PREFACE

The history of previous revisions of the statutes of North Carolina is given in the preface to the Revisal of 1905 and earlier compilations, and it seems unnecessary to insert this matter here.

The Consolidated Statutes has been prepared under the direction of a committee of the General Assembly of 1917 appointed under chapter 252 of the Public Laws of 1917. On the part of the Senate, Messrs. Stahle Linn of Rowan and Lindsay C. Warren of Beaufort were selected; and on the part of the House, Messrs. Harry W. Stubbs of Martin, Harry P. Grier of Iredell, and Carter Dalton of Guilford. A short time after their appointment the Commission met and organized and elected Harry W. Stubbs, Esq., as chairman, and appointed Hon. T. H. Calvert of Raleigh as Revision Commissioner charged with the actual compiling, collating, and revising all of the public statutes of the State. Mr. Calvert, after collecting the material for the work, was appointed by Governor Bickett as Superior Court Judge, and thereupon tendered his resignation as Revision Commissioner. Mr. L. P. McGehee, Dean of the School of Law of the University of North Carolina, was selected as his successor.

The Commission desires to give full and entire credit for this work to Mr. McGehee. It realizes what a stupendous labor it has been, and he is rightly entitled to whatever approbation this work may bring. The Commission felt it was peculiarly fortunate in securing his services, and the splendid results that have been obtained have fully justified the wisdom of his selection.

The Commission desires to make acknowledgments to Prof. A. C. McIntosh, of the School of Law of the University of North Carolina, who has rendered invaluable aid in the preparation of this work. Several chapters were prepared by Messrs. Dalton and Warren of the Commission. The index was prepared by Mr. W. H. Grimes, who has also devoted unremitting care to getting the work through the press. Other members of the Bar who have collaborated in the work are Messrs. T. E. Didlake, M. B. Fowler, and Moses Shapiro.

The work of the Commission was accepted and enacted into law by the General Assembly of 1919 by an act entitled "An Act for Revising and Consolidating the Public and General Statutes of the State of North Carolina," approved March 10, 1919, and embodying the Compiled Statutes as prepared by the Commission, with amendments. See File No. 1030, House Bill 1321, Senate Bill 136.

PREFACE

Under chapter 238, Public Laws 1919, a copy of which is added to this preface, the General Assembly made provision for the completion and publication of the work by the insertion therein of the Public Statutes of 1919. It is the Consolidated Statutes of 1919 as completed in accordance with this chapter which is herewith submitted to the public. Under the same act it was provided that the work should be accepted by a Legislative Committee, and this committee, composed of Senator Dorman Thompson of Iredell, Representative O. M. Mull of Cleveland, and Representative D. B. Teague of Lee, met with the Commission in Raleigh in November, 1919, and ordered that the work be accepted and printed.

In conformity with the last mentioned statute, the Consolidated Statutes are published in two editions, the Magistrates' Edition omitting the second volume of the completed work and containing the statutes without annotation, and the Annotated Edition containing all the statutes annotated to date and a full index.

The Commission secured the copyright of the annotations prepared by Judge Pell for Pell's Revisal. These annotations have been brought up to date under the direction of Professor McIntosh.

JANUARY 14, 1920.

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR THE COMPLETION, PUBLICATION, AND DISTRIBUTION OF THE CONSOLIDATED STATUTES OF NORTH CAROLINA AND TO FIX A DATE WHEN THEY ARE IN FORCE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. That the members of the Legislative Revision Commission, which commission and its members are hereinafter called simply the commission and the commissioners, appointed under chapter two hundred and fifty-two of the Public Laws of one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, namely, Harry W. Stubbs, chairman; Lindsay C. Warren, Stahle Linn, Carter Dalton, and H. P. Grier, shall be continued in office until the duties prescribed in this act are duly performed, and they shall be vested with the powers conferred by the said act so far as the same shall be necessary or convenient for the performance of such duties, and until the completion of such duties they shall receive the compensation and expenses as provided in the said act except as hereinafter stated.

SEC. 2. That the commissioners shall complete and perfect the Consolidated Statutes, as enacted by the present General Assembly, by causing to be inserted therein all such general public statutes as may be enacted at the present session of the General Assembly and all amendments, in their proper places in sections under the appropriate chapters and subdivisions of chapters; and they are hereby authorized to change the number of sections, transfer sections, chapters and subdivisions of chapters, and make such other corrections which do not change the law, as may be deemed expedient. The commission shall number the sections consecutively as in the Revisal.

SEC. 3. That the commissioners shall, as soon as possible after the adjournment of the present General Assembly, cause to be prepared and published for distribution to the justices of the peace of the State of North Carolina an edition of that part of the Consolidated Statutes contained in the first volume of the legislative edition of said Consolidated Statutes, said justices of the peace to pay therefor the sum of two dollars and fifty cents per volume. Said commissioners shall further cause to be prepared and published an edition of the Consolidated Statutes, said edition to contain the text of the Consolidated Statutes as finally completed and approved under this act, with a full index, together with the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of North Carolina, with indexes to the same, and shall include also the statutes of the United States providing for the authentication of records, naturalization of aliens, and the removal of causes from the State courts to the Federal courts. This edition shall contain also annotations of the decisions of the Supreme Court of North Carolina under the respective sections which they interpret and explain. In annotating said Consolidated Statutes the commission shall have the power, if in their opinion it is in the interest of economy of money and time to do so, to purchase any annotations of any existing North Carolina statute law books.

AN ACT CONCERNING THE CONSOLIDATED STATUTES

SEC. 4. There shall be printed of said annotated edition six thousand copies, the copyright of which edition shall be secured to the state by the commissioners. The copies when printed shall be deposited with the Secretary of State to be distributed and sold as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 5. That the expenses of the Legislative Revision Commission herein provided for, including the compiling, collating, revising, and annotating the public statutes of North Carolina, the purchase of annotations, and of the supervising, printing, publishing, binding, and delivering the said compiled and collated statutes, such clerical assistance as may be necessary, and all assistance as may be deemed necessary in the performance of the duties provided for in this act, shall be paid by the State Treasurer out of the general fund on the warrant of the Auditor, founded on vouchers approved by the chairman of the said commission.

SEC. 6. That there shall be appointed at this session of the General Assembly a committee composed of three members, of whom two shall be members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and one shall be a member of the Senate, to be appointed by the President of the Senate. This committee shall be authorized to inspect and examine the Consolidated Statutes when the commission shall report to them that the work of the commission has been completely performed, and they shall approve the same, if found to be in accordance with this act. The committee, in conjunction with the members of the commission, shall make the necessary contracts for the publication of the Consolidated Statutes. The members of the committee shall each receive one hundred and fifty dollars and expenses in full compensation for all their services, to be paid by the State Treasurer, upon warrants drawn by the Auditor, based upon vouchers approved by the chairman of the committee.

SEC. 7. That when the commission has finished its work and has notified the committee as aforesaid of the completion of the same, and when the work has been approved by the committee, the members of the commission shall each receive the sum of three hundred and fifty dollars in addition to compensation and expenses already received, and this shall be in full compensation for all work done by them in the compilation and revision thereof, and shall be paid by the State Treasurer upon the warrant of the Auditor, based upon vouchers approved by the chairman of the commission.

SEC. 8. That all provisions, chapters, subdivisions of chapters, and sections contained in the Consolidated Statutes shall be in force from and after the first day of August, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen.

SEC. 9. That the Secretary of State shall immediately, upon the receipt by him of the Consolidated Statutes duly published and bound, distribute one set each to those to whom the Public Laws are now distributed, and to each member of this General Assembly: Provided, however, that sets shall not be distributed to sheriffs and registers of deeds, and shall only be sent to the state and court librarians outside the State of North Carolina that request same. The Secretary of State is authorized to sell copies of the Consolidated Statutes at twenty dollars a set, and to sell to book dealers at a discount to be fixed by him.

SEC. 10. That this act take effect from and after its ratification.

Ratified this 10th day of March, A. D. 1919.

2. Exclusive in clerk who first gains. The clerk who first gains and exercises jurisdiction under this chapter thereby acquires sole and exclusive jurisdiction over the decedent's estate.

Rev., s. 17; Code, s. 1375; C. C. P., 434.

Williams v. Neville, 108-563. Where clerk is appointed executor and will proven in another county, see Gregory v. Ellis, 82-225.

ART. 2. NECESSITY FOR LETTERS AND THEIR FORM

3. Letters must issue; immediate rights of family. No person shall enter upon the administration of any decedent's estate until he has obtained letters therefor, under the penalty of one hundred dollars, one-half to the use of the informer and the other half to the state; but nothing herein contained shall prevent the family of the deceased from using so much of the crop, stock and provisions on hand as may be necessary, until the widow's year's support is assigned therefrom, as prescribed by law.

"Administration" means management of estate: Currie v. Currie, 90-556. Complaint in action for penalty: Ibid. Effect of widow withholding too much: Israel v. King, 69-373. Penalty statutes construed: Alexander v. R. R., 144-93.

4. Executor de son tort. Every person who receives goods or debts of any person dying intestate, or any release of a debt due the intestate, upon a fraudulent intent, or without such valuable consideration as amounts to the value or thereabout, is chargeable as executor of his own wrong, so far as such debts and goods, coming to his hands, or whereof he is released, will satisfy.

Rev., s. 2; Code, s. 1494; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 67; 43 Eliz., c. 8.

EXECUTOR DE SON TORT. One who without authority does acts properly duties of administrator: Barnard v. Gregory, 14-223. Administrator who holds property under deed void as to creditors: Norfleet v. Riddick, 14-221; Burton v. Farinholt, 86-267. Intermeddler, though afterwards letters issued to him: Norfleet v. Riddick, 14-221. Fraudulent intermeddler after administrator appointed: McMorine v. Storey, 20-83. Fraudulent donee of personalty: Sturdivant v. Davis, 31-365.

NOT EXECUTOR D. S. T. Intermeddler, while administrator exists, except fraudulent: Francis v. Welch, 33-215; McMorine v. Storey, 20-83; Norfleet v. Riddick, 14-221. Donee of intestate's property which was exempt from execution: Winchester v. Gaddy, 72-115. Intermeddler under colorable title: Turner v. Child, 12-25; Outlaw v. Farmer, 71-31; Bailey v. Miller, 27-444. Bailee turning money over to foreign executor, when: Nesbit v. Stewart, 19-24.

5. Form of letters. All letters must be issued in the name of the state, and tested in the name of the clerk of the superior court, signed by him, and sealed with his seal of office, and shall have attached thereto copies of the section of this chapter requiring an inventory to be filed within three months, and of the section requiring annual accounts to be filed.

Rev., s. 36; Code, ss. 1399, 2172; C. C. P., ss. 471, 478; 1871-2, c. 46.

ART. 3. RIGHT TO ADMINISTER

6. Order in which persons entitled. Letters of administration, in case of intestacy, shall be granted to the persons entitled thereto and applying for the same, in the following order:

Executor dying, administrator appointed according to this section: Little v. Berry, 94-433. Public administrator postponed to all named in this section, even though applying after six months: In re Bailey's Will, 141-193.

1. To the husband or widow, except as hereinafter provided.

Widow must be 21: Wallis v. Wallis, 60-78. Infant widow may appoint: Ibid. Husband's rights: In re Meyers, 113-545; Hoppiss v. Eskridge, 37-54. See section 7.

2. To the next of kin in the order of their degree, where they are of different degrees; if of equal degree, to one or more of them, at the discretion of the clerk.

Clerk may appoint person recommended by next of kin: In re Saville, 156-172. Appointee of next of kin not qualifying, clerk appoints: Williams v. Neville, 108-559. Nonresident next of kin may appoint: Smith v. Munroe, 23-345. Appointment by nonresident only durante absentia: Ritchie v. McAuslin, 2-220. Several applicants of equal degree, clerk selects: Garrison v. Cox, 95-353. Brothers applying, which selected: Moore v. Moore, 12-352. Right to distributive share entitles one under this subsection: Smith v. Munroe, 23-345. Right not absolute and exclusive: Stoker v. Kendall, 44-242. See Atkins v. McCormick, 49-274.

3. To the most competent creditor who resides within the state, and proves his debt on oath before the clerk.

Assignee of claim against decedent not entitled: Pearce v. Castrix, 53-71. Creditor postponed to all of next of kin, provided next of kin apply in time: Carthy v. Webb, 4-20, 6-268.

4. To any other person legally competent.

Those entitled not applying in six months, and public administrator not applying, who entitled: Garrison v. Cox, 95-353. Nonresident dying, leaving insurance policy with resident, such resident entitled: Page v. Life Ins. Co., 131-115; Shields v. Life Ins. Co., 119-380.

Rev., s. 3; Code, s. 1376; C. C. P., s. 456; R. C., c. 46, ss. 2, 3; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 115.

7. Husband to administer to wife; right in surplus. If any married woman dies wholly or partially intestate, the surviving husband shall be entitled to administer on her personal estate, and shall hold the same, subject to the claims of her creditors and others having rightful demands against her, to his own use, except as hereinafter provided. If the husband dies after his wife, but before administering, his executor or administrator or assignee shall receive the personal property of the said wife, as a part of the estate of the husband, subject as aforesaid, and except as provided by law.

Rev., s. 4; Code, s. 1479; 1871-2, c. 193, s. 32.

Husband dying without administering, creditor cannot be appointed administrator of wife: Wooten v. Wooten, 123-219. When wife leaves will appointing executor, who qualifies, husband cannot administer: Hood v. Telegraph Co., 162-92. Wife dying testate, appointing no executor, husband administers: In re Meyers, 113-545. Husband can appoint: Ibid. Wife's property, after debts paid, goes to husband: Bank v. Gilmer, 116-701; Whitaker v. Hamilton, 126-468; Colson v. Martin, 62-125; Coleman v. Hallowell, 54-204. A legacy vested in wife at her death goes to husband: In re Shuford's Will, 164-133. Interest of wife as distributee in amount to be recovered for wrongful death of father goes to husband: Neill v. Wilson, 146-242.

8. Disqualifications enumerated. The clerk shall not issue letters of administration or letters testamentary to any person who, at the time of appearing to qualify—

1. Is under the age of twenty-one years.

Infant feme covert cannot administer but may appoint: Wallis v. Wallis, 60-78. Such appointment durante minoritate: Ibid.

2. Is a nonresident of this state; but a nonresident may qualify as executor.

Nonresident may qualify as executor: Batchelor v. Overton, 158-395; but he cannot administer: Hall v. R. R., 146-345; nor can he appoint: Boynton v. Heartt, 158-488. But see under former statute, nonresident being appointed, qualifying and giving bond not disqualified: Moore v. Eure, 101-16. Nonresident next of kin may appoint durante absentia: Smith v. Munroe, 23-345; Ritchie v. McAuslin, 2-220.

3. Has been convicted of a felony.

4. Is adjudged by the clerk incompetent to execute the duties of such trust by reason of drunkenness, improvidence or want of understanding.

“Incompetent” defined in Stephenson v. Stephenson, 49-472.

5. Fails to take the oath or give the bond required by law.

6. Has renounced his right to qualify.

Rev., s. 5; Code, ss. 1377, 1378, 2162; C. C. P., s. 457.

9. Effect of disqualification of person entitled. Where an executor named in the will, or any person having a prior right to administer, is under the disqualification of nonage, or is temporarily absent from the state, such person is entitled to six months, after coming of age or after his return to the state, in which to make application for letters testamentary, or letters of administration.

Rev., s. 6; Code, ss. 1379, 2165; C. C. P., ss. 452, 460; R. C., c. 46, s. 12.

Infant feme covert coming of age entitled: Wallis v. Wallis, 60-78. Nonresident next of kin returning to state entitled: Smith v. Munroe, 23-345; Ritchie v. McAuslin, 2-220. Persons deemed to have renounced may yet be entitled as against public administrator: In re Bailey Will, 141-193.

10. Divorce a vinculo or felonious slaying is forfeiture. When a marriage is dissolved a vinculo, the parties respectively, or when either party is convicted of the felonious slaying of the other, or of being accessory before the fact of such felonious slaying, the party so convicted shall thereby lose all his or her right to administer on the estate of the other, and to a distributive share in the personal property of the other, and every right and estate in the personal estate of the other.

Rev., s. 7; Code, s. 1480; 1889, c. 499; 1871-2, c. 193, s. 42.

NOTE. For forfeiture generally by divorce a vinculo, see Married Women.

Doctrine in Owens v. Owens, 100-240, changed by this section.

11. Elopement and adultery of wife is forfeiture. If any married woman elopes with an adulterer, and shall not be living with her husband at his death, she shall thereby lose all right to a distributive share in the personal property of her husband, and all right to administer on his estate.

Rev., s. 8; Code, s. 1481; 1871-2, c. 193, s. 44.

NOTE. For forfeiture generally for elopement, see Married Women.

Bigamy of wife a forfeiture to rights in property of first husband: Gathings v. Williams, 27-487; Irby v. Wilson, 21-568; Brinegar v. Chaffin, 14-111. See Owens v. Owens, 100-240, under section 10.

12. Husband's conduct forfeiting rights in wife's estate. If any husband shall separate himself from his wife, and be living in adultery at her death, or if she has obtained a divorce a mensa et thoro, and shall not be living with her husband at her death, or if the husband has abandoned his wife, or has maliciously turned her out of doors, and shall not be living with her at her death, he shall thereby lose all his right and estate of whatever character in and to her personal property, and all right to administer on her estate.

Rev., s. 9; Code, s. 1482; 1871-2, c. 193, s. 45.

“Abandoned” defined: State v. Hopkins, 130-647; Setzer v. Setzer, 128-170; High v. Bailey, 107-70. As to marriages contracted prior to statute, see Taylor v. Taylor, 93-418, 112-134.

13. Executor may renounce. Any person appointed an executor may renounce the office by a writing signed by him, and on the same being acknowledged or proved to the satisfaction of the clerk of the superior court, it shall be filed.

Rev., s. 10; Code, s. 2163; C. C. P., s. 450.

Can renounce if he has not undertaken office or intermeddled: Sawyer v. Dozier, 27-97. Cannot renounce after probate without leave of court: Mitchell v. Adams, 23-298. Cannot if he has meddled with estate: Ibid.; also Sawyer v. Dozier, 27-97. Renouncing, administrator c. t. a. succeeds to powers: Saunders v. Saunders, 108-327. Renunciation must appear of record: Springs v. Irwin, 28-27. May retract renunciation: Ryder v. Oates, 173-569; Davis v. Insoe, 84-396; Wood v. Sparks, 18-389. Cannot renounce after entering on exercise of trust: McIntyre v. Proctor, 145-288; Washington v. Blunt, 43-253; Sawyer v. Dozier, 27-97. Executors have the right to decline the office, but after accepting and qualifying cannot resign: McIntyre v. Proctor, 145-288.

14. Renunciation of prior right required. When any person applies for administration, and any other person has prior right thereto, a written renunciation of the person or persons having such prior right must be produced and filed with the clerk.

Rev., s. 11; Code, s. 1378; C. C. P., s. 459.

Next of kin must renounce before clerk can appoint another within six months of decedent's death: Williams v. Neville, 108-559. Mere expressed intent to renounce will not do: Ibid.; see Hill v. Alspaugh, 72-404.

15. Failure to apply as renunciation. If any person, entitled to letters of administration, fails or refuses to apply for such letters within thirty days after the death of the intestate, the clerk, on application of any party interested, shall issue a citation to such person to show cause, within twenty days after service of the citation, why he should not be deemed to have renounced. If, within the time named in the citation, he neglects to answer or to show cause, he shall be deemed to have renounced his right to administer, and the clerk must enter an order accordingly, and proceed to grant letters to some other person. If no person entitled to administer applies for letters of administration on the estate of a decedent within six months from his death, then the clerk may, in his discretion, deem all prior rights renounced and appoint some suitable person to administer such estate.

Deemed to have renounced, when: Withrow v. DePriest, 119-541; Williams v. Neville, 108-559; Hill v. Alspaugh, 72-404; Hughes v. Pipkin, 61-4; Stoker v. Kendall, 44-242. Renunciation not per se: In re Bailey Will, 141-194. Appointee of person entitled, not qualifying, so deemed: Williams v. Neville, 108-559. Renunciation of some entitled to administer does not take away the right of others: In re Jones, 177-337. Appointment after six months not revoked at instance of one having prior right applying after six months: Withrow v. DePriest, 119-541; In re Bailey Will, 141-195.

16. Person named as executor failing to qualify or renounce. If any person appointed an executor does not qualify or renounce within sixty days after the will is admitted to probate, the clerk of the superior court, on the application of any other executor named in the same will, or any party interested, shall issue a citation to such person to show cause why he should not be deemed to have renounced. If, upon service of the citation, he does not qualify or renounce within such time, not exceeding thirty days, as is allowed in the citation, an order must be entered by the clerk decreeing that such person has renounced his appointment as executor.

Discussed generally in Ward v. Sparks, 18-389.

ART. 4. PUBLIC ADMINISTRATOR

17. Appointment and term. There may be a public administrator in every county, appointed by the clerk of the superior court for the term of eight years.

Rev., s. 18; Code, s. 1389; 1868-9, c. 113.

Term is for eight years in every case: Boynton v. Heartt, 158-488. Not considered an office under statute against holding two offices: State v. Smith, 145-476. Quo warranto does not lie to remove administrator or to inquire into appointment: Ibid.

18. Oath. The public administrator shall take and subscribe an oath (or affirmation) faithfully and honestly to discharge the duties of his trust; and the oath so taken and subscribed must be filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court.

Rev., s. 19; Code, s. 1393; 1868-9, c. 113, ss. 2, 5.

Must give bond and obey all orders of court: In re Brinson, 73-278. Must renew bond, when: In re Trotter, 115-193; see sections 43-44.

19. Bond. The public administrator shall enter into bond, with three or more sureties, approved by the clerk, in the penal sum of four thousand dollars, payable to the state of North Carolina, conditioned faithfully to perform the duties of his office, and obey all lawful orders of the clerk or other court touching the administration of the several estates that may come into his hands, and such bond shall be renewed every two years. Whenever the aggregate value of the real and personal property belonging to the several estates in the hands of the public administrator exceeds the one-half of his bond, the clerk shall require him to enlarge his bond in amount so as to cover, at all times, at least the double of such aggregate.

Rev., s. 320; Code, ss. 1390, 1391, 1392; 1868-9, c. 113, ss. 2, 3, 4; 1915, c. 216.

For actions on administration bond, see section 40. General requirements as to bond: In re Brinson, 73-279. Notice should be given before removal for failure to renew bond: Trotter v. Mitchell, 115-190; and if proper bond is then offered, it should be received: In re Trotter, 115-193.

20. When to obtain letters. The public administrator shall apply for and obtain letters on the estates of deceased persons in the following cases:

Office of public administrator a property right: Trotter v. Mitchell, 115-190.

1. When the period of six months has elapsed from the death of any decedent, and no letters testamentary, or letters of administration or collection, have been applied for and issued to any person.

Not entitled, even after six months, when: In re Bailey Will, 141-193; Withrow v. DePriest, 119-544; Hill v. Alspaugh, 72-402.

2. When any stranger, or person without known heirs, shall die intestate in any county.

3. When any person entitled to administration shall request, in writing, the clerk to issue the letters to the public administrator.

Rev., s. 20; Code, s. 1394; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 6.

21. Powers generally and on expiration of term. The public administrator shall have, in respect to the several estates in his hands, all the rights and powers, and be subject to all the duties and liabilities of other administrators. On the expiration of the term of office of a public administrator, or his resignation, he may continue to manage the several estates committed to him prior thereto until he has fully administered the same, if he then enters into a bond as required by law for administrators.

Rev., s. 21; Code, s. 1395; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 7; 1876-7, c. 239.

Subject to orders of clerk: In re Brinson, 73-278.

ART. 5. ADMINISTRATOR WITH WILL ANNEXED

22. When letters c. t. a. issue. If there is no executor appointed in the will, or if, at any time, by reason of death, incompetency adjudged by the clerk of the superior court, renunciation, actual or decreed, or removal by order of the court, or on any other account there is no executor qualified to act, the clerk of the superior court may issue letters of administration with the will annexed, to some suitable person or persons, in the order prescribed in this chapter.

Cases generally in point: In re Meyers, 113-545; Williams v. Neville, 108-559; Little v. Berry, 94-433; Suttle v. Turner, 53-403. Duties of administrator c. t. a. as trustee: Clark v. Peebles, 120-31; Smathers v. Moody, 112-791; Saunders v. Saunders, 108-327; Creech v. Grainger, 106-213; Gay v. Grant, 101-206; Couneill v. Averett, 95-131; Vaughan v. Farmer, 90-612; Hester v. Hester, 37-330; Jones v. Jones, 17-387. Letters of administration are void unless executor has renounced: Springs v. Irwin, 28-27; Mitchell v. Adams, 23-298. Renunciation of some entitled to administer does not interfere with the right of others: In re Jones, 177-337.

23. Qualifications and bond. Administrators with the will annexed shall have the same qualifications and give the same bond as other administrators; but the executor of an executor shall not be entitled to qualify as executor of the first testator.

Rev., s. 15; Code, s. 2167; C. C. P., s. 454; 1905, c. 286.

ART. 6. COLLECTORS

24. Appointment of collectors. When, for any reason, a delay is necessarily produced in the admission of a will to probate, or in granting letters testamentary, letters of administration, or letters of administration with the will annexed, the clerk may issue to some discreet person or persons, at his option, letters of collection, authorizing the collection and preservation of the property of the decedent.

Rev., s. 22; Code, s. 1383; C. C. P., s. 463; R. C., c. 46, s. 9; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 115.

When collector appointed: In re Palmer's Will, 117-133; Syme v. Broughton, 86-156. As to next of kin's right to collect pending appointment, see Whit v. Ray, 26-14.

25. Qualifications and bond. Every collector shall have the qualifications and give the bond prescribed by law for an administrator.

For bond, see section 33.

26. Powers of collectors. Every collector has authority to collect the personal property, preserve and secure the same, and collect the debts and credits of the decedent, and for these purposes he may commence and maintain or defend suits, and he may sell, under the direction and order of the clerk, any personal property for the preservation and benefit of the estate. He may be sued for debts due by the decedent, and he may pay funeral expenses and other debts.

Has no control of lands: Lee v. Lee, 74-70.

27. When collector's powers cease; duty to account. When letters testamentary, letters of administration or letters of administration with the will annexed are granted, the powers of such collector shall cease, but any suit brought by the collector may be continued by his successor, the executor or the administrator, in his own name. Such collector must, on demand, deliver to the executor or administrator all the property, rights and credits of the decedent under his control, and render an account, on oath, to the clerk of all his proceedings. Such delivery and account may be enforced by citation, order or attachment.

Rev., s. 25; Code, s. 1386; C. C. P., s. 466; R. C., c. 46, s. 7; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 115.

Not entitled to counsel fees when he resists claim of rightful executor to funds: Johnson v. Marcom, 121-83.

ART. 7. APPOINTMENT AND REVOCATION

28. Facts to be shown on applying for administration. On application for letters of administration, the clerk must ascertain by affidavit of the applicant or otherwise—

1. The death of the decedent and his intestacy.

Letters upon estate of one living are void: State ex rel. v. White, 29-116; Springer v. Shavender, 118-33. Letters issued pending contest over will void: Slade v. Washburn, 25-557.

2. That the applicant is the proper person entitled to administration, or that he applies after the renunciation of the person or persons so entitled.

3. The value and nature of the intestate's property, the names and residence of all parties entitled as heirs or distributees of the estate, if known, or that the same cannot, on diligent inquiry, be procured; which of said parties are minors, and whether with or without guardians, and the names and residences of such guardians, if known. Such affidavit or other proof must be recorded and filed by the clerk.

Proper record of appointment may be made nunc pro tunc: Dallas v. R. R., 165-269.

29. Right to contest application for letters; proceedings. Any person interested in the estate may, on complaint filed and notice to the applicant, contest the right of such applicant to letters of administration, and on any issue of fact joined, or matter of law arising on the pleadings, the cause may be transferred to the superior court for trial, or an appeal be taken, as in other special proceedings.

Rev., s. 27; Code, s. 1382; C. C. P., s. 462.

What are issues of fact hereunder: In re Tapp's Estate, 114-248. Letters already issued cannot be collaterally attacked: Fann v. R. R., 155-136; Batchelor v. Overton, 158-395; Reynolds v. Cotton Mills, 177-412; Plemmons v. R. R., 140-286; Lyle v. Siler, 103-261; Granbery v. Mhoon, 12-456. Letters may be revoked at same term granted: Moore v. Moore, 12-352. Clerk cannot appoint, pending appeal: Williams v. Neville, 108-559.

30. Letters of administration revoked on proof of will. If, after the letters of administration are issued, a will is subsequently proved and letters testamentary are issued thereon; or if, after letters testamentary are issued, a revocation of the will or a subsequent testamentary paper revoking the appointment of executors is proved and letters are issued thereon, the clerk of the superior court must thereupon revoke the letters first issued, by an order in writing to be served on the person to whom such first letters were issued; and, until service thereof, the acts of such person, done in good faith, are valid.

Practice under this section discussed: Ibid.; Daniel v. Bellamy, 91-78. See Slade v. Washburn, 25-557; Ralston v. Telfair, 22-414. Cited in In re Palmer's Will, 117-139.

31. Letters revoked for disqualification or default. If, after any letters have been issued, it appears to the clerk, or if complaint is made to him on affidavit, that any person to whom they were issued is legally incompetent to have such letters, or that such person has been guilty of default or misconduct in the due execution of his office, or that the issue of such letters was obtained by false representations made by such person, the clerk shall issue an order requiring such person to show cause why the letters should not be revoked. On the return of such order, duly executed, if the objections are found valid, the letters issued to such person must be revoked and superseded, and his authority shall thereupon cease.

JURISDICTION. In re Battle, 158-388; McLaurin v. McLaurin, 106-331; Tulburt v. Hollar, 102-406; Edwards v. Cobb, 95-4; Battle v. Duncan, 90-550; Merrill v. Sandlin, 86-54; Barnes v. Brown, 79-401; Taylor v. Riddle, 71-1. This power exists for the good of the estate, and not exercised for convenience of parties, as to allow executor to resign: McIntyre v. Proctor, 145-288. Must be exercised with caution: Smith v. Collier, 20-60; County Court v. Bissell, 47-388. Superior court's powers on appeal in removal cases discussed in Pearce v. Lovinier, 71-248.

"DEFAULT OR MISCONDUCT." Generally construed in McFayden v. Council, 81-195. Motion to remove for fraud not entertained in application to set aside sale of land for assets: McLaurin v. McLaurin, 106-331. Failure to account: Barnes v. Brown, 79-401; Armstrong v. Stowe, 77-360. Poverty of executor no ground: In re Knowles, 148-461; McFayden v. Council, 81-195; Wilkins v. Harris, 60-592. Failure to defend action when his interest adverse to estate: Simpson v. Jones, 82-323. Disagreement between executors no reason per se to remove: Fairbairn v. Fisher, 57-390.

Claiming an interest in the property is not sufficient cause for removal: Morgan v. Morgan, 156-169. For failure to give or renew bond, see section 43.

32. On revocation, successor appointed and estate secured. In all cases of the revocation of letters, the clerk must immediately appoint some other person to succeed in the administration of the estate; and pending any suit or proceeding between parties respecting such revocation, the clerk is authorized to make such interlocutory order as, without injury to the rights and remedies of creditors, may tend to the better securing of the estate.

Rev., s. 35; Code, s. 1521; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 92.

Clerk must immediately appoint successor, and may order settlement: In re Brinson, 73-278; Taylor v. Biddle, 71-1.

ART. 8. BONDS

33. Bond; approval; condition; penalty. Every executor from whom a bond is required by law, and every administrator and collector, before letters are issued, must give a bond payable to the state, with two or more sufficient sureties, to be justified before and approved by the clerk, conditioned that such executor, administrator or collector shall faithfully execute the trust reposed in him and obey all lawful orders of the clerk or other court touching the administration of the estate committed to him. The penalty of such bond must be at least double the value of all the personal property of the deceased; such value to be ascertained by the clerk by examination on oath of the applicant or of some other competent person. If the personal property of any decedent is insufficient to pay his debts and the charges of administration, and it becomes necessary for his executor or administrator to apply for the sale of real estate for assets, and the bond previously given is not double the value of both the real and personal estate of the deceased, such executor (if bond is required of him by law) or administrator shall, before or at the time of filing his petition for such sale, give another bond payable and conditioned as the one above prescribed and with like security, in double the value of the real estate for the sale of which application is made.

See Administration, sections 39, 40. For action on bond of administrator, see section 40.

Bonds cumulative: Pickens v. Miller, 85-543; Jones v. Hays, 38-502; Fidelity Co. v. Fleming, 132-332, and cases cited. Clerk to determine value of estate: Williams v. Neville, 108-565. Bond only guarantees good faith, ordinary care, and reasonable diligence: Smith v. Patton, 131-399; Moore v. Eure, 101-11; Atkinson v. Whitehead, 66-296. All moneys received by administrator under color of the administration are protected by bond: Lafferty v. Young, 125-296; Shuffler v. Turner, 111-297; Jennings v. Copeland, 90-579. Giving bond is not an essential condition of the order appointing administrator: Howerton v. Sexton, 104-86; Harrison v. Cox, 95-357; Hughes v. Hodges, 94-56; Spencer v. Cahoon, 18-27; 15-225; Hoskins v. Miller, 13-360. Failure to require nonresident executor to give bond does not disqualify: Batchelor v. Overton, 158-395.

34. When executor to give bond. Executors shall give bond as prescribed by law in the following cases:

For actions on bond, see section 40. Bond only guarantees good faith: Moore v. Eure, 101-11; Atkinson v. Whitehead, 66-296. Clerk has power to compel: Barnes v. Brown, 79-401; see section 43. Bond required when executor uses estate: McFayden v. Council, 81-195; Gray v. Gaither, 74-237. Not required because of insolvency alone, when insolvency known to testator: Neighbors v. Hamlin, 78-42.

1. Where the executor resides out of the state. Except in the cases otherwise provided in this chapter, no foreign executor has any authority to intermeddle with the estate, until he has entered into bond, and the bond must be given not later than one year after the death of the testator.

Foreign executor must comply with statute: Bank v. Pancake, 172-513; Glasecock v. Gray, 148-346; but failure to give bond may be only an irregularity: Batchelor v. Overton, 158-395.

2. When a man marries a woman who is an executrix, and if the husband in such case fail to give bond, the clerk, on application of any creditor or other party interested in the estate, shall revoke the letters issued to the wife and grant letters of administration with the will annexed to some other person.

Executrix of husband marrying again: Godwin v. Watford, 107-168.

3. Where an executor, other than such as may have already given bond, obtains an order to sell any portion of the real estate for the payment of debts, as hereinafter provided, the court or clerk to whom application is made shall require, before granting any order of sale, such executor to enter into bond.

Rev., s. 28; Code, s. 1515; R. C., c. 46, ss. 12, 13.

35. When executor may give bond after one year. Where a nonresident of the state by will sufficient according to the laws of the state, and duly probated and recorded in the proper county, devises real property situated in this state, the executor acting under the will, if he has not intermeddled with the property devised in the will, and if no letters of administration in this state on the estate have been issued subsequent to the probate of the will, may, after the expiration of one year from the testator's death, give bond in double the value of the property devised, and he shall then be entitled to all the rights, powers and privileges of a resident executor.

36. No bond in certain cases of executor with power to convey. Where a citizen or subject of a foreign country, by will sufficient according to the laws of this state, and duly probated and recorded in the proper county, devises to his executor, with power to sell and convey, real property situated in this state in trust for a person named in the will, the power being vested in the executor as such trustee, the executor may execute the power without giving bond in this state.

37. No bond where will waives bond and coexecutor a resident. A nonresident executor appointed under a will which dispenses with the executor's bond shall not be required to give bond, if a resident of the state is appointed and qualifies as coexecutor, unless the clerk of the court of the county where the will is first probated shall, upon the petition of the creditors or beneficiaries of the estate, deem the bond of the nonresident executor necessary for the protection of the creditors or beneficiaries. This section applies to nonresident executors who qualified before its enactment as well as to those qualifying afterwards.

38. Certain executors' deeds without bond before 1911 validated. Where prior to January first, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, a nonresident executor has sold and conveyed lands in this state under a power in the will of a citizen of another state or of a foreign country, and the will was executed according to the laws of this state and was duly proved and recorded in the state or foreign country where the testator and his family and the executor resided, the sale and conveyance is valid although the executor prior to the execution of the deed had not given bond or obtained letters in this state.

Conveyances validated by this section: Vaught v. Williams, 177-77; Glascoek v. Gray, 148-346.

39. Oath and bond required before letters issue. Before letters testamentary, letters of administration with the will annexed, letters of administration or letters of collection are issued to any person, he must give the bond required by law and must take and subscribe an oath or affirmation before the clerk that he will faithfully and honestly discharge the duties of his trust, which oath must be filed in the office of the clerk.

Rev., s. 29; Code, ss. 1387, 1388, 2169; C. C. P., ss. 467, 468; 1870-1, c. 93.

Letters not void because bond not justified: Garrison v. Cox, 95-353—or because bond lacks securities, Jones v. Gordon, 55-352. Oath taken and bond given: Armstrong v. Stowe, 77-362. Amount of bond, see Williams v. Neville, 108-565.

40. Right of action on bond. Every person injured by the breach of any bond given by an executor, administrator or collector may put the same in suit and recover such damages as he may have sustained.

Rev., s. 30; Code, s. 1516; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 87.

Bonds of administrators only guarantee good faith: Smith v. Patton, 131-397; Moore v. Eure, 101-11.

Peoples*, 20-133; Harrison v. Ward, 14-417; Washington v. Hunt, 12-475; Smith v. Fagan, 13-292. See, also, section 173.

SURETIES. Released: Atkinson v. Farmer, 6-291; Tulburt v. Hollar, 102-406. Not released: Clancy v. Carrington, 14-529. Though released, property mortgaged to them to secure them can be taken: Hooker v. Yellowley, 128-297. Bonds being cumulative, sureties on all bonds held: Pickens v. Miller, 83-543. When surety responsible for debt due estate by administrator: Moseley v. Johnson, 144-257.

VENUE. Administrator must be sued as such in the county in which he took out letters, if he or any of his sureties live there: Foy v. Morehead, 69-512. See section 465.

41. Rights of surety in danger of loss. Any surety on the bond of an executor, administrator or collector, who is in danger of sustaining loss by his suretyship, may exhibit his petition on oath to the clerk of the superior court wherein the bond was given, setting forth particularly the circumstances of his case, and asking that such executor, administrator or collector be removed from office, or that he give security to indemnify the petitioner against apprehended loss, or that the petitioner be released from responsibility on account of any future breach of the bond. The clerk shall issue a citation to the principal in the bond, requiring him, within ten days after service thereof, to answer the petition. If, upon the hearing of the case, the clerk deem the surety entitled to relief, he may grant the same in such manner and to such extent as may be just. And if the principal in the bond gives new or additional security, to the satisfaction of the clerk, within such reasonable time as may be required, the clerk may make an order releasing the surety from liability on the bond for any subsequent act, default or misconduct of the principal.

New bond to save former sureties taken: Governor v. Gowan, 25-342. See Barnes v. Brown, 79-406.

42. On revocation of letters, bond liable to successors. When the letters of an executor, administrator or collector are revoked, his bond may be prosecuted by the person or persons succeeding to the administration of the estate, and a recovery may be had thereon to the full extent of any damage, not exceeding the penalty of the bond, sustained by the estate of the decedent by the acts or omissions of such executor, administrator or collector, and to the full value of any property received and not duly administered. Moneys so recovered shall be assets in the hands of the person recovering them.

For actions by administrator d. b. n. as relator, see under section 40, "Who parties plaintiff." Actions for waste brought by administrator d. b. n., see under section 173. Assets must be recovered from prior administrator before any land sold: Carlton v. Byers, 70-691; Latham v. Bell, 69-135. See generally: Brittain v. Dickson, 104-547; Grant v. Reese, 94-720; University v. Hughes, 90-537; Ham v. Kornegay, 85-119; Duke v. Ferebee, 52-10; Hackney v. Steadman, 46-207.

43. When new bond or new sureties required. If complaint be made on affidavit to the clerk of the superior court that the surety on any bond of an executor, administrator or collector is insufficient, or that one or more of such sureties is or is about to become a nonresident of this state, or that the bond is inadequate in amount, the clerk must issue an order requiring the principal in the bond to show cause why he should not give a new bond, or further surety, as the case may be. On the return of the order duly executed, if the objections in the complaint are found valid, the clerk shall make an order requiring the party to give further surety or a new bond in a larger amount within a reasonable time.

Cannot give in lieu of bond mortgage on intestate's property, even though an heir: In re Sellars, 118-573. Clerk passes upon necessity for renewal: Ibid. Executor converting funds may be compelled to give bond: In re Knowles, 148-461; McFayden v. Council, 81-195; see, also, Neighbors v. Hamlin, 78-42; Hunt v. Sneed, 64-180; Barnes v. Brown, 79-401. Public administrator offering to renew after notice, clerk must accept: In re Trotter, 115-193.

44. On failure to give new bond, letters revoked. If any person required to give a new bond, or further security, or security to indemnify, under the two preceding sections, fails to do so within the time specified in any such order, the clerk must forthwith revoke the letters issued to such person, whose right and authority, respecting the estate, shall thereupon cease.

Rev., s. 34; Code, s. 1520; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 91.

Revocation void unless notice issued to show cause: Trotter v. Mitchell, 115-190; In re Palmer's Will, 117-133. Generally discussed: Edwards v. Cobb, 95-4. See Barnes v. Brown, 79-406; Neighbors v. Hamlin, 78-42; Hunt v. Sneed, 64-180; McIntyre v. Proctor, 145-288.

ART. 9. NOTICE TO CREDITORS

45. Advertisement for claims. Every executor, administrator and collector, within twenty days after the granting of letters, shall notify all persons having claims against the decedent to exhibit the same to such executor, administrator or collector, at or before a day to be named in such notice; which day must be twelve months from the day of the first publication of such notice. The notice shall be published once a week for six weeks in a newspaper, if any there be published in the county. If there is no newspaper published in the county, then the notice shall be posted at the courthouse and four other public places in the county. The cost of publishing in a paper shall in no case exceed two dollars and fifty cents.

Rev., s. 39; Code, ss. 1421, 1422; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 29; 1881, c. 278, s. 2.

Claims presented within one year and admitted, statute of limitations suspended: Turner v. Shuffler, 108-642. Legal effect on claims not presented within one year: Mallard v. Patterson, 108-255; Morris v. Syme, 88-453; Rogers v. Grant, 88-440. Certain advertisements sufficient under old statute: McLin v. McNamara, 22-84; Blount v. Porterfield's admrs., 3-161; see, also, Gilliam v. Willey, 54-128; Lee v. Patrick, 31-125. Cited in Morrisey v. Hill, 142-355; Love v. Ingram, 104-602; Valentine v. Britton, 127-59. See section 412.

46. Proof of advertisement. A copy of the advertisement directed to be posted or published in pursuance of the preceding section, with an affidavit, taken before some person authorized to administer oaths, of the proprietor, editor or foreman of the newspaper wherein the same appeared, to the effect that such notice was published for six weeks in said newspaper, or an affidavit stating that such notices were posted, shall be filed in the office of the clerk by the executor, administrator or collector. The copy so verified or affidavit shall be deemed a record of the court, and a copy thereof, duly certified by the clerk, shall be received as conclusive evidence of the fact of publication in all the courts of this state.

Rev., s. 40; Code, s. 1423; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 31.

Creditor need not show presentment of claim unless administrator avers and proves notice: Valentine v. Britton, 127-57; Love v. Ingram, 104-600. Proving the notice: Gilliam v. Willey, 54-128; Lee v. Patrick, 31-135. See under section 412 for effect on pleading statute of limitations.

47. Personal notice to creditor. The executor, administrator or collector may cause the notice to be personally served on any creditor, who shall, thereupon, within six months after personal service thereof, exhibit his claim, or be forever barred from maintaining any action thereon.

Rev., s. 41; Code, s. 1424; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 32; 1885, c. 96.

Morrisey v. Hill, 142-355. See dissenting opinion in Andres v. Powell, 97-163.

ART. 10. INVENTORY

48. Inventory within three months. Every executor, administrator and collector, within three months after his qualification, shall return to the clerk, on oath, a just, true and perfect inventory of all the real estate, goods and chattels of the deceased, which have come to his hands, or to the hands of any person for him, which inventory shall be signed by him and be recorded by the clerk. He shall also return to the clerk, on oath, within three months after each sale made by him, a full and itemized account thereof, which shall be signed by him and recorded by the clerk.

Grant v. Rogers, 94-762. Executor's imperfect account of sale: Nichols v. Dunn, 22-287. Inventory prima facie evidence against representative, when: Grant v. Reese, 94-720; Hoover v. Miller, 51-79; Graham, admr., v. Davidson, 22-155; Yarborough v. Harris, 14-40; but see Gay v. Grant, 101-206. Need not embrace debts owing deceased in another state, when: Grant v. Reese, 94-720. Failing to file inventory, not entitled to commissions: Ibid.; also Stonestreet v. Frost, 123-640. Two coexecutors filing joint inventory, effect: Graham, admr., v. Davidson, 22-155. Where one of several wards who are tenants in common dies, duty of administrator to have partition: Calvert v. Peebles, 71-274.

49. Compelling the inventory. If the inventory and account of sale specified in the preceding section are not returned as therein prescribed, the clerk must issue an order requiring the executor, administrator or collector to file the same within the time specified in the order, which shall not be less than twenty days, or to show cause why an attachment should not be issued against him. If, after due service of the order, the executor, administrator, or collector does not, on the return day of the order, file such inventory or account of sale, or obtain further time to file the same, the clerk shall have power to vacate the office of administrator, executor or collector.

Clerk vacates office for failure to file inventory: Armstrong v. Stowe, 77-360; Barnes v. Brown, 79-401. Cited in Atkinson v. Ricks, 140-420. See generally: Edwards v. Cobb, 95-4; also see section 31.

50. New assets inventoried. When further property of any kind, not included in any previous return, comes to the hands or knowledge of any executor, administrator or collector, he must cause the same to be returned, as hereinbefore prescribed, within three months after the possession or discovery thereof; and the making of such return of new assets, from time to time, may be enforced in the same manner as in the case of the first inventory.

Rev., s. 44; Code, s. 1398; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 10.

51. Trustees in wills to file inventories and accounts. Trustees appointed in any will admitted to probate in this state, into whose hands assets come under the provisions of the will, shall file in the office of the clerk of the county where the will is probated inventories of the assets and annual and final accounts thereof, such as are required of executors and administrators. The power of the clerk to enforce the filing and his duties in respect to audit and record shall be the same as in such cases. This section shall not apply to any will in which a different provision is made for filing inventories and accounts.

ART. 11. ASSETS

52. Distinction between legal and equitable assets abolished. The distinction between legal and equitable assets is abolished, and all assets shall be applied in the discharge of debts in the manner prescribed by this chapter.

Rev., s. 45; Code, s. 1406; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 14.

WHAT ARE ASSETS. Rents from devised land, when: Shell v. West, 130-171; Wilcoxon v. Donnelly, 90-245; Young v. Young, 115-105. Proceeds from land devised to be sold: Mills v. Harris, 104-626; McBee ex parte, 63-332; but see Newby v. Skinner, 21-488. Proceeds from partnership settlement: Allison v. Davidson, 21-46. Personal property exemption: Johnson v. Cross, 66-167. Distinction between personalty and realty as to rights of creditors: Baker v. Webb, 2-43. All chattels of which administrator might have possessed himself: Gray v. Swain, 9-15. Rents accrued before death: Wilcoxon v. Donnelly, 90-245; Fleming v. Chunn, 57-422.

WHAT ARE NOT ASSETS. State pension warrant: In re Smith, 130-638. Land unsold: Wilson v. Bynum, 92-717; Hawkins v. Carpenter, 88-403; Vaughan v. DeLoatch, 65-378; Fike v. Green, 64-665. Proceeds of land sold for partition: Allison v. Robinson, 78-222; Latta v. Russ, 53-113. Partnership assets before business liquidated: Mendenhall v. Benbow, 84-646. Rents accrued after death: Baptist University v. Borden, 132-476; Young v. Young, 115-105; Wilcoxon v. Donnelly, 90-245; Rogers v. McKenzie, 65-218; Fleming v. Chunn, 57-422. Insurance policy payable to third person: Simmons v. Biggs, 99-236; Conigland v. Smith, 79-303. Recovery for wrongful death assets only for distribution: Hood v. Telegraph Co., 162-92.

53. Trust estate in personalty. If any trustee, or any person interested in any trust estate, dies leaving any equitable interest in personal estate which shall come to his executor, administrator or collector, the same estate shall be deemed personal assets.

Rev., s. 46; Code, s. 1403; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 11.

54. Crops ungathered at death. The crops of every deceased person, remaining ungathered at his death, shall, in all cases, belong to the executor, administrator or collector, as part of the personal assets, and shall not pass to the widow with the land assigned as dower; nor to the devisee by virtue of any devise of the land, unless such intent be manifest and specified in the will.

Cases having a bearing on section: Parker v. Brown, 136-280; State v. Crook, 132-1053; Thomas v. Lines, 83-191; Flynt v. Conrad, 61-190. Using part of crop to pay for the gathering does not subject administrator to penalty: McDaniel v. Johns, 53-414.

55. Real estate sold to pay debts is personal assets. All proceeds arising from the sale of real property, for the payment of debts, as hereinafter provided, shall be deemed personal assets in the hands of the executor, administrator or collector, and applied as though the same were the proceeds of personal estate.

Lafferty v. Young, 125-300; Wilson v. Bynum, 92-717; Vaughan v. DeLoatch, 65-378.

56. Surplus of realty sold for debts is real assets. All proceeds from the sale of real estate, as hereinafter provided, which may not be necessary to pay debts and charges of administration, shall, notwithstanding, be considered real assets, and as such shall be paid by the executor, administrator or collector to such persons as would have been entitled to the land had it not been sold.

Rev., s. 49; Code, s. 1405; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 13.

Administrator dying, his personal representative may be sued by heir for such proceeds: Alexander v. Wolfe, 88-398. See generally: Denton v. Tyson, 118-542; Thomas v. Connelly, 104-342; Latta v. Russ, 53-111. But see Neagle v. Hall, 115-415.

57. Personalty fraudulently conveyed recoverable. If there is not sufficient real and personal assets of the deceased to satisfy all the debts and liabilities of deceased, together with the costs and charges of administration, the personal representative shall have the right to sue for and recover any and all personal property which the deceased may in any wise have transferred or conveyed with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud his creditors, and any money or property so recovered shall constitute assets of the estate in the hands of the personal representative for the payment of debts. But if the fraudulent alienee of deceased has sold the property or estate so fraudulently acquired by him to a bona fide purchaser for value without notice of the fraud, then such fraudulent alienee shall be liable to the personal representative for the value of the property and estate so acquired and disposed of. If the whole recovery from any fraudulent alienee of a decedent shall not be necessary for the payment of the debts of decedent and the costs and charges of administration of his estate, the surplus shall be returned to such fraudulent alienee or his assigns.

See Fraudulent conveyances, sections 1005-1013.

58. Debt due from executor not discharged by appointment. The appointing of any person executor shall not be a discharge of any debt or demand due from such person to the testator.

Construed: Moore v. Miller, 62-359.

59. Joint liability of heirs, etc., for debts. All persons succeeding to the real or personal property of a decedent, by inheritance, devise, bequest or distribution, shall be liable jointly, and not separately, for the debts of such decedent.

Rev., s. 52; Code, s. 1528; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 99.

Only liable after personalty exhausted: Badger v. Daniel, 79-372. Creditor can pursue property in hands of heirs or of others taking after two years, when: Hooker v. Yellowley, 128-297; Badger v. Daniel, 79-372; Hinton v. Whitehurst, 71-66; Winfield v. Burton, 79-388; Syme v. Badger, 96-197; Atkinson v. Farmer, 6-294. Cannot subject property sold after two years, even though purchaser has notice of unpaid debts, when: Brandon v. Phelps, 77-44.

Each heir a surety of the other heirs, when: Badger v. Daniel, 79-372. Creditor can sue heir before administrator settles, when: Syme v. Badger, 96-197. Statute bars creditor, when, see section 438.

60. Extent of liability of heirs, etc. No person shall be liable, under the preceding section, beyond the value of the property so acquired by him, or for any part of a debt that might by action or other due proceeding have been collected from the executor, administrator or collector of the decedent, and it is incumbent on the creditor to show the matters herein required to render such person liable.

Generally discussed in Badger v. Daniel, 79-372. Mentioned in Andres v. Powell, 97-160.

61. Judgment against heirs, etc., apportioned; costs. In any such action the recovery must be apportioned in proportion to the assets or property received by each defendant, and judgment against each must be entered accordingly. Costs in such actions must be apportioned among the several defendants, in proportion to the amount of the recovery against each of them.

Rev., s. 54; Code, s. 1530; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 101.

62. Persons liable for debts to observe priorities. Every person who is liable for the debts of a decedent must observe the same preferences in the payment thereof as are established in this chapter; nor shall the commencement of an action by a creditor give his debt any preference over others.

See sections 102 and 166.

63. Existence of other debts of prior or equal class. The defendants in such action may show that there are unsatisfied debts of a prior class or of the same class with that in suit. If it appears that the value of the property acquired by them does not exceed the debts of a prior class, judgment must be rendered in their favor. If it appears that the value of the property acquired by them exceeds the amount of debts which are entitled to a preference over the debt in suit, the whole amount which the plaintiff shall recover is only such a portion of the excess as is a just proportion to the other debts of the same class with that in suit.

See Heilig v. Foard, 64-710.

64. Debts paid taken as unpaid as against heirs, etc. If any debts of a prior class to that in which the suit is brought, or of the same class, has been paid by any defendant, the amount of the debts so paid shall be estimated, in ascertaining the amount to be recovered, in the same manner as if such debts were outstanding and unpaid, as prescribed in the preceding section.

Rev., s. 57; Code, s. 1533; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 104.

65. Compelling contribution among heirs, etc. The remedy to compel contribution shall be by petition or action in the superior court or before the judge in term time against the personal representatives, devisees, legatees, and heirs also of the decedent if any part of the real estate be undevisee, within two years after probate of the will, and setting forth the facts which entitle the party to relief; and the costs shall be within the discretion of the court.

Rev., s. 58; Code, s. 1534; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 106.

Merely referred to in Andres v. Powell, 97-166; Wharton v. Wilkerson, 92-413.

ART. 12. SALES OF PERSONAL PROPERTY

66. Executor or administrator may sell without court order. Every executor and administrator shall have power in his discretion and without any order, except as hereinafter provided, to sell, as soon after his qualification as practicable, all the personal estate of his decedent.

Power to sell at common law: Gray v. Armistead, 41-74; Bradshaw v. Simpson, 41-243; Polk v. Robinson, 42-235; Tyrrell v. Morris, 21-559. See generally: Wooten v. R. R., 128-124, and cases below. Sale and pledge of intestate's property for benefit of administrator, effect: Cox v. Bank, 119-302; Weisel v. Cobb, 118-23; Liles v. Rogers, 113-202; Dickson v. Crawley, 112-632; Hendrick v. Gidney, 114-543; Dancy v. Duncan, 96-117; Latham v. Moore, 59-167; Wilson v. Doster, 42-231.

67. Collector may sell only on order of court. All sales of personal property by collectors shall be made only upon order obtained, by motion, from the clerk of the superior court, who shall specify in his order a descriptive list of the property to be sold.

Rev., s. 61; Code, s. 1409; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 17.

68. Sale to be public; notice. All sales of personal estate by an executor, administrator or collector shall be publicly made, on credit or for cash, after twenty days notification posted at the courthouse and four other public places in the county.

Rev., s. 63; Code, s. 1410, 1411; 1868-9, c. 113, ss. 18, 19.

Publicly made: Davis v. Marcum, 57-189; Pate v. Kennedy, 104-234; Dickson v. Crawley, 112-629; but see McDaniel v. Johns, 53-414. Statute is directory: Tyrrell v. Morris, 21-559; Cannon v. Jenkins, 16-422; Wynns v. Alexander, 22-58; Dickson v. Crawley, 112-629. Administrator cannot purchase: Gay v. Grant, 101-206; Britton v. Browne, 4-332; Ryden v. Jones, 8-497; Cannon v. Jenkins, 16-423; Villines v. Norfleet, 17-167; Ford v. Blount, 25-519; Tate v. Dalton, 41-562; Froneberger v. Lewis, 70-456, 79-426; Tayloe v. Tayloe, 108-69; Gordon v. Finlay, 10-239—not even through a third party, Summers v. Reynolds, 95-404; Joyner v. Conyers, 59-78; Ford v. Blount, 25-516; but see Ryden v. Jones, 8-497—but if he does purchase, may be ratified by party in interest: Villines v. Norfleet, 17-167; Lyon v. Lyon, 43-201.

69. Clerk may order private sale in certain cases. When personal property consists of cotton, tobacco, peanuts, or other crops, goods, wares and merchandise, state, national or municipal bonds, or the stocks in incorporated companies, the executor or administrator may, upon application to the clerk of the superior court, obtain an order to sell and may sell such personal property at private sale for the best price that can be obtained, and shall report such sale to the clerk for confirmation.

Rev., s. 64; 1893, c. 346; 1919, c. 66.

In action on bond of administrator, the price specified as the price received at the sale of securities is not conclusive: Moseley v. Johnson, 144-257.

70. Clerk must confirm sale on creditor's objection. When any person interested, either as creditor or legatee, on the day of sale objects to the completion of any sale on account of the insufficiency of the amount bid, title to such property shall not pass until the sale is reported to and confirmed by the clerk.

Rev., s. 63; Code, s. 1411; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 19.

Creditor consenting to inadequate price estopped: Cain v. Hawkins, 50-192. Sale conducted fairly, administrator not chargeable with inadequate prices: Woody v. Smith, 65-116.

71. Security required; representative's liability for collection. The proceeds of all sales of personal estate and rentings of real property by public auction or privately shall be secured by bond and good personal security; and such proceeds shall be collected as soon as practicable: otherwise the executor, administrator or collector shall be answerable for the same.

Penalty if administrator does not comply: Pate v. Kennedy, 104-234. "Real property" here means leasehold estates belonging to intestate: Reeves v. McMillan, 101-479; Lee v. Lee, 74-70. Degree of care in taking security: Torrence v. Davidson, 92-437; Davis v. Marcum, 57-109; Deberry v. Ivey, 55-370; Nelson v. Hall, 58-32; Patterson v. Wadsworth, 89-407. Gross negligence to take only bond of purchaser: Roseman v. Pless, 65-374. Sale rescinded when surety insolvent: Bland v. Hartsoe, 65-204.

72. Hours of public sale; penalty. All public sales or rentings provided for in this chapter shall be between the hours of ten o'clock a. m. and four o'clock p. m. of the day on which the sale or renting is to be made, except that in towns or cities of more than five thousand inhabitants public sales of goods, wares, and merchandise may be continued until the hour of ten o'clock p. m.; and every executor, administrator or collector who otherwise makes any sale or renting shall forfeit and pay two hundred dollars to any person suing for the same.

This section does not apply to private sales: Odell v. House, 144-647. How penalty statutes construed: Alexander v. R. R., 144-93. Penalty for wrongful sale: Pate v. Kennedy, 104-234; but see McDaniel v. Johns, 53-414. See cases under section 68.

73. Debts uncollected after year may be sold; list filed. Every executor, administrator and collector, at any time after one year from the grant of letters, is authorized to sell at public auction, in the manner prescribed in this chapter, all bills, bonds, notes, accounts, or other evidences of debt belonging to the decedent, which he has been unable to collect or which may be deemed insolvent. Before offering such evidences of debt at public sale he shall file with the clerk a descriptive list thereof, and obtain an order of sale therefor from the clerk, and shall make return of the proceeds of such sale as in other cases of assets.

Rev., s. 67; Code, s. 1412; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 20.

This statute only directory: Odell v. House, 144-647. Sales of solvent credits for less than value, effect: Weisel v. Cobb, 118-11; Grant v. Reese, 94-720. Private sale valid, if in good faith: Dickson v. Crawley, 112-629; Gray v. Armistead, 41-74.

ART. 13. SALES OF REAL PROPERTY

74. Sale of realty ordered, if personalty insufficient for debts. When the personal estate of a decedent is insufficient to pay all his debts, including the charges of administration, the executor, administrator or collector may, at any time after the grant of letters, apply to the superior court of the county where the land or some part thereof is situated, by petition, to sell the real property for the payment of the debts of such decedent.

Redd, 118-686; Thompson v. Cox, 53-311.

75. When court may order rental. Such executor, administrator or collector, in lieu of asking for an order for the immediate sale of real estate, may ask for an order authorizing him to rent out the same for a term of not exceeding three years, and if it appears to the court that the best interests of the heirs at law and devisees of the deceased will be promoted by granting such order and that it is probable that the rents derived from the real estate during the term will be sufficient to pay off and discharge the debts and the costs of the administration, the superior court may, with the consent of the creditors, make such order upon such terms as may be best for the heirs at law, devisees and creditors of the estate; or if it is made to appear to the court that such executor, administrator or collector is able to borrow sufficient money with which to pay off and discharge all valid and just claims against the estate of the deceased, then the court shall have the power to authorize said executor or administrator to borrow money for the purpose of paying off and discharging such claims and authorizing him to rent the real estate for a term not exceeding three years and to apply the rents to the repayment of the money thus borrowed, and the said estate shall be and remain liable for the payment of such sums as may be borrowed under such order of the court to the same extent and no further as the estate was liable for the indebtedness of the deceased to pay off and discharge the debt for which the said sums were borrowed. All orders made by the court pursuant to this section shall be approved by the judge residing in or holding the courts of the district in which such county is situated.

76. Lands conveyed by heir within two years sold. All conveyances of real property of any decedent made by any devisee or heir at law, within two years from the grant of letters, shall be void as to the creditors, executors, administrators and collectors of such decedent; but such conveyances to bona fide purchasers for value and without notice, if made after two years from the grant of letters, shall be valid even as against creditors.

Rev., s. 70; Code, s. 1442; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 105.

See generally: Arrington v. Arrington, 114-151; Miller v. Shoaf, 110-319; Gilchrist v. Middleton, 108-705; Davis v. Perry, 96-260; Murchison v. Whitted, 87-465; Badger v. Daniel, 79-372; Winfield v. Burton, 79-388; Hinton v. Whitehurst, 71-66; Donnolo v. Patterson, 70-649.

77. Lands conveyed in fraud of creditors sold. The real estate subject to sale under this chapter shall include all the deceased may have conveyed with intent to defraud his creditors, and all rights of entry and rights of action and all other rights and interests in lands, tenements and hereditaments which he may devise, or by law would descend to his heirs: Provided, that lands so fraudulently conveyed shall not be taken from any one who purchased them for a valuable consideration and without a knowledge of the fraud.

Land conveyed to third person by direction of decedent not within statute: Clement v. Cozart, 109-173; Rhem v. Tull, 35-57; compare Egerton v. Jones, 107-284. Land conveyed to wife and children while insolvent: Webb v. Atkinson, 122-683, 124-447. Complaint in action to sell land fraudulently conveyed: Sullivan v. Field, 118-358. Bearing upon statute: Speed v. Perry, 167-122; McCaskill v. Graham, 121-190; Clement v. Cozart, 107-700; Tuck v. Walker, 106-285; Harrington v. Hatton, 129-146; Nadal v. 78. Effect of bona fide purchase from fraudulent grantee. When an executor, administrator or collector files his petition to sell lands which have been fraudulently conveyed, and of which there has been a subsequent bona fide sale, whereby he cannot have a decree of sale of the land, the court may give judgment in favor of such executor, administrator or collector for the value of the land, against all persons who may have fraudulently purchased the same; and if the whole recovery is not necessary to pay the debts and charges, the residue shall be restored to the person of whom the recovery was made.

79. Contents of petition for sale. The petition, which must be verified by the oath of the applicant, shall set forth, as far as can be ascertained:

1. The amount of debts outstanding against the estate.
2. The value of the personal estate, and the application thereof.
3. A description of all the legal and equitable real estate of the decedent, with the estimated value of the respective portions or lots.
4. The names, ages and residences, if known, of the devisees and heirs at law of the decedent.

Rev., s. 77; Code, s. 1437; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 43.

Petition must show that personalty insufficient: Clement v. Cozart, 107-695; Blount v. Pritchard, 88-445; Shields v. McDowell, 82-137—need not show that bond of former administrator was exhausted, Monger v. Kelly, 115-294—may state that it will be necessary to sell land fraudulently conveyed, Sullivan v. Field, 118-358—must show value and disposition of personalty, McNeil v. McBryde, 112-408—must show amount of debts, Austin v. Austin, 132-265. Effect of failure to verify petition: Stradley v. Brown, 123-419; Morrisett v. Ferebee, 120-6.

81. Adverse claimant to be heard. When the land, which is sought to be sold, is claimed by another person under any pretense whatsoever, such claimant shall be admitted to be heard as a party to the proceeding, upon affidavit of his claim, and if the issue be found for the petitioner he shall have his writ of possession and order of sale accordingly.

See generally: Perry v. Peterson, 98-63; Gibson v. Pitts, 69-155. Adverse claimant being party to action, estopped by confirmation of sale: Smith v. Huffman, 132-600.

82. Upon issues joined, transferred to term. When an issue of law or fact is joined between the parties, the course of the procedure shall be as prescribed in such cases for other special proceedings.

Person v. Montgomery, 120-111; Stainback v. Harris, 115-100; Perry v. Peterson, 98-63; Jones v. Hemphill, 77-42; McBryde v. Patterson, 73-479.

83. Order granted, if petition not denied. As soon as all proper parties are made to the proceeding, the clerk of the superior court before whom it is instituted, if the allegations in the petition are not denied or controverted, shall have power to hear the same summarily, and to decree a sale.

Rev., s. 79; Code, s. 1443; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 48.

84. Notice of sale as on execution. Notice of sale under this proceeding shall be the same as for the sale of real estate by sheriffs on execution.

Rev., s. 81; Code, s. 1445; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 50.

85. Court fixes extent and terms; title on confirmation. The court may decree a sale of the whole or any specified parcel of the premises in such a manner, as to size of lots, place of sale, terms of credit, and security for payment of purchase money, as may be most advantageous to the estate, and may also authorize and empower the petitioner or any commissioner appointed by the court to subdivide the land in question, or any part thereof, in such manner as he may deem proper and for the best interest of the estate, and, in making such division, to dedicate to the public such parts thereof as he may find necessary for public streets, alleys, and highways, and to sell such premises, either in bulk or in separate lots, with such streets, alleys, and highways excepted or reserved; but no sale, whether public or private, shall be concluded until reported to and approved and confirmed by the court. Upon the coming in of the report of the sale and the confirmation thereof, title shall be made by such person, and at such time as the court may prescribe, and in all cases where the persons in possession have been made parties to the proceeding, the court may grant an order for possession.

ORDER. May direct sale of any portion: Tillett v. Aydlett, 90-551, 93-15. Made erroneously: Hyman v. Jarnigan, 65-96.

SALE. Cases holding no fraud in Coffin v. Cook, 106-376. Purchaser not entitled to order for possession, when: Marcom v. Wyatt, 117-129. Administrator cannot purchase: Highsmith v. Whitehurst, 120-123; Howell v. Tyler, 91-207; Roberts v. Roberts, 65-27; Froneberger v. Lewis, 70-456; see under section 68. Title to land offered presumed good: Shields v. Allen, 77-375. Administrator not reporting sale, remedy: Mason v. Osgood, 64-467. Purchaser compelled to complete purchase: Hudson v. Coble, 97-260.

CONFIRMATION OF SALE. Harrell v. Blythe, 140-415; Joyner v. Futrell, 136-301; Smith v. Hoffman, 132-600; Shute v. Austin, 120-440; Marcom v. Wyatt, 117-129; Foushee v. Durham, 84-56; Stradley v. King, 84-635; Shearin v. Hunter, 72-493; Thompson v. Cox, 53-311; Evans v. Singletary, 63-205.

PURCHASER'S TITLE. Made, when: Joyner v. Futrell, 136-301; Foushee v. Durham, 84-56; Mason v. Osgood, 64-467; but see Hyman v. Jarnigan, 65-96; Godley v. Taylor, 14-178. Validity of title discussed: Pinnell v. Burroughs, 168-315; Yarborough v. Moore, 151-116; Carraway v. Lassiter, 139-145; Highsmith v. Whitehurst, 120-123; Piercy v. Watson, 118-976; Sledge v. Brown, 72-46; Lovinier v. Pearce, 70-168; Hyman v. Jarnigan, 65-96; Overton v. Crawford, 52-415.

86. Court may order private sale; terms; sale reopened. If it is made to appear to the court by petition and by satisfactory proof that it will be more for the interest of said estate to sell such real estate by private sale, the court may authorize said petitioner, or any commissioner appointed by the court, to sell the same at private sale, either in whole or in part, for cash in hand, or upon deferred payments, not exceeding two years, with interest from date of sale, the deferred payments to be secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon the property, or by the retention of the title thereto until the purchase money is paid. When any order for private sale has been or may hereafter be made by any superior court of the state, the provisions of section 2591, chapter, Mortgages and Deeds of Trust, not inconsistent with this section shall apply; and the court may also, upon motion of any person interested in the proceeds of such sale, filed in writing within ten days from the date and report of said sale, together with satisfactory proof that said real property has not been sold for its real value, require the sale to be reopened, and thereupon the court may issue an order for the sale of such premises at public sale, as required by section 2591, chapter, Mortgages and Deeds of Trust, and in such order the court may require such premises to be sold in such parcels and on such terms as to the court may seem most advantageous to the estate.

87. Undevised realty first sold. When any part of the real estate of the testator descends to his heirs by reason of its not being devised or disposed of by the will, such undevised real estate shall be first chargeable with payment of debts, in exoneration, as far as it will go, of the real estate that is devised, unless from the will it appears otherwise to be the wish of the testator.

Rev., s. 69; Code, s. 1430; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 39.

The will should be disturbed as little as practicable: Tillet v. Aydlett, 90-553. Land undevised sold first: Camp Mfg. Co. v. Liverman, 123-7. Section cited in Speed v. Perry, 167-122.

88. Specifically devised realty; contribution. If, upon the hearing of any petition for the sale of real estate to pay debts, under this chapter, the court decrees a sale of any part that may have been specifically devised, the devisee shall be entitled to contribution from other devisees, according to the principles of equity in respect to contribution among legatees. And the children and issue provided for in this chapter shall be regarded as specific devisees in such contribution.

Rev., s. 86; Code, s. 1535; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 107.

Miller v. Shoaf, 110-319; Lilly v. Wooley, 94-412; Badger v. Daniel, 79-372. Land not specifically devised will exonerate a specific bequest of personalty: Jones v. Huntley, 156-410.

89. Under power in will, sales public or private. Sales of real property made pursuant to authority given by will, unless the will otherwise directs, may be public or private, and on such terms as, in the opinion of the executor, are most advantageous to those interested therein.

Rev., s. 84; Code, s. 1503; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 75.

90. Where executor with power dies, power executed by survivor, etc. When any or all of the executors of a person making a will of lands to be sold by his executors die, fail or for any cause refuse to take upon them the administration; or, after having qualified, shall die, resign, or for any cause be removed from the position of executor; or when there is no executor named in a will devising lands to be sold, in every such case such executor or executors as survive or retain the burden of administration, or the administrator with the will annexed, or the administrator de bonis non, may sell and convey such lands; and all such conveyances which have been or shall be made by such executors or administrators shall be effectual to convey the title to the purchaser of the estate so devised to be sold.

Harris*, 104-626— and administrator with will annexed can make valid title, Orrender v. Call, 101-399. Surviving executor executes powers: Simpson v. Simpson, 93-373. Power to sell does not include power to option: Trogden v. Williams, 144-192. Where two or more executors appointed to sell, all of them must execute the power: Trogden v. Williams, 144-192; Wasson v. King, 19-262; Debow v. Hodge, 4-36. Foreign executors cannot convey land here unless they qualify in this state: Scott v. Lumber Co., 144-44. A waiver by one executor does not bind the other: Trogden v. Williams, 144-192. See section 2578.

91. Death of vendor under contract, representative to convey. When any deceased person has bona fide sold any lands, and has given a bond or other written contract to the purchaser to convey the same, and the bond or other written contract has been duly proved and registered in the county where the lands are situated, if within the state, or, if not in the state, shall be proved before the clerk of the superior court and registered in the county where the obligee lives or obligor died, his executor, administrator or collector may execute a deed to the purchaser conveying such estate as shall be specified in the bond or other written contract; and such deed shall convey the title as fully as if it had been executed by the deceased obligor: Provided, that no deed shall be made but upon payment of the price, if that be the condition of the bond or other written contract.

Contracts within the statute: Hodges v. Hodges, 22-72. Personal representative conveys: Overman v. Jackson, 104-4. Equitable defenses against bond set up against deed: McCraw v. Gwin, 42-55. Conveyance before contract registered and money paid inoperative: Taylor v. Hargrove, 101-145. Heirs cannot enjoin personal representative from conveying: White v. Hooper, 59-152. Title conveyed with covenant of quiet enjoyment, effect: Osborne v. McMillan, 50-109. Purchaser must show consideration paid before getting deed: Lindsay v. Coble, 37-602. Does not apply to option accepted after death of owner of land; the title is then in heir or devisee: Mizell v. Lumber Co., 174-68. Cases merely citing section: Taylor v. Gooch, 110-390; Grubb v. Lookabill, 100-270; Twitty v. Lovelace, 97-54. See, also, Earle v. McDowell, 12-16.

92. Title in representative for estate, he or successor to convey. When land is conveyed to a personal representative for the benefit of the estate he represents, he may sell and convey same upon such terms as he may deem just and for the advantage of said estate; which sale shall be public, after due advertisement, as for judicial sales, unless the conveyance is made to the party entitled to the proceeds. If such land is not conveyed by such personal representative during his life or term of office, his successor may sell and convey such land as if the title had been made to him: Provided, if the predecessor has contracted in writing to sell said lands, but fails to convey same, his successor in office may do so upon payment of the purchase price.

Rev., s. 71; 1905, c. 342.

ART. 14. PROOF AND PAYMENT OF DEBTS OF DECEDENT

93. Order of payment of debts. The debts of the decedent must be paid in the following order:

First class. Debts which by law have a specific lien on property to an amount not exceeding the value of such property.

Where valid lien upon property sold, administrator must use first moneys to discharge lien: Pate v. Oliver, 104-458; see, also, Chemical Co. v. Edwards, 136-78; Moore v. Dunn, 92-63; Creasy v. Pearce, 69-67.

Second class. Funeral expenses.

Funeral expenses of no one but intestate included: Baker v. Dawson, 131-227—paid any one who of necessity has to advance costs of burial, Ray v. Honeycutt, 119-510; see, also, Parker v. Lewis, 13-22; Ward v. Jones, 44-127; Barbee v. Green, 92-471.

Third class. Taxes assessed on the estate of the deceased previous to his death.

Taxes to be paid as other debts, and not by ordinary process by sheriff: Sherrod v. Dawson, 154-525; see, also, James v. Withers, 126-715.

Fourth class. Dues to the United States and to the state of North Carolina.

Fifth class. Judgments of any court of competent jurisdiction within this state, docketed and in force, to the extent to which they are a lien on the property of the deceased at his death.

Priority is determined at the death of the debtor: Tarboro v. Pender, 153-427. Debt for purchase money of land is not preferred: Moore v. Ingram, 91-376. Cases as to debts of fifth class: Mauney v. Holmes, 87-428; Galloway v. Bradfield, 86-163; Murchison v. Williams, 71-135; Jenkins v. Carter, 70-500; Dancy v. Pope, 68-147.

Sixth class. Wages due to any domestic servant or mechanical or agricultural laborer employed by the deceased, which claim for wages shall not extend to a period of more than one year next preceding the death; or if such servant or laborer was employed for the year current at the decease, then from the time of such employment; for medical services within the twelve months preceding the decease.

As to debt to child for services performed for parent: Winkler v. Killian, 141-575; and cases therein cited.

Seventh class. All other debts and demands.

Foreign and domestic creditors are on same footing as to assets: Findley v. Gidney, 75-395. No debt of the estate can be created after the death of intestate: Lindsay v. Darden, 124-307.

Cases merely citing statute: Atkinson v. Ricks, 140-421; Cobb v. Rhea, 137-298; Cowles v. Hall, 113-361; State and Guilford v. Georgia Co., 112-42; Lee v. Eure, 82-428. Rev., s. 87; Code, s. 1416; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 24.

94. No preference within class. No executor, administrator or collector shall give to any debt any preference whatever, either by paying it out of its class or by paying thereon more than a pro rata proportion in its class.

Rev., s. 88; Code, ss. 1417, 1418; 1868-9, c. 113, ss. 25, 26.

95. When payment out of class held valid. Where any executor or administrator has paid any debt of his testator or intestate before all the debts of higher dignity have been paid and satisfied, and the estate of such testator or intestate was at the time of such payment solvent, but has since been rendered insolvent by the emancipation of the slaves, or the insolvency of the debtors of the estate, or other cause, without any fault or want of diligence on the part of the executor or administrator, or when any creditor has refused to accept payment of his debt in Confederate currency, and such currency was afterwards used by the executor or administrator in payment of debts of the estate, or it became of no value by the termination of the war, in all such cases payments thus made shall be deemed and held valid in law, and shall be allowed to such executor or administrator in all suits by creditors of the estate seeking to charge such executor or administrator with assets of the estate or with devastavit thereof, without regard to the dignity of the debt thus paid, or on which such suit may be brought.

Cited in Coggins v. Flythe, 113-114. See, also, Coltraine v. Spurgin, 31-52; Roundtree v. Sawyer, 15-44, and cases cited under sections 94 and 173.

96. Debts due representative not preferred. No property or assets of the decedent shall be retained by the executor, administrator or collector in satisfaction of his own debt, in preference to others of the same class; but such debt must be established upon the same proof and paid in like manner and order as required by law in case of other debts.

Rev., s. 89; Code, s. 1420; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 28.

97. Debts not due rebated. Debts not due may be paid on a rebate of interest thereon for the time unexpired.

Rev., s. 90; Code, s. 1419; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 27.

98. Affidavit of debt may be required. Upon any claim being presented against the estate, the executor, administrator or collector may require the affidavit of the claimant or other satisfactory evidence that such claim is justly due, that no payments have been made thereon, and that there are no offsets against the same, to the knowledge of the claimant; or if any payments have been made, or any offsets exist, their nature and amount must be stated in such affidavit.

Hinton v. Pritchard, 126-8.

99. Disputed debt may be referred. If the executor, administrator or collector doubts the justness of any claim so presented, he may enter into an agreement, in writing, with the claimant, to refer the matter in controversy, whether the same be of a legal or equitable nature, to one or more disinterested persons, not exceeding three, whose proceedings shall be the same in all respects as if such reference had been ordered in an action. Such agreement to refer, and the award thereupon, shall be filed in the clerk's office where the letters were granted, and shall be a lawful voucher for the personal representative. The same may be impeached in any proceeding against the personal representative for fraud therein: Provided, that the right to refer claims under this section shall extend to claims in favor of the estate as well as those against it.

100. Disputed debt not referred, barred in six months. If a claim is presented to and rejected by the executor, administrator or collector, and not referred as provided in the preceding section, the claimant must, within six months after due notice in writing of such rejection, or after some part of the debt becomes due, commence an action for the recovery thereof, or be forever barred from maintaining an action thereon.

Rev., s. 93; Code, s. 1427; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 35; 1913, c. 3, s. 1.

101. If claim not presented in twelve months, representative discharged as to assets paid. In an action brought on a claim which was not presented within twelve months from the first publication of the general notice to creditors, the executor, administrator or collector shall not be chargeable for any assets that he may have paid in satisfaction of any debts, legacies or distributive shares before such action was commenced; nor shall any costs be recovered in such action against the executor, administrator or collector.

Morrisey v. Hill, 142-355; Mallard v. Patterson, 108-255. See, also, cases under section 412.

102. No lien by suit against representative. No lien shall be created by the commencement of a suit against an executor, administrator or collector.

Rev., s. 95; Code, s. 1432; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 41.

103. When costs against representative allowed. No costs shall be recovered in any action against an executor, administrator or collector, unless it appears that payment was unreasonably delayed or neglected, or that the defendant refused to refer the matter in controversy, in which cases the court may award such costs against the defendant personally, or against the estate, as may be just.

Rev., s. 97; Code, s. 1429; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 38.

NOTE. See Costs; see, also, s. 121.

104. Obligations binding heirs collected as other debts. Bonds and other obligations in which the ancestor has bound his heirs shall not be put in suit against the heirs or devisees of the deceased, but shall be paid as other debts of the same class in the manner provided in this chapter.

Rev., s. 98; Code, s. 1404; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 12.

See Pate v. Oliver, 104-458; Earle v. McDowell, 12-16.

ART. 15. ACCOUNTS AND ACCOUNTING

105. Annual accounts. Every executor, administrator and collector shall, within twelve months from the date of his qualification or appointment, and annually, so long as any of the estate remains in his control, file, in the office of the clerk of the superior court, an inventory and account, under oath, of the amount of property received by him, or invested by him, and the manner and nature of such investment, and his receipts and disbursements for the past year in the form of debit and credit. He must produce vouchers for all payments. The clerk may examine on oath such accounting party, or any other person, concerning the receipts, disbursements or any other matter relating to the estate; and, having carefully revised and audited such account, if he approve the same, he must endorse his approval thereon, which shall be deemed prima facie evidence of correctness.

“Account” defined in State v. Dunn, 134-668. Account prima facie correct: Marler v. Golden, 172-823; Bean v. Bean, 135-92; Coggins v. Flythe, 113-102; Allen v. Royster, 107-282; Grant v. Hughes, 94-231. Rents and profits of certain land are assets: Lafferty v. Young, 125-296. Case in which annual and final account distinguished: Burgwyn v. Daniel, 115-115. Referred to in Stonestreet v. Frost, 123-292; Turner v. Turner, 104-572; Grant v. Rogers, 94-762; Gregory v. Ellis, 82-228; McFayden v. Council, 81-195; Heilig v. Foard, 64-710.

106. Clerk may compel account. If any executor, administrator or collector omits to account, as directed in the preceding section, or renders an insufficient and unsatisfactory account, the clerk shall forthwith order such executor, administrator or collector to render a full and satisfactory account, as required by law, within twenty days after service of the order. Upon return of the order, duly served, if such executor, administrator or collector fail to appear or refuse to exhibit such account, the clerk may issue an attachment against him for a contempt and commit him till he exhibit such account, and may likewise remove him from office.

“Account” defined in State v. Dunn, 134-668. See Atkinson v. Ricks, 140-420; Bean v. Bean, 135-92. Cited merely in Edwards v. Cobb, 95-8; Battle v. Duncan, 90-548.

107. Vouchers presumptive evidence. Vouchers are presumptive evidence of disbursement, without other proof, unless impeached. If lost, the accounting party must, if required, make oath to that fact, setting forth the manner of loss, and state the contents and purport of the voucher. And this section shall apply to guardians, collectors, trustees and to all other persons acting in a fiduciary character.

What voucher must show: McLean v. Breese, 109-564; Costen v. McDowell, 107-546—effect of failure to impeach at proper time, Drake v. Drake, 82-443.

108. Gravestones authorized. It is lawful for executors and administrators to provide suitable gravestones to mark the graves of their testators or intestates, and to pay for the cost of erecting the same, and the cost thereof shall be paid as funeral expenses and credited as such in final accounts. The cost thereof shall be in the sound discretion of the executor or administrator, having due regard to the value of the estate and to the interests of creditors and needs of the widow and distributees of the estate. Where the executor or administrator desires to spend more than one hundred dollars for such purpose he shall file his petition before the clerk of the court, and such order as will be made by the court shall specify the amount to be expended for such purpose, and same shall be approved by the resident judge of the district.

Rev., s. 102; 1905, c. 444.

109. Final accounts. An executor or administrator may be required to file his final account for settlement in the office of the clerk of the superior court by a citation directed to him, at any time after two years from his qualification, at the instance of any person interested in the estate; but such account may be filed voluntarily at any time; and, whether the accounting be voluntary or compulsory, it shall be audited and recorded by the clerk.

Rev., s. 103; Code, s. 1402; C. C. P., s. 481.

“Account” defined in State v. Dunn, 134-668. “Final account” defined in Vaughan v. Hines, 87-445; Burgwyn v. Daniel, 115-115; Collins v. Smith, 109-468. Prima facie correct: Marler v. Golden, 172-823; Rich v. Morisey, 149-47; Jones v. Sugg, 136-144; Allen v. Royster, 107-278; Turner v. Turner, 104-566. See generally: Woody v. Brooks, 102-334. Council*, 86-184; Heilig v. Foard, 64-714; Rowland v. Thompson, 65-110.

110. Creditor's special proceeding for accounting. Any creditor of a deceased person may, within the times prescribed by law, prosecute a special proceeding or a civil action before the judge in his own name and in behalf of himself and all other creditors of the deceased without naming them, against the personal representative of the deceased, to compel him to an account of his administration, and to pay the creditors what may be payable to them respectively.

Murphy, 76-52; Wordsworth v. Davis, 75-159; Patterson v. Miller, 72-516; Ballard v. Kilpatrick, 71-281; Overman v. Grier, 70-693. Cases where mere reference is made to section: Valentine v. Britton, 127-59; Dickey v. Dickey, 118-956; Cowles v. Hall, 113-361; Clement v. Cozart, 109-181; Wilson v. Pearson, 102-314; Andres v. Powell, 97-165; Carlton v. Byers, 93-302. See cases under section 135.

111. Rules which govern creditor's proceeding. The special proceeding shall be governed by the rules of practice prescribed for special proceedings, except so far as the same are modified by this chapter.

Rev., s. 105; Code, s. 1449; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 2.

Isler v. Murphy, 76-53; Warden v. McKinnon, 94-388.

112. When and where summons returnable. The summons in said special proceeding shall be returnable before the clerk of the superior court of the county in which letters testamentary or of administration were granted, and on a day not less than forty nor more than one hundred days from the issuing thereof, and not less than twenty days after the service thereof.

Rev., s. 106; Code, s. 1450; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 3.

Brooks v. Brooks, 97-141; Isler v. Murphy, 76-52.

113. Clerk to advertise for creditors. On issuing the summons, the clerk shall advertise for all creditors of the deceased to appear before him on or before the return day and file the evidences of their claims.

Rev., s. 107; Code, s. 1451; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 4.

Hester v. Lawrence, 102-319; Warden v. McKinnon, 94-388.

114. Publication of advertisement. The advertisement shall be published at least once a week for not less than four weeks in some newspaper which may be thought by the clerk the most likely to inform all the creditors, and shall also be posted at the courthouse door for not less than thirty days. If, however, the estate does not exceed three thousand dollars in value, and the creditors are supposed by the clerk all to reside within the county or to be known, publication in a newspaper may be omitted, and in lieu thereof the advertisement shall be posted at four public places in the county, besides the courthouse door. Proof of personal service on a creditor or that a copy of the advertisement was sent to him by mail at his usual address shall be as to him equivalent to publication.

Hester v. Lawrence, 102-319; Warden v. McKinnon, 94-388.

115. Creditors to file claims and appoint agent. The creditors of the deceased on or before the required day shall file with the clerk the evidences of their demands, and every creditor on filing such claim shall endorse thereon or otherwise name some person or place within the town in which the court is held, upon whom or where notices in the cause may be served or left; otherwise he shall be deemed to have notice of all motions, orders and proceedings in the cause filed or made in the clerk's office.

Rev., s. 109; Code, s. 1453; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 6.

Creditor filing claim has standing in court: Warden v. McKinnon, 94-378; Moore v. Edwards, 92-43.

116. Proof of claims. If the evidence of the demand is other than a judgment, or some writing signed by the deceased, it shall be accompanied by the oath of the creditor, or, if he be nonresident or infirm or absent, or in any other proper case, of some witness of the transaction, or of some agent of the creditor, that to the best of his knowledge and belief the claim is just, and that all due credits have been given.

Warden v. McKinnon, 94-388; Isler v. Murphy, 76-52; Long v. Bank, 85-354.

117. Representative to file claims; notice to creditors. On the day of his appearance the personal representative shall on oath give to the clerk a list of all claims against the deceased of which he has received notice or has any knowledge, with the names and residences of the claimants to the best of his knowledge and belief; and if any person so named has failed to file evidence of his claim, the clerk shall immediately cause a notice requiring him to do so to be served on him, which may be done by posting the same, directed to him at his usual address.

Fleming v. Fleming, 85-130.

118. Clerk to exhibit to representative claims filed. On the day fixed for the appearance of the personal representative, the clerk shall exhibit to him a list of all the claims filed in his office, with the evidences thereof.

Rev., s. 112; Code, s. 1456; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 9.

Fleming v. Fleming, 85-130.

119. If representative denies claim, creditor notified. Within five days thereafter the defendant shall state in writing on said list, or on a separate paper, which of said claims he disputes in whole or in part. The clerk shall then notify the creditor, as above provided, that his claim is disputed, and the creditor shall thereupon file in the office of the clerk a complaint founded on his said claim, and the pleadings shall be as in other cases.

Rev., s. 113; Code, s. 1457; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 10.

Practice in case of administrator denying claim: Warden v. McKinnon, 94-378; Graham v. Tate, 77-124; Moore v. Edwards, 92-43. Creditor can dispute claim of other creditor, when: Oates v. Lilly, 84-643; Wordsworth v. Davis, 75-159; Overman v. Grier, 70-693. Referred to in Atkinson v. Ricks, 140-420; Fleming v. Fleming, 85-130; Isler v. Murphy, 76-54.

120. Issues joined; cause sent to superior court. If the issues joined be of law, the clerk shall send the papers to the judge of the superior court for trial, as is provided for by the chapter on Civil Procedure in like cases. If the issues shall be of fact, the clerk shall send so much of the record as may be necessary to the next term of the superior court for trial.

Rev., s. 114; Code, s. 1458; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 11.

Atkinson v. Ricks, 140-420; Warden v. McKinnon, 94-388; Graham v. Tate, 77-124. No accounting ordered until pleas in bar tried: Oldham v. Rieger, 145-254; see, also, cases cited under section 573.

121. When representative personally liable for costs. If any personal representative denies the liability of his deceased upon any claim evidenced as is provided in this chapter, and the issue is finally decided against him, the costs of the trial shall be paid by him personally, and not allowed out of the estate, unless it appears that he had reasonable cause to contest the claim and did so bona fide.

Rev., s. 115; Code, s. 1459; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 12.

NOTE. See s. 103.

Referred to in Valentine v. Britton, 127-59.

122. Court may permit representative to appear after return day. If the personal representative fails to appear on the return day, the clerk or judge of the superior court may permit him afterward to appear and plead on such terms as may be just.

Rev., s. 116; Code, s. 1460; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 13.

123. Clerk to state account. Immediately after the return day the clerk or judge shall proceed to hear such evidence as shall be brought before him, and to state an account of the dealings of the personal representative with the estate of his deceased according to the course of his court.

Rev., s. 117; Code, s. 1461; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 14.

Atkinson v. Ricks, 140-420.

124. Exception to report; final report and judgment. After the clerk has stated the account and prepared his report, he shall notify all the parties to examine and except to the same. Any party may then except to the same in whole or in part. The clerk shall then pass on the exceptions and prepare and sign his final report and judgment, of which the parties shall have notice.

Rev., s. 118; Code, s. 1462; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 15.

Cited in Atkinson v. Ricks, 140-420; Hester v. Lawrence, 102-324.

125. Appeal from judgment; security for costs. Any party may appeal from a final judgment of the clerk to the judge of the superior court in term time, on giving an undertaking with surety, or making a deposit, to pay all costs which shall be recovered against him. If any creditor appeals and gives such security, his appeal shall be deemed an appeal by all who are damaged by the judgment, and no other creditor shall be required to give any undertaking.

Rev., s. 119; Code, s. 1464; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 17.

126. Papers on appeal filed and cause docketed. On an appeal the clerk shall file his report and judgment and all the papers in his office as clerk of the superior court, and enter the case on his trial docket for the next term.

Rev., s. 120; Code, s. 1465; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 18.

127. Prior creditors not affected by appeal may docket judgments. If the exceptions and questions, from the decision on which the appeal is taken, affect only the creditors in one or more classes, the creditors in the prior classes by the leave of the clerk, or of the judge of the superior court, may docket their judgments and issue execution thereon.

Rev., s. 121; Code, s. 1466; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 19.

128. Judgment where assets sufficient to pay a class. If upon taking the account it is admitted, or is found, without appeal, that the defendant has assets sufficient, after the deduction of all proper costs and charges, to pay all the claims which have been presented of any one or more of the classes, the clerk shall give judgment in favor of the creditors whose debts of such classes have been admitted, or adjudged by any competent court; and if any claim in any preferred class is in litigation, the amount of such claim, with the probable cost of the litigation, shall be left in the hands of the personal representative, and not carried to the credit of any subsequent class until the litigation is ended.

Cited in Atkinson v. Ricks, 140-420; Hester v. Lawrence, 102-325.

129. Judgment where assets insufficient to pay a class. If the assets are insufficient to pay in full all the claims of any class, the amounts thereof having been found or admitted as aforesaid, the clerk may adjudge payment of a certain part of such claims, proportionate to the assets applicable to debts of that class.

Rev., s. 123; Code, s. 146S; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 21.

Cited in Atkinson v. Ricks, 140-420; Hester v. Lawrence, 102-324.

130. Contents of judgment; execution. All judgments given by a judge or clerk of the superior court against a personal representative for any claim against his deceased shall declare—

1. The certain amount of the creditor's demand.

2. The amount of assets which the personal representative has applicable to such demand. Execution may issue only for this last sum with interest and costs.

Rev., s. 124; Code, s. 1469; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 22.

Warden v. McKinnon, 94-391. Cited in Hester v. Lawrence, 102-324, 325.

131. When judgment to fix with assets. No judgment of any court against a personal representative shall fix him with assets, except a judgment of the judge or clerk, rendered as aforesaid, or the judgment of some appellate court rendered upon an appeal from such judgment. All other judgments shall be held merely to ascertain the debt, unless the personal representative by pleading expressly admits assets.

Rev., s. 125; Code, s. 1470; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 23.

Grant v. Bell, 91-495; Brooks v. Headen, 88-449; Holmes v. Foster, 78-35; Dunn v. Barnes, 73-273. Effect of executor paying the judgment: Perkins v. Berry, 103-131. Cited in Atkinson v. Ricks, 140-420; Hester v. Lawrence, 102-325.

132. Form and effect of execution. All executions issued upon the order or judgment of the judge or clerk or of any appellate court against any personal representative, rendered as aforesaid, shall run against the goods and chattels of the deceased, and if none, then against the goods and chattels, lands and tenements of the representative. And all such judgments docketed in any county shall be a lien on the property for which execution is adjudged as fully as if it were against him personally.

Cited in Atkinson v. Ricks, 140-420; Hester v. Lawrence, 102-325.

133. Report is evidence of assets only at date. The account and report and adjudication by the judge, clerk or any appellate court shall not be evidence as to the assets except on the day to which such adjudication relates.

Rev., s. 127; Code, s. 1472; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 25.

134. Creditor giving security may show subsequent assets. Any creditor may afterwards, on filing an affidavit by himself or his agent that he believes that assets have come to the hands of the personal representative since that day, and on giving an undertaking, with surety, or making a deposit for the costs of the personal representative, sue out a summons against him alleging subsequent assets, and the proceedings thereon shall be as hereinbefore prescribed, so far as the same may be necessary.

Cited in Atkinson v. Ricks, 140-420.

135. Suits for accounting at term. In addition to the remedy by special proceeding, actions against executors, administrators, collectors and guardians may be brought originally to the superior court at term time; and in all such cases it is competent for the court in which said actions are pending to order an account to be taken by such person or persons as said court may designate, and to adjudge the application or distribution of the fund ascertained, or to grant other relief, as the nature of the case may require.

136. Proceedings against land, if personal assets fail. If it appears at any time during, or upon, or after the taking of the account of a personal representative that his personal assets are insufficient to pay the debts of the deceased in full, and that he died seized of real property, it is the duty of the judge or clerk, at the instance of any party, to issue a summons in the name of the personal representative or of the creditors generally, to the heirs, devisees and others in possession of the lands of the deceased, to appear and show cause why said lands should not be sold for assets. Upon the return of the summons the proceeding shall be as is directed in other like cases.

ART. 16. DISTRIBUTION

137. Order of distribution. The surplus of the estate, in case of intestacy, shall be distributed in the following manner, except as hereinafter provided:

Statute analyzed: Wells v. Wells, 158-330. Distributed according to law of domicile at death: Jones v. Layne, 144-600; Cade v. Davis, 96-139; Medley v. Dunlap, 90-527; Jones v. Geroek, 59-190. Widow dissenting from will, how share ascertained: Arrington v. Dortch, 77-367; Worth v. McNeil, 57-272; Credle v. Credle, 44-225; Hunter v. Husted, 45-97. Widow's share goes to her personal representative: Tart v. Tart, 154-502. Infants in ventre sa mere: Grant v. Bustin, 21-77; Hill v. Moore, 5-233. Where will leaves proceeds of sale of land to heirs, grandchildren take per stirpes: Lee v. Baird, 132-755, and cases cited. Land to be sold and proceeds distributed becomes personalty, and "heirs" would mean next of kin: Everett v. Griffin, 174-106.

1. If there are not more than two children, one-third part to the widow of the intestate, and all the residue by equal portions to and among the children of the intestate and such persons as legally represent such children as may then be dead.

Case where "child's share" in will interpreted: Eller v. Lillard, 107-486—"child's part" in will interpreted, McKrow v. Painter, 89-440. "Child's part" in statute interpreted: Headen v. Headen, 42-162.

2. If there are more than two children, then the widow shall share equally with all the children and be entitled to a child's part.

3. If there is no child nor legal representative of a deceased child, then one-half the estate shall be allotted to the widow, and the residue be distributed equally to every of the next of kin of the intestate, who are in equal degree, and to those who legally represent them.

Baptist University v. Borden, 132-501. Who are "next of kin": Peterson v. Webb, 39-56. Representation among collateral kindred: Moore v. Rankin, 172-599. Estate divided between widow and mother: Wells v. Wells, 156-246; s. c., 158-330.

4. If there is no widow, the estate shall be distributed, by equal portions, among all the children, and such persons as legally represent such children as may be dead.

As to grandchildren: Ellis v. Harrison, 140-444; Skinner v. Wynne, 55-41.

5. If there is neither widow nor children, nor any legal representative of the children, the estate shall be distributed equally to every of the next of kin of the intestate, who are in equal degree, and those who legally represent them.

Next of kin: Peterson v. Webb, 39-56; Gillespie v. Foy, 40-280; representation and per capita, Nelson v. Blue, 63-659; Johnston v. Chesson, 59-147.

6. If, in the lifetime of its father and mother, a child dies intestate, without leaving husband, wife or child, or the issue of a child, its estate shall be equally divided between the father and mother. If one of the parents is dead at the time of the death of the child, the surviving parent shall be entitled to the whole of the estate. The terms "father" and "mother" shall not apply to a step-parent, but shall apply to a parent by adoption.

Father and mother: Wells v. Wells, 158-330; s. c., 156-246; Davis v. R. R., 136-115.

7. If there is no child nor legal representative of a deceased child nor any of the next of kin of the intestate, then the widow, if there is one, shall be entitled to all the personal estate of such intestate.

Next of kin: Peterson v. Webb, 39-56.

8. If a married woman die intestate leaving one child and a husband, the estate shall be equally distributed between the child and husband; if she leave more than one child and a husband, the estate shall be distributed in equal portions and the husband shall receive a child's part.

NOTE. For distribution of recovery for wrongful death, see s. 160.

138. Advancements to be accounted for. Children who shall have any estate by the settlement of the intestate, or shall be advanced by him in his lifetime, shall account with each other for the same in the distribution of the estate in the manner as provided by the second rule in the chapter entitled Descents, and shall also account for the same to the widow of the intestate in ascertaining her child's part of the estate.

ADVANCEMENTS. Defined and explained: Thompson v. Smith, 160-256; Tart v. Tart, 154-502; Griffin ex parte, 142-116; Meadows v. Meadows, 33-148.

ADVANCEMENTS ACCOUNTED FOR. Grandchildren taking in their own right need not account for advancements to parents: Skinner v. Wynne, 55-41; Lee v. Baird, 132-755; Headen v. Headen, 42-159; Daves v. Haywood, 54-253. Child's part under a certain will discussed in Eller v. Lillard, 107-486; McKrow v. Painter, 89-440; Headen v. Headen, 42-162. Advancement by mother as well as father must be put in hotchpot: Daves v. Haywood, 54-253. A delivery necessary to constitute advancement of personalty: Meadows v. Meadows, 33-148. Children must account to widow, when: Eller v. Lillard, 107-486; Arrington v. Dortch, 77-367; Worth v. McNeill, 57-272; Credle v. Credle, 44-225; Headen v. Headen, 42-162. Will bequeathing personalty to children, less advancements, one child dying, how construed: Seroggs v. Stevenson, 100-354. Gifts are presumed to be advancements: Griffin ex parte, 142-116; Harper v. Harper, 92-300; Bradsher v. Cannady, 76-445—but intention of parent governs, Kiger v. Terry, 119-458; Harper v. Harper, 92-300; Barbee v. Barbee, 109-299; Melvin v. Bullard, 82-33; Bradsher v. Cannady, 76-445—presumed not to be advancement when father owes child, Haglar v. McCombs, 66-345. Where in will bequest states it is not an advancement: James v. James, 76-331. Agreements between children as to advancements: Bason v. Harden, 72-281—between child and father, Webb v. Lyon, 40-67. Parol evidence competent to rebut presumption as to an advancement arising upon the face of a deed and to show parent's real intention: Griffin ex parte, 142-116.

GIFTS HELD TO BE ADVANCEMENTS. Slaves, even though afterwards emancipated: Banks v. Shannonhouse, 61-284. Furniture to start child out in life: Hollister v. Attmore, 58-373; Shiver v. Brock, 55-137. Personalty to son-in-law: Bridgers v. Hutchins, 33-68. Services of a slave loaned by father to son: Hanner v. Winburn, 42-142. Slave that dies before intestate does: Walton v. Walton, 42-138. Slave to son-in-law an advancement to daughter: Hicks v. Forrest, 41-528. An estate per autre vie: Dixon v. Coward, 57-354. Land to daughter and son-in-law: Jones v. Spaight, 6-89.

GIFTS HELD NOT TO BE ADVANCEMENTS. Land to son-in-law: Banks v. Shannonhouse, 61-284. Land to child, where land in father's possession, but really devise from aunt: Hollister v. Attmore, 58-373. Money to supply child with necessities: Meadows v. Meadows, 33-148; see, also, Walker v. Brooks, 99-207.

In dividing residue in a will, no advancements regarded: Donnell v. Mateer, 40-7; Richmond v. Vanhook, 38-581; Hurdle v. Elliott, 23-174; Jerkins v. Mitchell, 57-207; Johnston v. Johnston, 39-9; Brown v. Brown, 37-309; Croom v. Herring, 11-393—unless will says distribution of residue must be as if testator died intestate, Raiford v. Raiford, 41-490. From what date advancement reckoned: Shiver v. Brock, 55-137. Interest calculated on advancements, when and how: Daves v. Haywood, 54-253; Taylor v. Bond, 45-5; Seroggs v. Stevenson, 100-360. Advancements valued at time the estate passes, and not subject to interest or rents: Tart v. Tart, 154-502.

139. Children advanced to render inventory; effect of refusal. Where any parent dies intestate, who had in his or her lifetime given to, or put in the actual possession of, any of his or her children any personal property of what nature or kind soever, such child shall cause to be given to the administrator or collector of the estate an inventory, on oath, setting forth therein the particulars by him or her received of the intestate in his or her lifetime. In case any child who had, in the lifetime of the intestate, received a part of said estate, refuses to give such inventory, he shall be considered to have had and received his full share of the deceased's estate, and shall not be entitled to receive any further part or share.

Kiger v. Terry, 119-458; Seroggs v. Stevenson, 100-354; Bradsher v. Cannady, 76-446.

140. Illegitimates next of kin to mother and to each other. Every illegitimate child of the mother dying intestate, or the issue of such illegitimate child deceased, shall be considered among her next of kin, and as such shall be entitled to a share of her personal estate as prescribed in this chapter. Illegitimate children, born of the same mother, shall be considered legitimate as between themselves and their representatives, and their personal estate shall be distributed in the same manner as if they had been born in lawful wedlock. And in case of the death of any such child or his issue, without leaving issue, his estate shall be distributed among his mother and all such persons as would be his next of kin if all such children had been born in lawful wedlock.

Kenney v. R. R., 167-14; Coor v. Starling, 54-243; Kimbrough v. Davis, 16-71.

141. Allotment to after-born child in real estate. The share of an after-born child in real estate shall be allotted to him out of any lands not devised, if there is enough for that purpose; and if there is none undevised, or not enough, then the whole share, or the deficiency, as the case may be, shall be made up of the lands devised; and so much thereof shall be taken from the several devisees according to their respective values, as near as may be convenient, as will make the proper share of such child.

Rev., s. 138; Code, s. 1536; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 108.

For all the beneficial purposes of heirship a child in ventre sa mere is considered absolutely born: Deal v. Sexton, 144-158. Presumption as to legitimacy, Johnson v. Chapman, 45-213. Inheritance of after-born children: Watkins v. Flora, 30-374; Graves v. Barrett, 126-267; King v. Davis, 91-142; Deal v. Sexton, 144-157.

142. Allotment to after-born child in personal property. The share of an after-born child in the personal estate shall be paid and delivered to him out of any such estate not bequeathed, if there is enough for that purpose; and if there is none undisposed of, or not enough, then the whole share or the deficiency, as the case may be, shall be made up from the estate bequeathed; and so much shall be taken from the several legacies, according to their respective values, as will make the proper share of such child.

Johnson v. Chapman, 45-213, 54-130. Right to share in personalty: Grant v. Bustin, 21-77; Hill v. Moore, 5-233.

143. Allotment of personalty from proceeds of realty. If, after satisfaction of the child's share of real estate out of undevised lands, there is a surplus of such lands, and there is no personal estate undisposed of, or not enough to make up his share of such estate, then the surplus of undevised land, or as much as may be necessary, shall be sold and the proceeds applied to making up his share of personal estate. And if, after satisfaction of the child's share of personal estate out of property undisposed of by the will, there is a surplus of such property, then the surplus thereof shall be applied, as far as it will go, in exoneration of land, both devised and descended; and the same shall be set apart and secured as real estate to such child, if an infant, non compos, or feme covert.

Rev., s. 140; Code, s. 1538; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 110.

144. Effect of allotment of realty; contribution to equalize burden. Upon the allotment to such child of any real estate in the manner aforesaid, he shall thenceforth be seized thereof in fee simple; and the court shall give judgment severally, in favor of such of the devisees and legatees of whose lands and legacies more has been taken away than in proportion to the respective values of said lands and legacies, against such of said devisees and legatees of whose lands and legacies a just proportion has not been taken away, for such sums as will make the contribution on the part of each and every of them equitable, and in the ratio of the values of the several devises and legacies.

Rev., s. 141; Code, s. 1539; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 111.

145. After-born child on allotment deemed devisee or legatee. An after-born child after such decrees shall be considered and deemed in law a legatee and devisee as to his portion, shall be styled as such in all legal proceedings, and shall be liable to all the obligations and duties by law imposed on such: Provided, that all judgments or decrees bona fide obtained against the devisees and legatees previously to the preferring of any petition, and which were binding upon or ought to operate upon the lands and chattels devised or bequeathed, shall be carried into execution and effect notwithstanding, and the petitioner shall take his portion completely subject thereto: Provided further, that any suit instituted against the devisees and legatees previously to such petition shall not be abated or abatable thereby nor by the decree thereon, but shall go on as instituted, and the judgment and decree, unless obtained by collusion, be carried into execution; but on the filing of the petition, during the pendency of such suit, the petitioner, by guardian, if an infant, may become a defendant in the suit.

Rev., s. 142; Code, s. 1540; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 112.

146. Before settlement executor may have claimants' shares in estate ascertained. In case no petition is filed within two years, as herein prescribed, the executor or administrator with the will annexed, before he shall pay or deliver the legacies in the will given, or before paying to the next of kin of the testator any residue undisposed of by the will, shall call upon the legatees, devisees, heirs and next of kin, and the said after-born child, by petition in the superior court, to litigate their respective claims, and shall pray the court to ascertain the share to which said child shall be entitled, and to apportion the shares and sums to which the legatees, devisees, heirs or next of kin shall severally contribute toward the share to be allotted to said child, and the court shall adjudge and decree accordingly.

Johnson v. Chapman, 45-213; 54-130.

147. Legacy or distributive share recoverable after two years. Legacies and distributive shares may be recovered from an executor, administrator or collector by petition preferred in the superior court, at any time after the lapse of two years from his qualification, unless the executor, administrator or collector shall sooner file his final account for settlement. The suit shall be commenced and the proceedings therein conducted as prescribed in other cases of special proceedings.

Rev., s. 144; Code, s. 1510; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 83.

Craige, 23-332; Nance v. Powell, 39-297; Ellison v. Andrews, 34-188; Badger v. Daniel, 79-372.

148. Payment to clerk after one year discharges representative pro tanto. It is competent for any executor, administrator or collector, at any time after twelve months from the date of letters testamentary or of administration, to pay into the office of clerk of the superior court of the county where such letters were granted, any moneys belonging to the legatees or distributees of the estate of his testator or intestate, and such payment shall have the effect to discharge such executor, administrator or collector and his sureties on his official bond to the extent of the amount so paid.

Administrator should file report and pay in the money to prevent interest: Overman v. Lanier, 159-437; s. c., 157-544. Section not mandatory: Moore v. Eure, 101-11. Clerk responsible officially for money: Cassidy ex parte, 95-225; Moore v. Eure, 101-11; Brown v. Coble, 76-391; Greenlee v. Sudderth, 65-470; Broughton v. Haywood, 61-380. Referred to in Presson v. Boone, 108-78; Thomas v. Connelly, 104-345; Woody v. Brooks, 102-341.

149. On payment clerk to sign receipt. It is the duty of the clerk, in the cases provided for in the preceding section, to receive such money from any executor, administrator or collector, and to execute a receipt for the same under the seal of his office.

Rev., s. 146; Code, s. 1544; 1881, c. 305, s. 3.

Cassidy ex parte, 95-225. Referred to in Presson v. Boone, 108-78.

ART. 17. SETTLEMENT

150. Representative must settle after two years. No executor, administrator, or collector, after two years from his qualification, shall hold or retain in his hands more of the deceased's estate than amounts to his necessary charges and disbursements and such debts as he shall legally pay; but all such estate so remaining shall, immediately after the expiration of two years, be divided and be delivered and paid to the person to whom the same may be due by law or the will of the deceased; and the clerk of the superior court in each county shall require settlement of the balance in hand due distributees as shown by the final account of any administrator, executor, or guardian, and shall audit same.

Time of settlement: Caviness v. Fidelity Co., 140-58; Turner v. Turner, 104-566; Brittain v. Dickson, 104-547; Grant v. Edwards, 92-446; Turnage v. Turnage, 42-127; Hobbs v. Craige, 23-332; Whitted v. Webb, 22-442. Cases indirectly touching upon section: Allen v. Royster, 107-278; Edwards v. Lemmond, 136-329; Gilchrist v. Middleton, 108-715; Woody v. Brooks, 102-341; Clements v. Rogers, 91-66; McKinder v. Littlejohn, 23-66; State v. McAleer, 27-632.

151. Representative may retain claim undue or in litigation. If, on a final accounting before the judge or clerk, it appears that any claim exists against the estate which is not due, or on which suit is pending, the judge or clerk shall allow a sum sufficient to satisfy such claim, or the proportion to which it may be entitled, to be retained in the hands of the executor, administrator or collector, for the purpose of being applied to the payment when due or when recovered, with the expense of contesting the same. The order allowing such sum to be retained must specify the amount and nature of the claim.

Character of claim that "exists": Miller v. Shoaf, 110-319. Referred to in Woody v. Brooks, 102-341; Jackson v. Shields, 87-437; Andres v. Powell, 97-165.

152. After final account representative may petition for settlement. An executor, administrator or collector, who has filed his final account for settlement, may, at any time thereafter, file his petition against the parties interested in the due administration of the estate, in the superior court of the county in which he qualified, or before the judge in term time, setting forth the facts, and praying for an account and settlement of the estate committed to his charge. The petition shall be proceeded on in the manner prescribed by law, and, at the final hearing thereof, the judge or clerk may make such order or decree in the premises as shall seem to be just and right.

Moore v. Rankin, 172-599; Medlin v. Simpson, 144-397; Kirkman v. Phipps, 86-428; Carlton v. Byers, 93-302. Referred to merely in Self v. Shugart, 135-196; Gay v. Grant, 101-218; Bumpass v. Chambers, 77-357.

153. Payment into court of fund due absent defendant or infant. When any balance of money or other estate which is due an absent defendant or infant without guardian is found in the hands of an executor, administrator or collector who has preferred his petition for settlement, the court or judge may direct such money or other estate to be paid into court, to be invested upon interest, or otherwise managed under the direction of the judge, for the use of such absent person or infant.

Rev., s. 151; Code, s. 1526; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 97; 1893, c. 317.

154. Procedure where person entitled unheard of for seven years. When the party entitled to the money has not been heard of for seven years or more, the fund shall be distributed among the next of kin of the absent deceased person as prescribed by statute, in the following manner: An administrator shall be appointed and made a party to a special proceeding in which a verified petition shall be filed setting forth the facts, with names of the parties entitled, and such other evidence as may be required by the clerk in whose office said fund was deposited, and the proceedings conducted as other special proceedings; and the order disposing of the fund shall be approved and confirmed by the judge, either at term or at chambers.

Rev., s. 151; Code, s. 1526; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 97; 1893, c. 317.

155. Parties to proceeding for settlement. In all actions and proceedings by administrators or executors for a final settlement of their estates and trusts, whether at the instance of distributees, legatees or creditors or of themselves, if the personal representative dies or is removed pending such actions or proceedings, the administrator de bonis non or administrator with the will annexed, as the case may be, shall be made party as provided in other cases, or in such way as the court may order, and the action or proceeding shall be conducted to its end, and such judgment shall be rendered on the confirmation of the report, or upon the terms of settlement, if any shall be agreed upon by the parties, as will fully protect and discharge all parties to the record.

Administrator d. b. n. must be party, when: Neagle v. Hall, 115-415; Jarratt v. Lynch, 106-422; Brittain v. Dickson, 104-547; Brawley v. Brawley, 109-526; Gilliam v. Watkins, 104-180; Grant v. Reese, 94-720; Merrill v. Merrill, 92-657; Hardy v. Miles, 91-131; University v. Hughes, 90-537. See Carlton v. Byers, 93-302.

156. When legacies may be paid in two years. It is in the power of the judge or court, on petition or action, within two years from the qualification of an executor, administrator or collector, to adjudge the payment in full or partially, of legacies and distributive shares, on such terms as the court deems proper, when there is no necessity for retaining the fund.

Rev., s. 155; Code, s. 1512.

157. Commissions allowed representatives. Executors, administrators and collectors shall be entitled to a commission not exceeding five per cent upon the amount of receipts and expenditures which shall appear to be fairly made in the course of administration, and such allowance may be retained out of the assets against creditors and all other persons claiming an interest in the estate. In determining the allowance the trouble and time expended in the management of the business shall be considered; but in sales of land for payment of debts commissions shall not be allowed on any larger amount of the proceeds than the sum actually applied in payment of debts. Such commissions are authorized and directed to be allowed by the clerk of the superior court when the final account of the representative entitled is filed for settlement, or by any judge of the superior court or commissioner appointed by the said court to take and state an account of the assets of any decedent in the hands of his representative upon a plea of fully administered. Nothing in this section shall prevent any executor, administrator or collector from retaining a reasonable sum for necessary charges and disbursements in the management of the estate.

AS TO ALLOWANCES. Of counsel fees: Overman v. Lanier, 157-544; Lindsay v. Darden, 124-307; Kelly v. Odum, 139-278; Johnson v. Marcom, 121-83; Burke v. Turner, 85-500; McKay v. Royall, 52-426; Love v. Love, 40-204; Fairbairn v. Fisher, 53-385; Young v. Kennedy, 95-265; Stonestreet v. Frost, 123-640; Allen v. Royster, 107-278—of expenses attending sales, etc., Whitted v. Webb, 22-442; Morris v. Morris, 54-326; Poindexter v. Gibson, 54-44—of expenses in carrying out provisions in will, Lambertson v. Vann, 134-108; Edwards v. Hawkins, 57-162—where executor keeps no accounts, Finch v. Ragland, 17-137—where executor assumes control of funds of minor children willed to them by his testator, Haglar v. McCombs, 66-345; but see Perry v. Maxwell, 17-488—where good faith is exercised by administrator, though loss results, Perkins v. Caldwell, 79-441—where set-off allowed in reducing a debt due estate, Spruill v. Cannon, 22-400; Walton v. Avery, 22-405—where there are coexecutors, Grant v. Pride, 16-269—where decedent's lands sold, Seroggs v. Stevenson, 100-354—where administrator failed to account for funds he should have accounted for, Allen v. Royster, 107-278—where administrator collects his own debt to estate, Arnold v. Byars, 17-1—where administrator failed to file inventory and mixes estate with his own, Stonestreet v. Frost, 123-640; Grant v. Reese, 94-720; Burke v. Turner, 85-500—where specific things are delivered to next of kin, Seroggs v. Stevenson, 100-354; Shepard v. Parker, 35-103; Walton v. Avery, 22-405—where money used by administrator, but he at all times makes regular returns to clerk, Carr v. Askew, 94-194—where disbursements are made to legatees and distributees, Potter v. Stone, 9-30; Arnold v. Byars, 17-1; Clarke v. Cotton, 17-51; Peyton v. Smith, 22-325—where permanent improvements made by executor on land of testator, Lambertson v. Vann, 134-108—where estate goes through several administrations, Seroggs v. Stevenson, 100-354; Hodge v. Hawkins, 21-564—where slaves are received in payment of debt owing testator and delivered over specifically to next of kin, Sellars v. Ashford, 37-104. Provision in will for commissions and additional compensation: Ellington v. Durfey, 156-253.

158. Liability and compensation of clerk. Every clerk of the superior court who may be intrusted with money or other estate in such case shall be liable on his official bond for the faithful discharge of the duties enjoined upon him by the judge in relation to said estate, and he may receive such compensation for his services as the judge may allow.

ART. 18. ACTIONS BY AND AGAINST REPRESENTATIVE

159. Action survives to and against representative. Upon the death of any person, all demands whatsoever, and rights to prosecute or defend any action or special proceeding, existing in favor of or against such person, except as hereinafter provided, shall survive to and against the executor, administrator or collector of his estate.

Actions for damages to land: Mast v. Sapp, 140-533; Rippey v. Miller, 33-247; Howcott v. Warren, 29-20. Rights of action for breach of contract or other duty: Mayo v. Dawson, 160-76; Miller v. Leach, 95-229; Allen v. Baker, 86-92; Shuler v. Millsaps, 71-297. Injury to or conversion of property: Butner v. Keehln, 51-60; Sledge v. Reid, 73-440; Shields v. Lawrence, 72-43. Cited merely in Harper v. Comrs., 123-119; Hannah v. R. R., 87-351; Wallace v. McPherson, 139-298.

160. Death by wrongful act; recovery not assets; dying declarations. When the death of a person is caused by a wrongful act, neglect or default of another, such as would, if the injured party had lived, have entitled him to an action for damages therefor, the person or corporation that would have been so liable, and his or their executors, administrators, collectors or successors, shall be liable to an action for damages, to be brought within one year after such death, by the executor, administrator or collector of the decedent; and this notwithstanding the death, and although the wrongful act, neglect or default, causing the death, amounts in law to a felony. The amount recovered in such action is not liable to be applied as assets, in the payment of debts or legacies, but shall be disposed of as provided in this chapter for the distribution of personal property in case of intestacy.

In all actions brought under this section the dying declarations of the deceased as to the cause of his death shall be admissible in evidence in like manner and under the same rules as dying declarations of the deceased in criminal actions for homicide are now received in evidence.

Rev. s. 59; Code, ss. 1498, 1500; 1868-9, c. 113, ss. 70, 72, 115; R. C., c. 46, ss. 8, 9; 1919, c. 29.

R.*, 175-472; overruling In re Stone, 173-208.

162. Actions which do not survive. The following rights of action do not survive:

1. Causes of action for libel and for slander, except slander of title.
2. Causes of action for false imprisonment and assault and battery.

Cases before act of 1915, c. 38: Watts v. Vanderbilt, 167-567; Bolick v. R. R., 138-370; Morton v. Telegraph Co., 130-299; Strauss v. City of Wilmington, 129-100; Killian v. R. R., 128-261; Harper v. Comrs., 123-118; Scarlett v. Norwood, 115-286; Hannah v. R. R., 87-351.

3. Causes where the relief sought could not be enjoyed, or granting it would be nugatory, after death.

No vindictive damages recovered against estate of decedent for trespass by him during lifetime: Rippey v. Miller, 33-247; Butner v. Keehn, 51-60. Action against register of deeds for penalty: Wallace v. McPherson, 139-297. Consider: Peebles v. R. R., 63-238, and Collier v. Arrington, 61-356; both overruled in some particular by Bolick v. R. R., 138-370. See Shields v. Lawrence, 72-43; Mast v. Sapp, 140-537.

Rev., s. 157; Code, s. 1491; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 64; 1915, c. 38.

163. Right of action survives to successor. Executors and administrators shall have actions in like manner as the first testator or intestate might have had against any person, his executors and administrators, in all cases, except where such actions, being commenced, are not allowed by statute to be revived on the death of any party.

See cases under sections 159 and 162. Section cited in Mast v. Sapp, 140-537.

164. To sue or defend in representative capacity. All actions and proceedings brought by or against executors, administrators or collectors, upon any cause of action or right to which the estate is the real party in interest, must be brought by or against them in their representative capacity.

Rev., s. 160; Code, s. 1507; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 79.

Mitchell v. Mitchell, 132-350; Byrd v. Byrd, 117-525; Rogers v. Gooch, 87-442; Ballinger v. Cureton, 104-474.

165. Service on or appearance by one binds all. In actions against several executors, administrators or collectors they are all to be considered as one person, representing the decedent; and if the summons is served on one or more, but not all, the plaintiff may proceed against those served, and if he recovers, judgment may be entered against all.

Rev., s. 161; Code, s. 1508; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 81.

166. When creditors may sue on claim; execution in such action. An action may be brought by a creditor against an executor, administrator or collector on a demand at any time after it is due, but no execution shall issue against the executor, administrator or collector on a judgment therein against him without leave of the court, upon notice of twenty days and upon proof that the defendant has refused to pay such judgment its ratable part, and such judgment shall be a lien on the property of the defendant only from the time of such leave granted.

Rev., s. 162; Code, s. 1509; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 82.

Cited in Hester v. Lawrence, 102-325; Andres v. Powell, 97-165. See generally: Rountree v. Britt, 94-110; Hoover v. Berryhill, 84-134; Vaughan v. Stephenson, 69-212; Heilig v. Foard, 64-710. See, also, under section 102.

167. Service by publication on executor without bond. Whenever process may issue against an executor who has not given bond, and the same cannot be served upon him by reason of his absence or concealment, service of such process may be made by publication in the manner prescribed in other civil actions.

Rev., s. 163; Code, s. 1523; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 94.

168. Execution by successor in office. Any executor, administrator or collector may have execution issued on any judgment recovered by any person who preceded him in the administration of the estate, or by the decedent, in the same cases and the same manner as the original plaintiff might have done.

Rev., s. 164; Code, s. 1513; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 84.

169. Action to continue, though letters revoked. In case the letters of an executor, administrator or collector are revoked, pending an action to which he is a party, the adverse party may, notwithstanding, continue the action against him in order to charge him personally. If such party does not elect so to do, within six months after notice of such revocation, the action may be continued against the successor of the executor, administrator or collector in the administration of the estate, in the same manner as in case of death.

ART. 19. REPRESENTATIVE'S POWERS, DUTIES AND LIABILITIES

170. Representative may maintain appropriate suits and proceedings. Executors, administrators or collectors may maintain any appropriate action or proceeding to recover assets, and to recover possession of the real property of which executors are authorized to take possession by will; and to recover for any injury done to such assets or real property at any time subsequent to the death of the decedent.

Mayo v. Dawson, 160-76; Hendrick v. Gidney, 114-543; Smathers v. Moody, 112-795; Coleman v. Howell, 131-129. An administrator in another state cannot maintain an action in this state; administration must be taken out here: Person v. Leary, 126-506; Morefield v. Harris, 126-626; Hall v. R. R., 146-345.

171. Representative may purchase for estate to prevent loss. At any auction sale of real property belonging to the estate, the executor, administrator or collector may bid in the property and take a conveyance to himself as executor, administrator or collector for the benefit of the estate when, in his opinion, this is necessary to prevent a loss to the estate.

Ramsay v. Hanner, 64-668.

172. Representatives hold in joint tenancy. Every estate vested in executors, administrators or collectors, as such, shall be held by them in joint tenancy.

Rev., s. 166; Code, s. 1502; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 74.

Cameron v. Hicks, 141-21.

173. Representatives liable for devastavit. The executors and administrators of persons who, as rightful executors or as executors in their own wrong, or as administrators, shall waste or convert to their own use any estate or assets of any person deceased, shall be chargeable in the same manner as their testator or intestate might have been.

Rev., s. 167; Code, s. 1495; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 68.

“Conversion” defined: University v. Bank, 96-280. “Waste,” what does and does not constitute: Caviness v. Fidelity Co., 140-62; Moore v. Eure, 101-11; Lee v. Beaman, 101-294; University v. Bank, 96-280; Worthy v. Brower, 93-344; Grant v. Edwards, 92-442; Syme v. Badger, 92-706; Grant v. Bell, 90-558; Lansdell v. Winstead, 76-368; Green v. Green, 69-25; Nelson v. Hall, 58-32; Cain v. Hawkins, 50-192; Fanshaw v. Fanshaw, 44-166; Green v. Collins, 28-139; Smith v. Fagan, 13-298. See, also, under section 40.

174. Nonresident executor or guardian to appoint process agent. A nonresident qualifying in the state as an executor or guardian shall at the time of his qualification appoint in writing a resident agent in the county of his qualification, on whom may be served citations, notices, and all processes required by law to be served on such executor or guardian. The executor or guardian shall file the appointment with the clerk in the county of his qualification, and the clerk shall record it in the record book immediately after the record of qualification, and shall properly index it in the record book. All citations, notices, and processes served on such process agent shall be as effective as if served on the executor or guardian, but the return date shall not be sooner than ten days from the date of the issuance of the citation, notice, or process. No letters shall be granted to an executor nor shall a guardian be permitted to qualify, unless the process agent is named simultaneously with the application for letters or for qualification.

175. Executor or guardian removing from state; to appoint process agent. When a resident executor or guardian removes from the state, he shall, before removing or within thirty days thereafter, appoint a process agent in the manner as provided in the case of a nonresident, and upon failure to make the appointment within thirty days, the clerk shall remove him and appoint an administrator with the will annexed, or a new guardian, as the case may be.

176. Nonresident's failure to obey process ground for removal. The clerk may remove any nonresident executor or guardian who fails or refuses to obey any citation, notice or process served on the process agent appointed as provided in the preceding two sections, and appoint a resident.

ART. 20. CONSTRUCTION AND APPLICATION OF CHAPTER

177. Where no time specified, reasonable time allowed; extension. If no length of notice, or no time for the doing of an act, is stated in this chapter, the time shall be reasonable, and in any case it may be enlarged by the clerk from time to time, or by the judge of the superior court, on application to him or on appeal to him from the clerk.

Rev., s. 169; Code, s. 1463; 1871-2, c. 213, s. 16.

178. Powers under will not affected. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to affect the discretionary powers, trusts and authorities of an executor or other trustee acting under a will, provided creditors be not delayed thereby nor the order changed in which by law they are entitled to be paid.

Rev., s. 170; Code, s. 1415; 1868-9, c. 113, s. 23; R. C., c. 46, ss. 12, 13.

Cited in Pate v. Oliver, 104-469.

179. Chapter applies to administrations since 1869. This chapter shall apply only to cases where the grant of letters of collection or of probate or of administration shall have issued on or after the first day of July, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, except in case of administrations de bonis non upon estates where the former letters of administration or letters testamentary were granted prior to the first of July, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, in all which cases estates shall be administered, closed up and settled according to the law as it existed just prior to the first of July, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine.

Administrators d. b. n. administer, how: Brittain v. Dickson, 104-547. Cited in Brown v. McKee, 108-392; Wilson v. Pearson, 102-310; Smith v. Brown, 99-386; Gaither v. Sain, 91-307. Administrators d. b. n. of estates appointed since July 1, 1869, where administration began prior to July 1, 1869, close up estates according to law prior to July 1, 1869: Brittain v. Dickson, 104-550, and cases there cited; Brandon v. Phelps, 77-44.

180. Cases pending at adoption of constitution of 1868. All cases for the sale of real estate for assets heretofore in the county courts, in which final orders for collection and application or distribution of purchase money and making titles were not made before the adoption of the present constitution, may, at the instance of any person interested, be transferred, as other cases, to the superior court of the county where such proceeding was pending, and such court shall have full authority to make all necessary orders to complete the same.

181. Administrations prior to 1869. This chapter shall apply to the estates of such deceased persons only whereof original administration has been granted subsequent to the first day of July, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, and all estates whereon administration was granted prior to the said first day of July, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, shall be dealt with, administered and settled according to the law as it existed just prior to said date, and it is hereby declared that such is the true intent and meaning of this chapter: Provided, that nothing herein shall be construed to prevent the application of this chapter so far as it relates only to the courts having jurisdiction of any action or proceeding for the settlement of an administration or to the practice and procedure therein. If any person shall have bona fide administered any estate or any part of the estate of any deceased person whereof original administration was granted prior to the first day of July, under the said act of one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight and one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, he shall not be deemed guilty of a devastavit.

Debts of estate administered since July 1, 1869, must be paid pro rata in their class: Moore v. Byers, 65-240. The powers of probate court both as to jurisdiction and procedure extend to estates administered both prior and subsequent to July 1, 1869: Taylor v. Biddle, 71-1. Administrator d. b. n. appointed after July 1, 1869, where original administration began prior thereto, must comply with law existing prior to such date: Brandon v. Phelps, 77-44; Brittain v. Dickson, 104-550. Where petition to sell land for assets prior and subsequent to July 1, 1869. See sections 74 and 135 et seq.

ADOPTION OF MINORS

- 182. Petition for adoption; contents.
- 183. Parties to proceeding.
- 184. Order and letters of adoption.
- 185. Effect of order; child's right of succession.
- 186. Change of child's name.
- 187. Bond to secure orphan's property.
- 188. Record of order; revocation.
- 189. Abandonment by parent; custody forfeited.
- 190. Restoration of parent's rights.
- 191. Procuring possession of child unlawfully.

182. Petition for adoption; contents. Any person desiring to adopt any minor child may file a petition in the superior court of the county wherein such child resides, setting forth the name and age of such child and the name of its parents, whether the parents or either of them are living, and if there is no living parent, the name of the guardian, if any, and if there is no guardian, the name of the person having charge of the child or with whom such child resides, the amount and nature of the child's estate, if any, and especially if the adoption is for the minority or for the life of the child.

183. Parties to proceeding. The parent or guardian, or the person having charge of such child, or with whom it may reside, must be a party of record in this proceeding.

Rev., s. 175; Code, s. 6; 1872-3, c. 155, s. 6.

184. Order and letters of adoption. Upon the filing of such petition, and with the consent of the parent or parents, if living, or of the guardian, if any, or of the person with whom such child resides, or who may have charge of such child, the court may, if the petitioner is a proper and suitable person, sanction and allow such adoption by an order granting letters of adoption.

Rev., s. 176; Code, s. 2.

185. Effect of order; child's right of succession. Such order, when made, shall have the effect forthwith to establish the relation of parent and child between the petitioner and the child during the minority or for the life of such child, according to the prayer of the petition, with all the duties, powers and rights belonging to the relationship of parent and child, and in case the adoption be for the life of the child, and the petitioner die intestate, such order shall have the further effect to enable such child to inherit the real estate and entitle it to the personal estate of the petitioner in the same manner and to the same extent such child would have been entitled to if such child had been the actual child of the person adopting it. The child shall not inherit and be entitled to the personal estate, if the petitioner specially sets forth in his petition such to be his desire and intention.

Child inherits, how: King v. Davis, 91-142. Question of whether parental relation relates back to birth of child: Ibid. As between natural and adopted parent, the former inherits from child: Edwards v. Yearby, 168-663.

186. Change of child's name. For proper cause shown in the petition the court may decree that the name of the child shall be changed to that of the petitioner.

Rev., s. 177; 1885, c. 390.

187. Bond to secure orphan's property. If the child is an orphan and without guardian, and possesses any estate, the court shall require from the petitioner such bond as is required by law to be given by guardians.

Rev., s. 178; Code, s. 4.

188. Record of order; revocation. The order granting letters of adoption shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which it is made, and may be revoked at any time by the court for good cause shown.

Rev., s. 179; Code, s. 5; 1872-3, c. 155, s. 5.

189. Abandonment by parent; custody forfeited. In all cases where the parent or parents of any child has willfully abandoned the care, custody, nurture and maintenance of the child to kindred, relatives or other persons, such parent or parents shall be deemed to have forfeited all rights and privileges with respect to the care, custody and services of such child.

When no abandonment proven, court must still find facts entitling one to child's restoration: Newsome v. Bunch, 142-19; 144-15. Section cited in Howell v. Solomon, 167-588.

190. Restoration of parent's rights. The rights and privileges of such parent may be restored by the voluntary surrender of such child by the person in whose care and custody such child may be, or by order of any judge of the superior court in the district in which such child may be, when it appears to the satisfaction of such judge that the interest and welfare of such child will not be materially prejudiced by such restoration. The person having the care and custody of any such child shall have at least ten days notice of the time and place of the hearing of the application for such order of restoration, and shall be permitted to resist the same.

For contests over custody of children, see section 2241. For effect of divorce on children, see section 1664. For right of parent to determine custody of children by deed or will, see section 2151. For small allowance paid to indigent children by clerk, in certain cases, see section 962. Facts to be passed upon in determining if child shall be restored: Newsome v. Bunch, 142-19, 144-15. Where father of good character had left child with grandparents, but subsequently desired it, held entitled: In re Fain, 172-790; Newsome v. Bunch, 144-15; Latham v. Ellis, 116-30. Father entitled to custody, except when parted with it by deed or is unfitted to care for child: Ibid.; Howell v. Solomon, 167-588. Right to custody of illegitimate child: In re Mary Jones, 153-312.

191. Procuring possession of child unlawfully. Any parent whose rights and privileges have been forfeited as provided by the second preceding section, who shall procure the possession and custody of such child, with respect to whom his rights and privileges are forfeited, otherwise than as by law provided, shall be guilty of a crime and shall be punished as for abduction.

CHAPTER 3

ALIENS

- 192. Rights as to real property.
- 193. Contracts validated.

192. Rights as to real property. It is lawful for aliens to take both by purchase and descent, or other operation of law, any lands, tenements or hereditaments, and to hold and convey the same as fully as citizens of this state can or may do, any law or usage to the contrary notwithstanding.

Rev., s. 182; Code, s. 7; 1870-1, c. 255.

As to alien holding land which he acquires by grant, see section 738. Who is an alien; and right of alien enemy to sue: Krachanake v. Mfg. Co., 175-435.

193. Contracts validated. All contracts to purchase or sell real estate by or with aliens, heretofore made, shall be deemed and taken as valid to all intents and purposes.

Rev., s. 183; Code, s. 8; 1870-1, c. 255, s. 2.

- 215. Appeal from judgment.

ART. 1. LICENSES AND QUALIFICATIONS OF ATTORNEYS

194. Examination ; scope ; issuance of license. No person shall practice law without first obtaining license so to do from the supreme court. All examinations shall be in writing, and based upon such course of study, and conducted under such rules, as the court may prescribe. All applicants who satisfy the court of their competent knowledge of the law and upright character shall receive license to practice in all the courts of this state.

Rev., s. 207 ; Code, s. 17 ; R. C., c. 9, s. 1 ; 1818, c. 963, s. 3 ; 1907, c. 70.

Nonresident cannot practice habitually: Manning v. R. R., 122-824. Question as to whether an unnaturalized foreigner can be licensed reviewed at length in Ex parte Thompson, 10-355. "Practice" defined: State v. Bryan, 98-644. Legislature can establish the qualification to be required of one to become a practicing attorney: In re Applicants for License, 143-1— for the power to so establish qualifications is not inherent in the supreme court, though the court has power to say whether such qualifications are met: Ibid.

195. Dates and method of holding examinations. The examinations for license to practice law may be held in the city of Raleigh on Monday, one week prior to the spring and fall terms of the supreme court, by the chief justice and two associate justices to be designated by the court, and upon their certification license shall be issued, signed by all the members of the court. The chief justice and each associate justice holding said examinations shall receive the sum of one hundred dollars and actual expenses for each examination, to be paid out of the fees of applicants for license, and not otherwise.

196. Conditions precedent to examination. Before being allowed to stand an examination each applicant must comply with the following conditions:

1. He must be at the time twenty-one years of age, or will arrive at that age before the time for the next examination.

2. He must file with the clerk of the court a certificate of good moral character signed by two attorneys who practice in that court. An applicant from another state may have such certificate signed by any state officer of the state from which he comes.

This certificate, prior to the amendment in chapter 70 of the Laws of 1907, all that was required as to character: In re Applicants for License, 143-1. Affidavits as to character privileged: Baggett v. Grady, 154-342.

3. He must deposit with the clerk twenty-one dollars and fifty cents. Of this sum one dollar and fifty cents shall be retained by the clerk. If the applicant obtains license the remaining twenty dollars shall be paid by the clerk to the librarian for use of the supreme court library. If the applicant fails on examination the twenty dollars shall be repaid him.

Rev., s. 208; Code, s. 18; R. C., c. 9, s. 2; 1777, c. 115, s. 8.

197. Oaths taken in open court. Attorneys before they shall be admitted to practice law shall, in open court before a justice of the supreme or judge of the superior court, take the oath prescribed for attorneys, and also the oaths of allegiance to the state, and to support the constitution of the United States, prescribed for all public officers, and the same shall be entered on the records of the court; and, upon such qualification had, and oath taken, may act as attorneys during their good behavior.

Relation of attorneys to the court interestingly discussed in Robins, ex parte, 63-309. See Ex parte Thompson, 10-355.

198. Persons disqualified. No clerk of the superior or supreme court, nor deputy or assistant clerk of said courts, nor sheriff, nor any justice of the peace, nor county commissioner shall practice law. Persons violating this provision shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not less than two hundred dollars. This section shall not apply to Confederate soldiers.

Rev., ss. 210, 3641; Code, ss. 27, 28, 110; 1870-1, c. 90; 1883, c. 406; 1871-2, c. 120; 1880, c. 43; C. C. P., s. 424; 1919, c. 205.

NOTE. Practicing attorney not eligible to office of sheriff, see Sheriff, s. 2936.

Practicing law is habitually or customarily holding one's self out to the public as a lawyer or the demanding of compensation for services as such: State v. Bryan, 98-644. Evidence as to violation of statute: Ibid.

199. Officers of inferior courts disqualified in certain cases. No judge or prosecuting attorney of any recorder's, municipal, or county court shall appear in any other court on behalf of the defendant in a criminal action, where such criminal action has been tried in the court of such officer. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars. This section shall not apply to Iredell County.

ART. 2. RELATION TO CLIENT

200. Authority filed or produced if requested. Every attorney who claims to enter an appearance for any person shall, upon being required so to do, produce and file in the clerk's office of the court in which he claims to enter an appearance, a power or authority to that effect signed by the persons or some one of them for whom he is about to enter an appearance, or by some person duly authorized in that behalf, otherwise he shall not be allowed so to do: Provided, that when any attorney claims to enter an appearance by virtue of a letter to him directed (whether such letter purport a general or particular employment), and it is necessary for him to retain the letter in his own possession, he shall, on the production of said letter setting forth such employment, be allowed to enter his appearance, and the clerk shall make a note to that effect upon the docket.

Rev., s. 213; Code, s. 29; R. C., c. 31, s. 57 (16).

ATTORNEY'S AUTHORITY TO APPEAR. As to whether appearance special or general, see section 401. An appearance by attorney without authority is regular upon its face and binds clients in some cases: England v. Garner, 90-197; Allen v. Allen, 44-60; Williams v. Johnson, 112-424; see Harrill v. Rwy., 144-542. Attorney once appearing, continues until judgment satisfied, unless relieved by court: Ladd v. Teague, 126-544; Branch v. Walker, 92-87; Newbern v. Jones, 63-606; Walton v. Sugg, 61-98. Client not allowed to dispute attorneyship two or three years after judgment, after acquiescing in and getting benefit of services: Ladd v. Teague, 126-544. Letter conferring authority upon attorney, requirements of: Day v. Adams, 63-254; Arrington v. Arrington, 102-491. Whether a person is attorney for another is a question of fact: Alspaugh v. Jones, 64-29. Authority is presumed to continue until revoked, or until the case is ended: Newkirk v. Stevens, 152-498; Bank v. Peregoy, 147-293. Parties about to acquire rights under judgment need not inquire as to authority of attorney in case: Williams v. Johnson, 112-424. Where attorney of record opposes motion of his client's attorney under seal, see Newbern v. Jones, 63-606. Motion by defendant's attorney claiming authority to strike out name of a plaintiff, plaintiff's attorney objecting, clash as to authority, see Petteway v. Hinsdale, 64-450. Case where one attorney employs another, see Rogers v. McKenzie, 81-164. Demand for power of attorney must be made before attorney has been recognized in order to be in apt time: Reece v. Reece, 66-377. Effect on the judgment where a lawyer was marked as attorney, when no authority, reviewed in Koonce v. Butler, 84-221. Power of attorney given by married woman to dismiss action concerning her land need not be registered: Hollingsworth v. Harman, 83-153. Power of attorney may be revoked by parol: Brookshire v. Brookshire, 30-74.

EFFECT OF ATTORNEY'S ACTION IN THE CASE. Client bound by acts and agreements of counsel in management of his case: Chemical Co. v. Bass, 175-426; Gardiner v. May, 172-192; Beck v. Bellamy, 93-129; Greenlee v. McDowell, 39-481. Attorney is agent of client and an act exceeding authority is binding when ratified: Christian v. Yarboro, 124-72. The fact that attorney misunderstood his authority and signed an agreed statement of facts without any authority is no ground to set aside judgment: Harrill v. R. R., 144-542. Client bound where associate attorney receipts the judgment: Rogers v. McKenzie, 81-164. Solvent attorney appearing without authority, judgment not set aside: University v. Lassiter, 83-38. Attorney, without authority, cannot compromise case: Chavis v. Brown, 174-122; Bank v. McEwen, 160-414; Moye v. Cogdell, 69-93; Lewis v. Blue, 110-420; but see Locheimer v. Weil, 113-181. Attorney cannot collect debt except in money without authority: Moye v. Cogdell, 69-93; Bank v. Grimm, 109-93. Where attorney transferred for value a bond which his client had endorsed in blank and delivered to him for collection, transferee protected: Bradford v. Williams, 91-7. See Sherrill v. Clothing Co., 114-436; Hines v. Butler, 38-307; Earp v.

Richardson, 81-5. Attorney consenting to judgment: Chemical Co. v. Bass, 175-426; Gardiner v. May, 172-192; Hoell v. White, 169-640; Hairston v. Garwood, 123-345.

Where minors were represented in partition proceedings by attorney without authority: England v. Garner, 90-201. Attorney cannot accept service of summons: Warlick v. Reynolds, 151-606; Starr v. Hall, 87-381. In lunatic's suit by next friend, question whether power of attorney given to defendant by plaintiff to dismiss suit is valid: Smith v. Smith, 106-498. Appearance by attorney though unauthorized gives jurisdiction: Hackett v. McMillan, 112-513; Williams v. Johnson, 112-424. Associate counsel of city attorney may continue in case after resignation of city attorney: Wilmington v. Stolter, 122-395. Attorney cannot extend the time on a note and release surety: Hall v. Presnell, 157-290.

Attorney cannot have debtor arrested without special authority: Moore v. Cohen, 128-345; West v. Grocery Co., 138-166. Attorney's fee fixed by the court in case of next friend and guardian ad litem: In re Stone, 176-336; Outland v. Outland, 118-141. The attorney of appellant is his agent for perfecting appeal: Truelove v. Norris, 152-755; Hewitt v. Beck, 152-757. Attorney cannot appear on both sides of adversary proceeding: Marcom v. Wyatt, 117-129; Arrington v. Arrington, 116-170; Cotton Mills v. Cotton Mills, 116-647; Gooch v. Peebles, 105-411.

201. Failure to file complaint, attorney liable for costs. When a plaintiff is compelled to pay the costs of his suit in consequence of a failure on the part of his attorney to file his complaint in proper time, he may sue such attorney for all the costs by him so paid, and the receipt of the clerk may be given in evidence in support of such claim.

Attorney cannot sever from client without notice: Gooch v. Peebles, 105-411. Courts can order attorneys to pay costs where guilty of gross negligence: Robins, ex parte, 63-309.

202. Fraudulent practice, attorney liable in double damages. If any attorney commits any fraudulent practice, he shall be liable in an action to the party injured, and on the verdict passing against him, judgment shall be given for the plaintiff to recover double damages.

Rev., s. 215; Code, s. 23; R. C., c. 9, s. 6; 1743, c. 37.

Attorney cannot appear on both sides: Marcom v. Wyatt, 117-129; Cotton Mills v. Cotton Mills, 116-647; Arrington v. Arrington, 116-170; Gooch v. Peebles, 105-432. Fraud presumed where attorney gains advantage of client in trading with him: Egerton v. Logan, 81-172. Case where lawyer collected client's money, got drunk and couldn't tell what went with it, but did not use it: Kane v. Haywood, 66-1.

ART. 3. ARGUMENTS

203. Court's control of argument. In all trials in the superior courts there shall be allowed two addresses to the jury for the state or plaintiff and two for the defendant, except in capital felonies, when there shall be no limit as to number. The judges of the superior court are also authorized to limit the time of argument on the trial of all actions, civil and criminal, except in capital felonies, but in no instance shall the time be limited to less than one hour on each side in misdemeanors, or to less than three hours on each side in other causes. Where any greater number of addresses or any extension of time are desired, motion shall be made, and it shall be in the discretion of the judge to allow the same or not, as the interests of justice may require. In jury trials the whole case as well of law as of fact may be argued to the jury.

Power of judge to limit argument: State v. Jones, 117-768. Right to open and close argument, see Brown v. R. R., 140-154; In re Peterson, 136-13; Banking Co. v. Walker, 121-115;

Crawford, 116-756; State v. Tuten, 131-701; Hopkins v. Hopkins, 132-25; State v. Tyson, 133-692; Perry v. R. R., 128-471. Judge must stop counsel whenever he abuses privilege: State v. Williams, 65-505. The refusal to interfere with comment of counsel is in judge's discretion and not reviewable, unless discretion abused: State v. Carawan, 142-575; Smith v. R. R., 142-21; State v. Exum, 138-599; discussed in other cases hereunder. Judge's discretion must not be exercised to deprive litigant of counsel's argument: Puett v. R. R., 141-332; Irvin v. R. R., 164-5. When objection is made judge should note language at the time with the exception, to avoid any question thereafter: Moseley v. Johnson, 144-257.

ART. 4. DISBARMENT

204. Only for causes set out. No duly licensed attorney at law shall be disbarred or deprived of his license and right to practice law, either permanently or temporarily, unless for a cause set forth in this chapter and unless he be disbarred according to the provisions thereof.

Rev., s. 211; Code, s. 26; 1870-1, c. 216, s. 4.

Statute constitutional: Ex parte Schenek, 65-353. Fine and imprisonment is not the appropriate remedy against an attorney in cases stated in statute, but disbarment: Kane v. Haywood, 66-1. Question of disbarment fully reviewed: Ibid.; see, also, reference to the subject in In re Applicants for License, 143-1.

205. Conviction or confession of crime. No attorney at law shall be disbarred for crime unless after conviction or confession in open court of a felony or of a criminal offense showing him to be unfit to be trusted in the duties of his profession. After conviction of felony he must be disbarred by the court.

Rev., s. 211; Code, s. 26; 1870-1, c. 216, s. 4; 1907, c. 941, s. 1.

Does not apply to conviction in another state: In re Ebbs, 150-44. Conviction of selling liquor: State v. Johnson, 171-799; McLean v. Johnson, 174-345.

206. Failure to account for property or money collected. When final judgment is rendered against an attorney at law for property received or money collected by him as an attorney and retained by him without any bona fide claim thereto or to any part thereof, he must be disbarred by the court. The clerk of the court shall retain such cause on the trial docket until the next term of such court beginning not less than ninety days after the rendition of such final judgment. If such judgment is not then satisfied, the judge presiding shall make an order, which shall be entered on the records of the court, for such attorney to show cause, at a time and place to be named in such order, and upon the return thereof may make an order debaring such attorney at law from practicing law in any of the courts, and he shall thereby be debarred from so practicing. When any such judgment is rendered in the court of a justice of the peace, and it is thereupon sought to debar an attorney at law under this section, the cause shall be docketed on the civil issue docket of the superior court, and written notice served on such attorney ninety days before action by the court.

See famous case under former statute where attorney collected money for client, got drunk, but swore he never used it: Kane v. Haywood, 66-1. Demand before suit brought must be made on attorney for money collected, unless attorney was unauthorized: Bryant v. Peebles, 92-176. Attorney collecting money for heirs cannot defend on ground that it belongs to administrator: Means v. Hogan, 37-525.

207. Fraud or soliciting business; discretion of court. An attorney at law may be disbarred or suspended at the discretion of the court upon its being found by a jury that he has been guilty of any conduct in the practice of his profession involving willful deceit or fraud; or, that he has by himself or another solicited professional business.

1907, c. 941, s. 2.

ART. 5. PROCEEDINGS FOR DISBARMENT

208. Instituted by state bar association. Proceedings for the disbarment or suspension of any attorney under this article shall be instituted and prosecuted only by the committee on grievances of the North Carolina state bar association.

1907, c. 941, s. 3.

Disbarment proceedings are civil in their nature: In re Ebbs, 150-44. For a proceeding under the statute, see McLean v. Johnson, 174-345.

209. Accusation delivered to solicitor. The accusation as formulated by the committee on grievances of said state bar association shall be signed by the chairman of said committee and attested by the secretary of said association, accompanied by the written affidavit of any person or persons who make charges against such attorney, if any, duly verified and setting forth the facts upon which the same may be based, and shall be delivered by the secretary of said association or by the chairman of said committee to the solicitor of the judicial district in which such attorney resides.

210. Solicitor to draw accusation and move; citation, service and return. Upon the receipt from the chairman of the committee on grievances of the bar association of the accusation signed, attested and verified as above provided, the solicitor shall draw up such accusation, citing the accused to appear before the superior court of the county in which he resides, or in some adjoining county thereto, on a day named therein, and moving the court for the disbarment or suspension of such attorney, and have the same served by the sheriff of said county by delivering a copy thereof to the accused, and the original thereof, with the return of the sheriff, shall be delivered to the judge holding the courts of the district.

1907, c. 941, s. 4.

211. Order on accused to show cause. The judge of the superior court must, if of opinion that the accusation would, if true, warrant the disbarment or suspension of the accused attorney, make an order requiring the accused to appear and answer the same at a specified day during the next term of the court in which the proceeding is instituted, or at any other time when the court can hear and determine the same, a copy of which, together with a copy of the accusation, must be duly served upon the accused. If such order is made as much as ten days before any term of the court, the accusation must be made returnable and be heard during such term, unless continued for good cause by the court upon such terms as it may impose; and if such proceeding is begun less than ten days before a term of the court, it shall stand for hearing at the succeeding term unless the court shall order otherwise.

212. Answer of accused. The accused attorney may answer such accusation either by objecting in writing to its sufficiency or by denying the truth of the facts alleged, or setting forth the facts of his defense, which said answer as to facts by denial or otherwise must be in writing, signed by the accused and duly verified by him; and thereupon the accusation, objections and answer are hereby made a part of the records of the court as in other civil actions therein pending.

213. Trial and judgment; surrender of license. If the accused pleads guilty or fails or refuses to answer the accusations, the court must proceed to judgment of disbarment or suspension; and if he answers the accusation, the court must at such time as it may appoint proceed to try the same; the jury or judge finding the facts must make a special finding of the facts upon issues of fact submitted to them, and the court must, upon such facts found, thereupon render judgment of acquittal or of disbarment or of suspension, as such facts may warrant. The accused attorney may at any time stop or prevent the prosecution of the proceeding by a surrender of his license as an attorney at law, and record of such surrender shall be made in the supreme court of the state.

214. Proceedings in state's name by solicitor; costs. The proceedings must be conducted in the name of the state, and in all cases the solicitor of the district shall appear and prosecute the accusation and be responsible for the faithful discharge of the duties required of him under this article, and he may be assisted by other counsel. The court may, upon the motion of the solicitor, and upon good cause shown at the time, require the North Carolina state bar association to give security for the costs of such proceedings, to be approved by the court within ten days after notice thereof, and the hearing of the cause shall be postponed for that time unless security be given.

1907, c. 941, s. 8.

215. Appeal from judgment. Either party may appeal to the supreme court of North Carolina from an adverse judgment rendered by said superior court in the manner now prescribed by law for appeals in civil actions.

1907, c. 941, s. 9.

ART. 1. CREATION

216. How incorporated. Three or more persons may be incorporated for the purpose of establishing and operating commercial banks of deposit and discount, or savings banks of loan and deposit, or banks with both classes of business, or banks with a trust, fiduciary and surety business, by setting forth in a certificate of incorporation—

1. The name of the corporation; no name can be assumed already in use by another corporation organized under the laws of this state or of congress, or so similar as to lead to uncertainty or confusion.

2. The location of its principal office in the state. No branch office or business may be established and maintained without the approval first obtained of the corporation commission.

Absence of express power to establish branch bank: Banking Co. v. Tate, 122-313. State only can complain: Ibid. Where authority given by legislature to establish branches, relation of home bank to branch is as parent to child: Worth v. Bank, 122-397.

3. The nature of its business, whether that of commercial bank, or savings bank, or both, or of a bank with a trust, fiduciary and surety business.

4. The amount of the authorized capital stock, the number of shares into which it is divided, and the par value of each share, which must be either twenty-five, fifty, or one hundred dollars; the amount of capital stock with which it will commence business, which must be at least $5,000 in cities and towns of 1,500 population or less, $10,000 in cities and towns of 1,500 and not over 5,000 population, and $25,000 in all other places, the population to be ascertained by the last preceding national census; and if there is more than one class of stock, a description of the different classes with the terms on which they are created.

5. The names and postoffice addresses of the stock subscribers and the number of shares subscribed for by each; the aggregate of the subscriptions must be the amount of the capital with which the corporation will commence business.

6. The period, if any, for the duration of the corporation.

Rev., s. 222; 1901, c. 769; 1903, c. 275, ss. 1, 2; 1907, c. 829, s. 1; 1917, c. 165, s. 1; 1919, c. 59; 1919, c. 174.

217. Requirements as to certificate of incorporation. The certificate of incorporation shall be signed by a majority of the original stock subscribers, and must be proved or acknowledged before an officer duly authorized under the laws of this state to take the proof or acknowledgment of deeds. The certificate, when so proved, shall then be filed in the office of the secretary of state, who shall, if it is in accordance with law, cause it to be recorded in his office in a book to be kept for that purpose and known as the Corporation Book. Upon the payment of the organization tax and fees, the secretary of state shall certify under his official seal two copies of the certificate of incorporation and probates, one of which shall be forthwith recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county where the principal office of said corporation in this state is, or is to be, located, in a book to be known as the Record of Incorporations, and the other shall be filed in the office of the corporation commission. The said persons shall thereupon become a body politic and corporate under the name stated in the certificate. The certificate of incorporation, or a copy thereof duly filed by the secretary of state or by the clerk of the superior court of the county in which it is recorded, or by the clerk of the corporation commission, under their respective seals, is evidence in all courts and places, and in all judicial proceedings is prima facie evidence, of the complete incorporation and organization of the corporation purporting thereby to have been established.

Rev., s. 223; 1901, c. 2, s. 9; 1903, c. 275, s. 3; 1903, c. 343.

218. Payment of capital stock. No bank shall be authorized to commence business with less than a paid-in capital stock of $5,000 and until at least fifty per cent of the capital has been paid in in cash. The remainder of the capital stock shall be paid in monthly installments of at least ten per cent in cash of the whole of the capital, payable at the end of each succeeding month from the time it is authorized by the corporation commission to commence business, and the payment of each installment shall be certified to the corporation commission, under oath, by the cashier or president of the bank.

219. When and how authorized to begin business. Before a corporation may begin the banking, or banking and trust, fiduciary or surety business there must be filed with the corporation commission a statement under oath, by the cashier or president, containing the names of all of the directors and officers, with the date of the election or appointment, term of office, residence and postoffice address of each, the amount of capital stock of which each is the owner in good faith, and the amount of money paid in on account of the capital stock. Nothing shall be received in payment of capital stock but money. If from this statement, or upon examination, if an examination appears necessary, it appears to the corporation commission that the corporation is lawfully entitled to commence the business of banking, the commission shall, within thirty days after the filing of the certificate required by law, give to the corporation a certificate signed by the chairman and attested by the secretary of the commission, that such corporation has complied with all the provisions required to be complied with before commencing the business of banking and is authorized to commence such business. The corporation commission may withhold from any such corporation its certificate authorizing the commencement of business whenever it has reason to believe that the stockholders have formed the same for any other purpose than the legitimate objects contemplated by this chapter.

Rev., ss. 225, 226, 227; 1903, c. 275, ss. 5, 6, 7, 10; 1907, c. 829, ss. 2, 3, 4.

Failure to commence business in two years can be taken advantage of only by state: Boyd v. Redd, 120-335.

ART. 2. POWERS AND RESTRICTIONS

220. Powers. In addition to the powers conferred by law upon private corporations, a banking corporation and banking and trust company doing a fiduciary and surety business has power—

1. To exercise by its board of directors or duly authorized officers or agents, subject to law, all powers necessary to carry on the business of banking, by discounting and negotiating promissory notes, drafts, bills of exchange and other evidences of debt, receiving deposits, buying and selling exchange, coin and bullion, and by loaning money on personal security or real or personal property. At the time of making loans or discounts it may take in advance such interest as is agreed upon, not exceeding the legal rate.

2. To purchase, hold and convey such real estate as is—

(1) Necessary for the convenient transaction of its business, including with its banking offices other apartments to rent as a source of income, which investment shall not exceed fifty per cent of its paid-in capital stock and permanent surplus. This provision shall not apply to any such investment made before the ninth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and three.

(2) Mortgaged to it in good faith by way of security for loans made or money due to it.

(3) Conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealing.

(4) Acquired by it under execution sale or judgment of any court in its favor.

All powers and privileges heretofore granted to any person, firm or corporation doing a banking business in connection with a fiduciary and surety business, or the right to deal to any extent in real estate inconsistent with this chapter, are hereby repealed.

Rev., s. 228; 1903, c. 275, ss. 8, 9; 1907, c. 829, ss. 5, 12; 1919, c. 55.

221. State banks and trust companies may become members of Federal Reserve system. The words, "Federal Reserve Act," as herein used shall be held to mean and to include the act of Congress of the United States, approved December twenty-third, nineteen hundred and thirteen, as heretofore and hereafter amended. The words, "Federal Reserve Board," shall be held to mean the Federal Reserve Board created and described in the Federal Reserve Act. The words, "Federal Reserve Bank," shall be held to mean the Federal reserve banks created and organized under authority of the Federal Reserve Act. The words, "Member bank," shall be held to mean any national bank, State bank or bank and trust company which has become or which becomes a member of one of the Federal Reserve banks created by the Federal Reserve Act.

2. Any bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of this state shall have the power to subscribe to the capital stock and become a member of a Federal Reserve bank.

3. Any bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of this state which is or which becomes a member of a Federal Reserve bank is by this act vested with all powers conferred upon member banks of the Federal Reserve banks by the terms of the Federal Reserve Act as fully and completely as if such powers were specifically enumerated and described herein, and all such powers shall be exercised subject to all restrictions and limitations imposed by the Federal Reserve Act or by regulations of the Federal Reserve Board made pursuant thereto. The right, however, is expressly reserved to revoke or to amend the powers herein conferred.

4. A compliance on the part of any such bank or trust company with the reserve requirements of the Federal Reserve Act shall be held to be a full compliance with those provisions of the laws of this state which require banks or trust companies to maintain cash balances in their vaults or with other banks, and no such bank or trust company shall be required to carry or maintain reserve other than such as is required under the terms of the Federal Reserve Act.

5. Any such bank or trust company shall continue to be subject to the supervision and examinations required by the laws of this state, except that the Federal Reserve Board shall have the right, if it deems necessary, to make examinations; and the authorities of this state having supervision over such bank or trust company may disclose to the Federal Reserve Board, or to examiners duly appointed by it, all information in reference to the affairs of any bank or trust company which has become, or desires to become, a member of a Federal Reserve bank.

1919, c. 252, ss. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5.

222. Acceptances. Banking corporations and banking and trust companies doing a fiduciary business shall have power to accept drafts or bills of exchange drawn upon them, and to indorse drafts or bills of exchange drawn upon another, having not more than six months sight to run, exclusive of days of grace, which grow out of transactions involving the importation or exportation of goods, or which grow out of transactions involving the domestic shipment of goods. No such banking corporation or banking and trust company doing a fiduciary business shall accept or indorse, whether in a foreign or domestic transaction, for any one person, company, firm, or corporation to an amount equal at any time in the aggregate to more than ten per centum of its paid-up and unimpaired capital stock and surplus, unless the banking corporation or banking and trust company doing a fiduciary business is secured either by attached documents or by some other actual security growing out of the same transaction as the acceptance; and no such banking corporation or banking and trust company doing a fiduciary business shall accept or indorse such bills or drafts to an amount equal at any one time in the aggregate to more than one-half of its paid-up and unimpaired capital stock and surplus. The corporation commission, however, under such general regulations as it may prescribe, which shall apply to all banking corporations or banking and trust companies doing a fiduciary business alike regardless of the amount of capital stock and surplus, may authorize any banking corporation or banking and trust company doing a fiduciary business to accept or indorse such bills or drafts to an amount not exceeding at any time in the aggregate one hundred per centum of its paid-up and unimpaired capital stock and surplus: Provided, that the aggregate of acceptances growing out of domestic transactions shall in no event exceed fifty per centum of such capital stock and surplus.

Taking "acceptances" by bank before the enactment of this section not ultra vires: Sherill v. Trust Co., 176-591.

223. Restriction as to investment in real estate. A bank and trust company doing a general banking and trust, fiduciary and surety business, and dealing in real estate, shall not invest more than twenty-five per cent of the capital stock and permanent surplus in real estate, except that acquired to protect its loans, debts contracted in the course of its dealings or by sale under execution or judgment of any court in its favor.

224. When bank may purchase its stock. No bank may be the holder as pledgee or as purchaser of any portion of its capital stock, unless such purchase is necessary to prevent loss upon a debt previously contracted in good faith.

Rev., s. 229; 1903, c. 275, s. 1.

Discussion of question of lien granted by former statute to bank on stock of stockholder indebted to bank: Boyd v. Redd, 120-335. Stock pledged under charter allowing a bank to accept pledge of its own stock must be released by payment of the debt before it can share in the assets of a bank winding up business: Bank v. Riggins, 124-534.

225. Banks may invest in federal farm bonds. Any savings bank, banking institution, trust company, or insurance company, organized under the laws of this state, or any person acting as executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee, may invest in federal farm bonds issued by any federal land bank or joint-stock land bank, organized pursuant to "The Farm Loan Act" of Congress, approved July seventeenth, one thousand nine hundred and sixteen.

226. Reserve fund. Every bank or banking and trust company doing business and engaging in banking, trust, fiduciary, or surety business, and dealing in real estate, shall at all times have on hand as reserve in available funds an amount equal to at least fifteen per cent of the aggregate amount of its demand deposits and five per cent of time deposits. But no reserve shall be required on deposits secured by United States bonds or North Carolina state bonds.

Demand deposits, within the meaning of this act, shall comprise all deposits payable within thirty days, and time deposits shall comprise all deposits payable after thirty days, all savings accounts and certificates of deposit which are subject to not less than thirty days notice before payment, and all postal savings deposits.

The available funds consist of cash on hand and balances due from other solvent banks. Cash includes lawful money of the United States, and exchange of any clearing house association. A bank shall not make any new loans or discounts, otherwise than by discounting or purchasing bills of exchange payable at sight, and shall not make any dividends of its profits when the available funds are below the reserve herein required.

Any bank that is now or may hereafter become a member of a federal reserve bank shall maintain the same reserves with respect to deposits as shall be required of other members of such federal reserve bank.

Rev., s. 232; 1903, c. 275, s. 29; 1919, c. 58.

227. Restriction on loans. The total liabilities to any bank or banking institution or banking or trust company doing a fiduciary and surety business and dealing in real estate, of any person, corporation or firm, for money borrowed, including in the liabilities of a firm the liabilities of the several members thereof, shall at no time exceed one-tenth part of the amount of paid-in capital stock and surplus of such institution. But the discount of bills of exchange drawn in good faith against actually existing values and the discount of commercial or business paper actually owned by the person negotiating it shall not be considered as money borrowed. This section does not apply to banks with a paid-up capital of one hundred thousand dollars or less.

Rev., s. 233; 1897, c. 298, s. 3; 1897, c. 432; 1907, c. 829, s. 8; 1919, c. 47.

228. Deposits of minors. When a deposit is made by or in the name of a person who is a minor of the age of fifteen years and upwards, in any state or national bank in this state, it shall be held for the exclusive right and benefit of the minor, free from the control of all persons; and it shall be paid, together with any interest thereon, to the person in whose name the deposit was made, and the receipt or check of such minor to the said state or national bank is a valid and sufficient discharge for such deposit or any part thereof.

For deposits by married women, see section 2508.

229. Deposits in trust for minors. When a deposit not in excess of fifty dollars is made in any bank, banking institution or trust company doing business in this state in trust for a person who is a minor of the age of fifteen years and upward, and no other or further notice of the existence and terms of a legal and valid trust have been given to the bank, in the event of the death of the trustee, all or any part of the deposit, together with the dividends or interest thereon, may be paid to the person for whom it was made.

230. Deposits in two names. When a deposit has been or is hereafter made in any bank, trust company, banking and trust company, or any other institution transacting business in this state, in the names of two persons, payable to either, or payable to either or the survivor, all or any part of the deposit, or any interest or dividend thereon, may be paid to either of said persons, whether the other is living or not; and the receipt or acquittance of the person so paid is a valid and sufficient discharge to the bank for payment so made.

See Carr v. Bank, 126-186.

231. Liability for forged or raised check. No bank, banking institution or trust company doing business in this state is liable to a depositor for the payment by it of a forged or raised check or order to pay money, unless within six months after the return to the depositor of the voucher of such payment he notifies the bank of the forgery or raising.

Bank assumes liability for erroneous payment of check: Bank v. Thompson, 174-349. Drawee bank presumed to know signature of drawer: Bank v. Trust Co., 168-605; Yarborough v. Trust Co., 142-377.

232. Liability for nonpayment of check. No bank shall be liable to a depositor because of the nonpayment, through mistake or error and without malice, of a check which should have been paid had the mistake or error of nonpayment not occurred, except for the actual damage by reason of such nonpayment that the depositor shall prove, and in such event the liability shall not exceed the amount of damage so proven.

Bank is liable to drawer and not to holder before acceptance: Trust Co. v. Bank, 166-112; Bank v. Bank, 118-783; Hawes v. Blackwell, 107-196; Perry v. Bank, 131-117.

233. Collections forwarded to payer bank. Any banking corporation or banking and trust company, doing a fiduciary business, hereinafter called the bank, doing business in this state, receiving for collection or deposit any check, note, or other negotiable instrument drawn upon or payable at any other bank, located in another city or town whether within or without this state, may forward such instrument for collection directly to the bank on which it is drawn or at which it is made payable, and such method of forwarding direct to the payer shall be deemed due diligence; and the failure of such payer bank, because of its insolvency or other default, to account for the proceeds thereof, shall not render the forwarding bank liable therefor: Provided, such forwarding bank shall have used due diligence in other respects in connection with the collection of such instrument. The provisions of this section shall not apply where there is more than one bank in a town.

This section changes the law as given in Bank v. Trust Co., 172-344; s. c., 177-254; Bank v. Floyd, 142-187.

234. Transactions on legal holidays and Saturdays. Nothing in any law of this state shall in any manner whatsoever affect the validity of, or render void or voidable, the payment, certification, or acceptance of a check or other negotiable instrument or any other transaction by a bank in this state because done or performed on any legal holiday or on any Saturday between twelve o'clock noon and midnight, provided such payment, certification, acceptance, or other transaction would be valid if done or performed on any business day other than a legal holiday or before twelve o'clock noon on any such Saturday. Nothing herein shall be construed to compel any bank in this state, which by law or custom is entitled to close on legal holidays or at twelve o'clock noon on any Saturday, to keep open for the transaction of business or to perform any of the acts or transactions aforesaid on any legal holiday, or any Saturday after twelve o'clock noon, except at its own option.

235. Reorganization. When a bank, under the laws of this state or of the United States, is authorized to dissolve and has taken the necessary steps to effect dissolution, it is lawful for a majority of the directors of the bank, upon the authority in writing of the owners of two-thirds of its capital stock, with the approval of the corporation commission, to execute a certificate of incorporation as provided in this chapter, which certificate, in addition to other requirements of law, shall further set forth the authority derived from the stockholders of the dissolved bank. Upon filing the certificate as hereinbefore provided for the organization of banks, the same becomes a bank under the laws of this state, and all assets of the dissolved national bank by operation of law become the property of the state bank, subject to all liabilities of the national bank not liquidated under the laws of the United States before the reorganization.

Rev., s. 230; 1903, c. 275, s. 17.

236. Chapter on corporations applicable. All of the provisions of law relating to private corporations, and particularly those enumerated in the chapter entitled Corporations, not inconsistent with this chapter, or with the business of banking, are applicable to banks.

Rev., s. 234; 1903, c. 275, s. 4.

ART. 3. STOCKHOLDERS AND INSOLVENCY

237. Individual liability. The stockholders of every bank organized under any general law or special act of North Carolina are individually responsible, equally and ratably, for all contracts, debts and engagements of such corporation, to the extent of the par value of their stock, in addition to the amount invested in such shares. The term "stockholder," when used in this chapter, applies not only to the persons who appear by the books of the corporation as stockholders, but also to every legal or equitable owner of stock, although the same is on such books in the name of another person; but does not apply to persons who hold the stock as collateral security for the payment of a debt, or as executors, administrators, guardians, or trustees, but the estate and funds in their hands is liable in like manner and extent as the testator, intestate, ward, or cestui que trust would be if living and competent to act and hold the stock in his own name.

Rev., ss. 235, 237; 1897, c. 298; 1903, c. 275, s. 13.

Procedure in enforcing the double liability of stockholders of an insolvent bank, see Smathers v. Bank, 135-410. Statute of limitations begins to run in favor of stockholders, when bank suspends specie payment: Long v. Bank, 90-405. No exemption from liability in the case of married women: Smathers v. Bank, 155-283. The liability is for benefit of creditors and is not part of assets of the corporation: Hill v. Smathers, 173-642.

238. Exemptions in special charters repealed. Any exemption from individual liability imposed upon stockholders by the preceding section contained in the charter of any bank incorporated prior to the first day of January, nineteen hundred and three, is repealed.

Rev., s. 236; 1903, c. 275, s. 17.

239. Assessment of stock when assets insufficient. When a banking corporation chartered by the state becomes insolvent, and it appears to the court with jurisdiction of the cause that the bank's assets are insufficient to discharge its obligations, and that it will be necessary to assess the shares of stock issued by such bank as provided by law, an accounting may be had in the original action and the shareholders made parties defendant thereto. When upon the facts found it is adjudged that such deficiency exists and the amount thereof is determined, the court shall assess the stock of the corporation equally and ratably, and not in excess of the limitation provided by statute, and adjudge the holders indebted to the receiver of the corporation in proportion to the amount of stock therein credited to them upon the books of the bank within thirty days next preceding its suspension. The certificates of stock are thereafter evidence as against all stockholders of an indebtedness due the receiver equivalent to the assessment thereon, and the judgment shall establish the amount of the deficiency, the necessity of the assessment, the names of the shareholders, and their several liabilities as such.

240. Receiver to sue and collect from stockholders. The receiver of the insolvent bank is empowered to demand, sue for, and collect by lawful process all indebtedness due from its stockholders, whether they reside within or without the state, and wherever they or their legal representatives may be served with process, or wherever any property belonging to them, or their estate, may be subject to attachment, garnishment, or other lawful process. All indebtedness due from such stockholders, their representatives or estates, is payable to the receiver as corporate assets, and the title thereto vests in and must be applied by him for the equal benefit of all persons entitled to share in the distribution of the fund and disbursed ratably under the orders of the court. The receiver may, within ten years after an assessment on the stock, institute civil actions against the stockholders to reduce their liability thereon to final judgment, and in any such action the creditors of the bank may be proper, but are not necessary parties plaintiff.

241. Liability as affected by stock assignment. A person who has in good faith and without any intent to evade his liability as a stockholder, transferred his stock on the books of the corporation to a person of full age, previous to a default in the payment of any debt or liability of the corporation, is not subject to any personal liability on account of the nonpayment of such debt or liability, but the assignee is liable to the amount of the stock, in the same manner as if he had been the owner at the time the corporation contracted the debt or liability. But no transfer of stock in an insolvent state bank made within thirty days of its suspension releases or discharges the assignor thereof, but is prima facie evidence that the assignment was made with knowledge of the insolvency of the bank and with an intent to avoid liability thereon.

Rev., s. 238; 1903, c. 275, s. 14; 1911, c. 25, s. 5.

242. Assignment by bank evidence of insolvency. When any state bank makes a voluntary assignment of its assets to trustees, such fact is prima facie evidence of insolvency, and sufficient to authorize the appointment of a receiver.

243. Stock sold if subscription unpaid. When a stockholder or his assignee fails to pay any installment on the stock, when the same is required by law to be paid, the directors of the bank may sell the stock of the delinquent stockholder at public sale, having first given him twenty days notice, personally or by mail at his last known address. If no party can be found who will pay for the stock the amount due thereon to the bank, with any additional indebtedness of such stockholder to the bank, the amount previously paid shall be forfeited to the bank and the stock sold as the directors order within six months of the time of the forfeiture, and if not sold, it shall be canceled and deducted from the capital of the bank.

Rev., s. 239; 1903, c. 275, s. 11.

ART. 4. CORPORATION COMMISSION

244. Banking institutions and receivers under supervision of. Every bank, corporation, partnership, or individual transacting a banking, banking and trust, fiduciary and surety, or banking and real estate business, within and under the laws of this state, is subject to the provisions of this chapter, and under the supervision of the corporation commission, which has power to make such rules, consistent with law, for the government of such institutions, as in its judgment seem wise and expedient. When a receiver has been appointed for a failing bank or banking institution or corporation doing a banking business, he is under the control of the corporation commission and shall obey its orders in so far as they do not conflict with the orders or decrees of the court made in the case.

Rev., ss. 240, 241; 1903, c. 275, ss. 19, 20; 1907, c. 829, ss. 9, 13.

245. Quarterly reports and publication. Every bank and corporation, partnership, or individual transacting a banking or banking and trust, fiduciary and surety business, or banking and real estate business shall make to the corporation commission not less than four reports each year, according to the form prescribed by the commission. These reports shall be verified in the case of incorporated banking companies by the oath or affirmation of the president, vice president or cashier, and two of the board of directors, and in other cases by the oath or affirmation of the partners, or individual owner. The bank, corporation or individual making such report shall publish it in a newspaper in the county in which the bank, corporation or individual is located.

False and misleading statements held, prior to this statute, to give person induced thereby to deposit money a right of action against directors: Tate, Treasurer, v. Bates, 118-287. Directors presumed to know condition of bank: Ibid; Solomon v. Bates, 118-311. If false and fraudulent statements are made by officers, they are liable to one induced thereby to deal with such bank: Townsend v. Williams, 117-330; Solomon v. Bates, 118-311; Houston v. Thornton, 122-365.

246. Quarterly reports from banks of trust and surety or guarantee business. Every individual, partnership or corporation doing a banking and trust and fiduciary and surety or guarantee business shall make to the corporation commission not less than four reports each year, showing the entire amount of trust and surety and fiduciary and guarantee business as a part of the liabilities of said banking institution, which report shall be published as are the reports of other banking institutions. If any individual, partnership or corporation shows by the reports, or by the examination of the bank examiner, that such liabilities are equal to the amount of the capital stock, the corporation commission has the authority and is empowered to make such rules and regulations and reductions of said liabilities as it deems necessary for the protection of the creditors and depositors of the institution.

247. Annual and special reports. Every bank shall at all times keep a correct record of the names of its stockholders, and once in each year, or whenever called upon, must file in the office of the corporation commission a correct list of its stockholders, with the number of shares held by each. The commission has power to call for special reports from any bank, corporation, firm or individual transacting a banking business, whenever necessary, in order to obtain a full and complete knowledge of such bank.

Rev., ss. 243, 244; 1903, c. 275, ss. 16, 22.

248. Penalty and action for failure to report. Every bank, corporation, partnership, or individual that fails to make any report, or any published statement required by the provisions of this chapter is subject to a penalty of two hundred dollars. This penalty shall be recovered by the state in a civil action in any court of competent jurisdiction, and it is the duty of the attorney general to prosecute all such actions.

Rev., s. 245; 1903, c. 275, s. 26.

ART. 5. BANK EXAMINERS

249. Appointment and compensation. The corporation commission shall appoint from time to time a bank examiner and such number of assistant bank examiners as are necessary to make a thorough examination of the affairs of every bank, corporation, or individual doing a banking business, as often as is deemed necessary and proper and at least once in every year, and it is the duty of these examiners to verify the report made by the directors, members, or individual conducting any banking institution, as required by section 245 in this chapter. The corporation commission may also appoint such clerks and stenographers as are necessary to effectually carry out the provisions of the banking laws of the state, and may at any time remove any person appointed by it under this section. The commission shall fix the compensation to be paid to the bank examiner, assistant bank examiners, clerks and stenographers employed in the banking department, and certify the same to the state auditor; but their total compensation and expenses shall not exceed in any one year the total fees collected under section 252 in this chapter for the examination of banks and the expenses of examiners.

1917, c. 165, ss. 4, 5; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 36, s. 1.

250. Powers and reports of examination. The bank examiner and assistant bank examiners have power to make a thorough examination into all the books, papers and affairs of the bank or corporation, partnership or individual transacting a banking business, and, in so doing, to administer oaths and affirmations and to examine on oath or affirmation any individual banker and the officers, agents, partners and clerks of such bank, corporation, partnership or individual touching the matters they are authorized and directed to inquire into, and to examine, and to summon, and by attachment compel the attendance of, any person or persons in this state to testify under oath before them in relation to the affairs of such corporation, partnership, or individual. They shall make a full and detailed report in writing to the corporation commission of each examination within ten days after it has been made.

Rev., ss. 247, 248; 1903, c. 275, s. 24.

251. Penalty for unauthorized disclosure. Except as provided in this chapter, or as required by an order or decree of a court of competent jurisdiction, it shall be unlawful for any bank examiner or assistant bank examiner to disclose any information acquired by him in the performance of his duties as prescribed by law. An examiner or assistant examiner violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not exceeding five hundred dollars or imprisonment of not exceeding twelve months, or both, in the discretion of the court; and upon conviction shall forfeit his office or appointment as examiner.

252. Annual examinations; fees and expenses. One examination each year is designated as the annual examination, and for this the bank, corporation, or individual examined shall pay into the office of the corporation commission the following fees: banks, banking institutions, and individuals with total resources of $100,000 or less, $15; over $100,000 and not over $200,000, $20; over $200,000 and not over $300,000, $25; over $300,000 and not over $500,000, $30; over $500,000 and not over $750,000, $35; over $750,000 and not over $1,000,000, $40; $1,000,000 and over, $40, plus $2 for each $100,000 and fraction thereof, up to $5,000,000, then $1 additional for each $100,000 or fraction thereof. The expenses incurred and services, other than examinations performed specially for any bank, shall be paid by such bank or banking institution. No bank may be compelled to pay for more than one examination in each year unless it appears that the condition of the bank, banking institution, or banker is precarious, or in any way unsatisfactory, then it is the duty of the commission to order a special examination, which must be paid for by such bank at the same rates as the annual examinations.

The corporation commission shall not later than the tenth of each month turn into the state treasury any balance it may have on hand from fees collected the previous month for bank examinations or expenses of the examiners, after payment of the expenses incurred by the examiners.

Rev., s. 249; 1903, c. 275, s. 25; 1917, c. 165, ss. 2, 3.

253. May take possession of bank; receiver appointed. A bank examiner who has filed the bond required by the commission, when ordered by the commission, has authority to take possession of any bank doing business under the laws of this state and retain possession thereof for a time sufficient to make a thorough examination into its affairs and financial condition; and in case it is found by the examiner that the bank is insolvent or is conducting its business in an unsafe and unauthorized manner, or is jeopardizing the interests of its depositors, then he, when authorized by the corporation commission, has authority to take and retain possession of all the property of every description belonging to such bank, corporation, partnership, or individual, until the corporation commission can receive and act on the report made by the examiner of such bank, and have a receiver appointed, for the purpose of winding up and settling the affairs of such bank, banking institution or banker, according to law; and the corporation commission is hereby empowered, in its own name, to institute and maintain civil actions for the appointment of receivers in such cases, and for such other relief as is necessary or proper to protect the creditors of the bank. The commissioners may grant such bank, corporation or individual sixty days in which to correct any errors or irregularities, and make good any deficiencies or losses shown in any reports or otherwise.

Receiver is proper party to enforce the double liability of stockholders of an insolvent bank: Smathers v. Bank, 135-410. Receiver appointed at instance of creditors not the proper party to be sued for deposit: Crutchfield v. Hunter, 138-54. Ordinarily motion for receiver must be made before resident judge or judge holding courts of district: Worth, Treasurer, v. Bank, 121-343. Where two receivers appointed by two courts, question of priority settled on basis of fractions of a day: Ibid. Under former statute giving state treasurer power to apply for receiver, creditor still had right to do so: Ibid. For complaint by receiver against cashier for accounting, see Dunn v. Johnson, 115-249. Upon bank's closing doors, all claims against and in favor of it mature eo instanti: Davis v. Mfg. Co., 114-321. Where resident creditor of insolvent bank brings suit in another state, hindering the collection of bank's assets, receiver can enjoin him even if there was an adequate remedy at law: Davis v. Lumber Co., 132-233.

254. May make arrests; procedure. When it appears to a bank examiner, by examination or otherwise, that any officer, agent, employee, director, stockholder or owner of a bank or banking institution is guilty of a violation of the criminal laws of the state relating to banks and banking institutions, it is his duty to hold and detain such person until a warrant can be procured for his arrest; and for such purpose the examiner has all the powers of a peace officer of such county, and may arrest without warrant for past offenses. Upon report of his action to the corporation commission, it may direct the release of the person held, or, if in its judgment he should be prosecuted, the commission shall cause the solicitor of the judicial district in which the detention is had to be promptly notified, and the action against such person shall be continued a reasonable time to enable the solicitor to be present at the trial.

NOTE. For malfeasance by bank examiners, see Crimes and Punishments, s. 4401.

ART. 6. INDUSTRIAL BANKS

255. Industrial bank defined. The term "industrial bank" as used in this article shall mean any corporation formed under the provisions thereof, and any corporation heretofore organized under the general corporation law of this state which shall hereafter reorganize as an industrial bank pursuant to the provisions of this article.

1919, c. 225, s. 1.

256. Manner of organization. Corporations may be organized under this article in the same manner as provided for corporations authorized under the chapter on Corporations.

1919, c. 225, s. 2.

257. Capital stock. The capital stock of an industrial bank shall not be less than twenty-five thousand dollars.

1919, c. 225, s. 3.

258. Corporate title. Every corporation incorporated or reorganized pursuant to the provisions of this article shall be known as an industrial bank, and may use the word "bank" as part of its corporate title.

1919, c. 225, s. 4.

259. Powers. In addition to the general powers conferred upon corporations formed under the chapter on Corporations, every industrial bank shall have the following powers:

1. To loan money on real or personal security and reserve lawful interest in advance upon such loans, and to discount or purchase notes, bills of exchange, acceptances or other choses in action.

2. To sell or offer for sale its secured or unsecured evidences or certificates of indebtedness, or investment, and to receive from investors therein or purchasers thereof payments therefor in installments or otherwise, with or without an allowance of interest upon such payments, whether such evidence or certificates of indebtedness, or of investment be hypothecated for a loan or not, and to enter into contracts in the nature of a pledge or otherwise with such investors or purchasers with regard to said evidences or certificates of indebtedness, or of investment, and no such transaction shall, in any way, be construed to affect the rate of interest on such loans.

3. To charge for a loan made pursuant to this section one dollar for each fifty dollars or a fraction thereof loaned, up to and including loans of two hundred and fifty dollars, and, for loans in excess of two hundred and fifty dollars, one dollar for each two hundred and fifty dollars excess or fraction thereof, to cover expenses, including any examination or investigation of the character and circumstances of the borrower, comaker, or surety. An additional fee of five dollars may be charged on such loans where same are secured by mortgage on real estate. No charge shall be collected unless a loan shall have been made.

4. To establish branch offices or places of business within the county in which its principal office is located, but not elsewhere.

260. Restrictions on powers. No industrial bank shall—

1. Make any loan under the provisions of this article for a longer period than one year from the date thereof.

2. Deposit any of its funds in any banking corporation unless such corporation has been designated as such depository by a vote of a majority of the directors, or of the executive committee, exclusive of any director who is an officer, director, or trustee of the depository so designated, present at any meeting duly called at which a quorum is in attendance.

261. Limit of loans. The total liabilities to any industrial bank of any person, corporation, company, or firm, for money borrowed, including in the liabilities of the company or firm the liabilities of the several members thereof, shall at no time exceed ten per cent of the actually paid-up capital and surplus of such industrial bank, but the discount of bona fide bills of exchange or acceptances drawn against actually existing values, and the discount of commercial or business paper actually owned by the person or persons, corporation, company, or firm negotiating the same, shall not be considered money so borrowed.

262. Directors. At least three-fourths of the number of directors of any industrial bank shall be residents of the state of North Carolina.

1919, c. 225, s. 8.

263. Supervision and examination. Every industrial bank formed under the provisions of this article shall be subject to supervision by the corporation commission and subject to examination in the same manner as is provided in the case of state banks so far as the same may be applicable and not inconsistent with the provisions of this article.

1919, c. 225, s. 9.

264. Previously organized corporations may qualify. Any corporation heretofore organized under the general corporation law of this state, and authorized by its charter or articles of incorporation to engage in the business described in this article, shall, upon filing notice with the secretary of state and the corporation commission on or before January first, one thousand nine hundred and twenty, be recognized as an industrial bank within the provisions of this article and shall be subject to this article to the same extent as if actually incorporated hereunder.

1919, c. 225, s. 10.

BASTARDY

- 265. Justices have jurisdiction; when warrant issued.
- 266. Complaint as to bastard by county commissioner.
- 267. Woman declaring father; issue of paternity; appeal.
- 268. Judgment on appeal to superior court against putative father.
- 269. Woman's examination presumptive evidence.
- 270. Upon appeal parties and witnesses recognized.
- 271. Putative father out of county.
- 272. Continuance till birth of child.
- 273. Allowance and bond.
- 274. Action barred in three years after birth.
- 275. Execution for maintenance.
- 276. Putative father when committed or apprenticed.
- 277. Legitimation of bastards.
- 278. Effects of legitimation.
- 279. Legitimation by subsequent marriage.

265. Justices have jurisdiction; when warrant issued. Justices of the peace of the several counties have exclusive original jurisdiction to issue, try and determine all proceedings in cases of bastardy in their respective counties. A warrant in bastardy shall be issued only upon the voluntary affidavit and complaint of the mother of the bastard; or, upon the affidavit of one of the county commissioners, setting forth the fact that the bastard is likely to become a county charge.

Rev., s. 252; Code, s. 31.

Bastardy proceeding is a civil action, in the nature of police regulation: State v. Currie, 161-275; State v. McDonald, 152-802; State v. Addington, 143-687; Burton v. Belvin, 142-151; State v. Liles, 134-735; State v. Edwards, 110-511; State v. Peeples, 108-768; State v. Bryan, 83-611; State v. Higgins, 72-226; State v. Pate, 44-244; State v. Carson, 19-370; State v. Wilkie, 85-513; State v. Crouse, 86-617; State v. Hickerson, 72-421; State v. McIntosh, 64-607; State v. Waldrop, 63-507; Ward v. Bell, 52-79; State v. Thompson, 48-367; Adams v. Pate, 47-15; State v. Brown, 46-130. The following cases, now overruled, hold that bastardy is a criminal action or a proceeding in the nature of a criminal action: State v. Perry, 122-1043; State v. Ballard, 122-1024; State v. Nelson, 119-797; State v. Ostwalt, 118-1208; State v. Wynne, 116-981; State v. Cagle, 114-835; Myers v. Stafford, 114-234; State v. White, 125-674; State v. Bruce, 122-1040. Jurisdiction of magistrate stated in the following cases, some of which do not hold since the decision that the proceeding is civil: State v. Mize, 117-780; State v. Wynne, 116-981; State v. White, 125-674; State v. Ostwalt, 118-1208; State v. Parish, 83-613; State v. Roberts, 32-350; State v. Jenkins, 34-121; State v. Elam, 61-460; State v. McQuaig, 63-550; State v. Hales, 65-244. Former proceeding dismissed for want of jurisdiction no bar to second proceeding: State v. Giles, 103-391. Justice's jurisdiction to issue warrant depends upon domicile of mother: State v. Hales, 65-244. Proceedings cannot be instituted against personal representative of putative father to subject his estate to maintenance: Clements v. Durham, 52-100. The intention of proceedings in bastardy is to secure to the mother her probable expenses or to reimburse her actual outlay, even though the child die at birth: State v. Addington, 143-683—and if the child live, to indemnify the county against loss: State v. Brown, 46-130; Ward v. Bell, 52-79; State v. Edwards, 110-511; State v. Beatty, 66-648.

266. Complaint as to bastard by county commissioner. When complaint is made on affidavit by a county commissioner to a justice of the peace of the county in which the woman resides, that any single woman within his county is big with child, or delivered of a child, the justice may cause her to be brought before him, or any other justice of the county, to be examined upon oath respecting the father. If she refuses to declare the father, she shall pay a fine of five dollars and give a bond payable to the state with sufficient surety to keep such child from being chargeable to the county; otherwise, she shall be committed to prison until she shall declare the same, or pay the fine aforesaid and give such bond.

Where woman refuses to disclose father, pays the fine and gives the bond, she cannot afterwards pursue the father on ground of collusion between justice and father, she being in pari delicto: State v. Price, 81-516; State v. Brown, 46-129. Question as to which county must maintain child settled: in State v. Elam, 61-460; Merritt v. McQuaig, 63-550; State v. Jenkins, 34-121; State v. Roberts, 32-350. Proceeding may be brought while child en ventre sa mere: State v. Addington, 143-687; State v. Wynne, 116-982; State v. Crouse, 86-617.

267. Woman declaring father; issue of paternity; appeal. If any woman, upon oath, accuses any man of being the father of her bastard child, the justice before whom such oath is made shall cause him to be brought before some justice of the peace of such county to answer the charge. If he denies, upon oath, that he is the father of such child, the justice shall proceed to try the issue of paternity, and if it is found that he is the father of the child, or if he does not deny upon oath that he is the father of the child, then he shall stand charged with the maintenance thereof, as the court may order, and shall give bond, with sufficient surety, payable to the state, to perform said order, and to indemnify the county where such child is born from charges for his maintenance and may be committed to prison until he finds surety for the same, and shall be liable for the costs of the issue or proceeding. From this judgment and finding the affiant, the woman or the defendant may appeal to the next term of the superior court of the county, where the trial is to be had de novo.

Procedure when charge is made: State v. Currie, 161-275; State v. Edwards, 110-512. The offense is committed when child is begotten: State v. Wynne, 116-981; State v. Nelson, 119-797. Defendant cannot be placed twice in jeopardy: State v. Ostwalt, 118-1208. A judgment committing defendant "until he finds surety" is valid: State v. Wynne, 116-981. The provision that the affiant or the woman may appeal is unconstitutional: State v. Ostwalt, 118-1208; State v. Bruce, 122-1040; State v. Ballard, 122-1024; overruled by State v. Liles, 134-742. Effect of father's compromising with woman, see State v. Beasley, 75-211; State v. Harshaw, 20-506. Summons may be issued by one justice and returnable before another: Williams v. Bowling, 111-295. Mother should not be joined as party plaintiff with the state, State v. Collins, 85-511. The correct issues in bastardy proceeding set forth: State v. Liles, 134-735; State v. Warren, 124-807; State v. Rose, 75-239; Warlick v. White, 76-175; State v. Herman, 35-502. Proof that putative father was impotent at time child was begotten is sufficient bar: State v. Broadway, 69-411.

Defendant should deny under oath, but it need not be in writing: State v. Currie, 161-275. Not necessary for proceeding to show affirmatively that mother is a single woman: State v. Allison, 61-346; State v. Pettaway, 10-623; State v. Wilson, 32-131; State v. Peoples, 108-768; State v. McDowell, 101-736; State v. Higgins, 72-227; Wilkie v. West, 5-319. Child born in wedlock is presumed to be legitimate, but this presumption may be rebutted: State v. McDowell, 101-734; State v. Pettaway, 10-623; State v. Allison, 61-346; State v. Herman, 35-502; State v. Wilson, 32-131. Where married woman was visibly pregnant at her marriage, presumption is the child was the child of her husband: State v. Herman, 35-502. When trial by justice, he must give notice to defendant of the charge against him, give him opportunity of making defense, and the evidence must be according to law: State v. Barrow, 7-121. When mother of child is a married woman legitimacy of child is an issue of fact dependable on proof of impotence or nonaccess of husband: State v. Liles, 134-735; State v. McDowell, 101-

736. Legitimacy of child being in issue, evidence of bad character of mother as to chastity during husband's lifetime is incompetent. Warlick v. White, 76-175. As to legitimacy of child, mother a competent witness: Warlick v. White, 76-175.

Purpose of law both to indemnify county and maintain child: State v. Currie, 161-276; State v. Beatty, 66-648; State v. Addington, 143-683; State v. Edwards, 110-511; Ward v. Bell, 52-79; State v. Brown, 46-130. As to maintenance, no difference between past and future as far as court concerned: State v. Beatty, 66-648. Resemblance of child and accused, competent evidence: State v. Horton, 100-443; State v. Britt, 78-439; Warlick v. White, 76-175; State v. Woodruff, 67-89; State v. Bowles, 52-579. Evidence not sufficient to rebut presumption raised by woman's oath and examination: State v. Bennett, 75-305; State v. Parish, 83-613; see State v. Britt, 78-439. Child can be exhibited to jury: Warlick v. White, 76-175; State v. Woodruff, 67-89; State v. Horton, 100-443. Defendant may show woman unworthy of credit: State v. Floyd, 35-382; State v. Pate, 44-244. Wife competent to prove intercourse with one not her husband: State v. Pettaway, 10-623. Husband impotent or nonaccess proven, child declared a bastard: State v. Pettaway, 10-623; State v. Rose, 75-239. When the child dies upon being born, the mother is still entitled to her expenses incident thereto, including, among other things, her medicine and medical attention, and the burial expenses of the child: State v. Addington, 143-683.

268. Judgment on appeal to superior court against putative father. If the jury at term finds that the person accused is the father of the child, then the judge shall make the order for the maintenance and for costs of proceeding, and shall take bond from the defendant and his sureties for the maintenance of the child and to indemnify the county and pay the costs; and, in default thereof, may imprison the defendant.

Child dying before case tried, what order made: State v. Beatty, 66-648; State v. Addington, 143-683.

269. Woman's examination presumptive evidence. Upon the trial of the issue of paternity, whether before the justice or at term, the examination of the woman taken and returned shall be presumptive evidence against the person accused, subject to be rebutted by other evidence which may be introduced by the defendant.

Rev., s. 255; Code, s. 32.

Examination of woman presumptive evidence: State v. Currie, 161-275; State v. McDonald, 152-802; State v. Rogers, 119-793, 79-609; State v. Mitchell, 119-784; State v. Cagle, 114-835. Accused failing to demand privilege of cross-examining mother when her written examination taken, waives his right to object to her evidence: State v. Rogers, 119-793; State v. Mitchell, 119-784. When woman charges accused on her examination, burden is on him to disprove: State v. Mitchell, 119-784. Woman's examination not signed is competent: State v. Thompson, 26-484. Woman's examination not appearing to be on oath is invalid: State v. Ledbetter, 26-245.

270. Upon appeal parties and witnesses recognized. When an appeal is taken the justice shall recognize the person accused of being the father of the child with sufficient surety for his appearance at the next term of the superior court for the county, and to abide by and perform the order of the court. The justice shall also recognize the woman and other witnesses to appear at the superior court, and shall return to the court the original papers in the proceeding and a transcript of his proceedings as required in other cases of appeal. If the putative father fails to appear, unless for good cause shown, the judge shall direct the issue of paternity to be tried. If the issue is found against the person accused, he shall order a caipias or attachment to be issued for the father, and may also enter up judgment against the father and his surety on his recognizance.

Rev., s. 257; Code, s. 33.

On appeal the case is placed on civil issue docket: State v. Currie, 161-275. Case stands for trial, when: State v. Edwards, 110-511; State v. Cagle, 114-835; but see State v. Liles, 134-742. The court may make proper amendments, including the affidavit of the woman: State v. Currie, 161-275; State v. Giles, 103-391. Degree of proof required: State v. Rogers, 79-609; State v. Williams, 109-846; State v. Liles, 134-742; State v. McDonald, 152-802; overruling State v. Rogers, 119-795. For effect of evidence of illicit intercourse with others, see State v. Warren, 124-807; State v. Giles, 103-391; State v. Britt, 78-439; State v. Bennett, 75-305; State v. Parish, 83-613; State v. Perkins, 117-698; State v. Patterson, 74-157. Justice failing to recognize defendant, caipias issued: State v. Green, 71-172; State v. Palin, 63-471.

271. Putative father out of county. If the putative father escapes or is in any other county than that of the justice issuing the warrant, it shall be issued, indorsed, executed and returned as provided for warrants in criminal actions.

Rev., s. 256; Code, s. 32.

272. Continuance till birth of child. When the judge or justice, as the case may be, trying the issue of paternity, deems it proper, he may continue the case until the woman is delivered of the child. When a continuance is granted, the court shall recognize the person accused of being the father of the child with surety for his appearance either at the next term of the court or at a time to be fixed by the justice granting the continuance, which shall be after the delivery of the woman.

State v. Addington, 143-688.

