, certified by a certified public accountant, and coordinated solely by the Committee. The Committee shall develop a list of qualified firms to conduct the study. The Committee shall prescribe the scope of the study to cover all of the qualifications established in this section.

(h) Amount. – Subject to the maximums provided in this section, the amount of a grant with respect to a qualified project is calculated as a percentage of the total amount of the following taxes collected and retained by the State each year:

(1) The net State sales tax collected on sales by or within the qualified project, as determined by the Department of Revenue.

(2) The net privilege tax paid by the qualified project under G.S. 105-37.1, as determined by the Department of Revenue.

(i) Maximums. – The maximum term of a grant is ten years. No project may receive any grant proceeds for a year that is more than ten years beyond the date of the initial grant award.

The Committee shall set the grant percentage at the time it awards the grant. The percentage used to calculate a grant may not exceed the applicable percentage provided in the table below based on the enterprise tier, as defined in G.S. 105-129.3, in which the qualified project is located. In addition, the cumulative maximum amount of a grant may not exceed the applicable percentage of the total project cost provided in the table below based on the enterprise tier in which the qualified project is located.

Enterprise Tier	Percentage
1 and 2	35
3 and 4	30
5	25

(j) Use. – The proceeds of a grant may be used only for capital costs, including debt service, with respect to the qualified project for which the grant was awarded.

(k) Disbursement. – In order to receive grant disbursements under this section, the owner of the qualified project must provide the Department of Revenue with periodic, verified accountings of the tax collections provided in subsection (h) of this section. These reports must be made at the times and in the form prescribed by the Department of Revenue. Each report must include the name, address, and tax identification number of every taxpayer whose collections are included in the report and any other information required by the Department of Revenue.

The Department of Revenue must disburse grants awarded under this section in accordance with G.S. 105-269.16. Upon awarding a grant under this section, the Committee must provide the following information to the Department of Revenue:

(1) The name, address, and other identifying information of the owner to whom the grant was awarded.

(2) The name and address of any lessee or individual or entity who has entered into a contract with the owner of the qualified project.

(3) The address and other identifying information of each facility that is part of the qualified project for which the grant was awarded.

(4) The applicable percentage and the maximum cumulative amount of the grant as determined in accordance with this section.

(5) Any other information included in the application, if required by the Department of Revenue.

(l) Reports. – The Committee must report annually to the Revenue Laws Study Committee concerning the applications made for grants and the grants awarded under this section.

(m) Cap - The maximum number of projects that may be awarded grants each fiscal year is ten."

SECTION 2. Article 9 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-269.16. Travel and tourism grants.

The Department must annually disburse the travel and tourism grants awarded under G.S. 143B-434.4. Each annual disbursement must be made by October 1 for the preceding fiscal year. The amount of each grant must be calculated in accordance with G.S. 143B-434.4 based on information provided to the Department by the owner of the qualified project. If information necessary to calculate a portion of a grant is not available, the Department must disburse only that portion for which information is available. To pay for this program, the Department must draw from State sales and use tax collections under Article 5 of this Chapter an amount equal to the grant funds disbursed and the Department's costs of administering the grants. The Department must provide the Committee an annual accounting of grant funds disbursed under this section."

SECTION 3. G.S. 150B-1(d) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(d) Exemptions from Rule Making. – Article 2A of this Chapter does not apply to the following:

POSITIONS:
Department of Revenue

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Travel and Tourism Grant Committee, NC Department of Revenue, and local governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 1, 2003

BILL SUMMARY: The bill creates the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant program to be administered by the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee. The program offers grants to counties and municipalities who own "qualifying projects" that meet the following criteria: 1) the project is financed and owned (in whole or at least in 50% partnership) by the unit of local government in which it is located, 2) the project will target 35% or more of its visitors from at least 100 miles away or out of state, 3) the project has a business plan that indicates that project will be profitable, 4) the applicant provides tax impact projections, 5) the project will have a significant and positive impact on the community, 6) the project will be open at least 100 days per year, 7) the project will generate at least ten new jobs in the local area, 8) the projects will meet a minimum cost criteria based on the North Carolina enterprise tier in which it is located, 9) the governing body of the local government passes a resolution stating the need for, positive economic impact of, and the enhanced travel and tourism opportunities created by the project, 10) the applicant demonstrates that the project will not duplicate services and will draw new visitors to the area. Grant funds can be used to fund new projects or the renovation and expansion of existing facilities. The grant amount is determined by multiplying the total amount of sales taxes collected on sales by or within the qualified program and the net privilege taxes paid by the qualifying project by an enterprise tier based percentage, with maximum percentages outlined in the bill (35% tier 1 and 2, 30% tier 3 and 4, and 25% for tier 5). These same percentages apply to the maximum amounts of the total project cost that can be funded through this grant program. The Travel and Tourism Grant Committee is charged with determining if all project criteria are met and the percentages used to calculate the grant amount. Grant funds can only be used for capital costs, including debt service. To receive a grant disbursement, the project owner must provide the Department of Revenue with periodic, verified accounting of the tax collections. Annual disbursements based on this information must be made by the Department of Revenue by October 1 of each year and should reflect tax collections from that project for the previous fiscal year. The Department is only required to distribute funds based on data provided by the owner. If appropriate data is not provided to justify a complete payment, a partial payment can be made to reflect the information provided. Applicants must fund a feasibility study coordinated and directed by the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee and pay a $5,000 application fee. The funds to pay for the grants and the associated departmental costs are drawn from State sales and use tax revenues. The grant application period for the bill sunsets July 1, 2005, although payments for grants authorized before that date will continue to be made up to ten years after the initial award. Only ten (10) grants can be awarded per year.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Impact on Revenue

The bill effectively earmarks a proportion of state tax revenue drawn from a particular qualifying project and returns that funding to the institution to fund capital costs and debt service. The proportion returned varies by location and other factors. The bill would allow funding for ten projects a year, with a maximum of thirty grants awarded before the July 1, 2005 sunset. At present Fiscal Research is aware of several potential projects that have already reach the planning stages, primarily arenas, convention centers and athletic facilities, that could easily qualify for these grants, although local government officials indicate that many local units would likely be interested applying for these grants. Fiscal Research is also not aware of any other state that uses a similar funding mechanism, so no data is available from other states to suggest a fiscal cost. (Kentucky has a state sales tax incentive program for tourism development, which has funded seven (7) projects to date. However, because of substantial differences in the Kentucky plan and this bill, that state's experience can not be used as a proxy for estimating purposes). Because there is no good data on the type, size and location of qualifying projects or potentially qualifying projects, no fiscal estimate on this portion of the bill is possible. Because all economic activity, in total, is considered in determining the state's baseline revenue projections, all grants awarded under this program would be shown as a loss of state revenue. Depending on the type of projects that qualify for the program, the loss could be substantial, as there is no cap on the revenue invested in the program, or it could be more limited if few facilities are created or participate. However, none of that loss would appear in FY 2002-03, as the first payment would not be made for any project until October 2003.

Impact on Expenditures

Travel and Tourism Grant Committee: The bill charges the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee (the Committee) with carrying out the following activities in order to administer the grant program:

1. Adopt rules for the administration of the program.

2. Coordinate and direct feasibility studies funded by the applicants. This coordination function includes selection by the Department of qualified, independent consultants and prescription of the scope of each study.

3. Analyze applications to ensure they contain all necessary information regarding the nature and cost of the proposed tourism project, the estimated revenues to be generated by the project, the estimated economic benefit to the community, and the purposes for which the applicant will use grant funds.

Each of these activities will involve a cost to the Committee. The bill allows the Committee itself to determine how the fee revenue and associated responsibilities will be distributed. Since the bill does not specify the financial structure of the Committee, how the Committee will operate, or how the Committee will utilize the $5,000 fee per application, it is not possible to estimate the fiscal impact on the Committee.

Department of Revenue: According to the Department of Revenue, the anticipated responsibilities from the enactment of the bill will not justify any positions being assigned to handle the work and, therefore, no employee costs will be incurred. There will only be very minimal costs for printing and mailings of forms and possibly some other minor administrative costs. The Department's assumption is that there will be a relatively small number of projects that will qualify, at least initially. Therefore, on the basis of this assumption, taxes eligible for grants will not be generated until a project is completed and business performed in the project. The first fiscal year for which grants could be issued would most likely be FY 2003-2004. This should provide the department with ample time to get procedures in place.

House Committee on Finance

Minutes
September 17, 2002

The House Committee on Finance met on Tuesday, September 17, 2002, at 8:30 A.M., in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building. The following members were present: Chairmen Allen, Buchanan, and Luebke; Vice-Chairs Hill and Jarrell; and Representatives Alexander, Decker, Edwards, Gibson, Holliman, Hurley, Johnson, McComas, McCombs, McMahan, Pope, Rayfield, Weiss, Willingham, Womble, Baddour, Cunningham, and Earle. The following Sergeant-at-Arms staff were present: Dusty Rhodes, Walter Spell, and Earl Tharrington. Staff persons present included: Trina Griffin, Martha Walston, Richard Bostic, Linda Millsaps and Committee Assistants Nancy Brantley, Blinda Edwards, and Glenda Jones. The Visitor Registration Sheet and Agenda are attached and incorporated as part of these minutes.

Chairman Buchanan opened the meeting and recognized Representative Hill to explain HB 1745, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO REMOVE THE 300 PLATE REQUIREMENT FROM SPECIAL LICENSE PLATES FOR WORLD WAR II AND KOREAN CONFLICT VETERANS' PLATES, TO MODIFY THE LOGO ON THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN ELK FOUNDATION SPECIAL LICENSE PLATE, AND TO AUTHORIZE THE DIVISION OF MOTOR VEHICLES TO ISSUE A SPECIAL LICENSE PLATE FOR AVIATION MAINTENANCE TECHNICIANS, NORTH CAROLINA AGRIBUSINESS, AND THE STATE'S OFFICIAL VEGETABLE, THE SWEET POTATO. Representative Hill noted that the Finance Committee had given the original bill a favorable report, and the bill was now in House Finance for a recommendation as to whether or not the House should concur with the changes made to the bill by the Senate. By motion of Representative Hill, HB 1745, as amended by the Senate, was given a favorable report. Copies of the PCS, Bill, Bill Summary and Fiscal Note are attached as part of these minutes.

Chairman Allen presided over the next order of business, which was continuation of discussion on House Bill 1751, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO CREATE A TRAVEL AND TOURISM CAPITAL INCENTIVE GRANT PROGRAM. He noted that this bill had been discussed at the September 5 meeting of the Finance Committee with two amendments adopted but with no vote taken on the bill itself. He said there were several amendments to be offered at today's meeting. Representative Earle was recognized to present the Bill, and she urged its favorable consideration by the Committee members.

After discussion of the Bill, the following amendments were presented:

Amendment No. 1. An Amendment offered by Representative Willingham that would change the radius from which visitors are targeted from 100 to 50 miles from a project. The Amendment was adopted.

Amendment No. 2. An Amendment offered by Representatives Decker and Holliman that would delete "$10,000,000" and substitute "$5,000,000" on line 22, page 3; and delete "$20,000,000" and substitute "$10,000,000" on line 23, page 3. The Amendment was adopted.

Amendment No. 3. An Amendment offered by Representative Pope that would amend the bill on page 4, line 40, by adding the following sentence, "For the purpose of this maximum, the amount awarded is calculated as the cumulative maximum amount of the grant divided by the number of years in its term." The Amendment was adopted.

Amendment No. 4. An Amendment offered by Representative Pope that would insert the following new subdivision: "(14) The project is not a facility primarily for the use of a major league professional baseball, football, basketball, or hockey team." The Amendment failed.

Amendment No. 5. An Amendment offered by Representative Pope that would delete the word "target" and substitute the word "attract" on page 2, line 40. The Amendment failed.

Representative Buchanan made a motion that the PCS for HB 1751 receive a favorable report, unfavorable as to the original bill, with recommendation that the committee substitute be re-referred to the Committee on Appropriations. The motion was adopted. Copies of the PCS, Amendments, Bill, Bill Summary, and Fiscal Note are attached as part of these minutes.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned at 9:15 A.M.

HOUSE BILL 1745:
Special License Plates.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Rep. Allred
Date:	September 4, 2002	Analysis by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	3rd Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 1745 is in House Finance for a recommendation as to whether or not the House should concur with the changes made to the bill by the Senate.

The original bill removes the 300-plate requirement from WWII veteran special plates and Korean Conflict veteran special plates because of the advanced ages of the respective veterans.

The Senate added the following provisions to the bill:

- Modifies the logo for the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation plate. (SB 1322, Sen. Cunningham) The current law provides that the plate will bear a replica of the "Walking Bull" logo of the Foundation. The plate cannot be developed until the Division receives the license to use the logo without charge. This bill provides that the plate may bear a logo approved by the Foundation as opposed to the licensed logo of the Foundation. The Division's authorization to issue the plate expires June 30, 2006, and this bill does NOT change that sunset.
- Authorizes the issuance of three new special plates. All of the plates would be subject to the 300-plate minimum requirement and all of the plates would be subject to the $10 additional fee credited to the Special Registration Plate Account.
    - It authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue a special plate for aviation maintenance technicians. (Sen. Berger)
    - It authorizes the Division to issue a special plate for the State's official vegetable, the sweet potato. (Sen. Albertson)
    - It authorizes the Division to issue a special plate for NC Agribusiness. The cost of this plate would be $25. The additional $15 would be transferred quarterly to the NC Agribusiness Council, Inc. to be used to promote awareness of the importance of agribusiness in NC. (Sen. Albertson)

The bill is effective when it becomes law.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: Under G.S. 20-79.4(b)(27b), the DMV is authorized to issue a special license plate to WWII and Korean War veterans if at least 300 qualifying individuals request the plate and pay the $10 fee. This legislation removes the 300-person minimum and allows the DMV to issue the plate without receiving 300 applications.

Section 2 of the bill modifies the logo on the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation special registration plate. The logo removes the requirement that the plate bear a replica of the "Walking Bull" logo, and states that the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation, Inc. must approve the logo.

Section 4 of the bill authorizes the DMV to issue two additional special registration plates: Aviation Maintenance Technician and Sweet Potato. The 300-application minimum for each plate applies.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

WWII and Korean Veteran Plate

In addition to the normal $20 vehicle registration fee for private passenger vehicles, each applicant for a WWII or Korean War plate pays $10 that is deposited into the Special Registration Plate Account.

At present, fewer than 300 applications have been collected for these special license plates. While the DMV has been informed that at least some applications exist, it does not believe the requested 300 applications have been provided to the organization collecting this information. According to the North Carolina Division of Veterans Affairs, there are approximately 110,000 WWII veterans living in the state, at an average age of 81. The Division also suggests that there are approximately 105,000 Korean War Veterans in North Carolina, at an average age of 74. While the Division has no hard data on the status of these veterans, it believes a small percentage of the WWII veterans still maintain a driver's license and vehicle. It believes as many as one-half of the Korean veterans would likely hold a driver's license and maintain a vehicle.

According to the Division of Motor Vehicles, there is a one-time cost of approximately $100 to design a new plate. There is also a production cost of approximately $3.00 per plate based on one color design. The cost per plate will increase if more color is added or the design is complex.

Because there is no way of knowing how many veterans will apply for the plate, no accurate fiscal estimate is possible on either the revenue or expenditure side of this legislation. However, both the cost and the income are expected to be minimal.

Elk Plate

Section 2 of the bill modifies the logo on the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation special plate. There is no fiscal impact due to this change.

Aviation Maintenance Technician and Sweet Potato Plates

Section 4 of the bill authorizes the DMV to issue two special registration plates: the Aviation Maintenance Technician and Sweet Potato special plates. In addition to the normal $20 vehicle registration fee for private passenger vehicles, each applicant for one of these plates pays $10 that is deposited into the Special Registration Plate Account.

According to the Division of Motor Vehicles, there is a one-time cost of approximately $100 to design a new plate. There is also a production cost of approximately $3.00 per plate based on one color design. The cost per plate will increase if more color is added or the design is complex.

The Fiscal Research Division cannot estimate the number of citizens who will request either of these plates, thus no accurate fiscal estimate is possible on the bill.

It is unlawful for a member of the Committee to, within two years after the end of service on the Committee, provide services for compensation, as an employee, consultant, or otherwise, to any project that was awarded a grant under this section while the former member was serving on the Committee, or to provide services for compensation to any person or entity that contracts with the project. Violation of this subsection is a Class 1 misdemeanor.

Meetings of the Committee are subject to the open meetings requirements of Article 33C of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes. The application must be signed by the finance officer and the chair of the governing body of the owner.

(f) Qualification. – A qualified project is a newly created travel and tourism project or expansion or renovation of a travel and tourism project that the Committee determines, pursuant to a feasibility study under this section, meets all of the following conditions:

Each report must include the name, address, and tax identification number of every taxpayer whose collections are included in the report and any other information required by the Department of Revenue.

The Department of Revenue must disburse grants awarded under this section in accordance with G.S. 105-269.16. Upon awarding a grant under this section, the Committee must provide the following information to the Department of Revenue:

The amount of each grant must be calculated in accordance with G.S. 143B-434.4 based on information provided to the Department by the owner of the qualified project. If information necessary to calculate a portion of a grant is not available, the Department must disburse only that portion for which information is available. To pay for this program, the Department must draw from State sales and use tax collections under Article 5 of this Chapter an amount equal to the grant funds disbursed and the Department's costs of administering the grants. The Department must provide the Committee an annual accounting of grant funds disbursed under this section."

SECTION 3. G.S. 150B-1(d) is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

2. No more than $20,000,000 in grants shall be awarded each fiscal year.

Grant recipient - Grants may be awarded to a unit of local government that owns a qualified project in whole or in at least 50% partnership with a private individual or entity. Grant proceeds may not be distributed to any private individual or entity. A "unit of local government" is defined in the bill as a county or municipality in the State.

Qualified project - A qualified project is a newly created travel and tourism project or expansion or renovation of a travel and tourism project that the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee determines, pursuant to a feasibility study funded by the applicant, meets the following conditions.

1. At least half of the project will be financed and owned by a unit of local government in which it is located
2. The project will target at least 35% of its visitors from among persons who reside outside the State or more than 100 miles from the project.
3. The project has a business plan that demonstrates a positive economic impact on the community in which the project is located.
4. The applicant has provided impact projections regarding estimated State and local tax revenues with respect to the project.
5. The project will have a significant and positive economic impact on the community in which the project is located, considering among other factors, the extent to which the tourism project will compete directly with existing tourism attractions in the area and the amount by which tax revenues from the tourism project will exceed the amount of the grant provided.
6. The applicant has provided a cost-benefit analysis of the project.
7. The applicant has provided an economic impact analysis, certified by a CPA, which demonstrates the employment, gross state product, and personal income effects of the project over a 10-year period.
8. The project will be available to the public for a minimum of 100 days per year.
9. The project will generate at least 10 new jobs in the community in which the project is located.

3 and 4	$10,000,000
5	$20,000,000

11. The governing body of the unit of local government has passed a resolution stating the need for and positive economic impact and enhancement of travel and tourism revenues from the project.
12. The applicant has demonstrated by clear and convincing evidence all of the following
    a. The project will not result in unnecessary duplication of existing services.
    b. The project will generate new visitors to the area rather than drawing visitors away from other existing tourism attractions.
13. The applicant has certified that the project will not be created, expanded, or renovated unless the applicant is awarded a grant. (Amendment adopted 9/5/02)

Amount of the grant - The amount of the grant is determined by multiplying the sum of the total amount of sales taxes collected on sales by or within the qualified project and the net privilege taxes paid by the qualifying project times an enterprise tier percentage, with maximum percentages outlined in the bill (35% tier 1 and 2, 30% tier 3 and 4, and 25% for tier 5). These same percentages apply to the maximum amount of the total project cost that can be funded through the program.

Travel and Tourism Grant Committee - The Travel and Tourism Grant Committee shall consist of six members: the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Revenue, the Director of the Office of State Budget and Management, and three elected local government officials who will serve two-year terms. The Speaker of the House will appoint an official who represents the Mountains, the President Pro Tem of the Senate will appoint an official who represents the Coastal Plain, and the Governor will appoint an official who represents the Piedmont. The elected local government officials may not be associated with or employed by the travel and tourism industry or an entertainment enterprise, or be in any contractual relationship regarding the qualified project. The Committee may only act upon unanimous consent. The Committee is subject to the open meetings law and the public records law. Members of the Committee are forbidden to work for a business that receives a grant under this program, or to provide services for compensation to any person or entity who contracts with the project, for a period of two years after the member's service on the Committee ends.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Travel and Tourism Grant Committee, NC Department of Revenue, and local governments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 1, 2003

BILL SUMMARY: The bill creates the Travel and Tourism Capital Incentive Grant program to be administered by the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee. The program offers grants to counties and municipalities who own "qualifying projects" that meet the following criteria: 1) the project is financed and owned (in whole or at least in 50% partnership) by the unit of local government in which it is located, 2) the project will target 35% or more of its visitors from at least 100 miles away or out of state, 3) the project has a business plan that indicates that project will be profitable, 4) the applicant provides tax impact projections, 5) the project will have a significant and positive impact on the community, 6) the project will be open at least 100 days per year, 7) the project will generate at least ten new jobs in the local area, 8) the projects will meet a minimum cost criteria based on the North Carolina enterprise tier in which it is located, 9) the governing body of the local government passes a resolution stating the need for, positive economic impact of, and the enhanced travel and tourism opportunities created by the project, 10) the applicant demonstrates that the project will not duplicate services and will draw new visitors to the area, and 11) the applicant guarantees, in writing, that the project would not happen "but for" this grant. Grant funds can be used to fund new projects or the renovation and expansion of existing facilities. The grant amount is determined by multiplying the total amount of sales taxes collected on sales by or within the qualified program and the net privilege taxes paid by the qualifying project by an enterprise tier based percentage, with maximum percentages outlined in the bill (35% tier 1 and 2, 30% tier 3 and 4, and 25% for tier 5). These same percentages apply to the maximum amounts of the total project cost that can be funded through this grant program. The Travel and Tourism Grant Committee is charged with determining if all project criteria are met and the percentages used to calculate the grant amount. Grant funds can only be used for capital costs, including debt service. To receive a grant disbursement, the project owner must provide the Department of Revenue with periodic, verified accounting of the tax collections. Annual disbursements based on this information must be made by the Department of Revenue by October 1 of each year and should reflect tax collections from that project for the previous fiscal year. The Department is only required to distribute funds based on data provided by the owner. If appropriate data is not provided to justify a complete payment, a partial payment can be made to reflect the information provided. Applicants must fund a feasibility study coordinated and directed by the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee and pay a $5,000 application fee. The funds to pay for the grants and the associated departmental costs are drawn from State sales and use tax revenues. The grant application period for the bill sunsets July 1, 2005, although payments for grants authorized before that date will continue to be made up to ten years after the initial award. Only ten (10) grants can be awarded per year. Annual awards are limited to $20 million.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Impact on Revenue

The bill effectively earmarks a proportion of state tax revenue drawn from a particular qualifying project and returns that funding to the institution to fund capital costs and debt service. The proportion returned varies by location and other factors. The bill would allow funding for ten projects a year, with a maximum of thirty grants awarded before the July 1, 2005 sunset. At present Fiscal Research is aware of several potential projects that have already reach the planning stages, primarily arenas, convention centers and athletic facilities, that could easily qualify for these grants, although local government officials indicate that many local units would likely be interested applying for these grants. Fiscal Research is also not aware of any other state that uses a similar funding mechanism, so no data is available from other states to suggest a fiscal cost. (Kentucky has a state sales tax incentive program for tourism development, which has funded seven (7) projects to date. However, because of substantial differences in the Kentucky plan and this bill, that state's experience cannot be used as a proxy for estimating purposes). Because there is no good data on the type, size and location of qualifying projects or potentially qualifying projects, the fiscal note assumes the committee awards the maximum annual amount of $20 million. Because the bill allows three grant cycle before the sunset, the maximum annual impact is reached in 2004-05 of $60 million ($20 million from each year of awards). Because all economic activity, in total, is considered in determining the state's baseline revenue projections, all grants awarded under this program would be shown as a loss of state revenue. Depending on the type of projects that qualify for the program, the loss could be substantial, as there is no cap on the revenue invested in the program, or it could be more limited if few facilities are created or participate. However, none of that loss would appear in FY 2002-03, as the first payment would not be made for any project until October 2003.

Impact on Expenditures

Travel and Tourism Grant Committee: The bill charges the Travel and Tourism Grant Committee (the Committee) with carrying out the following activities in order to administer the grant program:

1. Adopt rules for the administration of the program.

2. Coordinate and direct feasibility studies funded by the applicants. This coordination function includes selection by the Department of qualified, independent consultants and prescription of the scope of each study.

3. Analyze applications to ensure they contain all necessary information regarding the nature and cost of the proposed tourism project, the estimated revenues to be generated by the project, the estimated economic benefit to the community, and the purposes for which the applicant will use grant funds.

Each of these activities will involve a cost to the Committee. The bill allows the Committee itself to determine how the fee revenue and associated responsibilities will be distributed. Since the bill does not specify the financial structure of the Committee, how the Committee will operate, or how the Committee will utilize the $5,000 fee per application, it is not possible to estimate the fiscal impact on the Committee.

Department of Revenue: According to the Department of Revenue, the anticipated responsibilities from the enactment of the bill will not justify any positions being assigned to handle the work and, therefore, no employee costs will be incurred. There will only be very minimal costs for printing and mailings of forms and possibly some other minor administrative costs. The Department's assumption is that there will be a relatively small number of projects that will qualify, at least initially. Therefore, on the basis of this assumption, taxes eligible for grants will not be generated until a project is completed and business performed in the project. The first fiscal year for which grants could be issued would most likely be FY 2003-2004. This should provide the department with ample time to get procedures in place.

A motion was made by Representative Womble to adopt HB 1707 Proposed Committee Substitute for discussion. After a brief summary and discussion of the bill, Representative Gibson made a motion to give HB 1707 Proposed Committee Substitute a favorable report unfavorable to the original bill. The motion carried. A copy of the bill, and summary is attached.

Representative Haire, bill sponsor HB 1638 Proposed Committee Substitute A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT AUTHORIZE THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE TO PROVIDE CRIMINAL RECORD CHECKS TO THE ALE DIVISION WHEN INVESTIGATION ABC PERMIT APPLICANTS, LOCAL LAW-ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES ISSUING PRECIOUS METAL DEALER PERMITS, THE PRIVATE PROTECTIVE SERVICES BOARD, THE ALARM SYSTEMS LICENSING BOARD, THE BOARD OF LAW EXAMINERS, THE MEDICAL BOARD, THE STATE BOARD OF DENTAL EXAMINERS, THE BOARD OF PHARMACY, THE BOARD OF MORTUARY SCIENCE, THE REAL ESTATE COMMISSION, THE COMMISSIONER OF LABOR WHEN INVESTIGATING PRIVATE PERSONNEL SERVICE LICENSE APPLICANTS, THE STRUCTURAL PEST CONTROL COMMITTEE, AND CITIES HEN INVESTIGATING TAXI LICENSE APPLICANTS AND TO CHARGE A FEE FOR CONDUCTING THE CHECKS, AND TO CONFORM SEX OFFENDER LAWS TO FEDERAL REQUIREMENTS, was recognized by Chairman Buchanan to explain the bill. Representative Rayfield was recognized for a motion to adopt HB 1638 Proposed Committee Substitute for discussion. Representative Haire explained that the PCS for HB 1638 amends various statutes regarding criminal history checks to ensure that national criminal history checks will be allowed pursuant to those statues after December 31, 2002, and allows the SBI to charge a fee to the applicant for conducting the checks. The bill also amends the sex offender registration statutes to conform them to the Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act. Representative Hurley asked Representative Haire if this bill included the Locksmith Licensing Board changes that were made last year. At the request of Representative Haire, Susan Sitze, Staff Attorney, responded to Representative Hurley's question saying she was not certain and would need additional time to answer his question. Representative Hurley suggested that if needed he would amend the bill on the floor. Representative Luebke made a motion to give HB 1638 Proposed Committee Substitute a favorable report, unfavorable to the original bill. The motion carried. Representative Haire thanked Susan Sitze for all her work on this bill. A copy of the bill, summary and fiscal note is attached.

SB 1268 Proposed House Committee Substitute A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO ALLOW THE CITY OF MONROE TO USE WHEEL LOCKS ON ILLEGALLY PARKED VEHICLES, TO ALLOW THE TOWN OF NORWOOD TO COLLECT UTILITY BILLS AS IF THEY WERE TAXES DUE IT, AND TO ANNEX NONCONTIGUOUS TERRITORY TO THE TOWN OF MOUNT GILEAD, was the next bill on the agenda for discussion. Representative Gibson was recognized to explain the bill. Representative Womble was recognized for a motion to adopt SB 1268 Proposed Committee Substitute for discussion. After a brief explanation of the bill, Representative Womble asked if there was any opposition to the bill. Representative Gibson answered there was no opposition to his knowledge. Representative Womble made a motion to give SB 1268 Proposed Committee Substitute a favorable report, unfavorable to the original report. The motion passed. A copy of the bill and summary is attached.

Chairman Buchanan recognized Representative Wright, sponsor of HB 1720 Proposed Committee Substitute A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE CITY OF WILMINGTON TO LEVY A ROOM OCCUPANCY AND TOURISM DEVELOPMENT TAX, to explain the bill. Representative Womble made a motion to adopt HB 1720 Proposed Committee Substitute for discussion. After a brief explanation of the bill, Representative Womble told the committee that this bill had been reworked several times and there was no opposition from the delegation and made a motion at the appropriate time to give this bill a favorable report, unfavorable to the original bill. Representative Jarrell spoke in support of the bill stating the City of Wilmington is just asking to levy a 3% occupancy tax in order to build a convention center and personally feels the State would benefit since our State does not have a large enough convention center big enough in this State. Representative McComas said HB 1707 establishes a Tourism Development Authority stating that these bills go together. Representative Wright said if a TDA is created then this would be enacted but the county still has the final say. Representative Womble's motion to adopt HB 1720 Proposed Committee Substitute passed. A copy of the bill, summary and fiscal note is attached.

Chairman Buchanan recognized Co-Chair Wainwright to report to the Committee that HB 1630, NASCAR Driver Theme Special Plates, was given a favorable report by the Subcommittee and said this bill would be heard next week.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE TOURISM DEVELOPMENT FOR THE NEW HANOVER COUNTY BEACH TOWNS, TO PROVIDE FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A TOURISM DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY, TO CONFORM ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS OF THE NEW HANOVER COUNTY LAW TO GENERAL LAW, AND TO PROHIBIT A CONVENTION CENTER IN NEW HANOVER COUNTY FROM ENTERING INTO A CONTRACT WITH A HOTEL REQUIRING THE HOTEL TO PAY FEES OR COMMISSIONS TO THE CONVENTION CENTER BASED ON ACCOMMODATIONS PROVIDED TO INDIVIDUALS ATTENDING CONVENTION CENTER FUNCTIONS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

NEW HANOVER COUNTY BEACH TOWNS TOURISM DEVELOPMENT ACT

SECTION 1.(a) This section applies only to the towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach.

SECTION 1.(b) Authorization and Scope. – If New Hanover County has created a Tourism Development Authority pursuant to Part VIII of Chapter 908 of the 1983 Session Laws, as amended, the governing body of a beach town may, by resolution, levy a local occupancy tax of up to three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or accommodation furnished by a hotel, motel, inn, tourist camp, or similar place within the town that is subject to sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(3). This tax is in addition to any State or local sales tax. This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by nonprofit charitable, educational, or religious organizations when furnished in furtherance of their nonprofit purpose.

SECTION 1.(c) Administration. – New Hanover County shall collect and administer on behalf of each beach town the tax the town levies under this section. Except as otherwise provided in this section, a tax levied under this section shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S. 160A-215. The penalties provided in G.S. 160A-215 apply to a tax levied under this section.

SECTION 1.(d) Distribution and Use of Tax Revenue. – The county shall, on a quarterly basis, remit the net proceeds of the occupancy tax levied by each beach town under this section to the Tourism Development Authority for deposit to a separate account for that beach town. The Authority shall use at least one-half of the funds in each beach town account to promote travel and tourism in that beach town and shall use the remainder in each beach town account for tourism-related expenditures in that beach town. Before spending any funds in a beach town account for promoting travel and tourism or for tourism-related expenditures, the Authority must consult with the affected beach town regarding its needs for promoting travel and tourism and for tourism-related expenditures.

The following definitions apply in this subsection:

(1) Beach towns. – Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach.

(2) Net proceeds. – Gross proceeds less the cost to the county of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer, not to exceed three percent (3%) of the first five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of gross proceeds collected each year and one percent (1%) of the remaining gross receipts collected each year.

(3) Promote travel and tourism. – To advertise or market an area or activity, publish and distribute pamphlets and other materials, conduct market research, or engage in similar promotional activities that attract tourists or business travelers to the area; the term includes administrative expenses incurred in engaging in the listed activities.

(4) Tourism Development Authority or Authority. – The Cape Fear Coast Convention and Visitors Bureau created by New Hanover County pursuant to Part VIII of Chapter 908 of the 1983 Session Laws, as amended.

(5) Tourism-related expenditures. – Expenditures that, in the judgment of the Tourism Development Authority, are designed to increase the use of lodging facilities, meeting facilities, or convention facilities in a town or to attract tourists or business travelers to the town. The term includes tourism-related capital expenditures.

SECTION 2. G.S. 160A-215 reads as rewritten:

"§ 160A-215. Uniform provisions for room occupancy taxes.

(a) Scope. – This section applies only to municipalities the General Assembly has authorized to levy room occupancy taxes. For the purpose of this section, the term "city" means a municipality.

(b) Levy. – A room occupancy tax may be levied only by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto. A room occupancy tax shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the second month after the date the resolution is adopted.

(c) Collection. – Every operator of a business subject to a room occupancy tax shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. The tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the taxing city. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The taxing city shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the city the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax. An operator of a business who collects a room occupancy tax may deduct from the amount remitted to the taxing city a discount equal to the discount the State allows the operator for State sales and use tax.

(d) Administration. – The taxing city shall administer a room occupancy tax it levies. A room occupancy tax is due and payable to the city finance officer in monthly installments on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the taxing city. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied. A room occupancy tax return filed with the city finance officer is not a public record and may not be disclosed except in accordance with G.S. 153A-148.1 or G.S. 160A-208.1.

(e) Penalties. – A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file a room occupancy tax return or pay a room occupancy tax as required by law is subject to the civil and criminal penalties set by G.S. 105-236 for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The governing board of the taxing city has the same authority to waive the penalties for a room occupancy tax that the Secretary of Revenue has to waive the penalties for State sales and use taxes.

(f) Repeal or Reduction. – A room occupancy tax levied by a city may be repealed or reduced by a resolution adopted by the governing body of the city. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the resolution was adopted. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax does not affect a liability for a tax that was attached before the effective date of the repeal or reduction, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal or reduction.

(g) This section applies only to Beech Mountain District W, to the Cities of Gastonia, Goldsboro, Greensboro, High Point, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Lincolnton, Lumberton, Monroe, Mount Airy, Shelby, Statesville, and Washington, to the Towns of Beech Mountain, Carolina Beach, Carrboro, Kure Beach, Mooresville, North Topsail Beach, Selma, Smithfield, St. Pauls, ~~and Wilkesboro,~~Wilkesboro, and Wrightsville Beach, and to the municipalities in Avery and Brunswick Counties."

SECTION 5. G.S. 153A-155 reads as rewritten:

"§ 153A-155. Uniform provisions for room occupancy taxes.

(a) Scope. – This section applies only to counties the General Assembly has authorized to levy room occupancy taxes.

(b) Levy. – A room occupancy tax may be levied only by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto. A room occupancy tax shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the second month after the date the resolution is adopted.

(c) Collection. – Every operator of a business subject to a room occupancy tax shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. The tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the taxing county. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The taxing county shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the county the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax. An operator of a business who collects a room occupancy tax may deduct from the amount remitted to the taxing county a discount equal to the discount the State allows the operator for State sales and use tax.

(d) Administration. – The taxing county shall administer a room occupancy tax it levies. A room occupancy tax is due and payable to the county finance officer in monthly installments on or before the 15th day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the 15th day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the taxing county. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied. A room occupancy tax return filed with the county finance officer is not a public record and may not be disclosed except in accordance with G.S. 153A-148.1 or G.S. 160A-208.1.

(e) Penalties. – A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file a room occupancy tax return or pay a room occupancy tax as required by law is subject to the civil and criminal penalties set by G.S. 105-236 for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The governing board of the taxing county has the same authority to waive the penalties for a room occupancy tax that the Secretary of Revenue has to waive the penalties for State sales and use taxes.

(f) Repeal or Reduction. – A room occupancy tax levied by a county may be repealed or reduced by a resolution adopted by the governing body of the county. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the resolution was adopted. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax does not affect a liability for a tax that was attached before the effective date of the repeal or reduction, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal or reduction.

(g) This section applies only to Anson, Brunswick, Buncombe, Cabarrus, Carteret, Craven, Cumberland, Currituck, Dare, Davie, Durham, Granville, Madison, Montgomery, Nash, New Hanover, Pender, Person, Randolph, Richmond, Rowan, Scotland, Stanly, Transylvania, Tyrrell, Vance, and Washington Counties, and to the Township of Averasboro in Harnett County."

As used in this section, "support" includes but is not limited to: acquisition, construction, and renovation of buildings and acquisition of the necessary land and other property therefor; purchase of equipment; compensation of personnel; and all operating and maintenance expenses of the facility. For the purposes set forth in this section, a city may appropriate funds not otherwise limited as to use by law.

(b) A convention center, or its agents, that is funded in whole or in part by occupancy tax proceeds may not enter into a contract with a hotel or lodging facility that requires the hotel or lodging facility to pay a fee, penalty, commission, or other charge to the convention center based on accommodations provided to individuals attending convention center functions. A convention center may not discriminate against a hotel or lodging facility that provides accommodations to individuals attending convention center functions based on the payment or nonpayment of fees, penalties, commissions, or other charges to the convention center."

SECTION 7. Section 6 of this act applies only to New Hanover County and the municipalities in New Hanover County.

EFFECTIVE DATE

SECTION 8. Sections 6, 7, and 8, and the amendments made by this act to Section 34 of Chapter 908 of the 1983 Session Laws, as amended, are effective when this act becomes law. The remainder of this act becomes effective February 1, 2003.

HOUSE BILL 1707:
New Hanover Beach Towns Tourism Act

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. McComas
Date:	September 18, 2002	Summary by:	Trina Griffin
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition		Committee Counsel
	H1707-CSLCx-110 [v.6]

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1707, given a favorable report by the Occupancy Tax Subcommittee, does the following things:

- It authorizes each of the towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach to levy a 3% occupancy tax once the county has established a Tourism Development Authority. One-half of the proceeds are to be used for tourism promotion and the other half for tourism-related expenditures.
- It requires the county to establish a Tourism Development Authority no later than February 1, 2003, and it specifies the membership of the Authority.
- It conforms the administrative provisions of New Hanover County's current occupancy tax legislation to the uniform provisions concerning levy, administration, collection, repeal, and penalties.
- It prohibits a convention center that is funded in whole or in part by occupancy tax proceeds from entering into a contract with a hotel that requires the hotel to pay a fee, penalty, commission, or other charge to the convention center based on accommodations furnished to individuals attending convention center functions. This provision only applies to convention centers in New Hanover County and the municipalities in New Hanover County.

The section requiring the establishment of a Tourism Development Authority and the section regarding convention centers become effective when the act becomes law. The reminder of the act becomes effective February 1, 2003.

CURRENT LAW: Currently, the towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach do not have authority to levy an occupancy tax. However, they do receive a portion of the occupancy tax proceeds levied by the county. Since 1985, New Hanover has had the authority to levy a 3% occupancy tax. Sixty percent (60%) of the total proceeds are deposited into a special fund to be used to control beach erosion. The remainder is distributed among the county and the municipalities in accordance with the method by which the 1% local sales and use taxes levied in the county are distributed and is used to promote travel and tourism.[1]

BILL ANALYSIS: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1707 has three parts. The first part affects the beach towns only, the second part modifies the county's current authority to levy a 3% occupancy tax, and the third part prohibits a convention center in New Hanover County from entering into a contract with a hotel requiring the hotel to pay fees or commissions to the convention center based on accommodations furnished to convention participants.

[1] New Hanover uses an ad valorem method of local sales and use tax distribution.

I. Beach Towns Tourism Development Act

Rate – The bill authorizes each of the towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach to levy a 3% occupancy tax once the county has established a Tourism Development Authority.

