Preface

This volume contains the general laws of a permanent nature enacted by the General Assembly through the 2001 Regular Session that are within Chapters 58A through 86A, and brings to date the annotations included therein.

A majority of the Session Laws are made effective upon becoming law, but a few provide for stated effective dates. If the Session Law makes no provision for an effective date, the law becomes effective under G.S. 120-20 "from and after 60 days after the adjournment of the session" in which passed.

A ready reference index is included at the back of this volume. This index is intended to give the user a quick reference to larger bodies of statutes within this volume only. For detailed research on any subject, both within this volume and the General Statutes as a whole, see the General Index to the General Statutes.

Beginning with formal opinions issued by the North Carolina Attorney General on July 1, 1969, selected opinions which construe a specific statute are cited in the annotations to that statute. For a copy of an opinion or of its headnotes, write the Attorney General, P.O. Box 629, Raleigh, N.C. 27602.

This recompiled volume has been prepared and published under the supervision of the Department of Justice of the State of North Carolina. The members of the North Carolina Bar are requested to communicate any suggestions they may have for improving the General Statutes to the Department, or to LexisNexis, Charlottesville, Virginia.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2000-140, s. 101(m), effective July 21, 2000, substituted "Act" for "Article" in the catchline and in the section.

§ 59-35.1. Filing of documents.

(a) A document required or permitted by this Act to be filed by the Secretary of State must be filed under Chapter 55D of the General Statutes.

(b) A document submitted under this Act for filing by the Secretary of State must be executed by a general partner of the partnership.

(c) The Secretary of State may adopt and furnish on request forms for:

(1) An application for registration as a registered limited liability partnership;

(2) Cancellation of registration as a registered limited liability partnership;

(3) Application for registration as a foreign limited liability partnership; and

(4) Cancellation of registration as a foreign limited liability partnership.

If the Secretary of State so requires, use of these forms is mandatory.

(d) The Secretary of State may adopt and furnish on request forms for other documents required or permitted to be filed by this Act, but their use is not mandatory. (1999-369, s. 4.1; 2001-358, ss. 9, 38, 51(c); 2001-387, ss. 104, 105(c), 155, 170(a), 173, 175(a); 2001-413, s. 6.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-358, s. 53, provided that the act, which amended this section, was effective October 1, 2001, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date. Section 173 of Session Laws 2001-387 changed the effective date of Session Laws 2001-358 from October 1, 2001, to January 1, 2002. Section 6 of Session Laws 2001-413, effective September 14, 2001, added a sentence to s. 175(a) of Session Laws 2001-387, making s. 173 of that act effective when it became law (August 26, 2001). As a result of these changes, the amendment by Session Laws 2001-358 is effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date.

Session Laws 2001-387, ss. 104 and 105(c) had added this section and repealed former § 59-73.7. However, s. 155 of c. 387 repealed ss. 104 and 105(c), contingent upon the enactment of Session Laws 2001-358. Session Laws 2001-358, which renumbered former § 59-73.7 as present § 59-35.1, was enacted on August 10, 2001.

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 154(b), provides that nothing in this act shall supersede the provisions of Article 10 or 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes, and this act does not create an alternate means for an entity governed by Article 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes to convert to a different business form.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-358, ss. 9, 38, and 51(c), effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date, recodified former § 59-73.7 as this section, and rewrote the section.

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 170(a), effective January 1, 2002, rewrote (c) and added (d).

The party to the proceeding causing service of process is entitled to recover this fee as costs if the party prevails in the proceeding.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-387, s. 175(a), made this section effective January 1, 2002.

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 154(b), provides that nothing in this act shall supersede the provisions of Article 10 or 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes, and this act does not create an alternate means for an entity governed by Article 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes to convert to a different business form.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-487, s. 62(q), effective January 1, 2002, substituted "registered" for "resisted" near the beginning of the first sentence in subsection (b) as enacted by Session Laws 2001-387, 170(b).

Part 2. Nature of a Partnership.

§ 59-36. Partnership defined.

(a) A partnership is an association of two or more persons to carry on as co-owners a business for profit.

(b) But any association formed under any other statute of this State, or any statute adopted by authority, other than the authority of this State, is not a partnership under this Article, unless such association would have been a partnership in this State prior to the adoption of this Article; but this Article shall apply to limited partnerships except insofar as the statutes relating to such partnerships are inconsistent herewith. (1941, c. 374, s. 6.)

Cross References. — As to limited partnerships, see § 59-101 et seq.

CASE NOTES

"Profit" Relates to Purpose of Business. — There was no merit to defendant's contention that since he and his associates never achieved a "profit" in their business dealings, there could be no partnership, since the word "profit," as it is used in subsection (a) of this section, relates to the purpose of the business, not to whether the business actually produced a net gain. Reddington v. Thomas, 45 N.C. App. 236, 262 S.E.2d 841 (1980).

Partnership is a legal concept but the determination of the existence or not of a partnership, as in the case of a trust, involves inferences drawn from an analysis of "all the circumstances attendant on its creation and operation." Peed v. Peed, 72 N.C. App. 549, 325 S.E.2d 275, cert. denied, 313 N.C. 604, 330 S.E.2d 612 (1985).

To make a partnership, two or more persons should combine their property, effects, labor, or skill in a common business or venture, under an agreement to share the profits and losses in equal or specified proportions, constituting each member an agent of the others in matters appertaining to the partnership and within the scope of its business. Johnson v. Gill, 235 N.C. 40, 68 S.E.2d 788 (1952); Zickgraf Hardwood Co. v. Seay, 60 N.C.

App. 128, 298 S.E.2d 208 (1982).

A voluntary association of partners may be shown without proving an express agreement to form a partnership; and a finding of its existence may be based upon a rational consideration of the acts and declarations of the parties, warranting the inference that the parties understood that they were partners and acted as such. Peed v. Peed, 72 N.C. App. 549, 325 S.E.2d 275, cert. denied, 313 N.C. 604, 330 S.E.2d 612 (1985).

Where a person merely makes repayable advances and loans of money to another, it cannot be inferred from that fact that they are partners. Peed v. Peed, 72 N.C. App. 549, 325 S.E.2d 275, cert. denied, 313 N.C. 604, 330 S.E.2d 612 (1985).

A partnership is a combination of two or more persons, their property, labor, or skill in a common business or venture under an agreement to share profits or losses and where each party to the agreement stands as an agent to the other and the business. G.R. Little Agency, Inc. v. Jennings, 88 N.C. App. 107, 362 S.E.2d 807 (1987).

Co-ownership of the business is an indispensable requisite for a partnership, under this section, and where this element is lacking there can be no partnership. McGurk v. Moore, 234 N.C. 248, 67 S.E.2d 53 (1951).

Co-ownership and sharing of any actual profits are indispensable requisites for a partnership. Sturm v. Goss, 90 N.C. App. 326, 368 S.E.2d 399 (1988).

A partnership is a contractual relation and may be informally created, and its existence may be proved by acts and declarations of the parties. Whiteside v. Rooks, 197 F. Supp. 313 (W.D.N.C. 1961).

A partnership may be formed by an oral agreement. Campbell v. Miller, 274 N.C. 143, 161 S.E.2d 546 (1968).

A partnership may be formed orally or by the agreement or conduct of the parties, either express or implied. Peed v. Peed, 72 N.C. App. 549, 325 S.E.2d 275, cert. denied, 313 N.C. 604, 330 S.E.2d 612 (1985).

There is no requirement for an express agreement, either written or oral, in order to form a partnership; rather, a partnership may be created by the conduct and declarations of the principals without an express agreement of any kind. Magers v. Thomas (In re Vannoy), 176 Bankr. 758 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 1994).

A partnership agreement may be inferred without a written or oral contract if the conduct of the parties toward each other is such that such an inference is justified. Williams v. Biscuitville, Inc., 40 N.C. App. 405, 253 S.E.2d 18, cert. denied, 297 N.C. 457, 256 S.E.2d 810 (1979).

A partnership consisting of one person cannot continue to exist. Crosby v. Bowers, 87 N.C. App. 338, 361 S.E.2d 97 (1987).

A partnership is a partnership at will unless some agreement to the contrary can be proved. Campbell v. Miller, 274 N.C. 143, 161 S.E.2d 546 (1968).

Failure to Show Partnership. — Where plaintiffs, who filed an action to enjoin foreclosure on real property, contending that the option contract, contract to purchase and note entered into between plaintiffs and defendants created a partnership relationship rather than a mortgagee-mortgagor relationship, failed to show probable cause to believe that they would be able to establish the partnership rights they asserted, the trial court did not err in denying a preliminary injunction and allowing foreclosure to proceed. Carefree Carolina Communities, Inc. v. Cilley, 79 N.C. App. 742, 340 S.E.2d 529, cert. denied, 316 N.C. 374, 342 S.E.2d 891 (1986).

Finding of the trial court that defendant was not a partner with her ex-husband in his farming and agribusiness enterprises, but acted only as an assistant to him, upheld. G.R. Little Agency, Inc. v. Jennings, 88 N.C. App. 107, 362 S.E.2d 807 (1987).

Partnership Shown. — A partnership existed between plaintiff and defendant, and plaintiff had a 50% interest in the partnership, where the evidence presented showed that plaintiff certainly contributed her property, effects, labor, and skill to the business. Wike v. Wike, 115 N.C. App. 139, 445 S.E.2d 406 (1994).

§ 59-37. Rules for determining the existence of a partnership.

In determining whether a partnership exists, these rules shall apply:

(1) Except as provided by G.S. 59-46 persons who are not partners as to each other are not partners as to third persons.
(2) Joint tenancy, tenancy in common, tenancy by the entireties, joint property, common property, or part ownership does not of itself establish a partnership, whether such co-owners do or do not share any profits made by the use of the property.
(3) The sharing of gross returns does not of itself establish a partnership, whether or not the persons sharing them have a joint or common right or interest in any property from which the returns are derived.
(4) The receipt by a person of a share of the profits of a business is prima facie evidence that he is a partner in the business, but no such inference shall be drawn if such profits were received in payment:
a. As a debt by installments or otherwise,
b. As wages of an employee or rent to a landlord,
c. As an annuity to a widow or representative of a deceased partner,
d. As interest on a loan, though the amount of payment vary with the profits of the business,
e. As the consideration for the sale of a goodwill of a business or other property by installments or otherwise. (1941, c. 374, s. 7.)

Cross References. — For provision that a lessor and lessee are not partners, see § 42-1.

CASE NOTES

Creation by Express or Implied Agreement or Conduct. — Not only may a partnership be formed orally, but it may be created by the agreement or conduct of the parties, either express or implied. Davis v. Davis, 58 N.C. App. 25, 293 S.E.2d 268, cert. denied, 307 N.C. 127, 297 S.E.2d 399 (1982).

Express Agreement Not Required. — A voluntary association of partners may be shown without proving an express agreement to form a partnership; and a finding of its existence may be based upon a rational consideration of the acts and declarations of the parties, warranting the inference that the parties understood that they were partners and acted as such. Davis v. Davis, 58 N.C. App. 25, 293 S.E.2d 268, cert. denied, 307 N.C. 127, 297 S.E.2d 399 (1982).

Existence of a partnership does not require an express agreement and the parties' intent to formulate a partnership can be inferred by the conduct of the parties by examining all the circumstances. Wilder v. Hobson, 101 N.C. App. 199, 398 S.E.2d 625 (1990).

There is no requirement for an express agreement, either written or oral, in order to form a partnership; rather, a partnership may be created by the conduct and declarations of the principals without an express agreement of any kind. Magers v. Thomas (In re Vannoy), 176 Bankr. 758 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 1994).

A partnership agreement may be inferred without a written or oral contract if the conduct of the parties toward each other is such that such an inference is justified. Williams v. Biscuitville, Inc., 40 N.C. App. 405, 253 S.E.2d 18, cert. denied, 297 N.C. 457, 256 S.E.2d 810 (1979).

The intent to realize a profit is an indicia of partnership without regard to whether the principals were successful in doing so. Magers v. Thomas (In re Vannoy), 176 Bankr. 758 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 1994).

Co-ownership and sharing of any actual profits are indispensable requisites for a partnership. Wilder v. Hobson, 101 N.C. App. 199, 398 S.E.2d 625 (1990).

Sharing Profits. — Although sharing profits does not of itself establish a partnership, the Uniform Partnership Act emphasizes the importance of sharing profits in the existence of a partnership by mandating that the receipt by a person of a share of the business profits is prima facie evidence that he is a partner. Wilder v. Hobson, 101 N.C. App. 199, 398 S.E.2d 625 (1990).

Agreement to Share Profits Does Not Necessarily Create Partnership. — While an agreement to share profits, as such, is one of the tests of a partnership, an agreement to receive part of the profits for his services and attention, as a means only of ascertaining the compensation, does not create a partnership. Johnson v. Gill, 235 N.C. 40, 68 S.E.2d 788 (1952).

The determination of whether a partnership exists, and whether the parties are co-owners, involves examining all the circumstances. Peed v. Peed, 72 N.C. App. 549, 325 S.E.2d 275, cert. denied, 313 N.C. 604, 330 S.E.2d 612 (1985).

Receipt of Share of Profits is Prima Facie Evidence of Partnership. — Where defendant's corporation, and not defendant, received a direct share of plaintiff partnership's profits, that was prima facie evidence that defendant's corporation, not defendant, was a partner. Sturm v. Goss, 90 N.C. App. 326, 368 S.E.2d 399 (1988).

Inferences from Circumstances of Creation and Operation. — Partnership is a legal concept but the determination of the existence or not of a partnership, as in the case of a trust, involves inferences drawn from an analysis of all the circumstances attendant on its creation and operation. Davis v. Davis, 58 N.C. App. 25, 293 S.E.2d 268, cert. denied, 307 N.C. 127, 297 S.E.2d 399 (1982).

Filing of a certificate to transact business under an assumed name, pursuant to § 66-68, does not manifest intent to form a partnership. Wilder v. Hobson, 101 N.C. App. 199, 398 S.E.2d 625 (1990).

Where one person is an employee of another, and receives wages, then the two are not partners. Peed v. Peed, 72 N.C. App. 549, 325 S.E.2d 275, cert. denied, 313 N.C. 604, 330 S.E.2d 612 (1985).

The filing of a partnership tax return is significant evidence of a partnership. Sturm v. Goss, 90 N.C. App. 326, 368 S.E.2d 399 (1988); Wilder v. Hobson, 101 N.C. App. 199, 398 S.E.2d 625 (1990).

The filing of partnership tax returns is "significant" evidence of the existence of a partnership and may constitute an admission against interest by a party who denies the existence of a partnership after having signed a partnership return. Magers v. Thomas (In re Vannoy), 176 Bankr. 758 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 1994).

Failure to Show Partnership. — Where plaintiffs, who filed an action to enjoin foreclosure on real property, contending that the option contract, contract to purchase and note entered into between plaintiffs and defendants created a partnership relationship rather than a mortgagee-mortgagor relationship, failed to show probable cause to believe that they would be able to establish the partnership rights they asserted, the trial court did not err in denying a preliminary injunction and allowing foreclosure to proceed. Carefree Carolina Communities, Inc. v. Cilley, 79 N.C. App. 742, 340 S.E.2d 529, cert. denied, 316 N.C. 374, 342 S.E.2d 891 (1986).

Sale or Lease of Property to Partnership. — Where a tractor was either sold by an individual to a partnership for "ten hundred dollars," payable one hundred dollars per week, or was leased to the partnership on a rental basis of one hundred dollars per week, even though it appeared that the money paid for the tractor was money received from the partnership business, no inference arose therefrom that the individual was a partner in the business. Johnson v. Gill, 235 N.C. 40, 68 S.E.2d 788 (1952).

Instruction as to Statutory Rules. — The trial court's instructions on the law applicable to the formation of partnerships were inadequate where the court did not give the jury the benefit of the applicable statutory rules for determining the existence of a partnership that are set out in this section. Hardesty v. Ferrell, 44 N.C. App. 354, 260 S.E.2d 925 (1979).

Partnership Shown. — Evidence was sufficient to show the existence of a partnership where letters detailed the duties of the plaintiff, the plaintiff testified that the parties agreed to share profits of their venture, and the defendants failed to show that the plaintiff's claim was legally deficient. Dean v. Manus Homes, Inc., 143 N.C. App. 549, 546 S.E.2d 160 (2001).

Defendants were partners as defined in § 59-36 where defendants owned the building, the property, the inventory, and the equipment, opened the bank account for the business and at all times had authority to draw on this account, invested additional money on various occasions to pay for expenses incurred by the business, such as building payments and inventory, took out insurance, signed the closing statement for the sale of the business, and, after paying debts, deposited the profit in their private savings account. Harrell Oil Co. of Mount Airy v. Case, 142 N.C. App. 485, 543 S.E.2d 522 (2001).

Applied in Eggleston v. Eggleston, 228 N.C. 668, 47 S.E.2d 243 (1948); McGurk v. Moore, 234 N.C. 248, 67 S.E.2d 53 (1951); Zickgraf Hardwood Co. v. Seay, 60 N.C. App. 128, 298 S.E.2d 208 (1982); Hines v. Arnold, 103 N.C. App. 31, 404 S.E.2d 179 (1991).

§ 59-38. Partnership property.

(a) All property originally brought into the partnership stock or subsequently acquired by purchase or otherwise, on account of the partnership, is partnership property.

(b) Unless the contrary intention appears, property acquired with partnership funds is partnership property.

(c) Any estate in real property may be acquired in the partnership name. Title so acquired can be conveyed only in the partnership name.

(d) A conveyance to a partnership in the partnership name, though without words of inheritance, passes the entire estate of the grantor unless a contrary intent appears. (1941, c. 374, s. 8.)

CASE NOTES

Determination of Partnership Property. — An important factor in determining whether property listed in the names of the partners is partnership property is whether the property is used by those partners for partnership purposes; if so, such use of the property is evidence of an intention that the property be partnership property. Magers v. Thomas (In re Vannoy), 176 Bankr. 758 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 1994).

Where a partnership is formed and operated around a single asset for a period of years, courts should be reluctant to permit the partners to separate that asset from the partnership, particularly after the occurrence of a transaction or event giving rise to a legal controversy and particularly on the basis of after-the-fact testimony regarding their subjective intentions. Magers v. Thomas (In re Vannoy), 176 Bankr. 758 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 1994).

Partnership Property Shown. — Where partners acquired 15.98 acre tract of land as the first step in carrying out business venture which they had associated together to own and operate and the only reason the property was deeded to them was so that they could pursue the business venture which they were pursuing as partners, the property thereby was brought into the partnership and was "partnership property" under the definition contained in subparagraph (a). Magers v. Thomas (In re Vannoy), 176 Bankr. 758 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 1994).

Joint Venture. — The principle in subsection (a) holds true for property bought on account of a joint venture. Jones v. Shoji, 336 N.C. 581, 444 S.E.2d 203 (1994).

Liability Insurance — Property of Joint Venture. — Where church purchased liability insurance pursuant to a joint venture agreement and on account of voluntary association between it and not-for-profit organization with which it ran a day care program, the insurance was purchased on account of the joint venture and was therefore an asset of the joint venture. Jones v. Shoji, 110 N.C. App. 48, 428 S.E.2d 865 (1993), petition allowed as to additional issues, 334 N.C. 163, 432 S.E.2d 361, aff'd in part, discretionary review improvidently granted in part, 336 N.C. 581, 444 S.E.2d 203 (1994).

Part 3. Relations of Partners to Persons Dealing with the Partnership.

§ 59-39. Partner agent of partnership as to partnership business.

(a) Every partner is an agent of the partnership for the purpose of its business, and the act of every partner, including the execution in the partnership name of any instrument, for apparently carrying on in the usual way the business of the partnership of which he is a member binds the partnership, unless the partner so acting has in fact no authority to act for the partnership in the particular matter, and the person with whom he is dealing has knowledge of the fact that he has no such authority.

(b) An act of a partner which is not apparently for the carrying on of the business of the partnership in the usual way does not bind the partnership unless authorized by the other partners.

(c) Unless authorized by the other partners or unless they have abandoned the business, one or more but less than all the partners have no authority to:

(1) Assign the partnership property in trust for creditors, or on the assignee's promise to pay the debts of the partnership,
(2) Dispose of the goodwill of the business,
(3) Do any other act which would make it impossible to carry on the ordinary business of a partnership,
(4) Confess a judgment,
(5) Submit a partnership claim or liability to arbitration or reference.

(d) No act of a partner in contravention of a restriction on authority shall bind the partnership to persons having knowledge of the restriction. (1941, c. 374, s. 9.)

CASE NOTES

In order for a written instrument to be binding on a partnership, the instrument must be executed in the partnership name. Oxford Plastics v. Goodson, 74 N.C. App. 256, 328 S.E.2d 7 (1985).

Privity to Contract. — It is fundamental that all partners are agents of each other, that a contract entered into by the agent is a contract entered into by the principal, and that all partners are liable on any contract executed by a single partner in the name of the partnership; and if a partner may be used for nonpayment or other breach of the contract, he certainly is privy to the contract. Barnes v. Campbell Chain Co., 47 N.C. App. 488, 267 S.E.2d 388 (1980).

Authority of Partner to Bind Firm. — In the absence of authority expressly conferred, a partner's authority to bind his firm is restricted to things done by him within the scope of partnership business. Investors Title Ins. Co. v. Herzig, 83 N.C. App. 392, 350 S.E.2d 160 (1986), rev'd on other grounds, 320 N.C. 770, 360 S.E.2d 786 (1987).

A contract apparently made for the purpose of carrying on partnership business, executed in the partnership name by a partner, makes the partnership liable for a breach of that contract even though the partner was not authorized to so act, unless the other parties to the contract had knowledge of the lack of authority. Investors Title Ins. Co. v. Herzig, 320 N.C. 770, 360 S.E.2d 786 (1987).

Although partner did not sign documents in the partnership name, and the partnership did not ratify his actions, sufficient evidence was presented that he was acting on behalf of the partnership and had the authority to do so. Mountain Farm Credit Serv. v. Purina Mills, Inc., 119 N.C. App. 508, 459 S.E.2d 75 (1995).

Liability on Contract Signed for Partnership by Unauthorized Partner. — Where a contract, apparently made for the purpose of carrying on partnership business, is executed in the partnership name by a partner, the partnership is liable for a breach thereof, even if the partner was not authorized to so contract, unless the other parties to the contract had notice of the lack of authority. Brewer v. Elks, 260 N.C. 470, 133 S.E.2d 159 (1963).

Burden of Proof Where Partner Did Not Sign in Name of Partnership. — Where one partner did not sign either a promissory note or mortgage in the name of the alleged partnership, the plaintiff had the burden of showing either that (1) that partner was acting on behalf of the partnership when he executed the note and mortgage and the other partner had authorized his acts, or (2) the other partner, with knowledge of the note and mortgage, ratified his acts. Hines v. Arnold, 103 N.C. App. 31, 404 S.E.2d 179 (1991).

Attempt by Partner to Relieve Himself of Liability by Notice to Third Person. — Where there is a general partnership of two persons, without restrictions on the authority of either partner to act within the scope of the partnership business, one of the partners cannot, by notice to a third person that he would not be personally liable for goods thereafter sold to the partnership in the ordinary course of the partnership business, relieve himself of liability for such goods thereafter ordered by the other partner while the partnership is a going concern under this section and §§ 59-45 and 59-48 of the Uniform Partnership Act. National Biscuit Co. v. Stroud, 249 N.C. 467, 106 S.E.2d 692 (1959).

Service of Summons on One Partner. — Under the Uniform Partnership Act it is not necessary that all members of an alleged partnership should be served with summons. A partnership is represented by the partner who is served, and as to him a judgment in the action in which he is served would be binding on him individually, and as to the partnership property. But as to a partner not served with summons, the judgment would not be binding on him individually. Nevertheless, even after judgment such partner could be brought in and made a party. The court may, before or after judgment, direct the bringing in of new parties to the end that substantial justice may be done. See § 1A-1, Rules 19 and 22. Dwiggins v. Parkway Bus Co., 230 N.C. 234, 52 S.E.2d 892 (1949).

Conveyance with View to Dissolution. — Where a conveyance was not for apparently carrying on in the usual way the business of the partnership, but was with a view to the immediate dissolution of the partnership, neither § 59-40(d) nor subsection (a) of this section applies. Instead, subsection (b) of this section applies. Simmons v. Quick-Stop Food Mart, Inc., 307 N.C. 33, 296 S.E.2d 275 (1982).

Materialman's Lien Held Superior to Deed of Trust. — Since deed of trust which was recorded did not convey debtor's predecessor's interest in that property, but instead purported to convey the interest of which was an interest which debtor did not have, since the deed was indexed with debtor as grantor and thus was recorded outside of its chain of title and had the same effect on notice as no registration, and since the fact that such deed was signed general partner of actual owner had no effect, materialman's lien was superior to deed of trust. Southeastern Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Rentenbach Constructors, Inc., 114 Bankr. 441 (E.D.N.C. 1989), aff'd per curiam, 907 F.2d 1139 (4th Cir. 1990).

Stated in Johnson v. Gill, 235 N.C. 40, 68 S.E.2d 788 (1952).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Not Advisable for Attorney to Act as Notary and Verify Client's Divorce Complaint. — It is not advisable for a notary who is also a partner in a law firm acting of counsel to an attorney filing a divorce complaint to notarize the verification of the client. A divorce complaint which is not properly notarized is subject to dismissal. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. James Lee Knight, Notary Public, Guilford County, — N.C.A.G. — (May 18, 1988).

When one partner of Firm A appears as attorney for a plaintiff in a divorce proceeding, the other partners in the firm also "appear," and they could be prohibited under former § 47-8 from notarizing the verification of the client. This would be true whether or not the firm appears as "of counsel" to the individual partner on the face of the complaint or answer. Therefore, such practice should be avoided, and as an attorney/notary who acts in this fashion proceeds at his own risk. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. James Lee Knight, Notary Public, Guilford County, — N.C.A.G. — (May 18, 1988).

Pleadings not requiring verification by one of the parties are not subject to dismissal if they are verified anyway and a partner of the firm representing that client acts as the notary. However, former § 47-8 would still seem to say that partner is without power to act as a notary in that situation. The signature of the attorney signing the pleadings would be adequate under N.C.R.C.P., Rule 11(a). See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. James Lee Knight, Notary Public, Guilford County, — N.C.A.G. — (May 18, 1988).

Act of One Partner Binding on Partnership. — This section sets out a basic premise of agency law that the acts of one partner, including the execution of any instrument in the partnership name, for the purpose of carrying on the usual business of the partnership is binding on the partnership unless he has in fact no such authority and the person with whom he is dealing is aware of that fact. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. James Lee Knight, Notary Public, Guilford County, — N.C.A.G. — (May 18, 1988).

§ 59-39.1. Act, admission or acknowledgment by partner.

After a cause of action has accrued on any obligation of a partnership, any act, admission or acknowledgment by any partner acting in the ordinary course of the business of the partnership or with the authority of his copartners which removes the bar of the statute of limitations or causes the statutes to begin running anew with respect to the partner doing such act or making such admission or acknowledgment has a like effect with respect to all of the partners and with respect to partnership liability, but when any partner is not so acting and does not have the authority of his copartners, any act, admission or acknowledgment by such partner which removes the bar of the statute of limitations or causes the statute to begin running anew has such effect only as to the partner doing such act or making such admission or acknowledgment, and shall not renew, extend or in any manner impose liability of any kind against any partner who has not authorized or ratified the same nor against the partnership. (1953, c. 1076, s. 2.)

§ 59-40. Conveyance of real property of the partnership.

(a) Where title to real property is in the partnership name, any partner may convey title to such property by a conveyance executed in the partnership name; but the partnership may recover such property unless the partner's act binds the partnership under the provisions of subsection (a) of G.S. 59-39, or unless such property has been conveyed by the grantee or a person claiming through such grantee to holder for value without knowledge that the partner, in making the conveyance, has exceeded his authority.

(b) Where title to real property is in the name of the partnership, a conveyance executed by a partner, in his own name, passes the equitable interest of the partnership, provided the act is one within the authority of the partner under the provisions of subsection (a) of G.S. 59-39.

(c) Where title to real property is in the name of one or more, but not all the partners, and the record does not disclose the right of the partnership, the partners in whose name the title stands may convey title to such property, but the partnership may recover such property if the partners' act does not bind the partnership under the provisions of subsection (a) of G.S. 59-39, unless the purchaser or his assignee, is a holder for value, without knowledge.

(d) Where the title to real property is in the name of one or more or all the partners, or in a third person in trust for the partnership, a conveyance executed by a partner in the partnership name, or in his own name, passes the equitable interest of the partnership, provided the act is one within the authority of the partner under the provisions of subsection (a) of G.S. 59-39.

(e) Where the title to real property is in the names of all the partners a conveyance executed by all the partners passes all their rights in such property. (1941, c. 374, s. 10; 1959, c. 1161, s. 3.)

CASE NOTES

How Title to Real Property Held. — Under this Article, title to real property owned by a partnership may be held either in the partnership name or in the name of some or all of the partners. Simmons v. Quick-Stop Food Mart, Inc., 307 N.C. 33, 296 S.E.2d 275 (1982); Magers v. Thomas (In re Vannoy), 176 Bankr. 758 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 1994).

Land owned individually by one who entered into a partnership could not become a partnership asset absent some written agreement sufficient to satisfy the statute of frauds, despite subsection (c) of this section, which recognizes that title to real property may be in the name of one or more, but not all the partners, and § 59-56, which makes a partner's interest in partnership property, even real property, a personal property interest. Ludwig v. Walter, 75 N.C. App. 584, 331 S.E.2d 177 (1985).

Determination of Partnership Property. — An important factor in determining whether property listed in the names of the partners is partnership property is whether the property is used by those partners for partnership purposes; if so, such use of the property is evidence of an intention that the property be partnership property. Magers v. Thomas (In re Vannoy), 176 Bankr. 758 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 1994).

Conveyance with View to Dissolution. — Where a conveyance is not for apparently carrying on in the usual way the business of the partnership, but is with a view to the immediate dissolution of the partnership, neither subsection (d) of this section nor § 59-39(a) applies. Instead, § 59-39(b) applies. Simmons v.

Stated in Simmons v. Quick Stop Food Mart, Inc., 56 N.C. App. 105, 286 S.E.2d 807 (1982); Potter v. Homestead Preservation Ass'n, 330 N.C. 569, 412 S.E.2d 1 (1992).

§ 59-41. Partnership bound by admission of partner.

An admission or representation made by any partner concerning partnership affairs within the scope of his authority as conferred by this Act is evidence against the partnership. (1941, c. 374, s. 11; 2000-140, s. 101(n).)

Cross References. — As to admission after the statute of limitations has run, see §§ 1-27 and 59-39.1.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2000-140, s. 101(n), effective July 21, 2000, provided that the Revisor of Statutes should change the term "Article" to "Act" wherever it occurred in G.S. 59-33, 59-41, 59-55, and 59-58.

§ 59-42. Partnership charged with knowledge of or notice to partner.

Notice to any partner of any matter relating to partnership affairs, and the knowledge of the partner acting in the particular matter, acquired while a partner or then present to his mind, and the knowledge of any other partner who reasonably could and should have communicated it to the acting partner, operate as notice to or knowledge of the partnership, except in the case of a fraud on the partnership committed by or with the consent of that partner. § 59-43. Partnership bound by partner's wrongful act.

Where, by any wrongful act or omission of any partner acting in the ordinary course of the business of the partnership or with the authority of his copartners, loss or injury is caused to any person, not being a partner in the partnership, or any penalty is incurred, the partnership is liable therefor to the same extent as the partner so acting or omitting to act. CASE NOTES

Section Applicable to Law Partnerships. — The rules set out in this section regarding partnership tort liability are fully applicable to law partnerships. Shelton v. Fairley, 86 N.C. App. 147, 356 S.E.2d 917, cert. denied, 320 N.C. 634, 360 S.E.2d 94 (1987).

Authority of Partner to Bind Firm. — In the absence of authority expressly conferred, a partner's authority to bind his firm is restricted to things done by him within the scope of partnership business. Investors Title Ins. Co. v. Herzig, 83 N.C. App. 392, 350 S.E.2d 160

Where one partner is sued individually for a tort committed by him in the course of the partnership business, a judgment would be binding upon him individually, and as to the partnership property, but not as against the other partner individually, though the court even after judgment may direct that such other partner be brought in and made a party. Dwiggins v. Parkway Bus Co., 230 N.C. 234, 52 S.E.2d 892 (1949). See also § 59-45 and notes thereunder.

Malicious prosecution is not within the ordinary course of business of a law partnership. Jackson v. Jackson, 20 N.C. App. 406, 201 S.E.2d 722 (1974).

Advising the initiation of a criminal prosecution is clearly within the normal range of activities for a typical law partnership, but taking such action maliciously and without probable cause is quite a different matter. A partner who gave such advice was either conducting himself lawfully and ethically in his relationship with his client, in which event neither he nor any of his partners would have any liability, or he was conducting himself maliciously and unlawfully and would not be acting in the ordinary course of the partnership business. Whatever may be the eventual determination of the conduct, it is evident that his partners, who did not authorize, participate in, or even know about such conduct, would not be held responsible for any injury the conduct may have caused. Jackson v. Jackson, 20 N.C. App. 406, 201 S.E.2d 722 (1974).

Action Against Individual Partners for Violation of Federal False Claims Act. — In an action by the federal government to recover from individual partners for alleged violation of the False Claims Act, this section did not impose liability upon one of the partners for a false claim filed by the other, since the action was against the individual partners and not against the partnership. United States v. Toepleman, 141 F. Supp. 677 (E.D.N.C. 1956), aff'd in part and rev'd, 242 F.2d 359 (4th Cir. 1957), modified, United States v. McNinch, 356 U.S. 595, 78 S. Ct. 950, 2 L. Ed. 2d 1001 (1958).

Liability of Law Firm for Partner's Activities. — In order to determine whether members of a law firm should be held liable for the activities of one of its partners, the court should consider (1) the provisions of the instrument empowering the firm to practice law, such as partnership agreements and articles of incorporation, as well as statutory provisions; (2) the construction which our courts have historically given the questioned activity or related ones; (3) where the partner has acted, or seemed to act, with the firm's authority; this includes his position in the firm, the participation, if any, by the rest of the firm in the disputed activities, and any assurances given the client that this transaction would be handled through the firm; and finally, (4) whether the other members of the firm have assented to or ratified the acts. Shelton v. Fairley, 86 N.C. App. 147, 356 S.E.2d 917, cert. denied, 320 N.C. 634, 360 S.E.2d 94 (1987).

Where law firm benefits indirectly from partner's position as executor undertaken in his individual capacity, that benefit alone is not sufficient to establish partnership liability for those activities. Shelton v. Fairley, 86 N.C. App. 147, 356 S.E.2d 917, cert. denied, 320 N.C. 634, 360 S.E.2d 94 (1987).

Act Done in Ordinary Course of Business. — An issue of material fact was held to exist as to whether the act of defendant, in executing the title certificate on property owned by him and for the purpose of obtaining a personal loan for himself was "in the ordinary course of the business of the partnership or with the authority of his copartners." Investors Title Ins. Co. v. Herzig, 320 N.C. 770, 360 S.E.2d 786 (1987).

§ 59-44. Partnership bound by partner's breach of trust.

The partnership is bound to make good the loss:

(1) Where one partner acting within the scope of his apparent authority receives money or property of a third person and misapplies it; and

(2) Where the partnership in the course of its business receives money or property of a third person and the money or property so received is misapplied by any partner while it is in the custody of the partnership. (1941, c. 374, s. 14.)

§ 59-45. Nature of partner's liability in ordinary partnerships and in registered limited liability partnerships.

(a) Except as provided by subsections (a1) and (b) of this section, all partners are jointly and severally liable for the acts and obligations of the partnership.

(a1) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, a partner in a registered limited liability partnership is not individually liable for debts and obligations of the partnership incurred while it is a registered limited liability partnership solely by reason of being a partner and does not become liable by participating, in whatever capacity, in the management or control of the business of the partnership.

(b) Nothing in this Chapter shall be interpreted to abolish, modify, restrict, limit, or alter the law in this State applicable to the professional relationship and liabilities between the individual furnishing the professional services and the person receiving the professional services, the standards of professional conduct applicable to the rendering of the services, or any responsibilities, obligations, or sanctions imposed under applicable licensing statutes. A partner in a registered limited liability partnership is not individually liable, directly or indirectly, including by indemnification, contribution, assessment, or otherwise, for the debts, obligations, and liabilities of, or chargeable to, the registered limited liability partnership that arise from errors, omissions, negligence, malpractice, incompetence, or malfeasance committed by another partner or by an employee, agent, or other representative of the partnership; provided, however, nothing in this Chapter shall affect the liability of a partner of a professional registered limited liability partnership for his or her own errors, omissions, negligence, malpractice, incompetence, or malfeasance committed in the rendering of professional services.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1999-362, s. 5, effective October 1, 1999.

(d) A partner in a registered limited liability partnership is not a proper party to proceedings by or against a limited liability partnership, except where the object of the proceeding is to enforce a partner's right against or liability to the limited liability partnership.

(e) The liability of partners of a registered limited liability partnership formed and existing under this Chapter shall at all times be determined solely and exclusively by this Chapter and the laws of this State.

(f) If a conflict arises between the laws of this State and the laws of any other jurisdiction with regard to the liability of a partner of a registered limited liability partnership formed and existing under this Chapter for the debts, obligations, and liabilities of the registered limited liability partnership, this Chapter and the laws of this State shall govern in determining the liability. (1941, c. 374, s. 15; 1953, c. 881; 1993, c. 354, s. 4; 1999-362, s. 5.)

CASE NOTES

Section States Common Law. — The common-law rule of joint and several liability of partners for a tort committed by one of the members of the partnership is incorporated in the Uniform Partnership Act, embraced in this Article. Dwiggins v. Parkway Bus Co., 230 N.C. 234, 52 S.E.2d 892 (1949); Johnson v. Gill, 235 N.C. 40, 68 S.E.2d 788 (1952).

Each partner is jointly and severally liable for a tort committed by one partner in the course of the partnership business, and the injured person may sue all members of the partnership or any one of them at his election. Dwiggins v. Parkway Bus Co., 230 N.C. 234, 52 S.E.2d 892 (1949); Johnson v. Gill, 235 N.C. 40, 68 S.E.2d 788 (1952). See note to § 59-43.

Privity to Contract. — It is fundamental that all partners are agents of each other, that a contract entered into by the agent is a contract entered into by the principal, and that all partners are liable on any contract executed by a single partner in the name of the partnership; and if a partner may be sued for nonpayment or other breach of the contract, he certainly is privy to the contract. Barnes v. Campbell Chain Co., 47 N.C. App. 488, 267 S.E.2d 388 (1980).

Each partner in a partnership is jointly and severally liable for a tort committed in the course of the partnership business, and the injured party may sue all members of the partnership or any one of them at his election. But a partner who is not served with summons is not bound beyond his partnership assets. Stevens v. Nimocks, 82 N.C. App. 350, 346 S.E.2d 180, cert. denied, 318 N.C. 511, 349 S.E.2d 873 (1986), reconsideration denied, 318 N.C. 702, 351 S.E.2d 760 (1987).

Actual Notice Is Not Sufficient. — Actual notice of a suit against the partnership will not cure the requirement that a partner must be served with a summons to be held individually liable. Stevens v. Nimocks, 82 N.C. App. 350, 346 S.E.2d 180, cert. denied, 318 N.C. 511, 349 S.E.2d 873 (1986), reconsideration denied, 318 N.C. 702, 351 S.E.2d 760 (1987).

Nor Is Participation in Suit Against Partnership. — A partner who participates in a malpractice suit by acquainting himself with the facts of the pending suit and notifying his insurance carrier of the suit does not subject himself to individual liability when the Rules of Civil Procedure require that he be served with process individually before being held individually liable. Stevens v. Nimocks, 82 N.C. App. 350, 346 S.E.2d 180, cert. denied, 318 N.C. 511, 349 S.E.2d 873 (1986), reconsideration denied, 318 N.C. 702, 351 S.E.2d 760 (1987).

Or Verification of Answer. — Defendant partner's verification of original answer where he was sued in his partnership capacity did not subject him to individual liability. Stevens v. Nimocks, 82 N.C. App. 350, 346 S.E.2d 180, cert. denied, 318 N.C. 511, 349 S.E.2d 873 (1986), reconsideration denied, 318 N.C. 702, 351 S.E.2d 760 (1987).

Notice Held Sufficient. — Where defendants, who were general partners, were sued individually, and the prayer for relief asked for enforcement of arbitration award against all defendants jointly and severally, the individual defendants were on notice that plaintiff's complaint sought to hold them individually liable for any award made in the arbitration; with that knowledge, defendants filed an answer requesting that the action be stayed pending determination of the claims in the arbitration proceeding; therefore, defendants were on notice that the arbitration proceeding would affect them individually, and not only as partners, even though the defendants were not named individually in the arbitration proceeding. George W. Kane, Inc. v. Bolin Creek West Assocs., 95 N.C. App. 135, 381 S.E.2d 832 (1989).

Burden of Proof Where Partner Did Not Sign in Name of Partnership. — Where one partner did not sign either a promissory note or mortgage in the name of the alleged partnership, the plaintiff had the burden of showing either that (1) that partner was acting on behalf of the partnership when he executed the note and mortgage and the other partner had authorized his acts, or (2) the other partner, with knowledge of the note and mortgage, ratified his acts. Hines v. Arnold, 103 N.C. App. 31, 404 S.E.2d 179 (1991).

Repayment of Note out of Partnership Funds. — Regardless of whether a note was signed by the parties as individuals or as partners, its legal effect was the same. Nevertheless, in a dissolution action, where it appeared that the note was executed in furtherance of the partnership, and that there may have been partnership funds available to satisfy it, the court should have determined the nature of the note and ordered it repaid out of partnership funds if possible. Ludwig v. Walter, 75 N.C. App. 584, 331 S.E.2d 177 (1985).

General Partner Not Held Personally Liable. — General partner who was not made a party to the defendant's counterclaim or served with a copy of a summons, could not be held personally liable for the judgment against the partnership. Post & Front Properties, Ltd. v. Roanoke Constr. Co., 117 N.C. App. 93, 449 S.E.2d 765 (1994).

§ 59-46. Partner by estoppel.

(a) When a person, by words spoken or written, by conduct, or by contract, represents himself, or consents to another representing him to anyone, as a partner in an existing partnership or with one or more persons not actual partners, he is liable to any such person to whom such representation has been made, who has, on the faith of such representation, given credit to the actual or apparent partnership, and if he has made such representation or consented to its being made in a public manner, he is liable to such person, whether the representation has or has not been made or communicated to such person so giving credit by or with the knowledge of the apparent partner making the representation or consenting to its being made.

(1) When a partnership liability results, he is liable as though he were an actual member of the partnership.

(2) When no partnership liability results, he is liable jointly with the other persons, if any, so consenting to the contract or representation as to incur liability, otherwise separately.

(b) When a person has been thus represented to be a partner in an existing partnership, or with one or more persons not actual partners, he is an agent of the persons consenting to such representation to bind them to the same extent and in the same manner as though he were a partner in fact, with respect to persons who rely upon the representation. Where all the members of the existing partnership consent to the representation, a partnership act or obligation results; but in all other cases it is the joint act or obligation of the person acting and the persons consenting to the representation. (1941, c. 374, s. 16; 1975, c. 732.)

CASE NOTES

The filing of partnership tax returns is "significant" evidence of the existence of a partnership and may constitute an admission against interest by a party who denies the existence of a partnership after having signed a partnership return. Magers v. Thomas (In re Vannoy), 176 Bankr. 758 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 1994).

Nature of Liability. — This section provides for a form of liability more akin to that of apparent authority than to estoppel. Volkman v. DP Assocs., 48 N.C. App. 155, 268 S.E.2d 265 (1980).

The essentials of equitable estoppel or estoppel in pais are a representation, either by words or conduct, made to another, who reasonably believing the representation to be true, relies upon it, with the result that he changes his position to his detriment. Volkman v. DP Assocs., 48 N.C. App. 155, 268 S.E.2d 265 (1980).

It is essential that the party estopped shall have made a representation by words or acts and that someone shall have acted on the faith of this representation in such a way that he cannot without damage withdraw from the transaction. Volkman v. DP Assocs., 48 N.C. App. 155, 268 S.E.2d 265 (1980).

Evidence that son was authorized to write checks on father's corporate account did not constitute, in the absence of other fundamental requisites, a partnership in fact. In the absence of representations made by the defendant personally to third-party creditors and of any expression of consent on the part of the defendant to his son that the son could represent him to be a partner, there was no evidentiary support for plaintiff's contention that representations were made in a public manner, so that under these circumstances, the evidence was not sufficient to warrant submitting the case to the jury upon the theory of partnership by estoppel. H-K Corp. v. Chance, 25 N.C. App. 61, 212 S.E.2d 34 (1975).

Defendant's communications with insurance agents regarding the acquisition of insurance policies for her ex-husband's farm business did not amount to a representation of her partnership status so as to estop her from subsequently denying same. Plaintiff's agents dealt with defendant as an agent for the farm and could not later claim that defendant was anything other than a representative. G.R. Little Agency, Inc. v. Jennings, 88 N.C. App. 107, 362 S.E.2d 807 (1987).

§ 59-47. Liability of incoming partner.

A person admitted as a partner into an existing partnership is liable for all the obligations of the partnership arising before his admission as though he had been a partner when such obligations were incurred, except that this liability shall be satisfied only out of partnership property. (1941, c. 374, s. 17.)

Part 4. Relations of Partners to One Another.

§ 59-48. Rules determining rights and duties of partners.

The rights and duties of the partners in relation to the partnership shall be determined, subject to any agreement between them, by the following rules:

(1) Each partner shall be repaid his contributions, whether by way of capital or advances to the partnership property and share equally in the profits and surplus remaining after all liabilities, including those to partners, are satisfied; and must contribute towards the losses, whether of capital or otherwise, sustained by the partnership according to his share in the profits.

(2) The partnership must indemnify every partner in respect of payments made and personal liabilities reasonably incurred by him in the ordinary and proper conduct of its business, or for the preservation of its business or property.

(3) A partner, who in aid of the partnership makes any payment or advance beyond the amount of capital which he agreed to contribute, shall be paid interest from the date of the payment or advance.

(4) A partner shall receive interest on the capital contributed by him only from the date when repayment should be made.

(5) All partners have equal rights in the management and conduct of the partnership business.

(6) No partner is entitled to remuneration for acting in the partnership business, except that a surviving partner is entitled to reasonable compensation for his services in winding up the partnership affairs.

(7) No person can become a member of a partnership without the consent of all the partners.

(8) Any difference arising as to ordinary matters connected with the partnership business may be decided by a majority of the partners; but no act in contravention of any agreement between the partners may be done rightfully without the consent of all the partners. (1941, c. 374, s. 18.)

"Milk base" owned by defendant and used by dairy partnership was a "contribution" to the partnership property as contemplated by subdivision (1) of this section. Halsey v. Choate, 27 N.C. App. 49, 217 S.E.2d 740, cert. denied, 288 N.C. 730, 220 S.E.2d 350 (1975).

Where insurance proceeds were joint venture property of church and day care and were sufficient to cover plaintiffs' claims arising from accident with church van, the church was not entitled to indemnity or contribution as the church incurred no "personal liabilities" and made no "personal payments"; rather, the joint venture incurred the liabilities and the insurance maintained for its protection covered the settlement payment. Jones v. Shoji, 336 N.C. 581, 444 S.E.2d 203 (1994).

§ 59-49. Partnership books.

The partnership books shall be kept, subject to any agreement between the partners, at the principal place of business of the partnership, and every partner shall at all times have access to and may inspect and copy any of them. (1941, c. 374, s. 19.)

§ 59-50. Duty of partners to render information.

Partners shall render on demand true and full information of all things affecting the partnership to any partner or the legal representative of any deceased partner or partner under legal disability. (1941, c. 374, s. 20.)

§ 59-51. Partner accountable as a fiduciary.

(a) Every partner must account to the partnership for any benefit, and hold as trustee for it any profits derived by him without the consent of the other partners from any transaction connected with the formation, conduct or liquidation of the partnership or from any use by him of its property.

(b) This section applies also to the representatives of a deceased partner engaged in the liquidation of the affairs of the partnership as the personal representatives of the last surviving partner. (1941, c. 374, s. 21.)

Cross References. — As to criminal liability for appropriation of partnership funds by partner, see §§ 14-97 and 14-98.

CASE NOTES

Applicability. — Although this section does not extend a partner's fiduciary duty to actions connected with the formation of the partnership, it expressly applies to "every partner." There is no indication that it applies beyond this context to individuals who agree to but never actually form a partnership. Silverman v. Miller, 155 Bankr. 362 (Bankr. E.D.N.C. 1993).

When one partner wrongfully takes partnership funds and uses them to buy or improve property, his copartners may charge the property with a constructive trust in favor of the partnership to the extent of the partnership funds used in its purchase or improvement. McGurk v. Moore, 234 N.C. 248, 67 S.E.2d 53 (1951).

§ 59-52. Right to an account.

Any partner shall have the right to a formal account as to partnership affairs:

(1) If he is wrongfully excluded from the partnership business or possession of its property by his copartners,

(2) If the right exists under the terms of any agreement,
(3) As provided by G.S. 59-51,
(4) Whenever other circumstances render it just and reasonable. (1941, c. 374, s. 22.)

CASE NOTES

Equitable jurisdiction is practically exclusive in proceedings for an account and settlement of partnership affairs, including suits for an accounting and settlement of the firm's affairs between the copartners themselves. Casey v. Grantham, 239 N.C. 121, 79 S.E.2d 735 (1954).

Cause of Action for Accounting Stated. — Allegations of a partner that the other partner had usurped complete control and exclusive possession of the books, records and entire assets of the partnership and was squandering its earnings and assets, and had refused, after demand, to account to plaintiff for any share of the profits or earnings of the business, were held to state a cause of action for an accounting between the partners. Casey v. Grantham, 239 N.C. 121, 79 S.E.2d 735 (1954).

Accounting Properly Ordered. — Accounting properly ordered where (1) the evidence was sufficient to establish the existence of a partnership involving the parties, (2) by filing a claim against the defendants, the plaintiff expressed his intent to dissolve the partnership, and (3) the defendants admitted that they had not paid a partnership profit share to the plaintiff. Dean v. Manus Homes, Inc., 143 N.C. App. 549, 546 S.E.2d 160 (2001).

§ 59-53. Continuation of partnership beyond fixed term.

(a) When a partnership for a fixed term or particular undertaking is continued after the termination of such term or particular undertaking without any express agreement, the rights and duties of the partners remain the same as they were at such termination, so far as is consistent with a partnership at will.

(b) A continuation of the business by the partners or such of them as habitually acted therein during the term, without any settlement or liquidation of the partnership affairs, is prima facie evidence of a continuation of the partnership. (1941, c. 374, s. 23.)

Part 5. Property Rights of a Partner.

§ 59-54. Extent of property rights of a partner.

The property rights of a partner are:
(1) His right in specific partnership property,
(2) His interest in the partnership, and
(3) His right to participate in the management. (1941, c. 374, s. 24.)

CASE NOTES

Deed of trust executed by debtor did not create a security interest in the partnership interest of debtor in partnership property; the trustee, was entitled to avoid such deed of trust to the extent that the deed of trust was alleged to create a security interest in the partnership interest of debtor. Magers v. Thomas (In re Vannoy), 176 Bankr. 758 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 1994).

Applied in Simmons v. Quick-Stop Food

Mart, Inc., 307 N.C. 33, 296 S.E.2d 275 (1982).

Cited in Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N.C. 18, 89 S.E.2d 774 (1955).

§ 59-55. Nature of a partner's right in specific partnership property.

(a) A partner is co-owner with his partners of specific partnership property holding as a tenant in partnership.

(b) The incidents of this tenancy are such that:

(1) A partner, subject to the provisions of this Act and to any agreement between the partners, has an equal right with his partners to possess specific partnership property for partnership purposes; but he has no right to possess such property for any other purpose without the consent of his partners.

(2) A partner's right in specific partnership property is not assignable except in connection with the assignment of rights of all the partners in the same property.

(3) A partner's right in specific partnership property is not subject to attachment or execution, except on a claim against the partnership. When partnership property is attached for a partnership debt the partners, or any of them, or the representatives of a deceased partner, cannot claim any right under the homestead or exemption laws.

(4) On the death of a partner his right in specific partnership property vests in the surviving partner or partners, except where the deceased was the last surviving partner, when his right in such property vests in his legal representative. Such surviving partner, or partners, or the legal representative of the last surviving partner, has no right to possess the partnership property for any but a partnership purpose.

(5) A partner's right in specific partnership property is not subject to dower, curtesy, or allowances to widows, heirs, or next of kin. (1941, c. 374, s. 25; 2000-140, s. 101(n).)

CASE NOTES

Partners Protected by § 45-21.36. — Each partner, though certainly not enjoying the traditional rights of owners, holds a property interest sufficient to invoke the protection of § 45-21.36. If it were otherwise, mortgagees could avoid the requirements of § 45-21.36 when foreclosing on property owned by a partnership simply by suing the partners for a deficiency. NCNB Nat'l Bank v. O'Neill, 102 N.C. App. 313, 401 S.E.2d 858 (1991).

Assignment by one partner of all his rights in the partnership to a stranger does not affect the rights of the other partner who is not a party to such assignment, and such assignment cannot transfer title to partnership property. Smithfield Oil Co. v. Furlonge, 257 N.C. 388, 126 S.E.2d 167 (1962).

The extent to which a partner may transfer or assign his interest in specific partnership property is controlled and limited by subparagraph (2); the effect of this provision is to invalidate or render void an assignment by a partner of his interest in specific partnership property if such assignment is not joined in by the other partners. Magers v. Thomas (In re Vannoy), 176 Bankr. 758 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 1994).

Personal Policy Did Not Cover Partnership Property. — Cargo van involved in accident was not general partner's property for purposes of coverage under his personal blanket excess policy; because the cargo van was owned, maintained, and used by partnership on behalf of partnership business, the exception to the business pursuits exclusion did not apply and no coverage was provided by the policy. Harleysville Mut. Ins. Co. v. Packer, 60 F.3d 1116 (4th Cir. 1995).

Property Not Deeded to Partner Still Owned by Partnership. — Where partners dissolved their partnership and did not wind up the partnership affairs, parcel of property which was inadvertently not deeded to one partner continued to be owned by the partnership. McGahren v. First Citizens Bank & Trust Co., 111 F.3d 1159 (4th Cir. 1997), cert. denied, 522 U.S. 950, 118 S. Ct. 369, 139 L. Ed. 2d 287 (1997), aff'd, 165 F.3d 19 (4th Cir. 1998), cert. denied, 526 U.S. 1066, 119 S. Ct. 1458, 143 L. Ed. 2d 544 (1999).

Applied in Prentzas v. Prentzas, 260 N.C. 101, 113 S.E.2d 678 (1963); Simmons v. Quick-Stop Food Mart, Inc., 307 N.C. 33, 296 S.E.2d 275 (1982).

§ 59-56. Nature of partner's interest in the partnership.

A partner's interest in the partnership is his share of the profits and surplus, and the same is personal property. (1941, c. 374, s. 26.)

CASE NOTES

The interest of partners in the partnership is personal property, even though part of the partnership assets is real estate. Hence, upon the death of the partners, their respective personal representatives were properly made parties to prosecute and defend an action for an accounting and proper application of partnership property on behalf of their intestates. Bright v. Williams, 245 N.C. 648, 97 S.E.2d 247 (1957).

Partner's Interest Not Subject to Statute of Frauds. — A partner's interest in partnership assets — including real property — is a personal property interest. As such, it is not subject to the statute of frauds. Potter v. Homestead Preservation Ass'n, 330 N.C. 569, 412 S.E.2d 1 (1992).

However, land owned individually by one who entered into a partnership could not become a partnership asset absent some written agreement sufficient to satisfy the statute of frauds, despite § 59-40(c), which recognizes that title to real property may be in the name of one or more, but not all, of the partners, and this section, which makes a partner's interest in partnership property, even real property, a personal property interest. Ludwig v. Walter, 75 N.C. App. 584, 331 S.E.2d 177 (1985).

Deed of Trust Did Not Create a Security Interest. — Where financing statements were not filed in either the office of the Secretary of State or the office of the Register of Deeds in the county of the debtor's place of business, with the result that no security interest in debtor's partnership interest was perfected prior to the commencement of his Chapter 7 case, even if the deed of trust had been intended to create a security interest in debtor's partnership interest, it would be avoidable by the trustee and ineffective. Magers v. Thomas (In re Vannoy), 176 Bankr. 758 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 1994).

§ 59-57. Assignment of partner's interest.

(a) A conveyance by a partner of his interest in the partnership does not of itself dissolve the partnership, nor, as against the other partners in the absence of agreement, entitle the assignee, during the continuance of the partnership, to interfere in the management or administration of the partnership business or affairs, or to require any information or account of partnership transactions, or to inspect the partnership books; but it merely entitles the assignee to receive in accordance with his contract the profits to which the assigning partner would otherwise be entitled.

(b) In case of a dissolution of the partnership, the assignee is entitled to receive his assignor's interest and may require an account from the date only of the last account agreed to by all the partners. (1941, c. 374, s. 27.)

Cross References. — As to assignment of a limited partnership interest, see § 59-701 et seq.

CASE NOTES

Deed of trust executed by debtor did not create a security interest in the partnership interest of debtor in partnership property; the trustee, was entitled to avoid such deed of trust to the extent that the deed of trust was alleged to create a security interest in the partnership interest of debtor. Magers v. Thomas (In re Vannoy), 176 Bankr. 758 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 1994).

§ 59-58. Partner's interest subject to charging order.

(a) On due application to a competent court by any judgment creditor of a partner, the court which entered the judgment, order or decree, or any other court, may charge the interest of the debtor partner with payment of the unsatisfied amount of such judgment debt with interest thereon; and may then or later appoint a receiver of his share of the profits, and of any other money due or to fall due to him in respect of the partnership, and make all other orders, directions, accounts and inquiries which the debtor partner might have made, or which the circumstances of the case may require.

(b) The interest charged may be redeemed at any time before foreclosure, or in case of a sale being directed by the court may be purchased without thereby causing a dissolution:

(1) With separate property, by any one or more of the partners, or

(2) With partnership property, by any one or more of the partners with the consent of all the partners whose interests are not so charged or sold.

(c) Nothing in this Act shall be held to deprive a partner of his right, if any, under the exemption laws, as regards his interest in the partnership. (1941, c. 374, s. 28; 2000-140, s. 101(n).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2000-140, s. 101(n), effective July 21, 2000, provided that the Revisor of Statutes should change the term "Article" to "Act" wherever it occurred in G.S. 59-33, 59-41, 59-55, and 59-58. The change was made in subsection (c).

Part 6. Dissolution and Winding Up.

§ 59-59. Dissolution defined.

The dissolution of a partnership is the change in the relation of the partners caused by any partner ceasing to be associated in the carrying on as distinguished from the winding up of the business. (1941, c. 374, s. 29.)

§ 59-60. Partnership not terminated by dissolution.

On dissolution the partnership is not terminated, but continues until the winding up of partnership affairs is completed. (1941, c. 374, s. 30.)

CASE NOTES

Continuance of Lease as Partnership Affair. — Where legal title to the property remains in a dissolved partnership, a lease under which one party is named tenant continues as a partnership affair. The partnership affairs thereby are incomplete, and the partnership, though dissolved, has not yet "terminated." Simmons v. Quick Stop Food Mart, Inc., 56 N.C. App. 105, 286 S.E.2d 807, rev'd on other grounds, 307 N.C. 33, 296 S.E.2d 275 (1982).

Property Not Deeded to Partner Still Owned by Partnership. — Where partners dissolved their partnership and did not wind up the partnership affairs, parcel of property which was inadvertently not deeded to one partner continued to be owned by the partnership. § 59-61. Causes of dissolution.

Dissolution is caused:

(1) Without violation of the agreement between the partners,
   a. By the termination of the definite term or particular undertaking specified in the agreement,
   b. By the express will of any partner when no definite term or particular undertaking is specified,
   c. By the express will of all partners who have not assigned their interests or suffered them to be charged for their separate debts, either before or after the termination of any specific term or particular undertaking,
   d. By the expulsion of any partner from the business bona fide in accordance with such a power conferred by the agreement between the partners;

(2) In contravention of the agreement between the partners, where the circumstances do not permit a dissolution under any other provision of this section, by the express will of any partner at any time;

(3) By any event which makes it unlawful for the business of the partnership to be carried on or for the members to carry it on in partnership;

(4) By the death of any partner, unless the partnership agreement provides otherwise;

(5) By the bankruptcy of any partner or the partnership;

(6) By decree of court under G.S. 59-62. (1941, c. 374, s. 31; 1943, c. 384.)

CASE NOTES

Termination. — Under the Uniform Partnership Act, "termination" is used to designate the point in time when all the partnership affairs are wound up. Crosby v. Bowers, 87 N.C. App. 338, 361 S.E.2d 97 (1987).

The death of a partner ordinarily dissolves the partnership as of that date. In re Estate of Johnson, 232 N.C. 59, 59 S.E.2d 223 (1950); Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N.C. 18, 89 S.E.2d 774 (1955). See also, Bank v. Hollingsworth, 135 N.C. 556, 47 S.E. 618 (1904); Walker v. Miller, 139 N.C. 448, 52 S.E. 125 (1905).

Absent Agreement to the Contrary. — In the absence of an express agreement to the contrary, every partnership is dissolved by the death of one of the partners. Bennett v. Anson Bank & Trust Co., 265 N.C. 148, 143 S.E.2d 312 (1965).

Distinction Between Partnership for Indefinite Period and One for Specified Term as Concerns Dissolution. — According to the majority view, the only difference, so far as concerns the rights of dissolution by one partner, between a partnership for an indefinite period and one for a specified term, is that in the case of a partnership for a definite term a dissolution before the expiration of the stipulated time is a breach of agreement which subjects such partner to a claim for damages for breach of contract if the dissolution is not justified, whereas the dissolution of a partnership at will affords the other partner no ground for complaint; in either case, the action of one partner actually dissolves the partnership. Campbell v. Miller, 274 N.C. 143, 161 S.E.2d 564 (1968).

The significance of a partnership being one at will, i.e., without any definite term or undertaking to be accomplished, is that the termination by the election of a partner is not a breach of contract. Having the legal right to terminate, it would seem that there is no liability for its exercise whatever the motive, and whatever may be the injurious consequences to copartners who have neglected to protect themselves by an agreement to continue for a definite term. Campbell v. Miller, 274 N.C. 143, 161 S.E.2d 546 (1968).

Unilateral Dissolution of a Partnership at Will. — A partnership at will, i.e., without any definite term or undertaking to be accomplished, can be dissolved by operation of law, upon any partner's unequivocal expression of an intent and desire to dissolve the partnership, without violating the partnership agreement. Sturm v. Goss, 90 N.C. App. 326, 368 S.E.2d 399 (1988).

Filing of a lawsuit constituted an unequivocal expression of intent to dissolve, and, assuming the will to dissolve was not expressed by any partner earlier, the partnership was automatically dissolved on that date. Thus, a judicial decree of dissolution would have been superfluous, and the trial court's failure to declare the partnership dissolved was not error. Sturm v. Goss, 90 N.C. App. 326, 368 S.E.2d 399 (1988).

§ 59-62. Dissolution by decree of court.

(a) On application by or for a partner the court shall decree a dissolution whenever:

(1) A partner has been adjudicated incompetent or is shown to be of unsound mind,

(2) A partner becomes in any other way incapable of performing his part of the partnership contract,

(3) A partner has been guilty of such conduct as tends to affect prejudicially the carrying on of the business,

(4) A partner wilfully or persistently commits a breach of the partnership agreement, or otherwise so conducts himself in matters relating to the partnership business that it is not reasonably practicable to carry on the business in partnership with him,

(5) The business of the partnership can only be carried on at a loss,

(6) Other circumstances render a dissolution equitable.

(b) On the application of the purchaser of a partner's interest under G.S. 59-57 and 59-58:

(1) After the termination of the specified term or particular undertaking,

(2) At any time if the partnership was a partnership at will when the interest was assigned or when the charging order was issued.

(c) The name of a registered limited liability partnership becomes available for use by another entity as provided in G.S. 55D-21. (1941, c. 374, s. 32; 1985, c. 589, s. 29; 2001-358, s. 41; 2001-387, ss. 173, 175(a); 2001-413, s. 6; 2001-487, s. 107(b).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-358, s. 53, provided that the act, which amended this section, was effective October 1, 2001, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date. Section 173 of Session Laws 2001-387 changed the effective date of Session Laws 2001-358 from October 1, 2001, to January 1, 2002. Section 6 of Session Laws 2001-413, effective September 14, 2001, added a sentence to s. 175(a) of Session Laws 2001-387, making s. 173 of that act effective when it became law (August 26, 2001). As a result of these changes, the amendment by Session Laws 2001-358 is effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-358, s. 41, effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date, added subsection (c).

Session Laws 2001-487, s. 107(b), effective December 16, 2001, amends this section as amended by Session Laws 2001-358, s. 41, by substituting "partnership" for "company" in subsection (c).

CASE NOTES

Filing of a lawsuit constituted an unequivocal expression of intent to dissolve, and, assuming the will to dissolve was not expressed by any partner earlier, the partnership was automatically dissolved on that date. Thus, a judicial decree of dissolution would have been superfluous, and the trial court's failure to declare the partnership dissolved was not error. Sturm v. Goss, 90 N.C. App. 326, 368 S.E.2d 399 (1988).

Allegations Held Sufficient Predicate for Dissolution. — Where a complaint alleged the existence of a partnership and a conspiracy to deprive plaintiff partner of possession and control of the partnership assets pursuant to which defendant partner had transferred all the partnership property to defendant transferee, and sought a settlement and an accounting of the partnership affairs, the allegations were a sufficient predicate for the dissolution of the partnership, entitling plaintiff to an accounting and proper application of all the partnership property. Bright v. Williams, 245 N.C. 648, 97 S.E.2d 247 (1957).

Order of Dissolution Upheld. — An order of dissolution, having been prayed for and not resisted, and the court's order having resolved all differences between the parties regarding liability to each other, as well as having resolved that the partnership would conduct no further business, undoubtedly was appropriate. Ludwig v. Walter, 75 N.C. App. 584, 331 S.E.2d 177 (1985).

§ 59-63. General effect of dissolution on authority of partner.

Except so far as may be necessary to wind up partnership affairs or to complete transactions begun but not then finished, dissolution terminates all authority of any partner to act for the partnership,

(1) With respect to the partners,
   a. When the dissolution is not by the act, bankruptcy or death of a partner; or
   b. When the dissolution is by such act, bankruptcy or death of a partner, in cases where G.S. 59-64 so requires,
(2) With respect to persons not partners, as declared in G.S. 59-65. (1941, c. 374, s. 33.)

CASE NOTES

Breach of Partnership Agreement as Prerequisite to Judicial Dissolution. — The statute does not require a breach of the partnership agreement as a prerequisite to judicial dissolution. Crosby v. Bowers, 87 N.C. App. 338, 361 S.E.2d 97 (1987).

Termination. — Under the Uniform Partnership Act, "termination" is used to designate the point in time when all the partnership affairs are wound up. Crosby v. Bowers, 87 N.C. App. 338, 361 S.E.2d 97 (1987).

Sale of partnership assets upon dissolution is an act appropriate for winding up. Simmons v. Quick-Stop Food Mart, Inc., 307 N.C. 33, 296 S.E.2d 275 (1982).

§ 59-64. Right of partner to contribution from copartners after dissolution.

Where the dissolution is caused by the act, death or bankruptcy of a partner, each partner is liable to his copartners for his share of any liability created by any partner acting for the partnership as if the partnership had not been dissolved unless

(1) The dissolution being by act of any partner, the partner acting for the partnership had knowledge of the dissolution, or

(2) The dissolution being by the death or bankruptcy of a partner, the partner acting for the partnership had knowledge or notice of the death or bankruptcy. (1941, c. 374, s. 34.)

CASE NOTES

Applied in Ludwig v. Walter, 75 N.C. App. 584, 331 S.E.2d 177 (1985).

§ 59-65. Power of partner to bind partnership to third persons after dissolution; publication of notice of dissolution.

(a) After dissolution a partner can bind the partnership except as provided in subsection (c)

(1) By any act appropriate for winding up partnership affairs or completing transactions unfinished at dissolution;

(2) By any transaction which would bind the partnership if dissolution had not taken place, provided the other party to the transaction

a. Had extended credit to the partnership prior to dissolution and had no knowledge or notice of the dissolution; or

b. Though he had not so extended credit, had nevertheless known of the partnership prior to dissolution, and, having no knowledge or notice of dissolution, the fact of dissolution had not been published at least once a week for four successive weeks in some newspaper qualified for legal advertising in each county in which the partnership business was regularly carried on, or if no such newspaper is published in the county, posted for 30 days at the courthouse and three other public places in the county.

(b) The liability of a partner under subdivision (a)(2) shall be satisfied out of partnership assets alone when such partner had been prior to dissolution

(1) Unknown as a partner to the person with whom the contract is made; and

(2) So far unknown and inactive in partnership affairs that the business reputation of the partnership could not be said to have been in any degree due to his connection with it.

(c) The partnership is in no case bound by any act of a partner after dissolution

(1) Where the partnership is dissolved because it is unlawful to carry on the business, unless the act is appropriate for winding up partnership affairs; or

(2) Where the partner has become bankrupt; or

(3) Where the partner has no authority to wind up partnership affairs; except by a transaction with one who

a. Had extended credit to the partnership prior to dissolution and had no knowledge or notice of his want of authority; or

b. Had not extended credit to the partnership prior to dissolution, and, having no knowledge or notice of his want of authority, the fact of his want of authority has not been advertised in the manner provided for advertising the fact of dissolution in subdivision (a)(2)b.

(d) Nothing in this section shall affect the liability under G.S. 59-46 of any person who after dissolution represents himself or consents to another representing him as a partner in a partnership engaged in carrying on business. (1941, c. 374, s. 35; 1951, c. 381, s. 1.)

§ 59-66. Effect of dissolution on partner's existing liability.

(a) The dissolution of the partnership does not of itself discharge the existing liability of any partner.

(b) A partner is discharged from any existing liability upon dissolution of the partnership by an agreement to that effect between himself, the partnership creditor and the person or partnership continuing the business; and such agreement may be inferred from the course of dealing between the creditor having knowledge of the dissolution and the person or partnership continuing the business.

(c) Where a person agrees to assume the existing obligations of a dissolved partnership, the partners whose obligations have been assumed shall be discharged from any liability to any creditor of the partnership who, knowing of the agreement, consents to a material alteration in the nature or time of payment of such obligations.

(d) The individual property of a deceased partner shall be liable for all obligations of the partnership incurred while he was a partner but subject to the prior payment of his separate debts. (1941, c. 374, s. 36.)

§ 59-67. Right to wind up.

Unless otherwise agreed the partners who have not wrongfully dissolved the partnership or the legal representative of the last surviving partner, not bankrupt, has the right to wind up the partnership affairs; provided, however, that any partner, his legal representative or his assignee, upon cause shown, may obtain winding up by the court. (1941, c. 374, s. 37.)

§ 59-68. Rights of partners to application of partnership property.

(a) When dissolution is caused in any way, except in contravention of the partnership agreement, each partner, as against his copartners and all persons claiming through them in respect of their interest in the partnership, unless otherwise agreed, may have the partnership property applied to discharge its liabilities, and the surplus applied to pay in cash the net amount owing to the respective partners. But if dissolution is caused by expulsion of a partner, bona fide under the partnership agreement, and if the expelled partner is discharged from all partnership liabilities, either by payment or agreement under G.S. 59-66, subsection (b), he shall receive in cash only the net amount due him from the partnership.

(b) When dissolution is caused in contravention of the partnership agreement the rights of the partners shall be as follows:

(1) Each partner who has not caused dissolution wrongfully shall have:
   a. All the rights specified in subsection (a) of this section, and
   b. The right, as against each partner who has caused the dissolution wrongfully, to damages for breach of the agreement.

(2) The partners who have not caused the dissolution wrongfully, if they all desire to continue the business in the same name, either by themselves or jointly with others, may do so, during the agreed term for the partnership and for that purpose may possess the partnership property, provided they secure the payment by bond approved by the court, or pay to any partner who has caused the dissolution wrongfully, the value of his interest in the partnership at the dissolution, less any damages recoverable under clause (b)(1)b of this section, and in like manner indemnify him against all present or future partnership liabilities.

(3) A partner who has caused the dissolution wrongfully shall have:
   a. If the business is not continued under the provisions of subdivision (b)(2) all the rights of a partner under subsection (a), subject to clause (b)(1)b, of this section,
   b. If the business is continued under subdivision (b)(2) of this section, the right as against his copartners and all claiming through them in respect of their interests in the partnership, to have the value of his interest in the partnership, less any damages caused to his copartners by the dissolution, ascertained and paid to him in cash, or the payment secured by bond approved by the court, and to be released from all existing liabilities of the partnership; but in ascertaining the value of the partner's interest the value of the goodwill of the business shall not be considered. (1941, c. 374, s. 38.)

CASE NOTES

Under the principle of marshaling of assets, each partner has the right to have the partnership property applied to the payment or security of partnership debts, in order to relieve him from personal liability. Casey v. Grantham, 239 N.C. 121, 79 S.E.2d 735 (1945).

Applied in Ludwig v. Walter, 75 N.C. App. 584, 331 S.E.2d 177 (1985).

Stated in Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N.C. 18, 89 S.E.2d 774 (1955).

§ 59-69. Rights where partnership is dissolved for fraud or misrepresentation.

Where partnership contract is rescinded on the ground of the fraud or misrepresentation of one of the parties thereto, the party entitled to rescind is, without prejudice to any other right, entitled,

(1) To a lien on, or right of retention of, the surplus of the partnership property after satisfying the partnership liabilities to third persons for any sum of money by him for the purchase of an interest in the partnership and for any capital or advances contributed by him; and

(2) To stand, after all liabilities to third persons have been satisfied, in the place of the creditors of the partnership for any payments made by him in respect of the partnership liabilities; and

(3) To be indemnified by the person guilty of the fraud or making the representation against all debts and liabilities of the partnership. (1941, c. 374, s. 39.)

CASE NOTES

Assertion of Lien on Partnership Assets Based on Claim of Fraud. — While it is well settled that each partner has the right to insist that partnership assets be applied in payment of partnership debts, the right is not, in fact, a lien as such, because it is equally well settled that a partner has no individual ownership in any specific assets of the firm. The right, lien, quasi-lien or whatever else it may be called does not exist for any practical purpose until the affairs of the partnership have to be wound up or the share of a partner has to be ascertained. Such a lien based on fraud does not come into existence until actual dissolution occurs. Wolfe v. Hewes, 41 N.C. App. 88, 254 S.E.2d 204 (1979).

§ 59-70. Rules for distribution.

In settling accounts between the partners after dissolution, the following rules shall be observed, subject to any agreement to the contrary:

(1) The assets of the partnership are
   a. The partnership property,
   b. The contributions of the partners necessary for the payment of all the liabilities specified in subdivision (2) of this section.

(2) The liabilities of the partnership shall rank in order of payment, as follows:
   a. Those owing to creditors other than partners,
   b. Those owing to partners other than for capital and profits,
   c. Those owing to partners in respect of capital,
   d. Those owing to partners in respect of profits.

(3) The assets shall be applied in the order of their declaration in subdivision (1) of this section to the satisfaction of the liabilities.

(4) The partners shall contribute, as provided by G.S. 59-48, subdivision (1) the amount necessary to satisfy the liabilities; but if any, but not all, of the partners are insolvent, or, not being subject to process, refuse to contribute, the other partners shall contribute their share of the liabilities, and, in the relative proportions in which they share the profits, the additional amount necessary to pay the liabilities.

(5) An assignee for the benefit of creditors or any person appointed by the court shall have the right to enforce the contributions specified in subdivision (4) of this section.

(6) Any partner or his legal representative shall have the right to enforce the contributions specified in subdivision (4) of this section, to the extent of the amount which he has paid in excess of his share of the liability.

(7) The individual property of a deceased partner shall be liable for the contributions specified in subdivision (4) of this section.

(8) When partnership property and the individual properties of the partners are in possession of a court for distribution, partnership creditors shall have priority on partnership property and separate creditors on individual property, saving the rights of lien or secured creditors as heretofore.

(9) Where a partner has become bankrupt or his estate is insolvent the claims against the separate property shall rank in the following order:

a. Those owing to separate creditors,

b. Those owing to partnership creditors,

c. Those owing to partners by way of contribution. (1941, c. 374, s. 40.)

CASE NOTES

Determination of Liabilities in Receivership Proceedings. — When a partner seeks a dissolution of a partnership and, with the consent of the other partners, a receiver is appointed to take possession of partnership assets for distribution to the parties entitled thereto, the law contemplates a judicial determination of the liabilities of the partnership. Brewer v. Elks, 260 N.C. 470, 133 S.E.2d 159 (1963).

No Distribution to Partners Until Such Determination Made. — Until the liabilities of the partnership have been determined, there can be no distribution to the partners. Brewer v. Elks, 260 N.C. 470, 133 S.E.2d 159 (1963).

When Judgment Recoverable Against Individual Partners. — Where the partnership assets are insufficient to discharge the partnership obligations, claimant may, in the proceedings in which a receiver was appointed, have judgment against the individual partners for the balance of his claim. Brewer v. Elks, 260 N.C. 470, 133 S.E.2d 159 (1963).

§ 59-71. Liability of persons continuing the business in certain cases.

(a) When any new partner is admitted into an existing partnership, or when any partner retires and assigns (or the representative of the deceased partner assigns) his rights in partnership property to two or more of the partners, or to one or more of the partners and one or more third persons, if the business is continued without liquidation of the partnership affairs, creditors of the first or dissolved partnership are also creditors of the partnership so continuing the business.

(b) When all but one partner retire and assign (or the representative of a deceased partner assigns) their rights in partnership property to the remaining partner, who continues the business without liquidation of partnership affairs, either alone or with others, creditors of the dissolved partnership are also creditors of the person or partnership so continuing the business.

(c) When any partner retires or dies and the business of the dissolved partnership is continued as set forth in subsections (a) and (b) of this section, with the consent of the retired partners or the representative of the deceased partner, but without any assignment of his right in partnership property, rights of creditors of the dissolved partnership and of the creditors of the person or partnership continuing the business shall be as if such assignment had been made.

(d) When all the partners or their representatives assign their rights in partnership property to one or more third persons who promise to pay the debts and who continue the business of the dissolved partnership, creditors of the dissolved partnership are also creditors of the person or partnership continuing the business.

(e) When any partner wrongfully causes a dissolution and the remaining partners continue the business under the provisions of G.S. 59-68, subdivision (b)(2), either alone or with others, and without liquidation of the partnership affairs, creditors of the dissolved partnership are also creditors of the person or partnership continuing the business.

(f) When a partner is expelled and the remaining partners continue the business either alone or with others, without liquidation of the partnership affairs, creditors of the dissolved partnership are also creditors of the person or partnership continuing the business.

(g) The liability of a third person becoming a partner in the partnership continuing the business, under this section, to the creditors of the dissolved partnership shall be satisfied out of the partnership property only.

(h) When the business of a partnership after dissolution is continued under any conditions set forth in this section the creditors of the dissolved partnership, as against the separate creditors of the retiring or deceased partner or the representative of the deceased partner, have a prior right to any claim of the retired partner or the representative of the deceased partner against the person or partnership continuing the business on account of the retired or deceased partner's interest in the dissolved partnership or on account of any consideration promised for such interest or for his right in partnership property.

(i) Nothing in this section shall be held to modify any right of creditors to set aside any assignment on the ground of fraud.

(j) The use by the person or partnership continuing the business of the partnership name, or the name of a deceased partner as part thereof, shall not of itself make the individual property of the deceased partner liable for any debts contracted by such person or partnership. (1941, c. 374, s. 41.)

CASE NOTES

Where company did not promise to pay the creditors of a dissolved partnership, it was not liable under subsection (d) of this section. Pendergrass v. Card Care, Inc., 333 N.C. 233, 424 S.E.2d 391 (1993).

§ 59-72. Rights of retiring partner or estate of deceased partner when the business is continued.

When any partner retires or dies, and the business is continued under any of the conditions set forth in G.S. 59-71, subsections (a), (b), (c), (e), (f), or G.S. 59-68, subdivision (b)(2), without any settlement of accounts as between him or his estate and the person or partnership continuing the business, unless otherwise agreed, he or his legal representative as against such persons or partnership may have the value of his interest at the date of dissolution ascertained, and shall receive as an ordinary creditor an amount equal to the value of his interest in the dissolved partnership with interest, or, at his option or at the option of his legal representative, in lieu of interest, the profits attributable to the use of his right in the property of the dissolved partnership; provided that the creditors of the dissolved partnership as against the separate creditors, or the representative of the retired or deceased partner, shall have priority on any claim arising under this section, as provided by G.S. 59-71, subsection (h). (1941, c. 374, s. 42.)

§ 59-73. Accrual of actions.

The right to an account of his interest shall accrue to any partner, or his legal representative, as against the winding up partners or the surviving partners or the person or partnership continuing the business, at the date of dissolution, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary. (1941, c. 374, s. 43.)

§ 59-73.11. Plan of conversion.

(a) The converting business entity shall approve a written plan of conversion containing:

(2001-387, s. 108; 2001-487, s. 62(r).)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-487, s. 62(r), effective January 1, 2002, deleted "to domestic partnership" following "articles of conversion" in subsection (c) as enacted by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 108.

§ 59-73.12. Filing of articles of conversion by converting business entity.

(a) After a plan of conversion has been approved by the converting business entity as provided in G.S. 59-73.11, the converting business entity shall deliver articles of conversion to the Secretary of State for filing. The articles of conversion shall state:

If the plan of conversion is abandoned after the articles of conversion have been filed with the Secretary of State but before the articles of conversion become effective, the converting business entity shall deliver to the Secretary of State for filing prior to the time the articles of conversion become effective an amendment to the articles of conversion withdrawing the articles of conversion.

(2) The title to all real estate and other property owned by the converting business entity continues vested in the resulting domestic partnership without reversion or impairment;
(3) All liabilities of the converting business entity continue as liabilities of the resulting domestic partnership;
(4) A proceeding pending by or against the converting business entity may be continued as if the conversion did not occur; and
(5) The interests in the converting business entity that are to be converted into interests, obligations, or securities of the resulting domestic partnership or into the right to receive cash or other property are thereupon so converted, and the former holders of interests in the converting business entity are entitled only to the rights provided in the plan of conversion.

The conversion shall not affect the liability or absence of liability of any holder of an interest in the converting business entity for any acts, omissions, or obligations of the converting business entity made or incurred prior to the effectiveness of the conversion. The cessation of the existence of the converting business entity in its prior form of organization in the conversion shall not constitute a dissolution or termination of the converting business entity.

(b) When the conversion takes effect, the resulting domestic partnership is deemed:

(1) To agree that it may be served with process in this State for enforcement of (i) any obligation of the converting business entity and (ii) any obligation of the resulting domestic partnership arising from the conversion; and

(2) To have appointed the Secretary of State as its agent for service of process in any such proceeding. Service on the Secretary of State of any such process shall be made by delivering to and leaving with the Secretary of State, or with any clerk authorized by the Secretary of State to accept service of process, duplicate copies of the process and the fee required by G.S. 59-35.2. Upon receipt of service of process on behalf of a resulting domestic partnership in the manner provided for in this section, the Secretary of State shall immediately mail a copy of the process by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, to the resulting domestic partnership. If the resulting domestic partnership is a registered limited liability partnership, the address for mailing shall be its principal office or, if there is no principal office on file, its registered office. (1) The conversion is permitted by the laws of the state or country governing the organization and internal affairs of such other business entity; and

The plan of conversion may contain other provisions relating to the conversion.

(b) The plan of conversion shall be approved by the domestic partnership in the manner provided for the approval of the conversion in a written partnership agreement or, if there is no such provision, by the unanimous consent of its partners. If any partner of the converting domestic partnership has or will have personal liability for any existing or future obligation of the resulting business entity solely as a result of holding an interest in the resulting business entity, then in addition to the requirements of the preceding sentence, approval of the plan of conversion by the domestic partnership shall require the consent of that partner. The converting domestic partnership shall provide a copy of the plan of conversion to each partner of the converting domestic partnership at the time provided in a written partnership agreement or, if there is no such provision, prior to its approval of the plan of conversion.

(c) After a plan of conversion has been approved by a domestic partnership but before the articles of conversion become effective, the plan of conversion (i) may be amended as provided in the plan of conversion, or (ii) may be abandoned, subject to any contractual rights, as provided in the plan of conversion or written partnership agreement or, if not so provided, as determined in the manner necessary for approval of the plan of conversion. (2001-387, s. 111; 2001-487, s. 62(t).)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-387, s. 170(c), effective January 1, 2002, substituted "G.S. 59-35.2" for "G.S. 59-35.1(f)" in subdivision (b)(2) as enacted by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 111.

Session Laws 2001-487, s. 62(v), effective January 1, 2002, substituted "G.S. 59-73.22(a)(2)" for "G.S. 59-73.12(a)(2)" at the end of subdivision (b)(2) as enacted by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 111.

§§ 59-73.24 through 59-73.29: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Part 4. Merger.

§ 59-73.30. Merger.

A domestic partnership may merge with one or more other domestic partnerships or other business entities if:

(1) The merger is permitted by laws of the state or country governing the organization and internal affairs of each other merging business entity; and

(2) Each merging domestic partnership and each other merging business entity comply with the requirements of this Part and, to the extent applicable, the laws referred to in subdivision (1) of this section. (1999-369, s. 4.1; 2001-387, ss. 105(b), 112.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-387, s. 105(b), provides that G.S. 59-73.2, 59-73.3, 59-73.4, 59-73.5, and 59-73.6 are recodified as G.S. 59-73.20, 59-73.30, 59-73.31, 59-73.32, and 59-73.33, respectively, in Article 2A of Chapter 59 of the General Statutes, as enacted by this act.

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 175(a), made this Part effective January 1, 2002.

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 154(b) provides that nothing in this act shall supersede the provisions of Article 10 or 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes, and this act does not create an alternate means for an entity governed by Article 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes to convert to a different business form.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-387, ss. 105(b) and 112, effective January 1, 2002, recodified former § 59-73.3 as this section.

§ 59-73.31. Plan of merger.

(a) Each merging domestic partnership and each other merging business entity shall approve a written plan of merger containing:

(1) For each merging business entity, its name, type of business entity, and the state or country whose laws govern its organization and internal affairs;

(2) The name of the merging business entity that shall survive the merger;

(3) The terms and conditions of the merger; and

(4) The manner and basis for converting the interests in each merging business entity into interests, obligations, or securities of the surviving business entity or into cash or other property in whole or in part.

The plan of merger may contain other provisions relating to the merger.

(b) In the case of a merging domestic partnership, the plan of merger must be approved in the manner provided in a written partnership agreement that is binding on all the partners for approval of a merger with the type of business entity contemplated in the plan of merger or, if there is no provision, by the unanimous consent of its partners. If any partner of a merging domestic partnership has or will have personal liability for any existing or future obligation of the surviving business entity solely as a result of holding an interest in the surviving business entity, then in addition to the requirements of the preceding sentence, approval of the plan of merger by the domestic partnership shall require the consent of that partner. In the case of each other merging business entity, the plan of merger must be approved in accordance with the laws of the state or country governing the organization and internal affairs of such merging business entity.

(c) After a plan of merger has been approved by the domestic partnership but before the articles of merger become effective, the plan of merger (i) may be amended as provided in the plan of merger, or (ii) may be abandoned (subject to any contractual rights) as provided in the plan of merger or a written partnership agreement that is binding on all the partners or, if not so provided, as determined by the unanimous consent of the partners. (1999-369, s. 4.1; 2001-387, ss. 105(b), 112, 113.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-387, ss. 105(b), 112, and 113, effective January 1, 2002, recodified former § 59-73.4 as this section; and inserted the second sentence in subsection (b).

§ 59-73.32. Articles of merger.

(a) After a plan of merger has been approved by each merging domestic partnership and each other merging business entity as provided in G.S. 59-73.31, the surviving business entity shall deliver articles of merger to the Secretary of State for filing. The articles of merger shall set forth:

(1) The plan of merger;

(2) For each merging business entity, its name, type of business entity, and the state or country whose laws govern its organization and internal affairs;

(3) The name of the surviving business entity and, if the surviving business entity is not authorized to transact business or conduct affairs in this State, a designation of its mailing address and a commitment to file with the Secretary of State a statement of any subsequent change in its mailing address;

(4) A statement that the plan of merger has been approved by each merging business entity in the manner required by law; and

(5) The effective date and time of the merger if it is not to be effective at the time of filing of the articles of merger.

If the plan of merger is amended or abandoned after the articles of merger have been filed but before the articles of merger become effective, the surviving business entity shall deliver to the Secretary of State for filing prior to the time the articles of merger effective become an amendment to the articles of merger reflecting the amendment or abandonment of the plan of merger.

(b) A merger takes effect when the articles of merger become effective.

(c) Certificates of merger shall also be registered as provided in G.S. 47-18.1. (1999-369, s. 4.1; 2001-387, ss. 105(b), 112, 114.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-387, ss. 105(b), 112, and 114, effective January 1, 2002, recodified former § 59-73.5 as this section; and in subsection (a), substituted "G.S. 59-73.31" for "G.S. 59-73.4" in the introductory language, rewrote subdivision (a)(3), and in the last paragraph, inserted "after the articles of merger have been filed but," deleted

"promptly" preceding "shall deliver" and inserted "prior to the time the articles of merger become effective."

§ 59-73.33. Effects of merger.

(a) When a merger takes effect:

(1) Each other merging business entity merges into the surviving business entity, and the separate existence of each merging business entity except the surviving business entity ceases;

(2) The title to all real estate and other property owned by each merging business entity is vested in the surviving business entity without reversion or impairment;

(3) The surviving business entity has all liabilities of each merging business entity;

(4) A proceeding pending by or against any merging business entity may be continued as if the merger did not occur, or the surviving business entity may be substituted in the proceeding for a merging business entity whose separate existence ceases in the merger;

(5) The interests in each merging business entity that are to be converted into interests, obligations, or securities of the surviving business entity or into the right to receive cash or other property are thereupon so converted, and the former holders of the interests in each merging business entity are entitled only to the rights provided to them in the articles of merger or, in the case of former holders of shares in a domestic corporation (as defined in G.S. 55-1-40), any rights they may have under Article 13 of Chapter 55 of the General Statutes; and

(6) If the surviving business entity is not a domestic corporation, the surviving business entity is deemed to agree that it will promptly pay to the dissenting shareholders of any merging domestic corporation the amount, if any, to which they are entitled under Article 13 of Chapter 55 of the General Statutes and otherwise to comply with the requirements of Article 13 as if it were a surviving domestic corporation in the merger.

The merger shall not affect the liability or absence of liability of any holder of an interest in a merging business entity for any acts, omissions, or obligations of any merging business entity made or incurred prior to the effectiveness of the merger. The cessation of separate existence of a merging business entity shall not constitute a dissolution or termination of the merging business entity.

(b) If the surviving business entity is not a domestic limited liability company, a domestic corporation, a domestic nonprofit corporation, or a domestic limited partnership, when the merger takes effect the surviving business entity is deemed:

(1) To agree that it may be served with process in this State in any proceeding for enforcement of (i) any obligation of any merging domestic limited liability company, domestic corporation, domestic nonprofit corporation, domestic limited partnership, or other partnership as defined in G.S. 59-36 that is formed under the laws of this State, (ii) the rights of dissenting shareholders of any merging domestic corporation under Article 13 of Chapter 55 of the General Statutes, and (iii) any obligation of the surviving business entity arising from the merger; and

(2) To have appointed the Secretary of State as its registered agent for service of process in any such proceeding. Service on the Secretary of State of any such process shall be made by delivering to and leaving with the Secretary of State, or with any clerk authorized by the Secretary of State to accept service of process, duplicate copies of such process and the fee required by G.S. 59-35.2 59-35.1(c). Upon receipt of service of process on behalf of a surviving business entity in the manner provided for in this section, the Secretary of State shall immediately mail a copy of the process by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, to the surviving business entity. If the surviving business entity is authorized to transact business or conduct affairs in this State, the address for mailing shall be its principal office designated in the latest document filed with the Secretary of State that is authorized by law to designate the principal office or, if there is no principal office on file, its registered office. If the surviving business entity is not authorized to transact business or conduct affairs in this State, the address for mailing shall be the mailing address designated pursuant to G.S. 59-73.32(a)(3). (1999-369, s. 4.1; 2000-140, s. 52; 2001-358, s. 10(a); 2001-387, ss. 105(b), 112, 115, 170(c), 173, 175(a).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-358, s. 53, provided that the act, which amended this section, was effective October 1, 2001, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date. Section 173 of Session Laws 2001-387 changed the effective date of Session Laws 2001-358 from October 1, 2001, to January 1, 2002. Section 6 of Session Laws 2001-413, effective September 14, 2001, added a sentence to s. 175(a) of Session Laws 2001-387, making s. 173 of that act effective when it became law (August 26, 2001). As a result of these changes, the amendment by Session Laws 2001-358 is effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date.

This section was amended several times in 2001 in the coded bill drafting format provided in § 120-20.1. Session Laws 2001-358, s. 10 (a) amended subsection (b)(2) of § 59-73.6 by substituting "59-35.1(c)" for "59-73.7(c)." The section was then recodified as § 59-73.33 by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 105(b). Without referring to the change made by Session Laws 2001-358 in subsection (b)(2), Session Laws 2001-387, ss. 115 and 170(c) subsequently amended subsection (b)(2) by substituting "59-35.1(f)" for "59-73.7(c)" and then substituting "59-35.2" for "59-35.1(f)." The fees that were to have been in § 59-35.1 (c), as amended in Session Laws 2001-358, are now in § 59-35.2. The section is set out in the form above at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Session Laws 2001-358, s. 10(a), effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date, substituted "G.S. 59-35.1(c)" for "G.S. 59-73.7(c)" in subdivision (b)(2) of former § 59-73.6.

Session Laws 2001-387, ss. 105(b), 112, and 115, effective January 1, 2002, in subdivision (b)(2), recodified former § 59-73.6 as this section; substituted "G.S. 59-35.1(f)" for "G.S. 59-73.7(c)" in the second sentence and substituted "G.S. 59-73.32(a)(3)" for "subdivision (3) of subsection (d) of this section" in the last sentence; and made minor punctuation and stylistic changes throughout subsection (b).

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 170(c), effective January 1, 2002, substituted "G.S. 59-35.2" for "G.S. 59-35.1(f)" in subdivision (b)(2) as amended by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 115.

Article 3.

Surviving Partners.

§ 59-74. Surviving partner to give bond.

Upon the death of any member of a partnership, the surviving partner shall, within 30 days, execute before the clerk of the superior court of the county where the partnership business was conducted, a bond payable to the State of North Carolina, with sufficient surety conditioned upon the faithful performance of his duties in the settlement of the partnership affairs. The amount of such bond shall be fixed by the clerk of the court; and the settlement of the estate and the liability of the bond shall be the same as under the law governing administrators and their bonds. (1915, c. 227, ss. 1, 2, 3; C.S., s. 3277.)

CASE NOTES

The purpose of this section is limited to the protection of those who are interested in the property or estate administered by the surviving partner, who is required to account to them and pay over their interest in case there is a surplus after paying the partnership debts. It is a trust relationship in which only they have a legal interest. Coppersmith v. Upton, 228 N.C. 545, 46 S.E.2d 565 (1948).

Coverage of Bond. — The bond required of surviving partners by this section is primarily for the protection of those interested in the deceased partner's interest in the surplus after the partnership has been wound up; such bond has no retroactive effect, and does not become liable for any maladministration prior to its filing. In re Estate of Johnson, 232 N.C. 59, 59 S.E.2d 223 (1950).

The giving of a bond cannot be regarded as a condition precedent to the maintenance of an action by a surviving partner, since § 59-75 provides an alternative remedy upon failure of the surviving partner to give bond. Coppersmith v. Upton, 228 N.C. 545, 46 S.E.2d 565 (1948).

Objection that surviving partner has not filed bond is not available to debtor of the estate. Coppersmith v. Upton, 228 N.C. 545, 46 S.E.2d 565 (1948).

Applied in Reel v. Boyd, 198 N.C. 214, 151 S.E. 192 (1930).

§ 59-75. Effect of failure to give bond.

Upon the failure of the surviving partner to execute the bond provided for in G.S. 59-74, the clerk of the superior court shall, upon application of any person interested in the estate of the deceased partner, appoint a collector of the partnership, who shall be governed by the same law governing an administrator of a deceased person. (1915, c. 227, s. 4; C.S., s. 3278.)

§ 59-76. Surviving partner and personal representative to make inventory.

When a member of any partnership dies the surviving partner, within 60 days after the death of the deceased partner, together with the personal representative of the deceased partner, shall make out a full and complete inventory of the assets of the partnership, including real estate, if there be any, together with a schedule of the debts and liabilities thereof, a copy of which inventory and schedule shall be retained by the surviving partner, and a copy thereof shall be furnished to the personal representative of the deceased partner. (1901, c. 640; Rev., s. 2540; C.S., s. 3279.)

Cross References. — As to joint tenancy in partnership property, see § 41-2.

CASE NOTES

Upon the death of a partner, his interest in the partnership property vests in the surviving partner for administration in winding up the partnership, and the surviving partner stands as a trustee charged with the duty of faithful management and accounting to those entitled to the deceased partner's interest after the settlement of the debts of the partnership. In re Estate of Johnson, 232 N.C. 59, 59 S.E.2d 223 (1950).

The surviving partner has the duty of closing up the partnership affairs, the reduction of personal property to cash and the settlement of partnership affairs, and title to the personal property vests at once in the surviving partner and not in the personal representative of the deceased partner. Sherrod v. Mayo, 156 N.C. 144, 72 S.E. 216 (1911).

Assets Impressed with Trust. — The death of a partner, in the absence of any stipulation in the articles of partnership to the contrary, works an immediate dissolution, and the title to the assets vests in the surviving partner, impressed with a trust to close up the partnership business, pay the debts and turn over to his personal representative the share of the deceased partner. Walker v. Miller, 139 N.C. 448, 52 S.E. 125 (1905).

It is the right and duty of a surviving partner to close up the affairs of the firm. He has the right, therefore, to receive and to collect the debts and assets of the partnership, and to apply the same toward payment of the debts and liabilities of the firm. Weisel v. Cobb, 114 N.C. 22, 18 S.E. 943 (1894); Hodgin v. Bank, 128 N.C. 110, 38 S.E. 294 (1901).

After the dissolution of a firm by the death of one of the partners, it is the duty of the surviving partner to settle up the joint estate in the manner most conducive to the interest of all persons interested. Calvert v. Miller, 94 N.C. 600 (1886).

Creation of New Debts. — A surviving partner has no right to create or contract new debts binding upon the partnership, except to the extent of purchasing new material and making new debts so far as may be necessary to work up unfinished material and sell the same. Howell, Orr & Co. v. Boyd Mfg. Co., 116 N.C. 806, 22 S.E. 5 (1895).

Power to Renew or Endorse Note. — A surviving partner has no power after dissolution to renew or endorse a firm note in the name of the firm. Bank v. Hollingsworth, 135 N.C. 556, 47 S.E. 618 (1904).

A surviving partner who, more than two years after dissolution of the firm, endorsed a note in the firm name for the renewal of outstanding notes similarly endorsed, was individually liable on such endorsement, though it did not bind the firm. Bank v. Hollingsworth, 135 N.C. 556, 47 S.E. 618 (1904).

Injunction When There Is Danger of Misapplication of Funds. — In case of danger of misapplication of partnership funds by the surviving partner, the court would certainly, in behalf of the representatives of a deceased partner, interfere and restrain by injunction the surviving partner from such acts, or grant other proper relief; and there is no reason why it should not interfere in behalf of a creditor in such a case. Hodgin v. Bank, 128 N.C. 110, 38 S.E. 294 (1901).

Surviving Partner Held Agent of Executor. — Where one of the members of a firm was constituted its general managing agent by the articles of partnership, and upon the death of one partner his executor consented to a continuance of the business, it was held that the manager became the agent of the executor as well as of the other surviving member, and a demand and refusal to account were necessary to terminate the agency and put the statute of limitations in operation. Patterson v. Lilly, 90 N.C. 82 (1884).

Arrangement Between Distributees and Legatees Held a Partnership. — An arrangement between distributees and legatees to permit their property, with the consent and cooperation of the representatives of the deceased partners, to remain in common and to be used for their joint benefit, adopting the name of the old firm, constituted a partnership. Walker v. Miller, 139 N.C. 448, 52 S.E. 125 (1905).

Surviving partner of insolvent firm is not entitled to have personal property exemptions paid out of partnership assets. Southern Comm'n Co. v. Porter, 122 N.C. 692, 30 S.E. 119 (1898).

Representative of a deceased partner cannot be sued while there is a surviving partner. Burgwin v. Hostler (2nd Sec.), 1 N.C. 75 (1799).

Competency of Testimony of Surviving Partner. — In an action for goods sold to a firm, the testimony of one partner, who admitted his liability by failing to answer, that the goods were furnished by the plaintiff on the order of the firm, was not competent as against the executor of the deceased partner or against the firm. Charlotte Oil & Fertilizer Co. v. Rippy, 124 N.C. 643, 32 S.E. 980 (1899); Moore v. Palmer, 132 N.C. 969, 44 S.E. 673 (1903).

A surviving partner, who assigned partnership property of an insolvent firm to pay his own debts pro rata with those of the firm, could not be allowed to testify that he did not thereby intend to defraud the firm creditors. Southern Comm'n Co. v. Porter, 122 N.C. 692, 30 S.E. 119 (1898).

§ 59-77. When personal representative may take inventory; receiver.

If the surviving partner should neglect or refuse to have such inventory made, the personal representative of the deceased partner may have the same made in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 59-76. Should any surviving partner fail to take such an inventory or refuse to allow the personal representative of the deceased partner's estate to do so, such personal representative of the deceased partner's estate may forthwith apply to a court of competent jurisdiction for the appointment of a receiver for such partnership, who shall thereupon proceed to wind up the same and dispose of the assets thereof in accordance with law. (1901, c. 640, s. 2; Rev., s. 2541; C.S., s. 3280; 2000-140, s. 101(o); 2001-387, s. 116.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-387, s. 154(b) provides that nothing in this act shall supersede the provisions of Article 10 or 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes, and this act does not create an alternate means for an entity governed by Article 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes to convert to a different business form.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2000-140, s. 101(o), effective July 21, 2000, inserted "should" following "If the surviving partner" at the beginning of the first sentence.

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 116, effective January 1, 2002, substituted "partner should neglect" for "partner neglect."

CASE NOTES

Jurisdiction to Appoint Receiver. — While the clerk of the superior court has no jurisdiction to appoint a receiver for a partnership under this section, when the surviving partners have failed or refused to file the inventory required by § 59-76, the superior court on appeal from an order of the clerk in the proceeding acquires jurisdiction to appoint such receiver. In re Estate of Johnson, 232 N.C. 59, 59 S.E.2d 223 (1950).

Appointment of Receiver When Assignee of Surviving Partner Holds for Indefinite Term. — Where an assignment was made by a surviving partner of an insolvent firm, and the assignee was empowered to continue the business for an indefinite term, a receiver could be appointed to administer the partnership fund among the creditors, even though the deed of assignment was not set aside. Southern Comm'n Co. v. Porter, 122 N.C. 692, 30 S.E. 119 (1898).

Where the surviving partner of a firm was appointed receiver of the firm, he could not maintain an action against one who, as surety for the accommodation of the deceased partner, endorsed the latter's note, which was discounted by the firm, if it appeared that the assets of the partnership were sufficient to pay its debts and leave a surplus against the deceased partner's share, of which the note could be charged. Patton v. Carr, 117 N.C. 176, 23 S.E. 182 (1895).

Duty of Assignee to Charge Interest. — Where the surviving partner of a firm conveyed the assets to an assignee to settle the estate, it was the duty of the assignee, notwithstanding a contrary custom existing in the town where the business had been conducted, to charge and collect interest on all good overdue accounts from the end of a year after dissolution of the partnership, and he was liable to the surviving partner for his failure to do so. Weisel v. Cobb, 118 N.C. 11, 24 S.E. 782 (1896), rehearing denied, 122 N.C. 67, 30 S.E. 312 (1898).

Liability of Assignee for Interest. — The assignee of a surviving partner is chargeable with interest on partnership moneys kept by him after 12 months from the time he assumed the trust until he disbursed it. Weisel v. Cobb, 118 N.C. 11, 24 S.E. 782 (1896).

§ 59-78. Notice to creditors.

Every surviving partner, within 30 days after the death of the deceased partner, shall notify all persons having claims against the partnership which were in existence at the time of the death of the deceased partner, to exhibit the same to the surviving partner within six months from the date of first publication of such notice. The notice shall be published once a week for four consecutive weeks in a newspaper qualified to publish legal advertisements, if any such newspaper is published in the county. If there is no newspaper published in the county, but there is a newspaper having general circulation in the county, then at the option of the surviving partner the notice shall be published in the newspaper having general circulation in the county and posted at the courthouse or the notice shall be posted at the courthouse and four other public places in the county. (1901, c. 640, s. 3; Rev., s. 2542; C.S., s. 3281; 1951, c. 381, s. 2; 1973, c. 1410, ss. 1, 2.)

CASE NOTES

Where a dissolution of a firm occurs by the death of one of the partners, the giving of notice of such dissolution is not necessary to prevent liability from attaching to the estate of the deceased partner or of the surviving partners for any future contracts made in the name of the firm. Bank v. Hollingsworth, 135 N.C. 556, 47 S.E. 618 (1904).

§ 59-79. Debts paid pro rata; liens.

All debts and demands against a copartnership, where one partner has died, shall be paid pro rata, except debts which are a specific lien on property belonging to the partnership. (1901, c. 640, s. 4; Rev., s. 2543; C.S., s. 3282.)

CASE NOTES

Debts Created by Surviving Partner. — While a surviving partner cannot enter into contracts or create liabilities which will bind the estate of his deceased partner, yet he is not bound to sacrifice the interests of the firm, and if he contracts debts, bona fide, for the interest of the common property, he may pay them out of the common fund. Calvert v. Miller, 94 N.C. 600 (1886).

Payment of Creditors Advancing Funds to Market Product. — Where a surviving partner has purchased materials and contracted new debts to complete unfinished products and placed the finished article on the market, the creditors advancing the necessary funds are entitled to payment out of the assets of the partnership. Howell, Orr & Co. v. Boyd Mfg. Co., 116 N.C. 806, 22 S.E. 5 (1895).

Prior Encumbrance of Surviving Partner. — The claims of a surviving partner upon the proceeds of sale of the deceased partner's half of the real estate, a mill property, to reimburse him to the amount of half the expenditures incurred in the conduct of the joint business and improvements put upon the property, constituted a prior encumbrance and had to be paid, to the postponement of creditors of the deceased partner. Mendenhall v. Benbow, 84 N.C. 646 (1881).

Suit Against Accommodation Endorser by Note. — A note executed by a member of a partnership to a third party who, as surety for the accommodation of the maker, endorsed it and received no benefit from it, could not be subject of an action at law against the endorser by the firm, nor in case of the death of the maker of the note could the surviving partner maintain an action on the note against the accommodation endorsers unless the firm was insolvent. Patton v. Carr, 117 N.C. 176, 23 S.E. 182 (1895).

Assignment Held Fraudulent as to Creditors. — Where, in an assignment by a surviving partner of an insolvent firm for an indefinite term, assignee had the right to employ servants, to replenish stock, and to pay out of the proceeds the firm debts as well as the individual debts of the survivor pro rata, assignment was fraudulent as against creditors. Southern Comm'n Co. v. Porter, 122 N.C. 692, 30 S.E. 119 (1898).

Bank Not Entitled to Apply Survivor's Deposit to Debts of Firm. — When a bank knew that the plaintiff was the only surviving partner of a firm, and that he was making deposits as such, it had no right to apply them to the payment of a debt created by the partnership before its dissolution, without the consent of the depositor. Hodgin v. People's Nat'l Bank, 125 N.C. 503, 34 S.E. 709 (1899).

Personal Debt as Set-off. — In an action brought by a surviving partner for a debt, a debt due from him may be pleaded as a set-off. Hogg's Ex'rs v. Ashe, 2 N.C. 471 (1797).

Defendant could not avail herself of a debt due to her by a deceased member of the firm, even though the contract between the latter and the defendant was that the debt, being for the board of his partner, was to be paid out of the assets of the store in which the plaintiff and the defendant were partners. Norment v. Johnston, 32 N.C. 89 (1849).

§ 59-80. Effect of failure to present claim in six months.

In an action brought on a claim which was not presented within six months from the first publication of the general notice to creditors, the surviving partner shall not be chargeable for any assets that he may have paid in satisfaction of any debts before such action was commenced, nor shall any costs be recovered in such action against the surviving partner. (1901, c. 640, s. 5; Rev., s. 2544; C.S., s. 3283; 1973, c. 1410, s. 3.)

§ 59-81. Procedure for purchase by surviving partner.

(a) Appraisal of Property. — The surviving partner may, if he so desire, make application to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the partnership existed, after first giving notice to the executor or administrator of the time of the hearing of such application, for the appointment of three judicious, disinterested appraisers, one of whom may be named by the surviving partner, one by the representative of the deceased partner's estate, and the third named by the two appraisers selected, whose duty it shall be to make out under oath a full and complete inventory and appraisement of the entire assets of the partnership, including real estate if there be any, together with a schedule of the debts and liabilities thereof, and to deliver the same to the surviving partner; they shall also deliver a copy to the executor or administrator, and file a copy with the clerk of the court.

(b) Surviving Partner May Purchase. — The surviving partner may, with the consent of the executor or administrator of the deceased partner and the approval of the clerk of the superior court by whom such executor or administrator was appointed, purchase the interest of such deceased partner in the partnership assets at the appraised value thereof, including the good will of the business, first deducting therefrom the debts and liabilities of the partnership, for cash or upon giving to the executor or administrator his promissory note or notes, with good approved security, and satisfactory to the executor or administrator, for the payment of the interest of such deceased partner in the partnership assets.

(c) Surviving Partner to Give Bond. — In case the surviving partner shall avail himself of the privilege of purchasing such interest as provided for in this section, he shall give bond to the executor or administrator with surety for the payment of the debts and liabilities of the partnership, and for the performance of all contracts for which the partnership is liable.

(d) Sale of Real Estate. — In case of such sale of the real estate belonging to the partnership, the title to the real estate so purchased shall not pass until the sale thereof has been reported to and confirmed by the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the partnership was located, in a special proceeding to which the widow and heirs at law or devisees of the deceased partner are duly made parties. Division of Partnership Property. — There can be no division of partnership property until all the accounts have been taken and the clear interest of each partner ascertained. Baird v. Baird, 21 N.C. 524 (1837); Mendenhall v. Benbow, 84 N.C. 646 (1881).

Presumption of Equal Interest. — In the absence of evidence to the contrary, each partner is presumed to be equally interested in the joint business. State ex rel. Worthy v. Brower, 93 N.C. 344 (1885).

If an agreement for a common or special partnership appears to have existed between parties for the purchase of property, with intent to sell the same for the profit of the parties, and no express agreement be proved adjusting the division or share of the profits, the law extends the concern to all the goods purchased by either of the parties; the parties are entitled to share the profits, without regard to the payments or advances made by either for the purpose of effecting the purchase, if there can be no contract as to the amount of the advances to be made by them respectively. Taylor v. Taylor & Justice, 6 N.C. 70 (1811).

Note Arising Out of Partnership Business. — In stating an account between an executor and the surviving partner of the testator, it is not error to charge the surviving partner with the value of a note due the testator of the plaintiff individually, if such note arose from or grew out of the business of the partnership business. Royster v. Johnson, 73 N.C. 474 (1875).

Surviving Partner to Make Settlement with Personal Representative of Deceased Partner. — The deceased partner's interest being personal property, this section requires the surviving partner to make settlement with the personal representative of the deceased partner; furthermore, there is placed upon the personal representative of the deceased partner the duty to require that a true accounting be made either by the surviving partner or by a receiver under court supervision. Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N.C. 18, 89 S.E.2d 774 (1955).

Right of Personal Representative to Sue for Accounting. — The right to sue for an accounting of the partnership assets and affairs upon the death of one of the partners vests exclusively in the personal representative of the deceased partner. Ewing v. Caldwell, 243 N.C. 18, 89 S.E.2d 774 (1955).

Compensation of Surviving Partner. — Within the limitation of this section, a surviving partner is entitled to reasonable compensation for his services in settling up the partnership business. Royster v. Johnson, 73 N.C. 474 (1875).

§ 59-83. Accounting compelled.

In case any surviving partner fails to come to a settlement with the executor or administrator of the deceased partner within the time prescribed by law, the clerk of the superior court may, at the instance of such executor, administrator or other person interested in such deceased partnership estate, cite the surviving partners to a final settlement as provided for by law in the case of executors and administrators. (1901, c. 640, s. 8; Rev., s. 2547; C.S., s. 3286.)

§ 59-84. Settlement otherwise provided for.

When the original articles of partnership in force at the death of any partner or the will of a deceased partner make provision for the settlement of the deceased partner's interest in the partnership, and for a disposition thereof different from that provided for in this Chapter, the interest of such deceased partner in the partnership shall be settled and disposed of in accordance with the provisions of such articles of partnership or of such will. (1901, c. 640, s. 6; Rev., s. 2545; C.S., s. 3287.)

Article 3A.

Miscellaneous Provisions.

§ 59-84.1. Partnership to comply with "assumed name" statute; income taxation.

(a) Every partnership other than a limited partnership shall comply with, and be subject to, the provisions of Articles 14 and 15 of Chapter 66 of the General Statutes in all cases in which the same are applicable.

(b) A partnership, including a registered limited liability partnership and a foreign limited liability partnership, and a partner of one of these partnerships are subject to taxation under Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes in accordance with their classification for federal income tax purposes. Accordingly, if any such partnership is classified for federal income tax purposes as a C corporation as defined in G.S. 105-131(b)(2) or an S corporationas defined in G.S. 105-131(b)(8), the partnership and its partners are subject to tax under Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes to the same extent as a C corporation or an S corporation, as the case may be, and its shareholders. If any such partnership is classified for federal income tax purposes as a partnership, the partnership and its partners are subject to tax under Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes accordingly. If any such partnership is classified for federal income tax purposes as other than a corporation or a partnership, the partnership and its partners are subject to tax under Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes in a manner consistent with that classification. This section does not require a partnership, including any registered limited liability partnership or foreign limited liability partnership authorized to transact business in this State, to obtain an administrative ruling from the Internal Revenue Service on its classification under the Internal Revenue Code. (1951, c. 381, s. 9; 1993, c. 354, s. 5; 2001-387, s. 117.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1999-362, s. 6, effective January 1, 2000, and applicable to registered limited liability partnerships existing on or after that date, added an Article 3B to Chapter 59 of the General Statutes. The first two sections of Article 3B are §§ 59-84.2 and 59-84.3, which were previously enacted as part of this Article.

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 154(b) provides that nothing in this act shall supersede the provisions of Article 10 or 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes, and this act does not create an alternate means for an entity governed by Article 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes to convert to a different business form.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-387, s. 117, effective January 1, 2002, added "income taxation" to the end of the section heading; and designated the former undesignated paragraph as subsection (a) and added subsection (b).

Article 3B.

Registered Limited Liability Partnerships.

§ 59-84.2. Registered limited liability partnerships.

(a) A partnership whose internal affairs are governed by the laws of this State, other than a limited partnership, may become a registered limited liability partnership by filing with the Secretary of State an application stating all of the following:

(1) The name of the partnership.

(2) The street address, and the mailing address if different from the street address, of its principal office and the county in which the principal office is located.

(3) The name and street address, and the mailing address if different from the street address, of the partnership's registered agent and registered office for service of process.

(4) The county in this State in which the registered office is located.

(5) Repealed by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 156(b), effective January 1, 2002.

(7) The fiscal year end of the partnership.

(a1) The terms and conditions on which a partnership becomes a limited liability partnership must be approved in the manner provided in the partnership agreement; provided, however, if the partnership agreement does not contain any such provision, the terms and conditions shall be approved (i) in the case of a partnership having a partnership agreement that expressly considers obligations to contribute to the partnership, in the manner necessary to amend those provisions, or (ii) in any other case, in the manner necessary to amend the partnership agreement.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 156(b), effective January 1, 2002.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 156(b), effective January 1, 2002.

(d) Repealed by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 156(b), effective January 1, 2002.

(e) Repealed by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 156(b), effective January 1, 2002.

(f) Repealed by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 156(b), effective January 1, 2002.

(f1) A partnership becomes a registered limited liability partnership when its application for registration becomes effective.

(g) The status of a registered limited liability partnership and the liability of its partners is not affected by errors or later changes in the information required to be contained in the application for registration.

(h) A partnership shall promptly amend its registration to reflect any change in the information contained in its application for registration, other than changes that are properly included in other documents filed with the Secretary of State. A registration is amended by filing a certificate of amendment with the Secretary of State. The certificate of amendment shall set forth:

(1) The name of the partnership as reflected on the application for registration.

(2) The date of filing of the application for registration.

(3) The amendment to the application for registration.

(i) Each registered limited liability partnership must maintain a registered office and registered agent as required by Article 4 of Chapter 55D of the General Statutes and is subject to service on the Secretary of State under that Article.

(j) A partnership may cancel its registration by filing a certificate of cancellation with the Secretary of State. The certificate of cancellation shall set forth:

(1) The name of the partnership as reflected on the application for registration;

(2) The date of filing of the application for registration;

(3) A mailing address to which the Secretary of State may mail a copy of any process served on the Secretary of State under this subsection;

(4) A commitment to file with the Secretary of State a statement of any subsequent change in its mailing address; and

(5) The effective date and time of cancellation if it is not to be effective at the time of filing the certificate.