273. Allowance and bond. When the issue of paternity is found against the putative father, or when he admits the paternity, the judge or justice shall make an allowance to the woman not exceeding the sum of fifty dollars, to be paid in such installments as the judge or justice shall see fit, and he shall give bond to indemnify the county as prescribed by law; and in default of such payment he shall be committed to prison.

Rev., s. 259; Code, s. 35.

The word "fine" herein is used in the sense of a punishment for a criminal offense, and cannot be imposed when issue of paternity found against defendant: State v. Addington, 143-683; State v. Liles, 134-737. Provision of statute that allowance be made in addition to fine, is constitutional: State v. Wynne, 116-981; State v. Morgan, 141-727; but see State v. Addington, 143-683. Mother granted an allowance is such a creditor of father of child as would enable her to prevent his discharge: State v. Parsons, 115-730. Woman can release her interest in the bond where she was the relator and suit was brought in name of state, to whom bond was payable: State v. Ellis, 34-264. Suits on bond: Shew v. Stewart, 18-412.

274. Action barred in three years after birth. All examinations upon oath to charge any man with being the father of a bastard child shall be taken within three years next after the birth of the child, and not after.

Time in which proceeding must be brought controlled entirely by this section: State v. Perry, 122-1043; State v. Hedgepeth, 122-1039. See State v. Ledbetter, 26-242; State v. Robeson, 24-46.

275. Execution for maintenance. When the judge or justice charges the father of a bastard child with its maintenance and the father neglects to pay the same, then the judge or justice, upon application of the party aggrieved, notice being served on the defendant at least ten days before the return day stated in the notice, or such notice being returned by the sheriff or constable that the defendant is not to be found, may order an execution against the property of the father for such sum as the court shall adjudge sufficient for the maintenance of the bastard child.

Rev., s. 261; Code, s. 37.

Father cannot claim his exemption of $500 as against allowance to mother: State v. Parsons, 115-730. Summary remedy here provided is only cumulative: Shew v. Stewart, 18-412. In suit by mother to eject father from land purchased under execution by her, she must show this section complied with: McPherson v. McCoy, 13-391.

276. Putative father when committed or apprenticed. In all cases arising under this chapter, when the putative father is charged with costs or the payment of money for the support of a bastard child, and he is, by law, subject to be committed to prison in default of paying the same, it is competent for the court to sentence him to the house of correction for such time not exceeding twelve months, as the court may deem proper. The putative father, at his discretion, instead of being committed to prison or to the house of correction, may bind himself as an apprentice to any person whom he may select, for such time and at such price as the court may direct. The binding shall be by indenture in open court, and the price obtained shall be paid to the county treasurer. On the indenture being signed by the judge of the court and by the master receiving such apprentice, the person thus bound shall be treated and regarded as an apprentice in all matters except education.

Defendant may not be put to work on roads: State v. Addington, 143-683; State v. Morgan, 141-726; overruling Myers v. Stafford, 114-234. Imprisonment for failure to obey order to maintain, or to give bond, valid: State v. Addington, 143-688; State v. Morgan, 141-726; State v. Nelson, 119-797; State v. Edwards, 110-512; State v. Palin, 63-471. Discharged from imprisonment upon complying with section 1632, see State v. Parsons, 115-730; State v. White, 125-674. Who can object, and how, to defendant's discharge as an insolvent, discussed in State v. Parsons, 115-730.

277. Legitimation of bastards. The putative father of any illegitimate child may apply by petition in writing to the superior court of the county in which he resides, praying that such child may be declared legitimate; and if it appears that the petitioner is reputed the father of the child, the court may thereupon declare and pronounce the child legitimated; and the clerk shall record the decree.

Judgment of court upon subject of legitimation is conclusive: Craige v. Neely, 51-170. Marriage of father and mother in a state where children are legitimated thereby, effect on child's relation in other states: Fowler v. Fowler, 131-169.

278. Effects of legitimation. The effect of such legitimation shall extend no further than to impose upon the father all the obligations which fathers owe to their lawful children, and to enable the child to inherit from the father only his real estate, and also to entitle such child to the personal estate of his father, in the same manner as if he had been born in lawful wedlock. In case of death and intestacy, the real and personal estate of such child shall be transmitted and distributed according to the statute of descents and distribution among those who would be his heirs and next of kin in case he had been born in lawful wedlock.

King v. Davis, 91-146. Effect of legislative private act passed at instance of father legitimizing children and defining their rights, see Perry v. Newsome, 36-28; Drake v. Drake, 15-110.

279. Legitimation by subsequent marriage. When the mother of any bastard child and the reputed father of such child shall intermarry or shall have intermarried at any time after the birth of such child, the child shall in all respects after such intermarriage be deemed and held to be legitimate and entitled to all the rights in and to the estate, real and personal, of its father and mother that it would have had had it been born in lawful wedlock.

For law prior to enactment of this section, see Fowler v. Fowler, 131-169.

ART. 5. CRIMINAL OFFENSES.

- 323. Issuing false bills or violating chapter made felony.

ART. 1. GENERAL PROVISIONS

280. General definitions. In this chapter, unless the context of subject-matter otherwise requires—

“Action” includes counterclaim, set-off, and suit in equity.

“Bill” means bill of lading governed by this chapter.

“Consignee” means the person named in the bill as the person to whom delivery of the goods is to be made.

“Consignor” means the person named in the bill as the person from whom the goods have been received for shipment.

“Goods” means merchandise or chattels in course of transportation or which have been or are about to be transported.

“Holder” of a bill means a person who has both actual possession of such bill and a right of property therein.

“Order” means an order by indorsement on the bill.

“Person” includes a corporation or partnership, or two or more persons having a joint or common interest.

“To purchase” includes to take as mortgagee and to take as pledgee.

1919, c. 65, s. 42.

281. Provisions of this chapter do not apply to existing bills. The provisions of this chapter do not apply to bills made and delivered prior to the taking effect thereof.

CASES BEFORE THE ADOPTION OF THIS CHAPTER. A bill of lading, as a contract, defines the terms of transportation: Hamilton v. R. R., 96-398; Mfg. Co. v. R. R., 121-514; Mule Co. v. R. R., 160-215; Culbreth v. R. R., 169-723; but a bill of lading is not necessary to bind the carrier: Berry v. R. R., 122-1002; Smith v. R. R., 163-143; McConnell v. R. R., 163-504; Davis v. R. R., 172-209; Bryan v. R. R., 174-177; McRary v. R. R., 174-563; Mann v. Transportation Co., 176-104.

282. Provisions and sections of this chapter are independent and severable. The provisions and each part thereof, and the sections and each part thereof of this chapter are independent and severable, and the declaring of any provision or part thereof, or provisions or parts thereof, or section or part thereof, or sections or parts thereof, unconstitutional shall not impair or render unconstitutional any other provision or part thereof, or section or part thereof.

ART. 2. ISSUE OF BILLS OF LADING

283. Bills governed by this chapter. Bills of lading issued by any common carrier for the transportation of goods from one point in North Carolina to another shall be governed by this chapter.

1919, c. 65, s. 1.

284. Definition of straight bill. A bill in which it is stated that the goods are consigned or destined to a specified person is a straight bill.

1919, c. 65, s. 2.

285. Definition of order bill. A bill in which it is stated that the goods are consigned or destined to the order of any person named in such bill is an order bill. Any provision in such a bill or in any notice, contract, rule, regulation, or tariff that it is nonnegotiable shall be null and void, and shall not affect its negotiability within the meaning of this chapter unless upon its face and in writing agreed to by the shipper.

1919, c. 65, s. 3.

286. Order bills must not be issued in sets. Order bills issued in North Carolina for transportation of goods from one point to another in North Carolina shall not be issued in parts or sets. If so issued, the carrier issuing them shall be liable for failure to deliver the goods described therein to any one who purchases a part for value in good faith, even though the purchase be after the delivery of the goods by the carrier to a holder of one of the other parts.

287. Duplicate order bills must be so marked. When more than one order bill is issued in North Carolina for the same goods to be transported to any place in North Carolina, the word "duplicate" or some other word or words indicating that the document is not an original bill, shall be placed plainly upon the face of every such bill except the one first issued. A carrier shall be liable for the damage caused by his failure so to do to any one who has purchased the bill for value in good faith as an original, even though the purchase be after the delivery of the goods by the carrier to the holder of the original bill.

1919, c. 65, s. 5.

288. Straight bill shall be marked "nonnegotiable." A straight bill shall have placed plainly upon its face by the carrier issuing it "nonnegotiable" or "not negotiable."

This section shall not apply, however, to memoranda or acknowledgments of an informal character.

289. Insertion of name of person to be notified. The insertion in an order bill of the name of a person to be notified of the arrival of the goods shall not limit the negotiability of the bill or constitute notice to a purchaser thereof of any rights or equities of such person in the goods.

1919, c. 65, s. 7.

Instances of bills "order, notify": Mfg. Co. v. R. R., 149-261; Bank v. R. R., 153-347; Killingsworth v. R. R., 171-47.

ART. 3. OBLIGATIONS AND RIGHTS OF CARRIERS UPON BILLS OF LADING

290. Obligation of carrier to deliver. A carrier, in the absence of some lawful excuse, is bound to deliver goods upon a demand made either by the consignee named in the bill for the goods or, if the bill is an order bill, by the holder thereof, if such a demand is accompanied by—

1. An offer in good faith to satisfy the carrier's lawful lien upon the goods;
2. Possession of the bill of lading and an offer in good faith to surrender, properly indorsed, the bill which was issued for the goods if the bill is an order bill; and
3. A readiness and willingness to sign, when the goods are delivered, an acknowledgment that they have been delivered, if such signature is requested by the carrier.

In case the carrier refuses or fails to deliver the goods, in compliance with a demand by the consignee or holder so accompanied, the burden shall be upon the carrier to establish the existence of a lawful excuse for such refusal or failure.

1919, c. 65, s. 8.

291. Justification of carrier in delivery. A carrier is justified, subject to the provisions of the three following sections, in delivering goods to one who is—

1. A person lawfully entitled to the possession of the goods; or
2. The consignee named in a straight bill for the goods; or
3. A person in possession of an order bill for the goods, by the terms of which the goods are deliverable to his order; or which has been indorsed to him, or in blank by the consignee, or by the mediate or immediate indorsee of the consignee.

See Jeans v. R. R., 164-224; Killingsworth v. R. R., 171-47.

292. Carrier's liability for misdelivery. Where a carrier delivers goods to one who is not lawfully entitled to the possession of them, the carrier shall be liable to any one having a right of property or possession in the goods if he delivered the goods otherwise than as authorized by subdivisions 1 and 2 of the preceding section; and, though he delivered the goods as authorized by either of said subdivisions, he shall be so liable if prior to such delivery he—

1. Had been requested by or on behalf of a person having a right of property or possession in the goods not to make such delivery; or
2. Had information at the time of the delivery that it was to a person not lawfully entitled to the possession of the goods.

Such request for information, to be effective within the meaning of this section, must be given to an officer or agent of the carrier, the actual or apparent scope of whose duties includes action upon such a request or information, and must be given in time to enable the officer or agent to whom it is given, acting with reasonable diligence, to stop delivery of the goods.

293. Order bills must be canceled when goods delivered. Except as provided in section 308, and except when compelled by legal process, if a carrier delivers goods for which an order bill had been issued, the negotiation of which would transfer the right to the possession of the goods, and fails to take up and cancel the bill, such carrier shall be liable for failure to deliver the goods to any one who for value and in good faith purchases such bill, whether such purchaser acquired title to the bill before or after the delivery of the goods by the carrier and notwithstanding delivery was made to the person entitled thereto.

294. Order bills must be canceled or marked when part of goods delivered. Except as provided in section 308, and except when compelled by legal process, if a carrier delivers part of the goods for which an order bill had been issued and fails, either—

1. To take up and cancel the bill, or
2. To place plainly upon it a statement that a portion of the goods has been delivered, with a description, which may be in general terms, either of the goods or packages that have been so delivered or of the goods or packages which still remain in the carrier's possession, he shall be liable for failure to deliver all the goods specified in the bill to any one who for value and in good faith purchases it, whether such purchaser acquired title to it before or after the delivery of any portion of the goods by the carrier, and notwithstanding such delivery was made to the person entitled thereto.

295. Altered bills. Any alteration, addition, or erasure in a bill after its issue without authority from the carrier issuing the same, whether in writing or noted on the bill, shall be void, whatever be the nature and purpose of the change, and the bill shall be enforceable according to its original tenor.

1919, c. 65, s. 13.

296. Lost or destroyed bills. Where an order bill has been lost, stolen, or destroyed, a court of competent jurisdiction may order the delivery of the goods upon satisfactory proof of such loss, theft, or destruction, and upon the giving of a bond, with sufficient surety, to be approved by the court, to protect the carrier or any person injured by such delivery from any liability or loss incurred by reason of the original bill remaining outstanding. The court may also, in its discretion, order the payment of the carrier's reasonable costs and counsel fees: Provided, a voluntary indemnifying bond without an order of court shall be binding on the parties thereto.

The delivery of the goods under an order of the court, as provided in this section, shall not relieve the carrier from liability to a person to whom the order bill has been, or shall be, negotiated for value without notice of the proceedings or of the delivery of the goods.

297. Effect of duplicate bills. A bill, upon the face of which the word "duplicate," or some other word or words indicating that the document is not an original bill, is placed plainly, shall impose upon the carrier issuing the same the liability of one who represents and warrants that such bill is an accurate copy of an original bill properly issued, but no other liability.

298. Carrier can not set up title in himself. No title to the goods or right to their possession asserted by a carrier for his own benefit shall excuse him from liability for refusing to deliver the goods according to the terms of the bill issued for them, unless such title or right is derived directly or indirectly from a transfer made by the consignor or consignee after the shipment, or from the carrier's lien.

299. Interpleader of adverse claimants. If more than one person claim the title or possession of goods, the carrier may require all known claimants to interplead, either as a defense to an action brought against him for nondelivery of the goods or as an original suit, whichever is appropriate.

See section 460.

300. Carrier has reasonable time to determine validity of claims. If some one other than the consignee or the person in possession of the bill has claim to the title or possession of the goods, and the carrier has information of such claim, the carrier shall be excused from liability for refusing to deliver the goods, either to the consignee or person in possession of the bill or to the adverse claimant, until the carrier has had a reasonable time to ascertain the validity of the adverse claim or to bring legal proceedings to compel all claimants to interplead.

301. Adverse title is no defense except as above provided. Except as provided in the preceding sections of this article, no right or title of a third person, unless enforced by legal process, shall be a defense to an action brought by the consignee of a straight bill or by the holder of an order bill against the carrier for failure to deliver the goods on demand.

302. Carriers not to insert "shipper's load and count" when goods are loaded by carrier. When goods are loaded by a carrier, such carrier shall count the packages of goods, if package freight, and ascertain the kind and quantity, if bulk freight, and such carrier shall not, in such cases, insert in the bill of lading or in any notice, receipt, contract, rule, regulation or tariff, "shipper's weight, load and count," or other words of like purport, indicating that the goods were loaded by the shipper and the description of them made by him or, in case of bulk freight and freight not concealed by packages, the description made by him. If so inserted, contrary to the provisions of this section, said words shall be treated as null and void and as if not inserted therein.

303. Liability for nonreceipt or misdescription of goods loaded by shipper. When package freight or bulk freight is loaded by a shipper and the goods are described in a bill of lading merely by a statement of marks or labels upon them or upon packages containing them, or by a statement that the goods are said to be goods of a certain kind or quantity, or in a certain condition, or it is stated in the bill of lading that packages are said to contain goods of a certain kind or quantity or in a certain condition, or that the contents or condition of the contents of packages are unknown, or words of like purport are contained in the bill of lading, such statements, if true, shall not make liable the carrier issuing the bill of lading, although the goods are not of the kind or quantity or in the condition which the marks or labels upon them indicate, or of the kind or quantity or in the condition they were said to be by the consignor. The carrier may also, by inserting in the bill of lading the words "shipper's weight, load, and count," or other words of like purport, indicate that the goods were loaded by the shipper and the description of them made by him; and, if such statement be true, the carrier shall not be liable for damages caused by the improper loading or by the nonreceipt or by the misdescription of the goods described in the bill of lading. Where the shipper of bulk freight, however, installs and maintains adequate facilities for weighing such freight, and the same are available to the carrier, then the carrier, upon written request of such shipper and when given a reasonable opportunity so to do, shall ascertain the kind and quantity of bulk freight within a reasonable time after such written request, and the carrier shall not in such case insert in the bill of lading the words "shipper's weight," or other words of like purport; and if so inserted contrary to the provisions of this section, said words shall be treated as null and void and as if not inserted therein.

Instance of "shipper's load and count": Peele v. R. R., 149-390.

304. Liability for nonreceipt or misdescription of goods. If a bill of lading has been issued by a carrier, or on his behalf by an agent or employee, the scope of whose actual or apparent authority includes the receiving of goods and issuing bills of lading therefor for transportation in commerce among several states and with foreign nations, the carrier shall be liable to—

1. The owner of goods covered by a straight bill, subject to existing right of stoppage in transit; or

2. The holder of an order bill, who has given value in good faith, relying upon the description therein of the goods, for damages caused by the nonreceipt by the carrier of all or part of the goods or their failure to correspond with the description thereof in the bill at the time of its issue.

This changes the rule laid down in Williams, Black & Co. v. R. R., 93-42; Peele v. R. R., 149-390; Bank v. R. R., 175-415.

305. Attachment or levy upon goods for which an order bill has been issued. If goods are delivered to a carrier by the owner or by a person whose act in conveying the title to them to a purchaser for value in good faith would bind the owner, and an order bill is issued for them, they cannot thereafter, while in the possession of the carrier, be attached by garnishment or otherwise or be levied upon under an execution unless the bill be first surrendered to the carrier or its negotiation enjoined. The carrier shall in no such case be compelled to deliver the actual possession of the goods until the bill is surrendered to him or impounded by the court.

306. Creditor's remedy to reach order bills. A creditor whose debtor is the owner of an order bill shall be entitled to such aid from courts of appropriate jurisdiction, by injunction and otherwise, in attaching such bill or in satisfying the claim by means thereof as is allowed at law or in equity in regard to property which cannot readily be attached or levied upon by ordinary legal process.

307. Lien for charges under order bill. If an order bill is issued the carrier shall have a lien on the goods therein mentioned for all charges on those goods for freight, storage, demurrage and terminal charges, and expenses necessary for the preservation of the goods or incident to their transportation subsequent to the date of the bill and all other charges incurred in transportation and delivery, unless the bill expressly enumerates other charges for which a lien is claimed. In such case there shall also be a lien for the charges enumerated so far as they are allowed by law and the contract between the consignor and the carrier.

308. Effect of sale. After goods have been lawfully sold to satisfy a carrier's lien, or because they have not been claimed, or because they are perishable or hazardous, the carrier shall not thereafter be liable for failure to deliver the goods themselves to the consignee or owner of the goods, or to a holder of the bill given for the goods when they were shipped, even if such bill be an order bill.
1919, c. 65, s. 26.

ART. 4. NEGOTIATION AND TRANSFER OF BILLS

309. Negotiation of order bills by delivery. An order bill may be negotiated by delivery where, by the terms of the bill, the carrier undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of a specified person, and such person or a subsequent indorsee of the bill has indorsed it in blank.
1919, c. 65, s. 27.

310. Negotiation of order bills by indorsement. An order bill may be negotiated by the indorsement of the person to whose order the goods are deliverable by the tenor of the bill. Such indorsement may be in blank or to a specified person. If indorsed to a specified person, it may be negotiated again by the indorsement of such person in blank or to another specified person. Subsequent negotiation may be made in like manner.
1919, c. 65, s. 28.

311. Transfer of bills. A bill may be transferred by the holder by delivery, accompanied with an agreement, express or implied, to transfer the title to the bill or to the goods represented thereby. A straight bill cannot be negotiated free from existing equities, and the indorsement of such a bill gives the transferee no additional right.
1919, c. 65, s. 29.

312. Who may negotiate a bill. An order bill may be negotiated by any person in possession of the same, however such possession may have been acquired, if by the terms of the bill the carrier undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of such person, or if at the time of negotiation the bill is in such form that it may be negotiated by delivery.
1919, c. 65, s. 30.

313. Rights of person to whom a bill has been negotiated. A person to whom an order bill has been duly negotiated acquires thereby—

1. Such title to the goods as the person negotiating the bill to him had or had ability to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value, and also such title to the goods as the consignee and consignor had or had power to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value; and

2. The direct obligation of the carrier to hold possession of the goods for him according to the terms of the bill as fully as if the carrier had contracted directly with him.

314. Rights of person to whom a bill has been transferred. A person to whom a bill has been transferred, but not negotiated, acquires thereby as against the transferor the title to the goods, subject to the terms of any agreement with the transferor. If the bill is a straight bill, such person also acquires the right to notify the carrier of the transfer to him of such bill, and thereby to become the direct obligee of whatever obligations the carrier owed to the transferor of the bill immediately before the notification.

Prior to the notification of the carrier by the transferor or transferee of a straight bill, the title of the transferee to the goods and the right to acquire the obligation of the carrier may be defeated by garnishment or by attachment or execution upon the goods by a creditor of the transferor, or by a notification to the carrier by the transferor or a subsequent purchaser from the transferor of a subsequent sale of the goods by the transferor.

A carrier has not received notification within the meaning of this section unless an officer or agent of the carrier, the actual or apparent scope of whose duties includes action upon such a notification, has been notified; and no notification shall be effective until the officer or agent to whom it is given has had time, with the exercise of reasonable diligence, to communicate with the agent or agents having actual possession or control of the goods.

315. Transfer of negotiable bill without indorsement. Where an order bill is transferred for value by delivery, and the indorsement of the transferor is essential for negotiation, the transferee acquires a right against the transferor to compel him to indorse the bill, unless a contrary intention appears. The negotiation shall take effect as of the time when the indorsement is actually made. This obligation may be specifically enforced.

1919, c. 65, s. 33.

316. Warranties on sale of bill. A person who negotiates or transfers for value a bill by indorsement or delivery, unless a contrary intention appears, warrants—

1. That the bill is genuine;
2. That he has a legal right to transfer it;
3. That he has knowledge of no fact which would impair the validity or worth of the bill;
4. That he has a right to transfer the title to the goods, and that the goods are merchantable or fit for a particular purpose whenever such warranties would have been implied if the contract of the parties had been to transfer without a bill the goods represented thereby.

1919, c. 65, s. 34.

317. Indorser not a guarantor. The indorsement of a bill shall not make the indorser liable for any failure on the part of the carrier or previous indorser of the bill to fulfill their respective obligations.

1919, c. 65, s. 35.

318. No warranty implied from accepting payment of a debt. A mortgagee or pledgee or other holder of a bill for security who in good faith demands or receives payment of the debt for which such bill is security, whether from a party to a draft drawn for such debt, or from any other person, shall not be deemed by so doing to represent or warrant the genuineness of such bill or the quantity or quality of the goods therein described.

See Mason v. Cotton Co., 148-492; overruling Finch v. Gregg, 126-176.

319. When negotiation not impaired by fraud, accident, mistake, duress or conversion. The validity of the negotiation of a bill is not impaired by the fact that such negotiation was a breach of duty on the part of the person making the negotiation, or by the fact that the owner of the bill was deprived of the possession of the same by fraud, accident, mistake, duress, loss, theft or conversion, if the person to whom the bill was negotiated, or a person to whom the bill was subsequently negotiated, gave value therefor in good faith, without notice of the breach of duty, or fraud, accident, mistake, duress, loss, theft, or conversion.

320. Subsequent negotiation. Where a person, having sold, mortgaged or pledged goods which are in a carrier's possession and for which an order bill has been issued, or, having sold, mortgaged, or pledged the order bill representing such goods, continues in possession of the order bill, the subsequent negotiation thereof by that person under any sale, pledge, or other disposition thereof to any person receiving the same in good faith for value and without notice of the previous sale, shall have the same effect as if the first purchaser of the goods or bill had expressly authorized the subsequent negotiation.

321. Negotiation defeats vendor's lien. Where an order bill has been issued for goods no seller's lien or right of stoppage in transit shall defeat the rights of any purchaser for value in good faith to whom such bill has been negotiated, whether such negotiation be prior or subsequent to the notification to the carrier who issued such bill of the seller's claim to a lien or right of stoppage in transit. Nor shall the carrier be obliged to deliver or be justified in delivering the goods to an unpaid seller unless such bill is first surrendered for cancellation.

322. When rights and remedies under mortgages and liens are not limited. Except as provided in the preceding section, nothing in this chapter shall limit the rights and remedies of a mortgagee or lien holder whose mortgage or lien on goods would be valid, apart from this chapter, as against one who for value and in good faith purchased from the owner, immediately prior to the time of their delivery to the carrier, the goods which are subject to the mortgage or lien, and obtained possession of them.

ART. 5. CRIMINAL OFFENSES

323. Issuing false bills or violating chapter made felony. Any person who knowingly, or with intent to defraud, falsely makes, alters, forges, counterfeits, prints or photographs any bill of lading purporting to represent goods received for shipment in this state, or with intent utters or publishes as true and genuine any such falsely altered, forged, counterfeited, falsely printed or photographed bill of lading, knowing it to be falsely altered, forged, counterfeited, falsely printed or photographed, or aids in making, altering, forging, counterfeiting, printing, or photographing, or uttering or publishing the same, or issues or aids in issuing or procuring the issue of, or negotiates or transfers for value a bill which contains a false statement as to the receipt of the goods, or as to any other matter, or who, with intent to defraud, violates or fails to comply with, or aids in any violation of, or failure to comply with any provision of this chapter, shall be guilty of a felony and, upon conviction, shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or both.

ART. 1. OFFICIAL BONDS

324. Irregularities not to invalidate. When any instrument is taken by or received under the sanction of the board of county commissioners, or by any person or persons acting under or in virtue of any public authority, purporting to be a bond executed to the state for the performance of any duty belonging to any office or appointment, such instrument, notwithstanding any irregularity or invalidity in the conferring of the office or making of the appointment, or any variance in the penalty or condition of the instrument from the provision prescribed by law, shall be valid and may be put in suit in the name of the state for the benefit of the person injured by a breach of the condition thereof, in the same manner as if the office had been duly conferred or the appointment duly made, and as if the penalty and condition of the instrument had conformed to the provisions of law: Provided, that no action shall be sustained thereon because of a breach of any condition thereof or any part of the condition thereof which is contrary to law.

Rev., s. 279; Code, s. 1891; R. C., c. 78, s. 9; 1842, c. 61; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 16.

Purpose of section stated: Comrs. v. Magnin, 86-286. Official bond not in accordance with statute good as a voluntary bond: Governor v. Witherspoon, 10-42. Guardian bond, sureties claiming it was not complete, see Rollins v. Ebbs, 138-140; overruling Rollins v. Ebbs, 137-355. Where guardian was appointed by court of which he was acting justice: Barnes v. Lewis, 73-138. Treasurer's bond, awkward statement of condition as to school tax in, see Comrs. v. Magnin, 86-286. Constable's bond, where a delivery was denied: Greensboro v. Scott, 84-188—where condition did not state the term, Shipman v. McMinn, 60-122—where blank for constable's name not filled out, Grier v. Hill, 51-572. Sheriff's bond, where kind of taxes misstated, see Comrs. v. Sutton, 120-298—where taxes for building fences were made payable to one other than county treasurer, Speight v. Staton, 104-44. Failure to register constable's bond does not invalidate: Warren v. Boyd, 120-57. Section referred to in Prairie v. Jenkins, 75-545; Barnes v. Lewis, 73-138; Hoell v. Cobb, 49-259; State v. Jones, 29-359; State v. McMinns, 29-344; State v. Pool, 27-105.

325. Penalty for officer acting without bond. Every person or officer of whom an official bond is required, who presumes to discharge any duty of his office before executing such bond in the manner prescribed by law, is liable to a forfeiture of five hundred dollars to the use of the state for each attempt so to exercise his office.

What amounts to discharging duty as officer, discussed in Hoell v. Cobb, 49-259; Mabry v. Turrentine, 30-201; Burke v. Elliott, 26-355; Gilliam v. Reddick, 26-368; State v. McEntyre, 25-171.

326. Condition and term of official bonds. Every clerk, treasurer, sheriff, coroner, register of deeds, surveyor, and every other officer of the several counties who is required by law to give a bond for the faithful performance of the duties of his office, shall give a bond for the term of the office to which such officers are chosen, respectively.

Rev., s. 308; Code, s. 1874; 1869-70, c. 169; 1876-7, c. 275, s. 5; 1895, c. 207, s. 4; 1899, c. 54, s. 54.

Sheriff must give all three bonds before being inducted into office: Dixon v. Comrs., 80-118; Worley v. Smith, 81-304; Bray v. Barnard, 109-44.

327. Annual examination of bonds; keeping good; increase. The bonds shall be carefully examined on the first Monday in December of every year, and if it appears that the security has been impaired, or for any cause become insufficient to cover the amount of money or property or to secure the faithful performance of the duties of the office, then the bond shall be renewed or strengthened, the insufficient security increased within the limits herein prescribed, and the impaired security shall be made good; but no renewal, or strengthening, or additional security shall increase the penalty of said bond beyond the limits herein prescribed for the term of office.

Rev., s. 308; Code, s. 1874; 1869-70, c. 169; 1876-7, c. 275, s. 5; 1895, c. 207, s. 4; 1899, c. 54, s. 54.

Commissioners cannot release sureties on sheriff's bond: Fid. Co. v. Fleming, 132-332.

328. Effect of failure to renew bond. Upon the failure of any such officer to make such renewal of his bond, it is the duty of the board of commissioners, by an order to be entered of record, to declare his office vacant, and to proceed forthwith to appoint a successor, if the power of filling the vacancy in the particular case is vested in the board of commissioners; but if otherwise, the said board shall immediately inform the proper person having the power of appointment of the fact of such vacancy.

Cases of failure to give first bond: Cole v. Patterson, 97-360; Kilburn v. Latham, 81-312; Worley v. Smith, 81-304; Dixon v. Comrs., 80-118. Upon failure to give or renew bond, office declared vacant: Bray v. Barnard, 109-44; Kilburn v. Latham, 81-312; Worley v. Smith, 81-304; People v. Green, 75-329—but sheriff cannot be deprived of his office without a day in court, Vann v. Pipkin, 77-408.

329. Justification of sureties. Every surety on an official bond required by law to be taken or renewed and approved by the board of commissioners shall take and subscribe an oath before the chairman of the board or some person authorized by law to administer an oath, that he is worth a certain sum (which shall be not less than one thousand dollars) over and above all his debts and liabilities and his homestead and personal property exemptions, and the sum thus sworn to shall in no case be less in the aggregate than the penalty of the bond. But nothing herein shall be construed to abridge the power of the said board of commissioners to require the personal presence of any such surety before the board when the bond is offered, or at such subsequent time as the board may fix, for examination as to his financial condition or other qualifications as surety.

Rev., s. 310; Code, s. 1876; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 3; 1879, c. 207; 1889, c. 7; 1891, c. 385; 1901, c. 32.

Sureties are liable equally and not in proportion to amount of their justification: Comrs. v. Dorsett, 151-307. Cited in Cole v. Patterson, 97-365. Failure of sheriff to respond to summons to justify, effect: People v. Green, 75-329.

330. Action against officer to compel justification; office vacated; successor appointed. When oath is made before any judge of the superior court by five respectable citizens of any county within his district that after diligent inquiry made they verily believe that the bond of any officer of such county, which has been accepted by the board of commissioners, is insufficient either in the amount of the penalty or in the ability of the sureties, it is the duty of such judge to cause a notice to be served upon such officer requiring him to appear at some stated time and place and justify his bond by evidence other than that of himself or his sureties. If this evidence so produced fails to satisfy the judge that the bond is sufficient, both in amount and the ability of the sureties, he shall give time to the officer, not exceeding twenty days, to give another bond, the judge fixing the amount of the new bond, when there is a deficiency in that particular. And upon failure to give a good bond to the satisfaction of the judge within the twenty days, he shall declare the office vacant, and if the appointment be with himself, he shall immediately proceed to fill the vacancy; and if not, he shall notify the persons having the appointing power that they may proceed as aforesaid.

Proceeding as to clerk: Mitchell v. West, 74-485; as to sheriff, Mitchell v. Hubbs, 74-484; as to treasurer, Mitchell v. Kilburn, 74-483.

331. Successor to give bond; official bonds to be liabilities. The person so appointed shall give bond before the judge, and the bond so given shall in all respects be subject to the requirements of the law in relation to official bonds; and all official bonds shall be considered debts and liabilities.

Rev., s. 317; Code, s. 1886; 1874-5, c. 120, s. 2.

See section 354 for actions on official bonds.

332. Judge to file statement of proceedings with commissioners. When a vacancy is declared by the judge, he shall file a written statement of all his proceedings with the clerk of the board of commissioners, to be recorded by him.

Rev., s. 318; Code, s. 1887; 1874-5, c. 120, s. 3.

333. Approval, acknowledgment and custody of bonds. The approval of all official bonds taken or renewed by the board of commissioners shall be recorded by their clerk. Every such bond shall be acknowledged by the parties thereto or proved by a subscribing witness, before the chairman of the board of commissioners, or before the clerk of the superior court, registered in the register's office in a separate book to be kept for the registration of official bonds, and the original bond, with the approval of the commissioners endorsed thereon and certified by their chairman, shall be deposited with the clerk of the superior court, except the bond of said clerk, which shall be deposited with the register of deeds, for safe keeping.

334. Votes of commissioners on approval recorded; penalty. It is the duty of the clerk of the board of commissioners to record in the proceedings of the board the names of those commissioners who are present at the time of the approval of any official bond, and who vote for such approval. Every clerk neglecting to make such record, besides other punishment, shall forfeit his office. Any commissioner may cause his written dissent to be entered on the records of the board.

Rev., s. 312; Code, ss. 1878, 1881; 1869-70, c. 169, ss. 5, 8; R. C., c. 78, s. 7; 1790, c. 327; 1809, c. 777.

335. When commissioner liable as surety. Every commissioner who approves an official bond, which he knows to be, or which by reasonable diligence he could have discovered to have been, insufficient in the penal sum, or in the security thereof, shall be liable as if he were a surety thereto, and may be sued accordingly by any person having a cause of action on said bond.

Cited in Cole v. Patterson, 97-365.

336. Record of board conclusive as to facts stated. In all actions under the preceding section a copy of the proceedings of the board of commissioners in the particular case, certified by their clerk under his hand and the seal of the county, is conclusive evidence of the facts in such record alleged and set forth.

Rev., s. 314; Code, s. 1881; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 8.

337. Person required to approve bond not to be surety. No member of the board of commissioners, or any other person authorized to take official bonds, shall sign as surety on any official bond upon the sufficiency of which the board of which he is a member may have to pass.

Rev., s. 315; Code, s. 1887; 1874-5, c. 120, s. 3.

ART. 2. BONDS IN SURETY COMPANY

338. State officers may be bonded in surety company. All persons who are required to give bond to the state of North Carolina to be received by the governor or by any department of the state government, in lieu of personal security, may give as security for said bond and for the performance of the duties named in the said bond any indemnity or guaranty company authorized to do business in the state of North Carolina, subject to such regulations as the governor or department may prescribe, and with power in them to demand additional security at any time. Any person presenting any indemnity or guaranty company as surety shall accompany his bond with a statement of the insurance commissioner as to the condition of such company as required by law.

Rev., s. 272; 1901, c. 754.

NOTE. For certificate of solvency and insolvency of surety companies, see Insurance, s. 6379.

For construction of surety bonds, see Blades v. Dewey, 136-176; Bank of Tarboro v. Fid. Co., 128-366. What is reasonable notice to a surety company of default: Bank of Tarboro v. Fid. Dep. Co., 128-366. In action on bond, where burden of proof rests: Bank v. Fidelity Co., 126-320.

339. Surety company sufficient surety on bonds and undertakings. A bond or undertaking by the laws of North Carolina required or permitted to be given by a public official, fiduciary, or a party to an action or proceeding, conditioned for the doing or not doing of an act specified therein, shall be sufficient when it is executed or guaranteed by a corporation authorized in this state to act as guardian or trustee, or to guarantee the fidelity of persons holding places of public or private trust, or to guarantee the performance of contracts, other than insurance policies, or to give or guarantee bonds and undertakings in actions or proceedings.

The bond or undertaking of a corporation having such power shall be sufficient, although the law or regulation in accordance with which it is given requires two or more sureties, or requires the sureties to be residents or freeholders. But the clerk of the superior court may exercise his discretion as to accepting such a corporation's surety on the bonds of fiduciaries or parties to actions or proceedings.

Rev., s. 273; 1895, c. 270; 1899, c. 54, s. 45; 1901, c. 706.

340. Clerk to notify county commissioners of condition of company. Each clerk of the superior court shall furnish the chairman of the board of county commissioners of his county with notice of each surety company licensed in this state, and of each surety company whose license has been revoked, in which any officer of the county has been bonded.

Rev., ss. 295, 4803.

341. Release of company from liability. A company executing such bond, obligation or undertaking, may be released from its liability or security on the same terms as are or may be by law prescribed for the release of individuals upon any such bonds, obligations or undertakings.

Rev., s. 274; 1899, c. 54, s. 48.

Surety company can only be released by getting off of bond: Bank of Tarboro v. Fid. and Dep. Co., 128-366. County commissioners cannot release surety on sheriff's bond: Fidelity Co. v. Fleming, 132-332.

342. Company not to plead ultra vires. Any company which executes any bond, obligation or undertaking under the provisions of this article is estopped, in any proceeding to enforce the liability which it assumes to incur, to deny its corporate power to execute such instrument or assume such liability.

Rev., s. 275; 1899, c. 54, s. 49; 1901, c. 706, s. 1, subsec. 5.

343. Failure to pay judgment is forfeiture. If a surety company against which a judgment is recovered fails to discharge the same within sixty days from the time such final judgment is rendered, it shall forfeit its right to do business in this state, and the insurance commissioner shall cancel its license.

Rev., s. 275; 1901, c. 706, s. 1, subsec. 5.

344. On presentation of proper bond officer to be inducted. Upon presentation to the person authorized by law to take, accept and file official bonds, of any bond duly executed in the penal sum required by law by the officer chosen to any such office, as principal, and by any surety company, as security thereto, whose insurance or guaranty is accepted as security upon the bonds of United States bonded officials (such insurance company having complied with the insurance laws of the state of North Carolina), or by any other good and sufficient security thereto, such bond shall be received and accepted as sufficient, and the principal thereon shall be inducted into office.

Rev., s. 276; 1899, c. 54, s. 53; 1901, c. 706, s. 1, subsec. 5.

345. Expense of fiduciary bond charged to fund. A receiver, assignee, trustee, committee, guardian, executor or administrator, or other fiduciary required by law to give a bond as such, may include as part of his lawful expenses such sums paid to such companies for such suretyship not exceeding one-half of one per cent per annum on the account of such bonds as the clerk, judge or court may allow.

Rev., s. 277; 1901, c. 706, s. 1, subsec. 5.

NOTE. For requisites for surety companies to be accepted as bondsmen, see Insurance, Art. 11.

ART. 3. MORTGAGE IN LIEU OF BOND

346. Mortgage in lieu of bond required to be given. An administrator, executor, guardian, collector or receiver, or an officer required to give an official bond, or the agent or surety of such person or officer, may execute a mortgage on real estate, of the value of the bond required to be given by him to the state of North Carolina, conditioned to the same effect as the bond should be, were the same given, with a power of sale, which power of sale may be executed by the clerk of the superior court, with whom said mortgage shall be deposited, upon a breach of any of the conditions of said mortgage, after advertisement for thirty days.

Administrator cannot give mortgage on lands of intestate of whom he is heir: In re Sellars, 118-573.

347. Mortgage in lieu of security for appearance, costs, or fine. Any person required to give a bond or undertaking, or required to enter into a recognizance for his appearance at any court, in any criminal proceeding, or for the security of any costs or fine in any criminal action, may also execute a mortgage on real or personal property of the value of such bond or recognizance, payable to the state of North Carolina, conditioned as such bond or recognizance would be required, with power of sale, which power shall be executed by the clerk or justice of the peace in whose court said mortgage is executed, upon a breach of any of the conditions of said mortgage.

Where such mortgage upon real property is executed before a justice of the peace the power of sale shall be enforced by the clerk of the court of the county in which the criminal proceeding is had.

No such mortgage on real property executed for the security for costs or fine shall allow a longer time for payment of said costs or fine than six months from the execution thereof, and no mortgage on personal property a longer time than three months, except in cases of appeal, when the time allowed shall be counted from the date of the final decision in the cause.

All legitimate expenses of sale, which shall only be made after due advertisement according to law, shall be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of the mortgaged property, as shall also the following fees, to wit: For each sale of real property mortgaged under this section the clerk shall receive two dollars, and for each sale of personal property mortgaged under this section the clerk or justice of the peace who enforces the power of sale shall receive one dollar.

Rev., s. 266; Code, s. 120; 1874-5, c. 103, s. 3; 1891, c. 425, ss. 1, 2, 3.

The clerk may exercise power of sale or obtain order of court: Clark v. Fairly, 175-342. Mortgage given may be foreclosed by motion, upon notice, in original action: Ryan v. Martin, 103-282. This section has no application in justices' courts: Comron v. Standland, 103-207. Kind of mortgage necessary to comply with statute: Eshon v. Comrs., 95-75. Referred to in State v. Jenkins, 121-642.

348. Cancellation of mortgage in such proceedings. Any mortgage given by any person in lieu of bond or undertaking or recognizance for his appearance at any court in any criminal proceeding, or for the security of any cost or fine in a criminal action, which has been registered, when the party made his appearance at the court to which he was bound and did not depart the court without leave, or paid the cost or fine required, may be canceled or discharged by the clerk of the court of the county where such action was pending by entry of "satisfaction" upon the margin of the record where such mortgage is recorded, in the presence of the register of deeds or his deputy, who shall subscribe his name as a witness thereto, and such release shall have the effect to discharge and release all the right, title and interest of the state of North Carolina in and to the property described in such mortgage.

349. Clerk of court may give surety by mortgage deposited with register. In all cases where the clerk of the superior court may be required to give surety, he may deposit a mortgage with the register of deeds, payable to the state, and conditioned, as the bond would have been required, with power of sale. The power of sale shall be executed by the register of deeds, upon a breach of any of the conditions of said mortgage; and the register of deeds shall in all cases immediately register the same, at the expense of the said clerk.

Rev., s. 268; Code, s. 122; 1874-5, c. 103, s. 6.

350. Mortgage in lieu of bond to prosecute or defend in civil case. It is lawful for any person desiring to commence any civil action or special proceeding, or to defend the same, his agent or surety, to execute a mortgage on real estate of the value of the bond or undertaking required to be given, at the beginning of said action, or at any stage thereof, to the party to whom the bond or undertaking would be required to be made, conditioned to the same effect as such bond or undertaking, with power of sale, which power of sale may be executed upon a breach of any of the conditions of the said mortgage after advertisement for thirty days.

Rev., s. 269; Code, s. 117; 1874-5, c. 103, s. 1.

This section does not require, but simply allows, defendant to execute mortgage: Wilson v. Fowler, 104-471—and has no application in justice's court, Comron v. Standland, 103-207. Whether can be given in lieu of appeal undertaking discussed in Eshon v. Comrs., 95-75.

351. Affidavit of value of property required. In all cases where a mortgage is executed, as hereinbefore permitted, it is the duty of the clerk of the court in which it is executed, or of the justice, to require an affidavit of the value of the property mortgaged to be made by at least one witness not interested in the matter, action or proceeding in which the mortgage is given.

Rev., s. 270; Code, s. 121; 1874-5, c. 103, s. 4.

352. When additional security required. If, from any cause, the property mortgaged in lieu of a bond becomes of less value than the amount of the bond in lieu of which the mortgage is given, and it so appears upon affidavit of any person having any interest in the matter as a security for which the mortgage was given, it is the duty of the mortgagor to give additional security by a deposit of money, or the execution of a mortgage on more property, or justify as required in cases where bond or undertaking is given.

Rev., s. 271; Code, s. 119; 1874-5, c. 103, s. 5.

ART. 4. ACTIONS ON BONDS

353. Bonds in actions payable to court officer to be sued on in name of state. Bonds and other obligations taken in the course of any proceeding at law, under the direction of the court, and payable to any clerk, commissioner, or officer of the court, for the benefit of the suitors in the cause, or others having an interest in such obligation, may be put in suit in the name of the state.

Merely referred to in Lackey v. Pearson, 101-655; Cotten, ex parte, 62-82.

354. On official bonds injured party sues in name of state; successive suits. Every person injured by the neglect, misconduct, or misbehavior in office of any clerk of the superior court, register, entry-taker, surveyor, sheriff, coroner, constable, county treasurer, or other officer may institute a suit or suits against said officer or any of them and their sureties upon their respective bonds for the due performance of their duties in office in the name of the state, without any assignment thereof; and no such bond shall become void upon the first recovery, or if judgment is given for the defendant, but may be put in suit and prosecuted from time to time until the whole penalty is recovered; and every such officer and the sureties on his official bond shall be liable to the person injured for all acts done by said officer by virtue or under color of his office.

Rev., s. 281; Code, s. 1883; R. C., c. 78, s. 1; 1793, c. 384, s. 1; 1833, c. 17; 1825, c. 9; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 10.

THIS SECTION GENERALLY CONSTRUED. It enlarges scope of official bonds: Kivett v. Young, 106-567. Construction of words 'by virtue or under color of his office': Daniel v. Grizzard, 117-105; Smith v. Patton, 131-397; Thomas v. Connelly, 104-342; Cassidy, ex parte, 95-225; Greenlee v. Sudderth, 65-470; Broughton v. Haywood, 61-380.

BONDS CUMULATIVE. Bonds of officers given from time to time during term are cumulative: Fidelity Co. v. Fleming, 132-332; Dixon v. Comrs., 80-118; Pickens v. Miller, 83-543; Moore v. Boudinot, 64-190; Bell v. Jasper, 37-597; Poole v. Cox, 31-69.

LIABILITY ON OFFICIAL BONDS. Even though he may not be liable on bond he may be personally liable: Holt v. McLean, 75-346. Where after giving bond, new duties are added to office by statute, effect on liability: Daniel v. Grizzard, 117-110; County Bd. Education v. Bateman, 102-52; Prairie v. Worth, 78-169; State v. Bradshaw, 32-229. The bond of a public officer is liable for money that comes into his hands as an insurer and not merely for exercise of good faith: Smith v. Patton, 131-396; Presson v. Boone, 108-78; Bd. Education v. Bateman, 102-52; Morgan v. Smith, 95-396; Havens v. Lathene, 75-505; Bd. Comrs. v. Clarke, 73-257, and cases therein cited.

RELATOR IN ACTIONS ON BOND. On sheriff's bond, for school taxes: Comrs. v. Sutton, 120-298; Comrs. v. Magnin, 86-286—for county taxes, Comrs. v. Clarke, 73-255—for illegal levy and sale; Cook v. Smith, 119-350—for costs collected by sheriff and not paid to clerk, Jackson v. Maultsby, 78-174. On treasurer's bond, for school money: Comrs. v. Magnin, 86-286—for money due the county, Wescott v. Thees, 89-55. On register's bond for wrongly issuing marriage license: Furr v. Johnson, 140-157; Joyner v. Roberts, 112-111; and cases cited under section 2503. Clerk's bond, for proceeds of partition sale: Smith v. Patton, 131-396—for records, money, etc., not turned over to successor, Peebles v. Boone, 116-57. Constable's bond, for negligence in not collecting debt: Chiple v. Albea, 53-204; State v. Corpening, 32-58; Governor v. Deaver, 25-56; State v. Lightfoot, 24-306. Surety cannot bring action as relator against cosureties for default of principal: Sanders v. Bean, 44-318. Relator is real party in interest, and miscalling his name will not impair his right: Warrenton v. Arrington, 101-109. No abatement of action when relator dies: Davenport v. McKee, 98-500.

ACTION ON OFFICIAL BONDS GENERALLY. Bonds made payable to state must be sued on in name of state: Carmichael v. Moore, 88-29; Williams v. McNair, 98-336; Norman v. Walker, 101-24. Plaintiff can sue all or one obligor in bond: Guess v. Barbee, 28-279. Misjoinder of parties plaintiff not fatal: Warrenton v. Arrington, 101-109. How bonds put in evidence: Short v. Currie, 53-42. Justice's jurisdiction as to actions on bonds discussed in Fell v. Porter, 69-140; Bryan v. Rousseau, 71-194. Obligor in bond payable to beneficiary cannot defend on ground that it was not made payable to state: Warrenton v. Arrington, 101-109—nor on ground that their names were not inserted in instrument, Howell v. Parsons, 89-230. In action against sureties on several bonds, how judgment entered: Davenport v. McKee, 98-500. Sureties are equally liable on the judgment and not in proportion to amount justified to: Comrs. v. Dorsett, 151-307. Actions brought until penalty exhausted: State v. McAlpin, 28-347. What evidence against principal admissible against sureties, see section 358. Is demand necessary before action brought: Furman v. Timberlake, 93-66; Little v. Richardson, 51-305; Kivett v. Massey, 63-240; Potter v. Sturges, 12-79; White v. Miller, 20-50; Wills v. Sugg, 25-96; State v. McIntosh, 31-307. Statute of limitations bars action in six years: Comrs. v. McRae, 89-95; see, also, section 439. Cases referring to but not construing section: Daniel v. Grizzard, 117-108; Peebles v. Boone, 116-57; Fell v. Porter, 69-140.

For actions on bond of sheriff, see section 3930—of clerk, see section 928—of county treasurer, see section 1388—of register of deeds, see section 3545—of constable, see section 973.

355. Complaint must show party in interest; election to sue officer individually. Any person who brings suit in manner aforesaid shall state in his complaint on whose relation and in whose behalf the suit is brought, and he shall be entitled to receive to his own use the money recovered; but nothing herein contained shall prevent such person from bringing at his election an action against the officer to recover special damages for his injury.

Rev., s. 282; Code, s. 1884; R. C., c. 78, s. 2; 1793, c. 384, ss. 2, 3; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 11.

Pleadings should set forth parties interested: Kerlee v. Corpening, 97-330. Following cases casually touch upon subject matter: Peebles v. Boone, 116-57; Joyner v. Roberts, 112-111; Fagan v. Williamson, 53-433.

356. Summary remedy on official bond. When a sheriff, coroner, constable, clerk, county or town treasurer, or other officer, collects or receives any money by virtue or under color of his office, and on demand fails to pay the same to the person entitled to require the payment thereof, the person thereby aggrieved may move for judgment in the superior court against such officer and his sureties for any sum demanded; and the court shall try the same and render judgment at the term when the motion shall be made, but ten days notice in writing of the motion must have been previously given.

Rev., s. 283; Code, s. 1889; R. C., c. 78, s. 5; 1819, c. 1002; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 14; 1876-7, c. 41, s. 2.

This section only gives summary remedy to person who is himself entitled to funds: O'Leary v. Harrison, 51-338. Justice's jurisdiction under this section: Fell v. Porter, 69-140; Bryan v. Rousseau, 71-194. Referred to in Lackey v. Pearson, 101-654; Smith v. Moore, 79-86; Guess v. Barbee, 28-279. For annotations as to clerk's bond, see section 928—county treasurer's, see section 1388—sheriff's, section 3930—register of deeds', section 3545—constable's, section 973.

357. Officer unlawfully detaining money liable for damages. When money received as aforesaid is unlawfully detained by any of said officers, and the same is sued for in any mode whatever, the plaintiff is entitled to recover, besides the sum detained, damages at the rate of twelve per centum per annum from the time of detention until payment.

Rev., s. 284; Code, s. 1890; R. C., c. 78, s. 9; 1819, c. 1002, s. 2; 1868-9, c. 169.

There must be some default on part of officer: Hannah v. Hyatt, 170-634. Cases referring casually to section: Presson v. Boone, 108-87; Gregory v. Morisey, 79-559; State v. Allen, 27-36.

358. Evidence against principal admissible against sureties. In actions brought upon the official bonds of clerks of courts, sheriffs, coroners, constables, or other public officers, and also upon the bonds of executors, administrators, collectors or guardians, when it may be necessary for the plaintiff to prove any default of the principal obligors, any receipt or acknowledgment of such obligors, or any other matter or thing which by law would be admissible and competent for or toward proving the same as against him, shall in like manner be admissible and competent as presumptive evidence only against all or any of his sureties who may be defendants with or without him in said actions.

Judgment against principal fixes prima facie amount of liability of surety: Ins. Co. v. Bonding Co., 162-384; McNeill v. Currie, 117-346; Brown v. Pike, 74-531; Moore v. Alexander, 96-36; Morgan v. Smith, 95-396. Admissions by sheriff evidence as against sureties, when: State v. Woodside, 30-104. Record of sheriff's settlements as evidence against sureties on bond: Davenport v. McKee, 98-500. This section held not to apply in action on indemnity bond of sheriff for tort: Martin v. Buffalo, 128-305. Annual account of guardian presumptive evidence against sureties on bond: Loftin v. Cobb, 126-58; Armistead v. Harra-mond, 11-339. Cited in Lewis v. Fort, 75-253; Speer v. James, 94-424.

359. Officer liable for negligence in collecting debt. When a claim is placed in the hands of any sheriff, coroner or constable for collection, and he does not use due diligence in collecting the same, he shall be liable for the full amount of the claim notwithstanding the debtor may have been at all times and is then able to pay the amount thereof.

Rev., s. 286; Code, s. 1888; R. C., c. 78, s. 3; 1844, c. 64; 1869-70, c. 169, s. 12.

NOTE. For particular classes of bonds allowed as investments to fiduciaries, see Trustees, s. 4018.

See sections 3930 and 973 and annotations thereunder. This section only applies to such claims as are within magistrate's jurisdiction: Brunhild v. Potter, 107-416; McLaurin v. Buchanan, 60-91; Ellis v. Long, 30-515; State v. Long, 29-379. Sixteen days delay in collecting held to be negligence, when: Nixon v. Bagby, 52-4. Cases against sheriff: Brunhild v. Potter, 107-416; McLaurin v. Buchanan, 60-91; State v. Allen, 27-36—against constable: State v. Galbraith, 65-409; Lipscomb v. Cheek, 61-332; Nixon v. Bagby, 52-4; Dunton v. Doxey, 52-222; State v. Wall, 31-20; Chiple v. Albea, 53-204; Morgan v. Horne, 44-25; State v. Stephens, 25-92; Wills v. Sugg, 25-96. Claim remaining in constable's hands during two successive terms of office, which bond sued on, see State v. Wall, 31-20. Officer is agent of creditor: State v. Wall, 31-20; Williams v. Williamson, 28-281. Constable taking claims for collection that are in magistrate's jurisdiction, presumption is that he takes them as constable: Dunton v. Doxey, 52-222. Degree of diligence required of constable under this section: Morgan v. Horne, 44-25; Hearn v. Parker, 52-150.

ART. 5. BOND-ISSUING DISTRICTS INCORPORATED

360. Various districts issuing bonds incorporated. The inhabitants of every road district, special road district, school district, graded school district, or other district, in the name of which, or on behalf of which, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness are authorized by law to be issued, shall, for all purposes relating to the issuance or payment of such bonds or other evidences of indebtedness, constitute a body politic and corporate under the name given by law to such district; and all such bonds or other evidences of indebtedness hereafter issued shall be obligations of such corporation. The board or body authorized by law to issue such bonds or other evidences of indebtedness may adopt a seal for such corporation, and shall, except as otherwise provided by law, have and exercise all the powers and perform all the duties of such corporation relating to the issuance or payment of such bonds or other evidences of indebtedness. This article shall not apply to any notes or bonds heretofore issued.

BOUNDARIES

- 361. Special proceedings to establish.
- 362. Occupation sufficient ownership.
- 363. Procedure.
- 364. Surveys in disputed boundaries.

361. Special proceeding to establish. The owner of land, any of whose boundary lines are in dispute, may establish any of such lines by special proceedings in the superior court of the county in which the land or any part thereof is situated.

Rev., s. 325; 1893, c. 22.

Nature of proceeding explained: Rhodes v. Ange, 173-25; Green v. Williams, 144-63; Woody v. Fountain, 143-67; Stanaland v. Rabon, 140-202; Williams v. Hughes, 124-3; Parker v. Taylor, 133-103; Basnight v. Meekins, 121-23; must be strictly followed in all material respects: Forney v. Williamson, 98-329. When processioning is a matter of right: Green v. Williams, 144-60. Where title has been settled in one action the losing party cannot reopen the question by a proceeding to have the land processioned: Holley v. Holley, 96-229. For additional remedy when records are burned, see section 366.

362. Occupation sufficient ownership. The occupation of land constitutes sufficient ownership for the purposes of this chapter.

Rev., s. 326; 1893, c. 22; 1903, c. 21.

Possession is sufficient to maintain proceeding: Basnight v. Meekins, 121-23; Williams v. Hughes, 124-3; Parker v. Taylor, 133-103; Smith v. Johnson, 137-43; Stanaland v. Rabon, 140-202; Woody v. Fountain, 143-67. Title not in question unless raised by the pleadings: Williams v. Hughes, 124-3; Vandyke v. Farris, 126-744; Midgett v. Midgett, 129-21; Woody v. Fountain, 143-67.

363. Procedure. 1. Petition; summons; hearing. The owner shall file his petition under oath stating therein facts sufficient to constitute the location of such line as claimed by him and making defendants all adjoining owners whose interest may be affected by the location of said line. The clerk shall thereupon issue summons to the defendants as in other cases of special proceedings. If the defendants fail to answer, judgment shall be given establishing the line according to petition. If the answer deny the location set out in the petition, the clerk shall issue an order to the county surveyor or, if cause shown, to any competent surveyor to survey said line or lines according to the contention of both parties, and make report of the same with a map at a time to be fixed by the clerk, not more than thirty days from date of order; to which time the cause shall be continued. The cause shall then be heard by the clerk upon the location of said line or lines and judgment given determining the location thereof.

PROCEDURE. Court decides what are the boundaries and the jury finds where they are: Echerd v. Johnson, 126-409. Burden of proof is upon plaintiff to locate line: Tillotson v. Fulp; 172-499; Garris v. Harrington, 167-86; Green v. Williams, 144-60; Woody v. Fountain, 143-66; Hill v. Dalton, 140-9, 136-339; Echerd v. Johnson, 126-409. An affidavit filed by defendant denying plaintiff's allegations treated as an answer: Scott v. Kellum, 117-664. Injunction not granted in this proceeding, no substantive relief being afforded by it: Wilson v. Alleghany Co., 124-7—but this may not be so under section 758. Upon issue of title or other material fact the case is transferred to civil issue docket for trial at term: Brown v. Hutchinson, 155-205; Woody v. Fountain, 143-66; Davis v. Wall, 142-452; Stanaland v. Rabon, 140-202; Smith v. Johnson, 137-43; Parker v. Taylor, 133-104—the proceeding being converted into an action to quiet title, Woody v. Fountain, 143-71—or into an action of ejectment, Davis v. Wall, 142-452; Parker v. Taylor, 133-104; but a question of title arising incidentally does not prevent a settlement of the boundary in dispute: Green v. Williams, 144-60. Order of survey made: Cole v. Seawell, 152-349. Report of processioners: Roberts v. Dickey, 110-67; Euliss v. McAdams, 101-391—under prior law, Hoyle v. Wilson, 29-466; Matthews v. Matthews, 26-155; Carpenter v. Whitworth, 25-204; Cansler v. Hoke, 14-268; Wilson v. Shufford, 7-504. Setting aside report of processioners: Martin v. Flippin, 101-452. The survey, how made: Norwood v. Crawford, 114-513; Porter v. Durham, 90-55. Jury must locate line from evidence: Nall v. McMath, 177-183. Judgment as an estoppel when question of boundary is raised, and when question of title: Hilliard v. Abernathy, 171-644; Whitaker v. Garren, 167-658; Davis v. Wall, 142-450; Parker v. Taylor, 133-103; Williams v. Hughes, 124-3; Midgett v. Midgett, 129-21. This proceeding no bar to action of ejectment: Vandyke v. Farris, 126-744. Cases construing prior laws: Forney v. Williamson, 98-329; Holley v. Holley, 96-229; Oakley v. Anderson, 93-109; Porter v. Durham, 90-57; Hoyle v. Wilson, 29-466; Matthews v. Matthews, 26-155; Carpenter v. Whitworth, 25-204; Cansler v. Hoke, 14-268; Willson v. Shufford, 7-504.

EVIDENCE. General rules explained for ascertaining boundaries: Power Co. v. Savage, 170-625. In a general and a particular description the latter will control: Potter v. Bonner, 174-20. Lines of another tract, natural objects, course and distance, as controlling: Gray v. Coleman, 171-344; Byrd v. Spruce Co., 170-429; Lumber Co. v. Bernhardt, 162-460; Lumber Co. v. Hulton, 152-537; s. c., 159-445; Mitchell v. Wellborn, 149-347; Tate v. Johnson, 148-267; Hill v. Dalton, 140-9; s. c., 136-339; Echerd v. Johnson, 126-409; Redmond v. Stepp, 100-212. Senior grant and junior grant: Hill v. Dalton, 140-9; s. c., 136-339; Euliss v. McAdams, 108-507; Sasser v. Herring, 14-340. Reversing calls of deed: Jarvis v. Swain, 173-9; Gunter v. Mfg. Co., 166-161. Agreement and conduct of parties may indicate line, but cannot change it: Taylor v. Meadows, 175-373; Wiggins v. Rogers, 175-67. Jones*, 52-582; Topping v. Sadler, 50-357; Safret v. Hartman, 50-185; McNeill v. Massey, 10-91; Cherry v. Slade, 7-82; Den v. Green, 9-218. General reputation as evidence: Byrd v. Spruce Co., 170-429; Echerd v. Johnson, 126-409; Mendenhall v. Cassells, 20-43.

2. Appeal to term. Either party may within ten days after such determination by the clerk serve notice of appeal from the ruling of the clerk determining the said location. When notice of appeal is served it shall be the duty of the clerk to transmit the issues raised before him to the next term of the superior court of the county for trial by a jury, when the question shall be heard de novo.

On appeal other parties may come in: Bates v. Pridgen, 147-133.

3. Survey after judgment. When final judgment is given in the proceeding the court shall issue an order to the surveyor to run and mark the line or lines as determined in the judgment. The surveyor shall make report including a map of the line as determined, which shall be filed with the judgment roll in the cause and entered with the judgment on the special proceedings docket.

4. Procedure as in special proceedings. The procedure under this chapter, the jurisdiction of the court, and the right of appeal shall, in all respects, be the same as in special proceedings except as herein modified.

Rev., s. 326; 1893, c. 22; 1903, c. 21.

364. Surveys in disputed boundaries. When in any suit pending in the superior court the boundaries of lands are drawn in question, the court may, if deemed necessary, order a survey of the lands in dispute, agreeable to the boundaries and lines expressed in each party's titles, and such other surveys as shall be deemed useful; which surveys shall be made by two surveyors appointed by the court, one to be named by each of the parties, or by one surveyor, if the parties agree; and the surveyors shall attend according to the order of the court, and make the surveys, and shall make as many accurate plans thereof as shall be ordered by the court; and for such surveys the court shall make a proper allowance, to be taxed as among the costs of the suit.

Rev., s. 1504; Code, s. 939; R. C., c. 31, s. 119; 1779, c. 157; 1786, c. 252.

The judge must make the allowance for such survey, and not the clerk on a motion to retax: Cannon v. Briggs, 174-740; LaRoque v. Kennedy, 156-361.

CHAPTER 10

BURNT AND LOST RECORDS

- 365. Copy of destroyed record as evidence; may be recorded.
- 366. Originals may be again recorded.
- 367. Establishing boundaries and interest, where original and copy destroyed.
- 368. Copy of lost will may be probated.
- 369. Copy of lost will as evidence; letters to issue.
- 370. Establishing contents of will, where original and copy destroyed.
- 371. Perpetuating destroyed judgments and proceedings.
- 372. Color of title under destroyed instrument.
- 373. Action on destroyed official bond.
- 374. Destroyed witness tickets; duplicates may be filed.
- 375. Replacing lost official conveyances.
- 376. Court records as proof of destroyed instruments set out therein.
- 377. Copies contained in court records may be recorded.
- 378. Rules for petitions under this chapter.
- 379. Records allowed under this chapter to have effect of original records.
- 380. Destroyed court records proved prima facie by recitals in conveyances executed before their destruction.
- 381. Conveyances reciting court records prima facie evidence thereof.
- 382. Court records and conveyances to which chapter extends.
- 383. Local, Moore County; certain records presumed burned.
- 384. Local: Buncombe, Haywood, Madison, and Yancey; destroyed court records therein.

365. Copy of destroyed record as evidence; may be recorded. When the office of any registry is destroyed by fire or other accident, and the records and other papers thereof are burnt or destroyed, the copies of all such proceedings, instruments and papers as are of record or registry, certified by the proper officer, though without the seal of office, shall be received in evidence whenever the original or duly certified exemplifications would be. Such copies, when the court is satisfied of their genuineness, may be ordered to be recorded or registered.

This section does not have effect to exclude parol testimony to prove contents: Varner v. Johnston, 112-570; Hopper v. Justice, 111-418; Mobley v. Watts, 98-284. Certified copy of deed cannot be changed by parol testimony as to what original contained: Hopper v. Justice, 111-418. A copy should always be produced, but if no copy, then proof may be by parol: Cowles v. Hardin, 91-233; Dumas v. Powell, 14-103; Baker v. Webb, 2-43.

366. Originals may be again recorded. All original papers, once admitted to record or registry, whereof the record or registry is destroyed, may, on motion, be again recorded or registered, on such proof as the court shall require.

Registry of partition destroyed, and readmitted to record by clerk on satisfactory proof: Hill v. Lane, 149-267.

367. Establishing boundaries and interest, where original and copy destroyed. When any conveyance of real estate, or of any right or interest therein, is lost, the registry thereof being also destroyed, any person claiming under the same may cause the boundaries thereof to be established in the manner provided in the chapter entitled Boundaries, or he may proceed in the following manner to establish both the boundaries and the nature of his estate:

He shall file his petition before the clerk of the superior court, setting forth the whole substance of the conveyance as truly and specifically as he can, the location and boundaries of his land, whose land it adjoins, the estate claimed therein, and a prayer to have his own boundaries established and the nature of his estate declared.

All persons claiming any estate in the premises, and those whose lands adjoin, shall be notified of the proceedings. Unless they or some of them, by answer on oath, deny the truth of all or some of the matters alleged, the clerk shall order a surveyor to run and designate the boundaries of the petitioner's land, and return his survey, with a plot thereof, to court. This, when confirmed, shall, with the declaration of the court as to the nature of the estate of the petitioner, be registered and have, as to the persons notified, the effect of a deed for the same, executed by the person possessed of the same next before the petitioner. But in all cases, however, wherein the process of surveying is disputed, and the surveyor is forbidden to proceed by any person interested, the same proceedings shall be had as under the chapter entitled Boundaries.

If any of the persons notified deny by answer the truth of the conveyance, the clerk shall transfer the issues of fact to the superior court at term, to be tried as other issues of fact are required by law to be tried; and on the verdict and the pleadings the judge shall adjudge the rights of the parties, and declare the contents of the deed, if any deed is found by the jury, and allow the registration of such judgment and declaration, which shall have the force and effect of a deed.

This is an enabling statute, giving an additional, but not exclusive, remedy: Jones v. Ballou, 139-526; Cowles v. Hardin, 91-231. Plaintiff can depend upon rules of common law to set it up: Hopper v. Justice, 111-420; Mobley v. Watts, 98-284; Cowles v. Hardin, 91-231. When proceeding brought hereunder, requirements must be complied with: Cowles v. Hardin, 79-577. Before a deed can be made plaintiff must clearly prove that such a deed once existed, its legal operation and its loss: Plummer v. Baskerville, 36-252; Loftin v. Loftin, 96-94. Purpose of statute stated: Waters v. Crabtree, 105-402. The judgment in this proceeding has the effect of the original conveyance: McNeely v. Laxton, 149-327.

368. Copy of lost will may be probated. In counties where the original wills on file in the office of the clerk of superior court, and will-books containing copies, are lost or destroyed, if the executor or any other person has preserved a copy of a will (the original being so lost or destroyed) with a certificate appended, signed by a clerk of the court in whose office the will was, or is required to be filed, stating that said copy is a correct one, this copy may be admitted to probate, under the same rules and in the same manner as now prescribed by law for proving wills. The proceedings in such cases shall be the same as though such copy was the original offered for the first time for probate, except that the clerk who signed such certificate shall, on oath, acknowledge his signature, or in case it appears that he has died or left the state, then his signature shall be proved by a competent witness; and the witness or witnesses to the original, who may be examined, shall be required to swear that he or they signed in the presence of the testator and by his direction a paper-writing purporting to be his last will and testament.

Rev., s. 329; Code, s. 57.

Probate of lost will must be made before clerk: McCormick v. Jernigan, 110-406. No statute of limitation applies to this proceeding: Ibid.

369. Copy of lost will as evidence; letters to issue. In any action or proceeding at law, where it becomes necessary to introduce such will to establish title, or for any other purpose, a copy of the will and of the record of the probate, with a certificate signed by the clerk of the superior court for the county where the will may be recorded, stating that said record and copy are full and correct, shall be admitted as competent evidence; and when a copy of a will is admitted to probate, the clerk shall thereupon issue letters testamentary.

Rev., s. 330; Code, s. 58.

370. Establishing contents of will, where original and copy destroyed. Any person desirous of establishing the contents of a will destroyed as aforesaid, there being no copy thereof, may file his petition in the office of the clerk of the superior court, setting forth the entire contents thereof, according to the best of his knowledge, information and belief. All persons having an interest under the same shall be made parties, and if the truth of such petition is denied, the issues of fact shall be transferred to the superior court at term for trial by a jury, whether the will was recorded, and if so recorded, the contents thereof, and the declarations of the judge shall be recorded as the will of the testator. Any devisee or legatee is a competent witness as to the contents of every part of said will, except such as may concern his own interest in the same.

Evidence to prove contents: Cox v. Lumber Co., 124-78; Varner v. Johnston, 112-570; Mobley v. Watts, 98-284—to prove existence of will, Cox v. Lumber Co., 124-78. Statute of limitations: Varner v. Johnston, 112-570.

371. Perpetuating destroyed judgments and proceedings. Every person desirous of perpetuating the contents of destroyed judgments, orders or proceedings of court, or any paper admitted to record or registration, or directed to be filed for safe keeping, other than wills or conveyances of real estate, or some right or interest therein, or any deed or other instrument of writing, required to be recorded or registered, but not having been recorded or registered, it being competent to register or record said deed or other instrument at the time of its loss or destruction, may file his petition in the court having jurisdiction of like matters with the original proceeding, setting forth the substance of the whole record, deed, proceeding, or paper, which he desires to perpetuate. If, on the hearing, the court shall declare the existence of such record, deed, or proceeding, or paper at the time of the burning of the office wherein the same was lodged or kept, or other destruction thereof, and that the same was there destroyed, and shall declare the contents thereof, such declaration shall be recorded or registered, or filed, according to the nature of the paper destroyed.

Restored record cannot be collaterally attacked: Branch v. Griffin, 99-173.

372. Color of title under destroyed instrument. Every person who has been in the continual, peaceable and quiet possession of land, tenements, or hereditaments, situated in the county, claiming, using and occupying them as his own, for the space of seven years, under known boundaries, the title thereto being out of the state, is deemed to have been lawfully possessed, under color of title, of such estate therein as has been claimed by him during his possession, although he may exhibit no conveyance therefor: Provided, that such possession commenced before the destruction of the registry office, or other destruction as aforesaid, and also that any such person, or any person claiming by, through or under him, makes affidavit and produces such proof as is satisfactory to the court that the possession was rightfully taken; and if taken under a written conveyance, that the registry thereof was destroyed by fire or other means, or was destroyed before registry as aforesaid, and that neither the original nor any copy thereof is in existence: Provided further, that such presumption shall not arise against infants, persons of nonsane memory, and persons residing out of the state, who were such at the time of possession taken, and were not therefore barred, nor were so barred at the time of the burning of the office or other destruction.

Hill v. Overton, 81-393.

373. Action on destroyed official bond. Actions on official or other bonds lodged in any office which are destroyed with the registry thereof may be prosecuted by petition against the principal and sureties thereto, and the proceedings shall be as in the former courts of equity.

Rev., s. 334; Code, s. 62.

This proceeding is equitable in its nature: McCormick v. Jernigan, 110-406.

374. Destroyed witness tickets; duplicates may be filed. The court having jurisdiction of the action may allow other witness tickets to be filed in place of such as may be destroyed, upon the oath of the witness or other satisfactory proof.

Rev., s. 335; Code, s. 63.

375. Replacing lost official conveyances. Where any conveyance executed by any person, sheriff, clerk and master, or commissioner of court has been lost, and registry thereof destroyed as aforesaid, and there is no copy thereof, such persons, whether in or out of office, may execute another of like tenor and date, reciting therein that the same is a duplicate, and such deed shall be evidence of the facts therein recited, in all cases wherein the parties thereto are dead, or are incompetent witnesses to prove the same, to the extent as if it was the original conveyance.

Rev., s. 336; Code, s. 64.

376. Court records as proof of destroyed instruments set out therein. The records of any court in or out of the state, and all transcripts of such records, and the exhibits filed therewith in any case, are admissible to prove the existence and contents of all deeds, wills, conveyances, depositions and other papers, copies whereof are therein set forth or exhibited, in all cases where the records and registry of such as were or ought to have been recorded and registered, or the originals of such as were not proper to be recorded or registered, have been destroyed as aforesaid, although such transcripts or exhibits have been informally certified; and when offered in evidence have the like effect as though the transcript or record was the record of the court whose records are destroyed, and the deeds, wills and conveyances, depositions and other papers therein copied or therewith exhibited were original.

Fain v. Gaddis, 144-765.

377. Copies contained in court records may be recorded. The copies aforesaid of all such deeds, wills, conveyances and other instruments proper to be recorded or registered, as are mentioned in the preceding section, may be recorded or registered on application to the clerk of the superior court and due proof that the original thereof was genuine.

Rev., s. 338; Code, s. 66.

378. Rules for petitions under this chapter. The following rules shall be observed in petitions and motions under this chapter:

1. The facts stated in every petition or motion shall be verified by affidavit of the petitioner that they are true according to the best of his knowledge, information, and belief.

2. The instrument or paper sought to be established by any petition shall be fully set forth in its substance, and its precise language shall be stated when the same is remembered.

3. All persons interested in the prayers of the petition or decree shall be made parties.

4. Petitions to establish a record of any court shall be filed at term in the superior court of the county where the record is sought to be established. Other petitions may be filed in the office of the clerk.

5. The costs shall be paid as the court may decree.

6. Appeals shall be allowed as in all other cases, and where the error alleged shall be a finding by the superior court at term, of a matter of fact, the same may be removed on appeal to the supreme court, and the proper judgments directed to be entered below.

7. It shall be presumed that any order or record of the court of pleas and quarter sessions, which was made and has been lost or destroyed, was made by a legally constituted court, and the requisite number of justices, without naming said justices.

Parties to proceeding: Cowles v. Hardin, 79-577. Verification of petition: Cowles v. Hardin, 79-577. Cases having some bearing: Flemming v. Roberts, 77-415; Dail v. Sugg, 85-104.

379. Records allowed under this chapter to have effect of original records. The records and registries allowed by the court in pursuance of this chapter shall have the same force and effect as original records and registries.

See Waters v. Crabtree, 105-402; McNeely v. Laxton, 149-327.

380. Destroyed court records proved prima facie by recitals in conveyances executed before their destruction. The recitals, reference to, or mention of any decree, order, judgment or other record of any court of record of any county in which the courthouse, or records of said courts, or both, have been destroyed by fire or otherwise, contained, recited or set forth in any deed of conveyance, paper-writing, or other bona fide written evidence of title, executed prior to the destruction of the courthouse and records of said county, by any executor or administrator with a will annexed, or by any clerk and master, superior court clerk, clerk of the court of pleas and quarter sessions, sheriff, or other officer, or commissioners appointed by either of said courts, and authorized by law to execute said deed or other paper-writing, are deemed, taken and recognized as true in fact, and are prima facie evidence of the existence, validity and binding force of said decree, order, judgment or other record so referred to or recited in said deed or paper-writing, and are to all intents and purposes binding and valid against all persons mentioned or described in said instrument of writing, deed, etc., as purporting to be parties thereto, and against all persons who were parties to said decree, judgment, order or other record so referred to or recited, and against all persons claiming by, through or under them or either of them.

Section is constitutional: Barefoot v. Musselwhite, 153-208. It must be shown that the record has been destroyed before recitals in the deed are evidence: Ibid. Judgment roll lost, contents proven by minute docket: Everett v. Newton, 118-919. Recitals in deeds evidence of regularity of court proceedings: Hare v. Hollomon, 94-14; Everett v. Newton, 118-919; Pinnell v. Burroughs, 168-315; s. c., 172-182; evidence of facts and authority set out: Irvin v. Clark, 98-437. Recitals of record in a deed executed by virtue of court proceedings prior to 1865 prima facie evidence of existence and validity of record: Isler v. Isler, 88-576. Existence and validity of execution proven by recitals in sheriff's deed: Dail v. Sugg, 85-104. Cases merely citing section: Lumber Co. v. Sanford, 112-655; In re Thomas, 111-416.

381. Conveyances reciting court records prima facie evidence thereof. Such deed of conveyance, or other paper-writing, executed as aforesaid, and registered according to law, may be read in any suit now pending or which may hereafter be instituted in any court of this state, as prima facie evidence of the existence and validity of the decree, judgment, order, or other record upon which the same purports to be founded, without any other or further restoration or reinstatement of said decree, order, judgment, or record than is contained in this chapter.

When record is lost, recitals in a deed that certain proceedings were had are prima facie evidence: Pinnell v. Burroughs, 172-182; see, also, Hare v. Hollemon, 94-20.

382. Court records and conveyances to which chapter extends. This chapter shall extend to records of any court which has been or may be destroyed by fire or otherwise, and to any deed of conveyance, paper-writing, or other bona fide evidence of title executed before the destruction of said records.

Rev., s. 343; Code, s. 71.

383. Local: Moore County; certain records presumed burned. In all cases in Moore County of bonds, indentures, accounts, minutes, judgment rolls and all other records that cannot be found on record or on file in the said clerk's office after diligent search therefor by the clerk of the court, and cannot be otherwise accounted for, the same having been on record or file therein on or before September fifth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, shall be presumed to have been destroyed by fire. In all cases in which said bonds, indentures, accounts, minutes, judgment rolls and other records or any part thereof have been lost or destroyed and in which it may become necessary to use the same in evidence, it shall be presumed that the same were executed, filed, audited or adjudicated, as the case may be, in due and legal form and were in all respects lawful records and documents.

Rev., s. 344; 1891, c. 55.

384. Local: Buncombe, Haywood, Madison and Yancey; destroyed court records therein. Whenever any of the records of any of the courts in this state have been burnt, lost or destroyed, and there is in existence any copy thereof, or of any part of the same, duly certified, whether under the seal of the court or otherwise, by any former clerk of said court, it shall be the duty of the present clerk of said court, or any clerk of said court hereafter in office, upon presentation to him of such copy and the payment of his lawful fees therefor, to record said copy upon the minutes or records of said court; and after the same shall have been so recorded the record then shall be used as and be taken and deemed and shall have all the force and effect of the original record so burnt, lost or destroyed; and such record thereof, or a copy of the same duly certified by the clerk of said court, shall be in all respects competent in the same way and manner as the original record in all the courts of this state. This section shall apply only to the counties of Buncombe, Madison, Yancey and Haywood.

Rev., s. 345; 1905, c. 308.

CITIZENSHIP RESTORED

- 385. Petition filed.
- 386. When and where petition filed.
- 387. Notice given.
- 388. Hearing and evidence.
- 389. Decree.
- 390. Procedure in case of pardon or suspension of judgment.

385. Petition filed. Any person convicted of an infamous crime, whereby the rights of citizenship are forfeited, desiring to be restored to the same, shall file his petition in the superior court, setting forth his conviction and the punishment inflicted, his place or places of residence, his occupation since his conviction, the meritorious causes which, in his opinion, entitle him to be restored to his forfeited rights, and that he has not before been restored to the lost rights of citizenship.

Rev., s. 2675; Code, ss. 2938, 2940; R. C., c. 58, ss. 1, 3; 1840, c. 36, s. 4.

The disqualification for citizenship is not part of the judgment of the court, but a mere consequence thereof: State v. Jones, 82-685.

386. When and where petition filed. At any time after the expiration of four years from the date of conviction, the petition may be filed in the superior court of the county in which the applicant is at the time of filing and has been for five years next preceding a bona fide resident, or in the superior court of the county, at term, where the indictment was found upon which the conviction took place; and in case the petitioner may have been convicted of an infamous crime more than once, and indictments for the same may have been found in different counties, the petition shall be filed in the superior court of that county where the last indictment was found.

Rev., s. 2676; Code, ss. 2940, 2941; 1897, c. 110; R. C., c. 58, ss. 3, 4; 1840, c. 36, s. 3.

Upon conviction, imprisonment and pardon, application can be made only after four years from conviction: In re Petition of Jones, 160-15.

387. Notice given. Upon filing the petition the clerk of the court shall advertise the substance thereof, at the courthouse door of his county, for the space of three months next before the term when the petitioner proposes that the same shall be heard.

Rev., s. 2677; Code, s. 2938; R. C., c. 58, s. 1; 1840, c. 36.

388. Hearing and evidence. The petition shall be heard by the judge at term, at which hearing the court shall examine all proper testimony which may be offered, either by the petitioner as to the facts set forth in his petition or by any one who may oppose the grant of his prayer. The petitioner shall also prove by five respectable witnesses, who have been acquainted with the petitioner's character for three years next preceding the filing of his petition, that his character for truth and honesty during that time has been good; but no deposition shall be admissible for this purpose unless the petitioner has resided out of this state for three years next preceding the filing of the petition.

Rev., s. 2678; Code, ss. 2938, 2939; 1897, c. 110; 1901, c. 533; R. C., c. 58, ss. 1, 2; 1840, c. 36.

389. Decree. At the hearing the court, on being satisfied of the truth of the facts set forth in the petition, and on its being proved that the character of the applicant for truth and honesty is good, shall decree his restoration to the lost rights of citizenship, and the petitioner shall accordingly be restored thereto.

Rev., s. 2679; Code, s. 2938; R. C., c. 58, s. 1; 1840, c. 36.

390. Procedure in case of pardon or suspension of judgment. Any person convicted of any crime, whereby the rights of citizenship are forfeited, and the judgment of the court pronounced does not include imprisonment anywhere, and pardon has been granted by the governor, or the court suspended judgment on payment of the costs, and the costs have been paid, such person may be restored to such forfeited rights of citizenship upon application, by petition, to the judge presiding at any term of the superior court held for the county in which the conviction was had, one year after such conviction. The petition shall set out the nature of the crime committed, the time of conviction, the judgment of the court, and that pardon has been granted by the governor, and also that said crime was committed without felonious intent, and shall be verified by the oath of the applicant and accompanied by the affidavits of ten reputable citizens of the county, who shall state that they are well acquainted with the applicant and that in their opinion the crime was committed without felonious intent. No notice of the petition in such case shall be necessary, and no advertisement thereof be made, but the same shall be heard by the judge, upon its presentation, during a term of court; and if he is satisfied as to the truth of the matters set out in the petition and affidavits, he shall decree the applicant's restoration to the lost rights of citizenship, and the clerk shall spread the decree upon his minute docket: Provided, that in all cases where the court suspended judgment it shall not be necessary to allege or prove that pardon has been granted by the governor, and in such cases the petition may be made and the forfeited rights of citizenship restored at any time after conviction.

Rev., s. 2680; 1899, cc. 44, 249; 1905, c. 547.

For cases prior to this enactment, see State v. Houston, 103-383; State v. Pearson, 97-434. This section does not apply to a case of conviction and imprisonment: In re Petition of Jones, 160-15. Upon pardon granted, the fine paid may be recovered if it is still under control of the court: Bynum v. Turner, 171-86.

SUBCHAPTER I. DEFINITIONS AND GENERAL PROVISIONS

ART. 1. DEFINITIONS

391. Remedies. Remedies in the courts of justice are divided into—

1. Actions.
2. Special proceedings.

Rev., s. 346; Code, s. 125; C. C. P., s. 1.

Cited in Lyon v. Comrs., 120-242.

392. Actions. An action is an ordinary proceeding in a court of justice, by which a party prosecutes another party for the enforcement or protection of a right, the redress or prevention of a wrong, or the punishment or prevention of a public offense.

Cases differentiating special proceedings from civil actions: Tate v. Powe, 64-644; Pollard v. Slaughter, 92-72; Parton v. Allison, 109-674.

PROCEEDINGS THAT ARE NOT ACTIONS. Probating wills: Powell v. Watkins, 172-244; Young's Will, 123-358; Syme v. Broughton, 85-367; Love v. Johnston, 34-355; Whitfield v. Hurst, 31-170; Sawyer v. Dozier, 27-97; St. John's Lodge v. Callender, 26-335. Condemnation proceedings: Click v. R. R., 98-391.

Case merely citing section: State v. Burton, 113-659.

393. Special proceedings. Every other remedy is a special proceeding.

Rev., s. 348; Code, s. 127; C. C. P., s. 3.

REMEDIES THAT ARE SPECIAL PROCEEDINGS. Generally stated in Tate v. Powe, 64-644. Proceedings for partition: Ibid.; also, Bragg v. Lyon, 93-151; Capps v. Capps, 85-408; also see chapter on Partition—for drainage, Durden v. Simmons, 84-555; also see section 5261—for widow's year's allowance, Tate v. Powe, 64-644—for creditors against administrator, Jerkins v. Carter, 70-500; but see Haywood v. Haywood, 79-42; Patterson v. Miller, 72-516; see section 110—for sale of decedent's land for assets, Badger v. Jones, 66-305; see, also, section 74—for recovery of distributive shares and legacies, Bell v. King, 70-330; see, also, section 147—to force administrator to sell land for assets, Pelletier v. Saunders, 67-261—to lay off dower, Gatewood v. Tomlinson, 113-312; Felton v. Elliott, 66-195; Tate v. Powe, 64-644; except where an equitable element is involved, Efland v. Efland, 96-488; or proceeding is by assignee of widow, Parton v. Allison, 109-674—for alimony without divorce, Reeves v. Reeves, 82-348; see, also, section 1667—for damages for erection of mill, Sumner v. Miller, 64-638—for settlement of decedents' estates, Herring v. Outlaw, 70-334; Hunt v. Sneed, 64-176; also see sections 110 and 152—to remove administrator or executor, Edwards v. Cobb, 95-4; Murrill v. Sandlin, 86-54; Simpson v. Jones, 82-323; McFayden v. Council, 81-195; Barnes v. Brown, 79-401; also see sections 30, 31, 32, 42, 44—to correct error in partition of land, Wahab v. Smith, 82-229; settlement of boundaries, section 361.

394. Kinds of actions. Actions are of two kinds—

1. Civil.
2. Criminal.

Rev., s. 349; Code, s. 128; C. C. P., s. 4.

395. Criminal action. A criminal action is—

1. An action prosecuted by the state as a party, against a person charged with a public offense, for the punishment thereof.

Words "criminal action" and "indictment" synonymous: State v. Simons, 68-378. Prosecutions for public offenses are criminal actions: State v. Lupton, 63-483.

2. An action prosecuted by the state, at the instance of an individual, to prevent an apprehended crime against his person or property.

Proceeding on peace warrant is a criminal action: State v. Lyon, 93-576; State v. Oates, 88-668. See section 4531 et seq.

Rev., s. 350; Code, s. 129; C. C. P., s. 5; Const., Art. IV, s. 1.

396. Civil action. Every other is a civil action.

Rev., s. 351; Code, s. 130; C. C. P., s. 6.

Any proceeding that under the old mode was commenced by capias ad respondendum (including ejection), or by a bill in equity for relief, is a civil action: Tate v. Powe, 64-644. In cases where question arose, the following proceedings have been held to be civil actions: Bastardy, State v. Liles, 134-735—mandamus, Haymore v. Comrs., 85-268; Belmont v. Reilly, 71-260; Brown v. Turner, 70-93—falsifying accounts of decedent's estate, Murphy v. Harrison, 65-246—enforcing a judgment nisi against sheriff, Jones v. Gupton, 65-48—ward's suit on guardian bond for account: Rowland v. Thompson, 65-110—ejection, Woodley v. Gilliam, 64-649.

397. When court means clerk. In the following sections which confer jurisdiction or power, or impose duties, where the words "superior court," or "court," in reference to a superior court are used, they mean the clerk of the superior court, unless otherwise specially stated, or unless reference is made to a regular term of the court, in which cases the judge of the court alone is meant.

NOTE. For the jurisdiction of clerk, see s. 403.

Cases in which "superior court" is construed to mean "clerk": Bank v. Hotel Co., 147-594; Pelletier v. Saunders, 67-261; see, also, Tillett v. Aydlett, 90-551. Cases in which section is referred to but not construed: Mills v. Lumber Co., 139-524; Adams v. Howard, 110-19; Click v. R. R., 98-392; Brittain v. Mull, 91-502.

ART. 2. GENERAL PROVISIONS

398. Remedies not merged. Where the violation of a right admits both of a civil and a criminal remedy, the right to prosecute the one is not merged in the other.

Rev., s. 353; Code, s. 131; C. C. P., s. 7.

White v. Underwood, 125-25; White v. Fort, 10-251.

399. One form of action. The distinction between actions at law and suits in equity and the forms of such actions and suits are abolished, and there is but one form of action for the enforcement or protection of private rights and the redress of private wrongs, which is denominated a civil action.

Rev., s. 354; Code, s. 133; C. C. P., s. 12; Const., Art. IV, s. 1.

"DISTINCTIONS BETWEEN ACTIONS AT LAW AND SUITS IN EQUITY" ABOLISHED. But not distinctions between principles of law and equity: Hardware Co. v. Lewis, 173-290; Rudisill v. Whitener, 146-404; Makuen v. Elder, 170-510; Morrisey v. Swinson, 104-555; Ely v. Early, 94-1; Allen v. Taylor, 96-37; Lumber Co. v. Wallace, 93-22; Katzenstein v. R. R., 84-694; Matthews v. McPherson, 65-189—nor the jurisdiction of superior court over matters heretofore within equity jurisdiction, Barcello v. Hapgood, 118-712. The equity practice, with slight modification, is the outcome: Staton v. Webb, 137-39.

"ONE FORM OF ACTION." Both legal and equitable remedies administered in one action: Floars v. Ins. Co., 144-232; Winders v. Hill, 142-694; Bean v. R. R., 107-731; Pendleton v. Dalton, 92-185; Stein v. Cozart, 122-280; Edwards v. Love, 94-365; Vegeahn v. Smith, 95-254; Allen v. Taylor, 96-37; Efland v. Efland, 96-488; Condry v. Cheshire, 88-375; Farmer v. Daniel, 82-152; Murray v. Blackledge, 71-492; McRae v. Battle, 69-98. Only one form: Williams v. R. R., 144-498; Fincannon v. Sudderth, 144-594; Lumber Co. v. Wallace, 93-22; Ely v. Early, 94-1; Bean v. R. R., 107-731; Wilson v. Hughes, 94-182; Haymore v. Comrs., 85-268; Belmont v. Reilly, 71-262; Bitting v. Thaxton, 72-541; Garrett v. Trotter, 65-431; Froelich v. Southern Express Co., 67-4—and that form similar to the equity bill, Staton v. Webb, 137-39. There is no particular form of action or statement, but sufficient facts must be alleged to justify the relief: Reid v. King, 158-85; Cheese Co. v. Pipkin, 155-394; McFarland v. Cornwell, 151-428; Vinson v. Knight, 137-408; Bitting v. Thaxton, 72-541.

“FORMS OF ALL SUCH ACTIONS AND SUITS” ABOLISHED. But this does not dispense with such degree of certainty and regularity as is essential in every system adopted for the administration of justice: Norton v. McDevit, 122-755; Lassiter v. Roper, 114-17; Moore v. Hobbs, 79-535; Oates v. Gray, 66-442. Sustaining the words of the statute, Staton v. Webb, 137-39; Hargrove v. Harris, 116-418.

EFFECT ON PROCEDURE AND PLEADING. See generally the latest cases: Blackmore v. Winders, 144-215; Wilson v. Brown, 134-407. Essential principles and the rules of common-law pleading still remain except as modified by this section: Webb v. Hicks, 116-598; Lassiter v. Roper, 114-17; Hinsdale v. Sinclair, 83-338; Oates v. Gray, 66-442; Parsley v. Nicholson, 65-207; Vass v. Bldg. Assn., 91-62; Rowland v. Windley, 82-133; Crump v. Mims, 64-767—but see the following cases that seem to overrule the preceding, Staton v. Webb, 137-39; Wilson v. Brown, 134-407; Pierce v. R. R., 124-83; Sams v. Price, 119-572; Holden v. Warren, 118-326; Fulps v. Mock, 108-601; Stokes v. Taylor, 104-394; Moore v. Edmiston, 70-517. Equities must be set up in the pleadings: Moore v. Cameron, 93-51; Lumber Co. v. Wallace, 93-22; Stamps v. Cooley, 91-316; Ledbetter v. Quick, 90-276; Rawlings v. Hunt, 90-270; Adams v. Hayes, 120-383. New system of pleading looks to the merits: Halstead v. Mullen, 93-252. How far the old practice may still be recognized: Boyleston Ins. Co. v. Davis, 74-78; London v. Bear, 84-266; Morrissey v. Swinson, 104-555; Simms v. Goettle, 82-271.

Cases citing but not construing section: Kiff v. Weaver, 94-278; Sneed v. Harris, 109-358.

400. Plaintiff and defendant. In civil actions the party complaining is the plaintiff, and the adverse party the defendant.

Rev., s. 355; Code, s. 134; C. C. P., s. 13.

It is irregular to be plaintiff and defendant in the same action: Medlin v. Simpson, 144-397.

401. How party may appear. A party may appear either in person or by attorney in actions or proceedings in which he is interested.

Rev., s. 356; Code, s. 109; C. C. P., s. 423.

General and special appearance distinguished: State v. White, 164-408. The test for determining the character of an appearance is the relief asked: Woodard v. Milling Co., 142-100; Scott v. Life Assn., 137-518; Grant v. Grant, 159-528; Wooten v. Cunningham, 171-123. What amounts to a general appearance, see Comrs. v. Scales, 171-523; Hassell v. Steamboat Co., 168-296; Allen-Fleming Co. v. R. R., 145-37; Woodard v. Milling Co., 142-100; Scott v. Life Assn., 137-515. General appearance cures all defects in service of process: Drainage District v. Comrs., 174-738; Roberts v. Allman, 106-391; Lemly v. Ellis, 143-200; Wheeler v. Cobb, 75-21; Penniman v. Daniel, 95-341; Hatcher v. Faison, 142-364; see, also, sections 475, 490. What amounts to special appearance, see Woodard v. Milling Co., 142-100; Scott v. Life Assn., 137-515. Special appearance can only be made to dismiss an action or move to set aside judgment for lack of jurisdiction: Scott v. Life Assn., 137-515; Clark v. Mfg. Co., 110-111—and cannot be entered to take an appeal, Ibid.; also, Allen-Fleming Co. v. Rwy., 145-37; Houston v. Lumber Co., 136-328. When special appearance made to move to dismiss, and motion overruled, defendant should except and go to the merits: Graham v. O'Bryan, 120-463; Farris v. R. R., 115-600; Guilford County v. Georgia Co., 109-310. A special appearance, with a motion to dismiss and a temporary continuance of the motion, does not amount to general appearance: Warlick v. Reynolds, 151-606. The entry should state the special purpose, but a failure to state it from inadvertence is not a waiver of client's right: Suiter v. Brittle, 90-19. As to the doctrine of appearance by representation, see Card v. Finch, 142-140; Springs v. Scott, 132-548.

402. Feigned issues abolished and substituted. Feigned issues are abolished, and instead thereof, in the cases where the power formerly existed to order a feigned issue, or when a question of fact not put in issue by the pleadings is to be tried by a jury, an order for the trial may be made by the judge, stating distinctly and plainly the question of fact to be tried; and this order is the only authority necessary for a trial.

Feigned issues in ejectment abolished: Harkey v. Houston, 65-137—and in actions for seduction, Hood v. Sudderth, 111-215. Court should dismiss action upon a feigned issue ex mero motu: Blake v. Askew, 76-325.

403. Jurisdiction of clerk. The clerk of the superior court has jurisdiction to hear and decide all questions of practice and procedure and all other matters over which jurisdiction is given to the superior court, unless the judge of the court or the court at a regular term is expressly referred to.

Rev., s. 358; Code, s. 251; C. C. P., s. 108.

See section 397. For history of change in practice, see Bynum v. Powe, 97-374. Clerk has no equitable jurisdiction, except when specially conferred by statute: Vance v. Vance, 118-864; Bragg v. Lyon, 93-151. Exercise of judicial powers by clerk is exercise of them by court, acting through clerk: Brittain v. Mull, 91-498. Cases merely citing section: Turner v. Holden, 109-186; Cushing v. Styron, 104-339; Click v. R. R., 98-392; Maxwell v. Blair, 95-317; Loftin v. Rouse, 94-508; Jones v. Desern, 94-35; Johnson v. Judd, 63-498; McAden v. Banister, 63-481; McAdoo v. Benbow, 63-462.

SUBCHAPTER II. LIMITATIONS

ART. 3. LIMITATIONS, GENERAL PROVISIONS

404. When action commenced. An action is commenced as to each defendant when the summons is issued against him.

Rev., s. 359; Code, s. 161; C. C. P., s. 40.

An action is pending from the issuing of the summons and not from the service: Pettigrew v. McCoin, 165-472. The court will take judicial notice of the summons to ascertain when action was commenced: Harrell v. Lumber Co., 172-827. Requisites of a valid summons: Redmond v. Mullenax, 113-505. Rebuttable presumption that summons was issued on the date it bears: Houston v. Thornton, 122-365; Currie v. Hawkins, 118-593. Fatal effect of a break in the chain of alias summonses: Ruffy v. Claywell, 93-306; Etheridge v. Woodley, 83-11; Koonce v. Pelletier, 115-233. A summons is issued within the meaning of this section when it is delivered to the sheriff: Smith v. Lumber Co., 142-26; Webster v. Sharpe, 116-466—when put out from clerk's office under his direction to be sent to officer for service, Houston v. Thornton, 122-365.

Summons is not issued within the meaning of this section when it remains in the office of the clerk filled up and signed but held for a prosecution bond: Webster v. Sharpe, 116-466—when signed and issued but not docketed on summons docket, nor returned served; nor followed by alias, Neal v. Nelson, 117-393. When the service is by attachment of property and publication no summons is required: Mills v. Hansel, 168-651; Currie v. Mining Co., 157-217; Grocery Co. v. Bag Co., 142-174; overruling McClure v. Fellows, 131-509; Best v. Mortgage Co., 128-351. Cases merely citing section: Morris v. House, 125-560; Farthing v. Carrington, 116-331.

405. Run from accrual of cause of action; objection. Civil actions can only be commenced within the periods prescribed in this chapter, after the cause of action has accrued, except where in special cases a different limitation is prescribed by statute. The objection that the action was not commenced within the time limited can only be taken by answer.

Rev., s. 360; Code, s. 138; C. C. P., s. 17.

CAUSE OF ACTION ACCRUES. When plaintiff is at liberty to sue, not being under disability: Eller v. Church, 121-269. In cases of fraud or mistake, from its discovery or when it should have been discovered: Tuttle v. Tuttle, 146-484; Modlin v. Railroad and Lumber Co., 145-218; Peacock v. Barnes, 142-215; Alpha Mills v. Engine Co., 116-797—in cases of failure of clerk to index judgment, Shackleford v. Staton, 117-73—of subjecting stockholders of bank to liability, Long v. Bank, 90-405—of negligence, Mast v. Sapp, 140-533—of sureties liable on administrator's bond, Gill v. Cooper, 111-311—of surety on indemnity bond, Graeber v. Sides, 151-596—of sureties generally, Leak v. Covington, 99-559—of breach of covenant of seizin, Shankle v. Ingram, 133-254—of breach of covenant of warranty, Shankle v. Ingram, 133-254; Wiggins v. Pender, 132-628; Griffin v. Thomas, 128-310; Mizzell v. Ruffin, 118-69—of damages for construction of railroad, Cardwell v. R. R., 171-365; Bareliff v. R. R., 168-268; Lassiter v. R. R., 126-509; Ridley v. R. R., 118-996; Hocutt v. R. R., 124-219—of sale by sheriff of exempt property, Hobbs v. Barefoot, 104-224—of failure of consideration, to recover purchase money, Barden v. Stickney, 132-416—of trespass on land, Spruill v. Mfg. Co., 130-42—of ejectment, Ladd v. Byrd, 113-466—of ouster of cestui que trust, Webb v. Borden, 145-188—of action against nonresident, Green v. Ins. Co., 139-309.

In favor of debtor on mutual account: Stokes v. Taylor, 104-394—of executor against creditor of testator, Hinton v. Pritchard, 126-8; Lynn v. Lowe, 88-478; Miller v. Shoaf, 110-319; Love v. Ingram, 104-600—of mortgagor or trustor, Scott v. Lumber Co., 144-44; Bernhardt v. Hagamon, 144-526; Triplett v. Foster, 115-335; Woody v. Jones, 113-253; Moore v. Ray, 108-252—of guardian against ward, Dunn v. Beaman, 126-766; Kennedy v. Cromwell, 108-2—of judgment debtor where judgment taken on rehearing before magistrate, Salmon v. McLean, 116-209—of tenant in common, Tharpe v. Holecombe, 126-365—of debtor to one under disability, Eller v. Church, 121-269; Dunn v. Dunn, 137-533—of trustee of implied trust, Dunn v. Dunn, 137-533—of trustee of express trust, Hilton v. Gordon, 177-342; Rouse v. Rouse, 176-171; Coxe v. Carson, 169-132; Rouse v. Rouse, 167-208; Greenleaf v. Land Co., 146-505; Dixon v. Dixon, 145-46; Owens v. Williams, 130-165; Davis v. Boyden, 123-283; Wright v. Cain, 93-296; Patterson v. Lilly, 90-87; Bd. of Ed. v. Bd. of Ed., 107-366—of county as against holders of bond coupons, Threadgill v. Comrs., 116-616—of vendee in bond for title, Worth v. Wrenn, 144-656—of sureties on bond of first administrator against administrator d. b. n., Burgwyn v. Daniel, 115-115—of grantee of junior grant, Johnson v. Lumber Co., 144-717; McAden v. Palmer, 140-258—of an employer of labor, Robertson v. Pickerell, 77-302—of a partner, Loan Assn. v. Ferrell, 114-301; Murray v. Penny, 108-324; Rencher v. Anderson, 95-208—of one who is guilty of conversion, Meekins v. Simpson, 176-130; Smith v. Durham, 127-417; Ritch v. Oates, 122-634; University v. Bank, 96-280; Bryant v. Peebles, 92-176; Earp v. Richardson, 81-5; Blount v. Parker, 78-128; Carroway v. Burbank, 12-306—of obligor in bond, Ervin v. Brooks, 111-358—of one claiming against remainderman during life estate, Pritchard v. Williams, 175-319; Shaw v. Ward, 175-192; Graves v. Causey, 170-175; Norcum v. Savage, 140-472; Joyner v. Futrell, 136-301; Griffin v. Thomas, 128-310; Wooten v. R. R., 128-119; Hunniceutt v. Brooks, 116-788—of grantee of the legal title from trustee as against cestui que trust, Cherry v. Power Co., 142-404—of person who received money on executory contract where contract not executed, Tomlinson v. Bennett, 145-279.

In breach of contract for services rendered intestate: Helsabeck v. Doub, 167-205; Freeman v. Brown, 151-111; Miller v. Lash, 85-54. For breach of contract generally: Dry Kiln Co. v. Ellington, 172-481; Holden v. Royall, 169-676. Between principal and agent: Gooch v. Bank, 176-213. Dissolution of partnership: Moore v. Westbrook, 156-482. Causes of action before 1868: Brown v. Wilson, 174-668; Edwards v. Lemmond, 136-330. Assignee of judgment against assignor for defects: Mfg. Co. v. Fertilizer Co., 150-417.

WHEN STATUTE BEGINS TO RUN NOTHING STOPS IT. Frederick v. Williams, 103-189; Chaney v. Powell, 103-160; Mebane v. Patrick, 46-27; Barden v. Stickney, 132-416; Copeland v. Collins, 122-619; Neal v. Nelson, 117-393; Grady v. Wilson, 115-344; Koonce v. Pelletier, 115-234; Hughes v. Boone, 114-54; Helm Co. v. Griffin, 112-356; Asbury v. Fair, 111-251.

NECESSITY OF PLEADING THE STATUTE. Statute of presumptions does not have to be pleaded: Ins. Co. v. Edwards, 124-116; Crawford v. McLellan, 87-169—but statute of limitations must be pleaded: Roberts v. Baldwin, 155-276; Boone v. Peebles, 126-824; Ins. Co. v. Edwards, 124-116; Bank v. Loughran, 122-668; Albertson v. Terry, 109-8; Guthrie v. Bacon, 107-337; Green v. R. R., 73-524—except in possessory actions where title is to be shown: Ditmore v. Rexford, 165-620; Whitaker v. Jenkins, 138-476; Ins. Co. v. Edwards, 124-117; Freeman v. Sprague, 82-366; Asbury v. Fair, 111-251; Shelton v. Wilson, 131-501. Defendant not allowed to plead the statute where delay was caused by his telling plaintiff he would not plead it: Bareroft v. Roberts, 91-363; Daniel v. Comrs., 74-494; Joyner v. Massey, 97-148; Hill v. Hilliard, 103-34; Cecil v. Henderson, 121-244; Brown v. R. R., 147-217. Administrator is not compelled to plead statute, but must exercise good faith: Person v. Montgomery, 120-111; McNair v. Cooper, 174-566; Twiddy v. Mullen, 176-16.

LIMITATION BARRING ACTION, HOW PLEADED. Can only be done by answer: Wilmington v. McDonald, 133-548; King v. Powell, 127-10; Ins. Co. v. Edwards, 124-116; Bacon v. Berry, 85-124; Long v. Bank, 81-41—not by demurrer: Moody v. Wike, 170-541; Oldham v. Rieger, 145-254; King v. Powell, 127-10; Bacon v. Berry, 85-124; Daniel v. Comrs., 74-494; but see Dockery v. Hamlet, 162-118—nor by motion to dismiss: Oldham v. Rieger, 145-254; Lynn v. Lowe, 88-483; nor by motion to vacate judgment: Williams v. Mullis, 87-159—and must set up the facts, not a conclusion of law: Bank v. Warehouse Co., 172-602; Duckworth v. Duckworth, 144-621; Pipes v. Lumber Co., 132-612; Murray v. Barden, 132-136; Heyer v. Rivenbark, 128-270; Turner v. Shuffler, 108-642; Pope v. Andrews, 90-401. Other cases where held insufficiently pleaded: Murray v. Barden, 132-136; Humble v. Mebane, 89-410. The burden is upon the plaintiff when defendant pleads the statute: Tillery v. Lumber Co., 172-296; Ditmore v. Rexford, 165-620; House v. Arnold, 122-220; Stubbs v. Motz, 113-458; Moore v. Garner, 101-374. When the statute is a question of law: Roberts v. Baldwin, 155-276; Oldham v. Rieger, 145-254.

STATUTE DOES NOT RUN. Against one in possession: Jefferson v. Lumber Co., 165-46; Porter v. White, 128-42; Norton v. McDevitt, 122-755; Stith v. McKee, 87-389—against subscriptions of stock payable as called for, Cooper v. Security Co., 127-219—against municipality holding land in trust, when: Turner v. Comrs., 127-153—against a charge upon land for owelty of partition: In re Ausborn, 122-42; Walker, ex parte, 107-340; Dobbins v. Rex, 106-444; Sutton v. Edwards, 40-425. See sections 434, 435. For change of statute, see under section 436.

406. Deemed pleaded by insane party. On the trial of any action or special proceeding to which an insane person is a party, such insane person is deemed to have pleaded specially any defense, and shall on trial have the benefit of any defense, whether pleaded or not, that might have been made for him by his guardian or attorney under the provisions of this chapter. The court, at any time before the action or proceeding is finally disposed of, may order the bringing in, by proper notice, of one or more of the near relatives or friends of the insane person, and may make such other order as it deems necessary for his proper defense.

Rev., s. 361; 1889, c. 89, s. 2.

Insane person deemed to have pleaded the statute of limitations: Hospital v. Fountain, 129-90; In re Hybart, 119-366.

407. Disabilities. A person entitled to commence an action, except for a penalty or forfeiture, or against a sheriff or other officer for an escape, who is at the time the cause of action accrued either—

1. Within the age of twenty-one years; or Self v. Shugart, 135-185; Lafferty v. Young, 125-296; Amis v. Stephens, 111-174; Gudger v. R. R., 106-481; Frederick v. Williams, 103-189; Chancey v. Powell, 103-159; Campbell v. Crater, 95-162. Infant having guardian nevertheless protected: Cross v. Craven, 120-331; see Norman v. Walker, 101-24.

2. Insane; or

Outland v. Outland, 118-138; Asbury v. Fair, 111-251; Warlick v. Plonk, 103-81; Ellington v. Ellington, 103-55. Insanity once shown to exist, the presumption is that it continues, but this is rebuttable: Beard v. R. R., 143-137.

3. Imprisoned on a criminal charge, or in execution under sentence for a criminal offense;

See Holly v. Assurance Co., 170-4.

May bring his action within the times herein limited, after the disability is removed, except in an action for the recovery of real property, or to make an entry or defense founded on the title to real property, or to rents and services out of the same, when he must commence his action, or make his entry, within three years next after the removal of the disability, and at no time thereafter.

Rev., s. 362; Code, ss. 148, 163; C. C. P., ss. 27, 142; 1899, c. 78.

For disabilities in an action to recover land sold for taxes, see section 2761. Adverse possession relates only to the true title, and the exemptions in the statute as to those under disability can apply only to one having by virtue of his title a right of entry or of action: Berry v. Lumber Co., 141-386. Full time allowed after disability removed except in case of land, then only three years: Cooley v. Lee, 170-18. This section does not apply to presumptions: In re Dupree's Will, 163-256; Houck v. Adams, 98-519; Summerlin v. Cowles, 101-473.

408. Disability of marriage. In any action in which the defense of adverse possession is relied upon, the time computed as constituting such adverse possession shall not include any possession had against a feme covert during coverture prior to February thirteenth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

Rev., s. 363; 1899, c. 78, ss. 2, 3.

Adverse possession prior to February 13, 1899, as to married woman: Berry v. Lumber Co., 141-386; Norcum v. Savage, 140-472; Gaskins v. Allen, 137-426; Earnhardt v. Clement, 137-91; Fowler v. McLaughlin, 131-209; Hill v. Lane, 149-267; Bond v. Beverly, 152-56; Holmes v. Carr, 172-213. The statute runs against claim of wife against husband: Graves v. Howard, 159-594. Coverture as a disability not recognized: Carter v. Reaves, 167-131.

409. Cumulative disabilities. When two or more disabilities coexist at the time the right of action accrues, or when one disability supervenes an existing one, the limitation does not attach until they all are removed.

Cases directly supporting statute: Miller v. Bumgardner, 109-412; Cross v. Craven, 120-331; Epps v. Flowers, 101-160; Campbell v. Crater, 95-156; Davis v. Perry, 89-422; Lippard v. Troutman, 72-553; Davis v. Cooke, 10-608. Cases merely citing statute: Smith v. Tew, 127-301; Boone v. Peebles, 126-826.

410. Disability must exist when right of action accrues. No person may avail himself of a disability, unless it existed when his right of action accrued.

Where right accrued before disability began, it avails nothing: Self v. Shugart, 135-187; Kennedy v. Cromwell, 108-1; Causcy v. Snow, 122-326; Erwin v. Brooks, 111-358. Where right accrued during lifetime of ancestor, it does not stop, even though heir under disability: Chaney v. Powell, 103-159; Frederick v. Williams, 103-189. That disability existed when right of action accrued should be set out in pleading: Gudger v. R. R., 106-481.

411. Defendant out of state; when action begun or judgment enforced. If, when the cause of action accrues or judgment is rendered or docketed against a person, he is out of the state, action may be commenced, or judgment enforced, within the times herein limited, after the return of the person into this state, and if, after such cause of action accrues or judgment is rendered or docketed, such person departs from and resides out of this state, or remains continuously absent therefrom for one year or more, the time of his absence shall not be a part of the time limited for the commencement of the action, or the enforcement of the judgment.

Rev., s. 366; Code, s. 162; C. C. P., s. 41; 1881, c. 258, ss. 1, 2.

Section analyzed and explained: Armfield v. Moore, 97-34. Applies to individuals and corporations: Green v. Ins. Co., 139-309; Williams v. B. and L. Assn., 131-267; Alpha Mills v. Engine Co., 116-797. Statute not suspended when foreign corporation has process agent in the state: Oliver v. Fidelity Co., 176-598; Anderson v. Fidelity Co., 174-417; Cuthbertson v. Bank, 170-531; Volivar v. Cedar Works, 152-656; Bennett v. Telegraph Co., 152-671. Cases contra: Volivar v. Cedar Works, 152-34; Green v. Ins. Co., 139-309; Williams v. B. and L. Assn., 131-267. A nonresident owning property in this state does not affect this section: Grist v. Williams, 111-53. Mortgagor and mortgagee nonresident: Love v. West, 169-13; Owens v. Hornthal, 156-19. Time of absence for more than a year excluded: Arthur v. Henry, 157-393. "After return of such person" does not mean a casual passing through state: Lee v. McKoy, 118-518; Armfield v. Moore, 97-34. Where one of two tenants in common is nonresident, but is in possession by tenant, the section does not apply: Weaver v. Love, 146-414. Section does not apply to plaintiff out of state: Ewbank v. Lyman, 170-505; Cox v. Brower, 114-422. Section does not affect presumptions: In re Dupree's Will, 163-256. This section does not apply to causes of action accruing prior to August 24, 1868: Johnston v. Lumber Co., 144-719; Blue v. Gilchrist, 84-239. Section referred to in Navigation Co. v. Williams, 111-36.

412. Death before limitation expires; action by or against executor. If a person entitled to bring an action dies before the expiration of the time limited for the commencement thereof, and the cause of action survives, an action may be commenced by his representatives after the expiration of that time, and within one year from his death. If a person against whom an action may be brought dies before the expiration of the time limited for the commencement thereof, and the cause of action survives, an action may be commenced against his personal representative after the expiration of that time, and within one year after the issuing of letters testamentary or of administration, provided the letters are issued within ten years of the death of such person. If the claim upon which the cause of action is based is filed with the personal representative within the time above specified, and admitted by him, it is not necessary to bring an action upon such claim to prevent the bar, but no action shall be brought against the personal representative upon such claim after his final settlement.

NOTE. For survival of actions, see Administration, ss. 159-163.

For presenting claims, see sections 45 and 98-101, inclusive. This is an enabling, not a disabling, statute, and extends the time when necessary: Geitner v. Jones, 176-542; Lowder v. Hathecock, 150-438; Person v. Montgomery, 120-111; Redmond v. Pippen, 113-93; Benson v. Bennett, 112-505. It applies only when the death occurs before the claim is barred: Parker v. Harden, 121-57; Vaughan v. Hines, 87-450. Extension of one year as affecting the rights of the creditor and the debtor: Lowder v. Hathecock, 150-438; Coppersmith v. Wilson, 107-31. Cases where debtor died before statute barred creditor from suing: Harris v. Davenport, 132-697; Phifer v. Ford, 130-208; Winslow v. Benton, 130-58; Hinton v. Pritchard, 126-8; Stonestreet v. Frost, 123-640; Copeland v. Collins, 122-619; Benson v. Bennett, 112-505; Turner v. Shuffler, 108-642; Woodlief v. Bragg, 108-571; Robertson v. Dunn, 87-191. Cases generally sustaining section: Winslow v. Benton, 130-58; Coppersmith v. Wilson, 107-31.

The requirement that letter must be issued within ten years took effect August 1, 1905: Matthews v. Peterson, 150-132, and 150-134. What "filing" prevents the bar of the statute: Harris v. Davenport, 132-697; Hinton v. Pritchard, 126-8; Stonestreet v. Frost, 123-640; Justice v. Gallert, 131-393; Whitehurst v. Dey, 90-542; Woodlief v. Bragg, 108-571.

Effect of section on judgment taken prior to death of intestate: Stonestreet v. Frost, 123-640; Mauney v. Holmes, 87-428; Daniel v. Laughlin, 87-433; Brittain v. Dickson, 104-547; Benson v. Bennett, 112-505; Hughes v. Boone, 114-54. It does not extend the lien of a judgment: Matthews v. Peterson, 150-132. Effect when administrator dies or is removed: Burgwyn v. Daniel, 115-115; Smith v. Brown, 99-377; Brawley v. Brawley, 109-524; Dunlap v. Hendley, 92-115; Fisher v. Ballard, 164-326.

Cases merely citing section: Grady v. Wilson, 115-347; Gilechrist v. Middleton, 107-669; Smith v. Brown, 101-353; Syme v. Badger, 96-210; Vaughan v. Hines, 87-450; Hall v. Gibbs, 87-4; Flemming v. Flemming, 85-130.

413. Time of stay by injunction or prohibition. When the commencement of an action is stayed by injunction or statutory prohibition, the time of the continuance of the injunction or prohibition is not part of the time limited for the commencement of the action.

Rev., s. 368; Code, s. 167; C. C. P., s. 46.

Time of stay by appeal not counted, Adams v. Guy, 106-275—by injunction not counted: Walton v. Pearson, 85-35.

414. Time during controversy on probate of will or granting letters. In reckoning time when pleaded at a bar to actions, that period shall not be counted which elapses during any controversy on the probate of a will or granting letters of administration, unless there is an administrator appointed during the pendency of the action, and it is provided that an action may be brought against him.

Rev., s. 369; Code, s. 168; C. C. P., s. 47.

This section applies only where there is no administrator or collector during the contest: Hughes v. Boone, 114-54. Merely referred to in Frederick v. Williams, 103-191. This is intended to protect creditors and not heirs or devisees: Stalges v. Simmons, 170-42.

415. New action within one year after nonsuit, etc. If an action is commenced within the time prescribed therefor, and the plaintiff is nonsuited, or a judgment therein reversed on appeal, or is arrested, the plaintiff or, if he dies and the cause of action survives, his heir or representative may commence a new action within one year after such nonsuit, reversal, or arrest of judgment, if the costs in the original action have been paid by the plaintiff before the commencement of the new suit, unless the original suit was brought in forma pauperis.

Rev., s. 370; Code, ss. 142, 166; C. C. P., ss. 21, 45; 1915, c. 211, s. 1.

Section intended to extend the period of limitation, not to abridge it: Grimes v. Andrews, 170-515; Lumber Co. v. Hayes, 157-333; Keener v. Goodson, 89-273. Cases where nonsuit taken or action dismissed and another action brought within a year: Hines v. Lumber Co., 174-294; Henderson v. Eller, 147-582; Timber Co. v. Butler, 134-50; Hood v. Tel. Co., 135-622; Evans v. Alridge, 133-378; Loeklear v. Bullard, 133-260; Harris v. Davenport, 132-697; Prevatt v. Harrelson, 132-250; Halcombe v. Comrs., 89-346; Wharton v. Comrs., 82-11; Straus v. Beardsley, 79-59; Freshwater v. Baker, 52-255; Long v. Orrell, 35-123; Skillington v. Allison, 9-347; Williams v. B. and L. Assn., 131-270; Meekins v. R. R., 131-1; Bank v. Loughran, 122-671. After action or appeal is dismissed in supreme court: Smith v. Manufacturing Co., 151-260; Lumber Co. v. Harrison, 148-333; Tussey v. Owens, 147-335. The section applies to a new action for wrongful death after a nonsuit, under section 160: Trull v. R. R., 151-545; but not under the federal statute: Belch v. R. R., 176-22. Where judgment reversed and new action within a year: Woodcock v. Bostie, 128-243.

The cause of action and the parties should be the same: Queleh v. Futch, 174-395; but where husband and wife sue and are nonsuited, the husband may sue again: Whetstine v. Wilson, 104-385; or where one partner sues alone when the action should have been in firm name: Martin v. Young, 85-156.

The requirement as to the payment of costs does not apply if the action could not be barred: Summers v. R. R., 173-398; Bradshaw v. Bank, 172-632. Cases merely referring to section: Webb v. Hicks, 125-203; Collins v. Smith, 109-470; McElhenny v. Savings and Trust Co., 108-311; Mfg. Co. v. Brooks, 106-112; Currie v. Clark, 101-331; Royster v. Comrs., 98-152.

416. New promise must be in writing. No acknowledgment or promise is evidence of a new or continuing contract, from which the statutes of limitations run, unless it is contained in some writing signed by the party to be charged thereby; but this section does not alter the effect of any payment of principal or interest.

This section does not apply to judgments: McCaskill v. McKennon, 121-190; Hughes v. Boone, 114-54; McDonald v. Dickson, 87-404—nor to promises not to plead statute: Cecil v. Henderson, 121-246; Joyner v. Massey, 97-153; Oliver v. Fidelity Co., 176-598; Brown v. R. R., 147-217. A new promise, if not in writing, cannot defeat operation of statute of limitations: Raby v. Stuman, 127-463; Helm Co. v. Griffin, 112-356; Greenleaf v. R. R., 91-33; Pool v. Bledsoe, 85-2; Kull v. Farmer, 78-340; Faison v. Bowden, 74-45; Flemming v. Flemming, 85-127.

WHAT AMOUNTS TO "ACKNOWLEDGMENT" OR "PROMISE." Must be express, specific and unconditional: Phillips v. Giles, 175-409; Cooper v. Jones, 128-40; Helm Co. v. Griffin, 112-356; Taylor v. Miller, 113-340; Greenleaf v. R. R., 91-33; Riggs v. Roberts, 85-152. Must be clear, positive, and distinctly refer to debt: Hussey v. Kirkman, 95-63. Must show a clear intention to renew the debt: Simonton v. Clark, 65-525. Must extend to entire debt and to pay in money: Wells v. Hill, 118-900; but see as to payment in specific articles, Young v. Alford, 113-130. Must be certain in its terms or able to be so made: Shoe Store Co. v. Wiseman, 174-716; Long v. Oxford, 104-408. Must be made to party or agent or attorney: Hussey v. Kirkman, 95-63—not to stranger: Parker v. Shuford, 76-219; Faison v. Bowden, 76-425. "I propose to settle": Taylor v. Miller, 113-340. "Renewed" marked on note and signed and dated by maker: Morris v. Osborne, 104-609. Offer of compromise at specific sum after suit brought: Pope v. Andrews, 90-401. Memorandum between mortgagor and mortgagee: Royster v. Farrell, 115-306. Not necessary to be formal writing, but may be by letters, entries, etc.: Taylor v. Miller, 113-340; Morris v. Osborne, 104-609.

WHAT DOES NOT AMOUNT TO "ACKNOWLEDGMENT" OR "PROMISE." "Can't pay what I owe you, but will pay soon or next winter": Faison v. Bowden, 72-406. "You have my due bill and I'm going to pay it as soon as I possibly can": Cooper v. Jones, 128-41. "As soon as I can, I'm going to settle all my indebtedness": Ibid.

PARTIAL PAYMENT. Must be made as recognition of debt and of obligation to pay balance: Battle v. Battle, 116-161—and if not so made it is ineffectual to defeat the bar of the statute, Supply Company v. Dowd, 146-191. Where several debts against defendant, and he pays something without specifying on which debt: French v. Richardson, 167-41; Supply Co. v. Dowd, 146-191; Young v. Alford, 118-215; White v. Beaman, 96-122; Raymond v. Newman, 122-52; Moss v. Adams, 39-42. Where one rebutting account credited on another: Bank v. Harris, 96-118.

Partial payment does not stop the statute from running, but renews debt: Copeland v. Collins, 122-619. When made before debt barred, renews the debt as to principals and sureties: Houser v. Fayssoux, 168-1; Garrett v. Reeves, 125-529; Moore v. Goodwin, 109-218; Copeland v. Collins, 122-619; Wood v. Barber, 90-76; Campbell v. Brown, 86-376; Green v. Greensboro College, 83-449; but not as to indorsers: Barber v. Absher Co., 175-602; Houser v. Fayssoux, 168-1; Garrett v. Reeves, 125-529; LeDuc v. Butler, 112-458. When made by principal after debt barred, renews debt as to principal: Garrett v. Reeves, 125-529—but not as to partners after partnership dissolved who do not assent to it, Wood v. Barber, 90-79—nor as to indorsers, unless approving, Garrett v. Reeves, 125-529—nor as to sureties, Garrett

v. Reeves, 125-529—but otherwise when surety pays, Long v. Miller, 93-233. See section 417. Payment by a receiver does not suspend the statute: Bank v. Hamrick, 162-216; but payment of money realized from sale of collaterals in hands of third person will suspend statute: Bank v. King, 164-303.

Cases merely referring to section: Christmas v. Haywood, 119-134; Grady v. Wilson, 115-348; Grant v. Burgwyn, 84-560.

417. Admission by partner or comaker. No act, admission or acknowledgment by partner after the dissolution of the copartnership, or by any of the makers of a promissory note or bond after the statute of limitations has barred the same, is evidence to repel the statute, except against the partner or maker of the promissory note or bond doing the act or making the admission or acknowledgment.

Rev., s. 372; Code, s. 171; C. C. P., s. 50.

As to effect of payments by principal, joint obligors or sureties, see section 416. Judgment suffered by one of several obligors does not bind the others: Lane v. Richardson, 79-159; Rogers v. Clements, 98-180. Part payment by payee, who is indorser, will not repel the bar, as this section does not apply: LeDuc v. Butler, 112-458. Cases merely referring to section: Moore v. Goodwin, 109-219; Wood v. Barber, 90-79.

418. Undisclosed partner. The statutes of limitations apply to a civil action brought against an undisclosed partner only from the time the partnership became known to the plaintiff.

Rev., s. 373; 1893, c. 151.

419. Cotenants. If in actions by tenants in common or joint tenants of personal property, to recover the same, or damages for its detention or injury, any of them are barred of their recovery by limitation of time, the rights of the others are affected thereby, but they may recover according to their right and interest, notwithstanding such bar.

Rev., s. 374; Code, s. 173; C. C. P., s. 52.

For effect of statute and change in the law, see Cameron v. Hicks, 141-36.

420. Applicable to actions by state. The limitations prescribed by law apply to civil actions brought in the name of the state, or for its benefit, in the same manner as to actions by or for the benefit of private parties.

Rev., s. 375; Code, s. 159; C. C. P., s. 38.

Insane person pleading statute as against state: Hospital v. Fountain, 129-90. State can plead the statute to prevent recommendatory decision by the supreme court: Cowles v. The State, 115-173. The maxim, "Nullum tempus occurrit regi," does not now apply: Furman v. Timberlake, 93-67; City of Wilmington v. Cronly, 122-387; and the statute runs against the state and those claiming under it, unless otherwise provided: Tillery v. Lumber Co., 172-296; Threadgill v. Wadesboro, 170-641. No statute of limitations runs against the state in an action to recover tax money, unless special provision in revenue act: Wilmington v. Cronly, 122-388.

421. Action on open account. In an action brought to recover a balance due upon a mutual, open and current account, where there have been reciprocal demands between the parties, the cause of action accrues from the time of the latest item proved in the account on either side.

Rev., s. 376; Code, s. 160; C. C. P., s. 39.

A mutual open and current account defined: Hollingsworth v. Allen, 176-629; Stokes v. Taylor, 104-394. One may be by direct agreement or may be inferred from circumstances:

Stancill v. Burgwyn, 124-69. Such inferred agreement may be when one party, with the knowledge of the other, keeps an account of the debits and credits: Stokes v. Taylor, 104-394; Mauney v. Coit, 86-463; Hussey v. Burgwyn, 51-385; Green v. Caldeleugh, 18-321. Where there are mutual accounts statute runs from the last dealing between the parties: Robertson v. Pickerell, 77-303—from last item, Stokes v. Taylor, 104-394.

422. Not applicable to bank bills. The limitations prescribed by law do not affect actions to enforce the payment of bills, notes or other evidences of debt, issued or put in circulation as money by banking corporations incorporated under the laws of this state.

Rev., s. 377; Code, s. 174; C. C. P., s. 53; 1874-5, c. 170.

423. Actions against bank directors or stockholders. The limitations prescribed by law do not affect actions against directors or stockholders of any banking association incorporated under the laws of this state, to recover a penalty or forfeiture imposed, or to enforce a liability created by law; but such actions must be brought within three years after the discovery by the aggrieved party of the facts upon which the penalty or forfeiture attached, or the liability was created.

See Houston v. Thornton, 122-375.

424. Aliens in time of war. When a person is an alien subject, or a citizen of a country at war with the United States, the time of the continuance of the war is not a part of the period limited for the commencement of the action.

Rev., s. 379; Code, s. 165; C. C. P., s. 44.

Right of alien enemy to sue: Krachanake v. Mfg. Co., 175-435.

ART. 4. LIMITATIONS, REAL PROPERTY

425. Title against state. The state will not sue any person for, or in respect of, any real property, or the issue or profits thereof, by reason of the right or title of the state to the same—

1. When the person in possession thereof, or those under whom he claims, has been in the adverse possession thereof for thirty years, this possession having been ascertained and identified under known and visible lines or boundaries; which shall give a title in fee to the possessor.

Thirty years adverse possession takes title out of state even though possession not continuous nor chain of title complete: Tillery v. Lumber Co., 172-296; May v. Mfg. Co., 164-262; Locklear v. Savage, 159-236; Bullard v. Hollingsworth, 140-634; Wilson v. Wilson, 125-525; Walden v. Ray, 121-237; Dills v. Hampton, 92-565; Yount v. Miller, 91-331; Bryan v. Spivey, 109-57; Mallett v. Simpson, 94-37; Cowles v. Hall, 90-330; Davis v. McArthur, 78-357; Reed v. Earnhart, 32-516; Candler v. Lunsford, 20-542; Fitzrandolph v. Norman, 4-564; Pearson v. Simmons, 98-281; Davidson v. Arledge, 97-172; Osborne v. Anderson, 89-261; Melvin v. Waddell, 75-361. Privity between successive tenants: May v. Mfg. Co., 164-262; Price v. Jackson, 91-11; Phipps v. Pierce, 94-514. Possession must be actual and not constructive: May v. Mfg. Co., 164-262; Locklear v. Savage, 159-236.

2. When the person in possession thereof, or those under whom he claims, has been in possession under colorable title for twenty-one years, this possession having been ascertained and identified under known and visible lines or boundaries.

Rev., s. 380; Code, s. 139; C. C. P., s. 18; R. C., c. 65, s. 2.

See section 405. For cases on colorable title, possession, adverse possession and known and visible lines and boundaries, and lappage, see under section 428.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS. General doctrine of subsection 2 substantiated and explained: Barfield v. Hill, 163-262; Gardner v. Lumber Co., 144-110; Walker v. Moses, 113-527. Constructive possession sufficient: May v. Mfg. Co., 164-262; Hamilton v. Icard, 114-532. No constructive possession will ripen a defective will into a good one: Williams v. Wallace, 78-354.

Plaintiff must recover on the strength of his own title as against the world, or against defendant by estoppel: Pope v. Pope, 176-283; Campbell v. Everhart, 139-503; Alexander v. Gibbon, 118-796; Mobley v. Griffin, 104-115; Conwell v. Mann, 100-234; Pearson v. Simmons, 98-281. Adverse possession under color need not be entirely continuous: Lewis v. Overby, 126-347; Hamilton v. Icard, 114-532; Reed v. Earnhardt, 32-516; but see Malloy v. Bruden, 86-251. When trustee in an active trust is barred, the cestui que trust also barred: Kirkman v. Holland, 139-185. Not necessary to plead the statute, but defendant can make simple denial: Whitaker v. Jenkins, 138-476; Ins. Co. v. Edwards, 124-117; Freeman v. Sprague, 82-366; Asbury v. Fair, 111-251; Shelton v. Wilson, 131-501; see section 405. When both parties claim title from a common source, not necessary to show title out of the state: Van Gilder v. Bullen, 159-291; Sample v. Lumber Co., 150-161; McCoy v. Lumber Co., 149-1; Warren v. Williford, 148-474. What does and what does not amount to an ouster: Day v. Howard, 73-1; Ward v. Farmer, 92-93; Dobbins v. Dobbins, 141-210. Possession of ancestor and of tenant in dower added to that of heirs: Jacobs v. Williams, 173-276; Atwell v. Shook, 133-391.

426. Possession presumed out of state. In all actions involving the title to real property title is conclusively deemed to be out of the state unless it is a party to the action, but this section does not apply to the trials of protested entries laid for the purpose of obtaining grants, nor to actions instituted prior to May 1, 1917.

Does not apply to proceedings before May 1, 1917: Riddle v. Riddle, 176-485.

427. Such possession valid against claimants under state. All such possession as is described in the preceding section, under such title as is therein described, is hereby ratified and confirmed, and declared to be a good and legal bar against the entry or suit of any person, under the right or claim of the state.

Threadgill v. Wadesboro, 170-641; Prevatt v. Harrelson, 132-350; Walker v. Moses, 113-527.

428. Seven years possession under colorable title. When a person or those under whom he claims is and has been in possession of any real property, under known and visible lines and boundaries and under colorable title, for seven years, no entry shall be made or action sustained against such possessor by a person having any right or title to the same, except during the seven years next after his right or title has descended or accrued, who in default of suing within that time shall be excluded from any claim thereafter made; and such possession, so held, is a perpetual bar against all persons not under disability.

For cases as to adverse possession of tenants in common, see under section 430. Cases directly supporting section: Gudger v. Hensley, 82-481; Johnson v. Parker, 79-475; Williams v. Wallace, 78-354; Moore v. Thompson, 69-120; Cox v. Ward, 107-507; Hamilton v. Icard, 114-532; Walker v. Moses, 113-527; Broadwell v. Morgan, 142-475; Brown v. Brown, 106-452; Simpson v. Simpson, 107-552; Mfg. Co. v. Brooks, 106-107; Ellington v. Ellington, 103-54; Allen v. Salinger, 103-14; Campbell v. Crater, 95-162; Logan v. Fitzgerald, 92-645.

Plaintiff must recover on strength of his own title: Pope v. Pope, 176-283. Must show both color of title and adverse possession: White v. Edenton, 171-21; Cedar Works v. Lumber Co., 168-391; Henly v. Wilson, 77-218. Not necessary that entry should be under color, when color obtained later: Hawkins v. Cedar Works, 122-87. Adverse possession under color for seven years before, and three years after, death of married woman, bars the heirs: Swift v. Dixon, 131-42. The tacking of possessions together to make up the seven years: Vanderbilt v. Chapman, 172-809; Barrett v. Brewer, 153-547; Bond v. Beverly, 152-57; Morrison v. Craven, 120-327; Atwell v. Shook, 133-387; Alexander v. Gibbon, 118-796; Scarboro v. Scarboro, 122-234. Seven years possession and cultivation of land under junior grant makes title as against senior grant: Asbury v. Fair, 111-251; but not since enactment of section 7545: Weaver v. Love, 146-415. The seven years adverse possession need not be the seven years next preceding action: Christenbury v. King, 85-229; Alexander v. Cedar Works, 177-137; Waldo v. Wilson, 174-626; nor need there be a tortious entry and expulsion: Ibid.—but it must be continuous and uninterrupted, Bland v. Beasley, 145-168; Cox v. Ward, 107-507; Williams v. Wallace, 78-356. Not necessary to plead the statute; a general denial will do: Mfg. Co. v. Brooks, 106-107, and cases cited under section 405—but where lost deed is relied on defendant must plead it: Wilson v. Wilson, 117-351; Hinton v. Pritchard, 102-94. Seven years adverse possession of the second story of a house under color of title will give title: Asheville Div. v. Aston, 92-578. Adverse possession relates only to the true title, and the exemptions in the statute as to those under disability can apply only to one having by virtue of his title a right of entry or of action: Berry v. Lumber Co., 141-386. Not presumed that father is agent of his child in holding possession: Barrett v. Brewer, 143-88. When trustee of active trust barred, cestui que trust also barred: Kirkman v. Holland, 139-185. When one joint tenant barred, other joint tenants also barred: Cameron v. Hicks, 141-21.

CASES WHERE THIS SECTION REFERRED TO, BUT ESSENTIAL POINTS ANNOTATED ELSEWHERE: Noreum v. Savage, 140-472; Lindsay v. Austin, 139-463; Campbell v. Everhart, 139-504; Johnston v. Case, 131-491; Brown v. Morisey, 128-138; Britton v. Ruffin, 122-113; McLean v. Smith, 114-357; Zimmerman v. Robinson, 114-39; Cheatham v. Young, 113-161; Miller v. Bumgardner, 109-412; Gilchrist v. Middleton, 108-705; Lenoir v. Mining Co., 106-473; Staton v. Mullis, 92-623; Lewis v. McDowell, 88-261; Clayton v. Rose, 87-106; Isler v. Dewey, 84-345; Hill v. Averton, 81-393; Day v. Howard, 73-1.

CASES WHERE THERE IS LAPPAGE: Currie v. Gilchrist, 147-648; Simmons v. Box Co., 153-257; Mintz v. Russ, 161-538; Lumber Co. v. Swain, 161-566; Hamilton v. Icard, 114-532; McLean v. Smith, 114-357; Zimmerman v. Robinson, 114-39; Logan v. Fitzgerald, 92-645; Brady v. Maness, 91-135; Asbury v. Fair, 111-251; Scott v. Elkins, 83-424; McAlister v. Devane, 76-57; McCormick v. Monroe, 48-332; Baker v. McDonald, 47-244; Brown's Heirs v. Potter's Heirs, 44-461; Bryson v. Slagle, 44-449; Williams v. Miller, 29-186; Williams v. Buchanan, 23-535; Williams v. Wallace, 78-354; Kitchin v. Wilson, 80-191; King v. Wells, 94-344.

WHAT CONSTITUTES "POSSESSION" HEREUNDER. Exercising such dominion over land and making that use of it to which it is capable of being put in its then state in such repeated manner as to show it is done in the character of owner: Alexander v. Cedar Works, 177-137; Patrick v. Ins. Co., 176-660; Holmes v. Carr, 172-213; McCaskill v. Lumber Co., 169-24; Reynolds v. Palmer, 167-454; Coxe v. Carpenter, 157-557; Berry v. McPherson, 153-4; Baum v. Shooting Club, 96-310; Hamilton v. Icard, 114-538; Patterson v. Mills, 121-258—but when not capable of use at all, see McLean v. Smith, 114-357. Fence built around land unoccupied, for purpose of pasture, is an inference drawn from Osborne v. Johnston, 65-22. Using land for pasture every winter: Wall v. Wall, 142-387. Actual, open, visible occupation of land: Malloy v. Bruden, 86-251. Unequivocal acts of ownership that would have exposed occupant to possessory action at common law: Bland v. Beasley, 145-168; Fuller v. E. City, 118-25; Hamilton v. Icard, 114-532; Shaffer v. Gaynor, 117-15; Everett v. Newton, 118-919; Boomer v. Gibbs, 114-76; Osborne v. Johnston, 65-22. Using a spring and building a spring-house over it: Brittain v. Daniels, 94-981. Building shed, quarrying rock, erecting lime kiln, and cutting wood for fuel in making lime: Moore v. Thompson, 69-120. Constructive possession: Staton v. Mullis, 92-623; Hamilton v. Icard, 114-532; see cases under other paragraphs under this section. One tenant in common holds possession for all: Dobbins v. Dobbins, 141-210; Johnston v. Case, 131-491; Tharpe v. Holcombe, 126-365; Carson v. Carson, 122-645; Page v. Branch, 97-97; Vickers v. Henry, 110-371; Gaylord v. Respass, 92-553; Neely v. Neely, 79-478; Linker v. Benson, 67-150. Every possession is taken to be under possessor's own title: Bryan v. Spivey, 109-57; Nixon v. Williams, 95-103; Hawkins v. Cedar Works, 122-87. Cases as to possession under former similar statutes: Blackstock v.

Cole, 51-560; Morris v. Hayes, 47-93; Lenoir v. South, 32-237; Bynum v. Carter, 26-310; Berryman v. Kelly, 35-269; Bynum v. Thompson, 25-578; Flanniken v. Lee, 23-293; Tredwell v. Reddick, 23-56.

WHAT IS NOT SUFFICIENT "POSSESSION." Grantor and plaintiff had raked and hauled straw off of land, and father of plaintiff had farmed on an acre or two: Prevatt v. Harrelson, 132-250. Planting part of land in tobacco every year, but no one part for over two years, only enclosing while crop growing: Hamilton v. Icard, 114-532. Paying taxes on land and employing agents with respect to it: Ruffin v. Overby, 88-369; Shermer v. Dobbins, 176-547. Occasional entries not sufficient: Williams v. Wallace, 78-354; Shaffer v. Gaynor, 117-15; Hamilton v. Icard, 114-532; Asbury v. Fair, 111-251; Ruffin v. Overby, 105-78; Land Co. v. Floyd, 167-686.

CONSTRUCTIVE POSSESSION. Possession is presumed to follow the title and extend to the whole boundary in the absence of other actual possession: Alsworth v. Cedar Works, 172-17; Ray v. Anders, 164-311; Stewart v. McCormick, 161-625; Pheeny v. Hughes, 158-463; Simmons v. Box Co., 153-257; Bond v. Beverly, 152-57; Haddock v. Leary, 148-378; Currie v. Gilchrist, 147-649; Basnight v. Smith, 112-229; see, also, Mfg. Co. v. Frey, 112-160; Melton v. Monday, 64-295; McCormick v. Monroe, 46-13; Wyman v. Taylor, 124-430.

WHEN POSSESSION IS "ADVERSE." "Adverse possession" defined and discussed: Parker v. Banks, 79-480; Locklear v. Savage, 159-236. Possession by tenant under a parol gift: Wilson v. Wilson, 125-525; Dean v. Gupton, 136-141. Every possession of land by other than the claimant: Ruffin v. Overby, 88-369. No presumption that possession is adverse: Bland v. Beasley, 145-168; Monk v. Wilmington, 137-322; but see Ruffin v. Overby, 88-369; Alexander v. Gibbon, 118-797. An actual, open, visible occupation of land by another: Malloy v. Bruden, 86-251; Patterson v. Mills, 121-258.

By whom adverse possession can be taken: Williams v. Wallace, 78-354. Unequivocal acts of ownership which would have subjected the occupant to a possessory action at common law: Christman v. Hilliard, 167-4; Fowle v. Whitley, 166-445; Fuller v. Elizabeth City, 118-25; Hamilton v. Icard, 114-532; Shaffer v. Gaynor, 117-15; Lewis v. Covington, 130-543; Worth v. Simmons, 121-357; Everett v. Newton, 117-919; Osborne v. Johnston, 65-22. One tenant in common against another: Dobbins v. Dobbins, 141-210; Woodlief v. Woodlief, 136-133; Shannon v. Lamb, 126-38; Jolly v. Bryan, 86-458; Neely v. Neely, 79-478; Covington v. Stewart, 77-148; Page v. Branch, 97-97; Vickers v. Henry, 110-371; Shannon v. Lamb, 126-38; McGill v. Buie, 106-242; Linker v. Benson, 67-150; see, also, Hicks v. Bullock, 96-164. See section 430. Person entering under a void deed, claiming to own land in fee: Kirkman v. Holland, 139-185. As between heir and widow: Brown v. Morrissey, 124-292; Campbell v. Murphy, 55-357. As against remainderman after death of life tenant: Bullin v. Hancock, 138-198; Wilson v. Brown, 134-400; Hauser v. Craft, 134-319; Staton v. Mullis, 92-623. As between mortgagor and mortgagee: Weathersbee v. Goodwin, 175-234; Stancill v. Spain, 133-76; Williams v. Kerr, 113-306; Edwards v. Tipton, 85-479; Parker v. Banks, 79-481. Building fence along marked line supposed to be dividing line, when in fact 25 yards over on his neighbor: Mode v. Long, 64-433. Mineral interest separate from ownership of land: Hoilman v. Johnson, 164-268.

Cases as to adverse possession under former similar statutes: Smith v. Reid, 51-494; Lofitin v. Cobb, 46-406; Powell v. Felton, 33-469; Gilchrist v. McLaughlin, 29-310; Montgomery v. Wynns, 20-667; Murray v. Shanklin, 20-431; Ring v. King, 20-307.

WHEN POSSESSION NOT "ADVERSE." Possession by tenant and those claiming under him: Wilson v. Wilson, 125-525; Dills v. Hampton, 92-566; Alexander v. Gibbon, 118-796; McNeill v. Fuller, 121-209; Bonds v. Smith, 106-553; but see Worth v. Simmons, 121-357. When defendant claiming under color cannot show continuous possession under his title: Johnston v. Case, 131-491. When claimant has good title to tract, part of which he holds adversely, his possession is not adverse as to another part of tract which is not actually occupied and to which he claims title by possession under color of title: Lewis v. Covington, 130-541. One holding land under bond for title not adverse to vendor: Bradsher v. Hightower, 118-399; McNeill v. Fuller, 121-209. Possession not adverse as to remainderman during life estate: Cooley v. Lee, 170-18; Graves v. Causey, 170-175; Brown v. Brown, 168-4;

Cox v. Jernigan, 154-584; Maynard v. Sears, 157-1; Everett v. Newton, 118-919; Melvin v. Waddell, 75-361. Purchasing outstanding title does not admit superior title: Lumber Co. v. Cedar Works, 168-344; s. c., 158-161; Alsworth v. Cedar Works, 172-17.

WHAT IS "COLORABLE TITLE." See section 372. A deed or instrument which purports to pass title, but which fails to do so from want of title in the grantor or some defect in the mode of conveyance: Alsworth v. Cedar Works, 172-17. Judge Gaston's definition: Dobson v. Murphy, 18-586; approved in Ellington v. Ellington, 103-54; Utley v. R. R., 119-720, and Avent v. Arrington, 105-390; Keener v. Goodson, 89-273; but see Austin v. Staten, 126-783; Lindsay v. Beaman, 128-192; distinguished, however, in Janney v. Robbins, 141-400. Judge Hoke's definition in Smith v. Proctor, 139-314. Judge Henderson's definition in Tate v. Southard, 10-119.

Ancient deed, unproven, accompanied by possession: Davis v. Higgins, 91-382. Deed improperly registered: Brown v. Brown, 106-451; Power Co. v. Power Co., 168-219. Unregistered deed is not color of title as against a subsequent deed for valuable consideration and duly registered: Kluttz v. Kluttz, 172-622; King v. McRackan, 168-621; nor when the parties hold from a common source of title; otherwise it is color: Buchanan v. Hedden, 169-222; Moore v. Johnson, 162-266; Gore v. McPherson, 161-638; Janney v. Robbins, 141-400, distinguishing Austin v. Staten, 126-783; Lindsay v. Beaman, 128-192; see, also, Davis v. Higgins, 91-382; Hunter v. Kelly, 92-285; Utley v. R. R., 119-720; Avent v. Arrington, 105-377; Hardin v. Barrett, 51-159; Campbell v. McArthur, 9-33. Record of partition proceedings: Lindsay v. Beaman, 128-192; Smith v. Tew, 127-299; Bynum v. Thompson, 25-578; Lumber Co. v. Cedar Works, 165-83; Alexander v. Cedar Works, 177-137. Deeds made after verdict and judgment fixing parol trust on land: Taylor v. Smith, 121-76. A return upon an execution showing sale of land, with description, purchaser's name and payment of purchase price: Neal v. Nelson, 117-393; Jones v. Putney, 7-562. A judgment in an action for possession: Burns v. Stewart, 162-360. Where several entered land without color and occupied different portions in severalty, then deed was made conveying land in trust for all collectively, but they continued to hold as before: Bryan v. Spivey, 109-57. A deed is colorable title only for land described in it: Davidson v. Arledge, 88-326; Carson v. Carson, 122-645; McRea v. Williams, 52-430—must attach to some particular tract, Barker v. Railway, 125-596—and land must be described in it, Cook v. Pittman, 144-530; King v. Wells, 94-344; Smith v. Fite, 92-319; Dickens v. Barnes, 79-490.

Deed purporting to convey title is color whether grantor owner or not: Britton v. Ruffin, 122-113; Taylor v. Smith, 121-77; Hill v. Wilton, 6-14; Bond v. Beverly, 152-56. Deed by clerk after he goes out of office for land sold while in office: Williams v. Council, 49-206. Sheriff's deed color, when: Worth v. Simmons, 121-357; Mfg. Co. v. Brooks, 106-107; Ferguson v. Wright, 113-537. Tax deeds: Kivett v. Gardner, 169-78; Lumber Co. v. Pearce, 166-588; Greenleaf v. Bartlett, 146-495. Deed by attorney in fact, though power not produced: Smith v. Allen, 112-223. Trustee's deed, though private examination of cestui que trust, a married woman, not taken: Smith v. Allen, 112-223. Deed for land in two counties, proven and recorded in one: Lewis v. Roper, 109-19. Deed by non compos: Ellington v. Ellington, 103-54. Deed signed by husband and wife, but no private examination taken: Perry v. Perry, 99-270; Pearse v. Owens, 3-234; King v. McRaekan, 168-621; Norwood v. Totten, 166-648; but see Cook v. Pittman, 144-530. Deed conveying life estate: Staton v. Mullis, 92-623. Color of title inoperative unless accompanied by possession: Barber v. Railway, 125-596. Mortgage deed: Edwards v. Tipton, 85-479; Stewart v. Lowdermilk, 147-584. A will as color of title: Henley v. Wilson, 81-405; McConnell v. McConnell, 64-342; Trustees v. Blount, 4-455; Evars v. Satterfield, 5-413; Lumber Co. v. Cedar Works, 165-83. A deed obtained by fraud: Seals v. Seals, 165-409. A deed to the former grantor: Chatham v. Lansford, 149-363. Grants from state: Weaver v. Love, 146-415; Kron v. Hinson, 53-347; but see section 7545. Deed of land calling, bounded by a river, is color to the thread of unnavigable stream: Wall v. Wall, 142-387.

WHAT IS NOT "COLORABLE TITLE." An assignment of a homestead is not color of title: Keener v. Goodson, 89-273. Paper-writing without seal, though registered: Johnston v. Case, 131-491. Deed though signed, not color unless delivered: Avent v. Arrington, 105-377. Deed is not color beyond line called for, even though distance call would carry it beyond: Smith v. Headrick, 93-210. Former title of one who mortgaged land which was sold and deeded to purchaser, but mortgagor retained possession: Call v. Daney, 144-494. Original deed to defendant, after his land sold by sheriff and deed made to another: Wilson v. Brown, 134-400.

A deed by one tenant in common is not color of title: Lumber Co. v. Cedar Works, 168-344, 165-83; Dobbins v. Dobbins, 141-210. Deed by tenants in common to husband of wife who was one of the tenants, yet did not sign deed: Carson v. Carson, 122-645. Deed by widow is not color of title: Graves v. Causey, 170-175. No color of title without some paper-writing attempting to convey title, which must not be so plainly and obviously defective as to mislead: Williams v. Scott, 122-545. Deed by devisees of remainder in land where will provided for it to be sold by executor and divided as personalty: Orrender v. Call, 101-399. Deed with insufficient description: Fincannon v. Sudderth, 144-587; Dickens v. Barnes, 79-490; see, also, Perry v. Scott, 109-380; Blow v. Vaughan, 105-198; Reed v. Reed, 93-462; Harrell v. Butler, 92-20; Radford v. Edwards, 88-347; Wharton v. Eborn, 88-344; Farmer v. Batts, 83-387; Capps v. Holt, 58-153.

“KNOWN AND VISIBLE LINES AND BOUNDARIES.” Existence of visible and definite boundary marks necessary in constructive possession: Scott v. Elkins, 83-424. Deed containing no metes and bounds or other description is no evidence of known and visible lines and boundaries: Priece v. Jackson, 91-11.

429. Seizin within twenty years necessary. No action for the recovery or possession of real property shall be maintained, unless it appears that the plaintiff, or those under whom he claims, was seized or possessed of the premises in question within twenty years before the commencement of the action, unless he was under the disabilities prescribed by law.

This and section 432 are to be construed together: Conkey v. Lumber Co., 126-499. Where plaintiff has title he is presumed to have been in possession within the twenty years: Ibid.; Bland v. Beasley, 145-168. Possession must be within the twenty years: Honeycutt v. Brooks, 116-788; Moore v. Curtis, 169-74. Referred to in Dean v. Gupton, 136-142; Covington v. Stewart, 77-151; Mintz v. Russ, 161-538; Stewart v. McCormick, 161-625; Stewart v. Stephenson, 172-81.

430. Twenty years adverse possession. No action for the recovery or possession of real property, or the issues and profits thereof, shall be maintained when the person in possession thereof, or defendant in the action, or those under whom he claims, has possessed the property under known and visible lines and boundaries adversely to all other persons for twenty years; and such possession so held gives a title in fee to the possessor, in such property, against all persons not under disability.

For cases on “colorable title,” “possession,” “adverse possession,” and “known and visible lines and boundaries,” see section 428. For cases on pleading the statute, see section 405.

Possession must be for the required time, but need not be unceasing: Alexander v. Cedar Works, 177-137; Cross v. R. R., 172-119; Berry v. McPherson, 153-4. User or nonuser of easement: Hunter v. West, 172-160; Snowden v. Bell, 159-497; LaRoque v. Kennedy, 156-361; May v. R. R., 151-388. A former owner who has lost title by judgment or deed may acquire new title by adverse possession: Moore v. Curtis, 169-74; Brown v. Brown, 168-4; Chatham v. Lansford, 149-363; Scarboro v. Scarboro, 122-234. Adverse possession by corporation: Cross v. R. R., 172-119; Raleigh v. Durfey, 163-154. Cases directly supporting this section: Wilson v. Wilson, 125-525; Walden v. Ray, 121-237; Batts v. Staton, 123-45; Shaffer v. Bledsoe, 118-279; Covington v. Stewart, 77-148; Melvin v. Waddell, 75-361.

APPLIED TO TENANTS IN COMMON: Gill v. Porter, 176-451; Lester v. Harward, 173-83; McKeel v. Holloman, 163-152; Clary v. Hatton, 152-107; Boggan v. Somers, 152-390; Mott v. Land Co., 146-525; Church v. Bragaw, 144-126; Dobbins v. Dobbins, 141-210; Bullin

v. Hancock, 138-198; Tharpe v. Holcombe, 126-365; Rascoe v. Lumber Co., 124-42; Hampton v. Wheeler, 99-222; Breeden v. McLaurin, 98-307; Hicks v. Bullock, 96-164; Ward v. Farmer, 92-93; Covington v. Stewart, 77-148; Carson v. Carson, 122-645; Ferguson v. Wright, 113-537; Page v. Branch, 97-97; Neely v. Neely, 79-478; Shannon v. Lamb, 126-38; Whitaker v. Jenkins, 138-476; Caldwell v. Neely, 81-114; McMillan v. Gambill, 106-359; Jeter v. Davis, 109-458; Gilchrist v. Middleton, 107-663; Pope v. Mathis, 83-169.

Where one tenant in common attempts to convey the whole estate: Alexander v. Cedar Works, 177-137; Lumber Co. v. Cedar Works, 168-344, 165-83. Where one tenant in common purchases: Alexander v. Cedar Works, 177-137; Jackson v. Baird, 148-29; Amis v. Stephens, 111-172; Gaylord v. Respass, 92-553. Possession under parol partition: Collier v. Paper Corporation, 172-74; Rhea v. Craig, 141-602. When sole seizin is pleaded, who has burden of proof: Lester v. Harward, 173-83; McKeel v. Holloman, 163-132; Honeycut v. Brooks, 116-793.

431. Action after entry. No entry upon real estate shall be deemed sufficient or valid, as a claim, unless an action is commenced thereupon within one year after the making of the entry, and within the time prescribed in this chapter.

Clayton v. Cagle, 97-303.

432. Possession follows legal title. In every action for the recovery or possession of real property, or damages for a trespass on such possession, the person establishing a legal title to the premises is presumed to have been possessed thereof within the time required by law; and the occupation of such premises by any other person is deemed to have been under, and in subordination to, the legal title, unless it appears that the premises have been held and possessed adversely to the legal title for the time prescribed by law before the commencement of the action.

Rev., s. 386; Code, s. 146; C. C. P., s. 25.

Possession presumed to follow the title in the absence of actual possession: Asbury v. Fair, 111-251; Gadsby v. Dyer, 91-311; Kitchin v. Wilson, 80-191; Williams v. Wallace, 78-354; Dobbs v. Gullidge, 20-197; Denning v. Gainey, 95-528; London v. Bear, 84-266; Knight v. Holden, 104-107. Presumption as to possession being adverse: Bland v. Beasley, 145-168; Monk v. Wilmington, 137-322; but see Ruffin v. Overby, 88-369; Alexander v. Gibbon, 118-796. Possession presumed to be under the true title until shown to be adverse: Vanderbilt v. Chapman, 175-11; Land Co. v. Floyd, 171-543; s. c., 167-686; McCaskill v. Walker, 147-195; Bland v. Beasley, 145-168; Straughan v. Tysor, 124-229; Gaylord v. Respass, 92-553.

Cases merely referring to section: Berry v. Lumber Co., 141-396; Dobbins v. Dobbins, 141-219; Kirkman v. Holland, 139-189; Monk v. Wilmington, 137-326, 327; Woodlief v. Wester, 136-166; Roscoe v. Lumber Co., 124-47.

433. Tenant's possession is landlord's. When the relation of landlord and tenant has existed, the possession of the tenant is deemed the possession of the landlord, until the expiration of twenty years from the termination of the tenancy; or where there has been no written lease, until the expiration of twenty years from the time of the last payment of rent, notwithstanding that the tenant may have acquired another title, or may have claimed to hold adversely to his landlord. But such presumptions shall not be made after the periods herein limited.

Tenant's possession is landlord's: McNeill v. Fuller, 121-209. Tenant holding possession under parol gift holds adversely to landlord: Dean v. Gupton, 136-141; Wilson v. Wilson, 125-525. Tenant estopped to deny landlord's title: Mobley v. Griffin, 104-115; Conwell v. Mann, 100-234; Melvin v. Waddell, 75-361; Springs v. Schenck, 99-551; Benton v. Benton, 95-559; Pate v. Turner, 94-47; Abbott v. Cromartie, 72-292; Lawrence v. Eller, 169-211; Nance v. Rourk, 161-646. Estoppel does not operate when tenancy brought about by fraud: McLaurin v. Williams, 175-291. Cases citing section: Bullock v. Bullock, 131-30; Day v. Howard, 73-7.

434. No title by possession of right of way. No railroad, plank road, turnpike or canal company may be barred of, or presumed to have conveyed, any real estate, right of way, easement, leasehold, or other interest in the soil which has been condemned, or otherwise obtained for its use, as a right of way, depot, stationhouse or place of landing, by any statute of limitation or by occupation of the same by any person whatever.

Discussed at length in Beattie v. R. R., 108-432, 433; see, also, Purifoy v. R. R., 108-100; R. R. v. McCaskill, 94-746. Does not apply to right of way not actually condemned, or purchased or taken possession of: R. R. v. Sturgeon, 120-225; also see Beattie v. R. R., 108-432, 433. Cases citing section: Bass v. Navigation Co., 111-455; Durham v. R. R., 104-264; R. R. v. Bunting, 168-579; Earnhardt v. R. R., 157-358; Muse v. R. R., 149-443; R. R. v. Olive, 142-257. Does not apply to right to require railroad to change grade at street crossing: R. R. v. Goldsboro, 155-356.

435. No title by possession of public ways. No person or corporation shall ever acquire any exclusive right to any part of a public road, street, lane, alley, square or public way of any kind by reason of any occupancy thereof or by encroaching upon or obstructing the same in any way, and in all actions, whether civil or criminal, against any person or corporation on account of an encroachment upon or obstruction or occupancy of any public way it shall not be competent for a court to hold that such action is barred by any statute of limitations.

For cases decided prior to passage of statute: Moose v. Carson, 104-431; Turner v. Comrs., 127-153; State v. Long, 94-896; Crump v. Mims, 64-767. No title to street can now be acquired by adverse possession: Threadgill v. Wadesboro, 170-641; Tillery v. Lumber Co., 172-296; Lenoir v. Crabtree, 158-357; State v. Godwin, 145-461. Applied to public square: Gates v. Hill, 158-584.

ART. 5. LIMITATIONS, OTHER THAN REAL PROPERTY

436. Periods prescribed. The periods prescribed for the commencement of actions, other than for the recovery of real property, are as set forth in this article.

Rev., s. 390; Code, s. 151; C. C. P., s. 30.

See section 405. The statute does not run when there is no one capable of suing: Grant v. Hughes, 94-231. No statute applicable to the testing of validity of election for bonds: Jones v. Comrs., 107-248. Nor to the probate of a will: In re Dupree's Will, 163-256; Steadman v. Steadman, 143-345; McCormick v. Jernigan, 110-406.

CHANGE OF STATUTE. Legislature may change time of limitation, but not without giving a reasonable time to sue, and not to interfere with vested rights: State v. Haynie, 169-277; Graves v. Howard, 159-594; Matthews v. Peterson, 150-132; Dunn v. Beaman, 126-766; Culbreth v. Downing, 121-205; Nichols v. R. R., 120-495; Strickland v. Draughan, 91-103; Whitehurst v. Dey, 90-542; Hinton v. Hinton, 61-410.

437. Ten years. Within ten years an action—

1. Upon a judgment or decree of any court of the United States, or of any state or territory thereof, from the date of its rendition. No such action may be brought more than once, or have the effect to continue the lien of the original judgment.

APPLICATION OF STATUTE. Takes place of statute of presumptions: Brown v. Harding, 171-686. Action upon a judgment barred in ten years: McIlhenny v. Savings and Trust Co., 108-311; Brittain v. Dickson, 104-547; Rogers v. Kinsey, 101-559; Lilly v. West, 97-276; Cook v. Moore, 95-1; Gaither v. Sain, 91-304; McDonald v. Dickson, 87-404. Foreign judgments: Arrington v. Arrington, 127-190; Miller v. Leach, 95-231. Any proceeding to enforce a judgment, except simply issuing execution: Barnes v. Fort, 169-431; Smith, ex parte, 134-495; Berry v. Corpening, 90-395; but judgment can be satisfied by levy on property if execution issued every three years: Williams v. Mullis, 87-159; Spicer v. Gambill, 93-378; Sawyers v. Sawyers, 93-321; but see sections 667, 668. Lien of judgment not extended: Barnes v. Fort, 169-431; Fox v. Kline, 85-173; Lyon v. Russ, 84-588. This section does not preclude using judgment as a counterclaim: McClennahan v. Cotten, 83-332. Partial payment on judgment does not arrest the statute: McCaskill v. McKinnon, 121-192; Hughes v. Boone, 114-54; McDonald v. Dickson, 87-404.

Enforcement of decree of state court: Smith, ex parte, 134-495; of foreign court: Arrington v. Arrington, 127-190. Does not apply to interlocutory orders, as for payment of purchase money under decree of sale: Davis v. Pierce, 167-135; Williams v. McFayden, 145-156; Clement v. Ireland, 138-136; Knight v. Houghtalling, 94-408. As to expiration of lien, see section 614. Cases merely referring to section: Shankle v. Ingram, 133-259; Owen v. Paxton, 122-772; Miller v. Leach, 95-231.

2. Upon a sealed instrument against the principal thereto.

Bond v. Wilson, 129-387; Broadfoot v. Fayetteville, 124-478. Guaranty under seal: Coleman v. Fuller, 105-328. Interest on sealed instrument not barred until the principal is: Knight v. Braswell, 70-709. No statute of limitations as to sealed notes prior to 1868; but presumption of payment arose after ten years: Glover v. Flowers, 95-57; Crawford v. McLellan, 87-169. Specialties reduced to judgment are merged and the statute as to judgments applies: Brittain v. Dickson, 104-547. For effect of part payment, see section 416. As to sureties to sealed instruments, see section 441.

3. For the foreclosure of a mortgage, or deed in trust for creditors with a power of sale, of real property, where the mortgagor or grantor has been in possession of the property, within ten years after the forfeiture of the mortgage, or after the power of sale became absolute, or within ten years after the last payment on the same.

Right of foreclosure barred: Love v. West, 169-13; Ferrell v. Hinton, 161-348; Sandlin v. Kearney, 154-596; Bunn v. Braswell, 142-113, 139-135; Miller v. Coxe, 133-578; Stancill v. Spain, 133-76; Harper v. Edwards, 115-246; Williams v. Kerr, 113-306; Woody v. Jones, 113-255; Redmond v. Pippen, 113-93; Capehart v. Detrick, 91-344; Fraser v. Bean, 96-327; Hill v. Hilliard, 103-34; if debt is not barred: Geitner v. Jones, 176-542; debt barred and foreclosure not barred: Jenkins v. Griffin, 175-184; Menzel v. Hinton, 132-660; Capehart v. Detrick, 91-344; Parker v. Grant, 91-338; Rouss v. Ditmore, 122-775; Taylor v. Hunt, 118-172; Jenkins v. Wilkinson, 113-532; Hedrick v. Byerly, 119-420; Arrington v. Rowland, 97-127; Fraser v. Bean, 96-327. Remainderman giving mortgage, time counted, how: Woodlief v. Wester, 136-162. Where mortgage was foreclosed and mortgagor still held possession, question arose as to estoppel of mortgagor to assert claim under original title: Call v. Dancy, 144-494. Foreclosure of mortgage barred by the statute, purchaser gets no title: Hutaff v. Adrian, 112-259. This section does not apply to foreclosure of equities by vendor: Overman v. Jackson, 104-4. In case where neither mortgagor nor mortgagee in possession: Simmons v. Ballard, 102-105.

4. For the redemption of a mortgage, where the mortgagee has been in possession, or for a residuary interest under a deed in trust for creditors, where the trustee or those holding under him has been in possession, within ten years after the right of action accrued.

ACTION FOR REDEMPTION OF LAND UNDER MORTGAGE OR TRUST DEED BARRED. Bernhart v. Hagamon, 144-526; Gray v. Williams, 130-53; Frederick v. Williams, 103-189; Edwards v. Tipton, 85-479; Smith v. Smith, 123-229; Sanderlin v. Cross, 172-234; Owens v. Hornthal, 156-19. Applied to absolute deed intended as a mortgage: Sandlin v. Kearney, 154-596. No adverse holding between mortgagor and mortgagee until condition broken: Weathersbee v. Goodwin, 175-234. In case where neither mortgagor nor mortgagee in possession: Simmons v. Ballard, 102-105; Cauley v. Sutton, 150-327. Second mortgagee cannot have first mortgage canceled because it is barred: Miller v. Coxe, 133-578. Section does not apply to possessory action: McFarland v. Cornwell, 151-428.

Rev., s. 391; Code, s. 152; C. C. P., ss. 14, 31.

NOTE. Sale under power of sale in mortgage barred in ten years, see Mortgages and Deeds of Trust, s. 2589.

Allotment of homestead suspends the statute. See this chapter, s. 728.

438. Seven years. Within seven years an action—

1. On a judgment rendered by a justice of the peace, from its date.

Pleading statute, see section 405. Where rehearing had before justice, the statute begins to run at the date of second judgment: Salmon v. McLean, 116-209. Death of debtor will not arrest running of statute: Mauney v. Holmes, 87-429; Daniel v. Laughlin, 87-433. This section applies to signers of stay of execution: Barringer v. Allison, 78-79; Humphreys v. Buie, 12-378. Applies to action in superior court: Oldham v. Rieger, 148-548. Docketing in superior court does not extend the limitation to ten years: Daniel v. Laughlin, 87-433; Broyles v. Young, 81-315; but see Adams v. Guy, 106-275; Matthews v. Peterson, 152-168; Oldham v. Rieger, 148-548.

2. By a creditor of a deceased person against his personal or real representative, within seven years next after the qualification of the executor or administrator and his making the advertisement required by law for creditors of the deceased to present their claims, where no personal service of such notice in writing is made upon the creditor. A creditor thus barred of a recovery against the representative of any principal debtor is also barred of a recovery against any surety to the debt.

Barred as to administrator: McIlhenny v. Savings and Trust Co., 108-312; Woody v. Brooks, 102-334; Morris v. Syme, 88-453; Lee v. McKoy, 118-518; Bobbitt v. Jones, 107-658; but see Clanton v. Price, 90-96. This subsection does not stop the operation of three-year statute as to sureties: Redmond v. Pippen, 113-90. Where administrator holds money in trust for creditors, statute does not run: Phifer v. Berry, 110-463. Claim filed with clerk taking account, statute does not run: Warden v. McKinnon, 94-378. This section applies only to rights already accrued when administrator qualified: Miller v. Shoaf, 110-319. Administrator must show that he made the advertisement: Love v. Ingram, 104-600; Cox v. Cox, 84-138—but this does not apply to administrator d. b. n., Smith v. Brown, 99-377. For caveat to will, see section 4158.

Rev., s. 392; Code, s. 153; C. C. P., s. 32.

439. Six years. Within six years an action—

1. Upon the official bond of a public officer.

Barred in six years: Comrs. v. McRae, 89-95. Statute runs from breach of bond: Comrs. v. McRae, 89-95; see, also, section 405. Clerk superior court: Shackelford v. Staton, 117-73.

County treasurer's bond: Comrs. v. McRae, 89-95. Register of deeds' bond: Daniel v. Grizzard, 117-105. Sheriff's bond: Hobbs v. Barefoot, 104-224; Hughes v. Newsom, 86-424; Hewlett v. Schenck, 82-234; Furman v. Timberlake, 93-66.

2. Against an executor, administrator, collector, or guardian on his official bond, within six years after the auditing of his final account by the proper officer, and the filing of the audited account as required by law.

Executor, administrator or collector's bonds: Nunnery v. Averitt, 111-394; Gill v. Cooper, 111-311; Culp v. Lee, 109-675; Woody v. Brooks, 102-334; Reeves v. Davis, 99-425; Andres v. Powell, 97-168; Vaughan v. Hines, 87-445. 'Final account' of administrator: Vaughan v. Hines, 87-445; Burgwyn v. Daniel, 115-115. Time between death of administrator and appointment of administrator d. b. n. not counted: Brawley v. Brawley, 109-524. Guardian's bond: see sections 2162 and 405. Self v. Shugart, 135-185; Kennedy v. Cromwell, 108-1; Norman v. Walker, 101-24; Williams v. McNair, 98-332; Davis v. Perry, 89-420; Humble v. Mebane, 89-414.

3. For injury to any incorporeal hereditament.

Rev., s. 393; Code, s. 154; C. C. P., s. 33.

NOTE. Six-year limitation against directors of corporations for impairment of capital, see Corporations, s. 1179.

440. Five years. Within five years—

1. No suit, action or proceeding shall be brought or maintained against a railroad company owning or operating a railroad for damages or compensation for right of way or use and occupancy of any lands by the company for use of its railroad unless the action or proceeding is commenced within five years after the lands have been entered upon for the purpose of constructing the road, or within two years after it is in operation.

This is a statute of limitation and must be pleaded in defense: Abernathy v. R. R., 159-340. Under special statute making limitation two years: Baker v. R. R., 137-214; Dargan v. R. R., 131-623; Railroad v. McCaskill, 94-746; Gudger v. R. R., 106-481; Purifoy v. R. R., 108-100; Liverman v. R. R., 109-52.

2. No suit, action or proceeding shall be brought or maintained against a railroad company for damages caused by the construction of the road, or the repairs thereto, unless such suit, action or proceeding is commenced within five years after the cause of action accrues, and the jury shall assess the entire amount of damages which the party aggrieved is entitled to recover by reason of the trespass on his property.

Rev., s. 394; 1893, c. 152; 1895, c. 224; 1897, c. 339.

Statute begins to run from the time the injury arises: Barelliff v. R. R., 175-114; Perry v. R. R., 171-38; McMahan v. R. R., 170-456; Clark v. R. R., 168-415; Savage v. R. R., 168-241; Owenby v. R. R., 165-641; Duval v. R. R., 161-448; Pickett v. R. R., 153-148; but not against an independent contractor: Willis v. White, 150-199. This section does not apply to canal companies: Cherry v. Canal Co., 140-422—nor to water companies, Geer v. Water Co., 127-349—nor to telegraph companies, Teeter v. Telegraph Co., 172-783. See section 441 for continuing trespass.

441. Three years. Within three years an action—

1. Upon a contract, obligation or liability arising out of a contract, express or implied, except those mentioned in the preceding sections.

For running of statute, pleading statute, and part payment, see section 405. New promise, see section 416.

APPLICATION OF SECTION. Award not under seal, Sprinkle v. Sprinkle, 159-81; bill of lading, Watch Case Co. v. Express Co., 120-352; promissory note, Wells v. Hill, 118-900; Benson v. Bennett, 112-505; Copeland v. Collins, 122-619; contract for labor, Fulps v. Mock, 108-601; services to intestate, Miller v. Lash, 38-51; McCurry v. Purgason, 170-463. Sureties on sealed instruments: Jackson v. Martin, 136-196; Coffey v. Reinhardt, 114-509; Redmond v. Pippen, 113-90; Moore v. Goodwin, 109-218; Lewis v. Long, 102-206; Leak v. Covington, 99-559; Arrington v. Rowland, 97-127; Joyner v. Massey, 97-148; Torrence v. Alexander, 85-143; Kerr v. Brandon, 84-128; Capell v. Long, 84-17; Welfare v. Thompson, 83-276; Goodman v. Litaker, 84-8; Hewlett v. Schenek, 82-234; Parham v. Green, 64-436; see, also, under subsection 6 of this section. Guarantor under seal not within this section: Coleman v. Fuller, 105-328. Contract signed in partnership name under seal: Supply Co. v. Windley, 176-18; Burwell v. Linthicum, 100-147. Action for contribution: Liverman v. Cahoon, 156-187. Action for subrogation: Ins. Co. v. R. R., 165-136. Actions for reopening settlement of administrator: Woody v. Brooks, 102-334; Slaughter v. Cannon, 94-189—of guardian, Timberlake v. Green, 84-658. Action for fines and penalties collected by a city which belong to school board: School Directors v. Asheville, 128-249. Action against an executor who, as devisee of land charged with payments, took possession of such land: Rice v. Rice, 115-43; Hines v. Hines, 95-482. Action against trustee for commissions wrongly retained under contract, held that if contract is oral this section applies: Adams v. Battle, 125-152. The statute must be pleaded: Jordan v. Simmons, 169-140. This statute can be pleaded by one creditor of decedent's estate against the claim of another: Lockhart v. Ballard, 113-293; Oates v. Lilly, 86-643. Three years after coming of age allowed infants to disaffirm contracts: Hogan v. Utter, 175-332; Chandler v. Jones, 172-574; Baggett v. Jackson, 160-31; Gaskins v. Allen, 137-430; Weeks v. Wilkins, 134-522; Lanier v. Lumber Co., 177-201.

2. Upon a liability created by statute, other than a penalty or forfeiture, unless some other time is mentioned in the statute creating it.

Action to wind up corporations: Von Glahn v. DeRossett, 81-467—against clerk individually for failing to index judgment: Shackleford v. Staton, 117-73—against authorities for the recovery of illegal taxes paid under protest, Hatwood v. Fayetteville, 121-207.

3. For trespass upon real property. When the trespass is a continuing one, the action shall be commenced within three years from the original trespass, and not thereafter.

See section 440, which makes the limitation five years as to railroads trespassing. Actions for permissive waste: Sherrill v. Connor, 107-630—for damages for construction of canals, Cherry v. Canal Co., 120-422—for damages for construction of telegraph line, Hodges v. Tel. Co., 133-225; Teeter v. Telegraph Co., 172-783. Diversion of water: Perry v. R. R., 171-38; Barcliff v. R. R., 168-268; Savage v. R. R., 168-241; Rice v. R. R., 167-1; Geer v. Water Co., 127-349; Earnhardt v. Comrs., 157-234. Trespass on land, continuing trespass: Tillery v. Lumber Co., 172-296; Caviness v. R. R., 172-305; Perry v. R. R., 171-38; Duval v. R. R., 161-448; Campbell v. R. R., 159-586; Roberts v. Baldwin, 151-408; s. c., 155-276; Sample v. Lumber Co., 150-161.

4. For taking, detaining, converting or injuring any goods or chattels, including action for their specific recovery.

Adams v. Battle, 125-153; Parker v. Harden, 121-57; Shuffler v. Turner, 111-297; Bd. Education v. Bd. Education, 107-366; Osborne v. Wilkes, 108-651; University v. Bank, 96-280; Robertson v. Dunn, 87-191; Currie v. McNeill, 83-176; Edgerton v. Logan, 81-172; Dunn v. Dunn, 137-533. For time when right of action accrues, see section 405.

5. For criminal conversation, or for any other injury to the person or rights of another, not arising on contract and not hereinafter enumerated.

6. Against the sureties of any executor, administrator, collector or guardian on the official bond of their principal; within three years after the breach thereof complained of.

Actions against sureties of executor or administrator barred: Settle v. Settle, 141-574; Burgwyn v. Daniel, 115-115; Kennedy v. Cromwell, 108-1; Gill v. Cooper, 111-311; Stonestreet v. Frost, 123-290; Brawley v. Brawley, 109-526; Wilson v. Pearson, 102-317; Reaves v. Davis, 99-425; Andres v. Powell, 97-168; see, also, Humble v. Mebane, 89-410. Actions against sureties of guardian barred: Self v. Shugart, 135-185; Norman v. Walker, 101-24; Hodges v. Council, 86-181; Anderson v. Fidelity Co., 174-417.

7. Against bail; within three years after judgment against the principal; but bail may discharge himself by a surrender of the principal, at any time before final judgment against the bail.

Navigation Co. v. Williams, 111-35.

8. For fees due to a clerk, sheriff or other officer, by the judgment of a court; within three years from the rendition of the judgment, or the issuing of the last execution thereon.

Applies only to officers: Cowles v. Hall, 113-359.

9. For relief on the ground of fraud or mistake; the cause of action shall not be deemed to have accrued until the discovery by the aggrieved party of the facts constituting the fraud or mistake.

The time is counted from the discovery of the fraud or mistake, or when it could have been discovered: Taylor v. Edmunds, 176-325; Arndt v. Ins. Co., 176-652; Lanier v. Lumber Co., 177-200; Mann v. Mann, 176-353; Sanderlin v. Cross, 172-234; Jefferson v. Lumber Co., 165-46; Ewbank v. Lyman, 170-505; Pelletier v. Cooperage Co., 158-403; Sinclair v. Teal, 156-458; Mfg. Co. v. Fertilizer Co., 150-417; Tuttle v. Tuttle, 146-484; Modlin v. R. R., 145-218; Peacock v. Barnes, 142-218; Bonner v. Statesbury, 139-3; Hooker v. Worthington, 134-283; Barden v. Stickney, 132-416; Lanning v. Comrs., 106-511; Cotton Mills v. Cotton Mills, 116-650; Osborne v. Wilkes, 108-651; Houston v. Thornton, 122-375; Edgerton v. Logan, 81-172; Kahnweiler v. Anderson, 78-133; Briggs v. Smith, 83-306; Dunn v. Beaman, 126-766; Alpha Mills v. Engine Co., 116-797; Stubbs v. Motz, 113-458; Rouss v. Ditmore, 122-775; Ely v. Early, 94-1; Knight v. Houghtaling, 85-17; Hughes v. Whitaker, 84-640; Day v. Day, 84-408; Barham v. Lomax, 73-76; see, also, section 405. Assignee in bankruptcy is barred when creditor would be barred: Garland v. Arrowood, 172-591.

This subsection does not prevent statute running, in an action for fraudulent conversion, from the conversion and not from the discovery: Spruill v. Sanderson, 79-466; Blount v. Parker, 78-128; but see Meekins v. Simpson, 176-130, and section 405. This subsection does not apply to actions for breach of covenant of warranty in deed: Shankle v. Ingram, 133-259; Burwell v. Linthicum, 100-149.

10. For the recovery of real property sold for the nonpayment of taxes, within three years after the execution of the sheriff's deed.

Action to redeem land from tax sale: Jordan v. Simmons, 175-537; s. c., 169-140; Kivett v. Gardner, 169-78; Lyman v. Hunter, 123-508. For procedure and evidence in actions to recover land sold for taxes, see sections 8034, 8037. This subsection does not apply in an action to remove tax deed as a cloud upon title: Beek v. Meroney, 135-532.

Rev., s. 395; Code, s. 155; C. C. P., s. 34; 1895, c. 165; 1889, cc. 269, 218; 1899, c. 15, s. 71; 1901, c. 558, s. 23; 1913, c. 147, s. 4.

NOTE. For actions against bank officers, see this chapter, s. 423.

For bastardy proceedings, see Bastardy, s. 274.

For involuntary dissolution of a corporation on petition of holders of one-fifth of the stock, see Corporations, s. 1186.

442. Two years. Within two years—

1. All claims against counties, cities and towns of this state shall be presented to the chairman of the board of county commissioners, or to the chief officers of the cities and towns, within two years after the maturity of such claims, or the holders shall be forever barred from a recovery thereon.

This is not strictly a statute of limitations, but a condition, and objection may be taken by demurrer: Dockery v. Hamlet, 162-118; Board of Education v. Greenville, 132-4; Wharton v. Comrs., 82-11. Cases supporting statute: Lanning v. Comrs., 106-505; Royster v. Comrs., 98-148; Moore v. Comrs., 87-215; Hawley v. Comrs., 82-22. For presenting claims, see sections 1330, 1331.

2. An action to recover the penalty for usury.

Barred in two years: Williams v. B. and L. Assn., 131-267; Carter v. Ins. Co., 122-338; Smith v. B. and L. Assn., 119-257; Roberts v. Ins. Co., 118-429; Rogers v. Bank, 108-574; Pritchard v. Meekins, 98-244. Before the act of 1895 the time was two years from the payment of usury; under act of 1895, it was after payment in full of the indebtedness. See cases cited above. For usury law, see section 2306.

Rev., s. 396; Code, ss. 756, 3836; 1874-5, c. 243; 1876-7, c. 91, s. 3; 1895, c. 69.

For actions by legatee or distributee against representative, see Administration, ss. 147, 156.

For sale of land conveyed by heirs within two years from grant of letters, see Administration, s. 76.

For action by holder of tax deed to foreclose the tax lien, see Taxation, s. 8037.

443. One year. Within one year an action—

1. Against a public officer, for a trespass under color of his office.

2. Upon a statute, for a penalty or forfeiture, where the action is given to the state alone, or in whole or in part to the party grieved, or to a common informer, except where the statute imposing it prescribes a different limitation.

Action against clerk for penalty for failure to pay over costs and fines: Hewlett v. Nutt, 79-263.

3. For libel, assault, battery, or false imprisonment.

Agreement not to plead the statute: Brown v. R. R., 147-217.

4. Against a public officer, for the escape of a prisoner arrested or imprisoned on civil process.

5. An application for a widow's year's allowance.

Cook v. Sexton, 79-305; Perkins v. Brinkley, 133-87. See section 4108.

Rev., s. 397; Code, s. 156; C. C. P., s. 35; 1885, c. 96.

For time within which personal representative may bring action for wrongful death, see s. 160.

For limit of time for creditors to present claims to personal representative, and effect, see s. 101.

For minimum limit in contract of insurance, within which to bring suit, see s. 6290.

For actions to redeem from tax sales, see s. 8038.

444. Six months. Within six months—

An action for slander.

Rev., s. 398; Code, s. 157; C. C. P., s. 36.

Claim against decedent disputed by personal representative, barred in six months, see Administration, s. 100.

445. All other actions, ten years. An action for relief not herein provided for must be commenced within ten years after the cause of action has accrued.

Rev., s. 399; Code. s. 158; C. C. P., s. 37.

For limitations of ninety days on actions in nature of quo warranto, see this chapter, s. 877.

ACTIONS WITHIN THIS SECTION. To have party declared trustee: Johnson v. Lumber Co., 144-717; Norcum v. Savage, 140-472; McAden v. Palmer, 140-258; Ritchie v. Fowler, 132-788; Norton v. McDevit, 122-759; Lynch v. Johnson, 171-611; Phillips v. Lumber Co., 151-519; Frazier v. Cherokee Indians, 146-477. To recover Cherokee lands, relying on a grant: Frasier v. Gibson, 140-272. This section covers all causes, equitable and legal, not otherwise provided for: McAden v. Palmer, 140-258. To recover funds held under an implied trust where no demand and refusal: Dunn v. Dunn, 137-533; Edwards v. Lemmond, 136-329. To foreclose mortgage, by remainderman: Woodlief v. Webster, 136-162. To convert an absolute deed into a mortgage: Sandlin v. Kearney, 154-596. To remove cloud upon title: Bailey v. Hopkins, 152-748. To enforce owelty of partition: Newsome v. Harrell, 168-295; Smith, ex parte, 134-495. To enforce decree of court as to right of way in partition proceeding: Hunter v. West, 172-160.

To recover damages for breach of covenant in deed: Shankle v. Ingram, 133-255. By ward, to cause guardian to settle: Dunn v. Beaman, 126-766. By an administrator to recover his intestate's share of an estate: Hunt v. Wheeler, 116-422. By a mortgagor to avoid a sale where mortgagee purchased: Jones v. Pullen, 115-471—to call upon mortgagee for account of sale, Bruner v. Threadgill, 88-361. To recover a charge upon land: Rice v. Rice, 115-43. To surcharge and falsify an account of administrator: Nunnery v. Averitt, 111-394; Woody v. Brooks, 102-334. To obtain a divorce: O'Connor v. O'Connor, 109-139; see, also, Smith v. Smith, 72-139. Quære, as to action against guardian after settlement when no demand and refusal: Kennedy v. Cromwell, 108-1. To foreclose bond for title: Worth v. Wrenn, 144-656; Overman v. Jackson, 104-1; Barnes v. McCullers, 108-46. Statute of limitations before 1868 not now applicable: Brown v. Wilson, 174-668; Edwards v. Lemmond, 136-330.

SUBCHAPTER III. PARTIES

ART. 6. PARTIES

446. Real party in interest; grantees and assignees. Every action must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest, except as otherwise provided; but this section does not authorize the assignment of a thing in action not arising out of contract. An action may be maintained by a grantee of real estate in his own name, when he or any grantor or other person through whom he derives title might maintain such action, notwithstanding the conveyance of the grantor is void, by reason of the actual possession of a person claiming under a title adverse to that of the grantor, or other person, at the time of the delivery of the conveyance. In case of an assignment of a thing in action the action by the assignee is without prejudice to any setoff or other defense, existing at the time of, or before notice of, the assignment; but this does not apply to a negotiable promissory note or bill of exchange, transferred in good faith, upon good consideration, and before maturity.

For proper relators in actions on official bonds, see sections 353, 354; on fiduciary bonds, see sections 33, 40, 2162.

GENERALLY. Holder of equitable title is real party in interest: Thompson v. Lumber Co., 168-226; Ball-Thrash v. McCormick, 162-471; Mull v. R. R., 175-593 (suit for injury to land); Vaught v. Williams, 177-77; see hereunder, Ejectment—For assignees, as, see infra, "Assignments." Real party in interest does not include one who has theretofore parted with his interest in property sued for: Vaughan v. Davenport, 157-156; s. c., 159-369—person made plaintiff without his consent is not bound by decree, though he knew of suit, Patillo v. Lytle, 158-92—alien enemy, if resident, may sue: Krachanake v. Mfg. Co., 175-435—grantee of land held adversely may sue by express provision of this section, Johnson v. Prairie, 94-773; Osborne v. Anderson, 89-261; Justice v. Eddings, 75-581; Buie v. Carver, 75-559. If change of ownership during suit, new owner becomes party and files supplemental complaint: Burnett v. Lyman, 141-500; Field v. Wheeler, 120-264; Leaving v. Smith, 115-385; Richards v. Smith, 98-509; Murray v. Blackledge, 71-492; and see sections 460-462; and failure to make grantee party entitles to nonsuit: Burnett v. Lyman, 141-500. When plaintiff not real party in interest, action dismissed on motion as of nonsuit: Chapman v. McLawhorn, 150-166.

What claims are assignable: Petty v. Rousseau, 94-355, criticized in Woodcock v. Bostic, 118-822. Assignability of contracts: R. R. v. R. R., 147-368.

RIGHT TO SUE IN VARIOUS ACTIONS. Administration, suits by and against representatives, etc.: To collect assets of intestate's estate, Shields v. Life Ins. Co., 119-380; Page v. Ins. Co., 131-116; Rogers v. Gooch, 87-442; Cowles v. Hayes, 71-230; Sharpe v. Connelly, 105-87; *Morefield v. 447. Suits for penalties. Where a penalty is imposed by any law, and it is not provided to what person the penalty is given, it may be recovered, for his own use, by any one who sues for it. When a penalty is allowed by statute, and it is not prescribed in whose name suit therefor may be commenced, suit must be brought in the name of the state.

Rev., ss. 401, 402; Code, ss. 1212, 1213; R. C., c. 35, ss. 47, 48.

Carter v. R. R., 126-439; Goodwin v. Fertilizer Works, 119-120; Burrell v. Hughes, 116-430; Sutton v. Phillips, 116-502; Maggett v. Roberts, 108-174; Hodge v. R. R., 108-24; Middleton v. R. R., 95-167; Norman v. Dunbar, 53-319.

448. Action by purchaser under judicial sale. Any one given possession under a judicial sale confirmed, where the title is retained as a security for the price, is the legal owner of the property for all purposes of bringing suits for injuries thereto, after the day of sale, by trespass or wrongful possession, in the same manner as if the title had been conveyed to him on day of sale, unless restrained by some order of the court directing the sale; and the suit brought is under the control of the court ordering the sale.

Rev., s. 403; Code, s. 942; 1858-9, c. 50.

Purchaser has no right before confirmation: Vanderbilt v. Brown, 128-498—but confirmation being made, the bargain is complete and relates back to day of sale: Vass v. Arrington, 89-10. All that a purchaser at a judicial sale is required to know is that the court had jurisdiction of the subject-matter and of the person: Card v. Finch, 142-140; Rackley v. Roberts, 147-201; Harris v. Bennett, 160-339.

449. Action by executor or trustee. An executor or administrator, a trustee of an express trust, or a person expressly authorized by statute, may sue without joining with him the person for whose benefit the action is prosecuted. A trustee of an express trust, within the meaning of this section, includes a person with whom, or in whose name, a contract is made for the benefit of another.

Actions by executors and administrators, see sections 164, 170. Meaning of trustee of express trust: Martin v. Mask, 158-436. Trustee of express trust may sue alone under this section, or may join beneficiaries, who are proper parties under section 446: Hartness v. Wallace, 106-430; Wynne v. Heck, 92-414; Mebane v. Mebane, 66-334. When necessary to make trustee and cestui que trust parties: Barbee v. Penny, 172-653; s. c., 174-571. In action by trustee of judgment to set aside fraudulent conveyance, beneficiaries should be parties: Eddleman v. Lentz, 158-65. Cases applying section: Jenkins v. Wilkinson, 113-532; Jones v. McKinnon, 87-294; Warren v. Howard, 99-190; Rankin v. Allison, 64-673; Alexander v. Wriston, 81-191; Davis v. Fox, 69-435; Biggs v. Williams, 66-427; Davidson v. Elms, 67-228; Salisbury v. R. R., 91-490. Receiver appointed by U. S. court not a trustee within this section: Battle v. Davis, 66-257. Section referred to in Winders v. Hill, 141-704; Riley v. Pelletier, 134-317; Abrams v. Cureton, 74-523.

450. Infants, etc., sue by guardian or next friend. In actions and special proceedings when any of the parties plaintiff are infants, idiots, lunatics, or persons non compos mentis, whether residents or nonresidents of this state, they must appear by their general or testamentary guardian, if they have any within the state; but if the action or proceeding is against, or if there is no such guardian, then said persons may appear by their next friend. The duty of the state solicitors to prosecute in the cases specified in chapter entitled Guardian and Ward is not affected by this section.

Rev., s. 405; Code, s. 180; 1893, c. 5; C. C. P., s. 58; 1870-1, c. 233; 1871-2, c. 95.

For solicitor's duties with respect to orphans' estates, see Guardian and Ward, Article 9.

General doctrine of section stated in Settle v. Settle, 141-553; Holloman v. Holloman, 125-29; Ward v. Lowndes, 96-367; Smith v. Smith, 106-498. Duty of court in appointing next friend:

Morris v. Gentry, 89-248; Tate v. Mott, 96-19. Next friend must not be hostile: George v. High, 85-113—and ought always to be appointed by court, Tate v. Mott, 96-19—is officer of court, Ibid.—and is not taxable personally with costs unless he acts in bad faith, etc., Smith v. Smith, 108-365; Hockaday v. Lawrence, 156-319. Foreign guardian treated as next friend: Tate v. Mott, 96-19. Once recognized as next friend, appointment cannot be impeached in collateral proceedings: Sumner v. Sessoms, 94-371. Presumed that court protects interests of infants: Tyson v. Belcher, 102-112. When allegation of insanity of husband is admitted by demurrer, wife can be made next friend without inquiring lunatico: Abbott v. Hancock, 123-99. Next friend can be removed: Tate v. Mott, 96-19. Infant and not the guardian or next friend is the real party of record and the one estopped by it: Krachanake v. Mfg. Co., 175-435; Hockaday v. Lawrence, 156-319; Settle v. Settle, 141-553; Grantham v. Kennedy, 91-148; Smith v. Smith, 106-498; George v. High, 85-113; Mason v. McCormick, 75-263; Falls v. Gamble, 66-465; Branch v. Goddin, 60-493. Defendant cannot object to next friend appointed by the trial judge: Carroll v. Montgomery, 128-278. Objection that next friend not regularly appointed made by plea in abatement: Carroll v. Montgomery, 128-278. Effect where infant institutes action in his own name without guardian or next friend, see Hicks v. Beam, 112-642. Infant widow may dissent from will by guardian or next friend: Hollomon v. Hollomon, 125-29. In ex parte proceeding, when no suggestion of unfair advantage, administrator may represent minor as guardian: Harris v. Brown, 123-419. Next friend has no power to agree to arbitration: Millsaps v. Estes, 137-535—he can only consent to a judgment when all the facts are found by the court: Ferrell v. Broadway, 126-258. Fees of attorney for next friend within control of court: In re Stone, 176-336. Action by next friend in justice's court: Houser v. Bonsal, 149-51.

451. Infants, etc., defend by guardian ad litem. In all actions and special proceedings when any of the defendants are infants, idiots, lunatics, or persons non compos mentis, whether residents or nonresidents of this state, they must defend by their general or testamentary guardian, if they have one within this state; and if they have no general or testamentary guardian in the state, and any of them has been summoned, the court in which said action or special proceeding is pending, upon motion of any of the parties, may appoint some discreet person to act as guardian ad litem, to defend in behalf of such infants, idiots, lunatics, or persons non compos mentis. The guardian so appointed shall, if the cause is a civil action, file his answer to the complaint within the time required for other defendants, unless the time is extended by the court; and if the cause is a special proceeding, a copy of the complaint, with the summons, must be served on him. After twenty days notice of the summons and complaint in the special proceeding, and after answer filed as above prescribed in the civil action, the court may proceed to final judgment as effectually and in the same manner as if there had been personal service upon the said infant, idiot, lunatic, or person non compos mentis, defendants.

Rev., s. 406; Code, s. 181; C. C. P., s. 59; 1870-1, c. 233, s. 5; 1871-2, c. 95, s. 2.
See Rule 17 of superior court.

Guardian ad litem must be served with summons: Gully v. Macy, 81-356; Moore v. Gidney, 75-34. Failure to serve infant defendants before guardian ad litem appointed is irregularity, curable by subsequent service and filing of answer by the guardian: Dudley v. Tyson, 167-67. Guardian ad litem not taxed with costs; exception noted: Smith v. Smith, 108-365. Guardian ad litem has no power to agree to arbitration: Millsaps v. Estes, 137-535. Service of process on infants must be made on general guardian, if any: Chambers v. Penland, 78-53; also see section 483. No recovery against minor unless represented by guardian ad litem: Thorp v. Minor, 109-152—and when he refuses to act and defend, judgment void: Isler v. Murphy, 71-440; but see Tate v. Mott, 96-19, and cases therein cited. Not laches on part of plaintiff if he fail to move for appointment of guardian ad litem such as to work a discontinuance: Turner v. Douglas, 72-127. Where infant has no guardian or guardian ad litem, but defends by attorney, held that judgment valid until reversed or set aside by motion: White v. Morris, 107-92; Harrison v. Harrison, 106-282; Tate v. Mott, 96-25; Burgess v. Kirby, 94-580; England v. Garner, 90-197; Turner v. Douglas, 72-127; Marshall v. Fisher, 46-111; White v. Albertson, 14-341; see, also, Rackley v. Roberts, 147-201. Where infant not served with process nor guardian ad litem appointed, judgment irregular and may be set aside: Larkins v. Bullard, 88-35. Where infants in partition proceeding are served with summons and guardian ad litem appointed, a judgment affirming sale cannot be collaterally attacked for fraud: Smith v. Gray, 116-311.

APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIAN AD LITEM. Only after application in writing: White v. Morris, 107-92; Ward v. Lowndes, 96-367; Morris v. Gentry, 89-248—and after infant defendant has been personally served with summons, Hughes v. Pritchard, 153-135; Roseman v. Roseman, 127-494; Coffin v. Cook, 106-376; Cates v. Pickett, 97-21; Hare v. Holloman, 94-14; Sumner v. Sessoms, 94-371; Stancill v. Gay, 92-462; Young v. Young, 91-359; Fry v. Currie, 91-436; Matthews v. Joyce, 85-258; Nicholson v. Cox, 83-44; Moore v. Gidney, 75-34; Turner v. Douglas, 72-127; Hyman v. Jarnigan, 65-96; Allen v. Shields, 72-504; Gulley v. Macy, 81-356—but infant cannot accept service, Nicholson v. Cox, 83-44; Bass v. Bass, 78-374—yet if he does accept service it is cured after guardian appointed: Cates v. Pickett, 97-21; Perry v. Adams, 98-167. Improper for court to appoint a plaintiff as guardian ad litem: Ellis v. Massenburg, 126-129—even though a nominal plaintiff made party plaintiff without his consent, Ibid. Appointment of guardian ad litem nunc pro tunc disapproved: Ibid. Even a colorable interest adverse to infant held by guardian ad litem or attorney disqualifies for appointment: Ellis v. Massenburg, 126-134; Moore v. Gidney, 75-34. Where guardian ad litem with adverse interest is appointed and it appears that infants' rights not protected, judgment set aside: Holt v. Ziglar, 159-272; s. c., 163-390. Administrator may represent minor in ex parte proceeding, if no suggestion of unfairness: Harris v. Brown, 123-419. Guardian ad litem may be appointed in supreme court: Perry v. Perry, 175-141.

452. Appointment of guardian ad litem in actions begun by publication. In all actions and special proceedings wherever any of the defendants are infants, idiots, lunatics, or persons non compos mentis, and it shall become necessary to serve the summons on said infants, idiots, lunatics, or persons non compos mentis by publication, it shall not be necessary to await the completion of the service of summons by publication before moving for the appointment of a guardian ad litem for said infants, idiots, lunatics, or persons non compos mentis, but a guardian ad litem may be appointed on motion at the time of the issuance of the order of publication; and the service of a summons, with a copy of the complaint or petition, can be made on the guardian ad litem returnable on the same date as the infant defendants are required to appear in the notice of publication; and after ten days notice of said summons and complaint in special proceedings and after answer filed as prescribed in section 451 under this article, the court may proceed in the same cause to final judgment and decree therein, in the same manner as if there had been personal service upon the said infant, idiot, lunatic, or person non compos mentis, defendants, and any decree or judgment in the cause shall conclude the infant, idiot, lunatic, or person non compos mentis, defendants, as effectually as if he, or they, had been personally summoned.