Administration – The county would collect the proceeds for each beach town and remit the funds, on a quarterly basis, to the TDA. The TDA will distribute the funds and must consult with the affected beach town regarding its needs for promoting travel and tourism and for tourism-related expenditures.

Use – 50% to promote travel and tourism; 50% for tourism-related expenditures.

II. Modify New Hanover County Administrative Provisions

Creation of a TDA – Currently, the county has a convention and visitors bureau (CVB), which was established without any authorizing legislation.

- The PCS requires the county to create the Cape Fear Coast Convention and Visitors Bureau, which shall act as a tourism development authority, as soon as practicable before February 1, 2003. Upon its creation, the county must transfer all of the assets of the convention and visitors bureau to the Authority.
- The TDA would consist of 15 voting members, with 5 ex officio members and 10 additional members appointed by the board of commissioners. The eight additional members would consist of 7 owners/operators of lodgings (hotels, bed and breakfast, and rental properties), 2 people actively involved in promoting tourism in the county, and 1 owner/operator of a restaurant.
- The intent of this legislation is for the current CVB to be converted into a Tourism Development Authority, but retain its current name as the "Cape Fear Coast Convention and Visitors Bureau."

Use –

- 60% - Under current law, New Hanover uses 60% of its occupancy tax proceeds to control beach erosion. The PCS changes the term to "beach nourishment," a defined term. These funds would continue to be deposited into a special account administered by the county.
- 40% - Under current law, the remaining 40% is distributed among the county and the municipalities and used to promote travel and tourism. Under the PCS, the use would remain the same but the funds would be remitted to and distributed by the TDA.

Uniform Administrative Provisions – It conforms the provisions regarding the levy, administration, collection and repeal of the county tax to the statutory provisions in G.S. 153A-155. Uniform statutory penalties also apply.

III. Limitation on New Hanover Convention Centers

- This section applies only to New Hanover County and municipalities in New Hanover County.
- The bill prohibits a convention center from entering into a contract with a hotel or lodging facility that requires the hotel or lodging facility to pay a fee, penalty, commission, or other charge to the convention center based on accommodations furnished to individuals attending convention center functions.
- It also prohibits a convention center from discriminating against a hotel or lodging facility that provides accommodations to individuals attending convention center functions based on the payment or nonpayment of fees, penalties, commissions, or other charges to the convention center.

SUMMARY OF BILL PROVISIONS ALLEGEDLY REQUIRED BY FEDERAL LEGISLATION

In October 2000, the President signed the Victims of Trafficking and Violence Protection Act (P.L. 106-386) into law. Part of that Act was designated as the Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act which added an additional requirement to State sex offender registry programs required under the Jacob Wetterling Crimes Against Children and Sexually Violent Offender Registration Program.

The Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act requires any person required to register under a State sex offender registration program to notify the State concerning each institution of higher education in the State at which the person is a student or works, and of each change in enrollment or employment status of the person at such an institution. The failure of a registrant to notify the State concerning enrollment or employment at an institution of higher education or the termination of such enrollment or employment constitutes a failure to register or keep such registration current and must be subject to criminal penalties. State procedures must also ensure that information concerning a registrant enrolled or working at an institution of higher education is promptly made available to a law enforcement agency having jurisdiction where the institution is located, and entered into the appropriate State records or data system.

Failure to comply with the requirements of the Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act by October 27, 2002 will result in a 10% reduction in Byrne Formula Grant money.

COMPLIANCE CONSIDERATIONS

Part II of House Bill 1638 would bring North Carolina into compliance with the requirements of the Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act. This part requires a registered sex offender to notify the sheriff at registration if the person required to register is a student or employee of an institution of higher education, or expects to become a student or employee of an institution of higher education within one year of registering. If so, the offender must provide the name and address of the education institution at which the offender is a student or employed, or expects to be a student or employed. At any time, if a person required to register changes their academic status or employment status, either by becoming a student or employee of an institution of higher education, or by terminating enrollment or employment at an institution of higher education, they shall notify the sheriff not later than the tenth day after the change in status. Failure to comply with these provisions is a violation of G.S. 14-208.11, a Class F felony.

This part also require the Division of Criminal Statistics of the Department of Justice to notify the appropriate law enforcement unit at an institution of higher education as soon as possible upon receipt of registration information or notice of a change of academic or educational employment status. If an institution of higher education does not have a law enforcement unit, then the Division shall provide the information to the local law enforcement agency that has jurisdiction for the campus.

The Committee shall provide to the Department of Justice, along with the request, the fingerprints of the applicant, any additional information required by the Department of Justice, and a form signed by the applicant consenting to the check of the criminal record and to the use of the fingerprints and other identifying information required by the State or national repositories. The applicant's fingerprints shall be forwarded to the State Bureau of Investigation for a search of the State's criminal history record file, and the State Bureau of Investigation shall forward a set of the fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for a national criminal history check. The Committee shall keep all information pursuant to this subsection privileged, in accordance with applicable State law and federal guidelines, and the information shall be confidential and shall not be a public record under Chapter 132 of the General Statutes.

The Department of Justice may charge each applicant a fee for conducting the checks of criminal history records authorized by this subsection."

SECTION 14. G.S. 160A-304(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) A city may by ordinance license and regulate all vehicles operated for hire in the city. The ordinance may require that the drivers and operators of taxicabs engaged in the business of transporting passengers for hire over the public streets shall obtain a license or permit from the city; provided, however, that the license or permit fee for taxicab drivers shall not exceed fifteen dollars ($15.00). The ordinances may also specify the types of taxicab services which are legal in the municipality; provided, that in all cases shared-ride services as well as exclusive-ride services shall be legal. Shared-ride service is defined as a taxi service in which two or more persons with either different origins or with different destinations, or both, occupy a taxicab at one time. Exclusive-ride service is defined as a taxi service in which the first passenger or party requests exclusive use of the taxicab. In the event the applicant is to be subjected to a national criminal history background check, the ordinance shall specifically authorize the use of FBI records. The ordinance shall require any applicant who is subjected to a national criminal history background check to be fingerprinted.

The Department of Justice may provide a criminal record check to the city for a person who has applied for a license or permit through the city. The city shall provide to the Department of Justice, along with the request, the fingerprints of the applicant, any additional information required by the Department of Justice, and a form signed by the applicant consenting to the check of the criminal record and to the use of the fingerprints and other identifying information required by the State or national repositories. The applicant's fingerprints shall be forwarded to the State Bureau of Investigation for a search of the State's criminal history record file, and the State Bureau of Investigation shall forward a set of the fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for a national criminal history check. The city shall keep all information pursuant to this subsection privileged, in accordance with applicable State law and federal guidelines, and the information shall be confidential and shall not be a public record under Chapter 132 of the General Statutes.

The Department of Justice may charge each applicant a fee for conducting the checks of criminal history records authorized by this subsection.

The following factors shall be deemed sufficient grounds for refusing to issue a permit or for revoking a permit already issued:

(1) Conviction of a felony against this State, or conviction of any offense against another state which would have been a felony if committed in this State;

(2) Violation of any federal or State law relating to the use, possession, or sale of alcoholic beverages or narcotic or barbiturate drugs;

(3) Addiction to or habitual use of alcoholic beverages or narcotic or barbiturate drugs;

(4) Violation of any federal or State law relating to prostitution;

(5) Noncitizenship in the United States;

(6) Habitual violation of traffic laws or ordinances.

The ordinance may also require operators and drivers of taxicabs to display prominently in each taxicab, so as to be visible to the passengers, the city taxi permit, the schedule of fares, a photograph of the driver, and any other identifying matter that the council may deem proper and advisable. The ordinance may also establish rates that may be charged by taxicab operators, may limit the number of taxis that may operate in the city, and may grant franchises to taxicab operators on any terms that the council may deem advisable."

SECTION 15. If the Private Security Officer Employment Standards Act of 2002 is ratified by the United States Congress, the State of North Carolina declines to participate in the background check system authorized by that act as a result of the enactment of this act.

HOUSE BILL 1638:
Crim. Hist. Check/Conform Sex Off. Reg.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Haire
Date:	September 19, 2002	Summary by:	Susan L. Sitze
Version:	H1638-PCS4309-SA-50		Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1638 amends various statutes regarding criminal history checks to ensure that national criminal history checks will be allowed pursuant to those statutes after December 31, 2002, and allows the SBI to charge a fee to the applicant for conducting the checks. The bill also amends the sex offender registration statutes to conform them to the Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act.

PART I.

BILL ANALYSIS: Part I. of the proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1638 amends various statutes to ensure that after December 31, 2002, certain agencies and boards will be able to conduct national criminal history checks.

The agencies and boards covered by these statutes include:

- The Alcohol Law Enforcement Division when investigating ABC permit applicants
- Local Law Enforcement agencies when issuing precious metal dealer permits
- The Private Protective Services Board
- The Alarm Systems Licensing Board
- The Board of Law Examiners
- The Medical Board
- The State Board of Dental Examiners
- The Board of Pharmacy
- The Board of Mortuary Science
- The Real Estate Commission
- The Commissioner of Labor, when investigating Private Personnel Service license applicants
- The Structural Pest Control Committee
- Cities, when investigating Taxi license applicants

Any national criminal history checks conducted pursuant to these sections will be conducted through the State Bureau of Investigation (SBI) who is authorized to charge a fee to the applicant for conducting the check. The fingerprints and information will be submitted to the SBI by the licensing board or agency.

BACKGROUND: In April 2001, the FBI notified the SBI, after a review of the North Carolina statutes that authorize criminal history checks, that many of the State statutes did not meet the federal guidelines for access to FBI records. The original notice informed the SBI that as of May 1, 2002, background requests submitted to the FBI pursuant to those statutes would not be honored unless the statutes were amended to conform to the guidelines. The SBI obtained an extension of that date to December 31, 2002. This bill will conform those statutes to meet the guidelines.

The criteria established by the FBI, pursuant to P.L. 92-544, are as follows:

1. The statute must exist as a result of a legislative enactment;
2. It must require the fingerprinting of applicants who are to be subjected to a national criminal history background check;
3. It must, expressly ("submit to the FBI") or by implication ("submit for a national check"), authorize the use of FBI records for the screening of applicants;
4. It must identify the specific category(ies) of licensees/employees falling within its purview, thereby avoiding over breadth;
5. It must not be against public policy; and
6. It may not authorize receipt of the CHRI by a private entity.

Additionally, FBI policy requires that fingerprints be initially submitted to the state identification bureau (for a check of state records) and thereafter forwarded to the FBI for a "national" criminal history check.

The statutes addressed by the proposed committee substitute to HB1638 fail to meet criteria #2 and/or #3.

PART II.

BILL ANALYSIS: Part II. of the proposed committee substitute for H1638 will bring North Carolina into compliance with the requirements of the Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act. This part requires a registered sex offender to notify the sheriff at registration if the person required to register is a student or employee of an institution of higher education, or expects to become a student or employee of an institution of higher education within one year of registering. If so, the offender must provide the name and address of the education institution at which the offender is a student or employed, or expects to be a student or employed. At any time, if a person required to register changes their academic status or employment status, either by becoming a student or employee of an institution of higher education, or by terminating enrollment or employment at an institution of higher education, they shall notify the sheriff not later than the tenth day after the change in status. Failure to comply with these provisions is a violation of G.S. 14-208.11, a Class F felony.

This part also requires the Division of Criminal Statistics of the Department of Justice to notify the appropriate law enforcement unit at an institution of higher education as soon as possible upon receipt of registration information or notice of a change of academic or educational employment status. If an institution of higher education does not have a law enforcement unit, then the Division shall provide the information to the local law enforcement agency that has jurisdiction for the campus.

BACKGROUND: In October 2000, the President signed the Victims of Trafficking and Violence Protection Act (P.L. 106-386) into law. Part of that Act was designated as the Campus Sex Crimes

Prevention Act which added an additional requirement to State sex offender registry programs required under the Jacob Wetterling Crimes Against Children and Sexually Violent Offender Registration Program.

The Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act requires any person required to register under a State sex offender registration program to notify the State concerning each institution of higher education in the State at which the person is a student or works, and of each change in enrollment or employment status of the person at such an institution. The failure of a registrant to notify the State concerning enrollment or employment at an institution of higher education or the termination of such enrollment or employment constitutes a failure to register or keep such registration current and must be subject to criminal penalties. State procedures must also ensure that information concerning a registrant enrolled or working at an institution of higher education is promptly made available to a law enforcement agency having jurisdiction where the institution is located, and entered into the appropriate State records or data system.

Failure to comply with the requirements of the Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act by October 27, 2002 will result in a 10% reduction in Byrne Formula Grant money. North Carolina currently receives about 13 million a year in this type of grant money.

PART III.

Part III of the proposed committee substitute for H1638 provides that Part I is effective when it becomes law, and that Part II is effective September 30, 2002 and applies to offenses committed on or after that date. The remainder of the act is effective when it becomes law.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Justice: State Bureau of Investigation; Private Protective Services Board; Alarm Systems Licensing Board; Dept. of Crime Control & Public Safety: Alcohol Law Enforcement Division; ABC Commission; Board of Law Examiners; NC Medical Board; Board of Dental Examiners; Board of Pharmacy; Board of Mortuary Science; Real Estate Commission; Commissioner of Labor; Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services: Structural Pest Control Division

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: Allows the Department of Justice to provide criminal background histories to several state boards and local agencies on applicants for a variety of licenses and permits:

- Alcohol Law Enforcement Division, Dept. of Crime Control & Public Safety (ABC permits)
- Local law enforcement (precious metal dealers)
- Private Protective Services Board
- Alarm Systems Licensing Board
- Board of Law Examiners
- Medical Board
- Board of Dental Examiners (dentists, dental hygienists)
- Board of Pharmacy
- Board of Mortuary Science (funeral directors)
- Real Estate Commission
- Commissioner of Labor (private personnel services)
- Structural Pest Control Committee, Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services
- Local ordinances (taxis)

Provides that, if a criminal history check is requested, the Department of Justice shall conduct a state check and forward the applicant's fingerprints to the FBI for a national check. The DOJ may charge each applicant a fee for conducting the background checks. Finally, the legislation requires that applicants for ABC permits and precious metal dealer licenses submit fingerprints with their applications.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:
No estimate is available for the total number of new background checks that would be requested as a result of this legislation. If all of the above groups request background checks on all new applicants, there is the potential for more than 13,000 new background checks. However, Fiscal Research is unable to determine whether all groups would request background checks and whether checks would be requested on all applicants.

The March 2002 Office of State Budget and Management Report on DCI Fee Study indicated the Department of Justice's average cost to process a national background check is $12.18. The current fee charged by the Department of Justice to conduct a national background check is $38, of which $22 is remitted to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The report also indicated that the Department of Justice, as currently staffed, is able to accommodate an increase in background checks within its existing staffing level. Conversations with DOJ staff indicate that the DOJ can accommodate the additional workload generated by this bill with existing staff. The DOJ will also be able to charge fees to cover its expenses.

ALE – ABC permits. ALE currently conducts name checks of ABC permit applicants from its criminal information terminals. Under the proposed legislation, the ABC Commission may choose to request fingerprint background checks for some types of permit applications. In these cases, the ABC Commission would obtain the applicant's fingerprints and submit the fingerprint card along with the application to ALE. ALE would forward the fingerprint card to the DOJ, which would conduct a state background check and forward the fingerprints to the FBI for a national check. The ABC Commission has not yet determined the types or number of permit applications that it would like to submit for fingerprint checks.

Local law enforcement – precious metal dealers. Precious metal dealers are licensed through local law enforcement agencies, who are currently authorized to request background checks from DOJ for these licenses. There is no estimate available on the number of background checks currently conducted on these applicants or the projected number under this legislation.

Private Protective Service and Alarm Systems Licensing Boards. The Boards estimate that 575 applicants annually will submit fingerprints for a national criminal history background check.

NC Board of Law Examiners. The DOJ currently provides background checks on prospective lawyers. In 1999, 1,024 fingerprint checks were conducted for the Board. The state portion of the fee for these background checks is waived; this legislation authorizes the DOJ to charge applicants a fee for conducting the background checks (both state and national).

NC Medical Board. The Medical Board licenses doctors, physician's assistants, nurse practitioners, and clinical pharmacists. The Medical Board is authorized to request background checks through the DOJ. However, according to staff at the Medical Board, background checks are currently conducted through a private vendor. Due to the costs involved, these checks are not performed on the majority of applicants. The Board's administrative rules do not permit it to pass the costs of the background checks on to the applicants. This legislation would allow the DOJ to charge each applicant a fee for conducting the background checks. The Board distributed approximately 2,000 new licenses last year (most completed applications are approved for licensure). Under this proposal, the DOJ could receive approximately 2,000 new requests for background checks each year from the NC Medical Board.

NC Board of Dental Examiners – dentists, dental hygienists. The number of applicants for these licenses varies by month and year. In FY 2001, the Board received a total of 584 dentist and dental hygienist applications. The Board recently began conducting background checks on all applicants through a private vendor. Under the proposed legislation, the DOJ could receive requests for checks on all dental and hygienist applicants.

Board of Pharmacy. The Board does not currently request or conduct criminal history checks on pharmacist applicants, but it has considered conducting background checks through a private vendor. Under the proposed legislation, the Board may request checks through the DOJ. In FY 2000-01, 422 new pharmacists were licensed; in FY 1999-2000 there were 524 new pharmacists licensed. The total number of applicants is unavailable. Background checks could be requested for each applicant.

Board of Mortuary Sciences. In 2001, approximately 76 applicants were newly licensed as funeral directors, embalmers, and funeral service practitioners. The DOJ does not currently perform background checks for the Board, but would be able to do so under this legislation.

Real Estate Commission. Approximately 8,000 individuals applied for real estate licenses last year. The Commission currently conducts background checks only on applicants who pass the licensing exam and mention a criminal history, pending charges, or licensing violation in the character section of their application. These checks are conducted by a private vendor and paid for by the Commission. However, the Commission is currently working on a new policy, which it plans to put into effect January 1, 2003. Under the new policy, all applicants would be required to submit criminal records with their applications. These records must cover the past seven years and include a statewide criminal history check and a countywide check for any county outside of North Carolina in which the applicant resided during those years. Applicants would obtain and pay for the criminal record checks through private vendors; the Commission estimates that applicants will pay from $8 (state only) to $15 (state and county outside NC) for the background checks.

Under the proposed legislation, the Real Estate Commission would be able to request state and national background checks from the DOJ for each applicant, and DOJ would charge the applicants for the cost of the checks. At this time, Fiscal Research is unable to determine whether the Commission would request checks from the DOJ.

Commissioner of Labor – private personnel services. The Wage and Hour Bureau processes an average of three new license applications each year. If the Bureau chooses to request background checks, the DOJ can absorb the workload.

Dept. of Agriculture - Structural Pest Control Committee. In FY 2000-01, the Committee approved applications for 240 Certified Applicators, 1,566 Registered Technicians, and 38 Structural Pest Control licenses. The Department of Agriculture is authorized to request background checks from the DOJ, but has not made significant use of this service in the past. In FY 2001, the Department requested only one name check, and no fingerprint checks. The impact of this legislation on Structural Pest Control application policies cannot be determined.

Taxi Operators. In 2000, there were 2,170 licensed taxi cab drivers and chauffeurs in North Carolina. In 1999, there were 2,300. It is not known how many new drivers are licensed each year. Current law permits localities to request taxi driver background checks from the DOJ. Some cities, such as Charlotte, already require background checks for taxi drivers, so the DOJ workload from those cities would not increase as a result of this legislation. Other cities, however, may begin or increase their use of DOJ background check services.

SOURCES OF DATA: Estimates of the annual number of applicants who will submit fingerprints for background checks and the annual number of new licenses were provided by the boards responsible for licensing. The source of the cost data for the Department of Justice is the Final Report on the Study of the Cost of Providing Criminal Record Checks issued by the Office of State Budget and Management in March 2002. Data on licensed cab drivers was obtained from the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics Web site (www.bls.gov).

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS: Section 5 amends G.S. 84-24, allowing the DOJ to charge applicants to the Board of Law Examiners for the cost of the criminal background checks. Currently, state background check fees are waived for these applicants.

SENATE BILL 1268: Monroe Wheel Lock/Norwood Utilities/Mt. Gilead Annex

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Sen. Plyler
Date:	September 18, 2002	Analysis by:	Martha Walston
Version:	PCS4769-LBx-168		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1268 is a local bill that does the following:

- It allows the City of Monroe to use wheel locks on illegally parked vehicles.
- It allows the Town of Norwood to collect utility bills as if they were taxes due.
- It annexes noncontiguous territory to the Town of Mount Gilead.

The original bill only contained the City of Monroe part and was given a favorable report in Senate State & Local Government. The bill is effective when it becomes law.

BILL ANALYSIS: The proposed committee substitute is a local bill that does the following:

1. It allows the City of Monroe to adopt an ordinance for the use of wheel locks on illegally parked vehicles for which there are three or more outstanding, unpaid, and overdue parking tickets for a period of 90 days. The ordinance must provide for notice or warning to be affixed to the vehicle, immobilization, towing, impoundment, appeal, hearing, and an immobilization fee not to exceed $50. Municipalities are not responsible for damages to vehicles caused by people trying to free their car. The following municipalities already have this authority: Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Durham, Raleigh, Lenoir, and the central business district of Wilmington. Various other local acts have given similar authority to Charlotte (S.L. 2000-59 and S.L. 2001-88), Henderson and Asheville (S.L. 95-75), Greenville (S.L. 93-609), and Chapel Hill (S.L. 93-358).
2. It allows the Town of Norwood to collect utility bills (water and sewage) as if they were taxes due. This means the town may collect unpaid water and sewer bills in this manner when the person responsible for the bill fails to pay for more than 60 days after the bill becomes delinquent. The Town may use the same remedies that it can use to collect property taxes in G.S. 105-366 and G.S. 105-367. G.S. 105-366 gives the tax collector authority to levy on the delinquent person's personal property. G.S. 105-367 provides that the tax collector shall conduct the sale of the personal property, unless the governing body of the taxing unit authorizes the tax collector to direct the sheriff to execute on the property and conduct the sale. The following municipalities and county already have this authority: Richfield, Chadbourn, Mount Gilead, Stanfield, Locust, and Montgomery County.
3. It extends the corporate limits of the Town of Mount Gilead in Montgomery County to include certain noncontiguous property.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE CITY OF WILMINGTON TO LEVY A ROOM OCCUPANCY AND TOURISM DEVELOPMENT TAX.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Occupancy tax. – (a) Authorization and Scope. – If New Hanover County has created a Tourism Development Authority pursuant to Part VIII of Chapter 908 of the 1983 Session Laws, as amended, the Wilmington City Council may, by resolution, levy a local occupancy tax of three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or accommodation furnished by a hotel, motel, inn, tourist camp, or similar place within the city that is subject to sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(3). This tax is in addition to any State or local sales tax. This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by nonprofit charitable, educational, or religious organizations when furnished in furtherance of their nonprofit purpose.

Before adopting a resolution levying a tax under this section, the Wilmington City Council must hold a public hearing on the question. The City Council must give at least 15 days' public notice of the hearing, including details on the proposed uses of the tax proceeds. After adopting the resolution, the City Council must immediately forward a copy of the resolution to the New Hanover County Board of Commissioners and the county manager. A tax levied under this subsection shall become effective no earlier than February 1, 2003.

SECTION 1.(b) Administration. – New Hanover County shall collect and administer a tax levied under this section. Except as otherwise provided in this section, a tax levied under this section shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S. 160A-215. The penalties provided in G.S. 160A-215 apply to a tax levied under this section.

SECTION 1.(c) Definitions. – The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Downtown Wilmington. – The area consisting of the Central Business District, the National Register Historic District, and the area extending to the Holmes Bridge and the Cape Fear River in the city of Wilmington, North Carolina.

(2) Net proceeds. – Gross proceeds less the cost to the county of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer, not to exceed three percent (3%) of the first five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of gross proceeds collected each year and one percent (1%) of the remaining gross receipts collected each year.

(3) Promote travel and tourism. – To advertise or market an area or activity, publish and distribute pamphlets and other materials, conduct market research, or engage in similar promotional activities that attract tourists or business travelers to the area; the term includes administrative expenses incurred in engaging in the listed activities.

(4) Tourism Development Authority or Authority. – The Authority created by New Hanover County pursuant to Part VIII of Chapter 908 of the 1983 Session Laws, as amended.

SECTION 1.(d) Use of Tax Revenue. – If a tax is levied under this section, New Hanover County shall create a convention center account. The county shall remit the net proceeds of a tax levied under this section quarterly to the convention center account. Funds in the account, including interest or investment income on the account, may be used only as provided in this subsection:

(1) The county shall hold the funds in the convention center account, including interest or investment income, until one or more of the conditions provided in this subsection have been met. When any of the conditions provided in subdivision (2), (3), or (4) of this subsection has been met, the proceeds shall be used as provided in that subdivision.

(2) If, at the end of three years after the first levy of a tax under this section, the City of Wilmington has not demonstrated to the satisfaction of a Tourism Development Authority created by the county pursuant to a local act of the General Assembly that all financing and development arrangements for a convention center have been completed, the county shall remit all funds in the convention center account to the Tourism Development Authority. Thereafter, all tax proceeds remitted to the convention center account shall be remitted quarterly to the Tourism Development Authority. The Authority shall use these funds only to promote travel and tourism. For the purpose of this subdivision, completion of financing and development arrangements includes, at a minimum, obtaining financing commitments for construction, entering into contracts for construction and management, and securing the necessary land for the project.

(3) If, within three years after the first levy of a tax under this section, the City of Wilmington demonstrates to the satisfaction of a Tourism Development Authority created by the county pursuant to a local act of the General Assembly that all financing and development arrangements for a convention center have been completed, the county shall remit all funds in the convention center account to the City of Wilmington. Thereafter, except as provided in subdivision (4) of this subsection, all tax proceeds remitted to the convention center account shall be remitted quarterly to the City of Wilmington. The City of Wilmington may use the funds only for construction, financing, operation, promotion, and maintenance of the convention center. For the purpose of this subdivision, completion of financing and development arrangements includes, at a minimum, obtaining financing commitments for construction, entering into contracts for construction and management, and securing the necessary land for the project.

(4) If the condition set out in subdivision (3) of this subsection has been met but within four years after the first levy of a tax under this section, the City of Wilmington fails to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Tourism Development Authority that construction has begun on a convention center in Downtown Wilmington, then the city must return to the county any funds it received under this subsection that have not been spent or committed. The county shall use these funds and any tax proceeds remitted thereafter to the convention center account only to promote travel and tourism in the city. If the county has created a Tourism Development Authority pursuant to a local act of the General Assembly, the county must remit the funds and future tax proceeds to the Tourism Development Authority. The Authority shall use these funds only to promote travel and tourism in the city.

SECTION 1.(e) Reports. – Each entity responsible for administering and spending the proceeds of a tax levied under this section must each annually publish a detailed, audited report on its receipts and expenditures of the occupancy tax proceeds during the preceding year. The text of the report must be included in the minutes of the entity's governing body and placed on a public web site, and must be made available in hard copy upon request.

SECTION 2. City administrative provisions. – G.S. 160A-215, as amended by S.L. 2002-95, reads as rewritten:

"§ 160A-215. Uniform provisions for room occupancy taxes.

(a) Scope. – This section applies only to municipalities the General Assembly has authorized to levy room occupancy taxes. For the purpose of this section, the term "city" means a municipality.

(b) Levy. – A room occupancy tax may be levied only by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto. A room occupancy tax shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the second month after the date the resolution is adopted.

(c) Collection. – Every operator of a business subject to a room occupancy tax shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. The tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the taxing city. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The taxing city shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the city the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax. An operator of a business who collects a room occupancy tax may deduct from the amount remitted to the taxing city a discount equal to the discount the State allows the operator for State sales and use tax.

(d) Administration. – The taxing city shall administer a room occupancy tax it levies. A room occupancy tax is due and payable to the city finance officer in monthly installments on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the taxing city. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied. A room occupancy tax return filed with the city finance officer is not a public record and may not be disclosed except in accordance with G.S. 153A-148.1 or G.S. 160A-208.1.

(e) Penalties. – A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file a room occupancy tax return or pay a room occupancy tax as required by law is subject to the civil and criminal penalties set by G.S. 105-236 for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The governing board of the taxing city has the same authority to waive the penalties for a room occupancy tax that the Secretary of Revenue has to waive the penalties for State sales and use taxes.

(f) Repeal or Reduction. – A room occupancy tax levied by a city may be repealed or reduced by a resolution adopted by the governing body of the city. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the resolution was adopted. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax does not affect a liability for a tax that was attached before the effective date of the repeal or reduction, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal or reduction.

(g) This section applies only to Beech Mountain District W, to the Cities of Gastonia, Goldsboro, Greensboro, High Point, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Lincolnton, Lumberton, Monroe, Mount Airy, Shelby, Statesville, ~~and~~ Washington, and Wilmington, to the Towns of Beech Mountain, Carrboro, Jonesville, Mooresville, North Topsail Beach, Selma, Smithfield, St. Pauls, and Wilkesboro, and to the municipalities in Avery and Brunswick Counties."

SECTION 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 1720:
Wilmington Occupancy Tax

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. Wright
Date:	September 18, 2002	Summary by:	Trina Griffin
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition		Committee Counsel
	H1720-CSSVx-86 [v.3]

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1720, which received a favorable report by the Occupancy Tax Subcommittee, does the following:

- It authorizes the City of Wilmington to levy a 3% occupancy tax if New Hanover County has created a Tourism Development Authority. The tax could become effective no earlier than February 1, 2003.
- It provides that the occupancy tax proceeds are to be used for the construction, financing, operation, promotion, and maintenance of a convention center, if certain conditions are met. If those conditions are not met, the proceeds would be remitted to the Tourism Development Authority and used to promote tourism within the city.

CURRENT LAW: Wilmington does not have the authority to levy an occupancy tax. However, New Hanover County currently levies a 3% occupancy tax and forty percent (40%) of the net proceeds are distributed among the municipalities in the county in accordance with the method by which the 1% local sales and use taxes levied in the county are distributed. The proceeds distributed to the municipalities are used to promote travel and tourism.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Levy of Tax

The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1720 authorizes the City of Wilmington to levy a 3% room occupancy tax if New Hanover County has created a Tourism Development Authority. The tax could become effective no earlier than February 1, 2003.

Administration of Tax

New Hanover County would collect and administer the tax on behalf of the city. Once collected, the county is required to remit the funds to a convention center account.

Use of Funds

The funds in the convention center account may be used only as follows:

1) If, within 3 years after the first levy of the 3% tax, the City of Wilmington has demonstrated to the satisfaction of the TDA that all financing and development arrangements for a convention center have been completed, the county must remit the funds to the City of Wilmington to be used for the construction, financing, operation, promotion, and maintenance of a convention center. Thereafter, all tax proceeds remitted to the convention center account shall be remitted quarterly to the City of Wilmington.
2) If the conditions in 1) have not been met within 3 years, the county must remit the funds to the TDA to be used to promote travel and tourism.
3) If the conditions in 1) have been met but within four years after the first levy of the 3% tax, construction has not begun on a convention center, then the city must return any funds it received that have not been committed to the Tourism Development Authority. The Authority must use these proceeds to promote travel and tourism in the city.

Reporting Requirements

Each entity responsible for administering and spending the proceeds of the occupancy tax must annually publish a detailed, audited report on its receipts and expenditures during the preceding year. The text of the report must be included in the minutes of the entity's governing body and placed on a public web site, and must be made available in hard copy upon request.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Wilmington and New Hanover County.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law. However, the tax cannot become effective until February 1, 2003.

BILL SUMMARY: If New Hanover County creates a Tourism Development Authority, then the City of Wilmington is authorized to levy a 3% room occupancy tax. The bill applies all the standard provisions regarding the collection of the funds. In addition, the bill instructs New Hanover County to create a convention center account, with the county remitting the net proceeds of the tax to that account. (The bill assumes the county will collect the tax for the City of Wilmington). If at the end of three (3) years the City of Wilmington has not demonstrated to the Tourism Development Authority that all financing and development arrangements for a convention center have been completed, the revenues generated up to that time, the balance in the convention center account are forwarded to the Tourism Development Authority. The Authority is then instructed to use the funds to promote travel and tourism. All future occupancy tax revenues are to flow to the Authority. However, if the City is able to demonstrate within three years, to that satisfaction of the Authority, that all necessary arrangements are complete, the balance in the account will flow to the City of Wilmington to construct and operate a convention center. All future proceeds would also flow to the City for the same purpose, with one exception. If the city of Wilmington does not begin construction on a Downtown Wilmington convention center within one year of receiving the funds in the account, the unspent and uncommitted balance is to revert to the Authority, with all future funds also remitted to the TDA.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: It is assumed that the area will not see a decrease in its tourism industry or hotel occupancy rates due to the proposed legislation. The average room rate varies widely in Wilmington based on in and off-season tourism patterns. The proposed occupancy tax is levied against the gross receipt sales, thus revenues throughout the year could rise and fall with the seasonal room rates.

New Hanover County occupancy tax data were gathered from both the UNC-Wilmington Center for Business and Economic Services and the New Hanover County Finance Division. In fiscal year 2001-2002 New Hanover County collected $2.6 million from its 3% current occupancy tax. Wilmington is the largest municipality in the county, comprising approximately 50% of the population and industry in the area. The Cape Fear Coast Convention and Visitor's Bureau reports 7,365 rental units in New Hanover County, which includes 3,567 units in Wilmington. Thus, it is assumed that a Wilmington room tax would generate half of the revenue generated under the county tax at the same tax rate.

Fiscal Research typically increases occupancy tax estimates at an annual rate of 4%. However, a modest 1% annual growth rate is projected in Wilmington due to the fluctuating tourism industry in the area. Recent county annual revenues have increased (2000) and decreased (1999 and 2001) based on vacation trends, severe weather, and the economic situation in the country. Actual growth will vary depending on the economic recovery and local development and planning activities.

NOTE: The estimate for fiscal year 2002-03 assumes only five months of collections, as the bill specifics that the tax cannot be levied until February 1, 2003.

He asked that the committee concur. Representative Hill moved for concurrence of the bill. The committee concurred. The Committee Report, Bill, Bill Analysis, and Fiscal Note are included in Attachment 3.

Senator Kerr was recognized to explain HOUSE BILL 1670, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO CLARIFY THE EXPENSE ATTRIBUTION LAW AS IT APPLIES TO DEDUCTIBLE DIVIDENDS AND TO PROVIDE LIMITS ON THE POTENTIAL TAX LIABILITY. Senator Kerr stated that the Senate Committee Substitute for House Bill 1670 provided certainty and clarity to the expense attribution law as it applied to deductible dividends and provided limits on the potential tax liability. The bill assured the State of the revenues relied upon in its budget availability estimates for 2001 and 2002. Under the bill, the State could expect to receive approximately $57 million a year for 2001, 2002, and 2003 from the taxation of subsidiary dividends. Of this amount, the State expected to receive approximately $80 million in availability for the 2002-03 budget. The bill would become effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2001. The bill was back in the House for concurrence with the Senate changes. The original House Bill 1670 contained the House fee provisions. None of the original provisions of House Bill 1670 were in the Senate Committee Substitute. Most of the fee provisions in the original House bill were included in the budget conference committee substitute. Sabra Faires of the Department of Revenue stated that the Department is neutral about the policies involved in the bill. The Department felt this was a resolution to what was a problem. The Revenue Laws Study Committee would address concerns regarding the banks in the study bill. Representative Hill moved for a favorable report to the Senate Committee Substitute. The Committee recommended that the House concur. The Committee Report, Bill, Bill Analysis, and Fiscal Note are included in Attachment 4.

Representative Carey Allred was recognized to present HOUSE BILL 1679, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR THE INCORPORATION OF THE VILLAGE OF OSSIPEE AND THE SIMULTANEOUS DISSOLUTION OF THE OSSIPEE SANITARY DISTRICT. Representative Buchanan moved that the Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS) be before the committee for discussion. Representative Jarrell stated that the bill met all requirements of the law. Representative Buchanan moved for a favorable report. The committee gave a favorable report to the committee substitute bill, and an unfavorable report to the original bill. The Committee Report and PCS are included in Attachment 5.

Senator Rand was recognized to present SENATE BILL 832, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR CONTRACT FINANCING AND SURETY BONDS FOR SMALL BUSINESSES THAT CONTRACT WITH GOVERNMENTAL AGENCIES. Representative Buchanan moved that the Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS) be before the committee for discussion. Senate Bill 832 would create the N.C. Small Business Contractor Authority in the Department of Commerce to provide loan guarantees, loans, and surety bonds for financially responsible small North Carolina businesses that were unable to obtain adequate financing and bonding assistance in connection with contracts. Senator Rand responded to questions from the committee. The bill would allow small businesses to apply for bonding. The bill had the support of minority small businesses, and would help minority contractors and female businesses. Representative Cunningham moved for a favorable report to the House Committee Substitute Bill, and an unfavorable report to the Committee Substitute Bill. The PCS was given a favorable report. The Committee Report, PCS, Bill Analysis, and Fiscal Note are included in Attachment 6.

Senate Bill 1455 would be heard at another meeting. The meeting adjourned at 9:20 a.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Blinda Edwards

SECTION 1. The title of Part 2 of Article 3B of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes reads as rewritten:

"Part 2. Guaranteed Energy Savings Contracts for ~~Local~~ Governmental Units."

SECTION 2. G.S. 143-64.17 reads as rewritten:

"§ 143-64.17. Definitions.

As used in this Part:

(1) "Energy conservation measure" means a facility alteration, training, or services related to the operation of the facility, when the alteration, training, or services provide anticipated energy savings. Energy conservation measure includes any of the following:

a. Insulation of the building structure and systems within the building.

b. Storm windows or doors, caulking, weatherstripping, multiglazed windows or doors, heat-absorbing or heat-reflective glazed or coated window or door systems, additional glazing, reductions in glass area, or other window or door system modifications that reduce energy consumption.

c. Automatic energy control systems.

d. Heating, ventilating, or air-conditioning system modifications or replacements.

e. Replacement or modification of lighting fixtures to increase the energy efficiency of a lighting system without increasing the overall illumination of a facility, unless an increase in illumination is necessary to conform to the applicable State or

f. Energy recovery systems.

g. Cogeneration systems that produce steam or forms of energy such as heat, as well as electricity, for use primarily within a building or complex of buildings.

h. Other energy conservation measures.

(2) "Energy savings" means a measured reduction in fuel costs, energy costs, or operating costs created from the implementation of one or more energy conservation measures when compared with an established baseline of previous fuel costs, energy costs, or operating costs developed by the ~~local~~ governmental unit.

(2a) "Governmental unit" means either a local governmental unit or a State governmental unit.

(3) "Guaranteed energy savings contract" means a contract for the evaluation, recommendation, or implementation of energy conservation measures, including the design and installation of equipment or the repair or replacement of existing equipment, in which all payments, except obligations on termination of the contract before its expiration, are to be made over time, and in which energy savings are guaranteed to exceed costs.

(4) "Local governmental unit" means any board or governing body of a political subdivision of the State, including any board of a community college, any school board, or an agency, commission, or authority of a political subdivision of the State.

(5) "Qualified provider" means a person or business experienced in the design, implementation, and installation of energy conservation measures.

SECTION 3. G.S. 143-64.17A reads as rewritten:

"§ 143-64.17A. Solicitation of guaranteed energy savings contracts.

(a) Before entering into a guaranteed energy savings contract, a ~~local~~ governmental unit shall issue a request for proposals. Notice of the request shall be published at least 15 days in advance of the time specified for opening of the proposals in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the geographic area for which the local governmental unit is ~~responsible.~~responsible or, in the case of a State governmental unit, in which the facility or facilities are located. No guaranteed energy savings contract shall be awarded by any ~~governing body~~ governmental unit unless at least two proposals have been received from qualified providers. Provided that if after the publication of the notice of the request for proposals, fewer than two proposals have been received from qualified providers, the ~~governing body of the local~~ governmental unit shall again publish notice of the request and if as a result of the second notice, one or more proposals by qualified providers are received, the ~~governing body~~governmental unit may then open the proposals and select a qualified provider even if only one proposal is received.

(b) The ~~local~~ governmental unit shall evaluate a sealed proposal from any qualified provider. Proposals shall contain estimates of all costs of installation, modification, or remodeling, including costs of design, engineering, installation, maintenance, repairs, ~~and~~ debt service, and estimates of energy savings.

(c) ~~Proposals~~ In the case of a local governmental unit, proposals received pursuant to this section shall be opened by a member or an employee of the governing body of the local governmental unit at a public opening at which the contents of the proposals shall be announced and recorded in the minutes of the governing body. The aggregate principal amount payable by the State under financing contracts entered pursuant to this Article shall not exceed fifty million dollars ($50,000,000) at any one time.

