SENATE BILL 184:
Protect Judges Safety

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary ll (Criminal)	Date:	February 28, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Dalton	Summary by:	Kory Goldsmith
Version:	PCS to First Edition S184-CSRC-2		Committee Co-Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 184 would allow a justice or judge to use a business address instead of a home address on the statement of economic interest that must be filed under the State Ethics Act. It would also allow the justice or judge to use the initials of an unemancipated minor on those same forms. The justice or judge must provide his or her home address and the names of the minors to the State Ethics Commission. That information would not be a public record and would be privileged and confidential.

The PCS primarily makes technical and conforming changes.

CURRENT LAW: The State Government Ethics Act (S.L. 2006-201) requires that all covered persons file a statement of economic interest (SEI) prior to that person's initial appointment, election, or employment and no later than March 15th every year thereafter.[i] The requirement also applies to persons holding covered positions on January 1, 2007.[ii]

A covered person is defined as a legislator, public servant, or judicial officer. A judicial officer if a justice or judge of the General Court of Justice, a district attorney, a clerk of court, or any person elected or appointed to any of those positions prior to taking office.[iii]

The statement of economic interest must include the name, address, occupation, employer, and business of the person filing the statement and the filing person's immediate family. An immediate family member is defined as an unemancipated child of the covered person residing in the household and the covered person's spouse if not legally separated. A member of the covered person's extended family is also considered a member of the immediate family if actually residing in the covered person's household.[iv]

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 of the PCS allows a justice or judge to list a business address and/or the initials of an unemancipated minor on the statement of economic interest. The justice or judge must also provide to the State Ethics Commission the justice's or judge's home address and the name of the unemancipated minor. The information provided to the State Ethics Commission would not be a public record and would be privileged and confidential. It should be noted, however, that the justice's or judge's home address is included on the notice of candidacy that must be filed with the State Board of Elections, and that information is a public record.

Section 2 adds the correct reference for the procedure that justices and judges use to file a notice of candidacy. Those filings go to the State Board of Elections, not a county board of elections.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act would be effective when it becomes law.

BACKGROUND: The Code of Judicial Conduct is the primary ethics enforcement for the Judicial branch. The Code requires a judge to report the "name and nature of any source or activity from which the judge received more than $2,000 in income during the calendar year for with the report is filed."[1] Otherwise, judges have not been required to file statements of economic interest and candidates for judicial positions who were not already judges were not required to file any statements of economic interest.

Most of the ethics enforcement for the Judicial branch will remain with the Judicial Standards Commission. However, judges are subject to the ethical standards for a covered person and must file a statement of economic interest. Judges can not obtain advisory opinions from the State Ethics Commission, but have to go to the Judicial Standards Commission. Any complaint filed against a judge with the State Ethics Commission is sent immediately to the Judicial Standards Commission.

The record of the examination of a witness may be used in a trial to the extent that it is relevant and otherwise admissible. Further disclosure of grand jury proceedings convened pursuant to this section may be made upon written order of a superior court judge if the judge determines disclosure is essential:

(1) To prosecute a witness who appeared before the grand jury for contempt or perjury; or

(2) To protect a defendant's constitutional rights or statutory rights to discovery pursuant to G.S. 15A-903.

Upon the convening of the investigative grand jury pursuant to this section, the district attorney shall subpoena the witnesses. The subpoena shall be served by the investigative grand jury officer, who shall be appointed by the court. The name of the person subpoenaed and the issuance and service of the subpoena shall not be disclosed, except that a witness so subpoenaed may divulge that information. The presiding superior court judge shall hear any matter concerning the investigative grand jury in camera to the extent necessary to prevent disclosure of its existence. The court reporter for the investigative grand jury shall be present and record and transcribe the in camera proceeding. The transcription of any in camera proceeding and a copy of all subpoenas and other process shall be returned to the Chief Justice or to such member of the three-judge panel as the Chief Justice may designate, to be filed with the Clerk of the North Carolina Supreme Court. - Makes it a Class H felony to lie to a sworn SBI agent in response to an official inquiry.

  The bill defines "official inquiry" as "the pursuit of an investigative matter by a sworn agent of the State Bureau of Investigation pursuant to a statutorily authorized request from the Governor or the Attorney General, assistance rendered in accordance with G.S. 114-14, or an investigation being conducted as a matter of original jurisdiction conferred upon the State Bureau of Investigation by North Carolina law."

Offense	Current Penalty	Proposed Penalty
1st degree sexual exploitation of a minor (GS 14-190.16)	Class D felony	[2]Class C felony
2nd degree sexual exploitation of a minor (GS 14-190.17)	Class F felony	[3]Class D felony
3rd degree sexual exploitation of a minor (GS 14-190.17A)	Class I felony	[4]Class E felony
Solicitation of child by computer to commit an unlawful sex act (GS 14-202.3)	Class H felony	Class H felony, except if the defendant or person the defendant has made arrangements for actually appears at the meeting in which case it is a Class E felony

➢ The bill would create a new statute that authorizes the convening of a grand jury to investigate allegations regarding the commission or conspiracy to commit a number of listed crimes. It would require that the Chief Justice appoint a permanent panel of three superior court judges every two years (beginning Dec. 1, 2007) to determine whether to order an investigative grand jury.

The bill would repeal certain statutes that authorize convening of a grand jury to investigate allegations of crimes involving controlled substances. These provisions are incorporated into the new statute, except for requirements under the existing law concerning approval of grand jury petitions by three members of the NC Conference of District Attorneys, and that the Attorney General and the Clerk of the NC Supreme Court concur in the petition.

[4] The presumptive range of punishment for a Class E felony when there are no prior convictions is 20 to 25 months of intermediate or active punishment.

BACKGROUND: See attached memo entitled "Protecting Children from Sexual Predators," from Attorney General Roy Cooper, dated Feb. 12, 2007.

What is Organized Retail Theft (ORT)?

Retail theft attributed to organized criminal networks that profit from stealing and reselling retail goods.

Illegitimate wholesalers are often also diverters. They sell to retailers to move stolen product back into the retail market. They will often mix legitimate product with stolen product.

USE OF RETAILER-PROVIDED PROPERTY FOR STING OPERATIONS

Background: Retailers often assist law enforcement by donating merchandise to be used in a sting operation. Police sell the merchandise as "stolen property" to "fences" or flea market operators. Unfortunately, because the merchandise is donated for purposes of the sting and is not actually stolen, district attorneys are unwilling to prosecute these crimes.

The legislative change proposed below would make it a crime to receive stolen goods even if they goods are not stolen as long as the purchaser reasonably thinks the goods are stolen.

§ 14-71. Receiving stolen goods.

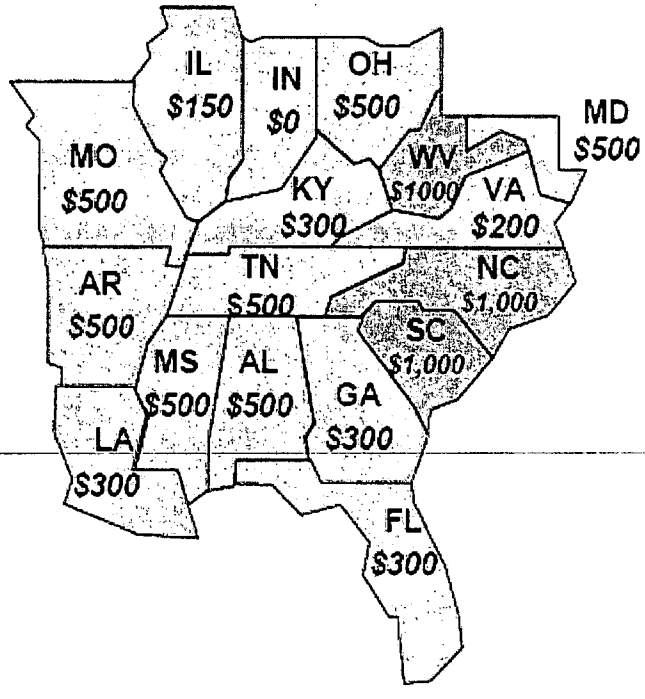
If any person shall receive any chattel, property, money, valuable security or other thing whatsoever, the stealing or taking whereof amounts to larceny or a felony, either at common law or by virtue of any statute made or hereafter to be made, such person knowing or having reasonable grounds to believe the same to have been feloniously stolen or taken whether or not the item has been feloniously stolen or taken, he shall be guilty of a Class H felony, and may be indicted and convicted, whether the felon stealing and taking such chattels, property, money, valuable security or other thing, shall or shall not have been previously convicted, or shall or shall not be amenable to justice; and any such receiver may be dealt with, indicted, tried and punished in any county in which he shall have, or shall have had, any such property in his possession or in any county in which the thief may be tried, in the same manner as such receiver ~~may be dealt with, indicted, tried and punished in the county where he actually received such~~ chattel, money, security, or other thing; and such receiver shall be punished as one convicted of larceny.

REDUCING THE LARCENY THRESHOLD

Background: Under current North Carolina law, a person must steal in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000) in order for the offense to constitute a felony. Most criminals know that if they steal $500 or $700 worth of merchandise that they will only commit a misdemeanor and therefore not receive any real punishment.

When you look at the states that are close to North Carolina, their thresholds are much lower. In Virginia, for example, any theft in excess of $200 is grand larceny, with a maximum penalty of 20 years. A third offense of petty larceny is by law in Virginia treated the same way as grand larceny. With the diligent enforcement activities, such measures are ordinarily adequate to—ordinary law enforcement activities are usually adequate to keep the problem of merchandising theft sufficiently in check. Lowering the threshold for felonious larceny from $1,000 to $500 would make NC less of an outlier.

Felony Theft Levels in the Southeastern US



Section 1. § 14-72. Larceny of property; receiving stolen goods or possessing stolen goods is amended to read:

(a) Larceny of goods of the value of more than ~~one thousand dollars ($1,000)~~ five hundred dollars ($500.00) is a Class H felony. The receiving or possessing of stolen goods of the value of more than ~~one thousand dollars ($1,000)~~ five hundred dollars ($500.00) while knowing or having reasonable grounds to believe that the goods are stolen is a Class H felony. Larceny as provided in subsection (b) of this section is a Class H felony. Receiving or possession of stolen goods as provided in subsection (c) of this section is a Class H felony. Except as provided in subsections (b) and (c) of this section, larceny of property, or the receiving or possession of stolen goods knowing or having reasonable grounds to believe them to be stolen, where the value of the property or goods is not more than ~~one thousand dollars ($1,000)~~ five hundred dollars (500.00), is a Class 1 misdemeanor. In all cases of doubt, the jury shall, in the verdict, fix the value of the property stolen.

SWITCHING OF BAR CODES ON PRODUCTS

Background: Criminals often use the newest technology to thwart the efforts of retailers to slow their activities down. One way this is currently being done is a criminal will buy a low-priced item (for example a drill) for $19.99. The criminal will then scan the UPC code and print stickers identifying this low priced item. The criminal then returns to the store and places the UPC code identifying the $19.99 item over the UPC code of another drill that costs $99.99. The sticker is then removed and the drill is either resold or returned for a credit of $99.99 in the form of the gift card. The gift card is then sold and the criminal pockets the $80 profit.

The proposed legislative change below would clarify North Carolina law to keep up with technology by making it a crime to switch both a bar code and a price tag.

Section 2. § 14-72.1. Concealment of merchandise in mercantile establishments is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

(d) Whoever, without authority, willfully transfers any price tag from goods or merchandise to other goods or merchandise having a higher selling price or marks said goods at a lower price or substitutes or superimposes thereon a false price tag or other product code used to identify the sales prices and then presents said goods or merchandise for purchase shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be punished as provided in subsection
Nothing herein shall be construed to provide that the mere possession of goods or the production by shoppers of improperly priced merchandise for checkout shall constitute prima facie evidence of guilt.

UTILIZING EXIT DOORS TO FACILITATE SHOPLIFTING

Background: Federal Occupational Health and Safety Administration (OSHA) rules require retailers to provide emergency exit doors in their stores that must remain unlocked. Criminals are well-aware of this fact and rather than leaving through the front door, criminals are now utilizing exit doors to leave the store and jump into a vehicle waiting just outside the exit door.

This proposal would increase the penalty for larceny to a Class H felony if a person uses an exit door to leave the store with stolen property.

Section 2. § 14-72.1. Concealment of merchandise in mercantile establishments is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

....

REMOVAL OF SECURITY DEVICES

Background: Many retailers attach anti-shoplifting or inventory control devices to prevent shoplifters from leaving their store with merchandise. In addition, to utilizing lead-lined purses, professional shoplifters with premeditation often enter stores with tools that are used to remove, destroy or deactivate security devices.

The proposed legislative change below would create a new subsection that increases the penalty for using such deactivating such devices.

Section 2. § 14-72.1. Concealment of merchandise in mercantile establishments is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

....

LARCENY OF INFANT FORMULA

Background: At $22 to $28 per can, infant formula has become one of the hottest items stolen from retailers and subsequently repackaged and resold. There are also strong ties between black-marketed infant formula and organized crime and terrorist groups.

Infant formula is a delicate product that is subject to strict packaging requirements of the manufacturers, the United States Food and Drug Administration and the North Carolina Department of Agriculture. Unfortunately, once stolen this product often becomes adulterated before it becomes resold – putting the consumers health and safety at risk.

> "In many cases, stolen infant formula, pharmaceuticals, and other consumables are not stored under proper conditions. When these items are reintroduced into the retail market, they can pose a significant health hazard to the consumer. The potential threat to the health and safety of unsuspecting consumers is most evident in cases in which infant formula is stolen, repackaged and then resold to both knowing and unknowing wholesalers, who then sell the infant formula to government food programs and discount stores."
> -Chris Swecker, Assistant Director, Criminal Investigative Division, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Testimony before the House Judiciary subcommittee on crime, terrorism and homeland security, March 17, 2005,

> "The Coalition wishes to express its gratitude to both the Justice Department (DOJ) and the FBI for their hard work and dedication on the organized retail crime front as well as the outstanding efforts of state and local law enforcement.
> In particular, retailers and manufacturers are very pleased about the recent collaborative effort between federal and state law enforcement officials who have broken up a retail theft ring operating in North Carolina and Virginia that was responsible for moving more than $2 million dollars worth of stolen infant formula and OTC products.
> The Coalition views the apprehension of this theft ring as a very positive development, but more needs to be done because the problem is prevalent throughout the country and these theft rings are becoming more aggressive and violent in their behavior."
> -Chris Nelson, Director of Asset Protection, Target Corporation, Organized Retail Theft Testimony before the US House Judiciary Subcommittee on Crime, Terrorism and Homeland Security, Thursday, March 17, 200, Statement on Behalf of the Coalition Against Organized Retail Theft

14-72.7 Theft of Infant Formula -

a) If any person shall take and carry away infant formula valued in excess of one hundred dollars ($100.00) that person shall be guilty of a Class H felony.

b) The term "infant formula" as used in this section shall have the same meaning as found in 21 U.S.C.§ 321(z)."

AGGREGATION OF THEFT AMOUNTS

Background: Organized Retail Theft (ORT) rings often work in a group using "shopping lists" to steal merchandise just below the felony threshold to avoid prosecution for a felony.

This proposed legislation would allow a district attorney to aggregate the dollar amount stolen over 180-day period if more than two people are involved and the amount of stolen merchandise exceeds $1,500.

§ 14-80.1 Definitions.

As used in this section:
(1) "Organized Retail Theft" means when two or more persons are involved in theft of retail property from a retail establishment, with value exceeding $1,500 aggregated over a 90-day period, with the intent to sell that retail property to a retail property fence for monetary or other gains.

(2) "Retail property" means any new article, product, commodity, item or component intended to be sold in retail commerce.

(3) "Value" means the retail value of the item as advertised by the affected retail establishment or establishments, to include all applicable taxes.

(4) "Retail property fence" means a person or business that buys retail property knowing or believing that property is stolen.

14-80.2 Organized Retail Theft

(a) A person who conspires with another person to being about the movement of retail property by taking possession of, carrying away or transferring or causing to be carried away, with the intent to steal any retail property with a total value exceeding one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) within any 180-day period and takes or causes that retail property to be moved in interstate commerce or placed in the control of a retail property fence in exchange for consideration shall be guilty of a Class G felony.

(b) Whoever receives or possesses with the intent to distribute, any property into interstate commerce which has been taken or stolen in violation of this section, shall be guilty of a Class G felony.

(c) It is not a defense to a charge of receiving stolen property in violation of this section that the property was obtained by means other than through the commission of a theft offense if the property was explicitly represented to the accused person as being obtained through the commission of a theft offense.

(d) Venue for criminal actions to enforce the provisions of Section 1 of this act, including criminal actions with respect to each of the offenses included within Organized Retail Theft as defined in Section 1 of this act, that have been committed, attempted or conspired to be committed by two or more persons, shall be in any county in which at least one criminal offense has occurred that constitutes part of the Organized Retail Theft offenses, it being the intent of this section that one state court may have jurisdiction over all the conduct, persons and property which are part of, or are directly related to, each and all of the criminal offenses forming part of the Organized Retail Theft offenses. It is discretionary, not mandatory, to bring all criminal actions in one jurisdiction when Organized Retail Theft offenses involve two or more counties.

(e) Whoever violates any provision of this section shall forfeit to the state any interest the person has acquired or maintained in violation of this section.

Organized Retail Theft

Shoplifting is no longer a petty, juvenile crime. Organized Retail Crime (ORC) rings are gangs of skilled, well-organized professionals who are highly mobile, moving from community to community stealing large amounts of merchandise from retailers.

There are varying estimates on the financial impact of ORC to retailers in the United States. The estimates range from $25 billion annually according to the National Retail Federation (NRF), $30 billion annually according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation's Interstate Task Force and $35 billion annually according to the Retail Industry Leaders Association (RILA).

Shoplifting case values have increased significantly with the rise of ORC. According to the 2004 National Retail Security Survey, conducted by the University of Florida's Department of Criminology, the average shoplifting case value more than doubled between 2003 and 2004. Based on the FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) recorded shoplifting offences increased over 11 percent between 2000 and 2004.

ORC directly impacts state revenues in the form of lost tax revenue. RILA estimates that state sales tax revenues are reduced by $1 billion annually due to lost sales...an estimated $36 million in North Carolina.

- ORC rings typically target everyday household products that can be easily sold through fencing operations, flea markets, over the Internet and storefront operations. See the attached "shopping list."
- This type of criminal activity can put consumer's health and safety at risk. For example, consumers are potentially at risk when professional shoplifting rings steal consumable products, such as over-the-counter medications and infant formula and resell them to storefront operations.
- ORC groups are often involved in other illicit activities such as distribution of narcotics, money laundering and supporting overseas operations. Shoplifting results in higher prices for consumers, and significant lost tax revenue for state and local government.

Concord police nab multi-state shoplifters

Monday, March 5, 2007
By DIANA RUGG / WCNC

Concord Police have arrested six people they say went on a multi-state shoplifting spree – hitting only Wal-Mart stores. And police say they committed their crimes right out in the open.

Concord police said they found almost $11,000 of goods from at least twelve Wal-Mart stores in the suspects' truck. "They were going in and out of the store," said Sgt. Deckster Barlowe of Concord Police Department. "Stealing large items, such as computers, vacuum cleaners, putting them right in their buggies and walking right out the front door."

If they were stopped, sometimes they would even have a receipt.

"They would buy an item such as a computer," said Barlowe, "then go to another Wal-Mart and go steal that, another computer exactly like that, and walk out with that receipt in case they would be stopped."

What's more, police believe the suspects did it almost a dozen times before. "Evidence shows they've been doing it for the past month or so, hitting several Wal-Marts in Tennessee and North Carolina," said Barlowe.

Barlowe said Friday night Concord police got a tip from Wal-Mart loss prevention officers that six people were loading unpaid merchandise into a rental truck in the parking lot. Eight officers surrounded the store until it looked like the crew was done loading. Then they swooped in and made their arrests.

The suspects include Anthony Santillo, 39, his wife Virginia Santillo, 38, and their son, Anthony Santillo, Jr., 18. Police also arrested two other teenagers – Morgan Harris, 18, and Jacob Maples, 19 -- and Anthony LaMonica, 50, who was also wanted on a previous warrant. All the suspects live in Martinsville, Virginia. They are now in Cabarrus County Jail, each under at least $100,000 bond.

Concord police said they found almost $11,000 of goods from at least 12 Wal-Mart stores in the suspects' truck. Barlowe said the suspects hit stores in Knoxville, Jefferson City, Morristown, Greenville, Johnson City, Kingsport, and Bristol, Tennessee; as well as Greensboro, Lexington, Kannapolis, and Salisbury, North Carolina. Suspects also had a map pointing out the locations of several Charlotte Wal-Mart stores.

Shoppers like Bernard Glover call the suspects' boldness "simply amazing," and say the result is higher prices for honest customers like him.

"It seems as if in today's society everyone wants to take something for nothing," said Glover, "and they don't understand it has an effect on consumers who are trying to do the right thing."

Organized shoplifting rings prey on stores

Out-of-state gangs strike quickly and leave, police, retailers say

Posted Friday, March 2, 2007

In Delaware and across the country, organized groups of retail thieves have transformed the nickel-and-dime crime of shoplifting to a skilled profession.

They strike stores with methodical precision, sweep shelves of goods into detection-proof bags, then race out in pursuit of their next hit.

"It's no longer the teenager trying to pick up lip gloss," said Christina Showalter, the deputy attorney general in charge of the felony trial unit for New Castle County. "It can be very profitable."

Estimates of organized retail theft losses in the United States range from $15 billion to $37 billion a year, and a hardworking thief can reportedly earn up to $5,000 a week -- at 30 cents on each dollar of an item's value. The problem is growing in Delaware, too, although the crime is not tracked, Showalter and others said.

For retailers and customers, such an enormously successful criminal enterprise means leaner profits, higher prices. But even as police and retailers in Delaware work to battle the threat -- by putting theft-prone goods into safer places or by rooting out thieves -- current laws seem ill-equipped to handle the problem, retailers and law enforcement officials said. There's a mind-set that store thefts are petty crimes, experts say, and occasionally there are some problems getting full cooperation from victims. Retailers say that's been changing in Delaware.

In a state with hundreds of stores and easy interstate access, just two troopers are assigned to the problem full time, mainly in the Concord Pike corridor.

Thieves know the potential for profit far outweighs the risks. By focusing on such moderately priced, easily resold goods as baby formula, razors and cold medicine, careful thieves can avoid getting caught with enough items to surpass the $1,000 felony threshold in Delaware, retailers say. "They slap your hand, and you get out," said Richard Kenny, co-owner of Delaware's ShopRite Supermarket chain. "This isn't shoplifting. This is organized crime."

Shopping lists

Working in groups of two or three, the boosters can hit several stores a day, up and down the state. "They come in from out of state; they make their hits in Delaware and move on," said Julie Miro Wenger, director of the Delaware Food Industry Council.

Often, they come with their own "shopping list," ready to steal what has been requested by the fences -- or even by their neighbors. The prized goods include mundane but potentially profitable household items such as pain relievers, pregnancy tests and hemorrhoid cream.

Baby formula is particularly coveted -- "gold in a can" is what some retailers call it. Fairly expensive and constantly in demand, black-market formula is prized by dishonest retailers, who pay the fence $8 a can, give it to low-income customers who are in federal assistance programs, then get reimbursed $16 by the government.

A well-organized team of thieves can haul in $10,000 to $20,000 worth of goods a day, said Jerry Biggs, organized retail crime division coordinator for Walgreen, the national drugstore chain that owns the Delaware Happy Harry's stores.

"The rings are highly structured, having well-trained shoplifters, several levels of criminal fences and far-reaching distribution systems that may involve businesses both legitimate and illegitimate in a half-dozen or more states," the National Retail Federation warned in its 2005 report on the problem. "The products may be sold in stores the fence owns, usually convenience stores or small grocery stores in the inner city."

Using nonstandard uniforms and cars to avoid being spotted, the Retail Theft Unit in northern New Castle County must continually adjust tactics to keep pace with an evolving repertoire of tricks. Some thieves infiltrate the store's staff itself, working as cashiers to allow conspirators to stuff extra items in their bags at checkout -- a practice called "free-bagging." Others use foil-lined "booster bags" that literally foil the electronic anti-theft sensors attached to items; some simply bring pliers to pry off the tags.

A 2006 National Retail Federation study found 81 percent of retail loss-prevention managers said their stores have been victims of organized theft, and almost half said it is on the rise.

"Every time you come up with a new policy, these organized guys are coming up with a way to circumvent it," said Cpl. Bill Murray, who with Cpl. Brian Mulvena makes up the Retail Theft Unit.

More cooperation

Police say they need retailers' help. "Law enforcement for years did not get the cooperation they needed to pursue these individuals," Biggs said.

The retailer survey found that 59 percent of loss-prevention executives believed their top managers did not understand the seriousness of the issue. Smaller stores may not have the resources to pursue a case in court, or the commitment to ensure security officers show up to testify, Showalter said.

North of Wilmington, Murray said, cooperation between retailers and police has improved response times and brought a good record of apprehensions, though data on convictions are not tracked by the Attorney General's Office. Those on-the-spot arrests can be the toughest, Showalter said. "They usually have a getaway car parked nearby with an obliterated or stolen license plate. ... They work very quickly, and are ready to flee very quickly."

Alert store staffers can help, experts said. Stores also are looking toward technical solutions, from video systems programmed to "spot" suspicious activity to sensors that can defeat the booster bags.

But store precautions and staffers' reactions can create risks, and bring inconveniences. The more stores that install such devices as theft-resistant displays, the more frustrations for shoppers, retailers say. Today's organized thieves are also more likely to resort to violence if confronted, Showalter said, noting an increase in suspects who carry knives or guns. "We know our employees at the store level and the customers are at risk," said Ty Kelley, director of government relations for the national Food Marketing Institute.

Murray said the thieves are professionals. Only 30 percent to 40 percent are funding drug habits, he said. "The bulk of the people we arrest, they aren't on drugs," he said. "This is what they do."

Solutions proposed

Some retailers in Delaware and across the country have been pushing for tougher laws. Last year in New Jersey, organized theft was codified as a separate offense, and in Colorado, second-hand sellers such as flea-market vendors were forced to have proof of ownership for some items. The Delaware Food Industry Council wants the General Assembly to make it easier to charge suspects as felons.

New laws could make it easier to use a thief's accumulated haul to prove intent to resell, said ShopRite's Kenny, who joined the effort to have legislation introduced this year. State police are working with the Attorney General's Office to craft tougher penalties, but Showalter doubts they are needed. "All types of theft can be dealt with reasonably by the codes we have now," she said.

Since many thieves come from out of state, it's also harder for investigators to crack the rings locally. "These people are very transient," said Murray, who has seen suspects come from as far away as California. "The problem needs to be resolved through a new federal law to make it a federal felony," said Kelley of the Food Marketing Institute.

In the meantime, local retailers aren't waiting for government to act. The Delaware Retail Association and the Delaware Food Industry Council have recently created a partnership and will be meeting with state police next month to discuss options. Nationally, retailers are building a database to better track patterns of thefts. "We appreciate their alarm, and it's not misplaced," Showalter said. "The problem is growing."

High-tech scams take shoplifting to new level

October 26, 2006
By Ann Zimmerman
THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

William Swanberg had a thing for Legos, but it was hardly child's play. After he was arrested last November near Portland, Ore., police investigators determined he had stolen more than $600,000 of the toys over three years from stores in at least five states.

He pilfered the toys by creating counterfeit bar codes that caused $100 Lego sets, for example, to be rung up for just $19. Then he resold them on a Web site for toy collectors.

Just as technology has given a big boost to the retail industry, making it more efficient and productive, it has also transformed retail crime. Using sophisticated tactics such as bar-code forgery and fraudulent gift cards, criminals are stealing larger amounts, and it has gotten harder to catch them.

Law-enforcement officers say many of the high-tech thieves belong to organized-crime rings that have turned retail theft into big business. And the Internet has made it easier for them to find buyers for the loot. "With these new methods, it can take a long time for a retailer to know he's suffered a large-scale theft, so it takes so much longer to catch up with thieves," said Jeff Lesowski, a senior deputy district attorney in Washington County, Ore., who prosecuted Swanberg.

Retail crime rose to about $37 billion in 2005 from $31 billion in 2003, according to a study conducted by the University of Florida, increasing almost twice as fast as retail sales over that period. Store employees, who have access to merchandise and familiarity with antitheft systems, account for 48 percent of retail-crime losses, according to the 2005 study. But professional thieves also are responsible for a big part, said Joseph LaRocca, vice president of loss prevention at the National Retail Federation, a trade group.

The value of merchandise snatched in the average shoplifting incident has more than tripled to $855 in 2005, from $265 in 2003, the University of Florida survey reported. The average loss in cases of organized retail crime – where the thieves intend to sell the stolen goods rather than keep them – was $46,353 in 2005, the survey said.

In the late 1990s, there was a rise in cases of criminal groups paying thieves to shoplift baby formula, razor blades, teeth whiteners and other high-volume merchandise, according to retailers and law-enforcement officials. The crime rings typically sold the loot to other stores or moved it in flea markets or pawn shops. Some even set up their own convenience stores.

Today's schemes generally involve more expensive items: $300 vacuum cleaners, $400 power saws and $1,000 plasma televisions.

Brad Brekke, vice president of assets protection at Target Corp., has been trying to persuade manufacturers to print prices on boxes or come up with bar codes in assorted sizes, which would be trickier to substitute. In the meantime, Target's loss investigators have begun to monitor sales reports for unusual patterns, trends and anomalies.

In the summer of 2005, they noticed spikes in sales of Legos. Expensive sets were being sold for a pittance. They studied hundreds of hours of surveillance tape, then devised an electronic system to alert store antitheft workers when big batches of Legos were rung up.

That's what happened last Nov. 17 at a Target in Hillsboro, Ore., but the security guard got the message too late. The guard warned co-workers at nearby stores. Later that day, an employee at a Beaverton, Ore., Target spotted Swanberg loading his cart with about 10 $100 Star Wars Millennium Falcon Lego sets. He slapped a phony bar code for a $19 Lego set on the top box and headed for the youngest-looking cashier he could find, the prosecutor said. The cashier scanned the top box and multiplied it by the number in the stack.

Several Target employees surrounded Swanberg's cart, which he shoved at them in an effort to get away. They tackled him and summoned the police.

In his van was a detailed daily itinerary for Target, Wal-Mart and Toys "R" Us stores he planned to hit, the prosecutor said. Swanberg pleaded guilty in June to three counts of felony theft and was sentenced to 13 months in prison.

Scams with gift cards

Another vexing new problem, retail executives say, is gift-card fraud. The cards, which resemble credit cards, have been a boon to the retail industry, accounting for $60 billion in sales last year, almost one-third of it during the holiday season.

But they've also been a boon to thieves. In one scam, crooks copy numbers from gift cards hanging on store racks, figure out which cards have been activated and use them to shop online, said Dan Doyle, vice president of loss prevention at Beall's Inc., a department-store chain in the Southeast.

Another swindle involves stealing merchandise, then returning it for store credit in the form of gift cards. In 2003, Herion Karbunara, a Massachusetts man in his mid-20s, paid women $50 to $200 a day to shoplift merchandise from stores ranging from Pottery Barn to Victoria's Secret and then return it for gift cards, according to the Massachusetts attorney general's office.

The Internet has emerged as a preferred method for crooks like Karbunara to unload gift cards. After fraudulently obtaining about 600 such cards, Karbunara offered them for sale on eBay. The Massachusetts Attorney General's Office said online sales netted Karbunara $200,000 over 10 months. In late 2004, he pleaded guilty to three counts of larceny and one count of forgery, and was sentenced to two years in state prison.

Retailers responding to a National Retail Federation survey last year estimated that 70 percent of gift cards sold on eBay were fraudulently obtained, either through scams like Karbunara's or purchased with stolen credit cards. LaRocca, the federation's loss-prevention chief, said the group raised a "big stink" with eBay, which eventually changed its policy. EBay now limits sellers to posting one gift card per week, with a value of no more than $500.

Hani Durzy, an eBay spokesman, said the company changed its policy in an effort to thwart criminals. Listings are policed by eBay investigators, he said, and its 203 million users also alert the company to potential violations. With upward of 100 million items for sale on eBay at any given time, and 7 million items added every day, staying on top of every listing is difficult, he said.

More profit on Internet

The Internet has become so popular for moving stolen goods that a term has been coined for the practice – "efencing." Thieves or fences who sell loot out of a truck or at a flea market typically get 20 to 30 cents per dollar of retail value, according to a 2005 report on organized retail crime commissioned by the National Retail Federation. On the Internet, where their wares are exposed to many more potential buyers, they bring in, on average, 70 cents on the dollar, the report said.

"Thieves know this sort of organized retail crime is low-risk and high-profit," said Eric Ives, unit chief the FBI's major theft unit, which oversees investigations of organized retail crime.

After Swanberg, the Lego thief, was arrested, federal authorities raided the Reno home he shared with his elderly mother. Investigators found computer records of sales he had made on Bricklink.com, a Web site for Lego fans and collectors.

"Our Web site cannot do anything to prevent (the sale of stolen merchandise) from happening because we don't have control over the seller's merchandise," a representative of Bricklink.com said in an e-mail.

Laura and Bruce Wasz, a mother-and-son team, ran an 11-person theft ring in Illinois. They paid people to hit home-improvement chains such as Home Depot Inc. and Sears Holdings Corp.'s the Great Indoors. The thieves stole the old-fashioned way, simply sneaking things out the doors. Accomplices ripped off entire truckloads of products such as chain saws.

They unloaded it on eBay, using numerous different account names, according to Brian Hayes, an assistant U.S. attorney for the Northern District of Illinois. "They held themselves out as honest dealers," Hayes said. Investigators later determined that in 2003 they sold more than $2 million of sump pumps, faucets, mosquito exterminators, snow blowers and other merchandise.

They got caught after the manufacturer of the chain saws noticed a bunch of them for sale on the Web, priced below wholesale. Bruce Wasz was sentenced to six years, nine months in federal prison. His mother got five years, eight months.

Shoplifting is usually prosecuted on the state level. In most states, only those caught stealing more than $1,000 face felony charges that require jail time.

"Organized retail-crime rings utilize the laws to their benefit," said Britt Wood, senior vice president of industry relations at the Retail Industry Leaders Association. "They don't steal a lot from one store at one time. But it adds up, so by the end of the month, they've stolen $100,000."

Retailers are pushing states to stiffen penalties. In January, Congress allotted $5 million for the FBI to establish an organized retail-crime task force.

Is black-market baby formula financing terror?

Mark Clayton, The Christian Science Monitor

On the day terrorists destroyed the World Trade Center, a Texas state trooper pulled over a rental van driven by a Middle Eastern man toward Houston. Opening the cargo door, the officer found a huge load of ... baby formula.

False alarm? Not really. Police later identified the driver as a member of a terrorist group and linked him to a nationwide theft ring that specialized in reselling stolen infant formula, says Sgt. Johnnie Jezierski of the Special Crimes Service of the Texas Department of Public Safety. Proceeds were wired to the Middle East. The driver is still under investigation.

Operation Blackbird, as Texas investigators dubbed their multistate baby-formula investigation, has since led to felony charges against more than 40 suspects, about half illegal immigrants. Authorities have seized some $2.7 million in stolen assets, including $1 million worth of formula.

Blackbird was just the beginning. In the nearly four years since 9/11, police have uncovered and dismantled a growing number of regional and national theft rings specializing in shoplifted infant formula, over-the-counter medicines, and personal-care products. At least eight of the major baby-formula cases have involved "fences" who are of Middle Eastern descent or who have ties to that region, according to a Monitor review of congressional testimony, news accounts, and a study by the National Retail Federation released Tuesday.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has traced money from these infant-formula traffickers back to nations where terrorist groups, such as Hamas and Hizbullah, are active, investigators say. Then, the trail usually goes cold. Once funds enter such countries, there's often no way to track them.

FBI Director Robert Mueller first talked of a possible link in a speech last fall. He did it again in testimony before the Senate Committee on Intelligence in February, saying: "Middle Eastern criminal enterprises involved in the organized theft and resale of infant formula pose not only an economic threat, but a public health threat to infants, and a potential source of material support to a terrorist organization."

So far, most officials are unwilling to draw conclusive links between proceeds from shoplifted formula and terror financing, saying only that they're "likely" or "probable" in some cases.

"Just because you have an infant- formula operation doesn't mean it's a terror funding operation," says Sergeant Jezierski. "But to say there's no terrorist funding isn't the case either."

While many terrorist groups eschew criminal commerce because it tends to attract police attention, other groups finance themselves with theft, fraud, and smuggling. The Irish Republican Army, Colombia's FARC, and Hizbullah all have engaged in criminal enterprises, says Matthew Levitt, a former FBI counterterrorism analyst, now director of terrorism studies at the Washington Institute for Near East Policy.

Some Al Qaeda cells, mostly at the fringes of their operations, have engaged in criminal self-financing, he says. "Important operational funding can come from these criminal activities.... If you are funding yourself, it's freeing up the home organization."

Less convinced is Mardi Mountford, executive director of the International Formula Council, an Atlanta-based trade association that represents infant formula manufacturers in the United States. "We've heard that speculation, but we're not aware of a direct connection."

Theft of baby formula from store shelves has risen over the past decade, costing retailers billions of dollars. Formula was the fourth most-often-shoplifted item last year, according to a survey by the Food Marketing Institute, a Washington, D.C., trade group.

In the wake of several cases in North Carolina and Florida, some retailers have transferred formula from store shelves to behind the counter. One big grocery chain, Albertsons Inc., now keeps a few cans on the shelf - along with a sign directing customers to the courtesy counter.

Calling it "a serious security issue" for retailers, the National Retail Federation unveiled its 200-page report highlighting "organized retail theft" of infant formula. At least seven of the report's 10 case studies detail fencing operations run by citizens of Middle Eastern origin.

"The rings I identified dealing in stolen infant formula are operated mostly by Middle Easterners," says Charles Miller, a loss-prevention consultant and author of the report. They typically organize the rings, pay the shoplifters (who are mostly from Latin America), repackage the formula, and resell it. Out of $30 billion in annual retail theft, about $7 billion of infant formula is stolen and resold for a tidy profit, Mr. Miller estimates.

The scheme works this way: A shoplifter may get $5 for a can of formula from his fence, who then reboxes the loot and sells that to a dishonest retailer for $9 a can. That retailer then sells it for perhaps $15 or $16 a can. The result may be a $6 or $7 profit a can for the dishonest retailer - instead of pennies a can for the honest merchant, Miller says.

Several Middle Eastern businessmen have already been charged or convicted in connection with baby-formula thefts. Mohammed Khalil Ghali was sentenced in February to 14 years in prison, convicted on 15 counts that included transporting stolen goods and money laundering. A search warrant states that money generated from the sale of the goods was wired to banks in the Middle East, "specifically Jordan, Egypt, and Palestine." Nine of the 11 individuals indicted in the case are of Middle Eastern descent, according to the Department of Homeland Security.

Samih Fadl Jamal was a fixture in Phoenix, until investigators discovered that his company gained $11 million in profits from the sale of $22 million of stolen baby formula from 2001 to 2003, prosecutors say.

In all, 27 people connected to the Jamal Trading company scheme were indicted, most from Iraq, Jordan, or Lebanon. Some are naturalized US citizens; others overstayed student or visitor visas, the National Retail Federation report said. Investigators' wiretaps indicated that about $8 million was funneled to countries in the Middle East, where it disappeared. Mr. Jamal, a naturalized US citizen born in Lebanon, was convicted in April of 20 counts of conspiracy to transport and receive stolen property and other related charges, as well as money laundering.

Of course, just because the money goes to the Middle East doesn't mean it's going to terrorists, some groups point out.

"To say that - 'Oh, there's a chance that these funds went to fund terrorism because there are terrorist groups active in this country' - is irresponsible," says Rabia Ahmed of the Council on American-Islamic Relations in Washington. "We've seen many cases like this, where a prominent Muslim leader has been charged with horrible things, but it ends up being some kind of immigration technicality."

First identified in the early 1980s, organized retail theft is a key feature of baby-formula theft. Teams of professional shoplifters may travel 200 to 300 miles over a week or more, Miller says. Typically each has a shoplifting list of specific brands of infant formula, medications, shaving products, and batteries given them by their fences.

Shoplifting teams may involve five or six women or young men. Typically they disperse into a store in pairs or separately, posting lookouts to watch for store security. Then a separate team loads carts of formula and goes straight to the exit where a vehicle is waiting, investigators say.

Formula is a favorite of theft rings mostly because of the steady demand, high cost, and large profit margins. Its price is also supported by the US Department of Agriculture's $4.9 billion Women, Infants and Children (WIC) program.

To battle this trend, Texas authorities mandated that retailers participating in WIC must purchase their infant formula from approved WIC wholesalers or the manufacturers themselves. US Rep. John Carter (R) of Texas sponsored legislation included in the WIC Reauthorization Act of 2004 that aims to eliminate the market for stolen infant formula with a similar mandate. But those measures have not been implemented in most states.

As of May, the USDA has mandated that stores nationwide use a licensed wholesaler, say Oklahoma officials, where a recent burst of formula shoplifting has drawn attention even though Oklahoma is one of the few states that require stores to buy from a licensed wholesaler.

A key problem is that many local law enforcement officers view baby- formula theft as petty shoplifting - and shoplifting laws tend to be soft, experts say. Few shoplifters go to jail.

But there are signs that that attitude is changing. The Retail Industry Leaders Association in March testified before Congress, asking for tougher laws to crack down on organized shoplifting. Major retailers like Wal-Mart, Kroger, Walgreens, and others reported to be losing millions on shoplifted baby-formula have internal teams focused on the problem.

Although the FBI has also deployed teams nationwide to crack down on organized retail theft, some investigators say the problem is growing - and moving onto the Internet. On Monday, the online auction house eBay carried more than 1,000 offers of Enfamil baby formula. "This problem is getting worse, no question," Miller says. "It is in every state in the union, and neither law enforcement nor the retailers have their arms around it."

Powdered baby formula goes behind the counter

Many supermarkets locking up infant products amid rising thefts

June 4, 2005

The Associated Press

BETHLEHEM, Pa. - Shoppers with little children might have noticed a change at the supermarket recently: The powdered baby formula has been locked up.

The high-priced item has long been an attractive target for shoplifters, who typically resell it on the black market at a reduced price or use it to cut drugs.

Now, some supermarkets are fighting back, putting formula under lock and key just as they did with cigarettes many years ago.

"There is a point in time when you have to protect your assets," said Ted Seal, general manager of a Super Fresh store near Bethlehem that locked up its supply about a month ago because thieves had been stealing it by the caseload. Customers who want powdered formula now must ask a manager to unlock a case near the front.

$10 to $30 per can

At Albertson's Inc., one of the nation's largest supermarket chains, with more than 2,500 stores in 37 states, stores often keep a very small quantity on shelves, with signs directing customers to the service counter if they want more.

"It has been a problem for a number of years. People steal baby formula, take it to another store and return it" for cash, said Albertson's spokesman Walt Rubel.

The Food Marketing Institute, an industry group that maintains a list of the 50 most stolen items from supermarkets, said that cases of Similac-brand powdered formula ranked No. 7 and individual cans of Similac followed at No. 8.

Powdered formula typically costs $10 to $30 a can, depending on size and brand, and $75 and up for a case.

In Tennessee, authorities made two traffic stops along interstate highways within the past year that netted more than 4,500 cans of stolen Similac and Enfamil powdered formula.

In North Carolina, seven Honduran immigrants were arrested last year for conspiring to steal and resell more than $14 million worth of baby formula and over-the-counter drugs. In April, they were given sentences ranging from probation to 12 years in prison and ordered deported.

Stolen formula linked to terrorism

FBI Director Robert Mueller has even linked stolen baby formula to terrorism, saying proceeds from black market sales have been used to support organizations such as Hamas and Hezbollah.

Millions of dollars' worth of powdered formula is stolen every year, said Mardi Mountford, executive director for the International Formula Council, an association of infant formula manufacturers.

Sometimes the formula winds up on the gray market, in which shoplifters sell it at a discount to unauthorized distributors, which in turn sell it to small stores or at flea markets, she said.

Putting formula under lock and key "probably is a good deterrent, but it doesn't make the consumers very happy because it costs them extra time," Mountford said.

Weis Markets, which operates 156 stores in Pennsylvania and five surrounding states, said it employs a variety of methods to deter theft, including placing the formula section under video surveillance, teaching employees what to look out for and placing cases behind the cash registers.

"We recognize it is an inconvenience to our customers, but it is designed to prevent theft and if you are preventing theft, you are reducing costs," spokesman Dennis Curtin said. Formula theft "has always been a problem, but in recent years it has accelerated and become more of a problem."

STUART —Seven people suspected of participating in a baby formula theft ring were arrested between Wednesday night and Thursday morning, all charged with dealing in stolen property. The arrests came after a tip from a confidential informant sparked surveillance by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement to find out who was stealing large quantities of baby formula from grocery and retail stores throughout the Treasure Coast.

"This just kind of rolled up on us," said Rich Piccininni, special agent in charge of FDLE's regional office in Fort Pierce. "We learned more and more about this as we went along, and we're still getting new details."

Piccininni said the group stole more than 1,700 cans of formula - about $48,000 worth - and may have planned to send them to North Carolina or another state nearby. An informant told investigators that the group on Wednesday was planning to steal formula from a Hobe Sound Winn-Dixie, then head to the Publix at Wedgewood Commons in Stuart to steal more. FDLE agents contacted the store manager at Publix while two men and two women were still inside the store. He confronted them and they ran, getting into a car and driving off before they could be captured.

The agents and Martin County sheriff's deputies, with help from the informant, were able to track the group to the Suburban Lodge and follow them to a storage facility, where agents saw them loading cans of baby formula into a storage unit. Sheriff's deputies then stepped in and arrested them. They have been identified as Rosa Padilla Valladeres, 44, Luis Rolando Valle-Flores, 30, Oscar Geovanny Milla Cartagena, 29, and Elsa Rivera-Hernandez, 21. All four gave addresses in Wallace, N.C., when they were arrested.

Piccininni said agents arrested Hilda Hernandez, 26, Rosa Lopez, 34 and Miguel Gomez, 26, Thursday morning. All seven were being held at the Martin County jail Thursday night without bail.

Baby formula in recent years has become a hot black market item, according to federal law enforcement authorities. Over the years, federal investigators have arrested people suspected of making millions selling stolen formula.

Officials so far this year have uncovered theft rings with links to Tennessee, Ohio, Georgia, Kentucky and Texas. On the Treasure Coast, five women were arrested in Port St. Lucie in 2004 when surveillance footage caught them hiding cans of formula in their purses.

Most of the stolen baby food is repackaged and sold, which health experts say poses a potential danger to infants. Drug dealers also sometimes use the powdered formula to cut cocaine.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE SHERIFFS TO INSPECT PRESCRIPTION PROFILES AND STOCKS OF CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 90-107 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-107. Prescriptions, stocks, etc., open to inspection by officials.

Prescriptions, order forms and records, required by this Article, and stocks of controlled substances included in Schedules I through VI of this Article shall be open for inspection only to federal and State officers, whose duty it is to enforce the laws of this State or of the United States relating to controlled substances included in Schedules I through VI of this Article, to sheriffs, and to authorized employees of the North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services. No officer having knowledge by virtue of his office of any such prescription, order, or record shall divulge such knowledge other than to other law-enforcement officials or agencies, except in connection with a prosecution or proceeding in court or before a licensing board or officer to which prosecution or proceeding the person to whom such prescriptions, orders, or records relate is a party."

SECTION 2. This act is effective when it becomes law.

Sheriffs Access Rx Info

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	March 13, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Snow	Summary by:	Jennifer McGinnis
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 4 would add sheriffs to the list of persons authorized to inspect prescriptions, order forms, and records of controlled substances.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, only federal and State officers and certain employees of the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) are authorized by statute to inspect prescriptions, order forms, and records of controlled substances. Under the statute, officers may only divulge knowledge gained through such inspections to other law-enforcement officials or agencies, except in connection with a prosecution or proceeding in court or before a licensing board.

BACKGROUND: The State constitution creates the office of sheriff (NC Const. art. VII, Sec. 2). Courts have held that a sheriff is a local officer rather than a state officer given that: (1) the constitutional provision that creates the office of sheriff is included within the article governing local governments, along with provisions for counties cities, towns, and other governmental subdivisions; and (2) other pertinent State statutes characterize a sheriff's department as a local government entity.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would authorize sheriffs, in addition to federal and State officers and employees of DHHS, to inspect prescriptions, order forms, and records of controlled substances.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill would be effective when it becomes law.

SECTION 3. This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 34: Kill Police Animal

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II	Date:	March 12, 2007
Introduced by:	Senator Swindell	Summary by:	Ben Popkin
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 34 would (1) make it a Class H felony for someone to willfully kill or attempt to kill a law enforcement agency animal or assistance animal and (2) make it an aggravating circumstance for other criminal offenses when a law enforcement agency animal or assistance animal was seriously harmed or killed while the animal was performing its official duties.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to H74, as introduced by Reps. Bryant, Daughtridge, Farmer-Butterfield, which is currently in House Judiciary I.]

CURRENT LAW: Law enforcement agency animal and assistance animal are defined terms. A law enforcement agency animal is "[a]n animal that is trained and may be used to assist a law enforcement officer in the performance of the officer's official duties." G.S. 14-163.1(a)(2). An assistance animal is "[a]n animal that is trained and may be used to assist a 'person with a disability' as defined in G.S. 168A-3. G.S. 14-163.1(a)(1).

Currently, North Carolina has a number of offenses related to assaulting a law enforcement agency animal or an assistance animal. G.S. 14-163.1. They are:

- Willfully causing or attempting to cause serious harm- Any person who knows or has reason to know that an animal is a law enforcement agency animal or an assistance animal and who willfully causes or attempts to cause serious harm to the animal is guilty of a Class I felony. G.S. 14-163.1(b). Serious harm is defined in G.S. 14-163.1(a)(4)a-e.
- Willfully causing or attempting to cause harm- Unless the conduct is covered under some other provision of law providing greater punishment, any person who knows or has reason to know that an animal is a law enforcement agency animal or an assistance animal and who willfully causes or attempts to cause harm to the animal is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. G.S. 14-163.1(c). Harm is "any injury, illness, or other physiological impairment; or any behavioral impairment that impedes or interferes with duties performed by a law enforcement agency animal or an assistance animal." G.S. 14-163.1(a)(3).
- Willfully taunting, teasing, obstructing the animal- Unless the conduct is covered under some other provision of law providing greater punishment, any person who knows or has reason to know that an animal is a law enforcement agency animal or an assistance animal and who willfully taunts, teases, harasses, delays, obstructs, or attempts to delay or obstruct the animal in the performance of its duty as a law enforcement agency animal or assistance animal is guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor. G.S. 14-163.1(d).

A defendant who violates these provisions must make restitution to the person with a disability or the law enforcement agency who owns or is responsible for the care of the animal. G.S. 14-163.1(d1)(1)-(7). These provisions do not apply to licensed veterinarians following the North Carolina Veterinary Practice Act. Self-defense is an affirmative defense to these crimes, and the current law does not affect any civil remedies that might also be available.

For felony convictions, there are three ranges of imprisonment: (1) presumptive, (2) aggravated, and (3) mitigated. In many instances, the court will sentence a defendant in the presumptive range. If aggravating factors outweigh mitigating factors, a court may impose a term from the aggravated range. If mitigating factors outweigh aggravating factors, a court may impose a term from the mitigated range.

An aggravating factor is a factor which may increase a defendant's sentence. A mitigating factor is a factor which may decrease a defendant's sentence. G.S. 15A-1340.16(d) lists aggravating factors.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 would make it a Class H felony for any person who knows or has reason to know that an animal is a law enforcement agency animal or assistance animal and who willfully kills or attempts to kill the animal.

Section 2 would make it an aggravating circumstance for a criminal offense when the offense was committed against or proximately caused serious harm or death to a law enforcement agency animal or assistance animal while the animal was performing its official duties.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

Brad Krehely, counsel to House Judiciary I, substantially contributed to this summary.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ADD METHADONE AND OTHER SCHEDULE II DRUGS TO COCAINE AND METHAMPHETAMINE AS CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES WHICH, IF UNLAWFULLY DISTRIBUTED AND CAUSE A DEATH, ALLOW FOR A CHARGE OF SECOND DEGREE MURDER.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 14-17 reads as rewritten:

"§ 14-17. Murder in the first and second degree defined; punishment.