Cancellation of registration terminates the authority of the partnership's registered agent to accept service of process, notice, or demand, and appoints the Secretary of State as agent to accept service on behalf of the partnership with respect to any action or proceeding based upon any cause of action arising in this State, or arising out of business transacted in this State, during the time the partnership was registered as a registered limited liability partnership. Service on the Secretary of State of any such process, notice, or demand shall be made by delivering to and leaving with the Secretary of State, or with any clerk authorized by the Secretary of State to accept service of process, duplicate copies of such process, notice, or demand and the fee required by G.S. 59-35.2. Upon receipt of process, notice, or demand in the manner provided in this section, the Secretary of State shall immediately mail a copy of the process, notice, or demand by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, to the partnership at the mailing address designated pursuant to this subsection. (1993, c. 354, s. 5; 1999-362, ss. 6, 7; 2000-140, ss. 53, 101(p); 2001-358, s. 51(a); 2001-387, ss. 118, 156, 173, 175(a); 2001-413, s. 6.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1999-362, s. 6, effective January 1, 2000, and applicable to registered limited liability partnerships existing on or after that date, added the Article 3B heading. The first two sections of Article 3B are §§ 59-84.2 and 59-84.3, which had been part of Article 3A.

Session Laws 2001-358, s. 53, provided that the act, which amended this section, was effective October 1, 2001, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date. Section 173 of Session Laws 2001-387 changed the effective date of Session Laws 2001-358 from October 1, 2001, to January 1, 2002. Section 6 of Session Laws 2001-413, effective September 14, 2001, added a sentence to s. 175(a) of Session Laws 2001-387, making s. 173 of that act effective when it became law (August 26, 2001). As a result of these changes, the amendment by Session Laws 2001-358 is effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date.

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 118 had amended this section. However, s. 156(a) of c. 387 repealed s. 118, contingent upon the enactment of Session Laws 2001-358. Session Laws 2001-358 was enacted August 10, 2001.

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 154(b), provides that nothing in this act shall supersede the provisions of Article 10 or 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes, and this act does not create an alternate means for an entity governed by Article 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes to convert to a different business form.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 1999-362, s. 7, effective January 1, 2000, and applicable to registered limited liability partnerships existing on or after that date, rewrote the section.

Session Laws 2000-140, ss. 53 and 101(p), effective July 21, 2000, rewrote subsection (h) and added subsection (i).

Session Laws 2001-358, s. 51(a), effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date, rewrote subsection (i).

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 156(b), effective January 1, 2002, rewrote the section.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1999-362, s. 6, effective January 1, 2000, and applicable to registered limited partnerships existing on or after that date, added an Article 3B to Chapter 59 of the General Statutes and included this section, which was previously enacted, as part of this Article.

Session Laws 2001-358, s. 53, provided that the act, which amended this section, was effective October 1, 2001, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date. Section 173 of Session Laws 2001-387 changed the effective date of Session Laws 2001-358 from October 1, 2001, to January 1, 2002. Section 6 of Session Laws 2001-413, effective September 14, 2001, added a sentence to s. 175(a) of Session Laws 2001-387, making s. 173 of that act effective when it became law (August 26, 2001). As a result of these changes, the amendment by Session Laws 2001-358 is effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 1999-362, s. 8, effective January 1, 2000, and applicable to registered limited liability partnerships existing on or after that date, inserted "'limited liability partnership' or" and "'L.L.P.', 'R.L.L.P.', 'LLP' or 'RLLP'."

Session Laws 2001-358, s. 39, effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date, substituted "meet the requirements of G.S. 55D-20 and G.S. 55D-21" for "contain the words 'registered limited liability partnership' or 'limited liability partnership' or the abbreviation 'L.L.P.', 'R.L.L.P.', 'LLP' or 'RLLP' as the last words or letters of its name."

§ 59-84.4. Annual report for Secretary of State.

(a) Each registered limited liability partnership and each foreign limited liability partnership authorized to transact business in this State shall deliver to the Secretary of State for filing an annual report, in a form prescribed by the Secretary of State, that sets forth all of the following:

(1) The name of the registered limited liability partnership or foreign limited liability partnership and the state or country under whose law it is formed.

(2) The street address, and the mailing address if different from the street address, of the registered office, the county in which the registered office is located, and the name of its registered agent at that office in this State, and a statement of any change of the registered office or registered agent, or both.

(3) The street address and telephone number of its principal office.

(4) A brief description of the nature of its business.

(5) The fiscal year end of the partnership.

If the information contained in the most recently filed annual report has not changed, a certification to that effect may be made instead of setting forth the information required by subdivisions (2) through (4) of this subsection. The Secretary of State shall make available the form required to file an annual report.

(b) Information in the annual report must be current as of the date the annual report is executed on behalf of the registered limited liability partnership or the foreign limited liability partnership.

(c) The annual report shall be delivered to the Secretary of State by the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the registered or foreign limited liability partnership's fiscal year.

(d) If an annual report does not contain the information required by this section, the Secretary of State shall promptly notify the reporting registered or foreign limited liability partnership in writing and return the report to it for correction. If the report is corrected to contain the information required by this section and delivered to the Secretary of State within 30 days after the effective date of notice, it is deemed to be timely filed.

(e) Amendments to any previously filed annual report may be filed with the Secretary of State at any time for the purpose of correcting, updating, or augmenting the information contained in the annual report.

(f) The Secretary of State may revoke the registration of a registered limited liability partnership or foreign limited liability partnership if the Secretary of State determines that:

(1) The registered limited liability partnership or foreign limited liability partnership has not paid, within 60 days after they are due, any penalties, fees, or other payments due under this Chapter;

(2) The registered limited liability partnership or foreign limited liability partnership does not deliver its annual report to the Secretary of State on or before the date it is due;

(3) The registered limited liability partnership or foreign limited liability partnership has been without a registered agent or registered office in this State for 60 days or more; or

(4) The registered limited liability partnership or foreign limited liability partnership does not notify the Secretary of State within 60 days of the change, resignation, or discontinuance that its registered agent or registered office has been changed, that its registered agent has resigned, or that its registered office has been discontinued.

(g) If the Secretary of State determines that one or more grounds exist under subsection (f) of this section for revoking the registration of the registered limited liability partnership or foreign limited liability partnership, the Secretary of State shall mail the registered limited liability partnership or foreign limited liability partnership written notice of that determination. If, within 60 days after the notice is mailed, the registered limited liability partnership or foreign limited liability partnership does not correct each ground for revocation or demonstrate to the reasonable satisfaction of the Secretary of State that each ground does not exist, the Secretary of State shall revoke the registration of a registered limited liability partnership or foreign limited liability partnership by signing a certificate of revocation that recites the ground or grounds for revocation and its effective date. The Secretary of State shall file the original certificate of revocation and mail a copy to the registered limited liability partnership or foreign limited liability partnership.

(h) A registered limited liability partnership or foreign limited liability partnership whose registration is revoked under this section may apply to the Secretary of State for reinstatement. If, at the time the registered limited liability partnership applies for reinstatement, the name of the registered limited liability partnership is not distinguishable from the name of another entity authorized to be used under G.S. 55D-21, then the registered limited liability partnership must change its name to a name that is distinguishable upon the records of the Secretary of State from the name of the other entity before the Secretary of State may prepare a certificate of reinstatement. The procedures for reinstatement and for the appeal of any denial of the registered limited liability partnership or foreign limited liability partnership's application for reinstatement shall be the same procedures applicable to business corporations under G.S. 55-14-22, 55-14-23, and 55-14-24. The effect of reinstatement of a limited liability partnership shall be the same as for a corporation under G.S. 55-14-22. (1999-362, s. 9; 2001-387, s. 119; 2001-390, s. 13.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1999-362, s. 38, made this section effective January 1, 2000, and applicable to registered limited liability partnerships and foreign limited liability partnerships whose fiscal year ends on or after that date.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-390, s. 13, effective August 26, 2001, and applicable retroactively to applications for reinstatement made on or after December 1, 1999, in subsection (h), substituted "reinstatement" for "reinstatement not later than five years after the effective date of the revocation" at the end of the first sentence, and added the second and fourth sentences.

Session Laws 2001-387, effective January 1, 2002, deleted the former last sentence of subsection (c), which read: "The annual report must be accompanied by a fee of two hundred dollars ($200.00)."

Foreign Limited Liability Partnerships.

§ 59-90. Law governing foreign limited liability partnership.

(a) The law of the state or jurisdiction under which a foreign limited liability partnership is formed governs relations among the partners and between the partners and the partnership and the liability of partners for obligations of the partnership.

(b) A foreign limited liability partnership may not be denied a statement of foreign registration by reason of any difference between the law under which the partnership was formed and the law of this State.

(c) A statement of foreign registration does not authorize a foreign limited liability partnership to engage in any business or exercise any power that a partnership may not engage in or exercise in this State as a registered limited liability partnership. (1999-362, s. 10.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1999-362, s. 38, made this article effective January 1, 2000, and applicable to foreign limited liability partnerships transacting business in this State on or after that date, except that any foreign limited liability partnership that, as of that effective date, was already registered with the Secretary of State as a registered limited liability partnership shall not be required to register anew as a foreign limited liability partnership under G.S. 59-91.

§ 59-91. Statement of foreign registration.

(a) Before transacting business in this State, a foreign limited liability partnership must file an application for registration as a foreign limited liability partnership. The application must contain:

(1) The name of the foreign limited liability partnership that satisfies the requirements of the state or other jurisdiction under whose law it is formed and meets the requirements of Article 3 of Chapter 55D of the General Statutes.

(2) The street address, and the mailing address if different from the street address, of the partnership's principal office, and the county in which the principal office is located.

(3) The name and street address, and the mailing address if different from the street address, for the partnership's registered agent and registered office for service of process, and the county in which the registered office is located.

(4), (5) Repealed by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 157(b), effective January 1, 2002.

(6) The fiscal year end of the partnership.

The foreign limited liability partnership shall deliver with the completed application a certificate of existence, or a document with similar import, duly authenticated by the Secretary of State or other official having custody of the records of registered limited liability partnerships in the state or country under whose law it is registered.

(b) Each foreign limited liability partnership maintaining a statement of foreign registration in this State must maintain a registered office and registered agent as required by Article 4 of Chapter 55D of the General Statutes and is subject to service on the Secretary of State under that Article.

(c) through (g) Repealed by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 157(b), effective January 1, 2002.

(h) A foreign limited liability partnership authorized to transact business in this State shall be subject to the provisions of G.S. 59-84.4 regarding annual reports and revocation of registration.

(i) A foreign limited liability partnership becomes registered as a foreign limited liability partnership when its application for registration becomes effective.

(j) A foreign limited liability partnership shall promptly amend its registration to reflect any change in the information contained in its application for registration, other than changes that are properly included in other documents filed with the Secretary of State. A registration is amended by filing a certificate of amendment with the Secretary of State. The certificate of amendment shall set forth:

(1) The name of the foreign limited liability partnership under which it is registered in this State;

(2) The date of filing of the application for registration; and

(3) The amendment to the application for registration.

(k) A foreign limited liability partnership may cancel its registration by filing a certificate of cancellation with the Secretary of State. The certificate of cancellation shall set forth:

(1) The name of the foreign limited liability partnership under which it is registered in this State;

(2) The date of filing of the application for registration;

(3) A mailing address to which the Secretary of State may mail a copy of any process served on the Secretary of State under this subsection;

(4) A commitment to file with the Secretary of State a statement of any subsequent change in its mailing address; and

(5) The effective date and time of cancellation if it is not to be effective at the time of filing the certificate.

Cancellation of registration terminates the authority of the foreign limited liability partnership's registered agent to accept service of process, notice, or demand and appoints the Secretary of State as agent to accept such service on behalf of the foreign limited liability partnership with respect to any action or proceeding based upon any cause of action arising in this State, or arising out of business transacted in this State, during the time the foreign limited liability partnership was registered in this State. Service on the Secretary of State of any such process, notice, or demand shall be made by delivering to and leaving with the Secretary of State, or with any clerk authorized by the Secretary of State to accept service of process, duplicate copies of such process, notice, or demand and the fee required by G.S. 59-35.2. Upon receipt of process, notice, or demand in the manner herein provided, the Secretary of State shall immediately mail a copy of the process, notice, or demand by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, to the foreign limited liability partnership at the mailing address designated pursuant to this subsection.

(l) Whenever a foreign limited liability partnership authorized to transact business in this State ceases its separate existence as a result of a statutory merger or consolidation permitted by the laws of the state or country under which it was organized, or converts into another type of entity as permitted by those laws, the surviving or resulting entity shall apply for a certificate of withdrawal for the foreign limited liability partnership by delivering to the Secretary of State for filing a copy of the articles of merger, consolidation, or conversion or a certificate reciting the facts of the merger, consolidation, or conversion, duly authenticated by the Secretary of State or other official having custody of limited liability partnership records in the state or country under the laws of which the foreign limited liability partnership was organized. If the surviving or resulting entity is not authorized to transact business or conduct affairs in this State, the articles or certificate must be accompanied by an application which must set forth:

(1) The name of the foreign liability limited partnership [sic] authorized to transact business in this State, the type of entity and name of the surviving or resulting entity, and a statement that the surviving or resulting entity is not authorized to transact business or conduct affairs in this State;

(2) A statement that the surviving or resulting entity consents that service of process based on any cause of action arising in this State, or arising out of business transacted in this State, during the time the foreign limited liability partnership was authorized to transact business in this State, may thereafter be made by service thereof on the Secretary of State;

(3) A mailing address to which the Secretary of State may mail a copy of any process served upon the Secretary under subdivision (2) of this subsection; and

(4) A commitment to file with the Secretary of State a statement of any subsequent change in its mailing address.

(m) If the Secretary of State finds that the articles or certificate and the application for withdrawal, if required, conform to law, the Secretary of State shall:

(1) Endorse on the articles or certificate and the application for withdrawal, if required, the word "filed" and the hour, day, month, and year of filing thereof;

(2) File the articles or certificate and the application, if required;

(3) Issue a certificate of withdrawal; and

(4) Send to the surviving or resulting entity or its representative the certificate of withdrawal, together with a copy of the application, if required, affixed thereto.

(n) After the withdrawal of the foreign limited liability partnership is effective, service of process on the Secretary of State in accordance with subsection (l) of this section shall be made by delivering to and leaving with the Secretary of State, or with any clerk authorized by the Secretary of State to accept service of process, duplicate copies of such process and the fee required by G.S. 59-35.2. Upon receipt of process in the manner herein provided, the Secretary of State shall immediately mail a copy of the process by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, to the surviving or resulting entity at the mailing address designated pursuant to subsection (l) of this section. (1999-362, s. 10; 2000-140, s. 54; 2001-358, ss. 40, 51(b); 2001-387, ss. 120, 157, 173, 175(a); 2001-413, s. 6.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1999-362, s. 38, provided that any foreign limited liability partnership that, as of the effective date of section 10 of this act [January 1, 2000], was already registered with the Secretary of State as a registered limited liability partnership shall not be required to register anew as a foreign limited liability partnership under G.S. 59-91.

Session Laws 2001-358, s. 53, provided that the act, which amended this section, was effective October 1, 2001, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date. Section 173 of Session Laws 2001-387 changed the effective date of Session Laws 2001-358 from October 1, 2001, to January 1, 2002. Section 6 of Session Laws 2001-413, effective September 14, 2001, added a sentence to s. 175(a) of Session Laws 2001-387, making s. 173 of that act effective when it became law (August 26, 2001). As a result of these changes, the amendment by Session Laws 2001-358 is effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date.

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 154(b), provides that nothing in this act shall supersede the provisions of Article 10 or 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes, and this act does not create an alternate means for an entity governed by Article 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes to convert to a different business form.

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 120, had amended this section. However, s. 157(a) of c. 387 repealed s. 120, contingent upon the enactment of Session Laws 2001-358. Session Laws 2001-358 was enacted on August 10, 2001.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2000-140, s. 54, effective July 21, 2000, rewrote subsection (f).

Session Laws 2001-358, ss. 40 and 51(b), effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date, substituted "state or other jurisdiction under whose law it is formed and meets the requirements of Article 3 of Chapter 55D of the General Statutes" for "State or other jurisdiction under whose law it is formed and ends with the words 'registered limited liability partnership' or 'limited liability partnership' or the abbreviation 'R.L.L.P.,' 'L.L.P.,' 'RLLP' or 'LLP'" in subdivision (a)(1), and rewrote subsection (b).

§ 59-92. Effect of failure to register.

(a) A foreign limited liability partnership transacting business in this State may not maintain an action or proceeding in this State unless it has in effect a registration as a foreign limited liability partnership.

(b) The failure of a foreign limited liability partnership to have in effect a registration as a foreign limited liability partnership does not impair the validity of a contract or act of the foreign limited liability partnership or preclude it from defending an action or proceeding in this State.

(c) A limitation on personal liability of a partner is not waived solely by transacting business in this State without a registration as a foreign limited liability partnership.

(d) A foreign limited liability partnership failing to register as a foreign limited liability partnership as required by this Article shall be liable to the State for the years or parts thereof during which it transacted business in this State without having registered in an amount equal to all fees and taxes which would have been imposed by law upon the foreign limited liability partnership had it duly applied for and received such permission, plus interest and all penalties imposed by law for failure to pay such fees and taxes. In addition, the foreign limited liability partnership shall be liable for a civil penalty of ten dollars ($10.00) for each day, but not to exceed a total of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each year or part thereof, it transacts business in this State without having registered. The Attorney General may bring actions to recover all amounts due the State under the provisions of this subsection. (1999-362, s. 10.)

§ 59-93. Activities not constituting transacting business.

(a) Without excluding other activities that may not constitute transacting business in this State, a foreign limited liability partnership shall not be considered to be transacting business in this State for the purposes of this Article by reason of carrying on in this State any one or more of the following activities:

(1) Maintaining or defending any action or suit or any administrative or arbitration proceeding or effecting the settlement thereof or the settlement of claims or disputes;
(2) Holding meetings of its partners or carrying on other activities concerning its internal affairs;
(3) Maintaining bank accounts or borrowing money in this State, with or without security, even if such borrowings are repeated and continuous transactions;
(4) Maintaining offices or agencies for the transfer, exchange, and registration of the partnership's own securities, or appointing and maintaining trustees or depositories with relation to those securities;
(5) Soliciting or procuring orders, whether by mail or through employees or agents or otherwise, where the orders require acceptance without this State before becoming binding contracts;
(6) Making or investing in loans with or without security including servicing of mortgages or deeds of trust through independent agencies within the State, the conducting of foreclosure proceedings and sales, the acquiring of property at foreclosure sale, and the management and rental of such property for a reasonable time while liquidating its investment, provided no office or agency therefor is maintained in this State;
(7) Taking security for or collecting debts due to it or enforcing any rights in property securing the same;
(8) Transacting business in interstate commerce;
(9) Conducting an isolated transaction completed within a period of six months and not in the course of a number of repeated transactions of like nature;
(10) Selling through independent contractors; and
(11) Owning, without more, real or personal property.

(b) This section does not apply in determining the contacts or activities that may subject a foreign limited liability partnership to service of process, taxation, or regulation under any other law of this State. (1999-362, s. 10.)

§ 59-94. Action by Attorney General.

The Attorney General may maintain an action to restrain a foreign limited liability partnership from transacting business in this State in violation of this Article. (1999-362, s. 10.)

CASE NOTES

When Partner May Maintain Action Against Copartner. — As a general rule, one partner cannot sue another partner at law until there has been a complete settlement of the partnership affairs and a balance struck. However, a partner may maintain an action at law against his copartner upon claims growing out of the following state of facts: (1) where the partnership is terminated, all debts paid, and the partnership affairs otherwise adjusted with nothing remaining to be done but to pay over the amounts due by one to the other, such amount involving no complicated reckoning; (2) where the partnership is for a single venture or special purpose which has been accomplished, and nothing remains to be done except to pay over the claimant's share; (3) when the joint property has been wrongfully destroyed or converted. Roper v. Thomas, 60 N.C. App. 64, 298 S.E.2d 424 (1982), cert. denied, 308 N.C. 191, 302 S.E.2d 244 (1983), decided under former Article 1 of this Chapter.

(c) Unless otherwise provided in the partnership agreement, a general partner of a limited partnership has the power and authority to delegate to one or more other persons the general partner's rights and powers to manage and control the business and affairs of the limited partnership, including to delegate to agents, officers, and employees of the general partner or the limited partnership, and to delegate by a management agreement or another agreement with, or otherwise to, other persons. Unless otherwise provided in the partnership agreement, a delegation by a general partner of a limited partnership shall not cause the general partner to cease to be a general partner of the limited partnership and shall not reduce or absolve the general partner of the general partner's duties or obligations to the limited partnership or its other partners. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1987, c. 531, s. 6; 2001-387, ss. 132, 133.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-387, s. 154(b), provides that nothing in this act shall supersede the provisions of Article 10 or 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes, and this act does not create an alternate means for an entity governed by Article 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes to convert to a different business form.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-387, ss. 132, 133, effective January 1, 2002, rewrote subsection (b); and added subsection (c).

§ 59-404. Contributions by a general partner.

A general partner of a limited partnership may make contributions to the partnership and share in the profits and losses of, and in distributions from, the limited partnership as a general partner. A general partner also may make contributions to and share in profits, losses, and distributions as a limited partner. A person who is both a general partner and a limited partner has the rights and powers, and is subject to the restrictions and liabilities, of a general partner and, except as provided in the partnership agreement, also has the powers, and is subject to the restrictions, of a limited partner to the extent of his participation in the partnership as a limited partner. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2.)

§ 59-405. Voting.

The partnership agreement may grant to all or certain identified general partners the right to vote (on a per capita or any other basis), separately or with all or any class of the limited partners, on any matter. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2.)

§§ 59-406 through 59-500: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Part 5. Finance.

§ 59-501. Form of contribution.

The contribution of a partner may be in cash, property, or services rendered, or a promissory note or other obligation to contribute cash or property or to perform services. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2.)

Legal Periodicals. — For article, "The Creation of North Carolina's Limited Liability Corporation Act," see 32 Wake Forest L. Rev. 179 (1997).

§ 59-502. Liability for contributions.

(a) Except as provided in the partnership agreement, a partner is obligated to the limited partnership to perform any enforceable promise to contribute cash or property or to perform services, even if the partner is unable to perform because of death, disability or any other reason. If a partner does not make the required contribution of property or services, the partner is obligated at the option of the limited partnership to contribute cash equal to that portion of the agreed value of the stated contribution that has not been made. As used in this section, the term "agreed value" means an amount or other measure of value as (i) is provided in the partnership agreement, or (ii) if not provided in the partnership agreement, is required to be set forth in the written records required pursuant to G.S. 59-106.

(b) Unless otherwise provided in the partnership agreement, the obligation of a partner to make a contribution or return money or other property paid or distributed in violation of this Article may be compromised only by consent of all the partners. Any such compromise, however, shall not affect the rights of a creditor whose claim arose prior to the date of the compromise.

(c) No promise by a limited partner to contribute to the limited partnership is enforceable unless in a writing signed by the limited partner. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1999-362, s. 23.)

§ 59-503. Sharing income, gain, loss, deduction or credit.

Income, gain, loss, deduction or credit of a limited partnership shall be allocated among the partners, and among classes of partners, in the manner provided in the partnership agreement. To the extent the partnership agreement does not provide for the allocation of items of income, gain, loss, deduction, or credit, then those items shall be allocated on the basis of the agreed value of the contributions made by each partner to the extent they have been received by the partnership and have not been returned. As used in this section, the term "agreed value" means an amount or other measure of value as (i) is provided in the partnership agreement, or (ii) if not provided in the partnership agreement, is required to be set forth in the written records required pursuant to G.S. 59-106. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1999-362, s. 24.)

§ 59-504. Sharing of distributions.

Distributions of cash or other assets of a limited partnership shall be made among the partners, and among classes of partners, in the manner provided in the partnership agreement. To the extent the partnership agreement does not provide for the sharing of distributions among the partners, distributions shall be made among the partners on the basis of the agreed value of the contributions made by each partner to the extent they have been received by the partnership and have not been returned. As used in this section, the term "agreed value" means an amount or other measure of value as (i) is provided in the partnership agreement, or (ii) if not provided in the partnership agreement, is required to be set forth in the written records required pursuant to G.S. 59-106. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1999-362, s. 25.)

§§ 59-505 through 59-600: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Part 6. Distribution and Withdrawal.

§ 59-601. Interim distributions.

Except as provided in this Article, a partner is entitled to receive distributions from a limited partnership before his withdrawal from the limited partnership and before the dissolution and winding up thereof to the extent and at the times or upon the happening of the events specified in the partnership agreement. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2.)

Legal Periodicals. — For article, "The Creation of North Carolina's Limited Liability Corporation Act," see 32 Wake Forest L. Rev. 179 (1997).

§ 59-602. Withdrawal of general partner.

After filing of the original certificate of limited partnership, a general partner may withdraw from a limited partnership at any time by giving written notice to the other partners, but if the withdrawal violates the partnership agreement, the limited partnership may recover from the withdrawing general partner, in addition to its other remedies, any damages for breach of the partnership agreement and may offset the damages against the amount otherwise distributable or payable to the partner. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1999-362, s. 26.)

§ 59-603. Withdrawal of limited partner.

A limited partner may withdraw from a limited partnership only at the time or upon the happening of events specified in writing in and in accordance with the partnership agreement, including any amendment or addendum to the partnership agreement agreed upon by the partners unanimously or in accordance with the terms of the agreement and made in connection with any permitted withdrawal. If the partnership agreement does not specify in writing the time or the events upon the happening of which a limited partner may withdraw, a limited partner may not withdraw prior to the time for the dissolution and winding up of the limited partnership. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1999-362, s. 27.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1999-362, s. 27, which rewrote this section, was effective October 1, 1999, and applicable to (i) any limited partnership formed before that date, only if validly adopted in writing by its partners or otherwise as a part of its partnership agreement, and (ii) all limited partnerships formed on or after that date.

§ 59-604. Distribution upon withdrawal.

Except as provided in this Article, upon withdrawal any withdrawing partner is entitled to receive any distribution to which the partner is entitled under the partnership agreement and, if not otherwise provided in the agreement, the partner is entitled to receive, within a reasonable time after withdrawal, the fair value of the partner's partnership interest in the limited partnership as of the date of withdrawal, based upon the partner's right to share in distributions from the limited partnership. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1999-362, s. 28.)

§ 59-605. Distribution in kind.

Except as provided in writing in the limited partnership agreement, (1) a partner, regardless of the nature of his contribution, has no right to demand and receive any distribution from a limited partnership in any form other than cash; and (2) a partner may not be compelled to accept a distribution of any asset in kind from a limited partnership to the extent that the percentage of the asset distributed to him exceeds a percentage of that asset which is equal to the percentage in which he shares in distributions from the limited partnership. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2.)

§ 59-606. Right to distribution.

Subject to the other provisions of Part 6 of this Article, at the time a partner becomes entitled to receive a distribution, the partner has the status of, and is entitled to all remedies available to, a creditor of the limited partnership with respect to the distribution. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1999-362, s. 29.)

§ 59-607. Limitations on distribution.

A partner shall not receive a distribution from a limited partnership to the extent that, after giving effect to the distribution, all liabilities of the limited partnership, other than liabilities to partners on account of their partnership interests, exceed the fair value of the partnership assets. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2.)

§ 59-608. Liability upon return of contribution.

(a) If a partner has received the return of any part of his contribution without violation of the partnership agreement or this Article, he is liable to the limited partnership for a period of one year thereafter for the amount of the returned contribution, but only to the extent necessary to discharge the limited partnership's liabilities to creditors who extended credit to the limited partnership during the period the contribution was held by the partnership.

(b) If a partner has received the return of any part of his contribution in violation of the partnership agreement or this Article, he is liable to the limited partnership for a period of six years thereafter for the amount of the contribution wrongfully returned.

(c) A partner receives a return of the partner's contribution to the extent that a distribution to the partner reduces the partner's share of the fair value of the net assets of the limited partnership below the agreed value of the partner's contribution which has not been distributed to the partner. As used in this section, the term "agreed value" means an amount or other measure of value as (i) is provided in the partnership agreement, or (ii) if not provided in the partnership agreement, is required to be set forth in the written records required pursuant to G.S. 59-106. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1999-362, s. 30.)

§§ 59-609 through 59-700: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Part 7. Assignment of Partnership Interest.

§ 59-701. Nature of partnership interest.

A partnership interest is personal property. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2.)

Legal Periodicals. — For article, "The Creation of North Carolina's Limited Liability Corporation Act," see 32 Wake Forest L. Rev. 179 (1997).

§ 59-702. Assignment of partnership interest.

Except as provided in the partnership agreement, a partnership interest is assignable in whole or in part. Subject to G.S. 59-801(3) an assignment of a partnership interest does not dissolve a limited partnership or entitle the assignee to become or to exercise any rights of a partner. An assignment entitles the assignee to receive, to the extent assigned, only the allocation and distribution to which the assignor would be entitled. Except as provided in the partnership agreement, a partner ceases to be a partner and to have the power to exercise any rights and powers of a partner upon assignment of all of the partner's partnership interest. Except as provided in the partnership agreement, neither the pledge or granting of a security interest in any or all of the partnership interest of a partner nor the pledge or granting of a lien or other encumbrance against any or all of the partnership interest of a partner shall cause the partner to cease to be a partner or cease to have the power to exercise any rights or powers of a partner. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1987, c. 531, s. 7; 1999-362, s. 31.)

§ 59-703. Rights of creditor.

On application to a court of competent jurisdiction by any judgment creditor of a partner, the court may charge the partnership interest of the partner with payment of the unsatisfied amount of the judgment with interest. The general partners shall have no liability to a partner for payments to a judgment creditor pursuant to this provision. To the extent so charged, the judgment creditor has only the rights of an assignee of the partnership interest. This Article does not deprive any partner of the benefit of any exemption laws applicable to his partnership interest. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2.)

§ 59-704. Right of assignee to become limited partner.

(a) An assignee of a partnership interest, including an assignee of a general partner, may become a limited partner if and to the extent that (1) the assignor gives the assignee that right in accordance with authority described in the partnership agreement, or (2) all other partners consent.

(b) An assignee who has become a limited partner has, to the extent assigned, the rights and powers, and is subject to the restrictions and liabilities, of a limited partner under the partnership agreement and this Article. An assignee who becomes a limited partner also is liable for the obligations of the assignee's assignor to make and return contributions as provided in Parts 5 and 6 of this Article. However, the assignee is not obligated for liabilities that (i) are unknown to the assignee at the time the assignee became a limited partner and (ii) could not be ascertained from the written provisions of the partnership agreement.

(c) If an assignee of a partnership interest becomes a limited partner, the assignor is not released from his liability to the limited partnership under G.S. 59-207, 59-502, and 59-608. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1999-362, s. 32.)

§ 59-705. Power of estate of deceased or incompetent partner.

If a partner who is an individual dies or a court of competent jurisdiction adjudges him to be incompetent to manage his person or his property, the partner's executor, administrator, guardian, conservator, or other legal representative may exercise all of the partner's rights for the purpose of settling his estate or administering his property, including any power the partner had to give an assignee the right to become a limited partner. If a partner is a corporation, trust, or other entity and is dissolved or terminated, the powers of that partner may be exercised by its legal representative or successor. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2.)

§§ 59-706 through 59-800: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Part 8. Dissolution.

§ 59-801. Nonjudicial dissolution.

(a) A limited partnership is dissolved and its affairs shall be wound up upon the happening of the first to occur of the following:

(1) At the time specified in the certificate of limited partnership or upon the happening of events specified in writing in the partnership agreement;

(2) Written consent of all partners;

(3) An event of withdrawal of a general partner unless:

a. At the time there is at least one other general partner, in which case, unless otherwise provided in a written partnership agreement or agreed upon by all remaining partners, (i) the limited partnership is not dissolved, (ii) the limited partnership shall not be wound up, and (iii) the business of the limited partnership shall be continued by the remaining general partners; or

b. Within 90 days after the withdrawal, all remaining partners, or a lesser number or portion of the partners provided in the partnership agreement, agree in writing to continue the business of the limited partnership and to the appointment of one or more additional general partners if necessary or desired, in which case the limited partnership is not dissolved and is not required to be wound up by reason of the event of withdrawal;

(3a) Ninety days after the withdrawal of the limited partnership's last limited partner, unless the limited partnership admits at least one limited partner before the end of the 90 days; or

(4) Entry of a decree of judicial dissolution under G.S. 59-802.

(b) The causes of dissolution of a limited partnership shall be governed solely by this Article. Article 2 of this Chapter, which governs the causes of dissolution of a partnership without limited partners, does not apply and shall not govern the causes of dissolution of a limited partnership. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1999-362, s. 33.)

§ 59-802. Judicial dissolution.

On application by or for a partner the court may decree dissolution of a limited partnership whenever it is not reasonably practicable to carry on the business in conformity with the partnership agreement. The limited partnership's name becomes available for use by another entity as provided in 55D-21. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 2001-358, s. 36; 2001-387, ss. 173, 175(a); 2001-413, s. 6.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-358, s. 53, provided that the act, which amended this section, was effective October 1, 2001, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date. Section 173 of Session Laws 2001-387 changed the effective date of Session Laws 2001-358 from October 1, 2001, to January 1, 2002. Section 6 of Session Laws 2001-413, effective September 14, 2001, added a sentence to s. 175(a) of Session Laws 2001-387, making s. 173 of that act effective when it became law (August 26, 2001). As a result of these changes, the amendment by Session Laws 2001-358 is effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-358, s. 36, effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date, added the final sentence.

§ 59-803. Winding up.

Except as provided in the partnership agreement, the general partners who have not wrongfully dissolved a limited partnership or, if none, the limited partners, may wind up the limited partnership's affairs; but the court may wind up the limited partnership's affairs upon application of any partner, his legal representative, or assignee. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2.)

§ 59-804. Distribution of assets.

Upon the winding up of a limited partnership, the assets shall be distributed as follows:

(1) To creditors, including limited partners who are creditors, to the extent otherwise permitted by law, in satisfaction of liabilities of the limited partnership other than liabilities for distributions to partners under G.S. 59-601 or G.S. 59-604;

(2) To general partners who are creditors to the extent otherwise permitted by law, in satisfaction of liabilities of the limited partnership other than liabilities for distributions to partners under G.S. 59-601 or G.S. 59-604;

(3) Except as provided in the partnership agreement, to partners and former partners in satisfaction of liabilities for distributions under G.S. 59-601 or G.S. 59-604; and

(4) Except as provided in the partnership agreement, to partners first for the return of their contributions and secondly respecting their partnership interests, in the proportions in which the partners share in distributions. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2.)

§§ 59-805 through 59-900: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Part 9. Foreign Limited Partnerships.

§ 59-901. Law governing.

Subject to the Constitution of this State, (i) the laws of the jurisdiction under which a foreign limited partnership is organized govern its organization and internal affairs and the liability of its partners, and (ii) a foreign limited partnership may not be denied registration by reason of any difference between those laws and the laws of this State. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1999-362, s. 34.)

§ 59-902. Registration.

(a) Before transacting business in this State, a foreign limited partnership shall procure a certificate of authority to transact business in this State from the Secretary of State. No foreign limited partnership shall be entitled to transact in this State any business which a limited partnership organized under this Article is not permitted to transact. In order to register, a foreign limited partnership shall deliver to the Secretary of State an application for registration as a foreign limited partnership, signed by a general partner and setting forth:

(7) A statement that in consideration of the issuance of a certificate of authority to transact business in this State, the foreign limited partnership appoints the Secretary of State of North Carolina as the agent to receive service of process, notice, or demand, whenever the foreign limited partnership fails to appoint or maintain a registered agent in this State or whenever any such registered agent cannot with reasonable diligence be found at the registered office;

(8) The names and addresses including county and city or town, and street and number, if any, of all of the general partners;

(6) Making or investing in loans with or without security including servicing of mortgages or deeds of trust through independent agencies within the State, the conducting of foreclosure proceedings and sale, the acquiring of property at foreclosure sale and the management and rental of such property for a reasonable time while liquidating its investment, provided no office or agency therefor is maintained in this State;

(7) Taking security for or collecting debts due to it or enforcing any rights in property securing the same;

(8) Transacting business in interstate commerce; and

(9) Conducting an isolated transaction completed within a period of six months and not in the course of a number of repeated transactions of like nature.

(c) Each foreign limited partnership authorized to transact business in this State must maintain a registered agent as required by Article 4 of Chapter 55D of the General Statutes and is subject to service on the Secretary of State under that Article.

(d) through (e) Repealed by Session Laws 2001-358, s. 50(b), effective January 1, 2002. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1987, c. 531, s. 8.1; 2000-140, s. 55; 2001-358, s. 50(c); 2001-387, ss. 134, 159, 173, 175(a); 2001-413, s. 6; 2001-487, s. 62(y).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-358, s. 53, provided that the act, which amended this section, was effective October 1, 2001, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date. Section 173 of Session Laws 2001-387 changed the effective date of Session Laws 2001-358 from October 1, 2001, to January 1, 2002. Section 6 of Session Laws 2001-413, effective September 14, 2001, added a sentence to s. 175(a) of Session Laws 2001-387, making s. 173 of that act effective when it became law (August 26, 2001). As a result of these changes, the amendment by Session Laws 2001-358 is effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date.

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 134 had amended this section. However, s. 159(a) of c. 387 repealed s. 134, contingent upon the enactment of Session Laws 2001-358. Session Laws 2001-358 was enacted on August 10, 2001.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2000-140, s. 55, effective July 21, 2000, deleted "in the jurisdiction under the laws of which it is formed" at the end of subdivision (a)(4).

Session Laws 2001-358, s. 50(c), effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date, deleted "the agent must be an individual resident of this State, a domestic corporation, or a foreign corporation having a place of business in, and authorized to do business in this State" at the end of subdivision (a)(5); rewrote subsection (c); and deleted subsections (d) and (e).

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 159(b), effective January 1, 2002, deleted "original and one conformed copy of an" preceding "application for" near the end of the introductory language of subsection (a), rewrote subdivisions (a)(4), (5) and (9); and made minor stylistic changes throughout the section.

Session Laws 2001-487, s. 62(y), effective January 1, 2002, in this section as amended by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 159(b), in subdivision (a)(4), inserted a comma following "The street address" and added "and the county in which the principal office is located" at the end of that subdivision; deleted "and" at the end of subdivision (a)(8); and inserted subdivision (a)(8a).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Assumed Name. — There is no authority for allowing a foreign limited partnership to operate under any more than one assumed name, and the assumed name under which it operates must be the one registered with the Secretary of State. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. Clyde Smith, Deputy Secretary of State, — N.C.A.G. — (June 25, 1987).

§ 59-903. Issuance of registration.

If the Secretary of State finds that an application satisfies the requirements of this Article, the Secretary shall, when all requisite fees have been tendered as in this Article prescribed:

(1) Endorse on the application the word "filed", and the hour, day, month and year of the filing thereof;
(2) File in the office of the Secretary of State the application;
(3) Issue a certificate of authority to transact business in this State to which the Secretary shall affix the conformed copy of the application; and
(4) Send to the foreign limited partnership or its representative the certificate of authority, together with the conformed copy of the application affixed thereto. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1987, c. 531, s. 8; 1997-485, s. 27; 1999-362, s. 35.)

§ 59-904. Name.

The plan of merger may contain other provisions relating to the merger.

(b) In the case of a merging domestic limited partnership, the plan of merger must be approved in the manner provided in a written partnership agreement that is binding on all the partners for approval of a merger with the type of business entity contemplated in the plan of merger, or, if there is no provision, by the unanimous consent of its partners. If any partner of a merging domestic limited partnership has or will have personal liability for any existing or future obligation of the surviving business entity solely as a result of holding an interest in the surviving business entity, then in addition to the requirements of the preceding sentence, approval of the plan of merger by the domestic limited partnership shall require the consent of that partner. In the case of each other merging business entity, the plan of merger must be approved in accordance with the laws of the state or country governing the organization and internal affairs of the merging business entity.

(c) After a plan of merger has been approved by a domestic limited partnership, but before the articles of merger become effective, the plan of merger (i) may be amended as provided in the plan of merger, or (ii) may be abandoned (subject to any contractual rights) as provided in the plan of merger or a written partnership agreement that is binding on all the partners or, if there is no such provision, as determined by the unanimous consent of the partners. (1999-369, s. 4.8; 2001-387, ss. 143, 145.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-387, ss. 143, 145, effective January 1, 2002, recodified former § 59-1055 as this section, and inserted the second sentence in subsection (b).

§ 59-1072. Articles of merger.

(a) After a plan of merger has been approved by each merging domestic limited partnership and each other merging business entity as provided in G.S.

59-1071, the surviving business entity shall deliver articles of merger to the Secretary of State for filing. The articles of merger shall set forth:

(1) The plan of merger;

(2) For each merging business entity, its name, type of business entity, and the state or country whose laws govern its organization and internal affairs;

(3) The name of the surviving business entity and, if the surviving business entity is not authorized to transact business or conduct affairs in this State, a designation of its mailing address and a commitment to file with the Secretary of State a statement of any subsequent change in its mailing address;

(4) A statement that the plan of merger has been approved by each merging business entity in the manner required by law; and

(5) The effective date and time of the merger if it is not to be effective at the time of filing of the articles of merger.

If the plan of merger is amended or abandoned after the articles of merger have been filed but before the articles of merger become effective, the surviving business entity promptly shall deliver to the Secretary of State for filing prior to the time the articles of merger become effective an amendment to the articles of merger reflecting the amendment or abandonment of the plan of merger.

(b) A merger takes effect when the articles of merger become effective.

(c) Certificates of merger shall also be registered as provided in G.S. 47-18.1.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-387, ss. 143, 146, effective January 1, 2002, recodified former § 59-1056 as this section; and in subsection (a), substituted "G.S. 59-1071" for "G.S. 59-1055" in the introductory language, rewrote subdivision (a)(3), and inserted "after the articles of merger have been filed but" in the final paragraph.

Session Laws 2001-487, s. 62(cc), effective January 1, 2002, in subsection (a) as amended by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 146, inserted "prior to the time the articles of merger become effective" in the second paragraph of subdivision (a)(5).

§ 59-1073. Effects of merger.

(a) When the merger takes effect:

(1) Each other merging business entity merges into the surviving business entity, and the separate existence of each merging business entity except the surviving business entity ceases;

(2) The title to all real estate and other property owned by each merging business entity is vested in the surviving business entity without reversion or impairment;

(3) The surviving business entity has all liabilities of each merging business entity;

(4) A proceeding pending by or against any merging business entity may be continued as if the merger did not occur, or the surviving business entity may be substituted in the proceeding for a merging business entity whose separate existence ceases in the merger;

(5) If a domestic limited partnership is the surviving business entity, its certificate of limited partnership shall be amended to the extent provided in the plan of merger;

(6) The interests in each merging business entity that are to be converted into interests, obligations, or securities of the surviving business entity or into the right to receive cash or other property are thereupon so converted, and the former holders of the interests are entitled only to the rights provided to them in the articles of merger or, in the case of former holders of shares in a domestic corporation as defined in G.S. 55-1-40, any rights they have under Article 13 of Chapter 55 of the General Statutes; and

(7) If the surviving business entity is not a domestic corporation, the surviving business entity is deemed to agree that it will promptly pay to the dissenting shareholders of any merging domestic corporation the amount, if any, to which they are entitled under Article 13 of Chapter 55 of the General Statutes and otherwise to comply with the requirements of Article 13 as if it were a surviving domestic corporation in the merger.

The merger shall not affect the liability or absence of liability of any holder of an interest in a merging business entity for any acts, omissions, or obligations of any merging business equity made or incurred prior to the effectiveness of the merger. The cessation of separate existence of a merging business entity in the merger shall not constitute a dissolution or termination of such merging business entity.

(b) If the surviving business entity is not a domestic limited liability company, a domestic corporation, a domestic nonprofit corporation, or a domestic limited partnership, when the merger takes effect the surviving business entity is deemed:

(1) To agree that it may be served with process in this State in any proceeding for enforcement of (i) any obligation of any merging domestic limited liability company, domestic corporation, domestic nonprofit corporation, domestic limited partnership or other partnership as defined in G.S. 59-36 that is formed under the laws of this State, (ii) the rights of dissenting shareholders of any merging domestic corporation under Article 13 of Chapter 55 of the General Statutes, and (iii) any obligation of the surviving business entity arising from the merger; and

(2) To have appointed the Secretary of State as its agent for service of process in any such proceeding. Service on the Secretary of State of any such process shall be made by delivering to and leaving with the Secretary of State, or with any clerk authorized by the Secretary of State to accept service of process, duplicate copies of the process and the fee required by G.S. 59-1106(b). Upon receipt of service of process on behalf of a surviving business entity in the manner provided for in this section, the Secretary of State shall immediately mail a copy of the process by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, to the surviving business entity. If the surviving business entity is authorized to transact business or conduct affairs in this State, the address for mailing shall be its principal office designated in the latest document filed with the Secretary of State that is authorized by law to designate the principal office or, if there is no principal office on file, its registered office. If the surviving business entity is not authorized to transact business or conduct affairs in this State, the address for mailing shall be the mailing address designated pursuant to G.S. 59-1072(a)(3). (1999-369, s. 4.8; 2001-387, ss. 143, 147.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-387, ss. 143, 147, effective January 1, 2002, recodified former § 59-1057 as this section; and rewrote subdivision (b)(2).

(d) Repealed by Session Laws 2001-387, s. 171(b), effective January 1, 2002. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 989, s. 2; 1991, c. 574, s. 3; 1995, c. 539, s. 37; 1997-485, s. 13; 2001-358, ss. 10(f), 37; 2001-387, ss. 149, 171(a), 171(b), 173, 175(a); 2001-413, s. 6.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-358, ss. 10(f) and 37, effective January 1, 2002, and applying to documents submitted for filing on or after that date, had amended this section. However, Session Laws 2001-387, s. 171(a), repealed ss. 10(f) and 37 of 2001-358, effective January 1, 2002.

Session Laws 2001-358, s. 53, provided that the act, which amended this section, was effective October 1, 2001, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date. Section 173 of Session Laws 2001-387 changed the effective date of Session Laws 2001-358 from October 1, 2001, to January 1, 2002. Section 6 of Session Laws 2001-413, effective September 14, 2001, added a sentence to s. 175(a) of Session Laws 2001-387, making s. 173 of that act effective when it became law (August 26, 2001). As a result of these changes, the amendment by Session Laws 2001-358 is effective January 1, 2002, and applicable to documents submitted for filing on or after that date.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-387, ss. 149, 171(b), effective January 1, 2002, deleted "expedited filings" following "fees" in the section heading; in subsection (a), redesignated former (1a) through (5), (5a) through (6) and (13) through (22) as present (2) through (6), (9) through (13) and (14) through (23), inserted present (7) and (8) and deleted former (12), pertaining to advisory review of a document and additional $200.00 dollar fee in the table; and deleted subsection (d), pertaining to collection of additional fees for expedited filing of documents by the Secretary of State.

§ 59-1107. Income taxation.

A limited partnership, a foreign limited partnership authorized to transact business in this State, and a partner of one of these partnerships are subject to taxation under Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes in accordance with their classification for federal income tax purposes. Accordingly, if a limited partnership or a foreign limited partnership authorized to transact business in this State is classified for federal income tax purposes as a C corporation as defined in G.S. 105-131(b)(2) or an S corporation as defined in G.S. 105-131(b)(8), the partnership and its partners are subject to tax under Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes to the same extent as a C corporation or an S corporation, as the case may be, and its shareholders. If a limited partnership or a foreign limited partnership authorized to transact business in this State is classified for federal income tax purposes as a partnership, the partnership and its partners are subject to tax under Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes accordingly. If a limited partnership or a foreign limited partnership authorized to transact business in this State is classified for federal income tax purposes as other than a corporation or a partnership, the partnership and its partners are subject to tax under Article 4 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes in a manner consistent with that classification. This section does not require a limited partnership or a foreign limited partnership to obtain an administrative ruling from the Internal Revenue Service on its classification under the Internal Revenue Code. (2001-387, s. 150.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-387, s. 175(a), made this section effective January 1, 2002.

Session Laws 2001-387, s. 154(b), provides that nothing in this act shall supersede the provisions of Article 10 or 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes, and this act does not create an alternate means for an entity governed by Article 65 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes to convert to a different business form.

Chapter 60.

Railroads and Other Carriers.

§§ 60-1 through 60-146: Repealed and transferred by Session Laws 1963, c. 1165.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1963, c. 1165, amended, revised and rewrote Chapters 56, 60 and 62 of the General Statutes and recodified them as a new Chapter 62 and a new Chapter 74A.

Sections 60-1 to 60-81 and 60-88 to 60-146 were repealed by Session Laws 1963, c. 1165, s. 1. Sections 60-82 to 60-87 were transferred to §§ 74A-1 to 74A-6 by Session Laws 1963, c. 1165, s. 2.

Chapter 61.

Religious Societies.

§ 61-1. Trustees may be appointed and removed.

(a) The conference, synod, convention or other ecclesiastical body representing any church or religious denomination within the State, as also the religious societies and congregations within the State, may from time to time and at any time appoint in such manner as such body, society or congregation may deem proper, a suitable number of persons as trustees for such church, denomination, religious society, or congregation. The body appointing may remove such trustees or any of them, and fill all vacancies caused by death or otherwise.

(b) A person serving as a trustee appointed pursuant to subsection (a) of this section or a director or officer of a religious society shall be immune individually from civil liability for monetary damages, except to the extent covered by insurance, for any act or failure to act arising out of this service, except where the person:

(1) Is compensated for his services beyond reimbursement for expenses,
(2) Was not acting within the scope of his official duties,
(3) Was not acting in good faith,
(4) Committed gross negligence or willful or wanton misconduct that resulted in the damage or injury,
(5) Derived an improper personal financial benefit from the transaction,
(6) Incurred the liability from the operation of a motor vehicle, or
(7) Is sued in an action that would qualify as a derivative action if the organization were a for-profit corporation or as a member's or director's derivative action under G.S. 55A-28.1 or G.S. 55A-28.2 if the organization were a nonprofit corporation.

The immunity in this subsection is personal to the officers, directors, and trustees and does not immunize the organization for the acts or omissions of the officers, directors, or trustees. (1796, c. 457, ss. 1, 2; 1844, c. 47; 1848, c. 76; R.C., c. 97; Code, ss. 3667, 3668; Rev., ss. 2670, 2671; C.S., s. 3568; 1987, c. 799, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — G.S. 55A-28.1 and G.S. 55A-28.2, referred to in subdivision (b)(7), were repealed by Session Laws 1993, c. 398, s. 1, effective July 1, 1994. See now §§ 55A-7-40 and 55A-8-24.

CASE NOTES

This section applies only to religious societies and not to educational institutions. Allen v. Baskerville, 123 N.C. 126, 31 S.E. 383 (1898); Thornton v. Harris, 140 N.C. 498, 53 S.E. 341 (1906).

This section recognizes that religious bodies must act through and appoint trustees. Pressly v. Walker, 238 N.C. 732, 78 S.E.2d 920 (1953).

Society Entitled to Remove Trustee Who Is Faithless to Trust. — Under the provisions of this section, a religious society may remove a trustee of church property who proves faithless to his trust and may fill any vacancy thus created. Nash v. Sutton, 117 N.C. 231, 23 S.E. 178 (1895).

Faithlessness is not required, however, and a religious society may remove trustees at will. North Carolina Christian Conference v. Allen, 156 N.C. 524, 72 S.E. 617 (1911).

Effect of Church Regulations. — A church has authority to appoint a "suitable number" of its own trustees for the purpose of acquiring and holding church property, and remove them at will; furthermore, where the discipline of the denomination with which a church is affiliated has provided a note to be given for the trial of "offenses," this regulation refers to infractions of church discipline and does not apply to the election or removal of trustees. North Carolina Christian Conference v. Allen, 156 N.C. 524, 72 S.E. 617 (1911).

Right of Competent Trustee to Maintain Action for Removal of Trustees, etc. — A duly appointed trustee of a religious society may maintain an action for the removal of faithless or incompetent trustees, and compel them to convey the property held by them to the purposes for which it was designed, and such trustee may also maintain an action to set up a lost deed executed for the benefit of the cestui que trust. Nash v. Sutton, 109 N.C. 550, 14 S.E. 77 (1891).

Right of Member to Sue. — In the absence of a competent trustee and a governing body authorized to appoint trustees, any member of a religious society has such a beneficial interest as will enable him, in behalf of fellow members, to maintain such action as may be necessary to protect their common interest. Nash v. Sutton, 109 N.C. 550, 14 S.E. 77 (1891).

Cited in Bridges v. Pleasants, 39 N.C. 26 (1845); King v. Richardson, 136 F.2d 849 (4th Cir. 1943); Goard v. Branscom, 15 N.C. App. 34, 189 S.E.2d 667 (1972).

§ 61-2. Trustees may hold property.

The trustees and their successors have power to receive donations, and to purchase, take and hold property, real and personal, in trust for such church or denomination, religious society or congregation; and they may sue or be sued in all proper actions, for or on account of the donations and property so held or claimed by them, and for and on account of any matters relating thereto. They shall be accountable to the churches, denominations, societies and congregations for the use and management of such property, and shall surrender it to any person authorized to demand it. (1796, c. 457, ss. 1, 3; 1844, c. 47; 1848, c. 76; R.C., c. 97; Code, ss. 3667, 3668; Rev., ss. 2670, 2671; C.S., s. 3569.)

Cross References. — As to trusts and trustees generally, see § 36A-1 et seq.

CASE NOTES

This section applies only to property held for religious purposes. Thornton v. Harris, 140 N.C. 498, 53 S.E. 341 (1906).

No General Capacity of Acquisition. — Religious societies or their trustees have no general capacity of acquisition; they can only take for the use of the society. And by a conveyance to trustees, for purposes forbidden by the policy of the law, nothing passes. Trustees of Quaker Soc'y of Contentnea v. Dickenson, 12 N.C. 189 (1827).

Right of Church to Use Property. — A church of the congregational system, having elected certain trustees to supercede several trustees theretofore elected, holds the church property through those trustees later elected and has the right to the use of the church for religious services without molestation from the trustees who were removed or from its conference. North Carolina Christian Conference v. Allen, 156 N.C. 524, 72 S.E. 617 (1911).

A church is not required to be incorporated to be able to hold property; therefore, revocation of the corporate charter of the United Church of God was irrelevant to determining whether the United Church of God, Inc. had the right to control the property of its alleged local affiliate, St. Luke United Church of God of America. United Church of God, Inc. v. McLendon, 81 N.C. App. 495, 344 S.E.2d 373 (1986).

A communion service of a church is not liable to seizure and sale under an execution by a pastor for salary due him. Lord v. Hardie, 82 N.C. 241 (1880).

An individual member of a religious society has an equitable interest in the property held by the society. Nash v. Sutton, 117 N.C. 231, 23 S.E. 178 (1895).

Trusts for Special Purposes. — There is nothing in this section which precludes trustees of a certain North Carolina church from accepting trusts for special purposes; and, even if there were, a trust for a special purpose would not fail because they were named as trustees, but equity would appoint other trustees to administer it in application of the maxim that a trust will not be allowed to fail for lack of a trustee. King v. Richardson, 46 F. Supp. 510 (M.D.N.C. 1942), aff'd in part and rev'd in part, 136 F.2d 849 (4th Cir. 1943).

The trustees of a church are merely agents and have no property interest as against the governing body of the church. North Carolina Christian Conference v. Allen, 156 N.C. 524, 72 S.E. 617 (1911).

Congregation taking possession of a church cannot contest validity of a mortgage given by the trustees for the purchase money on the ground that it was ultra vires. Rountree v. Blount, 129 N.C. 25, 39 S.E. 631 (1901).

Right of Trustees to Enforce Bequest. — Where a testator provided for building a fence around a certain chapel cemetery, the trustees of the chapel were the proper parties to require the executor to perform this provision. Cabe v. Vanhook, 127 N.C. 424, 37 S.E. 464 (1900).

Recovery of Property by Trustees. — The title to church property is vested in the trustees individually and they may recover at law, though in the writ and declaration they style themselves "trustees." Walker v. Fawcett, 29 N.C. 44 (1846).

Title Not in Controversy in Contest Between Trustees. — In a contest between two committees, each claiming to be the rightful board of trustees to hold the same title in trust for the same beneficial owner, the title did not come into controversy. Thornton v. Harris, 140 N.C. 498, 53 S.E. 341 (1906).

Right of Original Trustees to Sue Though Not Legally Appointed. — Where a conveyance was made to three persons for a certain tract of land as trustees for a church, a suit of trespass could be brought by them against the wrongdoers, even though they could not be appointed trustees according to law. Walker v. Fawcett, 29 N.C. 44 (1846).

It is only when a suit is brought by persons who claim as "successors" that a question arises as to whether the original bargainees were duly chosen the trustees of a religious congregation, and whether the persons suing were also duly chosen trustees, so as to give them legally the character of "successors" to the former, and thereby vest in them the title to the property which is necessary to support an action. Walker v. Fawcett, 29 N.C. 44 (1846).

Trustees Not Entitled to Recover for Physical Suffering of Pastor, His Family or Congregation. — In a suit by the trustees of a church against a railroad company for the improper use of its terminal or depot at or near the manse of the church, no recovery could be had for any physical suffering upon the part of their pastor, his family, or the individuals composing the congregation. Taylor v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 145 N.C. 400, 59 S.E. 129 (1907).

Liability of Trustees for Material Ordered for Church. — The trustees of a church would be liable for material ordered by one of their number and used in building the church, even though the order was not authorized. Tull v. Trustees of M.E. Church, 75 N.C. 424 (1876).

The building committee of a church is not liable for injuries received by a workman. Wilson v. Clark, 110 N.C. 364, 14 S.E. 962 (1892).

Member of Quasi Corporation Is Engaged in Joint Enterprise. — One of the material differences between a church or denomination, religious society or congregation (a quasi corporation) in North Carolina and a real corporation organized or existing pursuant to statutory law is that a member of such a quasi corporation is engaged in a joint enterprise and may not recover damages sustained through the tortious conduct of another member thereof from the quasi corporation. Goard v. Branscom, 15 N.C. App. 34, 189 S.E.2d 667, cert. denied, 281 N.C. 756, 191 S.E.2d 354 (1972).

And May Not Recover for Negligence of Agent, Employee or Another Member. — This section does not authorize a member of a church or denomination, religious society or congregation (a quasi corporation) to recover of the quasi corporation for the negligence of an agent, employee or another member thereof. Goard v. Branscom, 15 N.C. App. 34, 189 S.E.2d 667, cert. denied, 281 N.C. 756, 191 S.E.2d 354 (1972).

§ 61-3. Title to lands vested in trustees, or in societies.

All glebes, lands and tenements, heretofore purchased, given, or devised for the support of any particular ministry, or mode of worship, and all churches and other houses built for the purpose of public worship, and all lands and donations of any kind of property or estate that have been or may be given, granted or devised to any church or religious denomination, religious society or congregation within the State for their respective use, shall be and remain forever to the use and occupancy of that church or denomination, society or congregation for which the glebes, lands, tenements, property and estate were so purchased, given, granted or devised, or for which such churches, chapels or other houses of public worship were built; and the estate therein shall be deemed and held to be absolutely vested, as between the parties thereto, in the trustees respectively of such churches, denominations, societies and congregations, for their several use, according to the intent expressed in the conveyance, gift, grant or will; and in case there shall be no trustees, then in such churches, denominations, societies and congregations, respectively, according to such intent. (1776, c. 107; 1796, c. 457, s. 4; R.C., c. 97, s. 1; Code, s. 3665; Rev., s. 2672; C.S., s. 3570.)

CASE NOTES

This section applies only to religious societies and not to educational institutions. Allen v. Baskerville, 123 N.C. 126, 31 S.E. 383 (1898).

Words "shall be and remain forever to the use and occupancy of that church ..." do not create an exemption for church property from execution. These words have to be considered in the context of the time they were written and of wordage required by ancient English law and custom to create a fee simple estate. Floyd S. Pike Elec. Contractor v. Goodwill Missionary Baptist Church, 25 N.C. App. 563, 214 S.E.2d 276 (1975).

Sale of Property Under Execution. — There being no provision in the State Constitution exempting church property from execution, unless exempted by statute, this property is subject to sale under execution. Floyd S. Pike Elec. Contractor v. Goodwill Missionary Baptist Church, 25 N.C. App. 563, 214 S.E.2d 276 (1975).

Title by Adverse Possession. — A church holding real property for a hundred years, and using it for religious purposes, acquires a fee simple title by adverse possession, independent of the validity of its deed. Gold v. Cozart, 173 N.C. 612, 92 S.E. 600 (1917).

A bequest for a religious charity must be to some definite purpose, and to some body or association of persons having a legal existence and with capacity to take. There is no provision for donations to be employed in any general system of diffusing the knowledge of Christianity throughout the earth. Bridges v. Pleasants, 39 N.C. 26 (1845).

Bequest to Build Church Where Amount Insufficient. — A provision in a will that a church is to be built from certain funds will not fail because there is not a sufficient amount of the funds to build a church as large as directed by the testator. Paine v. Forney, 128 N.C. 237, 38 S.E. 885 (1901).

Specific Trust Must Be Imperative. — A specific trust will not be superimposed upon a title conveyed to a religious congregation, authorizing the courts to interfere and control the management and disposition of the property, unless this is the clear intent of the grantor expressed in language which should be construed as imperative. Hayes v. Franklin, 141 N.C. 599, 54 S.E. 432 (1906).

No Trust Created. — The recital in a deed conveying land to the vestry and wardens of a church that it was made "for the purpose of aiding in the establishment of a Home for Indigent Widows or Orphans, or in the promotion of any other charitable or religious objects to which the property may be appropriated" created no trust, and the grantee could convey a perfect title. St. James v. Bagley, 138 N.C. 384, 50 S.E. 841 (1905).

Trustees May Hold Property as Against Majority of Members. — Where land is conveyed to the officers and trustees of the nondenominational religious organization for the purposes of the organization, its officers and trustees have title to the property in trust and are entitled to hold it for the use and occupancy of the organization as against members of the organization, even though they are in the large majority, who seek possession of the property for use and occupancy by a denominational church. Wheeless v. Barrett, 229 N.C. 282, 49 S.E.2d 629 (1948).

Rights of Majority of Congregation Withdrawing from Denomination. — A conveyance of land to trustees for the erection of a church to belong to a denomination gave the title in trust for the use of the denomination; therefore, members of the congregation of the church so erected who withdrew affiliation from the denomination, even though they were a majority of the congregation, were not entitled to the control and use of the property as against the denomination, irrespective of whether the particular church was congregational or connectional. Western N. Carolina Conference v. Tally, 229 N.C. 1, 47 S.E.2d 467 (1948).

Effect of Denomination's Failure to Act at Time of Violation. — Court found that local church, which was connectionally related to denomination yet congregational as to property, could keep property because it would be inequitable, if not unconstitutional, for a North Carolina court to enforce the denomination's

"Discipline," essentially property rules, against the local church when the denomination made no effort to enforce it at the time of the alleged violations. Fire Baptized Holiness Church of God of Ams., Inc. v. McSwain, 134 N.C. App. 676, 518 S.E.2d 558 (1999).

Where a diocese receiving a devise of land was afterwards divided into two dioceses, the land became the property of both and not that of the diocese in which the land happened to be and in which the testator resided. Trustees of Diocese of E. Carolina v. Trustees of Diocese of N. Carolina, 102 N.C. 442, 9 S.E. 310 (1889).

As to the rights of an individual member of a congregation under the congregational system, see North Carolina Christian Conference v. Allen, 156 N.C. 524, 72 S.E. 617 (1911).

For discussion of the connectional system, see Simmons v. Allison, 118 N.C. 763, 24 S.E. 716, rehearing dismissed, 118 N.C. 761, 24 S.E. 740 (1896); Tilley v. Ellis, 119 N.C. 233, 26 S.E. 29 (1896); State ex rel. Kerr v. Hicks, 154 N.C. 265, 70 S.E. 468 (1911); Gold v. Cozart, 173 N.C. 612, 92 S.E. 600 (1917).

§ 61-4. Trustees may convey property.

The trustees of any religious body may mortgage or sell and convey in fee simple any land owned by such body, when directed so to do by such church, congregation, society or denomination, or its committee, board or body having charge of its finances, and all such conveyances so made or heretofore made, or hereafter to be made, shall be effective to pass the land in fee simple to the purchaser or to the mortgagee for the purposes in such conveyances or mortgage expressed; and they may sell or mortgage its personal property. (1855, c. 384; 1889, c. 484; Rev., s. 2673; C.S., s. 3571.)

CASE NOTES

Sale to Promote Testator's Purpose. — Where a testator devised lands to the trustees of a certain church, "to be held by them as a rectory or residence for the ministers of said church; that the same shall not be disposed of, sold, or used in any other way or for any other purpose than the one designated," the trustees could sell the property if the purpose declared would be promoted thereby, or the court could order a sale under its general equity power. Grace Church v. Ange, 161 N.C. 314, 77 S.E. 239 (1912).

Lease of Part of Property. — Where land was conveyed to a church for the purpose of maintaining a church for worship, the court would not restrain the officers of the church from leasing a small portion of the lot for erecting a store. Hayes v. Franklin, 141 N.C. 599, 54 S.E. 432 (1906).

§ 61-5. Authority of bishops, ministers, etc., to acquire, hold and transfer property; prior transfers validated.

Whenever the laws, rules, or ecclesiastic polity of any church or religious sect, society or denomination, commits to its duly elected or appointed bishop, minister or other ecclesiastical officer, authority to administer its affairs, such duly elected or appointed bishop, minister or other ecclesiastical officer shall have power to acquire by gift, purchase or otherwise, and to hold, improve, mortgage, sell and convey the property, real or personal, of any such church or religious sect, society or denomination, for the purposes, in the manner and otherwise as authorized and permitted by its laws, rules or ecclesiastic polity; and in the event of the transfer, removal, resignation or death of any such bishop, minister or other ecclesiastical officer, the title and all rights with respect to any such property shall pass to and become vested in his duly elected or appointed successor immediately upon appointment or election, and pending appointment or election of such successor, such title and rights shall be vested in such person or persons as shall be designated by the laws, rules or ecclesiastic polity of such church or religious sect, society or denomination.

All deeds, deeds of trust, mortgages, wills or other instruments made prior to March 24, 1939, to or by a duly elected or appointed bishop, minister or other ecclesiastical officer, who, at the time of the making of any such deed, deed of trust, mortgage, will or other instrument, or thereafter, had authority to administer the affairs of any church, religious sect, society or denomination under its laws, rules or ecclesiastic polity, transferring property, real or personal, of any such church or religious sect, society or denomination, are hereby ratified and declared valid; and all transfers of title and rights with respect to property, prior to March 24, 1939, from a predecessor bishop, minister or other ecclesiastical officer who has resigned or died, or has been transferred or removed, to his duly elected or appointed successor, by the laws, rules or ecclesiastic polity of any such church, or religious sect, society or denomination, either by written instruments or solely by virtue of the election or appointment of such successor, are also hereby ratified and declared valid.

This section shall not affect vested rights, or repeal any of the provisions of G.S. 61-1 to 61-4, or of G.S. 36-21 to 36-23. (1939, c. 177.)

Editor's Note. — Sections 36-21 to 36-23, referred to in the last paragraph, were repealed by Session Laws 1977, c. 502. See now §§ 36A-49 to 36A-51.

§ 61-6. House on vacant land vests title.

All houses and edifices erected for public religious worship on vacant lands, or on lands of the State not for other purposes intended or appropriated, together with two acres adjoining the same, shall hereafter be held and kept sacred for divine worship, to and for the use of the society by which the same was originally established. (1778, c. 132, s. 6; R.C., c. 97, s. 2; Code, s. 3666; Rev., s. 2674; C.S., s. 3572.)

CASE NOTES

Purpose of Section. — This section was enacted in 1778 for purpose of covering those cases where church houses had been built on unused or unappropriated land to which no one had title. Floyd S. Pike Elec. Contractor v. Goodwill Missionary Baptist Church, 25 N.C. App. 563, 214 S.E.2d 276 (1975).

Sale of Property Under Execution. — There being no provision in the State Constitution exempting church property from execution, unless exempted by statute, this property is subject to sale under execution. Floyd S. Pike Elec. Contractor v. Goodwill Missionary Baptist Church, 25 N.C. App. 563, 214 S.E.2d 276 (1975).

§ 61-7. Governing body of assembly authorized to adopt traffic regulations.

(a) The governing body of any religious organization or assembly may by appropriate resolution establish rules and regulations with respect to the use of the streets, roads, alleys, driveways, and parking lots on the grounds or premises owned or under the exclusive control of such organization, and it shall be unlawful for any person to park a motor vehicle or other vehicle on the streets, roads or on the premises of a religious assembly where parking has been prohibited by the religious assembly by the erection of "No Parking" signs at each space on the street, road or on the premises where parking is prohibited. Each space in which parking is prohibited shall be clearly designated as such by a sign no smaller than 24 inches by 24 inches. All rules and regulations adopted pursuant to the authority of this section shall be recorded in the proceedings of said governing body and copies thereof shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State of North Carolina.

(b) It shall be unlawful for any person to park a motor vehicle or other vehicle in a parking space on the streets, roads, or premises of a religious assembly where the parking space has been designated by the religious assembly as being limited to a named individual or to a person holding a named position with the assembly; provided, that such private parking space or private parking lot be clearly designated as such by a sign no smaller than 24 inches by 24 inches prominently displayed at the entrance to the parking lot, if within a parking lot, and provided further that the private parking spaces within the lot or the private parking spaces on the streets, roads or on the premises of the religious assembly be clearly marked by signs setting forth the name of each individual for whom the space is reserved or the name of the position held with the assembly for which space is reserved.

(c) It shall be unlawful for any person to park a motor vehicle or other vehicle on the streets or roads of a religious assembly, except where parking is expressly designated, so as to interfere with, or obstruct the free flow of vehicular traffic on the streets or roads within the assembly grounds.

(d) It shall be unlawful for any person to park a motor vehicle or other vehicle at the entrance to any driveway on the grounds of a religious assembly so as to block the driveway.

(e) Any vehicle parked in violation of subsections (a), (b), (c), or (d) may be removed by the assembly, or its agents, or its employees to a place of storage and the registered owner of such motor vehicle shall become liable for removal and storage charges. Any person who removes a vehicle pursuant to subsections (a), (b), (c), or (d) shall not be held liable for damages for the removal of the vehicle to the owner, lienholder or other person legally entitled to the possession of the vehicle removed; however, any person who intentionally or negligently damages a vehicle in the removal of such vehicle, or intentionally or negligently inflicts injury upon any person in the removal of such vehicle, may be held liable for damages.

(f) A "religious assembly" is defined as being a corporation or association formed for the purpose of providing a resort community for religious and recreational purposes and where the streets and roads are solely maintained by the religious assembly without governmental funds. This Chapter shall be known and may be cited as the Public Utilities Act. (1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1963, c. 1165, amended, revised and rewrote Chapters 56, 60, and 62 of the General Statutes and recodified them as Chapter 62 and Chapter 74A.

Chapter 74A was repealed by Session Laws 1991 (Regular Session, 1992), c. 1043, s. 8, effective July 25, 1992. For present provisions pertaining to the subject matter of repealed Chapter 74A, see Chapter 74E.

Session Laws 1997-40, ss. 1-4, as amended by Session Laws 1999-122, s. 1, Session Laws 2000-53, s. 1, and Session Laws 2000-181, s. 2.1, provide in part that the Study Commission on the Future of Electric Service in North Carolina is created and the Commission shall consist of 30 voting members. The President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall each designate a cochair from the General Assembly membership serving on the Commission. The Commission shall examine the cost, adequacy, availability, and pricing of electric rates and service in North Carolina to determine whether legislation is necessary to assure an adequate and reliable source of electricity and economical, fair, and equitable rates for all consumers of electricity in North Carolina. The Commission shall gather data and other information as may be necessary to accomplish the purposes of the Commission, and shall seek input and advice from the Attorney General, the North Carolina Utilities Commission, and the Public Staff of the Utilities Commission and shall also obtain guidance by reviewing electric utility restructuring experiments conducted in other states. The Commission, while in the discharge of official duties, may exercise all the powers provided under the provisions of G.S. 120-19 through G.S. 120-19.4, including the power to request all officers, agents, agencies, and departments of the State to provide any information, data, or documents within their possession, ascertainable from their records, or otherwise available to them, and the power to subpoena witnesses. The Commission shall make a report to the 1998 Regular Session of the 1997 General Assembly, which may contain recommendations, and shall report the results of its study and its recommendations to the 1999 General Assembly. The Commission is to report periodically thereafter and is to terminate June 30, 2006.

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Cases construing provisions of former Chapter 62 have been placed in the annotations under appropriate sections of Chapters 62 and 74E.

Scope of Authority of Utilities Commission. — The Utilities Commission, being an administrative agency created by statute, has no regulatory authority except such as is conferred upon it by this Chapter, and the Commission may not, by its order, require or authorize a rule or practice by a public utility company which is forbidden by statute, or authorize such company to refuse to perform a duty imposed upon it by statute, unless this Chapter has conferred such authority upon the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v.

National Merchandising Corp., 288 N.C. 715, 220 S.E.2d 304 (1975).

As to the jurisdiction of the utilities commission to require rail carrier to open drainage ditches along its tracks and to keep its drainage ditches open, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Seaboard C.L.R.R., 62 N.C. App. 631, 303 S.E.2d 549, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 309 N.C. 324, 307 S.E.2d 168 (1983).

Findings Concerning Company Debt Ratios. — Conclusion of the Utilities Commission's that a natural gas company's capital structure should include a short-term debt ratio of 4.02%, based on a short-term debt equal to stored gas inventory rather than "the daily average balance amount of short-term debt for the most recent twelve month period," was supported by substantial evidence and satisfied requirements of this chapter. § 62-2. Declaration of policy.

(a) Upon investigation, it has been determined that the rates, services and operations of public utilities as defined herein, are affected with the public interest and that the availability of an adequate and reliable supply of electric power and natural gas to the people, economy and government of North Carolina is a matter of public policy. It is hereby declared to be the policy of the State of North Carolina:

(1) To provide fair regulation of public utilities in the interest of the public;

(2) To promote the inherent advantage of regulated public utilities;

(3) To promote adequate, reliable and economical utility service to all of the citizens and residents of the State;

(3a) To assure that resources necessary to meet future growth through the provision of adequate, reliable utility service include use of the entire spectrum of demand-side options, including but not limited to conservation, load management and efficiency programs, as additional sources of energy supply and/or energy demand reductions. To that end, to require energy planning and fixing of rates in a manner to result in the least cost mix of generation and demand-reduction measures which is achievable, including consideration of appropriate rewards to utilities for efficiency and conservation which decrease utility bills;

(4) To provide just and reasonable rates and charges for public utility services without unjust discrimination, undue preferences or advantages, or unfair or destructive competitive practices and consistent with long-term management and conservation of energy resources by avoiding wasteful, uneconomic and inefficient uses of energy;

(4a) To assure that facilities necessary to meet future growth can be financed by the utilities operating in this State on terms which are reasonable and fair to both the customers and existing investors of such utilities; and to that end to authorize fixing of rates in such a manner as to result in lower costs of new facilities and lower rates over the operating lives of such new facilities by making provisions in the rate-making process for the investment of public utilities in plants under construction;

(5) To encourage and promote harmony between public utilities, their users and the environment;

(6) To foster the continued service of public utilities on a well-planned and coordinated basis that is consistent with the level of energy needed for the protection of public health and safety and for the promotion of the general welfare as expressed in the State energy policy;

(7) To seek to adjust the rate of growth of regulated energy supply facilities serving the State to the policy requirements of statewide development;

(8) To cooperate with other states and with the federal government in promoting and coordinating interstate and intrastate public utility service and reliability of public utility energy supply; and

(9) To facilitate the construction of facilities in and the extension of natural gas service to unserved areas in order to promote the public welfare throughout the State and to that end to authorize the creation of expansion funds for natural gas local distribution companies or gas districts to be administered under the supervision of the North Carolina Utilities Commission.

(b) To these ends, therefore, authority shall be vested in the North Carolina Utilities Commission to regulate public utilities generally, their rates, services and operations, and their expansion in relation to long-term energy conservation and management policies and statewide development requirements, and in the manner and in accordance with the policies set forth in this Chapter. Nothing in this Chapter shall be construed to imply any extension of Utilities Commission regulatory jurisdiction over any industry or enterprise that is not subject to the regulatory jurisdiction of said Commission.

Because of technological changes in the equipment and facilities now available and needed to provide telephone and telecommunications services, changes in regulatory policies by the federal government, and changes resulting from the court-ordered divestiture of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, competitive offerings of certain types of telephone and telecommunications services may be in the public interest. Consequently, authority shall be vested in the North Carolina Utilities Commission to allow competitive offerings of local exchange, exchange access, and long distance services by public utilities defined in G.S. 62-3(23)a.6. and certified in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 62-110, and the Commission is further authorized after notice to affected parties and hearing to deregulate or to exempt from regulation under any or all provisions of this Chapter: (i) a service provided by any public utility as defined in G.S. 62-3(23)a.6. upon a finding that such service is competitive and that such deregulation or exemption from regulation is in the public interest; or (ii) a public utility as defined in G.S. 62-3(23)a.6., or a portion of the business of such public utility, upon a finding that the service or business of such public utility is competitive and that such deregulation or exemption from regulation is in the public interest.

The policy and authority stated in this section shall be applicable to common carriers of passengers by motor vehicle and their regulation by the North Carolina Utilities Commission only to the extent that they are consistent with the provisions of the Bus Regulatory Reform Act of 1985.

The North Carolina Utilities Commission may develop regulatory policies to govern the provision of telecommunications services to the public which promote efficiency, technological innovation, economic growth, and permit telecommunications utilities a reasonable opportunity to compete in an emerging competitive environment, giving due regard to consumers, stockholders, and maintenance of reasonably affordable local exchange service and long distance service. CASE NOTES

Rate Scheme Held Unconstitutional Burden on United States. — The state regulatory scheme by which the Utilities Commission sets rates for franchised carriers to charge the U.S. Army in transportation of household goods violates the national procurement policy and is an unconstitutional burden on the United States in the exercise of its constitutional powers. United States v. North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 352 F. Supp. 274 (E.D.N.C. 1972).

Delegation of Authority to Commission Constitutional. — The standard of public convenience and necessity and the policies of the State were sufficient to guide the North Carolina Utilities Commission in deciding a certificate of public convenience and necessity case, and the legislature's delegation of this authority to the Commission was not unconstitutional. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Empire Power Co., 112 N.C. App. 265, 435 S.E.2d 553 (1993), cert. denied, 335 N.C. 564, 441 S.E.2d 125 (1994).

The expansion fund legislation is a proper delegation of legislative authority to an administrative agency and is not unconstitutional. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 336 N.C. 657, 446 S.E.2d 332 (1994).

As an administrative agency created by the legislature, the Commission has not been given jurisdiction to determine the constitutionality of legislative enactments, specifically subdivision (a)(9) of this section or § 62-158. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 336 N.C. 657, 446 S.E.2d 332 (1994).

Purpose of Chapter. — The clear purpose of this Chapter is to confer upon the Utilities Commission the power and the duty to compel a public utility company to render adequate service and to fix therefor reasonable rates pursuant to the procedure prescribed in § 62-133. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 314 N.C. 509, 334 S.E.2d 772 (1985).

The primary purpose of this Chapter is not to guarantee to the stockholders of a public utility constant growth in the value of and in the dividend yield from their investment, but is to assure the public of adequate service at a reasonable charge. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

The provisions of this Chapter, such as § 62-133, designed to assure the utility of adequate revenues, are in the nature of corollaries to the basic proposition that the public is entitled to adequate service at reasonable rates and safeguards against administrative action which would violate constitutional protections by confiscation of the utility's property. Without such assurance, the owners of capital would not invest it in the utility's bonds or stock and the utility could not provide the plant necessary for the rendering of adequate service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

This section declares the policy of the State, which it is the purpose of this Chapter to put into effect. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

The purpose of the Public Utilities Act is to put the policies enumerated in this section into effect. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Commission to Be Guided by Public Interest. — While the Utilities Commission seeks to establish the lowest possible rates, that is not the polar star by which the Commission conducts its business; rather, the Commission is guided by considerations of the public interest. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Piedmont Natural Gas Co., 346 N.C. 558, 488 S.E.2d 591 (1997).

The entire Chapter is a single, integrated plan. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

The status of an entity as a public utility, entitled to the rights conferred by statute and subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, does not depend upon whether it has secured a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to § 62-110, but is determined instead according to whether it is, in fact, operating a business defined by the Legislature as a public utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

If an entity is, in fact, operating as a public utility, it is subject to the regulatory powers of the Commission, notwithstanding the fact that it has failed to comply with § 62-110 before beginning its operation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

The Commission, not the courts, has been given the authority to regulate the rates of public utilities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 316 N.C. 238, 342 S.E.2d 28 (1986).

And the Court Must Affirm. — The General Assembly has given the North Carolina Utilities Commission, not the courts, the authority to regulate the operations of the public utilities; therefore, if the findings and conclusions of the Commission are supported by competent, substantial and material evidence, the Court must affirm the decision even if it may have reached a different determination upon the evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff — North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 123 N.C. App. 43, 472 S.E.2d 193 (1996).

The Utilities Commission may pass on to the ratepayers the benefits of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 through a rule making procedure rather than a rate making procedure. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 326 N.C. 190, 388 S.E.2d 118 (1990).

This section does not require the Utilities Commission to adopt a rule of the Interstate Commerce Commission; the Commission must make its own independent investigations, determinations and findings of fact based upon the evidence presented to it. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 13 N.C. App. 554, 186 S.E.2d 612 (1972), cert. denied, 281 N.C. 158, 188 S.E.2d 364 (1972).

This section does not confer an exclusive emolument or privilege by creating a private benefit only for those residents of unserved areas in violation of N.C. Const., Art. I, § 32. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 336 N.C. 657, 446 S.E.2d 332 (1994).

Only Unfair or Destructive Competition Condemned. — There is no public policy condemning competition as such in the field of public utilities; the public policy only condemns unfair or destructive competition. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 261 N.C. 384, 134 S.E.2d 689 (1964).

Prerogative to Recognize Private Agreements. — The authority to regulate includes the prerogative to recognize private agreements that may have been entered into between parties with respect to the operation of a public utility, as such agreements may be 'in the interest of the public'. Ocean Glen Townhouse Condominium Owners Ass'n Phase I v. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n, 126 N.C. App. 495, 486 S.E.2d 223 (1997), cert. denied, 347 N.C. 136, 492 S.E.2d 36 (1997).

Transportation of passengers by motor carriers for compensation is a business affected with a public interest. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 261 N.C. 384, 134 S.E.2d 689 (1964).

All who ship goods with common carriers are required to be treated equally with respect to the same category of service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Bird Oil Co., 47 N.C. App. 1, 266 S.E.2d 838, rev'd on other grounds, 302 N.C. 14, 273 S.E.2d 232 (1980).

Interconnection with Competitor Cannot Be Required. — There is no provision in this Chapter which requires, or authorizes the Commission to require, a utility, with large investments in its own plant and facilities, to permit interconnection with such plant and facilities by a competitor in order to increase the competitor's opportunity to take away its customers or prospective customers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Contractual obligation to provide water service to a recreational subdivision, as well as the actual delivery thereof, directly affect a utility's ability to function as a utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Forest Utils., Inc., 21 N.C. App. 146, 203 S.E.2d 410 (1974).

Authority to Allow Use of Availability Charge. — The Utilities Commission has jurisdiction and authority to allow the use of an availability charge in a rate schedule for a recreational subdivision, should any be deserved. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Forest Utils., Inc., 21 N.C. App. 146, 203 S.E.2d 410 (1974).

Landowners in a recreational subdivision who pay availability charges are "consumers" or stand in a consumer-like relationship to the utility providing water service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Forest Utils., Inc., 21 N.C. App. 146, 203 S.E.2d 410 (1974).

Jurisdiction over Rates and Service of Duke Power Company. — The Utilities Commission has general and supervisory jurisdiction over the retail electric rates and service of Duke Power Company pursuant to this Chapter. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 22 N.C. App. 91, 205 S.E.2d 774, cert. denied, 285 N.C. 661, 207 S.E.2d 752 (1974).

North Carolina rates may not be structured by external system usage. Such action is outside the intended scope of the Commission's authority under this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

Recovery of Reasonable Cost of Approved Gas Exploration Projects. — The Commission, in ordering that the reasonable costs of approved exploration projects were to be recoverable through tracking rate increases, acted within its acknowledged duty and authority to compel adequate and efficient utility service to the citizens of this State, where it was clear from the Commission's findings that, without additional gas supplies, the gas utilities would be unable to render adequate service to their customers, that exploration programs were the most feasible means for obtaining these additional supplies, and that the utilities were unable, through traditional methods of financing, to fund sufficient exploration projects to obtain these supplies. State ex rel.

Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Order prescribing different Private Line Service rates for AT&T's nonreseller (end user) customers and its reseller customers upon its face was discriminatory, and absent legally adequate reasons in the order why it was not unjustly discriminatory within the meaning of subdivision (4) of this section, the order would be vacated and the cause remanded to the Commission for further proceedings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. A T & T Communications of S. States, Inc., 321 N.C. 586, 364 S.E.2d 386 (1988).

The capture of supplier refunds for the purpose of funding the expansion fund does not constitute a taking without compensation in violation of the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution and the "law of the land" clause of N.C. Const., Art. I, § 19. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 336 N.C. 657, 446 S.E.2d 332 (1994).

Plan for Compensation to Local Exchange Companies for Lost Revenues During Transition — Not Invalid. — Plan requiring compensation to local exchange companies for lost revenues during transition period did not violate the equal protection clause or the commerce clause, nor conflict with federal antitrust and communications objectives. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 88 N.C. App. 153, 363 S.E.2d 73 (1987).

Federal Jurisdiction over Disputes Arising under This Statute. — The district court erred in asserting federal jurisdiction under 47 U.S.C. § 252(e)(6) over disputes involving contract administration, interpretation and enforcement; the interconnection agreements at the core of those disputes were submitted to the NCUC and approved by it, and no judicial review was sought from these State commission determinations pursuant to this section. Bellsouth Telecomms. v. North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 240 F.3d 270 (4th Cir. 2001).

Same — Not a Penalty or Damages. — Plan requiring compensation to local exchange companies for lost revenues during transition period did not impose a "penalty" or constitute money damages, and could more appropriately be considered as a prerequisite to receiving a certificate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 88 N.C. App. 153, 363 S.E.2d 73 (1987).

Same — Statutorily Authorized. — Plan requiring compensation to local exchange companies for lost revenues during transition period was reasonably calculated to provide protection for the local exchanges which provided needed services to local exchange customers, and was a proper "term" or "condition" of certification which was consistent with the public interest. The plan was therefore statutorily authorized. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 88 N.C. App. 153, 363 S.E.2d 73 (1987).

1. 2. Diverting, developing, pumping, impounding, distributing or furnishing water to or for the public for compensation, or operating a public sewerage system for compensation; provided, however, that the term "public utility" shall not include any person or company whose sole operation consists of selling water to less than 15 residential customers, except that any person or company which constructs a water system in a subdivision with plans for 15 or more lots and which holds itself out by contracts or other means at the time of said construction to serve an area containing more than 15 residential building lots shall be a public utility at the time of such planning or holding out to serve such 15 or more building lots, without regard to the number of actual customers connected;

d. The term "public utility," except as otherwise expressly provided in this Chapter, shall not include a municipality, an authority organized under the North Carolina Water and Sewer Authorities Act, electric or telephone membership corporation; or any person not otherwise a public utility who furnishes such service or commodity only to himself, his employees or tenants when such service or commodity is not resold to or used by others; provided, however, that any person other than a nonprofit organization serving only its members, who distributes or provides utility service to his employees or tenants by individual meters or by other coin-operated devices with a charge for metered or coin-operated utility service shall be a public utility within the definition and meaning of this Chapter with respect to the regulation of rates and provisions of service rendered through such meter or coin-operated device imposing such separate metered utility charge. If any person conducting a public utility shall also conduct any enterprise not a public utility, such enterprise is not subject to the provisions of this Chapter. CASE NOTES

Definitions Not Controlling Where Terms Are Used Elsewhere. — The definitions of "public utility" and "franchise" contained in this section are not controlling in determining whether an agreement of a municipality constitutes a franchise or a license, since the definitions of the statute do not purport to be authoritative definitions of those terms as used elsewhere. Shaw v. City of Asheville, 269 N.C. 90, 152 S.E.2d 139 (1967).

The term "franchise," as used by the courts and by text writers, is not limited to a special right granted to a public utility, as it is defined in this section. Shaw v. City of Asheville, 269 N.C. 90, 152 S.E.2d 139 (1967).

Applicability of Article 8. — The General Assembly intended Article 8 to apply to all public utilities doing business in this State, whether they be foreign or domestic corporations, and even though they are also engaged in interstate commerce. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 288 N.C. 201, 217 S.E.2d 543 (1975).

There is nothing in the language of Article 8 or of the Public Utilities Act generally to support the contention that Article 8 is not applicable to a multistate foreign corporation engaged in interstate commerce. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 22 N.C. App. 714, 207 S.E.2d 771 (1974), aff'd, 288 N.C. 201, 217 S.E.2d 543 (1975).

"Public" means the whole body politic, the body of the people at large, the people as a whole. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 40 N.C. App. 109, 252 S.E.2d 516 (1979), aff'd in part, rev'd on other grounds, 299 N.C. 432, 263 S.E.2d 583 (1980).

What Is the "Public" Dependent on Regulatory Circumstances. — Whether any given enterprise is a public utility within the meaning of a regulatory scheme does not depend on some abstract, formulistic definition of "public" to be thereafter universally applied. What is the "public" in any given case depends rather on the regulatory circumstances of that case. Some of these circumstances are: (1) the nature of the industry sought to be regulated; (2) the type of market served by the industry; (3) the kind of competition that naturally inheres in that market; and (4) the effect of nonregulation or exemption from regulation of one or more persons engaged in the industry. The meaning of "public" must, in the final analysis, be such as will, in the context of the regulatory circumstances, accomplish the legislature's purpose and comport with its public policy. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Simpson, 295 N.C. 519, 246 S.E.2d 753 (1978).

In determining the scope of the Commission's authority, the emphasis should be placed on the public utility function rather than a literal reading of the statutory definition of "public utility," and the statutory definition should not be read so narrowly as to preclude commission's jurisdiction over a function which is required to provide adequate service to the subscribers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 326 N.C. 522, 391 S.E.2d 487 (1990).

Definition of "Public Utility" Cannot Be Expanded. — Neither the Commission nor the Supreme Court has authority to add to the types of business defined by the legislature as public utilities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v.

Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 93 N.C. App. 260, 377 S.E.2d 772 (1989).

Test of System as Public Utility. — One test to determine whether a plant or system is a public utility is whether the public may enjoy it by right or by permission only. It is immaterial that the service is limited to a specified area and that the facilities are limited in capacity. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 40 N.C. App. 109, 252 S.E.2d 516 (1979), aff'd in part, rev'd on other grounds, 299 N.C. 432, 263 S.E.2d 583 (1980).

Service up to Capacity as Service to "Public". — One offers service to the "public" within the meaning of subparagraph 6 of paragraph a of subdivision (23) when he holds himself out as willing to serve all who apply up to the capacity of his facilities. It is immaterial, in this connection, that his service is limited to a specified area and his facilities are limited in capacity. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Sewage Treatment System is Public Utility. — The operation of a sewage treatment system for compensation is a public utility within the meaning of the Public Utilities Act. Ocean Glen Townhouse Condominium Owners Ass'n Phase I v. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n, 126 N.C. App. 495, 486 S.E.2d 223 (1997), cert. denied, 347 N.C. 136, 492 S.E.2d 36 (1997).

As to "service" rendered in contemplation of former statute, see State v. Andrews, 191 N.C. 545, 132 S.E. 568 (1926).

Status of the grantee was a material factor in determining the validity of a grant of a franchise under the authority of former § 160-2, for that statute authorized municipal corporations to grant franchises only to "public utilities," though it did not necessarily follow that such grantee had to be the operator of a business within the definition of "public utility" contained in this section. Kornegay v. City of Raleigh, 269 N.C. 155, 152 S.E.2d 186 (1967).

If Applicant Is Not "Public Utility," Issuance of Certificate Is Nullity. — If an applicant's proposed service is not within the definition of "public utility" contained in subdivision (23) of this section, the issuance of a certificate of public convenience and necessity by the Commission to the applicant would be a nullity. It would not supply a basis for a further order conferring upon the applicant a right which may be granted only to a public utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

The fact that a corporation has the authority to, and does, engage in private business in addition to its public service does not deprive it of its status as a public service corporation. A public service (public utility) corporation having the power of eminent domain makes such corporation amenable to State control through the Utilities Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 40 N.C. App. 109, 252 S.E.2d 516 (1979), aff'd in part, rev'd on other grounds, 299 N.C. 432, 263 S.E.2d 583 (1980).

A mobile radio service falls clearly within the definition of "public utility" in subparagraph 6 of paragraph a of subdivision (23). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

A medical doctor whose communication service consisted of seven two-way radios, three "beeper" radio devices and one base station, who was providing service only to 10 other members of the County Medical Society, was engaged in the operation of a public utility within the meaning of §§ 62-3(23)a6 and former 62-119(3). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Simpson, 32 N.C. App. 543, 232 S.E.2d 871 (1977), aff'd, 295 N.C. 519, 246 S.E.2d 753 (1978).

Telephone Answering or Message Relaying Service Not a "Public Utility". — Neither a telephone answering nor a message relaying service is a public utility within the purview of subdivision (23). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Two Way Radio Serv., Inc., 272 N.C. 591, 158 S.E.2d 855 (1968).

Sand-pit Company Not a "Public Utility." — Sand-pit company which did not own or operate any trucks to haul its sand was not a "public utility" as defined by this section. Gordon v. Garner, 127 N.C. App. 649, 493 S.E.2d 58 (1997), cert. denied, 347 N.C. 670, 500 S.E.2d 86 (1998).

Municipal corporations are specifically excluded from the definition of a "public utility" in subdivision (23) of this section. Dale v. City of Morgantown, 270 N.C. 567, 155 S.E.2d 136 (1967); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Town of Pineville, 13 N.C. App. 663, 187 S.E.2d 473 (1972), aff'd, 17 N.C. App. 522, 195 S.E.2d 76 (1973); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Hunt Mfg. Co., 16 N.C. App. 335, 192 S.E.2d 16 (1972).

And Are Not Subject to Commission's Regulation. — A municipal corporation distributing and selling electric energy to its inhabitants, and to others in its vicinity, is not subject to regulation by the North Carolina Utilities Commission, and the provisions of this Chapter do not apply to it, except as otherwise expressly stated therein. Dale v. City of Morgantown, 270 N.C. 567, 155 S.E.2d 136 (1967); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Hunt Mfg. Co., 16 N.C. App. 335, 192 S.E.2d 16 (1972).

Where parties constructed water mains from end of municipal lines to their properties, permitting others to tap into the mains, and the municipality installed meters and furnished water to the others directly, parties were not public utilities within the Public Utilities Act of 1933 so as to give the Utilities Commission jurisdiction. State v. New Hope Rd. Water Co., 248 N.C. 27, 102 S.E.2d 377 (1958).

The delivery of power by a Tennessee corporation domesticated to do business in this State to Tennessee Valley Authority and the distribution by TVA of that power under pooling and apportionment agreements to North Carolina utilities for distribution in North Carolina was the furnishing of electricity "to another person for distribution to or for the public for compensation" within the meaning of subdivision (23)b of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 40 N.C. App. 109, 252 S.E.2d 516 (1979), aff'd in part, rev'd on other grounds, 299 N.C. 432, 263 S.E.2d 583 (1980).

The word "rate," as used in the Public Utilities Act, refers not only to the monetary amount which each customer must ultimately pay, but also to the published method or schedule by which that amount is figured. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

Rate Formula Permissible. — The definition of "rate" contained in this section is worded in such a broad manner as to encompass the use of a formula, and the fact that the formula must be computed each month does not render it so imprecise as to be statutorily impermissible. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 26 N.C. App. 662, 217 S.E.2d 201 (1975), aff'd, 291 N.C. 361, 230 S.E.2d 671 (1976).

Extension of Rate Increase Unauthorized. — The contention of the companies and the Commission that other provisions of this Chapter, including subdivision (24) of this section authorizing the Commission to fix reasonable and just rates for public utility service, permit the Commission to extend its previously authorized rate increases "based solely upon the increased cost of fuel" beyond Sept. 1, 1975, contrary to the mandate of § 62-134(e) (now repealed), was utterly without merit. It is well established that when there are two statutes, one dealing specifically with the matter in issue and the other being in general terms which, nothing else appearing, would include the matter in question, the specific statute controls. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 451, 232 S.E.2d 184 (1977).

A common carrier by motor vehicle may be defined as a person who is not exempted from regulation under the provisions of § 62-260, and who holds himself out to the general public to engage in transportation of persons or property for compensation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. J.D. McCotter, Inc., 16 N.C. App. 475, 192 S.E.2d 629 (1972), aff'd, 283 N.C. 104, 194 S.E.2d 859 (1973).

Common carrier of petroleum products which commits part of its equipment to dedicated use should not be regarded as a matter of law as a contract carrier, since common carriers participating in the dedicated rate arrangement are also rendering service to the public generally and are providing service impartially to all persons requesting such service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Bird Oil Co., 302 N.C. 14, 273 S.E.2d 232 (1981).

Whether Party Operating as Common Carrier Question of Law. — Whether under the undisputed facts a party is operating as a common carrier is a question of law for the court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Tar Heel Indus., Inc., 77 N.C. App. 75, 334 S.E.2d 396 (1985).

The "crucial test" in determining whether an entity is operating as a common carrier is whether it is holding itself out as such. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Tar Heel Indus., Inc., 77 N.C. App. 75, 334 S.E.2d 396 (1985).

A common carrier generally is not authorized to act as a contract carrier. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Tar Heel Indus., Inc., 77 N.C. App. 75, 334 S.E.2d 396 (1985).

A common carrier must charge all customers uniform rates for the same kind and degree of services; contract carriers, by contrast, are not subject to this requirement. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Tar Heel Indus., Inc., 77 N.C. App. 75, 334 S.E.2d 396 (1985).

A "certificate" authorizes performance as a common carrier, while a "permit" authorizes performance as a contract carrier. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Tar Heel Indus., Inc., 77 N.C. App. 75, 334 S.E.2d 396 (1985).

A contract carrier is not authorized to act as a common carrier; it may not offer its services to the general public. Indeed, it may serve at most a very limited number of shippers, and then only under a private individual contract with each shipper to be served. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Tar Heel Indus., Inc., 77 N.C. App. 75, 334 S.E.2d 396 (1985).

As to what constitutes a contract carrier, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Petroleum Transp., Inc., 2 N.C. App. 566, 163 S.E.2d 526 (1968).

A company which offers white-water rafting excursions is not a common carrier, because any "transportation" was merely incidental to primary purpose of outdoor adventure, camaraderie, excitement and thrills. Beavers v. Federal Ins. Co., 113 N.C. App. 254, 437 S.E.2d 881, cert. denied, 336 N.C. 602, 447 S.E.2d 384 (1994).

Requirements for Permit to Operate as Contract Carrier. — In addition to the statutory requirements of § 62-262 and subdivision (8) of this section, an applicant for a permit to operate as a contract carrier in North Carolina must conform to the standards set forth by the Utilities Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. American Courier Corp., 8 N.C. App. 358, 174 S.E.2d 814 (1970).

The definition of "contract carrier" includes charter service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Fleming, 235 N.C. 660, 71 S.E.2d 41 (1952).

Lessor of Vehicles Held Not Contract Carrier. — Where the owner of trucks leased them to another corporation under an agreement requiring lessor to carry insurance and maintain the vehicles and giving lessee control over the operation of the trucks with right to use same exclusively for the transportation and delivery of lessee's goods, the lessor was not a contract carrier within the meaning of the statute as it stood in 1949, since the lessor merely leased its vehicles and was not a carrier of any kind, and lessee was solely a private carrier; therefore, lessor was not liable for additional assessment at the "for hire" rates under the statute. Equipment Fin. Corp. v. Scheidt, 249 N.C. 334, 106 S.E.2d 555 (1959).

Former Definition of Contract Carrier Not Retroactive. — The definition of "contract carrier" in the Bus Act of 1949 (former §§ 62-121.43 through 62-121.79) was definitive or regulatory and intended to be applied prospectively with respect to applications for permits as contract carriers under the general provisions of the act, and had no bearing on or relation to the grandfather rights confirmed in the act. To make these definitive and regulatory provisions retroactive, so as to place a limitation on the rights of a carrier under the grandfather clause contained in the act, would be in contravention of his constitutional rights and contrary to due process of law. Moreover, such a construction would completely nullify the grandfather clause and make it feckless. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Fleming, 235 N.C. 660, 71 S.E.2d 41 (1952).

For comparison of definitions in Federal Motor Carrier Act and Bus Act of 1949 (former §§ 62-121.43 through 62-121.79), see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Fleming, 235 N.C. 660, 71 S.E.2d 41 (1952).

Legislative Intent as to Water Systems. — By excluding from its definition of public utility those water systems serving fewer than 10 customers, the General Assembly manifested its clear intent that systems serving 10 or more customers serve a sufficient segment of the public to create a public interest in their regulation, so as to make certain that adequate service is provided at fair rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

Provision of Water and Sewage Service "To or for the Public". — By selling water to 18 customers and providing sewage disposal service to 19 customers at the time of hearing, individual provided water and sewage disposal service "to or for the public," where, since her acquisition of the water distribution and sewage disposal facilities, she had provided services to any resident of a house connected thereto who desired the services, and where although she had solicited no customers and had not extended her facilities to any residences not previously served, she had willingly provided service to new customers who moved into homes already connected to her facilities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

"Person" Includes Municipalities and Counties. — Municipalities and counties, bodies politic and corporate, are included in the definition of "person" under § 62-3(21). See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. Robert H. Bennink, Jr., General Counsel and Hearing Examiner, North Carolina Utilities Commission, 55 N.C.A.G. 18 (1985).

The Department of Correction, as a State agency, is not a public utility and is not subject to the fee requirements of § 62-302. See Opinion of Attorney General to LaVee Hamer, General Counsel, North Carolina Department of Correction, — N.C.A.G. — (October 17, 1994).

Western Carolina University (WCU) is not a public utility subject to supervision by the Commission, except that, pursuant to § 116-35, sales to the public of excess power must be "at a rate or rates approved by the Utilities Commission." See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. Myron L. Coulter, Chancellor, Western Carolina University, 55 N.C.A.G. 55 (1985).

§ 62-4. Applicability of Chapter.

This Chapter shall not terminate the preexisting Commission or appointments thereto, or any certificates, permits, orders, rules or regulations issued by it or any other action taken by it, unless and until revoked by it, nor affect in any manner the existing franchises, territories, tariffs, rates, contracts, service regulations and other obligations and rights of public utilities, unless and until altered or modified by or in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter. (1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§§ 62-5 through 62-9: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Article 2.

Organization of Utilities Commission.

§ 62-10. Number; appointment; terms; qualifications; chairman; vacancies; compensation; other employment prohibited.

(a) The North Carolina Utilities Commission shall consist of seven commissioners who shall be appointed by the Governor subject to confirmation by the General Assembly by joint resolution. The names of commissioners to be appointed by the Governor shall be submitted by the Governor to the General Assembly for confirmation by the General Assembly on or before May 1, of the year in which the terms for which the appointments are to be made are to expire. Upon failure of the Governor to submit names as herein provided, the Lieutenant Governor and Speaker of the House jointly shall submit the names of a like number of commissioners to the General Assembly on or before May 15 of the same year for confirmation by the General Assembly. Regardless of the way in which names of commissioners are submitted, confirmation of commissioners must be accomplished prior to adjournment of the then current session of the General Assembly. This subsection shall be subject to the provisions of subsection (c) of this section.

(b) The terms of the commissioners now serving shall expire at the conclusion of the term for which they were appointed which shall remain as before with two regular eight-year terms expiring on July 1 of each fourth year after July 1, 1965, and the fifth term expiring on July 1 of each eighth year after July 1, 1963. The terms of office of utilities commissioners thereafter shall be eight years commencing on July 1 of the year in which the predecessor terms expired, and ending on July 1 of the eighth year thereafter.

(c) In order to increase the number of commissioners to seven, the names of two additional commissioners shall be submitted to the General Assembly on or before May 27, 1975, for confirmation by the General Assembly as provided in G.S. 62-10(a). The commissioners so appointed and confirmed shall serve new terms commencing on July 1, 1975, one of which shall be for a period of two years (with the immediate successor serving for a period of six years), and one of which shall be for a period of two years.

Thereafter, the terms of office of the additional commissioners shall be for eight years as provided in G.S. 62-10(b).

(d) A commissioner in office shall continue to serve until his successor is duly confirmed and qualified but such holdover shall not affect the expiration date of such succeeding term.

(e) On July 1, 1965, and every four years thereafter, one of the commissioners shall be designated by the Governor to serve as chairman of the Commission for the succeeding four years and until his successor is duly confirmed and qualifies. Upon death or resignation of the commissioner appointed as chairman, the Governor shall designate the chairman from the remaining commissioners and appoint a successor as hereinafter provided to fill the vacancy on the Commission.

(f) In case of death, incapacity, resignation or vacancy for any other reason in the office of any commissioner prior to the expiration of his term of office, the name of his successor shall be submitted by the Governor within four weeks after the vacancy arises to the General Assembly for confirmation by the General Assembly. Upon failure of the Governor to submit the name of the successor, the Lieutenant Governor and Speaker of the House jointly shall submit the name of a successor to the General Assembly within six weeks after the vacancy arises. Regardless of the way in which names of commissioners are submitted, confirmation of commissioners must be accomplished prior to the adjournment of the then current session of the General Assembly.

(g) If a vacancy arises or exists pursuant to either subsection (a) or (c) or (f) of this section when the General Assembly is not in session, and the appointment is deemed urgent by the Governor, the commissioner may be appointed and serve on an interim basis pending confirmation by the General Assembly.

(h) The salary of each commissioner and that of the commissioner designated as chairman shall be set by the General Assembly in the Current Operations Appropriations Act. In lieu of merit and other increment raises paid to regular State employees, each commissioner, including the commissioner designated as chairman, shall receive as longevity pay an amount equal to four and eight-tenths percent (4.8%) of the annual salary set forth in the Current Operations Appropriations Act payable monthly after five years of service, and nine and six-tenths percent (9.6%) after 10 years of service. "Service" means service as a member of the Utilities Commission.

(h1) In addition to compensation for their services, each member of the Commission who lives at least 50 miles from the City of Raleigh shall be paid a weekly travel allowance for each week the member travels to the City of Raleigh from the member's home for business of the Commission. The allowance shall be calculated for each member by multiplying the actual round-trip mileage from that member's home to the City of Raleigh by the rate-per-mile which is the business standard mileage rate set by the Internal Revenue Service in Rev. Proc. 93-51, December 27, 1993.

(i) The standards of judicial conduct provided for judges in Article 30 Chapter 7A of the General Statutes shall apply to members of the Commission.

Members of the Commission shall be liable to impeachment for the causes and in the manner provided for judges of the General Court of Justice in Chapter 123 of the General Statutes. Members of the Commission shall not engage in any other employment, business, profession, or vocation while in office.

The name of the executive director appointed by the Governor shall be submitted to the General Assembly on or before May 1 of the year in which the term of his office begins. In case of a vacancy in the office of executive director for any reason prior to the expiration of his term of office, the name of his successor shall be submitted by the Governor to the General Assembly, not later than four weeks after the vacancy arises. If a vacancy arises in the office when the General Assembly is not in session, the executive director shall be appointed by the Governor to serve on an interim basis pending confirmation by the General Assembly.

(b) There is established in the Commission a public staff. The public staff shall consist of the executive director and such other professional, administrative, technical, and clerical personnel as may be necessary in order for the public staff to represent the using and consuming public, as hereinafter provided. All such personnel shall be appointed, supervised, and directed by the executive director. The public staff shall not be subject to the supervision, direction, or control of the Commission, the chairman, or members of the Commission.

(c) Except for the executive director, the salaries and compensation of all such personnel shall be fixed in the manner provided by law for fixing and regulating salaries and compensation by other State agencies.

(d) It shall be the duty and responsibility of the public staff to:

(1) Review, investigate, and make appropriate recommendations to the Commission with respect to the reasonableness of rates charged or proposed to be charged by any public utility and with respect to the consistency of such rates with the public policy of assuring an energy supply adequate to protect the public health and safety and to promote the general welfare;

(2) Review, investigate, and make appropriate recommendations to the Commission with respect to the service furnished, or proposed to be furnished by any public utility;

(3) Intervene on behalf of the using and consuming public, in all Commission proceedings affecting the rates or service of any public utility;

(6) Intervene on behalf of the using and consuming public in all proceedings wherein any public utility proposes to reduce or abandon service to the public;

(7) Investigate complaints affecting the using and consuming public generally which are directed to the Commission, members of the Commission, or the public staff and where appropriate make recommendations to the Commission with respect to such complaints;

(8) Make studies and recommendations to the Commission with respect to standards, regulations, practices, or service of any public utility pursuant to the provisions of G.S. 62-43; provided, however, that the public staff shall have no duty, responsibility, or authority with respect to the enforcement of natural gas pipeline safety laws, rules, or regulations;

(9) When deemed necessary by the executive director, in the interest of the using and consuming public, intervene in Commission proceedings with respect to transfers of franchises, mergers, consolidations, and combinations of public utilities pursuant to the provisions of G.S. 62-111;

(10) Investigate and make appropriate recommendations to the Commission with respect to applications for certificates by radio common carriers, pursuant to the provisions of Article 6A of this Chapter;

(11) Review, investigate, and make appropriate recommendations to the Commission with respect to contracts of public utilities with affiliates or subsidiaries, pursuant to the provisions of G.S. 62-153;

(12) When deemed necessary by the executive director, in the interest of the using and consuming public, advise the Commission with respect to securities, regulations, and transactions, pursuant to the provisions of Article 8 of this Chapter.

(e) The public staff shall have no duty, responsibility, or authority with respect to the laws, rules or regulations pertaining to the physical facilities or equipment of common, contract and exempt carriers, the registration of vehicles or of insurance coverage of vehicles of common, contract and exempt carriers; the licensing, training, or qualifications of drivers or other persons employed by common, contract and exempt carriers, or the operation of motor vehicle equipment by common, contract and exempt carriers in the State.

(f) The executive director representing the public staff shall have the same rights of appeal from Commission orders or decisions as other parties to Commission proceedings.

(g) Upon request, the executive director shall employ the resources of the public staff to furnish to the Commission, its members, or the Attorney General, such information and reports or conduct such investigations and provide such other assistance as may reasonably be required in order to supervise and control the public utilities of the State as may be necessary to carry out the laws providing for their regulation.

(h) The executive director is authorized to employ, subject to approval by the State Budget Officer, expert witnesses and such other professional expertise as the executive director may deem necessary from time to time to assist the public staff in its participation in Commission proceedings, and the compensation and expenses therefor shall be paid by the utility or utilities participating in said proceedings. Such compensation and expenses shall be treated by the Commission, for rate-making purposes, in a manner generally consistent with its treatment of similar expenditures incurred by utilities in the presentation of their cases before the Commission. An accounting of such compensation and expenses shall be reported annually to the Joint Legislative Utility Review Committee and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

(i) The executive director, within established budgetary limits, and as allowed by law, shall authorize and approve travel, subsistence, and related necessary expenses of the executive director or members of the public staff, incurred while traveling on official business. It shall be the duty of the Commission and the Department of Revenue, with regard to the assessment and valuation of properties of public utilities doing business in North Carolina, to coordinate the activities of said agencies so that each of them shall receive the benefit of the exchange of information gathered by them with respect to the valuations of public utilities property for rate making and taxation purposes, and the facilities of each of said agencies shall be made fully available to both of them. § 62-23. Commission as an administrative board or agency.

The Commission is hereby declared to be an administrative board or agency of the General Assembly created for the principal purpose of carrying out the administration and enforcement of this Chapter, and for the promulgation of rules and regulations and fixing utility rates pursuant to such administration; and in carrying out such purpose, the Commission shall assume the initiative in performing its duties and responsibilities in securing to the people of the State an efficient and economic system of public utilities in the same manner as commissions and administrative boards generally. In proceedings in which the Commission is exercising functions judicial in nature, it shall act in a judicial capacity as provided in G.S. 62-60. The Commission shall separate its administrative or executive functions, its rule making functions, and its functions judicial in nature to such extent as it deems practical and advisable in the public interest. (1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

The rate making activities of the Commission are a legislative function. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Rule making is an exercise of the delegated legislative authority of the Commission, under §§ 62-30 and 62-31, to supervise and control the public utilities of this State and to make reasonable rules and regulations to accomplish that end. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Benefits of 1986 Tax Reform Act to Ratepayers Through Rule Making Procedure. — The Utilities Commission may pass on to the ratepayers the benefits of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 through a rule making procedure rather than a rate making procedure. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 326 N.C. 190, 388 S.E.2d 118 (1990).

Administrative Rule Making Not Res Judicata. — Actions of an administrative agency which involve the exercise of a legislative rather than a judicial function are not res judicata. Exercises of the Commission's rule making power, therefore, are not governed by the principles of res judicata and are reviewable by the Supreme Court in later appeals of closely related matters. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Policy Making. — Where the North Carolina Utilities Commission enacted a policy which assigned gain or loss to shareholders within an adjudicative proceeding, the action did not constitute an abuse of discretion. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 123 N.C. App. 623, 473 S.E.2d 661 (1996).

Article 3.

Powers and Duties of Utilities Commission.

§ 62-30. General powers of Commission.

The Commission shall have and exercise such general power and authority to supervise and control the public utilities of the State as may be necessary to carry out the laws providing for their regulation, and all such other powers and duties as may be necessary or incident to the proper discharge of its duties. (1933, c. 134, s. 2; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Power of Legislature Through Agencies to Establish Reasonable Regulations. — Power of the legislature, either directly or through appropriate agencies, to establish reasonable regulations for public service corporations in matters affecting the public interests is now universally recognized, and the principle has been approved in well considered decisions dealing directly with the question. SCC v. Railroad, 137 N.C. 1, 49 S.E. 191 (1904), aff'd, 206 U.S. 1, 27 S. Ct. 585, 51 L. Ed. 933 (1907); SCC v. Railroad, 140 N.C. 239, 52 S.E. 941 (1905); Atlantic C.L.R.R. v. City of Goldsboro, 155 N.C. 356, 71 S.E. 514 (1911), aff'd, 232 U.S. 548, 34 S. Ct. 364, 58 L. Ed. 721 (1914); Southern Pub. Utils. Co. v. City of Charlotte, 179 N.C. 151, 101 S.E. 619 (1919). See also, Atlantic Express Co. v. Wilmington & W.R.R., 111 N.C. 463, 16 S.E. 393, 32 Am. St. R. 805 (1892); Corporation Comm'n v. Seaboard Air Line Sys., 127 N.C. 283, 37 S.E. 266 (1900).

The reason for strict regulation of public utilities is that they are either monopolies by nature or given the security of monopolistic authority for better service to the public. The public is best served in many circumstances where destructive competition has been removed and the utility is a regulated monopoly. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

Commission Has No Authority Other Than Granted by Legislature. — The Utilities Commission was created by the General Assembly. In fixing rates to be charged by utilities, it exercises a legislative function and has no authority other than that given to it by the legislature. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 59 N.C. App. 240, 296 S.E.2d 487 (1982), rev'd on other grounds, 309 N.C. 238, 306 S.E.2d 113 (1983).

General Power and Authority. — Through this section and § 62-32 the legislature has granted the Utilities Commission such general power and authority to supervise and control public utilities of the State as may be necessary. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

Under § 62-42(a)(5) the Commission has the authority to order the utility to take action necessary to secure reasonably adequate service for the public's need and convenience. Undoubtedly yellow pages could fall within this provision. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

If the Commission may refuse to accept the uncontradicted evidence presented to it by a utility, it most certainly may reject the utility's evidence in favor of evidence presented by other witnesses. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

The Commission has no jurisdiction over parties unless they are public utilities within the meaning of the statute. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. New Hope Rd. Water Co., 248 N.C. 27, 102 S.E.2d 377 (1958); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. National Merchandising Corp., 288 N.C. 715, 220 S.E.2d 304 (1975).

The rate making activities of the Commission are a legislative function. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Rule making is an exercise of the delegated legislative authority of the Commission, under this section and § 62-31, to supervise and control the public utilities of this State and to make reasonable rules and regulations to accomplish that end. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Benefits of 1986 Tax Reform Act to Ratepayers Through Rule Making Procedure. — The Utilities Commission may pass on to the ratepayers the benefits of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 through a rule making procedure rather than a rate making procedure. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 326 N.C. 190, 388 S.E.2d 118 (1990).

Commission, Not Courts, Is to Determine Fair Rate of Return. — The Commission, not the courts, is authorized by the legislature to determine what is a fair rate of return. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

Court's Review of Commission's Determination of Fair Rate of Return. — In reviewing the Commission's determination of fair rate of return, the court will only review the record and evidence to determine if the Commission's order is supported by competent evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

Commission's Rule Making Not Res Judicata. — Actions of an administrative agency which involve the exercise of a legislative rather than a judicial function are not res judicata. Exercising of the Commission's rule-making power, therefore, are not governed by the principles of res judicata and are reviewable by the Supreme Court in later appeals of closely related matters. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Yellow Page Revenue and Expenses Included When Utility Applies for Rate Increase. — Yellow page revenue and expenses should be included in the revenues and expenses of the company when it applies for a rate increase. This is clearly the majority rule. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Central Tel. Co., 60 N.C. App. 393, 299 S.E.2d 264 (1983).