"§ 142-64. Procedure for incurrence or issuance of financing contract.

(a) When a State governmental unit has solicited a guaranteed energy conservation measure, the State governmental unit shall request that the State Treasurer approve the State governmental unit's entering into a financing contract to finance the cost of the energy conservation measure. In connection with the request, the State governmental unit shall provide to the State Treasurer any information the State Treasurer requests in order to evaluate the request. In the event that the State Treasurer determines that financing efficiencies will be realized through the combining of financing contracts, then the State Treasurer is authorized to execute and deliver, for and on behalf of the State of North Carolina, subject to the terms and conditions set forth in this Article, a financing contract for the purpose of financing the cost of the multiple energy conservation measures.

(b) A financing contract may be entered into pursuant to this Article only after all of the following conditions are met:

(1) The Office of State Budget and Management has certified that resources are expected to be available to the State to pay the payments to fall due under the financing contract as they become due and payable.

(2) The Council of State has approved the execution and delivery of the financing contract by resolution that sets forth all of the following:

a. The not-to-exceed term or final maturity of the financing contract, which shall be no later than 12 years from the date the financing contract is entered.

b. The not-to-exceed interest rate or rates (or the equivalent thereof), which may be fixed or vary over a period of time, with respect to the financing contract.

c. The appropriate officers of the State to execute and deliver the financing contract and all other documentation relating to it.

(3) The State Treasurer has approved the financing contract and all other documentation related to it, including any deed of trust, security agreement, trust agreement or any credit facility.

The resolution of the Council of State shall include any other matters the Council of State considers appropriate.

(c) In determining whether to approve a financing contract under subdivision (b)(3) of this section, the State Treasurer may consider the factors the State Treasurer considers relevant in order to find and determine all of the following:

(1) The principal amount to be advanced to the State under the financing contract is adequate and not excessive for the purpose of paying the cost of the energy conservation measure.

(2) The increase, if any, in State revenues necessary to pay the sums to become due under the financing contract are not excessive.

(3) The financing contract can be entered into on terms desirable to the State.

(4) In the case of delivery of certificates of participation, the sale of certificates of participation will not have an adverse effect upon any scheduled or proposed sale of obligations of the State or any State agency.

(d) The Office of State Budget and Management is authorized to certify that funds are expected to be available to the State to make the payments due under a financing contract entered into under the provisions of this section as the payments become due and payable. In so certifying, the Office of State Budget and Management may take into account expected decreases in appropriations to the State governmental unit that will offset payments expected to be made under the financing contract.

"§ 142-65. Security; other requirements.

(a) In order to secure the performance by the State of its obligations under a financing contract or any other related documentation, the State may grant a lien on, or security interest in, all or any part of the energy conservation property or the land upon which the energy conservation property is or will be located.

(b) No deficiency judgment may be rendered against the State or any State governmental unit in any action for breach of any obligation contained in a financing contract or any other related documentation, and the taxing power of the State is not and may not be pledged directly or indirectly to secure any moneys due under a financing contract or any other related documentation. In the event that the General Assembly does not appropriate funds sufficient to make payments required under a financing contract or any other related documentation, the net proceeds received from the sale, lease, or other disposition of the property subject to the lien or security interest created pursuant to subsection (a) of this section shall be applied to satisfy these payment obligations in accordance with the deed of trust, security agreement, or other documentation creating the lien or security interest. These net proceeds are hereby appropriated for the purpose of making these payments. Any net proceeds in excess of the amount required to satisfy the obligations of the State under the financing contract or any other related documentation shall be paid to the State Treasurer for deposit to the General Fund of the State.

(c) Neither a financing contract nor any other related documentation shall contain a nonsubstitution clause that restricts the right of the State to (i) continue to provide a service or conduct an activity or (ii) replace or provide a substitute for any State property that is the subject of an energy conservation measure.

(d) A financing contract may include provisions requesting the Governor to submit in the Governor's budget proposal, or any amendments or supplements to it, appropriations necessary to make the payments required under the financing contract.

(e) A financing contract may contain any provisions for protecting and enforcing the rights and remedies of the person advancing moneys or providing funds under the financing contract that are reasonable and not in violation of law, including covenants setting forth the duties of the State in respect of the purposes to which the funds advanced under a financing contract may be applied, and the duties of the State with respect to the property subject to the lien or security interest created pursuant to subsection (a) of this section, including, without limitation, provisions relating to insuring and maintaining any property and the custody, safeguarding, investment, and application of moneys.

(f) The interest component of the installment payments to be made under a financing contract may be calculated based upon a fixed or variable interest rate or rates as determined by the State Treasurer.

(g) If the State Treasurer determines that it is in the best interest of the State, the State may enter into, or arrange for the delivery of, a credit facility to secure payment of the payments due under a financing contract or to secure payment of the purchase price of any certificates of participation delivered as provided in this Article.

"§ 142-66. Payment provisions.

The payment of amounts payable by the State under a financing contract and any other related documentation during any fiscal biennium or fiscal year shall be limited to funds appropriated for that purpose by the General Assembly in its discretion. No provision of this Article and no financing contract or any other related documentation shall be construed or interpreted as creating a pledge of the faith and credit of the State or any agency, department, or commission of the State within the meaning of any constitutional debt limitation.

"§ 142-67. Certificates of participation.

(a) If the State Treasurer determines that the State would realize debt service savings under one or more financing contracts if certificates of participation are issued with respect to the rights to receive payments under the financing contract, then the State Treasurer is authorized to take actions, with the consent of the Council of State, that will effectuate the delivery of certificates of participation for that purpose.

(b) Terms; Interest. – Certificates of participation may be sold by the State Treasurer in the manner, either at public or private sale, and for any price or prices that the State Treasurer determines to be in the best interest of the State and to effect the purposes of this Article, except that the terms of the sale must also be approved by the special corporation. Interest payable with respect to certificates of participation shall accrue at the rate or rates determined by the State Treasurer with the approval of the special corporation.

(c) Trust Agreement. – Certificates of participation may be delivered pursuant to a trust agreement or similar instrument with a corporate trustee approved by the State Treasurer.

"§ 142-68. Tax exemption.

HOUSE BILL 623 (PCCS): State Energy Conservation Program

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee: House Finance
Date: September 25, 2002
Version: Conference Agreement

Staff Attorney

SUMMARY: Authorizes the State to enter into up to $50 million of installment finance contracts to finance guaranteed energy savings measures. Under current law, local governments have the authority to enter into these contracts.

The proposed conference committee substitute for House Bill 623 is in House Finance for a recommendation as to whether or not the House should concur with the changes made by the conferees.

Since 1994, local governments have had the authority to enter into financing contracts to finance the cost of energy conservation measures. This authority is in Part 2 of Article 3B of G.S. Chapter 143. An energy conservation measure is an alteration, training, or services that will provide anticipated energy savings with respect to a facility. The financing contracts are known as guaranteed energy savings contracts. Under the contract to implement energy conservation measures, all payments, except obligations on early termination, are to be made over time and energy cost savings are guaranteed to exceed the cost of the contract. Local governments use installment purchase contracts to finance these expenditures. The authority for this type of local government debt is found generally in G.S. 160A-20 and, specifically with respect to guaranteed energy savings contracts, in G.S. 143-64.17C. The law provides that a guaranteed energy savings contract is not a pledge of the government's taxing power.

This bill would extend to State agencies the authority to enter into guaranteed energy savings contracts. The act provides that the State will use generally the same procedures for soliciting the contracts that apply to local governments under current law. The State Energy Office of the Department of Administration is required to adopt rules for agencies to follow in evaluating the contracts, subject to approval by the State Treasurer. State agencies that enter into guaranteed energy savings contracts are required to report to the State Energy Office which in turn reports annually to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations. The bill clarifies that State energy conservation measures are subject to inspection and compliance by the State Construction Office or the local building inspector. The bill provides that the cost of the evaluation of the contract by either an independent architect or engineer, or by the State Construction Office, and the costs of the necessary building inspections, shall be included in the cost of the contract.

Unlike local governments, State agencies do not have general authority to enter into debt in the form of installment purchase contracts. For this reason, Section 9 of the bill adds a new Article to Chapter 142 of the General Statutes providing the authority for State agencies to incur this type of debt. The aggregate principal amount payable by the State under these contracts is limited to $50 million. The debt is secured by a lien on or a security interest in any part of the property with respect to which an energy conservation measure is undertaken and/or the land upon which the property is or will be located.

There would be no pledge of the State's faith and credit or taxing power. Thus, voter approval is not necessary for the borrowing. If the State defaulted on its repayments, no deficiency judgment could be rendered against the State, but the property that serves as security could be disposed of to generate funds to satisfy the debt. The State could choose not to appropriate funds to repay the debt, but such a decision would have negative consequences for the State's credit rating.

Under the bill, the funds could be borrowed from the vendor with whom the agency contracts, or could be borrowed through the sale of certificates of participation (COPs). In a typical COPs transaction, a nonprofit corporation is organized for the purpose of entering into the installment purchase contract with the State. The nonprofit corporation then raises capital for the energy conservation measure being purchased by the State by assigning or participating out its rights to receive the installment payments to be made by the State pursuant to the contract. COPs are certificates that evidence that assignment of the rights to receive these installment payments; and it is through the sale of COPs to investors that capital is raised to acquire or construct the item being financed.

Before a guaranteed energy savings contract can be entered into, the Office of State Budget and Management must certify that resources are expected to be available to pay the amounts due under the contract. Next, the Council of State must approve the contract by resolution that sets out the maximum maturity, and the maximum interest rates. The maximum maturity may not exceed 12 years. The State Treasurer also must approve the financing, finding that the amount to be borrowed is adequate and not excessive and will not require an excessive increase in any State revenues to provide for repayment, and that the special indebtedness can be incurred or issued on terms favorable to the State.

POSITIONS:

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Administration's State Energy Office, State Construction Office and Division of Purchase and Contract; Department of State Treasurer, and all State governmental units.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 1, 2003 and applies to contracts entered into on or after that date.

BILL SUMMARY:

This bill amends the Guaranteed Energy Savings Contract law to make it applicable to State governmental units. Currently, the law only applies to local governments. Section 3 amends G.S. § 143-64.17 to outline the requirements for the evaluation of proposals in the case of a State governmental unit. Section 7 requires State governmental units to use guaranteed energy savings contracts when feasible. Section 8 outlines the guaranteed energy savings contract reporting requirements; authorizes local governmental units to use lease purchase and installment contracts to provide for acquisition, installation, or maintenance of energy conservation measures; authorizes State governmental units to finance the acquisition, installation, or maintenance of energy conservation measures; and outlines the existing statutes on inspection and compliance certification that are applicable to guaranteed energy savings contracts. Section 9 of the bill amends Chapter 142 of the General Statutes by adding Article 8 as the State Energy Conservation Finance Act. This article governs the authorization of finance contracts, the procedures for incurrence or issuance of financing contracts, the granting of security for financing contracts, payment provisions, the issuance of certificates of participation, the tax status of the financing instruments, the authorization to enter into other agreements related to the financing contracts or certificates of participation, and the investment eligibility of the financing instruments. Section 11 exempts the solicitation and evaluation of proposals for guaranteed energy savings contracts from the provisions of the Public Contracts Article of Chapter 143, except that the guaranteed energy savings contracts are subject to the minority participation requirements of G.S. § 143-128.2 and the adjustment and resolution of State board construction contract claims requirements of G.S. § 143-135.3.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

This bill allows State governmental units, which include the State or a department, an agency, a board, or commission of the State, including the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina and its constituents, to enter into guaranteed energy savings contracts. As defined in the bill, a guaranteed energy savings contract is a contract for the evaluation, recommendation, or implementation of energy conservation measures, including the design and installation of equipment or the repair or replacement of existing equipment in which all payments, except obligations on termination of the contract before its expiration, are to be made over time, and in which energy savings are guaranteed to exceed cost.

The potential effect of expanding the statute to require State governmental units to evaluate the use of guaranteed energy savings contracts and to authorize them to use such contracts when feasible is to increase the use of such contracts. Increasing the use of guaranteed energy savings contracts potentially will (1) increase the resources required to evaluate the use of the contracts and whether expected savings were realized (State governmental units and the State Energy Office), (2) increase the resources required to process the procurement of third party financing (Purchase and Contract and the Dep't of State Treasurer) and the additional requisitions for the purchase of equipment and materials for the guaranteed energy savings measures (Purchase and Contract), (3) increase the resources required to review plans and specifications for those measures that involve renovations to State buildings as well as to supervise and inspect the renovation work (Office of State Construction), (4) decrease the State funded resources required for energy expenditures (State governmental units), and (5) increase the State's debt burden.

The Fiscal Research Division's best estimate of the extent of the use of guaranteed energy savings contracts is based on the State's current repair and renovation needs as determined from a review of the Facilities Condition Assessment Program Report (FCAP) and the State's Six-Year Capital Improvement Plan (CIP). The Office of State Construction operates a Facilities Condition Assessment Program through which it maintains an automated inventory of all facilities owned by State agencies. As required by G.S. § 143-34.42, the inventory includes the location, occupying agency, ownership, size, description, condition assessment, maintenance record, parking and employee facilities, and other information to determine maintenance needs and prepare life-cycle cost evaluations of each facility listed in the inventory. The inventory is updated every three years. The CIP includes each agency's anticipated capital needs for each year of the six-year period. The CIP specifically identifies those requirements for repairs and renovations necessary to maintain the use of existing facilities. Each item in the CIP references the FCAP.

According to the Inventory of Capital Improvement Requests for State Government, Six Year Summary for FY 2001-2007 prepared by the Fiscal Research Division in December 2001, there are approximately $1.2 billion in repair and renovation needs statewide, including the universities. The Office of State Construction has identified energy related projects in the most recent FCAP report totaling $30 million. We also believe these projects could qualify for financing under this bill. While we recognize that not all of these projects would qualify, we also recognize the possibility that there are projects that are not on the list that could qualify for financing under this bill. The bill allows up to $50 million in guaranteed energy savings measures to be financed at any one time. Our best estimate, therefore, is that there will be between $30 million and $50 million in guaranteed energy savings projects.

Debt Burden

The bill provides that the aggregate principal amount payable under the financing contracts cannot exceed $50 million at any one-time. At the request of Fiscal Research, the Department of State Treasurer developed a debt service schedule for $25 million of financing through certificates of participation that would be issued on June 1, 2003 and another $25 million on the same date in 2004. The simulation assumed that the debt would be repaid over 12 years and that the average interest rate would be 5.35% on the 2003 issue and 5.65% on the 2004 financing. This would result in gross debt service requirements of $3.4 million for FY04, $6.8 million in FY05, and then declining amounts in future years. The total interest payments over the life of the $50 million debt would be $17.8 million. Thus, the total debt service requirements would amount to $67.8 million over a 13-year period. Please note that the simulation assumes full utilization of the $50 million authorization and specific timing for the issuance of the financing instruments. While we estimate that there are, at a minimum, $30 million in repair and renovation projects that could qualify for financing under a guaranteed energy savings contract, at this point Fiscal Research has no way to predict how much of the authorization will be used and when the instruments will be issued.

This debt from the financing of the guaranteed energy savings measures would count as part of the State's debt burden and therefore ultimately impact the State's credit rating. Though it is anticipated that the energy savings will be sufficient to pay debt service costs, in the event actual savings are not sufficient to cover debt service or are not restricted to meeting the debt service requirements, the State would continue to have a limited liability for the debt. We cannot estimate how much the State's debt burden and credit rating will be impacted by the guaranteed energy savings contracts.

Energy Savings

As noted above, we estimate that there will be between $30 million and $50 million in guaranteed energy savings measures at any one time. The debt service requirements over the repayment period on $50 million, assuming $25 million would be issued in each of the next two years, would amount to $67.8 million. By definition of a guaranteed energy savings contract, savings in the form of reduction in fuel costs, energy costs, or operating costs are expected to exceed the cost of implementing the measures. Therefore, assuming the full authorization is used, we expect that over the same 13-year period as the debt repayment, the total savings will exceed $67.8 million. On an annual basis, the savings should equal or exceed the annual debt service requirements. However, we cannot estimate the extent to which the annual savings will exceed the annual debt service requirement.

Adoption of Rules

The bill requires the Department of Administration, through the State Energy Office, to adopt rules for agency evaluation of guaranteed energy savings contracts after consulting with and obtaining the approval of the State Treasurer. The Department of Administration has an attorney on staff whose responsibilities include drafting rules. The Fiscal Research Division believes that the Department can factor the drafting of the rules into the workload priority for the attorney and would, therefore, not need any additional resources to fulfill this requirement of the bill.

Reporting Requirements

The bill requires State governmental units to report the contract terms to the State Energy Office and to annually report the status of the contract including any details required by the State Energy Office. The State Energy Office is responsible for compiling the information and reporting it to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations and to the Local Government Commission. These new reporting requirements will increase the workload for the State Energy Office. However, without a better estimate on the use of the guaranteed energy savings contracts, we cannot estimate the extent of the increased workload or the number, if any, of additional positions that would be needed to satisfy the reporting and evaluation requirements.

The Fiscal Research Division notes that the State Energy Office estimates that it will need four additional positions and operating costs based on its assumption that the State Energy Office would have the responsibility for setting up the rules, developing a standard request for proposal, working with all of the State agencies and universities on the process, overseeing the contracts, subbing measuring and verifying tasks to a third party, monitoring those subcontracts, and performing quality checks on the construction and performance. The Fiscal Research Division believes that these responsibilities, other than the adoption of the rules, are beyond what the bill requires the State Energy Office to do. Thus, we cannot agree with its estimate that four additional positions and operating costs are needed.

Operating Resources- Purchase and Contract

As noted above, the projects that are potentially eligible for financing under this bill are projects that are currently on the State's repair and renovation list. Typically, repair and renovation projects are funded with State appropriations. Administering these projects is included in the normal responsibilities of Purchase and Contract (P&C). To the extent that the guaranteed energy savings projects are the same as the energy related projects on the State's repair and renovation list, this bill does not increase these responsibilities any more than if the projects were funded with State-appropriated repair and renovation funds. Therefore, Fiscal Research believes that no additional resources are needed for P&C to fulfill it responsibilities for processing requisitions for additional equipment and materials.

Operating Resources- Office of State Construction

Fiscal Research believes for the reasons noted below that no additional resources are needed for State Construction as it relates to administering guaranteed energy savings contracts.

First, as with P&C noted above, to the extent that the guaranteed energy savings projects are the same as the energy related projects on the State's repair and renovation list, this bill does not increase State Construction's responsibilities any more than if the projects were funded with State-appropriated repair and renovation funds because administering these projects are within the normal responsibilities of State Construction.

Second, as provided for in Section 3 of the bill, any cost incurred by the Department of Administration in the evaluation of proposals can be charged to the State governmental unit who requested the proposal and any costs paid by the State governmental unit shall be included in the cost of the proposal. Specifically, Section 3 amends G.S. § 143-64.17A by adding a subsection that provides that in the case of a State governmental unit, any proposal for a guaranteed energy savings contract shall be evaluated by a licensed architect or engineer who is either privately retained, employed by the Department of Administration, or employed as a member of the staff of the State governmental unit. The Department of Administration may charge the State governmental unit if the Department's services are used for the evaluation and the State governmental unit shall include the cost charged by the Department in the cost of the proposal. A qualified provider of a guaranteed energy savings contract must include, in calculating the cost of a proposal, any reasonable fees payable by the State governmental unit. Thus, whether the Department of Administration participates in the evaluation of any proposals appears to be at the option of the State governmental unit. Fiscal Research has no basis for estimating how often the Department will evaluate proposals. Further, any cost incurred by the Department may be charged to the State governmental unit and financed as part of the cost of the proposal.

Third, Section 8 of the bill adds G.S. § 143-64.17K which provides that the architecture and engineering powers and duties of the Department of Administration shall not apply except that a State Governmental unit may elect to have an inspection and certification by the Department of Administration under G.S. § 143-341(3)d. (Note that G.S. § 143-341(3)d requires the Department of Administration to supervise and inspect all work done and materials used in the construction or renovation of all State buildings and all community college buildings whose plans and specifications must be examined and approved under § 143-341(3)(a.2); and no such work may be accepted by the State or by any State agency until it has been approved by the Department.) Again, Fiscal Research has no basis for estimating how often the Department will supervise and inspect the work done and materials used in a guaranteed energy savings projects. Any cost incurred by the Department related to supervision and inspection may be financed as part of the cost of the proposal.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO CLARIFY THE EXPENSE ATTRIBUTION LAW AS IT APPLIES TO DEDUCTIBLE DIVIDENDS AND TO PROVIDE LIMITS ON THE POTENTIAL TAX LIABILITY.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 105-130.5(c)(3) reads as rewritten:

"(c) The following other adjustments to federal taxable income shall be made in determining State net income:

...

(3) No deduction is allowed for any direct or indirect expenses related to income not taxed under this Part; provided, no adjustment shall be made under this subsection for adjustments addressed in G.S. 105-130.5(a) and (b). G.S. 105-130.6A applies to the adjustment for expenses related to dividends received that are not taxed under this Part."

SECTION 2. Part 1 of Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 105-130.6A. Adjustment for expenses related to dividends.

(a) Definitions. – The provisions of G.S. 105-130.6 govern the determination of whether a corporation is a subsidiary or an affiliate of another corporation. In addition, the following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Affiliated group. – A group that includes a corporation, all other corporations that are affiliates or subsidiaries of that corporation, and all other corporations that are affiliates or subsidiaries of another corporation in the group.

(2) Bank holding company. – A holding company with an affiliate that is subject to the privilege tax on banks levied in G.S. 105-102.3.

(3) Dividends. – Dividends received that are not taxed under this Part.

(4) Electric power holding company. – A holding company with an affiliate or a subsidiary that is subject to the franchise tax on electric power companies levied in G.S. 105-116.

(5) Expense adjustment. – The adjustment required by G.S. 105-130.5(c)(3) for expenses related to dividends not taxed under this Part.

(6) Holding company. – Defined in G.S. 105-120.2.

(b) General Rule. – For corporations other than bank holding companies and electric power holding companies, the adjustment under G.S. 105-130.5(c)(3) for expenses related to dividends not taxed under this Part may not exceed an amount equal to fifteen percent (15%) of the dividends.

(c) Bank Holding Companies. – For bank holding companies the adjustment under G.S. 105-130.5(c)(3) for expenses related to dividends not taxed under this Part may not exceed an amount equal to twenty percent (20%) of the dividends.

(d) Electric Power Holding Companies. – For electric power holding companies, the adjustment under G.S. 105-130.5(c)(3) for expenses related to dividends not taxed under this Part may not exceed an amount equal to fifteen percent (15%) of its total interest expenses.

(e) Cap for Bank Holding Companies. – After calculating the expense adjustment as provided in subsection (c) of this section, each bank holding company must calculate the amount of additional tax that results from the expense adjustments for the holding company and for every corporation in the holding company's affiliated group for the taxable year. If the expense adjustments result in additional tax exceeding eleven million dollars ($11,000,000) for a taxable year for the affiliated group, the affiliated group may reduce the amount of the expense adjustment so that the resulting additional tax does not exceed this maximum. This maximum applies once to each affiliated group each taxable year, whether or not the group includes more than one bank holding company.

The members of the affiliated group may allocate this reduction among themselves in their discretion. In order to take this reduction, each member of the affiliated group that is required to file a return under this Part and that has dividends for the taxable year must provide a schedule with its return that lists every member of the group that has dividends, the amount of the dividends, and whether the member is a bank holding company. In addition, the schedule must show the expense adjustments for those members whose additional tax as a result of the expense adjustment constitutes the maximum amount. In addition, each member must provide any other documentation required by the Secretary.

If the expense adjustment for an affiliated group is reduced under this subsection, and the return of a member of the group is later changed in a manner that reduces below the maximum the amount of additional tax for the group resulting from the expense adjustment, the Secretary may increase the expense adjustment for any member of the group in order to increase to the maximum the amount of additional tax for the group resulting from the expense adjustment. In this situation, the amount of the increase is considered a forfeited tax benefit with respect to the affiliated group for the purposes of G.S. 105-241.1(e). The date of the forfeiture is the date of the change that triggers the Secretary's authority to increase the expense adjustment. Any member whose expense adjustment the Secretary increases is liable for interest on the amount of the increase at the rate established under G.S. 105-241.1(i), computed from the date the taxes would have been due if the expense adjustment had been calculated correctly on the original return. The amount of the increase and the interest are due 60 days after the date of the forfeiture. A taxpayer that fails to pay the amount of the increase and interest by the due date is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 105-236.

(f) Credits for Bank Holding Companies. – If the affiliated group of which a bank holding company is a member is eligible for the reduction provided in subsection (e) of this section for a taxable year, the affiliated group is also eligible for a credit equal to two million dollars ($2,000,000). If the affiliated group of which a bank holding company is a member is not eligible for the reduction provided in subsection (e) of this section for a taxable year, the affiliated group is eligible for a credit equal to the amount of additional tax that results from its expense adjustments in excess of the amount of additional tax that would result from the expense adjustments if the expense adjustment of any bank holding company in the group were equal to fifteen percent (15%) of the holding company's dividends for that taxable year.

A credit allowed by this subsection may be taken in four equal, annual installments beginning with the later of the following taxable year or the taxpayer's taxable year beginning in 2003. The members of the affiliated group may allocate a credit allowed by this subsection among themselves in their discretion.

(g) Credit for Electric Power Holding Companies. – After calculating the adjustment for expenses related to dividends under G.S. 105-130.5(c)(3), each electric power holding company must calculate the amount of additional tax under this Part that results from the expense adjustment for the taxable year. The electric power holding company is allowed a credit for the following taxable year equal to one-half of this amount of additional tax.

As an alternative to taking this credit against its own tax liability, an electric power holding company may elect to allocate the credit among the members of its affiliated group. In this case, the credit must be taken in four equal installments beginning in the later of the following taxable year or the taxable year for which the taxpayer's final return is due in 2004.

(h) Limitation on Credits. – The credits provided in this section are allowed against the tax levied in this Part and the franchise tax levied in Article 3 of this Chapter. A taxpayer may claim a credit against only one of the taxes against which it is allowed. Each taxpayer must elect the tax against which the credit will be taken when filing the return on which the first installment of the credit is claimed. This election is binding. All installments and carryforwards of the credit must be taken against the same tax.

In order for a member of an affiliated group to take a credit, each member of the affiliated group that is required to file a return under this Part or under Article 3 of this Chapter must attach a schedule to its return that shows for every member of the group the amount of the credit taken by it, the tax against which it is taken, and the amount of the resulting tax. In addition, each member must provide any other documentation required by the Secretary.

A credit allowed in this section may not exceed the amount of tax against which it is taken for the taxable year reduced by the sum of all credits allowable, except tax payments made by or on behalf of the taxpayer. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward to succeeding taxable years."

SECTION 3. G.S. 105-130.8(a)(5) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Net economic losses sustained by a corporation in any or all of the 15 preceding income years shall be allowed as a deduction to the corporation subject to the following limitations:

...

(5) For purposes of this section, any income item deductible in determining State net income under the provisions of G.S. 105-130.5 and any nonbusiness income not allocable to this State under the provisions of G.S. 105-130.4 shall be considered as income not taxable under this Part. The amount of the income item considered income not taxable under this Part is determined after subtracting related expenses for which a deduction was allowed under this Part."

SECTION 4. G.S. 105-130.5(b)(3a) reads as rewritten:

"(b) The following deductions from federal taxable income shall be made in determining State net income:

(3a) Dividends treated as received from sources outside the United States as determined under section 862 of the Code, net of related expenses, to the extent included in federal taxable income. Notwithstanding the proviso in subdivision (c)(3) of this section, the netting of related expenses shall be calculated in accordance with subdivision (c)(3) of this section and G.S. 105-130.6A."

SECTION 5. It is the intent of the General Assembly that the provisions of this act are to remain in effect for taxable years beginning in 2001 and 2002. The Revenue Laws Study Committee shall study the treatment of expenses related to dividends received and other income not taxed and the taxation of affiliated corporations, of holding companies, and of financial institutions under current law. The Committee shall report to the 2003 General Assembly its recommendations for modifying the provisions of this act and other provisions of the taxes on corporations and businesses in order to provide for a more equitable and stable source of revenue. It is the intent of the General Assembly to address the issues raised by this act during the 2003 Regular Session and enact changes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2003.

SECTION 6.(a) If a taxpayer meets the condition set out in subsection (c) of this section, then, notwithstanding G.S. 105-163.41, no addition to tax may be made under that statute for a taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 2002, and before January 1, 2003, with respect to an underpayment of corporate income tax to the extent the underpayment was created or increased by Section 3 of S.L. 2001-327. This subsection does not apply to any underpayment of an installment of estimated tax that is due more than 15 days after the date this act becomes law.

SECTION 6.(b) If a taxpayer meets the condition set out in subsection (c) of this section, then, notwithstanding G.S. 105-236(4), the penalty under that statute for a taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 2001, and before January 1, 2002, is waived with respect to failure to pay an amount of corporate income tax due to the extent the amount of tax due was created by Section 3 of S.L. 2001-327. This subsection does not apply to any amount of corporate income tax that was due more than 15 days after the date this act becomes law.

SECTION 6.(c) In order to qualify for the benefit of this section, a taxpayer must pay within 15 days after the date this act becomes law all tax due by that date that was created or increased by Section 3 of S.L. 2001-327.

SECTION 7. This act is effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2001.

HOUSE BILL 1670:
Subsidiary Dividend Changes

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:
Date:	September 26, 2002	Summary by:	Cindy Avrette
Version:	4th Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The Senate Committee Substitute for House Bill 1670 provides certainty and clarity to the expense attribution law as it applies to deductible dividends and provides limits on the potential tax liability. The bill assures the State of the revenues relied upon in its budget availability estimates for 2001 and 2002. Under the bill, the State may expect to receive approximately $57 million a year for 2001, 2002, and 2003 from the taxation of subsidiary dividends. Of this amount, the State expects to receive approximately $80 million in availability for the 2002-03 budget. The bill becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2001

House Bill 1670 is back in the House for concurrence with the Senate changes. The original House Bill 1670 contained the House fee provisions. None of the original provisions of House Bill 1670 are in the Senate Committee Substitute. Most of the fee provisions in the original House bill were included in the budget conference committee substitute.

CURRENT LAW: In 2001, the General Assembly enacted legislation conforming to the federal dividends received deduction. The 2001 law eliminated the adjustments that had previously been required to reflect differences between the federal and State dividends deduction. Eliminating the adjustments also made the dividends subject to the N.C. law that expenses related to untaxed income cannot be deducted from taxable income. As a result, expenses related to deductible dividends must be netted from those dividends. The law did not provide guidelines for calculating the amount of expenses that are related to deductible dividends.

Without knowing exactly how to determine the amount of related expenses, taxpayers were faced with uncertainty and potentially greater liability than they had anticipated when the legislation was debated. The new law was expected to have an especially significant impact on bank holding companies and electric power holding companies, because federal law requires them to have multiple subsidiaries.

BILL ANALYSIS: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1670 provides clarity to the expense attribution law as it applies to deductible dividends and provides limits on the additional tax liability. These limits are calculated so that the bill should yield revenue at least equal to what had been included in budget availability estimates based on the 2001 law. The bill states the intent of the General Assembly that it will be effective during 2001 and 2002 but will be studied and then revised effective beginning with the 2003 tax year. However, the bill does not sunset. Here is an outline of the bill:

- The adjustment for expenses related to dividends may not exceed the following.
  - Most companies: 15% of dividends
  - Bank holding companies: 20% of dividends
  - Electric power holding companies: 15% of total interest expenses
- The additional tax that a bank holding company and its related companies must pay as a result of the expense netting is subject to a maximum of $11 million per corporate family.

- Bank holding company corporate families also receive a credit beginning in 2003. For bank corporate families that reach the $11 million maximum, the credit is $2 million. For other bank corporate families, the credit is equal to the amount of tax reduction that would result if bank holding companies were subject to a 15% cap rather than a 20% cap. These credits may be taken against income tax or franchise tax and are spread out over four tax years beginning in 2003.
- Electric power holding companies receive a credit equal to one-half of the additional tax that each must pay as a result of the expense netting. The credit is taken in the following year. The credit may be taken against income tax or franchise tax. As an alternative, an electric power holding company may elect to allocate the credit among the members of its affiliated group. If the electric power company makes this election, then the credit is spread out over four tax years, beginning in 2003.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS:

Section 1:	For federal tax purposes, dividends are deductible with no adjustment for related expenses. For State tax purposes, no deduction is allowed for expenses related to nontaxable income. Therefore, for State tax purposes, an adjustment must be made to federal taxable income to add-back any related expenses that were included in the federal deduction. This section provides that not all of the expenses must be added back by establishing a different adjustment for expenses related to dividends received that are not taxed.
Section 2:	This section establishes the adjustment for expenses related to dividends received that are not taxed by providing a cap on the amount of tax payable: 15% of nontax dividends for most companies; 20% of nontax dividends for bank holding companies; and 15% of total expenses for electric power holding companies. The bill also provides a credit for bank holding companies and electric power companies. Any unused portion of the credit may be carried forward to succeeding taxable years.
Section 3:	A conforming change to ensure that related expenses are deducted only once when calculating a corporation's net economic loss.
Section 4:	A conforming change that provides the same tax treatment for foreign source dividends as domestic source dividends.
Section 5:	States the intent of the General Assembly to address the issues raised by this act during the 2003 Regular Session. The Revenue Laws Study Committee is to study the treatment of expenses related to dividends received and other income not taxed, and the taxation of affiliated corporations, of holding companies, and of financial institutions under current law and the Committee is supposed to report its recommendations to the 2003 General Assembly.
Section 6:	Provides that a taxpayer will not be subject to additional tax or to penalties for underpayment of a tax to the extent the underpayment was created or increased by Section 3 of S.L. 2001-327 IF the taxpayer pays all tax due that was created or increased by Section 3 of S.L. 2001-327 within 15 days after the date this act becomes law.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENTS AFFECTED: The corporate income tax is collected by the Department of Revenue. The enactment of the bill will not affect the department's budget requirements.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2001.

BILL SUMMARY: The 2001 General Assembly enacted legislation conforming state law to the federal rules for the deduction of dividends received. This would apply, for example, to dividends received by a holding company from its subsidiaries. The change eliminated the adjustments that had previously been required to reflect differences between the federal and State dividends deduction.

North Carolina has a general law that disallows the deduction of expenses incurred in earning income that is not taxable. However, there is an exception to the rule in cases where the federal and state laws differ regarding the taxability of an income item. Thus, prior to the 2001 changes, companies were able to use the exception to deduct expenses associated with income earned from subsidiaries. However, the adoption of federal conformity for the rules governing the deductibility of dividends effectively eliminated the deduction of expenses associated with subsidiary dividends. This meant that related expenses would have to be netted against the dividends that are deducted.

After the 2001 act was adopted, the Department of Revenue developed rules that companies could use to determine which expenses were associated with the deductible income. Since that time there has been much discussion about whether the Department's rules accurately attribute expenses incurred.

The Proposed Committee Substitute creates new statutory language that clarifies the expense attribution rules and limits the impact of the 2001 change on expense deductibility. Under the bill, the new rules will be in effect for the 2001 and 2002 tax years. For future years, the bill states the intent for the Revenue Laws Study Committee to review the issue and recommend modifications to the system. In addition, the language states that intent for the 2003 General Assembly to address the issues raised by this year's bill.

The new expense attribution rules are as follows:

1. The amount of related expenses that must be netted from deductible dividends is capped as follows:
   - Most companies — 15% of dividends
   - Bank holding companies — 20% of dividends
   - Electric power holding companies — 15% of total interest expenses

2. The additional tax that a bank holding company and its related companies must pay as a result of the expense netting is subject to a maximum of $11 million per corporate family.

3. Bank holding company corporate families receive a tax credit beginning in 2003. For bank corporate families that reach the $11 million cap, the credit is $2 million. For other bank corporate families, the credit is equal to the amount of tax reduction that would result if bank holding companies were subject to a 15% cap rather than a 20% cap. These credits may be taken against income tax or franchise tax and are spread out over four tax years beginning in 2003.

Electric power holding companies receive a credit equal to one-half of the additional tax that each must pay as a result of the expense netting. The credit is taken in the following year. The credit may be taken against income tax or franchise tax. As an alternative, an electric power holding company may elect to allocate the credit among the members of its affiliated group. If this election is made, the credit is spread over four tax years, beginning in 2003.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: The Department of Revenue has examined tax year 2000 tax returns from a group of selected large corporations and a sample of several hundred smaller corporations in order to analyze the impact of subsidiary dividends and associated expenses. In addition, Department personnel have had conversations with affected parties. Finally, Fiscal Research has been involved in numerous meetings on the issue with the Department of Revenue and the affected parties.

The 2003 General Assembly just enacted legislation modifying the 2002-03 budget. This package included $50 million in additional budget availability from a re-estimate of the 2001 bill. The adjustment came as a result of numerous discussions with the Department of Revenue and affected parties about the expense attribution rules. During the discussions, it was apparent that the 2001 session estimate of $32.3 million of impact understated the effect of the indirect change in the expense attribution rules. The reason for the under-estimate is that the Department of Revenue's analysis of the bill, which used confidential tax returns for the 1994 tax year and an update of the 1994 data, did not include financial institutions. The Department feels that if the affected bank holding companies fully comply with the 2001 law and administrative rules, the additional $50 million will be collected during the 2002-03 fiscal years.

Shown below is a comparison of the General Fund revenue anticipated under the original 2001 bill, the 2002 re-estimate, and the current proposal:

Additional General Fund Revenue ($Mil.)
	01-02	02-03	03-04	04-05
2001 Legislation	30.8	32.3	33.6	34.5
2002 Re-estimate*	30.8	82.3	83.6	84.5
HB 1670	30.8	82.3	59.9	62.9

* The actual impact per calendar year could be $120 million or more but is heavily dependent of the compliance of taxpayers affected by the 2001 change. The amount shown is the figure used in modifying the 2002-03 budget.

The analysis indicates that a major portion of the unanticipated 2001 tax year impact will be paid in 2002-03. The same pattern is likely to occur under the annual impact discussed in the first footnote.

2. Powell Bill Allocation Change

Annually state street aid or Powell Bill allocations are made to incorporated municipalities which establish their eligibility and qualify as provided by G.S. 136-41.1-.3. The amount allocated to each municipality is based on both population and qualifying street miles within the municipality.

FY 2001-02 population based allocations assumed a total, statewide municipal population of 4,086,685 and available funds of $101,578,822.46. This created a per capita distribution rate of $ 24.86.

Adding the new population of Ossipee (682) to the statewide total creates a new population of 4,087,367 and a per capita allocation of $24.852. The impact of this change on Alamance municipalities is as follows:

Municipalities	Population	Current Allocation	Prospective Allocation	Change
Alamance	311	7,730.23	7,728.97	(1.26)
Burlington	45158	1,122,449.24	1,122,266.62	(182.62)
Elon	6762	168,076.57	168,049.22	(27.35)
Gibsonville	4393	109,192.60	109,174.84	(17.77)
Graham	12894	320,493.83	320,441.69	(52.14)

Haw River	1918	47,673.89	47,666.14	(7.76)
Mebane	7318	181,896.53	181,866.94	(29.59)
Swepsonville*			-	-
Ossipee	682	-	16,949.06	16,949.06

3. Utility Excise Tax:

Of the 3.22% state excise tax rate on the in-state gross receipts of gas, power and light and telephone companies, 3.09 percentage points (or 96% of collections) are distributed to the respective municipalities within which these services took place. In 1998-99 the statewide total was $161.1 million.

Because Ossipee only incorporates new areas (areas not currently a part of another municipalities) no revenue shift is expected. Any revenue received by Ossipee from this tax would be new or drawn from the NC General Fund.

4. Reimbursements:

Since 1979 the General Assembly has made several changes to tax law that impact local governments. The state's cities and counties have received reimbursements from the state for some of these losses, particularly as they relate to the sales and property tax bases. The state reimburses local governments for property tax losses related to the repeal of taxes on inventories and intangibles, as well as some of the losses associated with the homestead exemption. Locals also receive a reimbursement for sales taxes that are no longer paid on items purchased with food stamps. These reimbursements total to $333.4 million annually. Normally, when a new town incorporates some existing municipalities may see a small decline in their distributions, with a tiny amount redistributed to the new town. However, because the reimbursements sunset June 30, 2003, the Town of Ossipee will not qualify for these funds.

Note: Population numbers used for sales tax and Powell bill allocation vary due to the year used by the controling agency.

(2) The loan is to be used to perform an identified contract, of which the majority of funding is provided by a government agency or a combination of government agencies.

