SENATE JUDICIARY I COMMITTEE
February 15, 2011 at 10:00 AM
Room 1027, Legislative Building

MINUTES

The Senate Judiciary I Committee met at 10:00 AM on February 15, 2011, in Room 1027 of the Legislative Building. Eighteen members of the committee were present. Senator Pete Brunstetter presided.

Introduction of staff members and senators

Senate Bill 33
Senator Apodaca moves to adopt the PCS for Senate Bill 33 for discussion—motion carries
Senator Apodaca is recognized to explain the bill—will go over the high points and turn it over to staff
Looks at this bill as a business bill that will open the doors to more businesses and bring more doctors to this state
In Henderson Co they have a difficult time recruiting and retaining OB/GYNs and neurologists

1. Separates trials on liabilities and damages
2. Amendment to the standard of proof in emergency care cases—brings us more in line with federal statutes
3. Limiting amount of monetary damages in which a bond must be executed by a defendant
4. Periodic payment of damages
5. Cap on economic damages

Attempts to deal with high cost of practicing medicine, relieves the pressure on physicians to practice defensive medicine, and he believes it will reduce the cost of medical care. Making medical care more affordable will make it more accessible.
Hopefully this will attract more doctors and businesses

Bill Patterson will go over the bill in more detail
Will go over the bill section by section
Senators can raise questions after Bill has gone over the whole PCS
Section I
Currently, emergency physicians are subject to the ordinary standard of care, the PCS would amend that statute to add a new subsection that would change the standard to gross negligence, wanton conduct, or intentional wrongdoing.
Section II
Not affected by the PCS, provides for separate trials for actions in which the plaintiff is seeking damages of over $75,000. Same trial of fact will try both liability issues and damage issues, but in separate hearings.
Section III
Limit of noneconomic damages to $250,000. Under current law, there is no cap on noneconomic damages. Cap of $250,000 per plaintiff. Also defines noneconomic damages and prevents the court from informing the jury that there is a cap.
Section IV
Relates to medical malpractice in which there is an award for future economic damages. Currently, everything is paid in one lump sum (current and future economic damages). Future economic damages are damages for future expenses following the date of the verdict or the award. These will be paid by periodic payments rather than lump sum, according to the PCS. They will be paid through trust fund or an annuity. This section would provide that upon the death of the plaintiff, liability for the payment of payments not yet due would go away. The court can modify judgment to say that the damages for wages can continue to be paid.

Section V

Not modified by the PCS in any substantial way, this section provides that the form of the verdict has to specify the separate elements of damages that are awarded: noneconomic damages, present economic damages, future economic damages. The court must instruct the jury on the definitions.

Section VI

This section relates to the bond that is required to be executed by the defendant. In the current law the defendant must post a bond equal to the amount of the judgment. The PCS would require that in medical malpractice cases, if the appellant's insurance is $1 million or more, the appellant would be able to stay execution of the bond. The PCS changed the original bill by adding the $1 million coverage requirement.

Section VII

This section was added by the PCS. If Section III is declared invalid, then sections IV and V are repealed, but the other sections of the bill are not affected. The section also includes effective dates.

Questions from the Senators about provisions of the bill

Sen. Goolsby—In section IV where we deal with the death of the plaintiff, line 19 on pg 3, does that deal with the value of services for example of a mother who is employed in the home, this doesn't provide for any compensation.

Bill Patterson—believes that the Senator is correct that the continued payment of periodic payments doesn't encompass the services.

Sen. Clodfelter—has general understanding of EMTALA but not completely. Is there no fuzziness about when stabilization of medical condition ends?

Bill Patterson—that is an issue that has been an issue of litigation and court proceedings. Does not know whether that status is changing or not

Sen. Clodfelter—wants to be sure of the state of the law and the boundary point

Sen. Stein—Current law says that when gauging negligence that the standards of practice…an ER doc when presented with something when having to make a split second decision is held to a different standard of care—arguably lesser standard of negligence under current law?

Bill Patterson—an emergency room physician would be held to a different standard of care than a general practitioner. They would be held to a different standard. A different level of training and experience applies to ER docs and family practitioners.

Sen. Stein—follow up. If someone presents to an emergency room in an acute situation, there is no liability at all even if there is negligence?

Bill Patterson—two parts to the revised standard of care. Higher than an ordinary negligence standard.

Sen. Stein—what I heard you to say is that if someone goes to an emergency room and negligence occurs, then that family is on the hook. Somebody is paying for the mistake, but the entity which was negligent has no liability? Seems to him that what we are doing is not creating an incentive for emergency rooms to do better healthcare when negligence occurs. Is there any other place in medicine when we give a free pass to negligence?

Bill Patterson—courts have concluded that the intent is to insulate the defendant from ordinary negligence/inadvertence. This requires an element of wrongdoing—wanton conduct, gross negligence. This language is used in other statutes.

Sen. Rucho (bill sponsor)—uses the metaphor of a lawyer doing due diligence to a doctor who has no idea what the history of a patient is. Let's give a break to someone who is trying to save a life in an acute situation. All we are trying to do is recognize that this is a challenging situation and cannot hold it to the same standard as primary care physicians.
Sen. Tillman—understands where Stein is coming from. We still have the medical board who will not let doctors get away with purely negligent acts.
Sen. Mansfield—agrees with Stein. Question on what acute is. Just by someone walking into an emergency room does not mean that they have an acute problem. What about people coming into the ER in a nonemergency situation? Thinks we should tighten up the language and define acute.
Patterson—in footnote 2 the text of EMTALA is set out, including definition of emergency medical situation and acute. Appears to require that the patient presents with acute symptoms
Clodfelter—feels a need for context. Would love to get some information about what has happened since 2003 in terms of med mal filings, settlements, what has gone to trial, verdicts, insurance. Would love to know what is happening in the insurance industry.

Public hearing will be on Thursday and some of these questions will be answered on Tuesday.

The meeting adjourned at 10:39 AM.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REFORM THE LAWS RELATING TO MEDICAL LIABILITY BY PROVIDING LIMITED PROTECTION FROM LIABILITY TO THOSE PROVIDING EMERGENCY MEDICAL CARE, BY AUTHORIZING THE BIFURCATION OF TRIALS ON ISSUES OF LIABILITY AND DAMAGES IN CERTAIN ACTIONS, BY LIMITING THE AMOUNT OF NONECONOMIC DAMAGES THAT MAY BE AWARDED, BY AUTHORIZING THE PERIODIC PAYMENT OF FUTURE ECONOMIC DAMAGES IN LIEU OF A LUMP-SUM PAYMENT, AND BY MODIFYING APPEAL BONDS IN MEDICAL MALPRACTICE ACTIONS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 90-21.12 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-21.12. Standard of health care.

(a) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, in~~In~~ any medical malpractice action, ~~action for damages for personal injury or death arising out of the furnishing or the failure to furnish professional services in the performance of medical, dental, or other health care,~~ the defendant health care provider shall not be liable for the payment of damages unless the trier of ~~the facts~~fact ~~is satisfied~~finds by the greater weight of the evidence that the care of such health care provider was not in accordance with the standards of practice among members of the same health care profession with similar training and experience situated in the same or similar communities at the time of the alleged act giving rise to the cause of action.

(b) In any medical malpractice action arising out of the provision of emergency services as defined in G.S. 58-3-190(g)(2), the defendant health care provider shall not be liable for the payment of damages unless the trier of fact finds by the greater weight of the evidence that the care of such health care provider was not in accordance with the standards of practice among members of the same health care profession with similar training and experience situated in the same or similar communities at the time of the alleged act giving rise to the cause of action, and finds by the greater weight of the evidence that such failure to meet the applicable standards of practice constituted gross negligence, wanton conduct or intentional wrongdoing on the part of such health care provider. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to change, alter, override, or otherwise affect the provisions of G.S. 90-21.14, 90-21.15, 90-21.16, or 20-166."

SECTION 2. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 42(b), reads as rewritten:

"(b) Separate trials. –

(1) The court may in furtherance of convenience or to avoid prejudice and shall for considerations of venue upon timely motion order a separate trial of any claim, cross-claim, counterclaim, or third-party claim, or of any separate issue or of any number of claims, cross-claims, counterclaims, third-party claims, or issues.

(2) Upon motion of any party in an action that includes a claim commenced under Article 1G of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes involving a managed care entity as defined in G.S. 90-21.50, the court shall order separate discovery and a separate trial of any claim, cross-claim, counterclaim, or third-party claim against a physician or other medical provider.

(3) Upon motion of any party in a medical malpractice action commenced under Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes wherein the plaintiff seeks damages in an amount equal to or greater than seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000), the court shall order separate trials for the issue of liability and the issue of damages. Evidence relating solely to compensatory damages shall not be admissible until the trier of fact has determined that the defendant is liable for medical malpractice. The same trier of fact that tried the issues relating to liability shall try the issues relating to damages."

SECTION 3. Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new section to read:

"§ 90-21.19. Liability limit for noneconomic damages.

(a) In any medical malpractice action against a health care provider in which the plaintiff is entitled to an award of noneconomic damages, the amount of noneconomic damages for which judgment is entered shall not exceed two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) per plaintiff. In the event that any verdict or award of noneconomic damages stated pursuant to G.S. 90-21.19B(1) exceeds two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) per plaintiff, the court shall modify the judgment as necessary to conform to the requirements of this subsection.

(b) As used in this section, 'noneconomic damages' means damages to compensate for pain, suffering, emotional distress, loss of consortium, inconvenience, physical impairment, disfigurement, and any other nonpecuniary, compensatory damage. 'Noneconomic damages' does not include punitive damages as defined in G.S. 1D-5.

(c) Any award of damages in a medical malpractice action shall be stated in accordance with G.S. 90-21.19B. If a jury is determining the facts, the court shall not instruct the jury with respect to the limit of noneconomic damages under subsection (a) of this section, and neither the attorney for any party nor a witness shall inform the jury or potential members of the jury panel of that limit."

SECTION 4. Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new section to read:

"§ 90-21.19A. Periodic payment of future economic damages in medical malpractice actions.

(a) The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Future economic damages. – Damages for future expense for medical treatment, care or custody, loss of future earnings, and any other future pecuniary damages of the plaintiff following the date of the verdict or award.

(2) Periodic payments. – The payment of money or delivery of other property to the plaintiff at regular intervals.

(b) In any medical malpractice action, the form of the fact finder's verdict or award of damages, if supported by the evidence, shall indicate specifically what amount is awarded for future economic damages.

(c) Upon the award of future economic damages in any medical malpractice action, the presiding judge shall, at the request of either party, enter a judgment ordering that the future economic damages of the plaintiff be paid in whole or in part by periodic payments rather than by a lump-sum payment if the present value of the future economic damages award is greater than or equal to seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000). In entering a judgment ordering the payment of future economic damages by periodic payments, the court shall make a specific finding as to the dollar amount of the present value of that portion of the future economic damages for which the plaintiff is to be paid by periodic payments. In calculating the total damages upon which any attorney contingency fee for representing the plaintiff in connection with the medical malpractice action is calculated, the present value of any portion of the award representing future economic damages that are to be paid by periodic payments shall be used.

(d) A judgment authorizing periodic payments of future economic damages shall require that such payments be made through the establishment of a trust fund or the purchase of an annuity for the life of the plaintiff or during the continuance of the compensable injury or disability of the plaintiff, in such form and under such terms as shall be approved by the court. The establishment of a trust fund or the purchase of an annuity, as required and approved by the court, shall constitute the satisfaction of the defendant's judgment for future economic damages.

(e) The judgment ordering the payment of future economic damages by periodic payments shall specify the recipient of the payments, the schedule of the periodic payments, and the dollar amount of each periodic payment to be made pursuant to the schedule. The death of the plaintiff terminates liability for payment of future economic damages which by judgment pursuant to this section are required to be paid in periodic payments not yet due, except that the court that entered the original judgment may modify the judgment to provide that liability for payment of future periodic payments compensating the plaintiff for loss of future earnings shall not be terminated by reason of the death of the plaintiff, but shall continue to be paid to persons surviving the plaintiff to whom the plaintiff owed a duty of support pursuant to law immediately prior to the plaintiff's death."

SECTION 5. Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new section to read:

"§ 90-21.19B. Verdicts and awards of damages in medical malpractice actions; form.

In any malpractice action, any verdict or award of damages, if supported by the evidence, shall indicate specifically what amount is awarded for each of all of the following:

(1) Noneconomic damages.

(2) Present economic damages.

(3) Future economic damages.

If applicable, the court shall instruct the jury on the definition of noneconomic damages under G.S. 90-21.19(b) and the definition of future economic damages under G.S. 90-21.19A(a)(1). If applicable, the court shall instruct the jury that present economic damages are those damages for medical treatment, care or custody, loss of earnings, and any other pecuniary damages of the plaintiff up to the date of the verdict or award."

SECTION 6. G.S. 1-289 reads as rewritten:

"§ 1-289. Undertaking to stay execution on money judgment.

(a) If the appeal is from a judgment directing the payment of money, it does not stay the execution of the judgment unless a written undertaking is executed on the part of the appellant, by one or more sureties, to the effect that if the judgment appealed from, or any part thereof, is affirmed, or the appeal is dismissed, the appellant will pay the amount directed to be paid by the judgment, or the part of such amount as to which the judgment shall be affirmed, if affirmed only in part, and all damages which shall be awarded against the appellant upon the appeal, except as provided in ~~subsection (b)~~ subsections (b) and (b1) of this section. Whenever it is satisfactorily made to appear to the court that since the execution of the undertaking the sureties have become insolvent, the court may, by rule or order, require the appellant to execute, file and serve a new undertaking, as above. In case of neglect to execute such undertaking within twenty days after the service of a copy of the rule or order requiring it, the appeal may, on motion to the court, be dismissed with costs. Whenever it is necessary for a party to an action or proceeding to give a bond or an undertaking with surety or sureties, he may, in lieu thereof, deposit with the officer into court money to the amount of the bond or undertaking to be given. The court in which the action or proceeding is pending may direct what disposition shall be made of such money pending the action or proceeding. In a case where, by this section, the money is to be deposited with an officer, a judge of the court, upon the application of either party, may, at any time before the deposit is made, order the money deposited in court instead of with the officer; and a deposit made pursuant to such order is of the same effect as if made with the officer. The perfecting of an appeal by giving the undertaking mentioned in this section stays proceedings in the court below upon the judgment appealed from; except when the sale of perishable property is directed, the court below may order the property to be sold and the proceeds thereof to be deposited or invested, to abide the judgment of the appellate court.

(b) If the appellee in a civil action brought under any legal theory obtains a judgment directing the payment or expenditure of money in the amount of twenty five million dollars ($25,000,000) or more, and the appellant seeks a stay of execution of the judgment within the period of time during which the appellant has the right to pursue appellate review,, including discretionary review and certiorari, the amount of the undertaking that the appellant is required to execute to stay execution of the judgment during the entire period of the appeal shall be ~~twenty-five~~twenty-five million dollars ($25,000,000).

(b1) If the appellee in any medical malpractice action, as defined in G.S. 90-21.11, obtains a judgment directing the payment or expenditure of money, and the appellant seeks a stay of execution of the judgment within the period of time during which the appellant has the right to pursue appellate review, including discretionary review and certiorari, the amount of the undertaking that the appellant is required to execute to stay execution of the judgment during the entire period of the appeal shall be the lesser of the amount of the judgment or the amount of the appellant's medical malpractice insurance coverage applicable to the action.

(c) If the appellee proves by a preponderance of the evidence that the appellant for whom the undertaking has been limited under subsection (b) or (b1) of this section is, for the purpose of evading the judgment, (i) dissipating its assets, (ii) secreting its assets, or (iii) diverting its assets outside the jurisdiction of the courts of North Carolina or the federal courts of the United States other than in the ordinary course of business, then the limitation in ~~subsection (b)~~subsections (b) and (b1) of this section shall not apply and the appellant shall be required to make an undertaking in the full amount otherwise required by this section."

SECTION 7. This act becomes effective October 1, 2011. Sections 1, 3, 4, and 5 apply to causes of action arising on or after the effective date. Section 2 applies to actions commenced on or after the effective date. Section 6 applies to judgments entered on or after the effective date.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REFORM THE LAWS RELATING TO MEDICAL LIABILITY BY PROVIDING LIMITED PROTECTION FROM LIABILITY TO THOSE REQUIRED BY FEDERAL LAW TO PROVIDE EMERGENCY MEDICAL CARE, BY AUTHORIZING THE BIFURCATION OF TRIALS ON ISSUES OF LIABILITY AND DAMAGES IN CERTAIN ACTIONS, BY LIMITING THE AMOUNT OF NONECONOMIC DAMAGES THAT MAY BE AWARDED, BY AUTHORIZING THE PERIODIC PAYMENT OF FUTURE ECONOMIC DAMAGES IN LIEU OF A LUMP-SUM PAYMENT, AND BY MODIFYING APPEAL BONDS IN MEDICAL MALPRACTICE ACTIONS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 90-21.12 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-21.12. Standard of health care; limited liability for federally mandated emergency medical services.

(a) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, in~~In~~ any medical malpractice action, ~~action for damages for personal injury or death arising out of the furnishing or the failure to furnish professional services in the performance of medical, dental, or other health care,~~ the defendant health care provider shall not be liable for the payment of damages unless the trier of ~~the facts~~fact ~~is satisfied~~finds by the greater weight of the evidence that the care of such health care provider was not in accordance with the standards of practice among members of the same health care profession with similar training and experience situated in the same or similar communities at the time of the alleged act giving rise to the cause of action.

(b) In any medical malpractice claim arising out of the furnishing or the failure to furnish services pursuant to obligations imposed by 42 U.S.C. §1395dd for an emergency medical condition as defined in 42 U.S.C. §1395dd(e)(1), the defendant health care provider shall not be liable for the payment of damages unless the trier of fact finds by clear and convincing evidence that the health care provider's deviation from the standard of care required under subsection (a) of this section constituted gross negligence, wanton conduct or intentional wrongdoing. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to change, alter, override, or otherwise affect the provisions of G.S. 90-21.14, 90-21.15, 90-21.16, or 20-166."

SECTION 2. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 42(b), reads as rewritten:

"(b) Separate trials. –

(1) The court may in furtherance of convenience or to avoid prejudice and shall for considerations of venue upon timely motion order a separate trial of any claim, cross-claim, counterclaim, or third-party claim, or of any separate issue or of any number of claims, cross-claims, counterclaims, third-party claims, or issues.

(2) Upon motion of any party in an action that includes a claim commenced under Article 1G of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes involving a managed care entity as defined in G.S. 90-21.50, the court shall order separate discovery and a separate trial of any claim, cross-claim, counterclaim, or third-party claim against a physician or other medical provider.

(3) Upon motion of any party in a medical malpractice action commenced under Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes wherein the plaintiff seeks damages in an amount equal to or greater than seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000), the court shall order separate trials for the issue of liability and the issue of damages. Evidence relating solely to compensatory damages shall not be admissible until the trier of fact has determined that the defendant is liable for medical malpractice. The same trier of fact that tried the issues relating to liability shall try the issues relating to damages."

SECTION 3. Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new section to read:

"§ 90-21.19. Liability limit for noneconomic damages.

(a) In any medical malpractice action against a health care provider in which the plaintiff is entitled to an award of noneconomic damages, the amount of noneconomic damages for which judgment is entered shall not exceed two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) per plaintiff. In the event that any verdict or award of noneconomic damages stated pursuant to G.S. 90-21.19B(1) exceeds two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) per plaintiff, the court shall modify the judgment as necessary to conform to the requirements of this subsection.

(b) As used in this section, 'noneconomic damages' means damages to compensate for pain, suffering, emotional distress, loss of consortium, inconvenience, physical impairment, disfigurement, and any other nonpecuniary, compensatory damage. 'Noneconomic damages' does not include punitive damages as defined in G.S. 1D-5.

(c) Any award of damages in a medical malpractice action shall be stated in accordance with G.S. 90-21.19B. If a jury is determining the facts, the court shall not instruct the jury with respect to the limit of noneconomic damages under subsection (a) of this section, and neither the attorney for any party nor a witness shall inform the jury or potential members of the jury panel of that limit."

SECTION 4. Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new section to read:

"§ 90-21.19A. Periodic payment of future economic damages in medical malpractice actions.

(a) The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Future economic damages. – Damages for future expense for medical treatment, care or custody, loss of future earnings, and any other future pecuniary damages of the plaintiff following the date of the verdict or award.

(2) Periodic payments. – The payment of money or delivery of other property to the plaintiff at regular intervals.

(b) In any medical malpractice action, the form of the fact finder's verdict or award of damages, if supported by the evidence, shall indicate specifically what amount is awarded for future economic damages.

(c) Upon the award of future economic damages in any medical malpractice action, the presiding judge shall, at the request of either party, enter a judgment ordering that the future economic damages of the plaintiff be paid in whole or in part by periodic payments rather than by a lump-sum payment if the present value of the future economic damages award is greater than or equal to seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000). In entering a judgment ordering the payment of future economic damages by periodic payments, the court shall make a specific finding as to the dollar amount of the present value of that portion of the future economic damages for which the plaintiff is to be paid by periodic payments. In calculating the total damages upon which any attorney contingency fee for representing the plaintiff in connection with the medical malpractice action is calculated, the present value of any portion of the award representing future economic damages that are to be paid by periodic payments shall be used.

(d) A judgment authorizing periodic payments of future economic damages shall require that such payments be made through the establishment of a trust fund or the purchase of an annuity for the life of the plaintiff or during the continuance of the compensable injury or disability of the plaintiff, in such form and under such terms as shall be approved by the court. The establishment of a trust fund or the purchase of an annuity, as required and approved by the court, shall constitute the satisfaction of the defendant's judgment for future economic damages.

(e) The judgment ordering the payment of future economic damages by periodic payments shall specify the recipient of the payments, the schedule of the periodic payments, and the dollar amount of each periodic payment to be made pursuant to the schedule. The death of the plaintiff terminates liability for payment of future economic damages which by judgment pursuant to this section are required to be paid in periodic payments not yet due, except that the court that entered the original judgment may modify the judgment to provide that liability for payment of future periodic payments compensating the plaintiff for loss of future earnings shall not be terminated by reason of the death of the plaintiff, but shall continue to be paid to persons surviving the plaintiff to whom the plaintiff owed a duty of support pursuant to law immediately prior to the plaintiff's death."

SECTION 5. Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new section to read:

"§ 90-21.19B. Verdicts and awards of damages in medical malpractice actions; form.

In any malpractice action, any verdict or award of damages, if supported by the evidence, shall indicate specifically what amount is awarded for each of the following:

(1) Noneconomic damages.

(2) Present economic damages.

(3) Future economic damages.

If applicable, the court shall instruct the jury on the definition of noneconomic damages under G.S. 90-21.19(b) and the definition of future economic damages under G.S. 90-21.19A(a)(1). If applicable, the court shall instruct the jury that present economic damages are those damages for medical treatment, care or custody, loss of earnings, and any other pecuniary damages of the plaintiff up to the date of the verdict or award."

SECTION 6. G.S. 1-289 reads as rewritten:

"§ 1-289. Undertaking to stay execution on money judgment.

(a) If the appeal is from a judgment directing the payment of money, it does not stay the execution of the judgment unless a written undertaking is executed on the part of the appellant, by one or more sureties, to the effect that if the judgment appealed from, or any part thereof, is affirmed, or the appeal is dismissed, the appellant will pay the amount directed to be paid by the judgment, or the part of such amount as to which the judgment shall be affirmed, if affirmed only in part, and all damages which shall be awarded against the appellant upon the appeal, except as provided in ~~subsection (b)~~ subsections (b), b(1) and (b2) of this section. Whenever it is satisfactorily made to appear to the court that since the execution of the undertaking the sureties have become insolvent, the court may, by rule or order, require the appellant to execute, file and serve a new undertaking, as above. In case of neglect to execute such undertaking within twenty days after the service of a copy of the rule or order requiring it, the appeal may, on motion to the court, be dismissed with costs. Whenever it is necessary for a party to an action or proceeding to give a bond or an undertaking with surety or sureties, he may, in lieu thereof, deposit with the officer into court money to the amount of the bond or undertaking to be given. The court in which the action or proceeding is pending may direct what disposition shall be made of such money pending the action or proceeding. In a case where, by this section, the money is to be deposited with an officer, a judge of the court, upon the application of either party, may, at any time before the deposit is made, order the money deposited in court instead of with the officer; and a deposit made pursuant to such order is of the same effect as if made with the officer. The perfecting of an appeal by giving the undertaking mentioned in this section stays proceedings in the court below upon the judgment appealed from; except when the sale of perishable property is directed, the court below may order the property to be sold and the proceeds thereof to be deposited or invested, to abide the judgment of the appellate court.

(b) If the appellee in a civil action brought under any legal theory obtains a judgment directing the payment or expenditure of money in the amount of twenty five million dollars ($25,000,000) or more, and the appellant seeks a stay of execution of the judgment within the period of time during which the appellant has the right to pursue appellate review, including discretionary review and certiorari, the amount of the undertaking that the appellant is required to execute to stay execution of the judgment during the entire period of the appeal shall be twenty five million dollars ($25,000,000).

(b1) In any medical malpractice action as defined in G.S. 90-21.11, in which an appellant is insured under a policy or policies of malpractice liability insurance having limits of coverage applicable to the action in the amount of at least one million dollars ($1,000,000), the amount of the undertaking that the appellant is required to execute to stay execution of the judgment during the entire period of the appeal shall be the amount of the judgment or the amount of the appellant's medical malpractice insurance coverage applicable to the action, whichever is less.

(b2) In any medical malpractice action as defined in G.S. 90-21.11, in which an appellant is not insured under a policy or policies of malpractice liability insurance, or has less than one million dollars ($1,000,000) of malpractice liability insurance coverage, the amount of the undertaking that the appellant is required to execute to stay execution of the judgment during the entire period of the appeal shall be the amount of the judgment or one million dollars ($1,000,000), whichever is less.

(c) If the appellee proves by a preponderance of the evidence that the appellant for whom the undertaking has been limited under ~~subsection (b)~~subsections (b), (b1) or (b2) of this section is, for the purpose of evading the judgment, (i) dissipating its assets, (ii) secreting its assets, or (iii) diverting its assets outside the jurisdiction of the courts of North Carolina or the federal courts of the United States other than in the ordinary course of business, then the limitation in ~~subsection (b)~~subsections (b), (b1) or (b2) of this section shall not apply and the appellant shall be required to make an undertaking in the full amount otherwise required by this section."

SECTION 7. If the provisions of Section 3 of this act are declared to be unconstitutional or otherwise invalid by final decision of a court of competent jurisdiction, following any appellate review, then Section 4 and Section 5 of this act are repealed, but the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of this act that can be given effect without the invalid provisions or application.

SECTION 8. This act becomes effective October 1, 2011. Sections 1, 3, 4, and 5 apply to causes of action arising on or after the effective date. Sections 2 and 6 apply to actions commenced on or after the effective date.

SENATE PCS 33:
Medical Liability Reforms

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	February 15, 2011
Introduced by:	Sens. Apodaca, Brown, Rucho	Prepared by:	Bill Patterson
Analysis of:	PCS to First Edition S33-CSTG-1		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: In medical malpractice actions, the PCS to Senate Bill 33 will:

- require a finding of gross negligence, wanton conduct or intentional wrongdoing to recover damages in claims arising out of the furnishing of or failure to furnish emergency medical services required to be provided under federal law
- require separate trials on the issues of liability and damages on motion of any party in cases seeking damages of at least $75,000
- limit noneconomic damages to $250,000
- on motion of any party, require that future economic damages with a present value of at least $75,000 must be paid in periodic payments rather than in one lump sum
- require damage awards to specify the amount awarded as noneconomic, present economic, and future economic damages
- allow appellants having malpractice liability insurance coverage of at least $1 million to stay execution pending appeal by posting a bond equal to the amount of the judgment or the amount of their insurance coverage; for appellants having less than $1 million in coverage or no coverage, the appeal bond would be limited to the amount of the judgment or $1 million, whichever is less

CURRENT LAW AND BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1: Emergency Services Required to be Provided by Federal Law

Current law: G.S. 90-21.12 provides that a "health care provider" is not liable for damages in a "medical malpractice action"[1] unless the trier of fact finds by the greater weight of the evidence that the care provided "was not in accordance with the standards of practice among members of the same health care profession with similar training and experience situated in the same or similar communities at the time of the alleged act giving rise to the cause of action."

[1] The terms ""health care provider and "medical malpractice action" are defined in G.S. 90-21.11 as follows:

As used in this Article, the term "health care provider" means without limitation any person who pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is licensed, or is otherwise registered or certified to engage in the practice of or otherwise performs duties associated with any of the following: medicine, surgery, dentistry, pharmacy, optometry, midwifery, osteopathy, podiatry, chiropractic, radiology, nursing, physiotherapy, pathology, anesthesiology, anesthesia, laboratory analysis, rendering assistance to a physician, dental hygiene, psychiatry, psychology; or a hospital or a nursing home; or any other person who is legally responsible for the negligence of such person, hospital or nursing home; or any other person acting at the direction or under the supervision of any of the foregoing persons, hospital, or nursing home.

As used in this Article, the term "medical malpractice action" means a civil action for damages for personal injury or death arising out of the furnishing or failure to furnish professional services in the performance of medical, dental, or other health care by a health care provider.

G.S. 90-21.14 requires a showing of gross negligence, wanton conduct or intentional wrongdoing before liability can be imposed upon any person who receives no compensation for his or her services as an emergency medical care provider, and who renders first aid or emergency health care treatment to a person who is unconscious, ill, or injured under circumstances requiring prompt action in which any delay in treatment would seriously worsen the person's physical condition or endanger the person's life.

Consequently, under current law, providers of emergency medical care who are compensated for their services are subject to liability in malpractice actions under the general standard of care set forth in G.S. 90-21.12.

Bill Analysis: Section 1 amends G.S. 90-21.12 to add new subsection (b) providing that in a medical malpractice action arising out of the furnishing or the failure to furnish services pursuant to obligations imposed by the federal Emergency Medical Treatment and Active Labor Act, 42 U.S.C. § 1395dd ("EMTALA")[2], liability may not be imposed unless the trier of fact finds that the defendant's failure to meet the statutory standard of care constituted gross negligence, wanton conduct or intentional wrongdoing. Section 1 also designates the current statutory language as subsection (a) and makes technical and clarifying changes. The PCS rewrote Section 1 by limiting its application to malpractice actions arising out of emergency services required to be provided under EMTALA, and by requiring a finding of gross negligence, wanton conduct or intentional wrongdoing "by clear and convincing evidence" rather than "by a preponderance of the evidence" before liability can be imposed.

Section 2: Separate Trials of Liability and Damages

Current law: Courts are currently permitted, but not required, to grant a motion for separate trials of any issues "in furtherance of convenience or to avoid prejudice." G.S. 1A-1, Rule 42(b)(1).

Bill Analysis: Section 2 adds a new subdivision (3) to Rule 42(b), applicable in medical malpractice actions in which the plaintiff seeks damages of at least $75,000 that will:

- require the court, on motion of any party, to order separate trials on the issue of liability and damages
- prohibit the admission of evidence relating solely to compensatory damages until liability is established

[2] 42 U.S.C. § 1395dd(a) requires that when a patient presents to a hospital emergency department, the hospital is obligated to determine whether the patient has an ""emergency medical condition," defined as:

> (A) a medical condition manifesting itself by acute symptoms of sufficient severity (including severe pain) such that the absence of immediate medical attention could reasonably be expected to result in—
> (i) placing the health of the individual (or, with respect to a pregnant woman, the health of the woman or her unborn child) in serious jeopardy,
> (ii) serious impairment to bodily functions, or > (iii) serious dysfunction of any bodily organ or part; or > (B) with respect to a pregnant woman who is having contractions—
> (i) that there is inadequate time to effect a safe transfer to another hospital before delivery, or > (ii) that transfer may pose a threat to the health or safety of the woman or the unborn child.

42 U.S.C. § 1395dd(e)(1). If the patient is determined to have an emergency medical condition, then the hospital is obligated to provide treatment necessary to stabilize the medical condition, regardless of the patient's ability to pay for those services, unless transferring the patient to another medical facility for treatment would be more beneficial to the patient. 42 U.S.C. § 1395dd(b), (c).

- require the same trier of fact to try the liability-related issues and the damages-related issues

Section 3 – Liability Limit for Noneconomic Damages

Current law: There currently is no limit on the amount of noneconomic damages for which a medical malpractice defendant may be found liable. However, trial courts are authorized under Rule 59 of the Rules of Civil Procedure to order a new trial if it appears that excessive or inadequate damages have been given under the influence of passion or prejudice or if the evidence is insufficient to justify the verdict. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 59(a)(6), (7).

Bill Analysis: Section 3 adds a new G.S. 90-21.19 to Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes that will:

- impose a cap of $250,000 per plaintiff on noneconomic damages in medical malpractice actions
- define "noneconomic damages" as "damages to compensate for pain, suffering, emotional distress, loss of consortium, inconvenience, physical impairment, disfigurement, and any other non-pecuniary, compensatory damage"
- prohibit informing the jury of the cap on noneconomic damages

Section 4: Periodic Payment of Future Economic Damages

Current law: An award of future damages is reduced to its present value by the trier of fact, to be paid in one lump sum as part of the judgment. N.C. Pattern Jury Instruction – Civil – 810.16.

Bill Analysis: Section 4 enacts a new G.S. 90-21.19A that will:

- require the verdict form to indicate specifically the amount being awarded for future economic damages
- in cases where the present value of the future economic damages awarded by the trier of fact is at least $75,000, require the court to enter an order on motion of any party that the future economic damages be paid in whole or in part by periodic payments rather than by a lump-sum payment
- require that any judgment ordering future periodic payments also order that the payments be made through a trust fund or purchase of an annuity for the life of the plaintiff on terms approved by the court, including the amount and schedule of the periodic payments
- provide that upon the death of the plaintiff the liability for payment of future periodic payments not yet due will cease, except that the court entering the original judgment may modify the judgment to provide that future periodic payments to compensate the plaintiff for future lost earnings shall continue to be paid to persons surviving the plaintiff to whom the plaintiff owed a duty of support pursuant to law

Section 5: Form of Verdict in Medical Malpractice Actions

Current law: There is no current statutory requirement that separate elements of damages must be separately stated in a verdict or award of damages.

Bill Analysis: Section 5 enacts a new G.S. 90-91.19B requiring that the verdict or award of damages in a medical malpractice action indicate specifically the amount being awarded for noneconomic damages, present economic damages, and future economic damages, and requiring the court to instruct the jury on the statutory definitions of these damages.

Section 6: Modified Appeal Bond

Current law: In order to stay execution of a money judgment during the pendency of an appeal, an appellant is required to post a bond equal to the amount of the judgment. However, in cases in which the judgment exceeds $25 million, the bond is limited to $25 million, unless the appellee proves that the appellant is seeking to evade the judgment by dissipating, secreting, or diverting its assets. G.S. 1-289.

Bill Analysis: Section 6 amends G.S. 1-289 by adding a new subsection (b1) to provide that if an appellant's malpractice insurance coverage is at least $1 million, the bond required to stay execution in a medical malpractice action is the amount of the judgment or the amount of the appellant's insurance coverage, whichever is less. In addition, new subsection (b2) provides that if the appellant has no coverage or has coverage of less than $1 million, then the required bond is the amount of the judgment or $1 million, whichever is less. The appellee will be permitted to have this limitation set aside by showing that the appellant is dissipating, secreting or diverting assets to evade the judgment. The PCS revised subsection (b1) to add the $1 million minimum coverage requirement and added subsection (b2) relating to appellants having no coverage or coverage of less than $1 million.

Section 7: Severability

Bill Analysis: Section 7, added by the PCS, provides that if the provisions of Section 3 of the act are declared to be invalid, Sections 4 and 5 of the act are repealed, but the invalidity of Section 3 will not affect other provisions of the act that can be given effect without the invalid provision.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The effective date of the act is October 1, 2011. Sections 1, 3, 4, and 5 apply to causes of action arising on or after October 1, 2011. Sections 2 and 6 apply to actions commenced on or after October 1, 2011. The PCS made Section 6 (appeal bond) applicable to actions commenced on or after the effective date; in the original bill Section 6 was made applicable to judgments entered on or after the effective date.

SENATE JUDICIARY I COMMITTEE
February 17, 2011 at 10:00 AM
Room 1027, Legislative Building

MINUTES

The Senate Judiciary I Committee met at 10:00 AM on February 17, 2011, in Room 1027 of the Legislative Building. Fourteen members of the committee were present. Senator Pete Brunstetter presided.

This meeting was a public forum where those with thoughts on SB 33 can speak if they have signed up to do so.

Dr. Don Bradley, chief medical officer at BCBSNC
Healthcare reform did not do enough for healthcare
All options must be on the table in addressing affordability of healthcare
BCBS is eager to collaborate with providers to improve payment system
Want doctors to be able to practice without the fear of lawsuits
Shares concerns of physicians about increasing costs of malpractice insurance
Should all share goal that citizens have access to the right care at the right time
This goal will not be possible if there are not enough physicians Certain specialties are especially hard hit by malpractice premiums

Dick Taylor, CEO NC Advocates for Justice
The problem is medical malpractice, not lawsuits
About 4,000 people die in NC hospitals each year from preventable medical mistakes
Less than 500 medical malpractice lawsuits are filed each year in NC
Less than 5% of people injured file lawsuits
Doctor population is soaring; see materials
Medical malpractice premiums are down
Two provisions in the bill are particularly problematic:
- Total immunity for negligence in emergency situations
- 250,000 cap for disfigurement, loss of limbs, death
- It is one thing to consider capping pain and suffering and emotional distress

Bill will not reduce insurance costs
Will not reduce medical costs
Will not increase doctors because the doctors are coming here anyway
Will make system less safe and will hurt those who have already been hurt

Russ Fawcett, VP of NC Friends of Midwives
Speaks for the hundreds of mothers who choose midwifery care
Org regulates professional midwives in NC
Rates of midwife attended home birth are accelerating Support SB 33 because some of these births are transferred to the hospital
Rely on OBs in these situations
Support reform initiatives that hold promise of reducing defensive medicine and its consequences
- In OB, defensive medicine means C-Section

Joe Knott, Trial Lawyer
Conservative Republican who is fearful of government intervention
Opposes SB 33
Thinks the bill immunizes negligence and caps damage
Contrary to conservatism and the idea of America
    We don't have classes in America
Negligence is the violation of the duty of reasonable care
This bill says that unreasonable care is ok
This bill caps damages at 250,000
    Juries should make big decisions, not governments

Lew Ebert, President and CEO of NC Chamber
Speaking in favor of SB 33
State's legal climate can be inducement or deterrent for business
Companies are looking for fairness and reliability
System must be rational, fair, and predictable
Small businesses bear a disproportionate share of the costs of our legal system
SB 33 is an important first step in a larger need for comprehensive legal reform to make our system rational, fair and predictable
No impact on budget, but maximum impact on job creation

Laurie Sanders, Executive Director of NC Coalition for Patient Safety
Son died at age 6
Concerned about economic value vs. noneconomic value
Has seen medical care at its best and its worse
First learned about economic vs. noneconomic value during depositions
"Kindergarteners don't have economic value"
Her case cost 225,000 just to go to litigation
Needs to be legal safety when the medicine lets patients down

Samm Thompson, defends healthcare providers when they are sued for malpractice, NC Medical Society
Supports SB 33
Supports because it addresses problems in the civil justice system
Needs to be stable, predictable, produce results that are reasonable and fair
In emergency situations there are life and death decisions made by healthcare providers
There are no more high risk situations for doctors than emergencies
This is the stuff of lawsuits
The chance of a poor outcome goes way up
Fear of lawsuits leads to defensive medicine which drives up the cost of healthcare
Disagrees that this bill is about immunity
It moves the standard of care to give the provider the breathing room to deal with life and death situations in the best way that they can under the circumstances
Separating liability from damages has the potential to shorten the trial because if liability is decided for the defendant you don't need to go through the damages portion 26 states have put some form of cap in place on noneconomic damages
This is the area that is subjective and can be arbitrary
The appeal bond provision is important because doctors frequently get in a situation where they believe that there has been an error but their insurance does not cover the amount of the judgment

This bill helps decrease costs, increase access, is consistent with deficit panel decision that we need tort reform, helps with defensive medicine, promotes stability and predictability

Karen Rabeneau, lawyer practicing in Raleigh
Letter from Kim Brown addressed to Senator Apodaca on Feb. 19
Had a double mastectomy and then found out that she did not have cancer
Biopsy slides were switched Finds it hard to believe that 250K would be adequate compensation for what she has lost

Greg Cannon, Secretary/Treasurer of NC College of Emergency Physicians Practicing Emergency Physician at WakeMed
Supports the entire bill but will limit testimony to the first section
Emergency providers includes not only emergency physicians but on-call specialists
Emergency providers take care of everyone regardless of ability to pay
Operate in high risk environment and do not have previous relationships with patients
They are the health care safety net
Not protected like EMS
Over 1.5 million visits to ERs in NC every year
EMTALA
To the average person their access to care is more important than their ability to sue

Bill Wilson, AARP in NC
AARP has concerns about several parts of the bill but is most concerned about the cap on noneconomic damages
Retired persons are not entitled to economic damages other than medical costs
Because noneconomic damages are likely to constitute a larger part of the award for retired, disabled, elderly, this is unfair
Taxpayers will pick up the tab rather than the party that caused the malpractice

Martha Walden
Mother was in an assisted living facility and got pneumonia
Mother wandered outside the facility and could not get back inside and it was cold outside
She died from hypothermia
Negligence of the facility for not performing bed checks
Very difficult to watch someone you love go through something like that

Bill Lamb, board member and chair of policy committee of friends of residents in long term care
Urges committee to vote against SB 33
Bill will decimate protection for NCians in assisted living facilities and skilled nursing facilities
Dismantles industry standards for quality of care
Will provide incentive to provide poor care—no incentive to improve care which is expensive
Will provide immunity to long term care facilities
Quality care should be the standard

Heather and Chris Boone
Son Ethan
In summer of 2008 he was misdiagnosed in an ER
Lost both arms and both legs and has had major facial scarring and has had 3 reconstructions with many more surgeries to go through
If this bill is passed, other families will not have a chance to be heard

The meeting adjourned at 10:50 AM.

SUPPORT SB 33

A state's legal climate can be a major inducement or a major deterrent to business investment, growth and job creation. It is one factor among several key ones that businesses consider when making decisions about where to expand existing operations or locate new facilities. Specifically companies are looking for fairness and predictability.

Our legal climate and litigation costs also impact competitiveness--nationally and internationally. North Carolina businesses face growing competition against international competitors that have much lower litigation costs. This is a disadvantage for our businesses in a fiercely competitive global economy.

For North Carolina businesses to invest and create jobs North Carolina's civil justice system must be rational, fair and predictable. Employers must be free to innovate and pursue market opportunities without fear of unreasonable exposure to costly lawsuits, while truly injured parties must have full recourse to appropriate measures of justice.

Senate Bill 33 is an important first step toward an overall objective to make North Carolina's legal system rational, fair and predictable. Medical malpractice reform is one method that will help lower overall health care costs which are a top concern for both small and large businesses.

The reforms in Senate Bill 33 will:

- Reduce the threat of frivolous lawsuits and the pressure on physicians to practice defensive medicine.
- Help recruit and retain physicians to practice in North Carolina thus improving access to health care.
- Help lower overall health care costs which will strengthen our economy and help create jobs.

The following organizations urge you to support Senate Bill 33:

Senator Tom Apodaca
16 W. Jones Street, Room 2010
Raleigh, NC 27601-2808

Dear Senator Apodaca:

I understand you are one of the sponsors of a bill to limit compensation to victims of medical malpractice. As a recent survivor, I ask you to consider the harm that will be done if this bill is passed.

Two years ago, at age 48, I was healthy and active. I biked 100 miles a week and worked out almost every day. In June 2009, I was diagnosed with breast cancer. After receiving that stunning news, I began the fight of my life. I had more diagnostic tests and was told that the cancer in my left breast was invasive and there were also concerns with my right breast. I did weeks of research, obtained second and third opinions, and asked hundreds of questions. Finally, my surgeon and I decided on bilateral total mastectomies.

Both of my breasts were removed. Several days after I returned home, I received a call from my physician's nurse saying that I needed to come in. This was an unexpected call, so of course I was scared. When I got there my doctor informed me that a "mistake" had been made and they were sorry. I was told that I never had cancer. "We're trying to figure out what happened, but there was a mistake".

At a second meeting with my doctor, I was told that the doctor who examined my biopsy slides was also handling those of another woman at the same time. Although they correctly interpreted both my slides and those of the other woman, they dictated my results into the other woman's chart, and hers into mine. The other woman, who actually did have cancer, did not find out until after my surgery nearly two months later.

This kind of "mistake" should never happen. Every day I have to look at the damage that was done to me because someone else didn't take the time to do their job properly.

I find it hard to believe that you or any other senator would consider $250,000 to be adequate compensation for what I have lost. Why are you rewarding those who are careless, and punishing those who are harmed?

Sincerely,

Kym Brown

S 33. MEDICAL LIABILITY REFORMS. Filed 2/2/11. TO REFORM THE LAWS RELATING TO MEDICAL LIABILITY BY PROVIDING LIMITED PROTECTION FROM LIABILITY TO THOSE PROVIDING EMERGENCY MEDICAL CARE, BY AUTHORIZING THE BIFURCATION OF TRIALS ON ISSUES OF LIABILITY AND DAMAGES IN CERTAIN ACTIONS, BY LIMITING THE AMOUNT OF NONECONOMIC DAMAGES THAT MAY BE AWARDED, BY AUTHORIZING THE PERIODIC PAYMENT OF FUTURE ECONOMIC DAMAGES IN LIEU OF A LUMP-SUM PAYMENT, AND BY MODIFYING APPEAL BONDS IN MEDICAL MALPRACTICE ACTIONS.

This act is effective October 1, 2011.

Amends GS 90-21.12(a) to clarify that in any medical malpractice action, the defendant health care provider is not liable for the payment of damages unless the trier of fact finds (was, is satisfied) by the greater weight of the evidence that the care provided by the health care provider was not in accordance with the standard of practice among members of the same health care profession with similar training and experience situated in the same or similar communities at the time of the alleged act giving rise to the cause of action. Adds new subsection (b) to provide an exception to any medical malpractice action that arises from providing emergency services as defined in GS 58-3-190(g)(2). Provides that in such an action regarding provision of emergency services, all of the criteria set out in subsection (a) for any medical malpractice action apply and in addition, the trier of fact must find by the greater weight of the evidence that the failure to meet the applicable standards of practice constituted gross negligence, wanton conduct, or intentional wrongdoing by the health care provider. Provides that nothing in subsection (b) is to be construed to change, alter, override, or otherwise affect the provisions of GS 90-21.14, 90-21.15, 90-21.16, or 20-166. Applies to causes of action arising on or after the effective date.

Amends GS 1A-1, Rule 42(b) to authorize the separation of trials on issues of liability and issues of damages when the medical malpractice action is begun under Article 1B of GS Chapter 90 and the plaintiff seeks $75,000 or more in damages. Requires the same trier of fact to try both the issues relating to liability and the issues relating to damages. Applies to actions commenced on or after the effective date.

Enacts new GS 90-21.19 to define and set liability limits for noneconomic damages. Enacts new GS 90-21.19A to allow the payment of future economic damages, defined as damages for future medical expenses, to be made periodically at regular intervals to the plaintiff. Provides additional governing criteria regarding a judgment authorizing periodic payments. Enacts GS 90-21.19B to require that any verdict or award of damages in any malpractice action is to specifically indicate the amount awarded for (1) noneconomic damages, (2) present economic damages, and (3) future economic damages. Applies to causes of action arising on or after the effective date.

Amends GS 1-289 to modify appeal bonds in a malpractice action, as defined in GS 90-21.11, to require that the appellant provide the lesser of the amount of the judgment or the amount of the appellant's medical malpractice insurance coverage that is applicable to the action in order to stay execution of the judgment. Makes additional conforming changes. Applies to judgments entered on or after the effective date.

S 33. MEDICAL LIABILITY REFORMS. Filed 2/2/11. Senate committee substitute makes the following changes to 1st edition.

Amends GS 90-21.12(a) to clarify that in any medical malpractice action, the defendant health care provider is not liable for the payment of damages unless the trier of fact finds by the greater weight of the evidence that the care provided by the health care provider was not in accordance with the standard of practice among members of the same health care profession with similar training and experience situated in the same or similar communities under the same or similar circumstances at the time of the alleged act or omission giving rise to the cause of action.

Clarifies that in any medical malpractice action arising from the furnishing or the failure to furnish services mandated under 42 USC Section 1395dd for an emergency medical condition as defined in 42 USC Section 1395dd(e)(1) (was, any medical malpractice action arising from providing emergency services as defined in GS 58-3-190(g)(2)), the defendant health care provider is not liable for damages unless the trier of fact finds by the greater weight of the evidence that the health care provider's deviation from the standard of care required under GS 90-21.12(a) (was, failed to meet the applicable standards of practice) constituted gross negligence, wanton conduct or intentional wrongdoing. Amends proposed GS 90-21.19 to limit the total liability for noneconomic damages for which judgment is entered against all defendants to no more than $500,000 (was, $250,000) per plaintiff. States that judgment will not be entered against any defendant for noneconomic damages in excess of $500,000 for all claims brought by all parties arising out of the same cause of action.

Amends the definition for future economic damages to include loss of future household services. Requires the finder of fact to specify what part of the amount awarded for future economic damages is awarded for loss of future earnings or loss of future household services. Permits the payment of future economic damages, to be made periodically at regular intervals to the plaintiff if the present value of the future economic damages is greater than or equal to $200,000 (was, $75,000). Permits the court that entered the original judgment to also modify the judgment to allow liability for future periodic payments compensating the plaintiff for loss of future household services (was, only for the loss of future earnings), to continue to be paid to the survivors to whom the plaintiff owed a duty of support under the law immediately prior to the plaintiff's death.

Amends proposed GS 90-21.19B to require that any verdict or award of damages in a medical malpractice action must also include the specific amount awarded for loss of future earnings and loss of future household services (was, only required specific amounts for noneconomic damages, present economic damages, and future economic damages).

Adds new section to amend GS 1A-1, Rule 9(j) to assert that any complaint alleging medical malpractice, as defined in GS 90-21.11, will be dismissed unless the pleading specifically asserts that the medical care and all medical records pertaining to the alleged injury have been reviewed by a person who is reasonably expected to qualify as an expert witness under Rule 702 of the Rules of Evidence and whom the plaintiff will seek to have qualified as an expert witness by motion under Rule 702(e) of the Rules of Evidence. Requires that the plaintiff provide an affidavit within 30 days from the expert witness certifying compliance with this subsection upon request from the defendant. Deletes language regarding proof of compliance with regard to interrogatories.

Adds new section to amend GS 1A-1, Rule 26(f1) to require that for each expert witness designated as such at the discovery conference, each witness must prepare and submit a written, signed report. Specifies material to be covered in the expert witness report and additional information to be submitted as to the expert witness qualifications.

All of the above provisions apply to causes of action arising on or after the effective date, October 1, 2011.

Amends GS 1-289 to provide that in an action where the judgment requires a monetary payment, the court is to specify the amount of the monetary payment required to stay the execution of the judgment while an appeal is pending as provided in subsections (a2) and (b) of GS 1-289. Deletes previous provision that the appellant in a medical malpractice action pay the lesser amount of the judgment or the appellant's medical malpractice coverage in order to stay the execution of the judgment while pursuing an appeal. Applies to actions commencing on or after the effective date, October 1, 2011.

Provides that if the provisions regarding setting liability limits for noneconomic damages (Section 3 of the act) are declared unconstitutional or otherwise invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction, following any appellate review, then proposed GS 90-21.19A, (periodic payment of future economic damages in medical malpractice actions), and proposed GS 90-21.19B, (verdicts and awards of damages in medical malpractice actions) are repealed but the invalidity does not affect the other provisions of the act.

Makes other technical changes. Makes additional conforming changes and amends the title to reflect changes to the bill content.

S 33. MEDICAL LIABILITY REFORMS. Filed 2/2/11. House committee substitute makes the following changes to 3rd edition.

Amends GS 1A-1, Rule 42(b), clarifying that the court must order separate trials for the issue of liability and the issue of damages, upon motion by any party in an action in tort (rather than a medical malpractice action) where the plaintiff seeks damages exceeding $150,000 (rather than an amount equal to or exceeding $75,000). Amends GS 1A-1, Rule 9(j), deleting the requirement that the plaintiff provide an affidavit from the expert witness to the defendant, and restores language requiring the plaintiff to show compliance with up to ten written interrogatories. Makes clarifying changes. Adds a section amending GS 8C-702(h), prohibiting a person from giving expert testimony in a medical malpractice action on the appropriate standard of care as to administrative or other nonclinical issues unless the person has substantial knowledge, as specified (strengthens current language). Adds a section amending GS 90-21.11 to clarify definitions for health care provider and medical malpractice action; applies to causes of action arising on or after October 1, 2011.

Amends GS 90-21.12, adding that a claimant must prove a violation of the standard of health care by clear and convincing evidence in any medical malpractice action arising out of the provision or failure to provide professional services in a hospital emergency room. Clarifies that, in the case of a medical malpractice action, the defendant health care provider will not be liable for the payment of damages unless the trier of fact finds by the greater weight of the evidence that the provider's action or inaction did not comply with the standards of practice among similar health care providers situated in the same or similar communities under the same or similar circumstances at the time of the alleged act (was, unless the trier of fact finds that the provider's deviation from the standard of care constituted gross negligence, wanton conduct, or intentional wrongdoing). Makes clarifying changes. Applies to causes of action arising on or after October 1, 2011.

Amends proposed GS 90-21.19, clarifying that the total amount of noneconomic damages for which judgment is entered against all defendants will not exceed $500,000 (was, will not exceed $500,000 per plaintiff). Deletes language prohibiting a judgment against any defendant in excess of $500,000 for all claims brought by all parties arising from the same cause of action. Makes organizational changes.

Adds a new section to enact new subsection (c) to GS 1-17, providing that an action for a minor with injuries allegedly resulting from malpractice will commence as detailed in GS 1-15(c), except as specified. Makes a conforming change. Applies to causes of action arising on or after October 1, 2011.

Deletes amendments to GS 1A-1, Rule 26(f1), which pertained to expert witnesses in medical malpractice discovery conferences.

Changes the bill title to AN ACT TO REFORM THE LAWS RELATING TO MONEY JUDGMENT APPEAL BONDS, BIFURCATION OF TRIALS IN CIVIL CASES, AND MEDICAL LIABILITY. Makes organizational changes.

S 33. MEDICAL LIABILITY REFORMS. Filed 2/2/11. House amendments make the following changes to 4th edition. Amendment #1 deletes GS 90-21.19A (allowing periodic payments rather than lump-sum payments of certain medical malpractice damages awards), and amends new GS 90-21.19B to require a verdict or award of damages in a medical malpractice case to specify what amount, if any, is awarded only for noneconomic damages (was, noneconomic damages, present economic damages, future economic damages, loss of future earnings, and loss of future household services). Amendment #2 changes the definition of noneconomic damages in GS 90-21.19(b)(2) by removing the reference in the 4th edition to damages for physical impairment and disfigurement, and by adding an exclusion for damages to compensate for scars or disfigurement, loss of use of a body part, permanent injury, or death. Amendment #3 changes amendment #2 by deleting its reference to "scars" in the definition of noneconomic damages. Amendment #5 amends GS 1A-1, Rule 42(b)(3), to add that the court may, for good cause shown, order a single trial for the issues of liability and damages in a tort action in which a plaintiff seeks in excess of $150,000.

S 33. MEDICAL LIABILITY REFORMS. Filed 2/2/11. Conference report recommends the following changes to 5th edition to reconcile matters in controversy. Amends Rule 9(j), clarifying that the pleading must assert specified information pertaining to the alleged negligence (was, alleged negligence and resulting injuries). Rewrites proposed GS 90-21.12(b) to provide that a claimant must prove a violation of the standards of practice set forth in subsection (a) of the statute by clear and convincing evidence in any medical malpractice action arising out of the furnishing or failure to furnish professional services in the treatment of an emergency medical condition, as defined (previously, services specifically in a hospital emergency room).

Amends proposed GS 90-21.19 to add additional language providing that judgment against any defendant for noneconomic damages is capped at $500,000 for all claims brought by all parties arising out of the same professional services. Provides that there is no limit on the amount of noneconomic damage for which judgment may be entered if the trier of fact finds that: (1) the plaintiff suffered disfigurement, loss of use of part of the body, permanent injury or death; and (2) the defendant's acts or failures, which caused the plaintiff's injuries, were committed in reckless disregard of the rights of others, grossly negligent, fraudulent, intentional, or with malice. Adds additional language to direct the Administrative Office of the Courts to inform the Revisor of Statutes of the reset limitation and directs the Revisor of Statutes to publish this reset limitation as an editor's note to the statute. Adds same professional services as a defined term in the statute.

Provides that if the provision of the act concerning the limit for noneconomic damages is declared to be unconstitutional or otherwise invalid, then the provision of the act concerning verdicts or awards specifying what amount is awarded for noneconomic damages, is repealed (previously also provided for the repeal of provision concerning actions commenced by persons on behalf of minors).

How Do Physician Premiums Compare In North Carolina?

IN 2010, THE AVERAGE MALPRACTICE PREMIUM IN NORTH CAROLINA WAS 15 PERCENT LOWER THAN THE AVERAGE MALPRACTICE PREMIUM IN STATES WITH CAPS.

Derived from data provided by Medical Liability Monitor (October 2010) A state's average premium is calculated as the unweighted mean value of premiums for all companies for which data is provided across all regions. A state is classified as having a cap when the state has enacted either a general non-economic damage cap that affects medical malpractice cases or a medical malpractice specific cap on non-economic and/or compensatory damages. Caps that affect one area of medical malpractice (e.g. just wrongful death cases) or punitive damage caps are not counted since these represent a small number of cases.

SB 33: AN ATTACK ON VULNERABLE PATIENTS

North Carolina legislators have introduced Senate Bill 33, a "malpractice reform" bill – the insurance industry's term for denying injured patients access to the courts. Lawmakers need to focus on improving patient safety, not limiting the rights of injured patients.

What would Senate Bill 33 do?

- In medical malpractice cases, the bill sets an arbitrary cap of $250,000 on damages for disfigurement, mutilation, loss of limb, paralysis, pain, suffering and death.

- The arbitrary cap on damages would be devastating for children, homemakers, and the elderly, who have limited economic damages. In most of these cases the person injured by malpractice would be unable to pursue a claim, and those who carelessly caused the injury would escape all responsibility.

- According to former Chief Justice I. Beverly Lake, Jr., "the proposed cap on noneconomic damages is unconstitutional" because it violates the right to a jury trial, guaranteed by the North Carolina Constitution. The bill provides that in any case where a jury awards an injured patient more than $250,000 in "noneconomic damages," the judge will overrule the jury, void its judgment, and reduce the verdict to the amount decided by politicians in Raleigh.

- The bill would create total immunity for negligent care in hospital emergency rooms. Susan Pierce, R.N., Ph.D., who taught for decades at the UNC School of Nursing, commented: "I cannot understand why legislators would seek to nullify the duty of doctors and nurses to meet professionally established standards of care. That undermines medical and nursing ethics, and puts patients in danger." The bill provides complete immunity for malpractice in the ER.

Consider the facts:

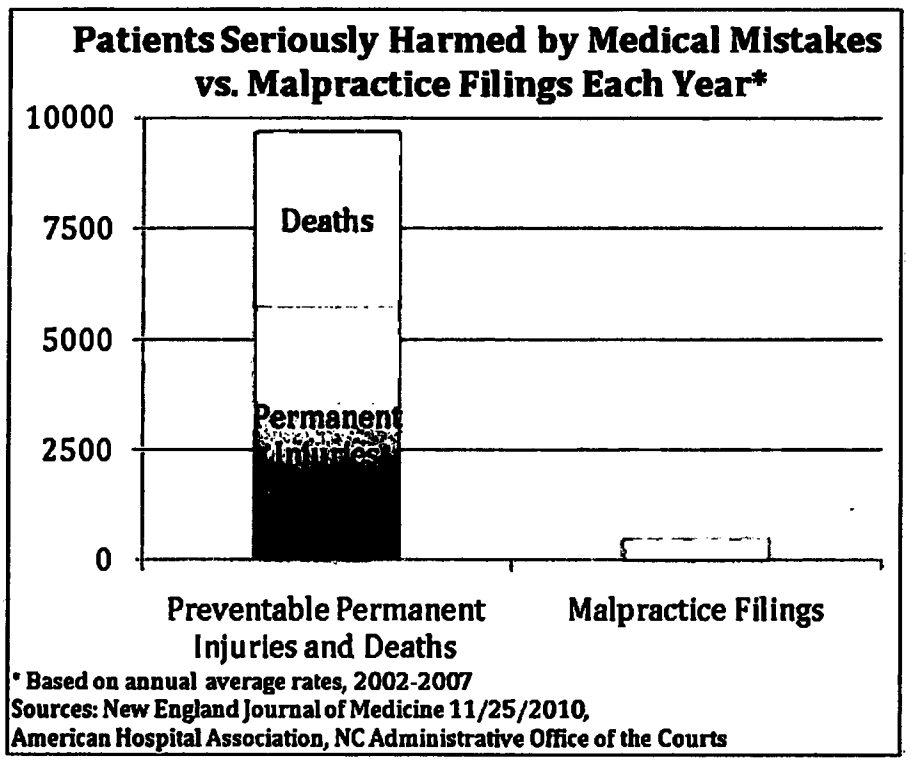
- A recent article in the New England Journal of Medicine indicates that 4,000 patients die and 5,700 patients are permanently injured in North Carolina hospitals every year because of preventable medical mistakes.

- The number of medical malpractice lawsuits filed in North Carolina has decreased. In 2007-2009, the annual average of malpractice filings was 465 – 22.5% lower than the annual average in the preceding nine years.

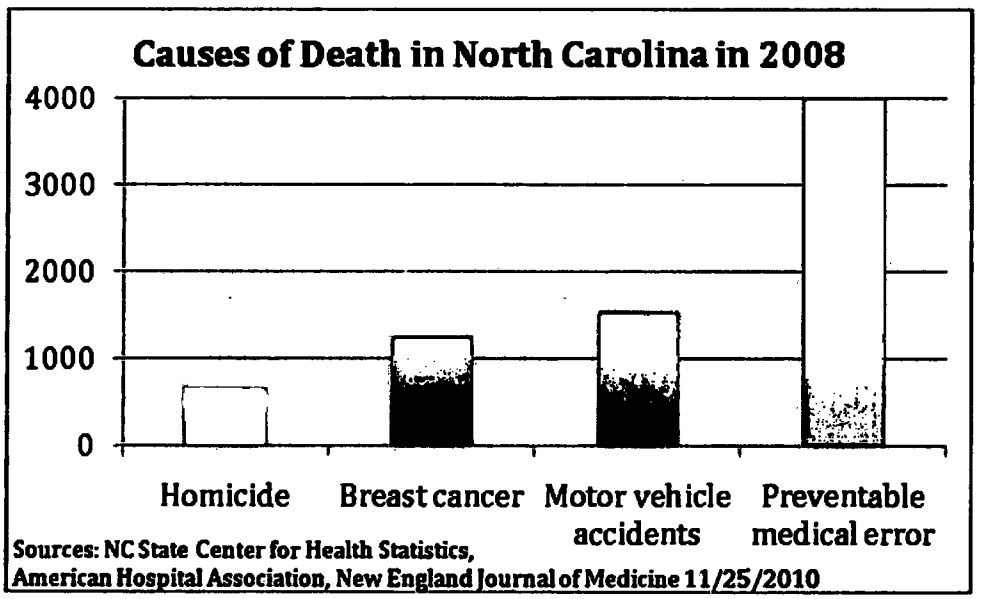
- The annual number of malpractice lawsuits (465) is less than 5% of the 9,700 patients killed or permanently injured every year because of medical malpractice. In other words, only 1 in 20 patients who are severely harmed by a preventable medical mistake files suit.

- While the number of malpractice lawsuits has been dropping, the number of doctors in North Carolina has increased. Between 1998 and 2008, the total population in North Carolina grew by 18%, while the physician population increased by 29%.

- North Carolina juries are reasonable in awarding damages. In the 54 malpractice cases in which the plaintiff won at trial and obtained a verdict on damages from 1998-2009, the median jury award was only $320,000.



- Medical malpractice premiums for North Carolina doctors have decreased, while the malpractice insurance companies have made record profits.



We need to focus on patient safety, not limiting the rights of injured patients.

PATIENT SAFETY COALITION CALLS PROPOSED IMMUNITY FOR SUBSTANDARD CARE "A GREEN LIGHT TO COMMIT MALPRACTICE"

GROUP CALLS ON SENATORS APODACA, BROWN AND RUCHO TO ABANDON BILL THAT "PUTS PATIENTS IN DANGER"

(RALEIGH) -- Feb. 14, 2011 -- Laurie Sanders, Executive Director of the North Carolina Coalition for Patient Safety (NC-CPS), today described Senate Bill 33 as "a direct assault on patient safety."

In 2006, Mrs. Sanders' 6-year old son Christopher died because of medical malpractice in an emergency department in a Charlotte hospital. If Senate Bill 33 -- sponsored by Senators Tom Apodaca, Harry Brown and Bob Rucho – passes it will give immunity to ER doctors and hospitals when they commit malpractice.

Mrs. Sanders explained the consequences: "When we bring our child to the emergency room, we have a right to expect that those who provide treatment comply with the standards of their profession. This bill destroys that right. Doctors and nurses in the ER will no longer have a legal duty to comply with their own professional standards. The bill gives every doctor and nurse a green light to commit malpractice in the ER."

Dr. John Faulkner, a family physician from Raleigh, chairs the board of NC-CPS. In 2002, his wife Joan was severely burned in an operating room fire. Dr. Faulkner said: "Every year, thousands of patients are severely injured or killed in North Carolina hospitals because of preventable medical mistakes. This bill will not encourage physicians to practice safer medicine, or reduce the number of medical errors. It will have precisely the opposite effect."

Susan Pierce, R.N., Ph.D., who taught for decades at the UNC School of Nursing, is also a member of the NC-CPS board of directors. Dr. Pierce stated: "I cannot understand why legislators would seek to nullify the duty of doctors and nurses to meet professionally established standards of care. That undermines medical and nursing ethics, and puts patients in danger."

Mrs. Sanders intends to speak against SB 33 at a meeting of the Senate J-1 Committee, chaired by Sen. Pete Brunstetter, on Thursday, February 17 at 10:00 a.m.

NC-CPS is dedicated to improving patient safety. Members of the board of directors include three physicians, two nurses, and two mothers of children severely injured by medical mistakes.

Tragic insight into 'malpractice reform'

By Laurie Sanders
Special to The Observer
Posted: Thursday, Oct. 01, 2009

Medical negligence isn't a topic I gave much thought to until my 6-year-old son went to the hospital sick for the first time in his life and died of oxygen deprivation. A happy little boy, with no history of breathing problems, no allergies ... never sick. Christopher was my only son. His daddy, my husband, had died of cancer a few years earlier.

In experiencing the death of my husband and son, I have seen the best medical professionals and the worst. I have seen the most caring, and the least.

buried my husband knowing that medical professionals did everything they could. I buried my son knowing that medical professionals failed him at the most basic level.

Acting without due care

In my attempt to uncover the truth about what happened to Christopher, I took legal action.

I was represented by wonderful and caring attorneys. Throughout 18 months of litigation and over 40 depositions, I saw medical professionals who - resisting pressure from their colleagues - had the courage to testify that the care provided to Christopher fell far short of the minimum standard of care. I also saw medical professionals lie under oath, and doctors and lawyers who seemed to have no qualms about defending the indefensible.

Through my medical and legal experiences, I learned the meaning of negligence ... a failure to act with due care. I am now concerned with political negligence - legislators failing to act with due care.

How big is 'defensive medicine'?

Lobbyists for the medical and insurance industries tout "malpractice reform" as an essential part of a health care bill. When they talk about "malpractice reform," they do not mean taking steps to reduce medical malpractice. Instead the reforms they seek would prevent injured tients and their families from discovering the truth and seeking redress in the courts.

Our congressional representatives need to look behind the "malpractice reform" propaganda, and consider the facts.

We are told that doctors will stop ordering unnecessary tests and procedures if they are freed of the threat of malpractice lawsuits. Both the Government Accounting Office and the Congressional Budget Office have issued reports questioning the pervasiveness of "defensive medicine" and concluding that meddling with the legal system will have a minimal effect on health care costs. When doctors and hospitals have an economic incentive to order additional tests and procedures, we should be skeptical of their claims that they were motivated by the fear of being sued.

One of the lessons of Christopher's unnecessary death - and my necessary lawsuit - is not that health care providers need to engage in cost-inflating "defensive medicine." Instead, it is that doctors and nurses must pay attention, communicate with their colleagues and adhere to well-recognized standards of practice.

Barriers to suits already high

In North Carolina, patients have no incentive or opportunity to file a "frivolous" malpractice suit. Since 1997, N.C. law has provided that a patient cannot file a medical malpractice case unless a qualified expert has agreed to testify that the case has merit. Malpractice cases are costly to pursue, requiring the patient's lawyer to incur at least $50,000 in litigation expenses and often (as in my case) many times that amount. Juries in North Carolina are conservative, and overwhelmingly favor the health care provider.

With so many legal and economic barriers facing patients and their families, the number of malpractice suits filed in North Carolina has steadily declined, and last year dropped to the west level since the courts began gathering data in 1998. At the same time, the number of octors in North Carolina continues to increase, and the rate of growth in the physician population far outpaces the growth in our total population.

Every year, tens of thousands of patients die because of medical errors. To improve patient safety, doctors and hospitals must be accountable for their negligence. Enacting legislation that erodes patients' access to the courts will diminish the quality of care without reducing medical costs.

Laurie Sanders and her daughter live in Charlotte. She settled her case in 2007; the terms are confidential.

Harmed in the hospital

By James Bryan and Burton Craige

In 1999, the Institute of Medicine reported that medical errors in American hospitals cause up to 98,000 deaths and more than 1 million injuries each year. In response to the institute's report, hospitals in North Carolina and around the country announced initiatives to improve patient safety.

POINT OF VIEW

A recent article in The New England Journal of Medicine assessed the efficacy of these initiatives. Looking exclusively at hospitals in North Carolina, the article reported a shockingly high rate of preventable injuries to patients, and little or no improvement over time.

Year in, year out, medical mistakes in hospitals kill more North Carolinians than the combined toll of automobile accidents, breast cancer, manslaughter and murder. While we enact laws and mount public education campaigns to reduce the risk of auto accidents, invest millions to find a cure for cancer and mobilize the power of the state to prevent and punish violent crimes, little has been done to reduce the deadly toll of preventable medical errors.

Researchers from Harvard Medical School and the Institute for Healthcare Improvement analyzed a random sample of admissions at 10 randomly selected North Carolina hospitals from 2002 through 2007. A trained team identified suspected medically induced harms, which were then evaluated by independent physician reviewers.

The results were sobering:

- Patients admitted to a North Carolina hospital had a 1 in 5 chance of being harmed by the medical care they received.
- 13.8 percent of the medically induced harms were extremely severe, causing a permanent or life-threatening injury, or death.
- Most (63.1 percent) of the injuries were preventable.

Over the six years of the study, the researchers found no reduction in the rate of severe injuries.

In the sample of 2,341 patient records, the reviewers identified 14 cases in which the medical care caused or contributed to the patient's death and classified nine of those deaths as preventable. In addition, the reviewers identified 13 cases in which the patient suffered a preventable permanent injury.

These data confirm the staggering toll of medical errors in North Carolina hospitals. The American Hospital Association reports 1,041,918 admissions to nonfederal community hospitals in North Carolina in 2008. Based on the preventable death rate and preventable permanent injury rate in the New England Journal article, approximately 4,000 patients die and 5,700 patients are permanently injured every year in North Carolina hospitals because of preventable medical errors.

Proven safety measures, as noted in the article, will save lives:

Many preventable injuries in hospitals are caused by a lack of communication among the patient's multiple health care providers, who continue to depend on hand-written notes and orders, placed in a bulky physical chart. Despite the proven efficacy of electronic record keeping in improving communication and reducing mistakes, less than 10 percent of hospitals have even basic electronic record keeping in place.

In a short-sighted effort to cut costs, hospitals have slashed their nursing staffs to the bone. As the Journal article notes, medical residents and nurses routinely work hours in excess of those proven to be safe. Hospitals must stop short-staffing and end the practice of relying on marathon shifts by exhausted doctors and nurses.

The rate of hospital-caused infections remains high for reasons that are unacceptable. Compliance with simple interventions such as hand washing is poor in many centers.

While thousands die because of medical errors, some hospitals – and their insurance carriers – want to change the law and limit the rights of injured patients to take legal action. That effort is profoundly misguided. Relieving hospitals of responsibility for their mistakes will only increase the risk of harm to patients.

Hospitals will not solve these problems on their own. Improving patient safety requires a concerted campaign. With so many lives at stake, it is high time for health care providers, accreditation agencies and patient advocates to join forces to reduce the number of medical errors.

Re: Senate Bill 33

Dear Senator Brunstetter:

I understand that the Senate Judiciary I Committee will soon be considering Senate Bill 33, which would implement several medical liability reforms. In my opinion, the proposed cap on noneconomic damages is unconstitutional.

I served on the North Carolina Supreme Court for 12 years, and was Chief Justice from 2000 to 2006. I previously served as a Superior Court Judge for six years, was a State Senator for two terms, and was Deputy Attorney General for seven years. Throughout my legal career, which has spanned over 50 years, I have sought to uphold the North Carolina Constitution, the foundation of our laws.

For over 200 years, the North Carolina Constitution has provided that, in "all controversies at law respecting property, the ancient mode of trial by jury is one of the best securities of the rights of the people, and shall remain sacred and inviolable." N.C. Const., art. I, § 25. The North Carolina Supreme Court has long recognized that compensatory damages, including damages for "mental and physical pain," is a form of "property" protected by the constitutional right to trial by jury.

In Osborn v. Leach, 135 N.C. 628, 47 S.E. 811 (1904), the Court determined that a libel law was constitutional, even though it abolished a plaintiff's right to recover punitive damages. Id. at 632-33, 47 S.E. at 813. The Court noted, however, that if the law had restricted the recovery of actual or compensatory damages, it would have been unconstitutional. In drawing this distinction, the Court stated: "The right to have punitive damages assessed is . . . not property. The right to recover actual or compensatory damages is property." Id. at 633, 47 S.E. at 813 (emphasis in original). The Court elaborated:

> The plaintiff is entitled to recover compensation for mental and physical pain and injury to reputation. These are actual damages, and these are property. 'The right to recover damages for an injury is a species of property and vests in the injured party immediately on the commission of the wrong. . . . Being property, it is protected by the ordinary constitutional guarantees.' . . . It cannot be extinguished except by act of the parties or by operation of the statute of limitation.

When I served as Chief Justice, a unanimous Court expressly reaffirmed this principle in Rhyne v. K-Mart Corp., 358 N.C. 160, 594 S.E.2d 1 (2004). We stated that compensatory damages "represent a type of property interest vesting in plaintiffs," while punitive damages are not a vested property interest. Id. at 176, 594 S.E.2d at 12.

The clear import of Osborn and Rhyne is that Section 3 of SB 33 is unconstitutional. North Carolina citizens have a "sacred and inviolable" right to have a jury determine the amount of compensatory damages, including noneconomic damages, under our Constitution. The right to have a jury make that decision cannot be eliminated or restricted by the General Assembly.

The Georgia Supreme Court recently reached the same conclusion, striking down a similar law in Atlanta Oculoplastic Surgery, P.C. v. Nestlehutt, 691 S.E.2d 218 (Ga. 2010). In 2005, the Georgia legislature enacted a $350,000 cap on noneconomic damages in medical malpractice cases. Georgia's state constitution protects the right to a jury trial, as does ours, stating "[t]he right to trial by jury shall remain inviolate." Ga. Const. of 1983, Art. I, Sec. I, Par. XI (a). Because the determination of damages has always been the jury's province, and noneconomic damages have always been a component of compensatory damages, the damages cap unconstitutionally infringed on the right to a jury trial. Id. at 223. The Court concluded: "The very existence of the caps, in any amount, is violative of the right to trial by jury." Id.

Finally, the cap on noneconomic damages is unnecessary as well as unconstitutional. As a Superior Court Judge, I presided over many civil jury trials. If a verdict is excessive, the trial judge has the well-established power and duty to offer the plaintiff the choice between a remittitur (decreased damages award) and a new trial. The trial judge, unlike the legislature, has actually heard the evidence and can make a sound judgment about whether the verdict is excessive. In doing so, the judge operates within the Constitution; instead of imposing his own view of the proper amount of the verdict, he must instead give the plaintiff the choice of a reduced verdict or a new trial.

The legislature has the responsibility to enact laws that are constitutional. With that duty in mind, I hope that your committee will remove Section 3 from SB 33.

Thank you for your consideration.

With kindest personal regards, I am, cordially,

I. Beverly Lake

RE: The Unconstitutionality of Senate Bill 33

Dear Senator Brunstetter:

After receiving a copy of Chief Justice I. Beverly Lake's well-written letter, I thought it proper and necessary for me to submit a letter to you as well indicating both my approval of Chief Justice Lake's analysis and my belief that Senate Bill 33 as currently written is unconstitutional as to the proposed cap on noneconomic damages.