453. Guardian ad litem to file answer. When a guardian ad litem is appointed, he shall file an answer in the action or special proceeding, admitting or denying the allegations thereof. The costs and expenses of the answer, in all applications to sell or divide the real estate of said infants, shall be paid out of the proceeds of the property, or in case of a division shall be charged upon the land if the sale or division is ordered by the court, and, if not ordered, in any other manner the court directs.

Rev., s. 407; Code, s. 182; 1870-1, c. 233, s. 4.

Guardian ad litem filing answer prepared at plaintiff's instance, infant defendant not concluded: Gulley v. Macy, 81-356; Moore v. Gidney, 75-34; Holt v. Ziglar, 159-272. Where guardian ad litem refused and failed to file answer; effect: Isler v. Murphy, 71-440; Faison v. Hardy, 114-61—after lapse of many years after coming of age, defendants not allowed to assert their right, Williams v. Williams, 94-732; see Morris v. House, 125-550.

454. Married women. When a married woman is a party, her husband must be joined with her, except that—

In actions based on contract section is modified by section 2507 ("Martin Act" of 1911), and in such actions husband need not now be joined, whether wife is defendant, Lipinsky v. Revell, 167-508 (not necessary nor proper party), or plaintiff, Patterson v. Franklin, 168-75. See, as to former law, Harvey v. Johnson, 133-352. Wife, whose husband alien and has never resided here, may be sued alone in contract: Levi v. Marsha, 122-565.

In action to recover property fraudulently conveyed to wife, husband must be joined: Pender v. Mallett, 123-57. Wife suable alone in tort when husband abandons her, Heath v. Morgan, 117-504, or in ejectment when husband alien, resides abroad, or has abandoned her, Finley v. Saunders, 98-462. Husband need not be joined, where wife consents to judgment which fixes no personal liability on her, Roseman v. Roseman, 127-494. Where husband refuses to become plaintiff, wife may make him defendant: Barnes v. Barnes, 104-617; McGlennery v. Miller, 90-215. When husband joined, though unnecessarily, he is prima facie wife's agent to control action; aliter when wife insane: Craddock v. Brinkley, 177-125. See sections 2520, 2521.

1. When the action concerns her separate property, she may sue alone.

Right of suing alone is a personal privilege: Lippard v. Troutman, 72-551. She may sue alone as to her separate property: Sipe v. Herman, 161-107; Willis v. White, 150-199; In re Beauchamp's Will, 146-254; Hart v. Cannon, 133-10; Walker v. Long, 109-510; McGlennery v. Miller, 90-215; McCormac v. Wiggins, 84-278; Thompson v. Wiggins, 109-508; Whitfield v. Boyd, 158-451, and cases following. She may sue alone for tort committed against her: Strother v. R. R., 123-197; but see Brown v. Brown, 124-20; also, 121-8; regulated now by section 2513. She may sue alone in action for breach of promise of marriage: Shuler v. Millsaps, 71-297. She may sue for the probate of her father's will in solemn form without joining husband, if he is opposed: In re Beauchamp's Will, 146-254. A married woman can accept service of summons: Nicholson v. Cox, 83-44; Godwin v. Monds, 106-450. Where her real estate is to be bound by an action, she must be served with process personally: Rowland v. Perry, 64-578. In action for specific performance of a contract, she may sue alone: Earnhardt v. Clement, 137-91. She cannot bind herself by agreement to arbitrate the question of title of her land: Smith v. Bruton, 137-79. For seduction of infant daughter she can sue without husband when he is insane, how: Abbott v. Hancock, 123-99—and can sue without husband when he is nonresident: Ibid. For slander of wife, husband cannot bring action in his name alone: Harper v. Pinkston, 112-293.

2. When the action is between herself and her husband, she may sue or be sued alone.

Wife can sue husband alone as plaintiff: Graves v. Howard, 159-594; McCormac v. Wiggins, 84-278; Manning v. Manning, 79-293; McGlennery v. Miller, 90-215; Robinson v. Robinson, 123-137; Perkins v. Brinkley, 133-158.

In no case need she prosecute or defend by a guardian or next friend.
Rev., s. 408; Code, s. 178; C. C. P., s. 56.

455. Who may be plaintiffs. All persons having an interest in the subject of the action and in obtaining the relief demanded may be joined as plaintiffs except as otherwise provided.

Rev., s. 409; Code, s. 183; C. C. P., s. 60.

For rules as to parties plaintiff generally and in specific circumstances and proceedings, see section 446 and references, the sections of this article, and Index, s. v. "Parties." Nonresidents can sue in this state: Thompson v. Tel. Co., 107-449. Wholly immaterial that uninterested party is made plaintiff along with real owner in action for debt: Perkins v. Berry, 103-131.

456. Who may be defendants. Any person may be made a defendant who has, or claims, an interest in the controversy adverse to the plaintiff, or who is a necessary party to a complete determination or settlement of the questions involved. In an action to recover the possession of real estate, the landlord and tenant may be joined as defendants. Any person claiming title or right of possession to real estate may be made party plaintiff or defendant, as the case requires, to such action.

Where defendant dies after verdict and before judgment, personal representative need not be made party in order to entitle plaintiff to judgment: Beard v. Hall, 79-506. In hearing of motion to revive dormant judgment, defendant cannot set up that he was not properly a party: Smathers v. Sprouse, 144-637. Action of court in refusing motion to make additional party defendant is not reviewable where such party is a proper but not a necessary party: Aiken v. Mfg. Co., 141-339. Appeal from order making parties cannot be allowed to other parties who do not show that some substantial right of their own is thereby affected: Emry v. Parker, 111-261. Joinder of unnecessary parties immaterial, save only that it may affect question of costs: Ormond v. Life Ins. Co., 145-140; Rowland v. Gardner, 69-53. Failure to join necessary parties is an error to which exception lies: Ormond v. Ins. Co., 145-140.

INTEREST IN CONTROVERSY. Words construed: Jones v. Asheville, 116-817; Garrison v. Cox, 99-482; Asheville v. Aston, 92-588; McDonald v. Morris, 89-99; Colgrove v. Koonce, 76-363; Wade v. Sanders, 70-277. All persons who may have such interest or may be necessary to complete determination of question should be made parties: Ryder v. Oates, 173-569; and see McKeel v. Holloman, 163-132.

PROPER PARTIES DEFENDANT. In action to recover real property: Walton v. Parish, 95-259; Bryant v. Kinlaw, 90-341; Harkey v. Houston, 65-137; Maddrey v. Long, 86-383; Swepson v. Johnson, 84-449; Keathley v. Branch, 84-202; Lytle v. Burgin, 82-301; Cecil v. Smith, 81-285; Rollins v. Rollins, 76-264; Batchelor v. Macon, 67-181; Isler v. Foy, 66-547—to quiet title, Swindell v. Smaw, 156-1 (devisees after life estate)—to recover from bank money loaned on individual credit of stockholders, Bank v. Coeke, 127-467—in suit against bank for paying check after notice, Spruill v. Bank, 163-43 (payee of check)—to subject mortgaged property to lien of attachment, Bear v. Cohen, 65-511—to recover debt of partnership, Heaton v. Wilson, 123-398—to recover price of land bought by intestate, Paschal v. Brandon, 79-504—to recover damages to property where reversioner refuses to become party plaintiff, Jones v. Asheville, 116-817—to recover damages to land in suit by equitable owner, holder of legal title is proper defendant, Mull v. R. R., 175-593—to set aside fraudulent assignment, Hancock v. Wooten, 107-9; Cheatham v. Rowland, 92-340—to recover from corporation damages for fraud of officers, Mining Co. v. Smelting Co., 99-445—to restrain the enforcement of a judgment or the performance of an act as public agent, Stout v. McNeill, 98-1; Lumber Co. v. Smith, 146-199—to foreclose a mortgage, Lee v. Giles, 161-541; Jones v. Williams, 155-179; Chadbourne v. Johnston, 119-282; Styers v. Alspaugh, 118-631; Vanstory v. Thornton, 114-376; Nimrock v. Scanlin, 87-118—to recover on replevin bond where two bonds were taken with different sureties, Smith v. Whitten, 117-390—to recover damages for separate acts of several persons having like interest adverse to plaintiff, Long v. Swindell, 77-176; Mode v. Penland, 93-292; Tate v. Bates, 118-287; Solomon v. Bates, 118-311; Caldwell v. Bates, 118-323—to recover from the state, Reeves v. State, 93-257; Martin v. Worth, 91-45—to recover from city for injury from defective street, Gregg v. Wilmington, 155-18 (person causing defect)—to collect from city fines and penalties going to school fund, Bearden v. Fullam, 129-477.

In a proceeding by legatees and distributees against administrator for account and settlement, Carlton v. Byers, 93-302—by creditors to sell land of intestate to pay debts, Perkins v. Berry, 103-131—in nature of creditor's bill to subject defendant's property to payment of debts, LeDuc v. Brandt, 110-289—by administrator to sell land for assets, Tilley v. Bivins, 112-348—for partition of intestate's land, Garrison v. Cox, 99-478; Gregory v. Gregory, 69-522—to lay off dower, Parton v. Allison, 111-429; Welfare v. Welfare, 108-272; Carney v. Whitehurst, 64-426; Moore ex parte, 64-90; Avery ex parte, 64-113—to recover on life insurance policy where company had paid the amount to certain beneficiaries, Ormond v. Ins. Co., 145-140. In partition lienholders on any share are proper parties, Holley v. White, 172-77.

Joinder of corporation and receiver proper in an action for tort before appointment of receiver: Hollowell v. R. R., 153-19. In an action for the appointment of receiver only those interested in business of corporation are proper parties: Dailey v. Fertilizer Works, 165-60. This section applies to proceedings under Torrens Act: Mfg. Co. v. Spruill, 169-618.

457. Joinder of parties; action by or against one for benefit of a class. Of the parties to the action, those who are united in interest must be joined as plaintiffs or defendants; but if the consent of any one who should have been joined as plaintiff cannot be obtained, he may be made a defendant, the reason thereof being stated in the complaint. When the question is one of a common or general interest of many persons, or where the parties are so numerous that it is impracticable to bring them all before the court, one or more may sue or defend for the benefit of all.

See annotations under section 446. Additional parties can be joined by amendment: Isler v. Koonce, 83-55; but see Morehead v. R. R., 98-362; see, also, sections 460 and 547. Supreme court adjudging that others are necessary parties to final determination of matters involved, case will be remanded that they be brought in: Kornegay v. Morris, 123-128; Finlayson v. Kirby, 121-106. Where party objects to making himself plaintiff, and he is a necessary party, he is made defendant: Plemmons v. Imp. Co., 108-614; McCormac v. Wiggins, 84-279. Court will not join creditors as plaintiffs in creditor's bill so as to cause original plaintiffs to lose preference: Hancock v. Wooten, 107-9; LeDuc v. Brandt, 110-289. Where parties are numerous one can sue or defend for all: Merrimon v. Paving Co., 142-539; Foster v. Hackett, 112-554; Bronson v. Ins. Co., 85-411; but see Williams v. R. R., 144-502; Syme v. Bunting, 86-175; Logan v. Wallis, 76-416—but where one sues for all because it is impracticable to bring so many before the court, he must so allege, Foster v. Hackett, 112-554. Joining improper parties harmless error: Carter v. R. R., 126-444; Perkins v. Berry, 103-131; Rowland v. Gardner, 69-53; Wool v. Edenton, 113-33; McAlpine v. Daniel, 101-550. Appeal from order making additional parties not allowed other parties who do not show that some substantial right of their own is thereby affected: Emry v. Parker, 111-261.

WHO ARE NECESSARY PARTIES. In proceeding to enforce mechanic's lien: Lumber Co. v. Hotel Co., 109-658—to recover property held in common, Allred v. Smith, 135-451; Thames v. Jones, 97-121; Gregory v. Gregory, 69-522—to wind up partnership and distribute assets, Smith v. Summerfield, 108-284—against partnerships, Heaton v. Wilson, 123-398—to recover price of land bought by intestate, Paschal v. Brandon, 79-504—for partition of intestate's land, Garrison v. Cox, 99-478; Gregory v. Gregory, 69-522—to lay off dower, Parton v. Allison, 111-429; Welfare v. Welfare, 108-275; Carney v. Whitehurst, 64-426; Moore ex parte, 64-90; Avery ex parte, 64-113; see section 4105—to recover damages for separate acts of several persons having like interest adverse to plaintiff, Long v. Swindell, 77-176; Solomon v. Bates, 118-311; Mode v. Penland, 93-292; Caldwell v. Bates, 118-323; Tate v. Bates, 118-287; Von Glahn v. Harris, 73-323; Von Glahn v. Savage, 73-333; Von Glahn v. DeRossett, 76-292—to follow land conveyed by deceased in fraud of creditors, Webb v. Atkinson, 122-683—to determine disposition of proceeds of sale under trust deed, Meadows v. Marsh, 123-189—to recover money paid clerk for distributees, Brooks v. Holton, 136-306—to force delinquent stockholders to pay for stock so proceeds could be used to pay debts of corporation, Bronson v. Ins. Co., 85-411; Cooper v. Security Co., 122-463—to recover for various trespasses on several contiguous tracts, where ownership consolidated, Brown v. Spivey, 106-95—to recover assets of intestate with which to pay debts when administrator d. b. n. refuses to prosecute, Wilson v. Pearson, 102-290; Clement v. Cozart, 107-695; Tuck v. Walker, 106-285—to recover from personal representative of deceased executor where next of kin or legatees seek a settlement, Hardy v. Miles, 91-131—to restore lost records, Cowles v. Hardin, 79-577—to recover on fire insurance policy made to further secure mortgagee, Proctor v. Ins. Co., 124-265—to foreclose mortgage: Gammon v. Johnson, 126-64; Stancel v. Spain, 133-76; Patterson v. Mills, 121-258; Chadbourne v. Johnston, 119-282; LeDuc v. Brandt, 110-289; Fraser v. Bean, 96-327; Hughes v. Hodges, 94-56; Hinson v. Jones, 173-591—to remove trustees for unfaithfulness and incompetency and compel the conveyance by them of trust property, Nash v. Sutton, 109-550—to enforce provisions of trust estate in land after trustee dead, Graves v. Trueblood, 96-495—by legatees to secure a fund where there is a devise over, Peacock v. Harris, 85-146—to test the validity of a will, Hutson v. Sawyer, 104-1; Collins v. Collins, 125-98—by creditors to sell land of intestate to pay debts, Perkins v. Berry, 103-131; Wall v. Fairley, 77-105; Webb v. Atkinson, 122-683—in the nature of creditor's bill to subject defendant's property to payment of debts, LeDuc v. Brandt, 110-289—by administrator to sell intestate's land to pay debts, Tilley v. Bivins, 112-348; see Webb v. Atkinson, 122-683, also annotations under section 74—to recover land, Burnett v. Lyman, 141-500; Hughes v. Gay, 132-50; McAlpine v. Daniel, 101-550; Arrington v. Arrington, 114-120; Ten Broeck v. Orchard, 74-409; see section 446—to subject unpaid subscription to corporate stock to payment of corporate debts, Cooper v. Security Co., 122-463—to recover against trespasser upon land of cotenants: Lenoir v. Mining Co., 113-513; Moody v. Johnson, 112-804; Foster v. Hackett, 112-546—to set aside fraudulent conveyances of several tracts of land made by debtor, LeDuc v. Brandt, 110-289; Bank v. Harris, 84-206—to recover land sold by sheriff under execution and for the execution of a deed, McMillan v. Edwards, 75-81—to recover penalty for sheriff making false return, Peebles v. Newsome, 74-473—to recover public office, Foard v. Hall, 111-369; Tuck v. Hunt, 73-24; People v. Hilliard, 72-169—to enjoin sale under mortgage: Gaster v. Hardie, 75-460—to compel a trustee to collect a bond, Oliver v. Wiley, 75-320. In action against officers of bankrupt corporation for conversion of funds held by them in trust for plaintiff, neither corporation nor trustee in bankruptcy is necessary party: Chemical Co. v. Floyd, 158-455. Action by purchaser from mortgagor to redeem: Elliott v. Brady, 172-828.

458. Persons severally liable. Persons severally liable upon the same obligation, including the parties to bills of exchange and promissory notes, may all or any of them be included in the same action at the option of the plaintiff.

Rev., s. 412; Code, s. 186; C. C. P., s. 63.

Where suit is brought against part of sureties on two official bonds; allowable: Syme v. Bunting, 86-175. Cause of action in which several are jointly liable cannot be joined with one in which only part of them are liable: Logan v. Wallis, 76-416. Plaintiff can sue any endorser without joining the maker or other endorser: Bank v. Carr, 130-479, also 121-113; Moore v. Carr, 123-426; Bank v. Lumber Co., 123-26. Where one endorses a note after judgment on it, cannot be joined with maker and previous endorser: Wooten v. Maultsby, 69-462. Note is merged into the judgment on the note, but where sureties not made parties their liability still exists: Bank v. Lumber Co., 123-24.

459. Persons jointly liable. In all cases of joint contracts of partners in trade or others, suit may be brought and prosecuted against all or any number of the persons making such contracts.

See Merwin v. Ballard, 65-168. Under the Code of Civil Procedure all contracts are several in legal effect, although joint in form: Ruffy v. Claywell, 93-308. A creditor has the right to pursue his remedy against all or any of the partners: Hastein v. Johnson, 112-254; Daniel v. Bethell, 167-218. Proper method to enforce liability of those not made defendants is by a new action against them: Davis v. Sanderlin, 119-84. Action against members of joint-stock company same as action against partners as far as joinder of members concerned: Bain v. Loan Assn., 112-248. See section 497.

460. New parties by order of court; intervener. The court either between the terms, or at a regular term, according to the nature of the controversy, may determine any controversy before it, when it can be done without prejudice to the rights of others, but when a complete determination of the controversy cannot be made without the presence of other parties, the court must cause them to be brought in. When in an action for the recovery of real or personal property, a person not a party to the action, but having an interest in its subject matter, applies to the court to be made a party, it may order him to be brought in by the proper amendment. A defendant against whom an action is pending upon a contract or for specific real or personal property, upon proof by affidavit that a person not a party to the action makes a demand against him for the same debt or property without collusion with him, may at any time before answer apply to the court, upon notice to that person and the adverse party, for an order to substitute that person in his place, and to discharge him from liability to either, on his paying into court the amount of the debt, or delivering the possession of the property or its value to such person as the court directs. The court may make such an order.

For necessary and proper parties, see this article, passim—demurrer for defect of parties, see section 511—intervention in attachment, see section 829—in claim and delivery, see section 840—section construed with sections 446, 461, when: Burnett v. Lyman, 141-500.

INTERVENERS IN ACTIONS. Right to intervene given to outsiders having interest in controversy: Jones v. Asheville, 116-817; Asheville Div. v. Aston, 92-588; Colgrove v. Koonce, 76-363; Wade v. Saunders, 70-270; Sims v. Goettle, 82-268. Not allowed after final judgment, Sanders v. May, 173-47. Intervener held not entitled to attorney's fees, Knights of Honor v. Selby, 153-203. Party interpleading must stand indifferent between the litigants: Ibid.; Van Dyke v. Ins. Co., 174-78. Wife can intervene and defend in action of ejectment brought against husband: Taylor v. Apple, 90-343; Cecil v. Smith, 81-285; Young v. Greenlee, 82-346. Person can intervene and assert title to property in a proceeding supplementary to execution: Munds v. Cassidey, 98-558. The right to intervene given by this section applies to properly constituted cases in court only: Milliken v. Fox, 84-109; Bates v. Lilly, 65-232; Dewey v. White, 65-225. Execution creditors can come in under this section and have disposition of fund determined: Fox v. Kline, 85-173; Dewey v. White, 65-225. Intervener as to personal property controversy loses his right by delay of three years after notice of action: Clemmons v. Hampton, 70-534. A party may intervene when he has an interest in the controversy, but not when he has only an interest in the thing which is the subject of the controversy: Asheville Div. v. Aston, 92-588; Colgrove v. Koonce, 76-363; Wade v. Saunders, 70-270. In partition proceedings, the personal representative of ancestor cannot be allowed to intervene and ask to sell land for assets: Garrison v. Cox, 99-478. Landlord let in to defend an action of ejectment is not restricted to his tenant's defenses: Isler v. Foy, 66-547; Maddrey v. Long, 86-383. How landlord's application must be framed, see Bryant v. Kinlaw, 90-337. Where creditor wants to be made a plaintiff in action by one creditor for all; requirements, etc.: Isler v. Murphy, 76-52. Motion to intervene will be denied when useless or calculated to obstruct justice: Bird v. Gilliam, 125-76. Joint owner with defendant of land the subject of litigation has a right, upon affidavit, to be let in as party defendant: Lytle v. Burgin, 82-301. Separate trial allowed intervener when the court deems best: Cotton Mills v. Weil, 129-452. Distributees cannot intervene in a motion by administrator to set aside a judgment for irregularity: McLeod v. Graham, 132-473. Intervener is entitled to only one issue, and that is, "Does the fund belong to him?": Maynard v. Ins. Co., 132-711. When plaintiff takes nonsuit, action continues as to intervener: Dawson v. Thigpen, 137-462. One refused the right to intervene or become a party can appeal: Rollins v. Rollins, 76-264; Keathly v. Branch, 84-202. Creditor allowed to intervene in proceeding for widow's dower: Welfare v. Welfare, 108-272. A creditor can intervene in action to vacate corporate charter: Atty. Gen. v. Simonton, 78-57. Where both plaintiff and third party claim to be landlord of tenant, such third party has the right to be let in as party defendant: Rollins v. Rollins, 76-264. No person claiming land adversely to both plaintiff and defendant should be allowed to be made a party: McDonald v. Morris, 89-99; Colgrove v. Koonce, 76-363; Asheville Div. v. Aston, 92-588. The burden is always on the intervener to establish title: Cotton Mills v. Weil, 129-452; Redman v. Ray, 123-502; Wallace v. Robeson, 100-206. Interpleader in summary ejection in magistrate's court: Cheek v. Sykes, 126-210. Tort judgment creditor cannot intervene in the foreclosure of mortgage executed by a corporation: Williams v. R. R., 126-918. Insurance company can intervene in action against railway for negligent burning: Dobson v. Rwy., 129-290.

ADDITIONAL PARTIES BY ORDER OF COURT. No appeal from refusal to make additional party defendant: Aiken v. Mfg. Co., 141-339; Jarrett v. Gibbs, 107-304; Henderson v. Graham, 84-496; it is within the discretion of the court: Belding v. Archer, 131-287. Appeal from order making additional parties is premature: Etehison v. McGuire, 147-388; Bennett v. Shelton, 117-103; Emry v. Parker, 111-261; Lane v. Richardson, 101-181. Motion to make additional parties not allowed after adverse verdict: Styers v. Alspaugh, 118-631. Case remanded by supreme court to make interested persons parties: Meadows v. Marsh, 123-189. Supplemental pleading required from new parties only when previous record does not show their interest in the controversy: Hughes v. Hodges, 94-56. Person claiming interest in land sought to be partitioned or sold for assets should be made a party, and he comes in as if an intervener and must establish his claim: McKeel v. Holloman, 163-132.

Where a third person demands from the defendant the property sued for, the defendant may ask that such person be substituted as a party defendant, and that he be allowed to surrender the property to the court and be discharged from liability: Maynard v. Ins. Co., 132-711; Johnson v. Ins. Co., 157-106. In an action against a city for damages due to obstruction caused by a third person, it is error to refuse to allow him to be made a party: Guthrie v. Durham, 168-573. Where action against A and B before a justice was dismissed as to A and judgment given against B, it is error to have A made a party on appeal to the superior court: Morgan v. Benefit Society, 167-262.

461. Abatement of actions. 1. No action abates by the death, marriage, or other disability of a party, or by the transfer of any interest therein, if the cause of action survives, or continues. In case of death, except in suits for penalties and for damages merely vindictive, or in case of marriage or other disability of a party, the court, on motion at any time within one year thereafter, or afterwards on a supplemental complaint, may allow the action to be continued, by, or against, his representative or successor in interest. In case of any other transfer of interest, the action shall be continued in the name of the original party, or the court may allow the person to whom the transfer is made to be substituted in the action.

See sections 159 and 162, as explained in Watts v. Vanderbilt, 167-567. After death of party or transfer of interest in an action for land, there is no abatement if cause survives. There can be no judgment without substitution or joinder of representative or grantee: Burnett v. Lyman, 141-500; Moore v. Moore, 151-555.

Abatement of action for assault and battery when plaintiff dies: Bolick v. R. R., 138-370; Hannah v. R. R., 87-351—for damages for tort of wife when wife dies, Roberts v. Lisenbee, 86-136—for personal injuries when plaintiff dies, Harper v. Comrs., 123-118; Hannah v. R. R., 87-351—for recovery of custody of children when respondent dies, Brown v. Rainor, 108-204—for penalty on official bond when officer dies, Wallace v. McPherson, 139-297—for recovery of damages for mental anguish, Morton v. Tel. Co., 130-299.

No abatement of action for recovery of land by conveyance of the same: Burnett v. Lyman, 141-500; Talbert v. Becton, 111-543; Davis v. Higgins, 92-203—for recovery of damages for breach of promise of marriage when defendant dies, Allen v. Baker, 86-92; Shuler v. Millsaps, 71-297—for recovery of damages for wrongful death when defendant dies, Collier v. Arrington, 61-356; see, also, sections 160 and 161—for recovery on official bond, Davenport v. McKee, 98-500—for recovery of damages on contract, Miller v. Leach, 95-229—for recovery of sick benefit on death of member entitled, Kelly v. Trimont Lodge, 154-97—for damages for waste when life tenant dies, Shields v. Lawrence, 72-43—for damages for conversion, Sledge v. Reid, 73-440—for trespass, on death of plaintiff, Rowe v. Lumber Co., 133-433—for foreclosure of mortgage, on death of mortgagee, Hughes v. Gay, 132-50—for recovery of land, on death of party, Hughes v. Gay, 132-50; Rogerson v. Leggett, 145-7; Moore v. Moore, 151-555.

2. After a verdict is rendered in any action for a wrong, the action does not abate by the death of a party.

Judgment against a dead man is irregular and voidable; in favor of a dead man is not void, nor on that account irregular: Wood v. Watson, 107-52; Everett v. Reynolds, 114-366; Lynn v. Lowe, 88-481; Beard v. Hall, 79-506.

3. At any time after the death, marriage, or other disability of the party plaintiff, the court in which an action is pending, upon notice to such persons as it directs and upon application of any person aggrieved, may order that the action be abated, unless it is continued by the proper parties, within a time to be fixed by the court, not less than six nor more than twelve months from the granting of the order.

Where right survives, action does not abate by death of party, except by order of court: Burnett v. Lyman, 141-500; Moore v. Moore, 151-555. The question of abatement under this subsection entirely in the discretion of court for the promotion of justice, see Coggins v. Flythe, 114-275; Baggarly v. Calvert, 70-688. Order of court directing continuance of an action upon death of unnecessary party will not be reviewed: Jaffray v. Bear, 98-58. Effect of delay for eight years in making order of abatement: Rogerson v. Leggett, 145-7.

4. No action against a receiver of a corporation abates by reason of his death, but, upon suggestion of the facts on the record, it continues against his successor, or against the corporation in case a new receiver is not appointed.

Rev., s. 415; Code, s. 188; 1901, c. 2, s. 85; C. C. P., s. 64; R. C., c. 1, s. 4; c. 46, s. 43.

462. Procedure on death of party. When party to an action in the superior court dies pending the action, his death may be suggested before the clerk of the court where the action is pending, during vacation. It is then the duty of the clerk to issue a summons to the party who succeeds to the rights or liabilities of a deceased defendant, commanding him to appear before him on a day named in the summons, which must be at least twenty days after its service, and answer the complaint, and the issue joined by the filing of the answer stands for trial at the succeeding term of the superior court. It is the duty of the clerk to issue a notice to the party succeeding to the rights of a deceased party who will be necessary to the prosecution of the action to final judgment to appear and become party plaintiff; and if the party made plaintiff files an amended complaint, the defendant has twenty days after notice of same in which to file an answer thereto, and the issue thus made up stands for trial at the succeeding term.

Rev., ss. 416, 417, 418; 1887, c. 389.

For substitution of administrator d. b. n. or c. t. a., see section 155. Adverse party should suggest the death: Wood v. Watson, 107-52; and upon such suggestion it is the duty of the clerk to issue summons to representative or successor of deceased plaintiff or defendant: Rogerson v. Leggett, 145-7. Failure of party for one year after adverse party's death to cause issuance and service of notice provided for in section 461 (1) will not work a discontinuance, since sections 480 and 481 are not applicable: Ibid. Where in an action begun against A, B was substituted as defendant in capacity of A's administrator and assumed the defense, regularity of his admission as a party sufficiently appears, though the death of A does not appear upon the record: Alexander v. Patton, 90-557.

Death of defendant suggested, executor substituted: Grant v. Bell, 91-495. Clerk may order infants made defendants and appoint guardian ad litem: Lowe v. Harris, 121-287. In trespass, where one of two plaintiffs dies, his administrator should be joined, and not his devisee: Rowe v. Lumber Co., 133-433. Clerk may make administrator party where plaintiff dies after appeal taken but before it is docketed: Martin v. Martin, 162-41.

SUBCHAPTER IV. VENUE

ART. 7. VENUE

463. Where subject of action situated. Actions for the following causes must be tried in the county in which the subject of the action, or some part thereof, is situated, subject to the power of the court to change the place of trial, in the cases provided by law:

Venue in criminal actions, see section 4606. Venue is under control of the legislature: State v. Woodard, 123-710; Cooperage Co. v. Lumber Co., 151-455.

Wrong venue: remedies for, see section 470, etc.; waived unless objection in apt time: McCullen v. R. R., 146-568. Cannot be taken advantage of by demurrer: Ibid.

Local and transitory actions distinguished: Perry v. R. R., 153-117; Brady v. Brady, 161-324; Cedar Works v. Lumber Co., 161-603 (for conversion of timber transitory, for damage to the land local). Section simply referred to, Whitford v. Ins. Co., 156-42.

1. Recovery of real property, or of an estate or interest therein, or for the determination in any form of such right or interest, and for injuries to real property.

See section 470, which applies to actions concerning real estate as well as personalty: Lafoon v. Shearin, 91-370. For recovery of an interest or estate in real property: Lucas v. Railway, 121-506; Askew v. Bynum, 81-350; Springer v. Colwell, 116-524. Injunction to prevent secretary of state from issuing grant to land: McNamee v. Alexander, 109-242. Action to declare grant void: Hardwood Co. v. Waldo, 161-196. Action for damages for breach of covenant of seizin and right to convey is not within this subsection, being a personal action: Eames v. Armstrong, 136-392; Phillips v. Holmes, 71-250. A docketed judgment creating a lien on land is not within this subsection, being no interest in land: Baruch v. Long, 117-509. Oysters severed from the bed are not real property, and action for wrongful conversion need not be tried where beds are located: Makely v. Booth Co., 129-11—nor is timber cut from land an interest in realty, Ibid. For laying off dower: Askew v. Bynum, 81-350. Action on note secured by land mortgage need not be brought where land lies: Max v. Harris, 125-345. Action for injury to real property: Cedar Works v. Lumber Co., 161-603; Perry v. R. R., 153-117; Cooperage Co. v. Lumber Co., 151-455; except where injury arises from conduct of municipal officers within the county: Cecil v. High Point, 165-431. Action for deed held in escrow: Bridgers v. Ormond, 148-375. Action to set aside deed for fraud: Wofford v. Hampton, 173-686. Action for damages for deficiency in acreage conveyed not local: Griffin v. Barrett, 176-473. Action for specific performance of contract to purchase land: Councill v. Bailey, 154-54; Fralely v. March, 68-160.

2. Partition of real property.

See section 3213, etc., for Partition.

3. Foreclosure of a mortgage of real property.

Subsection applied: Connor v. Dillard, 129-50; Fralely v. March, 68-160. Suit to have notes pledged as collateral sold is not suit for foreclosure, though the pledged note is secured by mortgage on land: Warren v. Herrington, 171-165. Action by vendor against vendee to enforce payment by sale of land: Councill v. Bailey, 154-54.

4. Recovery of personal property.

Whether subsection applies to all personal property actions or merely where claim and delivery resorted to, see Brown v. Cogdell, 136-32; Woodard v. Sauls, 134-274; Mfg. Co. v. Brower, 105-440; Connor v. Dillard, 129-50; Smithdeal v. Wilkerson, 100-52. Where recovery of personalty not the sole or chief relief demanded, subsection not applicable: Piano Co. v. Newell, 177-533; Clow v. McNeill, 167-212. An action to set aside a transfer of personal property and appoint a receiver is not an action for recovery of personal property: Baruch v. Long, 117-509. Where three causes of action set out, one of which is for the recovery of personalty, case removed to county where such property situated: Edgerton v. Gaines, 142-223.

Rev., s. 419; Code, s. 190; 1889, c. 219; C. C. P., s. 66.

464. Where cause of action arose. Actions for the following causes must be tried in the county where the cause, or some part thereof, arose, subject to the power of the court to change the place of trial, in the cases provided by law:

Seemingly, this section inapplicable to magistrates' courts: Fisher v. Bullard, 109-574; but see Dixon v. Haar, 158-341. This section embodies a general rule as to venue; section 468 is exception: Hannon v. Power Co., 173-520. Section referred to as not applying: Whitford v. Ins. Co., 156-42.

1. Recovery of a penalty or forfeiture, imposed by statute; except that, when it is imposed for an offense committed on a sound, bay, river, or other body of water, situated in two or more counties, the action may be brought in any county bordering on such body of water, and opposite to the place where the offense was committed.

Action for penalty: McCullen v. R. R., 146-568. Action for false return of sheriff: Watson v. Mitchell, 108-364. This subsection as to penalties not applicable to magistrates' courts: Fisher v. Bullard, 109-574; but see Dixon v. Haar, 158-341. An action for penalty against a foreign corporation may be brought in the county in which cause arose or where plaintiff resides: Allen-Fleming Co. v. Rwy., 145-37; see section 467.

2. Against a public officer or person especially appointed to execute his duties, for an act done by him by virtue of his office; or against a person who by his command or in his aid does anything touching the duties of such officer.

Actions against county commissioners must be brought in county of which they are commissioners: Comrs. v. Comrs., 70-657; Steele v. Comrs., 70-137; Jones v. Comrs., 69-412; Alexander v. Comrs., 67-330; Johnston v. Comrs., 67-101; against register of deeds for issuing license, Dixon v. Haar, 158-341. Actions for false imprisonment: Shaver v. Huntley, 107-623. Where same property taxed in two counties, owner may sue to restrain collection in either: Sherrod v. Dawson, 154-525. Action against obligors in indemnifying bond is not an action against one who by sheriff's "command or in his aid" does anything touching his duties: Harvey v. Brevard, 98-93. Actions against cities and towns: Jones v. Statesville, 97-86; Light Co. v. Comrs., 151-558; Cecil v. High Point, 165-431. Referred to casually in Phillips v. Holmes, 71-252.

Rev., s. 420; Code, s. 191; C. C. P., s. 67.

465. Official bonds, executors and administrators. All actions upon official bonds or against executors and administrators in their official capacity must be instituted in the county where the bonds were given, if the principal or any surety on the bond is in the county; if not, then in the plaintiff's county.

Rev., s. 421; Code, s. 193; 1868-9, c. 258.

Actions against personal representative on his bond: Alliance v. Murrell, 119-124; Wood v. Morgan, 118-749; Foy v. Morehead, 69-512; Bidwell v. King, 71-287; Stanley v. Mason, 69-1. Action against administrator for settlement of estate: Thomas v. Ellington, 162-131. Action by executor for settlement of estate: Perry v. Perry, 172-62. Where administrator gave bond and qualified in one county, but died in another and his administratrix qualified there; suit on bond of administrator, where brought, see Clark v. Peebles, 100-348. Guardian bond is within the provisions of this section: McNeill v. Currie, 117-341; Clarke v. Peebles, 100-348; Cloman v. Staton, 78-235. Where personal representative sued as to execution of a trust committed to him in a will: Roberts v. Connor, 125-45. Where executor continuing the business of intestate as a private banker is sued as banker, it is not the executor sued, but the bank, and this section does not apply: Roberts v. Connor, 125-45. Action to construe a will: Devereux v. Devereux, 81-12. Section not applicable to actions brought by executors and administrators: Whitford v. Ins. Co., 156-42; Hannon v. Power Co., 173-520—nor to actions for service rendered to administrator personally, Craven v. Munger, 170-424.

466. Domestic corporations. For the purpose of suing and being sued the principal place of business of a domestic corporation is its residence.

This section nullifies the decisions of Cline v. Mfg. Co., 116-837, and Alliance v. Murrell, 119-125, and like cases holding that a domestic corporation can be sued by a nonresident anywhere in the state. The "principal place of business" is the place the charter designates, the corporation having no power to change it: Garrett v. Bear, 144-23. Applicable to domestic corporations: Roberson v. Lumber Co., 153-120; Rackley v. Lumber Co., 153-171; Wofford v. Hampton, 173-686; R. R. v. Spencer, 166-522. Section to be construed with section 469: Rackley v. Lumber Co., 153-171.

467. Foreign corporations. An action against a corporation created by or under the law of any other state or government may be brought in the superior court of any county in which the cause of action arose, or in which the corporation usually did business, or has property, or in which the plaintiffs, or either of them, reside, in the following cases:

1. By a resident of this state, for any cause of action.
2. By a nonresident of this state in any county where he or they are regularly engaged in carrying on business.
3. By a plaintiff, not a resident of this state, when the cause of action arose or the subject of the action is situated in this state.

Rev., s. 423; Code, s. 194; C. C. P., s. 361; 1876-7, c. 170; 1907, c. 460.

Section applied: Cedar Works v. Lumber Co., 161-603; Ange v. Woodmen, 171-40; Hannon v. Power Co., 173-520. See Allen-Fleming Co. v. Rwy., 145-37; Goodwin v. Clayton, 137-224; Brown v. Western Union, 133-603; Howard v. Ins. Co., 125-53; Shields v. Ins. Co., 119-386.

REMOVAL TO FEDERAL COURT. Though not concerned with this section, cases in the North Carolina Supreme Court dealing with the right of a foreign corporation sued here to remove case to federal court are collected here.

Grounds for removal: Tucker v. Life Assn., 112-796; Tate v. Douglas, 113-190; Springer v. Sheets, 115-370; Dobson v. R. R., 129-289; Staton v. R. R., 144-135; Tobacco Co. v. Tobacco Co., 144-352; Herrick v. R. R., 158-307; Gurley v. Power Co., 173-447. One of two defendants nonresident, as ground for removal: Lawson v. R. R., 112-390; Faison v. Hardy, 114-329; McCulloch v. R. R., 149-305. Divisibility of action against joint tort-feasors: Bowley v. R. R., 110-315; Staton v. R. R., 144-135; Hough v. R. R., 144-692; White v. R. R., 146-340. Fraudulent joinder of resident defendant: Fore v. Tanning Co., 175-583; Patterson v. Lumber Co., 175-90; Hollifield v. Tel. Co., 172-714; Lloyd v. R. R., 166-24; Rea v. Mirror Co., 158-24; Davis v. Rexford, 146-418; Hough v. R. R., 144-692. Consolidation of foreign and domestic corporations: Cox v. R. R., 166-652; Staton v. R. R., 144-135. See Coal Co. v. R. R., 144-732; Hurst v. R. R., 162-368.

General rules governing removal: Cogdill v. Clayton, 170-526. Petition for removal: Pruett v. Power Co., 165-416; Smith v. Quarries Co., 164-338; Rea v. Mirror Co., 158-24 (verification); Higson v. Ins. Co., 153-35; Corp. Com. v. R. R., 135-89; Lewis v. S. S. Co., 131-652; Springs v. R. R., 130-186; Bradley v. R. R., 119-744; Baird v. R. R., 113-603; Lawson v. R. R., 112-390; Herndon v. Ins. Co., 108-648. Filing petition: Pruett v. Power Co., 165-416; s. c., 167-598;

Garrett v. Bear, 144-23; Riley v. Pelletier, 134-314; Meeke v. Mineral Co., 122-790; Howard v. R. R., 122-944; Williams v. Tel. Co., 116-558. Extension of time to answer, objected to by defendant, extends time to file petition: Hyder v. R. R., 167-584; but see Meeke v. Mineral Co., 122-790. But extension of time consented to is waiver of right to remove: Patterson v. Lumber Co., 175-90; Dills v. Fiber Co., 175-49; see, also, Garrett v. Bear, 144-23; Bryson v. R. R., 141-594; Howard v. R. R., 122-952; Riley v. Pelletier, 134-316.

A proceeding before the corporation commission for change in depot is not a "suit" to be subject to removal: Corporation Com. v. R. R., 151-447. The state court retains control until the petition shows right to remove: Ibid. But upon removal the federal court has entire control: Harrison v. Allen, 152-720. Jurisdictional amount for removal: Ibid.; Corp. Com. v. R. R., 151-447. Petition and bond for removal should be filed at term: Higson v. Ins. Co., 153-35.

468. Actions against railroads. In all actions against railroads the action must be tried either in the county where the cause of action arose or where the plaintiff resided at that time, or in some county adjoining that in which the cause of action arose, subject to the power of the court to change the place of trial as provided by statute.

469. Venue in all other cases. In all other cases the action must be tried in the county in which the plaintiffs or the defendants, or any of them, reside at its commencement; or if none of the defendants reside in the state, then in the county in which the plaintiffs, or any of them, reside; and if none of the parties reside in the state, then the action may be tried in any county which the plaintiff designates in his summons and complaint, subject to the power of the court to change the place of trial, in the cases provided by statute.

Rev., s. 424; Code, s. 192; C. C. P., s. 68; 1868-9, cc. 59, 277; 1905, c. 367.

Section is exception to general rule laid down in section 464: Hannon v. Power Co., 173-520—construed with section 466, Rackley v. Lumber Co., 153-171. "Parties" referred to here are parties of record: Rankin v. Allison, 64-673. Locus at commencement of action determines venue: Hannon v. Power Co., 173-520. Residence of parties to contract presumed to be place where contract made: Taylor v. Sharp, 108-377. Action for breach of covenant tried where plaintiff or defendant resides: Phillips v. Holmes, 71-250; Eames v. Armstrong, 136-392. "Where plaintiff resides" in action by administrator interpreted: Smith v. Patterson, 159-138—in action by receiver, Biggs v. Bowen, 170-34. Administrator's suit on decedent's policy of life insurance in county of administrator's residence: Whitford v. Ins. Co., 156-42. Action against administrator for services rendered to him in management of estate controlled by this section: Craven v. Munger, 170-424. Effect on venue of nol. pros. taken as to part of defendants: Harvey v. Rich, 98-95.

470. Change of venue. If the county designated for that purpose in the summons and complaint is not the proper one, the action may, however, be tried therein, unless the defendant, before the time of answering expires, demands in writing that the trial be conducted in the proper county, and the place of trial is thereupon changed by consent of parties, or by order of the court.

For removal to federal court, see annotations under section 467. In criminal actions wrong venue ground for plea in abatement, section 4606. How demand made and when heard: Alliance v. Murrell, 119-124. Motion must be made before judge: Howard v. R. R., 122-944—before clerk in vacation invalid, Riley v. Pelletier, 134-316; see Garrett v. Bear, 144-26.

Failure to demand change of venue in apt time is waiver of right: McArthur v. Griffith, 147-545; Allen-Fleming Co. v. R. R., 145-37; Garrett v. Bear, 144-26; Cooper v. Cooper, 127-492; Herring v. Pugh, 126-852; Hines v. Vann, 118-7; McNeill v. Currie, 117-346; Baruch v. Long, 117-509; Cherry v. Lilly, 113-27; Bd. of Education v. Bd. of Education, 106-81; Morgan v. Bank, 93-355; Lafoon v. Shearin, 91-370; Devereux v. Devereux, 81-12; Cloman v. Staton, 78-236; McMinn v. Hamilton, 77-300. Pleading to merits waives defective venue: Brown v. Harding, 170-253; s. c., 171-686; Morgan v. Bank, 93-352; McMinn v. Hamilton, 77-300. Motion for change must be before time for answering expires: Garrett v. Bear, 144-26; Lafoon v. Shearin, 91-370; Lucas v. R. R., 121-506; s. c., 122-937; Shaver v. Huntley, 107-623; Trustees v. Fetzer, 162-245.

Injunction granted without objection out of district waives objection to venue: Cooper v. Cooper, 127-492. An agreement to extend time of answering waives the right to remove: Garrett v. Bear, 144-26—though under second subsection motion to remove can be made at any time during progress of cause, Riley v. Pelletier, 134-316. Appeal may be taken from refusal of a motion to remove hereunder when in writing and in apt time: Brown v. Cogdell, 136-33; Mfg. Co. v. Brower, 105-440; Jones v. Statesville, 97-86; Connor v. Dillard, 129-50; Roberts v. Connor, 125-45. Where defect in record on removal of cause, proper method of amendment outlined: State v. Swepson, 81-571. The statutory expression, "may" change the place of trial, means "must" change it: Mfg. Co. v. Brower, 105-440; Jones v. Statesville, 97-86. One defendant cannot object to the wrong venue as to the other defendant: Allen-Fleming Co. v. R. R., 145-37. Findings of fact by court on motion for removal are conclusive: Watson v. R. R., 152-215. Prayer by defendant in answer to stay proceeding until action in another county determined not demand for removal: McArthur v. Griffith, 147-545. Section applied in action by domestic corporation: R. R. v. Spencer, 166-522. Motion for change refused by magistrate allowed by superior court on appeal: Dixon v. Haar, 158-341.

The court may change the place of trial in the following cases:

1. When the county designated for that purpose is not the proper one.

If not proper county, semble, judge may remove ex mero motu: Cloman v. Staton, 78-236. Defendant may demand removal or he may move to dismiss: Stanley v. Mason, 69-1; Jones v. Comrs., 69-412. See Cloman v. Staton, 78-236; Dixon v. Haar, 158-341, that action should be removed and not dismissed.

2. When the convenience of witnesses and the ends of justice would be promoted by the change.

Removal hereunder lies in discretion of court: Eames v. Armstrong, 136-392; Belding v. Archer, 131-287; Lassiter v. R. R., 126-507; Craven v. Munger, 170-424; Oettinger v. Livestock Co., 170-152; Ludwick v. Mining Co., 171-60. Time for motion to remove under subsection: Riley v. Pelletier, 134-316; Lassiter v. R. R., 126-507. No hearing or determination of an action or of motion in a cause outside of county where action pending, except by consent: McNeill v. Hodges, 99-248; Godwin v. Monds, 101-354; Skinner v. Terry, 107-103—but this does not apply to applications for restraining orders, injunctions and receivers: Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-457; McNeill v. Hodges, 99-249; see, also, sections 843, 851-853, 859, 860—nor to orders in proceedings for examination of parties, Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-457; Fertilizer Co. v. Taylor, 112-141; see, also, sections 900-902—nor to any ancillary remedy, Parker v. McPhail, 112-502—nor to special proceedings nor appeals from clerk, Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-457. No appeal from refusal of judge to remove under this subsection: Lassiter v. R. R., 126-507. After removal hereunder, if no transcript docketed at first term of county to which removed, order may be stricken out: Cline v. Mfg. Co., 116-837.

3. When the judge has, at any time, been interested as party or counsel.

See Carter v. R. R., 68-346.

Rev., s. 425; Code, s. 195; C. C. P., s. 69; R. C., c. 31, ss 115, 118; 1870-1, c. 20.

471. Removal for fair trial. In all civil and criminal actions in the superior and criminal courts, when it is suggested on oath or affirmation, on behalf of the state or the traverser of the bill of indictment, or of the plaintiff or defendant, that there are probable grounds to believe that a fair and impartial trial cannot be obtained in the county in which the action is pending, the judge may order a copy of the record of the action removed to some adjacent county for trial, if he is of the opinion that a fair trial cannot be had in said county, after hearing all the testimony offered on either side by affidavits. The county from which the cause is removed must pay to the county in which the cause has been tried the full amount paid by the trial county for jurors' fees, and the full costs in the cause which are not taxable against or cannot be recovered from a party to the action, and for which the trial county is liable.

Rev., s. 426; Code, s. 196; 1879, c. 45; 1899, cc. 104, 508; 1806, c. 693, s. 12; 1917, c. 44.

AFFIDAVIT FOR REMOVAL. Purpose of affidavit: Emery v. Hardee, 94-787. Counsel can consent to let court hear facts as if stated in affidavit: Ibid. Contents of affidavit: Emery v. Hardee, 94-787; State v. Seaborn, 15-305; Smith v. Greenlee, 14-387. Motion for removal in criminal actions made after issue joined: State v. Flowers, 109-841; State v. Haywood, 94-847; State v. Swepson, 81-571; State v. Reid, 18-377—in civil actions before issue joined, see section 470.

REMOVAL. Need not be made to county within the same judicial district: Lassiter v. R. R., 126-507. Order conclusive as to the facts upon which founded. The court can only scrutinize sufficiency of order: Emery v. Hardee, 94-788; Boyden v. Williams, 84-608; State v. Barfield, 30-344; State v. Seaborn, 15-305. Order stating "the trial of the prosecution shall be removed," is sufficient: State v. Shepherd, 30-195.

NO APPEAL FROM ORDER. Finding of facts by court conclusive and ruling thereupon not reviewable: Garrett v. Bear, 144-23; State v. Turner, 143-641; Benton v. R. R., 122-1007; State v. Smarr, 121-669; Albertson v. Terry, 109-8; State v. Johnson, 104-780; Phillips v. Lentz, 83-240; State v. Hall, 73-134; State v. Hill, 72-345; State v. Hildreth, 31-429; State v. Duncan, 28-98; State v. Plyler, 153-630—but where affidavit contains no facts the court will review it, Phillips v. Lentz, 83-240.

Where court allows state to select the county, so it does not select county objected to by defendant, it cannot be complained of by defendant, he having failed to object at the time: State v. Harrison, 145-408.

472. Affidavits on hearing for removal; when removal ordered. No action, civil or criminal, shall be removed, unless the affidavit sets forth particularly and in detail the ground of the application. It is competent for the other side to controvert the allegations of fact in the application, and to offer counter affidavits to that end. The judge shall order the removal of the action, if he is satisfied after thorough examination of the evidence as aforesaid that the ends of justice demand it.

See annotations under section 471 as to affidavit, etc.

473. Additional jurors from other counties instead of removal. Upon suggestion made as provided by the second section preceding, the presiding judge, instead of making order of removal may cause as many jurors as he deems necessary to be summoned from any adjoining county or any county in the same judicial district by the sheriff or other proper officer thereof, to attend, at such time as the judge designates, and serve as jurors in said action. The judge may direct the required number of names to be drawn from the jury box in said county in such manner as he may direct, and a list of the same to be delivered to the sheriff or other proper officer of the county, who shall at once summon the jurors so drawn to appear at the time and place specified in the order. In case a jury is not obtained from those so summoned the judge may, in like manner, from time to time, order additional jurors summoned from any adjoining county or any county in the same judicial district, or from the county where the trial is being held, until a jury is obtained. These jurors are subject to challenge for cause as other jurors, but not because of nonresidence in the county of trial, or service within two years, or not being freeholders, and all jurors so summoned are entitled to compensation for mileage and time, to be paid by the county to which they are summoned, at the rate now provided by law for regular jurors in the county of their residence.

For jurors' fees, see Salaries and Fees, s. 3892.

474. Transcript of removal; subsequent proceedings. When a cause is directed to be removed, the clerk shall transmit to the court to which it is removed a transcript of the record of the case, with the prosecution bond, bail bond, and the depositions, and all other written evidences filed therein; and all other proceedings shall be had in the county to which the place of trial is changed, unless otherwise provided by the consent of the parties in writing duly filed, or by order of court.

Rev., s. 428; Code, ss. 195, 198; R. C., c. 31, s. 118; 1806, c. 694, s. 12; 1810, c. 787; C. C. P., s. 69.

Transcript verified: State v. Lambert, 93-618; State v. Duncan, 28-236. Where two transcripts sent up, what done: State v. Collins, 14-117. After order, but before transcript sent, either court can issue subpoenas, etc.: Comrs. v. Lemly, 85-341; Smith v. Greenlee, 14-387. Defects in transcript, and amendments thereto: State v. Swepson, 81-571; State v. Anderson, 92-732; State v. Reid, 18-377. Docketing of transcript: Fisher v. Mining Co., 105-123; Cline v. Mfg. Co., 116-839. What sent with transcript: Clark v. Peebles, 100-352.

SUBCHAPTER V. COMMENCEMENT OF ACTIONS

ART. 8. SUMMONS

475. Civil actions commenced by. Civil actions shall be commenced by issuing a summons; but no summons need issue in controversies submitted without action, and in confessions of judgment without action.

Rev., s. 429; Code, s. 199; C. C. P., s. 70.

For summons in special proceedings, see this chapter, s. 753.

For confession of judgment, see this chapter, s. 623.

For controversy without action, see this chapter, ss. 626-628.

See section 404. An action is commenced from the issuing of the summons and not from its service: Pettigrew v. McCoin, 165-472. Civil actions should be commenced by issuing a summons, except that in cases where property is attached and publication is made a summons is not necessary: Mills v. Hansel, 168-651; Armstrong v. Kinsell, 164-125; Grocery Co. v. Bag Co., 142-174 (overruling McClure v. Fellows, 131-509); Best v. Mortgage Co., 128-351; Fisher v. Bank, 132-776; Lyon v. Comrs., 120-242; Webster v. Sharpe, 116-466; Fleming v. Patterson, 99-404; Calvert v. Peebles, 82-338; Belmont v. Reilly, 71-260; Steele v. Comrs., 70-140; Thompson v. Berry, 64-79; Patrick v. Joyner, 63-573; Ditmore v. Goins, 128-327. Special proceedings begun also by summons, the provision as to civil actions being applicable to special proceedings except as otherwise provided: Railway Co. v. Lumber Co., 132-644; also see section 753.

Office of the summons is to bring the parties into court: Barneycastle v. Walker, 92-198. Injunction issued without summons is irregular: Armstrong v. Kinsell, 164-125; Fleming v. Patterson, 99-404; Grant v. Edwards, 90-31; Trexler v. Newsome, 88-13; Hirsh v. Whitehead, 65-516; McArthur v. McEachin, 64-72; Patrick v. Joyner, 63-573. Summons is issued, when:

Smith v. Lumber Co., 142-26; Houston v. Thornton, 122-366; Currie v. Hawkins, 118-593; Neal v. Nelson, 117-401; Webster v. Sharpe, 116-466. Appearance waives all defect or irregularity as to summons: Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-425; Roberts v. Allman, 106-391; Etheridge v. Woodley, 83-11; Wheeler v. Cobb, 75-21; Middleton v. Duffy, 73-72; Duffy v. Averitt, 27-455; Hyatt v. Tomlin, 24-149; also see sections 401 and 490.

476. Contents; return; seal. The summons must run in the name of the state, be signed by the clerk of the superior court having jurisdiction to try the action, and be directed to the sheriff or other proper officer of the county in which any defendant resides or may be found. It must be returnable before the clerk at a date named therein, not less than ten nor more than twenty days from its issuance, and must command the sheriff, or other proper officer, to summon the defendant to appear and answer the complaint of the plaintiff within twenty days after its return day; and must contain a notice stating in substance that if the defendant fails to answer the complaint within the time specified, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint; and must be dated on the day of its issue. Every summons addressed to the sheriff or other officer of a county other than that from which it issued must be attested by the seal of the court; but when addressed to the sheriff or other officer of the county in which it issued, such seal is unnecessary.

As to summons in special proceedings, see sections 112 and 753. As to action begun by issuing summons, see sections 404 and 475.

FORM OF SUMMONS. Plaintiffs' and defendants' names: Fisher v. Ins. Co., 136-217; Heath v. Morgan, 117-504; Plemmons v. Improvement Co., 108-614; Clawson v. Wolfe, 77-100; Patterson v. Walton, 119-500; Kerlee v. Corpening, 97-330; see Rosenbacher v. Martin, 170-236.

Misnomer is not ground for dismissal, but for plea in abatement to correct name: Drainage Dist. v. Comrs., 174-738; Dunn v. Aid Society, 151-133. Effect where required number of days not given by summons and where judgment is rendered: Stafford v. Gallops, 123-19. Summons returnable to the next ensuing term of court (under practice before the act of 1919, c. 304): Sondley v. Asheville, 110-84; also see Roberts v. Allman, 106-391; Jones v. Comrs., 135-218; Martin v. Clark, 135-178; see, also, sections 480, 1444, 1456; but not to the superior court of another county: Moore v. R. R., 67-209; Howerton v. Tate, 66-431.

AMENDING SUMMONS. Chancey v. R. R., 171-756; Fountain v. Pitt, 171-113; Page v. McDonald, 159-38; Ewbank v. Turner, 134-81; Piercy v. Watson, 118-978; Elliott v. Tyson, 117-116; Redmond v. Mullenax, 113-505; McLean v. Breece, 113-390; Henderson v. Graham, 84-496; Jackson v. McLean, 90-64; Cheatham v. Crews, 81-343; Phillips v. Holland, 78-31; Thomas v. Womack, 64-657; also see section 547.

WHEN SUMMONS IS ISSUED. See sections 404, 475. Presumed to issue on date it bears, but this presumption rebuttable: Houston v. Thornton, 122-365; Currie v. Hawkins, 118-593; Webster v. Sharpe, 116-466.

Case where summons made returnable to judge at chambers instead of to term; duty and power of the judge discussed: Ewbank v. Turner, 134-78.

AFFIXING SEAL. Cases holding that process issued to another county without seal is invalid: Shackelford v. McRea, 10-226; Shepherd v. Lane, 13-148; Finley v. Smith, 15-95; Freeman v. Lewis, 27-91; Taylor v. Taylor, 83-116; McArter v. Rhea, 122-614; but it may be amended: Clark v. Hellen, 23-421; Purcell v. McFarland, 23-34; Henderson v. Graham, 84-496; Vick v. Flournoy, 147-209; Calmes v. Lambert, 153-248.

477. Issued to several counties. The plaintiff may issue a summons, directed to the sheriff of any county where a defendant is most likely to be found, noting on each summons that it is issued in the same action. When the summons is returned, it shall be docketed as if only one had issued, and if any defendant is not served with such process, the same proceeding shall be had as in other cases of similar process not executed.

Rev., s. 432; Code, s. 204; R. C., c. 31, s. 44; 1789, c. 314, ss. 1, 2; 1831, c. 14, s. 2.

478. When directed to officer of adjoining county. If at any time there is not in the county a proper officer to whom summons or other process of a court of record is or ought to be directed, who can lawfully execute it; or if such officer refuses or neglects to execute the same, the clerk of the court from which it has issued or shall issue, upon the facts being verified before him by written affidavit, subscribed by the plaintiff or his agent, shall issue such summons or process to the sheriff of any adjoining county, who has power to and shall execute the same in like manner as if he were sheriff of the county. In all cases where the sheriff of any county is interested, if there is no coroner in the county, process may be issued to and shall be executed by the sheriff of any adjoining county.

Rev., ss. 1530, 1531; Code, ss. 929, 930; R. C., c. 31, s. 55; 1779, c. 156; 1821, c. 1080; 1882, c. 1132; 1846, c. 61; 1869-70, c. 175.

For service of process by coroner, see section 1021. Where there is no coroner in county execution against sheriff will issue to sheriff of adjoining county: Anonymous, 2-422; Witkowsky v. Wasson, 69-38. Section merely referred to in Evaus v. Etheridge, 96-45; Collais v. McLeod, 30-224.

479. When officer must execute and return. The officer to whom the summons is addressed must note on it the day of its delivery to him, serve it as provided by law, and return it within the time specified therein for its return.

The presumption that summons was issued on the day it bears date is not rebutted by the fact that the sheriff's endorsement of its receipt by him is of a later date: Houston v. Thornton, 122-365. Failure of sheriff to note day of receipt of summons is irregular, but does not make summons void: Strayhorn v. Blalock, 92-292. For service of summons, see sections 482-487. Duty of sheriff to serve process and penalty for failure, see sections 3936, 3938.

RETURN OF SHERIFF. Defined in Watson v. Mitchell, 108-364; Strayhorn v. Blalock, 92-292; see, also, sections 1507, 1517, 2817, and 2819. Amendment of return: Swain v. Burden, 124-16; Campbell v. Smith, 115-498; Phillips v. Holland, 78-31; Manning v. R. R., 122-824; Steelman v. Greenwood, 113-355; Mfg. Co. v. Buxton, 105-74; Finley v. Hayes, 81-368; Peebles v. Newsom, 74-473; Hassell v. Latham, 52-465; Patton v. Marr, 44-377; Tomlinson v. Long, 53-469; Albright v. Tapscott, 53-473. Making return nunc pro tunc: Williams v. Weaver, 101-1; Walters v. Moore, 90-41; Henderson v. Graham, 84-496; Clark v. Hellen, 23-421. Presumption as to truth of return made: Strayhorn v. Blalock, 92-292; Miller v. Powers, 117-218; Isley v. Boon, 113-249; Chadbourn v. Johnston, 119-282; Marler-Dalton-Gilmer Co. v. Clothing Co., 150-519.

480. Alias and pluries. When the defendant in a civil action or special proceeding is not served with summons within the time in which it is returnable, the plaintiff may sue out an alias or pluries summons, returnable in the same manner as original process.

Rev., s. 437; Code, s. 205; R. C., c. 31, s. 52; 1777, c. 115, ss. 23, 71.

An alias summons issues only when the original summons has not been served: Powell v. Dail, 172-261; Rogerson v. Leggett, 145-7. Where summons, intended to be an alias but not so ordered, was issued returnable to a future term, at which an amended complaint was filed naming a party as defendant, held sufficient, though no connecting summonses: Battle v. Baird, 118-854.

481. Discontinuance. A failure to keep up the chain of summonses issued against a party, but not served, by means of an alias or pluries summons, is a discontinuance as to such party; and if a summons is served after a break in the chain, it is a new action as to such party, begun when the summons was issued.

Cases decided before statute passed, but of interest: Koonce v. Pelletier, 115-233; Penniman v. Daniel, 93-332, 91-431; Webster v. Laws, 86-180; Etheridge v. Woodley, 83-11. A discontinuance does not occur except when summons has not been served: Rogerson v. Leggett, 145-7.

482. Service by reading. The summons shall be served in all cases, except as hereinafter provided, by the sheriff or other officer reading it to the party or parties named as defendant.

Rev., s. 439; Code, s. 214; 1876-7, c. 241.

For statute forbidding service on Sunday, see section 3958. Voluntary appearance of defendant equivalent to service of summons. See section 490. Whether summons was duly served is a question of law: Williamson v. Cocks, 124-585—and the judge should write his findings of fact for review, Parker v. Ins. Co., 143-339; see, also, section 600.

SERVICE OF SUMMONS. Service must be made by reading the summons to defendant, unless he waives the reading: Williamson v. Cocks, 124-585; but reading over the telephone is not sufficient service: Lowman v. Ballard, 168-16. Service may be by deputy sheriff, though a minor: R. R. v. Fisher, 109-1. Service may be made upon a nonresident defendant temporarily and voluntarily within the state, but not when here in furtherance of the administration of justice: Brown v. Taylor, 174-423; Mottu v. Davis, 151-237; Greenleaf v. Bank, 133-292; Cooper v. Wyman, 122-784. Service on nonresident attorney attending to a case: Greenleaf v. Bank, 133-292. Service made on defendant in jail: White v. Underwood, 125-25. Service cannot be made outside of the state: Hinton v. Ins. Co., 126-18; but see section 491.

ACCEPTANCE OF SERVICE. By parties generally: Battle v. Baird, 118-854; Stancil v. Gay, 92-455; Johnson v. Futrell, 86-122; Nicholson v. Cox, 83-44; Bass v. Bass, 78-374—though telling officer to mark it “served” will not do: Godwin v. Mounds, 106-448. Infant cannot accept service: Nicholson v. Cox, 83-44; Bass v. Bass, 78-374—yet if he does accept service it is cured after guardian ad litem appointed, Cates v. Pickett, 97-21; Perry v. Adams, 98-167. An attorney cannot accept service of summons without special authority: Warlick v. Reynolds, 151-606.

IRREGULARITY OF SERVICE WAIVED. By appearance of party: Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-425; Moody v. Moody, 118-926; Cherry v. Lilly, 113-26; Turner v. Douglas, 72-127; see, also, cases under sections 401, 475, and 490. By appearance of solvent attorneys, when: Chadborn v. Johnston, 118-282; Hackett v. McMillan, 112-513; England v. Garner, 90-197. As to return of sheriff, see section 479.

483. Service by copy. The summons shall be served by delivering a copy thereof in the following cases:

1. If the action is against a corporation, to the president or other head of the corporation, secretary, cashier, treasurer, director, managing or local agent thereof. Any person receiving or collecting money in this state for a corporation of this or any other state or government is a local agent for the purpose of this section. Such service can be made in respect to a foreign corporation only when it has property, or the cause of action arose, or the plaintiff resides, in this state, or when it can be made personally within the state upon the president, treasurer or secretary thereof.

For service on foreign corporation by service on local process agent, see section 1137—on insurance commissioner, see section 6414. For service on corporation for forfeiture of charter, see section 1192.

Service on unlicensed insurance company must be made according to this section: Parker v. Ins. Co., 143-339. Service of summons must be made by leaving copy with one of the persons designated by this section: Aaron v. Lumber Co., 112-189—and leaving copy with person's wife is not service, Bank v. Wilson, 80-200. The manner of service prescribed is reasonable: Whitehurst v. Kerr, 153-76.

Service is valid when made upon a general or local agent: Anderson v. Fidelity Co., 174-417; Pardue v. Absher, 174-676; Jones v. Ins. Co., 88-499; Katzenstein v. R. R., 78-286. Meaning of "local agent": Whitehurst v. Kerr, 153-76; Moore v. Bank, 92-590. The term "local agent" not limited to those receiving money for company: Copeland v. Tel. Co., 136-11. A manager of agencies in this state is a "managing agent" within this section: Clinard v. White, 129-250. One simply acting as a caretaker as a matter of friendship, without compensation, is not such an agent upon whom process can be served: Kelly v. Lefaiver, 144-4. A foreman acting under a superintendent who is present is not an agent for service of summons: Simmons v. Box Co., 148-344. Traveling auditor, when company doing no business in this state, not proper party to be served in action against company: Higgs v. Sperry, 139-299. Service upon resident director is sufficient: Menefee v. Cotton Mills, 161-164.

Service may be made upon an officer of a foreign corporation while temporarily in the state, but not while attending the trial of an action against the corporation: McDonald v. McArthur, 154-122; Greenleaf v. Bank, 133-292; Jester v. Steam Packet Co., 131-54; Cooper v. Wyman, 122-784. But service cannot be made outside of the state: Hinton v. Ins. Co., 126-18. Service of summons upon local agent of the receiver of a corporation is service upon the receiver: Grady v. R. R., 116-952; Farris v. R. R., 115-600—and as fully upon the company as if served upon the president and superintendent: Grady v. R. R., 116-952.

2. If against a minor under the age of fourteen years, to the minor personally, and also to his father, mother or guardian, or if there are none within the state, to any person having the care and control of the minor, or with whom he resides, or in whose service he is employed.

Service must be upon infant personally, and, if under fourteen years of age, upon his mother, father or guardian or some one having control of him, also; and when guardian ad litem appointed, upon such guardian ad litem: Roseman v. Roseman, 127-494; Ward v. Lowndes, 96-367; Coffin v. Cook, 106-376; Cates v. Pickett, 97-21; Sumner v. Sessoms, 94-371; Hare v. Holloman, 94-14; Fry v. Currie, 91-436; Young v. Young, 91-359; Stancill v. Gay, 92-462; Gulley v. Macy, 81-356; Moore v. Gidney, 75-34. Service by reading the summons is sufficient unless it appears that the minor is under fourteen: Yarborough v. Moore, 151-116; and if the minor is properly represented such service is only an irregularity: Hughes v. Pritchard, 153-135; Rawls v. Henries, 172-216. As to appointment and duties of guardian ad litem, see section 451.

3. If against a person judicially declared of unsound mind, or incapable of conducting his own affairs in consequence of habitual drunkenness, and for whom a committee or guardian has been appointed, to such committee or guardian, and to the defendant personally. If the superintendent or acting superintendent of an insane asylum informs the sheriff or other officer who is charged with the duty of serving a summons or other judicial process, or notice, on an insane person confined in such asylum, that the summons, or process, or notice, cannot be served without danger of injury to the insane person, it is sufficient for the officer to return the same without actual service, but with an endorsement that it was not personally served because of such information; and when an insane person is confined in a common jail it is sufficient for an officer charged with service of a notice, summons, or other judicial process, to return the same with the endorsement that it was not served because of similar information as to the danger of service on such insane person given by the physician of the county in which the jail is situated.

Rev., s. 440; Code, s. 217; C. C. P., s. 82; 1874-5, c. 168; 1889, c. 89.

484. Service by publication. Where the person on whom the service of the summons is to be made cannot, after due diligence, be found in the state, and that fact appears by affidavit to the satisfaction of the court, or a judge thereof and it in like manner appears that a cause of action exists against the defendant in respect to whom service is to be made, or that he is a proper party to an action relating to real property in this state, such court or judge may grant an order that the service be made by publication of a notice in either of the following cases:

Attaching property and making publication may take the place of summons: Mills v. Hansel, 168-651; Armstrong v. Kinsell, 164-125; Grocery Co. v. Bag Co., 142-174. See generally, as to service of summons: Armstrong v. Kinsell, 164-125; Vick v. Flournoy, 147-209; Hinton v. Ins. Co., 126-18; Graham v. O'Bryan, 120-463; Barnhardt v. Brown, 118-700; Clafin v. Harrison, 108-157. "Due diligence" construed: Rose v. Davis, 140-269. Publication as to nonresident copartners not binding on resident partner: Pender v. Griffin, 72-270. Service by publication will not warrant a judgment in personam: Johnson v. Whilden, 166-104; s. c., 171-153; Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209; Goodwin v. Claytor, 137-224; Hinton v. Ins. Co., 126-18; May v. Getty, 140-310; Long v. Ins. Co., 114-465; Winfree v. Bagley, 102-517. Publication is ineffectual unless property is brought within control of the court: Everitt v. Austin, 169-622; Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209.

AFFIDAVIT. Sufficiency of: Page v. McDonald, 159-38; Rose v. Davis, 140-269; Bacon v. Johnson, 110-114; Sheldon v. Kivett, 110-408; Faulk v. Smith, 84-501; Windley v. Broadway, 71-333; Wheeler v. Cobb, 75-21; Spiers v. Halstead, 71-209. When affidavit made: Bank v. Blossom, 92-695. By whom made: Weaver v. Roberts, 84-493. Amendment of: Mullen v. Canal Co., 112-109; Weaver v. Roberts, 84-493; Branch v. Frank, 81-180.

1. Where the defendant is a foreign corporation, and has property, or the cause of action arose, in the state.

Property hereunder embraces choses in action: Boyd v. Ins. Co., 111-378; Winfree v. Bagley, 102-515.

2. Where the defendant, a resident of this state, has departed therefrom or keeps himself concealed therein with intent to defraud his creditors or to avoid the service of a summons.

See Bernhardt v. Brown, 118-701.

3. Where he is not a resident, but has property in this state, and the court has jurisdiction of the subject of the action.

Affidavit must state not only that he is "nonresident" but that he "has property within the same": Spiers v. Halstead, 71-209. Word "property" includes choses in action: Boyd v. Ins. Co., 111-378; Winfree v. Bagley, 102-515; Armstrong v. Kinsell, 164-125.

4. Where the subject of the action is real or personal property in this state, and the defendant has, or claims, or the relief demanded consists wholly or partly in excluding him from any actual or contingent lien or interest therein.

See Clafin v. Harrison, 108-158; Bernhardt v. Brown, 118-700.

5. Where the action is for divorce.

See King v. King, 84-32.

6. Where the stockholders of a corporation are deemed to be necessary parties to an action and their names or residences are unknown; or where the names or residences of parties interested in real estate the subject of an action are unknown, if the name of at least one of the parties to the action and interested in the subject matter thereof is known, and he is a resident of the state, the court having jurisdiction may, upon affidavit that after due diligence the names or residences of such parties cannot be ascertained, authorize service by publication.

See Bernhardt v. Brown, 118-701.

7. Where in actions for the foreclosure of mortgages on real estate, if any party having any interest in, or lien upon, such mortgaged premises, is unknown to the plaintiff, and his residence cannot, with reasonable diligence, be ascertained, and such fact is made to appear by affidavit.

8. Where no officer or agent of a domestic corporation upon whom service can be made can, after due diligence, be found in the state, and such facts are made to appear by affidavit. This subsection also applies to all summonses, orders to show cause, orders and notices issued by any board of aldermen, board of town or county commissioners, or by individuals.

Rev., s. 442; Code, ss. 218, 221; 1885, c. 380; 1889, cc. 108, 263; 1895, c. 334.

485. Manner of publication. The order must direct the publication in one or two newspapers to be designated as most likely to give notice to the person to be served, and for such length of time as is deemed reasonable, not less than once a week for four successive weeks, of a notice, giving the title and purpose of the action, and requiring the defendant to appear and answer, or demur to the complaint at a time and place therein mentioned; and no publication of the summons, or mailing of the summons and complaint, is necessary. The cost of publishing in a newspaper shall not exceed one dollar and fifty cents an inch of solid type, and shall in no case exceed six dollars for the notice.

Rev., s. 443; Code, s. 219; 1903, c. 134; C. C. P., c. 84; 1876-7, c. 241, s. 3.

What publication must contain: Guilford County v. The Georgia Co., 109-310; Spillman v. Williams, 91-483. Where order for publication but no publication is made, no discontinuance, but judge may order returnable to future term of court: Penniman v. Daniel, 93-332. Where there was publication as to the attachment, but not as to summons, nor was it served, held judgment void: Ditmore v. Goins, 128-325; but see Grocery Co. v. Bag Co., 142-174, which apparently destroys its reasoning. When service by publication defective, it can be remedied by new publication, but it is not always necessary: Penniman v. Daniel, 90-154, also 93-332; Bank v. Blossom, 92-695; Price v. Cox, 83-261; Church v. Furniss, 64-659. Effect of irregular service by publication upon judgments obtained: Spillman v. Williams, 91-483, and cases there cited.

486. Filing complaint, in cases of publication. In all cases wherein publication is made, the complaint must be filed before the expiration of the time of publication ordered.

Rev., s. 442; Code, s. 218.

487. When service by publication complete. In the cases in which service by publication is allowed, the summons is deemed served at the expiration of the time prescribed by the order of publication, and the party is then in court.

Rev., s. 444; Code, s. 227; C. C. P., s. 88.

Where service not complete it may be remedied: Penniman v. Daniel, 90-154, also 93-332; Bank v. Blossom, 92-695; Price v. Cox, 83-261; Church v. Furniss, 64-659. Publication from August 3d to August 31st where court began on the latter day sufficient for "once a week for four weeks": Guilford Co. v. Georgia Co., 109-310. An adjudication that summons has been served is necessary before judgment rendered: Hyman v. Jarnigan, 65-96.

488. Jurisdiction acquired from service. From the time of service of the summons, in a civil action, or the allowance of a provisional remedy, the court is deemed to have acquired jurisdiction, and to have control of all subsequent proceedings.

Rev., s. 445; Code, s. 229; C. C. P., s. 90.

Different ways in which the court may acquire jurisdiction: Armstrong v. Kinsell, 164-125; Warlick v. Reynolds, 151-606; Vick v. Flournoy, 147-209; Bernhardt v. Brown, 118-700. The entry, "Case continued; time to file pleadings," may indicate that defendant is in court, but issuing an alias summons rebuts this: Powell v. Dail, 172-261. From time of service of summons defendant is fixed with notice as to all subsequent orders in the cause: Patrick v. Dunn, 162-19; LeDuc v. Slocumb, 124-347; Stith v. Young, 119-428; Ferrell v. Hales, 119-213; Harper v. Sugg, 111-324; Coon v. Smith, 107-430; Wilson v. Pearson, 102-290; Dawkins v. Dawkins, 93-283; Hemphill v. Moore, 104-379; Spencer v. Credle, 102-68; Williams v. Whiting, 94-481; Dempsey v. Rhodes, 93-120; Stancill v. Gay, 92-455; University v. Lassiter, 83-38; Sparrow v. Davidson, 77-35.

489. Proof of service. Proof of the service of the summons or notice must be—Proof of service made according to this section: Allen v. Strickland, 100-225.

1. By the certificate of the sheriff or other proper officer.

Presumption that the return states the truth: Strayhorn v. Blalock, 92-292; Miller v. Powers, 117-218; Isley v. Boon, 113-249; Chadbourn v. Johnston, 119-282; Marler Co. v. Clothing Co., 150-519. See sections 479, 921.

2. In case of publication, the affidavit of the printer, or of his foreman or principal clerk, showing the same.

An adjudication that publication is complete and summons served necessary before judgment: Hyman v. Jarnigan, 65-96. Where record showed affidavit and order, and also affidavit of newspaper as to correct publication, no defect presumed: Lyle v. Siler, 103-261.

3. The written admission of the defendant.

ACCEPTANCE OF SERVICE. How executed: Middleton v. Duffy, 73-72; Nicholson v. Cox, 83-44; Godwin v. Monds, 106-448. As to authority to accept: Edwards v. Moore, 99-1; Stancill v. Gay, 92-455. Attorney cannot accept service of summons: Star v. Hall, 87-381; Warlick v. Reynolds, 151-606. A married woman can accept: Nicholson v. Cox, 83-44. Infant cannot accept: Ibid.; also, Bass v. Bass, 78-374—yet if he does accept it is cured after guardian appointed: Cates v. Pickett, 97-21; Perry v. Adams, 98-167. See section 482.

Rev., s. 446; Code, s. 228; C. C. P., s. 89.

490. Voluntary appearance by defendant. A voluntary appearance of a defendant is equivalent to personal service of the summons upon him.

Rev., s. 447; Code, s. 229; C. C. P., s. 90.

See section 401. A general appearance waives all defects both as to summons and service. Moore v. Packer, 174-665; Williamson v. Jerome, 169-215; Harris v. Bennett, 160-339; Lemly v. Ellis, 143-200; Hatcher v. Faison, 142-364; Johnson v. Reformers, 135-385; Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-425; Wheeler v. Cobb, 75-21; White v. Morris, 107-92; Roberts v. Allman, 106-391; Penniman v. Daniel, 95-341; Etheridge v. Woodley, 83-11; Bank v. Wilson, 80-200; Middle v. Duffy, 73-72; Moore v. R. R., 67-209; Duffy v. Averitt, 27-455; Hyatt v. Tomlin, 24-149; Hervey v. Edmunds, 68-243; Heilig v. Stokes, 63-612; Jones v. Penland, 19-358. When there is no service of summons an unauthorized appearance by counsel will not put the party in court and bind him: Hatcher v. Faison, 142-364—but where service is made and solvent counsel appears without authority it is otherwise: Ibid. By treating with opposite party as to time of pleading, etc., one makes a voluntary appearance: Cook v. Bank, 129-151. General and special appearance distinguished: Wooten v. Cunningham, 171-123; School v. Peirce, 163-424. An application to be allowed to answer is a voluntary appearance: Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209; so is an application and giving undertaking to discharge property taken under attachment: Mitchell v. Lumber Co., 169-397.

491. Personal service on nonresident. When the place of residence is known and the same is made to appear by affidavit, in lieu of publication in a newspaper it is sufficient to mail a copy of the summons, notice or other process, accompanied by a statement as to the nature of the action or proceeding, to the sheriff or other process officer of the county and state where the defendant resides, who shall serve same according to its tenor. The process officer who serves the papers shall, in making his return, use a form of certificate substantially as follows:

State of _____

County of _____

I, _____, clerk of the _____ court of _____ county, in the state of _____, which court is a court of record having a seal, which is hereto attached, do certify that _____, to me well known as the sheriff of said county of _____, who being by me duly sworn, says that as such sheriff he has full power to serve any and all legal processes issuing from the courts of said state, and that on the _____ day of _____, 19____, he served the summons hereto attached by reading and delivering a copy of same to _____, the defendant therein named.

_____, Sheriff,
_____County,

State of _____

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this _____ day of _____, 19____

_____, Clerk _____ Court,

[L. s.]

County of _____

Rev., s. 448; 1891, c. 120.

The plaintiff may proceed under this section or by making publication: Mullen v. Canal Co., 114-80. Such service will not support a personal judgment: Hinton v. Ins. Co., 126-18; May v. Getty, 140-310; Long v. Ins. Co., 114-465; Winfree v. Bagley, 102-517. The court acquires jurisdiction only in proceedings in rem and quasi in rem: Vick v. Flournoy, 147-209; Long v. Ins. Co., 114-465. A summons not under seal actually served under this section is irregular: Vick v. Flournoy, 147-209. This section does not apply to service of subpoena in criminal case: State v. Means, 175-820.

492. Defense after judgment on substituted service. The defendant against whom publication is ordered, or who is served under the provisions of the preceding section, or his representatives, on application and sufficient cause shown at any time before judgment, must be allowed to defend the action; and, except in an action for divorce, the defendant against whom publication is ordered, or his representatives, may in like manner, upon good cause shown, be allowed to defend after judgment, or at any time within one year after notice thereof, and within five years after its rendition, on such terms as are just; and if the defense is successful and the judgment or any part thereof has been collected or otherwise enforced, such restitution may be compelled as the court directs. Title to property sold under such judgment to a purchaser in good faith is not thereby affected. No fiduciary officer or trustee who has made distribution of a fund under such judgment in good faith is personally liable if the judgment is changed by reason of such defense made after its rendition; nor in case the judgment was rendered for the partition of land, and any persons receiving any of the land in such partition sell it to a third person; the title of such third person is not affected if such defense is successful, but the redress of the person so defending after judgment shall be had by proper judgment against the parties to the original judgment and their heirs and personal representatives, and in no case affects persons who in good faith have dealt with such parties or their heirs or personal representatives on the basis of such judgment being permanent.

Summons after judgment, see this chapter, s. 498.

If application is made in proper time and good cause is shown, the defendant must be allowed to defend: Moore v. Rankin, 172-599; Page v. McDonald, 159-38; but not allowed after twelve months: Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209. A party coming in under this section may make any objection which he might have made by answer: Rhodes v. Rhodes, 125-191; Bank v. Palmer, 153-501; but a bona fide purchaser of land will be protected: Lawrence v. Hardy, 151-123. If defendant guilty of inexcusable neglect, need not find whether defense is meritorious: Turner v. Machine Co., 133-381. When application made to defend, judge must find the facts: Bacon v. Johnson, 110-114; Utley v. Peters, 72-525. This section does not apply to proceedings before a justice of the peace: Thompson v. Notion Co., 160-520.

ART. 9. PROSECUTION BONDS

493. Plaintiff's, for costs. Before issuing the summons the clerk shall require the plaintiff to do one of the following:

1. Give an undertaking with sufficient surety in the sum of two hundred dollars, with the condition that it will be void if the plaintiff pays the defendant all costs which the latter recovers of him in the action.

2. Deposit two hundred dollars with him as security to the defendant for these costs, in which event the clerk must give to the plaintiff and defendant a certificate to that effect.

3. File with him a written authority from a judge or clerk of a superior court, authorizing the plaintiff to sue as a pauper.

Rev., s. 450; Code, s. 209; R. C., c. 31, s. 40; C. C. P., s. 71.

For bond in surety company, see section 339; for mortgage in lieu of bond, see section 350. The giving of prosecution bond is not a condition precedent to the bringing of a suit; the court may permit one to be filed after writ is returned: Russell v. Saunders, 48-432; Shannonhouse v. Withers, 121-380; Cooper v. Warlick, 109-673; Albertson v. Terry, 109-8; McMillan v. Baker, 92-115; Wall v. Fairly, 66-386; Stancill v. Branch, 61-218. Execution of undertaking is an incidental but not essential condition of the order allowing one to become a party: Hughes v. Hodges, 94-56. Sufficiency of undertaking discussed: Comron v. Standland, 103-207; Holly v. Perry, 94-30. Liability of surety on bond: Smith v. Arthur, 116-871; Hallman v. Dellinger, 84-1; Swain v. McCulloch, 75-495. Liable for costs of defendant in supreme court: Kenney v. R. R., 166-566. The bond is not to secure the officers' fees, but the costs paid by defendant: Waldo v. Wilson, 177-461. Amendment of bond allowed: Albertson v. Terry, 109-8; Russell v. Saunders, 48-432; Hughes v. Hodges, 94-56; Brittain v. Howell, 19-107. The court may dismiss the case for plaintiff's failure to give bond: Alston v. Holt, 172-417. When objection may be made: Albertson v. Terry, 109-8; Hughes v. Hodges, 94-56. The dismissal of action for want of bond no estoppel to plaintiff suing on same cause in forma pauperis: Autry v. Floyd, 127-186. Refusal of trial judge to require prosecution bond is not appealable: Christian v. R. R., 136-321.

Officers need not perform their duties as to actions brought unless costs advanced: Ballard v. Gay, 108-545; Long v. Walker, 105-90; West v. Reynolds, 94-333—but they must make demand for their fees: West v. Reynolds, 94-333. Where court orders summons to issue which is to be personally served, clerk need not issue it until demanded by plaintiff; but when service is ordered to be made by publication, after plaintiff has paid expenses, it is his duty to obey the order and make publication: Penniman v. Daniel, 93-332.

494. Suit as a pauper; counsel. Any judge or clerk of the superior court may authorize a person to sue as a pauper in their respective courts when he proves, by one or more witnesses, that he has a good cause of action, and makes affidavit that he is unable to comply with the preceding section. The court to which such summons is returnable may assign to the person suing as a pauper learned counsel, who shall prosecute his action.

Rev., ss. 451, 452; Code, ss. 210, 211; C. C. P., s. 72; 1868-9, c. 96, s. 2.

For costs in action in forma pauperis, see Costs, s. 1247.

LEAVE TO SUE IN FORMA PAUPERIS. This applies to the superior court; an appeal being governed by section 649: Speller v. Speller, 119-356. A dismissal of action for want of prosecution bond will not estop plaintiff from bringing same action again as a pauper: Autry v. Floyd, 127-186; nor will sustaining a motion to "depauperize" operate as an estoppel: Rich v. Morisey, 149-37. Affidavit as to inability to give bond or deposit costs: Maggett v. Roberts, 108-174; Taylor v. Apple, 90-343. Effect of objection to affidavit after answer filed: Corn v. Stepp, 84-599. Order to sue as pauper may be revoked: Dale v. Presnell, 119-489; McKiel v. Cutler, 45-139. No appeal lies from refusal to revoke: Modlin v. Ins. Co., 151-35; Christian v. R. R., 136-321.

A judge, clerk, or justice of the peace may grant leave: Brendle v. Heron, 68-496; Sumner v. Candler, 74-266; Rowark v. Gaston, 67-291. No notice to adverse party necessary: Deal v. Palmer, 68-215. Assignment of interests by plaintiff pendente lite, court will dismiss action unless security for costs given: Davis v. Higgins, 91-382. The bringing of a pauper suit does not raise a presumption that the attorney took the case for a contingent fee and was therefore a party in interest: Allison v. R. R., 129-336.

WHO CAN SUE AS PAUPER. Any litigant: Christian v. R. R., 136-322. Infant: Brendle v. Heron, 68-496. Administrator, etc.: Christian v. R. R., 136-321; Allison v. R. R., 129-344; Hamlin v. Neighbors, 75-66; Mason v. Osgood, 71-212. Guardian: Brendle v. Heron, 68-496; Christian v. R. R., 136-322. Nonresident: Christian v. R. R., 136-322; Porter v. Jones, 68-320.

PROVING THAT HE HAS A GOOD CAUSE. May do so by his own oath: Sumner v. Candler, 74-265; Brendle v. Heron, 68-496—or by certificate of counsel or otherwise, Miazza v. Calloway, 74-31.

495. Defendant's, for costs and damages in actions for land. In all actions for the recovery or possession of real property, the defendant, before he is permitted to plead, must execute and file in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county where the suit is pending an undertaking with sufficient surety, in an amount fixed by the court, not less than two hundred dollars, to be void on condition that the defendant pays to the plaintiff all costs and damages which the latter recovers in the action, including damages for the loss of rents and profits.

Rev., s. 453; Code, s. 237; 1869-70, c. 193.

See section 595. Court can extend time for filing the undertaking: Dunn v. Marks, 141-232; White v. Lokey, 131-72; Henning v. Warner, 109-406; Taylor v. Pope, 106-271—and from such order there is no appeal: Dunn v. Marks, 141-232. Where separate trial for each defendant, each gives bond: Bryan v. Spivey, 106-99. Where defense bond not given and no leave to sue as pauper, judgment should be given against defendant for possession without damages: Junge v. MacKnight, 135-107, 137-285; Credle v. Ayers, 126-15; Norton v. McLaurin, 125-185; Vick v. Baker, 122-98; Jones v. Best, 121-154; see Horton v. White, 84-291; School v. Peirce, 163-424; Patrick v. Dunn, 162-19. Answer not stricken out for want of bond without notice: Becton v. Dunn, 137-563; McMillan v. Baker, 92-111; Cooper v. Warlick, 109-672; Russell v. Saunders, 48-432; Brittain v. Howell, 19-107. Court can order additional security and, upon failure to give it, answer stricken out and judgment awarded: Vaughan v. Vincent, 88-116. When plaintiff deemed to have waived bond: Dempsey v. Rhodes, 93-120; McMillan v. Baker, 92-110.

This section applies to partition when defendant pleads sole seizin: Gill v. Porter, 174-569; Huneycutt v. Brooks, 116-788; Cooper v. Warlick, 109-672; Vaughan v. Vincent, 88-116. Grantee sued by grantor for possession, grantee having never paid purchase money, grantee must give bond to defend: Allen v. Taylor, 96-37. Defense bond not required in action to remove cloud from title: Timber Co. v. Butler, 134-50.

Where undertaking is in form of bond, seal does not defeat its purpose, and it will be treated as an undertaking under seal: Holly v. Perry, 94-30. Where undertaking written on back of summons, but did not contain names of plaintiff, defendant or surety, held to be sufficient: Ibid. What bond secures: Hughes v. Pritchard, 129-42; White v. Fox, 125-547; Rollins v. Henry, 77-467. It covers costs on appeal: Grimes v. Andrews, 171-367. It does not interfere with appointment of receiver: Arey v. Williams, 154-610.

Summary judgment on bond can be entered up against the sureties upon judgment being rendered against defendant: Rollins v. Henry, 84-569—and where mortgage in lieu of bond is given, foreclosure will be decreed on motion after notice, Ryan v. Martin, 103-282, 104-176. Landlord and tenant both parties defendant, and when tenant for failure to give bond or leave to defend as a pauper has judgment entered against him, execution will not issue until landlord's defense passed upon: Rollins v. Rollins, 76-264; Harkey v. Houston, 65-137.

496. Defense without bond. The undertaking prescribed in the preceding section is not necessary if an attorney practicing in the court where the action is pending certifies to the court in writing that he has examined the case of the defendant and is of the opinion that the plaintiff is not entitled to recover; and if the defendant also files an affidavit stating that he is unable to give and is not worth the amount of the undertaking in any property whatsoever.

Rev., s. 454; Code, s. 237; 1869-70, c. 193.

Certificate of attorney as to meritorious defense: Wilson v. Fowler, 104-471; Taylor v. Apple, 90-345. Affidavit of defendant required: Wilson v. Fowler, 104-471; Taylor v. Apple, 90-345. No notice to plaintiff of defendant's application necessary: Deal v. Palmer, 68-215. Where this section complied with, court must grant leave; has no discretion: Dempsey v. Rhodes, 93-120; Jones v. Fortune, 69-322.

ART. 10. JOINT AND SEVERAL DEBTORS

497. Defendants jointly or severally liable. Where the action is against two or more defendants, and the summons is served on one or more, but not on all of them, the plaintiff may proceed as follows:

1. If the action is against defendants jointly indebted upon contract, he may proceed against the defendants served, unless the court otherwise directs, and if he recovers judgment it may be entered against all the defendants thus jointly indebted, so far only as that it may be enforced against the joint property of all and the separate property of the defendants served, and if they are subject to arrest, against the persons of the defendants served.

Daniel v. Bethell, 167-218; Davis v. Sanderlin, 119-84; Hastein v. Johnson, 112-258; Ruffy v. Claywell, 93-308; Bain v. Loan Assn., 112-248.

2. If the action is against defendants severally liable, he may proceed against the defendants served, in the same manner as if they were the only defendants.

3. If all the defendants have been served, judgment may be taken against any or either of them severally, when the plaintiff would be entitled to judgment against such defendant or defendants if the action had been against them or any of them alone.

4. If the name of one or more partners has, for any cause, been omitted in an action in which judgment has been rendered against the defendants named in the summons, and the omission was not pleaded in the action, the plaintiff, in case the judgment remains unsatisfied, may by action recover of such partner separately, upon proving his joint liability, notwithstanding he was not named in the original action; but the plaintiff may have satisfaction of only one judgment rendered for the same cause of action.

See Davis v. Sanderlin, 119-84; Hastein v. Johnson, 112-258; Navassa Guano Co. v. Willard, 73-522; Mervin v. Ballard, 65-168.

For joinder of parties, see this chapter, ss. 456-459.

498. Summoned after judgment; defense. When a judgment is recovered against one or more of several persons jointly indebted upon a contract in accordance with the preceding section, those who were not originally summoned to answer the complaint may be summoned to show cause why they should not be bound by the judgment, in the same manner as if they had been originally summoned. A party so summoned may answer within the time specified denying the judgment, or setting up any defense thereto which has arisen subsequent to such judgment; and may make any defense which he might have made to the action if the summons had been served on him originally.

See this chapter, s. 492.

Where partner served with notice after three years from time cause of action accrued, held barred by the statute of limitations: Koonce v. Pelletier, 115-233; Rufty v. Claywell, 93-306—so also in case of secret partner just discovered, Navassa Guano Co. v. Willard, 73-521. It is only when the cause of action is joint and not several that a motion in the cause is proper: Davis v. Sanderlin, 119-84.

499. Pleadings and proceedings same as in action. The party issuing the summons may demur or reply to the answer, and the party summoned may demur to the reply. The answer and reply must be verified in like cases and manner and be subject to the same rules that apply in an action, and the issues may be tried and judgment given in the same manner as in an action and enforced by execution if necessary.

ART. 11. LIS PENDENS

500. Filing of notice of suit. In an action affecting the title to real property, the plaintiff, at or any time after the time of filing the complaint or when or any time after a warrant of attachment is issued, or a defendant when he sets up an affirmative cause of action in his answer and demands substantive relief, at or any time after the time of filing his answer, if it is intended to affect real estate, may file with the clerk of each county in which the property is situated a notice of the pendency of the action, containing the names of the parties, the object of the action, and the description of the property in that county affected thereby.

Rev., s. 460; Code, s. 229; C. C. P., s. 90; 1917, c. 106.

Need not be filed in county where action is brought: Jones v. Williams, 155-179; Harris v. Davenport, 132-701; Arrington v. Arrington, 114-151; Bird v. Gilliam, 125-79; Rollins v. Henry, 78-352; Spencer v. Credle, 102-68; Collingwood v. Brown, 106-362; Morgan v. Bostie, 132-751. Where case transferred, with all original papers, to another county, lis pendens in first county fails: Arrington v. Arrington, 114-151. One refused leave to be made party can protect his interest by filing lis pendens and instituting proceedings: Toms v. Warson, 63-417. Description of property necessary for lis pendens: Badger v. Daniel, 77-251; Todd v. Outlaw, 79-235; Arrington v. Arrington, 114-151; Morgan v. Bostic, 132-750; Spencer v. Credle, 102-68. Effect on property transferred pending suit: Dancy v. Duncan, 96-111. Applies to actions concerning alimony, when: Daniel v. Hodges, 87-95. Where motion to issue execution pending: Isler v. Brown, 66-556; Badger v. Daniel, 77-251. This section applied to action for specific performance of contract to sell timber: Timber Co. v. Wilson, 151-154; to foreclosure of mortgage on land: Jones v. Williams, 155-179; to creditors' bill: Lee v. Giles, 161-541.

501. Cross-index of lis pendens. Any party to an action desiring to claim the benefit of a notice of lis pendens, whether given formally under this article or in the pleadings filed in the case, shall cause such notice to be cross-indexed by the clerk of the superior court in a docket to be kept by him, to be called Record of Lis Pendens, which index shall contain the names of the parties to the action, where such notice (whether formal or in the pleadings) is filed, the object of the action, the date of indexing, and sufficient description of the land to be affected to enable any person to locate said lands. The clerk shall be entitled to a fee of twenty-five cents for indexing said notice, to be paid as are other costs in the pending action.

Rev., s. 464; 1903, c. 472; 1919, c. 31.

502. Effect on subsequent purchasers. From the cross-indexing of the notice of lis pendens only is the pendency of the action constructive notice to a purchaser or incumbrancer of the property affected thereby; and every person whose conveyance or incumbrance is subsequently executed or subsequently registered is a subsequent purchaser or incumbrancer, and is bound by all proceedings taken after the cross-indexing of the notice to the same extent as if he were made a party to the action. For the purposes of this section an action is pending from the time of cross-indexing the notice.

(The following cases are based upon the statute before the amendment as to cross-indexing.) As to the county wherein suit is brought, if a complaint, with description of property and purpose of action stated, be filed upon issuing of summons, it is a filing of notice: Lamm v. Lamm, 163-71; Culbreth v. Hall, 159-588; Simmons v. Fleming, 157-389; Morgan v. Bostic, 132-751; Harris v. Davenport, 132-701; Arrington v. Arrington, 114-151; Bird v. Gilliam, 125-79; Collingwood v. Brown, 106-362; Spencer v. Credle, 102-68; Dancy v. Duncan, 96-116; Rollins v. Henry, 78-352; Todd v. Outlaw, 79-240; Badger v. Daniel, 77-251. Not affected with constructive notice outside of county where suit brought: Spencer v. Credle, 102-68.

The effect of such notice is confined to the property directly in litigation: Badger v. Daniel, 77-251. A purchaser for value after filing of lis pendens but before filing of complaint is not charged with notice: Morgan v. Bostic, 132-743. Complaint to remove cloud from title operates as lis pendens: Puryear v. Sanford, 124-282. Purchaser of land under trust sale, after suit brought, with notice, acquires no title: Overton v. Hinton, 123-6. One who registers his deed pendente lite is bound by the judgment: Williams v. Kerr, 113-306.

503. Notice void unless action prosecuted. The notice of lis pendens is of no avail unless it is followed by the first publication of notice of the summons or by an order therefor, or by the personal service on the defendant within sixty days after the cross-indexing.

Powell v. Dail, 172-261; Taylor v. Smith, 121-81.

504. Cancellation of notice. The court in which the said action was commenced may, at any time after it is settled, discontinued or abated, on application of any person aggrieved, on good cause shown, and on such notice as is directed or approved by the court, order the notice authorized by this article to be canceled of record, by the clerk of any county in whose office the same has been filed or recorded; and this cancellation must be made by an endorsement to that effect on the margin of the record, which shall refer to the order.

Rev., s. 463; Code, s. 229; C. C. P., s. 90.

SUBCHAPTER VI. PLEADINGS

ART. 12. COMPLAINT

505. First pleading and its filing. The first pleading on the part of the plaintiff is the complaint. It must be filed in the clerk's office on or before the return day of the summons, otherwise the suit may, on motion, be dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff; but the clerk, for good cause shown, may extend the time to a day certain.

Rev., ss. 465, 466; Code, ss. 206, 232, 238; C. C. P., s. 92; 1868-9, c. 76, s. 3; 1870-1, c. 42, s. 3; 1919, c. 304, s. 2.

NECESSITY FOR COMPLAINT. Nature of the action is shown by the complaint: Barneycastle v. Walker, 92-198. As to variance between summons and complaint: Burrell v. Hughes, 116-430; Warrenton v. Arrington, 101-112. When judgment will cure absence of complaint: Peebles v. Braswell, 107-68; Robeson v. Hodges, 105-49; McNeill v. Hodges, 105-52; Stancill v. Gay, 92-455; Peoples v. Norwood, 94-167; Little v. McCarter, 89-233; Vick v. Pope, 81-22; Leach v. R. R., 65-486.

FILING COMPLAINT. What is a filing: White v. Carroll, 146-230. Time for filing extended: Mitchell v. Hoggard, 105-173; Howard v. R. R., 122-946; Brendle v. Heron, 68-495; Gilchrist v. Kitchin, 86-20; exercise of power not reviewable: Gwinn v. Parker, 119-19; Brown v. Hale, 93-188. Pleading filed after adjournment of court: Foley v. Bank, 92-476. The failure to file complaint is ground to dismiss the action, if objection is taken in apt time, but its absence will be cured by acquiescence in the judgment: McLeod v. Graham, 132-474; McLean v. Breece, 113-390; Peebles v. Braswell, 107-68; McNeill v. Hodges, 105-52; Robeson v. Hodges, 105-49; Little v. McCarter, 89-233; Peoples v. Norwood, 94-167; Stancill v. Gay, 92-455; Leach v. R. R., 65-485; Vick v. Pope, 81-22. The cases above were before the act of 1919.

506. Contents. The complaint must contain—

1. The title of the cause, specifying the name of the court in which the action is brought, the name of the county in which the trial is required to be had, and the names of the parties to the action, plaintiff and defendant.

A general designation of parties as "the heirs of M. C." will not do: Kerlee v. Corpening, 97-330—nor will "H. M. & Co.," without naming the partners, Heath v. Morgan, 117-504; but there may be an amendment, Rosenbacher v. Martin, 170-236. A paper which does not designate the name of the court, the county or the parties, is not a complaint: Building Co. v. Hardware Co., 173-55.

2. A plain and concise statement of the facts constituting a cause of action, without unnecessary repetition; and each material allegation must be distinctly numbered.

The principles of good pleading are retained, and the complaint must contain every material allegation: Hartsfield v. Bryan, 177-166; and it must set out facts in "plain and concise statement": Blackmore v. Winders, 144-216; Lassiter v. Roper, 114-17; Stokes v. Taylor, 104-394; Knowles v. R. R., 102-65; Junge v. MacKnight, 135-110; Pierce v. R. R., 124-98; McElwee v. Blackwell, 94-261; Hussey v. R. R., 98-39; Womble v. Leach, 83-84; Kiff v. Weaver, 94-278; Jones v. Mial, 82-252; Gorman v. Bellamy, 82-496; Moore v. Hobbs, 77-66; Rountree v. Brinson, 98-107. Facts, not evidence, must be stated: Crump v. Mims, 64-767; nor conclusions of law: Webb v. Hicks, 116-598. Complaint for fraud should allege the facts constituting the fraud: Lanier v. Lumber Co., 177-201; Bank v. Walser, 162-53. No cause can be set out that did not exist when summons issued: Crawford v. Barnes, 118-912; Bynum v. Comrs., 101-412; Clendenin v. Turner, 96-416; Metcalf v. Guthrie, 94-447. Itemized account need not be set out: McPhail v. Johnson, 115-298. Pleading quantum meruit: Holden v. Warren, 118-326; Moffitt v. Glass, 117-142; Roberts v. Woodworking Co., 111-432; Fulps v. Mock, 108-601; Stokes v. Taylor, 104-394. Failure to aver a demand made upon defendant not fatal when defense shows it would have been futile: Moore v. Hurtt, 124-27; Worth v. Wharton, 122-376; Hinson v. Smith, 118-503; McQueen v. Smith, 118-450; Heath v. Morgan, 117-504; Woolen Co. v. McKinnon, 114-661; Buffkins v. Eason, 112-162; Rich v. Hobson, 112-79; Taylor v. Hodges, 105-344; Shuford v. Cook, 164-46.

The rules of pleading are not so stringent as to require a special averment in a complaint of every immediate cause in an action for damages: Hammond v. Schiff, 100-161. The plaintiff must allege his cause of action in the complaint, and he cannot recover on a cause of action set out in the pleadings of his adversary: Willis v. Branch, 94-142. Pleading a proviso in a statute: Wadsworth v. Stewart, 97-116. Allegations as to special damage: Conrad v. Shuford, 174-719. Complaint is sufficient which apprises defendant of the grievance against him and the redress demanded: Gillikin v. Canal Co., 147-39.

COMPLAINTS IN SPECIFIC CASES. In action for seduction: Snider v. Newell, 132-614; Hood v. Sudderth, 111-215—for recovery of personal property: Singer Mfg. Co. v. Barrett, 95-36—for injury to building by adjacent owner flooding wall with water: Davis v. Smith, 141-108—for breach of promise to marry: Hood v. Meroney, 135-532—for recovery of penalty for refusal to receive freight: Currie v. R. R., 135-535—to enjoin treasurer from paying interest on county bonds: Comrs. v. Williams, 135-660—for breach of married woman's contract: Bank v. Howell, 118-274; Witz v. Gray, 116-48; Ulman v. Mace, 115-24; Jones v. Craigmiles, 114-613; Long v. Rankin, 108-333; Farthing v. Shields, 106-289; Flaum v. Wallace, 103-296; Dougherty v. Sprinkle, 88-300—against railroad company for failing to protect passenger: Manning v. R. R., 122-824; Chancey v. R. R., 174-351.

Action to recover from life insurance company money paid for policy when no policy received: Barnes v. Piedmont Ins. Co., 74-22—for divorce: Ladd v. Ladd, 121-118; O'Connor v. O'Connor, 109-139; Jackson v. Jackson, 105-433; White v. White, 84-340—by administrator, to recover back legacy wrongfully paid: Bumpass v. Chambers, 77-357—for negligence in delivery of telegram: Sherrill v. Tel. Co., 109-527; Mayo v. Tel. Co., 112-343; Johnson v. Tel. Co., 175-588—to restrain sale of land under mortgage: Hemmings v. Doss, 125-400—malicious prosecution and abuse of process: Jerome v. Shaw, 172-862; Estates v. Bank, 171-579; R. R. v. Hardware Co., 143-54; s. c., 138-175; Lockhart v. Bear, 117-299; Davis v. Terry, 114-27; Ely v. Davis, 111-24; Sneed v. Harris, 109-349; Barfield v. Turner, 101-357; Johnson v. Finch, 93-205—negligence in use of automobile, Williams v. Blue, 173-452—negligence of physician, Bailey v. Long, 172-661—encroachment by overhanging wall, Shrago v. Gulley, 174-135—action for destroying part of a will, Dulin v. Bailey, 172-608—to convert an absolute deed into a mortgage, Williamson v. Rabon, 177-302; Newton v. Clark, 174-393, overruling Fuller v. Jenkins, 130-554—action by purchaser to ascertain amount due on a mortgage, Elliott v. Brady, 172-828—for wrongful expulsion from a society, Dunn v. Aid Society, 151-133—negligence of two railroads at crossing, Martin v. R. R., 148-259—against railroad for malpractice of surgeon, Barden v. R. R., 152-318—for negligence in grading street, Jones v. Henderson, 147-120—by one indorser against subsequent indorser, Lynch v. Loftin, 153-270—to enjoin town from purchasing waterworks, Jones v. North Wilkesboro, 150-646—action against defendant for failure to comply with contract of a third person which he had assumed, Younce v. Lumber Co., 148-35.

3. A demand for the relief to which the plaintiff supposes himself entitled. If the recovery of money is demanded, the amount must be stated.

A formal prayer for relief is not now necessary; party can obtain any relief to which the facts alleged entitle him, or that is not inconsistent with his pleadings: McCullock v. R. R., 146-316; Warren v. Dail, 170-406; Mfg. Co. v. Mfg. Co., 161-430; Herring v. Lumber Co., 159-382; s. c., 163-481; Councill v. Bailey, 154-54; Carson v. Bunting, 154-530; Bradburn v. Roberts, 148-214; Davis v. Wall, 142-450; Staton v. Webb, 137-35; Voorhees v. Porter, 134-591; Hendon v. R. R., 127-110; Gattis v. Kilgo, 125-135; Gillam v. Ins. Co., 121-369; Simmons v. Allison, 118-763; Sams v. Price, 119-574; Parker v. R. R., 119-677; Scarlett v. Norwood, 115-284; Fowler v. Osborne, 111-409; Gudger v. Penland, 108-593; McEachin v. Stewart, 106-336; McNeill v. Hodges, 105-52; Harris v. Sneeden, 104-369; Barnes v. Barnes, 104-613; Davis v. Ely, 100-283; Moore v. Cameron, 93-51; Lumber Co. v. Wallace, 93-22; Patrick v. R. R., 93-422; Jones v. Mial, 79-168; Dunn v. Barnes, 73-273; Knight v. Hough-talling, 85-17. Facts alleged, not the prayer for relief, govern the relief granted: Shrago v. Gulley, 174-135; Baber v. Hanie, 163-588; Reid v. King, 158-85; Adams v. Hayes, 120-383; Reade v. Street, 122-301; Johnson v. Loftin, 111-319; Moore v. Nowell, 94-265. The sum demanded in good faith governs the jurisdiction: Martin v. Goode, 111-288; Thompson v. Exp. Co., 144-389; Bowers v. R. R., 107-721; Moore v. Nowell, 94-265; Brantley v. Finch, 97-91; Wiseman v. Witherow, 90-140.

4. In actions for the recovery of a debt contracted for the purchase of land, a statement that the consideration of the debt was the purchase money of certain land, describing the land in an intelligible manner, such as the location, boundaries, and acreage.

Not necessary to allege in complaint on note for purchase money of land that the title to the land is good or that plaintiff has tendered a deed: Toms v. Fite, 93-274. This section does not apply to cases where deed has not been executed to the vendee: Lewis v. McDowell, 88-261. A note under seal, reciting that it was given for the balance of the purchase price of certain land, executed and registered, does not attach to the legal title a trust for its payment or constitute a lien thereon: Carpenter v. Duke, 144-291. See sections 520 and 675 (5).

Rev., ss. 467-8; Code, ss. 233-4; C. C. P., s. 93; 1879, c. 217.

507. What causes of action may be joined. The plaintiff may unite in the same complaint several causes of action, of legal or equitable nature, or both, where they all arise out of—

The same principle which forbids the improper joinder of causes in civil actions applies to special proceedings: Garrison v. Cox, 99-478. Where different causes of action exist between plaintiffs and defendants, all of same character, to prevent multifarious actions, court will permit joinder for convenience: Hancock v. Wooten, 107-9; Heggie v. Hill, 95-303; also see Williams v. R. R., 144-502, and cases cited. An action in tort against several defendants is joint or several according to the complaint, and the plaintiff's election determines the character of the tort, whether joint or several: Hough v. R. R., 144-692; Lyon v. R. R., 165-143. Where plaintiff seeks relief against a number of defendants all in some way interested in subject of action, see Oyster v. Mining Co., 140-135; Blackburn v. Ins. Co., 116-824; Pretzfelder v. Ins. Co., 116-491; Springer v. Sheets, 115-370; LeDue v. Brandt, 110-289; Young v. Young, 81-92; Fisher v. Trust Co., 138-224; Winders v. Sutherland, 174-235; Ayers v. Bailey, 162-

209. Objection to misjoinder must be taken by demurrer or answer, and if taken by neither, cannot be taken by motion upon trial: Kiger v. Harmon, 113-408; Finley v. Hayes, 81-368; McMillan v. Edwards, 75-83; Burns v. Ashworth, 72-496—and never in the supreme court: Wright v. Kinney, 123-618.

1. The same transaction, or transaction connected with the same subject of action.

“Same transaction” discussed: Hawk v. Pine Lumber Co., 145-48; Fisher v. Trust Co., 138-224; Cook v. Smith, 119-350; Benton v. Collins, 118-196; Cheatham v. Bobbitt, 118-346; Young v. Young, 81-92. “Transactions connected with the same subject of action”: Sloan v. R. R., 126-490; Benton v. Collins, 118-196; Cook v. Smith, 119-350; Hamlin v. Tucker, 72-502; Solomon v. Bates, 118-316; McGowan v. Ins. Co., 141-368; Ingram v. Corbit, 177-318; Lee v. Thornton, 171-209; Quarry Co. v. Construction Co., 151-345. Causes of action strictly legal and strictly equitable can be united in one action: Lumber Co. v. Wallace, 93-22; Gregory v. Hobbs, 93-1.

PROPER JOINDER. Cause of action for contract with cause for tort: Reynolds v. R. R., 136-345; Daniels v. Fowler, 120-14; Hodges v. R. R., 105-170; Cook v. Smith, 119-350; Benton v. Collins, 118-196; Railroad Co. v. Hardware Co., 135-75; Hawk v. Lumber Co., 145-48; Robertson v. Halton, 156-215; Long v. Fields, 104-221; Ashe v. Gray, 88-190—for debt and to subject property to payment: Outland v. Outland, 113-74—for debt with cause for setting aside fraudulent conveyances: Bank v. Harris, 84-206; Benton v. Collins, 118-196; Chemical Co. v. Floyd, 158-455—for reëxecution of lost deed with cause for possession of land: McMillan v. Edwards, 75-81—against bank directors for loss of deposit by neglect with cause for fraud and deceit: Solomon v. Bates, 118-311; Tate, Treas., v. Bates, 118-287—against partner on partnership liability with personal liability, in certain cases: Logan v. Wallis, 76-416—for harboring and maintaining wife with causes for conversion of personalty and for inducing wife to make deed to land: Hamlin v. Tucker, 72-502—for recovery of premiums paid on different insurance policies under false representations: McGowan v. Ins. Co., 141-367.

MISJOINDER. Cause of action on clerk's bond with cause on administrator's bond: Street guarantor of judgment on the note: Wooten v. Maulsby, 69-462—to remove trustees, to set up lost deed and have trust in property declared: Nash v. Sutton, 109-550—to foreclose mortgage on one tract with cause to recover possession of another: Edgerton v. Powell, 72-64—to partition one tract held in common and another not held in common by the same tenants: Simpson v. Wallace, 83-477.

2. Contract, express or implied.

PROPER JOINDER. Cause of action on official bond for one term of office with cause on bond for succeeding term: Syme v. Bunting, 86-175—on one judgment with causes on another against same party: Moore v. Nowell, 94-265—for recovery of one penalty with cause for recovery of another against same party: Burrell v. Hughes, 116-430; Maggett v. Roberts, 108-174—for specific performance of contract with damages for breach of same: Winders v. Hill, 141-694—debt on note and open account: Sutton v. McMillan, 72-102.

MISJOINDER. Cause of action on clerk's bond with cause on administrator's bond: Street v. Tuck, 84-605.

3. Injuries with or without force to person or property.

PROPER JOINDER. Cause of action for illegal levy and sale by sheriff with cause against party who directed sheriff to levy and gave indemnifying bond: Cook v. Smith, 119-350; negligence of employer and employee: Howell v. Fuller, 151-315.

MISJOINDER. A cause of action for wrongful attachment and a cause against surety to attachment bond: Railroad v. Hardware Co., 135-73; Martin v. Rexford, 170-540—action by father and son for injury to son: Thigpen v. Cotton Mills, 151-97.

4. Injuries to character.

Gattis v. Kilgo, 125-135.

5. Claims to recover real property, with or without damages for the withholding thereof, and the rents and profits of the same.

PROPER JOINDER. Cause of action by vendor against vendee personally, with cause against him in rem, and also with cause to recover possession of property: Bank v. Pearson, 119-494; Allen v. Taylor, 96-37—for recovery of possession of land with cause to set up a mistake in a deed: Ely v. Early, 94-1—for possession of real property as against several different trespassers: Bryan v. Spivey, 106-95—for possession with cause for reëxecution of unregistered lost deed: Jennings v. Reeves, 101-447—to recover two contiguous tracts of land, where they form part of larger body: Weeks v. McPhail, 128-134; Bryan v. Spivey, 106-95—an action to set aside a deed and for possession of the land: Lee v. Thornton, 176-208.

MISJOINDER. Cause of action for foreclosure of mortgage on realty with cause for possession of a different tract: Edgerton v. Powell, 72-64. Cases where subsection merely cited: Sherrill v. Connor, 107-637; Jones v. Coffey, 109-519.

6. Claims to recover personal property, with or without damages for the withholding thereof; or,

7. Claims against a trustee, by virtue of a contract, or by operation of law.

But the causes of action so united must all belong to one of these classes, and, except in actions for the foreclosure of mortgages, must affect all the parties to the action, and not require different places of trial, and must be separately stated.

Cause must belong to one class and must affect all the parties, except as to foreclosure of mortgages: Railroad Co. v. Hardware Co., 135-75; Morton v. Tel. Co., 130-303; Gattis v. Kilgo, 125-133; Cromartie v. Parker, 121-204; Hodges v. R. R., 105-170; Doughty v. R. R., 78-22; Street v. Tuck, 84-605; Logan v. Wallis, 76-416; Land Co. v. Beatty, 69-329; Heggie v. Hill, 95-303—causes of action requiring different places of trial: Cedar Works v. Lumber Co., 161-603.

In actions to foreclose mortgages, the court may adjudge and direct the payment by the mortgagor of any residue of the mortgage debt that remains unsatisfied after a sale of the mortgaged premises, in cases in which the mortgagor is personally liable for the debt secured; and if the mortgage debt is secured by the covenant or obligation of any person other than the mortgagor, the plaintiff may make that person a party to the action, and the court may adjudge payment of the residue of the debt remaining unsatisfied after a sale of the mortgaged premises, against the other person, and may enforce such judgment as in other cases.

Rev., s. 469; Code, s. 267; C. C. P., s. 126.

ART. 13. DEFENDANT'S PLEADINGS

508. Demurrer and answer. The only pleading on the part of the defendant is either a demurrer or an answer. He may demur to one or more of several causes of action stated in the complaint, and answer to the residue.

Rev., ss. 470, 471; Code, ss. 238, 246; C. C. P., ss. 94, 103.

DEFENDANT MUST DEMUR OR ANSWER: McClenahan v. Cotten, 83-332. Demurrer precedes the answer: Finch v. Baskerville, 85-205. Answering waives the demurrer: Wilson v. Pearson, 102-290; Hyman v. Devereux, 63-624; Moseley v. Johnson, 144-258; Ransom v. McClees, 64-17. Where defendants jointly liable, one cannot answer and the other demur: Von Glahn v. DeRossett, 76-292. Motion for nonsuit cannot be made a substitute for a demurrer: Andrews v. Pritchett, 66-387. One defendant cannot file a cross-complaint against a codefendant: Dillon v. Raleigh, 124-184; nor can a defendant demur to a codefendant's answer: Gregg v. Wilmington, 155-18.

DEMURRER AND ANSWER TO SEPARATE CAUSES. Defendant cannot answer and demur to the same cause of action: Speight v. Jenkins, 99-143; Finch v. Baskerville, 85-205; Ransom v. McClees, 64-17; Von Glahn v. DeRossett, 76-292. He may demur to one cause and answer to another: Cowand v. Meyers, 99-198; Sumner v. Young, 65-579. Where defendants are jointly liable a part cannot demur while the remainder answers: Von Glahn v. DeRossett, 76-292—but otherwise when not jointly liable: Conant v. Barnard, 103-320.

509. When defendant appears and pleads; time for. The defendant must appear and demur or answer within twenty days after the return day of the summons, or if the time is extended for filing the complaint, then the defendant shall have twenty days after the date fixed by such extension; but the clerk, for good cause shown, may extend the time for filing the answer or demurrer; otherwise the plaintiff may have judgment by default.

Rev., s. 473; Code, 207; 1870-1, c. 42, s. 4; 1919, c. 304, s. 3.

For order enlarging time to plead, see this chapter, s. 536.

Cases decided before the act of 1919. Extension of time to file pleadings a matter of discretion: Gilchrist v. Kitchin, 86-20; Gwinn v. Parker, 119-19; Reese v. Jones, 84-597; Boddie v. Woodard, 83-2. A pleading placed in the files after the judge has left court is not filed in contemplation of law: Foley v. Blank, 92-476; but an answer forwarded by mail and received by clerk before adjournment is sufficient: Gallins v. Ins. Co., 174-553. Cases merely citing section: Meeke v. Mineral Co., 122-796; Barnes v. Crawford, 115-80; Fertilizer Co. v. Black, 114-593. Judgment by default at return term when defendant fails to answer or demur: Brown v. Rhinehart, 112-772; also see section 595.

510. Sham and irrelevant defenses. Sham and irrelevant answers and defenses may be stricken out on motion, upon such terms as the court may in its discretion impose.

Rev., s. 472; Code, s. 247; C. C. P., s. 104.

For judgment on frivolous pleading, see this chapter, s. 599.

SHAM AND IRRELEVANT DEMURRER. Definition: Morgan v. Harris, 141-358; Porter v. Grimsley, 98-550; Johnston v. Pate, 83-110; Bank v. Duffy, 156-83. Illustrations of sham and irrelevant demurrers: Hurst v. Addington, 84-143; Dunn v. Barnes, 73-273. When demurrer is held frivolous, judgment for plaintiff can be entered: Cowan v. Baird, 77-201; also see section 599. Refusal to hold demurrer frivolous is not appealable: Morgan v. Harris, 141-358; Abbott v. Hancock, 123-89.

SHAM AND IRRELEVANT ANSWERS. Sham and irrelevant answer defined: Vass v. Brewer, 122-226; Weil v. Uzzell, 92-517; Atkinson v. McIntyre, 90-147; Howell v. Ferguson, 87-113; Hurst v. Addington, 84-143; Johnston v. Pate, 83-110. Cases where answers were contended to be sham or irrelevant, but held good: Buie v. Brown, 104-335; Bank v. Atkinson, 113-478; Campbell v. Patton, 113-481; Bank v. Charlotte, 75-45; Swepson v. Harvey, 66-436. Illustration of sham and irrelevant answers: Deloatch v. Vinson, 108-147; Rumbough v. Imp. Co., 106-461; Atkinson v. McIntyre, 90-147; Brogden v. Henry, 83-274; Dail v. Harper, 83-4; Comrs. v. Piercy, 72-181; Schehan v. Malone, 71-440; Holmes v. Godwin, 69-470; Flack v. Dawson, 69-42. Answers should not be stricken out as frivolous unless palpably so: Womble v. Fraps, 77-98; Hull v. Carter, 83-249; Erwin v. Lowery, 64-321; Boone v. Hardie, 83-470; Whitaker v. Jenkins, 138-476—and judge's refusal to strike out answer as frivolous is not appealable: Walters v. Starnes, 118-842.

ART. 14. DEMURRER

511. Grounds for. The defendant may demur to the complaint when it appears upon the face thereof, either that:

Demurrer explained: Wood v. Kincaid, 144-393. Can be taken only for the causes herein stated: Dunn v. Barnes, 73-273. Defect must appear upon the face of the complaint: Bes-seliew v. Brown, 177-65; Dalrymple v. Cole, 156-353; Davison v. Gregory, 132-389; Von Glahn

v. DeRossett, 76-292; Bank v. Britton, 66-365. A "speaking demurrer" is not allowed. See cases above cited. For defects not appearing in complaint, see section 517. A demurrer admits every material fact sufficiently alleged in the complaint: Hartsfield v. Bryan, 177-166; Board of Health v. Comrs., 173-250; Hendrix v. R. R., 162-9; Brewer v. Wynne, 154-467; Smith v. Hartsell, 150-71; Wood v. Kincaid, 144-393; Merrimon v. Paving Co., 142-539; Loughran v. Giles, 110-426—but not conclusions of law, nor facts contrary to law: Board of Health v. Comrs., 173-250; Pritchard v. Comrs., 126-908. For waiver of demurrer, see section 508.

Defects merely formal are not demurrable: Fulps v. Mock, 108-605; Stokes v. Taylor, 104-394; Moore v. Edmiston, 70-510; Heath v. Morgan, 117-504; Rosenbacher v. Martin, 170-236—that the complaint is argumentative or redundant: Pender v. Mallett, 123-57; Daniels v. Fowler, 120-14; Smith v. Summerfield, 108-284; McGill v. Buie, 106-242; Thames v. Jones, 97-121. See section 537. The statute of limitations cannot be taken advantage of by demurrer, see section 405; nor the statute of frauds, see section 988; nor contributory negligence, see section 523; nor a wrong venue, McCullen v. R. R., 146-568. If one allegation is defective it will extend to the whole cause of action: Speight v. Jenkins, 99-143. There is no law or practice that will permit a tender of judgment of one dollar as an aid to a defective demurrer: Hall v. Tel. Co., 139-369. As to frivolous demurrers, see section 510.

1. The court has no jurisdiction of the person of the defendant, or of the subject of the action; or,

A demurrer to the jurisdiction admits the facts for the purposes of the demurrer: Merrimon v. Paving Co., 142-539. Lack of jurisdiction must appear upon face of complaint: Bank v. Britton, 66-365. But that the court does not properly exist as a court cannot be taken advantage of in this way: State v. Hall, 142-710. In a case transferred from the clerk to the term, upon issues joined, the complaint amended to include matters not within clerk's jurisdiction is demurrable: Capps v. Capps, 85-408; but see section 637.

Cases where question of jurisdiction of the person raised by demurrer: Hughes v. Comrs., 107-598; Cain v. Nicholson, 77-411; Oliver v. Wiley, 75-320; McFarland v. McKay, 74-258; Winslow v. Comrs., 64-218. For questions as to jurisdiction of superior court, see section 1436; justices of the peace, sections 1473, 1474; clerk of superior court, section 938. Failure to demur formally does not waive defect of jurisdiction, see section 518.

2. The plaintiff has not legal capacity to sue; or,

A demurrer for incapacity of plaintiff admits the facts of the complaint for the purposes of the demurrer: Merrimon v. Paving Co., 142-539. Contingent remainderman allowed to restrain waste: Cowand v. Meyers, 99-198; Gordon v. Lowther, 75-193. Party injured by false return of the sheriff can bring action for penalty, although the former action was brought in name of the state to the use of the party: Peebles v. Newsom, 74-473. In an action by infant, a plea in bar waives the right to demur: Hicks v. Beam, 112-642.

3. There is another action pending between the same parties for the same cause; or,

Where the pendency of an action between same parties over same cause appears in complaint it must be taken advantage of by demurrer: Alexander v. Norwood, 118-381; Harris v. Johnson, 65-478; Redfearn v. Austin, 88-413; Cook v. Cook, 159-47. Must be between same parties for same cause: McNeill v. Currie, 117-341; Claywell v. Sudderth, 77-287; Turner v. Rosenthal, 116-437; Probst v. Mathis, 115-526; Curtis v. Piedmont, 109-401; Tobacco Co. v. McElwee, 94-425; Pendleton v. Davis, 92-185; Sloan v. McDowell, 75-29; Woody v. Jordan, 69-189; Harris v. Johnson, 65-478—and must be pending in this state, Ridley v. R. R., 118-996; Sloan v. McDowell, 75-29; Carpenter v. Hanes, 162-46. Parties cannot by consent give court jurisdiction of second action brought: Alexander v. Norwood, 118-381. An action is pending from the time the summons is issued: Pettigrew v. McCoin, 165-472. Where summons issued by a justice was never served and on its return day another justice issued summons on same cause, first terminated when summons in second was issued: Webster v. Laws, 86-179, 89-224.

4. There is a defect of parties plaintiff or defendant; or,

For "defect of parties" objection must be interposed by demurrer, if the complaint shows the defect, and if it does not, then by answer: Styers v. Alspaugh, 118-631; Kornegay v. Steamboat Co., 107-115; Leak v. Covington, 99-559; Mining Co. v. Smelting Co., 99-445; Lunn v. Shermer, 93-164; Usry v. Suit, 91-406. This applies to necessary parties: Winders v. Hill, 141-694; Barrett v. Brown, 86-556; Hunter v. Yarborough, 92-68; Gill v. Young, 82-273—and as to who is "necessary party," see annotations under section 457. It is no "defect of parties" to have unnecessary parties: Abbott v. Hancock, 123-99; Sullivan v. Field, 118-358; McMillan v. Baxley, 112-578; Moore v. Nowell, 94-265; Hoover v. Berryhill, 84-137; Burns v. Ashworth, 72-496; Hargrove v. Hunt, 73-24; Righton v. Pruden, 73-64; Wool v. Edenton, 113-33; Winders v. Sutherland, 174-235; Withrow v. R. R., 159-222; Worth v. Trust Co., 152-242. The defect is waived if no objection interposed properly: Howe v. Harper, 127-356; Kornegay v. Steamboat Co., 107-117; Mining Co. v. Smelting Co., 99-445; Lunn v. Shermer, 93-164; Rosenbacher v. Martin, 170-236; Bridgers v. Staton, 150-216. When after demurrer filed parties came in and made themselves parties, demurrer untenable: Hill v. Mining Co., 113-259. A demurrer for misjoinder of parties admits the facts for the purposes of the demurrer: Merrimon v. Paving Co., 142-539.

In an action for an injury to a passenger, the joinder of two railroad corporations operating over the same track through a lessee is not improper: Carleton v. R. R., 143-43. Failure to join the husband in an action by the wife to declare a trust is not a defect: Ricks v. Wilson, 151-46. A petition filed by an attorney in his own name as attorney for certain persons named is not defective for want of parties: Hartsfield v. Bryan, 177-166. Joinder of father and son in an action for personal injury to the son is improper: Thigpen v. Cotton Mills, 151-97. Failure to join personal representative of deceased mortgagor in a suit for foreclosure is a defect: Geitner v. Jones, 173-591.

5. Several causes of action have been improperly united; or,

For causes of action that can be joined, see section 507. Objection waived if misjoinder not demurred to when defect appears in complaint: Teague v. Collins, 134-62; Hocutt v. R. R., 124-216; McMillan v. Baxley, 112-578; Hall v. Turner, 111-180; Finley v. Hayes, 81-368; Boney v. R. R., 175-354.

Complaint setting up separate causes of action against several parties among whom there is no community of interest is demurrable: Cromartie v. Parker, 121-198. Joinder of action for damages for land taken without condemnation and an action for trespass is improper: Abernathy v. R. R., 150-97. Action by father and son for injury to son is a misjoinder: Thigpen v. Cotton Mills, 151-97. Two causes of action for injury to plaintiff's interest in a corporation by unlawful combination not a misjoinder: Worth v. Trust Co., 152-242. Action for tort against two defendants and a separate cause against each for the same tort, the last two causes are surplusage: Tyler v. Lumber Co., 165-163. Action to set aside two deeds obtained from the same person by undue influence of defendants is not a misjoinder: Lee v. Thornton, 171-209.

6. The complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

For complaints stating a cause of action, see section 506 (2). A demurrer admits the facts alleged in the complaint, and if any part presents a cause of action the demurrer is overruled: Hartsfield v. Bryan, 177-166; Hendrix v. R. R., 162-9; Brewer v. Wynne, 154-467; Olive v. R. R., 152-279; Wilcox v. R. R., 152-316; Wood v. Kineaid, 144-393; Moore v. Hobbs, 79-535. The complaint must be wholly insufficient: Foy v. Stephens, 168-438; Hoke v. Glenn, 167-594; Womaek v. Carter, 160-286; Bank v. Duffy, 156-83; Blackmore v. Winders, 144-215.

Defective statement of good cause of action and statement of a defective cause of action distinguished: Eddleman v. Lentz, 158-65; Ladd v. Ladd, 121-121; Knowles v. R. R., 102-59; Halstead v. Mullen, 93-252. A defective cause of action is fatal on demurrer: Cavanaugh v. Jarman, 164-373; Eddleman v. Lentz, 158-65; a failure to demur does not waive the defect, and if demurrer is overruled objection may still be taken by motion under section 518: Baker v. Garris, 108-218.

A defective statement of good cause of action is not fatal and may be cured by amendment: Foy v. Stephens, 168-438; Dockery v. Hamlet, 162-118; Shingle Mills v. Sanderson, 161-452;

Eddleman v. Lentz, 158-65; Blalock v. Clark, 133-308; Ladd v. Ladd, 121-121; Mizzell v. Ruffin, 118-69; Bowling v. Burton, 101-176. It is waived if no objection is raised: Harrison v. Garrett, 132-172; Bennett v. Telegraph Co., 128-103; Knowles v. R. R., 102-59; Johnson v. Finch, 93-205; Halstead v. Mullen, 93-252; Wilson v. Sykes, 84-215; and it may be aided by subsequent pleading: King v. R. R., 176-301; Shute v. Austin, 120-440; Whitley v. R. R., 119-724; Mizzell v. Ruffin, 118-69; Wiggins v. Kirkpatrick, 114-298; Bonds v. Smith, 106-554; Harris v. Sneeden, 104-369; Knowles v. R. R., 102-59; Wilson v. Lineberger, 94-641; Willis v. Branch, 94-142; Warner v. R. R., 94-250; Johnson v. Finch, 93-205; Garrett v. Trotter, 65-430.

Complaint against a county for damages because county authorities burned a house infected with contagion, is demurrable: Pritchard v. Comrs., 126-908. Complaint against register of deeds for damages for unlawfully issuing marriage license, demurrable for failure to state cause of action: Wilkinson v. Dellinger, 126-462. If two defendants join in a demurrer and the cause of action is good against either, the demurrer will be overruled: Winders v. Sutherland, 174-235; but see Blackmore v. Winders, 144-215. An action against indemnitors of a codefendant, when demurrable: Clark v. Bonsal, 157-270. Cause of action for trespass on land: Hood v. Telegraph Co., 162-70. Cause of action by father for seduction of child: Howell v. Howell, 162-283. Failure to allege corporate existence of defendant corporation is not demurrable: Bank v. Duffy, 156-83; Elevator Co. v. Hotel Co., 172-319. Failure to allege presentation of claim against a town within two years is demurrable: Doekery v. Hamlet, 162-118; see, also, Burnett v. R. R., 163-186. In an action for damages to land by highway commission, objection must be taken by answer and not by demurrer: Kendall v. Highway Com., 165-600. In an action for a cause arising in another state objection as to the law of that state must be taken by answer and not by demurrer: Miller v. R. R., 154-441.

Rev., s. 474; Code, s. 239; C. C. P., s. 95.

512. Must specify grounds. The demurrer must distinctly specify the grounds of objection to the complaint, or it may be disregarded. It may be taken to the whole complaint, or to any of the alleged causes of action stated therein.

Rev., s. 475; Code, s. 240; C. C. P., s. 96.

A general demurrer will not do; it must specify the ground of objection: Ball v. Paquin, 140-83; Milliken v. Denny, 135-24; Elam v. Barnes, 110-73; Hunter v. Yarboro, 92-68; Goss v. Waller, 90-149; Bank v. Bogle, 85-203; George v. Hicks, 85-99; Jones v. Comrs., 85-278; Love v. Comrs., 64-706; Ullery v. Guthrie, 148-417. What defects not waived, see section 518. As to answering some causes set forth in complaint and demurring to others, see section 508.

513. Amendment; hearing. If a demurrer is filed the plaintiff may be allowed to amend. If he fail to amend within three days after notice, and there be no agreement between the parties as to the time and place of hearing the same before some judge of the superior court, then it shall be the duty of the clerk of the superior court forthwith to send up the complaint and demurrer to the judge holding the courts of the district or to the resident judge of the district, who shall fix time and place of hearing and notify parties or their counsel when and where he shall hear and pass upon the demurrer.

514. Appeals. Upon the return of the decision upon the demurrer, if either party desires to appeal, notice shall be given and the appeal perfected as is now provided in case of appeals in term time.

1919, c. 304, s. 5.

515. Procedure after return of judgment. Within ten days after the return of the judgment upon the demurrer, if there is no appeal, or within ten days after the receipt of the certificate from the supreme court if there is an appeal, if the demurrer is sustained the plaintiff may move, upon three days notice, for leave to amend the complaint. If this is not granted, judgment shall be entered dismissing the action. If the demurrer is overruled the answer shall be filed within ten days after the receipt of the decision overruling the demurrer, if there is no appeal, or within ten days after receipt of the certificate of the supreme court if there is an appeal. Otherwise the plaintiff shall be entitled to judgment by default final or by default and inquiry according to the course and practice of the court.

For power to allow amendments and allow answer after demurrer, see sections 545 to 548.

516. Decision of actions when misjoinder. If the demurrer is sustained for the reason that several causes of action have been improperly united, the judge shall, upon such terms as are just, order the action to be divided into as many actions as are necessary for the proper determination of the causes of action therein mentioned.

Rev., s. 476; Code, s. 272; C. C. P., s. 131.

See generally: Railroad Co. v. Hardware Co., 135-73; Weeks v. McPhail, 128-134; Pretzfelder v. Ins. Co., 116-496; Hodges v. R. R., 105-170; Finch v. Baskerville, 85-207; Street v. Tuck, 84-605; Ayers v. Bailey, 162-209. Upon demurrer sustained for misjoinder, it becomes the judge's duty to divide the action upon just terms: Gattis v. Kilgo, 125-133; Ricks v. Wilson, 151-46; Dunn v. Aid Society, 151-133; Huggins v. Waters, 167-197; s. c., 154-444; Martin v. Rexford, 170-540. Action cannot be divided under this section when there is also misjoinder of parties: Morton v. Tel. Co., 130-299; Cromartie v. Parker, 121-199; Mitchell v. Mitchell, 96-14; Thigpen v. Cotton Mills, 151-97; Campbell v. Power Co., 166-488. Section casually referred to: Fisher v. Trust Co., 138-242; Cook v. Smith, 119-355; Solomon v. Bates, 118-316; Cedar Works v. Lumber Co., 161-603.

517. Grounds not appearing in complaint. When any of the matters enumerated as grounds of demurrer do not appear on the face of the complaint, the objection may be taken by answer.

Rev., s. 477; Code, s. 241; C. C. P., s. 98.

Objection taken by answer: Kochs v. Jackson, 156-326; Moore v. Hobbs, 77-65. Objection as to jurisdiction: Bank v. Britton, 66-365—as to defect of parties: Fisher v. Ins. Co., 136-219; R. R. v. Lumber Co., 114-690; Styers v. Alspaugh, 118-631; Johnson v. Gooch, 114-62; Kornegay v. Steamboat Co., 107-115; State v. Grant, 104-908; Leak v. Covington, 99-559; Mining Co. v. Smelting Co., 99-445; Lunn v. Shermer, 93-164; Usry v. Suit, 91-406; Stanly v. R. R., 89-331; Ramsay v. R. R., 91-418—as to misjoinder of actions: Laney v. Hutton, 149-264; Kiger v. Harmon, 113-408; Burns v. Ashworth, 72-496; Durham v. Bostwick, 72-357—as to defective statements of good causes of action: Knowles v. R. R., 102-59—another action pending in divorce: Cook v. Cook, 159-47; s. c., 164-272.

518. Objection waived. If objection is not taken either by demurrer or answer, the defendant waives the same, except the objections to the jurisdiction of the court and that the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

Objection appearing upon face of complaint is waived if no demurrer interposed; also objection not so appearing is waived if not taken advantage of by answer: Godwin v. Jernigan, 174-76; Petree v. Savage, 171-437; Rosenbacher v. Martin, 170-236; Brown v. Harding, 170-253; s. c., 171-686; Coulter v. Wilson, 171-537; Kochs v. Jackson, 156-326; Brewer v. Abernathy, 159-283; Knights of Honor v. Selby, 153-203; Teague v. Collins, 134-62; Hitch v. Comrs., 132-573; Cook v. Bank, 129-149; Ladd v. Ladd, 121-118; Knowles v. R. R., 102-59; Pescud v. Hawkins, 71-299; Hocutt v. R. R., 124-214; Mining Co. v. Smelting Co., 99-462; Burns v. Ashworth, 72-496; Durham v. Bostwick, 72-353; Hawkins v. Hughes, 87-115; Lunn v. Shermer, 93-164; Howe v. Harper, 127-356; Kornegay v. Steamboat Co., 107-117; Styers

v. Alspaugh, 118-631; Leak v. Covington, 99-559; Usry v. Suit, 91-406; McMillan v. Baxley, 112-588; Hall v. Turner, 111-180; Finley v. Hayes, 81-368; Kiger v. Harmon, 113-406—but objection to the jurisdiction of the court and that complaint does not state facts constituting a cause of action are not waived and can be taken advantage of at any time even in the supreme court, in writing or ore tenus: State v. Houston, 155-432; Garrison v. Williams, 150-674; Realty Co. v. Corpening, 147-613; Blackmore v. Winders, 144-212; Fidelity Co. v. Jordan, 134-236; Parker v. Express Co., 132-128; Nichols v. Nichols, 128-108; Hendon v. R. R., 127-110; Fertilizer Co. v. Marshburn, 122-411; Manning v. R. R., 122-824; Ladd v. Ladd, 121-118; Halstead v. Mullen, 93-252; Knowles v. R. R., 102-59; Elam v. Barnes, 110-73; Sutton v. Walters, 118-495; Baker v. Garris, 108-218; Pescud v. Hawkins, 71-299; Rogers v. Jenkins, 98-129; Johnson v. Finch, 93-205; Tucker v. Baker, 86-1; Bryant v. Fisher, 85-71; Love v. Comrs., 64-706; Jones v. Comrs., 85-280; Jackson v. Jackson, 105-433; Whitehurst v. Pettipher, 105-40; Mfg. Co. v. Simmons, 97-89; Fagg v. Loan Assn., 113-364; Leatherwood v. Fulbright, 109-683; Hunter v. Yarboro, 92-70—and court may ex mero motu dismiss when lack of jurisdiction or when complaint fails to state a cause of action: Blackmore v. Winders, 144-212; Cressler v. Asheville, 138-482; Short v. Gill, 126-803; Cary v. Allegood, 121-54; Nash v. Ferrabow, 115-303; Hagins v. R. R., 106-537; Bank v. Bobbitt, 108-525; Norris v. McLam, 104-159; State v. Miller, 100-545; Rogers v. Jenkins, 98-129; Noville v. Dew, 94-43; Peacock v. Stott, 104-154; Smaw v. Cohen, 95-85; Tucker v. Baker, 86-1; Jones v. Comrs., 85-278; State v. Benthall, 82-664.

ART. 15. ANSWER

519. Contents. The answer of the defendant must contain—

1. A general or specific denial of each material allegation of the complaint controverted by the defendant, or of any knowledge or information thereof sufficient to form a belief.

Directly supporting this subsection: Cobb v. Clegg, 137-153. For frivolous answers, see section 510. An answer adopting each and every section of another answer filed in the case is sufficient if the adopted answer is sufficient: Hooker v. Worthington, 134-283.

SUFFICIENT DENIALS. “He denies the truth of the averments contained in the first, second, third, fourth, fifth, and sixth paragraphs of complaint and insists that plaintiff be held to strict proof thereof”: Brown v. Cooper, 89-237. Denial “on information and belief” that plaintiff ever had possession of certain lands is sufficient: Kitchin v. Wilson, 80-192; but see Harrill v. R. R., 135-606. Defendant in action to recover land may deny possession of part and disclaim title, and admit possession of part, denying that it is wrongful, and claim title: Graybeal v. Powers, 83-561. “They have not sufficient information to admit or deny the same”: Person v. Leary, 127-116. Defendant “is advised, informed and believes that the first article of the complaint is not true, and therefore denies the same”: Gardner v. Lumber Co., 144-110. Answer need not state why defendant has not sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief: Morgan v. Roper, 119-367. A denial “according to his best recollection and belief” is sufficient: Conder v. Stallings, 161-17.

INSUFFICIENT DENIALS. “No allegation of the complaint is true”: Flaek v. Dawson, 69-42; Heyer v. Beatty, 76-28. “They deny the said complaint and each and every allegation contained therein”: Sehehan v. Malone, 71-441. A general denial of plaintiff’s ownership of land is not sufficient where a judgment working an estoppel upon defendant is pleaded: Johnson v. Pate, 90-334. “The allegations of sixth paragraph of complaint are untrue in manner and form as therein stated”: Rumbough v. Imp. Co., 106-461. Where complaint alleges matters as within the personal knowledge of defendant it is not sufficient denial “that defendant has no knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief”: Streator v. Streator, 145-337; Gas Machine Co. v. Neuse Mfg. Co., 91-74—nor sufficient to answer “he is informed and believes that the allegations of the third article are not true, and denies the same”: Avery v. Stewart, 134-299. In action to recover land, defendant denying title of plaintiff, but not denying unlawful possession by him (defendant), plaintiff gets judgment: Tyson v. Shepherd, 90-314. “He has no knowledge of the facts alleged in paragraph two”: Woodcock v. Bostick, 128-246. “He has no information as to the truth of the allegation of paragraph seven": Ibid. The denial that defendant has knowledge, which does not also deny that he has information sufficient to form a belief, is insufficient: Fagg v. Loan Assn., 113-364; Durden v. Simmons, 84-557; Bank v. Charlotte, 75-45. "It denies on information and belief the statement of facts in the fifth paragraph of the complaint": Harrill v. R. R. Co., 135-606; but see Kitchin v. Wilson, 80-192.

2. A statement of any new matter constituting a defense or counterclaim, in ordinary and concise language, without repetition.

As to counterclaim, see section 521.

NEW MATTER IN ANSWER. What may be shown under a general denial in an action for land: Fleming v. Sexton, 172-250. New matter must be set up or else no advantage of it can be taken: Johnson v. Bell, 74-356; Raynor v. R. R., 129-195. Should be set up with the same precision as that required in complaint: Lassiter v. Roper, 114-17; Anderson v. Logan, 105-269; Montague v. Brown, 104-165; Buie v. Brown, 104-335; Rountree v. Brinson, 98-107; Talbert v. Becton, 111-543; Cotton Mills v. Cotton Mills, 116-647; DeLoatch v. Vinson, 108-147—and must not state evidential facts: Farrior v. Houston, 95-578—and may contain both legal and equitable defenses: Bean v. R. R., 107-731. An equitable defense must be pleaded: Holden v. Houck, 176-235; Buchanan v. Harrington, 141-39; McLaurin v. Cronly, 90-51. The plea of payment: Banking Co. v. Walker, 121-115; Threadgill v. Comrs., 116-627; Pemberton v. Simmons, 100-316. Pleading the statute of limitations, see section 405—pleading usury: Rountree v. Brinson, 98-107; Oldham v. Bank, 85-241; Moore v. Woodward, 83-531—pleading fraud: Cotton Mills v. Cotton Mills, 116-647—pleading equitable defenses in action for the recovery of real property: Wilson v. Wilson, 117-351; Talbert v. Becton, 111-543; Anderson v. Logan, 105-266; Hinton v. Pritchard, 102-94; Dempsey v. Rhodes, 93-120; Bodenhamer v. Welch, 89-78; Johnson v. McArthur, 64-675—counterclaim: Smith v. French, 141-7, and cases cited; Brown v. Carter, 111-183; Davis v. Terry, 114-28; Milling Co. v. Finlay, 110-411; Anderson v. Logan, 105-266; Smith v. McGregor, 96-101; Byerly v. Humphreys, 95-151; Hurst v. Everett, 91-399; Garrett v. Love, 89-205—pleading want of consideration in deed sued on: Ivey v. Granberry, 66-223—accord and satisfaction: Hayes v. R. R., 143-125—sheriff's defense against penalty for failing to execute process that fees were not paid: Johnson v. Kennedy, 70-435—former judgment: Blackwell v. Dibblell, 103-270; Harrison v. Hoff, 102-126—matter in avoidance: Eames v. Armstrong, 142-507; Smith v. Newberry, 140-385; Threadgill v. Comrs., 116-628; Reed v. Reed, 93-462; Knott v. Burwell, 96-272; see, also, section 523—another action pending for same cause: Curtis v. Piedmont, 109-401; Hawkins v. Hughes, 104-161; Brock v. Scott, 159-513—contributory negligence: DeBerry v. R. R., 100-310; also see section 523. New matter treated as a plea "since last continuance": Puffer v. Lucas, 101-281. Effect of plea "since last continuance": Williams v. Hutton, 164-216.

Rev., s. 479; Code, s. 243; C. C. P., s. 100.

520. Debt for purchase money of land denied. If the defendant denies in his answer that the obligation sued on was for the purchase money of the land described in the complaint, it is the duty of the court to submit the issue so joined to the jury.

Rev., s. 480; Code, s. 235; 1879, c. 217.

Davis v. Evans, 142-464; Durham v. Wilson, 104-595; Toms v. Fite, 93-275. See sections 506 and 675 (5).

521. Counterclaim. The counterclaim mentioned in this article must be one existing in favor of a defendant and against a plaintiff between whom a several judgment might be had in the action, and arising out of one of the following causes of action:

COUNTERCLAIM DEFINED. Subject to the limitations expressed in this statute, a counterclaim includes well-nigh every kind of cross-demand existing in favor of defendant against the plaintiff in the same right, whether said demand be of a legal or an equitable nature. It is said to be broader in meaning than set-off, recoupment, or cross-action, and includes them all, and secures to defendant the full relief which a separate action at law or a bill in chancery or a cross-bill would have secured to him on the same state of facts: Yellowday v. Perkinson, 167-144; Cheese Co. v. Pipkin, 155-397; Smith v. French, 141-1; Electric Co. v. Williams, 123-51; Wilson v. Hughes, 94-182; Lee v. Eure, 93-5; Hurst v. Everett, 91-399; Bitting v. Thaxton, 72-541. Other definitions of "counterclaim": Askew v. Koonce, 118-526; Guano Co. v. Tilley, 110-29; Raisin v. Thomas, 88-148. It is a creature of the Code of Civil Procedure and must conform to its provisions: Bank v. Wilson, 124-562; Electric Co. v. Williams, 123-51.

Counterclaim in its relation to set-off and recoupment: Electric Co. v. Williams, 123-51; Mfg. Co. v. Gray, 126-108; Davis v. Mfg. Co., 114-321; Adams v. Bank, 113-332; Neal v. Lea, 64-678.

PLEADING COUNTERCLAIM. The counterclaim should set out the facts constituting the claim with clearness and conciseness: Bank v. Northeutt, 169-219; Bank v. Hill, 169-235. Plaintiff cannot plead a counterclaim to defendant's counterclaim: Boyett v. Vaughan, 85-363, overruling Boyett v. Vaughan, 79-528; but see Scott v. Bryan, 96-289.

Pleading a counterclaim is optional with defendant; he can bring an independent action on it: Mauney v. Hamilton, 132-306; Shankle v. Whitley, 131-168; Asher v. Reizenstein, 105-216; Tobacco Co. v. McElwee, 94-425; Gregory v. Hobbs, 93-1; McClenahan v. Cotten, 83-332; Francis v. Edwards, 77-271; Woody v. Jordan, 69-189. Must be set up by answer: Reynolds v. Smathers, 87-24; Johnson v. Bell, 74-356. In actions on separate notes for purchase price of machinery, counterclaim for damages for defects, etc., can be set up but once: Mfg. Co. v. Moore, 144-527. A covenant not to sue available as counterclaim: Harshaw v. Woodfin, 64-568. Where counterclaim pleaded under first subsection, plaintiff cannot take a nonsuit and thereby debar defendant from prosecuting his counterclaim or from having tried any other right set out in answer: Well Co. v. Ice Co., 125-80; Rumbough v. Young, 119-567; Bank v. Comrs., 116-380; Wilkins v. Suttles, 114-551; Pass v. Pass, 109-484; Mfg. Co. v. Buxton, 105-74; Gatewood v. Leak, 99-363; Bynum v. Powe, 97-374; McNeill v. Lawton, 97-16; Whedbee v. Leggett, 92-469; Purnell v. Vaughan, 80-46—but where counterclaim pleaded under second subsection plaintiff can take a nonsuit: Olmstead v. Smith, 133-584; Pass v. Pass, 109-484; McNeill v. Lawton, 97-16; Whedbee v. Leggett, 92-469; McLean v. McDonald, 173-429. See section 604. Where counterclaim pleaded is the subject of another action pending: Davis v. Terry, 114-27.

Justice of the peace cannot entertain counterclaim beyond his jurisdiction: Electric Co. v. Williams, 123-51; Hurst v. Everett, 91-399; Raisin v. Thomas, 88-148; Boyett v. Vaughan, 85-363; Meneely v. Craven, 86-364; Derr v. Stubbs, 83-559; McClenahan v. Cotten, 83-332; but see Heyser v. Gunter, 118-964. The justice may consider such claim by way of set-off in reduction or satisfaction of plaintiff's claim: Cheese Co. v. Pipkin, 155-394; Fertilizer Works v. Aiken, 175-398. Superior court may allow counterclaim to be entered in cases appealed from justice, but not beyond justice's jurisdiction: Moore v. Garner, 109-157; Hurst v. Everett, 91-399; Raisin v. Thomas, 88-148; Meneely v. Craven, 86-364; Thomas v. Simpson, 80-4; Johnson v. Rowland, 80-1. Failure to plead counterclaim in former suit no estoppel: Shankle v. Whitley, 131-168. As to pleading benefit derived by plaintiff from defendant's improvements, etc.: McGee v. Fox, 107-766. When counterclaim ruled out on demurrer, defendant's appeal is premature: Knott v. Burwell, 96-272. Defendant cannot set up as counterclaim any and every cause of action he may have against plaintiff: Byerly v. Humphrey, 95-151. Too late to object that counterclaim improperly pleaded after submission to arbitration: Robbins v. Killebrew, 95-19. Where no cause of action stated in counterclaim: Ayers v. Makely, 131-63. The fact that plaintiff is not worth his personal property exemption does not preclude defendant from setting up counterclaim: Lynn v. Cotton Mills, 130-621. Where plaintiff alleged a contract of sale and a breach, and the answer denied the sale and alleged a consignment, a judgment by default on the counterclaim was improper: Tillinghast v. Cotton Mills, 143-268.

1. A cause of action arising out of the contract or transaction set forth in the complaint as the foundation of the plaintiff's claim, or connected with the subject of the action.

And it must exist at the commencement of the action: Griffin v. Thomas, 128-310; Kramer v. Electric Light Co., 95-277; but see Smith v. French, 141-1, and Williams v. Sutton, 164-216.

Counterclaim under this subsection defined: Gibson v. Barbour, 100-192. It may arise out of either contract or tort: Phipps v. Wilson, 125-106; Branch v. Chappell, 119-81; Puffer v. Lucas, 112-377; McKinnon v. Morrison, 104-354; Kramer v. Electric Light Co., 95-277; Lee v. Eure, 93-5; Trotter v. Connor, 90-455; Bitting v. Thaxton, 72-541. Instances of counterclaim attempted to be interposed arising out of tort: Street v. Andrews, 115-417; Gaskins v. Davis, 115-86; Smith v. Young, 109-224. As to claims sounding in damages as counterclaims: Wilson v. Charlotte, 108-121; Bush v. Hall, 95-82; Raisin v. Thomas, 88-148.

SPECIFIC COUNTERCLAIMS. Improvements on land (betterments) in action to recover land: Scott v. Battle, 85-184; Reed v. Exum, 84-430; Daniel v. Crumpler, 75-184. In action for goods sold and delivered, defendant cannot set up latent defects: Max v. Harris, 125-345. In action by vendor for possession of land sold under bond for title, vendee may set up and demand money paid: Wellborn v. Simonton, 88-266; Pearsall v. Mayers, 64-549; Daniel v. Crumpler, 75-184—but where vendee repudiates contract he cannot recover as a counterclaim money paid thereon, Davison v. Land Co., 121-146. Usury may be pleaded as counterclaim: Bank v. Ireland, 122-571—but not if paid, Meares v. Butler, 123-206. In action for trespass for cutting timber defendant cannot set up damage for ponding water: Street v. Andrews, 115-417; Bazemore v. Bridgers, 105-191. Owner of land charged with owelty may set up as counterclaim that he has been evicted by superior title: Huntley v. Cline, 93-458. Defective title is a defense in an action for purchase money of land, and not a counterclaim; and it seems defective acreage is also: Bank v. Loughran, 122-668; Hutchinson v. Smith, 68-351. In action for cutting timber defendant may claim title and ask for accounting of timber cut: Lumber Co. v. Wallace, 93-22. Where defendant received a different machine from the one ordered, and converted it to his own use, he is liable for its value, and his counterclaim for the difference in price of the two machines must fail: Machine Co. v. Chalkley, 143-181. Fraud as counterclaim: Hobbs v. Bland, 124-284; Wilson v. Hughes, 94-182; Garrett v. Love, 89-205; Hall v. Comrs., 74-130; Walsh v. Hall, 66-233; Cotton Mills v. Cotton Mills, 116-647. False warranty as defense to action for purchase of horse: Hobbs v. Bland, 124-284; Wilson v. Hughes, 94-182. Implied warranty as a counterclaim or defense in an action for the price of a machine: Register Co. v. Bradshaw, 174-414. Breach of warranty in sale of goods: Cable Co. v. Macon, 153-150; but the breach must be specially pleaded: Woodridge v. Brown, 149-299.

Where bank is being liquidated, a stockholder sued on a note due bank secured by pledge of stock cannot set up as counterclaim his supposed share in the assets: Bank v. Riggins, 124-534. Where bank in hands of receiver, assigned claims against bank cannot be used as set-off, when: Davis v. Mfg. Co., 114-321. In action against bank to recover individual deposit the indebtedness of the partnership is a counterclaim: Adams v. Bank, 113-332. In claim and delivery by administrator to recover a horse belonging to estate, bailee cannot set up account for feeding: Mauney v. Ingram, 78-96. Counterclaim by finder for expense of keeping a lost dog: Meekins v. Simpson, 176-130. In action to recover wife's property no debt owing by husband can be counterclaim: Houck v. Somers, 118-607; Halliday v. McMillan, 83-270. In action for damages to land a proceeding for the condemnation of an easement cannot be set up as counterclaim: Leigh v. Garysburg Mfg. Co., 132-167. In action for possession of mortgaged chattels damages for wrongful seizure of same is no counterclaim: Satterthwaite v. Ellis, 129-67. In action for purchase price, defendant may set up deficiency in articles contracted for: Guano Co. v. Tillery, 110-29; Hurst v. Everett, 91-399; Howie v. Rea, 70-559; Cox v. Long, 69-7. In action for rent, lessees may plead lessors have no title: McKesson v. Mendenhall, 64-286. In action for purchase money of life estate, plaintiff and defendant being tenants in common of reversion, defendant cannot set up waste for plaintiff cutting timber before the sale: Devries v. Warren, 82-356. An equitable counterclaim to a purely legal cause of action is good: Dempsey v. Rhodes, 93-120.

A right of action to remove a cloud upon title as proper counterclaim in an action for land: McLean v. McDonald, 173-429. In an action for price of sewing machines, a counterclaim for loss through negligence of the plaintiff's agent: Slaughter v. Machine Co., 148-471. In an action on contract for cotton a counterclaim for malicious prosecution in another state was not allowed: Carpenter v. Hanes, 167-551. No counterclaim allowed against a claim for taxes due: Graded School v. McDowell, 157-316; Comrs. v. Hall, 177-490. Defendant in a divorce proceeding may ask for divorce, as a counterclaim or cross-action: Cook v. Cook, 159-46; s. c., 164-272.

2. In an action arising on contract, any other cause of action arising also on contract, and existing at the commencement of the action.

This section directly supported: Bank v. Wilson, 124-562. The counterclaim is available if arising upon contract express or implied: Davidson v. Land Co., 126-704. Counterclaim must exist when action brought: Phipps v. Wilson, 125-106; Puffer v. Lucas, 112-377; Reynolds v. Smathers, 87-24; Hogan v. Kirkland, 64-253. Question as to counterclaim being set up as against the state: Battle v. Thompson, 65-406—as against a county, Gatling v. Comrs., 92-536—as against a city, Cobb v. Elizabeth City, 75-1. See cases under subsection 1.

INSTANCES OF PROPER COUNTERCLAIMS SET UP. In actions by personal representative: Carr v. Askew, 94-194; Barbee v. Green, 86-158; Whedbee v. Reddick, 79-521; McLean v. Leach, 68-98; Ransom v. McLees, 64-17—in action by endorsee of negotiable note after maturity: Causey v. Snow, 122-326; Martin v. Richardson, 68-255; Harris v. Burwell, 65-584—in action by insolvent plaintiff against one who is his surety in another matter: Baker v. Brem, 103-80; Scott v. Timberlake, 83-382; Walker v. Dicks, 80-263—in action by and against receiver of insolvent railroad company: Railroad v. Railroad, 118-1078—in action by partnership against creditor of one or more partners: Sloan v. McDowell, 71-356—in action to recover wages of minor children against cotton mill to whose store father owed an account: Lynn v. Cotton Mills, 130-621. Action on joint note of husband and wife, counterclaim set up by husband: Shell v. Aiken, 155-212. Action by wife to recover deposit, how bank may set off a debt of the husband: Moore v. Bank, 173-180.

INSTANCES OF IMPROPER COUNTERCLAIMS SET UP. In action against personal representative of deceased: Mull v. Walker, 100-46; McClenahan v. Cotten, 83-332—in action by personal representative: Pate v. Oliver, 104-458; Rountree v. Britt, 94-104—in action by endorsee before maturity against maker of a negotiable note: Bank v. McNair, 116-550; Farthing v. Dark, 111-243; Bank v. Burgwyn, 108-62; Tredwell v. Blount, 86-33—in action by trustee in deed for benefit of creditors against creditor for debt due by him to assignor: Davis v. Mfg. Co., 114-321; Brown v. Brittain, 84-552.

Rev., s. 481; Code, s. 244; C. C. P., s. 101.

522. Several defenses. The defendant may set forth by answer as many defenses and counterclaims as he has, whether they are of a legal or equitable nature, or both. They must be separately stated and numbered, and refer to the cause of action which they are intended to answer in such manner that they may be intelligibly distinguished.

Rev., s. 482; Code, s. 245; C. C. P., s. 102.

Statute of limitations pleaded by answer only, see this chapter. s. 405.

Where several defenses, they may all be pleaded, but each is a separate defense: Keathley v. Branch, 88-379; Sumner v. Shipman, 65-623. And the defenses may be legal or equitable: Bean v. R. R., 107-731; Melvin v. Stephens, 82-283; Clark v. Clark, 65-655. Answer failing to state the several defenses separately will be rejected if excepted to in apt time: Keathley v. Branch, 88-379.

Contradictory defenses are admissible under this section if properly set out: Upton v. R. R., 128-173; McLamb v. McPhail, 126-218; Threadgill v. Comrs., 116-628; Reed v. Reed, 93-462; Ten Broeck v. Orchard, 79-518; Higson v. Ins. Co., 152-206. Defendant may plead matter in abatement, as another action pending, with a defense to the merits: Cook v. Cook, 159-46; s. c., 164-272. Cases merely referring to the section: Gossler v. Wood, 120-73; McLaurin v. Conly, 90-53.

523. Contributory negligence pleaded and proved. In all actions to recover damages by reason of the negligence of the defendant, where contributory negligence is relied upon as a defense, it must be set up in the answer and proved on the trial.

Rev., s. 483; 1887, c. 33.

Reasons for enacting section: Horton v. R. R., 157-146; Owens v. R. R., 88-502. This is an affirmative defense and must be pleaded and proved; and if there is any evidence it is a question for the jury and not for the judge: Kearney v. R. R., 177-251; Boney v. R. R., 155-95; Fann v. R. R., 155-136; Wright v. R. R., 155-323; Cook v. Furnace Co., 161-39; Farris v. R. R., 151-483; Ives v. Gring, 150-137; Inman v. R. R., 149-123; Stewart v. R. R., 137-687; Powell v. R. R., 125-370; Bolden v. R. R., 123-614. This applies to actions by employee against employer: Hudson v. R. R., 104-491. It also applies to an action under the Federal Employers' Liability Act in the state court: Fleming v. R. R., 160-197. For contributory negligence under the Fellow-servant Act, see section 3465.

Pleading contributory negligence: Davis v. R. R., 136-115. "That plaintiff was injured by his own negligence" is not a sufficient plea: Cogdell v. R. R., 132-852, overruling Cogdell v. R. R., 130-313; the facts constituting such negligence should be set out: Watson v. Farmer, 141-452. When contributory negligence appears in the complaint sufficiently to bar a recovery, advantage may be taken by demurrer: Parks v. Tanning Co., 175-29; Burgin v. R. R., 115-673; otherwise the question cannot be raised by demurrer: Smith v. R. R., 129-374.

Proving contributory negligence: Brewster v. Elizabeth City, 137-392. The burden is upon defendant: Goforth v. R. R., 144-572; House v. R. R., 131-103; Frazier v. R. R., 130-355; Cogdell v. R. R., 130-313; Thomas v. R. R., 129-392; Halton v. R. R., 127-255; Cogdell v. R. R., 124-302; Bolden v. R. R., 123-614; Cox v. R. R., 123-604; Bank v. School Comrs., 121-109; Hardison v. R. R., 120-492; Mfg. Co. v. R. R., 122-881; Wood v. Bartholomew, 122-177; Smith v. Electric Co., 173-489; Medlin v. Telegraph Co., 169-495; Cook v. Furnace Co., 161-39; Mullinax v. Telegraph Co., 156-541. A matter of proof, not of conjecture: Morrison v. R. R., 123-414. If contributory negligence appears in plaintiff's evidence, defendant may make motion of nonsuit: Thompson v. Construction Co., 160-390; Zachary v. R. R., 156-496; Wright v. R. R., 155-325; Strickland v. R. R., 150-4.

The presumption is against contributory negligence: Norton v. R. R., 122-910. Under the age prohibited by statute, the presumption is that the child injured while working in a factory or manufacturing establishment is incapable of contributory negligence, subject to be overcome by evidence in rebuttal under proper instructions from the court: Leathers v. Tob. Co., 144-330. At what age a child may be guilty of contributory negligence is a question for the court and not for the jury: Foard v. Power Co., 170-48; Baker v. R. R., 150-562. Rules of care required in crossing railroad track: Brown v. R. R., 171-266; Shepard v. R. R., 166-539; Cooper v. R. R., 140-209.

ART. 16. REPLY

524. Demurrer or reply to answer. The plaintiff shall demur or reply to the answer within twenty days after the filing of the answer; and the demurrer shall be heard as provided in case of demurrer to the complaint.

Rev., c. 484; Code, s. 208; 1870-71, c. 42, s. 5; 1919, c. 304.

Reply should not be stricken out because not formally filed, nor marked "filed," if it has been in the papers several terms without objection by defendant: White v. Carroll, 146-230 (under former statute).

525. Content; demurrer to answer. When the answer contains new matter constituting a counterclaim, the plaintiff may reply to the new matter, denying generally or specifically each allegation controverted by him or any knowledge or information thereof sufficient to form a belief; and he may allege in ordinary and concise language, without repetition, any new matter not inconsistent with the complaint, constituting a defense to the new matter in the answer. The plaintiff may in all cases demur to an answer containing new matter, where, upon its face, it does not constitute a counterclaim or defense; and he may demur to one or more of such defenses or counterclaims, and reply to the residue. Such demurrer shall be heard and determined as provided for demurrers to the complaint. In other cases, when an answer contains new matter constituting a defense by way of avoidance, the court may in its discretion, on the defendant's motion, require a reply to such new matter, and such reply shall be subject to the same rules as a reply to a counterclaim.

DEMURRER TO ANSWER. The question arises, will the facts admitted by the demurrer determine the rights of parties: Blackwell v. Willard, 65-555. Failure to demur waives defects in answer: Printing Co. v. McAden, 131-178. Instances of demurrers to answers: Lee v. Beaman, 73-410. Demurrer sustained, judgment will be entered for plaintiff, unless defect can be cured by amendment: Foy v. Haughton, 83-467. Demurrer to one of two separate defenses: Chambers v. R. R., 172-555; Shelby v. R. R., 147-537. A reply which is in effect a demurrer: Mottu v. Davis, 151-237. A motion to strike out part of an answer may be treated as a demurrer ore tenus: Bank v. Hill, 169-235. A motion by plaintiff for judgment upon the pleadings is in effect a demurrer: Alston v. Hill, 165-255; Helms v. Holton, 152-587.

REPLY TO NEW MATTER IN ANSWER. Reply can only be made to new matter: Olmstead v. Raleigh, 130-243. Judge can permit it even after verdict: Strause v. Ins. Co., 128-66; see sections 536 and 552. Every allegation of new matter deemed to be denied except where counterclaim set up: Galloway v. Goolsby, 176-635; Ferrell v. Hinton, 161-348; Oldham v. Rieger, 145-254; Fishplate v. Fidelity Co., 140-594; Wilson v. Brown, 134-408; Askew v. Koonce, 118-526; Vance v. Vance, 118-864; Buffkin v. Eason, 110-266; Walker v. Scott, 106-61; Stanton v. Hughes, 97-321; Fitzgerald v. Shelton, 95-519; Barnhardt v. Smith, 86-483; Jones v. Cohen, 82-80; Price v. Eccles, 73-162. Sufficient reply to counterclaim: Gregg v. Mallett, 111-74. Court may order reply when defense is by way of avoidance: Fishplate v. Fidelity Co., 140-594; James v. R. R., 121-530; Fitzgerald v. Shelton, 95-519; Stanton v. Hughes, 97-321; Price v. Eccles, 73-162. Replication necessary when seeking to avoid the plea of the statute of limitations: Stubbs v. Motz, 113-458—but otherwise no reply is necessary when statute of limitations pleaded, Oldham v. Rieger, 145-254.

SETTING UP NEW MATTER IN REPLY. Can be done, so it is not inconsistent with complaint: Lindsay v. Mitchell, 174-458; Boyett v. Vaughan, 85-363; also see same case in 79-528. A counterclaim cannot be pleaded to a counterclaim unless in such a way as to be treated as part of complaint: Boyett v. Vaughan, 85-363; Scott v. Bryan, 96-289. Equitable matter may be set up against equitable defense in answer, when: Houston v. Sledge, 101-640; Hardin v. Ray, 94-456; Bean v. R. R., 107-731.

526. Demurrer to reply. If a reply of the plaintiff to a defense set up by the answer of the defendant is insufficient, the defendant may demur thereto, and must state the grounds thereof.

Rev., s. 486; Code, s. 250; C. C. P., s. 107.

See Walker v. Scott, 106-61; Houston v. Sledge, 98-414; Culver v. Eggers, 63-631.

ART. 17. PLEADINGS, GENERAL PROVISIONS

527. Forms of pleading. The forms of pleading in civil actions in courts of record, and the rules by which the sufficiency of the pleadings is to be determined, are those prescribed by this chapter.

Rev., s. 487; Code, s. 231; C. C. P., s. 91.

All forms of action previous to the adoption of the C. C. P. are abolished and now we have only one form, and the pleadings and the rules by which their sufficiency is to be determined as prescribed in this chapter: Jones v. Mial, 82-257; Turner v. McKee, 137-259; Sneeden v. Harris, 109-349; also see section 399.

528. Subscription and verification of pleading. Every pleading in a court of record must be subscribed by the party or his attorney, and when any pleading is verified, every subsequent pleading, except a demurrer, must be verified also.

Rev., s. 488; Code, s. 257; C. C. P., s. 116.

That a pleading is not signed is an irregularity and not a fatal defect: Harris v. Bennett, 160-339.

The verification must be to a complaint, and not a statement of account; it must be in proper form; and the rule applies only to a court of record: Building Co. v. Hardware Co., 173-55. The object in verifying pleadings: Miller v. Curl, 162-1; Griffin v. Light Co., 111-434. Where pleading is verified every subsequent pleading, except a demurrer, must be verified: Alford v. McCormac, 90-151; Lindsay v. Beaman, 128-191. The effect of filing complaint unverified is to dispense with the necessity of subsequent pleadings being verified: Reynolds v. Smathers, 87-24. When pleading amended after verification it stands as unverified, and no subsequent pleading need be verified: Rankin v. Allison, 64-673.

When verified complaint filed and no answer is filed plaintiff is entitled to judgment: Kruger v. Bank, 123-16; Curran v. Kerchner, 117-264; Griffin v. Light Co., 111-434—also entitled when answer not verified is filed, Alford v. McCormac, 90-151; Alspaugh v. Winstead, 79-526—but where a properly verified complaint would entitle a plaintiff to final judgment for want of answer, if complaint is not properly verified, judgment should be by default and inquiry, Cole v. Boyd, 125-496. Effect of landlord verifying pleading in action of ejectment and tenant failing to verify: Harkey v. Houston, 65-137.

529. Form of verification. The verification must be in substance that the same is true to the knowledge of the person making it, except as to those matters stated on information and belief, and as to those matters he believes it to be true; and must be by affidavit of the party, or if there are several parties united in interest and pleading together, by one at least of such parties acquainted with the facts, if the party is in the county where the attorney resides and is capable of making the affidavit.

Rev., s. 489; Code, s. 258; C. C. P., s. 117; 1868-9, c. 159, s. 7.

For special form of verification in action for divorce, see section 1661. The verification is sufficient if taken before an officer authorized to administer oaths, and it need not be subscribed: Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209; Alford v. McCormac, 90-151. A verified complaint, amended by unverified amendment, renders amended complaint unverified: Brown v. Rhinehart, 112-772. Court may grant amendment to verification: Cantwell v. Herring, 127-81; Best v. Dunn, 126-560; Payne v. Boyd, 125-499.

SUFFICIENT VERIFICATIONS. "The facts set forth in the foregoing complaint of his own knowledge are true, except as to those matters stated upon information and belief, and as to those matters, he believes it to be true": Alspaugh v. Winstead, 79-526; but see Phifer v. Ins. Co., 123-414. "Foregoing answer of defendant is true of his own knowledge, except those matters stated on information and belief, and he believes those to be true": McLamb v. McPhail, 126-218.

INSUFFICIENT VERIFICATIONS. "The facts herein stated are true to the best of his knowledge, information and belief": Cowles v. Hardin, 79-577; Benedict v. Hall, 76-114. "The facts stated in this complaint of his own knowledge are true, and those stated on information and belief he believes to be true": Miller v. Curl, 162-1; Carroll v. McMillan, 133-140; Phifer v. Ins. Co., 123-410; Payne v. Boyd, 125-499; Cole v. Boyd, 125-496. "Sworn and subscribed to": Martin v. Martin, 130-28.

530. Verification by agent or attorney. The affidavit may also be made by the agent or attorney, if the action or defense is founded upon a written instrument for the payment of money only and the instrument is in the possession of the agent or attorney, or if all the material allegations of the pleadings are within the personal knowledge of the agent or attorney. When the pleading is verified by any other person than the party, he shall set forth in the affidavit his knowledge or the grounds of his belief on the subject, and the reasons why it is not made by the party.

Rev., s. 490; Code, s. 258; C. C. P., s. 117; 1868-9, c. 159, s. 7.

Verification by agent: Griffin v. Light Co., 111-434; Hammerslaugh v. Farrior, 95-135; Johnson v. Maxwell, 87-18. Should state his knowledge, grounds for belief, and reason for making it: Miller v. Curl, 162-1; Griffin v. Light Co., 111-434; Hammerslaugh v. Farrior, 95-135; Banks v. Mfg. Co., 108-282.

531. Verification by corporation or the state. When a corporation is a party the verification may be made by any officer, or managing or local agent thereof upon whom summons might be served; and when the state or any officer thereof in its behalf is a party, the verification may be made by any person acquainted with the facts.

Rev., s. 491; Code, s. 258; 1901, c. 610; C. C. P., s. 117; 1868-9, c. 159, s. 7.

The verification by an officer is the verification of the corporation: Bank v. Hutchinson, 87-22. The officer of corporation need not state the ground of his knowledge, etc.: Ibid. Since the amendment of 1901, c. 610, decisions holding that agents cannot verify are of no effect; a managing or local agent can now verify: Godwin v. Tel. Co., 136-258—also a managing director, Best v. Mortgage Co., 131-71.

532. Verification before what officer. Any officer competent to take the acknowledgment of deeds, and any judge or clerk of the superior court, notary public, in or out of the state, or justice of the peace, is competent to take affidavits for the verification of pleadings, in any court or county in the state, and for general purposes.

Rev., s. 492; Code, s. 258; 1891, c. 140; C. C. P., s. 117; 1868-9, c. 159, s. 7.

May be made before clerk of court of record in another state: Hinton v. Ins. Co., 116-22; Barcello v. Hapgood, 118-712. Courts take judicial notice of the seals of courts of another state to determine validity of verification: Hinton v. Ins. Co., 116-22. Notary not affixing seal, verification invalid: Tucker v. Life Assn., 112-796.

533. When verification omitted; use in criminal prosecutions. The verification may be omitted when an admission of the truth of the allegation might subject the party to prosecution for felony. No pleading can be used in a criminal prosecution against the party as proof of a fact admitted or alleged in it.

Rev., s. 493; Code, s. 258; C. C. P., s. 117; 1868-9, c. 159, s. 7.

Section referred to in State v. Smith, 164-475.

534. Items of account; bill of particulars. It is not necessary for a party to set forth in a pleading the items of an account alleged in it; but he must deliver to the adverse party, within ten days after a demand therefor in writing, a copy of the account, which, if the pleading is verified, must be verified by his own oath, or that of his agent or attorney if within the personal knowledge of the agent or attorney, to the effect that he believes it to be true, or be precluded from giving evidence thereof. The court or judge may order a further account when the one delivered is defective, and may, in all cases, order a bill of particulars of the claim of either party to be furnished.

Rev., s. 494; Code, s. 259; C. C. P., s. 118.

It is not requisite that the items should be set out in the pleadings; a bill of particulars can be ordered by the court if demanded: McPhail v. Johnson, 115-302.

BILLS OF PARTICULARS. When court will order: Lumber Co. v. R. R., 141-179; Turner v. McKee, 137-254; Allen v. Rwy., 120-548; Lucas v. R. R., 121-509; State v. Pickett, 118-1231; Townsend v. Williams, 117-330; State v. Shade, 115-757; State v. Dunn, 109-839; State v. Gates, 107-835; State v. Bryant, 111-693; Bryan v. Spivey, 106-95; Conley v. R. R., 109-692; Bristol v. R. R., 175-509. Purpose and effect of bill: Cropsey v. Markham, 171-43; Wiggins v. Guthrie, 101-661. Where solicitor files a bill, state is confined in its proof to items set out: State v. Van Pelt, 136-633. Person insisting upon rejecting testimony, because bill of particulars not furnished, must have question settled before trial: State v. Brady, 107-822; Wiggins v. Guthrie, 101-661. Bills of particulars in contested election cases: Boyer v. Teague, 106-576. A bill does not supply defects in indictment: State v. Van Pelt, 136-633. For bills of particulars in criminal actions, see section 4613.

535. Pleadings construed liberally. In the construction of a pleading for the purpose of determining its effect its allegations shall be liberally construed with a view to substantial justice between the parties.

Rev., s. 495; Code, s. 260; C. C. P., s. 119.

A pleading is liberally construed, with every reasonable intendment in favor of the pleader, and if it contains facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action or defense it will be sustained: Hartsfield v. Bryan, 177-166; Parker v. Parker, 176-198; Muse v. Motor Co., 175-466; Simmons v. Lumber Co., 174-220; Talley v. Granite Co., 174-445; Renn v. R. R., 170-128; Green v. Biggs, 167-417; Hoke v. Glenn, 167-594; Lyon v. R. R., 165-143; Bank v. Duffy, 156-83; Wyatt v. R. R., 156-307; Brewer v. Wynne, 154-467; Machine Co. v. Feezer, 152-516; Jones v. Henderson, 147-120; White v. Carroll, 146-230; Blackmore v. Winders, 144-214; Turner v. McKee, 137-259; Davis v. R. R., 136-121; R. R. Co. v. Main, 132-452; Adams v. Hayes, 120-388; Stubbs v. Motz, 113-459; Stokes v. Taylor, 104-394; Buie v. Brown, 104-335. While pleadings are to be construed liberally they are to be so construed as to give the defendant an opportunity to know the grounds upon which he is charged with liability: Thomason v. R. R., 142-318; and material allegations must not be omitted: Eddleman v. Lentz, 158-65; Bank v. Duffy, 156-83; Blackmore v. Winders, 144-212. Affidavit for restraining order treated as a complaint: Mason v. Stephens, 168-369.

The common-law rule that every pleading should be construed against the pleader is modified by this section: Wright v. Ins. Co., 138-488; Wood v. Kincaid, 144-393; Brewer v. Wynne, 154-467. See section 399. Cases merely referring to section: Knott v. R. R., 142-241; Oyster v. Mining Co., 140-138; Staton v. Webb, 137-38; Ravenal v. Ingram, 131-551; Watkins v. Mfg. Co., 131-540; Sloan v. R. R., 126-489; Smith v. Building and Loan, 119-254.

536. Time for pleading enlarged. The judge may likewise, in his discretion, and upon such terms as may be just, allow an answer or reply to be made, or other act to be done, after the time limited, or by an order to enlarge the time.

Rev., s. 512; Code, s. 274; C. C. P., s. 133.

As to amendments of pleadings, process, etc., see sections 545-551. Time allowed to plead, upon request, is an appearance: Cook v. Bank, 129-149. The extension of time hereunder cannot be beyond the next term without consent: Sheek v. Sain, 127-271. An agreement between counsel for time to file answer is an acceptance of jurisdiction and a waiver of any right to remove: Garrett v. Bear, 144-23. The trial court may permit an answer to be filed after the supreme court has decided that judgment by default should have been entered for the plaintiff: Cook v. Bank, 131-96, overruling Cook v. Bank, 131-83; see, also, Griffin v. Light Co., 111-434; Bank v. Ireland, 122-576. Extension of time to file pleadings should not be encouraged: Dempsey v. Rhodes, 93-120; Griffin v. Light Co., 111-438. Extensions of time and amendments hereunder entirely within court's discretion and not reviewable: Wilmington v. McDonald, 133-548; White v. Lokey, 131-72; Best v. Mortgage Co., 131-70; Woodecock v. Merrimon, 122-731; Gwinn v. Parker, 119-19; Armour Packing Co. v. Williams, 122-408; Bailey v. Comrs., 120-388; Mallard v. Patterson, 108-255; McMillan v. Baxley, 112-578; Gore v. Davis, 124-234; Kruger v. Bank, 123-17; Gilchrist v. Kitchin, 86-20; Reese v. Jones, 84-597; Austin v. Clarke, 70-458. Dismissing action for failure to file complaint in time not reviewable: Armour Packing Co. v. Williams, 122-408. Order at request of one party allowing to both parties time to file pleadings, with no exception by adverse party, is binding on both: Meeke v. Mineral Co., 122-790. As to extension of time to file answer: Morgan v. Harris, 141-360; Wilmington v. McDonald, 133-548; Mauney v. Hamilton, 132-295; White v. Lokey, 131-72; Cook v. Bank, 131-96; Gore v. Davis, 124-234; Bailey v. Comrs., 120-388; Woodecock v. Merrimon, 122-731; Gwinn v. Parker, 119-19; Mallard v. Patterson, 108-255; Reese v. Jones, 84-597; Best v. Mortgage Co., 131-70; Griffin v. Light Co., 111-434; Banks v. Mfg. Co., 108-282—reply, Strause v. Ins. Co., 128-64; McMillan v. Baxley, 112-578; Bank v. Ireland, 122-576—defense bond, Dunn v. Marks, 141-232; Beeton v. Dunn, 137-563; Timber Co. v. Butler, 130-50. Upon failing to file answer within the extended time, the court may still allow filing: Church v. Church, 158-564. Section applies to proceedings under the Torrens Act: Mfg. Co. v. Spruill, 169-618. Filing of answer after supreme court reverses ruling of lower court in sustaining demurrer and dismissing action: Sloan v. R. R., 126-487. Cases merely referring to section: Stockton v. Mining Co., 144-599; Laney v. Mackey, 144-632.

537. Irrelevant, redundant, indefinite pleadings. If irrelevant or redundant matter is inserted in a pleading, it may be stricken out on motion of any person aggrieved thereby, but this motion must be made before answer or demurrer, or before an extension of time to plead is granted. When the allegations of a pleading are so indefinite or uncertain that the precise nature of the charge or defense is not apparent, the court may require the pleading to be made definite and certain by amendment.

Rev., s. 496; Code, s. 261; C. C. P., s. 120.

For sham and irrelevant defenses, see this chapter, s. 510.

If a pleading is too indefinite or uncertain, it should be corrected on motion: Bank v. Duffy, 156-83; and not by demurrer: Womack v. Carter, 160-286; Jones v. Henderson, 147-120. Judge acts upon motion: Blackmore v. Winders, 144-216; Wood v. Kincaid, 144-396; Oyster v. Mining Co., 140-138; Wright v. Ins. Co., 138-493; Rwy. Co. v. Main, 132-445; Skittleharpe v. Skittleharpe, 130-75; Allen v. R. R., 120-548; Buie v. Brown, 104-335; Fulps v. Mock, 108-605; Smith v. Summerfield, 108-284; Stokes v. Taylor, 104-394; Speight v. Jones, 99-145; Johnston v. Pate, 83-110—or ex mero motu: Allen v. R. R., 120-548; Buie v. Brown, 104-335; McKinnon v. McIntosh, 98-89; Turner v. Cuthrell, 94-239. Motion must be made before answer or demurrer: Lee v. Thornton, 171-209; Pender v. Mallett, 123-57; Lucas v. R. R., 121-506; Daniels v. Fowler, 120-14; Fulps v. Mock, 108-605; Smith v. Summerfield, 108-284; Stokes v. Taylor, 104-394; Irvin v. Clark, 98-437; Morgan v. Bank, 93-352; Best v. Clyde, 86-4; but see as to appeals from justice's court, Smith v. Newberry, 140-387. Motion addressed entirely to discretion of trial judge: Allen v. R. R., 120-550; Conley v. R. R., 109-692; and the party should make reasonable attempt to comply: Bristol v. R. R., 175-509; but the court cannot direct the party to accept and plead a particular fact: Hensley v. Furniture Co., 164-148. Pleadings containing offensive matter should be removed from the files: Mitchell v. Brown, 88-156. If there is any formal defect which renders the pleading unintelligible, or the precise nature of the charge or defense be not apparent by reason thereof, it can be corrected on motion: Blackmore v. Winders, 144-216.

538. Pleading judgments. In pleading a judgment or other determination of a court or of an officer of special jurisdiction, it is not necessary to state the facts conferring jurisdiction, but the judgment or determination may be stated to have been duly given or made. If this allegation is controverted, the party pleading must establish, on the trial, the facts conferring jurisdiction.

The defense of a former judgment must be pleaded, even if judgment was rendered by the same court: Smith v. Lumber Co., 140-375; Blackwell v. Dibbrell, 103-270; Daniel v. Bellamy, 91-78.

539. How conditions precedent pleaded. In pleading the performance of conditions precedent in a contract, it is not necessary to state the facts showing performance, but it may be stated generally that the party duly performed all the conditions on his part. If this allegation is controverted, the party pleading must establish, on the trial, the facts showing performance.

Rev., s. 498; Code, s. 263; C. C. P., s. 122.

Allegation that plaintiff "duly performed" sufficient: Britt v. Ins. Co., 105-175.

540. How instrument for payment of money pleaded. In an action or defense founded upon an instrument for the payment of money only, it is sufficient for the party pleading to give a copy of the instrument, and to state that there is due to him thereon, from the adverse party, a specified sum which he claims.

Rev., s. 499; Code, s. 263; C. C. P., s. 122.

541. How private statutes pleaded. In pleading a private statute or right derived therefrom it is sufficient to refer to the statute by its title or the day of its ratification, and the court shall thereupon take judicial notice of it.

Rev., s. 500; Code, s. 264; C. C. P., s. 123.

This is a rule of pleading to prevent the litigant from being taken by surprise: Reid v. R. R., 162-355. Necessity of pleading the statute: Corporation Com. v. R. R., 127-283; Durham v. R. R., 108-399; Hughes v. Comrs., 107-598. How to plead it: Trustee v. Satchwell, 77-111. That a private statute is published in the public statutes or a public statute in the private statutes does not change its nature: Durham v. R. R., 108-399; Hancock v. R. R., 124-222.

542. Pleadings in libel and slander. In an action for libel or slander it is not necessary to state in the complaint any extrinsic facts for the purpose of showing the application to the plaintiff of the defamatory matter out of which the cause of action arose, but it is sufficient to state generally that the same was published or spoken concerning the plaintiff; and if such allegation is controverted, the plaintiff is bound to establish on trial that it was so published or spoken.

The defendant may in his answer allege both the truth of the matter charged as defamatory, and any mitigating circumstances to reduce the amount of damages; and whether he prove the justification or not, he may give in evidence the mitigating circumstances.

COMPLAINT. See section 2429 et seq. Refined and subtle distinctions of the common-law pleading done away with: Carson v. Mills, 69-124. Only necessary now to state that the words were published or spoken concerning the plaintiff: Ibid.; also Wozelka v. Hettrick, 93-10; Burns v. Williams, 88-159. Complaint need not negative the idea that the words were privileged: Gudger v. Penland, 108-593. Action for slander or libel where the words were spoken of a class, as a jury: Carter v. King, 174-549. Upon a demurrer sustained to a complaint against two defendants for uttering different slanderous words, plaintiff amended alleging conspiracy: Rice v. McAdams, 149-29.

ANSWER. See section 2429 et seq. Plea of justification: Logan v. Hodges, 146-38; Moore v. Edmiston, 70-510. Mitigating circumstances pleaded and given in evidence: Logan v. Hodges, 146-38; Ivie v. King, 167-174; Upchurch v. Robertson, 127-128; Gudger v. Penland, 108-593; State v. Hinson, 103-375; Knott v. Burwell, 96-272; McDougald v. Coward, 95-368; Sowers v. Sowers, 87-303; McCurry v. McCurry, 82-296. When defendant pleads the general issue in a suit for slander, evidence in justification or mitigation is incompetent: Upchurch v. Robertson, 127-127; Burris v. Bush, 170-394. A plea of justification not supported by evidence may be considered in aggravation of damages: Ivie v. King, 167-174; s. e., 169-261. Self-defense in libel applies only to a denial or explanation: Ivie v. King, 167-174.

543. Allegations not denied, deemed true. Every material allegation of the complaint not controverted by the answer, and every material allegation of new matter in the answer, constituting a counterclaim, not controverted by the reply is, for the purposes of the action, taken as true. But the allegation of new matter in the answer, not relating to a counterclaim, or of new matter in reply, is to be deemed controverted by the adverse party as upon a direct denial or avoidance, as the case requires.

Not necessary to put pleadings in evidence to show that allegations not denied: West v. Grocery Co., 138-168. Allegations in complaint, not denied, deemed true: Fleming v. R. R., 160-197; Hauser v. Harding, 126-295; Cook v. Guirkin, 119-13; McMillan v. Gambill, 115-352; Stephenson v. Felton, 106-114; Grant v. Gooch, 105-281; Tucker v. Wilkins, 105-272; Harris v. Sneed, 104-369; Bonham v. Craig, 80-224; Oates v. Gray, 66-442; Jenkins v. Ore Co., 65-563—except in divorce, when failure to deny has no effect, Toole v. Toole, 112-152; Steel v. Steel, 104-631—and except when legal proposition stated in complaint, Tiddy v. Graves, 126-624; Gatlin v. Tarboro, 78-119; Kelly v. McCallum, 83-563.

Allegations in answer constituting counterclaim, not denied, deemed true: Rountree v. Britt, 94-104; Green v. R. R., 77-95; McKesson v. Mendenhall, 64-287—but new matter in answer not constituting a counterclaim is deemed denied: White v. Carroll, 146-230; Fishplate v. Fidelity Co., 140-594; Smith v. Bruton, 137-79; Jeffreys v. R. R., 127-381; McLamb v. McPhail, 126-221; Bank v. Loughran, 122-674; James v. R. R., 121-530; Wagon Co. v. Byrd, 119-461; Morgan v. Roper, 119-368; Askew v. Koonce, 118-526; Vance v. Vance, 118-864; McQueen v. Bank, 111-515; Buffkins v. Eason, 110-264; Grant v. Gooch, 105-278; Stanton v. Hughes, 97-318; Fitzgerald v. Shelton, 95-519; Dempsey v. Rhodes, 93-120; Skinner v. Wood, 76-110; Price v. Eccles, 73-162. Admission by failure to deny is as available as if found by a jury: Grant v. Gooch, 105-281; Kelly v. McCallum, 83-563; Bonham v. Craig, 80-224; Jenkins v. Ore Co., 65-563. When allegations of complaint are admitted by answer and counterclaim partly admitted and partly denied, and no evidence introduced, judgment will be rendered according to admissions: Adams v. Beasley, 174-118. How pleadings may be used in evidence: Jones v. R. R., 176-260; Wade v. Contracting Co., 149-177. Section merely referred to in Junge v. MacKnight, 135-110; Page v. Ins. Co., 131-116; Gattis v. Kilgo, 128-423; Gregg v. Mallett, 111-78.

544. Pleading lost, copy used. If an original pleading or paper is lost or withheld by any person, the court may authorize a copy to be filed and used instead of the original.

Rev., s. 504; Code, s. 600; C. C. P., s. 357.

Copy should always be supplied before case argued before supreme court: Blackmore v. Winders, 144-219. An order permitting pleadings to be substituted for those lost is not reviewable: Bray v. Creekmore, 109-49.

ART. 18. AMENDMENTS

545. Amendment as of course. Any pleading may be once amended of course, without costs, and without prejudice to the proceedings already had, at any time before the period for answering it expires; or it can be so amended at any time, unless it is made to appear to the court that it was done for the purpose of delay, and the plaintiff or defendant will thereby lose the benefit of a term for which the cause is, or may be, docketed for trial; and if it appears to the court or judge that the amendment was made for that purpose, it may be stricken out, and such terms imposed as seem just to the court or judge.

Rev., s. 505; Code, s. 272; C. C. P., s. 131.

Any pleading may be once amended as of course without cost: Barnes v. Crawford, 115-80. As to amendments to pleadings, process and other proceedings, see section 547.

546. Pleading over after demurrer. After the decision on a demurrer, the judge shall, if it appear that the demurrer was interposed in good faith, allow the party to plead over upon such terms as may be just.

Rev., s. 506; Code, s. 272; C. C. P., s. 131; 1871-2, c. 173.

See sections 510, 513, 514, 515, 599. This section gives a right to answer over at the same term of court, if demurrer interposed in good faith: Kearnes v. Gray, 173-555; Ayers v. Bailey, 162-209; Olive v. R. R., 152-279; Wilcox v. R. R., 152-316; Morgan v. Harris, 141-358; Perry v. Comrs., 130-558; Sloan v. R. R., 126-487; Turner v. McKee, 137-255; Gore v. Davis, 124-234; Gorrell v. Water Supply Co., 124-337; Barnes v. Crawford, 115-76; Hornthal v. Burwell, 109-18; Bronson v. Ins. Co., 85-415; Moore v. Hobbs, 77-66—but if demurrer is frivolous, defendant may answer over only in the discretion of the court: Parker v. R. R., 150-433; Morgan v. Harris, 141-358; Cowan v. Baird, 77-201—and refusal to hold demurrer frivolous is not appealable, Morgan v. Harris, 141-358; Abbott v. Hancock, 123-89; Walters v. Starnes, 118-842. Where demurrer sustained, plaintiff allowed to amend in discretion of court only: Fidelity Co. v. Jordan, 134-236; Woodcock v. Bostic, 128-243; Barnes v. Crawford, 115-76; Netherton v. Candler, 78-88; but see Williams v. Smith, 134-249.

547. Amendments in discretion of court. The judge or court may, before and after judgment, in furtherance of justice, and on such terms as may be proper, amend any pleading, process or proceeding, by adding or striking out the name of any party; by correcting a mistake in the name of a party, or a mistake in any other respect; by inserting other allegations material to the case; or when the amendment does not change substantially the claim or defense, by conforming the pleading or proceeding to the fact proved. When a proceeding taken by a party fails to conform to law in any respect, the trial judge may permit an amendment of the proceeding so as to make it conformable thereto.

See sections 545, 546, 548-553.

GENERAL POWER OF AMENDMENT. The courts pursue a liberal policy in amendments in order to have a trial upon the merits and to prevent injustice: Brewer v. Ring and Valk, 177-476; Deligny v. Furniture Co., 170-189; Blalock v. Clark, 133-309; Simpson v. Lumber Co., 133-99; Railway Co. v. King, 125-455; North v. Dunn, 122-766; Bank v. Cotton Mills, 115-524; Cox v. Grisham, 113-279; Kron v. Smith, 96-389; Halstead v. Mullen, 93-252; Comrs. v. Blair, 76-136; Wilson v. Moore, 72-558; Garrett v. Trotter, 65-430—and such amendments may be made ex mero motu, Allen v. R. R., 120-548.

Amendment is discretionary and not reviewable: Brewer v. Ring and Valk, 177-476; Cauley v. Dunn, 167-32; Adickes v. Chatham, 167-681; Hardin v. Greene, 164-99; Hockfield v. R. R., 150-419; Coleman v. Coleman, 148-299; Streator v. Streator, 145-337; Aiken v. Mfg. Co., 141-339; Balk v. Harris, 130-383; Goodwin v. Fertilizer Co., 121-91; Brendle v. Reese, 115-552; Donnelly v. Wilcox, 113-410; Maxwell v. McIver, 113-288; Allen v. McLendon, 113-321; Sinclair v. R. R., 111-507; Moore v. Garner, 109-157; Bray v. Creedmore, 109-49; Jarrett v. Gibbs, 107-303; Bank v. McElwee, 104-305; Blackwell v. Dibble, 103-270; Warden v. McKinnon, 99-251; Knott v. Taylor, 96-553; Brooks v. Brooks, 90-142; Grant v. Burgwyn, 88-95; Wiggins v. McCoy, 87-499; Carpenter v. Huffsteller, 87-273; Reynolds v. Smathers, 87-24; Poston v. Rose, 87-279; Henry v. Cannon, 86-24; Gill v. Young, 88-61; Gilechrist v. Kitchen, 86-20; Boddie v. Woodard, 83-2; Reese v. Jones, 84-597; Dobson v. Chambers, 78-334; Hinton v. Deans, 75-18. The discretion of the court is inherent as well as statutory: Gilechrist v. Kitchen, 86-20; Knott v. Taylor, 96-553.

But where court refuses amendment for want of power, it is reviewable: Balk v. Harris, 130-381; Martin v. Bank, 131-123; State v. Fuller, 114-885. An appeal from an order refusing amendment to pleadings is premature: Streator v. Streator, 145-337; Ayers v. Makely, 131-60—as is also appeal from order making an additional party, Bennett v. Shelton, 117-103. Where amendment not allowed it will be presumed that it was within the exercise of the court's discretion: Balk v. Harris, 130-381—but may be rebutted by statement of the trial judge to the contrary, Ayers v. Makely, 131-60. Too late to object after amendment made: Wilson v. Pearson, 102-290.

IN WHAT COURT. Supreme court, see section 1414. In superior court, see cases supra. Before the clerk: Simmons v. Jones, 118-472; Cushing v. Styron, 104-338; Maxwell v. Blair, 95-317. In justice's court: McPhail v. Johnson, 115-298; Cox v. Grisham, 113-279. On appeal from justice: Hosiery Mills v. R. R., 174-449; R. R. v. Dill, 171-176; Laney v. Mackey, 144-630; McBride v. Welborn, 119-508; Starke v. Cotten, 115-81; McPhail v. Johnson, 115-298; Sheldon v. Kivett, 110-408; Moore v. Garner, 109-157; Leathers v. Morris, 101-184; Allen v. Jackson, 86-321; Bank v. McArthur, 82-107; Beville v. Cox, 109-265; Thomas v. Simpson, 80-4; Johnson v. Rowland, 80-1; Lane v. Morton, 78-7; Hinton v. Deans, 75-18; State v. Cauble, 70-62; Bullard v. Johnson, 65-436—and in cases appealed from clerk, Faison v. Williams, 121-152; Elliott v. Tyson, 117-114; McLean v. Breece, 113-390; Lietie v. Chappell, 111-347; Robeson v. Hodges, 105-49; Finch v. Baskerville, 85-205; Capps v. Capps, 85-408; Sudderth v.

