HOUSE JOURNAL

SESSION 2013

FIRST DAY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, January 9, 2013

This day, in accordance with the Constitution of the State of North Carolina and G.S. 120-11.1, which fixes the date for the meeting of the General Assembly of North Carolina, the Members of the House of Representatives assemble in the House Chamber of the State Legislative Building in the City of Raleigh at 9:00 a.m. and are called to order by the Honorable Denise G. Weeks, Principal Clerk of the 2011 House of Representatives.

On motion of Representative T. Moore, the House recesses at 9:01 a.m.

RECESS

The House reconvenes pursuant to recess and is called to order by the Principal Clerk.

The following prayer is offered by the Honorable Dan Forest, Lieutenant Governor:

"Our Gracious and Merciful Heavenly Father,

"We humble ourselves before You in this solemn occasion, as we acknowledge that You are the Sovereign God of the Universe. We acknowledge that You ordained this moment before the foundation of the earth, and even before the beginning of time. And we acknowledge, Lord, that for Your purposes You establish leaders and You depose leaders. Thank you, God, for this day You created, and we ask that You lead, guide, and direct these Representatives that You have appointed us for such a time as this.

January 9, 2013

"You tell us in Romans Chapter 12 to offer our bodies as living sacrifices, holy and pleasing to God, that this is our spiritual act of worship. And we are not to conform to the patterns of this world, but to be transformed by the renewing of our minds. Lord, these men and women whom You have called have made great sacrifices to be in this position of leadership, and we ask that You bless them with great wisdom as they perform their duties in the House. As Your word also tells us, if we lack wisdom, all we have to do is ask You and You will give us wisdom generously, without reproach. We ask that You protect these leaders from the follies and temptations of this world and that You protect their families, especially during times when they are separated from one another.

"Lord, will You establish new relationships, build friendships, and grant understanding that stretches beyond political boundaries in the timeframe of this Session, and break down any walls of political instability.

"Now Lord, we pray that Your hand of favor would be upon this North Carolina House of Representatives during this 2013 Session and that the decisions they make and the laws they establish will honor You and bless the people of this our great State. I offer this prayer in the name of my Lord, Savior, and Redeemer, Jesus Christ. Amen."

The North Carolina National Guard Color Guard presents the colors.

The Honorable Steve Troxler, Commissioner of Agriculture, leads the Body in the Pledge of Allegiance.

The National Anthem is sung by Miss Emma Fornes of Wake County.

There are no excused absences for today.

In the business world, he became a partner in one of the world's largest accounting and management consulting firms in almost record time. In the world of public service, his leadership and consensus building skills have allowed him to rise from serving on his local town council to serving as Minority Whip to now serving as the Speaker of the North Carolina House of Representatives.

January 9, 2013

"Leadership is the ability to transform vision into reality. Over the last two years, our next Speaker has done just that. He has set a bold vision to move North Carolina from great to greatest. He has championed bipartisan solutions to some of the toughest problems facing our State. These successes include helping this House address an historic budget deficit by prioritizing state spending on our most pressing needs while at the same time protecting taxpayers.

"His leadership has also resulted in common sense reforms that will create jobs and put people back to work. Our next Speaker will continue to reach across the aisles to find the best ideas from both parties that will help us solve the challenges facing our great State. He has the right leadership qualities at the right time in our State's history to help put North Carolina back on the right track.

"Ladies and gentlemen, it is my honor and great privilege to place in nomination for Speaker of the North Carolina House of Representatives, my friend, the gentleman from Mecklenburg County, the Honorable Thom Tillis."

The nomination is seconded by Representative Daughtry.

"It is a high honor and a privilege to second the nomination of Thom Tillis for Speaker of the North Carolina House of Representatives on this historic occasion.

"Thom Tillis is not a silver-spooned man. He arrived on the wings of hard work and fair dealings. He knows the struggles of everyday North Carolinians because he lived them in full. He understands the cost of success and the value of family. He is an honest and decent person with a forged vision and determination to make our State government work. He will keep us from getting sidetracked on matters that are not germane to our important work. He will push us to do the people's business with a clear understanding that we all, regardless of our political party, love this State and we can - with good ideas - put our collective shoulders to the grindstone of North Carolina and work for the good of everyone, rich and poor, sick and well, young and old.

"For our wonderful State, these are not altogether the best of times. It is easy to look around government and find a plethora of difficult problems that involve almost every facet of our deliberations and require all of our collective skills.

January 9, 2013

"Providence has sent us a man who can stand on the mountain and see what is best for our State. That man is Thom Tillis and I unequivocally second his nomination as Speaker of the North Carolina House of Representatives."

Representative T. Moore moves that the nominations be closed and that Representative Tillis be elected by acclamation. In compliance with Article VI, Section 5 of the North Carolina Constitution, the election is confirmed by vote of the Members and Representative Tillis is elected Speaker of the 2013 House of Representatives by acclamation.

The Speaker, escorted to the Chair by Representatives Arp, Avila, Catlin, Hager, Hurley, McElraft, Samuelson, and Starnes, takes and subscribes to the following oath of office administered by Senior Associate Justice Mark D. Martin, North Carolina Supreme Court.

OATH FOR SPEAKER OF THE
2013 HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

"I, THOM TILLIS, do solemnly and sincerely swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States; that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to the State of North Carolina, and to the constitutional powers and authorities which are or may be established for the government thereof; and that I will endeavor to support, maintain and defend the Constitution of said State, not inconsistent with the Constitution of the United States, to the best of my knowledge and ability; so help me God.

"I, THOM TILLIS, do swear that I will well and truly execute the duties of the office of Speaker of the North Carolina House of Representatives according to the best of my skill and ability, according to law; so help me, God."

The Speaker, Mr. Thom Tillis, approaches the dais and makes the following remarks.

"Thank you. Madame Principal Clerk, Governor McCrory, Lieutenant Governor Forest, Justices Martin, Edmunds, Newby and Jackson, state officials, and other distinguished guests, thank you for honoring us with your presence here today. Governor McCrory and Lieutenant Governor Forest come to us today in their new capacities in the top two Constitutional offices, but they have come to me many times in the past simply as good friends.

January 9, 2013

"To the returning members of the House, welcome back. I look forward to continuing the work we started two years ago. To the freshman class, 40 strong and fully one third of this body, thank you for your willingness to serve and welcome to the People's House. We are thrilled to have your expertise as teachers, small business owners, business executives, engineers, doctors, and school board members. To the spouses of all members - thank you for sharing your loved ones with the people of North Carolina. You, too, are public servants, and your sacrifice is to be commended. I am blessed to be joined today by my greatest supporter, my chief advisor, and the love of my life - my wife, Susan, along with our daughter, our son, my momma and many other family members.

"Two years ago, I stood before you and accepted the highest honor of my professional and political career. I am deeply moved and doubly honored by the unanimous support given to me today. To Minority Leader Hall and the Democratic Caucus, thank you for your statesmanship. I pledge to you and to all members of the Democratic Caucus that we will work together. In times when we disagree, I will ensure civil, respectful discourse.

"To the freshmen members of the Democratic Caucus, I was sitting where you are just six years ago - a freshman member in the minority caucus. I was a so-called 'back bencher' with what is considered one of the worst offices in the legislative building. When I received my office and my back-row seat assignments, I uttered two words... 'thank you.' I focused on legislation that could gain the support of the leadership, and I worked within the political realities of the time. Four years later, I was blessed to be elected Speaker. I tell you this not to brag, but to demonstrate that you have tremendous potential and that you will have many opportunities to do great things. You have my personal commitment to work with you on legislation consistent with our policy direction. I owe it to you because it was help from then Democratic majority members like Representative Wilkins, Representative Lucas, and former Representative Grier Martin that helped me have an impact early in my tenure.

"Though our approaches may vary and our views are driven by differing ideologies, I firmly believe we have a common goal...to improve our great State. Our mission is to make our great State even greater - in fact - to make North Carolina the greatest State in the Union. Over the past two years, we have made significant progress but there is much more to do. We have made hard choices in the face of economic uncertainty, and we have governed responsibly despite heated rhetoric and political battles. The doomsday predictions of those who opposed our decisions have not come to pass and there are clear indications that the State's economy is moving in the right direction, yet we have much more work to do.

January 9, 2013

"So, how do we make North Carolina the greatest State? We will do it by continuing to implement policies that position us to deliver the best possible service to our constituents in a professional, business-like manner.

"The best-run businesses have the best products and services, the best paid employees, and the best employee morale. While the democratic processes of the General Assembly are not a business, there is the business of government and there is substantial room for improvement. We simply must commit to advancing an agenda that will transform our business, our State, with the goal of being the very best at everything we do.

"We must be willing to make tough decisions and we must embrace forward-thinking policies that result in better education outcomes, better healthcare outcomes, improved public safety, reduced tax burdens, and responsible regulations.

"We must continue our work on sound fiscal management by passing responsible budgets that force us to live within our means and that minimize the tax burden on citizens and businesses.

"We must fully exploit North Carolina's position with the best workforce in the nation. North Carolina workers are experienced, diverse, and dedicated. They are our greatest asset, and their success will secure our future prosperity. We must protect our workers and their right to work and we must send the very clear message to businesses already in North Carolina and those considering expanding here that North Carolina will continue to be the least unionized state in the nation.

"We must place a priority on securing our leadership position in higher education and we must step up our efforts to improve traditional K-12 education. Education accounts for almost 60% of our state budget, and therefore it deserves the lion's share of our time and our best efforts. North Carolina's higher education system is a national standard. Our community colleges and universities are second-to-none, and they produce some of the brightest minds in the nation. But we cannot rest on our laurels. Our community college and university systems must preserve their leadership position in the nation, and we must put even more distance between North Carolina and the rest of the pack.

"We must redouble our focus on traditional K-12 public education. The problems with our K-12 system did not begin a year or so ago. The problems have existed for decades and the State and the Federal Government have made it even more difficult for education professionals to pursue their passion...educating North Carolina's youth. We must open our minds, our eyes, and our ears. We must reach out to the hardworking teachers, principals, and superintendents and implement policies based on their training and practical experience. We can and must give teachers and principals more flexibility to run their classrooms and schools as they see fit. We must continue a tradition started in 2011 to give local school districts budgeting certainty by passing our budget well before the end of June. We must encourage cost-efficient innovation in our schools by focusing on new technologies such as digital learning. We must reward school systems for becoming more efficient by allowing them to reinvest savings into areas they believe will improve education outcomes.

"I recently had a discussion with the superintendent of one of our largest school systems in the state. He said that he and many of his colleagues are considering seeking approval to set up a charter school within their systems. I asked him what would motivate him to do that and he said that the added flexibility would provide more opportunities for innovation. I asked him rather than simply giving him flexibility at a single school, wouldn't it make more sense to provide the school systems with broad flexibility enjoyed by charter schools. Thousands of children are receiving educations that do not live up to the high standards our educators are capable of achieving because traditional K-12 public schools are inundated with regulations, controls and other impediments that get in the way of teaching. We must find meaningful ways to deregulate K-12 public schools and we must do it now.

"Of course, we will continue to advocate for charter schools and parental involvement in where their children go to school, but I firmly believe North Carolina can build on many promising efforts already underway in our traditional public schools. There are many success stories that have received national and international attention. Exciting projects like 'Mission Possible' in Guilford County, 'Project Lift' in Mecklenburg County, 'Project K-Nect' in Onslow County, and 'Digital Conversion' in Mooresville Graded School District are examples of great ideas born out of the innovation and the hard work of our education professionals. We must encourage and reward innovative ideas like these and we must find ways to ensure every student has similar opportunities in the future.

"To lay the groundwork for long-term success in education and all other areas of government, the importance of responsible and reliable budgeting cannot be overstated. Over the last two years, we passed the state budget well before counties and schools were required to finalize their budgets which provided certainty local governments have not seen in years. It may sound like a minor point but it is not if you have ever been in a position where you had to make assumptions about state spending weeks or months before you knew how much the state was actually going to provide.

January 9, 2013

"We were confronted with a multi-billion dollar structural deficit yet we passed a budget in record time. We managed to live within our means, and we lived up to our promise to cut taxes...returning nearly $1.5 BILLION a year to the private economy. By confronting the fiscal challenges, we now face a more stable foundation and the challenges of this year's budget pale in comparison to the challenges we faced just two years ago.