I was the authoring justice for a unanimous Supreme Court in Rhyne v. K-Mart Corp., 358 N.C. 160, 176, 594 S.E.2d, 1, 12 (2004). In Rhyne, the Court reaffirmed the principle from Osborn v. Leach, 135 N.C. 628, 47 S.E.2d 811 (1904), that compensatory damages, including noneconomic damages in tort claims, are a property right. Accordingly, those rights cannot be deprived without due process of law, U.S. Const. Amend. 14 and N.C. Const. Art. I, § 19, and additionally, they are the type of claims that the Constitution of North Carolina gives our citizens the right to have a jury decision as to amount. N.C. Const. Art. I, § 25.

It has always been the case in a civilization which is based upon ordered liberty that a person wronged by the actions of another would be able to recover damages so as to make that person whole. In the Old Testament book of Exodus (written in the 15th Century B.C.), Moses detailed how if a man opened a pit and another's animal fell into the pit and died, restitution was to be made. See Exodus 21:33-34. Even the famous Old Testament maxim, "an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth," see Leviticus 24:19-20, was a statement concerning the damages one may receive from another because of a wrong done. These principles were imported into the formation of medical malpractice actions in England over 400 years before the birth of our country, when a court there articulated the availability of a claim in negligence against a physician. See C. Joseph Stetler, The History of Reported Medical Professional Liability Cases, 30 Temp. L. Q. 366, 367 (1957). The common law of England, which in many cases has its roots in the Biblical law, was the foundation of the law in this country. This was recognized by our Founding Fathers in the Seventh Amendment to the United States Constitution, which states: "In Suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury, shall be otherwise re-examined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law." Moreover, the drafters of the Constitution of North Carolina understood the importance of a full remedy at law and thus provided "All courts shall be open; every person for an injury done him in his lands, goods, person, or reputation shall have remedy by due course of law; and right and justice shall be administered without favor, denial, or delay." N.C. Const. Art. I, §18. In interpreting this section, it cannot be forgotten that the common law itself was incorporated specifically into the law of North Carolina. See N.C.G.S. § 4-1 (2009).

The right to a trial by a jury of one's peers was one of the explicitly mentioned reasons for declaring independence from England, as the King had made it a practice of "depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury." Declaration of Independence, ¶ 20 (1776). The drafters of the Constitution of North Carolina provided that, "In all controversies at law respecting property, the ancient mode of trial by jury is one of the best securities of the rights of the people, and shall remain sacred and inviolable." N.C. Const., Art. I, § 25. Senate Bill 33 threatens that very right called "one of the best securities of the rights of the people." There are many options open to the legislature to address any perceived issues in the field of medical malpractice law. Depriving the citizens of the Old North State their "sacred and inviolable" constitutional right to a civil jury trial is not one of them.

In conclusion, I ask you to remember the importance of the right to a civil jury and the right our citizens have to full compensation when they have been injured through the negligent acts of another. We all have a duty to uphold the Constitution, and it is on this basis that I ask you to oppose Senate Bill 33.

With warm regards, I remain

Sincerely,

Edward Thomas Brady

JOSEPH THOMAS KNOTT, III

February 10, 2011

The Honorable Phil Berger
2008 Legislative Building
Raleigh, North Carolina 27601

Dear President Pro Tempore Berger,

I write as a friend. I am a long-time Republican. I am a conservative. No one is more in favor of limited government, regulation repeal, lower taxes and economic growth than I am. I was the Republican candidate for Attorney General in 2004. I am thankful that you and others now form a conservative majority in our legislature. I thank you for running and for your service to the people of our state.

As for a personal introduction, I have been active in my church and other Christian Bible teaching organizations for my entire adult life. The values and morals that have made western civilization in general-and the USA in particular -the light to the rest of the world are priceless to me and above politics, as they are to you too.

I am also a lawyer, which I consider to be a privilege and a high calling. I have practiced law in NC for over thirty years, including four years as an Assistant US Attorney in Raleigh during President Reagan's administration. I am a member of a small firm in Raleigh and view the law itself as a gift from God.

In that spirit, I am writing respectfully to ask you to oppose Senate Bill 33. That bill, as I understand it, does two things. It immunizes emergency room physicians from liability for negligence, and it places a two hundred and fifty thousand dollar limit on non-economic damages (pain, suffering, disfigurement, permanent injury, etc.). In my opinion, both those actions would be a terrible error and would further undermine the moral base that forms the foundation of our society.

We are talking about the tort law. The tort law says that if one citizen is negligent, meaning he violates his duty of reasonable care toward others, and if that unreasonable action injures someone, he is responsible for the injury his negligence causes. This is simple law, but it has deep roots. It comes from the English common law, which in turn came from the Bible. It has been the law in NC since we were a .colony of Great Britain.

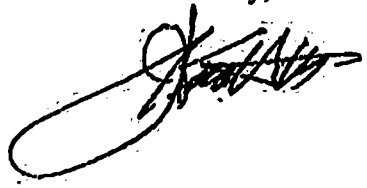
Senate Bill 33 makes negligent medical care in the ER acceptable practice. Suppose a high school football player has a head injury and is rushed to the ER where he is treated negligently. Mere reasonable care would have him back in school the next morning with no injury; but unreasonable care renders him brain damaged and retarded for life. Senate Bill 33 says there is no remedy for him or his parents. The law should not take the side of the wrongdoer, the person who violates his duty of reasonable care. The law is to protect the innocent against the wrongdoer; not the other way around.

The bill also imposes a two hundred fifty thousand dollar cap on non-economic damages. This violates the right to a jury trial. A jury trial is reduced to a show trial when the outcome is determined before the trial starts.

The NC Constitution guarantees a citizen's right to have his case decided by a jury. The guarantee is in the Constitution for good reason-wrongdoers hate the jury system and have always fought 10 eliminate it. The nobles in England thought it was outrageous that they would have to appear before mere citizens to answer for their actions. Nothing has changed. Some doctors and their insurance companies don't like it now.

Suppose a homemaker is blinded by negligence. She has no economic loss because she is a homemaker. How can a legislature decide what is fair compensation for what has been taken from her without hearing any evidence? Or consider a retired man who loses both arms and legs due to malpractice. He has no lost income, but something of great value that God gave him has, been taken away.

When a specific negligent act can be identified as the cause of those injuries, why would a legislature want to protect and shield the negligent party at the expense of the innocent? How can a legislature presume one level of compensation fits all serious injuries without hearing any evidence?



The NC Constitution, foreseeing challenges just like this, guarantees that juries, the lay citizens of the state, decide the value of a citizen's life or limb-not the government. Wrongdoers have always hated and feared the jury and they still do. This is an attempt by insurance companies to keep the form of the jury, but to empty it of its power and purpose.

Senate Bill 33 is not a conservative bill. It is an attempt to expand government control into an area reserved for the jury by the Constitution. It will deprive an injured citizen his right to have his peers hear, decide and value his case. When governments start deciding what a citizens' life is worth, we will have crossed a line that no conservative wants crossed.

And finally do not be misled. There is no medical malpractice crisis in NC. There have been only fifty-seven medical malpractice verdicts for plaintiffs in the last twelve years in the entire state.

Thank you again for your willingness to serve. I respectfully request you vote against Senate Bill 33.

Yours truly,

Joe Knott

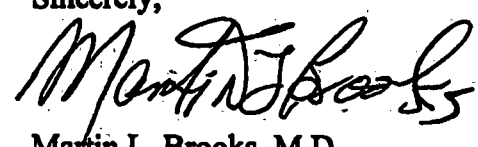
Re: Senate Bill 33

Dear Senator Brunstetter:

I am a physician who has practiced medicine in North Carolina for the past 55 years. In 2006 I was awarded the Order of the Long Leaf Pine by the Governor of North Carolina for my service to the people in my community. I currently serve on the Board of Trustees of Southeastern Regional Medical Center in Lumberton along with Senator Michael Walters. I have dedicated the majority of my life to helping patients in my medical practice and trying to improve patient care through my work as a member of the Board of Trustees at Southeastern Medical Center.

I have carefully reviewed Senate Bill 33. I am writing to let you and the rest of the Senate know that I oppose this legislation. The bill will reduce the quality of medical care given to the people of North Carolina including your constituents in Forsyth County. Providing immunity to doctors, nurses, and physician assistants in emergency departments for negligent treatment of patients will reduce the quality of care provided in emergency departments and cause more injuries and deaths to patients who come there for treatment. These patients deserve the same quality of care as any other patients in a hospital or medical office. Those who provide care and treatment must be held accountable for the preventable injuries and deaths that are caused by their failure to meet well established standards of practice.



Likewise, arbitrarily limiting the amount that an injured patient can recover for non-economic damages to $250,000 without any consideration of the nature, extent and permanency of their injuries is just plain wrong. Every person's injuries are different. The amount of compensation they should receive as a result of medical mistakes should be based on the particular facts of each case and decided by a jury, not arbitrarily set by the legislature.

You and the other senators need to understand that medical malpractice is a serious problem in North Carolina. If you have not done so already, please read the November 2010 special article in the New England Journal of Medicine entitled Temporal Trends in Rates of Patient Harm Resulting from Medical Care. This study focuses on the preventable medical errors that occurred in ten North Carolina hospitals from January 2002 to December 2007. The number of preventable serious injuries and deaths documented in the article is staggering. Senate Bill 33 will increase these already alarming numbers of preventable injuries and deaths.

You and the other senators were elected to enact legislation to promote the health and welfare of the citizens of our state. If Senate Bill 33 becomes the law in this state, then you and others who voted for the passage of this bill will have reduced the quality of patient care in this state and have failed the people of this great state.

Best regards.

Sincerely,

Martin L. Brooks, M.D

North Carolina State Senate

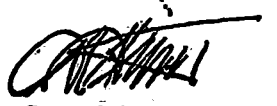
Room 526
Raleigh, NC 27603-5925

Dear Senator Clodfelter:

As you can see from the letterhead, I am an attorney in Charlotte, North Carolina. I defend doctors and hospitals in medical malpractice cases, and have since 1979. I represent every major medical malpractice insurance carrier, with the exception of one, that writes business in North Carolina, plus the two major hospital systems in Charlotte, North Carolina. I) medical malpractice defense work, exclusively.

I have read the proposed Senate Bill 33, calling for caps on verdicts, and otherwise limiting recoveries to the Plaintiff in medical malpractice cases. While it may appear antithetic that a defense attorney would oppose this tort reform bill, I believe that a poll of medical malpractice defense lawyers would support my proposition to you, that tort reform is not necessary in North Carolina.



I believe that the fraternity of medical malpractice defense attorneys in North Carolina is an immensely talented group of attorneys. We are the State's own tort reform system. A study was commissioned by Plaintiff's attorneys, the insurance industry, and defense attorneys some several years ago. It was determined by all that there is no "medical malpractice crisis" in North Carolina. The number of Plaintiff's verdicts is minimal. The amount of recovery is minimal. I believe that the numbers reflect that some nine out of ten cases that go to trial are won by the Defendant.

I have tried cases in Virginia, as well as North Carolina. Virginia has "tort reform." There are caps imposed on verdicts there. Having worked in both states, I can tell you that North Carolina, unquestionably, has a better system; a system that affords every individual citizen unfettered access to the courts, but generally guarantees a just result. Having done this for thirty-one years, I can tell you that the system is not broken. And, as a good Southern boy, I do believe in the old axiom, "if it ain't broke, don't fix it." Quite simply, our system is not broken, and any attempts to meddle with the current system, I firmly believe will work to the detriment of all North Carolina citizens.

I am more than happy to discuss this issue with you, as one of your constituents.

Thank you for your attention to this.

Very truly yours,

Scott M. Stevenson

ANALYSIS OF SENATE BILL 33 – MEDICAL LIABILITY REFORMS

Senate Bill 33 radically limits the rights of patients injured by medical mistakes, and reduces incentives for patient safety. The bill 1) provides immunity for negligence in the emergency room, 2) limits the authority of trial judges to efficiently manage malpractice trials, 3) establishes an artificial cap of $250,000 for damages for pain, suffering, disfigurement and death, and 4) deprives injured patients of their vested property right to a jury award of damages for future medical expenses.

Section 1: Immunity for negligence in the emergency room

Section 1 provides that in any malpractice claim arising out of the provision of services in a hospital emergency department, the health care provider is not liable unless the trier of fact "finds by clear and convincing evidence that the health care provider's deviation from the standard of care required under G.S. 90-21.12 constituted gross negligence, wanton conduct or intentional wrongdoing."

This provision provides complete immunity for negligence in the ER. The only way for an injured patient to overcome the immunity is to prove "by clear and convincing evidence" – a higher standard than the "preponderance of the evidence" under current law – that the doctor or nurse committed "gross negligence." No injured patient will be able to satisfy that burden of proof. The ER immunity provision nullifies the fundamental legal and ethical requirement that doctors and nurses comply with their professional standards.

Section 2: Mandatory bifurcation of malpractice trials

Under current Rule 42(b) of the Rules of Civil Procedure, the trial judge has the authority to order separate trials on any issue "in furtherance of convenience or to avoid prejudice" to any party. Section 2 strips the judge of the power to make that discretionary decision in medical malpractice cases in which the plaintiff seeks $75,000 or more. Instead the judge will be required to order separate trials, before the same jury, for the issues of liability and damages. The judge will no longer be able to weigh the factors of efficiency and possible prejudice in determining whether a single or bifurcated trial would be appropriate.

p 800-688-1413 fx (919) 832-6361 ncaj.com

In many medical malpractice cases, the issues of causation and damages are inextricably entwined. Requiring bifurcation of liability (i.e., negligence and proximate cause) and damages in those cases will create major problems for the management of the trial. If, as often occurs, an expert witness has opinions on both causation and damages, the parties will have the added cost and inefficiency of bringing the expert to trial a second time.

Section 3: $250,000 cap for damages for pain, suffering, physical impairment, disfigurement and death

Section 3 establishes an arbitrary cap of $250,000 for "noneconomic" damages in medical malpractice cases. Noneconomic damages are defined as damages for "pain, suffering, emotional distress, loss of consortium, inconvenience, physical impairment, disfigurement, and any other nonpecuniary compensatory damages." The cap appears to cover all noneconomic damages listed in the Wrongful Death Act, G.S. 28A-18-2, including "pain and suffering of the decedent," and the intangible losses associated with the death of a family member.

Under the proposed statute, the judge shall not instruct the jury about the cap on noneconomic damages. If the jury awards more than $250,000 in noneconomic damages, the judge is required to reduce the award to the statutory maximum.

As former Chief Justice Lake explained in his letter dated February 9, 2011, "the proposed cap on noneconomic damages is unconstitutional." It violates Article I, Section 25 of the North Carolina Constitution: "In all controversies at law respecting property, the ancient mode of trial by jury is one of the best securities of the rights of the people, and shall remain sacred and inviolable." For more than 100 years, the North Carolina Supreme Court has recognized that a jury's award of compensatory damages, including damages for "mental and physical pain," is a vested property right, protected by the constitutional right to trial by jury. Rhyne v. K-Mart, 358 N.C. 160, 176, 594 S.E.2d 1, 12 (2004); Osborn v. Leach, 135 N.C. 628, 632-33, 47 S.E. 811, 813 (1904).

Section 4: Periodic payments of future damages

Section 4 provides for the periodic payment of all future economic damages in medical malpractice actions. If the jury awards future economic damages of $75,000 or more, a party may demand entry of an order requiring that those damages be paid by future periodic payments instead of a lump sum, as under current law. The bill requires that those payments be made through the establishment of a trust fund or the purchase of an annuity for the life of the plaintiff.

The most offensive feature of this section is subsection (e) of proposed new G.S. 90-21.19A, which provides, with limited exceptions, that "the death of the plaintiff terminates liability for future economic payments." This is an extraordinary government handout to the insurance company of the party whose negligence caused the injury. Note that the alteration of the jury's award, based on a change in the plaintiff's circumstances, goes in only one direction,. There is no requirement that the insurance company add to the award if, years after the entry of judgment, the plaintiff's condition deteriorates, requiring more expensive care.

This one-way "adjustment" of the jury's award is not only unfair; it is also unconstitutional. Under Article I, Section 25 of the North Carolina Constitution, the plaintiff has a vested property right in the jury's award of compensatory damages. See discussion of Section 3, above. Once the jury makes its determination of the present value of the plaintiff's future economic damages, the plaintiff has a vested right in the award that, under our Constitution, "cannot be extinguished." Osborn, 135 N.C. at 633, 47 S.E. at 813.

Senator Bob Rucho

Dear Senator Rucho:

I am the mother of Liam Patton. My son will be two years old next month. I work as a Physician's Assistant in a medical practice. One night last August, Liam fell at home, face first, with a toothbrush in his mouth. When I pulled the toothbrush out of his mouth it had bloody tissue on the end of it. Liam's pediatrician told me to take him to the emergency department, so I did. Despite my concerns, the ER doctor gave him only a very cursory exam, did not order a single test or study, and when I offered to show her the toothbrush she was dismissive and said it was not necessary. My son was then sent home with a diagnosis of an abrasion.

Less than 12 hours later, I noticed the left side of his face was drooping, he could not stand, and he would not use the left side of his body. I rushed Liam back to the same emergency department, where this time he was seen by a different doctor who ordered tests and studies. The CT scans showed that the toothbrush had damaged his carotid artery and that he had a stroke because the damage from the toothbrush eventually caused that artery to his brain to become blocked.

As a result of the emergency doctor's negligence, my 16 month old son suffered a severe stroke; one like the kind that people in their 70's sometimes have. He has had seizures, paralysis on his left side, speech and feeding problems. My baby, who had been completely normal and healthy, was recently diagnosed by his neurologist as having 'hemiplegic cerebral palsy' and 'oral motor dysfunction'.

Instead of days spent learning and playing like a normal baby, my son's life is dominated by intense rehabilitation and therapies of all kinds. I've had to take a leave of absence from my job, and we work hard with the hope that he will get better. This never should have happened to my baby boy, but now that it has, I believe he deserves to be treated fairly.

I know there is a bill in the Senate that would take away altogether my son's right to obtain justice for this terrible wrong. Please consider whether you think this bill would be fair to my son and others like him, before you chose to support and vote for it.

Sincerely,

Renee Hazelton

Her brother and sister adore her, but Macy will never be able to run through a field in the summer or slide through the snow with her siblings. Macy's parents tell her they love her, but Macy will never be able to repeat those words.

Macy was born healthy, but like more than 60 percent of infants, she had jaundice, a condition that occurs when a newborn baby's liver is not yet fully functional. Jaundice is easily treatable, but if it goes undetected, it causes severe brain damage, killing the part of the brain that handles motor control. Children develop a neurological syndrome called kernicterus, which causes cerebral palsy, hearing loss, mental retardation, and sometimes death.

Kernicterus was eradicated in the United States in the 1970's, but tragically, early discharge (48 hours for a pre-term baby), coupled with lack of caution about the dangers of severe jaundice, has given rise to unprecedented numbers of children with kernicterus. Macy is one of several children in North Carolina with kernicterus, but many more children nationwide suffer from this condition.

Legislative proposals to cap "non-economic damages" would keep children like Macy from receiving just compensation for losses that cannot be measured by lost wages or the cost of medical therapies. What is it worth to walk, to talk, to be able to eat birthday cake or ride bikes with friends, to be able to tell your mother when you're feeling sad and need a hug—or to be able to return that hug?

Due to preventable medical error, Macy will never be able to hold her head up, walk, talk, or eat solid food. Is $250,000 really just compensation for these losses?

According to Dr. Jeffrey Koplan, a past director of the Centers for Disease Control, "Kernicterus is a preventable problem, and it is tragic and absolutely should never take place." It is preventable provided doctors and caregivers follow a simple set of procedures. If they don't, children and their families have to live with the consequences.

How can the government restrict the right of juries to compensate children like Macy for the needless loss of their ability to do the simple things most people take for granted? Is $250,000 really what a child's dreams are worth? ■

Dear Senator Jackson:

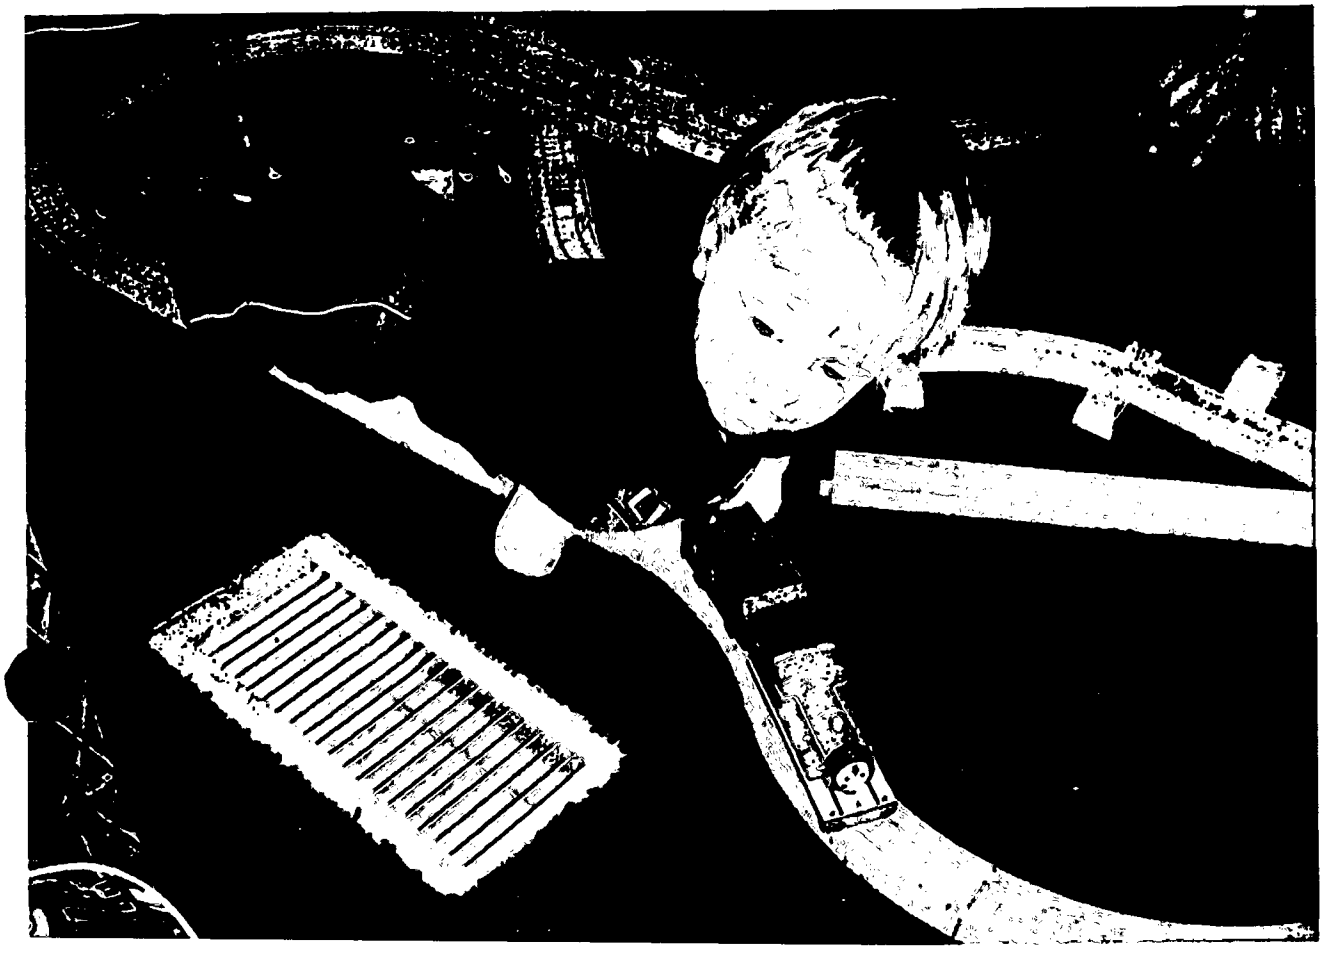
We need to tell you what happened to our little boy, Ethan. When he was seven months old, he woke up in the middle of the night and we found him to be burning up with a fever. We were very worried and left our home in Duplin County to take him to the emergency room. We decided his condition seemed serious enough that we should drive to the large hospital in another county.

We got there and he continued to be very sick. He threw up twice and screamed violently when they tried to take his temperature. After a few hours in the ER and only seeing a doctor briefly, we were assured Ethan had a virus and were sent home.

We left the ER reassured by the doctor and nurses there. No one told us about all the abnormal lab values Ethan had in the ER. By the time we returned to another ER later that day, it was too late. Our son had a meningococcal infection. Because he was not given antibiotics in the first ER, his infection advanced to sepsis and as a result, he eventually had to have his arms, legs and nose amputated.

We will spend the rest of our lives helping and loving Ethan. People all over Duplin County love and adore Ethan. But that won't pay the bills or take care of the many harms to the life of our precious child. Ethan desperately needs the hospital and its doctor to take responsibility for what happened in the ER which cost him so much.

We have been told you are considering a bill which would keep hospital ERs and their doctors from having to take responsibility for their mistakes. That just does not seem right. They have a job to do just like the rest of us. Please think about Ethan before you vote on this bill. Please do not take away the rights of people injured in hospital ERs.



Enclosed are two pictures of Ethan, one before and one after his injuries.

Thank you.

Re: Senate Bill 33 – Medical Malpractice

Dear Senator Rucho:

I am a family physician. My wife Joan was terribly burned in an operating room fire. She went to the hospital for a simple outpatient procedure, expected to last thirty minutes. After removing a lymph node from her neck, the surgeon turned on a cauterizing tool inches away from an open source of oxygen. A fire exploded over Joan's face, neck and chest. It is elementary that the oxygen must be turned off before the ignition is turned on. The fire was caused by medical malpractice.

I have attached photographs of Joan taken five months before the fire, two days after the fire, and one year later.

I understand that you have introduced a bill that would impose an arbitrary cap of $250,000 on damages for pain, suffering, disfigurement, mutilation, loss of limbs, and even death.

Senator Rucho, No one put a "cap" on my wife's pain and suffering -- so how can you put a cap on what it's worth?

I understand fair compensation for disfigurement and pain is difficult to determine. That's why we count on juries to make that decision -- after they hear all the evidence. But if your bill passes, legislators – having heard no evidence -- will arbitrarily make that decision.

Senator, I have a simple question: Why do you think it's fairer for legislators to decide, rather than juries?

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

John Faulkner, M.D.

Dear Senator Rouzer:

I am a mother of three wonderful children. My ten-year-old daughter Breanna sustained a terrible and preventable brain injury from Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever (RMSF) when she was two years old. Her injury was the result of medical malpractice in an emergency room. Almost all of Breanna's subsequent treating physicians—the doctors who saved her life—told me that Breanna's injury would have been completely prevented if she had been treated correctly in the emergency room. These were not hired witnesses; these were my little girl's doctors right here in North Carolina.

Those doctors explained that Breanna's symptoms in the emergency room were the hallmark signs of RMSF. They said that every physician working in an emergency room should have known what antibiotic to give. The night I took Breanna to the emergency room was Thanksgiving. No physician examined my daughter during that entire ER visit. In fact, the doctor who was in the ER that night later admitted that he did not even review Breanna's chart until after we had been discharged from the ER. Instead, we were seen by a "physician's assistant" who gave us the wrong antibiotic.

Because she was not properly treated, Breanna will never recover. She now suffers from seizures and requires around-the-clock care. She takes medications for seizures and drooling. She needs the help of three different therapists multiple times every week. She cannot talk and is fed through a G-tube. She cannot bathe herself, dress herself or use the bathroom by herself. She will require attendant care for the rest of her life.

I understand that you are sponsoring SB 33 that would not allow a lawsuit if a little girl is injured in an emergency room because of negligence. I don't understand why that is fair. The doctors who work in an ER have standards they are supposed to follow, just like everyone else. All we expect is that they provide reasonable care that meets their professional standards. Is that too much to ask?

I hope you will not support SB 33.

Sincerely,

Sarah Leonard

Dear Senator Stevens:

It is my understanding that you are one of the sponsors of Senate Bill 33, which will put an arbitrary cap of $250,000 on damages in medical malpractice cases.

My husband, Tom, died in an assisted living facility. He strangled to death in a bedrail. He died a horrible, excruciating death, all due to the negligence of many of the health care providers who were responsible for ensuring his safety. I can't imagine the horror that Tom experienced as he was trapped in the bedrail, unable to save himself from certain death.

I found out that the assisted living facility where Tom resided should have been closed because of repeated violations of North Carolina laws. A loophole in the law allowed the owners to simply change the name and reopen.

Although there is no amount of money that could have brought Tom back, it makes no sense for the legislature to place an arbitrary limit on the value of Tom's suffering or the value of my loss.

I hope that you will reconsider this Bill.

Dear Senator Brunstetter:

I understand that your committee is considering Senate Bill 33, which will place an arbitrary cap of $250,000 on damages for pain, suffering and death in medical malpractice cases.

Last year my mother, Edith Purvis, was living in an assisted living facility close to my home in Greensboro. She suffered from some confusion and forgetfulness. I visited her on Christmas Eve, as I did every night. After our prayers together, I left the facility to go home to my family. Some time after I left, she walked out of the building without the staff knowing. She was only wearing a hospital gown. She could not get back inside the building because the exterior doors were locked. The temperature got down to the low 20's that night.

Although the facility's employees were required to periodically check on residents, they did not realize my mother was missing for several hours. They finally found her lying on the ground outside the front door around 3:30 a.m. She was alive and was moaning and changing colors. She died of hypothermia at the hospital a few hours later.

Two weeks ago, the State of North Carolina issued the report of its investigation into her death. The State investigators found that the facility violated simple safety measures that would have prevented my mother's death. State law requires assisted living facilities to have door alarms to notify the staff when someone leaves the facility. I learned that this facility did not have the required alarms. The violations were so severe that the State has suspended all admissions to the facility until it fixes the problems.

I think often about the terror and helplessness that my mother must have suffered as she stood outside the front door while warmth and safety were just a couple feet away.

When my mother froze to death, she had no "economic" damages. Her damages for pain, suffering, terror and death are all "non-economic." I do not know the fair amount of those damages. My plan is to ask a jury that question. I trust that a jury of twelve people will make a fair decision after it has heard all of the facts. I cannot see how legislators sitting in Raleigh, having heard no facts, can make that decision.

Setting an arbitrary cap for "non-economic" damages hurts older people. With their damages capped at $250,000, assisted living facilities will have less incentive to follow safety standards. That will put more vulnerable people at risk.

I would appreciate the opportunity to talk with you about this bill. Please consider the effect it will have on people like my mother.

Sincerely,

Martha Walden

Dear Senator Blake:

I lost my husband, Wayne Dail, seven years ago due to negligent care in a hospital emergency room. Wayne was 58 years old when he died. His death shattered our family.

By way of background, my husband, Wayne, was a business leader in Harnett County. He was Plant Manager of Cannon Foods, now known as Dunbar Foods. He also was active in the Dunn Area Chamber of Commerce and served as president. When we lived in Mt. Olive, Wayne was the Director of the Chamber of Commerce there. I worked for 19 years at Betsy Johnson Memorial Hospital in Dunn, serving as Food & Nutrition Manager. My husband also was a longtime leader and volunteer with the American Red Cross. Enclosed is a picture of Wayne.

An ambulance took Wayne from our home to an ER for severe abdominal pain and other symptoms. X-rays were taken. A radiologist did not look at these x-ray films until the next day and saw an abdominal aortic aneurysm, a condition which requires immediate surgery. Tragically, my husband was dead by then, having been sent home. The aneurysm ruptured at home since surgery never was performed.

The doctors in the ER missed what was on the x-ray. And the hospital did not have a radiologist look at the films until it was too late.

I understand a bill has been introduced which would allow hospitals and their doctors to avoid responsibility for their mistakes. I don't understand why they would be singled out for this special treatment. My husband and I worked hard all our lives and we understood we were responsible for our actions. Why are ER professionals any different?

Please do not take away the rights of North Carolina families with regard to how their loved ones are treated in emergency rooms.

Thank you.

Dear Senator Rouzer:

I understand that you are one of the sponsors of Senate Bill 33, which would put an arbitrary cap of $250,000 on damages in medical malpractice cases for pain, suffering, disfigurement, brain damage, loss of use of the body, and death.

I am the mother of Macy Messer, whose story is told in the attached article. Shortly after she was born, Macy suffered severe brain damage because of a preventable medical error. She will never be able to hold her head up, talk, or eat solid food.

In 2003, when the General Assembly last considered a $250,000 cap on damages in alpractice cases, Macy was six years old. Macy and I came to the General Assembly, visited with legislators, and appeared at committee hearings.

Macy is now 14. She is a beautiful and sweet girl, well loved by her family. Although she is still unable to talk, she has learned how to sign, use a computer and, at age 10, made the transition from a wheelchair to a walker. I am proud that she was selected this year as the special child to accompany Miss North Carolina at events all over the state.

Macy and I look forward to coming to Raleigh to discuss with you and other senators the bill you have sponsored. After Macy spends some time with you, she will ask whether $250,000 is fair compensation for what she has lost.

Thank you for your consideration.

SENATE JUDICIARY I COMMITTEE
February 22, 2011 at 10:00 AM
Room 1027, Legislative Building

MINUTES

The Senate Judiciary I Committee met at 10:00 AM on February 22, 2011, in Room 1027 of the Legislative Building. Seventeen members of the committee were present. Senator Pete Brunstetter presided.

Game plan: discussion of bill, amendments. We won't vote on the amendments today, we will let people reflect on them and vote the amendments and the bill on Thursday

Floor is open for discussion on the Senate Bill 33.

Senator Stein: The bill articulates for us what the current standard of healthcare is. Try to ensure that everyone is treated according to what is appropriate for their own situation. What the bill does by moving the standard is an unprecedented jump for a professional service. Gross negligence is an extremely high standard, as opposed to negligence which is what is expected of all professionals. Only 2 states have gross negligence for ER docs (FL and GA). This provision in Section I is highly uncommon because it ends up nullifying a duty of professional care. This sends the wrong signal and the wrong incentive—don't want to create incentives that reduce patient safety. Can only imagine how stressful it is to be an ER doc and wants to recognize the unique challenges that they face. Has an amendment. The amendment takes into account the context under which the care was provided. Takes care of exigent circumstances, because the majority of ER cases are not exigent. Raises the standard in exigent situations to "clear and convincing" rather than "preponderance".

Senator Brunstetter: We need to move a little quicker. Calls for discussion on amendment. No discussion. Calls for further amendments.

Senator Clodfelter: Has several amendments. First would adopt federal rule for setting appeal bonds. Takes the good work in the bill and goes beyond it.
Senator Rucho: does the case have any merit?
Clodfelter: that is up to the appellate court
Senator Rucho: a decision had already been made?
Senator Clodfelter: explains how that is determined
Senator Rucho: anyone would be able to appeal without risk?
Senator Clodfelter: no, the judge would set an appeal bond, but the bond would not be the amount of the judgment. This broadens that beyond just med mal cases and tobacco cases.
Senator Clodfelter: second amendment. Doesn't think that the way to solve a problem is by shifting the cost to another group of people. Wants to be sure that the only claims that proceed in the system have merit. This amendment would do that by establishing a process at the discovery conference. One of the greatest costs of these cases is the cost of discovery which drives up the cost of litigation which drives up the cost of settlements. If we put a traffic cop there the costs will go down. This is a technical amendment on rule 9J.

Senator Clodfelter: the next amendment. Along the same lines. Tightens up rule 9J. Have to put everything in front of an expert who then says that you can file a lawsuit. Will strengthen the system.
Senator Clodfelter: the next amendment. Puts a statute of limitations on birth related injuries. This will make it easier for an OB/GYN to get malpractice insurance. Enacts a 10 year period of repose from the date of birth. If the condition hasn't manifested itself within 10 years, a suit cannot be filed. This is done in a number of other states.

Senator Nesbitt: should we discuss or just get them all out?
Chairman Brunstetter: let's get them all out

Senator Clodfelter: the next amendment. Alternate version of periodic payments.
Senator Clodfelter: the next amendment. Different topic. We have issues both in tort system and in the insurance system. If you fix one, the other one might not necessarily respond. This amendment makes a whole series of changes in our insurance laws. Will let folks read it and we can debate it later. Quoted information about med mal insurance rates in NC. Strengthens insurance regulatory oversight. Does not allow companies to import data in other states and underwrite rates in NC.
Senator Clodfelter: the next amendment. Deals with nursing homes and long term care facilities. Would take normal situations out of med mal.

Chairman Brunstetter: other amendments?
Senator Nesbitt: Has an amendment that takes out cap on noneconomic damages. Agrees with Justice Lake.
Chairman Brunstetter: your change of registration form is in the mail.
Senator Nesbitt: when we start down the road of limiting damages you are starting to place different values on different people in different circumstances. We tend to give more compensation to people who make more money. The cap would take that and put it on steroids. What about children, elderly, others who have little to no economic damages?

Chairman Brunstetter: other amendments?
Senator Stein: I have one that is in the alternative to that one.
Chairman Brunstetter: Reader's Digest explanation? Let's get everything on the table.
Senator Stein: the amendment defines noneconomic damages to create two different pots. Things you can see and things that you cannot see. Cap applies to noneconomic damages that are indefinable but does not apply to pain, suffering, etc.
Senator Mansfield: question about noneconomic damages. You can't have it both ways. If you don't want noneconomic damages capped, you have to have something that says "this is an inordinate amount for this case".
Chairman Brunstetter: let's hold the discussion until we get the amendments out.

Senator Apodaca: Introduces amendment to raise cap from $250,000 to $500,000

Senator Goolsby: Introduces amendment to recognize future household services and take that into account when compensation is given. This amendment makes sure that we don't leave out situations in which the case that a spouse is missing and their family is not compensated.

Senator Brown: Introduces amendment to change from "clear and convincing" to "greater weight of evidence"

Chairman Brunstetter: Has an amendment to change from 75k to 250k for periodic payments.

Senator Clodfelter: Is there a way that we can have a way for the background information to the members?
Chairman Brunstetter: we can post it on the website

Chairman Brunstetter: floor is open for discussion. Let's discuss the damage cap issue.
Senator Stein, answering Senator Mansfield: Juries are the ones who decide what is an appropriate compensation for an injury that someone has suffered. What is the highest and what is the average judgment of noneconomic damages? I think that our current system works.
Senator Mansfield: the reason that we have such a small amount of cases that go to trial is because cases are settled if the physician feels that he was negligent. The reason that we don't have a preponderance of cases in the court system is because of that.
Senator Tillman: in some cases you can't award enough money, like in the case of the little boy from last week. But we need a cap in the cases where emotions can run wild. We are trying to make some sense of this.
Senator Clodfelter: I don't think this solves the problem. The problem is medical errors. Both patients and doctors are interested in this problem and want to solve it. No correlation in existence of limits on damage and medical errors, costs of insurance. This means that we are not addressing the issue. Caps do not help us get there.
Senator Jenkins: Hasn't seen commitment in parties involved. How do these caps benefit patient care? We have a two headed monster—tort reform and insurance systems. I don't know that we are getting to the end. This is only one part of the bigger picture. We are not fixing all the problems and getting to the patient.
Senator Apodaca: Apples and oranges. Talking about access to care. We had a crisis in Hendersonville—all the OBs left and we had no one to deliver babies in our counties. This becomes an access to care issue. We have not even brought up the issue of the cost of defensive medicine. We need care in rural areas.

Chairman Brunstetter: we are going to get a sheet out that has the various amendments.

The meeting adjourned at 10:56 AM.

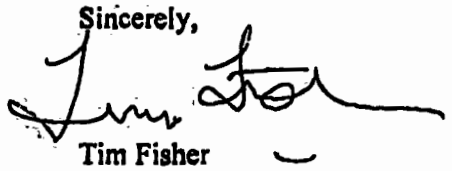
Dear Senator Brown:

You might not remember me, but I used to detail cars at Moore Buick when you were the Sales Manager there. Over the years, through hard work, I managed to advance through the ranks in the car business from washing cars to managerial positions.



In 2005, I was diagnosed with leukemia, received treatment and was in remission. I had what should have been a minor setback. I had a reaction to some of the chemotherapy drugs and was admitted to a hospital for what was supposed to be a very short stay. Medications and treatment that should have been given to me were not administered. I became horribly septic and went into a coma. When I woke up weeks later, I was told I had to have both my arms amputated below the elbows and both my legs amputated below the knees. At first I thought I would rather die. But I consented. I needed to live and do the best I could for the sake of my children.

I have come to realize that I made the right decision to let the doctors cut off my arms and legs. But I can assure you that I have traveled a long and painful road.

I understand that you are one of the sponsors of a "tort reform" bill that will drastically affect the rights of people like me to recover compensation for injuries caused by medical mistakes. When you consider placing a cap of $250,000 on damages for pain, suffering, emotional distress, physical impairment, and disfigurement, please pause for a moment and think about me.

I have always respected you and thought of you as a fair-minded man. I have voted for you in every race you have run. I ask you to carefully consider these proposed "malpractice reforms," understand their impact on severely injured patients, and then do the fair thing.

Sincerely,

Tim Fisher

moves to amend the bill on page 2, line 35 through page 3, line 23 by rewriting those lines to read:

"SECTION 4. Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new section to read:

"§ 90-21.18B. Periodic payment of future economic damages in medical negligence actions.

(a) As used in this section:

(1) 'Future economic damages' includes all economic damages for future medical treatment, care or custody, and loss of future earnings of the plaintiff following the date of the verdict or award.

(2) 'Periodic payments' means the payment of money to the plaintiff at regular intervals.

(b) Upon the award of damages in any action brought under Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes, the court shall, at the request of either party, after hearing and a determination by the court of the amount of the judgment that should be attributed to future economic damages, enter a judgment ordering that the amount of future economic damages of the plaintiff in excess of the sum of:

(1) One hundred thousand dollars ($100,000),

(2) The amount of the future medical expenses expected to be incurred by the plaintiff within the next 12 months, including the cost of any special equipment or adaptations necessary for daily care and living arrangements, due to the negligence of the defendant, plus

(3) An amount equal to the costs and attorneys' fees incurred and payable by the plaintiff in litigating the case multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the amount of future economic damages in excess of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) and the denominator of which is the amount of the total judgment in favor of the plaintiff,

be paid in whole or in part by periodic payments rather than by a lump-sum payment. If the court finds that the sum of subdivisions (1), (2), and (3) of this subsection are insufficient to provide for the plaintiff's immediate needs, the court may make such adjustments in the amount to be paid by periodic payments as the court finds are necessary to ensure that the amount of the nondeferred compensation will be adequate for the plaintiff's immediate needs. In entering a judgment under this section ordering the payment of future economic damages by periodic payments, the court shall make a specific finding of the total dollar amount of periodic payments that will equal the present value of the jury's lump-sum award to compensate the plaintiff for future economic damages.

(c) As a condition to authorizing periodic payments of future economic damages, the court in its order of judgment, shall require the defendant to post a bond or security, or otherwise to assure full payment of future damages awarded by the judgment including that payments be made through the establishment of a trust fund or the purchase of an annuity for the life of the plaintiff or during the continuance of the plaintiff's compensable injury or disability. The purchase of an annuity found by the court to be through a duly licensed and adequately capitalized insurance company shall satisfy the requirements of this subsection. A trust fund found by the court to be adequately funded and insured shall satisfy the requirements of this subsection. For periodic payments to be made directly by the defendant, the court shall approve periodic payments of future damages only if it finds that all payments which are due to be made are secured by a bond issued by an insurance company authorized to write such bonds in this State and which is rated "A plus" (A+) or better by Best's Insurance Reports. If the defendant is unable to adequately assure full payment of future damages, the court shall order that all future damages be paid to the plaintiff in a lump sum pursuant to the verdict. No bond may be canceled or be subject to cancellation unless at least 60 days' advance written notice is filed with the court and the plaintiff. Upon termination of periodic payments, the court shall order the return of the security, or so much as remains, to the defendant.

(d) The judgment providing for payment of future economic damages by periodic payments shall specify the recipient of the payments, the dollar amounts of the payments, the interval between payments, and the number of payments or the period of time over which payments shall be made. Periodic payments shall be subject to modification by the court in the event of death of the plaintiff as provided in subsection (e) of this section.

(e) In any judgment that orders future economic damages payable in periodic payments, liability for payment of future medical damages not yet due shall terminate upon the death of the plaintiff; however, the court that rendered the original judgment may modify the judgment to provide that damages awarded for loss of future earnings shall not be reduced or payments terminated by reason of the death of the plaintiff, but shall be paid to persons to whom the plaintiff owed a duty of support, as provided by law, immediately prior to the plaintiff's death.

(f) In the event the court finds that the defendant has exhibited a pattern of failing to make the payment specified in subsection (b) of this section, the court may do one or more of the following:

(1) Order that all remaining amounts of the award be paid by lump sum within 30 days after entry of the order.

(2) Find the defendant in contempt of court and, in addition to the required periodic payments, order the defendant to pay the plaintiff all damages caused by the failure to timely make periodic payments, including court costs and attorneys' fees.

(3) Enter other orders or sanctions as appropriate to protect the defendant.

(g) Nothing in this section shall preclude any other method of payment of awards, if the method is consented to by the parties.";

"§ 58-40-32. Health care provider professional malpractice insurance rates.

(a) As used in this section:

(1) "Health care provider" has the same meaning as defined in G.S. 90-21.11.

(2) "Insurer" means an insurer or State-chartered risk retention group that provides professional malpractice insurance to health care providers in this State.

(b) No insurer's rate shall be approved or remain in effect that is excessive, inadequate, unfairly discriminatory, as defined in G.S. 58-40-20, or otherwise in violation of this Chapter. moves to amend the bill on page 3, line 37 through page 4, line 38, by rewriting those lines to read:

"§ 1-289. Undertaking to stay execution on money judgment.

(a) If the appeal is from a judgment directing the payment of money, it does not stay the execution of the judgment unless a written undertaking is executed on the part of the appellant, by one or more sureties, as set forth in this section.

(a1) In an action where the judgment directs the payment of money, the court shall specify the amount of the undertaking required to stay execution of the judgment pending appeal as provided in subsections (a2) and (b) of this section. The undertaking shall be to the effect that if the judgment appealed from, or any part thereof, is affirmed, or the appeal is dismissed, the appellant will pay the amount directed to be paid by the judgment, or the part of such amount as to which the judgment shall be affirmed, if affirmed only in part, and all damages which shall be awarded against the appellant upon the appeal, except as provided in subsection (b) of this section. Whenever it is satisfactorily made to appear to the court that since the execution of the undertaking the sureties have become insolvent, the court may, by rule or order, require the appellant to execute, file and serve a new undertaking, as above. In case of neglect to execute such undertaking within twenty days after the service of a copy of the rule or order requiring it, the appeal may, on motion to the court, be dismissed with costs. Whenever it is necessary for a party to an action or proceeding to give a bond or an undertaking with surety or sureties, he may, in lieu thereof, deposit with the officer into court money to the amount of the bond or undertaking to be given. The court in which the action or proceeding is pending may direct what disposition shall be made of such money pending the action or proceeding. In a case where, by this section, the money is to be deposited with an officer, a judge of the court, upon the application of either party, may, at any time before the deposit is made, order the money deposited in court instead of with the officer; and a deposit made pursuant to such order is of the same effect as if made with the officer. The perfecting of an appeal by giving the undertaking mentioned in this section stays proceedings in the court below upon the judgment appealed from; except when the sale of perishable property is directed, the court below may order the property to be sold and the proceeds thereof to be deposited or invested, to abide the judgment of the appellate court.

(a2) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, the amount of the undertaking that shall be required by the court shall be an amount determined by the court after notice and hearing proper and reasonable for the security of the rights of the adverse party, considering relevant factors including the following:

(1) The amount of the judgment.

(2) The amount of the limits of all applicable liability policies of the appellant judgment debtor.

(3) The aggregate net worth of the appellant judgment debtor.

(b) If the appellee in a civil action brought under any legal theory obtains a judgment directing the payment or expenditure of money in the amount of twenty five million dollars ($25,000,000) or more, and the appellant seeks a stay of execution of the judgment within the period of time during which the appellant has the right to pursue appellate review, including discretionary review and certiorari, the amount of the undertaking that the appellant is required to execute to stay execution of the judgment during the entire period of the appeal shall be twenty five million dollars ($25,000,000).

(c) If the appellee proves by a preponderance of the evidence that the appellant for whom the undertaking has been limited under ~~subsection~~ subsections (a2) and (b) of this section is, for the purpose of evading the judgment, (i) dissipating its assets, (ii) secreting its assets, or (iii) diverting its assets outside the jurisdiction of the courts of North Carolina or the federal courts of the United States other than in the ordinary course of business, then the ~~limitation~~ limitations in ~~subsection~~ subsections (a2 and (b) of this section shall not apply and the appellant shall be required to make an undertaking in the full amount otherwise required by this section.".

SECTION 6.3. G.S. 58-40-25 reads as rewritten:

"§ 58-40-25. Rating methods.

In determining whether rates comply with the standards under G.S. 58-40-20, the following criteria shall be applied:

(1) Due consideration shall be given to past and prospective loss and expense experience within this State, to catastrophe hazards, to a reasonable margin for underwriting profit and contingencies, to trends within this State, to dividends or savings to be allowed or returned by insurers to their policyholders, members, or subscribers, and to all other relevant factors, including judgment factors; however, regional or countrywide expense or loss experience and other regional or countrywide data may be considered only when credible North Carolina expense or loss experience or other data is not available.

(1a) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (1) of this section, an insurer or State-chartered risk retention group that provides professional malpractice insurance to health care providers, as defined in G.S. 90-21.11, may use regional or countrywide expense or loss experience and other regional or countrywide data only upon written approval by the Commissioner. The Commissioner may approve the use of regional or countrywide data only upon a finding of good cause.

(2) Risks may be grouped by classifications for the establishment of rates and minimum premiums. Classification rates may be modified to produce rates for individual risks in accordance with rating plans which establish standards for measuring variations in hazards or expense provisions, or both. Those standards may measure any differences among risks that have probable effect upon losses or expenses. Classifications or modifications of classifications of risks may be established based upon size, expense, management, individual experience, location or dispersion of hazard, or any other reasonable considerations. Those classifications and modifications shall apply to all risks under the same or substantially the same circumstances or conditions.

(3) The expense provisions included in the rates to be used by an insurer may reflect the operating methods of the insurer and, as far as it is credible, its own expense experience.

(4) In the case of property insurance rates under this Article, consideration shall be given to the insurance public protection classifications of fire districts established by the Commissioner. The Commissioner shall establish and modify from time to time insurance public protection districts for all rural areas of the State and for cities with populations of 100,000 or fewer, according to the most recent annual population estimates certified by the State Planning Officer. In establishing and modifying these districts, the Commissioner shall use standards at least equivalent to those used by the Insurance Services Office, Inc., or any successor organization. The standards developed by the Commissioner are subject to Article 2A of Chapter 150B of the General Statutes. The insurance public protection classifications established by the Commissioner issued pursuant to the provisions of this Article shall be subject to appeal as provided in G.S. 58-2-75, et seq. SENATE JUDICIARY I COMMITTEE
Room 1027, Legislative Building

MINUTES

The Senate Judiciary I Committee met at 10:00 AM on February 24, 2011, in Room 1027 of the Legislative Building. Seventeen members of the committee were present. Senator Pete Brunstetter presided.

Chairman Brunstetter: Game plan for today. Last time we received 14 proposed amendments to the bill. We have sat down with bill sponsors and created a PCS that reflects the current position of the bill sponsors.

Senator Apodaca moved to adopt the PCS for purposes of discussion. Motion carries unanimously.

Bill Patterson walked the members through the PCS and the changes.

Senator Clodfelter removed 3 amendments because he did not feel the need to keep them before the committee with the changes in the PCS. He removed the insurance reform amendment because it would work better as another bill. The nursing home amendment was also removed.

Senator Clodfelter has an amendment. A technical amendment on the appeal bond section. Passes unanimously.

Chairman Brunstetter asked for questions on the PCS. There were none.

Senator Stein has an amendment. This was the first amendment that he introduced on Tuesday.
Senator Clodfelter: question for staff. Does this apply only to treatments covered under EMTALA?
Bill Patterson: first, it has to be determined whether an emergency exists
Senator Nesbitt: hopes that we will wrestle with this issue a little bit as a committee. Seems that this bill will take away the negligence standard in the emergency rooms. Thinks that what Sen. Stein has put forth gets to the heart of the matter. We are trying to give people in emergency situations a little bit of slack, but not absolute immunity. Thinks that this is a good compromise.
Chairman Brunstetter: further discussion?
Senator Brown: We have made a compromise from clear and convincing to greater weight of the evidence. We all understand that protections are needed but the ER is a very special situation. Thinks that those guys deserve some special protections. Would hope that the members vote against the amendment.
Senator Clodfelter: asks the bill sponsors and Stein a question about the relationship between subsection A and subsection B. Thinks that this is defined in the amendment but not in the PCS. There is a need to link A and B like Sen Stein has done, regardless of what you do with Section B.
Chairman Brunstetter: asks Bill Patterson a question. Is A current law?
Bill Patterson: Yes.

Chairman Brunstetter: asks Clodfelter a question and Clodfelter answers. Makes a suggestion that we should vote on the amendment and then make the fix that Clodfelter suggests. Further discussion?
Senator Stein: thinks what Clodfelter says is fine. The core of the amendment is the fact that for the first time in NC we are saying that it is ok for a professional to be negligent. We don't have to do that.
Senator Mansfield: does not believe that this bill is telling physicians to be negligent and physicians don't want to be negligent. Does not believe that this bill gives physicians immunity at all.
Senator Stein: He in no way said that this gives doctors leave to be negligent. Said that is shields doctors who are negligent. We do not have to immunize negligence. Trusts that doctors want to do the right thing but negligence happens.
Senator Tillman: this bill does not stop anyone from filing a complaint against any doctor. There are other ways to handle negligent doctors; this is not the be all and end all.
Noes have it; amendment fails.

Sen. Stein has an amendment. He explained the amendment.
Chairman Brunstetter asked for discussion
Senator Nesbitt: this is instead of my amendment I brought forth on Tuesday. This is a compromise. This might be a solution to the problem.
Senator Mansfield: agrees with Sen. Stein
Senator Apodaca: we did raise the cap, so that was somewhat of a compromise
Senator Clodfelter: doesn't believe any of this is constitutional.
Chairman Brunstetter: Apodaca's chief justice is bigger than your chief justice
Senator Clodfelter: we need to take our time to get this thing right. Didn't just change the number on the limit, you changed it from per plaintiff to per defendant.
Noes have it
Division is called
Noes have it; amendment fails.
Senator Clodfelter makes editorial comment. Wants Stein's exception and per plaintiff.

Senator Clodfelter has an amendment.
Bill Patterson explained the Amendment.
Senator Clodfelter further explained the amendment. Pointed out findings of study commission. Has copies of study commission report available
Senator Apodaca: thanks Clodfelter and thinks that this is a good amendment that improves the bill
Senator Tillman asks Clodfelter a question and Clodfelter answers
Senator Nesbitt: disagrees with the amendment
Senator Rucho: it is the responsibility of parents and guardians to make sure children are protected and supports the amendment
Senator Stein: question for Bill Patterson because he doesn't quite understand the amendment
Chairman Brunstetter: we will not vote on the amendment because it is not even transcribed.

The meeting adjourned at 10:53 AM.

Sarah Hardin, Committee Clerk

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REFORM THE LAWS RELATING TO MEDICAL LIABILITY BY PROVIDING LIMITED PROTECTION FROM LIABILITY TO THOSE REQUIRED BY FEDERAL LAW TO PROVIDE EMERGENCY MEDICAL CARE, BY AUTHORIZING THE BIFURCATION OF TRIALS ON ISSUES OF LIABILITY AND DAMAGES IN CERTAIN ACTIONS, BY LIMITING THE AMOUNT OF NONECONOMIC DAMAGES THAT MAY BE AWARDED, BY AUTHORIZING THE PERIODIC PAYMENT OF FUTURE ECONOMIC DAMAGES IN LIEU OF A LUMP-SUM PAYMENT, BY MODIFYING APPEAL BONDS IN MEDICAL MALPRACTICE ACTIONS, BY CLARIFYING THAT COMPLAINTS ALLEGING MEDICAL MALPRACTICE BY HEALTH CARE PROVIDES MUST ASSERT THAT ALL MEDICAL RECORDS AVAILABLE TO THE PLAINTIFF HAVE BEEN REVIEWED BY AN EXPERT WITNESS, AND TO REQUIRE CERTAIN INFORMATION BE PROVIDED BY EXPERT WITNESSES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 90-21.12 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-21.12. Standard of health care; limited liability for federally mandated emergency medical services.

(a) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, in~~In~~ any medical malpractice action, ~~action for damages for personal injury or death arising out of the furnishing or the failure to furnish professional services in the performance of medical, dental, or other health care,~~ the defendant health care provider shall not be liable for the payment of damages unless the trier of ~~the facts~~fact ~~is satisfied~~finds by the greater weight of the evidence that the care of such health care provider was not in accordance with the standards of practice among members of the same health care profession with similar training and experience situated in the same or similar communities at the time of the alleged act giving rise to the cause of action.

(b) In any medical malpractice action arising out of the furnishing or the failure to furnish services pursuant to obligations imposed by 42 U.S.C. §1395dd for an emergency medical condition as defined in 42 U.S.C. §1395dd(e)(1), the defendant health care provider shall not be liable for the payment of damages unless the trier of fact finds by the greater weight of the evidence that the health care provider's deviation from the standard of care required under subsection (a) of this section constituted gross negligence, wanton conduct or intentional wrongdoing. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to change, alter, override, or otherwise affect the provisions of G.S. 90-21.14, 90-21.15, 90-21.16, or 20-166."

SECTION 2. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 42(b), reads as rewritten:

"(b) Separate trials. –

(1) The court may in furtherance of convenience or to avoid prejudice and shall for considerations of venue upon timely motion order a separate trial of any claim, cross-claim, counterclaim, or third-party claim, or of any separate issue or of any number of claims, cross-claims, counterclaims, third-party claims, or issues.

(2) Upon motion of any party in an action that includes a claim commenced under Article 1G of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes involving a managed care entity as defined in G.S. 90-21.50, the court shall order separate discovery and a separate trial of any claim, cross-claim, counterclaim, or third-party claim against a physician or other medical provider.

(3) Upon motion of any party in a medical malpractice action commenced under Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes wherein the plaintiff seeks damages in an amount equal to or greater than seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000), the court shall order separate trials for the issue of liability and the issue of damages. Evidence relating solely to compensatory damages shall not be admissible until the trier of fact has determined that the defendant is liable for medical malpractice. The same trier of fact that tried the issues relating to liability shall try the issues relating to damages."

SECTION 3. Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new section to read:

"§ 90-21.19. Liability limit for noneconomic damages.

(a) In any medical malpractice action against a health care provider in which the plaintiff is entitled to an award of noneconomic damages, the amount of noneconomic damages for which judgment is entered shall not exceed five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) per defendant per occurrence. In the event that any verdict or award of noneconomic damages stated pursuant to G.S. 90-21.19B(1) exceeds five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) per defendant per occurrence, the court shall modify the judgment as necessary to conform to the requirements of this subsection.

(b) As used in this section, 'noneconomic damages' means damages to compensate for pain, suffering, emotional distress, loss of consortium, inconvenience, physical impairment, disfigurement, and any other nonpecuniary, compensatory damage. 'Noneconomic damages' does not include punitive damages as defined in G.S. 1D-5.

(c) Any award of damages in a medical malpractice action shall be stated in accordance with G.S. 90-21.19B. If a jury is determining the facts, the court shall not instruct the jury with respect to the limit of noneconomic damages under subsection (a) of this section, and neither the attorney for any party nor a witness shall inform the jury or potential members of the jury panel of that limit."

SECTION 4. Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new section to read:

"§ 90-21.19A. Periodic payment of future economic damages in medical malpractice actions.

(a) The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Future economic damages. – Damages for future expense for medical treatment, care or custody, loss of future earnings, loss of future household services, and any other future pecuniary damages of the plaintiff following the date of the verdict or award.

(2) Periodic payments. – The payment of money or delivery of other property to the plaintiff at regular intervals.

(b) In any medical malpractice action, the form of the fact finder's verdict or award of damages, if supported by the evidence, shall indicate specifically what amount is awarded for future economic damages, and what amount, if any, of the total amount awarded for future economic damages represents damages awarded for loss of future earnings or loss of future household services.

(c) Upon the award of future economic damages in any medical malpractice action, the presiding judge shall, at the request of either party, enter a judgment ordering that the future economic damages of the plaintiff be paid in whole or in part by periodic payments rather than by a lump-sum payment if the present value of the future economic damages award is greater than or equal to two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000). In entering a judgment ordering the payment of future economic damages by periodic payments, the court shall make a specific finding as to the dollar amount of the present value of that portion of the future economic damages for which the plaintiff is to be paid by periodic payments. In calculating the total damages upon which any attorney contingency fee for representing the plaintiff in connection with the medical malpractice action is calculated, the present value of any portion of the award representing future economic damages that are to be paid by periodic payments shall be used.

(d) A judgment authorizing periodic payments of future economic damages shall require that such payments be made through the establishment of a trust fund or the purchase of an annuity for the life of the plaintiff or during the continuance of the compensable injury or disability of the plaintiff, in such form and under such terms as shall be approved by the court. The establishment of a trust fund or the purchase of an annuity, as required and approved by the court, shall constitute the satisfaction of the defendant's judgment for future economic damages.

(e) The judgment ordering the payment of future economic damages by periodic payments shall specify the recipient of the payments, the schedule of the periodic payments, and the dollar amount of each periodic payment to be made pursuant to the schedule. The death of the plaintiff terminates liability for payment of future economic damages which by judgment pursuant to this section are required to be paid in periodic payments not yet due, except that the court that entered the original judgment may modify the judgment to provide that liability for payment of future periodic payments compensating the plaintiff for loss of future earnings or loss of future household services shall not be terminated by reason of the death of the plaintiff, but shall continue to be paid to persons surviving the plaintiff to whom the plaintiff owed a duty of support pursuant to law immediately prior to the plaintiff's death."

SECTION 5. Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new section to read:

"§ 90-21.19B. Verdicts and awards of damages in medical malpractice actions; form.

In any malpractice action, any verdict or award of damages, if supported by the evidence, shall indicate specifically what amount is awarded for each of the following:

(1) Noneconomic damages.
(2) Present economic damages.
(3) Future economic damages.
(4) Loss of future earnings.
(5) Loss of future household services.

If applicable, the court shall instruct the jury on the definition of noneconomic damages under G.S. 90-21.19(b) and the definition of future economic damages under G.S. 90-21.19A(a)(1). If applicable, the court shall instruct the jury that present economic damages are those damages for medical treatment, care or custody, loss of earnings, loss of household services, and any other pecuniary damages of the plaintiff up to the date of the verdict or award."

SECTION 6. G.S. 1-289 reads as rewritten:

"§ 1-289. Undertaking to stay execution on money judgment.

(a) If the appeal is from a judgment directing the payment of money, it does not stay the execution of the judgment unless a written undertaking is executed on the part of the appellant, by one or more sureties, as set forth in this section.

(a1) In an action where the judgment directs the payment of money, the court shall specify the amount of the undertaking required to stay execution of the judgment pending appeal as provided in subsections (a2) and (b) of this section. The undertaking shall be to the effect that if the judgment appealed from, or any part thereof, is affirmed, or the appeal is dismissed, the appellant will pay the amount directed to be paid by the judgment, or the part of such amount as to which the judgment shall be affirmed, if affirmed only in part, and all damages which shall be awarded against the appellant upon the appeal, except as provided in subsection (b) of this section. Whenever it is satisfactorily made to appear to the court that since the execution of the undertaking the sureties have become insolvent, the court may, by rule or order, require the appellant to execute, file and serve a new undertaking, as above. In case of neglect to execute such undertaking within twenty days after the service of a copy of the rule or order requiring it, the appeal may, on motion to the court, be dismissed with costs. Whenever it is necessary for a party to an action or proceeding to give a bond or an undertaking with surety or sureties, he may, in lieu thereof, deposit with the officer into court money to the amount of the bond or undertaking to be given. The court in which the action or proceeding is pending may direct what disposition shall be made of such money pending the action or proceeding. In a case where, by this section, the money is to be deposited with an officer, a judge of the court, upon the application of either party, may, at any time before the deposit is made, order the money deposited in court instead of with the officer; and a deposit made pursuant to such order is of the same effect as if made with the officer. The perfecting of an appeal by giving the undertaking mentioned in this section stays proceedings in the court below upon the judgment appealed from; except when the sale of perishable property is directed, the court below may order the property to be sold and the proceeds thereof to be deposited or invested, to abide the judgment of the appellate court.

(a2) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, the amount of the undertaking that shall be required by the court shall be an amount determined by the court after notice and hearing proper and reasonable for the security of the rights of the adverse party, considering relevant factors including the following:

(1) The amount of the judgment.

(2) The amount of the limits of all applicable liability policies of the appellant judgment debtor.

(3) The aggregate net worth of the appellant judgment debtor.

(b) If the appellee in a civil action brought under any legal theory obtains a judgment directing the payment or expenditure of money in the amount of twenty five million dollars ($25,000,000) or more, and the appellant seeks a stay of execution of the judgment within the period of time during which the appellant has the right to pursue appellate review, including discretionary review and certiorari, the amount of the undertaking that the appellant is required to execute to stay execution of the judgment during the entire period of the appeal shall be twenty five million dollars ($25,000,000).

(c) If the appellee proves by a preponderance of the evidence that the appellant for whom the undertaking has been limited under ~~subsection~~ subsections (a2) and (b) of this section is, for the purpose of evading the judgment, (i) dissipating its assets, (ii) secreting its assets, or (iii) diverting its assets outside the jurisdiction of the courts of North Carolina or the federal courts of the United States other than in the ordinary course of business, then the ~~limitation~~ limitations in ~~subsection~~ subsections (a2) and (b) of this section shall not apply and the appellant shall be required to make an undertaking in the full amount otherwise required by this section."

SECTION 6.1. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 9(j) reads as rewritten:

"(j) Medical malpractice. – Any complaint alleging medical malpractice by a health care provider as defined in G.S. 90-21.11 in failing to comply with the applicable standard of care under G.S. 90-21.12 shall be dismissed unless:

(1) The pleading specifically asserts that the medical care ~~has~~ and all medical records pertaining to the alleged injury then available to the plaintiff after reasonable inquiry, have been reviewed by a person who is reasonably expected to qualify as an expert witness under Rule 702 of the Rules of Evidence and who is willing to testify that the medical care did not comply with the applicable standard of care;

(2) The pleading specifically asserts that the medical care ~~has~~ and all medical records pertaining to the alleged injury then available to the plaintiff after reasonable inquiry, have been reviewed by a person that the complainant will seek to have qualified as an expert witness by motion under Rule 702(e) of the Rules of Evidence and who is willing to testify that the medical care did not comply with the applicable standard of care, and the motion is filed with the complaint; or

(3) The pleading alleges facts establishing negligence under the existing common-law doctrine of res ipsa loquitur.

Upon motion by the complainant prior to the expiration of the applicable statute of limitations, a resident judge of the superior court for a judicial district in which venue for the cause of action is appropriate under G.S. 1-82 or, if no resident judge for that judicial district is physically present in that judicial district, otherwise available, or able or willing to consider the motion, then any presiding judge of the superior court for that judicial district may allow a motion to extend the statute of limitations for a period not to exceed 120 days to file a complaint in a medical malpractice action in order to comply with this Rule, upon a determination that good cause exists for the granting of the motion and that the ends of justice would be served by an extension. ~~The plaintiff shall provide, at the request of the defendant, proof of compliance with this subsection through up to ten written interrogatories, the answers to which shall be verified by the expert required under this subsection. These interrogatories do not count against the interrogatory limit under Rule 33.~~ At the request of the defendant, the plaintiff shall furnish to the defendant, within 30 days, an affidavit from the expert certifying compliance with this subsection."

SECTION 6.2. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 26(f1) reads as rewritten:

"(f1) Medical malpractice discovery conference. – In a medical malpractice action as defined in G.S. 90-21.11, upon the case coming at issue or the filing of a responsive pleading or motion requiring a determination by the court, the judge shall, within 30 days, direct the attorneys for the parties to appear for a discovery conference. At the conference the court may consider the matters set out in Rule 16, and shall:

...

(2) Establish an appropriate schedule for designating expert witnesses, consistent with a discovery schedule pursuant to subdivision ~~(3), to be complied with by all parties to the action such that there is a deadline for designating all expert witnesses within an appropriate time for all parties to implement discovery mechanisms with regard to the designated expert witnesses;~~(3). As to each expert designated, the designation shall be accompanied by a written report prepared and signed by the witness. The report shall contain a complete statement of all opinions to be expressed and the basis and reasons therefor; the data or other information considered by the witness in forming the opinions; the qualifications of the witness, including a list of all publications authored by the witness within the preceding 10 years; the compensation the witness is to be paid for the study and testimony; and a listing of any other cases in which the witness has testified as an expert at trial or by deposition within the preceding four years. The party shall supplement the expert's report if the party learns that in some material respect the report is incomplete or incorrect. The expert's direct testimony shall not be inconsistent with or go beyond the fair scope of the expert report as supplemented. The parties shall not depose expert witnesses, unless the court otherwise orders for good cause shown.

SECTION 7. If the provisions of Section 3 of this act are declared to be unconstitutional or otherwise invalid by final decision of a court of competent jurisdiction, following any appellate review, then Section 4 and Section 5 of this act are repealed, but the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of this act that can be given effect without the invalid provisions or application.

SECTION 8. This act becomes effective October 1, 2011. Sections 1, 3, 4, 5, 6.1 and 6.2 apply to causes of action arising on or after the effective date. Sections 2 and 6 apply to actions commenced on or after the effective date.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REFORM THE LAWS RELATING TO MEDICAL LIABILITY BY PROVIDING LIMITED PROTECTION FROM LIABILITY TO THOSE REQUIRED BY FEDERAL LAW TO PROVIDE EMERGENCY MEDICAL CARE, BY AUTHORIZING THE BIFURCATION OF TRIALS ON ISSUES OF LIABILITY AND DAMAGES IN CERTAIN ACTIONS, BY LIMITING THE AMOUNT OF NONECONOMIC DAMAGES THAT MAY BE AWARDED, BY AUTHORIZING THE PERIODIC PAYMENT OF FUTURE ECONOMIC DAMAGES IN LIEU OF A LUMP-SUM PAYMENT, BY MODIFYING APPEAL BONDS IN MEDICAL MALPRACTICE ACTIONS, BY CLARIFYING THAT COMPLAINTS ALLEGING MEDICAL MALPRACTICE BY HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS MUST ASSERT THAT ALL MEDICAL RECORDS AVAILABLE TO THE PLAINTIFF HAVE BEEN REVIEWED BY AN EXPERT WITNESS, AND BY REQUIRING THAT CERTAIN INFORMATION BE PROVIDED BY EXPERT WITNESSES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 90-21.12 reads as rewritten:

"§ 90-21.12. Standard of health care; limited liability for federally mandated emergency medical services.

(a) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, in~~In~~ any medical malpractice action, ~~action for damages for personal injury or death arising out of the furnishing or the failure to furnish professional services in the performance of medical, dental, or other health care,~~ the defendant health care provider shall not be liable for the payment of damages unless the trier of ~~the facts~~fact ~~is satisfied~~finds by the greater weight of the evidence that the care of such health care provider was not in accordance with the standards of practice among members of the same health care profession with similar training and experience situated in the same or similar communities under the same or similar circumstances at the time of the alleged act or omission giving rise to the cause of action.

(b) In any medical malpractice action arising out of the furnishing or the failure to furnish services pursuant to obligations imposed by 42 U.S.C. §1395dd for an emergency medical condition as defined in 42 U.S.C. §1395dd(e)(1), the defendant health care provider shall not be liable for the payment of damages unless the trier of fact finds by the greater weight of the evidence that the health care provider's deviation from the standard of care required under subsection (a) of this section constituted gross negligence, wanton conduct or intentional wrongdoing. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to change, alter, override, or otherwise affect the provisions of G.S. 90-21.14, 90-21.15, 90-21.16, or 20-166."

SECTION 2. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 42(b), reads as rewritten:

"(b) Separate trials. –

(1) The court may in furtherance of convenience or to avoid prejudice and shall for considerations of venue upon timely motion order a separate trial of any claim, cross-claim, counterclaim, or third-party claim, or of any separate issue or of any number of claims, cross-claims, counterclaims, third-party claims, or issues.

(2) Upon motion of any party in an action that includes a claim commenced under Article 1G of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes involving a managed care entity as defined in G.S. 90-21.50, the court shall order separate discovery and a separate trial of any claim, cross-claim, counterclaim, or third-party claim against a physician or other medical provider.

(3) Upon motion of any party in a medical malpractice action commenced under Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes wherein the plaintiff seeks damages in an amount equal to or greater than seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000), the court shall order separate trials for the issue of liability and the issue of damages. Evidence relating solely to compensatory damages shall not be admissible until the trier of fact has determined that the defendant is liable for medical malpractice. The same trier of fact that tried the issues relating to liability shall try the issues relating to damages."

SECTION 3. Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new section to read:

"§ 90-21.19. Liability limit for noneconomic damages.

(a) In any medical malpractice action in which the plaintiff is entitled to an award of noneconomic damages, the total amount of noneconomic damages for which judgment is entered against all defendants shall not exceed five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) per plaintiff. Judgment shall not be entered against any defendant for noneconomic damages in excess of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) for all claims brought by all parties arising out of the same cause of action. In the event that any verdict or award of noneconomic damages stated pursuant to G.S. 90-21.19B(1) exceeds these limits, the court shall modify the judgment as necessary to conform to the requirements of this subsection.

(b) As used in this section, 'noneconomic damages' means damages to compensate for pain, suffering, emotional distress, loss of consortium, inconvenience, physical impairment, disfigurement, and any other nonpecuniary, compensatory damage. 'Noneconomic damages' does not include punitive damages as defined in G.S. 1D-5.

(c) Any award of damages in a medical malpractice action shall be stated in accordance with G.S. 90-21.19B. If a jury is determining the facts, the court shall not instruct the jury with respect to the limit of noneconomic damages under subsection (a) of this section, and neither the attorney for any party nor a witness shall inform the jury or potential members of the jury panel of that limit."

SECTION 4. Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new section to read:

"§ 90-21.19A. Periodic payment of future economic damages in medical malpractice actions.

(a) The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Future economic damages. – Damages for future expense for medical treatment, care or custody, loss of future earnings, loss of future household services, and any other future pecuniary damages of the plaintiff following the date of the verdict or award.

(2) Periodic payments. – The payment of money or delivery of other property to the plaintiff at regular intervals.

(b) In any medical malpractice action, the form of the fact finder's verdict or award of damages, if supported by the evidence, shall indicate specifically what amount is awarded for future economic damages, and what amount, if any, of the total amount awarded for future economic damages represents damages awarded for loss of future earnings or loss of future household services.

(c) Upon the award of future economic damages in any medical malpractice action, the presiding judge shall, at the request of either party, enter a judgment ordering that the future economic damages of the plaintiff be paid in whole or in part by periodic payments rather than by a lump-sum payment if the present value of the future economic damages award is greater than or equal to two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000). In entering a judgment ordering the payment of future economic damages by periodic payments, the court shall make a specific finding as to the dollar amount of the present value of that portion of the future economic damages for which the plaintiff is to be paid by periodic payments. In calculating the total damages upon which any attorney contingency fee for representing the plaintiff in connection with the medical malpractice action is calculated, the present value of any portion of the award representing future economic damages that are to be paid by periodic payments shall be used.

(d) A judgment authorizing periodic payments of future economic damages shall require that such payments be made through the establishment of a trust fund or the purchase of an annuity for the life of the plaintiff or during the continuance of the compensable injury or disability of the plaintiff, in such form and under such terms as shall be approved by the court. The establishment of a trust fund or the purchase of an annuity, as required and approved by the court, shall constitute the satisfaction of the defendant's judgment for future economic damages.

(e) The judgment ordering the payment of future economic damages by periodic payments shall specify the recipient of the payments, the schedule of the periodic payments, and the dollar amount of each periodic payment to be made pursuant to the schedule. The death of the plaintiff terminates liability for payment of future economic damages which by judgment pursuant to this section are required to be paid in periodic payments not yet due, except that the court that entered the original judgment may modify the judgment to provide that liability for payment of future periodic payments compensating the plaintiff for loss of future earnings or loss of future household services shall not be terminated by reason of the death of the plaintiff, but shall continue to be paid to persons surviving the plaintiff to whom the plaintiff owed a duty of support pursuant to law immediately prior to the plaintiff's death."

SECTION 5. Article 1B of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding the following new section to read:

"§ 90-21.19B. Verdicts and awards of damages in medical malpractice actions; form.

In any malpractice action, any verdict or award of damages, if supported by the evidence, shall indicate specifically what amount is awarded for each of the following:

(1) Noneconomic damages.
(2) Present economic damages.
(3) Future economic damages.
(4) Loss of future earnings.
(5) Loss of future household services.

If applicable, the court shall instruct the jury on the definition of noneconomic damages under G.S. 90-21.19(b) and the definition of future economic damages under G.S. 90-21.19A(a)(1). If applicable, the court shall instruct the jury that present economic damages are those damages for medical treatment, care or custody, loss of earnings, loss of household services, and any other pecuniary damages of the plaintiff up to the date of the verdict or award."

SECTION 6. G.S. 1-289 reads as rewritten:

"§ 1-289. Undertaking to stay execution on money judgment.

(a) If the appeal is from a judgment directing the payment of money, it does not stay the execution of the judgment unless a written undertaking is executed on the part of the appellant, by one or more sureties, as set forth in this section.