McCombs, 67-353. See section 637. After new trial granted in supreme court, court below may allow amendment: Lefler v. Lane, 170-181; Martin v. Martin, 130-27; Comrs. v. Kenan, 127-181; but see Cook v. Bank, 130-183.

TERMS OF AMENDMENT. Are entirely in court's discretion: Robinson v. Willoughby, 67-84—and must be strictly complied with, Hinton v. Ins. Co., 116-25; Crump v. Thomas, 89-241. May refuse to allow an amendment to plead statute of limitations: R. R. v. Dill, 171-176; but general leave to amend allows such plea: Hardin v. Greene, 164-99. Where the amendment does not comply with the order another judge may strike it out, but not because the former judge had no power to make the order: Dockery v. Fairbanks, 172-529.

LIMITATION OF POWER. An amendment cannot change the nature of the action or defense without consent: King v. R. R., 176-301; Patterson v. Lumber Co., 175-90; Hardware Co. v. Banking Co., 169-744; Cooper v. R. R., 165-578; s. c., 170-490; Bennett v. R. R., 159-345; Bonner v. Stotesbury, 139-3; Finch v. Strickland, 132-103; Simpson v. Lumber Co., 133-99; Shell v. West, 130-171; Smith v. Smith, 123-229; Goodwin v. Fertilizer Works, 123-162; Gillam v. Life Ins. Co., 121-369; Craven v. Russell, 118-564; Martin v. Bank, 131-121; Mizzell v. Ruffin, 118-69; Friedenwald Co. v. Tobacco Works, 117-544; Hester v. Mullen, 107-724; Richards v. Smith, 98-509; Knott v. Taylor, 96-553; Kron v. Smith, 96-389; Clendenin v. Turner, 96-416; Robbins v. Harris, 96-557; Ely v. Early, 94-1; McNair v. Comrs., 93-364; Grant v. Burgwyn, 88-95; Carpenter v. Huffsteller, 87-273; Gilchrist v. Kitchen, 86-20; March v. Verble, 79-19; but see Reynolds v. R. R. Co., 136-348; Simpson v. Lumber Co., 133-95; Pender v. Mallett, 123-61; King v. Dudley, 113-167—or where defendant not allowed also to amend to meet added allegations of complaint, Dobson v. R. R., 129-289; Brooks v. Brooks, 90-142—or where defendant is deprived of a defense, Gillam v. Ins. Co., 121-369; Goodwin v. Fertilizer Works, 123-162; Parker v. Harden, 122-111; Pender v. Mallett, 123-57; Gill v. Young, 88-58; Henderson v. Graham, 84-496; Cogdell v. Exum, 69-464; Christmas v. Mitchell, 38-535—or where it will defeat a statutory provision, Patterson v. Wadsworth, 94-538; Cogdell v. Exum, 69-464—or to confer jurisdiction, Gillam v. Ins. Co., 121-369—or to set up cause of action accruing subsequently, Powell v. Allen, 103-46; Jackson v. McLean, 96-474; Clendenin v. Turner, 96-416—or to disturb a vested right, Brown v. Mitchell, 102-374—or to add a party that necessarily changes the cause of action, Shell v. West, 130-171. If amendment changing the nature of the action is allowed, the statute of limitations runs up to the time of the amendment: Ely v. Early, 94-1; Sams v. Price, 121-392; but increasing the amount of damage does not change the cause of action and relates back to commencement of action: McLaughlin v. R. R., 174-182; Pickett v. R. R., 153-149. Amending a defective statement of a cause of action does not change the cause: Renn v. R. R., 170-128; Lefler v. Lane, 170-181; Deligny v. Furniture Co., 170-189; Steeley v. Lumber Co., 165-27. Supreme court will not allow an amendment to destroy an exception duly taken: West v. R. R., 140-620.

AMENDMENT OF PLEADINGS. To make necessary parties: Belding v. Archer, 131-287; Proctor v. Ins. Co., 124-265; Walker v. Miller, 139-448; Comrs. v. Candler, 123-682; Reynolds v. Smathers, 87-24—to make additional parties: Kerr v. Hicks, 154-265; Hosiery Mills v. R. R., 174-449; Aiken v. Mfg. Co., 141-339; Bernard v. Shemwell, 139-447; Mills v. Callahan, 126-756; Tillery v. Candler, 118-888; Bullard v. Johnson, 65-436; Bruce v. Nicholson, 109-202; Plemmons v. Imp. Co., 108-614; Tucker v. Markland, 101-422; Clendenin v. Turner, 96-416; Merrill v. Merrill, 92-657; Isler v. Koonce, 83-55; Glenn v. Bank, 80-97; Bank v. Creditors, 80-9—to strike out name of party, Campbell v. Power Co., 166-488; McLaughlin v. R. R., 174-182; Bullard v. Johnson, 65-436; Forte v. Boone, 114-176; Maggett v. Roberts, 108-174; Brown v. Mitchell, 102-347; Gatewood v. Leake, 99-363; Jarrett v. Gibbs, 107-303—to show jurisdiction: Elliott v. Tyson, 117-114; Planing Mills v. McNinch, 99-517; Singer Mfg. Co. v. Barrett, 95-36; but see Gillam v. Life Ins. Co., 121-369; Boyd v. R. R., 132-184—to make proper relator, Comrs. v. Candler, 123-682; Forte v. Boone, 114-176—to substitute parties, R. R. v. Tel. Co., 113-220; Hodge v. R. R., 108-24; Wilson v. Pearson, 102-290; Bray v. Creekmore, 109-49—to make the action against county instead of county commissioners, Fountain v. Pitt, 171-113—to use names of individual plaintiffs instead of firm name, Rosenbacher v. Martin, 170-236—to make wife party with husband, Hooker v. R. R., 156-155.

To perfect complaint that does not wholly state a cause of action: Stone v. R. R., 144-220; Williams v. Smith, 134-252; Blalock v. Clark, 133-306; Lassiter v. R. R., 136-92; Parker v. Harden, 122-111; Woodbury v. Evans, 122-179; Simpson v. Lumber Co., 133-95; Mizzell v.

Ruffin, 118-69; Jackson v. Jackson, 105-433; Moore v. Nowell, 94-265; Halstead v. Mullen, 93-255; Pearce v. Mason, 78-37; Garrett v. Trotter, 65-435; Johnson v. Finch, 93-205; Renn v. R. R., 170-128—to make pleading plain, definite and certain, McKinnon v. McIntosh, 98-89—to add to defense in action of ejectment, Taylor v. Gooch, 110-387—to set up mistake in a deed in action concerning land, Ely v. Early, 94-1—to make answer responsive to amended complaint, Sams v. Price, 121-392; Brooks v. Brooks, 90-142; Gill v. Young, 88-58—to enable plaintiff to recover for tort instead of on contract by changing mode of stating same facts, Reynolds v. R. R., 136-345—to conform pleading to proof, when does not change cause of action, King v. R. R., 176-301; Woodbury v. Evans, 122-780; Bedsole v. R. R., 151-152; Andrews v. Grimes, 148-437; Dickens v. Perkins, 134-223; Nims Mfg. Co. v. Blythe, 127-325; Hendon v. R. R., 127-114; Abernathy v. Seagle, 98-553; Kiger v. Harmon, 113-407; Spivey v. Grant, 96-214; Barnes v. Barnes, 104-613; Gibbs v. Fuller, 66-116—to cure affidavit in divorce, Moore v. Moore, 130-333; Holloman v. Holloman, 127-15—to set up statute of limitations, Smith v. Smith, 123-229—to conform to agreed facts, Dalby v. Hancock, 125-327—to include right of attachment as against intervener, Finch v. Gregg, 126-179—to perfect lost pleadings on appeal from justice's court: Faison v. Johnson, 78-78—to allow counterclaim on appeal, not set up before justice: Thomas v. Simpson, 80-4; Johnson v. Rowland, 80-1—to enable recovery of expenses instead of commissions by trustee under deed of trust, Fry v. Graham, 122-773—to conform to decision of supreme court, McCulloch v. R. R., 146-316; Banking Co. v. Morehead, 126-279; Vick v. Vick, 126-127; Faison v. Williams, 121-153; Holley v. Holley, 96-229—to change amount demanded, Boyd v. R. R., 132-184—to correct date of release pleaded, R. R. v. Main, 132-445—to show better profile in action to condemn land, R. R. v. Newton, 133-132—to set up estoppel in proceeding to drain land, Porter v. Armstrong, 134-455—to conform complaint to verdict, Gillis v. Arringdale, 135-295—to permit recovery on quantum meruit, Roberts v. Woodworking Co., 111-432—to permit widow to claim crops on dower land instead of as agent for minor child, King v. Dudley, 113-167—to perfect cause of action for deceit and false warranty, Joyner v. Early, 139-49. Amendment to verification: Cantwell v. Herring, 127-81; Best v. Dunn, 126-560. An amended pleading does not exclude a party from the benefit of allegations in the original pleading: Threadgill v. Comrs., 116-616.

AMENDMENT OF PROCESS. Power of amendment is broad, both by statute and on account of the inherent powers of the court, and is entirely discretionary: Swain v. Burden, 124-16; Jackson v. McLean, 90-64; Henderson v. Graham, 84-496; see section 1500. Amendment of summons: Calmes v. Lambert, 153-248; State v. Wells, 142-590; Ewbank v. Turner, 134-80; Burwell v. Hughes, 116-430; McBride v. Welborn, 119-508; Piercy v. Watson, 118-976; Forte v. Boone, 114-176; McPhail v. Johnson, 115-298; Cox v. Grisham, 113-279; Redmond v. Mullenax, 113-505; Jackson v. McLean, 90-64; Capps v. Capps, 85-408; Henderson v. Graham, 84-496; Chatham v. Crews, 81-343; Thomas v. Womack, 64-657—of return of summons, Grady v. R. R., 116-952; Campbell v. Smith, 115-498; Luttrell v. Martin, 112-593—of affidavit for publication of summons, Mullen v. Canal Co., 112-109—of return of execution, Dysart v. Brandreth, 118-968; Williams v. Weaver, 101-1; Walters v. Moore, 90-41—of warrant issued by justice, State v. Cauble, 70-62; Bullard v. Johnson, 65-436—of pleadings in justice's court, Moore v. Garner, 109-157. Process in attachment: Page v. McDonald, 159-38.

AMENDMENT OF PROCEEDINGS OTHER THAN PLEADINGS AND PROCESS. Of affidavit in attachment: Cook v. Mining Co., 114-617; Sheldon v. Kivett, 110-408; Cushing v. Styron, 104-338; Pope v. Frank, 81-180; Bank v. Blossom, 92-695; Penniman v. Daniel, 93-332; Brown v. Hawkins, 65-645; Clark v. Clark, 64-150—and such affidavit can be amended even though original affidavit totally insufficient, Brown v. Hawkins, 65-645. Of nature of attorney's appearance for client: Suiter v. Brittle, 90-19. Of affidavit in proceedings supplementary to execution: Weiller v. Lawrence, 81-69. Of judgment: Banking Co. v. Duke, 121-110; Rosenthal v. Roberson, 114-594; Beam v. Bridgers, 111-269; Brooks v. Stephens, 100-297; Cook v. Moore, 100-294; Wall v. Covington, 83-144; Farmer v. Willard, 75-401. Amendment of judgment must be made in court that rendered it: Adams v. Reeves, 76-412; Morton v. Rippey, 84-611—but magistrate's judgment docketed in superior court may be amended, when, Patterson v. Walton, 119-500. Of the record: Mann v. Mann, 176-353; Cook v. Telegraph Co., 150-428; Kerr v. Hicks, 131-90; Pipkin v. McArtan, 122-194; State v. Jenkins, 121-637; Woodworking Co. v. Southwick, 119-611; State v. Gillikin, 114-832; State v. Pool, 106-698; Walton v. McKesson, 101-428; Wynne v. Small, 102-132; Brooks v. Stephens, 100-297; State v. Warren, 95-674;

McDowell v. McDowell, 92-227; Walton v. Pearson, 85-34; State v. Swepson, 83-584; Perry v. Adams, 83-266; Bank v. McArthur, 82-107; State v. Davis, 80-384; Murrill v. Humphrey, 76-414; State v. King, 27-203; State v. Roberts, 19-540; State v. Calhoun, 18-374. Of magistrate's record when case appealed to superior court: Bank v. McArthur, 82-107. Courts will not allow amendment of its records, particularly after long lapse of time, without strong and convincing proof: Walton v. McKesson, 101-428. The court cannot amend the filing of a lien to make it comply with the statute: Jefferson v. Bryant, 161-404. Special venire ordered and no writ issued, writ may be issued nunc pro tunc: State v. Lewis, 177-555.

TIME OF AMENDING. Record may be amended at chambers: Falkner v. Hunt, 68-475. Pleadings may be amended during trial, when: Woodbury v. Evans, 122-780; Sams v. Price, 119-574; Craven v. Russell, 118-564; King v. Dudley, 113-167; Allen v. McLendon, 113-322; Lilly v. Baker, 88-151; Garrett v. Trotter, 65-430—after judgment, when, Waters v. Waters, 125-593; Knott v. Taylor, 96-553—after verdict, Boyd v. R. R., 132-184; Blalock v. Clark, 133-308; Roberts v. Woodworking Co., 111-433; Brown v. Mitchell, 102-347; Robeson v. Hodges, 105-49; Morgan v. Smith, 95-396; Pearce v. Mason, 78-37; Dobson v. Chambers, 78-334; Righton v. Pruden, 73-61; Penny v. Smith, 65-35—after referee's report, Mfg. Co. v. Blythe, 127-325. The court may allow amendment at the term or afterward: Mann v. Mann, 176-353. Before or after judgment: Hardware Co. v. Banking Co., 169-744. Presumption that an amendment is regularly made: Monger v. Kelly, 115-294; Patterson v. Wadsworth, 94-538.

548. Amendment changing nature of action or relief; effect. When the complaint is so amended as to change the nature of the action and the character of the relief demanded, the judgment rendered does not operate as an estoppel upon any person acquiring an interest in the property in controversy prior to the allowance of the amendment.

See section 547.

549. Unsubstantial defects disregarded. The court or judge shall, in every stage of the action, disregard any error or defect in the pleadings or proceedings which do not affect the substantial rights of the adverse party; and no judgment may be reversed or affected by reason of such error or defect.

Rev., s. 509; Code, s. 276; R. C., c. 3, ss. 5, 6; C. C. P., s. 135.

As to immaterial variance between pleading and proof, see section 552. Cases directly supporting section: Wright v. Ins. Co., 138-488; Halstead v. Mullen, 93-255. Exceptions to pleadings that are reasonably certain and understood will be disregarded: Moore v. Edmiston, 70-510; Watkins v. Mfg. Co., 131-539; Gorman v. Bellamy, 82-499. Such defects in pleadings as would be remediable by amendment that does not change substantially the claim or defense will not sustain a dismissal of the action: Halstead v. Mullen, 93-255. Certain defects in procedure and process held not material: Barneyeastle v. Walker, 92-198; Wilson v. Moore, 72-558; Best v. Mortgage Co., 128-351; Patterson v. Walton, 119-500; White v. Morris, 107-98; Page v. McDonald, 159-38; Fountain v. Pitt, 171-113.

550. Defendant sued in fictitious name; amendment. When the plaintiff is ignorant of the name of a defendant the latter may be designated in a pleading or proceeding by any name; and when his true name is discovered, the pleading or proceeding may be amended accordingly.

Rev., s. 510; Code, s. 275; C. C. P., s. 134.

A defect in name cured by judgment by default or by appeal by defendant without having moved to dismiss: Clawson v. Wolfe, 77-100; Patterson v. Walton, 119-500; Ryan v. Martin, 91-464. Variation in middle initial of name is immaterial: Evans v. Brendle, 173-149.

551. Supplemental pleadings. The plaintiff or defendant respectively may be allowed on motion to make a supplemental complaint, answer or reply, alleging facts material to the case occurring after, or of which the party was ignorant when his former pleading was filed. Either party may set up by a supplemental pleading, the judgment or decree of any court of competent jurisdiction, rendered since the commencement of an action, determining all or any part of the matter in controversy in said action, and if the judgment is set up by the plaintiff, it shall be without prejudice to any provisional remedy theretofore issued or other proceedings had in the action on his behalf.

Rev., s. 511; Code, s. 277; C. C. P., s. 136.

See for amendment of pleadings, process, etc., sections 545-547, 552, 553. Plea puis darrein continuance is a supplemental pleading: Balk v. Harris, 130-381—and, if a bar to the action, can be allowed in court's discretion; but as to whether it is a bar the court's ruling is reviewable: Ibid.; also Warden v. McKinnon, 99-251. Such a plea does not waive other defenses: Williams v. Hutton, 164-216. Allowed when case comes back from appellate court: Holley v. Holley, 96-229; Faison v. Williams, 121-153; Vick v. Vick, 126-127; Banking Co. v. Morehead, 126-279—when new parties made and their connection with controversy not appearing, Hughes v. Hodges, 94-56; Coggins v. Flythe, 114-277; Moore v. R. R., 74-528; Baggarly v. Calvert, 70-688—when one of two plaintiffs enters a retraxit, Sinclair v. R. R., 111-507—where defects in plaintiff's title or matters validating defendant's title have accrued since action begun, Taylor v. Gooch, 110-387—when defendant has been discharged in bankruptcy, Balk v. Harris, 130-381.

Not allowed when party dies and relationship of new parties to him are ascertained from record: Hughes v. Hodges, 94-56—nor for purpose of injecting cause of action accrued since suit instituted: Metcalfe v. Guthrie, 94-447—nor for purpose of setting up counterclaim after nonsuit has been entered: Well Co. v. Ice Co., 125-80.

552. Variance, material and immaterial. 1. No variance between the allegation in a pleading and the proof shall be deemed material, unless it has actually misled the adverse party to his prejudice in maintaining his action upon the merits. Whenever it is alleged that a party has been so misled, that fact and in what respect he has been misled must be proved to the satisfaction of the court; and thereupon the judge may order the pleading to be amended upon such terms as shall be just.

2. Where the variance is not material as herein provided, the judge may direct the fact to be found according to the evidence, or may order an immediate amendment without costs.

For power of amendment and to make the pleading conform to the proof, see section 547. Proof without allegation is as unavailing as allegation without proof: Sultan v. R. R., 176-136; McCoy v. R. R., 142-383; Smith v. B. and L. Assn., 116-102; Abernathy v. Seagle, 98-553. The court cannot hear proof without allegation: Faulk v. Thornton, 108-314; Greer v. Herren, 99-492; Brittain v. Daniels, 94-781; McLaurin v. Cronly, 90-50. Material and immaterial variance and failure of proof: Deligny v. Furniture Co., 170-189. Variance is immaterial unless the adverse party has been misled: Brown v. Telegraph Co., 169-509; Bank v. Burgwyn, 116-122; Morgan v. Bank, 93-352; Patrick v. R. R., 93-422; Lawrence v. Hester, 93-79; Usry v. Suit, 91-406; Lilly v. Baker, 88-151.

If variance is immaterial, it is disregarded; if material, the adverse party must take advantage of it under this section: Muse v. Motor Co., 175-466; Simmons v. Lumber Co., 174-220; Coore v. R. R., 152-702; Andrews v. Grimes, 148-437; Hendon v. R. R., 127-110. Cases where variance was held immaterial: Edwards v. R. R., 162-278; Dellinger v. Electric R. R., 160-532; Hamilton v. Nance, 159-56; Asbury v. R. R., 125-573; Bank v. Burgwyn, 116-122; Knowles v. R. R., 102-66; Morgan v. Bank, 93-352; Mode v. Penland, 93-292. Where party is misled, amendment allowed: Willis v. Branch, 94-143; Webb v. Taylor, 80-305; Houghton v. Newberry, 69-459; Shelton v. Davis, 59-324; Pegram v. Stoltz, 67-144; and the case may be continued: Martin v. Bank, 131-121. If no particular line of title is alleged, plaintiff may make out title from any source: Stewart v. Stephenson, 172-81; Taylor v. Meadows, 169-124.

553. Total failure of proof. Where the allegation of the cause of action or defense to which the proof is directed is unproved, not in some particular or particulars only, but in its entire scope and meaning, it is not deemed a case of variance, but a failure of proof.

Rev., s. 517; Code, s. 397; C. C. P., s. 223.

See Smith v. Loan Assn., 116-102; Hunt v. Vanderbilt, 115-559; Smith v. McGregor, 96-101; Grant v. Burgwyn, 88-95; Carpenter v. Huffsteller, 87-273; Pendleton v. Dalton, 96-507; Deligny v. Furniture Co., 170-189; Talley v. Granite Quarries Co., 174-445.

SUBCHAPTER VII. TRIAL AND ITS INCIDENTS

ART. 19. TRIAL

554. Defined. A trial is the judicial examination of the issues between the parties, whether they be issues of law or of fact.

Rev., s. 526; Code, s. 397; C. C. P., s. 223.

All the issues that are material must be tried unless waived: Gordon v. Collett, 102-532; Davidson v. Gifford, 100-18; Porter v. R. R., 97-66.

555. Joinder of issue and trial. Pleadings shall be made up and issues joined before the clerk. After pleadings have been so made up and issues joined, the clerk shall forthwith transmit the original papers in the cause to the court at term for trial upon the issues, when the case shall be proceeded with according to the course and practice of the court, and on appeal with the same procedure as is now in force.

556. How issue tried. An issue of law must be tried by the judge or court, unless it is referred. An issue of fact must be tried by a jury, unless a trial by jury is waived or a reference ordered. Every other issue is triable by the court, or judge, who, however, may order the whole issue, or any specific question of fact involved therein, to be tried by a jury, or may refer it.

Rev., s. 527; Code, ss. 398, 399; C. C. P., ss. 224, 225.

For compulsory reference, see section 573. So much of the pleadings ought to be read to the jury as may be necessary to explain and to present the issues: Smith v. Nimocks, 94-243. The consent to waive a jury trial may be made by counsel without special authority: Stevenson v. Felton, 99-58. Where parties agree to a particular mode of trial they are bound by it: Runnion v. Ramsay, 93-410. Error for judge to decide the issues unless both sides consent: Wilson v. Bynum, 92-717.

TRIAL BY JURY. A matter of right, when: Power Co. v. Power Co., 171-248; Driller Co. v. Worth, 117-515; Gwaltney v. Timber Co., 111-547; McQueen v. Bank, 111-509; McCanless v. Flinchum, 98-358; Jones v. Call, 93-170; Yelverton v. Coley, 101-248; Hull v. Carter, 83-249; Womble v. Fraps, 77-198; Lippard v. Roseman, 72-427; Stith v. Lookabill, 71-25; Isler v. Murphy, 71-436; Armfield v. Brown, 70-27; Andrews v. Pritchett, 66-387; Erwin v. Lowery, 64-322—but party can waive it, Armfield v. Brown, 70-27; see, also, State v. Mitchell, 119-786, and cases cited. A reference made by consent waives the right: Battle v. Mayo, 102-413; see, also, section 579. This right to trial of issues of fact by a jury applies to equitable as well as legal actions: Ely v. Early, 94-1; Worthy v. Shields, 90-192. Party not entitled to trial by jury in civil matters except in cases where, under the common law, the demand that the facts should be so found could not be refused: Railroad v. Parker, 105-246; R. R. v. Ely, 101-8; State v. Lyle, 100-497; R. R. v. Davis, 19-451. A person charged with contempt is not entitled: Baker v. Cordon, 86-116; In re Deaton, 105-59; consider Moye v. Cogdell, 66-403. It is error to leave to the jury a material fact upon which there is no evidence: Fortescue v. Makeley, 92-56.

Section casually referred to: Lumber Co. v. Lumber Co., 137-439; Stancill v. Spain, 133-79; Wilson v. Markley, 133-616; Carr v. Askew, 94-212; Young v. Lumber Co., 147-26.

557. Issues of fact. Every issue of fact joined on the pleadings, and inquiry of damages ordered to be tried by a jury, must be tried at the term of the court next ensuing the joinder of issue or order for inquiry, if the issue was joined or order made more than thirty days before such term, but if not, they must be tried at the second term after the joinder or order.

Rev., s. 528; Code, s. 400; C. C. P., s. 226.

See terms of courts in Lee County, chapter Courts, s. 1443.

Where at trial term an amended answer to an amended complaint raises additional issues, defendant entitled to continuance: Dobson v. R. R., 129-289. Section referred to: State v. Spivey, 132-990; State v. Smarr, 121-670; Denmark v. R. R., 107-188.

558. Issues of fact before the clerk. All issues of fact joined before the clerk shall be transferred to the superior court for trial at the next succeeding term, and in case of such transfer neither party is required to give an undertaking for costs.

See section 758. Issues of fact to be transferred for jury trial; issues of law and questions of fact for the court: Mills v. McDaniel, 161-113; R. R. v. Gahogan, 161-190; R. R. v. R. R., 148-59; so in proceeding for divorce and alimony: Crews v. Crews, 175-168.

559. Continuance before term; affidavit. A party to an action may apply to the court in which it is pending, or to the judge thereof, by affidavit, thirty days before the trial term, and after three days notice in writing to the adverse party, to have the trial continued to a term subsequent to that in which it is regularly triable. The court or judge may continue the trial as asked for, on such terms as may be just, if satisfied—

1. That the applicant has used due diligence to have his case ready for trial.

2. That by reason of circumstances beyond his control, which he must set forth, he cannot have a fair trial at the regular trial term. If the application is made by reason of the expected absence of a witness, it must state the name and residence of the witness, the facts expected to be proved by him, the grounds for the expectation of his nonattendance, and that the applicant expects to procure his evidence at or before some named subsequent term. The applicant must in all cases pay the costs of the application.

Continuances are not favored by the law: Wagon Co. v. Bostic, 118-759. Where, pending action for divorce, defendant becomes insane, the cause will be continued as long as there is a hope of the defendant's regaining reason: Stratford v. Stratford, 92-297—but when all hope gone, semble that plaintiff allowed to proceed, Ibid.

Rev., s. 530; Code, s. 401; C. C. P., s. 227.

560. Continuance during term. The judge at any time during the term at which an action is triable may continue the trial on the application of either party, and on such terms as shall be just, if satisfied—

1. That the applicant has used due diligence to be ready for trial.

2. That he cannot have a fair trial at that term, by reason of circumstances stated, and if the ground of application is the nonattendance of a witness, the affidavit must contain the particulars required by subdivision two of the preceding section. Unless the applicant also sets forth in his affidavit that the facts upon which his application is grounded occurred or came to his knowledge too late to allow him to apply as prescribed in the preceding section, and that his application is made as soon as it reasonably could be after the knowledge of those facts, the continuance shall not be granted, except on the payment of the costs in the action for the term.

Rev., s. 531; Code, s. 402; C. C. P., s. 228; R. C., c. 31, s. 57.

CONTINUANCE. A continuance is within the discretion of the judge and is not reviewable unless discretion is abused: Morton v. Water Co., 168-582; Watson v. R. R., 164-176; Cromartie v. R. R., 156-97; State v. Daniels, 164-464; State v. English, 164-497; Lanier v. Ins. Co., 142-14; State v. Sultan, 142-569; State v. Dewey, 139-560; Slingluff v. Hall, 124-397; Wagon Co. v. Bostie, 118-758; Banks v. Mfg. Co., 108-282; Dupree v. Ins. Co., 92-417; McCurry v. McCurry, 82-296; Gay v. Brookshire, 82-411; State v. Vann, 84-722; State v. Scott, 80-365; State v. Lindsey, 78-499; Moore v. Dickson, 74-423; Austin v. Clarke, 70-458; State v. Duncan, 28-98; Armstrong v. Wright, 8-93—or unless it affects a substantial right, Stratford v. Stratford, 92-297—though an appeal is useless, it working a continuance of itself, Jaffray v. Bear, 98-58; Isler v. Dewey, 79-1. If defendant fails to comply with terms upon which a continuance was granted his answer may be stricken out and judgment rendered against him: Lumber Co. v. Cottingham, 173-323.

GROUND OF CONTINUANCE. Insanity of party since action brought: Stratford v. Stratford, 92-297. Amendment of pleadings causing surprise: Martin v. Bank, 131-121. Amendment of pleading producing other issues: Dobson v. R. R., 129-289. New evidence discovered: Herndon v. R. R., 121-498.

NOT GROUND OF CONTINUANCE. The fact that attorney in case is son of trial judge: Allison v. R. R., 129-336. Where witnesses absent, but it appeared that they had not been subpoenaed while party had ample opportunity to subpoena them: McQueen v. Bank, 111-509. Where absent witness would only be competent after verdict in mitigation of sentence: State v. Sheppard, 1-51.

An admission of fact made to prevent a continuance for absence of witness cannot be used in a subsequent trial, the witness being present: Cutler v. Cutler, 130-1. It is error to order defendant's affidavit for continuance in a criminal case read to jury, he objecting: State v. Twiggs, 60-142. Whether an admission that an absent witness would testify as stated is sufficient: State v. Fain, 177-120.

561. Counter affidavits as to continuance. It is competent in all civil cases only for the opposing side to controvert the allegations of fact in applications for continuance, and to offer counter affidavits to that end. The judge shall not allow the continuance unless satisfied, after thorough examination of the evidence aforesaid, that the ends of justice demand it.

Rev., s. 532; 1885, c. 394.

562. Order of business. The criminal calendar must be first disposed of, unless, by consent of counsel, or for reasons satisfactory to the judge, particular criminal actions may be deferred. The issues on the civil calendar must be disposed of in the following order, unless, for the convenience of parties or the dispatch of business, the court otherwise directs:

1. Issues of fact to be tried by a jury.
2. Issues of fact to be tried by the court.
3. Issues of law.

Rev., s. 533; Code, s. 403; C. C. P., s. 229.

563. Separate trials. A separate trial between a plaintiff and any of several defendants may be allowed by the court when, in its opinion, justice will thereby be promoted.

Rev., s. 534; Code, s. 407; C. C. P., s. 230.

Severance is not a matter of right, but is discretionary with judge, and his decision is not reviewable, except when discretion abused; it is like dividing the action into several suits with the usual provisions for costs, etc.: State v. Kirkland, 175-770; State v. Carraway, 142-575; Bryan v. Spivey, 106-95; State v. Moore, 120-570; State v. Finley, 118-1161; State v. Jackson, 112-851; State v. Oxendine, 107-783; State v. Gooch, 94-1006; State v. Smith, 24-402; State v. Dixon, 78-558; State v. Duncan, 28-98; State v. Lindsey, 78-499; State v. Scott, 80-365. Where there is misjoinder of parties the court in its discretion can divide the action: Pretzfelder v. Ins. Co., 116-496; see, also, section 516.

564. Judge to explain law, but give no opinion on facts. No judge, in giving a charge to the petit jury, either in a civil or a criminal action, shall give an opinion whether a fact is fully or sufficiently proven, that being the true office and province of the jury; but he shall state in a plain and correct manner the evidence given in the case and declare and explain the law arising thereon.

Rev., s. 535; Code, s. 413; C. C. P., s. 237; R. C., c. 31, s. 130; 1796, c. 452.

EXPRESSION OF OPINION. Judge must not at any time during trial express an opinion on the weight of the evidence, nor make any remark from which an inference can be drawn as to his opinion of the facts: State v. Horner, 174-788; Swain v. Clemmons, 172-277; State v. Williams, 172-894; State v. Beal, 170-764; Speed v. Perry, 167-122; May v. Mfg. Co., 164-262; State v. R. R., 145-269; Smith v. Moore, 145-570; Universal Metal Co. v. Railroad, 145-293; Withers v. Lane, 144-184; Dobbins v. Dobbins, 141-213; Kearns v. R. R., 139-483; Earnhart v. Clement, 137-95; Harper v. Anderson, 130-358; State v. McDowell, 129-523; Neal v. R. R., 126-653; Davis v. Blevins, 125-433; Bank v. Gilmer, 116-684; Young v. Construction Co., 109-618; Albertson v. Terry, 109-10; State v. Hardee, 83-619; Fickey v. Merrimon, 79-585; March v. Verble, 79-19; State v. Browning, 78-555; State v. Dancy, 78-437; State v. Locke, 77-481; State v. Dixon, 75-275; State v. Dick, 60-440; State v. Allen, 48-257; Nash v. Morton, 48-3; Powell v. R. R., 68-395; State v. Cardwell, 44-245; State v. Presley, 35-494; State v. Angel, 29-27; State v. Johnson, 23-358; Reel v. Reel, 9-63; Orbison v. Morrison, 7-551; Tate v. Greenlee, 7-556. The "facts" referred to are those in dispute: State v. Angel, 29-27; State v. Rogers, 168-112.

The judge may violate the rule as to expressing opinion by his manner and emphasis: Withers v. Lane, 144-184, and cases cited; Reiger v. Davis, 67-185; State v. Dancy, 78-437; State v. Brown, 67-435—but such manner and emphasis must be so set out that the supreme court can judge of it, Davis v. Blevins, 125-433; Reiger v. Davis, 67-185; State v. Jones, 67-285. Remarks by the court of doubtful propriety are not ground of exception where it appears they did no harm to party excepting: State v. Brabham, 108-793; State v. Rowe, 155-436. Remarks by judge before trial: State v. Jacobs, 106-695; State v. Howard, 129-584—by bystander, State v. Jackson, 112-851. It must appear to the supreme court with ordinary certainty that the remarks or actions of the judge were likely to have had an unfair influence or to have conveyed to the jury his opinion on the weight of the testimony: State v. Jones, 67-285; State v. Lipsey, 14-485. It is only when the law gives to testimony an artificial weight that the judge is at liberty to express an opinion as to its weight: Bonner v. Hodges, 111-66.

Instances of expression of opinion, and of conduct likely to influence the jury: State v. Seaboard Air Line, 145-570; Universal Metal Co. v. Railroad, 145-293; Perry v. Perry, 144-328; State v. Simmons, 143-613; State v. Davis, 136-568; Faulkner v. King, 130-494; State v. McDowell, 129-523; Marcom v. Adams, 122-223; Kinney v. R. R., 122-961; Threadgill v. Comrs., 116-616; Sherrill v. Tel. Co., 116-655; Fleming v. R. R., 115-699; Bonner v. Hodges, 111-66; State v. Jenkins, 85-544; State v. Dancy, 78-437; State v. Sykes, 79-618; Powell v. R. R., 68-395; State v. Parker, 66-624; State v. Simmons, 51-21; Melvin v. Easley, 46-386; State v. Thomas, 29-381. For the judge to say that he would not allow a verdict for defendant to stand: Park v. Exum, 156-228. Ordering a witness into custody for perjury during the progress of the trial: State v. Swink, 151-726. To say that one witness corroborates another:

Lassiter v. R. R., 171-283; Swan v. Carawan, 168-472. Giving undue emphasis to the testimony of one witness: Wallace v. R. R., 174-171; Starling v. Cotton Mills, 171-222; State v. Horne, 171-787; Bowman v. Trust Co., 170-301; State v. Weathers, 98-685; Weisenfeld v. McLean, 96-248; State v. Baker, 69-147. In excluding part of the answer of a witness, to say "this witness is too smart": Chance v. Ice Co., 166-495. Saying to defendant as a witness to answer the question and "not be dodging": State v. Rogers, 173-755. To say that a certain witness is not interested in the verdict: State v. Ownby, 146-677. To say "if this contention be true, it is an attempt to stigmatize defendants as being guilty of a base and dirty fraud": Ray v. Patterson, 165-512. An expression of opinion is not corrected by telling the jury that they are to be the judges of the evidence: State v. Cook, 162-586. To use expression, "the proverbial slowness of a messenger boy," in an action against telegraph company: Meadows v. Tel. Co., 131-73.

Instances where court held did not amount to an expression of opinion or an invasion of jury's prerogative: Lewis v. R. R., 132-382; State v. Edwards, 126-1053; Means v. R. R., 126-424; State v. Chastain, 104-904; Davis v. Blevins, 125-433; State v. Robertson, 121-551; State v. Dewey, 139-566; Garrett v. Pegram, 120-288; State v. Journigan, 120-568; Little v. R. R., 119-771; Williams v. Lumber Co., 118-928; Bank v. Gilmer, 116-684; Osborne v. Wilkes, 108-651; Berry v. Hall, 105-164; DeBerry v. Nicholson, 102-465; State v. Brown, 100-519; State v. Freeman, 100-429; DeBerry v. R. R., 100-310; State v. Debnam, 98-712; Ferrall v. Broadway, 95-551; State v. Gardner, 94-953; Greenlee v. Greenlee, 93-278; State v. McNeill, 93-553; Buxly v. Buxton, 92-479; Comrs. v. Lash, 89-159; Stilley v. McCox, 88-18; State v. Robertson, 86-628; Flynt v. Bodenhamer, 80-205; State v. Laxton, 78-564; State v. Neville, 51-423; State v. Butner, 76-118; State v. Jones, 67-288; State v. Davis, 15-612—but held so here because corrected later by the court, State v. May, 15-328. To say that each party might select a man to try a horse, in an action for breach of warranty: Long v. Byrd, 169-658. Saying "I am not sure I understand fully the plaintiff's claim": McDonald v. McArthur, 154-11.

THE CHARGE. The manner in which the judge is to state the law and assist the jury in applying the law to the facts must be left to a great extent to the good sense and sound judgment of the judge: State v. Beard, 124-811; overruling State v. Boyle, 104-800, on the same point; see, also, Holly v. Holly, 94-96. The judge must charge on all the different aspects presented by the evidence; should give the law applicable to every state of facts which may be reasonably assumed: Hauser v. Furniture Co., 174-463; Worthington v. Jolly, 174-266; Orvis v. Holt, 173-231; Matthews v. Myatt, 172-230; State v. Merrick, 171-788; Blake v. Smith, 163-274; Simmons v. Davenport, 140-407; State v. Rippy, 104-756; State v. Brewer, 98-607; State v. Gilmer, 97-429; Spence v. Clapp, 95-545; State v. Dunlop, 65-288; State v. Matthews, 78-523; State v. Gaskins, 93-547—must divest the issues, so far as practicable, of all irrelevant matter and submit only those aspects presented by the evidence, State v. Wilson, 104-868; State v. Haney, 19-390; State v. Moses, 13-452; State v. Lipsey, 14-485—must not charge upon an aspect of the case not presented by the evidence: Smith v. R. R., 174-111; Hoyle v. Hickory, 164-79; Raby v. Cozad, 164-288; Craig v. Stewart, 163-531; Patterson v. Nichols, 157-406; Worley v. Logging Co., 157-490; State v. McKinney, 111-683; Stewart v. Carpet Co., 138-60; Griffin v. R. R., 137-247; Stewart v. R. R., 136-385; Bryan v. R. R., 134-538; Joines v. Johnson, 133-487; Trust Co. v. Benbow, 131-413; Carson v. R. R., 128-95; Felmet v. Exp. Co., 123-499; Greer v. Herren, 99-492; Carpenter v. Tucker, 98-316; Burwell v. R. R., 94-451; State v. Gooch, 94-987; State v. Hunter, 94-829; State v. Speaks, 94-865; State v. Smith, 100-550; but see Peniman v. Alexander, 115-555—should not encumber the case by an instruction upon hypothetical state of facts: State v. Craine, 120-601; State v. Hicks, 125-636; Burton v. Rosemary Mfg. Co., 132-17; Morrison v. Ry., 123-414; Leak v. Covington, 99-559; State v. Lambert, 93-618; State v. Anderson, 92-732; State v. Harrison, 50-115; State v. Collins, 30-407.

The judge must plainly and correctly state the evidence and declare and explain the law arising thereon: Withers v. Lane, 144-184; State v. Green, 134-661; State v. Fulford, 124-798; State v. Brady, 107-822; State v. Pritchett, 106-667; State v. Lawson, 98-759; State v. Jones, 97-473; State v. Chavis, 80-353; State v. Cain, 47-201; State v. Peace, 46-251; State v. Rash, 34-382; State v. Martin, 24-101; State v. Dunlop, 65-288; State v. Moses, 13-452—should array on both sides the evidence bearing upon the material issues and apply the principles of law thereto; must not charge on the contentions of one side: Jarrett v. Trunk Co.,

144-299, and cases cited; Boon v. Murphy, 108-187; State v. Brady, 107-822; State v. Pritchett, 106-667; Bank v. Sumner, 119-591; State v. Jones, 97-469; Phifer v. Alexander, 97-335; State v. Jones, 87-547; Wilson v. Taylor, 98-275; State v. Rogers, 93-523—must not weigh the evidence and declare the result to the jury as a matter of law: Miller v. R. R., 143-115; State v. Green, 134-658; Harper v. Anderson, 130-538; Vanderbilt v. Brown, 128-498; Benton v. Toler, 109-238; McCanless v. Flinchum, 98-358—need not recapitulate all the evidence to the jury, State v. Ussery, 118-1177; Bank v. Sumner, 119-591; Boon v. Murphy, 108-187; State v. Jones, 97-469; State v. Jones, 87-547; Wiseman v. Penland, 79-197; State v. Sykes, 79-618; State v. Caviness, 78-484; State v. O'Neal, 29-251; State v. Morris, 10-388; State v. Haney, 19-390; State v. Lipsey, 14-485; State v. Moses, 13-457—stating the substance of the evidence is sufficient, Ball v. McCormack, 172-677; Simmons v. Davenport, 140-407; State v. Gould, 90-658—need not take down the evidence himself, but may have it done, Buckner v. R. R., 164-201. If defendant wants any special portion of evidence recapitulated he must request it in apt time: State v. Ussery, 118-1177. Where counsel and judge disagree as to the testimony the judge may submit his notes to the jury and tell them they are to say what the testimony is and they could refresh their memories by his notes: State v. Keath, 83-626; Glover v. Flowers, 101-134; Spence v. Baxter, 95-170. The judge should charge “if the jury believe from the evidence” or “find from the evidence,” and not “if the jury believe the evidence”: Holt v. Wellons, 163-124; State v. Starnes, 151-724; State v. R. R., 149-508; Sossamon v. Cruse, 133-470; Merrill v. Dudley, 139-57; State v. Barrett, 123-753; State v. Green, 134-658; State v. Horton, 100-443—may recapitulate fairly the contentions of counsel as to the bearing of the evidence upon the issues, Clark v. R. R., 109-430—may state the contention of both sides with respect to the evidence, State v. Little, 174-800; McLaurin v. Williams, 175-291; Walker v. Walker, 151-164.

The judge may instruct jury, where no conflict of evidence, that if they believe the witnesses they should find accordingly: McQuay v. R. R., 109-585; State v. Dixon, 104-704; Nelson v. Ins. Co., 120-302; State v. Neal, 120-613; State v. Journigan, 120-568; State v. Woolard, 119-779; Love v. Gregg, 117-467; Harmon v. Hunt, 116-678; Purifoy v. R. R., 108-100; State v. McLain, 104-894; Chemical Co. v. Johnson, 101-223; State v. Jones, 98-651; State v. Crane, 95-619; Hannon v. Grizzard, 89-115; State v. Burke, 82-551; Gaither v. Ferebee, 60-303; Sneed v. Creath, 8-309—may charge that there is no evidence to support contention of defendant, when such is the case, State v. Allen, 48-257; State v. Sows, 61-151—should, where there is no evidence which in any aspect will warrant the jury in drawing an inference or conclusion as to an issue, so state to the jury, Harper v. Anderson, 130-538; Royster v. Stallings, 124-55; State v. Byrd, 121-684; Barber v. Roseboro, 97-192; Willis v. Branch, 94-142; State v. McKinsey, 80-458; Witkowsky v. Wasson, 71-451; State v. Dunlop, 65-288; State v. Allen, 48-257; Wells v. Clements, 48-168; Reed v. Shenck, 13-415—may charge that if they believe the evidence of defendant he is guilty, State v. Riley, 113-648; State v. Woolard, 119-779—while he may tell the jury there is no evidence of a certain fact, he cannot tell them to disregard what the attorney says in argument on the evidence, State v. Lee, 166-250—nor may he tell the jury there is no evidence as to a particular fact in conflict with the party's contention as to the effect of the evidence, Royal v. Dodd, 177-206.

The judge may say to the jury that the testimony of a man of good character is entitled to more weight than that of a man who has proven a bad character: State v. Gay, 94-814—should charge as to interest party entitled to, Brem v. Covington, 104-589; Jolly v. Bryan, 86-458; Barlow v. Norfleet, 72-535—may, when he hands the written charge to the jury, at their request send written memoranda of certain dates necessary for them to have to arrive at conclusions, State v. Cagle, 114-835—can state that evidence of defendant, if believed, should be given same weight as any other witness, State v. Gilmer, 97-429—must, if requested in apt time, caution jury as to the credibility of suspicious testimony of accomplices, near relatives, etc., Bonner v. Hodges, 111-66; Berry v. Hall, 105-164; Ferrall v. Broadway, 95-551; State v. Nash, 30-35—must, in a criminal action, give such instructions as will enable jury to understand nature of the crime and properly determine each material fact upon which may depend the guilt or innocence of accused, State v. Godwin, 145-461; State v. Fulford, 124-801; State v. Kale, 124-818—may recall jury for further instructions, Lafoon v. Shearin, 95-391; Scott v. Green, 89-278—may recapitulate confessions illegally obtained in order to caution jury not to consider them, State v. Gregory, 50-315—may state to jury that there is no contradiction between witnesses, if so, State v. Horan, 61-571—can say that evidence as to guilt of white man need not be any stronger than to convict a negro, State v. Norwood, 74-247—not error to tell the jury to try white and black alike, McLaurin v. Williams, 175-291—may lay down any proposition that is universally admitted, State v. Gay, 94-814—may comment upon deportment of witness, when, State v. Nat, 51-114—may tell jury it is their province to judge of the credibility of a witness, State v. Spencer, 64-316—may tell jury they are not concluded by the testimony of an expert, one having testified, State v. Owen, 72-605—may inform the jury of the punishment prescribed if prisoner found guilty, State v. Garner, 129-536—should not charge that “if the jury believe a certain state of facts the plaintiff is not entitled to recover,” Farrell v. R. R., 102-390—should not charge on matters not pertinent to the issues, Gaines v. McAllister, 122-340—must not say which of two conflicting statements of witness is correct, Ward v. Mfg. Co., 123-248—must not tell jury to “adopt most plausible theory” in a criminal case, State v. Dewey, 139-556—must not say that evidence of character is of little weight when facts are positively sworn to, State v. Lipsey, 14-485—must not state a hypothesis in a criminal action without evidence to support it, State v. Lizemore, 52-206—must not, in his charge on homicide, make a hypothesis omitting the leading fact which goes to acquit the accused, State v. Floyd, 51-392—must not charge jury to take the testimony of a certain witness as true, State v. Parker, 66-624—must not charge that swearing falsely on trial is an additional evidence of guilt, State v. Byers, 80-426—must not charge that where one juror doubts guilt of prisoner other jurors should yield to him, State v. Bowman, 80-432—must not instruct that defendant be convicted of murder in first degree when no evidence introduced for him, State v. Gadbury, 117-811—must not charge that there is a presumption that men testify truly and not falsely, State v. Jones, 77-520. The judge cannot comment upon the fact that a party failed to call a certain witness: Bank v. McArthur, 168-48.

The judge may instruct the jury to consider the interest of the witnesses in determining the weight of their testimony: State v. Burton, 172-939; Ferebee v. R. R., 167-290; State v. Fogleman, 164-458; In re Smith's Will, 163-464; Herndon v. R. R., 162-317; State v. Dixon, 149-460—that they may consider the fact that the state failed to introduce a witness shown to have knowledge of the facts, State v. Harris, 166-243—that they may believe a witness of bad character and disbelieve one of good character as it may satisfy them, State v. Little, 174-800—that the admission of a party, fully established, is strong evidence, Hubbard v. Goodwin, 175-174. The fact that a witness makes contradictory statements does not justify withdrawing his testimony from the jury: Christman v. Hilliard, 167-4; Bank v. Brockett, 174-41. It is error to charge that character may be considered in determining whether a party is guilty of fraud: Lumber Co. v. Atkinson, 162-298. Should instruct the jury not to consider the fact that the defendant did not introduce his wife as a witness: State v. Cox, 150-846. May instruct jury not to be controlled by the opinion of witnesses, but to use their common knowledge in the light of experience: Hamilton v. R. R., 150-193. Charge as to weight to be given to positive and negative evidence: Rosser v. Bynum, 168-340. That plaintiff is entitled to recover full amount of damages: Jones v. R. R., 176-260. Charge as to dying declarations: State v. Kennedy, 169-326. Error to admit irrelevant evidence to prejudice the jury: Shepherd v. Lumber Co., 166-130.

An erroneous charge as to the burden of proof is not neutralized by another instruction stating the rule correctly: Lea v. Utilities Co., 176-511; s. c., 175-461. Plea of payment, burden upon defendant: Swan v. Carawan, 168-472. Burden of proof as to execution of a deed duly registered: Belk v. Belk, 175-69; as to self-defense in killing an animal: Scott v. Cates, 175-336. Charge as to recent possession of stolen goods: State v. Harrington, 176-716; State v. Ford, 175-797; State v. Anderson, 162-571; State v. Neville, 157-591. Charge as to degree of proof in circumstantial evidence: State v. Trull, 169-363. In indictment for running train on Sunday: State v. R. R., 149-470. Clear, strong and convincing proof required to convert absolute deed into a mortgage: Ray v. Patterson, 170-226; to establish parol trust: Boone v. Lee, 175-383; Johnson v. Johnson, 172-530; Grimes v. Andrews, 170-515; Lamb v. Perry, 169-436; Glenn v. Glenn, 169-729. Preponderance of evidence required to set aside deed for fraud: Poe v. Smith, 172-67; in an action for land: Land Co. v. Floyd, 171-543; in an action for damages for burning barn: Champion v. Daniel, 170-331; in divorce cases, Ellett v. Ellett, 157-161.

Charging quantum of proof in actions which were formerly suits in equity: Perry v. Ins. Co., 137-402; Lehew v. Hewett, 138-6; 130-22; Gaskins v. Allen, 137-426; Earnhart v. Clement, 137-91; Chaffin v. Mfg. Co., 135-95; Jones v. Warren, 134-390; Wilson v. Brown, 134-400;

Warehouse Co. v. Ozment, 132-839; Ray v. Long, 132-891; Sallenger v. Perry, 130-134; Porter v. White, 128-45; Watkins v. Williams, 123-174; Benedict v. Jones, 129-470; Hemmings v. Doss, 125-400; Nimocks v. McIntyre, 120-325; Kelly v. McNeill, 118-354; Cobb v. Edwards, 117-244; Summers v. Moore, 113-394; Faison v. Hardy, 114-58; McMillan v. Baxley, 112-578; Hamilton v. Buchanan, 112-463; Haynes v. Rogers, 111-228; Bergeron v. Ins. Co., 111-45; Bonner v. Hodges, 111-66; Cornelius v. Brawley, 109-542; Berry v. Hall, 105-154; Harding v. Long, 103-1; Brown v. Mitchell, 102-347; Kornegay v. Everett, 99-30; Loftin v. Loftin, 96-94; Ely v. Early, 94-1—in other actions, Hodges v. R. R., 122-992; Blackburn v. Ins. Co., 116-821; Bergeron v. Ins. Co., 111-45; Perry v. Ins. Co., 137-402; State v. Jaynes, 78-504; State v. Carson, 115-743; State v. Starnes, 94-973; State v. Gee, 92-756; State v. Josey, 64-56. Charging as to "reasonable doubt" in criminal actions: State v. Whitson, 111-695; State v. Brabham, 108-793; State v. Debnam, 98-712; State v. Matthews, 66-106; State v. Sears, 61-146; State v. Parker, 61-473; State v. Fulkerson, 61-233; State v. Oscar, 52-305; State v. Hodge, 61-231; State v. Frank, 50-384; State v. Johnson, 48-266; State v. Cochran, 13-63; State v. Charles, 161-287.

Whether there is evidence is for the court, but it is for the jury to determine the weight of it when there is any: State v. Powell, 94-965; State v. Simmons, 143-618; Benton v. Toler, 109-238; State v. Goings, 101-706; State v. McBryde, 97-393; Wittkowsky v. Wasson, 71-451; State v. Moses, 13-452. Where there is any evidence to support a contention it should be submitted to the jury: Cross v. R. R., 172-119; Machine Co. v. Bullock, 161-1; s. e., 163-547; Brown v. Power Co., 140-333; Dorsett v. Mfg. Co., 131-254; Bolden v. R. R., 123-614; Wood v. Bartholomew, 122-177; Powell v. R. R., 125-370; Cowles v. McNeill, 125-385; Gates v. Max, 125-139; Cox v. R. R., 123-604; State v. Kiger, 115-746; Haynes v. Rogers, 111-228; Machine Co. v. Lumber Co., 109-576. But very slight evidence, a mere scintilla, should not go to the jury: Cabe v. R. R., 155-402; State v. Hawkins, 155-466; State v. Walker, 149-530; Lewis v. Steamship Co., 132-904; Liquor Co. v. Johnson, 161-74; Rice v. R. R., 174-268; Cable v. R. R., 122-892; Spruill v. Ins. Co., 120-141, and cases therein cited; Royster v. Stallings, 124-55; Oakley v. Tate, 118-361; State v. Green, 117-695; Covington v. Newberger, 99-523, and cases therein cited; Smith v. McGregor, 96-101; State v. Powell, 94-965.

The judge cannot direct a verdict in favor of one who has the burden of proof: Britt v. R. R., 148-37; House v. R. R., 131-103; Boutten v. R. R., 128-337; Mfg. Co. v. R. R., 128-280; Crews v. Cantwell, 125-516; Gates v. Max, 125-143; Cox v. R. R., 123-604; Collins v. Swanson, 121-67; Eller v. Church, 121-269; Bank v. School Com., 121-107; White v. R. R., 121-484; but may direct a finding against such party: Everett v. Williams, 152-117. When the facts are admitted or established and only one inference may be drawn, the judge may direct a finding: Barfield v. Hill, 163-262. May not direct a verdict when the evidence is conflicting: In re Will of Margaret Deyton, 177-494; Phillips v. Giles, 175-409; Forsyth v. Oil Co., 167-179; Brown v. R. R., 161-573; Westfeldt v. Adams, 159-409; Snowden v. Bell, 159-497; Davidson v. R. R., 156-578; Davis v. Traction Co., 141-134; Corporation Com. v. R. R., 137-1; Gordon v. R. R., 132-565; House v. R. R., 131-103; Harper v. Anderson, 130-533; Parks v. R. R., 124-136; Rickert v. R. R., 123-255; Thompson v. Winston, 118-662; Burrus v. Ins. Co., 121-62; Everett v. Receivers, 121-519; Hardison v. R. R., 120-492; Harris v. Carrington, 115-187; Curtis v. Lumber Co., 113-417; Haynes v. Rogers, 111-228; Asbury v. Fair, 111-251; Buffkin v. Eason, 110-264; Farthing v. Dark, 109-291; Machine Co. v. Lumber Co., 109-576; State v. Weathers, 98-685; Long v. Hall, 97-286; Laffoon v. Shearin, 95-391; Morgan v. Lewis, 95-296; State v. Rollins, 113-723; Weisenfield v. McLean, 96-248; State v. Rogers, 93-523; Brazil v. R. R., 93-313; see, also, Harris v. Murphy, 119-34—should not direct a verdict at all in criminal cases, even though evidence not conflicting, State v. Godwin, 145-461, and cases cited; State v. Hill, 141-769; State v. Riley, 113-648; State v. Winchester, 113-641; but see State v. Dixon, 104-704; State v. Boyd, 175-791—must not state a fact as to which the evidence is conflicting, Davis v. Summerfield, 133-325; Fleming v. R. R., 115-676; Emery v. R. R., 102-209; Bumgardner v. R. R., 132-438—should not direct a verdict, after plaintiff rests, and refuse to allow defendant to introduce competent evidence, Porter v. White, 127-73.

The judge should not give inconsistent and conflicting instructions: Vanderbilt v. Chapman, 175-11; Champion v. Daniel, 170-331; Grocery Co. v. Taylor, 162-307; Hoaglin v. Telegraph Co., 161-390; Patterson v. Nichols, 157-406; McWhirter v. McWhirter, 155-145; Mott v. Tel. Co., 142-532; Pegram v. R. R., 139-303; Drum v. Miller, 135-218; Edwards v. R. R., 132-101; State v. Clark, 134-712; Edwards v. R. R., 129-78; Bragaw v. Supreme Lodge, 124-154;

Wright v. R. R., 123-282; Tillett v. R. R., 115-662; Alexander v. Gibbon, 118-796—must not simply call attention to the issues without further instruction, Phifer v. Alexander, 97-335—must not give to the jury an abstract proposition of law without any evidence to support it, Williams v. Harris, 137-460; Leach v. Linde, 108-547—must not charge on a selected fact, but charge the law on the whole case, Dobson v. Wisenhunt, 101-645; Michael v. Foil, 100-178—must not omit essential ingredient in undertaking to state the law applicable to a material fact, Rumbough v. Sackett, 141-495; Pierce v. Alspaugh, 83-258; State v. Austin, 79-624; Bynum v. Bynum, 33-632; State v. O'Neal, 29-251; State v. Johnson, 23-354—need not repeat instructions already given, even when specially asked to do so by prayer, Sprinkle v. Wellborn, 140-163—must not single out issues and charge specially as to them and give only general instructions as to others, Knight v. R. R., 110-58; State v. Ellick, 60-450—should not merely deal in generalities, such as reading headnotes of cases, without making any application of them to the facts, State v. Groves, 121-563; State v. Jones, 87-547—must not use broad statement calculated to mislead, Fleming v. R. R., 131-476—need not charge on a particular point when no special instructions asked: Patterson v. Mills, 121-259, and cases therein cited; also see section 565; Gay v. Mitchell, 146-509; Willis v. Tel. Co., 150-318.

The charge should be considered as a whole: State v. Orr, 175-773; Leggett v. R. R., 173-698; State v. Killian, 173-792; Deligny v. Furniture Co., 170-189; McNeill v. R. R., 167-390; In re Drainage District, 162-127; State v. Vann, 162-534; Speight v. R. R., 161-80; Aman v. Lumber Co., 160-370; Kornegay v. R. R., 154-389; State v. Lilliston, 141-857; Liles v. Lumber Co., 142-39; Gilliland v. Bd. of Education, 141-482; State v. Tilley, 25-424; State v. Boon, 82-637; State v. Holman, 104-867. It not appearing affirmatively that there was error in the judge's charge, it is assumed to be correct: State v. Brabham, 108-793; State v. Dickerson, 98-708; Southerland v. R. R., 106-100; State v. Powell, 106-635; Paper Co. v. Chronicle, 115-147; Upchurch v. Robertson, 127-127; Tise v. Thomasville, 151-281; Haines v. Smith, 149-279. Where a charge covers the entire case and submits it fairly and correctly to the jury under all circumstances, parties have no just ground of complaint: Marable v. R. R., 142-557; Gilliland v. Bd. of Ed., 141-482; State v. Parker, 61-473; State v. Shaw, 49-440; State v. Exum, 138-599. Although the trial judge lays down the law correctly, unless it is applicable to the facts of the case and warranted by the evidence, a new trial will be granted: King v. Wells, 94-344.

An erroneous instruction may be corrected: Buggy Co. v. Dukes, 140-393; Trust Co. v. Forbes, 120-355; Wilson v. Mfg. Co., 120-94; Toole v. Toole, 112-152; State v. Keen, 95-646; Lewis v. R. R., 95-179; State v. McNair, 93-628; Gilbert v. James, 86-244; State v. Robbins, 48-250; State v. May, 15-328; but in some cases a correction will not remove the error: State v. Morgan, 136-628; Bragaw v. Supreme Lodge, 124-154; Williams v. Haid, 118-481; Alexander v. Gibbon, 118-796; Tillett v. R. R., 115-662; State v. Fuller, 114-885; Taylor v. Taylor, 112-27; Wilson v. R. R., 142-333; see, also, State v. Sanders, 84-728. An omission to state the evidence or to charge in a particular way should be called to the attention of the court before verdict: Davis v. Keen, 142-496; Muse v. Motor Co., 175-466.

Charge as to measure of damages for personal injury: Watson v. R. R., 133-189; Johnson v. R. R., 163-431. Charge as to punitive damages: Hodges v. Hall, 172-29; proper charge in issue devisavit vel non: In re Thorp, 150-487; charge as to probable cause in malicious prosecution: Wilkinson v. Wilkinson, 159-265; charge as to self-defense in homicide: State v. Crisp, 170-785; State v. Kennedy, 169-326; State v. Pollard, 168-116; State v. Gaddy, 166-341; State v. Robertson, 166-356; State v. Johnson, 166-392; State v. Ray, 166-420; State v. Lucas, 164-471; State v. Greer, 162-640; State v. Blackwell, 162-672; State v. Fowler, 151-731; as to insanity in homicide: State v. Terry, 173-761; State v. English, 164-498; State v. Shelton, 164-513.

Relative rights and powers of court and jury in actions involving questions of negligence and contributory negligence: Russell v. R. R., 118-1098; Parks v. R. R., 124-136; White v. R. R., 121-484; McCracken v. Smathers, 119-617; Chesson v. Lumber Co., 118-59; Knight v. R. R., 110-58; Bolden v. R. R., 123-614; Ellerbe v. R. R., 118-1024; Thompson v. Winston, 118-662; McQuay v. R. R., 109-585; Wright v. R. R., 127-225; Grant v. Bottling Works, 176-256; Hargis v. Power Co., 175-31; Cohoon v. Davis, 175-145; Lea v. Utilities Co., 175-459; Davis v. R. R., 175-648; Ware v. R. R., 175-501; Dunn v. Lumber Co., 172-129; Lassiter v. R. R., 171-283; Buchanan v. Lumber Co., 168-40; Bagwell v. R. R., 167-611; Clark v. Wright, 167-646; Carter v. R. R., 165-244.

ERROR IN CHARGE HARMLESS OR CURED. Instances of harmless error in making charge: Dills v. Hampton, 92-565; Jones v. Call, 93-170; Barbee v. Scoggins, 121-125; Mitchell v. Hoggard, 108-353; Kiser v. Combs, 114-640; State v. Parker, 106-711; State v. Gardner, 94-953. Where judge charges incorrectly on issue of law, but jury finds it properly, the error is cured: State v. Grady, 83-643; Hinshaw v. R. R., 118-1047; Moore v. Parker, 91-275; Terry v. R. R., 91-236; Jones v. Bunker, 83-324; Glenn v. R. R., 63-510; Johnson v. Ray, 72-273; Carter v. R. R., 165-244. In admitting incompetent evidence which is not prejudicial: State v. Bradley, 161-290. Use of the word "plaintiff" for "defendant" when not prejudicial: Pittman v. Weeks, 132-81. When the jury finds in favor of the party objecting: Smith v. Alphin, 150-425.

JUDGE ADMONISHING JURY TO AGREE. The following cases are instances of the judge's admonishing the jury as to their duty to agree: Bank v. Gilmer, 116-684; Osborne v. Wilkes, 108-651; Warlick v. Plonk, 103-81; Hannon v. Grizzard, 89-115; Nash v. Morton, 48-3; Nixon v. Oil Mill, 174-730. Judge going to jury room and asking if they can agree: Willeford v. Bailey, 132-402. Suggesting to the jury to postpone consideration of verdict until morning: State v. Houston, 155-432.

Section merely referred to: Duckworth v. Orr, 126-674; State v. Johnston, 119-898; McMillan v. Baxley, 112-587; Dupree v. Ins. Co., 92-433. Charging as to confession of prisoner: State v. Patrick, 48-443; State v. Davis, 63-578.

565. Requests for instructions. Counsel praying of the judge instructions to the jury, must put their requests in writing entitled of the cause, and sign them; otherwise the judge may disregard them. They must be filed with the clerk as a part of the record.

Rev., s. 538; Code, s. 415; C. C. P., s. 239.

NECESSITY FOR INSTRUCTIONS. If more specific instructions are desired, they should be asked for specially: Alexander v. Cedar Works, 177-137; Webb v. Rosemond, 172-848; Pate v. Bank, 162-508; Trollinger v. Fleer, 157-81; Ives v. R. R., 142-131; Simmons v. Davenport, 140-407; Turrentine v. Wellington, 136-313; State v. Kinsauls, 126-1097; Patterson v. Mills, 121-258; Nelson v. Ins. Co., 120-306; Boon v. Murphy, 108-187; Willey v. R. R., 96-408; Morgan v. Lewis, 95-296; Morgan v. Smith, 77-37; Isley v. Bridge Co., 141-220.

Where no instructions prayed for in writing it is not error to fail to charge on a certain aspect of a case: Nelson v. Tob. Co., 144-418; Jarrett v. Trunk Co., 144-299; Gaither v. Carpenter, 143-240; State v. Worley, 141-764; Yow v. Hamilton, 136-357; Justice v. Gallert, 131-393; Russell v. R. R., 118-1098; State v. Ridge, 125-655; Howard v. Turner, 125-107; State v. Groves, 119-822; State v. Ussery, 118-1177; Boon v. Murphy, 108-187; Nelson v. Ins. Co., 120-302; Kendrick v. Dellinger, 117-491; State v. Varner, 115-744; Hooks v. Houston, 109-623; State v. Fleming, 107-909; Bethea v. R. R., 106-279; McFarland v. Southern Imp. Co., 107-368; State v. Pritchett, 106-667; Thompson v. Tel. Co., 107-449; Taylor v. Plummer, 105-56; State v. Bailey, 100-528; State v. Debnam, 98-712; King v. Blackwell, 96-322; Branton v. O'Briant, 93-99; Davis v. Council, 92-725; Fry v. Currie, 91-436; State v. Nicholson, 85-548; Terry v. R. R., 91-236; State v. Hardee, 83-619; State v. Caviness, 78-484.

FORM OF REQUEST. Special instructions must be asked for in writing: State v. Wilkes, 170-735; Saunders v. Gilbert, 156-463; Craddock v. Barnes, 142-89; Merrell v. Whitmire, 110-367; Lowe v. Elliott, 107-720; Pleasants v. R. R., 95-198; and oral prayers may be disregarded: State v. Horton, 100-443; Justice v. Gallert, 131-393. Prayer should be addressed to the issue so as to avoid confusion: Lynch v. Veneer Co., 169-169; Overcash v. Electric Co., 144-572. It should not present a simple abstraction without material facts and conclusions therefrom: Edwards v. Tel. Co., 147-126. It should be supported by the evidence: Lumber Co. v. R. R., 152-70. Should not request that the issues be answered in a certain way when the evidence is conflicting: Savings Bank v. Chase, 151-108. If the request is correct only in part, it is not the duty of the judge to dissect it: State v. Greer, 162-640; Harris v. R. R., 132-160; Vanderbilt v. Brown, 128-498; State v. Neal, 120-613. The request must be signed: Pritchett v. R. R., 157-88.

TIME OF REQUEST. Prayers should be presented before argument, but not necessarily at or before the close of the evidence; it is within the sound discretion of the judge, allowing a reasonable time to prepare and consider them: State v. Claudius, 164-521; Barringer v. Deal, 164-246; Holder v. Lumber Co., 161-177; Pritchett v. R. R., 157-88; Biggs v. Gurganus, 152-173; Universal Metal Co. v. Durham Ry., 145-293; Craddock v. Barnes, 142-89; Shober v. Wheeler, 113-370; apparently overruling the following: State v. Hairston, 121-579; State v. Ussery, 118-1177; Luttrell v. Martin, 112-593; Ward v. R. R., 112-168; Merrell v. Whitmire, 110-367; Blackburn v. Fair, 109-465; Posey v. Patton, 109-455; Grubbs v. Ins. Co., 108-472; Marsh v. Richardson, 106-539; Taylor v. Plummer, 105-56; State v. Rowe, 98-629; Owens v. Phelps, 95-286; Davis v. Council, 92-725; State v. Barbee, 92-820; Powell v. R. R., 68-395.

INSTRUCTIONS SUBSTANTIALLY GIVEN. Instructions need not be in the very words asked, if the charge substantially covers the same ground, giving the same application of the law to the evidence: Carter v. R. R., 165-244; Daniel v. Dixon, 161-377; State v. Tate, 161-280; State v. Price, 158-641; Hooker v. R. R., 156-155; Lumber Co. v. R. R., 152-70; State v. Bowman, 152-817; State v. Spivey, 151-676; Graves v. Jackson, 150-383; State v. Dobbins, 149-465; Horton v. R. R., 145-132; Moseley v. Johnson, 144-257; State v. Burnett, 142-577; Horne v. Power Co., 141-50; Brown v. Power Co., 140-333; Yarborough v. Hughes, 139-199; Griffin v. R. R., 138-55; State v. Davis, 134-633; Harris v. R. R., 132-160; State v. Wilcox, 132-1120; Wilkie v. R. R., 127-203; Norton v. R. R., 122-911; Cox v. R. R., 126-103; State v. Booker, 123-713; Edwards v. Phifer, 121-388; Mitchell v. Corpening, 124-472; State v. Mills, 116-992; Downs v. High Point, 115-182; Alexander v. R. R., 112-720; Leaving v. Smith, 115-385; Cornelius v. Brawley, 109-542; Whitford v. Newbern, 111-272; McMillan v. Baxley, 112-578; Black v. Black, 110-398; State v. Brabham, 108-793; Thompson v. Tel. Co., 107-449; Everett v. Williamson, 107-204; Bethea v. R. R., 106-279; Carlton v. R. R., 104-365; Michael v. Foil, 100-178; Conwell v. Mann, 100-234; Newby v. Harrell, 99-149; State v. Brewer, 98-607; State v. Jones, 97-469; Clements v. Rogers, 95-248; McDonald v. Carson, 94-497; State v. Anderson, 92-732; State v. McNeill, 92-812; Patterson v. McIver, 90-493; Overcash v. Kitchie, 89-384; Rencher v. Wynne, 86-269; State v. Hinson, 83-640; State v. Boon, 82-637; Brink v. Black, 77-59; State v. Scott, 64-586.

566. Instructions in writing; when to be taken to jury room. The judge, at the request of any party to an action on trial, made at or before the close of the evidence, before instructing the jury on the law, must put his instructions in writing, and read them to the jury. He shall then sign and file them with the clerk as a part of the record of the action.

When a judge puts his instructions in writing either of his own will or at the request of a party to the action, he must, at the request of either party to the action, allow the jury to take his instructions with them on their retirement, and the jury must return the instructions with their verdict to the court.

Rev., ss. 536, 537; Code, s. 414; C. C. P., s. 238; 1885, c. 137.

WRITTEN INSTRUCTIONS. The word "instructions" construed with reference to this section: State v. Dewey, 139-556. The judge must put the charge as to the law in writing, if either party requests it in apt time: State v. Black, 162-637; Sawyer v. Lumber Co., 142-162;

State v. Crowell, 116-1052; State v. Adams, 115-783; Ward v. R. R., 112-168; State v. Young, 111-715; Jenkins v. R. R., 110-438; Drake v. Connelly, 107-463; Lowe v. Elliott, 107-718; Dupree v. Ins. Co., 92-417; Phillips v. R. R., 130-582; Currie v. Clark, 90-355—but he cannot be forced to put the recapitulation of evidence in writing: Sawyer v. Lumber Co., 142-162; Jenkins v. R. R., 110-442; Dupree v. Ins. Co., 92-417. The judge may state orally the contentions of the parties or supplement slight omissions: State v. Khoury, 149-454. He may read notes of evidence to the jury: State v. Dixon, 149-460. An exception to judge's failure to put charge in writing is taken in time if set out in case on appeal: Sawyer v. Lumber Co., 142-162, and cases cited; but see Phillips v. R. R., 130-582. Requests that charge be put in writing awkwardly made and not considered a proper request: Phillips v. R. R., 130-582. He must read the charge to the jury, when requested to be put in writing, as written, and sign and file same as a part of the record: State v. Dewey, 139-564; Justice v. Gallert, 131-394; see, also, Cressler v. Asheville, 138-485. Section merely referred to: Cameron v. Power Co., 137-101; Justice v. Gallert, 131-393.

USED BY JURY. At request of either party judge may permit the jury to take instructions to jury room: Little v. R. R., 119-771; State v. Cagle, 114-835—also at the request of a juror: Gaither v. Carpenter, 143-240—and it is not error, after they have retired, to send, upon their request, a written memorandum of certain dates necessary to be remembered in reaching a proper conclusion: State v. Cagle, 114-835—or to send deposition read on trial, where all request it: Lafoon v. Shearin, 95-391—but judge cannot send papers read in evidence to the jury when objection made: Nicholson v. Lumber Co., 156-59; Williamson v. Thomas, 78-47; Burton v. Wilkes, 66-604; Watson v. Davis, 52-178. Where charge taken to jury room, but instructions prayed for and given were not taken, not error where counsel present and no objection raised before verdict: Gaither v. Carpenter, 143-240. Reason for the law compelling judge to put charge in writing, to provide for jurors taking it with them: State v. Dewey, 139-561; Jenkins v. R. R., 110-442; State v. Crowell, 116-1058.

567. Demurrer to evidence. When on trial of an issue of fact in a civil action or special proceeding, the plaintiff has introduced his evidence and rested his case, the defendant may move to dismiss the action, or for judgment as in case of nonsuit. If the motion is allowed the plaintiff may except and appeal to the supreme court. If the motion is refused the defendant may except, and if the defendant introduces no evidence the jury shall pass upon the issues in the action, and the defendant has the benefit of his exception on appeal to the supreme court. After the motion is refused he may waive his exception and introduce his evidence just as if he had not made the motion, and he may again move to dismiss after all the evidence on both sides is in. If the motion is then refused, upon consideration of all the evidence, he may except, and after the jury has rendered its verdict, he has the benefit of the latter exception on appeal to the supreme court.

CHANGE OF PRACTICE. This section changes the practice in demurrer to the evidence: Riley v. Stone, 169-421; Prevatt v. Harrelson, 132-252; Means v. R. R., 126-424. Under the act of 1897, prior to act of 1899: Parlier v. R. R., 129-262; Purnell v. R. R., 122-832; Worth v. Ferguson, 122-381; Wood v. Bartholomew, 122-177. It does not apply to a defense, Lester v. Harward, 173-83; but may apply to a counterclaim, Tarault v. Seip, 158-363. Held not to apply to criminal action, State v. Hagan, 131-803; but may now under section 4643.

TIME OF MAKING MOTION. It must be made first at the close of plaintiff's evidence, and before defendant introduces any evidence: Smith v. Pritchard, 173-720; McKellar v. McKay, 156-283; Boddie v. Bond, 154-359. It is not allowed after verdict, Vaughan v. Davenport, 159-369; nor after verdict set aside, Riley v. Stone, 169-421; nor after judgment by default and inquiry, Mason v. Stephens, 168-370.

If the first motion is overruled, the defendant may except and go to the jury; or except, introduce evidence and renew motion after all the evidence: Parlier v. R. R., 129-262; Means v. R. R., 126-424; Worth v. Ferguson, 122-381; Miller v. R. R., 128-26; Riley v. Stone, 169-

421. Exception is waived if motion is not renewed: Rackley v. Roberts, 147-201; Bordeaux v. R. R., 150-528; Earnhardt v. Clement, 137-91; Blalock v. Clark, 137-140; Fritz v. R. R., 130-279; McCall v. R. R., 129-298.

EFFECT OF MOTION. The motion admits the truth of plaintiff's evidence in light most favorable for him: Rush v. McPherson, 176-562; Wood v. Public-Serv. Corp., 174-697; Johnson v. R. R., 163-431; Madry v. Moore, 161-295; Poe v. Tel. Co., 160-315; Bell v. Power Co., 156-316; Mullinax v. R. R., 156-541; West v. Tanning Co., 154-44; Mercer v. R. R., 154-399; Horne v. R. R., 153-239; Deppe v. R. R., 152-79; Morton v. Lumber Co., 152-54; Settle v. R. R., 150-643; Cotton v. R. R., 149-227; Biles v. R. R., 143-78, 139-528; Gerock v. Tel. Co., 142-22; Bd. of Education v. Makely, 139-31; Craft v. R. R., 136-49; Hancock v. Comrs., 132-213; Snider v. Newell, 132-614; House v. R. R., 131-103; Hopkins v. R. R., 131-463; Coley v. R. R., 129-413, and cases cited; Moore v. R. R., 128-455; Brinkley v. R. R., 126-88; Cowles v. McNeill, 125-385; Printing Co. v. Raleigh, 126-516; McMillan v. R. R., 126-725; Gates v. Max, 125-139; Cox v. R. R., 123-604; Cable v. R. R., 122-892; Johnson v. R. R., 122-955; Purnell v. R. R., 122-832; Spruill v. Ins. Co., 120-141; Collins v. Swanson, 121-67; Howell v. R. R., 124-24; Roscoe v. Lumber Co., 124-42; Dunn v. R. R., 124-252; Whitley v. R. R., 122-987; Bazemore v. Mountain, 121-59; Everett v. Receivers, 121-519; but not the evidence of defendant against the plaintiff: Lamb v. Perry, 169-436; Brewer v. Wynne, 163-319; Smith v. Agricultural Society, 163-346.

The motion should not be allowed when there is any evidence, more than a scintilla, upon which to base a verdict: Rogerson v. Hontz, 174-27; King v. R. R., 174-39; Moore v. R. R., 173-311; Lindsey v. R. R., 173-390; Meares v. Lumber Co., 172-289; Collins v. Casualty Co., 172-543; Barnes v. R. R., 168-512; McRainey v. R. R., 168-570; Pate v. Blades, 163-267; Talley v. R. R., 163-567; Armfield v. R. R., 162-24; Smith v. R. R., 162-30; Ward v. R. R., 161-179; Greer v. Lumber Co., 161-144; Draper v. R. R., 161-308; Anderson v. R. R., 161-462; Cotton Mills v. Assurance Corporation, 161-562; Stewart v. McCormick, 161-625; Henderson v. R. R., 159-581; Mizzell v. Mfg. Co., 158-265; Sutton v. Lyons, 156-3; Hamilton v. Lumber Co., 156-520; Houston v. Traction Co., 155-4; Boney v. R. R., 155-95; Cabe v. R. R., 155-402; Maguire v. R. R., 154-384; Kyles v. R. R., 147-394; Currie v. Gilchrist, 147-648; Brown v. R. R., 144-634; Mfg. Co. v. Machine Works, 144-689; Bivings v. Gosnell, 133-574; Bingham v. R. R., 130-625; Cogdell v. R. R., 129-398; Cobb v. Perry, 127-81; Gates v. Max, 125-139; Brinkley v. R. R., 126-88; Cable v. R. R., 122-892; Wood v. Bartholomew, 122-177.

When contributory negligence appears from the plaintiff's evidence a nonsuit is properly granted: Foard v. Power Co., 170-48; Dunnevant v. R. R., 167-232; Fulghum v. R. R., 158-555; Wright v. R. R., 155-325; Neal v. R. R., 126-634; but not when such evidence is from the defendant: Horne v. R. R., 170-645; Whitesides v. R. R., 128-229; nor in cases of comparative negligence under section 3467: Horton v. R. R., 157-146. Nonsuit ordered in action for malicious prosecution: Brinkley v. Knight, 163-194; upon the statute of limitations, Earnhardt v. Comrs., 157-234; where plaintiff not party in interest, Chapman v. McLawhorn, 150-166.

The ruling of the court must defeat plaintiff's action; if any remedy is left, he should except, proceed with the case, and appeal: Chandler v. Mills, 172-366. As to whether the judge, in his discretion, can allow plaintiff, after motion to dismiss, to introduce further testimony: Featherston v. Wilson, 123-623. Where judge intimates an opinion on the law which lies at the foundation of the action, adverse to plaintiff, or excludes evidence offered by plaintiff which is material, he may submit to nonsuit and appeal: Merrick v. Bedford, 141-505; Hayes v. R. R., 140-131; Hickory v. R. R., 138-311; Mobley v. Watts, 98-284; Tiddy v. Harris, 101-589; Hedrick v. Pratt, 94-101; Gregory v. Forbes, 94-221—and the plaintiff's evidence is entitled to the most favorable interpretation: McCaskill v. Walker, 145-252; Millhiser v. Leatherwood, 140-231; Heilig v. R. R., 152-469—but in the following cases nonsuit and appeal held premature: Merrick v. Bedford, 141-504; Midgett v. Mfg. Co., 140-361. Where involuntary nonsuit reversed on appeal, parties start even again with trial de novo: Hickory v. R. R., 138-311. A refusal of nonsuit reversed on appeal is equivalent to a direction to dismiss: Hollingsworth v. Skelding, 142-246; Tussey v. Owen, 147-335; Baker v. R. R., 150-562.

Not the intention of this section to make the weight and effect of evidence questions of law: Willis v. R. R., 122-905. Cases based upon this section but not construing section: Winders v. Hill, 144-614; Doggett v. Hardin, 132-690; Bessent v. Ry. Co., 132-934; Shoaf v. Ins. Co., 127-312.

568. Waiver of jury trial. Trial by jury may be waived by the several parties to an issue of fact, in actions on contract, and with the assent of the court in other actions, in the manner following:

See, also, annotations under section 573, as to waiver of trial by jury in references; see, also, generally: Armfield v. Brown, 70-27. Counsel may waive jury trial without special authority: Stevenson v. Felton, 99-58; see, also, White v. Morris, 107-92. A reference by consent waives right of trial by jury: Driller Co. v. Worth, 117-515; Grant v. Reese, 82-72; also see cases under sections 572 and 579. As to whether jury trial may be waived in criminal actions appealed from justice where he has final jurisdiction, see State v. Wells, 142-590. The trial judge may disregard the agreement that a jury trial be waived: Lumber Co. v. Lumber Co., 137-431. Waiver of jury trial on questions of fact in special proceedings by failure to demand in time: Navigation Co. v. Worrell, 133-93; Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-455; Railroad v. Parker, 105-246. The provision of the federal constitution that "no person shall be deprived of his property without due process of law" does not imply that all trials in state courts shall be by jury: Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-425. Jury trial may be waived as stated below, but there must be issues of fact: Hockaday v. Lawrence, 156-319; see, also, Buchanan v. Clark, 164-56, and Crews v. Crews, 175-168.

1. By failing to appear at the trial.

Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-466.

2. By written consent, in person or by attorney, filed with the clerk.

Waiver must be written and filed with the papers in the case, or oral and entered on the minute docket: Hahn v. Brinson, 133-7; Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-466.

3. By oral consent, entered in the minutes.

Must be entered on the minute docket: Hahn v. Brinson, 133-7. Where case heard by judge by consent and decision of law reversed on appeal, on coming back to superior court parties must have trial by jury unless waived: Isler v. Koonce, 83-55; Benbow v. Robbins, 72-422.

Rev., s. 540; Code, s. 416; C. C. P., s. 240.

For submission of controversy without action, see this chapter, ss. 626-628.

569. Findings of fact and conclusions of law by judge. Upon trial of an issue of fact by the court, its decision shall be given in writing, and shall contain a statement of the facts found, and the conclusions of law separately. Upon trial of an issue of law, the decision shall be made in the same manner, stating the conclusions of law. Such decision must be filed with the clerk during the court at which the trial takes place, and judgment upon it shall be entered accordingly.

Rev., s. 541; Code, s. 417; C. C. P., s. 241.

Judge can pass upon issues of fact only when jury trial waived: Wilson v. Bynum, 92-717; McCanless v. Flinchum, 98-358; Chasteen v. Martin, 81-51; Leggett v. Leggett, 66-420. Where trial by jury waived, the court should find the facts and state its conclusions separately and in writing, and then enter judgment in accordance therewith: Parks v. Davis, 98-481; Foushee v. Pattershall, 67-453; Mining Co. v. Smelting Co., 99-464. What is a sufficient statement of findings: Eley v. R. R., 165-78. This section not applicable to a motion in a provisional remedy: Millhiser v. Balsley, 106-433; Whitehead v. Hale, 118-601. Where court fails to find some material fact, supreme court may remand it that such fact may be found: Knott v. Taylor, 96-553. For findings of fact in cases of reference, see section 579. Where judge's findings of fact not excepted to by defendant, and plaintiff appeals from the judgment for defendant on such facts and supreme court reverses the judgment, defendant not entitled to trial de novo: Matthews v. Fry, 143-384.

The findings of fact by the judge, when authorized by law or by consent of parties, are as conclusive as when found by a jury, if there is any evidence to support them: Buchanan v. Clark, 164-56; Yarborough v. Moore, 151-116; Matthews v. Fry, 143-384; Shoaf v. Frost, 127-306; Brafford v. Reed, 125-311; Roberts v. Ins. Co., 118-429; Nimocks v. Shingle Co., 110-230; Travers v. Deaton, 107-500; Millhiser v. Balsley, 106-433; Branton v. O'Briant, 93-99; see, also, sections 570, 600—but the judgment thereon is reviewable: Ladd v. Teague, 126-544; Norton v. McLaurin, 125-185; Baker v. Belvin, 122-190.

Where judge in finding the facts adopts the findings of fact in a certain deposition, the supreme court will consider the evidence incorporated in the deposition: Lee v. Baird, 134-410—also when evidence made a part of the findings, etc., Bank v. Swink, 129-255. Where findings of fact are contradictory and irreconcilably conflicting, judgment cannot be pronounced, and a new trial will be awarded: Davis v. Lumber Co., 130-174. Exceptions to findings of fact by the trial judge, filed after the adjournment of the court for the term, will not be entertained: Electric Light Co. v. Electric Light Co., 116-112. When judge finds the facts it is presumed, unless objection appears, that it was by consent of the parties: White v. Morris, 107-92. Where jury waived, and judge tries the facts, errors committed by him in the reception or rejection of evidence are reviewable: Puffer v. Baker, 104-148. Agreement that trial judge find facts waives defects in pleadings: Early v. Early, 134-258.

Findings of fact by the judge are not subject to exceptions: Matthews v. Fry, 143-384; Parker v. McPhail, 112-502; Travers v. Deaton, 107-500; Taylor v. Pope, 106-267; Avent v. Arrington, 105-377; McAden v. Banister, 63-479; Greensboro v. Scott, 84-184; Burke v. Turner, 85-500. For exceptions to referee's report, see under section 579.

570. Exceptions to decision of court. 1. For the purposes of an appeal, either party may except to a decision on a matter of law arising upon a trial by the court within ten days after the judgment, in the same manner and with the same effect as upon a trial by jury. Where the decision does not authorize a final judgment, but directs further proceedings before a referee or otherwise, either party may except thereto, and make a case or exception as above provided in case of an appeal.

2. Either party desiring a review, upon the evidence appearing on the trial of the questions of law, may at any time within ten days after the judgment, or within such time as is prescribed by the rules of the court, make a case or exceptions in like manner as upon a trial by jury, except that the judge in settling the case must briefly specify the facts found by him, and his conclusions of law.

Rev., s. 542; Code, s. 418; C. C. P., s. 242.

For exceptions generally to judge's ruling, see section 589.

571. Proceedings upon judgment on issue of law. On a judgment for the plaintiff upon an issue of law, he may proceed in the manner prescribed by the first two subdivisions of section 595 herein upon failure of the defendant to answer, where the summons was personally served. If judgment is for the defendant, upon an issue of law, and if taking of an account or the proof of any fact is necessary to enable the court to complete the judgment, a reference or assessment by jury may be ordered, as provided in section 596 herein.

Rev., s. 543; Code, s. 419; C. C. P., s. 243.

ART. 20. REFERENCE

572. By consent. Any or all of the issues in an action, whether of fact or law, may be referred, upon the written consent of the parties, except in actions to annul a marriage, or for divorce and separation.

Rev., s. 518; Code, s. 420; C. C. P., s. 244.

It is proper that the agreement to refer should specify the issues of law and fact: Morisey v. Swinson, 104-555; see, also, Barrett v. Henry, 85-325. Consent once given to a reference cannot be recalled: McDaniel v. Scurlock, 115-295; Morisey v. Swinson, 104-555; White v. Utley, 86-415; Fleming v. Roberts, 77-415—and a waiver of a jury trial cannot be withdrawn; such waiver can be made by counsel without special authority, Stevenson v. Felton, 99-58. Order entered of record is sufficient “written consent”: White v. Utley, 86-415. Where no written consent, yet both parties appear and examine witnesses and report is made and confirmed and judgment rendered, from which there is appeal, too late to object to order of reference: Johnston v. Haynes, 68-509. It applies to all civil cases with the exceptions mentioned: Lee v. Thornton, 176-208. An order requiring a receiver to pass upon certain claims of creditors is in effect a reference: Riley v. Sears, 151-187.

A reference not excepted to is a reference by consent: Roughton v. Sawyer, 144-766; Kerr v. Hicks, 129-141; Blalock v. Mfg. Co., 110-107; Smith v. Hicks, 108-248; Rogers v. Bank, 108-574; Nissen v. Mining Co., 104-309; Grant v. Hughes, 96-177; Harris v. Shaffer, 92-30; Belvin v. Paper Co., 123-138; White v. Utley, 86-417; Atkinson v. Whitehead, 77-418; Armfield v. Brown, 70-27—and a reference by consent is a waiver of a jury trial, Simpson v. Scronce, 152-594; Roughton v. Sawyer, 144-766; Driller Co. v. Worth, 117-515; Collins v. Young, 118-265; Nissen v. Mining Co., 104-309; Grant v. Hughes, 96-177; Fertilizer Co. v. Reams, 105-291; Battle v. Mayo, 102-413; Grant v. Reese, 82-72; Overby v. Fayetteville, 81-56; Britt v. Benton, 79-177; Atkinson v. Whitehead, 77-418; Perry v. Tupper, 77-413; Lippard v. Roseman, 72-427; Armfield v. Brown, 70-27; Green v. Castlebury, 70-20; Kluttz v. McKenzie, 65-102; Stevenson v. Felton, 99-58; Carr v. Askew, 94-412.

The court cannot discontinue a reference by consent; it may be discontinued by the death of the referee or his removal for good cause: Perry v. Tupper, 77-413; Smith v. Hicks, 108-248; Patrick v. R. R., 101-602; Lance v. Russell, 157-448. Difference between reference hereunder and an arbitration: Lusk v. Clayton, 70-185; Peele v. R. R., 159-60. The court retains jurisdiction, with power to review and reverse the conclusions of law of the referee, and a discretion to modify or set aside the report, and its ruling in the latter respect is not reviewable unless it appears that such discretion has been abused: Brackett v. Gilliam, 125-380; Cummings v. Swepson, 124-579—also has power to make all necessary orders pending the trial, McNeill v. Lawton, 97-16; Credle v. Ayers, 126-11. A consent order may be changed to a compulsory order only by consent: Kerr v. Hicks, 129-141—and it will date as a compulsory order from the first, Ibid. Case citing section: Lumber Co. v. Lumber Co., 137-439.

573. Compulsory. Where the parties do not consent, the court may, upon the application of either, or of its own motion, direct a reference in the following cases:

Reference should not be ordered while there are pleas in bar not yet determined: Oldham v. Rieger, 145-254; Duckworth v. Duckworth, 144-620; Kerr v. Hicks, 129-141; Austin v. Stewart, 126-525; Bank v. Fid. Co., 126-320; Comrs. v. White, 123-534; Smith v. Goldsboro, 121-351; Roysters v. Wright, 118-152; Jones v. Beaman, 117-259; McMillan v. Baxley, 112-578; Bridgers v. Bridgers, 101-71; Grant v. Hughes, 96-177; Humble v. Mebane, 89-410; Price v. Eccles, 73-162; Neal v. Blackwell, 85-299; Sloan v. McMahon, 85-296; Cox v. Cox, 84-138; Clements v. Rogers, 95-248; Quarles v. Jenkins, 98-258; Comrs. v. Raleigh, 88-120; R. R. v. Morrison, 82-141; Douglas v. Caldwell, 64-372; Garland v. Arrowood, 172-591; Bank v. Warehouse Co., 172-602; Lee v. Thornton, 176-208; unless the plea does not apply to the whole cause of action: Alley v. Rogers, 170-538. Party objecting may appeal at once or after final judgment: Pritchett v. Greensboro Supply Co., 153-344.

Cases upon the question as to whether cause is a proper one to be referred: Pinchback v. Mining Co., 137-171; Bond v. Wilson, 137-145; Jones v. Sugg, 136-143. The refusal to refer is appealable: Jones v. Sugg, 136-143; Lee v. Baird, 134-410. Reference ought not to be made before issues are raised: Syme v. Bunting, 86-175; Lumber Co. v. McPherson, 133-287; Kerr v. Hicks, 131-90. The judge retains control of case under reference and may find facts himself from the evidence reported without a reference: Credle v. Ayers, 126-11; Brackett v. Gilliam, 125-380. Not error to refuse a compulsory reference when the motion to refer is not made until after the close of the evidence: Hughes v. Boone, 102-137; or after the jury has been impaneled: Peyton v. Shoe Co., 167-280.

1. Where the trial of an issue of fact requires the examination of a long account on either side; in which case the referee may be directed to hear and decide the whole issue, or to report upon any specific question of fact involved therein.

Ragland v. Lassiter, 174-579.

2. Where the taking of an account is necessary for the information of the court, before judgment, or for carrying a judgment or order into effect.

Smith v. Smith, 150-81; Albright v. Albright, 91-220; Chalk v. Bank, 87-200; Comrs. v. Magnin, 85-114; Leak v. Covington, 87-501; Grant v. Hughes, 94-755; Little v. Duncan, 89-416; Heilig v. Foard, 64-710. No reference ordered after final decree to ascertain facts taking place after judgment: White v. Butcher, 97-7; Pearson v. Carr, 97-194; McCall v. Webb, 126-762, and cases cited. Where an order of reference is made after the right to an account is established by the verdict of a jury, appeal can only be taken from final judgment after report: Jones v. Wooten, 137-421; Shankle v. Whitley, 131-168.

3. Where the case involves a complicated question of boundary, or one which requires a personal view of the premises.

Kelly v. Lumber Co., 157-175.

4. Where a question of fact other than upon the pleadings arises upon motion or otherwise, in any stage of the action.

5. Where the issues of fact and questions of fact arise in an action of which the courts of equity of the state had exclusive jurisdiction prior to the adoption of the constitution of one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, and in which the matter or amount in dispute is not less than the sum or value of five hundred dollars.

The compulsory reference under this section does not deprive either party of his constitutional right to a trial by jury of the issues of fact arising on the pleadings, but such trial shall be only upon the written evidence taken before the referee.

Either party is entitled to a jury trial, where the reference is compulsory, if demanded in apt time, and he should, by exceptions, distinctly designate the controverted facts that he demands shall be determined: Baker v. Edwards, 176-229; Goldwin v. Jernigan, 174-76; Robinson v. Johnson, 174-232; Loan Co. v. Yokley, 174-573; Bradshaw v. Lumber Co., 172-219; Marler v. Golden, 172-823; Alley v. Rogers, 170-538; Keerl v. Hayes, 166-553; Wynn v. Bullock, 154-383; Ogden v. Land Co., 146-443; Bruce v. Mining Co., 147-642; Kerr v. Hicks, 131-90; Wilson v. Featherstone, 120-446; Taylor v. Smith, 118-127; Driller Co. v. Worth, 117-515; Yelverton v. Coley, 101-248; McDaniel v. Scurlock, 115-295; Blalock v. Mfg. Co., 110-99; Smith v. Hicks, 108-248; Grant v. Hughes, 96-177; Carr v. Askew, 94-194; Harris v. Shaffer, 92-30; Gold Co. v. Ore Co., 79-48; Atkinson v. Whitehead, 77-419; Keener v. Finger, 70-35; Green v. Castleberry, 70-20; Armfield v. Brown, 70-27. A party demanding jury trial may withdraw such demand: Greenlee v. Greenlee, 150-638. The court may set aside a compulsory reference and grant a jury trial: Rogers v. Lumber Co., 154-108. A jury trial, upon exceptions taken, is had upon the evidence taken by the referee: Moore v. Westbrook, 156-482; see Kerr v. Hicks, 131-90; but the referee's findings of fact are not admissible: Bradshaw v. Lumber Co., 172-219.

Rev., s. 519; Code, s. 421; 1897, c. 237, ss. 1, 2; C. C. P., s. 245; 1917, c. 280; 1919, c. 7.

574. How referee chosen or appointed. In all cases of reference the parties as to whom issues are joined in the action (except when the defendant is an infant or an absentee) may agree in writing upon a person or persons, not exceeding three, and a reference shall be ordered to him or them, and to no other person or persons. And if such parties do not agree, the court shall appoint one or more referees, not more than three, who are free from exception. No person may be appointed referee to whom all parties in the action object. No judge or justice of any court may sit as referee in an action pending in the court of which he is judge or justice, and not already referred, unless the parties otherwise stipulate.

Rev., s. 520; Code, s. 423; C. C. P., s. 247.

See annotations under section 572.

575. Referees may administer oaths. Every referee has power to administer oaths in any proceeding before him, and has generally the power vested in a referee by law.

Rev., s. 521; Code, s. 599; C. C. P., s. 356.

See section 576.

576. Powers of referee of trial. The trial by referees shall be conducted in the same manner as a trial by the court. Referees have the same power to grant adjournments and to allow amendments to pleadings and to the summons as the court upon such trial, upon the same terms and with like effect. They shall have the same power to preserve order and punish all violations thereof upon such trial, and to compel the attendance of witnesses before them by attachment and to punish them as for contempt for nonattendance or refusal to be sworn or to testify, as is possessed by the court.

Rev., s. 522; Code, s. 422; C. C. P., s. 246.

For report, exceptions, trial by jury of issues, etc., see under section 579.

POWERS OF REFEREE. Has no inherent powers, but those granted by law and authorized by the court: Cummings v. Swepson, 124-584; Jones v. Beaman, 117-259. Has power to enforce obedience to his rulings just as the court would have at trial: LaFontaine v. Underwriters, 83-132—to make new parties, Koonce v. Pelletier, 115-235; Perkins v. Berry, 103-131—to allow amendments to pleadings, Blanton v. Bostie, 126-418; Jones v. Beaman, 117-259; Gillam v. Ins. Co., 121-373—to direct a nonsuit, Stith v. Jones, 119-428; McNeill v. Lawton, 97-16—to tax costs of reference, Wharton v. Gattis, 91-53. Has no power to dismiss action for want of jurisdiction in the superior court: Austin v. Stewart, 126-525. Credibility of a witness is for the referee to determine, Harris v. Smith, 144-439. When three referees have been selected, two cannot act without due notice to third to attend: Drainage District v. Parks, 170-435. To punish for contempt, see section 983.

THE TRIAL BY REFEREE. Rules for trial: Green v. Castlebury, 70-20; Battle v. Mayo, 102-413. Method of noting exceptions to referee's ruling in apt time: Armfield v. Colvert, 103-147. What referee should find in action against guardian for renting ward's land privately: Duffy v. Williams, 133-195. In a reference in an action involving the validity of a deed, referee must find as to bona fides of conveyance: Blalock v. Mfg. Co., 110-99. Referee is justified in not considering evidence when it is not competent for jury to consider: Stephenson v. Felton, 106-114. A referee is not bound to the findings of fact of the trial court when such findings were, by agreement of parties, only for the purpose of construing the will: Lee v. Baird, 134-410.

577. Testimony reduced to writing. The testimony of all witnesses on both sides must be reduced to writing by the referee, or under his direction, and signed by the witnesses, and the evidence so taken and signed shall be filed in the cause, and constitute a part of the record.

Rev., s. 523; 1897, c. 237, s. 3.

All the testimony must be reported as taken and copies of all documents considered by referee must be filed with the papers: Tharington v. Tharington, 99-118; Perkins v. Berry, 103-131; Comrs. v. Magnin, 85-114; Cain v. Nicholson, 77-411—and if all the evidence is not sent up, the court can order the remainder to be sent up, Perkins v. Berry, 103-131; Williams v. Whiting, 92-683—but the fact that evidence is not sent up is no ground for exception, Perkins v. Berry, 103-131; Mfg. Co. v. Williamson, 100-83.

578. Report; review and judgment. The referee shall make and deliver a report, within the time ordered by the court, to the clerk of the court in which the action is pending. Either party, during the term or upon ten days notice to the adverse party out of term, may move the judge to review the report, and set aside, modify or confirm it in whole or in part, and no judgment may be entered on any reference except by order of the judge.

For annotations on contents of report, exceptions, confirmation, trial by jury, appeal, see section 579. The judge, in his discretion, may set aside a reference after the report is filed and proceed to try the case: Cummings v. Swepson, 124-579; Bushee v. Surles, 79-51—and his ruling in this respect is not reviewable: Cummings v. Swepson, 124-579; Bushee v. Surles, 79-51. He may review the report and modify it, or set it aside and make the findings himself from the evidence presented: Dumas v. Morrison, 175-431. When and to whom report made and where motions with reference thereto heard: McNeill v. Hodges, 99-248. Judge cannot exercise his authority "out of term" except in county where action pending: McNeill v. Hodges, 99-248; Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-457; Skinner v. Terry, 107-103; Godwin v. Monds, 101-354.

579. Report, contents and effect. The referee must state the facts found and the conclusions of law separately. His decision must be given, and may be excepted to and reviewed in like manner and with like effect in all respects as in cases of appeal; and he may in like manner settle a case or exceptions. The report of the referee upon the whole issue stands as the decision of the court, and judgment may be entered thereon upon application to the judge. When the reference is to report the facts, the report has the effect of a special verdict.

THE REPORT. It should not be argumentative: Weisel v. Cobb, 118-11. The report should state distinctly and separately the conclusions as to law and fact: Barcroft v. Roberts, 91-363; Cooper v. Middleton, 94-86; Earp v. Richardson, 75-84; Klutts v. McKenzie, 65-102—must state all facts constituting the defense and not leave to inference what is the fact to be found, Cooper v. Middleton, 94-93—must state all the items of account in detail between the parties, Sharpe v. Eliason, 116-665; Gore v. Lewis, 109-539; Cain v. Nicholson, 77-411; McCampbell v. McClung, 75-393—must state the account according to method pointed out by order, Burke v. Turner, 89-246—must be accompanied by the testimony, Perkins v. Berry, 103-131; Barbee v. Green, 92-471; Comrs. v. Magnin, 85-114; Cain v. Nicholson, 77-411; see, also, section 577—and if not so accompanied, court may order sent up, Perkins v. Berry, 103-131. Cases where question of designation of parties to whom accounts due arises: Perkins v. Berry, 103-131. Proper method of stating account in foreclosure of mortgage: Knight v. Houghtalling, 91-246. Findings of fact as a special verdict: Morisey v. Swinson, 104-555; see Lawrence v. Hyman, 79-209.

EXCEPTIONS TO REPORT. Report is reviewed, not by appeal, but by exceptions taken to the report: Green v. Castlebury, 70-20. The exceptions must point out specifically the errors complained of: Ogden v. Land Co., 146-443; Battle v. Mayo, 102-413; Wilson v. Featherstone, 120-446; Perkins v. Berry, 103-131; Mfg. Co. v. Brooks, 106-113; Tilley v. Bivens, 110-343; Wiley v. Logan, 95-358; Cooper v. Middleton, 94-86; Worthy v. Brower, 93-344; Morrison v. Baker, 81-76; Suit v. Suit, 78-272; Currie v. McNeill, 83-176; Green v. Castleberry, 77-164; Brumble v. Brown, 71-513; Whitford v. Foy, 71-527—for the court will not examine into every item of every line of record to ascertain its meaning, Whitford v. Foy, 71-527; Battle v. Mayo, 102-413; Young v. Kennedy, 95-265; Mfg. Co. v. Brooks, 106-113. A motion to exclude certain items in a final report will be treated as an exception thereto: Rogers v. Bank, 108-574. An exception for finding upon insufficient evidence should be filed with the referee and reviewed by the judge: Moore v. Westbrook, 156-482. An exception as to a finding of fact will not be heard where claim not presented, nor evidence introduced before the referee in apt time: Overby v. Fayetteville, 81-56; Nash v. Taylor, 3-174. Exception must be filed at the term to which the report is made, though court can extend time: Kerr v. Hicks, 131-90; R. R. v. King, 125-454; Johnson v. Loftin, 111-323; McNeill v. Hodges, 105-52; Long v. Logan, 86-535; Comrs. v. Magnin, 85-117; University v. Lassiter, 83-38; State v. Peebles, 67-97—but judge can refuse to consider them when not filed in time, Shields v. McNeill, 118-590. Exceptions to ruling of referee as to competency of evidence: Vestal v. Sloan, 83-555; Shehan v. Malone, 71-440.

HEARING UPON EXCEPTIONS. The court must review and pass upon all exceptions to the report, and modify or confirm them according to his judgment; his conclusions upon exceptions of law are reviewable, but not upon exceptions of fact: Miller v. Groome, 109-148. His refusal to pass upon report under consent reference is reviewable: Stevenson v. Felton, 99-58. He must review the findings of the referee, not simply decide whether there is any evidence to sustain them: Thompson v. Smith, 156-345; s. c., 160-256; Overman v. Lanier, 156-537.

Referee's findings of fact are presumed to be right, but presumption rebuttable, when: Green v. Jones, 78-265. Referee's findings of fact are conclusive when not excepted to, and if they are adopted by the court, by being affirmed, such findings are conclusive unless found without evidence or upon improper evidence: Mfg. Co. v. Lumber Co., 177-404; McGeorge v. Nicola, 173-707; Marler v. Golden, 172-823; McCullers v. Cheatham, 163-61; Mirror Co. v. Casualty Co., 153-373; Williams v. Hyman, 153-166; Baggett v. Wilson, 152-182; Bailey v. Hopkins, 152-748; Foy v. Gray, 148-436; Henderson v. McLain, 146-329; Frey v. Lumber Co., 144-759; Thornton v. McNeely, 144-622; Harris v. Smith, 144-439; Ramsey v. Browder, 136-251; Lambertson v. Vann, 134-109; Malloy v. Cotton Mills, 132-432; Lewis v. Covington, 130-541; Holt v. Johnson, 129-138; Dunn v. Beaman, 126-764; Bank v. Loughran, 126-814; Lenoir v. Linville Imp. Co., 126-922; Lewis v. Overby, 126-347; Cochran v. Imp. Co., 127-386; Holt v. Couch, 125-456; Boyle v. Stallings, 140-527; Wadesboro v. Atkinson, 107-317; Jordan v. Bryan, 103-59; Kitchin v. Grandy, 101-86; Strauss v. Frederick, 98-60; Battle v. Mayo, 102-435, and cases cited; Vaughan v. Lewellyn, 94-472; Cooper v. Middleton, 94-86; DePriest v. Patterson, 92-399; Usry v. Suit, 91-406; see, also, Dunavant v. R. R., 122-999; Collins v. Young, 118-265. If the judge below makes no findings of facts, it will be presumed he adopted the referee's findings: McEwen v. Loucheim, 115-348; Battle v. Mayo, 102-413; Barbee v. Green, 92-471. Where exception is made that referee failed to pass upon certain evidence, it is competent for the judge to pass thereon and find the facts: Credle v. Ayers, 126-11; Wallace v. Douglas, 103-19.

Where exception because referee failed to find as to a particular fact, and report recommended, he will not be allowed to except to second report on ground that it is a mixed question of law and fact: Tyson v. Tyson, 92-288. An exception to referee's conclusion that plaintiff cannot recover opens up both findings of law and fact for review by the judge: Brackett v. Gilliam, 125-382. When facts stated as ground for exception conflict with the findings of the referee, the exception should be overruled: Smith v. Smith, 101-461. It is error for judge to pass upon exceptions to unfinished report: White v. Utley, 86-415. Except by consent, exceptions cannot be heard or orders made outside of county where action pending: McNeill v. Hodges, 99-248.

The court can, in its discretion, set aside a reference to state an account, after report made and exceptions filed, and proceed to try the case: Bushee v. Surles, 79-51; Cummings v. Swepson, 124-579. A party paying the amount found to be due by report before confirmation does so subject to the power of the court to modify the report: West v. Laughinghouse, 174-214.

RECOMMENDED TO REFEREE, WHEN. The fact that a referee has not found the facts upon which the report is based must be taken advantage of by a motion to recommit: Blalock v. Mfg. Co., 110-99; Scroggs v. Stevenson, 100-354; Tilley v. Bivens, 110-343. Where referee fails to find the facts upon which the plea of the statute of limitations can be determined: French v. Richardson, 167-41; Lanning v. Comrs., 106-505; see, also, Foushee v. Beckwith, 119-178—where fails to state fully the findings of fact so the conclusions of law thereon may be reviewed: Tilley v. Bivens, 110-343; Norment v. Brown, 79-363—where no facts are found by either referee or judge, Foushee v. Beckwith, 119-178; Lanning v. Comrs., 106-505—where report is imperfect or unsatisfactory, Grant v. Bell, 90-558; but see Grant v. Edwards, 92-442. No appeal from an order to recommit: Chemical Co. v. Lackey, 140-32. Where report recommitment to referee to have report reformed so as to conform to jury's verdict upon the issues based upon exceptions, not reviewable: Kerr v. Hicks, 122-409. When superior court recommitments without objection, complaining party cannot except to report reformed in the manner directed: Cowles v. Curry, 96-331. A report will not be rereferred where the same, though informal, furnishes the information required: Gulley v. Macy, 89-343. For right to jury trial, see section 573.

JUDGMENT UPON REPORT. The findings of the referee, when reviewed and corrected, becomes the judgment of the court: Armfield v. Brown, 70-29—and such reviewing and correcting is res judicata and cannot be passed upon by another judge: Alexander v. Alexander, 120-472; Scroggs v. Stevenson, 100-354. If no exception filed, the referee's finding as to a particular fact should be confirmed: Chard v. Warren, 122-75. In cases purely equitable in their nature, if an account has been taken and report made, the plaintiff will not be allowed to suffer judgment of nonsuit: Boyle v. Stallings, 140-524.

APPEALS TO SUPREME COURT. Where report recommitment to be conformed to a ruling by the superior court upon an exception, the appeal must be from the judgment on final report and not from decision on exception: Wallace v. Douglas, 105-42; McLean v. Breece, 113-390; Leak v. Covington, 95-193; Torrence v. Davidson, 90-2; Grant v. Reese, 90-3; Lutz v. Cline, 89-186; Jones v. Call, 89-188. The supreme court will only consider exceptions to the rulings of the court below in confirming or disaffirming the report: Perry v. Hardison, 99-21; see, also, Scroggs v. Stevenson, 100-354, and Tyson v. Tyson, 100-360; Williamson v. Bitting, 159-321. Where the findings of fact are approved by the court below, and there is some evidence to support them, the supreme court can only correct the errors of law: Rhyne v. Love, 98-486; Thornton v. McNeely, 144-622; Wiley v. Logan, 95-358; Wadesboro v. Atkinson, 107-317; Morisey v. Swinson, 104-555; Nissen v. Mining Co., 104-309; Howerton v. Sexton, 104-75; Kitchin v. Grandy, 101-86; Abernathy v. Withers, 99-520; Reaves v. Davis, 99-425; Jeffords v. Waterworks Co., 157-10; Thompson v. Smith, 156-345; s. e., 160-256; Brown v. R. R., 154-300.

Where reference was by consent, the findings of fact will not be reviewed when approved by the superior court, except upon the ground, if taken in apt time, that there is no testimony to support them or that testimony is incompetent: Cotton Mills v. Cotton Mills, 115-475; McEwen v. Loucheim, 115-348; Turner v. Shuffler, 108-642; Whitehead v. Whitehurst, 108-458; Joyner v. Stancill, 108-153; Roper v. Burton, 107-526; Battle v. Mayo, 102-413; Smith v. Smith, 101-461; Grant v. Reese, 94-720; Vaughan v. Lewellyn, 94-472; Hanner v. McAdoo, 86-370; Hunter v. Kelly, 92-285. The supreme court will not entertain an objection made for the first time that the findings of fact were not supported by evidence: Joyner v. Stancill, 108-153; Hawkins v. Cedar Works, 122-87. After supreme court has rendered final judgment, the superior court cannot order a further reference: Pearson v. Carr, 97-194. Supreme court may order account restated: Gore v. Lewis, 109-539.

Exceptions should be specific and not general: Sturtevant v. Cotton Mills, 171-119; Comrs. v. Erwin, 140-193; see, also, Wiley v. Logan, 95-358. How appeals taken on the ground that there is no evidence to support the findings of fact made or adopted by the judge below: Battle v. Mayo, 102-413. A ruling by referee, confirmed by judge, will not be disturbed when no exception appears in record: Bank v. Bank, 138-467. When exceptions to referee's report are overruled and judgment is affirmed, such exceptions cannot be reviewed: Burwell v. Burgwyn, 105-507. Sending case up to the supreme court, how exceptions, etc., set out: Bank v. Mfg. Co., 96-298. The supreme court does not try to ascertain what facts the evidence warranted: Battle v. Mayo, 102-413; Patterson v. Wadsworth, 89-407. Refusal of superior court to set aside referee's report for newly discovered evidence not reviewable: Henderson v. McLain, 146-329. Where case is remanded by supreme court with orders that referee modify his report to conform to rulings of the court, the referee need not give notice to the parties: Gay v. Grant, 116-93. Where jury trial is reserved and the report is heard on exceptions, an appeal from judgment rendered is premature: Pritchett v. R. R., 157-88.

ART. 21. ISSUES

580. Defined. Issues arise upon the pleadings, when a material fact or conclusion of law is maintained by one party and controverted by the other. They are of two kinds:

Tucker v. Satterthwaite, 120-121; Christmas v. Haywood, 119-130; Miller v. Miller, 89-209; McElwee v. Blackwell, 82-345; Fortescue v. Crawford, 105-29; Patton v. R. R., 96-455; Wright v. Cain, 93-296; Armfield v. Brown, 70-27; Klutts v. McKenzie, 65-102; Heilig v. Stokes, 63-612.

1. Of law.

See section 581.

2. Of fact.

“Issues of fact” are technical words; they mean such matters of fact as are put in issue by pleadings and a decision of which would be final and conclude the parties upon the matters in controversy: Heilig v. Stokes, 63-614; see, also, cases under section 582. Section merely referred to: Stancill v. Spain, 133-79; McQueen v. Bank, 111-515; Gregory v. Pinnix, 158-147.

Rev., s. 544; Code, s. 391; C. C. P., s. 219.

581. Of law. An issue of law arises upon a demurrer to the complaint, answer or reply, or to some part thereof.

Rev., s. 545; Code, s. 392; C. C. P., s. 220.

Andrews v. Pritchett, 66-387; see, also, section 511.

582. Of fact. An issue of fact arises—

1. Upon a material allegation in the complaint controverted by the answer; or,

An issue of fact is where a matter is alleged on one side and denied on the other, the decision of which would be final and conclude the parties as to the matter in controversy: Roper v. Leary, 171-35; Kirk v. R. R., 97-82; Wright v. Cotten, 140-1; Crawford v. Masters, 140-205; Tucker v. Satterthwaite, 120-118; Patton v. R. R., 96-455; McAdoo v. R. R., 105-140; Armfield v. Brown, 70-27; Heilig v. Stokes, 63-612; Klutts v. McKenzie, 65-102. An issue as to whether one is indebted to another is an issue of fact and not of law: Jordan v. Farthing, 117-181. “Whether plaintiff is entitled to recover” is a question of law arising upon the answers to the issues, and is not an issue of fact: Braswell v. Johnston, 108-150; Nathan v. R. R., 118-1066; Denmark v. R. R., 107-185. Where answer raises a material issue, though matter not alleged in complaint, the issue may be submitted: Shaw v. McNeill, 95-535; Main v. Field, 144-307. Where a material defense is pleaded, an issue should be submitted on it: Owens v. Phelps, 95-286. The answer simply denying knowledge of facts alleged in complaint does not put these facts in issue: Woodcock v. Bostie, 128-243—nor does a demand of strict proof of such facts, Ibid.

Issues of fact and questions of fact distinguished: Vanderbilt v. Roberts, 162-273; R. R. v. Gahagan, 161-191; York v. McCall, 160-276; Creed v. Marshall, 160-394; Goode v. Rogers, 126-62; Keener v. Finger, 70-35; Beavans v. Goodrich, 98-217; Foushee v. Pattershall, 67-453.

Only such issues as arise on the pleadings and are material to the final adjudication of the controversy should be submitted: McKenzie v. McKenzie, 153-242; Shoe Co. v. Hughes, 122-296; Clark v. Guano Co., 144-64; Patterson v. Mills, 121-258; Coley v. Statesville, 121-301; Tucker v. Satterthwaite, 120-118; Cornelius v. Brawley, 109-542; Fortescue v. Crawford, 105-29; Howard v. Early, 126-170; Sprinkle v. Ins. Co., 126-678; Bean v. R. R., 107-731; Emery v. R. R., 102-209; Davidson v. Gifford, 100-18; Carpenter v. Tucker, 98-316; Patton v. R. R., 96-455; Cuthbertson v. Ins. Co., 96-480; Quarles v. Jenkins, 98-258; Kirk v. R. R., 97-82; Carr v. Askew, 94-212; Wright v. Cain, 93-296; Miller v. Miller, 89-209; Grant v. Bell, 87-34; Cedar Falls Co. v. Wallace, 83-225; Armfield v. Brown, 70-27; Heilig v. Stokes, 63-612.

Issues should not be submitted which are not raised by the pleadings: Henderson v. R. R., 171-397; Carroll v. James, 156-68; Streator v. Streator, 145-337; Dickens v. Perkins, 134-220, and cases therein cited; Sprinkle v. Indemnity Co., 126-678; Christman v. Haywood, 119-130; Clark v. Guano Co., 144-64; Sprague v. Bond, 113-551; McAbsher v. R. R., 108-344; Carpenter v. Tucker, 98-316; Lewis v. R. R., 95-179; Willis v. Branch, 94-142—which have no evidence to support them, Ellerbe v. R. R., 118-1024; Vanstory v. Thornton, 112-196; Best v. Frederick, 84-176—which are on points not material to the adjudication of the case, Henry v. Rich, 64-379; Simmons v. Allison, 118-761; Horne v. Bank, 108-109; Mace v. Life Assn., 101-122; Cummings v. Barber, 99-332; McMillan v. Baker, 97-197; Cuthbertson v. Ins. Co., 96-480; McDonald v. Carson, 94-497; Willis v. Branch, 94-142—where issues arise upon matters evidential, Wright v. Cotten, 140-1; Jackson v. Tel. Co., 139-347; Coxe v. Singleton, 139-361; Patterson v. Mills, 121-266; Cornelius v. Brawley, 109-548; Howard v. Early, 126-170; Patton v. R. R., 96-455; Fortescue v. Crawford, 105-29; Wright v. Cain, 93-296.

Issues are sufficient when they are so framed as to allow the parties to present every phase of the controversy arising upon the pleadings: Power Co. v. Power Co., 171-248; Carr v. Alexander, 169-665; Goins v. Indian Training School, 169-736; Gross v. McBrayer, 159-372; Roberts v. Baldwin, 155-276; Bell v. McJones, 151-85; Tuttle v. Tuttle, 146-484; Johnston v. Lumber Co., 144-717; Clark v. Guano Co., 144-64; Main v. Field, 144-307; Kimberly v. Howland, 143-398; Jackson v. Tel. Co., 139-347; Grocery Co. v. R. R., 136-396; Albert v. Ins. Co., 122-92; Luttrell v. Martin, 112-593; Pretzfelder v. Ins. Co., 123-164; Ricks v. Stancill, 119-99; Bradsher v. Hightower, 118-399; Downs v. High Point, 115-182; Kimsey v. Munday, 112-816; Hamilton v. Buchanan, 112-463; Meredith v. Cranberry Co., 99-576; Willis v. R. R., 122-905; Black v. Black, 110-398. See section 584.

Where issues not arising on pleadings are submitted without objection, the findings must stand: Ferrell v. Hinton, 161-348; Porter v. R. R., 97-66; Carey v. Carey, 108-267; Chemical Co. v. Johnson, 101-223; Gatling v. Boone, 101-61; Clements v. Rogers, 95-248; Wilson v. Hughes, 94-182—also where an issue arising on pleadings is not submitted and party does not object, Wagon Co. v. Byrd, 119-461.

CASES THROWING SOME LIGHT ON PROPER ISSUES OF FACT: In action for goods sold and delivered, Coal Co. v. Ice Co., 134-574; Pickey v. Merrimon, 79-585—for specific recovery of a chattel, Wilson v. Hughes, 94-182—for recovery on policy of fire insurance, Pretzfelder v. Ins. Co., 123-164; Cuthbertson v. Ins. Co., 96-480—for recovery on policy of life insurance, Kendrick v. Ins. Co., 124-315; Maynard v. Ins. Co., 132-711—for damages for conversion of personal property, Rhea v. Deaver, 85-337—for recovery of land, generally, Vanderbilt v. Brown, 128-498; Love v. Gregg, 117-467; Vaughan v. Parker, 112-96; Kimsey v. Munday, 112-816; Redmond v. Mullenax, 113-505; Gordon v. Collett, 102-532; Davidson v. Gifford, 100-18; Casey v. Cooper, 99-395; Morrison v. Watson, 95-479; Check v. Watson, 90-302; Overcash v. Kitchie, 89-384—for recovery of land partly owned by wife which was sold under execution against husband, Ray v. Long, 132-891—for sale of decedent's land for assets, Stainback v. Harris, 115-100—for land fraudulently sold by administrator, Morrow v. Cole, 132-678—for reexecution of paper alleged to be lost, Hendon v. R. R., 125-124—for debt on promissory note, Parrish v. Graham, 129-230; Reade v. Street, 122-301; Wiggins v. Kirkpatrick, 114-298; Carrington v. Allen, 87-354—for debt on note of deceased where administrator sets up mental incapacity, etc., on part of maker, Ducker v. Whitson, 112-44—for processioning boundary lines, Williams v. Hughes, 124-3—to set aside deed as fraudulent, Redmond v. Chandley, 119-575—for breach of contract, Crews v. Cantwell, 125-516; Spencer v. Fortescue, 112-268.

In an action for injury or death by negligence of other than railroad company, Womble v. Gro. Co., 135-474; McDougald v. Lumberton, 129-200; Rittenhouse v. Street Ry. Co., 120-544; Andrews v. Tel. Co., 119-403; Sherrill v. Tel. Co., 117-352; Brunhild v. Potter, 107-415—for injury or death by negligence of railroad company, Griffin v. R. R., 134-101; Mott v. R. R., 131-234; Curtis v. R. R., 130-437; McCall v. R. R., 129-298; Edwards v. R. R., 129-78; Pierce v. R. R., 124-83; Bradley v. R. R., 126-735; Cox v. R. R., 123-604; Norton v. R. R., 122-910; Willis v. R. R., 122-905; Kinney v. R. R., 122-961; Nathan v. R. R., 118-1066; Baker v. R. R., 118-1015; Ellerbe v. R. R., 118-1024; Pickett v. R. R., 117-616; Denmark v. R. R., 107-185; McAdoo v. R. R., 105-140; Deberry v. R. R., 100-310; Bottoms v. R. R., 109-72; Smith v. R. R., 99-241; Kirk v. R. R., 97-82; Scott v. R. R., 96-428—issue as to contributory negligence should generally be submitted separately: Hall v. R. R., 172-347; s. e., 167-284.

In a proceeding for probate of will, Cornelius v. Brawley, 109-542—for recovery for services rendered decedent under a special contract, Tussey v. Owen, 139-457; Hatcher v. Dabbs, 133-

239—for damages for malicious prosecution and false arrest, Kelly v. Traction Co., 133-418—for malicious prosecution and slander, McGowan v. McGowan, 122-148—for negligent injury to land by canal, Pinnix v. Canal Co., 132-124—for recovery against surety where he relies on release by extension of time to principal: Sutton v. Walters, 118-495—for partition of land where issue of sole seizin, Henning v. Warner, 109-406; Gregory v. Pinnix, 158-147—for damages for diverting water, Geer v. Water Co., 127-350—for false warranty of machinery accepted, Mfg. Co. v. Gray, 129-438—to correct mistake in deed, Warehouse Co. v. Ozment, 132-839—for specific performance of contract, Boles v. Caudle, 133-532—where interpleader in attachment, Mfg. Co. v. Tierney, 133-630—for cancellation of deed and damages, Gillis v. Arringdale, 135-295—for damages for mental anguish, Hunter v. Tel. Co., 135-458; Sherrill v. Tel. Co., 117-532—for trespass on land, Lumber Co. v. Lumber Co., 137-432—for negligence of two railroads, Martin v. R. R., 148-259.

2. Upon new matter in the answer, controverted by the reply; or,
3. Upon new matter in the reply, unless an issue of law is joined thereon.

Nimocks v. McIntyre, 120-325.

Rev., s. 546; Code, s. 393; C. C. P., s. 221.

583. Order of trial. Issues both of law and of fact may arise upon different parts of the pleadings in the same action. In these cases the issues of law must be first tried, unless the court otherwise directs.

Rev., s. 547; Code, s. 394; C. C. P., s. 222.

Pleas in bar must be tried before a reference ordered: Sloan v. McMahan, 85-296; Smith v. Goldsboro, 121-350; Woody v. Brooks, 102-334; see, also, cases under section 573.

584. Form and preparation. Issues shall be framed in concise and direct terms, and prolixity and confusion must be avoided by not having too many issues. The issues arising upon the pleadings, material to be tried, must be made up by the attorneys appearing in the action, or by the judge presiding, and reduced to writing, before or during the trial.

Rev., ss. 548-9; Code, ss. 395-6.

FORM OF ISSUES. The number and form of issues within the discretion of the judge; they should present the material facts arising upon the pleadings, and afford an opportunity to the parties to present every phase of the controversy: Potato Co. v. Jeanette, 174-236; Vinson v. Pugh, 173-189; Milliken v. Sessoms, 173-723; McNeeley v. Shoe Co., 170-278; Lumber Co. v. Mfg. Co., 162-395; Alford v. Moore, 161-382; Garrison v. Machine Co., 159-285; Kivett v. Telegraph Co., 156-296; Fields v. Bynum, 156-413; Gallimore v. Grubb, 156-575; Houston v. Traction Co., 155-4; In re Herring's Will, 152-258; Dortch v. R. R., 148-575; Tuttle v. Tuttle, 146-484; Ormond v. Ins. Co., 145-140; Elks v. Hemby, 160-20; Paper Co. v. Chronicle, 115-147; Moseley v. Johnson, 144-263; Ruffin v. R. R., 142-120; Wilson v. Cotton Mills, 140-52; Coxe v. Singleton, 139-361; Deaver v. Deaver, 137-246; Ratliff v. Ratliff, 131-425; Rittenhouse v. Street Ry., 120-544; Bradley v. R. R., 126-735; Williams v. Gill, 122-967; Redmond v. Chandley, 119-575; Sherrill v. Tel. Co., 117-352; Pickett v. R. R., 117-616; Simmons v. Allison, 118-778; Jordan v. Farthing, 117-181; Cotton Mills v. Abernathy, 115-402; Fleming v. R. R., 115-676; Redmond v. Mullenax, 113-505; Vaughan v. Parker, 112-96; Allen v. Allen, 114-121; Humphrey v. Church, 109-132; Bonds v. Smith, 106-553; Grubbs v. Ins. Co., 108-478; Waller v. Bowling, 108-294; Everett v. Williamson, 107-204; Boyer v. Teague, 106-576; Lineberger v. Tidwell, 104-506; Emery v. R. R., 102-209; Brown v. Mitchell, 102-347; Mace v. Life Ins. Co., 101-122; Cuthbertson v. Ins. Co., 96-480. See other cases cited below in this section, and also cases under section 582.

Failure to submit an issue on contributory negligence is not error where the party has had the benefit of his contention on other issues: Carter v. Leaksville, 174-561. A separate issue as to contributory negligence is not necessary under the Federal Employers' Liability Act: Lloyd v. R. R., 166-24. For improper form of issue as to the last clear chance: Cullifer v. R. R., 168-309. Each cause of action or defense should have a separate issue: Carter v.

McGill, 168-507; s. c., 171-775. In an action for breach of warranty there should be two issues, as to the warranty and the damages: Grocery Co. v. Vernoy, 167-427. Form of issues in slander: Hamilton v. Nance, 159-56. A defective issue may be cured by the manner of the judge's presenting it to the jury: Richardson v. Edwards, 156-590.

SUBMISSION OF ISSUES. This section contemplates that the issues shall be drawn before the introduction of testimony: Beasley v. Surles, 140-605; and only such as are material to be tried, Cecil v. Henderson, 121-246. The court should submit every material issue raised by the pleadings unless waived by the parties: Gordon v. Collett, 104-381; McDonald v. Carson, 94-497. This section is mandatory, and binding equally upon the court and counsel, and it is the duty of the judge to submit all necessary issues arising upon the pleadings: Tucker v. Satterthwaite, 120-118; Falkner v. Pileher, 137-449; Burton v. Mfg. Co., 132-17; Shoe Co. v. Hughes, 122-296; Strauss v. Wilmington, 129-99; Denmark v. R. R., 107-185; Davidson v. Gifford, 100-18; Porter v. R. R., 97-66; Bowen v. Whitaker, 92-367; Arnold v. Estis, 92-162; Rudasill v. Falls, 92-222. The discretion of the judge in settling the issues is not reviewable, if the parties have reasonable opportunity to present the whole controversy: Bank v. Ins. Co., 150-770; Ives v. Lumber Co., 147-306; Cunningham v. R. R., 139-427; unless the discretion operates to a party's injury: Williams v. Gill, 122-967; Pickett v. R. R., 117-616. See, also, cases cited above in this section and under section 582.

The issues must be made up by the attorneys: Tucker v. Satterthwaite, 120-121; Wilson v. Featherstone, 120-448; Bowen v. Whitaker, 92-367; or by the judge: see the same cases, and also Springer v. Shavender, 116-12; Emery v. R. R., 102-209; Fisher v. Mining Co., 94-397; McDonald v. Carson, 94-497. The judge may submit others when the parties have agreed upon the issues: Lumber Co. v. Lumber Co., 135-744; or he may change them during the trial: Blackwell v. R. R., 111-151; Buffkins v. Eason, 112-162. Submitting an unnecessary issue, which does not prejudice the rights of the party objecting, is harmless error: Walker v. Walker, 151-164.

Counsel's duty to tender the issues: Mfg. Co. v. Cloer, 140-128; Pollock v. Warwick, 104-638; Mining Co. v. Smelting Co., 99-445; Simmons v. Mann, 92-12; Oakley v. Van Noppen, 95-60—and if he does not, he cannot be heard to say after the trial that issues which might properly have been submitted were not: McCall v. Galloway, 162-353; Davidson v. R. R., 156-579; Rich v. Morisey, 149-37; Wagon Co. v. Byrd, 119-460; Walker v. Scott, 106-56, and cases cited; Pollock v. Warwick, 104-638; Alexander v. Robinson, 85-275; Silver Valley Co. v. Baltimore Co., 99-445; Oakley v. Van Noppen, 95-60; Simmons v. Mann, 92-12; McDonald v. Carson, 95-377; Kidder v. McIlhenny, 81-123; Curtis v. Cash, 84-41—and if a material issue is not tendered and the issues submitted are not objected to, party cannot complain, Maxwell v. McIver, 113-288—but it is not incumbent upon party to tender issue when court has already declared it would not be submitted, Falkner v. Pileher, 137-451. When the issues tendered refer to facts admitted or embraced in other issues, it is not error to refuse them: Newkirk v. Stevens, 152-498. Issues tendered upon evidential matter, or upon which no evidence is offered, should be refused: Morrisette v. Cotton Mills, 151-31; Ives v. Lumber Co., 147-306; Clothing Co. v. Stadiem, 149-6.

Issues that are submitted by the judge without objection on the part of counsel cannot be made the ground of exception: Carey v. Carey, 108-267; Cotton Mills v. Abernathy, 115-402; Lewis v. Foard, 112-402; Lowe v. Elliott, 107-718; Chemical Co. v. Johnson, 101-223; Gatling v. Boone, 101-61; Phifer v. Alexander, 97-335; Porter v. R. R., 97-66; Clements v. Rogers, 95-248; Moore v. Hill, 85-218; Wilson v. Hughes, 94-182; Robinson v. Sampson, 121-99; Sharpe v. Sowers, 152-379; McKenzie v. McKenzie, 153-242; McNeeley v. Shoe Co., 170-278.

Where issues are so framed that the answers thereto are confused a new trial will be ordered: Bottoms v. R. R., 109-72; Allen v. Sallinger, 105-333. Elimination of superfluous words: Allen v. R. R., 119-710; Davis v. Keen, 142-496. It is sufficient if the issue be submitted in the language of the pleading: McKinnon v. Morrison, 104-354. Two propositions to which different responses might be made must not be embodied in one issue: Carey v. Carey, 108-271; Mfg. Co. v. Assurance Co., 106-28; Emery v. R. R., 102-209.

For matters to keep in mind in framing issues, see Coxe v. Singleton, 139-361; Baker v. R. R., 118-1015; McAdoo v. R. R., 105-140; Emery v. R. R., 102-209; Denmark v. R. R., 107-185; Braswell v. Johnston, 108-150; Miller v. Miller, 89-209; see, also, Kimberly v. Howland, 143-398; Clark v. Guano Co., 144-64; Wright v. Cotten, 140-1.

Issues must not be so framed as to exclude any pertinent evidence affecting the merits, but to embrace the whole of the material allegations controverted: Davidson v. Gifford, 100-18.

ART. 22. VERDICT

585. General and special. A general verdict is that by which the jury pronounce generally upon all or any of the issues, either in favor of the plaintiff or defendant. A special verdict is that by which the jury finds the facts only, leaving the judgment to the court.

Rev., s. 550; Code, s. 408; C. C. P., s. 232.

GENERAL VERDICT. A general verdict is a finding in favor of one of the parties: Morrison v. Watson, 95-479—where the jury responds affirmatively or negatively to the issues, Porter v. R. R., 97-66.

SPECIAL VERDICT. A special verdict finds the facts, but not in favor of either party, leaving the court to apply the law to them: Porter v. R. R., 97-66; Morrison v. Watson, 95-479—and it must find in an intelligible manner all the facts necessary to enable the court to give judgment, State v. Hanner, 143-652; State v. Corporation, 111-661; State v. Yount, 110-597; State v. Oakley, 103-408; State v. Crump, 104-763; State v. Finlayson, 113-628; Hilliard v. Outlaw, 92-266; State v. Bray, 89-480; State v. Blue, 84-807; State v. Lowry, 74-121; State v. Curtis, 71-56; State v. Custer, 65-339—and not merely state the evidence which may tend to prove them, State v. Hanner, 143-633; State v. Fenner, 166-247; nor leave an inference of fact to the judge: State v. Allen, 166-265. The judge may refuse to receive a special verdict, but he cannot add a fact to it: State v. Colonial Club, 154-177.

RETURN OF VERDICT. A party is entitled to be present when the verdict is rendered, but he may waive that right except in a capital case, and it is not necessary that counsel should be present: Barger v. Alley, 167-362; State v. Austin, 108-780; State v. Jones, 91-654. A special verdict being rendered in criminal action, judge should not have formal verdict entered: State v. Spray, 113-686; State v. Ewing, 108-759; State v. Hammer, 143-632; overruling State v. Monger, 107-771; State v. Nies, 107-820; State v. Moore, 107-770; State v. Smith, 95-680; State v. Morris, 104-837. A verdict “guilty of taking the money” is not larceny: State v. Overby, 127-514.

POLLING JURY. Jury need not be polled: State v. Best, 111-638; State v. Toole, 106-736; State v. Jones, 91-654—but either party in an action can have it polled, Smith v. Paul, 133-66; State v. Best, 111-638; State v. Young, 77-498; State v. Sheets, 89-543—and if polled and a juror is reluctant but assents to verdict, it is still a valid verdict, Lowe v. Dorsett, 125-301; State v. Sheets, 89-543—not a valid verdict, however, if one dissents, even though having concurred previously, Owens v. R. R., 123-183. When foreman states the verdict as “guilty of murder in the first degree,” and upon a poll the others reply “guilty,” the verdict is sufficient: State v. Walker, 170-716.

VERDICT CONSTRUED. Rollins v. Ebbs, 138-140; Johnson v. Townsend, 122-442; R. R. v. Purifoy, 95-302. The verdict, whether in response to one or many issues, must establish facts sufficient to enable the court to proceed to judgment: Emery v. R. R., 102-209. The verdict may be construed by reference to the pleadings, the evidence and the charge of the court: Weldon v. R. R., 177-179; Bank v. Wysong & Miles Co., 177-284; Jones v. R. R., 176-260; Reynolds v. Express Co., 172-487; Bank v. Wilson, 168-557; Donnell v. Greensboro, 164-330; State v. Murphy, 157-614; Richardson v. Edwards, 156-590; Grove v. Baker, 174-745. The verdict is to be construed according to its reasonable intent: State v. Spear, 164-452; State v. Whisenant, 149-515; State v. Godwin, 138-586.

586. Special controls general. Where a special finding of facts is inconsistent with the general verdict, the former controls, and the court shall give judgment accordingly.

Morrison v. Watson, 95-481; Porter v. R. R., 97-69.

587. Character of, for different actions. In an action for the recovery of specific personal property, if the property has not been delivered to the plaintiff, or the defendant by his answer claims a return thereof, the jury shall assess the value of the property, if their verdict is in favor of the plaintiff; or if they find in favor of the defendant, and that he is entitled to a return thereof, they may at the same time assess the damages, if any are claimed in the complaint or answer, which the prevailing party has sustained by reason of the detention or taking and withholding the property. In every action for the recovery of money only, or specific real property, the jury, in their discretion, may render a general or special verdict. In all other cases, the court may direct the jury to find a special verdict in writing, upon all or any of the issues; and in all cases may instruct them, if they render a general verdict, to find upon particular questions of fact, to be stated in writing, and may direct a written finding thereon. The special verdict or finding shall be filed with the clerk, and entered upon the minutes.

Rev., s. 551; Code, s. 409; C. C. P., s. 233.

Cases bearing upon verdicts rendered hereunder in actions for the recovery of specific personal property: Hall v. Tillman, 110-220; Bank v. Furniture Co., 120-475; Holmes v. Godwin, 69-467—for the recovery of money only or of specific real property, Comrs. v. Lash, 89-159; Porter v. R. R., 97-66; Foster v. Hackett, 112-546; Moody v. Johnson, 112-804; Henning v. Warner, 109-406; Gilchrist v. Middleton, 107-663; Bean v. R. R., 107-731; Allen v. Sallinger, 103-14; Porter v. R. R., 97-66. In all actions except for recovery of money only or "specific real property" the court has the power to direct a special verdict: Comrs. v. Lash, 89-159; Bean v. R. R., 107-742.

588. Jury to assess damages; counterclaim. When a verdict is found for the plaintiff in an action for the recovery of money, or for the defendant when a counterclaim for the recovery of money is established beyond the amount of the plaintiff's claim as established, the jury must also assess the amount of the recovery; they may also, under the direction of the court, assess the amount of the recovery when the court gives judgment for the plaintiff on the answer. If a counterclaim, established at the trial, exceeds the plaintiff's demand so established, judgment for the defendant must be given for the excess; or if it appears that the defendant is entitled to any other affirmative relief, judgment must be given accordingly.

Verdicts as to interest on debts: Reade v. Street, 122-301; Bank v. Furniture Co., 120-475; Greenleaf v. R. R., 91-33—on damages recovered, Lance v. Butler, 135-419—on taxes, Wilmington v. McDonald, 133-548. The trial judge has no power to reduce the amount awarded in a verdict without the consent of the person in whose favor verdict rendered: Isley v. Bridge Co., 143-51. It is for the judge to state the law as to punitive damages in a particular case, and for the jury to determine whether such damages shall be given and to fix the amount: Blow v. Joyner, 156-140.

589. Entry of verdict and judgment. Upon receiving a verdict, the clerk shall make an entry in his minutes, specifying the time and place of the trial, the names of the jurors and witnesses, the verdict, and either the judgment rendered thereon or an order that the cause be reserved for argument or further consideration. If a different direction is not given by the court, the clerk must enter judgment in conformity with the verdict.

Rev., s. 554; Code, s. 412; C. C. P., s. 236.

The verdict should be returned before the judge, but by consent of parties or order of court the clerk may receive it: Zageir v. Express Co., 171-692; Barger v. Alley, 167-362; Mitchell v. Mitchell, 122-332; Ferrell v. Hales, 119-199; State v. Austin, 108-780; Petty v. Rousseau, 94-355; but the latter course is not approved: Tillett v. R. R., 166-515. And the clerk has no right to instruct the jury with reference to their verdict: Cullifer v. R. R., 168-309. The court may ask the jury about the verdict if returned improperly: Zageir v. Express Co., 171-692; Tillett v. R. R., 166-515. If the verdict is informal, irregular or inconsistent, the judge may ask the jury to correct it: State v. Godwin, 138-582; State v. Whitson, 111-695; State v. Whitaker, 89-472; State v. Arrington, 7-571; Britton v. Ruffin, 123-70; State v. Shelly, 98-673. If it is taken by the clerk and is imperfect the judge may have the jury correct it: Mitchell v. Mitchell, 122-322; Petty v. Rousseau, 94-355; Wright v. Hemphill, 81-33; Robeson v. Lewis, 73-107; Willoughby v. Threadgill, 72-438; see, also, Cole v. Laws, 104-651.

Entering the judgment, generally: Taylor v. Ervin, 119-277; Hardy v. Carr, 104-33; Dickerson v. Wilcoxon, 97-309; Kenner v. Mfg. Co., 91-421—by the clerk upon the verdict, Ferrell v. Hales, 119-199; Jacobs v. Burgwyn, 63-193; Davis v. Shaver, 61-18; Brown v. Harding, 170-253; s. c., 171-686. The judgment must be in accordance with the verdict: Winn v. Finch, 171-272. When the jury finds defendant guilty of negligence and the plaintiff of contributory negligence, when judgment should be for defendant: Holton v. Moore, 165-549. Entering judgment nunc pro tunc: Pfeifer v. Drug Co., 171-214; Creed v. Marshall, 160-394. If judgment or order inadvertently entered, the court may, on application of one interested, or ex mero motu, have same corrected: Cook v. Moore, 100-294; Strickland v. Strickland, 95-471. Verdict can be rendered on Sunday: Tuttle v. Tuttle, 146-484. Judgment may be entered on Sunday, when: Taylor v. Ervin, 119-274—but not on Monday after verdict rendered Saturday night of the last week of term, Ferrell v. Hales, 119-199. Refusal of judgment upon verdict is appealable: Oil Co. v. Gro. Co., 136-354.

590. Exceptions. 1. If an exception is taken upon the trial, it must be reduced to writing at the time with so much of the evidence or subject matter as may be material to the exception taken; the same must be entered in the judge's minutes and filed with the clerk as a part of the case upon appeal.

Objections must be made and exceptions entered in apt time: State v. Foster, 172-960; Kornegay v. R. R., 154-389; and they should point out specifically the error complained of, Greensboro v. McAdoo, 110-430, and cases cited below. The exceptions must be reduced to writing, and the judge may do this himself or have it done: Buckner v. R. R., 164-201. Assignments of error not based upon exceptions will be disregarded: Rawls v. R. R., 172-211; Todd v. Mackie, 160-352; Allred v. Kirkman, 160-392; Worley v. Logging Co., 157-490.

Exceptions must be made to all errors and all misconduct at the trial, at the time such take place, except errors in the judge's charge itself: Jones v. High Point, 153-371; Moseley v. Johnson, 144-257; Alley v. Howell, 141-113; State v. Murray, 139-540; Hart v. Cannon, 133-10; Wilson v. Lumber Co., 131-163; Dobson v. Ry., 132-900; Phillips v. R. R., 130-582; Cotton Mills v. Abernathy, 115-402; Posey v. Patton, 109-455; Lowe v. Elliott, 107-718; Carr v. Alexander, 112-783; Taylor v. Plummer, 105-56; State v. Braddy, 104-737; State v. Brown, 100-519; Wiggins v. Guthrie, 101-661; Gibbs v. Lyon, 95-146; Jones v. Jones, 94-111; Shields v. Whitaker, 82-516; State v. Ballard, 79-627—but where evidence is made incompetent by statute, this is not required; exception may be taken after verdict, Broom v. Broom, 130-562; Presnell v. Garrison, 121-367; Johnson v. Allen, 100-131; State v. Gee, 92-756; State v. Ballard, 79-627; Hooper v. Hooper, 165-605. Exceptions to the reception of evidence must point out the evidence specifically and must show the nature of the error complained of: Pope v. Pope, 176-283; Lynch v. Veneer Co., 169-169; State v. English, 164-498; Stout v. Turnpike Co., 157-366; Rollins v. Wicker, 154-559; Tilley v. Bivens, 110-343; Everett v. Williamson, 107-204; Allred v. Burns, 106-247; Wilhelm v. Burleyson, 106-381; Sumner v. Candler, 92-634—to the rejection of evidence must show what was the proposed evidence and also that prejudice was caused by its rejection, Knight v. Killebrew, 86-400; State v. Rhyne, 109-794; State v. McNair, 93-628; Sumner v. Candler, 92-636; State v. Purdie, 67-326; Street v. Bryan, 65-619; Bland v. O'Hagan, 64-471; Whitesides v. Twitty, 30-431; Gibson v. Terry, 176-533; In re Smith's Will, 163-464; Armfield v. R. R., 162-24; Allred v. Kirkman, 160-392. Evidence competent for some purposes, but not for all, is not ground for exception unless asked to be restricted:

Nance v. Telegraph Co., 177-313; State v. McGlammery, 173-748. An exception to evidence must show that objection was taken when evidence was offered, that it was overruled and that exception was entered: Jordan v. Furnace Co., 126-143.

Attorney's language in argument objected to, judge should write down words at once with exception: Moseley v. Johnson, 144-257; State v. Davenport, 156-597; Massey v. Alston, 173-215. Objection waived if not objected to at the time: Byrd v. Hudson, 113-203; State v. Wilson, 158-599. Where party refused, upon request of court, to state his objection to evidence excepted to, his exception will avail nothing on appeal: State v. Wilkerson, 103-337. The judge's notes, on exceptions being made, should be filed with the papers in the case: Wood v. R. R., 118-1056. Exception that there is no evidence upon which to go to the jury must be taken before verdict: Printing Co. v. Herbert, 137-317; Hart v. Cannon, 133-10; State v. Huggins, 126-1055; State v. Harris, 120-577, and many cases therein cited. Where nonsuit should have been entered, exceptions to instructions and requests for instructions will not be considered on appeal: Smith v. R. R., 145-98. That the evidence does not support the charge in the indictment should be taken advantage of before verdict and not by motion in arrest: State v. Jenkins, 164-527.

2. If there is error, either in the refusal of the judge to grant a prayer for instructions, or in granting a prayer, or in his instructions generally, the same is deemed excepted to without the filing of any formal objections.

Error of law in the charge is deemed to be objected to, but a statement of fact by the judge, as of an admission, must be objected to at the time: Hardy v. Mitchell, 161-351. It is better practice to state exceptions to the charge in a motion for a new trial, but they may be stated for the first time in the case on appeal: Bank v. Sumner, 119-591; Lowe v. Elliott, 107-718; State v. Harris, 120-577; Wilson v. Lumber Co., 131-164; Bernhardt v. Brown, 118-700; Marriner v. Lumber Co., 113-52; Blackburn v. Ins. Co., 116-821; Tillett v. R. R., 116-937; Smith v. Smith, 108-365; State v. Varner, 115-744; Lee v. Williams, 112-510; Hinson v. Powell, 109-534; Taylor v. Plummer, 105-56; Boon v. Murphy, 108-187; Walker v. Scott, 106-56; Pollock v. Warwick, 104-638; McKinnon v. Morrison, 104-354—but they cannot be stated for the first time in the supreme court, being waived by failure to state them on case on appeal: Barrett v. McCrummen, 128-81; State v. Harris, 120-577; Blackburn v. Ins. Co., 116-821; Lee v. Williams, 111-200; Lowe v. Elliott, 107-718; McKinnon v. Morrison, 104-354; Pollock v. Warwick, 104-638; Scott v. R. R., 96-428; Pleasants v. R. R., 95-195; Ware v. Nesbit, 94-664; Lytle v. Lytle, 94-552; State v. Craige, 89-475; White v. Clark, 82-6; State v. Hardee, 83-619; Whisenhunt v. Jones, 80-348; State v. Seerest, 80-450; Sampson v. R. R., 70-404; State v. Jones, 69-16; Davis v. Duval, 112-833; Wilson v. Wilson, 125-527; Whitehurst v. Pettipher, 105-41. An exception for failure to give instruction requested should point out error and if it involves any question as to evidence it should be set out: Coltrane v. Lamb, 109-209—but instruction must be requested to be subject of exception for failure to charge, Emry v. R. R., 109-602.

Exceptions must be specific and not a "broadside" or general exception to the charge as given: State v. Johnson, 161-264; Jackson v. Williams, 152-203; Woodbridge v. Brown, 149-299; Streator v. Streator, 145-337; Davis v. Keen, 142-496; State v. Dewey, 139-556; Sigman v. R. R., 135-181; Kelly v. Johnson, 135-650; Joines v. Johnson, 133-487; Wilson v. Lumber Co., 131-163; Carson v. R. R., 128-95; Pierce v. R. R., 124-83; Wood v. Bartholomew, 122-177; State v. Webster, 121-586; State v. Moore, 120-570; Burnett v. R. R., 120-517; Hampton v. R. R., 120-534; State v. Melton, 120-591; Gossler v. Wood, 120-69; Andrews v. Tel. Co., 119-403; Barcello v. Hapgood, 118-712; State v. Downs, 118-1242; Kendrick v. Dellinger, 117-491; State v. Page, 116-1016; State v. Varner, 115-744; Gwaltney v. Timber Co., 115-579; Paper Co. v. Chronicle, 115-147; Shober v. Wheeler, 113-370; Ward v. R. R., 112-168; Hemphill v. Morrison, 112-757; Hopkins v. Bowers, 111-175; State v. McKinney, 111-683; Davis v. Duval, 112-833; Greensboro v. McAdoo, 110-430; Bottoms v. R. R., 109-72; Hooks v. Houston, 109-623; Hinson v. Powell, 109-534; State v. Brabham, 108-793; Everett v. Williamson, 107-204; State v. McDuffie, 107-885; Thompson v. Tel. Co., 107-449; State v. Parker, 106-711; Taylor v. Navigation Co., 105-484; Helms v. Green, 105-251; Carlton v. R. R., 104-365; McKinnon v. Morrison, 104-362; Pollock v. Warwick, 104-638; Hammond v. Schiff, 100-161; Dugger v. McKesson, 100-1; Leak v. Covington, 99-559; Newby v. Harrell, 99-149; Caudle v.

Fallen, 98-411; Sellers v. Sellers, 98-13; Boggan v. Horne, 97-268; Barber v. Roseboro, 97-192; State v. Nipper, 95-653; Clements v. Rogers, 95-248; Pleasants v. R. R., 95-195; Williams v. Johnston, 94-633; Lytle v. Lytle, 94-522; McDonald v. Carson, 94-497; State v. Eliason, 91-564; Bost v. Bost, 87-477—and must be stated separately, in articles numbered, and no exception should contain more than one proposition, Gwaltney v. Assurance Society, 132-925—but general exception sufficient if only one proposition of law is in charge, Mitchell v. Baker, 129-63. An appellant is not bound to except to an instruction when there is no evidence to warrant it: Barrett v. Brewer, 143-88. See section 642.

591. Motion to set aside. The judge who tries the cause may, in his discretion, entertain a motion, to be made on his minutes, to set aside a verdict and grant a new trial upon exceptions, or for insufficient evidence, or for excessive damages; but such motion can only be heard at the same term at which the trial is had. When the motion is heard and decided upon the minutes of the judge, and an appeal is taken from the decision, a case or exceptions must be settled in the usual form, upon which the argument of the appeal must be had.

Rev., s. 554; Code, s. 412; C. C. P., s. 236.

For case on appeal, see section 642. Motion for new trial must be made and heard at the same term the case is first tried, and there can be no continuance of the motion: Turner v. Davis, 132-187; England v. Duckworth, 75-309; Flowers v. Alford, 111-248; Clemmons v. Field, 99-400; Beck v. Bellamy, 93-129; Moore v. Hinnant, 90-163; Quincy v. Perkins, 76-295—but, by consent of both parties, the trial judge may hear the motion at a subsequent time, Myers v. Stafford, 114-231.

Application for a new trial, except for error of law in the conduct of the trial, is addressed solely to the discretion of the judge, which he must exercise by a sound and enlightened judgment, and his decision is not appealable unless this discretion has been grossly abused and resulted in oppression: Hoke v. Whisnant, 174-658; Fowler v. Murdock, 172-349; Settee v. Electric Ry., 170-365; State v. Hancock, 151-699; Jarrett v. Trunk Co., 142-466; Slocumb v. Construction Co., 142-349; Bird v. Bradburn, 131-490; Benton v. R. R., 122-1007; Edwards v. Phifer, 120-405; State v. Perry, 121-533; Hinkle v. R. R., 109-472; Allison v. Whittier, 101-490; State v. Braddy, 104-737; State v. Harper, 101-761; State v. Rogers, 94-860; Jones v. Parker, 97-33; Owens v. Phelps, 95-286; Spence v. Clapp, 95-545; Carson v. Dellinger, 90-226; State v. Gould, 90-658; State v. Brittain, 89-481—and where he sets it aside in his discretion it is not necessary to find and report the facts, Bird v. Bradburn, 131-490, and cases cited. Every presumption is in favor of the verdict, and it should not lightly be set aside: Cable v. R. R., 122-902. Judge must state whether or not he set the verdict aside “in his discretion”: Jarrett v. Trunk Co., 142-466; Abernethy v. Yount, 138-337. The verdict having been set aside, not as a matter of discretion, but upon a ruling as to its legal effect, an appeal lies: Tuthill v. R. R., 174-77; Grove v. Baker, 174-745; Teeter v. Military School, 165-564; Oil Co. v. Grocery Co., 136-354; Johnson v. Reformers, 135-385; Wood v. R. R., 131-48; Thomas v. Meyers, 87-31; Gay v. Nash, 84-333—and in such case the judge should find and report the facts, Bird v. Bradburn, 131-490; Moore v. Edmiston, 70-471; Johnson v. Bell, 74-355.

Judge cannot reverse the answer of a jury, though he may set the verdict aside: Sprinkle v. Wellborn, 140-163—and cannot amend or modify, Hemphill v. Hemphill, 99-436; Leggett v. Leggett, 88-108; Shields v. Lawrence, 72-43. Cannot set aside a verdict of not guilty: State v. Craig, 176-740. Where one material issue is found for the defendant and the others for the plaintiff, judgment should not be for plaintiff without setting aside the other finding: Green v. Miller, 161-25. The court may grant a partial new trial by setting aside the finding on some issues and retaining others: Lumber Co. v. Branch, 158-251; Gregg v. Wilmington, 155-18; Tuttle v. Tuttle, 146-484; Burnett v. Mills Co., 152-35; Jarrett v. Trunk Co., 144-299; Benton v. Collins, 125-83; Satterthwaite v. Goodyear, 137-304; Strother v. R. R., 123-197; Mitchell v. Mitchell, 122-332; Mfg. Co. v. R. R., 117-579; Mining Co. v. Smelting Co., 122-542; Rittenhouse v. R. R., 120-544; Nathan v. R. R., 118-1066; Pickett v. R. R., 117-616; Blackburn v. Ins. Co., 116-821; Tillett v. R. R., 115-662; Jones v. Swepson, 94-700; Boing v. R. R., 91-199;

Jones v. Mial, 89-89; Lindley v. R. R., 88-547; Crawford v. Mfg. Co., 88-554; Roberts v. R. R., 88-560; Burton v. R. R., 84-192; Meroney v. McIntyre, 82-103; Holmes v. Godwin, 71-306; Barnes v. Brown, 69-439; Key v. Allen, 7-523. The court may set aside a finding upon an immaterial issue and render judgment upon the others: Chadwick v. Kirkman, 159-259.

A motion for new trial on the ground that the verdict is against the weight of the evidence is addressed entirely to the discretion of the court below and not reviewable unless it is shown that the judge was influenced by an erroneous view of the law: Cates v. Tel. Co., 151-497; Bank v. Ins. Co., 150-770; Clothing Co. v. Bagley, 147-37; Davenport v. Terrell, 103-53; McCord v. R. R., 134-53; State v. Rose, 129-575; Whitted v. Fuquay, 127-68; Jordan v. Farthing, 117-181; Ferrell v. Thompson, 107-420; Fertilizer Co. v. Reams, 105-283; McKinnon v. Morrison, 104-354; Spruill v. Ins. Co., 120-141; State v. Maultsby, 130-664; State v. Ellsworth, 131-773; Whitehurst v. Pettipher, 105-40; Redmond v. Stepp, 100-212; Goodson v. Mullin, 92-211; Thomas v. Myers, 87-31; Brink v. Black, 74-329; Watts v. Bell, 71-405; Vest v. Cooper, 68-131.

Motion for new trial for newly discovered evidence: State v. Lilliston, 141-857; Wilkie v. R. R., 127-203; Faison v. Williams, 121-152; Clark v. Riddle, 118-692; Nathan v. R. R., 118-1066; Sledge v. Elliott, 116-716; State v. DeGraff, 113-688; Ferrell v. Thompson, 107-420; Brown v. Mitchell, 102-347; Redmond v. Stepp, 100-212; Carson v. Dellinger, 90-226; State v. Starnes, 97-423; Dupree v. Ins. Co., 93-237; Munden v. Casey, 93-97; Henry v. Smith, 78-27; Shehan v. Malone, 72-59; Holmes v. Godwin, 69-467; Bledsoe v. Nixon, 69-81. The motion must be made in superior court at the trial term, or in supreme court on appeal, or in lower court at next term after decision handed down: Allen v. Gooding, 174-271; Smith v. Moore, 150-158; Lancaster v. Bland, 168-377; Stilley v. Planing Mills, 161-517. What must be shown on application: Alexander v. Cedar Works, 177-536; Steeley v. Lumber Co., 165-27; Johnson v. R. R., 163-431; Warwick v. Taylor, 163-68. The court may retain the finding on one issue and submit a new issue upon newly discovered evidence: Sanford v. Junior Order, 176-443.

The court may set aside the verdict for excessive or inadequate damages, and this action is not reviewable: Decker v. R. R., 167-26; Billings v. Observer, 150-540; Boney v. R. R., 145-248; Isley v. Bridge Co., 143-53; Benton v. Collins, 125-83; Phillips v. Tel. Co., 130-513; Burns v. R. R., 125-304; see, also, Norton v. R. R., 122-910. The remedy for contradictory and inconsistent findings is to set aside the verdict: Hardy v. Mitchell, 156-76; Temple v. Ins. Co., 124-66; Allen v. Sallinger, 105-339; Smith v. Fite, 98-517; Porter v. R. R., 97-66; Morrison v. Watson, 95-479; Turrentine v. R. R., 92-638—if it is too late to have it reformed by the jury, Brown v. Lumber Co., 117-296; Allen v. Sallinger, 105-339. Setting aside the verdict for defect or misconduct of juror: Miller v. Bank, 176-152; State v. Little, 174-793; Lewis v. Fountain, 168-277; State v. McKenzie, 166-290; State v. Drakeford, 162-667; Murdock v. R. R., 159-131; State v. Watkins, 159-480; Urquhart v. R. R., 156-582.

The judge has unquestioned power to set aside verdict, when there is no evidence to support it: Brown v. Power Co., 140-333. An agreement empowering judge to sign judgment out of term gave him no power after adjournment of term to consider motion to set aside verdict: Knowles v. Savage, 140-372. The reason of the judge for setting aside a verdict, if insufficient, is immaterial where there appears a valid reason in the record for sustaining his rulings: Metal Co. v. Railroad, 145-293. Appellant should except to refusal of new trial, if refusal is not discretionary, in order to have his decision reviewed: Grant v. Grant, 109-710. Irregularities occurring on trial below for which judge might set aside verdict, not sufficient ground to support a motion in supreme court for a new trial: Daniels v. Fowler, 123-35. Where defendant introduces no evidence and excepts to nothing, he cannot move for new trial on the ground that the testimony did not justify the verdict: State v. Leach, 119-828. Only the errors pointed out in the motion for new trial will be considered by the supreme court, all others being waived: Leak v. Covington, 99-559; but see Lowe v. Elliott, 107-718.

When judgment non obstante veredicto may be granted: Fleming v. Sexton, 172-250; Fowler v. Murdock, 172-349; Todd v. Mackie, 160-352; Baxter v. Irvin, 158-277; Nall v. McMath, 177-183; Sutton v. Walters, 118-495; Harrison v. Ray, 108-215; Walker v. Scott, 106-57; Ward v. Phillips, 89-215; Rowlands v. Windley, 82-131; Moye v. Petway, 76-327.

SUBCHAPTER VIII. JUDGMENT

ART. 23. JUDGMENT

592. Defined. A judgment is either interlocutory or the final determination of the rights of the parties in the action.

Rev., s. 555; Code, s. 384; C. C. P., s. 216.

FINAL JUDGMENTS. A judgment is final which decides the case upon its merits, without reservation for other and future directions, so that it is not necessary to bring the matter again before the court: Sanders v. May, 173-47; Johnson v. Roberson, 171-194; Bunker v. Bunker, 140-18; Flemming v. Roberts, 84-532.

A judgment is decisive of the points raised by the pleadings, or which might be properly predicated upon them, and does not include matters which might have been brought in but which were not joined or embraced in the pleadings: Mann v. Mann, 176-353; Northeott v. Northeott, 175-148; Stelges v. Simmons, 170-42; Hobgood v. Hobgood, 169-485; McMillan v. Teachey, 167-88; Ferebee v. Sawyer, 167-199; Leroy v. Steamboat Co., 165-109; Clothing Co. v. Hay, 163-495; Coltrane v. Laughlin, 157-282; Shakespeare v. Land Co., 144-516; Tyler v. Capeheart, 125-64; Wagon Co. v. Byrd, 119-460. When parol evidence may be used to show what was adjudicated: Cropsey v. Markham, 171-43. A judgment for bailee which does not include bailor's rights is not an estoppel: McLaughlin v. R. R., 174-182.

A judgment as a final determination of the rights involved in the controversy is an estoppel against the parties and their privies: Holloway v. Durham, 176-550; Bank v. Dew, 175-79; Pinnell v. Burroughs, 168-315; s. c., 172-182; Buchanan v. Hedden, 169-222; Mutual Assn. v. Edwards, 168-378; Owen v. Needham, 160-381; Southerland v. R. R., 148-442; Shakespeare v. Land Co., 144-516; Bunker v. Bunker, 140-18; Scott v. Life Assn., 137-515; Parker v. Taylor, 133-103; Trust Co. v. Benbow, 131-413; Willoughby v. Stevens, 132-254; Aiken v. Lyon, 127-176; Weeks v. McPhail, 128-130; Hinton v. Pritchard, 126-8; Stancill v. James, 126-190; Tyler v. Capeheart, 125-64; Land Co. v. Guthrie, 123-185; Bear v. Comrs., 122-434; State v. Joyce, 121-610; Hussey v. Hill, 120-312; Person v. Montgomery, 120-111; Chamblee v. Broughton, 120-170; Morrison v. Craven, 120-327; Wagon Co. v. Byrd, 119-460; Steam Works v. Dunn, 119-79; Fleming v. Strohecker, 117-366; Jordan v. Farthing, 117-181; Jones v. Beaman, 117-259; Turner v. Rosenthal, 116-437; Baugert v. Blades, 117-221; Miller v. Asheville, 112-759; Garrison v. Finley, 112-652; Edwards v. Jones, 113-453; Ladd v. Byrd, 113-466; Wilson v. Craige, 113-463; Donnelly v. Wilcox, 113-408; Bryan v. Alexander, 111-142; Fowler v. Osborne, 111-404; Henning v. Warner, 109-406; Dickens v. Long, 109-172; Moore v. Garner, 109-157; Collins v. Smith, 109-468; Davie v. Davis, 108-501; Stewart v. Register, 108-588; Peck v. Culberson, 104-425; Allen v. Salinger, 103-14; Spivey v. Harrell, 101-48; Rogers v. Kinsey, 101-559; Warden v. McKinnon, 99-251; Jones v. Coffey, 97-347; Ward v. Lowndes, 96-367; Benton v. Benton, 95-559; Williams v. Clouse, 91-322; Grantham v. Kennedy, 91-148; Williams v. Batchelor, 90-364; Vick v. Pope, 81-22; Greene v. Branton, 16-504; Frazier v. Felton, 8-231; Johnson v. Pate, 90-334. This applies also between parties on the same side, if their rights were adjudicated: Riddle v. Riddle, 176-485; McKimmon v. Caulk, 170-54; s. c., 167-411; Baugert v. Blades, 117-221; McNeil v. Hodges, 105-55; Hulbert v. Douglas, 94-128; Hughes v. Boone, 81-204; Clark v. Williams, 70-679; Parrish v. Graham, 129-230; Banking Co. v. Morehead, 126-282; Proctor v. Ins. Co., 124-268.

A consent judgment is binding upon the parties and may not be set aside by the court without consent: Holloway v. Durham, 176-550; Simmons v. McCullen, 163-409; Bank v. McEwen, 160-414; Lynch v. Loftin, 153-270; and it may include matters not strictly within the pleadings: Holloway v. Durham, 176-550. A judgment against one joint tortfeasor is not an estoppel as to another: Gadsden v. Crafts, 175-358; s. c., 173-418. Effect of judgment as to caveat: In re Will of Lloyd, 161-557. Effect of judgment in proceeding to establish boundary: Whitaker v. Garren, 167-658. Judgment as an estoppel in a claim for personalty: Ludwick v. Penny, 158-104. Judgment as an estoppel in partition: Propst v. Caldwell, 172-594; McKimmon v. Caulk, 170-54; Gillam v. Edmondson, 154-127. An alternative or conditional judgment is invalid: Puette v. Mull, 175-535; Lloyd v. Lumber Co., 167-97.

How far a judgment of a court in another state is conclusive: Levin v. Gladstein, 142-482; Roberts v. Pratt, 158-50; s. c., 152-731.

JUDGMENTS NOT FINAL. An order of sale in partition is not a final decree: In re Dickerson, 111-108. An action is not ended by the rendition of a judgment; it remains open for all motions and proceedings for its enforcement: Turner v. Holden, 109-182. An order or decree or unexecuted judgment made during a term of court is in fieri and subject to be vacated or modified during the term: Culbreth v. Smith, 124-289; Gwinn v. Parker, 119-19; State v. Manly, 95-661; Wilson v. Hughes, 94-182; State v. Brittain, 93-587. An interlocutory order or decree is under the control of the court, and, upon good cause shown, can be amended, modified, changed, or rescinded, as the court may think proper: Maxwell v. Blair, 95-317; Alexander v. Alexander, 120-472; Jackson v. McLean, 96-474; Welch v. Kingsland, 89-179; Miller v. Justice, 86-26; Shinn v. Smith, 79-310; Worth v. Gray, 59-4; Ashe v. Moore, 6-383; see, also, Johnson v. Roberson, 171-194. As to whether interlocutory orders in ancillary proceedings can be amended out of term, see Coates v. Wilkes, 94-174.

Construction of a decree or judgment: Lamb v. Major, 146-531. Judgments are not contracts so as to be subject to the restriction of the federal constitution as to impairment of contracts: Mottu v. Davis, 151-237.

593. Default judgment before clerk. In all civil actions upon notes, bills, bonds, stated accounts, balances struck, and other evidences of indebtedness within the jurisdiction of the superior court, the summons may be returnable before the clerk of the superior court issuing the same on the first Monday of the month next succeeding the issue of the summons, if issued more than ten days prior thereto, and, if not, then on the first Monday of the next succeeding month; and if a verified complaint is filed at the time the summons is issued and a copy served on the defendant at the time of the service of the summons, and the defendant fails or neglects to file a verified answer raising issues of fact upon the matters and things alleged in the complaint on or before the second Monday of the month in which the summons is made returnable, then it shall be the duty of the clerk, on the said second Monday, upon satisfactory proof of the cause of action, to enter judgment in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant upon the demand set out in the complaint, which judgment the clerk shall docket in the same manner as is now provided by law for docketing judgments taken at term. Judgments so taken and docketed shall be and become judgments of the superior court in the same manner and to the same extent and be of same force and effect as now given to judgments of the superior court taken in term before the judge. If before the expiration of the time given herein for filing the answer the defendant shall file a duly verified answer joining issue of fact upon the matters and things alleged in the complaint, the clerk shall transfer the cause to the civil issue docket for trial at term time: Provided, either party may at any time within ten days after the rendition of judgment by the clerk appeal from such judgment to the superior court, to be heard at term.

594. When clerk transfers to term for default judgment. In cases where the clerk has no jurisdiction and the plaintiff shall be entitled to have judgment by default and inquiry or judgment by default final, the clerk shall transfer the same to the court at term time to be determined by the court under existing procedure.

1919, c. 304, s. 9.

595. By default final. Judgment by default final may be had on failure of defendant to answer—

Judgment by default should be drawn to conform strictly to the complaint: Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209; Junge v. MacKnight, 137-286. A failure to take judgment by default as soon as allowable does not work a discontinuance: University v. Lassiter, 83-38. The term of court at which complaint filed within the first three days thereof is practically the return term at which judgment is allowable: Brown v. Rhinehart, 112-772; Roberts v. Allman, 106-391. Where plaintiff was entitled to judgment by default final, but judgment by default and inquiry entered, and upon inquiry being executed, judgment was rendered, judgment valid: Scott v. Life Assn., 137-515. No notice is required of a motion for judgment by default for want of an answer: Reynolds v. Machine Co., 153-342. A general order extending time to file pleadings does not affect a judgment by default taken before the order: Ibid. When an answer is filed denying the allegations of complaint, a judgment by default is improper: Harrison v. Dill, 169-542; Investment Co. v. Kelly, 123-388. When a new party is brought in and no complaint is filed as to him: Vass v. Bldg. Assn., 91-55; or when answer is filed within the time limited but after judge has left the court: Foley v. Blank, 92-476.

Judgment by default final held proper in the following cases: Streator v. Streator, 145-337; Banking Co. v. Duke, 121-110; Cowles v. Cowles, 121-272; Williams v. Lumber Co., 118-936; Griffin v. Light Co., 111-434; Hartman v. Farrior, 95-177; Alford v. McCormac, 90-151; Rogers v. Moore, 86-86; Wynne v. Prairie, 86-73; Walton v. Walton, 80-26; Adrian v. Jackson, 75-536; School v. Peirce, 163-424.

1. Where the complaint sets forth one or more causes of action, each consisting of the breach of an express or implied contract to pay, absolutely or upon a contingency, a sum or sums of money fixed by the terms of the contract, or capable of being ascertained therefrom by computation. Upon proof of personal service of summons, or of service of summons by publication, on one or more of the defendants, and upon the complaint being verified, judgment shall be entered as provided in the last section for the amount mentioned in the complaint, against the defendant or defendants, or against one or more of several defendants.

If plaintiff's claim for damages is precise and fixed by agreement, or can be rendered certain by computation, failure to answer admits the claim: Scott v. Life Assn., 137-522; Cowles v. Cowles, 121-272; Parker v. Smith, 64-291; Hyatt v. Clark, 169-178; Miller v. Smith, 169-210; Scott v. Life Assn., 137-515. Judgment by default final is irregular when in action on contract the amount due cannot be ascertained by computation: Battle v. Baird, 118-854; Skinner v. Terry, 107-103—when action sounds in damages for an unliquidated money demand, Moore v. Mitchell, 61-304; Hartsfield v. Jones, 49-309—when action is on bail bond, Roulhae v. Miller, 90-174—when action is on implied contract for goods sold and delivered: Jeffries v. Aaron, 120-167; Witt v. Long, 93-388—when action to recover money collected on collateral notes and embezzled, Stewart v. Bryan, 121-46—when complaint fails to set forth a contract to pay a certain sum, or a sum that can be ascertained therefrom, Faucette v. Ludden, 117-173; Hartman v. Farrior, 95-177. Breach of an official bond is not a "breach of an express or implied contract to pay" hereunder: Battle v. Baird, 118-854. The "return term" spoken of in the section before amended was the one at which the complaint must be filed before the third day thereof: Brown v. Rhinehart, 112-772; but see Roberts v. Allman, 106-391.

The complaint must be verified: Miller v. Curl, 162-1; Cole v. Boyd, 125-496; Phifer v. Ins. Co., 123-410; Hammerslaugh v. Farrior, 95-135; Witt v. Long, 93-388. Judge may allow error in verification to be corrected: Best v. Dunn, 126-560. When complaint unverified judgment should be by default and inquiry: Cole v. Boyd, 125-496; Best v. Dunn, 125-561. There must be personal service of summons for a personal judgment: Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209; Flowers v. King, 145-234. The trial court can permit answer to be filed after supreme court has decided that judgment by default should have been entered for plaintiff: Cook v. Bank, 131-96; Griffin v. Light Co., 111-434.

2. Where the defendant, by his answer in such action, does not deny the plaintiff's claim, but sets up a counterclaim, amounting to less than the plaintiff's claim, judgment may be had by the plaintiff for the excess of his claim over the counterclaim, in like manner in any such action, upon the plaintiff's filing with the court a statement admitting the counterclaim, which statement must be annexed to and be a part of the judgment roll. Or the court may in its discretion, order the pleadings to be so amended and the action severed as to entitle the plaintiff to judgment upon all of the claims admitted over and above the setoff or counterclaim pleaded by the defendant; and, upon application of the plaintiffs, shall enter judgment for the plaintiff for so much of the claim as is admitted. The action shall thereupon be continued as to subsequent proceedings, as if it had been brought for the remainder of the claim, and the counterclaim or setoff as pleaded by the defendant shall apply thereto. Said remainder of the claim shall in any event be sufficient to cover the full amount of the principal and interest set up by the defendant in the counterclaim or setoff, and an amount in excess thereof, if in the discretion of the court the same is necessary, the court being empowered to designate and determine what part of the plaintiff's claim shall be held for the subsequent proceedings herein referred to.

In case where counterclaim set up exceeds plaintiff's claim, defendant not entitled to judgment by default when formal denial entered by leave of court: Bernhardt v. Dutton, 146-206; Tillinghast v. Cotton Mills, 143-268; but see Wilmington v. Bryan, 141-682.

3. In actions where the service of the summons was by publication, the plaintiff may, in like manner, apply for judgment, and the court must thereupon require proof to be made of the demand mentioned in the complaint, and if the defendant is not a resident of the state, must require the plaintiff or his agent to be examined on oath respecting any payments that have been made to the plaintiff, or to any one for his use on account of such demand, and may render judgment for the amount which he is entitled to recover. Before rendering judgment the court may in its discretion require the plaintiff to cause to be filed satisfactory security to abide the order of the court touching the restitution of any estate or effects which may be directed by such judgment to be transferred or delivered, or the restitution of any money that may be collected under and by virtue of said judgment, in case the defendant or his representatives apply and are admitted to defend the action, and succeed in such defense.

4. In actions for the recovery of real property, or for the possession thereof, upon the failure of the defendant to file the undertaking required by law, or upon failure of his sureties to justify according to law, unless the defendant is excused from giving such undertaking before answering.

There may be judgment by default final for real property in action of ejectment, and default and inquiry as to mesne profits: Jones v. Best, 121-154. Where action brought against landlord and tenant and tenant fails to answer, the complaint being verified, judgment against tenant will be entered: Harkey v. Houston, 65-137. In action to determine conflicting claims to real property, failure of defendant to answer entitles plaintiff to judgment without inquiry or proof of facts: Junge v. MacKnight, 137-285; Eason v. Dortch, 136-293.

AS TO THE UNDERTAKING. See section 495. The undertaking specified may be given at the trial in the discretion of the court: Carraway v. Stanell, 137-472. Judgment by default for failure of defendant to give bond should not be awarded until notice to defendant be given to file bond: Becton v. Dunn, 137-563; Cooper v. Warlick, 109-672; McMillan v. Baker, 92-110; Russell v. Saunders, 48-432; Brittain v. Howell, 19-107. Failure to give undertaking when required herein entitles plaintiff to judgment by default: Credle v. Ayers, 126-15; Norton v. McLaurin, 125-185; Viek v. Baker, 122-98; Jones v. Best, 121-154. And the complaint need not be verified: Patrick v. Dunn, 162-19.

Rev., s. 556; Code, ss. 385, 390; C. C. P., s. 217; 1870-1, c. 42; 1869-70, c. 193, s. 4; 1919, c. 26.

For interest on judgment, see Interest, s. 2310.

In Gaston County judgment by default final may be taken at any of the criminal terms of the superior court. 1915, c. 114.

596. By default and inquiry. In all other actions, except those mentioned in the preceding section, when the defendant fails to answer and upon a like proof, judgment by default and inquiry may be had as provided in the last section but one, and inquiry shall be executed at the next succeeding term. If the taking of an intricate or long account is necessary to execute properly the inquiry, the court, at the return term, may order the account to be taken by the clerk of the court or some other fit person, and the referee shall make his report at the next succeeding term; in all other cases the inquiry shall be executed by a jury, unless by consent the court is to try the facts as well as the law.

Rev., s. 557; Code, s. 386.

In Gaston County judgment by default and inquiry may be taken at any of the criminal terms of the superior court. 1915, c. 114.

Differences between judgment by default final and judgment by default and inquiry pointed out: Junge v. MacKnight, 137-288; Eason v. Dortch, 136-294. A judgment by default and inquiry admits only a cause of action and carries only nominal damages and costs, and the burden of proving damages beyond a penny is still upon the plaintiff: Armstrong v. Asbury, 170-160; Plumbing Co. v. Hotel Co., 168-577; Graves v. Cameron, 161-549; Blow v. Joyner, 156-140; Stockton v. Mining Co., 144-595; Osborn v. Leach, 133-427; Darden v. Blount, 126-250; Cowles v. Cowles, 121-277; Banks v. Mfg. Co., 108-282; Lee v. Knapp, 90-171; Anthony v. Estes, 101-541; Rogers v. Moore, 86-86; Parker v. Smith, 64-291; Parker v. House, 66-374.

Judgment by default and inquiry for want of an answer and not by default final may be entered when in action on contract the amount due cannot be ascertained by computation: Battle v. Baird, 118-854; Faucette v. Ludden, 117-173; Hartman v. Farrior, 95-177; Skinner v. Terry, 107-103—when action is on official bond, Battle v. Baird, 118-854—when action is for commissions as consignee, when defendant interposes counterclaim for unliquidated damages, Faucette v. Ludden, 117-170—when action sounds in damages for an unliquidated money demand, Moore v. Mitchell, 61-304; Hartsfield v. Jones, 49-309—when action on implied contract for goods sold and delivered, or for services, Jeffries v. Aaron, 120-167; Witt v. Long, 93-388; Hartman v. Farrior, 95-177; Rogers v. Moore, 86-86; Wynne v. Prairie, 86-73—in an action for damages for negligence generally, Manning v. R. R., 122-824—in an action for conversion and embezzlement, McLeod v. Nimocks, 122-437; Stewart v. Bryan, 121-46.

The "return term" spoken of, in the section before amended, is the one at which the complaint must be filed before the third day thereof: Brown v. Rhinehart, 112-772—but if complaint filed after return term it stands on the file during the first three days of the next succeeding term, and judgment by default for want of answer at that term may be rendered, Roberts v. Allman, 106-391.

597. By default for defendant. If the answer contains a statement of new matter constituting a counterclaim, and the plaintiff fails to reply or demur thereto, the defendant may move for such judgment as he is entitled to upon such statement; and if the case requires it, an order for an inquiry of damages by a jury may be made.

This section regarded as not an express provision in favor of a defendant whose counterclaim exceeds plaintiff's claim, and intimation made that there should be separate judgments: Wilmington v. Bryan, 141-682. Cases illustrating doctrine of section: Bank v. Ireland, 122-576; Rumbough v. Improvement Co., 109-703; Dempsey v. Rhodes, 93-120; Barnhardt v. Smith, 86-473. A defendant is entitled to judgment upon a counterclaim if no reply or demurrer has been interposed: Rountree v. Britt, 94-104. See section 543. When an administrator recovers judgment upon his claim and the defendant upon a counterclaim, the former is to be paid in full, and the latter according to its order among the debts of the estate: Rountree v. Britt, 94-104.

598. Rendered in vacation. In all cases where the superior court in vacation has jurisdiction, and all of the parties unite in the proceedings, they may apply for relief to the superior court in vacation, or in term time, at their election.

Rev., s. 559; Code, s. 230; 1871-2, c. 3.

Judgments may be taken in vacation by consent: Westhall v. Hoyle, 141-337; Benbow v. Moore, 114-263; Bank v. Gilmer, 118-668; Coates v. Wilkes, 94-174; McDowell v. McDowell, 92-227; Shackleford v. Miller, 91-181; Hardin v. Ray, 89-364; Harrell v. Peebles, 79-26; Hervey v. Edmunds, 68-243. Amendment of judgment by judge after last session of court, without the consent and in the absence of the opposing counsel, is invalid: Hinton v. Ins. Co., 116-22. A judgment rendered in term but signed in vacation is a judgment of the term: Land Co. v. Chester, 170-399.

599. On frivolous pleading. If a demurrer, answer or reply is frivolous, the party prejudiced thereby may apply to the court or judge for judgment thereon, which may be given accordingly.

Rev., s. 560; Code, s. 388; C. C. P., s. 218.

For sham and irrelevant defense, see this chapter, s. 510.

For irrelevant, redundant, and indefinite pleadings, see this chapter, s. 537.

When frivolous answer filed judgment can be rendered for plaintiff on a note, complaint being verified: Bank v. Pearson, 119-494—so also when a frivolous demurrer interposed plaintiff entitled to judgment, Joyner v. Roberts, 112-113; Cowan v. Baird, 77-201. This section simply puts the demurrer out of the way and leaves the party prejudiced by it to obtain his judgment as if it had not been filed: Skinner v. Terry, 107-108. Judgment will not be rendered in supreme court upon a frivolous demurrer when motion was not made in lower court: Parker v. R. R., 150-433.

600. Mistake, surprise, excusable neglect. The judge shall, upon such terms as may be just, at any time within one year after notice thereof, relieve a party from a judgment, order, verdict or other proceeding taken against him through his mistake, inadvertence, surprise or excusable neglect, and may supply an omission in any proceeding.

Rev., s. 513; Code, s. 274; 1893, c. 81; C. C. P., s. 133.

APPLICATION OF SECTION. This applies to mistake of fact and not of law: Phifer v. Ins. Co., 123-405; Skinner v. Terry, 107-103. "Surprise" does not mean astonishment at the action of the court: Ibid. This applies to judgments rendered at a former term: Gold v. Maxwell, 172-149; McCulloch v. Doak, 68-267; Clemmons v. Field, 99-400; Beck v. Bellamy, 93-129; State v. Bennett, 93-503; see Johnson v. Marcom, 121-83—for the reason that an order or decree made during a term of court is in fieri and can be vacated or modified during such term: Gwinn v. Parker, 119-19; Harper v. Sugg, 111-324. A judgment rendered conformable to a verdict prior to the passage of the act (chap. 81, 1893) cannot be set aside hereunder: Morrison v. McDonald, 113-327; Brown v. Rhinehart, 112-772. As to setting aside a consent judgment, see Gardiner v. May, 172-192; Harrison v. Dill, 169-542; Hairston v. Garwood, 123-345; Kerchner v. McEachern, 93-447; Vaughan v. Gooch, 92-524. An application to set aside an irregular judgment does not come under this section: Becton v. Dunn, 137-559; Cowles v. Hayes, 69-406; Vick v. Pope, 81-22; Monroe v. Whitted, 79-508; Mabry v. Erwin, 78-45; Estes v. Rash, 170-341; Massie v. Hainey, 165-174; McLeod v. Gooch, 162-122; Hardware Co. v. Buhmann, 159-511; Calmes v. Lambert, 153-248; the remedy in this case is by motion and not by independent action: Craddock v. Brinkley, 177-125; Cox v. Boyden, 167-320. The judgment will not be set aside when the parties are present and have opportunity to be heard: Mann v. Mann, 176-353.

JURISDICTION. The order should be made by the judge and not by the clerk: Maxwell v. Blair, 95-317; Griel v. Vernon, 65-76. Relief may also be had in the supreme court: Bernhardt v. Brown, 118-710; Summerlin v. Cowles, 107-459; State v. Willis, 106-804; Cook v.

Moore, 100-294; Wiley v. Logan, 94-564; Scott v. Queen, 95-340; Williamson v. Boykin, 104-100; Farrar v. Staton, 101-78; Wade v. Newbern, 73-318.

PROCEDURE IN OBTAINING ORDER. For procedure generally, see Norton v. McLaurin, 125-185. Judgment set aside hereunder only on motion and not by an independent action: Ins. Co. v. Scott, 136-157. Notice of motion to set aside must be given adverse party: Johnson v. Marcom, 121-83; Harper v. Sugg, 111-324; Coor v. Smith, 107-430; Allison v. Whittier, 101-490—and may be served upon attorney of record, Branch v. Walker, 92-87. As to rules of evidence in hearing motions to set aside judgments: Stancill v. Gay, 92-455. Motion to set aside for causes mentioned must be made within one year from rendition where summons personally served: Lee v. McCracken, 170-575; Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209; Adams v. Joyner, 147-77; Ins. Co. v. Scott, 136-157; Clement v. Ireland, 129-220; Banking Co. v. Duke, 121-111; Roberts v. Allman, 106-391; Ruffin v. Harrison, 91-398; Young v. Greenlee, 85-593; McLean v. McLean, 84-366; Moore v. Hinnant, 90-163; Askew v. Capehart, 79-17; McDaniel v. Watkins, 76-399—but if not personally served, within one year from actual notice of judgment, McLean v. McLean, 84-366; DePriest v. Patterson, 85-378. The burden of showing mistake, surprise or excusable neglect is on the applicant for relief: Jeffries v. Aaron, 120-167; Mauney v. Gidney, 88-200; Grant v. Edwards, 88-246; Kerchner v. Baker, 82-169; Sluder v. Rollins, 76-271; Weaver v. Jones, 82-440; Clayton v. Johnston, 82-423.

There is no rule that affidavits should be filed before the motion hereunder is heard: Jones v. Swepson, 94-700. Where supreme court reverses decision of lower court upon the motion to set aside judgment and sends it back for a rehearing it is to be heard de novo, and any competent evidence, whether introduced on former hearing or not, can be offered: Ibid. Where motion was made in term time and by inadvertence or mistake a party fails to take notice, the court may allow party opportunity to be heard: Hemphill v. Moore, 104-380. The motion should be made in the county where the judgment was rendered: Cahoon v. Brinkley, 176-5.

The application should show not only mistake or excusable neglect, but also a meritorious defense: Land Co. v. Wooten, 177-248; Crumpler v. Hines, 174-283; Cahoon v. Brinkley, 176-5; Lumber Co. v. Cottingham, 173-323; Hyatt v. Clark, 169-178; Minton v. Hughes, 158-587; Stockton v. Mining Co., 144-595; Osborn v. Leach, 133-427; Turner v. Machine Co., 133-381; Pepper v. Clegg, 132-313; Norton v. McLaurin, 125-185.

FINDINGS AND ORDERS OF JUDGE. The facts should be found by the judge, and his findings are not reviewable: Lumber Co. v. Blue, 170-1; Harrison v. Dill, 169-542; Smith v. Holmes, 148-210; Allen v. McPherson, 168-435; Stockton v. Mining Co., 144-595; Osborn v. Leach, 133-427; Pepper v. Clegg, 132-313; Morris v. Ins. Co., 131-212; Koch v. Porter, 129-132; Norton v. McLaurin, 125-185; Marsh v. Griffin, 123-660; Marion v. Tilley, 119-473; Sikes v. Weatherly, 110-131; Albertson v. Terry, 108-75; Taylor v. Pope, 106-267; Weil v. Woodard, 104-94; Winborne v. Johnson, 95-46; Branch v. Walker, 92-87; Jones v. Swepson, 79-510; Johnson v. Duckworth, 72-244; Powell v. Weith, 66-423; Clegg v. Soapstone Co., 66-391; Oldham v. Sneed, 80-15; Smith v. Hahn, 80-240; Bryant v. Fisher, 85-69—and if either mistake, inadvertence, surprise or excusable neglect exists, then the court's discretion in relieving a party is not reviewable unless such discretion is abused, Pepper v. Clegg, 132-313; Morris v. Ins. Co., 131-212; Norton v. McLaurin, 125-185; Wyche v. Ross, 119-174; Marsh v. Griffin, 123-660; Manning v. R. R., 122-824; Cowles v. Cowles, 121-272; Stith v. Jones, 119-428; Wyche v. Ross, 119-174; Sikes v. Weatherly, 110-131; Albertson v. Terry, 108-75; Weil v. Woodard, 104-94; Foley v. Blank, 92-476; Winborne v. Johnson, 95-47; Brown v. Hale, 93-188; Williams v. R. R., 110-471; Beck v. Bellamy, 93-129; Nicholson v. Cox, 83-48; Bank v. Foote, 77-131; Simonton v. Lanier, 71-498—but as to whether the facts found show that either mistake, inadvertence, surprise or excusable neglect exists is a question of law and is reviewable: Bank v. Brock, 174-547; Gaylord v. Berry, 169-733; Stockton v. Mining Co., 144-595; Williams v. R. R., 110-471; Norton v. McLaurin, 125-185; Pepper v. Clegg, 132-313; Weil v. Woodard, 104-94; Winborne v. Johnson, 95-46; Foley v. Blank, 92-476—also where judge refuses to set aside judgment on the ground that he has no power, it is reviewable, Gilchrist v. Kitchin, 86-21; Hudgins v. White, 65-393; State v. Locust, 63-574; Winslow v. Anderson, 20-1. It is presumed that the judge found the facts to support his action: Gardiner v. May, 172-192; but upon his failure to find the facts the party should request it in apt time and except: McLeod v. Gooch, 162-122.

EXCUSABLE NEGLECT. On the part of the party: Guano Co. v. Hearne, 172-398; Walters v. Walters, 171-312; Sirecy v. Rees' Sons, 155-296; Stith v. Jones, 119-428; Sikes v. Weatherly, 110-131; Weil v. Woodard, 104-94; Holden v. Purefoy, 108-163; Warren v. Harvey, 92-137; Branch v. Walker, 92-87; Pickens v. Fox, 90-369; Geer v. Reams, 88-197; Francks v. Sutton, 86-78; Wynne v. Prairie, 86-73; Mebane v. Mebane, 80-34; Blue v. Blue, 79-69; Long v. Cole, 74-267; Griel v. Vernon, 65-76. On the part of the attorney: Grandy v. Products Co., 175-511; Gallins v. Ins. Co., 174-553; Seawell v. Lumber Co., 172-320; Schiele v. Ins. Co., 171-426; Howell v. White, 169-640; Gaylord v. Berry, 169-733; Mann v. Hall, 163-50; Taylor v. Pope, 106-267; Gwathney v. Savage, 101-103; Wiley v. Logan, 94-564; Winborn v. Byrd, 92-7; Boing v. R. R., 88-62; English v. English, 87-497; Ellington v. Wicker, 87-14; Wynne v. Prairie, 86-73; Molyneux v. Huey, 81-106; Moore v. Gidney, 75-34; Griel v. Vernon, 65-76; Francks v. Sutton, 86-78; Geer v. Reams, 88-197.

INEXCUSABLE NEGLECT. On the part of the party: Ollis v. Proffitt, 174-675; Lumber Co. v. Blue, 170-1; Pierce v. Eller, 167-672; School v. Peirce, 163-424; McLeod v. Gooch, 162-122; Stockton v. Mining Co., 144-595; Williamson v. Cocks, 124-585; Vick v. Baker, 122-98; Manning v. R. R., 122-824; Cowles v. Cowles, 121-272; Stith v. Jones, 119-428; Sluder v. Graham, 118-835; Simpson v. Brown, 117-482; Finlayson v. Accident Co., 109-196; Roberts v. Allman, 106-391; Smith v. Smith, 101-461; Brown v. Hale, 93-188; Abrams v. Ins. Co., 93-60; Kivett v. Wynne, 89-39; Churchill v. Ins. Co., 88-205; Norwood v. King, 86-80; DePriest v. Patterson, 85-376; Henry v. Clayton, 85-371; McLean v. McLean, 84-366; Hutchinson v. Rumpfelt, 83-441; University v. Lassiter, 83-38; Kerchner v. Baker, 82-169; Hodgin v. Matthews, 81-289; Cobb v. O'Hagan, 81-293; Hyman v. Capehart, 79-511; Bradford v. Coit, 77-72; Sluder v. Rollins, 76-271; Skinner v. Bryce, 75-287; White v. Snow, 71-232; Clegg v. Soapstone Co., 67-302; Burke v. Stokely, 65-569; Waddell v. Wood, 64-624. In employing an attorney who does not attend the court: Cahoon v. Brinkley, 176-5; Ham v. Person, 173-72; Bank v. Palmer, 153-501. When attorney is sick or dies: Holland v. Benevolent Assn., 176-86; Queen v. Lumber Co., 170-501; Hunter v. R. R., 163-281; White v. Rees, 150-678.

Negligence on the part of attorney: Stallings v. Spruill, 176-121; Hardware Co. v. Buhmann, 159-511; Vivian v. Mitchell, 144-472; Hairston v. Garwood, 123-345; Neal v. Land Co., 112-841; Edwards v. Henderson, 109-83; Norton v. McLaurin, 125-185; Manning v. R. R., 122-824; Vick v. Baker, 122-98; Cowles v. Cowles, 121-272; Chadbourn v. Johnston, 119-282; Boyer v. Garner, 116-125; Finlayson v. Accident Co., 109-196; Griffin v. Nelson, 106-235; Roberts v. Allman, 106-391; Whitson v. R. R., 95-385; Churchill v. Ins. Co., 92-485; Boing v. R. R., 88-62; University v. Lassiter, 83-38; Sluder v. Rollins, 76-271; Hyman v. Capehart, 79-511; Burke v. Stokely, 65-569. On the part of party's agent: Morris v. Ins. Co., 131-212; Heath v. Lane, 176-119.

Cases merely referring to section: Turner v. Davis, 132-188; Hardy v. Hardy, 128-179; Black v. Black, 111-302; Bost v. Lassiter, 105-497; Strickland v. Strickland, 95-471.

601. Stands until reversed. Every judgment given in a court of record having jurisdiction of the subject is, and continues to be, in force until reversed according to law.

Rev., s. 561; Code, s. 935; R. C., c. 31, s. 103; 4 Hen. IV, c. 23.

Hopkins v. Crisp, 166-97; Spivey v. Harrell, 101-48; McIver v. Stephens, 101-255; England v. Garner, 90-197. An action is not ended by the rendition of a judgment; it remains open for all motions and proceedings for its enforcement, including proceedings supplementary to execution: Turner v. Holden, 109-182. Void, erroneous and irregular judgments distinguished: Moore v. Packer, 174-665. An irregular judgment stands until corrected by direct proceeding: Pinnell v. Burroughs, 168-315; s. e., 172-182. Too late to move to set aside a judgment after payment, except for fraud: Pardue v. Absher, 174-676. To set aside a judgment for fraud, the remedy is by independent action: Moody v. Wike, 170-541, and cases cited. A foreign judgment may be attacked for fraud or want of jurisdiction: Williamson v. Jerome, 169-215. See section 592.

602. For and against whom given; failure to prosecute. 1. Judgment may be given for or against one or more of several plaintiffs, and for or against one or more of several defendants; and it may determine the ultimate rights of the parties on each side, as between themselves.

Judgment as a final determination of the rights of the parties, see section 592. Judgment should be drawn so as to determine all rights: Fisher v. Water Co., 128-379—whether they be legal or equitable, Hutchinson v. Smith, 68-354—but cannot exceed sum named in summons and attachment, Cotton Mills v. Weil, 129-452—and should be entered on material issues without regard to immaterial issues, Corporation Commission v. R. R., 137-1. Judgment between defendants: Coulter v. Wilson, 171-537; Gregg v. Wilmington, 155-18. It is not necessary, but the better practice, for the judge to sign the judgment: Brown v. Harding, 170-253; Belcher v. Cobb, 169-689; Sledge v. Elliott, 116-712; Bond v. Wool, 113-20; Range Co. v. Carver, 118-328; Spencer v. Credle, 102-68; Keener v. Goodson, 89-273; Rollins v. Henry, 78-342; Matthews v. Joyce, 85-258—but statute merely directory, Young v. Jackson, 92-144; Keener v. Goodson, 89-273.

2. It may grant to the defendant any affirmative relief to which he may be entitled.

As to granting judgment for any relief to which pleadings and issues show party entitled, see cases under sections 506, 597, 606.

3. In an action against several defendants, the court may, in its discretion, render judgment against one or more of them, leaving the action to proceed against the others, whenever a several judgment is proper.

As to joint and several debtors, see sections 458, 459, 497-499. Where ejectment brought against landlord and tenant and tenant fails to answer, the complaint being verified, judgment can be taken as to tenant: Harkey v. Houston, 65-137.

JUDGMENTS RENDERED IN VARIOUS PROCEEDINGS THAT MAY BE OF INTEREST. In action by one tenant in common to recover his interest in land: Vick v. Baker, 122-99. In action on parol contract to sell land, where contract avoided and betterments allowed, Vann v. Newsome, 110-122. In action of ejectment, Credle v. Ayers, 126-11; Moore v. Angel, 116-843; Arrington v. Arrington, 114-116; Pearson v. Carr, 97-194; Cowles v. Ferguson, 90-308; Wicker v. Jones, 159-103. In action to recover for labor upon a house, McMillan v. Williams, 109-252; Oakley v. Van Noppen, 95-60. In action to recover of sureties upon official bonds, Davenport v. McKee, 98-500. In action by partnership against individual who has counterclaim against one member of the firm, Sloan v. McDowell, 71-356; Davis v. Mfg. Co., 114-321. In action to foreclose for collection of purchase money, Burnap v. Sideberry, 108-307. In action for specific performance where statute of frauds pleaded, Pendleton v. Dalton, 92-185. In action to set aside fraudulent deed of assignment, Rouse v. Bowers, 108-182. In action against executor as manager of the business of deceased under his will, Froelich v. Trading Co., 120-39; Banking Co. v. Morehead, 116-410. In action against married woman for her husband's debt, McLeod v. Williams, 122-451. In action on note, Reade v. Street, 122-301. In action for taxes, Wilmington v. McDonald, 133-548—for distribution of trust fund, Isler v. Brock, 134-428—for damages for locating right of way of railroad, Beal v. R. R., 136-298—for recovery of specific personal property, see section 610—for trespass on land, Lumber Co. v. Lumber Co., 137-432—where issue of devisavit vel non, Collins v. Collins, 125-98. Judgment in foreclosure proceeding where the debt is payable in installments: Walker v. Burrell, 172-386; effect of a judgment in foreclosure upon other encumbrances: Jones v. Williams, 155-179. Judgment in an action for specific performance: Gallimore v. Grubb, 156-575; Bateman v. Hopkins, 157-470. In an action based upon party-wall agreement: Reid v. King, 158-85. Judgment based upon admissions in the pleadings: Adams v. Beasley, 174-118. Striking out answer and giving judgment for failure to comply with conditions: Lumber Co. v. Cottingham, 168-544; s. c., 173-323.

4. The court may also dismiss the complaint, with costs in favor of one or more defendants, in case of unreasonable neglect on the part of the plaintiff to serve the summons on other defendants, or to proceed in the cause against the defendant or defendants served.