"But we must continue to find ways to increase the efficiency and reduce the cost of government. We must eliminate waste and protect against abuses of the system. We must fight efforts to raise taxes and, in fact, we must find ways to reduce taxes. Most importantly, we must pass budgets that put the interests of taxpayers ahead of the interests of those who want to expand the scope and the cost of government.

"We must also make progress on major issues that have been ignored for far too long. North Carolina's tax system is outdated and is built for a world that existed decades ago. The high level of taxes and the complexity of our taxation system weaken North Carolina's competitive position. We must implement common-sense reforms that are fair, that provide relief to North Carolina's citizens and businesses, and that stimulate our economy rather than hamper its expansion. We must proceed pragmatically and we must be sensitive to the implications of broad-based tax reform. But reform we must, by considering both simple and complex approaches - from streamlining tax returns to restructuring the tax code...all options must be on the table. Like so many other issues that we have tackled thus far, I know we are up to the task and I know we will come up with a solution.

"We must continue to build on the progress we made during the last two years on regulatory reform. In fact I believe it is the key for increasing our competitive position for job creation and economic development. Some regulations are necessary but many are burdensome and represent nothing more than bureaucratic red tape. We must eliminate unnecessary regulations that stifle growth and job creation. Right-sized regulations will also make for right-sized regulatory agencies. Think about it...fewer regulations will require fewer regulators. Through these efforts, we will make North Carolina an advocate - not an adversary - to small business owners and job creators.

"Over the next two years, this House will face many difficult choices, some of which are unforeseen to us now. In this Chamber, no matter the weight, importance, or partisan flavor of the issue, we will remain civil and courteous while we maintain an efficient and effective pace of government. As the Speaker, I will work hard to ensure that the North Carolina House of Representatives is a house of reason, rationale, and respectability.

January 9, 2013

"All stakeholders will have a seat at the table. All voices will be heard. And as all 120 of us confront issues great and small over the coming biennium, I am confident that we will make great strides towards transforming North Carolina from the great State it is today to the greatest State in the Union.

"Thank you for the high honor of leading this august Body. God bless you, and God bless the great State of North Carolina."

The Speaker assumes the duties of the Chair.

ADOPTION OF TEMPORARY RULES

Representative T. Moore is recognized and states that he has placed a resolution with the Clerk for consideration by the Body.

The Speaker directs the Clerk to number the resolution and places H.R. 1, A HOUSE RESOLUTION TO ADOPT TEMPORARY RULES FOR THE 2013 SESSION OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, before the Body.

The resolution is adopted, by electronic vote (87-32), and ordered printed.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The Speaker states that nominations are in order for Speaker Pro Tempore.

The Chair recognizes Representative Dollar who places in nomination the name of Representative Stam as the Republican nominee for Speaker Pro Tempore.

"Mr. Speaker, honored guests, ladies and gentlemen, Members of the House:

"It is my high honor and distinct privilege to place in nomination the name of Paul Stam of Wake County for the office of Speaker Pro Tempore of the North Carolina House.

"Paul Stam has a long and distinguished record of service. He has served his country as a Marine. He has served his church as a Sunday School teacher. He has served his community and profession as a noted attorney. He has served his party as a local and state leader. Paul Stam has served this House as both its Minority and Majority Leader.

January 9, 2013

"Over the years, Paul Stam has been one of the leading conservative Republican activists in North Carolina. He has worked tirelessly for the enactment of conservative principles and drafting of our party platform, in the election of countless state and local officials, and in his service as a caucus leader.

"Paul Stam is a legislator's legislator. Long respected on both sides of the aisle for his knowledge of the issues and the law, his ability to craft legislation, and his steadfast honesty and integrity. Paul Stam is an open book, and his word is his bond. He is a man of unshakeable character. After difficult legislative battles, when the rhetoric can often become heated, Skip Stam is as quick to offer a smile and a handshake to his adversaries as he is his allies.

"He serves as an example in our democratic process, that you can fight passionately for deeply held beliefs, and when the battle is over, win or lose, hold no grudges or ill will for his opponents, in a campaign, in court, or in this Chamber. The best compliment and highest recommendation I can make on behalf of Paul Stam is simply this - he lives, works, and serves with the Christian ideals he believes in.

"Now allow me just a moment to close with a true story. 'Jack' Veach was a prominent business man and community leader in western North Carolina, and also a national leader in the forest products industry. One year, after helping a young man get elected to Congress, Mr. Veach went to see the new Congressman-elect. His advice was brief and to the point, 'Son, when a person gets elected to Congress, and goes to Washington, they have two choices: you can grow or you can swell.' After a moment of silence, Mr. Veach leaned forward and said 'GROW.' Jack Veach's words challenge us all, newly elected Members and veteran Members alike.

"Over the years, Paul Stam has become a trusted and valued servant leader in this House. He chose to grow and this Body has benefited from that choice. I humbly ask the Members of this House to choose him today as our Speaker Pro Tem. Thank you."

Representative McElraft seconds the nomination.

"Ladies and gentleman of the House, it is my honor to second the nomination of Representative Paul Stam as Speaker Pro Tem.

"Representative Stam has served seven terms in our House, serving as the House Republican leader since 2007 and the House majority leader since 2011. He has been a strong and steady force in the Legislature. As a true statesman, Representative Stam is someone who can respect opposing views without wavering from his consistently conservative principles. These are just a few of the reasons why I encourage you, my colleagues, to join me in voting for Representative Paul Stam for Speaker Pro Tempore of the North Carolina House of Representatives."

Representative T. Moore moves that the nominations be closed and that Representative Stam be elected by acclamation. In compliance with Article VI, Section 5 of the North Carolina Constitution, the election is confirmed by vote of the Members and Representative Stam is elected Speaker Pro Tempore of the 2013 House of Representatives by acclamation.

The Speaker Pro Tempore, escorted to the Well of the House by Representatives Blackwell, Brody, Conrad, D. Hall, Hardister, Jeter, and Terry, takes and subscribes to the following oath of office administered by Senior Associate Justice Mark D. Martin, North Carolina Supreme Court.

OATH FOR SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE OF THE
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
2013 SESSION

"I, PAUL STAM, do solemnly and sincerely swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States; that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to the State of North Carolina, and to the constitutional powers and authorities which are or may be established for the government thereof; and that I will endeavor to support, maintain and defend the Constitution of said State, not inconsistent with the Constitution of the United States, to the best of my knowledge and ability; so help me God.

"I, PAUL STAM, do swear that I will well and truly execute the duties of the office of Speaker Pro Tempore of the North Carolina House of Representatives according to the best of my skill and ability, according to law; so help me, God."

Speaker Pro Tempore Stam makes the following remarks.

"I accept your election. Your Excellencies Governor McCrory and Lieutenant Governor Forest, Mr. Speaker, Madam Clerk, Members, families, visitors, and especially my wife, Dottie. She has supported me faithfully for almost thirty years in this legislative effort. And she is a wonderful grandmother. She brought along two of my seven grandchildren today. I would like to speak about the way the House can operate by using three examples from my grandchildren.

January 9, 2013

"First, any grandfather likes to talk about his grandchildren. And second, if you did not have them about half of you would not be here. You are here because you want to ensure the future of your grandchildren and great grandchildren and posterity. My grandchildren go from seven, six, five, four, two, and two one-year olds.

"The older boys like to watch, over and over and over again, the musical 'Phantom of the Opera.' They like the music and the romance, but especially they like picking out the bad guys and the good guys. The bad guy wears a cape and a sword but so does the good guy, who also wears a cape and a sword. They always want to know how you tell the difference. Fortunately in that musical the bad guy usually wears a mask so it's easy to tell. But sometimes we can't tell who the good guy is. What is the right course to go down legislatively here? Which members of the public can be believed and which ones cannot? We have to discern good from evil.

"My older boys also believe that all sports are contact sports, whether it is swimming or basketball. On Christmas day we all played soccer, about a dozen of us, including the four little boys. Even those who were on the same team were tackling each other and were on the ground constantly.

"Here in the General Assembly (Representative Lewis you must have some youngsters because you understand this concept) there is little need to engage in aggressive contact especially with members of the same team, that is, Members of the House. We can save it for the Senate.

"One of the favorite things they like to do with me is to play chess. The younger boys, ages two and four, like to challenge me to play by saying 'Yeye let's play chess. I am going to take all your pieces.' And that challenge is enough to get me out of my chair to take them on. We have different ways of playing; they don't know all the rules yet. As they get older they realize they can win without taking all of the pieces. And this is partially a matter of strategy but also a matter of character.

"One of my older boys was challenged to a game of chess with a very ill relative. These are two of the most competitive people I know. He was four years old at the time. His relative, my brother, was fifty-seven. They were emailing about how they were going to defeat each other in chess when they got together. They finally began this game, and I noticed that my four-year old grandson was giving away his pieces. We asked him, 'Will, why are you doing this, why are you giving away your pieces and not trying to win?' He said he was trying to 'be kind.' We can all learn from that: we don't have to take all of our opponent's pieces (in order to win). Second, as we defeat them, we can be kind. That is true in the House as well, in the Assembly, and in all of government.

"I wish you all, everyone here, well as we embark on what I think will be a great and historic Session. Thank you for this opportunity, Mr. Speaker."

ELECTION OF PRINCIPAL CLERK

The Speaker announces that nominations are in order for Principal Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Representative Samuelson places the name of Denise G. Weeks of Wake County in nomination for Principal Clerk.

"THANK YOU Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House and all our friends and family gathered with us on this special day.

"It is my honor to place into nomination Denise Weeks as our Principal Clerk.

"We often hear folks talk about the ideal of servant leadership in our society, yet we also often hear folks lament that they believe they see so little of it.

"Well, this chamber and the great State of North Carolina have been blessed for the past 20 years through the servant leadership of Ms. Weeks. Her generous and faithful service to us has been, and will continue to be, a model for how we all should treat each other and the people we serve.

"In a very tangible way, she has loved us.

"So, if you chose the Christian Bible for your swearing in today, you will see in 1 Corinthians 13:5-7 the type of love I have in mind.

"It says, 'Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It is not rude, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres.'

"Mr. Speaker, I believe this describes Ms. Weeks and qualifies her in every way for another term as our House Principal Clerk.

January 9, 2013

"Members, I urge your continued support and encourage you to emulate her leadership as we work with one another."

Representative L. Hall seconds the nomination.

"To all who are present, to all who would be here and hear, I want to tell you about our House Principal Clerk and why she should be elected to another term.

"You know, service spans generations and from my 88 year old mother who is in the gallery to my nephew who is on the floor, to all of you and your children and families who are throughout this chamber, we have benefited from the service of Denise Weeks.

"And I sat there as we, by acclamation, elected the Speaker for another term, it came to me that the person probably most qualified to lead this House and who leads this House without that distinction has been Denise Weeks. The person who's probably most responsible for legislation is not any of you, whether you are long-serving Members or freshmen, or anyone you replace, but the Principal Clerk, who has guided so many of you through both training and through the movement of your bills. And so as we continue to look to our official leader, and our unofficial leader who really makes things happen regardless as to the party in charge, we still look to Denise Weeks for her leadership. She is the referee on the field, she is the guardian of the game that goes on here sometimes. And she's the one who has the credibility to keep us all inbounds on every play.

"So again, I would second, and commend to you Denise Weeks as House Principal Clerk."

Representative T. Moore moves that the nominations be closed and that Ms. Weeks be elected by acclamation. In compliance with Article VI, Section 5 of the North Carolina Constitution, the election is confirmed by vote of the Members and Denise G. Weeks is elected Principal Clerk of the 2013 House of Representatives by acclamation.

Denise G. Weeks takes and subscribes to the following oath of office administered by the Speaker of the House, Thom Tillis, as authorized under G.S. 120-5.

January 9, 2013

OATH FOR PRINCIPAL CLERK OF THE
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
2013 SESSION

"I, DENISE G. WEEKS, do solemnly and sincerely swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States; that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to the State of North Carolina, and to the constitutional powers and authorities which are or may be established for the government thereof; and that I will endeavor to support, maintain and defend the Constitution of said State, not inconsistent with the Constitution of the United States, to the best of my knowledge and ability; so help me God.

"I, DENISE G. WEEKS, do swear that I will well and truly execute the duties of the office of Principal Clerk of the North Carolina House of Representatives according to the best of my skill and ability, according to law; so help me, God."