A murder which shall be perpetrated by means of a nuclear, biological, or chemical weapon of mass destruction as defined in G.S. 14-288.21, poison, lying in wait, imprisonment, starving, torture, or by any other kind of willful, deliberate, and premeditated killing, or which shall be committed in the perpetration or attempted perpetration of any arson, rape or a sex offense, robbery, kidnapping, burglary, or other felony committed or attempted with the use of a deadly weapon shall be deemed to be murder in the first degree, a Class A felony, and any person who commits such murder shall be punished with death or imprisonment in the State's prison for life without parole as the court shall determine pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000, except that any such person who was under 17 years of age at the time of the murder shall be punished with imprisonment in the State's prison for life without parole. Provided, however, any person under the age of 17 who commits murder in the first degree while serving a prison sentence imposed for a prior murder or while on escape from a prison sentence imposed for a prior murder shall be punished with death or imprisonment in the State's prison for life without parole as the court shall determine pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000. All other kinds of murder, including that which shall be proximately caused by the unlawful distribution of opium or any synthetic or natural salt, compound, derivative, or preparation of opium, or cocaine or other any substance described in G.S. 90-90, ~~G.S. 90-90(1)d., or methamphetamine,~~ when the ingestion of such substance causes the death of the user, shall be deemed murder in the second degree, and any person who commits such murder shall be punished as a Class B2 felon."

SECTION 2. This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 5:
Methadone Distribution/2nd Degree Murder

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	March 12, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Snow	Summary by:	Kory Goldsmith Committee Counsel
Version:	First Edition

SUMMARY: SB5 would make it second degree murder to unlawfully distribute any Schedule II controlled substance when the ingestion of the substance causes the user's death. Second degree murder is a Class B2 felony.

The act would become effective December 1, 2007, and apply to acts committed on or after that date.

CURRENT LAW: A person is guilty of second degree murder when the offender kills another person with malice. There is no requirement that the prosecution show a specific intent to kill, and malice may be inferred by cruel and reckless acts that indicate a total disregard for human life. It is also second degree murder if a defendant unlawfully distributes opium, cocaine, a derivative of either substance or methamphetamine[1], and ingestion of that substance causes the user's death. G.S. 14-17. Second degree murder is a Class B2 felony with a presumptive minimum sentence of 125 months imprisonment for a defendant with no prior convictions.

A person who proximately causes the death of another through the unlawful distribution of a Schedule II controlled substance, other than those specified in G.S. 14-17, could be charged with and convicted of involuntary manslaughter, which is a Class F felony. Minimum and maximum sentences for Class F offenses (across all prior record levels) range from 10 to 49 months.

BILL ANALYSIS: SB5 would expand the types of controlled substances that could result in a charge of second degree murder if the defendant illegally distributes the substance and the user dies as a result of ingesting the substance. The new law would apply to all Schedule II substances, including methadone, a synthetic opiate used to treat heroin addiction. However, as written, the bill would not cover certain Schedule I controlled substances, including certain depressants, stimulants, and hallucinogenic compounds.

Second degree murder is a Class B2 felony with a presumptive minimum sentence of 125 months imprisonment for a defendant with no prior convictions.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act would become effective December 1, 2007, and apply to offenses committed on or after that date.

(c) Failure to obtain the bond required by this section or to produce evidence of the bond upon demand of an animal control officer is a Class 1 misdemeanor."

SECTION 2. This act becomes effective October 1, 2007, and applies to determinations made on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 92:
Dangerous Dogs/Financial Responsibility

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	March 14, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Bingham	Summary by:	Kory Goldsmith Committee Co-Counsel
Version:	PCS to First Edition S92-CSRC-7

SUMMARY: SB92 would allow require owners of dogs of some dog that have been determined to be dangerous or potentially dangerous to obtain a bond to pay for liability incurred due to injury or damage caused by the dog. The bond could not exceed $100,000 Failure to obtain the bond or to produce evidence of the bond upon demand of an animal control officer would be a Class 1 misdemeanor.

The Proposed Committee Substitute substantially rewrites the original bill.

The act would become effective October 1, 2007, and apply to determinations occurring on or after that date.

CURRENT LAW: Article 1A of Chapter 67 governs dangerous dogs.[1] A dangerous dog is a dog that has: (1) without provocation killed or inflicted severe injury to a person, or (2) is designated as a potentially dangerous animal, or (3) is owned primarily for the purpose of dog fighting or trained for dog fighting.[2] G.S. 67-4.1(c) provides that the county or municipal authority responsible for animal control may designate a separate person or Board to be responsible for determining when a dog is a "potentially dangerous dog". A potentially dangerous dog is a dog that has been determined to have: (1) inflicted a bite to a person causing broken bones or disfiguring lacerations; (2) killed or inflected severe injury upon domestic animal; or (3) approached a person when the dog was not on its owner's property in a vicious or terrorizing manner in an apparent attitude of attack.

The Article does not apply to a dog: (1) being used by law enforcement to carry out the officer's official duties; (2) being used in a lawful hunt; (3) where the injury inflicted by the dog to a domestic animal occurred as the dog was working as a hunting dog, herding dog, or predator control dog; or (4) where the injury inflicted by the dog was sustained by a person who was committing a willful trespass, or tormenting the dog or attempting to commit a crime.[3]

It is unlawful for the owner of a dangerous dog to leave the dog unattended on the owner's real property unless the dog is confined indoors or in a securely enclosed and locked pen. It is also unlawful to allow a dangerous dog to leave the owner's real property unless the dog is leased and muzzled. A violation of these provisions is a Class 3 misdemeanor.[4] The owner of a dangerous dog that inflicts physical injuries requiring medical treatment in excess of $100 is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor.[5] The owner is strictly liable for any injuries or property damage caused by the dog.[6]

BILL ANALYSIS: The PCS to SB92 provides that the person or Board that is designated to determine whether a dog is dangerous or potentially dangerous may, upon making that determination, also require

[1] G.S. 67-4.1 to 4.5.
[2] G.S. 67-4.1(a)(1) and (2).
[3] G.S. 67-4.1(b)
[4] G.S. 67-4.2
[5] G.S. 67-4.3
[6] G.S. 67-4.4

that the owner of the dog post a bond in an amount not to exceed $100,000. The owner could appeal either the requirement of the bond, the amount of the bond or both under an existing procedure. However, the owner would have to maintain the bond during the period of the appeal. Failure to obtain the bond would be a Class 1 misdemeanor.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act would become effective October 1, 2007, and apply to determinations made on or after that date.

BACKGROUND: The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) reports that 4.7 million people are bitten by dogs annually, resulting in an estimated 800,000 injuries requiring medical attention.

SENATE BILL 5:
Methadone Distribution/2nd Degree Murder

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	March 14, 2007
Version:	PCS to First Edition S5-CSRC-6

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute to SB5 would make it second degree murder to unlawfully distribute any Schedule I or II controlled substance when the ingestion of the substance causes the user's death. Second degree murder is a Class B2 felony.

The act would become effective December 1, 2007, and apply to acts committed on or after that date.

The PCS adds all Schedule I drugs to the bill draft.

CURRENT LAW: A person is guilty of second degree murder when the offender kills another person with malice. There is no requirement that the prosecution show a specific intent to kill, and malice may be inferred by cruel and reckless acts that indicate a total disregard for human life.

It is also second degree murder if a defendant unlawfully distributes opium, cocaine, a derivative of either substance or methamphetamine[1], and ingestion of that substance causes the user's death. G.S. 14-17. Second degree murder is a Class B2 felony with a presumptive minimum sentence of 125 months imprisonment for a defendant with no prior convictions.

Opiates, opium and opium derivatives are both Schedule I and Schedule II controlled substances. Cocaine and its derivatives, and methamphetamine are Schedule II controlled substances.

A person who proximately causes the death of another through the unlawful distribution of a controlled substance, other than those specified in G.S. 14-17, could be charged with and convicted of involuntary manslaughter, which is a Class F felony. Minimum and maximum sentences for Class F offenses (across all prior record levels) range from 10 to 49 months.

BILL ANALYSIS: SB5 would expand the types of controlled substances that could result in a charge of second degree murder if the defendant illegally distributes the substance and the user dies as a result of ingesting the substance. The new law would apply to all Schedule I and Schedule II controlled substances, including methadone.

Second degree murder is a Class B2 felony with a presumptive minimum sentence of 125 months imprisonment for a defendant with no prior convictions.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act would become effective December 1, 2007, and apply to offenses committed on or after that date.

S0005e1-SMRC-CSRC-6

SENATE BILL 393:
Felony/Steal Or Cut Another's Timber

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary ll (Criminal)	Date:	March 20, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Weinstein	Summary by:	Jennifer McGinnis
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 393 would increase the penalty for cutting down, injuring, or removing another's timber if the value is over $1,000 to a Class I felony.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, any one who knowingly and willfully cuts down, injures, or removes any standing, growing or fallen tree or log, on the property of another, is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor (G.S. 14- 135).

In addition, the person doing so may be liable to the owner for double the value of the timber injured, cut, or removed (G.S. 1-539.1).

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would create a two tier penalty system for the offense, so that if the value of the timber unlawfully cut, injured or removed is: (1) $1,000 or less, the punishment would be a Class 1 misdemeanor[1]; (2) more than a $1,000, the punishment would be a Class I felony[2].

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

[1] A Class 1 misdemeanor is punishable by 1 to 45 days of community punishment, assuming no prior convictions.
[2] The presumptive range of punishment for a Class I felony when there are no prior convictions is 4 to 6 months of community punishment.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Senate Judiciary II Committee

FROM: General Statutes Commission

DATE: March 19, 2007

RE: Senate Bill 613 (General Statutes Comm. Technical Corrections)

General Comments

This bill contains corrections of a technical nature to the General Statutes that are recommended by the General Statutes Commission. These amendments correct redlining errors, update statutory references, and delete an obsolete provision.

Specific Comments

Sections 1 and 2. S.L. 1997-433, s. 5.1, made several amendments to G.S. 110-142.1, using the coded bill drafting format. In the process, an extra "the" was inserted in the second sentence of subsection (i), and a necessary comma was not reinserted in the second sentence of subsection (l). Section 1 deletes the extra "the" and Section 2 inserts the missing comma.

Sections 3, 4, 5, and 6. Sections 3 through 6 amend G.S. 70-27(b), 70-30, 70-39, and 152-7(6), respectively, to replace a cross-reference to former G.S. 130-198 with a reference to the current statute (G.S. 130A-383). Former G.S. 130-198 dealt with the duty to notify the county medical examiner of killings, suicides, unnatural deaths, and discovered human remains. It was repealed when former Chapter 130 was replaced with current Chapter 130A of the General Statutes by Chapter 891 of the 1983 Session Laws. G.S. 130A-383 is the successor statute.

Section 7. This section repeals G.S. 140-5.17, which is now obsolete. G.S. 140-5.17 provides that nothing in Article 1B of Chapter 140 of the General Statutes (the North Carolina Museum of Art) eliminates or reduces the powers and duties of the former State Art Museum Building Commission. That Commission, however, is now defunct; its organic legislation was repealed by S.L. 2000-140, s. 78, rendering G.S. 140-5.17 obsolete.

Section 8. This section is the effective date section for the bill ("when it becomes law").

PRINCIPLES OF STRUCTURED SENTENCING

Truthful Sentencing Policies

Sentence length imposed by the judge should bear a close and consistent relationship to the sentence length actually served.

Consistent and Certain Sentencing Policies

Offenders convicted of similar offenses, who have similar prior records, should generally receive similar sentences.

Rational Sentencing Policies

Sentence should be proportional to the severity of the crime as measured by the harm to the victim and the offender's prior record.

Priorities Set for the Use of Correctional Resources

Prisons and jails should be reserved for violent and repeat offenders, and community-based programs should be used for nonviolent offenders with little or no prior record.

Balance Between Sentencing Policies and Correctional Resources

SENATE BILL 92:
Dangerous Dogs/Financial Responsibility

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	March 26, 2007
Version:	PCS to First Edition S92-CSRC-7

SUMMARY: SB92 would require owners of certain dogs that have been determined to be dangerous to provide proof of financial responsibility in the amount of $5,000. Proof could be in the form of a cash deposit, a bond, or an insurance liability policy. If the owner did not provide proof of financial responsibility, the dog would be taken into custody and destroyed.

The Proposed Committee Substitute substantially rewrites the original bill and makes clarifying and technical revisions to existing law.

CURRENT LAW: Article 1A of Chapter 67 governs dangerous dogs.[1] A dangerous dog is a dog that has: (1) without provocation killed or inflicted severe injury to a person, or (2) is designated as a potentially dangerous animal, or (3) is owned primarily for the purpose of dog fighting or trained for dog fighting.[2] G.S. 67-4.1(c) provides that the county or municipal authority responsible for animal control may designate a separate person or Board to be responsible for determining when a dog is a "potentially dangerous dog". A potentially dangerous dog is a dog that has been determined to have: (1) inflicted a bite to a person causing broken bones or disfiguring lacerations; (2) killed or inflected severe injury upon domestic animal; or (3) approached a person when the dog was not on its owner's property in a vicious or terrorizing manner in an apparent attitude of attack.

The Article does not apply to a dog: (1) being used by law enforcement to carry out the officer's official duties; (2) being used in a lawful hunt; (3) where the injury inflicted by the dog to a domestic animal occurred as the dog was working as a hunting dog, herding dog, or predator control dog; or (4) where the injury inflicted by the dog was sustained by a person who was committing a willful trespass, or tormenting the dog or attempting to commit a crime.[3]

It is unlawful for the owner of a dangerous dog to leave the dog unattended on the owner's real property unless the dog is confined indoors or in a securely enclosed and locked pen. It is also unlawful to allow a dangerous dog to leave the owner's real property unless the dog is leased and muzzled. A violation of these provisions is a Class 3 misdemeanor.[4] The owner of a dangerous dog that inflicts physical injuries requiring medical treatment in excess of $100 is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor.[5] The owner is strictly liable for any injuries or property damage caused by the dog.[6]

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 rewrites the definitions section of Article 1A of Chapter 67 to make them conform with current drafting conventions and to clarify that a dog that has been determined to be potentially dangerous is a dangerous dog. The section also creates a definition for the board or person that is responsible for determining that a dog is dangerous and a definition for a surety.[7]

[4] G.S. 67-4.2
[5] G.S. 67-4.3
[6] G.S. 67-4.4

Section 2 creates two new sections in Article 1A of Chapter 67:

G.S. 67-4.1A restates existing law that the county or municipal authority responsible for animal control must designate a board or person that is responsible for determining whether a dog is a dangerous dog. It specifies certain procedural requirements and restates the existing appeals process. It also requires that if a dangerous dog board determines a dog is dangerous, the board must provide the owner with written notification of the grounds for the determination and a copy of Article 1A of Chapter 67.[8] Current law places a number of responsibilities upon an owner of a dangerous dog and also makes the owner strictly liable for damages caused b the dog.

G.S. 67-4.1A creates a requirement that if a dangerous dog board determines that a dog is dangerous for any of the following reasons, the owner of the dog must provide proof of financial responsibility or the dog will be destroyed. The requirement would apply if the board determines the dog:

- Killed or inflicted severe injury on a person without having first been provoked.
- Is owned or harbored for the purpose of dog fighting or trained for dog fighting.
- Has inflicted a bite on a person that resulted in broken bones, disfiguring lacerations or that required cosmetic surgery or hospitalization.

Proof of financial responsibility could be evidenced by any of the following:

- A cash deposit with the dangerous dog board.
- A bond issued by a solvent surety.
- A policy of liability insurance

The cash deposit, bond, or policy of insurance would be available to pay for personal injury damages or damage to property caused by the dangerous dog. Despite having proof of financial responsibility, the owner would still be strictly liable for any damages in excess of the required $5,000.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act would become effective October 1, 2007, and apply to determinations made on or after that date.

[7] A surety is defined as one of the following:
a. An insurance company, when a bail bond is executed by a bail agent on behalf of an insurance company.
b. A professional bondsman, when a bail bond is executed by a professional bondsman or by a runner on behalf of a professional bondsman.
c. An accommodation bondsman, when a bail bond is executed by a person who is at least 18 years of age, is a resident of the State, and who receives no financial consideration for providing the bond.

(b) If the owner of a dangerous dog transfers ownership or possession of the dog to another person (as defined in G.S. 12-3(6)), the owner shall provide written notice to:

PRINCIPLES OF STRUCTURED SENTENCING

Truthful Sentencing Policies

Sentence length imposed by the judge should bear a close and consistent relationship to the sentence length actually served.

Consistent and Certain Sentencing Policies

Offenders convicted of similar offenses, who have similar prior records, should generally receive similar sentences.

Rational Sentencing Policies

Sentence should be proportional to the severity of the crime as measured by the harm to the victim and the offender's prior record.

Priorities Set for the Use of Correctional Resources

Prisons and jails should be reserved for violent and repeat offenders, and community-based programs should be used for nonviolent offenders with little or no prior record.

Balance Between Sentencing Policies and Correctional Resources

THE OFFENSE CLASSIFICATION CRITERIA

The Sentencing Commission was required by G.S. 164-41 to ".... classify criminal offenses into felony and misdemeanor categories on the basis of their severity." The Commission developed a classification criteria to guide the classification process and to ensure that there was a systematic and rational basis for the classifications. The Commission decided that the severity of an offense should be directly related to the harm to the victim that normally results or tends to result from the criminal conduct.

The Commission defined three general types of harms: 1) harms to person (including both physical and mental injury); 2) harms to property; and 3) harms to society (violations of public order and welfare, violations of judicial or governmental operations, and/or violations of public morality). Through considerable discussion and debate, the Commission grouped these harms into a ten-level hierarchy which served as the basis for the Commission's classifications (refer to the classification criteria on the following page). Once the classification criteria was established, the Commission reviewed the individual elements of all felonies in North Carolina and assigned each felony to a specific offense class based on how closely the elements of the crime matched the classification criteria.

The purpose of establishing the classification criteria was to create a rational and consistent philosophical basis for classifying offenses; to assure proportionality in severity; and to provide a guidepost for classifying new crimes in the future.

Under the classification criteria, the most serious offense classes (A through F) primarily involve personal injury, the risk of personal injury, serious societal injury or widespread societal injury. The lower offense levels (G through I) primarily involve property loss or less serious societal injury. The degree of harm is divided into three levels; injury to person, property or society; significant injury to person, property or society; and serious injury to person, property or society.

The Commission also assigned misdemeanor offenses to three classes: class 1, class 2 or class 3. The Commission did not create classification criteria for misdemeanors but relied on the maximum sentences previously set by the General Assembly. Generally, crimes which had previously been punishable by over six months were made class 1 misdemeanors, those previously punishable by more than 30 days and up to six months were made class 2 misdemeanors, and those previously punishable by 30 days or less were made class 3 misdemeanors. Assaultive misdemeanors were made Class A1 misdemeanors.

SECTION 6. This act becomes effective October 1, 2007, and applies to policies issued or renewed on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 735:
Mediation of Property Insurance Claims.-AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	March 27, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Dalton	Summary by:	Jennifer McGinnis
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 735 is requested by the Department of Insurance to make clarifying and conforming changes to Part 2 of Article 44 of Chapter 58 which deals with the mediation of emergency or disaster-related property insurance claims.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to H730, as introduced by Reps. Goforth, Holliman, which is currently in House Insurance.]

CURRENT LAW: In 2006, and in response to some of the issues related to property insurance claims in the Gulf Coast area after Hurricane Katrina, the General Assembly passed legislation creating a mediation process for disputed property damage claims resulting from proclaimed disasters. The legislation required that insurers notify insureds of a right to mediate disputed claims.

A disputed claim is defined as any matter where there is a disagreement as to the cause of loss or amount of loss, for which the insurer has denied payment, in part or in whole with respect to claims arising from a disaster. The amount in dispute must be at least $1500, and does not include a denial of coverage for the loss because of exclusions in the policy, terms in the policy, conditions in the policy, or nonexistence of the policy at the time of the loss.

If an insured requests mediation, the Commissioner or the Commissioner's designee (Administrator) shall select a mediator who shall conduct the mediation. The mediation is nonbinding unless all parties specifically agree in writing that the results are binding. If the parties reach a settlement, it shall act as a release of all specific claims that were presented at the mediation conference.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 amends G.S. 58-44-70 to clarify that a state of disaster may be declared by the General Assembly. It also provides that the mediation procedures of this Part are not triggered unless authorized by the Commissioner of Insurance.

Section 2 amends G.S. 58-44-80(b) to cross reference the notice of right to mediation that is required to be sent by insurers under the preceding subsection. This is a clarification that only one notice to insureds is required.

Section 3 amends G.S. 58-44-95 to provide that only mediators certified by the Dispute Resolution Commission may conduct a mediation conference under this Part.

Section 4 amends G.S. 58-44-100 to remove a requirement that all parties must negotiate in good faith. It also removes the requirement that the party that is responsible for terminating the conference is responsible for paying the mediator's and administrative fees.

Section 5 amends G.S. 58-44-60(a) to clarify that insurers of both residential and commercial property must include in the policy a notice of certain exclusions under the policy.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act would become effective October 1, 2007 and apply to policies issued or renewed on or after that date.

Kory Goldsmith, counsel to this committee and the House Committee on Insurance, substantially contributed to this summary.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ALLOW PERSONS WHO ARE CONVICTED OF CERTAIN DRIVING WHILE LICENSE REVOKED OFFENSES TO OBTAIN A LIMITED DRIVING PRIVILEGE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Article 2 of Chapter 20 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 20-20.1. Limited driving privileges for certain revocations.

(a) Definitions. – As used in this section, the following definitions apply:

(1) Limited driving privilege. – A judgment issued by a court authorizing a person with a revoked drivers license to drive under the terms and conditions authorized under this section.

(2) Nonfleet private passenger motor vehicle. – As defined in Article 40 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes.

(3) Nonstandard working hours. – Any time other than 6:00 A.M. until 8:00 P.M. on Monday through Friday.

(4) Offense involving impaired driving. – As defined in G.S. 20-4.01(24a).

(5) Standard working hours. – Any time from 6:00 A.M. until 8:00 P.M. on Monday through Friday.

(b) Eligibility. – The court, for good cause shown, may issue a limited driving privilege to a person whose North Carolina drivers license is permanently revoked under G.S. 20-28(a) or G.S. 20-28.1 if all of the following conditions apply:

(1) The person has no other current drivers license revocations other than the revocation under G.S. 20-28(a) or G.S. 20-28.1.

(2) The person has complied with the permanent revocation for at least two years immediately preceding the motion for a limited driving privilege.

(3) The person has no unresolved or outstanding motor vehicle offenses or motor vehicle charges or unpaid motor vehicle fines or penalties in this or any other state.

(4) The person has not held a limited driving privilege issued under this section at any time during the three years prior to the filing of the current action.

(c) Ineligibility. – A person shall not be eligible to receive a limited driving privilege under this section if any of the following conditions apply:

(1) The person is eligible to receive a limited driving privilege under any other provision of law.

(2) The person's drivers license was revoked for an offense involving impaired driving at the time the person was charged under G.S. 20-28(a) or G.S. 20-28.1.

(3) The person's drivers license is revoked under G.S. 20-17.1.

(4) The person is not eligible to receive a North Carolina drivers license under G.S. 20-9(f).

(5) The Division has refused to issue a drivers license to the person under G.S. 20-9(e).

(6) The person's drivers license issued by another state has been revoked by that state for any reason or the person's North Carolina drivers license has been revoked under any interstate compact or agreement.

(d) Scope of Privilege. – A limited driving privilege shall restrict the holder to essential driving related to one or more of the purposes listed in this subsection. Any driving that is not related to the purposes authorized in this subsection is unlawful even though done at times and upon routes that may be authorized by the privilege. Except as otherwise provided, all driving shall be for a purpose and done within the restrictions specified in the privilege.

The permissible purposes for a limited driving privilege are: (i) travel to and from the person's employment and in the course of employment; (ii) necessary maintenance of the person's household; and (iii) emergency medical care for the person or for an immediate family member of the person who resides in the same household with the person. Driving related to emergency medical care is authorized at any time and without restriction as to routes.

(e) Jurisdiction. – A motion for a limited driving privilege under this section is separate from any action that resulted in the initial revocation and is a civil action filed in district court in the county of the person's residence as reflected by the Division's records. The costs required under G.S. 7A-305(a3) apply to this action.

(f) Motion. – A motion for a limited driving privilege requested under this section shall include a copy of the person's driving history. The motion shall also include a sworn statement that there are no outstanding or unresolved charges, no unpaid fines, and no violations in this or any other state that could result in the revocation of the person's drivers license, and that the person has complied with the current revocation for the time period required under subdivision (b)(2) of this section immediately preceding the person's motion for a limited driving privilege under this section.

(g) Employment Driving in Standard Working Hours. – The court may authorize driving for employment-related purposes during standard working hours without specifying the times and routes in which the driving shall occur. If the person is not required to drive for essential employment-related purposes except during standard working hours, the limited driving privilege shall prohibit driving during nonstandard working hours unless the driving is for emergency medical care or is authorized by subsection (i) of this section. The limited driving privilege shall state the name and address of the applicant's place of work or employer and may include other information and restrictions applicable to work-related driving in the discretion of the court.

(h) Employment Driving in Nonstandard Working Hours. – If a person is required to drive during nonstandard working hours for an essential employment-related purpose and the person provides to the court documentation of that fact, the court may authorize the person to drive for that purpose during those hours. If the person is self-employed, the documentation shall be attached to or made a part of the limited driving privilege. The limited driving privilege shall state the name and address of the person's place of employment or employer and may include other information and restrictions applicable to work-related driving, in the discretion of the court. If the court determines that it is necessary for the person to drive during nonstandard working hours for an employment-related purpose, the court may authorize the person to drive subject to these limitations:

(1) If the person is required to drive to and from a specific place of employment at regular times, the limited driving privilege shall specify the general times and routes in which the person will be driving to and from work and restrict driving to those times and routes.

(2) If the person is required to drive to and from work at a specific place but is unable to specify the times during which the driving will occur, the limited driving privilege shall specify the general routes which the person will be driving to and from work and restrict the driving to those general routes.

(3) If the person is required to drive to and from work at regular times but is unable to specify the places at which work is to be performed, the limited driving privilege shall specify the general times and geographic boundaries in which the person will be driving and restrict driving to those times and within those boundaries.

(4) If the person can specify neither the times nor places in which the person will be driving to and from work, or if the person is required to drive during these nonstandard working hours as a condition of employment, the limited driving privilege shall specify the geographic boundaries in which the person will drive and restrict driving to within those boundaries.

(i) Household Maintenance. – A limited driving privilege may not allow driving for maintenance of the household except during standard working hours. The limited driving privilege may contain any additional restrictions on that driving, in the discretion of the court.

(j) Proof of Financial Responsibility. – A person applying for a limited driving privilege under this section shall provide to the court proof of financial responsibility, and a limited driving privilege shall be conditioned upon the maintenance of financial responsibility during the period of the limited driving privilege. The Commissioner may require that certificates required by this subsection be on a form approved by the Commissioner. Nothing in this subsection precludes any person from showing proof of financial responsibility in any other manner authorized by Articles 9A and 13 of this Chapter. This subsection does not apply to a person who does not own a currently registered motor vehicle and who does not operate a nonfleet private passenger motor vehicle that is owned by another person and that is not insured under a commercial motor vehicle liability insurance policy. If this subsection applies, the person shall sign a written certificate to that effect. The Division shall furnish the certificate. Any material misrepresentation made by the person on the certificate shall be grounds for the court to revoke the limited driving privilege granted under this section.

Proof of financial responsibility shall be in one of the following forms:

(1) A written certificate or electronically transmitted facsimile of the certificate issued by an insurance carrier duly authorized to do business in this State certifying that there is in effect a nonfleet private passenger motor vehicle liability policy for the benefit of the person required to furnish proof of financial responsibility. The certificate or facsimile shall state the effective date and expiration date of the nonfleet private passenger motor vehicle liability policy and shall state the date that the certificate or facsimile is issued. The certificate or facsimile shall remain effective proof of financial responsibility for a period of 30 consecutive days following the date the certificate or facsimile is issued but shall not in and of itself constitute a binder or policy of insurance.

(2) A binder for or policy of nonfleet private passenger motor vehicle liability insurance under which the applicant is insured, provided that the binder or policy states the effective date and expiration date of the nonfleet private passenger motor vehicle liability policy.

(k) Other Restrictions. – The court shall include in all limited driving privileges a restriction that the holder of the privilege not consume alcohol while driving or drive at any time while the holder has remaining in the holder's body any alcohol or controlled substance previously consumed, unless the controlled substance was lawfully obtained and taken in therapeutically appropriate amounts. The court may impose any other reasonable restrictions or conditions necessary to achieve the purposes of this section.

(l) Term. – The term of a limited driving privilege issued under this section shall be one year. Upon the expiration of the term of the limited driving privilege or after three years from the date of the permanent revocation, the person may apply to the Division for a license under G.S. 20-28(c) or G.S. 20-28.1(c).

(m) Notification. – The clerk of court shall send a copy of any limited driving privilege issued in the county to the Division. A limited driving privilege that is not authorized by this section or that does not contain the limitations required by law is invalid.

(n) Modification. – A court may modify or revoke a person's limited driving privilege issued under this section upon a showing that the circumstances have changed sufficiently to justify modification or revocation. If the judge who issued the privilege is not presiding in the court in which the privilege was issued, a presiding judge in that court may modify or revoke the privilege. The judge shall indicate in the order of modification or revocation the reasons for the order, or the judge shall make specific findings indicating the reason for the order, and those findings shall be entered in the record of the case. When a court issues an order of modification or revocation, the clerk shall send a copy of the order to the Division.

(o) Effect of Violation. – A violation of a limited driving privilege issued under this section constitutes the offense of driving while license revoked under G.S. 20-28. Whenever a person is charged with operating a motor vehicle in violation of the limited driving privilege, the limited driving privilege shall be suspended pending the final disposition of the charge."

SECTION 2. G.S. 7A-305 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(a3) In every motion to obtain a limited driving privilege filed under G.S. 20-20.1, a cost of one hundred dollars ($100.00) shall be assessed against the person filing the motion. Costs collected by the clerk under this subsection shall be remitted to the State Treasurer. The State Treasurer shall credit one-half of the assessed cost to the Highway Fund and the remaining one-half of the assessed cost to the Court Information Technology Fund established under G.S. 7A-343.2. Costs assessed under this subsection are in addition to any other costs assessed under this section."

SECTION 3. This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and applies to permanent revocations that occur on or after that date.

Dear Senator Kerr:

At the most recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the North Carolina Conference of District Attorneys, the Committee voted to continue our support for your forthcoming bill entitled, "Limited Driving Privileges - DWLR Bill."

As you are well aware, there are many reasons for a person's driving privileges to be revoked. Often times, because of employment, family, or emergency obligations, people continue to drive after having their license revoked and then may incur additional violations. This causes a "revolving door" situation from which these same people cannot escape.

The Conference of District Attorneys believes that as long as there are restrictions on the type of revocation, it is appropriate for some of these individuals to obtain a limited driving privilege so that they can continue to meet their obligations. The restrictions that exist in the bill you sponsored last year, especially the exclusion of persons who had their licenses revoked because of impaired driving, were most appropriate.

Please do not hesitate to call if the Conference can be of any assistance to you in your pursuit of this legislation or any other issues.

Sincerely,

Peg Dorer

MEMORANDUM

March 28, 2007

TO: Senate Judiciary II Committee
FROM: General Statutes Commission
RE: Senate Bill 1026 - Drivers License Issuance/Expiration Dates

General Comments

This bill (i) restores the licensee's birthday as the expiration date of most drivers licenses, (ii) corrects the description of the documents an applicant with legal nonimmigrant status must present to obtain a drivers license, and (iii) allows the Division of Motor Vehicles to cancel the license of a person who is no longer authorized under Federal law to be in the United States.

Specific Comments

Section 1. This section amends G.S. 20-7(f) to restore the licensee's birthday as the expiration date of a drivers license for a person 18 years old or older. When the duration of a drivers license was extended last year in S.L. 2006-257 to eight years, or five years for those 54 or older, the expiration date was changed to be eight (or five) years "after issuance" rather than on the licensee's birthday in the eighth (or fifth) year after issuance. The General Statutes Commission is informed that the change was inadvertent, and the change back to the licensee's birthday was requested by the Division of Motor Vehicles. The section also makes stylistic updates and organizational changes. Section 6 makes this section retroactively effective to January 1, 2007, the effective date of S.L. 2006-257.

Sections 2 and 3. These sections amend G.S. 20-7(f) and (s), respectively, to fix a problem with the documents required to be presented by nonimmigrant applicants for a drivers license to establish that they are legally present in the United States and how long they are authorized to stay. Currently, G.S. 20-7(s) requires such an applicant to present a "visa" from the "Department of Homeland Security," and G.S. 20-7(f) ties the duration of the drivers license to the duration of the visa. There are actually two problems with these provisions. First, the Department of Homeland Security (Homeland Security) does not issue visas; they are issued by the Department of State. Second, a visa issued by the Department of State is not the correct document to establish a person's legal presence in this country or the length of time the person is authorized to be here. Under current Federal law, a visa allows a person to travel to the United States, but it does not guarantee entry. Actual permission to enter is given by Homeland Security, which also fixes the length of the person's stay. Moreover, except for two narrow categories, the citizens of some countries, such as Canada, are not required to have a visa to come to the United States. These persons do not have visas at all, although they receive documentation from or through Homeland Security. Finally, there is no one Homeland Security document that contains the necessary information for every category of legal nonimmigrant. As a result, the amendments in Sections 2 and 3 replace the visa requirement with a generic description ("valid documentation issued by, or under the authority of, the United States government that demonstrates the applicant's legal presence of limited duration in the United States").

Sections 4 and 5

. These sections together authorize Division of Motor Vehicles to cancel a drivers license issued to a legal nonimmigrant if that person's authorization to be in the United States terminates earlier than originally scheduled (for example, a foreign student admitted to a four-year undergraduate program who decides to "drop out" of school after two years). Section 5 amends subsection (a) of G.S. 20-15 ("Authority of Division to cancel license or endorsement") to add this authority; section 5 also makes stylistic updates and organizational changes. Section 4 makes a conforming change to G.S. 20-4.01(2), the definition of "canceled."

Section 6. This section contains effective date and applicability provisions.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT A YOUTHFUL OFFENDER'S CRIMINAL RECORD MAY BE EXPUNGED OF NONVIOLENT FELONIES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Article 5 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 15A-150. Expunction of records for first offenders who are under 18 years of age at the time of the commission of a nonviolent felony.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "nonviolent felony" means any felony except the following:

(1) A Class A through G felony;

(2) A felony that includes assault as an essential element of the offense;

(3) A felony that is an offense for which the convicted offender must register under Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes; and

(4) Any felony offense charged pursuant to Chapter 90 of the General Statutes where the offense involves methamphetamines.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, if a person is convicted of more than one nonviolent felony in the same session of court, then the multiple nonviolent felony convictions shall be treated as one nonviolent felony conviction under this section, and the expunction order issued under this section shall provide that the multiple convictions shall be expunged from the person's record in accordance with this section.

(c) Whenever any person who had not yet attained the age of 18 years at the time of the offense and has not previously been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States, the laws of this State, or any other state pleads guilty to or is guilty of a nonviolent felony, the person may file a petition in the court where the person was convicted for expunction of the nonviolent felony from the person's criminal record. The petition shall not be filed earlier than two years after the date of the conviction or when any active sentence, period of probation, and post-release supervision has been served, whichever occurs later. The person shall also perform at least 100 hours of community service, preferably related to the conviction, before filing a petition for expunction under this section. The petition shall contain the following:

(1) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner has been of good behavior for the two-year period since the date of conviction of the nonviolent felony in question and has not been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States or the laws of this State or any other state.

(2) Verified affidavits of two persons who are not related to the petitioner or to each other by blood or marriage that they know the character and reputation of the petitioner in the community in which the petitioner lives and that the petitioner's character and reputation are good.

(3) A statement that the petition is a motion in the cause in the case wherein the petitioner was convicted.

(4) An application on a form approved by the Administrative Office of the Courts requesting and authorizing a State and national criminal record check by the Department of Justice using any information required by the Administrative Office of the Courts to identify the individual and a search of the confidential records of expunctions maintained by the Administrative Office of the Courts. The application shall be forwarded to the Department of Justice and to the Administrative Office of the Courts to conduct the searches and report the findings to the court.

(5) An affidavit by the petitioner that no restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner are outstanding.

(6) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the conviction for the nonviolent felony. The affidavit shall include a list of the community services performed, a list of the recipients of the services, and a detailed description of those services.

(7) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner possesses a high school diploma or a high school graduation equivalency certificate or that the petitioner is attending a basic skills program in pursuit of a General Education Development Degree or adult high school diploma.

The petition shall be served upon the district attorney of the court wherein the case was tried resulting in conviction. The district attorney shall have 10 days thereafter in which to file any objection thereto and shall be duly notified as to the date of the hearing of the petition. The district attorney shall make his or her best efforts to contact the victim, if any, to notify the victim of the request for expunction prior to the date of the hearing.

The judge to whom the petition is presented may call upon a probation officer for any additional investigation or verification of the petitioner's conduct during the two-year period that the judge deems desirable.

(d) The court shall order that the person be restored, in the contemplation of the law, to the status the person occupied before the arrest or indictment or information if the court finds all of the following after a hearing:

(1) The petitioner has remained of good behavior and has been free of conviction of any felony or misdemeanor, other than a traffic violation, for two years from the date of conviction of the nonviolent felony in question or any active sentence, period of probation, or post-release supervision has been served, whichever is later.

(2) The petitioner has not previously been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States, the laws of this State, or any other state.

(3) The petitioner has no outstanding restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner.

(4) The petitioner was less than 18 years old at the time of the commission of the offense in question.

(5) The petitioner has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the time of the conviction and possesses a high school diploma or high school graduation equivalency certificate or is attending a program in pursuit of a General Education Development Degree or adult high school diploma.

(6) The search of the confidential records of expunctions conducted by the Administrative Office of the Courts shows that the petitioner has not been previously granted an expunction.

No person as to whom an order has been entered pursuant to this subsection shall be held thereafter under any provision of any laws to be guilty of perjury or otherwise giving a false statement by reason of that person's failure to recite or acknowledge the arrest, indictment, information, trial, or conviction.

(e) The court shall also order that the nonviolent felony conviction be expunged from the records of the court and direct all law enforcement agencies bearing record of the same to expunge their records of the conviction. The clerk shall forward a certified copy of the order to the sheriff, chief of police, or other arresting agency. The sheriff, chief, or head of any other arresting agency shall then transmit the copy of the order with a form supplied by the State Bureau of Investigation to the State Bureau of Investigation, and the State Bureau of Investigation shall forward the order to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

(f) Any other applicable State or local government agency shall expunge from its records entries made as a result of the conviction ordered expunged under this section. The agency shall also reverse any administrative actions taken against a person whose record is expunged under this section as a result of the charges or convictions expunged.

This subsection shall not apply to the Department of Justice for DNA records and samples stored in the State DNA Database and the State DNA Databank.

(g) The clerk of superior court in each county in North Carolina shall, as soon as practicable after each term of court in the clerk's county, file with the Administrative Office of the Courts the names of those persons granted a discharge under the provisions of this section, and the Administrative Office of the Courts shall maintain a confidential file containing the names of persons granted conditional discharges. The information contained in the file shall be disclosed only to judges of the General Court of Justice of North Carolina for the purpose of ascertaining whether any person charged with an offense has been previously granted a discharge.

(h) Any person eligible for expunction of a criminal record under this section shall be notified about the provisions of this section by the probation officer assigned to that person. If no probation officer is assigned, notification of the provisions of this section shall be provided by the court at the time of the conviction of the felony which is to be expunged under this section.

(i) A person who files a petition for expunction of a criminal record under this section shall pay the clerk of superior court a fee of one hundred dollars ($100.00) at the time the petition is filed. Fees collected under this subsection shall be deposited in the General Fund. This subsection does not apply to petitions filed by an indigent."

SECTION 2. This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and expires December 1, 2014.

SENATE BILL 677:
Expunge Nonviolent Felony/Youthful Offender

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 2, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Berger of Franklin	Summary by:	Ben Popkin
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 677 would provide for the expunction of a nonviolent felony conviction from the criminal record of an offender who was under the age of 18 at the time of the commission of the nonviolent felony. A petition for expunction may not be filed earlier than two years after the latter or either the date of the conviction or the completion of the active sentence, period of probation, or post- release supervision. The petition shall include affidavits supporting the following: completion of 100 hours of community service, no prior or subsequent felony or misdemeanor convictions (other than traffic violations), no outstanding restitution orders or civil judgments, and possession or current pursuit of a high school diploma or General Education Development (GED) Degree.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to H898, as introduced by Reps. Bordsen, Crawford, Hall, Jones, which is currently in House Juvenile Justice.]

CURRENT LAW: Article 5 of the Criminal Procedure Act provides for the expunction of criminal records of certain criminal charges or convictions. Expunction is the process by which a record of criminal conviction is removed by order of the court, and the individual is restored to the status he or she occupied before the arrest or indictment. General Statute 15A-145 (Expunction of records for first offenders under the age of 18 at the time of conviction of misdemeanor; expunction of certain other misdemeanors) allows a person convicted of a misdemeanor to file a petition for expunction of the misdemeanor from his or her criminal record if the person was under 18 at the time of a conviction or, in the case of a misdemeanor alcohol possession charge, the person was under 21 at the time of conviction. The petition may not be filed sooner than two years after the conviction or completion of probation and must include the following [1]:

1) an affidavit of good behavior for the two years following conviction, stating that the petitioner has not been convicted of any felony or non-traffic misdemeanor charge;

2) two affidavits of good character from persons unrelated to the petitioner;

3) a statement that the petition is a motion in the cause in the case wherein the petitioner was convicted; and

4) affidavits of the clerk of superior court, chief of police, and sheriff of the county of the offense and where the petitioner resides showing that petitioner has not been convicted of a felony or non-traffic misdemeanor offense prior to or in the two years since the conviction in question.

If the court finds in favor of the petitioner, the clerk of superior court and the appropriate law enforcement agencies must expunge the record of the conviction.

Other sections of Article 5 provide for "Expunction of records when charges are dismissed or there are finding of not guilty as a result of identity fraud"[2], "Expunction of DNA records when charges are dismissed on appeal or pardon of innocence is granted"[3], and "Expunction of records when pardon of innocence is granted."[4]

[1] G.S. 15A-145(a)(1) through (4).
[2] G.S. 15A-147.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would add a new section to Article 5 "Expunction of Records" of Chapter 15A "Criminal Procedure Act" of the General Statutes. The proposed G.S. 15A-150 would allow for the expunction of a nonviolent felony from the criminal records of a first time offender who is under 18 years of age at the time of the commission of the nonviolent felony if the person has no previous or subsequent felony or misdemeanor convictions, other than traffic violations. "Nonviolent felony" would include any felony except the following:

- A Class A through G felony;
- A felony that includes assault as an essential element of the offense;
- A felony that is an offense for which the convicted offender must register under Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes (sex offenders); and
- Any Chapter 90 felony offense involving methamphetamines.

If the person is convicted of more than one nonviolent felony in the same session of court, the bill provides that the multiple nonviolent felony convictions shall be treated as one nonviolent felony conviction and be expunged from the person's record by the expunction order issued under this section.

The procedure to be followed by the petitioner is modeled along the lines of the existing procedures for expunction of records. The petition may not be filed earlier than two years after the date of conviction or after the time that any active sentence, period of probation, or post-release supervision has been served, whichever occurs later. The petitioner is also required to perform at least 100 hours of community service before filing the petition for expunction.

The petition must contain at least the following:

1) An affidavit of good behavior by the petitioner for the two years following conviction, stating that the petitioner has not been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor charge, other than traffic violations, under the laws of the United States, this State or any other state during that time;

2) Two affidavits of good character from persons unrelated to petitioner;

3) A statement that the petition is a motion in the cause in the case wherein the petitioner was convicted;

4) An application authorizing a State and national criminal record check by the Department of Justice with the results reported to the court;

5) An affidavit by the petitioner that no restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner are outstanding;

6) An affidavit by the petitioner that he or she has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the conviction with a list of the community services performed, a list of the recipients of the services, and a detailed description of the services; and

(7) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner possesses a high school diploma or high school graduation equivalency certificate or is pursuing a high school diploma or GED.

[3] G.S. 15A-148.
[4] G.S. 15A-149.

The petition is served on the district attorney, who has 10 days to file any objections. The district attorney is directed to contact the victim, if any, to notify the victim of the request for expunction prior to the hearing date. The judge is authorized to call upon a probation officer for any additional investigation or verification of the petitioner's conduct. If the judge finds that the petitioner has met all of the requirements, the judge shall order that the petitioner be restored to the status he or she had before the arrest or indictment. The judge shall also order that the nonviolent felony conviction be expunged from the records of the court and direct all law enforcement agencies to expunge their records, including the State Bureau of Investigation and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Department of Justice DNA records and samples stored in the State DNA database and the State DNA Databank, however, shall not be expunged or destroyed as a result of any order for expunction of records issued under this section.

Any other applicable State or local government agency is directed to expunge from its records any entries made as a result of the conviction order expunged under this section. The agency is required to also reverse any administrative actions taken against a person whose record is expunged under this section.

The clerk of superior court in each North Carolina county shall file with the Administrative Offices of the Court the names of those persons granted a discharge under the provisions of this section and the Administrative Offices of the Courts must maintain a confidential file containing the names of persons granted conditional discharges. This information can only be disclosed to judges of the General Court of Justice of North Carolina for the purpose of determining if any person charged with an offense has been previously given a discharge.

If a probation officer is assigned to a person eligible for expunction, the probation officer must notify the person of the provisions of this section. If no probation officer is assigned, then the court which heard the felony must provide notification of the possibility of expunction under this section.

The bill would set the filing fee for the expunction petition at $100.00 unless the petitioner is indigent. Fees collected would be deposited into the General Fund.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill would become effective December 1, 2007 and would expire December 1, 2014.

The deceased beneficiary's issue shall take the deceased beneficiary's share in the same manner that the issue would take as heirs of the deceased beneficiary under the intestacy provisions in effect at the time of the settlor's death. The provisions of this section apply whether the disposition of property is to an individual, to a class, or is a part of the residue of the trust. Property prevented from passing to the former spouse because of revocation by divorce or absolute annulment passes as if the former spouse failed to survive the settlor, and other provisions conferring some power or office on the former spouse are interpreted as if the former spouse failed to survive the settlor. If provisions are revoked solely by this section, they are revived by the settlor's remarriage to the former spouse. The objection must be by written instrument delivered to the trustee.

(c) A trustee may act under subsection (a) or (b) of this section with respect to a trust for which both income and principal have been set aside permanently for charitable purposes under the governing instrument and for which a federal estate or gift tax deduction has been taken, provided ~~that:~~ that all of the following apply:

(1) Instead of sending written notice to the persons described in subdivisions (2) and (3) of subsection (a) of this section or subdivisions ~~(2)~~ (3) and ~~(3)~~ (4) of subsection (b) of this section, as the case may be, the trustee shall send written notice to ~~the named charity or charities~~ each charitable organization expressly designated ~~then entitled~~ to receive the income of the trust under the governing instrument and, if no ~~named charity or charities are~~ charitable organization is expressly designated ~~entitled~~ to receive all of the income of the trust under the governing instrument, to the Attorney General of this ~~State;~~ State.

"§ 37A-1-104.3. Conversion with court approval.

(a) If any trustee desires to (i) convert an income trust to a total return unitrust, (ii) reconvert a total return unitrust to an income trust, or (iii) change the percentage used to calculate the unitrust amount or the method used to determine the fair market value of the trust but does not have the ability to or elects not to do it under ~~G.S. 36A-1-104.2,~~ G.S. 37A-1-104.2, the trustee may petition the court for an order as the trustee considers appropriate. In the event, however, there is only one trustee of the trust and the trustee is an interested trustee or in the event there are two or more trustees of the trust and a majority of them are interested trustees, the court, in its own discretion or on the petition of the trustee or trustees or any person interested in the trust, may appoint a disinterested person who, acting in a fiduciary capacity, shall present information to the court as shall be necessary to enable the court to make its determinations under this Part.

If the trustee does not take the action requested, the ~~competent~~ qualified beneficiary or a representative of the qualified beneficiary may petition the court to order the trustee to take the action.

(c) All proceedings under this section shall be conducted as provided in ~~Article 3 of Chapter 36A of the General Statutes.~~ Article 2 of Chapter 36C of the General Statutes."

SECTION 48. G.S. 37A-1-104.4 (a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) The fair market value of the trust shall be determined at least annually, using a valuation date selected by the trustee in its discretion. The trustee, in its discretion, may use an average of the fair market value on the same valuation date for the current fiscal year and not more than three preceding fiscal years, if the use of this average appears desirable to reduce the impact of fluctuations in market value on the unitrust amount. Assets for which a fair market value cannot be readily ascertained shall be valued using valuation methods as are considered reasonable and appropriate by the trustee. Assets, such as a residence or tangible personal property, used by the trust beneficiary ~~also~~ may be excluded from the fair market value for computing the unitrust amount."

SECTION 49. G.S. 37A-1-104.4 (b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) The percentage to be used in determining the unitrust amount shall be a reasonable current return from the trust, in any event not less than three percent (3%) nor more than five percent (5%), taking into account the intentions of the ~~grantor~~ settlor of the trust as expressed in the governing instrument, the needs of the beneficiaries, general economic conditions, projected current earnings and appreciation for the trust, and projected inflation and its impact on the trust."

SECTION 49.1. G.S. 37A-1-104.7 is repealed.

SECTION 50. G.S. 37A-1-104.9 reads as rewritten:

"§ 37A-1-104.9. Applicability.

This Part shall apply to all trusts in existence on, or created after January 1, 2004, unless (i) the governing instrument contains a provision clearly expressing the ~~grantor's~~ settlor's intention that the current beneficiary or beneficiaries are to receive an amount other than a reasonable current return from the trust, (ii) the trust is a trust described in section 170(f)(2)(B), section 664(d), section 2702(a)(3), or section 2702(b) of the Code, (iii) the trust is a trust under which any amount is, or has been in the past, set aside permanently for charitable purposes unless the income from the trust also is devoted permanently to charitable purposes, or (iv) the governing instrument expressly prohibits use of this Part by specific reference to this Part, or expressly states the ~~grantor's~~ settlor's intent that net income not be calculated as a unitrust amount. A provision in the governing instrument that "the provisions of Part 2 of Article 1 of Chapter 37A of the General Statutes or any corresponding provision of future law, shall not be used in the administration of this trust." or "the trustee shall not determine the distributions to the income beneficiary as a unitrust amount." or similar words reflecting that intent is sufficient to preclude the use of this Part."

SECTION 51. G.S. 53-163.2 reads as rewritten:

"§ 53-163.2. Investments in securities by banks or trust companies.

Unless the governing instrument, court order, or a statute specifically directs otherwise, a bank or trust company serving as trustee, guardian, agent, or in any other fiduciary capacity may invest in any security authorized by this Chapter even if such fiduciary or an affiliate ~~thereof, as defined in G.S. 36A-60(1),~~ thereof participates or has participated as a member of a syndicate underwriting such security, if:

(1) The fiduciary does not purchase the security from itself or its affiliate; and

(2) The fiduciary does not purchase the security from another syndicate member or an affiliate, pursuant to an implied or express agreement between the fiduciary or its affiliate and a selling member or its affiliate, to purchase all or part of each other's underwriting commitments."

SECTION 52. G.S. 35A-1251(24) reads as rewritten:

"§ 35A-1251. Guardian's powers in administering incompetent ward's estate.

In the case of an incompetent ward, a general guardian or guardian of the estate has the power to perform in a reasonable and prudent manner every act that a reasonable and prudent person would perform incident to the collection, preservation, management, and use of the ward's estate to accomplish the desired result of administering the ward's estate legally and in the ward's best interest, including but not limited to the following specific powers:

(24) To petition the court for ~~prior~~ approval ~~of transfers of assets of the ward~~ of the exercise of any of the following powers with respect to a revocable trust ~~executed by the ward~~ that the ward, if competent, ~~prior to the ward being declared incompetent, provided that the ward executed a paper writing with all the formalities required by the laws of North Carolina for the execution of a valid will prior to the ward being declared incompetent and that will directs that the assets that are being transferred to the trust are to be distributed to the trust at the ward's death or the revocable trust has the same dispositive provisions as the ward's will or provides that the assets in the trust are to be distributed to the ward's estate upon the death of the ward. The guardian may at any time withdraw any assets (or the proceeds of the sale of any assets) transferred by the guardian to the trust upon 30 days' written notice to the trustee of the trust; provided, however, no assets which have been distributed or otherwise disposed of by the trustee (before the notice is received by the trustee) in accordance with the terms of the trust can be so withdrawn.~~ could exercise as settlor of the revocable trust:

a. Revocation of the trust.

b. Amendment of the trust.

c. Additions to the trust.

d. Direction to dispose of property of the trust.

e. The creation of the trust, notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 36C-4-402(a)(1) and (2).

The exercise of the powers described in this subdivision (i) shall not alter the designation of beneficiaries to receive property on the ward's death under that ward's existing estate plan; and (ii) shall be subject to the provisions of Articles 17, 18, and 19 of this Chapter concerning gifts."