(a1) In an action where the judgment directs the payment of money, the court shall specify the amount of the undertaking required to stay execution of the judgment pending appeal as provided in subsections (a2) and (b) of this section. The undertaking shall be to the effect that if the judgment appealed from, or any part thereof, is affirmed, or the appeal is dismissed, the appellant will pay the amount directed to be paid by the judgment, or the part of such amount as to which the judgment shall be affirmed, if affirmed only in part, and all damages which shall be awarded against the appellant upon the appeal, except as provided in subsection (b) of this section. Whenever it is satisfactorily made to appear to the court that since the execution of the undertaking the sureties have become insolvent, the court may, by rule or order, require the appellant to execute, file and serve a new undertaking, as above. In case of neglect to execute such undertaking within twenty days after the service of a copy of the rule or order requiring it, the appeal may, on motion to the court, be dismissed with costs. Whenever it is necessary for a party to an action or proceeding to give a bond or an undertaking with surety or sureties, he may, in lieu thereof, deposit with the officer into court money to the amount of the bond or undertaking to be given. The court in which the action or proceeding is pending may direct what disposition shall be made of such money pending the action or proceeding. In a case where, by this section, the money is to be deposited with an officer, a judge of the court, upon the application of either party, may, at any time before the deposit is made, order the money deposited in court instead of with the officer; and a deposit made pursuant to such order is of the same effect as if made with the officer. The perfecting of an appeal by giving the undertaking mentioned in this section stays proceedings in the court below upon the judgment appealed from; except when the sale of perishable property is directed, the court below may order the property to be sold and the proceeds thereof to be deposited or invested, to abide the judgment of the appellate court.

(a2) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, the amount of the undertaking that shall be required by the court shall be an amount determined by the court after notice and hearing proper and reasonable for the security of the rights of the adverse party, considering relevant factors including the following:

(1) The amount of the judgment.

(2) The amount of the limits of all applicable liability policies of the appellant judgment debtor.

(3) The aggregate net worth of the appellant judgment debtor.

(b) If the appellee in a civil action brought under any legal theory obtains a judgment directing the payment or expenditure of money in the amount of twenty five million dollars ($25,000,000) or more, and the appellant seeks a stay of execution of the judgment within the period of time during which the appellant has the right to pursue appellate review, including discretionary review and certiorari, the amount of the undertaking that the appellant is required to execute to stay execution of the judgment during the entire period of the appeal shall be twenty five million dollars ($25,000,000).

(c) If the appellee proves by a preponderance of the evidence that the appellant for whom the undertaking has been limited under subsection (b) of this section is, for the purpose of evading the judgment, (i) dissipating its assets, (ii) secreting its assets, or (iii) diverting its assets outside the jurisdiction of the courts of North Carolina or the federal courts of the United States other than in the ordinary course of business, then the limitation in subsection (b) of this section shall not apply and the appellant shall be required to make an undertaking in the full amount otherwise required by this section."

SECTION 6.1. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 9(j) reads as rewritten:

"(j) Medical malpractice. – Any complaint alleging medical malpractice by a health care provider as defined in G.S. 90-21.11 in failing to comply with the applicable standard of care under G.S. 90-21.12 shall be dismissed unless:

(1) The pleading specifically asserts that the medical care ~~has~~ and all medical records pertaining to the alleged injury then available to the plaintiff after reasonable inquiry, have been reviewed by a person who is reasonably expected to qualify as an expert witness under Rule 702 of the Rules of Evidence and who is willing to testify that the medical care did not comply with the applicable standard of care;

(2) The pleading specifically asserts that the medical care ~~has~~ and all medical records pertaining to the alleged injury then available to the plaintiff after reasonable inquiry, have been reviewed by a person that the complainant will seek to have qualified as an expert witness by motion under Rule 702(e) of the Rules of Evidence and who is willing to testify that the medical care did not comply with the applicable standard of care, and the motion is filed with the complaint; or

(3) The pleading alleges facts establishing negligence under the existing common-law doctrine of res ipsa loquitur.

Upon motion by the complainant prior to the expiration of the applicable statute of limitations, a resident judge of the superior court for a judicial district in which venue for the cause of action is appropriate under G.S. 1-82 or, if no resident judge for that judicial district is physically present in that judicial district, otherwise available, or able or willing to consider the motion, then any presiding judge of the superior court for that judicial district may allow a motion to extend the statute of limitations for a period not to exceed 120 days to file a complaint in a medical malpractice action in order to comply with this Rule, upon a determination that good cause exists for the granting of the motion and that the ends of justice would be served by an extension. ~~The plaintiff shall provide, at the request of the defendant, proof of compliance with this subsection through up to ten written interrogatories, the answers to which shall be verified by the expert required under this subsection. These interrogatories do not count against the interrogatory limit under Rule 33.~~ At the request of the defendant, the plaintiff shall furnish to the defendant, within 30 days, an affidavit from the expert certifying compliance with this subsection."

SECTION 6.2. G.S. 1A-1, Rule 26(f1) reads as rewritten:

"(f1) Medical malpractice discovery conference. – In a medical malpractice action as defined in G.S. 90-21.11, upon the case coming at issue or the filing of a responsive pleading or motion requiring a determination by the court, the judge shall, within 30 days, direct the attorneys for the parties to appear for a discovery conference. At the conference the court may consider the matters set out in Rule 16, and shall:

...

(2) Establish an appropriate schedule for designating expert witnesses, consistent with a discovery schedule pursuant to subdivision ~~(3), to be complied with by all parties to the action such that there is a deadline for designating all expert witnesses within an appropriate time for all parties to implement discovery mechanisms with regard to the designated expert witnesses;~~(3). As to each expert designated, the designation shall be accompanied by a written report prepared and signed by the witness. The report shall contain a complete statement of all opinions to be expressed and the basis and reasons therefor; the data or other information considered by the witness in forming the opinions; the qualifications of the witness, including a list of all publications authored by the witness within the preceding 10 years; the compensation the witness is to be paid for the study and testimony; and a listing of any other cases in which the witness has testified as an expert at trial or by deposition within the preceding four years. The party shall supplement the expert's report if the party learns that in some material respect the report is incomplete or incorrect. The expert's direct testimony shall not be inconsistent with or go beyond the fair scope of the expert report as supplemented. Depositions of expert witnesses shall be governed by Rule 26 (b)(4) and 26(f1).

SECTION 7. If the provisions of Section 3 of this act are declared to be unconstitutional or otherwise invalid by final decision of a court of competent jurisdiction, following any appellate review, then Section 4 and Section 5 of this act are repealed, but the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of this act that can be given effect without the invalid provisions or application.

SECTION 8. This act becomes effective October 1, 2011. Sections 1, 3, 4, 5, 6.1 and 6.2 apply to causes of action arising on or after the effective date. Sections 2 and 6 apply to actions commenced on or after the effective date.

PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT(S) & PROGRAM(S) AFFECTED: Department of Correction; Judicial Branch.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective December 1, 2011, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

This fiscal analysis is independent of the impact of other criminal penalty bills being considered by the General Assembly, which could also increase the projected prison population and thus the availability of prison beds in future years. The Fiscal Research Division is tracking the cumulative effect of all criminal penalty bills on the prison system as well as the Judicial Department.*

BILL SUMMARY:

The proposed legislation amends G.S. 90-18(a) to increase the penalty for practicing medicine or surgery without a license from a Class 1 misdemeanor to a Class I felony (was, a Class I felony only if the person practicing without a license is an out-of-state practitioner who has not been licensed and registered to practice medicine or surgery in this state). Effective December 1, 2011, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

Source: Bill Digest S.B. 31 (02/02/2011).

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

General

The Sentencing and Policy Advisory Commission prepares prison population projections for each bill containing a criminal penalty. The Commission assumes for such bills that expanding existing, or creating new criminal offenses produces no deterrent or incapacitative effect on crime. Therefore, the Fiscal Research Division does not assume deterrent effects for any criminal penalty bill.

Department of Correction – Division of Prisons

Section 1:
G.S. 90-18(a), Unauthorized practice of medicine, punishment; currently classifies the unauthorized practice of medicine as a Class 1 misdemeanor, except that if the person practicing without a license is an out of state practitioner who has not been licensed and registered to practice medicine in North Carolina, that person is guilty of a Class I felony. This Section would amend the statute by deleting the language making the distinction between in state and out of state practitioners thereby making any person practicing medicine without a license guilty of a Class I felony.

Impact: In FY 2009-10, there were no Class 1 misdemeanor convictions and no Class I felony convictions under G.S. 90-18(a). Given the small number of convictions for these offenses, it is unlikely that the proposed reclassification of the Class 1 misdemeanor offense would result in substantial impact to the prison population.

In FY 2009-10, 17% of Class I convictions resulted in active sentences, with an average estimated time served of 7 months. If, for example, ten Class 1 misdemeanor convictions per year were reclassified as Class I felonies, the combination of active sentences and probation revocations would result in the need for one additional prison bed the first year and three additional prison beds the second year.

Judicial Branch

The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) provides Fiscal Research with a fiscal impact analysis for most criminal penalty bills. For such bills, fiscal impact is typically based on the assumption that court time will increase due to anticipated increases in trials and corresponding increases in workload for judges, clerks, and prosecutors. This increased court time is also expected to result in greater expenditures for jury fees and indigent defense.

In the last five years, AOC data show that 11 defendants have been charged with a total of 78 charges of misdemeanor unauthorized practice of medicine.

Charges Under Current G.S. 90-18(a)
	Class 1 Misdemeanor		Class I Felony
Calendar Year	Charges	Defendants Charged	Charges	Defendants Charged
2006	1	1	-	-
2008	66	3	2	1
2009	1	1	-	-
5-Year Total	78	11	3	2

Impact: The elevation of the offense from a Class 1 misdemeanor to a Class I felony would result in a more vigorous defense and prosecution and more in-court and preparation time for trials and pleas. While some judicial districts handle pleas for Class H and I felonies in district court, all trials and many pleas would be shifted from district court to superior court under this bill. Thus, even one new offense under this legislation will result in a cost to the court system. However, the small number of cases indicates that, unless charges for this offense increase dramatically, it is unlikely that the proposed reclassification would substantially impact the court system.

Overall, the monetary value of the average workload of a Class I felony case for those positions typically involved in felony cases – Superior Court Judge, Assistant District Attorney, Deputy Clerk, Court Reporter, and Victim Witness Legal Assistant – is $862. As the Class I felonies in this bill will represent new charges in superior court, and since district court backlogs and personnel shortages would prevent any offsetting reduction in district court resources, the average fiscal impact of each case would be the full $862. In addition, a 2005 Office of Indigent Defense study of fee applications found that the average indigent defense cost for a Class I felony case was $480 per indigent defendant, as compared to an average of $225 for indigent misdemeanants.

In FY 2009-10, a typical felony case took approximately 206 days to dispose in Superior Court. A typical misdemeanor case took approximately 91 days to dispose in District Court. Any increase in judicial caseload without accompanying resources could be expected to further delay the disposition of cases.

SENATE PCS 31:
Clarify Penalty Unauth. Practice of Medicine

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	March 3, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Mansfield	Prepared by:	Brad Krehely
Analysis of:	PCS to First Edition S31-CSRN-1		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS) for Senate Bill 31 would amend the penalty for the unauthorized practice of medicine. The PCS differs from the first edition because the first edition made the unauthorized practice of medicine a Class I felony in all cases. The PCS provides that the penalty is a Class 1 misdemeanor if (1) the person is not registered due to failure to complete the annual registration in a timely manner or (2) the person is licensed and registered under any other Article in Chapter 90.

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, an in-state practitioner who practices medicine or surgery without a license is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. However, if the person practicing without a license is an out-of-state practitioner, then that person is guilty of a Class I felony. The practice of medicine or surgery includes any of the following acts (including acts done by electronic or other means):

> Advertising or representing that the individual is authorized to practice medicine.
> Offering or undertaking to prescribe, give, or administer any drug or medicine.
> Offering or undertaking to prevent or diagnose, correct, prescribe for, administer to, or treat in any manner or by any means, methods, or devices any disease, illness, pain, wound, fracture, infirmity, defect, or abnormal physical or mental condition of any individual, including the management of pregnancy or parturition.
> Offering or undertaking to perform any surgical operation.
> Using the designation "Doctor," "Doctor of Medicine," "Doctor of Osteopathy," "Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine," "Physician," "Surgeon," "Physician and Surgeon," "Dr.," "M.D.," "D.O.," or any combination thereof in the conduct of any occupation or profession pertaining to the prevention, diagnosis, or treatment of human disease or condition, unless the designation additionally contains the description of or reference to another branch of the healing arts for which the individual holds a valid license in this State or the use of the designation "Doctor" or "Physician" is otherwise specifically permitted by law.

BILL ANALYSIS: The PCS for Senate Bill 31 would provide that any person who practices medicine or surgery without a license is guilty of a Class I felony except for the following which are punishable as Class 1 misdemeanor: (1) any person who has a license or approval under this Article that is inactive due solely to the failure to complete annual registration in a timely fashion and (2) any person who is licensed, registered, and practicing under any other Article of Chapter 90.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act would become effective December 1, 2011, and would apply to offenses committed on or after that date.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR THE ADOPTION OF THE GOOD FAITH EXCEPTION TO THE EXCLUSIONARY RULE INTO STATE LAW.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 15A-974 reads as rewritten:

"§ 15A-974. Exclusion or suppression of unlawfully obtained evidence.

(a) Upon timely motion, evidence must be suppressed if:

(1) Its exclusion is required by the Constitution of the United States or the Constitution of the State of North Carolina; or

(2) It is obtained as a result of a substantial violation of the provisions of this Chapter. In determining whether a violation is substantial, the court must consider all the circumstances, including:

a. The importance of the particular interest violated;

b. The extent of the deviation from lawful conduct;

c. The extent to which the violation was willful;

d. The extent to which exclusion will tend to deter future violations of this Chapter.

Evidence shall not be suppressed under this subdivision if the person committing the violation of the provision or provisions under this Chapter acted under the objectively reasonable, good faith belief that the actions were lawful.

(b) The court, in making a determination whether or not evidence shall be suppressed under this section, shall make findings of fact and conclusions of law which shall be included in the record, pursuant to G.S. 15A-977(f)."

SECTION 2. The General Assembly respectfully requests that the North Carolina Supreme Court reconsider, and overrule, its holding in State v. Carter that the good faith exception to the exclusionary rule which exists under federal law does not apply under North Carolina State law.

SECTION 3. This act is effective when it becomes law and applies to all hearings or trials commencing on or after July 1, 2011.

HOUSE BILL 3:
Exclusionary Rule/Good Faith Exception

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	March 3, 2011
Introduced by:	Reps. Stam, Ingle, Faircloth	Prepared by:	Brad Krehely
Analysis of:	Third Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: This act would codify the good faith exception to the exclusionary rule into State law.

CURRENT LAW: Evidence may be excluded if it was obtained in violation of the federal or State Constitutions, or as the result of a substantial violation of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes, the laws of criminal procedure.

BACKGROUND: The 4th Amendment to the United States Constitution prohibits unreasonable searches and seizures. Under the exclusionary rule, evidence obtained in violation of the 4th Amendment is generally not admissible. The rationale is that officers will be deterred from violating the 4th Amendment if they know the evidence cannot be used. Federal law and North Carolina law differs with respect to the good faith exception to the exclusionary rule.

I. Federal Law

The good faith exception to the exclusionary rule applies under federal law. In a 1984 case, United States v. Leon, the U.S. Supreme Court held that the Fourth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution did not require the suppression of evidence that had been obtained by law enforcement officers who had acted in good faith. The Court held that exclusion of evidence under circumstances where law enforcement had exhibited objectively reasonable conduct, and then relied upon the judgment of a neutral and detached magistrate, would not deter future police misconduct.

A more recent U.S. Supreme Court decision stated that evidence should only be excluded if an officer, in applying for a warrant, engaged in "deliberate, reckless, or grossly negligent conduct" or the conduct reflected "recurring or systemic negligence." The federal courts look to whether "the deterrent effect of suppression of evidence is substantial and outweighs any harm to the justice system."

II. State Law

North Carolina State law does not recognize the good faith exception to the exclusionary rule. In a 1988 case, State v. Carter, the N.C. Supreme Court did not apply a good faith exception and excluded evidence based upon the issuance of a non-testimonial identification order instead of a warrant.

The North Carolina Supreme Court held that the trial court had erred in allowing the evidence. The Court discussed the history of the exclusionary rule, and voiced its concerns that exceptions would overcome the rule itself. The Court stated that "[t]he framers of our constitution sought to check the tendency of government to overreach by placing a constitutional mantle around the right to privacy in one's person, home, and effects." The Court believed that the "exclusionary rule [was] indispensable to achieve the purposes for which prohibitions against unreasonable search and seizure were written into the constitutions of the revolutionary era." The N.C. Supreme Court pointed to the fact that, as a policy choice, North Carolina had adopted a statutory exclusionary rule [now G.S. 15A-974]. The Court stated: "This policy has existed since 1937. If a good faith exception is to be applied to this public policy, let it be done by the legislature, the body politic responsible for the formation and expression of matters of public policy."

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1: The act would retain the provision that exclusion is required if evidence was obtained in violation of the federal or State Constitutions. However, for suppression of evidence based on a substantial violation of Chapter 15A, the evidence must not be suppressed if the person who commits the violation acted under the objectively reasonable, good faith belief that the actions were lawful. The act also requires the court to making findings of fact and conclusions of law when determining whether or not to exclude evidence.

Section 2: The act respectfully requests that the N.C. Supreme Court reconsider its holding in State v. Carter that the good faith exception to the exclusionary rule which exists under federal law does not apply under North Carolina State law.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law and applies to all hearings or trials commencing on or after July 1, 2011.

SENATE BILL 26

Short Title:	North Carolina Benefit Corporation Act.	(Public)
Sponsors:	Senators Vaughan, Stevens, Kinnaird; and Brunstetter.
Referred to:	Judiciary I.

February 2, 2011

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ENACT THE NORTH CAROLINA BENEFIT CORPORATION ACT.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Chapter 55 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new Article to read:

"Article 18.

"The North Carolina Benefit Corporation Act.

"Part 1. Preliminary Provisions.

"§ 55-18-1. Short title.

This Article may be cited as "The North Carolina Benefit Corporation Act."

"§ 55-18-2. Application and effect of Article.

(a) This Article applies to all benefit corporations.

(b) Benefit corporations are business corporations that have elected to become subject to this Article. The other Articles of this Chapter apply to benefit corporations, including their organization. Benefit corporations shall enjoy the powers and privileges and shall be subject to the duties, restrictions, and liabilities of other corporations under this Chapter, except as may be limited or enlarged by this Article. If any provision of this Article conflicts with the law in the rest of this Chapter, the provision of this Article shall prevail.

(c) The existence of a provision of this Article shall not of itself create an implication that a contrary or different rule of law is applicable to a business corporation that is not a benefit corporation. This Article shall not affect a statute or rule of law that is applicable to a business corporation that is not a benefit corporation.

(d) A provision of the articles or bylaws of a benefit corporation may not be inconsistent with or supersede a provision of this Article, unless specifically stated otherwise in a particular provision of this Article.

(e) A document required or permitted by this Article to be delivered to the Secretary of State for filing shall be filed under Chapter 55D of the General Statutes.

"§ 55-18-3. Definitions.

(a) As used in this Article, the following words shall, unless the context requires otherwise, have the following meanings:

(1) "Benefit corporation" means a business corporation that has elected to become subject to this Article and that has not terminated its status as a benefit corporation under G.S. 55-18-23.

(2) "Benefit director" means the director designated under G.S. 55-18-31.

(3) "Benefit enforcement proceeding" means any claim or action brought under G.S. 55-18-44 against a director or officer for any of the following:

a. Failing to pursue the general public benefit purpose of the benefit corporation or any specific public benefit purpose set forth in its articles of incorporation.
b. Violating a duty or standard of conduct under this Article.

(4) "Benefit officer" means the individual designated under G.S. 55-18-43.

(5) "General public benefit" means a material positive impact on society and the environment taken as a whole, as measured by a third-party standard, from the business and operations of a benefit corporation.

(6) "Independent" means having no material relationship with a benefit corporation or a subsidiary of the benefit corporation, either (i) directly as a shareholder of the benefit corporation or as a partner, a member, or an owner of a subsidiary of the benefit corporation or (ii) indirectly as a director, an officer, or a manager of an entity that has a material relationship with the benefit corporation or a subsidiary of the benefit corporation. The term does not include the relationship of serving as benefit director or benefit officer. A material relationship between a person and a benefit corporation or any of its subsidiaries will be conclusively presumed to exist if any of the following apply:

a. The person is, or has been within the last three years, an employee other than a benefit officer of the benefit corporation or a subsidiary of the benefit corporation.
b. An immediate family member of the person is, or has been within the last three years, an executive officer other than a benefit officer of the benefit corporation or its subsidiary.
c. There is a beneficial or record ownership of five percent (5%) or more of the outstanding shares of the benefit corporation by either of the following:
1. The person.
2. An entity in which the person (i) is a director, an officer, or a manager or (ii) the person owns beneficially or of record five percent (5%) or more of the outstanding equity interests.

This definition is subject to subsection (b) of this section.

(7) "Specific public benefit" means conferring any particular benefit on society or the environment, including, but not limited to, any of the following:

a. Providing low-income or underserved individuals or communities with beneficial products or services.
b. Promoting economic opportunity for individuals or communities beyond the creation of jobs in the normal course of business.
c. Preserving the environment.
d. Improving human health.
e. Promoting the arts, sciences, or advancement of knowledge.
f. Increasing the flow of capital to entities with a public benefit purpose.

(8) "Subsidiary" of a person means an entity in which the person owns beneficially or of record fifty percent (50%) or more of the outstanding equity interests. This definition is subject to subsection (b) of this section.

(9) "Third-party standard" means a recognized standard for defining, reporting, and assessing corporate social and environmental performance that meets the following requirements:

a. The standard is developed by a person that is independent of the benefit corporation.

b. The standard is transparent because the following information about the standard is publicly available:

1. The factors considered when measuring the performance of a business.
2. The relative weightings of those factors.
3. The identity of the persons that develop and control changes to the standard and the process by which those changes are made.

(b) For purposes of the definitions of "independent" and "subsidiary" in subsection (a) of this section, a percentage of ownership in an entity shall be calculated as if all outstanding rights to acquire equity interests in the entity had been exercised.

"Part 2. Formation and Change of Status.

"§ 55-18-20. Formation of benefit corporation.

A benefit corporation must be formed in accordance with the other Articles of this Chapter, but its articles of incorporation must also state it is a benefit corporation.

"§ 55-18-21. Heightened voting requirements for some actions.

Some actions and changes within benefit corporations are subject to heightened voting requirements that are in addition to any other approval or vote required by any other Articles in this Chapter, the articles of incorporation, or the bylaws. When a provision of this Article references a heightened voting requirement under this section, those votes are subject to the following conditions:

(1) The shareholders of every class or series must be entitled to vote on the corporate action regardless of a limitation stated in the articles of incorporation or bylaws on the voting rights of any class or series.

(2) The corporate action must be approved by vote of the shareholders of each class or series entitled to cast at least two-thirds of the votes that all shareholders of the class or series are entitled to cast on the action.

"§ 55-18-22. Election of benefit corporation status.

(a) A business corporation may become a benefit corporation under this Article by amending its articles of incorporation so that they contain, in addition to the requirements of G.S. 55-2-02(a), a statement that the corporation is a benefit corporation. In order to be effective, the amendment must be adopted under the heightened voting requirements in G.S. 55-18-21.

(b) If a corporation that is not a benefit corporation is a party to a merger or share exchange, and the surviving or new corporation in the merger or share exchange is to be a benefit corporation, the plan of merger or share exchange shall not be effective unless it is adopted under the heightened voting requirements in G.S. 55-18-21.

"§ 55-18-23. Termination of benefit corporation status.

(a) A benefit corporation may terminate its status and cease to be subject to this Article by amending its articles of incorporation to delete the provision required by G.S. 55-18-20 to be stated in the articles of a benefit corporation. BILL ANALYSIS:

Part 1. Preliminary Provisions

This part of the act authorizes the creation of benefit corporations in North Carolina. A benefit corporation is a domestic corporation that elects to become subject to the requirements of the act. All other provisions of the Business Corporation Act apply to benefit corporations as well. Part 1 also includes the definitions section.

Part 2. Adoption and Change of Status

This part of the act describes the method by which a corporation may incorporate as a benefit corporation or transition to benefit corporation status. The transition, conversion, merger, or share exchange of an existing corporation requires an affirmative vote of at least 66 2/3% of the outstanding shares of each class or series of stock.

In addition, a benefit corporation can terminate its status by amending its articles of incorporation to delete the provisions identifying it as a benefit corporation. The termination also must be adopted by a vote of 66 2/3% of the outstanding shares.

Part 3. Corporate Purposes.

A benefit corporation must have as one of its corporate purposes the creation a general public benefit, which is defined as a "material positive impact on society and the environment, taken as a whole, as measured by an independent third-party standard, from the business and operations of a benefit corporation."

A benefit corporation may include as a corporate purpose one or more specific public benefit purposes in addition to its general public benefit. Specific public benefit purposes include:

- Providing low-income or underserved individuals or communities with beneficial products or services.
- Promoting economic opportunity for individuals or communities beyond creation of jobs in the normal course of business.

- Preserving or improving the environment.
- Improving human health.
- Promoting the arts, sciences, or advancement of knowledge.
- Increasing the flow of capital to entities with a public benefit purpose.

Part 4. Accountability.

This part establishes the standards of conduct for directors. Benefit corporation directors are required to consider the effects of any action or decision not to act upon the following:

- Shareholders of the benefit corporation.
- Employees of the corporation, it subsidiaries and suppliers.
- Customers, to the extent they are beneficiaries of the general or specific purposes.
- The local community and society.
- The local and global environment.
- The short and long-term interests of the benefit corporation.
- The ability of the benefit corporation to accomplish its general and any specific purposes.

Directors are not required to give priority to any of the interests or groups. Consideration of these factors is not deemed inconsistent with the general standards of conduct required of all business corporations. A director is not liable for monetary damages for any act or omission taken as a director other than acts or omissions the director knew or believed to be clearly in conflict with the benefit corporations general or specific public benefit purpose. The director is also not liable for failure of the benefit corporation to create a general or specific public benefit.

The board of directors must designate one director who is an independent person to be the benefit director. The benefit director must prepare an opinion regarding the actions and success of the benefit corporation in meeting its benefit purposes over the year, as well as whether the directors complied with the required standard of conduct.

The corporation may also designate a benefit officer to monitor the corporations benefit activities, perform other assigned duties, and prepare the annual benefit report to the shareholders.

The duties of directors may be enforced in a benefit enforcement proceeding. The proceeding may be commenced or maintained only by the corporation directly, or derivatively, by a shareholder, director, owner of at least 5% voting interest or by other persons specified in the articles of incorporation.

Part 5. Annual Reporting.

A benefit corporation is required to prepare an annual report that includes:

- A narrative of the manner in which the corporation has pursued its general and specific public benefit purposes, and the circumstances that have hindered the pursuit of the purposes.

- An assessment of the social and environmental performance of the corporation prepared in accordance with a third-party standard.
- The name and address of the benefit director and the benefit officer.
- The compensation paid to each director by the benefit corporation.
- The name of each person that owns 5% or more of the outstanding shares.
- The required statement of the benefit director.
- A statement of any relationship between the benefit corporation and the entity that developed the third-party standard.

The report must be sent annually to each shareholder within 120 days following the end of the fiscal year or when the corporation delivers any other annual report, whichever occurs first. The benefit corporation must also post the report on a publically accessible section of its internet website. The report must also be sent with the annual report that the corporation must deliver to the Secretary of Revenue, or in the alternative to the Secretary of State, except that director compensation and any financial or proprietary information may be excluded.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

"§ 9-4. Preparation and custody of list.

As the jury list is prepared, the name ~~and address~~ of each qualified person selected for the list shall be written on a separate card. The cards shall then be alphabetized and permanently numbered, the numbers running consecutively with a different number on each card. These cards shall constitute the jury list for the county. They shall be filed with the register of deeds of the county, together with a statement of the sources used and procedures followed in preparing the list. The register of deeds may elect to store an electronic copy of the jury list for the county."

SECTION 2. This act is effective when it becomes law.

SENATE BILL 133:
Juror Privacy

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	March 15, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Clodfelter	Prepared by:	Brad Krehely
Analysis of:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 133 would eliminate the requirement that the addresses of qualified persons be included on the jury list that is filed with the register of deeds.

CURRENT LAW: On July 1 of every odd-numbered year, the jury commission must prepare a list of prospective jurors qualified to serve in the biennium beginning on January 1 of the next year. Alternatively, the commission may prepare a list each year if the senior regular resident superior court judge makes that requests in writing. The jury commission must use the names of registered voters and person with drivers license records and may use other sources of names it deems reliable. The commission shall remove the names of deceased residents. The commission must merge the entire list of names and randomly select the number of names to form the jury list. It may use fewer than all the names from the list if it uses a random method of selection.

Counties that have electronic data processing equipment may use the equipment to carry out many of these functions. The procedure for these functions must be in writing, adopted by the jury commission, and kept available for public inspection in the clerk's office. The procedure must preserve the right of public access to the list of prospective jurors. Public access to the jury list required by G.S. 9-4 shall be limited to the alphabetical listing of the names.

G.S. 9-4 provides that as the jury list is prepared, the name and address of each qualified person selected for the list must be kept on a separate card. The cards must be filed with the register of deeds of the county and must be available for public inspection during regular office hours. The register of deeds may elect to store an electronic copy of the jury list for the county.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 133 would eliminate the requirement that the addresses of qualified persons be included on the jury list that is filed with the register of deeds.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law.

SENATE BILL 47:
Restore Partisan Judicial Elections

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	March 14, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Tillman	Prepared by:	R. Erika Churchill
Analysis of:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 47 would provide that elections of appellate court, superior court and district court judges be conducted in partisan manner.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to H64, as introduced by Reps. Sager, Dixon, Cleveland, Jones, which is currently in House Elections.]

CURRENT LAW: Prior to 1996, elections of judges in North Carolina were conducted in partisan manner. In 1996, the law governing the elections of superior court judges was amended to make those elections nonpartisan. In 2001, the law governing the elections of district court judges was amended to make those elections nonpartisan. In 2002, the law governing the elections of appellate court judges was amendment to make those elections nonpartisan, beginning with the 2004 elections. As a result, currently, all elections of appellate court, superior court and district court judges in North Carolina are conducted in a nonpartisan manner.

Appellate Court justices are elected statewide, and serve eight year terms. The Superior and District Court Divisions of the General Court of Justice consist of various district courts organized in territorial districts, with at least one district judge in each district. The General Assembly determines the number of judges for each district. Each judge must be a resident of the district to which he or she is elected. Superior Court judges serve eight-year terms, district court judges serve four-year terms. Vacancies in the offices are filled for the unexpired term by appointment of the Governor. from nominations submitted by the district bar. If elected from a district, nominees must be residents of the district who are licensed to practice law in the district and who are members of the same political party as the vacating judge.

The provisions for nonpartisan judicial races are set out in Article 25 of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes. Candidates run in nonpartisan primaries, held on the same day in May as the party primaries. The primaries reduce the field to twice the number to be elected, eliminating additional candidates. Then, the reduced field runs in the November general election. The system is patterned after the nonpartisan primary and elections used by some cities to elect their mayors and city councils. The nonpartisan primaries and elections are by district for superior and district court judges.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 would repeal Article 25 of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes, which sets out the process for conducting nonpartisan judicial races.

Sections 2-7 would amend various partisan election procedural statutes to include judicial candidates.

Sections 8-18 would make conforming changes necessary to implement the repeal of Article 25 of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Effective January 1, 2012, but may not be implemented until the session law has received 'preclearance' approval under Section 5 of the Voting Rights of 1965 by the U.S. Department of Justice.

Statement of the North Carolina Association of Defense Attorneys

In Opposition to SB47

The members of the North Carolina Association of Defense Attorneys (NCADA) are civil trial attorneys who defend businesses, professionals, and individuals in North Carolina. The mission of the NCADA is to promote the fair and impartial administration of justice, the exchange of information, ideas, and litigation techniques, and to strengthen the practice, improve the skills, and enhance the knowledge of its members.

As lawyers engaged in defending the citizens of North Carolina, both individual and corporate, in our courtrooms every day, the members of the NCADA are deeply concerned about the quality, impartiality, and integrity of our judiciary. Because of that concern, we oppose the restoration of partisan judicial elections.

Unlike the other branches of our State government, our judicial branch is not, and should not be political. Unlike our other elected officials, judges are ethically required to be impartial and independent. As stated in the first line of the Preamble to the North Carolina Code of Judicial Conduct, an "independent and honorable judiciary is indispensable to justice in our society." In keeping with these principles, North Carolina determined years ago that judicial elections should not be partisan. Since that time, high quality judges of different political persuasions have been elected.

In order for our justice system to be independent, judges must be free to rule without concern about how a decision will impact partisan or special interests. Insertion of partisan politics into judicial election necessarily undermines the public's confidence in the independence of its judges.

North Carolina has avoided the spectacle of high profile, bitterly partisan judicial elections. In our view, this Bill will overturn a carefully considered positive change and make the State's judiciary vulnerable to the partisan show occurring in many other states. This will undermine confidence in a fair and reliable system of justice, which is essential to a positive business climate. The NCADA believes that our focus instead should be on what more can be done to improve the quality of the judiciary.

Unlike our legislators, the function of a judge is not to write or create the law, but to apply and uphold it, regardless of their own personal opinions. Intellect, integrity and judicial temperament are the qualities that members of the NCADA consider in supporting judicial candidates. We believe that our clients, and the citizens of North Carolina, are best served by judges who consider the facts fairly, and apply the law impartially. In our experience, these are qualities of the individual candidate and are in no way tied to party affiliation.

SENATE BILL 191:
Death Certificate Signatures

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	March 17, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Mansfield	Prepared by:	Brad Krehely
Analysis of:	PCS to First Edition S191-CSMG-1		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 191 would allow physician assistants and nurse practitioners to complete medical certifications as to the cause of death and allow electronic or facsimile signatures on death certificates without approval by the State Registrar.

CURRENT LAW: A death certificate for each death which occurs in this State shall be filed with the local registrar of the county in which the death occurred within five days after the death. If the place of death is unknown, a death certificate shall be filed within five days in the county where the dead body is found. Generally, the medical certification shall be completed and signed by the physician in charge of the patient's care for the illness or condition which resulted in death. In the absence of the physician or with the physician's approval, the certificate may be completed and signed by an associate physician, the chief medical officer of the hospital or facility in which the death occurred or a physician who performed an autopsy upon the decedent under the following circumstances: the individual has access to the medical history of the deceased; the individual has viewed the deceased at or after death; and the death is due to natural causes. When specifically approved by the State Registrar, an electronic signature or facsimile signature of the physician shall be acceptable.

Under certain conditions, both physician assistants and nurse practitioners may write prescriptions, compound and dispense drugs, and order medications, tests, and treatments. However, physician assistants and nurse practitioners may not sign death certificates.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 provides that a physician assistant may complete a medical certification for a death certificate, and it will be deemed to have been authorized by the physician assistant's supervising physician.

Section 2 provides that a nurse practitioner may complete a medical certification for a death certificate, and it will be deemed to have been authorized by the nurse practitioner's supervising physician.

Section 3 allows electronic or facsimile signatures on death certificates without specific approval by the State Registrar. It updates the definition of "electronic signature" to include the definition set forth in the Uniform Electronic Transfers Act. This section also makes conforming changes.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act becomes effective October 1, 2011, and applies to certifications signed on or after that date.

BACKGROUND: The PCS for Senate Bill 191 combines the provisions Senate Bill 190- Allow Electronic Signatures on Death Certificates and Senate Bill 191- Allow Nurse Practitioners to Sign Death Certificates. The PCS authorizes physician assistants to sign death certificates and updates the definition of electronic signature.

Upon the completion of such transaction, the surviving or acquiring corporation to be a benefit corporation must include a provision in its articles of incorporation providing that the corporation shall be a benefit corporation governed by this Article and an identification of any specific public benefit purpose or purposes as required by G.S. 55-18-30.

"§ 55-18-22. Termination of benefit corporation status.

(a) A benefit corporation may terminate its status and cease to be subject to this Article by amending its articles of incorporation to delete the provision that the corporation shall be a benefit corporation governed by this Article. Such an amendment must be approved in the manner required by G.S. 55-18-23. The notice of the meeting of shareholders to approve the amendment must include a statement by the board of directors of the reasons why the board is proposing the amendment and a discussion of the anticipated effect on the shareholders of terminating the status of the corporation as a benefit corporation.

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	March 7, 2011
Introduced by:	Sens. Vaughan, Stevens, Kinnaird	Prepared by:	Karen Cochrane-Brown Committee Counsel
Analysis of:	PCS to First Edition S26-CSME-2

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 26 would establish the North Carolina Benefit Corporation Act. The act authorizes the creation of a benefit corporation which must include within its corporate purposes a general public benefit that has a material positive impact on society and the environment. A benefit corporation may also include one or more specific public benefit purposes in addition to its general public benefit. The benefit corporation must appoint an independent benefits director who must prepare an annual benefit report, as provided by the act. The act also authorizes a right of action against the directors of the corporation to enforce the directors' duties under the act.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Part 1. Preliminary Provisions

This part of the act authorizes the creation of benefit corporations in North Carolina. A benefit corporation is a domestic corporation that elects to become subject to the requirements of the act. All other provisions of the Business Corporation Act apply to benefit corporations as well. Part 1 also includes the definitions section.

Part 2. Adoption and Change of Status

This part of the act describes the method by which a corporation may incorporate as a benefit corporation or transition to benefit corporation status. The transition, conversion, merger, or share exchange of an existing corporation requires an affirmative vote of at least 66 2/3% of the outstanding shares of each class or series of stock.

In addition, a benefit corporation can terminate its status by amending its articles of incorporation to delete the provisions identifying it as a benefit corporation. The termination also must be adopted by a vote of 66 2/3% of the outstanding shares.

Part 3. Corporate Purposes.

A benefit corporation must have as one of its corporate purposes the creation a general public benefit, which is defined as a "material positive impact on society and the environment, taken as a whole, as measured by an independent third-party standard, from the business and operations of a benefit corporation."

A benefit corporation may include as a corporate purpose one or more specific public benefit purposes in addition to its general public benefit. Specific public benefit purposes include:

- Providing low-income or underserved individuals or communities with beneficial products or services.
- Promoting economic opportunity for individuals or communities beyond creation of jobs in the normal course of business.

- Preserving or improving the environment.
- Improving human health.
- Promoting the arts, sciences, or advancement of knowledge.
- Increasing the flow of capital to entities with a public benefit purpose.

Part 4. Accountability.

This part establishes the standards of conduct for directors. Benefit corporation directors are required to consider the effects of any action or decision not to act upon the following:

- Shareholders of the benefit corporation.
- Employees of the corporation, it subsidiaries and suppliers.
- Customers, to the extent they are beneficiaries of the general or specific purposes.
- The local community and society.
- The local and global environment.
- The short and long-term interests of the benefit corporation.
- The ability of the benefit corporation to accomplish its general and any specific purposes.

Directors are not required to give priority to any of the interests or groups. Consideration of these factors is not deemed inconsistent with the general standards of conduct required of all business corporations. A director is not liable for monetary damages for any act or omission taken as a director other than acts or omissions the director knew or believed to be clearly in conflict with the benefit corporations general or specific public benefit purpose. The director is also not liable for failure of the benefit corporation to create a general or specific public benefit.

The board of directors must designate one director who is an independent person to be the benefit director. The benefit director must prepare an opinion regarding the actions and success of the benefit corporation in meeting its benefit purposes over the year, as well as whether the directors complied with the required standard of conduct.

The corporation may also designate a benefit officer to monitor the corporations benefit activities, perform other assigned duties, and prepare the annual benefit report to the shareholders.

The duties of directors may be enforced in a benefit enforcement proceeding. The proceeding may be commenced or maintained only by the corporation directly, or derivatively, by a shareholder, director, owner of at least 5% voting interest or by other persons specified in the articles of incorporation.

Part 5. Annual Reporting.

A benefit corporation is required to prepare an annual report that includes:

- A narrative of the manner in which the corporation has pursued its general and specific public benefit purposes, and the circumstances that have hindered the pursuit of the purposes.

- An assessment of the social and environmental performance of the corporation prepared in accordance with a third-party standard.
- The name and address of the benefit director and the benefit officer.
- The compensation paid to each director by the benefit corporation.
- The name of each person that owns 5% or more of the outstanding shares.
- The required statement of the benefit director.
- A statement of any relationship between the benefit corporation and the entity that developed the third-party standard.

The report must be sent annually to each shareholder within 120 days following the end of the fiscal year or when the corporation delivers any other annual report, whichever occurs first. The benefit corporation must also post the report on a publically accessible section of its internet website. The report must also be sent with the annual report that the corporation must deliver to the Secretary of Revenue, or in the alternative to the Secretary of State, except that director compensation and any financial or proprietary information may be excluded.

SECTION 3. The State Bureau of Investigation (SBI) shall encourage and seek collaborative opportunities and grant funds for research programs, in association whenever possible with the university system or independent nationally recognized forensic institutions, on human observer bias and sources of human error in forensic examinations. Such programs might include studies to determine the effects of contextual bias in forensic practice (e.g., studies to determine whether and to what extent the results of forensic analysis are influenced by knowledge regarding the background of the suspect and the investigator's theory of the case). In addition, research on sources of human error should be closely linked with research conducted to quantify and characterize the amount of error. Based on the results of these studies, and in consultation with the North Carolina Forensic Sciences Advisory Board, the North Carolina State Crime Laboratory should develop standard operating procedures (that will lay the foundation for model protocols) to minimize, to the extent possible, potential bias and sources of human error in forensic science. These standard operating procedures should apply to all forensic analyses that may be used in litigation.

SECTION 4. The Revisor of Statutes shall replace the name of the State Bureau of Investigation Laboratory, or any other name which is identified with the State Bureau of Investigation Laboratory, with the name "North Carolina State Crime Laboratory" wherever first used in a statute or session law and with "State Crime Laboratory" at each subsequent location in the statute or session law.

SECTION 6. The position of ombudsman is created in the North Carolina State Crime Laboratory within the North Carolina Department of Justice. The primary purpose of this position shall be to work with defense counsel, prosecutorial agencies, criminal justice system stakeholders, law enforcement officials, and the general public to ensure all processes, procedures, practices, and protocols at the Laboratory are consistent with State and federal law, best forensic law practices, and in the best interests of justice in this State. The ombudsman shall mediate complaints brought to the attention of the ombudsman between the SBI and defense counsel, prosecutorial agencies, law enforcement agencies, and the general public. The ombudsman shall ensure all criminal justice stakeholders and the general public are aware of the availability, responsibilities, and role of the ombudsman and shall regularly attend meetings of the Conferences of the District Attorneys, District and Superior Court Judges, Public Defenders, the Advocates for Justice, and Bar Criminal Law Sections. The ombudsman shall make recommendations on a regular basis to the Director of the State Crime Laboratory, Director of the SBI, and Attorney General of North Carolina as to policies, procedures, practices, and training of employees needed at the Laboratory to ensure compliance with State and federal law, best forensic law practices, and to resolve any meritorious systemic complaints received by the ombudsman.

SECTION 6.(a). The funds for the position of ombudsman created in Section 6 of this act shall be provided by the Department of Justice from other funds appropriated to the Department, and from other grants or funding that are available from other sources.

SECTION 7. G.S. 8-58.20 reads as rewritten:

"§ 8-58.20. Forensic analysis admissible as evidence.

(a) In any criminal prosecution, a laboratory report of a written forensic analysis, including an analysis of the defendant's DNA, or a forensic sample alleged to be the defendant's DNA, as that term is defined in G.S. 15A-266.2(2), that states the results of the analysis and that is signed and sworn to by the person performing the analysis may be admissible in evidence without the testimony of the analyst who prepared the report in accordance with the requirements of this section.

(b) A forensic analysis, to be admissible under this section, shall be performed ~~in accordance with rules or procedures adopted by the State Bureau of Investigation, or by another laboratory accredited by the American Society of Crime Laboratory Directors/Laboratory Accreditation Board (ASCLD/LAB)~~ by a laboratory that is accredited by an accrediting body that requires conformance to forensic specific requirements and which is a signatory to the International Laboratory Accreditation Cooperation (ILAC) Mutual Recognition Arrangement For Testing for the submission, identification, analysis, and storage of forensic analyses. The analyses of DNA samples and typing results of DNA samples shall be performed ~~in accordance with the rules or procedures of the State Bureau of Investigation or other ASCLD/LAB accredited laboratory.~~ by a laboratory that is accredited by an accrediting body that requires conformance to forensic specific requirements and which is a signatory to the ILAC Mutual Recognition Arrangement For Testing.

(c) The analyst who analyzes the forensic sample and signs the report shall complete an affidavit on a form developed by the State Bureau of Investigation. In the affidavit, the analyst shall state (i) that the person is qualified by education, training, and experience to perform the analysis, (ii) the name and location of the laboratory where the analysis was performed, and (iii) that performing the analysis is part of that person's regular duties. The analyst shall also aver in the affidavit that the tests were performed pursuant to the ~~ASCLD/LAB~~ accrediting body's standards for that discipline and that the evidence was handled in accordance with established and accepted procedures while in the custody of the laboratory. The affidavit shall be sufficient to constitute prima facie evidence regarding the person's qualifications. The analyst shall attach the affidavit to the laboratory report and shall provide the affidavit to the investigating officer and the district attorney in the prosecutorial district in which the criminal charges are pending. An affidavit by a forensic analyst sworn to and properly executed before an official authorized to administer oaths is admissible in evidence without further authentication in any criminal proceeding with respect to the forensic analysis administered and the procedures followed.

SECTION 9. G.S. 15A-903 reads as rewritten:

"§ 15A-903. Disclosure of evidence by the State – Information subject to disclosure.

(a) Upon motion of the defendant, the court must order the State to:

(1) Make available to the defendant the complete files of all law enforcement and prosecutorial agencies involved in the investigation of the crimes committed or the prosecution of the defendant.

a. The term "file" includes the defendant's statements, the codefendants' statements, witness statements, investigating officers' notes, results of tests and examinations, or any other matter or evidence obtained during the investigation of the offenses alleged to have been committed by the defendant. When any matter or evidence is submitted for testing or examination, in addition to any test or examination results, all other data, calculations, or writings of any kind shall be made available to the defendant, including, but not limited to, preliminary test or screening results and bench notes.

b. The term "prosecutorial agency" includes any public or private entity that obtains information on behalf of a law enforcement agency or prosecutor in connection with the investigation of the crimes committed or the prosecution of the defendant.

c. Oral statements shall be in written or recorded form, except that oral statements made by a witness to a prosecuting attorney outside the presence of a law enforcement officer or investigatorial assistant shall not be required to be in written or recorded form unless there is significantly new or different information in the oral statement from a prior statement made by the witness.

d. The defendant shall have the right to inspect and copy or photograph any materials contained therein and, under appropriate safeguards, to inspect, examine, and test any physical evidence or sample contained therein.

(2) Give notice to the defendant of any expert witnesses that the State reasonably expects to call as a witness at trial. Each such witness shall prepare, and the State shall furnish to the defendant, a report of the results of any examinations or tests conducted by the expert. The State shall also furnish to the defendant the expert's curriculum vitae, the expert's opinion, and the underlying basis for that opinion. The State shall give the notice and furnish the materials required by this subsection within a reasonable time prior to trial, as specified by the court.

(3) Give the defendant, at the beginning of jury selection, a written list of the names of all other witnesses whom the State reasonably expects to call during the trial. Names of witnesses shall not be subject to disclosure if the State certifies in writing and under seal to the court that to do so may subject the witnesses or others to physical or substantial economic harm or coercion, or that there is other particularized, compelling need not to disclose. If there are witnesses that the State did not reasonably expect to call at the time of the provision of the witness list, and as a result are not listed, the court upon a good faith showing shall allow the witnesses to be called. Additionally, in the interest of justice, the court may in its discretion permit any undisclosed witness to testify.

(b) If the State voluntarily provides disclosure under G.S. 15A-902(a), the disclosure shall be to the same extent as required by subsection (a) of this section.

(c) Upon request by the State, a law enforcement or prosecutorial agency shall make available to the State a complete copy of the complete files related to the investigation of the crimes committed or the prosecution of the defendant for compliance with this section and any disclosure under G.S. 15A-902(a). All public and private entities that obtain such information shall ensure that all material listed in subdivision (1) of subsection (a) of this section is fully disclosed to the referring prosecutorial agency for disclosure to the defendant.

(d) A willful omission or misrepresentation by any person in connection with this section constitutes an obstruction of justice and is punishable as provided by law."

SECTION 10. G.S. 114-16 reads as rewritten:

A sufficient number of persons skilled in such matters shall be employed to render a reasonable service to the ~~prosecuting officers of the State~~ public and the criminal justice system in the discharge of their duties. In the personnel of the Bureau shall be included a sufficient number of persons of training and skill in the investigation of crime and in the preparation of evidence as to be of service to local enforcement officers, under the direction of the Governor, in criminal matters of major importance.

The laboratory and clinical facilities of the institutions of the State, both educational and departmental, shall be made available to the Bureau, and scientists and doctors now working for the State through its institutions and departments may be called upon by the Governor to aid the Bureau in the evaluation, preparation, and preservation of evidence in which scientific methods are employed, and a reasonable fee may be allowed by the Governor for such service.

The State radio system shall be made available to the Bureau for use in its work."

SECTION 11. Sections 1 through 5 and 7 through 11 are effective when this act becomes law, and Section 6 becomes effective July 1, 2011. Nothing in this act is intended to amend or modify either the statutory or common law applicable to discovery in criminal cases which was applicable prior to the effective date of this act. Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions.

BILL SUMMARY:

This act would:

1) Create the North Carolina Forensic Science Advisory Board;
2) Encourage efforts to eliminate sources of human error in forensic examinations;
3) Require certification of forensic science professionals;
4) Rename the State Bureau of Investigation Laboratory as the North Carolina State Crime Laboratory;

5) Create the position of ombudsman in the North Carolina State Crime Laboratory within the North Carolina Department of Justice;
6) Clarify statutes that allow for the admissibility of forensic analyses into evidence;
7) Clarify the State's obligation to disclose to the defendant all information relating to the testing or examination of evidence and to penalize omission or misrepresentation relating to disclosure; and
8) Clarify that State Crime Laboratory personnel serve the public and the criminal justice system.

The provision creating an ombudsman is effective July 1, 2011. The remainder of the act is effective when it becomes law.
Source: Bill Summary of the First Edition prepared by the Research Division 02/04/2011.

The proposed legislation also clarifies in Section 6 that funds for the position of ombudsman shall be provided by the Department of Justice from other funds appropriated to the Department and from other grants or funding that are available. It also provides for an obstruction of justice offense where a person willfully omits or misrepresents information relating to the disclosure requirement.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

Department of Justice

Section 2:
The proposed legislation creates the Forensic Science Advisory Board to review State Crime Laboratory operations and make recommendations concerning the services furnished to user agencies. The Board would serve as an advisory board within the Department of Justice (DOJ) and would consist of 16 members, including the State Crime Laboratory Director and 15 members appointed by the Attorney General.

Impact: The proposed legislation requires a minimum of four meetings throughout the year. Using the standard uniform expense methods for boards and commissions, the Fiscal Research Division estimates that $15,245 in subsistence and travel expenses would be necessary to support the advisory board. This figure represents $10,445 ($116.05 daily per diem x 15 members x half of non-legislative members using two days of subsistence x 4 meetings) for non-legislative member subsistence and $4,800 ($80 round trip reimbursement x 15 members x 4 meetings) in travel expenses. DOJ can use existing support staff to provide clerical assistance to the board. If the board meets more than four times a year, there may be additional expenses.

Section 4:
The act requires that forensic science professionals at the State Crime Laboratory be certified consistent with international and ISO standards as soon as practicable, but no later than June 1, 2012, unless certification is not available. It also requires that all forensic science professionals have access to the certification process.

Impact: There are currently 145 forensic scientist positions established in the Crime Lab operating budget that would be subject to these certification requirements. DOJ estimates that initial study and proficiency testing would require a onetime expense of $52,400 for the 145 positions, an average expense of $361 per position. Crime lab managers received current estimates from national associations who provide the training and testing. Examples of these organizations include the Association of Firearm and Tool Mark Examiners, the American Board of Criminalistics (ABC), and related professional associations. Initial non-recurring certification expenses would be $5,350, or an average of $37.00 per position. The Fiscal Research Division has included estimates for initial funding because this is a new requirement for existing employees. No recurring costs are included as it is assumed that certification will be a requirement for new hires. Historically, certification expenses have not been paid with State funds. For instance, State nurses and teachers pay for licensure and certification themselves.

DOJ estimated that recurring training would cost $177,045 (145 forensic scientists x $1,221 per position per year). However, the Fiscal Research Division believes this figure is overstated and is not certain what an appropriate cost would be at this time. Therefore, the cost of recurring training was not included in the chart on the front page of the note. The Fiscal Research Division presumes recurring training for the scientists could be funded by existing funds appropriated to DOJ for training.

The chart below shows the estimated cost for the certification of forensic scientists:

		Non Recurring Expenses for Each Scientist
Section	Number staff	Per Staff Cost Per Exam	NR Cost Certification Exams	Per Staff Annual Cert. Fee	Total NR Annual Cert. Fee
Digital Evidence	7.00	$200.00	$1,400.00	$25.00	$175.00
Audio / Video*	2.00	$9,000.00	$18,000.00	$0.00	$0.00
Firearms	11.00	$250.00	$2,750.00	$25.00	$275.00
Forensic Biology	45.00	$250.00	$11,250.00	$40.00	$1,800.00
Latent	10.00	$150.00	$1,500.00	$30.00	$300.00
Trace	12.00	$250.00	$3,000.00	$40.00	$480.00
Drugs	31.00	$250.00	$7,750.00	$40.00	$1,240.00
Triad Lab	13.00	$250.00	$3,250.00	$40.00	$520.00
Western Lab	14.00	$250.00	$3,500.00	$40.00	$560.00
Total	145.00		$52,400.00		$5,350.00

To the extent that any of these positions are currently vacant, this cost may be overstated.

Section 6:
The act formally creates the position of ombudsman in the North Carolina State Crime Laboratory within the Department of Justice. The primary purpose of the position would be to work with defense counsel, prosecutorial agencies, criminal justice system stakeholders, law enforcement officials, and the general public to ensure that all Laboratory practices are consistent with State and federal law, best forensic law practices, and are in the best interests of justice. Section 6A states that funds for the position of ombudsman shall be provided by DOJ from other funds appropriated to the Department and from other grants or funding that are available.

The salary and benefits for the position of ombudsman are included in the chart below:

Position Classification	FTE	Annual Salary	Social Security	Retirement	Health	Total Salary & Benefits for FY 11-12
Attorney III (ombudsman)	1	$102,772	$7,862	$10,801	$4,930	$126,365

Impact: The position of ombudsman was previously created by DOJ in response to a recommendation from independent auditors and the Joint Select Committee on the Preservation of Biological Evidence. The position was filled by execution of a contract between DOJ and a former judge, who has already begun work. Therefore, the cost for the position has not been included in the total expenditures for DOJ on the front page of the note.

Sections 7 and 8:
Section 7 and 8 clarifies the statutes regarding the admissibility of forensic analyses in criminal proceedings and the statutes regarding the admissibility of chemical analyses for certain vehicular offenses. It removes the requirement that admissible forensic analyses be performed by a laboratory accredited by the American Society of Crime Laboratory Directors/Laboratory Accreditation Board (ASCLD/LAB) and instead provides that an admissible forensic analysis must be performed by a laboratory that is accredited by an accrediting body that requires conformance to forensic specific requirements and which is a signatory to the International Laboratory Accreditation Cooperation (ILAC) Mutual Recognition Arrangement for Testing.

Impact: Since 2007, DOJ certification costs paid to ASCLAD have averaged $35,731 a year and have been funded by grant sources. Lab accreditation expenses have not historically been paid with State funds and no State funding has been appropriated by the General Assembly to support accreditation expenses.

Total Costs for the Department of Justice:

The chart below shows the total cost estimate to implement the proposed legislation:

	FY 2011-12	FY 2012-13	FY 2013-14	FY 2014-15	FY 2015-16
PURCHASED SERVICES
Contractual Services:
NR Cost Certification Exams	$ 52,400	$ -	$ -	$ -	$ -
Total NR Annual Certification Fee	$ 5,350	$ -	$ -	$ -	$ -
Operating Costs	$ 57,750	***$ -	***$ -	***$ -	***$ -
Staff Costs: Ombudsman Position	$ 126,365	$ 135,481	$ 145,193	$ 153,267	$ 160,062
Advisory Board Costs	$ 15,245	$ 15,245	$ 15,245	$ 15,245	$ 15,245
Total	$ 199,360	$ 150,726	$ 160,438	$ 168,512	$ 175,307

The recurring cost for the ombudsman position has been inflated each year based on the projected growth estimated for salaries and benefits in the Fiscal Research Division's Fiscal Note Inflation Rate Estimates. The advisory board calculations are based on the rates set for this fiscal year.

Department of Correction – Division of Prisons

The Sentencing and Policy Advisory Commission prepares prison population projections for each bill containing a criminal penalty. The Commission assumes for such bills that expanding existing, or creating new criminal offenses produces no deterrent or incapacitative effect on crime. Therefore, the Fiscal Research Division does not assume deterrent effects for any criminal penalty bill.

Since the proposed bill creates a new offense, the Sentencing Commission does not have any historical data from which to estimate the impact of this bill on the prison population. It is not known how many offenders might be convicted and sentenced under the proposed bill.

In FY 2009-10, 36% of Class H convictions resulted in active sentences, with an average estimated time served of 11 months. If, for example, there were three Class H convictions for this proposed offense per year, the combination of active sentences and probation revocations would result in the need for one additional prison bed the first year and two additional prison beds the second year.

In FY 2009-10, 24% of Class 1 misdemeanor convictions resulted in active sentences. The average estimated time served for Class 1 convictions was 27 days. Offenders serving active sentences of 90 days or less are housed in county jails. Therefore, convictions for this proposed offense would not be expected to have a significant impact on the prison population. The impact on local jail populations is not known.

Judicial Branch

The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) provides Fiscal Research with a fiscal impact analysis for most criminal penalty bills. For such bills, fiscal impact is typically based on the assumption that court time will increase due to anticipated increases in trials and corresponding increases in workload for judges, clerks, and prosecutors. This increased court time is also expected to result in greater expenditures for jury fees and indigent defense.

The overall impact of the proposed legislation cannot be determined. The legislation has the potential to impact the court system in the following ways:

- To the extent the bill as a whole will reduce the number of challenges to the work of the State Crime Lab by defendants, it may result in a reduction in time to process some cases investigated on or after the effective date of the bill.
- The ombudsman position may improve efficiency to the extent that any issues will be more quickly resolved. Conversely, it is possible that the new requirements may add additional steps, resulting in a longer turnaround time and prolonging the duration of the case.
- The amended discovery provisions may improve efficiency to the extent they result in fewer discovery challenges by defendants and fewer delays when a prosecutor learns of something later in the case and a continuance is necessary in order for the defendant to have time to analyze the newly-discovered information.
- New G.S. 15A-903(d) would expand the scope of the current common law Class 1 Misdemeanor Offense, Obstructing Justice, and the Class H Felony Offense, Obstructing Justice if the act of obstructing justice was infamous, done in secrecy and malice, or with deceit and intent to defraud (G.S. 14-3). AOC cannot project the additional number of obstruction of justice charges that would occur due to the proposed legislation, but AOC does not anticipate a large number of charges. However, due to statewide shortages, AOC does not believe that any increase in workload could be absorbed by existing staff. During Calendar Year 2010, there were 127 defendants charged with 140 counts of the Class 1 Misdemeanor, Obstructing Justice, and 173 defendants were convicted of 184 charges. AOC does not have a separate offense code for the elevated charge of a Class H Felony. Thus, AOC is unable to provide an estimate of how many defendants were charged or convicted of the Class H felony offense.

In FY 2009-10, a typical felony case took approximately 206 days to dispose in Superior Court. A typical misdemeanor case took approximately 91 days to dispose in District Court. Any increase in judicial caseload without accompanying resources could be expected to further delay the disposition of cases.

Members of the Board cannot designate a proxy to vote in their absence.

(d) Expenses. – Members of the Board shall be paid reasonable and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties. Members of the Board who are State officers or employees shall receive no compensation for serving on the Board but may be reimbursed for their expenses in accordance with G.S. 138-6. The Board shall recommend to the Laboratory a review process to use when there is a request that the Laboratory retest or reexamine evidence that has been previously examined by the Laboratory."

SECTION 3. The State Bureau of Investigation (SBI) shall encourage and seek collaborative opportunities and grant funds for research programs, in association whenever possible with the university system or independent nationally recognized forensic institutions, on human observer bias and sources of human error in forensic examinations. Such programs might include studies to determine the effects of contextual bias in forensic practice (e.g., studies to determine whether and to what extent the results of forensic analysis are influenced by knowledge regarding the background of the suspect and the investigator's theory of the case). In addition, research on sources of human error should be closely linked with research conducted to quantify and characterize the amount of error. Based on the results of these studies, and in consultation with the North Carolina Forensic Sciences Advisory Board, the North Carolina State Crime Laboratory should develop standard operating procedures (that will lay the foundation for model protocols) to minimize, to the extent possible, potential bias and sources of human error in forensic science. These standard operating procedures should apply to all forensic analyses that may be used in litigation.

SECTION 4. Forensic science professionals at the State Crime Laboratory shall be required to obtain individual certification consistent with international and ISO standards as soon as practicable, but no later than June 1, 2012, unless no is certification available. All such forensic science professionals shall have access to the certification process.

SECTION 5. The Revisor of Statutes shall replace the name of the State Bureau of Investigation Laboratory, or any other name which is identified with the State Bureau of Investigation Laboratory, with the name "North Carolina State Crime Laboratory" wherever first used in a statute or session law and with "State Crime Laboratory" at each subsequent location in the statute or session law.

SECTION 6. The position of ombudsman is created in the North Carolina State Crime Laboratory within the North Carolina Department of Justice. The primary purpose of this position shall be to work with defense counsel, prosecutorial agencies, criminal justice system stakeholders, law enforcement officials, and the general public to ensure all processes, procedures, practices, and protocols at the Laboratory are consistent with State and federal law, best forensic law practices, and in the best interests of justice in this State. The ombudsman shall mediate complaints brought to the attention of the ombudsman between the SBI and defense counsel, prosecutorial agencies, law enforcement agencies, and the general public. The ombudsman shall ensure all criminal justice stakeholders and the general public are aware of the availability, responsibilities, and role of the ombudsman and shall regularly attend meetings of the Conferences of the District Attorneys, District and Superior Court Judges, Public Defenders, the Advocates for Justice, and Bar Criminal Law Sections. The ombudsman shall make recommendations on a regular basis to the Director of the State Crime Laboratory, Director of the SBI, and Attorney General of North Carolina as to policies, procedures, practices, and training of employees needed at the Laboratory to ensure compliance with State and federal law, best forensic law practices, and to resolve any meritorious systemic complaints received by the ombudsman.

SECTION 6.(a). The funds for the position of ombudsman created in Section 6 of this act shall be provided by the Department of Justice from other funds appropriated to the Department, and from other grants or funding that are available from other sources.

SECTION 7. G.S. 8-58.20 reads as rewritten:

"§ 8-58.20. Forensic analysis admissible as evidence.

(a) In any criminal prosecution, a laboratory report of a written forensic analysis, including an analysis of the defendant's DNA, or a forensic sample alleged to be the defendant's DNA, as that term is defined in G.S. 15A-266.2(2), that states the results of the analysis and that is signed and sworn to by the person performing the analysis may be admissible in evidence without the testimony of the analyst who prepared the report in accordance with the requirements of this section.

(b) A forensic analysis, to be admissible under this section, shall be performed ~~in accordance with rules or procedures adopted by the State Bureau of Investigation, or by another laboratory accredited by the American Society of Crime Laboratory Directors/Laboratory Accreditation Board (ASCLD/LAB)~~ by a laboratory that is accredited by an accrediting body that requires conformance to forensic specific requirements and which is a signatory to the International Laboratory Accreditation Cooperation (ILAC) Mutual Recognition Arrangement For Testing for the submission, identification, analysis, and storage of forensic analyses. The analyses of DNA samples and typing results of DNA samples shall be performed ~~in accordance with the rules or procedures of the State Bureau of Investigation or other ASCLD/LAB accredited laboratory.~~ by a laboratory that is accredited by an accrediting body that requires conformance to forensic specific requirements and which is a signatory to the ILAC Mutual Recognition Arrangement For Testing.

(c) The analyst who analyzes the forensic sample and signs the report shall complete an affidavit on a form developed by the State Bureau of Investigation. In the affidavit, the analyst shall state (i) that the person is qualified by education, training, and experience to perform the analysis, (ii) the name and location of the laboratory where the analysis was performed, and (iii) that performing the analysis is part of that person's regular duties. The analyst shall also aver in the affidavit that the tests were performed pursuant to the ~~ASCLD/LAB~~ accrediting body's standards for that discipline and that the evidence was handled in accordance with established and accepted procedures while in the custody of the laboratory. The affidavit shall be sufficient to constitute prima facie evidence regarding the person's qualifications. The analyst shall attach the affidavit to the laboratory report and shall provide the affidavit to the investigating officer and the district attorney in the prosecutorial district in which the criminal charges are pending. An affidavit by a forensic analyst sworn to and properly executed before an official authorized to administer oaths is admissible in evidence without further authentication in any criminal proceeding with respect to the forensic analysis administered and the procedures followed.

SECTION 8. G.S. 20-139.1(c2) reads as rewritten:

"(c2) A chemical analysis of blood or urine, to be admissible under this section, shall be performed ~~in accordance with rules or procedures adopted by the State Bureau of Investigation, or by another laboratory accredited by the American Society of Crime Laboratory Directors/Laboratory Accreditation Board (ASCLD/LAB)~~ by a laboratory that is accredited by an accrediting body that requires conformance to forensic specific requirements and which is a signatory to the International Laboratory Accreditation Cooperation (ILAC) Mutual Recognition Arrangement For Testing for the submission, identification, analysis, and storage of forensic analyses."

SECTION 9. G.S. 15A-903 reads as rewritten:

"§ 15A-903. Disclosure of evidence by the State – Information subject to disclosure.

(a) Upon motion of the defendant, the court must order the State to:

(1) Make available to the defendant the complete files of all law enforcement and prosecutorial agencies involved in the investigation of the crimes committed or the prosecution of the defendant.

a. The term "file" includes the defendant's statements, the codefendants' statements, witness statements, investigating officers' notes, results of tests and examinations, or any other matter or evidence obtained during the investigation of the offenses alleged to have been committed by the defendant. When any matter or evidence is submitted for testing or examination, in addition to any test or examination results, all other data, calculations, or writings of any kind shall be made available to the defendant, including, but not limited to, preliminary test or screening results and bench notes.

b. The term "prosecutorial agency" includes any public or private entity that obtains information on behalf of a law enforcement agency or prosecutor in connection with the investigation of the crimes committed or the prosecution of the defendant.

c. Oral statements shall be in written or recorded form, except that oral statements made by a witness to a prosecuting attorney outside the presence of a law enforcement officer or investigatorial assistant shall not be required to be in written or recorded form unless there is significantly new or different information in the oral statement from a prior statement made by the witness.

d. The defendant shall have the right to inspect and copy or photograph any materials contained therein and, under appropriate safeguards, to inspect, examine, and test any physical evidence or sample contained therein.

(2) Give notice to the defendant of any expert witnesses that the State reasonably expects to call as a witness at trial. Each such witness shall prepare, and the State shall furnish to the defendant, a report of the results of any examinations or tests conducted by the expert. The State shall also furnish to the defendant the expert's curriculum vitae, the expert's opinion, and the underlying basis for that opinion. The State shall give the notice and furnish the materials required by this subsection within a reasonable time prior to trial, as specified by the court.

(3) Give the defendant, at the beginning of jury selection, a written list of the names of all other witnesses whom the State reasonably expects to call during the trial. Names of witnesses shall not be subject to disclosure if the State certifies in writing and under seal to the court that to do so may subject the witnesses or others to physical or substantial economic harm or coercion, or that there is other particularized, compelling need not to disclose. If there are witnesses that the State did not reasonably expect to call at the time of the provision of the witness list, and as a result are not listed, the court upon a good faith showing shall allow the witnesses to be called. Additionally, in the interest of justice, the court may in its discretion permit any undisclosed witness to testify.

(b) If the State voluntarily provides disclosure under G.S. 15A-902(a), the disclosure shall be to the same extent as required by subsection (a) of this section.

(c) Upon request by the State, a law enforcement or prosecutorial agency shall make available to the State a complete copy of the complete files related to the investigation of the crimes committed or the prosecution of the defendant for compliance with this section and any disclosure under G.S. 15A-902(a). All public and private entities that obtain such information shall ensure that all material listed in subdivision (1) of subsection (a) of this section is fully disclosed to the referring prosecutorial agency for disclosure to the defendant.

(d) Any person who willfully omits or misrepresents evidence or information required to be disclosed pursuant to this section shall be guilty of a Class H felony.

SECTION 10. G.S. 114-16 reads as rewritten:

"§ 114-16. Laboratory and clinical facilities; employment of criminologists; services of scientists, etc., employed by State; radio system.

In the said Bureau there shall be provided laboratory facilities for the analysis of evidences of crime, including the determination of presence, quantity and character of poisons, the character of bloodstains, microscopic and other examination material associated with the commission of crime, examination and analysis of projectiles of ballistic imprints and records which might lead to the determination or identification of criminals, the examination and identification of fingerprints, and other evidence leading to the identification, apprehension, or conviction of criminals. A sufficient number of persons skilled in such matters shall be employed to render a reasonable service to the ~~prosecuting officers of the State~~ public and the criminal justice system in the discharge of their duties. SECTION 11. Sections 1 through 5 and 7 through 11 are effective when this act becomes law, and Section 6 becomes effective July 1, 2011. Nothing in this act is intended to amend or modify either the statutory or common law applicable to discovery in criminal cases which was applicable prior to the effective date of this act. Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions.

HOUSE BILL 27:
Forensic Sciences Act

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	March 16, 2011
Introduced by:	Reps. Glazier, Stam, Michaux, Jackson	Prepared by:	Susan Sitze*
Analysis of:	PCS to Third Edition H27-CSSA-9		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute for House Bill 27 would 1) create the North Carolina Forensic Science Advisory Board; 2) encourage efforts to eliminate sources of human error in forensic examinations; 3) require certification of forensic science professionals; 4) rename the State Bureau of Investigation Laboratory as the North Carolina State Crime Laboratory; 5) create the position of ombudsman in the North Carolina State Crime Laboratory within the North Carolina Department of Justice; 6) clarify statutes that allow for the admissibility of forensic analyses into evidence; 7) clarify the State's obligation to disclose to the defendant all information relating to the testing or examination of evidence and to penalize omission or misrepresentation relating to disclosure; and 8) clarify that State Crime Laboratory personnel serve the public and the criminal justice system.

BILL ANALYSIS: The PCS makes changes in Sections 2, 4, and 9 as noted in the explanation for each of those sections.

Section 1 entitles the act as "The Forensic Sciences Act of 2011."

Section 2 creates the Forensic Science Advisory Board to review State Crime Laboratory operations and make recommendations concerning the services furnished to user agencies. The Board would serve as an advisory board within the Department of Justice and would consist of 16 members, including the State Crime Laboratory Director, the Chief Medical Examiner, and other experts in the forensic science field. The PCS changes the staggering of the initial terms to 2, 3, & 4 years (was 1, 2, & 4).

Section 3 requires the State Bureau of Investigation to encourage and seek collaborative opportunities and grant funds for research programs on human observer bias and sources of human error in forensic examinations, partnering with the university system or independent nationally recognized forensic institutions whenever possible.

Section 4 requires that forensic science professionals at the State Crime Laboratory be certified consistent with international and ISO standards as soon as practicable, but no later than June 1, 2012, unless certification is not available. It also requires that all forensic science professionals have access to the certification process. The PCS rewords this section to make the language clearer, but does not change the effect.

Section 5 renames the State Bureau of Investigation Crime Laboratory as the North Carolina State Crime Laboratory and requires the Revisor of Statutes to reflect the name change in statute and session law.

Section 6 creates the position of ombudsman in the North Carolina State Crime Laboratory within the North Carolina Department of Justice. The primary purpose of the position would be to work with defense counsel, prosecutorial agencies, criminal justice system stakeholders, law enforcement officials, and the general public to ensure that all Laboratory practices are consistent with State and federal law, best forensic law practices, and are in the best interests of justice. The position would be funded by funds appropriated to the Department of Justice and from other grants or funding available from oth sources.

Section 7 clarifies the statutes regarding the admissibility of forensic analyses in criminal proceedings. It removes the requirement that admissible forensic analyses be performed by a laboratory accredited by the American Society of Crime Laboratory Directors /Laboratory Accreditation Board (ASCLD/LAB) and instead provides that an admissible forensic analysis must be performed by a laboratory that is accredited by an accrediting body that requires conformance to forensic specific requirements and which is a signatory to the International Laboratory Accreditation Cooperation (ILAC) Mutual Recognition Arrangement for Testing.

Section 8 clarifies the statutes regarding the admissibility of chemical analyses for certain vehicular offenses. It removes the requirement that admissible forensic analyses be performed by a laboratory accredited by the American Society of Crime Laboratory Directors /Laboratory Accreditation Board (ASCLD/LAB) and instead provides that an admissible forensic analysis must be performed by a laboratory that is accredited by an accrediting body that requires conformance to forensic specific requirements and which is a signatory to the International Laboratory Accreditation Cooperation (ILAC) Mutual Recognition Arrangement for Testing.

Section 9 clarifies the current discovery requirement that when providing the complete investigative file, the State must produce any data, calculations, or writings of any kind, including, but not limited to, preliminary test or screening results and bench notes. The act's effective date provision (Section 11) includes a provision that nothing in this act is intended to amend or modify either the statutory or common law applicable to discovery in criminal cases which was applicable prior to the effective date of this act.

The section also clarifies that public and private entities have the obligation to disclose information to prosecutorial agencies. [This provision is already included in the statute as the definition of "prosecutorial agencies," which are required to disclose their complete investigative file, includes "any public or private entity." G.S. 15A-903(a)(1)b.]

The PCS amends subsection (d) in this section to provide a Class H felony for the willful omission or misrepresentation of evidence or information required to be disclosed. The previous version provided for an "obstruction of justice" offense with no specific penalty stated. The effective date section includes a provision that provides that the act does not affect statutes applicable to offenses occurring prior to the act or ongoing prosecutions.

Section 10 amends the language in G.S. 114-16 to clarify that State Crime Laboratory personnel serve the public and the criminal justice system.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Sections 1 through 5 and 7 through 11 are effective when this act becomes law, and Section 6 becomes effective July 1, 2011. Nothing in this act is intended to amend or modify either the statutory or common law applicable to discovery in criminal cases which was applicable prior to the effective date of this act. Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act would not be abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act would remain applicable to those prosecutions.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to S40, as introduced by Sens. Jones, Hartsell, McKissick, whic is currently in Senate Judiciary I.]

SECTION 3. The State Bureau of Investigation (SBI) shall encourage and seek collaborative opportunities and grant funds for research programs, in association, whenever possible, with the university system or independent nationally recognized forensic institutions, on human observer bias and sources of human error in forensic examinations. Such programs might include studies to determine the effects of contextual bias in forensic practice (e.g., studies to determine whether and to what extent the results of forensic analysis are influenced by knowledge regarding the background of the suspect and the investigator's theory of the case). In addition, research on sources of human error should be closely linked with research conducted to quantify and characterize the amount of error. Based on the results of these studies, and in consultation with the North Carolina Forensic Sciences Advisory Board, the North Carolina State Crime Laboratory should develop standard operating procedures (that will lay the foundation for model protocols) to minimize, to the extent possible, potential bias and sources of human error in forensic science. These standard operating procedures should apply to all forensic analyses that may be used in litigation.

SECTION 4. SECTION 5. The Revisor of Statutes shall replace the name of the State Bureau of Investigation Laboratory, or any other name which is identified with the State Bureau of Investigation Laboratory, with the name "North Carolina State Crime Laboratory" wherever first used in a statute or session law and with "State Crime Laboratory" at each subsequent location in the statute or session law.

SECTION 6.(a) The position of ombudsman is created in the North Carolina State Crime Laboratory within the North Carolina Department of Justice. The primary purpose of this position shall be to work with defense counsel, prosecutorial agencies, criminal justice system stakeholders, law enforcement officials, and the general public to ensure all processes, procedures, practices, and protocols at the Laboratory are consistent with State and federal law, best forensic law practices, and in the best interests of justice in this State. The ombudsman shall mediate complaints brought to the attention of the ombudsman between the SBI and defense counsel, prosecutorial agencies, law enforcement agencies, and the general public. The ombudsman shall ensure all criminal justice stakeholders and the general public are aware of the availability, responsibilities, and role of the ombudsman and shall regularly attend meetings of the Conferences of the District Attorneys, District and Superior Court Judges, Public Defenders, the Advocates for Justice, and Bar Criminal Law Sections. The ombudsman shall make recommendations on a regular basis to the Director of the State Crime Laboratory, Director of the SBI, and Attorney General of North Carolina as to policies, procedures, practices, and training of employees needed at the Laboratory to ensure compliance with State and federal law, best forensic law practices, and to resolve any meritorious systemic complaints received by the ombudsman.