H.R. 2, A HOUSE RESOLUTION HONORING THE LIFE AND MEMORY OF WILLIAM L. WAINWRIGHT, FORMER MEMBER OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The resolution is adopted, by electronic vote (120-0), and ordered printed.

On motion of Representative Pierce, the following remarks are spread upon the Journal.

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE G. GRAHAM

"Thank you Speaker Tillis, for the recognition:

"I met Representative Wainwright in the early 1990s when we both were preparing to run for a House seat. I had previously served as County Commissioner; Representative Wainwright had no political experience, but he had a passion to serve.

"One of our associates, Attorney John Harmon from Craven County, contacted Attorney Harry Beech in Lenoir County, to set up a town meeting to introduce Reverend William Wainwright to Kinston and Lenoir County residents.

"The meeting was held and we all listened to Reverend Wainwright as he spoke. I didn't know if he was preaching or speaking, it didn't matter. All I know is that he sold the crowd and I was told to suspend my candidacy at that time.

January 31, 2013

"From that point on, we all got behind Reverend William Wainwright as the candidate to represent our county, and as they say, 'the rest was history'. From that day forward, I supported Wainwright and he supported me as our county grew.

"In addition to being my Presiding Elder, Reverend Wainwright fought for education, job creation, health care, military affairs, senior citizens, and many other issues for improvement. We were able to accomplish much during his tenure because he was genuine, upbeat, and a man of God.

"Representative Wainwright served this Body with grace and dignity and will be remembered as one of the great legislators of our time.

"Mr. Speaker, I commend this resolution to you and the House."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE LUCAS

"I first met Representative Wainwright when I was a freshman in 2001. I quickly learned that he was an Elder in the A.M.E. Zion Church and he immediately embraced me as his Methodist brother! We continued this mutual relationship throughout six legislative terms. I affectionately referred to him as 'Bishop.' One day the real Bishop was here and as I was walking down the hall I referred to him as 'Bishop' and the real Bishop turned around and said 'I just give up.' The 'Bishop' will be greatly missed."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE LUEBKE

"Members of the House, Representative Wainwright and I came in at the same time in 1991 and it is just a great and tremendous loss to me to not look forward and see him sitting there either on the front row as he always did, or being in the Chair as Speaker Pro Tem. Representative Wainwright was a kind man, a generous man, thoughtful, and an easy man to work with.

"We were Co-chairs of the Finance Committee for a number of years, Co-chairs of the Revenue Law Study Committee, and while he and I did not always agree, I would say we agreed about 98% of the time. We just worked well together, because he was so easy to work with. He was so caring, he was so thoughtful. I am really beyond words to speak to the loss that I feel that he passed away this summer. I commend the resolution to you. Thank you."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE MICHAUX

"I do not choose to be a common man. It is my right to be uncommon - I seek opportunity - not security. I do not wish to be kept a citizen humbled and dulled by having the state look after me. I want to take the calculated risk - to dream and to build, to fail and to succeed. I refuse to barter incentive for a dole. I prefer the challenge of life to the guaranteed existence - the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of utopia. I will not trade my freedom for beneficence, nor my dignity for a handout. I will never cower before any master nor bend to any threat. It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid, to think and act for myself, enjoy the benefit of my creations and to face the world boldly and say - this I have done.' While the words of Dean Alfange are inadequate to honor my former seat-mate, my fellow legislator, my friend, they are equally inadequate to record the meaningful impact he had on his church, his community, his constituency, his State - and yes, even this country.

"William seized the opportunities afforded him to be sure his life was dedicated to those things that were deemed beneficial to all people no matter what their station in life.

"William's contributions were inspired by his religious faith and his commitment to the brotherhood of man. Without this faith he would never have had the strength to ferret out those opportunities that would lead to the strengthening of his constituency and to the progress and greatness of this community and State. His role as Speaker Pro Tem, as Deputy Minority Leader, his leadership of the Legislative Black Caucus and his chairmanship of the Finance Committee, his commitment to education - particularly the African-American Male Mentoring Project in our Community College System, and all the other benefits received by those he represented attest to his unselfish character. His every action indicates that the depth of the meaning of his life is unfathomable, inexhaustible and fertilizing from one generation to the next. Those of us who survive must confront the power of his character and moral presence, the force of his personality, the charisma of his being, the creativity of his thought and the invincibility of his belief that God called him and therefore knew no fear in doing that which was right, honorable and beneficial.

"When I talked with him on that last Thursday before he died, he indicated to me that he knew what lay ahead but that he felt safe and secure in the fact that he had indeed made a contribution. We did not go into any detail, but both of us knew that his life had not been lived in vain.

January 31, 2013

"I suspect that on Tuesday evening, William looked toward the heavens and said, 'Precious Lord, take my hand, lead me on let me stand; I am tired, I am weak, I am worn. I have been through the storm, I have been through the night, lead me on to the light; precious Lord take my hand – lead me on.'

"And God took his hand."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE LEWIS

"There's an old saying that says 'statesmanship is much harder than politics, because politics is the art of getting along with people. Statesmanship is the art of getting along with politicians.' And as I listen to the very eloquent remarks that were put forth on this floor today, it occurred to me that all of us in this Chamber share many things. But one thing that we all serve is that at one point or the other we spent our first day on this floor. And I can recall that for my first day on this floor Representative Wainwright was always a kind man - a man to whom you could turn for advice - a man who would tell you the truth. Sometimes he didn't give me the answers that I had hoped he would give me, but I knew the answer that he gave was the truth. And as I look back and realize how truly fortunate I am to have had the privilege and honor to serve with him for 10 years, I am truly thankful, and I commend this resolution to you."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE ADAMS

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:

"I am honored to support this resolution for a man who I cherished as a genuinely good friend and loyal supporter. For more than two decades, I depended on Representative Wainwright as a source of personal strength and like most of you I was blessed by his wisdom, his guidance and his leadership.

"It really hasn't been the same for me since his passing on July 17, 2012 even though I occupy the seat that he sat in. Wainwright and I spent a lot of time together, and on most days when we were in Session, stayed in the same hotel, we ate breakfast together, lunch, and dinner. Like most good friends, we didn't always agree, didn't always see eye to eye, but he always wanted me to see it his way. He listened to me sometimes, but he wanted me to listen to him all the time.

"We worked together on many projects in the legislature and in the Legislative Black Caucus, and the Black Caucus Foundation. He was our treasurer. He helped us to support scholarships for our students. He was knowledgeable about the legislative process and he always stood on the right side of the issues. He did what was right because it was the right thing to do, not because it was politically expedient, but because it was the right thing to do.

"William Wainwright was a principled man of God who cared about the least of these. He spent his time absorbing the power so that he could empower others. He was dependable, he was reliable, he was honest, he was committed and he never had a problem with telling you the truth, whether you wanted to hear it or not. When writing about him after his death, his local newspaper said that Wainwright's life was about people, preaching and politics. Wainwright loved people and he was so committed to serving, so driven to serve that nothing, not even his failing health could keep him from coming to this Chamber up to the very end of Session. You all were here, many of you were, just the few days before the end of his life to do the people's work for his district. William Wainwright was the conscience of this Body. He was recognized as a talented negotiator – the go to man, I would call him. Somebody you'd go to if you needed a problem solved and you couldn't quite resolve it or if you needed to get through to somebody who just wouldn't listen. Wainwright had a calming, consistent demeanor; a low, reassuring, what I call the preacher's voice, and he was a preacher, so he had a preacher's voice. A Personality that demanded and commanded respect. And as has been said, he was fondly referred to throughout the General Assembly as the 'Bishop' - of course, we all knew that he wasn't really a Bishop, but an ordained minister, and a presiding elder in the A.M.E. Zion church. Representative Wainwright loved the Lord and he would not let you forget it. And he always gave the Lord's work his full attention and priority. He drove many late nights during Session returning to his district to do God's work and to do the people's work.

"I got to visit with him, as Representative Michaux did, days before his death, and I was privileged also to make a few comments at his homegoing service. And even then I heard that reassuring voice that always called me Chair Lady, whispering in my ear 'Chair Lady, you can do it.' He was a serious kind of guy but he also had a light side and he would joke with me from time to time when I had to give a speech at a church and I would consult with him on specific scripture, he would say that I was bootlegging and I needed to get a license. But I told him I was a Baptist and we kind of did that. You could always count on him saying what he believed because he truly believed what he said. Martin Luther King said that 'the true measure is not where he stands in times of convenience but rather where he stands in times of conflict and controversy.' The 'Bishop' as we knew him never cared about being inconvenienced. He was concerned about the people. That's why I loved him, that's why we all did. His causes were notable, they were genuine. I commend the resolution to you."

January 31, 2013

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE HAMILTON

"I was not as privileged as many of you here in this room to have known Representative 'Bishop' Wainwright for very long. In fact I only knew him very briefly, a little over two years in fact. But he had a profound impact on my life in a very short period of time. Indeed he was the final phone call that was made to me before I made the decision to run for the House of Representatives in 2010. I had fifteen minutes left in the filing period and 'Bishop' Wainwright said 'Susi, get out there, sign up, and get on with it - you're the right person for this job.' He never let me down. He was always available. He was always encouraging. He was always kind. And he will be missed terribly in this Body by many of his long-term friends. I commend the resolution to you."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE FISHER

"I am one of those legislators who occasionally get appointed during a short session, so I was able to serve in the Short Session in 2004, prior to having to run for election the following November, a bit of 'on the job training,' if you will. I was appointed to serve in the seat previously held by now-Senator Martin Nesbitt, longtime legislator from Buncombe County. Because of this, I got to sit in his seat near the front of the Chamber very near Representative William Wainwright.

"You know how first impressions really stick? Well, Representative Wainwright made an unforgettable first impression upon me. He helped remind me when to vote. And when we had those unending Sessions (the ones that went late into the evening, toward the end of the biennium), he let me in on a secret - the snack bar stays open while we are in the Chamber. He even made sure I got fed. But one of the real and lasting impressions that Representative Wainwright made on me was when he had the occasion to pray either on the floor of the House or in our Democratic Caucus meetings. His prayers were ones that you just knew were being heard. I was certain up to the very last time I heard him pray in Caucus, that Representative Wainwright's prayers were heard.

"I commend the resolution to the Body. Thank you."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE WILKINS

"Folks, I am not going to attempt to embellish. How did we just call him Wainwright? But that's what we did. So I am not going to attempt to embellish Wainwright's life. It doesn't need embellishment. I am going to speak more to the folks who were here for the last couple of years than I am going to speak to the freshmen, but freshmen need to pay attention. We sat here last year, and we saw him wasting away. All of a sudden the coat shoulders were much broader than the shoulders that had once filled them. But you know where he was, right there, in that seat, teaching us how to serve with sacrifice.

January 31, 2013

"I commend the resolution to you."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE PIERCE

"So much has already been said, but Brother Wainwright would always say 'my brother beloved'; that was his expression to me. It was amazing, in the month of July, when Robert Wilson and myself traveled with Wainwright to Pollocksville, North Carolina. He was frail, and yet he took the mike at the Sunday School convention, and I watched him. He held it with two hands, he was weak, but he still was there serving, and encouraging the Sunday School convention down in Pollocksville, North Carolina to keep the faith, to hold on. And as a fellow minister, it just encouraged me to be faithful. I just believe that God told Wainwright, 'well done, my good and faithful servant.'

"Wainwright was my friend, a good friend. Oh, did we have some good times. I want y'all to excuse me, but Wainwright was my friend, my good friend. Oh boy, did we have some good times together. I just thank God for this opportunity to stand and just say a word for my friend, just wonderful, just wonderful good friend. And in this world, if you can count your friends on one hand, you've got something. And believe me, Wainwright was a good friend. And I just thank God, as Representative Alma Adams said. You could tell where Wainwright had been in the building, because he had some good cologne, all the time. And it's just good, and if y'all don't mind me, I just thank God that we do have a human side, all of us. And I thank God for that, because if not, I don't know where we would be as a people, but I'm just glad that I can stand and say this for my friend today.

"And I think it's appropriate, Mr. Speaker, I think I have the terminology right, that this will be spread upon the journal. I just thank God for this opportunity. I didn't think I could do it, but I hear Wainwright say in this ear, 'you can do it, Pierce.' Thank you Mr. Speaker, thank you Members, for this opportunity."