SECTION 53. This act becomes effective October 1, 2007, and applies to (i) all trusts created before, on, or after that date; (ii) all judicial proceedings concerning trusts commenced on or after that date; and (iii) all judicial proceedings concerning trusts commenced before that date unless the court finds that application of a particular provision of this act would substantially interfere with the effective conduct of the judicial proceedings or prejudice the rights of the parties, in which case the law as it existed on September 30, 2007, shall apply.

SENATE BILL 947:
Uniform Trust Code Changes

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 2, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Hagan	Summary by:	Kory Goldsmith Committee Co-Counsel
Version:	First Edition

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 947 makes conforming, technical, and substantive changes to Chapter 36C, the Uniform Trust Code, and to related statutes. The bill comes as a recommendation of the North Carolina Bar Association. This summary is substantially based upon information provided by the Bar Association.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Sections 1 and 1.2 correct statutory citations.

Section 1.1 creates a new Article 2C in Chapter 32A regarding limitations on authority of an attorney-in-fact. The provisions explicitly prohibit an attorney-in-fact from performing duties under a personal services contract of the principal, from making an affidavit as to the personal knowledge of the principal, from voting on behalf of the principal in a public election, from executing or revoking a will or codicil for the principal, or from exercising the powers of a revocable trust to alter the designation of beneficiaries.

Section 2 amends G.S. 36C-1-103 to add to the list of definitions in Chapter 36C the definition of "principal place of administration" which appears in current G.S. 36C-2-204 relating to venue and to make that definition applicable with respect to other matters under Chapter 36C.

Section 3 amends G.S. 36C-1-105(b) to add a new mandatory rule that provides that the powers granted under 36C-6-602A cannot be exercised by an agent acting under a power of attorney in a manner that alters the designation of beneficiaries to receive property on the settlor's death.

Section 4 amends G.S. 36C-1-107(b) to clarify that North Carolina law governs rights of third parties dealing with a trust, even though the law of another jurisdiction may govern the rights of settlors, trustees, and beneficiaries.

Section 5 amends G.S. 36C-1-109(a) to make the current provisions in G.S. 32-55(d) relating to when notice is given to beneficiaries for purposes of trustee compensation applicable to notice to beneficiaries with respect to other matters under Chapter 36C in order to make uniform in the General Statutes the provisions concerning notices to beneficiaries of a trust.

Section 6 amends G.S. 36C-2-203(a)(1) to clarify that the clerk of court's exclusive jurisdiction to remove a trustee includes a removal of trustee action filed under G.S. 36C-4-414(b). The purpose of this revision is to make clear that a G.S. 36C-4-414(b) proceeding is not brought as a civil action in superior court. It amends G.S. 36C-2-203(a)(2) to clarify that the clerk of court may approve a trustee resignation if a resignation is put before the clerk. The reference to renunciation is deleted as it is not necessary for a trustee to obtain approval from a clerk to renounce. It also amends G.S. 36C-2-203(a)(9) to clarify that matters filed before the clerk of court under subdivision (a)(9) may be transferred out of the clerk's exclusive jurisdiction to superior court by any party. The clerk of court does not have the authority to prevent such a transfer from occurring.

Section 7 amends G.S. 36C-2-203(c) to clarify that notwithstanding the exclusive jurisdiction granted to the clerk of court under subdivision (a)(9), a party always has the ability to file a declaratory judgment action regarding the same matter in superior court if the matter also falls within the purview of the Declaratory Judgment Act.

Section 8 amends G.S. 36C-2-204 to delete the definition of "principal place of administration" which is being added to the list of definitions appearing in G.S. 36C-1-103. In addition, the words "or action" have been stricken to make the language consistent with the statutory definition of "proceeding," which includes an action.

Section 9 amends G.S. 36C-2-205 to add a new subsection (g1) to clarify how a notice to transfer a proceeding brought before the clerk under G.S. 36C-2-203(a)(9) to superior court must be filed and served.

Section 9.1 creates a new subsection (i) to G.S. 36C-2-205 to provide that the Attorney General shall be given notice of every trust proceeding related to a charitable trust and may participate in the action.

Section 10 amends G.S. 36C-2-205(h) to clarify that the subsection applies to transfers of clerk matters to superior court.

Section 11 amends G.S. 36C-3-303 to make clear that (i) representation does not apply to matters outside the trust and (ii) the trustee may not bind a beneficiary in matters concerning a dispute with the trustee. In addition, subsection (2) of G.S. 36C-3-303 is deleted because of the limited powers conferred upon a guardian of the person under Chapter 35A.

Sections 12 and 13 amend G.S. 36C-3-304 and G.S. 36C-3-305 to change the word "incapacitated" to "incompetent" in order to be consistent with other Code references. In addition, the phrase "with respect to the particular question or dispute" is added to clarify that the conflict of interest must be with respect to the particular question or dispute.

Section 14 amends G.S. 36C-4-401 which currently provides that a trust may be created by "other dispositions taking effect upon the settlor's death." It is revised to clarify that dispositions include devises and bequests to trustees as provided in G.S. 31-47 and the designation of the trust as beneficiary of death benefits as provided in G.S. 36C-4-401.1.

Section 15 amends G.S. 36C-4-409 to clarify how assets in a noncharitable trust without an ascertainable beneficiary are distributed upon termination of the trust.

Section 16 amends G.S. 36C-4-410(b) to clarify that there is no requirement that a trust combination or division under G.S. 36C-4-417 must be accomplished by judicial order.

Section 17 amends G.S. 36C-4-411 to (i) clarify the procedure that must be followed to obtain court appointment of a guardian ad litem for a non-judicial modification or termination of a trust where Article 3 representation cannot be had and (ii) make clear that a guardian of a settlor may consent to certain trust modifications without revoking a power of attorney granted by the settlor to another person. In addition, subdivision (3) of G.S. 36C-4-411(a) is deleted because of the limited powers conferred on a guardian of the person under Chapter 35A. It is also amended to add new subsections (f) and (g). These subsections were part of North Carolina's old Modification and Termination of Irrevocable Trust Act (former G.S. 36A-125.5) and were inadvertently left out of the Uniform Trust Code.

Section 17.1 removes the requirement of notification of the Attorney General in a Cy pres proceeding. Notification of the AG is placed in G.S. 36C-2-205, Section 7.1 of this bill.

Section 18 amends G.S. 36C-G.S. 36C-4-418 to (i) clarify which specific statutes and subsections are subject to the rules in this statute governing distribution of assets upon termination of a trust and (ii) to delete the language regarding distributing trust property for a minor to a guardian, UTMA account or Chapter 33B custodial account. This language already appears in 36C-8-816.

Section 19 amends G.S. 36C-5-501(b) to clarify that subsection (a) concerning the rights of creditors to reach a beneficiary's interest do not apply to the extent that the beneficiary's interest is "protected or restricted by" a spendthrift provision, discretionary trust interest or protective trust interest. Article 5 of Chapter 36C provides for exceptions to protection of the beneficiary's interest. It was thought that the current wording of G.S. 36C-5-501(b) without the added words "protected or restricted by" could be construed as indicating that these exceptions did not apply to subsection (a).

Section 20 amends G.S. 36C-5-505(a) by adding a new subdivision (2a) to clarify that the trustee's discretionary authority to pay the tax on a trust's income or principal payable by the settlor is not an amount that can be distributed to or for the settlor's benefit within the meaning of G.S. 36C-5-505(a)(2a). In addition, the phrase "subject to other applicable law" was added at the beginning of subsection (a) in order to make clear that adoption of the Uniform Trust Code does not change existing North Carolina law on exemptions from creditors such as life insurance and homestead protections. In addition, G.S. 36C-5-505(b) is rewritten to clarify the meaning with respect to powers of withdrawal over property exercisable by a holder of the power other than the settlor.

Sections 21-23 repeal G.S. 36C-6-602(e) and (f) relating to the exercise of the settlor's powers by an agent or guardian with respect to the revocation and amendment of a revocable trust and distribution of the trust property. These provisions are restated in a new section G.S. 36C-6-602A. In addition, the new section G.S. 36C-6-602A clarifies that an agent may exercise a settlor's powers with respect to "additions to" a revocable trust and also provides that an agent may exercise the settlor's powers with respect to creation of a revocable trust. A general guardian or guardian of the estate may exercise the powers of the settlor with respect to a revocable trust as provided in G.S. 35A-1251(24). These provisions are placed in the new section G.S. 36C-6-602A because they deal with more than just revocation or amendment of a revocable trust which is the subject of G.S. 36C-6-602.

Section 24 amends G.S. 36C-6-603 to (i) revise the title to clarify the effect of the statute and (ii) to make clear that a third party who takes a direction from a person who is both a settlor and trustee of a revocable trust may rely on that direction as that of a settlor with the power to control that revocable trust.

Section 25 creates G.S. 36C-6-605 which makes the anti-lapse statute applicable to trusts. The statute sets the rules governing how a devise to a beneficiary of a revocable trust will be distributed (absent contrary intent in the terms of the trust) if the beneficiary predeceases the settlor.

Section 26 creates G.S. 36C-6-606 makes applicable to revocable trusts the rule that provisions in a will in favor of a spouse are revoked if the testator and the spouse divorce.

Section 26.1 creates G.S. 36C-6-607 which clarifies that a revocable trust may be modified by court order, but the settler is a necessary party.

Sections 27-29 amend G.S. 36C-7-703 to clarify the authority of multiple trustees. As revised, all trustees must exercise reasonable care with respect to actions of other trustees. A co-trustee who does not join in an action by other trustees, however, is not liable for that action. A trustee who is outvoted will not be liable for acquiescing (for example, by signing a deed the majority wants to sign) unless the outvoted trustee knows the majority action involves intentional misconduct or improper benefits to other trustees.

Section 30 amends G.S. 36C-7-704(d) to clarify that if a trust is a split-interest trust, the qualified beneficiaries (both charitable beneficiaries and individual beneficiaries) have the right to appoint a successor trustee by majority vote.

Section 31 amends G.S. 36C-8-802(d) to clarify that although a trustee's duties to a beneficiary extend to dealings outside the trust, the trustee may provide goods or services to the beneficiary outside the trust in the ordinary course of business on terms and conditions similar to those offered trustee's other customers.

Section 32 amends G.S. 36C-8-802(f)(1) to clarify that if a trust invests in a fund, that fund may receive services from the trustee's affiliate as well as the trustee, and further clarify that a trustee or an affiliate who provides services to the fund may receive compensation for those services, provided that the investment meets the requirements of the prudent investor rule. G.S. 36C-8-802(f)(2) is also amended to clarify that reasonable compensation for services rendered to a trust needs to be standard, but not necessarily standard in the community. (A trust might be in a place where those services are not usually rendered).

Section 33 amends G.S. 36C-8-802(h) to clarify that the general fairness standard applies to transactions between trusts, and that other specific statutory standards apply to particular dealings between trustee and beneficiary.

Section 34 amends G.S. 36C-8-808 to (i) clarify that a settlor's power to direct a revocable trust includes a direction the trust does not specifically authorize and (ii) to insert a missing word.

Section 34.1 amends G.S. 36C-8.810(d) to allow a trustee to invest and administer the assets of more than one trust provided the trustee keeps separate records.

Section 35 amends G.S. 36C-8-813 to clarify a beneficiary's rights to information about the trust. All current beneficiaries must receive a regular statement. But all "qualified beneficiaries" (current beneficiaries and remaindermen) can receive information on request. The act also repeals subsection (d) making the provisions applicable to all trusts regardless of when the trust was created.

Section 36 amends G.S. 36C-8-814(b) to clarify that an express reference to this subsection must be made for its rules not to apply and to add subsection (b)(4) the provisions of which appeared in the prior statute dealing with the same subject and was inadvertently omitted in bringing forward prior provisions.

Section 37 amends G.S. 36C-8-816(19) thru (19c) to clarify that a trustee may guarantee loans and pledge property to guarantee loans made to any beneficiary or to an enterprise in which the beneficiary has an ownership interest. Also amends subdivision (21) to clarify that a trustee would have the power to apply distributions for a beneficiary's benefit even though the beneficiary may not be under a legal disability except that a beneficiary must consent to the application for the beneficiary's benefit of any amount required to be paid to the beneficiary.

Section 37.1 creates 36C-9-903A regarding a trustee's duties as to a contract of life insurance on the life of the settlor. These provisions are identical to current G.S. 32-71(c) and (d) which are repealed later in this act.

Sections 38- 42 regarding Article 6 of Chapter 32 relating to trustee compensation is revised generally to make uniform the provisions in the General Statutes concerning notices to beneficiaries of trusts. Specifically:

> Section 38 amends G.S. 32-53 and the definitions of "beneficiary" and "representative" to whom notice must be given to conform these definitions to the clearer and more comprehensive provisions in Chapter 36C.
> Section 39 and 41 amend G.S. 32-55(c) to make the provisions concerning when notice is deemed given the same as provided in Chapter 37A concerning the notice when a trust is proposed to be converted to a total return trust. G.S. 32-55(d) is amended to make the provisions of G.S. 36C-1-109 regarding notices apply for purposes of Article 6 of Chapter 32. G.S. 32-55(a) and 32-57 are revised to clarify that those provisions apply only if the terms of the trust do not specify a trustee's compensation.
> Section 40 amends G.S. 32-56 to clarify who may initiate a proceeding under G.S. 32-57 for review of the reasonableness of a trustee's compensation if the terms of the trust do not specify compensation.
> Section 42 amends G.S. 32-58 to add provisions concerning reimbursement for expenses and liens which were part of the Uniform Trust Code that should have been made a part of Chapter 32.

Section 43 repeals G.S. 32-71(c) and (d) regarding a trustee's responsibility regarding a life insurance contract on the life of the settlor. This language is moved to Section 37.1 of this act.

Section 44 amends G.S. 37A-1-104(c)(8) to permit a trustee to make an adjustment between income and principal when trustee compensation is defined as a percentage of trust income. Total return investing pursuant to the prudent investor rule recognized by Chapter 37A can result in a substantial reduction in (i) distributions to beneficiaries entitled to receive the trust's ordinary income and (ii) trustee's fees calculated as a percentage of such income. To enable the trustee to invest for total return without having to realize a portion of the return in the form of ordinary income, Chapter 37A authorizes adjustments between income and principal with respect to income beneficiaries, and for the same reasons the same kind of adjustment should be authorized with respect to trustee's fees calculated on income although fees so calculated are now rare.

Sections 45-46 amend Part 2 of Chapter 37A, Conversion to Unitrust, generally to make uniform in the General Statutes the provisions concerning notices to beneficiaries of trusts. Specifically, in G.S. 37A-1-104.1, the definitions of beneficiaries of a trust to whom notices must be given and who may represent the beneficiaries is revised to conform these provisions to those in Chapter 36C. The revised definitions are applied throughout Part 2. Also G.S. 37A-1-104.2(d) is added to make the provisions regarding notices to beneficiaries in Chapter 36C apply to Part 2.

Section 47 amends G.S. 37A-1-104.3 to correct an incorrect citation and insert correct terminology.

Section 48 amends G.S. 37A-1-104.4 to clarify that assets such as a residence or tangible personal property used by the beneficiary may be excluded from the trustee's annual calculation of the fair market value of the trust property.

Section 49 amends G.S. 37A-1-104.4(b) to correct some terminology.

Section 49.1 repeals G.S. 37A-1-104.7 regarding marital deduction trusts. Existing law gave the spouse the right to compel for the spouse's lifetime a conversion of the trust from an income trust to a total return unitrust or the reconversion of the trust from a total return unitrust to an income trust.

Section 50 amends G.S. 37A-1-104.9 to correct some terminology.

Section 51 amends G.S. 53-163.2 to correct an incorrect citation.

Section 52 amends G.S. 35A-1251(24) to allow a guardian of the estate to petition the court for approval to allow the guardian of the estate to revoke or amend a revocable trust created by the guardian's ward, to make additions to or withdrawals from any such trust or to distribute property from the trust. The guardian of the estate cannot exercise these powers in a manner that would alter the designation of beneficiaries to receive the ward's property upon the ward's death.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act becomes effective October 1, 2007, and applies to all trusts created before, on, or after that date; all judicial proceedings concerning trusts commenced on or after that date; and all judicial proceedings concerning trusts commenced before that date unless the application of the act would substantially interfere with the effective conduct of the court or prejudice the rights of the parties, in which case the law as it existed on September 30, 2007 shall apply.

Referred to:	Judiciary ll (Criminal).

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT MODIFYING THE PUBLIC RECORDS LAWS APPLICABLE TO THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, TO PROTECT THE PRIVACY OF APPLICANTS WHO ARE NOT ADMITTED OR WHO DO NOT ENROLL, AND TO PROVIDE THAT CERTAIN AUDIT RECORDS ARE PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 132-1.1 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(f) Personally Identifiable Admissions Information. – Records maintained by the University of North Carolina, any of its constituent institutions, or by any community college, which contain personally identifiable information from or about an applicant for admission to one or more constituent institutions of the University or to one or more community colleges shall be confidential and shall not be subject to public disclosure pursuant to G.S. 132-6(a). Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, any letter of recommendation or record containing a communication from an elected official to the University of North Carolina, any of its constituent institutions, or to a community college, concerning an applicant for admission who has not enrolled as a student shall be considered a public record subject to disclosure pursuant to G.S. 132-6(a). Nothing in this subsection is intended to limit the disclosure of public records that do not contain personally identifiable information including aggregated data, guidelines, instructions, summaries, or reports that do not contain personally identifiable information or from which it is feasible to redact any personally identifiable information that the record contains."

SECTION 2. G.S. 116-40.7(c) reads as rewritten:

"(c) An internal auditor shall maintain, for 10 years, a complete file of all audit reports and reports of other examinations, investigations, surveys, and reviews issued under the internal auditor's authority. Audit work papers and other evidence and related supportive material directly pertaining to the work of that auditor's office shall be retained in accordance with Chapter 132 of the General Statutes. To promote cooperation and avoid unnecessary duplication of audit effort, audit work papers related to issued audit reports shall be, unless otherwise prohibited by law, made available for inspection by duly authorized representatives of the State and federal governments in connection with some matter officially before them. Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, or upon subpoena issued by a duly authorized court or court official, audit work papers shall be kept confidential and shall not be open to examination or inspection under ~~G.S. 132-6.~~ G.S. 132-6 until completion of the audit report that is based on the working paper. Audit reports and the working papers on which they are based shall be public records subject to examination and inspection to the extent that they do not include information that, under State ~~laws,~~ law, is confidential and exempt from Chapter 132 of the General Statutes or would compromise the security systems of The University of North Carolina. At the time that audit working papers are made available for public examination or inspection, the custodian of the audit working paper may redact the name and personally identifying information of any whistleblower or other person who has initiated an allegation of a violation or impropriety if that person requests that the person's name and personally identifying information be kept confidential."

SECTION 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

SENATE BILL 543:
UNC Public Records Amendments.-AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 5, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Hartsell	Summary by:	Kory Goldsmith Committee Counsel
Version:	First Edition

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 543 would exempt from public disclosure documents related to applications for admission to The University of North Carolina (UNC) or the North Carolina Community College system from public disclosure if the documents contain personally identifiable information. It would also amend G.S. 116-40.7 to make working papers of completed UNC audit reports subject to public disclosure.

CURRENT LAW:

Public Records - All documents, papers, letters, maps, books, photographs, films, sound recordings, magnetic or other tapes, electronic data-processing records, artifacts, or other documentary material, regardless of physical form or characteristics, made or received pursuant to law or ordinance in connection with the transaction of public business by any agency of North Carolina government or its subdivisions are considered to be public records.[1] Public records are the property of the people of North Carolina and, unless otherwise designated, are open for inspection and review.

Student records - Most documents related to applications for admission to The University of North Carolina or a North Carolina community college are considered to be public records.[2] A student's educational records are not required to be disclosed because they are protected by The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA).[3] However, under FERPA, an applicant is not considered a "student" until the applicant is admitted to and attends the institution.[4] Once an applicant is admitted and attends, that student's application records become "educational records," and are protected from disclosure. Application materials of applicants who are denied admission, who are admitted but do not enroll, whose applications are still under consideration, or who have been admitted but have not yet enrolled are not protected by FERPA.

Materials received from another educational institution, such as high school transcripts and counselor and teacher recommendations, are protected by FERPA.[5] Designated identifying information such as social security numbers and credit card numbers are required to be kept confidential under State law.[6]

Internal Audits of The University of North Carolina - G.S. 116-40.7 requires The University of North Carolina to have an internal auditor to provide independent reviews and analyses of various functions and programs within the UNC system. The purpose of the audits is to provide management information to promote accountability, integrity, and efficiency. The completed audit reports are public records open to inspection and review, the working papers are not confidential and not subject to disclosure.

[6] See NCGS §132-1.10(b) and §14-113.20(b).

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 would amend G.S. 132-1.1 to exempt from public disclosure records maintained by UNC, its constitute institutions, the Community Colleges System Office and community colleges, if the records contain personally identifiable information from or about an applicant for admission. A letter or communication from an elected official concerning an applicant for admission would be subject to disclosure.

Section 2 would amend G.S. 116-40.7(c) to provide that the work papers that are the basis for an audit report will be open to inspection and review, but only after the audit report has been completed. It would also allow the custodian of the work papers to redact the name and personally identifying information of any person who initiated an allegation of a violation or impropriety if that person requests that his or her name and personally identifying information be kept confidential.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law.

"§ 93-13. Violation of Chapter; penalty.

~~Any violation of the provisions of this Chapter shall be deemed a Class 3 misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof the guilty party shall only be fined not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) and not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each offense.~~A violation of G.S. 93-3, 93-4, 93-5, or 93-6 shall be a Class 1 misdemeanor. SENATE BILL 777:
Amend CPA Criminal Punishment

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 3, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Goodall	Summary by:	Jennifer McGinnis
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 777 would increase the criminal penalty for the unlawful use of the title "certified public accountant" (CPA) from a Class 3 misdemeanor to a Class 1 misdemeanor.

CURRENT LAW: Chapter 93 of the General Statutes, which governs the certification and practice of accounting, provides that use of the title "certified public accountant" without a certificate of qualification to practice as a CPA is a Class 3 misdemeanor. A violation is punishable only by a fine of not less than $100.00 and not more than $1,000.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would amend G.S. 93-13 to change the criminal punishment for violation of statutes governing the unlawful use of the title "certified public accountant" by an individual, firm, or corporation, from a Class 3 misdemeanor to a Class 1 misdemeanor. Under the bill, each violation constitutes a distinct and separate offense.

BACKGROUND: Under Structured Sentencing, unless otherwise specified, punishment for a Class 1 misdemeanor, depending on prior conviction history, ranges from a minimum of 1 to 45 days of community punishment up to a maximum of 1 to 120 days of community, intermediate, or active punishment, and unlimited fines in the discretion of the court.

Increasing the punishment for violation of these statutes governing CPAs from a Class 3 misdemeanor to a Class 1 misdemeanor is consistent with other similar licensing board violations including the State Bar, the Medical Board, and the Board of Pharmacy, except with respect to the language that makes each violation a distinct and separate offense.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill would become effective December 1, 2007 and would apply to offenses committed on or after that date.

O. Walker Reagan, counsel to Senate Commerce, substantially contributed to this summary.

Property prevented from passing to the former spouse because of revocation by divorce or absolute annulment passes as if the former spouse failed to survive the settlor, and other provisions conferring some power or office on the former spouse are interpreted as if the former spouse failed to survive the settlor. SENATE BILL 947:
Uniform Trust Code Changes

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 4, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Hagan	Summary by:	Kory Goldsmith Committee Counsel
Version:	PCS to First Edition S947-CSRC-8[v.4]

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 947 makes conforming, technical, and substantive changes to Chapter 36C, the Uniform Trust Code, and to related statutes. The bill comes as a recommendation of the North Carolina Bar Association. This summary is substantially based upon information provided by the Bar Association.

The PCS makes mostly technical and grammatical changes to the original bill.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Sections 1 and 1.3 correct statutory citations.

Sections 1.1 and 1.2 amend G.S. 32A-3 and G.S. 32A-14 respectively to provide that an attorney-in-fact may not exercise any powers expressly conferred under a revocable trust to alter the designation of beneficiaries to receive property on the settlor's death under the settlor's existing estate plan

Section 2 amends G.S. 36C-1-103 to add to the list of definitions in Chapter 36C the definition of "principal place of administration" which appears in current G.S. 36C-2-204 relating to venue and to make that definition applicable with respect to other matters under Chapter 36C.

Section 3 amends G.S. 36C-1-105(b) to add a new mandatory rule that provides that the powers granted under 36C-6-602A cannot be exercised by an agent acting under a power of attorney in a manner that alters the designation of beneficiaries to receive property on the settlor's death.

Section 4 amends G.S. 36C-1-107(b) to clarify that North Carolina law governs rights of third parties dealing with a trust, even though the law of another jurisdiction may govern the rights of settlors, trustees, and beneficiaries.

Section 5 amends G.S. 36C-1-109(a) to make the current provisions in G.S. 32-55(d) relating to when notice is given to beneficiaries for purposes of trustee compensation applicable to notice to beneficiaries with respect to other matters under Chapter 36C in order to make uniform in the General Statutes the provisions concerning notices to beneficiaries of a trust.

Section 6 amends G.S. 36C-2-203(a)(1) to clarify that the clerk of court's exclusive jurisdiction to remove a trustee includes a removal of trustee action filed under G.S. 36C-4-414(b). The purpose of this revision is to make clear that a G.S. 36C-4-414(b) proceeding is not brought as a civil action in superior court. It amends G.S. 36C-2-203(a)(2) to clarify that the clerk of court may approve a trustee resignation if a resignation is put before the clerk. The reference to renunciation is deleted as it is not necessary for a trustee to obtain approval from a clerk to renounce. It also amends G.S. 36C-2-203(a)(9) to clarify that matters filed before the clerk of court under subdivision (a)(9) may be transferred out of the clerk's exclusive jurisdiction to superior court by any party. The clerk of court does not have the authority to prevent such a transfer from occurring.

Section 7 amends G.S. 36C-2-203(c) to clarify that notwithstanding the exclusive jurisdiction granted to the clerk of court under subdivision (a)(9), a party always has the ability to file a declaratory judgment action regarding the same matter in superior court if the matter also falls within the purview of the Declaratory Judgment Act.

Section 8 amends G.S. 36C-2-204 to delete the definition of "principal place of administration" which is being added to the list of definitions appearing in G.S. 36C-1-103. In addition, the words "or action" have been stricken to make the language consistent with the statutory definition of "proceeding," which includes an action.

Section 9 amends G.S. 36C-2-205 to add a new subsection (g1) to clarify how a notice to transfer a proceeding brought before the clerk under G.S. 36C-2-203(a)(9) to superior court must be filed and served.

Section 9.1 creates a new subsection (i) to G.S. 36C-2-205 to provide that the Attorney General shall be given notice of every trust proceeding related to a charitable trust and may participate in the action.

Section 10 amends G.S. 36C-2-205(h) to clarify that the subsection applies to transfers of clerk matters to superior court.

Section 11 amends G.S. 36C-3-303 to make clear that (i) representation does not apply to matters outside the trust and (ii) the trustee may not bind a beneficiary in matters concerning a dispute with the trustee. In addition, subsection (2) of G.S. 36C-3-303 is deleted because of the limited powers conferred upon a guardian of the person under Chapter 35A.

Sections 12 and 13 amend G.S. 36C-3-304 and G.S. 36C-3-305 to change the word "incapacitated" to "incompetent" in order to be consistent with other Code references. In addition, the phrase "with respect to the particular question or dispute" is added to clarify that the conflict of interest must be with respect to the particular question or dispute.

Section 14 amends G.S. 36C-4-401 which currently provides that a trust may be created by "other dispositions taking effect upon the settlor's death." It is revised to clarify that dispositions include devises and bequests to trustees as provided in G.S. 31-47 and the designation of the trust as beneficiary of death benefits as provided in G.S. 36C-4-401.1.

Section 15 amends G.S. 36C-4-409 to clarify how assets in a noncharitable trust without an ascertainable beneficiary are distributed upon termination of the trust.

Section 16 amends G.S. 36C-4-410(b) to clarify that there is no requirement that a trust combination or division under G.S. 36C-4-417 must be accomplished by judicial order.

Section 17 amends G.S. 36C-4-411 to (i) clarify the procedure that must be followed to obtain court appointment of a guardian ad litem for a non-judicial modification or termination of a trust where Article 3 representation cannot be had and (ii) make clear that a guardian of a settlor may consent to certain trust modifications without revoking a power of attorney granted by the settlor to another person. In addition, subdivision (3) of G.S. 36C-4-411(a) is deleted because of the limited powers conferred on a guardian of the person under Chapter 35A. It is also amended to add new subsections (f) and (g). These subsections were part of North Carolina's old Modification and Termination of Irrevocable Trust Act (former G.S. 36A-125.5) and were inadvertently left out of the Uniform Trust Code.

Section 17.1 removes the requirement of notification of the Attorney General in a Cy pres proceeding. Notification of the AG is placed in G.S. 36C-2-205, Section 7.1 of this bill.

Section 18 amends G.S. 36C-G.S. 36C-4-418 to (i) clarify which specific statutes and subsections are subject to the rules in this statute governing distribution of assets upon termination of a trust and (ii) to delete the language regarding distributing trust property for a minor to a guardian, UTMA account or Chapter 33B custodial account. This language already appears in 36C-8-816.

Section 19 amends G.S. 36C-5-501(b) to clarify that subsection (a) concerning the rights of creditors to reach a beneficiary's interest do not apply to the extent that the beneficiary's interest is "protected or restricted by" a spendthrift provision, discretionary trust interest or protective trust interest. Article 5 of Chapter 36C provides for exceptions to protection of the beneficiary's interest. It was thought that the current wording of G.S. 36C-5-501(b) without the added words "protected or restricted by" could be construed as indicating that these exceptions did not apply to subsection (a).

Section 20 amends G.S. 36C-5-505(a) by adding a new subdivision (2a) to clarify that the trustee's discretionary authority to pay the tax on a trust's income or principal payable by the settlor is not an amount that can be distributed to or for the settlor's benefit within the meaning of G.S. 36C-5-505(a)(2a). In addition, the phrase "subject to other applicable law" was added at the beginning of subsection (a) in order to make clear that adoption of the Uniform Trust Code does not change existing North Carolina law on exemptions from creditors such as life insurance and homestead protections. In addition, G.S. 36C-5-505(b) is rewritten to clarify the meaning with respect to powers of withdrawal over property exercisable by a holder of the power other than the settlor.

Sections 21-23 repeal G.S. 36C-6-602(e) and (f) relating to the exercise of the settlor's powers by an agent or guardian with respect to the revocation and amendment of a revocable trust and distribution of the trust property. These provisions are restated in a new section G.S. 36C-6-602A. In addition, the new section G.S. 36C-6-602A clarifies that an agent may exercise a settlor's powers with respect to "additions to" a revocable trust and also provides that an agent may exercise the settlor's powers with respect to creation of a revocable trust. A general guardian or guardian of the estate may exercise the powers of the settlor with respect to a revocable trust as provided in G.S. 35A-1251(24). These provisions are placed in the new section G.S. 36C-6-602A because they deal with more than just revocation or amendment of a revocable trust which is the subject of G.S. 36C-6-602.

Section 24 amends G.S. 36C-6-603 to (i) revise the title to clarify the effect of the statute and (ii) to make clear that a third party who takes a direction from a person who is both a settlor and trustee of a revocable trust may rely on that direction as that of a settlor with the power to control that revocable trust.

Section 25 creates G.S. 36C-6-605 which makes the anti-lapse statute applicable to trusts. The statute sets the rules governing how a devise to a beneficiary of a revocable trust will be distributed (absent contrary intent in the terms of the trust) if the beneficiary predeceases the settlor.

Section 26 creates G.S. 36C-6-606 makes applicable to revocable trusts the rule that provisions in a will in favor of a spouse are revoked if the testator and the spouse divorce.

Section 26.1 creates G.S. 36C-6-607 which clarifies that a revocable trust may be modified by court order, but the settler is a necessary party.

Sections 27-29 amend G.S. 36C-7-703 to clarify the authority of multiple trustees. As revised, all trustees must exercise reasonable care with respect to actions of other trustees. A co-trustee who does not join in an action by other trustees, however, is not liable for that action. A trustee who is outvoted will not be liable for acquiescing (for example, by signing a deed the majority wants to sign) unless the outvoted trustee knows the majority action involves intentional misconduct or improper benefits to other trustees.

Section 30 amends G.S. 36C-7-704(d) to clarify that if a trust is a split-interest trust, the qualified beneficiaries (both charitable beneficiaries and individual beneficiaries) have the right to appoint a successor trustee by majority vote.

Section 31 amends G.S. 36C-8-802(d) to clarify that although a trustee's duties to a beneficiary extend to dealings outside the trust, the trustee may provide goods or services to the beneficiary outside the trust in the ordinary course of business on terms and conditions similar to those offered trustee's other customers.

Section 32 amends G.S. 36C-8-802(f)(1) to clarify that if a trust invests in a fund, that fund may receive services from the trustee's affiliate as well as the trustee, and further clarify that a trustee or an affiliate who provides services to the fund may receive compensation for those services, provided that the investment meets the requirements of the prudent investor rule. G.S. 36C-8-802(f)(2) is also amended to clarify that reasonable compensation for services rendered to a trust needs to be standard, but not necessarily standard in the community. (A trust might be in a place where those services are not usually rendered).

Section 33 amends G.S. 36C-8-802(h) to clarify that the general fairness standard applies to transactions between trusts, and that other specific statutory standards apply to particular dealings between trustee and beneficiary.

Section 34 amends G.S. 36C-8-808 to (i) clarify that a settlor's power to direct a revocable trust includes a direction the trust does not specifically authorize and (ii) to insert a missing word.

Section 34.1 amends G.S. 36C-8.810(d) to allow a trustee to invest and administer the assets of more than one trust provided the trustee keeps separate records.

Section 35 amends G.S. 36C-8-813 to clarify a beneficiary's rights to information about the trust. All current beneficiaries must receive a regular statement. But all "qualified beneficiaries" (current beneficiaries and remaindermen) can receive information on request. The act also repeals subsection (d) making the provisions applicable to all trusts regardless of when the trust was created.

Section 36 amends G.S. 36C-8-814(b) to clarify that an express reference to this subsection must be made for its rules not to apply and to add subsection (b)(4) the provisions of which appeared in the prior statute dealing with the same subject and was inadvertently omitted in bringing forward prior provisions.

Section 37 amends G.S. 36C-8-816(19) thru (19c) to clarify that a trustee may guarantee loans and pledge property to guarantee loans made to any beneficiary or to an enterprise in which the beneficiary has an ownership interest. Also amends subdivision (21) to clarify that a trustee would have the power to apply distributions for a beneficiary's benefit even though the beneficiary may not be under a legal disability except that a beneficiary must consent to the application for the beneficiary's benefit of any amount required to be paid to the beneficiary.

Section 37.1 creates 36C-9-903A regarding a trustee's duties as to a contract of life insurance on the life of the settlor. These provisions are identical to current G.S. 32-71(c) and (d) which are repealed later in this act.

Sections 38- 42 regarding Article 6 of Chapter 32 relating to trustee compensation is revised generally to make uniform the provisions in the General Statutes concerning notices to beneficiaries of trusts. Specifically:

> Section 38 amends G.S. 32-53 and the definitions of "beneficiary" and "representative" to whom notice must be given to conform these definitions to the clearer and more comprehensive provisions in Chapter 36C.
> Section 39 and 41 amend G.S. 32-55(c) to make the provisions concerning when notice is deemed given the same as provided in Chapter 37A concerning the notice when a trust is proposed to be converted to a total return trust. G.S. 32-55(d) is amended to make the provisions of G.S. 36C-1-109 regarding notices apply for purposes of Article 6 of Chapter 32. G.S. 32-55(a) and 32-57 are revised to clarify that those provisions apply only if the terms of the trust do not specify a trustee's compensation.
> Section 40 amends G.S. 32-56 to clarify who may initiate a proceeding under G.S. 32-57 for review of the reasonableness of a trustee's compensation if the terms of the trust do not specify compensation.
> Section 42 amends G.S. 32-58 to add provisions concerning reimbursement for expenses and liens which were part of the Uniform Trust Code that should have been made a part of Chapter 32.

Section 43 repeals G.S. 32-71(c) and (d) regarding a trustee's responsibility regarding a life insurance contract on the life of the settlor. This language is moved to Section 37.1 of this act.

Section 44 amends G.S. 37A-1-104(c)(8) to permit a trustee to make an adjustment between income and principal when trustee compensation is defined as a percentage of trust income. Total return investing pursuant to the prudent investor rule recognized by Chapter 37A can result in a substantial reduction in (i) distributions to beneficiaries entitled to receive the trust's ordinary income and (ii) trustee's fees calculated as a percentage of such income. To enable the trustee to invest for total return without having to realize a portion of the return in the form of ordinary income, Chapter 37A authorizes adjustments between income and principal with respect to income beneficiaries, and for the same reasons the same kind of adjustment should be authorized with respect to trustee's fees calculated on income although fees so calculated are now rare.

Sections 45-46 amend Part 2 of Chapter 37A, Conversion to Unitrust, generally to make uniform in the General Statutes the provisions concerning notices to beneficiaries of trusts. Specifically, in G.S. 37A-1-104.1, the definitions of beneficiaries of a trust to whom notices must be given and who may represent the beneficiaries is revised to conform these provisions to those in Chapter 36C. The revised definitions are applied throughout Part 2. Also G.S. 37A-1-104.2(d) is added to make the provisions regarding notices to beneficiaries in Chapter 36C apply to Part 2.

Section 47 amends G.S. 37A-1-104.3 to correct an incorrect citation and insert correct terminology.

Section 48 amends G.S. 37A-1-104.4 to clarify that assets such as a residence or tangible personal property used by the beneficiary may be excluded from the trustee's annual calculation of the fair market value of the trust property.

Section 49 amends G.S. 37A-1-104.4(b) to correct some terminology.

Section 49.1 repeals G.S. 37A-1-104.7 regarding marital deduction trusts. Existing law gave the spouse the right to compel for the spouse's lifetime a conversion of the trust from an income trust to a total return unitrust or the reconversion of the trust from a total return unitrust to an income trust.

Section 50 amends G.S. 37A-1-104.9 to correct some terminology.

Section 51 amends G.S. 53-163.2 to correct an incorrect citation.

Section 52 amends G.S. 35A-1251(24) to allow a guardian of the estate to petition the court for approval to allow the guardian of the estate to revoke or amend a revocable trust created by the guardian's ward, to make additions to or withdrawals from any such trust or to distribute property from the trust. The guardian of the estate cannot exercise these powers in a manner that would alter the designation of beneficiaries to receive the ward's property upon the ward's death.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act becomes effective October 1, 2007, and applies to all trusts created before, on, or after that date; all judicial proceedings concerning trusts commenced on or after that date; and all judicial proceedings concerning trusts commenced before that date unless the application of the act would substantially interfere with the effective conduct of the court or prejudice the rights of the parties, in which case the law as it existed on September 30, 2007 shall apply.

(3) Duration of license. – A drivers license that was issued by the Division and is renewed by the Division expires at the end of the period provided by this subsection after the expiration date of the license that is renewed unless the Division determines that a license of shorter duration should be issued when the applicant holds a visa of limited duration from the United States Department of Homeland Security, but in no event shall the license expire later than the applicant's lawful presence in the United States. A person may apply to the Division to renew a license during the 180-day period before the license expires. The Division may not accept an application for renewal made before the 180-day period begins.

(4) Renewal by mail. – The Division may renew by mail a drivers license issued by the Division to a person who meets any of the following descriptions:

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 9, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Shaw	Summary by:	Kory Goldsmith Committee Counsel
Version:	First Edition

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 470 would amend G.S. 20-7(f) to provide that a North Carolina drivers license issued to a person between the ages of 18 and 65 would expire 8 years after the date of issuance.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 20-7(f) provides that a drivers license issued to a person between the ages of 18 and 53 will expire 8 years after the date of issuance. A drivers license issued to a person who is at least 54 years of age expires 5 years after the date of issuance.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act would become effective January 1, 2008.

BACKGROUND: In 2006, and at the recommendation of the Joint Legislative Oversight Committee on Transportation, the General Assembly amended G.S. 20-7(f) to provide that a drivers license issued to a person between the ages of 18 and 53 would expire after 8 years. Prior to that change, a drivers license issued to a person over the age of 20 expired after 5 years. A license issued to a person over the age of 62 expired after 5 years regardless of whether the person's age on that date was divisible by 5.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 1, 2008

BILL SUMMARY:
This act increases the age for persons receiving an eight-year driver license. The increase in age is from 18-54 years old to 18-65 years old. Individuals over 65 years old will now be issued a five-year driver license.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

- There will be costs associated with programming and ITS charges for the State Automated Driver License System (SADLS) to change the age for the eight-year driver license within the system.
- There will be additional revenues collected during the first five years, since license fees are based on the number of years of its issuance. After five years of the renewal customers receiving the eight-year license there will be a reduction in the number of issuances since individuals will not have to renew as frequently, and revenues should equalize after an eight-year cycle.

SENATE BILL 677*

Short Title:	Expunge Nonviolent Felony/Youthful Offender.	(Public)
Sponsors:	Senators Berger of Franklin; Dannelly and Malone.
Referred to:	Judiciary ll (Criminal).

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT A YOUTHFUL OFFENDER'S CRIMINAL RECORD MAY BE EXPUNGED OF NONVIOLENT FELONIES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Article 5 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 15A-150. Expunction of records for first offenders who are under 18 years of age at the time of the commission of a nonviolent felony.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "nonviolent felony" means any felony except the following:

(1) A Class A through G felony;

(2) A felony that includes assault as an essential element of the offense;

(3) A felony that is an offense for which the convicted offender must register under Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes; and

(4) Any felony offense charged pursuant to Chapter 90 of the General Statutes where the offense involves methamphetamines.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, if a person is convicted of more than one nonviolent felony in the same session of court, then the multiple nonviolent felony convictions shall be treated as one nonviolent felony conviction under this section, and the expunction order issued under this section shall provide that the multiple convictions shall be expunged from the person's record in accordance with this section.

(c) Whenever any person who had not yet attained the age of 18 years at the time of the offense and has not previously been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States, the laws of this State, or any other state pleads guilty to or is guilty of a nonviolent felony, the person may file a petition in the court where the person was convicted for expunction of the nonviolent felony from the person's criminal record. The petition shall not be filed earlier than two years after the date of the conviction or when any active sentence, period of probation, and post-release supervision has been served, whichever occurs later. The person shall also perform at least 100 hours of community service, preferably related to the conviction, before filing a petition for expunction under this section. The petition shall contain the following:

(1) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner has been of good behavior for the two-year period since the date of conviction of the nonviolent felony in question and has not been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States or the laws of this State or any other state.

(2) Verified affidavits of two persons who are not related to the petitioner or to each other by blood or marriage that they know the character and reputation of the petitioner in the community in which the petitioner lives and that the petitioner's character and reputation are good.

(3) A statement that the petition is a motion in the cause in the case wherein the petitioner was convicted.

(4) An application on a form approved by the Administrative Office of the Courts requesting and authorizing a State and national criminal record check by the Department of Justice using any information required by the Administrative Office of the Courts to identify the individual and a search of the confidential records of expunctions maintained by the Administrative Office of the Courts. The application shall be forwarded to the Department of Justice and to the Administrative Office of the Courts to conduct the searches and report the findings to the court.

(5) An affidavit by the petitioner that no restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner are outstanding.

(6) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the conviction for the nonviolent felony. The affidavit shall include a list of the community services performed, a list of the recipients of the services, and a detailed description of those services.

(7) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner possesses a high school diploma or a high school graduation equivalency certificate or that the petitioner is attending a basic skills program in pursuit of a General Education Development Degree or adult high school diploma.

The petition shall be served upon the district attorney of the court wherein the case was tried resulting in conviction. The district attorney shall have 10 days thereafter in which to file any objection thereto and shall be duly notified as to the date of the hearing of the petition. The district attorney shall make his or her best efforts to contact the victim, if any, to notify the victim of the request for expunction prior to the date of the hearing.

The judge to whom the petition is presented may call upon a probation officer for any additional investigation or verification of the petitioner's conduct during the two-year period that the judge deems desirable.

(d) The court shall order that the person be restored, in the contemplation of the law, to the status the person occupied before the arrest or indictment or information if the court finds all of the following after a hearing:

(1) The petitioner has remained of good behavior and has been free of conviction of any felony or misdemeanor, other than a traffic violation, for two years from the date of conviction of the nonviolent felony in question or any active sentence, period of probation, or post-release supervision has been served, whichever is later.

(2) The petitioner has not previously been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States, the laws of this State, or any other state.

(3) The petitioner has no outstanding restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner.

(4) The petitioner was less than 18 years old at the time of the commission of the offense in question.

(5) The petitioner has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the time of the conviction and possesses a high school diploma or high school graduation equivalency certificate or is attending a program in pursuit of a General Education Development Degree or adult high school diploma.

(6) The search of the confidential records of expunctions conducted by the Administrative Office of the Courts shows that the petitioner has not been previously granted an expunction.

No person as to whom an order has been entered pursuant to this subsection shall be held thereafter under any provision of any laws to be guilty of perjury or otherwise giving a false statement by reason of that person's failure to recite or acknowledge the arrest, indictment, information, trial, or conviction.

(e) The court shall also order that the nonviolent felony conviction be expunged from the records of the court and direct all law enforcement agencies bearing record of the same to expunge their records of the conviction. The clerk shall forward a certified copy of the order to the sheriff, chief of police, or other arresting agency. The sheriff, chief, or head of any other arresting agency shall then transmit the copy of the order with a form supplied by the State Bureau of Investigation to the State Bureau of Investigation, and the State Bureau of Investigation shall forward the order to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

(f) Any other applicable State or local government agency shall expunge from its records entries made as a result of the conviction ordered expunged under this section. The agency shall also reverse any administrative actions taken against a person whose record is expunged under this section as a result of the charges or convictions expunged.

This subsection shall not apply to the Department of Justice for DNA records and samples stored in the State DNA Database and the State DNA Databank.

(g) The clerk of superior court in each county in North Carolina shall, as soon as practicable after each term of court in the clerk's county, file with the Administrative Office of the Courts the names of those persons granted a discharge under the provisions of this section, and the Administrative Office of the Courts shall maintain a confidential file containing the names of persons granted conditional discharges. The information contained in the file shall be disclosed only to judges of the General Court of Justice of North Carolina for the purpose of ascertaining whether any person charged with an offense has been previously granted a discharge.

(h) Any person eligible for expunction of a criminal record under this section shall be notified about the provisions of this section by the probation officer assigned to that person. If no probation officer is assigned, notification of the provisions of this section shall be provided by the court at the time of the conviction of the felony which is to be expunged under this section.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT A YOUTHFUL OFFENDER'S CRIMINAL RECORD MAY BE EXPUNGED OF NONVIOLENT FELONIES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Article 5 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 15A-150. Expunction of records for first offenders who are under 18 years of age at the time of the commission of a nonviolent felony.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "nonviolent felony" means any felony except the following:

(1) A Class A through G felony;

(2) A felony that includes assault as an essential element of the offense;

(3) A felony that is an offense for which the convicted offender must register under Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes; and

(4) Any felony offense charged pursuant to Chapter 90 of the General Statutes where the offense involves methamphetamines.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, if a person is convicted of more than one nonviolent felony in the same session of court and the criminal processes for all of the nonviolent felonies were served upon the person at one time, then the multiple nonviolent felony convictions shall be treated as one nonviolent felony conviction under this section, and the expunction order issued under this section shall provide that the multiple convictions shall be expunged from the person's record in accordance with this section. Nonviolent felonies for which criminal processes are served upon a person at separate times may not be combined for the purposes of expunction of the records of convictions under this section, regardless of whether or not they are disposed of in the same session of court.

(c) Whenever any person who had not yet attained the age of 18 years at the time of the offense and has not previously been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor

other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States, the laws of this State, or any other state pleads guilty to or is guilty of a nonviolent felony, the person may file a petition in the court where the person was convicted for expunction of the nonviolent felony from the person's criminal record. The petition shall not be filed earlier than two years after the date of the conviction or when any active sentence, period of probation, and post-release supervision has been served, whichever occurs later. The person shall also perform at least 100 hours of community service, preferably related to the conviction, before filing a petition for expunction under this section. The petition shall contain the following:

(1) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner has been of good moral character for the two-year period since the date of conviction of the nonviolent felony in question and has not been convicted of any other felony or any misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States or the laws of this State or any other state.

(2) Verified affidavits of two persons who are not related to the petitioner or to each other by blood or marriage that they know the character and reputation of the petitioner in the community in which the petitioner lives and that the petitioner's character and reputation are good.

(3) A statement that the petition is a motion in the cause in the case wherein the petitioner was convicted.

(4) An application on a form approved by the Administrative Office of the Courts requesting and authorizing (i) a State and national criminal record check by the Department of Justice using any information required by the Administrative Office of the Courts to identify the individual; (ii) a search by the Department of Justice for any outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases; and (iii) a search of the confidential record of expunctions maintained by the Administrative Office of the Courts. The application shall be forwarded to the Department of Justice and to the Administrative Office of the Courts, which shall conduct the searches and report their findings to the court.

(5) An affidavit by the petitioner that no restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner are outstanding.

(6) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the conviction for the nonviolent felony. The affidavit shall include a list of the community services performed, a list of the recipients of the services, and a detailed description of those services.

(7) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner possesses a high school diploma, a high school graduation equivalency certificate, or a General Education Development Degree.

The petition shall be served upon the district attorney of the court wherein the case was tried resulting in conviction. The district attorney shall have 10 days thereafter in which to file any objection thereto and shall be duly notified as to the date of the hearing of the petition. The district attorney shall make his or her best efforts to contact the victim, if any, to notify the victim of the request for expunction prior to the date of the hearing.

The judge to whom the petition is presented may call upon a probation officer for any additional investigation or verification of the petitioner's conduct during the two-year period that the judge deems desirable.

(d) The court shall order that the person be restored, in the contemplation of the law, to the status the person occupied before the arrest or indictment or information if the court finds all of the following after a hearing:

(1) The petitioner has remained of good moral character and has been free of conviction of any felony or misdemeanor, other than a traffic violation, for two years from the date of conviction of the nonviolent felony in question or any active sentence, period of probation, or post-release supervision has been served, whichever is later.

(2) The petitioner has not previously been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States, the laws of this State, or any other state.

(3) The petitioner has no outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases.

(4) The petitioner has no outstanding restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner.

(5) The petitioner was less than 18 years old at the time of the commission of the offense in question.

(6) The petitioner has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the time of the conviction and possesses a high school diploma, a high school graduation equivalency certificate or a General Education Development Degree.

(7) The search of the confidential records of expunctions conducted by the Administrative Office of the Courts shows that the petitioner has not been previously granted an expunction.

No person as to whom an order has been entered pursuant to this subsection shall be held thereafter under any provision of any laws to be guilty of perjury or otherwise giving a false statement by reason of that person's failure to recite or acknowledge the arrest, indictment, information, trial, or conviction. Persons pursuing employment requiring certification under Chapters 17C or 17E of the General Statutes, however, shall disclose any and all felony convictions to the certifying Commission regardless of whether or not the felony convictions were expunged pursuant to the provisions of this section.

(e) The court shall also order that the nonviolent felony conviction be expunged from the records of the court and direct all law enforcement agencies bearing record of the same to expunge their records of the conviction. The clerk shall forward a certified copy of the order to the sheriff, chief of police, or other arresting agency. The sheriff, chief, or head of any other arresting agency shall then transmit the copy of the order with a form supplied by the State Bureau of Investigation to the State Bureau of Investigation, and the State Bureau of Investigation shall forward the order to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

(f) Any other applicable State or local government agency shall expunge from its records entries made as a result of the conviction ordered expunged under this section. The agency shall also reverse any administrative actions taken against a person whose record is expunged under this section as a result of the charges or convictions expunged. This subsection shall not apply to the Department of Justice for DNA records and samples stored in the State DNA Database and the State DNA Databank.

(g) The clerk of superior court in each county in North Carolina shall, as soon as practicable after each term of court in the clerk's county, file with the Administrative Office of the Courts the names of those persons granted expunctions under the provisions of this section, and the Administrative Office of the Courts shall maintain a confidential file containing the names of persons granted expunctions. The information contained in the file shall be disclosed only as follows:

(1) To judges of the General Court of Justice of North Carolina for the purpose of ascertaining whether any person charged with an offense has been previously granted a discharge.

(2) To State and local law enforcement agencies for employment purposes only.

(3) To The North Carolina Criminal Justice Education and Training Standards Commission for certification purposes only.

(4) To The North Carolina Sheriffs' Education and Training Standards Commission for certification purposes only.

(h) Any person eligible for expunction of a criminal record under this section shall be notified about the provisions of this section by the probation officer assigned to that person. If no probation officer is assigned, notification of the provisions of this section shall be provided by the court at the time of the conviction of the felony which is to be expunged under this section.