(3) The loan is to be used for working capital or equipment needed to perform the contract, the cost of which can be repaid from contract proceeds, if the Authority has entered into an agreement with the applicant necessary to secure the loan or guaranty.

(c) Terms and Conditions. – The Authority shall set the terms and conditions for loans and for the guarantee of loans. When the Authority lends money from the Small Business Contract Financing Fund, it shall prepare loan documents that include all of the following:

(1) The rate of interest on the loan, which shall not exceed any applicable statutory limit for a loan of the same type.

(f) Limitation. – The total amount of loan guarantees and loans issued to each recipient during a fiscal year shall not exceed fifteen percent (15%) of the amount of money in the Fund as of the beginning of that fiscal year.

"§ 143B-472.81. Small Business Surety Bond Fund.

(a) Creation and Use. – The Small Business Surety Bond Fund is created as a special revenue fund. Revenue in the Fund does not revert at the end of a fiscal year, and interest and other investment income earned by the Fund accrues to the Fund. (5) Any other moneys made available to the Fund.

"§ 143B-472.82. Bonding assistance authorized.

(a) Guaranty. – Subject to the restrictions of this Part, the Authority, on application, may guarantee a surety for losses incurred under a bid bond, payment bond, or performance bond on an applicant's contract, of which the majority of the funding is provided by a government agency or a combination of government agencies, up to ninety percent (90%) of the surety's losses, or nine hundred thousand dollars ($900,000), whichever is less. The term of a guaranty under this section shall not exceed the contract term. The Authority may vary the terms and conditions of the guaranty from surety to surety, based on the Authority's history of experience with the surety and other factors that the Authority considers relevant.

(b) Notice. – When the Authority provides a guaranty under this section with respect to a contract, it must give the government agencies that are parties to the contract written notice of the guaranty.

No action by the Authority constitutes the creation of a debt secured by a pledge of the taxing power or the faith and credit of the State or any of its political subdivisions. The face of each guarantee issued or bond executed shall contain a statement that the Authority is obligated to pay the guarantee or bond only from the revenue in the Small Business Surety Bond Fund and that neither the taxing power nor the faith and credit of the State or any of its political subdivisions is pledged in payment of the guarantee or bond. Nothing in this subsection limits the ability of the Authority to obtain reinsurance.

(e) Limitation. – The total amount of bonding assistance provided to each recipient during a fiscal year shall not exceed fifteen percent (15%) of the amount of money in the Fund as of the beginning of that fiscal year.

(f) Payment. – If the Authority considers it prudent, it may require that payment be made either to the contractor and lending institution or to the bonding authority.

"§ 143B-472.83. Bonding assistance conditions.

(a) Requirements. – To obtain bonding assistance under this Part, an applicant must meet the eligibility requirements of G.S. 143B-472.78 and must demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Authority that all of the following apply:

(1) A bond is required in order to bid on a contract or to serve as a prime contractor or subcontractor.

(2) A bond is not obtainable on reasonable terms and conditions without assistance under this Part.

(3) The applicant will not subcontract more than seventy-five percent (75%) of the face value of the contract.

(b) Default. – If an applicant or a person that is a related party with respect to the applicant has ever defaulted on a bond or guaranty provided by the Authority, the Authority may approve a guaranty or bond under this Part only if one of the following applies:

(1) Five years have elapsed since the time of the default.

(2) Every default by the applicant or related party in any program administered by the Authority has been cured.

(c) Economic Effect. – Before issuing a guaranty or bond, the Authority must determine that the contract for which a bond is sought to be guaranteed or issued has a substantial economic effect. To determine the economic effect of a contract, the Authority must consider all of the following:

(1) The amount of the guaranty obligation.

(2) The terms of the bond to be guaranteed.

(3) The number of new jobs that will be created by the contract to be bonded.

(4) Any other factor that the Authority considers relevant.

"§ 143B-472.84. Surety bonding line.

The Authority may, on application, establish a surety bonding line in order to issue or guarantee multiple bonds to an applicant within preapproved terms, conditions, and limitations.

"§ 143B-472.85. Application.

To apply for assistance from the Authority under this Part, an applicant and, where applicable, a surety must submit to the Authority an application on a form prescribed by the Authority. The application must include any information and documentation the Authority considers necessary to enable the Authority to evaluate the application in accordance with this Part. The Authority may require an applicant to provide an audited balance sheet unless the Authority determines that such a requirement is not necessary or appropriate to fulfill the purposes of this Part.

"§ 143B-472.86. Premiums and fees.

(a) Amount. – The Authority shall by rule set the premiums and fees to be paid for providing assistance under this Part. The premiums and fees set by the Authority shall be payable in the amounts, at the time, and in the manner that the Authority requires. The premiums and fees may vary in amount among transactions and at different stages during the terms of transactions.

(b) Rate Standards. – The rate standards in G.S. 58-40-20 apply to premiums set by the Authority under this section. The Authority may also use the forms and rates of rating or advisory organizations licensed under G.S. 58-40-50 or G.S. 58-40-55. The Authority may vary from these rates in order to broaden participation by small businesses that are unable to obtain adequate financing and bonding assistance in connection with contracts. The premiums set and forms developed by the Authority under this section must be approved by the Commissioner of Insurance before they may be used.

(c) Forms. – The Authority shall develop forms to be used for financing and bonding assistance.

"§ 143B-472.87. False statements; penalty.

(a) Documents. – It is unlawful to knowingly make or cause any false statement or report to be made in any application or in any document submitted to the Authority.

(b) Statements. – It is unlawful to make or cause any false statement or report to be made to the Authority for the purpose of influencing the action of the Authority on an application for assistance or affecting assistance, whether or not assistance has been previously extended.

(c) Penalty. – A violation of this section is a Class 2 misdemeanor."

SECTION 2.(a) This act becomes effective January 1, 2003, and applies to offenses committed or causes of action arising on or after that date.

SECTION 2.(b) This act expires June 30, 2006. The expiration of this act does not affect prosecutions for offenses committed before that date, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions. The expiration of this act does not affect any guarantees or bonds executed prior to the expiration.

(3) The applicant must be a resident of this State or be incorporated in this State and must have its principal place of business in this State.

(4) The applicant must demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Authority that it has been unable to obtain adequate financing or bonding on reasonable terms through an authorized company. If the applicant is applying for a guarantee of a loan, the applicant must have applied for and been denied a loan by a financial institution.

"§ 143B-472.79. Small Business Contract Financing Fund.

(a) Creation and Use. – The Small Business Contract Financing Fund is created as a special revenue fund. Revenue in the Fund does not revert at the end of a fiscal year and interest and other investment income earned by the Fund accrues to the Fund. The Authority shall use the Fund to make direct loans and guaranty payments required by defaults and to pay the portion of the administrative expenses of the Authority related to making these loans and payments.

(b) Content. – The Small Business Contract Financing Fund consists of all of the following revenue:

(1) Funds appropriated to the Fund by the State.

(2) Repayments of principal of and interest on direct loans.

(3) Premiums, fees, and any other amounts received by the Authority with respect to financial assistance provided by the Authority.

(4) Proceeds designated by the Authority from the sale, lease, or other disposition of property or contracts held or acquired by the Authority.

(5) Investment income of the Fund.

(6) Any other moneys made available to the Fund.

(c) Emergency Funds. – If the Authority and the Secretary determine that the Small Business Contract Financing Fund does not have adequate funds, the Authority may request funding from the Contingency and Emergency Fund.

"§ 143B-472.80. Contract performance assistance authorized.

(a) Type. – The Authority is authorized to provide the following contract performance assistance:

(1) A guarantee of a loan made to the applicant.

(2) If the applicant demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Authority that it is unable to obtain money from any other source, a loan to the applicant.

(b) Qualification. – The Authority shall not lend money to an applicant or guarantee a loan unless all of the following requirements are met:

(1) The applicant meets the requirements of G.S. 143B-472.78.

(2) The loan is to be used to perform an identified contract, of which the majority of funding is provided by a government agency or a combination of government agencies.

(3) The loan is to be used for working capital or equipment needed to perform the contract, the cost of which can be repaid from contract proceeds, if the Authority has entered into an agreement with the applicant necessary to secure the loan or guaranty.

(c) Terms and Conditions. – The Authority shall set the terms and conditions for loans and for the guarantee of loans. When the Authority lends money from the Small Business Contract Financing Fund, it shall prepare loan documents that include all of the following:

(1) The rate of interest on the loan, which shall not exceed any applicable statutory limit for a loan of the same type.

(2) A payment schedule that provides money to the applicant in the amounts and at the times that the applicant needs the money to perform the contract for which the loan is made.

(3) A requirement that, before each advance of money is released to the applicant, the applicant and the Authority must co-sign the request for the money.

(4) Provisions for repayment of the loan.

(5) Any other provision the Authority considers necessary to secure the loan, including an assignment of, or a lien on, payment under the contract, if allowable.

(d) Maturity. – A loan made by the Authority shall mature not later than the date the applicant is to receive full payment under the identified contract, unless the Authority determines that a later maturity date is required to fulfill the purposes of this Part.

(e) Diversity. – In selecting applicants for assistance, the Authority must consider the need to serve all geographic and political areas and subdivisions of the State.

(f) Limitation. – The total amount of loan guarantees and loans issued to each recipient during a fiscal year shall not exceed fifteen percent (15%) of the amount of money in the Fund as of the beginning of that fiscal year.

"§ 143B-472.81. Small Business Surety Bond Fund.

(a) Creation and Use. – The Small Business Surety Bond Fund is created as a special revenue fund. Revenue in the Fund does not revert at the end of a fiscal year and interest and other investment income earned by the Fund accrues to the Fund. The Authority shall use the Fund for the purposes of and to pay the expenses of the Authority related to providing bonding assistance.

(b) Content. – The Small Business Surety Bond Fund consists of all of the following revenue:

(1) Funds appropriated to the Fund by the State.

(2) Premiums, fees, and any other amounts received by the Authority with respect to bonding assistance provided by the Authority.

(3) Proceeds designated by the Authority from the sale, lease, or other disposition of property or contracts held or acquired by the Authority.
(4) Investment income of the Fund.
(5) Any other moneys made available to the Fund.

"§ 143B-472.82. Bonding assistance authorized.

(a) Guaranty. – Subject to the restrictions of this Part, the Authority, on application, may guarantee a surety for losses incurred under a bid bond, payment bond, or performance bond on an applicant's contract, of which the majority of the funding is provided by a government agency or a combination of government agencies, up to ninety percent (90%) of the surety's losses, or nine hundred thousand dollars ($900,000), whichever is less. The term of a guaranty under this section shall not exceed the contract term. The Authority may vary the terms and conditions of the guaranty from surety to surety, based on the Authority's history of experience with the surety and other factors that the Authority considers relevant.

(b) Notice. – When the Authority provides a guaranty under this section with respect to a contract, it must give the government agencies that are parties to the contract written notice of the guaranty.

(c) Bonds. – The Authority may execute and perform bid bonds, performance bonds, and payment bonds as a surety for the benefit of an applicant in connection with a contract, of which the majority of the funding is provided by a government agency or a combination of government agencies.

(d) Obligation of State. – The total amount of guarantees issued and bonds executed shall not exceed ninety percent (90%) of the amount of money in the Small Business Surety Bond Fund. The Authority shall not pledge any money other than money in the Fund for payment of a loss or bond. No action by the Authority constitutes the creation of a debt secured by a pledge of the taxing power or the faith and credit of the State or any of its political subdivisions. The face of each guarantee issued or bond executed shall contain a statement that the Authority is obligated to pay the guarantee or bond only from the revenue in the Small Business Surety Bond Fund and that neither the taxing power nor the faith and credit of the State or any of its political subdivisions is pledged in payment of the guarantee or bond. Nothing in this subsection limits the ability of the Authority to obtain reinsurance.

(e) Limitation. – The total amount of bonding assistance provided to each recipient during a fiscal year shall not exceed fifteen percent (15%) of the amount of money in the Fund as of the beginning of that fiscal year.

(f) Payment. – If the Authority considers it prudent, it may require that payment be made either to the contractor and lending institution or the bonding authority.

"§ 143B-472.83. Bonding assistance conditions.

(a) Requirements. – To obtain bonding assistance under this Part, an applicant must meet the eligibility requirements of G.S. 143B-472.78 and must demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Authority that all of the following apply:

(1) A bond is required in order to bid on a contract or to serve as a prime contractor or subcontractor.

(2) A bond is not obtainable on reasonable terms and conditions without assistance under this Part.

(3) The applicant will not subcontract more than seventy-five percent (75%) of the face value of the contract.

(b) Default. – If an applicant or a person that is a related party with respect to the applicant has ever defaulted on a bond or guaranty provided by the Authority, the Authority may approve a guaranty or bond under this Part only if one of the following applies:

(1) Five years have elapsed since the time of the default.

(2) Every default by the applicant or related party in any program administered by the Authority has been cured.

(c) Economic Effect. – Before issuing a guaranty or bond, the Authority must determine that the contract for which a bond is sought to be guaranteed or issued has a substantial economic effect. To determine the economic effect of a contract, the Authority must consider all of the following:

(1) The amount of the guaranty obligation.

(2) The terms of the bond to be guaranteed.

(3) The number of new jobs that will be created by the contract to be bonded.

(4) Any other factor that the Authority considers relevant.

"§ 143B-472.84. Surety bonding line.

The Authority may, on application, establish a surety bonding line in order to issue or guarantee multiple bonds to an applicant within preapproved terms, conditions, and limitations.

"§ 143B-472.85. Application.

To apply for assistance from the Authority under this Part, an applicant and, where applicable, a surety, must submit to the Authority an application on a form prescribed by the Authority. The application must include any information and documentation the Authority considers necessary to enable the Authority to evaluate the application in accordance with this Part. The Authority may require an applicant to provide an audited balance sheet unless the Authority determines that such a requirement is not necessary or appropriate to fulfill the purposes of this Part.

"§ 143B-472.86. Premiums and fees.

(a) Amount. – The Authority shall by rule set the premiums and fees to be paid for providing assistance under this Part. The premiums and fees set by the Authority shall be payable in the amounts, at the time, and in the manner that the Authority requires. The premiums and fees may vary in amount among transactions and at different stages during the terms of transactions.

(b) Rate Standards. – The rate standards in G.S. 58-40-20 apply to premiums set by the Authority under this section. The Authority may also use the forms and rates of rating or advisory organizations licensed under G.S. 58-40-50 or G.S. 58-40-55. The Authority may vary from these rates in order to broaden participation by small businesses that are unable to obtain adequate financing and bonding assistance in connection with contracts. The premiums set and forms developed by the Authority under this section must be approved by the Commissioner of Insurance before they may be used.

(c) Forms. – The Authority shall develop forms to be used for financing and bonding assistance.

"§ 143B-472.87. False statements; penalty.

(a) Documents. – It is unlawful to knowingly make or cause any false statement or report to be made in any application or in any document submitted to the Authority.

(b) Statements. – It is unlawful to make or cause any false statement or report to be made to the Authority for the purpose of influencing the action of the Authority on an application for assistance or affecting assistance, whether or not assistance has been previously extended.

(c) Penalty. – A violation of this section is a Class 2 misdemeanor."

SECTION 2.(a) This act becomes effective January 1, 2003, and applies to offenses committed or causes of action arising on or after that date.

SECTION 2.(b) This act expires June 30, 2006. The expiration of this act does not affect prosecutions for offenses committed before that date, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions. The expiration of this act does not affect any guarantees or bonds executed prior to the expiration.

SENATE BILL 832:
Small Business Contractor Initiative/Funds

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Sen. Rand
Date:	September 24, 2002	Analysis by:	Martha Walston*
Version:	PCS to Third Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 832 would create the N.C. Small Business Contractor Authority in the Department of Commerce to provide loan guarantees, loans, and surety bonds for financially responsible small North Carolina businesses that are unable to obtain adequate financing and bonding assistance in connection with contracts. The Authority would be governed by 11 members and would administer two nonreverting special revenue funds (the Small Business Contract Financing Fund and the Small Business Surety Bond Fund.

The proposed committee substitute makes the following changes:

- Requires that the Attorney General certify that proposed financial assistance to be provided by the Authority does not constitute raising money on the credit of the State or pledging the faith of the State directly or indirectly for the payment of any debt as provided in Section 3(2) of Article V of the NC Constitution.[1] The earlier version required that certification be made by the State Treasurer and cited an incorrect section of the Constitution. (This change would exempt the bill from roll call under the Constitution. However the bill is still roll call under House Rules because it provides for payment of fees.)
- Changes the effective date from January 1, 2002 to January 1, 2003 and the sunset from June 30, 2005 to June 30, 2006.
- Makes other technical drafting changes suggested by the State Treasurer's bond attorney.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 832 would create the N.C. Small Business Contractor Authority in the Department of Commerce to provide loan guarantees, loans, and surety bonds for financially responsible small North Carolina businesses that are unable to obtain adequate financing and bonding assistance in connection with contracts. The PCS would become effective January 1, 2003. The Authority would administer two nonreverting special revenue funds.

- Small Business Contract Financing Fund – From this Fund, the Authority would provide loans and loan guarantees to small businesses to be used to perform government contracts.

[1] Section 3(2) of Article V provides: "The General Assembly shall have no power to give or lend the credit of the State in aid of any person, association, or corporation, except a corporation in which the State has a controlling interest, unless the subject is submitted to a direct vote of the people of the State, and is approved by a majority of the qualified voters who vote thereon."

*Staff Attorney, Martha Harris, contributed substantially to this summary.

- Small Business Surety Bond Fund - From this Fund, the Authority would guarantee sureties for losses incurred under a bid bond, payment bond, or performance bond on an applicant's government contract, and would execute and perform bid bonds, performance bonds, and payment bonds itself as surety for the benefit of the applicant in connection with a government contract. The Authority may provide assistance from the Surety Bond Fund only if the contract for which assistance is sought has a substantial economic effect.

The bill does not capitalize these Funds but states that they will consist of State appropriations, loan repayments, fee receipts, proceeds from the disposition of property held by the Authority, investment income, and other funds.

Financial assistance provided to a single recipient within a fiscal year from either fund may not exceed 15% of the total in that fund as of the beginning of that fiscal year. The total amount of guarantees and bonds provided from the Surety Bond Fund may not exceed 90% of the amount of money in that fund.

The federal Small Business Administration's standard is used to determine if a business is a small business. To be eligible for financial assistance, a small business must have a reputation for financial responsibility and must demonstrate that it has been unable to obtain adequate financing or bonding on reasonable terms. Businesses that receive financial assistance must pay premiums and fees established by the Authority.

The Authority shall set, by rule, the premiums and fees to be paid for providing finance assistance.

An applicant is guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor if the applicant knowingly makes or causes to be made any false statement or report to the Authority.

BILL SUMMARY

The bill creates an 11-member North Carolina Small Business Contractor Authority in the Department of Commerce to provide loan guarantees, loans, and surety bonds to small businesses. Assistance will be provided through the Small Business Contract Financing Fund and the Small Business Surety Bond Fund.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY

SPECIAL FUNDS

The Small Business Contract Financing Fund and the Small Business Surety Bond Fund are not funded in the bill. No General Fund appropriation was made to the two funds in SB 1115, Modify Appropriations Act of 2001. However, the bill allows the newly created Small Business Contractor Authority to request a portion of the Contingency and Emergency Fund money for the Small Business Contract Financing Fund. The Contingency and Emergency Fund has a $5 million General Fund appropriation in FY 2002-03 and no expenditures have been made from this fund this fiscal year. The two Small Business Funds can accept "any other moneys made available to the fund," but no sources have yet been identified.

Once the Funds are capitalized, the Authority can charge Fund applicants fees for services. Since the bill is permissive on charging fees and the Fund amounts are unknown, no estimate can be made on the revenue generated by these Funds.

AUTHORITY

The bill requires the Small Business Contractor Authority to meet within 60 days of the January 1, 2003 effective date. Authority members are allowed per diem expenses, but no money is appropriated for this cost in the FY 2002-03 budget. This fiscal note assumes that the Department of Commerce will use its General Fund budget to absorb the estimated $1,200 per meeting per diem costs. It is assumed that the Department will also expend General Fund dollars for meeting expenses such as meeting notices and will provide the staff time needed to establish and administer the Authority. At this time, the Department of Commerce has no information on how much the program will cost.

MISDEMEANOR

The Class 2 misdemeanor in the bill is a community sentence offense punishable by up to 60 days in the county jail. The jail costs of $40 a day would be paid by the county. No estimate can be made on how many offenses might occur.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS:

MINUTES
HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

September 30, 2002

The House Committee on Finance met on Monday, September 30, 2002, at 8:30 P.M. in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building.

Representative Paul Luebke, Presiding Chair, called the meeting to order and the following members were present: Representatives Gordon Allen and Monroe Buchanan, Chairs; Representatives Dewey Hill and Mary Jarrell, Vice Chairs; Representatives Martha Alexander, John Blust, Philip Baddour, Russell Capps, Leslie Cox, Pete Cunningham, Michael Decker, Beverly Earle, Rick Eddins, Zeno Edwards, Pryor Gibson, Lyons Gray, Joe Hackney, Hugh Holliman, Bill Hurley, Linda Johnson, Daniel McComas, Eugene McCombs, Edwin McMahan, Mia Morris, John Rayfield, Jennifer Weiss, Shelly Willingham, Connie Wilson and Larry Womble. Rita Harris, Appropriations Clerk, clerked the committee.

HOUSE BILL 1753, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO MAKE CHANGES TO THE BILL LEE ACT TAX CREDITS FOR INVESTING IN MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT AND FOR JOB CREATION, was before the committee for a second time today. The first meeting to hear this bill was from 3:30 P.M. until 6:45 P.M., at which time the meeting was adjourned for members to attend the 7:00 P.M. House session.

Chairman Luebke commenced the meeting by explaining that what the committee had before it now were changes to the bill that were taken as straw votes during the afternoon session; the bill was before the committee with the successful straw votes having been removed from the bill.

Rep. Bill Owens, bill sponsor, said the committee substitute needed to be passed tonight in order for Appropriations to hear it the following morning and he respectfully requested the committee to pass the committee substitute.

Rep. Buchanan stated that the bill was a big package at a late hour, that it would take money from the budget and that it would probably preclude removal of the ½ cent sales tax in July 2003; thus, he moved for an unfavorable report. Chairman Luebke declined the motion, but accepted a motion from Rep. Gibson to place the committee substitute before the committee for discussion.

Rep. Jarrell asked how much money remained in the bill. Staff explained that it was primarily the corporate rate change and the bonds that had major impacts. The debt service figures were read from the fiscal note.

Rep. Wilson urged a vote against the bill because it contained continuing expenditures. She felt the bill had merit, but that it needed to be studied, rather than given a favorable report. Rep. Holliman concurred with Rep. Wilson's plea to vote against the bill.

Rep. Blust spoke against voting for the bill at this late date and advocated waiting until next session for this type of legislation.

Rep. McMahan had a question about the Tobacco Trust Account. How much money actually are we talking - $25 million - diverting that into servicing the debt on these buildings – what is the total amount that is actually going into that account each year?

Mr. Johnson replied to Rep. McMahan's question that in the master settlement agreement for '03-04, they are forecasting that North Carolina would receive a total of $146 million dollars which was divided into three pieces – 50% of the money would go to the Golden Leaf Foundation, 25% to Health and Wellness and 25% to the Tobacco Trust. Rep. McMahan asked if we were actually taking out up to $26 million in '05-'06, $25.2 million of the Health and Wellness portion. Mr. Johnson replied that it was slightly different – '04-'05 would begin the first debt service payment of $6 million that would be for the biopharmaceutical facility - then the next year you go to bid on the cancer center - then we get to about $12.5 million a year from the Tobacco Trust and from Health and Wellness --the first year, only one project of about $6 million, $3 million from each trust fund.

Rep. Cox was concerned that the bill was being brought forth at such a late date and perhaps should be considered next session.

Rep. Womble suggested that the committee not rush through this and send it to a study committee.

Rep. Rayfield said he was not against the items in the bill, but felt that the timing was wrong. He expressed concern about funding for instructors and equipment for the cancer center, in addition to the $175 million for the building and what support the General Assembly would be required to give it.

Rep. Capps felt we needed to stop spending and kill the bill, but Rep. Hackney rebutted that this had nothing to do with the state budget because the money was from the tobacco settlement monies and not from the general fund. Rep. Hackney felt building the cancer center was an appropriate use of tobacco settlement monies.

Chairman Luebke called for a vote of Rep. Gibson's motion to give the PCS for H.B. 1753 a favorable report. The motion failed by a vote of 13-14.

Rep. Gibson made a motion for another PCS without the biotech piece, the cancer piece and the corporate income tax piece.

Canaan Huie said the following items would be in the PCS: Part 1A (Film Incentives & 1B (Condemnation Authority of Railroads) and 1D (Industry and Pollution Control Facility Bonds).

Rep. Gibson said that his motion took the majority of the money out of the bill because he felt that was the main opposition to the bill.

Chairman Luebke, prior to taking a vote on the motion, restated the parts of the bill that were still included: Sections 1A.1, 1A.2, 1B.1, 1D.1, 1D.2, 1D.3 and some general provisions at the end, 3.1 and 3.2 that remained in the committee substitute.

Rep. Holliman asked how much money was left in the bill.

Mr. Huie answered that the only piece left that had financial impact would be the grant portion and that was a limitation. It was a million dollar provision.

After considerable discussion, Rep. Luebke called for a vote on the motion to have the PCS before the committee. Division was called for and the motion passed by a vote of 15-12.

Rep. Gibson moved for a favorable report on his new PCS.

Rep. Gray sent forth an amendment to reinstate Sections 1C.1 and 1C.2, the corporate income tax reduction.

Rep. Hackney was opposed to the amendment because, being a tax cut, he felt it was not the appropriate time to reduce State revenues.

Rep. Buchanan said the committee was where it was at the beginning of the meeting, that he had understood there would no amendments, and that it would be voted up or down. He moved for adjournment, which failed by 16-10.

Rep. Weiss asked how much we would spend on the Bill-Lee Act next year. Staff replied it was around $172 million. She asked how much money was in the new economic incentive package that passed the House and was in the Senate now – the other part of this bill. Staff replied that in the original House version, the maximum impact from the grants was approximately $45 million per year – it was about $20 million per year in the Senate version, which did not include the tourism grants. She also asked how much "walk-around" money was in the Governor's budget for Commerce. Rep. Owens replied that there was no new money in it, but they had $4 million left from last year.

Rep. Gray called for the ayes and nays on his amendment. The vote was 20 in favor with 9 against.

Rep. Gibson moved for a favorable report as to amended PCS, unfavorable to original PCS. Vote was taken by voice vote and the PCS was given a favorable report.

There being no further business, the Chair adjourned the meeting at 9:20 P.M. to meet on Wednesday, October 2, at 8:30 A.M.

Respectfully submitted,

Representative Paul Luebke

SECTION 4.1. The General Assembly finds that there are small manufacturing companies in the State that are eligible for industrial development bond financing for capital improvements and expansions, but are not able to take advantage of that financing because of the administrative costs involved. This problem can be addressed by reviving the composite bond program under Chapter 159D of the General Statutes, under which the North Carolina Capital Facilities Finance Agency could combine several series of bonds into a single bond offering, thereby reducing transaction costs and permitting eligible small manufacturers to access tax exempt financing for capital investments. The composite bond program would be facilitated by the changes proposed to Chapter 159D in this part that will streamline the procedures for composite issues by requiring only one public hearing and align the review standard for bonds issued as part of a composite bond program with the standard for bonds issued by county industrial development projects.

SECTION 4.2. G.S. 159D-7(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) Public ~~Hearing.~~Hearing, Generally. – The Secretary of Commerce shall not approve any proposed project pursuant to this section unless the governing body of the county in which the project is located has first conducted a public hearing and, at or after the public hearing, approved in principle the issuance of bonds under this Article for the purpose of paying all or part of the cost of the proposed project. Notice of the public hearing shall be published at least once in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the county not less than 14 days before the public hearing. The notice shall describe generally the bonds proposed to be issued and the proposed project, including its general location, and any other information the governing body considers appropriate or the Secretary of Commerce prescribes for the purpose of providing the Secretary with the views of the community. The notice shall also state that following the public hearing the agency intends to file an application for approval of the proposed project with the Secretary of Commerce.

(d1) Public Hearing, Multiple Projects. – Notwithstanding subsection (d) of this section, in the event the bonds proposed to be issued are to finance more than one project, the public hearing shall be conducted by the agency or by a hearing officer designated by the agency to conduct public hearings. The public hearing may be held at any location designated by the agency. Notice of the public hearing shall be published at least once in at least one newspaper of general circulation in each county in which a proposed project is to be located not less than 14 days before the public hearing. The notice shall describe generally the bonds proposed to be issued and any proposed project in that county, including its general location, and any other information the agency considers appropriate or the Secretary of Commerce prescribes for the purpose of providing the Secretary with the views of the community. A copy of the notice of public hearing must be mailed to the board of county commissioners of any county in which a proposed project is to be located and to the governing body of any municipality in which a proposed project is to be located."

SECTION 4.3. G.S. 159D-8(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) In determining whether a proposed bond issue should be approved, the Local Government Commission may consider, without limitation, the following:

(1) Whether the proposed operator and obligor have demonstrated or can demonstrate the financial responsibility and capability to fulfill their obligations with respect to the financing agreement. In making such determination, the commission may consider the operator's experience and the obligor's ratio of current assets to current liabilities, net worth, earnings trends and coverage of fixed charges, the nature of the industry or business involved and its stability and any additional security such as credit enhancement, insurance, guaranties or property to be pledged or secure such bonds.

(2) Whether the political subdivisions in or near which the proposed project is to be located have the ability to cope satisfactorily with the impact of such project and to provide, or cause to be provided, the public facilities and services, including utilities, that will be necessary for such project and on account of any increase in population which are expected to result therefrom.

(3) Whether the proposed date and manner of sale will have an adverse effect upon any scheduled or anticipated sale of obligations by the State or any political subdivision or any agency of either of them."

SECTION 4.4. This part becomes effective January 1, 2003.

PART 5. GENERAL PROVISIONS

SECTION 5.1. The provisions of this act are severable. If any provision of this act is held invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction, the invalidity does not affect other provisions of the act that can be given effect without the invalid provision.

SECTION 5.2. Except as otherwise provided, this act is effective when it becomes law.

After a brief discussion, Representative Hurley made a motion for a favorable report. The motion carried.

The next bill on the agenda was SB 1455 A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO STRENGTHEN THE LAWS TO PREVENT SECURITIES FRAUD, TO PROHIBIT THE STATE FROM CONTRACTING WITH BUSINESSES THAT HAVE ANY OFFICERS OR DIRECTORS WHO HAVE BEEN CONVICTED OF SECURITIES FRAUD, TO PROHIBIT THE STATE FROM CONTRACTING WITH VENDORS THAT ARE INCORPORATED IN A TAX HAVEN COUNTRY BUT THE UNITED STATES IS THE PRINCIPAL MARKET FOR THE PUBLIC TRADING OF THEIR CORPORATION'S STOCK, AND TO CREATE A PENSION ASSURANCE FUND TO PROTECT THE RETIREMENT SAVINGS AND INVESTMENTS OF THE CITIZENS OF NORTH CAROLINA. Additionally the bill would prohibit the State from contracting with businesses that have any officers or directors who have been convicted of securities fraud within the past 10 years, prohibit the State from contracting with vendors that are incorporated in a tax haven country after December 31, 2001 but the United States is the principal market for the public trading of their corporations stock, and create a pension assurance fund to protect the retirement savings and investments of the citizens of North Carolina.

If the total consideration received, directly or indirectly, by the violator for a single act or for a series of related acts in a common scheme or plan is less than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), the person is guilty of a Class H felony.

(a2) Any person who willfully violates G.S. 78C-9 knowing the statement made to be false or misleading in any material respect shall be guilty of a Class H felony. Any other willful violation of G.S. 78C-9 shall constitute a Class 2 misdemeanor.

Upon approval of the Administrator, such employee may be appointed a special prosecutor for the district attorney to prosecute or assist in the prosecution of such violations without receiving compensation from the district attorney. Such special prosecutor shall have all the powers and duties prescribed by law for district attorneys and such other powers and duties as are lawfully delegated to such special prosecutor by the district attorney for violations of this Chapter.

(c) Nothing in this Chapter limits the power of the State to punish any person for any conduct which constitutes a crime by statute or at common law."

SENATE BILL 1455:
Strengthen Securities Fraud Enforcement Laws.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Sen. Rand
Date:	October 2, 2002	Summary by:	O. Walker Reagan, Staff Attorney
Version:	Proposed House Committee Substitute S1455-CSRUf-121

SUMMARY: The Proposed House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1455 would strengthen various laws prohibiting fraud in securities transactions and dealings by increasing criminal punishment for large-scale securities fraud, expanding civil remedies to recover damages arising from securities fraud, strengthening administrative and criminal powers of securities administrators, and authorizing additional securities investigators.

Additionally the bill would prohibit the State from contracting with businesses that have any officers or directors who have been convicted of securities fraud within the past 10 years, prohibit the State from contracting with vendors that are incorporated in a tax haven country after December 31, 2001 but the United States is the principal market for the public trading of their corporations stock, and create a pension assurance fund to protect the retirement savings and investments of the citizens of North Carolina.

This bill was referred to the Finance Committee in part because it increases fees in Sections 19, 20 and 22 to fund appropriations for three additional unsworn securities investigators in Section 35.

CURRENT LAW: Securities fraud committed in North Carolina by any person or any company is subject to both criminal and civil actions, whether or not the company is chartered in NC, and whether or not the security is registered in NC. Criminal violations of the securities fraud laws are punished as Class H felonies, regardless of the amount involved. In civil actions, the statute of limitations for securities fraud is two years and punitive damages are not allowed to be imposed.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 of the bill clarifies that the issuance of false or misleading securities analyses, reports or financial statements constitutes a deceptive or fraudulent manipulation of the market.

Sections 2, 4, and 21 correct an incorrect reference to GAAP (generally accepted accounting principles) accounting standards and allow the Securities Administrator to require audited financial statements, except when waived by the Administrator by rule or order.

Sections 3 and 18 amend the securities dealers and investment advisors registration laws to prevent the withdrawal of an application after investigation of a person's qualifications for registration has begun by the Securities Administrator. This will permit the Administrator to make an administrative determination that the person is not qualified for registration or is subject to revocation of registration which helps prevent a disqualified person from later registering or registering in another state.

Sections 5, 6 and 23 amend the civil damages remedies sections to authorize the recovery of punitive damages consistent with Chapter 1D of the General Statutes in addition to actual damages arising from securities fraud.

Section 7 specifies the civil liabilities for market manipulation in violation of G.S. 78A-12 and defines the measure of damages, including punitive damages.

Sections 8 and 24 conform and expand the liability of a person who controls another person who violates the Securities Act and the Investment Advisor Act and sets the standard as "in the exercise of reasonable care could have known."

Section 9 extends the civil statute of limitations under the securities law from two years after the date of the sale of the securities to three years after the discovery of a violation, but in no event more than five years, except for liability arising from a fraudulent or deceitful act committed to induce a person to postpone bringing an action, in which case the statute of limitations shall be three years from discovery.

Sections 10, 26 and 27 increase the punishment for criminal violations of the Securities Act, the Investment Act and the Commodities Act where total consideration lost totals $100,000 or more from a Class H felony to a Class C felony. This change makes the punishment for these types of white-collar crimes consistent with the punishment for other similar white-collar crimes including embezzlement and obtaining property by false pretenses.

Section 11, and the new G.S. 78C-39(a3) in Section 26, make it a Class H felony to willfully interfere with an investigation by the Securities Administrator, including the destruction of records. This statute is similar to the statute that makes it a crime to willfully interfere with an audit by the State Auditor that is punished as a Class 2 misdemeanor. (G.S. 147-64.7A).

Sections 12 and 13 correct the jurisdiction section of the Securities Act to subject unlawful manipulation of the markets under G.S. 78A-12 to sanctions under the Act.

Sections 15, 16 and 17 recodify an exception for registration as an investment advisor of a person registered under federal law.

Section 19 increases from $200 to $300 the filing fee for the initial or renewal registration of an investment adviser.

Section 20 increases from $200 to $300 the filing fee for the initial or renewal registration of an investment adviser covered under federal law.

Section 22 increases from $200 to $250 the annual renewal fee for renewing a registration statement relating to redeemable securities to be offered for a period in excess of one year, other than securities covered under federal law.

Section 25 amends the statute of limitations under the Investment Advisers Act to correspond to the changes made in Section 9 to the Securities Act. Here, the three-year statute of limitations from the date of the rendering of the investment advice in violation of the law would be replaced by a period of three years after the discovery of a violation, but in no event more than five years, except for liability arising from a fraudulent or deceitful act committed to induce a person to postpone bringing an action, in which case the statute of limitations shall be three years from discovery.

Section 28 adds investigations by the Securities Administrator to the list of circumstances when a governmental authority can get access to a customer's financial records held by a financial institution.

Section 29 amends a limited provision of the Administrative Procedures Act to authorize the Secretary of State to adopt temporary rules governing the conduct of administrative hearings.

Section 30 prohibits a vendor from entering into a contract with the State if any officer, director, or owner of the vendor has been convicted of a state or federal securities fraud violation within the 10 years immediately prior to the bid solicitation. This section requires vendors submitting a bid or contract to certify that none of its officers, directors, or owners has been convicted of any such violation. The submission of a false certification is a Class I felony. This section also provides that a contract with an ineligible vendor is void. However, the contract may continue in effect until an alternative can be arranged when (i) immediate termination would result in harm to the public health and welfare, and (ii) the Secretary of Administration approves the continuation. The requirements of this section do not impose a duty on any department, institution, or agency of the State government to investigate or verify the information contained in a vendor's certification.

Section 31 prohibits the Secretary of Administration from entering into a contract with a vendor or an affiliate of a vendor if the vendor or affiliate is incorporated in a tax haven country after December 31, 2001, but the United States is the principal market for the public trading of the corporation's stock. The vendor is required to certify, upon submitting a bid or contract, that it does not violate the provisions of this section. The definition of "tax haven country" is identical to the definition of the same term found in federal legislation currently before Congress that would prohibit the federal government from using defense-spending funds as payment on any new contracts with "corporate expatriates."

Sections 32, 33 and 34 provide for the creation of a Pension Assurance Fund in the Office of State Treasurer to protect the retirement savings and investments of employees in private industry who, through no fault of their own, have suffered significant losses due to securities fraud violations. This section directs the State Treasurer, in consultation with the Secretary of State, to develop legislative recommendations regarding the best methods for funding the Fund, including the use of punitive damages and treble damages awarded in actions involving securities fraud, and the proper guidelines for the payment of claims from the Fund. This section further provides that the Legislative Research Commission may study this issue and report its findings to the 2003 General Assembly.

Section 35 appropriates $151,125 for recurring expenses and $15, 990 for nonrecurring expenses for three additional unsworn securities investigators in the Secretary of State's Securities Division. The increase revenue arising from increases in the fees in Sections 19, 20 and 22 approximates the amount of this appropriation.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The criminal provisions of the bill become effective December 1, 2002. The appropriation section, the revenue sections, and the State contracting provisions are effective November 1, 2002. The remainder of the bill is effective when it becomes law.

This fiscal analysis is independent of the impact of other criminal penalty bills being considered by the General Assembly, which could also increase the projected prison population and thus the availability of prison beds in future years. BILL SUMMARY: (Summary provided by the Research Division of the NC General Assembly.) Securities fraud committed in North Carolina by any person or any company is subject to both criminal and civil actions, whether or not the company is chartered in North Carolina, and whether or not the security is registered in North Carolina. Criminal violations of the securities fraud laws are punished as Class H felonies, regardless of the amount involved. In civil actions, the statute of limitations for securities fraud is two years and punitive damages are not allowed to be imposed. The Proposed House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1455 would strengthen various laws prohibiting fraud in securities transactions and dealings by increasing criminal punishment for large-scale securities fraud, expanding civil remedies to recover damages arising from securities fraud, strengthening administrative and criminal powers of securities administrators, and authorizing additional securities investigators.

Additionally, the bill would prohibit the State from contracting with businesses that have any officers or directors who have been convicted of securities fraud within the past 10 years, prohibit the State from contracting with vendors that are incorporated in a tax haven country after December 31, 2002 but the United States is the principal market for the public trading of their corporations stock, and create a pension assurance fund to protect the retirement savings and investments of the citizens of North Carolina.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Secretary of State

General Fund Revenue. Sections 19, 20 and 22 of this bill would increase certain fees that are now charged by the Securities Division of the Secretary of State. The estimated additional revenue is $271,000 annually.