January 31, 2013

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE R. BRAWLEY

"Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen, having been here when 'Bishop' Wainwright came, in response to all that's been said, Amen, brother, let it be."

H.R. 3, A HOUSE RESOLUTION HONORING THE LIFE AND MEMORY OF LARRY R. BROWN, FORMER MEMBER OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The resolution is adopted, by electronic vote (120-0), and ordered printed.

On motion of Speaker Tillis, the following remarks are spread upon the Journal.

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE LAMBETH

"Both Representative Debra Conrad, 74th District, and I recommend for consideration a resolution honoring former House Member, Larry R. Brown. Representative Brown passed away while in office on August 16, 2012.

"Representative Brown was a true American patriot having served our country in the U.S. Navy. He loved his country and this State. His public service included that of an Alderman and Mayor for the fine Town of Kernersville. He served for four terms in this distinguished Body serving with many of the Members present today. He developed many friendships among the Members of the General Assembly.

"Mr. Speaker, Representative Conrad and I are honored to present this resolution for your consideration."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE BLUST

"Thank you Mr. Speaker, Members of the House.

"Representative Brown was my seatmate last year and he made it. He was really a good Member in many senses and it's a shame in some ways that he's not here with so many new Members because there's so much that a new Member could learn from Larry Brown. One was, he would know an issue thoroughly – he was probably the foremost knowledgeable person in this Chamber and this legislation on the annexation issue that was so big last Session. I think there was finally action on that entered after several years, several Sessions, purely because of the dogged determination of Representative Larry Brown. He knew the issue inside out. And I found out how much he knew about some of these issues because one of my biggest tangles here since I've been a legislator was with Larry Brown.

January 31, 2013

"I really didn't know him then, and Guilford had a bill that the town of Oak Ridge wanted, in the western part of Guilford to pass an ETJ to try to keep Kernersville from coming over and we thought that was going to be a nothing – no opposition. It sailed through the Senate and came over here and Larry Brown fought that thing, and that's probably the maddest I've been over here, over Larry Brown, and it was a fair fight and he just knew the issue better – he knew ETJ – he knew annexation and he caused all kinds of headaches over that one. And for a few days I was mad, but I learned this one thing and this is very important for new Members – the wins come and go, the issues change, and somebody who can be your biggest impediment, your biggest enemy one day, you might need them the next day or next week.

"Larry was able to put that aside and we actually became good friends after tangling so strenuously on an issue. So that is something to definitely learn, to put your battles behind you and move on and don't get permanently estranged from someone on a personal basis. Larry also, could teach you to be careful about what you put over e-mail. He did get into some trouble over an e-mail one time.

"He was very knowledgeable. He stood up for his people, he knew the issues, he studied the issues, and he was tough and I can tell you he was tough, because had he been back, he was going to do what five brave people before him have not been able to do.

"He was going to go where Representative West couldn't make it, a tough Vietnam Veteran; Representative Daughtridge couldn't make it, a veteran in the political wars in this Chamber; Representative Cleveland, a Marine Corp retiree - you'd think he's tough; Speaker Tillis, business man, IBM business consultant; and Representative Killian, West Point Airborne Ranger. They've all been my seatmates and they couldn't take it another term but Larry Brown was gonna do it and I hope the post-Blust traumatic stress disorder didn't bother him too much. I fear for Representative Turner; the Speaker in his wisdom has put now a female here. Larry made it, and I'm going to miss him. He was a great Member and I commend the resolution to you."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE L. BELL

"Thank you Mr. Speaker, Members of the House:

"Larry Brown was one of the three Larrys in here – Larry Bell, Larry Hall, Larry Brown and Larry Womble. Yeah, there were four of us, and we talked about that sometimes when we would meet.

January 31, 2013

"He became a good friend of mine and as Representative Lewis mentioned about a true statesman, could reach across the aisle and work with people and he did just that.

"He reached across the aisle. He selected me and Pryor Gibson to travel with him to Taiwan. First time I'd ever flown that far away from home; it was a long trip. I went, along with some of the Members, but we were the only two Democrats to go on that trip, Pryor Gibson and myself. I think we made friends across the aisle that last even to this day. I always thought about him for that reason. He kept me informed about some of the members that we met there at the time. He stayed in constant contact with the officials in Taiwan, and he would always send me pictures and news briefs about them. So I was really sad to hear of his passing and he was a good friend and good statesman and I commend the resolution to you."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE DOLLAR

"Thank you, Mr. Speaker, Members of the House:

"I think it's a wonderful day that we take the time to honor both of these legislators, who were here for the right reasons, and both of them served as such a wonderful example to us. Larry came in with my class or our class – there's a few of us left that came in 2005, and when I came to the Chamber one of my major goals, probably my top goal when I got here was annexation reform. And I knew there were a few people in the Chamber at the time who'd been working for years tirelessly on that. Some of those folks were getting ready to leave the Chamber – little did I know that Larry Brown, when he came in, had the same goal. We spent eight years with a number of legislators who worked on that issue. But I would have to say that no one worked more tirelessly on the issue of involuntary annexation and property rights for the citizens of this State than Larry Brown. He was dogged for eight years, and as Representative Blust said, we finally got it done we thought, in 2011. We did get it done in 2012, put the final stamp on that. I think that's the lasting legacy that will live on in memories of so many very grateful citizens across this State.

"It's wonderful to see legislators that are trying to promote goals that are beyond themselves; that are not part of self-interest – but are goals that want the best for citizens of our State. I think that Larry had that in his heart, and he served with that in the forefront of his mind and with all of his actions. So both for Representative Wainwright and Representative Brown, we will miss them both and we aspire to their example of servant leadership. Thank you."

January 31, 2013

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE STARNES

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the House;

"Larry Brown was my friend and I was glad to serve with him as a colleague here. You know it's interesting to see the different character and the nature that different Members have. Some people love to get up and holler and shout and scream to make their point. But Larry Brown had a quiet resolve about him and he proved that you don't have to be loud to be heard. When Larry Brown spoke, people listened, because they knew that what he was getting ready to say was something that was worth listening to. You didn't have to know Larry Brown very long to understand that he was very devout in his faith. He loved the Lord with all his heart and he was unashamed in telling you that he was a Christian. Larry Brown was a servant of the people. I don't know of any Member I have ever served with who had more of a servant attitude than Larry Brown. He always wanted to see what he could do to help you, not what you could do to help him. Larry Brown was a man who never wavered in his principles or in his convictions. He would work with you on an issue, he would try to come to an agreement with you on an issue, but when it came to his core principles, he never compromised on what he felt was the truth.

"Larry Brown was a very effective Chair of the Government Committee. When he would chair it, he had a unique ability to chair it with a quiet authority, very confident in the knowledge that what he was doing was right. As others have said, annexation reform was one of his burning issues, and he spent years and years and years seeing that the bill actually come to pass. But why was it that Larry Brown was interested in annexation? It was because he wanted to help Members, or individuals protect their property rights and he was always interested in the rights of the little people. He just felt it was wrong for the little citizen to have to go in and do battle against the cities who had the resources that the average citizen did not.

"You know, when I think about Larry Brown, I am reminded of a poem by Walter Foss and it says:

'Let me live in a house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by-
The men who are good and the men who are bad,
As good and as bad as I.
I would not sit in the scorners' seat
Nor would I hurl the cynic's ban-
Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.'

January 31, 2013

"We all know that Larry Brown was our friend, and I don't know of any greater compliment that we can pay to him. Mr. Speaker, I commend the resolution to you."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE GOODMAN

"When I was newly elected, I came to the Legislative Building to visit with the Speaker. I was unsure of which direction I should go and I ran into Representative Larry Brown. He asked if he could help me, and instead of telling me to turn left, then take two rights, and go up two flights of stairs, he said 'let me show you where the Speaker's office is.' He went out of his way to help me that day. His small act of kindness was most welcomed by me."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE HURLEY

"My life was enriched by having known Larry Brown. When I came to the General Assembly, his office was two doors down from mine. He always had time to listen and talk about issues. When forced annexation was being considered in my county, I went to Larry for education on the issue. He not only helped me but listened and talked to concerned citizens in my county. Although he represented Kernersville, he also loved Pinehurst. I was at a tag sale in Pinehurst and heard a lady ask someone on their phone, 'Who has House seat number 44?' and it was Larry's wife, Martha, who was talking to him. I introduced myself and she let me speak to him. I think it was the last time I talked with him. He was so respected by his sister-city in Taiwan that they sent a delegation to his funeral. I am grateful for the opportunity to have known Larry Brown."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE WILKINS

"Representative Dollar mentioned the class of '05. I was in that class. It's kind of strange; you've been around a few years, but yet you can just sit down any time you want to - and you know what I'm talking about - and you can name the people who were in your freshman class. I came in with Representative Dollar, Representative Dale Folwell - I even survived having Representative George Cleveland in my freshman class - Representative Wray, and Representative Harrison. You can just name them off, and you know what I'm talking about. But Representative Larry Brown was also a Member of that class of '05, and a very staunch and valued Member. And now the class of '05 is incomplete.

"I commend the resolution to you."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE BOLES

"I met Larry my first term in 2009, when I came up, and shortly thereafter Larry got ill and had a stroke. It was the determination that I saw in Larry when he came back to the Chamber. He came in, you know Martha brought him back in his wheelchair. He went from a wheelchair to his little scooter to the cane - but it was the determination he had to get back to this Chamber where he felt that he got stronger by representing the people.

"I will tell you that after I met him in '09 when we started the Session - I started recognizing Larry at a local restaurant where we would eat on Monday nights and I realized that it was Larry Brown and he was in the House with me. At that time I did not know that. Then on Monday nights we would eat together in the bar section and have a sandwich and often when we weren't in Session, we would meet and eat with Martha, whom he dearly loved.

"I also found out that he had a second home in Pinehurst. Even though the district was represented by Speaker Hackney and myself, we found out we had a third Representative there, Representative Brown, because every issue that came up that dealt with Moore County, he knew about it and would tell me about it. It was great that I had his knowledge. I learned a lot from him on the annexation issues which he was very passionate about. It was a unique relationship that Larry and I had by being a resident there in Moore County as well.

"I got a strange phone call one day. Larry called and asked me 'Hey, you want to go with me to Taiwan' and I asked, are you talking to me? I said 'well, who else is going' and he said 'just me and you' so I said yes and did not turn him down. I will tell you that is probably one of the greatest trips that I have ever been on - with Larry. I will tell you, he was very respected by the Taiwanese people and he had a great relationship with them through the State of North Carolina and the House of Representatives. He introduced me to several people from the Economic Cultural Office in Atlanta. Larry had grown such a bond with North Carolina and the Taiwanese people that the General Director, Anna Kao, called me two days before Governor Pat McCrory's Saturday inauguration and said 'we want to come out of respect for Representative Larry Brown, to keep up our relationship with the Governor's office.' I told them to fly in and when they got downtown to let me know and I would meet them and try to introduce them to everyone. Representative Stone and myself met Anna Kao and met up with Representative Fred Steen and they were able to meet with the Governor, sit in the parade review, and meet with the Lt. Governor. So Larry's legacy will still live on as far as his commitment and the relationship that he built with the Taiwanese government.

"At this time Mr. Speaker, I would like to, if I could, read a letter that was sent overnight from the Director General of the Taipei General Office in Atlanta. I would ask that the letter be spread across the Journal and I commend the resolution."

North Carolina
House of Representatives

On behalf of the Republic of China (Taiwan), my colleagues and I of the Taipei Economic and Cultural Office in Atlanta would like to express our appreciation and respect to the late Representative Larry Brown.

Representative Brown was a generous, accomplished man of great integrity. He was a great friend to Taiwan, and we are honored that he traveled to my country many times. He supported Taiwan in many, many ways.

When he was Mayor of Kernersville, Representative Brown also dedicated his efforts to establishing the sister-city relationship between Kernersville and Dashi in 2004. Both cities have enjoyed cordial, mutually beneficial sister-city relations since then, with a friendship that continues to grow. In appreciation of his steadfast support, our Taipei Economic and Cultural Office presented Representative Brown with a Friend of Foreign Service Medal in 2008.

Representative Brown's numerous accomplishments have benefitted not only the people of North Carolina, but also the people of Taiwan. He was a man of the true spirit of giving. He will live on in our hearts.