SECTION 6.(b) The funds for the position of ombudsman created in Section 6(a) of this act shall be provided by the Department of Justice from other funds appropriated to the Department, and from other grants or funding that are available from other sources.

SECTION 7. G.S. 8-58.20 reads as rewritten:

"§ 8-58.20. Forensic analysis admissible as evidence.

(a) In any criminal prosecution, a laboratory report of a written forensic analysis, including an analysis of the defendant's DNA, or a forensic sample alleged to be the defendant's DNA, as that term is defined in G.S. 15A-266.2(2), that states the results of the analysis and that is signed and sworn to by the person performing the analysis may be admissible in evidence without the testimony of the analyst who prepared the report in accordance with the requirements of this section.

(c) The analyst who analyzes the forensic sample and signs the report shall complete an affidavit on a form developed by the State Bureau of Investigation. In the affidavit, the analyst shall state (i) that the person is qualified by education, training, and experience to perform the analysis, (ii) the name and location of the laboratory where the analysis was performed, and (iii) that performing the analysis is part of that person's regular duties. The analyst shall also aver in the affidavit that the tests were performed pursuant to the ~~ASCLD/LAB~~ accrediting body's standards for that discipline and that the evidence was handled in accordance with established and accepted procedures while in the custody of the laboratory. The affidavit shall be sufficient to constitute prima facie evidence regarding the person's qualifications. The analyst shall attach the affidavit to the laboratory report and shall provide the affidavit to the investigating officer and the district attorney in the prosecutorial district in which the criminal charges are pending. An affidavit by a forensic analyst sworn to and properly executed before an official authorized to administer oaths is admissible in evidence without further authentication in any criminal proceeding with respect to the forensic analysis administered and the procedures followed.

SECTION 9. G.S. 15A-903 reads as rewritten:

"§ 15A-903. Disclosure of evidence by the State – Information subject to disclosure.

(a) Upon motion of the defendant, the court must order the State to:

(1) Make available to the defendant the complete files of all law enforcement and prosecutorial agencies involved in the investigation of the crimes committed or the prosecution of the defendant.

a. The term "file" includes the defendant's statements, the codefendants' statements, witness statements, investigating officers' notes, results of tests and examinations, or any other matter or evidence obtained during the investigation of the offenses alleged to have been committed by the defendant. When any matter or evidence is submitted for testing or examination, in addition to any test or examination results, all other data, calculations, or writings of any kind shall be made available to the defendant, including, but not limited to, preliminary test or screening results and bench notes.

b. The term "prosecutorial agency" includes any public or private entity that obtains information on behalf of a law enforcement agency or prosecutor in connection with the investigation of the crimes committed or the prosecution of the defendant.

c. Oral statements shall be in written or recorded form, except that oral statements made by a witness to a prosecuting attorney outside the presence of a law enforcement officer or investigatorial assistant shall not be required to be in written or recorded form unless there is significantly new or different information in the oral statement from a prior statement made by the witness.

The State shall also furnish to the defendant the expert's curriculum vitae, the expert's opinion, and the underlying basis for that opinion. The State shall give the notice and furnish the materials required by this subsection within a reasonable time prior to trial, as specified by the court.

(3) Give the defendant, at the beginning of jury selection, a written list of the names of all other witnesses whom the State reasonably expects to call during the trial. Names of witnesses shall not be subject to disclosure if the State certifies in writing and under seal to the court that to do so may subject the witnesses or others to physical or substantial economic harm or coercion, or that there is other particularized, compelling need not to disclose. If there are witnesses that the State did not reasonably expect to call at the time of the provision of the witness list, and as a result are not listed, the court upon a good faith showing shall allow the witnesses to be called. Additionally, in the interest of justice, the court may in its discretion permit any undisclosed witness to testify.

(b) If the State voluntarily provides disclosure under G.S. 15A-902(a), the disclosure shall be to the same extent as required by subsection (a) of this section.

(c) Upon request by the State, a law enforcement or prosecutorial agency shall make available to the State a complete copy of the complete files related to the investigation of the crimes committed or the prosecution of the defendant for compliance with this section and any disclosure under G.S. 15A-902(a). All public and private entities that obtain such information shall ensure that all material listed in subdivision (1) of subsection (a) of this section is fully disclosed to the referring prosecutorial agency for disclosure to the defendant.

(d) Any person who willfully omits or misrepresents evidence or information required to be disclosed pursuant to subdivision (1) of subsection (a) of this section, or required to be provided to the State pursuant to subsection (c) of this section, shall be guilty of a Class H felony. Any person who willfully omits or misrepresents evidence or information required to be disclosed pursuant to any other provision of this section shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor."

In the said Bureau there shall be provided laboratory facilities for the analysis of evidences of crime, including the determination of presence, quantity and character of poisons, the character of bloodstains, microscopic and other examination material associated with the commission of crime, examination and analysis of projectiles of ballistic imprints and records which might lead to the determination or identification of criminals, the examination and identification of fingerprints, and other evidence leading to the identification, apprehension, or conviction of criminals. A sufficient number of persons skilled in such matters shall be employed to render a reasonable service to the ~~prosecuting officers of the State~~ public and the criminal justice system in the discharge of their duties. In the personnel of the Bureau shall be included a sufficient number of persons of training and skill in the investigation of crime and in the preparation of evidence as to be of service to local enforcement officers, under the direction of the Governor, in criminal matters of major importance.

The laboratory and clinical facilities of the institutions of the State, both educational and departmental, shall be made available to the Bureau, and scientists and doctors now working for the State through its institutions and departments may be called upon by the Governor to aid the Bureau in the evaluation, preparation, and preservation of evidence in which scientific methods are employed, and a reasonable fee may be allowed by the Governor for such service.

The State radio system shall be made available to the Bureau for use in its work."

SECTION 11. Sections 1 through 5 and 7 through 11 are effective when this act becomes law, and Section 6 becomes effective July 1, 2011. Nothing in this act is intended to amend or modify either the statutory or common law applicable to discovery in criminal cases which was applicable prior to the effective date of this act. Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions.

(a) Before action. –

(1) Petition. – A person who desires to perpetuate ~~his~~ that person's own testimony or ~~that~~ the testimony of another person regarding any matter may file a verified petition in the appropriate court in a county where any expected adverse party resides. The petition shall be entitled in the name of the petitioner and shall show: (i) that the petitioner expects that ~~he,~~ the petitioner, or ~~his~~ the petitioner's personal representative, ~~heirs, legatees~~ heirs or devisees, will be a party to an action cognizable in any court, but that ~~he~~ the petitioner is presently unable to bring it or cause it to be brought, (ii) the subject matter of the expected action and ~~his~~ the petitioner's reasons for desiring to perpetuate it, (iii) the facts which ~~he~~ the petitioner desires to establish by the proposed testimony and ~~his~~ the petitioner's reasons for desiring to perpetuate it, (iv) the names or a description of the persons ~~he~~ the petitioner expects will be adverse parties and their addresses so far as known, and (v) the names and addresses of the persons to be examined and the substance of the testimony which ~~he~~ the petitioner expects to elicit from each, and shall ask for an order authorizing the petitioner to take the depositions of the persons to be examined named in the petition, for the purpose of perpetuating their testimony.

(2) Notice and Service. – The petitioner shall thereafter serve a notice upon each person named in the petition as an expected adverse party, together with a copy of the petition, stating that the petitioner will apply to the court, at a time and place named therein, for the order described in the petition. At least 20 days before the date of hearing (or within such time as the court may direct) the notice shall be served in the manner provided in Rule 4(j)(1) or (2) for service of summons; but if such service cannot with due diligence be made upon any expected adverse party named in the petition, the court may make such order as is just for service by publication or otherwise, and shall appoint, for persons not served in the manner provided in Rule 4(j)(1) or (2), an attorney who shall represent them, in case they are not otherwise represented. If any expected adverse party is a minor or incompetent the provisions of Rule 17(c) apply.

(3) Order and Examination. – If the court is satisfied that the perpetuation of the testimony may prevent a failure or delay of justice, it shall make an order designating or describing the persons whose depositions may be taken and specifying the subject matter of the examination and whether the depositions shall be taken upon oral examination or written questions. The depositions may then be taken in accordance with these rules; and the court may make orders of the character provided for by Rules 34 and 35. For the purpose of applying these rules to depositions for perpetuating testimony, each reference therein to the court in which the action is pending shall be deemed to refer to the court in which the petition for such deposition was filed.

(4) Use of Deposition. – If a deposition to perpetuate testimony is taken under these rules or if, although not so taken, it would be admissible in evidence in the courts of the United States or the state in which it is taken, it may be used in any action involving the same subject matter subsequently brought in a court of this State in accordance with the provisions of Rule 32(a), or in any other court under whose rules it is admissible.

(b) Pending appeal. – If an appeal has been taken from the determination of any court or if petition for review or certiorari has been served and filed, or before the taking of an appeal or the filing of a petition for review or certiorari if the time therefor has not expired, the court in which the determination was made may allow the taking of the depositions of witnesses to perpetuate their testimony for use in the event of further proceedings in the trial court. In such case the party who desires to perpetuate the testimony may make a motion in the trial court for leave to take the depositions, upon the same notice and service thereof as if the action was pending in the trial court. The motion shall show (i) the names and addresses of the persons to be examined and the substance of the testimony which ~~he~~ the party expects to elicit from each; (ii) the reasons for perpetuating their testimony. If the court finds that the perpetuation of the testimony is proper to avoid a failure or delay of justice, it may make an order allowing the depositions to be taken and may make orders of the character provided for by Rules 34 and 35, and thereupon the depositions may be taken and used in the same manner and under the same conditions as are prescribed in these rules for depositions taken in actions pending in the trial court.

(c) Perpetuation by action. – This rule does not limit the power of a court to entertain an action to perpetuate testimony."

MEMORANDUM
March 23, 2011

TO: Senate Judiciary I Committee
FROM: General Statutes Commission
RE: Senate Bill 252 (Devisee/Devise/Statutory Construction)

General Comments

The terms "devise," "devisee," "bequeath," "bequest," "legacy," and "legatee" are used throughout the General Statutes. Traditionally, the terms "devise" and "devisee" were used in reference to dispositions of real property by will, while the terms "bequeath," "bequest," "legacy," and "legatee" were used in reference to dispositions of personal property by will. A disposition of real property is a "devise" and the recipient is a "devisee." A disposition of personal property is a "legacy" or "bequest" and the recipient is a "legatee."

When Chapter 28A of the General Statutes (Administration of Decedents' Estates) was enacted in the early 1970's, it used "devise" to include both real and personal property. G.S. 28A-1-1 expressly defines "devisee" to mean any person entitled to take real or personal property by will. The change reflected more modern legal drafting and also eliminated the need to use the traditional terms "bequeath," "bequest," "legacy," and "legatee" when referring to dispositions of personal property by will. This definition is, however, limited to Chapter 28A; it does not apply anywhere else in the General Statutes.

As a result, "devise" and "devisee" technically mean one thing in Chapter 28A and another in the rest of the General Statutes. The situation creates a potential drafting trap if a drafter, working in a chapter of the General Statutes other than Chapter 28A, uses the term "devise" or "devisee" as though the Chapter 28A usage applies, but a court uses the traditional meanings in interpreting the provision. At the same time, however, regardless of the traditional meanings, our courts have on occasion treated "devise" and "bequest" or "bequeath" as synonymous if the context indicated an intent to use the one as though it meant the other.

This bill applies the definition of "devisee" found in Chapter 28A throughout the General Statutes, adds a General-Statute-wide definition of "devise" consistent with that definition, makes conforming amendments to use "devise" and "devisee" as the standard terms in the statutes, and authorizes the Revisor of Statutes make the similar changes in codifying other laws enacted by the 2011 General Assembly.

The bill also makes other stylistic and technical changes to the sections of the General Statutes otherwise amended by the bill.

Specific Comments

Part I. Section 1 amends G.S. 12-3 (Rules for construction of statutes) to define the terms "devisee" and "devise" consistently with the usage in Chapter 28A of the General Statutes. The definitions in G.S. 12-3 apply throughout the General Statutes. The new definitions are default definitions that apply only if the text of the statute being construed does not contain language that is inconsistent with them.

Part II. Sections 2 through 128 make conforming amendments. Consistent with the new definitions in G.S. 12-3, these sections amend various sections of the General Statutes to delete the terms "legatee," "legacy," "bequest," and "bequeath," when used in a list that already contains "devisee" or "devise," because those terms are no longer necessary. These sections also treat "devisee" and "devise" as the standard, default terms in the statutes and accordingly replace the terms "legatee," "legacy," "bequest," and "bequeath" with "devisee" or "devise" in various sections of the General Statutes for more uniform and consistent terminology.

Specifically, Sections 2, 3, 5, 15, 19, 22, 27, 28, 29, 32, 35, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 47, 59, 68, 69, and 126 amend, respectively, G.S. 1-255, 1-313, 1A-1, Rule 27, 28A-13-4, 28A-22-7, 29-30, 31-13, 31-14, 31-16, 31-33, 31B-1, 35A-1336.1, 35A-1341, 35A-1341.1, 35A-1342, 35A-1351, 35A-1352, 37A-1-102, 59B-5, 98-6, 105-239.1, and 165-39 to remove a reference to "legatee" or "legatees," because the term appears in those sections in a list that already includes "devisee" or "devisees."

Sections 4, 23, 24, 25, 60, and 71 amend, respectively, G.S. 1-339.23, 30-23, 30-28, 30-32, 64-4, and 105-306 to substitute a reference to "devisee" or "devisees" in place of a reference to "legatee" or "legatees."

Sections 8, 16, and 20 amend, respectively, G.S. 11-11 (oath of executors), 28A-18-2, and 28A-23-3 to substitute a reference to "devises" in place of a reference to "legacies."

Sections 9, 19, 36, 37, 39, 40, 41, and 43 amend, respectively, G.S. 14-315, 28A-22-7, 32A-2, 35A-1227, 35A-1336.1, 35A-1341, 35A-1341.1, and 35A-1351 to remove a reference to "legacy" or "legacies," because the term appears in those sections in a list that already includes "devise" or "devises."

Sections 6, 10, 14, 36, 39, 40, 41, 43, 45, 49, 50, 51, 53, 54, 56, 57, 58, 61, 62, 63, 64, 67, 78, 79, 80, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 98, 102, 103, 106, 107, 109, 112, 113, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, and 125 amend, respectively, G.S. 1C-1604, 14-401.12, 20-77, 32A-2, 35A-1336.1, 35A-1341, 35A-1341.1, 35A-1351, 36C-4-401, 41-6.2, 41-11.1, 50-20, 55A-11-07, 55A-11-10, 58-58-205, 58-58-300, 58-78-5, 78A-2, 88A-8, 90-171.26, 90-210.121, 90C-26, 115C-491, 115C-492, 115C-493, 116-36, 116-36.1, 116-37.2, 121-4, 121-9, 139-8, 143-323, 143-407, 143-437, 143-641, 143-676, 143B-131.2, 143B-476, 143B-499.7, 153A-158, 153A-263 (7), 157-9, 160A-240.1, 160A-347, 160A-353, 160A-401, 160A-402, 160A-403, 160A-479.13, 160A-512, 160A-619, 160A-649, 160A-674, and 165-31 to remove a reference to "bequest" or "bequests," because the term appears in those sections in a list that already includes "devise" or "devises."

Section 114 amends G.S. 160A-349.12 to delete the word "bequeath," which is incorrectly used to mean "bequest," because "devise" already appears in the list in which "bequeath" is used.

In addition, Section 34 amends the catchline of G.S. 31-43 for greater clarity and updates the terminology in the section.

Sections 129 through 131 authorize the Revisor of Statutes make similar changes in codifying other general and permanent laws enacted by the 2011 General Assembly.

Part III. Section 132 provides that the bill is effective when it becomes law.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO CLARIFY THE ADMINISTRATION OF NONPARTISAN MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS BY COUNTY BOARDS OF ELECTIONS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 163-280 is repealed.

SECTION 2. G.S. 163-280.1 is repealed.

SECTION 3. G.S. 163-281 is repealed.

SECTION 4. G.S. 163-284 reads as rewritten:

"§ 163-284. Mandatory administration by county boards of elections.

~~(a) No later than 30 days after January 1, 1973, every municipality which conducts its elections on a partisan basis, and every special district shall deliver its registration books to the county board of elections which shall, forthwith, assume the responsibility for administration of the registration and election process in such municipalities and special districts. The county boards of elections shall have authority to compare the registration books of such municipalities and special districts with the county registration books. Any person found to be registered for municipal or special district elections but not registered on the county registration records shall be required to register with the county board of elections in order to maintain his municipal or special district registration. The county board of elections shall forthwith notify any such person by mail to the address appearing on the municipal or special district registration records that he must reregister. The county board of elections shall have authority to require maps or definitive outlines of the boundaries constituting such municipality or special district and shall be immediately advised of any change or relocation of such boundaries.~~

(b) The registration of voters and the conduct of all elections in municipalities and special districts ~~covered under this section~~ shall be under the authority of the county board of elections. Any contested election or allegations of irregularities shall be made to the county board of elections and appeals from such rulings may be made to the State Board of Elections under existing statutory provisions and rules or regulations adopted by the State Board of Elections.

Each municipality and special district shall reimburse the county board of elections for the actual cost involved in the administration required under ~~(a) and (b) of~~ this section."

SECTION 5. G.S. 163-285 is repealed.

SECTION 6. G.S. 163-286(b) is repealed.

SECTION 7. G.S. 163-287 reads as rewritten:

"§ 163-287. Special elections; procedure for calling.

Any ~~city, whether its elections are conducted by the county board of elections or the municipal board of elections,~~municipality or any special district shall have authority to call special elections as permitted by law. Prior to calling a special election, the city council or the governing body of the special district shall adopt a resolution specifying the details of the election, and forthwith deliver the resolution to the appropriate board of elections. The resolution shall call on the board of elections to conduct the election described in the resolution and shall state the date on which the special election is to be conducted. The special election may be held at the same time as any other State, county or municipal primary, election or special election or referendum, but may not otherwise be held within the period of time beginning 30 days before and ending 30 days after the date of any other primary, election, special election or referendum held for that city or special district.

Legal notice of the special election shall be published no less than 45 days prior to the special election. The ~~appropriate~~ board of elections shall be responsible for publishing the legal notice. The notice shall state the date and time of the special election, the issue to be submitted to the voters, and the precincts in which the election will be held. This paragraph shall not apply to bond elections."

SECTION 8. G.S. 163-288 reads as rewritten:

"§ 163-288. Registration for city elections; county and municipal boards of elections.

SECTION 9. G.S. 163-288.1(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) Whenever any new city or special district is incorporated or whenever an existing city or district annexes any territory, the city or special district shall cause a map of the corporate or district limits to be prepared from the boundary descriptions in the act, charter or other document creating the city or district or authorizing or implementing the annexation. The map shall be delivered to the county ~~or municipal~~ board of elections conducting the elections for the city or special district. The board of elections shall then activate for city or district elections each voter eligible to vote in the city or district who is registered to vote in the county to the extent that residence addresses shown on the county registration certificates can be identified as within the limits of the city or special district. Each voter whose registration is thus activated for city or special district elections shall be so notified by mail. The cost of preparing the map of the newly incorporated city or special district or of the newly annexed area, and of activating voters eligible to vote therein, shall be paid by the city or special district. In lieu of the procedures set forth in this section, the county board of elections may use either of the methods of registration of voters set out in G.S. 163-288.2 when activating voters pursuant to the incorporation of a new city or election of city officials or both under authority of an act of the General Assembly or when activating voters after an annexation of new territory by a city or special district under Chapter 160A, Article 4A, or other general or local law."

SECTION 10. G.S. 163-289(c) is repealed.

SECTION 11. G.S. 115C-507 reads as rewritten:

"§ 115C-507. Rules governing elections.

All elections under this Chapter shall be held and conducted by the appropriate county ~~or municipal~~ board of elections.

If the purpose of the election is to enlarge a city administrative unit, the notice of election shall include the following: a statement of the purpose of the election; a legal description of the area within which the election is to be held; and a statement that if a majority of those who shall vote in the area proposed to be consolidated with the city administrative unit shall vote in favor of such enlargement such area shall be consolidated with the city administrative unit, effective July 1 next following such election, and there shall thereafter be levied in such area so consolidated with the city administrative unit the same school taxes as shall be levied in the other portions of the city administrative unit, including any tax levy to provide for the payment of school bonds theretofore issued by or for such city administrative unit or for all or some part of the school area annexed to such city administrative unit, unless payment of such bonds has otherwise been provided for.

The notice of the election shall be given as provided in G.S. 163-33(8) and in addition include a legal description of the area within which the election is to be held, and, if any additional tax is proposed to be levied, the maximum rate of tax to be levied which shall not exceed the maximum prescribed by this Article, and the purpose of the tax.

No new registration of voters is required, but the board of elections, in its discretion, may use either Method A or Method B set forth in G.S. 163-288.2 in activating the voters in the territory.

The ballot in such election shall contain the words "FOR local tax and AGAINST local tax" except when the election is held under subsection (c) of G.S. 115C-501, in which case the ballots shall contain the words "FOR enlargement of the _____City Administrative Unit and school tax of the same rate," and "AGAINST enlargement of the _____City Administrative Unit and school tax of the same rate."

The elections shall be held in accordance with the applicable provisions of Chapter 163 and the expense of the election shall be paid by the board of education of the administrative unit in which the election is held, provided that when territory is proposed to be added to a city administrative unit, that unit shall bear the expense.

No election held under this Article shall be open to question except in an action or proceeding commenced within 30 days after the board of elections has certified the results."

SECTION 12. G.S. 120-30.9F reads as rewritten:

"§ 120-30.9F. Municipalities; municipal attorney.

The municipal attorney of any municipality covered by the Voting Rights Act of 1965 shall submit to the Attorney General of the United States within 30 days:

(1) Of the time they become laws, any local acts of the General Assembly; and

(2) Of adoption actions of the municipal governing body or ~~municipal~~ board of elections or any other municipal agency which constitutes a "change affecting voting" under Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 in that municipality; provided that, if required or allowed by regulations or practices of the United States Department of Justice, a municipal attorney may delay submission of any annexation ordinance or group of ordinances until all previously submitted annexation ordinances have been precleared or otherwise received final disposition."

SECTION 13. G.S. 128-1.1(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) The term "elective office," as used herein, shall mean any office filled by election by the people when the election is conducted by a county ~~or municipal~~ board of elections under the supervision of the State Board of Elections."

SECTION 14. G.S. 162A-35 reads as rewritten:

"§ 162A-35. Procedure for inclusion of additional political subdivision or unincorporated area; notice and hearing; elections; actions questioning validity of elections.

If, at any time subsequent to the creation of a district, there shall be filed with the district board a resolution of the governing body of a political subdivision, or a petition, signed by not less than fifteen per centum (15%) of the voters resident within an unincorporated area, requesting inclusion in the district of such political subdivision or unincorporated area, and if the district board shall favor the inclusion in the district of such political subdivision or unincorporated area, the district board shall notify the board of commissioners and the board of commissioners, through its chairman, shall thereupon request that a representative of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources hold a joint public hearing with the board of commissioners concerning the inclusion of such political subdivision or unincorporated area in the district. The Secretary of Environment and Natural Resources and the chairman of the board of commissioners shall name a time and place within the district at which the public hearing shall be held. The chairman of the board of commissioners shall give prior notice of such hearing by posting a notice at the courthouse door of the county and also by publication in a newspaper circulating in the district and in any such political subdivision or unincorporated area at least once a week for four successive weeks, the first publication to be at least 30 days prior to such hearing. In the event all matters pertaining to the inclusion of such political subdivision or unincorporated area cannot be included at such hearing, such hearing may be continued to a time and place within the district determined by the board of commissioners with the concurrence of the representative of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources.

If, after such hearing, the Commission for Public Health and the board of commissioners shall determine that the preservation and promotion of the public health and welfare require that such political subdivision or unincorporated area be included in the district, the Commission for Public Health shall adopt a resolution to that effect, defining the boundaries of the district including such political subdivision or unincorporated area which has filed a resolution or petition as provided for in this section, and declaring such political subdivision or unincorporated area to be included in the district, subject to the approval, as to the inclusion of such political subdivision, of a majority of the qualified voters of such political subdivision, or as to the inclusion of such unincorporated area, of a majority of the qualified voters of such unincorporated area, voting at an election thereon to be called and held in such political subdivision or unincorporated area. When an election is required to be held within both a political subdivision and an unincorporated area, a separate election shall be called and held for the unincorporated area and a separate election shall be called and held for the political subdivision. Such separate elections, although independent one from the other, shall be called and held within each political subdivision and within the unincorporated area simultaneously on the same date.

If, at or prior to such public hearing, there shall be filed with the district board a petition signed by not less than fifteen percent (15%) of the registered voters of the district requesting an election to be held on the question of including the political subdivision or unincorporated area in the district, the district board shall certify the petition and if found adequate, shall request the county board of elections to hold the election in the district. The election in the district may be held at the same time as the election in the political subdivision or unincorporated area seeking to become a part of the district.

The county board of elections shall give notice of the elections as required in G.S. 163-33(8) and shall conduct the ~~election in the unincorporated area and within the political subdivision unless there is a municipal board of elections which conducts the elections for the municipality.~~election.

The cost of the election in the district shall be paid by the district board and the cost of the municipal election by the municipality. The county shall pay the cost of an election in the unincorporated area. The governing body of the political subdivision shall file an accurate description of its boundaries, and those persons signing the petition for an unincorporated area shall file an accurate description of its boundaries with the board of elections at the time the petition is filed with the district board.

The elections shall be held and conducted in accordance with the applicable provisions of Articles 23 and 24 of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes.

The ballot shall contain the words:

"FOR inclusion in the ____ Metropolitan Water District of ____ County that area known as ____."

"AGAINST inclusion in the ____ Metropolitan Water District of ____ County that area known as ____."

If a majority of the votes cast in a political subdivision or unincorporated areas proposed to be included are in favor of inclusion, and a majority of the votes cast in the district favor inclusion, then from and after the date of the certification of the results such area or areas shall be a part of the district and subject to the debts of the district.

The results of the elections shall be certified to the district board.

If no election is required to be held in the district, then a favorable vote for inclusion in the political subdivision or unincorporated area shall be deemed to include such area or political subdivision as a part of the district and they shall be subject to the debts of the district.

No right of action or defense founded upon the invalidity of any such election shall be asserted, or open to question in any court upon any grounds unless the action or proceeding is commenced within 30 days after the results have been certified by the board of elections."

SECTION 15. G.S. 163-22 reads as rewritten:

"§ 163-22. Powers and duties of State Board of Elections.

(a) The State Board of Elections shall have general supervision over the primaries and elections in the State, and it shall have authority to make such reasonable rules and regulations with respect to the conduct of primaries and elections as it may deem advisable so long as they do not conflict with any provisions of this Chapter.

(b) From time to time, the Board shall publish and furnish to the county ~~and municipal~~ boards of elections and other election officials a sufficient number of indexed copies of all election laws and Board rules and regulations then in force. It shall also publish, issue, and distribute to the electorate such materials explanatory of primary and election laws and procedures as the Board shall deem necessary.

(c) The State Board of Elections shall appoint, in the manner provided by law, all members of the county boards of elections and advise them ~~and municipal elections board members~~ as to the proper methods of conducting primaries and elections. The Board shall require such reports from the county ~~and municipal~~ boards and election officers as are provided by law, or as are deemed necessary by the Board, and shall compel observance of the requirements of the election laws by county ~~and municipal~~ boards of elections and other election officers. In performing these duties, the Board shall have the right to hear and act on complaints arising by petition or otherwise, on the failure or neglect of a county ~~or municipal~~ board of elections to comply with any part of the election laws imposing duties upon such a board. The State Board of Elections shall have power to remove from office any member of a county ~~or municipal~~ board of elections for incompetency, neglect or failure to perform duties, fraud, or for any other satisfactory cause. Before exercising this power, the State Board shall notify the county ~~or municipal~~ board member affected and give ~~him~~ that member an opportunity to be heard. When any county board member shall be removed by the State Board of Elections, the vacancy occurring shall be filled by the State Board of Elections. ~~When any municipal board member shall be removed by the State Board of Elections, the vacancy occurring shall be filled by the city council of the city appointing members of that board.~~

(f) The State Board of Elections shall prepare, print, distribute to the county ~~and municipal~~ boards of elections all ballots for use in any primary or election held in the State which the law provides shall be printed and furnished by the State to the counties. The Board shall instruct the county boards of elections as to the printing of county and local ballots.

...."

SECTION 16. G.S. 163-25 reads as rewritten:

"§ 163-25. Authority of State Board to assist in litigation.

The State Board of Elections shall possess authority to assist any county ~~or municipal~~ board of elections in any matter in which litigation is contemplated or has been initiated, provided, the county ~~or municipal~~ board of elections in such county petitions, by majority resolution, for such assistance from the State Board of Elections and, provided further, that the State Board of Elections determines, in its sole discretion by majority vote, to assist in any such matter. It is further stipulated that the State Board of Elections shall not be authorized under this provision to enter into any litigation in assistance to counties, except in those instances where the uniform administration of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes of North Carolina has been, or would be threatened.

The Attorney General shall provide the State Board of Elections with legal assistance in execution of its authority under this section or, in ~~his~~ the Attorney General's discretion, recommend that private counsel be employed.

If the Attorney General recommends employment of private counsel, the State Board may employ counsel with the approval of the Governor."

SECTION 17. G.S. 163-38 reads as rewritten:

"§ 163-38. Applicability of Article.

This Article applies to members and employees of the State Board of Elections and of each county ~~and municipal~~ board of elections. With regard to prohibitions in this Article concerning candidates, referenda, and committees, the prohibitions do not apply if the candidate or referendum will not be on the ballot in an area within the jurisdiction of the board, or if the political committee or referendum committee is not involved with an election or referendum that will be on the ballot in an area within the jurisdiction of the board."

SECTION 18. G.S. 163-40 reads as rewritten:

"§ 163-40. Violation may be ground for removal.

A violation of this Article may be a ground to remove a State Board of Elections member under G.S. ~~143B-16,~~ 143B-16 or a county board of elections member under ~~G.S. 163-22(c), or a municipal board of elections member under G.S. 163-280(i).~~G.S. 163-22(c). A violation of this Article may be a ground for dismissal of an employee of the State Board of Elections or of a county board of elections. No criminal penalty shall be imposed for a violation of this Article."

SECTION 19. G.S. 163-42 reads as rewritten:

"§ 163-42. Assistants at polls; appointment; term of office; qualifications; oath of office.

(a) Each county ~~and municipal~~ board of elections is authorized, in its discretion, to appoint two or more assistants for each precinct to aid the chief judge and judges. Not more than two assistants shall be appointed in precincts having 500 or less registered voters. Assistants shall be qualified voters of the county in which the precinct is located. When the board of elections determines that assistants are needed in a precinct an equal number shall be appointed from different political parties, unless the requirement as to party affiliation cannot be met because of an insufficient number of voters of different political parties within the county.

In the discretion of the county board of elections, a precinct assistant may serve less than the full day prescribed for chief judges and judges in G.S. 163-47(a).

(b) The chairman of each political party in the county shall have the right to recommend from three to 10 registered voters in each precinct for appointment as precinct assistants in that precinct. If the recommendations are received by it no later than the thirtieth day prior to the primary or election, the board shall make appointments of the precinct assistants for each precinct from the names thus recommended. If the recommendations of the party chairs for precinct assistant in a precinct are insufficient, the county board of elections by unanimous vote of all of its members may name to serve as precinct assistant in that precinct registered voters in that precinct who were not recommended by the party chairs. If, after diligently seeking to fill the positions with registered voters of the precinct, the county board still has an insufficient number of precinct assistants for the precinct, the county board by unanimous vote of all of its members may appoint to the positions registered voters in other precincts in the same county who meet the qualifications other than residence to be precinct officials in the precinct. In making its appointments, the county board shall assure, wherever possible, that no precinct has precinct officials all of whom are registered with the same party. In no instance shall the county board appoint nonresidents of the precinct to a majority of the positions as precinct assistant in a precinct.

(c) In addition, a county board of elections by unanimous vote of all of its members may appoint any registered voter in the county as emergency election-day assistant, as long as that voter is otherwise qualified to be a precinct official. The State Board of Elections shall determine for each election the number of emergency election-day assistants each county may have, based on population, expected turnout, and complexity of election duties. The county board by unanimous vote of all of its members may assign emergency election-day assistants on the day of the election to any precinct in the county where the number of precinct officials is insufficient because of an emergency occurring within 48 hours of the opening of the polls that prevents an appointed precinct official from serving. A person appointed to serve as emergency election-day assistant shall be trained and paid like other precinct assistants in accordance with G.S. 163-46. A county board of elections shall apportion the appointments as emergency election-day assistant among registrants of each political party so as to make possible the staffing of each precinct with officials of more than one party, and the county board shall make assignments so that no precinct has precinct officials all of whom are registered with the same party.

(d) Before entering upon the duties of the office, each assistant shall take the oath prescribed in G.S. 163-41(a) to be administered by the chief judge of the precinct for which the assistant is appointed. Assistants serve for the particular primary or election for which they are appointed, unless the county board of elections appoints them for a term to expire on the date appointments are to be made pursuant to G.S. 163-41."

SECTION 20. G.S. 163-278.6(1) reads as rewritten:

HOUSE BILL 21:
County Administration of Municipal Elections

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	March 30, 2011
Introduced by:	Rep. Crawford	Prepared by:	R. Erika Churchill
Analysis of:	Second Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 21 would require the county board of elections to register voters and conduct all elections in municipalities and special districts by repealing the statutes related to municipal boards of election.

CURRENT LAW: Partisan municipal boards of elections were generally abolished in the 1970's, transferring the responsibility for conducting the election to the county board of elections. Municipalities with non-partisan elections could conduct their own elections, or request the county board of elections to conduct the election. The statutes reflect that the county board of elections was to assume responsibility for administration of registration of voters and conduct of elections from municipalities with partisan elections.

In 2001, the municipal boards authorized to conduct elections was further restricted to 4 specifically named municipalities: Morganton, Old Fort, Granite Falls, and Rhodhiss. The statutes are silent as to requiring a county board to assume responsibility for administration of registration of voters and conduct of elections from municipalities with non-partisan elections in one statute, G.S. 163-284, but require it in another, G.S. 163-285(a).

At this time, no municipalities appoint municipal boards of election to conduct municipal elections. All primaries and elections are conducted by county boards of election.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would repeal the statutes providing for the appointment and operation of municipal boards of election (Sections 1-10) and make conforming changes throughout the statutes to remove references to municipal boards of election (Sections 11-25).

EFFECTIVE DATE: Effective when it becomes law.

HOUSE BILL 234:
Juror Qualifications/Disabilities

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	March 30, 2011
Introduced by:	Reps. Glazier, Stevens, Parfitt, Samuelson	Prepared by:	Karen Cochrane-Brown
Analysis of:	Third Edition		Committee Co-Counsel

SUMMARY: House Bill 234 would do the following:

- Remove the qualification of hearing for potential jurors.
- Allow a potential juror to be excused for a disability.

SECTIONS 1. JUROR QUALIFICATION – ABILITY TO HEAR

CURRENT LAW & BILL ANALYSIS:

Current G.S. 9-2 provides that the jury commission in each county is responsible for preparing a list of prospective jurors.

Current G.S. 9-3 provides that the following persons be included on the list: persons who are citizens of the State and residents of that county, have not served as a juror in the past 2 years, who are 18 or older, who are physically and mentally competent, who can hear and understand English, who have not been convicted of a felony or pleaded guilty or nolo contender to a felony indictment, and who has not been adjudged non compos mentis (not of sound mind, memory, or understanding). Anyone failing to meet all of the above stated qualifications is subject to challenge for cause.

Section 1 of the bill eliminates the qualification of hearing for potential jurors.

SECTION 2. – REQUEST TO BE EXCUSED FOR A DISABILITY

CURRENT LAW & BILL ANALYSIS:

Current G.S. 9-6 authorizes excusal from jury duty "for reasons of compelling personal hardship or because requiring service would be contrary to the public welfare, health, or safety."

Current G.S. 9-6. 1 authorizes excusal, deferral, or exemption from jury duty of persons 72 years or older.

Section 2 of the bill adds disability as a basis for excusal, deferral, or exemption from jury duty. The bill provides that a person making a request for excusal, deferral or exemption due to disability may do so by filing with the chief district court judge, or his or her designee, a signed statement with explanation. The statement is to be filed at any time five days before the date of appearance. The bill also provides that the court may request medical documentation of the disability be submitted.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REVISE THE MANNER IN WHICH RESTITUTION DAMAGES ARE CALCULATED SO THAT VICTIMS IN PERSONAL INJURY CASES MAY RECEIVE FULL COMPENSATION FOR THEIR DAMAGES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

"§ 15A-1340.34. Restitution generally.

(a) When sentencing a defendant convicted of a criminal offense, the court shall determine whether the defendant shall be ordered to make restitution to any victim of the offense in question. For purposes of this Article, the term "victim" means a person directly and proximately harmed as a result of the defendant's commission of the criminal ~~offense.~~offense, or a third-party payor, including an insurer, which has made payment to the victim to compensate the victim for any costs or losses described in G.S. 15A-1340.35.

(b) If the defendant is being sentenced for an offense for which the victim is entitled to restitution under Article 46 of this Chapter, the court shall, in addition to any penalty authorized by law, require that the defendant make restitution ~~to the victim or the victim's estate for any injuries or damages arising directly and proximately out of the offense committed by the defendant.~~ for any injuries or damages arising directly and proximately out of the offense committed by the defendant to the victim, the victim's estate, or a third-party payor, including an insurer, that has made payment to the victim or the victim's estate to compensate the victim for such injuries or damages. If the defendant is placed on probation or post-release supervision, any restitution ordered under this subsection shall be a condition of probation as provided in G.S. 15A-1343(d) or a condition of post-release supervision as provided in G.S. 148-57.1.

(c) When subsection (b) of this section does not apply, the court may, in addition to any other penalty authorized by law, require that the defendant make restitution to the victim or the victim's estate for any injuries or damages arising directly and proximately out of the offense committed by the defendant."

SECTION 2. G.S. 15A-1340.35 reads as rewritten:

"§ 15A-1340.35. Basis for restitution.

(a) In determining the amount of restitution, the court shall consider the following:

(1) In the case of an offense resulting in bodily injury to a victim:

(b) The court may require that the victim or the victim's estate provide admissible evidence that documents the costs claimed by the victim or the victim's estate under this section. Any such documentation shall be shared with the defendant before the sentencing hearing.

(c) Costs awarded under sub-subdivision (a)(1)d. of this section shall be limited to five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) for each victim for all offenses occurring contemporaneously.

SECTION 3. This act becomes effective October 1, 2011, and applies to any order of restitution issued on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 379:
Revise Restitution Damage Awards

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	March 30, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Goolsby	Prepared by:	Bill Patterson
Analysis of:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: In sentencing defendants convicted of offenses for which the victim is entitled to restitution, Senate Bill 379 requires restitution to be made not only to the victim or the victim's estate, but also to any third-party payer, including an insurer, which has paid the victim or the victim's estate for any damages for which restitution may be paid. The bill also expands the list of factors that a court can consider in awarding restitution to include the victim's pain and suffering, and puts a limit of $500,000 on the amount of restitution that may be ordered based on pain and suffering.

CURRENT LAW: Restitution to victims of crime is governed by Article 81C of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes. G.S. 15A-1340.34 requires that in sentencing a defendant for a crime for which the victim is entitled to restitution, the court shall, in addition to any penalty authorized by law, require the defendant to make restitution to the victim or the victim's estate for any injuries or damages directly resulting from the offense committed by the defendant. In determining the amount of restitution in the case of offenses resulting in bodily injury to a victim, G.S. 15A-1340.35(a)(1) requires the court to consider the following costs and losses resulting from the offense:

- The cost of medical treatment required by the victim
- The cost of physical and occupational therapy and rehabilitation required by the victim
- The victim's lost income[1]

In determining the amount of restitution, courts are not permitted to consider the victim's pain and suffering.[2]

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill amends G.S. 15A-1340.34 to require the defendant to make restitution not only to the victim or the victim's estate, but also to a third-party payer, including an insurer, who has paid the victim or the victim's estate compensation for injuries or damages arising out of the criminal offense. The bill also amends G.S. 15A-1340.35(a)(1) applicable to offenses involving bodily injury to require courts to consider the pain and suffering of the victim resulting from the offense when determining the amount of restitution. The bill also adds a new subsection (c) to G.S. 15A-1340.35 limiting any restitution based on the victim's pain and suffering to $500,000.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective October 1, 2011, and applies to any order of restitution issued on or after that date.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO CLARIFY THE REQUIREMENT THAT SCHOOL PRINCIPALS REPORT CERTAIN ACTS TO LAW ENFORCEMENT.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 115C-288(g) reads as rewritten:

"(g) To Report Certain Acts to Law Enforcement and the Superintendent. – When the principal has ~~personal knowledge or actual notice from school personnel~~ reasonable belief that an act has occurred on school property involving assault resulting in serious personal injury, sexual assault, sexual offense, rape, kidnapping, indecent liberties with a minor, assault involving the use of a weapon, possession of a firearm in violation of the law, possession of a weapon in violation of the law, or possession of a controlled substance in violation of the law, the principal shall immediately report the act to the appropriate local law enforcement agency. ~~Failure to report to law enforcement under this subsection is a Class 3 misdemeanor.~~

The principal has reasonable belief if the principal sees or witnesses the occurrence of the act on school property. If the principal did not see or witness the act, then upon hearing or receiving an allegation that the act occurred on school property, the principal shall within no more than two school days initiate, conduct, and conclude an investigation to determine whether evidence exists that the act occurred on school property. If the principal makes this determination, the principal has reasonable belief that the act occurred on school property and must immediately report the act to the appropriate law enforcement agency.

Notwithstanding G.S. 115C-12(21), the State Board of Education shall not require the principal to report to law enforcement acts in addition to those required to be reported by this subsection.

For purposes of this subsection, "school property" shall include any public school building, bus, public school campus, grounds, recreational area, or athletic field, in the charge of the principal.

The principal or the principal's designee shall notify the superintendent or the superintendent's designee in writing or by electronic mail regarding any report made to law enforcement under this subsection. This notification shall occur by the end of the workday in which the incident occurred when reasonably possible but not later than the end of the following workday. The superintendent shall provide the information to the local board of education.

Nothing in this subsection shall be interpreted to interfere with the due process rights of school employees or the privacy rights of students."

SECTION 2. This act is effective when it becomes law and applies beginning with the 2011-2012 school year.

SENATE BILL 394:
Clarify Process/Reportable Offenses in Sch

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 4, 2011
Introduced by:	Sens. Newton, Tillman, Preston	Prepared by:	Susan Sitze Committee Counsel
Analysis of:	First Edition

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 394 would clarify the requirement that school principals report certain acts to law enforcement.

CURRENT LAW: Current law requires a principal to report certain criminal acts to law enforcement when the principal has "personal knowledge or actual notice from school personnel" that the act occurred on school property.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 394 would amend G.S. 115C-288(g) to require the principal of a school to report certain criminal acts to law enforcement when the principal has "reasonable belief" that the act occurred on school property. The bill would remove the current Class 3 misdemeanor for failure to report to law enforcement.

The bill would provide that the principal has "reasonable belief" if they see or witness the occurrence of the act on school property. If they do not see or witness the act, then upon hearing or receiving an allegation that the act occurred on school property, within 2 school days they must initiate, conduct, and conclude an investigation to determine whether evidence exists that the act occurred on school property. If so, the principal has "reasonable belief" and must immediately report the act to the appropriate law enforcement agency.

Additionally, the bill would prohibit the State Board of Education from requiring principals to report any criminal acts not required to be reported by this statute and would add additional language providing that the provisions of this subsection shall not be interpreted to interfere with the due process rights of school employees or the privacy rights of students.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law and applies beginning with the 2011-2012 school year.

SECTION 1. G.S. 153A-45 reads as rewritten:

"§ 153A-45. Adoption of ordinances.

To be adopted at the meeting at which it is first introduced, an ordinance or any action having the effect of an ordinance (except (i) the budget ordinance, (ii) any bond order, or (iii) any other ordinance on which a public hearing must be held before the ordinance may be ~~adopted~~adopted, but to qualify for any of these three exceptions the public hearing must have been held at least seven calendar days before the vote) must receive the approval of all the members of the board of commissioners. If the ordinance is approved by a majority of those voting but not by all the members of the board, or if the ordinance is not voted on at that meeting, it shall be considered at the next regular meeting of the board. If it then or at any time thereafter within 100 days of its introduction receives a majority of the votes cast, a quorum being present, the ordinance is adopted."

SECTION 2. G.S. 160A-75 reads as rewritten:

"§ 160A-75. Voting.

(a) No member shall be excused from voting except upon matters involving the consideration of the member's own financial interest or official conduct or on matters on which the member is prohibited from voting under G.S. 14-234, 160A-381(d), or 160A-388(e1). In all other cases, a failure to vote by a member who is physically present in the council chamber, or who has withdrawn without being excused by a majority vote of the remaining members present, shall be recorded as an affirmative vote. The question of the compensation and allowances of members of the council is not a matter involving a member's own financial interest or official conduct.

(b) An affirmative vote equal to a majority of all the members of the council not excused from voting on the question in issue, including the mayor's vote in case of an equal division, shall be required to adopt an ordinance, take any action having the effect of an ordinance, authorize or commit the expenditure of public funds, or make, ratify, or authorize any contract on behalf of the city.

(c) Notwithstanding subsection (b) of this section, to be adopted at the meeting at which it is first introduced, an ordinance or any action having the effect of an ordinance (except (i) the budget ordinance, (ii) any bond order, or (iii) any other ordinance on which a public hearing must be held before the ordinance may be adopted, but to qualify for any of these three exceptions the public hearing must have been held at least seven calendar days before the vote) must receive the approval of all the members of the governing board, not including the mayor unless the mayor has the right to vote on all questions before the council. If the ordinance is approved by a majority of those voting but not by all the members of the board, or if the ordinance is not voted on at that meeting, it shall be considered at the next regular meeting of the board. If it then or at any time thereafter within 100 days of its introduction receives a majority of the votes cast, a quorum being present, the ordinance is adopted. ~~In addition, no ordinance nor any action having the effect of any ordinance may be finally adopted on the date on which it is introduced except by an affirmative vote equal to or greater than two thirds of all the actual membership of the council, excluding vacant seats and not including the mayor unless the mayor has the right to vote on all questions before the council.~~ For purposes of this section, an ordinance shall be deemed to have been introduced on the date the subject matter is first voted on by the council."

SECTION 3. This act becomes effective with respect to votes on or after January 1, 2012.

SENATE BILL 413:
Ordinance First Reading Vote

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 4, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Clodfelter	Prepared by:	Brad Krehely
Analysis of:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 413 conforms the processes by which cities and counties may adopt an ordinance at the first meeting at which the ordinance is introduced.

CURRENT LAW: The law regarding adopting an ordinance on the date in which it is first introduced is different for counties and cities as described below.

Counties

To adopt an ordinance (or any action having the effect of an ordinance) at the meeting at which it is first introduced, the ordinance must have the approval of all the members of the county board of commissioners. However, in three instances, a public hearing must be held before the ordinance may be adopted: (1) the budget ordinance, (2) any bond order, and (3) any other ordinance which requires a public hearing before the ordinance may be adopted. If the ordinance is approved by a majority of those voting, but not all the members of the board or if the ordinance is not voted on at the initial meeting, it shall be considered at the next regular meeting of the board. If the ordinance receives a majority of votes cast (with a quorum present) at the next meeting or any time thereafter within 100 days of introduction, then the ordinance is adopted.

Cities

No ordinance (or any action having the effect of any ordinance) may be adopted on the date on which it is introduced unless there is an affirmative vote equal to or greater than 2/3 of all the actual membership of the council (excluding vacant seats and not including the mayor unless the mayor has the right to vote on all questions before the council). For purposes of this section, an ordinance shall be deemed to have been introduced on the date the subject matter is first voted on by the council.

To adopt an ordinance, take any action having the effect of an ordinance, authorize or commit the expenditure of public funds, or make any contract on behalf of the city, there must be an affirmative vote equal to a majority of all the members of the council not excused from voting on the question in issue.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 413 conforms the processes by which cities and counties may adopt an ordinance at the first meeting at which the ordinance is introduced.

The statute governing counties is amended to provide that for the (1) the budget ordinance, (2) any bond order, and (3) any other ordinance which requires a public hearing before adoption, the public hearing must have been held at least 7 calendar days before the vote.

The statute governing cities is amended so that it mirrors the process used for counties. With regard to adopting the ordinance at the first meeting at which the ordinance is introduced, the act:

- Deletes the 2/3 approval requirement and provides that there must be unanimous approval of all the members of the governing board (not including the mayor unless the mayor has the right to vote on all questions before the council).

- Notes that for (1) the budget ordinance, (2) any bond order, and (3) any other ordinance which requires a public hearing before adoption, the public hearing must have been held at least 7 calendar days before the vote.
- Provides that at the initial meeting, if (1) the ordinance is approved by a majority, but not all the members of the board or (2) the ordinance is noted voted on, then the ordinance must be considered at the next regular meeting of the board.
- Notes that if the ordinance receives a majority of votes cast (with a quorum being present) at the next meeting or any time thereafter within 100 days of its introduction, then the ordinance is adopted.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act becomes effective with respect to votes on or after January 1, 2012.

SENATE BILL 414

Short Title:	Allow Attorneys' Fees in Business Contracts.	(Public)
Sponsors:	Senators Clodfelter; and Hartsell.
Referred to:	Judiciary I.

March 24, 2011

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT RECIPROCAL ATTORNEYS' FEES PROVISIONS IN BUSINESS CONTRACTS ARE VALID AND ENFORCEABLE UNDER THE LAWS OF THIS STATE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. The purpose of this act is to validate reciprocal attorneys' fees provisions in business contracts.

SECTION 2. Article 3 of Chapter 6 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 6-21.6. Reciprocal attorneys' fees provisions in business contracts.

(a) As used in this section, the following definitions apply:

(1) Business contract. – A contract entered into primarily for business or commercial purposes. The term does not include a consumer contract, an employment contract, or a contract to which a government or a governmental agency of this State is a party.

(2) Consumer contract. – A contract entered into by one or more individuals primarily for personal, family, or household purposes.

(3) Employment contract. – A contract between an individual and another party to provide personal services by that individual to the other party, whether the relationship is in the nature of employee-employer or principal-independent contractor.

(4) Reciprocal attorneys' fees provisions. – Provisions in any written business contract by which each signatory to the contract agrees, upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the contract that are made applicable to all parties, to pay or reimburse the other parties for attorneys' fees and expenses incurred by reason of any suit, action, proceeding, or arbitration involving the business contract.

(b) Reciprocal attorneys' fees provisions in business contracts are valid and enforceable for the recovery of reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses.

(c) If a business contract governed by the laws of this State contains a reciprocal attorneys' fees provision, the court or arbitrator in any suit, action, proceeding, or arbitration involving the business contract may award reasonable attorneys' fees in accordance with the terms of the business contract. In determining reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses under this section, the court or arbitrator may consider all relevant facts and circumstances, including, but not limited to, the following:

(1) The amount in controversy and the results obtained.

(2) The reasonableness of the time and labor expended, and the billing rates charged, by the attorneys.
(3) The novelty and difficulty of the questions raised in the action.
(4) The skill required to perform properly the legal services rendered.
(5) The relative economic circumstances of the parties.
(6) Settlement offers made prior to the institution of the action.
(7) Offers of judgment pursuant to Rule 68 of the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure and whether judgment finally obtained was more favorable than such offers.
(8) Whether a party unjustly exercised superior economic bargaining power in the conduct of the action.
(9) The timing of settlement offers.
(10) The amounts of settlement offers as compared to the verdict.
(11) The extent to which the party seeking attorneys' fees prevailed in the action.
(12) The amount of attorneys' fees awarded in similar cases.
(13) The terms of the business contract.

(d) Reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses shall not be governed by (i) any statutory presumption or provision in the business contract providing for a stated percentage of the amount of such attorneys' fees or (ii) the amount recovered in other cases in which the business contract contains reciprocal attorneys' fees provisions.

(e) Nothing in this section shall in any way make valid or invalid attorneys' fees provisions in consumer contracts or in any note, conditional sale contract, or other evidence of indebtedness that is otherwise governed by G.S. 6-21.2. If the business contract is also a note, conditional sale contract, or other evidence of indebtedness that is otherwise governed by G.S. 6-21.2, then the parties that are entitled to recover attorneys' fees and expenses may elect to recover attorneys' fees and expenses either under this section or G.S. 6-21.2, but may recover only once for the same attorneys' fees and expenses."

SECTION 3. This act becomes effective October 1, 2011.

SENATE BILL 414:
Allow Attorneys' Fees in Business Contracts

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 4, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Clodfelter	Prepared by:	Karen Cochrane-Brown
Analysis of:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 414 would provide that reciprocal attorneys' fees provisions in business contracts are valid and enforceable under the laws of North Carolina.

CURRENT LAW:

Currently, pursuant to case law, a court may only award attorneys' fees as part of the costs in a civil action when there is a statute expressly authorizing the inclusion of attorneys' fees.

The law recognizes the obligation to pay attorneys' fees in connection with certain kinds of business transactions. G.S. 6-21.2 provides that "obligations to pay attorneys' fees upon any note, conditional sale contract or other evidence of indebtedness, in addition to the legal rate of interest or finance charges specified therein, shall be valid and enforceable,".

The enforceability of an attorneys' fees provision contained in a note, conditional sale contract or other evidence of indebtedness is limited to 15%of the outstanding balance owing on the note, conditional sale contract or other evidence of indebtedness.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 414 would add a new section to the law to validate reciprocal attorneys' fees provisions in business contracts. A business contract is defined as a contract entered primarily for business or commercial purposes and excludes consumer contracts, employment contracts and contracts in which a government entity is a party. Reciprocal attorneys' fees provisions are defined as provisions in a written business contract by which each signatory to the contract agrees to pay or reimburse the other parties' attorneys' fees and expenses incurred in any suit, action, proceeding, or arbitration involving the business contract.

The bill would authorize the court or arbitrator in a dispute involving a business contract to award reasonable attorneys' fees in accordance with the terms of the contract. In determining the reasonableness of the fees, the court or arbitrator may consider a nonexclusive list of 13 factors, including:

- The amount in controversy and the results obtained.
- The reasonableness of the time and labor expended and the billing rate.
- The novelty and difficulty of the questions raised.
- The legal skill required.
- The relative economic circumstances of the parties.
- Settlement offers made before institution of action.
- Offers of judgment and whether the judgment obtained was more favorable than the offers.
- Whether a party unjustly exercised superior economic bargaining power.

- The timing of settlement offers.
- The amount of settlement offers as compared to the verdict.
- The extent to which the party seeking attorneys' fees prevailed in the action.
- The amount of attorneys' fees awarded in similar cases.
- The terms of the business contract.

Nothing in the new provision would affect the validity of attorneys' fees provisions in consumer contracts or in any note, conditional sale contract or other evidence of indebtedness that is otherwise governed by the current law. Parties to a business contract that is also governed by G.S. 6-21.2 could elect to recover attorneys' fees under that section or the new section, but could only recover once for the same fees and expenses.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective October 1, 2011.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO ELIMINATE THE OPTION OF STRAIGHT-PARTY TICKET VOTING ON BALLOTS IN NORTH CAROLINA.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 163-165.6(e) is repealed.

SECTION 2. G.S. 163-182.1(a)(7) is repealed.

SECTION 3. This act is effective when it becomes law.

SENATE BILL 411:
Vote for the Person, Not the Party Act

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 4, 2011
Introduced by:	Sens. Newton, Meredith, Brown	Prepared by:	R. Erika Churchill
Analysis of:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 411 would eliminate the option of straight party voting in North Carolina.

CURRENT LAW: As of October 2008, North Carolina is one of 16 states that offer straight ticket voting. Straight ticket voting, generally, is the ability to choose a party's entire slate of candidates by marking once on the ballot to vote for every candidate of that party on that ballot.

In North Carolina, this is true, with one exception. In a presidential election, the voter must mark his or her choice for president separate and apart from the straight ticket option.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would repeal the authority for allowing, and counting, straight party voting in North Carolina.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Effective when it becomes law, but but may not be implemented until the session law has received 'preclearance' approval under Section 5 of the Voting Rights of 1965 by the U.S. Department of Justice.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO CLARIFY THE REQUIREMENT THAT SCHOOL PRINCIPALS REPORT CERTAIN ACTS TO LAW ENFORCEMENT.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 115C-288(g) reads as rewritten:

"(g) To Report Certain Acts to Law Enforcement and the Superintendent. – When the principal has personal ~~knowledge~~ knowledge, a reasonable belief, or actual notice from school personnel that an act has occurred on school property involving assault resulting in serious personal injury, sexual assault, sexual offense, rape, kidnapping, indecent liberties with a minor, assault involving the use of a weapon, possession of a firearm in violation of the law, possession of a weapon in violation of the law, or possession of a controlled substance in violation of the law, the principal shall immediately report the act to the appropriate local law enforcement agency. ~~Failure to report to law enforcement under this subsection is a Class 3 misdemeanor.~~

A principal who willfully fails to make a report to law enforcement required by this subsection may be subject to demotion or dismissal pursuant to G.S. 115C-325.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the State Board of Education shall not require the principal to report to law enforcement acts in addition to those required to be reported by this subsection.

For purposes of this subsection, "school property" shall include any public school building, bus, public school campus, grounds, recreational area, or athletic field, in the charge of the principal.

The principal or the principal's designee shall notify the superintendent or the superintendent's designee in writing or by electronic mail regarding any report made to law enforcement under this subsection. This notification shall occur by the end of the workday in which the incident occurred when reasonably possible but not later than the end of the following workday. The superintendent shall provide the information to the local board of education.

Nothing in this subsection shall be interpreted to interfere with the due process rights of school employees or the privacy rights of students."

SECTION 2. This act is effective when it becomes law and applies beginning with the 2011-2012 school year.

SENATE BILL 394:
Clarify Process/Reportable Offenses in Sch

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 6, 2011
Introduced by:	Sens. Newton, Tillman, Preston	Prepared by:	Susan Sitze Committee Counsel
Analysis of:	PCS to First Edition S394-CSSA-17

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 394 would clarify the requirement that school principals report certain acts to law enforcement.

CURRENT LAW: Current law requires a principal to report certain criminal acts to law enforcement when the principal has "personal knowledge or actual notice from school personnel" that the act occurred on school property.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 394 would amend G.S. 115C-288(g) to require the principal of a school to also report certain criminal acts to law enforcement when the principal has "a reasonable belief" that the act occurred on school property. The bill would remove the current Class 3 misdemeanor for failure to report to law enforcement.

The bill would authorize the demotion or dismissal of a principal who willfully fails to make a report to law enforcement. It would also prohibit the State Board of Education from requiring principals to report any criminal acts not required to be reported by this statute and would add additional language providing that the provisions of this subsection shall not be interpreted to interfere with the due process rights of school employees or the privacy rights of students.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law and applies beginning with the 2011-2012 school year.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND THE LAWS GOVERNING TRUSTS, ESTATE PLANNING, AND TRUST COMPANIES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 32-55 reads as rewritten:

"§ 32-55. Notice.

(a) If the terms of the trust do not specify the trustee's compensation, the trustee may, in the trustee's discretion, give written notice to all qualified beneficiaries of each proposed payment of compensation if the annual amount of compensation exceeds four-tenths of one percent (4/10 of 1%) of the principal value of the assets of the trust on the last day of the trust accounting year. ~~The notice shall contain a statement that the qualified beneficiaries have 20 days from when notice is given to file a proceeding for review of the reasonableness of the compensation with the clerk of superior court in accordance with Article 2 of Chapter 36C of the General Statutes.~~

(b) In lieu of giving written notice of each proposed payment of compensation under subsection (a) of this section, the trustee may give written notice to all qualified beneficiaries of the amount of compensation to be paid to the trustee on a periodic basis or of the method of computation of the compensation. The trustee shall not be required to give additional notice to the qualified beneficiaries unless the amount to be paid to the trustee on a periodic basis or the method of computation of the compensation changes.

(c) If a qualified beneficiary is under a legal disability, notice shall be given to the representative of the beneficiary. If a representative of a qualified beneficiary is not available without court order, notice shall be deemed given under this section if there is at least (i) one qualified beneficiary described in G.S. 36C-1-103(15) a. or b. who is not under a legal disability or a representative of a qualified beneficiary so described; and (ii) one qualified beneficiary described in G.S. 36C-1-103(15)c. who is not under a legal disability or a representative of a qualified beneficiary so described.

(c1) The notice provided for in this section shall contain a statement that the qualified beneficiaries or their representatives to whom the notice is given have 20 days from when notice is given to file a proceeding for review of the reasonableness of the compensation with the clerk of superior court in accordance with Article 2 of Chapter 36C of the General Statutes.

(d) The provisions of G.S. 36C-1-109 regarding notices to persons under Chapter 36C of the General Statutes shall apply for purposes of notices under this Article."

SECTION 2. G.S. 36C-5-505 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(c) Subject to Article 3A of Chapter 39 of the General Statutes, for purposes of this section, if the settlor is a beneficiary of the following trusts after the death of the settlor's spouse, the property of the trusts shall, after the death of the settlor's spouse, be deemed to have been contributed by the settlor's spouse and not by the settlor:

(1) An irrevocable intervivos marital trust that is treated as a general power of appointment trust described in section 2523(e) of the Internal Revenue Code.

(2) An irrevocable intervivos marital trust that is treated as qualified terminable interest property under section 2523(f) of the Internal Revenue Code.

(3) An irrevocable intervivos trust of which the settlor's spouse is the sole beneficiary during the lifetime of the settlor's spouse but which does not qualify for the federal gift tax marital deduction.

(4) Another trust, to the extent that the property of the other trust is attributable to property passing from a trust described in subdivision (1), (2), or (3) of this subsection.

For purposes of this subsection, the settlor is a beneficiary whether so named under the initial trust instrument or through the exercise of a limited or general power of appointment."

SECTION 3. G.S. 36C-7-704 reads as rewritten:

"§ 36C-7-704. Vacancy in trusteeship; appointment of successor.

(a) A vacancy in a trusteeship occurs if:

(1) A person designated as trustee rejects the trusteeship;

(2) A person designated as trustee cannot be identified or does not exist;

(3) A trustee resigns;

(4) A trustee is disqualified or removed;

(5) A trustee dies; or

(6) A general guardian, guardian of the estate, or guardian of the person is appointed for an individual serving as trustee.

(b) If one or more cotrustees remain in office, a vacancy in a trusteeship need not be filled. A vacancy in a trusteeship must be filled if the trust has no remaining trustee.

(c) A vacancy in a trusteeship of a noncharitable trust that is required to be filled must be filled in the following order of priority:

(1) By a person designated in the terms of the trust or appointed under the terms of the trust to act as successor trustee;

(2) By a person appointed by unanimous agreement of the qualified beneficiaries; or

(3) By a person appointed by the court.

(d) A vacancy in a trusteeship of a charitable trust that is required to be filled must be filled in the following order of priority:

(1) By a person designated in the terms of the trust or appointed under the terms of the trust to act as successor trustee;

(2) By a person selected by majority agreement of the qualified beneficiaries, if the trust is a split-interest charitable trust;

(2a) By a person selected by majority agreement of the charitable organizations expressly designated to receive distributions under the terms of the trust; or

(3) By a person appointed by the court.

(e) Whether or not a vacancy in a trusteeship exists or is required to be filled, the court may appoint an additional trustee or special fiduciary whenever the court considers the appointment necessary for the administration of the trust.

(f) A successor trustee shall succeed to all the rights, powers, and privileges, and is subject to all the duties, liabilities, and responsibilities that were imposed upon the original trustee, unless a contrary intent appears from the governing instrument or unless the order appointing the successor trustee provides otherwise. A successor trustee shall be vested with the title to property of the former trustee."

SECTION 4. G.S. 36C-8-816 reads as rewritten:

"§ 36C-8-816. Specific powers of trustee.

Without limiting the authority conferred by G.S. 36C-8-815, a trustee may:

(26) On termination of the trust, exercise ~~the~~ all of the powers otherwise exercisable by the trustee during the administration of the trust, including, without limitation, the trustee's investment powers, the power to sell assets, and the powers set forth in subdivision (22) of this section, and exercise the additional powers appropriate to wind up the administration of the trust and distribute the trust property to the persons entitled to it;

...."

SECTION 5. G.S. 28A-8-1(b) reads as rewritten:

"(b) No bond shall be required of:

...

(5) A personal representative that is a ~~national banking association having its principal place of business in this State or a State bank acting pursuant to~~ trust institution licensed under G.S. 53-159;

...."

SECTION 6. G.S. 53-43 reads as rewritten:

"§ 53-43. General powers.

In addition to the powers conferred by law upon private corporations, banks shall have the power:

...

SENATE BILL 407:
Trusts and Estate Planning Changes

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 7, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Hartsell	Prepared by:	Brad Krehely
Analysis of:	PCS to First Edition S407-CSRN-5		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 407 amends the laws governing trusts, estate planning, and trust companies. The Proposed Committee Substitute (1) provides that the annual license fee for trust licenses is set by statute and is $500.00 (was required by rule of the State Banking Commission in an amount not to exceed $500.00), (2) provides that the Commissioner of Banks' ability to examine the condition of a trust institution does not extend to federally-chartered trust institutions, and (3) removes provisions from the First Edition which would have deleted the requirement of reciprocity for out-of-state trust institutions seeking to establish or acquire offices in North Carolina.

CURRENT LAW AND BACKGROUND: Article 36C of the North Carolina General Statutes is the North Carolina Uniform Trust Code, and Article 6 of Chapter 32 deals with compensation of trustees and other fiduciaries. Article 14 of Chapter 53 governs banks acting in fiduciary capacity. These statutes are part of a complex, highly specialized area of the law.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Sections 1-4 of the bill clarify North Carolina statutes governing trustees and other fiduciaries.

Section 1 amends G.S. 32-55 to clarify the application of the requirement that the notice to the qualified beneficiaries contain a statement that the qualified beneficiaries have 20 days from the date notice is given to file a proceeding for review of the reasonableness of the trustee's compensation with the clerk of superior court. The purpose of the changes is to clarify that the notice applies to any notice under G.S. 32-55 and not just the written notice in subsection (a). The change also clarifies that this requirement applies to notices given to representatives of qualified beneficiaries under a disability.

Section 2 provides that, after the death of the settlor's spouse, certain trust property will be deemed to have been contributed by the settlor's spouse and not the settlor if the settlor is the beneficiary of any of the following trusts:

- An irrevocable intervivos marital trust that is treated as a general power of appointment trust.
- An irrevocable intervivos marital trust that is treated as qualified terminable interest property.
- An irrevocable intervivos trust of which the settlor's spouse is the sole beneficiary during the lifetime of the settlor's spouse but which does not qualify for the federal gift tax marital deduction.
- Another trust, to the extent that the property of the other trust is attributable to property passing from a trust described above.

For purposes of these provisions, the settlor is a beneficiary whether named in the initial trust instrument or through the exercise of a limited or general power of appointment.

Section 3 clarifies that a successor trustee will be vested with the title to property of the former trustee.

Section 4 provides that one of the specific powers of the trustee is, upon termination of the trust, to exercise all of the powers otherwise exercisable by the trustee during the administration of the trust.

Sections 5 through 14 revise statutes governing corporate trustees.

Section 5 clarifies that a bond is not required for a personal representative that is a licensed trust institution.

Section 6 defines acceptable collateral for a bank to post when the trust department invests in deposits of its own bank.

Section 7 makes a number of changes to Article 14 of Chapter 53, the older statute dealing with trust departments, to conform with Article 24 of Chapter 53.

- Enacts a new section (G.S. 53-158.10) to include definitions for "Depository institution." "Hazardous condition," and "Trust institution".
- Replaces "bank" with "trust institution" throughout the Article.
- Deletes the term "clearing corporation" and substitutes the term "securities intermediary."
- Sets a statutory fee for trust licenses at $500.00. (G.S. 53-160).
- Deletes references to "solvency" and allows the Commissioner of Banks (Commissioner) to examine any trust institution, other than a federally chartered trust institution, that applies for or is licensed by the Commissioner; allows the Commissioner to refuse to issue a license to a trust institution in a "hazardous condition." (G.S. 53-160, 161).
- Deletes G.S. 53-162 which required that the Commissioner issue a "certificate of solvency" in connection with giving a trust institution a license to serve without bond.
- Amends G.S. 53-163.5 to clarify the description of affiliated institutions.

The remaining sections conform the statutes to current practice, allow the Commissioner of Banks to permit trust companies to be organized as LLCs, and allow the Commissioner to permit private trust companies to conform with IRS regulations.

Section 8 adds definitions for "Board of directors" and "Director."

Sections 9 and 10 delete the term "incorporated" and substitute the term "established" to facilitate organization as LLCs. Section 10 also authorizes the Commissioner to allow a State trust company to be organized as a company other than a corporation (such as an LLC).

Section 11 deletes the term "incorporation" and substitutes the term "establishment."

Section 12 deletes language which previously allowed shareholders of a State trust company to authorize not more than two additional directorships which could have been left unfilled and could have been filled in the discretion of the directors during the interval between shareholders' meetings.

Section 13 allows private trust companies, which operate for the benefit of one family, to comport with IRS private rulings requiring these companies to delegate governing authority to avoid unfavorable tax treatment. Section 13 provides that the holders of the equity securities of a private trust company may, by unanimous agreement, do all of the following:

- Limit the authority of the board of directors.
- Restrict, enlarge, or modify the rights or duties of particular directors.
- Allocate to an individual or group, other than the board of directors, some of all of the duties of a board of directors.

A private trust company must notify the Commissioner of the adoption of any agreement affecting the board of directors within 48 hours and must provide information that the Commissioner requests about the agreement. If an individual or group other than the board of directors is vested with authority of the board of directors, then that individual or group is deemed to be acting as the board when exercising that authority.

Section 14 allows the Commissioner to permit a private trust company to be exempted from general laws relating to business corporations.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective October 1, 2011, and applies to all trusts created before, on, or after that date.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. The purpose of this act is to validate reciprocal attorneys' fees provisions in business contracts.

SECTION 2. Article 3 of Chapter 6 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 6-21.6. Reciprocal attorneys' fees provisions in business contracts.

(a) As used in this section, the following definitions apply:

(1) Business contract. – A contract entered into primarily for business or commercial purposes. The term does not include a consumer contract, an employment contract, or a contract to which a government or a governmental agency of this State is a party.

(2) Consumer contract. – A contract entered into by one or more individuals primarily for personal, family, or household purposes.

(b) Reciprocal attorneys' fees provisions in business contracts are valid and enforceable for the recovery of reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses.

(c) If a business contract governed by the laws of this State contains a reciprocal attorneys' fees provision, the court or arbitrator in any suit, action, proceeding, or arbitration involving the business contract may award reasonable attorneys' fees in accordance with the terms of the business contract. In determining reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses under this section, the court or arbitrator may consider all relevant facts and circumstances, including, but not limited to, the following:

(11) The extent to which the party seeking attorneys' fees prevailed in the action.

(12) The amount of attorneys' fees awarded in similar cases.

(d) Reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses shall not be governed by (i) any statutory presumption or provision in the business contract providing for a stated percentage of the amount of such attorneys' fees or (ii) the amount recovered in other cases in which the business contract contains reciprocal attorneys' fees provisions.

(e) Nothing in this section shall in any way make valid or invalid attorneys' fees provisions in consumer contracts or in any note, conditional sale contract, or other evidence of indebtedness that is otherwise governed by G.S. 6-21.2. If the business contract is also a note, conditional sale contract, or other evidence of indebtedness that is otherwise governed by G.S. 6-21.2, then the parties that are entitled to recover attorneys' fees and expenses may elect to recover attorneys' fees and expenses either under this section or G.S. 6-21.2, but may recover only once for the same attorneys' fees and expenses."

SECTION 3. This act becomes effective October 1, 2011, and applies to business contracts entered into on or after that date.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO INCREASE THE PUNISHMENT FOR DWI OFFENDERS WITH THREE OR MORE GROSSLY AGGRAVATING FACTORS, TO AUTHORIZE THE COURT TO REQUIRE CONTINUOUS ALCOHOL MONITORING FOR CERTAIN OFFENDERS, AND TO INCREASE THE COURT COSTS FOR DWI OFFENDERS.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 20-179 reads as rewritten:

"§ 20-179. Sentencing hearing after conviction for impaired driving; determination of grossly aggravating and aggravating and mitigating factors; punishments.

(a) Sentencing Hearing Required. – After a conviction under G.S. 20-138.1, G.S. 20-138.2, a second or subsequent conviction under G.S. 20-138.2A, or a second or subsequent conviction under G.S. 20-138.2B, or when any of those offenses are remanded back to district court after an appeal to superior court, the judge shall hold a sentencing hearing to determine whether there are aggravating or mitigating factors that affect the sentence to be imposed.

(c) Determining Existence of Grossly Aggravating Factors. – At the sentencing hearing, based upon the evidence presented at trial and in the hearing, the judge, or the jury in superior court, must first determine whether there are any grossly aggravating factors in the case. Whether a prior conviction exists under subdivision (1) of this subsection, or whether a conviction exists under subdivision (d)(5) of this section, shall be matters to be determined by the judge, and not the jury, in district or superior court. If the sentencing hearing is for a case remanded back to district court from superior court, the judge shall determine whether the defendant has been convicted of any offense that was not considered at the initial sentencing hearing and impose the appropriate sentence under this section. The judge must impose the Aggravated Level One punishment under subsection (f3) of this section if it is determined that three or more grossly aggravating factors apply. The judge must impose the Level One punishment under subsection (g) of this section if it is determined that two ~~or more~~ grossly aggravating factors apply. The judge must impose the Level Two punishment under subsection (h) of this section if it is determined that only one of the grossly aggravating factors applies. The grossly aggravating factors are:

(1) A prior conviction for an offense involving impaired driving if:

a. The conviction occurred within seven years before the date of the offense for which the defendant is being sentenced; or

b. The conviction occurs after the date of the offense for which the defendant is presently being sentenced, but prior to or contemporaneously with the present sentencing; or

c. The conviction occurred in district court; the case was appealed to superior court; the appeal has been withdrawn, or the case has been remanded back to district court; and a new sentencing hearing has not been held pursuant to G.S. 20-38.7.

Each prior conviction is a separate grossly aggravating factor.

(2) Driving by the defendant at the time of the offense while his driver's license was revoked under G.S. 20-28, and the revocation was an impaired driving revocation under G.S. 20-28.2(a).

(3) Serious injury to another person caused by the defendant's impaired driving at the time of the offense.

(4) Driving by the defendant while a child under the age of 16 years was in the vehicle at the time of the offense.

In imposing an Aggravated Level One, a Level ~~One~~ One, or a Level Two punishment, the judge may consider the aggravating and mitigating factors in subsections (d) and (e) in determining the appropriate sentence. If there are no grossly aggravating factors in the case, the judge must weigh all aggravating and mitigating factors and impose punishment as required by subsection (f).

(f3) Aggravated Level One Punishment. – A defendant subject to Aggravated Level One punishment may be fined up to ten thousand dollars ($10,000) and shall be sentenced to a term of imprisonment that includes a minimum term of not less than 12 months and a maximum term of not more than 36 months. Notwithstanding G.S. 15A-1371, a defendant sentenced to a term of imprisonment pursuant to this subsection shall not be eligible for parole. However, the defendant shall be released from the Department of Correction on the date equivalent to the defendant's maximum imposed term of imprisonment less four months and shall be supervised by the Division of Community Corrections under and subject to the provisions of Article 84A of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes and shall also be required to abstain from alcohol consumption for the four-month period of supervision as verified by a continuous alcohol monitoring system. For purposes of revocation, violation of the requirement to abstain from alcohol or comply with the use of a continuous alcohol monitoring system shall be deemed a controlling condition under G.S. 15A-1368.4.

The term of imprisonment may be suspended only if a condition of special probation is imposed to require the defendant to serve a term of imprisonment of at least 120 days. Subsection (k1) of this section shall not apply to a defendant sentenced pursuant to this subsection. If the defendant is placed on probation, the judge shall impose as requirements that the defendant (i) abstain from alcohol consumption for a minimum of 120 days to a maximum of the term of probation, as verified by a continuous alcohol monitoring system pursuant to subsections (h1) and (h3) of this section and (ii) obtain a substance abuse assessment and the education or treatment required by G.S. 20-17.6 for the restoration of a drivers license and as a condition of probation. The judge may impose any other lawful condition of probation.

(g) Level One Punishment. – A defendant subject to Level One punishment may be fined up to four thousand dollars ($4,000) and shall be sentenced to a term of imprisonment that includes a minimum term of not less than 30 days and a maximum term of not more than 24 months. The term of imprisonment may be suspended only if a condition of special probation is imposed to require the defendant to serve a term of imprisonment of at least 30 days. If the defendant is placed on probation, the judge shall impose a requirement that the defendant obtain a substance abuse assessment and the education or treatment required by G.S. 20-17.6 for the restoration of a drivers license and as a condition of probation. The judge may impose any other lawful condition of probation.

(h1) The judge may impose, as a condition of probation for defendants subject to Level One or Level Two punishments, that the defendant abstain from alcohol consumption for a minimum of 30 days, to a maximum of ~~60 days,~~ the term of probation, as verified by a continuous alcohol monitoring system. ~~The total cost to the defendant for the continuous alcohol monitoring system may not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000).~~ The defendant's abstinence from alcohol shall be verified by a continuous alcohol monitoring system of a type approved by the Department of Correction.