Specifically, Sections 19 and 20 would amend G.S. 78C-17(b) and G.S. 78C-17(b1) to increase the annual registration and notice filing fees for investment and adviser firms from $200 to $300. This will affect approximately 1,100 firms, which equates to $110,000 in additional revenue annually.

Section 22 would amend G.S. 78A-31(a)(4) to increase the annual renewal fee for mutual company notice filings from $200 to $250. This will impact 3,220 mutual funds and is expected to generate an additional $161,000 annually.

General Fund Operating Budget. The Department estimates that the Securities Division would need three additional unsworn securities investigators at a pay grade of 71 with annual salary of $33,284.to investigate complaints and to significantly enhance the enforcement of the securities fraud provisions. The positions are effective November 1, 2002 with a cost the first year per investigator as follows:

Cost per Securities Investigator (Unsworn)

Recurring		Nonrecurring
Salary	$22,189	Furniture/Equipment	$2,130
Benefits	$4,762	Computers	$3,200
Travel	$19,090
Communication	$867
Education/Other Expenses	$3,467
Total Recurring	$50,375	Total Nonrecurring	$5,330

The total recurring cost for the three investigators is expected to be $151,125. The nonrecurring cost is expected to be $15,990. For the front-page box, recurring costs are adjusted for annual inflation.

Correction

To project the impact of a bill on the prison population, the Sentencing Commission uses data based on offense codes from the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC).[1] Offenses that are infrequently charged or infrequently result in convictions are not assigned offense codes. Most violations of the statutes amended in this bill [G.S. 78A-8 through G.S. 78A-14, G.S. 78C-8(a)(1), G.S. 78C-8(a)(2), and G.S. 78C-8(b)] are not assigned offense codes. This is an indication that violations or convictions are relatively rare. Without offense codes and prior conviction rates, the Sentencing Commission cannot project the impact of this bill.

[1] The Sentencing and Policy Advisory Commission prepares inmate population projections annually. The projections used for incarceration fiscal notes are based on December 2001 projections. These projections are based on historical information on incarceration and release rates under Structured Sentencing, crime rate forecasts by a technical advisory board, probation and revocation rates, and the decline (parole and maxouts) of the stock prison population sentenced under previous sentencing acts.

Sections 10 and 26 of the proposed legislation would increase the penalty for securities fraud (in the above statutes) from a Class H felony to a Class C felony in instances where the value of the consideration or losses was $100,000 or more. If, for example, there was one conviction reclassified from Class H to Class C, there would be the need for one additional prison bed in the first year and two additional prison beds in the second year, due to active sentences and probation revocations.

These sections would also increase the punishment for willful violation of G.S. 78A-9 or G.S. 78C-9 from a Class I felony to a Class H felony if the person violating the statute knows the statement made to be false or misleading. If, for example, there were five convictions reclassified from Class I to Class H, there would be the need for one additional prison bed in the first year and one additional prison bed in the second year.

Also included in these sections as new offenses, other willful violations of G.S. 78A-9 and G.S. 78C-9 are punishable as Class 2 misdemeanors. The Sentencing Commission does not have any historical data from which to estimate the potential impact of this proposal on the prison population. It is not known how many offenders might be sentenced for this offense. In FY 2000-01, 11.8 percent of Class 2 misdemeanor convictions resulted in active sentences. The average estimated time served was 19.1 days. Offenders serving active sentences of 90 days or less are housed in county jails; the Department of Correction (DOC) reimburses county jails for the cost of housing offenders serving active sentences of 30 to 90 days. Therefore, Class 2 misdemeanor convictions that result from the broadening of this statute are not expected to have a significant impact on the prison population.

Sections 11 and 26 also create new Class H felony offenses. The Sentencing Commission does not have historical data from which to estimate the potential impact of this proposal on the prison population. If, for example, there were three Class H felony convictions for these offenses per year, this bill would result in the need for one additional prison bed the first year and two additional prison beds the second year due to active sentences and probation revocations.

Section 27 of the bill amends G.S. 78D-24 to punish (upon conviction) any person who willfully violates any provision of Chapter 78D (Commodities Act) as a Class H felon if the actual losses caused by the violation are less than $100,000 and as a Class C felon if the actual losses caused by the violation are $100,000 or more. Under current law, such a person is punished as a Class I felon. Every five convictions reclassified from Class I to Class H would result in the need for one additional prison bed in the first year and one additional prison bed in the second year. If, for example, there was one conviction reclassified from Class I to Class C, there would be the need for one additional prison bed in the first year and two additional prison beds in the second year.

The chart below describes the impact of each new or amended criminal penalty on the prison system in the first year (2003-04). Please note that due to active sentences and probation revocations, convictions of Class C felonies that lead to one new prison bed in 2003-04 will result in the need for two new prison beds in 2004-05. If, for example, there was one violation of each of the statutes listed (with losses at least $100,000) – and each violation resulted in a conviction - there would be the need for 9 new prison beds in the first year and 19 new prison beds in the second year. Each prison bed costs, on average, $23,831 to operate annually.

It is impossible to estimate the impact of the proposed legislation on the prison system, and available data indicate a range of possible results. Based on data from the AOC and the Securities Division of the Secretary of State's office, there is the potential for an increase in prison beds needed under SB 1455. AOC data indicates that as many as 55 convictions in calendar year 2000 might have been affected by the proposed legislation; AOC cannot determine the total number of convictions for these offenses or the proportion of convictions that would have been eligible for the higher felony class under this bill. Securities Division data indicates that only six individuals were charged – and might have been affected by the provisions in SB 1455 – in 2001. If there were no convictions under the affected statutes, there would be no impact on prison beds.

Based on the most recent population projections and estimated available prison bed capacity, there are no surplus prison beds available for the five year Fiscal Note horizon and beyond. This means that any increase in Class C felony convictions will impact the need for new prison beds. Due to the December 2002 effective date and time it would take for an offender to be convicted and begin serving a prison sentence, the prisons would not see a significant impact from this bill until FY 2003-04. For each additional prison bed needed in that year, the average statewide operating cost is estimated to be $71.34/day.

Only operating costs of new prison beds, not construction costs, will be included in the fiscal estimate under the following circumstances: (1) when a bill increases the inmate population in the first two years of the fiscal note horizon, FY 2003 and 2004; this is based on the assumption that Correction cannot build prisons quickly enough to house additional offenders before 2004-05 and, (2) if the number of beds is anticipated to be less than 400 beds total since it is not practical to assume DOC would construct a general population prison with fewer than 400 beds.

In practice under these circumstances, DOC will have to take all or one of several actions: purchase additional beds out of state or in county jails; pay counties to increase jail backlog; or, establish temporary beds in the State system. For these circumstances, the Fiscal Research Division (FRD) will use the DOC statewide average operating cost, plus 3% annually, to calculate the prison bed cost.

Judicial Branch

For most criminal penalty bills, the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) provides Fiscal Research with an analysis of the fiscal impact of the specific bill. For these bills, fiscal impact is typically based on the assumption that court time will increase due to an expected increase in trials and a corresponding increase in the hours of work for judges, clerks and prosecutors. This increased court time is also expected to result in greater expenditures for jury fees and indigent defense. The AOC relies on offense code data to project the court costs of a bill; the lack of data for these offenses prevents the AOC from estimating the court impact. However, the AOC does expect SB 1455 to have an impact on the court system. Extending the length of time for filing a civil lawsuit would result in more such lawsuits being filed and the availability of punitive damages would increase the complexity, and thus workload, of existing and new cases.

The AOC anticipates that many sections of the bill could have a substantial fiscal impact on the courts because they create new offenses not currently charged and elevate offense classes for existing offenses. Sections 11 and 26 of the bill create new Class H felony offenses for obstructing investigations under Chapter 78A (N.C. Securities Act) and 78C (Investment Advisers). Sections 10 and 26 enhance the punishment from a Class H felony to a Class C felony for any person who willfully engages in certain fraudulent practices if the total value of the consideration involved or actual losses caused in the violation or violations is $100,000 or more. Similarly, Section 27 enhances punishment from a Class I felony to a Class C felony if the actual losses caused in the violation or violations is $100,000 or more, and to a Class H felony if the actual losses caused in the violation or violations is less than $100,000. Sections 10 and 26 also make it a Class H felony rather than a Class I felony for any person to willfully violate G.S. 78A-9 or G.S. 78C-9 by knowingly making false or misleading statements in any material respect. These sections also impose a Class 2 misdemeanor for any other willful violation of G.S. 78A-9 or G.S. 78C-9.

As a result of the enhanced penalties under the bill, some defendants charged with Class H or Class I felonies under current law would be charged with Class C or Class H felonies. Moreover, defendants charged with Class C felonies would serve active sentences under the bill. The Securities Division staff of the Department of the Secretary of State notes that defendants convicted of the Class H or Class I felonies now do not typically have the requisite number of prior record level points to ensure that they serve active sentences. With upgrades in the offenses charged (particularly the more significant upgrades from Class H or Class I felonies to Class C felonies), all defendants would face active sentences (all sentences in Class C are active). More vigorous defense and prosecution, and more time and cost disposing of cases would accompany such enhancement. Trials and pleas would demand more court time and preparation time as a result of the stiffer penalties under the bill.

In addition, the bill expands the definition of "Investment advisers" (Section 17 of the bill) to include persons exempt from registration under federal law Section 203(b)(3) of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. Section 203(b)(3) exempts certain investment advisers from registering in order to use mails or any other means of interstate commerce in connection with his or its business as and investment adviser. Sections 15 and 16 of the bill further clarify that investment advisers exempt from registration under Section 203(b)(3) (or a representative of such a person) are allowed to transact business in the State as investment advisers or investment adviser representatives respectively. While it is possible that more investment advisers and their representatives could transact business in the State under the bill than before, conversations with Securities Division staff indicate that any such increase would be insignificant and impossible to quantify. According to the Securities Division staff, these changes would only move a small number of private investment advisers within the scope of the antifraud provisions in the State.

While the AOC expects these changes to affect the courts, it is unable to provide an estimate. Regarding the impact of the civil liability changes, the AOC expects increased complexity of civil cases and more civil lawsuits as a result of the inclusion of punitive damages and extension of the filing period. No securities cases have been assigned to the Business Court, which could suggest that the civil cases to date have not been so complex that assignment of those cases was warranted.

Regarding the criminal cases, the AOC also does not have offense codes for most of the offenses to which the bill would apply. Calendar year 2001 data, for the one offense for which there is presently an offense code (G.S. 78A-8), reveal no defendants charged with that particular offense. Available data for calendar year 2000 reveal 55 convictions under G.S. 78A-8. (These data come from a review of what the clerks entered into what is often referred to as "free text" fields. Since the clerks may enter anything, or nothing, into that field, the data reveal at best an order of magnitude. The 55 convictions are a significant number for this field.) AOC data do not reveal how many of those cases involved securities in excess of $100,000. If the crimes selected for prosecution often involve substantial securities, the $100,000 threshold may be crossed in the majority of cases. Enhancement from Class H to Class C felonies would translate into a substantial fiscal impact. These data, moreover, reflect convictions, not charges, and it may be assumed that the number of charges for this or similar offenses (to which G.S. 78A-8 could have been a plea) was significantly greater.

The Securities Division estimates that approximately 1,700 to 2,100 complaints are filed and investigated by their office each year. During calendar year 2001, only six arrests resulted from these investigated complaints. The Securities Division also estimates that 98 percent of the arrests resulting in criminal cases would be elevated to Class C felonies under the bill. According to the Securities Division, not many cases have arisen in the past because the cases are most often referred to individual district attorney's offices that may not have the necessary expertise or resources to prosecute these types of cases. As such, the Securities Division staff indicates that it is not unlikely for a district attorney to work out a plea agreement with a defendant before the defendant is charged or indicted. However, Section 35 of the bill does appropriate funds to provide the necessary resources (three additional unsworn securities investigators) to the Department of the Secretary of State to investigate complaints. Therefore, there may be significant enforcement of the provisions of the bill and substantial increases in the workload of the courts. While all these data collectively suggest a significant number of cases, the AOC is unable to estimate a specific number.

Finally, Sections 30 and 31 prohibit certain vendors from contracting with the State, and make false certification by unauthorized vendors a Class I felony. AOC staff reports that neither the Securities Unit in the Office of the Secretary of State nor the Purchasing and Contract Division of the Department of Administration (DOA) are aware of the number of vendors doing business with the State that have an officer, director, or owner of an unincorporated business entity, who within 10 years immediately prior to the date of the bid solicitation, has been convicted of securities violations under Chapter 78A or the Securities Act of 1933 or the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Under Section 30 of the bill, these vendors are unauthorized to do business with the State. However, the bill does not impose a duty on State entities to investigate the vendor's information. While the DOA plans to make vendors aware of the new law, it does not intend to investigate the information supplied by vendors. To the extent that vendors are charged with providing false certification, the courts will be impacted.

Office of the State Treasurer

This act creates the Pension Assurance Fund in the Office of the State Treasurer to protect the retirement savings and investments by citizens of North Carolina. The purpose of the Fund is to compensate private citizens who lose a significant portion of their retirement saving that were invested in 401(k) plans or other pension plans that were funded in whole or in part with employer stock. The State Treasurer and the Secretary of State are to develop recommendations for funding; including the use of punitive damages and treble damages involving settlements of suits involving securities fraud brought by the State or by private individuals. The State Treasurer and the Secretary of State are to make their recommendations to the General Assembly by March 1, 2003.

Several question relating to this Fund are:

- Role of the Attorney General's office?
- How will citizens receive settlement funds?
- Why not include public employees?
- Are IRAs covered?
- Will payment be made to plan members or to plan sponsors?
- Staff to take claims and determine loss of citizens?

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

October 3, 2002

The House Committee on Finance met on Thursday, October 3, 2002, at 8:30 A.M. in Room 544 of the Legislative Office Building.

Representative Paul Luebke, Presiding Chair, called the meeting to order and the following members were present: Representatives Gordon Allen and Monroe Buchanan, Chairs; Representatives Dewey Hill and Mary Jarrell, Vice Chairs; Representatives Leslie Cox, Pete Cunningham, Michael Decker, Zeno Edwards, Pryor Gibson, Lyons Gray, Hugh Holliman, Bill Hurley, Eugene McCombs, Edwin McMahan, John Rayfield, Jennifer Weiss, Constance Wilson, and Larry Womble. Staff members present were Cindy Avrette, Trina Griffin, Mary Shuping, and Richard Bostic.

Sergeant-at-Arms serving the committee were Bob Fowler, Dusty Rhodes, Ann Lassiter, and James Worth.

SENATE BILL 1281, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO CLARIFY TORT CLAIM AND DUTY TO DEFEND EMPLOYEES LIABILITY OF OCCUPATIONAL LICENSING BOARDS; TO MAKE VARIOUS CHANGES TO THE STATUTES GOVERNING THE REAL ESTATE COMMISSION; TO AUTHORIZE THE BOARD OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS TO RETAIN PRIVATE COUNSEL; AND TO REQUIRE PROFESSIONAL EMPLOYER ORGANIZATIONS TO REGISTER WITH THE DEPARTMENT OF INSURANCE, was before the committee for discussion.

Senator Tony Rand, bill sponsor, said that this bill was requested by licensing boards. He said that this was a regulatory bill, not a licensing bill. It made various changes to the laws governing occupational licensing boards. The bill authorized licensing boards to buy commercial insurance to cover all risks or liability, including the boards' liability for tort claims and defense of their employees. It authorized the Real Estate Commission to acquire and deal with real property, copyright its written materials, clarify the law on real estate exam scores, and gave the Board flexibility in disciplinary matters. The bill also authorized the Board of Landscape Architects to hire private counsel and added a requirement that Professional Employment Organizations (PEO's) doing business in the State register with the Department of Insurance.

Rep. Womble asked if the PEO's have to register, what liability would a person have for hiring a PEO who has committed an immoral or illegal act, would the person who was injured have a claim against the PEO or the employer, and what position did the Insurance Department or any other departments take on the bill.

Bill Hale, Insurance Department, said the Insurance Department supported the legislation.

Rep. Edwards said this was how HMO's started and assumed that the laws on the books that applied to HMO's could eventually be applied to the PEO's.

Rep. Rayfield asked about any clause or insurance that would protect employees from bad decisions of the employer or the PEO's.

Rep. Hill spoke in support of the bill, especially the PEO part, and moved for a favorable report.

Rep. Hurley supported the bill, but asked why the Real Estate Commission should own property.

Vote was taken on the bill and it was given a favorable report.

Rep. Allen said that this was possibly the last meeting of the 2001-2002 House Finance Committee and he recognized Rep. Mary Jarrell, Vice-Chairman of the Committee, saying that she was extremely knowledgeable about the tax laws of North Carolina and had served the committee well. We are indebted to her for her great service to the State of North Carolina and to the work of the Finance Committee and she would be greatly missed.

Other members not returning are Rep. Hurley, Rep. Buchanan, Rep. Edwards, Rep. Willingham, Rep. Gray, and Rep. Pope and they were recognized for their hard work on the committee.

Chairman Luebke extended thanks to the legislative assistants who served the committee this session, the staff members, the sergeant-at-arms staff, and to the co-chairs of the committee. He also said that it had been his honor and pleasure to co-chair the committee.

There being no further business, the Chair adjourned the meeting at 9:50 A.M.

Respectfully submitted,

Representative Paul Luebke
Presiding Chair

Joyce T. Harris
Committee Assistant

The purchase of insurance by an occupational licensing board shall not be construed to alter or expand the limitations on claims or payments established in G.S. 143-299.2 or limit the right of board members, officers, employees, or agents to defense by the State as provided by G.S. 143-300.3."

SECTION 2. G.S. 143-300.2(4) reads as rewritten:

SECTION 3. G.S. 93A-3(f) reads as rewritten:

"(f) The Commission is authorized to ~~expend expense reserve funds as defined in G.S. 93A-3(b) for the purpose of conducting~~ acquire, hold, convey, rent, encumber, alienate, and otherwise deal with real property in the same manner as a private person or corporation, subject only to the approval of the Governor and Council of State. The education and information programs may include preparation, printing and distribution of publications and articles and the conduct of conferences, seminars, and lectures. The Commission may claim the copyright to written materials it creates and may charge fees for publications and programs."

SECTION 4. G.S. 93A-4 reads as rewritten:

"§ 93A-4. Applications for licenses; fees; qualifications; examinations; privilege licenses; renewal or reinstatement of license; power to enforce provisions.

(a) Any person, partnership, corporation, limited liability company, association, or other business entity hereafter desiring to enter into business of and obtain a license as a real estate broker or real estate salesperson shall make written application for such license to the Commission in the form and manner prescribed by the Commission. Each applicant for a license as a real estate broker or real estate salesperson shall be at least 18 years of age. Each applicant for a license as a real estate salesperson shall, within three years preceding the date application is made, have satisfactorily completed, at a school approved by the Commission, a real estate fundamentals course consisting of at least 67 hours of classroom instruction in subjects determined by the Commission, or shall possess real estate education or experience in real estate transactions which the Commission shall find equivalent to the course. Each applicant for a license as a real estate broker shall, within three years preceding the date the application is made, have satisfactorily completed, at a school approved by the Commission, an education program consisting of at least 60 hours of classroom instruction in subjects determined by the Commission, which shall be in addition to the course required for a real estate salesperson license, or shall possess real estate education or experience in real estate transactions which the Commission shall find equivalent to the education program. Each applicant for a license as a real estate broker or real estate salesperson shall be required to pay a fee, fixed by the Commission but not to exceed thirty dollars ($30.00).

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this Chapter, any person who submits an application to the Commission in proper manner for a license as real estate broker or a license as real estate salesperson shall be required to take an oral or written examination. The Commission may allow an applicant to elect to take the examination by computer as an alternative to the written or oral examination and may require the applicant to pay the Commission or a provider contracted by the Commission the actual cost of administering the computerized examination. The cost of the computerized examination shall be in addition to any other fees the applicant is required to pay under subsection (a) of this section. The examination shall determine the applicant's qualifications with due regard to the paramount interests of the public as to the applicant's competency. A person holding a real estate salesperson license in this State and applying for a real estate broker license shall not be required to take an additional examination under this subsection. A person who fails the license examination shall be entitled to know the result and score. A person who passes the exam shall be notified only that the person passed the examination. Whether a person passed or failed the examination shall be a matter of public record; however, the scores for license examinations shall not be considered public records. An applicant for licensure under this Chapter shall satisfy the Commission that he or she possesses the competency, honesty, truthfulness, integrity, and general moral character necessary to protect the public interest and promote public confidence in the real estate brokerage business. (c) All licenses issued by the Commission under the provisions of this Chapter shall expire on the 30th day of June following issuance or on any other date that the Commission may determine and shall become invalid after that date unless reinstated. A license may be renewed 45 days prior to the expiration date by filing an application with and paying to the Executive Director of the Commission the license renewal fee. The license renewal fee is thirty dollars ($30.00) unless the Commission sets the fee at a higher amount. The Commission may set the license renewal fee at an amount that does not exceed fifty dollars ($50.00). The license renewal fee may not increase by more than five dollars ($5.00) during a 12-month period. The Commission may adopt rules establishing a system of license renewal in which the licenses expire annually with varying expiration dates. These rules shall provide for prorating the annual fee to cover the initial renewal period so that no licensee shall be charged an amount greater than the annual fee for any 12-month period. ~~All licenses reinstated after the expiration date thereof shall be subject to a late filing fee of five dollars ($5.00) in addition to the required renewal fee.~~ The fee for reinstatement of an expired license shall be fifty-five dollars ($55.00). In the event a licensee fails to obtain a reinstatement of such license within ~~12~~ six months after the expiration date thereof, the Commission may, in its discretion, consider such person as not having been previously licensed, and thereby subject to the provisions of this Chapter relating to the issuance of an original license, including the examination requirements set forth herein. Duplicate licenses may be issued by the Commission upon payment of a fee of five dollars ($5.00) by the licensee. Commission certification of a licensee's license history shall be made only after the payment of a fee of ten dollars ($10.00).

(d) The Commission is expressly vested with the power and authority to make and enforce any and all reasonable rules and regulations connected with license application, examination, renewal, and reinstatement as shall be deemed necessary to administer and enforce the provisions of this Chapter. The Commission is further authorized to adopt reasonable rules and regulations necessary for the approval of real estate schools, instructors, and textbooks and rules that prescribe specific requirements pertaining to instruction, administration, and content of required education courses and programs.

(e) Nothing contained in this Chapter shall be construed as giving any authority to the Commission nor any licensee of the Commission as authorizing any licensee to engage in the practice of law or to render any legal service as specifically set out in G.S. 84-2.1 or any other legal service not specifically referred to in said section."

SECTION 5. G.S. 93A-6 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(f) In any contested case in which the Commission takes disciplinary action authorized by any provision of this Chapter, the Commission may also impose reasonable conditions, restrictions, and limitations upon the license, registration, or approval issued to the disciplined person or entity. In any contested case concerning an application for licensure, time share project registration, or school, sponsor, instructor, or course approval, the Commission may impose reasonable conditions, restrictions, and limitations on any license, registration, or approval it may issue as a part of its final decision."

SECTION 6. G.S. 114-4.2G is repealed.

SECTION 7. G.S. 89A-3.1 reads as rewritten:

SENATE BILL 1281:
Certain Occupational Licensing Board Changes.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Senator Rand
Date:	October 3, 2002	Summary by:	Mary Shuping
Version:	4th Edition		Research Assistant

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1281 makes various changes to the laws governing occupational licensing boards. Specifically, the bill would authorize all occupational licensing boards to purchase commercial insurance to cover all risks or liability, including the boards' liability for tort claims and defense of their employees. The bill authorizes the NC Real Estate Commission to acquire and deal with real property, copyright its written materials, clarify the law on real estate exam scores, and give the Board flexibility in disciplinary matters. The bill authorizes the Board of Landscape Architects to hire private counsel. Finally, the bill adds a requirement that Professional Employment Organizations (PEO's) doing business in the State register with the Department of Insurance.

CURRENT LAW & BILL ANALYSIS:

Sections 1 & 2: Occupational Licensing Boards' Insurance. Under current law, the authority of licensing boards to purchase commercial insurance to cover risks is not clear and not uniform. While licensing boards are subject to paying negligence claims under the Tort Claims Act and are required to defend their employees from liability, claims of up to $500,000 may have to be paid out of excess funds of the boards. Some occupational licensing boards' annual budgets are less than this amount.

Sections 1 & 2 of the bill authorize occupational licensing boards to purchase commercial insurance to cover their risks, including their liability for negligence claims up to $500,000 per incident under the Tort Claims and the Duty to Defend State Employees Act. Section 1 also clarifies that to the extent a licensing board covers its tort liability over $150,000 by the purchase of insurance, its lapsed salary money is not subject to contribution for other agencies' excess tort liabilities. These sections also clarify that boards are subject to the Tort Claims Act and are obligated to defend their board members, officers, employees and agents from claims arising from negligent acts committed in the ordinary course and scope of their employment.

Sections 3-5: Real Estate Commission Changes.

Authority to Acquire Real Property

Several other boards have been given the authority to acquire real property for the needs of the board; however, the Real Estate Commission is only authorized to lease space. Section 3 authorizes the Real Estate Commission to acquire and otherwise deal with real property in the same manner as a private person, subject only to approval of the Governor and Council of State.

Copyright & Fees

Section 3 also allows the Real Estate Commission to claim copyright to written materials it creates. Copyrighting the materials would be governed by federal law. This section also allows the Commission to charge fees for its publications and programs.

Reinstatement of License

This section provides that the fee for reinstatement of a lapsed license is $55.00 and shortens the grace period for license renewal from 12 months to 6 months.

Exam Scores
Section 4 would amend the Real Estate Commission's law to clarify that public record status of exam scores of applicants for licenses as real estate brokers or salespersons. A person who fails the exam would be entitled to know the exam score, but a person who passes would only be notified that the person passed. Scores would not be considered public records; however, whether a person has passed or failed a licensing exam is a matter of public record.

Disciplinary Matters
Section 5 gives the Commission additional flexibility regarding disciplinary matters. Under this subsection, the Commission would be able to impose reasonable conditions or limitations upon the license, registration, or approval issued.

Sections 6-7: Board of Landscape Architects Authority to Hire Private Counsel. Currently, the Attorney General assigns an attorney to serve as advisor to the Board of Landscape Architects. Section 6 repeals this requirement and Section 7 allows the Board to retain private counsel subject to G.S. 114-2.3, which requires written permission from the Attorney General prior to employing the attorney.

Sections 8-10: Professional Employer Organizations (PEO) Registration. Sections 8-10 require that "professional employer organizations" register with the Department of Insurance before doing business in North Carolina.

Background
The PEO industry is relatively new and is also known as the "employee leasing industry." A PEO establishes a contractual relationship with a client company. Under the contract, a co-employment relationship is created between the company, the PEO, and the workers of the company. The PEO becomes the employer of the company's employees and assumes the obligations related to human resources, workers' compensation, payroll, labor law compliance, employment taxes, and employee benefits. The client company maintains responsibility for the day-to-day management of employees and workplace supervision as well as all "hire and fire" decisions and promotions. Currently in North Carolina, general contract law and general employment law cover leased employment arrangements, but there is no law specifically covering the PEO industry.

Bill Analysis
A "professional employer organization" is defined as a person offering "professional employer services." "Professional employer services" are "arrangements by which employees of a registrant are assigned to work at a client company and in which employment responsibilities are shared by the registrant and the client company, the employee's assignment is intended to be of a long-term or continuing nature, rather than temporary or seasonal, and a majority of the workforce of a client company ... consists of assigned employees of the registrant." Employee leasing services do not include services that provide temporary employees or independent contractors, personnel placement services, managed services, payroll services that do not involve employee staffing or leasing, or similar groups. The bill requires that all PEO's register with the Department of Insurance and provide certain information. The fee to register is $250.00. This bill does not contain a requirement for annual renewal of registration. Prohibited acts include offering employee leasing services, or using certain titles without being registered; misrepresenting the person's licensure status; or giving materially false or forged evidence to the Department in connection with obtaining a registration. Any person who commits a prohibited act is guilty of a class H felony. The bill also requires the Department to report to the 2005 Session on the implementation and enforcement of the registration. The registration requirements are effective January 1, 2003; however, PEO's currently operating in the State have up to 180 days to become registered. PEO's not operating in this State on January 1, 2003 must register prior to doing business in the State.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The sections regarding PEO's become effective January 1, 2003 and apply to contracts entered into, any business conducted, and any actions taken on or after that date. The remainder of this act becomes effective October 1, 2002.

The examination shall determine the applicant's qualifications with due regard to the paramount interests of the public as to the applicant's competency. A person holding a real estate salesperson license in this State and applying for a real estate broker license shall not be required to take an additional examination under this subsection. A person who fails the license examination shall be entitled to know the result and score. A person who passes the exam shall be notified only that the person passed the examination. Whether a person passed or failed the examination shall be a matter of public record; however, the scores for license examinations shall not be considered public records. Nothing in this subsection shall limit the rights granted to any person under G.S. 93B-8.

An applicant for licensure under this Chapter shall satisfy the Commission that he or she possesses the competency, honesty, truthfulness, integrity, and general moral character necessary to protect the public interest and promote public confidence in the real estate brokerage business. If the results of any required competency examination and investigation of the applicant's moral character shall be satisfactory to the Commission, then the Commission shall issue to the applicant a license, authorizing the applicant to act as a real estate broker or real estate salesperson in the State of North Carolina, upon the payment of privilege taxes now required by law or that may hereafter be required by law.

(c) All licenses issued by the Commission under the provisions of this Chapter shall expire on the 30th day of June following issuance or on any other date that the Commission may determine and shall become invalid after that date unless reinstated. A license may be renewed 45 days prior to the expiration date by filing an application with and paying to the Executive Director of the Commission the license renewal fee. The license renewal fee is thirty dollars ($30.00) unless the Commission sets the fee at a higher amount. The Commission may set the license renewal fee at an amount that does not exceed fifty dollars ($50.00). The license renewal fee may not increase by more than five dollars ($5.00) during a 12-month period. The Commission may adopt rules establishing a system of license renewal in which the licenses expire annually with varying expiration dates. These rules shall provide for prorating the annual fee to cover the initial renewal period so that no licensee shall be charged an amount greater than the annual fee for any 12-month period. ~~All licenses reinstated after the expiration date thereof shall be subject to a late filing fee of five dollars ($5.00) in addition to the required renewal fee.~~ The fee for reinstatement of an expired license shall be fifty-five dollars ($55.00). In the event a licensee fails to obtain a reinstatement of such license within ~~12~~ six months after the expiration date thereof, the Commission may, in its discretion, consider such person as not having been previously licensed, and thereby subject to the provisions of this Chapter relating to the issuance of an original license, including the examination requirements set forth herein. Duplicate licenses may be issued by the Commission upon payment of a fee of five dollars ($5.00) by the licensee. Commission certification of a licensee's license history shall be made only after the payment of a fee of ten dollars ($10.00).

(d) The Commission is expressly vested with the power and authority to make and enforce any and all reasonable rules and regulations connected with license application, examination, renewal, and reinstatement as shall be deemed necessary to administer and enforce the provisions of this Chapter. The Commission is further authorized to adopt reasonable rules and regulations necessary for the approval of real estate schools, instructors, and textbooks and rules that prescribe specific requirements pertaining to instruction, administration, and content of required education courses and programs.

(e) Nothing contained in this Chapter shall be construed as giving any authority to the Commission nor any licensee of the Commission as authorizing any licensee to engage in the practice of law or to render any legal service as specifically set out in G.S. 84-2.1 or any other legal service not specifically referred to in said section."

SECTION 5. G.S. 93A-6 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(f) In any contested case in which the Commission takes disciplinary action authorized by any provision of this Chapter, the Commission may also impose reasonable conditions, restrictions, and limitations upon the license, registration, or approval issued to the disciplined person or entity. In any contested case concerning an application for licensure, time share project registration, or school, sponsor, instructor, or course approval, the Commission may impose reasonable conditions, restrictions, and limitations on any license, registration, or approval it may issue as a part of its final decision."

SECTION 6. G.S. 114-4.2G is repealed.

SECTION 7. G.S. 89A-3.1 reads as rewritten:

"§ 89A-3.1. Board's powers and duties.

The Board shall have the following powers and duties:

(1) Administer and enforce the provisions of this Chapter.

SENATE BILL 1281:
Certain Occupational Licensing Board Changes.

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Senator Rand
Date:	October 3, 2002	Summary by:	Mary Shuping
Version:	4th Edition		Research Assistant

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1281 makes various changes to the laws governing occupational licensing boards. Specifically, the bill would authorize all occupational licensing boards to purchase commercial insurance to cover all risks or liability, including the boards' liability for tort claims and defense of their employees. The bill authorizes the NC Real Estate Commission to acquire and deal with real property, copyright its written materials, clarify the law on real estate exam scores, and give the Board flexibility in disciplinary matters. The bill authorizes the Board of Landscape Architects to hire private counsel. Finally, the bill adds a requirement that Professional Employment Organizations (PEO's) doing business in the State register with the Department of Insurance.

CURRENT LAW & BILL ANALYSIS:

Sections 1 & 2: Occupational Licensing Boards' Insurance. Under current law, the authority of licensing boards to purchase commercial insurance to cover risks is not clear and not uniform. While licensing boards are subject to paying negligence claims under the Tort Claims Act and are required to defend their employees from liability, claims of up to $500,000 may have to be paid out of excess funds of the boards. Some occupational licensing boards' annual budgets are less than this amount.

Sections 1 & 2 of the bill authorize occupational licensing boards to purchase commercial insurance to cover their risks, including their liability for negligence claims up to $500,000 per incident under the Tort Claims and the Duty to Defend State Employees Act. Section 1 also clarifies that to the extent a licensing board covers its tort liability over $150,000 by the purchase of insurance, its lapsed salary money is not subject to contribution for other agencies' excess tort liabilities. These sections also clarify that boards are subject to the Tort Claims Act and are obligated to defend their board members, officers, employees and agents from claims arising from negligent acts committed in the ordinary course and scope of their employment.

Sections 3-5: Real Estate Commission Changes.

Authority to Acquire Real Property

Several other boards have been given the authority to acquire real property for the needs of the board; however, the Real Estate Commission is only authorized to lease space. Section 3 authorizes the Real Estate Commission to acquire and otherwise deal with real property in the same manner as a private person, subject only to approval of the Governor and Council of State.

Copyright & Fees

Section 3 also allows the Real Estate Commission to claim copyright to written materials it creates. Copyrighting the materials would be governed by federal law. This section also allows the Commission to charge fees for its publications and programs.

Reinstatement of License

This section provides that the fee for reinstatement of a lapsed license is $55.00 and shortens the grace period for license renewal from 12 months to 6 months.

Exam Scores
Section 4 would amend the Real Estate Commission's law to clarify that public record status of exam scores of applicants for licenses as real estate brokers or salespersons. A person who fails the exam would be entitled to know the exam score, but a person who passes would only be notified that the person passed. Scores would not be considered public records; however, whether a person has passed or failed a licensing exam is a matter of public record.

Disciplinary Matters
Section 5 gives the Commission additional flexibility regarding disciplinary matters. Under this subsection, the Commission would be able to impose reasonable conditions or limitations upon the license, registration, or approval issued.

Sections 6-7: Board of Landscape Architects Authority to Hire Private Counsel. Currently, the Attorney General assigns an attorney to serve as advisor to the Board of Landscape Architects. Section 6 repeals this requirement and Section 7 allows the Board to retain private counsel subject to G.S. 114-2.3, which requires written permission from the Attorney General prior to employing the attorney.

Sections 8-10: Professional Employer Organizations (PEO) Registration. Sections 8-10 require that "professional employer organizations" register with the Department of Insurance before doing business in North Carolina.

Background
The PEO industry is relatively new and is also known as the "employee leasing industry." A PEO establishes a contractual relationship with a client company. Under the contract, a co-employment relationship is created between the company, the PEO, and the workers of the company. The PEO becomes the employer of the company's employees and assumes the obligations related to human resources, workers' compensation, payroll, labor law compliance, employment taxes, and employee benefits. The client company maintains responsibility for the day-to-day management of employees and workplace supervision as well as all "hire and fire" decisions and promotions. Currently in North Carolina, general contract law and general employment law cover leased employment arrangements, but there is no law specifically covering the PEO industry.

Bill Analysis
A "professional employer organization" is defined as a person offering "professional employer services." "Professional employer services" are "arrangements by which employees of a registrant are assigned to work at a client company and in which employment responsibilities are shared by the registrant and the client company, the employee's assignment is intended to be of a long-term or continuing nature, rather than temporary or seasonal, and a majority of the workforce of a client company ... consists of assigned employees of the registrant." Employee leasing services do not include services that provide temporary employees or independent contractors, personnel placement services, managed services, payroll services that do not involve employee staffing or leasing, or similar groups. The bill requires that all PEO's register with the Department of Insurance and provide certain information. The fee to register is $250.00. This bill does not contain a requirement for annual renewal of registration. Prohibited acts include offering employee leasing services, or using certain titles without being registered; misrepresenting the person's licensure status; or giving materially false or forged evidence to the Department in connection with obtaining a registration. Any person who commits a prohibited act is guilty of a class H felony. The bill also requires the Department to report to the 2005 Session on the implementation and enforcement of the registration. The registration requirements are effective January 1, 2003; however, PEO's currently operating in the State have up to 180 days to become registered. PEO's not operating in this State on January 1, 2003 must register prior to doing business in the State.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The sections regarding PEO's become effective January 1, 2003 and apply to contracts entered into, any business conducted, and any actions taken on or after that date. The remainder of this act becomes effective October 1, 2002.

MINUTES

OCCUPANCY TAX SUBCOMMITTEE
OF THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE
ROOM 424 LOB
July 17, 2002
10:00 a.m.

The Chair of the Subcommittee, Representative Mary Jarrell, called the meeting to order. Members present were Representatives Alexander and McComas, along with Staff person, Trina Griffin. The Agenda and Visitor Registration Sheet are attached as Attachments 1 and 2.

The bills before the committee were SB 1195, Seven Devils Occupancy Tax and HB 1620, Jonesville Occupancy Tax. They are incorporated into the minutes as Attachments 3 and 4.

Senator Foxx sponsored SB 1195, SEVEN DEVILS OCCUPANCY TAX. The bill would create an occupancy tax district in the town of Seven Devils, and would authorize the Seven Devils tax district to levy an occupancy tax. It would also authorize the board of aldermen, as the ex- officio district governing body, to levy a room occupancy tax of up to 3%. The Bill would provide for distribution of the tax proceeds to the Seven Devils Tourism Development Authority, for use in the district for purposes for which that authority was created. Representative McComas moved for a favorable report of the bill and that it pass out of the subcommittee to the House Finance Committee. The motion was approved.

Representative Holmes sponsored HB 1620 YADKIN/JONESVILLE OCCUPANCY TAXES. Representative McComas moved for the adoption of the Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS) for discussion. The PCS changed the title of the bill to AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE TOWN OF JONESVILLE TO LEVY A ROOM OCCUPANCY AND TOURISM DEVELOPMENT TAX. It deleted the provisions authorizing Yadkin County to levy a tax. The bill authorized the Town of Jonesville Tourism Development Authority to use two-thirds of the proceeds to promote travel and tourism in the town and the remainder for tourism-related expenditures. Representative McComas moved for a favorable report of the PCS and recommended that the bill pass out of the subcommittee to the House Finance Committee. The motion was approved.

Representative Jarrell directed the committee's attention to the Guidelines for Occupancy Tax Uniform Provisions, which is incorporated into the minutes as Attachment 5. The guidelines stated that two-thirds of the proceeds from the tax must be used to promote travel and tourism and the remainder must be used for tourism related purposes.

The committee also discussed HB 1707-Beach Towns Room Tax sponsored by Representative McComas, and HB 1720-Wilmington Occupancy Tax sponsored by Representative Wright (Attachments 6 and 7). HB 1720 did not conform to the occupancy tax guidelines adopted by the subcommittee. A Proposed Committee Substitute was being drafted for HB 1707 so that it could conform to the guidelines. The convention bureau had passed a resolution proposing the creation of a Tourism Development Authority (TDA). The County Commissioners had adopted the resolution and the City of Wilmington was expected to pass the resolution. Representative McComas stated that HB 1707 was not ready for presentation to the Finance committee. Susan K. Bullock, a hotel and lodging owner from New Hanover County, expressed concerns over the use of the proceeds. She and others from the area, felt that the proceeds, if used for parking, beach cleanup, street maintenance, and other items associated with quality of life issues, would not go towards tourism. Representative Jarrell stated that the use of the proceeds could not be for any public purposes. Ms. Bullock wanted to know how the legislature defined tourist-related activity. Representative Jarrell stated that the definition was in the guidelines, and a copy of the guidelines was given to Ms. Bullock. There was a suggestion to combine the two bills. Representative Jarrell asked that the delegation and staff continue to work on the two bills.