Warmest Regards,
S/ Anna A. Kao
Director General

FOURTH DAY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Monday, February 4, 2013

The House meets at 7:00 p.m. pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by Eagle Scout and Representative Burr.

The following prayer is offered by Eagle Scout and Representative Bert Jones.

"Our Father and our God,

"We gather again in this house of the people, as those that have been entrusted with great responsibility. We ask that You would grant us much godly wisdom, that we would govern rightly in Your sight, according to Your Word... and we know from Your Word that You are able to do exceedingly abundantly above all that we ask or think.

"Father, we pray that Your Spirit will be the guiding influence that will govern the tone and the actions of this General Assembly. Likewise, we pray for our Governor and all the Executive branch of our government, and also we pray for our Supreme Court, and all the Judicial branch.

February 4, 2013

"We remember those that came before us. We honor the good, and we repent of the evil... we ask Your forgiveness, and we pray that You will look upon our State with favor. We would echo the words that begin our State Constitution, as we humble ourselves and honor You, Almighty God, the Sovereign Ruler of Nations, thankful to You for the existence of our liberties, and dependent upon You for the continuance of those liberties. We acknowledge that our rights do not come from governments of men or of laws, but that our rights come from You, Almighty God.

"Father, this evening we celebrate the 103 year history of the Boy Scouts of America. We celebrate the timeless, godly values that are expressed in the twelve points of the Scout Law that we will discuss, and we pray that You will help us as servant leaders to demonstrate these in our own lives.

"The Scout Promise begins: 'On my honor, I will do my best, to do my duty, to God...' May that promise be our prayer as well.

"With the knowledge that others will offer their prayers as they choose, I offer my prayer in the name of Your Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. AMEN."

A Boy Scout Honor Guard, comprised of Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers, Venture Crews, and Sea Scouts from across North Carolina, presents the colors to the Body.

Eagle Scout and Representative J. Bell leads the Body in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Representative T. Moore, for the Committee on Rules, Calendar, and Operations of the House, reports the Journal of January 31 has been examined and found correct. Upon his motion, the Journal is approved as written.

A leave of absence is granted Representative Hamilton for today. Representative Johnson is excused for a portion of the Session.

STATE OF THE STATE ADDRESS

"About five weeks ago, when I was being sworn in as Governor, and they called me 'Your Excellency,' both my wife and I looked behind us to see who they were talking about.

"What an honor this is to be here tonight in this beautiful Chamber.

"Mr. Speaker, Lieutenant Governor, Mr. President Pro Tem, Governor Martin, who I think is in the audience. Please give a round of applause for Governor Martin. He's been a mentor, and a friend, and a next door neighbor.

"Members of the Court, Members of the General Assembly, and I also must recognize eight very, very hard working people during the last six weeks, and even before that. People who are making tremendous sacrifice working for state government along with many of you, and that is my Cabinet.

"I'd like all eight members of my Cabinet and my other members of my staff to please stand up, you're doing an outstanding job, and I'm proud to have you be a part of our team. Thank you very much. Aldona, this is the earliest I've seen you out of your office.

February 18, 2013

"I also want to give a special 'hello' to former Governor Jim Holshouser. He's back home, he had to deal with an immediate issue that came up tonight. I just wanted to let you know he's healthy, he's strong. We had a great conversation today and to Governor Holshouser, thanks for all your wisdom and your service to this State. I really appreciate it.

"Also, more than anything else, I welcome the fellow citizens of North Carolina.

"You know, I first came to Raleigh in 1967, as a fifth grader from Jamestown Elementary School to tour this magnificent Chamber. It seemed just like yesterday.

"My goal as Governor is to ensure that the fifth graders that we're seeing today and yesterday and we'll see tomorrow, that are taking that same tour that I took 46 years ago, will also get the same great opportunities to live, work, play, and raise a family in the greatest State in the United States of America, and that State is North Carolina.

"But to make that happen, we cannot accept the status quo. We cannot live off of a brand that needs updating and major revamping to not only compete with our neighbors, but to compete with the rest of the world.

"Tonight, you will hear a sobering assessment of our State, but also some recommended actions that will get our economy and State moving again. I already know that during my short tenure here, I've already stepped on some toes on both the left and the right. I am not doing it to cause pain, but to get us to stand up and recognize that we must solve our serious problems now to prevent pain for future generations. That's why we're here tonight.

"But one thing I've learned, I learned during my fourteen years as a Mayor, when you try to appease everyone, you satisfy no one. What motivates me every morning, when I'm so privileged to get up here in Raleigh as your Governor, is the opportunity to be part of long term solutions.

"We must be here not only to represent the next generation, but also the hardworking men and women, who everyday have to get up in the morning and take responsibility for their families.

- "The manufacturing worker completing shift work with every day demands to improve quality and productivity, knowing that if it is not achieved, the plant may move or shut down due to competition not only in the United States, but throughout the world. That's pressure.

February 18, 2013

- "The emergency room doctors, and nurses, and even our sheriff deputies throughout North Carolina who are sadly having to take care of mental health patients and those fighting addiction in emergency rooms and county jails.
- "The farmer who is constantly trying to save their crops from an approaching hurricane or tornado or storm.
- "The hardworking teacher who cannot get funds for needed technology to help students learn.
- "And the sixty or more people, along with me, took time off of their jobs to wait in line for over an hour and a half to get their driver's license renewed.

"We are here to represent these people and all of the people of North Carolina, especially those people right now that are looking for work. That is our goal right now to represent all of these people.

"We obviously have a lot of work to do together, but my team and I chose to look at these challenges, to look at these challenges as opportunities. These are opportunities for every one of us.

"Therefore, our administration is going to focus all of their time on three key functions: our economy, our education, and the efficiency of our services.

"Our economy, our education, and the efficiency of our services.

"Let's start with efficiency. First, we are reviewing the budget numbers as we speak. And right now it looks like next year's budget provides almost no new money or new revenue. So like families across North Carolina, we must live within our budget. We must refocus our priorities and become more efficient in how we spend our limited dollars.

"Now in my first five weeks I've had to work on things I did not anticipate, but that's the part of leadership and many of you are working on these same issues. This is because those people in Washington required us to make some tough decisions on two massive programs affecting all of North Carolina.

February 18, 2013

"These Washington policies were passed with little understanding or discussion of the short-term and long-term impact on our state services and on our state taxpayers.

"I will not outsource these tough decisions. I was elected to do what is right for the people of North Carolina.

"Now after extensive reviews in this brief time that we were given, I have concluded that our government, like working families throughout our State, must first pay off its debt - pay off its credit card, which in this State's case, is 2.5 billion dollars.

"Therefore, tomorrow, I will sign House Bill 4 to protect our small businesses from continued over taxation. This will insure our citizens' unemployment safety net is secure and financially sound for future generations. This is the reason I'm signing this bill.

"These are not easy decisions. But I know one thing - borrowing from Washington with no idea or plan on how to pay for it ends with this administration right now. We aren't going to do it any longer. We are not going to borrow money from Washington with no idea on how to pay it back.

"A recent audit showed that the past administration overspent on Medicaid by 1.4 billion dollars over past three years. Georgia is able to deliver Medicaid services at a cost of 4,000 dollars per patient, while North Carolina's delivery cost is over 6,000 dollars per patient. We must fix this and strengthen our existing Medicaid system prior to putting at risk further tax dollars in a broken system.

"But I must ask all of you to please give my team the time and the flexibility to first stop the bleeding. Please, please, minimize the reports that you're requiring from our administration. This is just last week. Please minimize reports. I know you have a lot of work to do and a lot of review, but please let my administration fix the problem and stop the bleeding now.

"We also need your help, and I will be requesting your help through legislation, to streamline the process at which the Office of Administrative Hearings, where delays - delay after delay - are adding millions of dollars to our cost as we speak today. We must change legislation which allows us to break through this very costly appeal process.

February 18, 2013

"Then we can all work together, with hospitals, with doctors, with insurance companies, with patients on reforming this broken system. This is our number one priority that has been put on our lap and we have to fix it together, and we will fix it together.

"In other areas of inefficiency, and frankly basic neglect of state operations during the past decade, my administration is taking immediate action. Our administration is moving IT equipment from over 30 identified, in the last five weeks, unsafe locations to ensure that the safety of our employees is protected and also the integrity of our IT systems. We've already had one fire. We don't want to have another. My budget will provide substantial funding to fix and repair state properties and our broken IT systems in North Carolina government.

"We will be requesting legislation to expand efforts to implement electronic tracking - tracking systems for state vehicles - an area where we currently don't have any accountability. In addition, we are 'right-sizing' vehicles where possible to reduce cost and fuel use, saving hundreds of thousands of dollars each year.

"We are also requesting legislation to address state personnel and productivity issues. This is a very serious issue for our Cabinet and for other people in the Council of State who have communicated this issue to me.

"We want to reward our talented state employees, but seat warmers must be a thing of the past.

"But I want to also say, we have to continue to attract, retain, reward and appreciate our state talent that works so hard for all of us in state government. Let's also give them a round of applause.

"Now let me say, tell you a few other things we're trying to fix regarding short-term and long-term operations. We recently found out we inherited a system that has been double billing on the Triangle Expressway. Our administration has already fixed this issue. Customer accounts have been refunded, and each one of those customers have been called and given a personal apology. Now that's the culture of state government that we must have... a culture of customer service.

"I'd like to thank our Secretary of Transportation for his role model leadership and delivery of this excellent customer service in a very short period of time, but Tony, I've charged you with several other projects. First and foremost, fix DMV.

February 18, 2013

"And while you're at it, Mr. Secretary, can you please fix the lights on the highways throughout North Carolina. And with all respect, can you start with I-85 and I-77 interchange in Charlotte, my hometown? We would appreciate that. Malcolm Graham I know appreciates that.

"You know, most people don't think of criminal justice, addiction and mental health issues priorities as we work to streamline government. But as a former Mayor, I've seen first-hand the collateral damage to our families, our communities and taxpayers if we continue to sweep these issues under the rug.

"Recently, our First Lady and I visited the Durham Rescue Mission. We were moved by the stories of addiction and its impact on families. After meeting many people at the mission - and my wife has now been there twice - Ann has said it best, and I'm quoting her: 'So many of us could sit back and say why don't these people get out of it? Why don't they quit doing drugs? Why don't they leave this battered situation?' And she concluded by saying the following, 'These women and men have more courage than I can fathom in this entire State.'

"I want to introduce my wife Ann and these two heroes of ours from the Durham Rescue Mission, who have successfully turned their lives around in fighting their own addiction - while fighting their own addiction battle, and also preserving their family. Please welcome our First Lady, Ann McCrory, and our special guests, Mike and Rebecca Allred. May God bless you, and thank you for your hard work.

"Ann, your ovation was bigger than mine, I just want to make a point of that. I am so proud of Mike and Rebecca.

"Their story can be repeated in every of the 100 counties in North Carolina, and we have to do everything that we can to help this terrible addiction issue throughout North Carolina. For the sake of North Carolina families, I ask you to please send legislation, which will re-establish our drug treatment courts, and also increase penalties for those who set up meth labs in our communities. I will sign both of those pieces of legislation immediately.

"I have also instructed my Head of Public Safety - because this issue of drugs and alcohol are just penetrating our families and our communities - I have instructed my Head of Public Safety to ensure that all state law enforcement officials will fight a coordinated effort against the cartel drug rings that are currently in North Carolina as we speak.

February 18, 2013

"We cannot ignore them, we must identify them, and we must get them out of this State now. The sheriffs will tell you this. We need to let people know about this serious issue.

"I also want to collaborate with our educational leaders to ensure that our schools and universities have a strategy to change the culture - to change the culture that I've seen first-hand - of binge drinking and so called recreational drug use. There must be enforcement in our schools and universities of their own policies and enforcement of our laws. And in addition, we must offer help to these students who are doing harm to themselves and to their families.

"This is not a laughing matter; this is not something that they are going through a time of their life. They're causing serious harm to themselves and their families, and we must offer help, both through enforcement and through counseling. That must start now or we will continue to have these terrible mental health issues for generations to come.