~~(h2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (h1), if the court finds, upon good cause shown, that the defendant should not be required to pay the costs of the continuous alcohol monitoring system, the court shall not impose the use of a continuous alcohol monitoring system unless the local governmental entity responsible for the incarceration of the defendant in the local confinement facility agrees to pay the costs of the system.~~

(h3) Any fees or costs paid pursuant to ~~subsections (h1) or (h2)~~ subsection (h1) of this section shall be paid to the clerk of court for the county in which the judgment was entered or the deferred prosecution agreement was filed. Fees or costs collected under this subsection shall be transmitted to the entity providing the continuous alcohol monitoring system.

(k1) Credit for Inpatient Treatment. – Pursuant to G.S. 15A-1351(a), the judge may order that a term of imprisonment imposed as a condition of special probation under ~~any level of punishment~~ subsection (g), (h), (i), (j), or (k) of this section be served as an inpatient in a facility operated or licensed by the State for the treatment of alcoholism or substance abuse where the defendant has been accepted for admission or commitment as an inpatient. The defendant shall bear the expense of any treatment unless the trial judge orders that the costs be absorbed by the State. The judge may impose restrictions on the defendant's ability to leave the premises of the treatment facility and require that the defendant follow the rules of the treatment facility. The judge may credit against the active sentence imposed on a defendant the time the defendant was an inpatient at the treatment facility, provided such treatment occurred after the commission of the offense for which the defendant is being sentenced. This section shall not be construed to limit the authority of the judge in sentencing under any other provisions of law.

HOUSE BILL 49:
Laura's Law

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 11, 2011
Introduced by:	Reps. T. Moore, Hastings, Torbett, H. Warren	Prepared by:	Susan Sitze Committee Counsel
Analysis of:	Third Edition

SUMMARY: House Bill 49 would increase the punishment for DWI offenders with three or more grossly aggravating factors, would authorize the court to require continuous alcohol monitoring for certain offenders, and would impose an additional $100 in court costs for DWI offenders.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to S86, as introduced by Sens. Harrington, Clary, Forrester, which is currently in Senate Judiciary I.]

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 would amend subsections (c), (g), and (k1) of G.S. 20-179, and create a new subsection (f3), to create a new, higher, Aggravated Level One punishment for DWI offenders with 3 or more grossly aggravating factors. The punishment would allow a fine up to $10,000 and a term of imprisonment of 12 months to 36 months. A defendant would not be eligible for parole on any term of imprisonment under this level of sentencing. However, the defendant would be released 4 months prior to the maximum imposed prison term for a period of supervision including continuous alcohol monitoring.

The term of imprisonment could be suspended if a special condition of probation is imposed to require the defendant to serve a term of imprisonment of at least 120 days. The defendant would not be able to receive credit for inpatient treatment towards the term of imprisonment. The defendant would also be required to comply with continuous alcohol monitoring for a minimum of 120 days to a maximum of the term of probation.

This section would also amend subsections (h1), (h2), and (h3) of G.S. 20-179 to make the following changes to the current provisions relating to the use of continuous alcohol monitoring:

- Would remove the current limitation of 60 days on the use of continuous alcohol monitoring, and allow the court to require the use for the full term of probation
- Would remove the current restriction that the total cost to the defendant for continuous alcohol monitoring not be more than $1,000
- Would remove the provision in current law that allows the court to find that the defendant should not be required to pay the costs of continuous alcohol monitoring, and in that case to not impose the requirement unless the local government entity responsible for the incarceration of the defendant in the local confinement facility agrees to pay the cost of the system

Section 2 would provide for a permanent revocation for persons sentenced as an Aggravated Level One offender. This particular "permanent" revocation authorizes a person to apply for conditional license restoration after 3 years.

Section 3 would require a person sentenced as an Aggravated Level One offender to have an ignition interlock system installed on their vehicle for a period of 7 years after license restoration, and that they not drive with an alcohol concentration (BAC) of greater than 0.00.

Section 4 would impose an additional court cost of $100 on all persons convicted of a driving while impaired offense. This fee would be in addition to the current fees, which total approximately $141, plus any fines, restitution, attorneys' fees, or other fees, such as probation supervision or lab fees, that may be imposed.

Section 5 would authorize, but not require, that a person charged with an offense involving impaired driving be required to comply with continuous alcohol monitoring as a condition of pre-trial release if they have a prior conviction of an offense involving impaired driving that occurred within 7 years.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective December 1, 2011, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

BACKGROUND:

There are currently 5 levels of DWI sentencing described briefly as follows:

Level One – 2 or more grossly aggravating factors, fine up to $4,000, imprisonment of 30 days to 24 months, with mandatory 30 days active

Level Two – 1 grossly aggravating factor, fine up to $2,000, imprisonment of 7 days to 12 months, with mandatory 7 days active

Level Three – no grossly aggravating factors, but the aggravating factors outweigh the mitigating factors, fine up to $1,000, imprisonment of 72 hours to 6 months, with mandatory 72 hours active or 72 hours community service or both

Level Four – no aggravating and mitigating factors, or aggravating factors are substantially counterbalanced by mitigating factors, fine up to $500, imprisonment of 48 hours to 120 days, with mandatory 48 hours active or 48 hours community service or both

Level Five – mitigating factors substantially outweigh any aggravating factors, fine up to $200, imprisonment of 24 hours to 60 days, with mandatory 24 hours active or 24 hours community service or both

Grossly aggravating factors are:

- Prior DWI conviction within 7 years
- Driving while license revoked for an impaired driving conviction
- Serious injury to another person caused by the impaired driving
- Driving while impaired with a child under 16 in the vehicle

Aggravating factors include factors such as: a BAC level of 0.15 or more, reckless driving, driving while license revoked, an accident resulting from the impaired driving, and some previous motor vehicle convictions.

Mitigating factors include factors such as: a BAC level of less than 0.09, safe driving except for the impairment, a safe driving record, impairment caused by lawfully prescribed drug for an existing medical condition, and voluntary submission to substance abuse assessment.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective December 1, 2011, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

This fiscal analysis is independent of the impact of other criminal penalty bills being considered by the General Assembly, which could also increase the projected prison population and thus the availability of prison beds in future years. The Fiscal Research Division is tracking the cumulative effect of all criminal penalty bills on the prison system as well as the Judicial Department.*

FISCAL SUMMARY:

The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) estimated that 23,200 defendants convicted in FY 2008-09 of the applicable offenses paid the full General Court of Justice fees owed. If all 23,200 paid the additional $100 fee, total revenue from defendants sentenced in the first 12 months of implementation would be $2.32 million, collected over 24 months.

The Department of Correction Office of Research and Planning (DOC) examined 519 entries to prison with DWI Level One as their most serious offense in FY 2009-2010. DOC estimated 275 of the 519 offenders (53 percent) would be re-assigned to Aggravated Level One punishment and serve an additional 62 days in prison. The estimated total cost of 62 additional days is $238,700 per year (62 days x $14 per day x 275 offenders). There is no resource impact on the Division of Community Corrections. The 275 offenders would be absorbed into existing caseloads across the State. In addition, DOC does not anticipate any additional capital costs based on the estimated number of offenders who would be sentenced under the new Aggravated Level One DWI offense.

BILL SUMMARY:

The proposed legislation would:

1. Increase the punishment for DWI offenders with three or more grossly aggravating factors;
2. Authorize the court to require continuous alcohol monitoring for certain offenders; and
3. Impose an additional $100 in court costs for DWI offenders.

The proposed legislation is effective December 1, 2011, and applies to offenses committed on or after that date.

Source: Adopted from Committee Counsel's bill summary dated March 11, 2011.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY:

General

The Sentencing and Policy Advisory Commission prepares prison population projections for each bill containing a criminal penalty. The Commission assumes for such bills that expanding existing, or creating new criminal offenses produces no deterrent or incapacitative effect on crime. Therefore, the Fiscal Research Division does not assume deterrent effects for any criminal penalty bill.

However, the Sentencing and Policy Advisory Commission was unable to prepare prison population projections for the proposed legislation. DWI's are not punished under Structured Sentencing, so the Sentencing Commission does not have any DWI offender data. As a result, the Department of Correction Office of Research and Planning (DOC) was asked to estimate the fiscal impact of the proposed legislation.

The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) provides Fiscal Research with a fiscal impact analysis for most criminal penalty bills. For such bills, fiscal impact is typically based on the assumption that court time will increase due to anticipated increases in trials and corresponding increases in workload for judges, clerks, and prosecutors. This increased court time is also expected to result in greater expenditures for jury fees and indigent defense.

Section 1:
This section amends G.S. 20-179 to create a new, higher, Aggravated Level One punishment for DWI offenders with three or more grossly aggravating factors. The punishment would allow a fine up to $10,000 and a term of imprisonment of 12 to 36 months. A defendant would not be eligible for parole. However, the defendant would be released four months (120 days) prior to the maximum prison term for a period of supervision including continuous alcohol monitoring (CAM).

This section also amends subsections (h1), (h2), and (h3) of G.S. 20-179 to make the following changes to the current provisions relating to the use of CAM:

- Remove the current limitation of 60 days on the use of CAM, and allow the court to require the use for the full term of probation;
- Remove the current restriction that the total cost to the defendant for CAM not be more than $1,000; and
- Remove the provision in current law that allows the court to find that the defendant should not be required to pay the costs of CAM, and in that case to not impose the requirement unless the local government entity responsible for the incarceration of the defendant in the local confinement facility agrees to pay the cost of the system.

DOC Impact: To estimate eligibility for Aggravated Level One punishment, the Department of Correction Office of Research and Planning (DOC) examined 519 entries to prison with DWI Level One as their most serious offense in FY 2009-10. DOC reviewed the offender's commitments and arrest record to determine the following:

1. Whether the offender had any prior DWI offenses and instances of concurrent driving while license revoked charges;
2. Whether, at the time of the offense, the defendant's impaired driving caused serious injury to another person; and
3. Whether, at the time of the offense, the defendant was driving while a child under the age of 16 was in the vehicle.

Inmates were assigned one factor for each prior offense, and one factor for each aggravating condition, then the factors were summed for each inmate. Inmates with a total of three or more factors were placed in Aggravated Level One for the purposes of this analysis. Inmates with only two factors remained in Level One. In total, DOC estimated that 275 offenders would be re-assigned to Aggravated Level One punishment.

In FY 2009-10, the average sentence for DWI Level One offenders was 501 days. DOC estimated the expected new sentence for Aggravated Level One offenders to be 926 days. Under current law, Level One inmates served approximately 33 percent of the average sentence, or 165 days (501 days x 33 percent); non-paroled Level One inmates served approximately 41 percent of the average sentence, or 205 days (501 x 41 percent). For purposes of this analysis, DOC assumed that Aggravated Level One offenders would serve approximately the same percentage as current non-paroled DWI Level One inmates (41 percent). Therefore, the expected number of prison days served by new Aggravated Level One offenders would be 380 days (926 x 41 percent). After subtracting 120 days for post-release supervision, the adjusted time would be approximately 260 days in prison. Without the proposed legislation, Aggravated Level One offenders would be expected to serve 198 days. The difference between the adjusted days (260 days) and the time expected to serve without the proposed legislation (198 days) would be 62 days. Overall, offenders sentenced as Aggravated Level One are estimated to spend 62 more days in prison than those convicted for a Level One offense.

The cost of the additional days for offenders in the Aggravated Level One punishment was estimated by multiplying the number of potential days served by $14 per day per inmate. The following table illustrates the methodology used by DOC:

Entry Level	Expected New Sentence	Percent Expected to Serve	Expected Prison Days	Minus Post-Release	Adjusted Days	Expected DART-Cherry Time	Expected to Serve without New Legislation	Impact
Level One	501	0.33	165	0	165	33	198	0
Aggravated Level One	926	0.41	380	120	260	0	198	62

Using the methodology above, 275 of the 519 offenders (53 percent) would be re-assigned to Aggravated Level One punishment. The estimated total cost of 62 additional days is $238,700 per year (62 days x $14 per day x 275 offenders). There is no resource impact on the Division of Community Corrections. The 275 offenders would be absorbed into existing caseloads across the State. In addition, DOC does not anticipate any additional capital costs based on the estimated number of offenders who would be sentenced under the new Aggravated Level One DWI offense.

DOC also noted that inmates convicted of DWI Level One may enter prison with some other crime as the most serious offense. During FY 2009-2010, there were 118 inmates who entered prison with a Level One conviction to be served concurrently or consecutively to a more serious crime. Of these inmates, DOC estimates that 61 (51.7 percent) would be eligible for Aggravated Level One. The changes in sentence range for inmates convicted of Aggravated Level One may extend these inmates stay in prison, depending upon the sentence received for other crimes. DOC was unable to estimate the impact for these inmates at this time.

AOC Impact: The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) also provided a case estimate for the new Aggravated Level One punishment for DWI offenders. Under current law, a judge must impose the Level One punishment under subsection (g) of this section, if it is determined that two or more grossly aggravating factors apply. The judge must impose the Level Two punishment under subsection (h) of this section if it is determined that only one of the grossly aggravating factors applies.

For Calendar Year 2010, AOC data shows the following:

DWI Level	Grossly Aggravating Factors*	Defendants Convicted	Percent of Total
Level 1	2 or more	3,939	9.5%
Level 2	1	6,215	14.9%
Levels 3 - 5	none	31,528	75.6%
Total		41,682	100.0%

*AOC data does not contain details on the number of grossly aggravating factors found or alleged. However, G.S. 20-179 requires a Level One conviction if two or more grossly aggravating factors are found and a Level Two conviction if one grossly aggravating factor is found.

Note: Typically, Judicial cost estimates are based on charges, rather than convictions. However, since a Level One or Level Two DWI conviction is determined at sentencing based on findings of grossly aggravating factors, in this instance convictions are a more appropriate measure of workload.

For their analysis, AOC accounted for all DWI convictions, including offenders who received active, intermediate, and community punishment. Overall in 2010, DWI convictions with any grossly aggravating factors accounted for 28 percent of all DWI convictions, and DWI convictions with more than one grossly aggravating factor accounted for 39 percent of all DWI convictions with grossly aggravating factors (or 10 percent of all DWI convictions). AOC cannot determine the number of Level One convictions that had at least three grossly aggravating factors.

Elevation from Level One to Aggravated Level One carries the potential for a substantial increase in punishment. In general, AOC expects that an increase in punishment will lead to a more vigorous defense, thus requiring more time on the part of court personnel. However, the district attorney is already obligated to introduce all aggravating and grossly aggravating factors of which they are aware, and anecdotal evidence suggests that DWI charges are already defended vigorously. Therefore, AOC does not anticipate that this portion of the bill will significantly impact court workload at the time of conviction.

However, because this legislation increases the maximum fine amount and increases court costs, it is likely that the violation rate for some DWI probationers would increase, resulting in more court hearings on those violations. The number or impact of such hearings cannot be projected. There will be some one-time programming and form changes to include the new offense in the necessary reports to DMV. These costs are not anticipated to be substantial.

In terms of the elimination of duration and cost caps for continuous alcohol monitoring (CAM), G.S. 20-179(h1)–(h3) currently provide that, when imposing a Level One or Level Two punishment for conviction of DWI, the court may impose a condition of probation that the defendant abstain from the consumption of alcohol for up to 60 days. The defendant's compliance with this condition is to be monitored by the use of a CAM system approved by the Department of Correction. The costs (up to $1,000) are borne by the defendant or, if the court finds for good cause that the defendant should not bear the costs of CAM, by the local government entity responsible for his incarceration. If neither the defendant nor the local government can bear the costs, the judge may not require CAM. The costs of CAM are paid to the Clerk of Court for distribution to the vendor providing the monitoring system.

Section 1 amends the current CAM provisions in G.S. 20-179 to eliminate:

- The cap of 60 days (proposed: CAM could be imposed for the duration of probation);
- The $1,000 cap on CAM costs (proposed: no limitation); and,
- The provision that CAM may not be imposed if there is no party available to pay for it (proposed: unknown; there is no clear authority to assess costs or their allocation).

By repealing G.S. 20-179(h2) and the assessment of costs in subsection (h1), it is unclear how costs for CAM would be assessed or allocated to a responsible party. Subsection (h3) would continue to provide that "any fees or costs paid under subsection[s] (h1)" would be collected by the clerk and paid to the CAM vendor. If the intention of the bill is that the costs of CAM would be assessed against the defendant, it is possible that judges would be less likely to impose as a condition of probation that offenders abstain from alcohol consumption under 20-179(h1). AOC cannot project the impact of this potential change in terms of other conditions that might be imposed instead, or on any resulting impact on probationer compliance and behavior. Any increase in probation revocation hearings would impact court workload.

Approximately, 1,200 people in North Carolina have been placed on CAM since December of 2004. The name of the company providing CAM in North Carolina is Rehabilitation Support Services, LLC. CAM cost $75 to install and $12 per day for daily monitoring fees. The CAM System is delivered on an offender-pay model, so the offender absorbs either all or a significant portion of the cost for the equipment and daily monitoring fees. Currently, approximately 90% of offenders on CAM are paying for all or a significant portion of CAM fees. Approximately 10% receive some sort of government funding to subsidize the daily cost. Pay is collected by the Clerks of Court for a Level 1 or Level 2 DWI offense and sent to Rehabilitation Support Services, LLC. Any other alcohol-related offender on CAM pays directly to Rehabilitation Support Services, LLC. If a defendant is late on their payments (typically up to one month late), Rehabilitation Support Services, LLC will remove CAM and the defendant would be in violation of the terms of their probation. The Division of Community Corrections reviewed their records to determine how many offenders were revoked to prison as a result of a CAM sanction. Since January 1, 2010, no one has been revoked to prison or jail for not paying CAM fees.

Section 2:
This section provides for a permanent revocation for persons sentenced as an Aggravated Level One offender. This particular "permanent" revocation authorizes a person to apply for conditional license restoration after 3 years.

Impact: Costs associated with this section are offender based. Therefore, Section 2 does not impose a fiscal impact to the State.

Section 3:
This section requires a person sentenced as an Aggravated Level One offender to have an ignition interlock system installed on their vehicle for a period of seven years after license restoration, preventing them from driving with an alcohol concentration (BAC) of greater than 0.00.

Impact: Costs associated with this section are offender based. Therefore, Section 3 does not impose a fiscal impact to the State.

Section 4:
This section imposes an additional court cost of $100 on all persons convicted of a driving while impaired offense.

Impact: According to AOC, there was a total of 41,682 defendants convicted of a DWI in calendar year 2010. For the purpose of determining the amount of revenue the new fee would provide the General Fund, the AOC analyzed the number of DWI offenders who paid in full by 2009-10. Due to data limitations, AOC is unable to determine the exact number of DWI offenders convicted in FY 2008-09 who paid in full by FY 2009-10. This is due to the court's focus on offender compliance with all terms of probation, rather than solely on money collected. Offenders may have received some reduction or waiver of fees and complied in full with the judgments rendered, and some defendants may still be on probation and making payments. In addition, it is important to note that costs due the State are toward the end of the priority order, and DWI probation terms are more than one year. Therefore, AOC would expect to see a gradual increase in revenue over the first three fiscal years.

At this time, AOC estimates that 23,200 defendants convicted in FY 2008-09 of the applicable offenses paid the full General Court of Justice fees owed. If all 23,200 paid the additional $100 fee, total revenue from defendants sentenced in the first 12 months of implementation would be $2.32 million, collected over 24 months. (Note: effective date is December 1, 2011, so collections would be spread over three fiscal years.)

However, it is likely that some of the offenders would pay only part of the new fee, or collections would be diminished in other accounts with lower priorities. If the equivalent of 50 percent paid the full fee, collections from that group would be $1.16 million, collected over 24 months. If the equivalent of ten percent paid the full fee, collections from that group would be $232,000, collected over 24 months.

Additionally, there will be a one-time impact on workload for information technology and legal staff, and ongoing impact on clerk workload, for any new fee that is imposed only on conviction of specific cases.

Section 5:

This section authorizes that a person charged with an offense involving impaired driving be required to comply with CAM as a condition of pre-trial release if they have a prior conviction of an offense involving impaired driving that occurred within seven years.

Impact: Judges have the discretion to order CAM for pretrial release for any offender charged with an offense involving impaired driving if they have a previous conviction within the past seven years. Costs associated with this section would be offender based. Therefore, Section 5 does not impose a fiscal impact to the State.

SENATE BILL 272:
Victims' Compensation Law Changes.-AB

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	March 21, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Brunstetter	Prepared by:	Bill Patterson
Analysis of:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The PCS to Senate Bill 272 increases the weekly benefit payable under the Crime Victims Compensation Act to a victim's dependent from $200 to $300 per week, for up to 26 weeks, and makes technical and clarifying changes to the Act. The PCS rewrote the bill's original Sections 1 and 2, added a new Section 3, renumbered original Section 3 as Section 4, deleted the original Section 4, and revised the bill's long title.

CURRENT LAW: Under the North Carolina Crime Victims Compensation Act[1], a claimant may be reimbursed for economic loss[2] suffered as a result of certain crimes[3] committed in this State. Victims as well as their dependents are eligible claimants under the Act. Except for benefits for which a shorter duration is prescribed in the Act, economic loss generally must occur within one year of the date of the criminally injurious conduct to be compensable.[4] A "dependent" is an individual "wholly or substantially dependent upon the victim for care and support".[5] Compensation for a dependent's economic loss is limited to $200 per week, with no maximum duration specified in the Act.[6]

The following claims-related information is confidential and not subject to public disclosure by the Commission and its Director[7]:

- medical information relating to the mental, physical or emotional condition of a victim or claimant
- law enforcement records and information
- juvenile records

Proceedings in a claim for an award of compensation may be suspended upon a request by the Attorney General pending the disposition of a current or impending criminal prosecution.[8] If a provider of services to a victim accepts compensation from the Commission, the provider agrees not to seek further compensation from the claimant.[9] A "collateral source[10]" is prohibited from enforcing any right of subrogation by recovery from a claimant of any portion of an award under the Crime Victims Compensation Act.[11]

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 of the PCS expands the current definition of "collateral source" to include a "charitable gift or donation by a third-party, including a charity care write-off of expenses by a medical provider, regardless of whether the gift or donation is subsequently rescinded." Such a collateral source will not be entitled to pursue subrogation out of a claimant's recovery under the Act.

Section 1 also increases the limit on compensation for a dependent's economic loss to $300 per week, and limits the duration of such compensation to a maximum of 26 weeks after the date of the injury.

Section 2 requires the Commission and its Director to keep the following information confidential:

- personal information[12] of victims and claimants
- information concerning the disposition of claims for compensation other than the total amount awarded to a victim or claimant

Section 3 repeals G.S. 15B-11(f), which contained limits on the amount and duration of benefits; these limits are now provided in G.S. 15B-2, as amended by the PCS.

Section 4 of the PCS amends G.S. 15B-14(b) to require, rather than merely permit, suspension of compensation proceedings upon request of the Attorney General during the pendency of an ongoing or impending prosecution.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective July 1, 2011, and applies to claims submitted on or after that date.

S272-SMTG-9(e1) v3

G.S. 15B-2(3).

[11] G.S. 15B-19.

[12] The bill adopts the definition of "personal information" found in 18 U.S.C. § 2725(3): "information that identifies an individual, including an individual's photograph, social security number, driver identification number, name, address (but not the 5-digit zip code), telephone number, and medical or disability information, but does not include information on vehicular accidents, driving violations, and driver's status."

"§ 15A-1340.34. Restitution generally.

(a) When sentencing a defendant convicted of a criminal offense, the court shall determine whether the defendant shall be ordered to make restitution to any victim of the offense in question. (b) If the defendant is being sentenced for an offense for which the victim is entitled to restitution under Article 46 of this Chapter, the court shall, in addition to any penalty authorized by law, require that the defendant make restitution ~~to the victim or the victim's estate for any injuries or damages arising directly and proximately out of the offense committed by the defendant.~~ for any injuries or damages arising directly and proximately out of the offense committed by the defendant to the victim, the victim's estate, or a third-party payor, including an insurer, that has made payment to the victim or the victim's estate to compensate the victim for such injuries or damages. If the defendant is placed on probation or post-release supervision, any restitution ordered under this subsection shall be a condition of probation as provided in G.S. 15A-1343(d) or a condition of post-release supervision as provided in G.S. 148-57.1.

SECTION 2. G.S. 15A-1340.35 reads as rewritten:

"§ 15A-1340.35. Basis for restitution.

(a) In determining the amount of restitution, the court shall consider the following:

b. The cost of necessary physical and occupational therapy and rehabilitation required by the ~~victim; and~~ victim.

2. The value of the property on the date of sentencing, less the value of any part of the property that is returned.

(3) Any measure of restitution specifically provided by law for the offense committed by the defendant.

(4) In the case of an offense resulting in bodily injury that results in the death of the victim, the cost of the victim's necessary funeral and related services, in addition to the items set out in subdivisions (1), (2), and (3) of this subsection.

(b) The court may require that the victim or the victim's estate provide admissible evidence that documents the costs claimed by the victim or the victim's estate under this section. Any such documentation shall be shared with the defendant before the sentencing hearing.

(c) Costs awarded under sub-subdivision (a)(1)d. of this section shall be limited to five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) for each victim for all offenses occurring contemporaneously.

SENATE BILL 379:
Revise Restitution Damage Awards

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 4, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Goolsby	Prepared by:	Bill Patterson
Analysis of:	PCS to First Edition S379-CSTG-7		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: In sentencing defendants convicted of offenses for which the victim is entitled to restitution, Senate Bill 379 requires restitution to be made not only to the victim or the victim's estate, but also to any third-party payer, including an insurer other than the defendant's insurer, which has paid the victim or the victim's estate for any damages for which restitution may be paid. The bill also expands the list of factors that a court can consider in awarding restitution to include the victim's pain, suffering, disfigurement, brain damage, paralysis, permanent impairment, or death of the victim, and puts a limit of $500,000 on the amount of restitution that may be ordered based on a consideration of these non-economic damages. The PCS excludes the defendant's insurer from the definition of "third-party payer" entitled to restitution, requires that the victim or victim's estate be paid in full before a third-party payer can receive payment, expands the class of non-economic damages that may be considered by a court in setting the amount of restitution, and makes a technical change to the language in subsection (c).

CURRENT LAW: Restitution to victims of crime is governed by Article 81C of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes. G.S. 15A-1340.34 requires that in sentencing a defendant for a crime for which the victim is entitled to restitution, the court shall, in addition to any penalty authorized by law, require the defendant to make restitution to the victim or the victim's estate for any injuries or damages directly resulting from the offense committed by the defendant. In determining the amount of restitution in the case of offenses resulting in bodily injury to a victim, G.S. 15A-1340.35(a)(1) requires the court to consider the following costs and losses resulting from the offense:

- The cost of medical treatment required by the victim
- The cost of physical and occupational therapy and rehabilitation required by the victim
- The victim's lost income[1]

In determining the amount of restitution, courts are not permitted to consider the victim's pain and suffering.[2]

BILL ANALYSIS: The PCS amends G.S. 15A-1340.34 to require the defendant to make restitution not only to the victim or the victim's estate, but also to a third-party payer who has paid the victim or the victim's estate compensation for injuries or damages arising out of the criminal offense. Third-party payers include insurers, other than insurers paying the victim pursuant to coverage provided to the defendant.

[1] These factors are also considered when restitution is ordered as a condition of probation or post-release supervision. G.S. 15A-1343(d), G.S. 148-57.1(c).

[2] "The trial court's basis for awarding restitution is limited to quantifiable costs, income, and values of the kind set out in N.C. Gen.Stat. § 15A-1340.35." State v. Wilson, 158 N.C.App. 235, 240, 580 S.E.2d 386, 390 (2003).

The PCS also amends G.S. 15A-1340.35(a)(1) applicable to offenses involving bodily injury to require courts to consider pain, suffering, disfigurement, brain damage, paralysis, permanent impairment, or death of the victim resulting from the offense when determining the amount of restitution. The PCS also adds a new subsection (c) to G.S. 15A-1340.35 limiting any restitution awarded based on a consideration of the victim's non-economic damages to $500,000.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective October 1, 2011, and applies to any order of restitution issued on or after that date.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO REQUIRE THE CANCELLATION OF AN AIRCRAFT LABOR AND STORAGE LIEN WHEN A SURETY BOND IN AN AMOUNT EQUAL TO ONE AND ONE-FOURTH TIMES THE AMOUNT OF THE LIEN CLAIMED IS DEPOSITED WITH THE CLERK OF COURT.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 44A-75 reads as rewritten:

"§ 44A-75. Termination of a lien on an aircraft.

(a) Termination by Payment of Amount Owed. – Any lien under this Article shall be terminated upon receipt by the lienor of the full amount owed for the labor, skill, or materials on the aircraft, and for storage of the aircraft, which amount shall not be limited to any amount shown on the notice of lien filed under G.S. 44A-60, if a notice of lien has been filed by the lienor. Upon receipt of the amount owed, the lienor or the lienor's agent shall release the aircraft to the owner, if the aircraft is in the possession of the lienor, and shall, within 20 days following a request in writing by the aircraft owner, file with the clerk of court a notice of satisfaction of lien, if a notice of lien has been filed by the lienor. A notice of satisfaction of lien shall state that the amount owed for the lienor's expenditure of labor, skill, or materials on the aircraft, and for the storage of the aircraft, has been paid and the lien against the aircraft has been terminated. The notice of satisfaction of lien shall be sworn to or affirmed, and subscribed by the lienor or by someone on the lienor's behalf having personal knowledge of the facts. Upon the filing of a notice of satisfaction of lien, the clerk of court shall make an entry of acknowledgment of satisfaction in the index.

(b) Termination by Deposit of Surety Bond. – Any lien under this Article shall be terminated by the clerk of court whenever a surety bond in a sum equal to one and one-fourth times the amount of the lien claimed against the aircraft and conditioned upon the payment of the amount finally determined to be due in satisfaction of the lien is deposited with the clerk of court. When a deposit that satisfies this subsection is made, the lienor or the lienor's agent shall release the aircraft to the owner, if the aircraft is in the possession of the lienor."

SECTION 2. This act is effective when it becomes law and applies to liens perfected under this Article on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 364:
Cancel Aircraft Lien W/ Surety Bond Deposit

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 14, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Clodfelter	Prepared by:	Brad Krehely
Analysis of:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 364 would require the cancellation of an aircraft labor and storage lien when a surety bond in an amount of 1 and ¼ times the amount of the lien claimed is deposited with the clerk of court.

CURRENT LAW: Any person who has expended labor, skill, or materials on an aircraft or has furnished storage for an aircraft at the request of its owner has a perfected lien on the aircraft. The lien begins on the date the expenditure of labor, skill, or materials or the storage commenced. The amount of the lien is the contract price for the expenditure of labor, skill, or materials or for the storage. If there is no contract, the amount of the lien is "the reasonable worth of the expenditure of labor, skill, or materials, or of the storage." The lien survives even if the possession of the aircraft is surrendered by the lienor.

The lien expires 120 days after the date the lienor voluntarily surrenders possession of the aircraft, unless the lienor, prior to the expiration of the 120 day period, files a notice of lien in the office of the clerk of court of the county in which the labor, skill, or materials were expended on the aircraft, or the storage was furnished for the aircraft.

A lien under this Article must be terminated if the lienor receives the full amount owed for the labor, skill, or materials on the aircraft and for storage of the aircraft. Upon receiving the amount owed, the lienor or the lienor's agent must release the aircraft to the owner if the aircraft is in possession of the lienor. Within 20 days after receiving a request in writing by the aircraft owner, the lienor or lienor's agent, must file a notice of satisfaction of the lien with the clerk of superior court (if the lienor has filed a notice of lien).

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 364 would require the clerk of court to terminate an aircraft labor and storage lien whenever a surety bond (1) in an amount equal to 1 and ¼ times the amount of the lien claimed and (2) conditioned upon the payment of the amount due to satisfy the lien is deposited with the clerk of court. If these requirements are satisfied, the lienor or the lienor's agent must release the aircraft to the owner if the lienor has possession of the aircraft. The act also retains the provisions of current law which allow termination if the lienor receives payment of the amount owed.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law and applies to liens perfected under this Article on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 457:
Amend Article 13 of Business Corporation Act

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 13, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Clodfelter	Prepared by:	Karen Cochrane-Brown
Analysis of:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 457 would amend Article 13 of the Business Corporation Act with regard to appraisal rights to more closely conform to the Model Business Corporation Act.

CURRENT LAW:

Article 13 of Chapter 55 (Dissenter's Rights) currently prescribes the right of a shareholder to dissent from certain corporate action and obtain payment for the shares. Much of the law has remained unchanged since 1989, when North Carolina adopted the Model Business Corporation Act as the basis for its law. The Model Act, which was drafted by a committee of the American Bar Association, has been amended numerous times since 1989.

Under current law, the right to dissent exists for all shares, whether voting or nonvoting, in the case of a merger, share exchange, or disposition of assets.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 of Senate Bill 457 rewrites much of Article 13 to conform to some of the changes in the Model Act. The bill deletes all reference to the terms "dissent" or "dissenter" and substitutes the more accurate term, "appraisal rights". A shareholder's right to an appraisal and to obtain the fair value of the shares is triggered by any of the following corporate actions:

- A merger.
- A share exchange.
- A disposition of assets.
- Certain amendments of the articles of incorporation.
- Any of the above actions that is provided by the articles of incorporation, bylaws, or a resolution of the board.
- A conversion to a foreign corporation.
- A conversion to a nonprofit status.
- A conversion to an unincorporated entity.

The bill would limit appraisal rights to voting shares. However, shares held on the effective date of this act that did not entitle the shareholder to vote on a merger, share exchange, or disposition of assets shall be entitled to appraisal rights to the same extent as if the shares did entitle the shareholder to vote.

A meeting notice for a meeting at which a specified corporate action will be voted on, must include a statement that shareholders are, are not, or may be entitled to appraisal rights. The notice must also include a copy of the Article.

A shareholder who is entitled to vote on a specified corporate action and who wishes to assert appraisal rights must deliver a written notice of intent to demand payment before the vote is taken, and must not vote in favor of the proposed action.

The written appraisal notice must be sent by the corporation to affected shareholders no earlier than the effective date of the corporate action giving rise to the appraisal rights and no later than 10 days after that date. In order to exercise appraisal rights, the shareholder must sign and return the form sent by the corporation and deposit the shareholder's certificates in accordance with the terms of the notice.

Payment of the corporation's estimate of fair value is due within 30 days after the shareholder submits the form. The payment must be accompanied by specified financial information. A shareholder who is dissatisfied with the payment must notify the corporation of the shareholder's estimate of the fair value and demand payment of that estimate plus interest within 30 days after receiving payment.

If a shareholder makes a demand for payment which remains unsettled, the corporation must commence a proceeding in Superior Court within 60 days after receiving the payment demand. The court must assess all costs and expenses, including attorney's fees, against the corporation, unless the court finds that the shareholder acted arbitrarily, vexatiously, or not in good faith.

The legality of a corporate action may not be contested by a shareholder after it has been approved, unless the action was:

- Authorized by law, the articles of incorporation or bylaws, or by resolution of the board.
- A result of fraud.
- An interested transaction.
- Approved by less than unanimous consent under certain circumstances.

Sections 2 through 22 of the bill are conforming changes to other laws.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective October 1, 2011.

SECTION 2. G.S. 163-278.13 reads as rewritten:

"§ 163-278.13. Limitation on contributions.

(a) No individual, political committee, or other entity shall contribute to any candidate or other political committee any money or make any other contribution in any election in excess of four thousand dollars ($4,000) for that election.

(b) No candidate or political committee shall accept or solicit any contribution from any individual, other political committee, or other entity of any money or any other contribution in any election in excess of four thousand dollars ($4,000) for that election.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) of this section, it shall be lawful for a candidate or a candidate's spouse, parents, brothers and sisters to make a contribution to the candidate or to the candidate's treasurer of any amount of money or to make any other contribution in any election in excess of four thousand dollars ($4,000) for that election.

(d) For the purposes of this section, the term "an election" means any primary, second primary, or general election in which the candidate or political committee may be involved, without regard to whether the candidate is opposed or unopposed in the election, except that where a candidate is not on the ballot in a second primary, that second primary is not "an election" with respect to that candidate.

(d1) Notwithstanding subsections (a) and (b) of this section, a candidate or political committee may accept a contribution knowing that the contribution is to be reimbursed to the entity making the contribution and knowing the candidate or political committee has funds sufficient to reimburse the entity making the contribution if all of the following conditions are met:

(1) The entity submits sufficient information of the contribution to the candidate or political committee for reimbursement within 45 days of the contribution.

(2) The candidate or political committee makes a reimbursement to the entity making the contribution within seven days of submission of sufficient information.

(3) The candidate or political committee indicates on its report under G.S. 163-278.11 that the good, service, or other item resulting in the reimbursement is an expenditure of the candidate or political committee, and notes if the contribution was by credit card.

(4) The contribution does not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000.00).

(d2) Any contribution, or portion thereof, made under subsection (d1) of this section that is not submitted for reimbursement in accordance with subsection (d1) of this section shall be treated as a contribution for purposes of this section. Any contribution, or portion thereof, made under subsection (d1) of this section that is not reimbursed in accordance with subsection (d1) of this section shall be treated as a contribution for purposes of this section.

(e) Except as provided in this subsection and ~~subsections (e2), (e3), and (e4)~~ subsection (e3) of this section, this section shall not apply to any national, State, district or county executive committee of any political party. For the purposes of this section only, the term "political party" means only those political parties officially recognized under G.S. 163-96. No individual shall contribute to any political party any money or make any other contribution in any election in excess of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) for that election. No political party shall accept or solicit any contribution from any individual any money or any other contribution in any election in excess of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) for that election.

(e1) No referendum committee which received any contribution from a corporation, labor union, insurance company, business entity, or professional association may make any contribution to another referendum committee, to a candidate or to a political committee.

~~(e2) In order to make meaningful the provisions of Article 22D of this Chapter, the following provisions shall apply with respect to candidates for justice of the Supreme Court and judge of the Court of Appeals:~~

~~(1) No candidate shall accept, and no contributor shall make to that candidate, a contribution in any election exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000) except as provided for elsewhere in this subsection.~~

~~(2) A candidate may accept, and a family contributor may make to that candidate, a contribution not exceeding two thousand dollars ($2,000) in an election if the contributor is that candidate's parent, child, brother, or sister.~~

~~(3) Repealed by Session Laws 2008-150, s. 7(a), effective August 2, 2008.~~

~~As used in this subsection, "candidate" is also a political committee authorized by the candidate for that candidate's election. Nothing in this subsection shall prohibit a candidate or the spouse of that candidate from making a contribution or loan secured entirely by that individual's assets to that candidate's own campaign.~~

(e3) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) of this section, no candidate for superior court judge or district court judge shall accept, and no contributor shall make to that candidate, a contribution in any election exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000), except as provided in subsection (c) of this section. As used in this subsection, "candidate" is also a political committee authorized by the candidate for that candidate's election. Nothing in this subsection shall prohibit a candidate or the spouse of that candidate from making a contribution or loan secured entirely by that individual's assets to that candidate's own campaign.

~~(e4) In order to make meaningful the provisions of the North Carolina Voter-Owned Elections Act, as set forth in Article 22J of this Chapter, no candidate for an office subject to that Article shall accept, and no contributor shall make to that candidate, a contribution during the period beginning 21 days before the day of the general election and ending the day after the general election if that contribution causes the candidate to exceed the "trigger for matching funds" defined in G.S. 163-278.96(17). As used in this subsection, the term "candidate" also includes "candidate campaign committee" as defined in G.S. 163-278.38Z(3). Nothing in this subsection shall prohibit a candidate from making a contribution or loan secured entirely by that candidate's assets to that candidate's own campaign or to a political committee, the principal purpose of which is to support that candidate's campaign. This subsection applies with respect to a candidate only if both of the following statements are true regarding that candidate:~~

~~(1) That candidate is opposed in the general election by a certified candidate as defined in Article 22J of this Chapter.~~

~~(2) That certified candidate has not received the maximum matching funds available under G.S. 163-278.99B(c).~~

~~The recipient of a contribution that apparently violates this subsection has three days to return the contribution or file a detailed statement with the State Board of Elections explaining why the contribution does not violate this subsection.~~

(e5) The contribution limits of subsections (a) and (b) of this section do not apply to contributions made to an independent expenditure political committee. For purposes of this section, an "independent expenditure political committee" is a political committee whose treasurer makes and abides by a certification to the State Board of Elections that the political committee does not and will not make contributions, directly or indirectly, to candidates or to political committees that make contributions to candidates. The State Board of Elections shall provide forms for implementation of this subsection. This subsection shall not apply to a candidate or a political committee controlled by a candidate. The exception of this subsection is in addition to any other exception provided by law.

(f) Any individual, candidate, political committee, referendum committee, or other entity that violates the provisions of this section is guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor."

SECTION 3. This act becomes effective July 1, 2011.

SENATE BILL 419:
Campaign Finance and Regulatory Reforms

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 13, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Davis	Prepared by:	R. Erika Churchill
Analysis of:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 419 would repeal the authority for public financing of judicial and certain Council of State races, and limit an individual's contribution to a political party to $250,000 per election.

Public Financing of Certain Elections.

CURRENT LAW: North Carolina currently provides two separate programs for public financing of elections – one for appellate judicial races and one for 3 of the 10 Council of State races (Auditor, Superintendent of Public Instruction and Commissioner of Insurance).

To participate, the candidate must file a declaration of intent with the State Board of Elections BEFORE collecting any qualifying contributions. The declaration of intent has to be filed before or during the "qualifying period," which is September 1 of the year before the election until the day of the primary. After filing the declaration of intent, the candidate must collect qualifying contributions from a certain number of registered voters during the qualifying period. The State Board of Elections "certifies" that the candidate has filed a declaration of intent, collected the appropriate contributions, filed a notice of candidacy. Once certified, the candidate is entitled to receive distributions from the public financing fund. Distributions are as follows: none for an uncontested primary or general election; an initial distribution within 5 business days of certification by the State Board for a candidate in a contested general election; and matching funds upon trigger.

The programs also require the publication of a Voter Guide as to the functions of the office, the laws concerning the election of that office, the public financing fund, voter registration, and information about all candidates running for that office. The money for the distributions to the candidates and the publication and mailing of the voter guide is taken from the public financing fund. The programs are funded by voluntary check-off donations on personal income tax. The judicial program is also funded by a mandatory surcharge on attorney's annual bar dues.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would repeal the statutory authority for two public financing programs, and revert any money in the funds to the General Fund.

Limitation on contributions to political parties.

CURRENT LAW: North Carolina does not currently limit or prohibit contributions by individuals to political parties. North Carolina does prohibit contributions by corporations, business entities, labor unions, professional associations and insurance companies are prohibited from making contributions to all political committees, including political parties. A specific exception to that prohibition is made to allow for contributions to political parties by corporations, business entities, labor unions, professional associations and insurance companies for political party headquarters building funds, provided any contributions so made are kept segregated and used in accordance with G.S. 163-278.19B.

BILL ANALYSIS: The bill would limit an individual's contribution to a political party to $250,000 for that election.

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 18, 2011
Introduced by:	Sens. Apodaca, Hise	Prepared by:	Karen Cochrane-Brown Committee Counsel
Analysis of:	PCS to First Edition S474-CSRO-11

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 474 would direct pharmacies to require photo identification prior to dispensing certain controlled substances.

[As introduced, this bill was identical to H656, as introduced by Reps. Guice, Ingle, Faircloth, which is currently in House Judiciary Subcommittee B.]

CURRENT LAW: Under current law, the Department of Health and Human Services is required to maintain a reporting system of prescriptions for all Schedule II through V controlled substances. Dispensers are required to report the following information:

- The dispenser's DEA number.
- The patient's name, address, telephone number, and date of birth.
- The date the prescription was written.
- The date the prescription was filled.
- The prescription number.
- Whether the prescription is new or a refill.
- Metric quantity of the drug.
- Estimated days of supply of the drug.
- National Drug Code of the drug.
- Prescriber's DEA number.

BILL ANALYSIS:

The PCS for SB 474 would add a provision to the Controlled Substances Act directing that, prior to dispensing a Schedule II or certain Schedule III controlled substances, a pharmacy must require that the person seeking the dispensation present one of the following forms of identification:

- A drivers license.
- A special identification card issued by DMV.
- A military identification card.
- A passport.

The pharmacy must document the name, type of identification, and the identification number and retain this information as part of its business records for three years following dispensation.

The pharmacy must also make the identifying information available to anyone authorized to receive prescription information under the controlled substances reporting system within 72 hours after receiving a request for the information. Prescription information is generally confidential, but may be released to doctors and pharmacists for the care of their patients, an individual requesting his or her own information, SBI agents in the course of an investigation, primary monitoring authorities for other states, a court in a criminal action, the Division of Medical Assistance, licensing boards in connection with a disciplinary investigation, or a county medical examiner. If a pharmacy submits the identifying information required by this section along with the information that is required to be submitted to the controlled substance reporting system within 7 days after the prescription is dispensed, the pharmacy will be deemed in compliance with this requirement.

Nothing in this provision requires that the person seeking the dispensation and the person to whom the prescription is issued be the same person.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective January 1, 2012.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND THE JURISDICTIONAL AND PROCEDURAL PROVISIONS OF THE PROBATE CODE AND RELATED STATUTES TO PROVIDE UNIFORMITY IN ESTATE MATTERS, TO DEFINE THE JURISDICTION OF THE CLERK OF SUPERIOR COURT CONSISTENT WITH THE PROVISIONS OF THE UNIFORM TRUST CODE, TO RECODIFY CERTAIN PROVISIONS RELATING TO THE PROBATE OF WILLS, AND TO UPDATE AND AMEND THE PROCEDURE FOR CLAIMING SPOUSAL AND CHILDREN'S ALLOWANCES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 1-301.3 reads as rewritten:

"§ 1-301.3. Appeal of trust and estate matters determined by clerk.

(a) Applicability. – This section applies to matters arising in the administration of ~~testamentary~~ trusts and of estates of decedents, incompetents, and minors. G.S. 1-301.2 applies in the conduct of a special proceeding when a special proceeding is required in a matter relating to the administration of an estate.

(b) Clerk to Decide Estate Matters. – In matters covered by this section, the clerk shall determine all issues of fact and law. The clerk shall enter an order or judgment, as appropriate, containing findings of fact and conclusions of law supporting the order or judgment.

(c) Appeal to Superior Court. – A party aggrieved by an order or judgment of the clerk may appeal to the superior court by filing a written notice of the appeal with the clerk within 10 days of entry of the order or ~~judgment.~~ judgment after service of the order on that party. The notice of appeal shall ~~specify~~ contain a short and plain statement of the basis for the appeal. Unless otherwise provided by law, a judge of the superior court or the clerk may issue a stay of the order or judgment upon the appellant's posting an appropriate bond set by the judge or clerk issuing the stay. While the appeal is pending, the clerk retains authority to enter orders affecting the administration of the estate, subject to any order entered by a judge of the superior court limiting that authority.

(d) Duty of Judge on Appeal. – Upon appeal, the judge of the superior court shall review the order or judgment of the clerk for the purpose of determining only the following:

(1) Whether the findings of fact are supported by the evidence.
(2) Whether the conclusions of law are supported by the findings of facts.
(3) Whether the order or judgment is consistent with the conclusions of law and applicable law.

It is not necessary for a party to object to the admission or exclusion of evidence before the clerk in order to preserve the right to assign error on appeal to its admission or exclusion. If the judge finds prejudicial error in the admission or exclusion of evidence, the judge, in the judge's discretion, shall either remand the matter to the clerk for a subsequent hearing or resolve the matter on the basis of the record. If the record is insufficient, the judge may receive additional evidence on the ~~evidentiary~~ factual issue in question. The judge may continue the case if necessary to allow the parties time to prepare for a hearing to receive additional evidence.

(e) Remand After Disposition of Issue on Appeal. – The judge, upon determining the matter appealed from the clerk, shall remand the case to the clerk for such further action as is necessary to administer the estate.

(f) Recording of Estate Matters. – In the discretion of the clerk or upon request by a party, all hearings and other matters covered by this section shall be recorded by an electronic recording device. A transcript of the proceedings may be ordered by a party, by the clerk, or by the presiding judge. If a recordation is not made, the clerk shall submit to the superior court a summary of the evidence presented to the clerk."

SECTION 2. G.S. 7A-307(a) reads as rewritten:

"§ 7A-307. Costs in administration of estates.

(a) In the administration of the estates of decedents, minors, incompetents, of missing persons, and of trusts under wills and under powers of attorney, in trust proceedings under G.S. 36C-2-203, in estate proceedings under G.S. 28A-2-4, and in collections of personal property by affidavit, the following costs shall be assessed:

(1) For the use of the courtroom and related judicial facilities, the sum of ten dollars ($10.00), to be remitted to the county. Funds derived from the facilities fees shall be used in the same manner, for the same purposes, and subject to the same restrictions, as facilities fees assessed in criminal actions.

(2) For support of the General Court of Justice, the sum of seventy-five dollars ($75.00), plus an additional forty cents (40/Ao) per one hundred dollars ($100.00), or major fraction thereof, of the gross estate, not to exceed six thousand dollars ($6,000). Gross estate shall include the fair market value of all personalty when received, and all proceeds from the sale of realty coming into the hands of the fiduciary, but shall not include the value of realty. In collections of personal property by affidavit, the fee based on the gross estate shall be computed from the information in the final affidavit of collection made pursuant to G.S. 28A-25-3 and shall be paid when that affidavit is filed. In all other cases, this fee shall be computed from the information reported in the inventory and shall be paid when the inventory is filed with the clerk. If additional gross estate, including income, comes into the hands of the fiduciary after the filing of the inventory, the fee for such additional value shall be assessed and paid upon the filing of any account or report disclosing such additional value. For each filing the minimum fee shall be fifteen dollars ($15.00). Sums collected under this subdivision shall be remitted to the State Treasurer. The State Treasurer shall remit the sum of two dollars and five cents ($2.05) of each seventy-five-dollar ($75.00) General Court of Justice fee collected under this subdivision to the North Carolina State Bar for the provision of services described in G.S. 7A-474.4.

(2a) Notwithstanding subdivision (2) of this subsection, the fee of forty cents (40¢) per one hundred dollars ($100.00), or major fraction, of the gross estate, not to exceed six thousand dollars ($6,000), shall not be assessed on personalty received by a trust under a will when the estate of the decedent was administered under Chapters 28 or 28A of the General Statutes. Instead, a fee of twenty dollars ($20.00) shall be assessed on the filing of each annual and final account. However, the fee shall be assessed only on newly contributed or acquired assets, all interest or other income that accrues or is earned on or with respect to any existing or newly contributed or acquired assets, and realized gains on the sale of any and all trust assets. Newly contributed or acquired assets do not include assets acquired by the sale, transfer, exchange, or otherwise of the amount of trust property on which fees were previously assessed.

(2b) Notwithstanding subdivisions (1) and (2) of this subsection, no costs shall be assessed when the estate is administered or settled pursuant to G.S. 28A-25-6.

(2c) Notwithstanding subdivision (2) of this subsection, the fee of forty cents (40¢) per one hundred dollars ($100.00), or major fraction, of the gross estate shall not be assessed on the gross estate of a trust that is the subject of a proceeding under G.S. 36C-2-203 if there is no requirement in the trust that accountings be filed with the clerk.

(2d) Notwithstanding subdivisions (1) and (2) of this subsection, the only cost assessed in connection with the qualification of a limited personal representative under G.S. 28A-29-1 shall be a fee of twenty dollars ($20.00) to be assessed upon the filing of the petition.

(3) For probate of a will without qualification of a personal representative, the clerk shall assess a facilities fee as provided in subdivision (1) of this subsection and shall assess for support of the General Court of Justice, the sum of twenty dollars ($20.00).

(4) For the filing of a caveat to a will, the clerk shall assess for support of the General Court of Justice, the sum of two hundred dollars ($200.00).

(5) Notwithstanding subdivisions (1) and (2) of this subsection, the only cost assessed in connection with the reopening of an estate administration under G.S. 28A-23-5 shall be forty cents (40¢) per one hundred dollars ($100.00), or major fraction, of any additional gross estate, including income, coming into the hands of the fiduciary after the estate is reopened; provided that the total cost assessed when added to the total cost assessed in all prior administrations of the estate shall not exceed six thousand dollars ($6,000).

(b) In collections of personal property by affidavit, the facilities fee and thirty dollars ($30.00) of the General Court of Justice fee shall be paid at the time of filing the qualifying affidavit pursuant to G.S. 28A-25-1. In all other cases, these fees shall be paid at the time of filing of the first inventory. If the sole asset of the estate is a cause of action, these fees shall be paid at the time of the qualification of the fiduciary.

(b1) The clerk shall assess the following miscellaneous fees:

(e) Nothing in this section shall affect the liability of the respective parties for costs, as provided by law."

In the absence of a transfer to superior court, Article 26 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes shall apply to a trust proceeding pending before the clerk of superior court to the extent consistent with this Article.

(b) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of a person to file an action in the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice for declaratory relief under Article 26 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes. (3) Special proceedings against unknown heirs before distribution of estate as provided in G.S. 28A-22-3.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to limit the jurisdiction of the clerk of superior court in special proceedings.

"§ 28A-2-6. Commencement of estate proceedings, pleadings, consolidation, and joinder.

(a) Contested Estate Proceedings. – Contested estate proceedings brought against adverse parties shall be commenced by petition in the existing estate administration file. All parties not joined as petitioners shall be joined as respondents. The clerk of superior court shall issue the estate proceeding summons to the respondents. The clerk of superior court may order that additional persons be joined as respondents and shall issue the estate proceeding summons to the additional persons. The estate proceeding summons shall notify a respondent to appear and answer the petition within 20 days after its service upon the respondents. The estate proceeding summons shall comply with the requirements set forth in G.S. 1-394 for a special proceeding summons except that the summons shall be titled "ESTATE PROCEEDING SUMMONS" and shall be served upon a respondent in accordance with G.S. 1A-1, Rule 4. After the time for responding to the petition or complaint has expired, any party or the clerk of superior court may give notice to all parties of a hearing.

(b) Uncontested Estate Proceedings. – Estate proceedings before the clerk of superior court that are uncontested may be decided without hearing according to practice and procedure provided by law and shall be commenced by the filing of a petition, setting forth the facts entitling the petitioners to relief and the nature of the relief demanded. In these proceedings, the clerk of superior court may hear and decide the petition summarily.

(c) Pleadings. – Any petition, response, or request for hearing in a contested estate proceeding before the clerk of superior court shall contain a short and plain statement of the claim that is sufficiently particular to give the court and the parties notice of the transactions, occurrences, or series of transactions intended to be proved showing that the pleaders are entitled to relief, and a demand for judgment for the relief to which the pleader is entitled. Each averment should be simple, concise, and direct. No technical forms of motions or responses are required. A party may set forth two or more statements of a claim or defense alternatively or hypothetically. The signature of an attorney or party constitutes a certificate by that attorney or party that (i) the attorney or party has read the pleading, motion, or other paper; (ii) to the best of the attorney's or party's knowledge, information, and belief formed after reasonable inquiry, it is well grounded in fact and is warranted by existing law or a good faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law; and (iii) it is not interposed for any improper purpose, such as to harass or to cause unnecessary delay or needless increase in the cost of litigation. All motions, responses, and requests for hearing shall be so construed as to do substantial justice.

(d) Extensions of Time. – The clerk of superior court, for cause shown at any time in the clerk's discretion, with or without motion or notice, may enter an order enlarging the period of time within which an act is required or permitted in an estate proceeding, by any applicable rule of G.S. 1A-1, the Rules of Civil Procedure, or by order of the court, if the request is made before the expiration of the period originally prescribed, but not to exceed 10 days, provided that the court can enlarge the time for a period of more than 10 days for good cause shown, but only to the extent that the court in its discretion determines that justice requires. Upon motion made after the expiration of the specified period, the clerk of superior court may permit the act where the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect. Notwithstanding any other provision of this subsection, the parties to a proceeding may enter into binding stipulations, without approval of the clerk of superior court, enlarging the time within which an act is required or permitted by this Article, by any applicable Rules of Civil Procedure or by order of the court, not to exceed 30 days.

(e) Rules of Civil Procedure. – Unless the clerk of superior court otherwise directs, Rules 4.5, 6(a), 6(d), 6(e), 18, 19, 20, 21, 24, 45, 56, and 65 of G.S. 1A-1, the Rules of Civil Procedure, shall apply to estate proceedings. Upon motion of a party or the clerk of superior court, the clerk may further direct that any or all of the remaining Rules of Civil Procedure shall apply, including, without limitation, discovery rules; however, nothing in Rule 17 requires the appointment of a guardian ad litem for a party represented except as provided in G.S. 28A-2-7. In applying these Rules to an estate proceeding pending before the clerk of superior court, the term "judge" shall mean "clerk of superior court."

(f) Consolidation. – When an estate proceeding pending before the clerk of superior court and a civil action pending before the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice involve a common question of law or fact, upon the court's motion or motion of a party to either the estate proceeding or the civil action, a superior court judge may order a consolidation of the estate proceeding and civil action, and the judge may make orders concerning proceedings therein as may tend to avoid unnecessary costs or delay. Upon the entry of an order consolidating an estate proceeding and civil action, the jurisdiction for all matters pending in both the estate proceeding and the civil action shall be vested in the superior court.

(g) Joinder. – In any civil action pending before the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice, the party asserting a claim for relief as an original claim, counter claim, cross claim, or third-party claim may join, either as independent or alternative claims, as many claims, legal or equitable, as the party may have against the opposing party, notwithstanding the fact that such claims may otherwise be within the exclusive jurisdiction of the clerk of superior court.

(h) Notice of Transfer. – A notice to transfer an estate proceeding brought pursuant to G.S. 28A-2-4(a)(4) must be served within 30 days after the moving party is served with a copy of the pleading requesting relief pursuant to G.S. 28A-2-4(a)(4), or in the case of the clerk of superior court, prior to or at the first hearing duly noticed in such estate proceeding and prior to the presentation of evidence by the parties, including a hearing at which an order of continuance is entered. Failure to timely serve a notice of transfer of a trust proceeding is a waiver of any objection to the clerk of superior court's exercise of jurisdiction over the trust proceeding then pending before the clerk. When a notice of transfer is duly served and filed, the clerk shall transfer the proceeding to the appropriate court. The proceeding after the transfer is subject to the provisions of the General Statutes and to the rules that apply to actions initially filed in the court to which the proceeding was transferred.

(i) Orders Upon Consolidation/Joinder/Transfer. – Upon the consolidation of an estate proceeding in a civil action, joinder of claims under subsection (f) or (g) of this section, or transfer to the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice pursuant to subsection (h) of this section, the clerk of superior court or judge may make appropriate orders to protect the interest of the parties and avoid unnecessary cost or delay. Notwithstanding the consolidation or joinder of claims under subsection (f) or (g) of this section, where the estate proceeding is transferred to the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice under subsection (h) of this section, the clerk of superior court's exclusive jurisdiction as set forth in G. S. 28A-2-4(a)(1) through (3) shall not be stayed unless so ordered by the court.

"§ 28A-2-7. Representation of parties.

(a) Notwithstanding any other applicable rule of the Rules of Civil Procedure or provision of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes, in any contested or uncontested estate proceeding or special proceeding, whether brought before the clerk of superior court or in the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice, the parties shall be represented as provided in Article 3 of Chapter 36C of the General Statutes.

(b) In the case of any party represented by another as provided in subsection (a) of this section, service of process shall be made by serving such representative.

"§ 28A-2-8. Waiver of notice.

A party, or a representative of a party as provided in G.S. 28A-2-7, may waive notice by a writing signed by the party, the representative, or the attorney of the party or the representative and filed in the proceeding.

"§ 28A-2-9. Appeals of estate proceedings and special proceedings.

(a) With the exception of appeals of special proceedings heard by the clerk of superior court, appeals in estate matters shall be as provided in G.S. 1-301.3.

(b) Appeals in special proceedings shall be as provided in G.S. 1-301.2.

(c) Any party may appeal from a decision of the clerk of superior court in an estate proceeding or special proceeding to a superior court judge as provided for in G.S. 1-301.3; provided that the appeals from orders of the clerk of superior court in special proceedings shall be as provided in G.S. 1-301.2.

"§ 28A-2-10. Approval of settlement agreements by the clerk.

The clerk shall have the authority, in the clerk's discretion, to consider and approve settlement agreements where the following apply:

(1) The controversy arises with respect to a matter over which the clerk has jurisdiction.

(2) The controversy arose in good faith.

Nothing herein shall be construed as giving a clerk the authority to approve a family settlement agreement modifying the terms of a last will and testament or resolving a caveat of a last will and testament."

"Article 2A.

"Probate of Will.

"§ 28A-2A-1. Executor may apply for probate.

Any executor named in a will may, at any time after the death of the testator, apply to the clerk of the superior court, having jurisdiction, to have the same admitted to probate. Such will shall not be valid or effective to pass real estate or personal property as against innocent purchasers for value and without notice, unless it is probated or offered for probate within two years after the death of the testator or devisor or prior to the time of approval of the final account of a duly appointed administrator of the estate of the deceased, whichever time is earlier. If such will is fraudulently suppressed, stolen or destroyed, or has been lost, and an action or proceeding shall be commenced within two years from the death of the testator or devisor to obtain said will or establish the same as provided by law, then the limitation herein set out shall only begin to run from the termination of said action or proceeding, but not otherwise.

"§ 28A-2A-2. Executor failing, beneficiary may apply.

If no executor ~~apply~~ applies to have the will proved within 60 days after the death of the testator, any devisee or legatee named in the will, or any other person interested in the estate, may make such application, upon 10 days' notice thereof to the executor. For good cause shown, the clerk of superior court may shorten the initial 60-day period during which the executor may apply to have the will proved.

"§ 28A-2A-3. Clerk to notify legatees and devisees of probate of wills.

The clerks of the superior court of the State are hereby required and directed to notify by mail, all legatees and devisees whose addresses are known, designated in wills filed for probate in their respective counties. All expense incident to such notification shall be deemed a proper charge in the administration of the respective estates.

"§ 28A-2A-4. Clerk ~~may~~ shall compel production of will.

"Article 13.

"Representative's Powers, Duties and Liabilities.

"§ 28A-13-1. Time of accrual of duties and powers.

The duties and powers of a personal representative commence upon ~~his or her~~ the personal representative's appointment. The powers of a personal representative relate back to give acts by the person appointed which are beneficial to the estate occurring prior to appointment the same effect as those occurring thereafter. However, a person named executor in a will may, prior to appointment, carry out written instructions of the decedent relating to the decedent's body, funeral and burial arrangements; provided that a health care agent authorized in a valid health care power of attorney to make body, funeral, and burial arrangements shall have precedence in making these arrangements, both before and after qualification of the decedent's personal representative, to the extent provided in G.S. 32A-19(b). A personal representative may ratify and accept acts on behalf of the estate done by others where the acts would have been proper for a personal representative.

"§ 28A-13-2. General duties; relation to persons interested in estate.

A personal representative is a fiduciary who, in addition to the specific duties stated in this Chapter, is under a general duty to settle the estate of ~~his~~ the personal representative's decedent as expeditiously and with as little sacrifice of value as is reasonable under all of the circumstances. ~~He~~ A personal representative shall use the authority and powers conferred upon ~~him~~ the personal representative by this Chapter, by the terms of the will under which ~~he~~ the personal representative is acting, by any order of court in proceedings to which ~~he~~ the personal representative is party, and by the rules generally applicable to fiduciaries, for the best interests of all persons interested in the estate, and with due regard for their respective rights.

"§ 28A-13-3. Powers of a personal representative or fiduciary.

(a) Except as qualified by express limitations imposed in a will of the decedent or a court order, and subject to the provisions of G.S. 28A-13-6 respecting the powers of joint personal representatives, a personal representative has the power to perform in a reasonable and prudent manner every act which a reasonable and prudent person would perform incident to the collection, preservation, liquidation or distribution of a decedent's estate so as to accomplish the desired result of settling and distributing the decedent's estate in a safe, orderly, accurate and expeditious manner as provided by law, including the powers specified in the following subdivisions:

(1) To take possession, custody or control of the personal property of the decedent. If in the opinion of the personal representative ~~his~~ the personal representative's possession, custody or control of such property is not necessary for purposes of administration, such property may be left with or surrendered to the heir or devisee presumptively entitled thereto. ~~He~~ The personal representative has the power to take possession, custody or control of the real property of the decedent if ~~he~~ the personal representative determines such possession, custody or control is in the best interest of the administration of the ~~estate.~~ estate, including the power to eject occupants of real property. Prior to exercising such power over real property the procedure as set out in subsection G.S. 28A-13-3(c) shall be ~~followed.~~ followed, except with respect to real property that is devised to the personal representative in the decedent's will or title to which is acquired by the personal representative during the estate administration, in which case the personal representative shall be immediately entitled to custody, possession, and control, and may institute an estate proceeding under subsection (d) of this section to enforce those rights. If the personal representative determines that such possession, custody or control is not in the best interest of the administration of the estate such property may be left with or surrendered to the heir or devisee presumptively entitled thereto.

(2) To retain assets owned by the decedent pending distribution or liquidation even though such assets may include items which are otherwise improper for investment of trust funds.

(3) To receive assets from other fiduciaries or other sources.

(4) To complete performance of contracts entered into by the decedent that continue as obligations of ~~his~~ the decedent's estate, or to refuse to complete such contracts, as the personal representative may determine to be in the best interests of the estate, but such refusal shall not limit any cause of action which might have been maintained against decedent if ~~he~~ the decedent had refused to complete such contract. In respect to enforceable contracts by the decedent to convey an interest in land, the provisions of G.S. 28A-17-9 are controlling.

(5) To deposit, as a fiduciary, funds of the estate in a bank, including a bank operated by the personal representative pursuant to G.S. 53-163.1.

(6) To make, as a fiduciary, any form of investment allowed by law to the State Treasurer under G.S. 147-69.1, with funds of the estate, when such are not needed to meet debts and expenses immediately payable and are not immediately distributable, including money received from the sale of other assets; or to enter into other short-term loan arrangements that may be appropriate for use by trustees or beneficiaries generally. Provided, that in addition to the types of investments hereby authorized, deposits in interest-bearing accounts of any credit union authorized to do business in this State, when such deposits are insured in the same manner as required by G.S. 147-69.1 for deposits in a savings and loan association, are hereby authorized.

(7) To abandon or relinquish all rights in any property when, in the opinion of the personal representative acting reasonably and in good faith, it is valueless, or is so encumbered or is otherwise in such condition that it is of no benefit to the estate.

(8) To vote shares of stock or other securities in person or by general or limited proxy, and to execute waivers, consents or objections with respect to such stock or securities.

(9) To pay calls, assessments, and any other sums chargeable or accruing against or on account of securities.

(10) To hold shares of stock or other securities in the name of a nominee, without mention of the estate in the instrument representing stock or other securities or in registration records of the issuer thereof; provided, that

a. The estate records and all reports or accounts rendered by the personal representative clearly show the ownership of the stock or other securities by the personal representative and the facts regarding its holdings, and

b. The nominee shall not have possession of the stock or other securities or access thereto except under the immediate supervision of the personal representative or when such securities are deposited by the personal representative in a clearing corporation as defined in G.S. 25-8-102.

Such personal representative shall be personally liable for any acts or omissions of such nominee in connection with such stock or other securities so held, as if such personal representative had done such acts or been guilty of such omissions.

(11) To insure, at the expense of the estate, the assets of the estate in ~~his~~ the personal representative's possession, custody or control against damage or loss.

(12) To borrow money for such periods of time and upon such terms and conditions as to rates, maturities, renewals, and security as the personal representative shall deem advisable, including the power of a corporate personal representative to borrow from its own banking department, for the purpose of paying debts, taxes, and other claims against the estate, and to mortgage, pledge or otherwise encumber such portion of the estate as may be required to secure such loan or loans. In respect to the borrowing of money on the security of the real property of the decedent, G.S. 28A-17-11 is controlling.

(13) To renew obligations of the decedent for the payment of money.

(14) To advance ~~his~~ the personal representative's own money for the protection of the estate, and for all expenses, losses and liabilities sustained in the administration of the estate or because of the holding or ownership of any estate assets. For such advances, with any interest, the personal representative shall have a lien on the assets of the estate as against a devisee or heir.

(15) To compromise, adjust, arbitrate, sue on or defend, abandon, or otherwise deal with and settle claims in favor of or against the estate.

(19) To employ persons, including attorneys, auditors, investment advisors, appraisers or agents to advise or assist ~~him~~ the personal representative in the performance of ~~his~~ the personal representative's administrative duties.

(20) To continue any business or venture in which the decedent was engaged at the date of ~~his~~ the decedent's death, where such continuation is reasonably necessary or desirable to preserve the value, including goodwill, of the decedent's interest in such business. With respect to the use of the decedent's interest in a continuing partnership, the provisions of G.S. 59-71 and 59-72 qualify this power; and with respect to farming operations engaged in by the decedent at the time of ~~his~~ the decedent's death, the provisions of G.S. 28A-13-4 qualify this power.

(21) To incorporate or participate in the incorporation of any business or venture in which the decedent was engaged at the time of ~~his~~ the decedent's death.

(22) To provide for the exoneration of the personal representative from personal liability in any contract entered into on behalf of the estate.

(23) To maintain actions for the wrongful death of the decedent according to the provisions of Article 18 of this Chapter and to compromise or settle any such claims, whether in litigation or not. Unless all persons who would be entitled to receive any damages recovered under G.S. 28A-18-2(b)(4) are competent adults and have consented in writing, any such settlement shall be subject to the approval of a judge of the court or tribunal exercising jurisdiction over the action or a judge of the district or superior court in cases where no action has previously been filed. If the claim is brought under Article 31 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes, the settlement is subject to the approval of the Industrial Commission in accordance with that Article. It shall be the duty of the personal representative in distributing the proceeds of such settlement in any instance to take into consideration and to make a fair allocation to those claimants for funeral, burial, hospital and medical expenses which would have been payable from damages which might have been recovered had a wrongful death action gone to judgment in favor of the plaintiff.

(24) To maintain any appropriate action or proceeding to recover possession of any property of the decedent, or to determine the title thereto; to recover damages for any injury done prior to the death of the decedent to any of ~~his~~ the decedent's property; and to recover damages for any injury done subsequent to the death of the decedent to such property.

(25) To purchase at any public or private sale of any real or personal property belonging to the decedent's estate or securing an obligation of the estate as a fiduciary for the benefit of the estate when, in ~~his~~ the personal representative's opinion, it is necessary to prevent a loss to the estate.

(27) To sell or lease real property of the estate in the manner prescribed by the provisions of Article 17 of this Chapter.

(a1) Except as qualified by express limitations imposed in a will of the decedent, and subject to the provisions of G.S. 28A-13-6 respecting the powers of joint personal representatives, a personal representative shall have absolute discretion to make the election as to which items of the decedent's personal and household effects shall be excluded from the carry over basis provision of the federal income tax law and such election shall be conclusive and binding on all concerned.

(a2) Subject to the provisions of G.S. 28A-13-6 respecting the powers of joint personal representatives, a personal representative has the power to renounce in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 31B of the General Statutes.

(a) Personal Property. – Subsequent to the death of the decedent and prior to the appointment and qualification of the personal representative or collector, the title and the right of possession of personal property of the decedent is vested in ~~his~~ the decedent's heirs; but upon the appointment and qualification of the personal representative or collector, the heirs shall be divested of such title and right of possession which shall be vested in the personal representative or collector relating back to the time of the decedent's death for purposes of administering the estate of the decedent. But, if in the opinion of the personal representative, ~~his~~ the personal representative's possession, custody and control of any item of personal property is not necessary for purposes of administration, such possession, custody and control may be left with or surrendered to the heir or devisee presumptively entitled thereto.

(b) Real Property. – The title to real property of a decedent is vested in ~~his~~ the decedent's heirs as of the time of ~~his~~ the decedent's death; but the title to real property of a decedent devised under a valid probated will becomes vested in the devisees and shall relate back to the decedent's death, subject to the provisions of G.S. 31-39.

"§ 28A-15-3. Nonexoneration of encumbered property.

When real or personal property subject to any lien or security interest, except judgment liens, is specifically devised, the devisee takes the property subject to the encumbrance and without a right to have other assets of the decedent applied to discharge the secured obligation, unless an express provision of the will confers such right of exoneration. A general testamentary direction to pay the debts of the decedent is not sufficient to confer such right.

"§ 28A-15-4. Encumbered assets.

When any assets of the estate are encumbered by mortgage, pledge, lien or other security interest, the personal representative may pay the encumbrance or any part thereof, renew or extend any obligation secured by the encumbrance, or convey or transfer the encumbered assets to the creditor in satisfaction of ~~his~~ the creditor's lien, in whole or in part, whether or not the holder of the encumbrance has filed a claim, if it appears to be for the best interest of the estate; provided that payment of an encumbrance shall not increase the share of the distributee entitled to the encumbered assets unless the distributee is entitled to exoneration by express provisions of the will.

"§ 28A-15-5. Order in which assets appropriated; abatement.

(a) General Rules. – In the absence of testamentary indication as to the order of abatement, or some other controlling statute, shares of devisees and of heirs abate, without any preference or priority as between real and personal property, in the following order:

(1) Property not disposed of by the will;
(2) Residuary devises;
(3) General devises;
(4) Specific devises.

For purposes of abatement, a demonstrative devise of money or property payable out of or charged on a particular fund or other property is treated as a specific devise; but if the particular fund or property out of which the demonstrative devise is to be paid is nonexistent or insufficient at the death of the testator, the deficiency is to be payable out of the general estate of the decedent and is to be regarded as a general devise and must abate pro rata with other general devises. Abatement within each classification is in proportion to the amounts of property each of the beneficiaries would have received, had full distribution of the property been made in accordance with the terms of the will.

(b) Abatement; Sales; Contribution. – When property which has been specifically devised is sold, leased, or mortgaged, or a security therein is created, by the personal representative, abatement shall be achieved by ratable adjustments in, or contributions from other interest in the remaining assets. The clerk of superior court shall, at the time of the hearing on the petition for final distribution, determine the amounts of the respective contributions and whether the same shall be made before distribution or shall constitute a lien on specific property which is distributed.

"§ 28A-15-6. Federal income tax refunds – joint returns.

Upon the determination by the United States Treasury Department of an overpayment of income tax by a married couple filing a joint federal income tax return, one of whom has died since the filing of such return or where a joint federal income tax return is filed on behalf of a husband and wife, one of whom has died prior to the filing of the return, any refund of the tax by reason of such overpayment, if not in excess of five hundred dollars ($500.00), shall be the sole and separate property of the surviving spouse. In the event that both spouses are dead at the time such overpayment is determined, such refund, if not in excess of five hundred dollars ($500.00), shall be the sole and separate property of the estate of the spouse who died last and may be paid directly by the Treasury Department to the executor or administrator of such estate, or to the person entitled to the possession of the assets of a small estate pursuant to the provisions of Article 25 of this Chapter.

Upon the determination by the United States Treasury Department of an overpayment of income tax by any married person filing a separate return, any refund of the tax by reason of such overpayment, if not in excess of two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00), exclusive of interest, shall be the sole and separate property of the surviving spouse, and the United States Treasury Department may pay said sum directly to such surviving spouse, and such payment to the extent thereof shall operate as a complete acquittal and discharge of the United States Treasury Department.

"§ 28A-15-8. State income tax returns.

Upon the determination by the Secretary of Revenue of North Carolina of an overpayment of income tax by any married person, any refund of the tax by reason of such overpayment, if not in excess of two hundred dollars ($200.00) exclusive of interest, shall be the sole and separate property of the surviving spouse, and said Secretary of Revenue may pay said sum directly to such surviving spouse, and such payment to the extent thereof shall operate as a complete acquittal and discharge of the Secretary of Revenue.

"§ 28A-15-9. Excess funds.

If the amount of any refund exceeds the sums specified in G.S. 28A-15-6, 28A-15-7 or 28A-15-8, the sums specified therein and one half of any additional sums shall be the sole and separate property of the surviving spouse. If the whole recovery from the fraudulent alienee shall not be necessary for the payment of the debts and other claims against the estate of the decedent, the surplus shall be returned to such fraudulent alienee or ~~his~~ the fraudulent alienee's assigns.

(c) Where there has been a recovery in an action for wrongful death, the same shall not be applied to the payment of debts and other claims against the estate of decedent or devises, except as to the payment of reasonable burial and funeral expenses and reasonable hospital and medical expenses incident to the injury resulting in death and as limited and provided in G.S. 28-18-2 [G.S. 28A-18-2].

"§ 28A-15-12. ~~Examination of persons or corporations believed to have possession of~~ Actions to recover property of decedent.

(a) ~~Whenever a personal representative or collector makes oath or affirmation before the clerk of superior court of the county where the party to be examined resides or does business that he has reasonable ground to believe, setting forth the grounds of his belief, that any person, firm or corporation has in his or its possession any property of any kind belonging to the estate of his decedent, the clerk shall issue a notice to be served upon the person or any member of the firm or officer, agent or employee of the firm or corporation designated in the affidavit, to appear before the clerk at his office at a time fixed in the notice, not less than three days after the issuance of the notice, and be examined under oath by the personal representative or collector or his attorney concerning the possession of such property. When the bond is executed and delivered to the court, no attachment as for contempt shall be served upon the appealing party and any contempt order theretofore issued shall be stayed; but if the appellant fails to have his appeal heard at the next session of superior court held in his county, or by the resident judge of the district within 30 days after giving notice, the appeal shall be deemed abandoned, and the stay of any contempt order theretofore issued shall terminate.~~

(b1) A personal representative, collector, or any interested person shall have the right to bring an estates proceeding seeking the examination of any persons reasonably believed to be in possession of property of any kind belonging to the estate of the decedent including a demand for the recovery of such property. An estates proceeding brought under the provisions of this subsection shall be instituted by the filing of a verified petition and shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of Article 2 of this Chapter. (b) All claims against a decedent's estate which arise at or after the death of the decedent, except claims of the United States and tax claims of the State of North Carolina and subdivisions thereof whether due or to become due, absolute or contingent, liquidated or unliquidated, secured or unsecured, founded on contract, tort, or other legal basis are forever barred against the estate, the personal representative, the collector, the heirs, and the devisees of the decedent unless presented to the personal representative or collector as follows:

(d) All claims of creditors upon whom there has been personal service of notice as provided in G.S. 28A-14-3 are forever barred unless presented to the personal representative or collector within the time and manner set out in this Article.