This concluded the business before the subcommittee, and the meeting adjourned at 10:30 a.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Representative Mary Jarrell

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO CREATE AN OCCUPANCY TAX DISTRICT IN THE TOWN OF SEVEN DEVILS, AND TO AUTHORIZE THE SEVEN DEVILS TAX DISTRICT TO LEVY AN OCCUPANCY TAX.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1.(a) District W Created. – Seven Devils District W is created as a taxing district. Its jurisdiction consists of that part of the Town of Seven Devils that is located in Watauga County. Seven Devils District W is a body politic and corporate and has the power to carry out the provisions of this section. The Seven Devils Board of Aldermen shall serve ex officio as the governing body of the district, and the officers of the board of aldermen shall serve as the officers of the governing body of the district. A simple majority of the governing body constitutes a quorum, and approval by a majority of those present is sufficient to determine any matter before the governing body, if a quorum is present.

SECTION 1.(b) Authorization and Scope. – The governing body of Seven Devils District W may levy a room occupancy tax of up to three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or accommodation furnished by a hotel, motel, inn, tourist camp, or similar place within the district that is subject to sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(3). This tax is in addition to any State or local sales or room occupancy tax. This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by charitable, educational, or religious institutions or nonprofit organizations when furnished in furtherance of their nonprofit purpose.

SECTION 1.(c) Administration. – A tax levied under this section shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S. 160A-215 as if Seven Devils District W were a town. The penalties provided in G.S. 160A-215 apply to a tax levied under this section.

All persons, firms, corporations, and associations who rent either their own dwelling or dwellings or rooms for other persons are required to submit to the district a list of all rental properties. This list must include the owner's name, current address, and location of rental property. The list must be submitted semiannually on or before November 30 and May 30. Failure to file this list subjects the person, firm, corporation, or association to a civil penalty.

SECTION 1.(d) Distribution and Use of Tax Revenue. – Seven Devils District W shall, on a quarterly basis, remit the net proceeds of the occupancy tax to the Seven Devils Tourism Development Authority created in accordance with Part XVI of S.L. 2001-439. The Seven Devils Tourism Development Authority shall use the tax proceeds remitted to it under this act for the purposes provided in Part XVI of S.L. 2001-439. In accordance with the North Carolina Constitution and the United States Constitution, the tax proceeds may be used only for the direct benefit of the jurisdiction of Seven Devils District W.

For the purposes of this section, "net proceeds" means gross proceeds less the cost to the district of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer, not to exceed three percent (3%) of the first five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of gross proceeds collected each year and one percent (1%) of the remaining gross receipts collected each year.

SECTION 2. G.S. 160A-215 reads as rewritten:

"§ 160A-215. Uniform provisions for room occupancy taxes.

(a) Scope. – This section applies only to municipalities the General Assembly has authorized to levy room occupancy taxes. For the purpose of this section, the term "city" means a municipality.

(b) Levy. – A room occupancy tax may be levied only by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto. A room occupancy tax shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the second month after the date the resolution is adopted.

(c) Collection. – Every operator of a business subject to a room occupancy tax shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. The tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the taxing city. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The taxing city shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the city the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax. An operator of a business who collects a room occupancy tax may deduct from the amount remitted to the taxing city a discount equal to the discount the State allows the operator for State sales and use tax.

(d) Administration. – The taxing city shall administer a room occupancy tax it levies. A room occupancy tax is due and payable to the city finance officer in monthly installments on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the taxing city. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied. A room occupancy tax return filed with the city finance officer is not a public record and may not be disclosed except in accordance with G.S. 153A-148.1 or G.S. 160A-208.1.

(e) Penalties. – A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file a room occupancy tax return or pay a room occupancy tax as required by law is subject to the civil and criminal penalties set by G.S. 105-236 for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The governing board of the taxing city has the same authority to waive the penalties for a room occupancy tax that the Secretary of Revenue has to waive the penalties for State sales and use taxes.

(f) Repeal or Reduction. – A room occupancy tax levied by a city may be repealed or reduced by a resolution adopted by the governing body of the city. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the resolution was adopted. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax does not affect a liability for a tax that was attached before the effective date of the repeal or reduction, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal or reduction.

(g) This section applies only to Beech Mountain District ~~W,~~ W and Seven Devils District W, to the Cities of Gastonia, Goldsboro, Greensboro, High Point, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Lincolnton, Lumberton, Monroe, Mount Airy, Shelby, Statesville, and Washington, to the Towns of Beech Mountain, Carrboro, Mooresville, North Topsail Beach, Selma, Smithfield, St. Pauls, and Wilkesboro, and to the municipalities in Avery and Brunswick Counties."

SECTION 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by nonprofit charitable, educational, or religious organizations when furnished in furtherance of their nonprofit purpose.

SECTION 1.(b) Administration. – A tax levied under this section shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S. 160A-215. The penalties provided in G.S. 160A-215 apply to a tax levied under this section.

SECTION 1.(c) Distribution and Use of Tax Revenue. – The Town of Jonesville shall, on a quarterly basis, remit the net proceeds of the occupancy tax to the Jonesville Tourism Development Authority. The Authority shall use at least two-thirds of the funds remitted to it under this subsection to promote travel and tourism in the town and shall use the remainder for tourism-related expenditures.

The following definitions apply in this subsection:

(1) Net proceeds. – Gross proceeds less the cost to the town of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer, not to exceed three percent (3%) of the first five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of gross proceeds collected each year and one percent (1%) of the remaining gross receipts collected each year.

(2) Promote travel and tourism. – To advertise or market an area or activity, publish and distribute pamphlets and other materials, conduct market research, or engage in similar promotional activities that attract tourists or business travelers to the area; the term includes administrative expenses incurred in engaging in the listed activities.

(3) Tourism-related expenditures. – Expenditures that, in the judgment of the tourism development authority, are designed to increase the use of lodging facilities, meeting facilities, or convention facilities in a town or to attract tourists or business travelers to the town. The term includes tourism-related capital expenditures.

SECTION 2. Jonesville Tourism Development Authority. – (a) Appointment and Membership. – When the Jonesville Town Council adopts a resolution levying a room occupancy tax under this act, it shall also adopt a resolution creating a town Tourism Development Authority, which shall be a public authority under the Local Government Budget and Fiscal Control Act. The resolution shall provide for the membership of the Authority, including the members' terms of office, and for the filling of vacancies on the Authority. At least one-third of the members must be individuals who are affiliated with businesses that collect the tax in the town and at least three-fourths of the members must be individuals who are currently active in the promotion of travel and tourism in the town. The town council shall designate one member of the Authority as chair and shall determine the compensation, if any, to be paid to members of the Authority.

The Authority shall meet at the call of the chair and shall adopt rules of procedure to govern its meetings. The Finance Officer for Jonesville shall be the ex officio finance officer of the Authority.

SECTION 2.(b) Duties. – The Authority shall expend the net proceeds of the tax levied under this act for the purposes provided in Section 1 of this act. The Authority shall promote travel, tourism, and conventions in the town, sponsor tourist-related events and activities in the town, and finance tourist-related capital projects in the town.

SECTION 2.(c) Reports. – The Authority shall report quarterly and at the close of the fiscal year to the Jonesville Town Council on its receipts and expenditures for the preceding quarter and for the year in such detail as the town council may require.

SECTION 3. Town administrative provisions. – G.S. 160A-215 reads as rewritten:

"§ 160A-215. Uniform provisions for room occupancy taxes.

(a) Scope. – This section applies only to municipalities the General Assembly has authorized to levy room occupancy taxes. For the purpose of this section, the term "city" means a municipality.

(b) Levy. – A room occupancy tax may be levied only by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto. A room occupancy tax shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the second month after the date the resolution is adopted.

(c) Collection. – Every operator of a business subject to a room occupancy tax shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. The tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the taxing city. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The taxing city shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the city the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax. An operator of a business who collects a room occupancy tax may deduct from the amount remitted to the taxing city a discount equal to the discount the State allows the operator for State sales and use tax.

(d) Administration. – The taxing city shall administer a room occupancy tax it levies. A room occupancy tax is due and payable to the city finance officer in monthly installments on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the taxing city. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied. A room occupancy tax return filed with the city finance officer is not a public record and may not be disclosed except in accordance with G.S. 153A-148.1 or G.S. 160A-208.1.

(e) Penalties. – A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file a room occupancy tax return or pay a room occupancy tax as required by law is subject to the civil and criminal penalties set by G.S. 105-236 for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The governing board of the taxing city has the same authority to waive the penalties for a room occupancy tax that the Secretary of Revenue has to waive the penalties for State sales and use taxes.

(f) Repeal or Reduction. – A room occupancy tax levied by a city may be repealed or reduced by a resolution adopted by the governing body of the city. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the resolution was adopted. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax does not affect a liability for a tax that was attached before the effective date of the repeal or reduction, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal or reduction.

(g) This section applies only to Beech Mountain District W, to the Cities of Gastonia, Goldsboro, Greensboro, High Point, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Lincolnton, Lumberton, Monroe, Mount Airy, Shelby, Statesville, and Washington, to the Towns of Beech Mountain, Carrboro, Jonesville, Mooresville, North Topsail Beach, Selma, Smithfield, St. Pauls, and Wilkesboro, and to the municipalities in Avery and Brunswick Counties."

SECTION 4. This act is effective when it becomes law.

GUIDELINES FOR OCCUPANCY TAX UNIFORM PROVISIONS

Since 1983, the General Assembly has authorized many units of local government to levy a room occupancy tax. In several instances, the General Assembly has authorized both a county and a city within that county to impose an occupancy tax. The rate of tax, the use of the tax proceeds, the administration of the tax, and the body with the authority to determine how the tax proceeds will be spent vary considerably.

Over the past several years, there has been a greater effort to make the occupancy taxes uniform. In 1997, the General Assembly enacted uniform municipal and county administrative provisions for occupancy tax legislation – G.S. 153A-155 and G.S. 160A-215. These provisions provide uniformity in the areas of levy, administration, collection, repeal, and penalties.

The North Carolina Travel and Tourism Coalition has a policy statement for legislation authorizing local occupancy taxes. Many of the principles contained in its statement are similar to the ones established by the House Finance subcommittee in 1993. Based upon this work, the House Finance Committee looks for the inclusion of the following uniform provisions in the occupancy tax bills it considers:

- Rate – The county tax rate cannot exceed 6% and the city tax rate, when combined with the county rate, cannot exceed 6%.
- Use – Two-thirds of the proceeds must be used to promote travel and tourism and the remainder must be used for tourism related purposes.
- Definitions The terms "net proceeds", "promote travel and tourism", and "tourism-related expenditures" are defined terms:
  - Net proceeds – Gross proceeds less the costs to the city/county of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer, not to exceed 3% of the first $500,000 of gross proceeds collected each year and 1% of the remaining gross receipts collected each year.
  - Promote travel and tourism – To advertise or market an area or activity, publish and distribute pamphlets and other materials, conduct market research, or engage in similar promotional activities that attract tourists or business travelers to the area; the term includes administrative expenses incurred in engaging in these activities.
  - Tourism-related expenditures – Expenditures that, in the judgment of the Tourism Development Authority, are designed to increase the use of lodging facilities, meeting facilities, and convention facilities in a county by attracting tourists or business travelers to the city/county. The term includes tourism-related capital expenditures.
- Administration – The net revenues must be administered by a local tourism promotion agency, typically referred to as a "Tourism Development Authority," that has the authority to determine how the tax proceeds will be used, is created by a local ordinance, and at least ¾ of the members must be currently active in the promotion of travel and tourism in the taxing district and 1/3 of the members must be affiliated with organizations that collect the tax.
- Costs of Collection – The taxing authority may retain from the revenues its actual costs of collection, not to exceed 3% of the first $500,000 collected each year plus 1% of the remainder collected each year.

- Beach Nourishment – During the 2001 Regular Session, the Occupancy Tax Subcommittee of the House Finance Committee considered several bills authorizing the use occupancy tax proceeds for beach nourishment. Although "beach nourishment" was not among the uses contained in the uniform guidelines, the subcommittee nevertheless concluded that beach nourishment was an acceptable expansion of the occupancy tax use provisions. In doing so, the subcommittee drafted a uniform definition of beach nourishment for use in occupancy tax legislation. The subcommittee defined beach nourishment as:

  > The placement of sand, from other sand sources, on a beach or dune by mechanical means and other associated activities that are in conformity with the North Carolina Coastal Management Program along the North Carolina shorelines and connecting inlets for the purpose of widening the beach to benefit public recreational use and mitigating damage and erosion from storms to inland property. The term includes expenditures for the following:
  > a. Costs directly associated with qualifying for projects either contracted through the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers or otherwise permitted by all appropriate federal and State agencies;
  > b. The nonfederal share of the cost required to construct these projects; > c. The costs associated with providing enhanced public beach access; and > d. The costs of associated nonhardening activities such as the planting of vegetation, the building of dunes, and the placement of sand fences.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Occupancy tax. – (a) Authorization and Scope. – If New Hanover County has created a Tourism Development Authority pursuant to Part VIII of Chapter 908 of the 1983 Session Laws, as amended, the Wilmington City Council may, by resolution, levy a local occupancy tax of three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or accommodation furnished by a hotel, motel, inn, tourist camp, or similar place within the city that is subject to sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(3). This tax is in addition to any State or local sales tax. This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by nonprofit charitable, educational, or religious organizations when furnished in furtherance of their nonprofit purpose.

Before adopting a resolution levying a tax under this section, the Wilmington City Council must hold a public hearing on the question. The City Council must give at least 15 days' public notice of the hearing, including details on the proposed uses of the tax proceeds. After adopting the resolution, the City Council must immediately forward a copy of the resolution to the New Hanover County Board of Commissioners and the county manager. A tax levied under this subsection shall become effective no earlier than February 1, 2003.

SECTION 1.(b) Administration. – New Hanover County shall collect and administer a tax levied under this section. Except as otherwise provided in this section, a tax levied under this section shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S. 160A-215. The penalties provided in G.S. 160A-215 apply to a tax levied under this section.

SECTION 1.(c) Definitions. – The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Downtown Wilmington. – The area consisting of the Central Business District, the National Register Historic District, and the area extending to the Holmes Bridge and the Cape Fear River in the city of Wilmington, North Carolina.

(2) Net proceeds. – Gross proceeds less the cost to the county of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer, not to exceed three percent (3%) of the first five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of gross proceeds collected each year and one percent (1%) of the remaining gross receipts collected each year.

(3) Promote travel and tourism. – To advertise or market an area or activity, publish and distribute pamphlets and other materials, conduct market research, or engage in similar promotional activities that attract tourists or business travelers to the area; the term includes administrative expenses incurred in engaging in the listed activities.

(4) Tourism Development Authority or Authority. – The Authority created by New Hanover County pursuant to Part VIII of Chapter 908 of the 1983 Session Laws, as amended.

SECTION 1.(d) Use of Tax Revenue. – If a tax is levied under this section, New Hanover County shall create a convention center account. The county shall remit the net proceeds of a tax levied under this section quarterly to the convention center account. Funds in the account, including interest or investment income on the account, may be used only as provided in this subsection:

(1) The county shall hold the funds in the convention center account, including interest or investment income, until one or more of the conditions provided in this subsection have been met. When any of the conditions provided in subdivision (2), (3), or (4) of this subsection has been met, the proceeds shall be used as provided in that subdivision.

(2) If, at the end of three years after the first levy of a tax under this section, the City of Wilmington has not demonstrated to the satisfaction of a Tourism Development Authority created by the county pursuant to a local act of the General Assembly that all financing and development arrangements for a convention center have been completed, the county shall remit all funds in the convention center account to the Tourism Development Authority. Thereafter, all tax proceeds remitted to the convention center account shall be remitted quarterly to the Tourism Development Authority. The Authority shall use these funds only to promote travel and tourism. For the purpose of this subdivision, completion of financing and development arrangements includes, at a minimum, obtaining financing commitments for construction, entering into contracts for construction and management, and securing the necessary land for the project.

(3) If, within three years after the first levy of a tax under this section, the City of Wilmington demonstrates to the satisfaction of a Tourism Development Authority created by the county pursuant to a local act of the General Assembly that all financing and development arrangements for a convention center have been completed, the county shall remit all funds in the convention center account to the City of Wilmington. Thereafter, except as provided in subdivision (4) of this subsection, all tax proceeds remitted to the convention center account shall be remitted quarterly to the City of Wilmington. The City of Wilmington may use the funds only for construction, financing, operation, promotion, and maintenance of the convention center. For the purpose of this subdivision, completion of financing and development arrangements includes, at a minimum, obtaining financing commitments for construction, entering into contracts for construction and management, and securing the necessary land for the project.

(4) If the condition set out in subdivision (3) of this subsection has been met but within four years after the first levy of a tax under this section, the City of Wilmington fails to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Tourism Development Authority that construction has begun on a convention center in Downtown Wilmington, then the city must return to the county any funds it received under this subsection that have not been spent or committed. The county shall use these funds and any tax proceeds remitted thereafter to the convention center account only to promote travel and tourism in the city. If the county has created a Tourism Development Authority pursuant to a local act of the General Assembly, the county must remit the funds and future tax proceeds to the Tourism Development Authority. The Authority shall use these funds only to promote travel and tourism in the city.

The tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the taxing city. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The taxing city shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the city the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax. An operator of a business who collects a room occupancy tax may deduct from the amount remitted to the taxing city a discount equal to the discount the State allows the operator for State sales and use tax.

(g) This section applies only to Beech Mountain District W, to the Cities of Gastonia, Goldsboro, Greensboro, High Point, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Lincolnton, Lumberton, Monroe, Mount Airy, Shelby, Statesville, ~~and~~ Washington, and Wilmington, to the Towns of Beech Mountain, Carrboro, Jonesville, Mooresville, North Topsail Beach, Selma, Smithfield, St. Pauls, and Wilkesboro, and to the municipalities in Avery and Brunswick Counties."

MINUTES

OCCUPANCY TAX SUBCOMMITTEE
OF THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE
ROOM 424 LOB
AUGUST 27, 2002
11:00 a. m.

Representative Jarrell, Chair of the Subcommittee, called the meeting to order. Members present were Representatives Alexander and McComas, along with Trina Griffin, Staff Attorney. The Agenda and Visitor Registration Sheet are attached as Attachments 1 and 2.

The Bills before the committee were HB 1707 and HB 1720 (Attachments 3 and 4). Representative Jarrell reviewed the rules and guidelines for occupancy tax bills. She stated that occupancy tax is used to promote travel and tourism. She reiterated that the interest of the subcommittee was that the bills meet the guidelines for occupancy tax. Local bills need the approval of the entire delegation. HB 1707 and HB 1720 conformed to the guidelines and were eligible for consideration. Representative McComas asked for an explanation of "non-controversial" concerning the delegation. Ms. Griffin responded that local bills require that the bill sponsor submit a form that the delegation is in agreement with the bill. Representative Jarrell recognized those persons from the audience who wished to speak on the bills.

Avery Roberts, Mayor of Wrightsville Beach

Mayor Roberts and the Mayors of Kure Beach and Carolina Beach supported HB 1707. They were asking the General Assembly to authorize an additional 3% room occupancy tax during this session. The additional tax would generate funds for tourism-related expenditures and tourism promotion. HB 1707 would provide revenue for the beach communities. A detailed statement from Mayor Roberts is attached as Attachment 5.

Harper Peterson, Mayor of Wilmington

Mayor Peterson stated that the City of Wilmington supported HB 1707 and HB 1720. There was special interest in HB 1720 because of the convention center. The convention center would provide good paying jobs and would be good for the economy. No money had been raised for the convention center, but the passing of HB 1720 would serve as a stimulus. The occupancy tax would raise 1.4 Million Dollars annually and would serve all of New Hanover County. He supported the separate consideration of each bill by the committee.

Sue Bullock, Governmental Relations Officer, Pearsall Operating Company (Wrightsville Beach Holiday Inn SunSpree Resorts, Inc., Ashville Comfort Inn River Ridge, and other properties)

Ms. Bullock spoke on behalf of hotel and lodging owners across New Hanover County. The owners opposed both bills based on the formation of two bills for one county. They felt it should be a single block of money. She also cited problems with inclusion and exclusion of local industry and tax collectors. Lack of collaboration further illustrated the problems that existed with the planning process of the county regarding tourism and its development. The county did not fully support the convention center concept. They would support an additional 3% occupancy tax if it were to follow the existing formula of 60% for beach nourishment and 40% for tourism development. Representative McComas disagreed that local industry and tax collectors were not consulted and were left out concerning the bill. Further comments by Ms. Bullock are attached as Attachment 6.

Representative Jarrell recognized Ms. Griffin to explain the difference between the two bills. Ms. Griffin explained that HB 1720 allowed the proceeds of the additional tax to be used for the construction, financing, operation, promotion, and maintenance of a convention center; for purposes as designated by a local act of the General Assembly; and for promotion of travel and tourism. A public hearing is required before levying the tax. HB 1707 allowed the proceeds of the additional tax to be remitted quarterly to a Tourism Development Authority, which is required to be established by the bill. The Authority must use one-half of the proceeds to promote travel and tourism and one-half for tourism-related expenditures.

The Chair recognized Gerry Hancock, General Counsel of the North Carolina Travel and Tourism Coalition. He was asked if the two bills could be combined. He felt that the combination could work well. The McComas bill did comply, however, an amendment, proposed by Representative McComas, would take it out of compliance and the Coalition would not support it. There was substantial interest in HB 1720, which promotes the convention center under the authority of a Tourism Development Authority (TDA). However, the bill did not establish a TDA. He felt the two bills, if put together, would compliment each other. Representative Wright stated that the County Commissioners did not support the combining of the bills. If the subcommittee favored combining the bill, then he would withdraw his bill. Representative McComas agreed with Representative Wright that the County Commissioners would not support combining the bills. He asked staff to research if there had been any previous occupancy tax research on bills similar to these bills.

Representative Jarrell stated that the subcommittee would consider the interest, input, and opinions stated at the meeting. The subcommittee did not take sides, and would continue to work on the two bills.

The meeting adjourned at 12:00 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Representative Mary Jarrell

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE TOURISM DEVELOPMENT FOR THE NEW HANOVER BEACH TOWNS, TO PROVIDE FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A TOURISM DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY, AND TO CONFORM ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS OF THE NEW HANOVER COUNTY LAW TO GENERAL LAW.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

NEW HANOVER BEACH TOWNS TOURISM DEVELOPMENT ACT

SECTION 1.(a) This section applies only to the towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach.

SECTION 1.(b) Authorization and Scope. – The governing body of a beach town may, by resolution, levy a local occupancy tax of up to three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or accommodation furnished by a hotel, motel, inn, tourist camp, or similar place within the town that is subject to sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(3). This tax is in addition to any State or local sales tax. This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by nonprofit charitable, educational, or religious organizations when furnished in furtherance of their nonprofit purpose.

SECTION 1.(c) Administration. – New Hanover County shall collect and administer on behalf of each beach town the tax the town levies under this section. Except as otherwise provided in this section, a tax levied under this section shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S. 160A-215. The penalties provided in G.S. 160A-215 apply to a tax levied under this section.

SECTION 1.(d) Distribution and Use of Tax Revenue. – The county shall, on a quarterly basis, remit the net proceeds of the occupancy tax levied by each beach town under this section to the Tourism Development Authority for deposit to a separate account for that beach town. The Authority shall use at least one-half of the funds in each beach town account to promote travel and tourism in that beach town and shall use the remainder in each beach town account for tourism-related expenditures in that beach town. Before spending any funds in a beach town account for promoting travel and tourism or for tourism-related expenditures, the Authority must consult with the affected beach town regarding its needs for promoting travel and tourism and for tourism-related expenditures.

The following definitions apply in this subsection:

(1) Beach towns. – Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach.

(2) Net proceeds. – Gross proceeds less the cost to the county of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer, not to exceed three percent (3%) of the first five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of gross proceeds collected each year and one percent (1%) of the remaining gross receipts collected each year.

(3) Promote travel and tourism. – To advertise or market an area or activity, publish and distribute pamphlets and other materials, conduct market research, or engage in similar promotional activities that attract tourists or business travelers to the area; the term includes administrative expenses incurred in engaging in the listed activities.

(4) Tourism Development Authority. – The Authority created by New Hanover County pursuant to Part VIII of Chapter 908 of the 1983 Session Laws, as amended.

(5) Tourism-related expenditures. – Expenditures that, in the judgment of Tourism Development Authority, are designed to increase the use of lodging facilities, meeting facilities, or convention facilities in a town or to attract tourists or business travelers to the town. The term includes tourism-related capital expenditures.

SECTION 2. G.S. 160A-215 reads as rewritten:

"§ 160A-215. Uniform provisions for room occupancy taxes.

(a) Scope. – This section applies only to municipalities the General Assembly has authorized to levy room occupancy taxes. For the purpose of this section, the term "city" means a municipality.

(b) Levy. – A room occupancy tax may be levied only by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto. A room occupancy tax shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the second month after the date the resolution is adopted.

(c) Collection. – Every operator of a business subject to a room occupancy tax shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. The tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the taxing city. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The taxing city shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the city the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax. An operator of a business who collects a room occupancy tax may deduct from the amount remitted to the taxing city a discount equal to the discount the State allows the operator for State sales and use tax.

(d) Administration. – The taxing city shall administer a room occupancy tax it levies. A room occupancy tax is due and payable to the city finance officer in monthly installments on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the taxing city. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied. A room occupancy tax return filed with the city finance officer is not a public record and may not be disclosed except in accordance with G.S. 153A-148.1 or G.S. 160A-208.1.

(e) Penalties. – A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file a room occupancy tax return or pay a room occupancy tax as required by law is subject to the civil and criminal penalties set by G.S. 105-236 for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The governing board of the taxing city has the same authority to waive the penalties for a room occupancy tax that the Secretary of Revenue has to waive the penalties for State sales and use taxes.

(f) Repeal or Reduction. – A room occupancy tax levied by a city may be repealed or reduced by a resolution adopted by the governing body of the city. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the resolution was adopted. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax does not affect a liability for a tax that was attached before the effective date of the repeal or reduction, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal or reduction.

(g) This section applies only to Beech Mountain District W, to the Cities of Gastonia, Goldsboro, Greensboro, High Point, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Lincolnton, Lumberton, Monroe, Mount Airy, Shelby, Statesville, and Washington, to the Towns of Beech Mountain, Carolina Beach, Carrboro, Kure Beach, Mooresville, North Topsail Beach, Selma, Smithfield, St. Pauls, ~~and Wilkesboro,~~Wilkesboro, and Wrightsville Beach, and to the municipalities in Avery and Brunswick Counties."

HOUSE BILL 1707:
New Hanover Beach Towns Tourism Act

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Occupancy Tax Subcommittee of the House Finance Committee	Introduced by:	Rep. McComas
		Summary by:	Trina Griffin Committee Counsel
Date:	August 27, 2002
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H1707-CSLCx-109 [v.8]

*SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1707 authorizes each of the towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach to levy a 3% occupancy tax. The proceeds must be remitted quarterly to a Tourism Development Authority, which is required to be established by the bill. The Authority must use one-half of the proceeds to promote travel and tourism and one-half for tourism-related expenditures.

The section requiring the establishment of a Tourism Development Authority becomes effective when the act becomes law. The reminder of the act becomes effective February 1, 2003.

CURRENT LAW: Currently, the towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach do not have authority to levy an occupancy tax. However, they do receive a portion of the occupancy tax proceeds levied by the county. Since 1985, New Hanover has had the authority to levy a 3% occupancy tax. Sixty percent (60%) of the total proceeds are deposited into a special fund to be used to control beach erosion. The remainder is distributed among the county and the municipalities in accordance with the method by which the 1% local sales and use taxes levied in the county are distributed and is to be used to promote travel and tourism.[1]

BILL ANALYSIS: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1707 has two main parts. The first part affects the beach towns only and the second part modifies the county's current authority to levy a 3% occupancy tax:

I. Beach Towns Tourism Development Act

Rate – It authorizes each of the towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach to levy a 3% occupancy tax.

Administration – The county would collect the proceeds for each beach town and remit the funds, on a quarterly basis, to the TDA. The TDA will distribute the funds and must consult with the affected beach town regarding its needs for promoting travel and tourism and for tourism-related expenditures.

Use – 50% to promote travel and tourism; 50% for tourism-related expenditures.

II. Modify New Hanover County Administrative Provisions

Creation of a TDA - Currently, the county has a convention and visitors bureau, which was established without any authorizing legislation.

[1] New Hanover uses an ad valorem method of local sales and use tax distribution.

- The PCS would require the county to create a Tourism Development Authority as soon as practicable before February 1, 2003. Upon its creation, the county must transfer all of the assets of the convention and visitors bureau to the TDA.
- The TDA would consist of 13 voting members, with 5 ex officio members and 8 additional members appointed by the board of commissioners. The eight additional members would consist of 5 owners/operators of lodgings (hotels, bed and breakfast, and rental properties), 2 people actively involved in promoting tourism in the county, and 1 owner/operator of a restaurant.

Use –

- 60% - Under current law, New Hanover uses 60% of its occupancy tax proceeds to control beach erosion. The PCS changes the term to "beach nourishment," a defined term. These funds would continue to be deposited into a special account administered by the county.
- 40% - Under current law, the remaining 40% is distributed among the county and the municipalities and used to promote travel and tourism. Under the PCS, the use would remain the same but the funds would be remitted to and distributed by the TDA.

Uniform Administrative Provisions - It conforms the provisions regarding the levy, administration, collection and repeal of the county tax to the statutory provisions in G.S. 153A-155. Uniform statutory penalties also apply.

For the purpose of this subdivision, completion of financing and development arrangements includes at a minimum obtaining financing commitments for construction, entering into contracts for construction and management, and securing the necessary land for the project.

(4) If the condition set out in subdivision (3) of this subsection has been met but within four years after the first levy of a tax under subsection (c) or (d) of Section 31 of this Part, construction has not begun on a convention center in the Wilmington Historic District, then the city must return to the county any funds it received under this subsection that have not been spent or committed. The county shall use these funds and any tax proceeds remitted thereafter to the convention center account only to promote travel and tourism in the city. ~~'Net proceeds' means gross proceeds less the cost to the county of administering and collecting the tax.~~

~~Unless a change in the use of occupancy tax revenue is authorized pursuant to subsection (b), the revenue deposited in a special fund in accordance with subdivision (1) shall be used by the county to control beach erosion, and the revenue distributed between the county and its municipalities in accordance with subdivision (2) shall be used to promote travel and tourism. No revenue distributed under subdivision (2), however, may be used to plan, construct, operate, maintain, or in any way promote a civic center, convention center, public auditorium, or like facility.~~

~~(b) The purposes for which revenue from the room occupancy tax may be used by the county and its municipalities may be changed only by resolution of the New Hanover Board of County Commissioners after being approved by a majority of the votes cast in an election held in New Hanover County on the question of how revenue from the room occupancy tax should be used. The ballot presented to the qualified voters of the county in an election concerning the use of revenue from the room occupancy tax shall state all the proposed uses of this revenue and the percentage of the revenue to be used for each purpose. Any change in use of revenue from the room occupancy tax made by the county commissioners after voter approval may likewise be changed only by resolution of the county commissioners after being approved by the voters in another election.~~

~~The question of how revenue from the room occupancy tax should be spent may be submitted to the qualified voters of the county only at the time of a statewide general election. All elections under this section shall be conducted in accordance with the laws then governing elections in this State.~~

~~"Sec. 36. Repeal of Levy. (a) The board of commissioners may by resolution repeal the levy of the room occupancy tax in new Hanover County, but no repeal of taxes levied under this Part shall be effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the repeal resolution was adopted.~~

HOUSE BILL 1720:
New Hanover Occupancy Tax Changes

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Occupancy Tax Subcommittee of the House Finance Committee	Introduced by:	Rep. Wright
		Summary by:	Trina Griffin Committee Counsel
Date:	August 27, 2002
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition H1720-CSLCx-108 [v.7]

SUMMARY: House Bill 1720 authorizes New Hanover to increase its occupancy tax from 3% to 6%. If New Hanover does not levy the additional 3% tax, the City of Wilmington and other beach towns are authorized to levy a 3% occupancy tax. The proceeds of the additional tax would be allotted for the following uses:

- For the construction, financing, operation, promotion, and maintenance of a convention center.
- For purposes as designated by a local act of the General Assembly.
- For promotion of travel and tourism.

The act becomes effective February 1, 2003.

CURRENT LAW: In 1983, the General Assembly authorized New Hanover to levy a 2% occupancy tax. In 1985, New Hanover was authorized to levy an additional 1%. None of the municipalities in New Hanover have authority to levy an occupancy tax, but they each receive a portion of the proceeds collected by the county. Sixty percent (60%) of the total proceeds are deposited into a special fund to be used to control beach erosion. The remainder is distributed among the county and the municipalities in accordance with the method by which the 1% local sales and use taxes levied in the county are distributed and is to be used to promote travel and tourism.

BILL ANALYSIS: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1720 does the following:

Authority to Levy

- It authorizes New Hanover to levy an additional 3% occupancy tax. If New Hanover does not levy the tax, the City of Wilmington and the towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach are each authorized to levy a 3% occupancy tax.
- It requires that, before adopting a resolution levying a tax, the governing body of the entities authorized to levy a tax hold a public hearing. They must give at least 15 days' notice of the hearing, including details on the proposed uses of the tax proceeds.
- The county tax may become effective no earlier than February 1, 2003. A tax levied by the city or the towns may become effective no earlier than March 1, 2003.
- If either the city or any of the towns levy the 3% occupancy tax and the county subsequently adopts a resolution to levy the tax, the city's or town's authority to levy the tax is repealed as of the date of the effective date of the county levy.

Use and Administration of Tax Proceeds

First 3%	Use	Administration
60%	To control beach erosion	Funds to be kept in a special fund administered by the county.
40%	To promote travel and tourism throughout the county	Funds to be distributed among the county and municipalities in accordance with the method by which the 1% local sales and use taxes are distributed.
Additional 3%
Wilmington Proceeds	(1) If certain conditions are met, the proceeds would be used for the construction, financing, operation, promotion, and maintenance of a convention center. (2) If conditions are not met, funds to be used to promote travel and tourism.	• If (1) applies, the funds are remitted to the City of Wilmington. • If (2) applies, the funds are remitted to the TDA.
Beach Town Proceeds	For purposes "provided in a local act of the General Assembly."	• County to administer proceeds and keep proceeds in separate accounts for each beach town. • If, however, the county establishes a TDA, the funds will be remitted to TDA.
Unincorporated Area Proceeds	To promote travel and tourism	• County to administer proceeds. • If, however, the county establishes a TDA, the funds will be remitted to TDA.
Alternative 3% Levied by City & Towns
Wilmington	(1) If certain conditions are met, the proceeds would be used for the construction, financing, operation, promotion, and maintenance of a convention center. (2) If conditions are not met, funds to be used to promote travel and tourism.	• If (1) applies, the City of Wilmington would administer the funds. • If (2) applies, the funds are remitted to the TDA.
Beach Towns	For purposes "provided in a local act of the General Assembly."	• Each town to administer proceeds from that town. • If, however, the county establishes a TDA, the funds will be remitted to TDA.

Conditions for Convention Center

1) If, within 3 years after the first levy of the additional 3% tax, the City of Wilmington has demonstrated to the satisfaction of the TDA that all financing and development arrangements for a convention center have been completed, the county must remit the funds to the City of Wilmington to be used for the construction, financing, operation, promotion, and maintenance of a convention center.
2) If the conditions in 1) have not been met, the county must remit the funds to the TDA to be used to promote travel and tourism.
3) If the conditions in 1) have been met but within four years after the first levy of the additional 3% tax, construction has not begun on a convention center, then the city must return any funds it received that have not been committed. These proceeds shall then be used to promote travel and tourism.

Reporting Requirements

Each entity responsible for administering and spending the proceeds of the occupancy tax must annually publish a detailed, audited report on its receipts and expenditures during the preceding year. The text of the report must be included in the minutes of the entity's governing body and placed on a public web site, and must be made available in hard copy upon request. These reporting requirements would apply to the county, city, and towns as well as the TDA, depending on which entity is administering the funds.

TECHNICAL CONSIDERATIONS:

- The bill does not require the establishment of a TDA. However, under the current wording of the bill, the only way that a portion of the funds from the additional 3% could be used for a convention center is if there is a TDA. If there is a TDA, then the remainder of the proceeds will also be administered by the TDA.
- The proceeds derived from accommodations in the beach towns are to be used as directed by a local act of the General Assembly. Currently, there is no local act directing the use of these funds. Thus, until a local act is enacted directing the use of these funds, the funds could not be used.

HB 1707 (v.9) New Hanover County Beach Towns Additional 3% Room Occupancy Tax

Bill Justification

Good morning Representative JARREL, Representative Avery Roberts, Mayor of Wrightsville Beach ALEXANDER, and Representative McComas. I am _____, a member of the New Hanover County Beach Communities Board and here today to present to you our support of HB1707. Also here in support of this bill is _____ Mayor Betty Medlin, Kure Beach; Alderman Ray Rothrock, Carolina Beach; Barry Mowbray, Wrightsville Beach

3 Towns have united + the N.H. County Commissioners + a majority have said they support what the beach Communities support

- The Towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach are seeking approval by the General Assembly during this session to authorize an additional 3% room occupancy tax. The purpose of the additional tax is to generate funds for tourism-related expenditures and tourism promotion. New Hanover County currently has a 3% room occupancy tax for beach nourishment and tourism promotion. The promotion funds from the existing tax are utilized by the Convention and Visitors Bureau to .support tourism in the Cape Fear Coast region.

- The beach towns of New Hanover County provide services to more visitors than any other coastal county in North Carolina. As a recent beach strand survey has indicated, 9 out of 10 visitors to our county beaches are non-beach residents.

- Marketing is most successful when the product is of the highest quality. HB1707 as drafted provides revenue for the beach communities to make the product, our beaches, and our services and facilities, better and thereby improves the effectiveness of the promotional expenditures. Our ability to provide the beach visitor with high quality services and facilities is directly dependent upon the passage of HB1707.

- New Hanover County, unlike many other coastal counties, does not consider its beaches part of a county recreational amenity and therefore does not provide any financial support for the programs, facilities, and services that are necessary to operate a successful tourist beach. Unfortunately, our beach communities receive minimal tourism sales tax dollars due to the sales tax distribution formula (CHART). As you can see, New Hanover County benefits from approximately 75% of the local sales tax revenue, the City of Wilmington has a 22% benefit while the three beaches only receive 3% of the local sales tax revenue.

- HB1707 establishes a reliable source of revenue, retained at the point of origin, for new and innovative local travel promotion as well as the development of new tourism facilities and services. Not unlike convention facilities, beaches require substantial maintenance and operational expenditures. Whether it is beach strand cleaning, trash removal, public restroom facilities, public beach accesses, lifeguards, public safety, or other of the many services and operations performed for the tourist population, each has an associated cost. The quality of those facilities and services, which we consider our "product", is directly correlated to the availability of funds. The success of our promotional expenses and the promotional investment of the Tourism Development Authority is directly tied to the quality of our product.

- The distribution formula for HB1707 has a 60% tourism-related expenditures, 40% tourism promotion allocation. This formula is consistent with the existing 3% room occupancy tax allocating 40% to tourism promotion. We are concerned that any formula giving greater than the current 40% tourism promotion allocation could jeopardize the existing 3% distribution and our critical beach nourishment program. The distribution formula for the existing 3% has been modified twice previously by the General Assembly reducing beach nourishment allocations by a total of 20% while increasing promotional funding by the same. Both federal and state funding for beach nourishment project allocation continue to be threatened.

- HB1707 establishes a Tourism Development Authority for New Hanover County that would replace the existing Convention and Visitors Bureau. The beach communities support the CVB and understand the only visible change would be the makeup of the authority membership. The latest version establishes an authority membership that correlates to the amount of funds generated from the beach towns of New Hanover County and the City of Wilmington.

- In closing, the beach communities of New Hanover County ask your support for HB1707. Our situation is unique and there remains a tremendous demand for tourism services solely provided by our beach municipalities. We appreciate this opportunity to present our support of HB1707 to you.

I or another representative of our group would be happy to answer any questions....