The fact that no complaint has been filed will not make judgment void: Little v. McCarter, 89-233; McLean v. Breece, 113-390; Robeson v. Hodges, 105-49; McNeill v. Hodges, 105-52; Stancill v. Gay, 92-455; Mebane v. Pope, 81-22; Leach v. R. R., 65-486.

Rev., s. 563; Code, s. 424; C. C. P., s. 248.

603. Against married women. In an action brought by or against a married woman, judgment may be given against her for costs or damages or both, in the same manner as against other persons, to be levied and collected solely out of her separate estate.

Rev., 563.

Judgments against married women: Harvey v. Johnson, 133-355; McLeod v. Williams, 122-451 (see dissenting opinion of Clark, J.); Moore v. Wolfe, 122-711; Green v. Ballard, 116-144; Dougherty v. Sprinkle, 88-300; Pippen v. Wesson, 74-437—are as binding as against any one sui juris, Craddock v. Brinkley, 177-125; Harvey v. Johnson, 133-356; Neville v. Pope, 95-351; Grantham v. Kennedy, 91-148; Vick v. Pope, 81-22—except when judgment by consent, McLeod v. Williams, 122-451 (Clark and Montgomery, JJ., dissenting); see, also, Vanderbilt v. Brown, 128-498.

604. Nonsuit not allowed after verdict. In actions where a verdict passes against the plaintiff, judgment shall be entered against him.

Rev., s. 1520; Code, s. 936; R. C., c. 31, s. 110; 2 Hen. IV, c. 7.

Nonsuit, retraxit, and judgment of dismissal explained: Grimes v. Andrews, 170-515. The plaintiff may take a nonsuit at any time before verdict, and what is meant by "before verdict": Oil Co. v. Shore, 171-51; Cahoon v. Brinkley, 168-257; Strause v. Sawyer, 133-64; Everett v. Williams, 152-117; Sharpe v. Sovers, 152-379. Plaintiff will not be allowed to take nonsuit after verdict: Strause v. Sawyer, 133-64—or after judgment, Mauney v. Long, 91-170; Mfg. Co. v. Buxton, 105-74—and the court's refusal to grant a nonsuit after verdict and judgment is not reviewable, Brown v. King, 107-313. Plaintiff may elect to be nonsuited in every case where no judgment, other than for costs, can be recovered against him: McKesson v. Mendenhall, 64-502. And this he may do even before a referee: McNeill v. Lawton, 97-16.

Plaintiff cannot take a nonsuit when defendant sets up a counterclaim entitling him to affirmative relief: McLean v. McDonald, 173-429; Wilkins v. Suttles, 114-550; Pass v. Pass, 109-484; Brown v. King, 107-315; McNeill v. Lawton, 97-16; Bynum v. Powe, 97-374; Whedbee v. Leggett, 92-469; Purnell v. Vaughan, 80-46; Francis v. Edwards, 77-271; Tate v. Phillips, 77-126; McKesson v. Mendenhall, 64-502—but when no such counterclaim pleaded, plaintiff has right to take nonsuit at any time before verdict, Strause v. Sawyer, 133-64; Mfg. Co. v. Buxton, 105-74; Gatewood v. Leak, 99-363; McNeill v. Lawton, 97-16; Peoples Bank v. Stewart, 93-402; Tate v. Phillips, 77-126; Graham v. Tate, 77-120—unless in action of equitable nature the adverse party has acquired some right which he is entitled to have determined, Gatewood v. Leak, 99-363; Bynum v. Powe, 97-374; Haddock v. Stocks, 167-70; Yellowday v. Perkinson, 167-144; R. R. v. R. R., 148-59. If the counterclaim is not a proper one the plaintiff may take a nonsuit: Carpenter v. Hanes, 167-551; Pass v. Pass, 109-484; or in a proper case plaintiff may take a nonsuit and allow defendant to proceed with his counterclaim: Gatewood v. Leak, 99-363; McNeill v. Lawton, 97-16; Whedbee v. Leggett, 92-469. See section 521.

An interlocutory order will not deprive plaintiff of his right to nonsuit: Mfg. Co. v. Buxton, 105-74. But plaintiff cannot dispossess defendant by legal process and then take a nonsuit: Lane v. Morton, 81-38.

On issue of devisavit vel non no nonsuit can be taken: Collins v. Collins, 125-104; Young's Will, 123-358; Hutson v. Sawyer, 104-1; Syme v. Broughton, 85-369; Whitfield v. Hurst, 31-170; St. John's Lodge v. Callender, 26-335.

For involuntary nonsuit under demurrer to the evidence, see section 567.

605. Party dying after verdict. In no action shall the death of either party between the verdict and the judgment be alleged for error, if the judgment is entered within two terms after the verdict.

Rev., s. 564; Code, s. 938; R. C., c. 31, s. 112; 17 Charles II, c. 8.

As to judgments in favor of or against dead persons: Wood v. Watson, 107-52; Knott v. Taylor, 99-511; Lynn v. Lowe, 88-478.

606. When limited by demand in complaint. The relief granted to the plaintiff, if there is no answer, cannot exceed that demanded in his complaint; but in any other case the court may grant him any relief consistent with the case made by the complaint and embraced within the issue.

Rev., s. 565; Code, s. 425; C. C. P., s. 249.

For demand for relief in complaint, see section 506. A plaintiff, if there be an answer, is entitled to such relief as the facts stated in the complaint and the proof will admit, although he misconceives the manner in which it may be afforded: Bryan v. Canady, 169-579; Silk Co. v. Spinning Co., 154-422; Councill v. Bailey, 154-54; Wright v. Ins. Co., 138-488; Reade v. Street, 122-301; Gillam v. Ins. Co., 121-369; Adams v. Hayes, 120-383; Simmons v. Allison, 118-763; Scarlett v. Norwood, 115-284; Johnson v. Loftin, 111-319; Barnes v. Barnes, 104-613; Moore v. Nowell, 94-265; Harris v. Sneed, 104-369; McNeill v. Hodges, 105-52; Patrick v. R. R., 93-422; Moore v. Cameron, 93-51; Lumber Co. v. Wallace, 93-22; Kiff v. Weaver, 94-278; Knight v. Houghtalling, 85-17; Jones v. Mial, 82-252—but if there is no answer judgment cannot be entered for more than complaint demands, Jones v. Mial, 82-257—though he cannot recover upon a state of facts other than those set out in complaint, Cox v. Ward, 107-507; Browning v. Berry, 107-231; Willis v. Branch, 94-142; Johnson v. Finch, 92-205; Shelton v. Davis, 69-324. Where defendant tendered more than the amount found to be due, plaintiff cannot recover the amount so tendered: DeBruhl v. Hood, 156-52. Relief that may be granted in action for price of services rendered: Fulps v. Mock, 108-601; Stokes v. Taylor, 104-394; Lewis v. R. R., 95-179—in action on a special contract, Jones v. Mial, 82-252; Sams v. Price, 119-572—in action for claim and delivery of personalty, Webb v. Taylor, 80-305; Haughton v. Newberry, 69-456—in action by guardian for recovery of money loaned to partnership of which he was member, Gudger v. Baird, 66-438.

607. When passes legal title. In any action wherein the court declares a party entitled to the possession of real or personal property, the legal title of which is in another party to the suit, and the court orders a conveyance of such legal title to him so declared to be entitled, or where, for any cause, the court orders that one of the parties holding property in trust shall convey the legal title to be held in trust to another person although not a party, the court, after declaring the right and ordering the conveyance, has power also, to be used in its discretion, to declare in the order then made, or in any made in the progress of the cause, that the effect thereof is to transfer to the party to whom the conveyance is directed to be made the legal title of the said property, to be held in the same plight, condition and estate as though the conveyance ordered were in fact executed; and shall bind and entitle the parties ordered to execute or to take benefit of the conveyance, in and to all such provisions, conditions and covenants as are adjudged to attend the conveyance, in the same manner and to the same extent as the conveyance would if the same were executed according to the order. A party taking benefit under the judgment has the same redress at law on account of the matter adjudged as he might on the conveyance, if the same had been executed.

Rev., s. 566; Code, s. 426; R. C., c. 32, s. 24; 1850, c. 107; 1874-5, c. 17.

The decree does not operate as a conveyance unless it so declares in the decree: Evans v. Brendle, 173-149; Davis v. Rogers, 84-412; Morris v. White, 96-91; Rollins v. Henry, 78-352; Thaxton v. Williamson, 72-125; see, also, Smith v. King, 107-273—but it is not necessary that a decree for specific performance should declare that it should operate as a conveyance in order to constitute a complete adjudication on the rights of the holder of the naked legal title, Skinner v. Terry, 134-305. See dissenting opinion of Clark, C. J., in Allred v. Smith, 135-455; also see North v. Bunn, 122-769. Whether this section can apply to one not a party to the action: Evans v. Brendle, 173-149.

Rev., ss. 567-8; Code, ss. 427, 429; R. C., c. 32, ss. 25, 27; 1850, c. 107, ss. 2, 4; 1874-5, c. 17, ss. 2, 4.

As to the effect of the judgment as a conveyance, and the requirement for registration, see Evans v. Brendle, 173-149; Bell v. McJones, 151-85; Skinner v. Terry, 134-305; Smith v. King, 107-277; Morris v. White, 96-91.

609. Certified registered copy evidence. In all legal proceedings, touching the right of parties derived under such judgment, a certified copy from the register's books is evidence of its existence and of the matters therein contained, as fully as if proved by a perfect transcript of the whole case.

Rev., s. 569; Code, s. 428; R. C., c. 32, s. 26; 1850, c. 107, s. 3; 1874-5, c. 17, s. 3.

610. In action for recovery of personal property. In an action to recover the possession of personal property, judgment for the plaintiff may be for the possession, or for the recovery of possession, or for the value thereof in case a delivery cannot be had, and damages for the detention. If the property has been delivered to the plaintiff, and the defendant claims a return thereof, judgment for the defendant may be for a return of the property, or for the value thereof in case a return cannot be had, and damages for taking and withholding the same.

Rev., s. 570; Code, s. 431; C. C. P., s. 251.

See sections 833, 836, 840. Judgment rendered for plaintiff: Cooper v. Evans, 174-412; Hendricks v. Ireland, 162-523; Oil Co. v. Grocery Co., 136-354; Griffith v. Richmond, 126-379; Grubbs v. Stephenson, 117-66; Spencer v. Bell, 109-43; Taylor v. Hodges, 105-344; Asher v. Reizenstein, 105-215; Hall v. Tillman, 103-280; Smithdeal v. Wilkerson, 100-55; Horton v. Horne, 99-219; Jarman v. Ward, 67-32—for defendant, Ludwick v. Penny, 158-104; Penny v. Ludwick, 152-375; Mfg. Co. v. Rhodes, 152-636; Rawlings v. Neal, 126-271; Asher v. Reizenstein, 105-215; Horton v. Horne, 99-219; Council v. Averett, 90-168. Judgment where there is no property in specie, as, for instance, where it has been sold by order of court: Hall v. Tillman, 110-220, 115-500—where plaintiff and defendant each entitled to part sued for, Horton v. Horne, 99-219. Assessment of damages in another action: Bowen v. King, 146-385.

611. What judge approves judgments. In all cases where a judgment, decree or order of the superior court is required to be approved by a judge, it shall be approved by the judge having jurisdiction of receivers and injunctions.

Rev., s. 571; Code, s. 432; 1876-7, c. 223, s. 3; 1879, c. 63; 1881, c. 51.

For judge approving when infants are petitioners, see this chapter, s. 761.

See sections 851, 852.

612. Judgment roll. Unless the party or his attorney furnishes a judgment roll, the clerk, immediately after entering the judgment, shall attach together and file the following papers which constitute the judgment roll:

1. In case the complaint is not answered by any defendant, the summons and complaint, or copies thereof, proof of service, and that no answer has been received, the report, if any, and a copy of the judgment.

2. In all other cases, the summons, pleadings, or copies thereof, and a copy of the judgment, with any verdict or report, the offer of the defendant, exceptions, case, and all orders and papers in any way involving the merits and necessarily affecting the judgment.

Rev., s. 572; Code, s. 434; C. C. P., s. 253.

Section cited in Dewey v. Sugg, 109-335. Attaching the papers together is directory: Brown v. Harding, 171-686; s. c., 170-253.

613. Docketed and indexed; held as of first day of term. Every judgment of the superior court, affecting the right to real property, or requiring in whole or in part the payment of money, shall be entered by the clerk of said superior court on the judgment docket of the court. The entry must contain the names of the parties, and the relief granted, date of judgment and date of docketing; and the clerk shall keep a cross-index of the whole, with the dates and numbers thereof. In all cases affecting the title to real property the clerk shall enter upon the judgment docket the number and page of the minute docket where the judgment is recorded, and if the judgment does not contain particular description of the lands, but refers to a description contained in the pleadings, the clerk shall enter upon the minute docket, immediately following the judgment, the description so referred to.

All judgments rendered in any county by the superior court, during a term of the court, and docketed during the same term, or within ten days thereafter, are held and deemed to have been rendered and docketed on the first day of said term.

Rev., s. 573; Code, s. 433; C. C. P., s. 252; Supr. Ct. Rule VIII; 1909, c. 709.

For lien of docketed judgment, see section 614. To facilitate the search for encumbrances, the record must contain an index and a cross-index of the names of the parties to the judgment: Dewey v. Sugg, 109-328; Darden v. Blount, 126-247; Redmond v. Staton, 116-140; Holman v. Miller, 103-118—each of several judgment debtors must be specifically mentioned, but the name of only one of several plaintiffs need be mentioned, Hahn v. Moseley, 119-73. Clerk liable on his bond for failure to docket and index promptly: Shackleford v. Staton, 117-73; Redmond v. Staton, 116-140; Young v. Connelly, 112-646; Holman v. Miller, 103-118; see, also, sections 927 and 928. Using initials of defendant instead of Christian name valid: Valentine v. Britton, 127-57. One cross-index insufficient for two judgments, though appearing on same page and including same parties: Valentine v. Britton, 127-57. Judgments docketed during term in which rendered, or within ten days, deemed rendered and docketed first day of term: Ferrell v. Hales, 119-212; Moore v. Jordan, 117-90; Fleming v. Graham, 110-375; Holman v. Miller, 103-120. This does not apply to judgments rendered out of term or nunc pro tunc: Hardware Co. v. Holt, 173-308. The doctrine of relation back to the first day of the term does not affect the rights of bona fide purchasers attaching in the meantime: Hardware Co. v. Holt, 173-308; Fowle v. McLean, 168-537; McKinney v. Street, 165-515. Duty of judgment creditor to see that judgment is properly docketed, and if clerk fails to properly docket it is no encumbrance or lien affecting third parties: Holman v. Miller, 103-118.

614. Where and how docketed; lien. Upon filing a judgment roll upon a judgment affecting the title of real property, or directing in whole or in part the payment of money, it shall be docketed on the judgment docket of the superior court of the county where the judgment roll was filed, and may be docketed on the judgment docket of the superior court of any other county upon the filing with the clerk thereof a transcript of the original docket, and is a lien on the real property in the county where the same is docketed of every person against whom any such judgment is rendered, and which he has at the time of the docketing thereof in the county in which such real property is situated, or which he acquires at any time thereafter, for ten years from the date of the rendition of the judgment. But the time during which the party recovering or owning such judgment shall be, or shall have been, restrained from proceeding thereon by an order of injunction, or other order, or by the operation of any appeal, or by a statutory prohibition, does not constitute any part of the ten years aforesaid, as against the defendant in such judgment, or the party obtaining such orders or making such appeal, or any other person who is not a purchaser, creditor or mortgagee in good faith.

Rev., s. 574; Code, s. 435; C. C. P., s. 254.

Statute of limitation does not run against judgment when homestead allotted, see this chapter, s. 728.

DOCKETING JUDGMENT CREATES LIEN. As to lien of justice's judgment docketed in superior court, see sections 1517-1519. The docketing of a judgment is not essential to its efficacy nor a precedent requisite to enforcement by final process: Lytle v. Lytle, 94-686; Bernhardt v. Brown, 122-587. The judgment is no lien unless it is docketed: Alsop v. Moseley, 104-60; Holman v. Miller, 103-118; Sawyers v. Sawyers, 93-321; Williams v. Weaver, 94-134; nor unless it is cross-indexed: Wilkes v. Miller, 156-428. Failure to include on docket all of the recovery is not cured by reference to minute docket: Wilson v. Lumber Co., 131-166. Docketed after suit, but before appointment of receiver; effect: Bank v. Bank, 127-432. Tax list has the force of a docketed judgment: Shelby v. Tiddy, 118-792. Docketed judgment as a lien on remainders: Stern v. Lee, 115-426. The judgment must be docketed in another county to become a lien there: Bernhardt v. Brown, 122-587; Lowdermilk v. Corpening, 92-333. Sufficient transcript for docketing in another county: Wilson v. Patton, 87-318. The lien is created by the docketing of the judgment, not the issuing of the execution: Williams v. Weaver, 94-134; Gambrill v. Wilcox, 111-44; Dewey v. Sugg, 109-328; Holman v. Miller, 103-118; Sawyers v. Sawyers, 93-321. Where execution issued before lien expired, but sale takes place after expiration, see Pipkin v. Adams, 114-201; Spicer v. Gambill, 93-378; Lytle v. Lytle, 94-683.

PRIORITY OF LIEN. The time from which the lien dates is the moment of the docketing: Harris v. Ricks, 63-653; Hoppock v. Shober, 69-153—unless docketed during the term at which taken, or within ten days after, and then it refers back to the first day of the term, Ferrell v. Hales, 119-199; Moore v. Jordan, 117-90; Fleming v. Graham, 110-375; Holman v. Miller, 103-120. See section 613. Junior and senior docketed judgments, question of priority of lien discussed: Bernhardt v. Brown, 118-700; Dysart v. Brandreth, 118-968; Gulley v. Thurston, 112-192; Gambrill v. Wilcox, 111-42; Worsley v. Bryan, 86-343; Cannon v. Parker, 81-320; Isler v. Colgrove, 75-334; Halyburton v. Greenlee, 72-316; Hoppock v. Shober, 69-153. A purchaser under a junior docketed judgment acquires the estate subject to the lien of prior docketed judgments, he buying merely an equity of redemption, Dysart v. Brandreth, 118-968; Gambrill v. Wilcox, 111-42; Sharpe v. Williams, 76-87; Cannon v. Parker, 81-322; Isler v. Colgrove, 75-334; Halyburton v. Greenlee, 72-316. Order of liability where land subject to judgment lien is conveyed to different persons: Brown v. Harding, 170-253; s. c., 171-686. Priorities between judgments and mortgages: Bostie v. Young, 116-766; Gulley v. Thurston, 112-192; Cowen v. Withrow, 112-736; Vanstory v. Thornton, 112-196; Fleming v. Graham, 110-374; Johnston v. Lemond, 109-643. The lien of a judgment against a corporation for labor done or for tort has priority over a mortgage made before judgment rendered: R. R. v. Burnett, 123-210. See section 1140. But as to judgment on contract, see Clement v. King, 152-456. Creditors of a corporation must discharge judgment lien on its property attaching prior to title of corporation before they can subject it to payment of corporate debts: Pelletier v. Lumber Co., 123-596. Effect of taking a judgment on a judgment upon the priority of lien: Springs v. Pharr, 131-193.

NATURE OF LIEN. It is a lien upon the lands of the judgment debtor in the county where docketed: Bryan v. Dunn, 120-36; Shelby v. Tiddy, 118-794; Gardner v. Batts, 114-503; Long v. Walker, 105-90; Johnston v. Lemond, 109-643; Adams v. Guy, 106-278; Shepard v. Bland, 87-163; King v. Portis, 81-382—but not on any particular parcel, Bryan v. Dunn, 120-36; and it is a lien on the debtor's whole interest, equitable as well as legal, but the equitable lien acquired cannot be enforced by execution: Mayo v. Staton, 137-680; Tuck v. Walker, 106-285; Trimble v. Hunter, 104-129; Hardin v. Ray, 94-456; Mannix v. Ihrie, 76-299; McKeithan v. Walker, 66-95; Sprinkle v. Martin, 66-55. The lien attaches to a timber interest: Fowle v. McLean, 168-537; Williams v. Parsons, 167-529. The lien attaches to after-acquired land in the same county at the moment that the title vests in the judgment debtor, and all judgments share pro rata in the proceeds of a sale: Moore v. Jordan, 117-86. It is not a lien on land purchased and paid for by a debtor when title is taken in the name of a third party: Dixon v. Dixon, 81-323; Wall v. Fairley, 77-105. A judgment for purchase money has no higher lien than any other, except the homestead cannot be claimed against a debt for its purchase: Draper v. Allen, 114-50; Peck v. Culberson, 104-425; Moore v. Ingram, 91-376.

The lien does not vest any estate in the judgment creditor, but only secures to creditor the right to have it applied to the satisfaction of his judgment: Brown v. Harding, 170-253; s. c., 171-686; Bruce v. Nicholson, 109-202; Baruch v. Long, 117-509; Bryan v. Dunn, 120-36; Dail v. Freeman, 92-351; Murchison v. Williams, 71-135—nor is the land primarily liable for the debt, Murchison v. Williams, 71-135. When land of homesteader worth only $1,000, but homesteader sells the timber trees, purchaser restrained from cutting: Jones v. Britton, 102-166. A docketed judgment appealed from ceases to be a lien on land when supersedeas filed: Green v. Griffin, 95-54. Docketed judgment has the effect of a statutory mortgage: James v. Markham, 128-380; Gammon v. Johnson, 126-66; Gambrell v. Wilcox, 111-42; Perry v. Morris, 65-223. As to judgment lien on land of intestate; duty of administrator: Holden v. Strickland, 116-185; Pate v. Oliver, 104-458; Lee v. Eure, 93-9; Sawyers v. Sawyers, 93-321.

EXPIRATION OF LIEN. The lien expires at the end of ten years, unless it is extended as provided in this section: Hicks v. Wooten, 175-597; Kirkwood v. Peden, 173-460; Barnes v. Fort, 169-431; Blow v. Harding, 161-375; McCaskill v. McKinnon, 121-192; Eller v. Church, 121-270; Pipkin v. Adams, 114-201; Brittain v. Dickson, 104-547; Lilly v. West, 97-276; Cook v. Moore, 95-1; Lytle v. Lytle, 94-683; Fox v. Kline, 85-173; McDonald v. Dickson, 85-248; Pasour v. Rhyne, 82-149. When one buys property subject to a judgment lien his title is free upon the expiration of ten years from the docketing: McCaskill v. Graham, 121-190. The lien of the judgment is not extended by part payment: Hughes v. Boone, 114-54.

After ten years, there is no lien until an actual levy has been made, and this lien dates from the levy: Wilson v. Lumber Co., 131-167; Pipkin v. Adams, 114-201; Spicer v. Gambill, 93-378; Sawyers v. Sawyers, 93-321; Barnes v. Fort, 169-431. As to the effect of the death of the judgment debtor, see Tarboro v. Pender, 153-427; Matthews v. Peterson, 150-134; Barnes v. Fort, 169-431.

615. Of supreme court docketed in superior court; lien. It is the duty of the clerk of the supreme court, on application of the party obtaining judgment in that court, directing in whole or in part the payment of money, or affecting the title to real estate, or on the like application of the attorney of record of said party, to certify under his hand and the seal of said court a transcript of the judgment, setting forth the title of the court, the names of the parties thereto, the relief granted, that the judgment was so rendered by said court, the amount and date of the judgment, what part thereof bears interest and from what time; and said clerk shall send such certificate and transcript to the clerk of the superior court of such counties as he is directed; and the clerk of the superior court receiving the certificate and transcript shall docket them in like manner as judgment rolls of the superior court are docketed. And when so docketed, the lien of said judgment is the same in all respects, subject to the same restrictions and qualifications, and the time shall be reckoned as is provided and prescribed in the preceding sections for judgments of the superior court, so far as the same are applicable. The party desiring the certificate and transcript provided for in this section may obtain them at any time after such judgment has been rendered, unless the supreme court otherwise directs.

Rev., s. 575; Code, s. 436; 1881, c. 75, ss. 1, 4.

Judgment of supreme court is no lien unless docketed: Alsop v. Moseley, 104-60; Bernhardt v. Brown, 122-593.

616. Of federal court docketed; lien. Judgments and decrees rendered in the circuit and district courts of the United States within this state may be docketed on the judgment dockets of the superior courts in the several counties of this state for the purpose of creating liens of such judgments and decrees upon property within the county where the same are so docketed in like manner as judgments of superior courts for the purpose of creating liens upon property, but in no other manner, extent or order than as contemplated, provided and intended by the act of Congress entitled "An act to regulate the liens of judgments and decrees of the courts of the United States," approved August first, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight. And it is the duty of the clerk of the superior court, when a judgment roll of said circuit and district courts is filed with him, to docket it as judgments of the said superior courts are required to be docketed.

See Alsop v. Moseley, 104-60; Riley v. Carter, 165-334.

617. Paid to clerk; docket credited; transcript to other counties. The party against whom a judgment for the payment of money is rendered, by any court of record, may pay the whole, or any part thereof, to the clerk of the court in which the same was rendered, at any time thereafter, although no execution has issued on such judgment; and this payment of money is good and available to the party making it, and the clerk shall enter the payment on the judgment docket of the court, and immediately forward a certificate thereof to the clerk of the superior court of each county to whom a transcript of said judgment has been sent, and the clerk of such superior court shall enter the same on the judgment docket of such court and file the original with the judgment roll in the action. Entries of payment or satisfaction on the judgment dockets in the office of the clerk of the superior court, by any person other than the clerk, shall be made in the presence of the clerk or his deputy, who shall witness the same, and when entries of full payment or satisfaction have been made, the clerk or his deputy shall enter upon the judgment index kept by him, opposite and on a line with the names of the parties to the judgment, the words "Paid" or "Satisfied."

Rev., s. 577; Code, s. 438; R. C., c. 31, s. 127; 1823, c. 1212; 1911, c. 76.

Sugg v. Bernard, 122-156; Purvis v. Jackson, 69-474. Debtor may make payment on judgment to clerk except while execution in sheriff's hands: Bynum v. Barefoot, 75-576.

618. Payment by one of several; transfer to trustee for payor. In all cases in the courts of this state wherein judgment has been, or may hereafter be, rendered against two or more persons or corporations, who are jointly and severally liable for its payment either as joint obligors or joint tort-feasors, and the same has not been paid by all the judgment debtors by each paying his proportionate part thereof, if one of the judgment debtors shall pay the judgment creditor, either before or after execution has been issued, the amount due on said judgment, and shall, at the time of paying the same, demand that said judgment be transferred to a trustee for his benefit, it shall be the duty of the judgment creditor or his attorney to transfer without recourse such judgment to a trustee for the benefit of the judgment debtor paying the same; and a transfer of such judgment as herein contemplated shall have the effect of preserving the lien of the judgment and of keeping the same in full force as against any judgment debtor who does not pay his proportionate part thereof to the extent of his liability thereunder in law and in equity.

If the judgment debtors do not agree as to their proportionate liability, and it be alleged in such action by petition that any judgment debtor is insolvent or is a nonresident of the state and cannot be forced under the execution of the court to contribute to the payment of the judgment, the court shall, in the action in which the judgment was rendered, after notice to the defendants or such of them as may be within the jurisdiction of the court, submit proper issues to a jury to find the facts arising on such petition and any answer that may be filed thereto, and shall, upon such verdict and any admissions in the petition and answer, enter judgment declaring the proportionate part each judgment debtor shall pay.

Any judgment creditor who refuses to transfer a judgment in his favor to a trustee for the benefit of a judgment debtor who shall tender payment and demand in writing a transfer thereof to a trustee to preserve his rights in the same action, as contemplated by this section, shall not thereafter be entitled to an execution against the judgment debtor so tendering payment.

The surety or joint debtor who pays the debt should have it assigned to a third person as trustee for him to keep it in force: Rice v. Hearn, 109-150; Liles v. Rogers, 113-197; Peebles v. Gay, 115-38; Tripp v. Harris, 154-296; Fowle v. McLean, 168-537. The cases of Jones v. McKinnon, 87-294; Towe v. Felton, 52-216, and others, which restrict this right of the surety to a judgment against the principal, are overruled: Fowle v. McLean, 168-537. The right of contribution among the sureties is in proportion to the number of solvent sureties: Powell v. Mathis, 26-83; Fowle v. McLean, 168-537. See, also, sections 3963, 3965.

619. Clerk to pay money to party entitled. The clerk, to whom money is paid as aforesaid, shall pay it to the party entitled to receive it, under the same rules and penalties as if the money had been paid into his office by virtue of an execution.

See Purvis v. Jackson, 69-474.

620. Credits upon judgments. Where a payment has been made on a judgment docketed in the office of the clerk of the superior court, and no entry made on the judgment docket, or where any docketed judgment appealed from has been reversed or modified on appeal and no entry made on such docket, any person interested therein may move in the cause before the clerk, upon affidavit after notice to all persons interested, to have such credit, reversal or modification entered; and upon the hearing before the clerk he may hear affidavits, oral testimony, depositions and any other competent evidence, and shall render his judgment, from which any party may appeal in the same manner as in appeals in special proceedings. On the trial of any issue of fact on the appeal either party may demand a jury trial, which shall be had upon the evidence before the clerk, which he shall reduce to writing. On a final judgment ordering any such credit, reversal or modification, transcript thereof shall be sent by the clerk of the superior court to each county in which the original judgment has been docketed, and the clerk of such county shall enter the same on the judgment docket of his county opposite such judgment and file the transcript. No final process shall issue on any such judgment after affidavit filed in the cause until the motion for credit, reversal or modification has been finally disposed of.

Rev., s. 579; 1903, c. 558.

For form of judgment for purchase money of land, see this chapter, s. 675 (5).

For estoppel of judgment after amendment of pleadings, see this chapter, s. 548.

This section does not apply in case of a parol agreement to sell land, in which a certain judgment was to be marked satisfied as a part of the price: Brown v. Hobbs, 154-544.

621. For money due on judicial sale. The supreme and other courts ordering a judicial sale, or having possession of bonds taken on such sale, may, on motion, after ten days notice thereof in writing, enter judgment as soon as the money becomes due against the debtors or any of them, unless for good cause shown the court directs some other mode of collection.

Rev., s. 1524; Code, s. 941; R. C., c. 31, s. 129.

This section is constitutional, and substitutes notice and execution for proceeding by attachment in equity: Cotten, ex parte, 62-79. Motion in the cause is the proper remedy to enforce payment of the purchase money in judicial sale; but an independent action may be sustained unless objection is made in apt time: Lackey v. Pearson, 101-651. An independent action is proper for the commissioner to enforce an individual right against the purchaser: Ibid. And this would seem to be the proper remedy for the parties entitled to compel the commissioner to account for money collected: Smith v. Moore, 79-82.

Different courses to be pursued where purchaser at judicial sale fails to comply with his bid: Hudson v. Coble, 97-260. The court may order payment of the money after ten days notice: Cotten, ex parte, 62-79; Mauney v. Pemberton, 75-219; or may order a resale of the land: Davis v. Pierce, 167-135. The payment of the purchase money in an administrator's sale of land for assets may be enforced under this section by the court ordering the sale: Mauney v. Pemberton, 75-219; Chambers v. Penland, 78-53.

622. Applicable to justices' courts. This article applies, wherever appropriate, to proceedings in courts of justices of the peace.

Rev., s. 562; Code, s. 389.

Durham v. Wilson, 104-598.

ART. 24. CONFESSION OF JUDGMENT

623. When and for what. A judgment by confession may be entered without action either in or out of term, either for money due or to become due, or to secure any person against contingent liability on behalf of the defendant, or both, in the manner prescribed by this article.

Rev., s. 580; Code, s. 570; C. C. P., s. 325.

The confession of judgment by a corporation: Howard v. Warehouse Co., 123-91; Hill v. Lumber Co., 113-173; Nimocks v. Shingle Co., 110-20; Sharp v. R. R., 106-308. Judgment confessed by executor binds him individually: Hall v. Craige, 65-51, 68-305. Guardian of lunatic may confess for ward: McAden v. Hooker, 74-24. The court must have jurisdiction of the subject-matter: Slocumb v. Shingle Co., 110-24.

624. Debtor to make verified statement. A statement in writing must be made, signed, and verified by the defendant, to the following effect:

The requirements of this section must be strictly complied with: Smith v. Smith, 117-348; Sharp v. R. R., 106-308; Hill v. Lumber Co., 113-180; Davidson v. Alexander, 84-621. Statement verified by guardian of lunatic not irregular in absence of fraud: McAden v. Hooker, 74-24.

1. It must state the amount for which judgment may be entered, and authorize the entry of judgment therefor.

See generally: Smith v. Smith, 117-348; Martin v. Briscoe, 143-353. The filing is sufficient as an authority for its entry and conforms to the statute: Bank v. Cotton Mills, 115-507.

2. If it is for money due, or to become due, it must state concisely the facts out of which it arose, and must show that the sum confessed is justly due, or to become due.

Where affidavit stated that he was justly indebted in a certain amount, but did not embrace the account, which was filed, it was insufficient: Davenport v. Leary, 95-203. Certain confessions as to facts out of which indebtedness arose held sufficient under circumstances related: Martin v. Briscoe, 143-353; Bank v. Cotton Mills, 115-507; Uzzle v. Vinson, 111-138; Sharp v. R. R., 106-308—held insufficient, Davenport v. Leary, 95-203; Davidson v. Alexander, 84-621; Smith v. Smith, 117-348.

3. If it is for the purpose of securing the plaintiff against a contingent liability, it must state concisely the facts constituting the liability, and must show that the sum confessed does not exceed the same.

A judgment confessed to provide security against contingent liability must be a lien for the full amount named until the actual loss is determined: Darden v. Blount, 126-250. The filing of confession equivalent to an express authority for its entry and fully conforms to the statute: Bank v. Cotton Mills, 115-507. Cases where judgment confessed under agreement between plaintiff and defendant as to certain matters not appearing in judgment: Wood v. Bagley, 34-83; Molyneux v. Huey, 81-107.

Rev., s. 581; Code, s. 571; C. C. P., s., 326.

625. Judgment; execution; installment debt. The statement may be filed with the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the defendant resides, or if he does not reside in the state, of some county in which he has property. The clerk shall indorse upon it and enter on his judgment docket a judgment of the court for the amount confessed, with three dollars costs, together with disbursements. The statement and affidavit, with the judgment indorsed, thenceforth become the judgment roll. Executions may be issued and enforced thereon in the same manner as upon judgments in other cases in such courts. When the debt for which the judgment is recovered is not all due, or is payable in installments, and the installments are not all due, the execution may issue upon such judgment for the collection of such installments as have become due, and shall be in the usual form; but must have indorsed thereon, by the attorney or person issuing it, a direction to the sheriff to collect the amount due on such judgment, with interest and costs, which amount shall be stated, with interest thereon, and costs of said judgment. Notwithstanding the issue and collection of such execution, the judgment remains as security for the installments thereafter to become due; and whenever any further installment becomes due, execution may, in like manner, be issued for its collection and enforcement.

Rev., s. 582; Code, s. 572; C. C. P., s. 327.

Setting aside the judgment for cause appearing in record: Nimocks v. Shingle Co., 110-20. Amending irregularities, etc.: Bank v. Cotton Mills, 115-507. Confession of judgment is not vitiated because the evidence of indebtedness not filed, when confession sufficiently describes: Bank v. Cotton Mills, 115-507—or because confession stipulates that execution will not issue within a specified time, Ibid.—or because confession is for a greater rate of interest than contract stipulates, when no fraud, Ibid.—or that the judgment was entered by the clerk at night, Sharp v. R. R., 106-308. Judgment is void when court has no jurisdiction: Smith v. Smith, 117-348; Slocumb v. Shingle Co., 110-24.

ART. 25. SUBMISSION OF CONTROVERSY WITHOUT ACTION

626. Submission, affidavit, and judgment. Parties to a question in difference which might be the subject of a civil action may, without action, agree upon a case containing the facts upon which the controversy depends, and present a submission of the same to any court which would have jurisdiction if an action had been brought. But it must appear by affidavit that the controversy is real, and the proceedings in good faith to determine the rights of the parties. The judge shall hear and determine the case, and render judgment thereon as if an action were pending.

Rev., s. 803; Code, s. 567; C. C. P., s. 315.

This section does not contemplate a jury trial: Moore v. Hinnant, 90-163. This section does not apply to proceedings before justices of the peace: Wilmington v. Atkinson, 88-54—nor where parties differ and seek to propound interrogatories as to their rights: Kistler v. R. R., 164-365; McKethan v. Ray, 71-165; see Board of Ed. v. Kenan, 112-566; Bates v. Lilly, 65-232—nor to contests over title to office, Davis v. Moss, 81-303—nor to criminal actions, State v. Alphin, 81-566.

The affidavit must appear in the record: Grandy v. Gulley, 120-177—must show that controversy is real and proceeding in good faith, Grandy v. Gulley, 120-176; Arnold v. Porter, 119-123; Ruffin v. Ruffin, 112-102; Jones v. Comrs., 88-56; Wilmington v. Atkinson, 88-55; Grant v. Newsom, 81-36; Hervey v. Edmunds, 68-243. It must appear that the court would have had jurisdiction if proceeding was by summons: Drug Co. v. Lenoir, 160-571; Grandy v. Gulley, 120-176; Jones v. Comrs., 88-56. No affidavit accompanying the case agreed, action dismissed: Arnold v. Porter, 119-123. Where no affidavit, defendant being present and not objecting, plaintiff may on motion be allowed to file affidavit: Grandy v. Gulley, 120-176, citing Bank v. Loan & Trust Co., 119-553. Even after issues are joined, parties may submit an agreed case: Hervey v. Edmunds, 68-247.

As to how the facts agreed should be stated, see Farthing v. Carrington, 116-315; Railroad v. Reidsville, 101-404; Overman v. Sims, 96-451; Jones v. Comrs., 88-56; Moore v. Hinnant, 87-505. No prayer for judgment is necessary: Williams v. Comrs., 132-300.

Applied to construction of a will: Elkins v. Seigler, 154-374; Williams v. Biggs, 176-48; to determine title to land: Wooten v. Hobbs, 170-211; Williams v. Blizzard, 176-146; construction of road law: Patterson v. Comrs., 170-503; under drainage law: Drainage Comrs. v. Farm Assn., 165-697; to test validity of municipal bonds: Hotel Co. v. Red Springs, 157-137; Warsaw v. Malone, 159-573; Wagstaff v. Highway Com., 174-377.

Section merely referred to in McClure v. Fellows, 131-510; Pender v. Pender, 129-58; Smathers v. Comrs., 125-480; Bank v. Gilmer, 118-670; Jones v. Hoggard, 107-350.

627. Judgment roll. Judgment shall be entered on the judgment docket, as in other cases, but without costs for any proceeding prior to trial. The case, the submission, and a copy of the judgment, constitute the judgment roll.

Rev., s. 804; Code, s. 568; C. C. P., s. 316.

Judgment can be rendered hereunder in vacation, by consent: Harrell v. Peebles, 79-26; Hervey v. Edmunds, 68-243.

628. Judgment enforced; appeal. The judgment may be enforced in the same manner as if it had been rendered in an action, and is subject to appeal in like manner.

Rev., s. 805; Code, s. 569; C. C. P., s. 317.

No particular assignment of error necessary on appeal: Davenport v. Leary, 95-203. See Moore v. Hinnant, 87-505.

SUBCHAPTER IX. APPEAL

ART. 26. APPEAL

629. Writs of error abolished. Writs of error in civil actions are abolished, and the only mode of reviewing a judgment, or order, in a civil action, is that prescribed by this chapter.

Rev., s. 583; Code, s. 544; C. C. P., s. 296.

Appeals by this section are substituted for writs of error: Lynn v. Lowe, 88-478; White v. Morris, 107-100. Appeals from inferior courts shall be to the superior court and thence only to the supreme court: Rhyne v. Lipsecombe, 122-650. Statutory requisites as to appeals cannot be dispensed with except with assent of counsel: Sondley v. Asheville, 112-694.

630. Certiorari, recordari, and supersedeas. Writs of certiorari, recordari, and supersedeas are authorized as heretofore in use. The writs of certiorari and recordari, when used as substitutes for an appeal, may issue when ordered upon the applicant filing a written undertaking for the costs only; but the supersedeas, to suspend execution, shall not issue until an undertaking is filed or a deposit made to secure the judgment sought to be vacated, as in cases of appeal where execution is stayed.

For supersedeas bond, see section 650. For bond for costs, see section 646.

CERTIORARI. The writ of certiorari is an extraordinary remedial writ to be granted or not in the sound discretion of the court where the petitioner has lost his only remedy without fault or neglect on his own part: Ice Mfg. Co. v. R. R., 125-17. Appellant is entitled to writ of certiorari where he has lost appeal by no neglect of his own or his agent, but by neglect or error of the court or its officers: Winborn v. Byrd, 92-7; Johnson v. Andrews, 132-380; Norwood v. Pratt, 124-745; McMillan v. McMillan, 122-410; Russell v. Hill, 122-772; Nichols v. Dunning, 99-82; Comrs. v. Steamship Co., 98-165; Sparks v. Sparks, 92-359; Hodges v. Lassiter, 94-294; Pittman v. Kimberly, 92-562; Seay v. Yarborough, 94-291; Roulhae v. Miller, 89-190; Stell v. Barham, 86-727; Skinner v. Maxwell, 67-257; McConnell v. Caldwell, 51-469; Reade v. Hamlin, 62-128—or by contrivance of appellee or his agent, Winborn v. Byrd, 92-7; Briggs v. Jervis, 98-454; Wiley v. Lineberry, 88-68; Bledsoe v. Snow, 48-99; Lunceford v. McPherson, 48-174—or by their acts or declarations reasonably calculated to mislead, Winborn v. Byrd, 92-7; Willis v. R. R., 119-718; Graves v. Hines, 106-323; Williamson v. Boykin, 99-238; Comrs. v. Steamship Co., 98-163; Parker v. R. R., 84-118; Mott v. Ramsay, 91-249—or by neglect of the appellee, Comrs. v. Steamship Co., 98-165; Briggs v. Jervis, 98-454; Collins v. Faribault, 92-310; Mott v. Ramsay, 91-249; Syme v. Broughton, 84-114—or where from some insurmountable obstacle appellant is prevented from perfecting his appeal, Ice Co. v. R. R., 125-17; Mott v. Ramsay, 90-372; Howerton v. Henderson, 86-718; Sharpe v. McElwee, 53-115; Dyer v. Rich, 4-413—or where there is an oral agreement, not denied, to waive time, and it is broken by appellee, Brown v. Taylor, 173-700; Walton v. Pearson, 82-464—or where the judge below by letter makes known his desire or willingness to correct an error or omission which it appears was made through mistake or inadvertence, Barber v. Justice, 138-20; Cameron v. Power Co., 137-104; Sherrill v. Tel. Co., 116-654; Riggan v. Sledge, 116-87; Bank v. Bridges, 114-107; Allen v. McLendon, 113-319; Broadwell v. Ray, 111-457; Boyer v. Teague, 106-571; Lowe v. Elliott, 107-718; Porter v. R. R., 97-63; State v. Sloan, 97-499; Mayo v.

Leggett, 96-237; State v. Gay, 94-821; State v. Gooch, 94-982; Cheek v. Watson, 90-302; Ware v. Nesbit, 92-202; Currie v. Clark, 90-17. As to negligence of counsel imputed to client, see Vivian v. Mitchell, 144-476; Cozart v. Assurance Co., 142-522; Ice Mfg. Co. v. R. R., 125-17; Boyer v. Garner, 116-125; Boing v. R. R., 88-64; Bradford v. Coit, 77-72. The writ can be used as a writ of error or false judgment: Hartsfield v. Jones, 49-309; Young v. Rollins, 90-131; Barton, ex parte, 70-134; Biggs, ex parte, 64-202; Walton v. Gatlin, 60-310; see, also, Williams v. Williams, 71-427; State v. Jefferson, 66-309. The remedy to review a refusal of the judge to discharge a prisoner upon a mistrial is by certiorari: State v. Locke, 86-647. Certiorari not allowed in forma pauperis unless an order allowing appeal in forma pauperis was made by judge below: Lindsay v. Moore, 83-444; Brittain v. Mull, 93-490; State v. Warren, 100-489; Britt v. Patterson, 31-197—but where through no laches of his own he is prevented from applying in time, his application may yet be heard, Sanders v. Norris, 82-4; Simmons v. Dowd, 77-155; Skinner v. Maxwell, 67-257. Where a criminal case is decided on a record afterwards found to be false, it will be restored to the docket and a certiorari issued to correct the record: State v. Marsh, 134-184.

Practice as to applying for certiorari when case on appeal not settled in time to bring case up: Fisher v. Fisher, 164-105; Chauncey v. Chauncey, 153-12; State v. Telfair, 139-555; Norwood v. Pratt, 124-745; Parker v. Ry. Co., 121-501; Burrell v. Hughes, 120-277; Guano Co. v. Hicks, 120-29; Brown v. House, 119-622; Shober v. Wheeler, 119-471; Haynes v. Coward, 116-841; Causey v. Snow, 116-497; Heath v. Lancaster, 116-70; State v. Freeman, 114-872; Paine v. Cureton, 114-606; Graham v. Edwards, 114-228; Pipkin v. Green, 112-355; Porter v. R. R., 106-478; Stephens v. Koonce, 106-255; Pittman v. Kimberly, 92-562; Owens v. Phelps, 91-253—and when by loss of papers or other good cause the transcript of no part of the record could be docketed in time, Peebles v. Braswell, 107-68; Nichols v. Dunning, 91-4—and when case on appeal not sent up because trial judge died pending making up the case, Taylor v. Simmons, 116-70; Parker v. Coggins, 116-71.

Certiorari is the remedy by which matters adjudged, decreed, or ordered by inferior tribunals may be brought up for revision where no appeal provided: State v. Tripp, 168-150; In re Hinson, 156-250; State v. Webb, 155-426; Hillsboro v. Smith, 110-417; Smith v. Cheek, 50-213; Thompson v. Floyd, 47-313; Brooks v. Morgan, 27-481; Collins v. Houghton, 26-420; Matthews v. Matthews, 26-155; Dougan v. Arnold, 15-99; Allen v. Williams, 2-17. Intimated that where there is a more appropriate remedy than certiorari it should be resorted to: Watson v. Shields, 67-235; Ex parte Daughtry, 28-155; Petty v. Jones, 23-408; Swain v. Fentress, 15-601; Street v. Clark, 1-109; but see McLeran v. Melvin, 56-198. Certiorari to perfect record will lie as often as necessary until record is perfect: Clark v. Machine Works, 150-88; State v. Reid, 18-382; Russell v. Hill, 122-773; Burrell v. Hughes, 120-277; State v. Beal, 119-809; State v. Preston, 104-733; State v. Randall, 87-571; State v. Munroe, 30-258; State v. Craton, 28-164; Smith v. Kelly, 7-507. Effect of issuing writ of certiorari upon execution: State v. Walters, 97-489. Certiorari may be granted on facts apparent on the records or papers before the court that are uncontroverted: Cherry v. Slade, 9-400. One superior court can issue writ of certiorari to another to send over more perfect transcript: State v. Reid, 18-377; State v. Collins, 14-117. Writ issues only to the court that rendered judgment: Williams v. Williams, 71-427. Certiorari may issue from superior court to recorder's court: Taylor v. Johnson, 171-84; but an appeal taken and properly docketed will be sustained unless objection is raised promptly: Drug Co. v. R. R., 173-87.

CASES IN WHICH HELD THAT CERTIORARI WILL NOT LIE. Laches, or ignorance of requirements on part of applicant, or of some one on whom he depended: Todd v. Mackie, 160-352; Smith v. Miller, 155-247; Walsh v. Burleson, 154-174; Murphy v. Electric Co., 174-782; Cressler v. Asheville, 138-487; Barber v. Justice, 138-20; Cozart v. Assur. Co., 142-522; Wood v. Watson, 107-57; Stroud v. Tel. Co., 133-253; Haynes v. Coward, 116-840; Rothchild v. McNichol, 121-284; Finlayson v. Acc. Co., 109-196; Peebles v. Braswell, 107-68; Williamson v. Boykin, 99-238; Churchill v. Ins. Co., 92-485; Winborn v. Byrd, 92-7; Boing v. R. R., 88-62; Baker v. Halstead, 44-41; Cotten v. Clark, 23-353; Davis v. Marshall, 9-59; but see Ice Mfg. Co. v. R. R., 125-17. Where application failed to assign error in judgment sought to be brought up for review, nor disclosed meritorious ground: Short v. Sparrow, 96-348; In re Brittain, 93-587; March v. Thomas, 63-249; Lewis v. Foard, 112-402. Where cost not paid for appeal upon demand: Sanders v. Thompson, 114-282; Critz v. Sparger, 121-283; Brown v. House, 119-622; Broadwell v. Ray, 112-191; Fisher v. Mining Co., 105-125; Bailey v.

THE APPLICATION FOR CERTIORARI. Cases of interest and use in drawing it up: Critz v. Sparger, 121-283; Brown v. House, 119-622; Sanders v. Thompson, 114-282; State v. Warren, 100-489; Short v. Sparrow, 96-348; In re Brittain, 93-588; Howerton v. Henderson, 86-718; Weaver v. Mining Co., 89-198; McDaniel v. Pollock, 87-503; Williams v. Williams, 74-2; Ex parte Barton, 70-134; Bledsoe v. Snow, 48-99; Lunceford v. McPherson, 48-174; March v. Thomas, 63-249; Brigman v. Jervis, 30-451; McMillan v. Smith, 4-173. Ten days notice of application required to be given adverse party: Keerans v. Keerans, 109-101. Application for certiorari must be made to the next term of the appellate court: Burrell v. Hughes, 120-277; Causey v. Snow, 116-497; Graham v. Edwards, 114-228; Norman v. Snow, 94-431; Suiter v. Brittle, 92-53, 90-19; Cross v. Cross, 90-15; Andrews v. Whisnant, 83-446; Staples v. Mooring, 26-215; Brown v. Williams, 84-116; Erwin v. Erwin, 14-528—and motion for its issuance must be at the call of the district: Mitchell v. Baker, 129-63—and before argument begun, State v. Marsh, 134-195; State v. Harris, 114-830—but sometimes may be made after argument but before case considered in conference: Boyer v. Teague, 106-571. Practice set out in application for certiorari in Weaver v. Mining Co., 89-198. The record should be docketed: Murphy v. Electric Co., 174-782; and if asked for by both sides, both should docket the record: Caudle v. Morris, 158-594. Upon making the application and giving bond a supersedeas may issue to stay execution of the judgment: Page v. Page, 166-90. For certiorari and supersedeas for review of state decision by United States supreme court, see R. R. v. Horton, 176-115.

RECORDARI. This writ is a substitute for an appeal from a judgment of a justice of the peace in order to have a new trial on the merits, and as a writ of false judgment to obtain a reversal of an erroneous decision: Marler Co. v. Clothing Co., 150-519; King v. R. R., 112-318; Clark v. Mfg. Co., 110-111; Swain v. Smith, 65-211; Caldwell v. Beatty, 69-365. Recordari and not certiorari the proper remedy as a substitute for an appeal from a justice: Ledbetter v. Osborne, 66-379. Difference between recordari and certiorari: see 2-469. Superior court judge should find the facts when application made for writ: Collins v. Gilbert, 65-135; and one fact should be that the applicant has a meritorious claim: Hunter v. R. R., 161-503. The practice as to writs of recordari discussed: Weaver v. Mining Co., 89-198; King v. R. R., 112-318. A void judgment can be examined into by recordari: McKee v. Angel, 90-60. As to whether recordari can be had when notice of appeal not given in time: Marsh v. Cohen, 68-283; State v. Johnson, 109-852; Tedder v. Deaton, 167-479. Even a delay of three months, if sufficiently accounted for, will not bar a recordari: Koonce v. Pelletier, 82-236. After the return of the writ it is too late to object that it was not addressed to him: Carmer v. Evers, 80-55.

Recordari will lie when defendant is deprived of his appeal by irregularity in justice's proceedings or error of justice: Critch v. McCadden, 64-262; Marsh v. Cohen, 68-283; State v. Warren, 100-489—when justice reasonably misled defendant as to time of trial: Navassa Guano Co. v. Bridgers, 93-439—when judgment by default taken after insufficient or no service of process: Clark v. Mfg. Co., 110-111; Merrell v. McHone, 126-528—when irregular and voidable judgments taken: King v. R. R., 112-318; Gallop v. Allen, 113-24.

Where recordari ordered but not docketed, appellee can docket and have case dismissed at any succeeding term: Johnson v. Reformers, 135-385. Where defendant asks for recordari he waives a lack of service of summons: Johnson v. Reformers, 135-385. Nonresident, learning of justice's judgment rendered against him, appealed, but justice refused to grant it, whereupon recordari issued, Merrell v. McHone, 126-528.

APPLICATION FOR RECORDARI. Must be made at first term of superior court which shall begin more than ten days after trial below: Davenport v. Grissom, 113-38; Pittman v. Kimberly, 92-562; Suiter v. Brittle, 92-53; Howerton v. Henderson, 86-720; Boing v. R. R., 88-62; Wilson v. Seagle, 84-110. Undertaking must accompany application: Steadman v. Jones, 65-388—but writ may be granted in forma pauperis: State v. Warren, 100-489.

Application must state that applicant took an appeal: Howell v. Jones, 109-102—that he paid or offered to pay the justice's fees, though no one can take advantage of this except the justice, Steadman v. Jones, 65-388; Carmer v. Evers, 80-55—and applicant must show that he has been diligent, Boing v. R. R., 88-62; Davenport v. Grissom, 113-40; Ballard v. Gay, 108-544. Application must be accompanied by supersedeas bond: Steadman v. Jones, 65-388. Amendment to application is discretionary with judge: Pritchard v. Sanderson, 92-41. Application need not contain an averment of merits when appeal was lost by misconduct or neglect of justice: State v. Warren, 100-489. The decision of the judge upon a petition for recordari can only be reviewed by appeal or by application to vacate it for mistake, surprise or excusable neglect: Barnes v. Easton, 98-116.

631. Appeal to supreme court; security on appeal; stay. Cases shall be taken to the supreme court by appeal, as provided by law. All provisions in this article as to the security to be given upon appeals and as to the stay of proceedings apply to appeals taken to the supreme court.

Rev., ss. 595, 1540; Code, ss. 561, 946; C. C. P., s. 312.

632. Who may appeal. Any party aggrieved may appeal in the cases prescribed in this chapter.

Rev., s. 585; Code, s. 547; C. C. P., s. 298.

For cases in which appeal lies, see under section 638. Parties to actions can appeal: Houston v. Lumber Co., 136-328—but a party appearing by counsel specially cannot appeal, Houston v. Lumber Co., 136-328; Clark v. Mfg. Co., 110-111—though one not a party and taxed with the costs can appear specially and appeal, Loven v. Parson, 127-301. It seems that one who offers an advanced bid at a judicial sale cannot appeal from its refusal: Sutton v. Craddock, 174-274; Thompson v. Rospigliosi, 162-146. A commissioner to sell land at a judicial sale is not a party so as to appeal from an order correcting the deed: Summerlin v. Morrissey, 168-409. Surety on prosecution bond can appeal when he is made a party to a motion to retax costs: Smith v. Arthur, 116-871—but as to surety on stay bond to secure justice's judgment, quere, Simmons v. Andrews, 106-201. The state may appeal, when, see State v. R. R., 126-1073; State v. Robinson, 116-1046, and section 4649. One not interested in the verdict and judgment cannot appeal: Faison v. Hardy, 118-142. Interveners can appeal, when: Jones v. Asheville, 116-817; Rollins v. Rollins, 76-264; Clemmons v. Hampton, 70-534. An applicant to be made a party can appeal from the court's refusal: Jones v. Asheville, 116-820. Where cases tried together for convenience, but not consolidated so as to become one action, and the verdict is substantially different as to each party, separate appeals should be taken: Williams v. R. R., 144-498.

633. Appeal from clerk to judge. Appeals lie to the judge of the superior court having jurisdiction, either in term time or vacation, from judgments of the clerk of the superior court in all matters of law or legal inference. In case of such transfer or appeal neither party need give an undertaking for costs; and the clerk shall transmit, on the transfer or appeal, to the superior court, or to the judge thereof, the pleadings, or other papers, on which the issues of fact or of law arise. An appeal must be taken within ten days after the entry of the order or judgment of the clerk. But an appeal can only be taken by a party aggrieved, who appeared and moved for, or opposed, the order or judgment appealed from, or who, being entitled to be heard thereon, had no opportunity of being heard, which fact may be shown by affidavit or other proof.

It is only from clerk's decision on question of law or legal inference that appeal may be taken: Little v. Duncan, 149-84; Powell v. Morisey, 98-426; see, also, Bank v. Burns, 107-467. Questions of fact decided by clerk are reviewable by the judge hereunder: Taylor v. Carrow, 156-6; Beckwith, ex parte, 124-111; Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-455; McMillan v. McMillan, 123-577; Edwards v. Cobb, 95-10; see cases under section 636. The appeal may be without undertaking: Adams v. Guy, 106-278. And it should be carried up promptly as provided in this section: Hicks v. Wooten, 175-597.

An appeal will lie to the judge in allotment of dower: Welfare v. Welfare, 108-272—in proceedings to remove administrators, etc., Edwards v. Cobb, 95-10—in the setting aside of a sale and ordering resale, Loviniar v. Pearce, 70-167—upon clerk's refusal to issue execution against the person of a judgment debtor, Huntley v. Hasty, 132-279—in the denial to ward of a demand that guardian be made to file an annual statement of the manner and nature of his investments, Moore v. Askew, 85-199—in attachment, where clerk refuses to allow amendment of affidavit and discharges attachment, Cushing v. Styron, 104-339; Palmer v. Boshier, 71-291—in special proceedings, when, Brittain v. Mull, 91-501—in a proceeding to restore probate of a deed, Mills v. McDaniel, 161-113.

No appeal in proceedings to condemn land for railroad until clerk passes upon exceptions to report; and then appeal is to court in term time: Railroad v. Newton, 133-136—and not to judge at chambers, Railroad v. Stewart, 132-248. See section 1723.

634. Clerk to transfer issues of fact to civil issue docket. If issues of law and of fact, or of fact only, are raised before the clerk, he shall transfer the case to the civil issue docket for trial of the issues at the next ensuing term of the superior court.

Rev., s. 588; Code, s. 256; C. C. P., s. 115.

See section 758. In a proceeding to remove an administrator, issues of fact are not raised to require a transmission by the clerk: In re Battle, 158-388.

635. Duty of clerk on appeal. On such appeal the clerk, within three days thereafter, shall prepare and sign a statement of the case, of his decision and of the appeal, and exhibit such statement to the parties or their attorneys on request. If the statement is satisfactory, the parties or their attorneys must sign it. If either party objects to the statement as partial or erroneous, he may put his objections in writing, and the clerk shall attach the writing to his statement, and within two days thereafter he shall send such statement, together with the objections, and copies of all necessary papers, by mail or otherwise, to the judge residing in the district, or in his absence to the judge holding the courts of the district, for his decision.

Rev., s. 612; Code, s. 254; C. C. P., s. 110.

On appeal from clerk to the judge this section must be complied with: Hicks v. Wooten, 175-597; Little v. Duncan, 149-84. Practice in making the statement and sending up the papers on appeal explained in Cushing v. Styron, 104-339. In cases in which the clerk acts in his capacity as clerk, as in auditing accounts, etc., it is not necessary to make the statement on appeal: Spencer, ex parte, 95-271. Clerk has no power to allow or disallow appeal; if he refuses to send up statement, the judge may order him to do so: Bank v. Burns, 107-467.

When demurrer filed in proceeding to sell real estate of decedent, issue of law raised should be certified to the judge at chambers: Jones v. Hemphill, 77-42. If issues of both law and fact raised, he should transfer both to the civil issue docket for trial: Spencer v. Credle, 102-

68; Jones v. Hemphill, 77-42. Such issues of law appealed must be sent to the judge of the district or judge who has exchanged with him and is riding the district for the term: Henry v. Hilliard, 120-479; Benbow v. Moore, 114-263; Myers v. Hamilton, 65-567. Such appeals can be heard outside of the county where proceeding pending: Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-455; McCaskill v. McKinnon, 121-192. For the statement of the case which clerk must send up, see Brooks v. Austin, 94-222.

636. Duty of judge on appeal. It is the duty of the judge on receiving a statement of appeal from the clerk, or the copy of the record of an issue of law, to decide the questions presented within ten days. But if he has been informed in writing, by the attorney of either party, that he desires to be heard on the questions, the judge shall fix a time and place for the hearing, and give the attorneys of both parties reasonable notice. He must transmit his decision in writing, endorsed on or attached to the record, to the clerk of the court, who shall immediately acknowledge its receipt, and within three days after notify the attorneys of the parties of the decision and, on request and the payment of his legal fees, give them a copy thereof, and the parties receiving such notice may proceed thereafter according to law.

See section 637. The judge should review the findings of law and of fact made by the clerk: Mills v. McDaniel, 161-113; Spencer, ex parte, 95-271; Beckwith, ex parte, 124-111; Turner v. Holden, 109-186; McAden v. Banister, 63-479; and if the evidence sent up is not satisfactory he may require other evidence: Spencer, ex parte, 95-271. He may also allow amendments: Sudderth v. McCombs, 67-353. He may hear the appeal at term time or in vacation: Rowland v. Thompson, 64-714. He should transmit his decision to the clerk, who will then proceed without any formal order: Jones v. Desern, 94-32; Patterson v. Wadsworth, 94-538; Tillett v. Aydlett, 93-15; Brittain v. Mull, 91-498; Jones v. Hemphill, 77-42. Judge's interlocutory orders made on appeal to him in condemnation proceedings not appealable: Railroad v. Newton, 133-137. Where in record in supreme court there is nothing to indicate that an attorney demanded a hearing before the judge as allowed by law, it will be presumed that the proceeding was regularly conducted: Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-455. Judge cannot demand of clerk who has gone out of office that he file, in writing, the evidence offered and admissions made in a proceeding pending before him while he was clerk: Spencer, ex parte, 95-271. Section merely cited: Allred v. Smith, 135-554. Duty of appellant in seeing to prompt transmission of case: Hicks v. Wooten, 175-597.

637. Judge determines entire controversy; may recommit. Whenever a civil action or special proceeding begun before the clerk of a superior court is for any ground whatever sent to the superior court before the judge, the judge has jurisdiction; and it is his duty, upon the request of either party, to proceed to hear and determine all matters in controversy in such action, unless it appears to him that justice would be more cheaply and speedily administered by sending the action back to be proceeded in before the clerk, in which case he may do so.

This section was enacted to cure the inconveniences caused by Brittain v. Mull, 91-498; Roseman v. Roseman, 127-497. It applies only to cases commenced before the clerk: Baker v. Carter, 127-92. Procedure before and since enactment of this section distinguished: Foreman v. Hough, 98-386.

Under this section, the judge to whom a cause is sent by appeal or otherwise from the clerk has the full jurisdiction to hear and fully determine the cause, or to make orders therein and send it back to the clerk to be proceeded with by him: In re Stone, 176-336; Ryder v. Oates, 173-569; Wooten v. Cunningham, 171-123; Thompson v. Rospigliosi, 162-146; Mills v. McDaniel, 161-113; s. c., 155-249; York v. McCall, 160-277; Gregory v. Pinnix, 158-147; Williams v. Dunn, 153-399; Coltrane v. Laughlin, 157-282; Little v. Duncan, 149-84; Oldham v. Rieger, 145-254; In re Wittkowsky's Land, 143-248; Martin v. Briscoe, 143-353; Settle v.

Settle, 141-569; Faison v. Williams, 121-152; Smith v. Gudger, 133-627; Robinson v. McDowell, 133-186; In re Anderson, 132-243; Railroad v. Stroud, 132-416; Harrington v. Hatton, 129-146; Ury v. Brown, 129-270; Howland v. Marshall, 127-430; Roseman v. Roseman, 127-494; Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-455; Elliott v. Tyson, 117-114; Godwin v. Early, 114-11; Lietie v. Chappell, 111-347; Ashby v. Page, 108-6; Cushing v. Styron, 104-338; McMillan v. Reeves, 102-550; but see In re Hybart's estate, 129-131—and this is so even though proceeding originally before clerk is a nullity, In re Anderson, 132-243. When proceeding gets before judge it is as much before him as if originally returned before him: Railroad v. Stroud, 132-416—the judge may make amendments, and may even make them to give effectual jurisdiction: Batts v. Pridgen, 147-133; Ewbank v. Turner, 134-81; Springs v. Scott, 132-551; Piercy v. Watson, 118-976; Elliott v. Tyson, 117-116, and cases cited; McLean v. Breece, 113-390; but see Robeson v. Hodges, 105-49. In a later appeal the judge may modify an order made in a former appeal: Taylor v. Carrow, 156-6; but he cannot set aside a consent judgment without consent: Rogers v. Sluder, 148-43.

638. Appeal from superior court judge. An appeal may be taken from every judicial order or determination of a judge of a superior court, upon or involving a matter of law or legal inference, whether made in or out of term, which affects a substantial right claimed in any action or proceeding; or which in effect determines the action, and prevents a judgment from which an appeal might be taken; or discontinues the action, or grants or refuses a new trial.

For appeal in creditors' proceeding against personal representative, see chapter Administration, s. 125.

APPEAL LIES WHEN. The appeal can only be taken from the judgment, and it must first be entered: Chambers v. R. R., 172-555; Gilbert v. Shingle Co., 167-286; Taylor v. Bostic, 93-415; Thornton v. Lambeth, 103-86; Rosenthal v. Roberson, 114-594; Milling Co. v. Finlay, 110-411; Baum v. Shooting Club, 94-217; State v. Hazell, 95-623; State v. Lockyear, 95-641; State v. Smith, 95-680; Logan v. Harris, 90-7; but see Carter v. Elmore, 119-296. An appeal lies from a nonsuit submitted to upon judge intimating an opinion or making a ruling that would materially affect the result: Collins v. Swanson, 121-67; Asbury v. Fair, 111-251; Bain v. Bain, 106-239; Tiddy v. Harris, 101-589; Davis v. Ely, 100-283; Mobley v. Watts, 98-284; Springs v. Schenck, 99-551; Gibbs v. Lyon, 95-146; Gregory v. Forbes, 94-220; Hedrick v. Pratt, 94-101; Warner v. R. R., 94-250; Harper v. Dail, 92-394; Abernathy v. Stowe, 92-213; but see Midgett v. Mfg. Co., 140-361. An appeal lies from an order setting aside the allotment of a homestead: Beavans v. Goodrich, 98-217—from the granting or refusal of an injunction, Warlick v. Reynolds, 151-606; Bank v. Jenkins, 64-719; but see French v. Wilmington, 75-387; Wallace v. Wilkesboro, 151-614—from judgment in bastardy proceeding, State v. Edwards, 110-511; State v. Crouse, 86-617; State v. Wilkie, 85-513—from denial of a motion on the ground of want of power, Horner v. Water Co., 156-494; Martin v. Bank, 131-121; Lassiter v. R. R., 136-89; Welch v. Kingsland, 89-180; State v. Fuller, 114-885; In re Smith, 105-167; Jarrett v. Gibbs, 107-303; Henderson v. Graham, 84-496—from an order in a drainage proceeding directing matters which are properly for the determination of the commissioners to be referred to a jury, Porter v. Armstrong, 134-447—from an order granting alimony pendente lite, Barker v. Barker, 136-316; Garsed v. Garsed, 170-672—from an order overruling or sustaining a demurrer, Pender v. Mallett, 122-163; Frisby v. Marshall, 119-570; Ramsay v. R. R., 91-419; Comrs. v. Magnin, 78-181; but see Burrell v. Hughes, 116-430; Joyner v. Roberts, 112-111; Sprague v. Bond, 111-425—from a judgment alleged to be erroneous, Becton v. Dunn, 142-172; Henderson v. Moore, 125-383—from an order requiring a person to allow an inspection of paper-writings, Sheek v. Sain, 127-266—from the refusal of the court to correct or amend its judgment, Beam v. Bridgers, 111-269; Brooks v. Stephens, 100-297—from findings of fact by referee adopted by the judge, see section 579.

Appeal from judgment in contempt proceedings, when: Ex parte McCown, 139-95; Childs v. Wiseman, 119-497; Fertilizer Co. v. Taylor, 112-141; Murray v. Berry, 113-46; Bristol v. Pearson, 109-718; In re Deaton, 105-59; Young v. Rollins, 90-125; Cromartie v. Comrs., 85-211; Bond v. Bond, 69-97; In re Walker, 82-95; In re Davis, 81-72; Robbins, ex parte, 63-309; but see Shooting Club v. Thomas, 120-334; Scott v. Fishplate, 117-265; In re Robinson, 117-533; Thompson v. Onley, 96-9; State v. Mott, 49-449; see sections 978 to 980—from order setting aside judgment for mistake, inadvertence or excusable neglect, when the facts do not constitute such in law, Norton v. McLaurin, 125-185; Weil v. Woodard, 104-94; Beck v. Bellamy, 93-129; see, also, cases under section 600—from the refusal of judgment by default, Timber Co. v. Butler, 134-50; Hall v. Hall, 131-185; Kruger v. Bank, 123-16; Griffin v. Light Co., 111-434—from refusal of judgment by default and inquiry, Investment Co. v. Kelly, 123-388; Kruger v. Bank, 123-16—from refusal to dismiss or the dismissal of an attachment or order of arrest, Finch v. Slater, 152-155; Judd v. Mining Co., 120-397; Fertilizer Co. v. Grubbs, 114-470; Sheldon v. Kivett, 110-408; White v. Underwood, 125-28; Roulhae v. Brown, 87-4—from an order retaxing costs and construing former judgment, Mills Co. v. Lytle, 118-837—from a judgment as to costs when the question is as to whether item properly chargeable, State v. Horne, 119-853; Blount v. Simmons, 120-19; Guilford v. Comrs., 120-23—from an order taxing one who is not a party with costs, Loven v. Parson, 127-301—from an order taxing prosecutor with costs, without finding preliminary facts, State v. Roberts, 106-662; State v. Jones, 117-768; State v. Morgan, 120-563—from the refusal of a judgment upon a verdict, Oil Co. v. Grocery Co., 136-354—from an order of a board of county commissioners that a courthouse be built, Vaughn v. Comrs., 117-429.

Appeal lies from an order granting or refusing a new trial as a matter of law, and the judge should state the reasons for the order: Powers v. City of Wilmington, 177-361; Oil Co. v. Grocery Co., 136-354; Johnson v. Reformers, 135-385; Braid v. Lukins, 95-123; Winburne v. Bryan, 73-47; Johnson v. Bell, 74-355; Bryan v. Heck, 67-322; Clegg v. Soapstone Co., 67-302—from findings of fact by the judge, in equity cases, Baker v. Belvin, 122-190; Roberts v. Lewald, 107-305; Evans v. R. R., 96-45; Coates v. Wilkes, 92-376; Jones v. Boyd, 80-258—from a refusal of a motion in the cause to amerce sheriff, Swain v. Phelps, 125-44—from removal of a cause or refusal to remove a cause when wrong venue suggested on motion, Brown v. R., 172-211; Jenkins v. Long, 170-269. Matters decided upon a former appeal are not reviewable by a second appeal: Carson v. Ins. Co., 165-135; Riley v. Sears, 156-267; Carson v. Bunting, 156-29; Roberts v. Baldwin, 155-276; Green v. Green, 143-406; Harris v. Quarry Co., 137-204; Setzer v. Setzer, 129-296; Howe v. Hall, 128-167; Pretzfelder v. Ins. Co., 123-164. A decision of one judge of superior court is not reviewable by another judge: Dockery v. Fairbanks, 172-529. See cases cited under section 1412.

639. Appeal from judge in special proceedings. Any party, within ten days after notice of such judgment, may appeal to the supreme court of the state, upon any matter of law or legal inference therein, under the regulations provided for appeals in other cases.

Rev., s. 588; Code, s. 256; C. C. P., s. 115.

See sections 634 and 636.

640. Interlocutory orders reviewed on appeal from judgment. Upon an appeal from a judgment, the court may review any intermediate order involving the merits and necessarily affecting the judgment.

Rev., s. 589; Code, s. 562; C. C. P., s. 313.

As to appeals from interlocutory orders, see section 638. Appeals from interlocutory or subsidiary orders, judgments and decrees made in a cause carry up for review only the ruling of the court upon that special point; the order or judgment appealed from is not vacated, but further proceedings under it are suspended until its validity is determined: Green v. Griffin, 95-50; Combes v. Adams, 150-64; Bonner v. Rodman, 163-1.

641. When appeal taken. The appeal must be taken from a judgment rendered out of term within ten days after notice thereof, and from a judgment rendered in term within ten days after its rendition, unless the record shows an appeal taken at the trial, which is sufficient, but execution shall not be suspended until the giving by the appellant of the undertakings hereinafter required.

Rev., s. 590; Code, s. 549; 1889, c. 161; C. C. P., s. 300.

For undertaking to stay execution pending appeal, see section 650. For appeals taken from justices' courts, see sections 1528-1534. Appeals from judgments rendered in term must be taken within ten days of rendition: Howe v. Hall, 128-169; Mecke v. Mineral Co., 122-796; Marion v. Tilley, 119-474; Tucker v. Life Assn., 112-796; Simmons v. Allison, 119-556; Brantley v. Jordan, 90-26; Applewhite v. Fort, 85-596; Bryan v. Hubbs, 69-423—and no intimation of intention to appeal need be made at the time of the trial where notice given as required, Russell v. Hearne, 113-361. The ten days dates from the last day of the term, which means when the judge leaves the bench; not from the constructive expiration of the term: Delafield v. Construction Co., 115-21; Davison v. Land Co., 120-259; Zell Guano Co. v. Hicks, 120-29. When judgment is rendered out of term the time is counted from the filing with the clerk: Fisher v. Fisher, 164-105. When judgment appealed from states that appeal was taken, it must necessarily mean that it was taken in time: Delozier v. Bird, 123-689; Atkinson v. R. R., 113-689. Order to transfer custody of a child is suspended on appeal and giving the bonds required: Page v. Page, 166-90.

642. Entry and notice of appeal. Within the time prescribed in the preceding section, the appellant shall cause his appeal to be entered by the clerk on the judgment docket, and notice thereof to be given to the adverse party unless the record shows an appeal taken or prayed at the trial, which is sufficient.

Rev., s. 591; Code, s. 550; C. C. P., s. 301.

See cases cited under section 641. No intimation of intention to appeal is necessary at the time of trial if the statute is complied with: Russell v. Hearne, 113-361. No notice is required when appeal is taken in open court: Investment Co. v. Kelly, 123-388. The record must show that an appeal was duly taken: Howell v. Jones, 109-102; Mfg. Co. v. Simmons, 97-89; Moore v. Vanderburg, 90-10; Walton v. McKesson, 101-428. See, also, cases cited under section 643, as to perfecting appeals.

643. Case on appeal; statement, service, and return. The appellant shall cause to be prepared a concise statement of the case, embodying the instructions of the judge as signed by him, if there be an exception thereto, and the request of the counsel of the parties for instructions if there be any exception on account of the granting or withholding thereof, and stating separately, in articles numbered, the errors alleged. A copy of this statement shall be served on the respondent within fifteen days from the entry of the appeal taken; within ten days after such service the respondent shall return the copy with his approval or specific amendments indorsed or attached; if the case be approved by the respondent, it shall be filed with the clerk as a part of the record; if not returned with objections within the time prescribed, it shall be deemed approved.

As to time and manner of taking exceptions, see section 590.

GENERALLY. The statute respecting the preparation of appeals must be strictly complied with: State v. Neville, 175-731; Jenkins v. Carson, 173-725; Lindsey v. Knights of Honor, 172-818; Cozart v. Assur. Co., 142-522; Davis v. Wall, 142-450; Cook v. Vickers, 141-101; Sigman v. R. R., 135-181; Brinkley v. Smith, 130-226; Baker v. Hobgood, 126-152; Pretzfelder v. Ins. Co., 123-164; Lucas v. R. R., 121-508; Alexander v. Alexander, 120-472; Griffin v. Nelson, 106-235; Smith v. Abrams, 90-21; Hemphill v. Blackwelder, 90-14; Gregory v. Hobbs, 92-39. The parties may waive matter of time in the perfecting of appeals, but such waiver must appear of record or by the affidavits of appellee or by agreement in writing: Wade v. Newbern, 72-498; Pipkin v. McArtan, 122-194; Sondley v. Asheville, 112-694; Hemphill v. Morrison, 112-756; Graves v. Hines, 106-323; Mfg. Co. v. Simmons, 97-89; Short v. Sparrow, 96-348; McCannless v. Reynolds, 91-244; Officers v. Bland, 91-1; Scroggs v. Alexander, 88-64; Holmes v. Holmes, 84-833; Hutchinson v. Rumpfelt, 83-441; Pennington v. Pennington, 75-355; Walton v. Pearson, 82-464; Sever v. McLaughlin, 82-332; Taylor v. Brower, 78-8; Rouse v. Quinn, 75-354; Adams v. Reeves, 74-106; Gupton v. Sledge, 161-214; Mirror Co. v. Casualty Co., 157-29; Comrs. v. Chapman, 151-327. Method of perfecting appeal touched upon in the following cases: Lee v. Baird, 146-361; Vivian v. Mitchell, 144-472; Laney v. Mackey, 144-630; Craddock v. Barnes, 140-427; Love v. Love, 139-363; Brown v. Plott, 129-272; Blair v. Coakley, 136-405; Atkinson v. R. R., 113-586; Baden v. Pugh, 129-60; Packing Co. v. Williams, 122-406; Brafford v. Reed, 124-345; State v. Frizell, 111-724; State v. Telfair, 139-555; Avery v. Pritchard, 93-266; Coates v. Wilkes, 94-178; Wilson v. Seagle, 84-110. In cases where both parties appeal: Mills v. Guaranty Co., 136-255; State v. Bost, 125-707; State v. Mallett, 125-718; Jones v. Hoggard, 107-349; Perry v. Adams, 96-347; Morrison v. Cornelius, 63-346—the appeal of one will not bring up that of another: Bank v. Bobbitt, 108-525.

STATEMENT OF CASE ON APPEAL. The case on appeal is no part of the record proper, but a part of transcript: State v. Matthews, 142-621. A case on appeal embraces the exceptions taken and such of the evidence, charge, prayers and other matters occurring at the trial as are necessary to present the matters excepted to for review: Cressler v. Asheville, 138-482. Suggestions as to making up case on appeal: Jones v. R. R., 153-419; McDowell v. Kent, 153-555; Thompson v. Williams, 175-696; Gaither v. Carpenter, 143-240; Davis v. Wall, 142-450; Marable v. R. R., 142-564; Hicks v. Kenan, 139-337; Cressler v. Asheville, 138-482; Cameron v. Power Co., 137-101; Sigman v. R. R., 135-181; Hart v. Cannon, 133-10; Gwaltney v. Assur. Society, 132-925; Vanderbilt v. Pickelsimer, 128-556; State v. Kinsauls, 126-1095; Bradley v. R. R., 126-736; State v. Ridge, 125-657; Lucas v. R. R., 121-508; James v. R. R., 121-530; Bennett v. Tel. Co., 128-103; Mining Co. v. Smelting Co., 119-415; Watkins v. R. R., 116-961; State v. Cox, 110-503; McKinnon v. Morrison, 104-354; Anthony v. Estes, 99-598; State v. Sloan, 97-499; McGowan v. R. R., 95-417; State v. Alston, 94-930; Gregory v. Forbes, 94-220; Strickland v. Draughan, 88-315; Surratt v. Crawford, 87-372; Turner v. Foard, 83-683; McNeill v. Chadbourn, 79-149; Sampson v. R. R., 70-404. The case on appeal must be made up by appellant, and not a direction to the clerk to fill certain blanks by copying the record: Sloan v. Assurance Society, 169-257. The case must contain assignments of error based upon exceptions duly taken: Borden v. Power Co., 174-72; Harrison v. Dill, 169-542; Bank v. McArthur, 168-48; Jones v. R. R., 153-419; McDowell v. Kent, 153-555; Worley v. Logging Co., 157-490; Allred v. Kirkman, 160-392; Gaither v. Carpenter, 143-240; State v. Matthews, 142-621; Cressler v. Asheville, 138-482; Arnold v. Hardy, 131-113; Coley v. Statesville, 121-317; Falkner v. Thompson, 112-455; Everett v. Williamson, 107-204; Ferrell v. Thompson, 107-420; Boyer v. Teague, 106-571; Taylor v. Plummer, 105-56; Lindsey v. Sanderlin, 104-331; Rodman v. Harvey, 102-1; Calvert v. Miller, 94-600; Phipps v. Pierce, 94-514—and such assignments of error must be specific and distinct: Haddock v. Stocks, 167-70; Steeley v. Lumber Co., 165-27; Wheeler v. Cole, 164-378; Thompson v. R. R., 147-412; Lee v. Baird, 146-361; Brumble v. Brown, 71-513; In re Murray's Will, 141-588; Carson v. R. R., 128-95; Pierce v. R. R., 124-99; Falkner v. Thompson, 112-455; Greensboro v. McAdoo, 110-430; Watts v. Warren, 108-517; Clements v. Rogers, 95-248; Wiley v. Logan, 95-358; Arrington v. Goodrich, 95-462; Baum v. Shooting Club, 94-217;

Summer v. Candler, 92-684; State v. Keath, 83-626; Straus v. Beardsley, 79-59; Williamson v. Canal Co., 78-161; Bridgers v. Bridgers, 69-451; Bland v. O'Hagan, 64-471; Stout v. Woody, 63-37; Whitesides v. Twitty, 30-431; Sutliff v. Lunsford, 30-318—and must be briefly and clearly stated and numbered: Smith v. Mfg. Co., 151-260; Sigman v. R. R., 135-181; Jones v. R. R., 153-419; Hobbs v. Cashwell, 158-597; Rules 19, 21, 27—yet sometimes, as in this case, they must be presented with such fullness of statement as will enable court to determine the real merits: Boyer v. Teague, 106-571—and if there is no "case settled," or if case does not assign error specifically enough to be definite and understood by the court, the judgment below will be affirmed or, under some circumstances, case will be remanded, unless error apparent upon the record: Meadows v. Wharton, 147-178; Wheeler v. Cole, 164-378; State v. Lewis, 145-585; Gaither v. Carpenter, 143-241; Cressler v. Asheville, 138-482; Trimmer v. Gorman, 129-161; Felmet v. Exp. Co., 123-499; Hicks v. Westbrook, 121-131; Barrus v. R. R., 121-504; Cunningham v. Cunningham, 121-413; Smith v. Smith, 119-311; Roberts v. Partridge, 118-355; Collins v. Young, 118-265; McCrimmen v. Parish, 116-614; Delafield v. Const. Co., 115-21; Fertilizer Co. v. Black, 114-591; Rosenthal v. Roberson, 114-594; Maggett v. Roberts, 114-227; Forte v. Boone, 114-176; State v. Carter, 113-639; Cummings v. Hoffman, 113-267; Marshall v. Stine, 112-697; State v. Whitmire, 112-895; Hamilton v. Icard, 112-589; State v. Green, 111-646; State v. Foster, 110-510; Lovie v. Ins. Co., 109-302; Howell v. Jones, 109-102; Peebles v. Braswell, 107-68; State v. Brown, 106-645; Taylor v. Plummer, 105-56; State v. Henry, 104-914; State v. Bell, 103-438; Currie v. Clark, 101-329; Thornton v. Brady, 100-38; Patton v. Gash, 99-280; Brendle v. Herren, 98-539; Wilson v. Shepherd, 98-154; Carroll v. Barden, 97-191; Dupree v. Tuten, 97-94; Justice v. R. R., 96-412; Pleasants v. R. R., 95-195; Denning v. Gaine, 95-528; Rencher v. Anderson, 95-208; Baum v. Shooting Club, 94-217; State v. Gardner, 94-953; Williams v. Johnston, 94-633; State v. Powell, 94-920; State v. Freeman, 93-558; Green v. Dawson, 92-61; McDaniel v. Pollock, 87-503; Mott v. Ramsay, 90-29; Royster v. Burwell, 90-25; Neal v. Mace, 89-171; State v. Sheppard, 87-574; Swepson v. Summey, 74-551; King v. Page, 86-725. But no assignment of error is necessary where the record presents the exceptions: Comrs. v. Scales, 171-523; Bessemer Co. v. Hdw. Co., 171-728; Cressler v. Asheville, 138-482; Railroad v. Stewart, 132-248; Clark v. Peebles, 120-31; Wilson v. Lumber Co., 131-163; Brooks v. Austin, 94-222; State v. Byrd, 93-624; State v. Crook, 91-536—nor where case tried in court below upon a case agreed: Greensboro v. McAdoo, 112-359; Chamblee v. Baker, 95-98; Davenport v. Leary, 95-203—nor where case tried on demurrer: Chamblee v. Baker, 95-98—nor when exception only taken to judgment and an appeal is itself an exception thereto: Wallace v. Salisbury, 147-58; Mershon v. Morris, 148-48; Ullery v. Guthrie, 148-417; Wilson v. Lumber Co., 131-163; Railroad v. Stewart, 132-248; Robeson v. Hodges, 105-49; Murray v. Southerland, 125-175; Delozier v. Bird, 123-689; Reade v. Street, 122-301. On appeal from a judgment of nonsuit no assignment of error is necessary: Queen v. R. R., 161-217. It is not sufficient to file stenographer's notes of evidence, but a concise statement in narrative form should be prepared: Brewer v. Mfg. Co., 161-211; Skipper v. Lumber Co., 158-322; Bucken v. R. R., 157-443; Cressler v. Asheville, 138-482; Durham v. R. R., 108-399.

Exceptions to the charge may for the first time be set out by appellant in his case on appeal: Bank v. Sumner, 119-591; Lowe v. Elliott, 107-718; also see under section 590 (2). Where counsel agreed that all papers should form the case on appeal, case remanded for assignment of error: Holly v. Holly, 94-639. On appeal from order setting aside a verdict for error of law, appellant should assign as error the refusal of judgment and setting aside verdict and that there was no error against appellee: Powers v. City of Wilmington, 177-361. Exceptions taken on trial and not in the assignments of error, or being in the record are not set out in the brief or on argument, are considered abandoned: Gray v. Cartwright, 174-49; Britt v. R. R., 148-37; R. R. v. R. R., 148-59. Rule 34.

Where the record proper differs from case on appeal, the former controls: Ladd v. Teague, 126-544; State v. Truesdale, 125-696; Sutton v. Phillips, 117-230; Threadgill v. Comrs., 116-616; McDaniel v. Scurlock, 115-295; State v. Ramsour, 113-642; State v. Carlton, 107-956; Bowen v. Fox, 99-127; McCannless v. Flinehum, 98-358; McNeill v. Lawton, 97-16; Adrian v. Shaw, 84-832; State v. Keeter, 80-472; Farmer v. Williard, 75-401; but see Walton v. McKesson, 101-428. Case on appeal cannot be varied or amended by affidavit to supreme court: Covington v. Newberger, 99-523.

SERVICE OF CASE ON APPEAL. A dispute as to whether service was made in time should be settled by court below: Barrus v. R. R., 121-505; Westbrook v. Hicks, 121-132;

Cummings v. Hoffman, 113-267; McDaniel v. Scurlock, 115-297; Walker v. Scott, 102-487. An agreement for extension of time should be in writing: Mirror Co. v. Casualty Co., 157-29. Rule 39. Where nothing to show service on appellee in time and case sent up signed only by appellant, it will not be considered: Mfg. Co. v. Simmons, 97-89; McNeill v. R. R., 117-642; State v. Perry, 122-1019; Hicks v. Westbrook, 121-131; Guano Co. v. Hicks, 120-30; Smith v. Smith, 119-311; Rosenthal v. Roberson, 114-594; Cummings v. Hoffman, 113-268; Hamilton v. Teard, 112-592; Peebles v. Braswell, 107-68. When not served in time, judge strikes appellant's case from the files: Hicks v. Westbrook, 121-131. Service must be made by an officer, unless service accepted: Smith v. Smith, 119-314; Herbin v. Wagoner, 118-656; Allen v. Strickland, 100-225; State v. Johnson, 109-852. Certificate of service by sheriff will be accepted against affidavit of party: Burlingham v. Canady, 156-177. Service by town constable not sufficient: Forte v. Boone, 114-176—nor by counsel: Roberts v. Partridge, 118-355—and should be made by copy: Watkins v. R. R., 116-961; State v. Price, 110-599—but if original served instead of copy, appellee cannot complain: McDaniel v. Scurlock, 115-295. Time of service should be computed; how: Murphy v. Electric Co., 174-782; Land Co. v. Chester, 170-399; Fisher v. Fisher, 164-105; Bd. of Education v. Orr, 161-218; Hardee v. Timberlake, 159-552; Lumber Co. v. Rowe, 151-130; Houston v. Lumber Co., 136-328; Mecke v. Mineral Co., 122-796; Davison v. Land Co., 120-259; Guano Co. v. Hicks, 120-29; Simmons v. Allison, 119-556; Rosenthal v. Roberson, 114-594; Delafield v. Construction Co., 115-21; Walker v. Scott, 104-481; Chamblee v. Baker, 95-98; Turrentine v. R. R., 92-642; Worthy v. Brady, 91-265—unless appellant takes the ten days allowed from adjournment in which to appeal, when he has ten days more in which to serve case on appeal: Mecke v. Mineral Co., 122-796. Settlement of case by judge does not cure failure to serve in time: Barber v. Justice, 138-22; Barrus v. R. R., 121-504; McNeill v. R. R., 117-642; Forte v. Boone, 114-176. Legal mode of service not waived by appellee's agreeing that appellant is "to serve case" by certain time: Smith v. Smith, 119-311. Defective service cured by appellee's acceptance and his filing exceptions without objecting to service: Woodworking Co. v. Southwick, 119-611. Statutory time cannot be extended without consent of parties: Cozart v. Assur. Co., 142-522; Barber v. Justice, 138-20; Pipkin v. McArtan, 122-194; Hemphill v. Morrison, 112-756; Sondley v. Asheville, 112-694—but consent presumed if order is of record: Woodworking Co. v. Southwick, 119-611; Henry v. Hilliard, 120-479. The court cannot extend the time fixed by consent: Gupton v. Sledge, 161-214; Cox v. Lumber Co., 177-227. Where several parties on same side, how case served: Shober v. Wheeler, 119-471. In a criminal case service must be made upon the solicitor: State v. Stevens, 152-840. Where appellant mailed case and fees to sheriff in ample time, but sheriff did not receive them: Arrington v. Arrington, 114-113. Statute regulating manner of service of notices is applicable to service of case on appeal and exception thereto: State v. Price, 110-599. As to whether, upon counsel tendering case to opposing counsel, who treated it as a service and began preparing counter case, it is sufficient service, see Ice Mfg. Co. v. R. R., 125-21; see, also, Roberts v. Partridge, 118-355.

APPELLEE'S RETURN TO APPELLANT'S CASE. Appellee may file specific exceptions or may put them in the form of a counter case: State v. King, 119-910; McDaniel v. Scurlock, 115-295; Harris v. Carrington, 115-187; Horne v. Smith, 105-322.

TIME WITHIN WHICH APPELLEE MUST MAKE RETURN. Where exceptions not served in time because sheriff did not get his mail containing them: Arrington v. Arrington, 114-115. Where appellant wired that he would accept service of exceptions upon his return, and does so, he is estopped to insist that it was filed too late: Watkins v. R. R., 116-961. Where agreement that appellant may have thirty days to file his case and appellee thirty days thereafter, appellee has thirty days from service of appellant's case: Mitchell v. Haggard, 105-173. Appellant cannot complain that his case was not returned in time when appellee's exceptions thereto were filed in time: McDaniel v. Scurlock, 115-295. Counter case served by whom: Herbin v. Wagoner, 118-656; and see cases supra under "service of case on appeal."

If appellee does not return with exceptions or counter case, appellant's case becomes case on appeal: Barber v. Justice, 138-20; State v. Freeman, 127-544; State v. Price, 110-599; State v. Carlton, 107-956; Booth v. Ratcliffe, 107-6; Russell v. Davis, 99-115; Isler v. Hadcock, 72-119.

644. Settlement of case on appeal. If the case on appeal is returned by the respondent with objections as prescribed, the appellant shall immediately request the judge to fix a time and place for settling the case before him. If the appellant delays longer than fifteen days after the respondent serves his counterclaim, or exceptions, to request the judge to settle the case on appeal, and delays for such period to mail the case and counterclaim or exceptions to the judge, then the exceptions filed by the respondent shall be allowed, or the counterclaim served by him shall constitute the case on appeal; but the time may be extended by agreement.

The judge shall forthwith notify the attorneys of the parties to appear before him for that purpose at a certain time and place, within the judicial district, which time shall not be more than twenty days from the receipt of the request. At the time and place stated, the judge shall settle and sign the case, and deliver a copy to the attorney of each party, or, if the attorneys are not present, file a copy in the office of the clerk of the court. If the judge has left the district before the notice of disagreement, he may settle the case without returning to the district.

In settling the case, the written instructions signed by the judge, and the written request for instructions signed by the counsel, and the written exceptions, are deemed conclusive as to what these instructions, requests, and exceptions were. If a copy of the case settled was delivered to the appellant, he shall within five days thereafter file it with the clerk, and if he fails to do so, the respondent may file his copy.

The judge shall settle the case on appeal within sixty days after the termination of a special term or after the courts of the districts have ended, and if the judge in the meantime has gone out of office, he shall settle the case as if he were still in office. Any judge failing to comply with this section is liable to a penalty of five hundred dollars, for the use of any person who sues for it.

APPLICATION TO JUDGE TO SETTLE CASE. The appellant must apply to judge to settle the case, and send the papers for that purpose: McNeill v. R. R., 173-729; Holloman v. Holloman, 172-835; Turner v. Gas Co., 171-750; Transportation Co. v. Lumber Co., 168-60; Burlingham v. Canady, 156-177; Chauncey v. Chauncey, 153-12; Comrs. v. Chapman, 151-327; Stroud v. Tel. Co., 133-253; Stevens v. Smathers, 123-497; Simmons v. Andrews, 106-201; Kirkman v. Dixon, 66-406—and if he sends papers to judge without requesting a day for settlement, etc., the judge need not give notice required: State v. Williams, 109-846; Walker v. Scott, 106-56. Judge sets time and place and gives notice: Slocumb v. Const. Co., 142-353.

SETTLEMENT OF THE CASE. In settling a case on appeal the judge does not merely adjust the differences between the two cases, but may disregard both cases, and should do so if he finds that the facts of the trial were different: Slocumb v. Const. Co., 142-353; State v. Gooch, 94-985. Where judge sustains appellee's exceptions and orders case redrafted and presented for his signature, but appellant sends up the papers; effect: Gaither v. Carpenter, 143-240; Mitchell v. Tedder, 107-358; Hinton v. Greenleaf, 115-5. Where appellant sends up his case and appellee's exceptions, without judge settling case, appellant is deemed to have accepted exceptions: Stevens v. Smathers, 123-497; Roberts v. Partridge, 118-357; Lyman v. Ramseur, 113-503; Jones v. Call, 93-170; Owens v. Phelps, 92-231. Appellant sending to judge appellee's exceptions drawn in irregular manner thereby waives their irregularity: Byrd v. Bazemore, 122-115. Where judge fails to settle case, and makes return that his notes are lost and his recollection not clear, new trial will be granted only when appellant guilty of no laches: State v. Huggins, 126-1055; McGowan v. Harris, 120-139; Ritter v. Grimm, 114-373; Clemmons v. Archbell, 107-653; Owens v. Paxton, 106-480; Comrs. v. Steamship Co., 98-163; Burton v. Greene, 94-215; Sanders v. Norris, 82-243; Isler v. Haddock, 72-119; State v. Powers, 10-376. Judge may settle the case even after subjecting himself to penalty for delay: State v. Williams, 109-846. Where judge added to the case on appeal that he didn't remember distinctly what occurred, remanded that he may settle case again: Simmons v. Andrews, 104-127. Counsel can agree on case without judge: Slocumb v. Construction Co., 142-349; State v. Chaffin, 125-660; State v. Gooch, 94-982.

The statement of the case on appeal imports absolute verity, and certiorari will not issue to force judge to make up new case and insert matters alleged to have been omitted: State v. Gay, 94-821; Cameron v. Power Co., 137-101; State v. Journigan, 120-568; Paper Co. v. Chronicle, 115-147; State v. Hart, 116-977; Allen v. McLendon, 113-319; State v. Debnam, 98-712; State v. Gooch, 94-982; State v. Miller, 94-902. The practice of interpolating "Here clerk will copy judge's notes": Wood v. R. R., 118-1056. The case as "settled" by the judge, counsel not agreeing, is the only case that should come up or which can be considered: Thompson v. Williams, 175-696; Gaither v. Carpenter, 143-240; State v. Dewey, 139-563. Admonition to counsel as to their duty when judge settles case on appeal: Cameron v. Power Co., 137-102. Where case returned to judge for a settlement, counsel should be present: Ibid. Remedy of appellant when judge does not send up case setting forth the exceptions properly is by certiorari, provided judge makes known his willingness to correct them: Allen v. McLendon, 113-319; Broadwell v. Ray, 111-457; McDaniel v. King, 89-29; see cases under section 630. Where no case on appeal appears to have been served by appellant, the case sent up as settled by the judge is presumed to have been by consent: State v. Crook, 91-536. Where in judge's statement of case it says counsel agreed that judge should make out statement, it will be taken as true, even though appellee makes affidavit otherwise: McCoy v. Lassiter, 94-131.

Instances of where, for various inadvertent acts or where parties misled, case was remanded for judge to settle again: Arrington v. Arrington, 114-113; Mitchell v. Haggard, 105-173; Walker v. Scott, 104-481; Simmons v. Andrews, 104-127; Russell v. Koonce, 102-485; Ware v. Nesbit, 92-202; see, also, cases under section 630, "Certiorari." Having "settled" case at time and place appointed, the judge is functus officio, unless by agreement of parties or by certiorari he resets it: Slocumb v. Const. Co., 142-349—the court having no power to order him to change it: Ibid.

WHERE JUDGE DIES OR IS OUT OF DISTRICT. Where judge dies before settling case and appellant guiltless of laches, new trial awarded: State v. Parks, 107-821; Brendle v. Reese, 115-552; Heath v. Lancaster, 116-70; Parker v. Coggins, 116-71; Taylor v. Simmons, 116-70—but if appellant guilty of inexcusable laches, judgment affirmed: Heath v. Lancaster, 116-69; Simmons v. Andrews, 106-201. Where judge dies before case settled the appellant can withdraw his case and have appeal heard on counter case: Ridley v. R. R., 116-923—or appellee can withdraw his case and have it heard upon appellant's case: Drake v. Connelly, 107-463. It was formerly (before enactment of present provision in above section) held that new trial would be granted where judge's term expired before settling the case: State v. Robinson, 143-625. The judge should settle the case in the district where tried, except as provided in this section: Cameron v. Power Co., 137-99; Whitesides v. Williams, 66-143.

645. Clerk to prepare transcript. The clerk on receiving a copy of the case settled, as required in the preceding sections, shall make a copy of the judgment roll and of the case, and within twenty days transmit the same, duly certified, to the clerk of the supreme court. The clerk, except in cases where parties are allowed to appeal without giving an undertaking on appeal, shall not be required to make the copy of the record in the case for the supreme court until the appellant has given the undertaking on appeal or made the deposit required.

PREPARING AND SENDING UP TRANSCRIPT. It is the duty of appellant to see that the transcript is prepared, docketed and printed in proper time: Truelove v. Norris, 152-755; Vivian v. Mitchell, 144-477; Sigman v. R. R., 135-183; State v. Freeman, 114-872; State v. Frizell, 111-724—and he has the right to have so much of record sent up as he thinks proper: Smith v. Fite, 98-517; Sudderth v. McCombs, 67-353. The rules of the supreme court as to preparing, docketing and printing transcript must be complied with, or the appeal may be dismissed: Jenkins v. Carson, 173-725; Kearnes v. Gray, 173-717; Land Co. v. McKay, 168-83; Hawkins v. Tel. Co., 166-213; Davis v. Wall, 142-450; Sigman v. R. R., 135-182; Brinkley v. Smith, 130-226; Baker v. Hobgood, 126-152; Pretzfelder v. Ins. Co., 123-168; Lucas v. R. R., 121-508; Alexander v. Alexander, 120-472. See Rules 5, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 23, 29, 30. Clerk's duties under this section are ministerial and he has no authority to pass upon the question whether the appeal has been perfected: Russell v. Davis, 99-115. He is to be guided by order of the judge as to the papers to be sent up: Clark v. Machine Works, 150-88. Where trial judge orders clerk to put certain thing in the record and same is omitted by direction of appellant, appeal dismissed: Finch v. Strickland, 130-44. Tendering fees to clerk and his promise to send up record is insufficient excuse for delay: Truelove v. Norris, 152-755—nor is the fact that clerk was too busy to prepare transcript: Hewitt v. Beck, 152-757.

WHAT TRANSCRIPT SHOULD CONTAIN. The transcript must show that a court was held at proper time and place and by proper judge: Jones v. Hoggard, 107-349; Sneeden v. Harris, 107-311; State v. Farrar, 103-411; High v. R. R., 112-385; State v. Daniel, 121-574; State v. Preston, 104-733; State v. Johnston, 93-559; Bethea v. Byrd, 93-141; State v. Butts, 91-525; State v. McDowell, 93-541; Broadfoot v. McKeithan, 92-561—that case was properly constituted, jurisdiction of parties being properly obtained: Sigman v. R. R., 135-181; Wyatt v. R. R., 109-306; Markham v. Hicks, 90-1; Jones v. Hoggard, 107-350; Daniel v. Rogers, 95-134; Rowland v. Mitchell, 90-649—that issues were proposed and submitted: Tiddy v. Harris, 101-589—that appeal was duly taken: Mfg. Co. v. Simmons, 97-89—that (in criminal appeal) a grand jury was drawn, sworn and charged and presented the indictment: State v. Cameron, 122-1074; State v. Daniel, 121-574; State v. Weaver, 104-758; State v. Farrar, 103-411; State v. Johnston, 93-559; State v. McDowell, 93-541; but see State v. Jimmerson, 118-1173. The transcript in civil cases should contain the summons, pleadings, judgment and case on appeal: Cressler v. Asheville, 138-482; Rice v. Guthrie, 114-589; Allen v. Hammond, 122-754; see Supreme Court Rules 19, 20, 27, 140-660, 661, 662—the order in an arbitration, the award, exceptions thereto, the action of the court thereupon, and the appeal: Wyatt v. R. R., 109-306; see, also, Murray v. Barden, 132-136—exhibits that are made part of pleadings: Hicks v. Royal, 122-405—plats referred to, in same number as are required in case of briefs, etc.: Stephens v. McDonald, 132-135; Whichard v. R. R., 117-614—facts which induced judge to grant or refuse a new trial: Braid v. Lukins, 95-123—undertaking for the prosecution of the appeal: Office v. Huffsteller, 67-449; Whitehead v. Smith, 53-351—and the transcript should not require reference to the record of another case: Branch v. R. R., 88-573. There should be an index of the entire record on the front page: Davis v. Wall, 142-450; Sigman v. R. R., 135-181; Pretzfelder v. Ins. Co., 123-167; Alexander v. Alexander, 120-472—marginal references: Sigman v. R. R., 135-181; Brinkley v. Smith, 130-224; Alexander v. Alexander, 120-472—a grouping of exceptions relied upon, briefly and clearly stated and numbered at the end of the case on appeal: Davis v. Wall, 142-450; Hicks v. Kenan, 139-337; Sigman v. R. R., 135-181; Brinkley v. Smith, 130-224. Rule 19.

Notice of appeal, though in the record, is no part of it: Ferrell v. Thompson, 107-420. Where clerk copied prayers for instructions in the wrong place and then in the right place referred to them, read as if at right place: Drake v. Connelly, 107-463. Indorsement on back of indictment no part of record: State v. Sheppard, 97-401. Where both parties appeal, two complete transcripts must be sent up; and counsel cannot waive this requirement: Pope v. Lumber Co., 162-208; Mills v. Guaranty Co., 136-255; Bank v. Bobbitt, 108-525; Jones v. Hoggard, 107-349; Perry v. Adams, 96-347; Morrison v. Cornelius, 63-346. When record is already in supreme court, so much of proceedings since former appeal should be sent up as is necessary to present appellant's contention: Smith v. Mills, 155-247.

Appellant's statement of the case must not be sent up to contradict "case settled": State v. Dewey, 139-556; see Gaither v. Carpenter, 143-240—and if case sent up that should not be, party objecting should apply to court below to have it stricken out: Walker v. Scott, 102-487.

Stenographic notes of trial are no part of the record on appeal: Skipper v. Lumber Co., 158-322; Cressler v. Asheville, 138-482—nor is the evidence: Ibid.; also State v. Godwin, 27-403. Irrelevant matter should not be included: Sigman v. R. R., 135-182; Hancock v. R. R., 124-228; Mining Co. v. Smelting Co., 119-415; Durham v. R. R., 108-399; Hilton v. McDowell, 87-364. Conflict between record and case on appeal, record prevails: McNeill v. Lawton, 97-16; see under section 643. For certiorari to perfect the record, see under section 630. Where record defective, certiorari may be granted to perfect it: State v. Reid, 18-382; State v. Jackson, 112-849—or it may in some cases be remanded: State v. Farrar, 103-411. Eaton's Forms recommended to clerks as a guide: State v. Butts, 91-526; approved in State v. Daniel, 121-574. The transcript should not be a set of loose, disconnected papers: State v. Jones, 82-691; Goff v. Pope, 82-696; State v. Guilford, 49-83—and imperfect: State v. May, 118-1204; State v. Farrar, 103-411; Spence v. Tapscott, 92-576; Weil v. Everett, 83-685.

If no case on appeal is settled, the transcript should still be docketed, and if appellant is not guilty of laches, he is entitled to a certiorari: Russell v. Davis, 99-115; Haynes v. Coward, 116-841; Hawkins v. Tel. Co., 166-213; Transportation Co. v. Lumber Co., 168-60; State v. Trull, 169-363; Cox v. Lumber Co., 177-227. See section 630.

UNDERTAKING FOR COSTS OR A DEPOSIT IN CIVIL CASES: Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-424; Brown v. House, 119-622; Sanders v. Thompson, 114-282; Broadwell v. Ray, 112-191; Bailey v. Brown, 105-127; Morris v. Morris, 92-142; Andrews v. Whisnant, 83-446; but see State v. Cameron, 122-1074; Jacobs v. Burgwyn, 63-197.

PRINTING THE RECORD AND PRINTING AND FILING OF BRIEFS: State v. Charles, 161-287; Vivian v. Mitchell, 144-475; Brinkley v. Smith, 130-224; Mills v. Guaranty Co., 136-255; Stroud v. Tel. Co., 133-253; Baker v. Hobgood, 126-152; Hicks v. Royal, 122-405; Packing Co. v. Williams, 122-406; Poston v. Jones, 122-541; Rawlings v. Neal, 122-173; Fleming v. McPhail, 121-183; Alexander v. Alexander, 120-472; Lucas v. R. R., 121-506; Barbee v. Scoggins, 121-135; Smith v. Montague, 121-92; Barnes v. Crawford, 119-127; Thurber v. Loan Assn., 118-129; Wiley v. Mining Co., 117-489; Stainback v. Harris, 119-107; Dunn v. Underwood, 116-525; Parker v. Coggins, 116-71; Edwards v. Henderson, 109-83; Durham v. R. R., 108-399; Hunt v. R. R., 107-447; Walker v. Scott, 102-489; see Supreme Court Rules, 28-32, 174-835; 140-663. As to costs of record, where unnecessary matter sent up: Land Co. v. Jennett, 128-3; Gray v. Little, 127-304; Baker v. Hobgood, 126-152; Hancock v. R. R., 124-222.

TRANSMITTED TO SUPREME COURT AND DOCKETED. Clerk's duty to transmit the transcript in twenty days: Fain v. R. R., 130-30; Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-423; State v. Deyton, 119-880; State v. Nash, 109-822; Walker v. Scott, 104-482; Bryan v. Moring, 99-16—and if he fail, semble he is liable to indictment: State v. Deyton, 119-880; Hewitt v. Beck, 152-757—still in this case where mail delayed transcript, appellant held without laches: Walker v. Scott, 104-482. Appeal deemed docketed when transcript received by clerk; it then becomes a record of the court, not subject to control of parties or counsel: Brafford v. Reed, 124-345; see, also, Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-423. Time in which appeals must be docketed: Laney v. Mackey, 144-630; Clegg v. R. R., 132-292; Norwood v. Pratt, 124-745; Rothchild v. McNichol, 121-284; Parker v. R. R., 121-501; Burrell v. Hughes, 120-277; Haynes v. Coward, 116-840; Graham v. Edwards, 114-228; State v. Freeman, 114-872; Avery v. Pritchard, 106-347; Bailey v. Brown, 105-127; Collins v. Faribault, 92-310; Pittman v. Kimberly, 92-562; Cox v. Lumber Co., 177-227; Hawkins v. Tel. Co., 166-213; Truelove v. Norris, 152-755; Mirror Co. v. Casualty Co., 157-29. Rules 5 and 17 (174-828, 831).

646. Undertaking on appeal; filing; waiver. To render an appeal effectual for any purpose in a civil cause or special proceeding, a written undertaking must be executed on the part of the appellant, with good and sufficient surety, in such sum as may be ordered by the court, not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, to the effect that the appellant will pay all costs awarded against him on the appeal, and this undertaking must be filed with the clerk by whom the judgment or order was entered; or such sum as is ordered by the court must be deposited with the clerk by whom the judgment or order was entered, to abide the event of the appeal. The undertaking or deposit may be waived by a written consent on the part of the respondent. No appeal shall be dismissed in the supreme court on the ground that the undertaking on appeal was not filed, or deposit made, earlier, if the undertaking is filed or the deposit made before the record of the case is transmitted by the clerk of the superior court to the supreme court. When no undertaking on appeal has been filed, or deposit made before the record of the case is transmitted to the supreme court, the supreme court shall, upon good cause shown, on such terms as may be just, allow the appellant to file an undertaking or make the deposit.

Rev., ss. 593, 595; Code, ss. 552, 561; C. C. P., ss. 303, 312; 1889, c. 135, s. 2; 1871-2, c. 31.

THE UNDERTAKING. Sufficiency of contents discussed: Allison v. Whittier, 101-490; Lackey v. Pearson, 101-651; Chamblee v. Baker, 95-98; Dorsey v. R. R., 91-201; Walker v. Williams, 88-7. The undertaking is to secure the payment of appellee's cost, and the surety is not liable for appellant's cost if judgment reversed: Morris v. Morris, 92-142; Office v. Huffstetter, 67-449; Dunn v. Clerk's Office, 176-50. When insufficient, supreme court can allow another to be substituted: Robeson v. Lewis, 64-734. Giving the undertaking is not the duty of the attorney so as to excuse appellant's failure: Boyer v. Garner, 116-125; Griffin v. Nelson, 106-238; Winborn v. Byrd, 92-7; Churchill v. Ins. Co., 92-485—or in giving defective bond: Turner v. Powell, 93-341. The same causes that would entitle one to certiorari for failing to perfect appeal will apply to a failure to file undertaking: Graves v. Hines, 106-327; State v. Parish, 151-659. Where case remanded to court below, that court can order appeal bond filed to perfect appeal: Spence v. Tapscott, 93-250.

TIME OF FILING. It must be filed within ten days after adjournment of court: Walker v. Scott, 104-481; Chamblee v. Baker, 95-98; Boyden v. Williams, 92-546; Worthy v. Brady, 91-265—but no appeal dismissed if filed before transcript sent up: In re Snow's Will, 128-102; Howerton v. Sexton, 104-75—and undertaking may be filed in the supreme court, but only where a reasonable excuse for not filing in time prescribed is shown: Vivian v. Mitchell, 144-474; Jones v. Asheville, 114-620; Harrison v. Hoff, 102-25; Jones v. Wilson, 103-13; Churchill v. Ins. Co., 92-485; Winborn v. Byrd, 92-7. The undertaking presumed to have been filed when justification made: Harmon v. Herndon, 99-477; Boyden v. Williams, 92-546.

DEPOSIT IN LIEU OF UNDERTAKING. It is the only thing a clerk can accept: Eshon v. Comrs., 95-75; see, also, Graves v. Hines, 106-323.

WAIVER OF UNDERTAKING. This section mandatory and can only be dispensed with by written waiver on the part of appellee: State v. Wagner, 91-521; Harshaw v. McDowell, 89-181. Failure to justify appeal bond waived by appellee when, after bond filed, he signs appellant's case on appeal: Howerton v. Henderson, 86-720.

SECTION MERELY CITED. Harrison v. Hoff, 102-26; Allison v. Whittier, 101-492; Warren v. Harvey, 92-140.

647. Justification of sureties. The undertaking on appeal must be accompanied by the affidavit of one of the sureties that he is worth double the amount specified therein. The respondent may except to the sufficiency of the sureties within ten days after the notice of appeal; and unless they or other sureties justify within ten days thereafter, the appeal shall be regarded as if no undertaking had been given. The justification must be upon a notice of not less than five days.

This section must be strictly observed: Hemphill v. Blackwelder, 90-14; Lytle v. Lytle, 90-647; Smith v. Abrams, 90-21; Harshaw v. McDowell, 89-181; Chastain v. Chastain, 87-283. Clerk simply endorsing undertaking "the within bond is good" is not a compliance with this section: Bryson v. Lucas, 85-397.

One of the sureties must justify; yet a failure to justify can be waived: Beeton v. Dunn, 137-563; Harshaw v. McDowell, 89-181—and he must do so personally: Morphew v. Tatem, 89-183—for, if he does not, appeal will be dismissed: State v. Wagner, 91-521; Bailey v. Rutjes, 91-420; Harshaw v. McDowell, 89-181—but not until after twenty days notice: Jones v. Slaughter, 96-541; McGee v. Fox, 107-766; Rollins v. Love, 97-210. Bond in application for certiorari must likewise be justified: Chastain v. Chastain, 87-283. Sufficient when surety makes his mark and then justifies: State v. Byrd, 93-624. The requirement that "he is worth double the amount specified" does not mean above his homestead and exemptions and liabilities: Witt v. Long, 93-388. Appeal dismissed when surety only justifies in the amount and not double the amount: State v. Roper, 94-859; Turner v. Quinn, 92-501; McCanless v. Reynolds, 91-244; Anthony v. Carter, 91-229; State v. Wagner, 91-521. Summary judgment may be entered upon undertaking in supreme court: Office v. Huffstetter, 67-449. Waiver of justification by appellee: Moring v. Little, 95-87; Mfg. Co. v. Barrett, 94-219; Gruber v. R. R., 92-1; Greenlee v. McCelvey, 92-530; McCanless v. Reynolds, 91-244; Lytle v. Lytle, 90-647; McMillan v. Nye, 90-11; Jones v. Potter, 89-220; Harshaw v. McDowell, 89-181; Hancock v. Bramlett, 85-393.

648. Notice of motion to dismiss; new bond or deposit. Before the appellee is permitted to move to dismiss an appeal, either for any irregularity in the undertaking on appeal or for failure of sureties to justify, he must give written notice to the appellant of such motion at least twenty days before the district from which the cause is sent up is called, and this notice must state the grounds upon which the motion is based. At least five days before the district from which the cause is sent up is called, the appellant may file with the clerk of the supreme court a new bond justified according to law and containing a penalty the same in amount as the penalty in the original bond, or he may deposit with the said clerk a sum of money equal to the penalty in the original bond. When a new bond has been thus filed or deposit made the cause stands as if the bond had been duly given or deposit duly made in the court below.

This section only applies where appeal bonds are filed, but are irregular or not justified: Jones v. Asheville, 114-620; see, also, Harmon v. Herndon, 99-477; Bowen v. Fox, 98-396. Twenty days notice of motion hereunder required: Lackey v. Pearson, 101-653; Jones v. Slaughter, 96-541; McGee v. Fox, 107-766; Rollins v. Love, 97-210.

649. Appeals in forma pauperis; clerk's fees. When any party to a civil action tried and determined in the superior court at the time of trial desires an appeal from the judgment rendered in the action to the supreme court, and is unable, by reason of his poverty, to make the deposit or to give the security required by law for said appeal, it shall be the duty of the judge or clerk of said superior court to make an order allowing said party to appeal from the judgment to the supreme court as in other cases of appeal, without giving security therefor. The party desiring to appeal from said judgment shall within five days make affidavit that he is unable by reason of his poverty to give the security required by law, and that he is advised by counsel learned in the law that there is error in matter of law in the decision of the superior court in said action. The affidavit must be accompanied by a written statement from a practicing attorney of said superior court that he has examined the affiant's case, and is of opinion that the decision of the superior court, in said action, is contrary to law. The appeal when passed upon and granted by the clerk shall be within ten days from the expiration by law of said term of court. The clerk of the superior court cannot demand his fees for the transcript of the record for the supreme court of a party appealing in forma pauperis, in case such appellant furnishes to the clerk two true and correctly typewritten copies of such records on appeal. Nothing contained in this section deprives the clerk of the superior court of his right to demand his fees for his certificate and seal as now allowed by law in such cases.

Rev., s. 597; Code, s. 553; 1889, c. 161; 1873-4, c. 60; 1907, c. 878.

The order to appeal in forma pauperis does not stay proceedings upon the judgment appealed from: Leach v. Jones, 86-404. Affidavit to secure order to appeal in forma pauperis in a criminal action must state that it is made in good faith: State v. Bramble, 121-603; State v. Harris, 114-830; State v. Jackson, 112-849; State v. Rhodes, 112-856; State v. Wylde, 110-500; State v. Payne, 93-612; State v. Morgan, 77-510; State v. Tow, 103-350. Application may be made after term of court: Russell v. Hearne, 113-363. The appellant's affidavit must state that he is advised by counsel learned in the law that there is error in matter of law: Honeycutt v. Watkins, 151-652. This right to appeal in forma pauperis is given administrators, parties to the record, prosecuting or defending: Christian v. R. R., 136-322; Hamlin v. Neighbors, 75-66; Mason v. Osgood, 71-212. Supreme court clerk can claim his fees: Speller v. Speller, 119-356; Bailey v. Brown, 105-127; Martin v. Chasteen, 75-96. The order may be made by the clerk only in civil cases: State v. Parish, 151-659. For criminal cases, see section 4652.

650. Undertaking to stay execution on money judgment. If the appeal is from a judgment directing the payment of money, it does not stay the execution of the judgment unless a written undertaking is executed on the part of the appellant, by one or more sureties, to the effect that if the judgment appealed from, or any part thereof, is affirmed, or the appeal is dismissed, the appellant will pay the amount directed to be paid by the judgment, or the part of such amount as to which the judgment shall be affirmed, if affirmed only in part, and all damages which shall be awarded against the appellant upon the appeal. Whenever it is satisfactorily made to appear to the court that since the execution of the undertaking the sureties have become insolvent, the court may, by rule or order, require the appellant to execute, file and serve a new undertaking, as above. In case of neglect to execute such undertaking within twenty days after the service of a copy of the rule or order requiring it, the appeal may, on motion to the court, be dismissed with costs. Whenever it is necessary for a party to an action or proceeding to give a bond or an undertaking with surety or sureties, he may, in lieu thereof, deposit with the officer into court money to the amount of the bond or undertaking to be given. The court in which the action or proceeding is pending may direct what disposition shall be made of such money pending the action or proceeding. In a case where, by this section, the money is to be deposited with an officer, a judge of the court, upon the application of either party, may, at any time before the deposit is made, order the money deposited in court instead of with the officer; and a deposit made pursuant to such order is of the same effect as if made with the officer. The perfecting of an appeal by giving the undertaking mentioned in this section stays proceedings in the court below upon the judgment appealed from; except when the sale of perishable property is directed, the court below may order the property to be sold and the proceeds thereof to be deposited or invested, to abide the judgment of the appellate court.

As to whether bond sent up is a bond for costs or supersedeas bond, supreme court will send down issue to be passed upon: Burnett v. Nicholson, 86-728. No special form for supersedeas bond: Oakley v. Van Noppen, 100-287. An instance of a bond held sufficient: McMinn v. Patton, 92-371. Where bond for costs and for supersedeas both in one instrument, with insolvent surety, appeal dismissed: Alderman v. Rivenbark, 96-134—but where two separate bonds sent up, insolvency of supersedeas bond does not subject appeal to dismissal, cost bond being good: Ibid. A supersedeas bond, being the act of a party, is not allowable to continue a dissolved injunction: James v. Markham, 125-145. Citing section: Adams v. Guy, 106-278. Supersedeas bond in appeal from order as to custody of child: Page v. Page, 166-90. Execution on judgment will be stayed only by giving undertaking: Howie v. Spittle, 156-180.

651. How judgment for personal property stayed. If the judgment appealed from directs the assignment or delivery of documents or personal property, the execution of the judgment is not stayed by appeal, unless the things required to be assigned or delivered are brought into court, or placed in the custody of such officer or receiver as the court appoints, or unless an undertaking be entered into on the part of the appellant, by at least two sureties, and in such amount as the court or a judge thereof directs, to the effect that the appellant will obey the order of the appellate court upon the appeal.

Rev., s. 599; Code, s. 555; C. C. P., s. 305.

Section merely cited in Adams v. Guy, 106-278; Hannon v. Comrs., 89-124; Hancock v. Bramlett, 85-394.

652. How judgment directing conveyance stayed. If the judgment appealed from directs the execution of a conveyance or other instrument, the execution of the judgment is not stayed by the appeal until the instrument has been executed and deposited with the clerk with whom the judgment is entered, to abide the judgment of the appellate court.

Rev., s. 600; Code, s. 556; C. C. P., s. 306.

Merely cited in Hannon v. Comrs., 89-124; Hancock v. Bramlett, 85-394; Bryan v. Hubbs, 69-431; Tate v. Powe, 64-647.

653. How judgment for real property stayed. If the judgment appealed from directs the sale or delivery of possession of real property, the execution is not stayed, unless a bond is executed on the part of the appellant, with one or more sureties, to the effect that, during his possession of such property, he will not commit, or suffer to be committed, any waste thereon, and that if the judgment is affirmed he will pay the value of the use and occupation of the property, from the time of the appeal until the delivery of possession thereof pursuant to the judgment, not exceeding a sum to be fixed by a judge of the court by which judgment was rendered and which must be specified in the undertaking. When the judgment is for the sale of mortgaged premises, and the payment of a deficiency arising upon the sale, the undertaking must also provide for the payment of this deficiency.

Rev., s. 601; Code, s. 557; C. C. P., s. 307.

Merely cited in Hancock v. Bramlett, 85-394; Bryan v. Hubbs, 69-431; Cox v. Hamilton, 69-31; Tate v. Powe, 64-647.

654. Docket entry of stay. When an appeal from a judgment is pending, and the undertaking requisite to stay execution on the judgment has been given, and the appeal perfected, the court in which the judgment was recovered may, on special motion, after notice to the person owning the judgment, on such terms as it sees fit, direct an entry to be made by the clerk on the docket of such judgment, that the same is secured on appeal, and no execution can issue upon such judgment during the pendency of the appeal.

This section contemplates a bond upon which summary judgment may be rendered in the supreme court upon affirmation of judgment below: Alderman v. Rivenbark, 96-134.

655. Scope of stay; security limited for fiduciaries. When an appeal is perfected as provided by this article it stays all further proceedings in the court below upon the judgment appealed from, or upon the matter embraced therein; but the court below may proceed upon any other matter included in the action and not affected by the judgment appealed from. The court below may, in its discretion, dispense with or limit the security required, when the appellant is an executor, administrator, trustee, or other person acting in a fiduciary capacity. It may also limit such security to an amount not more than fifty thousand dollars, where it would otherwise exceed that sum.

Rev., s. 602; Code, s. 558; C. C. P., s. 308.

Court below has no further jurisdiction of matters involved when appeal is perfected: Green v. Griffin, 95-50; Pasour v. Lineberger, 90-159; McRae v. Comrs., 74-415; Isler v. Brown, 69-125—but may make orders to provide for safe-keeping of funds pending appeal, Hinson v. Adrian, 91-372—and may proceed on any other matter included in the action, and may hear motions and grant orders, Herring v. Pugh, 126-852; Guilford v. Georgia, 109-310;

Penniman v. Daniel, 91-431; Carleton v. Byers, 71-335. Clerk's duty to notify sheriff when supersedeas bond perfected: Bryan v. Hubbs, 69-423. Cases merely referring to section: Herring v. Pugh, 125-439; Hancock v. Bramlett, 85-394. When a motion for removal to federal court is denied and defendant appeals, the lower court can take no further action: Pruett v. Power Co., 167-598; s. c., 165-416.

656. Undertaking in one or more instruments; served on appellee. The undertakings may be in one instrument or several, at the option of the appellant; and a copy, including the names and residences of the sureties, must be served on the adverse party, with the notice of appeal, unless the required deposit is made and notice thereof given.

Rev., s. 603; Code, s. 559; C. C. P., s. 309.

Where undertaking for costs and supersedeas are both in one instrument, if surety insolvent, appeal is dismissed: Alderman v. Rivenbark, 96-134. Copy of undertaking, with names and residences of sureties, should be served on appellee: Roberson v. Lewis, 64-736.

657. Judgment not vacated by stay. The stay of proceedings provided for in this article shall not be construed to vacate the judgment appealed from, but in all cases such judgment remains in full force and effect, and its lien remains unimpaired, notwithstanding the giving of the undertaking or making the deposit required in this chapter, until such judgment is reversed or modified by the supreme court.

See Bernhardt v. Brown, 118-710; Black v. Black, 111-300; Stephens v. Koonce, 106-222; In re Griffin, 98-227; Allen v. Gooding, 174-271. This section applies to ordinary judgments in civil cases: State v. Davis, 159-455.

658. Judgment on appeal and on undertakings; restitution. Upon an appeal from a judgment or order, the appellate court may reverse, affirm or modify the judgment or order appealed from, in the respect mentioned in the notice of appeal, and as to any or all of the parties, and may, if necessary or proper, order a new trial. When the judgment is reversed or modified, the appellate court may make complete restitution of all property and rights lost by the erroneous judgment. Undertakings for the prosecution of appeals and on writs of certiorari shall make a part of the record sent up to the supreme court on which judgment may be entered against the appellant or person prosecuting the writ of certiorari and his sureties, in all cases where judgment is rendered against the appellant or person prosecuting the writ.

Rev., s. 605; Code, s. 563; C. C. P., s. 314; R. C., c. 4, s. 10; 1785, c. 233, s. 2; 1810, c. 793; 1831, c. 46, s. 2.

For jurisdiction of supreme court in connection with appeals, see Courts, Art. 2.

See, also, sections 589, 630, 644, 645; and for order of restitution in summary ejectment, see section 2374.

The supreme court may grant a new trial upon some of the issues and leave the others unchanged: Benton v. Collins, 125-83, and cases cited; Hawk v. Lumber Co., 149-16; Jones v. Ins. Co., 153-388; Lumber Co. v. Branch, 158-251.

Where judgment affirmed, appellant entitled to judgment, upon motion, on stay bond: Oakley v. Van Noppen, 100-287. Prosecution bonds and undertakings on appeal are part of the record: Office v. Huffsteller, 67-449—and cannot be questioned by plea and proof at the instance of sureties, Whitehead v. Smith, 53-351—and summary judgment can be taken upon them as before the adoption of the code of civil procedure, Office v. Huffsteller, 67-449. When a judgment is reversed or party put out of possession by a process of law declared void, the appellant should be restored to all that he has lost: Railroad v. Railroad, 108-304; Powell v. Allen, 103-46; Lytle v. Lytle, 94-522; Noville v. Dew, 94-43; Boyett v. Vaughan, 86-725;

Rollins v. Henry, 77-467; Perry v. Tupper, 71-385, 70-538—but he cannot be given possession when he has not been turned out of possession, Robinson v. McDowell, 125-344—and the order for restitution should be part of the judgment: Meroney v. Wright, 84-336; Perry v. Tupper, 70-538; see, also, Caudle v. Moran, 119-432. One cannot claim, after judgment for plaintiff, that he is landlord of plaintiff so as to be allowed a writ of restitution; he must bring ejectment: Edwards v. Phillips, 91-355. The writ of restitution will never be employed to put one in possession where he has not been ousted by the court, nor to take possession from one who has acquired it pending litigation and not by virtue of any process or judgment therein: Railroad v. Railroad, 108-304; see Robinson v. McDowell, 125-344. Section cited in Kenney v. R. R., 166-566. See, also, section 1227.

659. Procedure after determination of appeal. In civil cases, at the first term of the superior court after a certificate of the determination of an appeal is received, if the judgment is affirmed the court below shall direct the execution thereof to proceed, and if the judgment is modified, shall direct its modification and performance. If a new trial is ordered the cause stands in its regular order on the docket for trial at such first term after the receipt of the certificate from the supreme court.

See section 1412. When new trial awarded by supreme court on appeal, case goes back to superior court for new trial on whole merits: Lumber Co. v. Branch, 158-251; McMillan v. Baker, 92-110. When the lower court may grant a new trial for newly discovered evidence: Lancaster v. Bland, 168-377; Smith v. Moore, 150-158.

660. Appeal from justice heard de novo; judgment by default; appeal dismissed. When an appeal is taken from the judgment of a justice of the peace to a superior court, it shall be therein reheard, on the original papers, and no copy thereof need be furnished for the use of the appellate court. An issue shall be made up and tried by a jury at the first term to which the case is returned, unless continued, and judgment shall be given against the party cast and his sureties. When the defendant defaults, the plaintiff in actions instituted on a single bond, a covenant for the payment of money, bill of exchange, promissory note, or a signed account, shall have judgment, and in other cases may have his inquiry of damages executed forthwith by a jury. If the appellant fails to have his appeal docketed as required by law, the appellee may, at the term of court next succeeding the term to which the appeal is taken, have the case placed upon the docket, and upon motion the judgment of the justice shall be affirmed and judgment rendered against the appellant, and for the costs of appeal and against his sureties upon the undertaking, if there are any, according to the conditions thereof. Nothing herein prevents the granting the writ of recordari in cases now allowed by law.

Rev., ss. 607, 609; Code, ss. 565, 881; C. C. P., s. 540; 1889, c. 443; R. C., c. 31, s. 105; 1777, c. 115, s. 63; 1794, c. 414.

See, as to taking and perfecting appeal, sections 1528-1533; as to docketing, section 661; as to recordari as a substitute, section 630.

DOCKETING APPEAL. If appeal not docketed at the ensuing term, the appellee may have it docketed at the next term thereafter and justice's judgment may, upon his motion, be affirmed: Sneeden v. Darby, 173-274; Pants Co. v. Smith, 125-588; Davenport v. Grissom, 113-38; State v. Johnson, 109-852; see Ballard v. Gay, 108-545—but this is a personal privilege of appellee, and appellant can draw no argument from his failure to use it, Davenport v. Grissom, 113-38. Appeal docketed, but not in proper time, may be dismissed: Barnes v. Saleeby, 177-256; Abell v. Power Co., 159-348; Peltz v. Bailey, 157-166; MacKenzie v. Development Co., 151-276; McClintock v. Ins. Co., 149-35, and cases cited supra. But the motion to dismiss comes too late after the trial has begun: Love v. Huffines, 151-378. The court can only dismiss an appeal when there is some irregularity in the method of taking or docketing it: Barnes v. Rwy., 133-131.

TRIAL IN SUPERIOR COURT. De novo: White v. Peanut Co., 165-132; Barnes v. R. R., 133-130; Ballard v. Gay, 108-544; Navassa Guano Co. v. Bridgers, 93-441; Wells v. Sluder, 68-156. Where return to notice of appeal does not contain the pleas, the court may allow any pleas to which parties may be entitled: Moore v. Garner, 109-157. Leave to plead at trial term discretionary with court: Forbes v. McGuire, 116-449. Where judge refused to allow plea as to the jurisdiction to be entered in superior court, not being entered in court of justice, and nothing in the record to show lack of jurisdiction, no error: Forbes v. McGuire, 116-449; see Fertilizer Co. v. Marshburn, 122-411. Summary judgment on appeal bond: McMinn v. Patton, 92-371; Walker v. Williams, 88-7; Brown v. Brittain, 84-552. As to issues submitted by court, where two causes of action set out in warrant before justice (treated as complaint), judge, on appeal, properly submitted issue upon cause of action sustained by evidence: Smith v. Newberry, 140-385.

AMENDMENTS OF PROCESS AND PLEADINGS. See sections 547, 545, and 552. Pleadings may be amended in the superior court in the discretion of the judge, upon such terms as he may deem just, and he may allow new plea upon payment of accrued cost: Moore v. Garner, 109-157; Starke v. Cotten, 115-81; Beville v. Cox, 109-267; Johnson v. Rowland, 80-1; Thomas v. Simpson, 80-4; Faison v. Johnson, 78-78; Hinton v. Deans, 75-18—and this is so even though justice refused to allow such, Lane v. Morton, 78-7; Heyer v. Beatty, 76-32. The power to amend pleadings, process, etc., in cases originating in justices' courts is unrestricted: State v. Norman, 110-484. In criminal cases both the warrant and affidavit may be amended in the court's discretion: State v. Davis, 111-732, and cases there cited—and warrant may be amended after verdict, State v. Baker, 106-759; State v. Werwag, 116-1063; State v. Gillikin, 114-834; State v. Norman, 110-487. A defect in affidavit in attachment may be cured in the superior court: Cook v. Mining Co., 114-617; Sheldon v. Kivett, 110-408—also a defect in affidavit in claim and delivery, Cox v. Grisham, 113-279—also defect in summons, Whitaker v. Dunn, 122-103. As to interpleaders and new parties made and amendment of pleadings and process accordingly, see Finch v. Gregg, 126-176. Leave to plead the statute of limitations where not pleaded below is in court's discretion: Poston v. Rose, 87-279. Leave to plead at trial term of superior court is discretionary: Forbes v. McGuire, 116-449. The court may allow written pleadings to be filed: Teal v. Templeton, 149-32.

The jurisdiction of superior court in appeals from a justice is entirely derivative, and if the justice had no jurisdiction in the action as it was before him, the superior court can derive none by amendment: Ijames v. McClamrock, 92-362; Robeson v. Hodges, 105-51; Allen v. Jackson, 86-321; Boyett v. Vaughan, 85-363; Love v. Huffines, 151-378. If amount involved is doubtful, the court may allow a remitter of a sufficient amount to confer jurisdiction: Teal v. Templeton, 149-32. The defense that cause of action is not of such a kind as to be "split up" so as to bring it within the jurisdiction of a justice, must be made before the justice, otherwise it cannot be made in the superior court on appeal, unless defendant is permitted to amend: Cotton Mills v. Cotton Mills, 115-475; Blackwell v. Dibrell, 103-270; Jarrett v. Self, 90-478.

EFFECT OF PARTIES FAILING TO APPEAR. Plaintiff, failing to appear, can be called out and nonsuited: Barnes v. R. R., 133-131—but not so with defendant, for no judgment can be entered against him if he has answered and raised a material issue, without a trial, Barnes v. R. R., 133-130—for in such a case there must be a verdict before there can be a judgment, Barnes v. R. R., 133-131—yet there are cases in which judgment by default can be taken and in others by default and inquiry, Ballard v. Gay, 108-545; but see Hartsfield v. Jones, 49-309; Williams v. Beasley, 35-112; Ramsour v. Harshaw, 30-480.

661. Appeal from justice docketed for trial de novo. When the return is made from the justice's court the clerk of the appellate court shall docket the case on his trial docket for a new trial of the whole matter at the ensuing term of said court.

Appellant should docket at the next term: Abell v. Power Co., 159-348; Peltz v. Bailey, 157-166; Barnes v. R. R., 133-131; Sondley v. Asheville, 110-89; Ballard v. Gay, 108-544.

The "next term" means that term beginning next after the expiration of the ten days allowed for service of notice of appeal: Sondley v. Asheville, 110-84; Pants Co. v. Smith, 125-588; Davenport v. Grissom, 113-38—and in counting the ten days exclude the first and include the last, Barcroft v. Roberts, 92-249; also Walker v. Scott, 104-483; Sondley v. Asheville, 110-89. As to whether "ensuing term" means a criminal term or civil term or either: Barnes v. Saleeby, 177-256; Love v. Huffines, 151-378; Lentz v. Hinson, 146-31; Blair v. Coakley, 136-408; Johnson v. Andrews, 132-376. Effect of failure of defendant to appear after having answered in court below and raised material issue: Barnes v. R. R., 133-130. Where an appellant pays the fees for the return and docketing of an appeal it will not be dismissed because clerk fails to docket: Johnson v. Andrews, 132-376—and clerk must demand fees, otherwise no laches can be imputed to appellant for failure to tender same, West v. Reynolds, 94-333. Court has no power to permit docketing at a term subsequent to the one to which it should have been returned: Davenport v. Grissom, 113-38; Helsabeek v. Grubbs, 171-337. Attorneys can waive time by agreement: Jerman v. Gullidge, 129-242. As to judgment when appeal not docketed in time, see section 660. It is no excuse for delay that appellant paid the fees to the justice and he failed to docket the case: MacKenzie v. Development Co., 151-276. If appeal is not docketed in proper time, it will be dismissed: Jones v. Fowler, 161-354. The refusal of the judge to allow the appeal to be docketed after the proper term is not reviewable: MacKenzie v. Ins. Co., 151-276.

662. Plaintiff's cost bond on appeal from justice. When a defendant appeals from the judgment of a justice of the peace to the superior court, or when the judgment of the justice is removed by the defendant, by recordari or otherwise, to a superior court, the court having cognizance of the appeal or recordari may, upon sufficient cause shown by affidavit, compel the plaintiff to give an undertaking, with sufficient surety, for payment of the costs of the suit, in the event of his failing to prosecute the same with effect.

Rev., s. 606; Code, s. 564; R. C., c. 31, s. 104; 1831, c. 29.

For annotations on writ of recordari, see section 630. As to whether bond will be required is discretionary with presiding judge: Smith v. R. R., 72-62; Lea v. Brooks, 49-424.

SUBCHAPTER X. EXECUTION

ART. 27. EXECUTION

663. Judgment enforced by execution. Where a judgment requires the payment of money or the delivery of real or personal property it may be enforced in those respects by execution, as provided in this article. Where it requires the performance of any other act a certified copy of the judgment may be served upon the party against whom it is given, or upon the person or officer who is required thereby or by law to obey the same, and his obedience thereto enforced. If he refuses, he may be punished by the court as for contempt.

Rev., s. 615; Code, s. 441; C. C. P., s. 257.

The creditor may have execution from time to time while judgment continues in force until it is discharged: Vegeahn v. Smith, 95-255—but not so in the case of the death of the debtor, for creditor must then collect his debt in the regular course of administration: Barnes v. Fort, 169-431; Holden v. Strickland, 116-185; Tuck v. Walker, 106-285; Sawyers v. Sawyers, 93-321—and if personal assets insufficient, can have his judgment satisfied out of proceeds of land to which the lien adheres: Lilly v. West, 97-278; Murchison v. Williams, 71-135; Mauney v. Holmes, 87-430; Sawyers v. Sawyers, 93-325; see, also, section 110. Remedy where clerk refuses to issue: Electric Co. v. Engineering Co., 128-201; Gooch v. Gregory, 65-142. Necessity of purchaser under execution being able to show judgment and execution: King v. Featherston, 20-259; Person v. Roberts, 159-168—and that judgment under which he purchases was docketed in county where land lies, Rollins v. Henry, 78-342; King v. Portis, 77-25; but see Bernhardt v. Brown, 122-593, and cases cited. Certain judgments where sales under execution do not give purchaser title: Halso v. Cole, 82-161; Dudley v. Cole, 21-429; Barrow v. Arrenton, 23-223. Order taxing costs is a judgment upon which execution can issue: Sheppard v. Bland, 87-163.

Execution issued upon an erroneous or irregular judgment not reversed is valid: Carter v. Spencer, 29-14. Execution issued upon dormant judgment held voidable, not void: Ripley v. Arledge, 94-467; Jacobs v. Burgwyn, 63-193; Brown v. Long, 36-190; Dawson v. Shepherd, 15-497; but see Williams v. Williams, 85-386. Justice's judgments duly docketed are the subject of execution upon same property and within same limitation as superior court judgments: Broyles v. Young, 81-315. Execution for owelty of partition cannot be issued until report of commissioners confirmed: In re Ausborn, 122-42. Where execution regular on its face, sheriff not liable for seizure and sale of judgment debtor's property, although judgment invalid: O'Briant v. Wilkerson, 122-304. Execution does not issue against a county; remedy is by mandamus: Hughes v. Comrs., 107-598; Gooch v. Gregory, 65-142.

664. Kinds of; signed by clerk; when sealed. There are three kinds of execution: one against the property of the judgment debtor, another against his person, and the third for the delivery of the possession of real or personal property, or such delivery with damages for withholding the same. They shall be deemed the process of the court, and shall be subscribed by the clerk, and when to run out of his county, must be sealed with the seal of his court.

See for forms of the different kinds of execution, section 675. For execution against the person, see sections 673 and 675. The clerk and not the judge is the proper officer to issue execution: McKethan v. McNeill, 74-663—and deputy clerk can issue in the name of clerk, Miller v. Miller, 89-402. As of what date execution should bear teste: Williams v. Weaver, 94-134; Bryan v. Hubbs, 69-423; Bernhardt v. Brown, 122-594. When execution runs out of county it should bear seal of the court: Taylor v. Taylor, 83-116. Section merely cited: Burgwyn v. Hall, 108-492; Patton v. Gash, 99-284; Kinney v. Laughenour, 97-325.

665. Against married woman. An execution may issue against a married woman, and it must direct the levy and collection of the amount of the judgment against her from her separate property, and not otherwise.

See generally: Dougherty v. Sprinkle, 88-300; Vann v. Edwards, 128-425. Section partially construed: Harvey v. Johnson, 133-356; McLeod v. Williams, 122-462—and referred to in dissenting opinion of Clark, J., in Moore v. Wolfe, 122-716. Duty of sheriff on receiving execution: Harvey v. Johnson, 133-356; Bank v. Ireland, 127-238; Bailey v. Barron, 112-54. For liability since Martin Act of 1911, see Thrash v. Ould, 172-728; Grocery Co. v. Bails, 177-298; Everett v. Ballard, 174-16.

666. Clerk to issue, in six weeks; penalty. The clerks of the superior court shall issue executions on all judgments rendered in their respective courts, unless otherwise directed by the plaintiff, within six weeks of the rendition of the judgment, and must endorse upon the record the date of such issue. If the executions issued are not returned satisfied to the courts to which they are made returnable, the clerks must issue alias executions, within six weeks thereafter, unless otherwise instructed as aforesaid. Every clerk who fails to comply with the requirements of this section is liable to be amerced in the sum of one hundred dollars for the benefit of the party aggrieved, under the same rules that are provided by law for amercing sheriffs, and is further liable to the party injured by suit upon his bond.

Rev., s. 618; Code, s. 470; R. C., c. 45, s. 29; 1850, c. 17, ss. 1, 2, 3.

Execution is not issued until the clerk hands it to the sheriff, or to the party, or to his agent: McKeithen v. Blue, 149-95; State v. McLeod, 50-321. Fees of clerk must be paid or tendered him, else a failure on his part to issue execution hereunder will not subject him to amercement: Bank v. Bobbitt, 111-194. Clerk must endorse date of issuance upon the record; endorsing it upon the execution is not sufficient: Bank v. Stafford, 47-98. Deputy clerk can issue: Miller v. Miller, 89-402; Jackson v. Buchanan, 89-74; see, also, Shepherd v. Lane, 13-148; Coltrain v. McCain, 14-308; Suddereth v. Smyth, 35-452. Execution not allowable to enforce owelty of partition until commissioner's report confirmed: In re Ausborn, 122-42. Remedy against clerk for refusing to issue is by a rule of the court or action on his bond: Gooch v. Gregory, 65-142, approved by Electric Co. v. Engineering Co., 128-201—or by amercement under this section by party aggrieved: Williamson v. Kerr, 88-10; Simpson v. Simpson, 63-534. As to executions issued after death of judgment debtor: Sawyers v. Sawyers, 93-321; Williams v. Weaver, 94-134; Cowles v. Hall, 113-359. Where entry of judgment states that execution shall not issue until a certain time, but is issued before that time, stranger cannot avoid, but party might: Cody v. Quinn, 28-191; Wood v. Bagley, 34-83; Shelton v. Fels, 61-178. As to counting Sundays in the time allotted: Davis & Hooks v. R. R., 145-207. The jurisdiction to recall an execution before sale is with the clerk, after sale with the judge: Williams v. Dunn, 158-399.

667. Within three years as of course. The party in whose favor judgment is given, and in case of his death, his personal representatives duly appointed, may at any time within three years after the entry of judgment proceed to enforce it by execution, as provided in this article.

Rev., s. 619; Code, s. 437; C. C. P., s. 255.

For leave to issue execution after three years, see section 668. Execution to enforce payment of owelty of partition not to issue against minors until their coming of age: Turpin v. Kelly, 85-399. No execution against an estate of deceased debtor: Sawyers v. Sawyers, 93-321; Williams v. Weaver, 94-134; see, also, section 663. Where execution issued within three years, the judgment does not become dormant: Perkins v. Berry, 103-131; Williams v. Mullis, 87-159; see, also, Heyer v. Rivenbark, 128-272. But a judgment is not affected by an execution made out but not issued to officer: McKeithen v. Blue, 149-95. This section applies to judgments existing at the time of its adoption: Harris v. Ricks, 63-653. No execution against a county: Gooch v. Gregory, 65-142—mandamus, or in some cases, a bill in equity, being the remedy, Hughes v. Comrs., 107-598; Lutterloh v. Comrs., 65-403; Pegram v. Comrs., 64-557; Winslow v. Comrs., 64-218; see, also, Martin v. Clark, 135-170, and cases cited.

668. After three years by leave. After the lapse of three years from the entry of judgment on the judgment docket, an execution can be issued only by leave of the court, upon motion, with personal notice to the adverse party, unless he is absent or nonresident, or cannot be found to make such service, in which case service may be made by publication, or in such other manner as the court directs. This leave shall not be granted unless it is established by the oath of the party, or by other satisfactory proof, that the judgment, or some part thereof, remains unsatisfied and due. But the leave is not necessary when execution has been issued on the judgment within the three years next preceding the suing for execution, and return thereof unsatisfied in whole or in part.

When execution regularly issued within less interval than three years the judgment does not become dormant: Heyer v. Rivenbark, 128-272; Perkins v. Berry, 103-131; Williams v. Mullis, 87-159; McCaskill v. McKinnon, 121-195; Barnes v. Fort, 169-431; but it does not stop the statute of limitations: Barnes v. Fort, 169-431. Execution may issue after ten years if the application is made within three years from the last issuance: Williams v. Mullis, 87-159; Heyer v. Rivenbark, 128-272; McCaskill v. McKinnon, 121-195; Pipkin v. Adams, 114-201; Harrington v. Hatton, 130-89; Lytle v. Lytle, 94-683; Adams v. Guy, 106-275; but see Berry v. Corpening, 90-395—but judgment is only a lien from the time of levy, Wilson v. Lumber Co., 131-167; Heyer v. Rivenbark, 128-272, and cases cited.

This section applies to justice's judgments docketed in superior court: Pants Co. v. Mewborn, 172-332; Broyles v. Young, 81-315—and leave to issue execution on such can be granted after the lapse of ten years, if the judgment is kept alive, but lien only continues ten years: Heyer v. Rivenbark, 128-272; Adams v. Guy, 106-275; Lilly v. West, 97-279; Lytle v. Lytle, 94-683; Broyles v. Young, 81-315; see Pipkin v. Adams, 114-202; and a justice's judgment does not become dormant for the failure to issue execution thereon pending an appeal from the judgment when bond has been given to stay execution, Dysart v. Brandreth, 118-968—nor does it become dormant, when docketed, where motion for leave to issue execution was made within ten years from the docketing, but appeal on clerk's decision not adjudicated until after ten years, Adams v. Guy, 106-275.

Execution can issue after the lapse of three years since the issuance of the last execution by complying with this section: Williams v. Williams, 85-385. After dormant judgment has been revived, execution may issue within three years without notice: Pants Co. v. Mewborn, 172-332. Where several judgment debtors, plaintiff may select as to which of the defendants he will revive it: Patterson v. Walton, 119-500. Leave to issue execution may be granted when judgment not fully satisfied and it is not barred by the statute: Johnston v. Jones, 87-393.

While notice to defendant is required, it may be waived as to regularity: McKeithen v. Blue, 149-95. An innocent purchaser at a sale of land under execution issued on a dormant judgment is protected: Cowen v. Withrow, 114-559; Lytle v. Lytle, 94-683; Barnes v. Hyatt, 87-315; Sheppard v. Bland, 87-163; McKeithen v. Blue, 149-95.

The clerk and not the judge the proper person to whom to make application: Adams v. Guy, 106-278; McKethan v. McNeill, 74-663. Requisites of the affidavit of applicant: Hinton v. Roach, 95-106. Giving notice of application: Surratt v. Crawford, 87-372; Rush v. Steamboat Co., 84-702; Isler v. Murphy, 71-436. Affidavit of applicant sufficient evidence, when: Hinton v. Roach, 95-106. Assignee of a judgment may make application: Pants Co. v. Mewborn, 172-332.

Issues of fact arising, clerk transfers to superior court for trial: Goode v. Rogers, 126-62. Where judgment debtor dead, his heirs should be made parties defendant if such judgment is a lien upon lands: Isler v. Murphy, 71-436; but see Cowles v. Hall, 113-359. Plaintiff is competent witness against personal representative of deceased debtor in motion hereunder: Latham v. Dixon, 82-55—and judgment debtor is likewise competent as against personal representative of deceased creditor, Pate v. Oliver, 104-458.

Defense to the motion to issue execution: Balk v. Harris, 130-384, and cases cited; Bank v. Swink, 129-255; McLeod v. Williams, 122-451; Pate v. Oliver, 104-458; Lytle v. Lytle, 94-683—a discharge in bankruptcy sufficient, Spicer v. Gambill, 93-382, and cases cited; Dawson v. Hartsfield, 79-334; Withers v. Stinson, 79-341; but see Sanderson v. Daily, 83-67; Bell v. Cunningham, 81-83—the statute of limitations, Ex parte Smith, 134-495; Heyer v. Rivenbark, 128-272; Farrar v. Harper, 133-74; Lilly v. West, 97-276; Williams v. Mullis, 87-159; McDonald v. Dickson, 85-248; Barnes v. Fort, 169-431; Hicks v. Wooten, 175-597—that the surety has paid the judgment without having it assigned: Bank v. Hotel Co., 147-594. That another judgment has been rendered for the same debt is no defense to a motion to revive: McLean v. McLean, 90-530. Upon motion to revive judgment defendant cannot show aliunde that no service of process had been originally made upon him; the presumption that he was properly a party is conclusive until removed by a correction of the record itself in a direct proceeding for that purpose: Smathers v. Sprouse, 144-637. An appeal from the clerk for refusal to issue execution may be heard by the resident or presiding judge at chambers in another county: McCaskill v. McKinnon, 121-192—and he may remand case to clerk with directions or may himself grant leave to issue, Martin v. Briscoe, 143-353. Where motion made and refused, and no appeal taken, it cannot be renewed: Sanderson v. Dailey, 83-67. Duty of clerk and appellant on appeal: Hicks v. Wooten, 175-597. Section cited in Coward v. Chastain, 99-444.

669. Issued from and returned to court of rendition. Executions and other process for the enforcement of judgments can issue only from the court in which the judgment for the enforcement of the execution or other final process was rendered; and the returns of executions or other final process shall be made to the court of the county from which it issued.

Rev., s. 623; Code, s. 444; 1871-2, c. 74; 1881, c. 75.

For amercement of sheriff for failing to make proper return, see section 3936. Seal of clerk of court must be attached to executions to other counties: Taylor v. Taylor, 83-116. The sheriff must make return to the superior court of the county in which judgment was obtained: Watson v. Mitchell, 108-364. Sheriff bound to make return and, if he has not obeyed the process, must show some lawful excuse for not doing so: Smith v. McMillan, 84-593; Bryan v. Hubbs, 69-423—and if he make an erroneous return through honest mistake, the court may allow him to amend it, Swain v. Burden, 124-16; Steelman v. Greenwood, 113-355; Luttrell v. Martin, 112-593; Williams v. Weaver, 101-1; Walters v. Moore, 90-41; Williams v. Sharpe, 70-582; Peebles v. Newsom, 74-475.

670. To what counties issued. When the execution is against the property of the judgment debtor it may be issued to the sheriff of any county where the judgment is docketed. No execution may issue from the superior court of any county upon a judgment until it is docketed in that county. When it requires the delivery of real or personal property it must be issued to the sheriff of the county where the property, or some part thereof, is situated. Executions may be issued at the same time to different counties.

Rev., s. 622; Code, s. 443; C. C. P., s. 259; 1871-2, c. 74; 1881, c. 75; 1905, c. 412.

See section 669. That no execution shall issue to another county until the judgment is docketed there does not apply to executions issued before the act of 1905, c. 412: Cox v. Boyden, 153-522; and where a homestead allotted under such execution has been acquiesced in for thirty years it will exclude objection: Ibid. Sale under execution of land in county where judgment not docketed void as against purchaser for value from defendant: Rollins v. Henry, 78-342. Seal of the clerk of county from which execution issues must be attached thereto: Taylor v. Taylor, 83-116. Justice's execution should be addressed to "any constable or other lawful officer": McGloughan v. Mitchell, 126-681. Levy on land in another county may be made without docketing transcript: Evans v. Alridge, 133-378, and cases cited. Executions may be issued at the same time to different counties: Vegeahn v. Smith, 95-256.

671. Sale of land under execution. Real property adjudged to be sold must be sold in the county where it lies, by the sheriff of the county or by a referee appointed by the court for that purpose; and thereupon the sheriff or referee must execute a conveyance to the purchaser, which conveyance shall be effectual to pass the rights and interests of the parties adjudged to be sold.

This section does not apply to foreclosure sales: Kidder v. McIlhenny, 81-123; Mebane v. Mebane, 80-34.

THE PURCHASER'S TITLE. Purchaser of land at execution sale has prima facie title: Allison v. Snider, 118-952. The recital of execution and sale in sheriff's deed is prima facie evidence thereof: Wainwright v. Bobbitt, 127-274; Miller v. Miller, 89-402; Wilson v. Taylor, 98-280; Rollins v. Henry, 78-342; Curlee v. Smith, 91-172—and this is so notwithstanding the return upon the execution may be imperfect, Miller v. Miller, 89-402—but there must be some preliminary proof of loss of execution before the recital is prima facie evidence of its issue: Person v. Roberts, 159-168; Thompson v. Lumber Co., 168-226.

The plaintiff in the judgment purchasing at execution sale must show judgment and execution; a stranger, only execution: Person v. Roberts, 159-168, and cases cited; King v. Featherston, 20-259. Purchaser at sale made after death of debtor under execution issued before his death acquires good title: Benners v. Rhinehart, 107-705. A sale under execution issued upon a judgment which is a lien on all the debtor's property vests in the purchaser only the debtor's interest at time lien attaches: Bristol v. Hallyburton, 93-384; Dail v. Freeman, 92-351; see, also, Electric Co. v. Engineering Co., 128-199; but see Gentry v. Callahan, 98-448. The sheriff's deed to purchaser operates from day of sale and not from date of deed: Cowles v.

Coffey, 88-340. Certain judgments where sales under execution do not give purchaser title: McCauley v. Williams, 122-295; Halso v. Cole, 82-161; Cowen v. Withrow, 114-558; Dudley v. Cole, 21-429; Barrow v. Arrenton, 23-223. Purchaser acquires no title if court does not have jurisdiction: McCauley v. Williams, 122-295. Where sheriff has execution on senior judgment in hand and sale is under junior judgment, purchaser's title good: Bernhardt v. Brown, 118-702; Dysart v. Brandreth, 118-969. Sale under execution levied upon realty carries good title, even though judgment not docketed or lien of docketing expired: Bernhardt v. Brown, 122-593; Sawyers v. Sawyers, 93-324.

Possession of judgment debtor, after sale and deed made to purchaser, is adverse, and his original deed is not color: Wilson v. Brown, 134-400. A purchaser of land at execution sale has a prima facie title, and a defendant in an action of ejectment who seeks to avoid such title on the ground of homestead rights must specifically plead the facts upon which such rights depend: Marshburn v. Lashlie, 122-240; Allison v. Snider, 118-952; Fulton v. Roberts, 113-421; Dickens v. Long, 109-165.

Where execution issued on irregular judgment, a stranger purchasing gets a good title: Hinton v. Roach, 95-106—also he gets good title even if sheriff fail to advertise and give notice of sale as required, if he does not know it, Burton v. Spiers, 95-503; Dula v. Seagle, 98-458. Deed made to purchaser at void sale conveys no title: Pemberton v. McRae, 75-500; Owen v. Barksdale, 30-81; McCauley v. Williams, 122-293. Where sheriff's deed recites a sale prior to acquisition of title by judgment debtor, purchaser acquires no title: Gentry v. Callahan, 98-448; Dail v. Freeman, 92-351; Frey v. Ransom, 66-466; Badham v. Cox, 33-456; Flynn v. Williams, 23-509. A fraudulent deed by judgment debtor is color of title as against purchaser at a subsequent execution sale: Hoke v. Henderson, 14-12. Sheriff's deed under execution against vendee of mortgagee conveys no title: Johnston v. Case, 131-491. Sale under junior judgment passes title encumbered with prior liens: Gambrell v. Wilcox, 111-42—but passes clear title when executions under prior liens are in hands of sheriff, Bernhardt v. Brown, 118-700; Dysart v. Brandreth, 118-969.

672. When attested and returnable. Executions shall be attested as of the term next before the day on which they were issued, and are returnable to the next term of the court beginning not less than forty days after the issuing thereof, and no execution against property shall issue until the end of the term during which the judgment was rendered.

Rev., s. 624; Code, s. 449; 1903, c. 544; 1870-1, c. 42, s. 7; 1873-4, c. 7.

Executions shall be tested as of the term next before the day on which they are issued: Williams v. Weaver, 94-134—but this requirement is only directory and its omission does not vitiate the process: Bernhardt v. Brown, 122-594; Bryan v. Hubbs, 69-423. Execution issued before death of judgment debtor and sale made thereunder after his death passes good title: Benners v. Rhinehart, 107-705—but if issued after his death, the sale is void, even though the execution tested before death, Williams v. Weaver, 94-134; Sawyers v. Sawyers, 93-321. Executions are returnable to the term next after that from which they bear teste: Turner v. Page, 111-292—but unless ruled to do so earlier, sheriff has entire term in which to make return, Ledbetter v. Arledge, 53-475; Turner v. Page, 111-291; Boyd v. Teague, 111-246; Person v. Newsom, 87-142—and if he fails to make such return or makes improper return he is liable to amercement, Boyd v. Teague, 111-246; Turner v. Page, 111-291; see, also, section 3936. For irregularities affecting the validity of an execution, the remedy is by notice and motion to recall, but not to affect the rights of innocent purchasers: Williams v. Dunn, 158-399; s. c., 163-206. Before sale the motion is made before the clerk; after sale and return, before the judge: Ibid.

673. Against the person. If the action is one in which the defendant might have been arrested, an execution against the person of the judgment debtor may be issued to any county within the state, after the return of an execution against his property wholly or partly unsatisfied. But no execution shall issue against the person of a judgment debtor, unless an order of arrest has been served, as provided in the article Arrest and Bail, or unless the complaint contains a statement of facts showing one or more of the causes of arrest required by law, whether such statement of facts is necessary to the cause of action or not.

Rev., s. 625; Code, s. 447; 1891, c. 541, s. 2; C. C. P., s. 260.

See section 768.

WHEN EXECUTION CAN ISSUE. When the defendant has been taken in arrest and bail, or when the complaint alleges facts constituting a cause for arrest, and these facts have been found by the jury and enter into the judgment: McKinney v. Patterson, 174-483; Oakley v. Lasater, 172-96; Doyle v. Bush, 171-10; Turlington v. Aman, 163-555; Ledford v. Emerson, 143-527; Huntley v. Hasty, 132-279; Carroll v. Montgomery, 128-278; Kinney v. Laughenour, 97-325; Peebles v. Foote, 83-102; Houston v. Walsh, 79-37. The judgment may direct that execution may issue against the person in a proper case, but this is not necessary: Oakley v. Lasater, 172-96; Michael v. Leach, 166-223. Cannot issue simply on a judgment for debt on a note, no fraud being found: Stewart v. Bryan, 121-46; Priess v. Cohen, 117-54; Houston v. Walsh, 79-36; Clafin v. Underwood, 75-485; McAden v. Banister, 63-479. Difference between arrest hereunder and arrest under ancillary order pointed out: Ledford v. Emerson, 143-530. To justify an execution against the person for injury to property growing out of negligence, the injury must be intentional and not merely accidental: Oakley v. Lasater, 172-96.

THE EXECUTION. It must be warranted by the judgment and not exceed it, otherwise it is invalid: Ledford v. Emerson, 143-531—and the judgment as docketed must be the guide, McAden v. Banister, 63-479. It must command the sheriff to arrest the defendant and commit him to the jail of the county from which it is issued until he shall pay the judgment or be discharged according to law: Kinney v. Laughenour, 97-325. Clerk's duty to issue the order upon application in proper cases: Patton v. Gash, 99-284; Kinney v. Laughenour, 97-325; see, also, McAden v. Banister, 63-479—and his refusal to do so is appealable to resident judge, Huntley v. Hasty, 132-279.

How person arrested can be discharged: Fertilizer Co. v. Grubbs, 114-470; Burgwyn v. Hall, 108-489; Howie v. Spittle, 156-180; see, also, sections 1637-1646.

674. Defendant dying in execution; new execution against property. Parties at whose suit the body of a person is taken in execution for a judgment recovered, their executors or administrators, may, after the death of the person so taken and dying in execution, have new execution against the property of the person deceased, as they might have had if that person had never been in execution.

Rev., s. 626; Code, s. 469; R. C., c. 45, s. 28; 21 James I, s. 24.

675. Form of execution. The execution must be directed to the sheriff, or coroner when the sheriff is a party or interested, subscribed by the clerk of the court, and must intelligibly refer to the judgment, stating the county where the judgment roll or transcript is filed, the names of the parties, the amount of the judgment, if it is for money, the amount actually due thereon, and the time of docketing in the county to which the execution is issued, and shall require the officer substantially as follows:

Sheriff not liable to judgment debtor for seizure and sale of property when he acts upon execution regular in form and issued from proper court: O'Briant v. Wilkerson, 122-304. Execution must conform to the judgment: Cureton v. Garrison, 115-550. Variances between execution and judgment that are not deemed fatal: Marshburn v. Lashlie, 122-237; Hinton v. Roach, 95-106. Executions must bear teste as of the term next before day issued, but this is only directory: Bryan v. Hubbs, 69-423; see, also, section 672.

1. Against property—no lien on personal property until levy. If it is against the property of the judgment debtor, it shall require the officer to satisfy the judgment out of his personal property; and if sufficient personal property cannot be found, out of the real property belonging to him on the day when the judgment was docketed in the county, or at any time thereafter; but no execution against the property of a judgment debtor is a lien on his personal property, as against any bona fide purchaser from him for value, or as against any other execution, except from the levy thereof.

Execution is a lien on personalty only from the moment of levy: Weisenfeld v. McLean, 96-248; see, also, Shelby v. Tiddy, 118-792—but it is a lien on realty without levy, the lien attaching upon the docketing of the judgment, Harris v. Ricks, 63-653; see, also, section 614—unless issued after ten years, and then it is a lien on both personalty and realty from levy only: Wilson v. Lumber Co., 131-167; Heyer v. Rivenbark, 128-272; Bernhardt v. Brown, 122-593; Lytle v. Lytle, 94-683; Sawyers v. Sawyers, 93-321; Spicer v. Gambill, 93-378. Levy upon personal property must be made by seizing it; but if the property is of such a nature as makes actual seizure impossible, some act as nearly equivalent to seizure must be substituted for it: Clifton v. Owens, 170-607; Sawyer v. Bray, 102-79; Perry v. Hardison, 99-21; Long v. Hall, 97-286. Constructive levy on personalty discussed: Penland v. Leatherwood, 101-509, and cases cited. Where levy made, but sheriff either allows property to remain with debtor or debtor recaptures it against sheriff's will; held no satisfaction of execution: Aldridge v. Loftin, 104-122; Binford v. Alston, 15-351. Where sheriff makes levy by taking goods into his possession and refusing to sell them, it is a constructive payment: Aldridge v. Loftin, 104-126; In re King, 13-341. Sale of real estate under execution issued on a judgment which is a lien thereon is valid without a levy: Farrior v. Houston, 100-369. This subsection does not alter former law as to what is and what is not a levy; it only relates to period when lien attaches: Sawyer v. Bray, 102-79.

2. Against property in hands of personal representative. If it is against real or personal property in the hands of personal representatives, heirs, devisees, legatees, tenants of real property or trustees it shall require the officer to satisfy the judgment out of such property.

Execution issued before death of judgment debtor, and sale made thereunder after death, passes good title: Benness v. Rhinehart, 107-705; Aycock v. Harrison, 65-8; but see Halso v. Cole, 82-161—but if issued after his death, the sale is void even though execution tested before death, Williams v. Weaver, 94-134; Sawyers v. Sawyers, 93-321. For old practice to reach land of decedent, see Weston v. Lumber Co., 169-398.

3. Against the person. If it is against the person of the judgment debtor, it shall require the officer to arrest him, and commit him to the jail of the county until he pays the judgment or is discharged according to law.

See sections 673, 674.

4. For delivery of specific property. If it is for the delivery of the possession of real or personal property, it shall require the officer to deliver the possession of the same, particularly describing it, to the party entitled thereto, and may at the same time require the officer to satisfy any costs, damages, rents, or profits recovered by the same judgment, out of the personal property of the party against whom it was rendered, and the value of the property for which the judgment was recovered, to be specified therein, if a delivery cannot be had; and if sufficient personal property cannot be found, then out of the real property belonging to him on the day when the judgment was docketed, or at any time thereafter, and in that respect is deemed an execution against property.

How writs of possession of land are executed: Ferguson v. Wright, 115-568; Davis v. Higgins, 87-298; Johnson v. Nevill, 65-677. Cases as to writs of assistance to put persons in possession of land who have bought same at a sale under decree of court and party in possession refuses to yield: Lee v. Thornton, 176-208; Clarke v. Aldridge, 162-326; Exum v. Baker, 115-242; Marcom v. Wyatt, 117-129; Coor v. Smith, 107-430; Knight v. Houghtalling, 94-408. For judgment and execution in claim and delivery of personal property, see section 610.

5. For purchase money of land. If the answer in an action for recovery of a debt contracted for the purchase of land does not deny, or if the jury finds, that the debt was so contracted, it is the duty of the court to have embodied in the judgment that the debt sued on was contracted for the purchase money of the land, describing it briefly; and it is also the duty of the clerk to set forth in the execution that the said debt was contracted for the purchase of the land, the description of which must be set out briefly as in the complaint.

A judgment reciting that the debt was contracted for the purchase of land is conclusive: Durham v. Wilson, 104-595. This subsection does not apply where a deed has not been made to the vendee: Lewis v. McDowell, 88-261. Sale by a sheriff of the homestead, even though execution does not specify that the debt is for the purchase money of land, will be valid: Durham v. Bostick, 72-353. Sale of land under execution for purchase money is valid without allotment of homestead: Durham v. Wilson, 104-595. Homestead cannot be claimed as against judgment for purchase money: Toms v. Fite, 93-274; Billings v. Joines, 151-363; also see under section 728.

Rev., s. 627; Code, ss. 234-236, 448; C. C. P., s. 261; 1868-9, c. 148; 1879, c. 217.

676. Variance between judgment and execution. When property has been sold by an officer by virtue of an execution or other process commanding sale, no variance between the execution and the judgment whereon it was issued, in the sum due, in the manner in which it is due, or in the time when it is due, invalidates or affects the title of the purchaser of such property.

Rev., s. 628; Code, s. 1347; R. C., c. 44, s. 13; 1848, c. 53.

Section directly supported by Hinton v. Roach, 95-106. A variance merely technical will be disregarded: Marshburn v. Lashlie, 122-237. This section liberally construed: Wilson v. Taylor, 98-280, and cases cited.

677. Property liable to sale under execution. The property of the judgment debtor, not exempted from sale under the constitution and laws of this state, may be levied on and sold under execution as hereinafter prescribed:

1. Goods, chattels, and real property belonging to him.

For statute forbidding sale of tenant's crop under execution, see section 2361.

PROPERTY SUBJECT TO LEVY AND SALE. Matured crops; but when land is purchased at execution sale the growing crops go to tenant in possession: Kesler v. Cornelison, 98-383; Dail v. Freeman, 92-351; Walton v. Jordan, 65-172; Walston v. Bryan, 64-764. Vested remainders: Bristol v. Hallyburton, 93-384; Bruce v. Nicholson, 109-206; Stern v. Lee, 115-426. Land, the deed for which is unrecorded: Ray v. Wilcoxon, 107-514. The interest of a tenant by the curtesy consummate: McCaskill v. McCormack, 99-548. The interest of grantee in a deed for timber: Fowle v. McLean, 168-537; Williams v. Parsons, 167-529.

PROPERTY NOT SUBJECT TO LEVY AND SALE. Contingent remainders: Bristol v. Hallyburton, 93-384; Bruce v. Nicholson, 109-202. Land held by husband and wife by entireties: Harris v. Distributing Co., 172-14; Hood v. Mercer, 150-699. Property owned by county: Vaughn v. Comrs., 118-639; Hughes v. Comrs., 107-598; Gooch v. Gregory, 65-142. A purely mental conception, such as a formula for the manufacture of cigarettes: Markham v. Whitehurst, 109-307. Property in custodia legis: Pelletier v. Lumber Co., 123-596—though leave may be granted by the court in some cases that it be sold, Pelletier v. Lumber Co., 123-596; Skinner v. Maxwell, 68-404. Property already sold under this section cannot be resold under subsequent execution on same judgment: Peebles v. Pate, 86-438. Where land is devised to be sold and the proceeds distributed among certain persons, it is not subject to levy either as land or personalty: Clifton v. Owens, 170-607.

2. All leasehold estates of three years duration or more, owned by him.

3. Equitable and legal rights of redemption in personal and real property pledged or mortgaged by him. But when the equity of redemption in personal property is sold under execution, notice of the time and place of said sale shall be given the mortgagee.

PROPERTY SUBJECT TO LEVY AND SALE. Equity of redemption in an express mortgage and also equitable interest under securities given in the nature of a mortgage: Davis v. Evans, 27-525. An interest in Cherokee boundary land, purchaser being entitled to grant upon payment of fees: Wilson v. Deweese, 114-653. Equity of redemption, whether created by mortgage deed made to creditor or to a third person, with or without power of sale: Mayo v. Staton, 137-670. This section applied only to equity of redemption in land, and not in personality (before change made by act of 1919, c. 30): Hardware Co. v. Lewis, 173-290.

PROPERTY NOT SUBJECT TO LEVY AND SALE. Equity of redemption, when judgment upon which execution issues is for the mortgage debt: Simpson v. Simpson, 93-373. Vendor's interest in land contracted to be conveyed on receipt of purchase money: Tally v. Reid, 72-336; Mayo v. Staton, 137-681, and cases cited. Vendee's interest under contract of purchase of land where he has not paid the purchase money in full: McPeters v. English, 141-491; Gorrell v. Alspaugh, 120-362, and cases therein cited; Rollins v. Henry, 86-714; Tally v. Reed, 74-463; Hinsdale v. Thornton, 75-381, 74-167; Jennings v. Hardin, 45-275; Frost v. Reynolds, 39-494; Badham v. Cox, 33-456. Mortgagee's interest in property under chattel mortgage: Bowen v. King, 146-385.

See generally, Hutchison v. Symons, 67-156; Mayo v. Staton, 137-670.

4. Real property or goods and chattels of which any person is seized or possessed in trust for him.

PROPERTY SUBJECT TO LEVY AND SALE. Trusts which are simple and unmixed, or passive, and which entitle the cestui que trust to call for the legal title: Evans v. Brendle, 173-149; Hardware Co. v. Lewis, 173-290; Mayo v. Staton, 137-670; Gorrell v. Alspaugh, 120-362; Hinsdale v. Thornton, 75-381; Page v. Goodman, 43-16. Equitable estates as distinguished from equitable rights: Evans v. Brendle, 173-149; Mayo v. Staton, 137-670; Nelson v. Hughes, 55-33. Only trust estates held for defendant solely: Harrison v. Battle, 16-537; but see section 3217.

PROPERTY NOT SUBJECT TO LEVY AND SALE. Fraudulent trusts: Page v. Goodman, 43-16; see Sherrod v. Dixon, 120-60; Guthrie v. Bacon, 107-337; Everett v. Raby, 104-479; Jimmerson v. Duncan, 48-537. Active, or mixed trusts, where the cestui que trust cannot call for the legal title: Battle v. Petway, 27-576; Williams v. Williams, 41-20; Gorrell v. Alspaugh, 120-367; Mayo v. Staton, 137-670; Lummers v. Davidson, 160-484; Evans v. Brendle, 173-149; Rouse v. Rouse, 167-208. Trust estate for several tenants in common, where one is judgment debtor: McLeran v. McKethan, 42-70. Equitable rights as distinguished from equitable estates: Nelson v. Hughes, 55-33; Mayo v. Staton, 137-670; Evans v. Brendle, 173-149. A resulting trust in a deed of trust for creditors: Sprinkle v. Martin, 66-56; see, also, Hardin v. Ray, 94-456; McRary v. Fries, 57-234; Thompson v. Ford, 29-418; Battle v. Petway, 27-576; Barham v. Massey, 27-192; Burgin v. Burgin, 23-160; Harrison v. Battle, 16-541; Mordecai v. Parker, 14-425; Brown v. Graves, 11-342—but may be reached in manner pointed out in McKeithan v. Walker, 66-95; Hutchison v. Symons, 67-156. In case of equitable conversion of land into money for distribution the remedy is by an action to subject it to payment of debts: Clifton v. Owens, 170-607.

But no execution shall be levied on growing crops until they are matured.

Growing crops at common law were subject to levy and sale: Smith v. Tritt, 18-241—but under the statute they are not, and cannot be until they are matured, Kesler v. Cornelison, 98-382, and cases there cited; Dail v. Freeman, 92-351; Shannon v. Jones, 34-206.

Rev., ss. 629, 632; Code, ss. 450, 453; R. C., c. 45, ss. 1-5, 11; 5 Geo. II, c. 7, s. 4; 1777, c. 115, s. 29; 1812, c. 830, ss. 1, 2; 1822, c. 1172; 1844, c. 35; 1919, c. 30.

678. Sale of trust estates; purchaser's title. Upon the sale under execution of trust estates whereof the judgment debtor is beneficiary the sheriff shall execute a deed to the purchaser, and the purchaser thereof shall hold and enjoy the same freed and discharged from all encumbrances of the trustee.

Rev., s. 630; Code, s. 452; R. C., c. 45, s. 4; 1812, c. 830.

See Mayo v. Staton, 137-670; Evans v. Brendle, 173-149; Hardware Co. v. Lewis, 173-290.

679. Sheriff's deed on sale of equity of redemption. The sheriff selling equitable and legal rights of redemption shall set forth in the deed to the purchaser thereof that the said estates were under mortgage at the time of judgment, or levy in the case of personal property and sale.

Rev., s. 631; Code, s. 451; R. C., c. 45, s. 5; 1812, c. 830, s. 2; 1822, c. 1172.

The provisions of this section are not mandatory: Mayo v. Staton, 137-687; citing Thorpe v. Ricks, 21-619. The purchaser of equity of redemption may recover possession from mortgagor: Parrott v. Hardesty, 169-667. A mortgagee, purchasing land at execution sale under a judgment to which he is a stranger, acquires the equity of redemption and the proceeds are applied to the execution: Woodruff v. Trust Co., 173-546.

680. Forthcoming bond for personal property. If a sheriff or other officer who has levied an execution or other process upon personal property permits it to remain with the possessor, the officer may take a bond, attested by a credible witness, for the forthcoming thereof to answer the execution or process; but the officer remains, nevertheless, in all respects liable as heretofore to the plaintiff's claim.

Rev., 633; Code, 463; R. C., c. 45, s. 21; 1807, c. 731, s. 3; 1828, c. 12, s. 2.

The bond is simply to secure the redelivery of the property to the officer—not to secure the debt: Gray v. Bows, 18-437; Grady v. Threadgill, 35-228—and the property must be peaceably and quietly redelivered in strict accordance therewith or bond is forfeited: Poteet v. Bryson, 29-337. As to form of bond, see Grady v. Threadgill, 35-228.

681. Summary remedy on forthcoming bond. If the condition of such bond be broken, the sheriff or other officer, on giving ten days previous notice in writing to any obligor therein, may on motion have judgment against him in a summary manner, before the superior court or before a justice of the peace, as the case may be, of the county in which the officer resides, for all damages which the officer has sustained, or may be adjudged liable to sustain, not exceeding the penalty of the bond, to be ascertained by a jury, under the direction of the court or justice.

Rev., 635; Code, s. 465; R. C., c. 45, s. 23; 1822, c. 1141.

682. Requirement of bond; possession and sale of property. When the forthcoming bond is taken the officer must specify therein the property levied upon and furnish to the surety a list of the property in writing under his hand, attested by at least one credible witness, and stating therein the day of sale. The property levied upon is deemed in the custody of the surety, as the bailee of the officer. All other executions thereafter levied on this property create a lien on the same from and after the respective levies, and shall be satisfied accordingly out of the proceeds of the sale of the property; but the officer thereafter levying shall not take the property out of the custody of the surety. But in all such cases sales of chattels shall take place within thirty days after the first levy; and if sale is not made within that time any other officer who has levied upon the property may seize and sell it.

Rev., 634; Code, s. 464; R. C., c. 45, s. 22; 1844, c. 34; 1846, c. 50.

683. Entry of returns on judgment docket; penalty. When an execution is returned, the return of the sheriff or other officer must be noted by the clerk on the judgment docket; and when it is returned wholly or partially satisfied, it is the duty of the clerk of the court to which it is returned to send a copy of such last mentioned return, under his hand, to the clerk of the superior court of each county in which such judgment is docketed, who must note such copy in his judgment docket, opposite the judgment, and file the copy with the transcript of the docket of the judgment in his office. A clerk failing to send a copy of the payments on the execution or judgment to the clerks of the superior court of the counties wherein a transcript of the judgment has been docketed, and a clerk failing to note said payment on the judgment docket of his court, shall, on motion, be fined one hundred dollars nisi, and the judgment shall be made absolute upon notice to show cause at the succeeding term of the superior court of his county.

Rev., s. 636; Code, s. 445; 1871-2, c. 74, s. 2; 1881, c. 75.

The return as evidence, establishing its truthfulness, prima facie merely: Perry v. Hardison, 99-21; Peebles v. Pate, 90-348—and where execution lost, the entry of the execution and its return on the minute docket is admissible as secondary evidence, Curlee v. Smith, 91-172. The word “executed” as a return of process ex vi termini means full performance: Isley v. Boon, 113-249; McDonald v. Carson, 94-497. Where judgment debtor turns over collateral to judgment creditor and he collects same, it is the same as a payment on judgment, and should be entered: Moore v. Garner, 101-374. As to application of surplus of proceeds of execution sale under senior judgment to the payment of junior judgments, see Gambrill v. Wilcox, 111-42. An execution returned into court with an entry of satisfaction indorsed, in whole or in part, extinguishes so much of the debt and becomes a part of the record in the case: Walters v. Moore, 90-41.

684. Cost of keeping livestock; officer’s account. The court or justice shall make a reasonable allowance to officers for keeping and maintaining horses, cattle, hogs, or sheep, and all other property taken into their custody under legal process, the keeping of which is chargeable to them; and this allowance may be retained by the officers out of the sales of the property, in preference to the satisfaction of the process under which the property was seized or sold. The officer must make out his account and, if required, give the debtor or his agent a copy of it, signed by his own hand, and must return the account with the execution or other process, under which the property has been seized or sold, to the justice or court to whom the execution or process is returnable, and shall swear to the correctness of the several items set forth; otherwise he shall not be permitted to retain the allowance.

Rev., ss. 637-8; Code, ss. 466-7; R. C., c. 45, ss. 25-6; 1807, c. 731.

Section referred to in R. R. v. Main, 132-459; Hendricks v. Ireland, 162-523.

685. Purchaser of defective title; remedy against defendant. Where real or personal property is sold on any execution or decree, by any officer authorized to make the sale, and the sale is made legally and in good faith, and the property did not belong to the person against whose estate the execution or decree was issued, by reason of which the purchaser has been deprived of the property, or been compelled to pay damages in lieu thereof to the owner, the purchaser, his executors or administrators, may sue the person against whom such execution or decree was issued, or the person legally representing him, in a civil action, and recover such sum as he may have paid for the property, with interest from the time of payment; but the property, if personal, must be present at the sale and actually delivered to the purchaser.

Rev., s. 639; Code, s. 468; R. C., c. 45, s. 27; 1807, c. 723.

Cases directly sustaining this section: Johnson v. Gooch, 114-62; Wall v. Fairley, 77-105. Cases referring to section: Brown v. Smith, 53-332; McDougald v. McLean, 60-120. As to whether purchaser of defective title is subrogated to rights of execution creditor, see Pember-ton v. McRae, 75-497; Laws v. Thompson, 49-104. Where at a sale of land not belonging to execution debtor, plaintiff purchased for enough to pay off the judgment, it is satisfied; then plaintiff's remedy is under this section: Halcombe v. Loudermilk, 48-491.

686. Costs on execution paid to clerk; penalty. The sheriff or other officer must pay the costs on all executions which are satisfied in whole or in part, to the clerk of the court from which the execution issued, and to no other person, on the second day of the term of the court; and any such officer making default herein shall forfeit and pay forty dollars for the benefit of the party aggrieved, under the same rules that are provided by law for amercing sheriffs.

Rev., s. 640; Code, s. 472; R. S., c. 76, s. 5; 1822, c. 1149.

For execution against corporation property and stock, see Corporations, Art. 9.

ART. 28. EXECUTION AND JUDICIAL SALES

687. How advertised; cost of newspaper publication. No real property shall be sold under execution, deed of trust, mortgage, or other contract, except as provided in the following section, until notice of the sale has been posted at the courthouse door and three other public places in the county for thirty days immediately preceding the sale, and also published once a week for four weeks in some newspaper published in the county, if a paper is published in the county. The cost of such newspaper publication shall not exceed three dollars, to be taxed as costs in the action, special proceeding or proceeding to sell.

Rev., s. 641; Code, s. 456; 1885, c. 38; 1905, c. 147; 1868-9, c. 237, s. 10; R. C., c. 45, s. 16; 1881, c. 278; 1909, c. 705.

For further provisions as to mortgage sales, see Mortgages and Deeds of Trust, Art. 3.

In Edgecombe and Nash the advertisement must be published "in some newspaper published in any city or town nearest the property advertised." P. L. 1913, c. 723.

This section applies to sales under execution and to foreclosure proceedings in court: Hogan v. Utter, 175-332; Palmer v. Latham, 173-60. Duty of sheriff in selling property under execution explained: Williams v. Dunn, 163-206. The requirements as to advertising execution sales are directory, and will not render the sale void as to a stranger without notice: Williams v. Dunn, 163-206; Shaffer v. Bledsoe, 118-279; Dula v. Seagle, 98-458; Burton v. Spiers, 92-503; Hays v. Hunt, 85-303; Skinner v. Warren, 81-377; but requirements as to time and place are mandatory: Wortham v. Basket, 99-70; Palmer v. Latham, 173-60.

The real object of advertising set forth in Burton v. Spiers, 92-508. It is presumed that proper advertising was done: Cawfield v. Owen, 129-288. As to advertising sale of land for taxes, see Hays v. Hunt, 85-303; also section 8014. Case where sheriff was sued for penalty for insufficiently advertising, in which question was raised whether property was real or personal: Freeman v. Leonard, 99-274. Case where advertisement proper, but date changed by request of defendant in execution and with knowledge of purchaser; held purchaser could not call for conveyance: Skinner v. Warren, 81-373. Sheriff's duty to advertise and sell to best advantage of creditors: Ibid. For penalty on sheriff for selling without advertising properly, see section 696. In the absence of fraud, selling without due advertisement does not vitiate the sale: Williams v. Dunn, 163-206; Woodley v. Gilliam, 67-239, and cases cited; Dula v. Seagle, 98-458; Shaffer v. Bledsoe, 118-279, and cases cited—the true test being whether or not purchaser had knowledge of the defects, Dula v. Seagle, 98-458; Hays v. Hunt, 85-303; Skinner v. Warren, 81-377; Avery v. Rose, 15-554.

The power of sale in a mortgage is contractual and must be strictly complied with: Jenkins v. Griffin, 175-184; Hogan v. Utter, 175-332 (modifying a statement in Palmer v. Latham, 173-60, that it is directory); Banking Co. v. Leach, 169-706; Eubanks v. Becton, 158-231; McLver v. Smith, 118-75; Hinton v. Hall, 166-477; Ferebee v. Sawyer, 167-199; Brett v. Davenport, 151-56. What is sufficient advertisement of mortgage sale: Jenkins v. Griffin, 175-184. In the absence of agreement to the contrary, the expense of advertising cannot exceed three dollars: Banking Co. v. Leach, 169-706. See further as to advertising sales, section 2585.

688. Advertisement of resale. In all cases where a sheriff, commissioner, executor or administrator resells any real estate at public auction because of an insufficient bid, want of bidders, the placing of an additional or ten per cent bid on the price bid at a prior sale, or other cause, public notice of the resale, where ordered by the court, is sufficient notice if it recites the cause of resale and is posted at the courthouse door and at least three other public places in the county for at least fifteen days, and published at least once a week for two successive weeks in some newspaper, if a paper is published in the county where the resale is made.

For reopening sales for advanced bids, see Mortgages and Deeds of Trust, s. 2591.

689. Notice served on defendant; when on governor. In addition to the advertisement above required, the sheriff shall in every case, at least ten days before a sale of real property under execution, serve a copy of so much of the advertisement as relates to the real property of any defendant on him personally if he is found in the county, or on his agent if he has a known agent therein, or if he cannot be found within the county and has no known agent therein, but his address is known, by mail to such address; and the date of service shall be ascertained by the usual course of the mail from the place where sent to the place of its address. In case of the sale under execution, or under the order of any court, of any real or personal property in which the state is interested as a stockholder or otherwise, notice in writing must be served upon the governor and attorney general, at least thirty days before the sale, of the time and place of sale, and under what process it is made, otherwise the sale is invalid.

Rev., s. 642; Code, s. 457; 1868-9, c. 237, s. 11; 1876-7, c. 224.

The requirement of serving notice upon a person, defendant in execution, is directory only, an innocent purchaser getting a good title: Shaffer v. Bledsoe, 118-279; Cowles v. Hardin, 101-388; Burton v. Spiers, 92-503; Williams v. Dunn, 163-206. Section referred to in Freeman v. Leonard, 99-279.

690. Sale days. All real property sold under execution, or by order of court, shall be sold at the courthouse door of the county in which all or a part of the property is situated, on the first Monday in any month, or during the first three days of any term of the superior court of said county, unless in the order directing the sale some other place and time is designated, and then it shall be sold as directed in such order, on any day except Sunday or holidays, after advertising as required by law.

Rev., s. 643; Code, s. 454; 1876-7, c. 216, ss. 2, 3; 1883, c. 94, ss. 1, 2.

Sale at improper time and place is void: Lowdermilk v. Corpening, 101-649; Wortham v. Basket, 99-70; Dula v. Seagle, 98-458; Mayers v. Carter, 87-146 (see Mordecai v. Speight, 14-429)—unless sale assented to by defendant in execution, who waives a compliance with statutory requirements, Wortham v. Basket, 99-70; Biggs v. Brickell, 68-239. Sales made on Tuesday or Wednesday valid: Mayers v. Carter, 87-148; Brooks v. Ratcliff, 33-321—on Friday valid, Wade v. Saunders, 70-270—unless there is an irregularity known to the purchaser, Hays v. Hunt, 85-303.

691. Sale hours. No sale under an execution or decree shall commence before ten o'clock in the morning, or continue after four o'clock in the afternoon, of the day on which the sale is to be made, except that in towns or cities of more than five thousand inhabitants public sales of goods, wares and merchandise may be continued until ten o'clock p. m.

Rev., s. 644; Code, s. 459; R. C., c. 45, s. 17; 1794, c. 41.

692. Postponement. The sheriff or other person making the sale, for the absence of bidders or any other just cause, may postpone the sale from day to day, but not for more than six days in all, and upon postponement he must post a notice thereof on the courthouse door of his county.

Rev., s. 645; Code, s. 455; 1868-9, c. 237, s. 9.

Sale advertised to take place Monday, but postponed from day to day, can take place on Friday: Wade v. Saunders, 70-270. Effect of sale on day other than statute requires discussed: Mordecai v. Speight, 14-428; see, also, Hays v. Hunt, 85-303. This section held to apply to sales by sheriff or under court decrees, and not to mortgage sales: Ferebee v. Sawyer, 167-199. But mortgage sales may be postponed by giving reasonable notice: Ibid.

693. Certain sales validated. All sales of realty made under executions issued prior to March the fifteenth, one thousand nine hundred and one, on judgments regularly obtained in courts of competent jurisdiction, are hereby validated, whether such sales were continued from day to day or for a longer period, not exceeding ten days: Provided, that such executions and sales are in all other respects regular: Provided further, that purchasers and their assigns shall have held continuous and adverse possession under a sheriff's deed for three years: Provided further, that the rights of minors and married women shall in nowise be prejudiced hereby.

Rev., s. 646; 1901, c. 742.

694. Certain private acts repealed. All private acts, by which lands in particular counties are required or allowed to be sold at places, or at times, other than those hereinbefore prescribed, are hereby repealed.

Rev., s. 647; Code, s. 458; 1868-9, c. 237, s. 12.

695. Advertisement as to personal property. No sale of personal property under execution may be made until it has been advertised for ten days at the door of the courthouse of the county in which it is to be sold, and at three other public places in the county, and the advertisement must designate the place and the time of sale.

Rev., s. 648; Code, s. 460; R. C., c. 45, s. 16; 1808, c. 753; 1820, c. 1066.

A sale without notice duly published is invalid as to one having knowledge of such irregularity: Phillips v. Hyatt, 167-570.

696. Penalty for selling contrary to law. A sheriff or other officer who makes any sale contrary to the true intent and meaning of this article shall forfeit two hundred dollars to any person suing for it, one-half for his own use and the other half to the use of the county where the offense is committed.

Rev., s. 649; Code, s. 461; R. C., c. 45, s. 18; 1820, c. 1066, s. 2; 1822, c. 1153, s. 3.

For liability of sheriff's bond, see sections 3930, 3941. Sheriff is liable for failure to advertise sale properly: Mayers v. Carter, 87-148; Burton v. Spiers, 92-507; Freeman v. Leonard, 99-274.

697. Officer's return of no sale for want of bidders; penalty. When a sheriff or other officer returns upon an execution that he has made no sale for want of bidders, he must state in his return the several places he has advertised and offered for sale the property levied on; and an officer failing to make such statement is on motion subject to a fine of forty dollars; and every constable, for a like omission of duty, is subject to a fine of ten dollars, for the use and benefit of the plaintiff in the execution; for which, on motion of the plaintiff, judgment shall be granted by the court to which, or by justice to whom, the execution shall be returned. Nothing in, nor any recovery under, this section is a bar to any action for a false return against the sheriff or other officer.

Rev., s. 650; Code, s. 462; R. C., c. 45, s. 19; 1815, c. 887.

For penalty for false return, see section 3936.

698. Officer to prepare deed for property sold. Sheriffs or other officers selling lands by authority of any execution or process shall, upon payment of the price, prepare, execute and deliver to the purchaser a deed for the property purchased. The purchaser of land must furnish the officer with a description of it.

Rev., s. 651; Code, s. 471; R. C., c. 45, s. 30; 1848, c. 39.

As to title of purchaser, see cases under section 671. A motion in the cause is the proper means of compelling sheriff to execute deed: Fox v. Kline, 85-173; Skinner v. Warren, 81-376, and cases cited; Patrick v. Carr, 60-633. Purchaser not paying, sheriff can tender deed and sue: Skinner v. Warren, 81-376; McKee v. Lineberger, 69-217; but see Maynard v. Moore, 76-161. Sheriff can give purchaser time in which to pay purchase money if neither party objects: Maynard v. Moore, 76-158. Purchaser implicated in sheriff's dereliction in selling cannot call for deed: Skinner v. Warren, 81-373. The deed must bear the seal of the sheriff: Fisher v. Owens, 132-686; Strain v. Fitzgerald, 128-396; Patterson v. Galliher, 122-511. Where copy of the registration of a sheriff's deed says "Given under my hand and seal," no presumption that original bore a seal: Strain v. Fitzgerald, 128-396. The deed is presumptive evidence of the facts stated therein: Neal v. Nelson, 117-401—of the execution, levy and sale, and all the acts of the sheriff recited, Wainwright v. Bobbitt, 127-274; Wilson v. Taylor, 98-275; Farrior v. Houston, 100-369; Curlee v. Smith, 91-172; Miller v. Miller, 89-402; McKee v. Lineberger, 87-181; Rollins v. Henry, 78-342; Hardin v. Cheek, 48-135—and this is so even though the return is imperfect, Miller v. Miller, 89-402; but there must be some preliminary proof of loss of execution before the recital is prima facie evidence of its issue: Person v. Roberts, 159-168; Thompson v. Lumber Co., 168-226.

ART. 29. BETTERMENTS

699. Petition by claimant; execution suspended; issues found. A defendant against whom a judgment is rendered for land may, at any time before execution, present a petition to the court rendering the judgment, stating that he, or those under whom he claims, while holding the premises under a color of title believed to be good, have made permanent improvements thereon, and praying that he may be allowed for the improvements, over and above the value of the use and occupation of the land. The court may, if satisfied of the probable truth of the allegation, suspend the execution of the judgment and impanel a jury to assess the damages of the plaintiff and the allowance to the defendant for the improvements. In any such action this inquiry and assessment may be made upon the trial of the cause.

Rev., s. 652; Code, s. 473; 1871-2, c. 147.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS. This section is constitutional: Barker v. Owen, 93-193. Some history of the section: Condry v. Cheshire, 88-378. Purpose of betterment statutes explained: Whitfield v. Boyd, 158-451. Effect of Connor act upon claims for betterments pointed out: Wood v. Tinsley, 138-507. This section is confined to cases where persons are in bona fide possession under color of title: Bryan v. Alexander, 111-142; for color of title, see annotations under section 428. This section has nothing to do with claims of tenant against landlord for improvements: Dunn v. Bagby, 88-91—nor with claims for betterments as between tenants in common, Holt v. Couch, 125-456; but see Daniel v. Dixon, 163-137; s. c., 161-377. It does not apply to tenant for life making improvements: Northeott v. Northeott, 175-148—nor to improvements placed by husband on wife's land: Nelson v. Nelson, 176-191—nor where a person enters on land under a contract for improvements: Ferrell v. Mining Co., 176-475. Defendant entitled to compensation for improvements whether plaintiff's claim be legal or equitable: Barker v. Owen, 93-198.

PLEADINGS AND PROCEDURE. As to when and where to set up the claim for betterments, see Wood v. Tinsley, 138-507; Fortescue v. Crawford, 105-29; Casey v. Cooper, 99-395. Petition must be filed before the judgment is executed: Boyer v. Garner, 116-125—and judgment is deemed executed within this section, when, Ibid. The court must find probable truth in the allegations of petition before impaneling jury: Hallyburton v. Slagle, 132-957. A claim for betterments set up in answer is no counterclaim such as to prevent plaintiff taking nonsuit: Rumbough v. Young, 119-567. Claim for betterments under this statute cannot be set up on trial to defeat plaintiff's recovery, but by petition after judgment declaring plaintiff owner of land: Wood v. Tinsley, 138-507; but see Casey v. Cooper, 99-395. When claim for betterments set up in pleadings it must be found as an issue on trial or it is lost: Casey v. Cooper, 99-395. In ejection a writ of ouster should not issue until judgment for betterments paid: Bond v. Wilson, 129-325.

AS TO DEFENDANT'S GOOD FAITH. No betterments allowed unless defendant shows his good faith in holding the land: Hallyburton v. Slagle, 132-957; see, also, Johnston v. Pate, 95-68; Merritt v. Scott, 81-385—and this means not only his belief but reasonable grounds for his belief in his title: Pritchard v. Williams, 176-108; Faison v. Kelly, 149-282; Alston v. Connell, 145-1; R. R. v. McCaskill, 98-526. Reasonableness of belief is a fact to be found by the jury; and defendant may testify: R. R. v. McCaskill, 98-526—proper issues to be submitted: Pritchard v. Williams, 176-108. The notice which bars one's right to betterments is the existence of such facts and circumstances as might reasonably suggest to the ordinary citizen serious defects in his own title: R. R. v. McCaskill, 98-526. Cases where held petitioner had no reasonable ground of belief: Wood v. Tinsley, 138-507; Finch v. Strickland, 132-103; Bird v. Gilliam, 125-76; Browne v. Davis, 109-23; Gudger v. R. R., 106-481; Scott v. Battle, 85-184; Wharton v. Moore, 84-479. Cases where held petitioner had reasonable ground: Justice v. Baxter, 93-405; but see Wood v. Tinsley, 138-507; Railroad v. McCaskill, 98-526; Pritchard v. Williams, 176-108.

Cases where parties have entered into possession and made improvements under void or voidable contracts to convey, or under void deeds or on account of promises to give the land in which equity would not allow vendor to recover without repaying purchase money and paying for betterments: Ballard v. Boyette, 171-24; Gann v. Spencer, 167-429; Daniel v. Dixon, 163-137; Kelly v. Johnson, 135-647; Taylor v. Brinkley, 131-8; Bond v. Wilson, 129-325; Luton v. Badham, 127-96; Pass v. Brooks, 125-129; Andrews v. Andrews, 122-352; Field v. Moody, 111-353; Vann v. Newsom, 110-122; Rumbough v. Young, 119-567; Pitt v. Moore, 99-85; Hedgpepeth v. Rose, 95-41; Casey v. Cooper, 99-395; Tucker v. Markland, 101-422; Reed v. Exum, 84-430; Scott v. Battle, 85-184; Smith v. Stewart, 83-406; Daniel v. Crumpler, 75-184; Love v. Neilson, 54-339; Thomas v. Kyles, 54-302; Chambers v. Massey, 42-286; Albea v. Griffin, 22-9—but since equity follows the law, as to such contracts subsequent to passage of Connor act it is held betterments not allowed under this statute against purchaser from vendor who has registered his deed, Wood v. Tinsley, 138-507. Other cases of minor importance: Harrington v. Rawls, 136-66; Smith v. Ingram, 132-959.

700. Annual value of land and waste charged against defendant. The jury, in assessing the damages, shall estimate against the defendant the clear annual value of the premises during the time he was in possession, exclusive of the use of the improvements thereon made by himself or those under whom he claims, and also the damages for waste or other injury to the premises committed by the defendant. The defendant is not liable for the annual value or for damages for waste or other injury for any longer time than three years before the suit, unless he claims for improvements.

Rev., ss. 653-4; Code, ss. 474-5; 1871-2, c. 147, ss. 2-3.