(i) A person who files a petition for expunction of a criminal record under this section shall pay the clerk of superior court a fee of one hundred dollars ($100.00) at the time the petition is filed. Fees collected under this subsection shall be deposited in the General Fund. This subsection does not apply to petitions filed by an indigent."

SECTION 2. G.S. 17C-13 reads as rewritten:

(a) When a person presents competent evidence that he has been granted an unconditional pardon for a crime in this State, any other state, or the United States, the Commission may not deny, suspend, or revoke that person's certification based solely on the commission of that crime or for an alleged lack of good moral character due to the commission of that crime.

(b) Notwithstanding G.S. 15A-150, the Commission may gain access to a person's felony conviction records, including those maintained by the Administrative

SENATE BILL 677:
Expunge Nonviolent Felony/Youthful Offender

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 9, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Berger of Franklin	Summary by:	Jennifer McGinnis
Version:	PCS to First Edition S677-CSRD-10		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 677 would provide for the expunction of a nonviolent felony conviction from the criminal record of an offender who was under the age of 18 at the time of the commission of the nonviolent felony. A petition for expunction may not be filed earlier than two years after the latter or either the date of the conviction or the completion of the active sentence, period of probation, or post- release supervision. The petition shall include affidavits supporting the following: completion of 100 hours of community service, no prior or subsequent felony or misdemeanor convictions (other than traffic violations), no outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases, no outstanding restitution orders or civil judgments, and possession or current pursuit of a high school diploma, high school graduation equivalency certificate, or General Education Development (GED) Degree.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to H898, as introduced by Reps. Bordsen, Crawford, Hall, Jones, which is currently in House Juvenile Justice.]

CHANGES MADE BY PCS:

- G.S. 15A-150(b) - Would change language found in the 1st edition of the bill, to provide that if a person is convicted of more than one nonviolent felony in the same session of court, the multiple nonviolent felony convictions shall be treated as one nonviolent felony for expunction purposes only if the criminal processes for all of the nonviolent felonies were served upon the person at one time.
- G.S. 15A-150(c)(1) and G.S. 15A-150(d)(1) – Would change references to "good behavior" found in the 1st edition of the bill to "good moral character."
- G.S. 15A-150(c)(4) and G.S. 15A-150(d)(3) – Would add an additional requirement on the application to the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) to request and authorize the Department of Justice to search for any outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases.

  To order expungement a court must find, among other things, that the petitioner has no outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases.
- G.S. 15A-150(c)(7) – Would require the petitioner for expunction to possess a high school diploma, a high school graduation equivalency certificate, or a GED (language of the 1st edition of the bill provided "the petitioner is attending a basic skills program in pursuit of a [GED] or adult high school diploma).
- G.S. 15A-150(d), last paragraph, would require persons pursuing employment with law enforcement agencies to disclose felony convictions even if they have been expunged.
- G.S. 15A-150(g) – Would add language allowing AOC to disclose information in their confidential expunction files to law enforcement agencies, The North Carolina Criminal Justice Education and Training Standards Commission, The North Carolina Sheriffs'

Education and Training Standards Commission for employment and certification purposes only.

- Sections 2 and 3 of the bill would give the Commissions access to the expunction information and authorize the Commissions to deny, suspend, or revoke certification based on an expunged felony conviction.

CURRENT LAW: Article 5 of the Criminal Procedure Act provides for the expunction of criminal records of certain criminal charges or convictions. Expunction is the process by which a record of criminal conviction is removed by order of the court, and the individual is restored to the status he or she occupied before the arrest or indictment. General Statute 15A-145 (Expunction of records for first offenders under the age of 18 at the time of conviction of misdemeanor; expunction of certain other misdemeanors) allows a person convicted of a misdemeanor to file a petition for expunction of the misdemeanor from his or her criminal record if the person was under 18 at the time of a conviction or, in the case of a misdemeanor alcohol possession charge, the person was under 21 at the time of conviction. The petition may not be filed sooner than two years after the conviction or completion of probation and must include the following [1]:

1) an affidavit of good behavior for the two years following conviction, stating that the petitioner has not been convicted of any felony or non-traffic misdemeanor charge;

2) two affidavits of good character from persons unrelated to the petitioner;

3) a statement that the petition is a motion in the cause in the case wherein the petitioner was convicted; and

4) affidavits of the clerk of superior court, chief of police, and sheriff of the county of the offense and where the petitioner resides showing that petitioner has not been convicted of a felony or non-traffic misdemeanor offense prior to or in the two years since the conviction in question.

If the court finds in favor of the petitioner, the clerk of superior court and the appropriate law enforcement agencies must expunge the record of the conviction.

Other sections of Article 5 provide for "Expunction of records when charges are dismissed or there are finding of not guilty as a result of identity fraud"[2], "Expunction of DNA records when charges are dismissed on appeal or pardon of innocence is granted"[3], and "Expunction of records when pardon of innocence is granted."[4]

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would add a new section to Article 5 "Expunction of Records" of Chapter 15A "Criminal Procedure Act" of the General Statutes. The proposed G.S. 15A-150 would allow for the expunction of a nonviolent felony from the criminal records of a first time offender who is under 18 years of age at the time of the commission of the nonviolent felony if the person has no previous or subsequent felony or misdemeanor convictions, other than traffic violations. "Nonviolent felony" would include any felony except the following:

- A Class A through G felony;
- A felony that includes assault as an essential element of the offense;

---

[1] G.S. 15A-145(a)(1) through (4).
[2] G.S. 15A-147.
[3] G.S. 15A-148.
[4] G.S. 15A-149.

- A felony that is an offense for which the convicted offender must register under Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes (sex offenders); and
- Any Chapter 90 felony offense involving methamphetamines.

If the person is convicted of more than one nonviolent felony in the same session of court and the criminal processes for all of the nonviolent felonies were served upon the person at one time, the bill provides that the multiple nonviolent felony convictions shall be treated as one nonviolent felony conviction and be expunged from the person's record by the expunction order issued under this section.

The procedure to be followed by the petitioner is modeled along the lines of the existing procedures for expunction of records. The petition may not be filed earlier than two years after the date of conviction or after the time that any active sentence, period of probation, or post-release supervision has been served, whichever occurs later. The petitioner is also required to perform at least 100 hours of community service before filing the petition for expunction.

The petition must contain at least the following:

1) An affidavit of good moral character by the petitioner for the two years following conviction, stating that the petitioner has not been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor charge, other than traffic violations, under the laws of the United States, this State or any other state during that time;

2) Two affidavits of good moral character from persons unrelated to petitioner;

3) A statement that the petition is a motion in the cause in the case wherein the petitioner was convicted;

4) An application authorizing a State and national criminal record check and search for outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases by the Department of Justice with the results reported to the court;

5) An affidavit by the petitioner that no restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner are outstanding;

6) An affidavit by the petitioner that he or she has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the conviction with a list of the community services performed, a list of the recipients of the services, and a detailed description of the services; and

(7) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner possesses a high school diploma, high school graduation equivalency certificate, or a GED.

The petition is served on the district attorney, who has 10 days to file any objections. The district attorney is directed to contact the victim, if any, to notify the victim of the request for expunction prior to the hearing date. The judge is authorized to call upon a probation officer for any additional investigation or verification of the petitioner's conduct. If the judge finds that the petitioner has met all of the requirements, the judge shall order that the petitioner be restored to the status he or she had before the arrest or indictment. The judge shall also order that the nonviolent felony conviction be expunged from the records of the court and direct all law enforcement agencies to expunge their records, including the State Bureau of Investigation and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Department of Justice DNA records and samples stored in the State DNA database and the State DNA Databank, however, shall not be expunged or destroyed as a result of any order for expunction of records issued under this section.

Any other applicable State or local government agency is directed to expunge from its records any entries made as a result of the conviction order expunged under this section. The agency is required to also reverse any administrative actions taken against a person whose record is expunged under this section.

The clerk of superior court in each county would be required to file with the AOC the names of those persons granted a discharge under the provisions of this section and the AOC must maintain a confidential file containing the names of persons granted conditional discharges. This information can only be disclosed to judges of the General Court of Justice of North Carolina for the purpose of determining if any person charged with an offense has been previously given a discharge, and to law enforcement agencies, The North Carolina Criminal Justice Education and Training Standards Commission, and The North Carolina Sheriffs' Education and Training Standards Commission for employment and certification purposes only.

The PCS would require persons pursuing employment with law enforcement agencies to disclose felony convictions even if they have been expunged and would give the Commissions access to the expunction information and authorize the Commissions to deny, suspend, or revoke certification based on an expunged felony conviction.

If a probation officer is assigned to a person eligible for expunction, the probation officer must notify the person of the provisions of this section. If no probation officer is assigned, then the court which heard the felony must provide notification of the possibility of expunction under this section.

Filing fees for the expunction petition would be set at $100.00 unless the petitioner is indigent. Fees collected would be deposited into the General Fund.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill would become effective December 1, 2007 and would expire December 1, 2014.

SENATE BILL 470:
Drivers Licenses – Fix Expir./8-Year to 65

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 16, 2007
Version:	PCS to First Edition S470-CSRC-11

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute to Senate Bill 470 would amend G.S. 20-7(f) to: (i) correct errors in the expiration date for drivers licenses, and (ii) provide that a North Carolina drivers license issued to a person between the ages of 18 and 65 would expire 8 years after the date of issuance.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 20-7(f) provides that a drivers license issued to a person between the ages of 18 and 53 will expire 8 years after the date of issuance. A drivers license issued to a person who is at least 54 years of age expires 5 years after the date of issuance.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 amends G.S. 20-7(f) to restores the licensee's birthday as the expiration date of a drivers license for a person 18 years old or older. Section 1 also makes stylistic updates and organizational changes. This Section is identical to Section 1 of SB1026 which this committee has given a favorable report.

Section 2 incorporates the changes to G.S. 20-7(f) from Section 1, then amends the statute to provide that a North Carolina drivers license issued to a person between the ages of 18 and 65 would expire 8 years after the date of issuance.

EFFECTIVE DATES: Section 1 is retroactively effective to January 1, 2007, and applies to drivers licenses issued on or after that date. Section 1 would become effective January 1, 2008. The remainder of the act is effective when the bill becomes law.

BACKGROUND: In 2006, and at the recommendation of the Joint Legislative Oversight Committee on Transportation, the General Assembly amended G.S. 20-7(f) to provide that a drivers license issued to a person between the ages of 18 and 53 would expire after 8 years. Prior to that change, a drivers license issued to a person over the age of 20 expired after 5 years. A license issued to a person over the age of 62 expired after 5 years regardless of whether the person's age on that date was divisible by 5.

When the duration of a drivers license was extended last year in S.L. 2006-257 to eight years, or five years for those 54 or older, the expiration date was changed to be eight (or five) years "after issuance" rather than on the licensee's birthday in the eighth (or fifth) year after issuance. The General Statutes Commission is informed that the change was inadvertent, and the change back to the licensee's birthday was requested by the Division of Motor Vehicles.

SENATE BILL 677*

Short Title:	Expunge Nonviolent Felony/Youthful Offender.	(Public)
Sponsors:	Senators Berger of Franklin; Dannelly and Malone.
Referred to:	Judiciary ll (Criminal).

March 13, 2007

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT A YOUTHFUL OFFENDER'S CRIMINAL RECORD MAY BE EXPUNGED OF NONVIOLENT FELONIES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Article 5 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 15A-150. Expunction of records for first offenders who are under 18 years of age at the time of the commission of a nonviolent felony.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "nonviolent felony" means any felony except the following:

(1) A Class A through G felony;

(2) A felony that includes assault as an essential element of the offense;

(3) A felony that is an offense for which the convicted offender must register under Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes; and

(4) Any felony offense charged pursuant to Chapter 90 of the General Statutes where the offense involves methamphetamines.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, if a person is convicted of more than one nonviolent felony in the same session of court, then the multiple nonviolent felony convictions shall be treated as one nonviolent felony conviction under this section, and the expunction order issued under this section shall provide that the multiple convictions shall be expunged from the person's record in accordance with this section.

(c) Whenever any person who had not yet attained the age of 18 years at the time of the offense and has not previously been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States, the laws of this State, or any other state pleads guilty to or is guilty of a nonviolent felony, the person may file a petition in the court where the person was convicted for expunction of the nonviolent felony from the person's criminal record. The petition shall not be filed earlier than two years after the date of the conviction or when any active sentence, period of probation, and post-release supervision has been served, whichever occurs later. The person shall also perform at least 100 hours of community service, preferably related to the conviction, before filing a petition for expunction under this section. The petition shall contain the following:

(1) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner has been of good behavior for the two-year period since the date of conviction of the nonviolent felony in question and has not been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States or the laws of this State or any other state.

(2) Verified affidavits of two persons who are not related to the petitioner or to each other by blood or marriage that they know the character and reputation of the petitioner in the community in which the petitioner lives and that the petitioner's character and reputation are good.

(3) A statement that the petition is a motion in the cause in the case wherein the petitioner was convicted.

(4) An application on a form approved by the Administrative Office of the Courts requesting and authorizing a State and national criminal record check by the Department of Justice using any information required by the Administrative Office of the Courts to identify the individual and a search of the confidential records of expunctions maintained by the Administrative Office of the Courts. The application shall be forwarded to the Department of Justice and to the Administrative Office of the Courts to conduct the searches and report the findings to the court.

(5) An affidavit by the petitioner that no restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner are outstanding.

(6) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the conviction for the nonviolent felony. The affidavit shall include a list of the community services performed, a list of the recipients of the services, and a detailed description of those services.

(7) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner possesses a high school diploma or a high school graduation equivalency certificate or that the petitioner is attending a basic skills program in pursuit of a General Education Development Degree or adult high school diploma.

The petition shall be served upon the district attorney of the court wherein the case was tried resulting in conviction. The district attorney shall have 10 days thereafter in which to file any objection thereto and shall be duly notified as to the date of the hearing of the petition. The district attorney shall make his or her best efforts to contact the victim, if any, to notify the victim of the request for expunction prior to the date of the hearing.

The judge to whom the petition is presented may call upon a probation officer for any additional investigation or verification of the petitioner's conduct during the two-year period that the judge deems desirable.

(d) The court shall order that the person be restored, in the contemplation of the law, to the status the person occupied before the arrest or indictment or information if the court finds all of the following after a hearing:

(1) The petitioner has remained of good behavior and has been free of conviction of any felony or misdemeanor, other than a traffic violation, for two years from the date of conviction of the nonviolent felony in question or any active sentence, period of probation, or post-release supervision has been served, whichever is later.

(2) The petitioner has not previously been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States, the laws of this State, or any other state.

(3) The petitioner has no outstanding restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner.

(4) The petitioner was less than 18 years old at the time of the commission of the offense in question.

(5) The petitioner has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the time of the conviction and possesses a high school diploma or high school graduation equivalency certificate or is attending a program in pursuit of a General Education Development Degree or adult high school diploma.

(6) The search of the confidential records of expunctions conducted by the Administrative Office of the Courts shows that the petitioner has not been previously granted an expunction.

No person as to whom an order has been entered pursuant to this subsection shall be held thereafter under any provision of any laws to be guilty of perjury or otherwise giving a false statement by reason of that person's failure to recite or acknowledge the arrest, indictment, information, trial, or conviction.

(e) The court shall also order that the nonviolent felony conviction be expunged from the records of the court and direct all law enforcement agencies bearing record of the same to expunge their records of the conviction. The clerk shall forward a certified copy of the order to the sheriff, chief of police, or other arresting agency. The sheriff, chief, or head of any other arresting agency shall then transmit the copy of the order with a form supplied by the State Bureau of Investigation to the State Bureau of Investigation, and the State Bureau of Investigation shall forward the order to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

(f) Any other applicable State or local government agency shall expunge from its records entries made as a result of the conviction ordered expunged under this section. The agency shall also reverse any administrative actions taken against a person whose record is expunged under this section as a result of the charges or convictions expunged.

This subsection shall not apply to the Department of Justice for DNA records and samples stored in the State DNA Database and the State DNA Databank.

(g) The clerk of superior court in each county in North Carolina shall, as soon as practicable after each term of court in the clerk's county, file with the Administrative Office of the Courts the names of those persons granted a discharge under the provisions of this section, and the Administrative Office of the Courts shall maintain a confidential file containing the names of persons granted conditional discharges. The information contained in the file shall be disclosed only to judges of the General Court of Justice of North Carolina for the purpose of ascertaining whether any person charged with an offense has been previously granted a discharge.

(h) Any person eligible for expunction of a criminal record under this section shall be notified about the provisions of this section by the probation officer assigned to that person. If no probation officer is assigned, notification of the provisions of this section shall be provided by the court at the time of the conviction of the felony which is to be expunged under this section.

(i) A person who files a petition for expunction of a criminal record under this section shall pay the clerk of superior court a fee of one hundred dollars ($100.00) at the time the petition is filed. Fees collected under this subsection shall be deposited in the General Fund. This subsection does not apply to petitions filed by an indigent."

SECTION 2. This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and expires December 1, 2014.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT A YOUTHFUL OFFENDER'S CRIMINAL RECORD MAY BE EXPUNGED OF NONVIOLENT FELONIES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Article 5 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 15A-150. Expunction of records for first offenders who are under 18 years of age at the time of the commission of a nonviolent felony.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "nonviolent felony" means any felony except the following:

(1) A Class A through G felony;

(2) A felony that includes assault as an essential element of the offense;

(3) A felony that is an offense for which the convicted offender must register under Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes; and

(4) Any felony offense charged pursuant to Chapter 90 of the General Statutes where the offense involves methamphetamines.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, if the person is convicted of more than one nonviolent felony in the same session of court and none of the nonviolent felonies are alleged to have occurred after the person had already been charged and arrested for the commission of a nonviolent felony, then the multiple nonviolent felony convictions shall be treated as one nonviolent felony conviction under this section, and the expunction order issued under this section shall provide that the multiple nonviolent felony convictions shall be expunged from the person's record in accordance with this section.

(c) Whenever any person who had not yet attained the age of 18 years at the time of the offense and has not previously been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States, the laws of this State, or any other state pleads guilty to or is guilty of a nonviolent felony, the person may file a petition in the court where the person was convicted for expunction of the nonviolent felony from the person's criminal record. The petition shall not be filed earlier than two years after the date of the conviction or when any active sentence, period of probation, and post-release supervision has been served, whichever occurs later. The person shall also perform at least 100 hours of community service, preferably related to the conviction, before filing a petition for expunction under this section. The petition shall contain the following:

(1) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner has been of good moral character for the two-year period since the date of conviction of the nonviolent felony in question and has not been convicted of any other felony or any misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States or the laws of this State or any other state.

(2) Verified affidavits of two persons who are not related to the petitioner or to each other by blood or marriage that they know the character and reputation of the petitioner in the community in which the petitioner lives and that the petitioner's character and reputation are good.

(3) A statement that the petition is a motion in the cause in the case wherein the petitioner was convicted.

(4) An application on a form approved by the Administrative Office of the Courts requesting and authorizing (i) a State and national criminal record check by the Department of Justice using any information required by the Administrative Office of the Courts to identify the individual; (ii) a search by the Department of Justice for any outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases; and (iii) a search of the confidential record of expunctions maintained by the Administrative Office of the Courts. The application shall be forwarded to the Department of Justice and to the Administrative Office of the Courts, which shall conduct the searches and report their findings to the court.

(5) An affidavit by the petitioner that no restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner are outstanding.

(6) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the conviction for the nonviolent felony. The affidavit shall include a list of the community services performed, a list of the recipients of the services, and a detailed description of those services.

(7) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner possesses a high school diploma, a high school graduation equivalency certificate, or a General Education Development Degree.

The petition shall be served upon the district attorney of the court wherein the case was tried resulting in conviction. The district attorney shall have 10 days thereafter in which to file any objection thereto and shall be duly notified as to the date of the hearing of the petition. The district attorney shall make his or her best efforts to contact the victim, if any, to notify the victim of the request for expunction prior to the date of the hearing.

The judge to whom the petition is presented may call upon a probation officer for any additional investigation or verification of the petitioner's conduct during the two-year period that the judge deems desirable.

(d) The court may order that the person be restored, in the contemplation of the law, to the status the person occupied before the arrest or indictment or information if the court finds all of the following after a hearing:

(1) The petitioner has remained of good moral character and has been free of conviction of any felony or misdemeanor, other than a traffic violation, for two years from the date of conviction of the nonviolent felony in question or any active sentence, period of probation, or post-release supervision has been served, whichever is later.

(2) The petitioner has not previously been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States, the laws of this State, or any other state.

(3) The petitioner has no outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases.

(4) The petitioner has no outstanding restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner.

(5) The petitioner was less than 18 years old at the time of the commission of the offense in question.

(6) The petitioner has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the time of the conviction and possesses a high school diploma, a high school graduation equivalency certificate or a General Education Development Degree.

(7) The search of the confidential records of expunctions conducted by the Administrative Office of the Courts shows that the petitioner has not been previously granted an expunction.

(e) No person as to whom an order has been entered pursuant to subsection (d) of this section shall be held thereafter under any provision of any laws to be guilty of perjury or otherwise giving a false statement by reason of that person's failure to recite or acknowledge the arrest, indictment, information, trial, or conviction. Persons pursuing employment requiring certification under Chapters 17C or 17E of the General Statutes, however, shall disclose any and all felony convictions to the certifying Commission regardless of whether or not the felony convictions were expunged pursuant to the provisions of this section.

Persons required by State law to obtain a criminal background check on a prospective employee shall not be deemed to have knowledge of any convictions expunged under this section.

(f) The court shall also order that the nonviolent felony conviction be expunged from the records of the court and direct all law enforcement agencies bearing record of the same to expunge their records of the conviction. The clerk shall forward a certified copy of the order to the sheriff, chief of police, or other arresting agency. The sheriff, chief, or head of any other arresting agency shall then transmit the copy of the order with a form supplied by the State Bureau of Investigation to the State Bureau of Investigation, and the State Bureau of Investigation shall forward the order to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

(g) Any other applicable State or local government agency shall expunge from its records entries made as a result of the conviction ordered expunged under this section. BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 16, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Berger of Franklin	Summary by:	Ben Popkin
Version:	PCS to First Edition S677-CSRD		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 677 would provide for the expunction of a nonviolent felony conviction from the criminal record of an offender who was under the age of 18 at the time of the commission of the nonviolent felony. A petition for expunction may not be filed earlier than two years after the latter or either the date of the conviction or the completion of the active sentence, period of probation, or post- release supervision. The petition shall include affidavits supporting the following: completion of 100 hours of community service, no prior or subsequent felony or misdemeanor convictions (other than traffic violations), no outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases, no outstanding restitution orders or civil judgments, and possession or current pursuit of a high school diploma, high school graduation equivalency certificate, or General Education Development (GED) Degree.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to H898, as introduced by Reps. Bordsen, Crawford, Hall, Jones, which is currently in House Juvenile Justice.]

CHANGES MADE BY PCS:

- G.S. 15A-150(b) - Would change language found in the 1st edition of the bill, to provide that if a person is convicted of more than one nonviolent felony in the same session of court, the multiple nonviolent felony convictions shall be treated as one nonviolent felony for expunction purposes only if none of the nonviolent felines are alleged to have occurred after the person had already been charged and arrested for a nonviolent felony.
- G.S. 15A-150(c)(1) and G.S. 15A-150(d)(1) – Would change references to "good behavior" found in the 1st edition of the bill to "good moral character."
- G.S. 15A-150(c)(4) and G.S. 15A-150(d)(3) – Would add an additional requirement on the application to the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) to request and authorize the Department of Justice to search for any outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases.

  To order expungement a court must find, among other things, that the petitioner has no outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases.
- G.S. 15A-150(c)(7) – Would require the petitioner for expunction to possess a high school diploma, a high school graduation equivalency certificate, or a GED (language of the 1st edition of the bill provided "the petitioner is attending a basic skills program in pursuit of a [GED] or adult high school diploma).
- G.S. 15A-150(d), last paragraph, would require persons pursuing employment with law enforcement agencies to disclose felony convictions even if they have been expunged.
- G.S. 15A-150(g) – Would add language allowing AOC to disclose information in their confidential expunction files to law enforcement agencies, The North Carolina Criminal Justice Education and Training Standards Commission, The North Carolina Sheriffs'

Education and Training Standards Commission for employment and certification purposes only.

- Sections 2 and 3 of the bill would give the Commissions access to the expunction information and authorize the Commissions to deny, suspend, or revoke certification based on an expunged felony conviction.
- Would allow the court to use its discretion in ordering expunction of nonviolent felonies from a person's record, rather than directing the court to issue the order following a hearing at which the court finds the required elements to be present (15A-150(d)).
- Removed sunset provision from the effective date section (Section 4).

[As introduced, this bill was identical to H898, as introduced by Reps. Bordsen, Crawford, Hall, Jones, which is currently in House Juvenile Justice .]

CURRENT LAW: Article 5 of the Criminal Procedure Act provides for the expunction of criminal records of certain criminal charges or convictions. Expunction is the process by which a record of criminal conviction is removed by order of the court, and the individual is restored to the status he or she occupied before the arrest or indictment. General Statute 15A-145 (Expunction of records for first offenders under the age of 18 at the time of conviction of misdemeanor; expunction of certain other misdemeanors) allows a person convicted of a misdemeanor to file a petition for expunction of the misdemeanor from his or her criminal record if the person was under 18 at the time of a conviction or, in the case of a misdemeanor alcohol possession charge, the person was under 21 at the time of conviction. The petition may not be filed sooner than two years after the conviction or completion of probation and must include the following[1]:

1) an affidavit of good behavior for the two years following conviction, stating that the petitioner has not been convicted of any felony or non-traffic misdemeanor charge;

2) two affidavits of good character from persons unrelated to the petitioner;

3) a statement that the petition is a motion in the cause in the case wherein the petitioner was convicted; and

4) affidavits of the clerk of superior court, chief of police, and sheriff of the county of the offense and where the petitioner resides showing that petitioner has not been convicted of a felony or non-traffic misdemeanor offense prior to or in the two years since the conviction in question.

If the court finds in favor of the petitioner, the clerk of superior court and the appropriate law enforcement agencies must expunge the record of the conviction.

Other sections of Article 5 provide for "Expunction of records when charges are dismissed or there are finding of not guilty as a result of identity fraud"[2], "Expunction of DNA records when charges are dismissed on appeal or pardon of innocence is granted"[3], and "Expunction of records when pardon of innocence is granted."[4]

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would add a new section to Article 5 "Expunction of Records" of Chapter 15A "Criminal Procedure Act" of the General Statutes. The proposed G.S. 15A-150 would allow for the

[1] G.S. 15A-145(a)(1) through (4).
[2] G.S. 15A-147.
[3] G.S. 15A-148.
[4] G.S. 15A-149.

expunction of a nonviolent felony from the criminal records of a first time offender who is under 18 years of age at the time of the commission of the nonviolent felony if the person has no previous or subsequent felony or misdemeanor convictions, other than traffic violations. "Nonviolent felony" would include any felony except the following:

- A Class A through G felony;
- A felony that includes assault as an essential element of the offense;
- A felony that is an offense for which the convicted offender must register under Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes (sex offenders); and
- Any Chapter 90 felony offense involving methamphetamines.

If the person is convicted of more than one nonviolent felony in the same session of court and none of the nonviolent felonies are alleged to have occurred after the person had already been charged and arrested for a nonviolent offense, the bill provides that the multiple nonviolent felony convictions shall be treated as one nonviolent felony conviction and be expunged from the person's record by the expunction order issued under this section.

The procedure to be followed by the petitioner is modeled along the lines of the existing procedures for expunction of records. The petition may not be filed earlier than two years after the date of conviction or after the time that any active sentence, period of probation, or post-release supervision has been served, whichever occurs later. The petitioner is also required to perform at least 100 hours of community service before filing the petition for expunction.

The petition must contain at least the following:

1) An affidavit of good moral character by the petitioner for the two years following conviction, stating that the petitioner has not been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor charge, other than traffic violations, under the laws of the United States, this State or any other state during that time;

2) Two affidavits of good moral character from persons unrelated to petitioner;

3) A statement that the petition is a motion in the cause in the case wherein the petitioner was convicted;

4) An application authorizing a State and national criminal record check and search for outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases by the Department of Justice with the results reported to the court;

5) An affidavit by the petitioner that no restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner are outstanding;

6) An affidavit by the petitioner that he or she has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the conviction with a list of the community services performed, a list of the recipients of the services, and a detailed description of the services; and

(7) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner possesses a high school diploma, high school graduation equivalency certificate, or a GED.

The petition is served on the district attorney, who has 10 days to file any objections. The district attorney is directed to contact the victim, if any, to notify the victim of the request for expunction prior to the hearing date. The judge is authorized to call upon a probation officer for any additional investigation or verification of the petitioner's conduct. If the judge finds that the petitioner has met all of the requirements, the judge shall order that the petitioner be restored to the status he or she had before the arrest or indictment. The judge shall also order that the nonviolent felony conviction be expunged from the records of the court and direct all law enforcement agencies to expunge their records, including the State Bureau of Investigation and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Department of Justice DNA records and samples stored in the State DNA database and the State DNA Databank, however, shall not be expunged or destroyed as a result of any order for expunction of records issued under this section.

Any other applicable State or local government agency is directed to expunge from its records any entries made as a result of the conviction order expunged under this section. The agency is required to also reverse any administrative actions taken against a person whose record is expunged under this section.

The clerk of superior court in each county would be required to file with the AOC the names of those persons granted a discharge under the provisions of this section and the AOC must maintain a confidential file containing the names of persons granted conditional discharges. This information can only be disclosed to judges of the General Court of Justice of North Carolina for the purpose of determining if any person charged with an offense has been previously given a discharge, and to law enforcement agencies, The North Carolina Criminal Justice Education and Training Standards Commission, and The North Carolina Sheriffs' Education and Training Standards Commission for employment and certification purposes only.

The PCS would require persons pursuing employment with law enforcement agencies to disclose felony convictions even if they have been expunged and would give the Commissions access to the expunction information and authorize the Commissions to deny, suspend, or revoke certification based on an expunged felony conviction.

If a probation officer is assigned to a person eligible for expunction, the probation officer must notify the person of the provisions of this section. If no probation officer is assigned, then the court which heard the felony must provide notification of the possibility of expunction under this section.

Filing fees for the expunction petition would be set at $100.00 unless the petitioner is indigent. Fees collected would be deposited into the General Fund.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill would become effective December 1, 2007.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE AN EXCEPTION TO G.S. 20-158 RELATING TO MOTORCYCLES AND TRAFFIC-CONTROL SIGNALS ACTIVATED BY VEHICLE DETECTION DEVICES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 20-158 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(e) The driver of a motorcycle approaching an intersection that is controlled by a triggered traffic-control signal using a vehicle detection device that is inoperative due to the size of the motorcycle, shall come to a full and complete stop at the intersection. If the signal fails to operate after one cycle of the traffic signal, the driver may proceed after exercising due caution and care to determine that no motor vehicle or person is approaching on the street or highway to be crossed or entered or is so far away from the intersection that it does not constitute an immediate hazard. It is not a defense to a violation of this section that the driver of a motorcycle proceeded under the belief that a traffic-control signal used a vehicle detection device or was inoperative due to the size of the motorcycle when the signal did not in fact use a vehicle detection device or the device was not in fact inoperative due to the size of the motorcycle."

SECTION 2. This act becomes effective September 1, 2007, and applies to violations occurring on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 880:
Bail Bonds/Amend Forfeiture Requirement

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 19, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Berger of Franklin	Summary by:	Kory Goldsmith Committee Counsel
Version:	PCS to First Edition S880-CSRC-15

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 880 provides that the forfeiture of a bail bond shall be set aside if the defendant is incarcerated anywhere in the United States on the day the defendant was required to appear in court and failed to do so.

The PCS removes language in the 1st Edition that would have required that the defendant be serving a sentence at the time of incarceration.

The act would become effective July 1, 2007.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 15A-544.5 sets out 6 grounds for setting aside the forfeiture of a bail bond. These include situations where the defendant's failure to appear has been set aside by the court, the charges have been finally disposed by the court, the defendant was surrendered to the court by the surety, the defendant died within the period of the forfeiture, or the defendant was incarcerated in North Carolina in a State prison or is serving a sentence in a unit of the Federal Bureau of Prisons in North Carolina. In cases where the State proves that the surety had notice or actual knowledge before executing the bond that the defendant had already failed to appear on two or more occasions for the same offense, the forfeiture of the bond may not be set aside for any reason.

BILL ANALYSIS: The Proposed Committee Substitute for S880 provides that if, at the time the defendant was supposed to appear before the court, the defendant was incarcerated in any type of prison or jail for any reason anywhere within the borders of the United States, then the court shall set aside the bond forfeiture that will have occurred as a result of the defendant's failure to appear.

The PCS broadens the scope of the existing law in that the bond forfeiture would be set aside if the defendant is incarcerated under any in any of the following additional conditions:

- The defendant is incarcerated in a prison or jail or federal detention center in another state;
- The defendant is incarcerated in a jail in North Carolina; or
- The defendant is incarcerated anywhere, in any type of jail or prison, but not actually serving a sentence.

AN ACT TO PROVIDE AN EXCEPTION TO G.S. 20-158 RELATING TO MOTORCYCLES AND TRAFFIC-CONTROL SIGNALS ACTIVATED BY VEHICLE DETECTION DEVICES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 20-158 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(e) The driver of a motorcycle approaching an intersection that is controlled by a triggered traffic-control signal using a vehicle detection device that is inoperative due to the size of the motorcycle, shall come to a full and complete stop at the intersection. If the signal fails to operate after one cycle of the traffic signal, the driver may proceed after exercising due caution and care to determine that no motor vehicle or person is approaching on the street or highway to be crossed or entered or is so far away from the intersection that it does not constitute an immediate hazard. It is not a defense to a violation of this section that the driver of a motorcycle proceeded under the belief that a traffic-control signal used a vehicle detection device or was inoperative due to the size of the motorcycle when the signal did not in fact use a vehicle detection device or the device was not in fact inoperative due to the size of the motorcycle."

SENATE BILL 881:
Define Residency Requirements/Bail Bondsmen

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 19, 2007
Version:	PCS to First Edition S881-CSRC-17

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 881 would provide a definition for the existing residency requirement to become licensed as a bail bondsman or runner. It would require that an applicant provide at least two forms of documentation as proof of residency. It would also require the applicant to have a current and valid North Carolina driver's license.

The Proposed Committee Substitute makes mostly organizational and stylistic changes in that it places the definition of "resident" in the definitions section of Article 71 of Chapter 58 and separates the drivers license requirement from the requirement that the applicant provide documentation as proof of residence. It also requires that the Commissioner adopt rules regarding when an applicant must provide more than two forms of documentation as proof of residency.

The act would become effective October 1, 2007, and apply to applications for licensure made on or after that date.

CURRENT LAW: Article 71 of Chapter 58 governs the licensure and regulation of bail bondsmen and runners. The Commissioner of Insurance is charged with administering the Article, including adopting rules, enforcing sanctions, and renewing, suspending or revoking licenses.

In order to be eligible to become a bail bondsman or runner, the applicant must provide a set of fingerprints and the Commissioner must request that the State Bureau of Investigation run a criminal background check. The SBI may forward the fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for a national criminal background check.

An applicant must meet the following minimum qualifications:

- Be 18 years of age or older.
- Be a resident of this State.
- Have knowledge, training, or experience of sufficient duration and extent to provide the competence necessary to fulfill the responsibilities of a licensee.
- Have no outstanding bail bond obligations.
- Have no current or prior violations of any State law regarding bail bondsmen or runners or of any similar provision of law of any other state.
- Not otherwise be disqualified under the laws of North Carolina or any other state to engage in the bail bond business.

Article 71 does not provide any criteria for what constitutes being a "resident".

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 amends the definitions section of Article 71 of Chapter 58 by defining "resident" as a person who has lived in North Carolina for at least six consecutive months prior to applying for a license. It also makes stylistic changes to existing definitions so the section conforms to current drafting conventions.

Section 2 amends G.S. 58-71-50(b) regarding the requirements for licensure by adding the requirement that an applicant hold a current and valid North Carolina drivers license.

Section 3 adds a new subsection to G.S. 58-71-50 that requires an applicant provide at least 2 documents as proof of residency. The types of documents that may be used are:

- A pay stub showing the applicant's residential address in this State.
- A utility bill showing the applicant's residential address in this State.
- A written lease agreement or contract for purchase and sale signed by the applicant and for a residence located in this State.
- A receipt for personal property taxes paid by the applicant to a North Carolina unit of local government.
- A receipt for real property taxes paid by the applicant to a North Carolina unit of local government.
- A monthly or quarterly statement showing the applicant's residential address in this State and issued by a financial institution for an account held by the applicant.

An applicant could be required to submit additional documentation subject to rules adopted by the Commissioner.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act would become effective October 1, 2007 and apply to applications made on or after that date.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ALLOW THE DRIVER OF A MOTORCYCLE TO PROCEED THROUGH AN INTERSECTION CONTROLLED BY A TRAFFIC SIGNAL ONLY IF THE TRAFFIC SIGNAL USES AN INDUCTIVE LOOP VEHICLE SENSOR THAT ACTIVATES THE TRAFFIC SIGNAL AND THE INDUCTIVE LOOP FAILS TO DETECT THE MOTORCYCLE AND ACTIVATE THE TRAFFIC SIGNAL.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 20-158 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"§ 20-158. Vehicle control signs and signals.

(e) Defense. – It shall be a defense to a violation of subsection (b)(2)a. of this section if the operator of a motorcycle, as defined in G.S. 20-4.01(27)d., shows all of the following:

(1) The operator brought the motorcycle to a complete stop at the intersection or stop bar where a steady red light was being emitted in the direction of the operator.

(2) The intersection is controlled by a vehicle actuated traffic signal using an inductive loop to activate the traffic signal.

(3) No other vehicle was sitting or standing at the intersection.

(4) No pedestrians were attempting to cross at or near the intersection.

(5) The inductive loop that actuated the traffic signal was not activated by the motorcycle.

(6) At least one full traffic signal light cycle had occurred or a minimum of three minutes has elapsed prior to entering the intersection."

SECTION 2. This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 1359:
Red Light Exception for Motorcycles

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 19, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Allran	Summary by:	Jennifer McGinnis
Version:	PCS to First Edition S1359-CSRV-6		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute (PCS) for Senate Bill 1359 would provide an affirmative defense to motorcycle operators who violate the statutory prohibition against entering an intersection when facing a red light if the motorcycle operator shows all of the following: (i) the operator came to a complete stop at the red light; (ii) the intersection was controlled by a vehicle actuated traffic signal using an inductive loop to activate the signal, and the inductive loop was not activated by the motorcycle; (iii) no other vehicles were at the intersection; (iv) no pedestrians were attempting to cross at or near the intersection; (v) at least one full traffic signal had occurred or a minimum of three minutes had elapsed prior to the motorcycle entering the intersection.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, vehicles facing a red light must stop and are prohibited from entering the intersection while the light is red (other than to make a lawful right turn). Running a red light is an infraction punishable by a fine of not more than $100.00 (G.S. 20-176). The Division of Motor Vehicles assigns three points to a person's record for running a red light (G.S. 20-16).

BILL ANALYSIS: The PCS would provide a motorcycle operator who violates the statutory prohibition against entering an intersection when facing a red light an affirmative defense if the operator shows all of the following:

- the operator came to a complete stop at the red light;
- the intersection was controlled by a vehicle actuated traffic signal using an inductive loop to activate the signal, and the inductive loop was not activated by the motorcycle;
- no other vehicles were at the intersection;
- no pedestrians were attempting to cross at or near the intersection;
- at least one full traffic signal had occurred or a minimum of three minutes had elapsed prior to entering the intersection.

BACKGROUND: Actuated traffic signals alter their sequence based on demand, and are activated by vehicle detectors. With an actuated traffic signal, once a vehicle is detected by a sensor, the traffic signal will initiate a change in, or extension of, a traffic signal phase (e.g., change a red light to green). A common kind of vehicle detector used to govern actuated traffic signals is a loop detector. A loop detector works like a metal detector, it reacts to the presence of metal (or an electromagnetic field). The sensitivity of a loop detector varies due to a number of parameters. Depending on the sensitivity of a detector, the presence of a motorcycle may not trigger a change in the traffic signal.

Tennessee, Arkansas, Idaho, and Minnesota have enacted laws similar to the provisions of Senate Bill 1359.

Staff with the Department of Transportation indicate that the Department has a process in place so that a motorcyclist can let the Department know if their motorcycle is not detected by a signal with a loop detector. The Department has used higher performing loop detectors as a standard since 1993; however, there are still old loop detectors that may cause motorcyclists problems. In these cases motorcyclists can call or email the Department to have these loop detectors scheduled for replacement.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The PCS would become effective December 1, 2007, and apply to offenses committed on or after that date.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Article 5 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 15A-150. Expunction of records for first offenders who are under 18 years of age at the time of the commission of a nonviolent felony.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "nonviolent felony" means any felony except the following:

(1) A Class A through G felony;

(2) A felony that includes assault as an essential element of the offense;

(3) A felony that is an offense for which the convicted offender must register under Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes; and

(4) Any felony offense charged pursuant to Chapter 90 of the General Statutes where the offense involves methamphetamines.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, if a person is convicted of more than one nonviolent felony in the same session of court, then the multiple nonviolent felony convictions shall be treated as one nonviolent felony conviction under this section, and the expunction order issued under this section shall provide that the multiple convictions shall be expunged from the person's record in accordance with this section.

(c) Whenever any person who had not yet attained the age of 18 years at the time of the offense and has not previously been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States, the laws of this State, or any other state pleads guilty to or is guilty of a nonviolent felony, the person may file a petition in the court where the person was convicted for expunction of the nonviolent felony from the person's criminal record. The petition shall not be filed earlier than two years after the date of the conviction or when any active sentence, period of probation, and post-release supervision has been served, whichever occurs later. The person shall also perform at least 100 hours of community service, preferably related to the conviction, before filing a petition for expunction under this section. The petition shall contain the following:

(1) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner has been of good behavior for the two-year period since the date of conviction of the nonviolent felony in question and has not been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States or the laws of this State or any other state.

(2) Verified affidavits of two persons who are not related to the petitioner or to each other by blood or marriage that they know the character and reputation of the petitioner in the community in which the petitioner lives and that the petitioner's character and reputation are good.

(4) An application on a form approved by the Administrative Office of the Courts requesting and authorizing a State and national criminal record check by the Department of Justice using any information required by the Administrative Office of the Courts to identify the individual and a search of the confidential records of expunctions maintained by the Administrative Office of the Courts. The application shall be forwarded to the Department of Justice and to the Administrative Office of the Courts to conduct the searches and report the findings to the court.

(5) An affidavit by the petitioner that no restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner are outstanding.

(6) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the conviction for the nonviolent felony. The affidavit shall include a list of the community services performed, a list of the recipients of the services, and a detailed description of those services.

The district attorney shall have 10 days thereafter in which to file any objection thereto and shall be duly notified as to the date of the hearing of the petition. The district attorney shall make his or her best efforts to contact the victim, if any, to notify the victim of the request for expunction prior to the date of the hearing.

The judge to whom the petition is presented may call upon a probation officer for any additional investigation or verification of the petitioner's conduct during the two-year period that the judge deems desirable.

(d) The court shall order that the person be restored, in the contemplation of the law, to the status the person occupied before the arrest or indictment or information if the court finds all of the following after a hearing:

(1) The petitioner has remained of good behavior and has been free of conviction of any felony or misdemeanor, other than a traffic violation, for two years from the date of conviction of the nonviolent felony in question or any active sentence, period of probation, or post-release supervision has been served, whichever is later.

(2) The petitioner has not previously been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor other than a traffic violation under the laws of the United States, the laws of this State, or any other state.

(3) The petitioner has no outstanding restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner.

(4) The petitioner was less than 18 years old at the time of the commission of the offense in question.

(5) The petitioner has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the time of the conviction and possesses a high school diploma or high school graduation equivalency certificate or is attending a program in pursuit of a General Education Development Degree or adult high school diploma.

(6) The search of the confidential records of expunctions conducted by the Administrative Office of the Courts shows that the petitioner has not been previously granted an expunction.

No person as to whom an order has been entered pursuant to this subsection shall be held thereafter under any provision of any laws to be guilty of perjury or otherwise giving a false statement by reason of that person's failure to recite or acknowledge the arrest, indictment, information, trial, or conviction.

(e) The court shall also order that the nonviolent felony conviction be expunged from the records of the court and direct all law enforcement agencies bearing record of the same to expunge their records of the conviction. SENATE BILL 677:
Expunge Nonviolent Felony/Youthful Offender

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 23, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Berger of Franklin	Summary by:	Ben Popkin
Version:	PCS to First Edition S677-CSRD		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 677 would provide for the expunction of a nonviolent felony conviction from the criminal record of an offender who was under the age of 18 at the time of the commission of the nonviolent felony. A petition for expunction may not be filed earlier than two years after the latter or either the date of the conviction or the completion of the active sentence, period of probation, or post- release supervision. The petition shall include affidavits supporting the following: completion of 100 hours of community service, no prior or subsequent felony or misdemeanor convictions (other than traffic violations), no outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases, no outstanding restitution orders or civil judgments, and possession or current pursuit of a high school diploma, high school graduation equivalency certificate, or General Education Development (GED) Degree.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to H898, as introduced by Reps. Bordsen, Crawford, Hall, Jones, which is currently in House Juvenile Justice.]

CHANGES MADE BY PCS:

- Authorizes the court to make inquiries of certain specific agencies and persons to collect information about the petitioner for the court to consider when making its ruling on a petition for expunction of a nonviolent felony (probation records, juvenile records, payment of restitution, and testimony of victims, law enforcement officers or district attorneys)[1].
- Raises fee to be paid for filing a petition for expunction of a nonviolent felony to $125.00.
- Increases time period for DA to file an objection to a petition for expunction to 30 days.
- G.S. 15A-150(b) - Would change language found in the 1st edition of the bill, to provide that if a person is convicted of more than one nonviolent felony in the same session of court, the multiple nonviolent felony convictions shall be treated as one nonviolent felony for expunction purposes only if none of the nonviolent felines are alleged to have occurred after the person had already been charged and arrested for a nonviolent felony.
- G.S. 15A-150(c)(1) and G.S. 15A-150(d)(1) – Would change references to "good behavior" found in the 1st edition of the bill to "good moral character."
- G.S. 15A-150(c)(4) and G.S. 15A-150(d)(3) – Would add an additional requirement on the application to the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) to request and authorize the Department of Justice to search for any outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases.

  To order expungement a court must find, among other things, that the petitioner has no outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases.
- G.S. 15A-150(c)(7) – Would require the petitioner for expunction to possess a high school diploma, a high school graduation equivalency certificate, or a GED (language of the 1st edition of the bill provided "the petitioner is attending a basic skills program in pursuit of a [GED] or adult high school diploma).

- G.S. 15A-150(d), last paragraph, would require persons pursuing employment with law enforcement agencies to disclose felony convictions even if they have been expunged.
- G.S. 15A-150(g) – Would add language allowing AOC to disclose information in their confidential expunction files to law enforcement agencies, The North Carolina Criminal Justice Education and Training Standards Commission, The North Carolina Sheriffs' Education and Training Standards Commission for employment and certification purposes only.
- Sections 2 and 3 of the bill would give the Commissions access to the expunction information and authorize the Commissions to deny, suspend, or revoke certification based on an expunged felony conviction.
- Would allow the court to use its discretion in ordering expunction of nonviolent felonies from a person's record, rather than directing the court to issue the order following a hearing at which the court finds the required elements to be present (15A-150(d)).
- Removed sunset provision from the effective date section (Section 4).

CURRENT LAW: Article 5 of the Criminal Procedure Act provides for the expunction of criminal records of certain criminal charges or convictions. Expunction is the process by which a record of criminal conviction is removed by order of the court, and the individual is restored to the status he or she occupied before the arrest or indictment. General Statute 15A-145 (Expunction of records for first offenders under the age of 18 at the time of conviction of misdemeanor; expunction of certain other misdemeanors) allows a person convicted of a misdemeanor to file a petition for expunction of the misdemeanor from his or her criminal record if the person was under 18 at the time of a conviction or, in the case of a misdemeanor alcohol possession charge, the person was under 21 at the time of conviction. The petition may not be filed sooner than two years after the conviction or completion of probation and must include the following[2]:

1) an affidavit of good behavior for the two years following conviction, stating that the petitioner has not been convicted of any felony or non-traffic misdemeanor charge;

2) two affidavits of good character from persons unrelated to the petitioner;

3) a statement that the petition is a motion in the cause in the case wherein the petitioner was convicted; and

4) affidavits of the clerk of superior court, chief of police, and sheriff of the county of the offense and where the petitioner resides showing that petitioner has not been convicted of a felony or non-traffic misdemeanor offense prior to or in the two years since the conviction in question.

If the court finds in favor of the petitioner, the clerk of superior court and the appropriate law enforcement agencies must expunge the record of the conviction.

Other sections of Article 5 provide for "Expunction of records when charges are dismissed or there are finding of not guilty as a result of identity fraud"[3], "Expunction of DNA records when charges are dismissed on appeal or pardon of innocence is granted"[4], and "Expunction of records when pardon of innocence is granted."[5]

[2] G.S. 15A-145(a)(1) through (4).
[3] G.S. 15A-147.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would add a new section to Article 5 "Expunction of Records" of Chapter 15A "Criminal Procedure Act" of the General Statutes. The proposed G.S. 15A-150 would allow for the expunction of a nonviolent felony from the criminal records of a first time offender who is under 18 years of age at the time of the commission of the nonviolent felony if the person has no previous or subsequent felony or misdemeanor convictions, other than traffic violations. "Nonviolent felony" would include any felony except the following:

- A Class A through G felony;
- A felony that includes assault as an essential element of the offense;
- A felony that is an offense for which the convicted offender must register under Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes (sex offenders); and
- Any Chapter 90 felony offense involving methamphetamines.

If the person is convicted of more than one nonviolent felony in the same session of court and none of the nonviolent felonies are alleged to have occurred after the person had already been charged and arrested for a nonviolent offense, the bill provides that the multiple nonviolent felony convictions shall be treated as one nonviolent felony conviction and be expunged from the person's record by the expunction order issued under this section.

The procedure to be followed by the petitioner is modeled along the lines of the existing procedures for expunction of records. The petition may not be filed earlier than two years after the date of conviction or after the time that any active sentence, period of probation, or post-release supervision has been served, whichever occurs later. The petitioner is also required to perform at least 100 hours of community service before filing the petition for expunction.

The petition must contain at least the following:

1) An affidavit of good moral character by the petitioner for the two years following conviction, stating that the petitioner has not been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor charge, other than traffic violations, under the laws of the United States, this State or any other state during that time;

2) Two affidavits of good moral character from persons unrelated to petitioner;

3) A statement that the petition is a motion in the cause in the case wherein the petitioner was convicted;

4) An application authorizing a State and national criminal record check and search for outstanding warrants or pending criminal cases by the Department of Justice with the results reported to the court;

5) An affidavit by the petitioner that no restitution orders or civil judgments representing amounts ordered for restitution entered against the petitioner are outstanding;

---

[4] G.S. 15A-148.
[5] G.S. 15A-149.

6) An affidavit by the petitioner that he or she has performed at least 100 hours of community service since the conviction with a list of the community services performed, a list of the recipients of the services, and a detailed description of the services; and

(7) An affidavit by the petitioner that the petitioner possesses a high school diploma, high school graduation equivalency certificate, or a GED.

The petition is served on the district attorney, who has 30 days to file any objections. The district attorney is directed to contact the victim, if any, to notify the victim of the request for expunction prior to the hearing date. The judge is authorized to call upon a probation officer for any additional investigation or verification of the petitioner's conduct. If the judge finds that the petitioner has met all of the requirements, the judge shall order that the petitioner be restored to the status he or she had before the arrest or indictment. The judge shall also order that the nonviolent felony conviction be expunged from the records of the court and direct all law enforcement agencies to expunge their records, including the State Bureau of Investigation and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Department of Justice DNA records and samples stored in the State DNA database and the State DNA Databank, however, shall not be expunged or destroyed as a result of any order for expunction of records issued under this section.

Any other applicable State or local government agency is directed to expunge from its records any entries made as a result of the conviction order expunged under this section. The agency is required to also reverse any administrative actions taken against a person whose record is expunged under this section.

The clerk of superior court in each county would be required to file with the AOC the names of those persons granted a discharge under the provisions of this section and the AOC must maintain a confidential file containing the names of persons granted conditional discharges. This information can only be disclosed to judges of the General Court of Justice of North Carolina for the purpose of determining if any person charged with an offense has been previously given a discharge, and to law enforcement agencies, The North Carolina Criminal Justice Education and Training Standards Commission, and The North Carolina Sheriffs' Education and Training Standards Commission for employment and certification purposes only.

The PCS would require persons pursuing employment with law enforcement agencies to disclose felony convictions even if they have been expunged and would give the Commissions access to the expunction information and authorize the Commissions to deny, suspend, or revoke certification based on an expunged felony conviction.