Memo to: Honorable Mary L. Jarrell, Chairman

Re: House Files 1707, 1720, and blank bill yet to be drafted all referencing New Hanover County Occupancy Taxes

I am here today with Mary Baggett Martin of the Blockade Runner Hotel on Wrightsville Beach. We bring you petitions from hotel and lodging owners across New Hanover County. There is great concern among the owners of these properties regarding the two written bills and the blind bill waiting form. We have discussed our opposition to these bills since their initial unveiling months ago. We have asked to be part of the dialogue in their development. The local industry has not been included. In fact the tax collectors have been avoided in the development of both bills with the exception of a single briefing session by Representative McComas.

We oppose the passage of these bills for several reasons.

1. On the Macro level we believe that while we own and operate coastal and mountain lodging facilities that the coast and the mountains of North Carolina are natural and fiscal assets of the state and its people. They need to be managed and supported by the state and its institutions. Their infrastructure and maintenance needs to come from the broad based revenue sources of the state rather than from the lodging industry alone. Occupancy taxes are targeted taxes and in New Hanover County those taxes come from the lodging facilities out of the pockets of North Carolinians visiting the coast and mountains and the lodging facilities themselves. Contrary to public opinion they are taken out of the bottom line of our revenue. Mary can speak to that.

   In surveys conducted by I.E.& C. Inc. for the town of Carolina Beach over the summer of 2001 and the 2002 review of occupancy lists from lodging owners on Wrightsville Beach this summer, we find that the mix of tourists to New Hanover County coastal areas is over 75 percent North Carolina residents. This is unlike the northeastern counties of the outer banks that draw from Virginia and the northeast corridor of the US.

   When we talk about supporting tourism through occupancy taxes in New Hanover County we are talking about further taxation of our own states taxpayers. It is just one more tax paid by the individual NC taxpayers. It is a single industry tax. Our industry group has been willing to bear that burden providing that the bulk of the revenue generated is used to increase tourism, thus generating more revenue through secondary spending during the tourists visit. These bills will not have that effect.

   The three beaches requesting this legislation do so out of a desire to pay for such infrastructure items as parking, beach cleanup and street maintenance, and other items associated with quality of life issues not tourism. We recognize the beaches needs but do not see the occupancy tax as the vehicle for fulfilling that need by virtue of the very policy set up by the House Finance Committee in structuring the Occupancy tax.

2. The lack of collaboration on this legislation further illustrates the problems that exist within the planning process of the county regarding tourism and its development. The City, County, and beach Municipalities cannot agree on the benefits of the tourism industry. Wrightsville and Kure Beaches have taken the course of developing a dominant residential base and limiting the future development of the business community. They have a tendency to say tourism also should be limited in their communities. At the same time Carolina Beach is going through a struggle on the same topic, but it tends to move toward encouragement of tourism related businesses. They have more open policies toward business. The Beaches do not have a history of working well together or working well with the city of Wilmington whose interest in their occupancy tax is purely to fund a convention / civic center in downtown Wilmington.

3. Historically, New Hanover County has reserved 60% of its occupancy tax for beach nourishment, which has served us well. The funds from our occupancy tax have grown and been used to replenish the counties beaches. The result is that the county has been able to sustain and repair itself more rapidly than other coastal area across the country after being struck by major hurricanes. We have documented that the federal match for beach nourishment is about to change from a 65%/35% match to a 35%/65% match. That would mean that the state and county would need to come up with an additional 30% of the funding for beach nourishment on the three beaches. We believe that the economy of the area is very dependent on the viability of those beaches. We see the need to keep the second 3% of occupancy tax capability as our rainy day resource, should that change occur in the federal budget. The accompanying articles indicate the volatility of that federal budget as being requested by the Bush administration.

   While we believe that the beach and mountains should be viewed as natural assets of the state, we are not at all confident that the state would have the resources to fund the additional amount needed to do maintenance to our beaches. In fact the state has borrowed money from the county for their portion of the current nourishment maintenance. We would support an additional 3% occupancy tax if it were to follow the existing 60% for beach nourishment 40% for tourism development formula that has been in place longer than any other occupancy tax in the state. We think that there is no reason to change a working formula.

4. We agree that the City of Wilmington may want a convention center for their downtown development as an anchor, or a performing arts center or a civic center, which is what is really being proposed, based on the size and accessibility of the proposed facility. We understand that the beaches have increased demands on their lands, streets, garbage collection and water resources because of the increased use by tourists getting to the beach. We see those as infrastructure needs that are not included in the definitions currently agreed upon statewide for the use of occupancy taxes. Many of these infrastructure issues are quality of life issues. Some would argue that these should come from property taxes. Unfortunately, we are the largest tax payer of either property tax or occupancy taxes.

We would be willing to work with New Hanover County, Wilmington, and the beach communities in seeking an across the board revenue stream such as a localized sales tax or surcharge tax or a multi-revenue source bill, but not a single industry tax in a year in which our occupancy is down some 7 to 20 percent depending on the property. These reductions in occupancy are a result of the layoffs in the state and the national crisis caused by 9/11/01.

With NC State Legislature looking for areas for budget cuts in every publicly funded area to balance the states budget, it seems illogical to allow passage of a tax on the single most hard hit industry with the exception of the airlines in the aftermath of 9/11. In addition to the fact that the proposed legislation does not meet the criteria established for the passage of such legislation. The requested changes included in Mr. Honeycutt's memo and in the board minutes of the Town of Wrightsville Beach all reflect their position for the request of additional funds.

In the first reading of the proposed legislation at the Town of Wrightsville Beach reading the statement was made that the beach really didn't need the money at the moment but wanted to make certain that it couldn't be used by anyone other than the beach. Ladies and gentlemen we feel our rainy day is better protected by the option for a second 3% occupancy tax being left for later passage than in the control of any one of these entities currently vying for control of that tax.

White House says locals need to fund beach renewal projects

Document questions use of federal tax money on beaches

Cox News Service

WASHINGTON | Local taxpayers should bear most of the cost of expensive beach "renourishment" projects such as one being considered in Martin County, Florida, according to White House budget analysts.

In an undated memorandum, the White House Office of Management and Budget (OMB) questioned Army Corps of Engineers assumptions that national taxpayers enjoy the primary benefit of dredging sand from the sea floor and using it to restore eroded beaches.

The main beneficiaries of the projects are local interests, the document said, and local taxpayers should bear most of the cost.

The memorandum was attached to comments by an environmental group, Public Employees for Environmental Responsibility (PEER), opposing a request by Martin County that the corps renourish 3.7 miles of shoreline along Hutchinson Island.

In addition to environmental concerns, which PEER and other environmental organizations have raised unsuccessfully in objecting to other Florida beach renourishment projects, the group argues that if it approves the Martin County project, the corps would be "bucking" White House skepticism about the value of the projects.

The corps has not made a decision on the Hutchinson Island renourishment proposal. A spokesman declined to comment on the PEER statement or the OMB memorandum because they have not been officially made public by the White House.

The appearance of the OMB memorandum in the Martin County case could signal a new strategy by beach renourishment opponents. Instead of concentrating on environmental concerns, such as the effect the projects are thought to have on coral reefs, opponents could attempt to shift costs to local taxpayers.

"As Martin County is the second wealthiest county in the state of Florida, one might think that local taxpayers are paying for these expensive beach renourishment projects," PEER stated. "After all, it is the local economy that is bolstered by the real estate and tourism industries the renourishment projects 'protect.' "

Referring to the OMB document, PEER said the corps "should defer to its commander in chief and cease all beach renourishment projects."

PEER lawyer Dan Meyer said his organization obtained the OMB memorandum from an Internet site maintained by a Washington lobbying firm, Marlowe and Co., whose clients include several Florida communities that seek federal aid for beach restoration projects.

Colin Bell, a Marlowe and Co. lobbyist, said the company also had posted a lengthy Corps of Engineers cost-benefit study that sought to justify the expense of beach restoration. Mr. Bell said OMB skepticism over the national value of restoration projects was nothing new.

"The White House has been moving away from these projects since at least the middle of the Clinton administration," he said. "Every time, Congress soundly rejects their arguments and votes to fund beach restoration, because it is important to the national economy."

Room tax on state's agenda

Leaders in Raleigh attempt to write bill to benefit all

By Mark Schreiner
Raleigh Bureau Chief mark.schreiner@wilmingtonstar.com

Raleigh - State Reps. Thomas Wright and Danny McComas are discussing changes to a bill that would boost the tax on hotel rooms in New Hanover County to provide money for a downtown convention center for Wilmington and money for tourism improvements in the beach towns.

Rep. Wright, a Wilmington Democrat, said Thursday he was preparing changes to a hotel-tax bill he submitted earlier this summer that would divide revenues from a 3-cent increase among Wilmington, Wrightsville Beach, Carolina Beach and Kure Beach. The new language would also send a portion of hotel-tax revenues to a tourism development authority, an idea missing from the first draft, if the General Assembly should choose to create one for New Hanover County.

Rep. Wright said he will formally submit his revisions next week.

Representatives of the N.C. Travel and Tourism Coalition criticized the original bill because it was vague on how the new revenue would be spent and did not put control with an agency charged with promoting tourism in the region.

Coalition official Gerry Hancock could not be reached Thursday for comment.

Rep. Wright suggested that Rep. McComas, a Republican who sits on the finance subcommittee that oversees occupancy tax bills, find another bill that could be amended to include language creating the tourism development authority.

"The new bill sets the tax," said Rep. Wright. "His bill could set up the TDA."

Revenues from New Hanover County's current 3 percent hotel tax are divided between tourism promotion through the Cape Fear Region Convention and Visitors Bureau and a county that pays for beach renourishment.

"I think we could make (Rep. Wright's plans) work," Rep. McComas said. "But we have to be careful and see that the guidelines regarding occupancy taxes are respected."

Government and business officials have tried several times over the past seven decades to build a new convention center in downtown Wilmington, but the most earnest effort has been over the past four years.

A committee appointed by Mayor Hamilton Hicks put a new convention center at the top of a list of civic projects. A task force created by Mayor David Jones selected a site and proposed a sales tax on hotel rooms to pay for the project.

In 2001, the needed legislation never got through a General Assembly focused on budget issues and legislative redistricting.

Mayor Harper Peterson and Councilman Frank Conlon revived the issue this summer with a City Council resolution asking for a hotel-tax increase to provide money for tourism-related projects, including a new convention center.

In the new draft of his bill, revenue set aside for Wilmington would accrue for three years while the City Council drafted a tourism development plan that could include building a convention center.

"We're going to need that time to come up with a good plan," Mr. Peterson said. "We don't want to go after this thing willy-nilly."

Paying the bills happen on the Atlantic Intracoastal Waterway from Virginia to Miami, Fla., and the stretch along Florida's west coast north from Naples. He proposed little to no money for dredging those waterways, arguing that commercial traffic is too light to justify the expense.

Members of Congress have a history of bucking presidents when they try to cut water projects.

The House Energy and Water subcommittee added $8 million to Atlantic waterway maintenance on Wednesday, mostly to waterways in North Carolina and between Jacksonville, Fla., and Miami. Advocates for the waterways say that will help, but it's still not enough.

Southeastern senators, including Democrat Bob Graham of Florida, expressed their concerns about the Atlantic waterway in a letter to the corps' military commander, Gen. Robert Flowers. They recently got his response: a grim portrait of expensive problems.

For example, just to maintain the status quo in North Carolina would cost $7 million a year, and much more to restore the depth to 12 feet. North Carolina would get $4 million under the appropriations bill in the House, down from $5 million this year. Florida waterways on the Atlantic would need almost $8 million a year to keep current depths. Appropriators so far have allotted half that amount.

The story was worse for Georgia and South Carolina, which would get $178,000 and $264,000 respectively in the House bill, practically none of it for dredging.

The waterway on Florida's Gulf Coast is another story.

From Naples to St. Joseph Sound, operation and maintenance funding for the Intracoastal Waterway is $1 million this year, which isn't much. Local officials say at least 400,000 cubic yards of sand should be removed. Mr. Bush had recommended nothing, an amount he repeated in his proposal for next year's budget.

It's not clear if the House panel added money for that route or for the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway from the Panhandle through Alabama, Louisiana and Texas, which fared better under the Bush plan because of heavy shipping traffic. The energy and water appropriations bill is mostly secret until the full Appropriations Committee considers it, which could happen this week. Some numbers, such as those for the Atlantic waterways, have leaked out.

In many places, nature is clearly outpacing the Corps of Engineers.

The Atlantic waterways haven't received enough money to keep them at their original 12-foot depths for many years. Funding began to decline further under President Clinton, and Mr. Bush has waged a determined war on water projects.

The corps doesn't count hundreds of thousands of recreational boaters and commercial fishermen when reporting the use of waterways to the administration. It uses cargo tonnage as its measure of commercial value, which is the only justification the administration considers. Ms. Cason, the Sarasota fleet operator, was surprised to learn her business isn't acknowledged.

"A boat that does that for a living and carries our tourists safely when they come to town, they don't count that?" she asked. "If we're not considered commercial, then there is no commercial in Sarasota."

Rep. McIntyre argues that tourism and recreation on the waterways is just as vital to the local, national and North Carolina economies.

"Every way you look at it, from the recreational angle, the commercial angle, they all result in a growing and prosperous economy," said Rep. McIntyre, who supports a bill that would force the corps to weigh recreational values more heavily.

Rep. Sonny Callahan, the Alabama Republican who is chairman of the Energy and Water Subcommittee, said he sides with Mr. Bush philosophically. But he said that as long as Congress has authorized waterway maintenance, those projects should get money. "The inland waterway is crucial to our commerce," he said. "They had to have more money. We gave it to them."

That's been the attitude in Congress for years, but boaters complain of heavy losses from damage.

Joe McClash, chairman of Florida's West Coast Inland Navigational District and a Manatee County commissioner who is an avid sailor, said he's worried someone will get killed running aground off Sarasota.

"It's just dangerous," he said. "Somebody's going to get hurt because you expect the waterways to be acceptable to navigation."

Navigable waters

Money, Mother Nature are keys to an Intracoastal Waterway ships can use

By Gareth McGrath
Staff Writer

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH - It's a battle the Army Corps of Engineers has been fighting for years – keeping the Intracoastal Waterway navigable while struggling with inadequate financial support from Washington.

Although not a perfect situation, the agency has been able to muddle through.

"We are behind every year. We're always playing catch-up," said Bob Sattin, chief of navigation for the corps' Wilmington district. "We're never in an advanced maintenance stage."

But the department was able to keep most of the waterway's "hot spots" under control, often using emergency funds or money from other district projects to clear shoaled areas after the allocated dredging money had run dry.

In 2000, the Wilmington district received $5.5 million for waterway dredging. It spent $6.4 million.

Last year it received $5.83 million but spent $8.6 million.

This fiscal year it was $4.9 million, and that's all the corps will spend, Mr. Sattin said.

"This year we don't have any extra project funds to transfer out of," he said.

The result is a growing list of problem areas up and down the waterway with little chance of improvement without a major increase in funding or more cooperation from Mother Nature.

Both possibilities seem highly unlikely.

The White House claims the 1,100-mile waterway has outlived its purpose as an inland channel offering safe passage for military and cargo traffic.

Facts seem to back up the administration's stance, although waterway backers say they aren't valid because the waterway's substantial recreational traffic isn't counted.

According to the corps' statistics on inland waterway traffic, 3.1 million tons of cargo was moved on the Intracoastal Waterway, excluding the area south of Jacksonville, Fla., in 2000. The figure represents a decline of nearly 7 percent from 1999.

That compares to 114 million tons of cargo moved during the same time period on the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway and 236 million tons on the Ohio River.

Even the Allegheny River in Pennsylvania carried more cargo in 2000 – 3.8 million tons – than the Intracoastal Waterway.

Matching its funding commitment to the waterway's level of commercial traffic, the administration allocated less than $1 million in its 2003 proposed budget to maintain North Carolina's 308 miles of waterway.

Waterway proponents claim the administration's view is too narrow, ignoring the Intracoastal's value as a recreational asset, tourism draw and economic generator.

Mike Bradley, director of N.C. Marine Trades Service, said the 225 marinas along the coast and North Carolina's 100 boat-building companies employ thousands and pump millions into the state's economy.

Other benefits include expanded and rejuvenated municipal waterfront areas and housing developments along the waterway's edges.

"It's such a big industry, and we're just now getting under way to try and quantify it," Mr. Bradley said of the economic impact tied to the waterway, "but there's no question it's astronomical."

Locally, there are 12,000 registered boats in New Hanover County – one for every 14 residents.

Include Pender and Brunswick boat owners and that number surges to nearly 25,000.

Except for some traffic on the area's rivers, nearly all of those boats either travel on the waterway or use it in transit to the Atlantic – and that traffic doesn't include interstate boaters passing through.

Recently, cruise companies also have been using the waterway to travel the Eastern Seaboard, including some stopping in downtown Wilmington.

The waterway also is important for the coast's quality of life, as an environmental asset and even as a source of sand for eroded beaches, Intracoastal Waterway supporters claim.

Citing the waterway's importance to their communities and constituents, coastal Congress members have been able to restore maintenance funding most years that the administration has tried to cut it.

Congress again this year appears ready to ride to the rescue.

A key House subcommittee, on which Rep. Mike McIntyre, D-N.C., serves, has recommended $4 million for maintenance dredging and several million more for dredging some problem inlets, where heavy shoaling requires them to be dredged nearly every year.

The corps had wanted at least $6 million for waterway dredging in North Carolina.

Although the waterway has an authorized navigable depth of 12 feet, the corps has been struggling to keep the channel depth in North Carolina at around 9 feet.

While noting that his tugboat captains are lucky to find 8 feet of draft in most places, Steve Furlough, president of Virginia-based C&P Tug and Barge Co., said the situation is getting untenable.

"It's getting worse, especially in Bogue Sound and some of the inlets that go out to the sea," he said. "Some of those areas we can only cross in a rising tide."

Mr. Furlough said the shallow water is putting a strain on profits, since it often takes longer to get places while carrying less cargo.

That leads to less barge traffic – further strengthening the administration's argument that the waterway is a white elephant.

Mr. Sattin doesn't want to get involved in politics or justifications for continued federal support for waterway maintenance.

But he said it's simply not feasible to expect the waterway to continue to be a navigable channel without regular dredging.

"We already have serious problems," he said. "Not doing anything is going to add to those problems, and very quickly."

Chris Willis, owner of Wrightsville Beach-based Sea Tow, a towing and rescue company, said he knows what would happen if the corps stopped dredging.

"It will boost our business for sure," he said. "But that's not the type of business we want."

With tidal currents and unpredictable weather, Mr. Willis said officials need to understand the waterway isn't a static creation like a building or a road.

Just letting the waterway go, and not expecting repercussions, simply isn't feasible.

"Mother Nature doesn't stop," Mr. Willis said. "It keeps going every minute of the day."

Real Estate DEVELOPMENT

Convention-center growth requires better feasibility studies

While effects of Sept. 11 have discouraged hotel developers from overbuilding in most U.S. marketplaces, there's a splurge of publicly-funded convention-center construction.

Dozens of cities throughout the country are building new convention centers or enlarging old ones. For example, Pittsburgh is expanding with a new $354-million, 330,000-square-foot center on the banks of the Allegheny River. With this addition, Pittsburgh hopes to protect its current business and to attract national conventions.

However, like many other cities, Pittsburgh might be fighting a losing cause. The convention-center and trade-show industry enjoyed double-digit growth in attendance in the late '80s and [illegible]s, but that has slowed [illegible]ally since 1997. Attendance declined in 2001, even before Sept. 11.

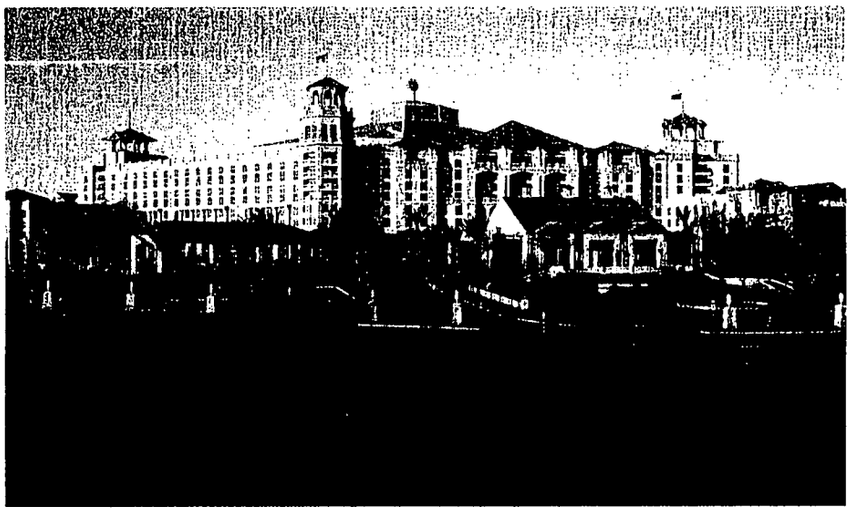
Robert A. Baade, a professor of economics at Lake Forest (Ill.) College who has analyzed the economic impact of convention centers, stadiums and casinos said, "To a significant degree, it's folly. They're ignoring what other cities are doing, and they're doing it at their own peril. They could be left with a lot of white elephants."

Convention-center executives said cities must build or expand to keep up with the competition to maintain market share. The drive for new and expanded centers extends from New York to San Diego. The list of cities that have built varies widely: High Point, N.C.; Grand Forks, N.D.; Charleston, W.Va.; Columbus, Ohio; San Antonio; Seattle; and Portland, Ore. According to Tradeshow Week, the new construction brings the total to about 60 million square feet of exhibition space at 347 locations.

Boston, Washington and Kissimmee, Fla., are planning extensive additions, and three dozen other cities are awaiting financing for new convention centers. New York's inadequate Jacob K. Javits Convention Center, which has 814,000 square feet, attracts only 6 percent to 8 percent of the market for the 200 largest shows compared with 22.3 percent for Las Vegas and 16 percent for Chicago. But New York is still trying to find ways to finance an addition to the Javits Center. While attendance has been slowing since 1997, it declined 10 percent in 2000 and another 7.4 percent in 2001, probably as a consequence of the recession, a slump in the technology sector and Sept. 11.

Meanwhile, some convention-center hotels are getting funded and built:

- In about 18 months, Houston will open a new 1,200-room convention-center hotel with the city's largest ballroom and hotel meeting space. The Houston Convention Center Hotel Corp. signed a 15-year agreement with Hilton Hotels Corp. to manage the hotel.
- Starwood Hotels & Resorts Worldwide is evaluating plans to split its long-delayed 1,100-room headquarters hotel at Boston's new convention center into two buildings and two phases.
- A Hilton Garden Inn was built on top of a parking garage at the Philadelphia Convention Center.
- The Mohegan Sun Convention Hotel opened in Uncasville, Conn., with 1,200 guestrooms and more than 100,000 square feet of meeting and exhibit space.
- The Gaylord Palms Resort and Convention Center opened in Kissimmee, Fla., in February with 1,406 guestrooms, 400,000 square feet of convention, meeting, exhibition and prefunction space and a 178,000-square-foot exhibition hall.



The new Gaylord Palms Resort and Convention Center opened in February in Kissimmee, Fla., and features 1,406 guestrooms and 400,000 square feet of convention, meeting, exhibition and prefunction space.

When supply exceeds demand, convention-center operators said they must subsidize convention hotels and operate the centers as loss leaders. Now that we know the 800-pound gorilla is back, what we really need are better feasibility studies that measure market demand and analyze competitive properties for these new hotels. These improved studies should:

- Analyze the trade-offs inherent in the yield-management decisions as they pertain to market penetration and revenue maximization.
- Assess realistic marketing expenses and genuine reserves for replacement.
- Analyze the relative profitability of the food-and-beverage outlets after allocation of all costs.
- Review the cost/benefit value of the franchise flag.
- Offer constructive criticism of the management contract regarding the relationship of fees to performance standards.
- Propose sensitivity analyses to enable owners to understand the range of alternatives under various assumptions of reasonableness and uncertainty.

The 1,200-room convention-center hotel under construction in Houston is expected to open at the end of 2003. It will be managed by Hilton Hotels Corp.

Resolution Opposing the Proposed Increase In Occupancy Tax

WHEREAS, the accommodations and / or lodging industry, including cottage rentals, hotels, and motels located on Wrightsville Beach, NC have suffered reductions in occupancy due to the failing North Carolina economy and the aftermath of 9.11 reduction in travel and...

WHEREAS, the majority (over 65%) of tourists visiting New Hanover County beaches are drawn from North Carolinians across the state and they are already paying both sales taxes and existing occupancy taxes to use their own beaches, and further...

WHEREAS, this single industry tax is an unfair and regressive tax ultimately arriving at a total of 13% of the total charges if passed would cause significant unfair competition from neighboring states and other coastal communities having lower taxes, and ...

WHEREAS, the state of North Carolina has not dedicated an ongoing state fund for Beach re-nourishment projects, leaving the current 60 beach nourishment and 40 percent tourism development split of the first three percent occupancy tax as the only buffer for the current Federal, State, and Local mix of moneys required to maintain our beaches, and that money is in jeopardy at the Federal and State level and it represents the only reserve for the beaches against catastrophic events, and ...

WHEREAS, the proposed increase in local occupancy taxes to 6% would not address the issue of beach nourishment money and will impact both users of the beaches and collectors of the new tax and...

WHEREAS, the current bills include formation of four new Tourism Development Authorities, in addition to the current Cape Fear Coast Convention and Visitors Bureau which would further fragment the tourism promotion dollars spent in the area,

I, the undersigned, do hereby oppose the current two occupancy bills (HOUSE BILL 1707, HOUSE BILL 1720) and do hereby request our New Hanover County legislative delegation to remove all occupancy bills now under consideration by the legislature of North Carolina for this short session and until such time as a consensus can be developed as to the need for and distribution of such a tax. Such consensus being signaled by a joint approach to the legislature by our beaches, Wilmington, and New Hanover County with a single pre-approved plan for equal county wide tourism promotion.

MINUTES

OCCUPANCY TAX SUBCOMMITTEE
OF THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE
SEPTEMBER 18, 2002
ROOM 425, LOB
10:30 a.m.

The Chair of the Subcommittee, Representative Mary Jarrell, called the meeting to order. Members present were Representatives Alexander and McComas, along with Staff person, Trina Griffin. The Agenda and Visitor Registration Sheet are attached and made part of these minutes.

The first bill considered by the subcommittee was HB 1707, BEACH TOWNS ROOM TAX, sponsored by Representative McComas. Representative McComas offered an amendment to amend the bill on page 2, lines 19-21, and page 6, lines 3-7. Representative Alexander moved to have the amendment rolled into a Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS). The motion carried. Representative McComas offered a PCS for consideration. The PCS, as amended, consisted of three parts. The first part affected the beach towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach. The second part modified the county's current authority to levy a 3% occupancy tax. The third part prohibited a convention center in New Hanover County from entering into a contract with a hotel requiring the hotel to pay fees or commissions to the convention center based on accommodations furnished to convention participants. Representative Jarrell stated that the bill spoke to beach nourishment and the definitions were fine. She made a motion to give the PCS, as amended, a favorable report and recommendation to the full Finance Committee. The motion was adopted. Copies of the Amendment and PCS are attached as part of these minutes.

The next bill considered was HB 1720, Wilmington Occupancy Tax, sponsored by Representative Wright. Representative Wright was not present and Trina Griffin gave a summary of the bill. If New Hanover County created a Tourism Development Authority (TDA), then the City of Wilmington would be authorized to levy a 3% room occupancy tax. New Hanover County would create a convention center account, with the county remitting the net proceeds of the tax to that account. At the end of three years, the City of Wilmington must demonstrate to the TDA that all financing and development arrangements for a convention center were completed. If not, the revenues generated up to that time and the balance in the convention center account would be forwarded to the TDA. The TDA could use the funds to promote travel and tourism. Ms. Griffin had spoken with Representative Wright and he was in agreement with the PCS. Upon motion by Representative Alexander, the PCS was given a favorable report and recommendation to the Finance Committee. The Proposed Committee Substitute is attached as part of these minutes.

The House Finance Committee would hear both bills on September 19, 2002. If Representative Wright had several amendments for HB 1720, then that bill would be re-referred to the subcommittee.

The meeting adjourned at 11:00 a.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Mary L. Jarrell

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE TOURISM DEVELOPMENT FOR THE NEW HANOVER BEACH TOWNS, TO PROVIDE FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A TOURISM DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY, AND TO CONFORM ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS OF THE NEW HANOVER COUNTY LAW TO GENERAL LAW.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

NEW HANOVER BEACH TOWNS TOURISM DEVELOPMENT ACT

SECTION 1.(a) This section applies only to the towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach.

SECTION 1.(b) Authorization and Scope. – If New Hanover County has created a Tourism Development Authority pursuant to Part VIII of Chapter 908 of the 1983 Session Laws, as amended, the governing body of a beach town may, by resolution, levy a local occupancy tax of up to three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or accommodation furnished by a hotel, motel, inn, tourist camp, or similar place within the town that is subject to sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(3). This tax is in addition to any State or local sales tax. This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by nonprofit charitable, educational, or religious organizations when furnished in furtherance of their nonprofit purpose.

SECTION 1.(c) Administration. – New Hanover County shall collect and administer on behalf of each beach town the tax the town levies under this section. Except as otherwise provided in this section, a tax levied under this section shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S. 160A-215. The penalties provided in G.S. 160A-215 apply to a tax levied under this section.

SECTION 1.(d) Distribution and Use of Tax Revenue. – The county shall, on a quarterly basis, remit the net proceeds of the occupancy tax levied by each beach town under this section to the Tourism Development Authority for deposit to a separate account for that beach town. The Authority shall use at least one-half of the funds in each beach town account to promote travel and tourism in that beach town and shall use the remainder in each beach town account for tourism-related expenditures in that beach town. Before spending any funds in a beach town account for promoting travel and tourism or for tourism-related expenditures, the Authority must consult with the affected beach town regarding its needs for promoting travel and tourism and for tourism-related expenditures.

The following definitions apply in this subsection:

(1) Beach towns. – Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach.

(2) Net proceeds. – Gross proceeds less the cost to the county of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer, not to exceed three percent (3%) of the first five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of gross proceeds collected each year and one percent (1%) of the remaining gross receipts collected each year.

(3) Promote travel and tourism. – To advertise or market an area or activity, publish and distribute pamphlets and other materials, conduct market research, or engage in similar promotional activities that attract tourists or business travelers to the area; the term includes administrative expenses incurred in engaging in the listed activities.

(4) Tourism Development Authority. – The Authority created by New Hanover County pursuant to Part VIII of Chapter 908 of the 1983 Session Laws, as amended.

(5) Tourism-related expenditures. – Expenditures that, in the judgment of Tourism Development Authority, are designed to increase the use of lodging facilities, meeting facilities, or convention facilities in a town or to attract tourists or business travelers to the town. The term includes tourism-related capital expenditures.

SECTION 2. G.S. 160A-215 reads as rewritten:

"§ 160A-215. Uniform provisions for room occupancy taxes.

(a) Scope. – This section applies only to municipalities the General Assembly has authorized to levy room occupancy taxes. For the purpose of this section, the term "city" means a municipality.

(b) Levy. – A room occupancy tax may be levied only by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto. A room occupancy tax shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the second month after the date the resolution is adopted.

(c) Collection. – Every operator of a business subject to a room occupancy tax shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. The tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the taxing city. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The taxing city shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the city the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax. An operator of a business who collects a room occupancy tax may deduct from the amount remitted to the taxing city a discount equal to the discount the State allows the operator for State sales and use tax.

(d) Administration. – The taxing city shall administer a room occupancy tax it levies. A room occupancy tax is due and payable to the city finance officer in monthly installments on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the taxing city. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied. A room occupancy tax return filed with the city finance officer is not a public record and may not be disclosed except in accordance with G.S. 153A-148.1 or G.S. 160A-208.1.

(e) Penalties. – A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file a room occupancy tax return or pay a room occupancy tax as required by law is subject to the civil and criminal penalties set by G.S. 105-236 for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The governing board of the taxing city has the same authority to waive the penalties for a room occupancy tax that the Secretary of Revenue has to waive the penalties for State sales and use taxes.

(f) Repeal or Reduction. – A room occupancy tax levied by a city may be repealed or reduced by a resolution adopted by the governing body of the city. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the resolution was adopted. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax does not affect a liability for a tax that was attached before the effective date of the repeal or reduction, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal or reduction.

(g) This section applies only to Beech Mountain District W, to the Cities of Gastonia, Goldsboro, Greensboro, High Point, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Lincolnton, Lumberton, Monroe, Mount Airy, Shelby, Statesville, and Washington, to the Towns of Beech Mountain, Carolina Beach, Carrboro, Kure Beach, Mooresville, North Topsail Beach, Selma, Smithfield, St. Pauls, ~~and Wilkesboro,~~Wilkesboro, and Wrightsville Beach, and to the municipalities in Avery and Brunswick Counties."

~~(b) The purposes for which revenue from the room occupancy tax may be used by the county and its municipalities may be changed only by resolution of the New Hanover Board of County Commissioners after being approved by a majority of the votes cast in an election held in New Hanover County on the question of how revenue from the room occupancy tax should be used. The ballot presented to the qualified voters of the county in an election concerning the use of revenue from the room occupancy tax shall state all the proposed uses of this revenue and the percentage of the revenue to be used for each purpose. Any change in use of revenue from the room occupancy tax made by the county commissioners after voter approval may likewise be changed only by resolution of the county commissioners after being approved by the voters in another election.~~

~~The question of how revenue from the room occupancy tax should be spent may be submitted to the qualified voters of the county only at the time of a statewide general election. All elections under this section shall be conducted in accordance with the laws then governing elections in this State.~~

~~"Sec. 36. Repeal of Levy. (a) The board of commissioners may by resolution repeal the levy of the room occupancy tax in new Hanover County, but no repeal of taxes levied under this Part shall be effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the repeal resolution was adopted.~~

~~(b) No liability for any tax levied under this Part that attached prior to the date on which a levy is repealed is discharged as a result of the repeal, and no right to a refund of a tax that accrued prior to the effective date on which a levy is repealed may be denied as a result of the repeal.~~"

SECTION 5. G.S. 153A-155 reads as rewritten:

"§ 153A-155. Uniform provisions for room occupancy taxes.

(a) Scope. – This section applies only to counties the General Assembly has authorized to levy room occupancy taxes.

(b) Levy. – A room occupancy tax may be levied only by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto. A room occupancy tax shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the second month after the date the resolution is adopted.

(c) Collection. – Every operator of a business subject to a room occupancy tax shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. The tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the taxing county. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The taxing county shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the county the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax. An operator of a business who collects a room occupancy tax may deduct from the amount remitted to the taxing county a discount equal to the discount the State allows the operator for State sales and use tax.

(d) Administration. – The taxing county shall administer a room occupancy tax it levies. A room occupancy tax is due and payable to the county finance officer in monthly installments on or before the 15th day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the 15th day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the taxing county. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied. A room occupancy tax return filed with the county finance officer is not a public record and may not be disclosed except in accordance with G.S. 153A-148.1 or G.S. 160A-208.1.

(e) Penalties. – A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file a room occupancy tax return or pay a room occupancy tax as required by law is subject to the civil and criminal penalties set by G.S. 105-236 for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The governing board of the taxing county has the same authority to waive the penalties for a room occupancy tax that the Secretary of Revenue has to waive the penalties for State sales and use taxes.

(f) Repeal or Reduction. – A room occupancy tax levied by a county may be repealed or reduced by a resolution adopted by the governing body of the county. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the resolution was adopted. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax does not affect a liability for a tax that was attached before the effective date of the repeal or reduction, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal or reduction.

(g) This section applies only to Anson, Brunswick, Buncombe, Cabarrus, Carteret, Craven, Cumberland, Currituck, Dare, Davie, Durham, Granville, Madison, Montgomery, Nash, New Hanover, Pender, Person, Randolph, Richmond, Rowan, Scotland, Stanly, Transylvania, Tyrrell, Vance, and Washington Counties, and to the Township of Averasboro in Harnett County."

SECTION 6. The amendments made by this act to Section 34 of Chapter 908 of the 1983 Session Laws, as amended, are effective when this act becomes law. The remainder of this act becomes effective February 1, 2003.

HOUSE BILL 1707:
New Hanover Beach Towns Tourism Act

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Introduced by:	Rep. McComas
Date:	September 18, 2002	Summary by:	Trina Griffin
Version:	PCS for 1st Edition		Committee Counsel
	H1707-CSLCx-110 [v.6]

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1707, given a favorable report by the Occupancy Tax Subcommittee, does the following things:

- It authorizes each of the towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach to levy a 3% occupancy tax once the county has established a Tourism Development Authority. One-half of the proceeds are to be used for tourism promotion and the other half for tourism-related expenditures.
- It requires the county to establish a Tourism Development Authority no later than February 1, 2003, and it specifies the membership of the Authority.
- It conforms the administrative provisions of New Hanover County's current occupancy tax legislation to the uniform provisions concerning levy, administration, collection, repeal, and penalties.
- It prohibits a convention center that is funded in whole or in part by occupancy tax proceeds from entering into a contract with a hotel that requires the hotel to pay a fee, penalty, commission, or other charge to the convention center based on accommodations furnished to individuals attending convention center functions. This provision only applies to convention centers in New Hanover County and the municipalities in New Hanover County.

The section requiring the establishment of a Tourism Development Authority and the section regarding convention centers become effective when the act becomes law. The reminder of the act becomes effective February 1, 2003.

CURRENT LAW: Currently, the towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach do not have authority to levy an occupancy tax. However, they do receive a portion of the occupancy tax proceeds levied by the county. Since 1985, New Hanover has had the authority to levy a 3% occupancy tax. Sixty percent (60%) of the total proceeds are deposited into a special fund to be used to control beach erosion. The remainder is distributed among the county and the municipalities in accordance with the method by which the 1% local sales and use taxes levied in the county are distributed and is used to promote travel and tourism.[1]

BILL ANALYSIS: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1707 has three parts. The first part affects the beach towns only, the second part modifies the county's current authority to levy a 3% occupancy tax, and the third part prohibits a convention center in New Hanover County from entering into a contract with a hotel requiring the hotel to pay fees or commissions to the convention center based on accommodations furnished to convention participants.

[1] New Hanover uses an ad valorem method of local sales and use tax distribution.

I. Beach Towns Tourism Development Act

Rate – The bill authorizes each of the towns of Carolina Beach, Kure Beach, and Wrightsville Beach to levy a 3% occupancy tax once the county has established a Tourism Development Authority.

Administration – The county would collect the proceeds for each beach town and remit the funds, on a quarterly basis, to the TDA. The TDA will distribute the funds and must consult with the affected beach town regarding its needs for promoting travel and tourism and for tourism-related expenditures.

Use – 50% to promote travel and tourism; 50% for tourism-related expenditures.

II. Modify New Hanover County Administrative Provisions

Creation of a TDA – Currently, the county has a convention and visitors bureau (CVB), which was established without any authorizing legislation.

- The PCS requires the county to create the Cape Fear Coast Convention and Visitors Bureau, which shall act as a tourism development authority, as soon as practicable before February 1, 2003. Upon its creation, the county must transfer all of the assets of the convention and visitors bureau to the Authority.
- The TDA would consist of 15 voting members, with 5 ex officio members and 10 additional members appointed by the board of commissioners. The eight additional members would consist of 7 owners/operators of lodgings (hotels, bed and breakfast, and rental properties), 2 people actively involved in promoting tourism in the county, and 1 owner/operator of a restaurant.
- The intent of this legislation is for the current CVB to be converted into a Tourism Development Authority, but retain its current name as the "Cape Fear Coast Convention and Visitors Bureau."

Use –

- 60% - Under current law, New Hanover uses 60% of its occupancy tax proceeds to control beach erosion. The PCS changes the term to "beach nourishment," a defined term. These funds would continue to be deposited into a special account administered by the county.
- 40% - Under current law, the remaining 40% is distributed among the county and the municipalities and used to promote travel and tourism. Under the PCS, the use would remain the same but the funds would be remitted to and distributed by the TDA.

Uniform Administrative Provisions – It conforms the provisions regarding the levy, administration, collection and repeal of the county tax to the statutory provisions in G.S. 153A-155. Uniform statutory penalties also apply.