Telephone utility enjoys a great advantage over all competitors in the field of directory advertising. In addition, this preferred position with all its benefits and revenues is directly related to and a result of the company's public utility function. Therefore, the Utilities Commission does have the authority to include the expenses, revenues and investments related to directory advertising in its rate making proceedings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

Incorrect Telephone Number Listings. — The Utilities Commission had jurisdiction over complaints concerning incorrect telephone number listings in the telephone directory even when the regulated utility had delegated to another company the public utility function of publishing its directory which also included paid advertising. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 326 N.C. 522, 391 S.E.2d 487 (1990).

Proper Listings in Advertisements in Yellow Pages. — If a utility elects to include yellow pages advertising in the directory which it is required to publish, then clearly proper listings in the advertisements in the yellow pages become a part of the utility's "function of providing adequate service" to the public. The public is not well served by listings in the yellow pages or the white pages of the directory which are incorrect or confusing to the consuming public. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 326 N.C. 522, 391 S.E.2d 487 (1990).

Providing a correct telephone listing in the yellow pages as well as in the white pages of the directory is a utility function, and the Commission properly has jurisdiction over complaints which arise from this function. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 326 N.C. 522, 391 S.E.2d 487 (1990).

Whether there shall be competition in any given field and to what extent is largely a matter of policy committed to the sound judgment and discretion of the Commission. The Commission must maintain a reasonable balance to see that the public is adequately served and at the same time to see that the public and the public utilities involved are not prejudiced by the effects which flow from excessive competition brought about by excessive services. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

Authority of Commission to Authorize Sale of Facilities of Power Company to Municipality. — A power company, with the consent and approval of the Commission, has the right to sell its facilities to a city, and thereby permit the city to assume the obligation for meeting the public convenience and necessity for the service theretofore rendered by the power company. The Commission has not only the authority but the duty to pass upon such a contract and to determine whether or not it is in the public interest to permit its consummation. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Casey, 245 N.C. 297, 96 S.E.2d 8 (1957); Duke Power Co. v. Blue Ridge Elec. Membership Corp., 253 N.C. 596, 117 S.E.2d 812 (1961).

As to the piercing of the corporate veil between corporation and its wholly-owned public utility subsidiary to establish refund obligation, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397, probable jurisdiction noted, 474 U.S. 1018, 106 S. Ct. 565, 88 L. Ed. 2d 550 (1985), rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

Propriety of Order Requiring Continued Operation of Utilities. — An order of the Commission, based upon proper findings and conclusions, requiring appellant to continue operation of her utilities would not violate constitutional prohibitions against involuntary servitude. Appellant voluntarily put her land and equipment to a public use and collected compensation for the services which she provided, and having done so, the Commission could require that she continue to use them in the service to which she voluntarily dedicated them, so long as she was justly compensated for such service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

Former Railroad Commission did not interfere with interstate commerce, being concerned solely in domestic affairs and trade. State ex rel. Caldwell v. Wilson, 121 N.C. 425, 121 N.C. 480, 28 S.E. 554, 28 S.E. 554 (1897).

Applied in City Coach Co. v. Gastonia Transit Co., 227 N.C. 391, 42 S.E.2d 398 (1947); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel.

& Tel. Co., 57 N.C. App. 489, 291 S.E.2d 789 (1982).

§ 62-31. Power to make and enforce rules and regulations for public utilities.

The Commission shall have and exercise full power and authority to administer and enforce the provisions of this Chapter, and to make and enforce reasonable and necessary rules and regulations to that end. (1907, c. 469, s. 1a; 1913, c. 127, s. 2; C.S., s. 1037; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1947, c. 1008, s. 2; 1949, c. 1132, s. 3; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-430, s. 18, as amended by Session Laws 2001-487, s. 119, provides: "Pursuant to G.S. 62-31 and G.S. 62-32, the Utilities Commission must lower the rates set for telecommunications service to reflect the repeal of G.S. 105-120 and the resulting liability of local telecommunications companies for the tax imposed under G.S. 105-122."

CASE NOTES

The rate making activities of the Commission are a legislative function. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Rule making is an exercise of the delegated legislative authority of the Commission, under § 62-30 and this section, to supervise and control the public utilities of this State and to make reasonable rules and regulations to accomplish that end. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Tax Reform Benefits Passed on to Ratepayers by Rulemaking Rather Than Ratemaking Procedure. — Utilities Commission may pass on to the ratepayers the benefits of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 (TRA-86) through a rule making procedure rather than a rate making procedure. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 326 N.C. 190, 388 S.E.2d 118 (1990).

Commission's Rule Making Not Res Judicata. — Actions of an administrative agency which involve the exercise of a legislative rather than a judicial function are not res judicata. Exercises of the Commission's rule making power, therefore, are not governed by the principles of res judicata and are reviewable by the Supreme Court in later appeals of closely related matters. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Authority to determine adequacy of public utility's service and rates to be charged therefor has been given to the Utilities Commission, not to the Supreme Court or the Court of Appeals. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 24 N.C. App. 327, 210 S.E.2d 543 (1975), vacated and appeal dismissed, 289 N.C. 286, 221 S.E.2d 322 (1976).

Finding That Rule Is Reasonable and Necessary Not Required. — In adopting a rule pursuant to this section, the Utilities Commission need not make a finding of fact that the rule is reasonable and necessary in order for it to administer and enforce the provisions of the Public Utilities Act. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 13 N.C. App. 554, 186 S.E.2d 612 (1972), cert. denied, 281 N.C. 158, 188 S.E.2d 364 (1972).

Jurisdiction of Commission to Investigate. — The Commission had the jurisdiction to investigate, upon complaint or upon its own initiative without complaint, to determine whether any motor carrier was operating in violation of the provisions of the Bus Act of 1949 (former §§ 62-121.43 through 62-121.-79). State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. McKinnon, 254 N.C. 1, 118 S.E.2d 134 (1961).

Tax Reform Benefits Passed on to Ratepayers by Rule Making Rather Than Rate Making Procedure. — Utilities Commission may pass on to the ratepayers the benefits of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 (TRA-86) through a rule making procedure rather than a rate making procedure. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 326 N.C. 190, 388 S.E.2d 118 (1990).

Rule Denying Rights Under Grandfather Clause. — The Utilities Commission did not have the power to promulgate a rule and then to interpret or enforce the rule in such manner as to deny the exercise of rights which the legislature in clear and express terms preserved to all motor vehicle carriers of property who were in bona fide operation on January 1, 1947, and who met the additional requirements contained in the Bus Act of 1949 (former §§ 62-121.43 through 62-121.79). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Fox, 239 N.C. 253, 79 S.E.2d 391 (1954).

Supervisory Powers of Former Corporation Commission. — There was no intent to give a schedule of the thousands of appliances used in handling the business of common carriers, nor to enumerate the countless dealings between them and their patrons which the former Corporation Commission should supervise. The clearly declared purpose was to put the control and supervision of the whole matter in the hands of an impartial commission, with power to make reasonable rules and orders, subject to the right of appeal by either party, the shipper or the carrier, to the courts, instead of leaving such dealing to the unrestricted will of the carrier. Corporation Comm'n v. Railroad, 139 N.C. 126, 51 S.E. 793 (1905).

The former Corporation Commission was given the power to make orders and regulations for the safety, etc., of shippers or patrons of any public service corporation. Tilley v. Norfolk & W. Ry., 162 N.C. 37, 77 S.E. 994 (1913).

Applied in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. National Merchandising Corp., 288 N.C. 715, 220 S.E.2d 304 (1975); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Rail Common Carriers, 42 N.C. § 62-32. Supervisory powers; rates and service.

(a) Under the rules herein prescribed and subject to the limitations hereinafter set forth, the Commission shall have general supervision over the rates charged and service rendered by all public utilities in this State.

(b) Except as provided in this Chapter for bus companies, the Commission is hereby vested with all power necessary to require and compel any public utility to provide and furnish to the citizens of this State reasonable service of the kind it undertakes to furnish and fix and regulate the reasonable rates and charges to be made for such service. (1913, c. 127, s. 7; C.S., s. 1112(b); 1933, c. 134, s. 3; 1937, c. 108, s. 2; 1941, cc. 59, 97; 1959, c. 639, s. 12; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1985, c. 676, s. 5.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — This section is similar to former § 1035 of the Consolidated Statutes. Many of the following cases dated prior to 1963 were decided under that section and are given as an aid in construing the present law, but should be considered in light of the former law.

Right of State to Regulate. — The right of the State to establish regulations for public service corporations, and over business enterprises in which the owners, corporate or individual, have devoted their property to a public use, and to enforce these regulations by appropriate penalties, is firmly established. Efland v. Southern Ry., 146 N.C. 135, 59 S.E. 355 (1907). See also Whiting Mfg. Co. v. Carolina Aluminum Co., 207 N.C. 52, 175 S.E. 698 (1934).

Railroad companies, due to the public nature of the business carried on by them and the interest which the public has in their operation, are subject as to their State business to State regulation, which may be exerted either directly by the legislative authority or by administrative bodies endowed with power to that end. Atlantic Coast Line R.R. v. North Carolina Corp. Comm'n, 206 U.S. 1, 27 S. Ct. 585, 51 L. Ed. 933 (1907).

Purpose of Regulation. — An uncontrolled legal monopoly in an essential service leads, normally and naturally, to poor service and exorbitant charges. To prevent such result, the legislature has conferred upon the Utilities Commission the power to police the operations of the utility company so as to require it to render service of good quality at charges which are reasonable. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

With public utilities the State has undertaken to protect the public from the customary consequences of monopoly, by making the rates and services of the certificate holder subject to regulation and control by the Utilities Commission. In re Certificate of Need for Aston Park Hosp., 282 N.C. 542, 193 S.E.2d 729 (1973).

Rate Fixing Power May Be Delegated. — The General Assembly has the power to establish a commission to supervise and regulate the rates of common carriers. Atlantic Express Co. v. Wilmington & W.R.R., 111 N.C. 463, 16 S.E. 393 (1892); SCC v. Seaboard Air Line Sys., 127 N.C. 283, 37 S.E. 266 (1900); SCC v. Railroad, 137 N.C. 1, 49 S.E. 191 (1904), aff'd, 206 U.S. 1, 27 S. Ct. 585, 51 L. Ed. 933 (1907); SCC v. Railroad, 139 N.C. 126, 51 S.E. 793 (1905); Corporation Comm'n v. Railroad, 140 N.C. 239, 52 S.E. 941 (1905).

Scope of Power Delegated to Commission Not a Federal Question. — Whether a regulation of a state railroad commission otherwise legal is arbitrary and unreasonable because beyond the scope of the power delegated to the commission is not a federal question. Atlantic Coast Line R.R. v. North Carolina Corp. Comm'n, 206 U.S. 1, 27 S. Ct. 585, 51 L. Ed. 933 (1907).

General Power and Authority of Commission. — Through § 62-30 and this section the legislature has granted the Utilities Commission such general power and authority to supervise and control public utilities of the State as may be necessary. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

Under § 62-42(a)(5) the Commission has the authority to order the utility to take action necessary to secure reasonably adequate service for the public's need and convenience. Undoubtedly yellow pages could fall within this provision. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

If the Commission may refuse to accept the uncontradicted evidence presented to it by a utility, it most certainly may reject the utility's evidence in favor of evidence presented by other witnesses. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

Authority of Commission to Regulate Service and Rates. — Under this section and § 62-42, the Utilities Commission is given the power and the duty to compel utility companies to render adequate service and to set reasonable rates for such service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

The Utilities Commission is the administrative agency charged with the duty of regulating the intrastate retail rates of public utilities within this State. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397, rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

Authority to determine adequacy of public utility's service and rates to be charged therefor has been given to the Utilities Commission, not to the Supreme Court or to the Court of Appeals. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 24 N.C. App. 327, 210 S.E.2d 543 (1975), vacated and appeal dismissed, 289 N.C. 286, 221 S.E.2d 322 (1976).

The Commission, not the courts, is authorized by the legislature to determine what is a fair rate of return. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

In reviewing the Commission's determination of fair rate of return, the court will only review the record and evidence to determine if the Commission's order is supported by competent evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

Commission's Regulatory Powers Limited. — Notwithstanding the authority of the Commission to regulate its services and rates and other matters incidental thereto, the property of the utility is private property and the business is private business. Except as otherwise provided, expressly or by reasonable implication, in this Chapter, a utility is free to manage its property and business as it sees fit and the Commission may not restrict or control the discretion of the board of directors in the acquisition of property, or in the price paid for it. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Arbitrary Exercise of Regulatory Power. — The public power to regulate railroads and the private right of ownership of such property coexist, and the one does not destroy the other; and where the power to regulate is so arbitrarily exercised as to infringe the rights of ownership, the exertion is void because repugnant to the due process and equal protection clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment. Atlantic Coast Line R.R. v. North Carolina Corp. Comm'n, 206 U.S. 1, 27 S. Ct. 585, 51 L. Ed. 933 (1907).

As to intrastate or domestic matters, the General Assembly has the right to establish regulations for public service corporations and for business enterprises in which the owners have devoted their property to public use, and to apply these regulations to certain classes of pursuits and occupations, imposing these requirements equally on all members of a given class, the limitation of this right of classification being that the same must be on some reasonable ground that bears a just and proper relation to the attempted classification and is not a mere arbitrary selection. Efland v. Southern Ry., 146 N.C. 135, 59 S.E. 355 (1907).

Recovery of Reasonable Cost of Approved Gas Exploration Projects. — The Commission, in ordering that the reasonable costs of approved exploration projects were to be recoverable through tracking rate increases, acted within its acknowledged duty and authority to compel adequate and efficient utility service to the citizens of this State, where it was clear from the Commission's findings that, without additional gas supplies, the gas utilities would be unable to render adequate service to their customers, that exploration programs were the most feasible means for obtaining these additional supplies, and that the utilities were unable, through traditional methods of financing, to fund sufficient exploration projects to obtain these supplies. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Contractual obligation to provide water service to a recreational subdivision, as well as the actual delivery thereof, directly affect a utility's ability to function as a utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Forest Utils., Inc., 21 N.C. App. 146, 203 S.E.2d 410 (1974).

Authority to Allow Use of Availability Charge. — The Utilities Commission has jurisdiction and authority to allow the use of an availability charge in a rate schedule for a recreational subdivision, should any be deserved. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Forest Utils., Inc., 21 N.C. App. 146, 203 S.E.2d 410 (1974).

Landowners in a recreational subdivision who pay availability charges are "consumers" or stand in a consumer-like relationship to the utility providing water service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Forest Utils., Inc., 21 N.C. App. 146, 203 S.E.2d 410 (1974).

Fees and Charges Made by Municipality. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission has no jurisdiction to fix or supervise the fees and charges to be made by a municipality for connections with a city sewerage system, either within or without its corporate limits. Atlantic Constr. Co. v. City of Raleigh, 230 N.C. 365, 53 S.E.2d 165 (1949). See also Town of Grimesland v. City of Washington, 234 N.C. 117, 66 S.E.2d 794 (1951).

A rider approved by the Commission, which provided that the utility involved in a rate hearing would meter the protesting municipalities separately for purchases by the municipalities for normal resale and purchases by the municipalities for resale to industrial users, but which contained a provision that the municipalities were free to contract in respect to the price they would require the industrial users to pay, did not fix the rate at which the municipalities would be required to sell to industrial users in violation of the statute. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Municipal Corps., 243 N.C. 193, 90 S.E.2d 519 (1955).

A sanitary district which, as a part of its functions, furnishes drinking water to the public and also filters water for industrial consumers is a quasi-municipal corporation, and is not under the control and supervision of the North Carolina Utilities Commission as to services or rates. Halifax Paper Co. v. Roanoke Rapids San. Dist., 232 N.C. 421, 61 S.E.2d 378 (1950).

Former Corporation Commission had general control and supervision of all railroad corporations. Tilley v. Norfolk & W. Ry., 162 N.C. 37, 77 S.E. 994 (1913).

But No Power to Appraise and Assess. — The former Corporation Commission was not clothed with the power of appraising and assessing railroad property. Southern Ry. v. North Carolina Corp. Comm'n, 97 F. 513 (E.D.N.C. 1899), aff'd on rehearing, 99 F. 162 (E.D.N.C. 1900).

The State has power to compel a railroad company to perform a particular and specified duty necessary for the convenience of the public, even though it may entail some pecuniary loss. Atlantic Coast Line R.R. v. North Carolina Corp. Comm'n, 206 U.S. 1, 27 S. Ct. 585, 51 L. Ed. 933 (1907).

Commerce Between States. — The power of Congress over commerce between the states is, as a general rule, exclusive, and its inaction is equivalent to a declaration that it shall be free from any restraint which it has the right to impose, except by such statutes as are passed by the states for the purpose of facilitating the safe transmission of goods and carriage of passengers, and are not in conflict with any valid federal legislation. Morris-Scarboro-Moffitt Co. v. Southern Express Co., 146 N.C. 167, 59 S.E. 667 (1907).

As to when a telegram is not interstate commerce, see State ex rel. R.R. Comm'rs v. Western Union Tel. Co., 113 N.C. 213, 18 S.E. 389 (1893), appeal dismissed, 17 S. Ct. 1002, 41 L. Ed. 1187 (1897); Leavell v. Western Union Tel. Co., 116 N.C. 211, 21 S.E. 391 (1895), appeal dismissed, 17 S. Ct. 1002, 41 L. Ed. 1187 (1897).

Telephone Company Subject to State Control. — A telephone company, acting under a quasi-public franchise, is properly classified among the public service corporations, and as such is subject to public regulation and reasonable control. Leavell v. Western Union Tel. Co., 116 N.C. 211, 21 S.E. 391 (1895), appeal dismissed, 17 S. Ct. 1002, 41 L. Ed. 1187 (1897); Godwin v. Telephone Co., 136 N.C. 479, 48 S.E. 813 (1904); Clinton-Dunn Tel. Co. v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 159 N.C. 9, 74 S.E. 636 (1912).

A local telephone company having an arrangement for the transmission of long distance messages over the lines of another company for pay is a public service corporation and comes within the provisions of this section. Horton v. Interstate Tel. & Tel. Co., 202 N.C. 610, 163 S.E. 694 (1932).

Statute giving general control of telephone companies to former Corporation Commission did not oust court of its jurisdiction to compel the company to perform a public duty it owed to an individual. Walls v. Strickland, 174 N.C. 298, 93 S.E. 857 (1917).

Yellow page revenue and expenses should be included in the revenues and expenses of the company when it applies for a rate increase. This is clearly the majority rule. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Central Tel. Co., 60 N.C. App. 393, 299 S.E.2d 264 (1983).

Classified Directory Advertising Revenues. — In making judgment that telephone company's classified directory was an essential aspect of telephone service generally Commission was clearly acting within its authority under § 62-30 and this section, and the Commission correctly concluded that the classified directory advertising revenues should continue to be accounted for in establishing just and reasonable rates for the company in this State. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 57 N.C. App. 489, 291 S.E.2d 789 (1982), modified, 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

Telephone utility enjoys a great advantage over all competitors in the field of directory advertising. In addition, this preferred position with all its benefits and revenues is directly related to and a result of the company's public utility function. Therefore, the Utilities Commission does have the authority to include the expenses, revenues and investments related to directory advertising in its rate making proceedings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

Propriety of Order Requiring Continued Operation of Utilities. — An order of the Commission, based upon proper findings and conclusions, requiring appellant to continue operation of her utilities would not violate constitutional prohibitions against involuntary servitude. Appellant voluntarily put her land and equipment to a public use and collected compensation for the services which she provided, and having done so, the Commission may require that she continue to use it in the service to which she voluntarily dedicated it so long as she is justly compensated for such service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

When the Utilities Commission found that natural gas corporation had received payments in lieu of what it would have received under a service contract and that the customers of the company were bearing the company's contract costs, it was within the power of the Commission under subsection (b) of this section and G.S. 62-130(a) and (d) to take these payments into account in setting a reasonable rate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Natural Gas Corp., 76 N.C. App. 330, 332 S.E.2d 755, cert. denied, 314 N.C. 675, 336 S.E.2d 405 (1985).

§ 62-33. Commission to keep informed as to utilities.

The Commission shall at all times keep informed as to the public utilities, their rates and charges for service, and the service supplied and the purposes for which it is supplied. (1933, c. 134, s. 16; 1937, c. 165; 1939, c. 365, ss. 1, 2; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-34. To investigate companies under its control; visitation and inspection.

(a) The Commission shall from time to time visit the places of business and investigate the books and papers of all public utilities to ascertain if all the orders, rules and regulations of the Commission have been complied with, and shall have full power and authority to examine all officers, agents and employees of such public utilities, and all other persons, under oath or otherwise, and to compel the production of papers and the attendance of witnesses to obtain the information necessary for carrying into effect and otherwise enforcing the provisions of this Chapter.

(b) Members of the Commission, Commission staff, and public staff may during all reasonable hours enter upon any premises occupied by any public utility, for the purpose of making the examinations and tests and exercising any power provided for in this Article, and may set up and use on such premises any apparatus and appliances necessary therefor. Such public utility shall have the right to be represented at the making of such examinations, tests and inspections. (1899, c. 164, s. 1; Rev., s. 1064; 1913, c. 127, ss. 1, 2, 7; 1917, c. 194; C.S., s. 1060; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; c. 307, s. 14; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1977, c. 468, s. 10.)

§ 62-35. System of accounts.

(a) The Commission may establish a system of accounts to be kept by the public utilities under its jurisdiction, or may classify said public utilities and establish a system of accounts for each class, and prescribe the manner of keeping such accounts.

(b) The Commission may require any public utility under its jurisdiction to keep separate or allocate the revenue from and the cost of doing interstate and intrastate business in North Carolina.

(c) The Commission may ascertain, determine, and prescribe what are proper and adequate charges for depreciation of the several classes of property for each public utility. The Commission may prescribe such changes in such charges for depreciation as it finds necessary. (Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 14; C.S., s. 1088; 1931, c. 455; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; c. 307, s. 13; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Review of Annual Charge to Operating Expenses on Account of Depreciation. — If a reasonably close relationship between the reserve for depreciation and the actual accumulated depreciation is not present, the Utilities Commission may and should review and make appropriate changes in the annual charge to operating expenses on account of depreciation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

§ 62-36. Reports by utilities; canceling certificates for failure to file.

The Commission may require any public utility to file annual reports in such form and of such content as the Commission may require and special reports concerning any matter about which the Commission is authorized to inquire or to keep informed, or which it is required to enforce. All reports shall be under oath when required by the Commission. The Commission may issue an order, without notice or hearing, canceling or suspending any certificate of convenience and necessity or any certificate of authority 30 days after the date of service of the order for failing to file the required annual report at the time it was due. In the event the report is filed during the 30-day period, the order of cancellation or suspension shall be null and void. (1931, c. 455; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; c. 307, s. 15; 1941, c. 97; 1959, c. 639, ss. 7, 8; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1985, c. 676, s. 6.)

§ 62-36A. Natural gas planning.

(a) The Commission shall require each franchised natural gas local distribution company to file reports with the Commission detailing its plans for providing natural gas service in areas of its franchise territory in which natural gas service is not available. Commission rules shall require that each local distribution company shall update its report at least every two years.

(b) The Commission shall develop rules to carry out the intent of subsection (a) of this section, and to produce an orderly system for reviewing current levels of natural gas service and planning the orderly expansion of natural gas service to areas not served. These rules shall provide for expansion of service by each franchised natural gas local distribution company to all areas of its franchise territory by July 1, 1998 or within three years of the time the franchise territory is awarded, whichever is later, and shall provide that any local distribution company that the Commission determines is not providing adequate service to at least some portion of each county within its franchise territory by July 1, 1998 or within three years of the time the franchise territory is awarded, whichever is later, shall forfeit its exclusive franchise rights to that portion of its territory not being served.

(b1) The Commission shall issue a certificate of public convenience and necessity in accordance with the provisions of Article 6 of this Chapter for natural gas service for all areas of the State for which certificates have not been issued. Issuance of certificates shall be completed by January 1, 1997, and shall be made after a hearing process in which any person capable of providing natural gas service to an area of the State for which no certificate has been issued or for which no application has been made by July 1, 1995, may apply to the Commission to be considered for the issuance of a certificate under the provisions of this subsection. In issuing a certificate for any unfranchised area of the State, the Commission shall consider the timeliness with which each applicant could begin providing adequate, reliable, and economical service to that area, as well as any other criteria the Commission finds to be relevant, and the Commission may issue a certificate covering less than the total area applied for by an applicant. If the Commission issues a certificate covering less than the total area applied for by the applicant, the applicant may refuse the certificate. In the event that the Commission receives no application for issuance of a certificate for service to a particular area of the State, or in the event a certificate for service to a particular area is not awarded for any reason, the Commission shall issue a certificate for that area to a person or persons to whom a certificate has already been issued.

(c) Within 180 days after all local distribution companies have filed their initial or biennial update reports, the Commission and the Public Staff shall independently provide analyses and summaries of those reports, together with status reports of natural gas service in the State, to the Joint Legislative Utility Review Committee. (1989, c. 338, s. 1; 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 560, s. 1; 1995, c. 216, s. 1; c. 271, s. 1.)

§ 62-36B. Regulation of natural gas service agreements.

Whenever the Commission, after notice and hearing, finds that additional natural gas service agreements (including "backhaul" agreements) with interstate or intrastate pipelines will provide increased competition in North Carolina's natural gas industry and (i) will likely result in lower costs to consumers without substantially increasing the risks of service interruptions to customers, or (ii) will substantially reduce the risks of service interruptions without unduly increasing costs to consumers, the Commission may enter and serve an order directing the franchised natural gas local distribution company to negotiate in good faith to enter into such service agreements within a reasonable time. In considering costs to consumers under this section, the Commission may consider both short-term and long-term costs. (1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 962, s. 5.)

§ 62-37. Investigations.

(a) The Commission may, on its own motion and whenever it may be necessary in the performance of its duties, investigate and examine the condition and management of public utilities or of any particular public utility. In conducting such investigation the Commission may proceed either with or without a hearing as it may deem best, but shall make no order without affording the parties affected thereby notice and hearing.

(b) If after such an investigation, or investigation and hearing, the Commission, in its discretion, is of the opinion that the public interest shall be served by an appraisal of any properties in question, the investigation of any particular construction, the audit of any accounts or books, the investigation of any contracts, or the practices, contracts or other relations between the public utility in question and any holding or finance agency with which such public utility may be affiliated, it shall be the duty of the Commission to report its findings and recommendation to the Governor and Council of State with request for an allotment from the Contingency and Emergency Fund to defray the expense thereof, which may be granted as provided by law for expenditures from such fund or may be denied. Provided, however, that the Commission is authorized to order any such appraisal, investigations, or audit to be undertaken by a competent, qualified, and independent firm selected by the Commission, the cost of such appraisal, investigation or audit to be borne by the public utility in question. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Chapter, the Commission is authorized to initiate a full and complete management audit of any public utility company once every five years, by a competent, qualified, and independent firm, such audit to thoroughly examine the efficiency and effectiveness of management decisions among other factors as directed by the Commission. The cost of such audit is to be borne by the particular public utility subject to the audit; provided, however, that carriers subject to regulation by and auditing of the Interstate Commerce Commission shall not be required to bear the expense of additional audit of accounts or management audit required hereunder. (1931, c. 455; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; c. 307, s. 16; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1975, c. 867, s. 4.)

§ 62-38. Power to regulate public utilities in municipalities.

The Commission shall have the same power and authority to regulate the operation of privately owned public utilities within municipalities as it has to regulate such public utilities operating outside of municipalities, with the exception of the rights of such municipalities to grant franchises for such operation under G.S. 160A-319, and such public utilities shall be subject to the provisions of this Chapter in the same manner as public utilities operating outside municipalities. (1917, c. 136, subch. 3, s. 3; C.S., ss. 2783, 2784, 2785; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1989, c. 770, s. 11.)

CASE NOTES

Power of Commission to Regulate Privately Owned Public Utilities Within Cities. — The Utilities Commission has the same power and responsibility to regulate the operation of privately owned public utilities within cities as it does their operation outside of cities. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 22 N.C. App. 91, 205 S.E.2d 774, cert. denied, 285 N.C. 661, 207 S.E.2d 752 (1974).

The power of a municipality to grant franchises to public utilities for the use of its streets, and to provide service to its citizens, must yield to the paramount right of the State to regulate, through the Utilities Commission, public utilities even when they are operated within the corporate boundaries of a municipality. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 22 N.C. App. 91, 205 S.E.2d 774, cert. denied, 285 N.C. 661, 207 S.E.2d 752 (1974).

Municipal Charter Subject to State Powers. — The power conferred by a city charter "to provide water and lights and to contract for same" is subject to the police power of the State with respect to rates to be charged by a public service corporation under such contract as the city may make under its charter. Corporation Comm'n v. Henderson Water Co., 190 N.C. 70, 128 S.E. 465 (1925).

Although the rate to be charged for water is stipulated by contract between city and water company, this may be changed by the Commission if it appears that the rate contracted for is too low, and the one fixed by the Commission is just. The burden of proof is on the one alleging that the rate fixed by the Commission is unreasonable. Corporation Comm'n v. Henderson Water Co., 190 N.C. 70, 128 S.E. 465 (1925).

Corporation Held Not Entitled to Injunction Against Commission. — A public service corporation having a contract with a city, applying to the Commission for the increase of the rate contracted for with the city and obtaining partial relief, would not be granted an injunction by the federal court against the Commission on the grounds that the rate was confiscatory, for such increase as was allowed by the Commission was that much more than could have been received under the contract with the city had the Commission refused to act. Henderson Water Co. v. Corporation Comm'n, 269 U.S. 278, 46 S. Ct. 112, 70 L. Ed. 273 (1925).

Consent of Customer or Commission Necessary Before Service May Be Abandoned. — Power company may not abandon service to any customer, subject to the customer's paying his bill, without the consent of the customer or authorization of the Utilities Commission. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 22 N.C. App. 91, 205 S.E.2d 774, cert. denied, 285 N.C. 661, 207 S.E.2d 752 (1974).

§ 62-39. To regulate crossings of telephone, telegraph, electric power lines and pipelines and rights-of-way of railroads and other utilities by another utility.

(a) The Commission, upon its own motion or upon petition of any public utility or upon petition of the North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority on behalf of any electric membership corporation, shall have the power and authority, after notice and hearing, to order that the lines and right-of-way of any public utility or electric membership corporation may be crossed by any other public utility or electric membership corporation. The Commission, in all such cases, may require any such crossings to be constructed and maintained in a safe manner and in accord with accepted and approved standards of safety and may prescribe the manner in which such construction shall be done.

(b) The Commission shall also have the power and authority to discontinue and prohibit such crossings where they are unnecessary and can reasonably be avoided and to order changes in existing crossings when deemed necessary.

(c) In all cases in which the Commission orders such crossings to be made or changed and when the parties affected cannot agree upon the cost of the construction of such crossings or the damages to be paid to one of the parties for the privilege of crossing the lines of such party, it shall be the duty of the Commission to apportion the cost of such construction and to fix the damage, if any, to be paid and to apportion the damages, if any, among the parties in such manner as may be just and equitable.

(d) This section shall not be construed to limit the right of eminent domain conferred upon public utilities and electric membership corporations by the laws of this State or to limit the right and duty conferred by law with respect to crossing of railroads and highways or railroads crossing railroads, but the duty imposed and the remedy given by this section shall be in addition to other duties and remedies now prescribed by law. Any party shall have the right of appeal from any final order or decision or determination of the Commission as provided by law for appeals from orders or decisions or final determinations of the Commission. (1913, c. 130, s. 1; C.S., s. 1052; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1949, c. 1029, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Local Modification. — Ashe: 1929, c. 101.

§ 62-40. To hear and determine controversies submitted.

When a public utility embraced in this Chapter has a controversy with another person and all the parties to such controversy agree in writing to submit such controversy to the Commission as arbitrator, the Commission shall act as such, and after due notice to all parties interested shall proceed to hear the same, and its award shall be final. Such award in cases where land or an interest in land is concerned shall immediately be certified to the clerk of the superior court of the county or counties in which said land, or any part thereof, is situated, and shall by such clerk be docketed in the judgment docket for such county, and from such docketing shall have the same effect as a judgment of the superior court for such county. Parties may appear in person or by attorney before such arbitrator. (1899, c. 164, s. 25; Rev., s. 1073; C.S., s. 1059; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Cross References. — As to power of Utilities Commission to settle dispute between railroad and drainage district, see § 156-91.

§ 62-41. To investigate accidents involving public utilities; to promote general safety program.

The Commission may conduct a program of accident prevention and public safety covering all public utilities with special emphasis on highway safety and transport safety and may investigate the causes of any accident on a highway involving a public utility. Any information obtained upon such investigation shall be reduced to writing and a report thereof filed in the office of the Commission, which shall be subject to public inspection but such report shall not be admissible in evidence in any civil or criminal proceeding arising from such accident. The Commission may adopt reasonable rules and regulations for the safety of the public as affected by public utilities and the safety of public utility employees. The Commission shall cooperate with and coordinate its activities for public utilities with similar programs of the Division of Motor Vehicles, the Insurance Department, the Industrial Commission and other organizations engaged in the promotion of highway safety and employee safety. (1899, c. 164, s. 24; Rev., s. 1065; C.S., s. 1061; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1975, c. 716, s. 5; 1995 (Reg. Sess., 1996), c. 673, s. 2.)

§ 62-42. Compelling efficient service, extensions of services and facilities, additions and improvements.

(a) Except as otherwise limited in this Chapter, whenever the Commission, after notice and hearing had upon its own motion or upon complaint, finds:

(1) That the service of any public utility is inadequate, insufficient or unreasonably discriminatory, or

(2) That persons are not served who may reasonably be served, or

(3) That additions, extensions, repairs or improvements to, or changes in, the existing plant, equipment, apparatus, facilities or other physical property of any public utility, of any two or more public utilities ought reasonably to be made, or

(4) That it is reasonable and proper that new structures should be erected to promote the security or convenience or safety of its patrons, employees and the public, or

(5) That any other act is necessary to secure reasonably adequate service or facilities and reasonably and adequately to serve the public convenience and necessity, the Commission shall enter and serve an order directing that such additions, extensions, repairs, improvements, or additional services or changes shall be made or affected within a reasonable time prescribed in the order. This section shall not apply to terminal or terminal facilities of motor carriers of property.

(b) If such order is directed to two or more public utilities, the utilities so designated shall be given such reasonable time as the Commission may grant within which to agree upon the portion or division of the cost of such additions, extensions, repairs, improvements or changes which each shall bear. If at the expiration of the time limited in the order of the Commission, the utility or utilities named in the order shall fail to file with the Commission a statement that an agreement has been made for division or apportionment of the cost or expense, the Commission shall have the authority, after further hearing in the same proceeding, to make an order fixing the portion of such cost or expense to be borne by each public utility affected and the manner in which the same shall be paid or secured.

(c) For the purpose of this section, "public utility" shall include any electric membership corporation operating within this State. (1933, c. 307, s. 10; 1949, c. 1029, s. 2; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1965, c. 287, s. 6; 1985, c. 676, s. 7.)

Purpose of Regulation. — With public utilities the State has undertaken to protect the public from the customary consequences of monopoly, by making the rates and services of the certificate holder subject to regulation and control by the Utilities Commission. In re Certificate of Need for Aston Park Hosp., 282 N.C. 542, 193 S.E.2d 729 (1973).

Power and Duties of Commission. — This Chapter confers upon the Utilities Commission the power and the duty to compel a public utility to render adequate service, and it also confers upon the Commission the duty to fix reasonable rates for the rendering of adequate service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 408, 204 S.E.2d 529, rev'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

Under § 62-32 and this section, the Utilities Commission is given the power and the duty to compel utility companies to render adequate service and to set reasonable rates for such service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Under subdivision (a)(5) of this section the Commission has the authority to order the utility to take action necessary to secure reasonably adequate service for the public's need and convenience. Undoubtedly yellow pages could fall within this provision. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

As to the jurisdiction of the Utilities Commission to require rail carrier to open drainage ditches along its tracks and to keep its drainage ditches open, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Seaboard C.L.R.R., 62 N.C. App. 631, 303 S.E.2d 549, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 309 N.C. 324, 307 S.E.2d 168 (1983).

The Commission, not the courts, is authorized by the legislature to determine what is a fair rate of return. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

In reviewing the Commission's determination of fair rate of return, the court will only review the record and evidence to determine if the Commission's order is supported by competent evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

This section must be construed in connection with § 62-110, which requires the issuance of a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct new facilities except where such construction is into territory contiguous to that already occupied and not receiving similar service from another public utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 182, 204 S.E.2d 27, cert. denied, 285 N.C. 596, 205 S.E.2d 726 (1974).

Thus, Commission Is Without Authority to Compel Duplicate Telephone Service. — A reading of this section in pari materia with § 62-110 results in the determination that the Commission does not have the authority to compel a public utility to provide local exchange service to an area which is already receiving such service from another public utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 182, 204 S.E.2d 27, cert. denied, 285 N.C. 596, 205 S.E.2d 726 (1974).

To order a telephone company to render service to an area already occupied by another telephone company would foster duplication, wastefulness, and unwarranted competition, all of which are repugnant to the avowed policy of the public utility law. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 182, 204 S.E.2d 27, cert. denied, 285 N.C. 596, 205 S.E.2d 726 (1974).

Proposed Siting of Electrical Transmission Line. — North Carolina Utilities Commission had jurisdiction to hear and resolve dispute arising from the proposed siting of an electrical transmission line against electric membership corporations. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mountain Elec. Coop., 108 N.C. App. 283, 423 S.E.2d 516 (1992), aff'd per curiam, 334 N.C. 681, 435 S.E.2d 71 (1993). Decided prior to effective date of § 62-100, et seq.

Duty of Utility to Render Reasonably Adequate Service. — Having been granted a monopoly in its franchise area, the utility is under a duty to render reasonably adequate service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Utility Must Accept Responsibility. — A public utility which has been allowed to charge rates sufficient to enable it to maintain its properties, in addition to the earning of a fair return thereon, and which nevertheless permits its properties to fall into such a poor state of maintenance as to impair the quality of its service, must accept responsibility for its resulting inability to render adequate service to its patrons. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Providing a correct telephone listing is part of providing "reasonably adequate service" as required by subdivision (a)(5) of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 326 N.C. 522, 391 S.E.2d 487 (1990).

Providing a correct telephone listing in the yellow pages as well as in the white pages of the directory is a utility function, and the Commission properly has jurisdiction over complaints which arise from this function. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 326 N.C. 522, 391 S.E.2d 487 (1990).

Incorrect Telephone Number Listings. — The Utilities Commission had jurisdiction over complaints concerning incorrect telephone number listings in the telephone directory even when the regulated utility had delegated to another company the public utility function of publishing its directory which also included paid advertising. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 326 N.C. 522, 391 S.E.2d 487 (1990).

Proper Listings in Advertisements in Yellow Pages. — If a utility elects to include yellow pages advertising in the directory which it is required to publish, then clearly proper listings in the advertisements in the yellow pages become a part of the utility's "function of providing adequate service" to the public. The public is not well served by listings in the yellow pages or the white pages of the directory which are incorrect or confusing to the consuming public. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 326 N.C. 522, 391 S.E.2d 487 (1990).

As to reduction of fair value of utilities' property where service is inadequate, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 408, 204 S.E.2d 529, rev'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

Recovery of Reasonable Cost of Approved Gas Exploration Projects. — The Commission, in ordering that the reasonable costs of approved exploration projects were to be recoverable through tracking rate increases, acted within its acknowledged duty and authority to compel adequate and efficient utility service to the citizens of this State, where it was clear from the Commission's findings that, without additional gas supplies, the gas utilities would be unable to render adequate service to their customers, that exploration programs were the most feasible means for obtaining these additional supplies, and that the utilities were unable, through traditional methods of financing, to fund sufficient exploration projects to obtain these supplies. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Protest by City Not Notice. — A protest filed by a city in a proceeding by a power company for an increased cash fare on its city buses was not sufficient to constitute such notice as is required by this section so as to authorize the Commission to consider whether or not the service rendered by the power company was adequate or inadequate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Greensboro, 244 N.C. 247, 93 S.E.2d 151 (1956).

§ 62-43. Fixing standards, classifications, etc.; testing service.

(a) The Commission may, after notice and hearing, had upon its own motion or upon complaint, ascertain and fix just and reasonable standards, classifications, regulations, practices, or service to be furnished, imposed, observed or followed by any or all public utilities; ascertain and fix adequate and reasonable standards for the measurement of quantity, quality, pressure, initial voltage or other condition pertaining to the supply of the product, commodity or service furnished or rendered by any and all public utilities; prescribe reasonable regulations for the examination and testing of such product, commodity or service and for the measurement thereof; establish or approve reasonable rules, regulations, specifications and standards to secure the accuracy of all meters and appliances for measurement; and provide for the examination and testing of any and all appliances used for the measurement of any product, commodity or service of any public utility.

(b) The Commission shall fix, establish and promulgate standards of quality and safety for gas furnished by a public utility and prescribe rules and regulations for the enforcement of and obedience to the same. (1919, c. 32; C.S., s. 1055; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; c. 307, s. 11; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

For case holding notice adequate under this section, see State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 13 N.C. App. 554, 186 S.E.2d 612 (1972), cert. denied, 281 N.C. 158, 188 S.E.2d 364 (1972).

§ 62-44. Commission may require continuous telephone lines.

The Commission may, upon its own motion or upon written complaint by any person, after notice and hearing, require any two or more telephone or telegraph utilities to establish and maintain through lines within the State between two or more localities, which cannot be communicated with or reached by the lines of either utility alone, where the lines or wires of such utilities form a continuous line of communication, or could be made to do so by the construction and maintenance of suitable connections or the joint use of equipment, or the transfer of messages at common points. The rate for such service shall be just and reasonable and the Commission shall have power to establish the same, and declare the portion thereof to which each utility affected thereby is entitled and the manner in which the same must be secured and paid. All necessary construction, maintenance and equipment in order to establish such service shall be constructed and maintained in such manner and under such rules, with such divisions of expense and labor, as may be required by the Commission. (1933, c. 307, s. 9; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Statutes Requiring Interconnection with Competitor Should Not Be Extended Beyond Plain Meaning. — The power to require the proprietor of a business to interconnect its facilities with those of a competitor is a drastic power. Statutes conferring it should not be extended beyond their plain meaning. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

When Interconnection of Lines May Be Required. — This section authorizes the Commission to require a connection of the lines of two telephone companies, but only when they serve localities which cannot be communicated with by the lines of one of them alone. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

There is no provision in this Chapter which requires, or authorizes the Commission to require, a utility, with large investments in its own plant and facilities, to permit interconnection with such plant and facilities by a competitor in order to increase the competitor's opportunity to take away its customers or prospective customers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Section Does Not Authorize Commission to Compel Telephone Company to Interconnect with Radio Company Serving Same Area. — This section may not reasonably be extended by construction to authorize the Commission to compel a telephone company to interconnect its system with the system of a radio company serving the identical area which the telephone company, itself, serves or desires to serve. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Mobile Radio Service Company Is Not "Telephone or Telegraph Utility". — Even if the record is sufficient to support an order granting an applicant a certificate of public convenience and necessity to act as a common carrier of communications providing mobile radio service, the Commission has no statutory authority to require a telephone utility to interconnect applicant's radio communications system with the utility's land telephone system. If permitted to render such service, the applicant would not be a "telephone or telegraph utility." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

§ 62-45. Determination of cost and value of utility property.

The Commission, after notice and hearing, may ascertain and fix the cost or value, or both, of the whole or any part of the property of any public utility insofar as the same is material to the exercise of the jurisdiction of the Commission, make revaluations from time to time, and ascertain the cost of all new construction, extensions and additions to the property of every public utility. (1933, c. 307, s. 12; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-46. Water gauging stations.

The Commission may require the location, establishment, maintenance and operation of any water gauging station which it finds is needed in the State over and above those required by federal agencies, and the Commission may cooperate with federal and other State agencies as to the location, construction and reports and the results of operation of such station. (1933, c. 307, s. 33; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-47. Reports from municipalities operating own utilities.

Every municipality furnishing gas, electricity or telephone service shall make an annual report to the Commission, verified by the oath of the general manager or superintendent thereof, on the same forms as provided for reports of public utilities, giving the same information as required of public utilities. (1933, c. 307, s. 34; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Cross References. — As to admissibility of records in utility rate hearing, see § 62-65.

§ 62-48. Appearance before courts and agencies.

(a) The Commission is authorized and empowered to initiate or appear in such proceedings before federal and State courts and agencies as in its opinion may be necessary to secure for the users of public utility service in this State just and reasonable rates and service; provided, however, that the Commission shall not appear in any State appellate court in support of any order or decision of the Commission entered in a proceeding in which a public utility had the burden of proof.

(b) The Commission may, when appearing before federal courts and agencies on behalf of the using and consuming public in matters relating to the wholesale rates and supply of natural gas, employ, subject to the approval of the Governor, private legal counsel and be reimbursed for any resulting legal fees and costs from past and future refunds received by the North Carolina natural gas distribution companies, and may establish procedures for those natural gas distribution companies to set aside reasonable amounts of those refunds for this purpose. The Commission is also authorized to establish procedures whereby the State may be reimbursed from past and future refunds received by the North Carolina natural gas distribution companies for travel expenses incurred by staff members of the Commission and Public Staff designated to provide assistance to the Commission's private legal counsel in natural gas matters before federal courts and agencies. (1899, c. 164, s. 14; Rev., s. 1110; 1907, c. 469, s. 5; C.S., s. 1075; 1929, c. 235; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1977, c. 468, s. 11; 1985, c. 312, s. 1; 1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 1014, s. 233.)

§ 62-49. Publication of utilities laws.

The Commission is authorized and directed to secure publication of all North Carolina laws affecting public utilities, together with the Commission rules and regulations, in an annotated edition, and the Commission may adopt rules for distribution of said publication, and shall publish biennial supplements to said utilities laws containing all amendments and additions thereto, and may republish said laws at such times as may be reasonable and necessary. (1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1967, c. 1133.)

§ 62-50. Safety standards for gas pipeline facilities.

(a) The Commission may promulgate and adopt safety standards for the operation of natural gas pipeline facilities in North Carolina. These safety standards shall apply to the pipeline facilities of gas utilities and pipeline carriers under franchise from the Utilities Commission and to pipeline facilities of other gas operators, as defined in subsection (g) of this section. The Commission shall require that all gas operators file with the Commission reports of all accidents occurring in connection with the operation of their gas pipeline facilities located in North Carolina. The Commission may require that all gas operators file with the Commission copies of their construction, operation, and maintenance standards and procedures, and any amendments thereto, and such other information as may be necessary to show compliance with the safety standards promulgated by the Commission. Where the Commission has reason to believe that any gas operator is not in compliance with the Commission's safety standards, the Commission may, after notice and hearing, order that gas operator to take such measures as may be necessary to comply with the standards. The Commission may require all gas operators to furnish engineering reports showing that their pipeline facilities are in safe operating condition and are being operated in conformity with the Commission's safety standards.

(b) The Commission is hereby authorized to enter into agreements with the United States Department of Transportation and other federal agencies and with other states or public utilities commissions of other states for the regulation of natural gas pipelines located within the State of North Carolina and upon the execution of such cooperative agreements, the Commission is authorized to utilize Commission personnel for inspection, investigation, and regulation of safety standards for interstate and intrastate natural gas pipelines in North Carolina, and to share in the cost of such regulation with other agencies having duties with respect to the regulation of said natural gas pipelines, and to receive funds from the United States Department of Transportation for such regulation. The Commission may use Commission personnel to inspect and investigate all gas incidents, facilities, and records kept pursuant to the provisions of 49 Code of Federal Regulations, Parts 191, 192, and 193, and to cooperate with other state and federal agencies in determining the probable cause or causes of gas incidents. Any information obtained during an investigation of a gas incident shall be reduced to writing and a report containing that information shall be filed with the Chief Clerk of the Commission and the report shall be subject to public inspection but the report shall not be admissible in evidence in any civil or criminal proceeding arising from the incident.

(c) The Utilities Commission is hereby authorized to enter into cooperative agreements for inspection of all natural gas pipelines of North Carolina to the end that the Utilities Commission may enter into agreements with the United States Department of Transportation or other federal or state agencies to regulate and inspect the safety standards for all natural gas pipelines in the State of North Carolina, including interstate natural gas pipelines.

(d) Any person who violates any provision of this section, or any regulation of the Utilities Commission issued thereunder, shall be subject to a civil penalty for each violation for each day that the violation continues. The maximum penalty for each day of a violation and for all the days of a continuing violation may not exceed the maximum penalties that would apply if the penalties had been imposed under 49 U.S.C. Appx. § 1679a(a) by the Secretary of the United States Department of Transportation. Penalties assessed under this subsection shall be credited to the General Fund as nontax revenue.

(e) Any action for civil penalty or any claim for said penalty may be compromised by the Utilities Commission and settled for an agreed amount. In determining the amount of the penalty imposed in civil action, or the amount agreed upon in compromise, the amount of the penalty shall be considered in relation to the size of the business of the person charged, the gravity of the violation, and the good faith of the person charged in attempting to achieve compliance, after any prior notification of a violation. The amount of the penalty, when finally determined in a civil action, or the amount agreed upon in compromise, may be deducted from any sums owing by the State to the person charged, or may be collected as in the case of any judgment in a civil action in the State courts.

(f) The General Court of Justice of North Carolina is authorized to issue court orders, restraining orders, injunctions and other processes of the court in actions by the Utilities Commission to enforce the provisions of this Chapter relating to gas pipeline safety, and the Commission is authorized to bring actions in said court, including actions for mandatory injunctions, restraining orders, temporary restraining orders, penalties, damages and such other relief as may be necessary to secure compliance with the provisions of this section and regulations of the Commission duly enacted and adopted hereunder relating to gas pipeline safety. This provision is in addition to other powers of the Commission and the courts in relation to the enforcement of provisions of this Chapter in the courts, and shall not limit the present powers of the Commission in bringing actions in the courts for enforcement of other provisions of this Chapter.

(g) For the purpose of this section, "gas operators" include gas utilities and gas pipeline carriers operating under a franchise from the Utilities Commission, municipal corporations operating municipally owned gas distribution systems, regional natural gas districts organized and operated pursuant to Article 28 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes, and public housing authorities and any person operating apartment complexes or mobile home parks that distribute or submeter natural gas to their tenants. This section does not confer any other jurisdiction over municipally owned gas distribution systems, regional natural gas districts, public housing authorities or persons operating apartment complexes or mobile home parks. (1967, c. 1134, s. 1; 1969, c. 646; 1971, cc. 549, 1145; 1979, c. 269, s. 1; 1989, c. 481, ss. 1, 2; 1993, c. 189, s. 1; 1997-426, s. 9.)

§ 62-51. To inspect books and records of corporations affiliated with public utilities.

Members of the Commission, Commission staff, and public staff are hereby authorized to inspect the books and records of corporations affiliated with public utilities regulated by the Utilities Commission under the provisions of this Chapter, including parent corporations and subsidiaries of parent corporations. This authorization shall extend to all reasonably necessary inspection of all books and records of account and agreements and transactions between public utilities doing business in North Carolina and their affiliated corporations where such records relate either directly or indirectly to the provision of intrastate service by the utility. The right to inspect such books and records shall apply both to books and records in the State of North Carolina and such books and records located outside of the State of North Carolina. If any such affiliated corporation shall refuse to permit such inspection of its books and records and its transactions with public utilities doing business in North Carolina, the Utilities Commission is empowered to order the public utility regulated in North Carolina to show cause why it should not secure from its affiliated corporation such books and records for inspection in North Carolina or why their franchise to operate as a public utility in North Carolina should not be cancelled. (1969, c. 764, s. 1; 1977, c. 468, s. 12.)

CASE NOTES

Broad Authority to Inspect and Investigate. — Within its proper rate-making authority, the Commission is expressly authorized to inspect the books and records of affiliated companies and to investigate contracts and practices between the petitioning utility and its affiliated companies, including parent corporations and subsidiaries of parent corporations. The authority of the Commission to inspect books and records and to make investigations into transactions between affiliates, as conferred by this section, is quite broad. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

This section cannot give the Utilities Commission jurisdiction over Bellsouth Advertising and Publishing Company. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 93 N.C. App. 260, 377 S.E.2d 772 (1989), rev'd on other grounds, 326 N.C. 522, 391 S.E.2d 487 (1990).

§ 62-52. Interruption of service.

The Utilities Commission may adopt appropriate rules and regulations which would allow public utilities to temporarily interrupt service when a structure is moved by the owner of such structure (or by a licensed mover authorized and acting on behalf of the owner) over or along public roads or streets and there are public utility facilities in place which would impede the movement of such structure. Such rules and regulations shall require:

(1) The owner to demonstrate that the public health and safety of the utility's customers and that of the general public will not be affected by the interruption of such service,
(2) That the inconvenience to said customers and the general public can be fully anticipated and reduced to a minimum,
(3) The utility cooperate with the owner in furnishing information relative to (1) and (2), and
(4) An initial application fee be paid the utility toward its cost to be incurred in investigating and planning.

Should the owner and the public utility be unable to agree on a practical procedure and/or the direction to follow in overcoming the impeding facilities in order that the public health and safety of the utility's customers and that of the general public will not be affected, then and in such event the owner may petition the Utilities Commission to require the utility to temporarily interrupt its service to its customers by disconnecting the impeding facilities, provided the owner can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Commission that the public health and safety of the utility's customers and that of the general public will not be affected by such interruption of service and that the public utility was unreasonable in the procedure, direction and cost proposed to the owner to overcome the impeding facility.

In any event, the owner of said structure shall reimburse the utility its full cost involved in such disconnection and reconnection including but not limited to planning, engineering, notification and administrative costs, labor, material and equipment. Should the impeding facility be overcome other than by disconnection, the owner shall nevertheless reimburse the utility its full cost related thereto. (1981 (Reg. Sess., 1982), c. 1186, s. 1.)

§ 62-53. Electric membership corporation subsidiaries.

In addition to any other authority granted to the Commission in this Chapter, the Commission shall have the authority to regulate electric membership corporations as provided in G.S. 117-18.1. (1999-180, s. 4.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1999-180, s. 7 provides that four years after this act (S.L. 1999-180) becomes law (June 16, 1999), the Utilities Commission shall report to the Joint Legislative Utility Review Committee on activities the Commission has conducted pursuant to the provisions of this act. The report shall contain the Utilities Commission's recommendations, if any, with regard to any action to be taken by the General Assembly.

§ 62-54. Notification of opportunity to object to telephone solicitation.

The Commission shall require each local exchange company to notify all persons who subscribe to residential service from that company of the provisions of G.S. 75-30.1, of the federal laws allowing consumers to object to receiving telephone solicitations, and of programs made available by private industry that allow consumers to have their names removed from telemarketing lists, by enclosing that information, at least annually, in every telephone bill mailed to residential customers. The Commission shall also ensure that this information is printed in a clear, conspicuous manner in the consumer information pages of each telephone directory distributed to residential customers. (2000-161, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2000-161, s. 4, made this section effective October 1, 2000, and applicable to telephone calls made and to telephone directories printed on or after that date.

Session Laws 2000-161, s. 3, enacted this section as § 62-53. It was recodified as this section at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

§§ 62-55 through 62-59: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Article 4.

Procedure before the Commission.

§ 62-60. Commission acting in judicial capacity; administering oaths and hearing evidence; decisions; quorum.

For the purpose of conducting hearings, making decisions and issuing orders, and in formal investigations where a record is made of testimony under oath, the Commission shall be deemed to exercise functions judicial in nature and shall have all the powers and jurisdiction of a court of general jurisdiction as to all subjects over which the Commission has or may hereafter be given jurisdiction by law. The commissioners and members of the Commission's staff designated and assigned as examiners shall have full power to administer oaths and to hear and take evidence. The Commission shall render its decisions upon questions of law and of fact in the same manner as a court of record. A majority of the commissioners shall constitute a quorum, and any order or decision of a majority of the commissioners shall constitute the order or decision of the Commission, except as otherwise provided in this Chapter. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

This section does not give the Commission the authority to determine the constitutionality of the legislation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 336 N.C. 657, 446 S.E.2d 332 (1994).

Commission Is Administrative Agency with Powers of a Dual Nature. — The Utilities Commission, a creature of the General Assembly, is an administrative agency of the State, with such powers and duties as are given it by this Chapter. These powers and duties are of a dual nature — supervisory or regulatory, and judicial. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N.C. 293, 29 S.E.2d 909 (1944); Utilities Comm'n v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N.C. 672, 32 S.E.2d 23 (1944).

Rule Making Is a Legislative Function. — Rule making is an exercise of the delegated legislative authority of the Commission, under §§ 62-30 and 62-31, to supervise and control the public utilities of this State and to make reasonable rules and regulations to accomplish that end. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

When the Commission is conducting a hearing, it is acting in a judicial capacity and shall render its decision upon questions of law and of fact in the same manner as a court of record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Town of Pineville, 13 N.C. App. 663, 187 S.E.2d 473 (1972).

As to Commission's having powers of court of general jurisdiction as to certain matters, see State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N.C. 293, 29 S.E.2d 909 (1944); Utilities Comm'n v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N.C. 672, 32 S.E.2d 23 (1944).

Commission Is Without Inherent Powers of Appellate Court. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission is a court of general jurisdiction only as to subjects embraced within this Chapter. It is a court of original jurisdiction and does not possess the inherent powers of an appellate court. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Norfolk S. Ry., 224 N.C. 762, 32 S.E.2d 346 (1944).

Liberality and informality are essential to the workings of the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962).

Ordinarily, the procedure before the Commission is more or less informal, and is not as strict as in superior court, nor is it confined by technical rules. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962); State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Western Carolina Tel. Co., 260 N.C. 369, 132 S.E.2d 873 (1963); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. M.L. Hatcher Pickup & Delivery Servs., Inc., 48 N.C. App. 115, 268 S.E.2d 851 (1980).

The Commission is required by § 62-65 (a) in deciding on an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to apply the rules of evidence applicable in civil actions in the superior court "insofar as practicable." This section provides that the Commission shall render its decision "in the same manner as a court of record." The procedure before the Commission is, however, not as formal as that in litigation conducted in the superior court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Since the regulation of public utilities is a continuing and continuous process as to each utility, procedure before the Commission must be more or less informal and not confined by technical rules, in order that regulation may be consistent with changing conditions. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 13 N.C. App. 554, 186 S.E.2d 612 (1972), cert. denied, 281 N.C. 158, 188 S.E.2d 364 (1972).

Great liberality is indulged in pleadings in proceedings before the Commission, and the technical and strict rules of pleading applicable in ordinary court proceedings do not apply. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962).

Substance and not form is controlling. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962); State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Western Carolina Tel. Co., 260 N.C. 369, 132 S.E.2d 873 (1963).

Commission may enlarge or restrict the inquiry before it unless a party is clearly prejudiced thereby. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962); State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 13 N.C. App. 554, 186 S.E.2d 612 (1972), cert. denied, 281 N.C. 158, 188 S.E.2d 364 (1972).

Issues of Fact Not to Be Decided Before All Evidence Is Offered. — It is erroneous if controverted questions of fact, or issues of fact, are decided by the Commission before all of the competent evidence of the parties is offered with respect thereto. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Town of Pineville, 13 N.C. App. 663, 187 S.E.2d 473 (1972).

Findings Must Be Supported by Competent Evidence. — Since the Commission is required to render its decisions upon questions of law and of fact in the same manner as a court of record, its findings must be, as a matter of law, supported by competent evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Rail Common Carriers, 42 N.C. App. 314, 256 S.E.2d 508 (1979).

Finding May Be Based on "Late" Exhibits. — The statutes prescribing the procedure for hearings before the Commission do not forbid it to make a finding, as to the capacity and ability of an applicant for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to serve, upon the basis of facts arising between the conclusion of the hearing and the entry of the order, when those facts are shown by "late" exhibits, otherwise competent, and when the adverse party has had adequate notice that such exhibits have been filed with the Commission for inclusion in the record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Findings of Fact Not Disagreed with in Other Opinions as Those of Commission. — Where neither of the two concurring opinions nor the two dissenting opinions indicated any disagreement with any of the findings of fact stated in the opinion of another commissioner, and the opinion of no other commissioner suggested any other findings of fact, the findings of fact so stated in the opinion of the commissioner were, therefore, concurred in by a majority, if not all of the members of the Commission, and were, therefore, the findings of the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Different Reasons Given by Concurring Commissioners Are Not Grounds for Reversal. — When this section and § 62-79(a) are construed together, as they must be, it is apparent that the General Assembly did not intend that an order of the Commission concurred in by the majority of its members, based upon findings of fact concurred in by a majority of its members, might be reversed solely because the members of the concurring majority chose different rules, or supposed rules, of law as support for their decision and order. The diversity of the reasons given by the three commissioners who join in an ultimate decision and order are not a sufficient ground for its reversal. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Order in Opinion Concurred In by Majority Is Order of Commission. — Where a majority of the commissioners concurred in the order set forth in the opinion by one of them, it was the order of the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

If three commissioners concur, the order entered by them constitutes the order of the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 251, 204 S.E.2d 181 (1974).

But all commissioners concurring must have heard evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 251, 204 S.E.2d 181 (1974).

It seems inconceivable that the General Assembly intended that when a matter was heard by a hearing division, if "as many as three commissioners hearing the case approved the recommended order," as provided by § 62-76, the order should become a final order, but that the Commission, when a matter was heard before it, could issue a final order when only one of the commissioners who heard the case approved the order. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 251, 204 S.E.2d 181 (1974).

Order Approved by Only One Commissioner Not Final. — An order was held to be a recommended order and not a final order where only one of the three commissioners who had heard the evidence in a hearing before the Commission participated in approving the order. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 251, 204 S.E.2d 181 (1974).

Res Judicata. — Only specific questions actually heard and finally determined by the Commission in its judicial character are res judicata, and then only as to the parties to the hearing. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962).

Actions of an administrative agency which involve the exercise of a legislative rather than a judicial function are not res judicata. Exercises of the Commission's rule making power, therefore, are not governed by the principles of res judicata and are reviewable by the Supreme Court in later appeals of closely related matters. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Deferring Use of Increased Rates Pending Investigation. — After rates for certain intrastate shipments had been duly established by the Utilities Commission, defendant sought to increase such rates by filing tariff schedules to that effect. The Commission, in a proceeding to which defendant was a party, by order of postponement, which was not objected to, deferred use of the new increased rates pending investigation, and also directed that the rates previously fixed should not be changed by subsequent tariffs or schedules until this investigation and suspension proceeding had been disposed of, continuing the investigation from time to time at the request of defendant. It was held that such action of the Commission was binding on defendant. However, defendant was entitled to a reasonable time to comply with the order before penalties might be invoked. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 224 N.C. 283, 29 S.E.2d 912 (1944).

For cases construing § 1023 of the Consolidated Statutes, containing similar provisions, see State ex rel. Caldwell v. Wilson, 121 N.C. 425, 121 N.C. 480, 28 S.E. 554, 28 S.E. 554 (1897); State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 151 N.C. 447, 66 S.E. 427 (1909); North Carolina Corp. Comm'n v. Winston-Salem Southbound Ry., 170 N.C. 560, 87 S.E. 785 (1917); State ex rel. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 185 N.C. 435, 117 S.E. 563 (1923).

§ 62-60.1. Commission to sit in panels of three.

(a) The Utilities Commission shall sit in panels of three commissioners each unless the chairman by order shall set the proceeding for hearing by the full Commission.

(b) Any order or decision made unanimously by a panel of three commissioners shall constitute the order or decision of the Commission, except as otherwise provided in this Chapter; provided, however, that upon motion of any three commissioners not sitting on the panel, made within 10 days of issuance of such order or decision of the panel, with notice to parties of record, the order or decision of the panel shall thereby be stayed and the full Commission shall review the order or decision of the panel and shall within 30 days of said motion either affirm or modify the order or decision of the panel or remand the matter to the panel for further proceedings; provided that the foregoing shall not limit the right of parties to seek review of such order or decision under G.S. 62-90.

(c) In the event an order or decision of the panel of three is not made unanimously, such order or decision shall be a recommended order only, subject to review by the full Commission, with all commissioners eligible to participate in the final arguments and decision. Review shall take place in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 62-78 and the Commission shall decide the matter in controversy and make appropriate order or decision thereon within 60 days of the date of the recommended order. If within the filing period specified by the panel no exception has been filed by a party, or if the Commission within the same period has not advised the parties that it will conduct a review upon its own motion, the recommended order or decision shall become the final order or decision of the Commission. Nothing in this section shall amend or repeal the provisions of G.S. 62-134.

(d) This section shall become effective July 1, 1975, and shall not affect the utilization of or the procedures outlined for utilization of a hearing commissioner or a hearing examiner as provided for elsewhere in Chapter 62. (1975, c. 243, s. 4; 1977, c. 468, s. 13.)

§ 62-61. Witnesses; production of papers; contempt.

The Commission shall have the same power to compel the attendance of witnesses, require the examination of persons and parties, and compel the production of books and papers, and punish for contempt, as by law is conferred upon the superior courts. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Cross References. — As to contempt, see § 5A-11 et seq. As to attendance of witnesses, see § 8-59 et seq.

§ 62-62. Issuance and service of subpoenas.

All subpoenas for witnesses to appear before the Commission, a division of the Commission or a hearing commissioner or examiner and notice to persons or corporations, shall be issued by the Commission or its chief clerk or a deputy clerk and be directed to any sheriff or other officer authorized by law to serve process issued out of the superior courts, who shall execute the same and make due return thereof as directed therein, under the penalties prescribed by law for a failure to execute and return the process of any court. The Commission shall have the authority to require the applicant for a subpoena for persons and documents to make a reasonable showing that the evidence of such persons or documents will be material and relevant to the issue in the proceeding. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1995, c. 379, s. 14(c).)

§ 62-63. Service of process and notices.

The chief clerk, a deputy clerk, or any authorized agent of the Commission may serve any notice issued by it and his return thereof shall be evidence of said service; and it shall be the duty of the sheriffs and all officers authorized by law to serve process issuing out of the superior courts, to serve any process, subpoenas and notices issued by the Commission, and such officers shall be entitled to the same fees as are prescribed by law for serving similar papers issuing from the superior court. Service of notice of all hearings, investigations and proceedings by the Commission may be made upon any person upon whom a summons may be served in accordance with the provisions governing civil actions in the superior courts of this State, and may be made personally by an authorized agent of the Commission or by mailing in a sealed envelope, registered, with postage prepaid, or by certified mail. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1957, c. 1152, s. 2; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Cross References. — As to penalty imposed upon sheriff for failing to execute and return process, see § 162-14.

§ 62-64. Bonds.

All bonds or undertakings required to be given by any of the provisions of this Chapter shall be payable to the State of North Carolina, and may be sued on as are other undertakings which are payable to the State. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-65. Rules of evidence; judicial notice.

(a) When acting as a court of record, the Commission shall apply the rules of evidence applicable in civil actions in the superior court, insofar as practicable, but no decision or order of the Commission shall be made or entered in any such proceeding unless the same is supported by competent material and substantial evidence upon consideration of the whole record. Oral evidence shall be taken on oath or affirmation. The rules of privilege shall be effective to the same extent that they are now or hereafter recognized in civil actions in the superior court. The Commission may exclude incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial and unduly repetitious or cumulative evidence. All evidence, including records and documents in the possession of the Commission of which it desires to avail itself, shall be made a part of the record in the case by definite reference thereto at the hearing. Any party introducing any document or record in evidence by reference shall bear the expense of all copies required for the record in the event of an appeal from the Commission's order. Every party to a proceeding shall have the right to call and examine witnesses, to introduce exhibits, to cross-examine opposing witnesses on any matter relevant to the issues, to impeach any witness regardless of which party first called such witness to testify and to rebut the evidence against him. If a party does not testify in his own behalf, he may be called and examined as if under cross-examination.

(b) The Commission may take judicial notice of its decisions, the annual reports of public utilities on file with the Commission, published reports of federal regulatory agencies, the decisions of State and federal courts, State and federal statutes, public information and data published by official State and federal agencies and reputable financial reporting services, generally recognized technical and scientific facts within the Commission's specialized knowledge, and such other facts and evidence as may be judicially noticed by justices and judges of the General Court of Justice. When any Commission decision relies upon such judicial notice of material facts not appearing in evidence, it shall be so stated with particularity in such decision and any party shall, upon petition filed within 10 days after service of the decision, be afforded an opportunity to contest the purported facts noticed or show to the contrary in a rehearing set with proper notice to all parties; but the Commission may notify the parties before or during the hearing of facts judicially noticed, and afford at the hearing a reasonable opportunity to contest the purported facts noticed, or show to the contrary. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1959, c. 639, s. 2; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1973, c. 108, s. 21.)

CASE NOTES

Informality of Procedure. — The Commission is required by subsection (a) in deciding on an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to apply the rules of evidence applicable in civil actions in the superior court "insofar as practicable." Section 62-60 provides that the Commission shall render its decision "in the same manner as a court of record." The procedure before the Commission is, however, not as formal as that in litigation conducted in the superior court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Procedure before the Commission in the trial of utilities matters, and particularly in the admission of evidence, is not so formal as litigation conducted in the superior court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Springdale Estates Ass'n, 46 N.C. App. 488, 265 S.E.2d 647 (1980).

Admissibility of Annual Reports of Municipalities. — In a proceeding by a utility for an increase in rates, wherein municipalities engaged in resale of electrical energy purchased from the utility protested against the proposed schedules of the utility, copies of annual reports of the municipality to the Commission pursuant to statute, which showed profits made by the municipalities from resale of electrical energy, were admissible in evidence on the question of whether the proposed schedules were fair and equitable as between groups or classifications to be served under such schedules. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Municipal Corps., 243 N.C. 193, 90 S.E.2d 519 (1955).

Admissibility of Evidence of Rates Charged by Another Utility. — In a proceeding by a utility for a rate increase, the Commission properly excluded evidence of rates charged by another utility in the same area as that involved in the proceeding, in the absence of evidence as to the relative cost conditions of the two utilities. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Municipal Corps., 243 N.C. 193, 90 S.E.2d 519 (1955).

Evidence Held Sufficient. — The Commission heard ample evidence to support its finding that the introduction of natural gas facilities into unserved areas would assist in the economic development of those areas. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 336 N.C. 657, 446 S.E.2d 332 (1994).

Admission of Expert-Opinion Evidence. — In a rule making proceeding, the Utilities Commission did not err in admitting expert opinion evidence without a specific finding that the witness was an expert, since the admission of the evidence over objection and the denial of a motion to strike constituted the Commission's ruling that the witness was qualified as an expert. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 13 N.C. App. 554, 186 S.E.2d 612 (1972), cert. denied, 281 N.C. 158, 188 S.E.2d 364 (1972).

Findings May Be Based on "Late" Exhibits. — The statutes prescribing the procedure for hearings before the Commission do not forbid it to make a finding, as to the capacity and ability of an applicant for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to serve, upon the basis of facts arising between the conclusion of the hearing and the entry of the order, when those facts are shown by "late" exhibits, otherwise competent, and when the adverse party has had adequate notice that such exhibits have been filed with the Commission for inclusion in the record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Judicial Notice of Financial Data. — Although the record before the Commission did not include testimony or documentary evidence as to the earnings of the 24 electric utilities whose earnings were shown in Moody's Investment Service, subsection (b) expressly authorizes the Commission to take judicial notice of data published by reputable financial reporting services, so that there was no error in the consideration of this data by the Commission in determining a fair rate of return to be allowed the utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 575, 232 S.E.2d 177 (1977).

Judicial Notice of Industry Trend. — The Utilities Commission did not act arbitrarily in judicially noticing the current restructuring trend in the electric utility industry, where the reality of this trend was not subject to reasonable dispute because it was generally known within the industry. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Indus. Group For Fair Util. Rates, 130 N.C. App. 636, 503 S.E.2d 697 (1998), cert. denied, 349 N.C. 377 (1998).

Burden of Proof. — In the hearing before the Utilities Commission, the burden was on the applicant to offer competent, material and substantial evidence in support of his application for modification of his existing franchise. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Great S. Trucking Co., 223 N.C. 687, 28 S.E.2d 201 (1943); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Ray, 236 N.C. 692, 73 S.E.2d 870 (1953).

The "whole record test" set forth in this section requires the Commission's order to be affirmed if, upon consideration of the whole record as submitted, the facts found by the Commission are supported by competent, material and substantial evidence, taking into account any contradictory evidence or evidence from which conflicting inferences could be drawn. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Springdale Estates Ass'n, 46 N.C. App. 488, 265 S.E.2d 647 (1980).

"Substantial evidence" is such relevant evidence as a reasonable mind might accept as adequate to support a conclusion. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Springdale Estates Ass'n, 46 N.C. App. 488, 265 S.E.2d 647 (1980).

Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 348 N.C. 452, 500 S.E.2d 693 (1998).

§ 62-66. Depositions.

The Commission or any party to a proceeding may take and use depositions of witnesses in the same manner as provided by law for the taking and use of depositions in civil actions in the superior court. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-68. Use of affidavits.

At any time, 10 or more days prior to a hearing or a continued hearing, any party or the Commission may send by registered or certified mail or deliver to the opposing parties a copy of any affidavit proposed to be used in evidence, together with the notice as herein provided. Unless an opposing party or the Commission at least five days prior to the hearing, if the affidavit and notice are received at least 20 days prior to such hearing, otherwise at any time prior to or during such hearing, sends by registered or certified mail or delivers to the proponent a request to cross-examine the affiant at the hearing, the right to cross-examine such affiant is waived and the affidavit, if introduced in evidence, shall be given the same effect as if the affiant had testified orally. If an opportunity to cross-examine an affiant at the hearing is not afforded after request therefor is made as herein provided, the affidavit shall not be received in evidence. The notice accompanying the affidavit shall set forth the name and address of the affiant and shall contain a statement that the affiant will not be called to testify orally and will not be subject to cross-examination unless the opposing parties or the Commission demand the right of cross-examination by notice mailed or delivered to the proponent at least five days prior to the hearing if the notice and affidavit are received at least 20 days prior to such hearing, otherwise at any time prior to or during such hearing. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1957, c. 1152, s. 3; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Legal Periodicals. — For article on administrative evidence rules, see 49 N.C.L. Rev. 635 (1971).

§ 62-69. Stipulations and agreements; prehearing conference.

(a) In all contested proceedings the Commission, by prehearing conferences and in such other manner as it may deem expedient and in the public interest, shall encourage the parties and their counsel to make and enter stipulations of record for the following purposes:

(1) Eliminating the necessity of proof of all facts which may be admitted and the authenticity of documentary evidence,
(2) Facilitating the use of exhibits, and
(3) Clarifying the issues of fact and law.

The Commission may make informal disposition of any contested proceeding by stipulation, agreed settlement, consent order or default.

(b) Unless otherwise provided in the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, such prehearing conferences may be ordered by the Commission or requested by any party to a proceeding in substantially the same manner, and with substantially the same subsequent procedure, as provided by law for the conduct of pretrial hearings in the superior court. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Adoption of Nonunanimous Stipulation. — The Utilities Commission may adopt the recommendations or provisions of a nonunanimous stipulation as long as the Commission sets forth its reasoning and makes its own independent conclusion supported by substantial evidence on the record that the proposal is just and reasonable to all parties in light of all the evidence presented. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 348 N.C. 452, 500 S.E.2d 693 (1998).

§ 62-70. Ex parte communications.

(a) In all matters and proceedings pending on the Commission's formal docket, with adversary parties of record, all communications or contact of any nature whatsoever between any party and the Commission or any of its members, or any hearing examiner assigned to such docket, whether verbal or written, formal or informal, which pertains to the merits of such matter or proceeding, shall be made only with full knowledge of, or notice to, all other parties of record. All parties shall have an opportunity to be informed fully as to the nature of such communication and to be present and heard with respect thereto. In all matters and proceedings which are judicial in nature, it is the specific intent of this section that all members of the Commission shall conduct all trials, hearings and proceedings before them in the manner and in accordance with the judicial standards applicable to judges of the General Court of Justice, as provided in Chapter 7A of the General Statutes, and upon the initiation of any such proceedings, and particularly during the trial or hearing thereof, there shall be no communications or contacts of any nature, including telephone communications, written correspondence, or direct office conferences, between any party or such party's attorney and any member of the Commission or any hearing examiner, without all other parties to such proceeding having full notice and opportunity to be present and heard with respect to any such contact or communication.

Any commissioner who knowingly receives any such communication or contact during such proceeding and who fails promptly to report the same to the Attorney General, or who otherwise violates any of the provisions of this subsection shall be liable to impeachment. Any examiner who knowingly receives any such communication or contact during such proceeding and who fails promptly to report the same to the Attorney General or who otherwise violates any of the provisions of this subsection shall be subject to dismissal from employment for cause.

(b) In the event any such communication or contact shall be received by the Commission or any commissioner or any hearing examiner assigned to such docket without such knowledge or notice to all other parties, the Commission shall immediately cause a formal record of such violation to be made in its docket and thereafter no ruling or decision shall be made in favor of such violating party until the aggrieved party shall waive such violation or the Commission shall find as a fact that such party was not prejudiced thereby or that any such prejudice, if present, has been removed.

(c) Any contacts or communications made in violation of this section which are not recorded by the Commission may be recorded by notice to the Commission by any aggrieved party and, unless the Commission shall find that such violation did not in fact occur, such recording shall have the same effect as if done by the Commission.

(d) In matters not under this section, the Commission may secure information and receive communications ex parte, it being the purpose of this section to protect adversary interests where they exist but not otherwise to restrict unduly the administrative and legislative functions of the Commission.

(e) This section shall not modify any notice required in the case of pleadings and proceedings which are subject to other requirements of notice to parties of record, whether by statute or by rule of the Commission, and the Commission may adopt reasonable rules to coordinate this section with such other requirements.

(f) In addition to the foregoing provisions regarding contacts with members of the Commission and hearing examiners, if any party of record, including the assistant attorney general when he is a party, confers with or otherwise contacts any staff personnel employed by the Commission regarding the merits of a pending proceeding, the staff employee shall promptly forward by regular mail a memorandum of the date and general subject matter of such contact to all other parties of record to the proceeding.

(g) Notwithstanding the foregoing, no communication by a public utility or by the public staff regarding the level of rates specifically proposed to be charged by a public utility shall be made or directed to the Commission, a member of the Commission, or hearing examiner, except in the form of written tariff, petition, application, pleading, written response, written recommendation, recorded conference, intervention, answer, pleading, sworn testimony and related exhibits, oral argument on the record, or brief. Willful violations of the provisions of this section on the part of any public utility shall subject such public utility to the penalties provided in G.S. 62-310(a). Willful violations of the provisions of this section by a member of the public staff shall subject such person to dismissal for cause. (1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1977, c. 468, s. 14; 1979, c. 332, s. 2.)

Applied in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Village of Pinehurst, 99 N.C. App. 224, 393 S.E.2d 111 (1990).

§ 62-71. Hearings to be public; record of proceedings.

(a) All formal hearings before the Commission, a panel of three commissioners, a commissioner or an examiner shall be public, and shall be conducted in accordance with such rules as the Commission may prescribe. A full and complete record shall be kept of all proceedings on any formal hearing, and all testimony shall be taken by a reporter appointed by the Commission. Any party to a proceeding shall be entitled to a copy of the record or any part thereof upon the payment of the reasonable cost thereof as determined by the Commission.

(b) The Commission in its discretion may approve stenographic or mechanical methods of recording testimony, or a combination of such methods, and a transcript of any such record shall be valid for all purposes, subject to protest and settlement by the Commission.

(c) The Commission is authorized to provide daily transcripts of testimony in cases of substantial public interest and in other cases where time is an important factor to the parties involved.

(d) The Commission shall have authority to contract with or employ on a temporary basis, when deemed necessary by the chairman of the Commission, court reporters in addition to those employed on a full-time basis by the Commission, for the purpose of recording and transcribing testimony given at hearings before the Commission involving any Class A or B utility. The Commission is authorized to charge the cost of employing such court reporters directly to the involved utility or utilities. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1975, c. 243, s. 9; 1981, c. 1022.)

CASE NOTES

Formal Hearing. — An informal conference between members of the Commission and representatives of the utility involved in a rate proceeding, which was called at the suggestion of the Commission, and which involved only a single question as to whether the protesting municipalities having industrial users could secure an industrial rate, and at which conference no testimony and no record was taken, was not a formal hearing within the meaning of this section. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Municipal Corps., 243 N.C. 193, 90 S.E.2d 519 (1955).

§ 62-72. Commission may make rules of practice and procedure.

Except as otherwise provided in this Chapter, the Commission is authorized to make and promulgate rules of practice and procedure for the Commission hearings. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Legal Periodicals. — For article on administrative evidence rules, see 49 N.C.L. Rev. 635 (1971).

CASE NOTES

In the absence of statutory inhibition, the Commission may regulate its own procedure within broad limits, and may prescribe and adopt reasonable rules and regulations with respect thereto, provided such rules are consistent with the statutes governing its actions. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962); State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Western Carolina Tel. Co., 260 N.C. 369, 132 S.E.2d 873 (1963).

Rules Must Not Be Contrary to Statutes. — While the power of the legislature to delegate authority to an administrative agency of the State to prescribe rules and regulations for the due and orderly performance of its public functions is unquestioned, this does not authorize the formulation of rules contrary to the statute. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 224 N.C. 283, 29 S.E.2d 912 (1944).

Waiver or Suspension of Rules. — The Commission may adopt its own rules governing pleadings, and has the power to waive or suspend the rules. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962).

As to challenge to validity of rules by appeal under former law, see State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N.C. 293, 29 S.E.2d 909 (1944); Utilities Comm'n v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N.C. 672, 32 S.E.2d 23 (1944).

Power to Grant Continuance or Extend Hearing. — The Commission may regulate its own procedure within broad limits and that it may suspend or waive its rules. Thus, the commission has the power, within its discretion, to grant a continuance or extend a hearing. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 64 N.C. App. 266, 307 S.E.2d 375 (1983), modified on other grounds on rehearing, 66 N.C. App. 456, 311 S.E.2d 617, rev'd in part, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

§ 62-73. Complaints against public utilities.

Complaints may be made by the Commission on its own motion or by any person having an interest, either direct or as a representative of any persons having a direct interest in the subject matter of such complaint by petition or complaint in writing setting forth any act or thing done or omitted to be done by any public utility, including any rule, regulation or rate heretofore established or fixed by or for any public utility in violation of any provision of law or of any order or rule of the Commission, or that any rate, service, classification, rule, regulation or practice is unjust and unreasonable. Upon good cause shown and in compliance with the rules of the Commission, the Commission shall also allow any such person authorized to file a complaint, to intervene in any pending proceeding. The Commission, by rule, may prescribe the form of complaints filed under this section, and may in its discretion order two or more complaints dealing with the same subject matter to be joined in one hearing. Unless the Commission shall determine, upon consideration of the complaint or otherwise, and after notice to the complainant and opportunity to be heard, that no reasonable ground exists for an investigation of such complaint, the Commission shall fix a time and place for hearing, after reasonable notice to the complainant and the utility complained of, which notice shall be not less than 10 days before the time set for such hearing. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

In determining the scope of the Commission's authority, the emphasis should be placed on the public utility function rather than a literal reading of the statutory definition of "public utility," and the statutory definition should not be read so narrowly as to preclude commission jurisdiction over a function which is required to provide adequate service to the subscribers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 326 N.C. 522, 391 S.E.2d 487 (1990).

In a complaint case the field of inquiry is limited to the comparatively narrow question of fair treatment to a group or to a class. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. County of Harnett, 30 N.C. App. 24, 226 S.E.2d 515 (1976).

As to standing of manufacturer and distributor of plastic telephone directory covers to complain and appeal, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. National Merchandising Corp., 288 N.C. 715, 220 S.E.2d 304 (1975).

Evidence of Actual Costs of Shipments by Protestant Not Required. — In a complaint proceeding to determine the reasonableness of proposed increased intrastate rates for the shipment of crude earth by rail, respondent railroads were not required to present evidence of actual costs of shipments by protestant brick company between its mine and its manufacturing plant, since the appropriate group or class for the Utilities Commission's consideration was not protestant as an individual shipper at a certain mileage level, but all present and future shippers of crude earth who would be affected by the scale of rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Boren Clay Prods. Co., 48 N.C. App. 263, 269 S.E.2d 234, cert. denied, 301 N.C. 531, 273 S.E.2d 461 (1980).

The Utilities Commission was without jurisdiction to require VEPCO to comply with regulations of the Roanoke Voyages Corridor Commission, or to effect and encourage restoration, preservation, and enhancement of the appearance and aesthetic quality of the U.S. Highway 64 and 264 travel corridor through Roanoke Island, to bear the additional expense of supplying electrical service through underground facilities. The Corridor Commission did not argue or allege inadequate service or unreasonable rates, so the complaint was properly dismissed. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Roanoke Voyages Corridor Comm'n, 76 N.C. App. 324, 332 S.E.2d 753 (1985).

Providing a correct telephone listing in the yellow pages as well as in the white pages of the directory is a utility function, and the Commission properly has jurisdiction over complaints which arise from this function. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 326 N.C. 522, 391 S.E.2d 487 (1990).

Incorrect Telephone Number Listings. — The Utilities Commission had jurisdiction over complaints concerning incorrect telephone number listings in the telephone directory even when the regulated utility had delegated to another company the public utility function of publishing its directory which also included paid advertising. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 326 N.C. 522, 391 S.E.2d 487 (1990).

Proper Listings in Advertisements in Yellow Pages. — If a utility elects to include yellow pages advertising in the directory which it is required to publish, then clearly proper listings in the advertisements in the yellow pages become a part of the utility's "function of providing adequate service" to the public. The public is not well served by listings in the yellow pages or the white pages of the directory which are incorrect or confusing to the consuming public. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 326 N.C. 522, 391 S.E.2d 487 (1990).

Petition Properly Denied. — The Utilities Commission did not improperly resolve issues of fact without benefit of a hearing by denying petition where the Commission found that no reasonable ground existed for investigating the utility's rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Indus. Group For Fair Util. Rates, 130 N.C. App. 636, 503 S.E.2d 697 (1998), cert. denied, 349 N.C. 377 (1998).

§ 62-74. Complaints by public utilities.

Any public utility shall have the right to complain on any of the grounds upon which complaints are allowed to be filed by other parties, and the same procedure shall be adopted and followed as in other cases, except that the complaint and notice of hearing shall be served by the Commission upon such interested persons as it may designate. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

§ 62-75. Burden of proof.

Except as otherwise limited in this Chapter, in all proceedings instituted by the Commission for the purpose of investigating any rate, service, classification, rule, regulation or practice, the burden of proof shall be upon the public utility whose rate, service, classification, rule, regulation or practice is under investigation to show that the same is just and reasonable. In all other proceedings the burden of proof shall be upon the complainant. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1985, c. 676, s. 8.)

CASE NOTES

Burden upon Party Seeking Rate Increase. — The burden of proof is upon the utility seeking a rate increase to show the proposed rates are just and reasonable. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 24 N.C. App. 327, 210 S.E.2d 543 (1975), vacated and appeal dismissed, 289 N.C. 286, 221 S.E.2d 322 (1976).

The burden is upon carriers asking for an increase in rates to prove justification for the increase and that the proposed rate is just and reasonable. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 267 N.C. 317, 148 S.E.2d 210, modified, 268 N.C. 204, 150 S.E.2d 337 (1966).

And Not upon Shippers or Customers. — At a hearing on a proposed increase in charges for railroad services, the shippers and customers of the railroads have no burden of proving anything; the previous rates are presumed to be fair and reasonable and so are the orders of the Commission. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 267 N.C. 317, 148 S.E.2d 210, modified, 268 N.C. 204, 150 S.E.2d 337 (1966).

The burden of proving that dedicated service rate is discriminatory and preferential lies with protestants, the complaining parties. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Bird Oil Co., 302 N.C. 14, 273 S.E.2d 232 (1981).

The burden of proof is upon an applicant for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to show there is a public convenience and necessity for its proposed service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Burden of Proof as to Counterclaim. — Where the challenge to the rate of return arose from protestants' counterclaim, the protestants were therefore complainants, and the burden was upon them. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962).

Legality of Rule Placing Burden upon

All Carriers as to All Rates. — This section uses the word "carrier" or "utility" in the singular. Therefore, when the Commission initiates an investigation of the entire rate structure of motor carriers, and places upon the carriers the burden of showing that the old rates, which have been in effect for a number of years with the approval of the Commission, are just and reasonable, a question arises as to whether the Commission has exceeded its legislative authority. See State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Motor Carriers Ass'n, 253 N.C. 432, 117 S.E.2d 271 (1960).

Plaintiff Must Prove Facts Essential to Relief. — This section imposes upon plaintiff the burden of proving the facts essential to its right to relief from the relationship of which it complains. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nello L. Teer Co., 266 N.C. 366, 146 S.E.2d 511 (1966).

Applied in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Motor Carriers' Traffic Ass'n, 16 N.C. App. 515, 192 S.E.2d 580 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Boren Clay Prods. Co., 48 N.C. § 62-76. Hearings by Commission, panel of three commissioners, single commissioner, or examiner.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this Chapter, any matter requiring a hearing shall be heard and decided by the Commission or shall be referred to a panel of three commissioners or one of the commissioners or a qualified member of the Commission staff as examiner for hearing, report and recommendation of an appropriate order or decision thereon. Subject to the limitations prescribed in this Article, a panel of three commissioners, hearing commissioner or examiner to whom a hearing has been referred by order of the chairman shall have all the rights, duties, powers and jurisdiction conferred by this Chapter upon the Commission. The chairman, in his discretion, may direct any hearing by the Commission or any panel, commissioner or examiner to be held in such place or places within the State as he may determine to be in the public interest and as will best serve the convenience of interested parties. Before any member of the Commission staff enters upon the performance of duties as an examiner, he shall first take, subscribe to and file with the Commission an oath similar to the oath required of members of the Commission.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1975, c. 243, s. 5.

(c) In all cases in which a pending proceeding shall be assigned to a hearing commissioner, such commissioner shall hear and determine the proceedings and submit his recommended order, but, in the event of a petition to the full Commission to review such recommended order, the hearing commissioner shall take no part in such review, either in hearing oral argument or in consideration of the Commission's decision, but his vote shall be counted in such decision to affirm his original order. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1959, c. 639, s. 3; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1975, c. 243, ss. 5, 9, 10.)

CASE NOTES

This section supports the holding that three commissioners concurring in order of Commission must have heard evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 251, 204 S.E.2d 181 (1974).

§ 62-77. Recommended decision of panel of three commissioners, single commissioner or examiner.

Any report, order or decision made or recommended by a panel of three commissioners, commissioner or examiner with respect to any matter referred for hearing shall be in writing and shall set forth separately findings of fact and conclusions of law and shall be filed with the Commission. A copy of such recommended order, report and findings shall be served upon the parties who have appeared in the proceeding. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1975, c. 243, s. 9.)

§ 62-78. Proposed findings, briefs, exceptions, orders, expediting cases, and other procedure.

(a) Prior to each decision or order by the Commission in a proceeding initially heard by it and prior to any recommended decision or order of a panel of three commissioners, commissioner or examiner, the parties shall be afforded an opportunity to submit, within the time prescribed by order entered in the cause, unless further extended by order of the Commission, for the consideration of the Commission, panel, commissioner or examiner, as the case may be, proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law and briefs or, in its discretion, oral arguments in lieu thereof.

(b) Within the time prescribed by the panel of three commissioners, commissioner, or examiner, the parties shall be afforded an opportunity to file exceptions to the recommended decision or order and a brief in support thereof, provided the time so fixed shall be not less than 15 days from the date of such recommended decision or order. The record shall show the ruling upon each requested finding and conclusion or exception.

(c) In all proceedings in which a panel of three commissioners, commissioner or examiner has filed a report, recommended decision or order to which exceptions have been filed, the Commission, before making its final decision or order, shall afford the party or parties an opportunity for oral argument. When no exceptions are filed within the time specified to a recommended decision or order, such recommended decision or order shall become the order of the Commission and shall immediately become effective unless the order is stayed or postponed by the Commission; provided, the Commission may, on its own motion, review any such matter and take action thereon as if exceptions thereto had been filed.

(d) When exceptions are filed, as herein provided, it shall be the duty of the Commission to consider the same and if sufficient reason appears therefor, to grant such review or make such order or hold or authorize such further hearing or proceeding as may be necessary or proper to carry out the purposes of this Chapter. The Commission, after review, upon the whole record, or as supplemented by a further hearing, shall decide the matter in controversy and make appropriate order or decision thereon.

(e) The Commission may expedite the hearing and decision of any case if the public interest so requires by the use of pretrial conferences, daily transcripts of evidence, trial briefs, and prompt oral argument, and by granting priority to the hearing and decision of such case. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1959, c. 639, s. 4; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1975, c. 243, ss. 9, 10; c. 867, s. 5.)

CASE NOTES

Ordinarily, the procedure before the Commission is more or less informal and is not as strict as in superior court, nor is it confined by technical rules; substance and not form is controlling. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Champion Papers, Inc., 259 N.C. 449, 130 S.E.2d 890 (1963).

This section requires the Commission to find all facts essential to a determination of the question at issue. Having found the facts, it may then make factual conclusions. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Haywood Elec. Membership Corp., 260 N.C. 59, 131 S.E.2d 865 (1963).

The reason for compelling adequate factual findings is to permit proper judicial review. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Haywood Elec. Membership Corp., 260 N.C. 59, 131 S.E.2d 865 (1963).

The duty imposed is similar to that duty imposed on a judge of the superior court by former § 1-185 when a jury trial is waived, and on the Industrial Commission by § 97-84 before it can award or deny compensation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Haywood Elec. Membership Corp., 260 N.C. 59, 131 S.E.2d 865 (1963).

Power to Alter or Amend Orders. — Whatever the effect of subsection (c) of this section on an order filed by a panel of three Commissioners, this does not affect the power of the Utilities Commission to act pursuant to § 62-80. Section 62-80 provides the Utilities Commission may "alter or amend" an order after a hearing. By using the words "alter or amend" the legislature intended that the Commission may change an order in some respects without considering all factors that must be considered in a general rate case. The statute does not limit changes in orders to those that have not become final. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 59 N.C. App. 448, 297 S.E.2d 119 (1982).

Failure to Make Findings Necessitates Remand. — A failure by the Commission to find facts essential to a determination of the rights of the parties necessitates a remand to the Commission to make necessary findings on which it may base its order. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Haywood Elec. Membership Corp., 260 N.C. 59, 131 S.E.2d 865 (1963).

Improper Appeal. — To allow an appeal from a recommended order to which no exception has been taken and which has become the final order of the full Commission by operation of the statute would allow a party, in effect, to "bypass" the full Commission, usurping the administrative agency's authority. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Water Serv., Inc., 335 N.C. 493, 439 S.E.2d 127 (1994).

Applied in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 250 N.C. 421, 109 S.E.2d 253 (1959).

Cited in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 348 N.C. 452, 500 S.E.2d 693 (1998).

§ 62-79. Final orders and decisions; findings; service; compliance.

(a) All final orders and decisions of the Commission shall be sufficient in detail to enable the court on appeal to determine the controverted questions presented in the proceedings and shall include:

(1) Findings and conclusions and the reasons or bases therefor upon all the material issues of fact, law, or discretion presented in the record, and

(2) The appropriate rule, order, sanction, relief or statement of denial thereof.

(b) A copy of every final order or decision under the seal of the Commission shall be served by registered or certified mail upon the person against whom it runs or his attorney and notice thereof shall be given to the other parties to the proceeding or their attorney. Such order shall take effect and become operative when issued unless otherwise designated therein and shall continue in force either for a period which may be designated therein or until changed or revoked by the Commission. If an order cannot, in the judgment of the Commission, be complied with within the time designated therein, the Commission may grant and prescribe such additional time as in its judgment is reasonably necessary to comply with the order, and may, on application and for good cause shown, extend the time for compliance fixed in its order. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1957, c. 1152, s. 4; 1959, c. 639, s. 4; 1961, c. 472, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1981, c. 193, s. 2.)

CASE NOTES

The Commission is required by this section to find all facts essential to a determination of the question at issue. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Queen City Coach Co., 4 N.C. App. 116, 166 S.E.2d 441 (1969).

Subsection (a) of this section requires the Commission to find all facts which are essential to a determination of the issues before it, in order that the reviewing court may have sufficient information to determine whether an adequate basis exists, in law and in fact, to support the Commission's resolution of the controverted issues. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

This section requires the commission to find all facts essential to a determination of the question at issue. The commission, however, is not required to comment on every single fact or item of evidence presented by the parties. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

The purpose of the findings required by subsection (a) is to provide the reviewing court with sufficient information to allow it to determine the controverted questions presented in the proceedings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

The purpose of the required detail as to findings, conclusions, and reasons as mandated by subsection (a) is to provide the appellate court with sufficient information with which to determine under the scope of review the questions at issue in the proceedings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 348 N.C. 452, 500 S.E.2d 693 (1998).

Commission Need Not Comment on Every Fact Presented. — Although the Utilities Commission must consider and determine controverted questions by making findings of fact and conclusions of law, and must set forth the reasons and bases therefor "upon all the material issues of fact, law, or discretion," it need not comment upon every single fact or item of evidence presented by the parties. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397, rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

This section does not require that an order of the Commission contain a summary of the appellant's argument if the order taken as a whole is sufficient in detail to enable the court on appeal to determine the controverted questions presented in the proceedings and contains the necessary findings of fact and conclusions of law. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 336 N.C. 657, 446 S.E.2d 332 (1994).

Commission's mislabeling of its findings and conclusions will not be fatal to its order if certain procedural requirements are met. As long as each link in the chain of reasoning appears in the commission's order, mislabeling is merely an inconvenience to the courts. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

The Commission has the duty to enter final orders that are sufficient in detail to enable the Supreme Court on appeal to determine the controverted issues. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. AT & T Communications of S. States, Inc., 321 N.C. 586, 364 S.E.2d 386 (1988).

Findings Under § 62-133(d). — The "other material facts of record" considered by the Commission under § 62-133(d) in fixing reasonable and just rates must be found and set forth in its order so that the reviewing court may see what these elements are. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982).

The Commission is required to set forth factors it considers in fixing reasonable and just rates which are not enumerated in § 62-133. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982).

Questions of Original and Replacement Costs as "Material Issues of Fact". — When the record before the Commission presents questions of the original cost, less depreciation and the replacement cost, less depreciation, these are "material issues of fact," upon each of which the Commission must make its finding. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 15 N.C. App. 41, 189 S.E.2d 777 (1972).

Determination of "Fair Value". — Having made properly supported findings, it is for the Commission, not the reviewing court, to determine, in its expert discretion and by the use of "balanced scales," the relative weights to be given these several factors in ascertaining the ultimate fact of "fair value." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 15 N.C. App. 41, 189 S.E.2d 777 (1972).

While the Commission has the duty to weigh evidence of "fair value" fairly and in "balanced scales," the reviewing court may not set aside the Commission's determination of "fair value" merely because the court would have given the respective elements different weights and would, therefore, have arrived at a different "fair value." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 15 N.C. App. 41, 189 S.E.2d 777 (1972).

Failure to include all necessary findings of fact is an error of law and a basis for remand under § 62-94(b)(4) because it frus-trates appellate review. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff, 317 N.C. 26, 343 S.E.2d 898 (1986); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 322 N.C. 689, 370 S.E.2d 567 (1988).

The Commission's order must be sufficient within itself to comply with the statute. Failure to include all necessary findings of fact and details is an error of law and a basis for remand under § 62-94(b)(4) because it frustrates appellate review. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. AT & T Communications of S. States, Inc., 321 N.C. 586, 364 S.E.2d 386 (1988).

The Commission was required to make specific findings showing what effect, if any, it gave to financing costs or down market protection, or both, in arriving at its common equity rate of return decision. Failure to do so constituted an error of law requiring a remand for further proceedings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 322 N.C. 689, 370 S.E.2d 567 (1988).

Findings Must Be Supported by Competent Evidence. — Since the Commission is required to render its decisions upon questions of law and of fact in the same manner as a court of record, its findings must, as a matter of law, be supported by competent evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Rail Common Carriers, 42 N.C. App. 314, 256 S.E.2d 508 (1979).

Findings Held Sufficient. — Where its final order showed that the Commission arrayed factors suggesting a higher rate of return against those suggesting a lower rate, and appellant's evidence was given substantial weight in the Commission's ultimate conclusion, the Commission's order was sufficiently detailed, and its findings in support of its conclusion were adequate to comply with this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 323 N.C. 481, 374 S.E.2d 361 (1988).

Utilities Commission's decision to accept an expert's recommendation of an 11.4% return on equity, based on the credibility and objectivity of his company-specific "discounted cash flow" analysis, was independently reached and supported by competent, material, and substantial evidence. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 351 N.C. 223, 524 S.E.2d 10 (2000).

Reasons for Rejecting Uncontradicted Opinion Testimony. — The Commission is not, as a matter of law, required to set forth in its order its reasons for rejecting uncontradicted opinion testimony; however, it is the better practice for the Commission to do so. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982).

In a complaint proceeding to determine the reasonableness of proposed increased intrastate rates for the shipment of crude earth by rail, the Utilities Commission was not required to make a specific finding that an emergency or change of circumstances not affecting the entire rate structure had occurred in order to allow a change in the rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Boren Clay Prods. Co., 48 N.C. App. 263, 269 S.E.2d 234, cert. denied, 301 N.C. 531, 273 S.E.2d 461 (1980).

Different Reasons Given by Concurring Commissioners Not Grounds for Reversal. — When § 62-60 and subsection (a) of this section are construed together, as they must be, it is apparent that the General Assembly did not intend that an order of the Commission concurred in by the majority of its members, based upon findings of fact concurred in by a majority of its members, might be reversed solely because the members of the concurring majority chose different rules, or supposed rules, of law as support for their decision and order. The diversity of the reasons given by the three commissioners who join in an ultimate decision and order are not a sufficient ground for its reversal. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Order prescribing different Private Line Service rates for AT&T's nonreseller (end user) customers and its reseller customers upon its face was discriminatory, and absent legally adequate reasons in the order why it was not unjustly discriminatory within the meaning of § 62-2(4), the order would be vacated and the cause remanded to the Commission for further proceedings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. AT & T Communications of S. States, Inc., 321 N.C. 586, 364 S.E.2d 386 (1988).

§ 62-80. Powers of Commission to rescind, alter or amend prior order or decision.

The Commission may at any time upon notice to the public utility and to the other parties of record affected, and after opportunity to be heard as provided in the case of complaints, rescind, alter or amend any order or decision made by it. Any order rescinding, altering or amending a prior order or decision shall, when served upon the public utility affected, have the same effect as is herein provided for original orders or decisions. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Procedure to Be Informal. — Since the regulation of public utilities is a continuing and continuous process as to each utility, procedure before the Commission must be more or less informal and not confined by technical rules, in order that regulation may be consistent with changing conditions. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 13 N.C. App. 554, 186 S.E.2d 612 (1972), cert. denied, 281 N.C. 158, 188 S.E.2d 364 (1972).

This section does not require a motion by the public utility, or other party, as a condition precedent to the authority of the Utilities Commission to amend a previously issued order. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 575, 232 S.E.2d 177 (1977).

Reconsideration Does Not Require New and Independent Proceeding. — The Utilities Commission has the authority, upon its own motion or upon motion by any party, to reconsider its previously issued order, upon proper notice and hearing, and upon the record already compiled, without requiring institution of a new and independent proceeding by complaint or otherwise. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. MCI Telecommunications Corp., 132 N.C. App. 625, 514 S.E.2d 276 (1999).

Authority to Rescind, Alter or Amend Is Discretionary. — The statutory authority of the Utilities Commission to rescind, alter or amend any order or decision made by it, upon proper notice to parties and after opportunity for hearing, is obviously discretionary. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Services Unlimited, Inc., 9 N.C. App. 590, 176 S.E.2d 870 (1970).

General Rate Hearing Not Required for Amendment. — This section requires that the procedures of complaint hearings shall be used before amending an order but it does not require a general rate hearing before an order may be amended. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 59 N.C. App. 448, 297 S.E.2d 119 (1982).

Effect of § 62-78(c) on Power to Alter or Amend. — Whatever the effect of § 62-78(c) on an order filed by a panel of three Commissioners, this does not affect the power of the Utilities Commission to act pursuant to this section. This section provides that the Utilities Commission may "alter or amend" an order after a hearing. By using the words "alter or amend" the legislature intended that the Commission may change an order in some respects without considering all factors that must be considered in a general rate case. The statute does not limit changes in orders to those that have not become final. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 59 N.C. App. 448, 297 S.E.2d 119 (1982).

Reconsideration Until Order Is Final. — At least until an order becomes final by expiration of the time allowed for appeal, this section authorizes the Commission, upon its own motion or upon the motion of any party, to reconsider a previously issued order, upon proper notice and hearing, upon the record already compiled, without requiring the institution of a new and independent proceeding by complaint or otherwise. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 575, 232 S.E.2d 177 (1977).

Modification, etc., Based on Prior Misapprehension of Facts. — This section is broad enough to permit the Commission to modify and amend its order, even substantially, where, upon further consideration of the record before it, the Commission comes to the opinion that its order was due to the Commission's misapprehension of the facts, or disregard of facts, shown by the evidence received at the original hearing. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 575, 232 S.E.2d 177 (1977).

The Commission may not arbitrarily or capriciously rescind its order approving a contract between utilities. It must appear that such rescission is made because of a change of circumstances requiring it in the public interest. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

In the absence of statutory authority, and in the absence of any additional evidence or a change in conditions, the Commission has no power to reopen a proceeding and modify or set aside an order theretofore made by it, where the order was made in pursuance of an agreement entered into by the parties to the proceeding. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

Circumstances Justifying Rescission of Prior Order Approving Agreement Between Carriers. — The improvement and construction of highways between two municipalities making feasible a new and quicker bus route between them was a sufficient change of condition to empower the Utilities Commission to modify or rescind a prior order entered by it approving an agreement between two carriers in regard to their respective services to the public between the two municipalities along the older routes. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

Revocation of Prior Order Reversed. — An order of the Utilities Commission revoking its prior order approving an agreement between carriers in regard to their respective services along the route in question and substituting in lieu thereof an order of the Commission having the same effect as the agreement, was reversed, there being no evidence to support the Commission's conclusion that the new order would promote harmony among the carriers, and there being no showing of a change of condition requiring a revision of the prior order in the public interest. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

"Complaint Proceeding" Distinguished from General Rate Case. — A hearing pursuant to the provisions of this section and § 62-136 which involves a single rate or small part of a rate structure of a public utility is called a "complaint proceeding." It differs from a general rate case in that it deals with an emergency or change of circumstances which does not affect the entire rate structure of a utility and may be resolved without involving the procedure outlined in § 62-133. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 250 N.C. 421, 109 S.E.2d 253 (1959).

An appeal does not lie from the denial of a petition to rehear. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Services Unlimited, Inc., 9 N.C. App. 590, 176 S.E.2d 870 (1970).

Running of Appeal Time Tolled. — The running of the time for appeal of an order of the Utilities Commission is tolled during the period between the filing of a petition for reconsideration and the order denying the motion. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. MCI Telecommunications Corp., 132 N.C. App. 625, 514 S.E.2d 276 (1999).

Applied in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Water Serv., Inc., 335 N.C. 493, 439 S.E.2d 127 (1994).

Cited in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Gas Serv., 128 N.C. App. 288, 494 S.E.2d 621 (1998); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, Inc., 142 N.C. App. 127, 542 S.E.2d 247 (2001).

§ 62-81. Special procedure in hearing and deciding rate cases.

(a) All cases or proceedings, declared to be or properly classified as general rate cases under G.S. 62-137, or any proceedings which will substantially affect any utility's overall level of earnings or rate of return, shall be set for trial or hearing by the Commission, which trial or hearing shall be set to commence within six months of the institution or filing thereof, and all such cases or proceedings shall be tried or heard and decided, with the issuance of a final order, by the Commission within nine months of the institution or filing thereof. All such cases or proceedings shall be tried or heard and decided in accordance with the rate-making procedure set forth in G.S. 62-133 and such cases shall be given priority over all other cases or proceedings pending before the Commission. In all such cases the Commission shall make a transcript of the evidence and testimony presented and received by it and shall furnish a copy thereof to any party so requesting by the third business day after the taking of such evidence and testimony.

(b) Any public utility filing or applying for an increase in rates for electric, telephone, natural gas or water service shall notify its customers proposed to be affected by such increase of such filing by regular mail or by newspaper publications, as directed by the Commission, within 30 days of such filing, which notice shall state that the Commission shall set and shall conduct a trial or hearing with respect to such filing or application within six months of said filing date. All other public utilities shall give such notice in such manner as shall be prescribed by the Commission.

(c) In cases or proceedings filed with and pending before the Commission, where the total annual revenue requested, or where the total annual revenue increase requested, is less than three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000), even though all or a substantial portion of the rate structure is being initially established or is under review, the chairman of the Commission may refer the proceeding to a panel of three commissioners or to a hearing commissioner or to a hearing examiner for hearing.

(d) In all proceedings for an increase in rates and all other proceedings declared to be general rate cases under G.S. 62-137, the Commission shall conduct the hearing or portions of the hearing within the area of the State served by the public utility whose rates are under consideration, provided this subsection shall not apply to proceedings held pursuant to G.S. 62-134(e) and 62-133(f).

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, application by any public utility for permission and authority to adjust its rates and charges based solely upon the cost of fuel used in the generation or production of electric power shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 62-134(e).

(f) Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, or other provisions of this Chapter which would otherwise require a hearing, where there is no significant public protest received within 30 days of the publication of notice of a proposed rate change for a water or sewer utility, the Commission may decide the proceeding based on the record without a trial or hearing, provided said utility and all other parties of record have waived their right to any such hearing. Any decision made pursuant to this subsection shall be made in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 62-133 or 62-133.1. (1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1973, c. 1074; 1975, c. 45; c. 243, ss. 6, 9; c. 867, s. 6; 1977, c. 468, s. 15; 1981, c. 193, s. 3; c. 439.)

Editor's Note. — Section 62-133(f), referred to in subsection (d) of this section, was repealed by Session Laws 1991, c. 598, s. 7.

Section 62-134(e), referred to in subsections (d) and (e) of this section, was repealed by Session Laws 1981 (Regular Session, 1982), c. 1197, s. 2.

§ 62-82. Special procedure on application for certificate for generating facility; appeal from award order.

(a) Notice of Application for Certificate for Generating Facility; Hearing; Briefs and Oral Arguments. — Whenever there is filed with the Commission an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity for the construction of a facility for the generation of electricity under G.S. 62-110.1, the Commission shall require the applicant to publish a notice thereof once a week for four successive weeks in a daily newspaper of general circulation in the county where such facility is proposed to be constructed and thereafter the Commission upon complaint shall, or upon its own initiative may, upon reasonable notice, enter upon a hearing to determine whether such certificate shall be awarded. Any such hearing must be commenced by the Commission not later than three months after the filing of such application, and the procedure for rendering decisions therein shall be given priority over all other cases on the Commission's calendar of hearings and decisions, except rate proceedings referred to in G.S. 62-81. Such applications shall be heard as provided in G.S. 62-60.1, and the Commission shall furnish a transcript of evidence and testimony submitted by the end of the second business day after the taking of each day of testimony. The Commission or panel shall require that briefs and oral arguments in such cases be submitted within 30 days after the conclusion of the hearing, and the Commission or panel shall render its decision in such cases within 60 days after submission of such briefs and arguments. If the Commission or panel does not, upon its own initiative, order a hearing and does not receive a complaint within 10 days after the last day of publication of the notice, the Commission or panel shall enter an order awarding the certificate.

(b) Compensation for Damages Sustained by Appeal from Award of Certificate under G.S. 62-110.1; Bond Prerequisite to Appeal. — Any party or parties opposing, and appealing from, an order of the Commission which awards a certificate under G.S. 62-110.1 shall be obligated to recompense the party to whom the certificate is awarded, if such award is affirmed upon appeal, for the damages, if any, which such party sustains by reason of the delay in beginning the construction of the facility which is occasioned by the appeal, such damages to be measured by the increase in the cost of such generating facility (excluding legal fees, court costs, and other expenses incurred in connection with the appeal). No appeal from any order of the Commission which awards any such certificate may be taken by any party opposing such award unless, within the time limit for filing notice of appeal as provided for in G.S. 62-90, such party shall have filed with the Commission a bond with sureties approved by the Commission, or an undertaking approved by the Commission, in such amount as the Commission determines will be reasonably sufficient to discharge the obligation hereinabove imposed upon such appealing party. The Commission may, when there are two or more such appealing parties, permit them to file a joint bond or undertaking. If the award order of the Commission is affirmed on appeal, the Commission shall determine the amount, if any, of damages sustained by the party to whom the certificate was awarded, and shall issue appropriate orders to assure that such damages be paid and, if necessary, that the bond or undertaking be enforced. (1965, c. 287, s. 3; 1975, c. 243, s. 7.)

CASE NOTES

Scope of Commission's Authority and Jurisdiction. — North Carolina Utilities Commission's dismissal of petitioner independent power producer's application and its establishment of minimum filing requirements did not constitute an impermissible deviation from the process specifically provided in this section and § 62-110.1, and some deviation from these sections was not beyond the Commission's authority and jurisdiction. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Empire Power Co., 112 N.C. App. 265, 435 S.E.2d 553 (1993), cert. denied, 335 N.C. 564, 441 S.E.2d 125 (1994).

Article 5.

Review and Enforcement of Orders.

§ 62-90. Right of appeal; filing of exceptions.

(a) Any party to a proceeding before the Commission may appeal from any final order or decision of the Commission within 30 days after the entry of such final order or decision, or within such time thereafter as may be fixed by the Commission, not to exceed 30 additional days, and by order made within 30 days, if the party aggrieved by such decision or order shall file with the Commission notice of appeal and exceptions which shall set forth specifically the ground or grounds on which the aggrieved party considers said decisions or order to be unlawful, unjust, unreasonable or unwarranted, and including errors alleged to have been committed by the Commission.

All other parties may give notice of cross appeal and set out exceptions which shall set forth specifically the grounds on which the said party considers said decision or order to be unlawful, unjust, unreasonable or unwarranted, and including errors alleged to have been committed by the Commission. Such notice of cross appeal and exceptions shall be filed with the Commission within 20 days after the first notice of appeal and exceptions has been filed, or within such time thereafter as may be fixed by the Commission, not to exceed 20 additional days by order made within 20 days of the first filed notice of appeal and exceptions.

(b) Any party may appeal from all or any portion of any final order or decision of the Commission in the manner herein provided. Copy of the notice of appeal shall be mailed by the appealing party at the time of filing with the Commission, to each party to the proceeding to the addresses as they appear in the files of the Commission in the proceeding. The failure of any party, other than the Commission, to be served with or to receive a copy of the notice of appeal shall not affect the validity or regularity of the appeal.

(c) The Commission may on motion of any party to the proceeding or on its own motion set the exceptions to the final order upon which such appeal is based for further hearing before the Commission.

(d) The appeal shall lie to the appellate division of the General Court of Justice as provided in G.S. 7A-29. The procedure for the appeal shall be as provided by the rules of appellate procedure.

(g) Repealed by Session Laws 1983, c. 526, s. 5. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1955, c. 1207, s. 1; 1959, c. 639, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1967, c. 1190, s. 1; 1975, c. 391, s. 12; 1983, c. 526, ss. 4, 5; c. 572.)

CASE NOTES

I. In General.
II. Cases Decided Prior to 1949 Revision of Procedural Sections.

I. IN GENERAL.

Necessity for Timely Filing. — An affected party must file exceptions to the determination or decision within 10 (now 30) days after notice of the determination or decision. In re Housing Auth., 233 N.C. 649, 65 S.E.2d 761 (1961).

The Court of Appeals is without jurisdiction to review an original order of the Utilities Commission where no appeal has been taken from the order and the time for giving notice and perfecting appeal has expired. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Services Unlimited, Inc., 9 N.C. App. 590, 176 S.E.2d 870 (1970).

Who May Appeal. — An appeal from the Utilities Commission is limited to parties to the proceeding; a party is not affected by a ruling of the Utilities Commission unless the decision affects or purports to affect some right or interest of a party to the controversy and is in some way determinative of some material question involved. In re Housing Auth., 233 N.C. 649, 65 S.E.2d 761 (1961).

In order to have standing to appeal under this section, a party must not only file notice of appeal within 30 days, but must also be aggrieved. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 104 N.C. App. 216, 408 S.E.2d 876 (1991), cert. denied, 330 N.C. 618, 412 S.E.2d 95 (1992).

Section 62-137 Inapplicable to Proceedings Under Subsection (c) of This Section. — Section 62-137 is inapplicable to proceedings conducted under subsection (c) of this section, since their scope is limited by statute to the exceptions on which the particular appeal of a final order or decision is based, leaving the Commission without authority to declare the hearings a general rate case or complaint proceeding. The Commission may consider only the grounds upon which the applicant asserts that the Commission's order or decision is unlawful, unjust, unreasonable or unwarranted, including alleged errors committed by the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Utility customers association was not an aggrieved party entitled to appeal an order of the Utilities Commission adopting a rate making formula which authorized a natural gas company to adjust its rates when it purchased gas from nontraditional sources. Contention that association was an aggrieved party because the order would allow gas company to increase its rates in the future to the extent necessary to offset previous reductions under the order was without merit. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 104 N.C. App. 216, 408 S.E.2d 876 (1991), cert. denied, 330 N.C. 618, 412 S.E.2d 95 (1992).

Because the Utilities Commission's order regarding funding for a non-profit research organization did not impact rates and because any rate increases would have been effectuated at subsequent rate cases, intervenor-utility customers association was not an "aggrieved party" within the meaning of this section and, thus, lacked standing to appeal. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, Inc., 142 N.C. App. 127, 542 S.E.2d 247 (2001).