Cases directly upholding section: Jones v. Coffey, 109-515; Sherrill v. Connor, 107-630; Barker v. Owen, 93-198; Johnson v. Armfield, 130-575; Bond v. Wilson, 129-325; Pass v. Brooks, 125-129; Wetherell v. Gorman, 74-603; Reed v. Exum, 84-430; Smith v. Stewart, 83-

406. The defendant is not liable for rents, etc., for more than three years unless he claims betterments, and in that case the rents, etc., beyond three years are to be set off against betterments: King v. Bynum, 137-491; Whitfield v. Boyd, 158-451; Pritchard v. Williams, 176-108. Other cases of interest: Browne v. Davis, 112-227; Morisey v. Swinson, 104-555.

701. Value of improvements estimated. If the jury is satisfied that the defendant, or those under whom he claims, made on the premises, at a time when there was reason to believe the title good under which he or they were holding the premises, permanent and valuable improvements, they shall estimate in his favor the value of the improvements made before notice, in writing, of the title under which the plaintiff claims, not exceeding the amount actually expended in making them and not exceeding the amount to which the value of the premises is actually increased thereby at the time of the assessment.

For annotations as to bona fide belief as to title, see section 699. The valuation should be based, not upon the cost of improvement, but upon the enhancement of the value of the land thereby: Whitfield v. Boyd, 158-451; Johnson v. Armfield, 130-576; Railroad v. McCaskill, 98-526; Reed v. Exum, 84-430; White v. Jones, 88-181; Smith v. Stewart, 83-406; Hill v. Brower, 76-126—and this without reference to whether betterments are of any value to true owner, Railroad v. McCaskill, 98-526. The notice prescribed by the statute as a bar to compensation for improvements is defined in Railroad v. McCaskill, 98-526.

702. Improvements to balance rents. If the sum estimated for the improvements exceeds the damages estimated against the defendant as aforesaid, the jury shall then estimate against him for any time before the said three years the rents and profits accrued against or damages for waste or other injury done by him, or those under whom he claims, so far as is necessary to balance his claim for improvements; but the defendant in such case shall not be liable for the excess, if any, of such rents, profits, or damages beyond the value of improvements.

This section directly supported by Barker v. Owen, 93-198; Sherrill v. Connor, 107-630; Whitfield v. Boyd, 158-451.

703. Verdict, judgment, and lien. After offsetting the damages assessed for the plaintiff, and the allowances to the defendant for any improvements, the jury shall find a verdict for the balance for the plaintiff or defendant, as the case may be, and judgment shall be entered therefor according to the verdict. Any such balance due to the defendant is a lien upon the land recovered by the plaintiff until it is paid.

Rev., ss. 657-8; Code, ss. 478-9; 1871-2, c. 147, ss. 67.

The sum adjudged to the defendant for the improvements as a lien on the land: Barker v. Owen, 93-198. Whether judgment can be a lien on the right of way of a railroad, discussed in Railroad v. McCaskill, 98-538. As to improvements being an equitable lien, see Vann v. Newsum, 110-129, and cases cited under section 699.

704. Life tenant recovers from remainderman. If the plaintiff claims only an estate for life in the land recovered and pays any sum allowed to the defendant for improvements, he or his personal representative may recover at the determination of his estate from the remainderman or reversioner, the value of the said improvements as they then exist, not exceeding the amount as paid by him, and he has a lien therefor on the premises as if they had been mortgaged for the payment thereof, and may keep possession of said premises until it is paid.

Rev., s. 659; Code, s. 480; 1871-2, c. 147, s. 8.

705. Value of premises without improvements. When the defendant claims allowance for improvements, the plaintiff may by entry on the record require that the value of his estate in the premises without the improvements shall also be ascertained. The value of the premises in such cases shall be estimated as it would have been at the time of the inquiry, if no such improvements had been made by the tenant or any person under whom he claims, and shall be ascertained in the manner hereinbefore provided for estimating the value of improvements.

Rev., ss. 661-2; Code, ss. 482-3; 1871-2, c. 147, ss. 10-11.

706. Plaintiff's election that defendant take premises. The plaintiff in such case, if judgment is rendered for him, may, at any time during the same term, or before judgment is rendered on the assessment of the value of the improvements, in person or by his attorney in the cause, enter on the record his election to relinquish his estate in the premises to the defendant at the value as ascertained, and the defendant shall thenceforth hold all the estate that the plaintiff had therein at the commencement of the suit, if he pays therefor the said value with interest in the manner ordered by the court.

Rev., s. 663; Code, s. 484; 1871-2, c. 147, s. 12.

Plaintiff can elect to take value of his interest unimproved by defendant: Barker v. Owen, 93-198. Section referred to in Carter v. Long, 114-187.

707. Payment made to court; land sold on default. The payment must be made to the plaintiff, or into court for his use, and the land is bound therefor, and if the defendant fails to make the payment within or at the times limited therefor, the court may order the land sold and the proceeds applied to the payment of said value and interest, and any surplus to be paid to the defendant; but if the net proceeds are insufficient to satisfy the said value and interest, the defendant is not bound for the deficiency.

Rev., s. 664; Code, s. 485; 1871-2, c. 147, s. 13.

Section referred to in Barker v. Owen, 93-202.

708. If plaintiff is a married woman, minor or insane. If the party by or for whom the land is claimed in the suit is a married woman, minor, or insane person, such value is deemed to be real estate, and shall be disposed of as the court considers proper for the benefit of the persons interested therein.

Rev., s. 665; Code, s. 486; 1871-2, c. 147, s. 14.

709. Defendant evicted, may recover from plaintiff. If the defendant, his heirs or assigns, after the premises are so relinquished to him, is evicted by force of a better title than that of the original plaintiff, the person so evicted may recover from the plaintiff or his representatives the amount paid for the premises, as so much money had and received by the plaintiff in his lifetime for the use of such person, with lawful interest thereon from the time of the payment.

Rev., s. 666; Code, s. 487; 1871-2, c. 147, s. 15.

710. Not applicable to suit by mortgagee. Nothing in this article applies to any suit brought by a mortgagee or his heirs or assigns against a mortgagor or his heirs or assigns for the recovery of the mortgaged premises.

Rev., s. 660; Code, s. 481; 1871-2, c. 147, s. 9.

Improvements placed upon land by mortgagor become additional security for the debt, and he can set up no claim for betterments: Wharton v. Moore, 84-479.

ART. 30. SUPPLEMENTAL PROCEEDINGS

711. Execution unsatisfied, debtor ordered to answer. When an execution against property of a judgment debtor, or any one of several debtors in the same judgment, issued to the sheriff of the county where he resides or has a place of business, or if he does not reside in the state, to the sheriff of the county where a judgment roll or a transcript of a justice's judgment is filed, is returned wholly or partially unsatisfied, the judgment creditor at any time after the return, and within three years from the time of issuing the execution, is entitled to an order from the court to which the execution is returned or from the judge thereof, requiring such debtor to appear and answer concerning his property before such court or judge, at a time and place specified in the order, within the county to which the execution was issued.

Rev., s. 667; Code, s. 488, subsec. 1; C. C. P., s. 264; 1868-9, c. 95, s. 2.

GENERAL NATURE OF PROCEEDINGS. Proceedings supplemental to execution are in the nature of an equitable execution: Vegetahn v. Smith, 95-254; see, also, Coates v. Wilkes, 92-376—and may also be regarded in the nature of a creditor's bill, Munds v. Cassidey, 98-558; Bronson v. Ins. Co., 85-413; Rand v. Rand, 78-12; Carson v. Oates, 64-115. Such proceedings cannot be had in the supreme court: Phillips v. Trezevant, 70-176. Where, pending proceedings, judgment becomes barred by the statute, no bar to proceeding: Coates v. Wilkes, 94-174. Effect of death of judgment debtor upon supplementary proceedings: Rankin v. Minor, 72-424; Carson v. Oates, 64-115. A judgment, whether just or unjust, can be enforced by execution and supplementary proceedings: Heggie v. B. and L. Assn., 107-581—and not collaterally attacked, Ibid.

This section confers upon the clerk authority to hear and allow or disallow the motion of the plaintiff for an order requiring defendants to "appear and answer": Bank v. Burns, 107-466. The fact that sheriff has alias executions in his hands unreturned issued on same judgment is no bar to supplementary proceedings thereon: Vegetahn v. Smith, 95-254. When clerk informed that similar proceedings pending before judge, he should refuse to proceed, and, failing to do so, the judge has power to order that he desist: Ledford v. Emerson, 143-527.

Supplementary proceedings lie against private corporations: LaFountain v. Underwriters, 79-514—against a lunatic where debt contracted prior to his lunacy, Blake v. Respass, 77-193—but whether against municipalities, quere, Winslow v. Comrs., 64-218. Only the judgment creditors instituting the proceedings are entitled to the order: Righton v. Pruden, 73-61; LaFountain v. Underwriters, 79-514—and they get priority of lien, Parks v. Sprinkle, 64-637. Joint debtors can be examined hereunder: Weiller v. Lawrence, 81-65; see section 713—also assignees, Bruce v. Crabtree, 116-528.

PROCEDURE. No demand necessary before making application for order: Weiller v. Lawrence, 81-65. Proceedings should be brought where judgment rendered: Hutchison v. Symons, 67-156; Hasty v. Simpson, 77-69—but place designated where defendant shall appear shall be within defendant's county, Ibid. Notice must be given debtor: Hinsdale v. Underwood, 116-593; Wright v. R. R., 141-168; Turner v. Holden, 109-182. Notice may be served, how: Turner v. Holden, 109-182. As to time given by notice to appear, see Weiller v. Lawrence, 81-65. General appearance waives notice: Hinsdale v. Underwood, 116-593. The evidence should be taken down in writing: Coates v. Wilkes, 92-376. No appeal lies to supreme court from order requiring debtor to appear made hereunder: Bruce v. Crabtree, 116-528; but see Ledford v. Emerson, 143-537—but does lie to the judge of superior court from the clerk, Bank v. Burns, 107-465.

See generally: Rand v. Rand, 78-12; Hinsdale v. Sinclair, 83-338; Magruder v. Shelton, 98-545; Munds v. Cassidey, 98-558; Coates v. Wilkes, 92-376.

THE AFFIDAVIT HEREUNDER. Question of whether affidavit necessary discussed in Hinsdale v. Sinclair, 83-341. The affidavit should state that the execution is returned unsatisfied and that the defendant has property and choses in action which ought to be subjected to the payment of the judgment: Hutchison v. Symons, 67-156; Hinsdale v. Sinclair, 83-338. Section merely referred to in Walston v. Bryan, 64-764.

712. Property withheld from execution; proceedings. After the issuing of an execution against property, and upon proof by affidavit of a party, his agent or attorney, to the satisfaction of the court or a judge thereof, that any judgment debtor residing in the judicial district where such judge or sheriff resides has property which he unjustly refuses to apply toward the satisfaction of the judgment, such court or judge may, by order, require the judgment debtor to appear at a specified time and place, to answer concerning the same; and proceedings may thereupon be had for the application of the property of the judgment debtor towards the satisfaction of the judgment as provided upon the return of an execution, and the judgment creditor is entitled to the order of examination under this and the preceding section, although the judgment debtor has an equitable estate in land subject to the lien of the judgment, or chases in action, or other things of value unaffected by the lien of the judgment and incapable of levy.

As to procedure hereunder, see under section 711. The purpose of supplemental proceedings is to give the creditor a remedy only in case debtor has no known property liable to execution or to what is in the nature of an execution, proceedings to enforce its sale: Hutchison v. Symons, 67-156—and to give him a substitute for the method of granting relief in equity when remedy by execution exhausted: Coates v. Wilkes, 92-376; see, also, Munds v. Cassidey, 98-558; Hinsdale v. Sinclair, 83-338; McKeithan v. Walker, 66-95. Supplementary proceedings may be commenced before sale of the property levied on: McKeithan v. Walker, 66-95.

THE AFFIDAVIT HEREUNDER. Must state that debtor has no known property liable to execution, and that he has property or chases in action which he unjustly refuses to apply to the satisfaction of the judgment: Hutchison v. Symons, 67-156; Bank v. Burns, 109-105; Hackney v. Arrington, 99-110; Hinsdale v. Sinclair, 83-338—and need not state or aver the nonexistence of an equitable estate within the lien of the judgment or the existence of property, chases in action and things of value unaffected by any lien and incapable of levy: Hackney v. Arrington, 99-110; Bank v. Burns, 109-105; rendering obsolete, as to these points, Magruder v. Shelton, 98-545; Hinsdale v. Sinclair, 83-338; Weiller v. Lawrence, 81-65. For affidavits that are approved, see Bank v. Burns, 109-105. As to verification of affidavit, see Young v. Rollins, 85-485.

713. Proceedings against joint debtors. Proceedings supplemental to execution may be taken upon the return of an execution unsatisfied, issued upon a judgment recovered in an action against joint debtors, in which some of the defendants have not been served with the summons by which the action was commenced, so far as relates to the joint property of such debtors; and all actions by creditors to obtain satisfaction of judgments out of the property of joint debtors are maintainable in like manner and to the like effect. These provisions apply to all proceedings and actions pending and to those terminated by final decree or judgment.

Rev., s. 669; Code, s. 490; C. C. P., s. 266; 1869-70, c. 79, s. 2; 1870-1, c. 245.

For procedure hereunder, see under section 711. Section merely referred to in Wright v. R. R., 141-168; Mayo v. Staton, 137-679; Coates v. Wilkes, 94-180.

714. Debtor leaving state, or concealing himself, arrested; bond. Instead of the order requiring the attendance of the judgment debtor, the court or judge may, upon proof by affidavit or otherwise to his satisfaction that there is danger of the debtor leaving the state or concealing himself, and that there is reason to believe that he has property which he unjustly refuses to apply to the judgment, issue a warrant requiring the sheriff of any county where such debtor is to arrest him and bring him before the court or judge. Upon being brought before the court or judge, the debtor may be examined on oath, and, if it appears that there is danger of his leaving the state, and that he has property which he has unjustly refused to apply to the judgment, he shall be ordered to enter into an undertaking, with one or more sureties, that he will, from time to time, attend before the court or judge as directed, and that he will not, during the pendency of the proceedings, dispose of any property not exempt from execution. In default of entering into such undertaking, he may be committed to prison by warrant of the court or judge, as for contempt.

Rev., s. 671; Code, s. 488, subsec. 4; 1868-9, c. 148, s. 4; 1868-9, c. 277, s. 8.

715. Examination of parties and witnesses. On examination under this article either party may examine witnesses in his behalf, and the judgment debtor may be examined in the same manner as a witness; and the party or witnesses may be required to appear before the court or judge, or a referee appointed by either, and testify on any proceedings under this article in the same manner as upon the trial of an issue. If before a referee, the examination shall be taken by the referee, and certified to the court or judge. All examinations and answers before a court or judge or referee under this article must be on oath, except that when a corporation answers, the answer shall be on the oath of an officer thereof.

Rev., ss. 670, 676; Code, s. 488 (subsec. 2), 491, 492; C. C. P., ss. 264, 267, 268; 1868-9, c. 95, s. 2; 1871-2, c. 245.

Where judgment debtor is examined, the creditor does not make him his witness, but may cross-examine and contradict him: Coates v. Wilkes, 92-376. The party and witness must appear before referee when so required: Hasty v. Simpson, 77-69. The evidence should be taken down in writing: Coates v. Wilkes, 92-376. Where party or witness refuses to answer questions the court, and not the referee acting alone, should punish for contempt: Fertilizer Co. v. Taylor, 112-141; LaFountain v. Underwriters, 83-132; see section 727.

716. Incriminating answers not privileged; not used in criminal proceedings. No person, on examination pursuant to this article, is excused from answering any question on the ground that it will tend to convict him of the commission of a crime or that he has, before the examination, executed any conveyance, assignment or transfer of his property for any purpose, but his answer shall not be used as evidence against him in any criminal proceeding or prosecution.

Rev., s. 672; Code, s. 488, subsec. 5; C. C. P., s. 264; 1868-9, c. 95, s. 2.

Witness cannot excuse himself from answering on the ground that his answer may incriminate him: LaFountain v. Underwriters, 83-132; referred to in concurring opinion of Walker, J., in In re Briggs, 135-144. Facts developed on examination in supplementary proceedings are forbidden to be used in evidence in criminal prosecution: State v. Mallett, 125-718. Section merely referred to: Harper v. Pinkston, 112-302.

717. Disposition of property forbidden. The court or judge may, by order, forbid a transfer or other disposition of, or any interference with, the property of the judgment debtor not exempt from execution.

Rev., s. 673; Code, ss. 488 (subsec. 6), 494; C. C. P., s. 264; 1868-9, c. 95, s. 2.

See generally: Coates Bros. v. Wilkes, 92-376; Rose v. Baker, 99-323; Ross v. Ross, 119-109; Phillips v. Trezevant, 70-176; Hogan v. Kirkland, 64-250.

718. Debtors of judgment debtor may satisfy execution. After the issuing of an execution against property, all persons indebted to the judgment debtor, or to any one of several debtors in the same judgment, may pay to the sheriff the amount of their debt, or as much thereof as is necessary to satisfy the execution; and the sheriff's receipt is a sufficient discharge for the amount paid.

Rev., s. 674; Code, s. 489; C. C. P., s. 265.

The sheriff is not hereby invested with power to apply the proceeds of one execution in satisfaction of another: Smith v. McMillan, 84-593. As to applying funds to payment of costs, see Clerk's Office v. Bank, 66-214. Section referred to in Parks v. Adams, 113-477.

719. Debtors of judgment debtor, summoned. After the issuing or return of an execution against property of the judgment debtor, or of any one of several debtors in the same judgment, and upon affidavit that any person or corporation has property of said judgment debtor, or is indebted to him in an amount exceeding ten dollars, the court or judge may, by order, require such person or corporation, or any officer or members thereof, to appear at a specified time and place, and answer concerning the same. The court or judge may also, in its or his discretion, require notice of the proceeding to be given to any party to the action, in such manner as seems proper.

Rev., s. 675; Code, s. 490; C. C. P., s. 266; 1869-70, c. 79, s. 2; 1870-1, c. 245.

The issuance of notice to judgment debtor hereunder is in court's discretion: Wilmington v. Sprunt, 114-310. Procedure under this section partially outlined in Rice v. Jones, 103-226. Assignee of judgment debtor can be examined hereunder: Bruce v. Crabtree, 116-528—also joint debtors, Weiller v. Lawrence, 81-65. From an order for the examination of a person hereunder there is no appeal: Bruce v. Crabtree, 116-528. Persons summoned hereunder who claim an interest in the property themselves may so suggest: Bank v. Burns, 109-109. Nature of indebtedness to defendant that can be subjected to satisfaction of execution: In re Davis, 81-72; Sutton v. Askew, 66-178; Rice v. Jones, 103-226. Creditors cannot compel parties for whom debtor has rendered gratuitous services to pay for such services: Osborne v. Wilkes, 108-651; approved in Markham v. Whitehurst, 109-309; Guano Co. v. Colwell, 177-218. Section referred to in Mayo v. Staton, 137-679; Bank v. Burns, 109-109.

720. Where proceedings instituted and defendant examined. Proceedings supplemental to execution must be instituted in the county in which the judgment was rendered; but the place designated where the defendant must appear and answer must be within the county where he resides.

This section enacted in accordance with Hasty v. Simpson, 77-69. See, also, Hutchison v. Symons, 67-156.

721. Debtor's property ordered sold. The court or judge may order any property, whether subject or not to be sold under execution (except the homestead and personal property exemptions of the judgment debtor), in the hands of the judgment debtor or of any other person, or due to the judgment debtor, to be applied towards the satisfaction of the judgment; except that the earnings of the debtor for his personal services, at any time within sixty days next preceding the order, cannot be so applied when it appears, by the debtor's affidavit or otherwise, that these earnings are necessary for the use of a family supported wholly or partly by his labor.

Rev., s. 678; Code, s. 493; C. C. P., s. 269; 1870-1, c. 245.

The exemption of earnings for sixty days does not apply to enforcement of payment of taxes: Wilmington v. Sprunt, 114-310. The earnings of a nonresident for personal services for the sixty days next preceding are exempt from seizure: Goodwin v. Claytor, 137-224; Wierse v. Thomas, 145-261. As to allowing interpleader as to the real ownership of funds: Wilson v. Chichester, 107-386—and as to the ownership of debts, Williams v. Green, 68-183.

Section merely referred to: Wright v. R. R., 141-168; Rice v. Jones, 103-231.

722. Receiver appointed. The court or judge having jurisdiction over the appointment of receivers may also by order in like manner, and with like authority, appoint a receiver in proceedings under this article of the property of the judgment debtor, whether subject or not to be sold under execution, except the homestead and personal property exemptions. But before the appointment of the receiver, the court or judge shall ascertain if practicable, by the oath of the party or otherwise, whether any other supplementary proceedings are pending against the judgment debtor, and if so, the plaintiff therein shall have notice to appear before him, and shall likewise have notice of all subsequent proceedings in relation to the receivership. No more than one receiver of the property of a judgment debtor shall be appointed. The title of the receiver relates back to the service of the restraining order, herein provided for.

Rev., s. 679; Code, s. 494; C. C. P., s. 270; 1870-1, c. 245; 1876-7, c. 223; 1879, c. 63; 1881, c. 51.

For statutes regulating receivers, see this chapter, Art. 37, and Corporations, Art. 10.

Motion for receiver may be made before the judge while appeal from clerk on other questions pending: Coates v. Wilkes, 92-376. Receiver appointed by whom: Corbin v. Berry, 83-27; Parks v. Sprinkle, 64-637 (but notice effect of amendment adding words "court or"); see, also, Bank v. Burns, 107-465, and cases cited under section 859—appointed, when, Rodman v. Harvey, 102-1, citing Coates v. Wilkes, 92-376. Only one receiver appointed: Corbin v. Berry, 83-31.

Where upon examination clerk finds a specific fund in defendant's hands which belongs to plaintiff, and his finding is approved by the judge, no receiver should be appointed: Ross v. Ross, 119-109. As between several receivers hereunder, semble, the one who was first applied for takes precedence: Parks v. Sprinkle, 64-637. Where it is ascertained that there are several proceedings pending against the debtor to subject his property to the payment of debts, the court should, in proper cases, consolidate them, preserving the priorities acquired: Monroe v. Lewald, 107-655. Duty of receiver hereunder the same as receivers under the general law: Weill v. Bank, 106-10; Coates v. Wilkes, 92-376; see sections 859-862 and 1208-1217. Legal effect upon the property of the debtor when receiver appointed: Wilson v. Chichester, 107-386; Rose v. Baker, 99-323; Turner v. Holden, 94-70; Rankin v. Minor, 72-424. Where fund was adjudged in supplementary proceedings to be the plaintiff's and it was paid into court, when another claimed it, the clerk should not have appointed a receiver, but allowed other claimant to interplead in the proceeding: Wilson v. Chichester, 107-386. Failure of judge to ascertain as to whether other proceedings pending does not require reversal of his appointment: Corbin v. Berry, 83-27.

723. Filing and record of appointment; property vests in receiver. When the court or a judge grants an order for the appointment of a receiver of the property of the judgment debtor, it shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county where the judgment roll in the action or transcript from justice's judgment, upon which the proceedings are taken, is filed; and the clerk shall record the order in a book to be kept for that purpose in his office, to be called Book of Orders Appointing Receivers of Judgment Debtors, and shall note the time of its filing therein. A certified copy of the order shall be delivered to the receiver named therein, and he is vested with the property and effects of the judgment debtor from the time of the service of the restraining order, if such restraining order has been made, and if not, from the time of the filing and recording of the order for the appointment of a receiver. The receiver of the judgment debtor is subject to the direction and control of the court in which the judgment was obtained upon which the proceedings are founded.

For appointment, and duties and powers of receivers generally, see sections 722, 859-862 and 1208-1217.

The effect of granting a restraining order or appointing a receiver is to vest the receiver with the property and effects of debtor from time of the filing of the order: Rose v. Baker, 99-323; Turner v. Holden, 94-70; Wilson v. Chichester, 107-386. Effect of death of judgment debtor before appointment of receiver or the filing of appointment according to this section: Rankin v. Minor, 72-424. Effect of payment of plaintiff creditor before receiver files bond: Righton v. Pruden, 73-61.

724. Where order of appointment recorded. Before the receiver is vested with any real property of the judgment debtor, a certified copy of the order of appointment must be filed and recorded on the execution docket, in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which any real estate of the judgment debtor is situated, and also in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the debtor resides.

Effect of death of judgment debtor before the filing hereunder: Rankin v. Minor, 72-424.

725. Receiver to sue debtors of judgment debtor. If it appears that a person or corporation alleged to have property of the judgment debtor, or indebted to him, claims an interest in the property adverse to him, or denies the debt, such interest or debt is recoverable only in an action against such person or corporation by the receiver; but the court or judge may, by order, forbid a transfer or other disposition of such property or interest till a sufficient opportunity is given to the receiver to commence and prosecute the action to judgment and execution, but such order may at any time be modified or dissolved by the court or judge having jurisdiction, on such security as he directs.

Rev., s. 682; Code, s. 497; C. C. P., s. 271; 1870-1, c. 245.

Receiver can bring action without special leave of court: Weill v. Bank, 106-1. Under this section when a third party claims an interest in the property or denies the debt which is sought by plaintiff to be applied to his judgment, the court may restrain the transfer of such property till receiver can bring action to recover it: Ross v. Ross, 119-112; Bank v. Burns, 109-109—but such action is brought by receiver as agent for the court, and is a different matter from restraining a conveyance until plaintiff can bring independent action: Ross v. Ross, 119-112. Where the property or money has been turned over to the clerk, after having been adjudged to belong to plaintiff, a third party claiming it should interplead, and no receiver should be appointed: Wilson v. Chichester, 107-386; Munds v. Cassidey, 98-558. Restraining order hereunder cannot be issued unless person restrained has been made a party in some way: Coates v. Wilkes, 94-174.

726. Reference. The court or judge may, in his discretion, order a reference to a referee agreed upon by the parties, or appointed by him, to report the evidence or the facts. The appointment of the referee may be made in the first order or at any time.

Rev., s. 683; Code, s. 498; C. C. P., s. 272.

See sections 574-579 as to referees generally; also section 715.

727. Disobedience of orders punished as for contempt. Any person, party or witness, who disobeys an order of the court or judge or referee, duly served, may be punished by the judge as for a contempt. In all cases of commitment under this article the person committed may, in case of inability to perform the act required, or to endure the imprisonment, be discharged from imprisonment by the judge committing him, or the judge having jurisdiction, on such terms as are just.

Rev., s. 684; Code, s. 500; C. C. P., s. 274; 1869-70, c. 79, s. 3.

See, also, sections 978-985. Cases where contempt hereunder is discussed: LaFountain v. Underwriters, 83-132; Fertilizer Co. v. Taylor, 112-141; Ross v. Ross, 119-109; In re Davis, 81-72; Bond v. Bond, 69-97. Party offering affidavits to show his inability to comply with court's order and asking discharge from liability for contempt, judge should have heard and passed upon the affidavits: Childs v. Wiseman, 119-497.

SUBCHAPTER XI. HOMESTEAD AND EXEMPTIONS

ART. 31. PROPERTY EXEMPT FROM EXECUTION

728. Property exempted. The homestead and personal property exemptions as defined and declared by the article of the state constitution entitled Homesteads and Exemptions are exempt from sale under execution and other final process, as provided in the state constitution: Provided, the allotment of the homestead shall, as to all property therein embraced, suspend the running of the statute of limitations on all judgments against the homesteader during the continuance of the homestead: Provided, further, the owners of judgments docketed since March eleventh, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five, have two years from the first day of April, one thousand nine hundred and one, within which to assign and set apart their homesteads under such judgments.

Rev., s. 685; Code, s. 501; 1885, c. 359; 1887, c. 17; 1895, c. 397; 1901, c. 612; 1879, c. 256; R. C., c. 45, s. 7; 1848, c. 38; R. C., c. 45, s. 8; 1844, c. 32; 1846, c. 53; 1848, c. 38, s. 2; 1866-7, c. 61, s. 7; 1876-7, c. 263.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS. Exemptions relate only to the remedy, and the right to an exemption is subject to the law of the forum: Goodwin v. Claytor, 137-224. Exemption laws of this state cannot protect judgment debtor's property in another state against the operation of its laws; have no extra-territorial effect, Sexton v. Ins. Co., 132-3; Balk v. Harris, 122-64. Presumption is in favor of an exemption, and creditor relying on his debt being excepted from those against which exemption can be allotted must bring himself within the exception by proper averment and proof: Mebane v. Layton, 89-396. A resident may be enjoined from prosecuting action in another state for the purpose of evading the exemption laws of this state: Wierse v. Thomas, 145-261—and where debtor ceased to be resident before property belonging to him became applicable to a creditor's claim, the general exemption laws of the state do not operate in his favor, Ibid.

The general assembly can neither enlarge nor reduce the homestead or personal property exemption: Rogers v. Kimsey, 101-564; Wharton v. Taylor, 88-230; overruling Martin v. Hughes, 67-293. As to effect of passage of chapter 359 of the Laws of 1885, restoring the lien of a judgment upon a homestead, see Rankin v. Shaw, 94-405; Leak v. Gay, 107-482; Bevan v. Ellis, 121-224; Jones v. Britton, 102-166; Rogers v. Kimsey, 101-559.

As to the legal status of the homestead: Joyner v. Sugg, 132-580; Thomas v. Fulford, 117-671; Vanstory v. Thornton, 112-196; Gheen v. Summey, 80-187; Littlejohn v. Egerton, 77-384; Bank v. Green, 78-247, overruling Poe v. Hardie, 65-447; Kirkwood v. Peden, 173-460.

Defendant in action cannot be precluded from setting up counterclaim because plaintiff does not own $500 in personalty, including debt sued on: Lynn v. Cotton Mills, 130-621. The acquirement by the defendant of an additional interest in land after execution levied in order to entitle him to a homestead, is not a fraud, and homestead should be allotted: Wright v. Bond, 127-39. The reservation of homestead in a conveyance is neither conclusive nor presumptive evidence of fraud: Davis v. Smith, 113-94; Banking Co. v. Whitaker, 110-345. The arrest of a debtor to compel payment of a debt out of property exempt from execution is an abuse of legal process: Lockhart v. Bear, 117-298. The homestead right cannot be destroyed by any irregularity in the proceedings for allotment: Formeyduval v. Rockwell, 117-320. A sale of land without laying off homestead is void: Ferguson v. Wright, 113-537; Fulton v. Roberts, 113-421; see, also, under sections 671, 675, 677.

The reversionary interest in a homestead can be conveyed without grantor's wife joining in the conveyance: Joyner v. Sugg, 132-580, and many cases there cited. A person to whom homestead has not been allotted, and against whom are no liens under which homestead may be allotted, may alien his land, no matter when title acquired, and pass the entire interest and estate therein, including the homestead right (except the right of dower) without the wife joining in conveyance: Scott v. Lane, 109-154; Hughes v. Hodges, 102-236; also see Cawfield v. Owens, 130-641; Dalrymple v. Cole, 170-102; Hall v. Dixon, 174-319; Simmons v. McCullin, 163-409; see, also, cases cited under section 729.

In an action to recover land, if defendant desires to claim homestead, he should make proper averment: Wilson v. Taylor, 98-275. Mortgagor's rights to homestead exonerated: Leak v. Gay, 107-468; Weil v. Uzzell, 92-515; Hinson v. Adrian, 92-121.

WHAT IS A HOMESTEAD. The homestead is an estate: Adrian v. Shaw, 82-474; Stern v. Lee, 115-426—a determinable fee, Poe v. Hardie, 65-447—a stay of execution, Jones v. Britton, 102-168—a determinable exemption from the payment of debts, Bank v. Green, 78-247—a determinable exemption, Fleming v. Graham, 110-374; Sash Co. v. Parker, 153-130; Fulp v. Brown, 153-531; Davenport v. Fleming, 154-291; Caudle v. Morris, 160-168; Kirkwood v. Peden, 173-460—a quality annexed to land, Littlejohn v. Egerton, 77-384; see, also, Hughes v. Hodges, 102-236—a homestead privilege, Simpson v. Wallace, 83-481—the measure of the privilege secured to the debtor, Campbell v. White, 95-345.

WHO ENTITLED TO HOMESTEAD AND PERSONAL PROPERTY EXEMPTIONS. The right of a debtor to a homestead is superior to that of all creditors, except so far as it may be impaired by the voluntary act of claimant: Pope v. Harris, 94-62. A homestead allotted to one not entitled is void and can be attacked collaterally: Williams v. Whitaker, 110-393; Formeyduval v. Rockwell, 117-320.

Party entitled to a homestead where even though in a conveyance reserving the homestead wife did not join: Joyner v. Sugg, 132-580; Jordan v. Newsome, 126-553; Dixon v. Robbins, 114-102—and where at a sale under execution announcement was made that land was sold subject to homestead, Wyche v. Wyche, 85-96; Barrett v. Richardson, 76-429; Lowdermilk v. Corpening, 92-333—but where "what interest defendant has" was sold, and judgment was on a debt contracted prior to 1868, defendant not entitled, Grant v. Edwards, 86-513.

A married woman is entitled to her exemptions in her separate estate: Grocery Co. v. Bails, 177-298; Harvey v. Johnson, 133-352; Bank v. Ireland, 127-238; Rawlings v. Neal, 126-271; Bailey v. Barron, 112-54; Flaum v. Wallace, 103-296—though where conveyance of land to her by her husband is in fraud of creditors of her husband and invalid, she cannot claim, Ritch v. Oates, 122-631.

A party is estopped from claiming homestead who has waived it or properly conveyed the property; and as to what does or does not constitute such waiver or conveyance: Simmons v. McCullin, 163-409; Dixon v. Robbins, 114-102; Ritch v. Oates, 122-631; Wittkowsky v. Gidney, 124-437; Mitchell v. Eure, 126-77; Morrisett v. Ferebee, 120-6; Fleming v. Graham, 110-374; Dickens v. Long, 109-165; Scott v. Lane, 109-154; Hughes v. Hodges, 102-236; Simpson v. Houston, 97-344; Adrian v. Shaw, 82-474; Abbott v. Cromartie, 72-292; Jenkins v. Bobbitt, 77-385; Beavan v. Speed, 74-544; Lambert v. Kinnery, 74-348; Mayho v. Cotton, 69-289.

The widow is entitled to the extension of the homestead right of the husband, if he dies leaving debts: Thomas v. Bunch, 158-175; Fulp v. Brown, 153-531; Finley v. Saunders, 98-463; Smith v. McDonald, 95-163; Hager v. Nixon, 69-108; Watts v. Leggett, 66-197; see section 748—provided there are no children of said husband, Simmons v. Respass, 151-5; Campbell v. Potts, 119-530; Formeyduval v. Rockwell, 117-320; Williams v. Whitaker, 110-393; Saylor v. Powell, 90-202; Simpson v. Wallace, 83-477; Wharton v. Leggett, 80-169—and if he is the owner at the time of his death, Thomas v. Bunch, 158-175—and even if husband during his life had a homestead allotted, Smith v. McDonald, 95-163. The homestead, whether laid off to husband or to his widow, cannot be divested in favor of heir by extinguishment of deceased husband's debts: Tucker v. Tucker, 103-170. Wife and children succeed to the homestead when father dies a resident of the state: Finley v. Saunders, 98-462—but when father dies a nonresident, wife and children not entitled, even though they remain resident, Ibid. The widow is not entitled to the personal property exemption: Smith v. McDonald, 95-163.

Minor children are entitled to homestead: Welch v. Macy, 78-240; but see Dickens v. Long, 112-311—but not to personal property exemptions, Welch v. Macy, 78-240; Bruton v. McRae, 125-210—and the former is so regardless of their pecuniary circumstances, Spence v. Goodwin, 128-273; Allen v. Shields, 72-504—and if there are children of age and one minor the homestead vests in the minor, Simpson v. Wallace, 83-477; Saylor v. Powell, 90-202; Bruton v. McRae, 125-206—and if there is a widow who has had dower assigned, the minor children are entitled to a homestead sub modo in the same land, Watts v. Leggett, 66-197; Graves v. Hines, 108-262; Morrisett v. Ferebee, 120-8—and a guardian ad litem cannot waive infant's right thereto, Spence v. Goodwin, 128-273. Where infant heirs allowed judgment that ancestor's land be sold for assets, without claiming homestead, they are estopped from claiming it: Morrisett v. Ferebee, 120-6.

A bankrupt is entitled: Murray v. Hazell, 99-172; Lamb v. Chamness, 84-379; Windley v. Tankard, 88-223. A purchaser of land under an executory contract who has paid part of price is entitled, subject to lien for unpaid purchase money: Dortch v. Benton, 98-190. A fraudulent grantor of land is entitled as against creditors: Rose v. Bryan, 157-173; McGowan v. McGowan, 122-168; Cowan v. Phillips, 122-70; Whitehead v. Spivey, 103-66; Hughes v. Hodges, 102-236; Benton v. Collins, 125-83; Dortch v. Benton, 98-190; Rankin v. Shaw, 94-405; Arnold v. Estis, 92-162; Burton v. Spiers, 87-87; Duval v. Rollins, 71-218; Gaster v. Hardie, 75-460; Crummen v. Bennett, 68-494.

An unmarried man is entitled: Gardner v. Batts, 114-496. An assignee of an unallotted exemption in personalty from an assignor who becomes a nonresident before allotment is not entitled: Latta v. Bell, 122-639. A tenant is not entitled to his personalty exemption out of crops till landlord's lien paid: Hamer v. McCall, 121-196. The burden is upon the one claiming exemption in lands sold under execution to show that no homestead has been allotted to him: Marshburn v. Lashlie, 122-237; Fulton v. Roberts, 113-421; Dickens v. Long, 109-165; Mobley v. Griffin, 104-112. One who alleges title to property in another is entitled to his exemptions in that property if jury negatives the averment: Etheridge v. Davis, 111-293.

A partner is entitled to his personal property exemption out of partnership property before debt due by him to copartner can be deducted: Evans v. Bryan, 95-174; see Scott v. Kenan, 94-296. The consent of partners is necessary before one can claim exemption: Grocery Co. v. Bails, 177-298; Richardson v. Redd, 118-677; Scott v. Kenan, 94-296; Stout v. McNeill, 98-1; Burns v. Harris, 66-509, 67-140—but this consent can be withdrawn before allotment made, Stout v. McNeill, 98-1. A surviving partner is not entitled out of partnership assets: Commission Co. v. Porter, 122-692. Where one partner purchases from another with the agreement to pay the firm debts out of the firm property, the purchaser cannot claim exemptions in such property: Farmer v. Head, 175-273.

RESIDENCE THE PREREQUISITE. The prime requisite of a homesteader is residence in the state: Jones v. Alsbrook, 115-46; Baker v. Leggett, 98-304; Finley v. Saunders, 98-462; Burgwyn v. Hall, 108-489—and the words "a resident of this state" mean that one must be an actual and not a constructive resident, Lee v. Moseley, 101-311; Munds v. Cassidey, 98-558; Jones v. Alsbrook, 115-46—yet actual absence from the state, when he has the animus revertendi throughout his absence, does not bar his right, Chitty v. Chitty, 118-647; Jones v. Alsbrook, 115-46; but see Lee v. Moseley, 101-311; Munds v. Cassidey, 98-558—and where residence once shown, the burden is on adverse party to show a change: Ferguson v. Wright, 113-537. When residence ceases pointed out in Fulton v. Roberts, 113-422. A fugitive from justice is not a resident of the state so as to entitle him to his exemptions: Cromer v. Self, 149-164 (distinguishing Chitty v. Chitty, 118-647). Effect of party returning to state after property seized by attachment: Baker v. Leggett, 98-304; Watkins v. Overby, 83-165; but see Gamble v. Rhyne, 80-183; also see Abrams v. Pender, 44-260.

AGAINST JUDGMENTS FOR WHAT DEBTS. No homestead can be allotted as against a judgment founded upon a contract made prior to adoption of constitution of 1868: Campbell v. Potts, 119-530; Buie v. Scott, 112-375; Long v. Walker, 105-90; Edwards v. Kearsey, 79-664; Mebane v. Layton, 89-396; Keener v. Goodson, 89-273; Leach v. Jones, 86-404; Dail v. Sugg, 85-104; Carlton v. Watts, 82-212; Earle v. Hardie, 80-177; Gheen v. Summey, 80-188; but see Lowdermilk v. Corpening, 92-333; Gamble v. Rhyne, 80-182; Cobb v. Hallyburton, 92-652—but where debt created before 1868 and closed by note subsequent thereto, or where part of debt created both prior and subsequent thereto, it is otherwise, Arnold v. Estis, 92-162; Wilson v. Patton, 87-318; Long v. Walker, 105-90; see concurring opinion of Clark, J., in Gooch v. Faucett, 122-275.

None can be allotted as against a judgment for the purchase money of the premises: Billings v. Joines, 151-363; Durham v. Wilson, 104-595; Lawson v. Pringle, 98-450; Toms v. Fite, 93-274; Markham v. Hicks, 90-204; Mebane v. Layton, 89-396; Miller v. Miller, 89-402; Smith v. High, 85-93; Durham v. Bostic, 72-353; Whitaker v. Elliott, 73-186; see, also, Brodie v. Batchelor, 75-51; Fox v. Brooks, 88-234; but see Moore v. Ingram, 91-376; Hoskins v. Wall, 77-249—or for taxes, Wilmington v. Sprunt, 114-310; Mebane v. Layton, 89-396—or for mechanics' and laborers' wages, Isler v. Dixon, 140-529; Broyhill v. Gaither, 119-443; Mebane v. Layton, 89-396—or for improvements put upon the land by defendant, Barker v. Owen, 93-198—or for allowances to mother for support of bastard child, State v. Parsons, 115-730—or for a fine and costs, State v. Williams, 97-415—or for costs in partition, Wilson v. Lumber Co., 131-163.

Exemptions can be allotted against judgments for tort: Oakley v. Lasater, 172-96; Gill v. Edwards, 87-76; Dellinger v. Tweed, 66-206—for devastavit, Leach v. Jones, 86-404—on contract of married woman against her separate personal estate where no conveyance to secure, Harvey v. Johnson, 133-352; Bank v. Ireland, 127-238; Grocery Co. v. Bails, 177-298.

WHAT PROPERTY EXEMPT. The amount and character of property allowed by this section at the time the debt was contracted; see Long v. Walker, 105-90; Dail v. Sugg, 85-104; Carlton v. Watts, 82-212; Earle v. Hardie, 80-177—and the date of the judgment will be taken as the date of the debt, unless record shows otherwise, Mebane v. Layton, 89-396; Buie v. Scott, 107-181—but the income from such is not exempt, Bank v. Green, 78-247.

IN WHAT PROPERTY HOMESTEAD ALLOTTED. The land must be owned and occupied by the debtor: Sash Co. v. Parker, 153-130. May be allotted in an equity of redemption: Cheatham v. Jones, 68-153; Montague v. Bank, 118-283; Thurber v. LaRoque, 105-301; Hinson v. Adrian, 92-121—but cannot be allotted in a remainder dependent upon a life estate, Thomas v. Bunch, 158-175; Murchison v. Plyler, 87-79; Stern v. Lee, 115-426—nor in lands against a judgment for its improvement by defendant, Barker v. Owen, 93-198—nor in newly acquired land where already allotted in one tract, to which allotment there has been no exception, Marshburn v. Lashlie, 122-237—nor in a thousand dollars of the proceeds of a sale of land, Oakley v. Van Noppen, 96-247; Campbell v. White, 95-491; but where homestead sold to satisfy debt created before 1868, a thousand dollars of the proceeds, if that sum is left after paying the old debt, will be treated as the homestead, Leak v. Gay, 107-468. Homestead may be allotted in land held by debtor as tenant in common: Kelly v. McLeod, 165-382. Vendee of judgment debtor cannot claim homestead in the land as against the judgment creditor: Sash Co. v. Parker, 153-130.

IN WHAT PROPERTY PERSONAL PROPERTY EXEMPTION ALLOTTED. May be allotted in choses in action: Frost v. Naylor, 68-325—in property upon which there is no lien, if possible, Cowan v. Phillips, 122-70—in property already under attachment, Chemical Co. v. Sloan, 136-122; Gamble v. Rhyne, 80-183; Comrs. v. Riley, 75-144.

Tenant cannot have exemption allotted in crops until landlord's lien discharged: Hamer v. McCall, 121-196.

SUSPENSION OF STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS WHEN HOMESTEAD ALLOTTED. The statute of limitations is suspended by allotment of homestead: Watters v. Hedgpeh, 172-310; Brown v. Harding, 171-686; s. c., 170-253; but only as to the lien upon the homestead land, and if debtor does not own reversion the statute continues to run: Kirkwood v. Peden, 173-460. The amendment of 1885 repealing the clause exempting homesteads from lien of judgments construed: Rankin v. Shaw, 94-405; Leak v. Gay, 107-468.

The suspension does not take place until homestead allotted: Farrar v. Harper, 133-71; McDonald v. Dickson, 85-248. The statute does not run against a judgment, homestead having been allotted, until death of judgment debtor and the coming of age of his youngest child, and the lien continues: Bevan v. Ellis, 121-224; Formeyduval v. Rockwell, 117-320; Jones v. Britton, 102-201—but the homestead must be allotted before expiration of ten years from the docketing; otherwise statute does run, Wilson v. Lumber Co., 131-163; see, also, Farrar v. Harper, 133-71. Where one judgment taken upon another under which the homestead was laid off; effect: Springs v. Pharr, 131-191. A conveyance of homestead now exposes it to sale by judgment creditor, see section 729. In an assignment for the benefit of creditors reserving homestead, if a judgment is afterward taken and docketed and homestead allotted, the statute is not suspended: Hicks v. Wooten, 175-597; Kirkwood v. Peden, 173-460. Since the homestead is not valid against a debt contracted before 1868, the allotment does not suspend the statute: Blow v. Harding, 161-375. A discharge in bankruptcy does not discharge the lien of a judgment upon debtor's homestead: Watters v. Hedgpeth, 172-310.

729. Conveyed homestead not exempt. The allotted homestead is exempt from levy so long as owned and occupied by the homesteader or by any one for him, but when conveyed by him in the mode authorized by the constitution, article ten, section eight, the exemption ceases as to liens attaching prior to the conveyance. The homesteader who has conveyed his allotted homestead may have another allotted, and as often as is necessary. This section shall not have any retroactive effect.

Rev., s. 686; 1905, c. 111.

This section expresses the proper construction of the constitution, art. 10, s. 2: Sash Co. v. Parker, 153-130. This section is not retroactive, and does not apply to homesteads allotted before February 6, 1905: Watters v. Hedgpeth, 172-310; Brown v. Harding, 170-253; s. c., 171-686; Crouch v. Crouch, 160-447; Davenport v. Fleming, 154-291. Upon conveyance by the homesteader the exemption ceases: Caudle v. Morris, 160-168; Crouch v. Crouch, 160-447; Cavanaugh v. Jarman, 164-372. Section cited in Rose v. Bryan, 157-173.

The following decisions touch upon the legislature's power to shorten the duration of the homestead: Kimsey v. Rogers, 101-559; Wharton v. Taylor, 88-230. This section is not retroactive, and the following cases holding that the right of exemption passes with a conveyance of the homestead to the grantee will still be of interest: Bevan v. Ellis, 121-224; Gardner v. Batts, 114-496; Stern v. Lee, 115-426; Vanstory v. Thornton, 112-196; Lane v. Richardson, 101-181; Simpson v. Houston, 97-344; Adrian v. Shaw, 82-474, 84-832; Littlejohn v. Egerton, 77-379; but see Thomas v. Fulford, 117-667; Allen v. Bolen, 114-560; Fleming v. Graham, 110-374. The allotted homestead cannot be conveyed except with the joinder and private examination of the wife: Hall v. Dixon, 174-319; Dalrymple v. Cole, 170-102; s. c., 156-353; Simmons v. McCullin, 163-409; Davenport v. Fleming, 154-291; Joyner v. Sugg, 132-589; Wittkowsky v. Gidney, 124-437; Thomas v. Fulford, 117-667; Fleming v. Graham, 110-374; Hughes v. Hodges, 102-236; Castlebury v. Maynard, 95-281; Lambert v. Kinnery, 74-348; Jenkins v. Bobbitt, 77-385; Mayho v. Cotton, 69-289.

730. Sheriff to summon and swear appraisers. Before levying upon the real estate of any resident of this state who is entitled to a homestead under this article, and the constitution of this state, the sheriff or other officer charged with the levy shall summon three discreet persons qualified to act as jurors, to whom he shall administer the following oath: "I, A. B., do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have no interest in the homestead exemption of C. D., and that I will faithfully perform the duties of appraiser (or assessor, as the case may be), in valuing and laying off the same. So help me, God." In cases where he deems it necessary he may summon the county surveyor or some other competent surveyor to assist in laying off the homestead by metes and bounds.

For allotment where land is held in cotenancy, see Partition, s. 3217.

For form of certificate of qualification to be indorsed on the return, see section 751 (4). As to who is a resident within the meaning of this section, see under section 728. Where allotted under execution, execution creditor must pay fees or sheriff may refuse to act: Lute v. Reilly, 65-20; Vannoy v. Haymore, 71-128; Taylor v. Rhyne, 65-530—but if creditor is required to pay the costs, and proceeds of sale of residue do not pay his debt; effect: Long v. Walker, 105-90. Where a debtor has been allotted homestead of less than $1,000 in value in one county and an execution goes into a sheriff's hands in another county, the homesteader is entitled to have the remainder of his homestead allotted in the other county: Springer v. Colwell, 116-520. Difference in allotment of homestead and of personal property exemption: Gardner v. McConnaughey, 157-481.

THE JURORS OR APPRAISERS. In executions from justice's courts, the constable may summon and swear them: McAuley v. Morris, 101-369. In superior court in equitable proceeding the court may appoint them: Benton v. Collins, 125-83; Formeyduval v. Rockwell, 117-325; Littlejohn v. Egerton, 77-379. Need not be freeholders: Hale v. Whitehead, 115-28. Must be sworn, and same must so appear in record: Smith v. Hunt, 68-482; Coble v. Thom, 72-123. If sworn by a deputy sheriff it is only an irregularity and cannot be attacked collaterally, if exception not taken in apt time: Oates v. Munday, 127-439. Exception to the appraisers, how and when made: Chambers v. Penland, 74-340; see, also, Burton v. Spiers, 87-87—must be in apt time or exception waived, Chambers v. Penland, 74-340.

731. Duty of appraisers; proceedings on return. The appraisers shall value the homestead with its dwelling and buildings thereon, and lay off to the owner or to any agent or attorney, in his behalf, such portion as he selects not exceeding in value one thousand dollars, and must fix and describe the same by metes and bounds. They must then make and sign in the presence of the officer a return of their proceedings, setting forth the property exempted, which shall be returned by the officer to the clerk of the court for the county in which the homestead is situated and filed with the judgment roll in the action, and a minute of the same entered on the judgment docket, and a certified copy thereof under the hand of the clerk shall be registered in the office of the register of deeds for the county. The officer must likewise make a transcript of the return over his hand and return it without delay to the clerk of the court of the county from whence the execution issued, and said clerk must likewise file and make minute of the same as above directed. In all judicial proceedings the original return or a certified copy may be read in evidence.

Rev., ss. 688, 689; Code, ss. 503-4; 1868-9, c. 137, ss. 3-4; 1877, c. 272.

When allotment in one tract of land is not excepted to, debtor cannot claim a homestead in another tract after a conveyance thereof by him has been set aside as fraudulent: Marshall v. Lashlie, 122-237. An allotment to one not entitled is void: Formeyduval v. Rockwell, 117-320—but the fact that allotment was made to “the widow and minor children” does not make it void, Ibid. Irregularity in allotting does not destroy homestead right: Ibid.

The duties of the appraisers extended no farther than the valuation and allotment of the homestead: Aiken v. Gardner, 107-236. As to equitable action for allotment, see McCaskill v. McKinnon, 125-179; Gulley v. Cole, 96-447, 102-333; Thornton v. Vanstory, 107-331; Vanstory v. Thornton, 110-10. As to reallocation for increase in value, see section 733.

Debtor must be given opportunity to be present and make selection, or allotment illegal: McKeithen v. Blue, 142-360; McGowan v. McGowan, 122-164—and he is not restricted to residence tract or tract contiguous, Mayho v. Cotton, 69-289; Fulton v. Roberts, 113-421; McCracken v. Adler, 98-403; Flora v. Robbins, 93-38. A homestead irregularly allotted by a trustee will be reallocated under the direction of the court: Jordan v. Newsome, 126-553. Where allotment made, return of appraisers registered, and time for filing objections passed, a second allotment, though under a judgment docketed since first allotment, will be treated as void: Thornton v. Vanstory, 107-331; but see section 733. The homesteader should make his selection at the time of the appraisal and assignment, and give notice of any exception to the action of the appraisers then or in a reasonable time thereafter and before sale: Flora v. Robbins, 93-38. Judgment creditors cannot complain of the homesteader's election to take the present value of his homestead: Leak v. Gay, 107-482.

MAKING THE ALLOTMENT. Manner of making, suggested by Burton v. Spiers, 87-87. Must be made in severalty and no community of interest allowed: Campbell v. White, 95-491; but see Kelly v. McLeod, 165-382. The allotment must not be vague and indefinite: Coble v. Thom, 72-121; Smith v. Hunt, 68-482—yet it is not necessary for appraisers to run it off by course and distance, and any description by which land can be located will do, Ray v. Thornton, 95-571. The allotment must be in land only: Oakley v. Van Noppen, 96-247; Campbell v. White, 95-491—but the buildings thereon are part of the land and must be taken into account, for homesteader only allowed $1,000 worth of land and buildings, Ray v. Thornton, 95-571. Where land is indivisible but worth over $1,000 homesteader not entitled to have it all allotted: Campbell v. White, 95-491. Where the jury value the tract at $2,000 the land should be equally divided and homesteader allowed to take choice: Shoaf v. Frost, 123-343.

The valuation by the jury is conclusive: Ibid. In bankruptcy proceedings the allotment is under control of bankruptcy court: Pennell v. Robinson, 164-257.

RETURN. For form of return of appraisers, see section 751. As to form of return, see Gudger v. Penland, 118-832; Ray v. Thornton, 95-571; Coble v. Thom, 72-121. The omission to insert in their report the date of allotment is not sufficient ground for vacating it: Beavans v. Goodrich, 98-217. Appraisers may amend return before filing: Gudger v. Penland, 118-832; Pate v. Harper, 94-23. Return need not be registered in county where homestead situated if it is filed in the judgment roll of the action: Bevan v. Ellis, 121-224. The filing of the return in the judgment roll is constructive notice: Ibid. Clerk must make entry in regard to the homestead allotment when it is returned to him: Wilson v. Brown, 134-409. Registration of allotment is not necessary except when made on petition of homesteader: Crouch v. Crouch, 160-447. Effect of irregularity, not excepted to, upon judgments against which statute has been suspended by reason of the allotment: Formeyduval v. Rockwell, 117-320. The unregistered allotment of a homestead is competent evidence unless objected to in apt time: Gudger v. Penland, 118-832. Section merely referred to: Welch v. Welch, 101-569. Failure to sign the report in the presence of the sheriff is an irregularity which may make the report voidable on motion to set aside, but not subject to collateral attack: Hughes v. Pritchard, 153-23.

732. Reallotment for increase of value. A judgment creditor of a debtor whose homestead has been allotted may apply in writing to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the homestead lies for an order for its reallotment, if there is in the hands of the sheriff of that county an execution issued from the proper court against said debtor. The application must be accompanied by the affidavits of three disinterested freeholders of the county in which the homestead lies, setting forth that, in their opinion, it has increased in value fifty per centum or more since the last allotment. Upon the filing of the application and affidavits the clerk shall issue notice to the judgment debtor to appear before him on a day not more than five days from the day of its service and show cause why his homestead should not be reallotted. The notice must state upon whose application it is issued. Upon the return day of the notice the clerk shall consider the affidavits filed, as heretofore required, and any additional affidavits filed by either party, and if he is of opinion that the homestead has probably appreciated in value fifty per centum or more since the last allotment, he shall command the sheriff to reallot to the judgment debtor his homestead, in the same manner as if no homestead had been allotted. If upon the reallotment any excess is found, it shall be disposed of by the sheriff as in ordinary cases of execution and levy. This section does not prevent the judgment creditor from resorting to the equity jurisdiction of the courts for a reallotment of the homestead of his judgment debtor in any case.

For costs, see section 1244. If the increase in value is 50 per cent or more the above section enables the creditor to have a reallotment in a proceeding before the clerk, in aid of an execution in the sheriff's hands. If the increase is less than 50 per cent, the judgment creditor can proceed by a suit in the nature of an equitable action to subject the excess to his debt: McCaskill v. McKinnon, 125-179; Vanstony v. Thornton, 110-10. Section cited, Gardner v. McConnaughey, 157-481.

733. Appeal as to reallotment. From the order of the clerk commanding or refusing a reallotment, either party may appeal to the judge resident in or holding the courts of the district, who shall hear the matter in chambers in any county of the judicial district to which belongs the county in which the proceedings were instituted. In other respects the proceedings upon such appeal are as now provided for appeals from the clerk on issues of law.

Rev., s. 691; 1893, c. 149.

734. Levy on excess; return of officer. The levy may be made upon the excess of the homestead, not laid off according to this chapter, and the officer shall make substantially the following return upon the execution: "A. B., C. D., and E. F., summoned and qualified as appraisers or assessors (as the case may be), who set off to X. Y. the homestead exempt by law. Levy made upon the excess."

Rev., s. 692; Code, s. 505; 1868-9, c. 137, s. 5.

See articles 27, 28, Execution and Execution Sales, for cases on the sale of the excess.

735. When appraisers select. If no selection is made by the owner, or any one acting in his behalf, of the homestead to be laid off as exempt, the appraisers shall make selection for him, including always the dwelling and buildings used therewith.

Rev., s. 693; Code, s. 506; 1868-9, c. 137, s. 6.

Party entitled even though he has no dwellings or other buildings on the land, for he may build them himself: McCracken v. Adler, 98-403; Flora v. Robbins, 93-38; Murchison v. Plyler, 87-79; Spoon v. Reid, 78-244.

736. Homestead in tracts not contiguous. Different tracts of land not contiguous may be included in the same homestead, when a homestead of contiguous land is not of the value of one thousand dollars.

Rev., s. 694; Code, s. 509; 1868-9, c. 137, s. 15.

A homestead may be laid off in two tracts of land not contiguous: Martin v. Hughes, 67-293. Homesteader has the right to have homestead allotted from scattered unencumbered lands, whether they embrace his dwelling and other buildings or not: Flora v. Robbins, 93-38—or whether they are contiguous thereto, Fulton v. Roberts, 113-421.

737. Personal property appraised on demand. When the personal property of any resident of this state is levied upon by virtue of an execution or other final process issued for the collection of a debt, and the owner or an agent, or attorney in his behalf, demands that the same, or any part thereof, be exempt from sale under such execution, the sheriff or other officer making the levy shall summon three appraisers, as heretofore provided, who, having been first duly sworn, shall appraise and lay off to the judgment debtor such articles of personal property as he or another in his behalf selects and to which he is entitled under this article and the constitution of the state, in no case to exceed in value five hundred dollars, which articles are exempt from said levy, and return thereof shall be made by the appraisers, as upon the laying off of a homestead exemption.

Rev., s. 695; Code, s. 507; 1868-9, c. 137, ss. 12, 13.

Exemptions relate only to the remedy, and the right to an exemption is subject to the law of the forum: Goodwin v. Claytor, 137-224. The personal property exemption, as fixed in the constitution, can neither be increased nor diminished by the legislature: Wharton v. Taylor, 88-230; see, also, Saylor v. Powell, 90-203. The exemption should be such as was allowed debtor at the time of the making of the contract: Long v. Walker, 105-90; Carlton v. Watts, 82-212.

Only a resident of this state is entitled to have his personal property to the value of $500 exempted: Jones v. Alsbrook, 115-46—and where one reserves his exemption and assigns it to another before allotment, and then leaves the state, the exemption becomes vested in the trustee: Latta v. Bell, 122-639. See, as to who is a resident, annotations under section 728. Debtor wishing to claim the personal property exemption must make demand of the sheriff before sale that it be assigned: Shepherd v. Murrill, 90-208. Minor children of deceased debtor are not entitled to personal property exemptions: Bruton v. McRae, 125-206; Welch v. Macy, 78-240—nor is the widow, Smith v. McDonald, 95-163—for it passes to the administrator, Johnson v. Cross, 66-167.

Where, in an assignment by partnership, partners reserve their exemptions, but afterwards compromise with certain creditors and make a new assignment without the reservation stating that the trustee should sell property according to first assignment, partners not entitled to exemptions: Shoe Co. v. Hughes, 122-296. As to setting apart exemptions to partners, see Grocery Co. v. Bails, 177-298; Commission Co. v. Porter, 122-692; Richardson v. Redd, 118-677; McMillan v. Williams, 109-252; Stout v. McNeill, 98-1; Evans v. Bryan, 95-174; Scott v. Kenan, 94-296; Bruff v. Stern, 81-183; Burns v. Harris, 67-140.

The exemption may be allotted from time to time so as to keep in debtor's possession $500 worth of personalty: Campbell v. White, 95-344; Frost v. Naylor, 68-325. Where the will authorizes the executor to wind up his business and give beneficiaries the net proceeds, no exemptions allowed beneficiaries: Froelich v. Trading Co., 120-39. The exemption can be claimed as against a judgment rendered in actions for tort: Gill v. Edwards, 87-76; Dellinger v. Tweed, 66-206. Practice as to exemptions when parties have judgments against each other: Curlee v. Thomas, 74-51; Comrs. v. Riley, 75-144; Duval v. Rollins, 71-218.

The exemption can be claimed in attached property: Chemical Co. v. Sloan, 136-123; Comrs. v. Riley, 75-144; Shepherd v. Murrill, 90-208; Gamble v. Rhyne, 80-183. The right of exemption is personal to the debtor, and it loses its quality of exemption as soon as transferred: Lane v. Richardson, 104-642. Defendant not estopped by his answer alleging property in another from claiming his exemption when jury negatives the averment: Etheridge v. Davis, 111-293.

Exemption cannot be claimed as against the landlord's lien upon the crops for his rent: Hamer v. McCall, 121-196—nor as against fines and costs in criminal actions, State v. Williams, 97-414—nor as against judgment in arrest and bail, Fertilizer Co. v. Grubbs, 114-472; Oakley v. Lasater, 172-96.

ALLOTMENT OF EXEMPTION. The sheriff's refusal to lay off the personal property exemption to a debtor is a breach of his official bond: Scott v. Kenan, 94-296. Appraisers must be freeholders: Smith v. Hunt, 68-482—and they must be sworn, Ibid.

The property upon which there is no lien must first be exempted: Cowan v. Phillips, 122-70. The exemption should be ascertained up to and just before the process is executed by a sale: Gardner v. McConaughy, 157-481; Jones v. Alsbrook, 115-46; Pate v. Harper, 94-23. A descriptive list must be made, such as will enable creditors to ascertain which property is exempt: Smith v. Hunt, 68-482; but see Ray v. Thornton, 95-571. A chose in action may be allotted if owner selects it: Frost v. Naylor, 68-325. The personal property exemption does not protect property in another state: Balk v. Harris, 122-64. One cannot plead the $500 exemption as a counterclaim: Lynn v. Cotton Mills, 130-621.

Suggestions as to what return of appraisers should contain: Ray v. Thornton, 95-571; Smith v. Hunt, 68-482. The failure to insert in the appraisers' report the date of allotment is not sufficient ground for vacating it: Beavans v. Goodrich, 98-217. The return should be made to the clerk, but if otherwise returned it does not vitiate the allotment: McAuley v. Morris, 101-369—for the court has power to direct that the return be made to the proper officer, Ibid. Appraisers have the power to correct the allotment if they have omitted property: Pate v. Harper, 94-23—for until the return is made it is in fieri, Ibid.; Jones v. Alsbrook, 115-46; Gudger v. Penland, 118-832. Exceptions to the allotment must be filed in the office of the clerk of superior court where the allotment is made, together with a transcript of the allotment: McAuley v. Morris, 101-369. Where there is no levy by the sheriff, an attempted allotment by appraisers, which does not set apart specific articles, is void: Gardner v. McConaughy, 157-481.

738. Appraiser's oath and fees. The persons summoned to appraise the personal property exemption must take the same oath and are entitled to the same fees as the appraisers of the homestead, and when both exemptions are claimed by the judgment debtor, at the same time, one board of appraisers must lay off both, and are entitled to but one fee.

Rev., s. 696; Code, s. 508; 1868-9, c. 137, s. 14.

Appraisers must be sworn and it must appear that they were sworn: Smith v. Hunt, 68-482; Coble v. Thom, 72-121. Merely referring to section: McAuley v. Morris, 101-372; Walker v. Long, 105-100.

739. Returns registered. It is the duty of the register of deeds to indorse on each of said returns the date when received for registration, and to cause the same to be registered without unnecessary delay. He shall receive for registering the returns the same fees allowed him by law for other similar or equivalent services, which fees shall be paid by said resident applicant, his agent or attorney, upon the reception of the returns by the register.

Rev., s. 698; Code, s. 513; 1868-9, c. 137, s. 9.

740. Exceptions to valuation and allotment; procedure. If the judgment creditor for whom levy is made, or judgment debtor or other person entitled to homestead and personal property exemption, is dissatisfied with the valuation and allotment of the appraisers or assessors, he, within ten days thereafter, or any other creditor within six months and before sale under execution of the excess, may notify the adverse party and the sheriff having the execution in hand, and file with the clerk of the superior court of the county where the allotment is made a transcript of the return of the appraisers or assessors which they or the sheriff shall allow to be made upon demand, together with his objections in writing to said return. Thereupon the said clerk shall put the same on the civil issue docket of the superior court for trial at the next term thereof as other civil actions, and such issue joined has precedence over all other issues at that term. The sheriff shall not sell the excess until after the determination of said action. The ten days and six months respectively begin to run from the date of the filing of the return of the valuation and allotment of the appraisers or assessors by the officer with the clerk of the superior court of the county from whence the execution issued.

Rev., s. 699; Code, s. 519; 1887, c. 272, s. 2; 1883, c. 357.

Allotment cannot be collaterally attacked by debtor or any one claiming under him, the remedy being hereunder: Gudger v. Penland, 118-832; Formeyduval v. Rockwell, 117-320; Welch v. Welch, 101-565. Application for reassessment must be made before sale of excess: Hartman v. Spiers, 94-150; Heptinstall v. Perry, 76-190. From an order setting aside the allotment an appeal can be taken: Beavans v. Goodrich, 98-217. Questions of fact arising in the allotment of exemption are not such issues of fact as entitle parties to trial by jury: Ibid. Notices to adverse party written and served, how: Allen v. Strickland, 100-225. Exceptions filed and report set aside for irregularity: Gardner v. McConnaughey, 157-481. An action by a creditor to declare void a homestead allotted under execution does not come under this section: Sash Co. v. Parker, 153-130.

Where homesteader acquiesces in allotment of homestead for many years, grantee of homesteader will not be permitted to defeat judgment creditors by proof of purchase in good faith for a full price: Oates v. Munday, 127-439. Estoppel by acquiescence in irregularities and by failure to except and appeal: Ibid.; Marshburn v. Lashlie, 122-237; Whitehead v. Spivey, 103-66; Spoon v. Reid, 78-244. Where party had land in two counties and was allotted less than $1,000 worth in one county, it is not necessary for him to except to allotment before proceeding to have the deficit made up in another county: Springer v. Colwell, 116-520 (Whitehead v. Spivey, 103-66, cited and distinguished).

741. Increase demanded; jury verdict; commissioners; report. When an increase of the exemption or an allotment in property other than that set apart is demanded, the party demanding must in his exceptions specify the property from which the increase or reallocation is to be had. If the appraisal or assessment is reduced, the jury shall assess the value of the property embraced therein; if increased, the value of the property specified in the objections from which the increase is demanded shall also be assessed; but if the allotment is made in property other than that first set apart, the jury shall assess the value of the property so allotted. The court shall appoint three disinterested commissioners to lay off and set apart the homestead and personal property exemption in accordance with the verdict of the jury and the judgment of the court, and in the manner prescribed by law. The commissioners, who shall be summoned by the sheriff, must meet upon the premises and, after being sworn by the sheriff or a justice of the peace to faithfully perform the duties of appraisers or assessors in allotting and laying off the homestead or personal property exemption, or both, in accordance with the verdict and judgment aforesaid, must allot and lay off the same and file their report to the next term of the court, when it shall be heard by the court upon exceptions thereto.

Practice when jury returns verdict valuing the first allotment and reallocation had to which exception made: Shoaf v. Frost, 121-257, 116-675. Where debtor designated the particular land which he desired to have allotted him as an increase of exemption and the creditors assented thereto neither party can demand that the jury value it: Beavans v. Goodrich, 98-217.

742. Undertaking of objector. The creditor, debtor, or claimant objecting to the allotment made by the appraisers or assessors under execution or petition must file with the clerk of the superior court an undertaking in the sum of one hundred dollars for the payment to the adverse party of such costs as are adjudged against him.

Rev., s. 701; Code, s. 522.

743. Set aside for fraud, or irregularity. An appraisal or allotment by appraisers or assessors may be set aside for fraud, complicity, or other irregularity; but after an allotment or assessment is made or confirmed by the superior court at term time, as hereinbefore provided, the homestead shall not thereafter be set aside or again laid off by any other creditor except for increase in value.

Rev., s. 702; Code, s. 523.

An allotment will not be set aside because it might have been assigned in a manner more convenient to the homesteader: Ray v. Thornton, 95-571—or because report of appraisers did not show the date, Beavans v. Goodrich, 98-217—or because the appraisers were sworn by a deputy sheriff, Oates v. Munday, 127-439. See case of Gully v. Cole, 96-447, which was rendered before sections 732, 733 enacted.

744. Return registered; original or copy evidence. When the homestead and personal property exemption is decided by the court at term time the clerk of the superior court shall immediately file with the register of deeds of the county a copy of the same, which shall be registered as deeds are registered; and in all judicial proceedings the original or a certified copy of the return may be introduced in evidence.

Rev., s. 703; Code, s. 524.

745. Allotted on petition of owner. When any resident of this state desires to take the benefit of the homestead and personal property exemption as guaranteed by article ten of the state constitution, or by this article, such resident, his agent or attorney, must apply to a justice of the peace of the county in which he resides, who shall appoint as assessors three disinterested persons, qualified to act as jurors, residing in said county. The jurors, on notice by the order of the justice, shall meet at the applicant's residence, and, after taking the oath prescribed for appraisers before some officer authorized to administer an oath, lay off and allot to the applicant a homestead with metes and bounds, according to the applicant's direction, not to exceed one thousand dollars in value, and make and sign a descriptive account of the same and return it to the office of the register of deeds.

Said assessors shall set apart of the personal property of said applicant, to be by him selected, articles of personalty to which he is entitled under this chapter, not exceeding in value the sum of five hundred dollars, and make, sign and return a descriptive list thereof to the register of deeds.

Rev., ss. 697, 704; Code, ss. 511, 512; 1868-9, c. 137, ss. 7, 8.

For form of petition hereunder, see section 751 (2). As to who is a "resident" hereunder, see annotations under section 728.

A person can apply for homestead to be allotted, whether in debt or not: Hughes v. Hodges, 102-254 (dictum from dissenting opinion of Merrimon, J.). Costs must be paid by petitioner, and sheriff not bound to act unless paid in advance: Lute v. Reilly, 65-20; Taylor v. Rhyne, 65-530. Procedure in allotment: Burton v. Spiers, 87-87; see, also, cases cited under sections 728-731. It is a proceeding quasi in rem: Williams v. Whitaker, 110-395.

Where land is allotted to a person as a homestead hereunder, it is a dedication of it by him to all the privileges, uses and restrictions of a homestead, no matter at what time the title was acquired: Castlebury v. Maynard, 95-281—and he cannot convey it without his wife joining in deed, Ibid.; also Dixon v. Robbins, 114-102; Bruce v. Strickland, 81-267; also see Hughes v. Hodges, 102-236, and cases cited under section 729. Section merely referred to in Montague v. Bank, 118-286; Formeyduval v. Rockwell, 117-324; Gardner v. McConnaughey, 157-481. See annotations under section 737; also see Smith v. Hunt, 68-483. For form of return, see section 751 (3).

746. Advertisement of petition; time of hearing. When a person entitled to a homestead and personal property exemption files the petition before a justice of the peace to have the same laid off and set apart under the preceding sections, the justice shall make advertisement in some newspaper published in the county, for six successive weeks, and if there is no newspaper in the county, then at the courthouse door of the county in which the petition is filed, notifying all creditors of the applicant of the time and place for hearing the petition. The petition shall not be heard nor any decree made in the cause in less than six nor more than twelve months from the day of making advertisement as above required.

Only persons having actual or constructive notice are bound by the allotment: Williams v. Whitaker, 110-393. Section merely referred to in Montague v. Bank, 118-286.

747. Exceptions, when allotted on petition. When the homestead or personal property exemption is allotted on the petition of the person entitled thereto, any creditor may, within six months from the time of the assessment or appraisal, and upon ten days notice to the petitioner, file his objections with the register of deeds of the county in which the premises are situated, and the register of deeds shall return the same to the clerk of the superior court of that county, who shall place them on the civil issue docket, and they shall be tried as provided for homestead and personal property exemptions set off under execution.

Rev., s. 706; Code, s. 520.

748. Allotted after death of homesteader. If a person entitled to a homestead exemption dies without the homestead having been set apart, his widow, if he leaves no children, or his child or children under the age of twenty-one years, if he leaves such, may proceed to have the homestead exemption laid off by petition. If the widow or children have failed to have the exemption set apart in the manner provided, then in an action brought by his personal representatives to subject the realty of the decedent to the payment of debts and charges of administration, it is the duty of the court to appoint three disinterested freeholders to set apart to such widow, child or children a homestead exemption under metes and bounds in the lands of the decedent. The freeholders shall under their hands and seals make return of the same to the court, which shall be registered in the same manner as homestead exemptions.

Rev., s. 707; Code, s. 514; 1893, c. 332; 1868-9, c. 137, s. 10.

As to widow and minor children being entitled, see under section 728 annotations headed "Who entitled to homestead and personal property exemptions."

Administrator must lay off homestead to widow or children before proceeding to sell land for assets: Gregory v. Ellis, 86-579; see Watts v. Leggett, 66-197; Morrisett v. Ferebee, 120-6; Fulp v. Brown, 153-531.

749. Liability of officer as to allotment, return and levy. Any officer making a levy, who refuses or neglects to summon and qualify appraisers as heretofore provided, or fails to make due return of his proceedings, or levies upon the homestead set off by appraisers or assessors except as herein provided, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and he and his sureties are liable to the owner of the homestead for all costs and damages in a civil action.

Rev., ss. 708, 3584; Code, s. 516; 1868-9, c. 137, s. 17.

An unlawful sale of property exempt is a breach of sheriff's bond: Hobbs v. Barefoot, 104-224; Scott v. Kenan, 94-296—but a debtor can only maintain suit for costs and damages—not for value of homestead: McCracken v. Adler, 98-400. As to the measure of damages, see Jones v. Alsbroom, 115-46; McCracken v. Adler, 98-400. Sufficiency of complaint in action hereunder: Scott v. Kenan, 94-296.

Section merely referred to in Welch v. Welch, 101-569; Mebane v. Layton, 89-400; Richardson v. Wicker, 80-172; Lambert v. Kinnery, 74-348.

750. Liability of officer, appraiser, or assessor, for conspiracy or fraud. Any officer, appraiser, or assessor who willfully or corruptly conspires with a judgment debtor, judgment creditor, or other person, to undervalue or to overvalue the homestead or personal property exemption of a debtor, or applicant, or assigns false metes and bounds, or makes or procures to be made a false and fraudulent return thereof, is guilty of a misdemeanor and is liable to the party injured thereby for all costs and damages in a civil action.

Rev., ss. 690, 3585, 3586; Code, ss. 517, 518; 1868-9, c. 137, ss. 18, 19.

APPRAISER'S RETURN

When the homestead is valued at less than one thousand dollars, and personal property also appraised.

The undersigned having been duly summoned and sworn to act as appraisers of the homestead and personal property exemption of A. B., of ----- Township, ----- County, by C. D., sheriff (or constable or deputy) of said county, do hereby make the following return: We have viewed and appraised the homestead of the said A. B., and the dwellings and buildings thereon, owned and occupied by said A. B. as a homestead, to be one thousand dollars (or any less sum) and that the entire tract, bounded by the lands of ----- and ----- is therefore exempted from sale under execution according to law. At the same time and place we viewed and appraised at the values annexed the following articles of personal property, selected by said A. B. (here specify the articles and their value, to be selected by the debtor or his agent), which we declare to be a fair valuation, and that the said articles are exempt under said execution. We hereby certify that we are not related by blood or marriage to the judgment debtor or the judgment creditor in this execution, and have no interest, near or remote, in the above exemptions.

Given under our hands and seals, this-----day of-----, 19-----

SUBCHAPTER XII. SPECIAL PROCEEDINGS

ART. 32. SPECIAL PROCEEDINGS

752. Chapter applicable to special proceedings. The provisions of this chapter on civil procedure are applicable to special proceedings, except as otherwise provided.

Rev., s. 710; Code, s. 278.

See section 393. Section 456, that "any person may be made a defendant who has or claims an interest in the controversy adverse to the plaintiff," applies to special proceedings: Welfare v. Welfare, 108-274—as does also the provision that one cannot unite distinct causes of action in the same complaint, Garrison v. Cox, 99-481. There are no terms of court in proceedings before the clerk: Hartsfield v. Bryan, 177-166. This section merely referred to in Railway Co. v. Lumber Co., 132-644; Gregory v. Pinnix, 158-147.

753. Contested special proceedings; commencement; summons. Special proceedings against adverse parties shall be commenced as is prescribed for civil actions. The summons shall command the officer to summon the defendant to appear at the office of the clerk of the superior court on a day named in the summons, to answer the complaint or petition of the plaintiff. The number of days within which the defendant is summoned to appear shall in no case be less than ten exclusive of the day of service.

Ex parte proceedings are begun by petition. See this chapter, s. 759.

With the exceptions referred to, jurisdiction is acquired by the issuing and service of a summons upon or accepted by the defendant: Railway Co. v. Lumber Co., 132-650. Special proceedings to condemn land for railroad purposes must be begun by summons: Railway Co. v. Lumber Co., 132-644—as also proceeding by creditor against personal representative for an account, Isler v. Murphy, 76-52.

No judgment can be rendered without some form of action or special proceeding which in this state must be commenced by summons or attachment: Morris v. House, 125-560. See Guion v. Melvin, 69-242. Certain irregularities in summons held not to make proceeding void: Piercy v. Watson, 118-976. If summons in a special proceeding is made returnable to "term time" instead of before the clerk, the judge may remand it so as to make it properly returnable: Simmons v. Steamboat Co., 113-147; Epps v. Flowers, 101-158. Where proper time not given defendant the action should not be dismissed, but further time allowed defendant to answer: Strayhorn v. Blalock, 92-292. Less than ten days notice renders judgment irregular and not void: Stafford v. Gallops, 123-19. As to amendment of summons, etc., see section 547.

754. Return of summons. The officer to whom the summons is addressed shall note on it the day of its delivery to him, and, if required by the plaintiff, shall execute it immediately. When executed, he shall immediately return the summons with the date and manner of its execution, by mail or otherwise, to the clerk of the court issuing it.

Rev., s. 713; Code, s. 280; C. C. P., s. 75.

Failure of sheriff to note on summons the day received is irregular, but does not render summons void: Strayhorn v. Blalock, 92-292. Summons is returnable before the clerk: Tate v. Powe, 64-644—and when sheriff returns that he has “served” the summons this is prima facie sufficient, Strayhorn v. Blalock, 92-292. As to service of summons and return of same, see also sections 479 and 482-485 relating to civil actions.

As to liability of sheriff for failure to serve and return process or for false return, see sections 3930, 3936 and 3941.

755. When complaint filed. The plaintiff must file his complaint or petition with the clerk of the court to which the summons is returnable, at the time of issuing the summons or within ten days thereafter.

Rev., s. 714; Code, s. 281; C. C. P., s. 76; 1876-7, c. 241, s. 4.

756. Nonsuit for failure to file. If the plaintiff fails to file his complaint or petition within the time limited by the summons for the appearance and answer of the defendant, the defendant may demand judgment of nonsuit against the plaintiff.

Rev., s. 715; Code, s. 282; C. C. P., s. 78.

For nonsuit for failure to file complaint in time in civil actions, see section 466 (same principle applies). As to nonsuit in trial of issue devisavit vel non, see Collins v. Collins, 125-98; Hutson v. Sawyer, 104-1. Entry of nonsuit not a retraxit: Wharton v. Currituck, 82-11; see Grimes v. Andrews, 170-515.

757. Filing time enlarged. The time for filing the complaint, petition, or any pleading may be enlarged by the court for good cause shown by affidavit, but may not be enlarged by more than ten additional days, nor more than once, unless the default was occasioned by accident over which the party applying had no control, or by the fraud of the opposing party.

Rev., s. 716; Code, s. 283; C. C. P., s. 79.

See cases cited under section 547, same principle being involved.

Upon application filed to remove an administrator, and no answer filed, clerk refused the motion; upon appeal the judge reversed the order; when case remanded to clerk he had power to allow answer to be filed: Patterson v. Wadsworth, 94-538.

758. Defenses pleaded; transferred to civil issue docket; amendments. In special proceedings a defendant or other party thereto may plead any equitable or other defense, or ask any equitable or other relief in the pleadings which it would be competent to ask in a civil action; and when such pleas are filed the clerk shall transfer the cause to the civil issue docket for trial during term upon all issues raised by the pleadings. The trial judge may, with a view to substantial justice between the parties, allow amendments to the pleadings and interpleas in behalf of any person claiming an interest in the property.

Rev., s. 717; 1903, c. 566.

Equitable defenses may be set up in the answer in such proceedings by way of avoidance, and they should be pleaded, but when pleaded they amount to no more than an equitable defense and cannot be affirmatively administered: Vance v. Vance, 118-864. But whether under this section equitable relief may be obtained: Webster v. Williams, 153-309; Coltrane v. Laughlin, 157-282.

Upon issues of fact, or both of fact and law, being joined on the pleadings in proceedings before the clerk, it is his duty to transfer same to the civil issue docket for trial: Hilliard v. Abernethy, 171-644; Whitaker v. Garren, 167-658; Haddock v. Stocks, 167-70; Little v. Duncan, 149-84; Woody v. Fountain, 143-66; Smith v. Johnson, 137-43; Hardee v. Weathington, 130-91; Railroad Co. v. Newton, 133-138; Brittain v. Dickson, 111-529; Powell v. Morisey, 98-426; Spencer, ex parte, 95-274; Brittain v. Mull, 94-595; Jones v. Desern, 94-32; Loftin v. Rouse, 94-508; Edwards v. Cobb, 95-8; Wharton v. Wilkerson, 92-407; Harper v. Harper, 92-300; Jones v. Hemphill, 77-42; but see McMillan v. McMillan, 123-577—and parties have the right to insist upon it, and where they fail to insist, before an order appointing commissioners is made, they waive the right of trial by jury, even if it be conceded that the statute gives them the right of jury trial: Railroad v. Parker, 105-246; see, also, Spencer v. Credle, 102-68. In a special proceeding before the judge for alimony without divorce, if issues of fact are raised, the parties are entitled to a jury trial: Crews v. Crews, 175-168. In a proceeding before the clerk to establish the probate of a deed, if issues of fact arise, the case should be transferred: Mills v. McDaniel, 161-113.

Questions of fact, as distinguished from issues of fact and issues of law, are decided by the clerk subject to review by the judge on appeal: Vanderbilt v. Roberts, 162-273; R. R. v. Gahagan, 161-191; Taylor v. Carrow, 156-6; as to what are issues of fact hereunder, see Beckwith, ex parte, 124-114; McMillan v. McMillan, 123-577; Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-455; Vanderbilt v. Roberts, 162-273.

The judge has the same power to grant amendments and make orders that he has when the action is begun in the superior court: Sudderth v. McCombs, 67-353; Coltrane v. Laughlin, 157-282; Little v. Duncan, 149-84; Webster v. Williams, 153-309; see, also, section 547. After the transfer of the cause to the civil issue docket, an agreement that the judge may find the facts, or, facts being agreed, may pronounce judgment, cures all defects: Foreman v. Hough, 98-386. The amendment of a complaint in correcting a mistake in the description of land is not a nonsuit, and may exclude the consideration of a defense based upon such mistake: Webster v. Williams, 153-309. A judgment in a proceeding to establish boundary, transferred upon issues to the court at term, may operate as an estoppel as to title: Hilliard v. Abernethy, 171-644; Whitaker v. Garren, 167-658. Section cited in Hanes v. R. R., 109-492.

759. Ex parte; commenced by petition. If all the parties in interest join in the proceeding and ask the same relief, the commencement of the proceedings shall be by petition, setting forth the facts entitling the petitioners to relief, and the nature of the relief demanded.

Rev., s. 718; Code, s. 284; 1868-9, c. 93.

760. Clerk acts summarily; authority from nonresident. In cases under the preceding section, if all persons to be affected by the decree, or their attorney, have signed the petition and are of full age, the clerk of the superior court has power to hear and decide the petition summarily. If any of the petitioners reside out of the state, an authority from them, to the attorney, in writing, must be filed with the clerk before he may make any order or decree to prejudice their rights.

Rev., s. 719; Code, s. 285; 1868-9, c. 93, s. 2.

Persons interested in the subject-matter of a special proceeding are not bound by a judgment rendered unless they are made parties or have waived their rights: Moore v. Lumber Co., 150-261.

761. Judge approves when petitioner is infant. If any petitioner is an infant, or the guardian of an infant, acting for him, no final order or judgment of the clerk, affecting the merits of the case and capable of being prejudicial to the infant, is valid, unless submitted to and approved by the judge resident or holding court in the district.

Rev., s. 720; Code, s. 286; 1887, c. 61; C. C. P., s. 420; 1868-9, c. 93, s. 3.
For the judge who is to approve, see this chapter, s. 611.

The cases required by this section to be approved by the judge are those cases in which there are infants and the proceedings ex parte: Stafford v. Harris, 72-198, approved in Mauney v. Pemberton, 75-221; Harris v. Brown, 123-423.

One who joins an infant in a petition for partition is bound by the judgment, though it is not approved by the judge of the court: Lindsay v. Beaman, 128-189. Where infants' lands are sold under ex parte proceeding in which they appeared by next friend, presumed that court protected them: Tyson v. Belcher, 102-112.

762. Orders signed by judge. Every order or judgment in a special proceeding required to be made by a judge of the superior court, in or out of term, must be authenticated by his signature.

Rev., s. 722; Code, s. 288; 1868-9, c. 93, s. 5; 1872-3, c. 100.

The court has held this statute, apparently mandatory, should always be observed; still it is held to be only directory, and judgment passed in open court and filed with the papers as a part of the judgment roll is a valid judgment, though not signed by the judge: Range Co. v. Carver, 118-338; Bond v. Wool, 113-20; Spencer v. Credle, 102-68; Keener v. Goodson, 89-273; Matthews v. Joyce, 85-258; Rollins v. Henry, 78-342.

763. Reports of commissioners and jurors. Every order or judgment in a special proceeding imposing a duty on commissioners or jurors must prescribe the time within which the duty must be performed, except in cases where the time is prescribed by statute. The commissioners or jurors shall within twenty days after the performance of the duty file their report with the clerk of the superior court, and if no exception is filed to it within twenty days, the court may proceed to confirm the same on motion of any party and without special notice to the other parties.

See the statutes concerning the appointment of commissioners in the several proceedings. For report of sale in partition, see sections 3242, 3243. Except in partition proceedings, if no exception is filed to a report within twenty days the court may confirm it; in partition confirmation is obligatory: Ex parte Garrett, 174-343; Upchurch v. Upchurch, 173-88; Thompson v. Rospigliosi, 162-146.

764. No report set aside for trivial defect. No report or return made by any commissioners may be set aside and sent back to them or others for a new report because of any defect or omission not affecting the substantial rights of the parties, but the defect or omission may be amended by the court, or by the commissioners with permission of the court.

Rev., s. 724; Code, s. 289; 1868-9, c. 93, s. 7.

In report of commissioners to condemn land for right of way, certain irregularities do not invalidate: Hanes v. R. R., 109-490. The report is, like the verdict of a jury, conclusive of the facts therein ascertained until set aside: Railroad v. Ely, 101-8. Substantial defects in report of commissioners in partition: Skinner v. Carter, 108-106.

765. Commissioner of sale to account in sixty days. In all actions or special proceedings when a person is appointed commissioner to sell real or personal property, he shall, within sixty days after the maturity of the note or bond for the balance of the purchase money of said property, or the payment of the amount of the bid when the sale is for cash, file with the clerk of the superior court a final account of his receipts and disbursements on account of the sale; and the clerk must audit the account and record it in the book in which the final settlements of executors and administrators are recorded.

Rev., s. 725; 1901, c. 614, ss. 1, 2.

766. Commissioners selling land for reinvestment, etc., to give bond. Whenever in any cause or special proceeding there is a sale of real estate for the purpose of a reinvestment of the money arising from such sale or for any other purpose, and the proceeds from such sale are held by a commissioner or other officer designated by the court to receive such money, for purposes of reinvestment or otherwise, the commissioner or officer so receiving same shall execute a good and sufficient bond, to be approved by the court, in an amount at least equal to the corpus of the fund, and payable to the state of North Carolina for the protection of the fund and the parties interested therein, and conditioned that such custodian of the money shall faithfully comply with all the orders of the court made or to be thereafter made concerning the handling of reinvestment of said funds and for the faithful and final accounting of the same to the parties interested; but the court in its discretion may dispense with such bond in cases in which under the law it shall not be contemplated that the money will be ultimately reinvested under the direction of the court. The premium for any such bond shall be paid from the corpus of the fund intended to be thereby protected.

1919, c. 259.

SUBCHAPTER XIII. PROVISIONAL REMEDIES

ART. 33. ARREST AND BAIL

767. Arrest only as herein prescribed. No person may be arrested in a civil action except as prescribed by this article, but this provision shall not apply to proceedings for contempt.

Rev., s. 726; Code, s. 290; C. C. P., s. 148.

For arrest and bail by capias in a civil action under the old practice, see Rhodes v. Vaughn, 9-167; Mann v. Hunter, 47-11; Holmes v. Sackett, 63-58. Arrest and bail as herein provided is the remedy to carry out the constitutional provisions as to imprisonment for debt: Preiss v. Cohen, 117-54. The exemption from imprisonment for debt applies only to debts ex contractu: Moore v. Green, 73-394; Long v. McLean, 88-3; Kinney v. Laughenour, 97-328; Burgwyn v. Hall, 108-489. As to execution against the person, see section 673; Peebles v. Foote, 83-102; Huntley v. Hasty, 132-279. Arrest and bail, being an ancillary remedy, presupposes an original action: Jarman v. Ward, 67-33; and to entitle a party to this remedy, he must show that he is entitled to the main relief demanded in his complaint: Witz v. Gray, 116-48. What is an arrest: Lawrence v. Buxton, 102-129; Powell v. Fiber Co., 150-12.

768. In what cases arrest allowed. The defendant may be arrested, as hereinafter prescribed, in the following cases:

1. In an action for the recovery of damages on a cause of action not arising out of contract, where the defendant is not a resident of the state, or is about to remove therefrom, or where the action is for injury to person or character, or for injuring, or for wrongfully taking, detaining or converting real or personal property.

Arrest and bail where defendant has committed an act ex delicto and is nonresident: Tucker v. Wilkins, 105-272; Powers v. Davenport, 101-286. In an action for assault and battery: Huntley v. Hasty, 132-279; for injury to person or character, Oakley v. Lasater, 172-96; Howie v. Spittle, 156-180; Michael v. Leach, 166-223. For injury to property: Oakley v. Lasater, 172-96; conversion of personalty by cotenant, Doyle v. Bush, 171-10. As to arrest for slander of title, see Sneeden v. Harris, 109-354.

2. In an action for a fine or penalty, for seduction, for money received, for property embezzled or fraudulently misapplied by a public officer, attorney, solicitor, or officer or agent of a corporation or banking association in the course of his employment, or by any factor, agent, broker or other person in a fiduciary capacity, or for any misconduct or neglect in office, or in a professional employment.

As to penalty, see State v. Earnhardt, 107-789. For seduction: Hood v. Sudderth, 111-215; Kinney v. Laughenour, 97-325; Hoover v. Palmer, 80-313—where breach of promise of marriage alleged, Moore v. Mullen, 77-327—alienating affection of wife, Edwards v. Sorrell, 150-712. Embezzlement of funds by public officer: Turlington v. Aman, 163-555. Fraudulent conveyance by trustee: Fertilizer Co. v. Little, 118-808—where conversion or misappropriation of money or other personal property by trustee or otherwise, Powers v. Davenport, 101-286; Grocery Co. v. Davis, 132-96, and cases therein cited; Carroll v. Montgomery, 128-278; Gossler v. Wood, 120-69; Guano Co. v. Bryan, 118-576; Boykin v. Maddrey, 114-89; Travers v. Deaton, 107-500; Guano Co. v. Malloy, 104-674; Chemical Co. v. Johnson, 98-123; Guano Co. v. Southerland, 175-228.

3. In an action to recover the possession of personal property, unjustly detained, where all or any part of the property has been concealed, removed, or disposed of, so that it cannot be found or taken by the sheriff and with the intent that it should not be so found or taken, or with the intent to deprive the plaintiff of the benefit thereof.

4. When the defendant has been guilty of a fraud in contracting the debt or incurring the obligation for which the action is brought, in concealing or disposing of the property for the taking, detention or conversion of which the action is brought, or when the action is brought to recover damages for fraud or deceit.

Fraudulent assignment of goods by owner: Preiss v. Cohen, 117-54—where fraud in contracting debt, Bahnsen v. Chesbro, 77-325—where one partner obtains credit for partnership by false representation, McNeely v. Haynes, 76-122; Boykin v. Maddrey, 114-90—where one partner makes fraudulent settlement with copartner, Ledford v. Emerson, 140-288. Where jury finds that shortage of consigned goods was not due to conversion, order should be vacated and a civil judgment given for the shortage: Grocery Co. v. Davis, 132-96. Where debt on note set out and charge of fraud likewise, and judgment given by default on note, no arrest allowable hereunder: Stewart v. Bryan, 121-46; see, also, annotations under section 673. In an action on contract, alleging fraud as a cause for arrest does not change the nature of the action: Copeland v. Fowler, 151-353; Turlington v. Aman, 163-555.

5. When the defendant has removed, or disposed of his property, or is about to do so, with intent to defraud his creditors.

Fertilizer Co. v. Little, 118-809.

No woman shall be arrested in any action except for a willful injury to person, character or property, and no person shall be arrested on Sunday.

No arrest shall be made on Sunday: Rodman v. Robinson, 134-507; White v. Morris, 107-92; Devries v. Summit, 86-126.

Rev., s. 277; Code, s. 291; C. C. P., s. 149; 1869-70, c. 79; R. C., c. 31, s. 54; 1777, c. 118, s. 6; 1891, c. 541.

For arrest and bail of defendant usurping an office, see this chapter, s. 874.

769. Order and affidavit. An order for the arrest of the defendant must be obtained from the court in which the action is brought or a judge thereof, and may be made where it appears to the court or judge, by affidavit of the plaintiff or of any other person, that a sufficient cause of action exists and that the case is one of those provided for in this article.

Rev., ss. 728, 729; Code, ss. 292, 293; C. C. P., ss. 150, 151.

THE ORDER. An order of arrest is a judicial and not a ministerial proceeding, in the issuance of which the judge and the clerk have concurrent jurisdiction: Bryan v. Stewart, 123-92—and must proceed from the court in which the action is brought or from a judge thereof, Houston v. Walsh, 79-35. Effect where order issued upon insufficient affidavit: Bryan v. Stewart, 123-93; Tucker v. Davis, 77-330. Order can be made out of county: Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-455; Parker v. McPhail, 112-502.

THE AFFIDAVIT. The practice is to set forth the cause for arrest in an affidavit, and not to set it out in the complaint: Roulhac v. Brown, 87-3—but if set out in the complaint it must be done with the same explicitness as when set forth in an affidavit, Peebles v. Foote, 83-102.

It can be sworn to before a notary public of another state: Hinton v. Ins. Co., 116-22. Affidavit that "defendant is about to leave the state" held insufficient because it does not state that it was with intent to defraud creditors and also state grounds of affiant's belief: Wilson v. Barnhill, 64-121. Affidavit that defendant is "about to leave the state," etc., must state the grounds of belief, so it can be seen that the grounds are reasonable: Judd v. Mining Co., 120-399; Wood v. Harrell, 74-338; Hughes v. Person, 63-548; Harriss v. Sneed, 101-273—but when plaintiff relies upon a fact already accomplished, it is only necessary to state the fact in words of the statute, Hughes v. Person, 63-548—yet if he goes on and attempts to state grounds of belief that are unreasonable, the affidavit will not suffice, Smith v. Gibson, 74-684. Mere general rumor will not do: Tucker v. Wilkins, 105-272. Affidavit that defendant sold plaintiff a patent right and told him it was no infringement on other patents, which was false, and that defendant was a nonresident; held sufficient: Bahnsen v. Chesbro, 77-325. Affidavit must show how funds have been misapplied: Melvin v. Melvin, 72-384.

Findings of fact upon which order of arrest made are conclusive: Harriss v. Sneed, 101-273; Parker v. McPhail, 112-502.

As to amending affidavit, see Wilson v. Barnhill, 64-121—and curing first affidavit by reply to counter affidavit, see Clark v. Clark, 64-150. Order of arrest must be predicated upon facts alleged in the original affidavit and existing at time: Devries v. Summit, 86-126.

770. Undertaking before order. Before making the order the court or judge shall require a written undertaking on the part of the plaintiff of at least one hundred dollars, with sufficient surety, payable to the defendant, to the effect that if the defendant recovers judgment the plaintiff will pay all damages which he sustains by reason of the arrest, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking.

Rev., s. 730; Code, s. 294; C. C. P., s. 152; 1868-9, c. 277, s. 7.

For surety companies as surety, see sections 338-345. Liability of sheriff for taking insufficient bail bond: Howell v. Jones, 113-429.

A plaintiff allowed to sue in forma pauperis has no right to an order of arrest without filing undertaking: Rowark v. Homesley, 68-91. Undertaking should show on its face that sureties are residents: Howell v. Jones, 113-429. The judge may increase the plaintiff's bond as fixed by the clerk: Power Co. v. Lessem Co., 174-358.

771. Issuance and form of order. The order may be made to accompany the summons, or to issue at any time afterwards, before judgment. It shall require the sheriff of the county where the defendant may be found forthwith to arrest him and hold him to bail in a specified sum, and to return the order at a place and time therein mentioned to the clerk of the court in which the action is brought. Notice of the return must be served on the plaintiff or his attorney as prescribed by law for the service of other notices.

Rev., s. 731; Code, s. 295; C. C. P., s. 153.

Construction of the words "before judgment," see Preiss v. Cohen, 117-54; Houston v. Walsh, 79-35. As to when and where returnable, see Powers v. Davenport, 101-286. Service of the order can be made on party in jail for criminal offense: White v. Underwood, 125-25. Alias orders can be issued at any time before judgment: White v. Underwood, 125-25. For execution against the person after judgment, and return of execution not satisfied, see section 673.

772. Copies of affidavit and order to defendant. The affidavit and order of arrest shall be delivered to the sheriff, who, upon arresting the defendant, shall deliver him a copy thereof.

Rev., s. 732; Code, s. 296; C. C. P., s. 154.

773. Execution of order. The sheriff shall execute the order by arresting the defendant and keeping him in custody until discharged by law. The sheriff may call the power of the county to his aid in the execution of the arrest.

Rev., s. 733; Code, s. 297; C. C. P., s. 155.

For what constitutes an arrest, see Lawrence v. Buxton, 102-129; Powell v. Fiber Co., 150-12; Hadley v. Tinnin, 170-84. Sheriff may arrest person already in jail on a criminal charge: White v. Underwood, 125-25. Cannot arrest on Sunday: Rodman v. Robinson, 134-507; White v. Morris, 107-92; Devries v. Summit, 86-126.

774. Vacation of order for failure to serve. The order of arrest is of no avail, and shall be vacated or set aside on motion, unless it is served upon the defendant, as provided by law, before the docketing of any judgment in the action.

Rev., s. 734; Code, s. 295; C. C. P., s. 153.

Order must be served twenty days before judgment is docketed or it may be vacated: Houston v. Walsh, 79-38.

775. Motion to vacate order; jury trial. A defendant arrested may at any time before judgment apply on motion to vacate the order of arrest or to reduce the amount of bail. He may deny upon oath the facts alleged in the affidavit of the plaintiff on which the order of arrest was granted, and demand that the issue so raised by the plaintiff's affidavit and the defendant's denial be submitted to the jury and tried in the same manner as other issues. If the issues are found by the jury in favor of the defendant, judgment shall be rendered discharging him from arrest and vacating the order of arrest, and he shall recover of the plaintiff all costs of the proceeding in such arrest incurred by him in defending the action.

Rev., s. 735; Code, s. 316; 1889, c. 497; C. C. P., s. 174.

Motion to vacate may be heard by judge out of court and within the district to which he is assigned: Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-455, citing Parker v. McPhail, 112-502. Motion to vacate must be made before judgment: Roulhae v. Brown, 87-1. Motion to discharge defendant denied cannot be renewed unless upon a new state of facts: Eaker v. Garriss, 108-226, and cases cited. Defendant moving to vacate must fully and clearly meet the facts alleged in affidavit by a counter affidavit: Powers v. Davenport, 101-286. If plaintiff, even though suing as pauper, fail to give undertaking for arrest, order may be vacated on motion: Rowark v. Homesley, 68-91. For the test of the validity of the order of arrest, see Devries v. Summit, 86-126. Effect where justice discharges defendant and there is an appeal by plaintiff: Patton v. Gash, 99-280. An appeal lies from order vacating an order of arrest: Fertilizer Co. v. Grubbs, 114-470. As to issues submitted to the jury, see Boykin v. Maddrey, 114-99.

A finding of fact by the judge in considering motion to vacate where there is evidence to support it is final: Parker v. McPhail, 112-502; Harriss v. Sneed, 101-273; Travers v. Deaton, 107-500. Where order of arrest appears irregular or issued for insufficient cause, it can be vacated without requiring defendant to give bond: Devries v. Summit, 86-131, citing Bear v. Cohen, 65-511. No ground for vacating that defendant has been indicted, tried and acquitted by courts of another state for same charge: Powers v. Davenport, 101-286. Procedure on the hearing of motion to vacate order: Harriss v. Sneed, 101-273; Roulhae v. Brown, 87-1; Boykin v. Maddrey, 114-99; Powers v. Davenport, 101-286; Bear v. Cohen, 65-511; Devries v. Summit, 86-126; Clark v. Clark, 64-150. Section cited: Pickelsimer v. Glazener, 173-630; Edwards v. Sorrell, 150-712.

776. Counter affidavits by plaintiff. If the motion is made upon affidavits on the part of the defendant, but not otherwise, the plaintiff may oppose the same by affidavits, or other proof, in addition to those on which the order of arrest was made.

Rev., s. 736; Code, s. 317; C. C. P., s. 175.

The counter affidavit upon which motion to vacate is based must fully and clearly meet all the facts alleged in the affidavit of plaintiff: Powers v. Davenport, 101-286; Harriss v. Sneed, 101-273—for a simple denial will not do, Ibid.

Plaintiff can only produce further evidence where defendant moves to vacate upon counter affidavits: Harriss v. Sneed, 101-273. Where, instead of moving to vacate for an apparent insufficiency of affidavit, defendant files counter affidavit, plaintiff may cure the insufficiency by filing other affidavits: Devries v. Summit, 86-130.

777. How defendant discharged. The defendant, at any time before execution, shall be discharged from the arrest, either upon giving bail or upon depositing the amount mentioned in the order of arrest, as provided in this article.

Rev., s. 737; Code, s. 298; C. C. P., s. 156.

See Fertilizer Co. v. Grubbs, 114-470; Howell v. Jones, 113-431. Nonresident defendants entitled to benefit of statute relating to insolvent debtors: Burgwyn v. Hall, 108-489. As to insolvent debtors being discharged, see sections 1637-1650. See, also, Preiss v. Cohen, 117-54; Edwards v. Sorrell, 150-712; Pickelsimer v. Glazener, 173-630.

778. Defendant's undertaking. The defendant may give bail by causing a written undertaking, payable to the plaintiff, to be executed by sufficient surety to the effect that the defendant shall at all times render himself amenable to the process of the court, during the pendency of the action, and to such as may be issued to enforce the judgment therein, or if he is arrested in an action to recover the possession of personal property unjustly claimed, an undertaking to the same effect as that provided by law to be given by defendant for the retention of property, under the article entitled Claim and Delivery.

Rev., s. 738; Code, s. 299; C. C. P., s. 157.

See sections 768, 792. If defendant already in jail under criminal charge, he need not give bail until he is released: White v. Underwood, 125-28.

Liability of sheriff for taking insufficient bail: Howell v. Jones, 113-429; see Winborne v. Mitchell, 111-13; also see sections 3930, 3941—and the measure of damages therefor, Roulhae v. Miller, 90-174; but see section 783.

Summary judgment entered against sureties, when: Patton v. Gash, 99-283; see, also, Robbins v. Killebrew, 95-19; Councill v. Averett, 90-168. Purpose of bail explained: Pickelsimer v. Glazener, 173-630.

779. Defendant's undertaking delivered to clerk; exception. Within the time limited for that purpose, the sheriff shall deliver the order of arrest to the clerk of the court in which the suit is brought, with his return endorsed, and a certified copy of the undertaking of the bail, and notify the plaintiff or his attorney thereof. The plaintiff, within ten days thereafter, may serve upon the sheriff a notice that he does not accept the bail, or he is deemed to have accepted it and the sheriff is exonerated from the liability.

Rev., s. 739; Code, s. 304; C. C. P., s. 162.

780. Notice of justification; new bail. On the receipt of notice of exception to the bail, the sheriff or defendant may, within ten days thereafter, give to the plaintiff or his attorney notice of the justification of the same or other bondsmen (specifying the places of residence and occupation of the latter) before the court, justice of the peace, or judge, at a specified time and place; the time to be not less than five nor more than ten days thereafter. In case other bondsmen given, there must be a new bond, in the form hereinbefore prescribed.

Rev., s. 741; Code, s. 305; C. C. P., s. 163.

See section 778. Sheriff failing to give notice is liable as special bail: Howell v. Jones, 113-429.

781. Qualifications of bail. The qualifications of bail must be as follows:

1. Each of them must be a resident and freeholder within the state.

2. They must each be worth the amount specified in the order of arrest, exclusive of property exempt from execution; but the judge, on justification, may allow more than two bail to justify severally in amounts less than that expressed in the order, if the whole justification is equivalent to that of two sufficient bail.

Rev., s. 740; Code, s. 306; C. C. P., s. 164.

The bail bond should show on its face that the surety is a resident and freeholder within the state: Howell v. Jones, 113-429.

782. Justification of bail. For the purpose of justification, each of the bail shall attend before the court or judge, or a justice of the peace, at the time and place mentioned in the notice, and may be examined on oath, on the part of the plaintiff, touching his sufficiency, in such manner as the court, judge or justice of the peace, in his discretion, may think proper. The examination must be reduced to writing and subscribed by the bail, if required by the plaintiff.

Rev., s. 742; Code, s. 307; C. C. P., s. 165.

If party offering to become bail is not a resident and freeholder he is not sufficient: Howell v. Jones, 113-429.

783. Allowance of bail. If the court, judge or justice of the peace finds the bail sufficient, he shall annex the examination to the undertaking, endorse his allowance thereon, and cause them to be filed with the clerk. The sheriff is then exonerated from liability.

Rev., s. 743; Code, s. 308; C. C. P., s. 166.

784. Deposit in lieu of bail. The defendant may, at the time of his arrest, instead of giving bail, deposit with the sheriff the amount mentioned in the order. The sheriff shall then give a certificate of the deposit to the defendant, who shall be discharged from custody.

Rev., s. 744; Code, s. 309; C. C. P., s. 167.

785. Deposit paid into court; liability on sheriff's bond. Within four days after the deposit the sheriff must pay it into court, and take from the officer receiving it two certificates of such payment, one of which he must deliver to the plaintiff, and the other to the defendant. For any default in making such payment, the same proceedings may be had on the official bond of the sheriff, to collect the sum deposited, as in other cases of delinquency.

Rev., s. 745; Code, s. 310; C. C. P., s. 168.

As to sheriff's liability upon his bond, see sections 3930, 3941.

786. Bail substituted for deposit. If money is deposited, as provided in the two preceding sections, bail may be given and justified upon notice according to law at any time before judgment. Thereupon the judge, court or justice of the peace shall direct, in the order of allowance, that the money deposited be refunded by the sheriff or other officer to the defendant, and it shall be refunded accordingly.

Rev., s. 746; Code, s. 311; C. C. P., s. 169.

787. Deposit applied to plaintiff's judgment. When money has been deposited, and remains on deposit at the time of an order or judgment for the payment of money to the plaintiff, the clerk or other officer shall, under the direction of the court, apply the same in satisfaction thereof, and after satisfying the judgment shall refund any surplus to the defendant. If the judgment is in favor of the defendant the clerk or other officer shall refund to him the whole sum deposited and remaining unapplied.

Rev., s. 747; Code, s. 312; C. C. P., s. 170.

788. Defendant in jail, sheriff may take bail. If a person for want of bail is lawfully committed to jail, at any time before final judgment, the sheriff, or other officer having him in custody, may take bail and discharge him; and the bail bond shall be regarded in every respect as other bail bonds, and shall be returned and sued on in like manner; and the officer taking it shall make special return thereof, with the bond, at the first court which is held after it is taken.

Rev., s. 748; Code, s. 318; R. C., c. 11, s. 8.

789. When sheriff liable as bail. If, after arrest, the defendant escapes, or is rescued, or bail is not given or justified, or a deposit is not made instead thereof, the sheriff is himself liable as bail. But he may discharge himself from such liability by the giving and justification of bail at any time before process against the person of the defendant to enforce an order or judgment in the action.

Rev., s. 749; Code, s. 313; C. C. P., s. 171.

As to sheriff's liability, see Howell v. Jones, 113-429; Winborne v. Mitchell, 111-13; see, also, sections 3930, 3941.

790. Action on sheriff's bond. If a judgment is recovered against the sheriff, upon his liability as bail, and an execution thereon is returned wholly or partly unsatisfied, the same proceedings may be had on the official bond of the sheriff, to collect the deficiency, as in other cases of delinquency.

Rev., s. 750; Code, s. 314; C. C. P., s. 172.

791. Bail exonerated. At any time before final judgment against them, the bail may be exonerated, either by the death of the defendant or his imprisonment in a state prison, or by his legal discharge from the obligation to render himself amenable to the process, or by his surrender to the sheriff of the county where he was arrested, in execution of the judgment.

Rev., s. 751; Code, s. 303; C. C. P., s. 161.

Imprisonment in state's prison expiring before judgment against principal in original action or against bail upon his undertaking does not exonerate bail: Sedberry v. Carver, 77-319; Adrian v. Scanlin, 77-317. "State prison" as used means either penitentiary or county jail: Sedberry v. Carver, 77-319. Exoneration by surrender of principal: Pickelsimer v. Glazener, 173-630. Section cited, Patton v. Gash, 99-283.

792. Surrender of defendant. At any time before final judgment against them, the bail may surrender the defendant in their exoneration, or he may surrender himself to the sheriff of the county where he was arrested, in the following manner:

1. A certified copy of the undertaking of the bail shall be delivered to the sheriff, who shall detain the defendant in his custody thereon, as upon an order of arrest, and acknowledge the surrender by a certificate in writing.

2. Upon the production of a copy of the undertaking and sheriff's certificate, the court or judge may, upon a notice to the plaintiff of ten days, with a copy of the certificate, order that the bail be exonerated, and on filing the order and papers used on said application they shall be exonerated accordingly. But this section does not apply to an arrest in an action to recover the possession of personal property unjustly detained, so as to discharge the bail from an undertaking given to the effect provided by law to be given by defendant for the retention of property, under the article entitled Claim and Delivery.

Rev., s. 752; Code, s. 300; C. C. P., s. 158.

See section 768 et seq. How the surrender may be made: Pickelsimer v. Glazener, 173-630.

793. Bail may arrest defendant. For the purpose of surrendering the defendant, the bail, at any time or place, before they are finally charged, may themselves arrest him, or by a written authority endorsed on a certified copy of the undertaking may empower any person over twenty-one years of age to do so.

Rev., s. 753; Code, s. 301; C. C. P., s. 159.

Right of bail to arrest principal explained: Pickelsimer v. Glazener, 173-630. Section referred to, Sedberry v. Carver, 77-321.

794. Proceedings against bail by motion. In case of failure to comply with the undertaking the bail may be proceeded against by motion in the cause on ten days notice to them.

Rev., s. 754; Code, s. 302; C. C. P., s. 160.

Manner of proceeding against bail: Pickelsimer v. Glazener, 173-630. See Patton v. Gash, 99-284. As to measure of damages, see Roulhac v. Miller, 90-174. Section merely referred to in Mahoney v. Tyler, 136-43.

795. Liability of bail to sheriff. The bail taken upon the arrest are, unless they justify, or other bail are given or justified, liable to the sheriff by action for damages which he may sustain by reason of such omission.

Rev., s. 755; Code, s. 315; C. C. P., s. 173.

796. When bail to pay costs. When a notice issues against a person, as the bail of another, and the bail, at or before the term of the court at which he is bound to appear, or ought to plead, is not discharged from his liability by the death or surrender of his principal or otherwise, he is liable for all costs which accrue on said notice, notwithstanding he may be afterwards discharged, by the death or surrender of the principal, or otherwise.

Rev., s. 756; Code, s. 319; R. C., c. 11, s. 10.

The costs allowed against bail, notwithstanding a surrender, etc., do not include such as are incurred on account of an improper and ineffectual appeal: Clark v. Latham, 53-1.

797. Bail not discharged by amendment. No amendment of process or pleading discharges the bail of the party arrested thereon, unless it enlarges the sum demanded beyond the sum expressed in the bail bond.

Rev., s. 757; Code, s. 320; R. C., c. 11, s. 11.

ART. 34. ATTACHMENT

798. In what actions attachment granted. A warrant of attachment against the property of one or more defendants in an action may be granted upon the application of the plaintiff, as specified in this article, when the action is to recover a sum of money only, or damages for one or more of the following causes:

1. Breach of contract, express or implied.
2. Wrongful conversion of personal property.
3. Any other injury to real or personal property, in consequence of negligence, fraud, or other wrongful act.
4. Any injury to the person, caused by negligence or wrongful act.

Rev., s. 758; Code, s. 347; 1893, c. 77; 1901, c. 740; C. C. P., s. 197.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS. Original attachment under former practice and attachment under Code practice distinguished: Holmes v. Sackett, 63-58; Penniman v. Daniel, 91-431; Grocery Co. v. Bag Co., 142-174. It is in the nature of a preliminary execution to secure property of the defendant for the satisfaction of such judgment as the plaintiff may recover: Branch v. Frank, 81-180; Mfg. Co. v. Lumber Co., 177-404. Attachment is an auxiliary remedy: Toms v. Warson, 66-417; Mixer v. Guano Co., 65-552; Marsh v. Williams, 63-371—and the statutes relating thereto must be strictly construed, Carson v. Woodrow, 160-144; Wheeler v. Cobb, 75-21; Leak v. Moorman, 61-168; Parker v. Scott, 64-120—but if it appears from the whole record that the statute has been substantially complied with, the action will not be dismissed, or attachment dissolved, Grant v. Burgwyn, 79-513; Best v. British and American Co., 128-351; Page v. McDonald, 159-38.

Plaintiff must first show that he is entitled to the main relief demanded in the complaint: Witz v. Gray, 116-48—and if he fail, the attachment should be vacated, Knight v. Hatfield, 129-191. Attachment is not, strictly speaking, a proceeding in rem, and a judgment therein is only conclusive upon the parties to it and those in privity with them: Hornthal v. Burwell, 109-10; Bernhardt v. Brown, 118-700. Attachment and injunction distinguished: Armstrong v. Kinsell, 164-125.

The situs of a debt for attachment purposes is where either the debtor or creditor resides: Sexton v. Ins. Co., 132-1; Warlick v. Reynolds, 151-606; Strause v. Ins. Co., 126-223; Balk v. Harris, 124-467; Cooper v. Security Co., 122-463; Winfree v. Bagley, 102-515; see Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209—and the location of an agent in a state other than the place of residence of debtor will not make the latter state the situs of debts owing by such debtor and subject to garnishment there, Strause v. Ins. Co., 126-223; but see Balk v. Harris, 124-467. See section 819.

ATTACHMENT LIES IN WHAT CASES. For unliquidated damages arising out of breach of contract: Foushee v. Owen, 122-360; Judd v. Mining Co., 120-397; Long v. Ins. Co., 114-470; Mullen v. Canal Co., 114-8, overruling former cases—for injury to gas pipes embedded in the earth, causing gas to escape, Gas Light Co. v. Construction Co., 113-549—where one domiciled elsewhere resides here, Howland v. Marshall, 127-430; see Wheeler v. Cobb, 75-25—where one voluntarily moves to another state to discharge duties of an office of indefinite duration, Carden v. Carden, 107-214. Attachment lies against unpaid subscription by resident of this state to the stock of a foreign corporation: Cooper v. Security Co., 122-463—against debt under garnishment in same action, Baker v. Belvin, 122-190—against property of dissolved foreign corporation, Kruger v. Bank, 123-16—against property of assignee of draft on purchaser with bill of lading attached, Finch v. Gregg, 126-176; but this is overruled as to liability of assignee, in Mason v. Cotton Co., 148-492—against claim for loss under insurance policy, Sexton v. Ins. Co., 132-1—against money from sale of ward's land in hands of clerk, after confirmation of sale, LeRoy v. Jacobosky, 136-443—against property of non-resident married woman, Bank v. Granite Co., 155-43. Changes made in application of statute: Worth v. Trust Co., 151-191. Attachment for conspiracy to injure plaintiff as holder of stock: Ibid. "Property" defined: Webb v. Bowler, 50-362; Winfree v. Bagley, 102-515; Worth v. Trust Co., 151-191.

ATTACHMENT DOES NOT LIE IN WHAT CASES. Does not lie against a national bank: Mfg. Co. v. Bank, 130-609; but see Markham-Stephens Co. v. Richmond Co., 177-364—nor against the sheriff's tax books, Davie v. Blackburn, 117-383; Powell v. Wall, 117-386—nor against property taken by sheriff under claim and delivery to be delivered by him to a third party, Williamson v. Nealy, 119-339, and cases there cited—nor against property of a foreign corporation rechartered in this state, except in cases stated in Bernhardt v. Brown, 119-506. Nor does it lie when a person leaves the state for the purpose of joining his country's army, Abrams v. Pender, 44-260—nor leaves state to seek work with a view of locating, Mahoney v. Tyler, 136-40—nor where plaintiff cannot recover, Knight v. Hatfield, 129-191—nor where property sought to be attached is in custodia legis, Lemly v. Ellis, 143-211; Williamson v. Nealy, 119-339; but see Bank v. Johnston, 161-506—nor against funds in hands of a collector of a foreign fraternal order, Brenizer v. Royal Arcanum, 141-409—nor against personal exemptions reserved by trustor in deed of trust who leaves state before allotment, Latta v. Bell, 122-639.

799. Affidavit must show what. To entitle the plaintiff to a warrant of attachment he must show by affidavit to the satisfaction of the court as follows:

1. That one of the causes of action specified in the preceding section exists against the defendant. If the action is to recover damages for breach of contract, the affidavit must show that the plaintiff is entitled to recover a sum stated therein, over and above all counterclaims known to him.

See Witz v. Gray, 116-48; Knight v. Hatfield, 129-191.

2. That the defendant is either a foreign corporation or a nonresident of the state, or a domestic corporation none of whose officers can be found in the state after due diligence; or, if he is a natural person and a resident of the state, that he has departed therefrom, or keeps himself concealed therein, with intent to defraud his creditors or to avoid service of summons; or, if the defendant is a natural person or a domestic corporation, that he or it has removed, or is about to remove, property from the state, with intent to defraud his or its creditors; or has assigned, disposed of, or secreted, or is about to assign, dispose of, or secrete, property with like intent.

Rev. s. 759; Code, s. 349; 1897, c. 476; C. C. P., s. 201.

The warrant can be issued only upon affidavit of facts existing at the time when the proceedings were commenced: Devries v. Summit, 86-126. An insufficient affidavit does not make the whole proceeding void; it merely makes it irregular: Spillman v. Williams, 91-483. The statute must be strictly followed in drawing the affidavit: Wheeler v. Cobb, 75-24; Spiers v. Halstead, 71-209; Love v. Young, 69-65; Leak v. Moorman, 61-168; Parker v. Scott, 64-119; Marsh v. Williams, 63-371. The court has power to allow amendments to the substance or form of affidavit: Howland v. Marshall, 127-429; Cook v. Mining Co., 114-617; Sheldon v. Kivett, 110-408; Cushing v. Styron, 104-338; Penniman v. Daniel, 93-332; Palmer v. Boshier, 71-291; Brown v. Hawkins, 65-645—and from the court's order there is no appeal, Cook v. Mining Co., 114-617; also see under section 547. An attachment wrongfully issued from justice's court against a citizen of the state transiently absent, is remedied by recordari: Merrell v. McHone, 126-528. Affidavit made by an agent need not state why it is not made by the principal: Sheldon v. Kivett, 110-408. A corporation is a necessary party to an attachment proceeding to subject amounts due it from unpaid subscriptions to its stock to the payment of debts: Cooper v. Security Co., 122-463.

As to what constitutes "residence" and "nonresidence," see Mahoney v. Tyler, 136-40; s. c., 166-509; Fulton v. Roberts, 113-428; Carden v. Carden, 107-214; Howland v. Marshall, 127-431; Bernhardt v. Brown, 119-506; Wheeler v. Cobb, 75-25; Abrams v. Pender, 44-260; also see Chitty v. Chitty, 118-648, and cases cited; Cromer v. Self, 149-164.

CONTENTS OF AFFIDAVIT. Affidavit stating that defendant is "about to remove property," etc., or "about to assign," etc., should state the grounds of affiant's belief: Finch v. Slater, 152-155; Judd v. Mining Co., 120-397; Harriss v. Sneeden, 101-273; Penniman v.

Daniel, 90-154; Wood v. Harrell, 74-338; Brown v. Hawkins, 65-645; Gashine v. Baer, 64-108; Hughes v. Person, 63-548—but where it states a fact as accomplished, the reason need not be given, Hess v. Brower, 76-428; see, also, Hughes v. Person, 63-548. Sufficient affidavit as to fraudulent disposition of property: Mfg. Co. v. Lumber Co., 177-404—as to nonresidence and cause of action, Page v. McDonald, 159-38—for conspiracy to injure, Worth v. Trust Co., 151-191.

The grounds for issuing an attachment are in the alternative, and affidavit may state them all, and the plaintiff succeeds if he establishes either: Penniman v. Daniel, 90-154. Affidavit need not state that defendant has property in the state: Foushee v. Owen, 122-360; Parks v. Adams, 113-473; Branch v. Frank, 81-180, overruling Spiers v. Halstead, 71-209; Windley v. Broadway, 77-333—nor that defendant “cannot, after due diligence, be found within this state,” Luttrell v. Martin, 112-593, correcting syllabus in Sheldon v. Kivett, 110-408. (This might be different as to a domestic corporation whose officers cannot be found, see subsection 2.)

A warrant of attachment cannot be supported by an allegation that defendant is about to remove from the state to defraud his creditors: Hale v. Richardson, 89-62.

Section merely referred to in Evans v. Etheridge, 96-43.

800. Affidavit to be filed. It is the duty of the plaintiff procuring a warrant of attachment, within ten days from its issuance, to file the affidavit on which it was granted in the office of the clerk of the superior court to which, or with the justice of the peace before whom, the process is returnable.

Rev., s. 760; Code, s. 355; C. C. P., s. 201.

801. By whom granted. If the action is not founded on a contract, or if founded on a contract and the sum demanded exceeds two hundred dollars, a warrant of attachment may be obtained from the judge of the district embracing the county in which the action was begun, or from the clerk of the superior court from which the summons in the action issued; and it may be issued to any county in the state where the defendant has property, money, effects, choses in action or debts due him, and shall be made returnable in term time to the court from which the summons issued.

Rev., s. 761; Code, s. 351; C. C. P., s. 199; 1869-70, c. 147; 1870-1, c. 166, ss. 1, 3; 1874-5, c. 111; 1876-7, c. 251.

The clerk, acting as and for the court, has authority out of term time to grant the warrant of attachment and to allow amendments: Howland v. Marshall, 127-429, citing Cushing v. Styron, 104-338. The clerk acts ministerially, and, therefore, upon his affidavit taken before another who is empowered to administer oaths, he can issue the warrant in case in which he is plaintiff: Evans v. Etheridge, 96-42. Ministerial and judicial acts distinguished: Jackson v. Buchanan, 89-74. Warrant returnable to term: Page v. McDonald, 159-38. The warrant which does not state when or where returnable is irregular: Backalan v. Littlefield, 64-233. Blank forms signed by clerk and filled out by attorney for plaintiff, not sufficient issuing: Carson v. Woodrow, 160-143.

802. Time of issuance; service of summons. The warrant of attachment may be granted to accompany the summons, or at any time thereafter. Personal service of the summons must be made upon the defendant against whose property the attachment is granted, within thirty days after its granting, or else upon the expiration of the same time service of summons by publication must be commenced pursuant to an order obtained therefor, and if publication has been or is thereafter commenced, the service must be made complete by the continuance thereof.

For affidavit and service of summons by publication, see sections 484-486 and 805. No summons need be issued where it appears that defendant is not in reach of the process of the court and cannot be personally served; in such case the action should be commenced by the filing of affidavit to be followed by publication: Grocery Co. v. Bag Co., 142-174, approving Best v. British and American Co., 128-351, and overruling McClure v. Fellows, 131-509. Publication is not irregular because commenced within thirty days after issuing summons: Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209; Mills v. Hansel, 168-651. A general appearance by defendant waives all antecedent irregularities in the process: Wheeler v. Cobb, 75-21. When summons not properly served, motion to vacate attachment allowed: Finch v. Slater, 152-155—but the court may extend the time for service of summons, Ibid.

803. Undertaking. The officer, before issuing the warrant, must require a written undertaking on the part of the plaintiff, with sufficient surety, to the effect that if the defendant recovers judgment, or the attachment is set aside by order of the court, the plaintiff will pay all costs that are awarded to the defendant, and all damages which he sustains by reason of the attachment, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking, which must be at least two hundred dollars.

Rev., s. 763; Code, s. 356; C. C. P., s. 202.

Where surety signs the justification instead of the undertaking, it is sufficient, or may be corrected: Boger v. Lumber Co., 165-557. The successful defendant in attachment must seek relief for damages in a separate action on the undertaking: Mahoney v. Tyler, 136-40; s. c., 166-509, and 168-237. The injured party may sue plaintiff as well as upon the undertaking: Martin v. Rexford, 170-540. The cause of action accrues from the judgment in favor of defendant, and not from the release of the property: Smith v. Bonding Co., 160-574—if not over $200, must be begun before a justice of the peace, Railroad v. Hardware Co., 135-73. As to pleading, proof, and measure of damages due defendant when attachment vacated: Tyler v. Mahoney, 168-236; s. c., 166-509, 136-40; Smith v. Bonding Co., 160-574; Wright v. Harris, 160-543; Bowen v. King, 146-385; Railroad v. Hardware Co., 138-174; see, also, Crawford v. Pearson, 116-718; Kirkman v. Coe, 46-423; Williams v. Hunter, 10-545. Attaching creditor not liable for failure of sheriff to perform his duty relative to attached property: Mahoney v. Tyler, 136-40. Cause of action of wrongful attachment and one against surety on the bond cannot be joined: Railroad v. Hardware Co., 135-73; s. c., 143-54; Smith v. Bonding Co., 160-574.

804. Validity of undertaking. It is not a defense to an action upon an undertaking, given upon granting a warrant of attachment, that the warrant was granted improperly, for want of jurisdiction, or for any other cause.

Rev., s. 764; Code, s. 358.

805. To whom warrant directed; duty of officer. The warrant shall be directed to the sheriff of any county in which the property of the defendant is located, or, in case it is issued by a justice of the peace, to the sheriff or any constable of such county, and shall require the sheriff or constable to attach and safely keep all the property of the defendant within his county, or so much thereof as is sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's demand, the amount of which must be stated in conformity with the complaint, together with costs and expenses; it must also state when and where it shall be returned. Several warrants may be issued at the same time to the sheriffs of different counties, but where the warrant is issued by a justice of the peace to another county than his own, the clerk of the superior court of his county must certify that he is a justice of the peace and that the signature to the warrant is in the handwriting of the justice.

Rev., s. 765; Code, s. 357; 1895, c. 435, s. 1; C. C. P., s. 203.

Warrant issued out of superior court should be addressed to the sheriff: Carson v. Woodrow, 160-143. Failure to specify in warrant the date and the place of return renders warrant voidable; but such defect is waived if the defendant appears and gives an undertaking for the redelivery of the property seized: Backalan v. Littlefield, 64-233.

Case merely referring to section: Davie v. Blackburn, 117-385.

806. Notice; service and content. When the warrant of attachment is taken out at the time of issuing the summons, and the summons is to be served by publication, the order shall direct that notice be given in the publication to the defendant of the issuing of the attachment. When the warrant of attachment is obtained after the issuing of the summons, the defendant must be notified by publication of the fact for four successive weeks in some newspaper published in the county to which it is returnable, or if none, then in one published in the judicial district including said county. The publication shall state the names of the parties, the amount of the claims, and in a brief way the nature of the demand and the time and place to which the warrant is returnable. In proceedings by attachment begun before justices of the peace, advertisement in a newspaper is not necessary, but advertisement at the courthouse door and four other public places in the county for four successive weeks is sufficient publication, both as to the summons and warrant of attachment.

Rev., s. 766; Code, s. 352; 1893, c. 363; 1870-1, c. 166, s. 3; 1874-5, c. 111, s. 2.

For service of summons by publication generally, see sections 484-486. No summons need be issued when party is beyond the reach of the process of the court, and cannot be personally served; the action is commenced by affidavit for publication: Grocery Co. v. Bag Co., 142-174, approving Best v. British-American Co., 128-351, and overruling McClure v. Fellows, 131-509; Mills v. Hansel, 168-651.

Personal service of summons or publication of same for time required necessary to make judgment valid: Ditmore v. Goins, 128-327. Service by publication must be made strictly in accordance with the statute: Bacon v. Johnson, 110-116. Where a publication begun July 11, 1900, was defective in not containing notice also of the warrant of attachment, an alias order of publication, duly made prior to the November term, cured the defect: Best v. British-American Co., 128-351. Where publication of warrant made, but summons not served, a judgment thereon is void: Ditmore v. Goins, 128-325. A service by publication on a nonresident in an action affecting property is invalid without attachment: Graham v. O'Brian, 120-463. As to amending order of publication after publication made, see Bank v. Blossom, 92-695. It seems affidavit may be filed after order of publication in certain cases, see Bank v. Blossom, 92-695. Publication of summons without attachment cured by subsequent publication: Best v. British-American Co., 128-351. Where service by publication defective, it may be remedied by order and republication: Page v. McDonald, 159-38; Bank v. Blossom, 92-695; Penniman v. Daniel, 90-154; Price v. Cox, 83-261—and where affidavit defective it may be amended and an alias order of publication made without dismissing the action: Mullen v. Canal Co., 112-109; Branch v. Frank, 81-180.

If there has been no seizure of property nor personal service of summons, publication is not effectual: Everitt v. Austin, 169-622; Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209; Lemly v. Ellis, 143-213; Winfree v. Bagley, 102-515—but when the court has acquired jurisdiction by seizure of property, the time for publication may be extended: Mills v. Hansel, 168-651. If defendant has not been served with summons either personally or by publication, the warrant of attachment should be vacated: Finch v. Slater, 152-155; Bowman v. Ward, 152-602. The defendant, by making application to discharge the property and giving the undertaking required, enters a voluntary appearance: Mitchell v. Lumber Co., 169-397.

Difference between affidavit for attachment and for publication: Luttrell v. Martin, 112-593; Branch v. Frank, 81-180.

807. Execution, levy, and lien. The officer to whom the warrant of attachment is directed and delivered shall seize and take into his possession the tangible personal property of the defendant or so much as is necessary, and he is liable for the care and custody of such property, as if it had been seized under execution. He shall levy on the real estate of the defendant as prescribed for executions; he shall make and return with the warrant an inventory of the property seized or levied on, and, subject to the direction of the court, shall collect all debts owing to the defendant, and take such legal proceedings in his own name or in that of the defendant as are necessary for that purpose. Where the sheriff or other officer levies an attachment upon real estate, he must certify the levy to the clerk of the superior court of the county where the land lies, with the names of the parties, and the clerk must note the same on his judgment docket and index it on the index to judgments, and the levy is a lien only from the date of entry by the clerk, except that if it is so docketed and indexed within five days after being made it is a lien from the time it was made.

Rev., s. 767; Code, s. 359; 1895, c. 435, s. 2; C. C. P., s. 204.

See cases cited under section 798. Attachment can be levied only on such property as can be taken under execution: Johnson v. Whilden, 166-104; s. e., 171-153. As to levy on tangible personalty: Ins. Co. v. Davis, 68-17—on funds in hands of agent, Bank v. Johnston, 161-506; Blair v. Puryear, 87-101—on debts due defendant, Bowen v. King, 146-385; Cooper v. Security Co., 122-463—but where debtor and creditor are both nonresident, the debt is not subject to attachment as the property of the creditor, Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209—interest of mortgagee in personalty held by mortgagor not subject to levy, Bowen v. King, 146-385—property in custodia legis does not subject to attachment, unless held simply for the defendant, Williamson v. Nealy, 119-339; Bank v. Johnston, 161-506. Stock in a corporation, see section 816. Property of lunatic first to be applied to support of himself and family: Lemly v. Ellis, 146-221.

Levy on land: Morrison v. Mining Co., 143-250; Atkinson v. Ricks, 140-418; Evans v. Alridge, 133-378; Grier v. Rhyne, 67-338. A levy on land located in another county than that in which judgment obtained may be made without docketing transcript in county where land lies: Evans v. Alridge, 133-378, and cases cited. Failure to certify levy to clerk of county where land lies does not invalidate levy: Ibid. Homestead and personal property exemptions not subject to levy and sale, if defendant entitled to claim them: Taylor v. Hayes, 172-663. Priority between mortgagee and attaching creditor: Sloan Bros. v. Sawyer-Felder Co., 175-657.

Case of seizure by sheriff when indemnifying bond given: Stein v. Cozart, 122-230. Officer cannot break open the door of a house to levy attachment: State v. Whitaker, 107-802.

808. Return of warrant by sheriff. The sheriff shall return the warrant of attachment, and the undertakings provided for in this article, with a statement of his proceedings thereon, at the time and place at which it is on its face returnable, and upon, or at any time after, the return, he may obtain from the court to which the warrant was returnable a certified copy thereof, which, for the purpose of giving him authority, is the same as the original, and when the warrant has been fully executed or discharged, the sheriff shall return it, with his proceedings, to said court.

Rev., s. 768; Code, s. 376; C. C. P., s. 214.

809. When granted by justice of peace. If the action is not founded on contract and the value of the property in controversy does not exceed the sum of fifty dollars, the warrant of attachment may, or if the action is founded on contract and the sum demanded does not exceed two hundred dollars, the warrant of attachment must be obtained from and made returnable before a justice of the peace of a county to the superior court of which it would have been returnable had the sum demanded exceeded two hundred dollars, or had the action not been founded on contract.

Rev., s. 769; Code, s. 353; C. C. P., s. 200; 1876-7, c. 251.

810. Publication in justice's court. The plaintiff, within thirty days after obtaining a warrant of attachment from a justice of the peace, must cause publication thereof to be made for four successive weeks at the courthouse door and four other public places in the county where the warrant is returnable.

Rev., s. 770; Code, s. 350; C. C. P., s. 198; 1868-9, c. 95, s. 3; 1870-1, c. 166, s. 4; 1874-5, c. 111.

For computation of time, see section 922. For publication of summons, see sections 484-487, 806. Where justice issued a summons and warrant of attachment, and publication of warrant was made, but summons not served, judgment rendered thereon is void: Ditmore v. Goins, 128-325.

As to computing time of publication, see Guilford v. Georgia, 109-310.

811. Justice's attachment against land. If the attachment is levied on real property, the justice shall proceed to try the action, but may not issue execution to sell the real property, and shall return the papers in the case to the office of the clerk of the superior court of his county, where the judgment shall be docketed. The levy of the attachment, however, is a lien on the real estate, when the provisions of the section as to execution and levy of attachment are complied with.

Rev., s. 771; Code, s. 354; 1868-9, c. 95, s. 4.

Attachment issued by justice creates a lien from its levy and not merely from the docketing of the judgment in superior court: Morefield v. Harris, 126-626. As to regularity of proceedings to sell land attached, see Grier v. Rhyne, 67-338.

Case merely referring to section: Merrell v. McHone, 126-529.

812. Sale of attached property pending litigation. If any property seized under attachment is perishable, or of a character to materially deteriorate in value pending litigation, or of such character that the expense of keeping it until the determination of the suit would be likely to exceed one-fifth of its value, or if any part of it consists of a vessel, or of any share or interest therein, and the person to whom it belongs, or his agent, does not within ten days after the serving of the attachment reclaim the same, the sheriff or other officer having possession shall apply to the court for authority to sell the property, stating the circumstances. The property shall then be sold, under the order and direction of the court, and the proceeds are liable to the judgment obtained upon the attachment, and shall be retained by the sheriff or other officer to await the judgment.

Rev., s. 772; Code, s. 360; R. C., c. 7, s. 6; 1777, c. 115, s. 28; C. C. P., s. 205.

For sale of corporate property by receiver during litigation, see Corporations, s. 1214.

Where goods of a third party sold hereunder and third party interpleads and recovers judgment, the costs and expenses of attachment cannot be taken out of fund: Haywood v. Hardie, 76-384. As to recovery of damages where perishable property wrongfully seized and sold, see Mahoney v. Tyler, 136-40; s. e., 166-509, 168-236.

813. Replevy by defendant; undertaking. The person owning the property advertised to be sold according to the provisions of this article, or his agent or attorney, may, at any time before sale, replevy the same, by giving an undertaking in double the amount of the value of the property, with sufficient surety, to the effect that he will return the property to the sheriff or other officer, if its return is adjudged by the court, and pay all costs that are awarded against him; and if return of the property cannot be had, then that he will pay plaintiff its value, and all costs and damages that are awarded against him. Upon the execution of this undertaking, the sheriff, or other officer, shall deliver the property to the person owning it.

Recitals in undertaking as to sheriff's seizure of and levy on goods estops defendant to attack sufficiency and validity of seizure and levy: Pearre v. Folb, 123-239.

814. Defendant may apply for discharge and delivery of property. When the defendant has appeared in such action, he may apply to the court in which it is pending, or to the judge thereof, for an order to discharge the attachment; and if the order is granted, all the proceeds of sale, and moneys collected in the action, and all property attached remaining in the hands of any officer of the court, under any process or order in the action, shall be delivered or paid to the defendant or his agent, and released from the attachment. Where there is more than one defendant, and the several property of one of them has been seized by virtue of the order of attachment, the defendant whose several property was seized may apply in like manner for relief.

Rev., s. 774; Code, s. 373; C. C. P., s. 212.

Effect of this and the following section, and practice in vacating attachment explained: Lumber Co. v. Buhmann, 160-385. The court may refuse to vacate the attachment, and allow defendant to replevy the property: Page v. McDonald, 159-38. An application to discharge the property upon giving the required undertaking amounts to a voluntary appearance: Mitchell v. Lumber Co., 169-397.

The clerk has jurisdiction to vacate an attachment: Palmer v. Boshier, 71-291. Motion to vacate may be made before return term of summons: Wilson v. Mfg. Co., 88-5. In considering motion to vacate court need not pass on matters irrelevant: Knight v. Hatfield, 129-191. Improper refusal to vacate will not affect validity of judgment on the merits: Luttrell v. Martin, 112-594. An appeal lies from a refusal to vacate: Judd v. Mining Co., 120-397; Mitchell v. Lumber Co., 169-397; Finch v. Slater, 152-155. In vacating an attachment the judge is not required to state his findings of fact, unless requested to do so: Lumber Co. v. Buhmann, 160-385; Milhisser v. Balsley, 106-433—if the facts are not set out in the record, it is presumed that the court found facts sufficient to sustain the order: Ibid.; Mfg. Co. v. Lumber Co., 177-404. The supreme court will not review the findings of fact: Ibid.

Sheriff has no right, after attachment vacated, to sell property seized, as it becomes his duty to deliver it immediately to defendant: Mahoney v. Tyler, 136-44; see Devries v. Summit, 86-126. The provision as to sheriff returning property does not apply to cases where there has been a sale or transfer of property by defendant to plaintiff after levy: Jackson v. Burnett, 119-195—and issue as to ownership must be submitted and upon it being answered must return property to true owner: Ibid. On motion to vacate for insufficiency of affidavit, a counter affidavit in answer to the one filed by defendant may cure the insufficiency: Brown v. Hawkins, 65-645.

When pleadings show that plaintiff's action must fail, it may be vacated without defendant being required to give bond: Knight v. Hatfield, 129-191; Devries v. Summit, 86-131; Bear v. Cohen, 65-511. Attachment vacated for failure to serve summons: Finch v. Slater, 152-155; Bowman v. Ward, 152-602. Trustee in bankruptcy may vacate an attachment issued after adjudication: Ward v. Hargett, 151-365.

Attachment will not be vacated when grounds assigned involve finding of facts and such as defendant has no interest in: Foushee v. Owen, 122-360—or where defendant denies ownership of the property, Ibid.—or where it appears reasonably necessary to hold the property to protect plaintiff's rights till the trial, Bruff v. Sterns, 81-183—or where the statute has been substantially complied with, Best v. British-American Co., 128-351—or where clerk has already transmitted issue of fact to superior court for trial, Howland v. Marshall, 127-431—or where defendant has made a general appearance rendering the matter of vacating immaterial, Rocky Mount Mills v. R. R., 119-693.

815. Defendant's undertaking. Upon the application provided for in the preceding section the defendant must deliver to the court an undertaking in at least double the amount claimed by the plaintiff in his complaint, executed by two sureties residing in this state, approved by the court, to the effect that the surety will, on demand, pay to the plaintiff the amount of judgment that may be recovered against the defendant in the action, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking. If it appears by affidavit that the property attached is of less value than the amount claimed by the plaintiff, the court or judge may order it to be appraised, and the amount of the undertaking shall then be double the amount so appraised. Where there is more than one defendant, and the several property of one of them has been seized by virtue of the order of attachment, the defendant whose several property was seized may deliver to the court an undertaking, in accordance with this section, to the effect that he will, on demand, pay to the plaintiff the amount of judgment that may be recovered against him, and all of this section, applicable to such an undertaking, shall be applied thereto.

Rev., s. 775; Code, s. 374; C. C. P., s. 213.

This section does not apply when attachment is vacated for defect in issuing: Lumber Co. v. Buhmann, 160-385. Section cited, Page v. McDonald, 159-38.

816. All property liable to attachment. The rights or shares of the defendant in the stock of any association or corporation, with the interest and profits thereon, and all other property in this state of the defendant, are liable to be attached, levied on, and sold to satisfy the judgment and execution.

Rev., s. 776; Code, s. 362; C. C. P., s. 206.

For execution against shares of stock, see Corporations, s. 1203.

Unpaid subscription of resident stockholder to the capital stock of foreign corporation is subject to attachment: Cooper v. Security Co., 122-463. The lien of the attachment upon stock of a corporation dates from its levy, not from the final judgment: Morehead v. R. R., 96-362. Pledgee of shares of stock does not lose priority as against an attaching creditor by failure to have transfer on the books of the corporation: Bleakley v. Candler, 169-16. Section cited, Simmons v. Steamboat Co., 113-152.

817. Levy on intangible property. The execution of the attachment upon any such rights, shares, or any debts or other property incapable of manual delivery to the sheriff, shall be made by leaving a certified copy of the warrant of attachment with the president or other head of the association or corporation, or with the debtor or individual holding such property, with a notice showing the property levied on. This certified copy must be furnished to the sheriff by the plaintiff, and the certification must be by the clerk of the court from which the warrant was issued, or by the justice of the peace who issued it. A person receiving or collecting moneys within this state on behalf of any corporation of this or any other state or government is deemed a local agent for the purpose of this section. Such service can be made in respect to a foreign corporation only when it has property within this state, or the cause of action arose or the plaintiff resides in the state, or when the service can be made within the state personally upon the president, treasurer or secretary thereof.

See Corporations, Art. 9, Execution.

See Cooper v. Security Co., 122-463; Morehead v. R. R., 96-362. Amounts on tax books which sheriff may collect after settlement not subject to attachment: Davie v. Blackburn, 117-383. Federal court judgment in favor of defendant not subject to attachment in state court: Mfg. Co. v. Freeman, 175-212. Section cited, Armstrong v. Kinsell, 164-125.

818. Certificate of defendant's interest to be furnished to sheriff. When the sheriff or other officer, with a warrant of attachment or execution, applies to a president or other head or director, secretary, cashier or managing agent of any association or corporation, or to any debtor or individual, for the purpose of attaching or levying on the property of the defendant in such warrant, such officer, debtor or individual must furnish him with a certificate under his hand, designating the number of rights or shares of the defendant in the association or corporation, with any dividend or any incumbrance thereon, or the amount and description of the property held by such association, corporation, or individual, for the benefit of, or debt owing to, the defendant. If the officer, debtor or individual refuses to do so, he may be required by the court or judge to appear before him, and be examined on oath concerning the matter, and obedience to this order may be enforced by attachment.

See Corporations, s. 1203.

819. Proceedings against garnishee. When the sheriff or other officer serves an attachment on any person supposed to be indebted to, or to have any property of the defendant in the attachment, he shall at the same time summon in writing such person as a garnishee. The summons and notice shall be issued by the clerk of the superior court, or justice of the peace, at the request of the plaintiff, to appear at the court to which the attachment is returnable, or if issued by a justice of the peace, at a place and time named in the notice, not exceeding twenty days from date of notice, to answer upon oath what he owes to the defendant and what property of the defendant he has in his hand and had at the time of serving the attachment, and to his knowledge and belief what effects or debts of the defendant there are in the hands of any other, and what person. When an attachment is served on a garnishee in the above manner, upon his appearance and examination, judgment may be entered up and execution awarded for the plaintiff against the garnishee, for all sums of money due the defendant from him, and for all property of any kind belonging to the defendant, in his possession or custody, for the use of the plaintiff, or so much thereof as will satisfy the debt and costs and all charges incident to levying the same. All property whatsoever in the hands of any garnishee belonging to the defendant is liable to satisfy the plaintiff's judgment, and must be delivered to the sheriff or other officer serving the attachment.

Garnishment is a proceeding in the original action and not an independent suit: Baker v. Belvin, 122-190. The court entertaining garnishment must have some jurisdiction over the thing garnished: Balk v. Harris, 124-467. Courts here can proceed against a foreign corporation in garnishment proceedings in an action brought in this state against its salesman, the cause of action having arisen here and subject of action being situated here: Goodwin v. Claytor, 137-224.

In a foreign attachment, the situs of the debt for the purpose of garnishment is where the debtor is found and served with summons, if the defendant could sue him there: Balk v. Harris, 122-64; s. c., 124-467; s. c., 130-381; s. c., 132-10; s. c., 198 U. S., 215; Wright v. R. R., 141-164; Wierse v. Thomas, 145-261.

Property in custodia legis is subject to garnishment, if not required to be held longer by reason of some order or decree: Bank v. Johnston, 161-506; LeRoy v. Jacobosky, 136-443. A fund in the hands of the town to be applied to payment for work when completed is not subject of garnishment: Gastonia v. Engineering Co., 131-359. As to funds in hands of national bank, see Markham-Stephens Co. v. Richmond Co., 177-364; Mfg. Co. v. Bank, 130-609.

Plaintiff can enforce no greater claim against garnishee than could defendant have done: Goodwin v. Claytor, 137-224. Money due by garnishee, or goods in his hands at the time of appearance and answer, are applicable to the debt, though not earned and due when he was summoned to answer: Ibid. Where summons on nonresident served by publication and debt due defendant was garnished, plaintiff lost no lien on debt by taking judgment against defendant and garnishee: Ibid. Assignee of chose in action has priority over lien of garnishment proceedings: Granite Co. v. Bank, 172-354.

The defendant is entitled to his exemptions, and to his earnings for sixty days: Wierse v. Thomas, 145-261; Goodwin v. Claytor, 137-224. Where foreign corporation having its property and principal place of business here was garnished here in action between two citizens of Virginia, exemption law of Virginia not applicable: Goodwin v. Claytor, 137-224.

Where judgment given against garnishee in action against debtor, it is proper to make an order applying collections made on such judgment to the judgment obtained or to be obtained against the debtor: Baker v. Belvin, 122-190. But no personal judgment against defendant when summons served by publication: Goodwin v. Claytor, 137-224; Lemly v. Ellis, 143-213; Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209; Johnson v. Whilden, 166-104.

Maker of negotiable note payable to defendant or order can demand indemnity against third persons where he is garnished in action against defendant: Shuler v. Bryson, 65-201—but not after he has admitted owing the note to the defendant, Rice v. Jones, 103-226; Shuler v. Bryson, 65-201.

820. Failure of garnishee to appear. When a garnishee is summoned and fails to appear and discover on oath as directed, the court, after solemnly calling the garnishee, shall enter a conditional judgment against him, and thereupon a notice shall issue against him returnable to the court having jurisdiction, to show cause why final judgment should not be entered against him. Upon due execution of the notice, if the garnishee fails to appear at the time and place named, and discover on oath in the manner aforesaid, the court shall confirm the judgment and award execution for the plaintiff's whole judgment and costs. Upon examination of the garnishee, if it appears to the court that there is any of the defendant's property in the hands of a person who has not been summoned, the court, upon motion of the plaintiff, shall grant a judicial attachment, to be levied in the hands of every such person having any of the property of the defendant in his custody or possession, who must appear and answer and be liable as other garnishees.

Rev., s. 780; Code, s. 365; R. C., c. 7, s. 8; 1777, c. 115, s. 28; 1838, c. 2.

821. Garnishee denying debt; issue tried. When a garnishee denies that he owes to, or has in his possession any property of, the defendant, and the plaintiff on oath suggests to the court the contrary, or when a garnishee makes such a statement of facts that the court cannot proceed to give judgment thereon, the court shall order an issue to be made up, which must be tried by a jury, and on their verdict judgment shall be rendered. In a court of a justice of the peace, he may try such issue, unless a jury is demanded, and then proceedings are to be conducted, in all respects, as in jury trials before justices of the peace.

The garnishee is entitled to any defense which he might make against the defendant: Cannon v. Marlott, 163-549; Goodwin v. Claytor, 137-224. The plaintiff, upon the suggestion that he wishes to traverse the return of the garnishee, is entitled, without any formal or verified statement, to have the issue tried by jury: Brenizer v. Royal Arcanum, 141-409.

Where it is denied by defendant that ownership of property attached is in him, no issue submitted: Foushee v. Owen, 122-360; Cowles v. Oaks, 14-96.

822. Property with garnishee valued; garnishee exonerated. When a garnishee on oath confesses that he has in his hands any property of the defendant of a specific nature, or is indebted to him by any security or promise for the delivery of any specific article, except as hereinafter excepted, the court shall immediately order a jury to be impaneled and sworn to inquire into the value of such specific property, and the verdict of the jury subjects the garnishee to the payment of the valuation, or as much of it as is sufficient to satisfy the debt or damages and costs of the plaintiff. In a court of a justice of the peace, he may try such issue, unless a jury is demanded, and then proceedings are to be conducted in all respects as in jury trials before justices of the peace. If the garnishee states in his answer that the specific property was left with him by the defendant as a bailment, or that he has tendered said specific articles according to contract, and that they were refused by the defendant, and that he then was and always had been ready to deliver the same; or that he had such specific articles at the time and place specified in such covenant or agreement ready to be delivered, and is still ready to deliver them; and such statement is admitted by the plaintiff or found by a jury or the court, then in any such case the garnishee shall be exonerated by the delivery of such specific articles to the sheriff, who shall proceed as if the attachment had been originally levied on the property.

Rev., s. 782; Code, s. 367; R. C., c. 7, s. 11; 1793, c. 389; 1794, c. 424.

Where one contracted with a dentist for a set of artificial teeth for his wife, and paid him the consideration and then absconded; held that dentist was not liable as garnishee: Cherry v. Hooper, 52-82.

One transiently within the state served with garnishment papers, if he have in his possession within the state money or property of defendant or has contracted to pay money or deliver property within such jurisdiction, may be charged: Balk v. Harris, 124-467.

823. Conditional judgment against garnishee. When a garnishee declares in his answer that the money or specific article due by him will become payable or deliverable at a future day, and this is admitted by the plaintiff or found by a jury or the court, a conditional judgment shall be entered against the garnishee, and the plaintiff may obtain judgment against the defendant for his demand, but may not take final judgment against the garnishee without notice to show cause.

824. Satisfaction of judgment. If judgment is entered for the plaintiff in the action, the sheriff shall satisfy the same out of the property attached by him, if it is sufficient for that purpose—

1. By paying over to the plaintiff the proceeds of all property sold and debts or credits collected by him, or so much as is necessary to satisfy the judgment.

2. If any balance remains due, and an execution has been issued on the judgment, he shall sell under the execution as much of the attached real or personal property, except as provided in subdivision four of this section, as is necessary to satisfy the balance, if enough for that purpose remains in his hands. In case of the sale of any rights or shares in the stock of a corporation or association, the sheriff shall execute to the purchaser a certificate of sale, and the purchaser has all the rights and privileges in respect thereto which were had by the defendant.

3. If any of the attached property belonging to the defendant has passed out of the hands of the sheriff without having been sold or converted into money, he shall repossess himself of the same, and for that purpose has all the authority which he had to seize it under the attachment. A person who willfully conceals or withholds such property from the sheriff is liable to double damages at the suit of the party injured.

4. Until the judgment against the defendant is paid, the sheriff may collect the notes and other evidences of debt, and the debts that were seized or attached, under the warrant of attachment, and prosecute any bond he has taken in the course of such proceedings, and apply the proceeds to the payment of the judgment.

At the expiration of six months from the docketing of the judgment the court has power, upon petition of the plaintiff, accompanied by an affidavit setting forth fully all the proceedings which have been had by the sheriff since the service of the attachment, the property attached, and the disposition thereof, also the affidavit of the sheriff that he has used due diligence, and endeavored to collect the evidences of debt in his hands so attached, and that there remains uncollected of the same any part or portion thereof, to order the sheriff to sell the same upon such terms and in such manner as is deemed proper. Notice of this application must be given to the defendant or to his attorney, if the defendant has appeared in the action. If the summons has not been personally served on the defendant, the court shall make such rule or order, as to service of notice and time of service, as is deemed just. When the judgment and all costs of the proceedings have been paid, the sheriff, upon reasonable demand, shall deliver over to the defendant the residue of the attached property or the proceeds thereof.

Rev., s. 784; Code, s. 370; C. C. P., s. 209.

When service of summons is by publication, no personal judgment can be rendered, and the judgment is valid only so far as property is seized: Johnson v. Whilden, 166-104; Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209; Lemly v. Ellis, 143-213; Goodwin v. Claytor, 137-224; Winfree v. Bagley, 102-515.

The lien of a judgment relates to the time of levy and not the docketing of the judgment: Morefield v. Harris, 126-626; Glass Plate Co. v. Furniture Co., 126-893. Lien of judgment cannot be divested by dissolution of foreign corporation, the defendant, in the home state: Gruger v. Bank, 123-16.

Attachment is simply a levy before judgment, and upon execution issuing on the judgment it is the duty of the sheriff to sell the attached property: Mfg. Co. v. Steinmetz, 133-194, citing Gamble v. Rhyne, 80-183; Mfg. Co. v. Lumber Co., 177-404; Johnson v. Whilden, 166-104. Under this section the sheriff, upon receiving execution, is directed to sell the property previously attached and is invested with as much power and authority to act in the premises as if an execution, in the form of a venditioni exponas, had been issued to him specially commanding him to sell the particular property: May v. Getty, 140-310. Sale under attachment only passes right of defendant in attachment: Electric Co. v. Eng. Co., 128-199; see Davis v. Garrett, 25-459; Kochs Co. v. Jackson, 156-326.

Where the court has the custody of property it will be retained to await result of the action and satisfy any judgment that may be recovered: Lemly v. Ellis, 143-200. Plaintiff in attachment cannot recover an amount in excess of that stated in summons: Cotton Mills v. Weil, 129-452.

Land of a decedent, against whose executor judgment obtained, cannot be sold through a commissioner by an order in the cause, even though land may be subject to lien of an attachment levied during decedent's life: Atkinson v. Ricks, 140-418.

Where a person in possession of property is not a party to attachment suit, the plaintiff can only get judgment for his debt, and must proceed under this section to subject the property attached: Electric Co. v. Eng. Co., 128-199. A sheriff, who in attachment proceedings wrongfully seizes and sells property which is subsequently adjudged to belong to an intervener, cannot retain the costs and expenses of the seizure and sale: Stein v. Cozart, 122-280.

As to one's exemptions in attached property, see Chemical Co. v. Sloan, 136-123; Gamble v. Rhyne, 80-193; Comrs. v. Riley, 75-144; Goodwin v. Claytor, 137-224; Wierse v. Thomas, 145-261.

825. Plaintiff may sue on defendant's bond. The actions herein authorized to be brought by the sheriff may be prosecuted by the plaintiff, or under his direction, upon the delivery by him to the sheriff of an undertaking executed by two sufficient sureties, to the effect that the plaintiff will indemnify the sheriff from all damages, costs and expenses on account thereof, not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars in any one action. The sureties must in all cases, when required by the sheriff, justify by making an affidavit that each is a freeholder, and worth double the amount of the penalty of the bond, over and above all demands, liabilities and exemptions.

See Baker v. Belvin, 122-190; Shuler v. Bryson, 65-201.

826. On defendant's recovery, bonds and property delivered to him. If the foreign corporation, or the absent, absconding, or concealed defendant, recovers judgment against the plaintiff in such action, any bond taken upon the issuing of the warrant of attachment, and any bond taken by the sheriff, except such as are mentioned in the preceding section, all the proceeds of sales and moneys collected by him, and all the property attached remaining in his hands, shall be delivered by him to the defendant or to his agent, on request, and the warrant shall be discharged and the property released.

Rev., s. 786; Code, s. 372; C. C. P., s. 211.

Section cited, Smith v. Bonding Co., 160-574.

827. Motion to vacate or increase security. The defendant, or person who has acquired a lien upon, or interest in, his property before or after it was attached, may at any time before the actual application of the attached property, or the proceeds thereof, to the payment of a judgment recovered in the action, apply to the court having jurisdiction to vacate or modify the warrant, or to increase the security given by the plaintiff, or for one or more of those forms of relief, together or in the alternative, as in cases of other provisional remedies.

Rev., s. 787; Code, s. 377.

See annotations under section 814.

828. Exceptions to and justification of sureties. The sureties to all undertakings in all proceedings for attachment may be excepted to, and justified as prescribed in respect to bail upon an order of arrest.

Rev., s. 788; Code, s. 378.

829. Interpleader. When the property attached is claimed by any other person, the claimant may interplead, as provided for interpleader in claim and delivery.

Rev., s. 789; Code, s. 375; R. C., c. 7, s. 10; 1793, c. 389, s. 3.

The subject of "interpleader" is annotated under section 840, the decisions treating this section also.

ART. 35. CLAIM AND DELIVERY

830. Claim for delivery of personal property. The plaintiff in an action to recover the possession of personal property may, at the time of issuing the summons or at any time before answer, claim the immediate delivery of the property as provided in this article.

Rev., s. 790; Code, s. 321; C. C. P., s. 176.

NATURE OF REMEDY. Strictly speaking, there is no such action now as claim and delivery. The action is for the recovery of a specific chattel and the delivery thereof is a provisional remedy ancillary but not essential to such action. If the plaintiff see fit, the delivery may be waived and action prosecuted to recover possession as in the old action of detinue or to recover the value as in trover or trespass: Wilson v. Hughes, 94-182; Hargrove v. Harris, 116-418; Hopper v. Miller, 76-402; Randolph v. McGowans, 174-203.

JURISDICTION. This is determined by the value of the property in controversy; of the value of $50 or under, concurrent jurisdiction in superior court and justice's court; over $50, only in superior court: McGehee v. Breedlove, 122-277; Kiser v. Blanton, 123-402; Whitaker v. Dunn, 122-103; Elliott v. Tyson, 117-116; Hargrove v. Harris, 116-418; Leathers v. Morris, 101-184; Mfg. Co. v. Barrett, 95-36; Morris v. O'Briant, 94-72; Deloatch v. Coman, 90-186; Asher v. Reizenstein, 105-213; see, also, under sections 1436, 1473, 1474.

BY AND AGAINST WHOM MAINTAINED. The plaintiff must have the right to immediate possession of the property, either as owner or by reason of special property therein: see section 831. To entitle a party to an ancillary remedy he must show that he is entitled to the main relief demanded in the complaint: Witz v. Gray, 116-48. Plaintiff can claim the delivery of the property only against one in possession at time suit brought: Bowen v. King, 146-385; Moore v. Brady, 125-35; Webb v. Taylor, 80-305; Haughton v. Newberry, 69-456.

For recovery by bailor or bailee: Hopper v. Miller, 76-402. For recovery by lessor of tenant's crop: Boone v. Darden, 109-74; see, also, Rich v. Hobson, 112-79; Smith v. Tindall, 107-88; Jordan v. Bryan, 103-59; Livingston v. Farish, 89-140; Patapsco v. Magee, 86-350; see section 2356. For recovery of personal property by one tenant in common as against another in certain cases: Doyle v. Bush, 171-10; Waller v. Bowling, 108-289; Strauss v. Crawford, 89-149; Grim v. Wicker, 80-343. For recovery by mortgagee of tenant's crop when matured: Cotten v. Willoughby, 83-75; but see Loftin v. Hines, 107-360. For recovery of property in hands of officer, under execution: Mitchell v. Sims, 124-411; Jones v. Ward, 77-337; Churchill v. Lee, 77-341. For recovery, by assignee of chattel mortgage, of the possession of property before mortgage becomes due: Johnson v. Bray, 174-176; Satterthwaite v. Ellis, 129-67. For recovery by vendor of property, the sale of which was induced by vendee's fraud: Troxler v. Building Co., 137-62; Wallace v. Cohen, 111-103; Blake v. Blackley, 109-257; Wilson v. White, 80-280. For recovery by lessee of his portion of the crop: Wilson v. Respass, 86-112; see sections 2357, 2358. For recovery of property seized by a sheriff for taxes after expiration of time limited by law for their collection: Ray v. Horton, 77-334.

WHAT MAY OR MAY NOT BE TAKEN. For recovery of a title deed: Pasterfield v. Sawyer, 132-258, 133-42—but not for a deed held in escrow, Bridgers v. Ormond, 148-375. For recovery of a note which has been paid: Walter v. Earnhardt, 171-731.

Will not lie for recovery of chattel of which defendant has not present possession: Moore v. Brady, 125-37, and cases cited. Will not lie for recovery of crops produced on wife's land under crop lien given by husband without her consent: Rawlings v. Neal, 126-271—nor for recovery by landlord of the growing crop of his tenant, Jordan v. Bryan, 103-59; but see Patapsco v. Magee, 86-350—nor for recovery of logs severed from plaintiff's land while defendant in possession claiming title, Harrison v. Hoff, 102-126; see, also, White v. Fox, 125-544—nor for recovery of a cow sold and delivered to vendee upon agreement that vendee pay for it in services, and vendee dies before fully performing, McCraw v. Gilmer, 83-162—nor for recovery of personal property by one tenant in common against another, Shearin v. Riggsbee, 97-216; Powell v. Hill, 64-169; but see Doyle v. Bush, 171-10; Walker v. Bowling, 108-289; Strauss v. Crawford, 89-149; Grim v. Wicker, 80-343—nor for recovery, by owner of the grain, of whiskey distilled from it, Potter v. Mardre, 74-36—nor for recovery of planks made from owner's timber, Gaskins v. Davis, 115-85—nor for recovery of a bale of cotton out of a whole crop, Moore v. Brady, 125-35.

Cases of general interest hereunder: Gulley v. Copeland, 102-327; Timberlake v. Powell, 99-233; Queen v. Wernwag, 97-383; Howland v. Forlaw, 108-567; Hargrove v. Harris, 116-418; Phipps v. Wilson, 125-106; Manix v. Howard, 82-125; Alsbrook v. Shields, 67-333; Bank v. Johnston, 161-506.

VENUE. The action must be brought in the county where the property is situated: Brown v. Cogdell, 136-32; Elderton v. Games, 142-223; Clow v. McNeill, 167-212; see section 463.

SUMMONS. Summons must be issued in order to give clerk jurisdiction to make order: Potter v. Mardre, 74-36. Not necessary to issue summons if defendant not in reach of the process of the court; action can be begun by affidavit for publication: Grocery Co. v. Bag Co., 142-174, overruling McClure v. Fellows, 131-509.

For verdict, see section 587; judgment, section 610; execution, section 675.

831. Affidavit and requisites. Where a delivery is claimed, an affidavit must be made before the clerk of the court in which the action is required to be tried or before some person competent to administer oaths, by the plaintiff, or some one in his behalf, showing—

1. That the plaintiff is the owner of the property claimed (particularly describing it), or is lawfully entitled to its possession by virtue of a special property therein, the facts in respect to which must be set forth.

2. That the property is wrongfully detained by the defendant.

3. The alleged cause of the detention, according to his best knowledge, information and belief.

4. That the property has not been taken for tax, assessment or fine, pursuant to a statute; or seized under an execution or attachment against the property of the plaintiff; or, if so seized, that it is, by statute, exempt from such seizure; and,

5. The actual value of the property.

Rev., s. 791; Code, s. 322; C. C. P., s. 177; 1881, c. 134.

For statute forbidding seizure of property taken for a tax, see this chapter, s. 858.

Affidavit required only when actual seizure and delivery of property asked: Jarman v. Ward, 67-32. This affidavit is indispensable to maintain claim and delivery: Griffith v. Richmond, 126-377. Affidavit must conform strictly to all the requirements of the statute: Hirsh v. Whitehead, 65-516—must state that the property has not been taken under execution, Ibid.—and must give value of property, Ibid. The affidavit made by plaintiff, “per” another, sufficient: Spencer v. Bell, 109-39. The actual value of the property should be stated: Leathers v. Morris, 101-184; Noville v. Dew, 94-43. Not necessary to allege a demand when plaintiff’s right is denied: Heath v. Morgan, 117-504; Rich v. Hobson, 112-79. Plaintiff should state his special interest in the property: Cooper v. Evans, 174-412. Under this section there is no limitation or restriction put upon a plaintiff who seeks to recover personal property and have the same immediately delivered to him, except that the same has not been taken for tax, assessment or fines pursuant to a statute or seized under execution or attachment against property of plaintiff, or if so seized it is by statute exempt from seizure: Mitchell v. Sims, 124-411.

As to amendment of affidavit: Joyner v. Earley, 139-49; Singer Mfg. Co. v. Barrett, 95-36; McPhail v. Johnson, 115-298; Planing Mills v. McNinch, 99-517; see, also, under section 547.

Affidavit filed preliminary to obtaining requisition for seizure and delivery of property will not be treated as a complaint, and its averments cannot cure defect in summons or complaint: Singer Mfg. Co. v. Barrett, 95-36.

Section merely referred to in Kiser v. Blanton, 123-400; Hargrove v. Harris, 116-420; Timberlake v. Powell, 99-234; Evans v. Etheridge, 96-43.

832. Order of seizure and delivery to plaintiff. The clerk of the court shall, thereupon, and upon the giving by the plaintiff of the undertaking prescribed in the succeeding section, by an indorsement in writing upon the affidavit, require the sheriff of the county where the property claimed is located, to take it from the defendant and deliver it to the plaintiff.

Rev., s. 792; Code, s. 323; C. C. P., s. 178.

An order without a summons having been issued is no justification to the sheriff or defendant for any action in the premises: Potter v. Mardre, 74-36. No amendment of requisition allowed after third parties have acquired rights which may be prejudiced by the amendment: Phillips v. Holland, 78-31; see under section 547. Deputy clerk can make order: Jackson v. Buchanan, 89-74; see Evans v. Etheridge, 96-42; Miller v. Miller, 89-402; Bryan v. Stewart, 123-92.

Section merely referred to in Thompson v. Onley, 96-10.

833. Plaintiff's undertaking. The plaintiff must give a written undertaking payable to the defendant, executed by one or more sufficient sureties, approved by the sheriff, to the effect that they are bound in double the value of the property, as stated in the affidavit for the prosecution of the action, for the return of the property to the defendant, with damages for its deterioration and detention if return can be had, and if for any cause return cannot be had, for the payment to him of such sum as may be recovered against the plaintiff for the value of the property at the time of the seizure, with interest thereon as damages for such seizure and detention.

Rev., s. 793; Code, s. 324; 1885, c. 50; C. C. P., s. 179.

See section 610. For extent of sureties' liability, see Hendley v. McIntyre, 132-276; Hall v. Tillman, 110-220; Taylor v. Hodges, 105-349; see Randolph v. McGowans, 174-203. Objection that what purports to be plaintiff's undertaking was not properly executed comes too late when made at trial term: Spencer v. Bell, 109-39.

Section merely referred to in Grubbs v. Stephenson, 117-72.

834. Sheriff's duties. Upon the receipt of the order from the clerk with the plaintiff's undertaking, the sheriff shall forthwith take the property described in the affidavit, if it is in the possession of the defendant or his agent, and retain it in his custody. He shall also, without delay, serve on the defendant a copy of the affidavit, notice, and undertaking, by delivering the same to him personally, if he can be found, or to his agent, from whose possession the property is taken; or, if neither can be found, by leaving them at the usual place of abode of either, with some person of suitable age and discretion.

Rev., s. 793; Code, s. 324; C. C. P., s. 179; 1885, c. 50.

835. Exceptions to undertaking; liability of sheriff. The defendant may, within three days after the service of a copy of the affidavit and undertaking, notify the sheriff personally, or by leaving a copy at his office in the county-seat of the county, that he excepts to the sufficiency of the sureties. If he fails to do so, he is deemed to have waived all objection to them. When the defendant excepts, the sureties must justify on notice, in like manner as upon bail on arrest. The sheriff is responsible for the sufficiency of the sureties until the objection to them is either waived as above provided, or until they justify, or until new sureties are substituted and justify. If the defendant excepts to the sureties, he cannot reclaim the property as provided in the succeeding section.

Rev., s. 794; Code, s. 325; C. C. P., s. 180.

Exception to undertaking made at trial term comes too late: Spencer v. Bell, 109-39.

836. Defendant's undertaking for replevy. At any time before the delivery of the property to the plaintiff, the defendant may, if he does not except to the sureties of the plaintiff, require the return thereof, upon giving to the sheriff a written undertaking, payable to the plaintiff, executed by one or more sufficient sureties, to the effect that they are bound in double the value of the property, as stated in the affidavit of the plaintiff, for the delivery thereof to the plaintiff, with damages for its deterioration and detention, and the costs, if delivery can be had, and if delivery cannot be had, for the payment to him of such sum as may be recovered against the defendant for the value of the property at the time of the wrongful taking or detention, with interest thereon, as damages for such taking and detention, together with the costs of the action. If a return of the property is not so required, within three days after the taking and service of notice to the defendant, it must be delivered to the plaintiff, unless it is claimed by an interpleader.

The defendant's undertaking shall include liability for costs, as provided in this section, only where the undertaking is given in actions instituted in the superior court.

Rev., s. 795; Code, s. 326; 1885, c. 50, s. 2; C. C. P., s. 181; 1911, c. 17.

See section 610. Sheriff liable if, instead of taking this bond, he takes a bond from defendant to indemnify him: Hughes v. Newsom, 86-424. As to liability of sureties on bond, see Hendley v. McIntyre, 132-276; Griffith v. Richmond, 126-377; Hall v. Tillman, 110-220, 103-276. Liability of defendant on undertaking when property is lost or destroyed: Randolph v. McGowans, 174-203. Where defendant gives an insufficient bond and then a sufficient bond, how sureties charged: Smith v. Whitten, 117-390. Sureties make defendant their agent to compromise and agree on amount of damages in action on undertaking: Nimocks v. Pope, 117-315. Sheriff liable for taking insufficient bond hereunder: Wells v. Bourne, 113-82; Hughes v. Newsom, 86-424; see sections 3930, 3941.

Summary judgment hereunder against sureties on undertaking: Hall v. Tillman, 103-276; Robbins v. Killebrew, 95-19; Council v. Averett, 90-168; Harker v. Arendell, 74-85; Ins. Co. v. Davis, 74-78.

837. Qualification and justification of defendant's sureties. The qualification of the defendant's sureties, and their justification, is as prescribed in respect to bail upon an order of arrest. The defendant's sureties, upon notice to the plaintiff of not less than two nor more than six days, shall justify before the court, a judge or justice of the peace, and upon this justification the sheriff must deliver the property to the defendant. The sheriff is responsible for the defendant's sureties until justification is completed or expressly waived, and he may retain the property until that time; but if they, or others in their place, fail to justify at the time and place appointed, he must deliver the property to the plaintiff.

See sections 781-782.

838. Property concealed in buildings. If the property, or any part of it, is concealed in a building or enclosure, the sheriff shall publicly demand its delivery. If it is not delivered he must cause the building or enclosure to be broken open, and take the property into his possession. If necessary, he may call to his aid the power of his county, and if the property is upon the person the sheriff or other officer may seize the person, and search for and take it.

Rev., s. 798; Code, s. 329; C. C. P., s. 184.

See Worth, Treas., v. Comrs., 118-124; State v. Whitaker, 107-802; Hall v. Tillman, 110-220.

839. Care and delivery of seized property. When the sheriff has taken property, as provided in this article, he must keep it in a secure place, and deliver it to the party entitled thereto, upon receiving his lawful fees for taking and his necessary expenses for keeping it.

Rev., s. 799; Code, s. 330; C. C. P., s. 185.

Expense of seizing and caring for property included in the costs: Hendricks v. Ireland, 162-523.

840. Property claimed by third person; proceedings. When the property taken by the sheriff is claimed by any person other than the plaintiff or defendant the claimant may interplead upon filing an affidavit of his title and right to the possession of the property, stating the grounds of such right and title; and upon his delivering to the sheriff an undertaking in an amount double the value of the property specified in plaintiff's affidavit, for the delivery of the property to the person entitled to it, and for the payment of all such costs and damages as may be awarded against him; this undertaking to be executed by one or more sufficient sureties, accompanied by their affidavits that they are each worth double the value of the property. A copy of this undertaking and accompanying affidavit shall be served by the sheriff on the plaintiff and defendant at least ten days before the return day of the summons in the action, when the court trying it shall order a jury to be impaneled to inquire in whom is the right to the property specified in plaintiff's complaint. The finding of the jury is conclusive as to the parties then in court, and the court shall adjudge accordingly, unless it is reversed upon appeal. In a court of a justice of the peace he may try such issue unless a jury is demanded, and then proceedings are to be conducted in all respects as in jury trials before justices of the peace. In a court of a justice of the peace an interpleader shall not be required to serve on the plaintiff and defendant the affidavits and bonds required by this section, ten days before return day; but if said bond and affidavit are filed by any person owning the property when such case is called for trial, he shall be allowed to interplead.

Rev., s. 800; Code, s. 331; C. C. P., s. 186; 1793, c. 389, s. 3; R. C., c. 7, s. 10; 1913, c. 188.

An outsider claiming the property can intervene and ask for a collateral issue as to the title and right to possession: Mfg. Co. v. Tierney, 133-630; Foushee v. Owen, 122-360; Grambling v. Dickey, 118-986; Blair v. Puryear, 87-101; Sims v. Goettle, 82-268; Toms v. Warson, 66-417. The burden of showing title is on the intervener: Roberts v. Hudson, 158-210; Mfg. Co. v. Tierney, 133-630; Cotton Mills v. Weil, 129-452; Redman v. Ray, 123-502; Wallace v. Robeson, 100-206. When intervener introduces a bill of lading with draft attached, properly indorsed, the presumption is that he is a purchaser for value and without notice: Mfg. Co. v. Tierney, 133-630; but see Bank v. Burgwyn, 108-62; Pugh v. Grant, 86-39. The intervener cannot interfere in the action between the original parties, being interested only in the title: Cotton Mills v. Weil, 129-452; Dawson v. Thigpen, 137-462; Foushee v. Owen, 122-360; Bank v. Furniture Co., 120-475—therefore he cannot object to the irregularity of the attachment, Forbis v. Lumber Co., 165-403; Cook v. Mining Co., 114-617; Blair v. Puryear, 87-101. A separate trial for the intervener is in the discretion of the judge: Cotton Mills v. Weil, 129-452. A justice of the peace can try the interplea as to title, even though property is worth over $50: Grambling v. Dickey, 118-986. Where plaintiff takes a nonsuit, action goes on for the intervener: Dawson v. Thigpen, 137-462. In superior court on appeal from the justice one already made a party defendant can be allowed to become an intervener ab initio: Finch v. Gregg, 126-176.

As to rights of intervener against a sheriff who in attachment proceedings wrongfully seizes and sells his property, see Stein v. Cozart, 122-280.

Delivery of property to intervener must not be made until security given: Bear v. Cohen, 65-511.

841. Delivery of property to intervener. Upon the filing by the claimant of the undertaking set forth in the preceding section, the sheriff is not bound to keep the property, or to deliver it to the plaintiff; but may deliver it to the claimant, unless the plaintiff executes and delivers to him a similar undertaking to that required of claimant; and notwithstanding such claim, when so made, the sheriff may retain the property a reasonable time to demand such indemnity.

Rev., s. 801; Code, s. 332; R. C., c. 7, s. 10; 1793, c. 389, s. 3.

842. Sheriff to return papers in ten days. The sheriff must return the undertaking, notice and affidavit, with his proceedings thereon, to the court in which the action is pending within ten days after taking the property mentioned therein.

Rev., s. 802; Code, s. 133; C. C. P., s. 187.

ART. 36. INJUNCTION

843. When temporary injunction issued. A temporary injunction may be issued by order in accordance with the provisions of this article. The order may be made by any judge of the superior court in the following cases, and shall be issued by the clerk of the court in which the action is required to be tried:

1. When it appears by the complaint that the plaintiff is entitled to the relief demanded, and this relief, or any part thereof, consists in restraining the commission or continuance of some act the commission or continuance of which, during the litigation, would produce injury to the plaintiff; or,

2. When, during the litigation, it appears by affidavit that a party thereto is doing, or threatens or is about to do, or is procuring or suffering some act to be done in violation of the rights of another party to the litigation respecting the subject of the action, and tending to render the judgment ineffectual; or,

3. When, during the pendency of an action, it appears by affidavit of any person that the defendant threatens or is about to remove or dispose of his property, with intent to defraud the plaintiff.

Rev., s. 806; Code, ss. 334, 338; C. C. P., ss. 188, 189.

GENERAL NATURE AND APPLICATION. Common and special injunctions, as under former practice, explained: Armstrong v. Kinsell, 164-125; Person v. Person, 154-453; Cobb v. Clegg, 137-153; Ross v. Ross, 119-109; Blackwell v. McElwee, 94-425; Jarman v. Saunders, 64-367; Heilig v. Stokes, 63-612. Mandatory injunction and mandamus distinguished: Telephone Co. v. Telephone Co., 159-8. Temporary restraining orders, temporary injunctions, and permanent injunctions distinguished: Hamilton v. Icard, 112-589; Royal v. Thornton, 150-293.

The powers of the court as to injunctions enlarged: Lumber Co. v. Wallace, 93-22. Injunction is still an extraordinary and provisional remedy, and will not be granted before plaintiff has exhausted ordinary remedies, unless it appears that damage irreparable: Frink v. Stewart, 94-484; Newton v. Brown, 134-445; Hocutt v. R. R., 124-214; Porter v. Armstrong, 132-66; Cooper v. Cooper, 127-490; Lumber Co. v. Hines Bros., 127-130; but see Davis v. Lumber Co., 132-233. Injunction will not be granted when a motion in the original cause would suffice: Faison v. McIlwaine, 72-313, and cases there cited—or where relief desired can be had in another action pending between same parties, Grant v. Moore, 88-77.

If a threatened injury can be compensated in damages, injunctive relief will not be granted: Porter v. Armstrong, 132-66; Newton v. Brown, 134-445; Land Co. v. Webb, 117-478; Sharpe v. Loane, 124-1; Wilson v. Featherstone, 120-449; McNamee v. Alexander, 109-242; Lewis v. Lumber Co., 99-11; Walton v. Mills, 86-280; Hettrick v. Page, 82-65—and it will never be granted where no injury will result to plaintiff by a refusal, Railway Co. v. Mining Co., 112-669, citing R. R. v. R. R., 88-79—nor be continued where it may work a greater injury to defendant than is reasonably necessary for protection of the plaintiff, Blackwell v. McElwee, 94-425; Heilig v. Stokes, 63-612. Where refusal will result in damages to plaintiff and granting will result in no injury to defendant, it will be granted till the hearing: McCorkle v. Brem, 76-407.

The granting or refusing of injunction is not strictly discretionary, and either party may appeal: Jones v. Thorne, 80-72; Mayo v. Comrs., 122-5—and a second motion for injunction upon same grounds as the first, which was refused, will not be heard: Henry v. Hilliard, 120-487; Jones v. Thorne, 80-72; Combes v. Adams, 150-64; Bonner v. Rodman, 163-1—but denial of first motion no obstacle to second when based upon new material averment and evidence supporting, Halcombe v. Comrs., 89-346.

Court will require party seeking injunction to make full discovery of facts and use perfect candor in alleging them: Phifer v. Barnhart, 88-333. It must appear that the action was prompted by good faith, reasonable diligence, and a substantial cause of action: Jones v. Comrs., 107-248. To entitle plaintiff to the order, he must allege a cause of action: Moore v. Mining Co., 104-534; Jones v. Comrs., 107-265, and cases cited—and state facts so court can see necessity for intervention, Porter v. Armstrong, 132-66; Lewis v. Lumber Co., 99-11—and not merely allege “irreparable injury,” Ibid.; also, Bond v. Wool, 107-153; Frink v. Stewart, 94-484—and must allege insolvency of defendant, when, Stewart v. Munger, 174-402;

Yount v. Setzer, 155-213; Kistler v. Weaver, 135-388; Porter v. Armstrong, 132-66; James v. Markham, 125-145; McKay v. Chapin, 120-159; R. R. v. Mining Co., 112-661; Land Co. v. Webb, 117-478; Ousby v. Neal, 99-146; Albright v. Albright, 91-220; McCormick v. Nixon, 83-113; but see section 844.

A perpetual injunction can be granted only in county where cause pending and by judge who tries cause at final hearing: Hamilton v. Teard, 112-589. A temporary restraining order can be issued by any judge of the superior court anywhere in the state, and must be made returnable within twenty days to a judge of the district where action pending or judge riding the district: Ibid. A temporary injunction to continue until the hearing may be granted by the resident judge of the district, or the judge holding the courts of the district: Ibid.; see sections 851-853.

No injunction lies to prevent a fact accomplished: Huet v. Lumber Co., 138-443; Harrison v. Bryan, 148-315; Little v. Lenoir, 151-415; Moore v. Monument Co., 166-211; Kilpatrick v. Harvey, 170-668. Title to public office cannot be tried by injunction: Cozart v. Fleming, 123-547; Jones v. Comrs., 77-280; Patterson v. Hubbs, 65-119—nor can title to personal property be thus determined, Kistler v. Weaver, 135-388; Baxter v. Baxter, 77-118. Injunction is not the proper remedy to test the validity of an ordinance or statute: Archer v. Joyner, 173-75; Express Co. v. High Point, 167-103; Hargett v. Bell, 134-394; Paul v. Washington, 134-363; Scott v. Smith, 121-94; Rosenbaum v. Newbern, 118-83; Wardens v. Washington, 109-21; Cohen v. Comrs., 77-2—nor for testing the constitutionality of a statute, Smallwood v. Newbern, 90-36; State v. R. R., 145-495—nor for staying execution pending appeal, Bryan v. Hubbs, 69-433—nor to prevent the enforcement of a justice's judgment rendered upon defective service of summons, Ballard v. Lowry, 163-487; Lowman v. Ballard, 168-16. The court will not ordinarily restrain the prosecution of works of general public benefit: Jones v. Lassiter, 169-750; Rope Co. v. Aluminum Co., 165-572; Waste Co. v. R. R., 167-340; Griffin v. R. R., 150-312; Staton v. R. R., 147-428. Injunction is inapplicable in processioning proceeding: Wilson v. Alleghany, 124-7; but see Sprinkle v. Hutchinson, 66-450. And since the title may be settled by such proceeding, under section 758, it would seem that an injunction would issue, see Whitaker v. Garren, 167-658.

An injunction can operate only in personam, and the proceeding is a nullity unless personal service can be had: Warlick v. Reynolds, 151-606. An injunction will not issue to restrain a nonresident holder from negotiating a note: Ibid.; Armstrong v. Kinsell, 164-125. When both parties are resident here the court may restrain them from proceeding in the court of another state, but not when the party to be restrained is nonresident: Carpenter v. Hanes, 162-46; Wierse v. Thomas, 145-261.

Quantum of proof, etc., necessary to obtain an interlocutory injunction as compared with quantum necessary to obtain permanent injunction, discussed in Faison v. Hardy, 114-58; Person v. Leary, 127-117. Cases where bond given as against damages that might accrue to plaintiff, so defendant's business may not be stopped by injunction: Comrs. v. Lumber Co., 114-505; Lumber Co. v. Wallace, 93-22. For injunction to suspend business of corporation or appoint receiver, see section 1196.

AS TO WHETHER INJUNCTIVE RELIEF CAN BE HAD IN CASES STATED: When it is sought to prevent building of stock-law fence: Smalley v. Comrs., 122-607; McNair v. Comrs., 93-370—to prevent an entry upon land under force of color of legal process, German v. Clark, 71-417—to prevent trespass upon land, Cobb v. R. R., 172-58; Foster v. Carrier, 161-472; Sutton v. Sutton, 161-665; Lumber Co. v. Cedar Works, 158-162; Combes v. Adams, 150-64; Lumber Co. v. Cedar Co., 142-411; Bynum v. Wicker, 141-95; Alleghany Co. v. Lumber Co., 131-6; Johnson v. Duvall, 135-642; Puryear v. Sanford, 124-276; Sharpe v. Loane, 124-1; Wilson v. Featherstone, 120-449; Bond v. Wool, 107-153; Frink v. Stewart, 94-484; German v. Clark, 71-417—to prevent exercise of official powers and duties, Cobb v. R. R., 172-58; Newton v. School Com., 158-186; Wallace v. Salisbury, 147-58; Rosenthal v. Goldsboro, 149-128; Merrimon v. Paving Co., 142-539; Glenn v. Comrs., 139-412; Graves v. Comrs., 135-49; Edgerton v. Water Co., 126-93; Stratford v. Greensboro, 124-127; McPeeters v. Ward, 152-602; Crockett v. Bray, 151-615.

Injunction to prevent waste or wrongful disposition of the property of a dissolved corporation, Atty.-General v. Roanoke Nav. Co., 84-705—to prevent county commissioners from making tax levy to pay interest on railroad bonds, Graves v. Comrs., 135-49—or from applying taxes levied for a special purpose to another purpose, R. R. v. Ferrell, 127-169—to prevent funds of a foreign fraternal order collected by assessment from being used to satisfy debt in this state, Brenizer v. Royal Arcanum, 141-409. Injunction to prevent the improper use of or interference with an easement, Hales v. R. R., 172-104; R. R. v. Thompson, 173-258; Butler v. Tobacco Co., 152-416.

Injunction to prevent a nuisance that is injuring the health and destroying the comfort of one's home: Hull v. Roxboro, 142-453; Redd v. Cotton Mills, 136-342; Duffy v. Meadows, 131-31; Vickers v. Durham, 132-880; Simpson v. Justice, 43-115—to prevent the pollution of a water supply, Durham v. Cotton Mills, 141-615, 144-705; Board of Health v. Comrs., 173-

250—to prevent private nuisance that is possible or contingent, Durham v. Cotton Mills, 141-615, 144-705, and cases cited; Simpson v. Justice, 43-115; see, also, Hickory v. R. R., 143-451; Hull v. Roxboro, 142-453; Redd v. Cotton Mills, 136-342, and cases there cited; Vickers v. Durham, 132-880; Little v. Lenoir, 151-415—to prevent the construction and maintenance of a drawbridge likely to become a nuisance, Pedrick v. R. R., 143-485—to prevent a railroad from enlarging its depot on the ground that it will be a public nuisance, Hickory v. R. R., 138-311, 141-716, 143-451—to prevent the location of hospital for contagious or infectious diseases so as to be a menace to the health of adjacent property owners, Cherry v. Williams, 147-452.

844. When solvent defendant restrained. In an application for an injunction to enjoin a trespass on land it is not necessary to allege the insolvency of the defendant when the trespass complained of is continuous in its nature, or is the cutting or destruction of timber trees.

Rev., s. 807; 1885, c. 401.

Cases directly supporting section: Lumber Co. v. Cedar Works, 158-162; Lumber Co. v. Cedar Co., 142-411; McKay v. Chapin, 120-159; Roper v. Wallace, 93-22. Injunction will lie to protect contingent remainderman against waste of life tenant: Latham v. Lumber Co., 139-9. This section does not deprive court of the discretion to require bond to be given by defendant to secure plaintiff's damages: Kistler v. Weaver, 135-388; Stewart v. Munger, 174-402. A continuing trespass may be restrained without an allegation of insolvency: Cobb v. R. R., 172-58. Cases merely referring to section: Newton v. Brown, 134-445; Carteret Lodge v. Ijames, 156-159; Kelly v. Lumber Co., 157-175. See cases cited under section 845.

845. Timber lands, trial of title to. In all actions to try title to timber lands and for trespass thereon for cutting timber trees, when the court finds as a fact that there is a bona fide contention on both sides based upon evidence constituting a prima facie title, no order shall be made pending such action, permitting either party to cut said timber trees, except by consent, until the title to said land or timber trees is finally determined in the action. In all cases where the title to any timber or trees, or the right to cut and remove the same during a term of years, is claimed by any party to such action, and the fee of the soil or other estate in the land by another, whether party to the action or not, the time within which such timber or trees may be cut or removed by the party claiming the same, and all other rights acquired in connection therewith, shall not be affected or abridged, but the running of the term is suspended during the pendency of the action.

Rev., s. 808; 1901, c. 666, s. 1; 1903, c. 642.

Legal effect of section and purpose of its enactment: Moore v. Fowle, 139-51. As to what constitutes prima facie title sufficient to make up a bona fide claim, see Lumber Co. v. Cedar Co., 142-411; Bynum v. Wicker, 141-95; Johnson v. Duvall, 135-642; Alleghany Co. v. Lumber Co., 131-6; Davis v. Fiber Co., 150-84. When plaintiff satisfies judge that claim is bona fide and that he can show an apparent title to the timber, judge should not dissolve injunction, but continue till final determination of title: Moore v. Fowle, 139-51; Carteret Lodge v. Ijames, 156-159; Riley v. Carter, 165-334; Sherrod v. Battle, 147-10. Cutting timber restrained to protect rights of mortgagee: Stewart v. Munger, 174-402. Deeds and contracts for growing timber are for interests in land and are governed by the law as to land: Pitts v. Curtis, 152-615; Woodbury v. King, 152-676. In a case involving the right to possession of a deed as evidence of title the cutting of timber on the land may be restrained: Sutton v. Sutton, 161-665. Where the plaintiff does not claim title to the timber lands, but some interest in the profits arising from cutting the timber, cutting of the timber will not be restrained: Taylor v. Riley, 153-195. The court will consider the interests to be affected in determining whether a restraining order shall issue: Ibid.

Section referred to in Lumber Co. v. Cedar Co., 142-411; Kistler v. Weaver, 135-390; Newton v. Brown, 134-443; Kelly v. Lumber Co., 157-175.

846. When timber may be cut. In any action specified in the preceding section, when the judge finds as a fact that the contention of either party is not in good faith and is not based upon evidence constituting a prima facie title, upon motion of the other party, who may satisfy the court of the bona fides of his contention and who may produce evidence showing a prima facie title, the court may allow such party to cut the timber trees by giving bond as required by law. Nothing in this section affects the right of appeal, and when any party to such action has been enjoined, a sufficient bond must be required to cover all damages that may accrue to the party enjoined by reason of the injunction as now required by law.

Rev., s. 809; 1901, c. 666, ss. 2, 3.

See section 845. For decisions treating of same subject-matter prior to enactment of this section, see Ousby v. Neal, 99-146; McKay v. Chapin, 120-159.

Where injunction dissolved, defendants entitled to value of timber cut by them before injunction was served and converted by plaintiff: Timber Co. v. Rountree, 122-45.

Before an order allowing a person to cut timber can be made in an action to quiet title, the court must find as a fact, and incorporate it in the order, that the party allowed to cut claims land in good faith and has a prima facie title thereto, and that claim of adverse party is not made in good faith: Johnson v. Duvall, 135-642. This section does not apply where the court fails to find that there is not a bona fide contention, but injunction should be granted under sections 844, 845: Kelly v. Lumber Co., 157-175.

847. Time of issuing. The injunction may be granted when or at any time after commencing the action, before judgment, upon its appearing satisfactorily to the judge, by affidavit of the plaintiff or of any other person, that sufficient grounds exist therefor. A copy of the affidavit must be served with the injunction.

Rev., s. 810; Code, s. 339; C. C. P., s. 190.

An injunction cannot issue unless a summons has been issued returnable to the superior court of the county in which action brought: Horne v. Comrs., 122-466—and if injunction issue before summons it is premature and irregular and will be vacated upon motion, Armstrong v. Kinsell, 164-125; Hirsh v. Whitehead, 65-516; Grant v. Edward, 90-31; Troxler v. Newsom, 88-13; McArthur v. McEachin, 64-72; Patrick v. Joyner, 63-573—but if defendant answers complaint and objection be not taken until trial, irregularity is waived, Heilig v. Stokes, 63-612. Summons need not be returned before injunction issues: Fleming v. Patterson, 99-404. The injunction may be dissolved for failure to serve a copy of the affidavit, unless it is waived or the court allows the service later: Taylor v. Boone, 172-93—but an agreement to fix the time for a hearing is not a waiver, Ibid.

848. Not issued for longer than twenty days without notice. No restraining order, or order to stay proceedings, for a longer time than twenty days shall be granted by a judge out of court, except upon due notice to the adverse party; but the order shall continue and remain in force until vacated after notice, to be fixed by the court, of not less than two nor more than ten days.

Rev., s. 811; Code, s. 346; C. C. P., s. 345; 1905, c. 26.

When issued for more than twenty days without notice it may be dissolved on motion: Foard v. Alexander, 64-69. See Hamilton v. Icard, 112-589. As to notice, see section 856.

849. Issued after answer, only on notice. An injunction shall not be allowed after the defendant has answered, except upon notice, or upon an order to show cause; but in such case the defendant may be restrained until the decision of the judge granting or refusing the injunction.

Rev., s. 812; Code, s. 340; C. C. P., s. 191.

For statute regulating notice, see sections 911, 912. Where the motion for injunction is made in term and the defendant is present resisting the motion, no further notice is required: Hemphill v. Moore, 104-379.

850. Order to show cause. If the judge deems it proper that the defendant, or any of several defendants, should be heard before granting an injunction, an order may be made requiring cause to be shown, at a specified time and place, why the injunction should not be granted; and the defendant may, in the meantime, be restrained.

Rev., s. 813; Code, s. 342; C. C. P., s. 193.

851. What judges have jurisdiction. The judges of the superior court have jurisdiction to grant injunctions and issue restraining orders in all civil actions and proceedings. A judge holding a special term in any county may grant an injunction, or issue a restraining order, returnable before himself, in any case which he has jurisdiction to hear and determine under the commission issued to him, and the same is returnable as directed in the order.

Rev., s. 814; Code, s. 335; 1876-7, c. 223, ss. 1, 2; 1879, c. 63, ss. 1, 3.

All superior court judges have jurisdiction anywhere in the state to issue restraining orders for twenty days returnable to the resident judge or judge riding the courts of the district: Hamilton v. Icard, 112-589—but jurisdiction to issue injunctions until the hearing of cause is restricted to the resident judge or judge assigned to courts of the district or holding such courts by exchange, Ibid.; see Worth v. Bank, 121-347. A perpetual injunction must be granted in the county in which cause pending and by judge presiding at trial: Hamilton v. Icard, 112-589.

A judge holding a special term cannot make a restraining order returnable before himself where the summons is returnable to a term of court beginning after the special term: Royal v. Thornton, 150-293—when this is set aside the plaintiff may still make application to the proper judge, Ibid. A motion in supreme court to restrain a party from proceeding in a federal court will not be allowed; relief should be sought in the lower court: Worth v. Trust Co., 152-242.

852. Before what judge returnable. All restraining orders and injunctions granted by any of the judges of the superior court, except one holding a special term in any county, shall be made returnable before the resident judge of the district, or the judge assigned to the district, or holding by exchange the courts of the district where the civil action or special proceeding is pending, within twenty days from date of order. If the judge before whom the matter is returned fails, for any reason, to hear the motion and application, or to continue them to some other time and place, any judge resident in, or assigned to hold the courts of, some adjoining district may hear and determine the said motion and application, after giving ten days notice to the parties interested in the application or motion, upon its being satisfactorily shown to him by affidavit or otherwise that the judge before whom the matter was returnable failed to act upon or to continue the same to some other time and place. This removal continues in force the motion and application theretofore granted, till they can be heard and determined by the judge having jurisdiction.

Rev., s. 815; Code, s. 336; 1876, c. 223, s. 2; 1879, c. 63, ss. 2, 3; 1881, c. 51.

For cases as to whether injunction should be dismissed or continued to hearing, see under section 856.

The restraining order for twenty days can be made returnable anywhere in the state: Hamilton v. Icard, 112-589, notwithstanding Galbreath v. Everett, 84-546—but must be returnable before the resident judge or judge riding the courts of the district in which action is pending, Hamilton v. Icard, 112-589—and though the courts of the district for his term are over, he can still grant it if it is during the six months of the year in which he has been assigned to the district, Ibid.; also Stith v. Jones, 101-360. If judge before whom returnable fail to hear it, judge of adjoining district can hear it upon ten days notice to parties: Hamilton v. Icard, 112-589. On hearings, the title to land is not required to be proved with that strictness and certainty of proof as upon trial: Moore v. Fowle, 139-51.

Section merely referred to in Moore v. Moore, 131-372; Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-457; Wilson v. Rankin, 129-450.