"Speaking of education, this is an area that I have passion for; I had my teaching degree at Catawba College, and it's another major focus we are moving forward on because North Carolina is known around the country as a leader in education and innovation in the classroom. But we cannot rest on our past reputation or our laurels. We must continue to reform our education system to stay ahead of the competition not just in the United States but throughout the world.

"Last year, I'm sad to report that 14,000 kids dropped out of North Carolina schools. 14,000 kids dropped out of our schools. 30% of our children weren't able to read at grade level. 65% of our high school graduates who enter community college need remedial math or reading.

"We can all agree on the importance of improving education because our competitive future depends on it. But tonight, we must begin to change the debate on education. Instead of focusing the debate only on the budget, we now must demand results.

"We must ensure that our schools are preparing our students for success by effectively teaching them both the knowledge - both the knowledge and the skills - that will help them lead productive lives and also find jobs. The disconnect that I've seen right now between employers unable to find qualified talent, even with the high unemployment rate, and the citizens unable to get jobs, must be resolved through education.

February 18, 2013

"Senator, I know you are working on this, and I appreciate it. Market-based needs must be an important factor in education funding, curriculum, and results. That's why my administration is seeking to expand strategic partnerships between the education community and the business community. My budget will promote this philosophy in Pre-K, K-12, Community Colleges and our University System.

"I have strongly advocated for two pathways for success in our high schools - vocational and higher college education. I firmly believe in this. There are two pathways to success: both a college track and a path through vocational training. Students like to have choices. Our employers need these choices. They are both equally important to empower our students, to achieve their post-graduation high school goals.

"That's why today we had a wonderful event in Asheboro at Randolph Community College, in front of over four hundred people. And I was proud to sign into law my first bill as Governor, your first bill in this legislature, Senate Bill 14. This major bipartisan legislation will help our employers find qualified candidates for jobs, it directs high schools and community colleges to share resources. It also makes it easier for experts in a private sector to get certified for teaching. Congratulations to all of you, almost every one of you, bipartisan, Democrat, Republican, almost everyone voted for this bill. You deserve applause. North Carolina needs this education reform, and you started it, and it was signed today. Congratulations.

"But we can and must do more to break down what I consider to be the four silos of education: Pre-K, K-12, community colleges, and our great universities. It's been too long since the education cabinet has met. You may have not even known there was an education cabinet. But I will reinstate and lead these meetings to develop a joint strategic plan and process to share resources, to share teachers, to share technology that puts both students and hardworking taxpayers first.

"As Governor, I will also lead a collaborative effort to help our universities come together as the competition for federal dollars is getting so tough. We need to come together as universities to maximize research funding.

"In our Mooresville city schools, the superintendent recently issued laptops for students in grades 4-12. Three years ago, the graduation rate was below 80%. In the last three years, the rate shot up to over 90%. Education is no longer about spending money on bricks and mortar. The power to improve education and deliver real results is at our fingertips. Right now, you watch any four-year-old child learning, they're learning on technology, and they're learning quicker than any of us in this room ever learned.

February 18, 2013

"To increase our children's access to technology, I'm advocating that we ensure that the education lottery money actually be used for education. Now that's a novel thought that all you've been hearing across North Carolina. But we can change some legislation to make that happen.

"I'm recommending that we pursue legislation to reallocate a portion of money away from the bloated and frankly annoying advertising and the large administration cost of the Lottery Commission, and we will use that money to directly help our students with technology.

"I also think we need to work together to give schools more flexibility to spend lottery funds on digital and virtual learning, which school districts, according to our laws, are not allowed to do right now. There's a pot of money right now that can only be used on certain things. Why not let all of our hundred districts use that money on technology and virtual learning? This is the future. Why don't we be ahead of the curve as opposed to being behind the curve? This begins right now.

"Now, third and most important, our number one focus is on the economy and jobs because there are a lot of people hurting out there right now. You know it, I see it, and it's tough. We've got to do everything we can to help people want to work and get work. And today, North Carolina's unemployment rate continues to be the fifth highest unemployment rate in the country.

"This is our North Carolina. My number one priority as your Governor is to make sure that we are doing everything possible to make North Carolina an engine for job creation. North Carolina's economic development brand has not been updated - and we've looked - has not been updated since the 1980s. Governor Martin, thank you, but it's time we update your plan.

"Simply put, our competition in other states caught up to us, and many times, we have to admit, beating us. We are going to develop a long-term strategic plan, Madame Secretary, that updates our brand and puts us on a path to success. The first part of that plan is to fix and modernize our tax system in North Carolina. We've got to do it.

"I know many of you have been working on this for fifty, sixty years. It was even in Governor Martin's speech, I think. But the fact of the matter is our current system is out of date. It was written in the 1930s. It no longer applies to the modern economy. We must have an economic and tax policy in North Carolina that is simple, that is competitive, that is modern and that is pro-growth.

February 18, 2013

"This policy must reward our people and businesses that build things, produce things, grow things, and innovate things. We cannot live off the services through loans or government jobs. We have got to help the people who build things and make things and produce things and innovate things. Our tax policy needs to be updated to help those industries.

"My friend, Joel Ford, even stood up, I am proud of you Joel, thank you. We will work together - we will work together on this plan, which should meet the following criteria:

- "Lower rates on personal income and businesses to be more competitive at least with our next door neighbors.
- "Close loopholes for special interests to make our system more fair and transparent.
- "It must be revenue neutral. We must implement this plan systematically and strategically to ensure that we don't put at risk business competence or crucial revenue needed for service to our citizens.

"But tax reform is just one tool we have to build our economy; we have many other tools to make our economy start igniting again. During the past decade, we have sat on the sidelines for far too long on energy exploration, at a time when our country needs to be more energy independent, at a time when the gas prices right now are going up almost every day, and at a time when our people need jobs. Sadly, we are in a catch-up mode with other regions in our country, and those states that went first have the lowest unemployment rates in the country.

"This administration will move closely working with all of you, to get North Carolina in the energy business and the process of energy exploration in a safe and environmentally sound way.

"Last week, I proudly joined the Governors – one minute they are my competitors, and the next minute they are my partners – but I joined the Governors of South Carolina and Virginia to request federal authority to begin offshore exploration in North Carolina.

"Just think what we need, what we could do with these future revenues. Future revenues can help create jobs; they can provide new revenue for roads or needed infrastructure or to repair bridges; it can help replenish our beaches, which our travel and tourism industries currently needs desperately at this point in time, dredge our ports, which we need right now for travel and trade; and to help fund our education system. This is one pocket of revenue that we have got to explore and find out are we capable of moving now and beating our competition, that's also been sitting on the sideline for far too long.

"We also can't afford to overlook and take for granted the valuable economic resources that we've had in our state for a long time, and that's our military. To grow our private sector economy, we must use our military assets as a major recruitment tool. Think of the talent that is coming home right now, especially as our heroic men and women return home from Iraq and Afghanistan. Think of the leadership talents, the technical talents, the skills that they have to help fill that gap between commerce and the people needing the jobs. We will use them as a recruitment tool and help them and their families when they return home.

"I want to thank our men and women in uniform who have honored North Carolina and our country with their presence, and their service. They deserve it.

"For these heroes, we are finalizing a plan that focuses on first, the retention of the bases and our troops here in North Carolina; second, growing our military supplier base; three, retaining our highly skilled military personnel; and four, growing the defense manufacturing sector. We have incredible opportunity to follow through on those four objectives.

"And speaking of the military, I've always said I'm kind of an Eisenhower Republican. I believe one of the government's main roles is to provide the infrastructure for job creation and economic growth. This is one of the great things that Dwight Eisenhower did as president. He worked to connect the urban with the rural and the East with the West. We need to keep focused on continuing that type of visionary thinking right here in North Carolina using our infrastructure.

"That's why we will soon kick off the development of a strategic, long-term plan for four areas of infrastructure that are crucial for the next generation and for job growth to continue, and to protect our environment. Those four areas are: transportation, water, energy and communications. We need to present to the people of North Carolina, and the people who want to invest in North Carolina, our vision for the transportation plans, our water plans, our energy plans and communication plans. This will send a strong signal to the private sector, that we will be partners with them in their continued economic expansion in North Carolina. It is crucial that we begin this process now. We've waited far too long. Let's do it now, and present the next generation with a vision and a plan for economic growth and prosperity through infrastructure.

February 18, 2013

"Now let me tell you one of North Carolina's other greatest strengths, and that's our export potential. I've always firmly believed that the best way to grow a business is to increase that business, and wanting people to have that product and export it to other countries. When I go overseas on trade missions as your Governor, my number one priority will be expanding the exports of products which say, 'Made in North Carolina.'

"Mr. Commissioner, the export of North Carolina products, especially our incredible agricultural products, is crucial in the rebuilding of our economy. To help achieve this goal, under the leadership of the Agricultural Commissioner, the Transportation and Commerce Secretaries, we gained approval, and I'd like to thank the Council of State, to bring needed refrigeration to our Wilmington port, for our cold food chain exports. This will be one step forward that we must have to increase exports. Thank you, Mr. Commissioner.

"But we also must look at our entire commerce strategy. In the area of business recruitment and needed investment expansion, we are going to be recalibrating our incentive program. This will ensure that we are using our resources based upon measurable results, to attract, expand and retain jobs in North Carolina. We will be undergoing a total review of our Commerce Department, to ensure that we are flexible and we are adapting to our ever-changing competition and economic conditions.

"Almost every day since I have been your Governor, I have been personally meeting, along with other members of my administration, with potential employers who want to expand or relocate to North Carolina. And I'm telling you we're getting a lot of people who are interested. We are already successful in improving our customer service working through bureaucratic regulatory roadblocks that stifle economic recruitment efforts. This is especially true in the Department of Environmental and Natural Resources. John, thank you very much for your hard work at DENR, we appreciate it. We're bringing a customer service attitude to DENR. I'd like to thank the employees of that department too.

"We are also developing partnerships with our community colleges and universities to help meet specific workforce needs for our businesses. And let me tell you this. The heads of our universities, the heads of our community colleges are also important parts of our recruitment team. I have told Tom Ross and every University President, and every Community College President, we want them with us on our recruitment trips because they will be an important part of our selling of North Carolina.

February 18, 2013

"Our biggest challenge, our biggest challenge as I travel the State right now, is right now, not just developing jobs in a growing urban area – sometimes it's much easier to sell, for example, the Triangle area or the Charlotte area or the Triad area. But right now I think our biggest challenge is to develop a strategy for the small towns in North Carolina that have been hit so hard by this recession. And that's exactly what we plan to do. We've got to work with the small towns of North Carolina. There are too many people hurting in those towns.

"And let me tell you this right now. I did it as Mayor, and I'll do it again as Governor. No one, no one will out work this Governor, or our team or any of you in our effort to grow, recruit and retain North Carolina jobs. We will be on the road and we're going to sell our great resources that we have. This is my job, this is your job. We've got a great product.

"Already, I anticipate good news in the near future because of the groundwork we've already laid down in only the first five weeks. We have been meeting and meeting and meeting with potential customers who are interested in North Carolina.

"Now, to do this, however, I'm not going to be deterred by those who want to keep the status quo - the way we've always been doing things in North Carolina. We've got to change, we've got to adapt and we've got to be visionary for the future. We're going to stay focused despite what some of the critics say. We're going to stay focused on fixing the economy, transforming education, and improving government efficiency.

"I'll say it one more time: fixing the economy, transforming education, and improving government efficiency.

"None of this can be about politics, power, legacy, turf, or who gets the credit. Who cares? This is about the people of North Carolina. This is why we're here. This is why each one of you are taking time away from your families every day to work right here in our State Capital, to have this privilege. It's about the people of North Carolina. It's not about power or turf, or legacy. It's about solving problems and developing long-term solutions.

"We cannot achieve these goals alone inside the bubble of government. There's no way. We've got to get out of here occasionally. Our approach must be outward. Starting tomorrow, I, and I ask all of you, to bring this message to our citizens on main streets across our beautiful State.

February 18, 2013

"Achieving these goals during our term in office will not be easy; it's going to be tough. But we have to fulfill and exceed North Carolina's potential. Let's unleash, let's unleash our unlimited resources and opportunity North Carolina has to offer.

"We will do it, we must do it, and God bless all of you and the great State of North Carolina. And now let's get back to work.

"Thank you very much."