Construing Notice of Appeal. — Notices of appeal would be considered to be appeals from the original order of the Utilities Commission, even though joint appellants' notices stated that they were appealing from denial of their petition for reconsideration, a non-appealable order, where it could be fairly inferred that they intended to appeal from the original orders and the appellee was not misled. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. MCI Telecommunications Corp., 132 N.C. App. 625, 514 S.E.2d 276 (1999).

Federal Jurisdiction over Disputes Arising under This Statute. — The district court erred in asserting federal jurisdiction under 47 U.S.C. § 252(e)(6) over disputes involving contract administration, interpretation and enforcement; the interconnection agreements at the core of those disputes were submitted to the NCUC and approved by it, and no judicial review was sought from these State commission determinations pursuant to this section. Bellsouth Telecomms. v. North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 240 F.3d 270 (4th Cir. 2001).

Applied in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Champion Papers, Inc., 259 N.C. 449, 130 S.E.2d 890 (1963); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Coach Co., 19 N.C. II. CASES DECIDED PRIOR TO 1949 REVISION OF PROCEDURAL SECTIONS.

Editor's Note. — All of the cases below were decided before the 1949 revision of the statute relating to procedure before the Utilities Commission and appeals therefrom, and construe former §§ 62-19 and 62-20, to which this section corresponds.

Powers and Jurisdiction of Commission. — Under this Chapter as it stood prior to the revision of 1949, it was held that, for the purpose of making investigations and conducting hearings, the legislature had constituted the North Carolina Utilities Commission a court of record, with all the powers and jurisdiction of a court of general jurisdiction as to all subjects embraced within the purview of the statute, for which procedure was prescribed and authorized, with the right in "any party affected thereby" to appeal "from all decisions or determinations made by the Utilities Commission." State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N.C. 293, 29 S.E.2d 909 (1944); Utilities Comm'n v. Atlantic Greyhound Corp., 224 N.C. 672, 32 S.E.2d 23 (1944).

Orders of Commission Need No Confirmation. — The Utilities Commission is a State administrative agency of original and final jurisdiction, and its orders require no confirmation by any court to be effective. State ex rel.

Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Scenic Coach Co., 218 N.C. 233, 10 S.E.2d 824 (1940).

Injunctive Relief Against Exercise of Rights Granted by Commission Refused. — Where plaintiffs instituted action against a competing carrier to restrain it from exercising rights given it by orders of the Utilities Commission amending its franchise, the orders having been entered in proceedings to which plaintiffs were parties, it was held that plaintiffs had an adequate remedy for the protection of their rights by appeal under former §§ 62-19 and 62-20, and judgment sustaining defendant's demurrer in the independent action was proper. Atlantic Greyhound Corp. v. North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 229 N.C. 31, 47 S.E.2d 473 (1948).

Right of Appeal Confined to Parties. — Former § 62-20 distinctly confined the right of appeal to a party to the proceeding. North Carolina Corp. Comm'n v. Winston-Salem Southbound Ry., 170 N.C. 560, 87 S.E. 785 (1916).

Former statute, providing that "from all decisions or determinations made by the Corporation Commission any party affected thereby shall be entitled to an appeal," necessarily meant from a decision which affected or purported to affect some right or interest of a party to the controversy and was in some way determinative of some material question involved. State ex rel. N.C. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 147 N.C. 483, 61 S.E. 271 (1908).

Under the provisions of former § 62-20, "any party affected" by the order of the Commission as to rates or charges for passengers by a street railway company, etc., was given the right of appeal to the court from such order. In re Southern Pub. Utils. Co., 179 N.C. 151, 101 S.E. 619 (1919).

The right of appeal conferred by former § 62-20 was limited to a party to the proceeding. For purposes of appeal, those who had no property or proprietary rights which were or might be affected by orders of the Commission were not such parties. An appeal by persons who were not parties to the proceeding would be dismissed by the superior court for the reason that said court acquired no jurisdiction by such appeal. State ex rel. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 196 N.C. 190, 145 S.E. 19 (1928); State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Kinston, 221 N.C. 359, 20 S.E.2d 322 (1942).

Municipality Entitled to Appeal. — It is the duty of a municipality granting a charter to a corporation to operate a streetcar system therein, which, by contract, has limited the fares to be charged passengers within a certain amount, to represent the public in proceedings upon a petition filed by the railway company before the Commission requesting that it be permitted to raise the fares beyond those limited in the contract, and thus the municipality might appeal through the courts as former § 62-20 prescribed, when the order was adverse to it or the interest it represented, as a "party affected by the decision and determination of the Commission," expressly provided for by the statute. Southern Pub. Utils. Co. v. City of Charlotte, 179 N.C. 151, 101 S.E. 619 (1919).

Citizens seeking to have a railway station moved could not appeal from the Commission's decision, under former § 62-20, because they were not parties. North Carolina Corp. Comm'n v. Winston-Salem Southbound Ry., 170 N.C. 560, 87 S.E. 785 (1916).

Notice Mandatory. — Under former § 62-20, the statutory notice of an appeal by a railroad company from an order of the Commission was mandatory, and could not be extended by the consent of the parties of record. State ex rel. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 185 N.C. 435, 117 S.E. 563 (1923); State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Norfolk S. Ry., 224 N.C. 762, 32 S.E.2d 346 (1944).

Notice to Complaining Party Under Former § 62-20. — When notice of appeal to the superior court was given to the Commission by a railroad company, and other requirements of former § 62-20 relating thereto were met by the company, this was sufficient, without giving notice of the appeal to the complaining party in the proceedings had before the Commission, as upon this appeal the statute made the Commission the party plaintiff. State ex rel. N.C. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 151 N.C. 447, 66 S.E. 427 (1909).

Removal to Federal Courts. — Assuming that an order of the Commission made to compel a carrier to change the location and conditions of its depot to promote the convenience, security and accommodation of the public would be an invasion of interstate commerce, this would not transform the proceedings in which the order was made into "a suit at law or in equity," and, as such, removable from the superior court of the State to an inferior federal tribunal, upon the ground of diverse citizenship. State ex rel. N.C. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 151 N.C. 447, 66 S.E. 427 (1909).

In proceedings for the removal of a cause from the State to the federal courts upon the question of diversity of citizenship under the applicable federal statute, the State court is not bound to surrender its jurisdiction until a case has been made which, on the face of the petition, shows the petitioner has a right to the transfer of the cause to the federal courts. State ex rel. N.C. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 151 N.C. 447, 66 S.E. 427 (1909).

Final Process. — Under this Article as it stood before the 1949 revision, the Commission had no power to enforce its orders and decrees by final process issuing directly therefrom, and for such purpose resort had to be had to ordinary courts, either by independent proceedings or in proper instances by process issued in cases carried before such courts on appeal. State ex rel. N.C. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 147 N.C. 483, 61 S.E. 271 (1908). See §§ 62-97, 62-98.

Removal of Franchise Restriction as to Carriage of Passengers by Motor Carrier. — Former § 62-20 authorized a petitioner to appeal to the superior court from an adverse ruling of the Utilities Commission on its petition for the removal from its franchise of a restriction in regard to the carriage of passengers, and the contention that no appeal would lie from such order because the right of appeal was governed by the motor carrier laws authorizing an appeal from an order affecting franchise only when entered for violation of law was untenable. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Scenic Coach Co., 216 N.C. 325, 4 S.E.2d 897 (1939).

Petitioner had the right to appeal to the superior court from the denial of its petition for the removal from its franchise of a restriction prohibiting it from transporting passengers between two cities along its route in purely local traffic between such cities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Scenic Coach Co., 218 N.C. 233, 10 S.E.2d 824 (1940).

§ 62-91. Appeal docketed; title on appeal; priorities on appeal.

Unless otherwise provided by the rules of appellate procedure, the cause on appeal from the Utilities Commission shall be entitled "State of North Carolina ex rel. Utilities Commission (here add any additional parties in support of the Commission Order and their capacity before the Commission), Appellee(s) v. (here insert name of appellant and his capacity before the Commission), Appellant." Appeals from the Utilities Commission pending in the superior courts on September 30, 1967, shall remain on the civil issue docket of such superior court and shall have priority over other civil actions. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1967, c. 1190, s. 6; 1975, c. 391, s. 13; 1983, c. 526, s. 6.)

Cross References. — As to jurisdiction of the Supreme Court to review, when authorized by law, direct appeals from a final order or decision of the North Carolina Utilities Commission, see N.C. Const., Art. IV, § 12(1).

CASE NOTES

Utilities Commission as Party. — When the Utilities Commission sits as a court of record to determine the rights of rival claimants to a valuable franchise, it is somewhat anomalous to find it appearing in the Supreme Court to uphold its order from which one or the other party has appealed. However, this procedure seems to have been authorized by the General Assembly. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City Coach Co., 234 N.C. 489, 67 S.E.2d 629 (1951).

§ 62-92. Parties on appeal.

In any appeal to the appellate division of the General Court of Justice, the complainant in the original complaint before the Commission shall be a party to the record and each of the parties to the proceeding before the Commission shall have a right to appear and participate in said appeal. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1967, c. 1190, s. 2; 1983, c. 526, s. 7.)

Cross References. — As to jurisdiction of the Supreme Court to review, when authorized by law, direct appeals from a final order or decision of the North Carolina Utilities Commission, see N.C. Const., Art. IV, § 12(1).

CASE NOTES

The Utilities Commission is a party of record in a proceeding before it, and upon appeal the Commission becomes the party plaintiff. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v.

Norfolk S. Ry., 224 N.C. 762, 32 S.E.2d 346 (1944).

As to standing of manufacturer and distributor of plastic telephone directory covers to complain and appeal, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. National Merchandising Corp., 288 N.C. 715, 220 S.E.2d 304 (1975).

§ 62-93. No evidence admitted on appeal; remission for further evidence.

No evidence shall be received at the hearing on appeal but if any party shall satisfy the court that evidence has been discovered since the hearing before the Commission that could not have been obtained for use at that hearing by the exercise of reasonable diligence, and will materially affect the merits of the case, the court may, in its discretion, remand the record and proceedings to the Commission with directions to take such subsequently discovered evidence, and after consideration thereof, to make such order as the Commission may deem proper, from which order an appeal shall lie as in the case of any other final order from which an appeal may be taken as provided in G.S. 62-90. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1955, c. 1207, s. 2; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

The validity of the Commission's findings and conclusions must be determined in light of the evidence that was presented to it. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

No Basis for Remand. — Where nothing in the record indicates that any party made a motion to remand, that any party desired to offer further evidence, or that newly discovered evidence was available, there is no basis for the court, in its discretion, to remand the cause. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Maybelle Transp. Co., 252 N.C. 776, 114 S.E.2d 768 (1960).

Cited in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986).

§ 62-94. Record on appeal; extent of review.

(a) On appeal the court shall review the record and the exceptions and assignments of error in accordance with the rules of appellate procedure, and any alleged irregularities in procedures before the Commission, not shown in the record, shall be considered under the rules of appellate procedure.

(b) So far as necessary to the decision and where presented, the court shall decide all relevant questions of law, interpret constitutional and statutory provisions, and determine the meaning and applicability of the terms of any Commission action. The court may affirm or reverse the decision of the Commission, declare the same null and void, or remand the case for further proceedings; or it may reverse or modify the decision if the substantial rights of the appellants have been prejudiced because the Commission's findings, inferences, conclusions or decisions are:

(1) In violation of constitutional provisions, or
(2) In excess of statutory authority or jurisdiction of the Commission, or
(3) Made upon unlawful proceedings, or
(4) Affected by other errors of law, or
(5) Unsupported by competent, material and substantial evidence in view of the entire record as submitted, or
(6) Arbitrary or capricious.

(c) In making the foregoing determinations, the court shall review the whole record or such portions thereof as may be cited by any party and due account shall be taken of the rule of prejudicial error. The appellant shall not be permitted to rely upon any grounds for relief on appeal which were not set forth specifically in his notice of appeal filed with the Commission.

(d) The court shall also compel action of the Commission unlawfully withheld or unlawfully or unreasonably delayed.

(e) Upon any appeal, the rates fixed or any rule, regulation, finding, determination, or order made by the Commission under the provisions of this Chapter shall be prima facie just and reasonable. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1955, c. 1207, s. 3; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1969, c. 614; 1975, c. 391, s. 14.)

CASE NOTES

I. IN GENERAL.

The Utilities Commission is a creature of the legislature and may exercise jurisdiction and regulatory authority only as defined by Chapter 62. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 93 N.C. App. 260, 377 S.E.2d 772 (1989), rev'd on other grounds, 326 N.C. 522, 391 S.E.2d 487 (1990).

Discretion of Utilities Commission. — In deciding complaints, the Utilities Commission is allowed discretion in fashioning a remedy; the Commission could transfer service of one cooperative to electric utility rather than all complainants, as long as its action was not capricious or arbitrary. Dennis v. Duke Power Co., 341 N.C. 91, 459 S.E.2d 707 (1995).

Subsection (b) States Authority of Court. — The authority of the court to which an appeal is taken from an order of the Utilities Commission is stated in subsection (b) of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Subsection (b) gives the Supreme Court ample basis for ordering refunds to ratepayers who have been charged unlawfully high rates. Therefore, the Supreme Court is authorized to order refunds when the Commission has made an error of law in its rate making procedures. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

Appellate review of an order of the North Carolina Utilities Commission is governed by subsections (b) and (c). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff — North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 123 N.C. App. 43, 472 S.E.2d 193 (1996).

Questions on appeal from the Commission must be determined from the record certified by it. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 261 N.C. 384, 134 S.E.2d 689 (1964).

The Commission has the duty to enter final orders that are sufficient in detail to enable the Supreme Court on appeal to determine the controverted issues. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. AT & T Communications of S. States, Inc., 321 N.C. 586, 364 S.E.2d 386 (1988).

Unless Facts Are in Record, Commission's Expert Knowledge Cannot Be Considered. — The Commission's knowledge, however expert, cannot be considered by the Supreme Court on appeal unless the facts embraced within that knowledge are in the record. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 261 N.C. 384, 134 S.E.2d 689 (1964).

Attorney General Not Prejudiced by Failure to Hold Hearing. — The Attorney General was not prejudiced by the action of the Commission in allowing an exploration tracking rate increase to go into effect without a hearing, since a refund could be sought under this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Contents of Order Remanding Cause. — If a cause is remanded under this section, the order should specify the ground on which it is based and thereby indicate to the Commission the nature of its further proceedings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Maybelle Transp. Co., 252 N.C. 776, 114 S.E.2d 768 (1960).

Doctrine of Res Judicata. — Where an administrative determination has been reviewed by the courts, the res judicata effect, if any, attaches to the court's judgment rather than to the administrative decision. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 325 N.C. 463, 385 S.E.2d 451 (1989).

II. STANDARD OF REVIEW.

Standard that governs appellate review of Commission orders is statutorily articulated by subsections (b) and (c) of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 88 N.C. App. 153, 363 S.E.2d 73 (1987).

Commission's Decision Will Be Upheld Unless Assailable Under Subsection (b). — The decision of the Commission with regard to rates for public utilities will be upheld by the Court of Appeals on appeal unless it is assailable on one of the grounds enumerated in subsection (b) of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mebane Home Tel. Co., 35 N.C. App. 588, 242 S.E.2d 165 (1978), aff'd, 298 N.C. 162, 257 S.E.2d 623 (1979).

Judicial reversal of an order of the Utilities Commission is a serious matter for the reviewing court which can be properly addressed only by strict application of the six criteria of this section which circumscribe judicial review. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Bird Oil Co., 302 N.C. 14, 273 S.E.2d 232 (1981).

A decision of the Utilities Commission will be upheld on appeal unless the appellate court finds error based on one of the enumerated grounds of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 88 N.C. App. 153, 363 S.E.2d 73 (1987).

Absence of proper findings is an error of law and basis for remand under subdivision (b)(4) of this section because it frustrates appellate review. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 66 N.C. App. 456, 311 S.E.2d 617, rev'd in part, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff, 317 N.C. 26, 343 S.E.2d 898 (1986).

Scope of Review. — Grounds for relief not specifically set forth in the notice of appeal filed with the Commission may not be relied upon in the appellate courts; however, even when specific grounds are set forth, the applicable scope of review may be determined only from an examination of the issues brought forward by the appealing party and the nature of the supporting contentions. Dennis v Duke Power Co., 114 N.C. App. 272, 442 S.E.2d 104 (1994), modified, 341 N.C. 91, 459 S.E.2d 707 (1995).

In reviewing a decision of the Utilities Commission, the appellate court's role is to determine whether the entire record supports the Commission's decision, and where there are two reasonably conflicting views of the evidence, the appellate court may not substitute its judgment for that of the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Indus. Group For Fair Util. Rates, 130 N.C. App. 636, 503 S.E.2d 697 (1998), cert. denied, 349 N.C. 377 (1998).

Test on Review. — The test applied by a reviewing court involves a determination of whether, after viewing the entire record, the Utilities Commission's findings and conclusions are supported by substantial, competent, and material evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Gas Serv., 128 N.C. App. 288, 494 S.E.2d 621 (1998).

The failure to include all the necessary findings of fact is an error of law and a basis for remand under subdivision (b)(4) of this section, because it frustrates appellate review. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff, 317 N.C. 26, 343 S.E.2d 898 (1986); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 322 N.C. 689, 370 S.E.2d 567 (1988).

The Commission's order must be sufficient within itself to comply with the statute. Failure to include all necessary findings of fact and details is an error of law and a basis for remand under subdivision (b)(4) of this section, because it frustrates appellate review. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. AT & T Communications of S. States, Inc., 321 N.C. 586, 364 S.E.2d 386 (1988).

The Commission was required to make specific finds showing what effect, if any, it gave to financing costs or down market protection, or both, in arriving at its common equity rate of return decision. Failure to do so constituted an error of law requiring a remand for further proceedings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 322 N.C. 689, 370 S.E.2d 567 (1988).

Function of Court on Review. — The Court of Appeals looks to the findings of fact and conclusions of the Commission and determines whether the Commission has considered the factors required by law and whether its findings are supported by competent, substantial and material evidence in view of the whole record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Springdale Estates Ass'n, 46 N.C. App. 488, 265 S.E.2d 647 (1980).

The test upon appeal from a determination of the Utilities Commission is whether the Commission's findings of fact are supported by competent, material and substantial evidence in view of the entire record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397, rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

The Supreme Court's statutory function is not to determine whether there is evidence to support a position the Commission did not adopt. The court asks instead, whether there is substantial evidence, in view of the entire record, to support the position which the Commission adopted. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

Appellate court's statutory function is to assess whether the North Carolina Utilities Commission's order is affected by errors of law and to determine whether there is substantial evidence, in view of the entire record, to support the position adopted. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

The reviewing court should see if, in view of the entire record, the Utilities Commission's findings and conclusions are supported by substantial, competent and material evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Piedmont Natural Gas Co., 346 N.C. 558, 488 S.E.2d 591 (1997).

Substantial Evidence Defined. — Substantial evidence is defined as "more than a scintilla or a permissible inference." It means such relevant evidence as a reasonable mind might accept as adequate to support a conclusion. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Coach Co., 19 N.C. App. 597, 199 S.E.2d 731 (1973), cert. denied, 284 N.C. 623, 201 S.E.2d 693 (1974).

Commission may agree with single witness, if the evidence supports his position, no matter how many opposing witnesses might come forward. The court is then required to determine whether the Commission's decision is supported by competent, material and substantial evidence in view of the entire record as submitted. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

Evidence of Reasonableness of Practice. — Where the Commission's order required the defendants to do no more than they did voluntarily and without objection for 30 years or more, preceding the last six or eight years, this would seem to be "strong evidence" of the reasonableness of the practice. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 256 N.C. 359, 124 S.E.2d 510 (1962).

Findings, inferences, conclusions or decision of Utilities Commission which are arbitrary or capricious and which prejudice substantial rights of appellants are not binding on reviewing court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 314 N.C. 509, 334 S.E.2d 772 (1985).

Subsection (c) requires the reviewing court to take due note of the rule of prejudicial error. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

Due account shall be taken of the rule of prejudicial error in the consideration of an appeal. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nello L. Teer Co., 266 N.C. 366, 146 S.E.2d 511 (1966).

Standard Deemed Satisfied. — Where witnesses testified according to a private agreement that was not unanimous, the Utilities Commission was not subjected to a heightened standard of review but satisfied the requirements of this chapter by independently considering and analyzing relevant evidence and facts presented by all the parties. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 351 N.C. 223, 524 S.E.2d 10 (2000).

III. LIMITATIONS ON REVIEW.

A. In General.

Limitation on Authority to Review. — The authority of the Court of Appeals and of the Supreme Court in reviewing an order of the Utilities Commission is limited to that conferred by this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), aff'd on rehearing, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Upon appeal, the authority of the reviewing court to reverse or modify the order of the Commission, or to remand the matter to the Commission for further proceedings, is limited to that specified in this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Courts do not ordinarily review or reverse the exercise of discretionary power by an administrative agency such as the Utilities Commission, except on showing of capricious, unreasonable or arbitrary action or disregard of law. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 261 N.C. 384, 134 S.E.2d 689 (1964).

On review of orders from the Commission, the Court of Appeals' action is guided by this section, and where the Commission's actions do not violate the Constitution or exceed statutory authority, appellate review is limited to errors of law, arbitrary action, or decisions unsupported by competent, material and substantial evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Springdale Estates Ass'n, 46 N.C. App. 488, 265 S.E.2d 647 (1980).

The authority of an appellate court to reverse or modify an order of the Utilities Commission, or to remand the matter to the Commission for further proceedings, is limited to that specified in this section, which includes the authority to reverse or modify such order on the ground that it violates a constitutional provision. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Farmers Chem. Ass'n, 33 N.C. App. 433, 235 S.E.2d 396, cert. denied, 293 N.C. 258, 237 S.E.2d 539 (1977).

Under applicable standards of appellate review, the Court of Appeals is not at liberty to substitute its judgment for that of the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 57 N.C. App. 489, 291 S.E.2d 789 (1982), modified, 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

Court's Power to Reverse, Modify or Nullify Substantially Circumscribed. — The court's power to affirm or remand is not specifically circumscribed by this section. However, the power of the court to reverse or modify and, a fortiori, to declare null and void, is substantially circumscribed. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982).

Appellate review of Commission orders is limited to the record as certified. State ex rel. Utils Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 88 N.C. App. 153, 363 S.E.2d 73 (1987).

Appeals Are Confined to Questions of Law Specifically Set Forth. — Appeals from the Utilities Commission are confined to questions of law upon grounds specifically set forth in appellant's petition for rehearing by the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Queen City Coach Co., 233 N.C. 119, 63 S.E.2d 113 (1951). See also State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mead Corp., 238 N.C. 451, 78 S.E.2d 290 (1953).

As to necessity for raising grounds for relief before Commission, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 250 N.C. 410, 109 S.E.2d 368 (1959).

B. Weighing of Evidence.

Weighing of Evidence and Exercise of Judgment Thereon Are Matters for Commission. — The decisions of the Utilities Commission must be within the authority conferred by statute; however, the weighing of the evidence and the exercise of judgment thereon as to transportation problems within the scope of its powers are matters for the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

Commission Without Discretionary Power Where No Evidence to Weigh. — The weighing of the evidence and the exercise of judgment thereon within the scope of its authority are matters for the Commission; even so, the Commission has no discretionary power, where its function is to weigh the evidence and make judgment thereon, if there is no evidence to weigh. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 261 N.C. 384, 134 S.E.2d 689 (1964).

Minimal Consideration of Competent

Evidence Correctable on Appeal. — Although it is not for an appellate court to dictate to the Commission what weight it should give to material facts before it, a summary disposition which indicates that the Commission accorded only minimal consideration to competent evidence constitutes error at law and is correctable on appeal. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 299 N.C. 432, 263 S.E.2d 583 (1980); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 314 N.C. 509, 334 S.E.2d 772 (1985).

Comments on Evidence. — The Commission is not required to set forth comments regarding every single fact or item of evidence presented by the parties. Dennis v Duke Power Co., 114 N.C. App. 272, 442 S.E.2d 104 (1994), modified, 341 N.C. 91, 459 S.E.2d 707 (1995).

Presumption That Commission Considered All Competent Evidence. — In the absence of an express statement by the Commission to the contrary, some record evidence to the contrary, or a summary disposition which indicates to the contrary, the court would presume that the Commission gave proper consideration to all competent evidence presented. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 316 N.C. 238, 324 S.E.2d 28 (1986).

The credibility of testimony and the weight to be given it are for the Commission, not for the reviewing court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Durham, 282 N.C. 308, 193 S.E.2d 95 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Farmers Chem. Ass'n, 33 N.C. App. 433, 235 S.E.2d 398, cert. denied, 293 N.C. 258, 237 S.E.2d 539 (1977).

The credibility of testimony was for the determination of the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

It is a well-established rule that it is for administrative body, in an adjudicatory proceeding, to determine weight and sufficiency of evidence and the credibility of the witnesses, to draw inferences from the facts, and to appraise conflicting and circumstantial evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 314 N.C. 509, 334 S.E.2d 772 (1985).

The credibility of testimony and the weight to be accorded it are matters to be determined by the Commission. However, a summary disposition which indicates that the Commission accorded only minimal consideration to competent evidence constitutes error at law and is correctable on appeal. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 316 N.C. 238, 342 S.E.2d 28 (1986).

IV. PRIMA FACIE JUST AND REASONABLE.

A. In General.

Commission's Decision Is Prima Facie Just and Reasonable. — This section provides that on an appeal, the Commission's decision is considered "prima facie just and reasonable," and it should be affirmed if supported by substantial evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Coach Co., 19 N.C. App. 597, 199 S.E.2d 731 (1973), cert. denied, 284 N.C. 623, 201 S.E.2d 693 (1974).

On appeal, a rate decision, rule, regulation, finding, determination, or order made by the North Carolina Utilities Commission is deemed prima facie just and reasonable. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff — North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 123 N.C. App. 43, 472 S.E.2d 193 (1996).

Burden Is on Appellant to Show Error of Law in Proceedings. — The law imposes the duty upon the Utilities Commission and not the courts to fix rates, and the burden is upon appellant from an order of the Commission to show an error of law in the proceeding before the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Champion Papers, Inc., 259 N.C. 449, 130 S.E.2d 890 (1963).

The burden of showing the impropriety of rates established by the Commission lies with the party alleging such error. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 59 N.C. App. 240, 296 S.E.2d 487 (1982), rev'd on other grounds, 309 N.C. 238, 306 S.E.2d 113 (1983); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 316 N.C. 238, 342 S.E.2d 28 (1986).

The party attacking rates established by the Commission bears the burden of proving their impropriety. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

But Appellant May Show That Order Was Unsupported by Evidence. — Upon appeal the orders made by the Utilities Commission "shall be prima facie just and reasonable," but this does not preclude the appellant from showing that the evidence offered rebuts the prima facie effect of the order, and that the order was unsupported by competent, material and substantial evidence in view of the entire record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 235 N.C. 273, 69 S.E.2d 502 (1952); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Gulf-Atlantic Towing Corp., 251 N.C. 105, 110 S.E.2d 886 (1959).

An order of the Commission requiring a transportation company to maintain public service facilities must be considered prima facie reasonable and just, but this does not preclude the transportation company affected from showing that the order was unsupported by competent, material and substantial evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 238 N.C. 701, 78 S.E.2d 780 (1953); State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 261 N.C. 384, 134 S.E.2d 689 (1964).

While the determination of a petition by a carrier to be allowed to discontinue an established service rests in large measure in the sound judgment and discretion of the Utilities Commission, and its order in regard thereto is prima facie just and reasonable, such order is reviewable to ascertain whether it is arbitrary or capricious or if the essential findings of fact on which it is based are supported by competent, material and substantial evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 254 N.C. 73, 118 S.E.2d 21 (1961).

B. Rates.

Rates Are Deemed Prima Facie Just and Reasonable. — Upon appeal, rates fixed by the Commission shall be deemed prima facie just and reasonable. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Westco Tel. Co., 266 N.C. 450, 146 S.E.2d 487 (1966); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 316 N.C. 238, 342 S.E.2d 28 (1986).

Rates fixed by the Commission are deemed prima facie just and reasonable. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

Legitimate Justification for Industrial and City Rates of Return. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission drew legitimate distinctions which justified its decision to maintain industrial and cities' rates of return at a higher level than residential and commercial and small industrial rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Rates of Return Reasonable and Not Discriminatory. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission's order contained findings sufficient to justify its conclusion that the approved rates of return were just and reasonable and did not unreasonably discriminate among the various classes of North Carolina Natural Gas Corporation customers and were supported by substantial evidence in view of the whole record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Order prescribing different Private Line Service rates for AT&T's nonreseller (end user) customers and its reseller customers upon its face was discriminatory, and absent legally adequate reasons in the order why the order was not unjustly discriminatory within the meaning of § 62-2(4), the order was vacated and the cause is remanded to the Commission for further proceedings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. AT&T Communications of S. States, Inc., 321 N.C. 586, 364 S.E.2d 386 (1988).

Determining a Utility's Capital Structure for Rate Making Purposes. — The Commission is not required, as a matter of law, to reduce the common equity component of a utility's capital structure by an amount equal to its investment in its nonregulated subsidiaries in determining the appropriate capital structure for rate making purposes. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 322 N.C. 689, 370 S.E.2d 567 (1988).

C. Findings.

Findings of fact made by the Commission are prima facie just and reasonable on appeal. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

Court May Not Find Facts or Regulate Utilities. — Although in reviewing an order of the Commission, a court might, upon the same facts, have reached a different result, it is not for the court to find the facts or to regulate utilities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

When an appeal to the superior court (now to the Court of Appeals) is taken from an order entered by the North Carolina Utilities Commission, the review is limited to the record as certified and to the questions of law presented therein. There is no provision for additional findings of fact by the judge for the purpose of determining the validity of the order entered by the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Fox, 236 N.C. 553, 73 S.E.2d 464 (1952); State v. Ray, 236 N.C. 692, 73 S.E.2d 870 (1953). See State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mead Corp., 238 N.C. 451, 78 S.E.2d 290 (1953).

Findings supported by competent, material and substantial evidence in view of the entire record are binding upon the reviewing court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 269 N.C. 717, 153 S.E.2d 461 (1967); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 15 N.C. All findings of fact made by the Commission, which are supported by competent, material and substantial evidence, are conclusive. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281

N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Durham, 282 N.C. 308, 193 S.E.2d 95 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff, 52 N.C. App. 275, 278 S.E.2d 599 (1981); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 313 N.C. 215, 328 S.E.2d 264 (1985); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff, 317 N.C. 26, 343 S.E.2d 898 (1986).

When the Commission's findings are supported by competent, material and substantial evidence, they are binding upon the appellate court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Farmers Chem. Ass'n, 33 N.C. App. 433, 235 S.E.2d 398, cert. denied, 293 N.C. 258, 237 S.E.2d 539 (1977).

The Commission's findings and conclusions, where supported by competent, material, and substantial evidence, considering the whole record, and taking into account any contradictory evidence or evidence from which conflicting inferences could be drawn, must be affirmed. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 57 N.C. App. 489, 291 S.E.2d 789 (1982), modified, 307 N.C. 541, 299 S.E.2d 763 (1983).

The Commission's order will not be disturbed if upon consideration of the entire record the court finds that the decision is not affected by error of law and the facts found by the Commission are supported by competent, material and substantial evidence, taking into account any contradictory evidence or evidence from which conflicting inferences could be drawn. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 322 N.C. 689, 370 S.E.2d 567 (1988).

Even Though Reviewing Court Might Have Reached Different Conclusion. — Neither findings of fact nor the Commission's determination of what rates are reasonable may be reversed or modified by a reviewing court merely because the court would have reached a different finding or determination upon the evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 314 N.C. 509, 334 S.E.2d 772 (1985).

If the rates are reasonable upon an application of the whole record test, the Court of Appeals is bound by the findings of fact establishing them and may not reach a different finding merely because it could have reached another determination upon the evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Springdale Estates Ass'n, 46 N.C. App. 488, 265 S.E.2d 647 (1980).

When the record, considered as a whole, contains substantial evidence supporting the subjective judgment of the Commission on any of the factors in the fixing of reasonable rates under § 62-133, the conclusion reached by the Commission may not be disturbed by a reviewing court merely because the court's subjective judgment is different from that of the Commission, nor is the Commission required to accept as conclusive the subjective judgment of a witness, even though the record contains no expression of a contrary opinion by another witness. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 29 N.C. App. 428, 225 S.E.2d 101, aff'd, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

The authority to determine the adequacy of a utility's service and the rates to be charged lies with the Commission, and a reviewing court may not modify or reverse its determination merely because the court would have reached a different finding based on the evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 317 N.C. 26, 343 S.E.2d 898 (1986); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 91 N.C. 107, 370 S.E.2d 567 (1988).

Any finding of fact made by the Commission, if supported by competent, material and substantial evidence is conclusive, even if the reviewing court would have reached a different result on the same evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 88 N.C. App. 153, 363 S.E.2d 73 (1987).

Finding Held Error of Law. — Finding of the Commission that legal fees which were incurred by utility in contesting the amount of an administrative penalty imposed as a result of its failure to provide adequate water service were recoverable as part of its operating expenses, in that they were "a reasonable and necessary expenditure" which was associated with its water service to its customers, constituted an error of law under subdivision (b)(4) of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff, 317 N.C. 26, 343 S.E.2d 898 (1986).

Where the individualized nature of a shuttle operation precluded performance by a common carrier, the Utilities Commission erred as a matter of law in finding that performance of the shuttle contract constituted common carriage. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Tar Heel Indus., Inc., 77 N.C. App. 75, 334 S.E.2d 396 (1985).

Findings Concerning Company's Debt Ratio. — Conclusion of the Utilities Commission that a natural gas company's capital structure should include a short-term debt ratio of 4.02%, based on a short-term debt equal to stored gas inventory rather than "the daily average balance amount of short-term debt for the most recent twelve month period," was supported by substantial evidence. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 351 N.C. 223, 524 S.E.2d 10 (2000).

Formula Did Not Unreasonably Discriminate. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission's order contained findings sufficient to justify its conclusion that the Industrial Sales Tracker Formula did not unreasonably discriminate between North Carolina Natural Gas Corporation's customer classes and these findings were supported by substantial evidence in light of the whole record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

D. Determinations.

Determination by Commission Is Prima Facie Just and Reasonable. — A determination by the Commission is not simply prima facie evidence of its validity, but is prima facie just and reasonable. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Ray, 236 N.C. 692, 73 S.E.2d 870 (1953); State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Municipal Corps., 243 N.C. 193, 90 S.E.2d 519 (1955); State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Casey, 245 N.C. 297, 96 S.E.2d 8 (1957); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

The Commission, not the reviewing court, is to make determination of fair value of the properties. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Durham, 282 N.C. 308, 193 S.E.2d 95 (1972).

While the Commission has the duty to weigh evidences of "fair value" fairly and in "balanced scales," the reviewing court may not set aside the Commission's determination of "fair value" merely because the court would have given the respective elements different weights and would, therefore, have arrived at a different "fair value." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 15 N.C. App. 41, 189 S.E.2d 777 (1972).

The Supreme Court may not reverse an order of the Commission because of its weighting of the respective indicators of "fair value," unless it finds such weighting to have been arbitrary and lacking support in the evidence, in view of the entire record, or otherwise affected by error of law. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

The question of whether a case "is to be a general rate case" under the terms of § 62-137 is a mixed question of law and fact. As to such questions, courts should be hesitant to disturb the Commission's expert determination with regard to the nature of the case presented, particularly when its determination is made prior to hearing and for the initial purpose of setting the scope of the hearing and the resulting amount of information which the public utility will be required to furnish. Even at that stage, however, the Commission's determination must be supported by "competent, material and substantial evidence in view of the entire record as submitted." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Rail Common Carriers, 42 N.C. App. 314, 256 S.E.2d 508 (1979).

What constitutes public convenience and necessity is primarily an administrative question with a number of imponderables to be taken into consideration, e.g., whether there is a substantial public need for the service, whether the existing carriers can reasonably meet this need, and whether the service would endanger or impair the operations of existing carriers contrary to the public interest. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

E. Orders.

Order of Commission Is Prima Facie Just and Reasonable. — By this section an order of the Commission is prima facie just and reasonable. This applies to orders approving contracts of public utilities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

When Order Will Be Affirmed. — Where the order of the Utilities Commission granting petitioner an increase in rates in a general rate case is justified by the findings of fact which are supported by plenary evidence, the order of the Commission will be affirmed. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Tidewater Natural Gas Co., 259 N.C. 558, 131 S.E.2d 303 (1963).

The rate order of the Commission will be affirmed if upon consideration of the whole record the appellate court finds that the Commission's decision is not affected by error of law and the facts found by the Commission are supported by competent, material and substantial evidence, taking into account any contradictory evidence or evidence from which conflicting inferences could be drawn. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 316 N.C. 238, 342 S.E.2d 28 (1986).

When Order Remanded to Commission for Further Hearing. — An order of the Commission based on an erroneous interpretation of law should be remanded to the Commission for further hearing and not be terminated by the court where the Commission has the duty to make a positive determination, such as the fixing of rates, and because of some error of law the determination is in suspense, and the utility is entitled to have the determination made. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 261 N.C. 384, 134 S.E.2d 689 (1964).

Inadequate Order. — Order which set forth specific complaints from some customers, but did not state what to do to make the service adequate, and did not indicate in what manner the company violated the Commission's standards, nor what those standards were, was inadequate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Water Serv., Inc., 335 N.C. 493, 439 S.E.2d 127 (1994).

V. CASES DECIDED PRIOR TO 1949 REVISION OF PROCEDURAL SECTIONS.

Editor's Note. — All of the cases below were decided before the 1949 revision of the procedural provisions of this Chapter, and construe former §§ 62-20 and 62-21, corresponding to § 62-90 and this section. It should be noted that the 1949 revision made many changes in procedure, and especially in the extent of review.

Appeal to Superior Court Under Former Law Was Trial De Novo. — Upon appeal under the former statute by a party to a proceeding before the Corporation Commission from an order made therein under former §§ 62-42 and 62-43, the superior court had jurisdiction to try and determine both issues of law and issues of fact, duly presented by assignments of error based upon exceptions duly taken by the appellant during the hearing before the Commission. The trial of such issues by the superior court was de novo. State ex rel. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 196 N.C. 190, 145 S.E. 19 (1928). See also State ex rel. Corp. Comm'n v. Seaboard Air Line & S. Ry., 161 N.C. 270, 76 S.E. 554 (1912).

A provision of former § 62-21 that on appeal the trial should be "under the same rules and regulations as are prescribed for the trial of other civil causes" meant that the trial should be de novo. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Great S. Trucking Co., 223 N.C. 687, 28 S.E.2d 201 (1943). See also North Carolina Corp. Comm'n v. Winston-Salem Southbound Ry., 170 N.C. 560, 87 S.E. 785 (1916).

Under this Chapter as it stood before the 1949 revision, the trial in the superior court was de novo, and from thence only would a further appeal lie to the Supreme Court, governed by the rule that such an appeal should not be fragmentary, but should be from a final judgment or one final in its nature. State ex rel. Corp. Comm'n v. Cannon Mfg. Co., 185 N.C. 17, 116 S.E. 178 (1923).

Rules Applicable on Appeal to Superior Court. — Prior to the 1949 revision, on appeal to the superior court the trial was under the same rules and regulations applicable in other civil causes, save and except the prima facie effect to be given the decision or determination of the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Great S. Trucking Co., 223 N.C. 687, 28 S.E.2d 201 (1943).

Appeals from the Utilities Commissioner were analogous to appeals from a justice of the peace rather than appeals from a referee; hence, since the trial in the superior court was de novo upon issues of fact raised by the exceptions, the superior court properly refused to pass upon appellant's exceptions to the findings of fact seriatim. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Scenic Coach Co., 218 N.C. 233, 10 S.E.2d 824 (1940).

Decision of Commission "Prima Facie Just and Reasonable". — While on appeal from the Utilities Commission to the superior court the provision of former § 62-21 was interpreted to mean that the trial should be de novo, the section also provided that the decision or determination of the Commission "shall be prima facie just and reasonable." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Great S. Trucking Co., 223 N.C. 687, 28 S.E.2d 201 (1943).

Findings of Fact Not Conclusive. — Former §§ 62-20 and 62-21 did not contain any provision that the findings of fact by the Utilities Commission should be conclusive on appeal. State ex rel. Unemployment Comp. Comm'n v. J.M. Willis Barber & Beauty Shop, 219 N.C. 709, 15 S.E.2d 4 (1941).

What Evidence Admissible. — On appeal from an order of the Commission under former § 62-21 the trial was de novo, tried under the same rules and regulations as are prescribed for the trial of other civil causes; and any relevant evidence could be there introduced, whether it had theretofore been introduced before the Commission or not. State ex rel. Corp. Comm'n v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 161 N.C. 270, 76 S.E. 554 (1912).

Admission of Evidence Held Reversible Error. — Where a union passenger depot had been ordered by the Commission, it was reversible error in the superior court, on appeal from the Commission, for the trial judge to admit evidence as to the effect the relocation would have on property values in a nearby town where the present station of one of the roads was located. State ex rel. Corp. Comm'n v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 161 N.C. 270, 76 S.E. 554 (1912).

When Appellee Entitled to Affirmance of Decision. — Under former § 62-21, in the absence of a showing that the decision of the Utilities Commission was clearly unreasonable and unjust, appellee, on appeal to the superior court, was entitled to an affirmance of the decision of the Commission. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 224 N.C. 390, 30 S.E.2d 328 (1944).

In an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, the Utilities Commission must act within the authority conferred by the statute; however, the findings from the evidence and the exercise of judgment thereon within the scope of its powers are matters for the Commission, and its order will not be disturbed when sustained by the findings upon competent, material and substantial evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Fredrickson Motor Express, 232 N.C. 180, 59 S.E.2d 582 (1950).

§ 62-95. Relief pending review on appeal.

Pending judicial review, the Commission is authorized, where it finds that justice so requires, to postpone the effective date of any action taken by it. Upon such conditions as may be required and to the extent necessary to prevent irreparable injury, a judge of the appellate court with jurisdiction over the case on appeal is authorized to issue all necessary and appropriate process to postpone the effective date of any action by the Commission or take such action as may be necessary to preserve status or rights of any of the parties pending conclusion of the proceedings on appeal. The court may require the applicant for such stay to post adequate bond as required by the court. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1967, c. 1190, s. 8; 1983, c. 526, s. 8.)

Cross References. — As to jurisdiction of the Supreme Court to review, when authorized by law, direct appeals from a final order or decision of the North Carolina Utilities Commission, see N.C. Const., Art. IV, § 12(1).

§ 62-96. Appeal to Supreme Court.

Appeals of final orders of the Utilities Commission to the Supreme Court are governed by Article 5 of General Statutes Chapter 7A. In all appeals filed in the Court of Appeals, any party may file a motion for discretionary review in the Supreme Court pursuant to G.S. 7A-31. If the Commission is the appealing party, it is not required to give any undertaking or make any deposit to assure payment of the cost of the appeal, and the court may advance the cause on its docket. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1967, c. 1190, s. 3; 1983, c. 526, s. 9.)

Cross References. — As to jurisdiction of the Supreme Court to review, when authorized by law, direct appeals from a final order or decision of the North Carolina Utilities Commission, see N.C. Const., Art. IV, § 12(1).

CASE NOTES

An appeal does not lie directly from the Commission to the Supreme Court. State ex rel. Bd. of R.R. Comm'rs v. Wilmington & W. R.R., 122 N.C. 877, 29 S.E. 334 (1898); North Carolina Corp. Comm'n v. Winston-Salem Southbound Ry., 170 N.C. 560, 87 S.E. 785 (1916).

Scope of Review. — Where the evidence is sufficient to permit and sustain the Commission's findings of fact, conclusions and the decision based thereon, the Supreme Court will consider the proceedings before the Commission only to the extent necessary to determine whether the Court of Appeals committed an error of law. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. J.D. McCotter, Inc., 283 N.C. 104, 194 S.E.2d 859 (1973).

When Supreme Court May Affirm Judgment Reversing Commission. — Upon an appeal to the Supreme Court from a judgment of the superior court (now the Court of Appeals) reversing a decision of the Commission and remanding the matter for further proceedings, the Supreme Court may affirm the judgment of the superior court if the record discloses one or more of the statutory grounds for such judgment and if such ground therefor is set forth specifically in the notice of appeal from the Commission to the superior court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

In order to affirm a judgment of the superior court (now the Court of Appeals) reversing and remanding a decision of the Commission, it is not required that the Supreme Court concur in the ruling by the superior court upon every ground for relief set forth in the notice of appeal from the Commission to the superior court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

§ 62-97. Judgment on appeal enforced by mandamus.

In all cases in which, upon appeal, an order or decision of the Commission is affirmed, in whole or in part, the appellate court shall include in its decree a mandamus to the appropriate party to put said order in force, or so much thereof as shall be affirmed, or the appellate court may make such other order as it deems appropriate. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Mandamus Under Former § 62-25. — Under former § 62-25, the court could compel performance only by resort to the high prerogative writ of mandamus, and that by authority of the statute. State ex rel. N.C. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 151 N.C. 447, 66 S.E. 427 (1909).

Under former § 62-25, the right to a mandamus to enforce a valid order was given in causes which had been carried to the superior court by appeal. State ex rel. N.C. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 147 N.C. 483, 61 S.E. 271 (1908).

§ 62-98. Peremptory mandamus to enforce order, when no appeal.

(a) If no appeal is taken from an order or decision of the Commission within the time prescribed by law and the person to which the order or decision is directed fails to put the same in operation, as therein required, the Commission may apply to a superior court judge who has jurisdiction pursuant to G.S. 7A-47.1 or G.S. 7A-48 in Wake County or in the district or set of districts as defined in G.S. 7A-41.1 in which the business is conducted, upon 10 days' notice, for a peremptory mandamus upon said person for the putting in force of said order or decision; and if said judge shall find that the order of said Commission was valid and within the scope of its powers, he shall issue such peremptory mandamus.

(b) An appeal shall lie to the Court of Appeals in behalf of the Commission, or the defendant, from the refusal or the granting of such peremptory mandamus. The remedy prescribed in this section for enforcement of orders of the Commission is in addition to other remedies prescribed by law. (1949, c. 989, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1967, c. 1190, s. 4; 1987 (Reg. Sess., 1988), c. 1037, s. 92.)

CASE NOTES

As to enforcement of order by mandamus where no appeal was taken, under former law, see State ex rel. N.C. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 147 N.C. 483, 61 S.E. 271 (1908).

Where the Commission had ordered two railroad companies to erect a union depot at a junction after a hearing upon the petition of the citizens of the town, and the railroads had lost or waived their statutory right to appeal, such order was regarded as a final judgment, and mandamus proceedings to compel the enforcement of the final order upon failure of the railroads to except and appeal therefrom was the remedy authorized by statute. State ex rel. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 185 N.C. 435, 117 S.E. 563 (1923).

Article 5A.

Siting of Transmission Lines.

§ 62-100. Definitions.

As used in this Article:

(1) The term "begin to construct" includes any clearing of land, excavation, or other action that would adversely affect the natural environment of the route of a transmission line; but that term does not include land surveys, boring to ascertain geological conditions, or similar preliminary work undertaken to determine the suitability of proposed routes for a transmission line that results in temporary changes to the land;

(2) The word "county" means any one of the counties listed in G.S. 153A-10;

(3) The word "land" means any real estate or any estate or interest in real estate, including water and riparian rights, regardless of the use to which it is devoted;

(4) The word "lines" means distribution lines and transmission lines collectively;

(5) The word "municipality" means any incorporated community, whether designated as a city, town, or village and any area over which it exercises any of the powers granted by Article 19 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes;

(6) The term "public utility" means a person, whether organized under the laws of this State or under the laws of any other state or country, engaged in producing, generating, transmitting, delivering, or furnishing electricity for private or public use, including counties, municipalities, joint municipal power agencies, electric membership corporations, and public and private corporations; and

(7) The term "transmission line" means an electric line designed with a capacity of at least 161 kilovolts. (1991, c. 189, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1991, c. 189, s. 3, made this Article effective December 1, 1991, but provides that the Article shall not apply to any transmission line that the public utility or other person has begun to construct before that date.

§ 62-101. Certificate to construct transmission line.

(a) No public utility or any other person may begin to construct a new transmission line without first obtaining from the Commission a certificate of environmental compatibility and public convenience and necessity.

(b) A transmission line for which a certificate is required shall be constructed, operated, and maintained in conformity with the certificate. A certificate may be amended or transferred with the approval of the Commission.

(c) A certificate is not required for construction of the following lines:

(1) A line designed to carry less than 161 kilovolts;

(2) The replacement or expansion of an existing line with a similar line in substantially the same location, or the rebuilding, upgrading, modifying, modernizing, or reconstructing of an existing line for the purpose of increasing capacity or widening an existing right-of-way;

(3) A transmission line over which the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission has licensing jurisdiction, if the Commission determines that agency has conducted a proceeding substantially equivalent to the proceeding required by this Article;

(4) Any transmission line for which, before March 6, 1989, a public utility or other person has surveyed a proposed route and, based on that route, has acquired rights-of-way for it by voluntary conveyances or has filed condemnation proceedings for acquiring those rights-of-way which, together, involve twenty-five percent (25%) or more of the total length of the proposed route;

(5) An electric membership corporation owned transmission line for which the construction or upgrading has had a proceeding conducted which the Commission determines is substantially equivalent to the proceeding required by this Article;

(6) Any line owned by a municipality to be constructed wholly within the corporate limits of that municipality.

(d) The Commission may waive the notice and hearing requirements of this Article and issue a certificate or amend an existing certificate under either of the following circumstances:

(1) When the Commission finds that the owners of land to be crossed by the proposed transmission line segment do not object to such a waiver and either:

a. The transmission line will be less than one mile long; or

b. The transmission line is for the purpose of relocating an existing transmission line segment to resolve a highway or other public project conflict; to accommodate a commercial, industrial, or other private development conflict; or to connect an existing transmission line to a substation, to another public utility, or to a public utility customer when any of these is in proximity to the existing transmission line.

(2) If the urgency of providing electric service requires the immediate construction of the transmission line, provided that the Commission shall give notice to those parties listed in G.S. 62-102(b) before issuing a certificate or approving an amendment.

(e) When justified by the public convenience and necessity and a showing that circumstances require immediate action, the Commission may permit an applicant for a certificate to proceed with initial clearing, excavation, and construction before receiving the certificate required by this section. In so proceeding, however, the applicant acts at its own risk, and by granting such permission, the Commission does not commit to ultimately grant a certificate for the transmission line.

(f) Nothing in this section restricts or impairs the Commission's jurisdiction pursuant to G.S. 62-73 to hear or make complaints. (1991, c. 189, s. 1.)

§ 62-102. Application for certificate.

(a) An applicant for the certificate described in G.S. 62-101 shall file an application with the Commission containing the following information:

(1) The reasons the transmission line is needed;
(2) A description of the proposed location of the transmission line;
(3) A description of the proposed transmission line;
(4) An environmental report setting forth:
  a. The environmental impact of the proposed action;
  b. Any proposed mitigating measures that may minimize the environmental impact; and
  c. Alternatives to the proposed action.
(5) A list of all necessary approvals that the applicant must obtain before it may begin to construct the transmission line; and
(6) Any other information the Commission requires.

(b) Within 10 days of filing the application, the applicant shall serve a copy of it on each of the following in the manner provided in G.S. 1A-1, Rule 4:

(1) The Public Staff;
(2) The Attorney General;
(3) The Department of Environment and Natural Resources;
(4) The Department of Commerce;
(5) The Department of Transportation;
(6) The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services;
(7) The Department of Cultural Resources;
(8) Each county through which the applicant proposes to construct the transmission line;
(9) Each municipality through whose jurisdiction the applicant proposes to construct the transmission line; and
(10) Any other party that the Commission orders the applicant to serve.

The copy of the application served on each shall be accompanied by a notice specifying the date on which the application was filed.

(c) Within 10 days of the filing of the application, the applicant shall give public notice to persons residing in each county and municipality in which the transmission line is to be located by publishing a summary of the application in newspapers of general circulation so as to substantially inform those persons of the filing of the application. This notice shall thereafter be published in those newspapers a minimum of three additional times before the time for parties to intervene has expired. The summary shall also be sent to the North Carolina State Clearinghouse. The summary shall be subject to prior approval of the Commission and shall contain at a minimum the following:

(1) A summary of the proposed action;
(2) A description of the location of the proposed transmission line written in a readable style;
(3) The date on which the application was filed; and
(4) The date by which an interested person must intervene.

(d) Inadvertent failure of service on or notice to any municipality, county, governmental agency, or other person described in this section may be cured by an order of the Commission designed to give that person adequate notice to enable effective participation in the proceeding.

(e) An application for an amendment of a certificate shall be in a form approved by and shall contain any information required by the Commission. Notice of such an application shall be in the same manner as for a certificate. (1991, c. 189, s. 1; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 959, s. 18; 1997-261, s. 3; 1997-443, s. 11A.119(a).)

§ 62-103. Parties.

(a) The following persons shall be parties to a certification proceeding under this Article:

(1) The applicant;

(2) The Public Staff.

(b) The following persons may intervene in a certification proceeding under this Article if a petition to intervene is filed with the Commission within 100 days of the filing of the application and the petition is subsequently granted:

(1) Any State department, municipality, or county entitled to notice under G.S. 62-102(b);

(2) Any person whose land will be crossed by the proposed line;

(3) Any other person who can show a substantial interest in the certification proceeding. (1991, c. 189, s. 1.)

§ 62-104. Hearings.

(a) The Commission shall schedule a hearing upon each application filed under this Article not more than 120 days after the filing and shall conclude the proceeding as expeditiously as possible. The Commission may, however, extend this time period for substantial cause.

(b) If, after proper notice of the application has been given, no significant protests are filed with the Commission, the Commission may cancel the hearing and decide the case on the basis of the filed record.

(c) The Commission shall issue an order on each application filed under this Article within 60 days of the conclusion of the hearing. The Commission may extend this time period for substantial cause. (1991, c. 189, s. 1.)

§ 62-105. Burden of proof; decision.

(a) The burden of proof is on the applicant in all cases under this Article, except that any party proposing an alternative location for the proposed transmission line shall have the burden of proof in sustaining its position. The Commission may consider any factors that it finds are relevant and material to its decision. The Commission shall grant a certificate for the construction, operation, and maintenance of the proposed transmission line if it finds:

(1) That the proposed transmission line is necessary to satisfy the reasonable needs of the public for an adequate and reliable supply of electric energy;

(2) That, when compared with reasonable alternative courses of action, construction of the transmission line in the proposed location is reasonable, preferred, and in the public interest;

(3) That the costs associated with the proposed transmission line are reasonable;

(4) That the impact the proposed transmission line will have on the environment is justified considering the state of available technology, the nature and economics of the various alternatives, and other material considerations; and

(5) That the environmental compatibility, public convenience, and necessity require the transmission line.

(b) If the Commission determines that the location of the proposed transmission line should be modified, it may condition its certificate upon modifications it finds necessary to make the findings and determinations set forth in subsection (a) of this section. (1991, c. 189, s. 1.)

§ 62-106. Effect of local ordinances.

Within 30 days after receipt of notice of an application as provided by G.S. 62-102, a municipality or county shall file with the Commission and serve on the applicant the provisions of an ordinance that may affect the construction, operation, or maintenance of the proposed transmission line in the manner provided by the rules of the Commission. If the municipality or county does not serve notice as provided above of any such ordinance provisions, the provisions of such ordinance may not be enforced by the municipality or county. If the applicant proposes not to comply with any part of the ordinance, the applicant may move the Commission for an order preempting that part of the ordinance. Service of the motion on the municipality or county by the applicant shall make the municipality or county a party to the proceeding. If the Commission finds that the greater public interest requires it, the Commission may include in a certificate issued under this Article an order preempting any part of such county or municipal ordinance with respect to the construction, operation or maintenance of the proposed transmission line. (1991, c. 189, s. 1.)

§ 62-107. Rules.

Pursuant to G.S. 62-31, the Commission may adopt rules to carry out the purposes of this Article. In addition, the Commission shall adopt rules requiring public utilities to file periodic reports stating their short-term and long-term plans for construction of transmission lines in this State. (1991, c. 189, s. 1.)

Article 6.

The Utility Franchise.

§ 62-110. Certificate of convenience and necessity.

(a) Except as provided for bus companies in Article 12 of this Chapter, no public utility shall hereafter begin the construction or operation of any public utility plant or system or acquire ownership or control thereof, either directly or indirectly, without first obtaining from the Commission a certificate that public convenience and necessity requires, or will require, such construction, acquisition, or operation: Provided, that this section shall not apply to construction into territory contiguous to that already occupied and not receiving similar service from another public utility, nor to construction in the ordinary conduct of business.

(b) The Commission shall be authorized to issue a certificate to any person applying to the Commission to offer long distance services as a public utility as defined in G.S. 62-3(23)a.6., provided that such person is found to be fit, capable, and financially able to render such service, and that such additional service is required to serve the public interest effectively and adequately; provided further, that in such cases the Commission shall consider the impact on the local exchange customers and only permit such additional service if the Commission finds that it will not jeopardize reasonably affordable local exchange service.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the terms, conditions, rates, and interconnections for long distance services offered on a competitive basis shall be regulated by the Commission in accordance with the public interest. In promulgating rules necessary to implement this provision, the Commission shall consider whether uniform or nonuniform application of such rules is consistent with the public interest. Provided further that the Commission shall consider whether the charges for the provision of interconnections should be uniform.

For purposes of this section, long distance services shall include the transmission of messages or other communications between two or more central offices wherein such central offices are not connected on July 1, 1983, by any extended area service, local measured service, or other local calling arrangement.

(c) The Commission shall be authorized, consistent with the public interest, to adopt procedures for the issuance of a special certificate to any person for the limited purpose of offering telephone service to the public by means of coin, coinless, or key-operated pay telephone instruments. This service may be in addition to or in competition with public telephone services offered by the certificated telephone company in the service area. The access line from the pay instrument to the network may be obtained from the local exchange telephone company in the service area where the pay instrument is located, from any certificated competitive local provider, or any other provider authorized by the Commission. The Commission shall promulgate rules to implement the service authorized by this section, recognizing the competitive nature of the offerings and, notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Commission shall determine the extent to which such services shall be regulated and to the extent necessary to protect the public interest regulate the terms, conditions, and rates for such service and the terms and conditions for interconnection to the local exchange network.

(d) The Commission shall be authorized, consistent with the public interest and notwithstanding any other provision of law, to adopt procedures for the purpose of allowing shared use and/or resale of any telephone service provided to persons who occupy the same contiguous premises (as such term shall be defined by the Commission); provided, however, that there shall be no "networking" of any services authorized under this subsection whereby two or more premises where such services are provided are connected, and provided further that any certificated local provider or any other provider authorized by the Commission may provide access lines or trunks connecting such authorized service to the telephone network, and that the local service rates permitted or approved by the Commission for local exchange lines or trunks being shared or resold shall be on a measured usage basis where facilities are available or on a message rate basis otherwise. Provided however, the Commission may permit or approve flat rates, measured rates, message rates, or some combination of those rates for shared or resold services whenever the service is offered to patrons of hotels or motels, occupants of timeshare or condominium complexes serving primarily transient occupants, to patrons of hospitals, nursing homes, rest homes, or licensed retirement centers, or to members of clubs or students living in quarters furnished by educational institutions, or to persons temporarily subleasing residential premises. The Commission shall issue rules to implement the service authorized by this subsection, considering the competitive nature of the offerings and, notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Commission shall determine the extent to which such services shall be regulated and, to the extent necessary to protect the public interest, regulate the terms, conditions, and rates charged for such services and the terms and conditions for interconnection to the local exchange network. The Commission shall require any person offering telephone service under this subsection by means of a Private Branch Exchange ("PBX") or key system to secure adequate local exchange trunks from any certificated local provider or any other provider authorized by the Commission so as to assure a quality of service equal to the quality of service generally found acceptable by the Commission. Unless otherwise ordered by the Commission for good cause shown by the company, the right and obligation of the certificated local provider or any other provider authorized by the Commission to provide local service directly to any person located within its certificated service area shall continue to apply to premises where shared or resold telephone service is available, provided however, the Commission shall be authorized to establish the terms and conditions under which such services should be provided.

(e) Notwithstanding subsection (d) of this section, the Commission may authorize any telephone services provided to a nonprofit college or university, and its affiliated medical centers, which is qualified under Sections 501 and 170 of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986 or which is a State-owned institution, to be shared or resold by that institution on both contiguous campus premises owned or leased by the institution and noncontiguous premises owned or leased exclusively by the institution, provided these services are offered to students or guests housed in quarters furnished by the institution, patrons of hospitals or medical centers of the institution, or persons or businesses providing educational, research, professional, consulting, food, or other support services directly to or for the institution, its students, or guests. The services of a certificated local provider or any other provider authorized by the Commission, when provided to said colleges, universities, and affiliated medical centers shall be rated in the same way as those provided for shared service offered to patrons of hospitals, nursing homes, rest homes, licensed retirement centers, members of clubs or students living in quarters furnished by educational institutions as provided for in subsection (d) of this section. The institutions regulated pursuant to this subsection shall not be prohibited from electing optional services from the certificated local provider or any other provider authorized by the Commission which include measured or message rate services. There shall be no "networking" of any services authorized under this subsection whereby two or more different institutions where such services are provided are interconnected. Any certificated local provider or any other provider authorized by the Commission may provide access lines or trunks connecting such authorized services to the telephone network. The Commission shall require such institutions to secure adequate local exchange trunks from the certificated local provider or any other provider authorized by the Commission to assure a quality of service equal to the quality of service generally found acceptable by the Commission. Unless otherwise ordered by the Commission for good cause shown by the certificated local provider or any other provider authorized by the Commission, the right and obligation of that provider to provide local service directly to any person located within its certificated service area shall continue to apply to premises where shared or resold telephone service is available under this subsection, provided however, the Commission shall be authorized to establish the terms and conditions under which such service should be provided. The Commission shall issue rules to implement the services authorized by this subsection.

(f) Reserved.

(f1) Except as provided in subsection (f2) of this section, the Commission is authorized, following notice and an opportunity for interested parties to be heard, to issue a certificate to any person applying to provide local exchange or exchange access services as a public utility as defined in G.S. 62-3(23) a.6., without regard to whether local telephone service is already being provided in the territory for which the certificate is sought, provided that the person seeking to provide the service makes a satisfactory showing to the Commission that (i) the person is fit, capable, and financially able to render such service; (ii) the service to be provided will reasonably meet the service standards that the Commission may adopt; (iii) the provision of the service will not adversely impact the availability of reasonably affordable local exchange service; (iv) the person, to the extent it may be required to do so by the Commission, will participate in the support of universally available telephone service at affordable rates; and (v) the provision of the service does not otherwise adversely impact the public interest. In its application for certification, the person seeking to provide the service shall set forth with particularity the proposed geographic territory to be served and the types of local exchange and exchange access services to be provided. Except as provided in G.S. 62-133.5(f), any person receiving a certificate under this section shall, until otherwise determined by the Commission, file and maintain with the Commission a complete list of the local exchange and exchange access services to be provided and the prices charged for those services, and shall be subject to such reporting requirements as the Commission may require.

Any certificate issued by the Commission pursuant to this subsection shall not permit the provision of local exchange or exchange access service until July 1, 1996, unless the Commission shall have approved a price regulation plan pursuant to G.S. 62-133.5(a) for a local exchange company with an effective date prior to July 1, 1996. In the event a price regulation plan becomes effective prior to July 1, 1996, the Commission is authorized to permit the provision of local exchange or exchange access service by a competing local provider in the franchised area of such local exchange company.

The Commission is authorized to adopt rules it finds necessary (i) to provide for the reasonable interconnection of facilities between all providers of telecommunications services; (ii) to determine when necessary the rates for such interconnection; (iii) to provide for the reasonable unbundling of essential facilities where technically and economically feasible; (iv) to provide for the transfer of telephone numbers between providers in a manner that is technically and economically reasonable; (v) to provide for the continued development and encouragement of universally available telephone service at reasonably affordable rates; and (vi) to carry out the provisions of this subsection in a manner consistent with the public interest, which will include a consideration of whether and to what extent resale should be permitted.

Local exchange companies and competing local providers shall negotiate the rates for local interconnection. In the event that the parties are unable to agree within 90 days of a bona fide request for interconnection on appropriate rates for interconnection, either party may petition the Commission for determination of the appropriate rates for interconnection. The Commission shall determine the appropriate rates for interconnection within 180 days from the filing of the petition.

Each local exchange company shall be the universal service provider in the area in which it is certificated to operate on July 1, 1995, until otherwise determined by the Commission. In continuing this State's commitment to universal service, the Commission shall, by December 31, 1996, adopt interim rules that designate the person that should be the universal service provider and to determine whether universal service should be funded through interconnection rates or through some other funding mechanism. By July 1, 2003, the Commission shall complete an investigation and adopt final rules concerning the provision of universal services, the person that should be the universal service provider, and whether universal service should be funded through interconnection rates or through some other funding mechanism.

The Commission shall make the determination required pursuant to this subsection in a manner that furthers this State's policy favoring universally available telephone service at reasonable rates.

(f2) The provisions of subsection (f1) of this section shall not be applicable to franchised areas within the State that are being served by local exchange companies with 200,000 access lines or less located within the State, and it is further provided that such local exchange company providing service to 200,000 access lines or less shall not be subject to the regulatory reform procedures outlined under the terms of G.S. 62-133.5(a) or permitted to compete in territory outside of its franchised area for local exchange and exchange access services until such time as the franchised area is opened to competing local providers as provided for in this subsection. Upon the filing of an application by a local exchange company with 200,000 access lines or less for regulation under the provisions of G.S. 62-133.5(a), the Commission shall apply the provisions of that section to such local exchange company, but only upon the condition that the provisions of subsection (f1) of this section are to be applicable to the franchised area and local exchange and exchange access services offered by such a local exchange company.

(f3) The provisions of subsection (f1) of this section shall not be applicable to areas served by telephone membership corporations formed and existing under Article 4 of Chapter 117 of the General Statutes and exempt from regulation as public utilities, pursuant to G.S. 62-3(23)d. and G.S. 117-35.

(g) For the purpose of encouraging water conservation, the Commission may, consistent with the public interest, adopt procedures that allow a lessor, pursuant to a written rental agreement, to allocate the costs for providing water and sewer service on a metered use basis to persons who occupy the same contiguous premises. A written rental agreement shall specify a monthly rent that shall be the sum of the base rent plus additional rent at a rate that does not exceed the actual purchase price of the water and sewer service to the provider plus a reasonable administrative fee. The Commission shall issue rules to define contiguous premises and to implement this subsection. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Chapter, the Commission shall determine the extent to which the services shall be regulated and, to the extent necessary to protect the public interest, regulate the terms, conditions, and rates that may be allocated for the services. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to alter the rights, obligations, or remedies of persons providing water and sewer services and their customers under any other provision of law. (1931, c. 455; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1983 (Reg. This section, as amended by Session Laws 1995, c. 27, s. 4, which added subsections (f1), (f2), and (f3), does not contain a subsection (f).

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-252, s. 1, effective June 29, 2001, substituted "July 1, 2003" for "July 1, 2001" in the third sentence of the fifth paragraph of subsection (f1).

CASE NOTES

I. In General.
II. Applicability.

I. IN GENERAL.

The basis for the requirement of a certificate of public convenience and necessity, as a prerequisite to the right to serve, is the adoption, by the General Assembly, of the policy that, nothing else appearing, the public is better served by a regulated monopoly than by competing suppliers of the service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Two Way Radio Serv., Inc., 272 N.C. 591, 158 S.E.2d 855 (1968).

Requirement Curtails Competition. — Regarding public utilities, competition, deemed unnecessary, is curtailed by the requirement that one desiring to engage in such business procure from the Utilities Commission a certificate of public convenience and necessity. In re Certificate of Need for Aston Park Hosp., 282 N.C. 542, 193 S.E.2d 729 (1973).

By this section the State has granted to the utility company a legal monopoly upon a service vital to the economic well-being and the domestic life of the people of a large territory. This franchise is a property right of great value. Normally, when the grantee sells its business to another company, the monopolistic franchise command a substantial price, over and above the exchange value of the physical properties transferred with it. Thus, the value of the franchise enters into and affects the market price of the utility's stock. It does not, however, enter into the computation of the utility's rate base. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

This State has adopted the policy of granting a telephone company a monopoly upon the rendering of telephone service within its service area. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. National Merchandising Corp., 288 N.C. 715, 220 S.E.2d 304 (1975).

But nothing in this Chapter confers upon a telephone company a monopoly upon advertising by its business subscribers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. National Merchandising Corp., 288 N.C. 715, 220 S.E.2d 304 (1975).

Standing to Contest Application for Certificate. — Plaintiff utilities which, by virtue of their contiguity to subdivision were in a superior position to any other utility in the area to provide service to the development since no other competitor would be able to provide for subdivision without first obtaining a certificate, and in the event that another company sought a certificate, plaintiffs would be afforded the opportunity to contest the application, had a legitimate expectation of entitlement sufficient to give them a protectible interest so as to challenge city's provision of water to the subdivision. Quality Water Supply, Inc. v. City of Wilmington, 97 N.C. App. 400, 388 S.E.2d 608, cert. denied, 326 N.C. 597, 393 S.E.2d 881, 393 S.E.2d 882 (1990).

Access Charge Tariff Within Authority of Commission. — Considering the evidence supporting the view that access charge tariff was calculated to reimburse local exchange companies (LECs) for having to provide additional connection facilities to local networks, payments could not be viewed as mere increased revenues for the LECs, but to provide funds to set off those expenditures that the LECs were required to make to provide additional facilities to handle additional carrier access. The imposition of the access charge tariff was within the authority granted to the Commission by the 1984 amendments to this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 88 N.C. App. 153, 363 S.E.2d 73 (1987).

Plan for Compensation to Local Exchange Companies for Lost Revenues During Transition — Not Invalid. — Plan requiring compensation to local exchange companies for lost revenues during transition period did not violate the equal protection clause or the commerce clause, nor conflict with federal antitrust and communications objectives. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 88 N.C. App. 153, 363 S.E.2d 73 (1987).

Same — Not a Penalty or Damages. — Plan requiring compensation to local exchange companies for lost revenues during transition period did not impose a "penalty" or constitute money damages, and could more appropriately be considered as a prerequisite to receiving a certificate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 88 N.C. App. 153, 363 S.E.2d 73 (1987).

Same — Statutorily Authorized. — Plan requiring compensation to local exchange companies for lost revenues during transition period was reasonably calculated to provide protection for the local exchange customers, and was a proper "term" or "condition" of certification which was consistent with the public interest. The plan was therefore statutorily authorized. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 88 N.C. App. 153, 363 S.E.2d 73 (1987).

Water Company "Occupies" Through Presence of Water Lines. — Subsection (a) of this section requires only that a company "occupy" an area not being served by another utility. A water company "occupies" through the presence of its water lines in the territory. Quality Water Supply, Inc. v. City of Wilmington, 97 N.C. App. 400, 388 S.E.2d 608, cert. denied, 326 N.C. 597, 393 S.E.2d 881, 393 S.E.2d 882 (1990).

Order for Cellular Carriers to Pay Access Charges Held Proper. — The Utilities Commission did not err by ordering cellular carriers to pay access charges to local exchange companies when providing wide area call reception to their cellular customers. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Centel Cellular Co., 103 N.C. App. 731, 407 S.E.2d 257 (1991).

In adjudication between two competing certificate applicants, it is for the Utilities Commission to weigh and balance a myriad of factors in an effort to protect the interests and welfare of the general public. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Piedmont Natural Gas Co., 346 N.C. 558, 488 S.E.2d 591 (1997).

Applied in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Town of Pineville, 17 N.C. App. 522, 195 S.E.2d 76 (1973); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 17 N.C. App. 727, 195 S.E.2d 311 (1973); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

II. APPLICABILITY.

This section does not apply to municipal corporations. Town of Grimesland v. City of Washington, 234 N.C. 117, 66 S.E.2d 794 (1951).

A municipal corporation in the operation of a municipally owned electric power plant with transmission lines extended to supply consumers beyond its corporate limits is not required under this section to obtain from the Utilities Commission a certificate of public convenience and necessity before it can lawfully operate. Town of Grimesland v. City of Washington, 234 N.C. 117, 66 S.E.2d 794 (1951); Pee Dee Elec. Membership Corp. v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 253 N.C. 610, 117 S.E.2d 764 (1961).

This section is not applicable to an electric membership corporation organized under the provisions of §§ 117-6 to 117-26. Carolina Power & Light Co. v. Johnston County Elec. Membership Corp., 211 N.C. 717, 192 S.E. 105 (1937); Pitt & Greene Elec. Membership Corp. v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 255 N.C. 258, 120 S.E.2d 749 (1961).

Certificate Not Required for Business Other Than Public Utility. — One does not need a certificate of public convenience and necessity in order to engage in a business which is not that of a "public utility" as defined in § 62-3(23). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 40 N.C. App. 109, 252 S.E.2d 516 (1979), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, 299 N.C. 432, 263 S.E.2d 583 (1980).

Nor Before City Issues Franchise. — Even if a television cable company is a "public utility" as defined in § 62-3, it is not required to obtain from the Utilities Commission a certificate of public convenience and necessity before a franchise is issued by a city to it. Shaw v. City of Asheville, 269 N.C. 90, 152 S.E.2d 139 (1967).

But Certificate Is Required Before Utility Commences Construction or Operation. — A certificate of public convenience and necessity from the Utilities Commission is required by this section before a public utility may commence construction of its plant or operation of its business. Shaw v. City of Asheville, 269 N.C. 90, 152 S.E.2d 139 (1967).

III. PUBLIC UTILITY.

The status of an entity as a public utility, entitled to the rights conferred by statute and subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, does not depend upon whether it has secured a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to this section, but is determined instead according to whether it is, in fact, operating a business defined by the legislature as a public utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

If an entity is, in fact, operating as a public utility, it is subject to the regulatory powers of the Commission, notwithstanding the fact that it has failed to comply with this section before beginning its operation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1967).

Issuance of Certificate a Nullity If Applicant Is Not Public Utility. — If an applicant's proposed service is not within the definition of "public utility" contained in § 62-3(23), the issuance of a certificate of public convenience and necessity by the Commission to the applicant would be a nullity. It would not supply a basis for a further order conferring upon the applicant a right which may be granted only to a public utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

And in Excess of Commission Authority. — To grant a certificate of public convenience and necessity to conduct a business which is not a public utility, within the definition of the statute, would be both arbitrary and in excess of the statutory authority of the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

And Would Not Transform Ordinary Business into Public Utility. — The issuance of a certificate of public convenience and necessity by the Commission does not transform an ordinary business into a public utility, so as to entitle its operator to the rights of a public utility, or so as to impose upon him the duties and limitations of a public utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Definition of Public Utility Cannot Be Extended. — Neither the Commission nor the Supreme Court has authority to add to the types of business defined by the legislature as public utilities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Neither a telephone answering nor a message relaying service is a public utility within the purview of § 62-3(23). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Two Way Radio Serv., Inc., 272 N.C. 591, 158 S.E.2d 855 (1968).

IV. CERTIFICATE OF PUBLIC CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY.

Finding of Both Convenience and Public Need Is Required. — A finding by the Commission that the rendering of the proposed service by an applicant would be a convenience to the public, even if supported by competent and substantial evidence, is not an adequate basis for an order granting the applicant a certificate of public convenience and necessity. To entitle the applicant to such a certificate it is, of course, not necessary for him to show, and the Commission to find, that the proposed service is necessary in the sense of being indispensable. Nevertheless, a mere showing of convenience is not sufficient. There must be an element of public need for the proposed service by the applicant in the area. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Public Convenience and Necessity Must Require Proposed Operation. — The Commission is authorized to issue a certificate of public convenience and necessity if, but only if, the Commission has made findings of fact, supported by competent, material, and substantial evidence, which findings, in turn, support the conclusion that public convenience and necessity "require or will require" the proposed operation by the applicant. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966).

Evidence Held to Show Convenience and Necessity of Services. — Evidence before the Commission indicating that a number of the residences served by applicant's water and sewer systems were situated on quarter-acre lots, which were of insufficient size to support both a well and septic system, and that the occupants of these residences, who were currently among appellant's customers, had no alternative means of water supply or sewage disposal other than the service provided by appellant, clearly supported the conclusion not only that appellant's services constituted a convenience to that segment of the public who used them, but also that such services were necessary to the safety and health of the public. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

Commission's order that appellant apply for a certificate of public convenience and necessity was unnecessary where the Commission had already concluded that appellant's application to abandon service should be denied. Instead, in such a case, the Commission should proceed to establish the territory to be served by appellant, issue the certificate (franchise), establish the rates to be charged for the services, and, if necessary, exercise its statutory powers and authority to compel compliance with its lawful orders. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

The power of eminent domain is inherent in the certificate of public convenience and necessity. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 40 N.C. App. 109, 252 S.E.2d 516 (1979), aff'd in part and rev'd in part on other grounds, 299 N.C. 432, 263 S.E.2d 583 (1980).

A certificate of public convenience and necessity to render telephone service grants the right to adopt new methods of telephonic communications, including a mobile radio telephone service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Two Way Radio Serv., Inc., 272 N.C. 591, 158 S.E.2d 855 (1968).

A certificate of public convenience and necessity, which authorizes its holder to render "telephone service" does not limit the holder to the practice of the art of telephony as it was known and practiced on the date the certificate was issued, nor to the use therein of devices, equipment and methods then in use. Obviously, it is the intent of such a certificate to authorize the holder to improve its service by adopting and using new and improved devices and methods for telephonic communication. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Two Way Radio Serv., Inc., 272 N.C. 591, 158 S.E.2d 855 (1968).

Order Held Not to Create a Vested Property Right to Provide Service. — The order of the Commission relating to the provision of intraLATA service by MCI via its own facilities after January 1, 1987, did not give MCI a vested property right of which it was unconstitutionally deprived by the Commission's failure to allow facilities-based intraLATA competition on January 1, 1987. Before MCI could have the right to provide intraLATA service via its own facilities, the Commission would have to issue a certificate of authority to MCI, and the Commission could not issue this certificate without making the requisite findings of fact pursuant to subsection (b) of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff, 89 N.C. App. 319, 365 S.E.2d 638 (1988).

V. DUPLICATE SERVICES.

Services Need Not Be Identical to Give Utility Serving Area Prior Right. — Two services need not be identical in every respect in order to give the utility already serving the area the prior right. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 367 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Two Way Radio Serv., Inc., 272 N.C. 591, 158 S.E.2d 855 (1968).

Section 62-42 must be construed in connection with this section, which requires the issuance of a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct new facilities except where such construction is into territory contiguous to that already occupied and not receiving similar service from another public utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 182, 204 S.E.2d 27, cert. denied, 285 N.C. 596, 205 S.E.2d 726 (1974).

Thus, Commission Is Without Authority to Compel Duplicate Telephone Service. — A reading of § 62-42 in pari materia with this section results in the determination that the Commission does not have the authority to compel a public utility to provide local exchange service to an area which is already receiving such service from another public utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 182, 204 S.E.2d 27, cert. denied, 285 N.C. 596, 205 S.E.2d 726 (1974).

To order a telephone company to render service to an area already occupied by another telephone company would foster duplication, wastefulness, and unwarranted competition, all of which are repugnant to the avowed policy of the public utility law. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 182, 204 S.E.2d 27, cert. denied, 285 N.C. 596, 205 S.E.2d 726 (1974).

Finding Necessary for Granting Certificate to Competitor. — The requirement of a certificate of public convenience and necessity is not an absolute prohibition of competition between public utilities rendering the same service. There is, however, inherent in this requirement the concept that, once a certificate is granted which authorizes the holder to render the proposed service within the geographic area in question, a certificate will not be granted to a competitor in the absence of a showing that the utility already in the field is not rendering and cannot or will not render the specific service in question. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 267 N.C. 257, 148 S.E.2d 100 (1966); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Two Way Radio Serv., Inc., 272 N.C. 591, 158 S.E.2d 855 (1968).

Commission Should Have Denied Application Where Proposal to Render Substantially Same Service. — Where a public utility had a certificate of convenience and necessity for telephone service in a certain area and was ready and able to provide such area a mobile radio service, the Utilities Commission should have denied an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to an applicant who proposed to render substantially the same mobile radio service in the area; the fact that the applicant proposed to offer an electronic personal paging service as an auxiliary to its mobile radio service was not a sufficient difference to justify the issuance of the certificate, when it appeared that the Commission could compel the established utility to install such a service when the public convenience so required. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Two Way Radio Serv., Inc., 272 N.C. 591, 158 S.E.2d 855 (1968).

§ 62-110.1. Certificate for construction of generating facility; analysis of long-range needs for expansion of facilities.

(a) Notwithstanding the proviso in G.S. 62-110, no public utility or other person shall begin the construction of any steam, water, or other facility for the generation of electricity to be directly or indirectly used for the furnishing of public utility service, even though the facility be for furnishing the service already being rendered, without first obtaining from the Commission a certificate that public convenience and necessity requires, or will require, such construction.

(b) For the purpose of this section, "public utility" shall include any electric membership corporation operating within this State, and the term "public utility service" shall include the service rendered by any such electric membership corporation.

(c) The Commission shall develop, publicize, and keep current an analysis of the long-range needs for expansion of facilities for the generation of electricity in North Carolina, including its estimate of the probable future growth of the use of electricity, the probable needed generating reserves, the extent, size, mix and general location of generating plants and arrangements for pooling power to the extent not regulated by the Federal Power Commission and other arrangements with other utilities and energy suppliers to achieve maximum efficiencies for the benefit of the people of North Carolina, and shall consider such analysis in acting upon any petition by any utility for construction. In developing such analysis, the Commission shall confer and consult with the public utilities in North Carolina, the utilities commissions or comparable agencies of neighboring states, the Federal Power Commission, the Southern Growth Policies Board, and other agencies having relevant information and may participate as it deems useful in any joint boards investigating generating plant sites or the probable need for future generating facilities. In addition to such reports as public utilities may be required by statute or rule of the Commission to file with the Commission, any such utility in North Carolina may submit to the Commission its proposals as to the future needs for electricity to serve the people of the State or the area served by such utility, and insofar as practicable, each such utility and the Attorney General may attend or be represented at any formal conference conducted by the Commission in developing a plan for the future requirements of electricity for North Carolina or this region. In the course of making the analysis and developing the plan, the Commission shall conduct one or more public hearings. Each year, the Commission shall submit to the Governor and to the appropriate committees of the General Assembly a report of its analysis and plan, the progress to date in carrying out such plan, and the program of the Commission for the ensuing year in connection with such plan.

(d) In acting upon any petition for the construction of any facility for the generation of electricity, the Commission shall take into account the applicant's arrangements with other electric utilities for interchange of power, pooling of plant, purchase of power and other methods for providing reliable, efficient and economical electric service.

(e) As a condition for receiving such certificate the applicant shall file an estimate of construction costs in such detail as the Commission may require. The Commission shall hold a public hearing on each such application and no certificate shall be granted unless the Commission has approved the estimated construction costs and made a finding that such construction will be consistent with the Commission's plan for expansion of electric generating capacity.

(f) The Commission shall maintain an ongoing review of such construction as it proceeds and the applicant shall submit each year during construction a progress report and any revisions in the cost estimates for the construction.

(g) The certification requirements of this section shall not apply to persons who construct an electric generating facility primarily for that person's own use and not for the primary purpose of producing electricity, heat, or steam for sale to or for the public for compensation; provided, however, that such persons shall, nevertheless, be required to report to the Utilities Commission the proposed construction of such a facility before beginning construction thereof. (1965, c. 287, s. 2; 1975, c. 780, s. 1; 1979, c. 652, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1997-40, ss. 1-4, as amended by Session Laws 1999-122, s. 1, Session Laws 2000-53, s. 1, and Session Laws 2000-181, s. 2.1, provide in part that the Study

Commission on the Future of Electric Service in North Carolina is created and the Commission shall consist of 30 voting members. The President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall each designate a cochair from the General Assembly membership serving on the Commission. The Commission shall examine the cost, adequacy, availability, and pricing of electric rates and service in North Carolina to determine whether legislation is necessary to assure an adequate and reliable source of electricity and economical, fair, and equitable rates for all consumers of electricity in North Carolina. The Commission shall gather data and other information as may be necessary to accomplish the purposes of the Commission, and shall seek input and advice from the Attorney General, the North Carolina Utilities Commission, and the Public Staff of the Utilities Commission and shall also obtain guidance by reviewing electric utility restructuring experiments conducted in other states. The Commission, while in the discharge of official duties, may exercise all the powers provided under the provisions of G.S. 120-19 through G.S. 120-19.4, including the power to request all officers, agents, agencies, and departments of the State to provide any information, data, or documents within their possession, ascertainable from their records, or otherwise available to them, and the power to subpoena witnesses. The Commission shall make a report to the 1998 Regular Session of the 1997 General Assembly, which may contain recommendations, and shall report the results of its study and its recommendations to the 1999 General Assembly. The Commission is to report periodically thereafter and is to terminate June 30, 2006.

CASE NOTES

This section was enacted to help curb overexpansion of generating facilities beyond the needs of the service area. To this end, the General Assembly used the term "public convenience and necessity" to define the standard to be applied by the Utilities Commission to proposed facilities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. High Rock Lake Ass'n, 37 N.C. App. 138, 245 S.E.2d 787, cert. denied, 295 N.C. 646, 248 S.E.2d 257 (1978).

The purpose of requiring a certificate of public convenience and necessity before a generating facility can be built is to prevent costly overbuilding. Environmental concerns were generally left to other regulatory agencies, except as they affect the cost and efficiency of the proposed generating facility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. High Rock Lake Ass'n, 37 N.C. App. 138, 245 S.E.2d 787, cert. denied, 295 N.C. 646, 248 S.E.2d 257 (1978).

Advance Certification of Facilities in Other States Not Contemplated. — This section does not appear to contemplate advance certification by the North Carolina Utils. Commission of facilities built in other states. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

Public convenience and necessity is based on an element of public need for the proposed service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. High Rock Lake Ass'n, 37 N.C. App. 138, 245 S.E.2d 787, cert. denied, 295 N.C. 646, 248 S.E.2d 257 (1978).

Subdivision (b)(1) of § 62-133 does not require the Commission to make new findings on the need for the construction. Before any public utility begins the construction of a facility for generating electricity for use by the public it must first obtain from the Commission a certificate stating that public convenience and necessity requires, or will require such construction. Before such a certificate can be granted the applicant must file an estimate of construction costs and the Commission must hold public hearings. This procedure satisfies the argument that the construction must be necessary. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

Subsection (c) of this section makes it clear that the only purpose of a least-cost planning proceeding is to assist the Utilities Commission in developing, publicizing, and keeping current an analysis of the long-range needs for expansion of facilities for the generation of electricity in North Carolina. Nowhere is it suggested in subsection (c) that the purpose of the proceeding is to issue directives which fundamentally alter a given utility's operations. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Elec. Membership Corp., 105 N.C. App. 136, 412 S.E.2d 166 (1992).

Scope of Commission's Authority and Jurisdiction. — North Carolina Utilities Commission's dismissal of petitioner independent power producer's application and its establishment of minimum filing requirements did not constitute an impermissible deviation from the process specifically provided in this section and § 62-82, and some deviation from these sections was not beyond the Commission's authority and jurisdiction. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Empire Power Co., 112 N.C. App. 265, 435 S.E.2d 553 (1993), cert. denied, 335 N.C. 564, 441 S.E.2d 125 (1994).

Inclusion of Facility in Another State Absent North Carolina Certificate of Necessity. — The Commission acted within the limits of its authority when it included

Catawba Unit 1, located in South Carolina, in power company's rate base, even though no North Carolina certificate of necessity had been obtained prior to beginning construction thereof. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

The furnishing of electric service to an area subsequently annexed must be carried out pursuant to the 1965 Electric Act. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 310 N.C. 302, 311 S.E.2d 586 (1984).

The 1965 Electric Act, §§ 160A-331 to 160A-338 and 62-110.1 to 62-110.2, does not empower or restrict municipalities in the operation of their electric systems outside their corporate limits. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 310 N.C. 302, 311 S.E.2d 586 (1984).

Review of Grant of Certificate. — On appeal from a decision of the Commission granting a certificate under this section, the court must look to the findings of fact and conclusions of the Commission and determine if the Commission has considered the factors required by law and if the findings of fact necessary to support granting of the certificate are supported by substantial evidence in view of the whole record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. High Rock Lake Ass'n, 37 N.C. App. 138, 245 S.E.2d 787, cert. denied, 295 N.C. 646, 248 S.E.2d 257 (1978).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Municipalities and counties are subject to the provisions of this section which require public utilities and other persons to obtain a certificate of public convenience and necessity prior to construction of any facility for generation of electricity. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. Robert H. Bennink, Jr., General Counsel and Hearing Examiner, North Carolina Utilities Commission, 55 N.C.A.G. 18 (1985).

§ 62-110.2. Electric service areas outside of municipalities.

(a) As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires, the term:

(1) "Premises" means the building, structure, or facility to which electricity is being or is to be furnished; provided, that two or more buildings, structures, or facilities which are located on one tract or contiguous tracts of land and are utilized by one electric consumer for commercial, industrial, institutional, or governmental purposes, shall together constitute one "premises," except that any such building, structure, or facility shall not, together with any other building, structure, or facility, constitute one "premises" if the electric service to it is separately metered and the charges for such service are calculated independently of charges for service to any other building, structure, or facility; and

(2) "Line" means any conductor for the distribution or transmission of electricity, other than

a. In the case of overhead construction, a conductor from the pole nearest the premises of a consumer to such premises, or a conductor from a line tap to such premises, and

b. In the case of underground construction, a conductor from the transformer (or junction point, if there be one) nearest the premises of a consumer to such premises.

(3) "Electric supplier" means any public utility furnishing electric service or any electric membership corporation.

(b) In areas outside of municipalities, electric suppliers shall have rights and be subject to restrictions as follows:

(1) Every electric supplier shall have the right to serve all premises being served by it, or to which any of its facilities for service are attached, on April 20, 1965.

(2) Every electric supplier shall have the right, subject to subdivision (4) of this subsection, to serve all premises initially requiring electric service after April 20, 1965, which are located wholly within 300 feet of such electric supplier's lines as such lines exist on April 20, 1965, except premises which, on said date, are being served by another electric supplier or to which any of another electric supplier's facilities for service are attached.

(3) Every electric supplier shall have the right, subject to subdivision (4) of this subsection, to serve all premises initially requiring electric service after April 20, 1965, which are located wholly within 300 feet of lines that such electric supplier constructs after April 20, 1965, to serve consumers that it has the right to serve, except premises located wholly within a service area assigned to another electric supplier pursuant to subsection (c) hereof.

(4) Any premises initially requiring electric service after April 20, 1965, which are located wholly or partially within 300 feet of the lines of one electric supplier and also wholly or partially within 300 feet of the lines of another electric supplier, as each of such supplier's lines exist on April 20, 1965, or as extended to serve consumers that the supplier has the right to serve, may be served by such one of said electric suppliers which the consumer chooses, and any electric supplier not so chosen by the consumer shall not thereafter furnish service to such premises.

(5) Any premises initially requiring electric service after April 20, 1965, which are not located wholly within 300 feet of the lines of any electric supplier and are not located partially within 300 feet of the lines of two or more electric suppliers may be served by any electric supplier which the consumer chooses, unless such premises are located wholly or partially within an area assigned to an electric supplier pursuant to subsection (c) hereof, and any electric supplier not so chosen by the consumer shall not thereafter furnish service to such premises.

(6) Any premises initially requiring electric service after April 20, 1965, which are located partially within a service area assigned to one electric supplier and partially within a service area assigned to another electric supplier pursuant to subsection (c) hereof, or are located partially within a service area assigned to one electric supplier pursuant to subsection (c) hereof and partially within 300 feet of the lines of another electric supplier, as such lines exist on April 20, 1965, or as extended to serve consumers it has the right to serve, may be served by such one of said electric suppliers which the consumer chooses, and the electric supplier not so chosen shall not thereafter furnish service to such premises.

(7) Any premises initially requiring electric service after April 20, 1965, which are located only partially within a service area assigned to one electric supplier pursuant to subsection (c) hereof and are located wholly outside the service areas assigned to other electric suppliers and are located wholly more than 300 feet from other electric suppliers' lines, may be served by any electric supplier which the consumer chooses, and any electric supplier not so chosen by the consumer shall not thereafter furnish service to such premises.

(8) Every electric supplier shall have the right to serve all premises located wholly within the service area assigned to it pursuant to subsection (c) hereof.

(9) No electric supplier shall furnish temporary electric service for the construction of premises which it would not have the right to serve under this subsection if such premises were already constructed. The construction of lines for, and the furnishing of, temporary service for the construction of premises which any other electric supplier, if chosen by the consumer, would have the right to serve if such premises were already constructed, shall not impair the right of such other electric supplier to furnish service to such premises after the construction thereof, if then chosen by the consumer; nor, unless the consumer chooses to have such premises served by the supplier which furnished the temporary service, shall the furnishing of such temporary service or the construction of a line therefor impair the right of any other electric supplier to furnish service to any other premises which, without regard to the construction of such temporary service line, it has the right to serve.

(10) No electric supplier shall furnish electric service to any premises in this State outside the limits of any incorporated city or town except as permitted by this section; provided, that nothing in this section shall restrict the right of an electric supplier to furnish electric service to itself or to exchange or interchange electric energy with, purchase electric energy from or sell electric energy to any other electric supplier.

(c)(1) In order to avoid unnecessary duplication of electric facilities, the Commission is authorized and directed to assign, as soon as practicable after January 1, 1966, to electric suppliers all areas, by adequately defined boundaries, that are outside the corporate limits of municipalities and that are more than 300 feet from the lines of all electric suppliers as such lines exist on the dates of the assignments; provided, that the Commission may leave unassigned any area in which the Commission, in its discretion, determines that the existing lines of two or more electric suppliers are in such close proximity that no substantial avoidance of duplication of facilities would be accomplished by assignment of such area. The Commission shall make assignments of areas in accordance with public convenience and necessity, considering, among other things, the location of existing lines and facilities of electric suppliers and the adequacy and dependability of the service of electric suppliers, but not considering rate differentials among electric suppliers.

(2) The Commission, upon agreement of the affected electric suppliers, is authorized to reassign to one electric supplier any area or portion thereof theretofore assigned to another; and the Commission, notwithstanding the lack of such agreement, is authorized to reassign to one electric supplier any area or portion thereof theretofore assigned to another, except premises being served by the other electric supplier or to which any of its facilities for service are attached and except such portions of such area as are within 300 feet of the other electric supplier's lines, upon finding that such reassignment is required by public convenience and necessity. In determining whether public convenience and necessity requires such reassignment, the Commission shall consider, among other things, the adequacy and dependability of the service of the affected electric suppliers, but shall not consider rate differentials between such electric suppliers.

(d) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (b) and (c) of this section:

(1) Any electric supplier may furnish electric service to any consumer who desires service from such electric supplier at any premises being served by another electric supplier, or at premises which another electric supplier has the right to serve pursuant to other provisions of this section, upon agreement of the affected electric suppliers; and

(2) The Commission shall have the authority and jurisdiction, after notice to all affected electric suppliers and after hearing, if a hearing is requested by any affected electric supplier or any other interested party, to order any electric supplier which may reasonably do so to furnish electric service to any consumer who desires service from such electric supplier at any premises being served by another electric supplier, or at premises which another electric supplier has the right to serve pursuant to other provisions of this section, and to order such other electric supplier to cease and desist from furnishing electric service to such premises, upon finding that service to such consumer by the electric supplier which is then furnishing service, or which has the right to furnish service, to such premises, is or will be inadequate or undependable, or that the rates, conditions of service or service regulations, applied to such consumer, are unreasonably discriminatory.

(e) The furnishing of electric service in any area which becomes a part of any municipality after April 20, 1965, either by annexation or incorporation, (whether or not such area, or any portion thereof, shall have been assigned pursuant to subsection (c) of this section) shall be subject to the provisions of Part 2, Article 16 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes, and any provisions of this section inconsistent with said Article shall not be applicable within such area after the effective date of such annexation or incorporation. (1965, c. 287, s. 5; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 1024, s. 14.)

CASE NOTES

I. In General.
II. Municipality.
III. Rights and Restrictions.
IV. Assignment.

I. IN GENERAL.

Purpose. — One of the purposes of this Chapter is to vest the Utilities Commission with authority and responsibility to assign territory to electric suppliers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Union Elec. Membership Corp., 3 N.C. App. 309, 164 S.E.2d 889 (1968).

Another purpose of this Chapter, and particularly subsection (b) of this section, is to declare certain rights of electric suppliers in areas outside of municipalities pending the assignment of territory. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Union Elec. Membership Corp., 3 N.C. App. 309, 164 S.E.2d 889 (1968).

A principal purpose of this section is to provide an orderly method for allocation of service areas as among competing suppliers of electricity and thereby to eliminate unnecessary duplication of electric line facilities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp., 3 N.C. App. 318, 164 S.E.2d 895 (1968), aff'd, 275 N.C. 250, 166 S.E.2d 663 (1969).

The overriding purpose of this section is to promote the public interest, not the business of the electric membership cooperative or that of the investor-owned utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

The former absence of statutory provisions restricting competition between electric membership corporations and public utility suppliers of electric power gave rise to many contracts between these two types of suppliers designed to fix their respective territorial rights, which contracts, in turn, gave rise to much litigation. In the hope of putting an end to or reducing this turmoil, the 1965 legislature enacted this section, the language of which was the result of collaboration and agreement between the two types of suppliers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

The clear purpose of Session Laws 1965, c. 287, is to prevent wasteful duplication of competing facilities, and thereby serve the public interest. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 20 N.C. App. 347, 201 S.E.2d 508, aff'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

The Territorial Assignment Act of 1965, as codified at this section and §§ 160A-331 through 160A-338 (1982), represents an attempt to eliminate the uneconomic duplication of transmission and distribution systems bred of unbridled competition between public utilities, electric membership corporations and municipalities by designating the various competitors' rights. Morgan v. Town of Hertford, 70 N.C. App. 725, 321 S.E.2d 170 (1984).

Discretion of Utilities Commission. — In deciding complaints, the Utilities Commission is allowed discretion in fashioning a remedy; the Commission could transfer only service of one cooperative to electric utility rather than all complainants, as long as its action was not capricious or arbitrary. Dennis v. Duke Power Co., 341 N.C. 91, 459 S.E.2d 707 (1995).

Prior to the enactment of this section in 1965, there was no restraint upon competition in rural areas between electric membership corporations and public utility suppliers of electric power, except as established by contract. State ex rel. Utils. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp., 275 N.C. 250, 166 S.E.2d 663 (1969).

Prior to enactment of this section, electric membership cooperatives and investor-owned public utility companies were free to compete in the rural portions of this State, in the absence of contractual restrictions upon such right, irrespective of the fact that such competition resulted in substantial duplication of power lines and facilities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

The common-law doctrine of abandonment does not apply to the 1965 Electric Act. Duke Power Co. v. City of Morganton, 90 N.C. App. 755, 370 S.E.2d 54.

Section Passed Together with §§ 160A-331 Through 160A-338. — This section applying to rural areas, and §§ 160A-331 through 160A-338, applying to municipalities, were part of the same act, and both sought to eliminate the wasteful duplication of power lines by assigning territories to specific suppliers of electricity. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 20 N.C. App. 347, 201 S.E.2d 508, aff'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

Considered together, the sections cover the entire State and reflect interests of municipalities, utility companies and cooperatives. They form a unified plan for eliminating duplication of electric facilities by assigning territories to particular suppliers. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 20 N.C. App. 347, 201 S.E.2d 508, aff'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

This section controls over § 160A-312 in case of a dispute regarding electrical services. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 20 N.C. App. 347, 201 S.E.2d 508, aff'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

Legislature Determines What Policy Is in Public Interest. — It is for the legislature, not for the Supreme Court or the Utilities Commission, to determine whether the policy of free competition between the suppliers of electric power, or the policy of territorial monopoly, or an intermediate policy is in the public interest. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp., 275 N.C. 250, 166 S.E.2d 663 (1969).

Neither Supreme Court Nor Utilities Commission May Forbid Service Permitted by Legislature. — If the legislature has enacted a statute declaring the right of a supplier of electricity to serve, notwithstanding the availability of the service of another supplier closer to the customer, neither the Supreme Court nor the Utilities Commission may forbid service by such supplier merely because it will necessitate an uneconomic or unsightly duplication of transmission or distribution lines. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp., 275 N.C. 250, 166 S.E.2d 663 (1969).

The Commission cannot arbitrarily attach conditions to a franchise, for it must exercise its discretion in good faith in the light of existing facts and circumstances. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 5 N.C. App. 663, 169 S.E.2d 214 (1969), rev'd on other grounds, 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

Authority of Utilities Commission to Restrict Competition. — The Utilities Commission is a creature of the legislature and has no authority to restrict competition between suppliers of electricity, except insofar as that authority has been conferred upon it by statute. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp., 275 N.C. 250, 166 S.E.2d 663 (1969).

Competitive Rights as to Areas Outside City Limits Not Altered. — Session Laws 1965, c. 287, including this section, did not, without more, alter the competitive rights of municipalities, investor-owned utilities and electric membership corporations to compete for patronage in areas outside the corporate limits of municipalities. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

An electric membership corporation and a public utility corporation are free to compete in rural areas unless forbidden by some provision of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Union Elec. Membership Corp., 3 N.C. App. 309, 164 S.E.2d 889 (1968).

Except as restricted by contract, electric membership corporations and public utility companies supplying electricity are free to compete in the rural areas of this State, notwithstanding the fact that such competition may result in substantial duplication of electric power lines and other facilities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp., 275 N.C. 250, 166 S.E.2d 663 (1969).

No Territorial Monopoly. — In the absence of a valid grant of such right by statute, or by an administrative order issued pursuant to statutory authority, and in the absence of a valid contract with its competitor or with the person to be served, a supplier of electric power or other public utility service has no territorial monopoly or other right to prevent its competitor from serving anyone who desires the competitor to do so. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp., 275 N.C. 250, 166 S.E.2d 663 (1969).

Manufacturing Plant But Not Tract as "Premises". — "Premises," as that word is defined in subsection (a)(1), embraces the manufacturing plant of an electric consumer and not the tract upon which it is located; consequently, public membership corporation had no right under subsection (b)(1) to provide electric service to a plant on the ground that it had served a residence and electric signs previously located on the tract. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp., 275 N.C. 250, 166 S.E.2d 663 (1969).

Power to Transfer Discretionary. — Under subsection (d)(2), once the Utilities Commission has made appropriate findings which would justify a transfer, the power of the Commission to order a transfer is discretionary. Dennis v Duke Power Co., 114 N.C. App. 272, 442 S.E.2d 104 (1994), modified, 341 N.C. 91, 459 S.E.2d 707 (1995).

Applied in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 310 N.C. 302, 311 S.E.2d 586 (1984).

Cited in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mountain Elec. Coop., 108 N.C. App. 283, 423 S.E.2d 516 (1992).

II. MUNICIPALITY.

A municipality is not an "electric supplier," as that term is used in this section. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 62 N.C. App. 262, 302 S.E.2d 642 (1983), rev'd on other grounds, 310 N.C. 302, 311 S.E.2d 586 (1984).

Nor Is a Municipally Owned System. — Electric power companies and electric membership corporations are defined by statute as "electric suppliers"; municipally owned systems are not so defined. State ex rel. Utils. v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 5 N.C. App. 663, 169 S.E.2d 214 (1969), rev'd on other grounds, 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

Designation of Municipality as "Electrical Supplier" Is Legislative Function. — It is for the Legislature, and not the court, to define "electric supplier" further than presently set out in subdivision (a)(3) of this section, if it intends that municipalities be so designated. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 62 N.C. App. 262, 302 S.E.2d 642 (1983), rev'd on other grounds, 310 N.C. 302, 311 S.E.2d 586 (1984).

Municipality Not Prohibited from Serving Customers Outside City. — Since a city is neither a "public utility" nor an electric membership corporation and therefore is not an "electric supplier," it is not prohibited from serving customers outside the city. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

Authority for Furnishing Service Outside Corporate Limits. — The 1965 Electric Act, appearing in §§ 160A-331 through 160A-338 and this section, does not empower or authorize municipalities to operate electric systems outside corporate limits, nor does it restrict such service. Insofar as the General Statutes are concerned, the sole authority for, and the only restriction upon municipalities furnishing electric service outside corporate limits is found in § 160A-312. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp. v. City of Fayetteville, 309 N.C. 726, 309 S.E.2d 209 (1983); State ex rel Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 310 N.C. 302, 311 S.E.2d 586 (1984).

Concerns of Municipal Electrical System and Utility Company or Cooperative Distinguished. — The primary purpose of a municipal electrical system is to serve customers within the boundaries of the municipality, while a utility company or cooperative is chiefly concerned with customers outside the city limits. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 20 N.C. App. 347, 201 S.E.2d 508 (1967), aff'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

Only Limit on City as Supplier of Electric Service is "Reasonable Limits" in § 160A-312. — Since a municipality is not an "electric supplier" as that term is used in this section its public works commission is not prohibited from supplying electric service to a customer outside city's limits, so long as its extension of service is within "reasonable limitations," as provided for in § 160A-312. South River Elec. Membership Corp. v. City of Fayetteville, 113 N.C. App. 401, 438 S.E.2d 464, cert. denied, 336 N.C. 74, 445 S.E.2d 38 (1994).

For case holding extension of city's electric system across its city limits beyond its authority, see Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

III. RIGHTS AND RESTRICTIONS.

Rights Conferred on Electric Suppliers by Subsection (b). — Subsection (b) of this section confers upon each electric supplier in the State the right, in territories outside of municipalities, to serve all "premises" being served by it on April 20, 1965, and the right to serve "premises" initially requiring service after that date, located within 300 feet of a line of such supplier and not in a territory assigned by the Utilities Commission to a different supplier pursuant to subsection (c) of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

Any "premises" in territories lying outside of a municipality and more than 300 feet from the line of any electric supplier can be served, prior to an assignment of such territory by the Utilities Commission, by any electric supplier chosen by the user, and service of such premises by any other supplier is prohibited. State ex rel Utils. Comm'n v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

The language of subsection (b)(5) is clear and unambiguous and presents no problem of construction. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp., 3 N.C. App. 318, 164 S.E.2d 895 (1968), aff'd, 275 N.C. 250, 166 S.E.2d 663 (1969).

One seeking electric service should not be denied the right to choose between vendors unless compelled by some cogent reason. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp., 275 N.C. 250, 166 S.E.2d 663 (1969).

Right of Electric Supplier Chosen Under Subsection (b) to Deny Service. — Conclusion of the Utilities Commission that a consumer has the unrestricted choice of an electric supplier under subsection (b) of this section is subject to the right of the chosen electric supplier to deny the service unless required otherwise by the utilities Commission. State ex rel Utils. Comm'n v. Union Elec. Membership Corp., 3 N.C. App. 309, 164 S.E.2d 889 (1968).

Validity of Requiring Certificate of Convenience and Necessity for Extension of Facilities. — The police power of the State is broad enough to include a statute providing that a public utility company, desiring to serve a new area, must obtain from the Utilities Commission a certificate that public convenience and necessity requires the proposed extension of its distribution facilities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp., 275 N.C. 250, 166 S.E.2d 663 (1969).

Choice of Electric Supplier. — Utility department had a statutory right under this section to choose its electric supplier where the buildings and structures of the utility department facility were located on one tract or contiguous tracts of land and thus constituted one premises under subdivision (a)(1). Crescent Elec. Membership Corp. v. Duke Power Co., 126 N.C. App. 344, 485 S.E.2d 312 (1997), cert. denied, 346 N.C. 545, 488 S.E.2d 798 (1997).

IV. ASSIGNMENT.

Construction. — Where provisions of this section relating to assignment of electric service territory in rural areas are clear and understandable on their face, the Supreme Court is not required to construe this statute in connection with other provisions of this Chapter relating to powers of the Utilities Commission to regulate public utilities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp., 275 N.C. 250, 166 S.E.2d 663 (1969).

Subsection (c) contemplates the assignment of a territory to a single supplier for all classes of users of electric power, nothing else appearing. However, the statutory direction that the Commission assign service areas "by adequately defined boundaries" does not compel the conclusions that the intent of the legislature was to require the Commission to choose between (1) jeopardizing the industrial development of a geographic area by assigning it exclusively to an electric membership cooperative, or (2) boxing the cooperative into the narrow strips bordering its existing lines by assigning the territory outside those strips to an investor-owned utility for all types of electric service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

But One Area May Be Assigned Jointly to Two Electric Suppliers. — The Utilities Commission did not exceed its authority under this section in assigning the same areas jointly to two electric suppliers, subject to consumers reasonable choice of supplier, since under appropriate circumstances and appropriate findings by the Commission, public convenience and necessity may require such an assignment. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 5 N.C. App. 663, 169 S.E.2d 214 (1969), rev'd on other grounds, 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

Under appropriate circumstances and appropriate findings by the Commission, public convenience and necessity may determine that some areas be assigned to two or more electric suppliers with later determination of the circumstances under which a particular electric supplier may properly extend service to a particular consumer. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 5 N.C. App. 663, 169 S.E.2d 214 (1969), rev'd on other grounds, 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

The Commission did not exceed its statutory authority in making an assignment of an area jointly to two electric suppliers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edgecombe-Martin County Elec. Membership Corp., 5 N.C. App. 680, 169 S.E.2d 225 (1969).

Division May Be Made on Basis of Users' Demand Level. — It is within the statutory authority of the Commission, when the public convenience and necessity so requires, to assign a territory to one supplier of electricity for service below a specified level of demand and to another supplier for service above that level of demand. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

Reassignment to Serve User Whose Demand Is Above Division Line. — Subsection (c) of this section authorizes the Commission, having determined, upon sufficient and competent evidence, that the public convenience and necessity would best be promoted by dividing the geographic area into two service areas on the basis of the users' demand levels, to permit, on the basis of public convenience and necessity, an electric membership cooperative, to which the area of the smaller demands has been assigned, to serve a user whose demand is above the division line, if that user desires to become a member of the cooperative and thus to use its service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

Considerations in Assigning Areas to Electric Suppliers. — Subsection (c) of this section declares the purpose for which the authority to assign "areas" is conferred upon the Commission. That purpose is "to avoid unnecessary duplication of electric facilities." To accomplish this objective, the statute directs the Commission to make assignments "in accordance with public convenience and necessity." In determining whether an assignment is in accord with "public convenience and necessity," the Commission is directed to consider the "adequacy and dependability of the service of electric suppliers." It is also directed to consider "other things." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

In assigning rural service areas to electric suppliers pursuant to this section, the Utilities Commission may consider, in addition to development of natural resources and employment opportunities, (1) the past history of service to residential, agricultural, and small commercial users in adjacent territories, (2) the capital required for supplying electric power to large users in the territory and the past experience of a supplier in serving such users, and (3) the demonstrated preference of a substantial class of potential users for one supplier over another. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

The attraction of industry to a sparsely settled rural territory, which will develop its natural resources and provide opportunity of employment to its residents, is one of the "other things" to be considered by the Commission in determining what assignment of territory to electrical suppliers will be in accord with public convenience and necessity. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Woodstock Elec. Membership Corp., 276 N.C. 108, 171 S.E.2d 406 (1970).

Right to Serve Not Exclusive. — While an electric supplier has the right to serve all premises in its assigned area, the mere grant of a right to serve is not the grant of an exclusive right to do so. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

The assignment of an area to an electric supplier by the Utilities Commission does not automatically preclude a city from extending its service lines into the area. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

§ 62-110.3. Bond required for water and sewer companies.

(a) No franchise may be granted to any water or sewer utility company until the applicant furnishes a bond, secured with sufficient surety as approved by the Commission, in an amount not less than ten thousand dollars ($10,000). The bond shall be conditioned upon providing adequate and sufficient service within all the applicant's service areas, including those for which franchises have previously been granted, shall be payable to the Commission, and shall be in a form acceptable to the Commission. In setting the amount of a bond, the Commission shall consider and make appropriate findings as to the following:

(1) Whether the applicant holds other water or sewer franchises in this State, and if so its record of operation,
(2) The number of customers the applicant now serves and proposes to serve,
(3) The likelihood of future expansion needs of the service,
(4) If the applicant is acquiring an existing company, the age, condition, and type of the equipment, and
(5) Any other relevant factors, including the design of the system.

Any interest earned on a bond shall be payable to the water or sewer company that posted the bond.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 62-110(a) and subsection (a) of this section, no water or sewer utility shall extend service into territory contiguous to that already occupied without first having advised the Commission of such proposed extension. Upon notification, the Commission shall require the utility to furnish an appropriate bond, taking into consideration both the original service area and the proposed extension. This subsection shall apply to all service areas of water and sewer utilities without regard to the date of the issuance of the franchise.

(c) The utility, the Public Staff, the Attorney General, and any other party may, at any time after the amount of a bond is set, apply to the Commission to raise or lower the amount based on changed circumstances.

(d) The appointment of an emergency operator, either by the superior court in accordance with G.S. 62-118(b) or by the Commission with the consent of the owner or operator, operates to forfeit the bond required by this section. The court or Commission, as appropriate, shall determine the amount of money needed to alleviate the emergency and shall order that amount of the bond to be paid to the Commission as trustee for the water or sewer system.

(e) If the person who operated the system before the emergency was declared desires to resume operation of the system upon a finding that the emergency no longer exists, the Commission shall require him to post a new bond, the amount of which may be different from the previous bond. (1987, c. 490, s. 2; 1995, c. 28, s. 1.)

§ 62-110.4. Alternative operator services.

The Commission shall not issue a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to G.S. 62-110(b) to any interexchange carrier which the Commission has determined to have the characteristics of an alternative operator service unless the Commission shall have determined that class of interexchange carriers to be in the public interest and shall have promulgated rules to protect the public interest and to require, at a minimum, that any such interexchange carrier assure appropriate disclosure to end-users of its identity, services, rates, charges, and fees. In order to effectuate notice to end-users, the Commission may, notwithstanding any other provision of law, require that any person owning or operating a facility for the use of the travelling or transient public which has contracted with such an interexchange carrier prominently display an end-user notice provided for in the Commission's rules. (1989, c. 366, s. 1.)

§ 62-110.5. Commission may exempt certain nonprofit and consumer-owned water or sewer utilities.

The Commission may exempt any water or sewer utilities owned by nonprofit membership or consumer-owned corporations from regulation under this Chapter, subject to those conditions the Commission deems appropriate, if:

(1) The members or consumer-owners of the corporation elect the governing board of the corporation pursuant to the corporation's articles of incorporation and bylaws; and

(2) The Commission finds that the organization and the quality of service of the utility are adequate to protect the public interest to the extent that additional regulation is not required by the public convenience and necessity. (1997-437, s. 2.)

§ 62-111. Transfers of franchises; mergers, consolidations and combinations of public utilities.

(a) No franchise now existing or hereafter issued under the provisions of this Chapter other than a franchise for motor carriers of passengers shall be sold, assigned, pledged or transferred, nor shall control thereof be changed through stock transfer or otherwise, or any rights thereunder leased, nor shall any merger or combination affecting any public utility be made through acquisition of control by stock purchase or otherwise, except after application to and written approval by the Commission, which approval shall be given if justified by the public convenience and necessity. Provided, that the above provisions shall not apply to regular trading in listed securities on recognized markets.

(b) No certificates issued under the provisions of this Chapter for motor carriers of passengers shall be sold, assigned, pledged, transferred, or control changed through stock transfer or otherwise, or any rights thereunder leased, nor shall any merger or combination affecting any motor carrier of passengers be made through acquisition of control by stock purchases or otherwise, except after application to and written approval by the Commission as in this section provided, provided that the above provisions shall not apply to regular trading in listing securities on recognized markets. The applicant shall give not less than 10 days' written notice of such application by registered mail or by certified mail to all connecting and competing carriers. When the Commission is of the opinion that the transaction is consistent with the purposes of this Chapter the Commission may, in the exercise of its discretion, grant its approval, provided, however, that when such transaction will result in a substantial change in the service and operations of any motor carrier of passengers party to the transaction, or will substantially affect the operations and services of any other motor carrier, the Commission shall not grant its approval except upon notice and hearing as required in G.S. 62-262.1 for bus companies upon an application for an original certificate. In all cases arising under the subsection it shall be the duty of the Commission to require the successor carrier to satisfy the Commission that the operating debts and obligations of the seller, assignor, pledgor, lessor or transferor, including taxes due the State of North Carolina or any political subdivision thereof are paid or the payment thereof is adequately secured. The Commission may attach to its approval of any transaction arising under the section such other conditions as the Commission may determine are necessary to effectuate the purposes of this Article.

(c) No sale of a franchise for a motor carrier of household goods shall be approved by the Commission until the seller shall have filed with the Commission a statement under oath of all debts and claims against the seller, of which such seller has any knowledge or notice, (i) for gross receipts, use or privilege taxes due or to become due the State, as provided in the Revenue Act, (ii) for wages due employees of the seller, other than salaries of officers and in the case of motor carriers, (iii) for unremitted C.O.D. collections due shippers, (iv) for loss of or damage to goods transported, or received for transportation, (v) for overcharges on property transported, and, (vi) for interline accounts due other carriers, together with a bond, if required by the Commission, payable to the State, executed by a surety company authorized to do business in the State, in an amount double the aggregate of all such debts and claims conditioned upon the payment of the same within the amount of such bond as the amounts and validity of such debts and claims are established by agreement of the parties, or by judgment. This subsection shall not be applicable to sales by personal representatives of deceased or incompetent persons, receivers or trustees in bankruptcy under court order.

(d) No person shall obtain a franchise for the purpose of transferring the same to another, and an offer of such transfer within one year after the same was obtained shall be prima facie evidence that such certificate was obtained for the purpose of sale.