If a probation officer is assigned to a person eligible for expunction, the probation officer must notify the person of the provisions of this section. If no probation officer is assigned, then the court which heard the felony must provide notification of the possibility of expunction under this section.

Filing fees for the expunction petition would be set at $125.00 unless the petitioner is indigent. Fees collected would be deposited into the General Fund.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The bill would become effective December 1, 2007.

SENATE BILL 881:
Define Residency Requirements/Bail Bondsmen

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 19, 2007
Version:	PCS to First Edition S881-CSRC-17

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 881 would provide a definition for the existing residency requirement to become licensed as a bail bondsman or runner. It would require that an applicant provide at least two forms of documentation as proof of residency. It would also require the applicant to have a current and valid North Carolina driver's license.

The Proposed Committee Substitute makes mostly organizational and stylistic changes in that it places the definition of "resident" in the definitions section of Article 71 of Chapter 58 and separates the drivers license requirement from the requirement that the applicant provide documentation as proof of residence. It also requires that the Commissioner adopt rules regarding when an applicant must provide more than two forms of documentation as proof of residency.

The act would become effective October 1, 2007, and apply to applications for licensure made on or after that date.

CURRENT LAW: Article 71 of Chapter 58 governs the licensure and regulation of bail bondsmen and runners. The Commissioner of Insurance is charged with administering the Article, including adopting rules, enforcing sanctions, and renewing, suspending or revoking licenses.

In order to be eligible to become a bail bondsman or runner, the applicant must provide a set of fingerprints and the Commissioner must request that the State Bureau of Investigation run a criminal background check. The SBI may forward the fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for a national criminal background check.

An applicant must meet the following minimum qualifications:

- Be 18 years of age or older.
- Be a resident of this State.
- Have knowledge, training, or experience of sufficient duration and extent to provide the competence necessary to fulfill the responsibilities of a licensee.
- Have no outstanding bail bond obligations.
- Have no current or prior violations of any State law regarding bail bondsmen or runners or of any similar provision of law of any other state.
- Not otherwise be disqualified under the laws of North Carolina or any other state to engage in the bail bond business.

Article 71 does not provide any criteria for what constitutes being a "resident".

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 amends the definitions section of Article 71 of Chapter 58 by defining "resident" as a person who has lived in North Carolina for at least six consecutive months prior to applying for a license. It also makes stylistic changes to existing definitions so the section conforms to current drafting conventions.

Section 2 amends G.S. 58-71-50(b) regarding the requirements for licensure by adding the requirement that an applicant hold a current and valid North Carolina drivers license.

Section 3 adds a new subsection to G.S. 58-71-50 that requires an applicant provide at least 2 documents as proof of residency. The types of documents that may be used are:

- A pay stub showing the applicant's residential address in this State.
- A utility bill showing the applicant's residential address in this State.
- A written lease agreement or contract for purchase and sale signed by the applicant and for a residence located in this State.
- A receipt for personal property taxes paid by the applicant to a North Carolina unit of local government.
- A receipt for real property taxes paid by the applicant to a North Carolina unit of local government.
- A monthly or quarterly statement showing the applicant's residential address in this State and issued by a financial institution for an account held by the applicant.

An applicant could be required to submit additional documentation subject to rules adopted by the Commissioner.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act would become effective October 1, 2007 and apply to applications made on or after that date.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT A BOND FORFEITURE SHALL BE SET ASIDE IF THE DEFENDANT FAILED TO APPEAR BECAUSE THE DEFENDANT WAS INCARCERATED ANYWHERE IN THE UNITED STATES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 15A-544.5 reads as rewritten:

"§ 15A-544.5. Setting aside forfeiture.

(a) Relief Exclusive. – There shall be no relief from a forfeiture except as provided in this section. The reasons for relief are those specified in subsection (b) of this section. The procedures for obtaining relief are those specified in subsections (c) and (d) of this section. Subsections (f), (g), ~~(h), and (i)~~ and (h) of this section apply regardless of the reason for relief given or the procedure followed.

(b) Reasons for Set Aside. – A forfeiture shall be set aside for any one of the following reasons, and none other:

(1) The defendant's failure to appear has been set aside by the court and any order for arrest issued for that failure to appear has been recalled, as evidenced by a copy of an official court record, including an electronic record.

(2) All charges for which the defendant was bonded to appear have been finally disposed by the court other than by the State's taking dismissal with leave, as evidenced by a copy of an official court record, including an electronic record.

(3) The defendant has been surrendered by a surety on the bail bond as provided by G.S. 15A-540, as evidenced by the sheriff's receipt provided for in that section.

(4) The defendant has been served with an Order for Arrest for the Failure to Appear on the criminal charge in the case in ~~question.~~ question as evidenced by a copy of an official court record, including an electronic record,

(5) The defendant died before or within the period between the forfeiture and the final judgment as demonstrated by the presentation of a death certificate.

(6) The defendant was incarcerated in a unit of the North Carolina Department of Correction and is serving a sentence or in a unit of the Federal Bureau of Prisons located within the borders of the State at the time of the failure to ~~appear.~~appear as evidenced by a copy of an official court record or a copy of a document from the Department of Correction or Federal Bureau of Prisons, including an electronic record.

(7) The defendant was incarcerated in a local, state, or federal detention center, jail or prison located anywhere within the borders of the United States at the time of the failure to appear, and the district attorney for the county in which the charges are pending was notified of the defendant's incarceration while the defendant was still incarcerated and the defendant remains incarcerated for a period of 10 days following the district attorney's receipt of notice, as evidence by a copy of the written notice served on the district attorney via hand delivery or certified mail and written documentation of date upon which the defendant was released from incarceration, if the defendant was released prior to the time the motion to set aside was filed.

(c) Procedure When Failure to Appear Is Stricken. – If the court before which a defendant's appearance was secured by a bail bond enters an order striking the defendant's failure to appear and recalling any order for arrest issued for that failure to appear, that court may simultaneously enter an order setting aside any forfeiture of that bail bond. When an order setting aside a forfeiture is entered, the defendant's further appearances shall continue to be secured by that bail bond unless the court orders otherwise.

(d) Motion Procedure. – If a forfeiture is not set aside under subsection (c) of this section, the only procedure for setting it aside is as follows:

(1) At any time before the expiration of 150 days after the date on which notice was given under G.S. 15A-544.4, the defendant or any surety on a bail bond may make a written motion that the forfeiture be set aside, stating the reason and attaching the evidence specified in subsection (a) of this section.

(2) The motion is filed in the office of the clerk of superior court of the county in which the forfeiture was entered, and a copy is served, under G.S. 1A-1, Rule 5, on the district attorney for that county and the county board of education.

(3) Either the district attorney or the county board of education may object to the motion by filing a written objection in the office of the clerk and serving a copy on the moving party.

(4) If neither the district attorney nor the board of education has filed a written objection to the motion by the tenth day after the motion is served, the clerk shall enter an order setting aside the forfeiture.

(5) If either the district attorney or the county board of education files a written objection to the motion, then not more than 30 days after the objection is filed a hearing on the motion and objection shall be held in the county, in the trial division in which the defendant was bonded to appear.

(6) If at the hearing the court allows the motion, the court shall enter an order setting aside the forfeiture.

(7) If at the hearing the court does not enter an order setting aside the forfeiture, the forfeiture shall become a final judgment of forfeiture on the later of:

a. The date of the hearing.

b. The date of final judgment specified in G.S. 15A-544.6.

(8) If at the hearing the court determines that the documentation required to be attached pursuant to subdivision (1) of this subsection is fraudulent or was not attached to the motion at the time the motion was filed, the court may order monetary sanctions against the surety filing the motion, unless the court also finds that the failure to attach the required documentation was unintentional. This subdivision shall not limit the criminal prosecution of any individual involved in the creation or filing of any fraudulent documentation.

(e) Only One Motion Per Forfeiture. – No more than one motion to set aside a specific forfeiture may be considered by the court.

(f) No More Than Two Forfeitures May Be Set Aside Per Case. – In any case in which the State proves that the surety or the bail agent had notice or actual knowledge, before executing a bail bond, that the defendant had already failed to appear on two or more prior occasions, no forfeiture of that bond may be set aside for any reason.

(g) No Final Judgment After Forfeiture Is Set Aside. – If a forfeiture is set aside under this section, the forfeiture shall not thereafter ever become a final judgment of forfeiture or be enforced or reported to the Department of Insurance.

(h) Appeal. – An order on a motion to set aside a forfeiture is a final order or judgment of the trial court for purposes of appeal. Appeal is the same as provided for appeals in civil actions. When notice of appeal is properly filed, the court may stay the effectiveness of the order on any conditions the court considers appropriate."

SECTION 2. G.S. 15A-544.3(b)(9) reads as rewritten:

"(b) The forfeiture shall contain the following information:

(9) The following notice: "TO THE DEFENDANT AND EACH SURETY NAMED ABOVE: The defendant named above has failed to appear as required before the court in the case identified above. A forfeiture for the amount of the bail bond shown above was entered in favor of the State against the defendant and each surety named above on the date of forfeiture shown above. This forfeiture will be set aside if, on or before the final judgment date shown above, satisfactory evidence is presented to the court that one of the following events has occurred: (i) the defendant's failure to appear has been stricken by the court in which the defendant was required to appear and any order for arrest that was issued for that failure to appear is recalled, (ii) all charges for which the defendant was bonded to appear have been finally disposed by the court other than by the State's taking a voluntary dismissal with leave, (iii) the defendant has been surrendered by a surety or bail agent to a sheriff of this State as provided by law, (iv) the defendant has been served with an Order for Arrest for the Failure to Appear on the criminal charge in the case in ~~question,~~question as evidenced by a copy of an official court record, including an electronic record; (v) the defendant died before or within the period between the forfeiture and the final judgment as demonstrated by the presentation of a death certificate, ~~or~~ (vi) the defendant was incarcerated in a unit of the North Carolina Department of Correction and is serving a sentence or in a unit of the Federal Bureau of Prisons located within the borders of the State at the time of the failure to ~~appear.~~as evidenced by a copy of an official court record or a copy of a document from the Department of Correction or Federal Bureau of Prisons; or (vii) the defendant was incarcerated in a local, state, or federal detention center, jail or prison located anywhere within the borders of the United States at the time of the failure to appear, and the district attorney for the county in which the charges are pending was notified of the defendant's incarceration while the defendant was still incarcerated and the defendant remains incarcerated for a period of 10 days following the district attorney's receipt of notice, as evidence by a copy of the written notice served on the district attorney via hand delivery or certified mail and written documentation of date upon which the defendant was released from incarceration, if the defendant was released prior to the time the motion to set aside was filed. The forfeiture will not be set aside for any other reason. If this forfeiture is not set aside on or before the final judgment date shown above, and if no motion to set it aside is pending on that date, the forfeiture will become a final judgment on that date. The final judgment will be enforceable by execution against the defendant and any accommodation bondsman and professional bondsman on the bond. The final judgment will also be reported to the Department of Insurance. Further, no surety will be allowed to execute any bail bond in the above county until the final judgment is satisfied in full."

SECTION 3. This act becomes effective October 1, 2007 and applies to forfeitures entered on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 880:
Bail Bonds/Amend Forfeiture Requirement

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 25, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Berger of Franklin	Summary by:	Kory Goldsmith
Version:	PCS to First Edition S880-CSRC-20		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 880 provides that the forfeiture of a bail bond shall be set aside if the defendant is incarcerated anywhere in the United States on the day the defendant was required to appear in court and failed to do so, the district attorney(DA) was notified of the defendant's incarceration and the defendant remains incarcerated for at least 10 days after the DA's receipt of the notice. It also would allow a court to impose monetary sanctions against a surety who attached fraudulent documentation to the motion to set aside a forfeiture.

The act would become effective October 1, 2007 and apply to forfeitures entered on or after that date.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 15A-544.5 sets out 6 grounds for setting aside the forfeiture of a bail bond. These include situations where the defendant's failure to appear has been set aside by the court, the charges have been finally disposed by the court, the defendant was surrendered to the court by the surety, the defendant died within the period of the forfeiture, or the defendant was incarcerated in North Carolina in a State prison or is serving a sentence in a unit of the Federal Bureau of Prisons in North Carolina. In cases where the State proves that the surety had notice or actual knowledge before executing the bond that the defendant had already failed to appear on two or more occasions for the same offense, the forfeiture of the bond may not be set aside for any reason.

(NOTE: YOU SHOULD USE THIS DOCUMENT TO NAME A PERSON AS YOUR HEALTH CARE AGENT IF YOU ARE COMFORTABLE GIVING THAT PERSON BROAD AND SWEEPING POWERS TO MAKE HEALTH CARE DECISIONS FOR YOU. THERE IS NO LEGAL REQUIREMENT THAT ANYONE EXECUTE A HEALTH CARE POWER OF ATTORNEY.)

EXPLANATION: You have the right to name someone to make health care decisions for you when you cannot make or communicate those decisions. This form may be used to create a health care power of attorney, and meets the requirements of North Carolina law. However, you are not required to use this form, and North Carolina law allows the use of other forms that meet certain requirements. If you prepare your own health care power of a attorney, you should be very careful to make sure it is consistent with North Carolina law.

This document gives the person you designate as your health care agent broad powers to make health care decisions for you when you cannot make the decision yourself or cannot communicate your decision to other people. You should discuss your wishes concerning life-prolonging measures, mental health treatment, and other health care decisions with your health care agent. Except to the extent that you express specific limitations or restrictions in this form, your health care agent may make any health care decision you could make yourself.

This form does not impose a duty on your health care agent to exercise granted powers, but when a power is exercised, your health care agent will be obligated to use due care to act in your best interests and in accordance with this document.

This Health Care Power of Attorney form is intended to be valid in any jurisdiction in which it is presented, but places outside North Carolina may impose requirements that this form does not meet.

If you want to use this form you must complete it, sign it, and have your signature witnessed by a qualified witness and proved by a notary public. Follow the instructions about which choices you can initial very carefully. Do not sign this form until a witness and a notary public are present to watch you sign it. You then should give a copy to your health care agent and to any alternates you name. You should consider filing it with the Advance Health Care Directive Registry maintained by the North Carolina Secretary of State.

ADVANCE DIRECTIVE FOR A NATURAL DEATH ("LIVING WILL")

NOTE: YOU SHOULD USE THIS DOCUMENT TO GIVE YOUR HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS INSTRUCTIONS ABOUT WHETHER TO APPLY LIFE-PROLONGING MEASURES IN CERTAIN SITUATIONS. THERE IS NO LEGAL REQUIREMENT THAT ANYONE EXECUTE A LIVING WILL.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS: You can use this Advance Directive ("Living Will") form to give instructions for the future about whether you want your health care providers to apply life-prolonging measures in certain situations. You should talk to your doctor about what these terms mean. The Living Will states what choices you would have made for yourself if you were able to communicate. Talk to your family members, friends, and others you trust about your choices. Also, it is a good idea to talk with professionals such as your doctors, clergypersons, and lawyers before you complete and sign this Living Will.

You do not have to use this form to give those instructions, but if you create your own Advance Directive you need to be very careful to ensure that it is consistent with North Carolina law.

This Living Will form is intended to be valid in any jurisdiction in which it is presented, but places outside North Carolina may impose requirements that this form does not meet.

If you want to use this form, you must complete it, sign it, and have your signature witnessed by a qualified witness and proved by a notary public. Follow the instructions about which choices you can initial very carefully. Do not sign this form until a witness and a notary public are present to watch you sign it. You then should consider giving a copy to your primary physician and/or a trusted relative, and should consider filing it with the Advanced Health Care Directive Registry maintained by the North Carolina Secretary of State.

7. My Health Care Providers May Rely on this Directive

(2) An attending physician may decline to honor a declaration if after reasonable inquiry there are reasonable grounds to question the genuineness or validity of a declaration. The subsection imposes no duty on the attending physician to verify a declaration's genuineness or validity.

(l) Notwithstanding subsection (c) of this section, a declaration or similar document executed in a jurisdiction other than North Carolina shall be valid in this State if it appears to have been executed in accordance with the applicable requirements of that jurisdiction or this State."

SECTION 14. G.S. 90-21.17 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-21.17. Portable do not resuscitate ~~order.~~order and Medical Order for Scope of Treatment.

(a) It is the intent of this section to recognize a patient's desire and right to withhold cardiopulmonary resuscitation and other life-prolonging measures to avoid loss of dignity and unnecessary pain and suffering through the use of a portable do not resuscitate ("DNR") ~~order.~~order or a Medical Order for Scope of Treatment (MOST).

This section establishes an optional and nonexclusive procedure by which a patient or the patient's representative may exercise this right.

(b) A physician may issue a portable DNR order or MOST for a patient:

(1) With the consent of the patient;

(2) If the patient is a minor, with the consent of the patient's parent or guardian; or

(3) If the patient is not a minor but is incapable of making an informed decision regarding consent for the order, with the consent of the patient's representative.

The physician shall document the basis for the DNR order or MOST in the patient's medical record. When the order is a MOST, the patient or the patient's representative must sign the form, provided, however, that if it is not practicable for the patient's representative to sign the original MOST form, the patient's representative shall sign a copy of the completed form and return it to the health care professional completing the form. The copy of the form with the signature of the patient's representative, whether in paper or electronic form, shall be placed in the patient's medical record. When the signature of the patient's representative is on a separate copy of the MOST form, the original MOST form must indicate in the appropriate signature field that the signature is "on file."

(c) The Department of Health and Human Services shall develop a portable DNR order ~~form.~~form, and a MOST form. The official DNR form shall include fields for the name of the patient; the name, address, and telephone number of the physician; the signature of the physician; and other relevant information. At a minimum, the official MOST form shall include fields for: the name of the patient; the name and telephone number of the physician, physician assistant, or nurse practitioner authorizing the order by signing the form; the name and contact information of the health care professional who prepared the form with the patient or the patient's representative; information on who agreed (i.e. the patient or the patient's representative) to the options selected on the MOST form; a range of options for cardiopulmonary resuscitation, medical interventions, antibiotics, medically administered fluids and nutrition; a signature clock for the patient or the patient's representative to sign if practicable; effective date of the form and review dates; and an advisory that the MOST may be revoked by the patient or the patient's representative. The form may be approved by reference to a standard form that meets the requirements of this subsection. For purposes of this section, the "patient's representative" means an individual from the list of persons authorized to consent to the withholding of extraordinary care pursuant to ~~G.S. 90-322 or an individual who has an established relationship with the patient, who is acting in good faith on behalf of the patient, and who can reliably convey the patient's wishes.~~G.S. 90-322.

(d) No physician, emergency medical professional, hospice provider, or other health care provider shall be subject to criminal prosecution, civil liability, or disciplinary action by any professional licensing or certification agency for withholding cardiopulmonary resuscitation from a patient in good faith reliance on an original DNR order or MOST form adopted pursuant to subsection (c) of this section, provided that (i) there are no reasonable grounds for doubting the validity of the order or the identity of the patient, and (ii) the provider does not have actual knowledge of the revocation of the portable DNR ~~order.~~order or MOST. No physician, emergency medical professional, hospice provider, or other health care provider shall be subject to criminal prosecution, civil liability, or disciplinary action by any professional licensing or certification agency for failure to follow a DNR order or MOST form adopted pursuant to subsection (c) of this section if the provider had no actual knowledge of the existence of the DNR ~~order.~~order or MOST.

(e) A health care facility may develop policies and procedures that authorize the facility's provider to accept a portable DNR order or MOST as if it were an order of the medical staff of that facility. This section does not prohibit a physician in a health care facility from issuing a written order, other than a portable DNR ~~order,~~order or MOST not to resuscitate a patient in the event of cardiac or respiratory arrest, or to use, withhold, or withdraw additional medical interventions as provided in the MOST, in accordance with acceptable medical practice and the facility's policies.

(f) Nothing in this section shall affect the validity of portable DNR order or MOST forms in existence prior to the effective date of this section."

SECTION 3. G.S. 14-72.1 reads as rewritten:

"§ 14-72.1 Concealment of merchandise in mercantile establishments.

(a) Whoever, without authority, willfully conceals the goods or merchandise of any store, not theretofore purchased by such person, while still upon the premises of such store, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be punished as provided in subsection (e). The term of imprisonment may be suspended only if a condition of special probation is imposed to require the defendant to serve a term of imprisonment of at least 11 days. However, if the sentencing judge finds that the defendant is unable, by reason of mental or physical infirmity, to perform the service required under this section, and the reasons for such findings are set forth in the judgment, the judge may pronounce such other sentence as the judge finds appropriate.

(f) Community Service Period. – If the judgment requires a defendant sentenced under this section to perform a specified number of hours of community service, the community service must be completed within:

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND THE OFFENSE OF DOMESTIC CRIMINAL TRESPASS BY MAKING IT A FELONY FOR A PERSON WHO IS THE SUBJECT OF A VALID PROTECTIVE ORDER TO TRESPASS ON PROPERTY THAT IS OPERATED AS A SAFE HOUSE OR HAVEN FOR DOMESTIC VIOLENCE VICTIMS WITHOUT REGARD AS TO WHETHER THE PERSONS COVERED BY THE PROTECTIVE ORDER ARE PRESENT ON THE PREMISES AND TO PROVIDE THAT IT IS AN AGGRAVATING CIRCUMSTANCE FOR FIRST DEGREE MURDER IF A DEFENDANT WHO IS THE SUBJECT OF A VALID PROTECTIVE ORDER COMMITS A MURDER ON THE PREMISES OF A SHELTER FOR VICTIMS OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 14-134.3 reads as rewritten:

"§ 14-134.3. Domestic criminal trespass.

(a) Any person who enters after being forbidden to do so or remains after being ordered to leave by the lawful occupant, upon the premises occupied by a present or former spouse or by a person with whom the person charged has lived as if married, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor if the complainant and the person charged are living apart; provided, however, that no person shall be guilty if said person enters upon the premises pursuant to a judicial order or written separation agreement which gives the person the right to enter upon said premises for the purpose of visiting with minor children. Evidence that the parties are living apart shall include but is not necessarily limited to:

(1) A judicial order of separation;

(2) A court order directing the person charged to stay away from the premises occupied by the complainant;

(3) An agreement, whether verbal or written, between the complainant and the person charged that they shall live separate and apart, and such parties are in fact living separate and apart; or

(4) Separate places of residence for the complainant and the person charged.

Except as provided in subsection (b) or (c) of this section, upon conviction, said person is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor.

(b) A person convicted of a violation of this section is guilty of a Class G felony if the person is trespassing upon property operated as a safe house or haven for victims of domestic violence and the person is armed with a deadly weapon at the time of the offense.

(c) It is unlawful for a person who is subject to a valid protective order that is enforceable under Chapter 50B of the General Statutes to enter property being operated as a safe house or haven for victims of domestic violence after being forbidden to do so or to remain on the premises after being ordered to leave by the lawful occupant, unless the person enters upon the premises pursuant to a judicial order or written separation agreement that gives the person the right to enter upon the premises for the purpose of visiting with minor children. A person who violates this subsection is guilty of this offense regardless of whether any of the parties protected by the protective order are present on the property. A person who violates this subsection is guilty of a Class H felony."

SECTION 2. G.S. 15A-2001 is amended by adding a new subdivision to read:

"(12) The defendant was the subject of a valid protective order enforceable under Chapter 50B of the General Statutes at the time of the commission of the capital felony and committed the capital felony on the premises of a safe house or haven for victims of domestic violence."

SECTION 3. This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 83:
Amend Domestic Crim. Trespass

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 25, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Snow	Summary by:	Ben Popkin
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 83 would amend existing domestic criminal trespass law to create a Class H felony offense for persons who are subject to a valid protective order to enter onto the premises of a 'safe house' for victims of domestic violence. SB 83 would also amend Article 100 (Capital Punishment) of Chapter 15A (Criminal Procedure Act) to add as an aggravating circumstance the commission of a capital felony by a defendant who was the subject of a valid protective order, on the premises of a safe house for victims of domestic violence.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to S1447, as introduced by Sen. Snow, which is currently in Senate Judiciary I (Civil).]

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 14-134.3 sets forth the criminal offense of domestic criminal trespass. Any person who enters after being forbidden to do so or remains after being told to leave, upon the premises occupied by a present or past spouse or person with whom the defendant lived as if married, shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor offense. Exception to this offense is provided for persons entering upon the premises pursuant to the terms of a judicial order or a written separation agreement granting right to enter for the purpose of visiting with minor children.

If a person violates this section and the property entered is a safe house for victims of domestic violence and the defendant is armed with a deadly weapon at the time of entry, then they shall be guilty of a Class G felony offense.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 - would amend G.S. 14-134.3 to create a Class H felony offense for persons who are subject to a valid protective order to enter onto the premises of a 'safe house' for victims of domestic violence after being forbidden to enter onto the premises, or to remain on the premises after being ordered to leave by the lawful occupant. Violation of this subsection would not require that any parties protected by the protective order actually be present on the property for the offense to occur.

An exception to this offense is provided for persons entering upon the premises pursuant to the terms of a judicial order or a written separation agreement granting the person the right to enter for the purpose of visiting with minor children.

Section 2 – would amend Article 100 (Capital Punishment) of Chapter 15A (Criminal Procedure Act) to add as an aggravating the commission of a capital felony by a defendant who was the subject of a valid protective order, and the capital felony was committed on the premises of a safe house for victims of domestic violence.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

BACKGROUND: Aggravating and mitigating circumstances are factors which may be considered by a jury during its deliberation to determine a sentence to impose upon a convicted defendant.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT PROVIDING THAT A BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS MAY AUTHORIZE THE GOVERNING BODY OF A CITY TO AUTHORIZE THE USE OF PYROTECHNICS WITHIN THE CORPORATE LIMITS OF THE CITY AND ISSUE PERMITS FOR THE USE OF PYROTECHNICS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 14-410(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) It shall be unlawful for any individual, firm, partnership or corporation to manufacture, purchase, sell, deal in, transport, possess, receive, advertise, use or cause to be discharged any pyrotechnics of any description whatsoever within the State of North Carolina: provided, however, that it shall be permissible for pyrotechnics to be exhibited, used or discharged at concerts or public exhibitions, such as fairs, carnivals, shows of all descriptions and public celebrations: provided, further, that the use of said pyrotechnics in connection with concerts or public exhibitions, such as fairs, carnivals, shows of all descriptions and public celebrations, shall be under supervision of experts who have previously secured written authority from the board of county commissioners of the ~~county~~county, or the city if authorized under G.S. 14-413(a1), in which said pyrotechnics are to be exhibited, used or discharged. Written authority from the board of commissioners or city is not required, however, for a concert or public exhibition authorized by The University of North Carolina or the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and conducted on lands or buildings in Orange County owned by The University of North Carolina or the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, but such exhibition, use, or discharge of pyrotechnics shall be under supervision of experts who have previously secured written authority from The University of North Carolina or the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Notwithstanding any provision of this section, it shall not be unlawful for a common carrier to receive, transport, and deliver pyrotechnics in the regular course of its business. The requirements of G.S. 14-413(b) and G.S. 14-413(c) apply to this section."

SECTION 2. G.S. 14-413 reads as rewritten:

"§ 14-413. Permits for use at public exhibitions.

(a) For the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this Article, the board of county commissioners of any ~~county~~county, or the governing board of a city authorized pursuant to subsection (a1) of this section, may issue permits for use in connection with the conduct of concerts or public exhibitions, such as fairs, carnivals, shows of all descriptions and public ~~exhibitions,~~celebrations, but only after satisfactory evidence is produced to the effect that said pyrotechnics will be used for the aforementioned purposes and none other. Provided that no such permit shall be required for a public exhibition authorized by The University of North Carolina or the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and conducted on lands or buildings in Orange County owned by The University of North Carolina or the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

(a1) For the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this Article, a board of county commissioners may authorize the governing body of any city in the county to issue permits pursuant to the provisions of this Article for pyrotechnics to be exhibited, used, or discharged within the corporate limits of the city for use in connection with the conduct of concerts or public exhibitions. The board of county commissioners shall adopt a resolution granting the authority to the city, and it shall remain in effect until withdrawn by the board of county commissioners adopting a subsequent resolution withdrawing the authority. If a city lies in more than one county, the board of county commissioners of each county in which the city lies must adopt an authorizing resolution. If any county in which the city lies withdraws the authority of the city to issue permits for the use of pyrotechnics, the authority of the city to issue permits for the use of pyrotechnics will end, and all counties within which the city lies must resume their authority to issue the permits.

(b) For any indoor use of pyrotechnics at a concert or public exhibition, the board of commissioners or the governing body of an authorized city may not issue any permit unless the local fire marshal or the State Fire Marshal (or in the case of The University of North Carolina or the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill it may not authorize such concert or public exhibition unless the State Fire Marshal) has certified that:

(1) Adequate fire suppression will be used at the site.

(2) The structure is safe for the use of such pyrotechnics with the type of fire suppression to be used.

(3) Adequate egress from the building is available based on the size of the expected crowd.

(c) The requirements of subsection (b) of this section also apply to any city authorized to grant pyrotechnic permits by local act and to the officer delegated the power to grant such permits by local act."

SECTION 3. Any local act granting authority to a city to grant permission or a permit for pyrotechnics to be exhibited, used or discharged at concerts or public exhibitions pursuant to G.S. 14-410 or G.S.14-413 is repealed one year from the effective date of this act.

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 940 would require the Retirement System Division (RSD) of the Department of State Treasurer (DST) to provide direct online read-only access to any information or records, including any database or information stored electronically (regardless of the medium for storage) requested by the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly, notwithstanding any other law concerning privacy of personnel records.

CURRENT LAW: All State departments, agencies, and institutions must furnish the Legislative Services Office and the Research, Fiscal Research (FRD), and Bill Drafting Divisions of the General Assembly any information or records requested by them. BACKGROUND: In May 2006 FRD staff requested that RSD staff provide them with online access to retirement data. RSD subsequently denied FRD direct access to the database(s) in question, and based upon internal departmental policy, indicated that RSD staff would provide information to FRD only upon written request.

BILL ANALYSIS

Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 944 would amend the law relating to leaving the scene of an accident to remove reference to the term "accident or collision" and substitute the word "crash", and to increase the penalty for violation of this provision, if the crash results in serious bodily injury or death, from a Class H to a Class F felony. The act would become effective October 1, 2007.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to H993, as introduced by Rep. Moore, which is currently in House Judiciary II .]

CURRENT LAW:

Under current law, a driver whose vehicle is involved in an accident that causes injury or death is required to stop and remain at the scene of the accident until a law enforcement officer completes the investigation or authorizes the driver to leave the scene.

In 2005, G.S. 20-166(a) was amended to prohibit the driver of a vehicle that is involved in an accident from facilitating, allowing or agreeing to the removal of the vehicle from the scene of an accident that results in injury or death prior to law enforcement completing the investigation or consenting to the removal.

Violation of this provision is a Class H felony and also results in the mandatory revocation of the person's driver's license for 1 to 2 years. A judge may order a limited driving privilege during this period, after conviction of a first offense.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Senate Bill 944 would remove reference to the words "accident or collision" in this section of law, and substitute the word "crash". The Motor Vehicle Law does not define the terms "accident", "collision" or "crash".

The bill also amends the law to create two levels of violation. In the first level, if a driver leaves the scene or removes a vehicle from the scene prior to completion of the investigation by law enforcement and the crash results in serious bodily injury or death, the driver is guilty of a Class F felony.

"'Serious bodily injury' is defined as bodily injury that creates a substantial risk of death, or that causes serious permanent disfigurement, coma, a permanent or protracted condition that causes extreme pain, or permanent or protracted loss or impairment of the function of any bodily member or organ, or that results in prolonged hospitalization." (G.S. 14-32.4)

In the second level, if a driver leaves the scene or removes a vehicle from the scene prior to completion of the investigation by law enforcement and the crash results in injury, the driver is guilty of a Class H felony. In either case, the driver would be subject to mandatory revocation of his or her driver's license for 1 to 2 years. A judge may order a limited driving privilege for first offenders of the Class H offense.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective October 1, 2007, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

EXPLANATION: You have the right to name someone to make health care decisions for you when you cannot make or communicate those decisions. This form may be used to create a health care power of attorney, and meets the requirements of North Carolina law. However, you are not required to use this form, and North Carolina law allows the use of other forms that meet certain requirements. If you prepare your own health care power of a attorney, you should be very careful to make sure it is consistent with North Carolina law.

This document gives the person you designate as your health care agent broad powers to make health care decisions for you when you cannot make the decision yourself or cannot communicate your decision to other people. You should discuss your wishes concerning life-prolonging measures, mental health treatment, and other health care decisions with your health care agent. Except to the extent that you express specific limitations or restrictions in this form, your health care agent may make any health care decision you could make yourself.

This form does not impose a duty on your health care agent to exercise granted powers, but when a power is exercised, your health care agent will be obligated to use due care to act in your best interests and in accordance with this document.

This Health Care Power of Attorney form is intended to be valid in any jurisdiction in which it is presented, but places outside North Carolina may impose requirements that this form does not meet.

If you want to use this form you must complete it, sign it, and have your signature witnessed by a qualified witness and proved by a notary public. Follow the instructions about which choices you can initial very carefully. Do not sign this form until a witness and a notary public are present to watch you sign it. You then should give a copy to your health care agent and to any alternates you name. You should consider filing it with the Advance Health Care Directive Registry maintained by the North Carolina Secretary of State.

SECTION 11.(c) G.S. 90-321 is amended by adding the following new subsection to read:

"(d1) The following form is specifically determined to meet the requirements of subsection (c) of this section:

ADVANCE DIRECTIVE FOR A NATURAL DEATH ("LIVING WILL")

NOTE: YOU SHOULD USE THIS DOCUMENT TO GIVE YOUR HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS INSTRUCTIONS ABOUT WHETHER TO APPLY LIFE-PROLONGING MEASURES IN CERTAIN SITUATIONS. THERE IS NO LEGAL REQUIREMENT THAT ANYONE EXECUTE A LIVING WILL.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS: You can use this Advance Directive ("Living Will") form to give instructions for the future about whether you want your health care providers to apply life-prolonging measures in certain situations. You should talk to your doctor about what these terms mean. The Living Will states what choices you would have made for yourself if you were able to communicate. Talk to your family members, friends, and others you trust about your choices. Also, it is a good idea to talk with professionals such as your doctors, clergypersons, and lawyers before you complete and sign this Living Will.

You do not have to use this form to give those instructions, but if you create your own Advance Directive you need to be very careful to ensure that it is consistent with North Carolina law.

This Living Will form is intended to be valid in any jurisdiction in which it is presented, but places outside North Carolina may impose requirements that this form does not meet.

If you want to use this form, you must complete it, sign it, and have your signature witnessed by a qualified witness and proved by a notary public. Follow the instructions about which choices you can initial very carefully. Do not sign this form until a witness and a notary public are present to watch you sign it. You then should consider giving a copy to your primary physician and/or a trusted relative, and should consider filing it with the Advanced Health Care Directive Registry maintained by the North Carolina Secretary of State.

SECTION 11.(d) G.S. 90-321(e), (h), and (i) read as rewritten:

"(e) ~~The above declaration may be revoked by the declarant, in any manner by which he is able to communicate his intent to revoke, without regard to his mental or physical condition. Such revocation shall become effective only upon communication to~~

~~the attending physician by the declarant or by an individual acting on behalf of the declarant.~~A declaration may be revoked by the declarant, in writing or in any manner by which the declarant is able to communicate the declarant's intent to revoke in a clear and consistent manner, without regard to the declarant's mental or physical condition. A health care provider shall have no liability for acting in accordance with a revoked declaration unless the provider has actual notice of the revocation. A health care agent may not revoke a declaration unless the health care power of attorney explicitly authorizes that revocation; however, a health care agent may exercise any authority explicitly given to the health care agent in a declaration. A guardian of the person of the declarant or general guardian may not revoke a declaration.

(h) The withholding or discontinuance of ~~extraordinary means and/or the withholding or discontinuance of either artificial nutrition or hydration, or both~~ life-prolonging measures in accordance with this section shall not be considered the cause of death for any civil or criminal purposes nor shall it be considered unprofessional ~~conduct.~~conduct or a lack of professional competence. Any person, institution or facility against whom criminal or civil liability is asserted because of conduct in compliance with this section may interpose this section as a defense. The protections of this section extend to any valid declaration, including a document valid under subsection (l) of this section; these protections are not limited to declarations prepared in accordance with the statutory form provided in subsection (d1) of this section, or to declarations filed with the Advance Health Care Directive Registry maintained by the Secretary of State. A health care provider may rely in good faith on an oral or written statement by legal counsel that a document appears to meet the statutory requirements for a declaration.

(i) ~~Any certificate in the form provided by this section prior to July 1, 1979, shall continue to be valid.~~ Use of the statutory form prescribed in subsection (d1) of this section is an optional and nonexclusive method for creating a declaration and does not affect the use of other forms of a declaration, including previous statutory forms."

SECTION 11.(e) G.S. 90-321 is amended by adding the following new subsections to read:

"(k) Notwithstanding subsection (c) of this section:

(1) An attending physician may decline to honor a declaration if doing so would violate that physician's conscience or the conscience-based policy of the facility at which the declarant is being treated; provided, an attending physician who declines to honor a declaration on these grounds must not interfere, and must cooperate reasonably, with efforts to substitute an attending physician whose conscience would not be violated by honoring the declaration, or transfer the declarant to a facility that does not have policies in force that prohibit honoring the declaration.

(2) An attending physician may decline to honor a declaration if after reasonable inquiry there are reasonable grounds to question the genuineness or validity of a declaration. The subsection imposes no duty on the attending physician to verify a declaration's genuineness or validity.

(l) Notwithstanding subsection (c) of this section, a declaration or similar document executed in a jurisdiction other than North Carolina shall be valid in this State if it appears to have been executed in accordance with the applicable requirements of that jurisdiction or this State."

SECTION 12. G.S. 90-322 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-322. Procedures for natural death in the absence of a declaration.

~~(1) It is determined by the attending physician that the person's present condition is:~~

~~b. Repealed by Session Laws 1993, c. 553, s. 29.~~

~~c. Diagnosed as a persistent vegetative state; and~~

(1a) That the person:

a. Has an incurable or irreversible condition that will result in the person's death within a relatively short period of time; or

b. Is unconscious and, to a high degree of medical certainty, will never regain consciousness; and

(2) There is confirmation of the person's present condition as set out above in this subsection, in writing by a physician other than the attending physician; and

(3) A vital bodily function of the person could be restored ~~by extraordinary means or a vital function of the person is being sustained by extraordinary means; or~~ or is being sustained by life-prolonging measures;

~~(4) The life of the person could be or is being sustained by artificial nutrition or hydration;~~

then, ~~extraordinary means or artificial nutrition or hydration~~ life-prolonging measures may be withheld or discontinued in accordance with subsection ~~(b).~~(b) of this section.

(b) If a person's condition has been determined to meet the conditions set forth in subsection (a) of this section and no instrument has been executed as provided in G.S. ~~90-321~~90-321, ~~the extraordinary means or artificial nutrition or hydration~~ then life-prolonging measures may be withheld or discontinued upon the direction and under the supervision of the attending physician with the concurrence ~~(i) of a health care agent appointed pursuant to a health care power of attorney meeting the requirements of Article 3 of Chapter 32A of the General Statutes, or (ii) of a guardian of the person, or (iii) of the person's spouse, or (iv) of a majority of the relatives of the first degree, in that order.~~of the following persons, in the order indicated:

(4) The patient's spouse;

(5) A majority of the patient's reasonably available parents and children at least 18 years of age; or

(6) An individual who has an established relationship with the patient, who is acting in good faith on behalf of the patient, and who can reliably convey the patient's wishes.

If none of the above is available then at the discretion of the attending physician the ~~extraordinary means or artificial nutrition or hydration~~ life-prolonging measures may be withheld or discontinued upon the direction and under the supervision of the attending physician.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1979, c. 715, s. 2.

(d) The withholding or discontinuance of such ~~extraordinary means or artificial nutrition or hydration~~ life-prolonging measures shall not be considered the cause of death for any civil or criminal purpose nor shall it be considered unprofessional conduct. Any person, institution or facility against whom criminal or civil liability is asserted because of conduct in compliance with this section may interpose this section as a defense."

SECTION 13. G.S. 90-21.13 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-21.13. Informed consent to health care treatment or procedure.

(a) No recovery shall be allowed against any health care provider upon the grounds that the health care treatment was rendered without the informed consent of the patient or ~~the patient's spouse, parent, guardian, nearest relative or~~ other person authorized to give consent for the patient where:

(1) The action of the health care provider in obtaining the consent of the patient or other person authorized to give consent for the patient was in accordance with the standards of practice among members of the same health care profession with similar training and experience situated in the same or similar communities; and

(2) A reasonable person, from the information provided by the health care provider under the circumstances, would have a general understanding of the procedures or treatments and of the usual and most frequent risks and hazards inherent in the proposed procedures or treatments which are recognized and followed by other health care providers engaged in the same field of practice in the same or similar communities; or

(3) A reasonable person, under all the surrounding circumstances, would have undergone such treatment or procedure had he been advised by the health care provider in accordance with the provisions of subdivisions (1) and (2) of this subsection.

(b) ~~A consent which is evidenced in writing and which meets the foregoing standards, and which is signed by the patient or other authorized person, shall be presumed to be a valid consent. This presumption, however, may be subject to rebuttal only upon proof that such consent was obtained by fraud, deception or misrepresentation of a material fact.~~A consent that meets the foregoing standards, that is given by a patient, or other authorized person, who under all the surrounding circumstances has capacity to make and communicate health care decisions, is a valid consent.

(c) ~~A valid consent is one which is given by a person who under all the surrounding circumstances is mentally and physically competent to give consent.~~

(1) Consent that is evidenced in writing, and that is signed by the patient or other authorized person, shall be presumed to be a valid consent. This presumption may be rebutted only upon proof that such consent was obtained by fraud, deception, or misrepresentation of a material fact.

(2) The following persons, in the order indicated, are authorized to consent to medical treatment on behalf of a patient who is comatose or otherwise lacks capacity to make or communicate health care decisions:

a. A guardian of the patient's person, or a general guardian with powers over the patient's person, appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction pursuant to Article 5 of Chapter 35A of the General Statutes; provided that, if the patient has a health care agent appointed pursuant to a valid health care power of attorney, the health care agent shall have the right to exercise the authority to the extent granted in the health care power of attorney and to the extent provided in G.S. 32A-19(b) unless the Clerk has suspended the authority of that health care agent in accordance with G.S. 35A-1208(a);

b. A health care agent appointed pursuant to a valid health care power of attorney, to the extent of the authority granted;

f. An individual who has an established relationship with the patient, who is acting in good faith on behalf of the patient, and who can reliably convey the patient's wishes.

If none of the persons listed under this subdivision is available, then the patient's attending physician, in the attending physician's discretion, may provide health care treatment without the consent of the patient or other person authorized to consent for the patient if there is conformation by a physician other than the patient's attending physician of the patient's condition and the necessity for treatment; provided, however, that confirmation of the patient's condition and the necessity for treatment are not required if the delay in obtaining the confirmation would endanger the life or seriously worsen the condition of the patient.

(d) No action may be maintained against any health care provider upon any guarantee, warranty or assurance as to the result of any medical, surgical or diagnostic procedure or treatment unless the guarantee, warranty or assurance, or some note or memorandum thereof, shall be in writing and signed by the provider or by some other person authorized to act for or on behalf of such provider.

SECTION 14. G.S. 90-21.17 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-21.17. Portable do not resuscitate ~~order.~~order and Medical Order for Scope of Treatment.

(a) It is the intent of this section to recognize a patient's desire and right to withhold cardiopulmonary resuscitation and other life-prolonging measures to avoid loss of dignity and unnecessary pain and suffering through the use of a portable do not resuscitate ("DNR") ~~order.~~order or a Medical Order for Scope of Treatment (MOST).

This section establishes an optional and nonexclusive procedure by which a patient or the patient's representative may exercise this right.

(b) A physician may issue a portable DNR order or MOST for a patient:

(1) With the consent of the patient;

(2) If the patient is a minor, with the consent of the patient's parent or guardian; or

(3) If the patient is not a minor but is incapable of making an informed decision regarding consent for the order, with the consent of the patient's representative.

The physician shall document the basis for the DNR order or MOST in the patient's medical record. When the order is a MOST, the patient or the patient's representative must sign the form, provided, however, that if it is not practicable for the patient's representative to sign the original MOST form, the patient's representative shall sign a copy of the completed form and return it to the health care professional completing the form. The copy of the form with the signature of the patient's representative, whether in paper or electronic form, shall be placed in the patient's medical record. When the signature of the patient's representative is on a separate copy of the MOST form, the original MOST form must indicate in the appropriate signature field that the signature is "on file."

(c) The Department of Health and Human Services shall develop a portable DNR order ~~form.~~form, and a MOST form. The official DNR form shall include fields for the name of the patient; the name, address, and telephone number of the physician; the signature of the physician; and other relevant information. At a minimum, the official MOST form shall include fields for: the name of the patient; the name and telephone number of the physician, physician assistant, or nurse practitioner authorizing the order by signing the form; the name and contact information of the health care professional who prepared the form with the patient or the patient's representative; information on who agreed (i.e. the patient or the patient's representative) to the options selected on the MOST form; a range of options for cardiopulmonary resuscitation, medical interventions, antibiotics, medically administered fluids and nutrition; a signature clock for the patient or the patient's representative to sign if practicable; effective date of the form and review dates; and an advisory that the MOST may be revoked by the patient or the patient's representative. The form may be approved by reference to a standard form that meets the requirements of this subsection. For purposes of this section, the "patient's representative" means an individual from the list of persons authorized to consent to the withholding of extraordinary care pursuant to ~~G.S. 90-322 or an individual who has an established relationship with the patient, who is acting in good faith on behalf of the patient, and who can reliably convey the patient's wishes.~~G.S. 90-322.

(d) No physician, emergency medical professional, hospice provider, or other health care provider shall be subject to criminal prosecution, civil liability, or disciplinary action by any professional licensing or certification agency for withholding cardiopulmonary resuscitation from a patient in good faith reliance on an original DNR order or MOST form adopted pursuant to subsection (c) of this section, provided that (i) there are no reasonable grounds for doubting the validity of the order or the identity of the patient, and (ii) the provider does not have actual knowledge of the revocation of the portable DNR ~~order.~~order or MOST. No physician, emergency medical professional, hospice provider, or other health care provider shall be subject to criminal prosecution, civil liability, or disciplinary action by any professional licensing or certification agency for failure to follow a DNR order or MOST form adopted pursuant to subsection (c) of this section if the provider had no actual knowledge of the existence of the DNR ~~order.~~order or MOST.

(e) A health care facility may develop policies and procedures that authorize the facility's provider to accept a portable DNR order or MOST as if it were an order of the medical staff of that facility. This section does not prohibit a physician in a health care facility from issuing a written order, other than a portable DNR ~~order,~~order or MOST not to resuscitate a patient in the event of cardiac or respiratory arrest, or to use, withhold, or withdraw additional medical interventions as provided in the MOST, in accordance with acceptable medical practice and the facility's policies.

(f) Nothing in this section shall affect the validity of portable DNR order or MOST forms in existence prior to the effective date of this section."

SECTION 15. G.S. 130A-420 reads as rewritten:

ADVANCE DIRECTIVE FOR A NATURAL DEATH ("LIVING WILL")

NOTE: YOU SHOULD USE THIS DOCUMENT TO GIVE YOUR HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS INSTRUCTIONS ABOUT WHETHER TO APPLY LIFE-PROLONGING MEASURES IN CERTAIN SITUATIONS. THERE IS NO LEGAL REQUIREMENT THAT ANYONE EXECUTE A LIVING WILL.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS: You can use this Advance Directive ("Living Will") form to give instructions for the future about whether you want your health care providers to apply life-prolonging measures in certain situations. You should talk to your doctor about what these terms mean. The Living Will states what choices you would have made for yourself if you were able to communicate. Talk to your family members, friends, and others you trust about your choices. Also, it is a good idea to talk with professionals such as your doctors, clergypersons, and lawyers before you complete and sign this Living Will.

You do not have to use this form to give those instructions, but if you create your own Advance Directive you need to be very careful to ensure that it is consistent with North Carolina law.

This Living Will form is intended to be valid in any jurisdiction in which it is presented, but places outside North Carolina may impose requirements that this form does not meet.

If you want to use this form, you must complete it, sign it, and have your signature witnessed by a qualified witness and proved by a notary public. Follow the instructions about which choices you can initial very carefully. Do not sign this form until a witness and a notary public are present to watch you sign it. You then should consider giving a copy to your primary physician and/or a trusted relative, and should consider filing it with the Advanced Health Care Directive Registry maintained by the North Carolina Secretary of State: http://www.nclifelinks.org/ahcdr/.

SECTION 11.(d) G.S. 90-321(e), (h), and (i) read as rewritten:

"(e) ~~The above declaration may be revoked by the declarant, in any manner by which he is able to communicate his intent to revoke, without regard to his mental or physical condition. Such revocation shall become effective only upon communication to the attending physician by the declarant or by an individual acting on behalf of the declarant.~~A declaration may be revoked by the declarant, in writing or in any manner by which the declarant is able to communicate the declarant's intent to revoke in a clear and consistent manner, without regard to the declarant's mental or physical condition. A health care provider shall have no liability for acting in accordance with a revoked declaration unless the provider has actual notice of the revocation. A health care agent may not revoke a declaration unless the health care power of attorney explicitly authorizes that revocation; however, a health care agent may exercise any authority explicitly given to the health care agent in a declaration. A guardian of the person of the declarant or general guardian may not revoke a declaration.

(h) The withholding or discontinuance of ~~extraordinary means and/or the withholding or discontinuance of either artificial nutrition or hydration, or both~~ life-prolonging measures in accordance with this section shall not be considered the cause of death for any civil or criminal purposes nor shall it be considered unprofessional ~~conduct.~~conduct or a lack of professional competence. Any person, institution or facility against whom criminal or civil liability is asserted because of conduct in compliance with this section may interpose this section as a defense. The protections of this section extend to any valid declaration, including a document valid under subsection (l) of this section; these protections are not limited to declarations prepared in accordance with the statutory form provided in subsection (d1) of this section, or to declarations filed with the Advance Health Care Directive Registry maintained by the Secretary of State. A health care provider may rely in good faith on an oral or written statement by legal counsel that a document appears to meet the statutory requirements for a declaration.

(i) ~~Any certificate in the form provided by this section prior to July 1, 1979, shall continue to be valid.~~ Use of the statutory form prescribed in subsection (d1) of this section is an optional and nonexclusive method for creating a declaration and does not affect the use of other forms of a declaration, including previous statutory forms."

SECTION 11.(e) G.S. 90-321 is amended by adding the following new subsections to read:

"(k) Notwithstanding subsection (c) of this section:

(1) An attending physician may decline to honor a declaration that expresses a desire of the declarant that life prolonging measures not be used if doing so would violate that physician's conscience or the conscience-based policy of the facility at which the declarant is being treated; provided, an attending physician who declines to honor a declaration on these grounds must not interfere, and must cooperate reasonably, with efforts to substitute an attending physician whose conscience would not be violated by honoring the declaration, or transfer the declarant to a facility that does not have policies in force that prohibit honoring the declaration.

(2) An attending physician may decline to honor a declaration if after reasonable inquiry there are reasonable grounds to question the genuineness or validity of a declaration. The subsection imposes no duty on the attending physician to verify a declaration's genuineness or validity.

(l) Notwithstanding subsection (c) of this section, a declaration or similar document executed in a jurisdiction other than North Carolina shall be valid in this State if it appears to have been executed in accordance with the applicable requirements of that jurisdiction or this State."

SECTION 12. G.S. 90-322 reads as rewritten:

b. Is unconscious and, to a high degree of medical certainty, will never regain consciousness; and

(2) There is confirmation of the person's present condition as set out above in this subsection, in writing by a physician other than the attending physician; and

(3) A vital bodily function of the person could be restored ~~by extraordinary means or a vital function of the person is being sustained by extraordinary means; or~~ or is being sustained by life-prolonging measures;

~~(4) The life of the person could be or is being sustained by artificial nutrition or hydration;~~

then, ~~extraordinary means or artificial nutrition or hydration~~ life-prolonging measures may be withheld or discontinued in accordance with subsection ~~(b).~~(b) of this section.

(b) If a person's condition has been determined to meet the conditions set forth in subsection (a) of this section and no instrument has been executed as provided in G.S. ~~90-321~~90-321, ~~the extraordinary means or artificial nutrition or hydration~~ then life-prolonging measures may be withheld or discontinued upon the direction and under the supervision of the attending physician with the concurrence ~~(i) of a health care agent appointed pursuant to a health care power of attorney meeting the requirements of Article 3 of Chapter 32A of the General Statutes, or (ii) of a guardian of the person, or (iii) of the person's spouse, or (iv) of a majority of the relatives of the first degree, in that order.~~of the following persons, in the order indicated:

(4) The patient's spouse;

(5) A majority of the patient's reasonably available parents and children who are at least 18 years of age; or

(6) A majority of the patient's reasonably available siblings who are at least 18 years of age.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1979, c. 715, s. 2.