853. Stipulation as to judge to hear. By a stipulation in writing, signed by all the parties to an application for an injunction order, or their attorneys, to the effect that the matter may be heard before a judge designated in the stipulation, the judge before whom the restraining order is returnable by law, or who is by law the judge to hear the motion for an injunction order, shall, upon receipt of the stipulation forward it and all the papers to the judge designated, whose duty it then is to hear and decide the matter, and return all the papers to the court out of which they issued, the necessary postage or expressage money to be furnished to the judge.

Rev., s. 816; Code, s. 337; 1883, c. 33.

Parties can agree in writing to have hearing before any judge of superior court: Hamilton v. Icard, 112-589.

854. Undertaking. Upon granting a restraining order or an order for an injunction, the judge shall require as a condition precedent to the issuing thereof that the clerk shall take from the plaintiff a written undertaking, with sufficient sureties, to be justified before, and approved by, the clerk or judge, in an amount to be fixed by the judge, to the effect that the plaintiff will pay to the party enjoined such damages, not exceeding an amount to be specified, as he sustains by reason of the injunction, if the court finally decides that the plaintiff was not entitled to it.

Rev., s. 817; Code, s. 341; C. C. P., s. 192.

Amount of undertaking must be fixed by judge: Bynum v. Comrs., 101-412. The requirement that undertaking be given is mandatory: James v. Withers, 114-474; McKay v. Chapin, 120-159—and an injunction issued without it is irregular, but not void, McKay v. Chapin, 120-159; Young v. Rollins, 90-125; Sledge v. Blum, 63-374—and such injunction can be vacated on motion, Sledge v. Blum, 63-374; Wilson v. Featherstone, 120-449; Miller v. Parker, 73-58; Faison v. McIlwaine, 72-312; Hirsh v. Whitehead, 65-516—but plaintiff may be allowed to file bond even in supreme court, McKay v. Chapin, 120-159.

A second undertaking, upon the continuance of injunction to the hearing, cannot be ordered unless the first one insufficient: Preiss v. Cohen, 112-278. As to approval of bond by judge, see Sternberger v. Hawley, 85-141; also Bynum v. Comrs., 101-412. As to depositing money in lieu of undertaking, see Richards v. Baurman, 65-162. Recovery of damages by one who has been injured by injunction is limited to penalty of undertaking: Timber Co. v. Rountree, 122-45. As to damages on injunction bond generally and how assessed, see McCall v. Webb, 135-365, and cases cited; Midgett v. Vann, 158-128.

Section merely referred to in Mahoney v. Tyler, 136-43.

855. Damages on dissolution. A judgment dissolving an injunction carries with it judgment for damages against the party procuring it and the sureties on his undertaking without the requirement of malice or want of probable cause in procuring the injunction, which damages may be ascertained by a reference or otherwise, as the judge directs, and the decision of the court is conclusive as to the amount of damages upon all the persons who have an interest in the undertaking.

Rev., s. 818; Code, s. 341; 1893, c. 251.

As to procedure for recovery of damages upon undertaking, see R. R. v. Mining Co., 117-191; Timber Co. v. Rountree, 122-45; Crawford v. Pearson, 116-718; Gold Co. v. Ore Co., 79-48; McKesson v. Hennessee, 66-473; Hyman v. Devereux, 65-588; Thompson v. McNair, 64-448. What damages may be recovered: Davis v. Fiber Co., 175-25; Midgett v. Vann, 158-128; Kerr v. Hicks, 154-608.

856. Issued without notice; application to vacate. If the injunction is granted without notice, the defendant, at any time before the trial, may apply, upon notice to be fixed by the court of not less than two nor more than ten days, to the judge having jurisdiction, to vacate or modify the same, if he is within the district or in an adjoining district, but if out of the district and not in an adjoining district, then before any judge who is at the time in the district, and if there is no judge in the district, before any judge in an adjoining district. The application may be made upon the complaint and the affidavits on which the injunction was granted, or upon the affidavits on the part of the defendant, with or without answer. If no such application is made, the injunction continues in force until such application is made and determined by the judge, and a verified answer has the effect only of an affidavit.

Rev., s. 819; Code, s. 344; C. C. P., s. 195; 1905, c. 26.

Amended by act of 1905 as to the judge who can vacate an injunction.

An injunction issued without notice will be vacated: Armstrong v. Kinsell, 164-125. If the judge in granting injunction founded his action solely upon affidavits of plaintiff, he can modify same without notice: Sledge v. Blum, 63-374. In an action for injunction, if plaintiff's whole equity is denied and it appears from answer and affidavits that his case is fully met, injunction should not be continued till final hearing: Riggsbee v. Durham, 98-81; Cooper v. Cooper, 127-490; Walker v. Gurley, 83-429; Perry v. Michaux, 79-94; Mitchell v. Comrs., 74-487; Faison v. McIlwaine, 72-312; Woodfin v. Beach, 70-455; Bell v. Chadwick, 71-329—nor should it be continued where it appears that there is not probable cause from which it may be reasonably inferred that plaintiff will make out his case at final hearing, Craycroft v. Morehead, 67-422; see Woody v. Timber Co., 141-471; Hyatt v. DeHart, 140-270; Lumber Co. v. Smith, 146-158—nor where it will interfere with the prosecuting of enterprises which tend to develop resources of the country, Hyatt v. DeHart, 140-270; Griffin v. R. R., 150-312; Waste Co. v. R. R., 167-340; Rope Co. v. Aluminum Co., 165-572; Jones v. Lassiter, 169-750. On the other hand, if it appears from the pleadings and affidavits that there is probable cause from which it may be reasonably inferred that plaintiff will be able to make out his case on final hearing, the injunction will not be dissolved: Seip v. Wright, 173-14; Little v. Efrd, 170-187; Sutton v. Sutton, 161-665; Herndon v. R. R., 161-650; Craycroft v. Morehead, 67-422; Bynum v. Wicker, 141-95; Moore v. Fowle, 139-51; Currie v. Jones, 138-189; Erwin v. Morris, 137-48; Cobb v. Clegg, 137-153; Griffin v. Water Co., 122-206; Cozart v. Fleming, 123-560; Tobacco Co. v. McElwee, 94-425—nor will it be where a reasonable doubt exists as to whether the equity set up in the complaint is sufficiently negated by answer, Lowe v. Comrs., 70-532; Atkinson v. Everett, 114-670; Nimoeks v. Shingle Co., 110-230; Frank v. Robinson, 96-28; Durham v. R. R., 104-261; Turner v. Cuthrell, 94-239; Morris v. Willard, 84-293; Ponton v. McAdoo, 71-101—nor where it would be difficult and impracticable to ascertain actual damages, Jolly v. Brady, 127-142—nor where the injunctive relief may be the real relief demanded, and not simply auxiliary, and the evidence raises serious question as to existence of facts making for plaintiff's right and sufficient to establish it, Seip v. Wright, 173-14; Little v. Efrd, 170-187; Guano Co. v. Lumber Co., 168-337; Stancill v. Joyner, 159-617; Yount v. Setzer, 155-213; Person v. Person, 154-453; Tise v. Whitaker-Harvey Co., 144-507; Hyatt v. DeHart, 140-270; Vickers v. Durham, 132-880; Harrington v. Rawls, 131-39; Whitaker v. Hill, 96-2; Marshall v. Comrs., 89-103—nor will it be dissolved when it encourages and facilitates public convenience except in clear cases, Rwy. v. Asheville, 109-688—nor where serious questions are raised as indicated in Harrington v. Rawls, 131-40—nor where reasonably necessary to protect plaintiff's rights until trial, Heilig v. Stokes, 63-612.

For injunction with conditions attached, the fulfillment of which will vacate the order, see Hickory v. R. R., 143-455, 141-716, 138-311. When a restraining order has been vacated and appeal is taken, and pending appeal the work is completed, the parties will be left to the final determination of the action: Yates v. Ins. Co., 166-134; Moore v. Monument Co., 166-211. When the time allowed under a former restraining order has expired the court may extend it: Poster v. Carrier, 161-472.

The vacating or refusal to vacate an injunction is appealable: French v. Wilmington, 75-387—but the order vacating or continuing the injunction is not vacated by the appeal, Green v. Griffin, 95-50; Reyburn v. Sawyer, 128-8; James v. Markham, 125-145. The decision of an appeal is neither an estoppel nor the "law of the case": Soloman v. Sewerage Co., 142-439. The supreme court, on appeal, can review the findings of fact: Burns v. McFarland, 146-382; Hooker v. Greenville, 130-472; Mayo v. Comrs., 122-5; Roberts v. Lewald, 107-305; Jones v. Boyd, 80-258. On appeal, the findings of fact by the judge below are not conclusive, but there is a presumption in favor of proceedings below: Hyatt v. DeHart, 140-270.

857. When opposing affidavits admitted. If the application is made upon affidavits on the part of the defendant, the plaintiff may oppose the same by affidavits or other proof, in addition to those on which the injunction was granted.

Rev., s. 820; Code, s. 345; C. C. P., s. 196.

Verified answer is an affidavit hereunder: Tobacco Co. v. McElwee, 94-425—and when so used, plaintiff may file counter affidavits, Ibid.; also King v. Winants, 68-63; Howerton v. Sprague, 64-451—and may also file counter affidavits to affidavits filed by defendants, Young v. Rollins, 85-485.

858. To restrain collection of taxes. No injunction may be granted by any court or judge to restrain the collection of any tax or any part thereof, or to restrain the sale of any property for the nonpayment of any tax, unless such tax or the part thereof enjoined is levied or assessed for an illegal or unauthorized purpose, or the tax assessment is illegal or invalid.

Rev., s. 821; 1901, c. 558, s. 30; 1899, c. 15, s. 78; 1887, c. 137, s. 84.

For action to recover illegal taxes paid, see section 7979.

The above section constitutional: R. R. v. Reidsville, 109-494, and cases there cited; Matthews v. Comrs., 99-69. As to how facts as to the illegality and invalidity of the tax should be set out, see Mace v. Comrs., 99-55. A taxpayer may maintain an injunction to prevent sale of his property under an illegal tax or he may pay tax under protest and sue to recover it: Purnell v. Page, 133-125. Injunctive relief may be invoked by taxpayer when tax is invalid or illegal: Armstrong v. Stedman, 130-217; Range Co. v. Carver, 118-331; Sherrod v. Dawson, 154-525.

This section does not apply when the right to collect taxes in arrears has been revived containing no restrictions applicable to a particular case arising thereunder: Moore v. Sugg, 112-233. In cases where restraining order not allowed, plaintiff should pay the tax and pursue the remedy provided for its recovery: Hall v. Fayetteville, 115-281.

Under this section the following cases are held not to be within the exception, and therefore no restraining order can be granted: McDonald v. Teague, 119-604; Hall v. Fayetteville, 115-281; Mace v. Comrs., 99-67. The exceptive words of the section apply not to the levy or illegal levy of the taxes, but to the "illegal or unauthorized" purpose of the levy: Mace v. Comrs., 99-67.

Where an act authorizing a tax levy is void as to part, collection of the whole should be enjoined, Williams v. Comrs., 119-520. As to who are parties defendant to action for injunction to prevent collection of taxes on unlisted property, see Land and Lumber Co. v. Smith, 146-199.

ART. 37. RECEIVERS

859. What judge appoints. Any judge of the superior court with authority to grant restraining orders and injunctions has like jurisdiction in appointing receivers, and all motions to show cause are returnable as is provided for injunctions.

Rev., s. 846; Code, s. 379; C. C. P., s. 215; 1876-7, c. 223; 1879, c. 63; 1881, c. 51.

As to receivers of orphans' estates, see sections 2198-2202—of state banks, see Worth v. Bank, 121-343; also section 253—of corporations, see sections 1208-1217—in supplementary proceedings, see sections 722-725.

The clerk cannot appoint: York v. McCall, 160-277; Parks v. Sprinkle, 64-637. As to question of priority of application and conflict of court's jurisdiction, see Worth v. Bank, 121-343; Young v. Rollins, 85-485. Before receiver can be appointed it must be shown that plaintiff is entitled to the relief demanded: Witz v. Gray, 116-48. As to who should or should not be appointed, see Fisher v. Trust Co., 138-90; Young v. Rollins, 85-485. Court should not appoint more receivers than necessary: Bank v. Bank, 126-531. The order appointing receiver not void for lack of security: Nesbitt v. Turrentine, 83-535. The practice of appointing receiver upon unverified complaint and without notice to creditors and others interested is not commended: Fisher v. Trust Co., 138-90. Foreign receiver proves his appointment by a certified copy of the order appointing: Person v. Leary, 126-504, 127-114. Appointment of receivers is matter of record and should be shown by the record: Person v. Leary, 126-504.

In the matter of appointment of receivers the powers of the courts have been enlarged by the Code: Lumber Co. v. Wallace, 93-22. Appointment of a receiver is not a matter of positive right, but rests in sound legal discretion of the judge: Whitehead v. Hale, 118-602.

Motion for the appointment of a receiver may be made before any judge, and temporary receiver be appointed: Worth v. Bank, 121-343—and order made returnable before resident judge, or judge holding courts of district, Ibid.—and the hearing may be outside of the county where action brought, Parker v. McPhail, 112-504. Where appointments are made by two courts, each having jurisdiction, the first made will control: Worth v. Bank, 121-343.

860. In what cases appointed. A receiver may be appointed—

1. Before judgment, on the application of either party, when he establishes an apparent right to property which is the subject of the action and in the possession of an adverse party, and the property or its rents and profits are in danger of being lost, or materially injured or impaired; except in cases where judgment upon failure to answer may be had on application to the court.

2. After judgment, to carry the judgment into effect.

3. After judgment, to dispose of the property according to the judgment, or to preserve it during the pendency of an appeal, or when an execution has been returned unsatisfied, and the judgment debtor refuses to apply his property in satisfaction of the judgment.

4. In cases provided in chapter entitled Corporations in the article Receivers; and in like cases, of the property within this state of foreign corporations.

The article Receivers, in the chapter entitled Corporations, is applicable, as near as may be, to receivers appointed hereunder.

Rev., s. 847; Code, s. 379; C. C. P., s. 215; 1876-7, c. 223; 1879, c. 63; 1881, c. 51.

For appointment of receivers in supplemental proceedings, see this chapter, s. 722.

A receiver will be appointed before judgment where plaintiff shows imminent danger of loss by defendant's insolvency: Mahoney v. Stewart, 123-106; Taylor v. Russell, 119-33; Whitehead v. Hale, 118-601; Bank v. Bridgers, 114-381; Lovett v. Slocomb, 109-110; Stith v. Jones, 101-360; Venable v. Smith, 98-523; Durant v. Crowell, 97-367; McNair v. Pope, 96-502; Albright v. Albright, 91-220; Oldham v. Bank, 84-304; Parker v. Parker, 82-165; Nesbitt v. Turrentine, 83-535; Railroad v. Wilson, 81-223; Kerchner v. Fairley, 80-24; Rollins v. Henry, 77-467; Gause v. Perkins, 56-177; Deep River Co. v. Fox, 39-61—or where there is reason to apprehend that the subject of the controversy will be destroyed or removed, or otherwise disposed of by defendants pending action, Ellett v. Newman, 92-519; Thompson v. Silverthorne, 142-12—or where defendant is insolvent and all property must be sold to pay debts, Machine Co. v. Lumber Co., 109-576—or where it is alleged that defendant is trying to defraud plaintiff, Stern v. Austern, 120-107; Commission Co. v. Porter, 122-692; Pearce v. Elwell, 116-595.

A receiver may be appointed to carry out the purposes of a trust: Rousseau v. Call, 169-173. The court may appoint a receiver for an insolvent foreign corporation: Silk Co. v. Spinning

Co., 154-422; Holshouser v. Copper Co., 138-248. The receiver may sue in his own name or in that of the corporation: Millinery Co. v. Ins. Co., 160-130. Right of foreign receiver to sue: Person v. Leary, 127-114. Where no exception is taken and no appeal, the receivership continues in force: Talbot v. Tyson, 147-273.

No receiver will be appointed where it does not appear that property is in danger of being lost or materially injured: Venable v. Smith, 98-523; Bryan v. Moring, 94-694; Levenson v. Elson, 88-182; Twitty v. Logan, 80-69; Rollins v. Henry, 77-467—nor will one be appointed pendente lite upon a mere allegation that party “has reason to believe” that property in dispute will be wasted or destroyed, without stating the reasons of such belief, Hanna v. Hanna, 89-68—nor where foreign insurance company has no assets or property other than assessments to become due, within this state, which can be taken into possession, Blackwell v. Life Assn., 141-117.

Where receiver should be appointed to carry judgment into effect: Pipe and Foundry Co. v. Howland, 111-625; Richards v. Baurman, 65-162; Gobble v. Orrell, 163-489.

861. Appointment refused on bond being given. In all cases where there is an application for the appointment of a receiver, upon the ground that the property or its rents and profits are in danger of being lost, or materially injured or impaired, or that a corporation defendant is insolvent or in imminent danger of insolvency, and the subject of the action is the recovery of a money demand, the judge before whom the application is made or pending shall have the discretionary power to refuse the appointment of a receiver if the party against whom such relief is asked, whether a person, partnership or corporation, tenders to the court an undertaking payable to the adverse party in an amount double the sum demanded by the plaintiff, with at least two sufficient and duly justified sureties, conditioned for the payment of such amount as may be recovered in the action, and summary judgment may be taken upon the undertaking. In the progress of the action the court may in its discretion require additional sureties on such undertaking.

Rev., s. 848; 1885, c. 94.

Where there is danger of loss, instead of appointing a receiver, defendant may be allowed to give bond to secure plaintiff: Durant v. Crowell, 97-367—and it is error to appoint without giving defendant this opportunity, Stith v. Jones, 101-360. But the fact that defendant has given bond under section 495 will not prevent the appointment of a receiver: Arey v. Williams, 154-610.

Cases merely referring to section: Moore v. Moore, 131-372; Wilson v. Rankin, 129-450; Bank v. Cotton Mills, 115-513.

862. Receiver's bond. A receiver appointed in an action or special proceeding must, before entering upon his duties, execute and file with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending an undertaking payable to the adverse party with at least two sufficient sureties in a penalty fixed by the judge making the appointment, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties as receiver. And the judge having jurisdiction thereof may at any time remove the receiver, or direct him to give a new undertaking, with new sureties, and on the like condition. This section does not apply to a case where special provision is made by law for the security to be given by a receiver, or for increasing the same, or for removing a receiver.

Rev., s. 849; Code, s. 383.

For giving bond in surety companies, see sections 338, 339. Liability of receiver: Alston v. Massenburg, 125-582; Collins v. Gooch, 97-186. Clerk's bond liable as receiver's bond, when: Alston v. Massenburg, 125-582; Waters v. Melson, 112-89; Boothe v. Upchurch, 110-62; Presson v. Boone, 108-78; Syme v. Bunting, 91-48; Rogers v. Odum, 86-432. Practice in bringing action on bond: Boothe v. Upchurch, 110-62; Black v. Gentry, 119-502; Atkinson v. Smith, 89-72; Bank v. Creditors, 86-323.

ART. 38. DEPOSIT OR DELIVERY OF MONEY OR OTHER PROPERTY

863. Ordered paid into court. When it is admitted by the pleading or examination of a party that he has in his possession or under his control any money or other thing capable of delivery, which, being the subject of the litigation, is held by him as trustee for another party, or which belongs or is due to another party, the judge may order it deposited in court, or delivered to such party with or without security, subject to the further direction of the judge.

Rev., s. 850; Code, s. 380; C. C. P., s. 215.

864. Ordered seized by sheriff. When, in the exercise of his authority, a judge has ordered the deposit, delivery or conveyance of money or other property, and the order is disobeyed, the judge, besides punishing the disobedience as for contempt, may make an order requiring the sheriff to take the money or property, and deposit, deliver, or convey it, in conformity with the direction of the judge.

Rev., s. 851; Code, s. 381; C. C. P., s. 215.

For punishment as for contempt, see section 985; also Worth v. Bank, 121-344.

865. Defendant ordered to satisfy admitted sum. When the answer of the defendant expressly, or by not denying, admits part of the plaintiff's claim to be just, the judge, on motion, may order the defendant to satisfy that part of the claim, and may enforce the order as it enforces a judgment or provisional remedy.

Rev., s. 852; Code, s. 382; C. C. P., s. 215.

Cases supporting section: Curran v. Kerehner, 117-264; Parker v. Bledsoe, 87-222.

SUBCHAPTER XIV. ACTIONS IN PARTICULAR CASES

ART. 39. MANDAMUS

866. Begun by summons and verified complaint. All applications for writs of mandamus must be made by summons and complaint, which must be duly verified.

Rev., s. 822; Code, s. 622; 1871-2, c. 75.

GENERAL NATURE OF REMEDY. Nature and use of mandamus: Edgerton v. Kirby, 156-347; Bear v. Comrs., 124-204; Burton v. Furman, 115-166; Lyon v. Comrs., 120-237; Haymore v. Comrs., 85-268; Belmont v. Reilly, 71-260; Brown v. Turner, 70-93. Distinguished from mandatory injunction: Telephone Co. v. Telephone Co., 159-9. Superior court has jurisdiction to issue writ: Tate v. Comrs., 122-661—but a justice of the peace has not, Robinson v. Howard, 84-151; Wright v. Kinney, 123-618. As to contents of complaint to compel levying of tax to pay debt, see Blanton v. Comrs., 101-532. If on the hearing at chambers material issues of fact are raised, the judge should transfer the case to the civil issue docket: Coleman v. Coleman, 148-299; Edgerton v. Kirby, 156-347.

IN WHAT CASES MANDAMUS WILL LIE. Mandamus lies in favor of one who wishes to be restored to an unoccupied office: McCullers v. Comrs., 158-75; Rhodes v. Love, 153-468; Lyon v. Comrs., 120-237—of a treasurer to compel county commissioners to consider and pass on claim for commissions, Bennett v. Comrs., 125-468, cited in Martin v. Clark, 135-178; Koonce v. Comrs., 106-192—to compel city aldermen to call election when proper number of voters petition, Pace v. Raleigh, 140-65—to compel school authorities to maintain school term up to constitutional limit, Lowery v. School Trustees, 140-33—to compel city officer to issue permit for property owner to connect property with sewer, Slaughter v. O'Berry, 126-181—to compel issue of corporate stock where proper tender of payment made, Wilson v. Telephone Co., 139-395—to compel county commissioners to issue bonds, Jones v. Comrs., 135-218, 137-579; see Railroad v. Jenkins, 65-173—to compel county treasurer to pay claims, Audit Co. v. McKenzie, 147-461; Martin v. Clark, 135-178; Wright v. Kinney, 123-618; Comrs. v. Comrs., 73-298—to compel corporation commission to assess railroad for taxation, Jackson v. Commission, 130-386—to compel proper city and county authorities to levy and collect taxes with which to pay claims, Broadfoot v. Fayetteville, 124-478; Bear v. Comrs., 124-204; Hughes v. Comrs., 107-528; Leach v. Comrs., 84-829; Gooch v. Gregory, 65-142; Lutterloh v. Comrs., 65-403; Pegram v. Comrs., 64-557; Winslow v. Comrs., 64-218—to compel county commissioners to pay a debt out of any money in hand, Drainage Dist. v. Comrs., 174-738—to compel commissioners to levy proper poll tax, R. R. v. Comrs., 148-220—to compel county commissioners to pay expense of post-mortem examination, Withers v. Comrs., 163-341—to compel county commissioners to levy tax in excess of constitutional limitation for road improvements without vote of people, Tate v. Comrs., 122-812—to compel county commissioners to grant petition for stock law, Perry v. Comrs., 130-558—to compel proper authorities to issue license, State v. Snipes, 161-243—to compel public officers to discharge mere ministerial duties, Russell v. Ayer, 120-180; Wool v. Edenton, 115-10; County Bd. v. State Bd., 106-81—to compel officer to perform specific duty required by law, Kitchin v. Wood, 154-565; Coleman v. Coleman, 148-299; Johnston v. Board of Elections, 172-162; Bickett v. Tax Commission, 177-433; Bennett v. Comrs., 125-468; Russell v. Ayer, 120-180; Harrington v. King, 117-117; Railroad v. Jenkins, 68-502; Tate v. Comrs., 122-812; Wool v. Edenton, 115-10; State v. Justices, 24-430—to compel a municipal corporation which has already occupied land for public purposes to proceed to have damages assessed, McDowell v. Asheville, 112-747—to compel payment of a salary to an officeholder, White v. Auditor, 126-570; but see Cotten v. Ellis, 52-545; Bayne v. Jenkins, 66-356; Boner v. Adams, 65-639—to compel public officer to deposit public funds in proper depository, Bearden v. Fullam, 129-477—to compel commissioners to draw a grand jury, Mott v. Comrs., 126-866—to compel school committeemen to issue warrant for the salary of teacher, Robinson v. Howard, 84-151—to compel county superintendent of schools to sign school order, Ducker v. Venable, 126-447—to compel county auditor to audit a claim, Wilson v. Holding, 170-352—to compel county officers to deliver tax books to sheriff, Graded School v. McDowell, 157-316—to compel the lower court to obey the mandate of supreme court as to disposition of case, Tussey v. Owen, 147-335—to compel aldermen to elect recorder for recorder's court, Battle v. Rocky Mount, 156-329—to compel installation of telephones without discrimination, Godwin v. Telephone Co., 136-259; Walls v. Strickland, 174-298; see, also, Telephone Co. v. Telephone Co., 159-9.

IN WHAT CASES MANDAMUS WILL NOT LIE. Mandamus does not lie to compel an unlawful or prohibited act: Betts v. Raleigh, 142-229—nor to compel state board of education to apportion money to schools under circumstances recited in Bd. of Ed. v. State Board, 114-313—nor to regulate or control affairs of a foreign fraternal insurance company, Brenizer v. Royal Arceanum, 141-409—nor to compel county commissioners to levy tax beyond constitutional limit, Cromartie v. Comrs., 87-134; but see Tate v. Comrs., 122-812—nor to compel county commissioners to keep in repair a bridge which a former board contracted so to keep, *Glenn v. 867. For money demand returnable at term. In applications for a writ of mandamus when the plaintiff seeks to enforce a money demand, the summons, pleadings and practice are the same as prescribed for civil actions.

Rev., s. 823; Code, s. 623; 1871-2, c. 75, s. 2.

Summons returnable in term time: Ducker v. Venable, 126-447; Rogers v. Jenkins, 98-129; Steele v. Comrs., 70-137. If improperly returned to chambers, should not be dismissed, but transferred to proper docket: Martin v. Clark, 135-178; Jones v. Comrs., 135-218—but transfer waived if not moved for, Ibid. As to what is a money demand, see Ducker v. Venable, 126-447; Coleman v. Coleman, 148-299.

868. For other relief returnable in vacation; issues of fact. When the plaintiff seeks relief other than the enforcement of a money demand, the summons must be made returnable before a judge of the superior court at chambers, or in term at a day specified in the summons, not less than ten days after the service of the summons and complaint upon the defendant; at which time the court, except for good cause shown, shall hear and determine the action, both as to law and fact. However, when an issue of fact is raised by the pleading, it is the duty of the court, upon the motion of either party, to continue the action until the issue of fact can be decided by a jury at the next regular term of the court.

Rev., s. 824; Code, s. 623; 1871-2, c. 75, s. 3.

Summons may be made returnable at chambers: Ducker v. Venable, 126-447; Horne v. Comrs., 122-466; Rogers v. Jenkins, 98-129; Steele v. Comrs., 70-137; Coleman v. Coleman, 148-299. An alternative mandamus is generally issued in the first instance, to be followed by a peremptory mandamus: Battle v. Rocky Mount, 156-329; Hughes v. Comrs., 107-598; Fry v. Comrs., 82-304. A mandamus to compel the performance of an act involving discretion requires the officer to proceed to exercise his discretion: Dula v. School Trustees, 177-426; Battle v. Rocky Mount, 156-329; Burke v. Comrs., 148-46.

ART. 40. QUO WARRANTO

869. Writs of sci. fa. and quo warranto abolished. The writs of scire facias and of quo warranto, and proceedings by information in the nature of quo warranto, are abolished; and the remedies obtainable in those forms may be obtained by civil actions under this article.

Rev., s. 826; Code, s. 603; C. C. P., s. 362; R. C., c. 26, ss. 5, 25.

Power of state to change remedies and effect of statute abolishing writ of scire facias and quo warranto reviewed: McCall v. Webb, 135-356; McDowell v. Asbury, 66-444; Kingsbury v. Hughes, 61-328; Riddick v. Hinton, 61-291; Bingham v. Richardson, 61-315; Mardre v. Felton, 61-279; Parker v. Shannonhouse, 61-209. An action in the nature of a quo warranto the proper remedy to try title to public office: Markham v. Simpson, 175-135; Rogers v.

Powell, 174-388; Rhodes v. Love, 153-468; Burke v. Jenkins, 148-25; Burke v. Comrs., 148-46; Cozart v. Fleming, 123-547; Lyon v. Comrs., 120-237; State v. Norman, 82-687; Davis v. Moss, 81-303; Saunders v. Gatling, 81-298; Swain v. McRae, 80-111; Cloud v. Wilson, 72-155; Brown v. Turner, 70-93—but does not lie against one not in office, Cozart v. Fleming, 123-559; but see same case, page 560; see Cunningham v. Sprinkle, 124-640. Whether a liquor dealer has violated the law under which license granted, cannot be tested by quo warranto: Hargett v. Bell, 134-396.

In what sense a writ of scire facias is abolished: McDowell v. Asbury, 66-444.

870. Action by attorney-general. An action may be brought by the attorney-general in the name of the state, upon his own information or upon the complaint of a private party, against the parties offending, in the following cases:

1. When a person usurps, intrudes into, or unlawfully holds or exercises any public office, civil or military, or any franchise within this state, or any office in a corporation created by the authority of this state; or,

2. When a public officer, civil or military, has done or suffered an act which, by law, makes a forfeiture of his office.

3. When any person, natural or corporate, has or claims to have or hold any rights or franchises by reason of a grant or otherwise, in violation of the provisions of the section of article one of the chapter entitled State Lands which declares entries and grants not authorized by that chapter to be void and not to constitute color of title.

Rev., s. 827; Code, s. 607; C. C. P., s. 366; 1911, cc. 195, 201.

For actions in nature of quo warranto against corporations, see Corporations, Art. 8, Dissolution.

For actions by state to forfeit grants, see State Lands, s. 7596.

What is a public office: State v. Knight, 169-333; Groves v. Barden, 169-8; Salisbury v. Croom, 167-223; Midgett v. Gray, 159-443; State ex rel. Wooten v. Smith, 145-476; State Prison v. Day, 124-362; Wood v. Bellamy, 120-212; McNeill v. Somers, 96-467; Doyle v. Raleigh, 89-133; Eliason v. Coleman, 86-236; Brown v. Turner, 70-93; Nichols v. McKee, 68-429; Welker v. Bledsoe, 68-457; Clark v. Stanley, 66-59; Hoke v. Henderson, 15-1.

Contested election cases (excluding the "office-holding cases" which, see below): Johnston v. Board of Elections, 172-162; Britt v. Board of Canvassers, 172-797; Whitehead v. Pittman, 165-89; Echerd v. Viele, 164-122; State ex rel. Spruill v. Bateman, 162-588; State ex rel. Barnett v. Midgett, 151-1; Mitchell v. Alley, 126-84; Cozart v. Fleming, 123-547; Houghtalling v. Taylor, 122-141; Shennonhouse v. Withers, 121-377; Lyon v. Comrs., 120-237; Stanford v. Ellington, 117-158; Hines v. Vann, 118-3; Foard v. Hall, 111-369; Van Amringe v. Taylor, 108-196; Hampton v. Waldrop, 104-453; Deberry v. Nicholson, 102-465; Gatling v. Boone, 98-573, 101-61; Roberts v. Calvert, 98-580; Hannon v. Grizzard, 96-293; Kilburn v. Patterson, 98-593; Hahn v. Stinson, 98-591; Hancock v. Hubbs, 98-589; Ellison v. Raleigh, 89-125; Hannon v. Comrs., 89-123; Deloatch v. Rogers, 86-358; State v. Norman, 82-687; Davis v. Moss, 81-303; Saunders v. Gatling, 81-298; People v. Wilson, 72-155; People v. Hilliard, 72-169; Norfleet v. Staton, 73-546; Jones v. Comrs., 77-280; State v. Tate, 66-231; Patterson v. Hubbs, 65-119; Clark v. Stanly, 66-59.

Cases known as the "officeholding cases," being contests for office based principally upon the legislative right to abolish an office and recreate it, and thereby oust the incumbent, and defended principally upon the doctrine that an officeholder has a property right in the office: Mial v. Ellington, 134-131 (overruling Hoke v. Henderson, 15-1, on the point that one has property in an office, and all other cases based thereon); Taylor v. Vann, 127-243; White v. Murray, 126-153; Wilson v. Neal, 126-781; Mott v. Griffith, 126-775; Baker v. Hobgood, 126-149; Dalby v. Hancock, 125-325; White v. Hill, 125-194; Gattis v. Griffin, 125-333; McCall v. Zachary, 125-249, 131-466; McCall v. Webb, 125-243; McCall v. Gardner, 125-238; Abbott v. Beddingfield, 125-256; Greene v. Owen, 125-212; Bryan v. Patrick, 124-651; State Prison v. Day, 124-362; Wilson v. Jordan, 124-683; Cunningham v. Sprinkle, 124-640; R. R. v. Dortch, 124-663; Ward v. Elizabeth City, 121-1; Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-468; Wood v. Bellamy, 120-212; Lusk v. Sawyer, 120-225; Miller v. Alexander, 122-721; McDonald v. Morrow, 119-676; Trotter v. Mitchell, 115-193; State v. Womble, 112-867; Bd. of Ed. v. Kenan, 112-568; McNamee v. Alexander, 109-246; State v. Cutshall, 110-545; Lyon v. Akin, 78-258; Prairie v. Worth, 78-169; Vann v. Pipkin, 77-408; Bunting v. Gales, 77-383; Brown v. Turner, 70-93; Clark v. Stanly, 66-59; King v. Hunter, 65-603; State v. Smith, 65-369; Galloway v. Jenkins, 63-147; Barnes v. Barnes, 53-366; Cotten v. Ellis, 52-545; State v. Glen, 52-321; Thompson v. Floyd, 47-313; State v. Moss, 47-66; Houston v. Bogle, 32-496; Hoke v. Henderson, 15-1.

In whose name and what form action brought, see Atty.-General v. R. R., 134-481; State v. Norman, 82-687; Saunders v. Gatling, 81-298; People v. Heaton, 77-18; Tuck v. Hunt, 73-24; People v. Hilliard, 72-169; Patterson v. Hubbs, 65-119; Loftin v. Sowers, 65-251. Plaintiff's right to recover in a contested election case depends upon his own right to the office and not upon defects in defendant's title: Stanford v. Ellington, 117-158.

Cases where forfeiture of public office claimed: Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-425; Vann v. Pipkin, 77-408.

Action brought by citizen and taxpayer to try right of one person to hold two offices: Barnhill v. Thompson, 122-493; Foard v. Hall, 111-369; Hines v. Vann, 118-3; Midgett v. Gray, 158-133; s. c., 159-443. What is a usurpation of or intrusion into office hereunder, discussed in Brown v. Turner, 70-93.

Attorney-general cannot of his own motion bring action to vacate charter: Attorney-General v. R. R., 134-481. Proper remedy to determine right of foreign corporation to do business in the state: Mining Co. v. Lumber Co., 173-593—to restrain a corporation from exercising unwarranted powers, Power Co. v. Power Co., 171-248; Land Co. v. Traction Co., 162-314—to vacate franchise: Attorney-General v. R. R., 134-481—to vacate oyster entry, Blount v. Simmons, 120-19.

871. Action by private person with leave. When application is made to the attorney-general by a private relator to bring such an action, he shall grant leave that it may be brought in the name of the state, upon the relation of such applicant, upon the applicant tendering to the attorney-general satisfactory security to indemnify the state against all costs and expenses which may accrue in consequence of the action.

Rev., s. 828; Code, s. 608; 1874-5, c. 76; 1881, c. 330.

For costs in such action, see Costs, s. 13.

For involuntary dissolution of corporations at the instance of private persons, see Corporations, s. 1185.

The above section allowing prosecution of an action in the name of the state to assert the right of a citizen to a public office is not for that reason unconstitutional: McCall v. Webb, 135-356. The action is brought by the relator as the real party in interest: Jones v. Riggs, 154-281. The fact that the person receiving the highest number of votes is ineligible does not entitle the next highest to the office: State v. Bateman, 162-588.

As to relator in contested election cases, and in other cases where right of office involved, see Houghtalling v. Taylor, 122-141; Barnhill v. Thompson, 122-493; Shennonhouse v. Withers, 121-376; Hines v. Vann, 118-3; Foard v. Hall, 111-369; Saunders v. Gatling, 81-298, and cases cited; Tuck v. Hunt, 73-24; Tate v. Morehead, 65-681; Loftin v. Sowers, 65-251—in action to try title of person holding two offices at one time, Barnhill v. Thompson, 122-493; Midgett v. Gray, 158-133; s. c., 159-443—in action to vacate a charter, Attorney-General v. R. R., 134-481—in action to vacate an oyster entry, Blount v. Simmons, 120-19.

Leave of attorney-general is a necessary requisite for relator to sue: Midgett v. Gray, 158-133; s. c., 159-443. How such leave may be shown: Echerd v. Viele, 164-122. As to when indemnifying bond may be filed and consent to bring action secured: Shennonhouse v. Withers, 121-376. Effect of judgment for relator: Burke v. Jenkins, 148-25.

Case merely referring to section: Blount v. Simmons, 120-20.

872. Solvent sureties required. The attorney-general, before granting leave to a private relator to bring a suit to try the title to an office, may require two sureties to the bond required by law to be filed to indemnify the state against costs and expenses, and require such sureties to justify, and may require such proof and evidence of the solvency of the sureties as is satisfactory to him.

Rev., s. 829; 1901, c. 595, s. 2.

See Midgett v. Gray, 158-133; s. e., 159-443.

873. Leave withdrawn and action dismissed for insufficient bond. When the attorney-general has granted leave to a private relator to bring an action in the name of the state to try the title to an office, and it afterwards is shown to the satisfaction of the attorney-general that the bond filed by the private relator is insufficient, or that the sureties are insolvent, the attorney-general may recall and revoke such leave, and upon a certificate of the withdrawal and revocation by the attorney-general to the clerk of the court of the county where the action is pending, it is the duty of the presiding judge, upon motion of the defendant, to dismiss the action.

Rev., s. 830; 1891, c. 595.

See Midgett v. Gray, 158-133; s. e., 159-443.

874. Arrest and bail of defendant usurping office. When action is brought against a person for usurping an office, the attorney-general, in addition to the statement of the cause of action, may set forth in the complaint the name of the person rightfully entitled to the office, with a statement of his right thereto; and in such case, upon proof by affidavit that the defendant has received fees or emoluments belonging to and by means of his usurpation of the office, an order shall be granted by a judge of the superior court for the arrest of the defendant, and holding him to bail; and thereupon he shall be arrested and held to bail in the manner, and with the same effect, and subject to the same rights and liabilities, as in other civil actions where the defendant is subject to arrest.

Rev., s. 831; Code, s. 609; C. C. P., s. 369; 1883, c. 102.

As to complaint hereunder: Houghtalling v. Taylor, 122-141; Hancock v. Hubbs, 98-589; Hahn v. Stinson, 98-591; Oden v. Bates, 98-594; Kilburn v. Patterson, 98-593; Patterson v. Hubbs, 65-119.

875. Several claims tried in one action. Where several persons claim to be entitled to the same office or franchise, one action may be brought against all of them, in order to try their respective rights to the office or franchise.

Rev., s. 832; Code, s. 614; C. C. P., s. 374.

Objection of misjoinder sustained in Cromartie v. Parker, 121-198.

876. Trials expedited. All actions to try the title or right to any state, county or municipal office stand for trial at the return term of the summons, if a copy of the complaint was served with the summons at least thirty days before the return day thereof; and it is the duty of the judges to expedite the trial of these actions, and to give them precedence over all others, civil or criminal. It is unlawful to appropriate any public funds to the payment of counsel fees in any such action.

Rev., s. 833; Code, s. 616; 1901, c. 42; 1874-5, c. 173.

Section cited in Graded School v. McDowell, 157-316.

877. Time for bringing action. All actions brought by a private relator, upon the leave of the attorney-general, to try the title to an office must be brought, and a copy of the complaint served on the defendant, within ninety days after his induction into the office to which the title is to be tried; and when it appears from the papers in the cause, or is otherwise shown to the satisfaction of the court, that the summons and complaint have not been served within ninety days, it is the duty of the judge upon motion of defendant to dismiss the action at any time before the trial, at the cost of the plaintiff.

Rev., s. 834; 1901, c. 519; 1903, c. 556.

This remedy does not apply where defendant has held the office more than ninety days before plaintiff's cause of action accrued, or where notice cannot be given: Rhodes v. Love, 153-468.

878. Defendant's undertaking before answer. Before the defendant may answer or demur to the complaint he must execute and file in the superior court clerk's office of the county wherein the suit is pending, an undertaking, with good and sufficient surety, in the sum of two hundred dollars, which may be increased from time to time in the discretion of the judge, to be void upon condition that the defendant pays to the plaintiff all such costs and damages, including damages for the loss of such fees and emoluments as may or ought to have come into the hands of the defendant, as the plaintiff may recover.

Rev., s. 835; 1895, c. 105.

Section cited in Graded School v. McDowell, 157-316.

879. Possession of office not disturbed pending trial. In any civil action pending in any of the courts of this state in which the title to an office is involved, the defendant being in the possession of the office and discharging the duties thereof shall continue therein pending the action, and no judge shall make a restraining order interfering with or enjoining such officer in the premises. The officer shall, notwithstanding any such order, continue to exercise the duties of the office pending the litigation, and receive the emoluments thereof.

Rev., s. 836; 1899, c. 33.

Section cited in Rogers v. Powell, 174-388.

880. Judgment by default and inquiry on failure of defendant to give bond. At any time after a duly verified complaint is filed alleging facts sufficient to entitle plaintiff to the office, whether this complaint is filed at the beginning of the action or later, the plaintiff may, upon ten days notice to the defendant or his attorney of record, move before the judge resident in or riding the district, at chambers, to require the defendant to give the undertaking specified in second section preceding. It is the duty of the judge to require the defendant to give the undertaking within ten days, and if it is not so given, the judge shall render judgment in favor of plaintiff and against defendant for the recovery of the office and the costs, and a judgment by default and inquiry to be executed at a term for damages, including loss of fees and salary. Upon the filing of the judgment for the recovery of such office with the clerk, it is his duty to issue and the sheriff's duty to serve the necessary process to put the plaintiff into possession of the office. If the defendant shall give the undertaking, the court, if judgment is rendered for plaintiff, shall render judgment against the defendant and his sureties for costs and damages, including loss of fees and salary. Nothing herein prevents the judge's extending, for cause, the time in which to give the undertaking.

Rev., s. 837; 1899, c. 49; 1895, c. 105, s. 2.

881. Service of summons and complaint. The service of the summons and complaint as hereinbefore provided may be made by leaving a copy at the last residence or business office of the defendant or defendants, and service so made shall be deemed a legal service.

Rev., s. 838; 1899, c. 126.

882. Judgment in such actions. In every such case judgment shall be rendered upon the right of the defendant, and also upon the right of the party alleged to be entitled, or only upon the right of the defendant, as justice requires. When the defendant, whether a natural person or a corporation, against whom the action has been brought, is adjudged guilty of usurping or intruding into, or unlawfully holding or exercising any office, franchise or privilege, judgment shall be rendered that the defendant be excluded from such office, franchise or privilege, and also that the plaintiff recover costs against him. The court may also, in its discretion, fine the defendant a sum not exceeding two thousand dollars.

Rev., ss. 839, 840; Code, ss. 610, 615; R. C., c. 95; C. C. P., ss., 370, 375; Const., Art IX, s. 5.

Judgment rendered, how, when action brought by attorney-general on his own information and not on behalf of contestant: Saunders v. Gatling, 81-298; People v. Hilliard, 72-169. A judgment for relator compels his admission to the office, and if he fails to give the official bond he may be ousted by application to revoke the judgment: Burke v. Comrs., 148-46.

Section referred to in State v. Ballard, 122-1028.

883. Mandamus to aid relator. In any civil action brought to try the title or right to hold any office, when the judgment of the court is in favor of the relator in the action, it is the duty of the court to issue a writ of mandamus or such other process as is necessary and proper to carry the judgment into effect, and to induct the party entitled into office.

Rev., s. 841; 1885, c. 406, s. 1.

See decision rendered prior to this enactment in Hannon v. Comrs., 89-125. After judgment in favor of relator a mandamus will issue to induct him into the office: Rhodes v. Love, 153-468.

884. Appeal; bonds of parties. No appeal by the defendant to the supreme court from the judgment of the superior court in such action shall stay the execution of the judgment, unless a justified undertaking is executed on the part of the appellant by one or more sureties, in a sum to be fixed by the court, conditioned that the appellant will pay to the party entitled to the same the salary, fees, emoluments and all moneys whatsoever received by the appellant by virtue or under color of the office. In no event shall the judgment be executed pending appeal, unless a justified undertaking is executed on the part of the appellee by one or more persons in a sum to be fixed by the court, conditioned that the appellee will pay to the party entitled to the same the salary, fees, emoluments and all moneys whatsoever received by the appellee by virtue or under color of office during his occupancy thereof.

Rev., s. 842; 1885, c. 406, s. 2.

See decision prior to this enactment in Hannon v. Comrs., 89-125.

885. Relator inducted into office; duty and damages. If the judgment is rendered in favor of the person alleged to be entitled, he shall be entitled, after taking the oath of office and executing such official bond as may be required by law, to take upon himself the execution of the office. It is his duty, immediately thereafter, to demand of the defendant in the action all the books and papers in his custody, or within his power, belonging to the office from which he has been excluded. He may then recover by action the damages which he has sustained by reason of the usurpation by the defendant of the office.

Rev., ss. 843, 844; Code, ss. 611, 613; C. C. P., ss. 371, 373.

Where relator had been appointed and qualified, supreme court decision in his favor, upon being filed, ex proprio vigore places him in possession: Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-480.

The judgment in a proceeding to recover possession of an usurped office is self-executing, and operates itself as ouster of defendant, requiring no further and final process to render it effectual: Hannon v. Comrs., 89-124. Section cited in Rhodes v. Love, 153-468.

Judgment in favor of one claiming office lays foundation for action for damages for time office has been wrongfully withheld: McCall v. Webb, 126-760, 135-361; Swain v. McRae, 80-113; Jones v. Jones, 80-127; Howerton v. Tate, 70-161—and failure to get judgment in quo warranto for fees and salary is a bar to a new and independent action for such fees and salary, McCall v. Webb, 135-356; Graded School v. McDowell, 157-316.

886. Refusal to surrender official papers misdemeanor. If a person against whom a judgment has been rendered in an action brought to recover a public office shall fail or refuse to turn over, on demand, to the person adjudged to be entitled to such office, all papers, documents and books belonging to such office, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Rev., s. 3601; Code, s. 612; C. C. P., 372.

887. Action to recover property forfeited for state. When any property, real or personal, is forfeited to the state, or to any officer for its use, an action for the recovery of such property, alleging the grounds of the forfeiture, may be brought by the proper officer in any superior court.

Rev., s. 845; Code, s. 621; C. C. P., s. 381.

ART. 41. WASTE

888. Remedy and judgment. Wrongs, remediable by the old action of waste, are subjects of action as other wrongs; and the judgment may be for damages, forfeiture of the estate of the party offending, and eviction from the premises.

Rev., s. 853; Code, s. 624; C. C. P., s. 383.

Waste defined: Norris v. Laws, 150-599; Fleming v. Sexton, 172-250; Sherrill v. Connor, 107-630; King v. Miller, 99-583; Dills v. Hampton, 92-565; Ballentine v. Poyner, 3-110; Ward v. Sheppard, 3-283. Instances of what is and what is held not to be waste: Cherry v. Canal Co., 140-422; Starnes v. Hill, 112-9; Sherrill v. Connor, 107-630; Dorsey v. Moore, 100-41; King v. Miller, 99-583; Sledge v. Blum, 63-374; Dodd v. Watson, 57-48; Lambeth v. Warner, 55-165; Davis v. Williams, 40-308; Shine v. Wilcox, 21-631; Carr v. Carr, 20-317; Parkins v. Coxe, 3-339; Ballentine v. Poyner, 3-268; Ward v. Sheppard, 3-283. Statute must be followed: Hybart v. Jones, 130-227. In action by widow against heirs to recover payments allotted to her as dower and made a charge on land, heirs cannot set up her waste as counterclaim, but must proceed hereunder: Hybart v. Jones, 130-227. Rights and liabilities of life tenant in cutting timber: Fleming v. Sexton, 172-250; Thomas v. Thomas, 166-627; Norris v. Laws, 150-599.

889. For and against whom action lies. In all cases of waste, an action lies in the superior court at the instance of him in whom the right is, against all persons committing the waste, as well tenant for term of life as tenant for term of years and guardians.

Rev., s. 854; Code, s. 625; R. C., c. 116, s. 1; 52 Hen. III, c. 23; 6 Edw. I, c. 5; 20 Edw. I, st. 2; 11 Hen. VI, c. 5.

Action for waste lies in favor of him who hath the estate of inheritance, the remainderman or reversioner: Cherry v. Canal Co., 140-422; Dorsey v. Moore, 100-41; Wall v. Williams, 91-477; Burnett v. Thompson, 51-210; Browne v. Blick, 7-511—but not in favor of a contingent remainderman, who must be protected by injunction, Richardson v. Richardson, 152-705; Latham v. Lumber Co., 139-9; Cowand v. Meyers, 99-198; Gordon v. Lowther, 75-193; Douthett v. Bodenhamer, 57-444; Braswell v. Morehead, 45-26. Action may be brought by reversioner, though he may have purchased particular estate after waste committed: Dupree v. Dupree, 49-387. Action for waste lies against tenant in dower, when: Carr v. Carr, 20-317—but not against husband of such tenant, Davis v. Gilliam, 40-308—unless such husband attempts to remove a house therefrom, even though he built it himself, Dozier v. Gregory, 46-100. Action for permissive waste can be brought against life tenant: Sherrill v. Connor, 107-630; Norris v. Laws, 150-599. Creditor cannot bring action hereunder: Jones v. Britton, 102-174. The right to sue for waste includes the right to restrain its commission: Morrison v. Morrison, 122-598; Person v. Person, 154-453.

890. Tenant in possession liable. Where a tenant for life or years grants his estate to another, and still continues in the possession of the lands, tenements, or hereditaments, an action lies against the said tenant for life or years.

Rev., s. 855; Code, s. 626; R. C., c. 116, s. 2; 11 Hen. VI, c. 5.

891. Action by tenant against cotenant. Where a joint tenant or a tenant in common commits waste, an action lies against him at the instance of his cotenant or joint tenant.

Rev., s. 856; Code, s. 627; R. C., c. 116, s. 4; 13 Edw. I, c. 22.

Under this section one tenant in common may sue his cotenant for cutting crossties and hauling them away: Hinson v. Hinson, 120-400—and since right to sue carries with it right to restrain, one tenant can restrain his cotenant, Morrison v. Morrison, 122-598. As to what is waste as between tenants in common for which action can be brought, see Darden v. Cowper, 52-210; Smith v. Sharpe, 44-91; Walling v. Burroughs, 43-60; Vick v. Tripp, 153-90.

892. Action by heirs. Every heir may bring action for waste committed on lands, tenements, or hereditaments of his own inheritance, as well in the time of his ancestor as in his own.

Rev., s. 857; Code, s. 628; R. C., c. 116, s. 5; 6 Edw. I, c. 5; 11 Hen. VI, c. 5; 20 Edw. I, st. 2.

In a suit by widow against heirs to recover payments allotted to her as dower and made charge on land, heirs cannot set up by way of counterclaim damages for waste committed by widow, but must proceed under statute: Hybart v. Jones, 130-227.

893. Judgment for treble damages and possession. In all cases of waste, when judgment is against the defendant, the court may give judgment for treble the amount of the damages assessed by the jury, and also that the plaintiff recover the place wasted, if the damages are not paid on or before a day to be named in the judgment.

Rev., s. 858; Code, s. 629; R. C., c. 116, s. 3; 6 Edw. I, c. 5; 20 Edw. I, st. 2.

Judgments according to this section: Hybart v. Jones, 130-227; Sherrill v. Connor, 107-543. Not error to render judgment for damages merely, and not also for place wasted: Bright v. Wilson, 1-251. As to waste by plaintiff set up as counterclaim, see Hybart v. Jones, 130-227.

ART. 42. NUISANCE

894. Remedy for nuisance. Injuries remediable by the old writ of nuisance are subjects of action as other injuries; and in such action there may be judgment for damages, or for the removal of the nuisance, or both.

Rev., s. 825; Code, s. 630; C. C. P., s. 387.

For injunctions against nuisances, public and private, see annotations under section 843. Remedy for nuisance is by injunction, not mandamus: Horne v. Comrs., 122-470. Judgments with conditions attached: Hickory v. R. R., 143-451; Hyatt v. Myers, 71-271. To abate a public nuisance by civil action the plaintiff must show special damage: Pruitt v. Bethell, 174-454; McManus v. R. R., 150-655. When permanent damages may be recovered and when temporary damages for nuisance: Rhodes v. Durham, 165-679; Webb v. Chemical Co., 170-662; Donnell v. Greensboro, 164-331; Moser v. Burlington, 162-141; Hines v. Rocky Mount, 162-409; Little v. Lenoir, 151-415; Taylor v. R. R., 145-400. Manner of estimating damages: Brown v. Chemical Co., 162-84; s. c., 165-421. When the parties have presented the case with a view to permanent damages, the court will not change it: Ibid.

SUBCHAPTER XV. INCIDENTAL PROCEDURE IN CIVIL ACTIONS

ART. 43. COMPROMISE

895. By agreement receipt of less sum is discharge. In all claims, or money demands, of whatever kind, and howsoever due, where an agreement is made and accepted for a less amount than that demanded or claimed to be due, in satisfaction thereof, the payment of the less amount according to such agreement in compromise of the whole is a full and complete discharge of the same.

Rev., s. 859; Code, s. 574; 1874-5, c. 178.

This section constitutional: Koonce v. Russell, 103-179. A compromise made since this enactment is presumed to have been made with reference thereto: Ibid. The payment of a less amount in accordance with agreement in compromise of whole is a full discharge: York v. Westall, 143-276; Wittkowsky v. Baruch, 127-313; Kerr v. Sanders, 122-635; Pruden v. R. R., 121-509; Petit v. Woodlief, 115-120; Jones v. Mizell, 104-16; Koonce v. Russell, 103-179; Tiddy v. Harris, 101-593—and a contract to compromise at certain figures is enforceable, Boykin v. Buie, 109-501. As to certain agreements of compromise being within statute of frauds, see York v. Westall, 143-276. Where agreement of compromise contains condition to be performed by plaintiff before payment, failure of defendant to pay does not invalidate compromise, plaintiff having failed to comply with condition: Ramsey v. Browder, 136-251. Agreement of compromise by telegram cannot be altered by creditor: Pruden v. R. R., 121-509. Where plaintiff agreed to accept $50 in compromise of what he figured was a $54 debt, but afterward found debt was larger, held no compromise except of $54: Holden v. Warren, 118-327. Where claim for damages compromised by defendant primarily liable it enures to benefit of one secondarily liable: Brown v. Louisburg, 126-701. Where there was an agreement to compromise a charge upon land, but defendant failed to comply, the debt did not become a personal one, but still remained a charge: Hunt v. Wheeler, 116-422. As to compromise of municipal debt, see Bank v. Comrs., 116-339. Where debtor pays a sum supposed by him to be a balance due on a bond, but creditor simply says he will credit on bond, it is no compromise: King v. Phillips, 94-555. Where check for less amount than due was marked "in full for services," when cashed it is a settlement in full: Kerr v. Sanders, 122-635; Cline v. Rudisill, 126-523; Petit v. Woodlief, 115-120—and creditor cannot alter the matter by writing on check "accepted for one month's services," Ibid.; also Pruden v. R. R., 121-509; Long v. Miller, 93-233.

The amount paid must be accepted as offered; it is not conclusive, but the intention of the parties is a question for the jury: Mercer v. Lumber Co., 173-49; Aydlett v. Brown, 153-334; Armstrong v. Lonon, 149-434; Supply Co. v. Dowd, 146-191; Drewry-Hughes Co. v. Davis, 151-295. There must be a disputed claim: Rosser v. Bynum, 168-340. When the amount paid was the only amount due at the time, it will not apply to subsequent liability: Moore v. Casualty Co., 150-153. When interest is payable on the debt, payment of the principal will not discharge: Grocery Co. v. Taylor, 175-37. Giving a new note will discharge the old obligation if so intended by the parties: Bank v. Walsler, 162-54. When the debtor admits one amount to be due and asks to be discharged from another, sending a check "for account in full" does not discharge the other obligation: Bogert v. Mfg. Co., 172-248. The plea of accord and satisfaction should be determined before a trial upon the merits: McAuley v. Sloan, 173-80.

896. Tender of judgment. The defendant, at any time before the trial or verdict, may serve upon the plaintiff an offer in writing to allow judgment to be taken against him for the sum or property, or to the effect therein specified, with costs. If the plaintiff accepts the offer, and gives notice thereof in writing within ten days, he may file the summons, complaint, and offer, with an affidavit of notice of acceptance, and the clerk must thereupon enter judgment accordingly. If the notice of acceptance is not given, the offer is deemed withdrawn, and cannot be given in evidence; and if the plaintiff fails to obtain a more favorable judgment he cannot recover costs, but must pay the defendant's costs from the time of the offer. If the defendant sets up a counterclaim in his answer to an amount greater than the plaintiff's claim, or sufficient to reduce the plaintiff's recovery below fifty dollars, then the plaintiff may serve upon the defendant an offer in writing to allow judgment to be taken against him for the amount specified, or to allow the counterclaim to the amount specified, with costs. If the defendant accepts the offer, and gives notice thereof in writing within ten days, he may enter judgment as above for the amount specified, if the offer entitles him to judgment, or if the amount specified in the offer is allowed him in the trial of the action. If the notice of acceptance is not given, the offer is deemed withdrawn, and cannot be given in evidence; and if the defendant fails to recover a more favorable judgment, or to establish his counterclaim for a greater amount than is specified in the offer, he cannot recover costs, but must pay the plaintiff's costs from the time of the offer.

Money paid into court as a tender, if taken out by plaintiff, is a settlement of the debt, he having accepted same upon conditions and terms annexed: Cline v. Rudisill, 126-523. Tender by tenant of rent accrued after termination of lease does not preclude landlord from recovering possession: Vanderford v. Foreman, 129-217. Where plaintiff recovers no more than the tender, he should be taxed with costs: Cowles v. Assurance Society, 170-368; Phillips v. Little, 147-282; Pollock v. Warwick, 104-638; see Smith v. B. and L. Assn., 119-256, and cases cited; Russ v. Brown, 113-227. As to tender in action for conversion of personal property, see Stephens v. Koonce, 103-266. Offer of compromise not accepted cannot be given in evidence: Grocery Co. v. Taylor, 162-307; Hughes v. Boone, 102-137. A tender hereunder must be made by all the defendants or by their common attorney: Williamson v. Canal Co., 84-629. The tender must be in writing and signed by the party: Medicine Co. v. Davenport, 163-294. For tender of judgment in justice's court, see section 1500, Rule 15. Where judgment was rendered against two defendants in justice's court and one appealed, and in superior court tendered judgment for less than justice's judgment but more than was recovered in superior court, plaintiff is entitled to costs: Wyatt v. Wilson, 152-276.

897. Conditional tender of judgment for damages. In an action arising on contract, the defendant may, with his answer, serve upon the plaintiff an offer in writing, that if he fails in his defense, the damages be assessed at a specified sum; and if the plaintiff signifies his acceptance thereof in writing, ten days before the trial, and on the trial has a verdict, the damages shall be assessed accordingly. If the plaintiff does not accept the offer, he must prove his damages, as if it had not been made, and may not introduce it in evidence. If the damages assessed in his favor do not exceed the sum mentioned in the offer, the defendant shall recover his expenses incurred in consequence of any necessary preparation or defense in respect to the question of damages. This expense shall be ascertained at the trial.

Rev., ss. 861, 862; Code, ss. 575, 576; C. C. P., ss. 329, 330.

A tender will not aid a defective demurrer; tender may accompany an answer or reply to counterclaim: Hall v. Tel. Co., 139-373.

In an action for damages, an agreement that damages be placed at a certain amount if plaintiff recover, was not a compromise hereunder: Garrett v. Pegram, 120-288. As to costs, see section 896.

898. Disclaimer of title in trespass; tender of judgment. In actions of trespass upon real estate, the defendant in his answer may disclaim any title or claim to the lands on which the trespass is alleged by the complaint to be done, may allege that the trespass was by negligence or involuntary, and may make a tender or offer of sufficient amends for the trespass. If the plaintiff controverts such answer or a part thereof, and at the trial verdict is found for the defendant, or if the plaintiff is nonsuited, he is barred from the said action and all other suits concerning the same.

Rev., s. 863; Code, s. 577; Rev. Code, c. 31, s. 79; 1715, c. 2, s. 7.

Disclaimer should be filed in the beginning, and not as an admission in the progress of the trial: Swain v. Clemmons, 175-240. Case of involuntary trespass on account of ignorance of boundary: Blackburn v. Bowman, 46-441.

ART. 44. EXAMINATION OF PARTIES

899. Action for discovery abolished. No action to obtain discovery under oath, in aid of the prosecution or defense of another action, shall be allowed, nor shall any examination of a party be had on behalf of the adverse party, except in the manner prescribed by this article.

Rev., s. 864; Code, s. 579; C. C. P., s. 332.

This and the following sections of this article take the place of the old bill of discovery: Phillips v. Land Co., 174-542; Helms v. Green, 105-251; Tobacco Co. v. Tobacco Co., 144-369; Holt v. Warehouse Co., 116-490; Dunn v. Johnson, 115-258; Fertilizer Co. v. Taylor, 112-141; Hudson v. Jordan, 108-13; Coates v. Wilkes, 92-376. Section only authorizes examination of parties or those interested in action: Strudwick v. Broadnax, 83-401; but as to corporations, see next section. Where venue changed, pending removal, these proceedings can be had in either county: Comrs. v. Lemly, 85-341. For inspection of documents, see section 1823.

900. Adverse party examined. A party to an action may be examined as a witness at the instance of any adverse party, and for that purpose may be compelled, in the same manner and subject to the same rules of examination as any other witness, to testify, either at the trial or conditionally or upon commission. Where a corporation is a party to the action, this examination may be made of any of its officers or agents.

Rev., s. 865; Code, s. 580; C. C. P., s. 333; 1907, c. 799.

As to examining officers and employees of corporations, see Tobacco Co. v. Tobacco Co., 144-369 (notice the amendment of 1907, c. 799); Holt v. Warehouse Co., 116-480—and examining books of corporations, see Holt v. Warehouse Co., 116-480. See cases cited under section 901.

901. Before trial in his own county. The examination, instead of being had at the trial, as provided in the preceding section, may be had at any time before the trial, at the option of the party claiming it, before a judge, commissioner duly appointed to take depositions, or clerk of the court, on a previous notice to the party to be examined, and any other adverse party, of at least five days, unless for good cause shown the judge or court orders otherwise.

Rev., s. 866; Code, s. 581; 1893, c. 114; C. C. P., s. 334; 1899, c. 65, s. 1.

The facts which make it necessary to resort to the preliminary examination should be set forth by affidavit unless they appear of record: Bailey v. Matthews, 156-78. Preliminary examination may be had before complaint filed, if it appears to be necessary to enable the plaintiff to file his complaint: Smith v. Wooding, 177-546; Fields v. Coleman, 160-11; Holt v. Warehouse Co., 116-480. The examination cannot be had until the action is commenced, and the motion must be before the court in which the action is pending: Vyne v. Fogle Bros., 176-351.

No leave of court necessary to entitle plaintiff to examine defendant or party in interest: Vann v. Lawrence, 111-32. The right to examine the adverse party before trial is conferred by this section, and there is an appeal from its denial: Cartwright v. R. R., 176-36. Appeal does not lie from an order made for examination or a refusal to discharge order: Clark v. Peebles, 122-163; Holt v. Warehouse Co., 116-480—but see Ward v. Martin, 175-287—or from order directing examination to proceed, Vann v. Lawrence, 111-32. Examination of defendant filed in record cannot be taken as a part of answer for purpose of passing upon demurrer: Whitaker v. Jenkins, 138-476. Plaintiff does not make defendant his witness by examining him hereunder: Coates v. Wilkes, 92-376; Shober v. Wheeler, 113-370.

902. Compelling attendance of party for examination before trial. The party to be examined, as provided in the preceding section, may be compelled to attend in the same manner as a witness who is to be examined conditionally; but he shall not be compelled to attend in any county other than that of his residence or where he may be served with a summons for his attendance. The examination shall be taken and filed by the judge, clerk or commissioner, as in case of witnesses examined conditionally, and may be read by either party on the trial.

Rev., ss. 866, 867; Code, ss. 581, 582; C. C. P., ss. 334, 335; 1899, c. 65, s. 2.

Notice of motion made at a regular term is not required, since parties are fixed with notice of proceedings in term: Jones v. Jones, 173-279; Hardware Co. v. Banking Co., 169-744; Patrick v. Dunn, 162-19. The party is subject to examination in the county of his residence: Bailey v. Matthews, 156-78. Where, by assent of defendant, order was made for examination outside of county, he cannot withdraw his assent and refuse to answer; his refusal puts him in contempt: Fertilizer Co. v. Taylor, 112-141; Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-457.

To claim privilege against self-crimination the party examined must show that the evidence would necessarily tend to criminate him, or claim the privilege during examination: Ward v. Martin, 175-287; Bailey v. Matthews, 156-78. The claim of privilege must be by the party and on oath: Ward v. Martin, 175-287.

The examination may be read in evidence by either party: Phillips v. Land Co., 174-542; Walker v. Cooper, 159-536. The death of the other party will not exclude this as evidence: Phillips v. Land Co., 174-542. Plaintiff not compelled to use testimony of adversary at trial: Shober v. Wheeler, 113-370. Testimony of defendant cannot be taken as part of answer for purpose of passing upon demurrer: Whitaker v. Jenkins, 138-476.

903. Party's refusal to testify; penalty. If a party refuses to attend and testify, as provided in the preceding sections, he may be punished as for a contempt, and his pleadings may be stricken out.

Rev., s. 869; Code, s. 584; C. C. P., s. 337.

See Fertilizer Co. v. Taylor, 112-141; Ledbetter v. Pinner, 120-457.

904. Rebuttal of party's testimony. The examination of the party thus taken may be rebutted by adverse testimony.

Rev., s. 868; Code, s. 583; C. C. P., s. 336.

Plaintiff can rebut defendant's deposition on trial: Hudson v. Jordan, 108-13; Helms v. Green, 105-261. As to cross-examination and impeachment of adversary, see Coates v. Wilkes, 92-376.

905. Irresponsive answers may be met by party's own testimony. A party examined by an adverse party, as provided in this article, may be examined in his own behalf, subject to the same rules of examination as other witnesses. But if he testifies to any new matter, not responsive to the inquiries put to him by the adverse party, or necessary to explain or qualify his answers thereto or to discharge himself when his answers would charge himself, the adverse party may offer himself and must be received as a witness in his own behalf in respect to the new matter, subject to the same rules of examination as other witnesses.

Rev., s. 870; Code, ss. 583, 585; C. C. P., ss. 336, 338.

906. Real party in interest examined. A person for whose immediate benefit the action is prosecuted or defended, though not a party to the action, may be examined as a witness, in the same manner, and subject to the same rules of examination, as if he was named as a party.

Rev., s. 871; Code, s. 586; C. C. P., s. 339.

Section authorizes examination of parties only or of those interested in the action: Strudwick v. Brodnax, 83-401; as to agent, etc., of corporations, see section 900.

907. Examination of coplaintiff or codefendant. A party may be examined on behalf of his coplaintiff or codefendant as to any matter in which he is not jointly interested or liable with such coplaintiff or codefendant, and as to which a separate and not joint verdict or judgment can be rendered. He may be compelled to attend in the same manner as at the instance of an adverse party; but the examination thus taken cannot be used in behalf of the party examined. When one of several plaintiffs or defendants who are joint contractors, or are united in interest, is examined by the adverse party, the other of such plaintiffs or defendants may offer himself, and must be received, as a witness to the same cause of action or defense.

Rev., s. 872; Code, s. 587; C. C. P., s. 340.

For production of writings, see section 1823 et seq. See Penny v. Brink, 75-68.

ART. 45. MOTIONS AND ORDERS

908. Definition of order. Every direction of a court or judge, made or entered in writing, and not included in a judgment, is an order.

Rev., s. 873; Code, s. 594; C. C. P., ss. 344, 345.

909. Motions; when and where made. An application for an order is a motion. Motions may be made to a clerk of a superior court, or to a judge out of court, except for a new trial on the merits. Motions must be made within the district in which the action is triable. A motion to vacate or modify a provisional remedy, and an appeal from an order allowing a provisional remedy, have preference over all other motions.

Rev., s. 874; Code, s. 594; C. C. P., ss. 344, 345.

Motions which do not involve a substantial right, and the decision of which is not subject to appeal, may be renewed as subsequent events require: Allison v. Whittier, 101-490; Sanderson v. Daily, 83-67—but decision on motions from which appeals might have been taken, but which were not taken, are res judicata, and motion cannot be renewed, Sanderson v. Daily, 83-67; Henry v. Hilliard, 120-479; Allison v. Whittier, 101-490; Moore v. Grant, 92-316; Roulhae v. Brown, 87-1; Mabry v. Henry, 83-298; Jones v. Thorne, 80-72; but see Moore v. Moore, 131-371—but can be renewed before proper judge where first made before improper judge, Bank v. Wilson, 80-200. Party consenting to hearing of motion at chambers cannot in supreme court object that it was not heard at term: Gatewood v. Leak, 99-363. Except by consent, a motion other than a motion for an ancillary order or provisional remedy cannot be heard out of the county: Parker v. McPhail, 112-502; Moore v. Moore, 131-372, 130-334; Henry v. Hilliard, 112-479; Skinner v. Terry, 107-103; McNeill v. Hodges, 99-248—and the consent necessary to hear outside must affirmatively appear of record, Godwin v. Monds, 101-354. A motion in supreme court must be made in writing: Brafford v. Reed, 124-346—and notice of ten days must be given the adverse party, Herndon v. R. R., 121-498. The judge has the power to vacate or modify orders made in a cause at any time before final judgment: Welch v. Kingsland, 89-179. A motion to set aside a verdict cannot be granted at the succeeding term unless the parties have consented to its continuance: Clothing Co. v. Bagley, 147-37. Form in which a written motion should be made: Hartsfield v. Bryan, 177-166. The judge cannot hear motions or other matters outside of the court-room except such as are cognizable at chambers: May v. Ins. Co., 172-795.

910. Affidavit for or against, compelled. When a party intends to make or oppose a motion in a court of record, and it is necessary for him to have the affidavit of any person who has refused to make it, the court may, by order, appoint a referee to take the affidavit or deposition of such person. The person may be subpoenaed and compelled to attend and make an affidavit before such referee, as before a referee to whom an issue is referred for trial.

The reference under this section is within the discretion of the court: In re Brown, 168-417.

911. Motions determined in ten days. When a motion is made in a cause or proceeding in any of the courts to obtain an injunction order, order of arrest, or warrant of attachment, granted in any such case or proceeding, or to vacate or modify the same, it is the duty of the judge before whom the motion is made to render his decision within ten days after the day on which the motion was submitted to him for decision.

Rev., s. 876; Code, s. 594; C. C. P., ss. 344, 345.

912. Notice of motion. When notice of a motion is necessary, it must be served ten days before the time appointed for the hearing; but the court or judge may, by an order to show cause, prescribe a shorter time.

Rev., s. 877; Code, s. 595; C. C. P., s. 346.

Notice is necessary in all proceedings had before clerk: Blue v. Blue, 79-69—in appeals taken from justice's court when not taken at trial, State v. Johnson, 109-852—to subject administrator personally, when in an accounting assets are found and there is a return of nulla bona thereon, McDowell v. Asbury, 66-444—before granting injunction staying execution on judgment, Faison v. McIlwaine, 72-312—before hearing motion to set aside judgment or order, Fisher v. Mining Co., 105-123.

A person made a party to an action and upon whom service of summons has been made is fixed with notice of all motions, orders and decrees and all that transpires in the conduct of the case of which record is made: Spencer v. Credle, 102-68; Sparrow v. Davidson College, 77-35; Hemphill v. Moore, 104-379; Stith v. Jones, 119-428; Ferrell v. Hales, 119-199; Zimmerman v. Zimmerman, 113-432; Coor v. Smith, 107-430; Wilson v. Pearson, 102-290; Williams v. Whiting, 94-481; Staneill v. Gay, 92-455; University v. Lassiter, 83-38—but not of motions and orders made out of term, of which notice must be given, Harper v. Sugg, 111-324; Coor v. Smith, 107-431; Allison v. Whittier, 101-490; Branch v. Walker, 92-87.

Ten days is the time fixed by statute for notice, but if no time is fixed a reasonable time is allowed: Bank v. Hotel Co., 147-594. A party is fixed with notice of motions made in term; if made out of term, ten days notice is required, but the judge may shorten the time: Jones v. Jones, 173-279.

913. Orders without notice, vacated. An order made out of court, without notice to the adverse party, may be vacated or modified without notice by the judge who made it, or may be vacated or modified on notice, in the manner in which other motions are made.

Rev., s. 514; Code, s. 546; C. C. P., s. 297.

State v. Johnson, 109-855; Clayton v. Jones, 68-497; Blue v. Blue, 79-69; Sledge v. Blum, 63-374. Where orders made by consent: Henry v. Hilliard, 120-479. A judge of superior court has the power to vacate or modify orders made in a cause at any time before final judgment: Welch v. Kingsland, 89-179.

ART. 46. NOTICES

914. Form and service. All notices must be in writing, and notices and other papers may be served on the party or his attorney personally, where not otherwise provided in this chapter.

Rev., ss. 878, 879; Code, s. 597; C. C. P., ss. 349, 353.

For statute against service on Sunday, see Sundays and Holidays, s. 3958.

Contents of notices generally: Allen v. Strickland, 100-225. Must be in writing: Marion v. Tilley, 119-473; Allen v. Strickland, 100-225—but this seems to have reference only to notices in judicial proceedings, State v. Telfair, 130-645; Martin v. Buffaloe, 128-305. Notice to surety on indemnity bond of sheriff that sheriff has been sued need not be in writing: Martin v. Buffaloe, 128-305—nor need overseer's notice to hands to work public roads, State v. Telfair, 130-645.

Service of notices and papers hereunder must be made by an officer authorized to serve process of the court: Cullen v. Absher, 119-441—but any one not a party to an action may serve a subpoena and prove such service on his oath, State v. Johnson, 109-853. Service of case on appeal must be made by officer of the court: Herbin v. Wagoner, 118-656; McNeill v. R. R., 117-643; Forte v. Boone, 114-176; Cummings v. Hoffman, 113-267; Lyman v. Ramseur, 113-503; State v. Price, 110-599; Sondley v. Asheville, 112-694—and so must notice of appeal, State v. Johnson, 109-852—and in neither case can attorney make valid service, Roberts v. Partridge, 118-355; Cummings v. Hoffman, 113-267; State v. Price, 110-599; State v. Johnson, 109-852—nor can a constable serve a case on appeal to supreme court, Forte v. Boone, 114-176. A chief of police can serve notices where given special powers of sheriff in town charter: Lowe v. Harris, 121-287. As to powers of city police and town constables in service of papers, see Lowe v. Harris, 121-287; Baker v. Brem, 126-367; Appomattox Co. v. Buffaloe, 121-37; Davis v. Sanderlin, 119-84. Alias notice can be issued and served where original notice was placed in hands of proper officer, who failed to properly serve: Hinsdale v. Underwood, 116-594; Allen v. Strickland, 100-225. Town constable cannot serve notice of deposition in action pending in superior court: Cullen v. Absher, 119-441; Brown v. Myers, 150-441. Notice of a deposition, signed by a party to the action, is not process: Cullen v. Absher, 119-441. As to notice required of motions and orders made after term of court, see Harper v. Sugg, 111-324; Coor v. Smith, 107-430, and cases cited. As to service on agent in action against principal, see Bank v. School Comrs., 118-383.

915. Service upon attorney. Notice upon an attorney may be served during his absence from his office, by leaving a copy of the paper with his clerk, or a person having charge of the office; or, when there is no person in the office, by leaving it, between the hours of six a. m. and nine p. m., in a conspicuous place in the office; or, if it is not open so as to admit of such service, then by leaving it at the attorney's residence with some person of suitable age and discretion.

Rev., s. 880; Code, s. 597; C. C. P., ss. 349, 353.

Notice to attorney is notice to client: Ladd v. Teague, 126-549; Banking Co. v. Walker, 121-115; Hulbert v. Douglas, 94-122—and an attorney is still an attorney until court releases him or until judgment is satisfied, Ladd v. Teague, 126-544; Branch v. Walker, 92-87. Notice of motion to set aside a judgment may be properly served on attorney of record of opposing party: Branch v. Walker, 92-87.

916. Service upon a party. Notice upon a party may be served by leaving a copy of the paper at his residence, between the hours of six a. m. and nine p. m., with some person of suitable age and discretion.

Rev., s. 881; Code, s. 597; C. C. P., ss. 349, 353.

Leaving notice with wife sufficient: Turner v. Holden, 109-182. Case on appeal served as above directed: State v. Price, 110-599; Watkins v. R. R., 116-961; see sections 642, 643. A return "executed by delivering a copy" implies that he left a copy with each party: McDonald v. Carson, 94-497—the word "executed" ex vi termini carrying with it the idea of full performance, Isley v. Boon, 113-249.

917. Service by publication. Notice upon a person who cannot be found after due diligence, or who is not a resident of this state, may be served by its publication once a week for four successive weeks in a newspaper published in the county from which the notice is issued; and if no newspaper is published therein, then in some newspaper published within the judicial district; and the proof of service is the same as is required by law in the case of service of summons by publication.

Rev., s. 882; Code, s. 597; C. C. P., ss. 349, 353.

In Buncombe County, orders directing publication of notices, orders or proceedings in that county must specify the newspaper in which publication is to be made, and publication in any other paper is not legal and sufficient. See Rev., s. 883; 1905, c. 438.

See sections 484, 486. The time above designated is in lieu of the ten days personal notice: Guilford v. Georgia Co., 109-310.

918. Service by telephone on witnesses and jurors. Sheriffs, constables and other officers charged with the service of such process may serve subpoenas and summonses for jurors by telephone, and such service shall be valid and binding on the person served. When such process is served by telephone, the return of the officer serving it shall state it is served by telephone.

1915, c. 48.

919. Subpœna, service and signature. Service of a subpœna for witnesses may be made by a sheriff, coroner or constable, and proved by the return of such officer, or the service may be made by any person not a party to the action, and proved by his oath. A subpœna for witnesses need not be signed by the clerk of the court, and is sufficient if subscribed by the party or by his attorney.

Rev., s. 884; Code, s. 597; C. C. P., ss. 349, 353.

For issuance of subpoenas by clerk, see Evidence, s. 1803.

A subpœna may be served by one not an officer who is not a party to the action and the service proven on his oath: Smith v. Smith, 119-314; State v. Johnson, 109-853.

920. Application of this article. This article does not apply to the service of a summons, or other process (except summonses for jurors, as provided in the second section preceding), or of any paper to bring a party into contempt.

Rev., s. 885; Code, s. 597; C. C. P., ss. 349, 353.

921. Officer's return evidence of service. When a notice issues to the sheriff, his return thereon that the same has been executed is sufficient evidence of its service.

Rev., ss. 886, 1529; Code, s. 940; R. C., c. 31, s. 123; 1799, c. 537.

The return of an officer is prima facie true: Williamson v. Cocks, 124-585; Chadborn v. Johnston, 119-282; Miller v. Powers, 117-218; Isley v. Boon, 113-249; Strayhorn v. Blalock, 92-292; Surratt v. Crawford, 87-372; Simpson v. Hiatt, 35-470; State v. Vick, 25-491; Loftin v. Hugins, 13-10. A return "executed by delivering copy" implies that he left copy with each party: McDonald v. Carson, 94-497—the word "executed" ex vi termini carrying with it the idea of full performance: Isley v. Boon, 113-249. Official returns of sheriff are acted upon without proof of his signature in court in which he is officer: McDonald v. Carson, 94-497. The prima facie correctness of sheriff's return may be set aside by clear and unequivocal evidence: Comrs. v. Spencer, 174-36.

ART. 47. TIME

922. How computed. The time within which an act is to be done, as provided by law, shall be computed by excluding the first and including the last day. If the last day is Sunday, it must be excluded.

Rev., s. 887; Code, s. 596; C. C. P., s. 348.

Cases directly supporting section: Lumber Co. v. Rowe, 151-130; Burgess v. Burgess, 117-447; Glanton v. Jacobs, 117-427; Sondley v. Asheville, 110-89; Walker v. Scott, 104-481; Barcroft v. Roberts, 92-249; Keeter v. R. R., 86-346. As to counting time in cases of delay in shipment of freight, see Davis and Hooks v. R. R., 145-207; Branch v. R. R., 88-570, 77-347; Keeter v. R. R., 86-346—in the service of process, Taylor v. Harris, 82-25; Guilford v. Georgia, 109-310—in the making of a tax deed to land within a year after sale, Burgess v. Burgess, 117-447—in the serving of case on appeal, Board of Education v. Orr, 161-218; Mecke v. Mineral Co., 122-796; Guano Co. v. Hicks, 120-29; Arrington v. Arrington, 114-114; Walker v. Scott, 104-483; Turrentine v. R. R., 92-642; see sections 642, 643—in filing application for a rehearing in supreme court, Bird v. Gilliam, 123-63; Barcroft v. Roberts, 92-249—in determining exact time court adjourns by limitation, Taylor v. Ervin, 119-274—in cases where act to be done "by" a certain time, or "within" a certain time, In re Wittkowsky's Land, 143-247; Blalock v. Clark, 133-306; Cotton Mills v. Dunstan, 121-12; Burgess v. Burgess, 117-447—in making tender to sheriff to redeem land sold for taxes, Thomas v. Nichols, 127-319—in the filing of pleadings, Howard v. R. R., 122-944; County Board v. State Board, 106-81—in the defense of statute of limitations, Johnston v. Lumber Co., 144-717; Cook v. Moore, 95-1; s. c., 100-294; Jenkins v. Griffin, 175-184—in the filing of appeal bonds, Chamblee v. Baker, 95-98—in filing schedule of preferred debts where debtor has assigned, Glanton v. Jacobs, 117-427.

Sunday not excluded in counting number of days delay of freight: Davis and Hooks v. R. R., 145-207; Branch v. R. R., 77-347; 88-570; Keeter v. R. R., 86-336—or in counting time within which application for rehearing must be filed, Davis and Hooks v. R. R., 145-207, citing Barcroft v. Roberts, 92-249.

923. Computation in publication. The time for publication of legal notices shall be computed so as to exclude the first day of publication and include the day on which the act or event of which notice is given is to happen, or which completes the full period required for publication.

Rev., s. 888; Code, s. 602; C. C. P., s. 359.

See sections 485, 806, 810. See generally: Guilford v. Georgia, 109-310.

924. Advertisement of public sales. When a statute or written instrument stipulates that an advertisement of a sale shall be made for any certain number of weeks, a publication once a week for the number of weeks so indicated is a sufficient compliance with the requirement, unless contrary provision is expressly made by the terms of the instrument.

1909, cc. 794, 875.

See sections 485, 687, 2585. Jenkins v. Griffin, 175-184; Banking Co. v. Leach, 169-706; Hinton v. Hall, 166-477.

ART. 1. THE OFFICE

925. Judge of probate abolished; clerk acts as judge. The office of probate judge is abolished, and the duties heretofore pertaining to clerks of the superior court as judges of probate shall be performed by the clerks of the superior court as clerks of said court, and all matters pending before said judges of probate shall be deemed transferred to the clerks of the superior court.

Rev., s. 889; Code, s. 102.

For jurisdiction and general powers of clerk of superior court, see generally sections 397, 403, 752-765, 938. For special duties and powers with respect to different matters, see the chapters with reference to such matters.

Although the office of probate judge is abolished, the powers and jurisdiction of that office are now exercised by the clerks of superior courts—not as the servant or ministerial officer, or acting as and for superior court, but as an independent tribunal of original jurisdiction: Edwards v. Cobb, 95-4.

The duties devolving upon the clerk under the old practice as probate judge are separate and distinct from his duties as clerk of the court: Brittain v. Mull, 91-498, referred to in Helms v. Austin, 116-753. The exercise of judicial powers by “clerk of court” is the exercise of them by the “court”: Brittain v. Mull, 91-498.

Section referred to in McLaurin v. McLaurin, 106-333.

926. Election; term of office. A clerk of the superior court for each county shall be elected by the qualified voters thereof, at the time and in the manner prescribed by law for the election of members of the general assembly. Clerks of the superior court shall hold office for four years.

Rev., s. 890; Const., Art. IV, ss. 16, 17.

Appointee to fill vacancy holds till next election for members of general assembly: Rodwell v. Rowland, 137-617, overruling DeLoatch v. Rogers, 86-358.

927. Clerk's bond. At the first meeting of the board of commissioners of each county after the election or appointment of any clerk of a superior court it is the duty of the clerk to deliver to such commissioners a bond with sufficient sureties, to be approved by them, in a penalty of not less than ten thousand dollars, and not more than fifteen thousand dollars, payable to the state of North Carolina, and with a condition to be void if he shall account for and pay over, according to law, all moneys and effects which have come or may come into his hands, by virtue or color of his office, or under an order or decree of a judge, even though such order or decree be void for want of jurisdiction or other irregularities, and shall diligently preserve and take care of all books, records, papers and property which have come or may come into his possession, by virtue or color of his office, and shall in all things faithfully perform the duties of his office as they are or thereafter shall be prescribed by law.

Rev., s. 295; Code, s. 72; 1899, c. 54, s. 52; 1903, c. 747; 1889, c. 7; 1891, c. 385; 1901, c. 32; C. C. P., s. 137; 1895, cc. 270, 271.

Amounts left with clerk for care of graves under provision of chapter Cemeteries, must be covered by clerk's bond in a surety company. See Cemeteries, s. 5028.

How bond proven: Battle v. Baird, 118-854; Short v. Currie, 53-42. “By virtue or color of his office” construed: Thomas v. Connelly, 104-342; Presson v. Boone, 108-78; Sharpe v. Connelly, 105-87; Cassidy, ex parte, 95-225; Syme v. Bunting, 91-48; Brown v. Coble, 76-391; Greenlee v. Sudderth, 65-470; McNeill v. Morrison, 63-508; Broughton v. Haywood, 61-380. County commissioners may grant indulgences till next meeting for bond to be perfected: Buckman v. Comrs., 80-121. Clerk's bonds are cumulative: Moore v. Boudinot, 64-193; Poole v. Cox, 31-69; Hunter v. Routledge, 51-216; Oates v. Bryan, 14-451. Clerical error in reciting term of office does not necessarily invalidate bond: Battle v. Baird, 118-855; Sprinkle v. Martin, 69-175; Kello v. Maget, 18-414. For liability on bond, and actions on same, see sections 928, 354, 356.

928. Clerk's bond; approval, acknowledgment and custody. The approval of said bond by the board of commissioners, or a majority of them, shall be recorded by their clerk. The said bond shall be acknowledged by the parties thereto, or proved by a subscribing witness, before the clerk of said board of commissioners, or their presiding officer, registered in the register's office in a separate book to be kept by him for the registration of official bonds; and the original, with the approval thereof endorsed, deposited with the register for safe keeping. The like remedies shall be had upon said bond as are or may be given by law on official bonds.

Rev., s. 296; Code, s. 73; C. C. P., s. 138.

For annotations on official bonds generally, see sections 354 and 356. How bond proven: Battle v. Baird, 118-854; Short v. Currie, 53-42.

LIABILITY ON BOND. For funds paid him by commissioner in partition: Smith v. Patton, 131-396. For failing to issue execution: McIntyre v. Merritt, 65-558; Bank v. Bobbitt, 111-194; Williamson v. Kerr, 88-10. For failure to perform new duty added by statute: Wilmington v. Nutt, 80-265. For failure to docket and index judgment: Darden v. Blount, 126-249; Holman v. Miller, 103-118; Dewey v. Sugg, 109-328; Redmond v. Staton, 116-140. For failing to take proper guardian bonds: Topping v. Windley, 99-4. For preferring one judgment creditor over another in issuing execution: Bank of Newbern v. Jones, 17-284. For money coming into his hands as insurer: Smith v. Patton, 131-396; Presson v. Boone, 108-78; Bd. Education v. Bateman, 102-52; Morgan v. Smith, 95-396; Havens v. Lathene, 75-505; Bd. Comrs. v. Clarke, 73-257; Oats v. Bryan, 14-451; Cox v. Blair, 76-78; Richardson v. Smith, 47-8; State v. Gaines, 30-168. For breach of duty as receiver of infants' estates: Waters v. Melson, 112-89; Presson v. Boone, 108-78; Syme v. Bunting, 91-48; Rogers v. Odom, 86-432. For funds received by him under color of his office: Hannah v. Hyatt, 170-634.

ACTIONS ON BOND. None can be maintained unless the damages sustained would give an action on the case for neglect of official duty: Jones v. Biggs, 46-364. Proper parties when suing for proceeds of partition sale: Smith v. Patton, 131-396. Demand is necessary before bringing action: Furman v. Timberlake, 93-66; but see Little v. Richardson, 50-305. On trial a clerk's bond found in proper custody presumed properly given and accepted: Battle v. Baird, 118-854. How bond put in evidence: Short v. Currie, 53-42. Right of action which plaintiff has in a judgment which clerk fails to index is assignable: Redmond v. Staton, 116-140—but simple assignment of the judgment does not assign right of action against clerk, Ibid. Action for failing to take sufficient administration bond cannot be joined with cause of action against administrator: Mitchell v. Mitchell, 96-14. Duly certified copy of bond by proper custodian competent evidence: Battle v. Baird, 118-854. Where question arises between different sets of sureties: Sharpe v. Connelly, 105-87; Morgan v. Smith, 95-396. Judgment against clerk and a surety competent evidence against all sureties: Morgan v. Smith, 95-396. Judgment where defendant fails to answer must be by default and inquiry: Battle v. Baird, 118-855.

929. Local modifications as to clerk's bond. The bonds of the clerks of the superior court of Carteret and Pamlico counties may be fixed at an amount not less than five thousand dollars, in the discretion of the county commissioners.

The clerk of the superior court of Currituck County shall not be required to give bond in a larger penalty than the sum of five thousand dollars, unless the money or funds coming into his hands by order of the court or otherwise, by virtue of his office as clerk, at any time exceed in the aggregate one-half the penalty of his bond. In that case he shall, within twenty days, file with the clerk of the board of commissioners a good and sufficient bond duly executed and justified as required by law, of like condition as already prescribed, and in a penalty double the amount of said funds, though not exceeding ten thousand dollars. This shall not be construed to modify or repeal any provisions of law whereby the county commissioners are authorized at any time to require said clerk to justify or renew his bond whenever necessary.

Rev., s. 295; 1907, c. 103; 1907, c. 990.

930. Oath of office. The clerks of the superior court, before entering on the duties of their office, shall take and subscribe before some officer authorized by law to administer an oath, the oaths prescribed by law, and file such oaths with the register of deeds for the county.

Rev., s. 891; Code, s. 74; C. C. P., s. 139.

Acting before qualifying a misdemeanor, see section 4383. For liability on bond, see section 928. Deputy takes same oath of office as clerk: Jackson v. Buchanan, 89-76.

931. Vacancy; judge of district fills. 1. Otherwise than by expiration. In case the office of clerk of a superior court for a county becomes vacant otherwise than by the expiration of the term, and in case of a failure by the people to elect, the judge of the superior court for the county shall appoint to fill the vacancy until an election can be regularly held.

2. Failure to qualify. In case any clerk fails to give bond and qualify as required by law, the presiding officer of the board of commissioners of his county shall immediately inform the resident judge of the judicial district thereof, who shall thereupon declare the office vacant and fill the same, and the appointee shall give bond and qualify.

3. Resignations. Any clerk of the superior court may resign his office to the judge of the superior court residing in the district in which is situated the county of which he is clerk, and said judge shall fill the vacancy.

Rev., ss. 892, 893, 895; Const., Art. IV, s. 29; Code, ss. 76, 78; C. C. P., s. 140.

Clerk can give security in lieu of bond, see section 349. See Norfleet v. Staton, 73-546. Appointee to fill vacancy holds until next election of members of general assembly: Rodwell v. Rowland, 137-617, overruling Deloatch v. Rogers, 86-358.

The failure to give bond must be ascertained and declared by commissioners before judge can declare a vacancy: Buckman v. Comrs., 80-121. Court not to interfere with discretion of commissioners in refusing bond tendered: Ibid. Where there are two claimants of a vacant clerkship, judge must act upon the prima facie title and admit the one possessing it, leaving the other to his remedy in quo warranto: Clarke v. Carpenter, 81-309.

932. Removal for cause. Upon the conviction of any clerk of the superior court of an infamous crime, or of corruption and malpractice in office, he shall be removed from office, and he shall be disqualified from holding or enjoying any office of honor, trust or profit under this state.

Rev., s. 894; Code, s. 123; 1868-9, c. 201, s. 53.

933. Office and equipment furnished. The requisite stationery, records, furniture and filing cases and devices for official use must be furnished to the clerk by the board of commissioners; and to each of such books there must be attached an alphabetical index securely bound in the volume, referring to the entries therein by the page of the book, unless there is a cross-index of such book required by law to be kept. These books must, at all proper times, be open to the inspection of any person.

Rev., s. 896; Code, ss. 82, 84, 113; C. C. P., s. 428.

934. Solicitor to examine and report on office. At every regular term of the superior court for the trial of criminal cases the solicitor for the judicial district shall inspect the office of the clerk and report to the court in writing. If any solicitor fails or neglects to perform the duty hereby imposed on him, he is liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars to any person who sues for the same.

Rev., s. 897; Code, s. 88; C. C. P., s. 147; 1917, c. 81, s. 1.

ART. 2. DEPUTIES

935. Appointment. Clerks of the superior court may appoint deputies, who shall take and subscribe the oath prescribed for clerks.

Rev., s. 898; Code, s. 75; R. C., c. 19, s. 15; 1777, c. 115, s. 86.

Deputy clerk can be appointed only in the mode here provided: Shepherd v. Lane, 13-148. Reason for creating the office stated in Miller v. Miller, 89-405. Deputy takes same oath as clerk: Jackson v. Buchanan, 89-76. Authority of deputy ceases upon death of clerk: White v. Hill, 125-200. Deputy may perform all duties of the office except such as are judicial, or where statute provides otherwise: Miller v. Miller, 89-402. He may issue warrant of attachment: Jackson v. Buchanan, 89-74—may issue executions, Miller v. Miller, 89-402—may probate deeds and other conveyances by force of statute, Piland v. Taylor, 113-1; see section 3293. Clerk cannot delegate deputy to discharge judicial functions: Piland v. Taylor, 113-1. The probate of a deed by a deputy is not the act of the principal, but of the deputy, he having statutory authority: Ibid., see section 977. The certificate of a probate of a deed by a deputy clerk is of itself prima facie evidence of the deputy's appointment and qualification: Piland v. Taylor, 113-1. The acts of a deputy who has not been properly qualified are void: Sudderth v. Smyth, 35-452. A woman cannot be appointed deputy clerk: Bank v. Redwine, 171-559; see, also, State v. Knight, 169-333.

936. Record of appointment and discharge; copies. Each clerk of a superior court shall make a record of the appointment of each deputy he may appoint, on the special proceedings docket of his court, giving the name of such appointee and the date of such appointment, and make a cross-index of the same, and shall furnish to the register of deeds of his county a transcript of such record; and such register of deeds shall record the same in the records of deeds in his office and make a cross-index thereof on the general index in his office. When any such deputy clerk is removed from his office the clerk of the superior court by whom he was appointed shall write on the margin of the record of such appointment in his office, and on the margin of the record of such appointment in the office of the register of deeds, the word "Revoked" and the date of such revocation, and sign his name thereto. A duly certified copy of such appointment and of such revocation, under the hand and official seal of the register of deeds, shall be deemed prima facie evidence of the regularity of such appointment and revocation, and shall be admitted as evidence in all the courts.

937. Responsibility of clerk for deputy's acts. The several clerks of the superior court shall be held responsible for the acts of their deputies. Deputies shall be subject in all respects to all laws which apply to the clerks.

Rev., s. 900; 1899, c. 235, s. 2.

Clerks are liable for the nonfeasance of a deputy, but deputy is not liable: Coltraine v. McCain, 14-308 (this may be altered by this section). For an unlawful act of deputy committed under color of the office, both clerk and deputy are liable: Coltraine v. McCain, 14-308. Section cited in Bank v. Redwine, 171-559.

ART. 3. POWERS AND DUTIES

938. Powers enumerated. Every clerk has power—

1. To issue subpoenas to compel the attendance of any witness residing or being in the state, or to compel the production of any bond or paper, material to any inquiry pending in his court.

2. To administer oaths and take acknowledgments, whenever necessary, in the exercise of the powers and duties of his office.

See section 3293.

3. To issue commissions to take the testimony of any witness within or without this state.

See sections 1813, 1809-1812.

4. To issue citations and orders to show cause to parties in all matters cognizable in his court, and to compel the appearance of such parties.

See Edwards v. Cobb, 95-9.

5. To enforce all lawful orders and decrees, by execution or otherwise, against those who fail to comply therewith or to execute lawful process. Process may be issued by the clerk, to be executed in any county of the state, and to be returned before him.

See sections 664, 666, 669, 675; also sections as to the different forms of process of the court.

6. To exemplify, under seal of his court, all transcripts of deeds, papers or proceedings therein, which shall be received in evidence in all the courts of the state.

See section 1779.

7. To preserve order in his court and to punish contempts.

See In re Patterson, 99-418.

8. To adjourn any proceeding pending before him from time to time.

9. To open, vacate, modify, set aside, or enter as of a former time, decrees or orders of his court, in the same manner as courts of general jurisdiction.

See Little v. Duncan, 149-84; Wahab v. Smith, 82-229; Lovinier v. Pearce, 70-168.

10. To enter judgment in any suit pending in his court in the following instances: judgment of voluntary nonsuit in any case where judgment is permitted by law; and judgment in any suit by consent of parties.

11. To award costs and disbursements as prescribed by law, to be paid personally, or out of the estate or fund, in any proceeding before him.

12. To compel the return to his office by each justice of the peace, on the expiration of the term of office of such justice, or, if the justice be dead, by his personal representative, of all records, papers, docketts and books held by such justice by virtue or color of his office, and to deliver the same to the successor in office of such justice.

13. To take proof of deeds, bills of sale, official bonds, letters of attorney, or other instruments permitted or required by law to be registered.

See sections 3293, 3305, 3322.

14. To take proof of wills and grant letters testamentary and of administration.

See sections 1, 2, 4143.

15. To revoke letters testamentary and of administration.

See sections 30, 31, 44.

16. To appoint and remove guardians of infants, idiots, inebriates and lunatics.

See sections 2150, 2153, 2154, 2158, 2165, 2166, 2187, 2191, 2285, 2286.

17. To audit the accounts of executors, administrators, collectors, receivers, commissioners and guardians.

As to auditing accounts of executors, administrators, etc., see sections 105, 109, 123, 124—commissioners to sell property, see section 765—guardians, see sections 2186, 2188.

18. To exercise jurisdiction conferred on him in every other case prescribed by law.

As to taking proofs and making orders in cases where clerk himself interested, see Trenwith v. Smallwood, 111-134; Long v. Crews, 113-256; Lance v. Tainter, 137-249; Joines v. Johnson, 133-493; McAllister v. Purcell, 124-262; Blanton v. Bostic, 126-421; Land Co. v. Jennett, 128-3; Freeman v. Person, 106-251; see sections 3293, 3299, 3343. Clerk has no common-law or equity jurisdiction: McCauley v. McCauley, 122-288. For jurisdiction of clerk generally, see sections 397, 403, 752-765. For special duties and powers with respect to different specific matters, see chapters with reference to such matters.

Rev., s. 901; Code, ss. 103, 108; C. C. P., ss. 417, 418, 442; 1901, c. 614, s. 2; 1919, c. 140.

The clerk of the superior court acts as judge of the juvenile court, see Child Welfare, Art. 2.

939. Disqualification to act. No clerk can act as such in relation to any estate or proceeding—

1. If he has, or claims to have, an interest by distribution, by will, or as creditor, or otherwise.

If clerk interested in commissions to executors, he is excluded from making allowances: Barlow v. Norfleet, 72-535. It has been the practice for clerks to issue process either for or against themselves: Evans v. Etheridge, 96-42. No clerk can act as such in relation to any estate or proceeding if he has or claims to have an interest therein: Land Co. v. Jennett, 128-3; Trenwith v. Smallwood, 111-134; Gregory v. Ellis, 82-225.

2. If he is so related to any person having or claiming such interest that he would, by reason of such relationship, be disqualified as a juror; but the disqualification on this ground ceases unless the objection is made at the first hearing of the matter before him.

See Land Co. v. Jennett, 128-3; Trenwith v. Smallwood, 111-132.

3. If he or his wife is a party or a subscribing witness to any deed of conveyance, testamentary paper or nuncupative will; but this disqualification ceases when such deed, testamentary paper, or will has been finally admitted to or refused probate by another clerk, or before the judge of the superior court.

See Trenwith v. Smallwood, 111-132; also sections 3293, 3299.

4. If he or his wife is named as executor or trustee in any testamentary or other paper; but this disqualification ceases when the will or other paper is finally admitted to or refused probate by another clerk, or before the judge of the superior court.

Action against administrator who was probate judge rightly transferred to district judge: Wilson v. Abrams, 70-324. Clerk cannot pass upon petition to sell land for assets filed by himself as executor: Gregory v. Ellis, 82-225.

5. If he shall renounce the executorship and endorse the same on the will or on some paper attached thereto, before it is propounded for probate, in which case the renunciation must be recorded with the will if admitted to probate.

Rev., s. 902; Code, s. 104; C. C. P., s. 419; 1871-2, c. 196.

Clerk cannot appoint himself or deputy as commissioner to sell land, see Partition, s. 3242.

940. Waiver of disqualification. The parties may waive the disqualification specified in subdivisions one, two, three and five of the preceding section, and upon filing in the office such waiver in writing, the clerk shall act as in other cases.

Rev., s. 903; Code, s. 105; C. C. P., s. 420.

Waiver must be shown affirmatively. Questionable whether guardian ad litem can make such waiver: Land Co. v. Jennett, 128-3; White v. Connelly, 105-71.

941. Disqualification unwaived; cause removed or judge acts. When any of the disqualifications specified in this chapter exist, and there is no waiver thereof, or when the disqualification does not permit of waiver, any party in interest may apply to the judge of the district or to the judge holding the courts of such district for an order to remove the proceedings to the clerk of the superior court of an adjoining county in the same district; or may apply to the judge to make and render either in vacation or term time all necessary orders and judgments in any proceeding where the clerk is disqualified, and the judge in such cases is hereby authorized and empowered to make and render any and all necessary orders and judgments as if he had the same original jurisdiction as the clerk over such proceeding.

Rev., s. 904; Code, s. 106; C. C. P., s. 421; 1913, c. 70, s. 1.

942. Disqualification at time of election; judge acts. In all cases where the clerk of the superior court is executor, administrator, collector or guardian of any estate at the time of his election to office, in order to enable him to settle such estate, the judge of the superior court mentioned in the preceding section is empowered to make such orders as may be necessary in the settlement of the estate; may audit the accounts or appoint a commissioner to audit the accounts of such executor or administrator, and report to either of said judges for his approval, and when the accounts are so approved, it is his duty to order the proper record to be made by the clerk, and the accounts to be filed in court.

Rev., s. 905; Code, s. 107; 1871-2, c. 197.

Should make summons returnable before him and then transfer to district judge: Wilson v. Abrams, 70-324.

943. Custody of records and property of office. 1. Receipt from predecessor. Immediately after he has given bond and qualified, the clerk shall receive from the late clerk of the superior court all the records, books, papers, moneys and property of his office, and give receipts for the same, and if any clerk refuses or fails within a reasonable time after demand to deliver such records, books, papers, moneys and property, he is liable on his official bond for the value thereof.

Failure to deliver books, records, etc., misdemeanor, see sections 4384, 4385. After delivery of papers, liability ceases: Gregory v. Morisey, 79-559. Successor may sue on official bond for records, money, etc., on ground of statutory requirements: Peebles v. Boone, 116-57. No order for delivery to duly elected clerk necessary: Ibid.

2. Transfer to successor; penalty. Upon going out of office for any reason, any clerk of the superior, inferior, or criminal court shall transfer and deliver to his successor (or to such person, before his successor in office may be appointed, as the court may designate) all records, documents, papers, and money belonging to the office. And the judge appointing any clerk to a vacancy in the clerkship of the superior court may give to such person an order for the delivery to him, by the person having the custody thereof, of the records, documents, papers and moneys belonging to the office, and he shall deliver the same in obedience to such order. In case any clerk going out of office as aforesaid, or other person having the custody of such records, documents, papers, and money as aforesaid, fails to transfer and deliver them as herein directed, he shall forfeit and pay to the state one thousand dollars, which shall be sued for by the prosecuting officer of that court.

Remedy for failure to obey order for delivery of money, etc., to successor is by attachment and by suit for penalty: O'Leary v. Harrison, 51-338. Forfeiture only in case of refusal of clerk to do what is required of him in this section: Peebles v. Boone, 116-60. No order necessary to compel former clerk to make transfer as directed unless he is in office temporarily by appointment: Ibid.

Rev., ss. 906, 907; Code, ss. 81, 124; R. C., c. 19, s. 14; C. C. P., s. 142.

944. Unperformed duties of outgoing clerk. 1. Performance secured. When, upon the death or resignation, removal from office, or at the expiration of his term of office, any clerk has failed to discharge any of the duties of his office, the court, if practicable, shall cause the same to be performed by another person, who shall receive for such services, and as a compensation therefor, the fees allowed by law to the clerk.

2. Liability on outgoing clerk's bond. Such portion thereof as may be paid by the county may be recovered by the county, by suit on the official bond of the defaulting clerk, to be brought on the relation of the board of commissioners of the county.

Rev., s. 908; Code, s. 87; R. C., c. 19, s. 19; 1844, c. 5, s. 6.

If retiring clerk failed to record a proceeding, judge may order it done as of proper date: Foster v. Woodfin, 65-29.

945. Location of and attendance at office. The clerk shall have an office in the courthouse or other place provided by the board of commissioners, in the county town of his county. He shall give due attendance, in person or by deputy, at his office daily, Sundays and holidays excepted, from nine o'clock a.m. to three o'clock p.m., and longer when necessary for the dispatch of business; and personally every Monday for the transaction of probate business, and on each succeeding day till such matters are disposed of; and upon his failure to do so, unless caused by sickness or other urgent necessity or unless leave of absence is obtained by law, he shall forfeit his office.

Rev., s. 909; Code, ss. 80, 114, 115; C. C. P., s. 141; 1871-2, c. 136.

One failure to keep office open on Monday for probate business is complete cause for forfeiture of office: People v. Heaton, 77-18. Quo warranto is proper remedy to enforce for forfeiture of office hereunder: People v. Heaton, 77-18; State v. Norman, 82-687.

946. Obtaining leave of absence from office. Upon application of any clerk of the superior court to the judge of the superior court residing in the district in which the clerk resides, showing good and sufficient reason for clerk to absent himself from his office, the judge may issue an order allowing him to absent himself from his office for such time as the judge may deem proper. But he shall at all times leave a competent deputy in charge of his office during his absence. The order of the judge granting leave of absence shall be filed and recorded in the office of the clerk of the county in which the clerk resides.

Rev., s. 910; 1903, c. 467.

Writs signed in blank by clerks and handed to attorneys for their use, if subsequently filled up by the latter, are regular and sufficient writs: Croom v. Morrisey, 63-591. See Webster v. Sharp, 116-468; Carson v. Woodrow, 160-144.

947. To keep fee bill posted. Every clerk shall keep posted in his office in some conspicuous place the fee bill, for public inspection and reference, under a penalty of one hundred dollars for such neglect, to be paid to any person who will sue for same.

Rev., s. 2774; Code, s. 3740.

948. To furnish blank process, bonds and undertakings. Clerks of courts shall furnish to parties printed copies of the formal parts of all process required to be issued by them, with convenient blank spaces for the insertion of written matter; and also the blank forms of such bonds and undertakings as are required to be taken by them.

Rev., s. 911; Code, s. 3761; C. C. P., s. 559; 1868-9, c. 279, s. 558.

949. To file papers in proceedings. The clerk must file and preserve all papers in proceedings before him, or belonging to the court; and shall keep the papers in each action in a separate roll or bundle, and at its termination attach them together, properly labeled, and file them in the order of the date of the final judgment. All such papers and the books kept by him belong to, and appertain to, his office, and must be delivered to his successor.

Rev., s. 912; Code, ss. 86, 111; C. C. P., ss. 146, 426.

See section 943. Fee for "filing papers" is only for filing all papers after final judgment: Guilford v. Comrs., 120-23.

950. To keep records of his office; obtaining originals or copies. He shall keep in bound volumes a complete and faithful record of all his official acts, and give copies thereof to all persons desiring them, on payment of the legal fees. He shall be answerable for all records belonging to his office, and all papers filed in the court, and they shall not be taken from his custody, unless by special order of the court, or on the written consent of the attorneys of record of all the parties; but parties may at all times have copies upon paying the clerk therefor.

Rev., s. 913; Code, s. 82; C. C. P., s. 143; 1868-9, c. 159, s. 4.

951. To endorse date of issuance on process. The clerk shall note on all precepts, process and executions the day on which the same shall be issued; and the sheriff or other officer receiving the same for execution shall in like manner note thereon the day on which he shall have received it, and the day of the execution; and every clerk, sheriff or other officer neglecting so to do shall forfeit and pay one hundred dollars.

Rev., s. 914; Code, s. 100.

952. To keep books; enumeration. Each clerk shall keep the following books, which shall be open to the inspection of the public during regular office hours:

1. Summons docket, which shall contain a docket of all writs, summonses or other original process issued by him, or returned to his office, which are made returnable to a regular term of the superior court; this docket shall contain a brief note of every proceeding whatever in each action, up to the final judgment inclusive.

2. Judgment docket, which shall contain a note of the substance of every judgment and every proceeding subsequent thereto.

3. Civil issue docket, which shall contain a docket of all issues of fact joined upon the pleadings, and of all other matters for hearing before the judge at a regular term of the court, a copy of which shall be furnished to the judge at the commencement of each term.

Civil issue docket must contain the issues joined between parties, and only such notes and memoranda as are pertinent to such issues and their preparation for trial: Walton v. McKesson, 101-428—also all other matters for hearing before judge at a regular term, Brown v. Rhinehardt, 112-776—but if it conflicts with minute docket, latter prevails, Walton v. McKesson, 101-428.

4. Cross-index to judgments, which shall contain a direct and reverse alphabetical index of all final judgments in civil actions rendered in the court, with the dates and numbers thereof, and also of all final judgments rendered in other courts and authorized by law to be entered on his judgment docket.

See Holman v. Miller, 103-120.

5. Cross-index of parties to actions. The clerk shall keep an alphabetical index and cross-index of all parties to all actions and special proceedings. Upon the issuance of summons or commencement of an ex parte proceeding he shall forthwith index and cross-index the names of all parties to such action or proceeding. When an order is made that any new or additional party be brought into an action or proceeding his name shall forthwith be indexed and cross-indexed by the clerk. The index shall be so arranged that beside each name shall appear a reference to the book and page whereon the action or proceeding will be found upon the summons docket, civil issue docket, special proceeding docket, and judgment docket, or such of said dockets as carry reference to said action or proceeding; and immediately upon said action or proceeding being entered upon any of said dockets the clerk shall cause said index to carry reference thereto upon the index and cross-index as to every party.

6. Record of lis pendens, which shall contain the names of the parties to the action, place where such notice, whether formal or in the pleadings, is filed, the object of the action, the date of indexing, and a sufficient description of the land to be affected, and which shall be cross-indexed.

1919, c. 31.

7. Criminal docket, which shall contain a note of every proceeding in each criminal action.

8. Minute docket of superior court, which shall contain a record of all proceedings had in the court during term, in the order in which they occur, and such other entries as the judge may direct to be made therein.

Minute docket is intended to and should contain a record of all proceedings of court in the order of occurrence, and such other entries as judge may direct: Walton v. McKesson, 101-

428; Guilford v. Comrs., 120-28—but if it fail to contain certain entries, those made on civil issue docket should not be disregarded; but if they conflict, the minute docket prevails, Walton v. McKesson, 101-428.

953. To notify commissioners of insolvency of surety company in which county officer bonded. Every clerk of the superior court shall furnish the chairman of the board of county commissioners with all notifications furnished him, in accordance with section 6380 under the article Fidelity Insurance of the chapter Insurance, by the insurance commissioner, that any surety company in which any officer of the county is bonded is insolvent or in imminent danger of insolvency.

Rev., 295.

ART. 4. REPORTS

954. List of justices to secretary of state. The clerk of the superior court of each county in which justices of the peace are not elected by the qualified voters thereof on the first Monday in January preceding each regular session of the general assembly shall certify to the secretary of state a correct list of all justices of the peace in office in his county, the township in which each resides, the term of office of each, time of election or appointment, and when the respective terms of office of each expires. He shall also report the names of those elected or appointed justices of the peace, but who have failed to qualify, and when their terms of office began and the length thereof.

Rev., s. 916; Code, s. 89; 1901, c. 37, s. 2; 1881, c. 326.

955. Criminal statistics to attorney-general. Within twenty days after the adjournment of any term of the superior court at which criminal causes were triable, the clerk thereof shall transmit to the office of the attorney-general of the state a duly certified statement of the number of indictments finally disposed of at such court, specifying the number for each separate offense, the number on which convictions were had and on which defendants were acquitted, and of indictments against persons who were convicted on confession, and against persons who were discharged without trial, and also the name, age, occupation, sex, race and offense of every person convicted at such court, or pleading guilty of any offense, together with such other items of information in relation to such convicts and their offenses as the attorney-general shall require, on a form prescribed by him. For every neglect of any clerk of said court he shall forfeit the sum of fifty dollars, to be adjudged in the superior court of Wake County on the motion of the attorney-general, whose duty it is hereby made to make such motion at the first term of said court held after such neglect of any clerk.

Rev., s. 917; 1889, c. 341, ss. 1, 2, 3.

ART. 5. MONEY IN HAND

956. Public funds to be reported to county commissioners. On the first Monday in December of each and every year, or oftener, if required by order of the board of commissioners or any other lawful authority, clerks of the superior courts shall make an annual report of all public funds which may be in their hands. The report shall be made to the board of county commissioners and addressed to the chairman thereof. It shall give an itemized statement of said funds so held, the date and source from which they were received, the person to whom due, how invested and where, in whose name deposited, the date of any certificate of deposit, the rate of interest the same is drawing, and other evidence of investment of said fund; and it shall include a statement of all funds in their hands by virtue or color of their office, and which may belong to persons or corporations. The report shall be subscribed and verified by the oath of the party making it before any person allowed to administer oaths.

Rev., s. 918; 1891, c. 580.

Failure to report or swearing falsely to same a misdemeanor, see section 4386.

957. Approval, registration, and publication of report. The board of commissioners shall refer all itemized statements made by the clerks of the superior courts to a special committee of their board, who shall compare the same with the records of the clerk's office from which the report is made and certify the same to the board as correct, and if approved the board shall cause the same to be registered in the office of the register of deeds, in a book to be furnished to said register by the board of county commissioners, which book shall be styled Record of Official Reports, with a proper index of all reports recorded therein, and each original report shall, if approved by the chairman of the board, be endorsed with the word "Approved," the date of approval and the endorsement signed by the chairman, and when recorded by the register of deeds he shall endorse thereon the date of registration, the page of the Record of Official Reports upon which the same is registered, sign the same and file it in his office. The register shall also cause a copy of the report to be published one time in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county of the register and also posted at the courthouse door within twenty days after filing the reports; and if no newspaper is published in the county the posting of the report at the courthouse door shall be a sufficient publication. The cost of publishing the report shall be paid by the county.

Rev., s. 919; Code, s. 90; 1891, c. 580, s. 3; 1893, c. 14, s. 3; 1874-5, c. 151; 1876-7, c. 276.

958. Report compelled by commissioners. If any clerk fails to report, or if after a report has been made the board of county commissioners have reason to believe that any report is incorrect, the board shall take legal steps to compel a proper report to be made by suit on the bond of such clerk, or by reporting the fact to the solicitor of the district to which the county of said board may belong for his action.

Rev., s. 920; Code, s. 92; 1891, c. 580, s. 2; 1874-5, c. 151, s. 3; 1876-7, c. 276.

959. Payment to persons entitled. The said clerks shall, on or before the first day of January in every year after the statements required in the foregoing sections are made, account with and pay to the persons entitled to receive the same all such balances reported as aforesaid to be in their hands.

Rev., s. 921; Code, s. 1865; R. C., c. 73, s. 2; 1823, c. 1186, s. 2; 1831, c. 3, ss. 1, 3; 1893, c. 14, s. 1.

“Account” means written statement of receipts and payments; when settlement is intended, additional words are used: State v. Dunn, 134-668.

960. Unclaimed fees of jurors and witnesses paid to school fund. All moneys due jurors and witnesses which remain in the hands of any clerk of the superior court on the first day of January after the publication of a third annual report of the said clerk showing the same shall be turned over to the county treasurer for the use of the school fund of the county, and it is the duty of said clerk to indicate in his report any moneys so held by him for a period embracing the two annual reports.

Rev., s. 922; 1891, c. 580, s. 4; 1893, c. 14, s. 3.

961. Use by public until claimed. The money aforesaid, while held by the clerks, shall be paid, on application, to the person entitled thereto; and after it ceases to be so held, it may be used as other revenue, subject, however, to the claim of the rightful owner.

Rev., s. 923; Code, s. 1869; R. C., c. 73, s. 6; 1828, c. 41, s. 1.

962. Payment of money for indigent children. When any moneys, in the amount of one hundred dollars or less, are paid into court for indigent or needy children for whom no one will become guardian, upon satisfactory proof of the necessities of such children the clerk may, upon his own motion or order, pay out the same in such sum or sums at such time or times as in his judgment is for the best interests of said children, to the mother or other person who has charge of said children, or to some discreet and solvent neighbor of said minor, to be used and faithfully applied by them for the sole benefit and maintenance of such indigent and needy children. The clerk shall take a receipt from the person to whom any such sum is paid, and may require such person to render an account of the expenditure of the sum or sums so paid, and shall record the receipt and the accounts, if any are rendered by order of the clerk, in a book entitled Record of Amounts Paid for Indigent Children, and such receipt shall be a valid acquittance for the clerk. That in all cases where a minor child is now or may hereafter be the beneficiary of any policy of life insurance and the sum due to said minor child by virtue of any such policy does not exceed three hundred dollars, the insurance company which issued said policy may pay the sum due thereunder to the clerk of the Superior Court of the county where said minor child resides, whose duty it shall be to receive it, and said clerk shall issue and deliver to such insurance company his receipt for the sum so paid, which shall be a complete release and discharge of said company from any and all liability to said minor child under and by virtue of any such policy of insurance. Moneys so paid to said clerk shall be held and disbursed in the manner and subject to the limitations now provided by law.

Rev., s. 924; 1899, c. 82; 1911, c. 29, s. 1; 1919, c. 91.

CHAPTER 14

COMMISSIONERS OF AFFIDAVITS AND DEEDS

- 963. Appointment by governor; term; oath.
- 964. Record of appointments; certified copies evidence.
- 965. List of appointments prepared and published by secretary of state.
- 966. Published list conclusive.
- 967. Powers of such commissioners.
- 968. Powers of clerks of courts in other states.
- 969. Clerk and notaries to take affidavits.

963. Appointment by governor; term; oath. The governor is authorized to appoint and commission one or more commissioners in any foreign country, state or republic, and in such of the states of the United States, or in the District of Columbia, or any of the territories, colonies or dependencies as he may deem expedient, who shall continue in office for two years from the date of their appointment, unless sooner removed by the governor. Before such commissioner proceeds to perform any duty by virtue of this chapter, he shall take and subscribe an oath before a justice of the peace in the city or county in which he resides well and faithfully to execute and perform all the duties of such commissioner, according to the laws of North Carolina; which oath shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

Rev., ss. 926, 927; Code, ss. 632, 633.

964. Record of appointments; certified copies evidence. It is the duty of the governor to cause to be recorded by the secretary of state the names of the persons who are appointed and qualified as commissioners, and for what state, territory, county, city, or town; and the secretary of state, when the oath of the commissioner is filed in his office, shall forthwith certify the appointment to the several clerks of the superior courts of the state, who shall record the certificate of the secretary at length. All removals of commissioners by the governor, and the names of all commissioners whose commissions have expired by law, and which have not been renewed, shall be recorded and certified in like manner. A certified copy thereof from the clerk, or a certificate of the appointment or removal aforesaid from the secretary of state, shall be sufficient evidence of the appointment or removal of such commissioner.

Rev., s. 928; Code, s. 634.

See Evans v. Etheridge, 99-46.

965. List of appointments prepared and published by secretary of state. The secretary of state shall prepare and cause to be printed in each volume of the public laws a list of all persons who since the preceding publication in the public laws have been appointed commissioners of affidavits and to take the probate of deeds in any foreign country and in the several states and territories of the United States and in the District of Columbia, under this chapter, setting forth the state, territory or district or foreign country for which such persons were appointed and the dates of their respective appointments and term of office; and he shall add to each of said lists a list of all those persons whose appointments have been renewed, revoked, or have resigned, removed or died since the date of the list previously published, as far as the same may be known to him, with the dates of such revocation, resignation, removal or death.

Rev., s. 929; Code, ss. 635, 636, 637, 639.

See Evans v. Etheridge, 99-46.

966. Published list conclusive. The list of commissioners so published in any volume of the public laws shall be conclusive evidence in all courts of the appointments therein stated, and of the dates thereof.

Rev., s. 930; Code, s. 638.

See Evans v. Etheridge, 99-46.

967. Powers of such commissioners. The commissioners have authority to take the acknowledgment or proof of any deed, mortgage, or other conveyance of lands, tenements, or hereditaments lying in this state, and to take the private examination of married women, parties thereto, or any other writings to be used in this state. Such acknowledgment or proof, taken or made in the manner directed by the laws of this state, and certified by the commissioner, shall have the same force and effect for all purposes as if made or taken before any competent authority in this state. The commissioners also have full power and authority to administer an oath or affirmation to any person willing or desirous to make it before him, to take depositions, and to examine the witnesses under any commission emanating from the courts of this state, relating to any cause depending or to be brought in said courts. Every deposition, affidavit, or affirmation made before him is as valid as if taken before any proper officer in this state.

Rev., ss. 926, 927; Code, ss. 632, 633.

General powers of commissioner: Barcello v. Hapgood, 118-712; Buggy Co. v. Pegram, 102-540; Maphis v. Pegram, 107-505.

PROBATE OF DEEDS. Distinction between probate by clerk and by commissioner: Evans v. Etheridge, 99-43. Commissioner need not affix seal: Johnson v. Duvall, 135-642. A judicial or quasi judicial act: Long v. Crews, 113-256. Where commissioner not authorized to take probates, clerk's order to register invalid, when: Long v. Crews, 113-256; Robinson v. Willoughby, 70-358. Acknowledgment by resident or nonresident allowed before commissioner: Buggy Co. v. Pegram, 102-540; Maphis v. Pegram, 107-505.

Verification of pleadings before commissioner: Hinton v. Ins. Co., 116-22; Young v. Rollins, 85-485. Old cases under former statutes: Simmons v. Gholson, 50-401; Smith v. Castrix, 27-518.

968. Powers of clerks of courts in other states. Every clerk of a court of record in any other state has full power as a commissioner of affidavits and deeds as is vested in regularly appointed commissioners of affidavits and deeds for this state.

Rev., s. 931; Code, s. 640.

For powers as to probate of deeds, see chapter Probate and Registration, s. 3294.

See Barcello v. Hapgood, 118-727; Hinton v. Ins. Co., 116-22.

969. Clerks and notaries to take affidavits. The clerks of the supreme and superior courts and notaries public are authorized to take and certify affidavits to be used before any justice of the peace, judge or court of the state; and the affidavits so taken by a clerk shall be certified under the hands of the said clerk, and if to be used out of the county where taken, also under the seal of the court of which they are respectively clerks, and, if by a notary, under his notarial seal.

Rev., s. 925; Code, s. 631.

Clerks of courts in other states as commissioners: Barcello v. Hapgood, 118-712. Courts take judicial notice of their seals: Ibid. For probates generally, see sections 3293-3336.

CHAPTER 15

COMMON LAW

970. Common law declared to be in force. All such parts of the common law as were heretofore in force and use within this state, or so much of the common law as is not destructive of, or repugnant to, or inconsistent with, the freedom and independence of this state and the form of government therein established, and which has not been otherwise provided for in whole or in part, not abrogated, repealed, or become obsolete, are hereby declared to be in full force within this state.

Rev., s. 932; Code, s. 641; R. C., c. 22; 1715, c. 5, ss. 2, 3; 1778, c. 133.

The laws of our state rest for a foundation on the common law of England: In re Bryan, 60-38. Presumed that common law of other states the same as of this state: Lassiter v. R. R., 136-89; Hall v. R. R., 146-345; see, also, Brown v. Pratt, 56-202; Griffin v. Carter, 40-413.

PREVAILS. As to probate of wills, except as statute changes: Crump v. Morgan, 38-98—as to no allowance of alimony in divorce a vinculo, Duffy v. Duffy, 120-346—as to Jews, infidels, etc., taking oaths, Shaw v. Moore, 49-25—presumptively in states that were formerly English colonies, Woods v. Telegraph Co., 148-1; Gooch v. Faucett, 122-270; Cade v. Davis, 96-139; Jones v. Reddick, 79-292; Brown v. Pratt, 56-202; Griffin v. Carter, 40-213.

DOES NOT PREVAIL. As to rules of practice in deciding issues of fact in probate of wills: Downey v. Murphey, 18-92—as to outlawry, Sherrod v. Davis, 2-282—as to fines and recoveries, Barfield v. Combs, 15-516—as to the demurring of the parol, Baker v. Long, 2-1—as to forfeiture of property for crime, White v. Fort, 10-264—as to special customs, Jones v. Allen, 27-473; Winder v. Blake, 49-336; Morehead v. Brown, 51-370.

This section cited but not construed in Greenleaf v. Bank, 133-295.

CHAPTER 16

CONSTABLES

- 971. Election and term.
- 972. Oaths to be taken.
- 973. Bond; where registered; how fees paid.
- 974. Special constables.
- 975. Vacancies in office.
- 976. Powers and duties.
- 977. To execute notices within justice's jurisdiction.

971. Election and term. In each township there shall be a constable, elected by the voters thereof, who shall hold his office for two years.

Rev., s. 933; Const., Art. IV, s. 24.

As to town constables, see sections 2638, 2639. The constitutional provision that officers shall hold until successors are qualified does not apply to constables: King v. McLure, 84-153.

972. Oaths to be taken. All constables, before they shall be qualified to act, shall take before the board of county commissioners the oaths prescribed for public officers, and also an oath of office.

Rev., s. 934; Code, s. 642; R. C., c. 24, s. 8.

973. Bond; where registered; how fees paid. The board of commissioners of each county shall require of each constable, elected or appointed for a township, on entering upon the duties of his office, to give a bond with good surety, payable to the state of North Carolina, in a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, conditioned as well for the faithful discharge of his duty as constable as for his diligently endeavoring to collect all claims put into his hands for collection, and faithfully paying over all sums thereon received, either with or without suit, unto the persons to whom the same may be due. Said bond shall be duly proved and registered and, after registration, filed in the office of the register of deeds; and certified copies of the same from the register's office shall be received and read in evidence in all actions and proceedings where the original might be. The fees for proving and registering the bond of constable shall be paid by the constable. In Stanly County the fees shall be paid by the county.

Rev., s. 302; Code, s. 647; R. C., c. 24, s. 7; 1818, c. 980; 1820, c. 1045, s. 2; 1833, c. 17; 1869-70, c. 185; 1899, c. 54, s. 52; 1891, c. 229.

THE BOND ITSELF. Void if taken by improper person: State v. Shirley, 23-596. Its registration: Warren v. Boyd, 120-56. Where four persons signed bond as obligors, but constable's name did not appear in condition, nor did it appear who was constable, condition held void: Grier v. Hill, 51-572. Where bond made payable to the governor, and county court records were silent as to appointment and qualifications of constable, held a common-law bond only: Reid v. Humphreys, 52-258. Condition for the collection of claims refers only to those within magistrate's jurisdiction: Brunhild v. Potter, 107-416; McLaurin v. Buchanan, 60-91; Ellis v. Long, 30-515; State v. Long, 29-379; Dunton v. Doxey, 52-222; State v. Outland, 33-134; State v. Stephens, 25-92.

LIABILITY ON BONDS. See under sections 354, 356, 359. For false imprisonment by constable as such: Warren v. Boyd, 120-56. For failing to turn over money collected: Governor v. Bailey, 10-463. For failing to collect claims placed in his hands: State v. Galbraith, 65-409; Lipscomb v. Cheek, 61-332; Nixon v. Bagby, 52-4; State v. Wall, 31-20; Chipley v. Albea, 53-204; Dunton v. Doxey, 52-222; Governor v. Carraway, 14-436; Morgan v. Horne, 44-25; State v. Stephens, 25-92; Wills v. Sugg, 25-96. For taxes collected: Greensboro v.

Scott, 84-184. For money collected on claim and misappropriated: Kivett v. Massey, 63-240. For failing to execute process: Hearn v. Parker, 52-150. Are constables' bonds cumulative since term extended to two years? see Moore v. Boudinot, 64-190; Goforth v. Mackey, 25-25. Where took claim as constable, but collected it as deputy sheriff: Ringold v. McGowan, 34-44. General scope of his liability as collector of claims: State v. Holcombe, 24-211; Hearn v. Parker, 52-150; Morgan v. Horne, 44-25. Constable accepting claims within magistrates' jurisdiction presumed to accept them as constable: Dunton v. Doxey, 52-222. Not liable for releasing prisoner arrested under void process: Appomattox Co. v. Buffaloe, 121-37.

ACTIONS ON BOND. See under sections 354, 356, 359. For false imprisonment, held complaint sufficient: Warren v. Boyd, 120-56. Surety cannot sue cosureties as relator for default of principal: Sanders v. Bean, 44-318. In action for return of note, constable pleads he took judgment on it: Gregory v. Hooks, 33-371. Demand necessary before suing for money collected on claim: Kivett v. Massey, 63-240; Potter v. Sturges, 12-79; White v. Miller, 20-50; Wills v. Sugg, 25-96. Where negligence extended over period of two bonds, both liable: State v. Wall, 31-20.

CASES HAVING SLIGHT BEARING UPON SECTION: State v. James, 78-455; State v. Ferguson, 76-197; State v. Outland, 33-134; Williams v. Williamson, 28-281.

974. Special constables. For the better executing any precept or mandate in extraordinary cases, any justice of the peace may direct the same, in the absence of or for want of a constable, to any person not being a party, who shall be obliged to execute the same under like penalty that any constable would be liable to.

Rev., s. 935; Code, s. 645.

Justice can appoint a special constable hereunder: State v. Wynne, 118-1206; State v. Armistead, 106-639; State v. Dula, 100-424—and his decision is conclusive as to when case "extraordinary," State v. Wynne, 118-1206; State v. Armistead, 106-639; State v. Dula, 100-423—yet justice should state in special deputations that it is done for want of regular officer, State v. Dula, 100-423. The deputation should be in writing: State v. Cale, 150-805. Powers of special constable set forth in State v. Armistead, 106-639. Legality of prisoner's custody depends upon validity of deputation and not on sufficiency of mittimus: Ibid. Special officer must show warrant if demanded when making arrest: State v. Dula, 100-423.

Justice cannot appoint special constable in a civil action: McKee v. Angel, 90-60; Marsh v. Williams, 63-371; Garlick v. Jones, 48-404; but see Baker v. Brem, 127-322.

975. Vacancies in office. Upon the death, failure to qualify or removal of any constable out of the township in which he was elected or appointed constable, the board of commissioners may appoint another person to fill the vacancy, who shall be qualified and act until the next election of constables.

Rev., s. 936; Code, s. 646; R. C., c. 24, s. 6.

Vacancy filled by commissioners: King v. McLure, 84-153.

976. Powers and duties. Constables are hereby invested with and may execute the same power and authority as they have been by law heretofore vested with, and have executed; and, in discharge of their duties, they shall execute all precepts and processes of whatever nature to them directed by any justice of the peace or other competent authority within their county or upon any bay, river, or creek adjoining thereto; and the said precepts and processes shall be returned to the magistrate, or other proper authority.

Rev., s. 937; Code, s. 643; R. C., c. 24, s. 9.

For powers and duties of town constables, see section 2639. For liability upon official bond, see section 973.

A township constable has power to summon appraisers to lay off exemptions where execution issues from justice's court: McAuley v. Morris, 101-369—and to administer to them the oath, Ibid. Process addressed "to any constable" can be served by any constable of the county: Baker v. Brem, 127-324 (in dissenting opinion). A special constable, appointed as a "special constable" in writing, has general powers of a regular constable with reference to that case: State v. Armistead, 106-639. Judgment not rendered invalid by failure of constable to sign return: McElrath v. Butler, 29-398.

Township constable has no power to serve process not directed to him: McGloughan v. Mitchell, 126-682—nor to inquire into regularity of criminal process where jurisdiction exists and warrant otherwise valid, State v. Furguson, 76-197; Welch v. Scott, 27-72—nor to serve case on appeal to supreme court, Forte v. Boone, 114-176—nor warrant of attachment issued by superior court, Carson v. Woodrow, 160-144.

977. To execute notices within justice's jurisdiction. Constables shall likewise execute, within the places aforesaid, all notices tendered to them which are required by law to be given for the commencement or in the prosecution of any cause before a justice of the peace; and the service thereof shall be made by delivering a copy to the person to be notified or by leaving a copy at his usual place of abode, if in the jurisdiction of the constable, which service, with the time thereof, he shall return on the notice, and such return shall be evidence of its service. On demand they shall deliver the notice to the party at whose instance it was issued.

Rev., s. 938; Code, s. 644; R. C., c. 24, s. 10.

Removal of constables, see Art. 2, under Offices and Public Officers.

See, also, section 482. Constable cannot serve case on appeal to supreme court: Forte v. Boone, 114-176—nor a warrant of attachment issued by superior court, Carson v. Woodrow, 160-144.

CHAPTER 17

CONTEMPT

- 978. Contempts enumerated; common law repealed.
- 979. Appeal from judgment of guilty.
- 980. Solicitor or attorney-general to appear for the court.
- 981. Punishment.
- 982. Summary punishment for direct contempt.
- 983. Courts and officers empowered to punish.
- 984. Indirect contempt; order to show cause.
- 985. Acts punishable as for contempt.
- 986. Trial of proceedings in contempt.

978. Contempts enumerated; common law repealed. Any person guilty of any of the following acts may be punished for contempt:

Power to commit or fine for contempt is essential to the existence of every court: State v. Little, 175-743; In re Brown, 168-417; Ex parte McCown, 139-104; Scott v. Fishblate, 117-265; In re Deaton, 105-59; State v. Woodfin, 27-199. Contempt itself and the history of punishment for contempt reviewed in Ex parte McCown, 139-104. Whenever the law affords any other adequate remedy, proceeding by attachment for contempt is in discretion of the court: Murray v. Berry, 113-46. Advice of counsel no excuse for contempt: Green v. Griffin, 95-55—except where it is directed to the interpretation of the court's mandate, Ibid. Punishment for contempt no bar to indictment: In re Griffin, 98-225; State v. Woodfin, 27-199. Practice explained and sufficiency of defense considered: Kane v. Haywood, 66-1. One prima facie guilty may be required to pay costs, though rule discharged: Bond v. Bond, 69-97. Proceeding for contempt cannot be withdrawn in superior court after appeal nor in supreme court by one creditor where there are other creditors with rights to be protected: Bristol v. Pearson, 109-718. Where motion to attach for contempt refused it is a bar to further proceedings upon same facts: Wilson v. Craige, 113-463. Officer sending person to jail for contempt not civilly liable even though he did it maliciously and erroneously: Scott v. Fishblate, 117-265. Receiver not punishable for contempt for refusing to turn over property to appointee of another court until question of priority decided: Worth v. Bank, 121-343. Where respondent appeared before judge outside of the district and answered, he will be deemed to have waived venue: Herring v. Pugh, 126-852.

1. Disorderly, contemptuous, or insolent behavior committed during the sitting of any court of justice, in immediate view and presence of the court, and directly tending to interrupt its proceedings, or to impair the respect due to its authority.

Judge assaulted while away from courthouse during term of court: Ex parte McCown, 139-95. Disorderly behavior in court: State v. Mott, 49-449. Fighting in presence of court: State v. Woodfin, 27-199. What constitutes "in presence of court" discussed in Ex parte McCown, 139-95. Assault upon a witness while attending court: State v. Little, 175-743.

2. Behavior of the like character committed in the presence of any referee or referees, while actually engaged in any trial or hearing pursuant to the order of any court, or in the presence of any jury while actually sitting for the trial of a cause, or upon any inquest or other proceeding authorized by law.

Contempt before referee punished by court appointing him: LaFontaine v. Underwriters, 83-132.

3. Any breach of the peace, noise or other disturbance directly tending to interrupt the proceedings of any court.

Fighting in presence of court: State v. Woodfin, 27-199. Disorderly behavior: State v. Mott, 49-449.

4. Willful disobedience of any process or order lawfully issued by any court.

Disobedience by party or person other than officer: In re R. R., 151-467; Davis v. Fiber Co., 150-84; In re Scarborough's Will, 139-423; Green v. Green, 130-578, 140-651, 143-406; Williamson v. Pender, 127-481; Herring v. Pugh, 126-852; Delozier v. Bird, 123-689; Shooting Club v. Thomas, 120-334; Childs v. Wiseman, 119-497; Wilson v. Craige, 113-463; Zimmerman v. Zimmerman, 113-432; Murray v. Berry, 113-46; Bristol v. Pearson, 109-718; Fleming v. Patterson, 99-404; Kron v. Smith, 96-386; Thompson v. Onley, 96-9; Green v. Griffin, 95-50; Young v. Rollins, 90-128; Boyett v. Vaughan, 89-27; Baker v. Cordon, 86-116; In re Walker, 82-95; In re Davis, 81-72; Pain v. Pain, 80-322; Daniel v. Owen, 72-340; Phillips v. Trezevant, 70-176; Bond v. Bond, 69-97; Morris v. Whitehead, 65-637; Wood v. Wood, 61-538; Pritchard v. Oldham, 53-439—by county commissioners, Cromartie v. Comrs., 87-134—by officer, In re Patterson, 99-407; Ex parte Summers, 27-149—by public administrator, In re Brinson, 73-278.

Cutting timber on land in violation of the order of court is contempt, though done under advice of counsel: Weston v. Lumber Co., 158-270. In willful disobedience the intent is not material: In re T. J. Parker, 177-463. A person may be in contempt for violating an injunction before it is served, if he knows of its being issued: Lodge v. Gibbs, 159-66.

Disobedience of mandamus, Cromartie v. Comrs., 87-134—of subpoena, State v. Aiken, 113-651. The act abolishing imprisonment for debt does not embrace cases of attachment for failure to obey order of court: Wood v. Wood, 61-538. Where language in order is plain, it is no defense to charge of disobedience of same that language was not understood: Baker v. Cordon, 86-116.

5. Resistance willfully offered by any person to the lawful order or process of any court.

6. The contumacious and unlawful refusal of any person to be sworn as a witness, or, when so sworn, the like refusal to answer any legal and proper interrogatory.

Witness refusing to answer questions in superior court: In re Briggs, 135-118—before commissioner to take examination, Fertilizer Co. v. Taylor, 112-145—before referee, LaFontaine v. Underwriters, 83-132.

7. The publication of grossly inaccurate reports of the proceedings in any court, about any trial, or other matter pending before said court, made with intent to misrepresent or to bring into contempt the said court; but no person can be punished as for a contempt in publishing a true, full and fair report of any trial, argument, decision or proceeding had in court.

Inaccurate report of proceedings of court, or criticism by newspaper: In re Robinson, 117-533; In re Deaton, 105-59; Ex parte Biggs, 64-202. Libelous matter by attorney about court: In re Moore, 63-398; Ex parte Biggs, 64-202. As to publications made by an attorney in his own newspaper: Ibid. Sworn answer is conclusive as to intent with which publication made: In re Robinson, 117-533; Ex parte Biggs, 64-202; In re Moore, 63-397. But publishing defamatory reports about the judge after adjournment of court cannot be punished summarily: In re Brown, 168-417.

8. Misbehavior of any officer of the court in any official transaction.

Attorney's failure to pay over money collected for client: Kane v. Haywood, 66-1. Negligence of attorney in conduct of case: Robins, ex parte, 63-312. Where justice of the peace defaces appeal bond and refuses to make return, held misdemeanor, but not contempt: Weaver v. Hamilton, 47-343. Refusal of clerk superior court to send up record: Te-Gan-Tossee v. Rogers, 9-567.

The several acts, neglects and omissions of duty, malfeasances, misfeasances, and nonfeasances, above specified and described, shall be the only acts, neglects and omissions of duty, malfeasances, misfeasances and nonfeasances which shall be the subject of contempt of court. And if there are any parts of the common law now in force in this state which recognized other acts, neglects, omissions of duty, malfeasances, misfeasances and nonfeasances besides those specified and described above, the same are hereby repealed and annulled.

Legislature cannot deprive courts of inherent right to punish for contempt committed in presence of court: In re Brown, 168-417; State v. Little, 175-743; Ex parte McCown, 139-95; In re Robinson, 117-533; In re Patterson, 99-418; In re Oldham, 89-26; Ex parte Schenck, 65-366—but constitutional inhibition is not infringed by legislature in specifying what acts shall constitute contempt: In re Oldham, 89-23. Where contempt not committed in presence of court legislature may regulate power of court: In re Robinson, 117-538; In re Oldham, 89-23.

Rev., s. 939; Code, s. 648; 1905, c. 449.

979. Appeal from judgment of guilty. Any person adjudged guilty of contempt under the preceding section has the right to appeal to the supreme court in the same manner as is provided for appeals in criminal actions, except for the contempts described and defined in subsections one, two, three, and six. Nor shall the right of appeal lie under subsections four and five if such contempt is committed in the presence of the court.

Rev., s. 939; Code, s. 648; 1905, c. 449.

Appeal does not lie where offense committed in presence of court: State v. Little, 175-743; Ex parte McCown, 139-95; In re Deaton, 105-59; Scott v. Fishplate, 117-265; Young v. Rollins, 90-131; In re Davis, 81-75; Biggs, ex parte, 64-202; State v. Mott, 49-449; State v. Woodfin, 27-199; Ex parte Summers, 27-153.

Appeal lies where offense not committed in presence of court: In re T. J. Parker, 177-463; In re Brown, 168-417; Ex parte McCown, 139-95; In re Deaton, 105-59; Cromartie v. Comrs., 85-211; In re Davis, 81-74; Ex parte Robins, 63-319.

980. Solicitor or attorney-general to appear for the court. In all cases where a rule for contempt is issued by any court, referee, or other officer, the solicitor shall appear for the court or other officer issuing the rule, and in case of appeal to the supreme court, the attorney-general shall appear for the court or other officer by whom the rule was issued.

Rev., s. 939; Code, s. 648; 1905, c. 449.

981. Punishment. Punishment for contempt for matters set forth in the preceding sections shall be by fine not to exceed two hundred and fifty dollars, or imprisonment not to exceed thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Rev., s. 940; Code, s. 649.

Punishment according to statute: In re T. J. Parker, 177-463; Ex parte McCown, 139-122; Scott v. Fishplate, 117-265; Zimmerman v. Zimmerman, 113-432; State v. Aiken, 113-651. Punishment contrary to statute: In re Deaton, 105-59; In re Patterson, 99-407; In re Walker, 82-95. Distinction between imprisonment to compel obedience to order of court and punishment for contempt in disobeying order pointed out: In re Patterson, 99-417; Cromartie v. Comrs., 85-211. Fine cannot be paid to party aggrieved, but must go to state: Morris v. Whitehead, 65-637; In re Rhodes, 65-518.

982. Summary punishment for direct contempt. Contempt committed in the immediate view and presence of the court may be punished summarily, but the court shall cause the particulars of the offense to be specified on the record, and a copy of the same to be attached to every committal, attachment or process in the nature of an execution founded on such judgment or order.

Rev., s. 941; Code, s. 650.

Right of court to punish summarily: State v. Little, 175-743; In re Brown, 168-417; Ex parte McCown, 139-95; In re Briggs, 135-141 (concurring opinion); Baker v. Cordon, 86-

120; State v. Mott, 49-449; Ex parte Summers, 27-152; State v. Yancey, 4-133—without giving respondent a jury trial, In re Deaton, 105-64; Baker v. Cordon, 86-120, and cases cited.

Facts found must be set out by judge: Ex parte McCown, 139-99; In re Deaton, 105-59; Young v. Rollins, 90-131; State v. Mott, 49-449—and such facts found by superior court judge are conclusive, In re T. J. Parker, 177-463; Ex parte McCown, 139-99; In re Deaton, 105-59; Young v. Rollins, 90-125—and are not reviewable except for purpose of passing upon sufficiency to warrant judgment, Green v. Green, 130-578—but facts found by inferior court may be reviewed on appeal by superior court, In re Deaton, 105-59; State v. Aiken, 113-653. Where court finds facts, reviewing tribunal on habeas corpus may say whether they constitute contempt: Ex parte Summers, 27-149.

983. Courts and officers empowered to punish. Every justice of the peace, referee, commissioner, clerk of the superior court, inferior court, criminal court, or judge of the superior court, or justice of the supreme court, or board of commissioners of each county, or corporation commissioner, has power to punish for contempt while sitting for the trial of causes or engaged in official duties.

Rev., s. 942; Code, ss. 651, 652.

Cases where punishment was properly within power of supreme court: In re Moore, 63-397—of judge of superior court, In re Brown, 168-417; State v. Little, 175-743; Ex parte McCown, 139-95; In re Briggs, 135-118; Williamson v. Pender, 127-487; Herring v. Pugh, 126-852; Shooting Club v. Thomas, 120-334; Childs v. Wiseman, 119-498; Murray v. Berry, 113-46; In re Patterson, 99-407; Thompson v. Onley, 96-10; Green v. Griffin, 95-50; Cromartie v. Comrs., 85-211; In re Walker, 82-95; In re Davis, 81-72; Bond v. Bond, 69-97; Morris v. Whitehead, 65-637; In re Rhodes, 65-518; Ex parte Biggs, 64-202; Ex parte Robins, 63-319; Ex parte Schenck, 65-353; State v. Mott, 49-449; State v. Woodfin, 27-199—of clerk superior court, In re Scarborough, 139-423; In re Brinson, 73-278—of mayor of town, Scott v. Fishblate, 117-265; State v. Aiken, 113-651; In re Deaton, 105-59.

Contempt committed before referee punished by court ordering reference: LaFontaine v. Underwriters, 83-132. Contempt before commissioner punished by court appointing same: Fertilizer Co. v. Taylor, 112-141.

984. Indirect contempt; order to show cause. When the contempt is not committed in the immediate presence of the court, or so near as to interrupt its business, proceedings thereupon shall be by an order directing the offender to appear, within reasonable time, and show cause why he should not be attached for contempt. At the time specified in the order the person charged with the contempt may appear and answer, and, if he fail to appear and show good cause why he should not be attached for the contempt charged, he shall be punished as provided in this chapter.

Rev., s. 943; Code, s. 653.

Procedure under this section: In re T. J. Parker, 177-463; In re Brown, 168-417; Ex parte McCown, 139-122; Bristol v. Pearson, 109-718; In re Deaton, 105-62; In re Davis, 81-72. Where answer negatives under oath intentional contempt, rule discharged: In re Robinson, 117-533; Kron v. Smith, 96-386; Boyett v. Vaughan, 89-27; Baker v. Cordon, 86-120; In re Walker, 82-95; Ex parte Biggs, 64-217; In re Moore, 63-398—but where it is in the power of party to obey order of court he cannot purge himself of contempt by answer disclaiming intention to commit: In re T. J. Parker, 177-463; Herring v. Pugh, 126-852; see Smith v. Smith, 92-304. Inability to comply with order of court, when made to appear, discharges rule: Boyett v. Vaughan, 89-27; Pain v. Pain, 80-325; Kane v. Haywood, 66-1.

Where tax is up to full constitutional limit, county commissioners are not in contempt for failure to pay debt as ordered: Cromartie v. Comrs., 87-134. Sufficiency of return of respondent to rule in order that it be discharged: Smith v. Smith, 92-304.

985. Acts punishable as for contempt. Every court of record has power to punish as for contempt when the act complained of was such as tended to defeat, impair, impede, or prejudice the rights or remedies of a party to an action then pending in court—

Proceedings should be based on affidavits: In re Odum, 133-250; In re Deaton, 105-59. Failure to base proceedings on affidavits is waived by contemnor being present and making answer to rule: In re Odum, 133-250. Judge must find facts and file same: Ibid. Disavowal of imputed intent relieves respondent only when intention is gravamen of offense: In re T. J. Parker, 177-643; In re Gorham, 129-489; In re Young, 137-552. Respondent has no right to jury trial: State v. Little, 175-743; In re Gorham, 129-481—and no right to have findings of fact of judge, there being evidence, reviewed on appeal: In re T. J. Parker, 177-743; In re Young, 137-552; In re Gorham, 129-481. Proceedings as for contempt apply only to civil actions, except subsections 4, 5 and 6: In re Deaton, 105-59.

1. Any clerk, sheriff, register, solicitor, attorney, counselor, coroner, constable, referee, or any other person in any manner selected or appointed to perform any ministerial or judicial service, for any neglect or violation of duty or any misconduct by which the rights or remedies of any party in a cause or matter pending in such court may be defeated, impaired, delayed, or prejudiced, for disobedience of any lawful order of any court or judge, or any deceit or abuse of any process or order of any such court or judge.

2. Parties to suits, attorneys, and all other persons for the nonpayment of any sum of money ordered by such court, in cases where execution cannot be awarded for the collection of the same.

3. All persons for assuming to be officers, attorneys or counselors of the court, and acting as such without authority, for receiving any property or person which may be in custody of any officer by virtue of any order or process of the court, for unlawfully detaining any witness or party to any suit, while going to, remaining at, or returning from the court where the same may be set for trial, or for the unlawful interference with the proceedings in any action.

Unlawful interference with proceedings by party: State v. Little, 175-743; State v. Moore, 146-653; In re Young, 137-552; In re Odum, 133-250; In re Oldham, 89-23—by attorney, In re Gorham, 129-481.

4. All persons summoned as witnesses in refusing or neglecting to obey such summons to attend, be sworn, or answer, as such witness.

Witness refusing to answer question before commissioner: Fertilizer Co. v. Taylor, 112-141.

5. Parties summoned as jurors for impropriety, conversing with parties or others in relation to an action to be tried at such court or receiving communication therefrom.

Juror conversing with party: In re Odum, 133-251; In re Gorham, 129-489.

6. All inferior magistrates, officers and tribunals for disobedience of any lawful order of the court, or for proceeding in any matter or cause contrary to law, after the same shall have been removed from their jurisdiction.

7. All other cases where attachments and proceedings as for contempt have been heretofore adopted and practiced in courts of record in this state to enforce the civil remedies or protect the rights of any party to an action.

Right of court to punish under this section: Cromartie v. Comrs., 85-215. Person in jail for contempt cannot be worked on roads: State v. Moore, 146-653.

Rev., s. 944; Code, ss. 654, 656.

Disobedience of order of court is punishable as for contempt, see Civil Procedure, s. 727.

986. Trial of proceedings in contempt. Proceedings as for contempt shall be prosecuted and carried on as provided in provisional remedies. In all proceedings for contempt and in proceedings as for contempt, the judge or other judicial officer who issues the rule or notice to the respondent may make the same returnable before some other judge or judicial officer. When the personal conduct of the judge or other judicial officer or his fitness to hold his judicial position is involved, it is his duty to make the rule or notice returnable before some other judge or officer. Nothing herein contained shall apply to any act or conduct committed in the presence of the court and tending to hinder or delay the due administration of the law, nor to proceedings for the disobedience of a judicial order rendered in any pending action.

Rev., s. 945; Code, s. 655; 1915, c. 4.

CHAPTER 18

CONTRACTS REQUIRING WRITING

- 987. Contracts charging representative personally; promise to answer for debt of another.
- 988. Contracts for sale of land; leases.
- 989. Contracts with Cherokee Indians.
- 990. Promise to revive debt of bankrupt.

987. Contracts charging representative personally; promise to answer for debt of another. No action shall be brought whereby to charge an executor, administrator or collector upon a special promise to answer damages out of his own estate or to charge any defendant upon a special promise to answer the debt, default or miscarriage of another person, unless the agreement upon which such action shall be brought, or some memorandum or note thereof, shall be in writing, and signed by the party charged therewith or some other person thereunto by him lawfully authorized.

Rev., s. 974; Code, s. 1552; R. C., c. 50, s. 15; 1826, c. 10; 29 Charles II, c. 3, s. 4.

PROMISES BY PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVES. A promise (not in writing) by an administrator that he would see a debt of his testator paid, or would pay it, is void hereunder: Smithwick v. Shepherd, 49-196—for such a promise to bind administrator or executor personally must be in writing and supported by a consideration, McLean v. McLean, 88-396—and the consideration must be a benefit to the executor, or an injury to the creditor, one founded on forbearance or the possession of assets, Williams v. Chaffin, 13-333; Sleighter v. Harrington, 6-332; McLean v. McLean, 88-396; Banking Co. v. Morehead, 122-318.

A personal representative who executes a note, without qualification or reservation as to personal liability, for a debt of deceased, is personally liable even though signing note as “executor” or “administrator”: Banking Co. v. Morehead, 124-622, 122-318, 116-410, 116-413; McLean v. McLean, 88-396, and cases cited; see, also, Leroy v. Jacobosky, 136-450. Agreement of administrator to pay debt of intestate out of assets of intestate’s estate is not within this section: Norton v. Edwards, 66-369.

PROMISES TO ANSWER FOR DEBT OF ANOTHER. As to whether words used amount to a promise to answer for debt, default, or miscarriage of another, or amount to an original obligation on the part of promisor, see Peele v. Powell, 156-553; Jenkins v. Holley, 140-379; Sheppard v. Newton, 139-535; Garrett-Williams Co. v. Hamill, 131-57; White v. Tripp, 125-523; Rowland v. Barnes, 81-234; Morrison v. Baker, 81-76; Neal v. Bellamy, 73-384; Smithwick v. Shepherd, 49-196. Promise to answer for debt, default, or miscarriage of another must be in writing: Sheppard v. Newton, 139-535; Garrett-Williams Co. v. Hamill, 131-57; Rowland v. Barnes, 81-234; Scott v. Bryan, 73-582; Britton v. Thraikill, 50-330.

New parol contract to pay debt of another superadded to original cause of action which remains in force is void: Handle Co. v. Plumbing Co., 171-495; Holland v. Hartley, 171-376; Peele v. Powell, 156-553; Haun v. Burrell, 119-544; Horne v. Bank, 108-109; Combs v. Harshaw, 63-198; Stanly v. Hendricks, 35-86; Rogers v. Rogers, 51-300; Britton v. Thraikill, 50-330; Draughan v. Bunting, 31-10—and this is so even though it be founded upon a consideration, Combs v. Harshaw, 63-198; approved in Haun v. Burrell, 119-544. Where one had claim against three distributees on account of assets received from intestate’s estate, and they jointly promised verbally to pay debt, such promise being to answer for liability of another is void: Hill v. Doughty, 33-195. Oral promise by married woman to answer for debt of husband cannot be enforced against her separate personal estate: Coffey v. Shuler, 112-622. Parol promise by husband to pay for lands settled by third persons on his wife and children void under section: Bagley v. Sasser, 55-350.

The statute does not apply to a promise to pay the debt of another where the original debtor is discharged and the promisor becomes the sole debtor: Parker v. Daniels, 159-518; Whitehurst v. Padgett, 157-424; Peele v. Powell, 156-553; Jenkins v. Holley, 140-379; Sheppard v. Newton, 139-533; White v. Tripp, 125-523; Draughan v. Bunting, 31-10.

The statute does not apply when the promise is based upon some new and original consideration moving between the creditor and the promisor, as to pay his own debt or to protect a right: Charlotte v. Alexander, 173-515; Handle Co. v. Plumbing Co., 171-495; Springs v. Cole, 171-418; Holland v. Hartley, 171-376; Price v. Harrington, 171-132; Whitehurst v. Padgett, 157-424; Rogers v. Lumber Co., 154-108; Hospital v. Hobbs, 153-188; s. c., 157-460; Deaver v. Deaver, 137-240; Whitehurst v. Hyman, 90-487; Mason v. Wilson, 84-51; Hockaday v. Parker, 53-16; Rowland v. Rorke, 49-339; Stanly v. Hendricks, 35-86; Shaver v. Adams, 32-14; Ashford v. Robinson, 30-114; Cooper v. Chambers, 15-261.

The statute does not apply to a promise made to the debtor himself: Deaver v. Deaver, 137-240; Haun v. Burrell, 119-544; as where A promises B to pay him $100 if he will buy C's land, Little v. McCarter, 89-233; or where the purchaser of land agrees, as a part of the price, to pay the vendor's debt, Satterfield v. Kindley, 144-455; Rice v. Carter, 33-298.

The statute does not apply to a promise to pay the debt of another out of the debtor's property in the promisor's hands: Voorhees v. Porter, 134-591; Mason v. Wilson, 84-51; Threadgill v. McLendon, 76-24; Stanly v. Hendricks, 35-86; Draughan v. Bunting, 31-10.

The statute does not apply when credit is given to a promisor alone, or to him jointly with another as principals: Ford v. Moore, 175-260; Whitehurst v. Padgett, 157-424; Peele v. Powell, 156-553.

The statute applies to contracts of guaranty: Gilmer v. Improvement Co., 170-452; Partin v. Prince, 159-553; Supply Co. v. Finch, 147-106; but not where it is in the nature of an original obligation of the promisor, Marrow v. White, 151-96; Adcock v. Fleming, 19-225. Indemnity contracts are within the statute: Draughan v. Bunting, 31-10; Martin v. McNeely, 101-634.

A consideration is necessary; if the promise is made at the time of the original contract, the original consideration is sufficient; if made later, a new consideration is required: Craig v. Stewart, 163-531; Peele v. Powell, 156-553. The consideration may be proved by parol: Supply Co. v. Person, 154-456; Haun v. Burrell, 119-544; Ashford v. Robinson, 30-116; Nichols v. Bell, 46-32.

The defendant may take advantage of the statute by a general denial, by setting up a different contract, or by admitting the contract and specially pleading the statute: Winders v. Hill, 144-614; Jordan v. Furnace Co., 126-143; Haun v. Burrell, 119-544; Browning v. Berry, 107-231; Morrison v. Baker, 81-76. For what is sufficient writing to comply with the statute, see cases cited under section 988.

Section merely referred to: Hemphill v. Annis, 119-515; Kelly v. McNeill, 118-354; Miller v. Irvine, 18-105.

988. Contracts for sale of land; leases. All contracts to sell or convey any lands, tenements or hereditaments, or any interest in or concerning them, and all leases and contracts for leasing land for the purpose of digging for gold or other minerals, or for mining generally, of whatever duration; and all other leases and contracts for leasing lands exceeding in duration three years from the making thereof, shall be void unless said contract, or some memorandum or note thereof, be put in writing and signed by the party to be charged therewith, or by some other person by him thereto lawfully authorized.

Rev., s. 976; Code, ss. 1554, 1743; R. C., c. 50, s. 11; 29 Ch. II, c. 3, ss. 1, 2, 3; 1819, c. 1016; 1844, c. 44; 1868, c. 156, ss. 2, 33.

English statute of frauds is not in force in this state except so far as it has been enacted here: Odom v. Clark, 146-544. Legislature has power to modify or repeal the whole of the statute of frauds in so far as it relates to future contracts for sale of land; it has no authority to give repealing statute a retroactive operation so as to affect or destroy vested rights: Lowe v. Harris, 112-472.

CONTRACTS WITHIN THE STATUTE. All executory contracts for the sale of land or any interest therein, legal or equitable: Poe v. Smith, 172-67; Kelly v. McNeill, 118-349; Dover v. Rhea, 108-88; Perkins v. Presnell, 100-220; Wilkie v. Womble, 90-254; Holmes v. Holmes, 86-205. Conveyances of real estate or any interest in or concerning same: Hall v. Misenheimer, 137-186; Drake v. Howell, 133-165; Presnell v. Garrison, 121-366; Buckner v. Anderson, 111-577; Cox v. Ward, 107-511; Neaves v. Mining Co., 90-413; Young v. Young,

CONTRACTS NOT WITHIN THE STATUTE. Executed contracts: Rogers v. Lumber Co., 154-108; Brinkley v. Brinkley, 128-503; McManus v. Tarleton, 126-790; Hall v. Fisher, 126-205; Smith v. Arthur, 110-400; Farmer v. Willard, 71-284; Massey v. Holland, 25-197; Bridges v. Purcell, 18-494; Choat v. Wright, 13-289. Leases of land for three years or less: Smithdeal v. McAdoo, 172-700; Alexander v. Morris, 145-22; Teal v. Templeton, 149-32. Contract to cut and deliver wood: Ives v. R. R., 142-131; Green v. R. R., 73-524. Contract to cut and haul timber for another: Sumner v. Lumber Co., 175-654; Midyette v. Grubbs, 145-85; Thomas v. Merrill, 169-623. Timber cut on land: Lumber Co. v. Brown, 160-281. A contract to withdraw claim to cut standing timber, which claim was acquired by parol, in consideration of a release of all damages for trespass alleged: York v. Westall, 143-276. Contract to make bricks on land of another, title to bricks to remain in owner of soil until paid for clay and wood used in manufacture: Brown v. Morris, 83-251. Contracts concerning growing crops: Flynt v. Conrad, 61-190; Walton v. Jordan, 65-170; Bond v. Coke, 71-100; Brittain v. McKay, 23-265. Agreements made at time of execution of deed that vendor would make good any deficiency in acreage: Stern v. Benbow, 151-460; Currie v. Hawkins, 118-593; McGee v. Craven, 106-351—or would refund pro rata part of purchase money if acreage fell short, Sherrill v. Hagan, 92-345. Contract to pay one-half of amount for which a mineral interest may be sold: Michael v. Foil, 100-178; or a part of the proceeds of a resale of the land, Buie v. Kennedy, 164-291; Brown v. Hobbs, 147-73; Bourne v. Sherrill, 143-381; Sprague v. Bond, 108-382. Contract to pay for improvements on the land: Ferrell v. Mining Co., 176-475; Houston v. Sledge, 101-640. A promise to pay a person a specific sum if he will purchase another's land: Little v. McCarter, 89-233. An agreement to release a mortgage: Hemmings v. Doss, 125-400. An agreement to rescind a contract for land if acted upon by the parties: Taylor v. Taylor, 112-27; Holden v. Purefoy, 108-163; Miller v. Pierce, 104-389; Faw v. Whittington, 72-321.

Authority to sell land need not be in writing: Smith v. Browne, 132-365; Neaves v. Mining Co., 90-412; Blacknall v. Parish, 59-70. Contract for compensation for services in selling land: Lamb v. Baxter, 130-67; Abbott v. Hunt, 129-403; but a contract to receive land as compensation should be in writing, Faireloth v. Kenlaw, 165-228. The statute does not apply to agreements for party walls: Reid v. King, 158-85; nor to partnership agreements for trading in land, Robinson v. Daughtry, 171-200; Brogden v. Gibson, 165-16; Buie v. Kennedy, 164-291; Brown v. Hobbs, 147-73. A mere license as distinguished from an easement: Kivett v. McKeithan, 90-106; McCracken v. McCracken, 88-272. A transfer of a judgment which is a lien on land: Winberry v. Koonce, 83-351.

As to sale of fixtures, see State v. Martin, 141-832; Overman v. Sasser, 107-432; Cowell v. Ins. Co., 126-684; R. R. v. Deal, 90-110; Bond v. Coke, 71-97. That the statute does not apply to judicial sales, see Hudson v. Coble, 97-260; nor to sales under execution, Tate v. Greenlee, 15-149; but see Woodruff v. Trust Co., 173-546.

Parol trusts declared at or before the transfer of title are valid; so are resulting trusts and constructive trusts, which arise by operation of law: Rush v. McPherson, 176-562; Williams v. Honeycutt, 176-102; Wilson v. Jones, 176-205; Pritchard v. Williams, 175-319; Allen v. Gooding, 173-93; Ballard v. Boyette, 171-24; Lutz v. Hoyle, 167-632; Brogden v. Gibson, 165-16; Jones v. Jones, 164-320; Anderson v. Harrington, 163-140; Taylor v. Wahab, 154-219; Russell v. Wade, 146-116; Avery v. Stewart, 136-426; Owens v. Williams, 130-165; Gorrell v. Alspaugh, 120-367; Kelly v. McNeill, 118-349; Cobb v. Edwards, 117-244; Hamilton v. Buchanan, 112-463; Blount v. Washington, 108-231; Dover v. Rhea, 108-88; Pittman v. Pittman, 107-159; Cohn v. Chapman, 62-92; Riggs v. Swann, 59-118; Shelton v. Shelton, 58-292; Hanff v. Howard, 56-440; Cousins v. Wall, 56-43; Cloninger v. Summit, 55-513. But a parol trust in favor of the grantor is invalid: Walters v. Walters, 171-312, 172-328; Campbell v. Sigmon, 170-348; Trust Co. v. Sterchie, 169-21; Cavanaugh v. Jarman, 164-372; Jones v. Jones, 164-320; Ricks v. Wilson, 154-282; Gaylord v. Gaylord, 150-222.

Other parts of section 4 and section 17 of the English statute of frauds have not been adopted in this state. Contracts in consideration of marriage, unless the contract concerns land: Montgomery v. Henderson, 56-113. Contracts not to be performed within a year; sales of goods, wares and merchandise on credit: Hurlburt v. Simpson, 25-233. Sales of liquor on credit for over $10 required to be in writing: Covington v. Threadgill, 88-186 (Rev., 977, not brought forward).

WHAT IS SUFFICIENT MEMORANDUM. There must be a writing signed by party to be charged therewith or by his agent thereto lawfully authorized, showing the parties and expressly or by implication all material terms of contract: Hall v. Misenheimer, 137-186, and cases there cited; Burriss v. Starr, 165-657; Flowe v. Hartwick, 167-448; Mayer v. Adrian, 77-83. The memorandum must be signed by party to be charged, the defendant in an action to enforce the contract: Lewis v. Murray, 177-17; Love v. Harris, 156-88; Davis v. Martin, 146-281; Lumber Co. v. Corey, 140-462; Hall v. Misenheimer, 137-183; Love v. Atkinson, 131-544; Davidson v. Land Co., 126-704; Hall v. Fisher, 126-205; MaGee v. Blankenship, 95-563; Green v. R. R., 77-95; Mizell v. Burnett, 49-249; Edwards v. Kelly, 53-69. A memorandum or note of a contract may be signed by one in the name of his principal or by agent in his own name without being thereunto authorized in writing: Blacknall v. Parish, 59-70; Neaves v. Mining Co., 90-415; Washburn v. Washburn, 39-311; Oliver v. Dix, 21-165; Phillips v. Hooker, 62-191; Flowe v. Hartwick, 167-448; but one party cannot be agent for the other, Asbury v. Mauney, 173-454. An auctioneer is agent of both vendor and purchaser to bind them to the contract: Woodruff v. Trust Co., 173-546; Love v. Harris, 156-88; Proctor v. Finley, 119-536; Mayer v. Adrian, 77-83; Gwathmey v. Cason, 74-5; Cherry v. Long, 61-466. It seems that the auctioneer should sign the writing at the time of the transaction: Love v. Harris, 156-88; Dickerson v. Simmons, 141-325.

What is sufficient signing: Burriss v. Starr, 165-657; Wellman v. Horn, 157-170; Love v. Harris, 156-88; Hall v. Misenheimer, 137-183; Proctor v. Finley, 119-536; Hargrove v. Adcock, 111-166; Devereux v. McMahon, 108-134; Cherry v. Long, 61-466; Plummer v. Owens' Admrs., 45-254; Washburn v. Washburn, 39-306; Oliver v. Dix, 21-165. Signing the minutes of a corporate meeting by the secretary is not sufficient to bind the individual stockholders: Asbury v. Mauney, 173-454.

The writing should describe the property sufficiently to be identified, and this does not exclude parol evidence: Lewis v. Murray, 177-17; Stockard v. Warren, 175-283; Bateman v. Hopkins, 157-470; Improvement Co. v. Guthrie, 116-381; Lowe v. Harris, 112-472; Fortescue v. Crawford, 105-29; Gordon v. Collett, 102-532; Thornburg v. Masten, 88-293; Capps v. Holt, 58-153; Murdock v. Anderson, 57-77. A valid contract may be on one or more papers, provided they are so connected physically or by internal reference that there can be no uncertainty as to their meaning and effect when taken together: Mfg. Co. v. Hendricks, 106-492;

Gordon v. Collett, 102-532; Mayer v. Adrian, 77-83. A letter referring to a deed which is enclosed is sufficient: McLendon v. Ebbs, 173-603. Indorsing and using a check is not sufficient writing for a contract to convey an easement: Leach v. Lumber Co., 159-532. A draft signed by an agent in payment for mineral for which deed was delivered binds the principal, though not named: Neaves v. Mining Co., 90-412. A note or other personal security given for the purchase money by the purchaser is sufficient: Ibid.; Hargrove v. Adeock, 111-166. Recitals in a letter where proof could be made without resorting to parol evidence is sufficient: Neaves v. Mining Co., 90-412; Mizell v. Burnett, 49-254. A writing signed and sealed by the owner of land, with name of bargainee blank, and left with agent to complete by filling out the blanks, may be sufficient as a contract to convey: Blacknall v. Parish, 59-70. A receipt by the vendor reciting that the purchaser had paid a part of the price for certain land is sufficient to bind the vendor, but not the purchaser unless it specifies the amount to be paid: Hall v. Misenheimer, 137-183. An assignment written on a lease is sufficient: Alexander v. Morris, 145-22.

A consideration is necessary, but it need not appear in the writing: Lewis v. Murray, 177-17; Bateman v. Hopkins, 157-470; Hall v. Misenheimer, 137-183; Hargrove v. Adeock, 111-166; Tunstall v. Cobb, 109-325; Mfg. Co. v. Hendricks, 106-493; Neaves v. Mining Co., 90-412; Green v. Thornton, 49-230. A seal is not necessary: Stephens v. Midyette, 161-323; Mitchell v. Bridgers, 113-63; Simmons v. Spruill, 56-9. An undelivered deed may be sufficient evidence of the contract: Pope v. McPhail, 173-238; Vinson v. Pugh, 173-189; Flowe v. Hartwick, 167-448; MaGee v. Blankenship, 95-563. Since the writing is evidence of the contract, the writing may be made afterward: MaGee v. Blankenship, 95-563.

EFFECT OF FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH STATUTE. The contract is not void, but voidable: Henry v. Hilliard, 155-372; Williams v. Lumber Co., 118-928; Improvement Co. v. Guthrie, 116-381; Loughran v. Giles, 110-423; Gordon v. Collett, 104-381; Dail v. Freeman, 92-351; Syme v. Smith, 92-338. The contract may be enforced unless the party to be charged takes advantage of the statute: Henry v. Hilliard, 155-372; Cowell v. Ins. Co., 126-684; Hemmings v. Doss, 125-400; Williams v. Lumber Co., 118-928; Hall v. Lewis, 118-510; Loughran v. Giles, 110-423; Pitt v. Moore, 98-85; Thigpen v. Staton, 104-40; Kenner v. Mfg. Co., 91-421; Clancy v. Craine, 17-365. The contract can be proved only by the writing: Williams v. Lumber Co., 118-928; Morrison v. Baker, 81-76.

The defendant in an action to enforce the contract may take advantage of the statute by denying the contract, by setting up another and different contract, or by admitting the contract and specially pleading the statute: Henry v. Hilliard, 155-372; Miller v. Monazite Co., 152-608; Luton v. Badham, 127-96; Jordan v. Furnace Co., 126-143; North v. Bunn, 122-768; Haun v. Burrell, 119-544; Williams v. Lumber Co., 118-928; Hall v. Lewis, 118-509; Vann v. Newsom, 110-122; Browning v. Berry, 107-231; Fortescue v. Crawford, 105-29; Thigpen v. Staton, 104-40; Holler v. Richards, 102-545; Guley v. Macy, 84-434; Young v. Young, 81-91; Bonham v. Craig, 80-224; Barnes v. Brown, 71-507; Allen v. Chambers, 39-125; Dunn v. Moore, 38-364; Ellis v. Ellis, 16-341. The defendant cannot take advantage of the statute by demurrer: Loughran v. Giles, 110-423; Hemmings v. Doss, 125-400. The defendant may be estopped by his conduct to plead the statute: Alston v. Connell, 140-485. Third persons, strangers to the contract, cannot take advantage of the statute: Plaster Co. v. Plaster Co., 156-455; Cowell v. Ins. Co., 126-684; Parker v. Allen, 84-466; Davis v. Insoce, 84-396. If either party is bound in writing he cannot take advantage of the statute as against the other, who may not be bound; the vendor may repudiate the contract when sued or sue for the land; the purchaser may repudiate when sued, but cannot sue to recover his money when the vendor is willing to convey or is bound in writing: Brown v. Hobbs, 154-544; Love v. Atkinson, 131-544; Davis v. Yelton, 127-348; Davison v. Land Co., 126-704; McNeill v. Fuller, 121-209; Syme v. Smith, 92-338; Simms v. Killian, 34-252; Clancy v. Craine, 17-363.

Action for damages for the nonperformance of a parol contract for purchase of land cannot be sustained: McCracken v. McCracken, 88-272; Wade v. Newbern, 77-460. Memorandum must be sufficient under the statute before specific performance can be had: Mayer v. Adrian, 77-86; Lumber Co. v. Corey, 140-462; Hall v. Misenheimer, 137-183; Love v. Atkinson, 131-544; Vick v. Vick, 126-126; Davison v. Land Co., 126-704; Wooten v. Walters, 110-251; Hall v. Fisher, 126-205; Fortescue v. Crawford, 105-29; MaGee v. Blankenship, 95-563; Capps v. Holt, 58-153; Campbell v. Campbell, 55-364; Plummer v. Owens' Admrs., 45-254; Allen v. Chambers, 39-125; Ledford v. Ferrell, 34-285. Contract in writing to sell land signed by vendor is good against him although the correlative obligation of buyer to pay price is not in writing and cannot be enforced: Mizell v. Burnett, 49-249; Lumber Co. v. Corey, 140-462; Imp. Co. v. Guthrie, 116-381; Hargrove v. Adeock, 111-166; Love v. Welch, 97-200; Kelly v. Edwards, 53-71. A parol waiver of a written contract within statute of frauds amounting to complete abandonment and clearly proven will bar specific performance: Holden v. Purefoy, 108-167, and cases cited; Miller v. Pierce, 104-389. The court will not correct an executory contract under the statute by enlarging the subject-matter and then grant specific performance as corrected: Davis v. Ely, 104-16.

The doctrine of part performance is not in force in this state; but when the vendor repudiates the contract the purchaser may recover the money paid and have the land charged with the value of improvements less rents and profits: Ballard v. Boyette, 171-24; Rhea v. Craig, 141-602; Ford v. Stroud, 150-362; Hall v. Misenheimer, 137-183; Love v. Atkinson, 131-544; Luton v. Badham, 127-96; Pass v. Brooks, 125-129; North v. Bunn, 122-766; Rumbough v. Young, 119-567; Field v. Moody, 111-353; Vann v. Newsom, 110-122; Tucker v. Markland, 101-422; Pitt v. Moore, 99-85; Hedgepeth v. Rose, 95-41; Thomas v. Kyles, 54-302; Love v. Neilson, 54-339; Barnes v. Teague, 54-277; Plummer v. Owens' Admr., 45-254; Chambers v. Massey, 42-286; Allen v. Chambers, 39-125; Dunn v. Moore, 38-364; Albea v. Griffin, 22-9; Lyon v. Crissman, 22-268; Ellis v. Ellis, 16-345. The measure of compensation is the enhanced value of the property: North v. Bunn, 128-196; Daniel v. Crumpler, 75-184. The right of the parol vendee is not under the contract nor to have the vendor declared a trustee, but to have compensation: Wood v. Tinsley, 138-507; Kelly v. Johnson, 135-647. The vendor cannot enforce a parol contract for land by a motion to discharge a judgment as part of the price: Brown v. Hobbs, 154-544.

Section merely referred to in Smith v. Smith, 60-583; Higdon v. Rice, 119-625; Edwards v. Kelly, 53-69; Brown v. Comrs., 63-515; Hinsdale v. Thornton, 75-382.

989. Contracts with Cherokee Indians. All contracts and agreements of every description made with any Cherokee Indian, or any person of Cherokee Indian blood within the second degree, for an amount equal to ten dollars or more, shall be void, unless some note or memorandum thereof be made in writing and signed by such Indian or person of Indian blood, or some other person by him authorized, in the presence of two witnesses, who shall also subscribe the same: Provided, that this section shall not apply to any person of Cherokee Indian blood or any Cherokee Indian who understands the English language and who can speak and write the same intelligently.

Section applies as well where contract between two Indians as when one of parties white: State v. Tachanatah, 64-615; Lovingood v. Smith, 52-601. As bearing upon section, see Rogers v. Kinsey, 101-561; Rollins v. Cherokees, 87-248. For history of legislation as to Cherokee Indians, see Frazier v. Cherokee Indians, 146-477.

990. Promise to revive debt of bankrupt. No promise to pay a debt discharged by any decree of a court of competent jurisdiction, in any proceeding in bankruptcy, shall be received in evidence unless such promise is in writing and signed by the party to be charged therewith.

Rev., s. 978; 1899, c. 57.

Contracts in restraint of trade are required to be in writing, see Monopolies and Trusts, s. 2562.

Promises to repel the statute of limitations must be in writing, see Civil Procedure, s. 416.

Promise to pay debt discharged in bankruptcy does not revive original contract so as to reinvest it with actionable quality, but only recognizes it as consideration to support new promise: Fraley v. Kelly, 88-227. As plea of discharge in bankruptcy is personal defense to be set up by debtor or his representative, it may be withdrawn at any time: Lee v. Eure, 93-5.

CHAPTER 19
CONVEYANCES

ART. 1. CONSTRUCTION AND SUFFICIENCY.

- 991. Fee presumed, though word "heirs" omitted.
- 992. Vagueness of description not to invalidate.
- 993. Conveyances to slaves.
- 994. Conveyances by infant trustees.
- 995. Official deed, when official selling or empowered to sell is not in office.
- 996. Revocation of deeds of future interests made to persons not in esse.

ART. 2. CONVEYANCES BY HUSBAND AND WIFE.

- 997. Instruments affecting married woman's title; husband to execute; privy examination.
- 998. Acknowledgment at different times and places; before different officers; order immaterial.
- 999. Absence of wife's examination does not affect deed as to husband.
- 1000. Officers authorized to take privy examination.
- 1001. Innocent purchaser not affected by fraud in treaty, if privy examination regular.
- 1002. Power of attorney of married woman.
- 1003. Wife need not join in purchase-money mortgage.
- 1004. Wife insane, husband's deed transfers her interest.

ART. 3. FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES.

- 1005. Conveyance with intent to defraud creditors void.
- 1006. Conveyance with intent to defraud purchasers void.
- 1007. Voluntary conveyance evidence of fraud as to existing creditors.
- 1008. Marriage settlements void as to existing creditors.
- 1009. Purchasers for value and without notice protected.
- 1010. Bona fide purchaser of mortgaged property not affected by illegal consideration of note secured.
- 1011. Bona fide purchaser of fraudulently conveyed property treated as creditor.
- 1012. Persons aiding debtor to remove to defraud creditors liable for debts.
- 1013. Sales in bulk presumed fraudulent.

ART. 1. CONSTRUCTION AND SUFFICIENCY

991. Fee presumed, though word "heirs" omitted. When real estate is conveyed to any person, the same shall be held and construed to be a conveyance in fee, whether the word "heirs" is used or not, unless such conveyance in plain and express words shows, or it is plainly intended by the conveyance or some part thereof, that the grantor meant to convey an estate of less dignity.

Rev., s. 946; Code, s. 1280; 1879, c. 148.

Deed and registry of conveyance destroyed, presumed to convey fee simple, see Evidence, s. 1766.

This section, act of 1879, provides same rule of construction for deeds as was provided for devises under act of 1784, now s. 4162: Vickers v. Leigh, 104-257. Word "heirs" not necessary to create fee: Gray v. Hawkins, 133-5; Jarvis v. Davis, 99-40; Cullens v. Cullens, 161-344—and conveyances without word "heirs" construed to be in fee, Fulbright v. Yoder, 113-457; Starnes v. Hill, 112-25—unless contrary intention plainly appears, Fulbright v. Yoder, 113-457; Sprinkle v. Spainhour, 149-223. Deed to trustee construed to carry fee: Braddy v. Dail, 156-30, and see below.

AS TO CONVEYANCES PRIOR TO THIS ENACTMENT. The word "heirs" indispensable to convey fee: Cedar Works v. Lumber Co., 168-391; Cullens v. Cullens, 161-344; Boggan v. Somers, 152-390; Smith v. Proctor, 139-314; Allen v. Baskerville, 123-127; Ray v. Comrs., 110-171; Batchelor v. Whitaker, 88-350; Stell v. Barham, 87-66; Register v. Rowell, 48-312; Snell v. Young, 25-379; Wiggs v. Saunders, 20-618; Roberts v. Forsythe, 14-26—except in devises and equitable estates where clear intent to pass fee, Smith v. Proctor, 139-314, and cases cited; Vickers v. Leigh, 104-248; Holmes v. Holmes, 86-205. For cases wherein question arises as to whether word ‘heirs’ is so located in deed as to comply with rule creating fee simple, see Real Estate Co. v. Bland, 152-225; Triplett v. Williams, 149-394; Smith v. Proctor, 139-314; Mitchell v. Mitchell, 108-542; Anderson v. Logan, 105-266; Winborne v. Downing, 105-20; Staton v. Mullis, 92-623; Graybeal v. Davis, 95-508; Hicks v. Bullock, 96-164; Bunn v. Wells, 94-67; Ricks v. Pulliam, 94-225; Stell v. Barham, 87-62; Phillips v. Thompson, 73-543; Phillips v. Davis, 69-117; Waugh v. Miller, 75-127; Allen v. Bowen, 74-155; Armfield v. Walker, 27-580. Intention of grantor to be considered in interpretation: Smith v. Proctor, 139-314; Fulbright v. Yoder, 113-456; Vickers v. Leigh, 104-248; Hicks v. Bullock, 96-164; Ricks v. Pulliam, 94-225; Winborne v. Downing, 105-20; Bunn v. Wells, 94-67.

Intention now gathered from whole deed without dissecting it into technical parts as at common law: Guilford v. Porter, 167-366; Triplett v. Williams, 149-394.

Section referred to: Sharpe v. Brown, 177-294; Holloway v. Green, 167-91; College v. Riddle, 165-211; Ruffin v. R. R., 151-330; Griffin v. Thomas, 128-317; Jenkins v. Daniels, 125-170.

992. Vagueness of description not to invalidate. No deed or other writing purporting to convey land or an interest in land shall be declared void for vagueness in the description of the thing intended to be granted by reason of the use of the word “adjoining” instead of the words “bounded by,” or for the reason that the boundaries given do not go entirely around the land described: Provided, it can be made to appear to the satisfaction of the jury that the grantor owned at the time of the execution of such deed or paper-writing no other land which at all corresponded to the description contained in such deed or paper-writing.

Rev., s. 948; 1891, c. 465, s. 2.

For vagueness of description in pleadings, see Evidence, s. 1783.

Section does not act retrospectively: Hemphill v. Annis, 119-514—but if it did word “description” used therein imports such description as can be aided by parol proof, Ibid. A deed failing to describe land is as void as it was prior to this enactment: Moore v. Fowle, 139-53. Description sufficient to admit parol evidence when it refers to something extrinsic which can be identified: Patton v. Sluder, 167-500 (explaining section).

993. Conveyances to slaves. When it is made to appear that any gift or conveyance has been made to any person, while a slave, of any lands or tenements, whether the same was conveyed by deed or parol, and the bargainee or donee has been placed in actual possession of the same, such gift or conveyance shall have the force and effect of transferring the legal title to the lands and tenements to such bargainee or donee: Provided, such possession shall have continued for the term of ten years prior to the ninth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and seventy: Provided further, that any absence from the premises from the first day of May, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one, to the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, shall not be held as an abandonment or discontinuance of the possession: Provided, also, that this section shall not affect the interest of a bona fide purchaser for value from the grantor or bargainor of the lands or tenements in dispute.

Section not applicable to case where person having no title himself made parol conveyance of land to slave and put slave in possession more than ten years prior to passage of section: Buie v. Carver, 75-559—but section only applies to cases where alleged donor or vendor had title himself, Ibid. See Jervis v. Lewellyn, 130-617; McCanless v. Reynolds, 74-301.

994. Conveyances by infant trustees. When an infant is seized or possessed of any estate in trust, whether by way of mortgage or otherwise, for another person who may be entitled in law to have a conveyance of such estate, or may be declared to be seized or possessed, in the course of any proceeding in the superior court, the court may decree that the infant shall convey and assure such estate, in such manner as it may direct, to such other person; and every conveyance and assurance made in pursuance of such decree shall be as effectual in law as if made by a person of full age.

Rev., s. 1036; Code, s. 1265; R. C., c. 37, s. 27; 1821, c. 1116, ss. 1, 2.

995. Official deed, when official selling or empowered to sell is not in office. When a sheriff, coroner, constable or tax collector, in virtue of his office, sells any real or personal property and goes out of office before executing a proper deed therefor, he may execute the same after his term of office has expired; and when he dies or removes from the state before executing the deed, his successor in office shall execute it. When a sheriff or tax collector dies having a tax list in his hands for collection, and his personal representative or surety, in collecting the taxes, makes sale according to law, his successor in office shall execute the conveyance for the property to the person entitled.

Rev., ss. 950, 951; Code, s. 1267; R. C., c. 37, s. 30; 1891, c. 242.

Ex-sheriff may execute tax deed hereunder: Mfg. Co. v. Rosey, 144-370; Jones v. Schull, 153-517; McNair v. Boyd, 163-478. Ex-clerks no power hereunder: Shew v. Call, 119-450. Recitals in ex-sheriff's deed as prima facie evidence of sale and execution: Curlee v. Smith, 91-172.

Deed made by succeeding sheriff or coroner passes title to what was sold: Edwards v. Tipton, 77-222—but it is not evidence of what was sold, as its recitals are hearsay: Ibid.; see McPherson v. Hussey, 17-323. Before executing conveyance, officer succeeding can require clear and conclusive evidence that sale was made by predecessor: Isler v. Andrews, 66-552—and that price was paid to him, Ibid.; Harris v. Irwin, 29-432.

Section merely referred to: Stewart v. Pergusson, 133-284; Millsaps v. McCormick, 71-533.

996. Revocation of deeds of future interests made to persons not in esse. The grantor in any voluntary conveyance in which some future interest in real estate is conveyed or limited to a person not in esse may, at any time before he comes into being, revoke by deed such interest so conveyed or limited. This deed of revocation shall be registered as other deeds; and the grantor of like interests for a valuable consideration may, with the joinder of the person from whom the consideration moved, revoke said interest in like manner.

Rev., s. 1045; 1893, c. 498.

Section does not affect deeds executed before its enactment: Roe v. Journegan, 175-261.

ART. 2. CONVEYANCES BY HUSBAND AND WIFE

997. Instruments affecting married woman's title; husband to execute; privy examination. Every conveyance, power of attorney or other instrument affecting the estate, right or title of any married woman in lands, tenements or hereditaments must be executed by such married woman and her husband, and due proof or acknowledgment thereof must be made as to the husband and due acknowledgment thereof must be made by the wife, and her private examination, touching her voluntary assent to such instrument, shall be taken separate and apart from her husband, and such acknowledgment or proof as to the execution by the husband and such acknowledgment by the wife and her private examination shall be taken and certified as provided by law. Any conveyance, power of attorney, contract to convey, mortgage, deed of trust or other instrument executed by any married woman in the manner by this chapter provided, and executed by her husband also, shall be valid in law to pass, bind or charge the estate, right, title and interest of such married woman in and to all such lands, tenements and hereditaments or other estate, real or personal, as shall constitute the subject-matter or be embraced within the terms and conditions of such instrument or purport to be passed, bound, charged or conveyed thereby.

Rev., s. 952; Code, s. 1256; 1899, c. 235, s. 9; C. C. P., s. 429, subsec. 6; 1868-9, c. 277, s. 15.

See "Married Women," section 2506 et seq. Section not in conflict with constitutional guaranty to wife of her separate estate: Graves v. Johnson, 172-176; Southerland v. Hunter, 93-310; Ferguson v. Kinsland, 93-337; and see Stallings v. Walker, 176-321, and cases cited. Law of this state governs acknowledgment and proof of married woman's deed to land in state, though deed executed elsewhere: Smith v. Ingram, 130-100; Armstrong v. Best, 112-59; Taylor v. Sharp, 108-377; Jones v. Gerock, 59-190.

Married woman cannot bind herself by agreement to arbitrate title to land owned by her: Smith v. Bruton, 137-79; nor can she create parol trust in her land, Ricks v. Wilson, 154-282. Mechanic's lien attaches to wife's land, although not "expressly charged" upon her estate: Ball v. Paquin, 140-83.

MARRIED WOMAN'S DEEDS; REQUISITES. Married woman bound as to her land only by her deed duly executed, with husband's written assent and with her privy examination: Smith v. Bruton, 137-79; Tillery v. Land, 136-541; Lineberger v. Tidwell, 104-506; Ferguson v. Kinsland, 93-337; Towles v. Fisher, 77-443; Green v. Branton, 16-500; see infra, paragraph "Private Examination of Wife"—or by judgment of court of competent jurisdiction, Smith v. Bruton, 137-79; Green v. Branton, 16-500. Deed nullity without husband's joinder and wife's privy examination: Holmes v. Holmes, 86-205; Scott v. Battle, 85-184—and husband's probate must be present, Graves v. Johnson, 172-176, and cases cited. Married woman's deed not executed in mode provided by statute creates no estoppel: Wallin v. Rice, 170-417, and cases cited at page 418. Delivery not presumed from husband's acknowledgment and acknowledgment and privy examination of wife: Tarleton v. Griggs, 131-216.

HUSBAND'S ASSENT to wife's conveyance is necessary: Walton v. Bristol, 125-419; Loan Assn. v. Black, 119-323; Farthing v. Shields, 106-289; Wood v. Wheeler, 106-512; Harris v. Jenkins, 72-183—and such assent must be expressed by his signing and acknowledging deed with wife, Council v. Pridgen, 153-443; Jennings v. Hinton, 126-51; Brinkley v. Ballance, 126-397; Bank v. Ireland, 122-571; Green v. Bennett, 120-394; Jones v. Craigmiles, 114-613; Farthing v. Shields, 106-289; Flaum v. Wallace, 103-296; Harris v. Jenkins, 72-186; and see Newhart v. Peters, 80-166 (mortgage by husband and wife for wife's debt binds her). What is sufficient written assent of husband: Stallings v. Walker, 176-321, and cited cases. Husband's endorsement on wife's deed without his joinder invalid: Council v. Pridgen, 153-443. Husband's signature and acknowledgment after wife's death void, Hensley v. Blankenship, 174-759. Infant husband's joinder revocable on his coming of age: Jackson v. Beard, 162-105.

PRIVATE EXAMINATION OF WIFE. Form of examination, see sections 3324, 3325. Officers authorized to take examination, see section 1000. Requirement is constitutional: Council v. Pridgen, 153-443. Necessary to convey her interest in land and to charge her separate real estate with payment of debts: Sipe v. Herman, 161-107; Cook v. Pittman, 144-530; Ball v. Paquin, 140-92; Smith v. Bruton, 137-79; Harvey v. Johnson, 133-352; Bank v. Howell, 118-271; Bank v. Ireland, 122-571; McCaskill v. McKinnon, 121-214; Bates v. Sultan, 117-94; McMillan v. Gambill, 106-359; Thompson v. Smith, 106-357; Farthing v. Shields, 106-289; Thurber v. LaRoque, 105-301; Holmes v. Holmes, 86-205; Scott v. Battle, 85-184; Newhart v. Peters, 80-166; see section 2507. Required on deed from wife to husband: Singleton v. Cherry, 168-402. So as to her equitable estate in lands vested in her: Clayton v. Rose, 87-106—unless in instrument creating trust power is given to her to convey as feme sole, Ibid. No privy examination required to bind wife's personality: Harvey v. Johnson, 133-352, and see section 3507.

Sufficiency of privity examination tested by legal effect and not by conformity to very words of statute: Benedict v. Jones, 129-470; Robbins v. Harris, 96-557; and see Skinner v. Fletcher, 23-313. Not necessary that husband leave room: Hall v. Castleberry, 101-153. As to duty of officer taking examination, see McCaskill v. McKinnon, 121-214. Officer's certificate must make fact of separate examination apart from husband appear: Cook v. Pittman, 144-531; Hatcher v. Hatcher, 127-201; Wynne v. Small, 102-133; Pierce v. Wannett, 32-446; Etheridge v. Ashbee, 31-353; Jones v. Lewis, 30-70; Fenner v. Jasper, 18-34; Robinson v. Barfield, 6-391. As to presumption of truth of recitals in certificate, see Lumber Co. v. Leonard, 145-339. Though certificate regular on its face, wife may show that in fact no examination took place: Davis v. Davis, 146-163—but she must do so by clear, strong, and convincing proof, Ibid.; also Lumber Co. v. Leonard, 145-339; Benedict v. Jones, 129-470.

Deed without privity examination is color of title, see notes to section 428—is no estoppel to married woman, Smith v. Ingram, 130-107, and see Miller v. Bumgardner, 109-412—is so entirely void that wife not entitled to enforce specifically provisions incorporated in it for her benefit, Askew v. Daniel, 40-321—deed without, signed by husband and wife, will not be specifically enforced, though damages allowed for breach, Warren v. Dail, 170-406.

As to setting aside private examination as void, or attacking it collaterally, see Davis v. Davis, 146-163; Lumber Co. v. Leonard, 145-339; Benedict v. Jones, 129-470; Edwards v. Bowden, 107-58; Hall v. Castleberry, 101-153; Ware v. Nesbit, 94-664. As to privity examination under Laws 1868-9, c. 35, see Spivey v. Rose, 120-163—under Rev. Stat., c. 37, ss. 9-11, Malloy v. Bruden, 88-305; Woodbourne v. Gorrell, 66-82. For other cases of interest hereunder, not exactly within scope of section, see Miller v. Bumgardner, 109-412; Hinton v. Ferebee, 107-154; McGlennery v. Miller, 90-215; Whitehurst v. Hunter, 3-401.

998. Acknowledgment at different times and places; before different officers; order immaterial. In all cases of deeds or other instruments executed by husband and wife and requiring registration, the probate of such instruments as to the husband and acknowledgment and private examination of the wife may be taken before different officers authorized by law to take probate of deeds, and at different times and places, whether both of said officials reside in this state or only one in this state and the other in another state or country. And in taking the probate of such instruments executed by husband and wife, including the private examination of the wife, it is immaterial whether the execution of the instrument was proven as to or acknowledged by the husband before or after the acknowledgment and private examination of the wife.

Rev., s. 953; 1899, c. 235, s. 9; 1895, c. 136.

For statutes validating certain probates, before this section enacted, where husband and wife signed at different times and before different officers, see sections 3349, 3350. For cases involving validity of such probates before this section, see Bryan v. Eason, 147-284; Barrett v. Barrett, 120-127; Lineberger v. Tidwell, 104-506; Southerland v. Hunter, 93-310; McGlennery v. Miller, 90-215. Husband's probate to wife's deed still required: Graves v. Johnson, 172-176.

999. Absence of wife's examination does not affect deed as to husband. When an instrument purports to be signed by a husband and wife the instrument may be ordered registered, if the acknowledgment of the husband is duly taken, whether the private examination of the wife is properly taken or not, but no such instrument shall be the act or deed of the wife unless her private examination is taken according to law.

Rev., s. 954; 1899, c. 235, s. 8; 1901, c. 637.

As to wife's deed and private examination, see sections 997, 3324, 3325. Where grantor fails to acknowledge, but wife's acknowledgment and private examination are taken, deed not entitled to registration: Hatcher v. Hatcher, 127-200. As to right of husband to convey land without wife's joinder in deed, see Shackleford v. Morrill, 142-221; Joyner v. Sugg, 132-581; Cawfield v. Owens, 129-286; Wittkowsky v. Gidney, 124-437; Scott v. Lane, 109-154; Hughes v. Hodges, 102-236; Simpson v. Houston, 97-344. As to wife's rights where sale under two mortgages, only one of which binds her dower right, see Shackleford v. Morrill, 142-221.

1000. Officers authorized to take privy examination. The officials authorized by law to take proofs and acknowledgments of the execution of any instrument are empowered to take the private examination of any married woman, when her private examination is necessary, touching her free and voluntary assent to the execution of any instrument to which her assent is or may be necessary, and to certify the fact of such private examination.

Rev., s. 955; 1899, c. 235, s. 6.

As to wife's conveyances, see section 997. As to probate and forms of probate and private examination, see "Probate and Registration," section 3293 et seq.

Probate and private examination before officer related to parties valid: McAlister v. Purcell, 124-262; so where before employee of corporate grantee, Bank v. Ireland, 122-571. See as to effect of officer's interest or connection with proceedings in certain cases, sections 3299-3301, 3305.

Omission by justice of the peace to attach seal to certificate will not invalidate it: Lineberger v. Tidwell, 104-506. Justice of the peace cannot correct his certificate after term of office expired: Cook v. Pittman, 144-530. Conduct of private examination, see under section 997. Private examination before provost marshal, while Newbern occupied by federal military: Paul v. Carpenter, 70-502.

1001. Innocent purchaser not affected by fraud in treaty, if privy examination regular. No deed conveying lands nor any instrument required or allowed by law to be registered, executed by husband and wife since the eleventh of March, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, if the private examination of the wife is thereto certified as prescribed by law, shall be invalid because its execution or acknowledgment was procured by fraud, duress or undue influence, unless it is shown that the grantee or person to whom the instrument was made participated in the fraud, duress or undue influence, or had notice thereof before the delivery of the instrument. Where such participation or notice is shown, an innocent purchaser for value under the grantee or person to whom the instrument was made shall not be affected by such fraud, duress or undue influence.