(e) The Commission shall approve applications for transfer of motor carrier franchises made under this section upon finding that said sale, assignment, pledge, transfer, change of control, lease, merger, or combination is in the public interest, will not adversely affect the service to the public under said franchise, will not unlawfully affect the service to the public by other public utilities, that the person acquiring said franchise or control thereof is fit, willing and able to perform such service to the public under said franchise, and that service under said franchise has been continuously offered to the public up to the time of filing said application or in lieu thereof that any suspension of service exceeding 30 days has been approved by the Commission as provided in G.S. 62-112(b)(5). Provided, however, the Commission shall approve, without imposing conditions or limitations, applications for the transfer of a bus company franchise made under this section upon finding that the person acquiring the franchise or control of the franchise is fit, willing and able to perform services to the public under that franchise. (1947, c. 1008, s. 22; 1949, c. 1132, s. 20; 1953, c. 1140, s. 3; 1957, c. 1152, s. 10; 1961, c. 472, ss. 6, 7; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1967, c. 1202; 1985, c. 676, ss. 10, 11; 1995, c. 523, s. 2.)

CASE NOTES

Showing of Public Need Not Required. — The showing of public need which § 62-262(e)(1) requires of an application for a new authority is not applicable in a transfer proceeding under this section and was not written into it by subsection (a) of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 7 N.C. App. 408, 173 S.E.2d 25 (1970).

Subsection (e) of this section does not indicate a policy change toward protecting existing certificate holders from lawful competition. Moreover, like the test of "public convenience and necessity" in subsection (a), the requirement that the Commission find the transfer "in the public interest" does not write into the transfer approval procedure the new certificate test of public need required by § 62-262(e)(1). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 7 N.C. App. 408, 173 S.E.2d 25 (1970).

Where the issue of dormancy under § 62-112(c) has been raised, if the Commission finds that the franchise is not dormant, it must then determine if the criteria required by this section for approval of the transfer have been met. If the Commission finds that the franchise is dormant under § 62-112(c), the application for transfer must be denied, because approval would in effect constitute the granting of a new franchise without satisfying the new authority test and other requirements of § 62-262(e). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Estes Express Lines, 33 N.C. App. 174, 234 S.E.2d 624 (1977).

Test for "Public Convenience and Necessity". — The requirement of "public convenience and necessity" referred to in subsection (a) of this section is satisfied by a showing that the authority has been and is being actively applied in satisfaction of the public need which was shown to exist when the authority was originally acquired. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 7 N.C. App. 408, 173 S.E.2d 25 (1970).

The criteria "if justified by the public convenience and necessity" in subsection (a) of this section has been interpreted as a statutory basis for the test of dormancy. Where the authority has been abandoned or "dormant," the Commission has denied applications for transfer because approval would in effect be the granting of a new authority without satisfying the new authority test of public need set out in § 62-262(e). Where the authority has been actively operated, the applicants for sale and transfer of motor freight carrier rights are under no burden to show through shipper witnesses that a demand and need exist. The rationale is that public convenience and necessity was shown to exist when the authority was granted or acquired, and the rebuttable presumption of law is that it continues. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 7 N.C. App. 408, 173 S.E.2d 25 (1970).

Public Convenience and Necessity for Proposed Transfers of Water and Sewer Franchises. — When the commission is adjudging public convenience and necessity in the context of proposed transfers of water and sewer franchises under subsection (a) of this section, it must inquire into all aspects of anticipated service and rates occasioned and engendered by the proposed transfer, and then determine whether the transfer will serve the public convenience and necessity. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Village of Pinehurst, 99 N.C. App. 224, 393 S.E.2d 111 (1990), aff'd, 331 N.C. 278, 415 S.E.2d 199 (1992).

State Policy Favors Transfers of Actively Operated Motor Freight Carrier Certificates. — The policy of the State, as declared in the Public Utilities Act of 1963, clearly favors transfers of actively operated motor freight carrier certificates without unreasonable restraint. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 7 N.C. App. 408, 173 S.E.2d 25 (1970); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Estes Express Lines, 33 N.C. App. 99, 234 S.E.2d 628 (1977).

Transfer to a More Competitive Carrier Not Prohibited. — The possibility that a transfer of authority to a more competitive carrier will adversely affect existing carriers does not make such a transfer contrary to the public interest as a matter of law. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 7 N.C. App. 408, 173 S.E.2d 25 (1970); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Estes Express Lines, 33 N.C. App. 99, 234 S.E.2d 628 (1977).

Requirement of subsection (e) of this section that the Commission find that the proposed transfer "will not adversely affect the service to the public under said franchise" is satisfied by a determination that the proposed transferee of the franchise is capable of rendering service equal to that of the proposed transferor, and does not prohibit approval where transfer of the franchise to a more competitive hauler would have an adverse effect on existing carriers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 7 N.C. App. 408, 173 S.E.2d 25 (1970).

Bond as Condition Precedent to Commission's Approval. — This section requires as a condition precedent to the Commission's approval of the sale of a motor carrier's franchise a bond from the seller conditioned for the payment of (1) taxes, (2) wages due employees of the seller, (3) unremitted C.O.D. collections due seller, (4) "for loss or damage of goods transported or received for transportation," (5) overcharge on property transported, and (6) for interline accounts to other carriers. American Nat'l Fire Ins. Co. v. Gibbs, 260 N.C. 681, 133 S.E.2d 669 (1963), decided under this section as it stood prior to the 1963 amendment.

Question of Whether Purchaser of Water or Sewer Franchise Can Provide Better Service. — The question of whether another potential purchaser of a water or sewer franchise can provide better service is plainly relevant under the broad public convenience and necessity test of subsection (a) of this section. But such a showing would not of itself be dispositive of the issue of whether approval should be granted. When weighing the broad aspects and implications of public convenience and necessity, the Commission is cloaked with wide discretion and is not required to reject an application for transfer merely because another potential purchaser produces evidence that it might be able to do a better job. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Village of Pinehurst, 99 N.C. App. 224, 393 S.E.2d 111 (1990), aff'd, 331 N.C. 278, 415 S.E.2d 199 (1992).

Transfers of Utility Franchises Cannot be Made Contingent Upon Commission Approval. — Lawful transfers of ownership and control of utility franchises cannot be made contingent upon or subject to commission approval; however, in emergency situations, the Commission can issue temporary or interim orders giving conditional or temporary approval of operational control. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Village of Pinehurst, 99 N.C. App. 224, 393 S.E.2d 111 (1990), aff'd, 331 N.C. 278, 415 S.E.2d 199 (1992).

This section does not permit the completion of transfers contingent upon or subject to Commission approval; the legislature, by the unambiguous terms of the statute, clearly intended to prohibit de facto transfers of franchises before the Commission has had the opportunity to pass upon the merits of the transfer under the public convenience and necessity test. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Village of Pinehurst, 99 N.C. App. 224, 393 S.E.2d 111 (1990), aff'd, 331 N.C. 278, 415 S.E.2d 199 (1992).

Certificate Holder Not Released from Liability for Nonperformance of Duties. — This section does not confer upon the Utilities Commission the power to release the holder of a certificate of convenience and necessity from liability for the nonperformance of public duties incident to the certificate, and the Commission possesses no such power in the absence of a delegation thereof by the legislature. Hough-Wylie Co. v. Lucas, 236 N.C. 90, 72 S.E.2d 11 (1952).

A lease of intrastate motor vehicle common carrier operating rights, approved by the Utilities Commission, does not release lessor, the holder of the certificate of convenience and necessity, from liability for nonperformance of franchise duties or torts incident to operation, and a shipper may hold lessor liable for lessee's failure to make prompt remittance of C.O.D. collections as required by § 62-273. Hough-Wylie Co. v. Lucas, 236 N.C. 90, 72 S.E.2d 11 (1952).

Duty of Transferee to Render Services Called for. — Approval by the Commission of the transfer of a carrier's certificate of authority implies a duty on the part of the transferee to render the service called for in the certificate, which it must perform in a substantial manner. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Colter, 259 N.C. 269, 130 S.E.2d 385 (1963).

Right to Combine Purchased Route Authority and Original Route Authority of Purchasing Carrier. — Where an irregular carrier acquired the certificate of another irregular carrier with the authority of the Utilities Commission, the purchasing carrier had the legal right to combine or "tack" the irregular route authority purchased by it and its original irregular route authority, as there were no conditions or restrictions imposed by statute or any rule or regulation of the Commission in effect at the time of the purchase. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Forbes Transf. Co., 259 N.C. 688, 131 S.E.2d 452 (1963).

"Fit, Willing, and Able" Condition of Approval Is Relevant Under Subsection (a). — The "fit, willing, and able" condition of approval set forth in subsection (e) pertaining to transfers of motor carrier franchises is also a relevant question under the separate public convenience and necessity test of subsection (a). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Village of Pinehurst, 99 N.C. App. 224, 393 S.E.2d 111 (1990), aff'd, 331 N.C. 278, 415 S.E.2d 199 (1992).

Findings Held to Obviate Application of Subsection (d). — In a proceeding to obtain approval of the Utilities Commission for the transfer of all the capital stock of a franchise carrier from one holding corporation to another, findings of the Commission, supported by substantial evidence, to the effect that the franchise carrier did not in fact obtain its franchise for the purpose of transferring it to another obviated the application of subsection (d) of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 269 N.C. 717, 153 S.E.2d 461 (1967).

Subsection (e) Operates as Separate Test. — The plain language of subsection (e) of this section unambiguously indicates the intent of the legislature for that section to operate as a separate and distinct test, applying only to transfers of motor carrier franchises; that the broader public convenience and necessity test necessarily subsumes under it some of the same elements does not alter this fact. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Village of Pinehurst, 99 N.C. App. 224, 393 S.E.2d 111 (1990), aff'd, 331 N.C. 278, 415 S.E.2d 199 (1992).

Subsection (e) is inapplicable to transfer approval proceedings involving water and sewer franchises. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Village of Pinehurst, 99 N.C. App. 224, 393 S.E.2d 111 (1990), aff'd, 331 N.C. 278, 415 S.E.2d 199 (1992).

Findings Held to Support Conclusion That Transfer of Stock Was Justified. — In a proceeding to obtain approval of the Utilities Commission for the transfer of all the capital stock of a franchise carrier from one holding corporation to another, findings, supported by evidence, that the franchise carrier was conducting active operations under the franchise and that its ability to render service to the public within the limits of its franchise rights would not be adversely affected by the proposed transfer of its stock supported conclusion that the proposed sale of its stock was justified by the public convenience and necessity within the meaning of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 269 N.C. 717, 153 S.E.2d 461 (1967).

Contract to Pay Claims Under Section as Surety Contract. — That portion of a contract under which a company obligates itself to pay any shipper or consignee claims for which the assured would be liable by the provision of this section, with stipulation that the assured should reimburse the company for any such payment, is a surety contract. American Nat'l Fire Ins. Co. v. Gibbs, 260 N.C. 681, 133 S.E.2d 669 (1963).

Applied in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. United Tank Lines, 34 N.C. App. 543, 239 S.E.2d 266 (1977).

§ 62-112. Effective date, suspension and revocation of franchises; dormant motor carrier franchises.

(a) Franchises shall be effective from the date issued unless otherwise specified therein, and shall remain in effect until terminated under the terms thereof, or until suspended or revoked as herein provided.

(b) Any franchise may be suspended or revoked, in whole or in part, in the discretion of the Commission, upon application of the holder thereof; or, after notice and hearing, may be suspended or revoked, in whole or in part, upon complaint, or upon the Commission's own initiative, for wilful failure to comply with any provision of this Chapter, or with any lawful order, rule, or regulation of the Commission promulgated thereunder, or with any term, condition or limitation of such franchise; provided, however, that any such franchise may be suspended by the Commission upon notice to the holder or lessee thereof without a hearing for any one or more of the following causes:

(1) For failure to provide and keep in force at all times security, bond, insurance or self-insurance for the protection of the public as required in G.S. 62-268 of this Chapter.

(2) For failure to file and keep on file with the Commission applicable tariffs or schedules of rates as required in this Chapter.

(3) For failure to pay any gross receipts, use or privilege taxes due the State of North Carolina within 30 days after demand in writing from the agency of the State authorized by law to collect the same; provided, that this subdivision shall not apply to instances in which there is a bona fide controversy as to tax liability.

(4) For failure for a period of 60 days after execution to pay any final judgment rendered by a court of competent jurisdiction against any holder or lessee of a franchise for any debt or claim specified in G.S. 62-111(b) and (c).

(5) For failure to begin operations as authorized by the Commission within the time specified by order of the Commission, or for suspension of authorized operations for a period of 30 days without the written consent of the Commission, save in the case of involuntary failure or suspension brought about by compulsion upon the franchise holder or lessee.

(c) The failure of a common carrier of passengers or household goods by motor vehicles to perform any transportation for compensation under the authority of its certificate for a period of 30 consecutive days shall be prima facie evidence that said franchise is dormant and the public convenience and necessity is no longer served by such common carrier certificate. Upon finding after notice and hearing that no such service has been performed for a period of 30 days the Commission is authorized to find that the franchise is dormant and to cancel the certificate of such common carrier. The Commission in its discretion may give consideration in such finding to other factors affecting the performance of such service, including seasonal requirements of the passengers or commodities authorized to be transported, the efforts of the carrier to make its services known to the public, the equipment and other facilities maintained by the carrier for performance of such service, and the means by which such carrier holds itself out to perform such service. A proceeding may be brought under this section by the Commission on its own motion or upon the complaint of any shipper or any other carrier. The franchise of a motor carrier may be canceled under the provisions of this section in any proceeding to sell or transfer or otherwise change control of said franchise brought under the provisions of G.S. 62-111, upon finding of dormancy as provided in this section. Any motor carrier who has obtained authority to suspend operations under the provisions of G.S. 62-112(b)(5) and the rules of the Utilities Commission issued thereunder shall not be subject to cancellation of its franchise under this section during the time such suspension of operations is authorized. In determining whether such carrier has made reasonable efforts to perform service under said franchise the Commission may in its discretion give consideration to disabilities of the carrier including death of the owner and physical disabilities.

(d) This section shall be applicable to bus companies. (1947, c. 1008, s. 23; 1949, c. 1132, s. 21; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1967, c. 1201; 1985, c. 676, s. 12; 1995, c. 523, s. 3.)

CASE NOTES

Evidence Justifying a Finding of Dormancy. — Under subsection (c) the failure to perform any transportation for compensation under the authority of the franchise for a period of 30 days is prima facie evidence that the franchise is dormant. Such evidence is sufficient to justify but not to compel a finding that the franchise is dormant. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Estes Express Lines, 33 N.C. App. 174, 234 S.E.2d 624 (1977).

Upon a prima facie showing of dormancy under subsection (c) the Commission in its discretion may then consider other factors affecting the performance of such services, the subsection listing factors which may be considered. If the Commission in its discretion considers other factors, it may find that the evidence relating to one or more of these factors rebuts the prima facie evidence of dormancy and that the franchise is not dormant. And if the evidence relating to one or more of these factors, as found by the Commission, is competent, material and substantial, the finding will not be disturbed on appeal under § 62-94(b)(5). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Estes Express Lines, 33 N.C. App. 174, 234 S.E.2d 624 (1977).

Evidence Sufficient to Rebut Dormancy Case. — Evidence that transferor continuously advertised its services, that it was ready, willing and able to haul both exempt and nonexempt commodities under its franchise, and that it charged published tariff rates in hauling both exempt and nonexempt commodities, was competent, material and substantial, and was sufficient to rebut the prima facie evidence of dormancy and to support the consideration by the Commission of one or more of the "other factors" listed in subsection (c). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Estes Express Lines, 33 N.C. App. 174, 234 S.E.2d 624 (1977).

Effect on Transfer of Dormancy Finding. — Where the issue of dormancy under subsection (c) has been raised, if the Commission finds that the franchise is not dormant, it must then determine if the criteria required by § 62-111 for approval of the transfer have been met. If the Commission finds that the franchise is dormant under subsection (c), the application for transfer must be denied, because approval would in effect constitute the granting of a new franchise without satisfying the new authority test and other requirements of § 62-262(e). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Estes Express Lines, 33 N.C. App. 174, 234 S.E.2d 624 (1977).

When the irregular route operating authority portion of applicant's franchise certificate was suspended, any service provided under this part of the certificate naturally was suspended, so that the Commission did not err in concluding that the portion of the franchise certificate providing for irregular route authority was suspended. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Estes Express Lines, 33 N.C. App. 99, 234 S.E.2d 628 (1977).

Applied in Jones v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 270 N.C. 454, 155 S.E.2d 118 (1967); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. United Tank Lines, 34 N.C. App. 543, 239 S.E.2d 266 (1977).

§ 62-113. Terms and conditions of franchises.

(a) Each franchise shall specify the service to be rendered and the routes over which, the fixed termini, if any, between which, and the intermediate and off-route points, if any, at which, and in case of operations not over specified routes or between fixed termini, the territory within which, a motor carrier or other public utility is authorized to operate: and there shall, at the time of issuance and from time to time thereafter, be attached to the privileges granted by the franchise such reasonable terms, conditions, and limitations as the public convenience and necessity may from time to time require, including terms, conditions, and limitations as to the extension of the route or routes of a carrier, and such terms and conditions as are necessary to carry out, with respect to the operations of a carrier or other public utility, the requirements established by the Commission under this Chapter; provided, however, that no terms, conditions, or limitations shall restrict the right of a motor carrier of household goods only to add to its equipment and facilities over the routes, between the termini, or within the territory specified in the franchises, as the development of the business and the demands of the public shall require. This subsection shall not be applicable to bus companies or their franchises.

(b) Each bus company franchise shall specify the fixed routes over which, and the fixed termini, if any, between which the bus company may operate. A franchise for bus companies engaged in charter operations may provide for fixed routes or statewide operating authority. (1947, c. 1008, s. 12; 1949, c. 1132, s. 11; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1985, c. 676, s. 13; 1995, c. 523, s. 4.)

CASE NOTES

The Commission need not approve or reject an application as submitted. It may attach to the certificate granted such reasonable terms, conditions and limitations as the public convenience and necessity may require. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

Obligations Inherent in Acceptance of Certificate. — Inherent in the acceptance of a certificate and the exercise of the rights and privileges evidenced thereby is the correlative obligation to serve the shipping public faithfully, in accordance with reasonable rules and regulations prescribed by the Utilities Commission and in conformity with the requirements of the statute prescribing duties to be performed by the carrier for the protection of the shipping public. Hough-Wylie Co. v. Lucas, 236 N.C. 90, 72 S.E.2d 11 (1952).

§ 62-115. Issuance of partnership franchises.

No franchise shall be issued under this Article to two or more persons until such persons have executed a partnership agreement, filed a copy of said agreement with the Commission, and indicated to the Commission, in writing, that they have complied with Article 14 of Chapter 66 relating to doing business under an assumed name. (1947, c. 1008, s. 14; 1949, c. 1132, s. 14; 1961, c. 472, s. 5; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-116. Issuance of temporary or emergency authority.

(a) Upon the filing of an application in good faith for a franchise, the Commission may in its discretion, after notice by regular mail to all persons holding franchises authorizing similar services within the same territory and upon a finding that no other adequate existing service is available, pending its final decision on the application, issue to the applicant appropriate temporary authority to operate under such just and reasonable conditions and limitations as the Commission deems necessary or desirable to impose in the public interest; provided, however, that pending such final decision on the application, the applicant shall comply with all the provisions of this Chapter, and with the lawful orders, rules and regulations of the Commission promulgated thereunder, applicable to holders of franchises, and upon failure of an applicant so to do, after reasonable notice from the Commission requiring compliance therewith in the particulars set out in the notice, and after hearing, the application may be dismissed by the Commission without further proceedings, and temporary authority issued to such applicant may be revoked. The authority granted under this section shall not create any presumption nor be considered in the action on the permanent authority application.

(b) Upon its own initiative, or upon written request by any customer or by any representative of a local or State government agency, and after issuance of notice to the owner and operator and after hearing in accordance with G.S. 1A-1, Rule 65(b), the Commission may grant emergency operating authority to any person to furnish water or sewer utility service to meet an emergency to the extent necessary to relieve the emergency; provided, that the Commission shall find from such request, or from its own knowledge, that a real emergency exists and that the relief authorized is immediate, pressing and necessary in the public interest, and that the person so authorized has the necessary ability and is willing to perform the prescribed emergency service. Upon termination of the emergency, the emergency operating authority so granted shall expire upon order of the Commission. An emergency is defined herein as the imminent danger of losing adequate water or sewer utility service or the actual loss thereof. (1947, c. 1008, s. 10; 1949, c. 1132, s. 9; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1973, c. 1108.)

§ 62-117. Same or similar names prohibited.

No public utility holding or operating under a franchise issued under this Chapter shall adopt or use a name used by any other public utility, or any name so similar to a name of another public utility as to mislead or confuse the public, and the Commission may, upon complaint, or upon its own initiative, in any such case require the public utility to discontinue the use of such name, preference being given to the public utility first adopting and using such name. (1947, c. 1008, s. 15; 1949, c. 1132, s. 15; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-118. Abandonment and reduction of service.

(a) Upon finding that public convenience and necessity are no longer served, or that there is no reasonable probability of a public utility realizing sufficient revenue from a service to meet its expenses, the Commission shall have power, after petition and notice, to authorize by order any public utility to abandon or reduce such service. Upon request from any party having an interest in said utility service, the Commission shall hold a public hearing on such petition, and may on its own motion hold a public hearing on such petition. Provided, however, that abandonment or reduction of service of motor carriers shall not be subject to this section, but shall be authorized only under the provisions of G.S. 62-262(k) and G.S. 62-262.2.

(b) If any person or corporation furnishing water or sewer utility service under this Chapter shall abandon such service without the prior consent of the Commission, and the Commission subsequently finds that such abandonment of service causes an emergency to exist, the Commission may, unless the owner or operator of the affected system consents, apply in accordance with G.S. 1A-1, Rule 65, to a superior court judge who has jurisdiction pursuant to G.S. 7A-47.1 or 7A-48 in the district or set of districts as defined in G.S. 7A-41.1 in which the person or corporation so operates, for an order restricting the lands, facilities and rights-of-way used in furnishing said water or sewer utility service to continued use in furnishing said service during the period of the emergency. An emergency is defined herein as the imminent danger of losing adequate water or sewer utility service or the actual loss thereof. The court shall have jurisdiction to restrict the lands, facilities, and rights-of-way to continued use in furnishing said water or sewer utility service by appropriate order restraining their being placed to other use, or restraining their being prevented from continued use in furnishing said water or sewer utility service, by any person, corporation, or their representatives. The court may, in its discretion, appoint an emergency operator to assure the continued operation of such water or sewer utility service. The court shall have jurisdiction to require that reasonable compensation be paid to the owner, operator or other party entitled thereto for the use of any lands, facilities, and rights-of-way which are so restricted to continued use for furnishing water or sewer utility service during the period of the emergency, and it may require the emergency operator of said lands, facilities, and rights-of-way to post bond in an amount required by the court. In no event shall such compensation, for each month awarded, exceed the net average monthly income of the utility for the 12-month period immediately preceding the order restricting use.

(c) Whenever the Commission, upon complaint or investigation upon its own motion, finds that the facilities being used to furnish water or sewer utility service are inadequate to such an extent that an emergency (as defined in G.S. 62-118(b) above) exists, and further finds that there is no reasonable probability of the owner or operator of such utility obtaining the capital necessary to improve or replace the facilities from sources other than the customers, the Commission shall have the power, after notice and hearing, to authorize by order that such service be abandoned or reduced to those customers who are unwilling or unable to advance their fair share of the capital necessary for such improvements. The amount of capital to be advanced by each customer shall be subject to approval by the Commission, and shall be advanced under such conditions as will enable each customer to retain a proprietary interest in the system to the extent of the capital so advanced. The remedy prescribed in this subsection is in addition to other remedies prescribed by law. (1933, c. 307, s. 32; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1971, c. 552, s. 1; 1973, c. 1393; 1985, c. 676, s. 14; 1987 (Reg. Sess., 1988), c. 1037, s. 93; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 1024, s. 15.)

CASE NOTES

Paramount Right of State to Regulate Public Utilities. — The power of a municipality to grant franchises to public utilities for the use of its streets and to provide service to its citizens must yield to the paramount right of the State to regulate public utilities through the Utilities Commission, even when they are operated within the corporate boundaries of a municipality. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 22 N.C. App. 91, 205 S.E.2d 774, cert. denied, 285 N.C. 661, 207 S.E.2d 752 (1974).

Utility Owes Duty of Continuous Operation. — While a public utility retains its franchise, it owes to the State and the public the duty of continuous operation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Haywood Elec. Membership Corp., 260 N.C. 59, 131 S.E.2d 865 (1963).

Consent of Customer or Commission Necessary Before Abandonment of Service. — A power company may not abandon service to any customer, subject to the customer's paying his bill, without the consent of the customer or authorization of the Utilities Commission. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 22 N.C. App. 91, 205 S.E.2d 774, cert. denied, 285 N.C. 661, 207 S.E.2d 752 (1974).

Customer Entitled to Restoration of Service Absent Contrary Order. — Where a power company discontinued its service for nonpayment of charges, the customer, upon payment of the charges, was entitled to restoration of the service where the company did not obtain an order from the Commission. Sweetheart Lake, Inc. v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 211 N.C. 269, 189 S.E. 785 (1937).

Discretionary Power of Commission to Authorize Discontinuance. — The General Assembly intended that the Utilities Commission exercise the power conferred upon it to authorize a discontinuance of an established service in large measure according to its judgment and discretion. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 254 N.C. 73, 118 S.E.2d 21 (1961).

The power of the Commission to authorize an abandonment of service is, in large measure, discretionary. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

The Commission's power to require a utility to continue a service is not unlimited. To require a utility, particularly a small operation, to continue an unprofitable operation would violate constitutional guarantees against the taking of property without just compensation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

Propriety of Order Requiring Continued Operation. — An order of the Commission, based upon proper findings and conclusions, requiring appellant to continue operation of her utilities would not violate constitutional prohibitions against involuntary servitude. Appellant voluntarily put her land and equipment to a public use and collected compensation for the services which she provided, and having done so, the Commission may require that she continue to use it in the service to which she voluntarily dedicated it so long as she is justly compensated for such service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

Showing Required for Abandonment. — When a public utility seeks to abandon service, it must establish that the public no longer needs the service which it was created to render, or that there is no reasonable probability of its being able to realize sufficient revenue by the rendition of such service to meet its expenses. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Haywood Elec. Membership Corp., 260 N.C. 59, 131 S.E.2d 865 (1963).

Where a utility seeks authorization to abandon service, the ultimate issue for resolution is whether the operation of the system can produce sufficient revenues to meet the expenses of operation. To resolve this issue, there must be findings of fact as to the reasonable expenses of operation and the revenues which the system may be reasonably expected to produce. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

The burden is on the utility seeking authorization to abandon service to establish that there is no reasonable probability of its being able to realize sufficient revenue by the rendition of such service to meet its expenses. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

The doctrine of convenience and necessity is a relative or elastic theory rather than an abstract or absolute rule. The facts in each case must be separately considered, and from those facts it must be determined whether or not public convenience and necessity require a given service to be performed or dispensed with. The convenience and necessity required are those of the public and not of an individual or individuals. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 254 N.C. 73, 118 S.E.2d 21 (1961).

Waste of a utility's manpower or other resources, with no substantial resulting benefit to the public, is not in the public interest and is not required. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 268 N.C. 242, 150 S.E.2d 386 (1966).

A railroad may not be denied the right to curtail or abandon a service for which there is no substantial public need, even though, upon its entire business, the company is earning a fair rate of return. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 268 N.C. 242, 150 S.E.2d 386 (1966).

Though prosperous, a railroad or other utility company may not be denied the right to effect economies in its operation, so as to increase its earnings, unless it may reasonably be found, upon the evidence before the Commission, that the public convenience and necessity requires the continuation of the service in question. An occasional inconvenience to a shipper, which is trivial in comparison with the saving to the railroad from the elimination of the service, will not suffice to show such public convenience and necessity. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 268 N.C. 242, 150 S.E.2d 386 (1966).

But It May Be Required to Retain Station Required by Public Convenience and Necessity. — A railroad may be required to keep a station open, with an agent in attendance, if the public convenience and necessity requires such service, even though this can be done only at a loss to the railroad, provided such loss is not so great as to be unreasonable in comparison with the public's benefit from the service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 268 N.C. 242, 150 S.E.2d 386 (1966).

And It May Not Substantially Reduce Hours Station Is Open Without Commission's Order. — A liberal construction of §§ 62-2, 62-32, 62-131 and 62-247 and this section, so as to effectuate the policy of the State as therein declared, compels the conclusion that when a railroad corporation has established and maintained a freight depot or passenger station pursuant to the order of the Commission, or has established and maintained for a year or more such depot or station on its own initiative, it may not, without first obtaining an order from the Commission authorizing it to do so, substantially reduce the number of hours per day during which such station shall be kept open and attended by an agent of the railroad for the service of the public. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 268 N.C. 242, 150 S.E.2d 386 (1966).

But Commission May Not Withhold Approval of Reduction Unreasonably. — When a railroad company applies for an order authorizing it to substantially reduce the number of hours per day during which a depot or station shall be kept open and attended by an agent, the Commission may not withhold its approval unreasonably and arbitrarily. It may deny such permission only after a hearing and only if it finds and concludes, upon competent, material and substantial evidence, in view of the entire record, both that the public convenience and necessity requires the station or depot to be so kept open for a greater portion of the day, and that the railroad, by so doing, will not incur costs out of proportion to any benefit to the public. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 268 N.C. 242, 150 S.E.2d 386 (1966).

As to power of Commission under former § 62-39 to require transportation and transmission companies to maintain facilities, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 233 N.C. 365, 64 S.E.2d 272 (1951); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 235 N.C. 273, 69 S.E.2d 502 (1952); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 238 N.C. 701, 78 S.E.2d 780 (1953).

Evidence Held to Show Convenience and Necessity. — Evidence before the Commission indicating that a number of the residences served by applicant's water and sewer systems were situated on quarter-acre lots, which were of insufficient size to support both a well and septic system, and that the occupants of these residences, who were currently among appellant's customers, had no alternative means of water supply or sewage disposal other than the service provided by appellant, clearly supported the conclusion not only that appellant's services constituted a convenience to that segment of the public who used them, but also that such services were necessary to the safety and health of the public. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mackie, 79 N.C. App. 19, 338 S.E.2d 888 (1986), modified and aff'd, 318 N.C. 686, 351 S.E.2d 289 (1987).

Article 7.

Rates of Public Utilities.

§ 62-130. Commission to make rates for public utilities.

(a) The Commission shall make, fix, establish or allow just and reasonable rates for all public utilities subject to its jurisdiction. A rate is made, fixed, established or allowed when it becomes effective pursuant to the provisions of this Chapter.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1985, c. 676, s. 15.

(c) The Commission may make, require or approve, after public hearing, for intrastate shipments what are known as milling-in-transit, processing-in-transit, or warehousing-in-transit rates on grain, lumber to be dressed, cotton, peanuts, tobacco, or such other commodities as the Commission may designate.

(d) The Commission shall from time to time as often as circumstances may require, change and revise or cause to be changed or revised any rates fixed by the Commission, or allowed to be charged by any public utility.

(e) In all cases where the Commission requires or orders a public utility to refund moneys to its customers which were advanced by or overcollected from its customers, the Commission shall require or order the utility to add to said refund an amount of interest at such rate as the Commission may determine to be just and reasonable; provided, however, that such rate of interest applicable to said refund shall not exceed ten percent (10%) per annum. (1899, c. 164, ss. 2, 7, 14; 1903, c. 683; Rev., ss. 1096, 1099, 1106; 1907, c. 469, s. 4; Ex. Sess. 1908, c. 144, s. 1; 1913, c. 127, s. 2; 1917, c. 194; C.S., ss. 1066, 1071, 3489; Ex. CASE NOTES

Purpose of Regulation. — With public utilities the State has undertaken to protect the public from the customary consequences of monopoly, by making the rates and services of the certificate holder subject to regulation and control by the Utilities Commission. In re Certificate of Need for Aston Park Hosp., 282 N.C. 542, 193 S.E.2d 729 (1973).

An uncontrolled legal monopoly in an essential service leads, normally and naturally, to poor service and exorbitant charges. To prevent such result, the legislature has conferred upon the Utilities Commission the power to police the operations of the utility company, so as to require it to render service of good quality at charges which are reasonable. State ex rel.

Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Article Not in Conflict with Chapter 75. — The provisions of this Article as to rate regulation are not in conflict with Chapter 75, Monopolies and Trusts. Bennett v. Southern Ry., 211 N.C. 474, 191 S.E. 240 (1937).

The rates of public utilities under the jurisdiction of the Utilities Commission are not subject to attack on the basis that they violate the antitrust laws. Challenges to rates are limited by the legal theories provided by the Public Utilities Act. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 313 N.C. 215, 328 S.E.2d 264 (1985).

Rate Making Within Police Power of State. — The authority conferred upon the Commission to establish reasonable and just rates for charges by a public service corporation for furnishing electrical power to its customers comes within the police powers of the State, and contracts previously made are subordinate to the public interest that such rates be reasonable and just, and afford the corporation supplying the service a safe return upon its investments, having proper regard to the public interest that plants of this character should be properly run and maintained. State ex rel. Corp. Comm'n v. Cannon Mfg. Co., 185 N.C. 17, 116 S.E. 178 (1923).

The Commission is given general supervision over railways, street railways, and like companies of the State, and is empowered to fix such notes, charges and tariffs as may be reasonable and just, having in view the value of the property, the cost of improvements and maintenance, the probable earning capacity under the proposed rates, the sums required to meet operating expenses, and other specific matters pertinent to such an inquiry; these are police powers, delegated to the Commission, and governmental so far as they extend. Southern Pub. Utils. Co. v. City of Charlotte, 179 N.C. 151, 101 S.E. 619 (1919).

Power to Establish Rates Delegated to Commission. — The General Assembly has delegated to the Commission, and not to the courts, the duty and power to establish rates for public utilities. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Westco Tel. Co., 266 N.C. 450, 146 S.E.2d 487 (1966).

This section, in general terms, directs the Commission to establish just and reasonable rates for all utilities. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Clayton, 266 N.C. 687, 147 S.E.2d 195 (1966).

The Commission is given broad and general powers to make rates for freight and passenger service. Tilley v. Norfolk & W. Ry., 162 N.C. 37, 77 S.E. 994 (1913).

But authority of the Utilities Commission to set different rates is not unbridled. There must be substantial differences in service or conditions to justify difference in rates. There must be no unreasonable discrimination between those receiving the same kind and degree of service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

Duty to Fix Just and Reasonable Rates. — When the Commission is called upon by either a corporation or those to whom the services are rendered under its franchise to exercise its rate fixing power and authority, it is its duty to fix and establish just and reasonable rates to be charged for such services. Corporation Comm'n v. Henderson Water Co., 190 N.C. 70, 128 S.E. 465 (1925).

Classification Must Not Be Arbitrary. — The mere fact of classification in rate regulating is not sufficient to relieve a statute from the reach of the equality clause of the Fourteenth Amendment, and in all cases it must appear, not merely that a classification has been made, but also that it is based upon some reasonable ground, something which bears a just and proper relation to the attempted classification and is not a mere arbitrary selection. Gulf, C. & S.F. Ry. v. Ellis, 165 U.S. 150, 17 S. Ct. 255, 41 L. Ed. 666 (1897); Efland v. Southern Ry., 146 N.C. 135, 59 S.E. 355 (1907).

Unreasonable Application of Same Rates May be Discriminatory. — Where substantial differences in services or conditions exist, unreasonable application of the same rates may be discriminatory and thus improper. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

The burden of showing the impropriety of rates established by the Commission lies with the party alleging such discrimination. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

Rates Set by Commission Supersede Contrary Private Contract Provisions. — Rates for public utility service fixed by an order of the Commission, otherwise lawful, supersede contrary provisions in private contracts concerning rates for such service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

The rates of transportation allowed carriers of freight are established by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the State Corporation Commission (now the Utilities Commission), and may not be affected by any agreement to the contrary between the carriers or their agents or employees and the shipper; notwithstanding any such agreement, the carrier may demand and enforce the rates established by law. Southern Ry. v. Latham, 176 N.C. 417, 97 S.E. 234 (1918).

A public service railway corporation operating in various localities may not by contract fix its passenger fares and thus prevent the Commission, under the authority conferred by statute, from determining what rates are, under the circumstances, just and reasonable, for such would authorize such companies to discriminate, unlawfully, among its patrons. Southern Pub. Utils. Co. v. City of Charlotte, 179 N.C. 151, 101 S.E. 619 (1919); City of Winston-Salem v. Winston-Salem City Coach Lines, 245 N.C. 179, 95 S.E.2d 510 (1956).

And Enforcement of Such Rates Does Not Impair Obligations of Contract. — The enforcement of an order of the Commission superseding rates set by contract does not constitute an impairment of the obligation of such contract, since contracts of public utilities, fixing rates for service, are subject to the police power of the State. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

The consumer has no vested right in existing rates and the Commission may change the rates as circumstances dictate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

The Commission has plenary authority to modify an application by a utility when its modification is based on competent evidence, findings and conclusions showing it to be just and reasonable. The Commission is not limited by the utility's application in the entry of its final order based on evidence adduced at the hearings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 361, 230 S.E.2d 671 (1976).

And to Correct Rate Schedules. — In the unlikely event that other costs of the utility should decline, the Commission, either on its own motion or that of another interested party, has plenary authority to intervene and make corrections in the utility's rate schedules including, if circumstances should require it, the abrogation of the fuel clause. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

North Carolina rates may not be structured by external system usage. Such action is outside the intended scope of the Commission's authority under § 62-2. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

Rates Must Be Fixed Prospectively. — The Utilities Commission exceeded its statutory authority in requiring a manufacturer to pay a surcharge for emergency natural gas used by the manufacturer prior to the date that the tariff including the surcharge became effective, even though the supplier did not bill the manufacturer for such gas until after the tariff became effective. A rate is fixed or allowed when it becomes effective pursuant to subsection (a) of this section, and rates must be fixed prospectively from their effective date. Section 62-136(a) provides that the Commission shall determine rates to be thereafter observed and in force. The Commission may not fix rates retroactively so as to make them collectible for past services. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Farmers Chem. Ass'n, 42 N.C. App. 606, 257 S.E.2d 439 (1979), cert. denied, 299 N.C. 124, 261 S.E.2d 926 (1980).

"Tariff" and "Rates" Synonymous. — The word "tariff," used in connection with the rates of a common carrier, did not have any special legal significance that would differentiate it in effect from the word "rates," used in former § 62-148 in connection with a contract carrier. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Fleming, 235 N.C. 660, 71 S.E.2d 41 (1952).

An annual "true up" of the curtailment tracking rate of a natural gas company was not a change in the general fixed rate, since the curtailment tracking rate merely creates an estimated rate based on projected gas availability. Therefore, the "true up" of the CTR is a correction of an estimated rate, and does not constitute retroactive general rate making. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. CF Indus., Inc., 299 N.C. 504, 263 S.E.2d 559 (1980).

Fuel adjustment clause formula used by power company qualified as a valid part of a rate or rate schedule within the meaning of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 26 N.C. App. 662, 217 S.E.2d 201 (1975), aff'd, 291 N.C. 361, 230 S.E.2d 671 (1976).

Testing Reasonableness of Affiliated Company Expenses. — The Commission has the authority and the right at all times to test the reasonableness of expenses paid to affiliated companies (or allocated by them) and to cause the petitioning utility to offer affirmative evidence of their reasonableness or risk their disapproval. The Commission has the obligation to test the reasonableness of such expenses whenever they are properly challenged. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

The Commission must always determine that expenses paid to affiliated companies are reasonable, and the burden of persuasion on that issue always rests with the utility. The Commission, of course, has the right to test the reasonableness of such expenses. If there is an absence of data and information from which either the propriety of incurring the expense or the reasonableness of the cost can readily be determined, the Commission may require the utility to prove their propriety and reasonableness by affirmative evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Although it always has the authority to do so, in the absence of contradiction or challenge by affirmative evidence offered by any party to the proceeding, the Commission has no affirmative duty to make further inquiry or investigation into the reasonableness of charges or fees paid to affiliated companies. While affiliation calls for close scrutiny, affiliation alone does not impose an additional burden of proof or require the presentation of additional evidence of reasonableness. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 707 (1982).

Reasonableness of affiliated company expenses may be tested on the basis of (1) the cost of the same services on the open market, (2) the cost similar utilities pay to their service companies, or (3) the reasonableness of the expenses incurred by the affiliated company in generating the service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Rates of Return Reasonable and Did Not Discriminate. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission's order contained findings sufficient to justify its conclusion that the approved rates of return were just and reasonable and did not unreasonably discriminate among the various classes of North Carolina Natural Gas Corporation customers and were supported by substantial evidence in view of the whole record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Formula Not Unreasonably Discriminatory. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission's order contained findings sufficient to justify its conclusion that the Industrial Sales Tracker Formula did not unreasonably discriminate between North Carolina Natural Gas Corporation's customer classes and these findings were supported by substantial evidence in light of the whole record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Evidence Not Sufficient for Proceeding. — The Utilities Commission's failure to initiate a ratemaking or complaint proceeding concerning a utility's rate of return was not arbitrary and capricious where the Commission found that the rate exceeded that authorized in only three of the preceding 32 quarters. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Indus. Group For Fair Util. Rates, 130 N.C. App. 636, 503 S.E.2d 697 (1998), cert. denied, 349 N.C. 377 (1998).

Legitimate Justification to Maintain Industrial and City Rates of Returns. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission drew legitimate distinctions which justified its decision to maintain industrial and city rates of return at a higher level than residential and commercial and small industrial rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Power to Ascertain Corporation in Control. — The Commission has the incidental power (subject to the right of appeal) to ascertain what particular corporation is in the control of or operates any telegraph line in this State, in order that it may exercise its authority to fix rates, as well as to know against whom to proceed for a violation of its regulations. State ex rel. R.R. Comm'rs v. Western Union Tel. Co., 113 N.C. 213, 18 S.E. 389 (1893), appeal dismissed, 17 S. Ct. 1002, 41 L. Ed. 1187 (1897).

Fees and Charges Made by Municipality for Sewerage Connections. — The Utilities Commission has no jurisdiction to fix or supervise the fees and charges to be made by a municipality for connections with a city sewerage system, either within or without its corporate limits. Atlantic Constr. Co. v. City of Raleigh, 230 N.C. 365, 53 S.E.2d 165 (1949).

The Commission has authority to fix city bus fares. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Greensboro, 244 N.C. 247, 93 S.E.2d 151 (1956). See § 62-260.

An intracity carrier, holding a certificate of exemption issued by the Commission and a franchise from the city or town in which it operates, is exempt from control of the Commission except as to rates and controversies with respect to extensions and services. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. McKinnon, 254 N.C. 1, 118 S.E.2d 134 (1961).

When Fares of Street Railway May Be Raised. — A public service street railway company, operating under a city charter and under a contract with the city restricting the passenger fare authorized to be charged its patrons, may be authorized by the Commission to raise charges to its passengers when, in the opinion of the Commission, such is necessary for it to properly maintain its system, allowing a reasonable profit, to meet the requirements of the public for adequate, safe, and convenient service. Southern Pub. Utils. Co. v. City of Charlotte, 179 N.C. 151, 101 S.E. 619 (1919).

Joint Rate Between Lumber Railroad and Connecting Carrier. — When a lumber railroad is of standard gauge and of sufficient equipment and extensiveness to affect the interest of the public, the Commission may make a valid order establishing a joint rate of transportation in the same cars between it and a connecting common carrier by rail to points beyond the initial road. Corporation Comm'n ex rel. Raleigh Granite Co. v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 187 N.C. 424, 121 S.E. 767 (1924).

Electric Power Rates Coextensive with State's Jurisdiction. — When the Commission has finally established, under the provisions of the statute, rates to be charged by a public service corporation for furnishing electrical power, the rates are coextensive with the State's jurisdiction and territory, and conclusively bind all corporations, companies, or persons who are parties to the suit and have been afforded an opportunity to be heard. State ex rel. Corp. Comm'n v. Cannon Mfg. Co., 185 N.C. 17, 116 S.E. 178 (1923).

Sale of Electricity Generated in Another State. — While the generation of electricity in another state, when transported to purchasers in this State, may be regarded as interstate commerce, its distribution and sale here is local to the State, permitting the Commission to establish a just and reasonable rate of charge in conformity with the statutory powers, there being no interfering act of Congress relating to the subject. State ex rel. Corp. Comm'n v. Cannon Mfg. Co., 185 N.C. 17, 116 S.E. 178 (1923).

Telephone Company Must Not Discriminate. — A telephone company is subject to public regulation and reasonable control, and is required to afford its service at uniform and reasonable rates and without discrimination among its subscribers and patrons for like service under the same or substantially similar conditions. Clinton-Dunn Tel. Co. v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 159 N.C. 9, 74 S.E. 636 (1912). See also Godwin v. Telephone Co., 136 N.C. 258, 48 S.E. 636 (1904); Walls v. Strickland, 174 N.C. 298, 93 S.E. 857 (1917).

Telegram Transmitted over Lines of Another Company. — Where a telegraph company had a continuous line between two points in this State, the fact that, in transmitting a message, it sent the message over the lines of another company, did not excuse its violation of the rate prescribed by the Railroad Commission (now Utilities Commission). Leavell v. Western Union Tel. Co., 116 N.C. 211, 21 S.E. 391 (1895), appeal dismissed, 17 S. Ct. 1002, 41 L. Ed. 1187 (1897).

Telegraphic Messages Traversing Another State. — Telegraphic messages transmitted by a company from and to points in this State, although traversing another state in the route, are subject to the tariff regulations of the Railroad Commission (now Utilities Commission). State ex rel. R.R. Comm'rs v. Western Union Tel. Co., 113 N.C. 213, 18 S.E. 389 (1893), appeal dismissed, 17 S. Ct. 1002, 41 L. Ed. 1187 (1897).

When the Utilities Commission found that natural gas corporation had received payments in lieu of what it would have received under a service contract and that the customers of the company were bearing the company's contract costs, it was within the power of the Commission under § 62-32(b) and subsections (a) and (d) of this section to take these payments into account in setting a reasonable rate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Natural Gas Corp., 76 N.C. App. 330, 332 S.E.2d 755, cert. denied, 314 N.C. 675, 336 S.E.2d 405 (1985).

Authority to Allow Use of Availability Charge in Rate Schedule for Recreational Subdivision. — The Utilities Commission has jurisdiction and authority to allow the use of an availability charge in a rate schedule for a recreational subdivision, should any be deserved. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Forest Utils., Inc., 21 N.C. App. 146, 203 S.E.2d 410 (1974).

Landowners in a recreational subdivision who pay availability charges are "consumers" or stand in a consumer-like relationship to the utility providing water service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Forest Utils., Inc., 21 N.C. App. 146, 203 S.E.2d 410 (1974).

Mandamus to Remedy Discrimination. — Where a public service corporation has discriminated among its patrons in its charges for electricity, mandamus will lie to compel it to charge a uniform or undiscriminating rate, for the question does not require the courts to fix a rate or pass upon its reasonableness. North Carolina Pub. Serv. Co. v. Southern Power Co., 179 N.C. 18, 101 S.E. 593 (1919), rehearing dismissed, 179 N.C. 330, 102 S.E. 625 (1920).

§ 62-131. Rates must be just and reasonable; service efficient.

(a) Every rate made, demanded or received by any public utility, or by any two or more public utilities jointly, shall be just and reasonable.

(b) Every public utility shall furnish adequate, efficient and reasonable service. (1933, c. 307, ss. 2, 3; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Purpose of Chapter. — The clear purpose of this Chapter is to confer upon the Utilities Commission the power and the duty to compel a public utility company to render adequate service and to fix therefor reasonable rates pursuant to the procedure prescribed in § 62-133. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), aff'd on rehearing, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

The word "rate" used in the Public Utilities Act refers not only to the monetary amount which each customer must ultimately pay, but also to the published method or schedule by which that amount is figured. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

The term "public utility" in subsection (b) includes a railroad corporation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 268 N.C. 242, 150 S.E.2d 386 (1966).

Duty and Authority of Commission. — The statutes confer upon the Commission, not upon the Supreme Court, the duty and authority to determine adequacy of service and reasonable rates therefor. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), aff'd or rehearing, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

There is nothing in the applicable provisions of the Public Utilities Act which prohibits the use of a fossil fuel adjustment clause in the context of the factual circumstances which the utility and the Commission face in a given case. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

Investor Risk and Rate of Return — Factors for Consideration. — The law permits the Commission to consider both size and management in assessing investor risk insofar as such risk may bear on an appropriate return on equity capital; a utility's small size may increase investor risk and justify a higher return. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 323 N.C. 481, 374 S.E.2d 361 (1988).

While efficient management should not justify a higher common equity rate of return, it is appropriate for the Commission to consider good management as a factor which reduces investor risk and militates in favor of a lower return on equity capital. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 323 N.C. 481, 374 S.E.2d 361 (1988).

Formula Did Not Unreasonably Discriminate. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission's order contained findings sufficient to justify its conclusion that the Industrial Sales Tracker Formula did not unreasonably discriminate between North Carolina Natural Gas Corporation's customer classes and these findings were supported by substantial evidence in light of the whole record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Rates of Return Reasonable and Not Discriminatory. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission's order contained findings sufficient to justify its conclusion that the approved rates of return were just and reasonable and did not unreasonably discriminate among the various classes of North Carolina Natural Gas Corporation customers and were supported by substantial evidence in view of the whole record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Legitimate Justification for Industrial and City Rates of Return. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission drew legitimate distinctions which justified its decision to maintain industrial and city rates of return at a higher level than residential and commercial and small industrial rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Testing Reasonableness of Affiliated Company Expenses. — The Commission has the authority and the right at all times to test the reasonableness of expenses paid to affiliated companies (or allocated by them) and to cause the petitioning utility to offer affirmative evidence of their reasonableness or risk their disapproval. The Commission has the obligation to test the reasonablensss of such expenses whenever they are properly challenged. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

The Commission must always determine that expenses paid to affiliated companies are reasonable and the burden of persuasion on that issue always rests with the utility. The Commission, of course, has the right to test the reasonableness of such expenses. If there is an absence of data and information from which either the propriety of incurring the expense or the reasonableness of the cost can readily be determined, the Commission may require the utility to prove their propriety and reasonableness by affirmative evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Although it always has the authority to do so, in the absence of contradiction or challenge by affirmative evidence offered by any party to the proceeding, the Commission has no affirmative duty to make further inquiry or investigation into the reasonableness of charges or fees paid to affiliated companies. While affiliation calls for close scrutiny, affiliation alone does not impose an additional burden of proof or require the presentation of additional evidence of reasonableness. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Reasonableness of affiliated company expenses may be tested on the basis of (1) the cost of the same services on the open market, (2) the cost similar utilities pay to their service companies, or (3) the reasonableness of the expenses incurred by the affiliated company in generating the service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Duty of Utility to Render Adequate Service. — Having been granted a monopoly in its franchise area, the utility is under a duty to render reasonably adequate service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), aff'd on rehearing, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Utility Must Accept Responsibility. — A public utility, which has been allowed to charge rates sufficient to enable it to maintain its properties, in addition to the earning of a fair return thereon, and which nevertheless permits its properties to fall into such a poor state of maintenance as to impair the quality of its service, must accept the responsibility for its resulting inability to render adequate service to its patrons. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), aff'd on rehearing, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Quality of Service to be Considered in Fixing Rates. — It was not the intent of the legislature to require the Commission to fix rates without any regard to the quality of the service rendered by the utility and thus to assure a "complacent monopoly" a fair return upon the fair value of its properties while it persists in rendering mediocre service and turns a deaf ear both to customer complaints and to Commission orders for improvement. On the contrary, the quality of the service rendered is, necessarily, a factor to be considered in fixing the "just and reasonable" rate therefor. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

Increase May Be Granted Notwithstanding Service Inadequacy. — It is not unlawful for the Commission, in the exercise of its discretion, to grant an increase in rates, notwithstanding existing service inadequacy, as an appropriate step in the improvement of the service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff, 317 N.C. 26, 343 S.E.2d 898 (1986).

Findings Showing Effect of Inadequacy of Service on Decision Fixing Rates. — If the Commission found the quality of a utility's service to fall short of the requirement in this section that it be adequate, efficient and reasonable, then the Commission should make specific findings showing the effect of any such inadequacy upon its decision under § 62-133 fixing rates which are fair both to the public utility and to the consumer. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Deduction of Profit from Rate Increase Upheld. — Based on the evidence of utility's inadequate service record, the Commission's determination to penalize it by deleting its profit from rate increase was clearly proper. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff, 317 N.C. 26, 343 S.E.2d 898 (1986).

§ 62-132. Rates established under this Chapter deemed just and reasonable; remedy for collection of unjust or unreasonable rates.

The rates established under this Chapter by the Commission shall be deemed just and reasonable, and any rate charged by any public utility different from those so established shall be deemed unjust and unreasonable. Provided, however, that upon petition filed by any interested person, and a hearing thereon, if the Commission shall find the rates or charges collected to be other than the rates established by the Commission, and to be unjust, unreasonable, discriminatory or preferential, the Commission may enter an order awarding such petitioner and all other persons in the same class a sum equal to the difference between such unjust, unreasonable, discriminatory or preferential rates or charges and the rates or charges found by the Commission to be just and reasonable, nondiscriminatory and nonpreferential, to the extent that such rates or charges were collected within two years prior to the filing of such petition. (1913, c. 127, s. 3; C.S., s. 1067; 1929, cc. 241, 342; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

There is in this Article a clear statutory dichotomy between rates which are made, fixed or established by the Commission on the one hand and those which are simply permitted or allowed to go into effect at the instance of the utility on the other. Rates which are established by the Commission, that is after a full hearing, findings, conclusion and a formal order, "shall be deemed just and reasonable, and any rate charged by any public utility different from those so established shall be deemed unjust and unreasonable." Rates which the Commission simply allows to go into effect by any of the methods described in §§ 62-134 and 62-135 are subject to being challenged by interested parties or the Commission itself and after a "hearing thereon, if the Commission shall find the rates or charges collected to be other than the rates established by the Commission, and to be unjust, unreasonable, discriminatory or preferential, the Commission may" order refund pursuant to the provisions of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

Rates Fixed by Commission Are Prima Facie Valid, Just and Reasonable. — The rates fixed by the Commission are not only prima facie evidence of their validity, but also prima facie evidence that they are just and reasonable. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Municipal Corps., 243 N.C. 193, 90 S.E.2d 519 (1955).

Until Modified on Appeal or by Commission. — Rates or charges fixed by an order of the Commission are to be considered just and reasonable unless and until they shall be changed or modified on appeal or by the further action of the Commission itself. In re Southern Pub. Utils. Co., 179 N.C. 151, 101 S.E. 619 (1919). See also State ex rel. N.C. Corp. Comm'n v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 173 N.C. 413, 92 S.E. 150 (1917).

Rates Other Than Those Fixed Deemed Unjust. — The rates approved by the Commission shall be deemed to be just and reasonable, and any different rate shall be deemed unjust and unreasonable. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Norfolk S. Ry., 249 N.C. 477, 106 S.E.2d 681 (1959).

The Commission is authorized by statute to fix just and reasonable rates or charges, and when they are so fixed, other or lower rates are to be deemed as unjust and unreasonable. State ex rel. Corp. Comm'n v. Cannon Mfg. Co., 185 N.C. 17, 116 S.E. 178 (1923).

"Established" rates, unlike "permitted" or "allowed" rates, are determined by the Commission after a full hearing, findings, conclusions and a formal order. Blue Ridge Textile Printers, Inc. v. Public Serv. Co., 99 N.C. App. 193, 392 S.E.2d 401 (1990).

One claiming that rates or charges established by the Commission are unreasonable or excessive has the burden of proving his contention. Corporation Comm'n v. Henderson Water Co., 190 N.C. 70, 128 S.E. 465 (1925); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 250 N.C. 421, 109 S.E.2d 253 (1959).

The burden of showing the impropriety of rates established by the Commission lies with the party alleging such error. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 59 N.C. App. 240, 296 S.E.2d 487 (1982), rev'd on other grounds, 309 N.C. 238, 306 S.E.2d 113 (1983).

Appropriate Claims for Relief May Exist Under §§ 62-139 and 62-140. — An appropriate claim for relief where the disputed rates are "established" by the Commission may exist under § 62-140 which prohibits unreasonable discrimination by public utilities, or under § 62-139 which prohibits a utility from receiving more compensation for services than the amount prescribed by the Commission. Blue Ridge Textile Printers, Inc. v. Public Serv. Co., 99 N.C. App. 193, 392 S.E.2d 401 (1990).

A refund pursuant to this section may be ordered even absent a utility's agreement to provide one. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Attorney General Not Prejudiced Where Refund Could Be Sought. — The Attorney General was not prejudiced by the action of the Commission in allowing an exploration tracking rate increase to go into effect without a hearing since a refund could be sought under this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Notice of Possible Liability for Refund. — Where a corporation was held to be a public utility and made a party to a general rate case this was adequate notice that it might be held liable for a refund. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n

v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 65 N.C. App. 198, 309 S.E.2d 473 (1983), aff'd, 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397 (1985), rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

Where Utilities Commission after due notice and hearing established, rates for intrastate shipments of pulpwood which it found to be just and reasonable, and thereafter upon petition of defendant and other carriers for reconsideration, the rate so established was ordered "to remain in full force and effect," these rates so established would be deemed the only just and reasonable rates for this commodity over defendant's lines, rendering it unlawful for defendant to charge a greater amount. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 224 N.C. 283, 29 S.E.2d 912 (1944).

In a proceeding to recover excessive freight charges collected because of an error in the tariff distance table filed with the Utilities Commission, the charges being in conformity with the tariff schedule for a greater distance than the correct distance between the termini, evidence offered by the carriers as to whether the higher rate was fair and reasonable for the shorter distance was properly excluded, since the carriers should not be permitted to change the rate by reason of a mistake in their tariff distance table, and petitioners were entitled to recover that part of the excess charged which was not barred by the limitation contained in the statute. § 62-133. How rates fixed.

(a) In fixing the rates for any public utility subject to the provisions of this Chapter, other than bus companies, motor carriers and certain water and sewer utilities, the Commission shall fix such rates as shall be fair both to the public utilities and to the consumer.

(b) In fixing such rates, the Commission shall:

(1) Ascertain the reasonable original cost of the public utility's property used and useful, or to be used and useful within a reasonable time after the test period, in providing the service rendered to the public within the State, less that portion of the cost which has been consumed by previous use recovered by depreciation expense plus the reasonable original cost of investment in plant under construction (construction work in progress). In ascertaining the cost of the public utility's property, construction work in progress as of the effective date of this subsection shall be excluded until such plant comes into service but reasonable and prudent expenditures for construction work in progress after the effective date of this subsection may be included, to the extent the Commission considers such inclusion in the public interest and necessary to the financial stability of the utility in question, subject to the provisions of subparagraph (b)(4a) of this section.

(1a) Apply the rate of return established under subdivision (4) of this subsection to rights-of-way acquired through agreements with the Department of Transportation pursuant to G.S. 136-19.5(a) if acquisition is consistent with a definite plan to provide service within five years of the date of the agreement and if such right-of-way acquisition will result in benefits to the ratepayers. If a right-of-way is not used within a reasonable time after the expiration of the five-year period, it may be removed from the rate base by the Commission when rates for the public utility are next established under this section.

(2) Estimate such public utility's revenue under the present and proposed rates.

(3) Ascertain such public utility's reasonable operating expenses, including actual investment currently consumed through reasonable actual depreciation.

(4) Fix such rate of return on the cost of the property ascertained pursuant to subdivision (1) as will enable the public utility by sound management to produce a fair return for its shareholders, considering changing economic conditions and other factors, as they then exist, to maintain its facilities and services in accordance with the reasonable requirements of its customers in the territory covered by its franchise, and to compete in the market for capital funds on terms which are reasonable and which are fair to its customers and to its existing investors.

(4a) Require each public utility to discontinue capitalization of the composite carrying cost of capital funds used to finance construction (allowance for funds) on the construction work in progress included in its rate based upon the effective date of the first and each subsequent general rate order issued with respect to it after the effective date of this subsection; allowance for funds may be capitalized with respect to expenditures for construction work in progress not included in the utility's property upon which the rates were fixed. In determining net operating income for return, the Commission shall not include any capitalized allowance for funds used during construction on the construction work in progress included in the utility's rate base.

(5) Fix such rates to be charged by the public utility as will earn in addition to reasonable operating expenses ascertained pursuant to subdivision (3) of this subsection the rate of return fixed pursuant to subdivisions (4) and (4a) on the cost of the public utility's property ascertained pursuant to subdivisions (1) and (1a) of this subsection.

(c) The original cost of the public utility's property, including its construction work in progress, shall be determined as of the end of the test period used in the hearing and the probable future revenues and expenses shall be based on the plant and equipment in operation at that time. The test period shall consist of 12 months' historical operating experience prior to the date the rates are proposed to become effective, but the Commission shall consider such relevant, material and competent evidence as may be offered by any party to the proceeding tending to show actual changes in costs, revenues or the cost of the public utility's property used and useful, or to be used and useful within a reasonable time after the test period, in providing the service rendered to the public within this State, including its construction work in progress, which is based upon circumstances and events occurring up to the time the hearing is closed.

(d) The Commission shall consider all other material facts of record that will enable it to determine what are reasonable and just rates.

(e) The fixing of a rate of return shall not bar the fixing of a different rate of return in a subsequent proceeding.

(f) Repealed by Session Laws 1991, c. 598, s. 7.

I. IN GENERAL.

Constitutionality. — The power to grant franchises to public service corporations and to fix their rates rests in the General Assembly, which power the General Assembly may delegate to an administrative agency, provided the General Assembly prescribes rules and standards to guide such agency in the exercise of the delegated authority. The statute delegating to the Utilities Commission this authority is constitutional in fixing adequate rules and standards. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

Stimulation of the economy is an essential public and governmental purpose and the manner in which this purpose is to be accomplished is, within constitutional limits, exclusively a legislative decision. The authority to set rates to be charged by a public utility for its services rests in the legislature and is delegated by it to the Utilities Commission under sufficient rules and standards to guide the Commission in exercising this power. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 59 N.C. App. 240, 296 S.E.2d 487 (1982), rev'd on other grounds, 309 N.C. 238, 306 S.E.2d 113 (1983).

Commerce Clause Not Violated. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission is authorized by Congress to act with regard to arrangements between cogenerators and power company, so that the commission's disallowance of the amount by which contracts exceeded the company's avoided costs was consistent with federal laws and regulations and constituted lawful retail ratemaking. The commission's actions did not violate the Commerce Clause. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Power Comm'n, 338 N.C. 412, 450 S.E.2d 896 (1994), reh'g denied, 339 N.C. 743, 454 S.E.2d 269 (1995), cert. denied, 516 U.S. 1092, 116 S. Ct. 813, 133 L. Ed. 2d 758 (1996).

Requirement That Utility Prefile Testimony Prior to That of Intervenors Is Constitutional. — A utility's due process rights were not violated by requiring it to prefile its testimony prior to the prefiling of the intervenors' testimony and requiring it to file its brief concurrently with the intervenors, where it should have been forewarned of what the intervenors intended to show. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 65 N.C. App. 198, 309 S.E.2d 473 (1983), aff'd, 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397 (1985), rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

This section merely codified the former statute as interpreted by Supreme Court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lee Tel. Co., 263 N.C. 702, 140 S.E.2d 319 (1965).

Purpose of Chapter. — The clear purpose of this Chapter is to confer upon the Utilities Commission the power and duty to compel a public utility company to render adequate service and to fix therefor reasonable rates pursuant to the procedure prescribed in this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 314 N.C. 509, 334 S.E.2d 772 (1985).

The primary purpose of this Chapter is not to guarantee to the stockholders of a public utility constant growth in the value of and in the dividend yield from their investment, but is to assure the public of adequate service at a reasonable charge. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

The provisions of this Chapter designed to assure the utility of adequate revenues are in the nature of corollaries to the basic proposition that the public is entitled to adequate service at reasonable rates and safeguards against administrative action which would violate constitutional protections by confiscation of the utility's property. Without such assurance, the owners of capital would not invest in the utility's bonds or stock and the utility could not provide the plant necessary for the rendering of adequate service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

By adopting this section, the legislature intended to establish an overall scheme for fixing rates, and this section must be interpreted in its entirety in order to comply with the legislative intent. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982).

Purpose of Former Subsection (f). — The purpose of former subsection (f) of this section was to allow the retailer to automatically pass on to the consumer changes in the wholesale cost of natural gas, over which neither the retailer nor the Utilities Commission had control, whenever the natural gas suppliers' price was revised upward or downward, thus avoiding costly and protracted rate proceedings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. CF Indus., Inc., 39 N.C. App. 477, 250 S.E.2d 716, cert. denied, 297 N.C. 180, 254 S.E.2d 39 (1979).

Former subsection (f) was a mechanism whereby a natural gas utility could pass on to its customers supplier increases or decreases without going through the costly and protracted procedures of a general rate case. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 307 N.C. 474, 299 S.E.2d 425 (1983).

Former subsection (f) dealt only with rate changes while § 62-136(c) specifically sets forth the criteria pursuant to which refunds should be distributed. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 307 N.C. 474, 299 S.E.2d 425 (1983).

Section 62-136(c) more specifically applies to supplier refunds received by natural gas distributing utilities than did former subsection (f) and is the proper statute to be applied in determining the appropriate distribution of these supplier refunds. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 307 N.C. 474, 299 S.E.2d 425 (1983).

Proceeding Is General Rate Case Where Question Is Fair Return on Investment. — The Commission was correct in conducting the proceeding as a general rate case, where the primary question was what is a fair rate of return on the utility's investment so as to enable it by sound management to pay a fair profit to its stockholders and to maintain and expand its facilities and services in accordance with the reasonable requirement of its creditors. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 65 N.C. App. 198, 309 S.E.2d 473 (1983), aff'd, 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397 (1985), rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

Subdivision (b)(3) shall be read in conjunction with subsection (c) of this section, as must subdivision (b)(1). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982).

It is a well-established rule that it is for the administrative body, in an adjudicatory proceeding, to determine the weight and sufficiency of the evidence and the credibility of the witnesses, to draw inferences from the facts, and to appraise conflicting and circumstantial evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 314 N.C. 509, 334 S.E.2d 772 (1985).

Sales Agreements Held Reasonable As Means of Financing Nuclear Station. — The Commission properly found that nuclear power plant sales agreements, as a whole, were reasonably and prudently entered into by power company as means of financing completion of the nuclear station. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

Access Charge Tariff. — Considering the evidence supporting the view that access charge tariff was calculated to reimburse local exchange companies (LECs) for having to provide additional connection facilities to local networks, payments could not be viewed as mere increased revenues for the LECs, but to provide funds to set off those expenditures that the LECs were required to make to provide additional facilities to handle additional carrier access. The imposition of the access charge tariff was within the authority granted to the Commission by the 1984 amendments to § 62-110. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 88 N.C. App. 153, 363 S.E.2d 73 (1987).

An order which indicates that the Utilities Commission accorded only minimal consideration to competent evidence constitutes error at law and is correctable on appeal. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 314 N.C. 509, 334 S.E.2d 772 (1985).

II. POWERS AND DUTIES OF UTILITIES COMMISSION, GENERALLY.

Commission Exercises Function of Legislative Branch of Government. — In fixing rates to be charged by a public utility, the Commission is exercising a function of the legislative branch of the government. It may not, therefore, exceed the limitations imposed upon the legislature by the State and federal Constitutions. The Commission, however, does not have the full power of the legislature, but only that portion conferred upon it in this Chapter. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

And Must Comply with Requirements of This Chapter. — In fixing the rates to be charged by a public utility for its service, the Commission must comply with the requirements of this Chapter. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

The Utilities Commission acted in excess of its statutory authority when it permitted the North Carolina Natural Gas Corporation to pass on additional costs resulting solely from an increase in storage capacity without complying with the statutory procedures required for a general rate case. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. CF Indus., Inc., 39 N.C. App. 477, 250 S.E.2d 716, cert. denied, 297 N.C. 180, 254 S.E.2d 39 (1979).

This section is a part of the rate-making power of the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Consumers Council, Inc., 18 N.C. App. 717, 198 S.E.2d 98, cert. denied, 284 N.C. 124, 199 S.E.2d 663 (1973).

And Controls Commission in Establishing Rates. — In establishing rates, the Commission is governed and controlled by the provisions of this section. Southern Ry. v. McNeill, 155 F. 756 (E.D.N.C. 1907).

The legislative mandate is that the Commission shall fix rates which will enable a well managed utility to earn a "fair rate of return" on the "fair value" if its properties are "used and useful" in rendering its service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

The responsibility for fixing rates rests with the Utilities Commission and not the Supreme Court. However, there is nothing in the statutes that requires the Commission to accept the rate or rates proposed, or to reject them altogether. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lee Tel. Co., 263 N.C. 702, 140 S.E.2d 319 (1965).

It is the prerogative of the Commission, and not the Court of Appeals, to decide the question as to what constitutes fair and reasonable rates that may be charged by a utility, as the Commission is an agency composed of men of special knowledge, observation, and experience in their field, and has at hand a staff trained for this type of work, and the law imposes upon it, not the Court of Appeals, the duty to fix the rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 7 N.C. App. 576, 173 S.E.2d 479, rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

The statutes confer upon the Commission, not upon the Supreme Court, the duty and authority to determine adequacy of service and reasonable rates therefor. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

It is the Commission's duty to sift through the evidence and draw a conclusion therefrom as to a fair and reasonable rate of return. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mebane Home Tel. Co., 35 N.C. App. 588, 242 S.E.2d 165 (1978), aff'd, 298 N.C. 162, 257 S.E.2d 623 (1979).

Thus, neither the Supreme Court nor the Court of Appeals is authorized to fix rates for a public utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Durham, 282 N.C. 308, 193 S.E.2d 95 (1972).

Court may not substitute its judgment, either with respect to factual disputes or policy disagreements, for that of the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 59 N.C. App. 240, 296 S.E.2d 487 (1982), rev'd on other grounds, 309 N.C. 238, 306 S.E.2d 113 (1983).

Power and Duty to Compel Adequate Service and Fix Rates. — This Chapter confers upon the Utilities Commission the power and duty to compel a public utility to render adequate service, and also confers upon the Commission the duty to fix reasonable rates for the rendering of adequate service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 408, 204 S.E.2d 529, rev'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 299 N.C. 432, 263 S.E.2d 583 (1980).

Commission's Rate Making Powers Not Governed by Principles of Res Judicata. — Since the exercise of the Commission's rate making power is a legislative rather than a judicial function, such orders are not governed by the principles of res judicata, and are reviewable in later appeals of closely related matters. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 325 N.C. 463, 385 S.E.2d 451 (1989).

Attorney General's appeal from Utilities Commission order was not barred by the doctrine of res judicata, where the prior Commission rulings relied on by appellee power company as a bar to appellant's position were all designated by the Commission as "general rate cases" in which appellee sought Commission authority to increase its electric rates and charges, and where in fixing the rates to be charged by the utility, the Commission was exercising a function delegated to it by the legislative branch of the government. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 325 N.C. 463, 385 S.E.2d 451 (1989).

Tax Reform Benefits Passed on to Ratepayers by Rulemaking Rather Than Ratemaking Procedure. — Utilities Commission may pass on to the ratepayers the benefits of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 (TRA-86) through a rulemaking procedure rather than a ratemaking procedure. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 326 N.C. 190, 388 S.E.2d 118 (1990).

Nowhere in subdivision (b)(1) is there a requirement that the Commission make findings as to the cost of each project and when it will be needed. To require such extensive evidence would put an undue burden on the utility and cause the rate-making process to be more time consuming and difficult of administration. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

Subdivision (b)(1) does not require the Commission to make new findings on the need for construction. Before any public utility begins the construction of a facility for generating electricity for use by the public it must first obtain from the Commission a certificate stating that public convenience and necessity requires, or will require such construction. Before such a certificate can be granted the applicant must file an estimate of construction costs and the Commission must hold public hearings. This procedure satisfies the argument that the construction must be necessary. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

Commission to Fix Rates as Low as Constitutionally Possible. — The origin of this section supports the inference that the legislature intended for the Commission to fix rates as low as may be reasonably consistent with the requirements of the due process clause of U.S. Const., Amend. XIV, those of N.C. Const., Art. I, § 19, being the same in this respect. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 299 N.C. 432, 263 S.E.2d 583 (1980); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 314 N.C. 509, 334 S.E.2d 772 (1985).

Specific and unambiguous factual findings by the Commission are necessary to enable a reviewing court to determine whether the duty imposed by § 62-131 has been performed. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Findings as to Original and Replacement Cost Less Depreciation. — Where evidence of original cost, less depreciation, and of replacement cost, less depreciation, is introduced, the Commission must make, and set forth in its order, its findings as to both of these evidential facts, along with any "other facts" considered by it. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972). See also State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 15 N.C. App. 41, 189 S.E.2d 777 (1972).

Exercise of Subjective Judgment by Commission. — Under this section the weight to be given the respective indications of fair value, the determination of the total amount reasonably necessary for working capital and the determination of what constitutes a fair rate of return requires exercise of a subjective judgment by the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 29 N.C. App. 428, 225 S.E.2d 101, aff'd, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

The Commission is not required to accept as conclusive the subjective judgment of a witness, even though the record contains no expression of a contrary opinion by another witness. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 29 N.C. App. 428, 225 S.E.2d 101, aff'd, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

The findings of the Commission, when supported by competent evidence, are conclusive. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 21 N.C. App. 89, 203 S.E.2d 404, rev'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

If there is competent evidence to support the findings and conclusions of the Commission, they will be upheld by the reviewing court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mebane Home Tel. Co., 35 N.C. App. 588, 242 S.E.2d 165 (1978), aff'd, 298 N.C. 162, 257 S.E.2d 623 (1979).

The Commission as factfinder, determines the credibility of the evidence, and its findings of fact which are supported by competent, material and substantial evidence, are conclusive, and the court is bound by them. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 59 N.C. App. 240, 296 S.E.2d 487 (1982), rev'd on other grounds, 309 N.C. 238, 306 S.E.2d 113 (1983); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 314 N.C. 509, 334 S.E.2d 772 (1985).

Determination of Credibility and Weight of Evidence. — As a general rule, it is for the Commission, not the reviewing court, to determine the credibility of and the weight to be given to all competent evidence. The rule is fully applicable when there is conflicting testimony by experts as to which method among those available to experts in their field is best suited for use in resolving a particular question they are asked to address as experts. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 320 N.C. 1, 358 S.E.2d 35 (1987).

And May Not Be Disturbed Merely Because Court Might Have Concluded Differently. — The Commission's findings, supported by substantial evidence, may not properly be set aside by the reviewing court merely because a different conclusion could have been reached upon the evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mebane Home Tel. Co., 35 N.C. App. 588, 242 S.E.2d 165 (1978), aff'd, 298 N.C. 162, 257 S.E.2d 623 (1979); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 314 N.C. 509, 334 S.E.2d 772 (1985).

When the record, considered as a whole, contains substantial evidence supporting the subjective judgment of the Commission on any of these factors in the fixing of reasonable rates, the conclusion reached by the Commission may not be disturbed by a reviewing court merely because the court's subjective judgment is different from that of the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 385 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 29 N.C. App. 428, 225 S.E.2d 101, aff'd, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

The Commission's determination, reached pursuant to the mandate of this section and to the statutory procedural requirements, may not be reversed by the Court of Appeals or by the Supreme Court merely because it would have reached a different conclusion upon the evidence, but it is otherwise if it does not appear from the order of the Commission that the statutory mandates have been obeyed. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Under this section the determination of what constitutes a fair rate of return requires the exercise of a subjective judgment by the Commission and its decision may not be disturbed by a reviewing court merely because the court's subjective judgment is different from that of the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982).

When a telephone company offered substantial evidence to show that there was no significant excess plant margin, this conflict of evidence presented a question of fact upon which the finding of the Commission was conclusive and could not be disturbed by the reviewing court, even though the court might have reached a different conclusion thereon. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

A reviewing court may neither retry such disputed questions of fact nor substitute its judgment for that of the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 320 N.C. 1, 358 S.E.2d 35 (1987).

Commission's Decision Will Be Upheld Unless Assailable Under § 62-94(b). — The decision of the Commission with regard to rates for public utilities will be upheld by the Court of Appeals on appeal unless it is assailable on one of the grounds enumerated in § 62-94(b). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mebane Home Tel. Co., 35 N.C. App. 588, 242 S.E.2d 165 (1978), aff'd, 298 N.C. 162, 257 S.E.2d 623 (1979).

Findings, inferences, conclusions or decisions of the Commission which are arbitrary or capricious and which prejudice substantial rights of appellants are not binding on a reviewing court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 314 N.C. 509, 334 S.E.2d 772 (1985).

When Commission's Orders Affirmed. — The rate order of the Commission will be affirmed if upon consideration of the whole record the court finds that the Commission's decision is not affected by error of law and the facts found by the Commission are supported by competent, material and substantial evidence, taking into account any contradictory evidence or evidence from which conflicting inferences could be drawn. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 59 N.C. App. 240, 296 S.E.2d 487 (1982), rev'd on other grounds, 309 N.C. 238, 306 S.E.2d 113 (1983); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 325 N.C. 463, 385 S.E.2d 451 (1989).

Commission May Determine Nature of Proceeding. — It is within the province of the Commission to determine whether a hearing is a general rate case or a complaint proceeding. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962).

And Such Determination Must Be Made as to Every Hearing. — It is necessary as a matter of procedure that a determination as to whether a hearing is a general rate case or a complaint proceeding be made in every hearing involving the establishment, modification or revocation of rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962).

Determination of Commission as to Nature of Case Not Disturbed Absent Showing of Prejudice. — The findings of the Commission on whether a hearing is a general rate case or a complaint proceeding will not be disturbed in any case in the absence of a clear showing that the right of the parties have been prejudiced. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962).

As to implementation of 30 day notice requirement by rule requiring written notification, see State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 224 N.C. 283, 29 S.E.2d 912 (1944).

Error to Accept Design Criteria of Division of Water Quality. — It was error for the Utilities Commission to arbitrarily or subserviently accept, in place of its own determination upon the evidence before it, design criteria of the Division of Environmental Management [now Division of Water Quality] as the actual plant capacity currently needed for service to existing customers—and the beginning point for determining the appropriate additional "capacity allowance" in the rate base of plant which was not presently in service to the public, but was held for future use. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff — North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 333 N.C. 195, 424 S.E.2d 133 (1993).

III. FIXING OF RATES, GENERALLY.

The word "rate," as used in the Public Utilities Act, refers not only to the monetary amount which each customer must ultimately pay, but also to the published method or schedule by which that amount is figured. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

"General Rate" Case. — Where the whole or a substantial portion of the rate structure of a public utility is being initially established or is under review, and where the required procedure under this section is being carried out, the hearing before the Commission to establish or revise the rates is referred to as a "general rate." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962).

"Complaint Proceeding." — A hearing which involves a single rate or a small part of the rate structure is called a "complaint proceeding." It differs from a general rate case in that it deals with an emergency or change of circumstances which does not affect the entire rate structure and may be resolved without involving the procedure outlined in this section, and does not justify the expense and loss of time involved in such procedure. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962).

The "reasonable operating expenses," specified in subdivisions (b)(3) and (5) of this section, relate and must be directly connected to "the reasonable original cost of the public utility's property used and useful, or to be used and useful within a reasonable time after the test period," as specified in subsection (b)(1). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff — North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 333 N.C. 195, 424 S.E.2d 133 (1993).

Fuel Clause Subject to This Chapter. — It is the fuel clause, a formula for figuring certain monetary additions or subtractions to a customer's bill, not the ultimate amount so figured, which constitutes that part of the util-ity's published schedule subject to the provisions of the Public Utilities Act. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

Section Applicable in Fixing or Revising Rate Schedules and Rate Classifications. — In fixing rate schedules and rate classifications, or in revising said rates and classifications or a substantial part thereof, the procedure indicated by this section must be observed. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962).

Section May Not Apply Where Only One or a Few Rates Are Involved. — This section may not apply where a public utility has many rate schedules applying to many different classes of service customers, and only one rate or a few rates are involved in a petition for amendment, modification or rescission. Ordinarily it is not required that the utility's property be valued and that the provisions of this section be observed in such case. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 250 N.C. 421, 109 S.E.2d 253 (1959); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962).

Section prescribes formula which Commission is required to follow in fixing rates for service to be charged by a public utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Formula Under Section. — The formula of the mandate of this section is: A x B=C (fair rate of return multiplied by the fair value of the properties equals the fair return in dollars). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

Steps Which Commission Must Take Prescribed by Section. — In order to assure the utility of earnings sufficient to attract capital and also in order to limit its charges for service to levels sufficient for that purpose, the legislature has prescribed in this section the steps which the Commission must take in fixing such charges. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Fixing of "reasonable and just" rates involves a balancing of shareholder and consumer interests; the Utilities Commission must therefore set rates which will protect both the right of the public utility to earn a fair rate of return for its shareholders and ensure its financial integrity, while also protecting the right of the utility's intrastate customers to pay a retail rate which reasonably and fairly reflects the cost of service rendered on their behalf. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397, rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

The question of whether rates prescribed under this Chapter are so unreasonable and unjust to the company and its stockholders that they amount to an unconstitutional confiscation of a utility's property necessarily involves an inquiry as to what is reasonable and just for the public. The public cannot properly be subject to unreasonable rates in order simply that stockholders may earn dividends. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397, rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

Burden of Proof. — The burden of showing the impropriety of rates established by the Commission lies with the party alleging such error. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 325 N.C. 463, 385 S.E.2d 451 (1989).

Rates to Be Based on Domestic Business. — The reasonableness of the rates to be fixed by the State must be decided with reference exclusively to what is just and reasonable in respect of domestic business. Hence, when a company operates in two or more states, the operations are treated as separate businesses for the purpose of rate regulation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lee Tel. Co., 263 N.C. 702, 140 S.E.2d 319 (1965).

The Utilities Commission is empowered and directed to make reasonable and just rates as applied to the distribution and sale of power in this State and not otherwise, and such power cannot be directly controlled or weakened by conditions existent in other states, either from the action or nonaction of official bodies there or from dealings between private parties. To hold otherwise would, in its practical operation, be to withdraw or nullify the powers that this section professes to confer. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lee Tel. Co., 263 N.C. 702, 140 S.E.2d 319 (1965).

But Net Return Earned in Other States May Be Considered. — In fixing intrastate rates for a telephone company operating in several states, the Utilities Commission should take into consideration the net return such utility earns on its properties in such other states to the extent of not requiring customers in North Carolina, in order to maintain the utility's financial condition, to pay a substantially higher rate than permitted in other states. A substantial differential might be considered some evidence that the rates charged in this State are unreasonable and unjust to the local public. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

Commission Need Not Guarantee Return Requested. — While the Utilities Commission is to fix rates that will enable the utility by sound management to pay all of its costs of operation and to have left over a fair return upon the fair value of its properties, it is not required to guarantee the return requested by the utility where the facts and circumstances warrant otherwise. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397, rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

Rate Increase Conforming with Interstate Rates Allowed by Interstate Commerce Commission. — An order of the Utilities Commission increasing intrastate rates of State carriers so that such rates would conform with an increase in interstate rates allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission was invalid where such order was unsupported by proof of the fair value of the properties of the carriers used and useful in conducting their intrastate business, separate and apart from their interstate business. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 243 N.C. 12, 89 S.E.2d 727 (1955).

Objective of Rate Making. — The fixing of rates for service which will enable the utility to do the things enumerated in subsection (b)(4), and no more, is the ultimate objective of rate making. At best, the result of the complex rate making procedure is an approximation of this objective. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Rate making is, of necessity, a matter of estimate and prediction, since rates are set for the future. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Durham, 282 N.C. 308, 193 S.E.2d 95 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

The ultimate question in determining appropriate rates is: What is a reasonable rate to be charged by the particular utility company for the service it proposes to render in the immediate future? The determination of this question is for the Commission, in accordance with the direction of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Durham, 282 N.C. 308, 193 S.E.2d 95 (1972).

A rate must not only be fair, just and reasonable to the consumer, but fair, just and reasonable to the utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolinas Comm. for Indus. Power Rates & Area Dev., Inc., 257 N.C. 560, 126 S.E.2d 325 (1962).

The rates established by the Commission must be fair to both the utility and the customer. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 316 N.C. 238, 342 S.E.2d 28 (1986).

What is a "just and reasonable" rate which will produce a fair return on the investment depends on: (1) the value of the investment, usually referred to in rate-making cases as the rate base, which earns the return; (2) the gross income received by the applicant from its authorized operations; (3) the amount to be deducted for operating expenses, which must include the amount of capital investment currently consumed in rendering the service; and (4) what rate constitutes a just and reasonable rate of return on the predetermined rate base. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 250 N.C. 421, 109 S.E.2d 253 (1959); State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Piedmont Natural Gas Co., 254 N.C. 536, 119 S.E.2d 469 (1961); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lee Tel. Co., 263 N.C. 702, 140 S.E.2d 319 (1965); State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Westco Tel. Co., 266 N.C. 450, 146 S.E.2d 487 (1966).

The Commission, in fixing a reasonable and just rate of charges for public service corporations, may make a fair estimated value of the property presently used, and in relation thereto consider the tax valuation of the plant. State ex rel. Corp. Comm'n v. Cannon Mfg. Co., 185 N.C. 17, 116 S.E. 178 (1923).

In finding essential, ultimate facts, the Commission must consider all factors particularized in the statute and "all other facts that will enable it to determine what are reasonable and just rates, charges and tariffs." It must then arrive at its own independent conclusion, without reference to any specific formula, as to: (1) what constitutes a fair value, for rate-making purposes, of applicant's investment used in rendering intrastate service, the rate base, and; (2) what rate of return on the predetermined rate base will constitute a rate that is just and reasonable both to the applicant and to the public. While both original cost and replacement value are to be considered, neither constitutes a proper rate base. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 250 N.C. 421, 109 S.E.2d 253 (1959); State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Piedmont Natural Gas Co., 254 N.C. 536, 119 S.E.2d 469 (1961); State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Westco Tel. Co., 266 N.C. 450, 146 S.E.2d 487 (1966).

In setting rates, the Utilities Commission must consider not only those specific indicia of a utility's economic status set out in subsection (b) of this section, but also all other material facts of record which may have a significant bearing on the determination of reasonable and just rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 314 N.C. 509, 334 S.E.2d 772 (1985).

Calculation of Requisite Additional Gross Revenue When Essential Facts Established. — When essential ultimate facts are established by findings of the Commission, the amount of additional gross revenue required to produce the desired net return becomes a mere matter of calculation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lee Tel. Co., 263 N.C. 702, 140 S.E.2d 319 (1965).

The Commission must be given broad discretion with respect to the extent which it will hear evidence relating to a particular schedule when the basic question for consideration is: Does the utility need an increase in rates to function effectively or, conversely, can the utility continue to operate, provide efficient service to its customers, and make a fair return to the owners of its properties, or may it so function after a reduction in rates? State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. County of Harnett, 30 N.C. App. 24, 226 S.E.2d 515 (1976).

Additions for Used and Useful Plant. — Subsection (c) of this section only requires the Utilities Commission to consider post-test period changes in used and useful plant. It also requires the Commission to consider changes in costs and revenues. If the evidence does not show what changes there may be in matching costs and revenues, the Commission does not have to allow additions to the rate base for a used and useful plant. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Water Serv., Inc., 328 N.C. 299, 401 S.E.2d 353 (1991).

Rates charged by one telephone company do not, per se, constitute a standard by which to determine the reasonableness of those of another company, even when the territories served and operating conditions are similar. The probative value of such evidence is slight at best, but where there is evidence of substantial similarity of conditions, evidence of comparative rates may have some relevancy for use as a guide to the limits of the zone of reasonableness. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

Subdivisions (b)(2) and (b)(3) and subsection (c) contemplate that the Commission will consider "probable future revenues and expenses" in setting rates for the future. Obviously, conditions do not remain static. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

The Commission can take into account the future effect of inflation by fixing rates slightly in excess of that which is necessary to meet the test of reasonableness. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

Determining a Utility's Capital Structure for Rate Making Purposes. — The Commission is not required, as a matter of law, to reduce the common equity component of a utility's capital structure by an amount equal to its investment in its nonregulated subsidiaries in determining the appropriate capital structure for rate-making purposes. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 322 N.C. 689, 370 S.E.2d 567 (1988).

Formula Not Unreasonably Discriminatory. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission's order contained findings sufficient to justify its conclusion that the Industrial Sales Tracker Formula did not unreasonably discriminate between North Carolina Natural Gas Corporation's customer classes and these findings were supported by substantial evidence in light of the whole record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Efficiency of Operation. — Heat rate and capacity factor furnish convenient measuring devices by which to evaluate the overall efficiency with which a particular electrical utility system is operated, and the Utilities Commission should take into account the efficiency of a company's operation in fixing its rates in a general rate case as provided in this section, although plant efficiency as it bears upon fuel cost is not a factor to be considered in the limited and expedited proceeding provided for by § 62-134(e) (now repealed). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 48 N.C. App. 453, 269 S.E.2d 657, cert. denied, 301 N.C. 531, 273 S.E.2d 462 (1980).

For present provisions as to increments based upon increase in cost of fuel, see § 62-133.2.

Anticipated Tax Expense. — Rates for use of a utility's service are set at a level which will enable the company to pay, among other items, its anticipated tax expense. If, by virtue of some change in the tax law, it develops that the company did not incur the anticipated expense, for the payment of which it collected revenues in prior months, its rates for present and future service may not be cut, on that account, below what it otherwise would be entitled to charge for the present or future service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 451, 232 S.E.2d 184 (1977).

Fundamental Changes in Sources and Supply. — Where filings reflected decisions by natural gas company's management to make fundamental changes in its sources of supply of natural gas and to access substantial additional volumes of natural gas, the rate changes generated by these decisions were not of the nature of those to be allowed under former subsection (f) of this section but rather had to be considered and passed upon in a general rate case proceeding pursuant to subsections (a)-(e) of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 106 N.C. App. 218, 415 S.E.2d 758 (1992), cert. denied, 332 N.C. 671, 424 S.E.2d 417 (1992).

Apportionment of Increases in Retail

Natural Gas Rates. — Any increase in the retail rates attributable to charges by a wholesaler of natural gas for storage capacity must be apportioned in a general rate case pursuant to subsections (a) through (c) of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. CF Indus., Inc., 39 N.C. App. 477, 250 S.E.2d 716, cert. denied, 297 N.C. 180, 254 S.E.2d 39 (1979).

There is nothing in the applicable provisions of the Public Utilities Act which prohibits the use of a fossil fuel adjustment clause in the context of the factual circumstances which the utility and the Commission face in a given case. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

For a discussion of the operation of and the authorities supporting the use of fuel adjustment clauses, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

In considering whether fuel adjustment clause would ever operate to increase utility's rate of return, the Commission was entitled to act on the normal assumption in rate cases generally, there being no evidence to the contrary, that other costs of the utility would not decline but would probably increase or at least remain fairly constant. In the unlikely event that other costs of the utility should decline, the Commission, either on its own motion or that of another interested party, has plenary authority to intervene and make corrections in the utility's rate schedules including, if circumstances should require it, the abrogation of the fuel clause. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

As to the practice of rolling-together accounting data and allocating costs between jurisdictional and nonjurisdictional service, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397, rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

Shifting of Onus to Parent Corporation. — In view of the Utilities Commission's determination that unsound or "absentee" management decisions on the part of a utility, and parental domination on the part of an aluminum producing company that was both parent and customer, left the utility with insufficient resources to meet its steadily increasing public load and lacking in contractual power supply arrangements tailored to meet its public service needs at reasonable prices, it was well within the Commission's rate making authority to shift the onus of those managerial shortcomings from the pockets of utility's retail rate payers to the corporate offices of the aluminum producing company. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397, rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

Refund of over-Collection. — The Commission erred by refunding utility's over-collection by deducting the amount of the deferred fuel account from the utility's annual rate increase, as this would, in effect, require the company to pay the refund annually for as long as the rates fixed in the case remained in effect. The Commission should have provided for a lump-sum refund (i.e., a onetime rate reduction) or a rate reduction over a period of time. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 316 N.C. 238, 342 S.E.2d 28 (1986).

A schedule of rates fixed by the Commission under the standard prescribed by the legislature is binding upon the interested parties and the courts, provided it is within the bounds of reason. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

Rates which the Commission simply allows to go into effect may be challenged by interested parties or the Commission and after a hearing the Commission may order a refund if it finds the rates to be different from those established by the Commission and unjust or unreasonable. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

Retroactive rate making occurs when a rate is set so as to permit collection in the future for expenses attributable to past services. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 65 N.C. App. 198, 309 S.E.2d 473 (1983), aff'd, 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397 (1985), rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

It is not retroactive rate making for a corporation to be held responsible for a refund for the period prior to when it was declared a public utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 65 N.C. App. 198, 309 S.E.2d 473 (1983), aff'd, 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397 (1985), rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

Method Which Did Not Prefer State Customers over Foreign Customers Held Not to Violate Commerce Clause. — A provision in a Commission order that a "combined system's North Carolina public load has first call on the total electric energy output of the combined system, and to the extent that said output exceeds the requirements of the North Carolina public load, such excess will be available for sale and will be purchased by [the corporation of which the system was a wholly-owned subsidiary]" would violate the commerce clause. However, where the methodology used by the Commission allowed the combined system to recover the costs of the percentage of energy it used based on its percentage of the costs of the energy generated and purchased by the combined system, North Carolina customers would not be given a preference and no commerce clause violation would occur. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 65 N.C. App. 198, 309 S.E.2d 473 (1983), aff'd, 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397 (1985), rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

Reduction of Future Rate Held Not Retroactive Rate Making. — An order which did not reduce revenue to compensate in the future for what may have been an excessive rate in the past, but reduced the future rate for what it found was a more realistic investment credit tax amortization, is not retroactive rate making. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 59 N.C. App. 448, 297 S.E.2d 119 (1982).

Court-Ordered Refund Is Not Retroactive Rate Making. — The Supreme Court has the power to direct the Commission to order refunds from rates established by final order of the Commission. This would not constitute retroactive rate making prohibited under the North Carolina Statutes. Retroactive rate making occurs when the utility is required to refund revenues collected, pursuant to the then lawfully established rates, for such past use. A rate has not been lawfully established simply because the Commission has ordered it. If the Commission makes an error of law in its order from which there is a timely appeal the rates put into effect by that order have not been "lawfully established" until the appellate courts have made a final ruling on the matter. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

The North Carolina Utilities Commission reviewed the capacity rate set by an arbitrator and determined that he did not properly take into account other potential sources of power, thus his assessment of avoided costs was unreasonably high, and its exclusion of expenses for capacity payments was merely the disallowance of the amount by which the contract rate exceeded power company's avoided costs; therefore the commission properly disallowed expenses for unreasonably high payments in accordance with this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Power Comm'n, 338 N.C. 412, 450 S.E.2d 896 (1994), reh'g denied, 339 N.C. 743, 454 S.E.2d 269 (1995), cert. denied, 516 U.S. 1092, 116 S. Ct. 813, 133 L. Ed. 2d 758 (1996).

Evidence Not Sufficient. — Because of the lack of evidence justifying increase and because the Commission did not consider the future revenue potential, the decision of the Commission was not supported by competent, material, and substantial evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Water Serv., Inc., 335 N.C. 493, 439 S.E.2d 127 (1994).

IV. RATE BASE.

A. In General.

Rate Base Defined. — The "rate base" is the cost of the utility's property which is used and useful in providing service to the public. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

The general doctrine is that the rate base is made up of values used in furnishing the service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 15 N.C. App. 41, 189 S.E.2d 777 (1972).

There Is But One Rate Base. — It is incorrect to speak of "the original cost rate base" and the "trended original cost rate base." There is but one rate base, namely, the fair value of the public utility's property used and useful in providing the service rendered to the public within this State, which value the Commission must determine as of the end of the test period. The original cost of the properties is simply evidence to be considered in making this determination. The replacement cost, whether determined by use of trended cost indices or otherwise, is also but evidence of the fair value of the properties. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

It is the duty of the Commission to arrive at an independent rate base upon consideration of all factors, including cost, replacement and trended cost, and it is its duty to exercise its independent judgment in doing so. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 7 N.C. App. 576, 173 S.E.2d 479, rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

When Companies Considered as Single, Integrated System for Rate Making. — Where two companies traded all their generation to TVA and received in exchange for this entitlements of energy which they divided as they pleased, the Commission could conclude from these facts that the two companies constitute a single, integrated system for rate making purposes. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 65 N.C. App. 198, 309 S.E.2d 473 (1983), aff'd, 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397 (1985), rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

What Operating Expenses May Be Considered. — This section limits the property upon which North Carolina consumers are required to pay a return to the property used and useful in providing intrastate service; when the provisions of (b)(1), (b)(3) and (c) are read in pari materia, it is apparent that the only operating expenses which the Utilities Commission may consider in setting intrastate rates for North Carolina public utilities are those incurred in the provision of service to a utility's North Carolina consumers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 313 N.C. 614, 332 S.E.2d 397, rev'd on other grounds, 476 U.S. 953, 106 S. Ct. 2349, 90 L. Ed. 2d 943 (1986).

This section clearly provides that the rate base and allowable operating expenses of a utility are limited to those costs incurred in providing service to the company's North Carolina retail customers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 314 N.C. 171, 333 S.E.2d 259 (1985).

Matching Revenues and Costs Required for Use of Post-Test Year Costs in Rate Base. — Where provider of water and sewer services asks that costs for post-test year use of plants be included in its rate base, the Utilities Commission may, under subsection (c) of this section, require the utility to show matching revenues and costs. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Water Serv., Inc., 328 N.C. 299, 401 S.E.2d 353 (1991).

What Property to Be Considered. — This section clearly contemplates that only that property of the utility which is devoted to the public use for which the utility has been granted a franchise is to be considered, both in arriving at the fair value rate base and in projecting probable future revenues and expenses. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 15 N.C. App. 41, 189 S.E.2d 777 (1972).

In a proceeding by a power company for an increase in the cash fares on its city bus system, the Commission was correct in considering the value only of the properties used and useful in connection with the operation of the bus system, without regard to the value of the electric properties of the power company. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Greensboro, 244 N.C. 247, 93 S.E.2d 151 (1956).

Question Whether Property Is "Used and Useful" Is One of Fact. — The question of whether specific property is presently "used and useful" in rendering service is one of fact, to be determined by the Commission upon competent and substantial evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 314 N.C. 171, 333 S.E.2d 259 (1985); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 314 N.C. 171, 333 S.E.2d 259 (1985); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

"Excess" Facilities Not "Used and Useful." — If facilities are found to be excess, as a matter of law, they can not be considered "used and useful" as that term is used in subdivision (b)(1), and cannot be included in the rate base. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 325 N.C. 484, 385 S.E.2d 463 (1989).

Property Not Presently Used to Its Full Capacity. — The fact that a transmission line, a building or a telephone company's central office equipment is not presently used to its full capacity does not necessarily justify the exclusion of any portion of it from the rate base on the theory that such portion is not presently "used and useful" in rendering service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

While central office equipment might have provided at the end of the test period capacity in excess of the amount needed at that moment, there being no question raised that it was not in operation at that time, it was at that time property both used and useful by the utility in providing services to the public; therefore, the Commission had no authority to deduct any portion of its costs in arriving at the reasonable original cost of the property for consideration by it in making its ultimate determination of fair value. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

The question for determination in connection with an alleged overbuilding of a utility plant is whether the properties in question can be deemed "used and useful" in rendering the service, as of the end of the test period. If not, they may not properly be included in the rate base. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Property Held for Future Use. — A telephone company, with central office equipment sufficient to serve any reasonably anticipated increase in customers, may not properly add to its rate base additional units of central office equipment merely because, in the long future, it hopes to have customers who will use it. This is especially true where the supplier of such equipment is an affiliated corporation, controlled by the same holding company which controls the telephone company. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

There is no merit in the contention that exclusion from the rate base of the value of property held by a public utility for future use amounts to confiscation of its property. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 15 N.C. App. 41, 189 S.E.2d 777 (1972).

Classification as "Extraordinary Property Retirement" Held Error. — The classification of a physical plant that is not "used and useful" (and thus not includable in a rate base) as "extraordinary property retirement" and subject to recovery through amortization, has no legal basis. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff — North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 333 N.C. 195, 424 S.E.2d 133 (1993).

Where, after finding a sewer connection to be "no longer used and useful" and erroneously concluding thereupon that it should be treated as extraordinary property retirement and amortized over a six-year period, the Utilities Commission directed the "unamortized balance" to be "included in rate base", the Commission simultaneously treated the unused property as rate base and reasonable operating expenses in direct violation of the ratemaking process. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff — North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 333 N.C. 195, 424 S.E.2d 133 (1993).

Subdivision (b)(1) is designed to make utility customers finance reasonable construction costs arising after July 1, 1979, regardless of whether that construction becomes useful to the customers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 64 N.C. App. 266, 307 S.E.2d 375 (1983), modified on other grounds, 66 N.C. 456, 311 S.E.2d 617, rev'd in part, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

The purpose of subdivision (b)(4a) is to prevent utility companies from obtaining a double recovery by capitalizing the allowance for funds used during construction after they have had construction work in progress expenses for the same construction included in the rate base. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

The Commission must include all reasonable construction work in progress expenditures in the rate base. The only matter left to the discretion of the Commission is whether such expenditures are reasonable and prudent. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

Only Reasonable Construction Work in Progress Expenditures Included. — The legislature mandates that the only expenditures for construction work in progress which can properly be included in rate base are reasonable expenditures. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 59 N.C. App. 240, 296 S.E.2d 487 (1982), rev'd on other grounds, 309 N.C. 238, 306 S.E.2d 113 (1983).

Under the "financial stability" requirement of subdivision (b)(1) of this section, construction work in progress may be included in a utility's rate base to the extent that the Commission determines that the inclusion is necessary to allow the utility to maintain a generally good overall financial status. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 316 N.C. 238, 342 S.E.2d 28 (1986).

Subdivision (b)(1) clearly commits to the discretion of the Commission the determination of what amount of construction work in progress, if any, to include in the utility's rate base. This discretion is tempered, however, by the statute's requirement that the expenditures be reasonable and prudent and that the Commission find that the inclusion is in the public interest and necessary to the financial stability of the utility in question. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 316 N.C. 238, 342 S.E.2d 28 (1986).

Including construction work in progress in rate base did not lessen rules and standards set by legislature. Reasonableness remains the standard. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 59 N.C. App. 240, 296 S.E.2d 487 (1982), rev'd on other grounds, 309 N.C. 238, 306 S.E.2d 113 (1983).

Evidence as to Construction Work in Progress. — To require the utility company to introduce evidence with respect to every item comprising construction work in progress would be an exercise in futility. The burden of proof would be unduly and unnecessarily burdensome and the rate-making process would become even more time consuming and difficult of administration. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 59 N.C. App. 240, 296 S.E.2d 487 (1982), rev'd on other grounds, 309 N.C. 238, 306 S.E.2d 113 (1983).

Evidence that utility's bond rating was in jeopardy of falling from an A rating to a BAA rating and that the inclusion of the additional construction work in progress was necessary to "stabilize" the company at its A rating level, along with other evidence, supported the Commission's finding that the inclusion of additional construction work in progress was necessary to the utility's financial stability. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 316 N.C. 238, 342 S.E.2d 28 (1986).

Evidence of whether the plant under construction will be completed within a reasonable time is pertinent to deciding if expenditures for such construction are reasonable and prudent. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

While it is the better practice for the Commission to specifically find that the construction will be completed within a reasonable time, the statute does not require it so long as there is evidence in the record that the plant would be completed within a reasonable time. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

Inclusion of Facility in Another State Absent North Carolina Certificate of Authority. — The Commission acted within the limits of its authority when it included Catawba Unit 1, located in South Carolina, in power company's rate base, even though no North Carolina certificate of necessity had been obtained prior to beginning construction thereof. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

Inclusion of Ownership Interest in All Common Plant of Nuclear Power Station Held Proper. — The Commission acted within its authority when it included in power company's rate base the company's ownership interest in all of common plant of nuclear power station, despite argument that only half of the common plant should be associated with operating Unit 1, and that the other half should be classified as construction work in progress consistent with the Commission's treatment of not yet operational Unit 2. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

Before 1977 amendment of subdivision (b)(1), utilities were not allowed to include construction work in progress (CWIP) in rate base. Instead, a utility would add together all of the costs incurred by a project each year and multiply that by the allowance for funds used during construction (AFUDC) rate. The AFUDC rate is a rate of interest which represents as nearly as possible the actual cost of money used for construction. The figure that results from multiplying the costs times the AFUDC rate is capitalized annually until the plant comes into service and is then recovered along with the original costs of the plant. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

Exclusion of Plant Under Construction. — A generating plant of a power company, half-completed at the end of the test period, or a half-completed line of telephone wire, cannot be deemed property "used in providing the service" "as of the end of the test period used in the hearing." Neither can it be deemed property "useful" in rendering the service at that time. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971), decided prior to 1977 amendment.

It was error for the Commission to include in the rate base of a public utility the value of the plant under construction at the end of the test period, and to make a pro forma adjustment to revenues by adding to the actual revenue earned in the test period "interest charged to construction," since the plant under construction was not in operation at the end of the test period. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971), decided prior to 1977 amendment.

A telephone plant under construction at the end of the test period is not property "used and useful" within the meaning of this section and is not to be included in the rate base. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972), decided prior to 1977 amendment.

Contributions in aid of utility construction must be excluded from rate base. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Heater Util., Inc., 288 N.C. 457, 219 S.E.2d 56 (1975), decided prior to 1977 amendment.

The term "the public utility's property used and useful ... in providing the service" in subdivision (b)(1) was not intended by the legislature to include that portion of the utility plant in service represented by contributions made by the utility's patrons in aid of construction. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Heater Util., Inc., 288 N.C. 457, 219 S.E.2d 56 (1975), decided prior to 1977 amendment.

It makes no difference whether contributions to utility company were made initially by customers or by land development companies, or whether some of the latter were closely related to the utility company. The controlling factor is whether the utility company's customers ultimately bore the cost of such contributions. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Heater Util., Inc., 288 N.C. 457, 219 S.E.2d 56 (1975), decided prior to 1977 amendment.

"Contribution" Correctly Excluded. — The Utilities Commission did not err in excluding from the rate base of a water utility an amount representing the difference between the original cost of a water system constructed by the developers of a real estate subdivision and the price paid to such developers by the water utility, where the Commission found that such difference amounted to an indirect payment from the customers to the utility through the purchase of their lots, which allowed the original owners to sell the water system to the utility for less than the probable cost of installation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Heater Util., Inc., 288 N.C. 457, 219 S.E.2d 56 (1975), decided prior to 1977 amendment.

The Commission was not required to include a contributed plant in applicant's fair value rate base. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Heater Util., Inc., 26 N.C. App. 404, 216 S.E.2d 487, aff'd, 288 N.C. 457, 219 S.E.2d 56 (1975), decided prior to 1977 amendment.

When Addition to Plant May Be Added to Rate Base. — When the addition to plant is completed and put into service, the entire cost of it, including the cost of capital incurred in construction, is added to the rate base of the company. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971), decided prior to 1977 amendment.

Unnecessary Additions. — A utility may not justify an increase in its rates for service to its present customers by evidence of its present intent to build additions to its plant not reasonably considered necessary for adequate service, including proper reserve capacity, by the end of the time needed for the completion of such additions. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

Value of franchise does not enter into computation of the utility's rate base. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

The rate base should include working capital supplied by the company. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

The utility's own funds reasonably invested in such materials and supplies and its cash funds reasonably so held for payment of operating expenses, as they become payable, fall within the meaning of the term "property used and useful in providing the service," and are a proper addition to the rate base on which the utility must be permitted to earn a fair rate of return. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

But such rate base should not include funds supplied by customers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

As funds collected from customers and used by utility as working capital are not "the public utility's property" within the meaning of subsection (b)(1). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

The utility is not entitled to include in its rate base funds which it has not provided but which it has been permitted to collect from its customers for the purpose of paying expenses at some future time and which it actually uses as working capital in the meantime. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

Overcharge to Investment Does Not Directly Affect Rate Base. — Only those purchases for operating materials and supplies, including current maintenance, are chargeable to operating expense, and purchases for plant construction go into an account for investment in plant, not to operating expense, so that an overcharge, if any, to investment in plant does not affect the net operating income. While such overcharge would improperly add to the account for original cost of the plant, which is an item to be considered in computing the rate base, it actually would not affect the rate base directly, since the rate base is the fair value of the plant, not the cost of it. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Acceptance by Commission of "book value" or "cost less depreciation" as rate base is in conflict with the standard prescribed in the statute. The conclusion is inescapable that by accepting the book value as the rate base, it necessarily excluded consideration of present cost of replacement and all other factors from effective consideration. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

Costs are presumed to be reasonable unless challenged. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

Excess of Fair Value over Original Cost Less Depreciation to Be Included in Rate Base. — This section contemplates that the excess of "fair value," ascertained by the Commission, over and above the original cost, less depreciation, shall be included in the rate base of the utility, just as if it were a realized profit invested in additional property used and useful in rendering service to the public. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

Excess of Fair Value over Total Capital of Company. — The excess of "fair value" over the actual total capital of the company (debt capital, plus capital stock, plus actual surplus) is to be added to the equity component of the capital structure for the purpose of fixing rates under this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

The Commission may reduce a utility's rate base by increasing its accumulated depreciation account as an offset to a pro forma adjustment by the utility in the same amount to depreciation expense. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982).

B. Fair Value.

Commission Must Consider Requirements of Section in Arriving at Fair Value of Property. — In arriving at the fair value of a public utility's property used and useful in providing the service rendered to its customers, the Commission is charged with the duty to consider the requirements set forth in this section, as well as other relevant factors. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Westco Tel. Co., 266 N.C. 450, 146 S.E.2d 487 (1966).

"Minimal Consideration" Inadequate. — The Commission may not brush aside one of the prescribed indicators of original cost and replacement cost by giving it "minimal consideration." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

Neither the Commission nor the Supreme Court may evade the mandate of this section by determining the number of dollars which would be a fair return on the original cost, depreciated, and then simply translating that amount into a percentage of "fair value." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

Meaning of "Value." — The term "value" in this section does not refer to the original or the replacement cost of the property or to the exchange or sales price it would command, as used or secondhand property, on the market. It has reference to the value of the property actually in use, serving its purpose as a part of a composite public utility, earning an income for its owner. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

Value is not the price for which the property could be sold as used or secondhand property. It is not the sale or exchange value of the entire business as a going concern. It is not the same as the fair value to be awarded by a jury in a condemnation case. The concept of "fair value," as used with reference to a public utility's rate base, is unique to rate making. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Necessity for Determining Fair Value of Utility's Property. — The first step prescribed by subsection (b)(1), that of ascertaining the fair value of the public utility's property used and useful in providing the service rendered to the public within this State, becomes of critical importance in the rate-making process, for only after the determination of this rate base can judgment be intelligently exercised fixing the rate of return which the utility is entitled to receive on the fair value of its property and fixing rates to be charged by the utility which are fair both to the public utility and to the consumer. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Factors to Be Considered in Determining Fair Value. — This section contemplates a weighing of (1) the reasonable original cost, less depreciation, (2) the replacement cost, which may be determined by trending such reasonable depreciated cost to current cost levels or by any other reasonable method, and (3) any other relevant factor, by the Commission in the exercise of its own expert judgment in determining "fair value." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

This section contemplates that, normally, the Commission will ascertain the "fair value" of the properties at a point somewhere between the original cost, less depreciation, and the cost of replacement new, less depreciation. The Commission has the duty to weigh these evidences of "fair value" and may not disregard either, or brush either aside. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Fair Value Not Ascertainable by Mathematical Formula. — "Replacement cost" and "fair value" are not synonymous. Nor is "fair value" an arithmetical average of original cost and replacement cost, less depreciation, nor is it to be ascertained by the application of any mathematical formula. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Durham, 282 N.C. 308, 193 S.E.2d 95 (1972).

Neither original cost, depreciated, nor replacement cost, depreciated is the measure of "fair value." They are indicators of "fair value" and their respective weights are to be determined by the Commission in its expert judgment. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

Balancing of Factors by Commission in Determining Fair Value. — Having made properly supported findings, it is for the Commission, not the reviewing court, to determine, in its expert discretion and by the use of "balanced scales," the relative weights to be given these several factors in ascertaining the ultimate fact of "fair value." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 15 N.C. App. 41, 189 S.E.2d 777 (1972).

It is the clear intent of subsection (b)(1) that the Commission, in considering the indicators of "fair value" which themselves are supported by competent and substantial evidence, shall use its own expert judgment as to the credibility of the evidence in the record and as to the weight to be given to it. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

Necessity That Commission Review Management Decisions. — Review of management decisions by the Utilities Commission in a general rate case is not only entirely appropriate but even necessary, for poorly maintained equipment justifies a subtraction from both the original cost and the reproduction cost of existing plant before weighing these factors in ascertaining the present "fair value" rate base of the utility's properties as required by this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 48 N.C. App. 453, 269 S.E.2d 657, cert. denied, 301 N.C. 531, 273 S.E.2d 462 (1980).

Effect of Improper Plant Engineering and Maintenance. — Neither the original cost nor the reproduction cost may properly be taken as the present fair value of telephone properties which were improperly engineered, have not been properly maintained, and are consequently in need of extensive rehabilitation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

The fact that a plant or a unit thereof is not well adapted to, or is inappropriate for, its present and/or reasonably to be anticipated future use tends materially to reduce its value below its reproduction new cost. One of the forms of inappropriateness is inappropriate engineering layout. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 408, 204 S.E.2d 529, rev'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

The fair value of a new addition, when completed and in service, would almost certainly be found to be its total cost and, thereafter, would be found by considering such cost and the reproduction, or trended, cost, including interest during construction. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Method of Taking Inflation and Rising Cost of Plant Additions into Account. — An accepted method of taking inflation and rising cost of plant additions into account in rate making is to fix rates for service sufficient, presently, to bring to the company a rate of return, on its present rate base, slightly in excess of that which is necessary to meet the test of reasonableness. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Weight of Trended Cost Evidence. — In times of increased construction costs and decreased dollar value, trended cost evidence deserves weight in proportion to the accuracy of the tests and their intelligent application. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lee Tel. Co., 263 N.C. 702, 140 S.E.2d 319 (1965); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Trended cost is useful only when it becomes necessary to fix the present value of facilities constructed when the cost was low and replacement has become expensive. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lee Tel. Co., 263 N.C. 702, 140 S.E.2d 319 (1965).

Trended Cost Evidence Useful But Not Conclusive. — The trended cost takes into account the type of facility, its age, its original and replacement cost, terrain, location, its probable useful life, and other factors. Such evidence is not conclusive, but it does appear to be a useful guide in determining value of facilities. State ex. rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lee Tel. Co., 263 N.C. 702, 140 S.E.2d 319 (1965).

"Fair value" does not cover money stupidly, extravagantly, or corruptly spent and if a utility has been seriously overbuilt, or its promoters have been seriously overpaid, the law does not intend that its customers shall be saddled with the payment of interest on money that was thrown away. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

And a utility may not inflate its rate base by extravagance in purchasing equipment or constructing its plant. In this connection, it is immaterial whether such extravagance is due to careless improvidence or willful payment of exorbitant prices to an affiliate. On the other hand, the management of the business of a public utility, including the fixing of the prices which it pays for the construction and equipment of its plant and for its maintenance and operation, rests with its board of directors in the absence of clear mismanagement or abuse of discretion. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Credibility and weight of evidence in determination of "fair value" is for the Commission, not for a court, to determine. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

It is not the meaning of subsection (b)(1) that, in the absence of expert opinion testimony as to the weight to be given the respective indicators of "fair value," the Commission must give them equal weight and find "fair value" by the mere striking of an arithmetic average of the indicators. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

Having made findings of the original cost less depreciation and replacement cost less depreciation, the weight to be given those figures in reaching the ultimate finding of fair value is to be determined by the Commission, not by the reviewing court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Durham, 282 N.C. 308, 193 S.E.2d 95 (1972).

The Commission is not required to accept expert witness' opinion as to the weight to be given the original cost and replacement cost increments of fair value, even though there be no contrary expert testimony. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

This section does require expert testimony as to the weight which the Commissioner should give to original cost and to replacement cost factors in carrying out its mandate to "consider" these indicators of "fair value." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

Reviewing court may not properly disturb an order of the Commission merely because it would have given different weight to each of the indicators of "fair value." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mebane Home Tel. Co., 35 N.C. App. 588, 242 S.E.2d 165 (1978), aff'd, 298 N.C. 162, 257 S.E.2d 623 (1979).

A reviewing court may not set aside the Commission's determination of "fair value" merely because the court would have given the respective elements different weights and would, therefore, have arrived at a different "fair value." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 15 N.C. App. 41, 189 S.E.2d 777 (1972).

A finding of "fair value" by the Commission is not rendered immune to judicial review by Commission's declaration that, in reaching such finding, it followed no formula. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

The mere recital by the Commission that it has considered all of the factors prescribed by this section in arriving at its ascertainment of "fair value" does not preclude the reviewing court from setting aside the finding of "fair value" where the record discloses that the Commission in fact failed to do so. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 15 N.C. App. 41, 189 S.E.2d 777 (1972).