(d) The withholding or discontinuance of such ~~extraordinary means or artificial nutrition or hydration~~ life-prolonging measures shall not be considered the cause of death for any civil or criminal purpose nor shall it be considered unprofessional conduct. Any person, institution or facility against whom criminal or civil liability is asserted because of conduct in compliance with this section may interpose this section as a defense."

SECTION 13. G.S. 90-21.13 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-21.13. Informed consent to health care treatment or procedure.

(2) A reasonable person, from the information provided by the health care provider under the circumstances, would have a general understanding of the procedures or treatments and of the usual and most frequent risks and hazards inherent in the proposed procedures or treatments which are recognized and followed by other health care providers engaged in the same field of practice in the same or similar communities; or

(3) A reasonable person, under all the surrounding circumstances, would have undergone such treatment or procedure had he been advised by the health care provider in accordance with the provisions of subdivisions (1) and (2) of this subsection.

(b) ~~A consent which is evidenced in writing and which meets the foregoing standards, and which is signed by the patient or other authorized person, shall be presumed to be a valid consent. This presumption, however, may be subject to rebuttal only upon proof that such consent was obtained by fraud, deception or misrepresentation of a material fact.~~A consent that meets the foregoing standards, that is given by a patient, or other authorized person, who under all the surrounding circumstances has capacity to make and communicate health care decisions, is a valid consent.

(c) ~~A valid consent is one which is given by a person who under all the surrounding circumstances is mentally and physically competent to give consent.~~

(1) Consent that is evidenced in writing, and that is signed by the patient or other authorized person, shall be presumed to be a valid consent. This presumption may be rebutted only upon proof that such consent was obtained by fraud, deception, or misrepresentation of a material fact.

(2) The following persons, in the order indicated, are authorized to consent to medical treatment on behalf of a patient who is comatose or otherwise lacks capacity to make or communicate health care decisions:

a. A guardian of the patient's person, or a general guardian with powers over the patient's person, appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction pursuant to Article 5 of Chapter 35A of the General Statutes; provided that, if the patient has a health care agent appointed pursuant to a valid health care power of attorney, the health care agent shall have the right to exercise the authority to the extent granted in the health care power of attorney and to the extent provided in G.S. 32A-19(b) unless the Clerk has suspended the authority of that health care agent in accordance with G.S. 35A-1208(a);

b. A health care agent appointed pursuant to a valid health care power of attorney, to the extent of the authority granted;

f. A majority of the patient's reasonably available siblings who are at least 18 years of age; or

g. An individual who has an established relationship with the patient, who is acting in good faith on behalf of the patient, and who can reliably convey the patient's wishes.

If none of the persons listed under this subdivision is reasonably available, then the patient's attending physician, in the attending physician's discretion, may provide health care treatment without the consent of the patient or other person authorized to consent for the patient if there is conformation by a physician other than the patient's attending physician of the patient's condition and the necessity for treatment; provided, however, that confirmation of the patient's condition and the necessity for treatment are not required if the delay in obtaining the confirmation would endanger the life or seriously worsen the condition of the patient.

(d) No action may be maintained against any health care provider upon any guarantee, warranty or assurance as to the result of any medical, surgical or diagnostic procedure or treatment unless the guarantee, warranty or assurance, or some note or memorandum thereof, shall be in writing and signed by the provider or by some other person authorized to act for or on behalf of such provider.

SECTION 14. G.S. 90-21.17 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-21.17. Portable do not resuscitate ~~order.~~order and Medical Order for Scope of Treatment.

(a) It is the intent of this section to recognize a patient's desire and right to withhold cardiopulmonary resuscitation and other life-prolonging measures to avoid loss of dignity and unnecessary pain and suffering through the use of a portable do not resuscitate ("DNR") ~~order.~~order or a Medical Order for Scope of Treatment (MOST).

This section establishes an optional and nonexclusive procedure by which a patient or the patient's representative may exercise this right.

(b) A physician may issue a portable DNR order or MOST for a patient:

(1) With the consent of the patient;

(2) If the patient is a minor, with the consent of the patient's parent or guardian; or

(3) If the patient is not a minor but is incapable of making an informed decision regarding consent for the order, with the consent of the patient's representative.

The physician shall document the basis for the DNR order or MOST in the patient's medical record. When the order is a MOST, the patient or the patient's representative must sign the form, provided, however, that if it is not practicable for the patient's representative to sign the original MOST form, the patient's representative shall sign a copy of the completed form and return it to the health care professional completing the form. The copy of the form with the signature of the patient's representative, whether in paper or electronic form, shall be placed in the patient's medical record. When the signature of the patient's representative is on a separate copy of the MOST form, the original MOST form must indicate in the appropriate signature field that the signature is "on file."

(c) The Department of Health and Human Services shall develop a portable DNR order ~~form.~~form, and a MOST form. The official DNR form shall include fields for the name of the patient; the name, address, and telephone number of the physician; the signature of the physician; and other relevant information. At a minimum, the official MOST form shall include fields for: the name of the patient; the name and telephone number of the physician, physician assistant, or nurse practitioner authorizing the order by signing the form; the name and contact information of the health care professional who prepared the form with the patient or the patient's representative; information on who agreed (i.e. the patient or the patient's representative) to the options selected on the MOST form; a range of options for cardiopulmonary resuscitation, medical interventions, antibiotics, medically administered fluids and nutrition; a signature block for the patient or the patient's representative to sign if practicable; effective date of the form and review dates; and an advisory that the MOST may be revoked by the patient or the patient's representative. The form may be approved by reference to a standard form that meets the requirements of this subsection. For purposes of this section, the "patient's representative" means an individual from the list of persons authorized to consent to the withholding of extraordinary care pursuant to ~~G.S. 90-322 or an individual who has an established relationship with the patient, who is acting in good faith on behalf of the patient, and who can reliably convey the patient's wishes.~~G.S. 90-322.

(d) No physician, emergency medical professional, hospice provider, or other health care provider shall be subject to criminal prosecution, civil liability, or disciplinary action by any professional licensing or certification agency for withholding cardiopulmonary resuscitation from a patient in good faith reliance on an original DNR order or MOST form adopted pursuant to subsection (c) of this section, provided that (i) there are no reasonable grounds for doubting the validity of the order or the identity of the patient, and (ii) the provider does not have actual knowledge of the revocation of the portable DNR ~~order.~~order or MOST. No physician, emergency medical professional, hospice provider, or other health care provider shall be subject to criminal prosecution, civil liability, or disciplinary action by any professional licensing or certification agency for failure to follow a DNR order or MOST form adopted pursuant to subsection (c) of this section if the provider had no actual knowledge of the existence of the DNR ~~order.~~order or MOST.

(e) A health care facility may develop policies and procedures that authorize the facility's provider to accept a portable DNR order or MOST as if it were an order of the medical staff of that facility. This section does not prohibit a physician in a health care facility from issuing a written order, other than a portable DNR ~~order,~~order or MOST not to resuscitate a patient in the event of cardiac or respiratory arrest, or to use, withhold, or withdraw additional medical interventions as provided in the MOST, in accordance with acceptable medical practice and the facility's policies.

(f) Nothing in this section shall affect the validity of portable DNR order or MOST forms in existence prior to the effective date of this section."

SECTION 15. G.S. 130A-420 reads as rewritten:

"§ 130A-420. Authority to dispose of body or body parts.

(a) An individual at least 18 years of age may authorize the disposition of the individual's own dead body in a written will, pursuant to a health care power of attorney to the extent provided in Article 3 of Chapter 32A of the General Statutes, pursuant to a preneed funeral contract executed pursuant to Article 13D of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes, pursuant to a cremation authorization form executed pursuant to Article 13C of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes, or in a written statement signed by the individual and witnessed by two persons who are at least 18 years old.

(b) If a decedent has left no written authorization for the disposal of the decedent's body as permitted under subsection (a) of this section, the following competent persons in the order listed may authorize the type, method, place, and disposition of the decedent's body:

SENATE BILL 1046:
Advance Directives/Health Care Pwr. Atty.-AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 30, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Hartsell	Summary by:	Kory Goldsmith Committee Counsel
Version:	PCS to First Edition S1046-PCS35363-RC-21

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1046 amends laws related to Health Care Powers of Attorney, Advance Directives/Living Wills, and Guardianship statutes to allow individuals to make clear choices about their medical treatment, especially end of life treatments.

CURRENT LAW: Article 23 of Chapter 90 authorizes "Living Wills" and was enacted in 1979. Article 3 of Chapter 32A authorizes health care powers of attorney and was enacted in 1991. Part 2 of Article 3 of Chapter 122C authorizes an instruction for mental health treatment and was enacted in 1997. There are also scattered statutes related to the authority of health care agents, especially in the event there is also a court appointed guardian. In general, when a person has executed both a Health Care Power of Attorney and a Living Will, the terms of the Living Will control over the health care agent designation.[1] A similar situation exists when there is a health care agent, and a court appoints a guardian.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 amends G.S. 32A-15(c) to provide that either a living will or a health care power of attorney (HCPOA) may provide that the health care power of attorney takes precedence over a living will, and that provision will not create a conflict between the two documents. Under current law, it is not clear whether this situation does create a conflict. However, because current law gives a living will precedence over a HCPOA in the event of a conflict, it could be argued that the living will always "trumps" the HCPOA.

This section also makes it clear that if a living will does not speak directly to a medical condition and the HCPOA does, the HCPOA controls.

Section 2 amends the definitions related to HCPOAs. It provides that the execution of a HCPOA need only be witnessed by one qualified witness. Current law requires two qualified witnesses. It also specifies that the notary may be an employee of the attending physician or employed by the health care facility where the principal is being treated.

Also changes the terminology from "life-sustaining procedures" to "life-prolonging measures". These are medical procedures or interventions which, in the judgment of the attending physician, serve only to postpone artificially the moment of death by sustaining, restoring, or supplanting a vital function.

Section 3 replaces terminology, but also makes it clear that if a health care agent has the authority to made decisions regarding the disposition of the principal's remains, those decisions are limited to incurring reasonable costs and does not give the health care agent broader authority over the principal's estate or financial affairs.

Section 4 creates a procedure by which a guardian of the principal may petition a court to suspend the authority of a health care agent during the term of the guardianship. The court may suspend the agent's authority for good cause shown, but must specify whether the guardian must act consistently with the HCPOA. Also creates immunity for a health care provider who relies upon a HCPOA until the provider receives actual knowledge of the court's order suspending the HCPOA.

Section 5(a) changes the terminology to be consistent with new definitions. Section 5(b) adds a new subsection to G.S. 32A-24 to clarify that a health care provider may rely upon the authority of a health care agent contained in a HCPOA, whether the HCPOA is executed in another jurisdiction, executed under the previous statutory form, or does not use the statutory form but does comply with applicable laws. The health care provider may rely upon the HCPOA until receiving actual notice of its revocation.

Section 6(a) repeals the current statutory HCPOA. Section 6(b) creates a new HCPOA statutory form, G.S. 3A-25.1(a). The form attempts to clarify the consequences of certain choices by the principal and also points out that certain provisions purporting to create limitations will not be effective unless the principal specifies the limitations. Also provides that use of the statutory form is optional, and is a nonexclusive method for creating a HCPOA. Subsection (b) of new G.S. 32A-25.1 provides that the new statutory form does not affect the use of previously executed HCPOAs.

Section 7 creates G.S. 32A-27 which provides that a HCPOA executed in another jurisdiction shall be valid in North Carolina if it appears it was executed in compliance with the law of the other state or the laws of North Carolina.

Section 8 allows a guardian of the person or legal guardian to petition the Clerk of Court to suspend the authority of a health care agent. It also specifies that the guardian does not have the authority to revoke a Living Will.

Section 9 clarifies that a health care agent has the right to make health care decisions for a ward for whom a legal guardian or guardian of the person has been appointed.

Section 10 revises terminology.

Section 11(a) amends G.S. 90-321 regarding Advance Directives or Living Wills. It defines a "Declaration" as any signed, witnessed, dated and notarized document that otherwise meets the requirements of the Article. These requirements allow for only one witness (current law requires two witnesses), but that person must not have any interest in the declarant's estate or be an employee of the health care provider. It repeals the definition of "extraordinary means" and substitutes "life-prolonging measures" as that term is defined in the HCPOA statutes. It also repeals the term "persistent vegetative state".

It amends G.S. 90-321(b) and (c) to allow an attending physician to withhold life-prolonging measures if the declarant has properly executed a living will, the attending physician determines that the declarant:

- has incurable or irreversible condition that will result in the declarant's death in a relatively short period of time;
- is unconscious and, to a high degree of medical certainty, will never regain consciousness; or
- suffers from advanced dementia or any other condition resulting in the substantial loss of cognitive ability and, to a high degree of medical certainty, is not reversible.

AND

- The declarant's condition is confirmed by another physician, if one is reasonably available.

AND

- The Living Will states that the declarant understands that the document authorizes the attending physician to withhold life-prolonging measures.

Current law allows an attending physician to withhold artificial nutrition or hydration pursuant to a Living Will if: the declarant is terminally ill or diagnosed as being in a persistent vegetative state and these medical conditions are confirmed by a second medical opinion. The Declaration must be in writing, signed by the declarant and two witnesses, and notarized.

Section 11(b) repeals the current statutory form for Living Wills

Section 11(c) creates a new statutory form for Living Wills that reflects the statutory changes.

Sections 11(d) and (e) clarifies that a Declaration may be revoked orally or in writing without regard to a declarant's mental or physical condition. Prior law made a revocation effective only upon communication of the revocation to the attending physician by the declarant or an individual acting on behalf of the declarant. It provides immunity to a health care provider who acts in accordance with a revoked declaration unless the health care provider has actual knowledge of the revocation. Also extends the protections to a Declaration that is executed in another jurisdiction, and one that does not conform to the statutory form. It also prohibits a health care agent from revoking a declaration unless the HCPOA explicitly grants the agent this authority.

Section 11(d) creates a new subdivision (k) for G.S. 90-321 to allow a physician to decline to honor a Declaration if doing so would violate the physician's conscience or the conscience-based policy of the facility where the declarant is being treated. It also allows a physician to decline to honor a Declaration if after reasonable inquiry, there are reasonable grounds to question the genuineness or validity of the document.

Section 12 amends G.S. 90-322 regarding situations where life-prolonging measures may be withheld in the absence of a Declaration. If the attending physician determines that:

- a patient has an incurable or irreversible condition that will lead to that person's death in a relatively short period of time, or
- the patient is unconscious and unlikely to regain consciousness.

AND

- That condition is confirmed by another physician.

AND

- A bodily function could be restored or is being sustained by life-prolonging measures,

THEN

The life-prolonging measures may be withheld or discontinued at the direction and under the supervision of the attending physician with the concurrence of the following individuals, in descending order:

- A health care agent appointed under a valid HCPOA, unless that authority has been suspended by a court in favor of a court appointed guardian of the person or general guardian, in which case the court appointed guardian takes priority.
- An attorney-in-fact with powers to make health care decisions for the principal.
- The patient's spouse.

- A majority of the patient's reasonably available parents and children who are at least 18 years of age.
- A majority of the patient's reasonably available siblings who are at least 18 years of age.
- An individual who has an established relationship with the patient, who is acting in good faith on behalf of the patient, and who can reliably convey the patient's wishes.
- If none of these are reasonably available, the attending physician may withhold or discontinue life-prolonging measures.

Current law gives priority decision-making to the following in descending order: a health care agent, then a guardian of the person, then the person's spouse, then a majority of the relatives of the first degree.

Section 13 amends G.S. 90-21.13 regarding informed consent to medical treatment under the medical malpractice provisions of the statutes. It sets out, in descending order, the persons who may give valid consent to medical treatment if the patient is comatose or otherwise lacks the capacity to make or communicate health care decisions. The same individuals are listed in the same order as those in Section 12 regarding the withholding or discontinuance of life-prolonging measures.

Current law provides that the patient's spouse, parent, guardian, or nearest relative may give the consent. It does not prioritize among those individuals.

Section 14 amends G.S. 90-21.17 regarding do not resuscitate orders (DNRs). It adds to the statutes Medical Order for Scope of Treatment (MOST). A MOST could be issued by a physician pursuant to the same consents necessary for a DNR. However, if the consent is given by the patient's representative, the representative must sign the MOST. The statute would also specify the information that must be contained on a MOST form.

Section 15 amends G.S. 130A-420 regarding who has the authority to dispose of a body or body parts. That authority is granted in the following, descending order:

- A health care agent appointed under a valid HCPOA and to the extent the authority is contained in the HCPOA.
- The personal representative of the estate or the executor under the decedent's will.
- The surviving spouse.
- A majority of the patient's reasonably available surviving children who are at least 18 years of age.
- The surviving parents.
- A majority of the surviving siblings who are at least 18 years of age.
- A majority of persons in classes of next degree of kinship who would inherit the estate if the person dies without a will.
- An individual who has exhibited care and concern for the decedent and who is willing to make decisions regarding the disposition.
- If none of the above are available or the decedent is indigent, a public administrator, medical examiner or any other public official charged with this responsibility.

Current law lists, in descending order, the following individuals: surviving spouse, majority of surviving children, surviving parents, majority of persons in classes entitled to inherit under intestate succession, and a person who as shown care and concern for the decedent.

Section 16(a), (b) and (c) amend provisions in Chapter 122C regarding advance instruction for mental health treatment to make those provisions conform to other changes already discussed.

Section 17 amends G.S. 130A-468 regarding the Advance Directive Registry maintained by the Secretary of State to provide that removal of a document from the registry database does not affect the validity of the document, relate to the accuracy of the information contained in the document, or create a presumption of validity regarding the document or the information contained in the document.

Section 18 amends G.S. 28A-13-1 to provide that if a HCPOA grants a health care agent the authority to make decisions related to the disposition of the principal's body, that authority takes priority over the authority of a personal representative regarding the same.

Section 19(a) and (b) amend the statutes related to preneed funeral contracts to provide a priority of persons authorized to serve as the legal representative of the preneed contract beneficiary

SENATE BILL 1359:
Red Light Exception for Motorcycles

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 30, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Allran	Summary by:	Jennifer McGinnis Committee Counsel
Version:	PCS to Second Edition S1359-CSRI

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute (PCS) for Senate Bill 1359 would provide an affirmative defense to motorcycle and bicycle operators who violate the statutory prohibition against entering an intersection when facing a red light if the motorcycle operator shows all of the following: (i) the operator came to a complete stop at the red light; (ii) the intersection was controlled by a vehicle actuated traffic signal using an inductive loop to activate the signal, (iii) no other motor vehicles, with the exception of a motorcycle, were at or approaching the intersection; (iv) no pedestrians were attempting to cross at or near the intersection; and (v) a minimum of three minutes elapsed prior to the motorcycle entering the intersection.

CHANGES MADE BY PCS:

- Extends the coverage of the affirmative defense given under the bill to bicycle operators.
- Deletes the requirement that the operator must show failure of the inductive loop to activate the signal in order for the affirmative defense to apply.
- Clarifies that no other motor vehicle, except for another motorcycle, may be at or approaching the intersection.
- Requires that a minimum of three minutes elapsed after the operator entered the intersection (deletes the requirement that at least one full traffic signal must have occurred).

CURRENT LAW: Under current law (G.S. 20-158(b)(2)a.), vehicles facing a red light must stop and are prohibited from entering the intersection while the light is red (other than to make a lawful right turn). Running a red light is an infraction punishable by a fine of not more than $100.00 (G.S. 20-176). The Division of Motor Vehicles assigns three points to a person's record for running a red light (G.S. 20-16).

With regard to the issue of the bill's impact on negligence/contributory negligence, G.S. 20-158(d) provides that "No failure to stop as required by the provisions of this section shall be considered negligence or contributory negligence per se in any action at law for injury to person or property, but the facts relating to such failure to stop may be considered with the other facts in the case in determining whether a party was guilty of negligence or contributory negligence."

BILL ANALYSIS: The PCS would provide a motorcycle or bicycle operator who violates the statutory prohibition against entering an intersection when facing a red light an affirmative defense if the operator shows all of the following:

- the operator came to a complete stop at the red light;
- the intersection was controlled by a vehicle actuated traffic signal using an inductive loop to activate the signal;

- no other motor vehicles were at or approaching the intersection;
- no pedestrians were attempting to cross at or near the intersection; and
- a minimum of three minutes had elapsed prior to entering the intersection.

BACKGROUND: Actuated traffic signals alter their sequence based on demand, and are activated by vehicle detectors. With an actuated traffic signal, once a vehicle is detected by a sensor, the traffic signal will initiate a change in, or extension of, a traffic signal phase (e.g., change a red light to green). A common kind of vehicle detector used to govern actuated traffic signals is a loop detector. A loop detector works like a metal detector, it reacts to the presence of metal (or an electromagnetic field). The sensitivity of a loop detector varies due to a number of parameters. Depending on the sensitivity of a detector, the presence of a motorcycle may not trigger a change in the traffic signal.

Tennessee, Arkansas, Idaho, and Minnesota have enacted laws similar to the provisions of Senate Bill 1359.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The PCS would become effective December 1, 2007, and apply to offenses committed on or after that date.

(NOTE: YOU SHOULD USE THIS DOCUMENT TO NAME A PERSON AS YOUR HEALTH CARE AGENT IF YOU ARE COMFORTABLE GIVING THAT PERSON BROAD AND SWEEPING POWERS TO MAKE HEALTH CARE DECISIONS FOR YOU. THERE IS NO LEGAL REQUIREMENT THAT ANYONE EXECUTE A HEALTH CARE POWER OF ATTORNEY.)

EXPLANATION: You have the right to name someone to make health care decisions for you when you cannot make or communicate those decisions. This form may be used to create a health care power of attorney, and meets the requirements of North Carolina law. However, you are not required to use this form, and North Carolina law allows the use of other forms that meet certain requirements. If you prepare your own health care power of a attorney, you should be very careful to make sure it is consistent with North Carolina law.

This document gives the person you designate as your health care agent broad powers to make health care decisions for you when you cannot make the decision yourself or cannot communicate your decision to other people. You should discuss your wishes concerning life-prolonging measures, mental health treatment, and other health care decisions with your health care agent. Except to the extent that you express specific limitations or restrictions in this form, your health care agent may make any health care decision you could make yourself.

This form does not impose a duty on your health care agent to exercise granted powers, but when a power is exercised, your health care agent will be obligated to use due care to act in your best interests and in accordance with this document.

This Health Care Power of Attorney form is intended to be valid in any jurisdiction in which it is presented, but places outside North Carolina may impose requirements that this form does not meet.

If you want to use this form you must complete it, sign it, and have your signature witnessed by a qualified witness and proved by a notary public. Follow the instructions about which choices you can initial very carefully. Do not sign this form until a witness and a notary public are present to watch you sign it. You then should give a copy to your health care agent and to any alternates you name. You should consider filing it with the Advance Health Care Directive Registry maintained by the North Carolina Secretary of State.

ADVANCE DIRECTIVE FOR A NATURAL DEATH ("LIVING WILL")

NOTE: YOU SHOULD USE THIS DOCUMENT TO GIVE YOUR HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS INSTRUCTIONS ABOUT WHETHER TO APPLY LIFE-PROLONGING MEASURES IN CERTAIN SITUATIONS. THERE IS NO LEGAL REQUIREMENT THAT ANYONE EXECUTE A LIVING WILL.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS: You can use this Advance Directive ("Living Will") form to give instructions for the future about whether you want your health care providers to apply life-prolonging measures in certain situations. You should talk to your doctor about what these terms mean. The Living Will states what choices you would have made for yourself if you were able to communicate. Talk to your family members, friends, and others you trust about your choices. Also, it is a good idea to talk with professionals such as your doctors, clergypersons, and lawyers before you complete and sign this Living Will.

You do not have to use this form to give those instructions, but if you create your own Advance Directive you need to be very careful to ensure that it is consistent with North Carolina law.

This Living Will form is intended to be valid in any jurisdiction in which it is presented, but places outside North Carolina may impose requirements that this form does not meet.

If you want to use this form, you must complete it, sign it, and have your signature witnessed by a qualified witness and proved by a notary public. Follow the instructions about which choices you can initial very carefully. Do not sign this form until a witness and a notary public are present to watch you sign it. You then should consider giving a copy to your primary physician and/or a trusted relative, and should consider filing it with the Advanced Health Care Directive Registry maintained by the North Carolina Secretary of State.

My Desire for a Natural Death

6. If I have an Available Health Care Agent

_____(Initial) Follow Advance Directive: This Advance Directive will override instructions my health care agent gives about prolonging my life.

_____(Initial) Follow Health Care Agent: My health care agent has authority to override this Advance Directive.

(NOTE: DO NOT INITIAL BOTH BLOCKS. IF YOU DO NOT INITIAL EITHER BOX, THEN YOUR HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS WILL FOLLOW THIS ADVANCE DIRECTIVE AND IGNORE THE INSTRUCTIONS OF YOUR HEALTH CARE AGENT ABOUT PROLONGING YOUR LIFE.)

7. My Health Care Providers May Rely on this Directive

My health care providers shall not be liable to me or to my family, my estate, my heirs, or my personal representative for following the instructions I give in this

"(e) ~~The above declaration may be revoked by the declarant, in any manner by which he is able to communicate his intent to revoke, without regard to his mental or physical condition. Such revocation shall become effective only upon communication to~~

SECTION 11.(e) G.S. 90-321 is amended by adding the following new subsections to read:

"(k) Notwithstanding subsection (c) of this section:

(1) An attending physician may decline to honor a declaration if doing so would violate that physician's conscience or the conscience-based policy of the facility at which the declarant is being treated; provided, an attending physician who declines to honor a declaration on these grounds must not interfere, and must cooperate reasonably, with efforts to substitute an attending physician whose conscience would not be violated by honoring the declaration, or transfer the declarant to a facility that does not have policies in force that prohibit honoring the declaration.

(2) An attending physician may decline to honor a declaration if after reasonable inquiry there are reasonable grounds to question the genuineness or validity of a declaration. The subsection imposes no duty on the attending physician to verify a declaration's genuineness or validity.

(l) Notwithstanding subsection (c) of this section, a declaration or similar document executed in a jurisdiction other than North Carolina shall be valid in this State if it appears to have been executed in accordance with the applicable requirements of that jurisdiction or this State."

(6) An individual who has an established relationship with the patient, who is acting in good faith on behalf of the patient, and who can reliably convey the patient's wishes.

If none of the above is available then at the discretion of the attending physician the ~~extraordinary means or artificial nutrition or hydration~~ life-prolonging measures may be withheld or discontinued upon the direction and under the supervision of the attending physician.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1979, c. 715, s. 2.

Any person, institution or facility against whom criminal or civil liability is asserted because of conduct in compliance with this section may interpose this section as a defense."

(3) A reasonable person, under all the surrounding circumstances, would have undergone such treatment or procedure had he been advised by the health care provider in accordance with the provisions of subdivisions (1) and (2) of this subsection.

(b) ~~A consent which is evidenced in writing and which meets the foregoing standards, and which is signed by the patient or other authorized person, shall be presumed to be a valid consent. This presumption, however, may be subject to rebuttal only upon proof that such consent was obtained by fraud, deception or misrepresentation of a material fact.~~A consent that meets the foregoing standards, that is given by a patient, or other authorized person, who under all the surrounding circumstances has capacity to make and communicate health care decisions, is a valid consent.

(c) ~~A valid consent is one which is given by a person who under all the surrounding circumstances is mentally and physically competent to give consent.~~

(1) Consent that is evidenced in writing, and that is signed by the patient or other authorized person, shall be presumed to be a valid consent. This presumption may be rebutted only upon proof that such consent was obtained by fraud, deception, or misrepresentation of a material fact.

(2) The following persons, in the order indicated, are authorized to consent to medical treatment on behalf of a patient who is comatose or otherwise lacks capacity to make or communicate health care decisions:

a. A guardian of the patient's person, or a general guardian with powers over the patient's person, appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction pursuant to Article 5 of Chapter 35A of the General Statutes; provided that, if the patient has a health care agent appointed pursuant to a valid health care power of attorney, the health care agent shall have the right to exercise the authority to the extent granted in the health care power of attorney and to the extent provided in G.S. 32A-19(b) unless the Clerk has suspended the authority of that health care agent in accordance with G.S. 35A-1208(a);

If none of the persons listed under this subdivision is available, then the patient's attending physician, in the attending physician's discretion, may provide health care treatment without the consent of the patient or other person authorized to consent for the patient if there is conformation by a physician other than the patient's attending physician of the patient's condition and the necessity for treatment; provided, however, that confirmation of the patient's condition and the necessity for treatment are not required if the delay in obtaining the confirmation would endanger the life or seriously worsen the condition of the patient.

(d) No action may be maintained against any health care provider upon any guarantee, warranty or assurance as to the result of any medical, surgical or diagnostic procedure or treatment unless the guarantee, warranty or assurance, or some note or memorandum thereof, shall be in writing and signed by the provider or by some other person authorized to act for or on behalf of such provider.

(e) In the event of any conflict between the provisions of this section and those of ~~G.S. 35A-1245~~G.S. 35A-1245, 90-21.17, and 90-322, ~~and~~ Articles 1A and 19 of Chapter 90, and Article 3 of Chapter 122C, the provisions of those sections and Articles shall control and continue in full force and effect."

SECTION 14. G.S. 90-21.17 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-21.17. Portable do not resuscitate ~~order.~~order and Medical Order for Scope of Treatment.

(a) It is the intent of this section to recognize a patient's desire and right to withhold cardiopulmonary resuscitation and other life-prolonging measures to avoid loss of dignity and unnecessary pain and suffering through the use of a portable do not resuscitate ("DNR") ~~order.~~order or a Medical Order for Scope of Treatment (MOST).

This section establishes an optional and nonexclusive procedure by which a patient or the patient's representative may exercise this right.

(b) A physician may issue a portable DNR order or MOST for a patient:

(1) With the consent of the patient;

(2) If the patient is a minor, with the consent of the patient's parent or guardian; or

(3) If the patient is not a minor but is incapable of making an informed decision regarding consent for the order, with the consent of the patient's representative.

The physician shall document the basis for the DNR order or MOST in the patient's medical record. When the order is a MOST, the patient or the patient's representative must sign the form, provided, however, that if it is not practicable for the patient's representative to sign the original MOST form, the patient's representative shall sign a copy of the completed form and return it to the health care professional completing the form. The copy of the form with the signature of the patient's representative, whether in paper or electronic form, shall be placed in the patient's medical record. When the signature of the patient's representative is on a separate copy of the MOST form, the original MOST form must indicate in the appropriate signature field that the signature is "on file."

(c) The Department of Health and Human Services shall develop a portable DNR order ~~form.~~form, and a MOST form. The official DNR form shall include fields for the name of the patient; the name, address, and telephone number of the physician; the signature of the physician; and other relevant information. At a minimum, the official MOST form shall include fields for: the name of the patient; the name and telephone number of the physician, physician assistant, or nurse practitioner authorizing the order by signing the form; the name and contact information of the health care professional who prepared the form with the patient or the patient's representative; information on who agreed (i.e. the patient or the patient's representative) to the options selected on the MOST form; a range of options for cardiopulmonary resuscitation, medical interventions, antibiotics, medically administered fluids and nutrition; a signature clock for the patient or the patient's representative to sign if practicable; effective date of the form and review dates; and an advisory that the MOST may be revoked by the patient or the patient's representative. The form may be approved by reference to a standard form that meets the requirements of this subsection. For purposes of this section, the "patient's representative" means an individual from the list of persons authorized to consent to the withholding of extraordinary care pursuant to ~~G.S. 90-322 or an individual who has an established relationship with the patient, who is acting in good faith on behalf of the patient, and who can reliably convey the patient's wishes.~~G.S. 90-322.

(d) No physician, emergency medical professional, hospice provider, or other health care provider shall be subject to criminal prosecution, civil liability, or disciplinary action by any professional licensing or certification agency for withholding cardiopulmonary resuscitation from a patient in good faith reliance on an original DNR order or MOST form adopted pursuant to subsection (c) of this section, provided that (i) there are no reasonable grounds for doubting the validity of the order or the identity of the patient, and (ii) the provider does not have actual knowledge of the revocation of the portable DNR ~~order.~~order or MOST. No physician, emergency medical professional, hospice provider, or other health care provider shall be subject to criminal prosecution, civil liability, or disciplinary action by any professional licensing or certification agency for failure to follow a DNR order or MOST form adopted pursuant to subsection (c) of this section if the provider had no actual knowledge of the existence of the DNR ~~order.~~order or MOST.

(e) A health care facility may develop policies and procedures that authorize the facility's provider to accept a portable DNR order or MOST as if it were an order of the medical staff of that facility. This section does not prohibit a physician in a health care facility from issuing a written order, other than a portable DNR ~~order,~~order or MOST not to resuscitate a patient in the event of cardiac or respiratory arrest, or to use, withhold, or withdraw additional medical interventions as provided in the MOST, in accordance with acceptable medical practice and the facility's policies.

(f) Nothing in this section shall affect the validity of portable DNR order or MOST forms in existence prior to the effective date of this section."

SECTION 15. G.S. 130A-420 reads as rewritten:

"§ 130A-420. Authority to dispose of body or body parts.

(a) An individual at least 18 years of age may authorize the disposition of the individual's own dead body in a written will, pursuant to a health care power of attorney to the extent provided in Article 3 of Chapter 32A of the General Statutes, pursuant to a preneed funeral contract executed pursuant to Article 13D of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes, pursuant to a cremation authorization form executed pursuant to Article 13C of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes, or in a written statement signed by the individual and witnessed by two persons who are at least 18 years old.

(b) If a decedent has left no written authorization for the disposal of the decedent's body as permitted under subsection (a) of this section, the following competent persons in the order listed may authorize the type, method, place, and disposition of the decedent's body:

~~(1) The surviving spouse.~~

~~(2) A majority of the surviving children.~~

~~(3) The surviving parents.~~

~~(4) A majority of the surviving siblings.~~

~~(5) A majority of the persons in the classes of the next degrees of kinship, in descending order, who, under State law, would inherit the decedent's estate if the decedent died intestate.~~

~~(6) A person who has exhibited special care and concern for the decedent and is willing and able to make decisions about the disposition.~~

(1a) The health care agent under a health care power of attorney giving the health care agent that authority to the extent provided in G.S. 32A-19(b).

(2a) The personal representative of the estate of the decedent, or the person named executor in a will prior to appointment.

(3a) The surviving spouse.

(4a) A majority of the surviving children who are at least 18 years of age and can be located after reasonable efforts.

(5a) The surviving parents.

(6a) A majority of the surviving siblings who are at least 18 years of age and can be located after reasonable efforts.

(7) A majority of the persons in the classes of the next degrees of kinship, in descending order, who, under State law, would inherit the decedent's estate if the decedent died intestate who are at least 18 years of age and can be located after reasonable efforts.

(8) A person who has exhibited special care and concern for the decedent and is willing and able to make decisions about the disposition.

(9) In the case of indigents or any other individuals whose final disposition is the responsibility of the State or any of its instrumentalities, a public administrator, medical examiner, coroner, State-appointed guardian, or any other public official charged with arranging the final disposition of the decedent.

This subsection does not grant to any person the right to cancel a preneed funeral contract executed pursuant to Article 13D of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes or to prohibit the substitution of a preneed licensee as authorized under G.S. 90-210.63.

(c) An individual at least 18 years of age may, in a writing signed by the individual, authorize the disposition of one or more of the individual's body parts that has been or will be removed. If the individual does not authorize the disposition, a person listed in subsection (b) of this section may authorize the disposition as if the individual was deceased.

(d) This section does not apply to the disposition of dead human bodies as anatomical gifts under Part 3 of Article 16 of Chapter 130A of the General Statutes or the right to perform autopsies under Part 2 of Article 16 of Chapter 130A of the General Statutes."

SECTION 16.(a) G.S. 122C-3(20) reads as rewritten:

"(20) "Legally responsible person" means: (i) when applied to an adult, who has been adjudicated incompetent, a guardian; (ii) when applied to a minor, a parent, guardian, a person standing in loco parentis, or a legal custodian other than a parent who has been granted specific authority by law or in a custody order to consent for medical care, including psychiatric treatment; or (iii) when applied to an adult who is incapable as defined in G.S. 122C-72(c) and who has not been adjudicated incompetent, a health care agent named pursuant to a valid health care power of ~~attorney as prescribed in Article 3 of Chapter 32 of the General Statutes.~~attorney."

SECTION 16.(b) G.S. 122C-57(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) Each voluntarily admitted ~~client, the client's legally responsible person, or a health care agent named pursuant to a valid health care power of attorney~~ client or the client's legally responsible person (including a health care agent named pursuant to a valid health care power of attorney) has the right to consent to or refuse any treatment offered by the facility. Consent may be withdrawn at any time by the person who gave the consent. If treatment is refused, the qualified professional shall determine whether treatment in some other modality is possible. If all appropriate treatment modalities are refused, the voluntarily admitted client may be discharged. In an emergency, a voluntarily admitted client may be administered treatment or medication, other than those specified in subsection (f) of this section, despite the refusal of the ~~client, the client's legally responsible person, a health care agent named pursuant to a valid health care power of attorney, or~~ client or the client's legally responsible person, even if the client's refusal is expressed in a valid advance instruction for mental health treatment. The Commission may adopt rules to provide a procedure to be followed when a voluntarily admitted client refuses treatment."

SECTION 16.(c) G.S. 122C-72(1) reads as rewritten:

"(1) "Advance instruction for mental health treatment" or "advance instruction" means a written instrument, signed in the presence of ~~two qualified witnesses who believe~~ at least one qualified witness who believes the principal to be of sound mind at the time of the signing, and acknowledged before a notary public, pursuant to which the principal makes a declaration of instructions, information, and preferences regarding the principal's mental health treatment and states that the principal is aware that the advance instruction authorizes a mental health treatment provider to act according to the instruction. It may also state the principal's instructions regarding, but not limited to, consent to or refusal of mental health treatment when the principal is incapable."

SECTION 17. G.S. 130A-468(c) and (d) read as rewritten:

"(c) When the Secretary of State receives a revocation of a document that is filed with the registry and that document's file number and password, or a request to remove that document from the registry without its revocation, the Secretary shall delete that document from the registry database.

(d) The Secretary of State's entry of a document ~~into~~ into, or removal of a document from, the registry database does not do any of the following:

(2) Relate to the accuracy of information contained in the document.

(3) Create a presumption regarding the validity of the document, regarding the accuracy of information contained in the document, or that the statutory requirements for the document have been met."

SECTION 18. G.S. 28A-13-1 reads as rewritten:

"§ 28A-13-1. Time of accrual of duties and powers.

The duties and powers of a personal representative commence upon his appointment. The powers of a personal representative relate back to give acts by the person appointed which are beneficial to the estate occurring prior to appointment the same effect as those occurring thereafter. ~~Prior to appointment,~~ However, a person named executor in a will ~~may~~ may, prior to appointment, carry out written instructions of the decedent relating to ~~his~~ the decedent's body, funeral and burial ~~arrangements.~~arrangements; provided that a health care agent authorized in a valid health care power of attorney to make body, funeral, and burial arrangements shall have precedence in making these arrangements, both before and after qualification of the decedent's personal representative, to the extent provided in G.S. 32A-19(b). A personal representative may ratify and accept acts on behalf of the estate done by others where the acts would have been proper for a personal representative."

SECTION 19.(a) G.S. 90-210.63 is amended by adding the following new subsection to read:

"(a) The following ~~person,~~persons in the priority list below, shall have the right to serve as an "authorizing agent":

A health care agent may not revoke a declaration unless the health care power of attorney explicitly authorizes that revocation; however, a health care agent may exercise any authority explicitly given to the health care agent in a declaration. A guardian of the person of the declarant or general guardian may not revoke a declaration."

Statement of LifeTree concerning S 1046
Senate Judicial II Meeting, May 3, 2007

S-1046 is entitled an act to CLARIFY AND SIMPLIFY...advanced directives. There are three key elements in it, however, which go far beyond the scope of its title and introduce new and dangerous ideas.

I. Under current law for a living will to come into play, one of two conditions must be met.
- Two physicians must determine that a patient is "terminal and incurable".
- Or, a patient must be diagnosed as in a "persistent vegetative state".

S-1046 adds a third condition which will cause the "Declaration of a Desire for Natural Death" (living will) to come into effect.
- One who "suffers from advanced dementia or... substantial loss of cognitive ability (which) to a high degree of medical certainty is not reversible".

Existing law authorizing the Health Care Power of Attorney mentions in the statutory form "severe dementia" among the conditions for which a Health Care Agent could authorize withdrawal of "life sustaining procedures," but the prominent display of dementia in the "living will" breaks new ground.
- It would permit any persons to say that if they "suffer from advanced dementia or other loss of cognitive ability"; they are not to be given "life prolonging measures" which include food and water. Although the person's death is not medically imminent, the advance directive leaves open the door for hastening death.

"Right to die with dignity" is moving our society towards a "duty to die" when one becomes unproductive whether aged or disabled. Some will argue that it only authorizes the right of individuals to exercise autonomy over their lives. But autonomy must be exercised within a right and informed conscience. For this state legislature to add dementia and loss of cognitive ability as conditions under which people are invited to authorize in advance their own termination completely devalues life.

II. S1046 will give legal sanction to a Medical Order for Scope of Treatment (MOST) which acts like an extended DNR form. MOST is patterned after the POLST Paradigm developed in Oregon. It offers different levels of limiting medical treatments regarding use of antibiotics, artificially administered nutrition, artificially administered hydration, cardiac monitoring, hospital admission, etc. As proposed in rewritten 90-21.17:
- MOST accompanies the patient across settings, hospital, home, nursing home, etc.
- Other personnel in addition to physicians can sign it.
- Can be signed after the fact by a patient's "representative".

Unfortunately, we know little more about what the form (which appears to be an extended sort of living will) will actually be. Its creation is to be delegated to the Department of HHS with very little apparent guidance. The form is touted by proponents in their literature as honoring patient's wishes, but there is nothing to prevent its being filled out under distress during an EMS visit or to prevent its becoming part of standard operating procedure when one must enter a nursing home.

III. A valid Health Care Power of Attorney given to someone whom you trust who can speak for you when there is need to give informed consent is a valuable protection. S1046 contains a proposal, which goes well beyond "clarifying and simplifying." Rewritten GS 32A-24(c) would give a clerk of court the ability to suspend the authority of your health care agent. You would hate to think that if your validly appointed health care agent continued to direct that you be treated, fed and hydrated, the courts could appoint a guardian to direct otherwise.

A person would have to read both forms very carefully to understand that if they have executed both documents, it appears that they must check correctly the key box (6) in the Advance Directive form or their Health Care Providers could ignore their Health Care Agent who tries to correct any mistake they may have made in their Advance Directive.

SENATE BILL 1046:
Advance Directives/Health Care Pwr. Atty.-AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 30, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Hartsell	Summary by:	Kory Goldsmith
Version:	PCS to First Edition S1046-PCS35363-RC-21		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1046 amends laws related to Health Care Powers of Attorney, Advance Directives/Living Wills, and Guardianship statutes to allow individuals to make clear choices about their medical treatment, especially end of life treatments.

CURRENT LAW: Article 23 of Chapter 90 authorizes "Living Wills" and was enacted in 1979. Article 3 of Chapter 32A authorizes health care powers of attorney and was enacted in 1991. Part 2 of Article 3 of Chapter 122C authorizes an instruction for mental health treatment and was enacted in 1997. There are also scattered statutes related to the authority of health care agents, especially in the event there is also a court appointed guardian. In general, when a person has executed both a Health Care Power of Attorney and a Living Will, the terms of the Living Will control over the health care agent designation.[1] A similar situation exists when there is a health care agent, and a court appoints a guardian.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 amends G.S. 32A-15(c) to provide that either a living will or a health care power of attorney (HCPOA) may provide that the health care power of attorney takes precedence over a living will, and that provision will not create a conflict between the two documents. Under current law, it is not clear whether this situation does create a conflict. However, because current law gives a living will precedence over a HCPOA in the event of a conflict, it could be argued that the living will always "trumps" the HCPOA.

This section also makes it clear that if a living will does not speak directly to a medical condition and the HCPOA does, the HCPOA controls.

Section 2 amends the definitions related to HCPOAs. It provides that the execution of a HCPOA need only be witnessed by one qualified witness. Current law requires two qualified witnesses. It also specifies that the notary may be an employee of the attending physician or employed by the health care facility where the principal is being treated.

Also changes the terminology from "life-sustaining procedures" to "life-prolonging measures". These are medical procedures or interventions which, in the judgment of the attending physician, serve only to postpone artificially the moment of death by sustaining, restoring, or supplanting a vital function.

Section 3 replaces terminology, but also makes it clear that if a health care agent has the authority to made decisions regarding the disposition of the principal's remains, those decisions are limited to incurring reasonable costs and does not give the health care agent broader authority over the principal's estate or financial affairs.

Section 4 creates a procedure by which a guardian of the principal may petition a court to suspend the authority of a health care agent during the term of the guardianship. The court may suspend the agent's authority for good cause shown, but must specify whether the guardian must act consistently with the HCPOA. Also creates immunity for a health care provider who relies upon a HCPOA until the provider receives actual knowledge of the court's order suspending the HCPOA.

Section 5(a) changes the terminology to be consistent with new definitions. Section 5(b) adds a new subsection to G.S. 32A-24 to clarify that a health care provider may rely upon the authority of a health care agent contained in a HCPOA, whether the HCPOA is executed in another jurisdiction, executed under the previous statutory form, or does not use the statutory form but does comply with applicable laws. The health care provider may rely upon the HCPOA until receiving actual notice of its revocation.

Section 6(a) repeals the current statutory HCPOA. Section 6(b) creates a new HCPOA statutory form, G.S. 3A-25.1(a). The form attempts to clarify the consequences of certain choices by the principal and also points out that certain provisions purporting to create limitations will not be effective unless the principal specifies the limitations. Also provides that use of the statutory form is optional, and is a nonexclusive method for creating a HCPOA. Subsection (b) of new G.S. 32A-25.1 provides that the new statutory form does not affect the use of previously executed HCPOAs.

Section 7 creates G.S. 32A-27 which provides that a HCPOA executed in another jurisdiction shall be valid in North Carolina if it appears it was executed in compliance with the law of the other state or the laws of North Carolina.

Section 8 allows a guardian of the person or legal guardian to petition the Clerk of Court to suspend the authority of a health care agent. It also specifies that the guardian does not have the authority to revoke a Living Will.

Section 9 clarifies that a health care agent has the right to make health care decisions for a ward for whom a legal guardian or guardian of the person has been appointed.

Section 10 revises terminology.

Section 11(a) amends G.S. 90-321 regarding Advance Directives or Living Wills. It defines a "Declaration" as any signed, witnessed, dated and notarized document that otherwise meets the requirements of the Article. These requirements allow for only one witness (current law requires two witnesses), but that person must not have any interest in the declarant's estate or be an employee of the health care provider. It repeals the definition of "extraordinary means" and substitutes "life-prolonging measures" as that term is defined in the HCPOA statutes. It also repeals the term "persistent vegetative state".

It amends G.S. 90-321(b) and (c) to allow an attending physician to withhold life-prolonging measures if the declarant has properly executed a living will, the attending physician determines that the declarant:

- has incurable or irreversible condition that will result in the declarant's death in a relatively short period of time;
- is unconscious and, to a high degree of medical certainty, will never regain consciousness; or
- suffers from advanced dementia or any other condition resulting in the substantial loss of cognitive ability and, to a high degree of medical certainty, is not reversible.

AND

- The declarant's condition is confirmed by another physician, if one is reasonably available.

AND

- The Living Will states that the declarant understands that the document authorizes the attending physician to withhold life-prolonging measures.

Current law allows an attending physician to withhold artificial nutrition or hydration pursuant to a Living Will if: the declarant is terminally ill or diagnosed as being in a persistent vegetative state and these medical conditions are confirmed by a second medical opinion. The Declaration must be in writing, signed by the declarant and two witnesses, and notarized.

Section 11(b) repeals the current statutory form for Living Wills

Section 11(c) creates a new statutory form for Living Wills that reflects the statutory changes.

Sections 11(d) and (e) clarifies that a Declaration may be revoked orally or in writing without regard to a declarant's mental or physical condition. Prior law made a revocation effective only upon communication of the revocation to the attending physician by the declarant or an individual acting on behalf of the declarant. It provides immunity to a health care provider who acts in accordance with a revoked declaration unless the health care provider has actual knowledge of the revocation. Also extends the protections to a Declaration that is executed in another jurisdiction, and one that does not conform to the statutory form. It also prohibits a health care agent from revoking a declaration unless the HCPOA explicitly grants the agent this authority.

Section 11(d) creates a new subdivision (k) for G.S. 90-321 to allow a physician to decline to honor a Declaration if doing so would violate the physician's conscience or the conscience-based policy of the facility where the declarant is being treated. It also allows a physician to decline to honor a Declaration if after reasonable inquiry, there are reasonable grounds to question the genuineness or validity of the document.

Section 12 amends G.S. 90-322 regarding situations where life-prolonging measures may be withheld in the absence of a Declaration. If the attending physician determines that:

- a patient has an incurable or irreversible condition that will lead to that person's death in a relatively short period of time, or
- the patient is unconscious and unlikely to regain consciousness.

AND

- That condition is confirmed by another physician.

AND

- A bodily function could be restored or is being sustained by life-prolonging measures,

THEN

The life-prolonging measures may be withheld or discontinued at the direction and under the supervision of the attending physician with the concurrence of the following individuals, in descending order:

- A health care agent appointed under a valid HCPOA, unless that authority has been suspended by a court in favor of a court appointed guardian of the person or general guardian, in which case the court appointed guardian takes priority.
- An attorney-in-fact with powers to make health care decisions for the principal.
- The patient's spouse.

- A majority of the patient's reasonably available parents and children who are at least 18 years of age.
- A majority of the patient's reasonably available siblings who are at least 18 years of age.
- An individual who has an established relationship with the patient, who is acting in good faith on behalf of the patient, and who can reliably convey the patient's wishes.
- If none of these are reasonably available, the attending physician may withhold or discontinue life-prolonging measures.

Current law gives priority decision-making to the following in descending order: a health care agent, then a guardian of the person, then the person's spouse, then a majority of the relatives of the first degree.

Section 13 amends G.S. 90-21.13 regarding informed consent to medical treatment under the medical malpractice provisions of the statutes. It sets out, in descending order, the persons who may give valid consent to medical treatment if the patient is comatose or otherwise lacks the capacity to make or communicate health care decisions. The same individuals are listed in the same order as those in Section 12 regarding the withholding or discontinuance of life-prolonging measures.

Current law provides that the patient's spouse, parent, guardian, or nearest relative may give the consent. It does not prioritize among those individuals.

Section 14 amends G.S. 90-21.17 regarding do not resuscitate orders (DNRs). It adds to the statutes Medical Order for Scope of Treatment (MOST). A MOST could be issued by a physician pursuant to the same consents necessary for a DNR. However, if the consent is given by the patient's representative, the representative must sign the MOST. The statute would also specify the information that must be contained on a MOST form.

Section 15 amends G.S. 130A-420 regarding who has the authority to dispose of a body or body parts. That authority is granted in the following, descending order:

- A health care agent appointed under a valid HCPOA and to the extent the authority is contained in the HCPOA.
- The personal representative of the estate or the executor under the decedent's will.
- The surviving spouse.
- A majority of the patient's reasonably available surviving children who are at least 18 years of age.
- The surviving parents.
- A majority of the surviving siblings who are at least 18 years of age.
- A majority of persons in classes of next degree of kinship who would inherit the estate if the person dies without a will.
- An individual who has exhibited care and concern for the decedent and who is willing to make decisions regarding the disposition.
- If none of the above are available or the decedent is indigent, a public administrator, medical examiner or any other public official charged with this responsibility.

Current law lists, in descending order, the following individuals: surviving spouse, majority of surviving children, surviving parents, majority of persons in classes entitled to inherit under intestate succession, and a person who as shown care and concern for the decedent.

Section 16(a), (b) and (c) amend provisions in Chapter 122C regarding advance instruction for mental health treatment to make those provisions conform to other changes already discussed.

In all cases of doubt, the jury shall, in the verdict, fix the value of the property stolen."

SECTION 3. G.S. 14-72.1 reads as rewritten:

"§ 14-72.1 Concealment of merchandise in mercantile establishments.

(a) Whoever, without authority, willfully conceals the goods or merchandise of any store, not theretofore purchased by such person, while still upon the premises of such store, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be punished as provided in subsection (e). Such goods or merchandise found concealed upon or about the person and which have not theretofore been purchased by such person shall be prima facie evidence of a willful concealment.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1985 (Regular Session, 1986), c. 841, s. 2.