III. Limitation on New Hanover Convention Centers

- This section applies only to New Hanover County and municipalities in New Hanover County.
- The bill prohibits a convention center from entering into a contract with a hotel or lodging facility that requires the hotel or lodging facility to pay a fee, penalty, commission, or other charge to the convention center based on accommodations furnished to individuals attending convention center functions.
- It also prohibits a convention center from discriminating against a hotel or lodging facility that provides accommodations to individuals attending convention center functions based on the payment or nonpayment of fees, penalties, commissions, or other charges to the convention center.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE CITY OF WILMINGTON TO LEVY A ROOM OCCUPANCY AND TOURISM DEVELOPMENT TAX.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Occupancy tax. – (a) Authorization and Scope. – If New Hanover County has created a Tourism Development Authority pursuant to Part VIII of Chapter 908 of the 1983 Session Laws, as amended, the Wilmington City Council may, by resolution, levy a local occupancy tax of three percent (3%) of the gross receipts derived from the rental of any room, lodging, or accommodation furnished by a hotel, motel, inn, tourist camp, or similar place within the city that is subject to sales tax imposed by the State under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(3). This tax is in addition to any State or local sales tax. This tax does not apply to accommodations furnished by nonprofit charitable, educational, or religious organizations when furnished in furtherance of their nonprofit purpose.

Before adopting a resolution levying a tax under this section, the Wilmington City Council must hold a public hearing on the question. The City Council must give at least 15 days' public notice of the hearing, including details on the proposed uses of the tax proceeds. After adopting the resolution, the City Council must immediately forward a copy of the resolution to the New Hanover County Board of Commissioners and the county manager. A tax levied under this subsection shall become effective no earlier than February 1, 2003.

SECTION 1.(b) Administration. – New Hanover County shall collect and administer a tax levied under this section. Except as otherwise provided in this section, a tax levied under this section shall be levied, administered, collected, and repealed as provided in G.S. 160A-215. The penalties provided in G.S. 160A-215 apply to a tax levied under this section.

SECTION 1.(c) Definitions. – The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Downtown Wilmington. – The area consisting of the Central Business District, the National Register Historic District, and the area extending to the Holmes Bridge and the Cape Fear River in the city of Wilmington, North Carolina.

(2) Net proceeds. – Gross proceeds less the cost to the county of administering and collecting the tax, as determined by the finance officer, not to exceed three percent (3%) of the first five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of gross proceeds collected each year and one percent (1%) of the remaining gross receipts collected each year.

(3) Promote travel and tourism. – To advertise or market an area or activity, publish and distribute pamphlets and other materials, conduct market research, or engage in similar promotional activities that attract tourists or business travelers to the area; the term includes administrative expenses incurred in engaging in the listed activities.

(4) Tourism Development Authority or Authority. – The Authority created by New Hanover County pursuant to Part VIII of Chapter 908 of the 1983 Session Laws, as amended.

SECTION 1.(d) Use of Tax Revenue. – If a tax is levied under this section, New Hanover County shall create a convention center account. The county shall remit the net proceeds of a tax levied under this section quarterly to the convention center account. Funds in the account, including interest or investment income on the account, may be used only as provided in this subsection:

(1) The county shall hold the funds in the convention center account, including interest or investment income, until one or more of the conditions provided in this subsection have been met. When any of the conditions provided in subdivision (2), (3), or (4) of this subsection has been met, the proceeds shall be used as provided in that subdivision.

(2) If, at the end of three years after the first levy of a tax under this section, the City of Wilmington has not demonstrated to the satisfaction of a Tourism Development Authority created by the county pursuant to a local act of the General Assembly that all financing and development arrangements for a convention center have been completed, the county shall remit all funds in the convention center account to the Tourism Development Authority. Thereafter, all tax proceeds remitted to the convention center account shall be remitted quarterly to the Tourism Development Authority. The Authority shall use these funds only to promote travel and tourism. For the purpose of this subdivision, completion of financing and development arrangements includes at a minimum obtaining financing commitments for construction, entering into contracts for construction and management, and securing the necessary land for the project.

(3) If, within three years after the first levy of a tax under this section, the City of Wilmington demonstrates to the satisfaction of a Tourism Development Authority created by the county pursuant to a local act of the General Assembly that all financing and development arrangements for a convention center have been completed, the county shall remit all funds in the convention center account to the City of Wilmington. Thereafter, except as provided in subdivision (4) of this subsection, all tax proceeds remitted to the convention center account shall be remitted quarterly to the City of Wilmington. The City of Wilmington may use the funds only for construction, financing, operation, promotion, and maintenance of the convention center. For the purpose of this subdivision, completion of financing and development arrangements includes at a minimum obtaining financing commitments for construction, entering into contracts for construction and management, and securing the necessary land for the project.

(4) If the condition set out in subdivision (3) of this subsection has been met but within four years after the first levy of a tax under this section, the City of Wilmington fails to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Tourism Development Authority that construction has begun on a convention center in Downtown Wilmington, then the city must return to the county any funds it received under this subsection that have not been spent or committed. The county shall use these funds and any tax proceeds remitted thereafter to the convention center account only to promote travel and tourism in the city. If the county has created a Tourism Development Authority pursuant to a local act of the General Assembly, the county must remit the funds and future tax proceeds to the Tourism Development Authority. The Authority shall use these funds only to promote travel and tourism in the city.

SECTION 1.(e) Reports. – Each entity responsible for administering and spending the proceeds of a tax levied under this section must each annually publish a detailed, audited report on its receipts and expenditures of the occupancy tax proceeds during the preceding year. The text of the report must be included in the minutes of the entity's governing body and placed on a public web site, and must be made available in hard copy upon request.

SECTION 2. City administrative provisions. – G.S. 160A-215, as amended by S.L. 2002-95, reads as rewritten:

"§ 160A-215. Uniform provisions for room occupancy taxes.

(a) Scope. – This section applies only to municipalities the General Assembly has authorized to levy room occupancy taxes. For the purpose of this section, the term "city" means a municipality.

(b) Levy. – A room occupancy tax may be levied only by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto. A room occupancy tax shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the second month after the date the resolution is adopted.

(c) Collection. – Every operator of a business subject to a room occupancy tax shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. The tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the taxing city. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The taxing city shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the city the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax. An operator of a business who collects a room occupancy tax may deduct from the amount remitted to the taxing city a discount equal to the discount the State allows the operator for State sales and use tax.

(d) Administration. – The taxing city shall administer a room occupancy tax it levies. A room occupancy tax is due and payable to the city finance officer in monthly installments on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the taxing city. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied. A room occupancy tax return filed with the city finance officer is not a public record and may not be disclosed except in accordance with G.S. 153A-148.1 or G.S. 160A-208.1.

(e) Penalties. – A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file a room occupancy tax return or pay a room occupancy tax as required by law is subject to the civil and criminal penalties set by G.S. 105-236 for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The governing board of the taxing city has the same authority to waive the penalties for a room occupancy tax that the Secretary of Revenue has to waive the penalties for State sales and use taxes.

(f) Repeal or Reduction. – A room occupancy tax levied by a city may be repealed or reduced by a resolution adopted by the governing body of the city. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the resolution was adopted. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax does not affect a liability for a tax that was attached before the effective date of the repeal or reduction, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal or reduction.

(g) This section applies only to Beech Mountain District W, to the Cities of Gastonia, Goldsboro, Greensboro, High Point, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Lincolnton, Lumberton, Monroe, Mount Airy, Shelby, Statesville, ~~and~~ Washington, and Wilmington, to the Towns of Beech Mountain, Carrboro, Jonesville, Mooresville, North Topsail Beach, Selma, Smithfield, St. Pauls, and Wilkesboro, and to the municipalities in Avery and Brunswick Counties."

SECTION 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Wilmington and New Hanover County.

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law, but the tax cannot be implemented before February 1, 2003.

BILL SUMMARY: If New Hanover County creates a Tourism Development Authority, then the City of Wilmington is authorized to levy a 3% room occupancy tax. The bill applies all the standard provisions regarding the collection of the funds. In addition, the bill instructs New Hanover County to create a convention center account, with the county remitting the net proceeds of the tax to that account. (The bill assumes the county will collect the tax for the City of Wilmington). If at the end of three (3) years the City of Wilmington has not demonstrated not the Tourism Development Authority that all financing and development arrangements for a convention center have been completed, the revenues generated up to that time, the balance in the convention center account are forwarded to the Tourism Development Authority. The Authority is then instructed to use the funds to promote travel and tourism. All future occupancy tax revenues are to flow to the Authority. However, if the City is able to demonstrate within three years, to that satisfaction of the Authority, that all necessary arrangements are complete, the balance in the account will flow to the City of Wilmington to construct and operate a convention center. All future proceeds would also flow to the City for the same purpose, with one exception. If the city of Wilmington does not begin construction on a Downtown Wilmington convention center within one year of receiving the funds in the account, the unspent and uncommitted balance is to revert to the Authority, with all future funds also remitted to the TDA.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: It is assumed that the area will not see a decrease in its tourism industry or hotel occupancy rates due to the proposed legislation. The average room rate varies widely in Wilmington based on in and off-season tourism patterns. The proposed occupancy tax is levied against the gross receipt sales, thus revenues throughout the year could rise and fall with the seasonal room rates.

New Hanover County occupancy tax data were gathered from both the UNC-Wilmington Center for Business and Economic Services and the New Hanover County Finance Division. In fiscal year 2001-2002 New Hanover County collected $2.6 million from its 3% current occupancy tax. Wilmington is the largest municipality in the county, comprising approximately 50% of the population and industry in the area. The Cape Fear Coast Convention and Visitor's Bureau reports 7,365 rental units in New Hanover County, which includes 3,567 units in Wilmington. Thus, it is assumed that a Wilmington room tax would generate half of the revenue generated under the county tax at the same tax rate.

Fiscal Research typically increases occupancy tax estimates at an annual rate of 4%. However, a modest 1% annual growth rate is projected in Wilmington due to the fluctuating tourism industry in the area. Recent county annual revenues have increased (2000) and decreased (1999 and 2001) based on vacation trends, severe weather, and the economic situation in the country. Actual growth will vary depending on the economic recovery and local development and planning activities.

NOTE: The estimate for fiscal year 2002-03 assumes only five months of collections, as the bill specifics that the tax cannot be levied until February 1, 2003.

SECTION 4. G.S. 20-81.12 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(b23) Racing Theme. – Before the Division develops or distributes a racing theme plate in this series, it may choose to require 100 prepaid applications for any NASCAR or NASCAR driver's or team's respective plate, or a deposit from any person seeking issuance of a plate of one thousand dollars ($1,000) per plate. If a deposit is made pursuant to this subsection, the Division shall refund the deposit once an equivalent amount of license plate fees is collected for the plate for which the deposit is made. If an equivalent amount is not collected within four years of the issuance of the first plate, the Division may retain the deposit. The Division may develop any plate in this series without a minimum number of applications or deposit if the person providing the State with the license to use the words, logos, trademarks, or designs associated with the plate produces the plate for the State without a minimum order quantity. The cost of the racing theme special registration plate shall include the costs to produce blank plates for issuance by the Division, as provided in any agreement with the Division authorized by G.S. 20-79.4(b)(35a)."

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

SUBCOMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL 1630
September 3, 2002

The subcommittee for HB 1630, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE DIVISION OF MOTOR VEHICLES TO ISSUE NASCAR DRIVER THEME SPECIAL REGISTRATION PLATES, met at 3: 00 p. m. on Tuesday, September 3, 2002 in Room 420 of the Legislative Office Building. Members present included Representative Wainwright (Chairman), Representatives Cox, Jarrell, and Johnson. Staff person Gerry Cohen, Director of Bill Drafting, was also present. The Visitor Registration Sheet is attached as Attachment 1.

Representative Wainwright called the meeting to order. He stated that the subcommittee would report their findings to the full Finance committee. At the meeting on Tuesday, August 29, 2002, the members of the subcommittee had requested information from the interested parties concerning financial data on royalties, a decision on how to handle initial applications, and the number of required applications before any plate was printed. Gerry Cohen, the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV), and the lobbyists representing Race Plate Marketing, LLC, had met to address those questions. An email from Gerry Cohen, dated August 29, 2002, outlined the details of that meeting. Please refer to Attachment 2. The Chair asked Mr. Cohen to give an update of that meeting.

Mr. Cohen stated that following the subcommittee meeting on Tuesday, August 29, 2002, a working group comprised of himself, Susan Coward and Diane Johnson of DMV, and Jon Carr and Henry Jones of Jordan Price Wall Gray Jones & Carlton, had met to discuss concerns of the subcommittee. Additional questions were asked of Mr. Jones and Mr. Carr concerning how the royalties were divided, what was the net to the state, how did that compare to other types of special plates, leaving it open for a minimum number of plates which put DMV in an uncomfortable position, and how were things being processed. The prior draft of the bill had a minimum number of 300 plates. The working group asked the applicant about a minimum of 100 per type of license plate, and the issue of the process. Race Plate Marketing is willing to handle the administrative duties for the first 100 applications, and they were willing to have a minimum of 100. Henry Jones and Jon P. Carr of Jordan and Price presented a proposal from their client, Race Plate Marketing, LLC, and the company's profit analysis and Proposed Committee Substitute. The fee to be charged for the Race Theme vanity plates was proposed at $30.00 The usage fee for the proprietary marks is 25% if that $30.00, or $7.50. This is the standard fee as used in other states. The cost of the license plate, as provided by the Department of Corrections for embossing and packaging, is $4.00. The State's net share of the profit for the first year would be $18.50 and $22.50 beginning in the second year for that same plate. Please refer to Attachment 3 for the full details of their proposal. The proposal would not allow the issuance of new plates after September 1, 2005. Those with existing plates could continue to purchase their plates. The PCS referred to professional stock car auto racing. NASCAR was not the only professional stock car auto racing. The proposal also had a sunset, which provided that no new plates would be issued after September 1, 2005. The sunset would allow time to assess whether it was a viable arrangement for the state. The General Assembly could extend or not extend the sunset.

Race Plate Marketing would issue the initial workload of 100 special plates. After the issuance by of that number, you would apply directly to DMV. There would be one plate issued, and you would get a renewal sticker each year.

The Chair recognized Carol Howard of DMV, Eddie Caldwell of the NC Sheriff's Association and the NC Law Enforcement Association, and Lieutenant Hunter of the NC Highway Patrol to speak on the bill. Ms. Howard stated that DMV did not oppose the issuance of the plate, but they were interested in consistency. They preferred the 300 minimum number for each plate. Mr. Caldwell stated that the concerns for the Associations that he represented were (1) that the tags have raised letters, and (2) that they have unique identifying letters so that law enforcement officers could distinguish them from other plates. They had no other concerns and no position on the bill. Lieutenant Hunter stated that the Highway Patrol had no opposition to the plate. They were concerned about the raised letters and the embossed coloring being readily identifiable by law enforcement.

Representative Wainwright explained to the committee that the total cost for the plate was fifty dollars, which included twenty dollars for the standard fee and thirty dollars for the specialty fee. If the plate was personalized, it could cost $70.00 or more. Mr. Cohen was asked to explain the changes in the Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS)and the original bill. He stated that the language in the PCS would implement what the applicant had proposed and there might be some wording changes. The committee could approve the PCS with the understanding that additional technical changes would be made by DMV before the PCS was presented to the committee. The original bill, PCS, Bill Analysis, and Fiscal Note are included in Attachment 4.

Mr. Henry Jones responded to questions concerning the number of drivers for these plates. He stated that currently there were 25 drivers, but others could be added. If someone dropped off the contract, the person who had purchased the plate could continue to renew the plate. There would be no additional plates issued for that driver.

Representative Cox asked if drivers who were not on the list of 25 would be allowed to get a plate. Mr. Jones replied that not as far as this program was concerned. The list of twenty-five drivers included the most popular drivers. Representative Cox asked if a driver could sue the state if their plate was not offered and they were a stockcar driver. Mr. Cohen asked Mr. Jones if a driver got clearing from NASCAR for licensing, would they go to DMV or would Race Plate Marketing be the sole provider of this. Mr. Jones stated that the statute leaves it open. The Chair stated that the bill needed to be explicit in the intent of the General Assembly as it relates to a law authorizing this stockcar racing plate. Mr. Cohen read the statute and it was his opinion that it would not be legal for the bill to say that only one person could contract the licensing. Representative Wainwright asked what would happen if another driver was able to get 100 applicants for his license plate. How would that driver get his plate added? Mr. Jones stated that the driver would have to get approval through NASCAR. Representative Dedmon asked if Race Plate Marketing was the sole licensee for NASCAR, and how long was their contract. If Race Plate Marketing loses its license, would this bill become moot? Mr. Cohen stated that if Race Plate Marketing lost their marketing agreement with NASCAR, part of the licensing would allow the individual to renew his plate. The drivers have granted in perpetuity the right to use their plate. Mr. Wainwright asked again how would we deal with a driver who is not included in the original 25 drivers, and he meets the minimum number of applicants to have his plate issued. Mr. Cohen stated that the driver would have to go to NASCAR. The Chair wanted to be comfortable that the contract agreement indicated that the State had no liability for any additional racing team or driver beyond those who were already licensed with Race Plate Marketing. Mr. Cohen asked Mr. Jones if the contract would state that DMV would refer any new inquiries/applicants to Race Plate Marketing. Mr. Jones agreed to include that wording in the contract.

Representative Wainwright stated that he wanted the General Assembly's intent concerning this bill to be clear. He did not want to leave how the contractual agreement would be worked out to DMV. He wanted the contractual language in the bill. He asked Ms. Howard what procedure DMV followed in contractual agreements. Ms. Howard stated that Division conferred with the Attorney General, and followed his recommendations. Any changes not acceptable to the Attorney General would need to be renegotiated. The language in the PCS would be changed to read that "The Division may contract with any person" instead of The Division may enter into agreements with any person". Representative Wainwright stated that the committee would not vote on the bill today, and that Mr. Cohen would provide a new PCS with suitable language and legislatively appropriate. The following issues were to be resolved: the number of plates and the mechanics of who would take the initial application to have the plate printed. Representative Wainwright suggested that Mr. Jones Mr. Carr, Representatives Dedmon and Goodwin meet with Ms. Howard and DMV to work out the number of plates. The Chair stated that he was not sold on the minimum of 100 plates.

Mr. Jones and the bill sponsors stated that they appreciated the committee's diligence and careful consideration to resolve issues with the bill. The next meeting would be on Thursday, September 5, 2002.

The meeting adjourned at 3:40 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Blinda Edwards
Committee Assistant

Representative William L. Wainwright

Subject: Racing Theme Plates

At the conclusion of today's subcommittee meeting on HB1630 Racing (NASCAR) theme plates, I met with Susan Coward and Diane Johnson of DMV and Jon Carr and Henry Jones of the Jordan Price law firm. At the request of chair Rep. William Wainwright, various isses were discuzssed, with the goal of reporting back to the subcommittee Tuesday afternoon.

Here are the issues discussed, possible resolution, and who is following up:

1) Financial data on royalties. Jordan Price to supply spreadsheet or other document showing estimated plate sales, estimated revenue based on the $30 plate fee shown in the draft, royalty to be paid, expenses to be born by royalty recipient (cost of plate blanks estimated $4), net to state, savings to state (no plate costs, save $1.50), extra expenses to state (reprogreaming one-time), also contract help if royalty recipient does not handle initial applications. DMV to get Jordan Price by Tuesday estimates of one time expenses, also cost of contract assistance if DMV handles initial applications. Spreadheet to cover first two years, so as to show one time expenses in first year (cost of plate and initial application processing). Spreadhseet to compare revenues for similar quantity of sales with those on other Sports Team plates (Carolina Panthers, revenue $10 per plate, DMV expenses $1.50 one time for each plate).

2) Decision on how to handle initial applications. Current DMV policy is that applicant handles initial 300 applications This is so the considerable burden of handling the first promotional efforts fall on the applicant, rather than DMV. This also leaves up to the aplicant the decsion on who gets the low numbered plates. DMV has consistently enforced this polcy with ll other groups, and only takes over handling initial applications after the first 300 come in. Here are the three ernatives. Jordan Price to see if applicant will do ALTERNATE 1 as thuis is least dirsuptive to DMV

ALTERNATE 1
Applicant responsible for initial applications and decisions on plate numbering for inital batch for each driver. If applicant had not planned to do this, applicant will adjust royalty estimates to reflect cost of processing. tHESE COSTS WILL BE SHOWN ON EXPENSE SPREADHSEET

ALTERNATE 2
Applicant will seek thrid party to handle this at no cost

ALTERNATE 3
DMV will handle this, will establish short-term contract position(s) to handle initial rush, DMV to recover these costs out of revenues from plate sales, these costs are to be shown in year 1 fiscal spreadsheet. Decisions on low numbers to either be done strictly by application time OR by DMV.

3) Minimum number of plates.
Jordan Pricee to ask applicant on position for requirement of 300 overall applications, but 100 for any one driver or 100 for NASCAR theme plate. This is more consistent with general DMV policy, and addresses chair's concern that DMV not be required to exercise discretion in waiving requirements.

Re: House Bill 1630 (Racing Theme Special Plates)

At the Subcommittee meeting last week, Rep. Wainwright requested some financial information from our client, Race Plate Marketing, LLC with respect to potential revenues to the State. Attached you will find two documents which respond to Rep. Wainwright's request. Following the Subcommittee meeting last week, we had a productive discussion with Diane Johnson and Susan Coward, representing the Division of Motor Vehicles, and Gerry Cohen. Consistent with our discussion, please find attached a Proposed Committee Substitute for House Bill 1630 along with a summary of the changes to the First Edition of the bill. Our client has reviewed and approved the Proposed Committee Substitute.

Race Theme License Plate Profit Potential Analysis Assumptions and Overview
(as prepared by Race Plate Marketing, LLC)

The attached spreadsheet presents the sales and potential profit projections for the Race Theme license plate program. The basis for the analysis is the same as used in other states and early trends would indicate these to be accurate assumptions. Questions relative to this analysis may be directed to Bob Brant, President, Race Plate Marketing, LLC.

Race Theme Plate Profit Basis

The fee to be charged for the Race Theme vanity plates is proposed at $30.00 each. The usage fee for the proprietary marks is 25% of that $30.00, or $7.50. This is the standard fee as is used in other states. The 25% fee is allocated two ways, depending on the Race Theme plate design:

- For all designs using race driver graphics, the fee is allocated at 23% to Race Plate Marketing, LLC and 2% to NASCAR.
- For the one NASCAR® stand-alone design plate, the fee is allocated at 11% to Race Plate Marketing, LLC and 14% to NASCAR.

The cost of the license plate as provided to Dept. of Corrections for embossing and packaging is $4.00. While we do not have access to current, actual costs of specialty plates in North Carolina, our experience would indicate this is not significantly different for a six-color graphic design vanity plate. After the proprietary marks usage fee, the state retains a gross profit of $22.50, less any other DMV administrative costs, for distribution to state agencies per statute guidelines. Our firm, Race Plate Marketing, LLC, serves as the marketing and administrative link between the drivers/teams and the states. We handle graphics development and changes, marketing activities, administrative responsibilities, legal and compliance issues, and general business activity. The company provides the required efficiency for state governments to work with multiple race team marketing programs and for those race teams to work with multiple state governments. We are experienced in all aspects of the licensing industry and have positive and productive relationships in all states with whom we currently work. States in which Race Plate Marketing, LLC currently has agreements in place include West Virginia, New York, Mississippi, and South Carolina. Legislation has also recently been passed in Virginia, where the company will establish the Race Plate program.

Scenario 1 (Uses WV Full Year Penetration as Basis)
The actual sales number in calendar year 2001 (first full year of sales) in the state of West Virginia was 15,291 plates or 1.063% of total vehicle registrations of 1,438,531 units. Using this same penetration percentage applied to the number of vehicles registered in North Carolina results in first full year sales potential of 78,932 units. Gross profit projections are determined using the above $22.50 per plate gross profit assumption.

Scenario 2 (Uses ESPN/Chilton Poll on North Carolina Race Fans as Basis)

An ESPN/Chilton sports poll conducted in 2000 indicated that in North Carolina, 49.3% of residents consider themselves race fans, ranking North Carolina as the highest per capita race fan state in the nation. The North Carolina result can be compared with a national average of 36.0%, with a range of 49.3% in North Carolina to 24.2% in New Jersey. Race fan penetration in the state of West Virginia, which was used as the basis in Scenario 1, is 45.0%.
For the purposed of this projection calculation, it is assumed that 3% of those 49.3% race fans in North Carolina purchase a Race Theme license plate. This number, while slightly higher than the West Virginia-based comparison number in Scenario 1, may be a more accurate projection for North Carolina, given the increased number of race fans.
The race fan penetration results, when used as a basis, indicate a sales potential of 95,066 units. Again, gross profit projections are determined using the above $22.50 per plate gross profit assumption.

Program Changes

In the event of a driver or graphics change on an issued Race Theme license plate, the procedure is as follows. Production of any new license plate in the old driver/design format will be discontinued. The state retains the right to use all issued plates and to issue any existing inventory. It is suggested that state residents be provided with the option of exchanging their plates for a new design, updating to the new design graphic, as is usually the trend in other industry-related product sales when a change in driver or design is implemented.

Program Comparisons

In North Carolina, there are currently 9,681 college/university vanity plates issued. As the above projections indicate, we would anticipate significantly more sales in the Race Theme vanity license plates. In support of this projection it should be noted that West Virginia, with approximately 20% of the auto registrations of North Carolina, issued 15,291 Race Theme license plates in their first full year of sales.
North Carolina colleges and universities receive $15.00 from the sale of each college-theme vanity plate. This can be compared to the $7.50 per plate marks usage fee that will be issued on the Race Theme license plate program.

Race Theme License Plate Profit Potential Analysis

(as prepared by Race Plate Marketing, LLC)

Race Theme Plate Profit Basis

Vanity Plate Charge	$30.00
Marks Usage Fee	$7.50
Gross Profit	$22.50

Note on manufacturing cost: Race Plate Marketing LLC to provide blank plate for embossing at cost of $4.00.
We are unaware of current actual costs of speciality plates but would not anticipate a significant difference here.

Scenario 1 Uses West Virginia Full Year Penetration as Basis

Actual 2001 (first full year) Race Theme plate sales in West Virginia was 1.063% of total vehicle registrations.
Year two gross profit projection anticipates 95% renewal penetration, providing continuous revenue stream to the state, plus 10% growth rate. Note: WV is showing a 25% growth trend in the second full year of their program.

NC Vehicle Registrations	Race Theme Plate Penetration	1st Full Year Sales Potential	Total Annual Sales	Annual Gross Profit Projection	2nd Year Gross Profit Projection
6,427,699	1.063%	68,326	$2,049,793	$1,537,345	$1,614,212

Scenario 2 Uses ESPN/Chilton Poll on North Carolina Race Fans as Basis

Poll indicates 49.3% of NC residents are race fans.
Race Theme Plate Penetration number assumes that 3% of those resident race fans purchase plate.
Year two gross profit projection uses same assumptions as Scenario 1 above, again, it is important to emphasize continuing revenue streams as residents renew their Race Theme plates each year.

NC Vehicle Registrations	Race Theme Plate Penetration	1st Full Year Sales Potential	Total Annual Sales	Annual Gross Profit Projection	2nd Year Gross Profit Projection
6,427,699	1.48%	95,066	$2,851,970	$2,138,978	$2,245,926

   (a) eliminates the placement of a deposit with the Division as a condition for issuance of plates and eliminates the requirement for 100 applications for each plate;

   (b) adds that the Division may require 300 applications for one or more plates as a condition for issuance; and

   (c) inserts "all costs" in place of "the costs" in the last sentence.

HOUSE BILL 1630:
NASCAR Driver Theme Special Plates

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	House Finance	Sponsor:	Rep. Dedmon and Goodwin
Date:	August 13, 2002	Analysis by:	Martha Walston Committee Counsel
Version:	H1630-PCS6479-Laf-82

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute for HB 1630 authorizes the DMV to issue Racing Theme special license plates for an additional $30.00 fee. This additional fee will go to the Special Registration Plate Account. The Racing Theme replacement fee will be $25.00, instead of the usual replacement fee of $10.00. SB 1370 is a companion bill.

CURRENT LAW: The General Assembly has authorized the Division of Motor Vehicles to issue many different registration plates. Most of these plates are not issued until at least 300 applications are received. The DMV has issued at least 87 special license plates. Applicants for the special license plates must pay the regular motor vehicle registration plate fee, and most applicants must also pay an additional fee. The additional fee is credited to the Special Registration Plate Account. After deducting the cost of the plates from this Account, $525,000 is annually appropriated to provide operating assistance for seven Visitor Centers. The Centers are located in Brunswick, Camden, Carteret, Caswell, Macon, Tyrrell, and Watauga Counties. The remaining revenue in the Account is transferred quarterly to the Department of Commerce for advertising (33%), the Department of Transportation for highway beautification (50%), and the Department of Health and Human Services to promote travel accessibility for disabled persons in the State (17%).

BILL ANALYSIS: The proposed committee substitute for House Bill 1630 directs the DMV to issue a Racing Theme special license plate for an additional fee of $30.00. The full additional amount will go into the Special Registration Plate Account. The special plate may bear an emblem, seal, other symbol or design displaying themes of National Association of Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR), or a NASCAR team or NASCAR driver. The DMV will not develop a plate without a license to use copyrighted or registered words, symbols, trademarks, or designs. Notwithstanding the Umstead Act, the DMV may enter into agreements with a person authorized to provide the State with such a license. The DMV may also contract for the production of blank plates in the series, provided the plates meet or exceed the State's expectations. The plate shall be designed in consultation with and approved by the person authorized to provide the license.

The DMV may require at least 300 applications before a plate in the series is issuable, or may develop the plate without the minimum number of applications if the person providing the State with the license produces the plate for the State without a minimum order quantity. The cost of the special plate shall include all costs to produce blank plates.

The cost for a replacement Racing Theme special plate shall be $25.00. The general replacement application fee is $10.00.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: NC Division of Motor Vehicles

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) to issue a series of plates with themes of the National Association of Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR). The DMV may enter into agreements with any person authorized to provide the State with the license to use the words, symbols, trademarks, or designs associated with the plate. The DMV may also contract for the production of blank plates in this series, provided the plates meet or exceed the State's specifications. The NASCAR license plate will not be a "First in Flight" plate.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Highway Fund – Special Registration Plate Account

In addition to the normal $20 vehicle registration fee for private passenger vehicles, each applicant for a NASCAR themed plate pays $30 that is deposited into the Special Registration Plate Account.

According to the Division of Motor Vehicles, there is a one-time cost of approximately $100 to design a new plate. There is also a production cost of approximately $3.00 per plate based on one color design. The cost per plate will increase if more color is added or the design is complex. The proposed legislation would allow the DMV to contract out the production of the special plates. It is not known how much such a contract would cost compared to internal production, but costs can be expected to increase due to NASCAR royalties of up to $7.50 for each plate (25% of the extra $30 cost).

According to Race Plates Marketing, LLC, a leading source for NASCAR driver license plates, and Motor Vehicle departments across various states, there are approximately 5 states that currently allow registered NASCAR special plates on licensed vehicles. West Virginia, as the first state to add NASCAR special plates, issued 4,053 plates in its first year with special registration fees of $65 for one year and $120 for two years. WV now estimates it has issued over 16,000 special NASCAR plates. Alternatively, Alabama was unable to reach the minimum number of orders required to begin issuing NASCAR plates, thus the implementation plans ceased in May 2002. South Carolina, Mississippi and Virginia have recently passed NASCAR special plate legislation and are beginning to make plans for issuing the plates. Many more states allow designer collector's plates to be made with their state name or insignia.

Because there is no way of knowing how many North Carolina citizens will apply for the plate, no accurate fiscal estimate is possible on either the revenue or expenditure side of this piece of the legislation.

Replacement Fee

Section 5 of the bill adds a $25 fee for each set of replacement registration plates issued under the revised statute. The replacement registration fee for a standard plate is $10. Currently, the DMV replaces less than 1% of plates annually; however, the NASCAR special plates might be more susceptible to theft and loss. It is not possible to estimate how many plates will need replacement.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

SUBCOMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL 1630

September 12, 2002

The subcommittee for HB 1630, A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE DIVISION OF MOTOR VEHICLES TO ISSUE NASCAR DRIVER THEME SPECIAL REGISTRATION PLATES, met at 1:35 p. m. on Thursday, September 12 2002 in the House Conference Room of the Legislative Building. Members present included Representative Wainwright (Chairman), Representatives Cox, Jarrell, and Johnson. Staff person Gerry Cohen, Director of Bill Drafting, was also present. The Visitor Registration Sheet is attached as Attachment 1.

Representative Wainwright called the meeting to order. The Chairman recognized Gerry Cohen to explain the Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS). Mr. Cohen stated that the license plate was not unique to NASCAR, it also included professional stockcar auto racing. The bill required that there be a license to use the copyright. The Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) could contract with any person authorized to provide the state with a license, and they could contract for the outside party to produce the plate. The bill would sunset on August 31, 2005, and no new plates would be issued unless the legislature decided to extend the sunset. Persons with plates could continue to renew those plates. The cost of the plate was $30.00. The DMV would not issue a Racing Theme plate unless it received at least 300 applications for the plate. The team plate requirement was dropped, and all teams were treated the same. Mr. Cohen went on to say that this bill covered the sport itself, NASCAR, and the driver, and it required 300 for any series. A replacement plate would cost $25.00. The Smokey Mountain Plate and the NASCAR plate would not say "First in Flight". The PCS and Fiscal Note are included in Attachment 2.

Representative Jarrell suggested that everywhere in the bill that read as "racing theme" be changed to "stock car racing". The Bill Sponsor, Representative Goodwin, had no objections to the change. The committee approved the change and Staff would make the change in the PCS.

Representative Jarrell suggested a change in the fee from $30.00 to $35.00. Representative Johnson asked if the increased fee would change the demand for the plate. Mr. Henry Jones of Jordan Price Wall Gray Jones and Carlton, said that he did not see a problem with the fee. Representative Goodwin had no problem with the fee increase. The state would get $3.75 more if the price was increased. The committee agreed with the change.

Representative Wainwright sent forth an amendment to the bill. He recognized Representative Goodwin to explain the proposed amendment. The amendment would add a special registration plate for the Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation. Representative Goodwin moved for its adoption. The subcommittee adopted the amendment. Refer to Attachment 3.

The Committee gave unanimous approval to the new Proposed Committee Substitute as amended. The bill would be reported to the Finance Committee with a favorable report. Staff would prepare a new PCS with the changes that were approved by the committee. The new, amended PCS and Fiscal Note are attached as Attachments 4 and 5.

The meeting adjourned at 2:00 p.m.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: NC Division of Motor Vehicles

EFFECTIVE DATE: When it becomes law.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) to issue a series of Racing Theme special license plates, upon receiving 300 applications for each plate. The DMV shall not develop any plate in the series without a license to use copyrighted or registered words, symbols, trademarks, or designs associated with the plate and can contract with any person authorized to provide such licenses. The DMV or the Department of Correction may also contract for the production of blank plates in this series, provided the plates meet or exceed the State's specifications. The Racing Theme license plates will not be "First in Flight" plates. No new Racing Theme plates may be issued after August 31, 2005.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Highway Fund – Special Registration Plate Account

In addition to the normal $20 vehicle registration fee for private passenger vehicles, each applicant for a Racing Theme plate pays $30 that is deposited into the Special Registration Plate Account.

According to the DMV, there is a one-time cost of approximately $100 to design a new plate. There is also a production cost of approximately $3.00 per plate based on one color design. The cost per plate will increase if more color is added or the design is complex. The proposed legislation allows the DMV or Department of Correction to contract out the production of the special plates. It is assumed that Race Plate Marketing, LLC will be used. The vendor will supply the state with the special plates with graphics. The state will reimburse the vendor $4.00 per plate. The state will then emboss and package the plates for citizens. Royalties of $7.50 for each plate (25% of the extra $30 cost) will also be paid to the vendor. Thus, the state retains a net profit of $18.50 for each new plate registration and $22.50 for each plate registration renewal.

According to Race Plate Marketing, LLC and Motor Vehicle departments across various states, there are approximately 5 states that currently allow registered racing theme special plates on licensed vehicles. West Virginia, as the first state to add racing theme special plates, issued 4,053 plates in its first year with special registration fees of $65 for one year and $120 for two years. WV now estimates it has issued over 16,000 special racing theme plates. Alternatively, Alabama was unable to reach the minimum number of orders required to begin issuing racing theme plates, thus the implementation plans ceased in May 2002. New York, South Carolina and Mississippi also have racing theme license plates. Virginia recently passed racing theme special plate legislation and is beginning to make plans for issuing the plates. Many more states allow designer collector's plates to be made with their state name or insignia.

Because there is no way of knowing how many North Carolina citizens will apply for or annually renew the Racing Theme plate, no accurate fiscal estimate or projection is possible on either the revenue or expenditure side of this piece of the legislation.

Replacement Fee

Section 5 of the bill adds a $25 fee for each set of replacement registration plates issued under the revised statute. The replacement registration fee for a standard plate is $10. Currently, the DMV replaces less than 1% of plates annually; however, the racing theme special plates might be more susceptible to theft and loss. It is not possible to estimate how many plates will need replacement.

BILL SUMMARY: The bill authorizes the Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) to issue a series of Stock Car Racing Theme special license plates, upon receiving 300 applications for each plate. The DMV shall not develop any plate in the series without a license to use copyrighted or registered words, symbols, trademarks, or designs associated with the plate and can contract with any person authorized to provide such licenses. The DMV or the Department of Correction may also contract for the production of blank plates in this series, provided the plates meet or exceed the State's specifications. The Stock Car Racing Theme license plates will not be "First in Flight" plates. No new Stock Car Racing Theme plates may be issued after August 31, 2005.

The bill also authorizes the DMV to issue a Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation special license plate, upon receiving 300 applications for each plate. The Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation license plates will be "First in Flight" plates, although the background of the plate shall be the full art, three-color design submitted to the DMV by the Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation in camera-ready format. The background color and design shall allow the numbers on the face of the plate to be readily distinguished.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Stock Car Racing Theme Special Plate

Highway Fund – Special Registration Plate Account
In addition to the normal $20 vehicle registration fee for private passenger vehicles, each applicant for a Stock Car Racing Theme plate pays $35 that is deposited into the Special Registration Plate Account.

According to the DMV, there is a one-time cost of approximately $100 to design a new plate. There is also a production cost of approximately $3.00 per plate based on one color design. The cost per plate will increase if more color is added or the design is complex. The proposed legislation allows the DMV or Department of Correction to contract out the production of the special plates. It is assumed that Race Plate Marketing, LLC will be used. The vendor will supply the state with the special plates with graphics. The state will reimburse the vendor $4.00 per plate. The state will then emboss and package the plates for citizens. Royalties of $8.75 for each plate (25% of the extra $35 cost) will also be paid to the vendor. Thus, the state retains a net profit of $22.25 for each new plate registration and $26.25 for each plate registration renewal.

According to Race Plate Marketing, LLC and Motor Vehicle departments across various states, there are approximately 5 states that currently allow registered racing theme special plates on licensed vehicles. West Virginia, as the first state to add racing theme special plates, issued 4,053 plates in its first year with special registration fees of $65 for one year and $120 for two years. WV now estimates it has issued over 16,000 special racing theme plates. Alternatively, Alabama was unable to reach the minimum number of orders required to begin issuing racing theme plates, thus the implementation plans ceased in May 2002. New York, South Carolina and Mississippi also have racing theme license plates. Virginia recently passed racing theme special plate legislation and is beginning to make plans for issuing the plates. Many more states allow designer collector's plates to be made with their state name or insignia.

Because there is no way of knowing how many North Carolina citizens will apply for or annually renew the Stock Car Racing Theme plate, no accurate fiscal estimate or projection is possible on either the revenue or expenditure side of this piece of the legislation.

Replacement Fee

Section 5 of the bill adds a $25 fee for each set of replacement registration plates issued under the revised statute. The replacement registration fee for a standard plate is $10. Currently, the DMV replaces less than 1% of plates annually; however, the racing theme special plates might be more susceptible to theft and loss. It is not possible to estimate how many plates will need replacement.

Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation Special Plate

Section 4 of the bill authorizes the DMV to issue the Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation special registration plate. In addition to the normal $20 vehicle registration fee for private passenger vehicles, each applicant for one of these plates pays $30. Ten dollars ($10) is deposited into the Special Registration Plate Account and $20 is deposited into the Collegiate and Cultural Attraction Plate Account. The DMV will make a quarterly transfer from the Collegiate and Cultural Attraction Plate Account (using money from the sale of the plate) to the Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation for use in promoting the Blue Ridge Parkway as a scenic attraction.

According to the Division of Motor Vehicles, there is a one-time cost of approximately $100 to design a new plate. There is also a production cost of approximately $3.00 per plate based on one color design. The cost per plate will increase if more color is added or the design is complex. It is assumed that the background of the plate shall be the full art, three-color design submitted to the DMV by the Blue Ridge Parkway Foundation in camera-ready format.

The Fiscal Research Division cannot estimate the number of citizens who will request this plate, thus no accurate fiscal estimate is possible on the bill.