When Commission's Finding of Fair Value May Be Set Aside. — The determination of the weight to be given each factor in its ascertainment of "fair value" is for the Commission, not the reviewing court. But if it is clear from the record that the Commission reached its finding of "fair value" by disregarding or giving minimal consideration to one of the enumerated factors, its finding of the ultimate fact of "fair value" may be set aside by the court on the ground of error of law in such ascertainment. Similarly, the finding of "fair value" may be set aside by the reviewing court if it clearly appears that the Commission has made its determination thereof by giving weight to a factor as to which there is no substantial evidence in the record, and likewise where the order of the Commission shows that it reached its determination of "fair value" by considering unspecified facts other than original cost and replacement cost depreciated. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Determination of Fair Value Upheld. — There was no reversible error in the Commission's determination that the fair value of the power company's properties, exclusive of the allowance for working capital, should be determined by giving a weighting of one third to replacement cost, depreciated, and two-thirds weighting to original cost, depreciated. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

C. Original Cost.

In fixing fair value, original cost is an item to be considered. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co. of N.C., Inc., 257 N.C. 233, 125 S.E.2d 457 (1962).

But Is Only One Factor. — The establishment of the reasonable original cost of the property, as referred to in subsection (b)(1), is of significance only because reasonable original cost is one of several figures and factors which the statute requires the Commission to consider in arriving at fair value. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Ordinarily, Price Actually Paid Is Considered Reasonable Original Cost. — Where a public utility's property has been purchased from a stranger, ordinarily the price actually paid by the utility would be considered its reasonable costs, though it would not necessarily be so. Even in such a case the Commission may find that the management of the utility acted improvidently or carelessly and paid a price greater than reasonable. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Determining Reasonable Original Cost of Property Sold to Utility by Affiliated Corporation. — In determining the rate base, the fact that equipment or services are sold to the utility by an affiliated corporation does not alter the ultimate question for the Commission. That question is whether the prices paid by the utility are reasonable and, therefore, reflect the "reasonable original cost" of the properties. The only effect of the affiliation between the utility and its supplier is that such relationship calls for a close scrutiny by the Commission of the price paid by the utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

For purposes of determining a utilities rate base, when considering a purchase made from an affiliated company, the bargaining is not at arm's length and when the transaction is called in question, the burden is upon the utility to show that the price it paid was reasonable. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

In cases in which a substantial portion of a utility's property was acquired by purchase from an affiliated company, it becomes obligatory upon the Commission to scrutinize the prices paid and, to the extent it finds such prices unreasonable, to make adjustments in the utility's figures accordingly. This is all the more true where the affiliated supplier so dominates the market that its pricing policies may not be sufficiently controlled by normal competition. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Where the prices paid by a telephone company to an affiliated manufacturing company are the same as those which the manufacturing company charges other affiliated companies to which it makes a majority of its sales, the Utilities Commission could properly determine the reasonableness of the prices charged by the manufacturing company by comparing its rate of return on common equity with the rates of return experienced by other manufacturing companies operating in similar fields. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

D. Replacement Cost.

Necessity of Finding Replacement Cost. — Without a finding by the Commission of the replacement cost of a public utility's properties "used and useful in providing the service," the Commission's finding of "fair value" was affected by an error of law and, consequently, its finding of a fair rate of return on such "fair value" was so affected and was premature. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

While the consideration or weight to be given replacement cost, depreciated, in ascertaining "fair value" rests in the sound discretion of the Commission, the reviewing court cannot satisfactorily determine whether the Commission considered or weighed this element at all, or merely gave it minimal consideration, unless the Commission sets forth what it found this element to be. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Discounting Replacement Cost for Depreciation. — In determining "fair value," the Commission may discount the replacement cost new by the same percentage as that indicated by the total accumulated depreciation in arriving at the replacement cost factor, or, if there is evidence to support such a finding, may discount replacement cost new by a greater or a smaller amount on account of depreciation, including obsolescence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

It is for the Commission to determine what weight to give to evidence as to replacement cost. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Fair Value Usually Less Than Reconstruction Cost. — Ordinarily, the fair value of a utility's property is found to be less than the reconstruction cost of the property. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Durham, 282 N.C. 308, 193 S.E.2d 95 (1972).

Fair Value Cannot Exceed Present Cost of Constructing Substitute. — The present "fair value" of a utility system of generating plants, transmission lines and distribution lines cannot exceed the present cost of constructing a substitute system of modern design, capable of generating and distributing the same quantity of power at less operating expense. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

V. OPERATING EXPENSES AND WORKING CAPITAL.

Reasonable Operating Expenses Must Be Ascertained. — In fixing rates to be charged by the public utility, the Commission is directed to ascertain, among other things, the public utility's reasonable operating expenses. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Consumers Council, Inc., 18 N.C. App. 717, 198 S.E.2d 98, cert. denied, 284 N.C. 124, 199 S.E.2d 663 (1973).

Term to Be Liberally Interpreted and Applied. — When a narrow construction of the operating expense element of a regulatory act would frustrate the purposes of the act, the term should be liberally interpreted and applied. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

A restrictive interpretation of the operating expense element of the rate-making formula would severely limit the ability of the Commission to act in the best interest of the consuming public in emergency situations. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Cost of collecting past-due accounts is an operating expense. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Consumers Council, Inc., 18 N.C. App. 717, 198 S.E.2d 98 (1973).

Cancellation Costs as Operating Expense. — There was no error in the Commission's authorization for utility to amortize costs associated with abandoned construction of nuclear power plant as operating expenses for rate making purposes; this action was within the commission's power and supported by competent, material, and substantial evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 325 N.C. 463, 385 S.E.2d 451 (1989).

Costs Held to Be Cancellation Costs. — Costs of the additional burden assured by one unit at nuclear power plant in anticipation of reducing the costs of the remaining three units, which were later cancelled, should have been treated as cancellation costs of the abandoned units, to be recovered as operating expenses through amortization. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 325 N.C. 484, 385 S.E.2d 463 (1989).

Tracking Rate Increases as Operating Expenses. — Tracking rate increases, designed to recover the reasonable costs of approved exploration projects, must be said to be operating expenses, if practical effect is to be given to this chapter, where the Commission has found that if no new supply source were obtained, the utilities would be unable to supply adequate service to their customers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C.

598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Cost of Service Calculation. — The Utilities Commission's ultimate conclusion that the peak and average cost-of-service methodology more properly allocates fixed costs between annual use and peak day utilization of the facilities than does the peak responsibility method or the imputed load factor method was supported by sufficient findings and competent, material and substantial evidence. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 351 N.C. 223, 524 S.E.2d 10 (2000).

As to constitutionality of permitting utilities to recover excess costs of exploration ventures through tracking rate increases, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

Error to Add Interest Charged to Construction to Operating Revenue. — It was error for the Commission to add to the company's operating revenue for the best period interest charged to construction during the test period. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

"Depreciation" Defined. — Broadly speaking, depreciation is the loss not restored by current maintenance which is due to all the factors causing the ultimate retirement of the property. While property remains in the plant, the estimated depreciation rate is applied to the book cost and the resulting amounts are charged currently as expenses of operation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

Depreciation Deductions. — For rate-making purposes a public utility is allowed to deduct annually, as an operating expense, so much of its capital investment as is actually consumed during the current year in rendering the service required of it. But the cost represents the amount of the investment, and it is the actual cost, not theretofore recouped by depreciation deductions, that must constitute the base for this allowance. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Heater Util., Inc., 288 N.C. 457, 219 S.E.2d 56 (1975).

In establishing rates a public utility is entitled to deduct each year as an operating expense only such depreciation as represents the investment currently consumed and not provided against by maintenance. Thus the integrity of the investment is maintained, and this is all the utility has a right to demand. The rate should be fixed, as near as may be, so that it will extend over the usable life of the property being depreciated. Otherwise the allowance will be unjust either to the utility or to the public. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

The purpose of an annual allowance for depreciation and the resulting accumulation of a depreciation reserve is not, as is sometimes erroneously supposed, to provide the utility with a fund by which it may purchase a replacement for the property when it is worn out. The purpose of the allowance is to enable the utility to recover the cost of such property to it. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Heater Util., Inc., 288 N.C. 457, 219 S.E.2d 56 (1975).

The rate of depreciation allowed by the federal government for income tax purposes is not necessarily the proper rate to be allowed for rate-making purposes. Indeed, for rate-making purposes it would ordinarily be excessive, especially in respect to buildings and like permanent improvements. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

Depreciation Based on Original Cost. — Subdivision (b)(3) clearly directs that the annual allowance for depreciation of durable properties, such as a pipeline, be based upon the original cost of the property to the utility and not upon either its current fair value or the cost of installation borne by a former owner, such as the real estate developers in the present case. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Heater Util., Inc., 288 N.C. 457, 219 S.E.2d 56 (1975).

An instruction that the current rather than the cost value of capital investment shall be used as the basis for estimating depreciation allowances is incorrect. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

Using Property Which Has Been Fully Depreciated for Other Purposes. — It would be unfair to a utility not to take into consideration the present fair value of property now in use but which has been fully depreciated for other purposes. On the other hand, if the rate of depreciation allowed for rate-making purposes is in excess of the investment currently consumed, over and above maintenance costs, it is unfair to the public, for then the company is permitted to recover annually a part of its investment which is not currently consumed. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

Transactions Between Utilities and Affiliated Supply Companies. — It is the duty of the Commission to look closely at transactions between utility operating companies and affiliated supply companies to be sure that the public is not required to pay rates based on excessive costs resulting from excessive profits earned by an unregulated supplier. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 7 N.C. App. 576, 173 S.E.2d 479, rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

The financial condition of a public utility and the demand for its bonds and securities which affect its capacity to compete on the open market for additional equity and debt capital are ordinarily material considerations in fixing rates. But these factors are of little moment where the applicant has available at all times a fund provided by its parent company from which it may borrow at will for needed improvements or enlargements. What it has to pay for its borrowings from this fund is of more importance. These are some of the "other facts" the statute requires the Commission to consider. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

Capital Investment Determined as of Time Rates Are Effective. — Where a utility is currently investing large amounts of capital in expansion, the Utility Commission should determine the capital invested as of the time the rates fixed by it are to be effective, rather than the average net investment of the utility for the entire test year, since the rates fixed are prospective. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Piedmont Natural Gas Co., 254 N.C. 536, 119 S.E.2d 469 (1961).

Large Sum of Money on Hand for Working Capital. — When, in fixing rates which will produce a fair return on the investment of a utility, it is made to appear that it has on hand continuously a large sum of money it is using as working capital and to pay current bills for materials and supplies, that fact must be taken into consideration. And if the fund on hand is sufficient, no additional sum should be allowed at the expense of the public. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

Where a public utility uses, for operating capital, moneys collected by it in taxes for the federal government which it is not required to pay to the federal government until a later date, the Utilities Commission should take such capital into consideration in fixing rates, which action is neither a condemnation nor a condonement of the practice. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

Advance Billing Not Creditable to Working Capital Requirements. — In determining the local rates for a telephone company, the amounts paid to the company by its customers as a result of the company's practice of billing the customers one month in advance are not creditable to the company's working capital requirements. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Income Produced by Increase of Facilities. — In fixing the rate for a telephone company, the Utilities Commission must take into consideration the net income to be produced by the increase in the number of telephones in service at the end of any test period adopted by the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

Exclusion of Expenditures Relating to Unsuccessful Expansion Attempt. — The Commission's conclusion that expenditures related to utility's unsuccessful attempt to expand its service area should be excluded from its cost of service was supported by substantial evidence and was neither arbitrary nor capricious. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff, 317 N.C. 26, 343 S.E.2d 898 (1986).

Contractual Buy-Back Costs. — The Commission properly classified contractual buy-back costs of power company as operating expenses. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

VI. RATE OF RETURN.

Rate of Return Defined. — The "rate of return" is a percentage which the North Carolina Utilities Commission concludes should be earned on the rate base. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

The overall rate of return is a percentage which the Commission concludes the utility should be permitted to earn on its rate base, which is the cost of the utility's property used and useful in providing service to the public. The rate of return percentage is calculated by subtracting from the utility's revenues its cost of service and dividing the difference by the rate base. State ex rel. Util. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 328 N.C. 37, 399 S.E.2d 98 (1991).

Commission to Determine Fair Rate of Return. — It is for the Commission, not for the Supreme Court, to determine what is a fair rate of return. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982).

Determination of Rate of Return. — Determining the effective rate of return for a particular North Carolina Natural Gas Corporation (NCNG) customer class involves a mathematical computation containing several components. The computation must be performed after the fact by utilizing the financial information for a given test year with adjustments made for any subsequent increase in rates. There are in the computation three basic components which must be ascertained. First, an allocation must be made to determine the portion of the total rate base applicable to each customer class. Likewise an allocation must be made to determine the cost of service or operating expenses applicable to each customer class. Finally, the revenues NCNG collected from each customer class for the test period, adjusted for any subsequent increase in rates, must also be determined. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

The formula for determining the rate of return for each customer class is as follows: Operating revenues less cost of service (operating expenses and taxes) divided by the rate base equals the rate of return. Thus, the rate of return for any particular customer class varies inversely with the amount of the rate base and the amount of the cost of service, and directly with the amount of the revenues, allocated to that customer class. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Consideration of Factors Held Proper. — With regard to investor risk, it was not improper for the Commission to consider the fact that a natural gas supply company was a "small but efficient and well managed natural gas utility." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 323 N.C. 481, 374 S.E.2d 361 (1988).

The law permits the Commission to consider both size and management in assessing investor risk insofar as such risk may bear on an appropriate return on equity capital; a utility's small size may increase investor risk and justify a higher return. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 323 N.C. 481, 374 S.E.2d 361 (1988).

While efficient management should not justify a higher common equity rate of return, it is appropriate for the Commission to consider good management as a factor which reduces investor risk and militates in favor of a lower return on equity capital. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 323 N.C. 481, 374 S.E.2d 361 (1988).

Commission could properly consider increased risk to investors caused by the possible loss of customers who may switch to alternative fuels in its determination of the common equity rate of return for a natural gas supply company. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 323 N.C. 481, 374 S.E.2d 361 (1988).

What constitutes a fair rate of return on common equity is a conclusion of law, which must be predicated on adequate factual findings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 322 N.C. 689, 370 S.E.2d 567 (1988).

A public utility corporation is entitled to a just and reasonable rate of return based upon the fair value of the properties used and useful in rendering the service for which the rate is established. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Greensboro, 244 N.C. 247, 93 S.E.2d 151 (1956).

Even though a utility contemplates no substantial expansion of its plant, and so presently does not contemplate the issuance of either stocks or bonds, it is, nevertheless, entitled to charge rates sufficient to enable it to earn a fair rate of return, as defined in subsection (b)(4), upon the fair value of its properties used and useful in rendering its service in this State. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 575, 232 S.E.2d 177 (1977).

As to a "just and reasonable" rate, see Smyth v. Ames, 169 U.S. 466, 18 S. Ct. 418, 42 L. Ed. 819, modified, 171 U.S. 361, 18 S. Ct. 888, 43 L. Ed. 197 (1898); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

What a "just and reasonable" rate of return is depends on several variables: (1) the rate base which earns the return; (2) the gross income received by the applicant from its authorized operations; (3) the amount to be deducted for operating expenses, which must include the amount of capital investment currently consumed in rendering the service; and (4) what rate constitutes a just and reasonable rate of return on the predetermined rate base. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 348 N.C. 452, 500 S.E.2d 693 (1998).

Reasonableness of Rate of Return Depends on Whether Property Is Fairly Valued. — Whether a 4%, 5%, or 6% return is just and reasonable depends very largely on whether the Commission has placed a fair value on the property of the utility which is used and useful in producing its revenue. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lee Tel. Co., 263 N.C. 702, 140 S.E.2d 319 (1965).

There is no fixed "fair rate of return" applicable to all utility companies, or to a single utility company at all times. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

"Fair rate of return" is one sufficient to enable the utility to attract, on reasonable terms, capital necessary to enable it to render adequate service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

In this State the test of a fair rate of return is that laid down by the Supreme Court of the United States in Bluefield Waterworks & Imp. Co v. Public Serv. Comm'n, 262 U.S. 679, 43 S. Ct. 675, 67 L. Ed. 1176 (1923), namely, if the company continues to earn such a rate of return, will it be able to attract on reasonable terms the capital it needs for the expansion of its service to the public? State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

The rate-making procedure prescribed in this section is designed to yield to the utility a return which will meet the test laid down in Bluefield Waterworks & Imp. Co v. Public Serv.

Comm'n, 262 U.S. 679, 43 S. Ct. 675, 67 L. Ed. 1176 (1923). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

Crucial Question as to Rate of Return. — To require the Commission in a general rate case to go into minute details with respect to each of the proposed increases and the possible inequalities which might be created thereby would distract its attention from the crucial question, namely: What is a fair rate of return on company's investment so as to enable it by sound management to pay a fair profit to its stockholders and to maintain and expand its facilities and services in accordance with the reasonable requirements of its customers in the territory covered by its franchise? State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. County of Harnett, 30 N.C. App. 24, 226 S.E.2d 515 (1976).

What Dollar Return Contemplated. — Under this section a fair rate of return on the fair value of the properties used in rendering the service clearly contemplates the allowance of a greater dollar return than would be allowed if the rate base were the original cost, depreciated, of the same properties, assuming that the value of the properties has been enhanced by inflation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

Power company is entitled to earn same rate of return on fair value of its plant as on retained earnings which it has reinvested in its plant. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

Absolute Accuracy Not Required. — Since the rate of return on the fair value of its properties which will enable a utility company to attract the capital it needs cannot be pinpointed with absolute accuracy, it is universally recognized that, for a utility rendering acceptable service, there is a zone of reasonableness extending over a few hundredths of one percent, within which a rate of return fixed by a regulatory commission will not be disturbed by the courts. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

It is impossible to fix rates which will give the utility each day a fair return, and no more, upon its plant in service on that day. The best that can be done, both from the standpoint of the company and from the standpoint of the person served, is to fix rates on the basis of a substantial period of time. Otherwise, rate hearings and adjustments would be a perpetual process. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

Utility Not Entitled to Compensation for Past Deficit. — Failure of utility, in a previous period, to earn the anticipated return over and above its then expenses, does not authorize it to charge its present customers a rate higher than reasonable for present service in order to compensate for the past deficit. Prospective rate-making to recover unexpected past expense, or to refund expected past expense which did not materialize, is as improper as is retroactive rate-making. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 451, 232 S.E.2d 184 (1977).

Effect of Rate of Return in Other State. — An inadequate return in Virginia would not of itself justify a rate increase in North Carolina, nor would a high rate of return in Virginia justify less than a fair and reasonable rate in North Carolina. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lee Tel. Co., 263 N.C. 702, 140 S.E.2d 319 (1965).

The Utilities Commission of this State does not have the right to fix less than a reasonable or fair rate of return on a telephone company's investment in North Carolina because the utilities commission in Virginia may have fixed rates in Virginia which, in the opinion of the Utilities Commission in this State, gives the company a reasonable return on its entire properties when its Virginia and North Carolina revenues are combined. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Lee Tel. Co., 263 N.C. 702, 140 S.E.2d 319 (1965).

Anticipated Rate of Return. — Adjusted revenue deductions are subtracted from adjusted revenues to determine what net operating income a company may anticipate under the previously established rates, in a period of the same length as the test period, during which all presently known conditions prevail. Such net operating income, divided by the rate base, gives the rate of return which the company may anticipate, on its properties used in rendering its service, under the previously established rates for service, in a period of the same length as the test period, throughout which all presently known conditions prevail. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Finding That New Rate Is Fair Tantamount to Finding Existing Rates Inadequate. — The finding that a new rate represented a fair rate of return on the fair value of a company's utility property is tantamount to a finding that the existing rates were inadequate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 7 N.C. App. 576, 173 S.E.2d 479, rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Less Than Fair Rate of Return Necessitates Raising of Rates. — If the rate of return derived from the previously established rates during the test period, adjusted pro forma, is less than a fair rate of return, this section requires the Commission to raise the company's rates for services, assuming that the quality of service is adequate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

No Change in Rates May Be Justified. — If the rate of return derived from the previously established rates for service during the test period, adjusted pro forma, was fair, no change in the rates for service is justified. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Rate Reduction May Be Required. — If the rate of return derived from the previously established rates for service during the test period, adjusted pro forma, was in excess of a fair rate of return, the statute requires the Commission to reduce the rates for service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Consideration of Expert Opinion Testimony. — The Commission must consider and weigh testimony of expert witnesses, on the question of the fair rate of return, in the light of its own adjustment, for rate-making purposes, of the utility's actual capital structure by its determination of the "fair value" of its properties. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

The Commission may reject the uncontradicted testimony of a utility's expert witnesses as to the fair rate of return on the utility's common equity, and while the better practice is for the Commission to state its reasons for doing so in its order establishing a lower rate of return, it is not required to do so as a matter of law. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982).

Previous findings are not res judicata, even as to what was a fair rate of return on common equity capital as of the dates of former orders, and such findings do not prevent the Commission from finding a lower return on common equity capital fair in a later case, even though the tide of inflation has continued to rise. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

Its former allowance of a rate of return is not res judicata barring the Commission from fixing a lesser rate in a subsequent proceeding. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. State, 239 N.C. 333, 80 S.E.2d 133 (1954).

Failure to Give Specific Findings of Fact Was an Error of Law. — The Commission was required to make specific findings showing what effect, if any, it gave to financing costs or down market protection, or both, in arriving at its common equity rate of return decision. Failure to do so constituted an error of law requiring a remand for further proceedings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 322 N.C. 689, 370 S.E.2d 567 (1988).

Legitimate Justification for Maintaining Industrial and City Rates of Return. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission drew legitimate distinctions which justified its decision to maintain industrial and cities' rates of return at a higher level than residential and commercial and small industrial rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Rates of Return Reasonable and Did Not Discriminate. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission's order contained findings sufficient to justify its conclusion that the approved rates of return were just and reasonable and did not unreasonably discriminate among the various classes of North Carolina Natural Gas Corporation customers and were supported by substantial evidence in view of the whole record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Evidence Held Sufficient to Support Commission's Determination of Rate of Return. — Where the Commission's order showed the Commission considered and gave weight to expert testimony, including that proffered by appellant's expert, and set forth proper factors to support conclusions regarding natural gas supplier's rate of return, the record was sufficient to show that the Commission's decision was supported by competent, material and substantial evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 323 N.C. 481, 374 S.E.2d 361 (1988).

Decision of Utilities Commission to accept an expert's recommendation of an 11.4% return on equity, based on the credibility and objectivity of his company-specific "discounted cash flow" analysis, was independently reached and supported by competent, material, and substantial evidence. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 351 N.C. 223, 524 S.E.2d 10 (2000).

The court may not substitute its judgment for that of the Commission even when it is of the opinion that the rate of return authorized by the Commission is inadequate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 21 N.C. App. 89, 203 S.E.2d 404, rev'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

VII. TEST PERIOD.

Basic, underlying theory of using company's operating experience in a test period, recently ended, in fixing rates to be charged by it for its service in the near future is that rates for service, in effect throughout the test period, will, in the near future, produce the same rate of return on the company's property, used in rendering such service, as was produced by them on such property in the test period, adjusted for known changes in conditions. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982).

Rates Fixed on Basis of Substantial Period of Time. — It is impossible to fix rates which will give the utility each day a fair return, and no more, upon its plant in service on that day. The best that can be done, both from the standpoint of the company and from the standpoint of the persons served, is to fix rates on the basis of a substantial period of time. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Test Period Fixed to Estimate Revenues and Operating Expenses. — For the purpose of making required estimates of the public utility's revenues and operating expenses, the customary and proper procedure is for the Commission to fix a test period of 12 months, ending, as close as practicable, before the opening of the hearing. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Durham, 282 N.C. 308, 193 S.E.2d 95 (1972).

The factors used in fixing rates are to be determined as of the end of the test period. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974).

The plain language of subsection (c) merely provides that the components of the rate making formula are to be determined based on an historical test period, and do not require a nexus between operating expenses and "property used and useful." The statute reserves this requirement solely to the reasonable original cost of the public utility's property, the ratebase component which is described in subdivision (b)(1). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 325 N.C. 463, 385 S.E.2d 451 (1989).

Value of Property Determined as of End of Trial Period. — The Commission is required under subsection (c) to determine the fair value of the utility's property as of the end of the trial period, based on the plant and equipment in operation at that time. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Westco Tel. Co., 266 N.C. 450, 146 S.E.2d 487 (1966), decided prior to 1977 amendment.

Not by Averaging over Period. — The value of plant and service must be determined as of a specific date, the end of the test period, and not by averaging a group of periods or months within a period. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 7 N.C. App. 576, 173 S.E.2d 479, rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 205, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Adjustments for Abnormalities and Changes in Conditions. — The actual experience of the company during the test period, both as to revenues produced and as to operating expenses, is the basis for a reasonably accurate estimate of what may be anticipated in the near future if, but only if, appropriate pro forma adjustments are made for abnormalities which existed in the test period and for changes in conditions occurring during the test period. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Durham, 282 N.C. 308, 193 S.E.2d 95 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 285 N.C. 377, 206 S.E.2d 269 (1974); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

Operating revenue deductions (operating expenses, depreciation, taxes and all other proper deductions from revenue) for expenditures actually made in the test period are adjusted, pro forma, for changes in conditions during the test period, such as an increase in the wage rate, so that the result reflects what would have been the total of such deductions had the conditions, prevailing at the end of the test period, prevailed throughout it. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Pro forma adjustments to revenue are made to reflect what the revenues would have been in the test period, which is usually 12 months, had present conditions prevailed throughout that period, so that the result shows what revenues will be produced in 12 months by application of the previously established rates for service conditions existing at the end of the test period; i.e., at the date, nearest the present, for which data are available. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Subdivision (b)(3) and subsection (c) of this section, taken together, allow the Commission to make pro forma adjustments to revenue and expenses to reflect what their effect would have been had those future conditions prevailed throughout, or at the end of, the test period or to adjust for abnormalities and changes in conditions. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982).

Provisions in this section compel the conclusion that the Utilities Commission is required to adjust test period data to reflect abnormalities which had a probable impact on the utility's revenues and expenses during the test period. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 314 N.C. 171, 333 S.E.2d 259 (1985).

This section requires the Commission to adjust test period data to reflect abnormalities which had a probable impact on the utility's revenues and expenses during the test period. This allows for a reasonably accurate estimate of what may be anticipated in the future. However, no pro forma adjustment is to be made unless the Commission finds that an abnormality having a probable impact on the utility's revenues and expenses existed during the test period. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 316 N.C. 238, 342 S.E.2d 28 (1986).

Since fuel costs comprise a large portion of a utility's expenses, the statutory mandate to normalize test period data includes a requirement that the Commission adjust the test period fuel costs for any abnormalities established by competent, material, and substantial evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 316 N.C. 238, 342 S.E.2d 28 (1986).

Since the system nuclear capacity factor directly impacts upon the generation mix, which in turn affects fuel costs, any abnormality in the system nuclear capacity which is shown to have existed during the test year must be adjusted. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 316 N.C. 238, 342 S.E.2d 28 (1986).

Normalizing of Nuclear Capacity Factors for Test Periods. — Commission did not err by normalizing nuclear capacity factors for test periods to reflect the average lifetime nuclear capacity factors actually achieved by an electric utility as of the end of each of the test periods in question, where such factors did not vary significantly from the national average. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 320 N.C. 1, 358 S.E.2d 35 (1987).

Commission did not improperly refuse to adjust its figure for revenues based on evidence of post-test year growth, even though it increased utility's operating expenses based on other post-test year evidence, where contrary to the Public Staff's contention, there was no correlation between the use of post-test year salary expenses and the utility's increase in customers, as the Commission in its order explained that the use of 1985 estimated salary expenditures was appropriate because it had ordered additional improvements and increased routine maintenance, and thus the increased allowance in operating expenses for salaries did not require any offsetting change in revenue. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff, 317 N.C. 26, 343 S.E.2d 898 (1986).

Probable Future Revenues. — Subsection (c) clearly provides that the Commission is to include in the probable future revenues of the company only those revenues based on the plant and equipment in operation at the end of the test period. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971), decided prior to 1977 amendment.

Estimates regarding probable future revenues and expenses must be based upon the utility's plant and equipment actually in operation at the end of the test period. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976), decided prior to 1977 amendment.

VIII. OTHER FACTS.

A. In General.

The plain meaning of subsection (d) of this section is that, after considering all other factors, considerations and adjustments specifically set forth in the various sections of the statute, the Commission must consider "all other material facts of record" which ought to be taken into consideration in setting rates which are reasonable and just. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982).

Other Facts to Be Established by Evidence and Set Forth in Record. — The Legislature properly understood that, at times, other facts may exist, bearing on value and rates, which the Commission should take into account in addition to those specifically detailed in this section; it was contemplated that such facts be established by evidence, be found by the Commission, and be set forth in the record so that the utility might have them reviewed by the courts. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co. of N.C., Inc., 257 N.C. 233, 125 S.E.2d 457 (1962); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

"Other facts" which the Commission considers in determining the "fair value" of the utility's properties must be found and set forth in its order, so that the reviewing court may see what these elements are and determine the authority of the Commission to consider them as "relevant to the present fair value." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

The "other material facts of record" considered by the Commission under subsection (d) in fixing reasonable and just rates must be found and set forth in its order so that the reviewing court may see what these elements are. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Duke Power Co., 305 N.C. 1, 287 S.E.2d 786 (1982).

Right to Consider "Other Facts" Limited. — This section gives the Commission the right to consider "all other material facts" that will enable it to determine what are reasonable and just rates, but this right is not a grant to roam at large in an unfenced field. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

The right of the Commission to consider "all other material facts" is not a grant to roam at large in an unfenced field. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 257 N.C. 233, 125 S.E.2d 457 (1962).

B. Quality and Adequacy of Service.

Subsection (d) of this section authorizes the Commission to consider quality of service as a factor in determining what constitutes just and reasonable rates to be charged by a utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 7 N.C. App. 576, 173 S.E.2d 479, rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Evidence of service deficiencies provides other material facts of record which the Commission is required to consider in making its determination as to what are just and reasonable rates for the quality of service which the applicant utility is providing its customers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

Serious inadequacy of service, found by the Commission upon substantial evidence, is one of the facts which the Commission is required by this section to take into account in making a determination of rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

It was not the intent of the legislature to require the Commission to fix rates without any regard to the quality of the service rendered by the utility and thus to assure a "complacent monopoly" a "fair return upon the fair value of its properties" while it persists in rendering mediocre service and turns a deaf ear both to customer complaints and to Commission orders for improvement. On the contrary, the quality of the service rendered is, necessarily, a factor to be considered in fixing the "just and reasonable" rate therefor. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

This section lays down the procedure by which the Commission is to fix rates which will enable the utility "by sound management" to pay all of its costs of operation, including maintenance, depreciation and taxes, and have left a fair return upon the fair value of its properties, but this must be applied in the light of the provisions of this Chapter relating to the duty of the utility to render adequate service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

Serious inadequacy of a utility company's service, whether due to poor maintenance of its equipment or to other causes, is one of the facts which the Commission is required to take into account in determining what is a reasonable rate to be charged by the particular utility company for the service it proposes to render. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 48 N.C. App. 453, 269 S.E.2d 657, cert. denied, 301 N.C. 531, 273 S.E.2d 462 (1980).

Commission Is Not Required to Ignore Inadequate Service. — It is not reasonable to construe subsection (b) of this section to require the Commission to shut its eyes to "poor" and "substandard" service resulting from a company's willful or negligent failure to maintain its properties or to heed complaints from its subscribers when the Commission is called upon by the company to permit it to increase its rates for its inadequate service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

But the Commission is not forbidden to grant a rate increase to a company whose service is inadequate, even though the inadequacy be due to a willful or negligent failure by the company to perform its duty. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

In a hearing upon an application by a telephone company for a rate increase in its franchise area, the Utilities Commission is authorized to grant the company an increase in the rates charged to its customers, notwithstanding a finding by the Commission that the quality of service rendered by the company was poor and substandard. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 7 N.C. App. 576, 173 S.E.2d 479, rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Assuming adequate findings of fact, supported by competent, substantial evidence, there is nothing in the provisions of this Chapter which makes it unlawful for the Commission, in the exercise of its sound administrative discretion, to conclude that an increase in rates is warranted, notwithstanding existing service inadequacy due to the company's neglect of its properties, and that such increase is an appropriate step in the improvement of the service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Efficiency of Operations. — It is not only entirely appropriate but even necessary for the Commission to take into account the efficiency of the company's operations in fixing its rates in a general rate case as provided in this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff—North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 58 N.C. App. 453, 293 S.E.2d 888 (1982), modified and aff'd, 309 N.C. 195, 306 S.E.2d 435 (1983).

Customer Should Not Be Required to Pay for Inefficiency. — If a utility fails to provide adequate service on account of inefficient management, rates should not be permitted which would require the customer to pay for this inefficiency. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 7 N.C. App. 576, 173 S.E.2d 479, rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405, aff'd, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

Subtraction for Consistently Poor Service in Ascertaining Fair Value. — Consistently poor service, attributable to defective or inadequate or poorly designed equipment or construction, justifies a subtraction from both the original cost and the reproduction cost of the existing plant before weighing these factors in ascertaining the present "fair value" of the properties. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

Reduction of Rate Where Inadequate Service Due to Defective Equipment. — If inadequate service is attributable to defective, inadequate or poorly designed equipment or construction or obsolete equipment, then the Commission is justified in reducing the present fair value of the utilities' properties. In such a case, this is not a penalty, and a reduction of the rate arrived at by way of penalty for inadequate service is justified. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 408, 204 S.E.2d 529, rev'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

Poorly maintained equipment justifies a subtraction from both the original cost and the reproduction cost of existing plant before weighing these factors in ascertaining the present "fair value" rate base of the utility's properties as required by this section. Serious inadequacy of a utility company's service, whether due to poor maintenance of its equipment or to other causes, is one of the facts which the Commission is required to take into account in determining what is a reasonable rate to be charged by the particular utility company for the service it proposes to render. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff—North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 58 N.C. App. 453, 293 S.E.2d 888 (1982), modified and aff'd, 309 N.C. 195, 306 S.E.2d 435 (1983).

Reduction of Rates Where Due to Bad Management. — When, upon substantial evidence, a public utility is found to be rendering grossly inadequate service, due to bad management and managerial indifference, and the rates presently charged by it yield a return sufficient to pay the interest on its indebtedness and a substantial dividend upon its stock, but less than that which would be deemed a fair return upon the fair value of its properties were the service adequate, the Utilities Commission may lawfully deny it authority to increase its rates for such service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

Inadequacy of service due not to the condition of the properties but to inefficient personnel, bad management and the indifference of a "complacent monopoly" does not relate to the value of the properties, but to the value of the service and to the reasonableness of the rates proposed to be charged therefor. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

If reduction from fair value of utilities' properties is because of inadequate service due to inefficient personnel and human error, then the reduction amounts to a penalty, and a further penalty for inadequate service by reduction of rate is not justified by statute or by decided cases. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 408, 204 S.E.2d 529, rev'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

Fuel Costs. — The requirement, for general rate cases, of an inquiry into the reasonableness of costs incurred extends to fuel costs incurred by the utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff—North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 58 N.C. App. 480, 293 S.E.2d 880 (1982), rev'd on other grounds, 309 N.C. 195, 306 S.E.2d 435 (1983).

Finding Required as to Quality of Service. — The Commission may not lawfully ignore the duty imposed upon it by this section to consider the quality of service by reason of the company's poor service, nor does it discharge that duty by a mere statement that it has considered the matter, without showing the effect given to it. Such finding or conclusion is necessary to enable a reviewing court to determine whether the duty imposed by statute has been performed. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

If the Commission found the quality of a utility's service to fall short of the requirement in § 62-131 that it be adequate, efficient and reasonable, then the Commission should make specific findings showing the effect of any such inadequacy upon its decision under this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 12 N.C. App. 598, 184 S.E.2d 526 (1971), modified and aff'd, 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

The Commission must make a specific finding showing the effect it gave the relevant factor of consistently poor service, if it made a deduction from the original cost and reproduction cost of the existing plant on that account. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 21 N.C. App. 408, 204 S.E.2d 529, rev'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974).

The Bluefield test assumes reasonably good service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 285 N.C. 671, 208 S.E.2d 681 (1974). See notes under analysis line VI, Rate of Return.

§ 62-133.1. Small water and sewer utility rates.

(a) In fixing the rates for any water or sewer utility, the Commission may fix such rates on the ratio of the operating expenses to the operating revenues, such ratio to be determined by the Commission, unless the utility requests that such rates be fixed under G.S. 62-133(b). Nothing in this subsection shall be held to extinguish any remedy or right not inconsistent herewith. This subsection shall be in addition to other provisions of this Chapter which relate to public utilities generally, except that in cases of conflict between such other provisions, this section shall prevail for water and sewer utilities.

(b) A water or sewer utility may enter into uniform contracts with nonusers of its utility service within a specific subdivision or development for the payment by such nonusers to the utility of a fee or charge for placing or maintaining lines or other facilities or otherwise making and keeping such utility's service available to such nonusers; or such a utility may, by contract of assignment, receive the benefits and assume the obligations of uniform contracts entered into between the developers of subdivisions and the purchasers of lots in such subdivisions whereby such developer has contracted to make utility service available to lots in such subdivision and purchasers of such lots have contracted to pay a fee or charge for the availability of such utility service; provided, however, that the maximum nonuser rate shall be as established by contract, except that the contractual charge to nonusers of the utility service can never exceed the lawfully established minimum rate to user customers of the utility service. (1973, c. 956, s. 2.)

CASE NOTES

This section was enacted in direct response to the Utilities Commission's conclusion that nonusers were not "consumers" of the utility and that an "availability charge" could not be made to property owners solely because they owned land in an area served by the utility. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Transylvania Util. Co., 30 N.C. App. 336, 226 S.E.2d 824, cert. denied, 291 N.C. 179, 229 S.E.2d 692 (1976).

Section Proscribes Commission's Power. — By enacting this section, the General Assembly proscribed the Commission's power to disapprove charges called for in uniform contracts between utilities and nonuser property owners if the charges do not exceed those expressly authorized by the statute. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Transylvania Util. Co., 30 N.C. App. 336, 226 S.E.2d 824, cert. denied, 291 N.C. 179, 229 S.E.2d 692 (1976).

Components of Expenses Must Be Examined. — For rates to be reasonable, the figures from which they are derived must be reasonable. To uphold its statutory duty to establish reasonable rates, then, the Commission must examine each of the components going to make up a utility's expenses for reasonableness. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 52 N.C. App. 222, 278 S.E.2d 761 (1981), rev'd on other grounds, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

§ 62-133.2. Fuel charge adjustments for electric utilities.

(a) The Commission may allow electric utilities to charge a uniform increment or decrement as a rider to their rates for changes in the cost of fuel and the fuel component of purchased power used in providing their North Carolina customers with electricity from the cost of fuel and the fuel component of purchased power established in their previous general rate case.

(b) For each electric utility engaged in the generation and production of electric power by fossil or nuclear fuels, the Commission shall hold a hearing within 12 months of the last general rate case order and determine whether an increment or decrement rider is required to reflect actual changes in the cost of fuel and the fuel cost component of purchased power over or under base rates established in the last preceding general rate case. Additional hearings shall be held on an annual basis but only one hearing for each such electric utility may be held within 12 months of the last general rate case.

(c) Each electric utility shall submit to the Commission for the hearing verified annualized information and data in such form and detail as the Commission may require, for an historic 12-month test period, relating to:

(1) Purchased cost of fuel used in each generating facility owned in whole or in part by the utility.
(2) Fuel procurement practices and fuel inventories for each facility.
(3) Burned cost of fuel used in each generating facility.
(4) Plant capacity factor for each generating facility.
(5) Plant availability factor for each generating plant.
(6) Generation mix by types of fuel used.
(7) Sources and fuel cost component of purchased power used.
(8) Recipients of and revenues received for power sales and times of power sales.
(9) Test period kilowatt hour sales for the utility's total system and on the total system separated for North Carolina jurisdictional sales.

(d) The Commission shall provide for notice of a public hearing with reasonable and adequate time for investigation and for all intervenors to prepare for hearing. At the hearing the Commission shall receive evidence from the utility, the public staff, and any intervenor desiring to submit evidence, and from the public generally. In reaching its decision, the Commission shall consider all evidence required under subsection (c) of this section as well as any and all other competent evidence that may assist the Commission in reaching its decision including changes in the price of fuel consumed and changes in the price of the fuel in the fuel component of purchased power occurring within a reasonable time (as determined by the Commission) after the test period is closed. The Commission shall incorporate in its fuel cost determination under this subsection the experienced over-recovery or under-recovery of reasonable fuel expenses prudently incurred during the test period, based upon the prudent standards set pursuant to subsection (d1) of this section, in fixing an increment or decrement rider. The Commission shall use deferral accounting, and consecutive test periods, in complying with this subsection, and the over-recovery or under-recovery portion of the increment or decrement shall be reflected in rates for 12 months, notwithstanding any changes in the base fuel cost in a general rate case. The burden of proof as to the correctness and reasonableness of the charge and as to whether the fuel charges were reasonably and prudently incurred shall be on the utility. The Commission shall allow only that portion, if any, of a requested fuel adjustment that is based on adjusted and reasonable fuel expenses prudently incurred under efficient management and economic operations. In evaluating whether fuel expenses were reasonable and prudently incurred, the Commission shall apply the rule adopted pursuant to subsection (d1). To the extent that the Commission determines that an increment or decrement to the rates of the utility due to changes in the cost of fuel and the fuel cost component of purchased power over or under base fuel costs established in the preceding general rate case is just and reasonable, the Commission shall order that the increment or decrement become effective for all sales of electricity and remain in effect until changed in a subsequent general rate case or annual proceeding under this section.

(d1) Within one year after ratification of this act, for the purposes of setting fuel rates, the Commission shall adopt a rule that establishes prudent standards and procedures with which it can appropriately measure management efficiency in minimizing fuel costs.

(e) If the Commission has not issued an order pursuant to this section within 120 days of a utility's submission of annual data under subsection (c) of this section, the utility may place the requested fuel adjustment into effect. If the change in rate is finally determined to be excessive, the utility shall make refund of any excess plus interest to its customers in a manner ordered by the Commission.

(f) Nothing in this section shall relieve the Commission from its duty to consider the reasonableness of fuel expenses in a general rate case and to set rates reflecting reasonable fuel expenses pursuant to G.S. 62-133.

(g) On July 1, 1993 and every two years thereafter, the Utilities Commission shall provide a report to the Joint Legislative Utility Review Committee summarizing the procedures conducted pursuant to G.S. 62-133.2 during the preceding two years. (1981 (Reg. Sess., 1982), c. 1197, s. 1; 1987, c. 677, ss. 1, 5; 1989, c. 15, s. 1; 1991, c. 129, s. 1; 1995, c. 15, ss. 1, 2.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1987, c. 677, ss. 2 and 3 provide:

"The enactment of this act shall be construed as clarifying rather than changing the meaning of G.S. 62-133.2 as it was previously worded and as construed by the Utilities Commission in Commission Rule R8-55 so that electric utilities will recover only their reasonable fuel expenses prudently incurred, including the fuel cost component of purchased power, with no over-recovery or under-recovery, in a manner that will serve the public interest.

"Until the Commission has formally adopted a rule as prescribed by subsection (d1) of G.S. 62-133.2 all fuel charge adjustment proceedings shall be heard and decided pursuant to the applicable provisions of subsection (a), (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of G.S. 62-133.2 and Commission Rule R8-55."

Session Laws 1995, c. 15, s. 2 was codified as subsection (g) of this section at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

CASE NOTES

This section was enacted by the General Assembly in order to eliminate undesirable limitations which existed under former § 62-134(e). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 84 N.C. App. 482, 353 S.E.2d 413 (1987).

Subsections (a) and (d) Compared. — Subsection (a) of this section defines what decision the Commission is authorized to make, while subsection (d) of this section directs how the Commission should reach its decision. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 84 N.C. App. 482, 353 S.E.2d 413 (1987).

True-Ups for Past over or Under Recoveries Not Authorized. — This section was not intended by the General Assembly to authorize true-ups for past over-recoveries or under-recoveries of fuel costs or the fuel component of purchased power of electric utilities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 84 N.C. App. 482, 353 S.E.2d 413 (1987).

By enacting subsection (d) of this section, the General Assembly did not modify the judicially adopted rule prohibiting retroactive rate making, heretofore extant in this State, so as to authorize the Utilities Commission to employ an Experience Modification Factor in connection with an electric utility's fuel charge adjustment proceedings in order to provide for a "true-up" of the utility's past over-recoveries or under-recoveries of fuel costs. Subsection (d) does not authorize such a "true-up" system. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thornburg, 84 N.C. App. 482, 353 S.E.2d 413 (1987).

§ 62-133.3: Repealed by Session Laws 1995, c. 27, s. 5.

§ 62-133.4. Gas cost adjustment for natural gas local distribution companies.

(a) Rate changes for natural gas local distribution companies occasioned by changes in the cost of natural gas supply and transportation may be determined under this section rather than under G.S. 62-133(b), (c), or (d).

(b) From time to time, as changes in the cost of natural gas require, each natural gas local distribution company may apply to the Commission for permission to change its rates to track changes in the cost of natural gas supply and transportation. The Commission may, without a hearing, issue an order allowing such rate changes to become effective simultaneously with the effective date of the change in the cost of natural gas or at any other time ordered by the Commission. If the Commission has not issued an order under this subsection within 120 days after the application, the utility may place the requested rate adjustment into effect. If the rate adjustment is finally determined to be excessive or is denied, the utility shall make refund of any excess, plus interest as provided in G.S. 62-130(e), to its customers in a manner ordered by the Commission. Any rate adjustment under this subsection is subject to review under subsection (c) of this section.

(c) Each natural gas local distribution company shall submit to the Commission information and data for an historical 12-month test period concerning the utility's actual cost of gas, volumes of purchased gas, sales volumes, negotiated sales volumes, and transportation volumes. This information and data shall be filed on an annual basis in the form and detail and at the time required by the Commission. The Commission, upon notice and hearing, shall compare the utility's prudently incurred costs with costs recovered from all the utility's customers that it served during the test period. If those prudently incurred costs are greater or less than the recovered costs, the Commission shall, subject to G.S. 62-158, require the utility to refund any overrecovery by credit to bill or through a decrement in its rates and shall permit the utility to recover any deficiency through an increment in its rates.

(d) Nothing in this section prohibits the Commission from investigating and changing unreasonable rates as authorized by this Chapter, nor does it prohibit the Commission from disallowing the recovery of any gas costs not prudently incurred by a utility.

(e) As used in this section, the word "cost" or "costs" shall be defined by Commission rule or order and may include all costs related to the purchase and transportation of natural gas to the natural gas local distribution company's system. (1991, c. 598, s. 8.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1998-22, s. 15, effective June 30, 1998, authorizes the Utilities Commission to study the transportation rates charged by local distribution companies to transport piped natural gas from the interstate pipeline to the consumer.

Session Laws 1998-22, s. 16, is a severability clause.

§ 62-133.5. Alternative regulation, tariffing, and deregulation of telecommunications utilities.

(a) Any local exchange company, subject to the provisions of G.S. 62-110(f1), that is subject to rate of return regulation pursuant to G.S. 62-133 or a form of alternative regulation authorized by subsection (b) of this section may elect to have the rates, terms, and conditions of its services determined pursuant to a form of price regulation, rather than rate of return or other form of earnings regulation. Under this form of price regulation, the Commission shall, among other things, permit the local exchange company to determine and set its own depreciation rates, to rebalance its rates, and to adjust its prices in the aggregate, or to adjust its prices for various aggregated categories of services, based upon changes in generally accepted indices of prices. Upon application, the Commission shall, after notice and an opportunity for interested parties to be heard, approve such price regulation, which may differ between local exchange companies, upon finding that the plan as proposed (i) protects the affordability of basic local exchange service, as such service is defined by the Commission; (ii) reasonably assures the continuation of basic local exchange service that meets reasonable service standards that the Commission may adopt; (iii) will not unreasonably prejudice any class of telephone customers, including telecommunications companies; and (iv) is otherwise consistent with the public interest. Upon approval, and except as provided in subsection (c) of this section, price regulation shall thereafter be the sole form of regulation imposed upon the electing local exchange company, and the Commission shall thenceforth regulate the electing local exchange company's prices, rather than its earnings. The Commission shall issue an order denying or approving the proposed plan for price regulation, with or without modification, not more than 90 days from the filing of the application. However, the Commission may extend the time period for an additional 90 days at the discretion of the Commission. If the Commission approves the application with modifications, the local exchange company subject to such approval may accept the modifications and implement the proposed plan as modified, or may, at its option, (i) withdraw its application and continue to be regulated under the form of regulation that existed immediately prior to the filing of the application; (ii) file another proposed plan for price regulation; or (iii) file an application for a form of alternative regulation under subsection (b) of this section. If the initial price regulation plan is approved with modifications and the local exchange company files another plan pursuant to part (ii) of the previous sentence, the Commission shall issue an order denying or approving the proposed plan for price regulation, with or without modifications, not more than 90 days from that filing by the local exchange company.

(b) Any local exchange company that is subject to rate of return regulation pursuant to G.S. 62-133 and which elects not to file for price regulation under the provisions of subsection (a) above may file an application with the Commission for forms of alternative regulation, which may differ between companies and may include, but are not limited to, ranges of authorized returns, categories of services, and price indexing. Upon application, the Commission shall approve such alternative regulatory plan upon finding that the plan as proposed (i) protects the affordability of basic local exchange service, as such service is defined by the Commission; (ii) reasonably assures the continuation of basic local exchange service that meets reasonable service standards established by the Commission; (iii) will not unreasonably prejudice any class of telephone customers, including telecommunications companies; and (iv) is otherwise consistent with the public interest. The Commission shall issue an order denying or approving the proposed plan with or without modification, not more than 90 days from the filing of the application. However, the Commission may extend the time period for an additional 90 days at the discretion of the Commission. If the Commission approves the application with modifications, the local exchange company subject to such approval may, at its option, accept the modifications and implement the proposed plan as modified or may, at its option, (i) withdraw its application and continue to be regulated under the form of regulation that existed at the time of filing the application; or (ii) file an application for another form of alternative regulation. If the initial plan is approved with modifications and the local exchange company files another plan pursuant to part (ii) of the previous sentence, the Commission shall issue an order denying or approving the proposed plan, with or without modifications, not more than 90 days from that filing by the local exchange company.

(c) Any local exchange company subject to price regulation under the provisions of subsection (a) of this section may file an application with the Commission to modify such form of price regulation or for other forms of regulation. Any local exchange company subject to a form of alternative regulation under subsection (b) of this section may file an application with the Commission to modify such form of alternative regulation. Upon application, the Commission shall approve such other form of regulation upon finding that the plan as proposed (i) protects the affordability of basic local exchange service, as such service is defined by the Commission; (ii) reasonably assures the continuation of basic local exchange service that meets reasonable service standards established by the Commission; (iii) will not unreasonably prejudice any class of telephone customers, including telecommunications companies; and (iv) is otherwise consistent with the public interest.

(d) Any local exchange company subject to price regulation under the provisions of subsection (a) of this section, or other alternative regulation under subsection (b) of this section, or other form of regulation under subsection (c) of this section shall file tariffs for basic local exchange service and toll switched access services stating the terms and conditions of the services and the applicable rates. The filing of any tariff changing the terms and conditions of such services or increasing the rates for such services shall be presumed valid and shall become effective, unless otherwise suspended by the Commission for a term not to exceed 45 days, 14 days after filing. Any tariff reducing rates for basic local exchange service or toll switched access service shall be presumed valid and shall become effective, unless otherwise suspended by the Commission for a term not to exceed 45 days, seven days after filing. Any local exchange company subject to price regulation under the provisions of subsection (a) of this section, or other alternative regulation under subsection (b) of this section, or other form of regulation under subsection (c) of this section may file tariffs for services other than basic local exchange services and toll switched access services. Any tariff changing the terms and conditions of such services or increasing the rates for an existing service or establishing the terms, conditions, or rates for a new service shall be presumed valid and shall become effective, unless otherwise suspended by the Commission for a term not to exceed 45 days, 14 days after filing. Any tariff reducing the rates for such services shall be presumed valid and shall become effective, unless otherwise suspended by the Commission for a term not to exceed 45 days, seven days after filing. In the event of a complaint with regard to a tariff filing under this subsection, the Commission may take such steps as it deems appropriate to assure that such tariff filing is consistent with the plan previously adopted pursuant to subsection (a) of this section, subsection (b) of this section, or subsection (c) of this section.

(e) Any allegation of anticompetitive activity by a competing local provider or a local exchange company shall be raised in a complaint proceeding pursuant to G.S. 62-73.

(f) Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 62-140, the Commission shall permit a local exchange company or a competing local provider to offer competitive services with flexible pricing arrangements to business customers pursuant to contract and shall permit other flexible pricing options.

(g) The following sections of Chapter 62 of the General Statutes shall not apply to local exchange companies subject to price regulation under the terms of subsection (a) of this section: G.S. 62-35(c), 62-45, 62-51, 62-81, 62-111, 62-130, 62-131, 62-132, 62-133, 62-134, 62-135, 62-136, 62-137, 62-139, 62-142, and 62-153. (1995, c. 27, s. 6.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1995, c. 27, s. 6.1, effective July 1, 1995, provides that beginning on October 1, 1997, and every two years thereafter, the utilities Commission and the Public Staff shall each provide a report to the Joint Legislative Utility Review Committee that summarizes procedures conducted pursuant to this act during the preceding two years.

§ 62-134. Change of rates; notice; suspension and investigation.

(a) Unless the Commission otherwise orders, no public utility shall make any changes in any rate which has been duly established under this Chapter, except after 30 days' notice to the Commission, which notice shall plainly state the changes proposed to be made in the rates then in force, and the time when the changed rates will go into effect. The public utility shall also give such notice, which may include notice by publication, of the proposed changes to other interested persons as the Commission in its discretion may direct. All proposed changes shall be shown by filing new schedules, or shall be plainly indicated upon schedules filed and in force at the time and kept open to public inspection. The Commission, for good cause shown in writing, may allow changes in rates without requiring the 30 days' notice, under such conditions as it may prescribe. All such changes shall be immediately indicated upon its schedules by such public utility.

(b) Whenever there is filed with the Commission by any public utility any schedule stating a new or revised rate or rates, the Commission may, either upon complaint or upon its own initiative, upon reasonable notice, enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of such rate or rates. Pending such hearing and the decision thereon, the Commission, upon filing with such schedule and delivering to the public utility affected thereby a statement in writing of its reasons therefor, may, at any time before they become effective, suspend the operation of such rate or rates, but not for a longer period than 270 days beyond the time when such rate or rates would otherwise go into effect. If the proceeding has not been concluded and an order made within the period of suspension, the proposed change of rate shall go into effect at the end of such period. After hearing, whether completed before or after the rate goes into effect, the Commission may make such order with respect thereto as would be proper in a proceeding instituted after it had become effective.

(c) At any hearing involving a rate changed or sought to be changed by the public utility, the burden of proof shall be upon the public utility to show that the changed rate is just and reasonable.

(d) Notwithstanding the provisions of this Article, any public utility engaged solely in distributing electricity to retail customers, which electricity has been purchased at wholesale rates from another public utility, an electric membership corporation or a municipality, may in its discretion, and without the necessity of public hearings as in this section is otherwise provided, elect to adopt the same retail rates to customers charged by the public utility, electric membership corporation or municipality from whom the wholesale power is purchased for the same service, unless the North Carolina Utility Commission finds upon a hearing, either on its own initiative or upon complaint, that the rate of return earned by such utility upon the basis of such rates is unjust and unreasonable. In such a proceeding the burden of proof shall be upon the electrical distribution company.

(e) Repealed by Session Laws 1981 (Regular Session, 1982), c. 1197, s. 2.

(f) The Commission may adopt rules prescribing the information and exhibits required to be filed with any applications, or tariff for an increase in utility rates, including but not limited to all of the evidence or proof through the end of the test period which the utility will rely on at any hearing on such increase, and the Commission may suspend such increase until such data, information or exhibits are filed, in addition to the time provided for suspension of such increase in other provisions of this Chapter.

(g) The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to bus companies or to their rates, fares or tariffs.

(h) Notwithstanding the requirements of subsections (a) and (b) of this section, the Commission may, in lieu of fixing specific rates or tariffs for competitive services offered by a public utility defined in G.S. 62-3(23)a6, adopt practices and procedures to permit pricing flexibility, detariffing services, or both. In exercising its authority to permit pricing flexibility, detariffing of services, or both, the Commission shall first determine that the service is competitive. After a determination that the service is competitive, the Commission shall consider the following in deciding whether to permit pricing flexibility, detariffing of services, or both:

(1) The extent to which competing telecommunications services are available from alternative providers in the relevant geographic or service market;

(2) The market share, growth in market share, ease of entry, and affiliations of alternative providers;

(3) The size and number of alternative providers and the ability of such alternative providers to make functionally equivalent or substitute services readily available at competitive rates and on competitive terms and conditions;

(4) Whether the exercise of Commission authority produces tangible benefits to consumers that exceed those available by reliance on market forces;

(5) Whether the exercise of Commission authority inhibits the public utility from competing with unregulated providers of functionally equivalent telecommunications services;

(6) Whether the existence of competition tends to prevent abuses, unjust discrimination or excessive charges for the service or facility offered;

(7) Whether the public utility would gain an unfair advantage in its competitive activities; and

(8) Any other relevant factors protecting the public interest.

(i) On motion of any interested party and for good cause shown, the Commission shall hold hearings prior to adopting any pricing flexibility or detariffing of services permitted under this section. The Commission may also revoke a determination made under this section when the Commission determines, after notice and opportunity to be heard, that the public interest requires that the rates and charges for the service be more fully regulated.

(j) Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 62-140, the Commission may permit public utilities subject to subsection (h) of this section to offer competitive services to business customers upon agreement between the public utility and the customer provided the services are compensatory and cover the costs of providing the service. (1933, c. 307, s. 7; 1939, c. 365, s. 3; 1941, c. 97; 1945, c. 725; 1947, c. 1008, s. 24; 1949, c. 1132, s. 22; 1959, c. 422; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1971, c. 551; 1973, c. 1444; 1975, c. 243, s. 8; c. 510, c. 867, s. 7; 1981 (Reg. CASE NOTES

I. In General.

II. Suspension of Rate Changes.

III. Rate Changes Based on Fuel Costs Under Former Subsection (e).

I. IN GENERAL.

Ex Parte Order Allowing Effectuation of Fuel Adjustment Clause Held Constitutional. — An order entered ex parte allowing a utility to effectuate a fuel adjustment clause did not, in view of the procedures available to contest such action, violate N.C. Const., Art. I, § 19. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

Limits on Commission's Authority. — The Commission is a creation of the legislature and, in fixing rates to be charged by public utilities, exercises the legislative function. It has no authority except that given to it by statute. A fortiori, the Commission has no authority to permit that which is forbidden by this section or to extend a previously granted rate increase which former subsection (e) declared terminated. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 451, 232 S.E.2d 184 (1977).

Power to Refrain from Prescribing Conditions. — The power to prescribe conditions under subsection (a), like the power to suspend rate changes, includes the power to refrain from prescribing them. Thus the Commission by its affirmative order may allow applied-for rate changes to become immediately effective, conditionally or unconditionally. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

Authority to Enter Interim Orders. — Section 62-135 and this section clearly authorize the Commission to permit rate schedule changes applied for by a utility to be placed into effect on an interim basis before hearing and final determination. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

The Utilities Commission had authority to enter an interim order allowing a power company's initially requested rate increase to go into effect pending final determination of the case, subject to the refund with interest of any portion of the increase ultimately determined to be excessive. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 16 N.C. App. 445, 192 S.E.2d 842 (1972).

Petition to Be Determined on Basis of Facts Existing When Increase Effective. — The Utilities Commission must determine a petition for an increase in telephone rates on the basis of the facts existing at the time such increase is effective. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Western Carolina Tel. Co., 260 N.C. 369, 132 S.E.2d 873 (1963).

And Not on Basis of Subsequent Events. — The Utilities Commission cannot consider events occurring subsequent to the date certain rates went into effect, to ascertain what were proper rates on that date. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Western Carolina Tel. Co., 260 N.C. 369, 132 S.E.2d 873 (1963).

If a subsequent change in conditions warrants a new rate, such new rate must relate to the date of change. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Western Carolina Tel. Co., 260 N.C. 369, 132 S.E.2d 873 (1963).

Transfer of Exchanges to Subsidiary During Pendency of Petition. — Where a telephone company, during the pendency of its petition for an increase in rates, transfers part of its exchanges to a subsidiary, the Utilities Commission, in the exercise of its discretion, may make the subsidiary a formal party and treat the original petition as a joint petition for a uniform system of rates; or it may make the subsidiary a party and fix proper rates for the subsidiary's exchanges and for the original petitioner's exchanges. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Western Carolina Tel. Co., 260 N.C. 369, 132 S.E.2d 873 (1963).

The parties must be accorded an opportunity to be heard with respect to the effect, if any, a subsequent change in conditions had on the rate structure, and a denial of such opportunity would be a deprivation of due process. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Western Carolina Tel. Co., 260 N.C. 369, 132 S.E.2d 873 (1963).

The Commission's findings, supported by substantial evidence, may not properly be set aside by the reviewing court merely because a different conclusion could have been reached upon the evidence. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mebane Home Tel. Co., 35 N.C. App. 588, 242 S.E.2d 165 (1978), aff'd, 298 N.C. 162, 257 S.E.2d 623 (1979).

Decision Upheld Unless Assailable Under § 62-94(b). — The decision of the Commission with regard to rates for public utilities will be upheld by the Court of Appeals on appeal unless it is assailable on one of the grounds enumerated in § 62-94(b). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mebane Home Tel. Co., 35 N.C. App. 588, 242 S.E.2d 165 (1978), aff'd, 298 N.C. 162, 257 S.E.2d 623 (1979).

For discussion of procedure to be followed in request for coal adjustment clause prior to 1975 enactment of former subsection (e), see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 26 N.C. App. 662, 217 S.E.2d 201 (1975), aff'd, 291 N.C. 361, 230 S.E.2d 671 (1976).

Applied in State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 267 N.C. 317, 148 S.E.2d 210 (1966); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972); State ex rel. II. SUSPENSION OF RATE CHANGES.

Language of Subsection (b) Is Permissive. — While the language of subsection (b) gives the Commission authority to suspend changes in rates subject to the time limitation imposed, it does not require that it do so. The language is permissive, not mandatory. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 16 N.C. App. 445, 192 S.E.2d 842 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

The power granted the Commission by subsection (b) to suspend a requested change in rates is a discretionary one which the Commission may, but need not, exercise. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 29 N.C. App. 428, 225 S.E.2d 101, aff'd, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

Authority to Suspend Rates for Lesser Period. — The authority to suspend rates for not more than 270 days clearly includes the power to suspend them for some lesser period. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 16 N.C. App. 445, 192 S.E.2d 842 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

Power to Suspend Portion of Change for Lesser Period. — The discretionary power granted the Commission by subsection (b) to suspend a proposed change in rates for a period not longer than 270 days clearly includes the lesser power to suspend a portion of the change for some lesser period. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 29 N.C. App. 428, 225 S.E.2d 101, aff'd, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

Suspension of Rates May Be Withdrawn or Modified. — Nothing in this section indicates a legislative intent that once the Commission exercises its discretionary power and suspends rates, it thereby necessarily exhausts its authority in that regard, so as thereafter to be precluded from withdrawing or modifying the suspension. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 16 N.C. App. 445, 192 S.E.2d 842 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

It is entirely consistent with the statutory procedure contemplated by this section that upon the filing with the Commission by a utility of a new or revised rate, the Commission, if it exercises its discretion to suspend such rate, should (1) act promptly and suspend the rate for up to the maximum period it is permitted to do so; (2) hold a preliminary hearing, if the Commission should deem this desirable, to receive additional evidence and information; and (3) in the clearer light furnished by the additional information so acquired, reconsider its original order and either modify it or cancel it altogether. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 16 N.C. App. 445, 192 S.E.2d 842 (1972).

Implicit within the discretionary authority granted to determine whether and for how long to suspend is the discretion to cancel or modify a suspension once it has been made, and nothing in the language of this section suggests that the legislature intended that the Commission could exercise the discretionary authority granted it only if it did so on an all-or-nothing, once-and-for-all basis. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

III. RATE CHANGES BASED ON FUEL COSTS UNDER FORMER SUBSECTION (E).

The purpose of the expedited fuel proceeding was to allow a utility to change its rates based solely on fluctuations in fuel costs. The reasonableness of the utility's based fuel costs are not to be considered. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Conservation Council, 312 N.C. 59, 320 S.E.2d 679 (1984).

From a review of the language, purpose and history of former subsection (e), it can be concluded that the legislature intended that the Utilities Commission consider in the fuel adjustment proceedings only the fluctuations in the price of fossil fuels — oil, coal and natural gas — used by the utility in the production of electric power in its own generating units. The legislature did not intend to include in the expedited hearing proceedings the myriad of issues relating to purchased or interchange power which necessarily require closer scrutiny. Subsequent action by the legislature in enacting § 62-133.2, which makes express provision for the consideration of such issues in the general rate cases, has now made its intent clear. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 309 N.C. 195, 306 S.E.2d 435 (1983).

Former subsection (e) dealt specifically with the continuation of previously granted rate increases based solely on the increased cost of fuel. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 451, 232 S.E.2d 184 (1977).

Former subsection (e) did not roll back electric power rates. On the contrary, it authorized the Commission, after hearing, to incorporate into the basic rates of the utility, chargeable on and after September 1, 1975, an increase determined by the then cost of coal. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 451, 232 S.E.2d 184 (1977).

Heat Rate and Plant Availability Not Bases for Determination Under Former Subsection (e). — Pursuant to former subsection (e) of this section, a public utility could apply to the Utilities Commission for authority to increase its rates and charges based solely upon the increased cost of fuel used in the generation of electric power, and the Commission, on its own motion or upon request of an interested rate payor, could consider and determine a decrease in rates or charges based solely upon a decrease in the cost of fuel; therefore, insofar as the Commission considered and passed upon the cost of fuel used by defendant in the generation of electric power during the periods in question by considering the reasonableness of the prices paid by defendant for such fuel, it acted within the scope of the statutorily prescribed procedure, but insofar as the Commission considered and based its determination upon such factors as defendant's heat rate and plant availability in these proceedings, it went beyond the scope of the procedure authorized by former subsection (e). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 48 N.C. App. 453, 269 S.E.2d 657, cert. denied, 301 N.C. 531, 273 S.E.2d 462 (1980).

Plant Efficiency Not Considered in Proceedings Under Former Subsection (e). — Heat rate and capacity factor furnish convenient measuring devices by which to evaluate the overall efficiency with which a particular electrical utility system is operated, and the Utilities Commission should take into account the efficiency of a company's operation in fixing its rates in a general rate case as provided in § 62-133. However, plant efficiency as it bears upon fuel cost was not a factor to be considered in the limited and expedited proceeding provided for by former subsection (e) of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 48 N.C. App. 453, 269 S.E.2d 657, cert. denied, 301 N.C. 531, 273 S.E.2d 462 (1980).

Commission's Decision Held Improper. — Commission's "decision" that the legislature, in enacting former subsection (e), did not intend to deny the utility "recovery of its July and August 1975 fuel expenses actually incurred" was not an interpretation of the statute but a nullification of it, which was beyond the authority of the Commission. The wisdom and fairness of the legislature's determination, clearly expressed, may not be reviewed by the Commission, or even by the courts in the absence of a constitutional question. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 451, 232 S.E.2d 184 (1977).

§ 62-135. Temporary rates under bond.

(a) Notwithstanding an order of suspension of an increase in rates, any public utility except a common carrier may, subject to the provisions of subsections (b), (c) and (d) hereof, put such suspended rate or rates into effect upon the expiration of six months after the date when such rate or rates would have become effective, if not so suspended, by notifying the Commission and its consumers of its action in making such increase not less than 10 days prior to the day when it shall be placed in effect; provided, however, that utilities engaged in the distribution of utility commodities bought at wholesale by the utility for distribution to consumers may put such suspended rate or rates, to the extent occasioned by changes in the wholesale rate of such utility commodity, into effect at the expiration of 30 days after the date when such rate or rates would become effective if not so suspended; provided that no rate or rates shall be left in effect longer than one year unless the Commission shall have rendered its decision upon the reasonableness thereof within such period. This section to become effective July 1, 1963.

(b) No rate or rates placed in effect pursuant to this section shall result in an increase of more than twenty percent (20%) on any single rate classification of the public utility.

(c) No rate or rates shall be placed in effect pursuant to this section until the public utility has filed with the Commission a bond in a reasonable amount approved by the Commission, with sureties approved by the Commission, or an undertaking approved by the Commission, conditioned upon the refund in a manner to be prescribed by order of the Commission, to the persons entitled thereto of the amount of the excess plus interest from the date that such rates were put into effect, if the rate or rates so put into effect are finally determined to be excessive. The amount of said interest shall be determined pursuant to G.S. 62-130(e).

(d) If the rate or rates so put into effect are finally determined to be excessive, the public utility shall make refund of the excess plus interest to its customers within 30 days after such final determination, and the Commission shall set forth in its final order the terms and conditions for such refund. If such refund is not paid in accordance with such order, any persons entitled to such refund may sue therefor, either jointly or severally, and be entitled to recover, in addition to the amount of the refund, all court costs and reasonable attorney fees for the plaintiff, to be fixed by the court. (1933, c. 307, s. 7; 1959, c. 422; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1981, c. 461, s. 2.)

CASE NOTES

Purpose. — This section was enacted for the purpose of minimizing the effect of the unavoidable time lag between the filing of an application by a utility company for an increase in its rates for service and the entry of an order of the Commission finding such increase proper. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

This section is a direct exercise of the police power of the State by the legislature itself. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

This section prevails over a private contract in conflict therewith. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

Prior contracts between a power company and the municipalities do not bar the power company from putting different rates into effect pursuant to this section, pending final determination by the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

But Power Company May Not at Will Disregard Such Contract. — The mere existence in the Commission of authority to increase the rates previously specified in a municipal contract does not authorize a power company at its own will to disregard such contract and to charge the other party thereto a higher rate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

Conditions for Putting Proposed Rates into Effect. — This section authorizes the utility to put its proposed rates into effect after the passage of six months from the filing of its application, if no order has been entered by the Commission determining the validity of the proposed rates and if the utility company files its undertaking, approved by the Commission, for a refund of any portion of such rates ultimately disapproved by the Commission. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. VEPCO, 285 N.C. 398, 206 S.E.2d 283 (1974).

Rate Changes on Interim Basis Permitted. — Section 62-134 and this section clearly authorize the Commission to permit rate schedule changes applied for by a utility to be placed into effect on an interim basis before hearing and final determination. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

Preference as to Interests of Current Customers. — The power of the Commission to suspend a rate increase under investigation for a six months' period gives an absolute preference for that period to the interest of current customers in paying no more than they have been paying for the electricity they consume. Senior Citizens Clubs v. Duke Power Co., 425 F. Supp. 411 (W.D.N.C. 1976), aff'd, 425 U.S. 928, 96 S. Ct. 1658, 48 L. Ed. 2d 172 (1976).

Conditional Preference as to Future Customers. — If increases may be suspended for longer periods, the interest of a utility's future customers may be impaired by the lack of adequate capacity to serve their needs. Thus, under this section, after lapse of the six-month period during which the interest of present customers has an absolute preference, a conditional preference is given to the interest of future customers by permitting the implementation of the increase subject to mandatory refund to the extent that the implemented increase is larger than the rates ultimately approved by the Commission. Senior Citizens

Clubs v. Duke Power Co., 425 F. Supp. 411 (W.D.N.C. 1976), aff'd, 425 U.S. 928, 96 S. Ct. 1658, 48 L. Ed. 2d 172 (1976).

Implementation of rate increase without Commission's approval does not involve state action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Senior Citizens Clubs v. Duke Power Co., 425 F. Supp. 411 (W.D.N.C. 1976), aff'd, 425 U.S. 928, 96 S. Ct. 1658, 48 L. Ed. 2d 172 (1976).

Municipality Not Entitled to Temporary Restraining Order. — Where a public service company has filed bond with the Utilities Commission and has obtained authority from the Commission to put into effect an increase in rates in the territory served by it, a municipal corporation is not entitled to a temporary order restraining the service company from putting the rates into effect within the municipality upon the assertion that the increase in rates was contrary to contractual provisions in the franchise granted the public service company by the city, since an adequate and efficient remedy is afforded the city and its inhabitants by suit upon the bond in the event the increase in rate was not justified in law, and therefore the municipality could not suffer irreparable injury. City of Durham v. Public Serv. Co., 257 N.C. 546, 126 S.E.2d 315 (1962).

Applied in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 26 N.C. App. 613, 216 S.E.2d 743 (1975).

§ 62-136. Investigation of existing rates; changing unreasonable rates; certain refunds to be distributed to customers.

(a) Whenever the Commission, after a hearing had after reasonable notice upon its own motion or upon complaint of anyone directly interested, finds that the existing rates in effect and collected by any public utility are unjust, unreasonable, insufficient or discriminatory, or in violation of any provision of law, the Commission shall determine the just, reasonable, and sufficient and nondiscriminatory rates to be thereafter observed and in force, and shall fix the same by order.

(b) All municipalities in the State are deemed to be directly interested in the rates and service of public utilities operating in such municipalities, and may institute or participate in proceedings before the Commission involving such rates or service. Any municipality may institute proceedings before the Commission to eliminate unfair and unreasonable discrimination in rates or service by any public utility between such complainant or its inhabitants and any other municipality or its inhabitants, and the Commission shall, upon complaint, after hearing afforded to the public utility affected and to all municipalities affected, have authority to remove such discrimination.

(c) If any refund is made to a distributing company operating as a public utility in North Carolina of charges paid to the company from which the distributing company obtains the energy, service or commodity distributed, the Commission may, in cases where the charges have been included in rates paid by the customers of the distributing company, require said distributing company to distribute said refund plus interest among the distributing company's customers in a manner prescribed by the Commission. The amount of said interest shall be determined pursuant to G.S. 62-130(e). (Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 7; C.S., s. 1083; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; c. 307, s. 8; 1937, c. 401; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1981, c. 460, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Subsection (a) refers to rate fixing as envisioned by § 62-133. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 30 N.C. App. 459, 227 S.E.2d 593, rev'd on other grounds, 291 N.C. 451, 232 S.E.2d 184 (1976).

Tax Reform Benefits Passed on to Ratepayers by Rulemaking Rather Than Ratemaking Procedure. — Utilities Commission may pass on to the ratepayers the benefits of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 (TRA-86) through a rulemaking procedure rather than a ratemaking procedure. State ex rel. Utils.

Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 326 N.C. 190, 388 S.E.2d 118 (1990).

The Commission may not fix rates retroactively so as to make them collectible for past service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Durham, 282 N.C. 308, 193 S.E.2d 95 (1972).

The Utilities Commission exceeded its statutory authority in requiring a manufacturer to pay a surcharge for emergency natural gas used by the manufacturer prior to the date that the tariff including the surcharge became effective, even though the supplier did not bill the manufacturer for such gas until after the tariff became effective. A rate is fixed or allowed when it becomes effective pursuant to § 62-130(a), and rates must be fixed prospectively from their effective date. Subsection (a) of this section provides that the commission shall determine rates to be thereafter observed and in force. The commission may not fix rates retroactively so as to make them collectible for past services. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Farmers Chem. Ass'n, 42 N.C. App. 606, 257 S.E.2d 439 (1979), cert. denied, 299 N.C. 124, 261 S.E.2d 926 (1980).

Commission's Order Was Not Retroactive. — Where Utilities Commission's order merely required North Carolina Natural Gas (NCNG) to abide by the rate structure in existence at the time the two percent (2%) monies were collected from T-1 customers, the Commission's order did not constitute unlawful retroactive rate making. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Natural Gas Corp., 323 N.C. 630, 375 S.E.2d 147 (1989).

The Commission may investigate rates upon the request of any person directly interested. It may hear evidence as to the reasonableness of the maximum rates fixed by law or by the Commission, and establish such rates as it may deem just. The authority conferred upon the Commission is plenary. Corporation Comm'n ex rel. Raleigh Granite Co. v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 187 N.C. 424, 121 S.E. 767 (1924).

As to authority of the Commission, on its own motion or that of another interested party, to intervene and make corrections in the utility's rate schedules, including, if circumstances should require it, the abrogation of the fuel clause, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 327, 230 S.E.2d 651 (1976).

Refunds to Customers. — The wording of this section clearly requires that refunds be made to the customers who paid the charges, and that these refunds be contingent upon practicability. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 56 N.C. App. 448, 289 S.E.2d 82 (1982), aff'd, 307 N.C. 474, 299 S.E.2d 425 (1983).

Under the 1981 amendment, the Commission is empowered to order the distribution of supplier refunds to either current or past customers, utilizing whatever method the Commission deems most appropriate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 307 N.C. 474, 299 S.E.2d 425 (1983).

Under the 1981 amendment to subsection (c), it is no longer required that the refund be practicable and that the utility have a reasonable return exclusive of the refund in order for the Commission to direct a customer refund. Moreover, the statute no longer provides for distribution of the refunds to customers in proportion to their payment of the charges refunded. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 307 N.C. 474, 299 S.E.2d 425 (1983).

Prior to the 1981 amendment, the legislature intended for the refunds to be made in proportion to each customer's usage in the refund period during which he paid excess charges. There was no language in the statute requiring distribution by customer class. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 307 N.C. 474, 299 S.E.2d 425 (1983).

Prior to the 1981 amendment, subsection (c) of this section required that refunds be distributed only to those individuals who actually paid the overcharges. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 307 N.C. 474, 299 S.E.2d 425 (1983).

All refunds received after May 28, 1981, will be governed by the 1981 amendment to subsection (c); 1981 Session Laws, c. 460, s. 1. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 307 N.C. 474, 299 S.E.2d 425 (1983).

Subsection (c) speaks in terms of when the refund is received by the utilities, not to the period of time to which the refunds relate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 307 N.C. 474, 299 S.E.2d 425 (1983).

Subsection (c) of this section more specifically applies to supplier refunds received by natural gas distributing utilities than did former subsection (f) of § 62-133 and is the proper statute to be applied in determining the appropriate distribution of these supplier refunds. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 307 N.C. 474, 299 S.E.2d 425 (1983).

Distribution of refunds received by a utility after the effective date of the statute (January 1, 1964) are governed by subsection (c). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 307 N.C. 474, 299 S.E.2d 425 (1983).

Former subsection (f) of § 62-133 dealt only with rate changes, while subsection (c) of this section, specifically sets forth the criteria pursuant to which refunds should be distributed. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Serv. Co., 307 N.C. 474, 299 S.E.2d 425 (1983).

Refunds to the local distribution company come under the supervision of the Commission until such time as it makes a determination with regard to the disposition of the refunds, pursuant to subsection (c), creating rights on behalf of the customers, and until that time, the utilities customers have no vested interest in the refunds. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 336 N.C. 657, 446 S.E.2d 332 (1994).

"Complaint Proceeding". — A hearing which involves a single rate or a small part of the rate structure of a public utility is called a "complaint proceeding." It differs from a general rate case in that it deals with an emergency or change of circumstances which does not affect the entire rate structure of the utility and may be resolved without involving the procedure outlined in § 62-133, and does not justify the expense and loss of time involved in such procedure. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 250 N.C. 421, 109 S.E.2d 253 (1959).

"General Rate" Case. — A proceeding in which a utility seeks an increase in rates for classes of customers providing its major source of revenue in order to provide funds assertedly necessary for continued operation is a general rate case and not a complaint proceeding, even though the increase is not requested for all classes of customers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Tidewater Natural Gas Co., 259 N.C. 558, 131 S.E.2d 303 (1963).

§ 62-137. Scope of rate case.

In setting a hearing on rates upon its own motion, upon complaint, or upon application of a public utility, the Commission shall declare the scope of the hearing by determining whether it is to be a general rate case, under G.S. 62-133, or whether it is to be a case confined to the reasonableness of a specific single rate, a small part of the rate structure, or some classification of users involving questions which do not require a determination of the entire rate structure and overall rate of return. The procedures established in this section shall not be required when pricing alternatives permitted under G.S. 62-134(h) and (j) are adopted. (1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1989, c. 112, s. 4.)

CASE NOTES

This section is inapplicable to proceedings conducted under § 62-90(c), since their scope is limited by statute to the exceptions on which the particular appeal of a final order or decision is based, leaving the Commission without authority to declare such a hearing a general rate case or complaint proceeding. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978).

The question of whether a case "is to be a general rate case" under the terms of this section is a mixed question of law and fact. As to such questions, courts should be hesitant to disturb the commission's expert determination with regard to the nature of the case presented, particularly when its determination is made prior to hearing and for the initial purpose of setting the scope of the hearing and the resulting amount of information which the public utility will be required to furnish. Even at that stage, however, the commission's determination must be supported by "competent, material and substantial evidence in view of the entire record as submitted." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Rail Common Carriers, 42 N.C. App. 314, 256 S.E.2d 508 (1979).

Tax Reform Benefits Passed on to Ratepayers by Rule Making Rather Than Rate Making Procedure. — Utilities Commission may pass on to the ratepayers the benefits of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 (TRA-86) through a rule making procedure rather than a rate making procedure. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nantahala Power & Light Co., 326 N.C. 190, 388 S.E.2d 118 (1990).

Since there was no provision in the rule at issue that if tax rates went up the utilities could raise rates just as they were lowered by the reduced tax rates, Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 294 N.C. 598, 242 S.E.2d 862 (1978) does not approve the rule making process for the purpose of adjusting rates, nor is there any statutory authority for the proposition that rates may be adjusted by some other method beyond those set out in §§ 62-133 or 62-136 and this section.

§ 62-138. Utilities to file rates, service regulations and service contracts with Commission; publication; certain telephone service prohibited.

(a) Under such rules as the Commission may prescribe, every public utility, except as permitted under G.S. 62-134(h) and (j):

(1) Shall file with the Commission all schedules of rates, service regulations and forms of service contracts, used or to be used within the jurisdiction of the Commission; and

(2) Shall keep copies of such schedules, service regulations and contracts open to public inspection. Except, if there is a sufficient likelihood that a public utility defined in G.S. 62-3(23)a.6. may suffer a competitive disadvantage if the rates for a specific competitive service are disclosed, the Commission may waive the public disclosure of the rates. The Commission may revoke the disclosure waiver upon a showing that the competitive disadvantage no longer exists.

(b) Every common carrier of passengers shall file with the Commission, print, and keep open for public inspection schedules showing all rates for the transportation of passengers in intrastate commerce and all services in connection therewith between points on its own routes and between points on its own routes and points on the routes of other such common carriers, and if it establishes joint rates with other common carriers, it shall include in its schedules so filed such joint rates.

(c) Every irregular route common carrier of household goods shall file with the Commission, print, and keep open for public inspection schedules showing all rates for the transportation of household goods in intrastate commerce between points within the area of its authorized operation, and if it establishes joint rates with other common carriers, it shall include in its schedules so filed such joint rates between points within the area of its own authorized operation and points on the line or route of such other common carriers.

(c1) Any person who, though exempt from Commission regulation under Public Law 103-305, agrees to joint line rates or routes as authorized by Public Law 103-305 may file with the Commission, print, and keep open for public inspection schedules showing all such joint rates for the transportation of property in intrastate commerce, and all connected services, between all points the person serves.

(d) The schedules required by this section shall be published, filed, and posted in such form and manner and shall contain such information as the Commission may prescribe; and the Commission is authorized to reject any schedule filed with it which is not in compliance with this section. Any schedule so rejected by the Commission shall be void and its use shall be unlawful.

(e) No public utility, unless otherwise provided by this Chapter, shall engage in service to the public unless its rates for such service have been filed and published in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(f) Under such rules as the Commission may prescribe, every electric membership corporation operating within this State shall file with the Commission, for information purposes, all rates, schedules of rates, charges, service regulations, and forms of service contracts, used or to be used within the State, and shall keep copies of such schedules, rates, charges, service regulations, and contracts open to public inspection.

(g) No public utility may offer or maintain telephone service to any subscriber to such service who has in use or proposes to place in use equipment which will enable said subscriber to observe or monitor telephone calls directed to or placed by said subscriber unless said subscriber shall agree that such equipment shall be used in conformity with the standards for the use of such equipment adopted by the Commission. CASE NOTES

Use of Availability Charge in Rate Schedule for Recreational Subdivision. — The Utilities Commission has jurisdiction and authority to allow the use of an availability charge in a rate schedule for a recreational subdivision, should any be deserved. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Forest Util., Inc., 21 N.C. App. 146, 203 S.E.2d 410 (1974).

Landowners in a recreational subdivision who pay availability charges are "consumers" or stand in a consumer-like relationship to the utility providing water service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Forest Util., Inc., 21 N.C. App. 146, 203 S.E.2d 410 (1974).

Contractual obligation to provide water service to a recreational subdivision as well as the actual delivery thereof directly affect a utility's ability to function as a utility. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Forest Util., Inc., 21 N.C. App. 146, 203 S.E.2d 410 (1974).

§ 62-139. Rates varying from schedule prohibited; refunding overcharge; penalty.

(a) No public utility shall directly or indirectly, by any device whatsoever, charge, demand, collect or receive from any person a greater or less compensation for any service rendered or to be rendered by such public utility than that prescribed by the Commission, nor shall any person receive or accept any service from a public utility for a compensation greater or less than that prescribed by the Commission.

(b) Any public utility in the State which shall willfully charge a rate for any public utility service in excess of that prescribed by the Commission, and which shall omit to refund the same within 30 days after written notice and demand of the person overcharged, unless relieved by the Commission for good cause shown, shall be liable to him for double the amount of such overcharge, plus a penalty of ten dollars ($10.00) per day for each day's delay after 30 days from such notice or date of denial or relief by the Commission, whichever is later.

Such overcharge and penalty shall be recoverable in any court of competent jurisdiction. (1903, c. 590, ss. 1, 2; Rev., ss. 2642, 2643, 2644; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, ss. 5, 12; C.S., ss. 1082, 1086, 3514; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; c. 307, s. 5; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1989, c. 112, s. 6.)

CASE NOTES

Constitutionality of Former Section. — Under the Interstate Commerce Act, as amended, Congress, in exercise of the constitutional powers conferred on it, has taken entire control of rates upon interstate shipments of goods, and former § 60-110 was inoperative as to such shipments. Blalock Hdwe. Co. v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 170 N.C. 395, 86 S.E. 1025 (1915).

Former § 60-110, prohibiting freight charges in excess of printed tariffs, was not unconstitutional as in violation of U.S. Const., Amend. XIV or the commerce clause of said Constitution and the acts passed in pursuance thereof. Efland v. Southern Ry., 146 N.C. 135, 59 S.E. 355 (1907); Raleigh Iron Works v. Southern Ry., 148 N.C. 469, 62 S.E. 595 (1908). But see Blalock Hdwe. Co. v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 170 N.C. 395, 86 S.E. 1025 (1915).

Assurance of Equal Service as Basis for Regulation. — A fundamental basis for the regulation of public utilities is to assure that once monopoly powers have been granted, the utility will provide all of its customers similarly situated with service on a reasonably equal basis. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Wilson, 252 N.C. 640, 114 S.E.2d 786 (1960).

Claim for Relief Where Disputed Rates "Established" May Exist Under Section. — An appropriate claim for relief where the disputed rates are "established" by the Commission may exist under § 62-140 which prohibits unreasonable discrimination by public utilities, or under this section which prohibits a utility from receiving more compensation for services than the amount prescribed by the Commission. Blue Ridge Textile Printers, Inc. v. Public Serv. Co., 99 N.C. App. 193, 392 S.E.2d 401 (1990).

Telephone Company Proscribed from Furnishing Free Service, etc., to Municipalities. — The Utilities Commission properly proscribes a telephone company from furnishing service to certain municipalities within its territory free or at a reduced rate, and contractual agreements of a telephone company to do so in consideration for franchise rights to use the streets, alleys and roads in such municipalities for its pole line and underground conduits are void, since such concessions constitute discrimination against other customers similarly situated. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Wilson, 252 N.C. 640, 114 S.E.2d 786 (1960).

Electric Rate Based on Old Contract Upheld. — Where, at the termination of a contract between city and electric company, city officials were doubtful whether it would be advantageous to adopt the new schedule of the electric company, and elected to take current on basis from month to month, it was held that the electric company was not exacting an unlawful rate by billing the city for current on rates contained in the old contract rather than under the new schedule. City of High Point v. Duke Power Co., 34 F. Supp. 339 (M.D.N.C. 1940), aff'd, 120 F.2d 866 (4th Cir. 1941).

Freight Rates Need Not Be Same for Both Directions. — In shipments to a great distance, special circumstances, such as flow of traffic, may justify a higher rate between two points in one direction than in the opposite; and in an action for recovery of the penalty for excessive freight rates, it was error for the judgment below in effect to charge the jury that such tariff rate published between the two points for freight moving in an opposite direction to that of the shipment in question was conclusive, and that they should be governed in their verdict as to the overcharge accordingly. James H. Scull & Co. v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 144 N.C. 180, 56 S.E. 876 (1907).

Freight Charge on Undelivered Shipment. — Where defendant collected freight charges, for an entire shipment, as invoiced and originally billed, and the sum of 96 cents was paid as freight on that part of the shipment which was "short" and not delivered, this was an overcharge; failure to refund such overcharge after the 60 days allowed for investigation rendered defendant liable for the statutory penalty. Cottrell v. Railroad, 141 N.C. 383, 54 S.E. 288 (1906).

Collection of Surcharge Before Tariff Became Effective. — The Utilities Commission exceeded its statutory authority in requiring a manufacturer to pay a surcharge for emergency natural gas used by the manufacturer prior to the date that the tariff including the surcharge became effective, even though the supplier did not bill the manufacturer for such gas until after the tariff became effective.

A rate is fixed or allowed when it becomes effective pursuant to § 62-130(a) and rates must be fixed prospectively from their effective date. Section 62-136(a) provides that the commission shall determine rates to be thereafter observed and in force. The commission may not fix rates retroactively so as to make them collectible for past services. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Farmers Chem. Ass'n, 42 N.C. App. 606, 257 S.E.2d 439 (1979), cert. denied, 299 N.C. 124, 261 S.E.2d 926 (1980).

Penalty Enforceable Though Charges Small. — The penalty fixed by former § 60-110 to enforce the duty of a carrier in regard to proper charges for transporting freight and refund of overcharges, which penalty could not in any event exceed $100.00, was enforceable for a default established against defendant, even though the particular transportation charges might appear disproportionately small. It is on failure to return small amounts wrongfully overcharged that penalties are especially required. In large matters the claimant can better afford the cost of litigation. Efland v. Southern Ry., 146 N.C. 129, 59 S.E. 359 (1907).

Recovery of Excess Caused by Error in Tariff Distance Table. — Where carriers charged rates in accordance with the published tariffs on file, but because of error in the tariff distance table the charges were excessive, the shippers could recover the excess charged by petition before the Utilities Commission, the remedy by civil action under former §§ 60-110, 62-138 and this section to recover overcharges and penalties being the proper remedy only when the charges were collected in excess of the published tariffs. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Norfolk S. Ry., 249 N.C. 477, 106 S.E.2d 681 (1959).

Agent as Party Aggrieved. — Where, under agreement with his principal, the agent of a manufacturer was obligated to pay the freight charges on shipments made to him, and upon demand of the carrier he paid its unlawful charges on a shipment, he was the party aggrieved, and could maintain his action to recover the excess, and also the penalty when settlement was not made within 60 days. Tilley v. Southern Ry., 172 N.C. 363, 90 S.E. 309 (1916).

What Demand Must Specify. — Where carrier demanded and received an unlawful freight charge for a shipment, and the party aggrieved made written demand of the carrier for payment of the overcharge, as required by the statute, it was not necessary, in order to maintain an action for the penalty imposed upon the carrier failing to settle in 60 days, that the written demand specify the penalty, or that demand therefor be made in the justice's court or alleged in the complaint filed on appeal therefrom. Tilley v. Southern Ry., 172 N.C. 363, 90 S.E. 309 (1916).

Separate Demands in Same Envelope. — The mere fact that plaintiff enclosed separate written demands in the same envelope, and gave an aggregate amount thereof, in a letter accompanying them, did not affect the demands, when the overcharges were separate and distinct, demand was made specifically as to each and was accompanied separately with the paid freight bill and duplicate bill of lading, and each demand was complete in itself; such was a compliance with the provisions of the statute. Efland v. Southern Ry., 146 N.C. 129, 59 S.E. 359 (1907).

Burden of Proving Overcharge. — The burden is upon the plaintiff to show that a freight rate charged and collected by a carrier was in excess of its tariff required of the carrier to be published, when he seeks to recover this excess and the statutory penalty; hence, where the shipment was routed over one line of connecting carriers and the tariff filed by the carrier over another route was shown, no evidence was afforded as to the rate of the actual route of the shipment, and, in the absence of further evidence, a judgment as of nonsuit was proper. Blalock Hdwe. Co. v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 170 N.C. 395, 86 S.E. 1025 (1915).

Stated in Eaton Corp. v. Public Serv. Co., 99 N.C. App. 174, 392 S.E.2d 404 (1990).

§ 62-140. Discrimination prohibited.

(a) No public utility shall, as to rates or services, make or grant any unreasonable preference or advantage to any person or subject any person to any unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage. No public utility shall establish or maintain any unreasonable difference as to rates or services either as between localities or as between classes of service. The Commission may determine any questions of fact arising under this section; provided that it shall not be an unreasonable preference or advantage or constitute discrimination against any person, firm or corporation or general rate payer for telephone utilities to contract with motels, hotels and hospitals to pay reasonable commissions in connection with the handling of intrastate toll calls charged to a guest or patient and collected by the motel, hotel or hospital; provided further, that payment of such commissions shall be in accordance with uniform tariffs which shall be subject to the approval of the Commission. Provided further, that it shall not be considered an unreasonable preference or advantage for the Commission to order, if it finds the public interest so requires, a reduction in local telephone rates for low-income residential consumers meeting a means test established by the Commission in order to match any reduction in the interstate subscriber line charge authorized by the Federal Communications Commission.

Nothing in this section prohibits the Commission from establishing different rates for natural gas service to counties that are substantially unserved, to the extent that those rates reflect the cost of providing service to the unserved counties and upon a finding by the Commission that natural gas service would not otherwise become available to the counties.

(b) The Commission shall make reasonable and just rules and regulations:

(1) To prevent discrimination in the rates or services of public utilities.

(2) To prevent the giving, paying or receiving of any rebate or bonus, directly or indirectly, or misleading or deceiving the public in any manner as to rates charged for the services of public utilities.

(c) No public utility shall offer or pay any compensation or consideration or furnish any equipment to secure the installation or adoption of the use of such utility service except upon filing of a schedule of such compensation or consideration or equipment to be furnished and approved thereof by the Commission, and offering such compensation, consideration or equipment to all persons within the same classification using or applying for such public utility service; provided, in considering the reasonableness of any such schedule filed by a public utility the Commission shall consider, among other things, evidence of consideration or compensation paid by any competitor, regulated or nonregulated, of the public utility to secure the installation or adoption of the use of such competitor's service. Provided, further, that nothing herein shall prohibit a public utility from carrying out any contractual commitment in existence at the time of the enactment hereof, so long as such program does not extend beyond December 31, 1963. For the purpose of this subsection, "public utility" shall include any electric membership corporation operating within this State, and the terms "utility service" and "public utility service" shall include the service rendered by any such electric membership corporation. CASE NOTES

I. In General.
II. Differences in Rates or Services.
III. Discrimination.
IV. No Discrimination.

I. IN GENERAL.

Reaffirmance of Common-Law Rule. — The requirement to furnish accommodations within a reasonable time is but a reaffirmance of the common law, leaving the courts to say what time is reasonable. Alsop v. Southern Express Co., 104 N.C. 278, 10 S.E. 297 (1889).

Duty to Provide Transportation. — It is the duty of a common carrier to provide sufficient means of transportation for all freight and passengers which its business naturally brings to it, and an unusual occasion by which a greater demand upon it is temporarily made will not relieve it of the obligation if, by the use of reasonable foresight, it could have been provided for. Purcell v. Richmond & D.R.R., 108 N.C. 414, 12 S.E. 954 (1891).

Former Section Declaratory of Common Law. — Former § 60-5, making discrimination in charges by common carriers a misdemeanor, was declaratory of the common law, and secured to every person the right to participate in the use of the facilities furnished, or which it was its duty to furnish, by a common carrier upon terms of equality, in regard to price, and otherwise, and free from unlawful discrimination. Hilton Lumber Co. v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 141 N.C. 171, 53 S.E. 823 (1906).

Duty Imposed by This Section as Development of Common Law Obligation. — The duty now imposed by this section upon privately owned distributors and sellers of electric power not to discriminate in service or rates is merely a development of the common-law obligation of equal and undiscriminating service. Dale v. City of Morganton, 270 N.C. 567, 155 S.E.2d 136 (1967).

The obligation of a public service corporation to serve impartially and without unjust discrimination is fundamental. It is not essential that consumers who are charged different rates for service should be competitors in order to invoke this principle. There must be substantial differences in service or conditions to justify differences in rates. There must be no unreasonable discrimination between those receiving the same kind and degree of service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mead Corp., 238 N.C. 451, 78 S.E.2d 290 (1953); State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Municipal Corps., 243 N.C. 193, 90 S.E.2d 519 (1955).

Subsection (a) is similar to § 3 of the Interstate Commerce Act. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nello L. Teer Co., 266 N.C. 366, 146 S.E.2d 511 (1966).

The language of subsection (a) does not mean that customer classifications, once established by a utility, must remain frozen absent a showing of change of conditions justifying a change in classifications. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 29 N.C. App. 428, 225 S.E.2d 101, aff'd, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

Application of Subsection (a). — Subsection (a) of this section was enacted to prohibit a utility from unreasonable discrimination among its customers. It was not meant to be applied to the Utilities Commission's conduct toward various public utilities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 88 N.C. App. 153, 363 S.E.2d 73 (1987).

What Party Entitled to Injunctive Relief. — Where certain carriers by truck sought injunctive relief against railroad carriers for discrimination in rates against certain cities and against certain commodities, it was held that the basis for injunctive relief must be an interference or threatened interference with a legal right of the petitioner, not of a third party, and that the shippers would be the real parties in interest, not the contract truck carriers. Carolina Motor Serv., Inc. v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 210 N.C. 36, 185 S.E. 479, 104 A.L.R. 1165 (1936).

Recovery of Excess Charges. — Where a higher freight charge was paid than that charged other shippers, the payment was not to be considered voluntary, and the excess could be recovered back upon account for money had and received, and it was not necessary that at the time of payment there should have been any protest. Hilton Lumber Co. v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 141 N.C. 171, 53 S.E. 823 (1906).

Claim for Relief Where Disputed Rates "Established" May Exist Under Section. — An appropriate claim for relief where the disputed rates are "established" by the Commission may exist under this section which prohibits unreasonable discrimination by public utilities, or under § 62-139 which prohibits a utility from receiving more compensation for services than the amount prescribed by the Commission. Blue Ridge Textile Printers, Inc. v. Public Serv. Co., 99 N.C. App. 193, 392 S.E.2d 401 (1990).

Question for Decision of Court. — Where the Utilities Commission concluded upon undisputed facts that there was no unlawful discrimination by a power company in the rates charged its commercial customers, whether the conclusion was supported by competent, material and substantial evidence in view of the entire record was held to present a question of law for the decision of the court. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mead Corp., 238 N.C. 451, 78 S.E.2d 290 (1953).

II. DIFFERENCES IN RATES OR SERVICES.

Classifications of customers and differences in rates must be based on reasonable differences in conditions, and the variance in charges must bear a reasonable proportion to the variance in conditions. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 59 N.C. App. 240, 296 S.E.2d 487 (1982), rev'd on other grounds, 309 N.C. 238, 306 S.E.2d 113 (1983).

The question of law with respect to public utility rate differentials is not whether the differential is merely discriminatory or preferential but is whether the differential is an unreasonable or unjust discrimination. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Bird Oil Co., 302 N.C. 14, 273 S.E.2d 232 (1981).

There must be no unreasonable discrimination between those receiving the same kind and degree of service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nello L. Teer Co., 266 N.C. 366, 146 S.E.2d 511 (1966); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Boren Clay Prods. Co., 48 N.C. App. 263, 269 S.E.2d 234, cert. denied, 301 N.C. 531, 273 S.E.2d 461 (1980); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 313 N.C. 215, 328 S.E.2d 264 (1985).

All who ship goods with common carriers are required to be treated equally with respect to the same category of service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Bird Oil Co., 47 N.C. App. 1, 266 S.E.2d 838, rev'd on other grounds, 302 N.C. 14, 273 S.E.2d 232 (1980).

But Rates May Differ Under Varying Conditions. — The charging of different rates for service rendered under varying conditions and circumstances is not unlawful. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nello L. Teer Co., 266 N.C. 366, 146 S.E.2d 511 (1966).

Provided Differences in Service or Conditions Are Substantial. — There must be substantial differences in service or conditions to justify difference in rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nello L. Teer Co., 266 N.C. 366, 146 S.E.2d 511 (1966); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Bird Oil Co., 302 N.C. 14, 273 S.E.2d 232 (1981); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 313 N.C. 215, 328 S.E.2d 264 (1985).

And where substantial differences in services or conditions exist, unreasonable application of the same rates may be discriminatory and thus improper. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

Factors which constitute "substantial differences in services or conditions" and, therefore, justify a rate differential include (1) quantity of use, (2) time of use, (3) manner of service, and (4) costs of rendering the two services. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Bird Oil Co., 302 N.C. 14, 273 S.E.2d 232 (1981).

Any matter which presents a substantial difference as a ground for distinction between customers, such as quantity used, time of use, or manner of service, is a material factor in the determination of rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nello L. Teer Co., 266 N.C. 366, 146 S.E.2d 511 (1966).

In determining whether rate differences constitute unreasonable discrimination, a number of factors should be considered: (1) quantity of use, (2) time of use, (3) manner of service, and (4) costs of rendering the two services. Other factors to be considered include competitive conditions, consumption characteristics of the several classes and the value of service to each class, which is indicated to some extent by the cost of alternate fuels available. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 313 N.C. 215, 328 S.E.2d 264 (1985).

In determining whether rate differences constitute unreasonable discrimination, a number of factors should be considered: (1) quantity of use, (2) time of use, (3) manner of service, and (4) costs of rendering the two services. Other factors to be considered include competitive conditions, consumption characteristics of the several classes and the value of service to each class, which is indicated to some extent by the cost of alternate fuels available. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

The authority of the Utilities Commission to set different rates is not unbridled. There must be substantial differences in service or conditions to justify difference in rates. There must be no unreasonable discrimination between those receiving the same kind and degree of service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 424, 230 S.E.2d 647 (1976).

While decisions of the Commission involving the exercise of its discretion of fixing rates are accorded great deference, the Commission has no power to authorize rates that result in unreasonable and unjust discrimination. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Textile Mfrs. Ass'n, 313 N.C. 215, 328 S.E.2d 264 (1985).

Rates for Shipments from Different Origins Need Not Be Equal. — Subsection (a) of this section does not require an equality of rates where the shipments are from different points of origin to the same destination even though the distances be equal or approximately so. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Nello L. Teer Co., 266 N.C. 366, 146 S.E.2d 511 (1966).

What Constitutes Unlawful Discrimination by Carriers. — Discrimination in freight tariffs by railroad companies means charging shippers of freight unequal sums for carrying the same quantity of freight equal distances, that is, more in proportion for a short than for a long distance. Hines & Battle v. Wilmington & W.R.R., 95 N.C. 434 (1886).

A common carrier is guilty of unlawful discrimination, by the principles of the common law and the terms of the statute, when it charges one person, for service rendered, a larger sum than is charged another person for like service under substantially similar conditions. Hilton Lumber Co. v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 141 N.C. 171, 53 S.E. 823 (1906).

Different Rate Schedules for Municipalities and Industrial Users of Electrical Energy. — The Commission, in determining whether there is a justifiable basis for establishment of different rate schedules for municipalities engaged in resale of electrical energy and industrial users, must consider use characteristics and load factors as well as the amount of electrical energy purchased under the respective schedules. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Municipal Corps., 243 N.C. 193, 90 S.E.2d 519 (1955).

The Commission was justified in placing municipalities engaged in resale of electrical energy and industrial users under different schedules based upon a difference in the load factor. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Municipal Corps., 243 N.C. 193, 90 S.E.2d 519 (1955).

Commission's Approval of Bifurcated Full-Margin Pricing Method Upheld. — The record, combined with the Utilities Commission's analysis of prior cases addressing the lawfulness of full-margin transportation rates, was more than adequate to support the Commission's approval of a gas company's bifurcated full-margin pricing mechanism, which essentially resulted in sales customers, rather than transportation customers, paying duplicate charges for interstate transportation. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 351 N.C. 223, 524 S.E.2d 10 (2000).

III. DISCRIMINATION.

Charging Subsequent Users for Expense of Serving Prior Users as Discrimination. — The cost of coal burned in generating power has no relation whatever to service in any subsequent month. Thus, it, like wage expense, should be borne by the users of the service in the month in which the expense was incurred and may not properly be amortized so as to make subsequent users pay part of this burden. To cast upon subsequent users the expense of serving prior users is discrimination forbidden by this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 291 N.C. 451, 232 S.E.2d 184 (1977).

An attempted justification of rate differentials by a classification of power furnished as "secondary" and "primary" was held insupportable on the facts. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mead Corp., 238 N.C. 451, 78 S.E.2d 290 (1953).

Giving Preference to Parent Corporation. — A power company which is a subsidiary of one of its commercial customers may not give a preference to its parent corporation, but must give equal treatment to all its customers similarly situated. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Mead Corp., 238 N.C. 451, 78 S.E.2d 290 (1953).

A power company which is a subsidiary may not be allowed to structure its economic affairs or physical operations in such a way as to effect an unreasonable preference or advantage to anyone, including its parent. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Edmisten, 299 N.C. 432, 263 S.E.2d 583 (1980).

Furnishing free service for municipal purposes in compliance with franchise provisions constitutes an unjust and illegal discrimination. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Wilson, 252 N.C. 640, 114 S.E.2d 786 (1960).

A railroad carrying logs to a sawmill cannot charge a shipper agreeing to ship the manufactured products by the same line less for the same service than it charges a shipper who makes no such agreement. Hilton Lumber Co. v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 136 N.C. 479, 48 S.E. 813 (1904).

Allegation that common carrier for hire gave a named person undue preference by transporting him free ex vi termini alleged discrimination. State v. Southern Ry., 125 N.C. 666, 34 S.E. 527 (1899).

Discriminatory Embargoes. — A common carrier cannot place an embargo on its customer or patron so as to discriminate against him or those dealing with him. Garrison v. Southern Ry., 150 N.C. 575, 64 S.E. 578 (1909).

Commission May Not Permit Unjustified Service Refusal. — A refusal by a telephone company to serve, without a reasonable justification therefor, is a violation of the company's duty, and the Commission has no authority to permit it. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. National Merchandising Corp., 288 N.C. 715, 220 S.E.2d 304 (1975).

Right of City to Refuse to Serve Is Same as Private Company's. — The right of a municipal corporation operating a plant for the distribution and sale of electricity to its inhabitants to refuse to serve is neither greater nor less than that of a privately owned electric power company to do so. Dale v. City of Morganton, 270 N.C. 567, 155 S.E.2d 136 (1967).

City May Not Deprive Inhabitant of Service to Compel Obedience to Police Regulations. — A city may not deprive an inhabitant, otherwise entitled thereto, of light, water, or other utility service as a means of compelling obedience to its police regulations, however valid and otherwise enforceable those regulations may be. Dale v. City of Morganton, 270 N.C. 567, 155 S.E.2d 136 (1967).

IV. NO DISCRIMINATION.

Rate Designs. — The Utilities Commission properly considered factors other than cost-of-service, i.e., value of service, type of service, quantity of use, time of use, manner of service, competitive conditions relating to acquisition of new customers, historical rate design, revenue stability to the utility, and economic and political factors, in adopting a rate design that would be just and not unreasonably discriminatory among the various customer classes. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 351 N.C. 223, 524 S.E.2d 10 (2000).

Rates of Return Not Unreasonably Discriminatory. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission's order contained findings sufficient to justify its conclusion that the approved rates of return were just and reasonable and did not unreasonably discriminate among the various classes of North Carolina Natural Gas Corporation customers and were supported by substantial evidence in view of the whole record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Although there were still significant disparities in rates of return between various customer classes, the rates set for each customer class produced revenues in excess of the operating costs allocable to that class; therefore, the rates were not unreasonably discriminatory, and the Commission's order contained findings sufficient to justify its conclusion that the approved rates of return were just and reasonable. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Public Staff-North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 323 N.C. 481, 374 S.E.2d 361 (1988).

Legitimate Justifications for Maintaining City and Industrial Rates of Return. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission drew legitimate distinctions which justified its decision to maintain industrial and cities' rates of return at a higher level than residential and commercial and small industrial rates. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Utilities Commission has authority to allow use of an availability charge in a rate schedule for a recreational subdivision, should any be deserved. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Forest Util., Inc., 21 N.C. App. 146, 203 S.E.2d 410 (1974).

Rates charged REA cooperatives were not available to municipalities engaged in resale of electrical energy due to the following factors: (1) The cooperatives were required to extend their lines though sparsely settled rural areas with resulting line losses; and (2) the cooperatives were created and operated on a nonprofit basis pursuant to the established public policy of State and federal government. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Municipal Corps., 243 N.C. 193, 90 S.E.2d 519 (1955).

Formula Did Not Unreasonably Discriminate. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission's order contained findings sufficient to justify its conclusion that the Industrial Sales Tracker Formula did not unreasonably discriminate between North Carolina Natural Gas Corporation's customer classes, and these findings were supported by substantial evidence in light of the whole record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 323 N.C. 238, 372 S.E.2d 692 (1988).

Difference in Service Among Customers in the Same Municipality. — The fact that a power company which is a "secondary supplier" directly serves seven customers within a municipality pursuant to the provisions of § 160A-332 but does not directly serve other customers within the municipality does not constitute an "unreasonable preference or advantage" within the meaning of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Hunt Mfg. Co., 16 N.C. App. 335, 192 S.E.2d 16 (1972).

§ 62-141. Long and short hauls.

(a) Except when expressly permitted by the Commission, it shall be unlawful for any common carrier to charge or receive any greater compensation in the aggregate for the transportation of like kind of household goods under substantially similar circumstances and conditions for a shorter than for a longer distance over the same line or route in the same direction, the shorter being included within the longer distance; but this shall not be construed as authorizing any common carrier within the terms of this Chapter to charge and receive as great compensation for a shorter as for a longer distance.

(b) Upon application to the Commission, common carriers may in special cases be authorized to charge less for longer than for shorter distances for the transportation of household goods; and the Commission may from time to time prescribe the extent to which such designated common carrier may be relieved from the operation of this section.

(c) The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to bus companies or to their rates, charges or tariffs. (1899, c. 164, s. 14; Rev., s. 1107; Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 9; 1915, c. 17, s. 1; C.S., s. 1072; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1985, c. 676, s. 15(4); 1995, c. 523, s. 7.)

§ 62-142. Contracts as to rates.

All contracts and agreements between public utilities as to rates shall be submitted to the Commission for inspection that it may be seen whether or not they are a violation of law or the rules and regulations of the Commission, and all arrangements and agreements whatever as to the division of earnings of any kind by competing public utilities shall be submitted to the Commission for inspection and approval insofar as they affect the rules and regulations made by the Commission to secure to all persons doing business with such utilities just and reasonable rates. The Commission may make such rules and regulations, as to such contracts and agreements as the public interest may require. (1899, c. 164, s. 6; Rev., s. 1108; C.S., s. 1073; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-143. Schedule of rates to be evidence.

The schedule of rates fixed by statute or under this Article, in suits brought against any public utility involving the rates of a public utility or unjust discrimination in relation thereto, shall be taken in all courts as prima facie evidence that the rates therein fixed are just and reasonable. Any such schedule when certified by a clerk of the Commission as a true copy of a schedule on file with the Commission shall be received in all courts as prima facie evidence of such schedule without further proof, and, if the clerk certifies that said schedule has been approved by the Commission, as prima facie evidence of such approval. (1899, c. 164, s. 7; Rev., s. 1112; C.S., s. 1077; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-144. Free transportation.

(a) All common carriers under the supervision of the Commission shall furnish free transportation to the members of the Commission, and, upon written authority of the Commission, such carriers shall also furnish free transportation to such persons as the Commission may designate in its employ or in the employ of the Department of Motor Vehicles for the inspection of equipment and supervision of safe operating conditions and of traffic upon the highways of the State.

(b) Except as provided in subsection (a), no common carrier shall, directly or indirectly, issue, give, tender, or honor any free fares except to its bona fide officers, agents, commission agents, employees and retired employees, and members of their immediate families: Provided, that common carriers under this Article may exchange free transportation within the limits of this section and may accept as a passenger a totally blind person accompanied by a guide at the usual and ordinary fare charged to one person under such reasonable regulations as may have been established by the carrier and approved by the Commission.

(c) Any person except those permitted by law accepting free transportation shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor.

(d) Nothing in this section shall prohibit the carriage, storage or handling of household goods free or at reduced rates for the United States, State or municipal governments, or for charitable or educational purposes, or the use of passes for journeys wholly within this State which have been or may be issued for interstate journeys under the authority of the United States Interstate Commerce Commission. (1899, c. 164, s. 22; c. 642; 1901, c. 652; c. 679, s. 2; 1905, c. 312; Rev., s. 1105; Ex. Sess. 1908, c. 144, s. 4; 1911, cc. 49, 148; 1913, c. 100; 1915, c. 215; 1917, cc. 56, 160; C.S., ss. 1069, 1070, 3492; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1949, c. 1132, s. 27; 1953, c. 1279; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 477; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c); 1995, c. 523, s. 8.)

CASE NOTES

Transportation by a common carrier of any person, except of the classes specified, without charge, is unlawful, the offense being the actual free transportation and not the issuance of the free pass. State v. Southern Ry., 122 N.C. 1052, 30 S.E. 133 (1898).

A gratuitous passenger is not in pari delicto with the common carrier. McNeill v. Railroad, 135 N.C. 682, 47 S.E. 765, rehearing denied, 137 N.C. 704, 49 S.E. 1038 (1904).

Recovery for Injury Occasioned While Riding on Illegally Issued Pass. — The rights, privileges and protection attaching to the relation of passenger are imposed by law upon common carriers upon consideration of public policy, independent of contract, and arise from the nature of their public employment. Hence, one injured while riding on a pass illegally issued may recover from the railroad. McNeill v. Railroad, 135 N.C. 682, 47 S.E. 765, rehearing denied, 137 N.C. 704, 49 S.E. 1038 (1904).

Construction of Penal Statute. — In construing a penal statute prohibiting discrimination between passengers, the construction placed on it by common carriers generally, and by private individuals and officials, will not be considered. State v. Southern Ry., 122 N.C. 1052, 30 S.E. 133 (1898).

§ 62-145. Rates between points connected by more than one route.

When there is more than one route between given points in North Carolina, and freight is routed or directed by the shipper or consignee to be transported over a shorter route, and it is in fact shipped by a longer route between such points, the rate fixed by law or by the Commission for the shorter route shall be the maximum rate which may be charged, and it shall be unlawful to charge more for transporting such freight over the longer route than the lawful charge for the shorter route. (Ex. Sess. 1913, c. 20, s. 11; C.S., s. 1085; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Mileage is calculated over the shortest rail line between the point of origin and the point of delivery. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Norfolk Southern Ry., 249 N.C. 477, 106 S.E.2d 681 (1959).

Carrier may not present evidence that rate charged was just and reasonable where a rate was set for a short line distance and the carrier unlawfully charged a shipper the rate at a longer mileage level. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Boren Clay Prods. Co., 48 N.C. App. 263, 269 S.E.2d 234, cert. denied, 301 N.C. 531, 273 S.E.2d 461 (1980).

§ 62-146. Rates and service of motor common carriers of property.

(a) It shall be the duty of every common carrier of household goods by motor vehicle to provide safe and adequate service, equipment, and facilities for transportation in intrastate commerce and to establish, observe and enforce just and reasonable regulations and practices relating thereto, and, in the case of household goods carriers, relating to the manner and method of presenting, marking, packing and delivering property for transportation in intrastate commerce.

(b) Except under special conditions and for good cause shown, a common carrier by motor vehicle authorized to transport general commodities over regular routes shall establish reasonable through routes and joint rates, charges, and classifications with other such common carriers by motor vehicle; and such common carrier may establish, with the prior approval of the Commission, such routes, joint rates, charges and classifications with any irregular route common carrier by motor vehicle, or any common carrier by rail, express, or water.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1985, c. 676, s. 15.

(d) In case of joint rates between common carriers of property, it shall be the duty of the carriers parties thereto to establish just and reasonable regulations and practices in connection therewith, and just, reasonable, and equitable divisions thereof as between the carriers participating therein, which shall not unduly prefer or prejudice any of such participating carriers. Upon investigation and for good cause, the Commission may, in its discretion, prohibit the establishment of joint rates or service.

(e) Any person may make complaint in writing to the Commission that any rate, classification, rule, regulations, or practice in effect or proposed to be put into effect, is or will be in violation of this Article. Whenever, after hearing, upon complaint or in an investigation or its own initiative, the Commission shall be of the opinion that any individual or joint rate demanded, charged, or collected by any common carrier or carriers by motor vehicle, or by any such common carrier or carriers in conjunction with any other common carrier or carriers, for transportation of household goods in intrastate commerce, or any classification, rule, regulation, or practice whatsoever of such carrier or carriers affecting such rate or the value of the service thereunder, is or will be unjust or unreasonable or unjustly discriminatory or unduly preferential or unduly prejudicial, it shall determine and prescribe the lawful rate or the minimum or maximum, or the minimum and maximum rate thereafter to be observed, or the lawful classification, rule, regulation, or practice thereafter to be made effective.