"Our Heavenly Father:

"As we gather in this Chamber to do the people's business this Session, we face enormous obstacles and sobering realities that challenge us beyond our limited capacities. We often fall short of what we ought to be as the legislators the people of this State elected us to be. So we humble ourselves before You today and pray that You will endow us with the wisdom and the strength we need to overcome our weaknesses and frailties so that we can carry out our duties to serve the people of this great State. We also ask that You grant wisdom to those in government in other states and in our nation's capital and that You give strength to the people in this great land who are struggling in these difficult times. We pray for Your special blessing and

TWENTY-NINTH DAY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 19, 2013

The House meets at 1:00 p.m. pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by the Speaker.

March 19, 2013

The following prayer is offered by Representative Leo Daughtry:

"We are often asked the question: are you Baptist, Methodist, Buddhist, or Catholic? Are you a 7th Day Adventist, a Sikh, a Hindu, or a Quaker?"

"Whatever religion we may be, we trust that You have no pre-conditions, established borders, rigid denominations, oaths, or restrictions. Your love is not based on our membership in any church or synagogue. You love us all.

"Likewise, we know that the Resurrection as explained in the gospels happened and that the Resurrection happens in our hearts every day and every minute and that is the real meaning of Easter.

"Even when we think we are too smart or too powerful to need Your love, You continue to speak to us as You make us and then You walk with us silently out of the night."

"Heavenly God,

"We thank You for entrusting us with the responsibility of leading the people of North Carolina and we ask that You would restore within us the wisdom, discernment, and integrity we need to serve them well. As we open this Session, we ask that You would refresh us with hope, reinvigorate us with the endurance, and renew us with vision. Unify us, Lord, in purpose and grant us courage to become leaders who act justly, love mercy, and walk humbly. Teach us how to defend the weak, maintain the rights of the poor, and proclaim liberty for the oppressed until every woman, child and man has the opportunity to realize their potential in full freedom. Open our eyes to see Your image in those we serve, as well as in one another. Today, we honor the faithfulness and protection You have afforded to our State by praying as You taught us:

"Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us, and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the Kingdom, and the power and the glory forever. Amen."

"Guide us, Oh Thou Great Jehovah, for we are surely pilgrims in an unfamiliar land. We are jarred by the terror in Boston and saddened by the tragedies in Dallas and Newtown.

"We pray for all who suffered and lost loved ones. For those who grieve, we pray for comfort and hope; for those who fear, we pray for wisdom and courage. Bind up our wounds; heal our broken hearts.

"Guide us to reject the response of hate and revenge, for hate builds a barrier that separates us from You and revenge eats at our soul.

"Guide us instead to the harder work of building bridges to people of all faiths and all races who share our dedication to liberty and justice for all.

"We find strength and renewal in the many selfless acts of courage, the instinctive outpouring of generosity and compassion for those in need.

"We move forward stronger, more resilient, more grateful for this miraculous gift of life that comes from you.

"Our lives are your lives, Oh God. Our work is Your work.

"And may the work we do together on behalf of the people of North Carolina, the words of our mouths and the meditation of our hearts be acceptable in Your sight, Oh God, our Strength and our Redeemer. Amen."

"Lord, we ask You to extend Your protective hand to every man and woman serving in our military and keep them safe as they stand in harm's way.

SIXTY-SECOND DAY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, May 15, 2013

The House meets at 9:30 a.m. pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by Representative T. Moore.

May 15, 2013

The following prayer is offered by Ray Starling, General Counsel for the Speaker of the House:

"Almighty God,

"We come to You this morning in a moment of quiet reflection, hoping to be made more fully aware of our infirmities, shortcomings, and reliance upon You.

"In the busy work of governing through the civil law, we confess that it is easy to forget that our time here on this crazy, backwards thinking world is so brief, particularly compared with Your understanding of 'time.' Forgive us for that.

"We are thankful for the freedoms that have been granted to us as Americans and North Carolinians. We are thankful for the good health of those that serve in this Body and for the good health of those who serve those that serve in this Body.

"By way of supplication, Lord, we ask that you be with these Members and all those involved in this legislative process.

"Be with their heads as they think about doing the right thing. Help them think:

- quickly when thinking quickly is needed,
- slowly when thinking slowly is needed, and
- not at all when instincts and intuition should play a larger role.

"Be with their ears as they listen to the debate of their fellow man and discern how they will make their decisions.

"Be with and guard their and our mouths, so that You would be pleased with what comes out of them.

"Be with their and our fingers, as they shuffle papers, push a green or red button, type an e-mail, or request time to be heard.

"Be with their and ALL OF OUR bottoms, as we sit and wait for the work here to be done. Keep us on them when sitting is right and prod us off of them when we need to move.

"Be with their feet as they make their way around this building, and as they return to their homes to let those who have sent them here be made aware of what has and has not been done.

May 15, 2013

"And in closing, we are reminded of the words of James 1:5, which states that if any of us lacks wisdom, we should ask You for it, and that You will grant it to us generously and without finding fault. Lord, you know we need Your wisdom, and we all agree that we need it generously.

"In the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, Amen."

The Chair leads the Body in the Pledge of Allegiance.

THE RECEIVING OF PETITIONS, MEMORIALS AND PAPERS ADDRESSED TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OR TO THE HOUSE

North Carolina General Assembly
House of Representatives

Representative C. Robert Brawley
District 95

May 22, 2013

The Honorable Thom Tillis
Speaker of the House
2304 Legislative Building
Raleigh, NC 27601

RE: Letter I was debating delivering but will at the request of the Speaker per 1:00 p.m. meeting where he requested the meeting.

Dear Speaker Tillis:

It is an honor and pleasure to serve with so many Republicans and work for Republican goals and ideals. I sincerely believe the traditional values that made America strong will keep America strong. I have spent an entire political career, almost 34 years, supporting the free enterprise system, the values of integrity and responsibility (both financially and socially), and have worked hard at being a team player. However, there are some things that come to my mind; some issues that have come before me that cause me great concern.

Those issues are:

1. A Republican-led General Assembly passing a bill giving a monopoly to the family of a Republican legislator. I am sure you know what I am referring to since all conversations I have had with anyone seem to lead back to you.
2. You slamming my office door shut, standing in front of me and stating that you have a business relationship with Time Warner and wanting to know what the bill was about. You and I both know the bill stifles the competition with MI Connections in Mooresville. MI Connections is being operated just as any other free enterprise system and should be allowed to do so without the restrictions placed on them by the proponents of Time Warner.

3. It appears I was wrong when you spoke to the trucking association. You said you would not have toll roads in North Carolina. Now, all indications in this chamber are that you are the champion for toll roads. I am sorry, but I disagree with that 100 percent. Toll roads are just another way of taxing. I fought them during Democratic administrations because I felt like the Democrats were just trying to use another financing scheme to build something they could take credit for while passing the debt on to future generations.

4. My little bill to de-annex 23 acres in Troutman when the town council had told the man he could de-annex but for some reason, the legislator that represented the district for two years did absolutely nothing. I had called and confirmed with the mayor that the man was told he could de-annex. After being told that, the man improved the property and greatly increased its value. I tried to put in the de-annexation bill and you know what has happened to it. You have controlled it completely, or your staff has, under the pretense we do not want to create conflicts with towns.

Yet, we run all over Buncombe County and Asheville as if it is some kind of hero in the legislature taking care of things. I have supported the issues in Buncombe County because I believe local legislators should be held accountable for local issues. It is their responsibility, not the staff to the Speaker.

It is with a heavy heart, and for these reasons, I am returning the gavel you gave me to be a chair on the Finance Committee.

I look forward to working with you and the Republican team for Republican goals and objectives, but I reserve the right to continue to represent my district and to fight for what I believe is American. I am sorry if you and I get caught up in a fight.

Sincerely,
S/ C. Robert Brawley

CALENDAR

Action is taken on the following:

H.R. 169 (Committee Substitute), A HOUSE RESOLUTION EXPRESSING GRATITUDE TO THE MEMBERS OF THE MILITARY FOR THEIR SERVICE AND HONORING THE MEMORY OF THOSE KILLED IN THE LINE OF DUTY.

The resolution is adopted, by electronic vote (111-0), and ordered printed.

On motion of Representatives Mobley and Pittman, the following remarks are spread upon the journal.

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE BLUST

"On June of 1963 in Cobo Hall in Detroit, in an earlier version of the speech that came to be known as 'I have a Dream,' Martin Luther King, referring to freedom, said 'There are some things so dear, some things so precious, some things so eternally true – that they are worth dying for!'

"At the height of the Cuban missile crisis, President John F. Kennedy concluded an address to the nation by saying 'the cost of freedom is high, but Americans have always paid the cost. But one path we shall never choose is one of surrender, or submission. We seek not the victory of might – but the vindication of right. Not peace at the expense of freedom, but both peace and freedom, here in this hemisphere, and we hope around the world. God willing, that goal will be achieved.'

"With this resolution, we attempt to honor those who in the last year and throughout our history, demonstrated for us that the eternal truths which undergird our liberty are worth dying for. These are the Americans who paid the high cost of freedom with their lives. Jesus once said, 'Greater love hath no man than this – that a man laid down his life for his friends.' They literally walked into the valley of the shadow of death to achieve the goal of both peace and freedom. Our words of praise are weak and feeble in comparison to the sacrificial deeds of those we honor today, but we must never forget how indebted we are to them.

"For we know –

"It's the soldier, not the newspaper editor, who has given us freedom of the press.

"It's the soldier, not the network news anchor, who has given us freedom of speech.

May 23, 2013

"It's the soldier, not the pastor, priest or rabbi who has given us freedom of religion.

"It's the soldier, not the judge or lawyer, who has given us the right to due process.

"It's the soldier, not the protestor, who has given us the right to peaceably assemble.

"It's the soldier, who salutes the flag, who serves beneath the flag, and whose blood-soaked coffin is draped by the flag, who has made it possible for the protestor to burn the flag.

"It's the soldiers, whether Army, Navy, Air Force or Marine, who throughout our history, across this great land from sea to shining sea, from every mountainside, have let freedom ring!

"How can we ever possibly repay the debt we owe to these American heroes? Lincoln told us at Gettysburg that mere words are inadequate. 'It is for us the living rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us. That from these honored dead; we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion. That we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain, but that this Nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom. That cause, for which they gave the last full measure of devotion, was the cause of preserving freedom. Preserving freedom will always be an unfinished work. In a republic, there will always be a great task remaining before us.'

"For as Ronald Reagan once said, 'Freedom is always only one generation away from extinction. We didn't pass it on to our children in the bloodstream. The only way they can inherit the freedom we have known is if we fight for it, protect it, defend it and then hand it to them with the well-taught lessons of how they in their lifetime must do the same. And if you and I do not do this, then you and I may well spend our sunset years telling our children and our children's children what it was once like to live in America where people were free.'

"So if we really want to honor those who gave the last full measure of devotion, if we are really determined that these dead shall not have died in vain, we must seize this moment and resolve that we will not be the generation that loses freedom in America. We must not let the flame of liberty go out. As long as freedom rings in this land, a part of those who died to preserve it for us remains alive.

May 23, 2013

"It is a high honor and a distinct privilege to get to hold office in a constitutional republic. It is a particular honor to represent people like Sean Brazas, who is named in the resolution. Sean was killed last year in Afghanistan. He attended the same high school, Western Guilford, as I did. He took classes in the same classroom, walked the same hallways, studied in the same library, and played sports on the same athletic fields as I did. Yet he is gone and I get to live a full life of freedom here in America. There but for the grace of God go I. My country never asked me to go to a place like Afghanistan.

"This sort of sacrifice compels, yes, this commands us, to adhere to the highest of ideals. This is a sacred obligation. We are expected to be leaders. We are supposed to reflect the best. We have a huge responsibility. It matters greatly how honorably we operate the institutions of the republic – to conduct them in a manner worthy of those who designed and those died to preserve these institutions.

"The Wounded Warrior Project lists seven attributes possessed almost uniformly by those who volunteer to defend American freedom: duty, honor, courage, commitment, integrity, country, service. These are the attributes leaders are supposed to be made of. People see these traits plainly in our soldiers, but, by comparison, find them lacking in our politics. This, I believe is the reason the political class is so lightly regarded and I fear it is the reason why so little faith remains among our people in the rule of law.