(c) A merchant, or the merchant's agent or employee, or a peace officer who detains or causes the arrest of any person shall not be held civilly liable for detention, malicious prosecution, false imprisonment, or false arrest of the person detained or arrested, where such detention is upon the premises of the store or in a reasonable proximity thereto, is in a reasonable manner for a reasonable length of time, and, if in detaining or in causing the arrest of such person, the merchant, or the merchant's agent or employee, or the peace officer had at the time of the detention or arrest probable cause to believe that the person committed the offense created by this section. If the person being detained by the merchant, or the merchant's agent or employee, is a minor under the age of 18 years, the merchant or the merchant's agent or employee, shall call or notify, or make a reasonable effort to call or notify the parent or guardian of the minor, during the period of detention. A merchant, or the merchant's agent or employee, who makes a reasonable effort to call or notify the parent or guardian of the minor shall not be held civilly liable for failing to notify the parent or guardian of the minor.

(d) Whoever, without authority, willfully transfers any price tag from goods or merchandise to other goods or merchandise having a higher selling price or marks said goods at a lower price or substitutes or superimposes thereon a false price tag or other product code used to identify the sales prices and then presents said goods or merchandise for purchase shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be punished as provided in subsection (e).

Nothing herein shall be construed to provide that the mere possession of goods or the production by shoppers of improperly priced merchandise for checkout shall constitute prima facie evidence of guilt.

(d1) Notwithstanding subsection (e) of this section, any person who violates subsection (a) of this section by using a lead-lined or aluminum-lined bag, a lead-lined or aluminum-lined article of clothing, or a similar device to prevent the activation of any antishoplifting or inventory control device is guilty of a Class H felony.

(d2) Notwithstanding subsection (e) of this section, any person who violates subsection (a) of this section by using an exit door erected and maintained to comply with the requirements of 29 C.F.R. § 1910 Subpart E to exit the premises of a store is guilty of a Class H felony.

(d3) Notwithstanding subsection (e) of this section, any person who violates subsection (a) of this section by removing, destroying, or deactivating a component of an antishoplifting or inventory control device to prevent the activation of any antishoplifting or inventory control device is guilty of a Class H felony.

(e) Punishment. – For a first conviction under subsection (a) or (d), or for a subsequent conviction for which the punishment is not specified by this subsection, the defendant shall be guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor. The term of imprisonment may be suspended only on condition that the defendant perform community service for a term of at least 24 hours. For a second offense committed within three years after the date the defendant was convicted of an offense under this section, the defendant shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor. The term of imprisonment may be suspended only on condition that the defendant be imprisoned for a term of at least 72 hours as a condition of special probation, perform community service for a term of at least 72 hours, or both. For a third or subsequent offense committed within five years after the date the defendant was convicted of two other offenses under this section, the defendant shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. The term of imprisonment may be suspended only if a condition of special probation is imposed to require the defendant to serve a term of imprisonment of at least 11 days. However, if the sentencing judge finds that the defendant is unable, by reason of mental or physical infirmity, to perform the service required under this section, and the reasons for such findings are set forth in the judgment, the judge may pronounce such other sentence as the judge finds appropriate.

(f) Community Service Period. – If the judgment requires a defendant sentenced under this section to perform a specified number of hours of community service, the community service must be completed within:

(1) 90 days, if the amount of community service required is 72 hours or more;

(2) 60 days, if the amount of community service required is at least 48 hours but less than 72 hours; and

(3) 30 days, if the amount of community service required is at least 24 hours but less than 48 hours.

The court may extend these time limits upon motion of the defendant if it finds that the defendant has made a good faith effort to comply with the time limits specified in this subsection. Failure to complete the community service requirement within the applicable time limits is a violation of the defendant's probation.

(g) Limitations. – For active terms of imprisonment imposed under this section:

(1) The judge may not give credit to the defendant for the first 24 hours of time spent in incarceration pending trial;

(2) The defendant must serve the mandatory minimum period of imprisonment and good or gain time credit may not be used to reduce that mandatory minimum period; and

(3) The defendant may not be released or paroled unless he is otherwise eligible and has served the mandatory minimum period of imprisonment."

SECTION 4. Article 16 of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 14-72.7. Theft of infant formula.

(a) The term "infant formula", as used in this section, has the same meaning as found in 21 U.S.C. § 321(z)."

(b) If any person takes and carries away infant formula valued in excess of one hundred dollars ($100.00), that person is guilty of a Class H felony."

SECTION 5. Chapter 14 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new article to read:

"Article 16A.

"Organized Retail Theft.

"§ 14-86.5. Definitions.

(1) "Retail property." – Any new article, product, commodity, item, or component intended to be sold in retail commerce.

(2) "Retail property fence." – A person or business that buys retail property knowing or believing that retail property is stolen.

(3) "Theft." – To take possession of, carry away, transfer, or cause to be carried away the retail property of another with the intent to steal the retail property.

(4) "Value." – The retail value of an item as advertised by the affected retail establishment, to include all applicable taxes.

(b) Offense: Receiving and Possessing Retail Property Obtained by Organized Retail Theft. – A person who receives or possesses with the intent to distribute, any retail property into interstate commerce which has been taken or stolen in violation of this section, is guilty of a Class G felony.

(c) Explicit Representation of Theft of Retail Property. – It is not a defense to a charge of receiving stolen retail property in violation of this section that the retail property was obtained by means other than through the commission of a theft offense if the retail property was explicitly represented to the accused person as being obtained through the commission of a theft offense.

(d) Venue. – Venue for criminal actions to enforce the provisions of this section, including criminal actions with respect to each of the offenses included within organized retail theft as defined by this section, that have been committed, attempted, or conspired to be committed by two or more persons, shall be in any county in which at least one criminal offense has occurred that constitutes part of the organized retail theft offenses. It is the intent of the General Assembly that one State court may have jurisdiction over all the conduct, persons, and retail property which are part of, or are directly related to, each and all of the criminal offenses forming part of the organized retail theft offenses; however, it is discretionary, not mandatory, to bring all criminal actions in one jurisdiction when organized retail theft offenses involve two or more counties.

(e) Forfeiture. – Any person who violates any provision of this section shall forfeit to the State any interest the person has acquired or maintained in violation of this section."

SECTION 6. This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 1270: Amend Larceny Laws

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 25, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Snow	Summary by:	Ben Popkin
Version:	PCS to First Edition S1270-CSRD		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1270 would amend existing law on larceny, receipt of stolen property, and shoplifting, would enact a new statute creating the Class H felony offense of 'theft of infant formula', and would add a new Article 16A – Organized Retail Theft.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to H1379, as introduced by Rep. Braxton, which is currently in House Judiciary II.]

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 – would amend existing G.S. 14-71. Receiving stolen goods, to specify that this offense does not require that the item received actually be stolen.

Section 2 – would lower the threshold for felony larceny (G.S. 14-72(a)) from the current amount of $1,000 to the new amount of $500. Larceny or receipt or possession of stolen goods valued more than $500 would be a Class H felony offense.

Section 3 – would amend the existing shoplifting statute (G.S. 14-72.1) by:

1) adding 'product codes' to price tags as items that may not be switched from one piece of merchandise to another;
2) inserting a new subsection (d2) classifying violations of this section that involve the use of an exit door as a Class H felony. The PCS would require that stores post signs on the exit doors with information about this new felony offense;
3) inserting a new subsection (d3) classifying violations of this section that involve removal, destruction or deactivation of antishoplifting or inventory control devices a Class H felony; and
4) the PCS would insert a new subsection (d4) classifying violations of this section that involve persons affixing "...a product code obtained or created by the person for the purpose of fraudulently obtaining goods or merchandise from a merchant at less than its actual sale price..." a Class H felony.

Section 4 – would enact new G.S. 14-72.7 creating the Class H felony offense "Theft of infant formula" to apply to persons who take more than $100.00 of infant formula.

Section 5 – would enact a new Article 16A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes. The new Article 16A – Organized Retail Theft, would create the following Class G felony offenses (G.S. 14-86.6):

1) "Organized Retail Theft" – A person who conspires with another to steal retail property (valued at more than $1,500 over a 90 period) from a retail establishment, with the intent to resell the property to a 'retail property fence' or other person.
2) "Receiving and Possessing Retail Property Obtained by Organized Retail Theft" – A person who receives or possesses with the intent to distribute property taken in violation of the new G.S. 14-86.6.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law and regardless of whether a dangerous dog board has made any determination, a dog shall be considered a dangerous dog for purposes of this Article if the provisions of either G.S. 67-4.1(a)(1)a. or (a)(1)b. apply to the dog.

(b) The board shall provide written notification to the owner at least three days prior to making any determination under this Article. The notification shall state the reasons the board is considering making a determination. If a board determines that a dog is a dangerous dog, it shall provide the owner with written notification of the reasons for that determination and a copy of this Article.

(c) The county or municipal authority responsible for animal control shall also designate a separate appeals board to hear any appeal from a determination made by a dangerous dog board. The appeals board shall schedule a hearing within 10 days of the filing of the objection.

(d) An owner may appeal from the final decision of the appeals board by filing a notice of appeal and petition for review with the superior court within 10 days of the final decision of the appeals board. Appeals from rulings of the appeals board shall be heard in the superior court division. The amount of financial responsibility shall be $5,000. Proof of financial responsibility may be demonstrated by any of the following methods:

(1) A cash deposit to be held by the clerk of court.

(2) A bond by at least one solvent surety.

(3) A policy of liability insurance.

(b) The deposit, bond, or policy of liability insurance shall be conditioned for payment to a third party for any personal injuries inflicted or other damage subsequently caused by the dangerous dog. An owner who is required to provide proof of financial responsibility under this section shall upon demand present to an animal control officer evidence of that proof.

(c) The owner shall provide to the dangerous dog board the required proof within five days of the board determining that the dog is dangerous under subsection (a) of this section. An appeal under G.S. 67-4.1A(c) of a determination by the dangerous dog board that a dog is a dangerous dog shall not stay the owner's obligation to provide proof of financial responsibility.

(d) Failure by the owner to provide proof of financial responsibility as required in this section or failure by the owner to produce evidence of the required proof upon demand by an animal control officer shall be grounds for the dangerous dog board to order that the dog be taken into custody and destroyed."

SECTION 3. This act becomes effective October 1, 2007, and applies to determinations made by a dangerous dog board on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 92:
Dangerous Dogs/Financial Responsibility

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	March 26, 2007
Version:	PCS to First Edition S92-CSRC-7

SUMMARY: SB92 would require owners of certain dogs that have been determined to be dangerous to provide proof of financial responsibility in the amount of $5,000. Proof could be in the form of a cash deposit, a bond, or an insurance liability policy. If the owner does not provide proof of financial responsibility, the dog would be taken into custody and destroyed.

The Proposed Committee Substitute substantially rewrites the original bill and makes clarifying and technical revisions to existing law.

CURRENT LAW: Article 1A of Chapter 67 governs dangerous dogs.[1] A dangerous dog is a dog that has: (1) without provocation killed or inflicted severe injury to a person, or (2) is designated as a "potentially dangerous dog", or (3) is owned primarily for the purpose of dog fighting or trained for dog fighting.[2] G.S. 67-4.1(c) provides that the county or municipal authority responsible for animal control may designate a separate person or Board to be responsible for determining when a dog is a "potentially dangerous dog". A potentially dangerous dog is a dog that has been determined to have: (1) inflicted a bite to a person causing broken bones or disfiguring lacerations; (2) killed or inflected severe injury a upon domestic animal; or (3) approached a person when the dog was not on its owner's property in a vicious or terrorizing manner in an apparent attitude of attack.

The Article does not apply to a dog: (1) being used by law enforcement to carry out the officer's official duties; (2) being used in a lawful hunt; (3) where the injury inflicted by the dog to a domestic animal occurred as the dog was working as a hunting dog, herding dog, or predator control dog; or (4) where the injury inflicted by the dog was sustained by a person who was committing a willful trespass, or tormenting the dog or attempting to commit a crime.[3]

It is unlawful for the owner of a dangerous dog to leave the dog unattended on the owner's real property unless the dog is confined indoors or in a securely enclosed and locked pen. It is also unlawful to allow a dangerous dog to leave the owner's real property unless the dog is leased and muzzled. A violation of these provisions is a Class 3 misdemeanor.[4] The owner of a dangerous dog that inflicts physical injuries requiring medical treatment in excess of $100 is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor.[5] The owner is strictly liable for any injuries or property damage caused by the dog.[6]

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 rewrites the definitions section of Article 1A of Chapter 67. It repeals the provisions that created the category of "potentially dangerous dog" and limits the "dangerous dog" designation to a dog that: (1) without provocation killed or inflicted severe injury to a person, (2) is owned primarily for the purpose of dog fighting or trained for dog fighting, or (3) is determined by a dangerous dog board to have inflicted serious injury to a person. A dog that kills a domestic animal or approached a person in a vicious manner could no longer be designated a dangerous dog. The section also creates a definition for the board or person that is responsible for determining that a dog is dangerous and a definition for a surety.[7]

Section 2 creates two new sections in Article 1A of Chapter 67:

G.S. 67-4.1A restates existing law that the county or municipal authority responsible for animal control must designate a board or person that is responsible for determining whether a dog is a dangerous dog. It specifies certain procedural requirements and restates the existing appeals process. It also requires that if a dangerous dog board determines a dog is dangerous, the board must provide the owner with written notification of the grounds for the determination and a copy of Article 1A of Chapter 67.[8] Current law places a number of responsibilities upon an owner of a dangerous dog and also makes the owner strictly liable for damages caused by the dog.

G.S. 67-4.1B provides that if a dangerous dog board determines that a dog is dangerous for any of the following reasons, the owner of the dog must provide proof of financial responsibility or the dog will be destroyed. The requirement would apply if the board determines the dog:

- Killed or inflicted severe injury on a person without having first been provoked.
- Is owned or harbored for the purpose of dog fighting or trained for dog fighting.
- Has inflicted a bite on a person that resulted in broken bones, disfiguring lacerations or that required cosmetic surgery or hospitalization.

Proof of financial responsibility could be evidenced by any of the following:

- A cash deposit to be held by the clerk of court.
- A bond issued by a solvent surety.
- A policy of liability insurance

The cash deposit, bond, or policy of insurance would be available to pay for personal injury damages or damage to property subsequently caused by the dangerous dog. Despite having proof of financial responsibility, the owner would still be strictly liable for any damages in excess of the required $5,000. If the owner did not provide proof of financial responsibility, the dog would be taken into custody and destroyed.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act would become effective October 1, 2007, and apply to determinations made by a dangerous dog board on or after that date.

Any appeal from the final decision of such appellate Board shall be taken to the superior court by filing notice of appeal and a petition for review within 10 days of the final decision of the appellate Board. Appeals from rulings of the appellate Board shall be heard in the superior court division. The appeal shall be heard de novo before a superior court judge sitting in the county in which the appellate Board whose ruling is being appealed is located.

ADVANCE DIRECTIVE FOR A NATURAL DEATH ("LIVING WILL")

NOTE: YOU SHOULD USE THIS DOCUMENT TO GIVE YOUR HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS INSTRUCTIONS ABOUT WHETHER TO APPLY LIFE-PROLONGING MEASURES IN CERTAIN SITUATIONS. THERE IS NO LEGAL REQUIREMENT THAT ANYONE EXECUTE A LIVING WILL.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS: You can use this Advance Directive ("Living Will") form to give instructions for the future about whether you want your health care providers to apply life-prolonging measures in certain situations. You should talk to your doctor about what these terms mean. The Living Will states what choices you would have made for yourself if you were able to communicate. Talk to your family members, friends, and others you trust about your choices. Also, it is a good idea to talk with professionals such as your doctors, clergypersons, and lawyers before you complete and sign this Living Will.

You do not have to use this form to give those instructions, but if you create your own Advance Directive you need to be very careful to ensure that it is consistent with North Carolina law.

This Living Will form is intended to be valid in any jurisdiction in which it is presented, but places outside North Carolina may impose requirements that this form does not meet.

If you want to use this form, you must complete it, sign it, and have your signature witnessed by a qualified witness and proved by a notary public. Follow the instructions about which choices you can initial very carefully. Do not sign this form until a witness and a notary public are present to watch you sign it. You then should consider giving a copy to your primary physician and/or a trusted relative, and should consider filing it with the Advanced Health Care Directive Registry maintained by the North Carolina Secretary of State.

(2) An attending physician may decline to honor a declaration if after reasonable inquiry there are reasonable grounds to question the genuineness or validity of a declaration. The subsection imposes no duty on the attending physician to verify a declaration's genuineness or validity.

(l) Notwithstanding subsection (c) of this section, a declaration or similar document executed in a jurisdiction other than North Carolina shall be valid in this State if it appears to have been executed in accordance with the applicable requirements of that jurisdiction or this State."

ADVANCE DIRECTIVE FOR A NATURAL DEATH ("LIVING WILL")

NOTE: YOU SHOULD USE THIS DOCUMENT TO GIVE YOUR HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS INSTRUCTIONS ABOUT WHETHER TO APPLY LIFE-PROLONGING MEASURES IN CERTAIN SITUATIONS. THERE IS NO LEGAL REQUIREMENT THAT ANYONE EXECUTE A LIVING WILL.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS: You can use this Advance Directive ("Living Will") form to give instructions for the future about whether you want your health care providers to apply life-prolonging measures in certain situations. You should talk to your doctor about what these terms mean. The Living Will states what choices you would have made for yourself if you were able to communicate. Talk to your family members, friends, and others you trust about your choices. Also, it is a good idea to talk with professionals such as your doctors, clergypersons, and lawyers before you complete and sign this Living Will.

You do not have to use this form to give those instructions, but if you create your own Advance Directive you need to be very careful to ensure that it is consistent with North Carolina law.

This Living Will form is intended to be valid in any jurisdiction in which it is presented, but places outside North Carolina may impose requirements that this form does not meet.

If you want to use this form, you must complete it, sign it, and have your signature witnessed by a qualified witness and proved by a notary public. Follow the instructions about which choices you can initial very carefully. Do not sign this form until a witness and a notary public are present to watch you sign it. You then should consider giving a copy to your primary physician and/or a trusted relative, and should consider filing it with the Advanced Health Care Directive Registry maintained by the North Carolina Secretary of State: http://www.nclifelinks.org/ahcdr/.

(1) A guardian of the patient's person, or a general guardian with powers over the patient's person, appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction pursuant to Article 5 of Chapter 35A of the General Statutes; provided that, if the patient has a health care agent appointed pursuant to a valid health care power of attorney, the health care agent shall have the right to exercise the authority to the extent granted in the health care power of attorney and to the extent provided in G.S. 32A-19(b) unless the Clerk has suspended the authority of that health care agent in accordance with G.S. 35A-1208(a);

(2) A health care agent appointed pursuant to a valid health care power of attorney, to the extent of the authority granted;

(6) A majority of the patient's reasonably available siblings who are at least 18 years of age.

(7) An individual who has an established relationship with the patient, who is acting in good faith on behalf of the patient, and who can reliably convey the patient's wishes.

If none of the above is reasonably available then at the discretion of the attending physician the ~~extraordinary means or artificial nutrition or hydration~~ life-prolonging measures may be withheld or discontinued upon the direction and under the supervision of the attending physician.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1979, c. 715, s. 2.

(d) The withholding or discontinuance of such ~~extraordinary means or artificial nutrition or hydration~~ life-prolonging measures shall not be considered the cause of death for any civil or criminal purpose nor shall it be considered unprofessional conduct. Any person, institution or facility against whom criminal or civil liability is asserted because of conduct in compliance with this section may interpose this section as a defense."

SECTION 13. G.S. 90-21.13 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-21.13. Informed consent to health care treatment or procedure.

(a) No recovery shall be allowed against any health care provider upon the grounds that the health care treatment was rendered without the informed consent of the patient or ~~the patient's spouse, parent, guardian, nearest relative or~~ other person authorized to give consent for the patient where:

(1) The action of the health care provider in obtaining the consent of the patient or other person authorized to give consent for the patient was in accordance with the standards of practice among members of the same health care profession with similar training and experience situated in the same or similar communities; and

(2) A reasonable person, from the information provided by the health care provider under the circumstances, would have a general understanding of the procedures or treatments and of the usual and most frequent risks and hazards inherent in the proposed procedures or treatments which are recognized and followed by other health care providers engaged in the same field of practice in the same or similar communities; or

(3) A reasonable person, under all the surrounding circumstances, would have undergone such treatment or procedure had he been advised by the health care provider in accordance with the provisions of subdivisions (1) and (2) of this subsection.

(b) ~~A consent which is evidenced in writing and which meets the foregoing standards, and which is signed by the patient or other authorized person, shall be presumed to be a valid consent. This presumption, however, may be subject to rebuttal only upon proof that such consent was obtained by fraud, deception or misrepresentation of a material fact.~~A consent that meets the foregoing standards, that is given by a patient, or other authorized person, who under all the surrounding circumstances has capacity to make and communicate health care decisions, is a valid consent.

(c) ~~A valid consent is one which is given by a person who under all the surrounding circumstances is mentally and physically competent to give consent.~~

(1) Consent that is evidenced in writing, and that is signed by the patient or other authorized person, shall be presumed to be a valid consent. This presumption may be rebutted only upon proof that such consent was obtained by fraud, deception, or misrepresentation of a material fact.

(2) The following persons, in the order indicated, are authorized to consent to medical treatment on behalf of a patient who is comatose or otherwise lacks capacity to make or communicate health care decisions:

a. A guardian of the patient's person, or a general guardian with powers over the patient's person, appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction pursuant to Article 5 of Chapter 35A of the General Statutes; provided that, if the patient has a health care agent appointed pursuant to a valid health care power of attorney, the health care agent shall have the right to exercise the authority to the extent granted in the health care power of attorney and to the extent provided in G.S. 32A-19(b) unless the Clerk has suspended the authority of that health care agent in accordance with G.S. 35A-1208(a);

b. A health care agent appointed pursuant to a valid health care power of attorney, to the extent of the authority granted;

c. An attorney-in-fact, with powers to make health care decisions for the patient, appointed by the patient pursuant to Article 1 or Article 2 of Chapter 32A of the General Statutes, to the extent of the authority granted;

d. The patient's spouse;

e. A majority of the patient's reasonably available parents and children who are at least 18 years of age;

f. A majority of the patient's reasonably available siblings who are at least 18 years of age; or

g. An individual who has an established relationship with the patient, who is acting in good faith on behalf of the patient, and who can reliably convey the patient's wishes.

If none of the persons listed under this subdivision is reasonably available, then the patient's attending physician, in the attending physician's discretion, may provide health care treatment without the consent of the patient or other person authorized to consent for the patient if there is conformation by a physician other than the patient's attending physician of the patient's condition and the necessity for treatment; provided, however, that confirmation of the patient's condition and the necessity for treatment are not required if the delay in obtaining the confirmation would endanger the life or seriously worsen the condition of the patient.

(d) No action may be maintained against any health care provider upon any guarantee, warranty or assurance as to the result of any medical, surgical or diagnostic procedure or treatment unless the guarantee, warranty or assurance, or some note or memorandum thereof, shall be in writing and signed by the provider or by some other person authorized to act for or on behalf of such provider.

(e) In the event of any conflict between the provisions of this section and those of ~~G.S. 35A-1245~~G.S. 35A-1245, 90-21.17, and 90-322, ~~and~~ Articles 1A and 19 of Chapter 90, and Article 3 of Chapter 122C, the provisions of those sections and Articles shall control and continue in full force and effect."

SECTION 14. G.S. 90-21.17 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-21.17. Portable do not resuscitate ~~order.~~order and Medical Order for Scope of Treatment.

(a) It is the intent of this section to recognize a patient's desire and right to withhold cardiopulmonary resuscitation and other life-prolonging measures to avoid loss of dignity and unnecessary pain and suffering through the use of a portable do not resuscitate ("DNR") ~~order.~~order or a Medical Order for Scope of Treatment (MOST).

This section establishes an optional and nonexclusive procedure by which a patient or the patient's representative may exercise this right.

(b) A physician may issue a portable DNR order or MOST for a patient:

(1) With the consent of the patient;

(2) If the patient is a minor, with the consent of the patient's parent or guardian; or

(3) If the patient is not a minor but is incapable of making an informed decision regarding consent for the order, with the consent of the patient's representative.

The physician shall document the basis for the DNR order or MOST in the patient's medical record. When the order is a MOST, the patient or the patient's representative must sign the form, provided, however, that if it is not practicable for the patient's representative to sign the original MOST form, the patient's representative shall sign a copy of the completed form and return it to the health care professional completing the form. The copy of the form with the signature of the patient's representative, whether in paper or electronic form, shall be placed in the patient's medical record. When the signature of the patient's representative is on a separate copy of the MOST form, the original MOST form must indicate in the appropriate signature field that the signature is "on file."

(c) The Department of Health and Human Services shall develop a portable DNR order ~~form.~~form, and a MOST form. The official DNR form shall include fields for the name of the patient; the name, address, and telephone number of the physician; the signature of the physician; and other relevant information. At a minimum, the official MOST form shall include fields for: the name of the patient; the name and telephone number of the physician, physician assistant, or nurse practitioner authorizing the order by signing the form; the name and contact information of the health care professional who prepared the form with the patient or the patient's representative; information on who agreed (i.e. the patient or the patient's representative) to the options selected on the MOST form; a range of options for cardiopulmonary resuscitation, medical interventions, antibiotics, medically administered fluids and nutrition; a signature block for the patient or the patient's representative to sign if practicable; effective date of the form and review dates; and an advisory that the MOST may be revoked by the patient or the patient's representative. The form may be approved by reference to a standard form that meets the requirements of this subsection. For purposes of this section, the "patient's representative" means an individual from the list of persons authorized to consent to the withholding of extraordinary care pursuant to ~~G.S. 90-322 or an individual who has an established relationship with the patient, who is acting in good faith on behalf of the patient, and who can reliably convey the patient's wishes.~~G.S. 90-322.

(d) No physician, emergency medical professional, hospice provider, or other health care provider shall be subject to criminal prosecution, civil liability, or disciplinary action by any professional licensing or certification agency for withholding cardiopulmonary resuscitation from a patient in good faith reliance on an original DNR order or MOST form adopted pursuant to subsection (c) of this section, provided that (i) there are no reasonable grounds for doubting the validity of the order or the identity of the patient, and (ii) the provider does not have actual knowledge of the revocation of the portable DNR ~~order.~~order or MOST. No physician, emergency medical professional, hospice provider, or other health care provider shall be subject to criminal prosecution, civil liability, or disciplinary action by any professional licensing or certification agency for failure to follow a DNR order or MOST form adopted pursuant to subsection (c) of this section if the provider had no actual knowledge of the existence of the DNR ~~order.~~order or MOST.

(e) A health care facility may develop policies and procedures that authorize the facility's provider to accept a portable DNR order or MOST as if it were an order of the medical staff of that facility. This section does not prohibit a physician in a health care facility from issuing a written order, other than a portable DNR ~~order,~~order or MOST not to resuscitate a patient in the event of cardiac or respiratory arrest, or to use, withhold, or withdraw additional medical interventions as provided in the MOST, in accordance with acceptable medical practice and the facility's policies.

(f) Nothing in this section shall affect the validity of portable DNR order or MOST forms in existence prior to the effective date of this section."

SECTION 15. G.S. 130A-420 reads as rewritten:

"§ 130A-420. Authority to dispose of body or body parts.

(a) An individual at least 18 years of age may authorize the disposition of the individual's own dead body in a written will, pursuant to a health care power of attorney to the extent provided in Article 3 of Chapter 32A of the General Statutes, pursuant to a preneed funeral contract executed pursuant to Article 13D of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes, pursuant to a cremation authorization form executed pursuant to Article 13C of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes, or in a written statement signed by the individual and witnessed by two persons who are at least 18 years old.

(9) In the case of indigents or any other individuals whose final disposition is the responsibility of the State or any of its instrumentalities, a public administrator, medical examiner, coroner, State-appointed guardian, or any other public official charged with arranging the final disposition of the decedent.

This subsection does not grant to any person the right to cancel a preneed funeral contract executed pursuant to Article 13D of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes or to prohibit the substitution of a preneed licensee as authorized under G.S. 90-210.63.

(c) An individual at least 18 years of age may, in a writing signed by the individual, authorize the disposition of one or more of the individual's body parts that has been or will be removed. (d) This section does not apply to the disposition of dead human bodies as anatomical gifts under Part 3 of Article 16 of Chapter 130A of the General Statutes or the right to perform autopsies under Part 2 of Article 16 of Chapter 130A of the General Statutes."

SECTION 16.(a) G.S. 122C-3(20) reads as rewritten:

If all appropriate treatment modalities are refused, the voluntarily admitted client may be discharged. In an emergency, a voluntarily admitted client may be administered treatment or medication, other than those specified in subsection (f) of this section, despite the refusal of the ~~client, the client's legally responsible person, a health care agent named pursuant to a valid health care power of attorney, or~~ client or the client's legally responsible person, even if the client's refusal is expressed in a valid advance instruction for mental health treatment. SENATE BILL 1046:
Advance Directives/Health Care Pwr. Atty.-AB

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 30, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Hartsell	Summary by:	Kory Goldsmith Committee Counsel
Version:	PCS to First Edition S1046-PCS35363-RC-21

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1046 amends laws related to Health Care Powers of Attorney, Advance Directives/Living Wills, and Guardianship statutes to allow individuals to make clear choices about their medical treatment, especially end of life treatments.

CURRENT LAW: Article 23 of Chapter 90 authorizes "Living Wills" and was enacted in 1979. Article 3 of Chapter 32A authorizes health care powers of attorney and was enacted in 1991. Part 2 of Article 3 of Chapter 122C authorizes an instruction for mental health treatment and was enacted in 1997. There are also scattered statutes related to the authority of health care agents, especially in the event there is also a court appointed guardian. In general, when a person has executed both a Health Care Power of Attorney and a Living Will, the terms of the Living Will control over the health care agent designation.[1] A similar situation exists when there is a health care agent, and a court appoints a guardian.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 amends G.S. 32A-15(c) to provide that either a living will or a health care power of attorney (HCPOA) may provide that the health care power of attorney takes precedence over a living will, and that provision will not create a conflict between the two documents. Under current law, it is not clear whether this situation does create a conflict. However, because current law gives a living will precedence over a HCPOA in the event of a conflict, it could be argued that the living will always "trumps" the HCPOA.

This section also makes it clear that if a living will does not speak directly to a medical condition and the HCPOA does, the HCPOA controls.

Section 2 amends the definitions related to HCPOAs. It provides that the execution of a HCPOA need only be witnessed by one qualified witness. Current law requires two qualified witnesses. It also specifies that the notary may be an employee of the attending physician or employed by the health care facility where the principal is being treated.

Also changes the terminology from "life-sustaining procedures" to "life-prolonging measures". These are medical procedures or interventions which, in the judgment of the attending physician, serve only to postpone artificially the moment of death by sustaining, restoring, or supplanting a vital function.

Section 3 replaces terminology, but also makes it clear that if a health care agent has the authority to made decisions regarding the disposition of the principal's remains, those decisions are limited to incurring reasonable costs and does not give the health care agent broader authority over the principal's estate or financial affairs.

Section 4 creates a procedure by which a guardian of the principal may petition a court to suspend the authority of a health care agent during the term of the guardianship. The court may suspend the agent's authority for good cause shown, but must specify whether the guardian must act consistently with the HCPOA. Also creates immunity for a health care provider who relies upon a HCPOA until the provider receives actual knowledge of the court's order suspending the HCPOA.

Section 5(a) changes the terminology to be consistent with new definitions. Section 5(b) adds a new subsection to G.S. 32A-24 to clarify that a health care provider may rely upon the authority of a health care agent contained in a HCPOA, whether the HCPOA is executed in another jurisdiction, executed under the previous statutory form, or does not use the statutory form but does comply with applicable laws. The health care provider may rely upon the HCPOA until receiving actual notice of its revocation.

Section 6(a) repeals the current statutory HCPOA. Section 6(b) creates a new HCPOA statutory form, G.S. 3A-25.1(a). The form attempts to clarify the consequences of certain choices by the principal and also points out that certain provisions purporting to create limitations will not be effective unless the principal specifies the limitations. Also provides that use of the statutory form is optional, and is a nonexclusive method for creating a HCPOA. Subsection (b) of new G.S. 32A-25.1 provides that the new statutory form does not affect the use of previously executed HCPOAs.

Section 7 creates G.S. 32A-27 which provides that a HCPOA executed in another jurisdiction shall be valid in North Carolina if it appears it was executed in compliance with the law of the other state or the laws of North Carolina.

Section 8 allows a guardian of the person or legal guardian to petition the Clerk of Court to suspend the authority of a health care agent. It also specifies that the guardian does not have the authority to revoke a Living Will.

Section 9 clarifies that a health care agent has the right to make health care decisions for a ward for whom a legal guardian or guardian of the person has been appointed.

Section 10 revises terminology.

Section 11(a) amends G.S. 90-321 regarding Advance Directives or Living Wills. It defines a "Declaration" as any signed, witnessed, dated and notarized document that otherwise meets the requirements of the Article. These requirements allow for only one witness (current law requires two witnesses), but that person must not have any interest in the declarant's estate or be an employee of the health care provider. It repeals the definition of "extraordinary means" and substitutes "life-prolonging measures" as that term is defined in the HCPOA statutes. It also repeals the term "persistent vegetative state".

It amends G.S. 90-321(b) and (c) to allow an attending physician to withhold life-prolonging measures if the declarant has properly executed a living will, the attending physician determines that the declarant:

- has incurable or irreversible condition that will result in the declarant's death in a relatively short period of time;
- is unconscious and, to a high degree of medical certainty, will never regain consciousness; or
- suffers from advanced dementia or any other condition resulting in the substantial loss of cognitive ability and, to a high degree of medical certainty, is not reversible.

AND

- The declarant's condition is confirmed by another physician, if one is reasonably available.

AND

- The Living Will states that the declarant understands that the document authorizes the attending physician to withhold life-prolonging measures.

Current law allows an attending physician to withhold artificial nutrition or hydration pursuant to a Living Will if: the declarant is terminally ill or diagnosed as being in a persistent vegetative state and these medical conditions are confirmed by a second medical opinion. The Declaration must be in writing, signed by the declarant and two witnesses, and notarized.

Section 11(b) repeals the current statutory form for Living Wills

Section 11(c) creates a new statutory form for Living Wills that reflects the statutory changes.

Sections 11(d) and (e) clarifies that a Declaration may be revoked orally or in writing without regard to a declarant's mental or physical condition. Prior law made a revocation effective only upon communication of the revocation to the attending physician by the declarant or an individual acting on behalf of the declarant. It provides immunity to a health care provider who acts in accordance with a revoked declaration unless the health care provider has actual knowledge of the revocation. Also extends the protections to a Declaration that is executed in another jurisdiction, and one that does not conform to the statutory form. It also prohibits a health care agent from revoking a declaration unless the HCPOA explicitly grants the agent this authority.

Section 11(d) creates a new subdivision (k) for G.S. 90-321 to allow a physician to decline to honor a Declaration if doing so would violate the physician's conscience or the conscience-based policy of the facility where the declarant is being treated. It also allows a physician to decline to honor a Declaration if after reasonable inquiry, there are reasonable grounds to question the genuineness or validity of the document.

Section 12 amends G.S. 90-322 regarding situations where life-prolonging measures may be withheld in the absence of a Declaration. If the attending physician determines that:

- a patient has an incurable or irreversible condition that will lead to that person's death in a relatively short period of time, or
- the patient is unconscious and unlikely to regain consciousness.

AND

- That condition is confirmed by another physician.

AND

- A bodily function could be restored or is being sustained by life-prolonging measures,

THEN

The life-prolonging measures may be withheld or discontinued at the direction and under the supervision of the attending physician with the concurrence of the following individuals, in descending order:

- A health care agent appointed under a valid HCPOA, unless that authority has been suspended by a court in favor of a court appointed guardian of the person or general guardian, in which case the court appointed guardian takes priority.
- An attorney-in-fact with powers to make health care decisions for the principal.
- The patient's spouse.

- A majority of the patient's reasonably available parents and children who are at least 18 years of age.
- A majority of the patient's reasonably available siblings who are at least 18 years of age.
- An individual who has an established relationship with the patient, who is acting in good faith on behalf of the patient, and who can reliably convey the patient's wishes.
- If none of these are reasonably available, the attending physician may withhold or discontinue life-prolonging measures.

Current law gives priority decision-making to the following in descending order: a health care agent, then a guardian of the person, then the person's spouse, then a majority of the relatives of the first degree.

Section 13 amends G.S. 90-21.13 regarding informed consent to medical treatment under the medical malpractice provisions of the statutes. It sets out, in descending order, the persons who may give valid consent to medical treatment if the patient is comatose or otherwise lacks the capacity to make or communicate health care decisions. The same individuals are listed in the same order as those in Section 12 regarding the withholding or discontinuance of life-prolonging measures.

Current law provides that the patient's spouse, parent, guardian, or nearest relative may give the consent. It does not prioritize among those individuals.

Section 14 amends G.S. 90-21.17 regarding do not resuscitate orders (DNRs). It adds to the statutes Medical Order for Scope of Treatment (MOST). A MOST could be issued by a physician pursuant to the same consents necessary for a DNR. However, if the consent is given by the patient's representative, the representative must sign the MOST. The statute would also specify the information that must be contained on a MOST form.

Section 15 amends G.S. 130A-420 regarding who has the authority to dispose of a body or body parts. That authority is granted in the following, descending order:

- A health care agent appointed under a valid HCPOA and to the extent the authority is contained in the HCPOA.
- The personal representative of the estate or the executor under the decedent's will.
- The surviving spouse.
- A majority of the patient's reasonably available surviving children who are at least 18 years of age.
- The surviving parents.
- A majority of the surviving siblings who are at least 18 years of age.
- A majority of persons in classes of next degree of kinship who would inherit the estate if the person dies without a will.
- An individual who has exhibited care and concern for the decedent and who is willing to make decisions regarding the disposition.
- If none of the above are available or the decedent is indigent, a public administrator, medical examiner or any other public official charged with this responsibility.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REQUIRE THE RETIREMENT SYSTEM DIVISION OF THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE TREASURER TO PROVIDE DIRECT ACCESS TO INFORMATION REQUESTED BY THE FISCAL RESEARCH DIVISION.

(a) Every State department, State agency, or State institution shall furnish the Legislative Services Office and the Research, Fiscal Research, and Bill Drafting Divisions any information or records requested by them. (b) Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this section, access to the State Personnel Management Information System by the Research and Bill Drafting Divisions shall only be through the Fiscal Research Division.

(c) Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this section or any other law relating to privacy of personnel records, the Retirement System Division of the Department of State Treasurer shall furnish the Fiscal Research Division direct online read-only access to any information or records requested by them, including any database or stored information maintained by computer, telecommunications, or other electronic data processing equipment, whether stored on tape, disk, or otherwise, and regardless of the medium for storage or transmission."

SENATE BILL 940:
Legislative Access to Retirement Databases

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	April 30, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Dorsett	Summary by:	Jennifer McGinnis
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 940 would require the Retirement System Division (RSD) of the Department of State Treasurer (DST) to provide direct online read-only access to any information or records, including any database or information stored electronically (regardless of the medium for storage) requested by the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly, notwithstanding any other law concerning privacy of personnel records.

CURRENT LAW: All State departments, agencies, and institutions must furnish the Legislative Services Office and the Research, Fiscal Research (FRD), and Bill Drafting Divisions of the General Assembly any information or records requested by them. Under current law, each State agency must give the designated entities within the General Assembly "access to any data base" or information stored electronically (regardless of the medium for storage) except when accessibility is prohibited by a federal law or State statute.

BACKGROUND: In May 2006 FRD staff requested that RSD staff provide them with online access to retirement data. RSD subsequently denied FRD direct access to the database(s) in question, and based upon internal departmental policy, indicated that RSD staff would provide information to FRD only upon written request.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would require RSD to provide FRD and the other designated entities within the General Assembly direct online read-only access to any information or records, including any database or information stored electronically (regardless of the medium for storage), notwithstanding any other law concerning privacy of personnel records

EFFECTIVE DATE: This bill would be effective when it becomes law.

SENATE BILL 1359:
Red Light Exception for Motorcycles

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	May 3, 2007
Version:	PCS to Second Edition S1359-CSRI-8

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute (PCS) for Senate Bill 1359 would provide an affirmative defense to motorcycle operators who violate the statutory prohibition against entering an intersection when facing a red light if the motorcycle operator shows all of the following: (i) the operator came to a complete stop at the red light; (ii) the intersection was controlled by a vehicle actuated traffic signal using an inductive loop to activate the signal, (iii) no other motor vehicles, with the exception of a motorcycle, were at, traveling through, or approaching the intersection; (iv) no pedestrians were attempting to cross at or near the intersection; and (v) the operator waited a minimum of three minutes at the red light prior to entering the intersection.

CHANGES MADE BY PCS S1359-CSRI-8:

- Deletes references to bicycles.
- Adds "traveling through" to subdivision (3).
- Clarifies language in subdivision (5).

CURRENT LAW: Under current law (G.S. 20-158(b)(2)a.), vehicles facing a red light must stop and are prohibited from entering the intersection while the light is red (other than to make a lawful right turn). Running a red light is an infraction punishable by a fine of not more than $100.00 (G.S. 20-176). The Division of Motor Vehicles assigns three points to a person's record for running a red light (G.S. 20-16).

With regard to the issue of the bill's impact on negligence/contributory negligence, G.S. 20-158(d) provides that "No failure to stop as required by the provisions of this section shall be considered negligence or contributory negligence per se in any action at law for injury to person or property, but the facts relating to such failure to stop may be considered with the other facts in the case in determining whether a party was guilty of negligence or contributory negligence."

BILL ANALYSIS: The PCS would provide a motorcycle operator who violates the statutory prohibition against entering an intersection when facing a red light an affirmative defense if the operator shows all of the following:

- the operator came to a complete stop at the red light;
- the intersection was controlled by a vehicle actuated traffic signal using an inductive loop to activate the signal;
- no other motor vehicles were at, traveling through, or approaching the intersection;
- no pedestrians were attempting to cross at or near the intersection; and
- the operator waited a minimum of three minutes at the red light prior to entering the intersection.

BACKGROUND: Actuated traffic signals alter their sequence based on demand, and are activated by vehicle detectors. With an actuated traffic signal, once a vehicle is detected by a sensor, the traffic signal will initiate a change in, or extension of, a traffic signal phase (e.g., change a red light to green). A common kind of vehicle detector used to govern actuated traffic signals is a loop detector. A loop detector works like a metal detector, it reacts to the presence of metal (or an electromagnetic field). The sensitivity of a loop detector varies due to a number of parameters. Depending on the sensitivity of a detector, the presence of a motorcycle may not trigger a change in the traffic signal.

Tennessee, Arkansas, Idaho, and Minnesota have enacted laws similar to the provisions of Senate Bill 1359.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The PCS would become effective December 1, 2007, and apply to offenses committed on or after that date.

SECTION 8.(a) Article 1 of Chapter 75 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 75-40. Requiring parental permission for minors to access commercial social networking Web sites.

(a) Findings. – The General Assembly finds all of the following:

(1) Commercial social networking Web sites are growing dramatically and have become widely used online communications tools. A significant percentage of minor children use these social networking Web sites.

(2) Because children post personal information on these sites that may be accessed by other users, these social networking Web sites have become a matter of State and national concern. In particular, adult sexual predators use these sites to identify, contact, and exploit children.

(3) While parents and legal guardians are primarily responsible for protecting the physical and psychological well-being of their children, protection of children from exploitation by sexual predators is a compelling governmental interest.

(4) Filtering software that prevents children from accessing social networking and other Web sites is commercially available but does not provide complete or even adequate protection to children from online sexual predators. Only a portion of households with minor children and Internet connections use filtering software that limits or prohibits access to such sites. Even if filters are used, a child may circumvent a filter by simply going to another location where the filter does not operate.

(5) Most commercial social networking Web sites attempt to separate children from adults by asking users for either their age or date of birth. A user can easily circumvent this barrier by misrepresenting his or her age.

(6) Requiring commercial social networking Web sites to obtain the permission of a parent or legal guardian before his or her child can enter and use a social networking Web site provides parents important assistance in protecting their children from harm on the Internet.

(7) Verifying the identity of a parent or guardian who then grants a minor permission to enter and use a social networking Web site makes it more difficult for the minor to bypass a barrier between children and adults. Identity verification therefore furthers and facilitates supervision of children by their parents and guardians and furthers the State's interest in protecting children from online sexual predators. Moreover, identity verification of adults is commercially available.

(8) While commercial social networking Web sites offer a forum for political discourse, friendships, and cultural developments, preserving this arena of expression must be balanced against the compelling State interest in protecting children from sexual predators. Providing parents the power to permit or deny their children's participation enhances the protection of children without unduly restricting expression.

(b) Definitions. – The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Internet. – The global information system that is logically linked together by a globally unique address space based on the Internet Protocol or its subsequent extensions; that is able to support communications using the Transmission Control Protocol/Internet Protocol suite, its subsequent extensions, or other Internet Protocol compatible protocols; and that provides, uses, or makes accessible, either publicly or privately, high-level services layered on the communications and related infrastructure described in this subdivision.

(2) Person. – An individual, sole proprietor, partnership, corporation, limited liability company, trust, joint venture, or other legally cognizable entity.

(3) Protected computer. – Any computer that, at the time of an alleged violation of any provision of this section involving that computer, was located within the geographic boundaries of the State of North Carolina.

(4) Commercial social networking Web site. –

a. A commercial social networking Web site is an Internet Web site that (i) is operated by a person who derives revenue membership fees, advertising, or other sources related to the operation of the Web site; (ii) facilitates the social introduction between two or more persons for the purposes of friendship, meeting other persons, or information exchanges; (iii) allows users to create Web pages or personal profiles that contain information such as the name or nickname of the user, photographs placed on the personal Web page by the user, other personal information about the user, and links to other personal Web pages on the commercial social networking Web site of friends or associates of the user that may be accessed by other users or visitors to the Web site; and (iv) provides users or visitors to the commercial social networking Web site mechanisms to communicate with other users, such as a message board, chat room, electronic mail, or instant messenger.

b. A commercial social networking Web site does not include an Internet Web site (i) that provides only one of the following discrete services: photo-sharing, electronic mail, instant messenger, or chat room or message board platform; or (ii) the primary purpose of which is the facilitation of commercial transactions involving goods or services between its members or visitors.

(5) Hosting provider. – A commercial provider of Web hosting services where the provider does not determine the content to be hosted on the Web site, but such content is determined in the discretion of the customer of the hosting provider. Creation, implementation, or enforcement of acceptable use policies by a hosting provider shall not mean that a hosting provider determines the content to be hosted on the Web site for purposes of this definition.

(c) No owner or operator of a commercial social networking Web site shall allow a minor using a protected computer to create or maintain a personal Web page on a social networking Web site without first obtaining the permission of the minor's parent or guardian and without providing the parent or guardian access to the personal Web page at all times the commercial social networking Web site is operational.

(d) Any owner or operator of a social networking Web site shall adopt and implement procedures to confirm the identity and age of parents or guardians who are providing permission for their minor children and members at the time of registration by independently validating the accuracy of personal identification information submitted at the time of registration.

(e) Violation of any provision of this section shall constitute an unfair and deceptive trade practice under Chapter 75-1.1 of the General Statutes. For the purposes of this section, each day that an owner or operator of a commercial social networking Web site fails to adopt and implement the procedures required of this section shall constitute a separate and distinct violation.

(f) This section shall not apply to an Internet service or hosting provider by reason of such provider's transmitting, routing, or providing connections for information sent or received from a commercial social networking Web site, or by reason of hosting the commercial social networking Web site, at the direction of a user or customer; provided that the Internet service or hosting provide does not profit directly from the activities of the commercial social networking Web site or intentionally aid and abet a violation of this section."

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS) for Senate Bill 132 would: (i) amend the definition of "sexual activity" as it relates to offenses concerning minors; (ii) require that a processor of photographic images or computer technician who, in the course of work, encounters an image of a minor engaging in sexual activity must report the name of the customer requesting the work to the appropriate authorities; (iii) make it unlawful for the owner or operator of a social networking Web site to allow a minor using a protected computer to create or maintain a personal Web page on a social networking Web site without the permission of the minor's parent or guardian and without providing such parent or guardian access to such personal Web page; (iv) make it a Class G felony for a registered sex offender to access a commercial social networking Web site where minors are members or maintain personal Web pages; (v) make it a Class H felony to lie to a sworn SBI agent conducting an official investigation; (vi) increase penalties for several offenses, including solicitation of a child by computer to commit an unlawful sex act, and 1st, 2nd, and 3rd degree sexual exploitation of a minor; (vii) authorize the convening of a grand jury to investigate allegations regarding the commission or conspiracy to commit a number of listed crimes; and (viii) appropriate $75,000 to the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) to cover the costs of administration associated with investigative grand juries convened as provided in herein.

BILL ANALYSIS:

- The PCS would amend the definition of "sexual activity" as it relates to offenses concerning minors to include "[t]he lascivious exhibition of the genitals or public area of any person." This language is included in federal law (18 USCS § 2256).
- The PCS would require processors of photographic images or computer technicians who, in the course of work, encounter an image of a minor or a person who appears to be a minor engaging in sexual activity must report the name of the customer requesting the work to the Cyber Tip Line at the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children or to the appropriate law enforcement official in the county or municipality. A person complying with this provision in good faith would be immune from civil or criminal liability that might be incurred as a result of such a report.
- The PCS would create several new offenses:
  - Make it unlawful for the owner or operator of a commercial social networking web site to allow a minor to create or maintain a personal Web page on the site without the permission of the minor's parent or guardian and without providing such parent or guardian access to the personal web page. The PCS would also require the owner or operator to adopt and implement procedures to confirm the identity and age of a parent or guardian granting permission A violation by an owner or operator would be punishable as an unfair and deceptive trade practice under Ch. 75 of the General Statutes, for which a civil penalty of up to $5,000 may be imposed for each violation. Under the PCS, each day that an owner or operator of a commercial social networking Web site fails to adopt and implement the procedures required of this section constitutes a separate and distinct violation.

- Make it a Class G felony[1] for a registered sex offender to access a commercial social networking web site that permits minors to become members or create personal Web pages.
- Make it a Class H felony to lie to a sworn SBI agent in response to an official inquiry.

  The PCS defines "official inquiry" as "the pursuit of an investigative matter by a sworn agent of the State Bureau of Investigation pursuant to a statutorily authorized request from the Governor or the Attorney General, assistance rendered in accordance with G.S. 114-14, or an investigation being conducted as a matter of original jurisdiction conferred upon the State Bureau of Investigation by North Carolina law."

➢ The PCS would increase penalties for several offenses as follows:

Offense	Current Penalty	Proposed Penalty
1st degree sexual exploitation of a minor (GS 14-190.16)	Class D felony	[2]Class C felony
2nd degree sexual exploitation of a minor (GS 14-190.17)	Class F felony	[3]Class D felony
3rd degree sexual exploitation of a minor (GS 14-190.17A)	Class I felony	[4]Class E felony

➢ The PCS would create a new statute that authorizes the convening of a grand jury to investigate allegations regarding the commission or conspiracy to commit a number of listed crimes. It would require that the Chief Justice appoint a permanent panel of three superior court judges every two years (beginning Dec. 1, 2007) to determine whether to order an investigative grand jury.

The PCS would repeal certain statutes that authorize convening of a grand jury to investigate allegations of crimes involving controlled substances. These provisions are incorporated into the new statute, except for requirements under the existing law concerning approval of grand jury petitions by three members of the NC Conference of District Attorneys, and that the Attorney General and the Clerk of the NC Supreme Court concur in the petition.

SENATE BILL 930:
Private Correctional Officers

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	May 9, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Jones	Summary by:	Kory Goldsmith Committee Counsel
Version:	PCS to First Edition S930-CSRC-31

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 930 would remove the Department of Corrections from any oversight authority for correctional officers and security supervisors employed by a private correctional facility that is operated on behalf of the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

CURRENT LAW: In 2001, the General Assembly enacted G.S. 148-37.3 in response to the opening of the federal prison operated by a private corporation. The statute attempts to place with the North Carolina Department of Corrections oversight authority for the correctional officers and security supervisors employed at the prison. It also required the facility to provide DOC with a copy of its Certificate of Insurance. However, due to the fact that the company that employs the correctional officers and security supervisors contracts with the federal government, DOC has no authority to enforce these requirements.

SENATE BILL 1359:
Red Light Exception for Motorcycles

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	May 3, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Allran	Summary by:	Jennifer McGinnis
Version:	PCS to Second Edition S1359-CSRI-8		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The proposed committee substitute (PCS) for Senate Bill 1359 would provide an affirmative defense to motorcycle operators who violate the statutory prohibition against entering an intersection when facing a red light if the motorcycle operator shows all of the following: (i) the operator came to a complete stop at the red light; (ii) the intersection was controlled by a vehicle actuated traffic signal using an inductive loop to activate the signal, (iii) no other motor vehicles, with the exception of a motorcycle, were at, traveling through, or approaching the intersection; (iv) no pedestrians were attempting to cross at or near the intersection; and (v) the operator waited a minimum of three minutes at the red light prior to entering the intersection.