(f) Whenever, after hearing upon complaint or upon its own initiative, the Commission is of the opinion that the divisions of joint rates applicable to the transportation of household goods in intrastate commerce between a common carrier by motor vehicle and another carrier are or will be unjust, unreasonable, inequitable, or unduly preferential or prejudicial as between the carriers parties thereto (whether agreed upon by such carriers or otherwise established), the Commission shall by order prescribe the just, reasonable, and equitable division thereof to be received by the several carriers; and in cases where the joint rate or charge was established pursuant to a finding or order of the Commission and the divisions thereof are found by it to have been unjust, unreasonable, or inequitable or unduly preferential or prejudicial, the Commission may also by order determine what would have been the just, reasonable, and equitable divisions thereof to be received by the several carriers and require adjustment to be made in accordance therewith. The order of the Commission may require the adjustment of divisions between the carriers in accordance with the order from the date of filing the complaint or entry of order of investigation or such other dates subsequent thereto as the Commission finds justified, and in the case of joint rates prescribed by the Commission, the order as to divisions may be made effective as a part of the original order.

(g) In any proceeding to determine the justness or reasonableness of any rate of any common carrier of household goods by motor vehicle, there shall not be taken into consideration or allowed as evidence any elements of value of the property of such carrier, good will, earning power, or the certificate under which such carrier is operating, and such rates shall be fixed and approved, subject to the provisions of subsection (h) hereof, on the basis of the operating ratios of such carriers, being the ratio of their operating expenses to their operating revenues, at a ratio to be determined by the Commission; and in applying for and receiving a certificate under this Chapter any such carrier shall be deemed to have agreed to the provisions of this paragraph, on its own behalf and on behalf of every transferee of such certificate or of any part thereof.

(h) In the exercise of its power to prescribe just and reasonable rates and charges for the transportation of household goods in intrastate commerce by common carriers by motor vehicle, and classifications, regulations, and practices relating thereto, the Commission shall give due consideration, among other factors, to the inherent advantages of transportation by such carriers; to the effect of rates upon movement of traffic by the carrier or carriers for which rates are prescribed; to the need in the public interest of adequate and efficient transportation service by such carriers at the lowest cost consistent with the furnishing of such service; and to the need of revenues sufficient to enable such carriers under honest, economical, and efficient management to provide such service.

(i) Nothing in this section shall be held to extinguish any remedy or right of action not inconsistent herewith. This section shall be in addition to other provisions of this Chapter which relate to public utilities generally, except that in cases of conflict between such other provisions and this section, this section shall prevail for motor carriers. (1947, c. 1008, s. 23; 1949, c. 1132, s. 22; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1985, c. 676, s. 15(5); 1995, c. 523, s. 9.)

CASE NOTES

Carriers have legal right to contract inter se, and the law encourages cooperation and agreements between them respecting their service to the public. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 261 N.C. 384, 134 S.E.2d 689 (1964).

Former subsection (c) of this section encouraged cooperation and agreements between common carriers respecting their service to the public. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

Duty to Establish Joint Rates and Divide Revenues. — Motor carriers of freight in intrastate commerce who exchange freight in the course of delivery are not only given authority to establish joint rates, but are required to do so, and to provide for the division of revenues derived from such shipments by contract, subject only to the limitation that the contract shall not unduly prefer or prejudice any of the participating carriers. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thurston Motor Lines, 240 N.C. 166, 81 S.E.2d 404 (1954).

Authority of Commission to Interfere with Division of Revenue from Interchanged Freight. — The Utilities Commission is given authority to intervene and vacate a contract for division of revenue from interchanged freight between two intrastate motor carriers only upon finding after hearing that the contractual agreement between the carriers for the division of revenue from such shipments is, or will be, unjust, unreasonable and inequitable, or unduly preferential or prejudicial as between the contracting carriers, and when an order is entered by the Commission without such jurisdictional finding, the cause must be remanded. A finding merely that the Commission does not accept the contractual practice of the carriers as being equitable is insufficient. And the provision of subsection (d), giving the Commission discretionary power to prohibit the establishment of joint rates, is inapplicable. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Thurston Motor Lines, 240 N.C. 166, 81 S.E.2d 404 (1954).

Mileage alone is not a sufficient basis for the determination of intrastate rates by the Utilities Commission, but the Commission must consider all factors involved in rate making, including competition from interstate carriers, the different modes of transportation, the topography and volume of business as affecting costs, etc. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. North Carolina Motor Carriers Ass'n, 253 N.C. 432, 117 S.E.2d 271 (1960).

An operating ratio of 100% means that for every dollar of freight revenue received, the carrier spends a dollar in operating expenses. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Attorney Gen., 2 N.C. App. 657, 163 S.E.2d 638 (1968); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Motor Carriers' Traffic Ass'n, 16 N.C. App. 515, 192 S.E.2d 580 (1972).

Lower Operating Ratios Indicative of More Profitable Operations. — When the operating ratio exceeds 100%, it means that the expenses exceed the revenues. The lower the operating ratio, the more profitable the operation is to the carrier. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Attorney Gen., 2 N.C. App. 657, 163 S.E.2d 638 (1968).

Basis for Determination of Ratios. — A determination of intrastate operating ratios must be based on revenues and expenses incurred in North Carolina alone; where ratios do not reflect an actual separation of intrastate and interstate revenues and expenses, a rate increase based thereon cannot be sustained. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Motor Carriers'

Traffic Ass'n, 16 N.C. App. 515, 192 S.E.2d 580 (1972).

The operating ratios for the movement of tobacco in intrastate traffic cannot be determined with mathematical exactitude. But the carriers can no doubt approximate the rateable proportion of their operating ratios from tobacco movements in intrastate traffic and offer evidence of other facts and circumstances in respect thereto sufficient in probative force to enable the Commission to make findings of fact and to issue such orders as the findings of fact may warrant. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Attorney Gen., 2 N.C. App. 657, 163 S.E.2d 638 (1968).

Authority to transport general commodities includes authority to transport meats and packing house products. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Forbes Transf. Co., 259 N.C. 688, 131 S.E.2d 452 (1963).

§ 62-146.1. Rates and service of bus companies.

(a) It shall be the duty of every bus company to provide safe and adequate service, equipment and facilities for transportation of passengers in intrastate commerce and to establish, observe and enforce just and reasonable regulations and practices.

(b) The Commission by its rules and regulations may require the interlining of passengers by bus companies operating in intrastate commerce in this State where the point of destination of the passenger is not served by the originating carrier. In these cases it shall be the duty of every bus company to establish reasonable through rates with other bus companies; to establish, observe and enforce just and reasonable individual and joint rates, fares and charges and just and reasonable regulations and practices relating to the charges and to the issuance, form and substance of tickets and the carrying of personal and excess baggage.

(c) In case of joint rates between bus companies, it shall be the duty of the bus companies to establish just and reasonable regulations and practices in connection with the joint rates and just, reasonable and equitable divisions between the participating companies, which shall not unduly prefer or prejudice any of the participating companies.

(d) A bus company providing fixed route service may file with the Commission a petition for new or revised rates, fares or charges. Unless the Commission orders otherwise, no bus company shall make any changes in its rates, fares and charges, which have been established under this Chapter, except after 30 days' notice to the Commission. The notice shall plainly state the changes proposed to be made in the rates then in force, and the time when the changed rates will go into effect. The bus company shall also give notice, which may include notice by publication, of the proposed changes to other interested persons that the Commission may direct. All proposed changes shall be shown by filing new schedules, or shall be plainly indicated upon schedules filed with the Commission and in force at the time and kept open to public inspection by the bus company. The Commission, for good cause shown in writing, may allow changes in rates without requiring the 30 days' notice, under any conditions as it prescribes. All changes shall be immediately indicated by the bus company on its schedules.

(e) Whenever there is filed with the Commission by any bus company any schedule stating a new or revised rate, fare or charge, the Commission may, either upon complaint or upon its own initiative, after reasonable notice, hold a hearing to determine if the proposed new or revised rates, fares or charges are just and reasonable. Pending the hearing and a decision, the Commission, upon filing with the proposed schedule and delivering to the affected bus company a statement in writing of its reasons, may, at any time before they become effective, suspend the operation of the rate or rates, for a period not to exceed 120 days from the filing of the petition. If the proceeding has not been concluded and a final order made within the period of suspension, the proposed change of rate shall go into effect at the end of the 120-day period.

(f) In any proceeding to determine the justness or reasonableness of any rates, fares or charges of a bus company, the Commission shall authorize revenue levels that are adequate under honest, economical, and efficient management to cover total operating expenses, including the operation of leased equipment and depreciation, plus a reasonable profit. The standards and procedures adopted by the Commission under this subsection shall allow the bus company to achieve revenue levels that will provide a flow of net income, plus depreciation, adequate to support prudent capital outlays, assure the repayment of a reasonable level of debt, permit the raising of needed equity capital, attract and retain capital and amounts adequate to provide a sound passenger bus transportation system in this State, and take into account reasonable estimated or foreseeable future costs.

(g) Notwithstanding any provision of this section, the Commission may not investigate, suspend, review or revoke the operation of proposed new or revised rates, fares or charges if the proposed new or revised rates, fares or charges do not exceed the standard rates, fares or charges then in effect by the petitioning bus company for comparable interstate transportation of passengers.

(h) Any person may make complaint in writing to the Commission that any rate, fare, charge, classification, rule, regulation, or practice in effect, or proposed to be put in effect, is or will be in violation of this Chapter. Whenever, after holding a hearing, upon complaint, in an investigation, or upon its own initiative, the Commission finds that any individual or joint rate demanded, charged, or collected by any bus company for transportation of passengers in intrastate commerce, or any classification, rule, regulation or practice of the bus company affecting the rate or the value of the service provided, is or will be unjust or unreasonable or unjustly discriminatory or unduly preferential or unduly prejudicial or constitute an unfair or destructive competitive practice, or otherwise contravenes the policies declared in this Chapter, or is in contravention of any provision of this Chapter, the Commission shall determine and prescribe the lawful rate, or the lawful classification, rule, regulation or practice to be put into effect.

(i) For purposes of this Chapter, rates, fares and charges established pursuant to this section shall be deemed fair, just and reasonable.

(j) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Chapter, the rates, fares and charges established for charter service by a bus company authorized and engaged in charter operations in this State shall be exempt from regulation by the Commission. A bus company authorized and engaged in charter operations shall file with the Commission a current statement of its rates, fares and charges as required by the Commission. (1985, c. 676, s. 15(6).)

§ 62-147: Repealed by Session Laws 1995, c. 523, s. 10.

§ 62-148. Rates on leased or controlled utility.

If any public utility operating in the State other than a motor carrier is owned, controlled or operated by lease or other agreement by any other public utility doing business in the State, its rates may, in the discretion of the Commission, be determined for such public utility by the rates prescribed for the public utility which owns, controls or operates it. (Ex. Sess. 1908, c. 144, s. 2; C.S., s. 3490; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-149. Unused tickets to be redeemed.

Whenever any ticket is sold and is not wholly used by the purchaser, it shall be the duty of the carrier selling such ticket to redeem it or the unused portion thereof at the price paid for it, or in such manner and at such price as the Commission shall prescribe by regulation. (1891, c. 290; 1893, c. 249; 1895, c. 83, ss. 2, 3; 1897, c. 418; Rev., s. 2627; C.S., s. 3503; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-150. Ticket may be refused intoxicated person; penalty for prohibited entry.

The ticket agent of any common carrier of passengers shall at all times have power to refuse to sell a ticket to any person applying for the same who may at the time be intoxicated. The driver or other person in charge of any conveyance for the use of the traveling public shall at all times have power to prevent any intoxicated person from entering such conveyance. If any intoxicated person, after being forbidden by the driver or other person having charge of any such conveyance for the use of the traveling public, shall enter such conveyance, he shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1885, c. 358, ss. 1, 2, 3; Rev., ss. 2625, 2626, 3757; C.S., s. 3504; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 478; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c); 1998-128, s. 5.)

CASE NOTES

When Exemplary Damages Allowed. — In an action for damages for refusal to allow a person with a ticket to board a train because he was intoxicated, exemplary damages would be allowed if such refusal was made with malice, undue force, or insult. Story v. Norfolk & S.R.R., 133 N.C. 59, 45 S.E. 349 (1903).

§ 62-151. Passenger refusing to pay fare or violating rules may be ejected.

If any passenger shall refuse to pay his fare, or be or become intoxicated, or violate the rules of a common carrier, it shall be lawful for the driver of the bus or other conveyance, and servants of the carrier, on stopping the conveyance, to put him and his baggage out of the conveyance, using no unnecessary force. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 34; Code, s. 1962; Rev., s. 2629; C.S., s. 3507; 1949, c. 1132, s. 30; 1953, c. 1140, s. 4; 1957, c. 1152, s. 16; 1961, c. 472, s. 11; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1998-128, s. 6.)

CASE NOTES

Ejection from Baggage Car. — A person who gets on a blind baggage car, even though he has a ticket, and does not tell the conductor that he has it, where the conductor does not see it, is not entitled to recover as a passenger for injuries received by being pulled off the train by the conductor. McGraw v. Railroad, 135 N.C. 264, 47 S.E. 758 (1904).

Where individual shipped horses by express with an agreement that he should ride in the same car, he could not ride in the passenger coach without paying his fare. Teeter v. Southern Express Co., 172 N.C. 616, 90 S.E. 761, rehearing denied, 172 N.C. 620, 90 S.E. 927 (1961).

Mileage Book Holder Must Comply with Terms. — The holder of a mileage book must comply with its terms if reasonable opportunity is given, or he may be ejected. Mason v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 159 N.C. 183, 75 S.E. 25 (1912); McNairy v. Norfolk & W.R.R., 172 N.C. 505, 90 S.E. 497 (1916).

Ejection of Party Refusing to Show Mileage Book. — When a purchaser of a mileage book from a railroad company is riding on an exchange ticket and refuses, without excuse, to show his mileage book, in connection with the ticket, to the conductor on the train, he is not regarded as a passenger, and the conductor has the right to eject him from the train. Mason v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 159 N.C. 183, 75 S.E. 25 (1912).

Ejection Caused by Failure of Conductor to Return Ticket. — Where the conductor failed to return a ticket to a passenger to be used on another train, and the passenger was ejected therefrom for lack of the ticket, the railroad was liable for all damages attending the ejection. Sawyer v. Norfolk S.R.R., 171 N.C. 13, 86 S.E. 166 (1915).

Reliance on Agent's Statements. — The purchaser of a ticket may rely upon the statements of the railroad agent as to trains, connection, validity of ticket, etc., and if the passenger is ejected as a result of the agent's mistake the railroad is liable. Hallman v. Southern Ry., 169 N.C. 127, 85 S.E. 298 (1915); Creech v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 174 N.C. 61, 93 S.E. 453 (1917).

Carrier Not Liable for Unforeseen Result of Ejection. — A conductor requiring an intoxicated man to leave the train for nonpayment of fare did not render the carrier liable for the death of the man from exposure, where the conductor did not have reasonable ground to believe that the man was unable to find his way or walk to the nearest house or to the railroad station, or even to his own father's house, which was not far away. Roseman v. Carolina Cent. R.R., 112 N.C. 709, 16 S.E. 766 (1893).

Evidence of Drunkenness Held Inadmissible. — In an action for wrongful ejection from a train, evidence of drunkenness of plaintiff was not admissible where the answer simply denied the wrongful ejection alleged in the complaint. Raynor v. Wilmington Seacoast R.R., 129 N.C. 195, 39 S.E. 821 (1901).

As to requirement of former statute that passenger be ejected near usual stopping place or dwelling house, see Roseman v. Carolina Cent. R.R., 112 N.C. 709, 16 S.E. 766 (1893); Bullock v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 152 N.C. 66, 67 S.E. 60 (1910); McNairy v. Norfolk & W.R.R., 172 N.C. 505, 90 S.E. 497 (1916).

§ 62-152: Repealed by Session Laws 1998-128, s. 13, effective September 4, 1998.

§ 62-152.1. Uniform rates; joint rate agreements among carriers.

(a) Definitions. — As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires, the term:

(1) "Carrier" means any common carrier as defined in G.S. 62-3(6).

(2) For purposes of this section, carriers by motor vehicles are carriers of the same class, carriers by pipeline are carriers of the same class, carriers by water are carriers of the same class, carriers by air are carriers of the same class, and freight forwarders are carriers of the same class.

(3) The term "antitrust laws" means the provisions of Chapter 75 of the General Statutes (N.C.G.S. 75-1, et seq.), relating to combinations in restraint of trade.

(b) For the purpose of achieving a stable rate structure it shall be the policy of this State to fix uniform rates for the same or similar services by carriers of the same class. In order to realize and effectuate this policy and regulatory goal any carrier subject to regulation by this Commission and party to an agreement between or among two or more carriers relating to rates, fares, classifications, divisions, allowances or charges (including charges between carriers and compensation paid or received for the use of facilities and equipment), or rules and regulations pertaining thereto, or procedures for the joint consideration, initiation or establishment thereof, may, under such rules and regulations as the Commission may prescribe, apply to the Commission for approval of the agreement, and the Commission shall by order approve any such agreement (if approval thereof is not prohibited by subsection (d) or (e) of this section) if it finds that, by reason of furtherance of the transportation policy and goal declared in this section and in G.S. 62-2 or G.S. 62-259 as may be pertinent, the relief provided in subsection (h) shall apply with respect to the making and carrying out of such agreement; otherwise, the application shall be denied. The approval of the Commission shall be granted only upon such terms and conditions as the Commission may prescribe as necessary to enable it to grant its approval in accordance with the standard above set forth in this subsection.

(c) Each conference, bureau, committee, or other organization established or continued pursuant to any agreement approved by the Commission under this section shall maintain such accounts, records, files and memoranda and shall submit to the Commission such information and reports as may be prescribed by the Commission, and all the accounts, records, files and memoranda shall be subject to inspection by the Commission or its duly authorized representatives.

(d) The Commission shall not approve under this section any agreement between or among carriers of different classes unless it finds that the agreement is of the character described in subsection (b) of this section and is limited to matters relating to transportation under joint rates or over through routes.

(e) The Commission shall not approve under this section any agreement which establishes a procedure for the determination of any matter through joint consideration unless it finds that under the agreement there is accorded to each party the free and unrestrained right to take independent action after any determination arrived at through such procedure.

(f) The Commission is authorized, upon complaint or upon its own initiative without complaint, to investigate and determine whether any agreement previously approved by it under this section, or terms and conditions upon which the approval was granted is not or are not in conformity with the standards set forth in subsection (b) of this section, or whether any such terms and conditions are not necessary for the purposes of conformity with such standards, and, after such investigation, the Commission shall by order terminate or modify its approval of such agreement if it finds such action necessary to insure conformity with such standards, and shall modify the terms and conditions upon which such approval was granted to the extent it finds necessary to insure conformity with such standards or to the extent to which it finds such terms and conditions not necessary to insure such conformity. The effective date of any order terminating or modifying approval, or modifying terms and conditions, shall be postponed for such period as the Commission determines to be reasonably necessary to avoid undue hardships.

(g) No order shall be entered under this section except after interested parties have been afforded reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing.

(h) Parties to any agreement approved by the Commission under this section and other parties are, if the approval of such agreement is not prohibited by subsection (d) or (e) of this section, hereby relieved from the operation of the antitrust laws with respect to the making of such agreement, and with respect to the carrying out of such agreement in conformity with the terms and conditions prescribed by the Commission.

(i) Any action of the Commission under this section in approving an agreement, or in denying an application for such approval, or in terminating or modifying its approval of an agreement, or prescribing the terms and conditions upon which its approval is to be granted, or in modifying such terms and conditions, shall be construed as having effect solely with reference to the applicability of the relief provisions of subsection (h) of this section. (1977, c. 219, s. 1; 1998-128, s. 7.)

Legal Periodicals. — For survey of 1977 law on common carriers, see 56 N.C.L. Rev. 853 (1978).

§ 62-152.2. Standard transportation practices.

(a) For the purposes of this section, "standard transportation practices" means:

(1) Uniform cargo liability rules.

(2) Uniform bills of lading or receipts for property being transported.

(3) Uniform cargo credit rules.

(4) Antitrust immunity for joint line rates or routes, classification, and mileage guides.

(b) A person otherwise exempt from regulation by the Commission under Public Law 103-305 may file an application with the Commission to participate in one or more standard transportation practices under rules set out by the Commission. (1995, c. 523, s. 10.1.)

§ 62-153. Contracts of public utilities with certain companies and for services.

(a) All public utilities shall file with the Commission copies of contracts with any affiliated or subsidiary holding, managing, operating, constructing, engineering, financing or purchasing company or agency, and when requested by the Commission, copies of contracts with any person selling service of any kind. The Commission may disapprove, after hearing, any such contract if it is found to be unjust or unreasonable, and made for the purpose or with the effect of concealing, transferring or dissipating the earnings of the public utility. Such contracts so disapproved by the Commission shall be void and shall not be carried out by the public utility which is a party thereto, nor shall any payments be made thereunder. Provided, however, that in the case of motor carriers of passengers this subsection shall apply only to such contracts as the Commission shall request such carriers to file.

(b) No public utility shall pay any fees, commissions or compensation of any description whatsoever to any affiliated or subsidiary holding, managing, operating, constructing, engineering, financing or purchasing company or agency for services rendered or to be rendered without first filing copies of all proposed agreements and contracts with the Commission and obtaining its approval. Provided, however, that this subsection shall not apply to motor carriers of passengers. (1931, c. 455; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; c. 307, s. 17; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Legal Periodicals. — For survey of 1981 administrative law, see 60 N.C.L. Rev. 1165 (1982).

CASE NOTES

Purpose. — The purpose of this section is merely to assure that executory contracts between affiliates be just and reasonable on their face. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 52 N.C. App. 222, 278 S.E.2d 761 (1981), rev'd on other grounds, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

This section was clearly enacted for the purpose of discovering contracts between affiliated corporations which are "unjust or unreasonable, and made for the purpose or with the effect of concealing, transferring or dissipating the earnings of the public utility." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 52 N.C. App. 222, 278 S.E.2d 761 (1981), rev'd on other grounds, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Affiliate Company Cannot Be Used to Transmit Unreasonable Profits to Parent Holding Company. — The Commission cannot permit parent holding companies to use affiliate companies as a device for transmitting an unreasonable level of profits to such parent holding company from goods or services supplied the operating company by way of an affiliate company. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Morgan, 7 N.C. App. 576, 173 S.E.2d 479, rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 255, 177 S.E.2d 405 (1970), reaffirmed, 278 N.C. 235, 179 S.E.2d 419 (1971).

The statutory scheme is directed at prior approval. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 52 N.C. App. 222, 278 S.E.2d 761 (1981), rev'd on other grounds, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Standard for Approval. — The consideration of the Commission under this section is directed to whether the contracts are just and reasonable. If they are, and are not efforts to divert or conceal profits, they are to be approved. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 52 N.C. App. 222, 278 S.E.2d 761 (1981), rev'd on other grounds, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Basis for Determining Reasonableness of Affiliate's Charges. — The Utilities Commission must determine the reasonableness of charges to a public utility by an affiliated corporation on the basis of either: (1) the cost of the same services on the open market; (2) the cost similar utilities pay to their service companies; or (3) the reasonableness of the expenses incurred by the affiliated corporation in generating its services. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 52 N.C. App. 222, 278 S.E.2d 761 (1981), rev'd on other grounds, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Consideration for Rate Making Purposes of Expenses Pursuant to Unfiled Contracts. — This section does not prohibit the Utilities Commission from considering fees or charges owed to affiliated corporations under unfiled contracts as expenses of the public utility for purposes of rate making, so long as the Commission determines in the rate making procedure that the agreements between the utility and the affiliated corporations are just and reasonable and it does not appear that their purpose is to conceal or divert profits from the public utility to an affiliate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 52 N.C. App. 222, 278 S.E.2d 761 (1981), rev'd on other grounds, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Expenses incurred under unreasonable contracts would have to be disregarded in computing a utility's expenses. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 52 N.C. App. 222, 278 S.E.2d 761 (1981), rev'd on other grounds, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Examination of Books and Records of Affiliated Companies. — An examination by the Utilities Commission of the books and records of companies affiliated with a regulated utility is necessary in a rate case only if there is no evidence of what the utility would have had to pay nonaffiliated companies for the same services or of what similar utilities pay their service companies for similar services. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Intervenor Residents, 52 N.C. App. 222, 278 S.E.2d 761 (1981), rev'd on other grounds, 305 N.C. 62, 286 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Stated in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. General Tel. Co., 281 N.C. 318, 189 S.E.2d 705 (1972).

§ 62-154. Surplus power rates.

The Commission is authorized to investigate the sale of surplus electric power and the rates made for such energy, and to prescribe reasonable rules and rates for such sales. (1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-155. Electric power rates to promote conservation.

(a) It is the policy of the State to conserve energy through efficient utilization of all resources.

(b) If the Utilities Commission after study determines that conservation of electricity and economy of operation for the public utility will be furthered thereby, it shall direct each electric public utility to notify its customers by the most economical means available of the anticipated periods in the near future when its generating capacity is likely to be near peak demand and urge its customers to refrain from using electricity at these peak times of the day. In addition, each public utility shall, insofar as practicable, investigate, develop, and put into service, with approval of the Commission, procedures and devices that will temporarily curtail or cut off certain types of appliances or equipment for short periods of time whenever an unusual peak demand threatens to overload its system.

(c) The Commission itself shall inform the general public as to the necessity for controlling demands for electricity at peak periods and shall require the several electric public utilities to carry out its program of information and education in any reasonable manner.

(d) The Commission shall study the feasibility of and, if found to be practicable, just and reasonable, make plans for the public utilities to bill customers by a system of nondiscriminatory peak pricing, with incentive rates for off-peak use of electricity charging more for peak periods than for off-peak periods to reflect the higher cost of providing electric service during periods of peak demand on the utility system. No order regarding such rates shall be issued by the Commission without a prior public hearing, whether in a single electric utility company rate case or in general orders relating to two or more or all electric utilities.

(e) No Class A electric public utility shall apply for any rate change unless it files at the time of the application a report of the probable effect of the proposed rates on peak demand on it and its estimate of the kilowatt hours of electricity that will be used by its customers during the ensuing one year and five years from the time such rates are proposed to become effective. (1975, c. 780, s. 2.)

§ 62-156. Power sales by small power producers to public utilities.

(a) In the event that a small power producer and an electric utility are unable to mutually agree to a contract for the sale of electricity or to a price for the electricity purchased by the electric utility, the commission shall require the utility to purchase the power, under rates and terms established as provided in subsection (b) of this section.

(b) No later than March 1, 1981, and at least every two years thereafter, the commission shall determine the rates to be paid by electric utilities for power purchased from small power producers, according to the following standards:

(1) Term of Contract. — Long-term contracts for the purchase of electricity by the utility from small power producers shall be encouraged in order to enhance the economic feasibility of small power production facilities.

(2) Avoided Cost of Energy to the Utility. — The rates paid by a utility to a small power producer shall not exceed, over the term of the purchase power contract, the incremental cost to the electric utility of the electric energy which, but for the purchase from a small power producer, the utility would generate or purchase from another source. A determination of the avoided energy costs to the utility shall include a consideration of the following factors over the term of the power contracts: the expected costs of the additional or existing generating capacity which could be displaced, the expected cost of fuel and other operating expenses of electric energy production which a utility would otherwise incur in generating or purchasing power from another source, and the expected security of the supply of fuel for the utilities' alternative power sources.

(3) Availability and Reliability of Power. — The rates to be paid by electric utilities for power purchased from a small power producer shall be established with consideration of the reliability and availability of the power. (1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1219, s. 2.)

§ 62-157. Telecommunications relay service.

(a) Finding. — The General Assembly finds and declares that it is in the public interest to provide access to public telecommunications services for hearing impaired or speech impaired persons, including those who also have vision impairment, and that a statewide telecommunications relay service for telephone service should be established.

(a1) Definitions. — For purposes of this section:

(1) "Exchange access facility" means the access from a particular telephone subscriber's premises to the telephone system of a local exchange telephone company, and includes local exchange company-provided access lines, private branch exchange trunks, and centrex network access registers, all as defined by tariffs of telephone companies as approved by the Commission.

(2) "Local service provider" means a local exchange company, competing local provider, or telephone membership corporation.

(b) Authority to Require Surcharge. — The Commission shall require local service providers to impose a monthly surcharge on all residential and business local exchange access facilities to fund a statewide telecommunications relay service by which hearing impaired or speech impaired persons, including those who also have vision impairment, may communicate with others by telephone. This surcharge, however, may not be imposed on participants in the Subscriber Line Charge Waiver Program or the Link-up Carolina Program established by the Commission. This surcharge, and long distance revenues collected under subsection (f) of this section, are not includable in gross receipts subject to the franchise tax levied under G.S. 105-120 or the sales tax levied under G.S. 105-164.4.

(c) Specification of Surcharge. — The Department of Health and Human Services shall initiate a telecommunications relay service by filing a petition with the Commission requesting the service and detailing initial projected required funding. The Commission shall, after giving notice and an opportunity to be heard to other interested parties, set the initial monthly surcharge based upon the amount of funding necessary to implement and operate the service, including a reasonable margin for a reserve. The surcharge shall be identified on customer bills as a special surcharge for provision of a telecommunications relay service for hearing impaired and speech impaired persons. The Commission may, upon petition of any interested party, and after giving notice and an opportunity to be heard to other interested parties, revise the surcharge from time to time if the funding requirements change. In no event shall the surcharge exceed twenty-five cents (25¢) per month for each exchange access facility.

(d) Funds to Be Deposited in Special Account. — The local service providers shall collect the surcharge from their customers and deposit the moneys collected with the State Treasurer, who shall maintain the funds in an interest-bearing, nonreverting account. After consulting with the State Treasurer, the Commission shall direct how and when the local service providers shall deposit these moneys. Revenues from this fund shall be available only to the Department of Health and Human Services to administer the statewide telecommunications relay service program, including its establishment, operation, and promotion. The Commission may allow the Department of Health and Human Services to use up to four cents (4¢) per access line per month of the surcharge for the purpose of providing telecommunications devices for hearing impaired or speech impaired persons, including those who also have vision impairment, through a distribution program. The Commission shall prepare such guidelines for the distribution program as it deems appropriate and in the public interest. Both the Commission and the Public Staff may audit all aspects of the telecommunications relay service program, including the distribution programs, as it does with any public utility subject to the provisions of this Chapter. Equipment paid for with surcharge revenues, as allowed by the Commission, may be distributed only by the Department of Health and Human Services.

(e) Administration of Service. — The Department of Health and Human Services shall administer the statewide telecommunications relay service program, including its establishment, operation, and promotion. The Department may contract out the provision of this service for four-year periods to one or more service providers, using the provisions of G.S. 143-129.

(f) Charge to Users. — The users of the telecommunications relay service shall be charged their approved long distance and local rates for telephone services (including the surcharge required by this section), but no additional charges may be imposed for the use of the relay service. The local service providers shall collect revenues from the users of the relay service for long distance services provided through the relay service. These revenues shall be deposited in the special fund established in subsection (d) of this section in a manner determined by the Commission after consulting with the State Treasurer. Local service providers shall be compensated for collection, inquiry, and other administrative services provided by said companies, subject to the approval of the Commission.

(g) Reporting Requirement. — The Commission shall, after consulting with the Department of Health and Human Services, develop a format and filing schedule for a comprehensive financial and operational report on the telecommunications relay service program. The Department of Health and Human Services shall thereafter prepare and file these reports as required by the Commission with the Commission and the Public Staff. The Department shall also be required to report to the Revenue Laws Study Committee.

(h) Power to Regulate. — The Commission shall have the same power to regulate the operation of the telecommunications relay service program as it has to regulate any public utility subject to the provisions of this Chapter. (1989, c. 599; 1997-443, s. 11A.118(a); 1999-402, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Section 105-120 referred to in the above § 62-157(b) was repealed by Session Laws 2001-430, s. 12.

§ 62-158. Natural gas expansion.

(a) In order to facilitate the construction of facilities in and the extension of natural gas service to unserved areas, the Commission may, after a hearing, order a natural gas local distribution company to create a special natural gas expansion fund to be used by that company to construct natural gas facilities in areas within the company's franchised territory that otherwise would not be feasible for the company to construct. The fund shall be supervised and administered by the Commission. Any applicable taxes shall be paid out of the fund.

(b) Sources of funding for a natural gas local distribution company's expansion fund may, pursuant to the order of the Commission, after hearing, include:

(1) Refunds to a local distribution company from the company's suppliers of natural gas and transportation services pursuant to refund orders or requirements of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission;

(2) Expansion surcharges by the local distribution company charged to customers purchasing natural gas or transportation services throughout that company's franchised territory; provided, however, in determining the amount of any surcharge the Commission shall take into account the prices of alternative sources of energy and the need to remain competitive with those alternative sources, and the need to maintain just and reasonable rates for natural gas and transportation services for all customers served by the company; provided further that the expansion surcharge shall not be greater than fifteen cents (15¢) per dekatherm; and

(3) Other sources of funding approved by the Commission.

(c) The application of all such funds to expansion projects shall be pursuant to the order of the Commission. The Commission shall ensure that all projects to which expansion funds are applied are consistent with the intent of this section and G.S. 62-2(9). In determining economic feasibility, the Commission shall employ the net present value method of analysis on a project specific basis. Only those projects with a negative net present value shall be determined to be economically infeasible for the company to construct. In no event shall the Commission authorize a distribution from the fund of an amount greater than the negative net present value of any proposed project as determined by the Commission. If at any time a project is determined by the Commission to have become economically feasible, the Commission may require the company to remit to the expansion fund or to customers appropriate portions of the distributions from the fund related to the project, and the Commission may order such funds to be returned with interest in a reasonable amount to be determined by the Commission. Utility plant acquired with expansion funds shall be included in the local distribution company's rate base at zero cost except to the extent such funds have been remitted by the company pursuant to order of the Commission.

(d) The Commission, after hearing, may adopt rules to implement this section, including rules for the establishment of expansion funds, for the use of such funds, for the remittance to the expansion fund or to customers of supplier and transporter refunds and expansion surcharges or other funds that were sources of the expansion fund, and for appropriate accounting, reporting and ratemaking treatment. The Commission and Public Staff shall report to the Joint Legislative Utility Review Committee on the operation of any expansion funds in conjunction with the reports required under G.S. 62-36A. (1991, c. 598, s. 2.)

CASE NOTES

The purpose of this section is to facilitate the construction of facilities and the extension of natural gas service into areas of the State where it may not be economically feasible to expand with traditional funding methods in order to provide infrastructure to aid industrial recruitment and economic development. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Piedmont Natural Gas Co., 346 N.C. 558, 488 S.E.2d 591 (1997).

Expansion fund legislation is a proper delegation of legislative authority to an administrative agency and is not unconstitutional. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 336 N.C. 657, 446 S.E.2d 332 (1994).

Commission Authority. — As an administrative agency created by the legislature, the Commission has not been given jurisdiction to determine the constitutionality of legislative enactments, specifically § 62-2(9) or this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 336 N.C. 657, 446 S.E.2d 332 (1994).

The Commission did not act under a misapprehension of applicable law when it granted the petition and established the expansion fund pursuant to a proper interpretation of its authority and discretion to do so. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Util. Customers Ass'n, 336 N.C. 657, 446 S.E.2d 332 (1994).

Expansion Funds Not Used Where Alternative Financing Feasible. — Utilities Commission concluded that it would be inappropriate and inconsistent with the legislative intent expressed in this section to allow expansion funds to be used where alternative financing was feasible. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Piedmont Natural Gas Co., 346 N.C. 558, 488 S.E.2d 591 (1997).

§ 62-159. Additional funding for natural gas expansion.

(a) In order to facilitate the construction of facilities in and the extension of natural gas service to unserved areas, the Commission may provide funding through appropriations from the General Assembly or the proceeds of general obligation bonds as provided in this section to either (i) an existing natural gas local distribution company; (ii) a person awarded a new franchise; or (iii) a gas district for the construction of natural gas facilities that it otherwise would not be economically feasible for the company, person, or gas district to construct.

(b) The use of funds provided under this section shall be pursuant to an order of the Commission after a public hearing. The Commission shall ensure that all projects for which funds are provided under this section are consistent with the intent of this section and G.S. 62-2(9). In determining whether to approve the use of funds for a particular project pursuant to this section, the Commission shall consider the scope of a proposed project, including the number of unserved counties and the number of anticipated customers that would be served, the total cost of the project, the extent to which the project is considered feasible, and other relevant factors affecting the public interest. In determining economic feasibility, the Commission shall employ the net present value method of analysis on a project specific basis. Only those projects with a negative net present value shall be determined to be economically infeasible for the company, person, or gas district to construct. In no event shall the Commission provide funding under this section of an amount greater than the negative net present value of any proposed project as determined by the Commission. If at any time a project is determined by the Commission to have become economically feasible, the Commission shall require the recipient of funding to remit to the Commission appropriate funds related to the project, and the Commission may order those funds to be returned with interest in a reasonable amount to be determined by the Commission. Funds returned, together with interest, shall be deposited with the State Treasurer to be used for other expansion projects pursuant to the provisions of this section. Utility plant acquired with expansion funds shall be included in the local distribution company's rate base at zero cost except to the extent such funds have been remitted by the company pursuant to order of the Commission. In the event a gas district wishes to sell or otherwise dispose of facilities financed with funds received under this section, it must first notify the Commission which shall determine the method of repayment or accounting for those funds.

(c) To the extent that one or more of the counties included in a proposed project to be funded pursuant to this section are counties affected by the loss of exclusive franchise rights provided for in G.S. 62-36A(b), the Commission may conclude that the public interest requires that the person obtaining the franchise or funding pursuant to this section be given an exclusive franchise and that the existing franchise be canceled. Any new exclusive franchise granted under this subsection shall be subject to the provisions of G.S. 62-36A(b). This subsection does not apply to gas districts formed under Article 28 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes.

(d) The Commission, after hearing, shall adopt rules to implement this section as soon as practicable. The Commission and Public Staff shall report to the Joint Legislative Utility Review Committee on the use of funding provided under this section in conjunction with the reports required under G.S. 62-36A. (1998-132, s. 17; 1999-456, s. 17.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1998-132, s. 19, made this section effective September 9, 1998 and further provided that the Utilities Commission shall begin immediately the rule-making process mandated by subsection (d) of this section.

Session Laws 1998-132, s. 16 provides that the extension of natural gas facilities to unserved parts of the state is necessary and to be encouraged, that the construction of facilities may not be feasible with traditional funding methods, and that it is necessary to authorize additional funding methods to facilitate the expansion of natural gas service.

Session Laws 1998-132, s. 1 provides that this act shall be known as the Clean Water and Natural Gas Critical Needs Bond Act of 1998.

§§ 62-159.1 through 62-159.5: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Article 8.

Securities Regulation.

§ 62-160. Permission to pledge assets.

No public utility shall pledge its faith, credit, moneys or property for the benefit of any holder of its preferred or common stocks or bonds, nor for any other business interest with which it may be affiliated through agents or holding companies or otherwise by the authority of the action of its stockholders, directors, or contract or other agents, the compliance or result of which would in any manner deplete, reduce, conceal, abstract or dissipate the earnings or assets thereof, decrease or increase its liabilities or assets, without first making application to the Commission and by order obtain its permission so to do. (1933, c. 307, s. 17; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

The General Assembly intended this Article to apply to all public utilities doing business in this State, whether they be foreign or domestic corporations, and even though they are also engaged in interstate commerce. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 288 N.C. 201, 217 S.E.2d 543 (1975).

The Commission may not lawfully require a multistate foreign corporation engaged in interstate commerce to comply with this Article and issue securities in the future only after first making application to and obtaining an order from the Commission authorizing such issue. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 22 N.C. App. 714, 207 S.E.2d 771 (1974), aff'd, 288 N.C. 201, 217 S.E.2d 543 (1975).

The regulation and control by this State over the issuance of securities by a multistate foreign corporation engaged in interstate commerce, which the attempted enforcement by the Commission of this Article was held necessarily to entail, is to impose such an undue burden on interstate commerce as to make such regulation and control constitutionally beyond the State's power to enforce. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 22 N.C. App. 714, 207 S.E.2d 771 (1974), aff'd, 288 N.C. 201, 217 S.E.2d 543 (1975).

§ 62-161. Assumption of certain liabilities and obligations to be approved by Commission; refinancing of public utility securities.

(a) No public utility shall issue any securities, or assume any liability or obligation as lessor, lessee, guarantor, indorser, surety, or otherwise, in respect to the securities of any other person unless and until, and then only to the extent that, upon application by such utility, and after investigation by the Commission of the purposes and uses of the proposed issue, and the proceeds thereof, or of the proposed assumption of obligation or liability in respect of the securities of any other person, the Commission by order authorizes such issue or assumption.

(b) The Commission shall make such order only if it finds that such issue or assumption is (i) for some lawful object within the corporate purposes of the public utility, (ii) is compatible with the public interest, (iii) is necessary or appropriate for or consistent with the proper performance by such utility of its service to the public and will not impair its ability to perform that service, and (iv) is reasonably necessary and appropriate for such purpose.

(c) Any such order of the Commission shall specify the purposes for which any such securities or the proceeds thereof may be used by the public utility making such application.

(d) If a public utility shall apply to the Commission for the refinancing of its outstanding shares of stock by exchanging or redeeming such outstanding shares, the exchange or redemption of such shares of any dividend rate or rates, class or classes, may be made in whole or in part, in the manner and to the extent approved by the Commission, notwithstanding any provisions of law applicable to corporations in general: Provided, that the proposed transactions are found by the Commission to be in the public interest and in the interest of consumers and investors, and provided that any redemption shall be at a price or prices, not less than par, and at a time or times, stated or provided for in the utility's charter or stock certificates. (1933, c. 307, s. 18; 1945, c. 656; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

The General Assembly intended this Article to apply to all public utilities doing business in this State, whether they be foreign or domestic corporations, and even though they are also engaged in interstate commerce. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 288 N.C. 201, 217 S.E.2d 543 (1975).

The Commission may not lawfully require a multistate foreign corporation engaged in interstate commerce to comply with this Article and issue securities in the future only after first making application to and obtaining an order from the Commission authorizing such issue. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 22 N.C. App. 714, 207 S.E.2d 771 (1974), aff'd, 288 N.C. 201, 217 S.E.2d 543 (1975).

The regulation and control by this State over the issuance of securities by a multistate foreign corporation engaged in interstate commerce, which the attempted enforcement by the Commission of this Article was held necessarily to entail, is to impose such an undue burden on interstate commerce as to make such regulation and control constitutionally beyond the State's power to enforce. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 22 N.C. App. 714, 207 S.E.2d 771 (1974), aff'd, 288 N.C. 201, 217 S.E.2d 543 (1975).

The common capital stock of a corporation is a "security" within the meaning of that term as used in this section and § 62-162. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 243 N.C. 46, 89 S.E.2d 802 (1955).

§ 62-162. Commission may approve in whole or in part or refuse approval.

The Commission, by its order, may grant or deny the application provided for in the preceding section [G.S. 62-161] as made, or may grant it in part or deny it in part or may grant it with such modification and upon such terms and conditions as the Commission may deem necessary or appropriate in the premises and may, from time to time, for good cause shown, make such supplemental orders in the premises as it may deem necessary or appropriate and may, by any such supplemental order, modify the provisions of any previous order as to the particular purposes, uses, and extent to which or the conditions under which any securities so authorized or the proceeds thereof may be applied; subject always to the requirements of the foregoing section [G.S. 62-161]. (1933, c. 307, s. 19; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Authority of Commission to Set Minimum Price for Sale of Unissued Common Stock. — In view of the language used by the legislature in conferring power of the Utilities Commission to supervise and control the issue and sale of securities by a public utility, the Commission had the authority not only to veto the sale of unissued common stock of a utility at par but also to impose the condition that such stock should be sold at a price not less than $125.00 per share. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 243 N.C. 46, 89 S.E.2d 802 (1955).

§ 62-163. Contents of application for permission.

Every application for authority for such issue or assumption shall be made in such form and contain such matters as the Commission may prescribe. Every such application and every certificate of notification hereinafter provided for shall be made under oath, signed and filed on behalf of the public utility by its president, a vice-president, auditor, comptroller, or other executive officer duly designated for that purpose by such utility. (1933, c. 307, s. 20; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-164. Applications to receive immediate attention; continuances.

All applications for the issuance of securities or assumption of liability or obligation shall be placed at the head of the Commission's docket and disposed of promptly, and all such applications shall be disposed of in 30 days after the same are filed with the Commission, unless it is necessary for good cause to continue the same for a longer period for consideration. Whenever such application is continued beyond 30 days after the time it is filed, the order making such continuance must state fully the facts necessitating such continuance. (1933, c. 307, s. 21; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-165. Notifying Commission as to disposition of securities.

Whenever any securities set forth and described in any such application for authority or certificate of notification as pledged or held unencumbered in the treasury of the utility shall, subsequent to the filing of such application or certificate, be sold, pledged, repledged, or otherwise disposed of, by the utility, such utility shall, within 10 days after such sale, pledge, repledge, or other disposition, file with the Commission a certificate of notification to that effect, setting forth therein all such facts as may be required by the Commission. (1933, c. 307, s. 22; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-166. No guarantee on part of State.

Nothing herein shall be construed to imply any guarantee or obligation as to such securities on the part of the State of North Carolina. (1933, c. 307, s. 23; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-167. Article not applicable to note issues and renewals; notice to Commission.

The provisions of the foregoing sections shall not apply to notes issued by a utility for proper purposes and not in violation of law, payable at a period of not more than two years from the date thereof, and shall not apply to like notes issued by a utility payable at a period of not more than two years from date thereof, to pay, retire, discharge, or refund in whole or in part any such note or notes, and shall not apply to renewals thereof from time to time not exceeding in the aggregate six years from the date of the issue of the original note or notes so renewed or refunded. No such notes payable at a period of not more than two years from the date thereof, shall, in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, be paid, retired, discharged or refunded by any issue of securities or another kind of any term or character or from the proceeds thereof without the approval of the Commission. Within 10 days after the making of any such notes, so payable at periods of not more than two years from the date thereof, the utility issuing the same shall file with the Commission a certificate of notification, in such form as may be determined and prescribed by the Commission. (1933, c. 307, ss. 24, 25; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-168. Not applicable to debentures of court receivers.

Nothing contained in this Article shall limit the power of any court having jurisdiction to authorize or cause receiver's certificates or debentures to be issued according to the rules and practice obtained in receivership proceedings in courts of equity. (1933, c. 307, s. 25; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-169. Periodical or special reports.

The Commission shall require periodical or special reports from each public utility issuing any security, including such notes payable at periods of not more than two years from the date thereof, which shall show, in such detail as the Commission may require, the disposition made of such securities and the application of the proceeds. (1933, c. 307, s. 26; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-170. Failure to obtain approval not to invalidate securities or obligations; noncompliance with Article, etc.

(a) Securities issued and obligations and liabilities assumed by a public utility, for which the authorization of the Commission is required, shall not be invalidated because issued or assumed without such authorization therefor having first been obtained or because issued or assumed contrary to any term or condition of such order of authorization as modified by any order supplemental thereto entered prior to such issuance or assumption.

(b) Securities issued or obligations or liabilities assumed in accordance with all the terms and conditions of the order of authorization therefor shall not be affected by a failure to comply with any provision of this Article or rule or regulation of the Commission relating to procedure and other matters preceding the entry of such order of authorization or order supplemental thereto.

(c) A copy of any order made and entered by the Commission and certified by a clerk of the Commission approving the issuance of any securities or the assumption of any obligation or liability by a public utility shall be sufficient evidence of full and complete compliance by the applicant for such approval with all procedural and other matters required precedent to the entry of such order.

(d) Any public utility which willfully issues any such securities, or assumes any such obligation or liability, or makes any sale or other disposition of securities, or applies any securities or the proceeds thereof to purposes other than the purposes specified in an order of the Commission with respect thereto, contrary to the provisions of this Article, shall be liable to a penalty of not more than ten thousand dollars ($10,000), but such utility is only required to specify in general terms the purpose for which any securities are to be issued, or for which any obligation or liability is to be assumed, and the order of the Commission with respect thereto shall likewise be in general terms. (1933, c. 307, s. 27; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-171. Commission may act jointly with agency of another state where public utility operates.

If a commission or other agency or agencies is empowered by another state to regulate and control the amount and character of securities to be issued by any public utility within such other state, then the Utilities Commission of the State of North Carolina shall have the power to agree with such commission or other agency or agencies of such other state on the issue of stocks, bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness by a public utility owning or operating a public utility both in such state and in this State, and shall have the power to approve such issue jointly with such commission or other agency or agencies and to issue joint certificate of such approval: Provided, however, that no such joint approval shall be required in order to express the consent to an approval of such issue by the State of North Carolina if said issue is separately approved by the Utilities Commission of the State of North Carolina. (1933, c. 134, s. 8; c. 307, s. 28; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

The General Assembly intended this Article to apply to all public utilities doing business in this State, whether they be foreign or domestic corporations, and even though they are also engaged in interstate commerce. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 288 N.C. 201, 217 S.E.2d 543 (1975).

The Commission may not lawfully require a multistate foreign corporation engaged in interstate commerce to comply with the provisions of this Article and issue securities in the future only after first making application to and obtaining an order from the Commission authorizing such issue. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 22 N.C. App. 714, 207 S.E.2d 771 (1974), aff'd, 288 N.C. 201, 217 S.E.2d 543 (1975).

The regulation and control by this State over the issuance of securities by a multistate foreign corporation engaged in interstate commerce, which the attempted enforcement by the Commission of this Article was held necessarily to entail, is to impose such an undue burden on interstate commerce as to make such regulation and control constitutionally beyond the State's power to enforce. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 22 N.C. App. 714, 207 S.E.2d 771 (1974), aff'd, 288 N.C. 201, 217 S.E.2d 543 (1975).

Article 9.

Acquisition and Condemnation of Property.

§ 62-180. Use of railroads and public highways.

Any person operating electric power, telegraph or telephone lines or authorized by law to establish such lines, has the right to construct, maintain and operate such lines along any railroad or public highway, but such lines shall be so constructed and maintained as not to obstruct or hinder unreasonably the usual travel on such railroad or highway. (1874-5, c. 203, s. 2; Code, s. 2007; 1899, c. 64, s. 1; 1903, c. 562; Rev., s. 1571; C.S., s. 1695; 1939, c. 228, s. 1; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Constitutionality of Former Law. — The provisions of former §§ 56-1 to 56-10, empowering electric power or lighting companies, etc., to condemn lands for the erection of poles, establishment of offices, and other appropriate purposes, were constitutional and valid. Wissler v. Yadkin River Power Co., 158 N.C. 465, 74 S.E. 460 (1912).

No Rights over Private Land Under Former Law. — Former § 56-1 applied to constructing lines along the highway and not to constructing the lines over private land. Wade v. Carolina Tel. & Tel. Co., 147 N.C. 219, 60 S.E. 987 (1908).

Upon What Telegraph Companies Rights Conferred. — The right to construct and operate telegraph lines along any railroad or other public highway in the State, and to obtain the right-of-way therefor by a condemnatory proceeding, was expressly conferred upon any telegraph company incorporated by this or by any other state. North Carolina & R. & D.R.R. v. Carolina Cent. Ry., 83 N.C. 489 (1880); Yadkin River Power Co. v. Wissler, 160 N.C. 269, 76 S.E. 267 (1912).

Telegraph Line as Additional Burden on Land. — A telegraph line along a railroad and on the right-of-way of the railroad is an additional burden upon the land, for which the landowner is entitled to just compensation. Phillips v. Postal Tel. Cable Co., 130 N.C. 513, 41 S.E. 1022 (1902); Hodges v. Western Union Tel. Co., 133 N.C. 225, 45 S.E. 572 (1903); Query v. Postal Tel. Cable Co., 178 N.C. 639, 101 S.E. 390 (1919).

As to electric light wires placed along the street being an additional burden on the land, see Brown v. Electric Co., 138 N.C. 533, 51 S.E. 62 (1905).

The construction of a street passenger railway does not impose any additional servitude upon the property fronting on the street so occupied. Hester v. Traction Co., 138 N.C. 288, 50 S.E. 711 (1905).

Maintenance of a utility pole along a public highway does not constitute an act of negligence unless the pole constitutes a hazard to motorists using the portion of the highway designated and intended for vehicular travel in a proper manner. Shapiro v. Toyota Motor Co., 38 N.C. App. 658, 248 S.E.2d 868 (1978).

Maintenance of a telephone pole 12 1/2 inches beyond the elevated curbing of a road did not constitute an act of negligence in a personal injury action in which a car failed to negotiate a curve and crashed into the pole. Shapiro v. Toyota Motor Co., 38 N.C. App. 658, 248 S.E.2d 868 (1978).

§ 62-181. Electric and hydroelectric power companies may appropriate highways; conditions.

Every electric power or hydroelectric power corporation, person, firm or copartnership which may exercise the right of eminent domain under the Chapter Eminent Domain, where in the development of electric or hydroelectric power it shall become necessary to use or occupy any public highway, or any part of the same, after obtaining the consent of the public road authorities having supervision of such public highway, shall have power to appropriate said public highway for the development of electric or hydroelectric power: Provided, that said electric power or hydroelectric power corporation shall construct an equally good public highway, by a route to be selected by and subject to the approval and satisfaction of the public road authorities having supervision of such public highway: Provided further, that said company shall pay all damages to be assessed as provided by law, by the damming of water, the discontinuance of the road, and for the laying out of said new road. (1911, c. 114; C.S., s. 1696; 1939, c. 228, s. 2; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Cross References. — As to what corporations, etc., may exercise the right of eminent domain, see § 40A-3.

CASE NOTES

Change in Section of Highway. — Where a hydroelectric power company appropriated a section of a public highway and built another section in lieu thereof, the provision of the statute that the company pay all damages assessed as provided by law did not entitle the plaintiff to recover damages for the slight change in the road causing inconvenience to him in hauling wood, etc., to and from his market town. Crowell v. Tallassee Power Co., 200 N.C. 208, 156 S.E. 493 (1931).

§ 62-182. Acquisition of right-of-way by contract.

Such telegraph, telephone, or electric power or lighting company has power to contract with any person or corporation, the owner of any lands or of any franchise or easement therein, over which its lines are proposed to be erected, for the right-of-way for planting, repairing and preservation of its poles or other property, and for the erection and occupation of offices at suitable distances for the public accommodation. This section shall not be construed as requiring electric power or lighting companies to erect offices for public accommodation. (1874-5, c. 203, s. 3; Code, s. 2008; 1899, c. 64; 1903, c. 562, ss. 1, 2; Rev., s. 1572; C.S., s. 1697; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Cross References. — As to recording deeds of easement, see § 47-27.

CASE NOTES

Nonowner Cannot Grant Easement. — Railroad company which is not the owner of the soil cannot grant an easement to a telegraph company. Hodges v. Western Union Tel. Co., 133 N.C. 225, 45 S.E. 572 (1903). See also, Narron v. Wilmington & W.R.R., 122 N.C. 856, 29 S.E. 356 (1898).

How Easement Acquired. — A telegraph company can acquire an easement in lands for construction and maintenance of its lines by grant, or pursuant to statute, or by adverse and continuous use for the period of 20 years. Teeter v. Postal Tel. Cable Co., 172 N.C. 783, 90 S.E. 941 (1916).

§ 62-183. Grant of eminent domain.

Such telegraph, telephone, electric power or lighting company shall be entitled, upon making just compensation therefor, to the right-of-way over the lands, privileges and easements of other persons and corporations, including rights-of-way for the construction, maintenance, and operation of pipelines for transporting fuel to their power plants; and to the right to erect poles and towers, to establish offices, and to take such lands as may be necessary for the establishment of their reservoirs, ponds, dams, works, railroads, or sidetracks, or powerhouses, with the right to divert the water from such ponds or reservoirs, and conduct the same by flume, ditch, conduit, waterway or pipeline, or in any other manner, to the point of use for the generation of power at its said powerhouses, returning said water to its proper channel after being so used. (1874-5, c. 203, s. 4; Code, s. 2009; 1899, c. 64; 1903, c. 562; Rev., s. 1573; 1907, c. 74; C.S., s. 1698; 1921, c. 115; 1923, c. 60; 1925, c. 175; 1957, c. 1046; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1981, c. 919, s. 2.)

CASE NOTES

Power of Eminent Domain Granted for Public Benefit. — The power of eminent domain is conferred upon corporations affected with public use, not so much for the benefit of the corporations themselves, but for the use and benefit of the people at large. Wissler v. Yadkin River Power Co., 158 N.C. 465, 74 S.E. 460 (1912).

Limitation of Right of Eminent Domain. — The statute limits the right of eminent domain, and any special power claimed by charter must clearly appear. Yadkin River Power Co. v. Whitney Co., 150 N.C. 31, 63 S.E. 188 (1908), appeal dismissed, 214 U.S. 503, 29 S. Ct. 702, 53 L. Ed. 1061 (1909). See also Blue Ridge Interurban Ry. v. Hendersonville Light & Power Co., 169 N.C. 471, 86 S.E. 296 (1915), on rehearing, 171 N.C. 314, 88 S.E. 245 (1916).

Extent of Rights Usually Determined by Companies. — The extent of the rights to be acquired is primarily and very largely referred to the companies or grantees of the power, and only becomes an issuable question, usually determinable by the court, on allegation of facts tending to show bad faith on the part of the companies, or an oppressive or manifest abuse of their discretion. Yadkin River Power Co., v. Wissler, 160 N.C. 269, 76 S.E. 267 (1912). See also Carolina Cent. Ry. v. Love, 81 N.C. 434 (1879).

The right of eminent domain is not necessarily exhausted by a single exercise of the power, but, within the limits established by the general law or special charter, a subsequent or further exercise of the power may be permissible. Thomason v. Railroad, 142 N.C. 318, 55 S.E. 205 (1906); Yadkin River Power Co. v. Wissler, 160 N.C. 269, 76 S.E. 267 (1912).

Compensation Essential. — Private property may not be taken for public use, directly or indirectly, without just compensation. Phillips v. Postal Tel. Cable Co., 130 N.C. 513, 41 S.E. 1022 (1902).

Conflicting Claims. — Where the claims of two companies conflict, the prior right belongs to that company which first defines and marks its route. Carolina-Tennessee Power Co. v. Hiawassee River Power Co., 171 N.C. 248, 88 S.E. 349 (1916).

Effect of Subsequent Charter. — Where a legislative charter has been granted since a statute was passed, the powers given in the charter are not subject to the restriction of the statute. Carolina-Tennessee Power Co. v. Hiawassee River Power Co., 171 N.C. 248, 88 S.E. 349 (1916).

Burden of Proof of Excepted Status on Defendant. — Where a quasi-public corporation brings action for condemnation, and the defendant resists upon the ground that the lands or power sought to be taken are protected by the statute, the burden of proof is upon the defendant to bring the lands or water power within the provision of the statute excepting them. Blue Ridge Interurban Ry. v. Hendersonville Light & Power Co., 171 N.C. 314, 88 S.E. 245 (1916), aff'd, 243 U.S. 563, 37 S. Ct. 440, 61 L. Ed. 900 (1917).

As to effect of federal statute, see Phillips v. Postal Tel. Cable Co., 130 N.C. 513, 41 S.E. 1022 (1902).

Applied in Carolina Power & Light Co. v. Bowman, 229 N.C. 682, 51 S.E.2d 191 (1949).

§ 62-184. Dwelling house of owner, etc., may be taken under certain cases.

The dwelling house, yard, kitchen, garden or burial ground of the owner may be taken under G.S. 62-183 when the company alleges, and upon the proceedings to condemn makes it appear to the satisfaction of the court, that it owns or otherwise controls not less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the fall of the river or stream on which it proposes to erect its works, from the location of its proposed dam to the head of its pond or reservoir; or when the Commission, upon the petition filed by the company, shall, after due inquiry, so authorize. Nothing in this section repeals any part or feature of any private charter, but any firm or corporation acting under a private charter may operate under or adopt any feature of this section. (1907, c. 74; 1917, c. 108; C.S., s. 1699; 1933, c. 134, ss. 7, 8; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

When such telegraph, telephone, electric power or lighting company fails on application therefor to secure by contract or agreement such right-of-way for the purposes aforesaid over the lands, privilege or easement of another person or corporation; it may condemn the said interest through the procedures of the Chapter entitled Eminent Domain.

Only the interest of such parties as are brought before the court shall be condemned in any such proceedings, and if the right-of-way of a railroad or railway company sought to be condemned extends into or through more counties than one, the whole right and controversy may be heard and determined in one county into or through which such right-of-way extends.

It is not necessary for the petitioner to make any survey of or over the right-of-way, nor to file any map or survey thereof, nor to file any certificate of the location of its line by its board of directors. (1874-5, c. 203, s. 5; Code, s. 2010; 1899, c. 64, s. 2; 1903, c. 562; Rev., s. 1574; C.S., s. 1700; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1981, c. 919, s. 3.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — The cases cited below were decided under former statutory provisions, and were decided prior to the 1981 amendment which substituted reference to the Eminent Domain Chapter for specific procedural provisions.

"Right-of-way" is not used as synonymous with "easement," but, as applied to railroads, includes the strip of land over which the track is laid through the country, and which is used in connection therewith, whether the railroad company owns only an easement therein or the title in fee. Postal Tel. Cable Co. v. Southern Ry., 90 F. 30 (W.D.N.C. 1898), appeal dismissed, 93 F. 393 (4th Cir. 1899).

Condemnation Not Confined to Right-of-Way. — The power of condemnation is not confined to a right-of-way, delimited by surface boundaries, but may be extended to cutting of trees or removing obstructions outside of these boundaries, when required for reasonable preservation and protection of lines and other property. Yadkin River Power Co. v. Wissler, 160 N.C. 269, 76 S.E. 267 (1912).

No Entry Until Damage Paid. — A telegraph company seeking to condemn a right-of-way for its line cannot be authorized to enter into possession and construct its line until damages have been assessed and paid into court. Postal Tel. Cable Co. v. Southern Ry., 89 F. 190 (W.D.N.C. 1898).

Permanent damages may be awarded a landowner who was injured by telegraph poles placed on his land. The company then acquires an easement. Phillips v. Postal Tel. Cable Co., 130 N.C. 513, 41 S.E. 1022 (1902); Lambreth v. Southern Power Co., 152 N.C. 371, 67 S.E. 921 (1910).

A purchaser of land subsequent to the taking and erection thereon of a telegraph line may recover permanent damages for the easement taken, and the telegraph company thereby acquires the easement and right to maintain its line thereon. Phillips v. Postal Tel. Cable Co., 130 N.C. 513, 41 S.E. 1022 (1902).

Limitation of City's Authority. — Authority granted by a city to defendant electric company to remove a shade tree in front of plaintiff's home in order to put up its poles and wires did not justify the act of defendant in removing the tree; the city had no power to deprive plaintiff of his own property for such purpose without compensation. Brown v. Electric Co., 138 N.C. 533, 51 S.E. 62 (1905).

Who May File Petition. — The telegraph, etc., company alone has the right to file the petition in condemnation proceedings. The landowner is not given such right. Phillips v. Postal Tel. Cable Co., 130 N.C. 513, 41 S.E. 1022 (1902).

Petition Need Not State Railroad Company's Tenure. — It is not necessary that a petition asking for the condemnation of a right-of-way over the right-of-way of a railroad should state by what tenure the railroad company holds. Postal Tel. Cable Co. v. Southern Ry., 89 F. 190 (W.D.N.C. 1898).

Proceeding Does Not Affect Landowner Not Made a Party. — Condemnation proceeding by a telegraph company against a railroad company to condemn the right-of-way, to which the landowner is not a party, gives no rights against the landowner, but gives rights only against the parties before the court. Phillips v. Postal Tel. Cable Co., 130 N.C. 513, 41 S.E. 1022 (1902).

Jury Trial. — While ordinarily a jury trial is not required in condemnation proceedings, except as to the assessment of damages, the general rule does not apply where the pleadings put at issue the question of whether the character of the lands is such as to be embraced within the right conferred, or within an exception to that right under the terms of a statute. Blue Ridge Interurban R.R. v. Oates, 164 N.C. 167, 80 S.E. 398 (1913).

Judgment Necessary to Give Vested Right Under Prior Act. — In order to acquire a vested right under a statute to condemn lands which was subsequently repealed, it was necessary to show a finality by judgment in the proceedings before the later act became effective; and where it appeared that the summons was served in time, but that the prosecution bond, made a prerequisite by § 1-109, was not, no vested right in the former statute could be acquired by further prosecution of the condemnation proceedings. Blue Ridge Interurban R.R. v. Oates, 164 N.C. 167, 80 S.E. 398 (1913).

Federal statute authorizing telegraph companies to construct their lines over and along any military or post roads of the United States does not give such companies the right to build their lines over the right-of-way of a railroad or other private property without the consent of the owner, or the condemnation of the right-of-way over such property in accordance with the laws of the state where situated. Postal Tel. Cable Co. v. Southern Ry., 89 F. 190 (W.D.N.C. 1898).

§ 62-187. Proceedings as under eminent domain.

The proceedings for the condemnation of lands, or any easement or interest therein, for the use of telegraph, telephone, electric power or lighting companies, the appraisal of the lands, or interest therein, the duty of the commissioners of appraisal, the right of either party to file exceptions, the report of commissioners, the mode and manner of appeal, the power and authority of the court or judge, the final judgment and the manner of its entry and enforcement, and the rights of the company pending the appeal, shall be as prescribed in Chapter 40A, the Chapter entitled Eminent Domain. (Code, s. 2012; 1899, c. 64; 1903, c. 562; Rev., s. 1576; C.S., s. 1702; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1981, c. 919, s. 5.)

CASE NOTES

This section refers to proceedings subsequent to the filing of the petition and the service of the required notices. In other words, it refers to the proceedings after the parties are all before the court. Phillips v. Postal Tel. Cable Co., 130 N.C. 513, 41 S.E. 1022 (1902).

Applied in Carolina Power & Light Co. v. Briggs, 268 N.C. 158, 150 S.E.2d 16 (1966); Duke Power Co. v. Parker, 18 N.C. App. 242, 196 S.E.2d 553 (1973).

§ 62-189. Powers granted corporations under Chapter exercisable by persons, firms or copartnerships.

All the rights, powers and obligations given, extended to, or that may be exercised by any corporation or incorporated company under this Chapter shall be extended to and likewise be exercised and are hereby granted unto all persons, firms or copartnerships engaged in or authorized by law to engage in the business herein described. Such persons, firms, copartnerships and corporations engaging in such business shall be subject to the provisions and requirements of the public laws which are applicable to others engaged in the same kind of business. (1939, c. 228, s. 3; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-190. Right of eminent domain conferred upon pipeline companies; other rights.

(a) Any pipeline company transporting or conveying natural gas, gasoline, crude oil, coal in suspension, or other fluid substances by pipeline for the public for compensation, and incorporated under the laws of the State, or foreign corporations domesticated under the laws of North Carolina, may exercise the right of eminent domain under the provisions of the Chapter, Eminent Domain, and for the purpose of constructing and maintaining its pipelines and other works shall have all the rights and powers given other corporations by this Chapter and acts amendatory thereof. Nothing herein shall prohibit any such pipeline company granted the right of eminent domain under the laws of this State from extending its pipelines from within this State into another state for the purpose of transporting natural gas or coal in suspension into this State, nor to prohibit any such pipeline company from conveying or transporting natural gas, gasoline, crude oil, coal in suspension, or other fluid substances from within this State into another state. All such pipeline companies shall be deemed public utilities and shall be subject to regulation under the provisions of this Chapter.

(b) Liquid pipeline right-of-way must be selected to avoid, as far as practicable, areas containing private dwellings, industrial buildings, and places of assembly.

No liquid pipeline may be located within 50 feet of any private dwelling, or any industrial building or place of public assembly in which persons work, congregate, or assemble, unless it is provided with at least 12 inches of cover in addition to that prescribed in Part 195, Title 49, Code of Federal Regulations.

Any liquid pipeline installed underground must have at least 12 inches of clearance between the outside of the pipe and the extremity of any other underground structure, except that for drainage tile the minimum clearance may be less than 12 inches but not less than two inches. However, where 12 inches of clearance is impracticable, the clearance may be reduced if adequate provisions are made for corrosion control. (1937, c. 280; 1951, c. 1002, s. 3; 1957, c. 1045, s. 2; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1985, c. 696, s. 1; 1998-128, s. 8.)

CASE NOTES

For case reviewing the history of this section, see Colonial Pipeline Co. v. Neill, 296 N.C. 503, 251 S.E.2d 457 (1979).

The history of this indicates a legislative intent to broaden the scope of the act and to encompass interstate as well as local pipeline companies. Colonial Pipeline Co. v. Neill, 296 N.C. 503, 251 S.E.2d 457 (1979).

This section clearly confers the right of eminent domain upon interstate pipeline companies incorporated or domesticated under the laws of North Carolina, regardless of whether their pipelines originate in North Carolina. Colonial Pipeline Co. v. Neill, 296 N.C. 503, 251 S.E.2d 457 (1979).

Transport of Natural Gas is a Public Purpose. — Property taken for the transport of natural gas between states and for its distribution within this state is a public purpose. Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. v. Calco Enters., 132 N.C. App. 237, 511 S.E.2d 671 (1999).

Effect of Former § 40-2. — The legislature did not intend pipeline companies to be limited by former § 40-2. Colonial Pipeline Co. v. Neill, 296 N.C. 503, 251 S.E.2d 457 (1979).

The language "pipelines originating in North Carolina" in former § 40-2 does not impose a limitation on this section. Colonial Pipeline Co. v. Neill, 296 N.C. 503, 251 S.E.2d 457 (1979).

Measure of Damages. — The measures of damages to which landowners were entitled for taking of an easement by a gas company was the difference in the fair market value of the land immediately before the taking as compared to the fair market value of the land immediately after the taking. Public Serv. Co. v. Kiser, 9 N.C. App. 202, 175 S.E.2d 686 (1970).

Consideration of Precluded Future Uses in Determining Market Value. — In determining market value where a gas company has taken land for a pipeline, consideration of future uses to which the property is adapted and which are precluded by the taking should be limited to those uses which are so reasonably probable as to have an effect on the present market value of the land, and purely imaginative or speculative value should not be considered. Public Serv. Co. v. Kiser, 9 N.C. App. 202, 175 S.E.2d 686 (1970).

§ 62-191. Flume companies exercising right of eminent domain become common carriers.

All flume companies availing themselves of the right of eminent domain under the provisions of the Chapter Eminent Domain shall become common carriers of freight, for the purpose for which they are adapted, and shall be under the direction, control and supervision of the Commission in the same manner and for the same purposes as is by law provided for other common carriers of freight. (1907, c. 39, s. 4; C.S., s. 3517; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, § 5; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Article 10.

Transportation in General.

§ 62-200. Duty to transport household goods within a reasonable time.

(a) It shall be unlawful for any common carrier of household goods doing business in this State to omit or neglect to transport within a reasonable time any goods, merchandise or other articles of value received by it for shipment and billed to or from any place in this State, unless otherwise agreed upon between the carrier and the shipper, or unless the same be burned, stolen or otherwise destroyed, or unless otherwise provided by the Commission.

(b) Any common carrier violating any of the provisions of this section shall forfeit to the party aggrieved the sum of ten dollars ($10.00) for the first day and one dollar ($1.00) for each succeeding day of such unlawful detention or neglect, but the forfeiture shall not be collected for a period exceeding 30 days.

(c) In reckoning what is a reasonable time for such transportation, it shall be considered that such common carrier has transported household goods within a reasonable time if it has done so in the ordinary time required for transporting such articles by similar carriers between the receiving and shipping stations. The Commission is authorized to establish reasonable times for transportation by the various modes of carriage which shall be held to be prima facie reasonable, and a failure to transport within such times shall be held prima facie unreasonable. This section shall be construed to refer not only to delay in starting the household goods from the station where they are received, but to require the delivery at their destination within the time specified: Provided, that if such delay shall be due to causes which could not in the exercise of ordinary care have been foreseen or which were unavoidable, then upon the establishment of these facts to the satisfaction of the court trying the cause, the defendant common carrier shall be relieved from any penalty for delay in the transportation of household goods, but it shall not be relieved from the costs of such action. In all actions to recover penalties against a common carrier under this section, the burden of proof shall be upon such carrier to show where the delay, if any, occurred. The penalties provided in this section shall be in addition to the damages recoverable for failure to transport within a reasonable time.

(d) This section shall not apply to motor carriers of passengers. (Code, s. 1964; 1899, c. 164, s. 2, subsecs. 2, 7; 1903, c. 444; c. 590, s. 3; c. 693; 1905, c. 545; Rev., ss. 1094, 2631, 2632; 1907, cc. 217, 461; C.S., ss. 1053, 3515, 3516; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1995, c. 523, s. 11; 1995 (Reg. Sess., 1996), c. 742, s. 33; 1998-128, s. 9.)

Penalty Not Applicable to Interstate Shipments. — A penalty may not be recovered of the carrier of an interstate shipment for negligent delay in transportation under this section. Bivens Bros. v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 176 N.C. 414, 97 S.E. 215 (1918). See also Hickory Marble & Granite Co. v. Southern Ry., 147 N.C. 53, 60 S.E. 719 (1908).

A penalty cannot be recovered for the failure of a railroad company to transport freight within a reasonable time when the initial and terminal points are within the State, but the shipment necessarily passes into another state in transit. Such is interstate commerce and cannot be interfered with by the State. Shelby Ice & Fuel Co. v. Southern Ry., 147 N.C. 66, 60 S.E. 721 (1908).

For review of the history of legislative penalties for refusal of railroads to transport freight, see Grocery Co. v. Railroad Co., 136 N.C. 396, 48 S.E. 801 (1904).

As to strict construction of former section, see Alexander v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 144 N.C. 93, 56 S.E. 697 (1907).

Former section did not supersede or alter carrier's duty at common law, but merely enforced an admitted duty and superadded a penalty. Meredith v. Railroad Co., 137 N.C. 478, 50 S.E. 1 (1905).

"Ordinary Time" a Jury Question. — The question of "ordinary time" for the transportation of freight by the carrier, in a suit for a penalty for failure to transport, is a question of fact for the jury. Shelby Ice & Fuel Co. v. Southern Ry., 147 N.C. 66, 60 S.E. 721 (1908); Wall-Huske Co. v. Southern Ry., 147 N.C. 407, 61 S.E. 277 (1908).

In an action for the recovery of a penalty, it was for the jury to find what was "ordinary" time, under the surrounding circumstances, and whether the defendant transported freight within such time, as well as the amount of recovery. It is error for the trial court to instruct the jury that if they believe the evidence they should answer the issue in a certain way or in a sum certain. Davis v. Southern Ry., 147 N.C. 68, 60 S.E. 722 (1908).

No "hard and fast" rule is fixed in defining reasonable time. Jenkins v. Southern Ry., 146 N.C. 178, 59 S.E. 663 (1907).

Burden of Proof Where Time Prima Facie Reasonable. — When the evidence discloses that the time taken by the railroad company for transporting goods, etc., was prima facie reasonable as fixed by the statute, the question of reasonable time is one for the jury to measure by the statutory standard, the burden of proof being upon the plaintiff. Alexander v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 144 N.C. 93, 56 S.E. 697 (1907).

How Unreasonableness of Time May Be Shown. — In an action to recover the penalty, the burden of proof is on the plaintiff to show that the carrier failed to transport and deliver the goods within a reasonable time, which is defined to be the "ordinary time" required to transport and deliver. This may be shown by proving the distance over which the goods are to be transported and the time consumed therein. From this evidence the jury may, as a matter of common knowledge and observation, draw the conclusion whether, in view of the usual speed of freight trains, the time consumed, the distance, and other conditions, the carrier has failed to transport and deliver within a reasonable time. Jenkins v. Southern Ry., 146 N.C. 178, 59 S.E. 663 (1907).

Over 21 Days to Transport Articles 58 Miles. — Where it was admitted that certain articles were received by defendant to be transported and delivered to plaintiff, the place of shipment and destination both being in the State, 58 miles apart, with but one intermediate point between them, and that the articles were not delivered to plaintiff within 21 days, the delay was unreasonable. Watson v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 145 N.C. 236, 59 S.E. 55 (1907).

Twelve Days to Transport Shipment 25 Miles. — When there was evidence that it took 12 days to transport a certain shipment from one station to another only 25 miles away, on the same railroad, the jury would be permitted, from their common observation and experience, to consider and determine the question of ordinary time between the two points, and, in the absence of explanation by defendant, fix the amount of wrongful delay. Rollins v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 146 N.C. 153, 59 S.E. 671 (1907).

For cases construing former provision making delay of two days at initial point and 48 hours at one intermediate point for each 100 miles prima facie reasonable, see Meredith v. Railroad Co., 137 N.C. 478, 50 S.E. 1 (1905); Davis & Hooks v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 145 N.C. 207, 59 S.E. 53 (1907); Watson v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 145 N.C. 236, 59 S.E. 55

Negligent Default in Delivery to Consignee. — Former similar section extended the penalty to cases of negligent default in the carrier's making delivery of the freight to the consignee. Mitchell v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 183 N.C. 162, 110 S.E. 859 (1922), decided prior to 1907 amendment including such delays, see Alexander v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 144 N.C. 93, 56 S.E. 697 (1907).

When Transportation Ceases. — Transportation ceases when the duty of the carrier as a warehouseman commences, and in respect to freight transported in carload lots, when the car reaches its destination and is placed for unloading. What particular parts of the carrier's tracks and freight yards may be used for such purposes must of necessity be left to its discretion, but the car must be reasonably accessible and placed for delivery before transportation is fully ended. Brooks Mfg. Co. v. Southern Ry., 152 N.C. 665, 68 S.E. 243 (1910).

Former section did not apply to a delivery on the private tracks of a consignee, but to avoid the penalty it was required of the carrier to place for delivery a carload shipment on its track at destination at a place reasonably accessible. Brooks Mfg. Co. v. Southern Ry., 152 N.C. 665, 68 S.E. 243 (1910).

Transportation does not cease when a carload is placed by the carrier within the yard limits of the point of destination. Wall-Huske Co. v. Southern Ry., 147 N.C. 407, 61 S.E. 277 (1908).

Duty to Notify Consignee. — Where a shipment of goods is delivered to a railroad company for transportation, the title vests in the consignee, with the duty resting upon the carrier on the arrival of the goods at destination to notify the consignee and make delivery. This principle applied to a side-station when notification of arrival should have been given from a nearby station, and the inquiring consignee was there misinformed as to the arrival, and the car in the meanwhile was broken into and the shipment stolen. Acme Mfg. Co. v. Tucker, 183 N.C. 303, 111 S.E. 525 (1922).

When Goods Travel over Several Lines. — When the initial carrier delivers goods to its connecting carrier for further transportation to their destination, and an unreasonable delay occurs, without evidence as to which carrier was responsible for the delay, the defendant, the initial carrier, is liable for the entire delay, the burden of proof being upon it as the party having the evidence peculiarly within its own knowledge or possession. Watson v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 145 N.C. 236, 59 S.E. 55 (1907).

Where an intrastate shipment of goods is transported over connecting lines to its destination, it is proper for the trial court to make both roads parties to an action to recover the penalty for the failure to transport safely and within a reasonable time, the burden being upon each defendant to show that it had not failed in its duty. Sellars Hosiery Mills v. Southern Ry., 174 N.C. 449, 93 S.E. 952 (1917).

Who Is "Party Aggrieved". — The plaintiff is entitled to recover the penalty as the "party aggrieved," for defendant's wrongfully failing to transport freight within a reasonable time, where the facts show that, from the attendant circumstances or terms of the agreement, he is the one whose legal right is denied and who is alone interested in having the transportation properly made. Cardwell v. Southern Ry., 146 N.C. 218, 59 S.E. 673 (1907).

When the consignor ships goods to be sold for his own benefit, he is the "party aggrieved," and the proper party plaintiff. Robertson v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 148 N.C. 323, 62 S.E. 413 (1908).

The plaintiff could maintain his action against the defendant railroad company for wrongful failure to transport certain goods received by the latter, and bill of lading issued by it to plaintiff, when it appeared that plaintiff shipped the goods to be sold for his benefit by the consignee, and that the plaintiff was the one who alone acquired the right to demand the service to be rendered by the defendant, and was the party aggrieved. Rollins v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 146 N.C. 153, 59 S.E. 671 (1907).

Consignor as Party Aggrieved Where Goods Not to Be Paid for Until Delivery. — When the consignor had agreed with the consignee that the latter was only required to pay for the intrastate shipment when it reached its destination, the consignor could maintain his action for delay in transit, as the party aggrieved. Davis v. Southern Ry., 147 N.C. 68, 60 S.E. 722 (1908).

Vendor as Aggrieved Party. — When by the contract or agreement between a vendor and vendee of goods, the goods were to be "received, inspected and weighed" by the vendee before any part of the purchase price was payable, the title did not vest in the vendee, and the vendor was the "party aggrieved." Elliott v. Southern Ry., 155 N.C. 235, 71 S.E. 339 (1911).

Defendant's Knowledge of Who Is Aggrieved Party Immaterial. — When it is shown that the plaintiff is the "party aggrieved," it is of no importance and bears in no way on the justice of plaintiff's demand or of defendant's obligation, whether defendant knew who was the party aggrieved, either at the inception of the matter or at any other time. Rollins v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 146 N.C. 153, 59 S.E. 671 (1907).

The real "party aggrieved" is entitled to recover the penalty, irrespective of the question of knowledge of or notice to the defendant. Cardwell v. Southern Ry., 146 N.C. 218, 59 S.E. 673 (1907).

Action Not Brought "on Relation of State". — The action for penalty is given directly to the party aggrieved, and is not required to be brought "on relation of the State." If it were, failure to bring the action in such form would be a mere informality, which could be remedied by amendment. Robertson v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 148 N.C. 323, 62 S.E. 413 (1908).

Joinder of Actions. — An action for damages against a carrier for a lost shipment, and one for the penalty for unreasonable delay, do not merge into each other. They arise on contract and may be joined in the same action. Robertson v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 148 N.C. 323, 62 S.E. 413 (1908).

Burden of Proof as to Destruction of Goods. — The burden of proof is on the carrier to show that it is relieved of the penalty because the goods were burned, stolen or destroyed. A showing that the goods were placed in defendant's car by the initial carrier and that search had been made therefor, and the absence of evidence that the goods had since been seen, was no evidence that they were burned, stolen or destroyed. Robertson v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 148 N.C. 323, 62 S.E. 413 (1908).

When Bill of Lading Not Presumptive Evidence. — When it was the consignor's duty to load a car for shipment, which had been placed at its mill by the carrier, and the carrier's agent gave a bill of lading upon the statement of the consignor that the car had been loaded, without being required to verify the statement, the bill of lading was not presumptive evidence of the receipt of the contents of the car, and the question was an open one for the jury in a suit by the consignee for the penalty for failure to deliver. Peele v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 149 N.C. 390, 63 S.E. 66 (1908).

Motion for Nonsuit Properly Denied. — Where a shipment of various articles was transported by the carrier to destination, and all were received by the consignee, except one of them, which was missing and remained in the carrier's warehouse beyond the statutory reasonable time, a motion for nonsuit was properly denied. Mitchell v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 183 N.C. 162, 110 S.E. 859 (1922).

Verdict Incomplete. — Where it was established by the jury that a consignment of goods was carried to the delivering point by the carrier, which failed to deliver to the consignee, or to notify him, and the goods were lost while in its possession, the verdict was incomplete where there was no issue submitted as to whether the carrier, which was a party to the action, was in default in not delivering the goods to the consignee. Acme Mfg. Co. v. Tucker, 183 N.C. 303, 111 S.E. 525 (1922).

§ 62-201. Freight charges to be at legal rates; penalty for failure to deliver to consignee on tender of same.

All common carriers doing business in this State shall settle their freight charges according to the rate stipulated in the bill of lading, provided the rate therein stipulated be in conformity with the classifications and rates made and filed with the North Carolina Utilities Commission in the case of intrastate shipments, by which classifications and rates all consignees shall in all cases be entitled to settle freight charges with such carriers; and it shall be the duty of such common carriers to inform any consignee of the correct amount due for freight according to such classification and rates. Upon payment or tender of the amount due on any shipment which has arrived at its destination according to such classification and rates, such common carrier shall deliver the freight in question to the consignee. Any failure or refusal to comply with the provisions hereof shall subject such carrier so failing or refusing to liability for actual damages plus a penalty of fifty dollars ($50.00) for each such failure or refusal, to be recovered by any consignee aggrieved by a suit in a court of competent jurisdiction. Provided, however, that this section shall not apply to motor carriers of passengers. (1905, c. 330, s. 1; Rev., s. 2633; C.S., s. 3518; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97, s. 5; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

As to constitutionality of former section, see Harrill Bros. v. Southern Ry., 144 N.C. 532, 57 S.E. 383 (1907); Hockfield v. Southern Ry., 150 N.C. 419, 64 S.E. 181 (1909); Jeans v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 164 N.C. 224, 80 S.E. 242 (1913).

Former Section Not Cumulative. — Former section imposed only one penalty for the refusal of the railroad company to deliver freight upon demand and tender of charges, and it was not cumulative upon more than one demand for the same offense. Harrill Bros. v. Southern Ry., 144 N.C. 532, 57 S.E. 383 (1907).

Where a railroad corporation chartered by another state leases a railroad chartered by this State, it is bound to observe and obey all laws of this State regulating the business of transportation. Hines & Battle v. Wilmington & W.R.R., 95 N.C. 434 (1886).

Intrastate Rebilling of Interstate Shipment. — Where an interstate shipment of goods was misdirected and the bill of lading was lost, and the shipment was rebilled from one point in the State to another therein, in an intrastate shipment, upon the carrier's violating former similar section, the penalty therein accrued. Hockfield v. Southern Ry., 150 N.C. 419, 64 S.E. 181 (1909).

Consignee must produce, upon the carrier's demand, a bill of lading for a prepaid shipment of goods in the carrier's possession. Jeans v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 164 N.C. 224, 80 S.E. 242 (1913).

Insufficient Notice to Consignee. — Notice given by a carrier of the arrival of goods to a transfer company in the habit of hauling consignor's goods from the depot was not of itself sufficient notice to the consignee. Hockfield v. Southern Ry., 150 N.C. 419, 64 S.E. 181 (1909).

Burden of Proving Reason for Refusal to Deliver. — Where the consignee brings his action to recover the value of a shipment of goods from the carrier and shows that the shipment was addressed to him, was prepaid, and was in the carrier's possession at destination, and that a demand for delivery was made, the burden is on the carrier to show a valid reason for its refusal to deliver the shipment. Jeans v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 164 N.C. 224, 80 S.E. 242 (1913).

No Liability for Unlawful Shipment. — A druggist who has not received a valid license to sell intoxicating liquors for the purposes and in the manner indicated may not recover of the carrier the penalty provided for failure to deliver such liquors to him for the purposes of sale, for such are unlawful and prohibited. Smith v. Southern Express Co., 166 N.C. 155, 82 S.E. 15 (1914).

Agent's Ignorance of Amount of Charges No Defense. — It is no defense to an action to recover a penalty for refusing to deliver a shipment upon tender of freight charges by the consignee for the defendant company to show that its agents did not know the correct amount of the charges because of the defendant's failure to file its schedule of rates. Harrill Bros. v. Southern Ry., 144 N.C. 532, 57 S.E. 383 (1907).

Rate When Smaller Cars Furnished. — Where a consignor requested two cars of a certain standard size and the carrier furnished four cars of a smaller size, the rate for the shipment must be the same. Yorke Furn. Co. v. Southern Ry., 16 N.C. 138, 162 N.C. 138, 78 S.E. 67, 78 S.E. 67 (1913).

Carrier cannot collect storage charges arising from wrongful refusal to deliver goods to consignee. Hockfield v. Southern Ry., 150 N.C. 419, 64 S.E. 181 (1909).

§ 62-202. Baggage and freight to be carefully handled.

All common carriers shall handle with care all baggage and freight placed with them for transportation, and they shall be liable in damages for any and all injuries to the baggage or freight of persons from whom they have collected fare or charged freight while the same is under their control. Upon proof of injury to baggage or freight in the possession or under the control of any such carrier, it shall be presumed that the injury was caused by the negligence of the carrier. This section shall not apply to motor carriers of passengers. (1897, c. 46; Rev., s. 2624; C.S., s. 3523; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Delivery of Baggage to Carrier. — To fix the responsibility for lost baggage upon a railroad company, either as a common carrier or warehouseman, a delivery, actual or constructive, including an acceptance by the company, is necessary; and when baggage is taken by others to the station, and to places where baggage is usually received, some kind of notice must be given to the agent authorized to receive it. Williams v. Southern Ry., 155 N.C. 260, 71 S.E. 346 (1911).

The requisites of the general rule requiring delivery of baggage of a passenger to a railroad company in order to hold the company liable may become modified by a custom of the latter to consider and treat baggage as received when left at a given place, without further notice. Williams v. Southern Ry., 155 N.C. 260, 71 S.E. 346 (1911).

Effect of Stipulations Attempting to Limit Liability. — Stipulations upon a railroad ticket, limiting the liability of the carrier in a specified sum "unless a greater value has been declared by the owner and excess charge paid thereon at the time of taking passage," and similar provisions in a bill of lading for the transportation of freight, are void as an attempt on the part of the carrier to contract against its own negligence. Cooper v. Norfolk S.R.R., 161 N.C. 400, 77 S.E. 339 (1913).

A common carrier cannot contract with a passenger against the loss of baggage by its negligence. Thomas v. Southern Ry., 131 N.C. 590, 42 S.E. 964 (1902).

Liability for Articles Not Properly Baggage. — While the obligation of a carrier of passengers is limited to ordinary baggage, yet if it knowingly permits a passenger, either with or without payment of an extra charge, to take articles as baggage which are not properly such, it will be liable for their loss or for damage to them, though it may have been without any fault. Trouser Co. v. Railroad, 139 N.C. 382, 51 S.E. 973 (1905).

When Liability as Carrier Ceases. — When baggage has arrived at its destination and has been deposited at the usual or customary place of delivery and kept there a sufficient time for passenger to claim and remove the same, the company's liability as a common carrier ceases, and it is thereafter liable only as a warehouseman, and bound to the use of ordinary care. Trouser Co. v. Railroad, 139 N.C. 382, 51 S.E. 973 (1905).

Liability When Passenger Not Carried. — When there is no partnership arrangement between connecting lines of railroads, and a passenger buys a through ticket from a carrier to his destination on a connecting line, checks his trunk through to his destination and voluntarily returns to the starting point without going upon the road of the connecting lines, the latter carrier is not liable as insurer of the contents of the trunk from larceny by reason of taking the trunk to its destination, storing it there in its baggage room until its return is requested and then forwarding it to the junctional point, without compensation. Kindley v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 151 N.C. 207, 65 S.E. 897 (1909).

Liability When Baggage Not on Same Train. — The passenger's right to a limited amount of baggage as a part of the consideration for the price of his ticket is upon condition that the baggage accompany the passenger on the same train; and where, without any default on the part of the carrier, its agent, without further charge, has the baggage forwarded on a later train, the carrier's liability is not that of an insurer, but of a gratuitous bailee, under the rule of the prudent man, and attaches only in instances of gross negligence. Perry v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 171 N.C. 158, 88 S.E. 156 (1916).

§ 62-203. Claims for loss or damage to goods; filing and adjustment.

(a) Every common carrier receiving household goods for transportation in intrastate commerce shall issue a bill of lading therefor, and shall be liable to the lawful holder thereof for any loss, damage, or injury to such household goods caused by it, or by any carrier participating in the haul when transported on a through bill of lading, and any such carrier delivering said household goods so received and transported shall be liable to the lawful holder of said bill of lading or to any party entitled to recover thereon for such loss, damage, or injury, notwithstanding any contract or agreement to the contrary; provided, however, the Commission may, by regulation or order, authorize or require any such common carrier to establish and maintain rates related to the value of shipments declared in writing by the shipper, or agreed upon as the release value of such shipments, such declaration or agreement to have no effect other than to limit liability and recovery to an amount not exceeding the value so declared or released, in which case, any tariff filed pursuant to such regulation or order shall specifically refer thereto; provided further, that a rate shall be afforded the shipper covering the full value of the goods shipped; provided further, that nothing in this section shall deprive any lawful holder of such bill of lading of any remedy or right of action which such holder has under existing law; provided further, that the carrier issuing such bill of lading, or delivering such household goods so received and transported, shall be entitled to recover from the carrier on whose route the loss, damage, or injury shall have been sustained the amount it may be required to pay to the owners of such property.

(b) Every claim for loss of or damage to household goods while in possession of a common carrier shall be adjusted and paid within 90 days after the filing of such claim with the agent of such carrier at the point of destination of such shipment, or point of delivery to another common carrier, by the consignee or at the point of origin by the consignor, when it shall appear that the consignee was the owner of the shipment: Provided, that no such claim shall be filed until after the arrival of the shipment, or some part thereof, at the point of destination, or until after the lapse of a reasonable time for the arrival thereof.

(c) In every case such common carrier shall be liable for the amount of such loss or damage, together with interest thereon from the date of the filing of the claim therefor until the payment thereof. Failure to adjust and pay such claim within the periods respectively herein prescribed shall subject each common carrier so failing to a penalty of fifty dollars ($50.00) for each and every such failure, to be recovered by any consignee aggrieved (or consignor, when it shall appear that the consignor was the owner of the property at the time of shipment and at the time of suit, and is, therefore, the party aggrieved), in any court of competent jurisdiction: Provided, that unless such consignee or consignor recover in such action the full amount claimed, no penalty shall be recovered, but only the actual amount of the loss or damage, with interest as aforesaid; and that no penalty shall be recoverable under the provisions of this section where claims have been filed by both the consignor and consignee, unless the time herein provided has elapsed after the withdrawal of one of the claims.

(d) A check shall be affixed to every parcel of baggage when taken for transportation by the agent or servant of a common carrier, if there is a handle, loop or fixture so that the same can be attached upon the parcel or baggage so offered for transportation, and a duplicate thereof given to the passenger or person delivering the same on his behalf. If such check be refused on demand, the common carrier shall pay to such passenger the sum of ten dollars ($10.00), to be recovered in a civil action; and further, no fare or toll shall be collected or received from such passenger, and if such passenger shall have paid his fare the same shall be refunded by the carrier.

(e) If a passenger, whose bag has been checked, shall produce the check and his baggage shall not be delivered to him, he may by an action recover the value of such baggage.

(f) Causes of action for the recovery of the possession of the property shipped, for loss or damage thereto, and for the penalties herein provided for, may be united in the same complaint.

(g) This section shall not deprive any consignee or consignor of any other rights or remedies existing against common carriers in regard to freight charges or claims for loss or damage to freight, but shall be deemed and held as creating an additional liability upon such common carriers.

(h) This section shall not apply to motor carriers of passengers and only subsection (a) of this section shall apply to motor carriers of property. (1871-2,

CASE NOTES

I. In General.
II. Connecting Carriers.
III. Filing of Claim.
IV. Actions.

I. IN GENERAL.

Penalty Inapplicable to Interstate Shipments. — The entire regulation of interstate commerce is under federal control, and the penalty provided for by former provision similar to subsection (c) of this section for failure of a carrier to pay a claim in the time prescribed does not apply to interstate shipments. See Morphis v. Southern Express Co., 167 N.C. 139, 83 S.E. 1 (1914).

As to strict construction of former provisions similar to subsections (b) and (c), see Watkins v. American Ry. Express Co., 190 N.C. 605, 130 S.E. 305 (1925). See also B.F. Eagles Co. v. East Carolina Ry., 184 N.C. 66, 113 S.E. 512 (1922).

The common-law remedies of shippers and passengers were not taken away by former similar Chapter. Bell v. Norfolk S.R.R., 163 N.C. 180, 79 S.E. 421 (1913).

Action May Be Brought in Contract or Tort. — A person who has sustained injuries by reason of the failure of a railroad company to provide proper means of transportation or operate its trains may bring an action on contract, or in tort, independent of the statute. Purcell v. Richmond & D.R.R., 108 N.C. 414, 12 S.E. 954 (1891), overruled on other grounds, Hansley v. Jamesville & W.R. Co., 20 S.E. 528 (1894); Virginia-Carolina Peanut Co. v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 155 N.C. 148, 71 S.E. 71 (1911).

Parol Agreement to Reship Sufficient. — When a carrier has received goods for transportation over its own and a connecting line which were not delivered, and upon consignor's parol request it has them reshipped to the initial or starting point, the latter agreement for reshipment, though resting in parol, is sufficient in an action for damages to the goods occurring while in the carrier's possession. Lyon v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 165 N.C. 143, 81 S.E. 1 (1914).

Carrier Cannot Contract Against Own Negligence. — A common carrier may relieve itself from liability as an insurer upon a contract reasonable in its terms and founded upon a valuable consideration, but it cannot so limit its responsibility for loss or damage resulting from its negligence. Mitchell v. Carolina Cent. R.R., 124 N.C. 236, 32 S.E. 671 (1899); Everett v. Railroad, 138 N.C. 68, 50 S.E. 557 (1905).

Owner Cannot Generally Refuse Damaged Goods. — Damage to a shipment of goods by a railroad company, caused by the carrier's negligence, does not justify the owner in refusing to accept them on that account, unless the damages are sufficient to render the goods practically worthless. He must accept the goods and sue for the damages upon the refusal of the carrier to pay them. Whittington v. Southern Ry., 172 N.C. 501, 90 S.E. 505 (1916).

II. CONNECTING CARRIERS.

Duty Assumed by Carrier. — Where a carrier accepts goods for transportation, in the absence of a special contract, it assumes the duty of safely carrying, within a reasonable time, the goods to the end of its line, and delivering them in like condition to the connecting carrier. Meredith v. Railroad Co., 137 N.C. 478, 50 S.E. 1 (1905).

Duration of Duty of Safe Carriage. — The duty of safe carriage attaches as the goods pass into the custody of each company and ceases only when they are safely delivered to its successor. Lindley v. Richmond & D.R.R., 88 N.C. 547 (1883).

Burden of Proof as to Safe Delivery. — On proof that a carrier received goods in good condition, the burden of proof rests upon such carrier to show delivery in the same condition to the next carrier or to the consignee, such proof being peculiarly within its power. Meredith v. Railroad Co., 137 N.C. 478, 50 S.E. 1 (1905).

Admissibility of Evidence as to Condition of Freight. — To show that freight was in good condition when it was delivered by the defendant to a connecting line, evidence that it was the custom of agents of such lines to examine freights before receiving them, and if found in good condition to forward them, and that such examination was made and forwarding was done, was admissible. Knott v. Raleigh & G.R.R., 98 N.C. 73, 3 S.E. 735 (1887).

Prima Facie Case. — Where a shipment of goods is received by the consignee from the final carrier in bad condition, and there is evidence that this carrier received the goods from its connecting carrier in good condition, a prima facie case of negligence is made out against the delivering carrier, and presents sufficient evidence thereof to be submitted to the jury, with the burden of proof on it. Lyon v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 165 N.C. 143, 81 S.E. 1 (1914).

Presumption of Damage. — Among connecting lines of railway, that one in whose hands goods are found damaged is presumed to have caused the damage, and the burden is upon it to rebut the presumption. Morganton Mfg. Co. v. Ohio River & Charleston Ry., 121 N.C. 514, 28 S.E. 474 (1897); Mitchell v. Carolina Cent. R.R., 124 N.C. 236, 32 S.E. 671 (1899); Gwyn Harper Mfg. Co. v. Carolina Cent. R.R., 128 N.C. 280, 38 S.E. 894 (1901).

Goods Found Damaged at Destination. — When goods are shipped over several connecting lines of carriers and are found in a damaged condition at destination, there is a rebuttable presumption that the injury was negligently inflicted by the last carrier. Boss v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 156 N.C. 70, 72 S.E. 93 (1911); Beville v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 159 N.C. 227, 74 S.E. 349 (1912).

Liability for Negligence of Connecting Carrier. — A railroad company whose line is one of several connecting roads between places from and to which freight is shipped, in the absence of a special contract, or proof of copartnership by which each of the connecting lines will become liable for the contracts of the others, is not responsible for damages for negligence occurring beyond its terminus. Knott v. Raleigh & G.R.R., 98 N.C. 73, 3 S.E. 735 (1887).

Where two or more common carriers unite in forming an association creating a through line for the transportation of freight, payment of tariff charges to be made at the beginning or end of the transportation, with through bills of lading, the freight charges to be divided according to the respective mileage of the companies, they become a copartnership and each line is liable for any damage resulting from delay or otherwise on any part of the through line, notwithstanding a provision in the bill of lading that each company shall be liable only for loss or damage occurring on its own line. Rocky Mount Mills v. Wilmington & W.R.R., 119 N.C. 693, 25 S.E. 854 (1896).

Effect of Court Order Relieving Initial Carrier. — While the initial carrier may also be held liable for damages to a shipment made over connecting lines, a direction of the court relieving it from liability does not necessarily relieve the carrier whose negligence caused the damages. Gilikin v. Norfolk S.R.R., 174 N.C. 137, 93 S.E. 469 (1917).

Interstate Shipments by Connecting Carriers. — While federal laws make the initial carrier liable for damages to a shipment over connecting lines, this does not relieve the intermediate or delivering carrier of responsibility for its own negligence, or prevent the State court from requiring the carriers to show which is responsible for the damage. Aydlett v. Norfolk S.R.R., 172 N.C. 47, 89 S.E. 1000 (1916).

Notice as to damages to the initial carrier of an interstate shipment of goods is sufficient notice to the connecting carrier. Gilikin v. Norfolk S.R.R., 174 N.C. 137, 93 S.E. 469 (1917).

III. FILING OF CLAIM.

Filing of Claim Prerequisite to Penalty. — A consignor of a shipment of goods is required to file his claim with the agent of the common carrier at the point of its origin, and this he must have done to maintain his action against the carrier for the penalty prescribed for its failure to settle for its loss, or damage thereto, within 90 days. Hamlet Grocery Co. v. Southern Ry., 170 N.C. 241, 87 S.E. 57 (1915).

In order to recover the penalty, the consignee must file his claim with the agent as the statute directs, and the filing thereof with another of the carrier's agents is insufficient. B.F. Eagles Co. v. East Carolina Ry., 184 N.C. 66, 113 S.E. 512 (1922).

Regulation of Time of Filing by Carrier. — A stipulation in a bill of lading denying the carrier's liability for damages unless written notice of such claim be filed within a specified period is in derogation of the common law, and while it will be upheld if reasonable, the burden of proof is on the carrier to show that it is. Phillips v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 172 N.C. 86, 89 S.E. 1057 (1916).

Stipulation that claims must be filed in four months is reasonable. Culbreth v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 169 N.C. 723, 86 S.E. 624 (1915).

An allowance of 60 days is reasonable, but 30 days is unreasonable. Gwyn Harper Mfg. Co. v. Carolina Cent. R.R., 128 N.C. 280, 38 S.E. 894 (1901).

Waiver of Stipulation. — The stipulation in a livestock bill of lading requiring that notice in writing be given the carrier's agent at destination of claim for damages to the animals shipped before they were removed or mingled with other animals, could be waived by the carrier's agent at the delivering point. T.W. Newborn & Co. v. Louisville & N.R.R., 170 N.C. 205, 87 S.E. 37 (1915).

As to necessity of written demand to enforce penalty, see Thompson v. Southern Express Co., 147 N.C. 343, 61 S.E. 182 (1908).

Failure to file a formal written demand is no bar to recovery of actual damages sustained. Hinkle, Craig & Co. v. Southern Ry., 126 N.C. 932, 36 S.E. 348 (1900); Kime v. Southern Ry., 153 N.C. 398, 69 S.E. 264 (1910).

Filing Claim by Mail. — The essential things necessary for the proper filing of the claim against the common carrier for damages, and for the penalty, being its delivery to and acceptance by the carrier's designated agent, such filing is not restricted to its manual delivery, but the same may be done through the agency of the United States mail. The delivery of the mail will be presumed. B.F. Eagles Co. v. East Carolina Ry., 184 N.C. 66, 113 S.E. 512 (1922).

It is not required that a claimant state the amount of his loss in his claim for damages against a carrier. McRary v. Southern Ry., 174 N.C. 563, 94 S.E. 107 (1917).

Notice to Negligent Connecting Carrier. — Where the second carrier in the connected line of shipment causes damages to the shipment by improperly loading it, it may not defeat an action to recover such damages, when the required notice within four months has been filed with and accepted without comment by it, on the ground that such notice had not been filed with the initial or final carrier under the terms of the contract of carriage. The doctrine of notice to the agent is applicable here. Aydlett v. Norfolk S.R.R., 172 N.C. 47, 89 S.E. 1000 (1916).

Notice as to Interstate Shipments. — The federal statutes, while recognizing the right of the carrier to stipulate for the filing of claims within a reasonable period, provide that if loss or damage is due to a delay in transit by negligence, no notice shall be required as a condition precedent to recovery. Mann v. Fairfield & Elizabeth City Transp. Co., 176 N.C. 104, 96 S.E. 731 (1918).

IV. ACTIONS.

Who May Bring Action. — Ordinarily the title to a shipment of goods by common carrier passes to the consignee upon acceptance by the carrier, and he may sue for damages thereto in transit; but when it is shown that the consignee refused to accept the damaged goods, and that the sale was cancelled by consent, the consignor may maintain his action against the carrier for damages. Aydlett v. Norfolk S.R.R., 172 N.C. 47, 89 S.E. 1000 (1916).

Joinder of Causes of Action. — A recovery of the value of a shipment of goods and the penalties for the refusal of the carrier to deliver and for the failure to settle the claim within the statutory period may be united in the same action. Jeans v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 164 N.C. 224, 80 S.E. 242 (1913).

Separate and Distinct Issues. — In an action against a railroad company to recover damages to a shipment of goods and the penalty for the failure of defendant to pay the same within 90 days, the issues raised are entirely separate and distinct from each other, and the trial judge may set aside the verdict on the second issue, and retain that on the first one, for a retrial. Hussey v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 183 N.C. 7, 110 S.E. 599 (1922).

Prima Facie Case. — In an action against the carrier for damages for the destruction of a shipment of freight by fire, a prima facie case is made out when the plaintiff shows the receipt of the freight for transportation and its nondelivery. Everett v. Railroad, 138 N.C. 68, 50 S.E. 557 (1905); Osborne v. Southern Ry., 175 N.C. 594, 96 S.E. 34 (1918).

Plaintiff Must Prove Failure to Settle. — The burden is on plaintiff to show that the common carrier has failed to settle his claim in 90 days, after written demand under statutory provisions, and the prima facie case made out by showing the unreasonable delay in the delivery of the shipment is not sufficient. Watkins v. American Ry. Express Co., 190 N.C. 605, 130 S.E. 305 (1925).

Burden on Carrier When Prima Facie Case Made. — In cases of limited liability, proof of shipment and loss or injury makes a prima facie case for the shipper, and then the burden is upon the carrier to show that the circumstances of the loss bring it within the excepted causes; when this is shown, the burden still rests upon the carrier of showing that the loss or injury was not due to its own negligence. Mitchell v. Carolina Cent. R.R., 124 N.C. 236, 32 S.E. 671 (1899).

Recovery Must Equal Claim. — In order to recover the penalty for failure to settle a claim for damages within 90 days, the burden is on plaintiff to show that the amount of his recovery is at least equal to the amount of his written demand. Watkins v. American Ry. Express Co., 190 N.C. 605, 130 S.E. 305 (1925).

Effect of Settlement After Penalty Accrues. — The proviso that the consignee must first recover the full amount claimed is only to protect the carrier against excessive demands and not to discourage settlements for losses, and plaintiff's right to recover the penalty in such suits is not lost by accepting settlement for damages for the full amount claimed after the penalty accrues. Rabon v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 149 N.C. 59, 62 S.E. 743 (1908).

Measure of Damages for Delay. — In the trial of an action against a railroad company for loss occasioned by its delay in transporting machinery shipped over its line by plaintiff, which was engaged in equipping a cotton factory, where it appeared that workmen employed by the plaintiff were forced to remain idle, though under pay of plaintiff, the measure of plaintiff's damages was the interest on the unemployed capital, the wages paid to its workmen and such other costs and expenses incurred by plaintiff in consequence of the delay. Rocky Mount Mills v. Wilmington & W.R.R., 119 N.C. 693, 25 S.E. 854 (1896).

§ 62-204. Notice of claims, statute of limitations for loss, damage or injury to property.

Any claim for loss, damage or injury to property while in the possession of a common carrier shall be filed by the claimant with the carrier in writing within nine months after the same occurred, and the cause of action with respect thereto shall be deemed to have accrued at the expiration of 30 days after the date of such notice, and action for the recovery thereon may be commenced immediately thereafter or at any time within two years after notice in writing shall have been given to the claimant by the adverse party that the claim or any part thereof specified in such notice has been disallowed, and neither party shall by rule, regulation, contract, or otherwise, provide for a shorter time for filing such claims or for commencing actions thereon than the period set out in this section. Provided, however, that this section shall not apply to motor carriers of passengers. (1947, c. 1008, s. 21; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-205. Joinder of causes of action.

To expedite the settlement of claims between shippers and common carriers, a shipper may join in the same complaint against a common carrier any number of claims for overcharges, or a common carrier may join in the same complaint any number of claims against a shipper for undercharges, whether such claims arose at the same time or in the course of shipments at different times; provided, that each such claim shall be so identified that the same and the allegations with respect thereto may be distinguished from other claims so joined in the complaint, and in cases in which the right of subrogation may be invoked the judgment shall specify the amount of recovery, if any, on each such claim. For the purpose of jurisdiction under this section the aggregate amount set out in the complaint shall be deemed the sum in controversy. Provided, however, that this section shall not apply to motor carriers of passengers. (1947, c. 1008, s. 20; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-206. Carrier's right against prior carrier.

Any common carrier shall have all the rights and remedies herein provided for against a common carrier from which it received the household goods in question. Provided, however, that this section shall not apply to motor carriers of passengers. (1905, c. 330, s. 3; Rev., s. 2636; C.S., s. 3526; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1995, c. 523, s. 13.)

Cross References. — As to power of Utilities Commission to act as arbitrator in disputes between carriers, see § 62-40.

§ 62-207: Repealed by Session Laws 1998-128, s. 13.

§ 62-208. Common carriers to settle promptly for cash-on-delivery shipments; penalty.

Every common carrier which shall fail to make settlement with the consignor of a cash-on-delivery shipment, either by payment of the moneys stipulated to be collected upon the delivery of the articles so shipped or by the return to such consignor of the article so shipped, within 20 days after demand made by the consignor and payment or tender of payment by him of the lawful charges for transportation, shall forfeit and pay to such consignor a penalty of twenty-five dollars ($25.00), where the value of the shipment is twenty-five dollars ($25.00) or less; and, where the value of the shipment is over twenty-five dollars ($25.00), a penalty equal to the value of the shipment; the penalty not to exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) in any case: Provided, no penalty shall be collectible where the shipment, through no act of negligence of the common carrier is burned, stolen or otherwise destroyed: Provided further, that the penalties here named shall be cumulative and shall not be in derogation of any right the consignor may have under any other provision of law to recover of the common carrier damages for the loss of any cash-on-delivery shipment or for negligent delay in handling the same. Provided, however, that this section shall not apply to motor carriers of passengers. (1909, c. 866; C.S., s. 3530; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-209. Sale of unclaimed baggage or household goods; notice; sale of rejected property; escheat.

(a) Any common carrier which has had in its possession on hand at any destination in this State any article whether baggage or household goods, for a period of 60 days from its arrival at destination, which said carrier cannot deliver because unclaimed, may at the expiration of said 60 days sell the same at public auction at any point where in the opinion of the carrier the best price can be obtained: Provided, however, that notice of such sale shall be mailed to the consignor and consignee, by registered or certified mail, if known to such carrier, not less than 15 days before such sale shall be made; or if the name and address of the consignor and consignee cannot with reasonable diligence be ascertained by such carrier, notice of the sale shall be published once a week for two consecutive weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published at the point of sale: Provided, that if there is no such paper published at such point, the publication may be made in any paper having a general circulation in the State: Provided further, however, that if the nondelivery of said article is due to the consignee's and consignor's rejection of it, then such article may be sold by the carrier at public or private sale, and at such time and place as will in the carrier's judgment net the best price, and this without further notice to either consignee or consignor, and without the necessity of publication.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1995, c. 523, s. 14.

(c) The common carrier shall keep a record of the articles sold and of the prices obtained therefor, and shall, after deducting all charges and the expenses of the sale, including advertisement, if advertised, pay the balance to the owner of such articles on demand therefor made at any time within five years from the date of the sale. If no person shall claim the surplus within five years, such surplus shall be paid to the Escheat Fund of the Department of State Treasurer.

(d) This section shall not apply to motor carriers of passengers. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 50; Code, s. 1987; Rev., s. 2639; 1921, c. 124, ss. 1, 2, 3; C.S., s. 3534; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1981, c. 531, s. 17; 1995, c. 523, s. 14.)

§ 62-210. Discrimination between connecting lines.

All common carriers subject to the provisions of this Chapter shall afford all reasonable, proper and equal facilities for the interchange of traffic between their respective lines and for the forwarding and delivering of passengers and freight to and from their several lines and those connecting therewith, and shall not discriminate in their rates, routes and charges against such connecting lines, and shall be required to make as close connection as practicable for the convenience of the traveling public. Common carriers shall obey all rules and regulations made by the Commission relating to trackage. Irregular route motor carriers shall interchange traffic only with the approval of the Commission. Provided, however, that this section shall not apply to motor carriers of passengers. Authority to Require Trains to Make Connection. — The Commission has power to require a railroad company to have a train arrive at a certain station on its road at a certain schedule time, so as to connect with the train of another company. Motor Carriers.

§ 62-259. Additional declaration of policy for motor carriers.

In addition to the declaration of policy set forth in G.S. 62-2 of Article 1 of Chapter 62, it is declared the policy of the State of North Carolina to preserve and continue all motor carrier transportation services now afforded this State; and to provide fair and impartial regulations of motor carriers in the use of the public highways in such a manner as to promote, in the interest of the public, the inherent advantages of highway transportation; to promote and preserve adequate economical and efficient service to all the communities of the State by motor carriers; to encourage and promote harmony among all carriers and to prevent discrimination, undue preferences or advantages, or unfair or destructive competitive practices between all carriers; to foster a coordinated statewide motor carrier service; and to conform with the national transportation policy and the federal motor carriers acts insofar as the same may be practical and adequate for application to intrastate commerce. The provisions of this section and these policies are applicable to bus companies and their rates and services only to the extent with which they are consistent with the provisions of G.S. 62-259.1 and of the Bus Regulatory Reform Act of 1985. (1947, c. 1008, s. 1; 1949, c. 1132, s. 2; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1985, c. 676, s. 16.)

Policy of Former Bus Act Stated. — The policy of the law controlling the granting of bus § 62-259.1. Specific declaration of policy for bus companies.

The transportation of passengers, their baggage and express, by bus companies has become increasingly subject to competition from other forms of transportation which are unregulated or only partially regulated as to rates and services. It is in the public interest and it is the policy of this State that bus companies be partially deregulated so that they may rely upon competitive market forces to determine the best quality, variety and price of bus services, thereby promoting the public health, safety and welfare by strengthening and increasing the viability of this necessary form of transportation. (1985, c. 676, s. 17.)

§ 62-260. Exemptions from regulations.

(a) Nothing in this Chapter shall be construed to include persons and vehicles engaged in one or more of the following services by motor vehicle if not engaged at the time in the transportation of other passengers or other property by motor vehicle for compensation:

(1) Transportation of passengers or household goods for or under the control of the State of North Carolina, or any political subdivision thereof, or any board, department or commission of the State, or any institution owned and supported by the State;

(2) Transportation of passengers by taxicabs when not carrying more than fifteen passengers or transportation by other motor vehicles performing bona fide taxicab service and not carrying more than fifteen passengers in a single vehicle at the same time when such taxicab or other vehicle performing bona fide taxicab service is not operated on a regular route or between termini; provided, no taxicab while operating over the regular route of a common carrier outside of a municipality and a residential and commercial zone adjacent thereto, as such zone may be determined by the Commission as provided in subdivision (8) of this subsection, shall solicit passengers along such route, but nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit a taxicab operator from picking up passengers along such route upon call, sign or signal from prospective passengers;

(3) Transportation by motor vehicles owned or operated by or on behalf of hotels while used exclusively for the transportation of hotel patronage between hotels and local railroad or other common carrier stations;

(4) Transportation of passengers to and from airports and passenger airline terminals when such transportation is incidental to transportation by aircraft;

(5) Transportation of passengers by trolley buses operated by electric power derived from a fixed overhead wire, furnishing local passenger transportation similar to street railway service;

(6) Transportation by motor vehicles used exclusively for the transportation of passengers to or from religious services or transportation of pupils and employees to and from private or parochial schools or transportation to and from functions for students and employees of private or parochial schools;

(7) Transportation of any bona fide employees to and from their place(s) of regular employment;

(8) Transportation of passengers when the movement is within a municipality exclusively, or within contiguous municipalities and within a residential and commercial zone adjacent to and a part of such municipality or contiguous municipalities; provided, the Commission shall have power in its discretion, in any particular case, to fix the limits of any such zone;

(9) through (17) Repealed by Session Laws 1995, c. 523, s. 16.

(18) Charter parties, as defined by this subdivision when such charter party is sponsored or organized by, and used by, any organized senior citizen group whose members are sixty (60) years of age or older. Such charter party shall be subject to subsections (f) and (g) of this section. "Charter party", for the purpose of this subdivision, means a group of persons who, pursuant to a common purpose and under a single contract, and at a fixed charge for the vehicle, have acquired the exclusive use of a passenger-carrying motor vehicle to travel together as a group from a point of origin to a specified destination or for a particular itinerary, either agreed upon in advance or modified by the chartering group after having left the place of origin.