(e) Except as otherwise provided by subsection (f) of this section, unless a claim has been presented pursuant to G.S. 28A-19-1 giving notice of an action or special proceeding pending against a decedent at the time of ~~his~~ the decedent's death and surviving under G.S. 28A-18-1 within the time provided by subsection (a) of this section, no recovery may be had upon any judgment obtained in any such action or proceeding against the estate, the personal representative, the collector, the heirs, and the devisees of the decedent.

"§ 28A-19-5. Contingent or unliquidated claims.

(a) If a contingent or unliquidated claim becomes absolute before the distribution of the estate of the decedent, it shall be paid in the same manner as absolute claims of the same class. In other cases the clerk of superior court may provide for the payment of contingent or unliquidated claims in any one of the following ways:

(1) The creditor and the personal representative or collector may determine, by agreement, arbitration, or compromise, the value of the contingent or unliquidated claim, according to its probable present worth, and with the approval of the clerk of superior court, it may be allowed and paid in the same manner as an absolute claim.

(2) The clerk of superior court may order the personal representative or collector to retain sufficient funds to pay the claim if and when the same becomes absolute, and order distribution of the balance of the estate.

(3) The clerk of superior court may order distribution of the estate as though the contingent or unliquidated claim did not exist, but the heirs and devisees of the estate of the decedent are liable to the creditor to the extent of the estate received by them, if the contingent or unliquidated claim thereafter becomes absolute; and the court may require such heirs and devisees to give bond for the performance of their liability to the contingent or unliquidated creditor.

(4) Such other method as the clerk of superior court may order.

(b) With respect to a contingent or unliquidated claim rejected by a personal representative pursuant to G.S. 28A-19-16, the claimant may, within the three-month period prescribed by G.S. 28A-19-16, file a petition for an order of the clerk of superior court in accordance with subsection (a) of this section, provided that nothing in this section shall require the clerk of superior court to hear and determine the validity of, priority of, or amount of a contingent or unliquidated claim that has yet become absolute.

"§ 28A-19-6. Order of payment of claims.

(a) After payment of costs and expenses of administration, the claims against the estate of a decedent must be paid in the following order:

First class. Claims which by law have a specific lien on property to an amount not exceeding the value of such property.

Second class. Funeral expenses to the extent of three thousand five hundred dollars ($3,500). This limitation shall not include burial place or gravestone. The preferential limitation herein granted shall be construed to be only a limit with respect to preference of payment and shall not be construed to be a limitation on reasonable funeral expenses which may be incurred; nor shall the preferential limitation of payment in the amount of three thousand five hundred dollars ($3,500) be diminished by any Veterans Administration, social security or other federal governmental benefits awarded to the estate of the decedent or to ~~his or her~~ the decedent's beneficiaries.

Seventh class. Wages due to any employee employed by the decedent, which claim for wages shall not extend to a period of more than 12 months next preceding the death; or if such employee was employed for the year current at the decease, then from the time of such employment; for medical services within the 12 months preceding the decease; for drugs and all other medical supplies necessary for the treatment of such decedent during the last illness of such decedent, said period of last illness not to exceed 12 months.

Eighth class. A claim for equitable distribution.

Ninth class. All other claims.

(b) Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this section, if payment of the commissions of the personal representative under G.S. 28A-23-3(g) would cause the estate to be unable to pay all claims against the estate of a decedent, then the commissions shall be limited to the amount allowed under G.S. 28A-23-3(a).

"§ 28A-19-7. Satisfaction of claims other than by payment.

Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary,

(2) If only the property of a decedent or some part thereof was liable at the time of ~~his~~ the decedent's death for the payment or satisfaction of any claim or the performance, satisfaction, or discharge or any liability or obligation, whether joint or several, primary or secondary, direct or contingent, or enforceable in any other manner or form against the property of the decedent but not against ~~him~~ the decedent or ~~his~~ the decedent's estate as a personal liability, and

(3) If any person other than the personal representative of the decedent is willing to assume the liability of the decedent and of ~~his~~ the decedent's estate or to receive or accept property of the decedent subject to such liability in cases where the decedent was not personally liable and the creditor, obligee, or other person for whose benefit such liability exists is willing to accept an agreement with that effect and to discharge the personal representative of the decedent and the estate of the decedent from the payment, satisfaction, or discharge of such liability, and

(4) If such creditor, obligee, or other person for whose benefit such liability exists and the person assuming the liability or the person receiving or accepting property of the decedent subject to such liability shall execute, acknowledge, and deliver in the form and manner required for deeds conveying real property in North Carolina, an agreement between themselves as to such assumption of liability or the receipt or acceptance of property of the decedent subject to such liability which shall contain a release, as hereinafter defined, discharging the personal representative of the decedent and ~~his~~ the decedent's estate from the payment, satisfaction, or discharge of the liability, and thereafter the said creditor, obligee, or other person for whose benefit such liability exists shall have no remedy for the enforcement thereof except against the person assuming it or against the property subject to it as provided in the said agreement; then upon the filing with the clerk of superior court having jurisdiction over the estate and the personal representative of one duplicate original of the said agreement, or of a certified copy thereof if it is a duly recorded instrument, the same shall be accepted in the same manner as a voucher showing payment or discharge of the said liability in the accounts of the personal representative of the decedent.

The word "person" as used in this section shall include one or more natural persons, corporations, partnerships, or entities having the power to own property or to make contracts in regard thereto. The word "release" as used in this section shall include a covenant not to sue in any case in which an unqualified release or discharge of one obligee would discharge another, and if the liability involved is a negotiable instrument or other instrument transferable to a holder in due course, such release shall not be effective unless notice thereof is endorsed on the instrument involved, dated, and signed by the creditor or the holder of the indebtedness or person for whose benefit the property is encumbered.

"§ 28A-19-8. Funeral expenses of decedent.

(a) Any person authorized under G.S. 130A-420 to dispose of a decedent's body may bind a decedent's estate for funeral expenses and related charges, including interest and finance charges, in accordance with this section, including the execution and delivery on behalf of the estate of any agreements, promissory notes, and other instruments relating to the estate. Whether or not a personal representative of the estate has been appointed at the time the expenses are incurred, funeral expenses of a decedent, together with interest or finance charges if financed by the funeral establishment or a third-party creditor, or advanced by a health care agent exercising authority described in G.S. 32A-19(b), shall be considered as an obligation of the estate of the decedent and the decedent's estate shall be primarily liable for those expenses to the funeral establishment that provided the funeral service, to any third-party creditor that finances the payment of those expenses, or to any other person described in this section who has paid such expenses.

(b) The provisions of this section shall not affect the application of G.S. 28A-19-6 or G.S. 130A-420.

"§ 28A-19-9. Gravestone and burial place authorized.

(a) ~~It~~ If the decedent has duly appointed a health care agent pursuant to Article 3 of Chapter 32A of the General Statutes to provide for these expenses, the health care agent may make arrangements to provide a suitable gravestone to mark the grave of the testator or intestate, and the personal representative shall reimburse the health care agent subject to the monetary limitations and procedures contained in this section. If the decedent did not have a health care agent, or if the health care agent does not act, it is lawful for a personal representative or the decedent's duly appointed health care agent to provide a suitable gravestone to mark the graves of the testator or intestate and to pay for the cost of erecting the same. The cost thereof shall be treated as a third class claim under G.S. 28A-19-6 and credited as such in final accounts. The costs thereof shall be in the sound discretion of the personal ~~representative,~~ representative or health care agent, having due regard to the value of the estate and to the interests of creditors and needs of the surviving spouse and the heirs and devisees of the estate. Where the personal representative or health care agent desires to spend more than one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) for the purpose of a gravestone, and the will does not grant specific authority to the personal representative for such expenditures in excess of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500), the personal representative shall file a petition before the clerk of the court, and such order as will be made by the court shall specify the amount to be expended for such purpose. In specifying the amount, the clerk may consider the value of the estate. To the extent that the personal representative or health care agent advances the costs for providing a suitable gravestone to mark the graves of the testator or intestate and for erecting the same, the advancement shall be considered as an obligation of the decedent's estate, and the decedent's estate shall be primarily liable for the costs for providing a suitable gravestone to mark the graves of the testator or intestate and for erecting the same.

(b) It is lawful for ~~a personal representative~~ the decedent's duly appointed health care agent to provide a suitable burial place for the testator or intestate. If the decedent did not have a health care agent, or if the health care agent does not act, then the personal representative may provide a suitable burial place for the testator or intestate. The cost of a suitable burial place shall be in the sound discretion of the personal ~~representative,~~ representative or the decedent's health care agent, having due regard to the value of the estate and to the interests of creditors and needs of the surviving spouse and the heirs and devisees of the estate, and shall be treated as a third class claim under G.S. 28A-19-6.

"§ 28A-19-10. Perpetual care of cemetery lot.

Provided, where the personal representative desires to spend more than two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00) for such purpose, and the will does not grant specific authority to the personal representative for such expenditure in excess of two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00), ~~he~~ the personal representative shall file ~~his~~ the personal representative's petition before the clerk of the superior court and such order as will be made by the court shall specify the amount to be expended for such purpose.

"§ 28A-19-11. Pleading statute of limitations.

When claims are not barred pursuant to G.S. 28A-19-3, it shall be within the discretion of the personal representative or collector acting in good faith to determine whether or not any applicable statute of limitations shall be pleaded to bar a claim which ~~he~~ the personal representative or collector believes to be just. ~~His~~ The personal representative's or collector's admission of such claim or ~~his~~ the personal representative's or collector's decision not to plead the statute in an action brought on the claim shall, in the absence of any showing of collusion or bad faith, be binding on all persons interested in the estate.

"§ 28A-19-12. Claims due representative not preferred.

No property or assets of the decedent shall be retained by the personal representative or collector in satisfaction of ~~his~~ the personal representative's or collector's own claim, in preference to others of the same class. Prior to payment of ~~his~~ the personal representative's or collector's own claim the personal representative or collector shall receive written approval of the clerk of superior court. If the clerk does not approve the claim the personal representative or collector may refer the claim as a disputed claim under the provisions of G.S. 28A-19-15. The provisions of G.S. 28A-19-1 and G.S. 28A-19-3 shall not apply to such claims and the personal representative or collector may present ~~his~~ the personal representative's or collector's own claim at any time prior to the filing of ~~his~~ the personal representative's or collector's final account.

"§ 28A-19-13. No preference within class.

No personal representative or collector shall give to any claim any preference whatever, either by paying it out of its class or by paying thereon more than a pro rata proportion in its class.

"§ 28A-19-14. Claims not due rebated.

Claims owed by the estate but not yet due may be paid by the personal representative on a rebate of interest thereon for the time unexpired.

"§ 28A-19-15. Disputed claim may be referred.

If the personal representative doubts the justness of any claim so presented, ~~he~~ the personal representative may enter into an agreement, in writing, with the claimant, to refer the matter in controversy, whether the same be of a legal or equitable nature, to one or more disinterested persons, not exceeding three, whose proceedings shall be the same in all respects as if such reference had been ordered in an action. Such agreement to refer, and the award thereupon, shall be filed in the clerk's office where the letters were granted, and shall be a lawful voucher for the personal representative. The same may be impeached in any proceeding against the personal representative for fraud therein: Provided, that the right to refer claims under this section shall extend to claims in favor of the estate as well as those against the estate.

"§ 28A-19-16. Disputed claim not referred barred in three months.

If a claim is presented to and rejected by the personal representative or collector, and not referred as provided in G.S. 28A-19-15, the claimant must, within three months, after due notice in writing of such rejection, ~~or after some part of the claim becomes due,~~ commence an action for the recovery thereof, or in the case of a contingent or unliquidated claim, file a petition for an order from the clerk of superior court pursuant to G.S. 28A-19-5(b), or be forever barred from maintaining an action thereon.

"§ 28A-19-17. No lien by suit against representative.

No lien shall be created by the commencement of a suit against a personal representative or collector.

"§ 28A-19-18. When costs against representative allowed.

No costs shall be recovered in any action against a personal representative or collector unless it appears that payment was unreasonably delayed or neglected, or that the defendant refused to refer the matter in controversy, in which case the court may award such costs against the defendant personally, or against the estate, as may be just.

"§ 28A-19-19. Claims for equitable distribution.

(a) The provisions of G.S. 28A-19-5 and G.S. 28A-19-7 shall not apply to claims for equitable distribution.

(b) The personal representative may enter into an agreement, in writing, with a claimant providing for distribution of marital or divisible property, or both, in a manner deemed by the personal representative and the claimant to be equitable. The same may be impeached in any proceeding against the personal representative for fraud therein.

(c) Unless the claim for equitable distribution has been referred as provided in G.S. 28A-19-15, the claimant may at anytime, subject to the provisions of G.S. 28A-19-16, file an action with the district court for distribution of marital or divisible property in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 50-20.

If, after due service of the order, the personal representative or collector does not on or before the return day of the order file such inventory or obtain further time in which to file it, the clerk may remove ~~him~~ the personal representative or collector from office or may issue an attachment against ~~him~~ the personal representative or collector for a contempt and commit ~~him until he~~ the personal representative or collector until the personal representative or collector files said inventory report.

(2) The name and social security number of the decedent.

(3) The name and address, if known, of each devisee or heir entitled to receive Phase II payments and the percentage of Phase II payments to be received by each.

(d) The clerk of superior court must review the list of Phase II distributees to determine if the list of distributees and their shares of potential Phase II payments are in accordance with the will or, if there is no will, in accordance with the Intestate Succession Act. If the clerk accepts the list of Phase II distributees for filing, the clerk must endorse the clerk's approval thereon, which shall be prima facie evidence of correctness.

(e) Upon determination by the North Carolina Phase II Tobacco Certification Entity, Inc., that the estate of a decedent entitled to any Phase II payment covering a time period when the decedent was alive has been closed, the payment may be paid directly to those distributees and in those shares set forth on a list of Phase II distributees filed under this section without the estate's having to be reopened under G.S. 28A-23-5.

(f) The estate of a decedent who is entitled to any Phase II payment may be reopened, if necessary, in accordance with G.S. 28A-23-5 in order to file a list of Phase II distributees under this section.

(g) For purposes of this section, Phase II payments covering a time period when decedent was alive are deemed cash and shall not pass by virtue of any devise or inheritance of the decedent's real property.

"§ 28A-21-4. Clerk may compel account.

If any personal representative or collector fails to account as directed in G.S. 28A-9-3, 28A-21-1 or 28A-21-2 or renders an unsatisfactory account, the clerk of superior court shall, upon ~~his own~~ motion of the clerk of superior court or upon the request of one or more creditors of the decedent or other interested party, promptly order such personal representative or collector to render a full satisfactory account within 20 days after service of the order. If, after due service of the order, the personal representative or collector does not on or before the return day of the order file such account, or obtain further time in which to file it, the clerk may remove ~~him~~ the personal representative or collector from office or may issue an attachment against ~~him~~ the personal representative or collector for a contempt and commit ~~him until he~~ the personal representative or collector until the personal representative or collector files said account.

"§ 28A-21-5. Vouchers presumptive evidence.

Vouchers, without other proof, are presumptive evidence of disbursement, unless impeached. If lost, the accounting party must, if required, make oath to that fact setting forth the manner of loss, and state the contents and purport of the voucher.

"§ 28A-21-6. Permissive Notice of Final Accounts.

The personal representative or collector may, but is not required to, give written notice of a proposed final account pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 4, to all devisees of the estate in the case of testacy, and to all heirs of the estate in the case of intestacy, of the date and place of filing of such account. In giving written notice, the personal representative shall attach a copy of the proposed final accounting with exhibits made a part thereof, but is not required to include copies of vouchers, account statements, or other supporting evidence submitted to the clerk. If the personal representative or collector elects to provide this notice, the personal representative or collector shall file with the clerk of superior court a certificate indicating that this notice has been given to all devisees and heirs. Notwithstanding any right to appeal an order or judgment under G.S. 1-301.3, any payment, distribution, action, or other matter disclosed on such account or any annual account for the estate filed by the personal representative or collector must be objected to by a devisee or heir within 30 days after the receipt of the written notice or will be deemed to be accepted by the devisee or heir.

"Article 22.

"Distribution.

"§ 28A-22-1. Scheme of distribution; testate and intestate estates.

After the payment of costs of administration, taxes and other valid claims against the decedent's estate, the personal representative shall distribute the remaining assets of the estate in accordance with the terms of decedent's valid probated will or the provisions of Chapter 29 of the General Statutes or as otherwise lawfully authorized.

"§ 28A-22-2. Shares of after-born and after-adopted children.

The share of an after-born or after-adopted child, as provided by G.S. 29-9 and 31-5.5, shall be allotted to ~~him~~ the after-born or after-adopted child out of any undevised real or personal property, or out of both, if there is enough such undevised property for that purpose. If there is no undevised real or personal property, or if there is not enough, then the whole of the child's share, or the deficiency, shall be made up from the devised real or personal property, or from both. The portion contributed by a devisee shall bear the same ratio to ~~his~~ the devisee's devise as the after-born or after-adopted child's share bears to the net estate.

"§ 28A-22-3. Special proceeding against unknown heirs of decedent before distribution of estate.

If there may be heirs, born or unborn, of the decedent, other than those known to the personal representative and whose names and residences are unknown, before distributing such estate the personal representative is authorized to institute a special proceeding before the clerk of superior court for the purpose of determining who are the heirs of the decedent. All unknown heirs of the decedent shall be made parties thereto and shall be served with summons by publication as provided by G.S. 1A-1, Rule 4. Upon such service being had, the court shall appoint some discreet person to act as guardian ad litem for said unknown heirs and summons shall issue as to such guardian ad litem. Said guardian ad litem shall file answer on behalf of said unknown heirs and ~~he~~ the guardian ad litem may be paid for ~~his~~ services of the guardian ad litem such sum as the court may fix, to be paid as other costs out of the estate. Upon the filing of the answer by said guardian ad litem all such unknown heirs shall be before the court for the purposes of the proceeding to the same extent as if each had been personally served with summons. Any judgment entered by the court in such proceeding shall be as binding upon said unknown heirs as if they were personally before the court and any payment or distribution made by the personal representative under orders of the court shall have the effect of fully discharging such personal representative and any sureties on ~~his~~ the personal representative's official bond to the full extent of such payment or distribution as ordered.

"§ 28A-22-4. Distribution to nonresident trustee only upon appointment of process agent.

(a) No assets of the estate of a decedent subject to administration in this State shall be delivered or transferred to a trustee of a testamentary trust or an inter vivos trust who is a nonresident of this State who has not appointed a resident agent for the service of civil process for actions or proceedings arising out of the administration of the trust with regard to such property.

(b) If property is delivered or transferred to a trustee in violation of this section, process may be served outside this State or by publication, as provided by G.S. 1A-1, Rule 4, and the courts of this State shall have the same jurisdiction over the trustee as might have been obtained by service upon a properly appointed process agent. The provisions of this section with regard to jurisdiction shall be in addition to other means of obtaining jurisdiction permissible under the laws of this State.

"§ 28A-22-5. Distribution of assets in kind in satisfaction of bequests and transfers in trust.

(a) Subject to the provisions of subsection (b) of this section, whenever under any will or trust indenture the executor, trustee or other fiduciary is required to, or has an option to, satisfy a bequest or transfer in trust by a transfer of assets of the estate or trust in kind at the values as finally determined for federal estate tax purposes, the executor, trustee or other fiduciary shall, in the absence of contrary provisions in such will or trust indenture, be required to satisfy such bequest or transfer by the distribution of assets fairly representative of the appreciation or depreciation in the value of all property available for distribution in satisfaction of such bequest or transfer.

(b) The provisions of subsection (a) of this section shall not apply unless either:

(1) The decedent's surviving spouse is the beneficiary of the bequest or trust transfer described in subsection (a) of this section or of the residue of the estate or trust; or

(2) Any "skip person", as that term is defined in Chapter 13 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, is or may be a current or future beneficiary of the bequest or trust transfer described in subsection (a) of this section or of the residue of the estate or trust, and the value of the decedent's gross estate for federal tax purposes exceeds the value of the decedent's unused generation-skipping tax exemption available under Chapter 13 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

"§ 28A-22-6. Agreements with taxing authorities to secure benefit of federal marital deduction.

The executor, trustee, or other fiduciary having discretionary powers under a will or trust indenture with respect to the selection of assets to be distributed in satisfaction of a bequest or transfer in trust to or for the benefit of the surviving spouse of a decedent shall be authorized to enter into agreements with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue of the United States of America, and other taxing authorities, requiring the fiduciary to exercise the fiduciary's discretion so that cash and other properties distributed in satisfaction of such bequest or transfer in trust will be fairly representative of the net appreciation or depreciation in value on the date, or dates, of distribution of all property then available for distribution in satisfaction of such bequest or transfer in trust. Any such fiduciary shall be authorized to enter into any other agreement not in conflict with the express terms of the will or trust indenture that may be necessary or advisable in order to secure for federal estate tax purposes the appropriate marital deduction available under the Internal Revenue Laws of the United States of America and to do and perform all acts incident to such purpose.

"§ 28A-22-7. Distribution to parent or guardian of a minor.

(a) If a devise or legacy of personal property to a person under the age of 18 has a total value of less than one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500), and the devisee or legatee is residing in the same household with a parent or a guardian appointed prior to the decedent's death, the personal representative may distribute to the parent or guardian the devise or legacy. However, such distribution shall only be made with the prior approval of the clerk of court who issued the letters testamentary or of administration.

(b) If such distribution has been made the parent or guardian shall use the property solely for the education, maintenance and support of the devisee or legatee. However, the parent or guardian shall not be required to file an accounting with the clerk of court or to the personal representative, nor shall such distribution be cause for a delay in the filing of the personal representative's final account under the provisions of Article 21 of this Chapter.

(c) This section establishes a procedure that is separate from the provisions of G.S. 33-69.1 and it is not the intention of this section to repeal in whole or in part the provisions of G.S. 33-69.1.

(d) This section may also be applied to several devises or legacies of personal property to a single devisee or legatee having a combined total value of less than one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500).

"§ 28A-22-8. Executor or trustee; discretion over distributions.

Unless otherwise restricted by the terms of the will or trust, an executor or trustee shall have absolute discretion to make distributions in cash or in specific property, real or personal, or an undivided interest therein or partly in cash or partly in such property, and to do so without regard to the income tax basis for federal tax purposes of specific property allocated to any beneficiary.

"§ 28A-22-9. Distribution to known but unlocated devisees or heirs.

(a) If there are known but unlocated devisees or heirs of property held by the personal representative, the personal representative may deliver the share of such devisee or heir to the clerk of superior court immediately prior to filing of the final account. If the devisee or heir is located after the final account has been filed, ~~he~~ the devisee or heir may present a claim for the share to the clerk. If the clerk determines that the claimant is entitled to the share, ~~he~~ the clerk shall deliver the share to the devisee or claimant. If the clerk denies the claim, the claimant may take an appeal as in a special proceeding.

(b) The clerk shall hold the share without liability for profit or interest. If no claim has been presented within a period of one year after the filing of the final account, the clerk shall deliver the share to the State Treasurer as abandoned property.

(c) The clerk shall not be required to publish any notice to such devisee or heir and shall not be required to report such share to the State Treasurer. If the devisee or heir is located, the clerk shall inform the devisee or heir that ~~he~~ the devisee or heir is entitled to file a claim with the State Treasurer for the share under the provisions of G.S. 116B-67.

"§ 28A-22-10. Distribution of assets of inoperative trust.

When the facts at the time of distribution of property to a trust are such that the trust would be inoperative under the terms of the instrument creating the trust for any reason, including the death of a beneficiary, renunciation by a beneficiary, the exercise of a right to withdraw the property by a beneficiary, or the attainment of a stipulated age by a beneficiary, the personal representative or the trustee authorized or required to make the distribution of that property to the trust may distribute the property directly to the person or persons entitled to it under the terms of the instrument creating the trust without the interposition of the establishment of the trust. If only a portion of the trust would be inoperative, the property distributable to that portion of the trust may be distributed directly to the person or persons entitled to the property under the terms of the instrument creating the trust.

"§ 28A-22-11. Agreements with heirs.

Any agreement by an heir, unknown or known but unlocated, the primary purpose of which is to locate or recover, or assist in the recovery of, a share in a decedent's estate shall be subject to the provisions of G.S. 116B-78.

"Article 23.

"Settlement.

"§ 28A-23-1. Settlement after final account filed.

When the personal representative or collector has paid or otherwise satisfied or provided for all claims against the estate, has distributed the remainder of the estate pursuant to G.S. 28A-22-1 and has filed ~~his~~ the personal representative's or collector's final account for settlement pursuant to G.S. 28A-21-2, if the clerk of superior court, after review of the personal representative's or collector's final account, approves the same, ~~he~~ the clerk of superior court shall enter an order discharging the personal representative or collector from further ~~liability.~~ duties and liabilities as personal representative or collector, including those set forth in Article 13 of this Chapter. However, that such an order shall not include a release or discharge of liability for any breach of duty set forth in G.S. 28A-13-10(c).

"§ 28A-23-2. Payment into court of fund due minor.

When any personal representative or collector holds property due a minor without a guardian and desires to file ~~his~~ the personal representative's or collector's petition for settlement, ~~he~~ the personal representative or collector may deliver the property to the clerk of superior court who shall invest upon interest or otherwise manage said property for the use of the minor or the clerk may proceed to appoint a guardian for the minor pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 35A of the General Statutes and then may deliver the property of the minor to the guardian.

"§ 28A-23-3. Commissions allowed personal representatives; representatives guilty of misconduct or default.

(a) Personal representatives, collectors or public administrators shall be entitled to commissions to be fixed in the discretion of the clerk of superior court not to exceed five percent (5%) upon the amounts of receipts, including the value of all personal property when received, and upon the expenditures made in accordance with law. In determining the maximum commissions allowable under this subsection, the clerk of superior court may take into consideration fees paid by the estate for professional services performed in the ordinary course of administering the estate, including services performed by attorneys and accountants. However, the clerk is not required to reduce the maximum commissions allowed by the aggregate fees paid to professionals on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

The commissions shall be charged as a part of the costs of administration and, upon allowance, may be retained out of the assets of the estate against creditors and all other persons claiming an interest in the estate. If the gross value of an estate is two thousand dollars ($2,000) or less, the clerk of superior court may fix the commission to be received by the personal representative, collector or public administrator in an amount the clerk of superior court, in the clerk's discretion, deems just and adequate.

(b) In determining the amount of the commissions, both upon personal property received and upon expenditures made, the clerk of superior court shall consider the time, responsibility, trouble and skill involved in the management of the estate. Where real property is sold to pay debts or legacies, the commission shall be computed only on the proceeds actually applied in the payment of debts or legacies.

(c) The clerk of superior court may allow commissions from time to time during the course of the administration, but the total commissions allowed shall be determined on final settlement of the estate and shall not exceed the limit fixed in this section.

(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed to:

(1) Prevent the clerk of ~~the~~ superior court from allowing reasonable sums for necessary charges and disbursements incurred in the management of the estate.

(2) Allow commissions on distribution of the shares of heirs or on distribution of shares of devisees.

(3) Abridge the right of any party interested in the administration of a decedent's estate to appeal an order of the clerk of superior court to a judge of superior court.

(e) No personal representative, collector or public administrator, who has been guilty of default or misconduct in the due execution of ~~his or her~~ the personal representative's, collector's, or public administrator's office resulting in the revocation of ~~his or her~~ the appointment of the personal representative, collector, or public administrator under the provisions of G.S. 28A-9-1, shall be entitled to any commission under the provisions of this section.

(f) For the purpose of computing commissions whenever any portion of the dividends, interest, rents or other amounts payable to a personal representative, collector or public administrator is required by any law of the United States or other governmental unit to be withheld for income tax purposes by the person, corporation, organization or governmental unit paying the same, the amount withheld shall be deemed to have been received and expended.

(g) Subsection (a) of this section does not apply if the testator's will specifies a stipulated amount or method or standard for determining the compensation for the services rendered by the personal representative, including a provision in the will that the compensation of the personal representative is to be determined by applying the personal representative's regularly adopted schedule of compensation in effect at the time of performance of those services. Subsection (a) of this section also shall not apply if the testator's will provides that the personal representative is to receive "reasonable compensation" for those services or similar language to that effect if the personal representative and the beneficiaries whose shares would be charged with the payment of the personal representative's compensation consent in writing to the specific amount that constitutes reasonable compensation.

(h) Subsection (a) of this section shall apply if the testator's will provides that compensation of the personal representative shall be the amount "as provided by law," the "maximum amount provided by law," or other similar language.

"§ 28A-23-4. Counsel fees allowable to attorneys serving as representatives.

The clerk of superior court, in ~~his discretion,~~ the discretion of the clerk of superior court, is authorized and empowered to allow counsel fees to an attorney serving as a personal representative, collector or public administrator (in addition to the commissions allowed ~~him~~ the attorney as such representative, collector or public administrator) where such attorney in behalf of the estate ~~he~~ the attorney represents renders professional services, as an attorney, which are beyond the ordinary routine of administration and of a type which would reasonably justify the retention of legal counsel by any such representative, collector or public administrator not ~~himself~~ licensed to practice law.

"§ 28A-23-5. Reopening administration.

If, after an estate has been settled and the personal representative discharged, other property of the estate shall be discovered, or if it shall appear that any necessary act remains unperformed on the part of the personal representative, or for any other proper cause, the clerk of superior court, upon the petition of any person interested in the estate and without notice or upon such notice as ~~he~~ the clerk of superior court may direct, may order that said estate be reopened. ~~He~~ The clerk of superior court may reappoint the personal representative or appoint another personal representative to administer such property or perform such acts as may be deemed necessary. Unless the clerk of superior court shall otherwise order, the provisions of this Chapter as to an original administration shall apply to the proceedings had in the reopened administration; but no claim which is already barred can be asserted in the reopened administration.

"Article 24.

"120-Hour Survivorship Requirement; Revised Simultaneous Death Act.

"§ 28A-24-1. Definitions.

In this Article:

(1) "Co-owners with right of survivorship" includes joint tenants in a joint tenancy with right of survivorship, tenants by the entireties, and other co-owners of property or accounts held under circumstances that entitle one or more to the whole of the property or account on the death of the other or others.

(2) "Governing instrument" means a deed, will, trust, insurance or annuity policy, account with a POD designation, pension, profit sharing, retirement, or similar benefit plan, instrument creating or exercising a power of appointment or a power of attorney, or a dispositive, appointive, or nominative instrument of any similar type.

(3) "Payor" means a trustee, insurer, business entity, employer, government, governmental agency or subdivision, or any other person authorized or obligated by law or a governing instrument to make payments.

"§ 28A-24-2. Requirement of survival by 120 hours.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this Article, where the title to property, the devolution of property, the right to elect an interest in property, or any other right or benefit depends upon an individual's survivorship of the death of another individual, an individual who is not established by clear and convincing evidence to have survived the other individual by at least 120 hours is deemed to have predeceased the other individual.

(b) If the language of the governing instrument disposes of property in such a way that two or more beneficiaries are designated to take alternatively by reason of surviving each other and it is not established by clear and convincing evidence that any such beneficiary has survived any other such beneficiary by at least 120 hours, the property shall be divided into as many equal shares as there are alternative beneficiaries, and these shares shall be distributed respectively to each such beneficiary's estate.

(c) If the language of the governing instrument disposes of property in such a way that it is to be distributed to the member or members of a class who survived an individual, each member of the class will be deemed to have survived that individual by at least 120 hours unless it is established by clear and convincing evidence that the individual survived the class member or members by at least 120 hours.

"§ 28A-24-3. Co-owners with right of survivorship; requirement of survival by 120 hours.

Except as otherwise provided in this Article, (i) if it is not established by clear and convincing evidence that one of two co-owners with right of survivorship survived the other co-owner by at least 120 hours, one-half of the property passes as if one had survived by at least 120 hours and one-half as if the other had survived by at least 120 hours and (ii) if there are more than two co-owners with right of survivorship and it is not established by clear and convincing evidence that at least one of them survived the others by at least 120 hours, the property passes to the estates of each of the co-owners in the proportion that one bears to the whole number of co-owners.

"§ 28A-24-4. Survival of an event; 120-hour period not applicable.

For purposes of a governing instrument that requires survival of an event, other than the death of another individual, the 120-hour survivorship requirement of this Article does not apply.

"§ 28A-24-5. Victim deemed to survive slayer.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Article, solely for the purpose of determining whether the victim is entitled to any right or benefit that depends on surviving the death of a slayer under G.S. 31A-3, the slayer is deemed to have predeceased the victim and the victim is deemed to have survived the slayer by at least 120 hours (or any greater survival period required of the victim under the slayer's will or other governing instrument) unless it is established by clear and convincing evidence that the slayer survived the victim by at least 120 hours.

"§ 28A-24-6. Exceptions to the 120-hour survival requirement.

Survival by 120 hours is not required if any of the following apply:

(1) The governing instrument contains language dealing explicitly with simultaneous deaths or deaths in a common disaster and the language is operable under the facts of the case.

(2) The governing instrument expressly indicates that an individual is not required to survive the death of another individual by any specified period or expressly requires the individual to survive another individual for a specified period; but survival must be established by clear and convincing evidence.

(3) The imposition of a 120-hour requirement of survival would cause a nonvested property interest or a power of appointment to fail to qualify for validity under G.S. 41-15; but survival must be established by clear and convincing evidence.

(4) The application of a 120-hour requirement of survival to multiple governing instruments would result in an unintended failure or duplication of a disposition; but survival must be established by clear and convincing evidence.

(5) The application of a 120-hour requirement of survival would deprive an individual or the estate of an individual of an otherwise available tax exemption, deduction or credit, expressly including the marital deduction, resulting in the imposition of a tax upon a donor or testator or other person (or their estate) as the transferor of any property. "Tax" includes any federal or State gift, estate or inheritance tax.

(6) The application of a 120-hour requirement of survival would result in an escheat.

"§ 28A-24-7. Evidence of death or status.

For purposes of this Article, the following rules of evidence apply relating to the determination of death and status of a beneficiary subject to a requirement of survivorship and of the person the beneficiary must survive:

(1) Death occurs when an individual is determined to be dead pursuant to G.S. 90-323 or Chapter 28C of the General Statutes.

(2) A certified or authenticated copy of a death certificate purporting to be issued by an official or agency in the place where the death purportedly occurred is prima facie evidence of the fact, place, date, and time of death and the identity of the decedent. In the absence of evidence disputing the death certificate, that certificate shall be conclusive evidence of the fact, place, date, and time of death and the identity of the decedent.

(3) A certified or authenticated copy of any record or report of a governmental agency, domestic or foreign, that an individual is missing, detained, dead, or alive is prima facie evidence of the status and of the dates, circumstances, and places disclosed by the record or report. The record or report is conclusive evidence of the status and of the dates, circumstances, and places disclosed by the record or report unless there is evidence to the contrary.

(4) In the absence of prima facie evidence of death under subdivision (2) or (3) of this section, the fact of death may be established by clear and convincing evidence, including circumstantial evidence.

"§ 28A-24-8. Protection of payors, bona fide purchasers, and other third parties; personal liability of recipient.

(a) A payor or other third party is not liable for having made a payment or transferred an item of property or any other benefit to a person designated in a governing instrument who, under this Article, is not entitled to the payment or item of property, or for having taken any other action in good faith reliance on the person's apparent entitlement under the terms of the governing instrument, before the payor or other third party received written notice of a claimed lack of entitlement under this Article. A payor or other third party is liable for a payment made or other action taken after the payor or other third party received written notice of a claimed lack of entitlement under this Article.

Written notice of a claimed lack of entitlement under this Article must be mailed to the payor's or other third party's main office or home by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, or served upon the payor or other third party in the same manner as a summons in a civil action. Upon receipt of written notice of a claimed lack of entitlement under this Article, a payor or other third party may pay any amount owed or transfer or deposit any item of property other than tangible personal property held by it to or with the clerk of the superior court having jurisdiction of the probate proceedings relating to the decedent's estate, or if no proceedings have been commenced, to or with the clerk of the superior court having jurisdiction of probate proceedings relating to decedents' estates located in the county of the decedent's residence. The clerk shall hold the funds or item of property and, upon the clerk's determination under this Article, shall order disbursement in accordance with the determination. Payments, transfers, or deposits made to or with the clerk discharge the payor or other third party from all claims for the value of amounts paid to or items of property transferred to or deposited with the clerk.

(b) A person who purchases property for value and without notice, or who received a payment or other item of property in partial or full satisfaction of a legally enforceable obligation, is neither obligated under this Article to return the payment, item of property, or benefit, nor liable under this Article for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit. But a person who, not for value, receives a payment, item of property, or any other benefit to which the person is not entitled under this Article is obligated to return the payment, item of property, or benefit, or is personally liable for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit, to the person who is entitled to it under this Article.

"Article 25.

(3) The date and place of death of the decedent;
(4) That 30 days have elapsed since the death of the decedent;
(5) That the value of all the personal property owned by the estate of the decedent, less liens and encumbrances thereon, does not exceed twenty thousand dollars ($20,000);

(7) The names and addresses of those persons who are entitled, under the provisions of the Intestate Succession Act, to the personal property of the decedent and their relationship, if any, to the decedent; and
(8) A description sufficient to identify each tract of real property owned by the decedent at the time of ~~his~~ the decedent's death.

In those cases in which the affiant is the surviving spouse and sole heir of the decedent, not disqualified under G.S. 28A-4-2, the property described in this subsection that may be collected pursuant to this section may exceed twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) in value but shall not exceed thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) in ~~value.~~ value, after reduction for any spousal allowance paid to the surviving spouse pursuant to G.S. 30-15. In such cases, the affidavit shall state: (i) the name and address of the affiant and the fact that ~~he or she~~ the affiant is the surviving spouse and is entitled, under the provisions of the Intestate Succession Act, to all of the property of the decedent; (ii) that the value of all of the personal property owned by the estate of the decedent, less liens and encumbrances thereon, does not exceed thirty thousand dollars ($30,000); and (iii) the information required under subdivisions (2), (3), (4), (6), and (8) of this subsection.

(b) Prior to the recovery of any assets of the decedent, a copy of the affidavit described in subsection (a) shall be filed in the office of the clerk of superior court of the county where the decedent ~~had his domicile at the time of his~~ was domiciled at the time of death. The affidavit shall be filed by the clerk upon payment of the fee provided in G.S. 7A-307, shall be indexed in the index to estates, and a copy thereof shall be mailed by the clerk to the persons shown in the affidavit as entitled to the personal property.

(c) The presentation of an affidavit as provided in subsection (a) shall be sufficient to require the transfer to the affiant or ~~his~~ the affiant's designee of the title and license to a motor vehicle registered in the name of the decedent owner; the ownership rights of a savings account or checking account in a bank in the name of the decedent owner; the ownership rights of a savings account or share certificate in a credit union, building and loan association, or savings and loan association in the name of the decedent owner; the ownership rights in any stock or security registered on the books of a corporation in the name of a decedent owner; or any other property or contract right owned by decedent at the time of ~~his~~ the decedent's death.

(7) That a certified copy of the decedent's will is attached to the affidavit;
(8) That no application or petition for appointment of a personal representative is pending or has been granted in any jurisdiction;
(9) The names and addresses of those persons who are entitled, under the provisions of the will, or if applicable, of the Intestate Succession Act, to the property of the decedent; and their relationship, if any, to the decedent; and

In those cases in which the affiant is the surviving spouse, is entitled to all of the property of the decedent, and is not disqualified under G.S. 28A-4-2, the property described in this subsection that may be collected pursuant to this section may exceed twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) in value but shall not exceed thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) in value. In such cases, the affidavit shall state: (i) the name and address of the affiant and the fact that ~~he or she~~ the affiant is the surviving spouse and is entitled, under the provisions of the decedent's will, or if applicable, of the Intestate Succession Act, to all of the property of the decedent; (ii) that the decedent died testate leaving personal property, less liens and encumbrances thereon, not exceeding thirty thousand dollars ($30,000); and (iii) the information required under subdivisions (2), (3), (4), (6), (7), (8), and (10) of this subsection.

(c) The presentation of an affidavit as provided in subsection (a) shall be sufficient to require the transfer to the affiant or ~~his~~ the affiant's designee of the title and license to a motor vehicle registered in the name of the decedent owner; the ownership rights of a savings account or checking account in a bank in the name of the decedent owner; the ownership rights of a savings account or share certificate in a credit union, building and loan association, or savings and loan association in the name of the decedent owner; the ownership rights in any stock or security registered on the books of a corporation in the name of a decedent owner; or any other property or contract right owned by decedent at the time of ~~his~~ the decedent's death.

"§ 28A-25-2. Effect of affidavit.

The person paying, delivering, transferring or issuing personal property or the evidence thereof pursuant to an affidavit meeting the requirements of G.S. 28A-25-1(a) or G.S. 28A-25-1.1(a) is discharged and released to the same extent as if ~~he~~ the person dealt with a duly qualified personal representative of the decedent. ~~He~~ The person is not required to see to the application of the personal property or evidence thereof or to inquire into the truth of any statement in the affidavit. If any person to whom an affidavit is delivered refuses to pay, deliver, transfer, or issue any personal property or evidence thereof, it may be recovered or its payment, delivery, transfer, or issuance compelled upon proof of their right in an action brought for that purpose by or on behalf of the persons entitled thereto. The court costs and attorney's fee incident to the action shall be taxed against the person whose refusal to comply with the provisions of G.S. 28A-25-1(a) or G.S. 28A-25-1.1(a) made the action necessary. The heir or creditor to whom payment, delivery, transfer or issuance is made is answerable and accountable therefor to any duly qualified personal representative or collector of the decedent's estate or to any other person having an interest in the estate.

"§ 28A-25-3. Disbursement and distribution of property collected by affidavit.

(a) If there has been no personal representative or collector appointed by the clerk of superior court, the affiant who has collected personal property of the decedent by affidavit pursuant to G.S. 28A-25-1 or G.S. 28A-25-1.1 shall:

(1) Disburse and distribute the same in the following order:

a. To the payment of the surviving spouse's year's allowance and the children's year's allowance assigned in accordance with G.S. 30-15 through G.S. 30-33;

b. To the payment of the debts and claims against the estate of the decedent in the order of priority set forth in G.S. 28A-19-6, or to the reimbursement of any person who has already made payment thereof;

c. To the distribution of the remainder of the personal property to the persons entitled thereto under the provisions of the will or of the Intestate Succession Act; and

(2) File an affidavit with the clerk of superior court that ~~he~~ the affiant has collected the personal property of the decedent and the manner in which ~~he~~ the affiant has disbursed and distributed the same. This final affidavit shall be filed within 90 days of the date of filing of the qualifying affidavit provided for in G.S. 28A-25-1 or G.S. 28A-25-1.1. If the affiant cannot file the final affidavit within 90 days, ~~he~~ the affiant shall file a report with the clerk within that time period stating ~~his~~ the affiant's reasons. Upon determining that the affiant has good reason not to file the final affidavit within 90 days, the clerk may extend the time for filing up to one year from the date of filing the qualifying affidavit.

(b) Nothing in this section shall be construed as changing the rule of G.S. 28A-15-1 and G.S. 28A-15-5 rendering both real and personal property, without preference or priority, available for the discharge of debts and other claims against the estate of the decedent. If it appears that it may be in the best interest of the estate to sell, lease, or mortgage any real property to obtain money for the payment of debts or other claims against the decedent's estate, the affiant shall petition the clerk of superior court for the appointment of a personal representative to conclude the administration of the decedent's estate pursuant to G.S. 28A-25-5.

"§ 28A-25-4. Clerk may compel compliance.

If any affiant who has collected personal property of the decedent by affidavit pursuant to G.S. 28A-25-1 or G.S. 28A-25-1.1 shall fail to make distribution or file affidavit as required by G.S. 28A-25-3, the clerk of superior court may, upon ~~his own~~ motion of the clerk of superior court or at the request of any interested person, issue an attachment against ~~him~~ the affiant for a contempt and commit ~~him~~ the affiant until ~~he~~ the affiant makes proper distribution and files the affidavit. In addition to or in lieu of filing this attachment, the clerk may require the affiant to post a bond conditioned as provided in G.S. 28A-8-2.

"§ 28A-25-5. Subsequently appointed personal representative or collector.

Nothing in this Article shall preclude any interested person, including the affiant, from petitioning the clerk of superior court for the appointment of a personal representative or collector to conclude the administration of the decedent's estate. If such is done, the affiant who has been collecting personal property by affidavit shall cease to do so, shall deliver all assets in ~~his~~ the affiant's possession to the personal representative, and shall render a proper accounting to the personal representative or collector. A copy of the accounting shall also be filed with the clerk having jurisdiction over the personal representative or collector.

"§ 28A-25-6. Payment to clerk of money owed decedent.

(a) As an alternative to the small estate settlement procedures of this Article, any person indebted to a decedent may satisfy such indebtedness by paying the amount of the debt to the clerk of the superior court of the county of the domicile of the decedent:

(1) If no administrator has been appointed, and

(2) If the amount owed by such person does not exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000), and

(3) If the sum tendered to the clerk would not make the aggregate sum which has come into the clerk's hands belonging to the decedent exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000).

(b) Such payments may not be made to the clerk if the total amount paid or tendered with respect to any one decedent would exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000), even though disbursements have been made so that the aggregate amount in the clerk's hands at any one time would not exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000).

(c) If the sum tendered pursuant to this section would make the aggregate sum coming into the clerk's hands with respect to any one decedent exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000) the clerk shall appoint an administrator, or the sum may be administered under the preceding sections of this Article.

(d) If it appears to the clerk after making a preliminary survey that disbursements pursuant to this section would not exhaust funds received pursuant to this section, ~~he~~ the clerk may, in ~~his~~ the clerk's discretion, appoint an administrator, or the funds may be administered under the preceding sections of this Article.

(e) The receipt from the clerk of the superior court of a payment purporting to be made pursuant to this section is a full release to the debtor for the payment so made.

(f) If no administrator has been appointed, the clerk of superior court shall disburse the money received under this section for the following purposes and in the following order:

(1) To pay the surviving spouse's year's allowance and children's year's allowance assigned in accordance with law;

(2), (3) Repealed by Session Laws 1981, c. 383, s. 3.

(4) All other claims shall be disbursed according to the order set out in G.S. 28A-19-6.

Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this subsection, the clerk shall pay, out of funds provided the deceased pursuant to G.S. 111-18 and Part 3 of Article 2 of Chapter 108A of the General Statutes of North Carolina, any lawful claims for care provided by an adult care home to the deceased, incurred not more than 90 days prior to ~~his~~ the deceased's death. After the death of a spouse who died intestate and after the disbursements have been made in accordance with this subsection, the balance in the clerk's hands belonging to the estate of the decedent shall be paid to the surviving spouse, and if there is no surviving spouse, the clerk shall pay it to the heirs in proportion to their respective interests.

(g) The clerk shall not be required to publish notice to creditors.

(h) Whenever an administrator is appointed after a clerk of superior court has received any money pursuant to this section, the clerk shall pay to the administrator all funds which have not been disbursed. The clerk shall receive no commissions for payments made to the administrator, and the administrator shall receive no commissions for receiving such payments.

"Article 26.

"Foreign Personal Representatives and Ancillary Administration.

"§ 28A-26-1. Domiciliary and ancillary probate and administration.

The domiciliary, or original, administration of the estates of all decedents domiciled in North Carolina at the time of death shall be under the jurisdiction of this State and of a proper clerk of superior court in this State, and the original probate of all wills of such persons shall be in this State. Any administration of the estate and any probate of a will of such decedents outside North Carolina shall be ancillary only. All assets, except real estate (but including proceeds from the sale of real estate), subject to ancillary administration in a jurisdiction outside North Carolina shall, to the extent such assets are not necessary for the requirements of such ancillary administration, be transferred and delivered by the ancillary personal representative to the duly qualified personal representative in this State for administration and distribution by the domiciliary personal representative, and the domiciliary personal representative in this State shall have the duty of collecting all such assets from the ancillary personal representative. The receipt of the domiciliary personal representative shall fully acquit the ancillary personal representative with respect to the assets covered thereby. The domiciliary personal representative in North Carolina shall have the exclusive right and duty to pay all federal and North Carolina taxes owed by the estate of such decedent and to make proper distribution of all assets including those collected from the ancillary personal representative.

"§ 28A-26-2. Payment of debt and delivery of property to domiciliary personal representative of a nonresident decedent without ancillary administration in this State.

(a) At any time after the expiration of 60 days from the death of a nonresident decedent, any resident of this State indebted to the estate of the nonresident decedent or having possession or control of personal property, or of an instrument evidencing a debt, obligation, stock or chose in action belonging to the estate of the nonresident decedent may pay the debt or deliver the personal property, or the instrument evidencing the debt, obligation, stock or chose in action, to the domiciliary personal representative of the nonresident decedent upon being presented with a certified or exemplified copy of ~~his~~ the domiciliary personal representative's letters of appointment and an affidavit made by or on behalf of the domiciliary personal representative stating:

(1) The date of the death of the nonresident decedent;

(2) That to the best of ~~his~~ the domiciliary personal representative's knowledge no administration, or application or petition therefor, is pending in this State;

(3) That the domiciliary personal representative is entitled to payment or delivery.

(b) Payment or delivery made in good faith on the basis of the proof of appointment as domiciliary personal representative of a nonresident decedent and an affidavit meeting the requirements of subsection (a) constitutes a release to the same extent as if payment or delivery had been made to an ancillary personal representative.

(c) Payment or delivery under this section shall not be made if a resident creditor of the nonresident decedent has, by registered or certified mail, notified the resident debtor of the nonresident decedent or the resident having possession of the personal property belonging to the nonresident decedent that the debt should not be paid nor the property delivered to the domiciliary personal representative of the nonresident decedent. If no ancillary administrator qualifies within 90 days from the date of the notice, however, the resident debtor may pay the debt or deliver the property directly to the nonresident domiciliary personal representative as set forth in subsection (a) of this section.

"§ 28A-26-3. Ancillary administration.

(a) Any domiciliary personal representative of a nonresident decedent upon the filing of a certified or exemplified copy of letters of appointment with the clerk of superior court who has venue under G.S. 28A-3-1 may be granted ancillary letters in this State notwithstanding that the domiciliary personal representative is a nonresident of this State or is a foreign corporation. If the domiciliary personal representative is a foreign corporation, it need not qualify under any other law of this State to authorize it to act as ancillary personal representative in the particular estate. If application is made for the issuance of ancillary letters to the domiciliary personal representative, the clerk of superior court shall give preference in appointment to the domiciliary personal representative unless the decedent shall have otherwise directed in a will.

(b) If, within 90 days after the death of the nonresident, or within 60 days after issue of domiciliary letters, should that be a shorter period, no application for ancillary letters has been made by a domiciliary personal representative, any person who could apply for issue of letters had the decedent been a resident may apply for issue of ancillary letters.

If it is known that there is a duly qualified domiciliary personal representative, the clerk of superior court shall send notice of such application, by registered mail, to that personal representative and to the appointing court. Such notice shall include a statement that, within 14 days after its mailing, the domiciliary personal representative may apply for the issue of ancillary letters with the preference specified in subsection (a) of this section; and that ~~his~~ failure of the domiciliary personal representative to do so will be deemed a waiver, with the result that letters will be issued to another. Upon such failure, the clerk of superior court may issue ancillary letters in accordance with the provisions of Article 4 of this Chapter.

If the applicant and the clerk of superior court have no knowledge of the existence of a domiciliary personal representative, the clerk of superior court may proceed to issue ancillary letters. Subsequently, upon it becoming known that a domiciliary personal representative has been appointed, whether such appointment occurred before or after the issue of ancillary letters, the clerk of superior court shall notify the domiciliary personal representative, by registered mail, of the action taken by the clerk of superior court and the state of the ancillary administration. Such notice shall include a statement that at any time prior to approval of the ancillary personal representative's final account the domiciliary personal representative may appear in the proceedings for any purpose ~~he~~ the domiciliary personal representative may deem advisable; and that ~~he~~ the domiciliary personal representative may apply to be substituted as ancillary personal representative, but that such request will not be granted unless the clerk of superior court finds that such action will be for the best interests of North Carolina administration of the estate.

"§ 28A-26-4. Bonds.

(a) Subject to the exception in subsection (b), any personal representative, including a domiciliary personal representative, who is granted ancillary letters of administration in this State must satisfy the bond requirements prescribed in Article 8 of this Chapter.

(b) Where a citizen or subject of a foreign country, or of any other state or territory of the United States, by will sufficient according to the laws of this State, and duly probated and recorded in the proper county, devises to ~~his~~ that person's executor, with power to sell and convey, real property situated in this State in trust for a person named in the will, the power being vested in the executor as such trustee, the executor may execute the power without giving bond in this State.

"§ 28A-26-5. Authority of domiciliary personal representative of a nonresident decedent.

The domiciliary personal representative of the nonresident decedent after qualifying as ancillary personal representative in this State is authorized to administer the North Carolina estate of the nonresident decedent in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter.

"§ 28A-26-6. Jurisdiction.

(a) A domiciliary personal representative of a nonresident decedent may invoke the jurisdiction of the courts of this State after qualifying as ancillary personal representative in this State except that ~~he~~ the domiciliary personal representative may invoke such jurisdiction prior to qualification for the purpose of appealing from a decision of the clerk of superior court regarding a question of qualification.

(b) A domiciliary personal representative of a nonresident decedent submits to the jurisdiction of the courts of this State:

(1) As provided in G.S. 1-75.4, or

(2) By receiving payment of money or taking delivery of personal property under G.S. 28A-26-2; or

(3) By acceptance of ancillary letters of administration in this State under G.S. 28A-26-3; or

(4) By doing any act as personal representative in this State which if done as an individual would have given the State jurisdiction over ~~him~~ the personal representative as an individual.

"§ 28A-26-7. Service on personal representative of a nonresident decedent.

A court of this State having jurisdiction of the subject matter and grounds for personal jurisdiction as provided in G.S. 28A-26-6 may exercise personal jurisdiction over a defendant by service of process in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 1A-1, Rule 4(j).

"§ 28A-26-8. Duties of personal representative in an ancillary administration.

(a) All assets of estates of nonresident decedents being administered in this State are subject to all claims, allowances and charges existing or established against the estate of the decedent wherever existing or established.

(b) An adjudication of a claim rendered in any jurisdiction in favor of or against any personal representative of the estate of a nonresident decedent is binding on the ancillary personal representative in this State and on all parties to the litigation.

(c) Limitations on presentation of claims shall be governed by the provisions of this Chapter except that creditors residing in the domiciliary state barred by the statutes of that state may not file claims in an ancillary administration in this State.

(d) In the payment of claims by the ancillary administrator, the following rules shall apply:

(1) If the value of the entire estate, wherever administered, equals or exceeds family exemptions and allowances, prior charges and claims against the entire estate, the claims allowed in this State shall be paid in full from assets in this State, if such assets are sufficient for the purpose.

(2) If such total exemptions, allowances, charges and claims exceed the value of the entire estate, the claims allowed in this State shall be paid their proper percentage pro rata by class, if assets in this State are sufficient for the purpose.

(3) If assets in this State are inadequate for either of the purposes stated in subdivisions (1) or (2) above, the claims allowed in this State shall be paid, pro rata by class, to the extent the local assets will permit.

(4) If the value of the entire estate, wherever administered, is insufficient to pay all exemptions and allowances, prior charges and claims against the entire estate, the priority for order of payment established by the law of the domicile will prevail.

"§ 28A-26-9. Remission of surplus assets by ancillary personal representative to domiciliary personal representative.

Unless a testator in a will otherwise directs, any assets (including proceeds from the sale of real estate) remaining after payment of claims against the estate of a nonresident decedent being administered by an ancillary personal representative other than the domiciliary personal representative shall be transferred and delivered to the domiciliary personal representative or, if none, to the court in the domicile of the decedent which has jurisdiction to administer the estate.

"Article 27.

"Apportionment of Federal Estate Tax.

"§ 28A-27-1. Definitions.

For the purposes of this Article:

(1) "Estate" means the gross estate of a decedent as determined for the purpose of the federal estate tax.

(2) "Fiduciary" includes a personal representative and a trustee.

(3) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, joint stock company, corporation, governmental agency, including any multiples or combinations of the foregoing as, for example, individuals as joint tenants.

(4) "Person interested in the estate" means any person, including a personal representative, guardian, or trustee, entitled to receive, or who has received, from a decedent while alive or by reason of the death of a decedent any property or interest therein included in the decedent's taxable estate.

(5) "State" means any state, territory, or possession of the United States, the District of Columbia, or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

(6) "Tax" means the net Federal Estate Tax due, after application of any available unified transfer tax credit, and interest and penalties imposed in addition to the tax.

"§ 28A-27-2. Apportionment.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (b) of this section, or in G.S. 28A-27-5, G.S. 28A-27-6, or G.S. 28A-27-8, the tax shall be apportioned among all persons interested in the estate in the proportion that the value of the interest of each person interested in the estate bears to the total value of the interests of all persons interested in the estate. The values as finally determined for federal estate tax purposes shall be used for the purposes of this computation.

(b) In the event the decedent's will provides a method of apportionment of the tax different from the method provided in subsection (a) above, the method described in the will shall control. However, in the case of any will executed on or after October 1, 1986, a general direction in the will that taxes shall not be apportioned, whether or not referring to this Article, but shall be paid from the residuary portion of the estate shall not, unless specifically stated otherwise, apply to taxes imposed on assets which are includible in the valuation of the decedent's gross estate for federal estate tax purposes only by reason of Sections 2041, 2042 or 2044 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 or corresponding provisions of any subsequent tax law. In the case of an estate administered under any will executed on or after October 1, 1986, in the event that the estate tax computation involves assets described in the preceding sentence, unless specifically stated otherwise, apportionment shall be made against such assets and the tax so apportioned shall be recovered from the persons receiving such assets as provided in Sections 2206, 2207 or 2207A of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 or corresponding provisions of any subsequent tax law.

"§ 28A-27-3. Procedure for determining apportionment.

(a) The personal representative of a decedent shall determine the apportionment of the tax.

(b) If the personal representative finds that it is inequitable to apportion interest and penalties in the manner provided in this Article because such interest or penalties were imposed due to the fault of one or more persons interested in the ~~estate he~~ estate, the personal representative may direct apportionment thereon in the manner ~~he~~ the personal representative finds equitable.

(c) The expenses reasonably incurred by the personal representative in connection with the apportionment of the tax shall be apportioned as provided for taxes under this Article. If the personal representative finds that it is inequitable to apportion the expenses because such expenses were incurred because of the fault of one or more persons interested in the ~~estate he~~ estate, the personal representative may direct other more equitable apportionment.

"§ 28A-27-4. Uncollected tax.

The personal representative shall not be under any duty to institute any suit or proceeding to recover from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person until the expiration of the six months next following final determination of the tax. A personal representative who institutes the suit or proceeding within a reasonable time after the six months' period shall not be subject to any liability or surcharge because any portion of the tax apportioned to any person interested in the estate was collectable at a time following the death of the decedent but thereafter became uncollectable. If the personal representative cannot collect from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person, the amount not recoverable shall be apportioned among the other persons interested in the estate who are subject to apportionment. The apportionment shall be made in the proportion that the value of the interest of each remaining person interested in the estate bears to the total value of the interests of all remaining persons interested in the estate.

"§ 28A-27-5. Exemptions, deductions, and credits.

(a) Any interest for which a deduction or exemption is allowed under the federal revenue laws in determining the value of the decedent's net taxable estate, such as property passing to or in trust for a surviving spouse and gifts or bequests for charitable, public, or similar purposes, shall not be included in the computation provided for in G.S. 28A-27-2 to the extent of the allowable deduction or exemption. When such an interest is subject to a prior present interest which is not allowable as a deduction or exemption, such present interest shall not be included in the computation provided for in this Article and no tax shall be apportioned to or paid from principal.

(b) Any credit for property previously taxed and any credit for gift taxes or death taxes of a foreign country paid by the decedent or ~~his~~ the decedent's estate shall inure to the proportionate benefit of all persons liable to apportionment; provided, however, that if the tax which gives rise to such a credit has in fact been paid by a person interested in the estate, the benefit of such credit shall inure to that person paying the tax.

(c) Any credit for inheritance, succession, or estate taxes or taxes in the nature thereof in respect to property or interests includible in the estate shall inure to the benefit of the persons or interests chargeable with the payment thereof to the extent that, or in the proportion that, the credit reduces the tax.

(d) To the extent that property passing to or in trust for a surviving spouse or any charitable, public, or similar gift or bequest does not constitute an allowed deduction for purposes of the tax solely by reason of an inheritance tax or other death tax imposed upon and deductible from the property, the property shall not be included in the computation provided for in this Article, and to that extent no apportionment shall be made against the property. This section does not apply in any instance where the result will be to deprive the estate of a deduction otherwise allowable under Section 2053(d) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 of the United States or corresponding provisions of any subsequent tax law, relating to deduction for State death taxes on transfers for public, charitable, or religious uses.

"§ 28A-27-6. No apportionment between temporary and remainder interests.

No interest in income and no estate for years or for life or other temporary interest in any property or fund is subject to apportionment as between the temporary interest and the remainder. The tax on the temporary interest and the tax, if any, on the remainder is chargeable against the corpus of the property or funds subject to the temporary interest and remainder.

"§ 28A-27-7. Fiduciary's rights and duties.

(a) The personal representative may withhold from any property of the decedent in ~~his~~ the personal representative's possession, distributable to any person interested in the estate, the amount of the tax apportioned to ~~his~~ the person's interest. If the property in possession of the personal representative and distributable to any person interested in the estate tax is insufficient to satisfy the proportionate amount of the tax determined to be due from the person, the personal representative may recover the deficiency from the person interested in the estate. If the property is not in the possession of the personal ~~representative he~~ representative, the personal representative may recover from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person in accordance with this Article.

(b) If property held by the fiduciary or other person is distributed prior to final apportionment of the tax, the personal representative may require the distributee to provide a bond or other security for the apportionment liability in the form and amount prescribed by the fiduciary, with the approval of the clerk of superior court having jurisdiction of the administration of the estate.

"§ 28A-27-8. Difference with Federal Estate Tax Law.

If the liabilities of persons interested in the estate as prescribed by this Article differ from those which result under the Federal Estate Tax Law, the liabilities imposed by the federal law will control and the balance of this Article shall apply as if the resulting liabilities had been prescribed herein.

"§ 28A-27-9. Effective date.

The provisions of this Article shall not apply to taxes due on account of the death of decedents dying prior to October 1, 1986.

"Article 28.

"Summary Administration.

"§ 28A-28-1. Summary administration where spouse is sole beneficiary.

When a decedent dies testate or intestate leaving a surviving spouse as the sole devisee or heir, the surviving spouse may file a petition for summary administration with the clerk of superior court of the county where the decedent was domiciled at the time of death. This procedure is available if the decedent died partially testate, provided that the surviving spouse is the sole devisee under the will and the sole heir of the decedent's intestate property. This procedure is not available if the decedent's will provides that it is not available or if the devise to the surviving spouse is in trust rather than outright.

"§ 28A-28-2. Petition.

(a) The petition shall be signed by the surviving spouse and verified to be accurate and complete to the best of the spouse's knowledge and belief and shall state as follows:

(1) The name and address of the spouse and the fact that ~~he or she~~ the spouse is the surviving spouse of the decedent;

"§ 31-33. ~~Bond given and cause~~ Cause transferred to trial docket.

~~When a caveator shall have given bond with surety approved by the clerk, in the sum of two hundred dollars ($200.00), payable to the propounder of the will, conditioned upon the payment of all costs which shall be adjudged against such caveator in the superior court or when a caveator shall have deposited money or given a mortgage in lieu of such bond, or shall have filed affidavits and satisfied the clerk of his inability to give such bond or otherwise secure such costs,~~

An extension of time to file a responsive pleading to the caveat may be granted as provided by G.S. 1A-1, Rule 6 of the Rules of Civil Procedure.

(d) Upon motion of an aligned party, the court may require a caveator to provide security in such sum as the court deems proper, for the payment of such costs and damages as may be incurred or suffered by the estate if the estate is found to have been wrongfully enjoined or restrained. The court may consider relevant facts related to whether a bond should be required and the amount of any such bond, including, but not limited to, (i) whether the estate may suffer irreparable injury, loss, or damage as a result of the caveat and (ii) whether the caveat has substantial merit. "Construction of Will.

"§ 31-38. Devise presumed to be in fee.

When real estate shall be devised to any person, the same shall be held and construed to be a devise in fee simple, unless such devise shall, in plain and express words, show, or it shall be plainly intended by the will, or some part thereof, that the testator intended to convey an estate of less dignity.

"§ 31-39. Probate necessary to pass title; recordation in county where land lies; rights of innocent purchasers.

No will shall be effectual to pass real or personal estate unless it shall have been duly proved and allowed in the probate court of the proper county, and a duly certified copy thereof shall be recorded in the office of the superior court clerk of the county wherein the land is situate, and the probate of a will devising real estate shall be conclusive as to the execution thereof against the heirs and devisees of the testator, whenever the probate thereof under the like cirumstances, would be conclusive against the next of kin and legatees of the testator:

Provided, that the probate and registration of any will shall not affect the rights of innocent purchasers for value from the heirs at law of the testator when such purchase is made more than two years after the death of such testator or when such purchase is made after the filing of the final account by the duly authorized administrator of the decedent and the approval thereof by the clerk of the superior court having jurisdiction of the estate. Such conveyances, if made before the expiration of the time required by this section to have elapsed in order for same to be valid against the heirs and devisees of the testator, shall, upon the expiration of such time, become good and valid to the same effect as if made after the expiration of such time, unless in the meantime a proceeding shall have been instituted in the proper court to probate the will of the testator.

"§ 31-40. What property passes by will.

Any testator, by ~~his~~ the testator's will duly executed, may devise, bequeath, or dispose of all real and personal estate which ~~he~~ the testator shall be entitled to at the time of ~~his~~ the testator's death, and which, if not so devised, bequeathed, or disposed of, would descend or devolve upon ~~his~~ the testator's heirs at law, or upon ~~his~~ the testator's executor or administrator; and the power hereby given shall extend to all contingent, executory, or other future interest in any real or personal estate, whether the testator may or may not be the person or one of the persons in whom the same may become vested, or whether ~~he~~ the testator may be entitled thereto under the instrument by which the same was created, or under any disposition thereof by deed or will; and also to all rights of entry for conditions broken, whether any such condition has or has not been broken at the testator's death, all other rights of entry, and possibilities of reverter; and also to such of the same estates, interests, and rights respectively, and other real and personal estate, as the testator may be entitled to at the time of ~~his~~ the testator's death, notwithstanding that ~~he~~ the testator may become entitled to the same subsequently to the execution of ~~his~~ the testator's will.

"§ 31-41. Will relates to death of testator.

Every will shall be construed, with reference to the real and personal estate comprised therein, to speak and take effect as if it had been executed immediately before the death of the testator, unless a contrary intention shall appear by the will.

"§ 31-42. Failure of devises by lapse or otherwise; renunciation; 120-hour survivorship requirement, revised simultaneous death act, Article 24, Chapter 28A.

(a) Unless the will indicates a contrary intent, if a devisee predeceases the testator, whether before or after the execution of the will, and if the devisee is a grandparent of or a descendant of a grandparent of the testator, then the issue of the predeceased devisee shall take in place of the deceased devisee. The devisee's issue shall take the deceased devisee's share in the same manner that the issue would take as heirs of the deceased devisee under the intestacy provisions in effect at the time of the testator's death. The provisions of this section apply whether the devise is to an individual, to a class, or is a residuary devise. In the case of the class devise, the issue shall take whatever share the deceased devisee would have taken had the devisee survived the testator; in the event the deceased class member leaves no issue, the devisee's share shall devolve upon the members of the class who survived the testator and the issue of any deceased members taking by substitution.

(b) Unless the will indicates a contrary intent, if the provisions of subsection (a) of this section do not apply to a devise to a devisee who predeceases the testator, or if a devise otherwise fails, the property shall pass to the residuary devisee or devisees in proportion to their share of the residue. If the devise is a residuary devise, it shall augment the shares of the other residuary devisees, including the shares of any substitute takers under subsection (a) of this section. If there are no residuary devisees, then the property shall pass by intestacy.

(c) Renunciation of a devise is as provided for in Chapter 31B of the General Statutes.

(c1) The determination of whether a devisee has predeceased the testator shall be made as provided by Article 24 of Chapter 28A of the General Statutes.

(d) As used in this section, "devisee" means any person entitled to take real or personal property under the provisions of a will.

"§ 31-43. General gift by will an execution of power of appointment.

A general devise of the real estate of the testator, or of ~~his~~ the testator's real estate in any place or in the occupation of any person mentioned in the will, or otherwise described in a general manner, shall be construed to include any real estate, or any real estate to which such description shall extend, as the case may be, which ~~he~~ the testator may have power to appoint in any manner ~~he~~ the testator may think proper; and shall operate as an execution of such power, unless a contrary intention shall appear by the will; and in like manner a bequest of the personal estate of the testator, or any bequest of personal property, described in a general manner, shall be construed to include any personal estate, or any personal estate to which such description shall extend, as the case may be, which ~~he~~ testator may have power to appoint in any manner ~~he~~ the testator may think proper, and shall operate as an execution of such power, unless a contrary intention shall appear by the will.

"§ 31-46. Validity of will; which laws govern.

A will is valid if it meets the requirements of the applicable provisions of law in effect in this State either at the time of its execution or at the time of the death of the testator.

"§ 31-46.1. Construction of certain formula clauses applicable to estates of decedents dying in calendar year 2010.

(a) Purpose. – The federal estate tax and generation-skipping transfer tax expired January 1, 2010, for one year. To carry out the intent of decedents in the construction of wills and trusts and to promote judicial economy in the administration of trusts and estates, this section construes certain formula clauses that reference federal estate and generation-skipping transfer tax laws and that are used in wills or codicils of decedents who die in or before calendar year 2010.

(b) Applicability. – This section applies to the following:

(1) To a will or codicil executed by a decedent before December 31, 2009, that contains a formula provision described in subsection (c) of this section if the decedent dies after December 31, 2009, and before the earlier of January 1, 2011, and the effective date of the reinstatement of the federal estate tax and generation-skipping transfer tax, unless the will or codicil clearly manifests an intent that a rule contrary to the rule of construction described in subsection (c) of this section applies.

(2) To the terms of a will or codicil executed by a decedent who dies before December 31, 2009, providing for a disposition of property that contains a formula provision described in subsection (c) of this section and occurs as a result of the death of another individual who dies after December 31, 2009, and before the earlier of January 1, 2011, and the effective date of the reinstatement of the federal estate tax and generation-skipping transfer tax, unless the terms of the will or codicil clearly manifests an intent that a rule contrary to the rule of construction described in subsection (c) of this section applies.

(c) Construction. – A will or codicil subject to this section is considered to refer to the federal estate and generation-skipping transfer tax laws as they applied with respect to estates of decedents dying on December 31, 2009, if the will or codicil contains a formula that meets one or more of the following conditions:

(1) The formula refers to any of the following: "applicable credit amount," "applicable exclusion amount," "applicable exemption amount," "applicable

fraction," "estate tax exemption," "generation-skipping transfer tax exemption," "GST exemption," "inclusion ratio," "marital deduction," "maximum marital deduction," "unified credit," or "unlimited marital deduction."

(2) The formula measures a share of an estate or trust based on the amount that can pass free of federal estate taxes or the amount that can pass free of federal generation-skipping transfer taxes.

(3) The formula is otherwise based on a provision of federal estate tax or federal generation-skipping transfer tax law similar to the provisions in subdivision (1) or (2) of this subsection.

(d) Judicial Determination. – The personal representative or an affected beneficiary under a will or testamentary trust may bring an action in the superior court division of the General Court of Justice under Article 26 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes, and the trustee of a trust created under the will or an affected beneficiary under the trust may bring a proceeding as permitted under Article 2 of Chapter 36C of the General Statutes to determine whether the decedent intended that the references under subsection (c) of this section be construed with respect to the federal law as it existed after December 31, 2009. The action must be commenced within 12 months following the death of the decedent.

"Article 8.

"Testamentary Additions to Trusts.

"§ 31-47. Testamentary additions to trusts.

(a) A will may validly devise property to:

(1) The trustee of a trust established before the testator's death by the testator, by the testator and some other person, or by some other person, including a trust authorized by G.S. 36C-4-401.1; or

(2) The trustee of a trust to be established at the testator's death, if the trust is identified in the testator's will and its terms are set forth in a written instrument executed before or concurrently with the execution of the testator's will, regardless of the existence, size, or character of the corpus of the trust during the testator's lifetime.

The devise is not invalid because the trust is amendable or revocable, or because the trust instrument or any amendment thereto was not executed in the manner required for wills, or because the trust was amended after the execution of the testator's will or after the testator's death. A revocable trust to which property is first transferred under subdivision (2) of this subsection is an inter vivos trust and not a testamentary trust and, as of the date of the execution of the trust instrument, is subject to Article 6 of Chapter 36C of the General Statutes.

(b) Unless the testator's will provides otherwise, property devised to the trustee of a trust described in subsection (a) of this section is not held under a testamentary trust of the testator, but it becomes a part of the trust to which it is devised, and shall be administered and disposed of in accordance with the provisions of the governing instrument setting forth the terms of the trust, including any amendments thereto made before or after the testator's death.

(c) Unless the testator's will provides otherwise, a revocation or termination of the trust before the testator's death causes the devise to lapse.

(d) A devise to a trust shall be construed as a devise to the trustee of that trust.

(e) For purposes of this section, "devise," when used as a noun, means a testamentary disposition of real or personal property and, when used as a verb, means to dispose of real or personal property by will.

(f) Nothing in this section alters, amends, or in any manner affects the application of the doctrine of acts of independent significance.

"Article 9.

"Incorporation by Reference; Acts of Independent Significance.

"§ 31-51. Incorporation by reference.

A writing in existence when a will is executed may be incorporated by reference if the language of the will manifests this intent and describes the writing sufficiently to permit its identification.

"§ 31-52. Acts and events of independent significance.

A will may dispose of property by reference to acts and events that have significance apart from their effect upon the disposition made by the will, whether they occur before or after the execution of the will or before or after the testator's death. These acts and events may include the execution or revocation of another individual's will and the safekeeping of items in a secured depository.

SECTION 9. G.S. 31B-1.2 reads as rewritten:

"§ 31B-1.2. Right of fiduciary to institute a proceeding for review of renunciation.

(a) Prior to renouncing, if a fiduciary so elects, the fiduciary may institute a proceeding by petition before the clerk of court for a determination as to whether a renunciation would be compatible with the fiduciary's duties. ~~Commencement~~ In the case of a trustee, commencement of the proceeding, jurisdiction, venue, parties, representation, and notice shall be governed by Chapter 36C of the General Statutes. In the case of a personal representative, commencement of the proceeding, jurisdiction, venue, parties, representation, and notice shall be governed by Chapter 28A of the General Statutes. In addition to any other notice requirements, notice of the proceeding shall be given to all persons entitled to delivery of a copy of an instrument of renunciation under G.S. 31B-2.1.

(b) After renouncing, if a fiduciary so elects, the fiduciary has a right to institute a declaratory judgment action pursuant to Article 26 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes for a determination as to whether the renunciation is compatible with the fiduciary's duties. In addition to any other notice requirements, notice of the action shall be given to all persons entitled to delivery of a copy of an instrument of renunciation under G.S. 31B-2.1.

(c) A proceeding or action instituted under this section shall comply with all of the following:

(1) The petition or complaint shall state the basis for the fiduciary's allegation that the renunciation is compatible with the fiduciary's duties, considering among other things the intended purposes of the trust or other instrument and the impact of the renunciation on beneficiaries and potential beneficiaries. A petition or complaint filed by a trustee of a charitable trust shall contain a statement that a copy of the petition or complaint is being provided to the Attorney General.

SENATE BILL 432: Revise Probate Code

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 19, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Hartsell	Prepared by:	Brad Krehely
Analysis of:	PCS to First Edition S432-CSRN-7		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 432 would amend the provisions of the probate code, would define the jurisdiction of the clerk of superior court consistent with the provisions of the Uniform Trust Code, would recodify provisions relating to the probate of wills, and would update the procedure for claiming spousal and children's allowances. The Proposed Committee Substitute (1) clarifies that a clerk can transfer an estate proceeding to the superior court trial division up to the first hearing date, (2) clarifies that clerks are not required rule on the validity of contingent and unliquidated claims, and (3) deletes Section 9 of the First Edition which would have provided that controversies arising under Chapter 31A are to be determined as estate proceedings under G.S. 28A-2-4, but that persons could file actions for declaratory relief.