Rev., s. 956; 1889, c. 389; 1899, c. 235, s. 10.

Fraud in private examination does not vitiate, unless grantee had notice: Brite v. Penny, 157-110; Davis v. Davis, 146-163; Lumber Co. v. Leonard, 145-339; Marsh v. Griffin, 136-333; Butner v. Blevins, 125-585; Benedict v. Jones, 129-472; Bank v. Ireland, 122-571; Riggan v. Sledge, 116-87—and even if grantee did have notice, an innocent purchaser from him would be protected, Butner v. Blevins, 125-585. But wife may show by strong, clear, and convincing proof that there was no private examination or that she refused assent: Davis v. Davis, 146-163; Lumber Co. v. Leonard, 145-339; Benedict v. Jones, 129-470; and see Belk v. Belk, 175-69, and cases under section 997. As to effect of probate generally, see section 3308.

For cases prior to enactment of section, see Edwards v. Bowden, 107-58; Ware v. Nesbit, 94-664.

1002. Power of attorney of married woman. All conveyances which may be made by any person under a power of attorney from any feme covert, freely executed by her with her husband, shall be valid to all intents and purposes to pass the estate, right and title which said feme covert may have in such lands, tenements and hereditaments as are mentioned or included in such power of attorney.

Rev., s. 957; Code, s. 1257; R. C., c. 37, s. 11; 1798, c. 510.

See Lineberger v. Tidwell, 104-506.

1003. Wife need not join in purchase-money mortgage. The purchaser of real estate who does not pay the whole of the purchase money at the time when he takes a deed for title may make a mortgage or deed of trust for securing the payment of such purchase money, or such part thereof as may remain unpaid, which shall be good and effectual against his wife as well as himself, without requiring her to join in the execution of such mortgage or deed of trust.

Rev., s. 958; Code, s. 1272; 1868-9, c. 204; 1907, c. 12.

See section 4101. Section cited, Corp. Com. v. Dunn, 174-679.

1004. Wife insane, husband's deed transfers her interest. Every man whose wife is a lunatic or insane and whose homestead has been allotted, may bargain, sell, lease, mortgage, transfer and convey any of his real estate by deed, mortgage deed, deed of trust, or lease, except his homestead, without the signature or private examination of his wife: Provided, that the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the wife was adjudged a lunatic or declared insane, or the superintendent of an insane institution of the state, shall certify under his hand and seal that she has been adjudged a lunatic or declared insane, and that her sanity has not been declared restored as is provided by law, and this certificate must be attached to the husband's deed, mortgage deed, deed of trust, or lease.

Such deed, mortgage deed, deed of trust or lease executed, probated and registered in accordance with law shall convey all the estate and interest as therein intended of the grantor in the land conveyed free and exempt from the dower rights and all other interests of his wife: Provided, this section shall not apply to the homestead of the husband.

Rev., s. 959; 1905, c. 138, ss. 1, 3; 1919, c. 20.

See as to proceedings by widow of insane person to sell his property, section 2294. Section cited, Corp. Com. v. Dunn, 174-679.

ART. 3. FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES

1005. Conveyance with intent to defraud creditors void. For avoiding and abolishing feigned, covinous and fraudulent gifts, grants, alienations, conveyances, bonds, suits, judgments and executions, as well of lands and tenements as of goods and chattels, which may be contrived and devised of fraud, to the purpose and intent to delay, hinder and defraud creditors and others of their just and lawful actions and debts, every gift, grant, alienation, bargain and conveyance of lands, tenements and hereditaments, goods and chattels, by writing or otherwise, and every bond, suit, judgment and execution, at any time had or made, to or for any intent or purpose last before declared and expressed, shall be deemed and taken (only as against that person, his heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, whose actions, debts, accounts, damages, penalties and forfeitures, by such covinous or fraudulent devices and practices aforesaid, are, shall, or might be in anywise disturbed, hindered, delayed or defrauded) to be utterly void and of no effect; any pretense, color, feigned consideration, expressing of use, or any other matter or thing to the contrary notwithstanding; and in all actions by creditors to set aside gifts, grants, alienations and conveyances of lands and tenements and judgments purporting to be liens on the same on the ground that such gifts, grants, alienations, conveyances and judgments are feigned, covinous and fraudulent hereunder, it shall be no defense to the action to allege and prove that the lands and tenements alleged to be so conveyed or encumbered do not exceed in value the homestead allowed by law as an exemption: Provided, that nothing in this section shall be construed to authorize the sale under execution or other final process, obtained on any debt during the continuance of the homestead, of any interest in such land as may be exempt as a homestead.

Rev., s. 960; Code, s. 1545; 1893, c. 78; R. C., c. 50, s. 1; 50 Edw. III, c. 6; 13 Eliz., c. 5, s. 2; 1715, c. 7, s. 4.

The law will not aid one party to a fraud as against another: Shener v. Spear, 92-151; Bank v. Adrian, 116-537, and cases cited; York v. Merritt, 80-285; Jones v. Gorman, 42-21; Ellington v. Currie, 40-21. Fraud is a question of law upon facts and circumstances found and admitted: Hodges v. Lassiter, 96-351; Hardy v. Simpson, 35-132; Foster v. Woodfin, 33-339; Rea v. Alexander, 27-644. Where deed fraudulent and void as to one creditor it is void as to all: Savage v. Knight, 92-493; Hoke v. Henderson, 14-12. Fraudulent conveyance good as against grantor and all others except creditors: Saunders v. Lee, 101-3. Bond given as a pretext to enable a person to set up a claim against property of maker, so as to defraud maker's creditors, is void: Powell v. Inman, 53-436; see, also, Hawkins v. Alston, 39-137. Where deed to secure feigned debts was registered before valid deed prior in date, the older deed prevails and section 3309 (Connor Act) not applicable: Tyner v. Barnes, 142-110.

As to badges of fraud, see Helms v. Green, 105-251; Grocery Co. v. Taylor, 162-307 (mortgagor remaining in possession of goods); Bank v. Bridgers, 128-322, 114-333; Messick v. Fries, 128-451; Wittkowsky v. Baruch, 126-747; Howard v. Early, 126-170; Royster v. Stallings, 124-55; Stoneburner v. Jeffreys, 116-78; Clement v. Cozart, 109-173, 112-412; Booth v. Grant, 107-405; Booth v. Carstarphen, 107-400, and cases cited; Woodruff v. Bowles, 104-197; Phifer v. Erwin, 100-59; Norfleet v. Hawkins, 93-392; Cannon v. Young, 89-264; Boone v. Hardie, 83-470; Hillard v. Phillips, 81-99; Cheatham v. Hawkins, 76-335; Grimsley v. Hooker, 56-4; Peebles v. Horton, 64-373; Jessup v. Johnston, 43-335; Jenkins v. Peace, 46-413; Black v. Sanders, 46-67; Gilmer v. Earnhardt, 46-559; Gibson v. Walker, 33-327; Brannock v. Brannock, 32-428; Foster v. Woodfin, 33-339; Sturdivant v. Davis, 31-365; Rea v. Alexander, 27-644; Worth v. Northam, 26-102; O'Daniel v. Crawford, 15-197; Howell v. Elliott, 12-76.

Summary as to fraudulent character of conveyances, voluntary or on consideration, as depending on amount of property retained, actual fraudulent intent, notice to grantee, etc.: Aman v. Walker, 165-224.

Purchaser from trustee under conveyance containing upon its face evidence of fraudulent purpose to defeat creditors takes with notice of such evidence: Eigenbrun v. Smith, 98-207—and although purchaser may have paid full price for property, yet if he purchased with intent to aid vendor to defeat his creditors, purchase will be void, Ibid.—and conveyance to trustee for use of creditors, if made with intent to defraud any one of vendor's creditors, is void, though trustee be ignorant of such intent, and his conduct is bona fide, Ibid.; Hoke v. Henderson, 14-12.

Party making fraudulent conveyance, if such conveyance set aside, can claim his homestead: Rose v. Bryan, 157-173; Marshburn v. Lashlie, 122-237; Younger v. Ritchie, 116-782; Dortch v. Benton, 98-190; Rankin v. Shaw, 94-405; Arnold v. Estis, 92-162; Comrs. v. Riley, 75-146; Gaster v. Hardie, 75-460; Crummen v. Bennet, 68-494. When sole purpose of maker of deed of trust to secure creditors was to discharge honest debt, deed does not come within operation of section: Moore v. Hinnant, 89-455. Conveyance, if made with the intent to hinder creditors, is void, although upon sufficient consideration, if vendee had knowledge of purpose for which made: Perry v. Hardison, 99-21; see Sanford v. Eubanks, 152-697; Cox v. Wall, 132-730, and cases cited. Where deed of trust securing several notes is set aside as fraudulent because holders of some of notes had notice of fraud, holders in due course of others of the notes do not lose their rights: Smathers v. Hotel Co., 167-469. As to the part the "intent" plays in making a conveyance or assignment void, see Royster v. Stallings, 124-55; Wolf v. Arthur, 118-890; Clement v. Cozart, 109-173; Peeler v. Peeler, 109-628; Booth v. Carstarphen, 107-395, and cases cited; Phifer v. Erwin, 100-59; Savage v. Knight, 92-493; Beasley v. Bray, 98-266; Worth v. Brady, 91-265; Cansler v. Cobb, 77-30; Lassiter v. Davis, 64-498; Rose v. Coble, 61-517; Reiger v. Davis, 67-185. Fraudulent conveyances are not deemed void as to creditors when only collaterally attacked: Boyd v. Turpin, 94-137. If any part of the consideration in a deed be feigned or fraudulent as to creditors, the whole deed is void as to them: Johnson v. Murchison, 60-286; Hafner v. Irwin, 23-490; but see Woodruff v. Bowles, 104-197.

Other cases of interest: Arrington v. Arrington, 102-491; Walton v. Parish, 95-259; Cowles v. Coffey, 88-342; Powell v. Ivey, 88-256; Boyd v. Turpin, 94-137; Southerland v. Harper, 83-200; Cannon v. Young, 89-264; Rencher v. Wynne, 86-269; Cansler v. Cobb, 77-30; Holmes v. Marshall, 78-262; McCannless v. Reynolds, 74-301; Young v. Lathrop, 67-63; McNeill v. Riddle, 66-290; Salms v. Martin, 63-608; Palmer v. Giles, 58-75; Thigpen v. Pitt, 54-49; London v. Parsley, 52-313; Newlin v. Osborne, 51-128; Felton v. White, 49-301; McCorkle v. Hammond, 47-444; Bridges v. Moye, 45-170; McAuley v. Earnhart, 46-502; Flynn v. Williams, 29-32; Buie v. Kelly, 27-169; Patterson v. Bodenhamer, 31-96; Gowing v. Rich, 23-553; Purcell v. McCallum, 18-221.

SPECIFIC CONVEYANCES, TRANSFERS, ETC., ATTACKED FOR FRAUD HEREUNDER. Conveyances, gifts, assignments, transfers, etc., by debtor to child: Webb v. Atkinson, 124-447; Clement v. Cozart, 109-173, 112-412; Helms v. Green, 105-251; McCannless v. Flinchum, 89-373; Tredwell v. Graham, 88-208; Carr v. Fearrington, 63-560; Brown v. Godsey, 55-417; Winchester v. Reid, 53-377; Black v. Caldwell, 49-150; Jenkins v. Peace, 46-413—to wife, Eddleman v. Lentz, 158-65; Howard v. Early, 126-170; Webb v. Atkinson, 124-447; Pender v. Mallett, 123-57; Brisco v. Norris, 112-671; Peeler v. Peeler, 109-628; Woodruff v. Bowles, 104-197; Battle v. Mayo, 102-413; Brown v. Mitchell, 102-347; Walton v. Parish, 95-259; Taylor v. Eatman, 92-601—to parent, Boyd v. Turpin, 94-137; McGill v. Harman, 55-179—to brother or brother-in-law, Bank v. Bridgers, 114-383; Allen v. McLendon, 113-321; Dewey v. Littlejohn, 37-495—to father-in-law, Vick v. Flowers, 5-321—to nephew, Reiger v. Davis, 67-185—to attorney, York v. Merritt, 80-285. Conveyances to debtor's wife where property bought with debtor's money, or his work or skill: Ritch v. Oates, 122-631; Markham v. Whitehurst, 109-307. Deposit in bank in wife's name: Moore v. Bank, 173-180. Husband using his money to make improvements on wife's land: Michael v. Moore, 157-462. Conveyance to debtor's daughters, they buying the property in at execution sale of debtor's land with money furnished by debtor: Sharpe v. Williams, 76-87. Conveyance to one of several creditors: Devries v. Phillips, 63-53. Assignment for benefit of creditors: Fisher v. Bank, 132-769; Bank v. Bridgers, 128-322; Friedenwald v. Sparger, 128-446; Mitchell v. Eure, 126-77; Jordan v. Newsome, 126-553; Commission Co. v. Porter, 122-692; Goldberg v. Cohen, 119-59; Stoneburner v. Jeffreys, 116-78; Davis v. Smith, 113-94; Barber v. Buffaloe, 111-206; Banking Co. v. Whitaker, 110-345; Booth v. Carstarphen, 107-395; Hancock v. Wooten, 107-9; Stephenson v. Felton, 106-114; Bobbitt v. Rodwell, 105-236; Woodruff v. Bowles, 104-197; Eigenbrun v. Smith, 98-207; Savage v. Knight, 92-493; Guggenheimer v. Brookfield, 90-232; Bynum v. Miller, 86-560. Deeds of trust or mortgages to secure debts: Tyner v. Barnes, 142-110; Messick v. Fries, 128-450; Cowan v. Phillips, 122-70; Mining Co. v. Smelting Co., 119-417; Wolf v. Arthur, 118-890; Allen v. McLendon, 113-321; Nadal v. Britton, 112-180; Battle v. Mayo, 102-413; Phifer v. Erwin, 100-59; Morris v. Pearson, 79-253; Cheatham v. Hawkins, 76-335; Johnson v. Murchison, 60-286; Stone v. Marshall, 52-300; Hawkins v. Alston, 39-137. Bills of sale of goods or chattels: Cox v. Wall, 132-730; Kelly v. Fleming, 113-133; Brown v. Mitchell, 102-347; Rea v. Alexander, 27-644; Foster v. Woodfin, 33-339; Newsom v. Roles, 23-179. Conveyance of land on ground of fraud upon marital rights of wife: Brinkley v. Brinkley, 128-503; Tate v. Tate, 21-22—on ground of its having been made to prevent plaintiff from collecting judgment for damages, Helms v. Green, 105-251.

PRACTICE IN SETTING ASIDE SALES AND CONVEYANCES HEREUNDER. See generally: Clement v. Cozart, 109-172, 112-412; Smith v. Summerfield, 108-284; Peeler v. Peeler, 109-628; Booth v. Carstarphen, 107-395; Woodruff v. Bowles, 104-197; Rencher v. Wynne, 86-269; Hardy v. Simpson, 35-132. Trustee in bankruptcy may bring action to set aside fraudulent sales and conveyances if creditor of bankrupt entitled to same: Cox v. Wall, 132-730. Heirs of grantor cannot set aside a fraudulent conveyance: Pierce v. Stallings, 163-107. Burden is on purchaser to show he bought for valuable consideration and without notice: Cox v. Wall, 132-730; Morgan v. Bostie, 132-743; Stephenson v. Felton, 106-114; Odom v. Riddick, 104-521, and cases cited; Brown v. Mitchell, 102-347; Saunders v. Lee, 101-3; Eigenbrun v. Smith, 98-215; Davis v. Council, 92-725; Taylor v. Eatman, 92-601; Tredwell v. Graham, 88-214; Savage v. Knight, 92-493; Cheatham v. Hawkins, 76-335—and where purchaser was the insolvent grantor's wife, she must show valuable consideration passed, Peeler v. Peeler, 109-628; Eddleman v. Lentz, 158-65.

Creditors bringing action to set aside assignment for creditors made by bank have no first lien unless it increases assets of bank: Fisher v. Bank, 132-769. Where it is shown that insolvent sons assigned, preferring their father, burden upon defendant to show fairness of transaction: Mitchell v. Eure, 126-77. Where deed of trust adjudged fraudulent as to creditors, court may order land sold after allotting homestead to defendant: Benton v. Collins, 125-83. Party who alleges fraud in execution of deed must prove it: Saunders v. Lee, 101-3—and where prima facie evidence is given of bona fides of debts, burden of proof is upon party attacking deed to show fraud, Hodges v. Lassiter, 96-357. While creditor can issue execution and sell property disposed of in fraud of creditors, this does not prevent court of equity from restraining donee until question of fraud tried: Frank v. Robinson, 96-28. As to proof of fraud in deed by evidence of fraud in one subsequently made, see Winborne v. Lassiter, 89-1. A judgment in another action declaring a deed fraudulent and void may be used in evidence: Bank v. McCaskill, 174-362. For what is and what is not evidence of fraud in conveyance, see Eigenbrun v. Smith, 98-207; Beasley v. Bray, 98-266; Hodges v. Lassiter, 96-351; Frank v. Robinson, 96-28; Walton v. Parish, 95-259; Moore v. Hinnant, 89-455; Jessup v. Johnston, 48-335; Hardy v. Skinner, 31-191; see cases "as to badges of fraud" hereunder.

As to when fraudulent purpose in conveyance is question for court and when for jury, see Woodruff v. Bowles, 104-197; Beasley v. Bray, 98-266; Hodges v. Lassiter, 96-351; Black v. Sanders, 46-67; Moore v. Hinnant, 89-455; Reiger v. Davis, 67-185; Hardy v. Simpson, 35-132; Young v. Booe, 33-347; O'Daniel v. Crawford, 15-197. Proof of near relationship between grantor and grantee named in deed does not make a prima facie case of fraud: Bank v. Bridgers, 114-383. Several creditors may unite in action against common debtor to obtain judgment for respective claims and set aside alleged fraudulent conveyance of debtor's property, and parties so uniting may acquire preference over other general creditors: Smith v. Summerfield, 108-284. Property conveyed to wife in fraud of creditors may be recovered in her hands: Pender v. Mallett, 123-57—and if she has sold it and invested proceeds in other property, the fund can be followed, Ibid.; also Edwards v. Culberson, 111-342; Brown v. Godsey, 55-417.

Section merely referred to: Pennell v. Robinson, 164-257; Carpenter v. Duke, 144-293; Bank v. Spurling, 52-403.

1006. Conveyance with intent to defraud purchasers void. Every conveyance, charge, lease or encumbrance of any lands or hereditaments, goods and chattels, if the same be made with the actual intent in fact to defraud such person who has purchased or shall purchase in fee simple or for lives or years the same lands or hereditaments, goods and chattels, or to defraud such as shall purchase any rent or profit out of the same, shall be deemed utterly void against such person and others claiming under him who shall purchase for the full value thereof the same lands or hereditaments, goods and chattels, or rents or profits out of the same, without notice before and at the time of his purchase of the conveyance, charge, lease or encumbrance, by him alleged to have been made with intent to defraud; and possession taken or held by or for the person claiming under such alleged fraudulent conveyance, charge, lease or encumbrance shall be always deemed and taken as notice in law of the same.

Rev., s. 961; Code, s. 1546; R. C., c. 50, s. 2; 27 Eliz., c. 4, s. 2; 1840, c. 28, ss. 1, 2.

Although same facts which made deed fraudulent under 13th Elizabeth (section 1005) as to creditors may, generally speaking, render it fraudulent also under 27th Elizabeth (section 1006) as against purchaser, yet it is clear that deed is not fraudulent as against purchaser merely because it was so as against creditors: Harris v. DeGraffenreid, 33-92; Fullenwider v. Roberts, 20-420.

This section and sections 3308-3310 (Connor Act) must be construed together with the view of preventing fraud: Austin v. Staten, 126-788. Registration is required for purpose of notice: Austin v. Staten, 126-788; Lanier v. Lumber Co., 177-200; Sills v. Ford, 171-733; Wood v. Lewey, 153-401; Tremaine v. Williams, 144-114; Patterson v. Mills, 121-267; Hooker v. Nichols, 116-157; Barber v. Wadsworth, 115-29; Quinnerly v. Quinnerly, 114-145; Maddox v. Arp, 114-585 (rendering obsolete many cases in the reports which treat of constructive notice)—but it only has reference to the notice of a former conveyance, and carries with it no taint or knowledge of actual intent to defraud, which vitiates the deed when it exists and is so found: Austin v. Staten, 126-783.

As to who is a purchaser for value, see Carpenter v. Duke, 144-293; Brinkley v. Spruill, 130-48; Wallace v. Cohen, 111-103; Southerland v. Fremont, 107-565; Brem v. Lockhart, 93-191; Day v. Day, 84-408; Potts v. Blackwell, 56-449, 57-59; Harris v. DeGraffenreid, 33-89; Freeman v. Lewis, 27-91; Fullenwider v. Roberts, 20-420. A preëxisting debt is a sufficient consideration to sustain a conveyance: Fowle v. McLean, 168-537. Second purchaser, in order to avoid prior fraudulent deed, must show now, as before act of 1885, that he is bona fide purchaser for full value: Austin v. Staten, 126-788—and this does not mean every dollar it is worth, but a reasonably fair price, Ibid. To render deed fraudulent as to subsequent purchaser, such purchaser must have paid full value for land, and must also have purchased without notice of prior voluntary conveyance: Taylor v. Eatman, 92-601; Hiatt v. Wade, 30-340—but registration of prior voluntary deed is notice to subsequent purchaser, Ibid. Bona fide purchaser of personal property without notice acquires good title as against prior fraudulent conveyance of same: Plummer v. Worley, 35-423. When bona fide purchaser for valuable consideration without notice has acquired legal title, equity will not deprive him of this advantage: Crump v. Black, 41-321. Possession by fraudulent donee cannot operate as notice of conveyance to him of any land except such tract or parcel as may be occupied by him at time of second purchase: Wade v. Hiatt, 32-302—and especially it cannot so operate as to any parcel continuing in possession of donor, Ibid. One is not a purchaser for full value who gives for land not more than one-half or two-thirds of value: Harris v. DeGraffenreid, 33-89; see Austin v. Staten, 126-788; Worthy v. Caddell, 76-82; Fullenwider v. Roberts, 20-420. Deed in trust to sell property and pay creditors is valid as against prior deed of gift as being subsequent sale to purchaser for valuable consideration: Ward v. Wooten, 75-413. When one purchases land which he knows to be in possession of person other than vendor, he is affected with legal notice and must inquire into title of possessor: Bost v. Setzer, 87-187; see, also, Webber v. Taylor, 55-9. Section being intended for benefit of purchaser, first bona fide purchaser, whether from fraudulent vendor or vendee, is within its operation: Hoke v. Henderson, 14-12. Though conveyance voluntary, it is not necessarily fraudulent as to subsequent purchasers: Bell v. Blaney, 6-171. Word "purchaser" under section defined: Fullenwider v. Roberts, 20-420. Purchaser of land with notice at time of former fraudulent conveyance is not protected in purchase, though paid full value therefor: Triplett v. Witherspoon, 70-589; Hiatt v. Wade, 30-340. As to notice, see sections 3308-3310.

Section cited: Hobbs v. Cashwell, 152-183; Rose v. Bryan, 157-173. Old cases prior to amendment, which may be of some service: Bell v. Blaney, 6-171; Garrison v. Brice, 48-85; Long v. Wright, 48-290; Freeman v. Eatman, 38-81; Jones v. Hall, 58-26; Bynum v. Miller, 86-560, and cases there cited.

1007. Voluntary conveyance evidence of fraud as to existing creditors. No voluntary gift or settlement of property by one indebted shall be deemed or taken to be void in law, as to creditors of the donor or settler prior to such gift or settlement, by reason merely of such indebtedness, if property, at the time of making such gift or settlement, fully sufficient and available for the satisfaction of his then creditors, be retained by such donor or settler; but the indebtedness of the donor or settler at such time shall be held and taken, as well with respect to creditors prior as creditors subsequent to such gift or settlement, to be evidence only from which an intent to delay, hinder or defraud creditors may be inferred; and in any trial shall, as such, be submitted by the court to the jury, with such observations as may be right and proper.

Rev., s. 962; Code, s. 1547; R. C., c. 50, s. 3; 1840, c. 28, ss. 3, 4.

Section not retroactive: Houston v. Bogle, 32-496. Voluntary conveyance is fraudulent in law as to existing creditors when grantor does not at time of conveyance retain property fully sufficient and available for satisfaction of his then creditors: Clement v. Cozart, 112-412; McCannless v. Flinchum, 89-376; Warren v. Makely, 85-14—and the burden rests on those claiming under the voluntary conveyance to show these facts, Hobbs v. Cashwell, 152-183; Shuford v. Cook, 169-52; Garland v. Arrowood, 177-371. Section requires only that question of fraud be submitted to jury where property fully sufficient, etc., is retained: Black v. Sanders, 46-67; Clement v. Cozart, 112-418. Evidence that grantor retained $11,625 to pay debts to amount of $11,500 not sufficient to show that grantor retained property sufficient to pay debts: Williams v. Hughes, 136-58—neither is evidence that 22 negroes and two small tracts of land valued at $7,250 retained to pay debts amounting to $6,848, Black v. Sanders, 46-67. Husband can make valid voluntary conveyance to wife if not made with fraudulent intent and he retains property sufficient and available to pay all of his debts: Shuford v. Cook, 169-52; Woodruff v. Bowles, 104-197; Walton v. Parish, 95-259; Taylor v. Eatman, 92-601. See Finch v. Cecil, 170-114 (deed to husband and wife). Where voluntary conveyance to wife set aside as to creditors, he is entitled to homestead: Rose v. Bryan, 157-173. Money of insolvent husband used in improving wife's land reachable by creditors: Michael v. Moore, 157-462. Voluntary conveyance to child valid if not made with fraudulent intent and grantor retains property sufficient and available to pay all his debts: Worthy v. Brady, 91-265; McCanless v. Flinchum, 89-376; Thacker v. Sanders, 45-145. Conveyance providing that grantee shall support invalid brothers and comply with conditions imposed is not voluntary under section, but rests upon valuable consideration: Worthy v. Brady, 91-265. Evidence of value of tract of land adjoining that retained by donor in deed of gift incompetent to show that donor did not retain property sufficient and available to satisfy existing debts: Warren v. Makely, 85-12. Section qualifies maxim that a man must be just before he is generous in cases where donor at the time of gift retains property fully sufficient and available to satisfy his then creditors: Pullen v. Hutehins, 67-428—but modification confined to gifts inter vivos, Ibid. Deed of gift may be fraudulent though donor at time of gift honestly believed that she had property sufficient to satisfy all debts then existing, when in fact she was mistaken: Black v. Sanders, 46-67. Voluntary conveyance by insolvent ipso facto void as to preëxisting debts: Morgan v. McLelland, 14-82. Subsequent creditors cannot complain of voluntary conveyance unless they show fraud or preëxisting debts: Sutton v. Wells, 177-524; Harris v. Distributing Co., 172-14.

Statement of law as to voluntary conveyances: Aman v. Walker, 165-224.

See as bearing upon section: Markham v. Whitehurst, 109-307; Peeler v. Peeler, 109-628; Jones v. Young, 18-352. Section merely referred to in Cox v. Wall, 132-733; Credle v. Carrawan, 64-424.

1008. Marriage settlements void as to existing creditors. Every contract and settlement of property made by any man and woman in consideration of a marriage between them, for the benefit of such man or woman, or of their issue, whether the same be made before or after marriage, shall be void as against creditors of the parties making the same respectively, existing at the time of such marriage if the same is antenuptial, or at the time of making such contract or settlement if the same is postnuptial.

Rev., s. 963; Code, ss. 1270, 1820; 1871-2, c. 193, s. 11; R. C., c. 37, s. 25; 1785, c. 238, s. 2.

See "Married Women," especially section 2516; also Credle v. Carrawan, 64-422; Teague v. Downs, 69-280. Section applies to instruments executed since enactment: Walton v. Parish, 95-264. Cited, Rose v. Bryan, 157-173.

1009. Purchasers for value and without notice protected. Nothing contained in the preceding sections shall be construed to impeach or make void any conveyance, interest, limitation of use or uses, of or in any lands or tenements, goods or chattels, bona fide made, upon and for good consideration, to any person not having notice of such fraud.

Rev., s. 964; Code, s. 1548; R. C., c. 50, s. 4; 13 Eliz., c. 5, s. 6; 1785, c. 7, s. 6.

This section was intended to act as a proviso to the other sections as to fraudulent conveyances, and one claiming the benefit of it must bring himself within it by competent evidence: Cox v. Wall, 132-734, and cases there cited. Purchaser for value and without notice of any fraud gets good title by conveyance or transfer from fraudulent vendor: Cox v. Wall, 132-730—or from donee or vendee who has himself taken with knowledge of fraud, Wallace v. Cohen, 111-103; Odum v. Riddick, 104-515; Saunders v. Lee, 101-3; Davis v. Council, 92-725; Wade v. Saunders, 70-270; Young v. Lathrop, 67-63; King v. Cantrel, 26-251; King v. Trice, 38-568; Martin v. Cowles, 18-29—but the burden is on him to show that he is such purchaser for value and without notice, Pennell v. Robinson, 164-257; Crockett v. Bray, 151-615; Morgan

v. Bostic, 132-743; Cox v. Wall, 132-730, and cases there reviewed; Stephenson v. Felton, 106-114; Odum v. Riddick, 104-521, and cases cited; Saunders v. Lee, 101-3; Tredwell v. Graham, 88-208. When burden discharged and shifts; wife taking conveyance from husband: Eddleman v. Lentz, 158-65.

Lewis, 27-91; Fullenwider v. Roberts, 20-420. Bona fide purchaser of land from child to whom father had conveyed land after having promised to convey same land to intended wife in consideration of marriage, acquired good title: Brinkley v. Spruill, 130-46. Purchaser of land with notice of prior fraudulent conveyance not protected in purchase, although paid value therefor: Triplett v. Witherspoon, 70-589; Hiatt v. Wade, 30-340. Where person made fraudulent deed of trust of property to one to whom he subsequently conveyed the property in good faith and for a fair price, grantee acquired good title: White v. White, 35-265. “Good consideration” means “valuable consideration”: Arrington v. Arrington, 114-167. As to what is meant by “for value,” see Austin v. Staten, 126-788; Worthy v. Caddell, 76-82; Harris v. DeGraffenreid, 33-89; Fullenwider v. Roberts, 20-420.

Cases bearing upon subject-matter of section: Newlin v. Osborne, 51-128; Dobson v. Erwin, 20-341; Wall v. White, 14-105.

Cases referring to section: Peeler v. Peeler, 109-633; Glenn v. Bank, 70-205.

1010. Bona fide purchaser of mortgaged property not affected by illegal consideration of note secured. No conveyance or mortgage, made to secure the payment of any debt or the performance of any contract or agreement, shall be deemed void as against any purchaser for valuable or other good consideration of the estate or property conveyed, sold, mortgaged or assigned, by reason that the consideration of such debt, contract or agreement is forbidden by law, if such purchaser, at the time of his purchase, did not have notice of the unlawful consideration of such debt, contract or agreement.

Rev., s. 965; Code, s. 1549; R. C., c. 50, s. 5; 1842, c. 70.

Purchaser for value without notice under deed in trust in which some of debts secured are fictitious or usurious gets good title: McNeill v. Riddle, 66-290; McCorkle v. Earnhardt, 61-300. This section does not purport to protect the innocent holder of a mortgage note which is tainted with usury, but the “purchaser of the estate or property” at sale under mortgage who buys without notice of the usurious taint in debt secured: Ward v. Sugg, 113-494.

1011. Bona fide purchaser of fraudulently conveyed property treated as creditor. Purchasers of estate previously conveyed in fraud of creditors or purchasers shall have like remedy and relief as creditors might have had before the sale and purchase.

Rev., s. 966; Code, s. 1550; R. C., c. 50, s. 6.

Section merely referred to: Kenner v. Mfg. Co., 91-425.

1012. Persons aiding debtor to remove to defraud creditors liable for debts. If any person removes or aids and assists in removing any debtor out of any county in which he has resided for the space of six months, or more, with the intent, by such removing, aiding or assisting, to delay, hinder or defraud the creditors, or any of them, of such debtor, the person so removing, aiding or assisting therein, and his executors or administrators, shall be liable to pay all the debts which the debtor removed may justly owe in the county from which he was so removed; and the same may be recovered by the creditors, their executors or administrators, by a civil action.

Rev., s. 1939; Code, s. 1551; R. C., c. 50, s. 14; 1820, c. 1063.

Where debtor removes out of county, with intent to defraud his creditors, person who, knowing of such intent, helps him by carrying him or his property part of way in order to help him get out of county, becomes bound for his debts: Godsey v. Bason, 30-260—though he did not convey debtor or his goods entirely out of one county into another. Where such person is sued by creditor, not necessary to show that he had knowledge of any particular debt due by debtor, but it is sufficient if circumstances of case induce jury to believe that removal made with view to defraud creditors, Ibid.—and measure of damages is the amount of the debt due by debtor to plaintiff, Ibid.

Bail of person arrested under capias ad respondendum may maintain action against one for fraudulently aiding and assisting principal to remove from county, in consequence whereof he had debt sued on to pay: March v. Wilson, 44-143.

Surety on constable's bond upon which there has been a breach, but no judgment or payment by him, is not a creditor so as to entitle him to recover against one for fraudulently removing his principal: Booe v. Wilson, 46-192.

Simply advising debtor to run away, though advice be given to delay creditor, is not equivalent to aiding and assisting, and will not sustain action under section: Wiley v. McRee, 47-349.

Where person persuades debtor, temporarily absent from county of residence, not to go back to that county, but to go to distant parts, promising to send his property to him, which he afterwards does, and aids him with money to abscond from place where he then is, and goes part of way with him for purpose of defrauding creditors, he is liable under section: Moore v. Rogers, 48-91.

For one to go with absconding debtor to depot where debtor gets on train, and to take his horse back home, knowing of debtor's fraudulent intention to abscond, is such aiding and assisting as will make party liable: Moss v. Peoples, 51-140.

Where agent, who had money of principal, gave it to principal's son to help him abscond from debtors, and principal afterwards allowed it in settlement with agent, this does not make principal liable: Moore v. Rogers, 51-297.

Where party carried debtor to railroad station with his own horse and buggy, and there procured money for him to leave the state with intent to assist him to avoid his creditors, he is liable under section: Moffitt v. Burgess, 53-342.

Section merely referred to in Baker v. Harris, 60-274. For case prior to enactment of section, see Gardiner v. Sherrod, 9-173.

1013. Sales in bulk presumed fraudulent. The sale in bulk of a large part or the whole of a stock of merchandise, otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in regular and usual prosecution of the seller's business, shall be prima facie evidence of fraud, and void as against the creditors of the seller, unless the seller, at least seven days before the sale, make an inventory showing the quantity and, so far as possible, the cost price to the seller of such articles included in the sale, and shall within said time notify the creditors of the proposed sale, and the price, terms and conditions thereof. If the owner of said stock of goods shall at any time before the sale execute a good and sufficient bond, to a trustee therein named, in an amount equal to the actual cash value of the stock of goods, and conditioned that the seller will apply the proceeds of the sale, subject to the right of the owner or owners to retain therefrom the personal property exemption or exemptions as are allowed by law, so far as it will go in payment of debts actually owing by the owner or owners, then the provisions of this section shall not apply. Such sale of merchandise in bulk shall not be presumed to be a fraud as against any creditor or creditors who shall not present his or their claim or make demand upon the purchaser in good faith of such stock of goods and merchandise, or to the trustee named in any bond given as provided herein, within twelve months from the date of maturity of his claim, and any creditor who does not present his claim or make demand either upon the purchaser in good faith or on the trustee named in a bond within twelve months from the date of its maturity shall be barred from recovering on his claim on such bond, or as against the purchaser, in good faith, of such stock of goods in bulk. Nothing in this section shall prevent voluntary assignments or deeds of trust for the benefit of creditors as now allowed by law, or apply to sales by executors, administrators, receivers or assignees under a voluntary assignment for the benefit of creditors, trustees in bankruptcy, or by any public officers under judicial process.

1907, c. 623; 1913, c. 30, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 66, s. 1.

Section constitutional: Pender v. Speight, 159-612. Sale in bulk not in regular course of trade is prima facie fraudulent, even when statute is complied with, and it is void as to creditors when not complied with: Pennell v. Robinson, 164-257; Gallup v. Rozier, 172-283. Whether compliance with statute is shown is for jury, and burden of establishing fraud upon the whole evidence rests with plaintiff, though even in case statute complied with statute raises presumption of fraud: Gallup v. Rozier, 172-283. "Within seven days" in statute does not mean seven days notice, but is limit beyond which notice cannot be given: Ibid. Debtor entitled to personal property exemption even if sale set aside: Whitmore v. Hyatt, 175-117. Section referred to: Little v. Fleishman, 177-21.

CORONERS

- 1014. Election; appointment by clerk in special cases.
- 1015. Oaths to be taken.
- 1016. Coroner's bond.
- 1017. Coroner's bonds registered; certified copies evidence.
- 1018. In case of vacancy, clerk appoints special.
- 1019. Powers, penalties and liabilities of special coroner.
- 1020. To hold inquests; duties thereat.
- 1021. Acts as sheriff in certain cases; special coroner.
- 1022. Compensation of jurors at inquests.

1014. Election; appointment by clerk in special cases. In each county a coroner shall be elected by the qualified voters thereof, as is prescribed for members of the general assembly, and shall hold his office for two years. When there is no coroner in a county, the clerk of the superior court for the county may appoint one for special cases.

Rev., s. 1047; Const., Art. IV, s. 24.

In case of a vacancy county commissioners appoint, see section 1297, subsection 12.

1015. Oaths to be taken. Every coroner, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall take and subscribe to the oaths prescribed for public officers, and an oath of office.

Rev., s. 1048; Code, s. 661.

1016. Coroner's bond. Every coroner shall execute an undertaking for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office with good surety, in the sum of two thousand dollars, payable to the state of North Carolina and approved by the board of county commissioners.

Rev., s. 299; Code, s. 661; R. C., c. 25, s. 2; 1791, c. 342, ss. 1, 2; 1820, c. 1047, ss. 1, 2; 1899, c. 54, s. 52.

Mabry v. Turrentine, 30-201. For actions on official bonds, see sections 354 and 356, and for action on bond of coroner acting as sheriff, see sections 3930, 3941.

1017. Coroners' bonds registered; certified copies evidence. All official bonds of coroners shall be duly proved, certified, registered and filed as sheriffs' bonds are required to be; and certified copies of the same, from the register's office, shall be received and read in evidence in the like cases and in like manner as such copies of sheriffs' bonds are now allowed to be read in evidence.

Rev., s. 300; Code, s. 662; 1860-1, c. 18.

1018. In case of vacancy clerk appoints special. When there is a vacancy existing in the office of coroner in any county, and it is made to appear by the affidavit of some responsible person that a deceased person whose body has been found within the county probably came to his death by the criminal act or default of some person, it is the duty of the clerk of the superior court of such county to appoint some suitable person as special coroner to hold an inquest over the body of the deceased.

Rev., s. 1049; 1903, c. 661.

1019. Powers, penalties and liabilities of special coroner. The special coroner appointed under the provisions of the preceding section shall be invested with all the powers and duties conferred upon the several coroners in respect to holding inquests over deceased bodies, and shall be subject to the penalties and liabilities imposed on the said coroners.

Rev., s. 1050; 1903, c. 661, s. 2.

See supra, section 1016, as to coroner's bond.

1020. To hold inquests; duties thereat. It is the duty of the several coroners, when it is made to appear, by the affidavit of some responsible person, that the deceased probably came to his death by the criminal act or default of some person or persons, or at the request of the solicitor, to go to the place where the body of such deceased person is and forthwith to summon a jury of six good and lawful men; whereupon the coroner, upon oath of the jury at the said place, shall make inquiry when, how and by what means such deceased person came to his death, and his name if it was known, together with all the material circumstances attending his death; and if it appears that the deceased was slain, then who was guilty either as principal or accessory, if known, or in any manner the cause of his death. As many persons as are found culpable, by inquisition in manner aforesaid, shall be taken and delivered to the sheriff and committed to jail; and such persons as are found to know anything of the matters aforesaid, and are not culpable themselves, shall be bound in a recognizance with sufficient surety to appear at the next superior court to give evidence; of all which matters and things the coroner must make a record of his inquisition, signed by the jurors, and return the same to the next superior court of his proper county. It is the duty of every coroner, when the jury investigating the case requires it, to summon a physician or surgeon.

Rev., s. 1051; Code, s. 657; 1899, c. 478; 1905, c. 628; 1909, c. 707, s. 1.

In Buncombe County, when the coroner is a physician or surgeon, he shall make the investigation, if requested by one or more of the jurors. Rev., s. 1051; 1903, c. 586.

INQUEST. Time of death of party must be sufficiently stated, inferred from State v. Morgan, 86-731, 85-581. The inquest is the court of the coroner: State v. Knight, 84-789. Justice of peace cannot administer oaths at: Ibid.—but witness must be sworn by coroner, Ibid. Proceedings at inquests discussed: Ibid.

1021. Acts as sheriff in certain cases; special coroner. If at any time there is no person properly qualified to act as sheriff in any county, the coroner of such county is hereby required to execute all process and in all other things to act as sheriff, until some person is appointed sheriff in said county; and he shall be under the same rules and regulations, and subject to the same forfeitures, fines, and penalties as sheriffs are by law for neglect or disobedience of the same duties. If at any time the sheriff of any county is interested in or a party to any proceeding in any court, and there is no coroner in such county, or if the coroner is interested in any such proceeding, then the clerk of the court from which such process issues shall appoint some suitable person to act as special coroner to execute such process, and such special coroner shall be under the same rules, regulations and penalties as hereinabove provided for.

Rev., s. 1052; Code, s. 658; 1891, c. 173.

The provision for deputizing special officer when sheriff and coroner interested applicable also to courts of justices of the peace: Baker v. Brem, 127-322.

WHEN SHERIFF A PARTY OR INTERESTED. Process must be executed by coroner: Bowen v. Jones, 35-25; Battle v. Baird, 118-862—by deputy of coroner, Yeargin v. Siler, 83-348. Where no coroner, clerk appoints one to execute process: Wittkowsky v. Wasson, 69-33. Sheriff insane and county commissioners failing to declare office vacant, coroner performs duties of sheriff, except as tax collector: Somers v. Comrs., 123-582. See, also, sections 3929, 3938.

1022. Compensation of jurors at inquest. All persons who may be summoned to act as jurors in any inquest held by a coroner over dead bodies, and who, in obedience thereto, appear and act as such jurors, shall be entitled to the same compensation in per diem and mileage as is allowed by law to jurors acting in the superior courts. The coroners of the respective counties are authorized and empowered to take proof of the number of days of service of each juror so acting and also of the number of miles traveled by such juror in going to and returning from such place of inquest, and shall file with the board of commissioners of the county a correct account of the same, which shall be, by such commissioners, audited and paid in the manner provided for the pay of jurors acting in the superior courts.

- 1111. Action for penalty; when and how brought.
- 1112. Remedies cumulative.

ART. 1. ORGANIZATION

1023. Court of record. There shall be a court of record, known as the Corporation Commission. Such court shall adopt a seal and shall have all of the powers and jurisdiction of a court of general jurisdiction as to all subjects embraced in this chapter. The members and clerk thereof may administer oaths.

Rev., s. 1054; 1899, c. 164, ss. 1, 31.

See the chapter Railroads, section 3412 et seq., and annotations there for questions which touch the subject-matter of this chapter in some aspects. Corporation commission is not a judicial court, but an administrative agency with certain quasi-judicial and legislative powers: Corp. Com. v. R. R., 170-560; Corp. Com. v. R. R., 151-447. So the railroad commission, which the corporation commission succeeded: Pate v. R. R., 122-877; Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-425. Reasons for making railroad commission a court of record: Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-

425. Establishment of the commission court not interference with interstate commerce: Ibid. Act establishing corporation commission (1899, c. 164) and 1899, c. 506, in effect amended and reenacted act of 1891, c. 320, which established railroad commission: State v. R. R., 125-666; Abbott v. Beddingfield, 125-256, and cases cited; see, also, Wilson v. Jordan, 124-683. Discussion of power of legislature in formation of this court and constitutionality of certain provisions of railroad commission act of 1891 and of act of 1892 in Efland v. R. R., 146-135; Pate v. R. R., 122-877; Express Co. v. R. R., 111-463; Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-425; Industrial Siding Case, 140-239; Corporation Com. v. R. R., 139-126; Railroad Connection Case, 137-14; Corporation Com. v. R. R., 127-288; Leavell v. Tel. Co., 116-220, and cases there cited.

1024. Number of commissioners. The court shall consist of three commissioners, who shall be elected by the qualified voters of the state in the same manner as other state officers are elected. The court shall organize by the election of one of the commissioners as chairman.

Rev., s. 1055; 1899, c. 164, s. 1.

1025. Term of office. The term of office of the commissioners shall begin on the first day of January next after their election, and shall continue for six years and until their successors are elected and qualified. One member of the court shall be elected at each general election.

Rev., s. 1056; 1899, c. 164.

1026. Vacancy. If for any cause there shall be a vacancy in the commission, the governor shall appoint to such vacancy. Such appointee shall hold until the election and qualification of his successor, who shall be elected at the next general election after the vacancy occurred. The person so elected shall hold office for the unexpired term.

Rev., s. 1057; 1899, c. 164; 1901, c. 194.

1027. Qualifications of commissioners. It shall be unlawful for any member or official of said court to jointly, severally, or in any other way, either directly or indirectly, hold any stock or bond, or be the agent, attorney or employee, or have any interest in any way in any steamboat, railroad, canal, navigation, express, telegraph, telephone, or banking company or association. If any member or official of said court shall, during the term of his office, as distributee or legatee, or in any other way, have or become entitled to any stock or bonds or interest therein of any such company, he shall at once dispose of the same, and upon failure to do so shall forfeit his office, and may be suspended by the governor.

Rev., s. 1058; 1899, c. 164.

Power of governor to suspend railroad commissioner under former act discussed: Caldwell v. Wilson, 121-425.

1028. Oath of office. The members of the court, in addition to the oath to support the constitution and laws of the United States and the constitution and laws of the state of North Carolina, shall take, to be administered by one of the judges of the supreme court, the following oath of office, which oath shall be signed by such commissioners and attested by said judge and recorded in the office of the secretary of state: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I am not the owner of any steamboat or of any stock or bond of any railroad, navigation or canal company, express, telegraph, telephone, or banking company, or the agent or attorney or employee of any such company or association; that I have no interest in any way in any such company or association, and that I will well and faithfully execute the duties of my office as a member of the corporation commission and as state tax commissioner to the best of my knowledge and ability, without fear, favor, malice, reward or the hope of reward. So help me, God.”

Rev., s. 1059; 1899, c. 164, s. 1; 1903, c. 251, s. 3.

1029. Place of meeting. The court shall be held in the city of Raleigh. Special sessions may be held at any place in the state, when in the judgment of the commission the convenience of all parties is best subserved and expense is thereby saved.

Rev., s. 1060; 1899, c. 164, ss. 30, 31; 1901, c. 679, s. 4.

1030. Open at all times. The court shall be open at all times for the transaction of business, and each member shall devote his whole time to the discharge of the duties of his office; and it shall be his duty to remain in the office of the commission at least fifteen days in each month, unless detained therefrom on official business.

Rev., s. 1061; 1899, c. 164, s. 30; 1903, c. 251, s. 3.

1031. Quorum. Any two members of the court shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The chairman is hereby authorized and empowered to perform the duties and exercise the powers conferred by law upon the corporation commission as to or over banks and building and loan associations, but this shall not prevent, as to banking and building and loan associations, the other members of the court from acting with the chairman in all of such matters.

Rev., s. 1062; 1899, c. 164, s. 29.

1032. Clerk and assistants. The court shall appoint a clerk, who shall be an expert accountant, experienced in railroad statistics and transportation rates. His term of office shall be two years. He shall take and subscribe to oaths of office similar to those prescribed for the commissioners, but he may nevertheless hold stock in state or national banks.

The commission, by and with the approval of the governor, is authorized to appoint an additional clerk, who shall be an expert accountant, well versed and experienced in railroad and transportation rates; and also such other clerical help as in the opinion of the commission and the governor is necessary for a proper discharge of the duties of the commission in dealing with public-service corporations operating in this state. The amount annually expended for this purpose shall not exceed six thousand dollars.

The commission is authorized to employ such rate experts as it may deem advisable to assist in the preparation and prosecution of the cases it has instituted or may institute before the interstate commerce commission for the reduction of freight rates into and out of North Carolina.

Rev., s. 1063; 1899, c. 164, ss. 9, 31; 1907, c. 999; 1913, c. 22, s. 1; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 58, s. 1.

1033. Counsel. The commission has authority to employ counsel whenever and for such period of time as in their judgment is necessary, and counsel so employed shall be paid such fee and compensation as shall be agreed upon by them. The governor is authorized and empowered to employ from time to time, at the expense of the state, such special counsel as he and the corporation commission deem wise, to assist the attorney-general in enforcing and making effective the jurisdiction and promulgations of the commission with reference to freight and other transportation rates, at a cost not exceeding one thousand dollars in any one year.

1907, c. 469, s. 5; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 58, s. 2.

1034. Expenses. All the expenses of the commission, except as otherwise provided by law, including all necessary expenses for transportation incurred by the commissioners or by their employees under their orders in making any investigation, or upon official business, or for any other purposes necessary for carrying out the provisions of this chapter, and necessary furniture, stationery, postage, lights and heat, shall be allowed, and the auditor shall issue his warrant upon presentation of itemized vouchers therefor approved by the chairman of the commission: Provided, that the expenses allowed under this section shall not exceed three thousand six hundred dollars annually.

Rev., s. 1118; 1899, c. 164, s. 32; 1899, c. 68.

ART. 2. CORPORATIONS AND BUSINESSES WITHIN CONTROL OF COMMISSION

1035. Corporations and businesses within control of commission. The corporation commission shall have such general control and supervision as is necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this chapter and the laws regulating the companies, corporations, copartnerships and individuals specified herein, over—

1. Railroad, street railway, steamboat, canal, express and sleeping car companies, and all other companies or corporations engaged in the carrying of freight or passengers, and all copartnerships or individuals engaged in the business of common carriers.

Rev., s. 1066; 1899, c. 164, s. 1; 1901, c. 679.

Legislature has right to supervise, regulate and control rates and conduct of common carriers, whether directly or through commission: Industrial Siding Case, 140-239; Corp. Com. v. R. R., 139-26; Corp. Com. v. R. R., 127-288; Express Co. v. R. R., 111-463. General supervision over railroads given to corporation commission: Tilley v. R. R., 162-37. State has right to regulate public-service corporations, to enforce its regulations by appropriate penalties, in fixing which the right of classification is referred largely to legislative discretion: Morris v. Express Co., 146-167; Efland v. R. R., 146-135. See, also, Telephone Co. v. Telephone Co., 159-9.

2. Telegraph and telephone companies and all other companies engaged in the transmission of messages; over persons and individuals owning and operating telegraph or telephone lines in North Carolina and who rent phones and wires to persons generally.

Rev., ss. 1066, 1096; 1899, c. 164, ss. 1, 2; 1907, c. 966.

As to power of commission to regulate telegraph companies: Leavell v. Tel. Co., 116-220; R. R. Comrs. v. Tel. Co., 113-213; Mayo v. Tel. Co., 112-343. Telephones subject to regulation notwithstanding contract as to fixed rate: Telephone Co. v. Telephone Co., 159-9. The power to regulate and control does not take away the power of the courts to determine the rights of the parties under a contract: Walls v. Strickland, 174-298.

3. Electric light, power, water and gas companies and corporations, other than such as are municipally owned or conducted, and over all persons, companies and corporations, other than municipal corporations, now or hereafter engaged in furnishing electricity, electric light, current or power and gas.

1913, c. 127, s. 1.

4. All water power, hydro-electric power and water companies now doing business in this state, or which may hereafter engage in doing business in this state, whether organized under the general or private laws of this state, or under the laws of any other state or country. Such companies are deemed to be public-service companies and subject to the laws of this state regulating public-service corporations.

1913, c. 133, s. 1.

Companies enumerated in this subsection subject to control and regulation: Power Co. v. Power Co., 175-668.

5. Flume companies which avail themselves of the power of eminent domain as provided in the chapter Eminent Domain.

1907, c. 39.

6. Corporations, other than municipal corporations, or individuals, owning and operating a public sewerage system in North Carolina.

1917, c. 194.

7. Public and private banks, and all loan and trust companies or corporations.

Rev., s. 1066; 1899, c. 164, s. 1; 1901, c. 679.

The power of control and supervision vested in the corporation commission under this section with respect to the various classes of public-service corporations and individuals engaged in furnishing the public utilities mentioned shall be the same as that vested in it in respect to railroads and other transportation companies.

1913, c. 127, s. 7.

See sections 2783-2785.

ART. 3. POWERS AND DUTIES

1036. To be Board of State Tax Commissioners. The corporation commissioners constitute the Board of State Tax Commissioners with the powers and duties prescribed by article four of the chapter entitled Taxation.

Rev., s. 1119.

See section 7881. Shoe Co. v. Travis, 168-599.

1037. To make and enforce rules for public-service corporations. The corporation commission has power to make any necessary and proper rules, orders and regulations for the safety, comfort and convenience of passengers, shippers or patrons of any public-service corporation, and to require the observance of and to enforce the same by the company and its employees, such power being the same as that provided in this chapter in respect to railroads and other transportation companies.

1907, c. 469, s. 1a; 1913, c. 127, s. 2.

1038. To require transportation and transmission companies to maintain facilities. The corporation commission has power to require all transportation and transmission companies to establish and maintain all such public-service facilities and conveniences as may be reasonable and just. It may require steamboat companies to provide such wharf and warehouse facilities as may be reasonable and just.

1907, c. 469, s. 2; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 52, s. 1.

1039. To authorize lumber companies to transport commodities. The corporation commission has power to authorize lumber companies, having logging roads, to transport all kinds of commodities other than their own and passengers, and to charge therefor reasonable rates to be approved by the commission.

1915, c. 160, s. 1; 1915, c. 6.

1040. To establish and regulate stations for freight and passengers. The commission is empowered and directed to require, where the public necessity demands, and it is demonstrated that the revenue received will be sufficient to justify it, the establishment of stations by any company or corporation engaged in the transportation of freight and passengers in this state, and to require the erection of depot accommodations commensurate with such business and revenue, and to require the erection of accommodations for loading and unloading live-stock and for feeding, sheltering and protecting the same in transportation. The commissioners shall not require any company or corporation to establish any station nearer to another station than five miles.

Rev., s. 1097; 1899, c. 164, s. 2, subsec. 12; 1913, c. 155.

Limitation on power to require station within five miles of existing station does not prevent enforcement of railroad's contract for flag station so long as it does not interfere with public interests: Perralt v. R. R., 165-295. "Depot accommodations commensurate with" needs may justify requirement of track scales at proper points, but commission's order for track scales is subject to review by the courts, and court or jury should pass on reasonableness and necessity of order: Corp. Com. v. R. R., 139-126. See, also, as to power to require establishment and changes in depots: Corp. Com. v. R. R., 170-560; also section 1041.

1041. To require change, repair, and additions to stations. The commission is empowered and directed to require a change of any station or the repairing, addition to, or change of any station house by any railroad or other transportation company in order to promote the security, convenience and accommodation of the public, and to require the raising or lowering of the track at any crossing when deemed necessary.

Rev., s. 1097; 1899, c. 164, s. 2, subsec. 13.

See cases under section 1040.

1042. To provide for union depots. The commission is empowered and directed to require, when practicable, and when the necessities of the case, in their judgment, require, any two or more railroads which now or hereafter may enter any city or town to have one common or union passenger depot for the security, accommodation and convenience of traveling public, and to unite in the joint undertaking and expense of erecting, constructing and maintaining such union passenger depot, commensurate with the business and revenue of such railroad companies or corporations, on such terms, regulations, provisions and conditions as the commission shall prescribe. The railroads so ordered to construct a union depot shall have power to condemn land for such purpose, as in case of locating and constructing a line of railroad: Provided, that nothing in this section shall be construed to authorize the commission to require the construction of such union depot should the railroad companies at the time of application for said order have separate depots, which, in the opinion of the commission, are adequate and convenient and offer suitable accommodations for the traveling public.

Rev., s. 1097; 1903, c. 126.

Subsection is valid exercise of legislative power, and, being remedial, will be liberally construed: Dewey v. R. R., 142-392. See State v. R. R., 161-270. It confers powers necessarily incident to effecting purpose designated, such as changes in route or making depot available to public: Griffin v. R. R., 150-312; Dewey v. R. R., 142-392. Applies to all cities and towns in state, in legal discretion of commission: Dewey v. R. R., 142-392. In superior court on appeal from order requiring union depot, evidence should be limited to conditions at place in question: State v. R. R., 161-270. Subsection applies to changes in route by order of commission; section 3435 to road's voluntary change: Dewey v. R. R., 142-392.

1043. To provide for separate waiting rooms for races. The commission is empowered and directed to require the establishment of separate waiting rooms at all stations for the white and colored races.

Rev., s. 1097; 1899, c. 64, s. 2, subsec. 14.

1044. To require construction of sidetracks. The commission is empowered and directed to require the construction of sidetracks by any railroad company to industries already established or to be established: Provided, it is shown that the proportion of such revenue accruing to such sidetrack is sufficient within five years to pay the expenses of its construction. This shall not be construed to give the commission authority to require railroad companies to construct sidetracks more than five hundred feet in length.

Rev., s. 1097; 1899, c. 164, s. 2, subsec. 15.

Requiring interstate railroad to construct sidetrack, if proper legislative authority for such order exists, is not interference with interstate commerce: State v. R. R., 153-559. Requiring nonresident railroad to build siding, which can only be built by exercising eminent domain, is beyond authority of commission, since such railroads do not possess eminent domain: Ibid. Where landowner grants to adjoining owner right to build and use spur track over grantor's land, in connection with grantee's business, railroad cannot under this section acquire this right from grantee and use it for other patrons of railroad: Hales v. R. R., 172-104. Reasonableness and practicability of order under circumstances of case considered: Industrial Siding Case, 140-239.

1045. To require trains to be run over railroads and connections at intersections. The commission is empowered and directed to require, when practicable and when the necessities of the traveling public, in the judgment of the corporation commission, demand, that any railroad in this state shall install and operate one or more passenger or freight trains over its road, and also require any two or more railroads having intersecting points to make close connection at such points: Provided, that no order under this section shall be made unless the business of the railroad justifies it.

Commission may require railroad to have train arrive at certain station on road at certain schedule time so as to connect with train of another company: Corp. Com. v. R. R., 137-1.

1046. To inspect railroads as to equipment and facilities, and to require repair. The commission is empowered and directed, from time to time, to carefully examine into and inspect the condition of each railroad, its equipment and facilities, in regard to the public's safety and convenience; and if any are found by them to be unsafe, they shall at once notify and require the railroad company to put the same in repair.

1047. To require installation and maintenance of block system and safety devices. The commission is empowered and directed to require any railroad company to install and put in operation and maintain upon the whole or any part of its road a block system of telegraphy or any other reasonable safety device, but no railroad company shall be required to install a block system upon any part of its road upon which is not operated as many as or more than eight trains each way per day.

1907, c. 469, s. 1b.

1048. To regulate crossings and to require grade crossings. The commission is empowered and directed to require the raising or lowering of any tracks or highway at any highway or railroad crossing, and to designate who shall pay for the same; and, when they think proper, partition the cost of abolishing grade crossings and the raising or lowering of said track or highway among the railroads and municipalities interested.

1907, c. 469, s. 1(c) ; 1911, c. 197, s. 1.

Section does not exclude exercise of police power by state or municipal corporation in regulating crossings: State v. R. R., 164-422; R. R. v. Goldsboro, 155-356. Power of commission to establish grade crossings recognized: Tate v. R. R., 168-523.

1049. To require installation and maintenance of automatic signals at railroad intersections, etc. The commission is empowered and directed to require, when public safety demands, when and in case two or more railroads now cross or may hereafter cross each other at a common grade, or any railroad crosses any stream or harbor by means of a bridge, to install and maintain such a system of interlocking or automatic signals as will render it safe for engines and trains to pass over such crossings or bridge without stopping, and to apportion the cost of installation and maintenance between said railroads as may be just and proper.

1911, c. 197, s. 2; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 63, s. 1.

1050. To require railroads to enter towns and maintain depots in certain cases. Where two or more railroads may maintain freight depots and a union passenger depot within one mile of a town of two thousand population for the convenience of the inhabitants thereof, and do not enter the corporate limits of the town, it is the duty of the corporation commission, upon the petition of a majority of the qualified voters of the said town, which petition shall be properly sworn to by the signers thereof, to require and compel, where practicable, the said railroads to run their lines into or through the corporate limits of the said town, and construct, equip, and maintain suitable passenger and freight depots at some convenient place or places therein, and the passenger depot shall be a union station and be built and maintained by the several railroads according to a plan and in such a manner as shall be approved by the commission.

When a petition is filed with the corporation commission as aforesaid, the commission shall set a day for the hearing thereof, which day shall be not more than twenty days from the filing of said petition, and shall immediately cause a notice to issue to the railroads interested in the matter set out in the petition, and after the hearing of the matter on the day named in the notice, the commission, if a majority of its members deem it practicable, shall thereupon cause an order to be made requiring the said railroads to build, equip, and maintain in a suitable manner roadbeds, yards and depots, and any other necessary buildings or equipment, at convenient places within the limits of said town, as to a majority of them seems proper for the needs and growth of the business and inhabitants of the said town.

The order of the corporation commission to the railroads shall name a time within which all the necessary work of entering the said town and construction of depots and other buildings shall be completed and opened to the public for the transaction of business, and the said railroads, for every day beyond the said time that they shall not be in operation according to the said order, shall pay the sum of fifty dollars for each and every day of such failure and neglect, to the board of commissioners or aldermen of said town, which shall be for the benefit of the said town, this amount to be recovered as in other actions.

This section shall also apply to any railroad that may hereafter enter into or run within one mile of the corporate limits of said town, and the corporation commission shall have the power to require such railroads to unite with the other railroads in maintaining the depots, tracks, and other structures, and also pay such part of the cost thereof as to the said corporation commission may seem proper.

The railroads have the power to condemn such quantity of lands, including gardens, yards, residences and the premises pertaining thereto, as are necessary for the purposes of this section, the condemnation proceedings to be had in the same manner as now provided by law.

1907, c. 465.

1051. To consent to abandonment or relocation of depots. A railroad corporation which has established and maintained for a year a passenger station or freight depot at a point upon its road shall not abandon such station or depot, nor substantially diminish the accommodation furnished by the stopping of trains, except by consent of the commission. Freight or passenger depots may be relocated upon the written approval of the commission.

Rev., s. 1098; 1899, c. 164, ss. 19, 20.

1052. To regulate crossings of telephone, telegraph and electric power lines. Power is conferred on the corporation commission whenever any telephone, telegraph or electric power lines cross, to require such crossings to be constructed and maintained in a safe manner, so that the wires of one line will not fall upon the other; to prescribe the manner in which this shall be done; to discontinue or prohibit such crossings where they are unnecessary and can reasonably be avoided; and to apportion the cost of proper changing and construction of such crossings among the lines interested, as to said commissioners may seem just: Provided, that in all crossings made dangerous by the presence of high tension wire or wires of any power or light company, the cost shall be paid by such power or light company.

1913, c. 130, s. 1.

1053. To regulate delivery of freight, express, and baggage. The corporation commission shall make reasonable and just rules—

1. For the handling of freight and baggage at stations.

2. As to charges by any company or corporation engaged in the carriage of freight or express for the necessary handling and delivery of the same at all stations.

Rev., s. 1094; 1899, c. 164, s. 2, subsecs. 2, 7.

1054. To prevent discriminations. The corporation commission shall make reasonable and just rules and regulations—

1. To prevent discrimination in the transportation of freight or passengers, or in furnishing electricity, electric light, current, power or gas.

“Discrimination” defined: Freight Discrimination Cases, 95-434. Railroad carrying logs to sawmill cannot charge shipper agreeing to ship manufactured product by same line less for same services than charged shipper who makes no such agreement: Railroad Discrimination Case, 136-479. Consult Express Co. v. R. R., 111-463.

2. To prevent the giving, paying or receiving of any rebate or bonus, directly or indirectly, or the misleading or deceiving the public in any manner as to real rates charged for freight, express or passengers, or in furnishing electricity, electric light, current, power or gas.

Rev., s. 1095; 1899, c. 164, s. 2, subsecs. 3, 5; 1913, c. 127, s. 6.
See State v. R. R., 122-1052.

1055. To fix a standard for gas. The corporation commission shall fix, establish and promulgate a standard of quality for gas and prescribe rules and regulations for the enforcement of and obedience to the same.

1919, c. 32.

1056. To regulate shipment of inflammable substances. The corporation commission is authorized and empowered to adopt and promulgate rules for the shipment of inflammable and explosive articles; cotton which has been partially consumed by fire, and such other like articles as in its opinion may be apt to render transportation dangerous. And after the promulgation of such rules, no common carrier shall be required to receive or transport any such articles except when tendered in accordance with the said rules; nor shall such common carrier be liable for any penalty for refusal to receive such article for shipment until all the rules prescribed by the corporation commission in regard to the shipments of the same shall be complied with.

1907, c. 471, s. 1.

1057. To regulate demurrage, storage, placing, and loading of cars. The commission shall make rules, regulations and rates governing demurrage and storage charges by railroad companies and other transportation companies; and shall make rules governing railroad companies in the placing of cars for loading and unloading and in fixing time limit for delivery of freights after the same have been received by the transportation companies for shipment.

Rev., s. 1100; 1903, c. 342.

Section cited: Hardware Co. v. R. R., 147-483.

1058. To fix rate of speed through towns; procedure. If a railroad company is of the opinion that an ordinance of a city or town through which a line of its railroad passes, except in the counties of Cumberland, Rockingham, Union and Wayne, regulating the speed at which trains may run while passing through said city or town, is unreasonable or oppressive, such railroad company may file its petition before the corporation commission, setting forth all the facts, and asking relief against such ordinance, and that the corporation commission prescribe the rate of speed at which trains may run through said municipality. Upon the filing of the petition a copy thereof shall be mailed, in a registered letter, to the mayor or chief officer of the town or municipality, together with a notice from the corporation commission, setting forth that on a day named in the notice the petition of the railroad company will be heard, and that the city or town named in the petition will be heard at that time in opposition to the prayer of the petition. And upon the return day of the notice the corporation commission shall hear the petition, but any hearing granted by the corporation commission shall be had at the town, city or locality where the conditions complained of are alleged to exist, or some member of the said commission shall take evidence, both for the petition and against it, at such city, town or locality, and report to the full commission before any decision is made by the commission.

Either party, petitioner or respondent, has the right to introduce testimony and to be heard by counsel, and the corporation commission, after hearing the petition, answer, evidence and argument, shall render judgment thereon. If the commission finds that such ordinance is reasonable and just the petition shall be dismissed, and the petitioner shall pay all the costs, to be taxed by the clerk to the corporation commission. If the commission is of the opinion that the ordinance is unreasonable, it shall so adjudge; and in addition thereto it shall prescribe the maximum rates of speed for passing through such town. And thereafter the railroad company may run its trains through such town or city at speeds not greater than those prescribed by the corporation commission, and the ordinance adjudged to be unreasonable shall not be enforced against such railroad company.

If the judgment of the corporation commission is in favor of the petitioner, it shall be lawful for the corporation commission to make such order as to the payment of the costs as shall seem just. It may require either party to pay the same or it may divide the same. The costs in such proceeding shall be the same as are fixed by law for similar services in the superior court.

Rev., ss. 1101, 1102, 1103; 1903, c. 552.

1059. To hear and determine controversies submitted. When a company or corporation embraced in this chapter has a controversy with another corporation or person, and all the parties to such controversy agree in writing to submit such controversy to the commission as arbitrators, the commission shall act as such, and after due notice to all parties interested shall proceed to hear the same, and their award shall be final. Such award in cases where land or an interest in land is concerned shall immediately be certified to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which said land is situated, and shall by such clerk be docketed in the judgment docket for such county, and from such docketing shall be a judgment of the superior court for such county. Parties may appear in person or by attorney before such arbitrators.

Rev., s. 1073; 1899, c. 164, s. 25.

1060. To investigate companies and businesses under its control. The commissioners shall from time to time visit the places of business, and investigate the books and papers of all corporations, firms or individuals engaged in the transportation of freight or passengers, the transmission of messages either by telegraph or telephone, or in the furnishing of other public utilities the supervision and control of which is vested in the corporation commission, all public or private banks, loan and trust companies, to ascertain if all the orders, rules and regulations of the corporation commission have been complied with, and shall have full power and authority to examine all officers, agents and employees of such companies, individuals, firms or corporations, and all other persons, under oath or otherwise, and to compel the production of papers and the attendance of witnesses to obtain the information necessary for carrying into effect and otherwise enforcing the provisions of this chapter, and the chapter entitled Banks.

Rev., s. 1064; 1913, c. 127, ss. 1, 2, 7; 1917, c. 194; 1899, c. 164, s. 1.

1061. To investigate accidents. The commission may investigate the causes of any accident on a railroad or steamboat which it may deem to require investigation, and any evidence taken upon such investigation shall be reduced to writing, filed in the office of the commission, and be subject to public inspection.

Rev., s. 1065; 1899, c. 164, s. 24.

1062. To notify of violation of rules and institute suit. The commission, whenever in its judgment any corporation has violated any law, shall give notice thereof in writing to such corporation, and, if the violation or neglect is continued after such notice, shall forthwith present the facts to the attorney-general, who shall take such proceedings thereon as he may deem expedient.

Rev., s. 1113; 1899, c. 164, s. 8.

1063. To keep record of receipts and disbursements. The commission shall keep a record showing in detail all receipts and disbursements.

Rev., s. 1115; 1899, c. 164, s. 34.

1064. To pay fees and money into treasury. All license fees and seal tax and all other fees paid into the office of the corporation commission shall be turned into the state treasury; also all moneys received from fines and penalties.

Rev., s. 1114; 1899, c. 164, ss. 33, 26.

1065. To report annually to governor. It shall be the duty of the commission to make to the governor annual reports of its transactions, and recommend from time to time such legislation as it may deem advisable under the provisions of this chapter, and the governor shall have one thousand copies of such report printed for distribution.

Rev., s. 1117; 1899, c. 164, s. 27; 1911, c. 211, s. 9; 1913, c. 10, s. 1.

Reports of commission are matters of public record of which courts take judicial notice: Staton v. R. R., 144-135.

ART. 4. RATE REGULATION

1066. Commission to fix rates for public utilities. Subject to the provisions as to passenger rates in the chapter, Railroads, and as to railroad freight rates in this chapter, the commission shall make reasonable and just rates and charges, in intrastate traffic, and regulate the same, of and for—

As to passenger rates, see section 3489 et seq.; section 1070 (free carriage). As to railroad freight rates, see section 1078 et seq.

1. Railroads, street railways, steamboats, canal and express companies or corporations, and all other transportation companies or corporations engaged in the carriage of freight, express or passengers.

See under section 1035. Legislative power to select and classify in rate legislation discussed: Efland v. R. R., 146-135. Meaning of "companies" as used herein: Ibid. Power of commission to fix freight rates: Tilley v. R. R., 162-37; Corp. Com. v. R. R., 127-283; Express Co. v. R. R., 111-463—and provide minimum carload for particular commodity, Corp. Com. v. R. R., 127-283. Power to control rates does not extend to all questions as to performing duty to public: Walls v. Strickland, 174-298.

2. The transmission and delivery of messages by any telegraph company, and for the rental of telephone and furnishing telephonic communication by any telephone company or corporation.

See section 1035, subdivision 2, and cases cited. Incidental power of commission to ascertain corporation controlling and operating any telegraph line in state: R. R. Comrs. v. Tel. Co., 113-213. Commission may fix rates of messages between points in state, though line traverses another state en route: Ibid. As to illegal preferences: Leavell v. Tel. Co., 116-211.

3. Persons, companies and corporations, other than municipal corporations, engaged in furnishing electricity, electric light, current, power or gas, or owning or operating a public sewerage system in North Carolina.

See sections 2783-2785.

4. The through transportation of freight, express or passengers.

As to passenger rates, see section 3489 et seq.

5. The use of railway cars carrying freight or passengers.

6. And shall make rules and regulations as to contracts entered into by any railroad company or corporation to carry over its line or any part thereof the car or cars of any other company or corporation.

7. And shall make, require or approve what is known as "milling-in-transit" rates on grain; or lumber to be dressed or shipped over the line of the railroad company on which such freight originated.

"Milling in transit" defined: Railroad Discrimination Cases, 136-486.

8. And, conjointly with such railroad companies, shall have authority to make special rates for the purpose of developing all manufacturing, mining, milling and internal improvements in the state.

Nothing in this chapter shall prohibit railroad or steamboat companies from making special passenger rates with excursion or other parties, also rates on such freights as are necessary for the comfort of such parties, subject to the approval of the commission.

The powers vested in the commission by this section over the several subjects enumerated shall be the same as that vested in it in respect to railroads and other transportation companies.

Rev., ss. 1096, 1099; 1899, c. 164, ss. 2, 14; 1903, c. 683; 1907, c. 469, s. 4; 1913, c. 127, s. 2; 1917, c. 194.

1067. Rates established deemed just and reasonable. The rates or charges established by the commission shall be deemed just and reasonable, and any rate or charge made by any corporation, company, copartnership or individual engaged in the businesses enumerated in the preceding section other than those so established shall be deemed unjust and unreasonable.

1913, c. 127, s. 3.

1068. How maximum rates fixed. In fixing any maximum rate or charge, or tariff of rates or charges for any common carrier, person or corporation subject to the provisions of this chapter, the commission shall take into consideration if proved, or may require proof of, the value of the property of such carrier, person or corporation used for the public in the consideration of such rate or charge or the fair value of the service rendered in determining the value of the property so being used for the convenience of the public. It shall furthermore consider the original cost of the construction thereof and the amount expended in permanent improvements thereon and the present compared with the original cost of construction of all its property within the state; the probable earning capacity of such property under the particular rates proposed and the sum required to meet the operating expenses of such carrier, person or corporation, and all other facts that will enable them to determine what are reasonable and just rates, charges and tariffs.

Rev., s. 1104; 1899, c. 164, s. 2, subsec. 1.

See section 1066, cases and references.

1069. Commissioners entitled to free carriage. The commissioners and their clerks shall be transported free of charge over all railroads and transportation lines which are under the supervision of the commission; and when traveling on official business, they may take with them experts or other agents whose services they may deem temporarily of public importance.

Rev., s. 1105.

1070. Free carriage. Nothing in this chapter shall prevent or prohibit—

1. The carriage, storage, or handling of property free or at reduced rates for the United States, state or municipal governments, or for charitable or educational purposes; or for any corporation or association incorporated for the preservation and adornment of any historic spot, or to the employees or officers of such company or association while traveling in the performance of their duties, provided they shall not travel further than ten miles one way on any one trip free of charge or to or from fairs or exhibitions for exhibition thereat.

2. The free carriage of destitute or homeless persons transported by charitable societies, and the necessary agents employed in such transportation; or the free transportation of persons traveling in the interest of orphan asylums or homes for the aged or infirm, or any department thereof, or traveling secretaries of Railroad Young Men's Christian Associations, or ex-Confederate soldiers attending annual reunions.

3. The use of passes for journeys wholly within this state which have been or may be issued for interstate journeys under the authority of the United States interstate commerce commission.

4. The issuance of mileage, excursion or commutation passenger tickets.

5. Common carriers from giving reduced rates to ministers of religion, or to municipal governments for the transportation of indigent persons, or to inmates of national homes or state homes for disabled volunteer soldiers, and of soldiers' and sailors' orphan homes, including those about to enter and those returning home after discharge, under arrangements with the boards of managers of said homes.

6. Common carriers from giving free carriage to their own officers and employees and members of their families, or furloughed, pensioned, and superannuated employees, persons who have become disabled or infirm in the service of such common carrier, and the remains of a person killed in the employment of a common carrier, and employees traveling for the purpose of entering the service of such common carrier, and the families of those persons named; also the families of persons killed, and the widows during widowhood, and minor children during minority of persons who died while in the service of such common carrier.

7. The principal officers of any common carrier from exchanging passes, franks or tickets with other common carriers for their officers or employees, and members of their families.

8. Transportation companies from contracting with newspapers for advertising space in exchange for transportation over their lines to such an extent as may be agreed upon between the parties for said consideration.

9. Transportation companies, if they so desire, from furnishing transportation to such agricultural extension and demonstration workers as are engaged in work in the field in efforts to increase production on the farm and to improve the farm home, when such workers are actually engaged in the performance of duties requiring travel.

10. Any common carrier that is operating under lease a railroad in this state, in which the state owns a majority of the capital stock, from giving free carriage, according to the contract of lease, to the officers and their families and the committees of the lessor owning such leased railroad, nor prevent such operating common carrier from issuing annually free transportation to ex-presidents of such lessor owning companies and their families in compliance with the contract of lease entered into by them or according to and for such period of time as may have been prescribed by any by-law of the lessor which was in force at the time such lease was made.

Rev., s. 1105; 1899, c. 164, s. 22; 1899, c. 642; 1901, c. 679, s. 2; 1901, c. 652; 1905, c. 312; 1911, cc. 49, 148; 1913, c. 100; 1915, c. 215; 1917, cc. 56, 160.

R.*, 135-682, 132-510. As bearing on section: State v. R. R., 122-1052. See further, Railroads, art. 10, sec. 3489 et seq.

Rev., s. 1106; 1899, c. 164, s. 7.

1072. Long and short hauls. It shall be unlawful for any common carrier to charge or receive any greater compensation in the aggregate for the transportation of passengers or of like kind of property under substantially similar circumstances and conditions for a shorter than for a longer distance over the same line in the same direction, the shorter being included within the longer distance; but this shall not be construed as authorizing any common carrier within the terms of this chapter to charge and receive as great compensation for a shorter as for a longer distance: Provided, however, that upon application to the commission, such common carrier may in special cases be authorized to charge less for longer than for shorter distances for the transportation of passengers or property; and the commission may from time to time prescribe the extent to which such designated common carrier may be relieved from the operation of this section: Provided, that nothing in this chapter contained shall be taken as in any manner abridging or controlling the rates of freight charged by any railroad in this state for conveying freight which comes from or goes beyond the boundaries of the state and on which freight less than local rates on any railroad carrying the same are charged by such railroads.

Rev., s. 1107; 1899, c. 164, s. 14; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 9; 1915, c. 17, s. 1.

1073. Contracts as to rates. All contracts and agreements between railroad companies as to rates of freight and passenger tariffs shall be submitted to the commission for inspection and correction, that it may be seen whether or not they are a violation of law or of the rules and regulations of said commission, and all arrangements and agreements whatever as to the division of earnings of any kind by competing railroad companies shall be submitted to the commission for inspection and approval in so far as they affect the rules and regulations made by the commission to secure to all persons doing business with such companies just and reasonable rates of freight and passenger tariffs, and the commission may make such rules and regulations as to such contracts and agreements as may then be deemed necessary and proper, and any such agreements not approved by the commission, or by virtue of which rates shall be charged exceeding the rates fixed for freight and passengers, shall be deemed, held and taken to be violations of this chapter and shall be illegal and void.

Rev., s. 1108; 1899, c. 164, s. 6.

1074. Rates to be published. All carriers shall, whenever required by the commission, file with it a schedule of their rates of charges for freight and passengers, and the commission is authorized and required to publish the rates, or a summary thereof, in some convenient form for the information of the public, and quarterly thereafter the changes made in such schedules, if they deem it advisable.

Rev., s. 1109; 1899, c. 164, s. 7; 1907, c. 217, s. 5.

1075. Interstate commerce. Upon the complaint of any person or community to the commission of any unjust discrimination or unjust or unreasonable rate in carrying freight which comes from or goes beyond the boundaries of the state by any railroad company, whether organized under the laws of this state or of another state and doing business in this state, the commission shall investigate such complaint, and if the same be sustained it shall be the duty of the commission to bring such complaint before the interstate commerce commission for redress in accordance with the provisions of the act of Congress establishing the interstate commerce commission. They shall receive upon application the services of the attorney-general of the state, and he shall represent them before the interstate commerce commission.

Rev., s. 1110; 1899, c. 164, s. 14; 1907, c. 469, s. 5.

1076. Duplicate freight receipts; charges stated; freight delivered on payment of charges. All railroad companies shall on demand issue duplicate freight receipts to shippers in which shall be stated the class or classes of freight shipped, the freight charges over the road giving the receipt, and so far as practicable shall state the freight charges over the roads that carry such freight. When the consignee presents the railroad receipt to the agent of the railroad that delivers such freight such agent shall deliver the articles shipped upon payment of the rate charged for the class of freight mentioned in the receipt.

Rev., s. 1111; 1899, c. 164, s. 17.

Consignee must present bill of lading to compel delivery: Jeans v. R. R., 164-224.

1077. Schedule of rates to be evidence. The schedule of rates fixed by statute or under this article shall, in suits brought against any company wherein is involved the charges of any company for the transportation of any passenger or freight or cars or unjust discrimination in relation thereto, be taken in all courts as prima facie evidence that the rates therein fixed are just and reasonable rates of charges for the transportation of passengers and freights and cars upon the railroads. All such schedules shall be received and held in all suits as prima facie evidence the schedules of the commission without further proof than the production of the schedules desired to be used as evidence, with a certificate of the clerk of the commission that the same is a true copy of the schedule prepared or approved by it for the railroad company or corporation therein named.

Rev., s. 1112; 1899, c. 164, s. 7.

ART. 5. RAILROAD FREIGHT RATES

1078. Classification of articles, commodities, and property. For the purposes of this article all articles, commodities, and property are classified as now provided and specified by law, or by order or orders of the North Carolina corporation commission, in numbered and lettered classes and as commodities, subject to change in classification in the manner which is now or which may be provided by law.

Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 1.

For further provisions on freight rates, see Railroads, Art. 11.

1079. Changes in classification. The corporation commission, or such other commission as may have conferred upon it by law the powers and duties now exercised by the North Carolina corporation commission with reference to public-service companies, has the power to establish a different classification of freight than that referred to in the preceding section if thereby a more systematic or uniform method can be secured, in the opinion of such commission; but shall not, except as provided in this article, increase the rates fixed herein as maxima. Such commission has the power, if in their judgment it seems just to do so, to change the percentage relation of other classes of freight than the first class, to the first class: Provided, it shall not thereby raise the rate on any class, except in the manner and upon the conditions specified in this article.

Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 2.

1080. Rates established. Except where the corporation commission shall order or has ordered to the contrary, the following specified rates are declared to be reasonable maximum rates to be charged by railroad companies owning, operating, controlling or maintaining seventy-five or more miles of railroad in North Carolina, it being understood that articles heretofore included in Class E, under the state classification, are here rated under fifth class; articles heretofore included in Class H, under the state classification, are here rated under fourth class; flour in barrels is here rated double Class C per barrel, and flour in barrels same as Class C; articles heretofore included in Class M, under state classification, are here rated two-thirds of Class A:

*NOTE.—Classes C and D, carload shipments, 20% less than rates shown, including hay in straight or mixed carloads with grain or grain products other than flour.

The rates so fixed are for the number of miles indicated in the first column, and for the amount of charge indicated for the respective classes and commodities opposite the number of miles stated in the first column, and the rates so indicated for the respective classes are in cents per hundred pounds except where otherwise indicated at the head of the column.

Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20.

1081. Rules governing rates. The following rules shall limit and modify the application of the rates in the next preceding section :

1. The rates are subject to southern classification, except where lower ratings are or may be published by the North Carolina Corporation Commission, in which cases the lower ratings shall prevail.

2. Rates which were lower prior to October thirteenth, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, than contained in the scale of rates are continued in effect, except that, in such isolated cases as may occur where an advance of not more than one cent in a particular class will bring the existing rate up to the rate here prescribed, such advance is allowed in the interest of uniformity.

3. When rates are not shown for the exact distance, the charge shall not exceed the rate for the nearest distance. In cases where the haul is equidistant the charge shall be that for the next higher distance.

4. When one railroad company has two or more routes between two given points the rate shall be based on the shortest route. On joint hauls, the line handling the traffic must base their rates upon the shortest practicable route having physical connection.

5. For joint hauls over two or more independently controlled railroads under the management of companies operating seventy-five or more miles of railroads within the State, add the following to the straight mileage rates for the combined total distance :

Per 100 Pounds
Class	1	2	3	4	5	6	A	B	C	D
	5	4	3	3	2	2	2	2	2	2
Other classes and commodities, 1c.

6. In the absence of an agreed basis of division between roads participating in a joint haul, locals shall be used as factors in dividing after first deducting cost of transfer, if any, at interchange point.

7. The minimum charge on small shipments shall be for actual weight at the tariff rate, but not less than 25 cents for a haul over one road, or 30 cents for a joint haul over two roads, or 40 cents for a joint haul over three or more roads.

8. Existing rates on commodities not mentioned in the schedule of rates in the preceding section are continued in effect.

Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20.

1082. Charging or receiving greater rates forbidden. No railroad company being engaged in the business of common carrier of property within the state of North Carolina shall charge, take, or receive any sum for carrying property entirely within the state of North Carolina between initial and terminal points which are within the state, greater than the amount specified in this article for the respective classes and commodities, and for the respective distances mentioned in said schedule, except in the manner and to the extent and on the conditions mentioned in this article.

Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 5.

1083. Application for investigation of rates; appeal; rates pending appeal. The corporation commission, or such other commission or body upon which jurisdiction and power may be conferred to fix rates for the transportation of property to be charged by the railroads doing business in North Carolina, may, and upon request of any person directly interested in such charge shall, under rules and regulations fixed by law or prescribed and established by such commission, hear evidence as to the reasonableness of the maximum rates fixed by law, or by such commission or body, and establish such rates, in the manner prescribed and allowed by law, as may, in the judgment of said commission, be just, subject to the limitations fixed by this article; and from such an order of such commission any shipper or railroad company directly affected by such order may, under rules and regulations prescribed by law, or under reasonable rules and regulations prescribed by such commission, appeal to the superior court of North Carolina: Provided, that pending the appeal of any railroad company from an order of such commission fixing maximum rates, there shall be no suspension of such order of such commission.

Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 7.

1084. Rates lower than maximum prescribed to be maintained. When any commodity or particular kind of property is at the time of the ratification of this article allowed to be shipped at a rate to be charged by any railroad company, which rate is lower than the maximum rate specified in this article for the shipment of such article, or for the class in which such article is assigned, by lawful classification at the time of the ratification of this article, or when such article is not assigned to any class, such rate so charged for the shipment of such commodity or property shall be the maximum rate which shall lawfully be charged, unless the same be raised in the manner and under the circumstances contemplated, provided for and allowed by the provisions of this article for an increase in the maximum rate fixed herein.

Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 8.

1085. Rates between points connected by more than one route. When there is more than one railroad route between given points in North Carolina, and freight is routed or directed by the shipper or consignee to be transported over a shorter route, and it is in fact shipped by a longer route between such points, the rate fixed by law or by such commission for the shorter route shall be the maximum rate which may be charged, and it shall be unlawful to charge more for transporting such freight over the longer route than the lawful charge for the shorter route.

Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 11.

1086. Action for double of overcharge; penalty. Any railroad company in the state of North Carolina which shall charge a rate for transporting property wholly within the state of North Carolina, between terminals within the state, in excess of that fixed by law or by the lawful order of such commission or board, and which shall omit to refund the same within thirty days after written notice and demand of the person or corporation overcharged, shall be liable to an action for double the amount of such overcharge, and to a penalty of ten dollars per day for each day's delay after thirty days from such notice, in case of shipments of less than carload lots, and to a penalty of twenty dollars per day in the event of shipments of carload lots.

Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 12.

1087. Double penalty. Any such railroad company so doing business in the state of North Carolina that shall knowingly charge a rate in excess of that fixed by law or by such board or commission, for shipments wholly within the state, shall be subject to a penalty and shall pay double the penalty above prescribed.

Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 13.

1088. Persons to receive penalties; accounts and receipts kept separate. The penalties herein provided for shall be payable to the person or corporation who pays the freight or against whom the freight is charged, and such person or corporation may sue such railroad company and recover such penalty and the amount of such overcharge. The commission shall require the railroad companies, and may require all other such public-service companies as are mentioned in this chapter, to keep separate the cost of doing interstate and intrastate business in North Carolina, and to keep separate receipts from the respective classes, and to direct the manner of keeping the accounts, and to enforce, by penalties, contempt, or otherwise as the law provides, obedience to its orders.

Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 14.

1089. Minimum carload. In no event shall the minimum carload freight of any kind be less than is now allowed by law, unless such commission shall allow it, and it is authorized to fix such minimum weight.

Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 15.

ART. 6. POWERS IN RESPECT TO PROCEDURE

1090. Witnesses; production of papers; contempt. The corporation commission shall have the same power to compel the attendance of witnesses, require the examination of persons and parties, and compel the production of books and papers, and punish for contempt, as by law is conferred upon the superior courts.

Rev., s. 1067; 1899, c. 164, ss. 1, 9, 10.

1091. Witnesses before corporation commission. If any person duly summoned to appear and testify before the corporation commission shall fail or refuse to testify without lawful excuse, or shall refuse to answer any proper question propounded to him by said commission in the discharge of duty, or shall conduct himself in a rude, disrespectful or disorderly manner before said commission, or any of them deliberating in the discharge of duty, such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than fifty nor more than one thousand dollars.

Rev., s. 3691; 1899, c. 164, s. 10.

1092. Rules of practice. The corporation commission shall prescribe rules of practice and procedure in all matters before it and in all examinations necessary to be made under this chapter.

Rev., s. 1068; 1899, c. 164, s. 2, subsec. 24.

1093. Rules of evidence. In all cases under the provisions of this chapter the rules of evidence shall be the same as in civil actions, except as provided by this chapter.

Rev., s. 1069; 1899, c. 164, s. 26.

1094. Subpœnas; issuance; service. All subpœnas for witnesses to appear before the commission or before any one or more of the commissioners, and notice to persons or corporations, shall be issued by one of the commissioners or its clerk and be directed to any sheriff, constable or to the marshal of any city or town, who shall execute the same and make due return thereof as directed therein, under the penalties prescribed by law for a failure to execute and return the process of any court.

Rev., s. 1070; 1899, c. 164, s. 10.

1095. Service of orders. The clerk of the commission may serve any notice issued by it, and his return thereof shall be evidence of said service; and it shall be the duty of the sheriffs and other officers to serve any process, subpœnas and notices issued by the commissioners, and they shall be entitled therefor to the same fees as are prescribed by law for serving similar papers issuing from the superior court.

Rev., s. 1071; 1899, c. 164, s. 9.

1096. Undertakings. All bonds or undertakings required to be given by any of the provisions of this chapter shall be payable to the state of North Carolina, and may be sued on as are other undertakings which are payable to the state.

Rev., s. 1072; 1899, c. 164, s. 7.

1097. Right of appeal; how taken. From all decisions or determinations made by the corporation commission any party affected thereby shall be entitled to an appeal. Before such party shall be allowed to appeal, he shall, within ten days after notice of such decision or determination, file with the commission exceptions to the decision or determination of the commission, which exceptions shall state the grounds of objection to such decision or determination. If any one of such exceptions shall be overruled, then such party may appeal from the order overruling the exception, and shall, within ten days after the decision overruling the exception, give notice of his appeal. When an exception is made to the facts as found by the commission, the appeal shall be to the superior court in term time; otherwise to the judge of the superior court at chambers. The party appealing shall, within ten days after the notice of appeal has been served, file with the commission exceptions to the decision or determination overruling the exception, which statement shall assign the errors complained of and the grounds of the appeal. Upon the filing of such statement the commission shall, within ten days, transmit all the papers and evidence considered by it, together with the assignment of errors filed by the appellant, to a judge of the superior court holding court or residing in some district in which such company operates or the party resides. If there be no exceptions to any facts as found by the commission, it shall be heard by the judge at chambers at some place in the district, of which all parties shall have ten days notice.

Rev., s. 1074; 1899, c. 164, ss. 7, 28; 1903, c. 126; 1907, c. 469, s. 6; 1913, c. 127, s. 4.

Appeal from commission must be to superior court, not directly to supreme: Pate v. R. R., 122-877. When and by whom appeal may be taken: Corp. Com. v. R. R., 170-560. Compliance with section sufficient without notice to complainant: Corp. Com. v. R. R., 151-447. Appeal lies only from decision affecting substantial right of party and determinative of material question: Hardware Co. v. R. R., 147-483. Appeal does not lie by citizens applying to commission for removal of railroad station, because they are not parties: Corp. Com. v. R. R., 170-560; and see Corp. Com. v. R. R., 151-447. No appeal from ruling of commission that one of its rules violated and exacting penalty for the violation: Hardware Co. v. R. R., 147-483.

1098. Appeal docketed; priority of trial; burden. The cause shall be entitled "State of North Carolina on relation of the Corporation Commission against (here insert name of appellant)," and if there are exceptions to any facts found by the commission, it shall be placed on the civil issue docket of such court and shall have precedence of other civil actions, and shall be tried under the same rules and regulations as are prescribed for the trial of other civil causes, except that the rates fixed or the decision or determination made by the commission shall be prima facie just and reasonable.

Rev., s. 1075; 1899, c. 164, s. 7.

See sections 1067, 1077. On appeal, trial is de novo, and other evidence may be introduced in addition to that before commission: State v. R. R., 161-270. Cited and explained: Corp. Com. v. R. R., 170-560; R. R. v. R. R., 173-413.

1099. Appeal heard at chambers by consent. By consent of all parties the appeal may be heard and determined at chambers before any judge of a district through or into which the railroad may extend, or any judge holding court therein, or in which the person or company does business.

Rev., s. 1076; 1899, c. 164, s. 7.

1100. Appeal to supreme court. Either party may appeal to the supreme court from the judgment of the superior court under the same rules and regulations as are prescribed by law for appeals, except that the state of North Carolina, if it shall appeal, shall not be required to give any undertaking or make any deposit to secure the cost of such appeal, and such court may advance the cause on its docket so as to give the same a speedy hearing.

Rev., s. 1077; 1899, c. 164, s. 7.

Appeal not taken directly to supreme court from corporation commission: Pate v. R. R., 122-877. Section cited: Corp. Com. v. R. R., 170-560.

1101. Judgment of superior court not vacated by appeal. Any freight or passenger rates fixed by the commission, when approved or confirmed by the judgment of the superior court, shall be and remain the established rates, and shall be so observed and regarded by an appealing corporation until the same shall be changed, revised or modified by the final judgment of the supreme court, if there shall be an appeal thereto, and until changed by the corporation commission.

Rev., s. 1079; 1899, c. 164, s. 7.

1102. Judgment on appeal enforced by mandamus. In all cases in which, upon appeal, a judgment of the corporation commission is affirmed, in whole or in part, the appellate court shall embrace in its decree a mandamus to the appellant to put said order in force, or so much thereof as shall be affirmed.

Rev., s. 1080; 1905, c. 107, s. 2.

Section referred to: Corp. Com. v. R. R., 151-447. Enforcement of orders of corporation commission by mandamus: Hardware Co. v. R. R., 147-483.

1103. Peremptory mandamus to enforce order, when no appeal. If no appeal is taken from an order or judgment of the corporation commission within the time prescribed by law, but the corporation affected thereby fails to put said order in operation, the corporation commission may apply to the judge riding the superior court district which embraces Wake County, or to the resident judge of said district at chambers, upon ten days notice, for a peremptory mandamus upon said corporation for the putting in force of said judgment or order; and if said judge shall find that the order of said commission was valid and within the scope of its powers, he shall issue such peremptory mandamus. An appeal shall lie to the supreme court in behalf of the corporation commission, or the defendant corporation, from the refusal or the granting of such peremptory mandamus.

Rev., s. 1081; 1905, c. 107.

Section provides for enforcement of obedience to order made: Corp. Com. v. R. R., 170-560. Independent proceeding for mandamus under this section to enforce a valid order from which no appeal taken: Hardware Co. v. R. R., 147-483.

1104. Fiscal year. The fiscal year for which all reports shall be made which may be required of any railroad or transportation company by the commission under this chapter shall end on the thirtieth of June.

Rev., s. 1116; 1899, c. 164, s. 28.

ART. 7. PENALTIES AND ACTIONS

1105. For violating rules. If any railroad company doing business in this state by its agents or employees shall be guilty of a violation of the rules and regulations provided and prescribed by the commission, and if after due notice of such violation given to the principal officer thereof, if residing in the state, or, if not, to the manager or superintendent or secretary or treasurer if residing in the state, or, if not, then to any local agent thereof, ample and full recompense for the wrong or injury done thereby to any person or corporation as may be directed by the commission shall not be made within thirty days from the time of such notice, such company shall incur a penalty for each offense of five hundred dollars.

Rev., s. 1086; 1899, c. 164, s. 15.

Power of state to control public-service corporations, citing this section: Telephone Co. v. Telephone Co., 159-9.

State's right to provide penalties for violation of its regulations and in fixing penalties to use power of classification: Morris v. Express Co., 146-167; Efland v. R. R., 146-135.

See, also, under sections 1035, 1066. Section cited: Hardware Co. v. R. R., 147-483.

1106. Refusing to obey orders of commission. Any railroad or other corporation which violates any of the provisions of this chapter or refuses to conform to or obey any rule, order or regulation of the corporation commission shall, in addition to the other penalties prescribed in this chapter, forfeit and pay the sum of five hundred dollars for each offense, to be recovered in an action to be instituted in the superior court of Wake County, in the name of the state of North Carolina on the relation of the corporation commission; and each day such company continues to violate any provision of this chapter or continues to refuse to obey or perform any rule, order or regulation prescribed by the corporation commission shall be a separate offense.

Rev., s. 1087; 1899, c. 164, s. 23.

As to meaning of "company": Eiland v. R. R., 146-135. quoted (1899)

1107. Discrimination between connecting lines. All common carriers subject to the provisions of this chapter shall according to their powers afford all reasonable, proper and equal facilities for the interchange of traffic between their respective lines and for the forwarding and delivering of passengers and freights to and from their several lines and those connecting therewith, and shall not discriminate in their rates and charges against such connecting lines, and shall be required to make as close connection as practicable for the convenience of the traveling public. And common carriers shall obey all rules and regulations made by the commission relating to trackage.

Rev., s. 1088; 1899, c. 164, s. 21.

Railroad not compelled to furnish express facilities to another company to conduct express business over its road the same as it provides for itself or affords to other express companies: Express Co. v. R. R., 111-463. Commission may require railroad to have train arrive at certain station on road at certain schedule time, so as to connect with train of another company: Corp. Com. v. R. R., 137-1. Discriminations in freight rates by railroad companies defined in Freight Discrimination Cases, 95-434. Construction of former statute against "discrimination": Ibid. As to construction of penalty statutes, see Alexander v. R. R., 144-93; Freight Discrimination Cases, 95-434.

1108. Failure to make reports. Every officer, agent or employee of any railroad company, express or telegraph company, who shall willfully neglect or refuse to make and furnish any report required by the commission for the purposes of this chapter, or who shall willfully or unlawfully hinder, delay or obstruct the commission in the discharge of the duties hereby imposed upon it, shall forfeit and pay five hundred dollars for each offense, to be recovered in an action in the name of the state. A delay of ten days to make and furnish such report shall raise the presumption that the same was willful.

Rev., s. 1089; 1899, c. 164, s. 18.

For case under similar enactment, see Hodge v. R. R., 108-24.

1109. Offenses by railroads, not otherwise provided for. If any railroad company shall violate the provisions of this chapter not otherwise provided for, such railroad company shall incur a penalty of one hundred dollars for each violation, to be recovered by the party injured.

Rev., s. 1090; 1899, c. 164, s. 17.

As to construction of penalty statute, see Alexander v. R. R., 144-93; Freight Discrimination Cases, 95-434. Action for penalty hereunder is an action ex contractu: Carter v. R. R., 126-443; Doughty v. R. R., 78-22, and cases under section 3516.

1110. Violation of rules, causing injury; damages; limitation. If any railroad company doing business in this state shall, in violation of any rule or regulation provided by the commission, inflict any wrong or injury on any person, such person shall have a right of action and recovery for such wrong or injury, in any court having jurisdiction thereof, and the damages to be recovered shall be the same as in an action between individuals, except that in case of willful violation of law such railroad company shall be liable to exemplary damages: Provided, that all suits under this chapter shall be brought within one year after the commission of the alleged wrong or injury.

Rev., s. 1091; 1899, c. 164, s. 16.

1111. Action for penalty; when and how brought. An action for the recovery of any penalty under this chapter shall be instituted in the county in which the penalty has been incurred, and shall be instituted in the name of the state of North Carolina on the relation of the corporation commission against the company incurring such penalty; or whenever such action is upon the complaint of any injured person or corporation, it shall be instituted in the name of the state of North Carolina on the relation of the corporation commission upon the complaint of such injured person or corporation against the company incurring such penalty. Such action shall be instituted and prosecuted by the attorney-general or the solicitor of the judicial district in which such penalty has been incurred, and the judge before whom the same is tried shall determine the amount of compensation to be allowed the attorney-general or such solicitor prosecuting said action for his services, and such compensation so determined shall be taxed as part of the cost. The procedure in such actions, the right of appeal and the rules regulating appeals shall be the same as are now provided by law in other civil actions.

Rev., s. 1092; 1899, c. 164, s. 15.

For cases holding that action for penalty, given by statute to person injured, is action ex contractu, see Carter v. R. R., 126-443, and cases cited; Doughty v. R. R., 78-22. As to construction of statutes imposing penalties, see Alexander v. R. R., 144-93; Freight Discrimination Cases, 95-434. As bearing upon section, see Express Co. v. R. R., 111-463. As to whether attorney-general's compensation allowed hereunder must be turned into state treasury, see section 3850. Section referred to: Hardware Co. v. R. R., 147-483.

1112. Remedies cumulative. The remedies given by this chapter to persons injured shall be regarded as cumulative to the remedies now given or which may be given by law against railroad corporations, and this chapter shall not be construed as repealing any statute giving such remedies.

Rev., s. 1093; 1899, c. 164, s. 26.

ART. 1. DEFINITIONS

1113. Definitions. The following words and phrases where used in this chapter, unless differently defined or described, have the meanings and references stated below:

1. "Corporation" refers to a corporation which may be created and organized under this chapter, or under any other general or any special act.

See Const., Art. 8, especially s. 3, for meaning of corporation there; also R. R. v. Rollins, 82-524; Hanstein v. Johnson, 112-253.

2. "Certificate of incorporation" is the instrument filed by the incorporators and by which the corporation is formed.

3. The words "special act" refer to the act of the legislature enacted for the purpose of creating the corporation.

4. The word "charter" means either "certificate of incorporation" or "special act," together with all appropriate parts of this chapter and its amendments.

As to legislative power over corporate charters, see Const., Art. 8, s. 1, and infra s. 1135.

5. "Court," "superior court," or "judge of the superior court" means the judge of the superior court resident in the district or holding the courts of the district in which the corporation affected has its principal place of business.

6. "Receiver" as used in this chapter includes receivers and trustees appointed by the court, as herein provided.

See further as to receivers, see infra s. 1208 et seq.

Rev., ss. 1136, 1222, 1247; Code, s. 668; 1901, c. 2, ss. 7, 74, 111.

ART. 2. FORMATION

1114. How created. Three or more persons who desire to engage in any business, or to form any company, society, or association, not unlawful, except railroads, other than street railroads, or banking or insurance, or building and loan associations, may be incorporated in the following manner only (except corporations created for charitable, educational or reformatory purposes that are to be and remain under the patronage and control of the state): Such persons shall, by a certificate of incorporation, under their hands and seals, set forth—

As to the power of the legislature to form corporations under general and special laws, see Const., art. 8, s. 1.

General laws for the formation of the excepted classes of corporations are placed under other headings: Banks, see chapter Banks, s. 216 et seq.; building and loan associations, see chapter Coöperative Organizations, s. 5169 et seq.; insurance companies, see chapter Insurance, s. 6324 et seq.; railroads, see chapter Railroads, s. 3412 et seq. Banking and insurance companies cannot be incorporated hereunder: Worth v. Bank, 122-397; Hanstein v. Johnson, 112-253; Bain v. Loan Assn., 112-248—nor railroads, Beasley v. R. R., 145-272. But see as to saving banks, Marshall v. Bank, 108-639. As to corporations by special act, see Hanstein v. Johnson, 112-253, and note change in wording of constitution, art. 8, sec. 1, since decision. See generally: Hill v. Lumber Co., 113-173.

Evidence of acceptance of charter necessary when corporation formed under special act: R. R. v. Olive, 142-257; Benbow v. Cook, 115-324. Otherwise under general law where signing articles is acceptance and recording the only condition precedent to corporate existence: Benbow v. Cook, 115-325; see Powell v. Lumber Co., 153-52.

For discussion of corporations de jure and de facto and by estoppel, see Wood v. Staton, 174-245; College v. Riddle, 165-211.

1. The name of the corporation. No name can be assumed already in use by another domestic corporation, or so similar as to cause uncertainty or confusion, and the name adopted must end with the word "company," "corporation," or "incorporated."

See Tobacco Co. v. Tobacco Co., 145-367; Bingham School v. Gray, 122-699. Name to be displayed, see section 1136.

2. The location of its principal office in the state.

See Garrett v. Bear, 144-23; Roberson v. Lumber Co., 153-120.

3. The object or objects for which the corporation is to be formed.

Corporation organized for one purpose has no right to engage in different business: Wiswall v. Plank Road Co., 56-183—though fact that corporation avails itself of only one of several privileges granted by charter does not invalidate act of incorporation, Cotton Mills v. Burns, 114-353.

4. The amount of the total authorized capital stock, the number of shares into which it is divided, the par value of each share, the amount of capital stock with which it will commence business, and, if there is more than one class of stock, a description of the different classes, with the terms on which the respective classes of stock are created. The provisions of this subsection shall not apply to religious, charitable, or literary corporations, unless they desire to have a capital stock. If they desire to have no capital stock, that fact and the conditions of membership shall be stated.

5. The names and postoffice addresses of the subscribers for stock and the number of shares subscribed for by each; the aggregate of the subscriptions shall be the amount of capital with which the corporation will commence business. If there is to be no capital stock, the certificate must contain the names and post-office addresses of the incorporators.

See Cotton Mills v. Cotton Mills, 115-475.

6. The period, if any, limited for the duration of the corporation.

When term of corporate existence fixed in act which creates it, its life expires with time limited without judicial proceedings to terminate it: Asheville Div. v. Aston, 92-578, and see under section 1187.

7. The certificate of incorporation may also contain any provision, consistent with the laws of this state, for the regulation of the affairs of the corporation, or creating, defining, limiting and regulating its powers, directors, and stockholders, or any class or classes of the latter.

Rev., s. 1137; Code, s. 677; 1885, cc. 19, 190; 1889, c. 170; 1891, c. 257; 1893, cc. 244, 318; 1897, c. 204; 1899, c. 618; 1901, c. 2, s. 8, cc. 6, 41, 47; 1903, c. 453; 1911, c. 213, s. 1; 1913, c. 5, s. 1; Const., Art. 8, s. 1.

1115. Requirements as to certificate of incorporation. The certificate of incorporation shall be signed by the original stock subscribers, or a majority of them, and must be acknowledged before an officer duly authorized under the laws of this state to take the proof or acknowledgment of deeds. The certificate shall then be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and there remain of record, and he shall, if it is in accordance with law, cause it to be recorded in his office in a book to be kept for that purpose and known as the Corporation Book. Upon the payment of the organization tax and fees, the secretary of state shall certify under his official seal a copy of the certificate of incorporation and probates, which certified copy shall be forthwith recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county where the principal office of the corporation in this state is, or is to be, established, in a book to be known as the Record of Incorporations. The certificate, or a copy thereof, duly certified by the secretary of state, or by the clerk of the superior court of the county in which it is recorded, is evidence in all courts and places, and in all judicial proceedings is prima facie evidence of the complete incorporation and organization of the corporation purporting thereby to have been established.

Rev., s. 1139; Code, ss. 678, 679, 682; 1901, c. 2, s. 9; 1903, c. 343.

For taxes for filing, see section 1218. Filing with secretary of state is condition precedent to incorporation: Powell v. Lumber Co., 153-52; Benbow v. Cook, 115-324, and see under railroad law, R. R. v. Stroud, 132-413. As to former laws requiring registry or filing before clerk of court or with register, see College v. Riddle, 165-211; Marshall v. Bank, 108-639; Iron Co. v. Abernathy, 94-545. Mistake in filing with register instead of clerk under former law resulted in de facto corporation: College v. Riddle, 165-211. Certificate or copy is prima facie evidence of incorporation and organization: Marshall v. Bank, 108-639; Iron Co. v. Abernathy, 94-545.

1116. When incorporators become corporation. From the date the certificate of incorporation is filed in the office of the secretary of state, the stock subscribers, their successors and assigns, are a body corporate by the name specified in the certificate, subject to amendment and dissolution as provided in this chapter.

Rev., s. 1140; 1901, c. 2, s. 10.

Persons associated are corporation from time of filing with secretary of state: Powell v. Lumber Co., 153-52; Street Ry. v. R. R., 142-423; Benbow v. Cook, 115-324.

1117. Incorporators act until directors elected. Until directors are elected the signers of the certificate of incorporation shall have the direction of the affairs of the corporation, and may take proper steps to obtain the necessary subscription to stock and to perfect the organization of the corporation.

Rev., s. 1141; 1901, c. 2, s. 11.

Until directors elected, subscribers manage corporation, and with consent of all may discharge one of their number: Boushall v. Myatt, 167-328. Section cited: Street Ry. v. R. R., 142-423.

1118. First meeting; notice. The first meeting of every corporation shall be called by a notice, signed by a majority of the incorporators, designating the time, place, and purpose of the meeting, which notice shall be published at least two weeks before the meeting, in a newspaper of the county where the corporation is established; or the meeting may be called without publication, if two days notice is personally served on all the incorporators; or if all the incorporators in writing waive notice and fix a time and place of meeting, no notice or publication is required.

Rev., s. 1142; Code, s. 665; 1901, c. 2, s. 18.

As to corporation meetings generally and notice required, see Hill v. R. R., 143-539, and cases cited under section 1168. First meeting should be in state, but if elsewhere state only can complain: Mining Co. v. Goodhue, 118-981.

1119. Death of incorporators; vacancy filled. When one or more of the incorporators of any corporation die before the corporation has been organized pursuant to law, the survivor or survivors may, in writing, designate others who may take the place and act instead of the deceased, in the organization; and the organization so effected by their aid is as effectual in law as if it had been effected by all the original incorporators.

Rev., s. 1143; 1901, c. 2, s. 36.

1120. Errors or omissions in certificate of incorporation. Whenever in the certificate of incorporation under any general law there is an error or omission in the recital of the act under which the corporation is created or an error or omission of any matter required to be stated therein, it is lawful for the corporation to correct the error or supply the omission in the following manner: The board of directors shall pass a resolution declaring that the error or omission exists and that the corporation desires to correct it, and shall call a meeting of the stockholders to take action upon the resolution. The stockholders' meeting shall be held upon such notice as the by-laws provide, and in the absence of such provision, upon ten days notice, given personally or by mail. If two-thirds in interest of all the stockholders vote in favor of the correction of the error or omission, a certificate of their action shall be made and signed by the president and secretary under the corporate seal; which certificate shall be acknowledged as in the case of deeds of real estate, and, together with the written consent in person or by proxy of two-thirds in interest of all the stockholders of the corporation, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state. Upon the filing thereof, in conformity with this section, the certificate of incorporation has the same force and effect as if it had been originally drafted in conformity with the amendment so made.

Rev., s. 1144; 1901, c. 2, s. 109.

1121. Street railways. Corporations may be organized under the provisions of this chapter for the purpose of building, maintaining or operating street railways. The term street railways, wherever used in this chapter, includes railways operated either by steam or electricity, or other motive power, used and operated as means of communication between different points in the same municipality, or between points in municipalities lying adjacent or near to each other, or between the municipality in which is the home office of the company and the territory contiguous thereto, and such railways may carry and deliver freights. No such railway may operate a line extending in any direction more than one hundred miles from the municipality in which is located its home office, or in any city or town without the consent of the municipal authorities thereof.

Rev., s. 1138; 1901, cc. 6, 41; 1903, c. 350; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 70, s. 1.

Street railways may be incorporated hereunder; what is meant by street railway: Street Ry. v. R. R., 142-423; Land Co. v. Traction Co., 162-314. Construction of street railway imposes no additional servitude: Hester v. Traction Co., 138-288; Merrick v. R. R., 118-1081.

1122. Security selling companies. Corporations may be formed under the provisions of this chapter to conduct the business of selling securities and bonds of any kind, including its own bonds and choses in action, on the partial payment, installment, or other plan of payment, and to loan money on mortgage, personal, or other security, and to collect interest in advance on the same, and to charge a fee of $1 for investigating the loan, but no fee shall be charged for a renewal of the loan. A corporation chartered by another state or by a foreign state, kingdom, or government, having in its charter the power to conduct the business described in this section, may become domesticated in this state in the manner and upon the terms and conditions provided in section 1181 under this chapter; but such company must also file with the secretary of state a statement, verified by its president and secretary, showing that its paid-up cash capital is at least $100,000 and that it has complied with all the requirements of the laws of the state of its creation. The business of such corporation in this state is restricted to the business described in this section. Such corporation is liable to pay the franchise tax imposed by section 7861 under the chapter entitled Taxation, and also an ad valorem tax on all of its real and personal property situate in this state. No foreign corporation domesticated under this section is required to pay any other taxes or license fees than those named herein.

1123. Public parks and drives. Three or more persons may be incorporated under this chapter for the purpose of creating and maintaining public parks and drives. It is not necessary, however, to set forth in the certificate of incorporation of any corporation created for such purpose the amount of authorized capital stock, the number of shares into which the same is divided, the par value of such stock, or the amount of capital stock with which it will commence business. Any corporation created hereunder shall have full power and authority to lay out, manage, and control parks and drives within the state, under such rules and regulations as the corporation may prescribe, and shall have power to purchase and hold property and take gifts or donations for such purpose. It may hold property and exercise such powers in trust for any town, city, township, or county, in connection with which said parks and drives shall be maintained. Any city, town, township, or county, holding such property, may vest and transfer the same to any such corporation for the purpose of controlling and maintaining the same as public parks and drives under such regulations and subject to such conditions as may be determined upon by such city, town, township, or county. All such lands as the corporation may acquire shall be held in trust as public parks and drives, and shall be held open to the public under such rules, laws, and regulations as the corporation may adopt through its board of directors; and it shall have power and authority to make and adopt all such laws and regulations as it may determine upon for the reasonable management of such parks and drives. All property owned by it and appropriated exclusively for public parks and drives shall not be subject to taxation, and no such corporation shall be liable in damages on account of the construction or maintenance of any such parks or drives.

1911, c. 155, ss. 1, 2, 3, 4.

1124. Word "trust" in corporate name. No corporation may be chartered under the laws of North Carolina with the word "trust" as a part of its name except those reporting to and under the supervision of the corporation commission; nor may any corporate name be amended to include the word "trust" unless the corporation is under such supervision.

1915, c. 196, s. 2.

1125. Certain religious, etc., associations deemed incorporated. In all cases where a religious, educational or charitable association has been formed prior to January first, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four, and has since said date been acting as a corporation, exercising the powers and performing the duties of religious, educational or charitable corporations as prescribed by the laws of this state, then such association shall be conclusively presumed to have been duly and regularly organized and existing as a corporation under the laws of this state on January first, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four, and all of its acts as a corporation from and after said date, if otherwise valid, are hereby declared to be valid corporate acts: Provided, this act shall not apply to any pending litigation.

1919, c. 137.

ART. 3. POWERS AND RESTRICTIONS

1126. Express powers. Every corporation has power—

1. To have succession, by its corporate name, for the period limited in its charter, and when the charter contains no time limit, for a period of sixty years.

Corporation existence limited by charter: Asheville Div. v. Aston, 92-578.

2. To sue and be sued in any court.

Corporation must sue and be sued in corporate name: Young v. Barden, 90-424; Mauney v. Motz, 39-195; Brittain v. Newland, 19-363; see, also, Institute v. Norwood, 45-73—though, where receiver appointed, he may sue as such or in corporate name, Smathers v. Bank, 135-413; Davis v. Mfg. Co., 114-321; Gray v. Lewis, 94-392; see section 1195. Corporation liable to civil and criminal actions as if individual: Redditt v. Mfg. Co., 124-100. Liable for slander: Cotton v. Fisheries Products Co., 177-56. Summons against "A. H. Bronson, president of Southern Improvement Company," is not against the company, but against Bronson: Plemmons v. Imp. Co., 108-614. As to suing corporation in name not strictly correct, see Institute v. Norwood, 45-73, and cases cited.

3. To make, use, and alter a common seal.

For use of seal, see section 1138.

4. To purchase, acquire by devise or bequest, hold and convey real and personal property in or out of the state, and to mortgage the same and its franchises.

As to priority of corporation mortgages and claims against corporation for torts or for labor, etc., see sections 1138, 1140.

Real or personal property of private corporation may be sold: Barcello v. Hapgood, 118-712; Benbow v. Cook, 115-324—and may be mortgaged, Paper Co. v. Chronicle, 115-143—but such is not the case with quasi-public corporations, Barcello v. Hapgood, 118-712; Logan v. Railroad, 116-945; Paper Co. v. Chronicle, 115-143—for quasi-public corporations cannot sell franchises without assent of legislature, James v. Railroad, 121-528, and cases cited.

Corporation may hold land in fee though existence limited to specific number of years: Wilson v. Leary, 120-92; Asheville Div. v. Aston, 92-578; Rives v. Dudley, 56-126—and if forbidden by charter to take or hold real estate, conveyance to it is voidable by state only, Mallett v. Simpson, 94-37. Corporation may acquire land by adverse possession, and if the land is acquired ultra vires, state only can object: Cross v. R. R., 172-119. Conveyance to corporation in trust valid, unless the trust is repugnant to purpose for which formed: Keith v. Scales, 124-497. For early case holding void bequest to college in excess of amount it was authorized by charter to hold, see Davidson College v. Chambers, 56-253.

Foreign corporation chartered with right to sell and acquire land may exercise such right in this state: Barcello v. Haggood, 118-712. Deed of right of way, etc., to railroad, made by company formed under this chapter and having only rights for street railway, will not convey railroad franchise: Beasley v. R. R., 145-272.

5. To elect and appoint, in such manner as it determines to be proper, all necessary officers and agents, fix their compensation, and define their duties and obligations. And when there devolves upon an officer or agent of a corporation such duties and responsibilities that a financial loss would result to the corporation from the death and consequent loss of the services of such officer or agent, the corporation has an insurable interest in, and the power to insure the life of, the officer or agent for its benefit.

6. To conduct business in this state, other states, the District of Columbia, the territories, dependencies and colonies of the United States, and in foreign countries, and have offices in or out of the state.

Corporation may transact business anywhere unless prohibited by charter or excluded by local laws: Garrett v. Bear, 144-23; Roberson v. Lumber Co., 153-120.

7. To make by-laws and regulations, consistent with its charter and the laws of the state, for its own government, and for the due and orderly conduct of its affairs and management of its property.

8. To wind up and dissolve itself, or be wound up and dissolved, in the manner hereafter mentioned.

Section merely referred to: Clayton v. Ore Knob Co., 109-385.

Rev., s. 1128; Code, ss. 663, 666, 691, 692, 693; 1893, c. 159; 1901, c. 2, s. 1; 1909, c. 507, s. 1.

1127. By-laws. A corporation may, by its by-laws, when consistent with its charter, determine the manner of calling and conducting all meetings; the number of members that constitute a quorum, but in no case shall more than a majority of shares or amount of interest be required to be represented at any meeting in order to constitute a quorum, and if the quorum is not so determined by the corporation, a majority in interest of the stockholders, represented either in person or by proxy, constitutes a quorum; the number of shares that will entitle the members to one or more votes; the mode of voting by proxy; the mode of selling shares for the nonpayment of assessments; the tenure of office of the several officers, and the manner in which vacancies in any of the offices shall be filled till a regular election; and they may annex suitable penalties to such by-laws, not exceeding in any case the sum of twenty dollars for any one offense. The power to make and alter by-laws is in the stockholders, but a corporation may, in the certificate of incorporation, confer that power upon the directors. By-laws made by the directors under power so conferred may be altered or repealed by the stockholders.

Rev., ss. 1145, 1146; Code, s. 664; 1901, c. 2, ss. 12, 13.

Power to enact by-laws, see also section 1126 (7). By-laws of building and loan associations, see section 5170. Requisites and validity in general: Duffy v. Ins. Co., 142-103; Sherrod v. Ins. Assn., 139-167; Strauss v. Life Assn., 128-465. By-law regulating officer's salary: Abbott v. R. R., 90-462. By-law providing for sale of delinquent subscriber's stock on notice held valid: Cotton Mills v. Dunstan, 121-12, and see now section 1165—but receipt of notice may be rebutted, Sherrod v. Ins. Assn., 139-167. Affect third persons only when they have notice: Smith v. R. R., 68-107.

1128. Implied powers. In addition to the powers enumerated in the two preceding sections, and the powers specified in its charter, every corporation, its officers, directors and stockholders, possess all the powers and privileges contained in this chapter so far as they are necessary or convenient to the attainment of the objects set forth in such charter, and shall be governed by the provisions and be subject to the restrictions and liabilities in this chapter contained, so far as they are applicable to and not inconsistent with such charter; and no corporation may possess or exercise any other corporate powers, except such incidental powers as are necessary to the exercise of the powers so given. Nothing in this chapter shall authorize or empower corporations organized under this chapter to lease, operate, maintain, manage or control any railroad except street railways.

Rev., s. 1129; Code, s. 701; 1897, c. 204; 1901, c. 2, s. 4; 1901, c. 6.

See, also, under sections 1126, 1135. Corporations in addition to express powers possess such as are fairly implied in or incident to express powers and those whose exercise is necessary to enjoyment of privileges expressly given: Barcello v. Haggood, 118-712, and see Victor v. Mills, 148-107. Power to incur debts implies power to issue bonds: Comrs. v. R. R., 77-289—and to execute mortgage therefor, Paper Co. v. Chronicle, 115-143. For express power to mortgage, see section 1126 (4), and for railroads, section 3444 (10). No implied power to engage in business different from that for which incorporated: Wiswall v. Plank Road Co., 56-183. Seem that corporation authorized to ship own products may carry goods for others and passengers: Gruber v. R. R., 92-1.

ULTRA VIRES contracts, when enforceable: Sherrill v. Trust Co., 176-591; Victor v. Mills, 148-107; Trustees v. Realty Co., 134-41; Hutchins v. Bank, 128-72. Corporation liable for torts without regard to ultra vires: Gruber v. R. R., 92-1, and see Ange v. Woodmen, 173-33, and cases cited—and for crimes, State v. Ice Co., 166-366, and cases cited. Lessor railroad liable for lessee's torts: Carlton v. R. R., 143-43, and cases cited. For ultra vires acquisition of property by corporations, see under section 1126 (4).

Ultra vires exercise of corporate powers may be made ground for direct proceedings in quo warranto by attorney-general for the state, but cannot be availed of collaterally in private suit as ground of forfeiture: Mining Co. v. Lumber Co., 173-593; Mallett v. Simpson, 94-37; Asheville Div. v. Aston, 92-578. For quo warranto by state, see section 1187. But see section 1185 and cases thereunder.

A dissenting stockholder may enjoin an ultra vires act merely threatened: Victor v. Mills, 148-107—as may the state in an appropriate case: Ibid.; see section 1143.

1129. Banking powers not conferred by this act. No corporation created under the provisions of this chapter shall have the power to carry on the business of discounting bills, notes or other evidences of debt, of receiving deposits of money, of buying gold or silver bullion or foreign coins, of buying and selling bills of exchange, or of issuing bills, notes or other evidences of debt, upon loan, or for circulation as money; but in the transaction of its business it may make and take and indorse, when necessary, all such bonds, notes and bills of exchange as the business may require.

Rev., s. 1134; Code, s. 684; 1901, c. 2, s. 5.

Banks cannot organize under this chapter: Worth v. Bank, 122-404; Hanstein v. Johnson, 112-257; Bain v. Loan Assn., 112-252—and corporation organized hereunder can do no banking business, Worth v. Bank, 122-404.

1130. Amendments before payment of stock. The incorporators of a corporation, before the payment of any part of its capital, may file with the secretary of state an amended certificate of incorporation, duly signed and acknowledged by the incorporators named in the original certificate, changing the original certificate of incorporation, in whole or in part, which amended certificate takes the place of the original one, and when recorded in the proper county is deemed to have been filed and recorded on the date of filing and recording the original certificate. The officers are entitled to the same fees for filing and recording the amended certificate of incorporation as if it were original; but there shall be charged no additional organization tax, except when the certificate is amended by increasing the capital stock, in which event such tax shall be paid upon the increase.

Rev., s. 1174; 1901, c. 2, s. 28.

Any fundamental change in charter of corporation relieves nonassenting subscriber from liability on stock: Bank v. Charlotte, 85-433, and cases under section 1160.

1131. Amendments, generally. A corporation, whether organized under a special act or general laws, and which might now be created under the provisions of this chapter, may, in the manner set out below—

1. Change the nature or relinquish one or more branches of its business, or extend its business to such other branches as might have been inserted in its original certificate of incorporation.

2. Change its name.

3. Extend its corporate existence, but if such corporation possesses powers, franchises, privileges or immunities, which could not be obtained under this chapter, such extension does not continue, renew or extend any of the same, but they are waived and abandoned by the filing of the certificate of extension.

4. Increase or decrease its capital stock.

5. Change the par value of the shares of its capital stock.

6. Create one or more classes of preferred stock.

7. Make any other desired amendment. In all cases the certificate of amendment can contain only such provisions as could be lawfully and properly inserted in an original certificate of incorporation filed at the time of making the amendment.

The board of directors shall pass a resolution declaring that the amendment is advisable, and call a meeting of the stockholders to take action thereon; the meeting shall be held upon such notice as the by-laws provide, and in the absence of such provision, upon ten days notice, given personally or by mail; if two-thirds in interest of each class of the stockholders with voting powers vote in favor of the amendment, a certificate thereof shall be signed by the president and secretary, under the corporate seal, acknowledged as in the case of deeds to real estate, and this certificate, together with the written assent, in person or by proxy, of said stockholders, shall be filed and recorded in the office of the secretary of state. Upon such filing the secretary of state shall issue a certified copy thereof, which shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the original certificate of incorporation is recorded, and thereupon the certificate of incorporation is amended accordingly. The certificate of the secretary of state, under his official seal, that such certificate of amendment and assent have been filed in his office, is evidence of the amendment in all courts and places. A corporation which cannot now be created under the provisions of this chapter may in like manner increase or decrease its capital stock, or change its name.

Rev., ss. 1175, 1178; 1893, c. 380; 1899, c. 618; 1901, c. 2, ss. 29, 30, 37; 1903, c. 516.

1132. Amendments by charitable, educational, penal or reformatory corporations. A charitable, educational, penal, or reformatory corporation not under the patronage or control of the state, whether organized under a special act or general laws, may change its name, extend its corporate existence, change the manner in which its directors, trustees or managers are elected or appointed, abolish its present method of electing such officers and create a different method of election, and generally reorganize the manner of conducting such corporation, and make any other amendment of its charter desired, in the following manner: The board of directors, trustees, or managers shall pass a resolution declaring that the amendment is advisable, and call a meeting of trustees, managers, and directors to take action thereon. The meeting shall be held upon such notice as the by-laws provide, and in the absence of such provision, upon ten days notice given personally or by mail. If two-thirds of the directors, trustees, or managers of the corporation vote in favor of the amendment, a certificate thereof shall be signed by the president and secretary under the corporate seal, acknowledged as provided in the case of deeds to real estate, and such certificate, together with the written assent in person or proxy of two-thirds of the directors, trustees, or managers, shall be filed and recorded in the office of the secretary of state, and upon filing it he shall issue a certified copy thereof, which shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the original certificate of incorporation is recorded, or in which the corporation is doing business, and thereupon the certificate of incorporation shall be deemed amended accordingly. Such certificate of amendment may contain only such provision as it would be lawful and proper to insert in an original certificate of incorporation made at the time of making the amendment, and the certificate of the secretary of state, under his official seal, that such certificate and assent has been filed in his office shall be taken and accepted as evidence of such amendment in all courts.

1133. Change of location of principal office. The board of directors of a corporation organized under the laws of this state may, by resolution adopted at a regular or special meeting by a two-thirds vote of its members, change the location of the principal office of the corporation in the state. A copy of the resolution, signed by the president and secretary of the corporation and sealed with the corporate seal, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state. No certificate need be filed of the removal of an office from one point to another in the same town, city, or township.

Rev., s. 1176; 1901, c. 2, s. 31.

“Principal office” of this section and of sections 1114, 1168 is synonymous with “principal place of business” of section 466: Roberson v. Lumber Co., 153-120. See cases under other sections referred to.

1134. Curative act; amendments prior to 1901. All amendments to the plan of incorporation of any corporation organized under the provisions of the general laws of North Carolina prior to the passage of the act entitled “An act to revise the corporation law of North Carolina,” being chapter two, public laws of nineteen hundred and one, are declared to be valid in all respects, whether such amendments were made in accordance with the provisions of chapter three hundred and eighty of the public laws of eighteen hundred and ninety-three or in accordance with the provisions of chapter two of the public laws of nineteen hundred and one; but no amendment shall be validated by this section unless it is an amendment of such nature as is authorized to be made under the provisions of chapter two of the public laws of nineteen hundred and one.

Rev., s. 1248; 1905, c. 316.

For other curative acts, affecting instruments executed by corporations, see sections 3352-3356.

1135. Amendment or repeal of this chapter; a part of all charters. This chapter may be amended or repealed by the legislature, and every corporation is bound thereby; but such amendment or repeal shall not take away or impair any remedy against the corporation, or its officers, for any liability which has been previously incurred. This chapter and all amendments are a part of the charter of every corporation formed hereunder, so far as the same are applicable and appropriate to the objects of the corporation.

Rev., s. 1136; 1901, c. 2, s. 7.

See under section 1113.

1136. Name must be displayed. The name of every corporation must be at all times conspicuously displayed at the entrance of its principal office in this state, and in default thereof for sixty days the corporation is liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars, to be recovered with costs, by the state, in an action to be prosecuted by or under the direction of the attorney-general.

Rev., s. 1242; 1901, c. 2, s. 50.

1137. Resident process agent. Every corporation having property or doing business in this state, whether incorporated under its laws or not, shall have an officer or agent in the state upon whom process in all actions or proceedings against it can be served. A corporation failing to comply with the provisions of this section is liable to a forfeiture of its charter, or to the revocation of its license to do business in this state. In the latter event, process in an action or proceeding against the corporation may be served upon the secretary of state by leaving a true copy thereof with him, and he shall mail the copy to the president, secretary or other officer of the corporation upon whom, if residing in this state, service could be made. For this service to be performed by the secretary, he shall receive a fee of fifty cents, to be paid by the party at whose instance the service was made.

Rev., s. 1243; 1901, c. 5.

Service of process on corporations generally, see section 483; on foreign insurance companies, see section 6414. For control of foreign corporations, generally, see sections 1180, 1181. Section applied in cases of foreign corporations and held constitutional: Currie v. Mining Co., 157-209; Fisher v. Ins. Co., 136-217. To what foreign corporations applicable: Fisher v. Ins. Co., 136-217. Where foreign corporation has process agent in the state, statute of limitations not suspended for nonresidence: Bennett v. Tel. Co., 152-671; Volivar v. Cedar Works, 152-656. Section referred to: Pardue v. Absher, 174-676; Anderson v. Fidelity Co., 174-417; Kelly v. Lefaiver, 144-4; Green v. Ins. Co., 139-309.

1138. Corporate conveyances; when void as to torts. Any corporation may convey lands, and other property which is transferable by deed, by deed sealed with the common seal and signed in its name by the president, a vice-president, presiding member or trustee, and two other members of the corporation, and attested by a witness, or by deed sealed with the common seal and signed in its name by the president, a vice-president, presiding member or trustee, and attested by the secretary or assistant secretary of the company. But any conveyance of its property, whether absolutely or upon condition, executed by a corporation, is void as to torts committed by such corporation prior to the execution of said deed, if persons injured, or their representatives, commence proceedings or actions to enforce their claims against said corporation within sixty days after the registration of said deed as required by law.

Rev., s. 1130; Code, s. 685; 1891, c. 118; 1893, c. 95, s. 2; 1899, c. 235, s. 17; 1901, c. 2, s. 2; 1903, c. 660, s. 1; 1905, c. 114.

As to probate of conveyances by corporations, see section 3326; where corporation has ceased to exist, section 3307; before stockholders in building and loan association, section 3301; statutes curing defective corporation probates, sections 3352-3356.

Section applies to corporations generally: Bank v. Mfg. Co., 96-298. Methods of conveyance described not exclusive of common-law modes of conveyance, as by authorized agent: Barcello v. Hapgood, 118-712—as to what constitutes valid common-law conveyance: Power Co. v. Power Co., 168-219; Caldwell v. Mfg. Co., 121-339; Heath v. Cotton Mills, 115-202; Bason v. Mining Co., 90-417. Corporation seal essential: Caldwell v. Mfg. Co., 121-339; see, also, Withrell v. Murphy, 154-82—but sembl individual officer's seal may be adopted, Taylor v. Heggie, 83-244. Mortgage executed in accordance with section is act of corporation, not of its officers: Bank v. Mfg. Co., 100-345. Corporation seal on conveyance prima facie evidence of execution by authority: Edwards v. Supply Co., 150-173. But when mortgage executed to officers of corporation, presumption overcome: Edwards v. Supply Co., 150-171.

CORPORATE CONVEYANCES: ILLUSTRATIONS. Conveyance held sufficient signed by president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, who constitute all the stockholders and officers, and corporate seal affixed: Heath v. Cotton Mills, 115-202—where properly executed, but in body of instrument it states it is made by “the president and directors of the A Bank,” Shaffer v. Hahn, 111-1.

Conveyances held insufficient where no corporate seal, though executed in name of corporation by president, with “seal” written after signature: Caldwell v. Mfg. Co., 121-339. So where no corporate seal, though probate recites acknowledgment by secretary and execution by president and two stockholders: Duke v. Markham, 105-131. So where executed by “president” and “trustee” and signed by “A, president of X. Co.,” with private seal: Clayton v. Cagle, 97-300. So instrument reading “I do convey” and “witness my hand and seal,” signed by “president” with private seal, and by “treasurer” and “stockholder” with corporate seal: Clark v. Hodge, 116-761. So acknowledged by individual instead of corporation officers: Bernhardt v. Brown, 122-587.

PREFERENCE PROVIDED IN LAST SENTENCE OF SECTION in favor of persons injured by corporation torts can be claimed by those only who begin action in sixty days: Joyner v. Reflector Co., 176-274, and see Williams v. R. R., 126-918; James v. Lumber Co., 122-157. Conversely, conveyance good except as against injured persons so beginning action: Bank v. Cotton Mills, 115-507, see Blalock v. Mfg. Co., 110-99.

Statute in force before enactment of 1901, c. 2, s. 2, extended the preference of last clause of section to “creditors” existing at execution of deed. For cases construing provisions as to creditors, see Fisher v. Bank, 132-769 (setting out statute); Bank v. Bank, 127-432; Williams v. R. R., 126-918; Bernhardt v. Brown, 122-591; James v. Lumber Co., 122-160; Langston v. Imp. Co., 120-132; Bank v. Cotton Mills, 115-515; Cotton Mills v. Cotton Mills, 115-475; Hill v. Lumber Co., 113-180; Blalock v. Mfg. Co., 110-99; Duke v. Markham, 105-138.

Lesser railroad liable for torts of lessee road: Carlton v. R. R., 143-43, and cases cited.

1139. Conditional sale contracts. Contracts, in writing, for the purchase of personal property by corporations, providing for a lien on the property or the retention of the title thereto by the vendor as a security for the purchase price, or any part thereof, are sufficiently executed if signed in the name of the corporation by the president, secretary or treasurer in his official capacity, and may be acknowledged and ordered to registration as is provided by law for the execution, acknowledgment and registration of deeds by natural persons.

Public services

1140. Mortgaged property subject to execution for labor, clerical services, and torts. Mortgages of corporations upon their property or earnings cannot exempt said property or earnings from execution for the satisfaction of any judgment obtained in courts of the state against such corporations for labor and clerical services performed, or torts committed whereby any person is killed or any person or property injured.

Rev., s. 1131; Code, s. 1255; 1897, c. 334; 1901, c. 2, s. 3; 1915, c. 201, s. 1.

As to corporation's power to mortgage, see section 1126 (4). Corporate conveyances void as to torts, section 1138. Wages prior lien on insolvency of corporation, section 1197.

Changes in the statute to be kept in mind in weighing cases under this section. Before 1897, claims "for material furnished" were included, but phrase then struck out: See Cheesborough v. Sanatorium, 134-245; Cox v. Light, etc., Co., 152-164. By Laws 1915, c. 201, inserted for "clerical services," and see Moore v. Industrial Co., 138-304.

"Labor," as used herein, held "manual labor": Moore v. Industrial Co., 138-304—so claims of superintendent and bookkeeper were not included, Ibid. Otherwise as to foreman: Cox v. Light, etc., Co., 152-164. Section refers to labor performed or torts committed after execution of mortgage: Coal Co. v. Elec. Co., 118-232; Belvin v. Paper Co., 123-138.

Section confers no lien in favor of claims enumerated: Joyner v. Reflector Co., 176-274; Norfleet v. Cotton Factory, 172-833; Coal Co. v. Elec. Co., 118-232. Simply allows judgment creditor to enforce judgment as if there were no mortgage: Joyner v. Reflector Co., 176-274— or gives right to satisfy judgment in preference to mortgage, Belvin v. Raleigh Paper Co., 123-148; Langston v. Imp. Co., 120-134, as explained in Railroad v. Burnett, 123-216; Coal Co. v. Electric Light Co., 118-234; Bank v. Mfg. Co., 96-308. Mortgage conveys nothing as against subsequent judgment for tort: Clement v. King, 152-456; Howe v. Harper, 127-356; Williams v. R. R., 126-918; R. R. v. Burnett, 123-210, and see Trust Co. v. Fisher, 200 U. S., 57. Judgment for labor performed enforceable before prior mortgage, though no mechanics' lien filed: Dunavant v. R. R., 122-999. Immaterial whether mortgaged property sold before or after judgment, where purchaser takes with notice: R. R. v. Burnett, 123-210.

Mortgages postponed under section are those only made upon its property by corporation for which labor was done or by which tort committed: Roberts v. Mfg. Co., 169-27; Walker v. Lumber Co., 170-460. Mortgages upon the property when acquired by the corporation or subject to which its rights acquired, as purchase-money mortgages, not affected: Humphrey v. Lumber Co., 174-514. See Walker v. Lumber Co., 170-460. Where mortgaged corporate property sold under the mortgage more than four months before petition in bankruptcy filed, judgment rendered within the four months has priority over purchasers under the mortgage or creditors: Clement v. King, 152-456.

Cases bearing on clause of former section preferring claims "for material furnished" (see supra this note): Belvin v. Raleigh Paper Co., 123-147; Electric Co. v. Power Co., 122-599; James v. Lumber Co., 122-157; Coal Co. v. Electric Light Co., 118-232; Heath v. Cotton Mills, 115-202; Paper Co. v. Chronicle, 115-143; Bank v. Mfg. Co., 96-298.

1141. Gas and electric power companies. Gas and electric light and power companies have power to lay, extend, construct, erect, maintain, repair and remove all necessary or convenient towers, poles, cable wires, conductors, lamps, fixtures, appliances, and appurtenances upon, through and over any roads, streets, avenues, lanes, alleys and bridges within and near any city, town or village where said company is located; and all such roads, streets, lanes, alleys and bridges shall be left in as good condition as they were in at the time of using them as aforesaid: Provided, that the rights and privileges conferred in this section shall not be exercised unless the authorities of such city, town or village first give their consent, and afterwards the said authorities shall have full power to control the location of all towers, poles, wires, conductors and all other fixtures, appliances and appurtenances belonging to or operated by any of said companies.

Rev., s. 1133; 1889 (Pr.), c. 35, s. 2.

Use of street by municipality for laying pipes for water or for erecting wires for lighting imposes no additional servitude, and one who has dedicated street is not entitled to additional compensation for use for pipes, etc.: Smith v. Goldsboro, 121-350. Abutting owner's right to damages from quasi-public corporation injuring trees in street in swinging wires: Moore v. Power Co., 163-300; Brown v. Electric Co., 138-533.

1142. Trust companies and word "trust." No person, firm, association or corporation domiciled in the state of North Carolina, except corporations reporting to and under the supervision of the corporation commission of this state, may therein advertise any sign as a trust company or in any way solicit or receive deposits or transact business as a trust company, or use the word "trust" as a part of his or its name or title. This section shall not prevent any individual, as such, from acting in any trust capacity as heretofore. A violation of this section is a misdemeanor, and on conviction the offender shall be fined not exceeding five hundred dollars for each offense: Provided, however, that it shall be lawful for any corporation incorporated prior to January 1, 1905, to retain the word "trust" in the name of said corporation, though it does not transact a banking business or such other business as requires its examination by the corporation commission. 1915, c. 196, s. 3; 1919, c. 108.

1143. Actions by attorney-general to prevent ultra vires acts, etc. In the following cases the attorney-general may, in the name of the state, upon his own information, or upon the complaint of a private party, bring an action against the offending parties for the purpose of—

1. Restraining by injunction a corporation from assuming or exercising any franchise or transacting any business not allowed by its charter.
2. Restraining any person from exercising corporate franchises not granted.
3. Bringing directors, managers, and officers of a corporation, or the trustees of funds given for a public or charitable purpose, to an account for the management and disposition of the property confided to their care.
4. Removing such officers or trustees upon proof of gross misconduct.
5. Securing, for the benefit of all interested, the said property or funds.
6. Setting aside and restraining improper alienations of the said property or funds.
7. Generally compelling the faithful performance of duty and preventing all fraudulent practices, embezzlement, and waste.

Rev., s. 1197; Code, ss. 607, 686; 1901, c. 2, s. 107.

Section embodies provisions of R. C., c. 26, s. 28; R. S., c. 26, s. 10; 1831, c. 24, s. 5, which authorized attorney-general in equity by injunction to restrain corporations from ultra vires acts, and which was applicable where purpose was not to dissolve corporation, as under section 1187, but to preserve it in its useful functions without abuse of powers: Atty.-Gen. v. R. R., 28-456. Section merely referred to: McCall v. Webb, 135-366; Hargett v. Bell, 134-396; Barnhill v. Thompson, 122-495; Saunders v. Gatling, 81-301.

Stockholder may restrain corporation from contemplated ultra vires act: Victor v. Louise Mills, 148-107.

ART. 4. DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS

1144. Directors. The business of every corporation shall be managed by its directors, who must be at least three in number, and at all times bona fide stockholders in case the corporation is one issuing stock. A corporation may, by its certificate of incorporation or by-laws, determine the number of shares a stockholder must own to qualify him as a director. The directors shall be chosen annually by the stockholders at the time and place provided in the by-laws, and shall hold office for one year and until others are chosen and qualified in their stead; but by so providing in its certificate of incorporation, a corporation may classify its directors in respect to the time for which they will severally hold office, the several classes to be elected for different terms, but no class may be elected for a shorter period than one year, or for a longer period than five years, and the term of office of at least one class must expire in each year. A corporation which has more than one kind of stock may, by so providing in its certificate of incorporation, confer the right to choose the directors of any class upon the stockholders of such class, to the exclusion of the others. One director of every corporation of this state shall be, and only one need be, an actual resident of the state, notwithstanding the provisions of the charter or any other act.

Rev., ss. 1147, 1148; 1901, c. 2, ss. 14, 44.

Directors are to certain extent trustees in respect to corporate management and their business dealings with corporate property: Besseliew v. Brown, 177-65; Steel Co. v. Hardware Co., 175-450; Wall v. Rothrock, 171-388; Whitlock v. Alexander, 160-465; Pender v. Speight, 159-612; White v. Kincaid, 149-415; McIver v. Hardware Co., 144-478; Graham v. Carr, 130-271; Townsend v. Williams, 117-330; Hill v. Lumber Co., 113-173. Directors are agents of corporation, but not of stockholder, and stockholder has no individual cause of action for directors' corporate mismanagement: Coble v. Beall, 130-533, and see under section 1156. As officers of corporation, notice to whom, in course of business, chargeable to corporation: Anthony v. Jeffress, 172-378.

Directors liable for wilful or negligent failure to perform official duties, but not for mere errors of judgment; they must exercise good faith and care of prudent man under like circumstances: Besseliew v. Brown, 177-65; Braswell v. Bank, 159-628; McIver v. Hardware Co., 144-478; Townsend v. Williams, 117-330, and see White v. Kincaid, 149-415. Liable for disseminating false statements of condition of corporation to those injured by reliance thereon: Houston v. Thornton, 122-365, and cases cited. The law charges them with knowledge of their corporation's financial condition: Anthony v. Jeffress, 172-378, and cases cited.

Directors, on insolvency of corporation, cannot take advantage of their position to secure preference for themselves: Steel Co. v. Hardware Co., 175-450, and cases cited; Powell v. Lumber Co., 153-52. But directors and officers of going solvent corporation not forbidden to aid it with loans and to take security therefor: Powell v. Lumber Co., 153-52; Hill v. Lumber Co., 113-173; see Wall v. Rothrock, 171-388. Purchase by director of bonds and stock of insolvent corporation valid if bona fide and for value: Graham v. Carr, 130-271; and see Latta v. Electric Co., 146-285. Where directors buy land sold by corporation under mortgage they are presumed to buy for corporation: Craft v. Assn., 127-163.

For directors' elections, see section 1175—meetings, section 1168 et seq. For their power to declare dividends, see section 1178—to value property received for stock, sections 1157, 1158—to assess for unpaid stock, section 1165—to be trustees on dissolution, section 1194. For their liability for fraud, see section 1152—for improper reduction of capital, section 1161—for impairing capital, section 1179.

1145. Officers, agents, and vacancies. Every corporation organized under this chapter shall have a president, secretary, and treasurer, to be chosen either by the directors or stockholders, as the by-laws direct, and they shall hold office until others are chosen and qualified in their stead; the president shall be chosen from among the directors; the secretary shall record all the votes of the corporation and directors in a book to be kept for that purpose, and perform such other duties as are assigned to him; the treasurer may be required to give bond for the faithful discharge of his duty in such sum, and with such surety or sureties, as are required by the by-laws. Any two of these offices may be held by the same person, if the body electing so determine. The corporation may have such other officers and agents, who shall be chosen in the manner and hold office for the terms, and upon the conditions, prescribed by the by-laws or determined by the board of directors. Any vacancy occurring among the directors, or in the office of president, secretary or treasurer, shall be filled in the manner provided for in the by-laws; in the absence of such provision the vacancy shall be filled by the board of directors.

Rev., ss. 1149, 1150, 1151; 1901, c. 2, ss. 15, 16, 17.

Corporate officers from highest to lowest are agents of corporation, and principles of agency are applicable: Rumbough v. Improvement Co., 112-751. President may have entire control of business by express resolution of directors or their acquiescence: Watson v. Mfg. Co., 147-469. Powers of vice-president depend on by-laws and practice of the corporation: Sanatorium v. Yadkin River Co., 167-326. For powers of other officers, see Powell v. Lumber Co., 168-632; Clowe v. Pine Products Co., 114-304; Lewis v. R. R., 95-179. For discussion of corporation agents' "apparent authority," see Powell v. Lumber Co., 168-632; Havens v. Bank, 132-214; Williams v. R. R., 93-42. Ratification of unauthorized act: Bank v. Drug Co., 152-142.

Third persons must ascertain agent's authority: Stephens v. Lumber Co., 160-108. Notice to officer or agent as notice to corporation, see Brite v. Penny, 157-110; Anthony v. Jeffress, 172-378; Bank v. Burgwyn, 110-267. As to contracts between agent and corporation, see Pegram v. R. R., 84-696, and under section 1144.

For liability of officers for reports and for fraud, see sections 1151, 1152.

1146. Books to be audited on request of stockholders. Upon request of twenty-five per cent of the stockholders, or of any stockholder or stockholders owning twenty-five per cent of the capital stock, of a private corporation organized under the laws of North Carolina and doing business in this state, it is the duty of the officers of the corporation to have all of its books audited by a competent accountant, so that its financial status may be ascertained. Upon refusal or failure of the corporation to commence the auditing of its books within thirty days after such request, the requesting stockholder or stockholders, after ten days notice to the corporation, may apply to the judge of the district, or to the judge holding the courts of the district, in which the corporation has its residence, either at chambers or term time, at any place in the district, and the judge shall appoint an auditor and require the books to be audited at the expense of the corporation. The officers of the corporation shall render to the auditor any assistance or information they can, and give him access to all of the assets, books, papers, etc., relating to the affairs of the corporation, in order that a proper audit may be made. Upon completion of the audit the auditor shall render a statement to the corporation, and to the petitioning stockholder or stockholders.

1911, c. 174, s. 1; 1913, c. 76, s. 1.

1147. Loans to stockholders. No loan of money may be made to a stockholder or officer of a corporation, and if any is made, the officers who made it or assented thereto are jointly and severally liable, to the extent of such loan and interest, for all the debts of the corporation until the repayment of the sum loaned.

Rev., s. 1160; 1901, c. 2, s. 53.

1148. Reports to corporation commission. In addition to the information required to be given in the annual report of corporations to the corporation commission under the provisions of the Revenue and Machinery Acts, spaces shall be provided in such manner as the corporation commission deem proper so that each corporation, whether stock or nonstock, shall report whether the stock, if any, issued by it was issued for cash or for purchase of property, designating what property, the names of all the directors and officers, with the date of the election or appointment, terms of office, residence and postoffice address of each, the character of its business, and the name of the agent in charge thereof upon whom process against the corporation may be served; but this shall not prevent service of process on other agents authorized by law. This information, together with the amount of stock issued and outstanding by the corporation, shall be available to the public upon application to the corporation commission. After these reports have been made to the corporation commission and the excess tax thereon has been computed and determined, it is the duty of the corporation commission to certify a list of such corporations, showing amount of stock issued by each, whether owing an excess tax or not, to the state treasurer, who shall add to such excess tax, if any, the amount due by the corporation on account of franchise tax, and forward a statement of such indebtedness to the corporation for payment, under the penalties provided by law. Every corporation failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall forfeit to the state $100, to be collected by the sheriff of the county where the principal office of the corporation is situated, in a civil action to be brought before a justice of the peace, and when collected shall be remitted by the sheriff to the corporation commission, after deducting his cost as allowed by law, which he shall collect in addition to the penalty.

1149. Secretary of state may call for special reports. The secretary of state has power to call for special reports from corporations, of the same character as their regular reports, at such times as he may deem the public interest requires, but no fees shall be charged for filing these special reports.

Rev., s. 1153.

1150. Secretary of state to publish list of corporations created. The secretary of state shall annually compile and publish from the records of his office a complete alphabetical list of the original and amended certificates of incorporation filed during the preceding year, together with the location of the principal office of each in this state, the name of the agent in charge thereof, the amount of authorized capital stock, the amount with which business is to be commenced, the amount issued, the date of filing the certificate, and the period for which the corporation is to continue; but the secretary of state and the corporation commission shall confer and arrange the statistics so as to prevent the same facts being embodied in the reports of both departments.

Rev., s. 1244; 1901, c. 2, s. 104; 1911, c. 211, s. 10; 1913, c. 198, s. 5.

1151. Liability of officers failing to make reports or making false reports. If any of the officers neglect or refuse to make any report required of them by law for thirty days after written request so to do by a creditor or stockholder of the corporation, they are jointly and severally liable to the person demanding such report, for the amount of his debt if he is a creditor, or for the amount of his loss if he is a stockholder. If any report or certificate made, or any public notice given, by the officers in pursuance of the provisions of this chapter, is false in any material representation, all the officers who signed the same, knowing it to be false, are jointly and severally liable for all the debts of the corporation contracted while they were stockholders or officers thereof, as a penalty enforceable in the courts of this state only.

Rev., ss. 1154, 1163; 1901, c. 2, ss. 27, 56.

1152. Liability for fraud. In case of fraud by the president, directors, managers, or stockholders, in a corporation, the court shall adjudge personally liable to creditors and others injured thereby the directors and stockholders who were concerned in the fraud.

Rev., s. 1155; Code, s. 686; 1901, c. 2, s. 107.

Directors' liability for fraud: Anthony v. Jeffress, 172-378, and cases cited; Houston v. Thornton, 122-365, and see under section 1144. In suit by stockholder against president for fraudulent disposition of funds, proper to make trustee in bankruptcy of the corporation party plaintiff: Floyd v. Layton, 172-64. Officer liable for loss due to his bad faith: Besseliew v. Brown, 177-65. Stockholders taking part in fraudulent organization of corporation liable to creditors to amount of stock subscribed by them: Foundry Co. v. Killian, 99-501, and cases cited.

1153. Joint and several liability of officers, etc.; contribution. When the officers, directors or stockholders of a corporation are liable to pay its debts, or any part thereof, any person to whom they are liable has a right of action against any one or more of them. And any such officer, director or stockholder has the right of equitable contribution in any action for that purpose against any other officer, director or stockholder who is liable with him for any amount which he has been compelled to pay as provided in this section.

Rev., s. 1156; 1901, c. 2, s. 90.

See under sections 1144, 1145, 1152 for directors' and officers' liability. Who may sue to enforce liability: Besseliew v. Brown, 177-65. Where corporation officers have misappropriated funds of a stranger, injured party may sue them personally without joining corporation: Chemical Co. v. Floyd, 158-455—or sue both officers and corporation, Cone v. Fruit Growers' Assn., 171-530.

1154. Officers paying may enforce exoneration against corporation. An officer, director or stockholder who pays a debt of a corporation for which he is made liable by the provisions of this chapter may recover the amount paid, in an action against the corporation for money paid for its use, in which action only the property of the corporation is liable to be taken, and not the property of any stockholder, except as provided in the preceding section.

Rev., s. 1157; 1901, c. 2, s. 91.

1155. Assets of corporation first exhausted. No sale or other satisfaction shall be had of the property of a director or stockholder for a debt of the corporation of which he is director or stockholder until judgment be obtained therefor against the corporation and execution thereon returned unsatisfied, or until it is shown to the court that the corporation has no property available for the satisfaction of the indebtedness.

Rev., s. 1158; 1901, c. 2, s. 92.

ART. 5. CAPITAL STOCK

1156. Classes of stock. Every corporation has power to create two or more kinds of stock of such classes, with such designations, preferences, and voting powers or restriction or qualification thereof as are prescribed by those holding two-thirds of its outstanding capital stock; and the power to increase or decrease the stock as herein elsewhere provided applies to all or any of the classes of stock; and the preferred stock may, if desired, be made subject to redemption at not less than par, at a fixed time and price, to be expressed in the certificate thereof; and the holders thereof are entitled to receive, and the corporation is bound to pay thereon, a fixed yearly dividend, to be expressed in the certificate, payable quarterly, half-yearly or yearly, before any dividend is set apart or paid on the common stock, and such dividends may be made cumulative. In case of insolvency, its debts or other liabilities shall be paid in preference to the preferred stock. No corporation shall create preferred stock except by authority given to the board of directors by a vote of at least two-thirds of the stock voted at a meeting of the common stockholders, duly called for that purpose. The terms "general stock" and "common stock" are synonymous.

Preferred stockholder is not creditor, but stockholder: Power Co. v. Mill Co., 154-76.

Capital stock is trust fund for creditors: Goodman v. White, 174-399; Drug Co. v. Drug Co., 173-502; Bernard v. Carr, 167-481; Gilmore v. Smathers, 167-440; McIver v. Hardware Co., 144-478; Hobgood v. Ehlen, 141-344; Smathers v. Bank, 135-410; Cotton Mills v. Cotton Mills, 115-475; Clayton v. Ore Knob Co., 109-385; Heggie v. Bldg. and Loan Assn., 107-581; Foundry Co. v. Killian, 99-501. Unpaid stock subscriptions a trust fund for creditors: Cooper v. Security Co., 122-463, and see under section 1160. On insolvency capital stock and property constitute trust fund first for creditors, next for stockholders: Hill v. Lumber Co., 113-173; Bank v. Cotton Mill, 115-507; Harmon v. Hunt, 116-678; Holshouser v. Copper Co., 138-248; Silk Co. v. Spinning Co., 154-421. "Creditor" within this rule liberally construed: Silk Co. v. Spinning Co., 154-421. Stockholder whose shares corporation has bought is a creditor: Blalock v. Mfg. Co., 110-99.

1157. Stock to be paid in money or money's worth; issue for labor or property. Nothing but money shall be considered as payment for any part of the capital stock of any corporation organized under this chapter, except as herein provided in case of the purchase of property or labor performed. Any corporation may issue stock for labor done or personal property or real estate, or leases thereof, and, in the absence of fraud in the transaction, the judgment of the directors as to the value of such labor, property, real estate or leases shall be conclusive.

Rev., ss. 1159, 1160; 1901, c. 2, ss. 19, 53; 1903, c. 660, ss. 2, 3.

Section intended to protect subscriptions in their integrity for benefit of creditors: Goodman v. White, 174-399.

STOCK SUBSCRIPTIONS. Payment for stock must be in money except as issue is authorized for property or labor: Whitlock v. Alexander, 160-465—must be in money or money's worth: Hobgood v. Ehlen, 141-344; Foundry Co. v. Killian, 99-501. Secret stipulations or conditions that subscriber not to pay in money or to substitute something else for payment void: Drug Co. v. Drug Co., 173-502 (attempted set-off of debt from corporation not allowed); Boushall v. Stronach, 172-273; Gilmore v. Smathers, 167-440; Foundry Co. v. Killian, 99-501. Subscription cannot be varied by parol: same cases; condition precedent to subscription may be valid: Alexander v. Saving Bank, 155-124. Subscription on "special terms" or condition subsequent enforceable to protect creditors and other stockholders: Coöperative Assn. v. Boyd, 171-184, citing Boushall v. Myatt, 167-328; Farrish v. Cotton Mills, 157-188. Subscription induced by fraud voidable at election of subscriber, if election without laches: Chamberlain v. Trogden, 148-139; Printing Co. v. McAden, 131-178. Payment of subscription may be waived or subscriber released with consent of all parties interested, including all stockholders and existing creditors: Boushall v. Myatt, 167-328; Drug Co. v. Drug Co., 173-502.

No defense in suit on subscription that corporation has abandoned object for which it was incorporated: Improvement Co. v. Andrews, 176-280—or that corporation not legally organized where subscriber to be held has enjoyed benefits of membership: Cotton Mills v. Burns, 114-353—or has participated in organization: Foundry Co. v. Killian, 99-501, and as to corporations de facto, see end of first note to section 1114.

Power to issue stock for "labor done" does not authorize acceptance of prospective services in payment of stock: Hobgood v. Ehlen, 141-344. See, also, as to stock for property, sections 1158, 1159.

1158. Stock issued for property; how value ascertained; how stock reported.

Any corporation formed under this chapter may purchase any property necessary for its business, and issue stock to the amount of the value thereof in payment therefor. The stock so issued shall be full-paid stock, and not liable to any further call, nor shall the holder thereof be liable for any further payment under any of the provisions of this chapter; and in the absence of actual fraud the judgment of the directors as to the value of the property shall be conclusive. In all statements and reports of the corporation to be published or filed, this stock shall not be stated or reported as being issued for cash paid to the corporation, but shall be reported in this respect according to the facts.

Rev., s. 1161; 1901, c. 2, s. 54.

As to power to issue stock for property, see also section 1157. Though statute adopts, in absence of fraud, "good faith" rule as to valuation of property received for stock, yet overvaluation may be evidence of fraud: Whitlock v. Alexander, 160-465—and if grossly excessive and knowingly made, may be conclusive: Hobgood v. Ehlen, 141-344. Whether there has been overvaluation in issue of stock for patents held question for jury on facts: Whitlock v. Alexander, 160-465—the burden of showing that property constituted payment being on party alleging payment: Goodman v. White, 174-399, and see Clayton v. Ore Knob Co., 109-385, where charter provision that stock issued for mining property was "full-paid stock" considered.

1159. Construction companies building railroads, etc., may take stock therein; how issued, valued, and reported. Corporations having for their object the building or repairing of railroads, water, gas or electric works, tunnels, bridges, viaducts, canals, hotels, wharves, piers, or any like works of internal improvement or public use, may subscribe for, take, pay for, hold, use and dispose of stock or bonds in any corporation formed for the purpose of constructing, maintaining and operating any such public works; and the directors of any such corporation formed for the purpose of constructing, maintaining and operating any public work of the description aforesaid may accept in payment of any such subscription, or purchase, real or personal property, necessary for the purposes of such corporation, or work, labor and services performed, or materials furnished to, or for, such corporation to the amount of the value thereof, and from time to time issue upon any such subscription or purchase, in such installments or proportions as such directors may agree upon, full-paid stock, in full or partial performance of the whole, or any part of such subscription or purchase, and the stock so issued shall be full-paid stock, and not liable to any further call, nor shall the holder thereof be liable for any further payments. And in all statements and reports of the corporation to be published or filed, this stock shall not be stated, or reported, as being issued for cash paid to the corporation, but shall be reported and published in this respect according to the fact.

Rev., s. 1172; 1901, c. 2, s. 55.

1160. Liability for unpaid stock. Where the capital stock of a corporation has not been paid in and the assets are insufficient to satisfy its debts and obligations, each stockholder is bound to pay on each share held by him the sum necessary to complete the amount of such share, as fixed by the charter, or such proportion of that sum as is required to satisfy such debts and obligations; but no person holding stock in any corporation in this state as executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee, or as collateral security, is personally subject to any liability as a stockholder of the corporation; but the person pledging the stock is considered as holding the same, and is liable as a stockholder accordingly, and the estate and funds in the hands of such executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee, is liable in like manner, and to the same extent, as the testator or intestate, or the ward, or the person interested in such fund, would have been had he been living and competent to act and hold the stock in his own name.

Rev., s. 1162; 1893, c. 471; 1901, c. 2, s. 22.

Unpaid stock subscriptions constitute trust fund for creditors, who may subject them to the payment of corporation debts: Smathers v. Bank, 135-410; Cooper v. Security Co., 127-219, 122-463; see cases under sections 1156, 1157.

Creditor exhausting remedy against corporation may sue stockholder to amount of unpaid subscriptions, but not necessary to make other stockholders parties: Cooper v. Security Co., 127-219. Statute of limitations does not run against subscriptions to stock payable as called for: Ibid. Where subscriber resides in state, unpaid subscription may be attached by creditors of foreign corporation: Cooper v. Security Co., 122-463. Corporation is liable on stock it holds of another corporation, which becomes insolvent: Meares v. Imp. Co., 126-662. If whole of unpaid subscriptions not necessary to pay debts, subscriber only required to pay ratable part: Harmon v. Hunt, 116-678. Subscriber can only share in surplus of funds after discharging all liabilities of corporation to creditors: Heggie v. Bldg. and Loan Assn., 107-595.

Dissenting subscriber released of liability on subscription where charter of corporation materially altered by legislature after subscription to stock: Bank v. Charlotte, 85-433; R. R. v. Comrs., 87-131; Thompson v. Guion, 58-113; R. R. v. Leach, 49-340—but in order to be released he must show that he did not assent to alteration, R. R. v. Leach, 49-348.

Creditors have a right to examine into affairs of corporation to ascertain if subscriptions to stock have been paid, and how: Foundry Co. v. Killian, 99-501.

Husband holding stock as trustee for wife not personally liable: Smathers v. Bank, 155-283.

1161. Decrease of capital stock. The decrease of capital stock may be effected by—

1. Retiring or reducing any class of the stock.
2. Drawing the necessary number of shares by lot for retirement.
3. The surrender by every stockholder of his shares and the issue to him in place thereof of a decreased number of shares.
4. The purchase at not above par of certain shares for retirement.
5. Retiring shares owned by the corporation.
6. Reducing the par value of shares.

When a corporation decreases the amount of its capital stock as above provided, the certificate decreasing the same shall be published at least once a week for three successive weeks in a newspaper published in the county in which the principal office of the corporation is located, the first publication to be made within fifteen days after the filing of the certificate. In default of such publication the directors of the corporation are jointly and severally liable for all debts of the corporation contracted before the filing of the certificate, and the stockholders are also liable for such sums as they respectively receive of the amount so reduced. No such decrease of capital stock decreases the liability of any stockholder whose shares have not been fully paid, for debts of the corporation theretofore contracted.

Rev., s. 1164; 1901, c. 2, s. 32.

For power to increase or decrease capital stock by amendment of charter, see section 1131. For prohibition on reduction of capital stock, except as provided, see section 1179. Provision for notice hereunder is necessary only to protect stockholders against creditors, and as between stockholders a valid reduction may be effected by corporate action: Meisenheimer v. Alexander, 162-226. Agreement between stockholders for retirement of shares before liabilities of stock are discharged is void as to creditors: Pender v. Speight, 159-612. Purchase and retirement by corporation of its own stock results in decrease of capital stock and void as to creditors: Heggie v. B. and L. Assn., 107-581—but valid between stockholders when creditors not affected: Blalock v. Mfg. Co., 110-99. As to capital stock as trust fund for creditors, see under section 1156.

1162. Certificates and duplicates. Every stockholder shall have a certificate signed by the president and treasurer, or secretary, certifying the number of shares owned by him. A corporation may issue a new certificate of stock in the place of any certificate theretofore issued by it, alleged to have been lost or destroyed, and the directors authorizing such issue of a new certificate may require the owner of the lost or destroyed certificate, or his legal representatives, to give the corporation a bond, in such sum as they may direct, as an indemnity against any claim that may be made against the corporation. A new certificate may be issued without requiring any bond when, in the judgment of the directors, it is proper to do so.

Rev., ss. 1165, 1166; 1885, c. 265; 1901, c. 2, s. 94.

Certificate of stock not necessary to membership, but is merely evidence thereof: Powell v. Lumber Co., 153-52. Tender of certificate not necessary before suit on note given for stock: Cotton Mills v. Abernathy, 115-402. Provision in section for issue of duplicate to replace lost or destroyed certificate is valid: Hendon v. R. R., 125-124, 127-110; as to compelling issuance, see section 1163.

1163. Action to compel issuance of duplicate certificates. When a corporation has refused to issue a new certificate of stock in place of one theretofore issued by it, or by a corporation of which it is a successor, alleged to have been lost or destroyed, the owner of the lost or destroyed certificate or his legal representatives may maintain a civil action in the superior court of the county in which the principal office of the corporation is located to compel the corporation to issue a duplicate certificate in the place of the one alleged to have been lost or destroyed; and if the issues of fact arising upon the pleadings are found in favor of the plaintiff, the court shall make an order requiring the corporation or other party, within such time as it designates, to issue and deliver to the plaintiff a new certificate for the number of shares of the capital stock of the corporation which have been found to be owned by the plaintiff. In making the order the court shall direct that the plaintiff deposit such security as to the court appears sufficient to indemnify any person other than the plaintiff, who shall thereafter appear to be the lawful owner of such certificate stated to be lost or destroyed; and the court may also direct publication of such notice, either preceding or succeeding the making of such final order, as it deems proper. Any person who thereafter claims any rights under the certificate so lost or destroyed shall have recourse to said indemnity, and the corporation shall be discharged from all liability to such person by reason of compliance with the order.

Rev., s. 1167; 1901, c. 2, s. 95.

When action for duplicate certificate is based on alleged loss, which is denied, question is for jury: Hendon v. R. R., 125-124. Section construed and applied: Travers v. R. R., 133-322.

1164. Transfer of shares. The shares of stock in a corporation are personal property, and are transferable on the books of the corporation in the manner and under the regulations provided by the by-laws. Whenever a transfer is made for collateral security, and not absolutely, it shall be so expressed in the entry of the transfer.

Rev., s. 1168; Code, s. 689; 1901, c. 2, s. 21.

Shares of stock are personalty: Belo v. Comrs., 82-415; Worth v. Comrs., 82-420, 90-409.

Transfer of stock certificate indorsed in blank carries entire title as between the parties, notwithstanding charter requires transfer on book: Cox v. Dowd, 133-537; Havens v. Bank, 132-214; Bank v. Dew, 175-79. Requirement of registration is only for benefit of corporation in determining membership, right to vote, etc.: Bleakley v. Candler, 169-16; Mitchell v. Realty Co., 169-516. Holder of shares as purchaser or pledgee has priority over subsequent attachment, though transfer not entered on books: Bleakley v. Candler, 169-16. But see as to prior attachment, Morehead v. R. R., 96-362. Transfer as collateral, rights of purchaser or holder: Bank v. Dew, 175-79.

Duty of corporation to protect interested persons against unauthorized transfers: Baker v. R. R., 173-365; Wooten v. R. R., 128-119, 129-246; Cox v. Bank, 119-302. When transfer is made by executor, corporation fixed with knowledge of will and its contents: Baker v. R. R., 173-365; Wooten v. R. R., 128-119.

"Voting trust" agreements by contracts not to sell stock do not prevent sale: Harvey v. Imp. Co., 118-693, and see section 1173.

1165. Assessments, sale, and notice. The directors of a corporation may, from time to time, make assessments upon the shares of stock subscribed for, not exceeding, in the whole, the par value thereof, remaining unpaid; and the sums assessed shall be paid to the treasurer at such times and by such installments as the directors direct, the directors having given thirty days notice of the assessment and of the time and place of payment, either personally, by mail, or by publication in a newspaper published in the county where the corporation is established. If the owner of any share or shares neglects to pay a sum assessed thereon for thirty days after the time appointed for payment, the treasurer, when ordered by the board of directors, shall sell, at public auction, such share or shares of the delinquent owner as will pay any assessment due from him, with interest, and all necessary incidental charges, and shall transfer the share or shares sold to the purchaser, who is entitled to a certificate therefor. The treasurer shall give notice of the time and place appointed for the sale, and of the sum due on each share, by advertising the same once a week for three successive weeks before the sale in a newspaper published in the county where the principal office of the corporation is located, at the courthouse door, and by mailing a notice thereof to the last known postoffice address of the delinquent stockholder.

Rev., ss. 1169, 1170, 1171; 1901, c. 2, ss. 23, 24, 25.

Statute of limitations does not run upon subscriptions payable on call: Cooper v. Security Co., 127-219.

Provisions of section as to sale of shares to pay assessments valid: Cotton Mills v. Dunstan, 121-12. Where proceeds of sale of stock do not pay the assessments in full, party held personally for remainder: Ibid. Stock advertised to be sold for unpaid assessments and tender made of amount due before sale, subsequent sale void: Wilson v. Telephone Co., 139-395—and delinquent subscriber entitled to mandamus to compel issuance of stock upon payment of amount due, interest, and costs, Ibid. Law passed subsequent to incorporation without assent of subscribers, changing place of sale of forfeited shares, is no invasion of rights granted by charter: Navigation Co. v. Benton, 9-10.

1166. One corporation may purchase stock, etc., of another. A corporation may purchase stock, securities or other evidences of indebtedness created by any other corporation or corporations of this or any other state, and while owner of such may exercise all the rights, powers and privileges of ownership.

Rev., s. 1173; 1903, c. 660, s. 3.

Section changes rule as stated in Meares v. Imp. Co., 126-662.

As to corporation holding its own shares, see Heggie v. B. and L. Assn., 107-581; Blalock v. Mfg. Co., 110-99, and sections 1161, 1174, last sentence.

1167. Mutual corporations may create stock. A mutual corporation, upon the consent in writing of all its members, may provide for and create a capital stock and may provide for the payment of the stock, and fix and prescribe the rights and privileges of the stockholders therein not inconsistent with law.

Rev., s. 1245; 1901, c. 2, s. 105.

ART. 6. MEETINGS, ELECTIONS AND DIVIDENDS

1168. Place of stockholders' and directors' meetings. The meetings of the stockholders of every corporation of this state shall be held at the principal office in this state. The directors may hold their meetings, and have an office and keep the books of the corporation (except the stock and transfer books) outside the state. Every corporation shall maintain a principal office in this state, and have an agent in charge thereof.

Rev., s. 1179; 1901, c. 2, s. 49.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETINGS. Stockholders can act to bind corporation only when assembled in representative capacity, at a meeting legally called, organized and conducted: Hill v. R. R., 143-539; Duke v. Markham, 105-131. Individual consent of each stockholder given separately does not validate corporate action: Ibid.

Notice to each stockholder or member of time and place of meeting essential, unless all present or unless meeting a stated one, definitely fixed by statute, charter or usage: Hill v. R. R., 143-539; Benbow v. Cook, 115-324. Where all present, formal notice waived; effect of contemporary or subsequent record in minutes of meeting: Benbow v. Cook, 115-324. Meeting called for special purpose is limited to that purpose unless all the stockholders are present and consent: Asbury v. Mauney, 173-454. As to first or constituent meeting of corporation and notice thereof, see section 1118 and citations there.

PRINCIPAL PLACE OF BUSINESS. Requirement that every corporation maintain principal office in state held applicable to corporation created by special act providing for principal office in Virginia; duty to comply with requirement not abrogated by provision stated: Roberson v. Lumber Co., 153-120. Before enactment of section, duty to maintain principal office held imposed by general legislative system: Simmons v. S. S. Co., 113-147. See as to books at principal office, section 1170; as to change of office, section 1133.

DIRECTORS' MEETINGS must be at stated time provided in charter or by-laws, or each director must have notice; therefore acts of majority of directors at unusual place without notice void: Bank v. Lumber Co., 116-827, and see cases cited above as to stockholders' meetings.

1169. Meeting called by three stockholders. When, for any reason, a legal meeting of the stockholders of any corporation cannot be otherwise called, three stockholders with voting power may call such meeting by publishing in a newspaper published in the county in which the principal office in this state is located ten days notice of the time, place and purposes of the meeting, and mailing this notice to all stockholders whose postoffice address is known or can be ascertained. A meeting so called is a legal meeting of the corporation, and if there are no officers present, the stockholders may elect officers for the meeting; and the secretary of the meeting shall record the proceedings thereof in the minute book of the corporation.

Rev., s. 1190; 1901, c. 2, s. 51.

See Bridgers v. Staton, 150-216.

1170. Transfer and stock books. Every corporation shall keep at its principal and registered office in this state the transfer books, in which the transfer of stock shall be registered, and the stock books, which shall contain the names and addresses of the stockholders, and the number of shares held by them respectively, and shall at all times during the usual hours for business be open to the examination of every stockholder. These books shall be the only evidence as to who are the stockholders entitled to examine them, and to vote at elections. In case the right to vote upon any share of stock is questioned, the stock books of the corporation shall be referred to, to ascertain who are the stockholders, and in case of a discrepancy between the books, the transfer book shall control and determine who are entitled to vote.

Rev., ss. 1180, 1181; 1901, c. 2, ss. 38, 45.

Section referred to: Bridgers v. Staton, 150-216. Duty of corporations to keep books within state affirmed: Simmons v. S. S. Co., 113-147.

1171. Directors to produce books at election. The board of directors shall produce at the time and place of elections the transfer books and the stock books, there to remain during the election, and the neglect or refusal of the directors to produce the same after a demand therefor shall render them ineligible to any office at such election. All elections of directors held under this chapter prior to February 28, 1913, where these books were not produced, and no demand was made therefor, are ratified and confirmed and given full legal force and effect, but this ratification does not affect litigation pending on the above date.

Rev., s. 1180; 1901, c. 2, s. 38; 1913, c. 14.

1172. Superior court may require production. The superior court may, upon proper cause shown, order any or all of the books of the corporation to be forthwith brought within this state, and kept therein at such place and for such time as is designated in such order. The charter of any corporation failing to comply with such order may be declared forfeited by the court making the order, and all its directors and officers shall be liable to be punished for contempt of court for disobedience of the order.

Rev., s. 1179; 1901, c. 2, s. 49.

1173. Votes stockholders entitled to; cumulative voting. Unless otherwise provided in the charter or by-laws of a corporation, at every election each stockholder is entitled to one vote in person, or by proxy duly authorized in writing, for each share of the capital stock held by him, but no proxy may be voted after three years from its date; nor may there be voted at any election a share of stock which has been transferred on the books of the corporation within twenty days prior to the election. The certificate of incorporation of any corporation authorized to issue shares of capital stock may provide that at all elections of directors, managers, or trustees, each stockholder is entitled to as many votes as equal the number of his shares of stock multiplied by the number of directors, managers, or trustees to be elected, and that he may cast all of his votes for a single director, manager, or trustee, or may distribute them among the number to be voted for, or any two or more of them, as he sees fit. This right of cumulative voting may be exercised in the absence of charter provision when at the time of the election the stock transfer book of such corporation discloses, or it otherwise appears, that more than one-fourth of the capital stock of the corporation is owned or controlled by one person. A stockholder owning or controlling more than twenty-five per cent of the stock has the same right to vote cumulatively as any other stockholder; and no amendment of the charter or by-laws of a corporation can abrogate or abridge any right herein conferred. The right to vote cumulatively cannot be exercised unless some stockholder announces in open meeting, before the voting for directors, trustees, or managers begins, his purpose to exercise such right, and then every other stockholder may likewise vote cumulatively.

Rev., ss. 1183, 1184; 1907, c. 457, s. 1; 1909, c. 827, s. 1.

Right to vote by proxy does not exist at common law: Harvey v. Imp. Co., 118-693. Any one may act as proxy, including officers of corporation: Hill v. Life Assn., 128-463. No proxy to be voted more than three years from date; cannot be irrevocable: Bridgers v. Staton, 150-216; Bridgers v. Bank, 152-293; Sheppard v. Power Co., 150-776.

Cumulative voting discussed: Bridgers v. Staton, 150-216.

“Voting trusts” held opposed to public policy and void as depriving consenting stockholders of right to vote and share in control inherent in stock ownership: Harvey v. Imp. Co., 118-693; Bridgers v. Staton, 150-216; Sheppard v. Power Co., 150-776; Bridgers v. Bank, 152-293.

1174. Stock held by fiduciary, pledgor, life tenant, or corporation. Every person holding stock as executor, administrator, guardian or trustee, or in any other representative or fiduciary capacity, may represent it at all meetings of the corporation, and may vote it as a stockholder, with the same effect as if the absolute owner thereof, unless the instrument creating the trust provides to the contrary. Every person who has pledged his stock as collateral security may represent it at all such meetings, and may vote it as a stockholder, unless in the transfer to the pledgee on the books of the corporation he has expressly empowered the pledgee to vote it, in which case only the pledgee or his proxy may represent and vote said stock. Where stock is owned by, or has been transferred on its record books to, one for life and remainder over, the life tenant at all meetings of the corporation may represent and vote the stock in person or by proxy, in the same manner and with the same effect as if he were the absolute owner thereof. Shares of stock of a corporation belonging to the corporation cannot be voted directly or indirectly.

Rev., ss. 1185, 1186, 1187; 1901, c. 2, ss. 42, 43; 1901, c. 474, ss. 1, 2.

Where stock bequeathed to daughters for life with remainders over on contingent limitations, the control being vested in persons named “executors and trustees,” the right to vote such stock is, under first sentence of section, in persons named executors, etc.: Hayward v. Wright, 152-421. Provision of section as to life tenants voting applies only to life tenant holding as owner without qualification: Ibid. As to right to dividends as between life tenant and remainderman, see under section 1178.

As to corporation’s ownership of its own stock, see under section 1161.

Section cited: Bridgers v. Staton, 150-216.

1175. Election of directors. All elections for directors shall be by ballot, unless otherwise provided in the charter, or by-laws, and a majority of the issued and outstanding stock must be present in person or by proxy; the polls must remain open one hour, unless all the stockholders are present in person or by proxy and have sooner voted, or unless all the stockholders waive this provision in writing; the persons receiving the greatest number of votes shall be the directors.

Rev., s. 1182; 1901, c. 2, s. 39.

Election by minority of stockholders after motion to adjourn carried is invalid: Bridgers v. Staton, 150-216.

1176. Failure to hold election. If the election for directors of a corporation is not held on the day designated by the charter or by-laws, the directors shall cause the election to be held as soon thereafter as is convenient. No failure to elect directors at the designated time shall work any forfeiture or dissolution of the corporation; and if the directors fail or refuse for thirty days after receiving a written request for such election from those owning one-tenth of the outstanding stock, to call a meeting for the election, the judge of the district, or the judge presiding in the courts of the district, in which the principal office of the corporation is located, may, upon the application of any stockholder, and on notice to the directors, order an election or make such other order as justice requires. The proceedings governing the issuance and hearing of injunctions shall, as far as applicable, govern such hearing.

Rev., s. 1188; 1901, c. 2, s. 46.

After failure to elect directors, provisions of section applicable: Bridgers v. Staton, 150-216.

1177. Jurisdiction of superior court over elections. The superior court judge, upon application of any person who may complain of any election, or any proceeding, act or matter pertaining to the same, ten days notice having been given to the adverse party, or to those who are to be affected thereby, of such intended application, shall proceed forthwith, at chambers, in any county in the district in which the principal office of the corporation is situated, to hear the affidavits, proofs and allegations of the parties, or otherwise inquire into the matter or causes of complaint, and thereupon establish the election complained of, or order a new election, or make any order and give any relief in the premises as right and justice requires. The proceedings shall, as far as applicable, be the same as in injunctions.

Rev., s. 1189; 1901, c. 2, s. 47.

See Bridgers v. Staton, 150-216.

1178. When dividend declared. The directors of every corporation created under this chapter shall, in January of each year, unless some specific time for that purpose is fixed in its charter, or by-laws, and in that case at the time so fixed, after reserving, over and above its capital stock paid in, as a working capital for the corporation, whatever sum has been fixed by the stockholders, declare a dividend among its stockholders of the whole of its accumulated profits exceeding the amount reserved, and pay it to the stockholders on demand. The corporation may, in its certificate of incorporation or by-laws, give the directors power to fix the amount to be reserved as a working capital.

Rev., s. 1191; 1901, c. 2, s. 52.

Dividend due from and declared by private corporation is a debt recoverable by stockholder: University v. R. R., 76-103. Sale of stock held to vest buyer with right to dividend declared before to be paid at date subsequent to sale: Burroughs v. R. R., 67-376. Right to dividends as between life tenant and remainderman: Humphrey v. Lang, 169-601. Sale of stock reserving dividends of certain date held to reserve only cash dividends and not stock dividends declared at date specified: Trust Co. v. Mason, 152-660. Right to declare stock dividend: Whitlock v. Alexander, 160-465. Stock dividend remains as capital, cash dividend is income: Humphrey v. Lang, 169-601. Holder of stock issued as dividend not liable to existing creditors, but is liable to subsequent creditors: Whitlock v. Alexander, 160-465.

1179. Dividends from profits only; directors' liability for impairing capital. No corporation may declare and pay dividends except from the surplus or net profits arising from its business, or when its debts, whether due or not, exceed two-thirds of its assets, nor may it reduce, divide, withdraw, or in any way pay to any stockholder any part of its capital stock except according to this chapter. In case of a violation of any provision of this section, the directors under whose administration the same occurs are jointly and severally liable, at any time within six years after paying such dividend, to the corporation and its creditors, in the event of its dissolution or insolvency, to the full amount of the dividend paid, or capital stock reduced, divided, withdrawn, or paid out, with interest on the same from the time such liability accrued. Any director who was absent when the violation occurred, or who dissented from the act or resolution by which it was effected, may exonerate himself from such liability by causing his dissent to be entered at large on the minutes of the directors at the time the action was taken or immediately after he has had notice of it.

Rev., s. 1192; Code, s. 681; 1901, c. 2, ss. 33, 52.

Dividend from capital under guise of division of profits: Atty.-Gen. v. Bank, 21-545. Agreement to distribute assets of corporation void as to creditors: Heggie v. B. and L. Assn., 107-581. Right of creditors to follow assets wrongfully distributed or transferred until bona fide creditor or purchaser reached: McIver v. Hardware Co., 144-478. Capital a trust fund for creditors, see under section 1156.

Whether stock dividend fraudulently issued is question for jury: Whitlock v. Alexander, 160-465. Contract of one corporation to guaranty dividends of another corporation considered: Stagg v. Land Co., 171-583.

Directors' liability to creditors for impairing capital: McIver v. Hardware Co., 144-478—for dividends wrongfully declared: Houston v. Thornton, 122-365; Solomon v. Bates, 118-311; Caldwell v. Bates, 118-323. For directors' liability generally, see under section 1144 and references there given.

ART. 7. FOREIGN CORPORATIONS

1180. Powers existing independently of permission to do business. A corporation created by another state of the United States, or by any foreign state, kingdom, or government may acquire by devise or otherwise, and may hold, mortgage, lease, and convey real estate in this state for the purpose of prosecuting its business or objects, or such real estate as it may acquire by way of mortgage or otherwise in the payment of debts due to it, but is not eligible or entitled to qualify in this state as executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee under the will of any person domiciled in this state at the time of his death. The right to acquire, hold and convey real estate exists only where at the time of the acquisition, the foreign state, government, or kingdom under whose laws the corporation was created is not at war with the United States.

By comity foreign corporation may exercise in this state powers conferred by its charter, if exercise not contrary to statute or public policy, subject, however, to right of state to exclude altogether or to prescribe terms not violative of federal rights: Tobacco Co. v. Tobacco Co., 145-367; Fisher v. Ins. Co., 136-217; Shields v. Ins. Co., 119-380. Status of corporation of another state chartered to do business in this state: Mining Co. v. Lumber Co., 173-593; Barcello v. Hapgood, 118-712—right to hold and convey lands: same cases. Laws of state of domicile determine liability of stockholders in case of bankruptcy: Hobgood v. Ehlen, 141-344. Courts here will not unnecessarily examine charter, by-laws, and regularity of foreign corporation: Moore v. Mining Co., 104-534.

1181. Requisites for permission to do business. Every foreign corporation before being permitted to do business in this state, insurance companies excepted, shall file in the office of the secretary of state a copy of its charter or articles of agreement, attested by its president and secretary, under its corporate seal, and a statement attested in like manner of the amount of its capital stock authorized, the amount actually issued, the principal office in this state, the name of the agent in charge of such office, the character of the business which it transacts, and the names and postoffice addresses of its officers and directors. And such corporation shall pay to the secretary of state, for the use of the state, twenty cents for every one thousand dollars of the total amount of the capital stock authorized to be issued by such corporation, but in no case less than twenty-five dollars nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars; and also a filing fee of five dollars. Such corporation may withdraw from the state upon filing in the office of the secretary of state a statement signed by its president and secretary and attested by its corporate seal, setting forth the fact that such corporation desires to withdraw, and upon payment to the secretary of state of a fee of five dollars. Every corporation failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall forfeit to the state five hundred dollars, to be recovered, with costs, in an action to be prosecuted by the attorney-general, who shall prosecute such actions whenever it appears that this section has been violated. This section does not apply to railroad, banking, express or telegraph companies which, prior to March 9, 1915, had been licensed to do business in this state, or were engaged in business in this state, having a regularly appointed agent upon whom service of process could be made, located in this state.

Rev., s. 1194; 1901, c. 2, s. 57; 1903, c. 76; 1915, c. 263.

Legislature has undoubted power to prescribe terms for admission of foreign corporations: Williams v. Life Assn., 145-128, and see under section 1180.

If corporation fails to comply with section, state may sue for penalty: Tobacco Co. v. Tobacco Co., 144-352—but contract made without compliance is not void and may be enforced as any ultra vires contract: Ober v. Katzenstein, 160-439; Tobacco Co. v. Tobacco Co., 144-352.

Compliance with section, or "domestication," enables plaintiff to get personal service upon foreign corporation, but does not remove its property to state, or change situs of debts created elsewhere: Strause v. Ins. Co., 126-223—nor by compliance does foreign corporation lose its right of removal to federal court: Southern R. Co. v. Allison, 190 U. S., 326, reversing Allison v. R. R., 129-336, and overruling Beach v. R. R., 131-399, decided pending Allison appeal, and Debnam v. Telephone Co., 126-831.

See following cases of interest: Staton v. R. R., 144-135; Coal, etc., Co. v. R. R., 144-732.

For requirement as to resident process agent, see section 1137 and cases thereunder. As to foreign insurance companies, see section 6411.

ART. 8. DISSOLUTION

1182. Voluntary, generally. When in the judgment of the board of directors it is deemed advisable and for the benefit of a corporation that it be dissolved, the board, within ten days after the adoption of a resolution to that effect by a majority of the whole board, at a meeting called for that purpose, of which meeting every director shall have received three days notice, shall cause notice of adoption of such resolution to be mailed to each stockholder residing in the United States, to his last known postoffice address, and also, beginning within said ten days, cause a like notice to be published in a newspaper published in the county wherein the corporation has its principal office, at least once a week for four successive weeks, next preceding the time appointed for the same, of a meeting of the stockholders to be held at the office of the corporation, to take action upon the resolution. The stockholders' meeting thus called may, on the day appointed, by consent of a majority in interest of the stockholders present, be adjourned from time to time for not less than eight days at one time, of which adjourned meeting notice by advertisement in said newspaper shall be given. If at such meeting two-thirds in interest of all the stockholders consent in writing that a dissolution take place, their consent, together with the list of the names and residences of the directors and officers, certified by the president and the secretary or treasurer, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, who, upon being satisfied by due proof that the requirements aforesaid have been complied with, shall issue a certificate that the consent has been filed, and the board of directors shall cause this certificate to be recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the principal office of the corporation is located, and published once a week for four successive weeks in a newspaper published in said county. Upon the filing in the office of the secretary of state of an affidavit of the manager or publisher of such newspaper that the certificate has been so published, the corporation is dissolved, and the board shall proceed to settle up and adjust its business and affairs. Whenever all the stockholders consent in writing to a dissolution, no meeting or notice thereof is necessary, but on filing the consent in the office of the secretary of state he shall forthwith issue a certificate of dissolution, which shall be published as above provided, and recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the principal office of the corporation is located.

Ways of dissolution of corporations explained: Stagg v. Land Co., 171-583, referring to section. Effect of dissolution on corporate property, real and personal: Wilson v. Leary, 120-90, overruling Fox v. Horah, 36-358; Torrence v. Charlotte, 163-562. Distribution of funds of corporation under section 1198 dissolves corporation without more, see section cited. Dissolution of corporation does not extinguish debts due from or to it, or abate actions against it, see section 1199.

Section settled mooted question as to stockholders' power to dissolve corporation and how power might be validly exercised; section enters into every corporate charter: White v. Kincaid, 149-415. When discretionary power of dissolution has been exercised in compliance with section, courts will not generally interfere, as by injunction: Ibid. Directors hereunder are trustees and must act faithfully in interest of corporation and not to oppress a portion of stockholders: Ibid.

Corporation continues until legally dissolved, and, in absence of statutory provision, cessation of business and voluntary winding up cannot affect position of its assets as trust fund for creditors: Heggie v. B. and L. Assn., 107-581; Perry v. Ins. Co., 139-374—nor can sale of the corporate property dissolve the corporation: James v. R. R., 121-523, and cases cited; Navigation Co. v. Costen, 63-264. But see Coal, etc., Co. v. R. R., 144-732.

As to trust fund doctrine, see section 1156; for liability of shareholders, section 1157; of directors and officers, section 1144.

Where under statute one corporation dissolved and another formed, creditors of defunct corporation may have its assets applied to their debts by means of a receiver: Marshall v. R. R., 92-322. Formation of new corporation by officers of existing corporation does not affect existence of latter or render such officers personally liable to its creditors: Perry v. Ins. Co., 139-374.

1183. Liability of stockholders. The stockholders of a corporation chartered under the laws of this state are individually liable for all taxes, costs and fees for the dissolution of the corporation, and the attorney-general is authorized to enforce the provisions of this section by suit before a justice of the peace or in the superior court in the county where such corporation had its principal place of business, whenever it appears upon report from the secretary of state that the corporation has ceased to transact business and fails to pay the taxes due the state or to file annual statements or to dissolve itself as provided by law. If a nonresident stockholder of the corporation refuses to sign the certificate of dissolution the resident stockholders shall make affidavit to that effect, and the written assent of such resident stockholders, accompanied by such affidavit, is sufficient to dissolve the corporation. If no stockholder of such corporation is found within the state the secretary of state has authority to declare the charter of the corporation forfeited, and shall publish annually in his corporation report a list of the corporations whose charters have been so forfeited.

1184. Voluntary, before payment of stock. The incorporators named in a certificate of incorporation, before the payment of any part of the capital stock, and before beginning the business for which the corporation was created, may surrender all their corporate rights and franchises, by filing in the office of the secretary of state a certificate, verified by oath, that no part of the capital stock has been paid and such business has not been begun, and surrendering all rights and franchises. Thereupon the corporation is dissolved.

Rev., s. 1177; 1901, c. 2, s. 35.

1185. Involuntary, at instance of private persons. Corporations may be dissolved by civil action, instituted by the corporation, a stockholder, or creditor, or by authority of the attorney-general in the name of the state, in the following cases:

1. For any abuse of its powers to the injury of the public or of its stockholders, creditors, or debtors.
2. For nonuser of its powers for two or more consecutive years.
3. When it is insolvent, or suspends its ordinary business for want of funds, or is in imminent danger of insolvency, or has forfeited its corporate rights.
4. Upon any conviction of the company of a persistent criminal offense.

Rev., s. 1196; Code, s. 694; 1901, c. 2, s. 73.

Section authorizes dissolution in action to dissolve brought by one of corporators for abuse of powers in failing to maintain principal office and in withdrawing agencies from state: Simmons v. S. S. Co., 113-147, and see under section 1168. Court under its equitable powers may decree dissolution in suit where facts bringing case under this section exist and proper parties are present, though direct proceeding under section more orderly: Greenleaf v. Land Co., 146-505.

Section referred to generally: Asheville Div. v. Aston, 92-578; Stagg v. Land Co., 171-583— as to effects of nonuser, R. R. v. Alsbrook, 110-137.

As to obtaining leave of attorney-general, see sections 871, 872, but query whether attorney-general does not proceed here as under section 1187, unless corporator, etc., sues for himself as in Simmons v. S. S. Co., 113-147.

1186. Involuntary, by stockholders. When stockholders owning one-fifth or more in amount of the paid-up stock of any corporation organized under the laws of and doing business in this state, except corporations organized for religious, charitable, fraternal, and educational purposes, and except banking and public-service corporations, apply in term or vacation to the judge of the superior court holding the courts for the county in which the principal place of business of the corporation is situated, by petition containing a statement that for three years next preceding the filing of the petition, which time shall begin to run from three years after it has begun business, the net earnings of the corporation have not been sufficient to pay in good faith an annual dividend of four per cent upon the paid stock of the corporation, over and above the salaries and expenses authorized by its by-laws and regulations, or that the corporation has paid no dividend for six years preceding said application; or whenever stockholders owning one-tenth or more in amount of the paid-up common stock of any such corporation apply to the judge of the superior court as aforesaid by petition containing a statement that the corporation has paid no dividend on the common stock for ten years preceding said application, and that they desire a dissolution of the corporation, the judge shall make an order requiring the officers of the corporation to file in court, within a reasonable time, inventories showing all the real and personal estate of the corporation, a true account of its capital stock, the names of the stockholders, their residences, the number of shares belonging to each, the amount paid in upon said shares and the amount still due thereon, and a statement of all the encumbrances on the property of the corporation and all its contracts which have not been fully satisfied and canceled, specifying the place and residence of each creditor, the sum owing to each, the nature of the debt or demand, and the consideration therefor, and the books and papers of the corporation. Upon the filing of the inventories, accounts and statements, the court shall enter an order requiring all persons interested in the corporation to appear before a referee to be appointed by the court, at a time and place named in the order, service of which may be made by publication for such time as may be deemed proper by the court, and show cause why the corporation should not be dissolved. If it appears to the court that the statements contained in the petition are true, the court may adjudge a dissolution of the corporation and shall appoint one or more receivers, who shall have all powers of receivers conferred by this chapter for the winding up the affairs and distribution of the assets of the corporation. If it appears to the court that the corporation is insolvent or in imminent danger of insolvency, the court may appoint a temporary receiver of the corporation pending dissolution. No suit shall be brought for the dissolution of a corporation under the provisions of this section until each and all of the petitioners have owned their stock for the term of two years prior to the institution of the action; nor shall any such suit be brought for the period of three years after a final judgment upon a prior petition as herein provided.

1913, c. 147; 1915, c. 137, s. 1.

Section intended to prevent abuse of powers by majority to detriment of minority stockholders, not to affect withholding dividends by unanimous consent for legitimate business reasons: Winstead v. Hearne, 173-606. Stockholder who has agreed to investment of surplus in enlarging business estopped to ask under section dissolution because no dividends declared: Ibid. The provision for "ten" years suspension of dividends, line 17 of section (added by 1915, c. 137), seems inconsistent with "six" years in line 13 (laws 1913, c. 147), and ten years must elapse: Ibid. Court not confined to decree of dissolution hereunder, but considering provisions of article 12 of this chapter on Reorganization, ss. 1221-1224, may decree sale of franchise with property, conferring on purchasers right to reorganize: Wood v. Staton, 174-245.

1187. Involuntary, by attorney-general. An action may be brought by the attorney-general in the name of the state against a corporation for the purpose of annulling its charter upon the ground that it was procured upon a fraudulent suggestion, or concealment of a material fact, by the persons incorporated or by some of them, or with their knowledge or consent; or for the purpose of annulling the existence of a corporation, other than municipal, when such corporation—

Corporation cannot endure for longer time than prescribed in charter, and no judicial proceedings necessary to terminate its existence; but forfeiture at an earlier date for fraud in procuring charter, or for abuse, usurpation or nonuser of its powers can only be enforced by state hereunder: Asheville Div. v. Aston, 92-578. The state may waive the forfeiture: Atty.-Gen. v. R. R., 28-456.

Formerly attorney-general could not bring action to vacate charter of his own motion, but required authority of legislature: Atty.-Gen. v. R. R., 134-481.

1. Offends against the act creating, altering, or renewing it.

See Mining Co. v. Goodhue, 118-981, considering effect of state corporation organizing by holding first stockholders' meeting outside state.

2. Violates any law by which it has forfeited its charter by abuse of its power.

See Atty.-Gen. v. R. R., 28-456.

3. Has forfeited its privileges or franchises by failure to exercise its power.

4. Has done or omitted any act which amounts to a surrender of its corporate rights, privileges and franchises.

5. Has exercised a franchise or privilege not conferred upon it by law.

Quo warranto said to be remedy against foreign corporation improperly doing business in state: Mining Co. v. Lumber Co., 173-593—to determine corporation's right to exercise eminent domain: Power Co. v. Power Co., 171-248; Land Co. v. Traction Co., 162-314—to determine right of banking company to establish branches: Banking Co. v. Tate, 122-313.

See generally as to effect of ultra vires acts, under section 1128.

6. Has failed to use its powers for two or more consecutive years.

7. Has become insolvent as manifested by the return of an execution unsatisfied upon a judgment against the corporation docketed in the superior court of the county where it has its principal place of business.

See Simmons v. S. S. Co., 113-147.

It is the duty of the attorney-general, whenever he has reason to believe that any of these acts or omissions can be established by proof, to bring an action in every case of public interest, and also in every other case in which satisfactory security is given to indemnify the state against the costs and expenses to be incurred thereby.

Rev., s. 1198; Code, ss. 604, 605; 1889, c. 533.