CHANGES MADE BY PCS S1359-CSRI-8:

- Deletes references to bicycles.
- Adds "traveling through" to subdivision (3).
- Clarifies language in subdivision (5).

CURRENT LAW: Under current law (G.S. 20-158(b)(2)a.), vehicles facing a red light must stop and are prohibited from entering the intersection while the light is red (other than to make a lawful right turn). Running a red light is an infraction punishable by a fine of not more than $100.00 (G.S. 20-176). The Division of Motor Vehicles assigns three points to a person's record for running a red light (G.S. 20-16).

With regard to the issue of the bill's impact on negligence/contributory negligence, G.S. 20-158(d) provides that "No failure to stop as required by the provisions of this section shall be considered negligence or contributory negligence per se in any action at law for injury to person or property, but the facts relating to such failure to stop may be considered with the other facts in the case in determining whether a party was guilty of negligence or contributory negligence."

BILL ANALYSIS: The PCS would provide a motorcycle operator who violates the statutory prohibition against entering an intersection when facing a red light an affirmative defense if the operator shows all of the following:

- the operator came to a complete stop at the red light;
- the intersection was controlled by a vehicle actuated traffic signal using an inductive loop to activate the signal;
- no other motor vehicles were at, traveling through, or approaching the intersection;
- no pedestrians were attempting to cross at or near the intersection; and
- the operator waited a minimum of three minutes at the red light prior to entering the intersection.

BACKGROUND: Actuated traffic signals alter their sequence based on demand, and are activated by vehicle detectors. With an actuated traffic signal, once a vehicle is detected by a sensor, the traffic signal will initiate a change in, or extension of, a traffic signal phase (e.g., change a red light to green). A common kind of vehicle detector used to govern actuated traffic signals is a loop detector. A loop detector works like a metal detector, it reacts to the presence of metal (or an electromagnetic field). The sensitivity of a loop detector varies due to a number of parameters. Depending on the sensitivity of a detector, the presence of a motorcycle may not trigger a change in the traffic signal.

Tennessee, Arkansas, Idaho, and Minnesota have enacted laws similar to the provisions of Senate Bill 1359.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The PCS would become effective December 1, 2007, and apply to offenses committed on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 1491: Prohibit Blunt Wraps

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	May 9, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Hartsell	Summary by:	Ben Popkin
Version:	PCS to First Edition S1491-CSRD		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1491 would insert 'blunt wraps' into the definition of drug paraphernalia contained in G.S. 90-113.21. The Proposed Committee Substitute for SB 1491 amends the bill to insert the 'blunt wrap' definition language.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to H1206, as introduced by Reps. Johnson, Barnhart, which is currently in House Judiciary II .]

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 90-113.21(a) provides the following definition of "drug paraphernalia":

- "...all equipment, products and materials of any kind that are used to facilitate, or intended or designed to facilitate, violations of the Controlled Substances Act...".

G.S. 90-113.21(a) sets forth a list of items to be included in the definition of "drug paraphernalia". Subdivision (12) of that subsection reads as follows: "Objects for ingesting, inhaling, or otherwise introducing marijuana, cocaine, hashish, or hashish oil into the body...", then presents a list of specific items falling within this grouping of paraphernalia.

G.S. 90-113.22 "Possession of drug paraphernalia" makes it unlawful for a person to "...knowingly use, or to possess with intent to use, drug paraphernalia...". Violation of this provision is punishable as a Class 1 misdemeanor.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 1491 would add 'blunt wraps' to the list of paraphernalia items included within G.S. 90-113.21(a)(12). Blunt wraps would include:

- A product that contains less than 50% tobacco or has a homogenized tobacco leaf wrapper that contains more than 16% moisture and is designed for use as a wrap for another substance that is smoked; and
- A product that is marketed and sold as a blunt wrap.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

(a) As used in this section:

(1) "Computer technician" means any person who repairs, installs, or otherwise services any computer or computer network or system for compensation.

(2) "Processor of photographic images" means any person who, for compensation: (i) develops exposed photographic film into negatives, slides, or prints; (ii) makes prints from negatives, slides, digital images, or video; or (iii) develops, processes, transfers, edits, or enhances video or digital images.

(a) For purposes of this section, the term "official inquiry" means the pursuit of an investigative matter by a sworn agent of the State Bureau of Investigation pursuant to a statutorily authorized request from the Governor or the Attorney General, assistance rendered in accordance with G.S. 114-14, or an investigation being conducted as a matter of original jurisdiction conferred upon the State Bureau of Investigation by North Carolina law.

(b) Any person who shall willfully make or cause to be made to a law enforcement agency or officer any false, misleading or unfounded report, for the purpose of interfering with the operation of a law enforcement agency, or to hinder or obstruct any law enforcement officer in the performance of his duty, shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor.

(2) Make any materially false, fictitious, or fraudulent statement or representation.

(3) Use any false writing or document knowing the writing or document to contain any materially false, fictitious, or fraudulent statement or entry."

SECTION 8.(a) Article 1 of Chapter 75 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 75-40. Requiring parental permission for minors to access commercial social networking Web sites.

(a) Findings. – The General Assembly finds all of the following:

(1) Commercial social networking Web sites are growing dramatically and have become widely used online communications tools. A significant percentage of minor children use these social networking Web sites.

(2) Because children post personal information on these sites that may be accessed by other users, these social networking Web sites have become a matter of State and national concern. In particular, adult sexual predators use these sites to identify, contact, and exploit children.

(3) While parents and legal guardians are primarily responsible for protecting the physical and psychological well-being of their children, protection of children from exploitation by sexual predators is a compelling governmental interest.

(4) Filtering software that prevents children from accessing social networking and other Web sites is commercially available but does not provide complete or even adequate protection to children from online sexual predators. Only a portion of households with minor children and Internet connections use filtering software that limits or prohibits access to such sites. Even if filters are used, a child may circumvent a filter by simply going to another location where the filter does not operate.

(5) Most commercial social networking Web sites attempt to separate children from adults by asking users for either their age or date of birth. A user can easily circumvent this barrier by misrepresenting his or her age.

(6) Requiring commercial social networking Web sites to obtain the permission of a parent or legal guardian before his or her child can enter and use a social networking Web site provides parents important assistance in protecting their children from harm on the Internet.

(7) Verifying the identity of a parent or guardian who then grants a minor permission to enter and use a social networking Web site makes it more difficult for the minor to bypass a barrier between children and adults. Identity verification therefore furthers and facilitates supervision of children by their parents and guardians and furthers the State's interest in protecting children from online sexual predators. Moreover, identity verification of adults is commercially available.

(8) While commercial social networking Web sites offer a forum for political discourse, friendships, and cultural developments, preserving this arena of expression must be balanced against the compelling State interest in protecting children from sexual predators. Providing parents the power to permit or deny their children's participation enhances the protection of children without unduly restricting expression.

(b) Definitions. – The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Internet. – The global information system that is logically linked together by a globally unique address space based on the Internet Protocol or its subsequent extensions; that is able to support communications using the Transmission Control Protocol/Internet Protocol suite, its subsequent extensions, or other Internet Protocol compatible protocols; and that provides, uses, or makes accessible, either publicly or privately, high-level services layered on the communications and related infrastructure described in this subdivision.

(2) Person. – An individual, sole proprietor, partnership, corporation, limited liability company, trust, joint venture, or other legally cognizable entity.

(3) Protected computer. – Any computer that, at the time of an alleged violation of any provision of this section involving that computer, was located within the geographic boundaries of the State of North Carolina.

(4) Commercial social networking Web site. –

a. b. A commercial social networking Web site does not include an Internet Web site (i) that provides only one of the following discrete services: photo-sharing, electronic mail, instant messenger, or chat room or message board platform; or (ii) the primary purpose of which is the facilitation of commercial transactions involving goods or services between its members or visitors.

(5) Hosting provider. – A commercial provider of Web hosting services where the provider does not determine the content to be hosted on the Web site, but such content is determined in the discretion of the customer of the hosting provider. Creation, implementation, or enforcement of acceptable use policies by a hosting provider shall not mean that a hosting provider determines the content to be hosted on the Web site for purposes of this definition.

(c) No owner or operator of a commercial social networking Web site shall allow a minor using a protected computer to create or maintain a personal Web page on a social networking Web site without first obtaining the permission of the minor's parent or guardian and without providing the parent or guardian access to the personal Web page at all times the commercial social networking Web site is operational.

(d) Any owner or operator of a social networking Web site shall adopt and implement procedures to confirm the identity and age of parents or guardians who are providing permission for their minor children and members at the time of registration by independently validating the accuracy of personal identification information submitted at the time of registration.

(e) Violation of any provision of this section shall constitute an unfair and deceptive trade practice under Chapter 75-1.1 of the General Statutes. For the purposes of this section, each day that an owner or operator of a commercial social networking Web site fails to adopt and implement the procedures required of this section shall constitute a separate and distinct violation.

(f) This section shall not apply to an Internet service or hosting provider by reason of such provider's transmitting, routing, or providing connections for information sent or received from a commercial social networking Web site, or by reason of hosting the commercial social networking Web site, at the direction of a user or customer; provided that the Internet service or hosting provide does not profit directly from the activities of the commercial social networking Web site or intentionally aid and abet a violation of this section."

SECTION 8.(b) Article 26 of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 14-202.3. Ban use of commercial social networking Web sites by sex offenders.

(a) Offense. – It is unlawful for a sex offender who is registered in accordance with Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes to access a commercial social networking Web site, as defined in G.S. 75-40, that permits minor children to become a member or to create or maintain a personal Web page on a commercial social networking Web site.

(b) Jurisdiction. – The offense is committed in the State for purposes of determining jurisdiction, if the transmission that constitutes the offense either originates in the State or is received in the State.

(c) Punishment. – A violation of this section is a Class G felony.

SECTION 9.(a) Chapter 15A of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 15A-632. Investigative grand jury.

(2) A violation of G.S. 14-17 (Murder) or G.S. 14-18 (Manslaughter).

(3) A violation of G.S. 14-90 (Embezzlement of property received by virtue of office or employment), G.S. 14-100 (Obtaining property by false pretenses), G.S. 14-118.4 (Extortion), or G.S. 14-119 (Forgery of notes, checks, and other securities; counterfeiting of instruments).

(4) A violation of G.S. 14-190.6 through G.S. 14-190.8 or G.S. 14-190.14 through G.S. 14-190.19 (Relating to the dissemination of certain materials to minors, the use of a minor for obscene purposes, sexual exploitation of a minor, and the promotion of or participation in prostitution of a minor).

(5) A violation of G.S. 14-209 (Perjury) or G.S. 14-210 (Subornation of perjury).

(6) A violation of Article 29, 30, or 30A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes (Relating to bribery, obstructing justice, and secret listening), G.S. 14-228 (Buying and selling of offices), G.S. 14-230 (Failing to discharge duties), G.S. 14-234 (Public officers or employees benefiting from public contracts), or G.S. 14-234.1 (Misuse of confidential information).

(10) A violation of Article 20, 22, or 22A of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes (Relating to absentee ballots, corrupt practices and other offenses against the elective franchise, and regulation of contributions and expenditures in political campaigns).

(b) Appointment of Permanent Three-Judge Panel to Determine Whether to Convene Investigative Grand Jury. – Beginning December 1, 2007, and every two years thereafter, the Chief Justice shall appoint a permanent panel of three superior court judges to determine whether to order an investigative grand jury convened under this section. The panel of judges shall be appointed to serve for a term of two years. The Chief Justice shall fill any vacancy that occurs on the panel before the two-year term ends.

(c) Procedure for Determining Whether to Convene Investigative Grand Jury. – A written petition for convening of an investigative grand jury under this section may be filed by the district attorney, the district attorney's designated assistant, or a special prosecutor requested pursuant to G.S. 114-11.6 with the Clerk of the North Carolina

Supreme Court. The petition shall be forwarded to the Chief Justice who shall refer the petition to the panel of three judges established under subsection (b) of this section to determine whether to order the grand jury convened. An investigative grand jury under this section may be convened if the three-judge panel determines all of the following:

(1) The petition alleges the commission of or a conspiracy to commit any of the offenses listed in subsection (a) of this section, any part of which violation or conspiracy occurred in the county where the proposed investigative grand jury sits or will sit, and that persons named in the petition have knowledge related to the identity of the perpetrators of those crimes but will not divulge that knowledge voluntarily or that such persons request that they be allowed to testify before the grand jury.

(2) The affidavit sets forth facts that establish probable cause to believe that the crimes specified in the petition have been committed and reasonable grounds to suspect that the persons named in the petition have knowledge related to the identity of the perpetrators of those crimes.

The affidavit shall be based upon personal knowledge or, if the source of the information and basis for the belief are stated, upon information and belief. The panel's order convening the grand jury as an investigative grand jury shall direct the grand jury to investigate the crimes and persons named in the petition, and shall be filed with the Clerk of the North Carolina Supreme Court. A grand jury so convened retains all powers, duties, and responsibilities of a grand jury under this Article. The contents of the petition and the affidavit shall not be disclosed.

A grand jury authorized by this section may be convened from an existing grand jury or grand juries authorized by G.S. 15A-622(b) or may be convened as an additional grand jury to an existing grand jury or grand juries. Notwithstanding G.S. 15A-622(b), grand jurors impaneled pursuant to this section shall serve for a period of 12 months, and, if an additional grand jury is convened, 18 persons shall be selected to constitute that grand jury. At any time for cause shown, the presiding superior court judge may excuse a juror temporarily or permanently, and in the latter event the court may impanel another person in place of the juror excused.

(d) Investigative Grand Jury Proceedings and Operations. – If an investigative grand jury is convened pursuant to this section, notwithstanding G.S. 15A-623(d), a prosecutor shall be present to examine witnesses, and a court reporter shall be present and record the examination of witnesses. The record shall be transcribed. If the prosecutor determines that it is necessary to compel testimony from the witness, the prosecutor may grant use immunity to the witness. The grant of use immunity shall be given to the witness in writing by the prosecutor and shall be signed by the prosecutor. The written grant of use immunity shall also be read into the record by the prosecutor and shall include an explanation of use immunity as provided in G.S. 15A-1051. A witness shall have the right to leave the grand jury room to consult with the witness's counsel at reasonable intervals and for a reasonable period of time upon the request of the witness. Notwithstanding G.S. 15A-623(e), the record of the examination of witnesses shall be made available to the examining prosecutor, and the prosecutor may disclose contents of the record to other investigative or law enforcement officers, the witness or the witness's attorney to the extent that the disclosure is appropriate to the proper performance of the prosecutor's official duties. The record of the examination of a witness may be used in a trial to the extent that it is relevant and otherwise admissible. Further disclosure of grand jury proceedings convened pursuant to this section may be made upon written order of a superior court judge if the judge determines disclosure is essential:

(1) To prosecute a witness who appeared before the grand jury for contempt or perjury; or

(2) To protect a defendant's constitutional rights or statutory rights to discovery pursuant to G.S. 15A-903.

Upon the convening of the investigative grand jury pursuant to this section, the district attorney shall subpoena the witnesses. The subpoena shall be served by the investigative grand jury officer, who shall be appointed by the court. The name of the person subpoenaed and the issuance and service of the subpoena shall not be disclosed, except that a witness so subpoenaed may divulge that information. The presiding superior court judge shall hear any matter concerning the investigative grand jury in camera to the extent necessary to prevent disclosure of its existence. The court reporter for the investigative grand jury shall be present and record and transcribe the in camera proceeding. The transcription of any in camera proceeding and a copy of all subpoenas and other process shall be returned to the Chief Justice or to such member of the three-judge panel as the Chief Justice may designate, to be filed with the Clerk of the North Carolina Supreme Court. The subpoena shall otherwise be subject to the provisions of G.S. 15A-801 and Article 43 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes. When an investigative grand jury has completed its investigation of the crimes alleged in the petition, the investigative functions of the grand jury shall be dissolved and such investigation shall cease. The District Attorney shall file a notice of dissolution of the investigative functions of the grand jury with the Clerk of the North Carolina Supreme Court."

SECTION 9.(b) G.S. 15A-622(h) is repealed.

SECTION 9.(c) G.S. 15A-623(h) is repealed.

SECTION 10. There is appropriated from the General Fund to the Administrative Office of the Courts the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) for the 2007-2008 fiscal year for expenses associated with administration of investigative grand juries convened pursuant to G.S. 15A-632, as enacted by section 9.(a) of this act.

SECTION 11. If any section or provision of this act is declared unconstitutional or invalid by the courts, the unconstitutional or invalid section or provision does not affect the validity of this act as a whole or any part of this act other than the part declared to be unconstitutional or invalid.

SECTION 12. This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 132:
Protect Children From Sexual Predators Act

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	May 10, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Dalton	Summary by:	Jennifer McGinnis
Version:	PCS to First Edition S132-CSRI-1 [v.9]		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS) for Senate Bill 132 would: (i) amend the definition of "sexual activity" as it relates to offenses concerning minors; (ii) require that a processor of photographic images or computer technician who, in the course of work, encounters an image of a minor engaging in sexual activity must report the name of the customer requesting the work to the appropriate authorities; (iii) make it unlawful for the owner or operator of a social networking Web site to allow a minor using a protected computer to create or maintain a personal Web page on a social networking Web site without the permission of the minor's parent or guardian and without providing such parent or guardian access to such personal Web page; (iv) make it a Class G felony for a registered sex offender to access a commercial social networking Web site where minors are members or maintain personal Web pages; (v) make it a Class H felony to lie to a sworn SBI agent conducting an official investigation; (vi) increase penalties for several offenses, including solicitation of a child by computer to commit an unlawful sex act, and 1st, 2nd, and 3rd degree sexual exploitation of a minor; (vii) authorize the convening of a grand jury to investigate allegations regarding the commission or conspiracy to commit a number of listed crimes; and (viii) appropriate $75,000 to the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) to cover the costs of administration associated with investigative grand juries convened as provided in herein.

BILL ANALYSIS:

- The PCS would amend the definition of "sexual activity" as it relates to offenses concerning minors to include "[t]he lascivious exhibition of the genitals or public area of any person." This language is included in federal law (18 USCS § 2256).

- The PCS would require processors of photographic images or computer technicians who, in the course of work, encounter an image of a minor or a person who appears to be a minor engaging in sexual activity must report the name of the customer requesting the work to the Cyber Tip Line at the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children or to the appropriate law enforcement official in the county or municipality. A person complying with this provision in good faith would be immune from civil or criminal liability that might be incurred as a result of such a report.

- The PCS would create several new offenses:

  - Make it unlawful for the owner or operator of a commercial social networking web site to allow a minor to create or maintain a personal Web page on the site without the permission of the minor's parent or guardian and without providing such parent or guardian access to the personal web page. The PCS would also require the owner or operator to adopt and implement procedures to confirm the identity and age of a parent or guardian granting permission A violation by an owner or operator would be punishable as an unfair and deceptive trade practice under Ch. 75 of the General Statutes, for which a civil penalty of up to $5,000 may be imposed for each violation. Under the PCS, each day that an owner or operator of a commercial social networking Web site fails to adopt and implement the procedures required of this section constitutes a separate and distinct violation.

- Make it a Class G felony[1] for a registered sex offender to access a commercial social networking web site that permits minors to become members or create personal Web pages.
- Make it a Class H felony to lie to a sworn SBI agent in response to an official inquiry.

  The PCS defines "official inquiry" as "the pursuit of an investigative matter by a sworn agent of the State Bureau of Investigation pursuant to a statutorily authorized request from the Governor or the Attorney General, assistance rendered in accordance with G.S. 114-14, or an investigation being conducted as a matter of original jurisdiction conferred upon the State Bureau of Investigation by North Carolina law."

➢ The PCS would increase penalties for several offenses as follows:

Offense	Current Penalty	Proposed Penalty
1st degree sexual exploitation of a minor (GS 14-190.16)	Class D felony	[2]Class C felony
2nd degree sexual exploitation of a minor (GS 14-190.17)	Class F felony	[3]Class D felony
3rd degree sexual exploitation of a minor (GS 14-190.17A)	Class I felony	[4]Class E felony
Solicitation of child by computer to commit an unlawful sex act (GS 14-202.3)	Class H felony	Class H felony, except if the defendant or person the defendant has made arrangements for actually appears at the meeting in which case it is a Class E felony

➢ The PCS would create a new statute that authorizes the convening of a grand jury to investigate allegations regarding the commission or conspiracy to commit a number of listed crimes. It would require that the Chief Justice appoint a permanent panel of three superior court judges every two years (beginning Dec. 1, 2007) to determine whether to order an investigative grand jury.

The PCS would repeal certain statutes that authorize convening of a grand jury to investigate allegations of crimes involving controlled substances. These provisions are incorporated into the new statute, except for requirements under the existing law concerning approval of grand jury petitions by three members of the NC Conference of District Attorneys, and that the Attorney General and the Clerk of the NC Supreme Court concur in the petition.

[1] The presumptive range of punishment for a Class G felony when there are no prior convictions is 5 to 6 months of community, intermediate, or active punishment.

[4] The presumptive range of punishment for a Class E felony when there are no prior convictions is 20 to 25 months of intermediate or active punishment.

- The PCS would appropriate $75,000 to the AOC to cover the costs of administration associated with investigative grand juries convened as provided in this PCS.

Dear Chairman Hartsell:

I am writing to express my grave concerns about a measure that the North Carolina Senate is currently considering, S. 132, which would require parental consent before a minor is allowed to visit a "social networking" website. While well-intentioned, this measure will not make children safer while they are online. In fact, it will likely make them far less safe.

I am a Senior Fellow at The Progress & Freedom Foundation (PFF) and Director of PFF's Center for Digital Media Freedom. PFF is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization that was founded in 1993 and is a recognized leader in studying the digital revolution and educating the public and policymakers about issues associated with technological change. I have studied this issue extensively and recently released a major report entitled "Social Networking and Age Verification: Many Hard Questions; No Easy Solutions."[1] I have submitted a copy of the study for the record. I am also the author of the forthcoming PFF Special Report, "Parental Controls and Online Child Protection: A Survey of Tools and Methods." I would be happy to provide an advance copy of that report to the Committee upon request.

The central finding of my research on this front is that perfect age verification is a quixotic objective. Each of the seven different age verification methods or mechanisms I have reviewed has serious deficiencies and would open the door to predators to operate online under false pretenses. It is vitally important that we do not rush to adopt a regulatory solution that instills a false sense of security in either parents or youngsters about social networking sites. Parents and minors who are lead to believe that age verification guarantees "safe spaces" online might drop their guard. This would be the worst of all possible outcomes.

The better response to concerns about online child safety is what I call the "3-E Solution," which refers to "education, empowerment and enforcement." Empowerment refers to the tools and methods available to parents to better monitor and control their children's online behavior and activities. Education refers to the need to industry, government and parents to do more to teach our children about online risks and proper online etiquette. And enforcement refers to the need for legislators and law enforcement officials to do more to weed out and adequately prosecute the real bad guys looking to prey on our children.

On this last point, it should be clear that government does have an important role to play in this area. The role of law enforcement should be to focus on prosecuting serious threats that are discovered online. Appropriate sentencing is the most important part of that solution. Shockingly, a 2003 Department of Justice study reported that the average sentence for child molesters was approximately seven years; on average, they were released after serving just three of those seven years.[2] Such sentences need to be greatly extended and enforced to ensure that convicted child abusers aren't out on the streets and sitting behind keyboards looking to prey upon children again. But it is also essential that law enforcement officials receive the resources and training necessary to adequately monitor online networks for predators and to bring them to justice when they are found. Establishing and adequately funding computer forensic labs and experts is extremely important in that regard.

By contrast, regulatory solutions such as the one currently being considered in North Carolina, could have disastrous unintended consequences. In particular, it is essential that we do nothing that might force mainstream, domestic social networking sites offshore or, even worse, that could drive the young users we are trying to protect to offshore sites. Whatever the concerns are about current domestic sites, parents and policymakers should understand that those sites are generally far more accountable and visible than offshore sites over which we have virtually no influence but that have the same reach as domestic sites.

Please let me know if I can be of further assistance to the Committee or provide additional information on this matter.

Sincerely,

Adam D. Thierer

SENTINEL

May 14, 2007

The Honorable Fletcher Hartsell
518 Legislative Office Building
Raleigh, NC 27603-5925

Sent by email: fletcherh@ncleg.net

Dear Chairman Hartsell:

Protecting children online is a major policy priority and a key factor for any enterprise conducting business online. The North Carolina Senate has before it, S 132, a bill to require parental consent for a minor to use many websites. After many years as a police officer, investigator and software security expert, I have looked closely at this legislation and I write respectfully to oppose its enactment.

Section 8 of S 132 requires a parent to provide consent before a minor uses a so-called "social networking website." While very well intentioned, the legislation has the unintended consequence of creating a new means for predators to find and exploit children. As found by a federal court of law, (ACLU v. Gonzales, Civ. No. 98-5591 (E.D. Pa. March 22, 2007), many leading technology thinkers, and security firms such as Sentinel, we know that these systems do not work. It is simply too easy for any person to falsify their age, or to pose as a parent when in fact they are not.

Fundamentally, the issue is not confirming that the age of an individual is over 18. The problem lies in authenticating that the individual inputting the data is the same individual who is the person who is over 18. Therein lays the problem of using age verification in the context of social networking sites: It does not address the problems of protecting younger users from sexual predators. A younger user can easily lie and provide information to sign up as an adult to avoid the parental consent requirement. Since there is no way to confirm that the minor is connected to the adult providing consent, or that the minor even exists at all, a predator can lie and register him or herself as a child.

Not only will this concept do nothing to protect children, it will give the predator the ability to create and assert the false online identities of minors. Once predators discover this loophole (and they quickly will), they'll create fake online profiles, assume the identity of the minor, and chat as a minor, with as many minors as they desire.

Please note that we are a company that sells identity and age verification services, so by taking this position I am actually arguing myself out of revenue and profits. Why? Because I feel there is only one honest and ethical position on this issue.

While I believe enacting this bill may do more harm than good, I encourage you to address the problem of predators online through other means. One such measure is pending before the Senate now, S 869, a bill requiring convicted sex offenders to provide their email addresses when they register with their parole officers and local officials. This will empower companies to remove sex offenders from their online services, and if one of these offenders lies about his email address or fails to report that he is online, then he will go back to jail. We feel that is a measure which will actually improve online safety and security, and we are eager to see it enacted.

I am happy to work with the Committee as requested to provide additional information on this matter.

Sincerely,

John J. Cardillo

RE: AeA's Comments on SB 132 Protect Children From Sexual Predators

Dear Chairman Hartsell:

On behalf of the high-tech industry, AeA (American Electronics Association) would like to express our concerns on SB 132 Protect Children From Sexual Predators Act. Despite, this bill's good intentions to protect North Carolina children, we are concerned that this bill would actually increase the very risks it is designed to combat.

Inherent in the legislative language of SB 132 is the idea of the "social networking website" being able to verify the ages of all the customers who use the site. Under threat of criminal penalty, websites would be required to identify with certainty that a parent has given minors consent to use a social networking website. Also, the website would need to authenticate that the party providing parental consent is, in fact, the parent. AeA believes there are several problems with this approach.

To date there is no proven mechanism for age verification for users under the age of 18. A report conducted on December 20, 2006, by the Virginia Attorney General Youth Internet Safety Taskforce[1] came to this conclusion. Proposed methods to increase the accuracy of age and identity verification raise significant privacy and security concerns that have yet to be resolved, and make them inappropriate for child safety applications. Even under the most ambitious proposed concepts 100% certainty, sufficient to protect against criminal liability, is not be possible.

Theoretically, there are basically two approaches to age verification: 1) a legitimate party, e.g., a driver's license bureau, makes identity claims on behalf of a particular person which an online service can use to verify age or 2) a person provides the website with a real name and address, which are then checked against various databases (e.g., credit bureaus, social security database, etc.). Both scenarios raise significant privacy and security issues, including legal issues, that have not yet been addressed, and it is not clear that either approach would yield a workable solution. Moreover, it is not yet clear that implementing either approach will increase child safety.

We believe that there is no single solution for best protecting children online. Rather online safety requires a multi-faceted approach involving ever evolving technology, public education and partnerships with law enforcement and other groups to keep the Internet safe for children. There are already technical solutions in place that help parents and children make sure their experiences on the Internet are safe and fun. For example, parental controls allow parents to manage exactly what their children do on their computers, from what games they can play to which programs they can use, and which Web sites they can visit. Additionally, parents can set age-appropriate limits for each child in the family.

In addition to many tools and processes that companies and non-governmental organizations already have in place to help address this issue, there are other steps that should be taken to increase child online safety. In general, we recommend a) providing new and more effective tools for law enforcement; b) increasing penalties for child predators; and c) creating new innovative ways to increase the awareness of parents and children to the dangers that currently exist online.

AeA is the nation's largest high-tech trade association and represents over 1.8 million high-tech workers in more than 2,500 IT sector companies which span the high-technology spectrum, from software, semiconductors, medical devices and computers to Internet technology, advanced electronics and telecommunications systems and services. Complete information on AeA and its mission is available on our website at www.aeanet.org.

We thank you again for your work on this issue and look forward to continuing to work with you on this important legislation. Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to reach me in our Washington, DC office, at 202-682-4439 or alan_vazquez@aeanet.org.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 1202 would create a civil process by which a citizen could allege a litter violation and the violator would be assessed a civil fine of $100.

G.S. 14-299.3(a) would allow a citizen who witnesses a littering violation that involves a motor vehicle or vessel could file a sworn affidavit reporting to violation with a magistrate in the county where the violation occurred. The affidavit would include the license plate number of the motor vehicle or the identification number of the vessel. It would also include a description of the vehicle or vessel, the date, location, and approximate time of the violation. It would also include language describing the penalty for filing a false affidavit.

Upon receipt of the affidavit, the magistrate would issue a citation to the owner of the vehicle or vessel. The citation would state the violation, the penalty for the violation, and the manner by which the violation could be challenged. The citation could be sent by first class service to the owner.

The owner of the vehicle or vessel would be responsible for the violation unless he or she can furnish within 21 days after notification of the violation of any of the following:

- An affidavit stating the vehicle was stolen or under the control of another person without the permission of the owner at the time of the violation.
- An affidavit that establishes by a preponderance of the evidence that there was no violation.

The magistrate will enter a default judgment against the person issued a citation if that person does not challenge the citation or does not pay the penalty assessed. The magistrate shall also enter a judgment against the person if the magistrate finds the person satisfied the grounds for challenging the citation. The penalty for a violation would b e$100, plus an additional $25 for failure to pay the fine in a timely manner.

A person who willfully and knowingly swears a false affidavit under this section would be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor and fined $1000.

The Administrative Office of the Courts would be required to develop an affidavit for this purpose and make it available to the public.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act would be become effective December 1, 2007 and apply to offenses occurring on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 1407:
Resale of Tickets via Internet

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	May 9, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Hartsell	Summary by:	Ben Popkin
Version:	PCS to First Edition S1407-CSRD		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1407 would amend Article 44 (Regulation of Sales) of Chapter 14 (Criminal Law) of the General Statutes to enact new provisions addressing the resale of admission tickets to sporting, theater, and other entertainment events. Allowable prices and required guarantees for internet ticket sales would be addressed in proposed G.S. 14-344.1 and large quantity ticket purchases by ticket resellers would be addressed in proposed G.S. 14-344.2.

The Proposed Committee Substitute changes the effective date from December to August 1, 2007, changes 'purchases' to 'acquires' in Section 2 , and revises the statute number assigned to the new provision in Section 2 of the bill.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to H1418, as introduced by Rep. Saunders, which is currently in House Commerce, Small Business and Entrepreneurship .]

CURRENT LAW: Current statutory provisions addressing the sale of admission tickets limits the total amount that a seller or reseller of the tickets may charge to "...the combined face value of the ticket, tax, and the authorized service fee."[1] G.S. 14-344 then states that the "...service fee may not exceed three dollars for each ticket..." with a limited exception for certain arrangements evidenced by a written agreement. A violation of this section of the statutes is punishable as a Class 2 misdemeanor.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 1407 would amend Article 44 (Regulation of Sales) of Chapter 14 (Criminal Law) of the General Statutes to enact new provisions addressing the resale of admission tickets to sporting, theater, and other entertainment events.

Section 1 – would enact G.S. 14-344.1. "Internet sale of admission tickets in excess of printed price", which would allow for the internet sale of admission tickets at any price if the following factors exist:

- The organizer of the event or operator of the event location authorizes the resale of tickets at more than face value; and
- The ticket sale web site operator guarantees a full refund if: 1) the event is canceled, 2) the ticket purchaser is denied entry to the event (through no fault of the purchaser), or 3) the ticket is not delivered to the purchaser as guaranteed by the seller or web site, causing the purchaser to miss the event.

G.S. 14-344.1 would also require that:

- The web site's guarantee is posted on the web site and is made clear to the purchaser before completion of the ticket resale transaction.
- Refunds issued by a web site operator include service, handling or processing fees, unless declared nonrefundable under the terms of the guarantee.

[1] G.S. 14-344. Sale of admission tickets in excess of printed price.

- Resellers may not resell a ticket at more than face value unless specifically authorized to do so by the event organizer/operator.
- The provisions of this act do not apply to student tickets issued by "...institutions of higher education in North Carolina for sporting events."

Section 2 – would enact new G.S. 14-344.2 "Bar on purchasing tickets in excess of maximum ticket limit" that would prohibit the acquisition of more than the 'maximum ticket limit quantity', as posted at the point of sale or on the tickets themselves, by individuals intending to resell the tickets.

Violations of this provision would be declared to be violations of G.S. 75-1.1 "Methods of competition, acts and practices regulated; legislative policy." Too much inventory makes legal scalping a tough sell

Florida Sentinel - February 19, 2007

You'd think that ticket scalpers would be happy about a new state law that makes their profession legal. But that's not the case.

"Now that everyone can do it, I have to drop my prices," said a man selling tickets outside the Volusia Mall who would only identify himself as "Fat Boy from Jacksonville."

About two hours before the race, the man and several other ticket sellers stood across from the track holding up a handful of tickets. They all agreed that it was a buyer's market this year because they didn't think the race would sell out. Fat Boy bought several tickets for $100 each that had a face value of $175. He sold two of them for $80 and said he'd be lucky if he could sell the rest.

Russell Walker, a ticket scalper from Atlanta, said even though he's been arrested for selling tickets several times, he still wishes the practice were illegal.

"People will pay a little more when they have to duck and dive," Walker said. "Now they can pick and choose what they want."

But one ticket seller said he is pleased that scalping is now legal in Florida.

"The cops are now concentrating on what they should be concentrating on -- things like terrorism," said the man, who would only identify himself as "Ted from Illinois."

The Honorable Fletcher L. Hartsell, Jr.
North Carolina General Assembly
518 Legislative Office Building
Raleigh, NC 27603

Dear Senator Hartsell:

We are writing to urge you to support S1407, the pending ticket resale legislation that will provide stronger protection and service to patrons and fans purchasing tickets from third parties to events in North Carolina.

With the expansion of the Internet, there has been an increase in the scope and reach of resellers and brokers to our patrons. This in turn has increased consumers' risk of purchasing fraudulent and counterfeit tickets, a problem we confront all too often at Panthers home games. Even with bar-coding and ticket scanning, we have a significant issue with counterfeit and illegal tickets that are sold by unscrupulous brokers for more than face value. At almost every Panthers home game (and other events at Bank of America Stadium), our customer service window deals with guests that are sold "bad" tickets through internet brokers and are not able to enter the stadium. S1407 will allow Panthers' fans and season ticket holders an alternative means of buying and selling tickets without having to become involved with potentially unscrupulous ticket brokers, and will allow us to provide the opportunity for tickets to be resold with the highest level of confidence in the security of the transaction and integrity of the ticket. We feel that this legislation is necessary to help protect our fans and to offer our season ticket holders a channel by which to resell their tickets legally and with the highest level of protection for all involved.

S1407 will enable us to make a stronger effort to counteract those brokers selling invalid tickets and allow resales through the team or venue resale market. At the very least, S1407 will allow us to offer our season ticket holders a secure and convenient way of reselling their tickets at market value in a manner that comports with North Carolina law. This would enhance our ability to protect our fans, to strengthen and maintain our season ticket base, and to compete on a level playing field with the out-of-state and on-line ticket brokers who are not committed to the well-being of the Panthers nor the protection of our fans.

Unfortunately, the current law is almost impossible to enforce against website operators who do not have a physical presence within our state. This is not likely to change and we believe that consumer protection will be strengthened under S1407. The new law would allow North Carolina companies to compete with out-of-state brokers in the secondary ticket market, providing consumers with the highest level of security and service if there are any issues with their tickets.

In addition, we strongly support the inclusion of a primary market ticket limit provision in S1407 as a means of protecting fans' ability to access tickets in the primary market at face price. This will help ensure that, for primary market sales, there are legal guidelines in place limiting the number of tickets that may be purchased to a quantity that does not exceed the established ticket limit. The Panthers will always sell tickets to Panthers games at face value and limit the number of tickets that can be purchased on a per-game basis.

Although we are philosophically opposed to scalping, the reality is that the resale of tickets happens on a daily basis in our market. By updating our existing legislation, we can provide a legitimate market for resale that protects both the consumer and the team/venue.

Sincerely,

Mark S. Richardson

Ticketmaster suits: Resellers used device to skirt security

The Boston Globe

Firm alleges 4 in state made illegal purchases

By Bruce A. Mohl, Globe Staff | April 26, 2007

A series of lawsuits filed by Ticketmaster LLC is shedding light on one of the biggest mysteries surrounding ticket resellers: Where do they get their tickets?

According to the lawsuits, the resellers buy tickets straight from Ticketmaster using sophisticated software that lets them bypass security measures and make rapid-fire purchases using multiple credit cards and e-mail addresses.

A suit filed in US District Court in Los Angeles accuses four Massachusetts residents of illegally buying more than 45,000 tickets on Ticketmaster.com since early 2003 and then reselling them at a profit.

Similar suits have been filed against resellers in Illinois and Texas and officials with RMG Technologies Inc. of Steubenville, Ohio. RMG allegedly orchestrated the ticket purchases using automated devices that allowed users to sidestep Ticketmaster security measures and ticket purchase limits, according to the lawsuit.

Since 2003, according to the lawsuits, resellers in the three states bought nearly 120,000 tickets through Ticketmaster and then resold them. Ticketmaster said other unnamed individuals may have purchased large quantities of tickets in the same way.

Joseph Freeman , vice president and assistant general counsel for Ticketmaster in West Hollywood, Calif., which sells tickets on behalf of sports teams, theaters, and concert venues across the country, said the company's investigation is continuing.

"We as a company are committed on behalf of our clients to putting as many tickets as possible in to the hands of fans at face price," Freeman said.

The four Massachusetts resellers were identified by Ticketmaster as Cheryl, Thomas, Kelly, and Ryan Prior .

Joseph S. Provanzano , an attorney representing the Priors, said Cheryl and Thomas are divorced and Kelly and Ryan are their children. He said Cheryl and the children had no knowledge of the ticket purchases.

Provanzano said Thomas J. Prior has bought tickets in the past through Ticketmaster and resold some of them and used some of them himself. He was unsure how many tickets in all had been purchased and resold or at what prices.

"He's a guy in his home," Provanzano said. "When tickets go on sale, he hires people to come in and buy tickets."

Massachusetts officials said no one named Prior is licensed as a ticket reseller here. State law requires anyone in the business of reselling tickets to be licensed by the state and charge no more than $2 above face value, plus certain service and business expenses.

Provanzano indicated Prior may have used the RMG technology, but he said it merely speeds up the ticket-purchasing process. He said Ticketmaster has not been harmed.

"Ticketmaster has always been paid for every single ticket that has been purchased," he said. He noted Prior tried to return some tickets to Ticketmaster and the company refused to provide a refund.

Ticketmaster has security measures in place to block automated attacks on its ticketing system, but it acknowledges in the lawsuits that the measures don't always work.

One Ticketmaster security program requires a customer placing a ticket order to read a series of random characters partially obscured behind hash marks and then retype those characters into a box. The purpose of the program is to make sure the order is being placed by a person rather than a computer.

In its lawsuits, Ticketmaster said most automated devices cannot decipher and retype the random characters and therefore cannot complete a ticket transaction. But Ticketmaster said software "bots" developed by RMG can circumvent the security program, allowing ticket brokers to buy tickets much faster and in greater quantities than the general public.

"A customer can use multiple bots -- sometimes hundreds of them -- simultaneously to flood the Ticketmaster website with requests for tickets," Ticketmaster said in its lawsuit against RMG.

The lawsuit said RMG screens all of its customers carefully to make sure they won't alert Ticketmaster. Because of RMG's safety precautions, Ticketmaster said it took years to uncover the ticket-buying system.

"Ticketmaster is informed and believes that defendants have consulted with customers throughout the United States, including in California, to lend assistance in establishing or expanding the customers' illegal ticket-buying activities," the RMG lawsuit says.

Senate 1407 Ticket Resale Bill – Amendments Needed For True Open Market

Tickets for concerts, ballgames, performances and other entertainment events held in North Carolina are usually sold on behalf of the venue by a ticket-selling company. This primary ticket seller charges fees the consumer must pay, in addition to the cost of admission.

Current state law limits any resale of tickets to a price no greater than $3.00 over face value. S 1407 attempts to create an exception where the resale occurs on a web site with a money-back guarantee.

Unfortunately, as introduced, S 1407 also includes two anti-competitive, market-closing limitations, making the bill worse for the public than the current law:

- Section 1 limits this type of ticket resale only where the event venue authorizes resale. This provision is harmful in two different ways—
    - Under the current bill language, a venue can contractually agree with the primary ticket seller for that company to be the exclusive authorized reseller—to the exclusion of all others. This could often result in only one company in the resale market for most events. The provision is anti-competitive and unfair.
    - The provision allows the venue to turn authorization on and off, like a spigot. How would the average consumer know if resale was authorized at a given moment? Someone could resell a ticket and unknowingly be exposed to liability for treble damages and attorneys fees. This is anti-consumer.
- Section 2 of the bill artificially limits how many tickets a consumer can purchase. This provision has no place in a bill seeking to truly open the resale market to consumers.
    - Why should the number of tickets a buyer purchases be regulated by state law? The primary ticket seller and the venue can limit sales easily using existing technology. This provision only benefits the primary ticket seller, as a venue wants its events to sell out as often and as quickly as possible.

S 1407 should be amended to revise Section 1 and delete Section 2 to ensure a truly open resale market. A pending House bill, H 1639, opens the resale market without these unreasonable provisions.

If S 1407 is not amended, the bill should be defeated. The current statute is better for the consumer than a new law favoring one company and exposing the consumer to unexpected liability.

SENATE BILL 1430:
Amend Crim Offenses/Injury to Property

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	May 9, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Atwater	Summary by:	Ben Popkin
Version:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 1430 would amend two existing provisions of criminal law applying to damage to property. Amended G.S. 14-127 would replace the existing class 1 misdemeanor offense for damage to real property with three separate levels of offenses (from Class 1 misdemeanor to Class D felony) based on the amount of damage inflicted to the real property. Amended G.S. 14-160 would replace the existing Class 1 or 2 misdemeanor offenses for damaging personal property with four separate levels of offenses (from Class 2 misdemeanor to Class D felony) based on the amount of damage inflicted to the personal property.

CURRENT LAW: Injury to real property is currently punishable as a Class 1 misdemeanor offense, regardless of the amount of damage inflicted[1]. For the purposes of this statute, real property may be regarded as land and anything fixed to it or a part of it, such as buildings, fences, water, minerals, etc.

Injury to personal property is currently punishable as a Class 1 misdemeanor offense if the amount of damage is more than $200.00, and as a Class 2 misdemeanor if the amount of damage is $200.00 or less. The extent of the damage is determined by the differential in market value just before and just after the injury[2], or, in the absence of an established market value, by the cost of repair.[3] For the purposes of this statute, personal property is property other than real property.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 1430 would amend G.S. 14-127 "Willful and wanton injury to real property" and G.S. 14-160 "Willful and wanton injury to personal property; punishments".

G.S. 14-127 would provide three separate levels of offenses, based on the following amounts of damage to real property:

- Class 1 misdemeanor – damage of $1,000 or less.
- Class H felony – damage greater than $1,000 and up to and including $100,000.
- Class D felony – damage exceeding $100,000.

G.S. 14-160 would provide four separate levels of offenses, based on the following amounts of damage to personal property:

- Class 2 misdemeanor – damage of $200 or less.
- Class 1 misdemeanor – greater than $200 and up to and including $1,000
- Class I felony – damage greater than $1,000 and up to and including $100,000.
- Class D felony – damage exceeding $100,000.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective December 1, 2007, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

A mediator has discretion to warn a person whose safety or property has been threatened. A mediator may testify in matters and under circumstances as set forth in subsection (k) of this section. No evidence otherwise discoverable is inadmissible for the reason it is presented or discussed in a mediated settlement conference or other settlement proceeding under this section.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 728 would amend Article 5 (Jurisdiction) of Chapter 7A (Judicial Department) by enacting a new G.S. 7A-38.3D "Mediation in matters within the jurisdiction of the district criminal courts." This new section would establish a program for certification or qualification of mediators in judicial districts in which the chief district court judge, the district attorney, and the community mediation center agree to participate. Senate Bill 728 would provide for the following:

- Authorize courts to encourage mediation in criminal district court and allow DAs to delay prosecution of cases to allow time for mediation to take place.
- Direct community mediation centers to assist courts in administering the program providing mediation services in district criminal court cases, and allow centers to assist in screening and scheduling of cases for mediation and provide certified mediators to conduct criminal district court mediations.
- Direct the Supreme Court to:
    - Adopt rules to implement the new section of law.
    - Establish requirements for certification or qualification of mediators serving under this section, and for qualification of training programs and trainers.
    - Adopt rules regulating the conduct of these mediators and trainers.
    - Allow for requiring centers and staff/volunteers to collect data (caseload statistics, fees collected, etc.) for program oversight and evaluation.
- Grant mediators judicial immunity, subject to disciplinary procedures adopted by the Supreme Court.
- Declare mediator work product and mediation center case files confidential.
- Bar mediators and neutral observers from being compelled to testify in proceedings in the same action, about statements made in or relating to mediation, with certain exceptions.
- Direct for mediation agreements to be reduced to writing and signed by parties.

- Direct defendant to pay clerk the dismissal fee, as set by G.S. 7A-38.7, for cases dismissed as a result of a mediated agreement, providing that others may agree to pay the fee instead of the defendant and the judge may waive the fee "...for good cause shown."

SB 728 would amend G.S. 7A-38(a) to include mediators certified or qualified under this section among those for whom the Supreme Court may adopt standards of conduct. SB 728 would also amend G.S. 7A-38.2(c) to increase the size of the Dispute Resolution Commission to 16 members, by creating an additional slot for a 'certified district criminal court mediator', to be appointed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Finally, the act would direct the Supreme Court to adopt rules (under G.S. 7A-38.3D(d)) and establish requirements for certification or qualification (under G.S. 7A-38.3D(f)), no later than January 1, 2008.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law, and would apply to mediations conducted on or after the date the Supreme Court adopts rules and requirements for certification or qualification of mediators pursuant to this act.

BACKGROUND: Local dispute settlement centers or mediation centers in the State date to the early 1970's and have grown through local collaborative efforts of local volunteers, paid staff, and district attorneys and district court judges. 24 centers currently receive State funding through the Administrative Office of the Courts. Roughly one year ago, several of the centers requested the establishment of a certification process for their court mediators. A committee consisting of center staff, volunteers, judges, DAs, and others developed the approach presented by SB 728, which was adopted by the NC Dispute Resolution Commission, the Dispute Resolution Committee of the State Judicial Council, and the State Judicial Council in November or December of 2006.

SENATE BILL 1023:
Local SPA Employee Status/Appeals

BILL ANALYSIS

Committee:	Senate Judiciary II (Criminal)	Date:	May 11, 2007
Introduced by:	Sen. Hartsell	Summary by:	Jennifer McGinnis
Version:	PCS to First Edition S1023-CSRI-11 [v.1]		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS) for Senate Bill 1023 would amend the statute defining "career State employee" under the State Personnel Act (Act) to include employees of certain local entities, and subject those local employees to the requirements that they (1) be employed in a permanent position appointment, and (2) be continuously employed in a position subject to the State Personnel Act for the immediate 24 preceding months, in order for those employees to receive coverage under the Act.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to H951, as introduced by Reps. Allen, Holliman, Wilkins, Alexander, which is currently in House Appropriations.]

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 126-1.1 defines a "career State employee" as a State employee who (i) is in a permanent position appointment; and (2) has been continuously employed by the State in a position subject to the State Personnel Act for the immediate 24 preceding months.

G.S. 126-5(a)(2) provides that the provisions of Chapter 126 (State Personnel System) apply to employees of the following local entities:

- area mental health, developmental disabilities, and substance abuse authorities;
- local social services departments;
- county health departments and district health departments;
- local emergency management agencies that receive federal grant-in-aid funds.

Employees who are subject to the State Personnel Act (Chapter 126) cannot be discharged, suspended, or demoted for disciplinary reasons, except for just cause (G.S. 126-35). The Act provides that covered employees may file a contested case to appeal personnel decisions (G.S. 126-34.1).

BACKGROUND: In a recent case involving termination of a county social service department employee, the county argued that in order for the contested case provisions of G.S. 126-34.1 to apply to a local employee, that employee must meet the same 24-month employment requirement that a career State employee must meet. As the terminated employee in question had not been employed in the position for 24 months, the county argued that the employee was not entitled to file a contested case alleging a lack of just cause for the termination. The North Carolina Court of Appeals held that the 24-month employment requirement applicable to a "career State employee" under the Act did not apply to an employee of a local entity covered by the Act, stating: "In the absence of any indication of a contrary intent by the General Assembly and in light of the language of the statute, the applicable administrative regulations, and this Court's prior decisions, we are compelled to reject DSS' request that we apply the substance of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 126-1.1 to local government employees." (Early v. Durham DSS, 616 S.E.2d 553, 561 (August 16, 2005)).

BILL ANALYSIS: The PCS would amend the definition of "career State employee" under the Act to include employees of certain local entities (designated above), and subject those local employees to the requirements that they (1) be employed in a permanent position appointment, and (2) be continuously employed in a position subject to the State Personnel Act for the immediate 24 preceding months, in order for those employees to receive coverage under the Act.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This PCS would be effective when it becomes law.

(d) Witnesses and Documents. – Upon its own motion or upon the request of any party to an appeal, the Property Tax Commission, or any member of the Commission, or any employee of the Department of Revenue so authorized by the Commission shall examine witnesses under oath administered by any member of the Commission or any employee of the Department so authorized by the Commission, and examine the documents of any person if there is ground for believing that information contained in such documents is pertinent to the decision of any appeal pending before the Commission, regardless of whether such person is a party to the proceeding before the Commission. Witnesses and documents examined under the authority of this subsection (d) shall be examined only after service of a subpoena as provided in subdivision (d)(1), below. The travel expenses of any witness subpoenaed and the cost of serving any subpoena shall be borne by the party that requested the subpoena.

Subpoenas issued under this subdivision may be served by any officer authorized to serve subpoenas.

(2) Any person who shall willfully fail or refuse to appear, to produce subpoenaed documents in response to a subpoena, or to testify as provided in this subsection (d) shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor.

(3) Upon a motion, the Property Tax Commission, or a member of the Commission may quash a subpoena if, after a hearing, the Commission finds any of the following:

a. The subpoena requires the production of evidence that does not relate to a matter in issue.

b. The subpoena fails to describe with sufficient particularity the evidence required to be produced.

c. The subpoena is subject to being quashed for any other reason sufficient in law."

SECTION 4. G.S. 105-290 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(d1) Hearing on Motion to Quash Subpoena; Appeal. – A hearing on a motion to quash a subpoena pursuant to subdivision (d)(3) of this section shall be heard at least 10 days prior to the hearing for which the subpoena was issued. The denial of a motion to quash a subpoena is subject to immediate judicial review in the Superior Court of Wake County or in the superior court of the county where the person subject to the subpoena resides."

SECTION 5. G.S. 150B-39(c) reads as rewritten:

"§ 150B-39. Depositions; discovery; subpoenas.

(c) In preparation for, or in the conduct of, a contested case subpoenas may be issued and served in accordance with G.S. 1A-1, Rule 45. Upon a motion, the agency may quash a subpoena if, upon a hearing, the agency finds that the evidence, the production of which is required, does not relate to a matter in issue, the subpoena does not describe with sufficient particularity the evidence the production of which is required, or for any other reason sufficient in law the subpoena may be quashed. A hearing on a motion to quash a subpoena pursuant to this subsection shall be heard at least 10 days prior to the hearing for which the subpoena was issued. The denial of a motion to quash a subpoena is subject to immediate judicial review in the Superior Court of Wake County or in the superior court of the county where the person subject to the subpoena resides. Witness fees shall be paid by the party requesting the subpoena to subpoenaed witnesses in accordance with G.S. 7A-314. However, State officials or employees who are subpoenaed shall not be entitled to any witness fees, but they shall receive their normal salary and they shall not be required to take any annual leave for the witness days.