BILL ANALYSIS: The PCS for Senate Bill 432 does all of the following:

- Provides that G.S. 1-301.3 applies to the administration of trusts (was, testamentary trusts) and of estates of decedents, incompetents and minors. Provides that a party wishing to appeal an order or judgment by the clerk may file a written notice of appeal containing a short and plain statement of the basis for the appeal (was, required written notice to specify the basis for the appeal) within ten days of the entry of the order or judgment after service of the order on that party. Provides that in an appeal to superior court, if the record is insufficient, the judge of superior court may receive additional evidence on the factual (was evidentiary) issue in question.
- Amends G.S. 7A-307 to add estate proceedings to the list of those whose costs are assessed under this section. Adds that the cost assessed for the filing of a caveat to a will is $200. Provides that the only cost assessed with reopening an estate administration is forty cents per $100, or major fraction, of any additional gross estate, including income, coming into the hands of the fiduciary after the estate is reopened; caps the total cost assessed, including the total cost assessed in all previous administrations of the estate, at $6,000.
- Recodifies portions of the General Statutes.
- Expands the definitions under G.S. 28A-1-1.
- Enacts new G.S. 28A-2-4 providing that the clerks of superior court of North Carolina, as ex-officio judges of probate, have original jurisdiction of estate proceedings. Provides types of estate proceedings under the subject matter jurisdiction of the clerk of superior court. Also provides criteria regarding the transfer of an estate proceeding to superior court. Provides that nothing in this section affects a person's right to file an action in the Superior Court for declaratory relief under Article 26, G.S. Chapter 1. Provides additional specifications regarding requests for declaratory relief and motions for a transfer of proceedings to superior court. Declares that the clerk of superior court does not have jurisdiction of (1) actions by or against creditors or debtors of an estate except as provided in Article 19 of G.S. Chapter 28A; (2) actions involving claims for monetary damages; (3) caveats, except as provide under GS 31-36; (4) proceedings to determine venue; and (5) recovery of property transferred or conveyed by a decedent with the intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors, pursuant to G.S. 28A-15-10(b). Enacts new G.S. 28-2-5 to provide that the clerk of superior court has jurisdiction over special proceedings and that nothing in the statute is to be construed as limiting the jurisdiction of the clerk of superior court in special proceedings.

- Enacts new G.S. 28A-2-6. Provides directives for the commencement of contested and uncontested estate proceedings. Additionally, provides directives regarding pleadings, extensions of time, consolidation of an estate proceeding and a civil action involving a common question of law or fact, joinder of claims, and providing notice of transfer. Provides that unless otherwise directed by the clerk of superior court, the listed Rules of Civil Procedure apply to estate proceedings. Also provides that the clerk may further direct that any or all of the remaining rules apply.
- Enacts additional new statutory provisions regarding representation of parties (G.S. 28A-2-7), waiver of notice (G.S. 28A-2-8), appeals of estate proceedings and special proceedings (G.S. 28A-2-9), and approval of family settlement agreements by the clerk (G.S. 28A-2-10).

The act makes the following changes to new Article 2A of G.S. Chapter 28A.

- Authorizes the clerk of superior court to shorten the initial 60-day period during which the executor may apply to have the will proved, if good cause is shown. Enacts new GS 28A-2A-7 to provide that a person entitled to apply for probate of a will may file a petition for probate of the will in solemn form, and the matter will proceed as an estate proceeding governed by Article 2 of G.S. Chapter 28A. Provides directives regarding probate of a will in solemn form and regarding contesting the validity of a will by an interested party.
- Administration of Decedents' Estates. Amends G.S. 28A-3-2 to provide that any interested person may file a petition to determine the proper venue for the administration of the estate.
- Amends G.S. 28A-5-1 regarding the implied renunciation by a named or designated executor, providing the procedures to be followed should a person named or designated as an executor fail to qualify or renounce the office of executor within 30 days after the will has been admitted to probate. Amends G.S. 28A-5-2 regarding the implied renunciation of the right to administer an estate by a person entitled to apply for letters of administration, providing the procedures to be followed should a person so entitled fail to apply for letters of administration within 30 days from the date of death of the intestate decedent. Amends both G.S. 28A-5-1 and G.S. 28A-5-2 to delete provision authorizing the clerk of superior court to issue a citation against a person who has failed to qualify or renounce to show cause that the person should not be determined to have renounced the office of executor; instead provides for the clerk of superior court to issue a notice to that person to qualify or move for an extension of time to qualify within 15 days. Also provides that any interested person may file a petition in accordance with Article 2 of G.S. Chapter 28A seeking an order finding that the person be deemed to have renounced the office of executor.
- Amends G.S. 28A-6-1 to provide that the clerk of superior court may rely on the following as evidence of death: (1) a certified or authenticated copy of a death certificate purported to be issued by an official or agency of the place where the death purportedly occurred, (2) a certified or authenticated copy of any record or report of a domestic or foreign governmental agency evidencing the date of death, (3) a certificate or authenticated copy of medical records evidencing the date of death, or (4) any other evidence that clerk of superior court deems sufficient to confirm the date of death.

- Amends G.S. 28A-6-2 to provide that letters of administration or testamentary letters may be issued without notice including upon a finding of implied renunciation. Provides that all persons entitled to an equal or higher preference for appointment than an applicant who is not entitled to a priority of appointment under G.S. 28A-4-1 are to be given 15 days prior written notice of the application of the person who is not entitled to a priority of appointment, unless the persons with an equal or higher preference have renounced.
- Amends G.S. 28A-6-4 to clarify that before letters of administration or letters testamentary are issued, any interested person may by written petition (was, objection), filed with the clerk of superior court and served on interested persons as directed by the clerk of superior court, contest the issuing of letters of administration or letters testamentary to a person who is otherwise entitled to apply for the letters. Directs the clerk to conduct a hearing to determine to whom the letters are to be issued and provides that an appeal from the order may be taken as in an estate proceeding under G.S. 1-301.3.
- Amends G.S. 28A-8-1 to provide that no bond is required for a personal representative who is a trust institution licensed under G.S. 53-159 (was, a national banking association having its principal place of business in this state or a state bank acting under G.S. 53-159).
- Amends G.S. 28A-8-3 to provide that upon receipt of a verified petition filed by an interested party requesting modification of bond requirements, the clerk of superior court is to conduct a hearing in accordance with Article 2 of G.S. Chapter 28A (was, required the clerk to issue a citation requiring the personal representative to show cause why the bond should not be modified). Amends G.S. 28A-8-4 to provide that if any personal representative fails to comply with an order by the clerk regarding additional bond or new bond within the time specified in the order (not less than five days or more than 15 days), the clerk is to proceed as provided in G.S. 28A-9-2.
- Amends G.S. 28A-8-5 to direct the clerk conduct a hearing under Article 2 of G.S. Chapter 28A upon verified petition from any surety, on the bond of a personal representative, who is in danger of loss of the surety's suretyship. Amends subsection (b) of G.S. 28A-9-1 to allow the clerk to conduct a hearing, on the clerk's own motion or upon the verified petition of any person interested in the estate, to determine if any of the grounds for revocation of letters of administration, letters testamentary, or letters of collection as indicated in subsection (a) of this section exist. Amends G.S. 28A-9-4 and G.S. 28A-10-6 to clarify that (1) an appeal from the order of the clerk granting or denying revocation and (2) an appeal from an order of the clerk denying or allowing the resignation of a personal representative are special proceedings pursuant to G.S. 28A-2-9(b). Authorizes the clerk to issue a stay of an order of revocation or of an order allowing resignation upon the appellant posting an appropriate bond set by the clerk until such time as the cause is heard and determined upon appeal.
- Amends G.S. 28A-13-3. Current law requires a personal representative to petition the clerk to obtain an order authorizing the personal representative's custody, control, or possession over real property of the estate. Makes an exception for real property that is given to the personal representative in the deceased person's will, or real property to which the personal representative acquires title during the administration of the estate, providing that the personal representative is immediately entitled to custody, possession, and control of real property meeting this exception and may institute an estate proceeding under subsection (d) of this section to enforce those rights. Subsection (d) provides that the personal representative may institute an estate proceeding under Article 2 of G.S. Chapter 28A. Also provides that if the real property is occupied by a tenant or lessee, the personal representative may seek ejectment of the tenant or lessee only through the summary ejectment provisions of Article 3 of G.S. Chapter 42.

- Amends G.S. 28A-13-6(c1), deletes "trust" and substitutes "estate." Deletes subsection (a) and replaces it with subsection (a1) providing that a personal representative or collector has the right to sue in superior court to recover any property of any kind that belongs to the estate of the decedent and is entitled to provisional remedies as provided for under Subchapter 13 of Chapter 1. Also deletes subsection (b) and replaces it with subsection (b1) providing a personal representative, collector, or any interested person has the right to file a verified petition to institute an estates proceeding for examination of any persons reasonably believed to be in possession of property of any kind belonging to the decedent's estate and to make a demand for the recovery of that property.
- Amends G.S. 28A-19-1 to provide that in a pending legal action against the decedent at the time of the decedent's death, which survives the decedent's death, the court may order, on motion, the substitution of the personal representative or collector for the decedent and that motion will constitute the presentation of a claim providing that the substitution occurs within the time specified for the presentation of claims under G.S. 28A-19-3.
- Amends G.S. 28A-19-3 to clarify that except as otherwise specifically provided in this section, the limitations on presentation of claims set out in this section apply to claims by the State of North Carolina, its subdivisions, and its agencies.
- Amends G.S. 28A-19-5 providing that the clerk may provide for the payment of contingent and unliquidated claims via transfer of a petition filed under subsection (b) of G.S. 28A-19-5 to the superior court trial division for a determination of the validity or priority of the claim. Clarifies that clerks are not required to rule on the validity of contingent and unliquidated claims.
- Amends G.S. 28A-19-8 to provide that funeral expenses of a decedent advanced by a health care agent exercising authority are considered as an obligation of the estate regardless as to whether or not a personal representative of the estate has been appointed at the time the expenses are incurred. Amends GS 28A-19-9 to authorize a decedent's health care agent duly appointed under Article 3 of G.S. Chapter 32A to purchase a gravestone and provide a suitable burial place and receive reimbursement for the expenses incurred subject to the monetary limitations and procedures contained in this section. Amends GS 28A-19-16 to provide that a claimant must begin an action for recovery with regards to a claim that is presented and rejected within three months of receiving written notice of the rejection (was, after due notice in writing or after some part of claim becomes due). Provides that in the cares of a contingent or unliquidated claim, the claimant must file a petition for an order from the clerk pursuant to GS 23A-19-5(b).
- Amends G.S. 28A-21-2 to provide that absent an extension by the clerk of the time for filing the final account the personal representative or collector must file the final account for settlement within one year after qualifying or within six months after receiving a state estate or inheritance tax release, or in the time period for filing an annual account under G.S. 28A-21-1, whichever is later.
- Enacts new G.S. 28A-21-6 to provide that the personal representative or collector may give written notice of a proposed final account to all devises of the estate in the case of a will, and to all heirs of the state when the decedent was without a will, indicating the date and place of the filing of the final account. Provides guidelines regarding the permissive notice of final accounts.

- Amends G.S. 28A-23-1 to direct the clerk, upon reviewing and approving the personal representative's or collector's final account, to enter an order discharging the personal representative or collector from further duties and liabilities (was, liabilities), including those set out in Article 13 of G.S. Chapter 28A. Prohibits the discharge order from including a release or discharge of liability for any breach of duty by a personal representative or collector as set forth in G.S. 28A-13-10(c).
- Amends G.S. 28A-25-1 regarding the collection of property through use of an affidavit when the decedent dies intestate. Provides that when the person collecting the property by affidavit is the surviving spouse and only heir of the decedent, and not disqualified under GS 28A-4-2, the property that may be collected under this section may be more than $20,000 in value but may not exceed $30,000 in value, after reduction for any spousal allowance paid to the surviving spouse under G.S. 30-15.
- Makes conforming and clarifying changes to Chapter 28A.
- Intestate Succession. Enacts new G.S. 29-12.1 to provide that controversies arising under Chapter 29 are to be determined as an estate proceeding under Article 2 of G.S. Chapter 28A except for controversies arising under Article 8 of G.S. Chapter 29 (Election to Take Life Interest in Lieu of Intestate Share), which are to be determined as set out in G.S. Chapter 29. Amends G.S. 29-30 to provide that when a surviving spouse of an intestate decedent elects to take a life estate in the dwelling house and the value of that life estate is less than one-third in value of all the real estate, the surviving spouse may elect to take a life estate in other real estate of the intestate decedent so as to make the aggregate life estate of the surviving spouse equal to a life estate that is one-third in value of all the real estate. Provides that the election of the surviving spouse to tale a life estate in one-third value of all the real estate of the decedent is to be made by the filing of a petition (was filing of a notice) in accordance with Article 2 of G.S. Chapter 28A with the clerk of superior court in the appropriate county. Also lists applicable time periods for making the election and requires that the election be made before the shorter of the applicable time periods. Directs that no provisions in subsection (c) of GS 29-30 extends the time period for a surviving spouse to petition for an elective share under Article 1A of G.S. Chapter 30. Provides for service of the petition in accordance with GS 1A-1, Rule 4.
- Provides that the rules of procedure relating to partition proceedings under Chapter 46 apply to the election and procedure to allot and set apart the life estate, except to the extent they would be inconsistent with the provisions of this section. Provides that a determination of the life estate under this section may be appealed in accordance with GS 1-301.3.
- Amends G.S. 30-3.4 to provide that an elective share proceeding is an estate proceeding and is to be conducted under the procedures of Article 2 of GS Chapter 28A (was, an estate matter to be conducted under GS 1-301.3).
- Year's Allowance. Amends G.S. 30-17 regarding surviving children who are entitled to an allowance to delete reference to the authority of the guardian or next friend acting on behalf of the child and replacing it with simply, guardian. Current law provides that the clerk or on assignment by the clerk, the magistrate of the county in which administration was granted or the will was probated is to ascertain the value of the personal property from which the allowance is assigned. Provides for a right of appeal from the assignment by filing a copy of the assignment and a notice of appeal within 10 days after the assignment, and directs that the appeal is to be heard as provided in G.S. 1-301.2 at the next available session of superior court. Deletes provision requiring the appellant to file a copy of the assignment with the clerk and a statement of the appellant's exceptions and declaring that the issues will be decided de novo.

- Amends G.S. 30-27 to provide that a surviving spouse or child may apply to superior court after specified conditions are met and within one year after the decedent's death to have a year's support assigned at an amount other than prescribed in G.S. 30-15 (when spouse entitled to allowance) and G.S. 30-17 (when children entitled to an allowance). Deletes provisions requiring that the caveator and all interested parties who wish to be aligned by the court as parties in the action to file bond as directed by the court. Provides that the court, upon motion of an aligned party, may require a caveator to provide security in an amount determined by the court. Provides that the court is to consider relevant facts related to the need for a bond and the amount of any bond. Permits any interested party who was aligned to file a responsive pleading to caveat within 30 days following the entry of an order aligning the parties. Provides that failure to respond to any claim or averment of the caveat is not deemed to be an admission. Provides that an extension of time to file a responsive pleading may be granted as provided by Rule 6 of the Rules.

AN ACT GOVERNING THE LIABILITY OF DIRECTED TRUSTEES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 36C-8-808 reads as rewritten:

"§ 36C-8-808. Powers ~~to direct.~~ of a person who is not a trustee to take certain actions with respect to the trust.

(a) While a trust is revocable, the settlor of a revocable trust has, at all times, the power to direct or consent to the actions of the trustee whether or not the power is conferred upon the settlor by the terms of the trust. The trustee may follow a direction of the settlor that is not authorized by or is contrary to the terms of the trust, even if by doing so (i) the trustee exceeds the authority granted to the trustee under the terms of the trust, or (ii) the trustee would otherwise violate a duty the trustee owes under the trust. The trustee is not liable, individually or as a fiduciary, for any loss resulting directly or indirectly from compliance with the direction. If the settlor requires the settlor's consent to certain actions of the trustee, and the settlor does not provide consent within a reasonable time after the trustee has made a timely request for the settlor's consent, the trustee is not liable, individually or as a fiduciary, for any loss resulting directly or indirectly from the trustee's failure to take any action that required the settlor's consent.

(b) ~~If the~~ The terms of a trust may confer upon a person other than the settlor of a revocable trust the power to ~~direct~~ take certain actions ~~of the trustee, the trustee must act in accordance with an exercise of the power unless the attempted exercise is manifestly contrary to the terms of the trust, or the trustee knows the attempted exercise would constitute a serious breach of a fiduciary duty that the person holding the power owes to the beneficiaries of the trust.~~ with respect to the trust, including, but not limited to, the power to do the following:

(1) Direct or consent to actions regarding the following:
   a. Investments, including retention, purchase, sale, exchange, or other transaction affecting the ownership of investments with respect to all or any one or more of the trust assets.
   b. Discretionary distributions of trust assets, including distributions to one or more beneficiaries, distribution of one or more trust assets, and termination of the trust by distribution of all of the trust assets.
   c. Any other matter regarding trust administration, including the transfer of the principal place of administration of the trust.

(2) Modify or amend the trust to do the following:
   a. Achieve favorable tax status under applicable law.

b. Take advantage of laws governing restraints on alienation or other State laws restricting the terms of the trust, distribution of trust property, or the administration of the trust.

(3) Remove and appoint trustees, advisors, trust committee members, and trust protectors.

(4) Increase or decrease the interests of any beneficiary.

(5) Grant a power of appointment to one or more beneficiaries of the trust or modify the terms of or terminate a power of appointment granted to a beneficiary by the governing instrument, except that a grant or modification of a power of appointment may not grant a beneficial interest to any of the following:

a. Any individual or class of individuals not specifically provided for in the trust instrument.

b. The person having the power to grant, modify, or terminate the power of appointment.

c. That person's estate or that person's creditors.

(6) Change the governing law of the trust.

(c) ~~The terms of a trust may confer upon a trustee or other person a power to direct the modification or termination of the trust.~~ When the terms of a trust confer upon a person described in subsection (b) of this section a power authorized in subsection (b) of this section, the duty and liability of the trustee is as follows:

(1) If the terms of a trust confer upon the person the power to direct certain actions of the trustee, the trustee must act in accordance with the direction and is not liable, individually or as a fiduciary, for any loss resulting directly or indirectly from compliance with the direction unless compliance with the direction constitutes intentional wrongdoing, not mere negligence or gross negligence on the part of the trustee.

(2) If the terms of the trust confer upon the person the power to consent to certain actions of the trustee, and the power holder does not provide consent within a reasonable time after the trustee has made a timely request for the power holder's consent, the trustee is not liable, individually or as a fiduciary, for any loss resulting directly or indirectly from the trustee's failure to take any action that required the power holder's consent.

(3) If the terms of the trust confer upon the person a power other than the power to direct or consent to actions of the trustee, the trustee is not liable, individually or as a fiduciary, for any loss resulting directly or indirectly from the exercise or nonexercise of the power.

(4) The trustee shall have no duty to monitor the conduct of the power holder, provide advice to the power holder; or consult with the power holder. The trustee is not required to give notice to any beneficiary of any action taken or not taken by the power holder whether or not the trustee agrees with the result. Administrative actions taken by the trustee for the purpose of implementing directions of the power holder, including confirming that the directions of the power holder have been carried out, do not constitute monitoring of the power holder nor do they constitute participation in decisions within the scope of the power holder's authority.

(d) A ~~person, other than a beneficiary,~~ person described in subsection (b) of this section, who holds a power to ~~direct~~ authorize under subsection (b) of this section is ~~presumptively~~ a fiduciary who, as such, is required to act in good faith with regard to the purposes of the trust and the interests of the ~~beneficiaries.~~ beneficiaries, except that if a beneficiary is a person with a power authorized under subsection (b) of this section, the beneficiary is not a fiduciary with respect to the following:

(1) A power to remove and appoint a trustee.

(2) The power that constitutes a power of appointment.

(3) A power the exercise or nonexercise of which may affect only the interests of the beneficiary holding the power and no other beneficiary.

The holder of a power to direct authorized under subsection (b) of this section is liable for any loss that results from breach of a fiduciary ~~duty.~~ duty occurring as a result of the exercise or nonexercise of the power."

SECTION 2. G.S. 36C-7-703 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

"(e1) If the terms of a trust confer upon a cotrustee, to the exclusion of another cotrustee, the power to take certain actions with respect to the trust, including the power to direct or prevent certain actions of the trustees, the following apply:

(1) The duty and liability of the excluded trustee is as follows:

a. If the terms of a trust confer upon the cotrustee the power to direct certain actions of the excluded trustee, the excluded trustee must act in accordance with the direction and is not liable, individually or as a fiduciary, for any loss resulting directly or indirectly from compliance with the direction unless compliance with the direction constitutes intentional wrongdoing, not mere negligence or gross negligence on the part of the directed cotrustee.

b. If the terms of the trust confer upon the cotrustee any other power, the excluded trustee is not liable, individually or as a fiduciary, for any loss resulting directly or indirectly from the action taken by the cotrustee.

c. The excluded trustee shall have no duty to monitor the conduct of the cotrustee, provide advice to the cotrustee, or consult with or request directions from the cotrustee. The excluded trustee is not required to give notice to any beneficiary of any action taken or not taken by the cotrustee whether or not the excluded trustee agrees with the result. Administrative actions taken by the excluded trustee for the purpose of implementing directions of the cotrustee, including confirming that the directions of the cotrustee have been carried out, do not constitute monitoring of the cotrustee nor do they constitute participation in decisions within the scope of the cotrustee's authority.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-subdivision a. of subdivision (1) of this subsection, the cotrustee holding the power to take certain actions with respect to the trust shall be liable to the beneficiaries with respect to the exercise of the power as if the excluded trustee was not in office and shall have the exclusive obligation to account to and defend any action brought by the beneficiaries with respect to the exercise of the power."

SECTION 3. G.S. 32-72(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) ~~Whenever an instrument reserves to the settlor or vests in any person, including an advisory or investment committee or one or more co-fiduciaries, the authority to direct the making or retention of any investment to the exclusion of the fiduciary or to the exclusion of one or more of several co-fiduciaries, the excluded fiduciary or co-fiduciary who has no discretion in selecting the person authorized to make or retain investments is not liable to the beneficiaries or to the trust for the decisions or actions of the settlor or other person authorized to direct the making or retention of investments. As used in this subsection, the term "person" includes an individual, a corporation, or any legal or commercial entity authorized to hold~~

~~property or do business in the State.~~ The following provisions apply to an instrument creating a fiduciary relationship other than a trust instrument to which Chapter 36C of the General Statutes applies and to a fiduciary other than a trustee:

(1) The terms of the instrument may confer upon a person the power to direct or consent to certain actions of the fiduciary with respect to the following:
  a. Investments, including retention, purchase, sale, exchange, or other transaction affecting the ownership of investments with respect to all or any one or more assets.
  b. Any other administrative matter.

(2) When the terms of the instrument confer upon a person the power to direct or consent to certain actions of the fiduciary, the duty and liability of the fiduciary are as follows:
  a. If the terms of the instrument confer upon the person the power to direct certain actions of the fiduciary, the fiduciary must act in accordance with the direction and is not liable, individually or as a fiduciary, for any loss resulting directly or indirectly from compliance with the direction unless compliance with the direction constitutes intentional wrongdoing, not mere negligence or gross negligence on the part of the fiduciary.
  b. If the terms of the instrument confer upon a person the power to consent to certain actions of the fiduciary, and the power holder does not provide consent within a reasonable time after the fiduciary has made a timely request for the power holder's consent, the fiduciary is not liable, individually or as a fiduciary, for any loss resulting directly or indirectly from the fiduciary's failure to take any action that required the power holder's consent.
  c. The fiduciary shall have no duty to monitor the conduct of the power holder, provide advice to the power holder, or consult with the power holder. The fiduciary is not required to give notice to any beneficiary of any action taken or not taken by the power holder whether or not the fiduciary agrees with the result. Administrative actions taken by the fiduciary for the purpose of implementing directions of the power holder, including confirming that the directions of the power holder have been carried out, do not constitute monitoring of the power holder or other participation in decisions within the scope of the power holder's authority.

(3) A person who holds a power to direct or consent is a fiduciary who, as such, is required to act in good faith with regard to the purposes of the estate, or other relationship between the fiduciary and beneficiaries, and the interests of the beneficiaries, except that if a beneficiary is a person with a power to direct or consent, the beneficiary is not a fiduciary with respect to the following:
  a. A power that constitutes a power of appointment.
  b. A power the exercise or nonexercise of which affects only the interests of the beneficiary holding the power and no other beneficiary.

The holder of the power to direct or consent is liable for any loss that results from breach of a fiduciary duty occurring as a result of the exercise or nonexercise of the power."

SECTION 4. This act becomes effective October 1, 2011, and applies to trusts and other instruments created before, on, or after that date.

(3) Remove and appoint trustees, advisors, trust committee members, and trust protectors.

(4) Increase or decrease the interests of any beneficiary.

(5) Grant a power of appointment to one or more beneficiaries of the trust or modify the terms of or terminate a power of appointment granted to a beneficiary by the governing instrument, except that a grant or modification of a power of appointment may not grant a beneficial interest to any of the following:

b. The person having the power to grant, modify, or terminate the power of appointment.

c. That person's estate or that person's creditors.

(6) Change the governing law of the trust.

(c) ~~The terms of a trust may confer upon a trustee or other person a power to direct the modification or termination of the trust.~~ When the terms of a trust confer upon a person described in subsection (b) of this section a power authorized under subsection (b) of this section, the duty and liability of the trustee is as follows:

SENATE BILL 434:
Directed Trustee and Trust Protector

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 18, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Hartsell	Prepared by:	Bill Patterson
Analysis of:	PCS to First Edition S434-CSTG-11		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The PCS to Senate Bill 434 clarifies and limits the liability of trustees and other fiduciaries required by the governing instruments to take directions from others. The PCS made technical and clarifying changes to the original bill.

CURRENT LAW: The duties and powers of trustees are set forth in Article 8 of Chapter 36C of the General Statutes. G.S. 36C-8-808(b) provides that a trustee must follow the direction of a person other than the settlor of a revocable trust who is empowered to direct the actions of the trustee under the terms of the trust, unless the exercise of that power would be contrary to the terms of the trust or would breach a fiduciary duty owed by the power holder to the trust beneficiaries. G.S. 36C-8-808(d) provides that a person other than a beneficiary who holds a power to direct is presumptively a fiduciary of the beneficiaries of the trust who is liable for losses caused by breach of a fiduciary duty.

G.S. 32-72 provides that when a fiduciary responsible for making investments is required by the terms of an instrument to follow the investment directions of the settlor or some other person in whose election the fiduciary had no discretion, the fiduciary is not liable to the beneficiaries or to the trust for the decisions of the settlor or other person whose direction the fiduciary follows.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 1 of the PCS:

- amends G.S. 36C-8-808(a) to provide that a settlor of a revocable trust has the power to direct or consent to the actions of the trustee regardless of whether the power is conveyed by the terms of the trust, and that the trustee is not liable for any loss resulting from compliance with the settlor's direction, or from the settlor not responding to a trustee's request for consent to the trustee's actions within a reasonable time after receiving the request
- amends G.S. 36C-808(b) and (c) to set forth the duties and liabilities of a trustee when the trustee follows the direction of a person who is not a trustee or a settlor, and who is empowered by the terms of a trust to take certain specified actions with respect to the trust
- amends G.S. 36C-8-808(d) to provide that a person other than a trustee or a settlor who is empowered to take certain actions with respect to a trust is a fiduciary (i.e., is not merely presumptively so), with certain exceptions for a beneficiary who is so empowered

Section 2 adds a new subdivision (e1) to G.S. 36C-7-703 setting forth the duties and liabilities that arise when one or more cotrustees are given, to the exclusion of another cotrustee, the power to take certain actions with respect to the trust, including the power to direct or prevent certain actions of the trustees.

Section 3 amends G.S. 32-72(d) to set forth the duties and liabilities of fiduciaries responsible for investments who are directed by others, in the same way that the duties and liabilities of trustees are set forth by the amendments to G.S. 36C-8-808 made in Section 1 of the PCS.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective October 1, 2011, and applies to trusts and other instruments regardless of when they were created.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Article 6 of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

"§ 90-121.5. Confidentiality of investigative information; cooperation with law enforcement; self-reporting requirements.

(a) The Board may, in a closed session, receive information or evidence involving or concerning the treatment of a patient who has not expressly or impliedly consented to the public disclosure of the treatment when necessary for the protection of the rights of the patient or the accused licensee and the full presentation of relevant evidence.

Such documents are privileged, confidential, and not subject to discovery, subpoena, or other means of legal compulsion for release to any person other than the Board or its employees or consultants involved in the application for licensure, impairment assessment, or discipline of a licensee, except as provided in this section. However, any notice or statement of charges against any licensee or applicant, any notice to any licensee or applicant of a hearing in any proceeding, or any decision rendered in connection with a hearing in any proceeding shall be a public record within the meaning of Chapter 132 of the General Statutes, notwithstanding that the documentation may contain information collected and compiled as a result of the investigation, inquiry, or hearing. In making such determination, the Board shall provide the licensee with a copy of the complaint and ask for a response. If providing a copy of the complaint identifies an anonymous complainant or compromises the integrity of an investigation, the Board shall provide the licensee with a summary of all substantial elements of the complaint. Upon written request of a patient, the Board may provide the patient a licensee's written response to a complaint filed by the patient with the Board regarding the patient's care. Upon written request of a complainant, who is not the patient but is authorized by State and federal law to receive protected health information about the patient, the Board may provide the complainant a licensee's written response to a complaint filed with the Board regarding the patient's care.

(b3) The Board shall cooperate with and assist a law enforcement agency or district attorney conducting a criminal investigation or prosecution of a licensee by providing information that is relevant to the criminal investigation or prosecution to the investigating agency or district attorney. Information disclosed by the Board to an investigative agency or district attorney remains confidential and may not be disclosed by the investigating agency except as necessary to further the investigation.

The notice or copies of the information shall not be provided if the information relates to an ongoing criminal investigation by any law enforcement agency or authorized Department of Health and Human Services personnel with enforcement or investigative responsibilities."

SECTION 2. Article 6 of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read:

SENATE BILL 349:
Confidentiality/Investigative Info/Optometry

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 21, 2011
Introduced by:	Sens. Purcell, Pate	Prepared by:	Brad Krehely
Analysis of:	PCS to First Edition S349-CSRN-6		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 349 would allow the North Carolina State Board of Examiners in Optometry to consider certain investigative information as confidential. The Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS) (1) would provide additional complaint procedures, (2) would permit the Board to report information indicating that a crime may have been committed, (3) would require the Board to cooperate with law enforcement or the district attorney conducting an investigation of a licensee, (4) would require licensees to self-report to the Board certain arrests and indictments, and (5) would require the reporting and publication of judgments and settlements against optometrists and applicants for licensure.

CURRENT LAW: The North Carolina State Board of Examiners in Optometry (Board) regulates the practice of optometry. It consists of 5 optometrists that have been in the practice for at least 5 years and two members of the public. The President of the Board and/or secretary-treasurer may issue subpoenas. The Board may also make necessary regulations to carry out its duties. The Board may hear and determine all complaints, allegations, and charges of malpractice made against any licensed optometrist. The Board may refuse to issue or renew a license, revoke or suspend a license, and invoke other disciplinary measures. Before taking action that would affect a licensee, the Board shall grant a hearing.

BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 does all of the following:

- Allows the Board to receive, in closed session, information or evidence on the treatment of a patient who has not expressly or impliedly consented to public disclosure of the treatment when necessary for the protection of the rights of the patient or the accused licensee and to allow full presentation of relevant evidence.
- Specifies that records, papers, "investigative information," and documents gathered as a result of an investigation in connection with a license, complaint, or disciplinary matter are not public records. Provides that these documents are privileged, confidential, and not subject to discovery, subpoena, or other release to any person other than the Board, its employees, or consultants (except as provided in this section).
- Provides that the following are public records:
    - Any notice or statement of charges against any licensee or applicant.
    - Any notice of a hearing to a licensee or applicant.
    - Any decision rendered in connection with a hearing.
    - Records admitted into evidence in a hearing (subject to deletions of identifying information where a patient has not consented to public disclosure of treatment).
- Defines "investigative information" to include:

- Formal or informal complaints received or information relating to the identity of or a report made by another licensee for the Board.
- Transcripts of depositions, affidavits, or statements obtained by Board counsel in preparation for a hearing, but not admitted into evidence.

- Provides that when the Board receives a complaint regarding a licensee's care of a patient, the Board must determine whether there is reasonable cause to believe that a licensee has violated a statute or rule governing optometry. The Board must provide the licensee with a copy of the complaint and ask for a response; a summary can be provided if sending a copy would identify an anonymous complainant or compromise an investigation. If the patient makes a written request, the Board may to provide a patient with the licensee's response to a complaint filed by the patient.
- Allows the Board to report information that a crime may have been committed.
- Requires the Board to assist a law enforcement agency or district attorney conducting a criminal investigation or prosecution of a licensee. The information is confidential except as necessary to further the investigation.
- Requires licensees to self-report any of the following to the Board within 30 days:
  - Any felony arrest or indictment.
  - Any arrest for driving while impaired or driving under the influence.
  - Any arrest or indictment for the possession, use, or sale of any controlled substance.
- Allows the Board, members, attorneys, and staff to release confidential information to any health care licensure board in North Carolina or another state or to authorized Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) personnel with enforcement responsibilities about:
  - Issuance, suspension, or public disciplinary action concerning a license.
  - Voluntary surrender to the Board of a license (by a licensee).
  - Any disciplinary action taken by the Board.
- If confidential information is released to a licensure board or DHHS, the Board must notify the licensee within 60 days after the information is transmitted. A summary of the information must be furnished to the licensee. The licensee must be furnished a copy of all the information transmitted if a licensee makes a request in writing within 30 days after notification (but not if the information is related to an ongoing criminal investigation).

Section 2 requires optometrists licensed or applying for licensure to report the following to the Board:

- All medical malpractice judgments or awards affecting or involving the optometrist.
- Settlements of $75,000 or more related to an incident of alleged medical malpractice affecting or involving the optometrist on or after May 1, 2008.
- Settlements in the aggregate amount of $75,000 or more related to any one incident of alleged medical malpractice affecting or involving the optometrist not already reported where, instead of a single payment of $75,000, there is a series of payments made to the same claimant which, in the aggregate, equal or exceed $75,000. Applies to settlements on or after May 1, 2008.

The report provided to the Board must also include the date of the judgment or settlement, the location where the incident occurred, and the date the incident occurred.

Section 2 also imposes the following requirements on the Board:

- To publish information collected under this section on the Board's Web site or other publication for seven years from the date of the judgment or settlement.
- To not release or publish numeric values of the reported judgment or settlement.
- To not release or publish the identity of the patient associated with the judgment or settlement.
- To allow the optometrist to publish a statement explaining the circumstances that led to the judgment or settlement (with certain restrictions on these statements).

Section 2 does not limit the Board from collecting information needed to administer these provisions.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The act is effective when it becomes law.

Disputed Earnest Money/Attorneys Deposit

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 20, 2011
Introduced by:	Sens. Stein, Vaughan, Newton	Prepared by:	Bill Patterson
Analysis of:	First Edition		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 487 permits attorneys who receive disputed funds while acting as a fiduciary to deposit the money with the Clerk of Superior Court after giving the claimants 90 days notice.

CURRENT LAW: G.S. 93A-12 provides that a licensed real estate broker may deposit disputed earnest money, other than a residential security deposit, with the clerk of court for determination of the rightful owner. The broker must provide notice to the persons claiming ownership that the money is to be deposited and that the person may initiate a special proceeding with the clerk of court to recover the disputed monies. In order to give the parties an opportunity to settle the dispute, the monies may not be deposited until 90 days following notification.

Attorneys who are not also licensed real estate brokers and who receive disputed funds while acting as a fiduciary must either hold the funds until the claimants resolve the issue of ownership, or must institute an action for interpleader and declaratory relief pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 22.[1]

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 487 amends G.S. 93A-12 to allow a North Carolina licensed attorney licensed holding disputed funds received while acting as a fiduciary, other than a residential security deposit, to deposit the funds with the clerk of court after notifying the parties claiming ownership and giving them 90 days to resolve the dispute among themselves.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act is effective when it becomes law.

S487-SMTG-17(e1) v2

[1] Rule 22. Interpleader.

(a) Persons having claims against the plaintiff may be joined as defendants and required to interplead when their claims expose or may expose the plaintiff to double or multiple liability. It is not ground for objection to the joinder that the claims of the several claimants or the titles on which their claims depend do not have a common origin or are not identical but are adverse to and independent of one another, or that the plaintiff avers that he is not liable in whole or in part to any or all of the claimants. A defendant exposed to similar liability may obtain such interpleader by way of crossclaim or counterclaim. The provisions of this rule supplement and do not in any way limit the joinder of parties permitted in Rule 20.

(b) Where funds are subject to competing claims by parties to the action, the court may order the party in possession of the funds either to deposit the funds in an interest bearing account in a bank, savings and loan, or trust company licensed to do business in this State or to deposit the funds with the clerk. If the funds are deposited in a bank, savings and loan, or trust company, the court shall specify the type of interest bearing account to be used. Funds deposited with the clerk shall be invested or deposited as provided in G.S. 7A-112 and G.S. 7A-112.1. Upon determination of the action, the judgment shall provide for disbursement of the principal and interest earned on the funds while so deposited.

In the absence of a transfer to superior court, Article 26 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes shall apply to a trust proceeding pending before the clerk of superior court to the extent consistent with this Article.

(b) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of a person to file an action in the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice for declaratory relief under Article 26 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes. (a) Contested Estate Proceedings. – Contested estate proceedings brought against adverse parties shall be commenced by petition in the existing estate administration file. All parties not joined as petitioners shall be joined as respondents. The clerk of superior court shall issue the estate proceeding summons to the respondents. The clerk of superior court may order that additional persons be joined as respondents and shall issue the estate proceeding summons to the additional persons. The estate proceeding summons shall notify a respondent to appear and answer the petition within 20 days after its service upon the respondents. The estate proceeding summons shall comply with the requirements set forth in G.S. 1-394 for a special proceeding summons except that the summons shall be titled "ESTATE PROCEEDING SUMMONS" and shall be served upon a respondent in accordance with G.S. 1A-1, Rule 4. After the time for responding to the petition or complaint has expired, any party or the clerk of superior court may give notice to all parties of a hearing.

(b) Uncontested Estate Proceedings. – Estate proceedings before the clerk of superior court that are uncontested may be decided without hearing according to practice and procedure provided by law and shall be commenced by the filing of a petition, setting forth the facts entitling the petitioners to relief and the nature of the relief demanded. In these proceedings, the clerk of superior court may hear and decide the petition summarily.

(c) Pleadings. – Any petition, response, or request for hearing in a contested estate proceeding before the clerk of superior court shall contain a short and plain statement of the claim that is sufficiently particular to give the court and the parties notice of the transactions, occurrences, or series of transactions intended to be proved showing that the pleaders are entitled to relief, and a demand for judgment for the relief to which the pleader is entitled. Each averment should be simple, concise, and direct. No technical forms of motions or responses are required. A party may set forth two or more statements of a claim or defense alternatively or hypothetically. The signature of an attorney or party constitutes a certificate by that attorney or party that (i) the attorney or party has read the pleading, motion, or other paper; (ii) to the best of the attorney's or party's knowledge, information, and belief formed after reasonable inquiry, it is well grounded in fact and is warranted by existing law or a good faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law; and (iii) it is not interposed for any improper purpose, such as to harass or to cause unnecessary delay or needless increase in the cost of litigation. All motions, responses, and requests for hearing shall be so construed as to do substantial justice.

(d) Extensions of Time. – The clerk of superior court, for cause shown at any time in the clerk's discretion, with or without motion or notice, may enter an order enlarging the period of time within which an act is required or permitted in an estate proceeding, by any applicable rule of G.S. 1A-1, the Rules of Civil Procedure, or by order of the court, if the request is made before the expiration of the period originally prescribed, but not to exceed 10 days, provided that the court can enlarge the time for a period of more than 10 days for good cause shown, but only to the extent that the court in its discretion determines that justice requires. Upon motion made after the expiration of the specified period, the clerk of superior court may permit the act where the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect. Notwithstanding any other provision of this subsection, the parties to a proceeding may enter into binding stipulations, without approval of the clerk of superior court, enlarging the time within which an act is required or permitted by this Article, by any applicable Rules of Civil Procedure or by order of the court, not to exceed 30 days.

(e) Rules of Civil Procedure. – Unless the clerk of superior court otherwise directs, Rules 4.5, 6(a), 6(d), 6(e), 18, 19, 20, 21, 24, 45, 56, and 65 of G.S. 1A-1, the Rules of Civil Procedure, shall apply to estate proceedings. Upon motion of a party or the clerk of superior court, the clerk may further direct that any or all of the remaining Rules of Civil Procedure shall apply, including, without limitation, discovery rules; however, nothing in Rule 17 requires the appointment of a guardian ad litem for a party represented except as provided in G.S. 28A-2-7. In applying these Rules to an estate proceeding pending before the clerk of superior court, the term "judge" shall mean "clerk of superior court."

(f) Consolidation. – When an estate proceeding pending before the clerk of superior court and a civil action pending before the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice involve a common question of law or fact, upon the court's motion or motion of a party to either the estate proceeding or the civil action, a superior court judge may order a consolidation of the estate proceeding and civil action, and the judge may make orders concerning proceedings therein as may tend to avoid unnecessary costs or delay. Upon the entry of an order consolidating an estate proceeding and civil action, the jurisdiction for all matters pending in both the estate proceeding and the civil action shall be vested in the superior court.

(g) Joinder. – In any civil action pending before the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice, the party asserting a claim for relief as an original claim, counter claim, cross claim, or third-party claim may join, either as independent or alternative claims, as many claims, legal or equitable, as the party may have against the opposing party, notwithstanding the fact that such claims may otherwise be within the exclusive jurisdiction of the clerk of superior court.

(h) Notice of Transfer. – A notice to transfer an estate proceeding brought pursuant to G.S. 28A-2-4(a)(4) must be served within 30 days after the moving party is served with a copy of the pleading requesting relief pursuant to G.S. 28A-2-4(a)(4), or in the case of the clerk of superior court, prior to or at the first hearing duly noticed in such estate proceeding and prior to the presentation of evidence by the parties, including a hearing at which an order of continuance is entered. Failure to timely serve a notice of transfer of a trust proceeding is a waiver of any objection to the clerk of superior court's exercise of jurisdiction over the trust proceeding then pending before the clerk. When a notice of transfer is duly served and filed, the clerk shall transfer the proceeding to the appropriate court. The proceeding after the transfer is subject to the provisions of the General Statutes and to the rules that apply to actions initially filed in the court to which the proceeding was transferred.

(i) Orders Upon Consolidation/Joinder/Transfer. – Upon the consolidation of an estate proceeding in a civil action, joinder of claims under subsection (f) or (g) of this section, or transfer to the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice pursuant to subsection (h) of this section, the clerk of superior court or judge may make appropriate orders to protect the interest of the parties and avoid unnecessary cost or delay. Notwithstanding the consolidation or joinder of claims under subsection (f) or (g) of this section, where the estate proceeding is transferred to the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice under subsection (h) of this section, the clerk of superior court's exclusive jurisdiction as set forth in G. S. 28A-2-4(a)(1) through (3) shall not be stayed unless so ordered by the court.

"§ 28A-2-7. Representation of parties.

(a) Notwithstanding any other applicable rule of the Rules of Civil Procedure or provision of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes, in any contested or uncontested estate proceeding or special proceeding, whether brought before the clerk of superior court or in the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice, the parties shall be represented as provided in Article 3 of Chapter 36C of the General Statutes.

(b) In the case of any party represented by another as provided in subsection (a) of this section, service of process shall be made by serving such representative.

"§ 28A-2-8. Waiver of notice.

A party, or a representative of a party as provided in G.S. 28A-2-7, may waive notice by a writing signed by the party, the representative, or the attorney of the party or the representative and filed in the proceeding.

"§ 28A-2-9. Appeals of estate proceedings and special proceedings.

(a) With the exception of appeals of special proceedings heard by the clerk of superior court, appeals in estate matters shall be as provided in G.S. 1-301.3.

(b) Appeals in special proceedings shall be as provided in G.S. 1-301.2.

(c) Any party may appeal from a decision of the clerk of superior court in an estate proceeding or special proceeding to a superior court judge as provided for in G.S. 1-301.3; provided that the appeals from orders of the clerk of superior court in special proceedings shall be as provided in G.S. 1-301.2.

"§ 28A-2-10. Approval of settlement agreements by the clerk.

The clerk shall have the authority, in the clerk's discretion, to consider and approve settlement agreements where the following apply:

(1) The controversy arises with respect to a matter over which the clerk has jurisdiction.

(2) The controversy arose in good faith.

Nothing herein shall be construed as giving a clerk the authority to approve a settlement agreement modifying the terms of a last will and testament or resolving a caveat of a last will and testament."

years after the death of the testator or devisor or prior to the time of approval of the final account of a duly appointed administrator of the estate of the deceased, whichever time is earlier. If such will is fraudulently suppressed, stolen or destroyed, or has been lost, and an action or proceeding shall be commenced within two years from the death of the testator or devisor to obtain said will or establish the same as provided by law, then the limitation herein set out shall only begin to run from the termination of said action or proceeding, but not otherwise.

Upon the filing of a caveat or raising of an issue of devisavit vel non, the clerk shall transfer the cause to the superior court, and the matter shall be heard as a caveat proceeding.

(c) If no interested party contests the validity of the will, the probate shall be binding, and no interested party who was properly served may file a caveat of the probated will. Initiation of a probate in common form shall not preclude a person from applying for probate in solemn form.

"Article 14.

"Notice to Creditors.

"§ 28A-14-1. Notice for claims.

(a) Every personal representative and collector after the granting of letters shall notify all persons, firms and corporations having claims against the decedent to present the same to such personal representative or collector, on or before a day to be named in such notice, which day must be at least three months from the day of the first publication or posting of such notice. The notice shall set out a mailing address for the personal representative or collector. The notice shall be published once a week for four consecutive weeks in a newspaper qualified to publish legal advertisements, if any such newspaper is published in the county. (b) Prior to filing the proof of notice required by G.S. 28A-14-2, every personal representative and collector shall personally deliver or send by first class mail to the last known address a copy of the notice required by subsection (a) of this section to all persons, firms, and corporations having unsatisfied claims against the decedent who are actually known or can be reasonably ascertained by the personal representative or collector within 75 days after the granting of letters. Provided, however, no notice shall be required to be delivered or mailed with respect to any claim that is recognized as a valid claim by the personal representative or collector.

(c) The personal representative or collector may personally deliver or mail by first class mail a copy of the notice required by subsection (a) of this section to all creditors of the estate whose names and addresses can be ascertained with reasonable diligence. If the personal representative or collector in good faith believes that the notice required by subsection (b) of this section to a particular creditor is or may be required and gives notice based on that belief, the personal representative or collector is not liable to any person for giving the notice, whether or not the notice is actually required by subsection (b) of this section. If the personal representative or collector in good faith fails to give notice required by subsection (b) of this section, the personal representative or collector is not liable to any person for such failure.

"§ 28A-14-1.1. Validation of certain notices.

(a) Any notice to creditors published or posted under G.S. 28A-14-1 which did not, in the advertisement, name the day after which claims could not be presented is validated.

"Article 15.

"Assets; Discovery of Assets.

"§ 28A-15-1. Assets of the estate generally.

(a) All of the real and personal property, both legal and equitable, of a decedent shall be assets available for the discharge of debts and other claims against ~~his~~ the decedent's estate in the absence of a statute expressly excluding any such property. Provided that before real property is selected the personal representative must determine that such selection is in the best interest of the administration of the estate.

(b) In determining what property of the estate shall be sold, leased, pledged, mortgaged or exchanged for the payment of the debts of the decedent and other claims against ~~his~~ the decedent's estate, the personal representative shall select the assets which in ~~his~~ the personal representative's judgment are calculated to promote the best interests of the estate. In the selection of assets for this purpose, there shall be no necessary distinction between real and personal property, absent any contrary provision in the will.

(c) If it shall be determined by the personal representative that it is in the best interest of the administration of the estate to sell, lease, or mortgage any real estate or interest therein to obtain money for the payment of debts and other claims against the decedent's estate, the personal representative shall institute a special proceeding before the clerk of superior court for such purpose pursuant to Article 17 of this Chapter, except that no such proceeding shall be required for a sale made pursuant to authority given by will. A general provision granting authority to the personal representative to sell the testator's real property, or incorporation by reference of the provisions of G.S. 32-27(2) shall be sufficient to eliminate the necessity for a proceeding under Article 17. If a special proceeding has been instituted by the personal representative pursuant to G.S. 28A-13-3(c), the personal representative may petition for sale, lease, or mortgage of any real property as a part of that proceeding and is not required to institute a separate special proceeding.

(d) The crops of every deceased person, remaining ungathered at ~~his~~ the person's death, shall, in all cases, belong to the personal representative or collector, as part of the personal assets of the decedent's estate; and shall not pass to the devisee by virtue of any devise of the land, unless such intent be manifest and specified in the will.

"§ 28A-15-2. Title and possession of property.

(a) Personal Property. – Subsequent to the death of the decedent and prior to the appointment and qualification of the personal representative or collector, the title and the right of possession of personal property of the decedent is vested in ~~his~~ the decedent's heirs; but upon the appointment and qualification of the personal representative or collector, the heirs shall be divested of such title and right of possession which shall be vested in the personal representative or collector relating back to the time of the decedent's death for purposes of administering the estate of the decedent. But, if in the opinion of the personal representative, ~~his~~ the personal representative's possession, custody and control of any item of personal property is not necessary for purposes of administration, such possession, custody and control may be left with or surrendered to the heir or devisee presumptively entitled thereto.

(b) Real Property. – The title to real property of a decedent is vested in ~~his~~ the decedent's heirs as of the time of ~~his~~ the decedent's death; but the title to real property of a decedent devised under a valid probated will becomes vested in the devisees and shall relate back to the decedent's death, subject to the provisions of G.S. 31-39.

"§ 28A-15-3. Nonexoneration of encumbered property.

When real or personal property subject to any lien or security interest, except judgment liens, is specifically devised, the devisee takes the property subject to the encumbrance and without a right to have other assets of the decedent applied to discharge the secured obligation, unless an express provision of the will confers such right of exoneration. A general testamentary direction to pay the debts of the decedent is not sufficient to confer such right.

"§ 28A-15-4. Encumbered assets.

When any assets of the estate are encumbered by mortgage, pledge, lien or other security interest, the personal representative may pay the encumbrance or any part thereof, renew or extend any obligation secured by the encumbrance, or convey or transfer the encumbered assets to the creditor in satisfaction of ~~his~~ the creditor's lien, in whole or in part, whether or not the holder of the encumbrance has filed a claim, if it appears to be for the best interest of the estate; provided that payment of an encumbrance shall not increase the share of the distributee entitled to the encumbered assets unless the distributee is entitled to exoneration by express provisions of the will.

"§ 28A-15-5. Order in which assets appropriated; abatement.

(a) General Rules. – In the absence of testamentary indication as to the order of abatement, or some other controlling statute, shares of devisees and of heirs abate, without any preference or priority as between real and personal property, in the following order:

(1) Property not disposed of by the will;
(2) Residuary devises;
(3) General devises;
(4) Specific devises.

For purposes of abatement, a demonstrative devise of money or property payable out of or charged on a particular fund or other property is treated as a specific devise; but if the particular fund or property out of which the demonstrative devise is to be paid is nonexistent or insufficient at the death of the testator, the deficiency is to be payable out of the general estate of the decedent and is to be regarded as a general devise and must abate pro rata with other general devises. Abatement within each classification is in proportion to the amounts of property each of the beneficiaries would have received, had full distribution of the property been made in accordance with the terms of the will.

(b) Abatement; Sales; Contribution. – When property which has been specifically devised is sold, leased, or mortgaged, or a security therein is created, by the personal representative, abatement shall be achieved by ratable adjustments in, or contributions from other interest in the remaining assets. The clerk of superior court shall, at the time of the hearing on the petition for final distribution, determine the amounts of the respective contributions and whether the same shall be made before distribution or shall constitute a lien on specific property which is distributed.

"§ 28A-15-6. Federal income tax refunds – joint returns.

Upon the determination by the United States Treasury Department of an overpayment of income tax by a married couple filing a joint federal income tax return, one of whom has died since the filing of such return or where a joint federal income tax return is filed on behalf of a husband and wife, one of whom has died prior to the filing of the return, any refund of the tax by reason of such overpayment, if not in excess of five hundred dollars ($500.00), shall be the sole and separate property of the surviving spouse. In the event that both spouses are dead at the time such overpayment is determined, such refund, if not in excess of five hundred dollars ($500.00), shall be the sole and separate property of the estate of the spouse who died last and may be paid directly by the Treasury Department to the executor or administrator of such estate, or to the person entitled to the possession of the assets of a small estate pursuant to the provisions of Article 25 of this Chapter.

"§ 28A-15-7. Federal income tax refunds – separate returns.

Upon the determination by the United States Treasury Department of an overpayment of income tax by any married person filing a separate return, any refund of the tax by reason of such overpayment, if not in excess of two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00), exclusive of interest, shall be the sole and separate property of the surviving spouse, and the United States Treasury Department may pay said sum directly to such surviving spouse, and such payment to the extent thereof shall operate as a complete acquittal and discharge of the United States Treasury Department.

"§ 28A-15-8. State income tax returns.

Upon the determination by the Secretary of Revenue of North Carolina of an overpayment of income tax by any married person, any refund of the tax by reason of such overpayment, if not in excess of two hundred dollars ($200.00) exclusive of interest, shall be the sole and separate property of the surviving spouse, and said Secretary of Revenue may pay said sum directly to such surviving spouse, and such payment to the extent thereof shall operate as a complete acquittal and discharge of the Secretary of Revenue.

"§ 28A-15-9. Excess funds.

If the amount of any refund exceeds the sums specified in G.S. 28A-15-6, 28A-15-7 or 28A-15-8, the sums specified therein and one half of any additional sums shall be the sole and separate property of the surviving spouse. The remaining one half of such additional sums shall be the property of the estate of the decedent spouse.

"§ 28A-15-9.1. Phase II payments.

A Phase II payment as defined in G.S. 28A-21-3.1 shall be the property of the distributees paid in accordance with that section.

"§ 28A-15-10. Assets of decedent's estate for limited purposes.

(a) When needed to satisfy claims against a decedent's estate, assets may be acquired by a personal representative or collector from the following sources:

(1) Tentative trusts created by the decedent in savings accounts for other persons.

(2) Gifts causa mortis made by the decedent.

(3) Joint deposit accounts with right of survivorship created by decedent pursuant to the provisions of G.S. 41-2.1 or otherwise; and joint tenancies with right of survivorship created by decedent in corporate stocks or other investment securities.

(4) An interest in a security passing to a beneficiary pursuant to the provisions of Article 4 of Chapter 41 of the General Statutes.

Such assets shall be acquired solely for the purpose of satisfying such claims, however, and shall not be available for distribution to heirs or devisees.

(b) Where there are not sufficient personal and real assets of the decedent to satisfy all the debts and other claims against ~~his~~ the decedent's estate, the personal representative shall have the right to sue for and recover any and all personal property or real property, or interest therein, which the decedent may in any manner have transferred or conveyed with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud ~~his~~ the decedent's creditors, and any personal property or real property, or interest therein, so recovered shall constitute assets of the estate in the hands of the personal representative for the payment of debts and other claims against the estate of the decedent. But if the alienee has sold the personal property or real property, or interest therein, so fraudulently acquired by ~~him~~ the alienee from the decedent to a bona fide purchaser for value without notice of the fraud, then such personal property or real property, or interest therein, may not be recovered from such bona fide purchaser but the fraudulent alienee shall be liable to the personal representative for the value of the personal property or real property, or interest therein, so acquired and disposed of to a bona fide purchaser. If the whole recovery from the fraudulent alienee shall not be necessary for the payment of the debts and other claims against the estate of the decedent, the surplus shall be returned to such fraudulent alienee or ~~his~~ the fraudulent alienee's assigns.

(c) Where there has been a recovery in an action for wrongful death, the same shall not be applied to the payment of debts and other claims against the estate of decedent or devises, except as to the payment of reasonable burial and funeral expenses and reasonable hospital and medical expenses incident to the injury resulting in death and as limited and provided in G.S. 28-18-2 [G.S. 28A-18-2].

"§ 28A-15-11. Debt due from personal representative not discharged by appointment.

The appointment of any person as personal representative does not discharge any debt or demand due from such person to the decedent.

"§ 28A-15-12. ~~Examination of persons or corporations believed to have possession of~~ Actions to recover property of decedent.

(a) ~~Whenever a personal representative or collector makes oath or affirmation before the clerk of superior court of the county where the party to be examined resides or does business that he has reasonable ground to believe, setting forth the grounds of his belief, that any person, firm or corporation has in his or its possession any property of any kind belonging to the estate of his decedent, the clerk shall issue a notice to be served upon the person or any member of the firm or officer, agent or employee of the firm or corporation designated in the affidavit, to appear before the clerk at his office at a time fixed in the notice, not less than three days after the issuance of the notice, and be examined under oath by the personal representative or collector or his attorney concerning the possession of such property. (1) The decedent's surviving spouse is the beneficiary of the bequest or trust transfer described in subsection (a) of this section or of the residue of the estate or trust; or

(2) Any "skip person", as that term is defined in Chapter 13 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, is or may be a current or future beneficiary of the bequest or trust transfer described in subsection (a) of this section or of the residue of the estate or trust, and the value of the decedent's gross estate for federal tax purposes exceeds the value of the decedent's unused generation-skipping tax exemption available under Chapter 13 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

"§ 28A-22-6. Agreements with taxing authorities to secure benefit of federal marital deduction.

The executor, trustee, or other fiduciary having discretionary powers under a will or trust indenture with respect to the selection of assets to be distributed in satisfaction of a bequest or transfer in trust to or for the benefit of the surviving spouse of a decedent shall be authorized to enter into agreements with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue of the United States of America, and other taxing authorities, requiring the fiduciary to exercise the fiduciary's discretion so that cash and other properties distributed in satisfaction of such bequest or transfer in trust will be fairly representative of the net appreciation or depreciation in value on the date, or dates, of distribution of all property then available for distribution in satisfaction of such bequest or transfer in trust. Any such fiduciary shall be authorized to enter into any other agreement not in conflict with the express terms of the will or trust indenture that may be necessary or advisable in order to secure for federal estate tax purposes the appropriate marital deduction available under the Internal Revenue Laws of the United States of America and to do and perform all acts incident to such purpose.

"§ 28A-22-7. Distribution to parent or guardian of a minor.

(a) If a devise or legacy of personal property to a person under the age of 18 has a total value of less than one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500), and the devisee or legatee is residing in the same household with a parent or a guardian appointed prior to the decedent's death, the personal representative may distribute to the parent or guardian the devise or legacy. However, such distribution shall only be made with the prior approval of the clerk of court who issued the letters testamentary or of administration.

(b) If such distribution has been made the parent or guardian shall use the property solely for the education, maintenance and support of the devisee or legatee. However, the parent or guardian shall not be required to file an accounting with the clerk of court or to the personal representative, nor shall such distribution be cause for a delay in the filing of the personal representative's final account under the provisions of Article 21 of this Chapter.

(c) This section establishes a procedure that is separate from the provisions of G.S. 33-69.1 and it is not the intention of this section to repeal in whole or in part the provisions of G.S. 33-69.1.

(d) This section may also be applied to several devises or legacies of personal property to a single devisee or legatee having a combined total value of less than one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500).

"§ 28A-22-8. Executor or trustee; discretion over distributions.

Unless otherwise restricted by the terms of the will or trust, an executor or trustee shall have absolute discretion to make distributions in cash or in specific property, real or personal, or an undivided interest therein or partly in cash or partly in such property, and to do so without regard to the income tax basis for federal tax purposes of specific property allocated to any beneficiary.

"§ 28A-22-9. Distribution to known but unlocated devisees or heirs.

(a) If there are known but unlocated devisees or heirs of property held by the personal representative, the personal representative may deliver the share of such devisee or heir to the clerk of superior court immediately prior to filing of the final account. If the devisee or heir is located after the final account has been filed, ~~he~~ the devisee or heir may present a claim for the share to the clerk. If the clerk determines that the claimant is entitled to the share, ~~he~~ the clerk shall deliver the share to the devisee or claimant. If the clerk denies the claim, the claimant may take an appeal as in a special proceeding.

(b) The clerk shall hold the share without liability for profit or interest. If no claim has been presented within a period of one year after the filing of the final account, the clerk shall deliver the share to the State Treasurer as abandoned property.

(c) The clerk shall not be required to publish any notice to such devisee or heir and shall not be required to report such share to the State Treasurer. If the devisee or heir is located, the clerk shall inform the devisee or heir that ~~he~~ the devisee or heir is entitled to file a claim with the State Treasurer for the share under the provisions of G.S. 116B-67.

"§ 28A-22-10. Distribution of assets of inoperative trust.

When the facts at the time of distribution of property to a trust are such that the trust would be inoperative under the terms of the instrument creating the trust for any reason, including the death of a beneficiary, renunciation by a beneficiary, the exercise of a right to withdraw the property by a beneficiary, or the attainment of a stipulated age by a beneficiary, the personal representative or the trustee authorized or required to make the distribution of that property to the trust may distribute the property directly to the person or persons entitled to it under the terms of the instrument creating the trust without the interposition of the establishment of the trust. If only a portion of the trust would be inoperative, the property distributable to that portion of the trust may be distributed directly to the person or persons entitled to the property under the terms of the instrument creating the trust.

"§ 28A-22-11. Agreements with heirs.

Any agreement by an heir, unknown or known but unlocated, the primary purpose of which is to locate or recover, or assist in the recovery of, a share in a decedent's estate shall be subject to the provisions of G.S. 116B-78.

"Article 23.

"Settlement.

"§ 28A-23-1. Settlement after final account filed.

When the personal representative or collector has paid or otherwise satisfied or provided for all claims against the estate, has distributed the remainder of the estate pursuant to G.S. 28A-22-1 and has filed ~~his~~ the personal representative's or collector's final account for settlement pursuant to G.S. 28A-21-2, if the clerk of superior court, after review of the personal representative's or collector's final account, approves the same, ~~he~~ the clerk of superior court shall enter an order discharging the personal representative or collector from further ~~liability.~~ duties and liabilities as personal representative or collector, including those set forth in Article 13 of this Chapter. However, that such an order shall not include a release or discharge of liability for any breach of duty set forth in G.S. 28A-13-10(c).

"§ 28A-23-2. Payment into court of fund due minor.

When any personal representative or collector holds property due a minor without a guardian and desires to file ~~his~~ the personal representative's or collector's petition for settlement, ~~he~~ the personal representative or collector may deliver the property to the clerk of superior court who shall invest upon interest or otherwise manage said property for the use of the minor or the clerk may proceed to appoint a guardian for the minor pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 35A of the General Statutes and then may deliver the property of the minor to the guardian.

"§ 28A-23-3. Commissions allowed personal representatives; representatives guilty of misconduct or default.

(a) Personal representatives, collectors or public administrators shall be entitled to commissions to be fixed in the discretion of the clerk of superior court not to exceed five percent (5%) upon the amounts of receipts, including the value of all personal property when received, and upon the expenditures made in accordance with law. In determining the maximum commissions allowable under this subsection, the clerk of superior court may take into consideration fees paid by the estate for professional services performed in the ordinary course of administering the estate, including services performed by attorneys and accountants. However, the clerk is not required to reduce the maximum commissions allowed by the aggregate fees paid to professionals on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

The commissions shall be charged as a part of the costs of administration and, upon allowance, may be retained out of the assets of the estate against creditors and all other persons claiming an interest in the estate. If the gross value of an estate is two thousand dollars ($2,000) or less, the clerk of superior court may fix the commission to be received by the personal representative, collector or public administrator in an amount the clerk of superior court, in the clerk's discretion, deems just and adequate.

(b) In determining the amount of the commissions, both upon personal property received and upon expenditures made, the clerk of superior court shall consider the time, responsibility, trouble and skill involved in the management of the estate. Where real property is sold to pay debts or legacies, the commission shall be computed only on the proceeds actually applied in the payment of debts or legacies.

(c) The clerk of superior court may allow commissions from time to time during the course of the administration, but the total commissions allowed shall be determined on final settlement of the estate and shall not exceed the limit fixed in this section.

(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed to:

(1) Prevent the clerk of ~~the~~ superior court from allowing reasonable sums for necessary charges and disbursements incurred in the management of the estate.

(2) Allow commissions on distribution of the shares of heirs or on distribution of shares of devisees.

(3) Abridge the right of any party interested in the administration of a decedent's estate to appeal an order of the clerk of superior court to a judge of superior court.

(e) No personal representative, collector or public administrator, who has been guilty of default or misconduct in the due execution of ~~his or her~~ the personal representative's, collector's, or public administrator's office resulting in the revocation of ~~his or her~~ the appointment of the personal representative, collector, or public administrator under the provisions of G.S. 28A-9-1, shall be entitled to any commission under the provisions of this section.

(f) For the purpose of computing commissions whenever any portion of the dividends, interest, rents or other amounts payable to a personal representative, collector or public administrator is required by any law of the United States or other governmental unit to be withheld for income tax purposes by the person, corporation, organization or governmental unit paying the same, the amount withheld shall be deemed to have been received and expended.

(g) Subsection (a) of this section does not apply if the testator's will specifies a stipulated amount or method or standard for determining the compensation for the services rendered by the personal representative, including a provision in the will that the compensation of the personal representative is to be determined by applying the personal representative's regularly adopted schedule of compensation in effect at the time of performance of those services. Subsection (a) of this section also shall not apply if the testator's will provides that the personal representative is to receive "reasonable compensation" for those services or similar language to that effect if the personal representative and the beneficiaries whose shares would be charged with the payment of the personal representative's compensation consent in writing to the specific amount that constitutes reasonable compensation.

(h) Subsection (a) of this section shall apply if the testator's will provides that compensation of the personal representative shall be the amount "as provided by law," the "maximum amount provided by law," or other similar language.

"§ 28A-23-4. Counsel fees allowable to attorneys serving as representatives.

The clerk of superior court, in ~~his discretion,~~ the discretion of the clerk of superior court, is authorized and empowered to allow counsel fees to an attorney serving as a personal representative, collector or public administrator (in addition to the commissions allowed ~~him~~ the attorney as such representative, collector or public administrator) where such attorney in behalf of the estate ~~he~~ the attorney represents renders professional services, as an attorney, which are beyond the ordinary routine of administration and of a type which would reasonably justify the retention of legal counsel by any such representative, collector or public administrator not ~~himself~~ licensed to practice law.

"§ 28A-23-5. Reopening administration.

If, after an estate has been settled and the personal representative discharged, other property of the estate shall be discovered, or if it shall appear that any necessary act remains unperformed on the part of the personal representative, or for any other proper cause, the clerk of superior court, upon the petition of any person interested in the estate and without notice or upon such notice as ~~he~~ the clerk of superior court may direct, may order that said estate be reopened. ~~He~~ The clerk of superior court may reappoint the personal representative or appoint another personal representative to administer such property or perform such acts as may be deemed necessary. Unless the clerk of superior court shall otherwise order, the provisions of this Chapter as to an original administration shall apply to the proceedings had in the reopened administration; but no claim which is already barred can be asserted in the reopened administration.

"Article 24.

"120-Hour Survivorship Requirement; Revised Simultaneous Death Act.

"§ 28A-24-1. Definitions.

In this Article:

(1) "Co-owners with right of survivorship" includes joint tenants in a joint tenancy with right of survivorship, tenants by the entireties, and other co-owners of property or accounts held under circumstances that entitle one or more to the whole of the property or account on the death of the other or others.

(2) "Governing instrument" means a deed, will, trust, insurance or annuity policy, account with a POD designation, pension, profit sharing, retirement, or similar benefit plan, instrument creating or exercising a power of appointment or a power of attorney, or a dispositive, appointive, or nominative instrument of any similar type.

(3) "Payor" means a trustee, insurer, business entity, employer, government, governmental agency or subdivision, or any other person authorized or obligated by law or a governing instrument to make payments.

"§ 28A-24-2. Requirement of survival by 120 hours.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this Article, where the title to property, the devolution of property, the right to elect an interest in property, or any other right or benefit depends upon an individual's survivorship of the death of another individual, an individual who is not established by clear and convincing evidence to have survived the other individual by at least 120 hours is deemed to have predeceased the other individual.

(b) If the language of the governing instrument disposes of property in such a way that two or more beneficiaries are designated to take alternatively by reason of surviving each other and it is not established by clear and convincing evidence that any such beneficiary has survived any other such beneficiary by at least 120 hours, the property shall be divided into as many equal shares as there are alternative beneficiaries, and these shares shall be distributed respectively to each such beneficiary's estate.

(c) If the language of the governing instrument disposes of property in such a way that it is to be distributed to the member or members of a class who survived an individual, each member of the class will be deemed to have survived that individual by at least 120 hours unless it is established by clear and convincing evidence that the individual survived the class member or members by at least 120 hours.

"§ 28A-24-3. Co-owners with right of survivorship; requirement of survival by 120 hours.

Except as otherwise provided in this Article, (i) if it is not established by clear and convincing evidence that one of two co-owners with right of survivorship survived the other co-owner by at least 120 hours, one-half of the property passes as if one had survived by at least 120 hours and one-half as if the other had survived by at least 120 hours and (ii) if there are more than two co-owners with right of survivorship and it is not established by clear and convincing evidence that at least one of them survived the others by at least 120 hours, the property passes to the estates of each of the co-owners in the proportion that one bears to the whole number of co-owners.

"§ 28A-24-4. Survival of an event; 120-hour period not applicable.

For purposes of a governing instrument that requires survival of an event, other than the death of another individual, the 120-hour survivorship requirement of this Article does not apply.

"§ 28A-24-5. Victim deemed to survive slayer.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Article, solely for the purpose of determining whether the victim is entitled to any right or benefit that depends on surviving the death of a slayer under G.S. 31A-3, the slayer is deemed to have predeceased the victim and the victim is deemed to have survived the slayer by at least 120 hours (or any greater survival period required of the victim under the slayer's will or other governing instrument) unless it is established by clear and convincing evidence that the slayer survived the victim by at least 120 hours.

"§ 28A-24-6. Exceptions to the 120-hour survival requirement.

Survival by 120 hours is not required if any of the following apply:

(1) The governing instrument contains language dealing explicitly with simultaneous deaths or deaths in a common disaster and the language is operable under the facts of the case.

(2) The governing instrument expressly indicates that an individual is not required to survive the death of another individual by any specified period or expressly requires the individual to survive another individual for a specified period; but survival must be established by clear and convincing evidence.

(3) The imposition of a 120-hour requirement of survival would cause a nonvested property interest or a power of appointment to fail to qualify for validity under G.S. 41-15; but survival must be established by clear and convincing evidence.

(4) The application of a 120-hour requirement of survival to multiple governing instruments would result in an unintended failure or duplication of a disposition; but survival must be established by clear and convincing evidence.

(5) The application of a 120-hour requirement of survival would deprive an individual or the estate of an individual of an otherwise available tax exemption, deduction or credit, expressly including the marital deduction, resulting in the imposition of a tax upon a donor or testator or other person (or their estate) as the transferor of any property. "Tax" includes any federal or State gift, estate or inheritance tax.

(6) The application of a 120-hour requirement of survival would result in an escheat.

"§ 28A-24-7. Evidence of death or status.

For purposes of this Article, the following rules of evidence apply relating to the determination of death and status of a beneficiary subject to a requirement of survivorship and of the person the beneficiary must survive:

(1) Death occurs when an individual is determined to be dead pursuant to G.S. 90-323 or Chapter 28C of the General Statutes.

(2) A certified or authenticated copy of a death certificate purporting to be issued by an official or agency in the place where the death purportedly occurred is prima facie evidence of the fact, place, date, and time of death and the identity of the decedent. In the absence of evidence disputing the death certificate, that certificate shall be conclusive evidence of the fact, place, date, and time of death and the identity of the decedent.

(3) A certified or authenticated copy of any record or report of a governmental agency, domestic or foreign, that an individual is missing, detained, dead, or alive is prima facie evidence of the status and of the dates, circumstances, and places disclosed by the record or report. The record or report is conclusive evidence of the status and of the dates, circumstances, and places disclosed by the record or report unless there is evidence to the contrary.

(4) In the absence of prima facie evidence of death under subdivision (2) or (3) of this section, the fact of death may be established by clear and convincing evidence, including circumstantial evidence.

"§ 28A-24-8. Protection of payors, bona fide purchasers, and other third parties; personal liability of recipient.

(a) A payor or other third party is not liable for having made a payment or transferred an item of property or any other benefit to a person designated in a governing instrument who, under this Article, is not entitled to the payment or item of property, or for having taken any other action in good faith reliance on the person's apparent entitlement under the terms of the governing instrument, before the payor or other third party received written notice of a claimed lack of entitlement under this Article. A payor or other third party is liable for a payment made or other action taken after the payor or other third party received written notice of a claimed lack of entitlement under this Article.

Written notice of a claimed lack of entitlement under this Article must be mailed to the payor's or other third party's main office or home by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, or served upon the payor or other third party in the same manner as a summons in a civil action. Upon receipt of written notice of a claimed lack of entitlement under this Article, a payor or other third party may pay any amount owed or transfer or deposit any item of property other than tangible personal property held by it to or with the clerk of the superior court having jurisdiction of the probate proceedings relating to the decedent's estate, or if no proceedings have been commenced, to or with the clerk of the superior court having jurisdiction of probate proceedings relating to decedents' estates located in the county of the decedent's residence. The clerk shall hold the funds or item of property and, upon the clerk's determination under this Article, shall order disbursement in accordance with the determination. Payments, transfers, or deposits made to or with the clerk discharge the payor or other third party from all claims for the value of amounts paid to or items of property transferred to or deposited with the clerk.

(b) A person who purchases property for value and without notice, or who received a payment or other item of property in partial or full satisfaction of a legally enforceable obligation, is neither obligated under this Article to return the payment, item of property, or benefit, nor liable under this Article for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit. But a person who, not for value, receives a payment, item of property, or any other benefit to which the person is not entitled under this Article is obligated to return the payment, item of property, or benefit, or is personally liable for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit, to the person who is entitled to it under this Article.

The person paying, delivering, transferring or issuing personal property or the evidence thereof pursuant to an affidavit meeting the requirements of G.S. 28A-25-1(a) or G.S. 28A-25-1.1(a) is discharged and released to the same extent as if ~~he~~ the person dealt with

If any person to whom an affidavit is delivered refuses to pay, deliver, transfer, or issue any personal property or evidence thereof, it may be recovered or its payment, delivery, transfer, or issuance compelled upon proof of their right in an action brought for that purpose by or on behalf of the persons entitled thereto. The court costs and attorney's fee incident to the action shall be taxed against the person whose refusal to comply with the provisions of G.S. 28A-25-1(a) or G.S. 28A-25-1.1(a) made the action necessary. "§ 28A-25-3. Disbursement and distribution of property collected by affidavit.

(a) If there has been no personal representative or collector appointed by the clerk of superior court, the affiant who has collected personal property of the decedent by affidavit pursuant to G.S. 28A-25-1 or G.S. 28A-25-1.1 shall:

Upon determining that the affiant has good reason not to file the final affidavit within 90 days, the clerk may extend the time for filing up to one year from the date of filing the qualifying affidavit.

(b) Nothing in this section shall be construed as changing the rule of G.S. 28A-15-1 and G.S. 28A-15-5 rendering both real and personal property, without preference or priority, available for the discharge of debts and other claims against the estate of the decedent. If it appears that it may be in the best interest of the estate to sell, lease, or mortgage any real property to obtain money for the payment of debts or other claims against the decedent's estate, the affiant shall petition the clerk of superior court for the appointment of a personal representative to conclude the administration of the decedent's estate pursuant to G.S. 28A-25-5.

"§ 28A-25-4. Clerk may compel compliance.

If any affiant who has collected personal property of the decedent by affidavit pursuant to G.S. 28A-25-1 or G.S. 28A-25-1.1 shall fail to make distribution or file affidavit as required by G.S. 28A-25-3, the clerk of superior court may, upon ~~his own~~ motion of the clerk of superior court or at the request of any interested person, issue an attachment against ~~him~~ the affiant for a contempt and commit ~~him~~ the affiant until ~~he~~ the affiant makes proper distribution and files the affidavit. In addition to or in lieu of filing this attachment, the clerk may require the affiant to post a bond conditioned as provided in G.S. 28A-8-2.

"§ 28A-25-5. Subsequently appointed personal representative or collector.

Nothing in this Article shall preclude any interested person, including the affiant, from petitioning the clerk of superior court for the appointment of a personal representative or collector to conclude the administration of the decedent's estate. If such is done, the affiant who has been collecting personal property by affidavit shall cease to do so, shall deliver all assets in ~~his~~ the affiant's possession to the personal representative, and shall render a proper accounting to the personal representative or collector. A copy of the accounting shall also be filed with the clerk having jurisdiction over the personal representative or collector.

"§ 28A-25-6. Payment to clerk of money owed decedent.

(a) As an alternative to the small estate settlement procedures of this Article, any person indebted to a decedent may satisfy such indebtedness by paying the amount of the debt to the clerk of the superior court of the county of the domicile of the decedent:

(1) If no administrator has been appointed, and

(2) If the amount owed by such person does not exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000), and

(3) If the sum tendered to the clerk would not make the aggregate sum which has come into the clerk's hands belonging to the decedent exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000).

(b) Such payments may not be made to the clerk if the total amount paid or tendered with respect to any one decedent would exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000), even though disbursements have been made so that the aggregate amount in the clerk's hands at any one time would not exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000).