"We can start today to change this through our actions. In this time of great national angst about our future, at a time when the fabric of this Nation is seemingly unraveling before our eyes, I truly believe that if those in leadership throughout this land would make these attributes a code that we absolutely followed at all times, the people would see it, would know it was real, and would react in such a positive way that there would be the new birth of freedom in America of which Lincoln spoke.

"We have so many advantages. We have the institutions put in place by our founders - men of consummate skill and fidelity. We have the great writings which explain the timeless principles and high ideals on which this Nation was founded. We have the lessons of history including the record of the lives of the giants from our history. And most of all, and we have the selfless example of those who gave their lives that this Nation might live. What can possibly be our excuse? What can possibly stop us? Why should the road of freedom ahead be difficult? If we will start to act today to give this Nation a new birth of freedom, then we will truly honor those named in this resolution, who, in the words of Lincoln, 'have laid such a costly sacrifice upon the altar of freedom.'"

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE FLOYD

"Mr. Speaker, as I stand here before you today in this Chamber, recalling my young years when I was stationed in Paris, France, walking down Champs Elysees. One person walked up to me and showed me a newspaper with the protests that were taking place in the South. They asked the question of me why are you in this uniform? I did not respond to that person because I was proud to wear the uniform of the United States Army. Four or five years later, one of my classmates that always goes to funerals and would always call me and would tell me when one of my classmates gave all for this great Nation. One had given all. He gave all so that I can stand here in this Chamber and debate between the 119 of you. I stand very proudly because they gave all for this great Nation and this great State.

"I am proud, as the speaker before talked, of the Gettysburg address: 'The world will little notice nor remember what was said here, but it can never, never forget the sacrifice that men and women gave for this great Nation.' We in Cumberland County, our Representatives, are the tenth largest military installation in the world. We are going to pay tribute to those individuals who gave all this weekend. I am very proud to do that. I have worked with the persons on the other side, like Rep. Hall, wearing the other kind of uniform, but I am proud to serve with them.

"One of the gentlemen has made a commitment that, in Fayetteville, we are only ones to have a commemorative center that is enclosed. - that we are going to make sure that those persons, who go and place their loved ones there to be carried away, that they would not be hot, and they would not be cold, but it will be closed in so that they can pay their due respect for their loved ones.

"We that have served in honor, like I have, are proud. You cannot take that away from us. Today, I would not be here and would not have gotten an education if it wasn't for serving in the United States Army. I commend the resolution to you."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE DIXON

"I would like to share in the spirit of Representative Blust's admonition to us today a personal experience that I had, and the privilege of honoring a fallen soldier. Several years ago, in our community the Vietnam Wall came to our community as a part of our Veteran's Day Celebration. The people in our community decided that each of the 58,000 names, as I remember it, the names would be read during that period of time. During the course of the event, I signed up to be one of the readers. And I went and did that. As I recall, it took about twenty minutes to read the particular assignment that you had. When I concluded my assignment, as I was walking past the desk they indicated that the next reader had run into difficulties and would not be able to be there. I volunteered to read a second time, which they accepted. I read the second page, at the conclusion of that, I went and turned the pages in, and they indicated that the next reader would be about fifteen minutes late. I volunteered to read a third time. As I began that third page, the fifth name on that third page was Allen Lewis Boney, my first cousin, in his hometown. The probability of that experience goes beyond my words of expression, and I am honored to use the name of Allen Lewis Boney in this Chamber today.

"I commend the resolution to you."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE HORN

"War is a terrible thing, but it is not the most terrible thing. The most terrible thing is to be without hope. Can you imagine - without hope? Thousands, millions of Americans have donned the uniform in order to give hope - to us here, to our neighbors, our families, our friends, and those around the world. I guess I cannot go forward without at least inserting one quotation about how never in the course of human events has so much been owed by so many, to so few. We are honored to have some of those few with us today. We have been honored to have some of those few serve in this House. Our next door neighbor, the guy down the street, maybe it was our Dad or our uncle. Some of us, I am sure, remember a taxi cab, maybe, or a staff car pulling up down the street, seeing some officers get out and head up to a doorway. While in the street, you knew what the message was that they delivered. We are so blessed to be here today. We stand on the shoulders of giants, real giants, real people, common folk doing uncommon things, in terrible places, sometimes really under terrible conditions. I can't help but to read you just a few lines from a poem, comments if you will, that came to mind instantly when I sat down here this afternoon.

"Do not stand at my grave and weep.
I am not there - I do not sleep.
I am the thousand winds that blow,
I am the diamond glints in snow,
I am the sunlight on ripened grain,
I am the gentle autumn rain.
As you awake with morning hush,
I am the swift-up-flinging rush,
of quiet birds in circling flight.
Do not stand at my grave and cry,
I am not there - I did not die.'

May 23, 2013

"The people that we honor this Memorial Day, this Memorial weekend, did not die, they left us with a challenge, an opportunity, and an honor that we shall carry forward. Thank you. On behalf of my family, and the people here, thank you very much."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE L. HALL

"It is certainly an honor to be here, and to be in the presence of great warriors for our country. Some have given all, all have given some. We have some here today; certainly I am honored to be in their presence as they look over us and try to see the fruition of the sacrifices they made. Certainly we have a responsibility, and I'll talk about it almost every time I get an opportunity, because we do have a great responsibility. No matter how much they risk, no matter how much they achieve, it's only through us living out the promise that they create, that their acts really become valuable, and so they work for us. We have a unique form of government, where civilians determine what policy our military carries out. And we have an undeniable duty to fulfill our end of the bargain to them.

"I have thought about many times the sacrifices members of my family have made, members of our community and, as I think, one of the most interesting moments I had in my career, as an Infantry Officer in the Marine Corps. We were on an operation in Norway and it was the first time since World War II that American forces had been in Norway in this particular valley and we did an aerial assault off of helicopters. It was a great operation, and the embassies and everyone had to notify the countryside so that everyone would be safe and not get in the way of the operation. We had a division going in, and I was privileged to be on the advanced unit, some of the first helicopters to hit ground in Norway since World War II, and of course as Marines do, we were camouflaged to the hilt. You couldn't tell black from white, all you could see was green. From our helmets to our boots, all you could see was green. It might have been different shades of green, different camouflage patterns, but all you could see was green. So very interesting, when we landed, and the birds took off, and we secured the LZ's and started to move to strategic locations, and of course this was a big deal, so you had to let the civilian populous be involved, the little kids began to run up to us and grab our faces. They were intrigued by the fact that all of us were green Americans. They grabbed our faces to see was it real, were we real, how could we all be green Americans? There were no black, there were no white, we were all green Americans.

May 23, 2013

"As you think about our responsibilities being the leading country in the world; when you think about our military who go out and are ambassadors for us, folks see them as Americans. I hope that we'll pursue policy that so that they are treated with respect as Americans and looked upon as being green, not treated as being one color or another, but just green Marines. I commend the resolution to you."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE FAIRCLOTH

"I am reminded by Representative Blust's comments and the others that have spoken about an experience that always comes to my mind on Memorial Day that says a lot about how our troops are viewed overseas, or have been viewed overseas over the years. We hear a lot of Americans who say those folks over there don't understand what we did for them, so I want to tell you about a little experience that always comes to mind. In 1989 my wife and I finally saved up enough coins to take a trip over to Europe. My family gave two Army Air Corps Soldiers to World War II and their resting place is in St. Avold, France. I had seen pictures of the graves and been told stories about them as I grew up, and I just wanted to see what it looked like over there, and I'll have to say I went over there with mixed emotions because I had heard so much about 'they don't respect what our country gave to Europe and to Asia and to other places in these wars'. We landed, we rented a car, we drove across country to St. Avold, France, located the entrance to the cemetery, and this was in December. It was cold. Europe is cold in December, and we pulled up and parked, walked up to the entrance, a nice modern looking entrance, very well kept. The big doors opened, doors something like these doors on our Chamber here, and went inside. There was a gentleman walking up and he introduced himself, he was a retired British Army Sergeant, and he was employed by our country to run that cemetery.

"He said, 'whom are you here to visit?', and I said we are here to visit the Preddy brothers, and he said 'follow me; I know exactly where they are'. We walked to another set of big doors, and those doors opened. December, cold, almost freezing weather, and the greenest grass you could ever see, as far as you could see, it looked like spring in North Carolina it was so green. I couldn't believe it, and sticking out of that grass as far as you could see, white crosses, as far as you could see. He said 'follow me over to section L' or whatever it was, and we walked with him over there. He said, 'we have seventeen pairs of brothers buried in this section' and we walked down the little walkway, and he said 'the Preddy brothers rest here'. There were flowers on those two graves, there were flowers on some of the others, but there were flowers on those two graves, and I couldn't imagine what that was, I asked them if they had a program, if they happened to know somebody was coming and put flowers on those graves and he said 'we didn't know you were coming, but I can tell you what happens. There is a family in this town, that ever since World War II, when those two soldiers were buried here, they have come on every holiday that is a military holiday in America. They have come and put flowers on these two graves, and somehow they found out that you all were coming and they came today and put them there.'

"When we got back home, I could not get over that and so I started asking some questions of some of my relatives and they said, oh yeah that's the family over in France, and they are now in their fourth generation of doing this, the ones who started putting them there in World War II have died away but their family has continued this tradition just for those two soldiers, and others do many more. Every holiday they remember, and they put a flower on there. I hope all of us remember on every holiday. I commend the resolution to you."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE PRESNELL

"I have been inquiring for the last year and a half or two years, trying to find my cousin – Ronald Everett Osborne. He served two tours of duty in Vietnam, and he was a Green Beret. He was stationed in an out of Fayetteville a lot, and I know that he lived there about twenty years ago. I found him yesterday, my Legislative Assistant found him. I just want to honor him. He passed away about three weeks ago on May 2nd. Thank you."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE W. BRAWLEY

"Sometimes one feels the need to steal the words of others, and this is an old ballad:

"Here's forty dollars on the drum, for those who will volunteer to come.
Enlist and fight the foe today,
over the hills and far away. '

"Veterans are people that wrote a check payable to United States of America.

"When Duty calls me, I must go to stand and face another foe, but part of me will always stray,
over the hills and far away.'

May 23, 2013

"The value of that check is for any amount - up to, and including - the life of the writer.

"If I should fall to rise no more, as many comrades did before,
then ask the fifes and drums to play,
over the hills and far away. '

"The names we have listed here today and the others in that long line are people to whom that check was presented and who honored it with all that they had.

"I commend the resolution to you."

SEVENTY-THIRD DAY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, June 4, 2013

The House meets at 2:00 p.m. pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by the Speaker.

The following prayer is offered by Representative Dean Arp:

"Most gracious and merciful God, we recognize Your authority and ownership over all creation and ask You, Oh Lord, to go before each one of us here today, to give us wisdom and discernment to walk blameless in Your sight because You are El Roi, 'the God who sees'.

"Thank You for granting us blessings and liberties in this great State. Burden us to not take these great gifts for granted. Allow us to recognize that true blessings, liberties, and personal salvation come through Christ Jesus alone by our intimate relationship with Him.

"We pray for ourselves, the state policy-makers in both houses of the General Assembly of North Carolina, to have courage to stand firm in our personal faith and conviction and to not be persuaded by those with selfish interests, to seek Your wisdom in decision-making and remain humble with the powers entrusted to us. Help us to find ways to come together without compromising our faith and values. We each bring different ideas from all over this State; yet, we seek to be unified.

"We pray for our state judges, that they will seek wisdom from You for decisions and rulings and to exercise integrity while upholding the laws that they have been entrusted to protect.

"We pray for Governor McCrory and Lt. Governor Forest and their families. May they stay strong in their faith and always fix their eyes upon Jesus, the author and perfecter of our faith. Give them guidance, wisdom, and courage as they lead our State.

"May Your Church be strong, bearing, in You, much fruit. We know that without You, we can do nothing. We pray that those who don't know salvation in You may come to understand that You, Lord, are the only way to God the Father.

June 4, 2013

"We thank You for the privilege to be here and for all that You have given us. Watch over us. Guide us in our decisions on all the issues that come before us today. Make our hearts selfless, humble, and open, and our minds focused. Remind us that our decisions affect the lives of many people.

"And now, Lord, we stand before You, humbled and seeking Your face. Hear our prayer, Father, forgive us of our sins and heal this land.

"For it is in the name of Jesus, the Son of the Living God, we ask these things. Amen."