(c) If the sum tendered pursuant to this section would make the aggregate sum coming into the clerk's hands with respect to any one decedent exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000) the clerk shall appoint an administrator, or the sum may be administered under the preceding sections of this Article.

(d) If it appears to the clerk after making a preliminary survey that disbursements pursuant to this section would not exhaust funds received pursuant to this section, ~~he~~ the clerk may, in ~~his~~ the clerk's discretion, appoint an administrator, or the funds may be administered under the preceding sections of this Article.

(e) The receipt from the clerk of the superior court of a payment purporting to be made pursuant to this section is a full release to the debtor for the payment so made.

(f) If no administrator has been appointed, the clerk of superior court shall disburse the money received under this section for the following purposes and in the following order:

(1) To pay the surviving spouse's year's allowance and children's year's allowance assigned in accordance with law;

(2), (3) Repealed by Session Laws 1981, c. 383, s. 3.

(4) All other claims shall be disbursed according to the order set out in G.S. 28A-19-6.

Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this subsection, the clerk shall pay, out of funds provided the deceased pursuant to G.S. 111-18 and Part 3 of Article 2 of Chapter 108A of the General Statutes of North Carolina, any lawful claims for care provided by an adult care home to the deceased, incurred not more than 90 days prior to ~~his~~ the deceased's death. After the death of a spouse who died intestate and after the disbursements have been made in accordance with this subsection, the balance in the clerk's hands belonging to the estate of the decedent shall be paid to the surviving spouse, and if there is no surviving spouse, the clerk shall pay it to the heirs in proportion to their respective interests.

(g) The clerk shall not be required to publish notice to creditors.

(h) Whenever an administrator is appointed after a clerk of superior court has received any money pursuant to this section, the clerk shall pay to the administrator all funds which have not been disbursed. The clerk shall receive no commissions for payments made to the administrator, and the administrator shall receive no commissions for receiving such payments.

"Article 26.

"Foreign Personal Representatives and Ancillary Administration.

"§ 28A-26-1. Domiciliary and ancillary probate and administration.

The domiciliary, or original, administration of the estates of all decedents domiciled in North Carolina at the time of death shall be under the jurisdiction of this State and of a proper clerk of superior court in this State, and the original probate of all wills of such persons shall be in this State. Any administration of the estate and any probate of a will of such decedents outside North Carolina shall be ancillary only. All assets, except real estate (but including proceeds from the sale of real estate), subject to ancillary administration in a jurisdiction outside North Carolina shall, to the extent such assets are not necessary for the requirements of such ancillary administration, be transferred and delivered by the ancillary personal representative to the duly qualified personal representative in this State for administration and distribution by the domiciliary personal representative, and the domiciliary personal representative in this State shall have the duty of collecting all such assets from the ancillary personal representative. The receipt of the domiciliary personal representative shall fully acquit the ancillary personal representative with respect to the assets covered thereby. The domiciliary personal representative in North Carolina shall have the exclusive right and duty to pay all federal and North Carolina taxes owed by the estate of such decedent and to make proper distribution of all assets including those collected from the ancillary personal representative.

"§ 28A-26-2. Payment of debt and delivery of property to domiciliary personal representative of a nonresident decedent without ancillary administration in this State.

(a) At any time after the expiration of 60 days from the death of a nonresident decedent, any resident of this State indebted to the estate of the nonresident decedent or having possession or control of personal property, or of an instrument evidencing a debt, obligation, stock or chose in action belonging to the estate of the nonresident decedent may pay the debt or deliver the personal property, or the instrument evidencing the debt, obligation, stock or chose in action, to the domiciliary personal representative of the nonresident decedent upon being presented with a certified or exemplified copy of ~~his~~ the domiciliary personal representative's letters of appointment and an affidavit made by or on behalf of the domiciliary personal representative stating:

(1) The date of the death of the nonresident decedent;

(2) That to the best of ~~his~~ the domiciliary personal representative's knowledge no administration, or application or petition therefor, is pending in this State;

(3) That the domiciliary personal representative is entitled to payment or delivery.

(b) Payment or delivery made in good faith on the basis of the proof of appointment as domiciliary personal representative of a nonresident decedent and an affidavit meeting the requirements of subsection (a) constitutes a release to the same extent as if payment or delivery had been made to an ancillary personal representative.

(c) Payment or delivery under this section shall not be made if a resident creditor of the nonresident decedent has, by registered or certified mail, notified the resident debtor of the nonresident decedent or the resident having possession of the personal property belonging to the nonresident decedent that the debt should not be paid nor the property delivered to the domiciliary personal representative of the nonresident decedent. If no ancillary administrator qualifies within 90 days from the date of the notice, however, the resident debtor may pay the debt or deliver the property directly to the nonresident domiciliary personal representative as set forth in subsection (a) of this section.

"§ 28A-26-3. Ancillary administration.

(a) Any domiciliary personal representative of a nonresident decedent upon the filing of a certified or exemplified copy of letters of appointment with the clerk of superior court who has venue under G.S. 28A-3-1 may be granted ancillary letters in this State notwithstanding that the domiciliary personal representative is a nonresident of this State or is a foreign corporation. If the domiciliary personal representative is a foreign corporation, it need not qualify under any other law of this State to authorize it to act as ancillary personal representative in the particular estate. If application is made for the issuance of ancillary letters to the domiciliary personal representative, the clerk of superior court shall give preference in appointment to the domiciliary personal representative unless the decedent shall have otherwise directed in a will.

(b) If, within 90 days after the death of the nonresident, or within 60 days after issue of domiciliary letters, should that be a shorter period, no application for ancillary letters has been made by a domiciliary personal representative, any person who could apply for issue of letters had the decedent been a resident may apply for issue of ancillary letters.

If it is known that there is a duly qualified domiciliary personal representative, the clerk of superior court shall send notice of such application, by registered mail, to that personal representative and to the appointing court. Such notice shall include a statement that, within 14 days after its mailing, the domiciliary personal representative may apply for the issue of ancillary letters with the preference specified in subsection (a) of this section; and that ~~his~~ failure of the domiciliary personal representative to do so will be deemed a waiver, with the result that letters will be issued to another. Upon such failure, the clerk of superior court may issue ancillary letters in accordance with the provisions of Article 4 of this Chapter.

If the applicant and the clerk of superior court have no knowledge of the existence of a domiciliary personal representative, the clerk of superior court may proceed to issue ancillary letters. Subsequently, upon it becoming known that a domiciliary personal representative has been appointed, whether such appointment occurred before or after the issue of ancillary letters, the clerk of superior court shall notify the domiciliary personal representative, by registered mail, of the action taken by the clerk of superior court and the state of the ancillary administration. Such notice shall include a statement that at any time prior to approval of the ancillary personal representative's final account the domiciliary personal representative may appear in the proceedings for any purpose ~~he~~ the domiciliary personal representative may deem advisable; and that ~~he~~ the domiciliary personal representative may apply to be substituted as ancillary personal representative, but that such request will not be granted unless the clerk of superior court finds that such action will be for the best interests of North Carolina administration of the estate.

"§ 28A-26-4. Bonds.

(a) Subject to the exception in subsection (b), any personal representative, including a domiciliary personal representative, who is granted ancillary letters of administration in this State must satisfy the bond requirements prescribed in Article 8 of this Chapter.

(b) Where a citizen or subject of a foreign country, or of any other state or territory of the United States, by will sufficient according to the laws of this State, and duly probated and recorded in the proper county, devises to ~~his~~ that person's executor, with power to sell and convey, real property situated in this State in trust for a person named in the will, the power being vested in the executor as such trustee, the executor may execute the power without giving bond in this State.

"§ 28A-26-5. Authority of domiciliary personal representative of a nonresident decedent.

The domiciliary personal representative of the nonresident decedent after qualifying as ancillary personal representative in this State is authorized to administer the North Carolina estate of the nonresident decedent in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter.

"§ 28A-26-6. Jurisdiction.

(a) A domiciliary personal representative of a nonresident decedent may invoke the jurisdiction of the courts of this State after qualifying as ancillary personal representative in this State except that ~~he~~ the domiciliary personal representative may invoke such jurisdiction prior to qualification for the purpose of appealing from a decision of the clerk of superior court regarding a question of qualification.

(b) A domiciliary personal representative of a nonresident decedent submits to the jurisdiction of the courts of this State:

(1) As provided in G.S. 1-75.4, or

(2) By receiving payment of money or taking delivery of personal property under G.S. 28A-26-2; or

(3) By acceptance of ancillary letters of administration in this State under G.S. 28A-26-3; or

(4) By doing any act as personal representative in this State which if done as an individual would have given the State jurisdiction over ~~him~~ the personal representative as an individual.

"§ 28A-26-7. Service on personal representative of a nonresident decedent.

A court of this State having jurisdiction of the subject matter and grounds for personal jurisdiction as provided in G.S. 28A-26-6 may exercise personal jurisdiction over a defendant by service of process in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 1A-1, Rule 4(j).

"§ 28A-26-8. Duties of personal representative in an ancillary administration.

(a) All assets of estates of nonresident decedents being administered in this State are subject to all claims, allowances and charges existing or established against the estate of the decedent wherever existing or established.

(b) An adjudication of a claim rendered in any jurisdiction in favor of or against any personal representative of the estate of a nonresident decedent is binding on the ancillary personal representative in this State and on all parties to the litigation.

(c) Limitations on presentation of claims shall be governed by the provisions of this Chapter except that creditors residing in the domiciliary state barred by the statutes of that state may not file claims in an ancillary administration in this State.

(d) In the payment of claims by the ancillary administrator, the following rules shall apply:

(1) If the value of the entire estate, wherever administered, equals or exceeds family exemptions and allowances, prior charges and claims against the entire estate, the claims allowed in this State shall be paid in full from assets in this State, if such assets are sufficient for the purpose.

(2) If such total exemptions, allowances, charges and claims exceed the value of the entire estate, the claims allowed in this State shall be paid their proper percentage pro rata by class, if assets in this State are sufficient for the purpose.

(3) If assets in this State are inadequate for either of the purposes stated in subdivisions (1) or (2) above, the claims allowed in this State shall be paid, pro rata by class, to the extent the local assets will permit.

(4) If the value of the entire estate, wherever administered, is insufficient to pay all exemptions and allowances, prior charges and claims against the entire estate, the priority for order of payment established by the law of the domicile will prevail.

"§ 28A-26-9. Remission of surplus assets by ancillary personal representative to domiciliary personal representative.

Unless a testator in a will otherwise directs, any assets (including proceeds from the sale of real estate) remaining after payment of claims against the estate of a nonresident decedent being administered by an ancillary personal representative other than the domiciliary personal representative shall be transferred and delivered to the domiciliary personal representative or, if none, to the court in the domicile of the decedent which has jurisdiction to administer the estate.

"Article 27.

"Apportionment of Federal Estate Tax.

"§ 28A-27-1. Definitions.

For the purposes of this Article:

(1) "Estate" means the gross estate of a decedent as determined for the purpose of the federal estate tax.

(2) "Fiduciary" includes a personal representative and a trustee.

(3) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, joint stock company, corporation, governmental agency, including any multiples or combinations of the foregoing as, for example, individuals as joint tenants.

(4) "Person interested in the estate" means any person, including a personal representative, guardian, or trustee, entitled to receive, or who has received, from a decedent while alive or by reason of the death of a decedent any property or interest therein included in the decedent's taxable estate.

(5) "State" means any state, territory, or possession of the United States, the District of Columbia, or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

(6) "Tax" means the net Federal Estate Tax due, after application of any available unified transfer tax credit, and interest and penalties imposed in addition to the tax.

"§ 28A-27-2. Apportionment.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (b) of this section, or in G.S. 28A-27-5, G.S. 28A-27-6, or G.S. 28A-27-8, the tax shall be apportioned among all persons interested in the estate in the proportion that the value of the interest of each person interested in the estate bears to the total value of the interests of all persons interested in the estate. The values as finally determined for federal estate tax purposes shall be used for the purposes of this computation.

(b) In the event the decedent's will provides a method of apportionment of the tax different from the method provided in subsection (a) above, the method described in the will shall control. However, in the case of any will executed on or after October 1, 1986, a general direction in the will that taxes shall not be apportioned, whether or not referring to this Article, but shall be paid from the residuary portion of the estate shall not, unless specifically stated otherwise, apply to taxes imposed on assets which are includible in the valuation of the decedent's gross estate for federal estate tax purposes only by reason of Sections 2041, 2042 or 2044 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 or corresponding provisions of any subsequent tax law. In the case of an estate administered under any will executed on or after October 1, 1986, in the event that the estate tax computation involves assets described in the preceding sentence, unless specifically stated otherwise, apportionment shall be made against such assets and the tax so apportioned shall be recovered from the persons receiving such assets as provided in Sections 2206, 2207 or 2207A of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 or corresponding provisions of any subsequent tax law.

"§ 28A-27-3. Procedure for determining apportionment.

(a) The personal representative of a decedent shall determine the apportionment of the tax.

(b) If the personal representative finds that it is inequitable to apportion interest and penalties in the manner provided in this Article because such interest or penalties were imposed due to the fault of one or more persons interested in the ~~estate he~~ estate, the personal representative may direct apportionment thereon in the manner ~~he~~ the personal representative finds equitable.

(c) The expenses reasonably incurred by the personal representative in connection with the apportionment of the tax shall be apportioned as provided for taxes under this Article. If the personal representative finds that it is inequitable to apportion the expenses because such expenses were incurred because of the fault of one or more persons interested in the ~~estate he~~ estate, the personal representative may direct other more equitable apportionment.

"§ 28A-27-4. Uncollected tax.

The personal representative shall not be under any duty to institute any suit or proceeding to recover from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person until the expiration of the six months next following final determination of the tax. A personal representative who institutes the suit or proceeding within a reasonable time after the six months' period shall not be subject to any liability or surcharge because any portion of the tax apportioned to any person interested in the estate was collectable at a time following the death of the decedent but thereafter became uncollectable. If the personal representative cannot collect from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person, the amount not recoverable shall be apportioned among the other persons interested in the estate who are subject to apportionment. The apportionment shall be made in the proportion that the value of the interest of each remaining person interested in the estate bears to the total value of the interests of all remaining persons interested in the estate.

"§ 28A-27-5. Exemptions, deductions, and credits.

(a) Any interest for which a deduction or exemption is allowed under the federal revenue laws in determining the value of the decedent's net taxable estate, such as property passing to or in trust for a surviving spouse and gifts or bequests for charitable, public, or similar purposes, shall not be included in the computation provided for in G.S. 28A-27-2 to the extent of the allowable deduction or exemption. When such an interest is subject to a prior present interest which is not allowable as a deduction or exemption, such present interest shall not be included in the computation provided for in this Article and no tax shall be apportioned to or paid from principal.

(b) Any credit for property previously taxed and any credit for gift taxes or death taxes of a foreign country paid by the decedent or ~~his~~ the decedent's estate shall inure to the proportionate benefit of all persons liable to apportionment; provided, however, that if the tax which gives rise to such a credit has in fact been paid by a person interested in the estate, the benefit of such credit shall inure to that person paying the tax.

(c) Any credit for inheritance, succession, or estate taxes or taxes in the nature thereof in respect to property or interests includible in the estate shall inure to the benefit of the persons or interests chargeable with the payment thereof to the extent that, or in the proportion that, the credit reduces the tax.

(d) To the extent that property passing to or in trust for a surviving spouse or any charitable, public, or similar gift or bequest does not constitute an allowed deduction for purposes of the tax solely by reason of an inheritance tax or other death tax imposed upon and deductible from the property, the property shall not be included in the computation provided for in this Article, and to that extent no apportionment shall be made against the property. This section does not apply in any instance where the result will be to deprive the estate of a deduction otherwise allowable under Section 2053(d) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 of the United States or corresponding provisions of any subsequent tax law, relating to deduction for State death taxes on transfers for public, charitable, or religious uses.

"§ 28A-27-6. No apportionment between temporary and remainder interests.

No interest in income and no estate for years or for life or other temporary interest in any property or fund is subject to apportionment as between the temporary interest and the remainder. The tax on the temporary interest and the tax, if any, on the remainder is chargeable against the corpus of the property or funds subject to the temporary interest and remainder.

"§ 28A-27-7. Fiduciary's rights and duties.

(a) The personal representative may withhold from any property of the decedent in ~~his~~ the personal representative's possession, distributable to any person interested in the estate, the amount of the tax apportioned to ~~his~~ the person's interest. If the property in possession of the personal representative and distributable to any person interested in the estate tax is insufficient to satisfy the proportionate amount of the tax determined to be due from the person, the personal representative may recover the deficiency from the person interested in the estate. If the property is not in the possession of the personal ~~representative he~~ representative, the personal representative may recover from any person interested in the estate the amount of the tax apportioned to the person in accordance with this Article.

(b) If property held by the fiduciary or other person is distributed prior to final apportionment of the tax, the personal representative may require the distributee to provide a bond or other security for the apportionment liability in the form and amount prescribed by the fiduciary, with the approval of the clerk of superior court having jurisdiction of the administration of the estate.

"§ 28A-27-8. Difference with Federal Estate Tax Law.

If the liabilities of persons interested in the estate as prescribed by this Article differ from those which result under the Federal Estate Tax Law, the liabilities imposed by the federal law will control and the balance of this Article shall apply as if the resulting liabilities had been prescribed herein.

"§ 28A-27-9. Effective date.

The provisions of this Article shall not apply to taxes due on account of the death of decedents dying prior to October 1, 1986.

"Article 28.

"Summary Administration.

"§ 28A-28-1. Summary administration where spouse is sole beneficiary.

When a decedent dies testate or intestate leaving a surviving spouse as the sole devisee or heir, the surviving spouse may file a petition for summary administration with the clerk of superior court of the county where the decedent was domiciled at the time of death. This procedure is available if the decedent died partially testate, provided that the surviving spouse is the sole devisee under the will and the sole heir of the decedent's intestate property. This procedure is not available if the decedent's will provides that it is not available or if the devise to the surviving spouse is in trust rather than outright.

"§ 28A-28-2. Petition.

(a) The petition shall be signed by the surviving spouse and verified to be accurate and complete to the best of the spouse's knowledge and belief and shall state as follows:

(1) The name and address of the spouse and the fact that ~~he or she~~ the spouse is the surviving spouse of the decedent;

(2) The name and domicile of the decedent at the time of death;

(3) The date and place of death of the decedent;

(4) The date and place of marriage of the spouse and the decedent;

(5) A description sufficient to identify each tract of real property owned in whole or in part by the decedent at the time of death;

(6) A description of the nature of the decedent's personal property and the location of such property, as far as these facts are known or can with reasonable diligence be ascertained;

(7) The probable value of the decedent's personal property, so far as the value is known or can with reasonable diligence be ascertained;

(8) That no application or petition for appointment of a personal representative is pending or has been granted in this State;

(9) That the spouse is the sole devisee or sole heir, or both, of the decedent, and that there is no other devisee or heir; that the decedent's will, if any, does not prohibit summary administration; and that any property passing to the spouse under the will is not in trust;

(10) The name and address of any executor or coexecutor named by the will and that, if the decedent died testate, a copy of the petition has been personally delivered or sent by first-class mail by the spouse to the last-known address of any executor or coexecutor named by the will, if different from the spouse;

(11) That, to the extent of the value of the property received by the spouse under the will of the decedent or by intestate succession, the spouse assumes all liabilities of the decedent that were not discharged by reason of death and assumes liability for all taxes and valid claims against the decedent or the estate, as provided in G.S. 28A-28-6; and

(12) If the decedent died testate, that the decedent's will has been admitted to probate in the court of the proper county; that a duly certified copy of the will has been recorded in each county in which is located any real property owned by the decedent at the time of death; and that a certified copy of the decedent's will is attached to the petition.

(b) The petition shall be filed by the clerk upon payment of the fee provided in G.S. 7A-307 and shall be indexed in the index to estates.

"§ 28A-28-3. Clerk's order.

If it appears to the clerk that the petition and supporting evidence, if any, comply with the requirements of G.S. 28A-28-2 and on the basis thereof the spouse is entitled to summary administration, the clerk shall enter an order to that effect and no further administration of the estate is necessary. Nothing in this section shall preclude a petition under the provisions of G.S. 28A-28-7(a) or the appointment of a personal representative or a collector under the provisions of Article 6 or Article 11 of this Chapter.

"§ 28A-28-4. Effect of order.

(a) The presentation of a certified copy of the order described in G.S. 28A-28-3 shall be sufficient to require the transfer to the spouse of any property or contract right owned by the decedent at the time of death, including but not limited to: (i) wages and salary; (ii) the title and license to a motor vehicle registered in the name of the decedent owner; (iii) the ownership rights of a savings account, checking account, or certificate of deposit in a bank in the name of the decedent owner; (iv) the ownership rights of a savings account, share certificate, or certificate of deposit in a credit union, building and loan association, or savings and loan association in the name of the decedent owner; and (v) the ownership rights in any stock or security registered on the books of a corporation in the name of the decedent owner.

(b) After the entry of the order described in G.S. 28A-28-3, the spouse may convey, lease, sell, or mortgage any real property devised to or inherited by the spouse from the decedent, at public or private sale, upon such terms as the spouse may determine. This section shall not limit any other powers the spouse may have over property devised to or inherited by the spouse from the decedent. The provisions of G.S. 28A-17-12 are not applicable to a conveyance, sale, lease, or mortgage under this subsection.

"§ 28A-28-5. Effect of payment.

The person paying, delivering, transferring, or issuing property or the evidence thereof pursuant to the order described in G.S. 28A-28-3 is discharged and released to the same extent as if the person dealt with a duly qualified personal representative of the decedent. The person is not required to see to the application of the property or evidence thereof or to inquire into the truth of any statement in the petition or order.

If any person to whom the order is presented refuses to pay, deliver, transfer, or issue any property or evidence thereof, the property may be recovered or its payment, delivery, transfer, or issuance may be compelled in an action brought for that purpose by the surviving spouse. The court costs and attorney's fee incident to the action shall be taxed against the person whose refusal to comply with the provisions of G.S. 28A-28-4 made the action necessary.

"§ 28A-28-6. Spouse's assumption of liabilities.

If the clerk grants the order for summary administration, the spouse shall be deemed to have assumed, to the extent of the value of the property received by the spouse under the will of the decedent or by intestate succession, all liabilities of the decedent that were not discharged by reason of death and liability for all taxes and valid claims against the decedent or the estate. The value of the property is the fair market value of the property on the date of death of the decedent less any liens or encumbrances on the property so received. The spouse may assert any defense, counterclaim, cross-claim, or setoff which would have been available to the decedent if the decedent had not died except for actions listed in G.S. 28A-18-1(b). A spouse shall not be deemed to have assumed any liabilities of the decedent that were discharged by reason of death.

"§ 28A-28-7. Right to petition for appointment of personal representative; discharge of spouse's liability.

(a) Nothing in this Article shall preclude any person qualified to serve as personal representative pursuant to G.S. 28A-4-1, including the surviving spouse, from petitioning the clerk of superior court for the appointment of a personal representative or collector to administer the decedent's estate. If a personal representative or collector is appointed, the spouse shall render a proper accounting to the personal representative or collector and file a copy of the accounting with the clerk. The spouse shall deliver assets of the decedent's estate, cash, or other property and shall be discharged of liability in accordance with the provisions of subsection (b) of this section.

(b) In the event that a personal representative or collector is appointed, the spouse shall be discharged of liability for the debts of the decedent as follows:

(1) If the spouse delivers to the personal representative or collector all of the property received by the spouse in the identical form that it was received by the spouse, then the spouse will be discharged of all liability.

(2) If the spouse does not deliver to the personal representative or collector all of the property in the identical form that it was received by the spouse, then the spouse shall be discharged of liability as follows:

a. For property delivered to the personal representative or collector that is in the identical form that it was received by the spouse, the spouse is discharged to the extent of the fair market value of the property at the time of the decedent's death or the fair market value at the time the property was received by the personal representative or collector, whichever is greater.

b. For property delivered to the personal representative or collector that is not in the identical form that it was received by the spouse, the spouse is discharged to the extent of the fair market value of such property at the time it was delivered to the personal representative or collector.

"Notice to Creditors Without Estate Administration.

"§ 28A-29-1. Notice to creditors without estate administration.

When a decedent dies testate or intestate leaving no property subject to probate, any person otherwise qualified to serve as personal representative of the estate pursuant to Article 4 of this Chapter or the trustee then serving under the terms of a revocable trust created by the decedent may file a petition to be appointed as a limited personal representative to provide notice to creditors without administration of an estate before the clerk of superior court of the county where the decedent was domiciled at the time of death. This procedure is not available if the decedent's will provides that it is not available. A limited personal representative shall have the rights and obligations provided for in this Article."

(c) If a will has been probated in solemn form pursuant to G.S. 28A-2A-7, any party who was properly served in that probate in solemn form shall be barred from filing a caveat.

"§ 31-33. ~~Bond given and cause~~ Cause transferred to trial docket.

~~When a caveator shall have given bond with surety approved by the clerk, in the sum of two hundred dollars ($200.00), payable to the propounder of the will, conditioned upon the payment of all costs which shall be adjudged against such caveator in the superior court or when a caveator shall have deposited money or given a mortgage in lieu of such bond, or shall have filed affidavits and satisfied the clerk of his inability to give such bond or otherwise secure such costs,~~

An extension of time to file a responsive pleading to the caveat may be granted as provided by G.S. 1A-1, Rule 6 of the Rules of Civil Procedure.

(d) Upon motion of an aligned party, the court may require a caveator to provide security in such sum as the court deems proper, for the payment of such costs and damages as may be incurred or suffered by the estate if the estate is found to have been wrongfully enjoined or restrained. The court may consider relevant facts related to whether a bond should be required and the amount of any such bond, including, but not limited to, (i) whether the estate may suffer irreparable injury, loss, or damage as a result of the caveat and (ii) whether the caveat has substantial merit. Provisions for bringing suit in forma pauperis apply to the provisions of this subsection.

~~"§ 31-34. Prosecution bond required in actions to contest wills.~~

"Article 7.

"Construction of Will.

"§ 31-38. Devise presumed to be in fee.

When real estate shall be devised to any person, the same shall be held and construed to be a devise in fee simple, unless such devise shall, in plain and express words, show, or it shall be plainly intended by the will, or some part thereof, that the testator intended to convey an estate of less dignity.

"§ 31-39. Probate necessary to pass title; recordation in county where land lies; rights of innocent purchasers.

No will shall be effectual to pass real or personal estate unless it shall have been duly proved and allowed in the probate court of the proper county, and a duly certified copy thereof shall be recorded in the office of the superior court clerk of the county wherein the land is situate, and the probate of a will devising real estate shall be conclusive as to the execution thereof against the heirs and devisees of the testator, whenever the probate thereof under the like cirumstances, would be conclusive against the next of kin and legatees of the testator:

Provided, that the probate and registration of any will shall not affect the rights of innocent purchasers for value from the heirs at law of the testator when such purchase is made more than two years after the death of such testator or when such purchase is made after the filing of the final account by the duly authorized administrator of the decedent and the approval thereof by the clerk of the superior court having jurisdiction of the estate. Such conveyances, if made before the expiration of the time required by this section to have elapsed in order for same to be valid against the heirs and devisees of the testator, shall, upon the expiration of such time, become good and valid to the same effect as if made after the expiration of such time, unless in the meantime a proceeding shall have been instituted in the proper court to probate the will of the testator.

"§ 31-40. What property passes by will.

Any testator, by ~~his~~ the testator's will duly executed, may devise, bequeath, or dispose of all real and personal estate which ~~he~~ the testator shall be entitled to at the time of ~~his~~ the testator's death, and which, if not so devised, bequeathed, or disposed of, would descend or devolve upon ~~his~~ the testator's heirs at law, or upon ~~his~~ the testator's executor or administrator; and the power hereby given shall extend to all contingent, executory, or other future interest in any real or personal estate, whether the testator may or may not be the person or one of the persons in whom the same may become vested, or whether ~~he~~ the testator may be entitled thereto under the instrument by which the same was created, or under any disposition thereof by deed or will; and also to all rights of entry for conditions broken, whether any such condition has or has not been broken at the testator's death, all other rights of entry, and possibilities of reverter; and also to such of the same estates, interests, and rights respectively, and other real and personal estate, as the testator may be entitled to at the time of ~~his~~ the testator's death, notwithstanding that ~~he~~ the testator may become entitled to the same subsequently to the execution of ~~his~~ the testator's will.

"§ 31-41. Will relates to death of testator.

Every will shall be construed, with reference to the real and personal estate comprised therein, to speak and take effect as if it had been executed immediately before the death of the testator, unless a contrary intention shall appear by the will.

"§ 31-42. Failure of devises by lapse or otherwise; renunciation; 120-hour survivorship requirement, revised simultaneous death act, Article 24, Chapter 28A.

(a) Unless the will indicates a contrary intent, if a devisee predeceases the testator, whether before or after the execution of the will, and if the devisee is a grandparent of or a descendant of a grandparent of the testator, then the issue of the predeceased devisee shall take in place of the deceased devisee. The devisee's issue shall take the deceased devisee's share in the same manner that the issue would take as heirs of the deceased devisee under the intestacy provisions in effect at the time of the testator's death. The provisions of this section apply whether the devise is to an individual, to a class, or is a residuary devise. In the case of the class devise, the issue shall take whatever share the deceased devisee would have taken had the devisee survived the testator; in the event the deceased class member leaves no issue, the devisee's share shall devolve upon the members of the class who survived the testator and the issue of any deceased members taking by substitution.

(b) Unless the will indicates a contrary intent, if the provisions of subsection (a) of this section do not apply to a devise to a devisee who predeceases the testator, or if a devise otherwise fails, the property shall pass to the residuary devisee or devisees in proportion to their share of the residue. If the devise is a residuary devise, it shall augment the shares of the other residuary devisees, including the shares of any substitute takers under subsection (a) of this section. If there are no residuary devisees, then the property shall pass by intestacy.

(c) Renunciation of a devise is as provided for in Chapter 31B of the General Statutes.

(c1) The determination of whether a devisee has predeceased the testator shall be made as provided by Article 24 of Chapter 28A of the General Statutes.

(d) As used in this section, "devisee" means any person entitled to take real or personal property under the provisions of a will.

"§§ 31-42.1 through 31-42.2. Repealed by Session Laws 1965, c. 938, s. 2.

"§ 31-43. General gift by will an execution of power of appointment.

A general devise of the real estate of the testator, or of ~~his~~ the testator's real estate in any place or in the occupation of any person mentioned in the will, or otherwise described in a general manner, shall be construed to include any real estate, or any real estate to which such description shall extend, as the case may be, which ~~he~~ the testator may have power to appoint in any manner ~~he~~ the testator may think proper; and shall operate as an execution of such power, unless a contrary intention shall appear by the will; and in like manner a bequest of the personal estate of the testator, or any bequest of personal property, described in a general manner, shall be construed to include any personal estate, or any personal estate to which such description shall extend, as the case may be, which ~~he~~ testator may have power to appoint in any manner ~~he~~ the testator may think proper, and shall operate as an execution of such power, unless a contrary intention shall appear by the will.

"§ 31-44. Repealed by Session Laws 1951, c. 762, s. 2.

"§ 31-45: Rewritten and renumbered as G.S. 31-5.5 by Session Laws 1953, c. 1098, s. 7.

"§ 31-46. Validity of will; which laws govern.

A will is valid if it meets the requirements of the applicable provisions of law in effect in this State either at the time of its execution or at the time of the death of the testator.

"§ 31-46.1. Construction of certain formula clauses applicable to estates of decedents dying in calendar year 2010.

(a) Purpose. – The federal estate tax and generation-skipping transfer tax expired January 1, 2010, for one year. To carry out the intent of decedents in the construction of wills and trusts and to promote judicial economy in the administration of trusts and estates, this section construes certain formula clauses that reference federal estate and generation-skipping transfer tax laws and that are used in wills or codicils of decedents who die in or before calendar year 2010.

(b) Applicability. – This section applies to the following:

(1) To a will or codicil executed by a decedent before December 31, 2009, that contains a formula provision described in subsection (c) of this section if the decedent dies after December 31, 2009, and before the earlier of January 1, 2011, and the effective date of the reinstatement of the federal estate tax and generation-skipping transfer tax, unless the will or codicil clearly manifests an intent that a rule contrary to the rule of construction described in subsection (c) of this section applies.

(2) To the terms of a will or codicil executed by a decedent who dies before December 31, 2009, providing for a disposition of property that contains a formula provision described in subsection (c) of this section and occurs as a result of the death of another individual who dies after December 31, 2009, and before the earlier of January 1, 2011, and the effective date of the reinstatement of the federal estate tax and generation-skipping transfer tax, unless the terms of the will or codicil clearly manifests an intent that a rule contrary to the rule of construction described in subsection (c) of this section applies.

(c) Construction. – A will or codicil subject to this section is considered to refer to the federal estate and generation-skipping transfer tax laws as they applied with respect to estates of decedents dying on December 31, 2009, if the will or codicil contains a formula that meets one or more of the following conditions:

(1) The formula refers to any of the following: "applicable credit amount," "applicable exclusion amount," "applicable exemption amount," "applicable

fraction," "estate tax exemption," "generation-skipping transfer tax exemption," "GST exemption," "inclusion ratio," "marital deduction," "maximum marital deduction," "unified credit," or "unlimited marital deduction."

(2) The formula measures a share of an estate or trust based on the amount that can pass free of federal estate taxes or the amount that can pass free of federal generation-skipping transfer taxes.

(3) The formula is otherwise based on a provision of federal estate tax or federal generation-skipping transfer tax law similar to the provisions in subdivision (1) or (2) of this subsection.

(d) Judicial Determination. – The personal representative or an affected beneficiary under a will or testamentary trust may bring an action in the superior court division of the General Court of Justice under Article 26 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes, and the trustee of a trust created under the will or an affected beneficiary under the trust may bring a proceeding as permitted under Article 2 of Chapter 36C of the General Statutes to determine whether the decedent intended that the references under subsection (c) of this section be construed with respect to the federal law as it existed after December 31, 2009. The action must be commenced within 12 months following the death of the decedent.

"Article 8.

"Testamentary Additions to Trusts.

"§ 31-47. Testamentary additions to trusts.

(a) A will may validly devise property to:

(1) The trustee of a trust established before the testator's death by the testator, by the testator and some other person, or by some other person, including a trust authorized by G.S. 36C-4-401.1; or

(2) The trustee of a trust to be established at the testator's death, if the trust is identified in the testator's will and its terms are set forth in a written instrument executed before or concurrently with the execution of the testator's will, regardless of the existence, size, or character of the corpus of the trust during the testator's lifetime.

The devise is not invalid because the trust is amendable or revocable, or because the trust instrument or any amendment thereto was not executed in the manner required for wills, or because the trust was amended after the execution of the testator's will or after the testator's death. A revocable trust to which property is first transferred under subdivision (2) of this subsection is an inter vivos trust and not a testamentary trust and, as of the date of the execution of the trust instrument, is subject to Article 6 of Chapter 36C of the General Statutes.

(b) Unless the testator's will provides otherwise, property devised to the trustee of a trust described in subsection (a) of this section is not held under a testamentary trust of the testator, but it becomes a part of the trust to which it is devised, and shall be administered and disposed of in accordance with the provisions of the governing instrument setting forth the terms of the trust, including any amendments thereto made before or after the testator's death.

(c) Unless the testator's will provides otherwise, a revocation or termination of the trust before the testator's death causes the devise to lapse.

(d) A devise to a trust shall be construed as a devise to the trustee of that trust.

(e) For purposes of this section, "devise," when used as a noun, means a testamentary disposition of real or personal property and, when used as a verb, means to dispose of real or personal property by will.

(f) Nothing in this section alters, amends, or in any manner affects the application of the doctrine of acts of independent significance.

"Article 9.

"Incorporation by Reference; Acts of Independent Significance.

"§ 31-51. Incorporation by reference.

A writing in existence when a will is executed may be incorporated by reference if the language of the will manifests this intent and describes the writing sufficiently to permit its identification.

"§ 31-52. Acts and events of independent significance.

A will may dispose of property by reference to acts and events that have significance apart from their effect upon the disposition made by the will, whether they occur before or after the execution of the will or before or after the testator's death. These acts and events may include the execution or revocation of another individual's will and the safekeeping of items in a secured depository.

SECTION 9. G.S. 31B-1.2 reads as rewritten:

"§ 31B-1.2. Right of fiduciary to institute a proceeding for review of renunciation.

(a) Prior to renouncing, if a fiduciary so elects, the fiduciary may institute a proceeding by petition before the clerk of court for a determination as to whether a renunciation would be compatible with the fiduciary's duties. ~~Commencement~~ In the case of a trustee, commencement of the proceeding, jurisdiction, venue, parties, representation, and notice shall be governed by Chapter 36C of the General Statutes. In the case of a personal representative, commencement of the proceeding, jurisdiction, venue, parties, representation, and notice shall be governed by Chapter 28A of the General Statutes. In addition to any other notice requirements, notice of the proceeding shall be given to all persons entitled to delivery of a copy of an instrument of renunciation under G.S. 31B-2.1.

(b) After renouncing, if a fiduciary so elects, the fiduciary has a right to institute a declaratory judgment action pursuant to Article 26 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes for a determination as to whether the renunciation is compatible with the fiduciary's duties. In addition to any other notice requirements, notice of the action shall be given to all persons entitled to delivery of a copy of an instrument of renunciation under G.S. 31B-2.1.

(c) A proceeding or action instituted under this section shall comply with all of the following:

(1) The petition or complaint shall state the basis for the fiduciary's allegation that the renunciation is compatible with the fiduciary's duties, considering among other things the intended purposes of the trust or other instrument and the impact of the renunciation on beneficiaries and potential beneficiaries. A petition or complaint filed by a trustee of a charitable trust shall contain a statement that a copy of the petition or complaint is being provided to the Attorney General.

(2) After considering among other things the intended purposes of the trust or other instrument and the impact of the renunciation on beneficiaries and potential beneficiaries, the court shall enter an order stating the court's determination as to whether the renunciation is compatible with the fiduciary's duties.

(d) The effectiveness of a renunciation is not affected by a determination under this section that the renunciation is not compatible with a fiduciary's duties."

SECTION 10. G.S. 32A-20(a) reads as rewritten:

"(a) A health care power of attorney shall become effective when and if the physician or physicians or, in the case of mental health treatment, physician or eligible psychologist as defined in G.S. 122C-3(13d), designated by the principal determine in writing that the principal lacks sufficient understanding or capacity to make or communicate decisions relating to the health care of the principal, and shall continue in effect during the incapacity of the principal. The determination shall be made by the principal's attending physician or eligible psychologist if the physician or physicians or eligible psychologist designated by the principal is unavailable or is otherwise unable or unwilling to make this determination or if the principal failed to designate a physician or physicians or eligible psychologist to make this determination. A health care power of attorney may include a provision that, if the principal does not designate a physician for reasons based on his religious or moral beliefs as specified in the health care power of attorney, a person designated by the principal in the health care power of attorney may certify in writing, acknowledged before a notary public, that the principal lacks sufficient understanding or capacity to make or communicate decisions relating to his health care. The person so designated must be a competent person 18 years of age or older, not engaged in providing health care to the principal for remuneration, and must be a person other than the health care agent. For purposes of exercising authority described in G.S. 32A-19(b), however, a health care power of attorney shall be effective following the death of the principal without regard to the principal's understanding or capacity when the principal was living. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent a principal from revoking a health care power of attorney."

SECTION 11. G.S. 36C-2-205(d) reads as rewritten:

"(d) Extensions of Time. – The clerk of superior court, for cause shown at any time in the clerk's discretion, with or without motion or notice, may enter an order enlarging the period of time within which an act is required or permitted by this Article, by any applicable Rules of Civil Procedure or by order of the court, if the request is made before the expiration of the period originally prescribed, but not to exceed 10 days, ~~nor more than once.~~ except to the extent that the court finds the justice requires that the time be enlarged for a period of greater than 10 days. Upon motion made after the expiration of the specified period, the clerk of superior court may permit the act where the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect. Notwithstanding any other provision of this subsection, the parties to a proceeding may enter into binding stipulations, without approval of the clerk of superior court, enlarging the time within which an act is required or permitted by this Article, by any applicable Rules of Civil Procedure or by order of the court, not to exceed 30 days."

SECTION 12. G.S. 36C-2-205(e) reads as rewritten:

"(e) Rules of Civil Procedure. – Unless the clerk of superior court otherwise directs, G.S. 1A-1, Rules 4, 5, 6(a), 6(d), 6(e), 18, 19, 20, 21, 24, ~~and 45~~ 45, 56, and 65 of the Rules of Civil Procedure shall apply to trust proceedings. Upon motion of a party or the clerk of superior court, the clerk may further direct that any or all of the ~~following~~ remaining Rules of Civil ~~Procedure~~ Procedure, shall ~~apply: Rules 15, 16, 17, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, and 37;~~ apply, including, without limitation, discovery rules; however, nothing in Rule 17 requires the appointment of a guardian ad litem for a party represented except as provided under ~~G.S. 36C-3-305.~~ G.S. 36C-2-206. In applying these Rules to a trust proceeding pending before the clerk of superior court, the term "judge" shall be construed as "clerk of superior court."

SECTION 13. G.S. 36C-6-604 reads as rewritten:

"§ 36C-6-604. Limitation on action contesting validity of revocable trust; distribution of trust property.

(a) A person may commence a judicial proceeding to contest the validity of a trust that was revocable at the settlor's death within the earlier of:

(1) Three years after the settlor's death; or

(2) 120 days after the trustee sent the person a copy of the trust instrument and ~~a notice~~ written notice pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 4 of the Rules of Civil Procedure, informing the person of the trust's existence, of the trustee's name and address, and of the time allowed for commencing a proceeding.

(b) Upon the death of the settlor of a trust that was revocable at the settlor's death, the trustee may proceed to distribute the trust property in accordance with the terms of the trust. The trustee is not subject to liability for doing so unless:

(1) The trustee knows of a pending judicial proceeding contesting the validity of the trust; or

(2) A potential contestant has notified the trustee of a possible judicial proceeding to contest the trust, and a judicial proceeding is commenced within 60 days after the contestant sent the notification.

(c) A beneficiary of a trust that is determined to have been invalid is liable to return any distribution received."

SECTION 14. This act becomes effective January 1, 2012, and applies to estates of decedents dying on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 432:
Revise Probate Code

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 21, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Hartsell	Prepared by:	Brad Krehely
Analysis of:	PCS to First Edition S432-CSRN-10		Committee Counsel

SUMMARY: The Proposed Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 432 would amend the provisions of the probate code, would define the jurisdiction of the clerk of superior court consistent with the provisions of the Uniform Trust Code, would recodify provisions relating to the probate of wills, and would update the procedure for claiming spousal and children's allowances. The Proposed Committee Substitute (1) contains all of the provisions from the PCS handed out on April 19 (S-432-CSRN-7), (2) incorporates the two amendments adopted in committee on April 19, and (3) modifies Section 10, which deals with health care powers of attorney, by moving the language to G.S. 32A-20(a) (was in G.S. 32A-20(b)) and by clarifying that nothing in the section prevents a principal from revoking a health care power of attorney.

BILL ANALYSIS: The PCS for Senate Bill 432 does all of the following:

- Provides that G.S. 1-301.3 applies to the administration of trusts (was, testamentary trusts) and of estates of decedents, incompetents and minors. Provides that a party wishing to appeal an order or judgment by the clerk may file a written notice of appeal containing a short and plain statement of the basis for the appeal (was, required written notice to specify the basis for the appeal) within ten days of the entry of the order or judgment after service of the order on that party. Provides that in an appeal to superior court, if the record is insufficient, the judge of superior court may receive additional evidence on the factual (was evidentiary) issue in question.
- Amends G.S. 7A-307 to add estate proceedings to the list of those whose costs are assessed under this section. Adds that the cost assessed for the filing of a caveat to a will is $200. Provides that the only cost assessed with reopening an estate administration is forty cents per $100, or major fraction, of any additional gross estate, including income, coming into the hands of the fiduciary after the estate is reopened; caps the total cost assessed, including the total cost assessed in all previous administrations of the estate, at $6,000.
- Recodifies portions of the General Statutes.
- Expands the definitions under G.S. 28A-1-1.

Authorizes the clerk to issue a stay of an order of revocation or of an order allowing resignation upon the appellant posting an appropriate bond set by the clerk until such time as the cause is heard and determined upon appeal.

- Enacts new G.S. 28A-21-6 to provide that the personal representative or collector may give written notice of a proposed final account to all devises of the estate in the case of a will, and to all heirs of the state when the decedent was without a will, indicating the date and place of the filing of the final account. Provides guidelines regarding the permissive notice of final accounts.

- Amends G.S. 28A-23-1 to direct the clerk, upon reviewing and approving the personal representative's or collector's final account, to enter an order discharging the personal representative or collector from further duties and liabilities (was, liabilities), including those set out in Article 13 of G.S. Chapter 28A. Prohibits the discharge order from including a release or discharge of liability for any breach of duty by a personal representative or collector as set forth in G.S. 28A-13-10(c).
- Amends G.S. 28A-25-1 regarding the collection of property through use of an affidavit when the decedent dies intestate. Provides that when the person collecting the property by affidavit is the surviving spouse and only heir of the decedent, and not disqualified under GS 28A-4-2, the property that may be collected under this section may be more than $20,000 in value but may not exceed $30,000 in value, after reduction for any spousal allowance paid to the surviving spouse under G.S. 30-15.

Amends GS 30-31.1 to require the petitioner to serve the clerk's judgment on all other parties and requires the judgment to be filed in the estate file of the deceased. Provides that any aggrieved party may appeal the judgment under GS 1-301.2. Provides that if the judgment is not appealed that the judgment is to be executed. Makes additional conforming changes.

- Wills. Provides that GS 31-12 through GS 31-31.2 are recodified as Article 2A of GS Chapter 28A by Section 3 of this act. Amends GS 31-32 as follows. Declares that if any person who is entitled to file a caveat is within the age of 18 years, or incompetent then that person may file a caveat within three years after the removal of the disability. Requires the caveat to be placed in the decedent's estate file and directs the clerk to give notice of the filing by making an entry on the page of the will book where the will is recorded that includes the date of the filing. SENATE BILL 432

POLICY ISSUES NOTED BY CONFERENCE OF CLERKS OF SUPERIOR COURT

The Legislative Committee of the NCBA'S Estate Planning Section and the Legislative Committee of the Conference of Clerks of Superior Court ("Clerks Conference") have met beginning in October 2010 through the present and negotiated various changes to Senate Bill 432 – Revised Probate Code. Both the NCBA's Estate Planning Section and the Clerks Conference support Senate Bill 432.

There are, however, four policy issues which the Clerks Conference noted for the benefit of the Committee on Judiciary I. The Committee could keep current law or adopt the changes proposed in Senate Bill 432. The Clerks Conference takes no position on these policy issues.

1. Elective Life Estate Under Chapter 30 (G.S. 30-29): Currently, G.S. 30-29 provides for a surviving spouse can in lieu of an intestate share or an elective share (G.S. 30-3.1) petition for and receive a life estate in one-third of the value of all real estate which the deceased spouse owned on his or her date of death. Current law provides "regardless of the value of a life estate and despite the fact that a life estate may exceed the fractional limitation provided for in [29-30(a)], the life estate may at the election of the surviving spouse include a life estate in the usual dwelling house occupied by the surviving spouse." The current statute reads in pertinent part as follows:

EXISTING LAW:

> § 29-30(b). Election of surviving spouse to take life interest in lieu of intestate share provided.
> b) Regardless of the value thereof and despite the fact that a life estate therein might exceed the fractional limitation provided for in subsection (a), the life estate provided for in subsection (a) shall at the election of the surviving spouse include a life estate in the usual dwelling house occupied by the surviving spouse at the time of the death of the deceased spouse if such dwelling house were owned by the deceased spouse at the time of his or her death, together with the outbuildings, improvements and easements thereunto belonging or appertaining, and lands upon which situated and reasonably necessary to the use and enjoyment thereof, as well as a fee simple ownership in the household furnishings therein.

CHANGE PROVIDED IN SENATE BILL 432:

Change §29-30(b) (Page84, Lines 26-39 of Bill S432v1) to read like this:

> § 29-30. Election of surviving spouse to take life interest in lieu of intestate share provided.

(b) ~~Regardless of the value thereof and despite the fact that a life estate therein might exceed the fractional limitation provided for in subsection (a), the life estate provided for in subsection (a) shall at the election of the surviving spouse include~~ The surviving spouse may elect to take a life estate in the usual dwelling house occupied by the surviving spouse at the time of the death of the deceased spouse if such dwelling house were owned by the deceased spouse at the time of ~~his or her~~ the deceased spouse's death, together with the outbuildings, improvements and easements thereunto belonging or appertaining, and lands upon which situated and reasonably necessary to the use and enjoyment thereof, as well as a fee simple ownership in the household furnishings ~~therein.~~ therein, despite the fact that a life estate therein might exceed the fractional limitation provided for in subsection (a) of this section. If the value of a life estate in the dwelling house is less than the value of a life estate in one third in value of all the real estate, the surviving spouse may elect to take a life estate in the dwelling and a life estate in such other real estate as to make the aggregate life estate of the surviving spouse equal to a life estate in one third in value of all the real estate.

The NCBA's Estate Planning Section has revised the statute for clarity and made clear that: (a) if the value of the dwelling house is more than the value of one-third of the value of all real estate, the surviving spouse may elect a life estate in the dwelling house regardless of its value, and (b) if the dwelling house is worth less than one third of the value of the real estate owned by the decedent, the surviving spouse may elect to include the dwelling house in the one third of real property allocated pursuant to the surviving spouse's petition for an elective life estate. The NCBA's Estate Planning Section believes the change provides clarity for the benefit of the public, clerks of court and lawyers practicing before the clerks of court and promotes the financial security of the surviving spouse by assuring continuity of the marital residence after death.

2. Spousal Allowance: The second policy issue relates to the proposed increase of the spousal allowance in an insolvent estate from a cap of $20,000 for a surviving spouse and $2,000 per child to a cap equal to one-half of the last three years average net income by the proposed deletion of G.S. 30-26. The current law allows for an additional cumulative allowance (both spouse and children) only in the event an estate is solvent. The NCBA's Estate Planning Section has proposed that the additional allowance for surviving spouses and children allowed under current law (up to 50% of the decedent's earnings over the three years next preceding the decedent's date of death) should be available in both solvent and insolvent estates. The current economic downturn has made clear that a surviving spouse is often placed in financial jeopardy due the death of the wage earner in a family. This change will protect surviving spouses and children from undue financial hardship after death of a wage earner in a family.

EXISTING LAW:

§ 30-26. When above allowance is in full.
If the estate of a deceased be insolvent, or if his or her personal estate does not exceed twenty thousand dollars ($20,000), the allowances for the year's support of the surviving spouse and the children shall not, in any case, exceed the value prescribed in G.S. 30-15 and G.S. 30-17; and the allowances made to them as above prescribed shall preclude them from any further allowances.

CHANGE PROVIDED IN SENATE BILL 432:

Change §30-26 (Page89, Lines 41-46 of Bill S432v1) to read like this:

"~~§ 30-26. When above allowance is in full.~~
~~If the estate of a deceased be insolvent, or if his or her personal estate does not exceed twenty thousand dollars ($20,000), the allowances for the year's support of the surviving spouse and the children shall not, in any case, exceed the value prescribed in G.S. 30-15 and G.S. 30-17; and the allowances made to them as above prescribed shall preclude them from any further allowances.~~

3. Collection by Affidavit: Current law provides that if the total assets in an estate do not exceed $30,000 in estates in which the surviving spouse is the sole heir of a decedent and the decedent's sole assets are personal property with a value of less than $30,000, the surviving spouse can transfer the assets using an affidavit of collection without a complete estate administration. The surviving spouse is still required to distribute any estate assets in excess of a spousal or children's allowance to payment of debts and any balance thereafter in accordance with the intestate succession act. The NCBA's Estate Planning Section has proposed to change 28A-25-1 to provide that the $30,000 limitation for a surviving spouse to utilize the small estate procedures (collection by affidavit) is the amount of personal property left after a reduction for the spousal allowance provided for in G.S. 30-15- $20,000. In other words, the surviving spouse can administer the estate of a deceased spouse consisting of $50,000 or less as personal property as opposed to $30,000 of personal property if the surviving spouse is the sole beneficiary of the estate, utilizing both a $20,000 spousal allowance under G.S. 30-15 and the $30,000 limitation for administering an estate by affidavit of collection (G.S. 28A-25-1). The Administrative Office of Courts has interpreted current law only to permit collection by affidavit if the amount of personal property is $30,000 or less before a deduction for the spousal allowance. The Clerks Conference takes no position on this policy issue.

EXISTING LAW:

§ 28A-25-1. Collection of property by affidavit when decedent dies intestate.
(a) When a decedent dies intestate leaving personal property, less liens and encumbrances thereon, not exceeding twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) in value, at any time after 30 days from the date of death, any person indebted to the decedent or having possession of tangible personal property or an instrument evidencing a debt, obligation, stock or chose in action belonging to the decedent shall make payment of the indebtedness or deliver the tangible personal property or an instrument evidencing a debt, obligation, stock or chose in action to a person claiming to be the public administrator appointed pursuant to G.S. 28A-12-1, or an heir or creditor of the decedent, not disqualified under G.S.

28A-4-2, upon being presented a certified copy of an affidavit filed in accordance with subsection (b) and made by or on behalf of the heir or creditor or the public administrator stating:

In those cases in which the affiant is the surviving spouse and sole heir of the decedent, not disqualified under G.S. 28A-4-2, the property described in this subsection that may be collected pursuant to this section may exceed twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) in value but shall not exceed thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) in value. In such cases, the affidavit shall state: (i) the name and address of the affiant and the fact that he or she is the surviving spouse and is entitled, under the provisions of the Intestate Succession Act, to all of the property of the decedent; (ii) that the value of all of the personal property owned by the estate of the decedent, less liens and encumbrances thereon, does not exceed thirty thousand dollars ($30,000); and (iii) the information required under subdivisions (2), (3), (4), (6), and (8) of this subsection.

CHANGE PROVIDED IN SENATE BILL 432:

Change §28A-25-1 (Page64-65, Lines 41-51(Page64)Lines 16-26 (Page 65) of Bill S432v1) to read like this:

"§ 28A-25-1.1. Collection of property by affidavit when decedent dies testate.

(a) When a decedent dies testate leaving personal property, less liens and encumbrances thereon, not exceeding twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) in value, at any time after 30 days from the date of death, any person indebted to the decedent or having possession of tangible personal property or an instrument evidencing a debt, obligation, stock or chose in action belonging to the decedent shall make payment of the indebtedness or deliver the tangible personal property or an instrument evidencing a debt, obligation, stock or chose in action to a person claiming to be the public administrator appointed pursuant to G.S. 28A-12-1, a person named or designated as executor in the will, devisee, heir or creditor, of the decedent, not disqualified under G.S. 28A-4-2, upon being presented a certified copy of an affidavit filed in accordance with subsection (b) and made by or on behalf of the heir, the person named or designated as executor in the will of the decedent, the creditor, the public administrator, or the devisee, stating:

In those cases in which the affiant is the surviving spouse and sole heir of the decedent, not disqualified under G.S. 28A-4-2, the property described in this subsection that may be collected pursuant to this section may exceed twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) in value but shall not exceed thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) in ~~value.~~ value, after reduction for any spousal allowance paid to the surviving spouse pursuant to G.S. 30-15. In such cases, the affidavit shall state: (i) the name and address of the affiant and the fact that ~~he or she~~ the affiant is the surviving spouse and is entitled, under the provisions of the Intestate Succession

Act, to all of the property of the decedent; (ii) that the value of all of the personal property owned by the estate of the decedent, less liens and encumbrances thereon, does not exceed thirty thousand dollars ($30,000); and (iii) the information required under subdivisions (2), (3), (4), (6), and (8) of this subsection.

4. Standing to pursue examination of persons reasonably believed to be in possession of property belonging to the estate of a decedent and make demand for recovery of such property: Under current law, a personal representative or collector of an estate may petition the clerk of superior court before whom an estate is administered to examine persons reasonably believed to be in possession of property of any kind belonging to the estate of a decedent and to include in such request a demand for recovery of such property. The NCBA's Estate Planning Section has proposed to add "any interested person" to the class of individuals who can file such a petition before the clerk of court. It is the position of the NCBA's Estate Planning Section's that adding "any interested person" to the class of individuals who may seek such an examination before the clerk of court to discover property belonging to the estate of a decedent and demand recovery of such property eliminates the ability of a personal representative to either refuse to pursue such an examination (for example if the personal representative has a familial or business relationship with the person alleged to have possession of the estate's property) or where the personal representative prior to or after the decedent's death has refused to account for property.

EXISTING LAW:

Only a personal representative or collector appointed in an estate has standing to bring a petition to examine a person, firm or corporation believed to have possession of property of the estate of a decedent.

CHANGE PROVIDED IN SENATE BILL 432:

Change §28A-15-12(b1) (Page41, Lines 8-10 of Bill S432v1) to read like this:

(b1) A personal representative, collector, or any interested person shall have the right to bring an estates proceeding seeking the examination of any persons reasonably believed to be in possession of property of any kind belonging to the estate of the decedent ...

Note: Subsection (b1) is new, the above underlining only identifies the change discussed above.

SENATE BILL 432

POLICY ISSUES

Discussions between the Estate Section of the Bar Association, the Administrative Office of the Courts and the Conference of Clerks of Superior Court have removed virtually all issues from the bill, and thus the parties are almost unanimously in support of the bill. Only a few items remain on which the General Assembly may need to make policy decision with respect to certain provisions of the proposed bill, which change current law, or on which there are differing opinions on the interpretation of current law.

1. Elective Life Estate (GS 30-29 – Page 84, lines 26-39). Currently, a surviving spouse, faced with an insolvent estate, can elect a life estate in real property owned by the decedent at death, free and clear of the claims of creditors. The life estate can be in one-third in value of all such real estate, but the life estate may include the dwelling house, even if it is worth more than one-third. Clearly, if the dwelling is worth more than one-third, the spouse can take the dwelling as the election. The issue is when the dwelling is worth less than one-third.

   It is possible to read the current statute to say that the spouse can claim one third in value of the real property of the decedent even if the dwelling is worth less than one-third, thus maxing up the election. In practice, many people interpret the language to mean an either-or election. Under that interpretation the spouse can take one-third or the dwelling, if the dwelling is worth more than one-third. However, if the dwelling is worth less than one-third, the election is limited to that dwelling, free of the claims of creditors.

   The proposed bill specifies that the spouse may max-up the election to one-third when the dwelling is worth less than on-third. The issue is whether the General Assembly should retain the current policy or adopt the proposed amendment.

2. Spousal Allowance (GS 30-26 – Page 89, Lines 41-46). Currently, a surviving spouse can immediately claim a year's allowance of $20,000 (and $2,000 per child) from the estate of the deceased spouse, free and clear of the claims of creditors of that estate. In addition, in a solvent estate, the spouse can petition the court to allow an excess allowance. However, GS 30-26 currently prohibits the awarding of an excess allowance in an insolvent estate. The proposed bill would repeal GS 30-26, thus providing additional benefits for the surviving spouse and children while altering current law with regard to the rights of creditors. The issue is whether the General Assembly should retain the current policy or adopt the proposed amendment.

3. Collection By Affidavit (GS 28A-25-1 – Page 64, Line 41 – Page 65, Line 26). Under current law, an alternative to full administration of a small estate is a process called collection by affidavit. Under that process a collector applies and is appointed by the court to handle a decedent's estate of up to $20,000 ($30,000 if the sole heir is the surviving spouse). That process is an abbreviated process which does not involve notice to creditors or potential heirs of the decedent. The proposed bill would amend GS 28A-25-1 to provide that the valuation of the estate for the purpose of determining whether a collection by affidavit can occur is not as of the date of death(current law), but after deduction of any spousal allowance pursuant to GS 30-15. In that instance, a collection by affidavit could be used to administer an estate of up to $40,000 ($50,000 if the spouse is the sole heir), thus doubling the amount that could be quickly passed without notice. The issue is whether the General Assembly should retain the current policy or adopt the proposed amendment.

4. Standing To Examine Persons Believed To Be Holding Property Of The Estate. (GS 28A-15-12(b1) – Page 41, Lines 8-10). Currently, only a duly appointed personal representative or collector can petition the court to force the examination of a person believed to be holding property of the estate, and to seek recovery of that property. The proposed bill would amend the current law to also allow any interested person to file such a petition. On one side of the issue is that a personal representative may unreasonably refuse to pursue such a petition. Of course, that may subject the personal representative to removal. On the other hand, the examination process may be used as a harassment tool by someone who has no right, title or responsibility to or for the property in question. The issue is whether the General Assembly should retain the current policy or adopt the proposed amendment.

SENATE BILL 131:
AOC Collection Assistance Fee

2011-2012 General Assembly

Committee:	Senate Judiciary I	Date:	April 27, 2011
Introduced by:	Sen. Clodfelter	Prepared by:	Susan Sitze Committee Counsel
Analysis of:	First Edition

SUMMARY: Senate Bill 131 would authorize expanded methods of collecting fines, fees, costs, and restitution from offenders not sentenced to supervised probation or active time and would permit the county in which the collection assistance fee is collected to retain the fee, providing the fee is collected by a collections program funded by the county government.

BILL ANALYSIS: Senate Bill 131 would amend G.S. 7A-131 to provide that the Judicial Department's authority to collect fines, fees, and costs, also includes restitution and applies to offenders not sentenced to supervised probation or active time. It would also allow the Department to make referrals to credit counseling agencies and debt restructuring services. The bill would also authorize a county to retain the collection assistance fee if the fee is collected by a collections program funded by the county government and removes the prohibition against the Department charging additional costs of collection.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This act becomes effective July 1, 2011, and applies to cases adjudicated on or after that date.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED

AN ACT TO AMEND THE JURISDICTIONAL AND PROCEDURAL PROVISIONS OF THE PROBATE CODE AND RELATED STATUTES TO PROVIDE UNIFORMITY IN ESTATE MATTERS, TO DEFINE THE JURISDICTION OF THE CLERK OF SUPERIOR COURT CONSISTENT WITH THE PROVISIONS OF THE UNIFORM TRUST CODE, TO RECODIFY CERTAIN PROVISIONS RELATING TO THE PROBATE OF WILLS, AND TO UPDATE AND AMEND THE PROCEDURE FOR CLAIMING SPOUSAL AND CHILDREN'S ALLOWANCES.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. G.S. 1-301.3 reads as rewritten:

"§ 1-301.3. Appeal of trust and estate matters determined by clerk.

(a) Applicability. – This section applies to matters arising in the administration of ~~testamentary~~ trusts and of estates of decedents, incompetents, and minors. G.S. 1-301.2 applies in the conduct of a special proceeding when a special proceeding is required in a matter relating to the administration of an estate.

(b) Clerk to Decide Estate Matters. – In matters covered by this section, the clerk shall determine all issues of fact and law. The clerk shall enter an order or judgment, as appropriate, containing findings of fact and conclusions of law supporting the order or judgment.

(c) Appeal to Superior Court. – A party aggrieved by an order or judgment of the clerk may appeal to the superior court by filing a written notice of the appeal with the clerk within 10 days of entry of the order or ~~judgment.~~ judgment after service of the order on that party. The notice of appeal shall ~~specify~~ contain a short and plain statement of the basis for the appeal. Unless otherwise provided by law, a judge of the superior court or the clerk may issue a stay of the order or judgment upon the appellant's posting an appropriate bond set by the judge or clerk issuing the stay. While the appeal is pending, the clerk retains authority to enter orders affecting the administration of the estate, subject to any order entered by a judge of the superior court limiting that authority.

(d) Duty of Judge on Appeal. – Upon appeal, the judge of the superior court shall review the order or judgment of the clerk for the purpose of determining only the following:

(1) Whether the findings of fact are supported by the evidence.

(2) Whether the conclusions of law are supported by the findings of facts.

(3) Whether the order or judgment is consistent with the conclusions of law and applicable law.

It is not necessary for a party to object to the admission or exclusion of evidence before the clerk in order to preserve the right to assign error on appeal to its admission or exclusion. If the judge finds prejudicial error in the admission or exclusion of evidence, the judge, in the judge's discretion, shall either remand the matter to the clerk for a subsequent hearing or resolve the matter on the basis of the record. If the record is insufficient, the judge may receive additional evidence on the ~~evidentiary~~ factual issue in question. The judge may continue the case if necessary to allow the parties time to prepare for a hearing to receive additional evidence.

(e) Remand After Disposition of Issue on Appeal. – The judge, upon determining the matter appealed from the clerk, shall remand the case to the clerk for such further action as is necessary to administer the estate.

(f) Recording of Estate Matters. – In the discretion of the clerk or upon request by a party, all hearings and other matters covered by this section shall be recorded by an electronic recording device. A transcript of the proceedings may be ordered by a party, by the clerk, or by the presiding judge. If a recordation is not made, the clerk shall submit to the superior court a summary of the evidence presented to the clerk."

SECTION 2. G.S. 7A-307(a) reads as rewritten:

"§ 7A-307. Costs in administration of estates.

(a) In the administration of the estates of decedents, minors, incompetents, of missing persons, and of trusts under wills and under powers of attorney, in trust proceedings under G.S. 36C-2-203, in estate proceedings under G.S. 28A-2-4, and in collections of personal property by affidavit, the following costs shall be assessed:

(1) For the use of the courtroom and related judicial facilities, the sum of ten dollars ($10.00), to be remitted to the county. Funds derived from the facilities fees shall be used in the same manner, for the same purposes, and subject to the same restrictions, as facilities fees assessed in criminal actions.

(1a) For the upgrade, maintenance, and operation of the judicial and county courthouse phone systems, the sum of four dollars ($4.00), to be credited to the Court Information Technology Fund.

(2) For support of the General Court of Justice, the sum of seventy-five dollars ($75.00), plus an additional forty cents (40/Ao) per one hundred dollars ($100.00), or major fraction thereof, of the gross estate, not to exceed six thousand dollars ($6,000). Gross estate shall include the fair market value of all personalty when received, and all proceeds from the sale of realty coming into the hands of the fiduciary, but shall not include the value of realty. In collections of personal property by affidavit, the fee based on the gross estate shall be computed from the information in the final affidavit of collection made pursuant to G.S. 28A-25-3 and shall be paid when that affidavit is filed. In all other cases, this fee shall be computed from the information reported in the inventory and shall be paid when the inventory is filed with the clerk. If additional gross estate, including income, comes into the hands of the fiduciary after the filing of the inventory, the fee for such additional value shall be assessed and paid upon the filing of any account or report disclosing such additional value. For each filing the minimum fee shall be fifteen dollars ($15.00). Sums collected under this subdivision shall be remitted to the State Treasurer. The State Treasurer shall remit the sum of two dollars and five cents ($2.05) of each seventy-five-dollar ($75.00) General Court of Justice fee collected under this subdivision to the North Carolina State Bar for the provision of services described in G.S. 7A-474.4.

(2a) Notwithstanding subdivision (2) of this subsection, the fee of forty cents (40¢) per one hundred dollars ($100.00), or major fraction, of the gross estate, not to exceed six thousand dollars ($6,000), shall not be assessed on personalty received by a trust under a will when the estate of the decedent was administered under Chapters 28 or 28A of the General Statutes. Instead, a fee of twenty dollars ($20.00) shall be assessed on the filing of each annual and final account. However, the fee shall be assessed only on newly contributed or acquired assets, all interest or other income that accrues or is earned on or with respect to any existing or newly contributed or acquired assets, and realized gains on the sale of any and all trust assets. Newly contributed or acquired assets do not include assets acquired by the sale, transfer, exchange, or otherwise of the amount of trust property on which fees were previously assessed.

(2b) Notwithstanding subdivisions (1) and (2) of this subsection, no costs shall be assessed when the estate is administered or settled pursuant to G.S. 28A-25-6.

(2c) Notwithstanding subdivision (2) of this subsection, the fee of forty cents (40¢) per one hundred dollars ($100.00), or major fraction, of the gross estate shall not be assessed on the gross estate of a trust that is the subject of a proceeding under G.S. 36C-2-203 if there is no requirement in the trust that accountings be filed with the clerk.

(2d) Notwithstanding subdivisions (1) and (2) of this subsection, the only cost assessed in connection with the qualification of a limited personal representative under G.S. 28A-29-1 shall be a fee of twenty dollars ($20.00) to be assessed upon the filing of the petition.

(3) For probate of a will without qualification of a personal representative, the clerk shall assess a facilities fee as provided in subdivision (1) of this subsection and shall assess for support of the General Court of Justice, the sum of twenty dollars ($20.00).

(4) For the filing of a caveat to a will, the clerk shall assess for support of the General Court of Justice, the sum of two hundred dollars ($200.00).

(5) Notwithstanding subdivisions (1) and (2) of this subsection, the only cost assessed in connection with the reopening of an estate administration under G.S. 28A-23-5 shall be forty cents (40¢) per one hundred dollars ($100.00), or major fraction, of any additional gross estate, including income, coming into the hands of the fiduciary after the estate is reopened; provided that the total cost assessed when added to the total cost assessed in all prior administrations of the estate shall not exceed six thousand dollars ($6,000).

(b) In collections of personal property by affidavit, the facilities fee and thirty dollars ($30.00) of the General Court of Justice fee shall be paid at the time of filing the qualifying affidavit pursuant to G.S. 28A-25-1. In all other cases, these fees shall be paid at the time of filing of the first inventory. If the sole asset of the estate is a cause of action, these fees shall be paid at the time of the qualification of the fiduciary.

(b1) The clerk shall assess the following miscellaneous fees:

SECTION 3. Article 5 of Chapter 31 of the General Statutes, G.S. 31-12 through G.S. 31-31.2, is recodified as Article 2A of Chapter 28A of the General Statutes, G.S. 28A-2A-1 through G.S. 28A-2A-23.

"Administration of Decedents' Estates.

"Article 1.

"Definitions and Other General Provisions.

"§ 28A-1-1. Definitions.

As used in this Chapter, unless the context otherwise requires, the term:

(1) "Collector" means any person authorized to take possession, custody, or control of the personal property of the decedent for the purpose of executing the duties outlined in G.S. 28A-11-3.

"§ 28A-2-6. Commencement of estate proceedings, pleadings, consolidation, and joinder.

(a) Contested Estate Proceedings. – Contested estate proceedings brought against adverse parties shall be commenced by petition in the existing estate administration file. All parties not joined as petitioners shall be joined as respondents. The clerk of superior court shall issue the estate proceeding summons to the respondents. The clerk of superior court may order that additional persons be joined as respondents and shall issue the estate proceeding summons to the additional persons. The estate proceeding summons shall notify a respondent to appear and answer the petition within 20 days after its service upon the respondents. The estate proceeding summons shall comply with the requirements set forth in G.S. 1-394 for a special proceeding summons except that the summons shall be titled "ESTATE PROCEEDING SUMMONS" and shall be served upon a respondent in accordance with G.S. 1A-1, Rule 4. After the time for responding to the petition or complaint has expired, any party or the clerk of superior court may give notice to all parties of a hearing.

(b) Uncontested Estate Proceedings. – Estate proceedings before the clerk of superior court that are uncontested may be decided without hearing according to practice and procedure provided by law and shall be commenced by the filing of a petition, setting forth the facts entitling the petitioners to relief and the nature of the relief demanded. In these proceedings, the clerk of superior court may hear and decide the petition summarily.

(c) Pleadings. – Any petition, response, or request for hearing in a contested estate proceeding before the clerk of superior court shall contain a short and plain statement of the claim that is sufficiently particular to give the court and the parties notice of the transactions, occurrences, or series of transactions intended to be proved showing that the pleaders are entitled to relief, and a demand for judgment for the relief to which the pleader is entitled. Each averment should be simple, concise, and direct. No technical forms of motions or responses are required. A party may set forth two or more statements of a claim or defense alternatively or hypothetically. The signature of an attorney or party constitutes a certificate by that attorney or party that (i) the attorney or party has read the pleading, motion, or other paper; (ii) to the best of the attorney's or party's knowledge, information, and belief formed after reasonable inquiry, it is well grounded in fact and is warranted by existing law or a good faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law; and (iii) it is not interposed for any improper purpose, such as to harass or to cause unnecessary delay or needless increase in the cost of litigation. All motions, responses, and requests for hearing shall be so construed as to do substantial justice.

(d) Extensions of Time. – The clerk of superior court, for cause shown at any time in the clerk's discretion, with or without motion or notice, may enter an order enlarging the period of time within which an act is required or permitted in an estate proceeding, by any applicable rule of G.S. 1A-1, the Rules of Civil Procedure, or by order of the court, if the request is made before the expiration of the period originally prescribed, but not to exceed 10 days, provided that the court can enlarge the time for a period of more than 10 days for good cause shown, but only to the extent that the court in its discretion determines that justice requires. Upon motion made after the expiration of the specified period, the clerk of superior court may permit the act where the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect. Notwithstanding any other provision of this subsection, the parties to a proceeding may enter into binding stipulations, without approval of the clerk of superior court, enlarging the time within which an act is required or permitted by this Article, by any applicable Rules of Civil Procedure or by order of the court, not to exceed 30 days.

(e) Rules of Civil Procedure. – Unless the clerk of superior court otherwise directs, Rules 4.5, 6(a), 6(d), 6(e), 18, 19, 20, 21, 24, 45, 56, and 65 of G.S. 1A-1, the Rules of Civil Procedure, shall apply to estate proceedings. Upon motion of a party or the clerk of superior court, the clerk may further direct that any or all of the remaining Rules of Civil Procedure shall apply, including, without limitation, discovery rules; however, nothing in Rule 17 requires the appointment of a guardian ad litem for a party represented except as provided in G.S. 28A-2-7. In applying these Rules to an estate proceeding pending before the clerk of superior court, the term "judge" shall mean "clerk of superior court."

(f) Consolidation. – When an estate proceeding pending before the clerk of superior court and a civil action pending before the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice involve a common question of law or fact, upon the court's motion or motion of a party to either the estate proceeding or the civil action, a superior court judge may order a consolidation of the estate proceeding and civil action, and the judge may make orders concerning proceedings therein as may tend to avoid unnecessary costs or delay. Upon the entry of an order consolidating an estate proceeding and civil action, the jurisdiction for all matters pending in both the estate proceeding and the civil action shall be vested in the superior court.

(g) Joinder. – In any civil action pending before the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice, the party asserting a claim for relief as an original claim, counter claim, cross claim, or third-party claim may join, either as independent or alternative claims, as many claims, legal or equitable, as the party may have against the opposing party, notwithstanding the fact that such claims may otherwise be within the exclusive jurisdiction of the clerk of superior court.

(h) Notice of Transfer. – A notice to transfer an estate proceeding brought pursuant to G.S. 28A-2-4(a)(4) must be served within 30 days after the moving party is served with a copy of the pleading requesting relief pursuant to G.S. 28A-2-4(a)(4), or in the case of the clerk of superior court, prior to or at the first hearing duly noticed in such estate proceeding and prior to the presentation of evidence by the parties, including a hearing at which an order of continuance is entered. Failure to timely serve a notice of transfer of a trust proceeding is a waiver of any objection to the clerk of superior court's exercise of jurisdiction over the trust proceeding then pending before the clerk. When a notice of transfer is duly served and filed, the clerk shall transfer the proceeding to the appropriate court. The proceeding after the transfer is subject to the provisions of the General Statutes and to the rules that apply to actions initially filed in the court to which the proceeding was transferred.

(i) Orders Upon Consolidation/Joinder/Transfer. – Upon the consolidation of an estate proceeding in a civil action, joinder of claims under subsection (f) or (g) of this section, or transfer to the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice pursuant to subsection (h) of this section, the clerk of superior court or judge may make appropriate orders to protect the interest of the parties and avoid unnecessary cost or delay. Notwithstanding the consolidation or joinder of claims under subsection (f) or (g) of this section, where the estate proceeding is transferred to the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice under subsection (h) of this section, the clerk of superior court's exclusive jurisdiction as set forth in G. S. 28A-2-4(a)(1) through (3) shall not be stayed unless so ordered by the court.

"§ 28A-2-7. Representation of parties.

(a) Notwithstanding any other applicable rule of the Rules of Civil Procedure or provision of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes, in any contested or uncontested estate proceeding or special proceeding, whether brought before the clerk of superior court or in the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice, the parties shall be represented as provided in Article 3 of Chapter 36C of the General Statutes.

(b) In the case of any party represented by another as provided in subsection (a) of this section, service of process shall be made by serving such representative.

"§ 28A-2-8. Waiver of notice.

A party, or a representative of a party as provided in G.S. 28A-2-7, may waive notice by a writing signed by the party, the representative, or the attorney of the party or the representative and filed in the proceeding.

"§ 28A-2-9. Appeals of estate proceedings and special proceedings.

(a) With the exception of appeals of special proceedings heard by the clerk of superior court, appeals in estate matters shall be as provided in G.S. 1-301.3.

(b) Appeals in special proceedings shall be as provided in G.S. 1-301.2.

(c) Any party may appeal from a decision of the clerk of superior court in an estate proceeding or special proceeding to a superior court judge as provided for in G.S. 1-301.3; provided that the appeals from orders of the clerk of superior court in special proceedings shall be as provided in G.S. 1-301.2.

"§ 28A-2-10. Approval of settlement agreements by the clerk.

The clerk shall have the authority, in the clerk's discretion, to consider and approve settlement agreements where the following apply:

(1) The controversy arises with respect to a matter over which the clerk has jurisdiction.

(2) The controversy arose in good faith.

Nothing herein shall be construed as giving a clerk the authority to approve a settlement agreement modifying the terms of a last will and testament or resolving a caveat of a last will and testament."