(b) The Commission shall have jurisdiction to fix rates of carriers of passengers operating as described in (5) and (8) of subsection (a) of this section in the manner provided in this Chapter, and shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine controversies with respect to extensions and services, and the Commission's rules of practice shall include appropriate provisions for bringing such controversies before the Commission and for the hearing and determination of the same; provided nothing in this paragraph shall include taxicabs.

(c) The Commission may conduct investigations to determine whether any person purporting to operate under the exemption provisions of this section is, in fact, so operating, and make such orders as it deems necessary to enforce compliance with this section.

(d) The venue for any action commenced to enforce compliance with the terms of this Article against any person purporting to operate under any of the exemptions provided in this section shall be in one of the counties of the superior court district or set of districts as defined in G.S. 7A-41.1 wherein the violation is alleged to have taken place and such person shall be entitled to trial by jury.

(e) None of the provisions of this section nor any of the provisions of this Chapter shall be construed so as to prohibit or regulate the transportation of property by any motor carrier when the movement is within a municipality or within contiguous municipalities and within a zone adjacent to and commercially a part of such municipality or contiguous municipalities, as defined by the Commission. The Commission shall have the power in its discretion, in any particular case, to fix the limits of any such zone. Nothing herein shall be construed as an abridgment of the police powers of any municipality over such operation wholly within any such municipality. Nothing in this Chapter shall be construed to prohibit or regulate the transportation of household effects of families from one residence to another by persons who do not hold themselves out as being, and are not generally engaged in the business of transporting such property for compensation.

(f) Notwithstanding the exemption for transportation of passengers and household goods provided under subsections (a) through (e) of this section, all motor carriers transporting passengers for compensation under said exemptions or under any special exemptions granted by the Utilities Commission under G.S. 62-261 shall be subject to the same requirements for security for protection of the public as are established for regulated motor common carriers by the rules of the Utilities Commission pursuant to G.S. 62-268, and all such motor carriers transporting for hire under said exemption provisions shall further be subject to the same requirements for safety of operation of said motor vehicles as are required of regulated motor common carriers under the provisions of Chapter 20 and the regulations of the Division adopted pursuant thereto. The Division is authorized to promulgate rules and regulations for the enforcement of said requirements in the case of all such exempt operations, and the officers and agents of the Division shall have full authority to inspect said exempt vehicles and to apply all enforcement regulations and penalties for violation of said security regulations and safety regulations as in the case of regulated motor carriers.

(g) The owners of all motor vehicles used in any transportation for compensation which is declared to be exempt under this section shall register such operation with the Division of Motor Vehicles and shall secure from the Division of Motor Vehicles a certificate of exemption. Sess., 1988), c. 1037, s. 94; 1995, c. 523, s. 16.)

CASE NOTES

Rate Scheme Held Unconstitutional. — The state regulatory scheme by which the Utilities Commission set rates for franchised carriers to charge the U.S. Army in transportation of household goods violated the national procurement policy and was an unconstitutional burden on the United States in the exercise of its constitutional powers. United States v. North Carolina Utils. Comm'n, 352 F. Supp. 274 (E.D.N.C. 1972).

The Utilities Commission is not vested with power to require the operators of services enumerated in subdivisions (1) to (8) of subsection (a) to obtain a franchise from it and does not have any supervision or jurisdiction over such operation, except the operations set forth in subdivisions (5) and (8) of subsection (a), and as to them it retains jurisdiction to fix rates and "to hear and determine controversies with respect to extensions and services." City of Winston-Salem v. Winston-Salem City Coach Lines, 245 N.C. 179, 95 S.E.2d 510 (1956).

Commission Has Jurisdiction to Determine Exemptions. — The Commission has jurisdiction to determine whether or not the actual operations of a carrier fall under the exemptive provisions. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. McKinnon, 254 N.C. 1, 118 S.E.2d 134 (1961).

Jurisdiction of Commission over City Bus Lines. — The Commission has been given specific authority to fix city bus fares. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City of Greensboro, 244 N.C. 247, 93 S.E.2d 151 (1956).

An intracity carrier, holding a certificate of exemption issued by the Commission and a franchise from the city or town in which it operates, is exempt from control of the Commission, except as to rates and controversies with respect to extensions and services. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. McKinnon, 254 N.C. 1, 118 S.E.2d 134 (1961).

Any provisions with respect to rates and services contained in a franchise contract between a utilities company and a municipal corporation, authorizing the utilities company to transport passengers over its streets, are subject to the orders of the Utilities Commission in respect thereto. City of Winston-Salem

v. Winston-Salem City Coach Lines, 245 N.C. 179, 95 S.E.2d 510 (1956).

Dispute as to Curtailment of Services by Bus Carrier. — Where a municipality has granted a franchise to a utilities company to operate passenger buses over its streets, the parties may mutually agree upon extensions and services, changes in routes, or curtailment of services, when in the opinion of the governing board of the municipality such changes are, under the existing conditions, for the best interest of all concerned, including the public. However, when the parties are unable to agree to a proposed curtailment of existing services, the matter is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Utilities Commission and the municipality may not enjoin the utility from the proposed curtailment of services, although the utility may not change its schedules or curtail its services unless given authority to do so by the Utilities Commission. City of Winston-Salem v. Winston-Salem City Coach Lines, 245 N.C. 179, 95 S.E.2d 510 (1956).

No Territorial Limitations on Intracity Carrier When Subdivisions (a)(1) and (a)(6) Apply. — An exempted intracity carrier under subdivision (a)(8) has no territorial limitations as to the transportation of passengers under subdivisions (a)(1) and (a)(6) of this section, where the request for such services arises within the area for which such carrier holds a certificate of exemption from the Commission and a franchise from the municipality in which it operates or within any additional zone or zones adjacent thereto which have been fixed by the Commission. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. McKinnon, 254 N.C. 1, 118 S.E.2d 134 (1961).

Operations Devoted Exclusively to Transportation of Employees to and from Work. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission does not have regulatory supervision of operations devoted exclusively to the transportation by motor vehicle of the bona fide employees of industrial plants to and from the places of their employment, even in cases where the persons conducting such operations are engaged at the same time or at other times in carrying on the callings of common carriers by motor vehicle. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 236 N.C. 583, 73 S.E.2d 562 (1952).

Transportation to and from Federal Military Reservation. — Carriers in intrastate commerce transporting passengers for hire to and from federal military reservations or bases are exempted from regulation of the Utilities Commission only if such carriers have been procured by the United States government to carry passengers for it, or the transportation of such passengers is under the control of the United States. Bryant v. Barber, 237 N.C. 480, 75 S.E.2d 410 (1953).

Transportation of Athletic Teams and School Bands. — While it is true that the statute which governs the operation of school buses makes no provision one way or the other for the transportation of athletic teams or school bands, it is equally true that school bands and athletic teams are under the control of the school authorities. Therefore, the board controlling such activities would have the inherent right to contract for such transportation as might be necessary to transport its athletic teams and its bands to and from events which have been scheduled under the supervision of school authorities, and such transportation would be exempt under subdivision (a)(1) of this section. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. McKinnon, 254 N.C. 1, 118 S.E.2d 134 (1961).

Municipal Franchise for Limousine Service to Airport. — The provisions of §§ 63-2, 63-49, 63-50, 63-53, and this section authorize a municipal corporation to award a franchise contract granting the right to provide limousine service to a municipal airport upon certain terms and conditions set forth in the franchise ordinance. Harrelson v. City of Fayetteville, 271 N.C. 87, 155 S.E.2d 749 (1967).

Action by Competing Carrier against Exempted Carrier Violating Section. — When an exempted carrier is operating in violation of the exemptive provisions of this section, any other carrier adversely affected thereby may institute an action in the superior court against such exempted carrier, pursuant to subsection (d) of this section and § 62-279. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. McKinnon, 254 N.C. 1, 118 S.E.2d 134 (1961).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Subdivision (a)(1) of this section specifically exempts political subdivisions from regulation by the Utilities Commission. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. David D. King, Director of Division of Public Transportation, North Carolina Department of Transportation, 55 N.C.A.G. 76 (1986).

The Pasquotank-Perquimans-Camden-Chowan District Health Department has the authority to operate public transit on a fare paying basis, without establishment of a Transportation Authority. Subdivision (a)(1) of this section specifically exempts political subdivisions of this State from regulation by the North Carolina Utilities Commission. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. David D. King, Director of Division of Public Transportation, North Carolina Department of Transportation, 55 N.C.A.G. 76 (1986).

§ 62-261. Additional powers and duties of Commission applicable to motor vehicles.

The Commission is hereby vested with the following powers and duties:

(1) To supervise and regulate bus companies and to that end, the Commission may establish reasonable requirements with respect to continuous and adequate service, transportation of baggage, newspapers, mail and light express, uniform system of accounts, records and reports and preservation of records.

(2) To supervise the operation and safety of passenger bus stations in any manner necessary to promote harmony among the carriers using such stations and efficiency of service to the traveling public.

(3) Repealed by Session Laws 1985, c. 454, s. 12.

(4) For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Article, the Utilities Commission may avail itself of the special information of the Board of Transportation in promulgating safety requirements and in considering applications for certificates or permits with particular reference to conditions of the public highway or highways involved, and the ability of the said public highway or highways to carry added traffic; and the Board of Transportation, upon request of the Utilities Commission, shall furnish such information.

(5) The Commission may, without prior notice and hearing, make and enter any order, rule, regulation, or requirement, not affecting rates, upon unanimous finding by the Commission of the existence of an emergency and make such order, rule, regulation or requirement effective upon notice given to each affected motor carrier by registered mail, or by certified mail pending a hearing thereon as provided in this subdivision. It shall not be necessary for the Commission to give notice to the carriers affected or to hold a hearing prior to a revision in the rules regarding procedures to be followed in filing rates. Any such emergency order, rule, regulation or requirement shall be subject to continuation, modification, change, or revocation after notice and hearing and all such emergency orders, rules, regulations and requirements shall be supplanted and superseded by any final order, rule, regulation or requirement entered by the Commission.

(6) The Commission shall regulate brokers and make and enforce reasonable requirements respecting their licenses, financial responsibility, accounts, records, reports, operations and practices.

(7) Repealed by Session Laws 1985, c. 454, s. 12.

(8) To determine, upon its own motion, or upon motion by a motor carrier, or any other party in interest, whether the transportation of household goods in intrastate commerce performed by any motor carrier or class of motor carriers lawfully engaged in operation in this State is in fact of such nature, character, or quantity as not substantially to affect or impair uniform regulation by the Commission of transportation by motor carriers engaged in intrastate commerce. Upon so finding, the Commission shall issue a certificate of exemption to such motor carrier or class of motor carriers which, during the period such certificate shall remain effective and unrevoked, shall exempt such carrier or class of motor carriers from compliance with the provisions of this Article, and shall attach to such certificate such reasonable terms and conditions as the public interest may require. At any time after the issuance of any such certificate of exemption, the Commission may by order revoke all or any part thereof, if it shall find that the transportation in intrastate commerce performed by the carrier or class of carriers designated in such certificate will be, or shall have become, or is reasonably likely to become, or such nature, character, or quantity as in fact substantially to affect or impair uniform regulation by the Commission of intrastate transportation by motor carriers in effectuating the policy declared in this Chapter. Upon revocation of any such certificate, the Commission shall restore to the carrier or carriers affected thereby, without further proceedings, the authority, if any, to operate in intrastate commerce held by such carrier or carriers at the time the certificate of exemption pertaining to such carrier or carriers became effective. No certificate of exemption shall be denied, and no order of revocation shall be issued, under this paragraph, except after reasonable opportunity for hearing to interested parties.

(9) To inquire into the management of the business of motor carriers and into the management of business of persons controlling, controlled by or under common control with, motor carriers to the extent that such persons have a pecuniary interest in the business of one or more motor carriers, and the Commission shall keep itself informed as to the manner and method in which the same are conducted, and may obtain from such carriers and persons such information as the Commission deems necessary to carry out the provisions of this Article.

(10) Repealed by Session Laws 1985, c. 454, s. 12.

(11) The Commission may from time to time establish such just and reasonable classifications of groups of carriers included in the term "common carrier by motor vehicle" as the special nature of the service performed by such carriers shall require; and such just and reasonable rules, regulations, and requirements, consistent with the provisions of this Article, to be observed by such carriers so classified or grouped, as the Commission deems necessary or desirable in the public interest. (1947, c. 1008, s. 5; 1949, c. 1132, s. 6; 1953, c. 1140, s. 5; 1957, c. 65, s. 11; c. 1152, s. 7; 1961, c. 472, s. 9; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1969, c. 723, s. 2; c. 763; 1973, c. 507, s. 5; 1985, c. 454, s. 12; c. 676, s. 18; 1995, c. 523, s. 17.)

Approved Contract as Order of Commission. — A contract between public utilities, when formally approved by the Commission, is in effect an order of the Commission binding on each of the parties. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

The interchange of freight between an intrastate and an interstate carrier, even though the property is being moved in interstate commerce, is left to the state commissions. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Fox, 239 N.C. 253, 79 S.E.2d 391 (1954).

§ 62-262. Applications and hearings other than for bus companies.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in G.S. 62-260[,] 62-262.1 and 62-265, no person shall engage in the transportation of passengers or household goods in intrastate commerce unless such person shall have applied to and obtained from the Commission a certificate authorizing such operations, and it shall be unlawful for any person knowingly or wilfully to operate in intrastate commerce in any manner contrary to the provisions of this Article, or of the rules and regulations of the Commission. No certificate shall be amended so as to enlarge or in any manner extend the scope of operations of a motor carrier without complying with the provisions of this section.

(b) Upon the filing of an application for a certificate, the Commission shall, within a reasonable time, fix a time and place for hearing such application. The Commission shall from time to time prepare a truck calendar containing notice of such hearings, a copy of which shall be mailed to the applicant and to any other persons desiring it, upon payment of charges to be fixed by the Commission. The notice or calendar herein required shall be mailed at least 20 days prior to the date fixed for the hearing, but the failure of any person, other than applicant, to receive such notice or calendar shall not, for that reason, invalidate the action of the Commission in granting or denying the application.

(c) The Commission may, in its discretion, except where a regular calendar providing notice is issued, require the applicant to give notice of the time and place of such hearing together with a brief description of the purpose of said hearing and the exact route or routes and authority applied for, to be published not less than once each week for two successive weeks in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the territory proposed to be served. The Commission may in its discretion require the applicant to give such other and further notice in the form and manner prescribed by the Commission to the end that all interested parties and the general public may have full knowledge of such hearing and its purpose. If the Commission requires the applicant to give notice by publication, then a copy of such notice shall be immediately mailed by the applicant to the Commission, and upon receipt of same the chief clerk shall cause the copy of notice to be entered in the Commission's docket of pending proceedings. The applicant shall, prior to any hearing upon his application, be required to satisfy the Commission that such notice by publication has been duly made, and in addition to any other fees or costs required to be paid by the applicant, the applicant shall pay into the office of the Commission the cost of the notices herein required to be mailed by the Commission.

(d) Any motor carrier desiring to protest the granting of an application for a certificate, in whole, or in part, may become a party to such proceedings by filing with the Commission, not less than 10 days prior to the date fixed for the hearing, unless the time be extended by order of the Commission, its protest in writing under oath, containing a general statement of the grounds for such protest and the manner in which the protestant will be adversely affected by the granting of the application in whole or in part. Such protestant may also set forth in his protest its proposal, if any, to render either alone or in conjunction with other motor carriers, the service proposed by the applicant, either in whole or in part. Upon the filing of such protest it shall be the duty of the protestant to file three copies with the Commission, and the protestant shall certify that a copy of said protest has been delivered or mailed to the applicant or applicant's attorney. When no protest is filed with the Commission within the time herein limited, or as extended by order of the Commission, the Commission may proceed to decide the application on the basis of testimony taken at a hearing, or on the basis of information contained in the application and sworn affidavits, and make the necessary findings of fact and issue or decline to issue the certificate applied for without further notice. Persons other than motor carriers shall have the right to appear before the Commission and give evidence in favor of or against the granting of any application and with permission of the Commission may be accorded the right to examine and cross-examine witnesses.

(e) The burden of proof shall be upon the applicant for a certificate to show to the satisfaction of the Commission:

(1) That public convenience and necessity require the proposed service in addition to existing authorized transportation service, and

(2) That the applicant is fit, willing and able to properly perform the proposed service, and

(3) That the applicant is solvent and financially able to furnish adequate service on a continuing basis.

(f) through (h) Repealed by Session Laws 1985, c. 676, s. 19.

(i), (j) Repealed by Session Laws 1995, c. 523, s. 18.

(k) The Commission shall by general order, or rule, having regard for the public convenience and necessity, provide for the abandonment or permanent or temporary discontinuance of transportation service previously authorized in a certificate.

(l) The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to applications for certificates of authority by bus companies or related hearings. (1947, c. 1008, s. 11; 1949, c. 1132, s. 10; 1953, c. 825, s. 3; 1957, c. 1152, ss. 8, 9; 1959, c. 639, s. 11; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1965, c. 214; 1981, c. 193, s. 4; 1985, c. 676, s. 19; 1995, c. 523, s. 18.)

"Route" Not Synonymous with "Territory". — "Route" means the highway or road traveled in serving communities, districts, or territories adjacent to it, and is not synonymous with "territory." State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Queen City Coach Co., 233 N.C. 119, 63 S.E.2d 113 (1951); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Ray, 236 N.C. 692, 73 S.E.2d 870 (1953).

As to what constitutes a contract carrier, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Petro. Transp., Inc., 2 N.C. App. 566, 163 S.E.2d 526 (1968).

Requirements for Permit to Operate as Contract Carrier. — In addition to the statutory requirements of § 62-3 and this section, an applicant for a permit to operate as a contract carrier in North Carolina must conform to the standards set forth by the Utilities Commission in Rule R2-15(b). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. American Courier Corp., 8 N.C. App. 358, 174 S.E.2d 814 (1970).

"Certificate" authorizes performance as common carrier, while "permit" authorizes performance as contract carrier. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Tar Heel Indus., Inc., 77 N.C. App. 75, 334 S.E.2d 396 (1985).

Grant of Franchise to Be Predicated on Public Convenience and Necessity. — The granting of franchise authority for the operation of buses over the highways of this State, for the transportation of persons and property for compensation, must be predicated upon public convenience and necessity. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 261 N.C. 384, 134 S.E.2d 689 (1964).

The convenience and necessity required are those of the public and not of an individual or individuals. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

The doctrine of convenience and necessity is a relative or elastic theory. The facts in each case must be separately considered, and from those facts it must be determined whether public convenience and necessity require a given service to be performed or dispensed with. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

"Necessity" means reasonably necessary and not absolutely imperative. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

Any service or improvement which is desirable for the public welfare and highly important to the public convenience may be properly regarded as necessary. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

What constitutes "public convenience and necessity" is primarily an administrative question with a number of imponderables to be taken into consideration, e.g., whether there is a substantial public need for the service, whether the existing carriers can reasonably meet this need, and whether it would endanger or impair the operations of existing carriers contrary to the public interest. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Queen City Coach Co., 4 N.C. App. 116, 166 S.E.2d 441 (1969); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Coach Co., 19 N.C. App. 597, 199 S.E.2d 731 (1973), cert. denied, 284 N.C. 623, 201 S.E.2d 693 (1974).

If a new service is necessary, and there are carriers already in the field, there is always the vital question, in determining convenience and necessity, whether the new service should be rendered by the existing carriers or by the new applicant. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

Burden upon Applicant to Show Public Convenience and Necessity. — The burden of proof is upon the applicant for franchise authority to show public convenience and necessity. State ex rel. N.C. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 261 N.C. 384, 134 S.E.2d 689 (1964).

The Commission's conclusion that public convenience and necessity required the proposed service was unsupported by competent evidence in view of the entire record, where the petitioner failed to show that any individual required his service for a non-local, intrastate move—witness testimony that he would recommend that his daughter use petitioner's services for a long-distance move did not constitute material evidence of a substantial public need absent statistics, expert testimony or other evidence—and where petitioner failed to present evidence on the issues of whether existing carriers could reasonably meet the need for intrastate moving services and whether the granting of his application would impair the operations of existing carriers contrary to the public interest; furthermore, contrary to the Commission's suggestion, the intervenors did not have the burden of showing that granting the application would have a ruinous effect upon them. Dunnagan v. Ndikom, 139 N.C. App. 246, 533 S.E.2d 494 (2000).

Applicant Failed to Show Public Convenience and Necessity. — The North Carolina Utilities Commission erred in granting petitioner's application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity under this section where the petitioner failed to show that any individual required his service for a non-local, intrastate move and, although the petitioner's desire to serve the Hispanic community was commendable, he failed to show that the moving needs of the Hispanic community were not being met by existing intrastate moving services; a showing that there had been a population increase with nothing more did not establish sufficient evidence of a substantial public need for petitioner's proposed service, and petitioner failed to present evidence on the issues of whether existing carriers could reasonably meet the need for intrastate moving services and whether granting his application would impair the operations of existing carriers contrary to the public interest. Union Transf. & Storage Co. v. Lefeber, 139 N.C. App. 280, 533 S.E.2d 550 (2000).

Special Rule for Relocation of Existing Routes. — The Utilities Commission has developed a special rule for applications that seek only to relocate an existing route over a new highway. In these cases the Commission does not require such an extensive demonstration of public convenience and necessity as in other cases. Instead, the applicant is only required to show that the proposed route, as it now exists and with future improvements, will provide a much safer, quicker and improved service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Coach Co., 19 N.C. App. 597, 199 S.E.2d 731 (1973), cert. denied, 284 N.C. 623, 201 S.E.2d 693 (1974).

By encouraging bus companies to make use of new and improved highways soon after they are opened, the special rule for relocation of existing routes serves "to promote, in the interest of the public, the inherent advantages of highway transportation," which is one of the stated purposes of the motor carriers statute. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Coach Co., 19 N.C. App. 597, 199 S.E.2d 731 (1973), cert. denied, 284 N.C. 623, 201 S.E.2d 693 (1974).

Test of "Public Need" Not Applicable to Transfer Proceedings. — The showing of public need which subsection (e)(1) of this section requires of an application for a new authority is not applicable in a transfer proceeding under § 62-111 and was not written into it by § 62-111(a). State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 7 N.C. App. 408, 173 S.E.2d 25 (1970).

Subsection (e) of § 62-111 does not indicate a policy change toward protecting existing certificate holders from lawful competition. Like the subsection (a) "public convenience and necessity" test, the requirement that the Commission find the transfer "in the public interest" does not write into the transfer approval procedure the new certificate test of public need in subsection (e)(1) of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 7 N.C. App. 408, 173 S.E.2d 25 (1970).

Where Carrier's Authority Is Not Dormant. — The criteria "if justified by the public convenience and necessity" in subsection (a) of § 62-111 is interpreted as a statutory basis for the test of dormancy. Where the authority has been abandoned or "dormant," the Commission has denied applications for transfer because approval would in effect be the granting of a new authority without satisfying the new authority test of public need set out in subsection (e)(1) of this section. Where the authority has been actively operated, the applicants for sale and transfer of motor freight carrier rights are under no burden to show through shipper witnesses that a demand and need exist. The rationale is that public convenience and necessity were shown to exist when the authority was granted or acquired, and the rebuttable presumption of law is that it continues. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Associated Petro. Carriers, 7 N.C. App. 408, 173 S.E.2d 25 (1970).

Where the issue of dormancy under § 62-112(c) has been raised, if the Commission finds that the franchise is not dormant, it must then determine if the criteria required by § 62-111 for approval of the transfer has been met. If the Commission finds that the franchise is dormant under § 62-112(c), the application for transfer must be denied, because approval would in effect constitute the granting of a new franchise without satisfying the new authority test and other requirements of subsection (e) of this section. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Estes Express Lines, 33 N.C. App. 174, 234 S.E.2d 624 (1977).

The factors denominated as imponderables, namely, whether the existing carriers can reasonably meet the need for the service, and whether the granting of the application would endanger or impair the operations of existing carriers contrary to the public interest, are not solely determinative of the right of the Commission to grant the application. Both are directed to the question of public convenience and necessity. Nevertheless, if the proposed operation under the certificate sought would seriously endanger or impair the operations of existing carriers contrary to the public interest, the certificate should not be issued. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Queen City Coach Co., 4 N.C. App. 116, 166 S.E.2d 441 (1969).

There is no public policy condemning competition as such, between contract carriers, in the field of public utilities; the public policy only condemns unfair or destructive competition. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. American Courier Corp., 8 N.C. App. 358, 174 S.E.2d 814 (1970); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. American Courier Corp., 8 N.C. App. 367, 174 S.E.2d 808 (1970).

Grant of Application Not Prohibited by Fact That Competing Carrier's Business Would Be Adversely Affected. — The fact that the granting of a proposed application would adversely affect the business of a carrier corporation is not a sufficiently compelling reason to prohibit the entrance of other contract carriers into the field of transporting bank documents and other commodities. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. American Courier Corp., 8 N.C. App. 358, 174 S.E.2d 814 (1970); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. American Courier Corp., 8 N.C. App. 367, 174 S.E.2d 808 (1970).

Applications to Serve Communities Served by Another Carrier and to Duplicate Routes Distinguished. — Application by carrier to serve communities being served by another carrier, who intervenes and protests the application, as distinguished from an application for duplication of routes, does not require the Utilities Commission to find that the existing carrier's service is inadequate and to afford such existing carrier opportunity to remedy the inadequacy. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Queen City Coach Co., 233 N.C. 119, 63 S.E.2d 113 (1951).

Protection as to Duplication in Route. — Granting of a franchise over any part of the route of an existing carrier is prohibited except upon prescribed conditions, and not merely a duplication of the same route from terminus to terminus, but the application to serve communities being served by the intervening carrier need not be denied in toto because there would be a duplication of routes along a short distance, since the existing carrier may be protected as to the duplication in route by proper restrictions in the certificate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Queen City Coach Co., 233 N.C. 119, 63 S.E.2d 113 (1951).

A traversing of the same highways for certain distances by competing carriers may readily become necessary in the public interest and, in such an instance, more than one certificate may be granted, subject to such restrictions as will protect the authorized carrier in respect of that part of the highway to be traversed by both. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

Former subsection (f) of this section did not forbid authority to two or more carriers to traverse the same segment of a highway so long as they did not render duplicate service. The mere fact that the two carriers would use the same highway for a distance did not require a denial of the application. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

When Duplicate Service Permitted. — Under former article of similar import, it was held that the Commission might, in its discretion, grant a franchise which would duplicate in whole or in part a previously authorized similar class of service; and when it was shown to the satisfaction of the Commission that the existing operations were not providing sufficient service reasonably to meet the public convenience and necessity and the existing operators, after 30 days' notice, failed to provide the service required by the Commission, it would be the duty of the Commission to do so. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 224 N.C. 390, 30 S.E.2d 328 (1944); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City Coach Co., 234 N.C. 489, 67 S.E.2d 629 (1951).

This section does not purport to protect against all competition, but is designed to protect authorized carriers against ruinous competition, and does not prohibit service of the same points by different carriers over separate routes when such duplicate service is in the public interest. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Queen City Coach Co., 233 N.C. 119, 63 S.E.2d 113 (1951); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Ray, 236 N.C. 692, 73 S.E.2d 870 (1953).

Question of duplication of service must be determined under statute in effect at the time the order of the Commission was entered. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. City Coach Co., 234 N.C. 489, 67 S.E.2d 629 (1951).

Commission May Grant "Closed Door" Authority Though Application Seeks Authority to Duplicate Service. — Since the Utilities Commission is not confined to the immediate scope of the pleadings filed, and may enlarge the scope of the inquiry, it may grant a "closed door" authority even though the application is for authority to duplicate service. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

When "Closed Door" Authority Proper. — Where the principal business of a carrier is the transportation of passengers between two cities of the State along a route serving a number of other cities, and the improvement and construction of highways makes feasible a new and more direct route between the termini, the Utilities Commission, upon appropriate findings of fact, may grant such carrier "closed door" authority along the new route, notwithstanding that other carriers, respectively, serve segments of the route in "open door" operations. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

Grant of Application Upheld. — The Utilities Commission properly granted an application for a contract carrier permit authorizing the applicant to transfer bank documents and other commodities between banks in the State, notwithstanding the protest by an existing contract carrier of bank documents that the granting of the application would adversely affect its business, where there were findings, supported by competent and substantial evidence, that banks needed the services offered by the applicant and that their need could not be met by any existing means of transportation. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. American Courier Corp., 8 N.C. App. 358, 174 S.E.2d 814 (1970); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. American Courier Corp., 8 N.C. App. 367, 174 S.E.2d 808 (1970).

As to charter service, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Fleming, 235 N.C. 660, 71 S.E.2d 41 (1952).

For case holding scope of operation of carrier not enlarged by amendment, see State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Fleming, 235 N.C. 660, 71 S.E.2d 41 (1952).

II. PROCEDURE.

The procedure before the Commission is more or less informal, and is not as strict as in civil cases, nor is it confined by technical rules; substance and not form is controlling. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

The power of the Commission is not restricted to the proceedings as commenced, but it may enlarge the scope of the inquiry beyond the issue raised by the pleadings where the parties to be affected are before the Commission, participate in the proceedings, have full opportunity to be heard, and are not misled as to the purpose of the hearing. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

The Commission is not confined to the immediate scope of the pleadings on file. It may enlarge the scope of the inquiry, and where the parties to be affected are before it, participate in the inquiry and make defense, they cannot complain of a departure from the pleadings. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

Treatment of Application for New Authority as Motion in Prior Cause. — An application for a new authority to carry passengers between two municipalities of the State along a new route made feasible by the improvement or construction of highways could be treated by the Utilities Commission as a motion in a prior cause in which the Commission approved an agreement of the carriers in regard to their respective services between the cities provided the carriers affected were given notice and an opportunity to be heard. The question of whether the prior order of approval could be collaterally attacked was thus obviated. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Carolina Coach Co., 260 N.C. 43, 132 S.E.2d 249 (1963).

Findings of fact by the Commission are conclusive and binding upon the reviewing court when supported by competent, material and substantial evidence in view of the entire record. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Petro. Transp., Inc., 2 N.C. App. 566, 163 S.E.2d 526 (1968); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. American Courier Corp., 8 N.C. App. 358, 174 S.E.2d 814 (1970); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. American Courier Corp., 8 N.C. App. 367, 174 S.E.2d 808 (1970); State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Kenan Transp. Co., 10 N.C. App. 626, 179 S.E.2d 799 (1971).

Procedure Held Contrary to Statutory Requirements. — Where the Commission issued its directive without any notice or hearing whatever, simply instructing the parties peremptorily that they must enter into an agreement, such a procedure was entirely contrary to the statutory requirements, and any such order was invalid. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Coach Co., 19 N.C. App. 597, 199 S.E.2d 731 (1973), cert. denied, 284 N.C. 623, 201 S.E.2d 693 (1974).

§ 62-262.1. Certificates of authority for passenger operations by bus companies.

(a) Except as provided in G.S. 62-260, 62-262 and 62-265, no person shall engage in the transportation of passengers in intrastate commerce by motor vehicle without having applied for and obtained a certificate authorizing those operations from the Commission. It shall be unlawful for any person to knowingly or willfully operate in intrastate commerce in a manner contrary to the provisions of this Article or to the rules and regulations of the Commission. No certificate shall be amended to enlarge, or in any manner extend, the scope of operations of a bus company without complying with the provisions of this section.

(b) Any bus company desiring a certificate of authority to operate in intrastate commerce in this State over fixed routes, or to enlarge or in any manner extend the scope of its fixed route operations previously granted by the Commission, may do so by filing a verified application with the Commission and by paying the filing fee established by G.S. 62-300.

(c) The Commission shall issue a certificate of authority to an applicant for the transportation of passengers over a fixed route or to enlarge or extend authority previously granted, if the Commission finds that the applicant is fit, willing and able to provide the transportation to be authorized by the certificate and to comply with the provisions of this Chapter, unless the Commission finds, on the basis of evidence presented by any person objecting to the issuance of the certificate, that the transportation to be authorized is not consistent with the public interest.

(d) In making any findings relating to public interest under subsection (c) of this section, the Commission shall consider, to the extent applicable, (i) the transportation policy of this State as it relates to bus companies under G.S. 62-259.1 and this Chapter; (ii) the value of competition to the traveling and shipping public; (iii) the effect of issuance of the certificate on bus company service to small communities; and (iv) whether issuance of the certificate would impair the ability of any other fixed route carrier of passengers to provide a substantial portion of its fixed route passenger service, except that diversion of revenue or traffic from a fixed route carrier of passengers, alone, shall not be sufficient to support a finding that issuance of the certificate would impair the ability of the carrier to provide a substantial portion of its fixed route passenger service.

(e) Within 10 days after the filing of an application, the applicant shall provide notice to be given as required by Commission rule. If no protest, raising material issues of fact to the granting of the application, is filed with the Commission within 30 days after the notice is given, the Commission may, upon review of the record and without a hearing, issue its certificate of authority granting the requested operating authority, if it is satisfied that the applicant meets the requirements set forth in subsection (c) of this section.

(f) If protests are filed raising material issues of fact to the granting of the application, the Commission shall set the application for hearing, as soon as possible, and cause notice to be given as provided by its rules. At the hearing, the only issues for consideration are those set forth in subsections (c) and (d) of this section. The Commission shall issue its final order not later than 180 days after the application is filed.

(g) Any bus company authorized to transport passengers in intrastate commerce over fixed routes in this State and which in fact provides that service may, without filing a new application or paying further fees: (i) transport newspapers, express parcels or United States mail over the fixed routes on which it provides passenger transportation; (ii) provide charter operations to all points in the State; and (iii) transport charter passengers in the same motor vehicles with fixed route passengers.

(h) Any bus company seeking a certificate to engage solely in charter operations within the State, or to enlarge or in any manner extend the scope of its charter operations previously granted by the Commission, may obtain one by (i) filing a verified application for the authority with the Commission; (ii) paying the applicable filing fee as prescribed by G.S. 62-300; and (iii) demonstrating that it is fit, willing and able to perform the proposed charter operations.

(i) Within 10 days after filing of an application for charter operations, the applicant shall provide notice as required by Commission rule or regulation. If no protests to the granting of the application, raising material issues of fact, are received by the Commission within 30 days after the notice is given, the Commission shall issue its certificate granting the requested authority unless it determines that the applicant is unfit, unwilling or unable to perform the proposed operations. In the event of this determination, or if protests to the proposed operation raising material issues of fact are received, the Commission shall set the application for hearing, as soon as possible, and provide notice to be given as provided by its rules and shall issue its final order within 180 days after application is filed. At the hearing, the only issue for consideration shall be whether the applicant is fit, willing and able to perform the proposed charter operations and the issue of need shall not be considered. On the issue of its fitness, willingness and ability to perform the proposed charter operations, the applicant in its application and at any hearing shall present evidence from which the Commission may find that: (i) the applicant has sufficient assets to perform properly the proposed operations; (ii) the operation will be conducted only with properly qualified drivers; (iii) the applicant will maintain safe, clean and attractive buses and equipment; (iv) the applicant will maintain insurance for the protection of the public as provided in this Chapter; (v) the applicant has sufficient equipment to conduct the proposed operation; and (vi) the applicant will observe all applicable laws, rules and regulations of this State.

(j) Any bus company authorized and engaged solely in charter operations shall not be required to transport passengers over a fixed route in this State as an incidence to its charter operations. (1985, c. 676, s. 20.)

§ 62-262.2. Discontinuance or reduction in service.

(a) When a bus company proposes to discontinue service over any intrastate route or proposes to reduce its level of service to any points on a route to a level which is less than one trip per day (excluding Saturdays and Sundays), it shall petition the Commission for permission to do so. Within 10 days after the filing of a petition, the Commission shall require notice to be given.

(b) Any person or the Public Staff may object, to the Commission, to the granting of permission to any bus company to discontinue or reduce transportation under this section. If neither objects to the granting of permission to discontinue or reduce service under this section, within 30 days after the notice as required by subsection (a) of this section, the Commission may grant the permission based on the record and without hearing.

(c) If, within 30 days after the notice as required by subsection (a) of this section, any person or the Public Staff objects in writing to the Commission to granting of such permission, the Commission shall grant such permission unless the Commission finds as a fact, that the discontinuance or reduction in service is not consistent with the public interest or that continuing the transportation, without the proposed discontinuance or reduction, will not constitute an unreasonable burden on interstate commerce. In making a finding under this subsection, the Commission shall accord great weight to the extent to which the interstate and intrastate revenues from the transportation proposed to be reduced or discontinued are less than the variable costs of providing the transportation, including depreciation for revenue equipment. The Commission may also consider, to the extent applicable, all other factors which are to be considered by the Interstate Commerce Commission in a proceeding commenced under 49 U.S.C. § 10935. For the purposes of this section, the bus company filing a petition for permission to discontinue or reduce service shall have the burden of proving (i) the amount of its interstate and intrastate revenues received for transportation to, from or between, but not through, points on the involved intrastate route; and (ii) the system variable costs of providing the transportation.

(d) The Commission may make its determination with or without a public hearing. The Commission shall take final action upon the petition not later than 120 days after any written objections to the petition are filed.

(e) The provisions of G.S. 62-262(k) shall not be applicable to bus companies. (1985, c. 676, s. 21; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 1024, s. 15.)

§ 62-263. Application for broker's license.

(a) No person shall engage in the business of a broker in intrastate operations within this State unless such person holds a broker's license issued by the Commission.

(b) The Commission shall prescribe the form of application and such reasonable requirements and information as may in its judgment be necessary.

(c) Upon the filing of an application for license the Commission may fix a time and place for the hearing of the application and require such notices, publications, or other service as it may prescribe by the general rule or regulation.

(d) A license shall be issued to any qualified applicant therefor authorizing the whole or any part of the operations covered by the application if it is found that the applicant is fit, willing and able properly to perform the service proposed and to conform to the provisions of this Article and the requirements, rules and regulations of the Commission thereunder, and that the proposed service, to the extent to be authorized by the license, is or will be consistent with the public interest and policy declared herein.

(e) The Commission shall have the same authority over persons operating under and holding a brokerage license as it has over motor carriers under this Article, and shall require a broker to furnish bond or other security approved by the Commission and sufficient for the protection of travelers by motor vehicle. (1949, c. 1132, s. 13; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-264: Repealed by Session Laws 1995, c. 523, s. 19.

§ 62-265. Emergency operating authority.

To meet unforeseen emergencies, the Commission may, upon its own initiative, or upon written request by any person, department or agency of the State, or of any county, city or town, with or without a hearing, grant appropriate authority to any owner of a duly licensed vehicle or vehicles, whether such owner holds a certificate or not, to transport passengers or household goods between such points, or within such area during the period of the emergency and to the extent necessary to relieve the same, as the Commission may fix in its order granting such authority; provided, that unless the emergency is declared by the General Assembly or under its authority, the Commission shall find from such request, or from its own knowledge or conditions, that a real emergency exists and that relief to the extent authorized in its order is immediate, pressing and necessary in the public interest, and that the carrier so authorized has the necessary equipment and is willing to perform the emergency service as prescribed by the order. In all cases, under this section, the Commission shall first afford the holders of certificates operating in the territory affected an opportunity to render the emergency service. Upon the termination of the emergency, the operating privileges so granted shall automatically expire and the Commission shall forthwith withdraw all operating privileges granted to any person under this section. (1947, c. 1008, s. 17; 1949, c. 1132, s. 17; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1995, c. 523, s. 20.)

§ 62-266: Repealed by Session Laws 1985, c. 454, s. 13.

§ 62-267. Deviation from regular route operations.

(a) A common carrier of passengers by motor vehicle operating under a certificate issued by the Commission may occasionally deviate from the routes over which it is authorized to operate under the certificate, under such general or special rules and regulations as the Commission may prescribe.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1995, c. 523, s. 21.

(c) In no event shall the operation of empty equipment by any carrier over any route or highway be construed as a violation of the rights of any carrier. (1947, c. 1008, s. 18; 1949, c. 1132, s. 18; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1995, c. 523, s. 21.)

§ 62-268. Security for protection of public; liability insurance.

No certificate or broker's license shall be issued or remain in force until the applicant shall have procured and filed with the Division of Motor Vehicles such security bond, insurance or self-insurance for the protection of the public as the Commission shall by regulation require. The Commission shall require that every motor carrier for which a certificate or license is required by the provisions of this Chapter, shall maintain liability insurance or satisfactory surety of at least fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) because of bodily injury to or death of one person in any one accident and, subject to said limit for one person, one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) because of bodily injury to or death of two or more persons in any one accident, and fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) because of injury to or destruction of property of others in any one accident; and the Commission may require any greater amount of insurance as may be necessary for the protection of the public. Notwithstanding any rule or regulation to the contrary, the Commission shall not require that any insurance procured and filed be provided in any single policy of insurance or through a single insurer, if the insurers involved are otherwise qualified. A motor carrier may satisfy the requirements of the Commission by procuring insurance with coverage and limits of liability required by the Commission in one or more policies of insurance issued by one or more insurers.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section or Chapter, bus companies shall file with the Commission proof of financial responsibility in the form of bonds, policies of insurance, or shall qualify as a self insurer, with minimum levels of financial responsibility as prescribed for motor carriers of passengers pursuant to the provisions of 49 U.S.C. § 31138. Provided, further, that no bus company operating solely within the State of North Carolina and which is exempt from regulation under the provisions of G.S. 62-260(a)(7) shall be required to file with the Commission proof of the financial responsibility in excess of one million five hundred thousand dollars ($1,500,000). (1947, c. 1008, s. 19; 1949, c. 1132, s. 19; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1973, c. 1206; 1977, c. 920; 1985, c. 454, s. 14; c. 676, s. 22; 1987, c. 374; 1995, c. 523, s. 22; 1998-217, s. 8.)

§ 62-269. Accounts, records and reports.

The Commission may prescribe the forms of any and all accounts, records and memoranda to be kept by motor carriers, brokers, and lessors, including the accounts, records, and memoranda of the movement of traffic, as well as of the receipts and expenditures of moneys; and it shall be unlawful for such carriers, brokers, and lessors, to keep any accounts, records, and memoranda contrary to any rules, regulations, or orders of the Commission with respect thereto. The Commission may issue orders specifying such operating, accounting, or financial papers, records, books, blanks, stubs, correspondence, or documents of motor carriers, brokers, or lessors, as may after a reasonable time be destroyed, and prescribing the length of time they shall be preserved. The Commission or its duly authorized special agents, accountants, or examiners shall at all times have access to and authority, under its order, to inspect and examine any and all lands, buildings, or equipment of motor carriers, brokers, and lessors; and shall have authority to inspect and copy any and all accounts, books, records, memoranda, correspondence, and other documents of such carriers, brokers, and lessors, and such accounts, books, records, memoranda, correspondence, and other documents of any person controlling, controlled by, or under common control with any such carrier, as the Commission deems relevant to such person's relation to or transactions with such carrier. Motor carriers, brokers, lessors, and persons shall submit their accounts, books, records, memoranda, correspondence, and other documents for the inspection and copying authorized by this section, and motor carriers, brokers, and lessors, shall submit their lands, buildings, and equipment for examination and inspection, to any duly authorized special agent, accountant, auditor, inspector, or examiner of the Commission upon demand and the display of proper credentials. (1947, c. 1008, s. 28; 1949, c. 1132, s. 25; 1959, c. 639, ss. 5, 6, 9, 10; 1961, c. 472, s. 10; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-270. Orders, notices, and service of process.

It shall be the duty of every motor carrier operating under a certificate issued under the provisions of this Article to file with the Division of Motor Vehicles a designation in writing of the name and post-office address of a person upon whom service of notices or orders may be made under this Article. Such designation may from time to time be changed by like writing similarly filed. Service of notice or orders in proceedings under this Article may be made upon a motor carrier by personal service upon it or upon the person so designated by it, or by registered mail, return receipt requested, or by certified mail with return receipt requested, addressed to it or to such person at the address filed. In proceedings before the Commission involving the lawfulness of rates, charges, classifications, or practices, service of notice upon the person or agent who has filed a tariff or schedule in behalf of such carrier shall be deemed to be due and sufficient service upon the carrier. (1947, c. 1008, s. 29; 1949, c. 1132, s. 26; 1957, c. 1152, ss. 6, 11; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1985, c. 454, s. 15; 1995, c. 523, s. 23.)

§ 62-271. Collection of rates and charges of motor carriers of household goods.

No common carriers of household goods by motor vehicle shall deliver or relinquish possession at destination of any freight transported by it in intrastate commerce until all tariff rates and charges thereon have been paid, except under such rules and regulations as the Commission may from time to time prescribe to govern the settlement of all such rates and charges, including rules and regulations for weekly or monthly settlement, and to prevent unjust discrimination or undue preference or prejudice; provided, that the provisions of this section shall not be construed to prohibit any such carrier from extending credit in connection with rates and charges on freight transported for the United States, for any department, bureau, or agency thereof, or for the State, or political subdivision thereof. Where any common carrier by motor vehicle is instructed by a shipper or consignor to deliver household goods transported by such carrier to a consignee other than the shipper or consignor, such consignee shall not be legally liable for transportation charges in respect of the transportation of such household goods (beyond those billed against him at the time of delivery for which he is otherwise liable) which may be found to be due after the household goods have been delivered to him, if the consignee (i) is an agent only and had no beneficial title in the household goods, and (ii) prior to delivery of the household goods has notified the delivering carrier in writing of the fact of such agency and absence of beneficial title, and, in the case of shipment reconsigned or diverted to a point other than that specified in the original bill of lading, has also notified the delivering carrier in writing of the name and address of the beneficial owner of the household goods. In such cases the shipper and consignor, or, in the case of a shipment so reconsigned or diverted, the beneficial owner shall be liable for such additional charges, irrespective of any provisions to the contrary in the bill of lading or in the contract under which the shipment was made. If the consignee has given to the carrier erroneous information as to who is the beneficial owner, such consignee shall himself be liable for such additional charges, notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section. On shipments reconsigned or diverted by an agent who has furnished the carrier with a notice of agency and the proper name and address of the beneficial owner, and where such shipments are refused or abandoned at ultimate destination, the said beneficial owner shall be liable for all legally applicable charges in connection therewith. (1947, c. 1008, s. 31; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1995, c. 523, s. 24.)

§ 62-272. Allowance to shippers for transportation services.

If the owner of household goods transported under the provisions of this Article directly or indirectly renders any service connected with such transportation, or furnishes any instrumentality used therein, the charge and allowance therefor shall be published in the tariffs or schedules filed in the manner provided in this Article and shall be no more than is just and reasonable; and the Commission may, after hearing on a complaint or on its own initiative, determine what is a reasonable charge as the maximum to be paid by the carrier or carriers for the services so rendered or for the use of the instrumentality so furnished, and fix the same by appropriate order. (1947, c. 1008, s. 32; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1995, c. 523, s. 25.)

§ 62-273. Embezzlement of C.O.D. shipments.

Household goods received by any motor carrier to be transported in intrastate commerce and delivered upon collection on such delivery and remittance to the shipper of the sum of money stated in the shipping instructions to be collected and remitted to the shipper, and the money collected upon delivery of such party, are hereby declared to be held in trust by any carrier having possession thereof or the carrier making the delivery or collection, and upon failure of any such carrier to account for the household goods so received, either to the shipper to whom the collection is payable or the carrier making delivery to any carrier handling the household goods or making the collection, within 15 days after demand in writing by the shipper, or carrier, or upon failure of the delivering carrier to remit the sum so directed to be collected and remitted to the shipper, within 15 days after collection is made, shall be prima facie evidence that the household goods so received, or the funds so received, have been wilfully converted by such carrier to its own use, and the carrier so offending shall be guilty of a Class H felony and such carrier may be indicted, tried, and punished in the county in which such shipment was delivered to the carrier or in any other county into or through which such shipment was transported by such carrier. (1947, c. 1008, s. 33; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 1277; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c); 1995, c. 523, s. 26.)

CASE NOTES

The lessor-holders of a certificate of convenience and necessity are liable and answerable jointly with the lessee-operator to the shipper for losses sustained by reason of wrongful conversion of C.O.D. moneys collected by the lessee-operator company. Hough-Wylie Co. v. Lucas, 236 N.C. 90, 72 S.E.2d 11 (1952).

§ 62-274. Evidence; joinder of surety.

No report by any carrier of any accident arising in the course of the operations of such carrier, made pursuant to any requirement of the Commission, and no report by the Commission of any investigation of any such accident, shall be admitted as evidence, or used for any other purpose in any suit or action for damages growing out of any matter mentioned in such report or investigation; nor shall the discharge by any carrier of any truck driver or other employee after any such accident be offered or admitted in evidence for any purpose, in any suit or action against such carrier for damages arising out of any such accident; nor shall any insurance company or surety executing any insurance policy, bond, or other security for the protection of the public, as provided in G.S. 62-268, or as provided in G.S. 62-112, be joined with the assured carrier in any action or suit for damages, debt, or claim thereby secured; nor shall evidence of any such policy, bond, or other security be offered or received in any such action or suit against the carrier, but the surety or insurer shall be obligated within the amount of such policy, bond or other security to pay any final judgment against the carrier. (1947, c. 1008, s. 34; 1949, c. 1132, s. 31; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

No North Carolina statute other than this section authorizes or prohibits suit against a liability insurer alone or jointly with its insured by a person allegedly injured by the negligence of the insured. Jones v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 270 N.C. 454, 155 S.E.2d 118 (1967).

§ 62-275: Repealed by Session Laws 1985, c. 676, s. 23.

§ 62-276. Construction of Article.

Nothing herein contained shall be construed to relieve any motor carrier from any regulation otherwise imposed by law or lawful authority, and this Article shall not be construed to relieve any such motor carrier from any obligation or duty imposed by Chapter 20 of the General Statutes of North Carolina. (1949, c. 1132, s. 35; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-277: Repealed by Session Laws 1985, c. 454, s. 16.

§ 62-278. Revocation of license plates by Utilities Commission.

(a) The license plates of any carrier of persons or household goods by motor vehicle for compensation may be revoked and removed from the vehicles of any such carrier for wilful violation of any provision of this Chapter, or for the wilful violation of any lawful rule or regulation made and promulgated by the Utilities Commission. To that end the Commission shall have power upon complaint or upon its own motion, after notice and hearing, to order the license plates of any such offending carrier revoked and removed from the vehicles of such carrier for a period not exceeding 30 days, and it shall be the duty of the Department of Motor Vehicles to execute such orders made by the Utilities Commission upon receipt of a certified copy of the same.

(b) This section shall be in addition to and independent of other provisions of law for the enforcement of the motor carrier laws of this State. (1951, c. 1120; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1995, c. 523, s. 27.)

§ 62-279. Injunction for unlawful operations.

If any motor carrier, or any other person or corporation, shall operate a motor vehicle in violation of any provision of this Chapter applicable to motor carriers or motor vehicles generally, except as to the reasonableness of rates or charges and the discriminatory character thereof, or shall operate in violation of any rule, regulation, requirement or order of the Commission, or of any term or condition of any certificate, the Commission or any holder of a certificate duly issued by the Commission may apply to a superior court judge who has jurisdiction pursuant to G.S. 7A-47.1 or 7A-48 in the district or set of districts as defined in G.S. 7A-41.1 in which the motor carrier or other person or corporation so operates, for the enforcement of any provisions of this Article, or of any rule, regulation, requirement, order, term or condition of the Commission. Such court shall have jurisdiction to enforce obedience to this Article or to any rule, order, or decision of the Commission by a writ of injunction or other process, mandatory or otherwise, restraining such carrier, person or corporation, or its officers, agents, employees and representatives from further violation of this Article or of any rule, order, regulation, or decision of the Commission. (1947, c. 1008, s. 30; 1949, c. 1132, s. 30; 1953, c. 1140, s. 4; 1957, c. 1152, s. 16; 1961, c. 472, ss. 8, 11; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1987 (Reg. Sess., 1988), c. 1037, s. 95; 1995, c. 523, s. 28.)

Restraining Illegal Operation Along Route. — A franchise carrier may maintain an action in the superior court to restrain another carrier from illegal operation along his route without a certificate or permit from the Utilities Commission, when such illegal operation by such other carrier interferes with its franchise rights. § 62-289.2. Purpose.

In order to promote improved transportation for the elderly, handicapped and residents of rural areas and small towns through an expanded and coordinated transportation network, it is the intent of the General Assembly to recognize human service transportation and volunteer transportation as separate but contributing components of the North Carolina transportation system. Further, it is the intent of the General Assembly to remove barriers to low cost human service transportation. (1981, c. 792, s. 1.)

§ 62-289.3. Definitions.

As used in this Article:

(1) "Human service agency" means any charitable or governmental agency including, but not limited to: county departments of social services, area mental health, mental retardation or substance abuse authorities, local health departments, councils on aging, community action agencies, sheltered workshops, group homes and State residential institutions.

(2) "Human service transportation" means motor vehicle transportation provided on a nonprofit basis by a human service agency for the purpose of transporting clients or recipients in connection with programs sponsored by the agency. "Human service transportation" shall also mean motor vehicle transportation provided by for-profit persons under exclusive contract with a human service agency for the transportation of clients or recipients, and such provider shall also qualify as a human service agency for the purpose of motor vehicle registration during the term of the contract. The motor vehicle may be owned, leased, borrowed, or contracted for use by or from the human service agency.

(3) "Nonprofit" as applied to human service transportation means motor vehicle transportation provided at cost.

(4) "Person" means an individual, corporation, company, association, partnership or other legal entity.

(5) "Volunteer transportation" means motor vehicle transportation provided by any person under the direction, sponsorship, or supervision of a human service agency. The person may receive an allowance to defray the actual cost of operating the vehicle but shall not receive any other compensation. (1981, c. 792, s. 1; 1987, c. 407.)

§ 62-289.4. Classification of transportation.

The forms of transportation defined in G.S. 62-289.3(2) and (5) shall be classified as "human service transportation" and "volunteer transportation" for purposes of regulation, insurance, and general administration. (1981, c. 792, s. 1.)

§ 62-289.5. Inapplicable laws and regulations.

Human services transportation and volunteer transportation shall not be considered as for-hire transportation, commercial transportation or motor carriers, as defined by G.S. 62-3(17). Such transportation shall not be subject to regulation as motor carriers under G.S. 62-261. (1981, c. 792, s. 1.)

§ 62-289.6. Insurance for volunteers.

Human service agencies are authorized to purchase insurance to cover persons who provide volunteer transportation. (1981, c. 792, s. 1.)

§ 62-289.7. Municipal licenses and taxes.

No county, city, town, municipal corporation or other unit of local government may impose a special tax on or require a special license for human service transportation or volunteer transportation other than that customarily used or imposed on private passenger automobiles unless the tax or license is provided for by a statute, ordinance, or regulation specifically addressing human service transportation or volunteer transportation. (1981, c. 792, s. 1.)

Article 13.

Reorganization of Public Utilities.

§ 62-290. Corporations whose property and franchises sold under order of court or execution.

When the property and franchises of a public utility corporation are sold under a judgment or decree of a court of this State, or of the district court of the United States, or under execution, to satisfy a mortgage debt or other encumbrance thereon, such sale vests in the purchaser all the right, title, interest and property of the parties to the action in which such judgment or decree was made, to said property and franchises, subject to all the conditions, limitations and restrictions of the corporation; and the purchaser and his associates thereupon become a new corporation, by such name as they select, and they are the stockholders in the ratio of the purchase money by them contributed; and are entitled to all the rights and franchises and subject to all the conditions, limitations and penalties of the corporation whose property and franchises have been so sold. In the event of the sale of a railroad in foreclosure of a mortgage or deed of trust, whether under a decree of court or otherwise, the corporation created by or in consequence of the sale succeeds to all the franchises, rights and privileges of the original corporation only when the sale is of all the railroad owned by the company and described in the mortgage or deed of trust, and when the railroad is sold as an entirety. If a purchaser at any such sale is a corporation, such purchasing corporation shall succeed to all the properties, franchises, powers, rights, and privileges of the original corporation: Provided, that this shall not affect vested rights and shall not be construed to alter in any manner the public policy of the State now or hereafter established with reference to trusts and contracts in restraint of trade. (Code, ss. 697, 698; 1897, c. 305; 1901, c. 2, s. 99; Rev., s. 1238; 1913, c. 25, s. 1; 1919, c. 75; C.S., s. 1221; 1955, c. 1371, s. 2; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Legal Periodicals. — For a comment on the acquisition, abandonment, and preservation of rail corridors in North Carolina, see 75 N.C.L. Rev. 1989 (1997).

§ 62-291. New owners to meet and organize; special rule for railroads.

(a) The persons for whom the property and franchises have been purchased pursuant to G.S. 62-290 shall meet within 30 days after the delivery of the conveyance made by virtue of said judgment or decree, and organize the new corporation, 10 days' written notice of the time and place of the meeting having been given to each of said persons. At this meeting they shall adopt a corporate name and seal, determine the amount of the capital stock of the corporation, and shall have power and authority to make and issue certificates of stock in shares of such amounts as they see fit. The corporation may then, or at any time thereafter, create and issue preferred stock to such an amount, and at such time, as they may deem necessary.

(b) Whenever the purchaser of the real estate, track and fixtures of any railroad corporation which has heretofore been sold, or may hereafter be sold, by virtue of any mortgage executed by such corporation or execution issued upon any judgment or decree of any court, shall acquire title to the same in the manner prescribed by law, such purchaser may associate with him any number of persons, and make and acknowledge and file articles of association as prescribed by this Chapter. Such purchaser and his associates shall thereupon be a new corporation, with all the powers, privileges and franchises and subject to all of the provisions of this Chapter.

(c) When any railroad corporation shall be dissolved, or its property sold and conveyed under any execution, deed of trust, mortgage or other conveyance, the owner or purchaser shall constitute a new corporation upon compliance with law. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 5; Code, ss. 1936, 2005; 1901, c. 2, ss. 100, 101, 102; Rev., ss. 1239, 1240, 2552, 2565; C.S., ss. 1222, 3462, 3463; 1955, c. 1371, s. 2; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

Legal Periodicals. — For a comment on the acquisition, abandonment, and preservation of rail corridors in North Carolina, see 75 N.C.L. Rev. 1989 (1997).

CASE NOTES

Railroad May Be Sold. — A railroad is the subject of private property, and in that character is liable to be sold, unless the sale be forbidden by the legislature; not the franchise, but the land itself constituting the road. State v. Rives, 27 N.C. 297 (1844).

A railroad corporation is not dissolved by the sale of its road. State v. Rives, 27 N.C. 297 (1844).

When Sale Effects Dissolution. — In order that the sale of the franchise and property of a railroad corporation under mortgage shall have the effect of a dissolution of such corporation, another corporation must be provided to take its place and assume and discharge the obligations to the public growing out of the grant of the franchise; until that is done the old corporation continues to exist, and when it is done the new corporation will be a domestic corporation. James v. Western N.C.R.R., 121 N.C. 523, 28 S.E. 537 (1897).

Effect of Sale Under Second Mortgage. — The sale of a railroad under a second mortgage and a conveyance thereunder, subject to the first mortgage upon its franchise and corporate property, did not extinguish the corporate existence of the company nor release it from liability to the public for the manner in which it was operated. James v. Western N.C.R.R., 121 N.C. 523, 28 S.E. 537 (1897).

The effect of the sale of a railroad company's franchises and property under a second mortgage, subject to a first mortgage which was assumed by the purchaser, was to place the purchaser in the place of the mortgagor in its relation to the trustee of the first mortgage, with the right to run and operate the road as agent of the mortgagor; however, the old corporation was not extinguished, but was still in existence and liable for damages caused by the maladministration of its agent, which liability could be enforced against the property which it allowed the purchaser to use. James v. Western N.C.R.R., 121 N.C. 523, 28 S.E. 537 (1897).

Purchaser Takes Rights of Old Company. — On the foreclosure of a mortgage given by a railroad company, the purchaser takes the rights that the company had acquired in relation to its right-of-way under its charter.

Barker v. Southern R.R., 137 N.C. 214, 49 S.E. 115 (1904).

The legislative purpose is that the property of railroads must be kept in association with their franchises, to preserve value, to give credit to such corporations, to secure creditors, and to keep railroads in operation for the benefit of the public, which was the primary object of the legislature in bestowing such corporate franchises. Bradley v. Ohio R. & C. Ry., 78 F. 387 (W.D.N.C. 1896).

§ 62-292. Certificate to be filed with Secretary of State.

It is the duty of the new corporation provided for by this Article, within one month after its organization, to make certificate thereof, under its common seal, attested by the signature of its president, specifying the date of the organization, the name adopted, the amount of capital stock, and the names of its president and directors, and transmit the certificate to the Secretary of State, to be filed and recorded in his office. A certified copy of this certificate so filed shall be recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which is located the principal office of the corporation, and is the charter and evidence of the corporate existence of the new corporation. (1901, c. 2, s. 103; Rev., s. 1241; C.S., s. 1223; 1955, c. 1371, s. 2; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-293. Effect on liens and other rights.

Nothing contained in this Article in any manner impairs the lien of a prior mortgage, or other encumbrance, upon the property or franchises conveyed under a sale pursuant to this Article when by the terms of the judgment or decree under which the sale was made, or by operation of law, the sale was made subject to the lien of any such prior mortgage or other encumbrance. No such sale and conveyance or organization of such new corporation in any way affects the rights of any person or body politic not a party to the action in which the judgment or decree was made, nor of any party except as determined by the judgment or decree. When a trustee has been made a party to such action and his cestui que trust, for reason satisfactory to the court, has not been made a party thereto, the rights and interest of the cestui que trust are concluded by the decree. § 62-301: Repealed by Session Laws 1989, c. 787, s. 2.

§ 62-302. Regulatory fee.

(a) Fee Imposed. — It is the policy of the State of North Carolina to provide fair regulation of public utilities in the interest of the public, as provided in G.S. 62-2. The cost of regulating public utilities is a burden incident to the privilege of operating as a public utility. Therefore, for the purpose of defraying the cost of regulating public utilities, every public utility subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission shall pay a quarterly regulatory fee, in addition to all other fees and taxes, as provided in this section. The fees collected shall be used only to pay the expenses of the Commission and the Public Staff in regulating public utilities in the interest of the public.

It is also the policy of the State to provide limited oversight of certain electric membership corporations as provided in G.S. 62-53. Therefore, for the purpose of defraying the cost of providing the oversight authorized by G.S. 62-53 and G.S. 117-18.1, each fiscal year each electric membership corporation whose principal purpose is to furnish or cause to be furnished bulk electric supplies at wholesale as provided in G.S. 117-16 shall pay an annual fee as provided in this section.

(b) Public Utility Rate. —

(1) Repealed by Session Laws 2000, c. 140, s. 56, effective July 21, 2000.

(2) The public utility regulatory fee for each fiscal year shall be the greater of (i) a percentage rate, established by the General Assembly, of each public utility's North Carolina jurisdictional revenues for each quarter or (ii) six dollars and twenty-five cents ($6.25) each quarter.

When the Commission prepares its budget request for the upcoming fiscal year, the Commission shall propose a percentage rate of the public utility regulatory fee. For fiscal years beginning in an odd-numbered year, that proposed rate shall be included in the budget message the Governor submits to the General Assembly pursuant to G.S. 143-11. For fiscal years beginning in an even-numbered year, that proposed rate shall be included in a special budget message the Governor shall submit to the General Assembly. The General Assembly shall set the percentage rate of the public utility regulatory fee by law.

The percentage rate may not exceed the amount necessary to generate funds sufficient to defray the estimated cost of the operations of the Commission and the Public Staff for the upcoming fiscal year, including a reasonable margin for a reserve fund. The amount of the reserve may not exceed the estimated cost of operating the Commission and the Public Staff for the upcoming fiscal year. In calculating the amount of the reserve, the General Assembly shall consider all relevant factors that may affect the cost of operating the Commission or the Public Staff or a possible unanticipated increase or decrease in North Carolina jurisdictional revenues.

(3) If the Commission, the Public Staff, or both experience a revenue shortfall, the Commission shall implement a temporary public utility regulatory fee surcharge to avert the deficiency that would otherwise occur. In no event may the total percentage rate of the public utility regulatory fee plus any surcharge established by the Commission exceed twenty-five hundredths percent (0.25%).

(4) As used in this section, the term "North Carolina jurisdictional revenues" means all revenues derived or realized from intrastate tariffs, rates, and charges approved or allowed by the Commission or collected pursuant to Commission order or rule, but not including tap-on fees or any other form of contributions in aid of construction.

(b1) Electric Membership Corporation Rate. — The electric membership corporation regulatory fee for each fiscal year shall be a dollar amount as established by the General Assembly by law.

When the Commission prepares its budget request for the upcoming fiscal year, the Commission shall propose the amount of the electric membership corporation regulatory fee. For fiscal years beginning in an odd-numbered year, the proposed amount shall be included in the budget message the Governor submits to the General Assembly pursuant to G.S. 143-11. For fiscal years beginning in an even-numbered year, the proposed amount shall be included in a special budget message the Governor shall submit to the General Assembly.

The amount of the electric membership corporation regulatory fee proposed by the Commission may not exceed the amount necessary to defray the estimated cost of the operations of the Commission and the Public Staff for the regulation of the electric membership corporations in the upcoming fiscal year, including a reasonable margin for a reserve fund. The amount of the reserve may not exceed the estimated cost of the Commission and the Public Staff for the regulation of the electric membership corporations for the upcoming fiscal year.

(c) When Due. — The electric membership corporation regulatory fee imposed under this section shall be paid in quarterly installments. The fee is due and payable to the Commission on or before the 15th day of the second month following the end of each quarter.

The public utility regulatory fee imposed under this section is due and payable to the Commission on or before the 15th day of the second month following the end of each quarter. Every public utility subject to the public utility regulatory fee shall, on or before the date the fee is due for each quarter, prepare and render a report on a form prescribed by the Commission. The report shall state the public utility's total North Carolina jurisdictional revenues for the preceding quarter and shall be accompanied by any supporting documentation that the Commission may by rule require. Receipts shall be reported on an accrual basis.

If a public utility's report for the first quarter of any fiscal year shows that application of the percentage rate would yield a quarterly fee of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) or less, the public utility shall pay an estimated fee for the entire fiscal year in the amount of twenty-five dollars ($25.00). If, after payment of the estimated fee, the public utility's subsequent returns show that application of the percentage rate would yield quarterly fees that total more than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) for the entire fiscal year, the public utility shall pay the cumulative amount of the fee resulting from application of the percentage rate, to the extent it exceeds the amount of fees, other than any surcharge, previously paid.

(d) Use of Proceeds. — A special fund in the office of State Treasurer, the Utilities Commission and Public Staff Fund, is created. The fees collected pursuant to this section and all other funds received by the Commission or the Public Staff, except for the clear proceeds of civil penalties collected pursuant to G.S. 62-50(d) and the clear proceeds of funds forfeited pursuant to G.S. 62-310(a), shall be deposited in the Utilities Commission and Public Staff Fund. The Fund shall be placed in an interest bearing account and any interest or other income derived from the Fund shall be credited to the Fund. Moneys in the Fund shall only be spent pursuant to appropriation by the General Assembly.

The Utilities Commission and Public Staff Fund shall be subject to the provisions of the Executive Budget Act except that no unexpended surplus of the Fund shall revert to the General Fund. All funds credited to the Utilities Commission and Public Staff Fund shall be used only to pay the expenses of the Commission and the Public Staff in regulating public utilities in the interest of the public as provided by this Chapter and in regulating electric membership corporations as provided in G.S. 117-18.1.

The clear proceeds of civil penalties collected pursuant to G.S. 62-50(d) and the clear proceeds of funds forfeited pursuant to G.S. 62-310(a) shall be remitted to the Civil Penalty and Forfeiture Fund in accordance with G.S. 115C-457.2. (1989, c. 787, s. 1; 1998-215, s. 126; 1999-180, s. 5; 2000-140, s. 56.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1997-483, s. 10.1, effective July 1, 1997, as amended by 1999-395, s. 6.1, effective retroactively to June 30, 1999, and Session Laws 2000-67, s. 14.10, effective July 1, 2000, provides: "Notwithstanding G.S. 62-302(d), for the Study Commission on the Future of Electric Service in North Carolina, established in S.L. 1997-40, as amended by S.L. 1999-122, all expenses incurred through June 30, 2006, shall be reimbursed from funds in the Utilities Commission and Public Staff Fund. There is allocated initially one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) from the Utilities Commission and Public Staff Fund to the General Assembly for the purpose of enabling the Study Commission on the Future of Electric Service in North Carolina to organize and begin its work. Upon the certification of the need for additional funds by the cochairs of the Study Commission on the Future of Electric Service in North Carolina for the work of the Commission, the Utilities Commission shall transfer the additional funds from the Utilities Commission and Public Staff Fund to the General Assembly for that purpose."

Session Laws 1997-483, s. 17.1, provides: "Except as otherwise specifically provided, this act becomes effective July 1, 1997. If a study is authorized both in this act and the Current Operations Appropriations Act of 1997 [Session Laws 1997-443], the study shall be implemented in accordance with the Current Operations Appropriations Act of 1997 as ratified."

Session Laws 1997-483, s. 1, provides: "This act shall be known as 'The Studies Act of 1997'".

Session Laws 1999-180, s. 7 provides that four years after this act (S.L. 1999-180) becomes law (June 16, 1999), the Utilities Commission shall report to the Joint Legislative Utility Review Committee on activities the Commission has conducted pursuant to the provisions of this act. The report shall contain the Utilities Commission's recommendations, if any, with regard to any action to be taken by the General Assembly.

Session Laws 1999-395, s. 1, provides that 1999-395 shall be known as "The Studies Act of 1999."

Session Laws 2000-67, s. 28.2, provides: "Except for statutory changes or other provisions that clearly indicate an intention to have effects beyond the 2000-2001 fiscal year, the textual provisions of this act apply only to funds appropriated for, and activities occurring during, the 2000-2001 fiscal year."

Session Laws 2000-109, s. 1, effective July 1, 2000, provides that the percentage rate to be used in calculating the public utility regulatory fee under § 62-302(b)(2) is nine-hundredths percent (0.09%) for each public utility's North Carolina jurisdictional revenues earned during each quarter beginning on or after July 1, 2000.

For prior similar provisions regarding the percentage rate to be used in calculating the public utility regulatory fee, see Session Laws 1989, c. 937, s. 1, Session Laws 1991, c. 689, s. 143, Session Laws 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 811, s. 8, Session Laws 1993, c. 320, s. 1, Session Laws 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c 664, s. 2, Session Laws 1995, c. 178, s. 2(a), Session Laws 1995 (Reg. Article 15.

Penalties and Actions.

§ 62-310. Public utility violating any provision of Chapter, rules or orders; penalty; enforcement by injunction.

(a) Any public utility which violates any of the provisions of this Chapter or refuses to conform to or obey any rule, order or regulation of the Commission shall, in addition to the other penalties prescribed in this Chapter forfeit and pay a sum up to one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each offense, to be recovered in an action to be instituted in the Superior Court of Wake County, in the name of the State of North Carolina on the relation of the Utilities Commission; and each day such public utility continues to violate any provision of this Chapter or continues to refuse to obey or perform any rule, order or regulation prescribed by the Commission shall be a separate offense.

(b) If any person or corporation shall furnish water or sewer utility service in violation of any provision of this Chapter applicable to water or sewer utilities, except as to the reasonableness of rates or charges and the discriminatory character thereof, or shall provide such service in violation of any rule, regulation or order of the Commission, the Commission shall apply to a superior court judge who has jurisdiction pursuant to G.S. 7A-47.1 or 7A-48 in the district or set of districts as defined in G.S. 7A-41.1 in which the person or corporation so operates, for the enforcement of any provision of this Chapter or of any rule, regulation or order of the Commission. (1899, c. 164, s. 23; Rev., s. 1087; C.S., s. 1106; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; c. 307, ss. 36, 37; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1973, c. 1073; 1987 (Reg. Sess., 1988), c. 1037, s. 96.)

CASE NOTES

Action Ex Contractu. — It would seem that an action against a railroad company for a penalty for a statutory violation is an action ex contractu for breach of an implied contract to perform a statutory duty. State ex rel. Carter v. Wilmington & W.R.R., 126 N.C. 437, 36 S.E. 14 (1900).

Construction of Penal Statute. — The rule that a penal statute must be strictly construed means no more than that the court, in ascertaining the meaning of such a statute, cannot go beyond the plain meaning of the words and phraseology employed in search of an intention not certainly implied by them, and when there is reasonable doubt as to the meaning of the words used in the statute, the court will not give them such an interpretation as to impose the penalty, nor will the purpose of the statute be extended by implication, so as to embrace cases not clearly within its meaning. Hines & Battle v. Wilmington & W.R.R., 95 N.C. 434 (1886).

Cited in State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. United Tank Lines, 34 N.C. App. 543, 239 S.E.2d 266 (1977).

§ 62-311. Willful acts of employees deemed those of public utility.

The willful act of any officer, agent, or employee of a public utility, acting within the scope of his official duties of employment, shall, for the purpose of this Article, be deemed to be the willful act of the utility. (1933, c. 307, s. 29; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-312. Actions to recover penalties.

Except as otherwise provided in this Chapter, an action for the recovery of any penalty under this Chapter shall be instituted in Wake County, and shall be instituted in the name of the State of North Carolina on the relation of the Utilities Commission against the person incurring such penalty; or whenever such action is upon the complaint of any injured person, it shall be instituted in the name of the State of North Carolina on the relation of the Utilities Commission upon the complaint of such injured person against the person incurring such penalty. Such action may be instituted and prosecuted by the Attorney General, the district attorney of the Wake County Superior Court, or the injured person. The procedure in such actions, the right of appeal and the rules regulating appeals shall be the same as provided by law in other civil actions. (Code, s. 1976; 1885, c. 221; 1899, c. 164, ss. 8, 15; Rev., ss. 1092, 1113, 2647; C.S., ss. 1062, 1111, 3415; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; c. 307, s. 30; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1973, c. 47, s. 2.)

CASE NOTES

The penalty prescribed by § 62-200 for failure to transport within a reasonable time is given directly to the party aggrieved, and an action therefor is not required to be brought in the name of the State. Robertson v. Atlantic C.L.R.R., 148 N.C. 323, 62 S.E. 413 (1908).

As to duty of Attorney General under former statute, see Southern Ry. v. McNeill, 155 F. 756 (E.D.N.C. 1907).

Plan requiring compensation to local exchange companies for lost revenues during transition period did not impose a "penalty" or constitute money damages, and could more appropriately be considered as a prerequisite to receiving a certificate. State ex rel. Utils. Comm'n v. Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co., 88 N.C. App. 153, 363 S.E.2d 73 (1987).

§ 62-313. Refusal to permit Commission to inspect records made misdemeanor.

Any public utility, its officers or agents in charge thereof, that fails or refuses upon the written demand of the Commission, or a majority of said Commission, and under the seal of the Commission, to permit the Commission, its authorized representatives or employees to examine and inspect its books, records, accounts and documents, or its plant, property, or facilities, as provided for by law, shall be guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor. Each day of such failure or refusal shall constitute a separate offense and each such offense shall be punishable only by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars ($500.00) and not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000). (1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 483; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 62-314. Violating rules, with injury to others.

If any public utility doing business in this State by its agents or employees shall be guilty of the violation of the rules and regulations provided and prescribed by the Commission, and if after due notice of such violation given to the principal officer thereof, if residing in the State, or, if not, to the manager or superintendent or secretary or treasurer if residing in the State, or, if not, then to any local agent thereof, ample and full recompense for the wrong or injury done thereby to any person as may be directed by the Commission shall not be made within 30 days from the time of such notice, such public utility shall incur a penalty for each offense of five hundred dollars ($500.00). (1899, c. 164, s. 15; Rev., s. 1086; C.S., s. 1105; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Validity. — A statute giving authority to the Commission to proceed in the courts to enforce the penalties prescribed for failure of any railroad company to make full and ample recompense for the violation of rules and regulations, after notice, is valid without providing in detail the methods of procedure. Atlantic Express Co. v. Wilmington & W.R.R., 111 N.C. 463, 16 S.E. 393 (1892).

Duty of Commission to Enforce Rules and Orders. — While the Commission has no power to render a judgment for the payment of money, etc., it is its duty to enforce its rules and orders. State ex rel. N.C. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 147 N.C. 483, 61 S.E. 271 (1908).

Right to Investigate Complaint. — The Commission had the undoubted right and it was eminently proper for it to institute an inquiry and inform itself as to whether a complaint was grounded in truth. The Commission was not required to institute an action for the penalty simply because a citizen feeling himself aggrieved had made a complaint before it. It did have the right to investigate the matter for itself, but the end of such investigation was simply to afford it information and enable it to act intelligently in determining whether it would sue for the penalty given by the statute. State ex rel. N.C. Corp. Comm'n v. Southern Ry., 147 N.C. 483, 61 S.E. 271 (1908).

§ 62-315. Failure to make report; obstructing Commission.

Every officer, agent or employee of any public utility, who shall willfully neglect or refuse to make and furnish any report required by the Commission for the purposes of this Chapter, or who shall willfully or unlawfully hinder, delay or obstruct the Commission in the discharge of the duties hereby imposed upon it, shall forfeit and pay five hundred dollars ($500.00) for each offense, to be recovered in an action in the name of the State. A delay of 10 days to make and furnish such report shall raise the presumption that the same was willful. (1899, c. 164, s. 18; Rev., s. 1089; C.S., s. 1108; 1933, c. 134, s. 8; 1941, c. 97; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Under Code of 1883, s. 1960, which provided a similar penalty against corporations for failure to make returns into court, the penalty could only be recovered in an action brought by the State. A private relator could not maintain the action. State ex rel. Hodge v. Marietta & N.G.R.R., 108 N.C. 24, 12 S.E. 1041 (1891).

§ 62-316. Disclosure of information by employee of Commission unlawful.

It shall be unlawful for any agent or employees of the Commission knowingly and willfully to divulge any fact or information which may come to his knowledge during the course of any examination or inspection made under authority of this Chapter, except as he may be directed by the Commission or by a court or judge thereof. (1947, c. 1008, s. 30; 1949, c. 1132, s. 30; 1953, c. 1140, s. 4; 1957, c. 1152, s. 16; 1961, c. 472, ss. 8, 11; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1971, c. 736, s. 1.)

§ 62-317. Remedies for injuries cumulative.

The remedies given by this Chapter to persons injured shall be regarded as cumulative to the remedies otherwise provided by law against public utilities. (1899, c. 164, s. 26; Rev., s. 1093; C.S., s. 1112; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-318. Allowing or accepting rebates a misdemeanor.

If any person shall participate in illegally pooling freights or shall directly or indirectly allow or accept rebates on freights, he shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1879, c. 237, s. 2; Code, s. 1968; Rev., s. 3762; C.S., s. 3520; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 484; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 62-319. Riding on train unlawfully; venue.

If any person, with the intention of being transported free in violation of law, rides or attempts to ride on top of any car, coach, engine or tender, on any railroad in this State, or on the drawheads between cars, or under cars, on truss rods, or trucks, or in any freight car, or on a platform of any baggage car, express car or mail car on any train, he shall be guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor. Any person charged with a violation of this section may be tried in any county in this State through which such train may pass carrying such person, or in any county in which such violation may have occurred or may be discovered. (1899, c. 625; 1905, c. 32; Rev., s. 3748; C.S., s. 3508; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 485; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

CASE NOTES

Effect on Liability of Insurance Company. — A policy of accident insurance that excepts from the company's full liability "sickness due to immorality or the violation of law" did not of itself exclude such liability for an injury caused by the plaintiff's stealing a ride on a railway train, made a misdemeanor by statute, unless the plaintiff's act was so reckless as to withdraw it from the class of accidents covered by the policy. Poole v. Imperial Mut. Life & Health Ins. Co., 188 N.C. 468, 125 S.E. 8 (1924).

§ 62-320: Repealed by Session Laws 1995, c. 523, s. 30.

§ 62-321. Penalty for nondelivery of intrastate telegraph message.

Any telegraph company doing business in this State that shall fail to transmit and deliver any intrastate message within a reasonable time shall forfeit and pay to anyone who may sue for same a penalty of twenty-five dollars ($25.00). Such penalty shall be in addition to any right of action that any person may have for the recovery of damages. Proof of the sending of any message from one point in this State to another point in this State shall be prima facie evidence that it is an intrastate message. (1919, c. 175; C.S., s. 1704; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Transmission of a message through two states is interstate commerce as a matter of fact. The fact must be tested by the actual transmission, not by whether it was necessary to cross the territory of another state in order to reach the final point. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Speight, 254 U.S. 17, 41 S. Ct. 11, 65 L. Ed. 104 (1920).

§ 62-322. Unauthorized manufacture or sale of switch-lock keys a misdemeanor.

It shall be unlawful for any person to make, manufacture, sell or give away to any other person any duplicate key to any lock used by any railroad company in this State on its switches or switch tracks, except upon the written order of that officer of such railroad company whose duty it is to distribute and issue switch-lock keys to the employees of such railroad company. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1909, c. 795; C.S., s. 3477; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 487; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 62-323. Willful injury to property of public utility a misdemeanor.

If any person shall willfully do or cause to be done any act or acts whatever whereby any building, construction or work of any public utility, or any engine, machine or structure or any matter or thing appertaining to the same shall be stopped, obstructed, impaired, weakened, injured or destroyed, he shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1871-2, c. 138, s. 39; Code, s. 1974; Rev., s. 3756; C.S., s. 3478; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 488; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

Cross References. — As to injury to property of railroads and other carriers, see §§ 14-278, 14-279.

§ 62-324. Disclosure of information as to shipments unlawful.

(a) It shall be unlawful for any common carrier engaged in intrastate commerce or any officer, receiver, trustee, lessee, agent, or employee of such carrier, or for any other person authorized by such carrier, to receive information, knowingly to disclose to, or permit to be acquired by any person other than the shipper or consignee without the consent of such shipper or consignee, any information concerning the nature, kind, quantity, destination, consignee, or routing of any property tendered or delivered to such common carrier for such transportation, which information may be used to the detriment or prejudice of such shipper or consignee, or which may improperly disclose his business transactions to a competitor; and it shall also be unlawful for any person to solicit or knowingly receive any such information which may be so used.

(b) Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the giving of such information in response to any legal process issued under the authority of any court, or any officer or agent of the State or of the government of the United States, in the exercise of his power, or to any officer or other duly authorized person seeking such information for the prosecution of persons charged with or suspected of crimes or to another carrier, or its duly authorized agent, for the purpose of adjusting mutual traffic accounts in the ordinary course of business of such carriers. (1947, c. 1008, s. 30; 1961, c. 472, s. 8; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1.)

§ 62-325. Unlawful motor carrier operations.

(a) Any person, whether carrier, passenger, shipper, consignee, or any officer, employee, agent, or representative thereof, who shall knowingly offer, grant, or give or solicit, accept, or receive any rebate, concession, or discrimination in violation of any provision of this Chapter, or who by means of any false statement or representation, or by the use of any false or fictitious bill, bill of lading, receipt, voucher, roll, account, claim, certificate, affidavit, deposition, lease, or bill of sale, or by any other means or device, shall knowingly and willfully by any such means or otherwise fraudulently seek to evade or defeat regulations as in this Chapter provided for motor carriers, shall be deemed guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof only be fined not more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) for the first offense and not more than two thousand dollars ($2,000) for any subsequent offense.

(b) Any motor carrier, or other person, or any officer, agent, employee, or representative thereof, who shall willfully fail or refuse to make a report to the Commission as required by this Article, or other applicable law, or to make specific and full, true, and correct answer to any question within 30 days from the time it is lawfully required by the Commission so to do, or to keep accounts, records, and memoranda in the form and manner prescribed by the Commission, or shall knowingly and willfully falsify, destroy, mutilate, or alter any such report, account, record, or memorandum, or shall knowingly and willfully neglect or fail to make true and correct entries in such accounts, records, or memoranda of all facts and transactions appertaining to the business of the carrier, or person required under this Article to keep the same, or shall knowingly and willfully keep any accounts, records, or memoranda contrary to the rules, regulations, or orders of the Commission with respect thereto, shall be deemed guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof only be subject for each offense to a fine of not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000). As used in this subsection the words "kept" and "keep" shall be construed to mean made, prepared, or compiled, as well as retained. It shall be the duty of the Commission to prescribe and enforce such general rules and regulations as it may deem necessary to compel all motor carriers to keep accurate records of all revenue received by them to the end that any tax levied and assessed by the State of North Carolina upon revenues may be collected. Any agent or employee of a motor carrier who shall willfully and knowingly make a false report or record of fares, charges, or other revenue received by a carrier or collected in its behalf shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor.

(c) Any person who, at any bus terminal, solicits or otherwise attempts to induce any person to use some form of transportation for compensation other than that lawfully using said terminal premises by contract with the terminal operator or by valid order of the Commission shall be guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor. (1947, c. 1008, s. 30; 1949, c. 1132, s. 30; 1953, c. 1140, s. 4; 1957, c. 1152, s. 16; 1961, c. 472, ss. 8, 11; 1963, c. 1165, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 489; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 62-326. Furnishing false information to the Commission; withholding information from the Commission.

(b) Every person, firm, or corporation operating under the jurisdiction of the Utilities Commission or who is required by law to file reports with the Commission who shall willfully withhold clearly specified and reasonably obtainable information from the Commission in any report, response, reply or statement filed with the Commission in the performance of the duties of the Commission or who shall fail or refuse to file any report, response, reply or statement required by the Commission in the performance of the duties of the Commission shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1969, c. 765, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 490; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 62-327. Gifts to members of Commission, Commission employees, or public staff.

It shall be unlawful for any officer, agent, employee, or attorney of any public utility or any public utility holding company, subsidiary, or affiliated company, to knowingly offer or make to any member of the Commission, Commission staff, or public staff, any gift of money, property, or anything of value. It shall be unlawful for any member of the Commission, Commission staff, or public staff to knowingly accept any gift of money, property, or anything of value from any officer, agent, employee, or attorney of any public utility or any public utility holding company, subsidiary, or affiliated company; provided, however, that it shall not be unlawful for members of the Commission, Commission staff, or public staff to attend public breakfasts, lunches, dinners, or banquets sponsored by such entities. Article 16.

Security Provisions.

§ 62-333. Screening employment applications.

The Chief Personnel Officer or his designee of any public utility franchised to do business in North Carolina shall be permitted to obtain from the State Bureau of Investigation a confidential copy of criminal history record information for screening an applicant for employment with or an employee of a utility or utility contractor where the employment or job to be performed falls within a class or category of positions certified by the North Carolina Utilities Commission as permitting or requiring access to nuclear power facilities or access to or control over nuclear material.

The State Bureau of Investigation shall charge a reasonable fee to defray the administrative costs of providing criminal history record information for purposes of employment application screening. The State Bureau of Investigation is authorized to retain fees charged pursuant to this section and to expend those fees in accordance with the Executive Budget Act for the purpose of discharging its duties under this section. (1979, c. 796; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1212, s. 10.)

Chapter 62A.

Public Safety Telephone Service and Wireless Telephone Service.

Article 1.

Public Safety Telephone Service.

Article 2.

Wireless Telephone Service.

Article 1.

Public Safety Telephone Service.

§ 62A-1. Short title.

This Article shall be known as the "Public Safety Telephone Act". (1989, c. 587, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1998-158, s. 1, enacted a new Chapter, designated as Chapter 62B. That Chapter was redesignated as Article 2 of Chapter 62A at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes; thus, references to "Chapter" have been changed to "Article". Furthermore, sections 62A-1 through 62A-12 were designated as Article 1 of this Chapter, and references to "Chapter" were changed to "Article," at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

§ 62A-2. Legislative purposes.

The General Assembly declares it to be in the public interest to provide a toll free number through which an individual in this State can gain rapid, direct access to public safety aid. The number shall be provided with the objective of reducing response time to situations requiring law enforcement, fire, medical, rescue, or other public safety service. (1989, c. 587, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

No Private Cause of Action. — This section sets out the legislative purpose for the Public Safety Telephone Act, and contains no provision for a private cause of action. Lovelace v. City of Shelby, 133 N.C. App. 408, 515 S.E.2d 722 (1999).

§ 62A-3. Definitions.

As used in this Article:

(1) "911 system" or "911 service" means an emergency telephone system that provides the user of the public telephone system the ability to reach a public safety answering point by dialing the digits 911. The term 911 system or 911 service also includes "Enhanced 911 service", which means an emergency telephone system that provides the user of the public telephone system with 911 service and, in addition, directs 911 calls to appropriate public safety answering points by selective routing based on the geographical location from which the call originated and provides the capability for automatic number identification and automatic location identification features.

(2) "911 charge" means a contribution to the local government for the 911 service start-up equipment costs, subscriber notification costs, addressing costs, billing costs, and nonrecurring and recurring installation, maintenance, service, and network charges of a service supplier providing 911 service pursuant to this Article.

(3) "Addressing" means the assigning of a numerical address and street name (the street name may be numerical) to each location within a local government's geographical area necessary to provide public safety service as determined by the local government. This address replaces any route and box number currently in place in the 911 database and facilitates quicker response by public safety agencies.

(4) "Exchange access facility" means the access from a particular telephone subscriber's premises to the telephone system of a service supplier. Exchange access facilities include service supplier provided access lines, PBX trunks and centrex network access registers, all as defined by tariffs of telephone companies as approved by the North Carolina Utilities Commission. Exchange access facilities do not include service supplier owned and operated telephone pay station lines, or Wide Area Telecommunications Service (WATS), Foreign Exchange (FX) or incoming only lines.

(5) "Local government" means any city, county, or political subdivision of North Carolina and its agencies.

(6) "Public agency" means the State and any city, county, municipal corporation, chartered organization, public district, or public authority located in whole or in part within the State which provides or has authority to provide firefighting, law enforcement, ambulance, medical, or other emergency services.

(7) "Public safety agency" means a functional division of a public agency which provides firefighting, law enforcement, medical, suicide prevention, civil defense, poison control, or other emergency services.

(8) "Service supplier" means a person or entity who provides exchange telephone service to a telephone subscriber.

(9) "Telephone subscriber" or "subscriber" means a person or entity to whom exchange telephone service, either residential or commercial, is provided and in return for which the person or entity is billed on a monthly basis. When the same person, business, or organization has several telephone access lines, each exchange access facility shall constitute a separate subscription. (1989, c. 587, s. 1.)

§ 62A-4. 911 charges.

(a) Subject to the provisions of subsections (b) through (d) of this section the governing authority of any local government is authorized to adopt an ordinance to impose a monthly 911 charge upon each exchange access facility subscribed to by telephone subscribers whose exchange access lines are in the area served or which would be served by the 911 service. The 911 charge must be uniform and may not vary according to the type of exchange access facility used.

(b) The ordinance authorized in subsection (a) of this section may be adopted after one of the following procedures is followed:

(1) The governing authority by resolution requests the county or municipal board of elections, as appropriate, to conduct a special election on a date certain, in which a majority of those voting who are residents of the political subdivision vote to authorize the ordinance.

(2) After a public hearing held upon not less than 10 days public notice.

(c) There may be only one attempt to adopt an ordinance under subdivision (b)(1) of this section in any calendar year. Any special election shall be conducted using the procedures set out in G.S. 163-287.

(d) The ordinance shall fix a date on which it and the imposition and collection of the charges as provided in the ordinance shall become effective, but the effective date shall be at least 120 days following the date of adoption of such ordinance by the governing authority of the local government. (1989, c. 587, s. 1.)

§ 62A-5. Payment and collection of charges.

(a) The subscriber of an exchange access facility will be billed for the monthly 911 charges, if any, imposed with respect to that facility. Each service supplier shall, on behalf of the local government, collect the charges from those subscribers to whom it provides exchange telephone service in the area served by the 911 service. As part of its normal monthly billing process, the service supplier shall collect the charges for each month or part of the month an exchange access facility is in service, and it may list the charge as a separate entry on each bill. If a service supplier receives a partial payment for a monthly bill from a subscriber, the service supplier shall apply the payment against the amount the subscriber owes the service supplier first.

(b) A service supplier has no obligation to take any legal action to enforce the collection of the 911 charges for which any subscriber is billed. However, a collection action may be initiated by the local government that imposed the charges and reasonable costs and attorneys' fees associated with that collection action may be awarded to the local government collecting the 911 charges.

(c) The local government subscribing to 911 service shall remain ultimately responsible to the service supplier for all 911 installation, service, equipment, operation, and maintenance charges owed to the service supplier. Upon request by the local government, the service supplier shall provide the local government with a list of amounts uncollected along with the names and addresses of telephone subscribers who have not paid the 911 charge.

(d) Any taxes due on 911 service provided by the service supplier will be billed to the local government subscribing to that service. (1989, c. 587, s. 1; 2000-173, s. 19.(a).)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2000-173, s. 19(a), effective August 2, 2000, deleted the former last sentence of subsection (d), which read: "State and local taxes do not apply to 911 charges billed to subscribers under this Article."

§ 62A-6. Administration.

Each service supplier that collects the 911 charges on behalf of a local government is entitled to a one percent (1%) administrative fee as compensation for collecting the charges. The service supplier shall remit the rest of the charges it collects during a month to the fiscal officer of the local government within ten days after the last day of the month. (1989, c. 587, s. 1.)

§ 62A-7. Emergency Telephone System Fund.

The fiscal officer to whom 911 charges are remitted under G.S. 62A-6 shall deposit the charges in a special revenue fund pursuant to G.S. 159-26(b)(2). The Fund shall be known as the Emergency Telephone System Fund. The fiscal officer may invest money in the Fund in the same manner that other money of the local government may be invested. The fiscal officer shall deposit any income earned from such an investment in the Emergency Telephone System Fund. (1989, c. 587, s. 1; 1997-8, s. 1.)

§ 62A-8. Payments from Fund.

(a) Money from the Emergency Telephone System Fund shall be used only to pay for:

(1) The lease, purchase, or maintenance of emergency telephone equipment, including necessary computer hardware, software and database provisioning, addressing, and nonrecurring costs of establishing a 911 system, and

(2) The rates associated with the service supplier's 911 service and other service supplier recurring charges.

(b) The following expenses are not eligible for payment from the Fund: the lease or purchase of real estate, cosmetic remodeling of emergency dispatch centers, hiring, training, and compensating dispatchers, and the purchase of mobile communications vehicles, ambulances, fire engines, or other emergency vehicles.

(c) A local government may contract with a service supplier for any term negotiated by the service supplier and the local government and may make payments from the Emergency Telephone System Fund to provide any payments required by the contract. (1989, c. 587, s. 1.)

§ 62A-9. Telephone records.

(a) Each telephone service supplier shall provide subscriber telephone numbers, names, and service addresses to 911 systems when required by a local government. Although customer numbers, names and service addresses shall be available to 911 systems, such information shall remain the property of the disclosing service supplier. The total cost of the system shall include expenses paid to service suppliers to provide and maintain 911 information. This information shall be used only in providing emergency response services to 911 calls. A local government may not release a telephone number required to be provided under this section to any person for purposes other than including the number in the emergency telephone system database or providing the number to permit a response to police, fire, medical, or other emergency situation.

(b) To the extent necessary to provide 911 service, private listing customers of a service supplier in a 911 service area waive the privacy afforded by nonlisted and nonpublished numbers when the 911 service is established.

(c) No service supplier, or agents or employees of a service supplier, shall be liable to any person provided 911 service established under this Article for release for emergency telephone purposes of information specified in this section that is not already part of the public record, including nonlisted or nonpublished telephone numbers. (1989, c. 587, s. 1.)

§ 62A-10. Limitation of liability.

A service supplier, including any telephone company and its employees, directors, officers and agents, is not liable for any damages in a civil action for injuries, death, or loss to persons or property incurred by any person as a result of any act or omission of a service supplier or of any of its employees, directors, officers, or agents, except for willful or wanton misconduct, in connection with developing, adopting, implementing, maintaining, or operating any 911 system. This section shall not apply to actions arising out of the operation or ownership of a motor vehicle. (1989, c. 587, s. 1; 1998-158, s. 2.)

§ 62A-11. Persons outside county.

When an individual physically resides in an adjacent county, but receives local exchange telephone service from a central office in a county which provides 911 service, it shall be the responsibility of the county with the 911 service to notify the appropriate public agency of a request for public safety service from such individual. (1989, c. 587, s. 1.)

§ 62A-12. Misuse of 911 system; penalty.

Any person who intentionally calls the 911 number for other than purposes of obtaining public safety assistance commits a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1989, c. 587, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 492; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§§ 62A-13 through 62A-20: Reserved for future codification purposes.

(12) "Pseudoautomatic number identification" or "Pseudo-ANI" means a wireless Enhanced 911 service capability that enables the automatic display of the number of the cell site or cell face.
(13) "Service supplier" means a person or entity who provides exchange telephone service to a telephone subscriber.
(14) "Wireless 911 system" means an emergency telephone system that provides the user of a CMRS connection the ability to reach a PSAP by dialing the digits 911.
(15) "Wireless Enhanced 911 system" means an emergency telephone system that provides the user of the CMRS connection with wireless 911 service and, in addition, directs 911 calls to appropriate PSAPs by selective routing based on the geographical location from which the call originated and provides the capability for ANI (or Pseudo-ANI) and ALI features, in accordance with the requirements of the FCC Order.
(16) "Wireless Fund" means the Wireless Emergency Telephone System Fund required to be established and maintained pursuant to G.S. 62A-22(c). (1998-158, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1998-158, s. 1, enacted a new Chapter, designated as Chapter 62B. That Chapter was redesignated as Article 2 of Chapter 62A at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes; thus, references to "Chapter" have been changed to "Article".

§ 62A-22. Wireless 911 Board.

(a) There is created a Wireless 911 Board ("Board"), consisting of 13 members as follows:
(1) Two members appointed by the Governor, one upon the recommendation of the North Carolina League of Municipalities and one upon the recommendation of the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners;
(2) Five members appointed by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, one of whom shall be a sheriff, three representing CMRS providers licensed to do business in North Carolina and one representing the North Carolina Chapter of the Association of Public Safety Communications Officials (APCO);

(3) Five members appointed by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, one of whom shall be a chief of police, two representing CMRS providers licensed to do business in North Carolina, one representing local exchange carriers licensed to do business in North Carolina, and one representing the North Carolina Chapter of the National Emergency Number Association (NENA); and

(4) The State Chief Information Officer or the Chief Information Officer's designee, who shall serve as the chair.

A quorum of the Board shall consist of seven members. The Board shall meet upon the call of the chair.

(b) Each member shall serve a term of four years and may be appointed to no more than two successive terms. Vacancies may be filled in the same manner as the original appointment.

(c) There is established with the Treasurer the Wireless Fund into which the Board shall deposit all revenues derived from the service charge levied on CMRS connections in the State and collected pursuant to G.S. 62A-23. The Wireless Fund shall be a separate fund restricted to the uses set forth in this Article.

(d) Consistent with the provisions of G.S. 143-3.2, the Board shall disburse the revenues remitted to the Wireless Fund in the manner set forth in G.S. 62A-25. The Board shall establish procedures for disbursement of these revenues and advise the CMRS providers and eligible counties of such procedures within 60 days after all members are appointed pursuant to G.S. 62A-22(a).

(e) The Board shall serve without compensation, but members of the Board shall receive per diem, subsistence, and travel allowances at the rate established in G.S. 138-5. (1998-158, s. 1; 2001-487, s. 21(a).)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-487, s. 21(a), effective December 16, 2001, substituted "The State Chief Information Officer or the Chief Information Officer's designee" for "The Secretary of Commerce or the Secretary's designee" in subdivision (a)(4).

§ 62A-23. Amount of service charge.

(a) The Board shall levy a monthly wireless Enhanced 911 service charge on each CMRS connection. The rate of such service charge shall initially be set at eighty cents (80¢) per month per each CMRS connection beginning October 1, 1998. The service charge shall have uniform application and shall be imposed throughout the State.

(b) The service charge may be adjusted by the Board beginning July 1, 2000 and every two years thereafter. The Board is to set the service charge at such a rate as to ensure full recovery for CMRS providers and for PSAPs, over a reasonable period of time, of the costs associated with developing and maintaining a wireless Enhanced 911 system. If necessary to ensure full recovery of costs for both CMRS providers and PSAPs over a reasonable period of time, the Board may, at the time it adjusts the service charge, also adjust the allocation percentages set forth in G.S. 62A-25(a) and G.S. 62A-25(b).

(c) The service charge shall not exceed eighty cents (80¢) per month.

(d) The Board may adopt other rules and procedures as may be necessary to effect the provisions of this act but may not regulate any other aspect of the provision of wireless Enhanced 911 service, such as technical standards.

(e) No other State agency or local government may levy any additional surcharge relating to the provision of wireless Enhanced 911 service. (1998-158, s. 1.)

§ 62A-24. Management of funds.

(a) Each CMRS provider, as a part of its monthly billing process, shall collect the wireless Enhanced 911 service charge described in G.S. 62A-23. The CMRS provider may list the service charge as a separate entry on each bill. If a CMRS provider receives a partial payment for a monthly bill from a subscriber, the provider shall apply the payment first against the amount the subscriber owes the provider.

(b) A CMRS provider has no obligation to take any legal action to enforce the collection of the service charges for which any subscriber is billed. However, a collection action may be initiated by the Board and reasonable costs and attorneys' fees associated with that collection action may be awarded.

(c) Each CMRS provider shall be entitled to deduct a one percent (1%) administrative fee from the total service charges collected.

(d) All service charges collected by the CMRS providers, less the administrative fee described in subsection (c) of this section, are to be remitted to the Wireless Fund, not later than 30 days after the end of the calendar month in which such service charges are collected. (1998-158, s. 1.)

§ 62A-25. Use of funds.

(a) Sixty percent (60%) of the funds in the Wireless Fund established in G.S. 62A-22(c) shall be used to reimburse CMRS providers, in response to sworn invoices submitted to the Board, for the actual costs incurred by the CMRS providers in complying with the wireless 911 requirements established by the FCC Order and any rules and regulations which are or may be adopted by the FCC pursuant to the FCC Order, including costs and expenses incurred for designing, upgrading, purchasing, leasing, programming, installing, testing, or maintaining all necessary data, hardware, and software required in order to provide such service as well as the recurring and nonrecurring costs of operating such service. All costs and expenses must be commercially reasonable.

(b) Forty percent (40%) of the funds in the Wireless Fund established in G.S. 62A-22(c) shall be used to make monthly distributions to eligible PSAPs (the "40% Fund"). Money from the 40% Fund shall be used only to pay for the lease, purchase, or maintenance of emergency telephone equipment for the wireless Enhanced 911 system, including necessary computer hardware, software and database provisioning, and nonrecurring costs of establishing a wireless Enhanced 911 system. Money from the 40% Fund shall also be used to pay the rates associated with the local telephone companies' charges related to the operation of the wireless Enhanced 911 system. The 40% Fund shall be distributed as follows:

(1) Fifty percent (50%) of it shall be divided equally among the total number of PSAPs in North Carolina. However, monthly distribution shall be made only to those PSAPs that have complied with the provisions of this Article. Distribution to each eligible PSAP will begin the month following its compliance with the provisions of this Article. All monies remaining in this portion of the 40% Fund on January 31 of each year will then be evenly distributed to each of the eligible PSAPs.

(2) The other fifty percent (50%) shall be divided pro rata among the eligible PSAPs based on the population served by the PSAP. However, monthly distribution shall be made only to those PSAPs that have complied with the provisions of this Article. Distribution to each eligible PSAP will begin the month following its compliance with the provisions of this Article. The population data to be used shall be the latest certified county and official municipal estimates of population published by the Office of State Budget and Management. All monies remaining in this portion of the 40% Fund on January 31 of each year will then be distributed to each of the eligible PSAPs based on the population served by the PSAP.

(c) Sworn invoices shall be presented by CMRS providers in connection with any request for reimbursement under this section. In no event shall any invoice for reimbursement be approved for the payment of costs that are not related to compliance with the wireless Enhanced 911 service requirements established by the FCC Order and any rules and regulations which are or may be adopted by the FCC pursuant to the FCC Order.

(d) In no event shall any invoice for reimbursement be approved for payment of costs of any CMRS provider exceeding one hundred twenty-five percent (125%) of the service charges remitted by such CMRS provider unless prior approval for such expenditures is received from the Board. If the total amount of invoices submitted to the Board and approved for payment exceeds the amount in the Wireless Fund in any month, CMRS providers that have invoices approved for payment shall receive a pro rata share of the Wireless Fund, based on the relative amount of their approved invoices available that month, and the balance of the payments will be carried over to the following month or months and shall include interest at a rate equal to the rate earned by the Wireless Fund until all of the approved payments are made.

(e) In January of each year every participating PSAP will submit to the Board a copy of its governing agency's approved budget detailing the PSAP's revenues and expenditures associated with the operation of its wireless Enhanced 911 system. PSAPs must comply with all requests by the Board for financial information related to the operation of the wireless Enhanced 911 system.

(f) On February 15, 2000, and every two years thereafter the Board shall report to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations and the Revenue Laws Study Committee. The report shall contain complete information regarding receipts and expenditures of all funds received by the Board during the period covered by the report as well as the status of wireless Enhanced 911 systems in North Carolina at the time of the report. The first report shall cover the period from the formation of the Board to December 31, 1999. Each succeeding report shall cover the two-year period of time from the ending date of the previous report. (1998-158, s. 1; 1999-456, s. 18; 2000-140, s. 93.1(b); 2001-424, s. 12.2(b).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-424, s. 1.2, provides: "This act shall be known as the 'Current Operations and Capital Improvements Appropriations Act of 2001'."

Session Laws 2001-424, s. 36.5 is a severability clause.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2000-140, s. 93.1, effective July 1, 2000, substituted "Office of State Budget, Planning, and Management" for "Office of State Planning" in subdivision (b)(2).

Session Laws 2001-424, s. 12.2(b), effective July 1, 2001, substituted "Office of State Budget and Management" for "Office of State Budget, Planning, and Management" in subdivision (b)(2).

§ 62A-26. Administrative fee.

The Board shall be entitled to deduct a one percent (1%) administrative fee from the total service charges remitted by the CMRS providers for its expenses. (1998-158, s. 1.)

§ 62A-27. Provision of services.

In accordance with the FCC Order, no CMRS provider shall be required to provide wireless Enhanced 911 service until such time as (i) the provider receives a request for such service from the administrator of a PSAP that is capable of receiving and utilizing the data elements associated with the service; (ii) funds are available pursuant to G.S. 62A-24; and (iii) the local exchange carrier is able to support the wireless Enhanced 911 system. (1998-158, s. 1.)

§ 62A-28. Audit.

The State Auditor may perform audits pursuant to Article 5A of Chapter 147 of the General Statutes to ensure that funds in the Wireless Fund are being managed in accordance with the provisions of this Article and shall perform an audit at least every two years. The State Auditor shall provide the audit to the Board when it meets to consider adjusting the service charge pursuant to G.S. 62A-23. The cost of audits shall be reimbursed to the State Auditor by the Board. (1998-158, s. 1.)

§ 62A-29. Customer records.

Each CMRS provider shall provide its 10,000 number groups to the PSAPs upon request. This information shall remain the property of the disclosing CMRS provider and shall be used only in providing emergency response services to 911 calls. CMRS connection information obtained by PSAP personnel for public safety purposes is not public information under Chapter 132 of the General Statutes. No person shall disclose or use, for any purpose other than for the wireless 911 calling system, information contained in the database of the telephone network portion of a wireless 911 calling system established pursuant to this Article. (1998-158, s. 1.)

§ 62A-30. Proprietary information.

All proprietary information submitted to the Board or the State Auditor shall be retained in confidence. Proprietary information submitted pursuant to this Article shall not be subject to disclosure under Chapter 132 of the General Statutes, or otherwise released to any person other than to the submitting CMRS provider, the Board, and the independent, third-party auditor retained pursuant to G.S. 62A-26, without the express permission of the submitting CMRS provider. Further, proprietary information shall constitute trade secrets as defined by the North Carolina Trade Secrets Protection Act, Article 24 of Chapter 66 of the General Statutes. General information collected by the Board or the State Auditor shall be released or published only in aggregate amounts that do not identify or allow identification of numbers of subscribers or revenues attributable to an individual CMRS provider. (1998-158, s. 1.)

§ 62A-31. Limitation of liability.

A CMRS provider, local exchange company, service supplier, or their employees, directors, officers, or agents, except in cases of wanton or willful misconduct, shall not be liable for any damages in a civil action resulting from death or injury to any person or from damage to property incurred by any person in connection with developing, adopting, implementing, maintaining, or operating any wireless 911 system or wireless Enhanced 911 system. This section shall not apply to actions arising out of the operation or ownership of a motor vehicle. (1998-158, s. 1.)

§ 62A-32. Misuse of wireless 911 system; penalty.

Wireless emergency telephone service shall be used solely for emergency communications by the public. Any person who knowingly uses or attempts to use wireless emergency telephone service or information for a purpose other than obtaining public safety assistance, or who knowingly uses or attempts to use wireless emergency telephone service in an effort to avoid any CMRS charges, is guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor. If the value of the CMRS charge or service obtained in a manner prohibited by this section exceeds one hundred dollars ($100.00), the person is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1998-158, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

This Chapter contemplates full cooperation and compliance with federal statutes and rules and regulations of appropriate federal agencies. City of Charlotte v. Spratt, 263 N.C. 656, 140 S.E.2d 341 (1965); Hoyle v. City of Charlotte, 276 N.C. 292, 172 S.E.2d 1 (1970).

"Operation of Aircraft". — Subdivision (16) of this section merely says that the owner is "engaged in the operation of aircraft." It does not make it unlawful to operate an aircraft so as to cause harm nor does it deem a pilot to automatically be an agent of the owner. Broadway v. Webb, 462 F. Supp. 429 (W.D.N.C. 1977).

Strict Liability Not Imposed. — The North Carolina legislature has not expressed a clear intent to impose strict liability on an owner-lessor in the field of aviation. Broadway v. Webb, 462 F. Supp. 429 (W.D.N.C. 1977).

The law in North Carolina concerning the liability of an owner-lessor of an aircraft is governed by the common law of bailments. There is no strict or vicarious liability imposed upon the owner-lessor by the enactment of subdivision (16) of this section. Broadway v. Webb, 462 F. Supp. 429 (W.D.N.C. 1977).

North Carolina's aviation statute is copied from the model Federal Act. Broadway v. Webb, 462 F. Supp. 429 (W.D.N.C. 1977).

§ 63-2. Cities and towns authorized to establish airports.

The governing body of any city or town in this State is hereby authorized to acquire, establish, construct, own, control, lease, equip, improve, maintain, operate, and regulate airports or landing fields for the use of airplanes and other aircraft, either within or without the limits of such cities and towns and may use for such purpose or purposes any property suitable therefor that is now or may at any time hereafter be owned or controlled by such city or town. (1929, c. 87, s. 2.)

Franchise for Limousine Service to Airport. — The provisions of former § 160-1 and §§ 63-2, 63-49, 63-50, 63-53 and 62-260 authorize a municipal corporation to award a franchise contract granting the right to provide limousine service to a municipal airport upon certain terms and conditions set forth in the franchise ordinance. § 63-4. Joint airports established by cities, towns and counties.

The governing bodies of any city, town and county in this State are hereby authorized to jointly acquire, establish, construct, own, control, lease, equip, improve, maintain, operate, and regulate airports or landing fields for the use of airplanes and other aircraft within or without the limits of such cities, towns and counties, and may use for such purpose or purposes any property suitable therefor that is now or may at any time hereafter be jointly owned or controlled by such city, town and county. CASE NOTES

The legislature has power to create a municipal authority to construct, maintain and operate an airport, and county and cities located therein may lawfully join in the construction, maintenance and operation of an airport if each of them is benefited by it. Greensboro-High Point Airport Auth. v. Johnson, 226 N.C. 1, 36 S.E.2d 803 (1946).

Section Not Repealed or Modified by Supplementary Acts. — This section, permitting municipalities to act jointly in the creation of an airport authority, is not repealed or modified or its authority in any way affected by the supplementary public-local and private acts under which the purpose and policy of this section are carried out in the creation of a single airport authority to serve three municipalities. Greensboro-High Point Airport Auth.

§ 63-5. Airport declared public purpose; eminent domain.

Any lands acquired, owned, controlled, or occupied by such cities, towns, and/or counties, for the purposes enumerated in G.S. 63-2, 63-3 and 63-4, shall and are hereby declared to be acquired, owned, controlled and occupied for a public purpose, and such cities, towns and/or counties shall have the right to acquire property for such purpose or purposes under the power of eminent domain as and for a public purpose. CASE NOTES

City or County May Appropriate and Expend Public Funds for Acquisition or Construction. — The acquisition of land for, and the construction and operation of, an airport for use by the public is a purpose for which a city or a county or both may appropriate and expend public funds and for which it or they may acquire land by the exercise of the power of eminent domain. Vance County v. Royster, 271 N.C. 53, 155 S.E.2d 790 (1967).

Materiality of Amount of Use in Immediate Future. — In a taking of land for the construction of an airport, as in the case of a taking for the construction of a road, if the taking is, in reality, for the purpose of making the property available for use by the public, it is immaterial that, in the immediate future, only a small segment of the public will be likely to make actual use of it. Vance County v. Royster, 271 N.C. 53, 155 S.E.2d 790 (1967).

The fact that at the time of the taking of land by eminent domain for the purpose of building an airport there are no commitments from commercial air lines and the immediate prospect is for use only by a small number of private planes, is irrelevant where there is no suggestion that the airport would not be available and eventually used as a public facility. Vance County v. Royster, 271 N.C. 53, 155 S.E.2d 790 (1967).

Taking of Land to Provide Clear Approach to Runway. — The taking of land so as to provide for airplanes an approach to the runway of the airport free from trees and structures of considerable height is reasonably incidental to the construction of such an airport. Vance County v. Royster, 271 N.C. 53, 155 S.E.2d 790 (1967).

Operation of Airport Is Proprietary and Nongovernmental Function. — The operation and maintenance of a municipal airport and its facilities is a proprietary or nongovernmental function or undertaking of the city for a public purpose, and for which the municipality may be held liable in tort for negligence in the operation thereof. Jewell Ridge Coal Corp. v. City of Charlotte, 204 F. Supp. 256 (W.D.N.C. 1962).

Flights over Private Land as Taking. — Flights over private land are not a taking, unless they are so low and so frequent as to be a direct and immediate interference with the enjoyment and use of the land. Cochran v. City of Charlotte, 53 N.C. App. 390, 281 S.E.2d 179 (1981), cert. denied, 304 N.C. 725, 288 S.E.2d 380 (1982).

A compensable taking of a flight or aviation easement does not occur until overflights constitute a material interference with the use and enjoyment of property, such that there is substantial diminution in fair market value. Cochran v. City of Charlotte, 53 N.C. App. 390, 281 S.E.2d 179 (1981), cert. denied, 304 N.C. 725, 288 S.E.2d 380 (1982).

Inverse Condemnation Action for Frequent Overflights. — Failure to condemn directly under this section for damage to property caused by frequent overflights allows plaintiffs, if they wish compensation for the diminution in value of their properties, the sole alternative of an action for inverse condemnation. Cochran v. City of Charlotte, 53 N.C. App. 390, 281 S.E.2d 179 (1981), cert. denied, 304 N.C. 725, 288 S.E.2d 380 (1982).

Judgments in Aviation Easement Cases. — Because the interest taken vests in the governmental entity, judgments in aviation easement cases should describe the easement acquired in terms of (1) frequency of flight, (2) permissible altitude, (3) type of aircraft, and (4) duration. Cochran v. City of Charlotte, 53 N.C. App. 390, 281 S.E.2d 179 (1981), cert. denied, 304 N.C. 725, 288 S.E.2d 380 (1982).

§ 63-6. Acquisition of sites; appropriation of moneys.

Private property needed by a city, town and/or county for an airport or landing field may be acquired by gift or devise or shall be acquired by purchase if the city, town and/or county is or are able to agree with the owners on the terms thereof, and otherwise by condemnation, in the manner provided by Chapter 40A. The purchase price, or award for property acquired for an airport or landing field may be paid for by appropriation of moneys available therefor, or wholly or partly from the proceeds of the sale of bonds of the city, town and/or county, as the governing body and/or bodies of such city, town and/or county shall determine. (1929, c. 87, s. 6; 1981, c. 919, s. 7.)

§ 63-7. Airports already established declared public charge; regulations and fees for use of.

The governing body or bodies of a city, town and/or county which has or have established an airport or landing field, and acquired, leased, or set apart real property for such purpose, may construct, improve, equip, maintain, and operate the same. The expenses of such construction, improvement, maintenance, and operation shall be a city, town and/or county charge as the case may be. The governing body or bodies of a city, town and/or county may adopt regulations and establish fees or charges for the use of such airport or landing field. (1929, c. 87, s. 7.)

§ 63-8. Appropriations.

The governing body or bodies of a city, town and/or county to which this Article is applicable, having power to appropriate, individually or jointly, money therein, are hereby authorized to annually appropriate and cause to be raised by taxation in such city, town and/or county or to use from the net proceeds derived from the operation, by such city, town or county, of any public utility a sum sufficient to carry out the provisions of this Article in such proportion and upon such pro-rata basis as may be determined upon by a joint board to be appointed by and from the governing body or bodies of the city, town and/or the county or individually as the case may be. Provided, nothing herein shall be construed to permit the governing bodies of any county, city or town to issue bonds under the provisions of this Article without a vote of the people. (1929, c. 87, s. 8.)

§ 63-8.1: Repealed by Session Laws 1973, c. 803, s. 3.

§ 63-9. Partial invalidity.

If any part or parts of this Article shall be held to be unconstitutional, such unconstitutionality shall not affect the validity of the remaining parts of this Article. The General Assembly expressly declares that it would have passed the remaining parts of this Article, if it had known that such part or parts thereof would be declared unconstitutional. (1929, c. 87, s. 9.)

Article 2.

State Regulation.

§ 63-10: Repealed by Session Laws 1971, c. 936, s. 1.

§ 63-11. Sovereignty in space.

Sovereignty in space above the lands and waters of this State is declared to rest in the State, except where granted to and assumed by the United States. (1929, c. 190, s. 2.)

§ 63-12. Ownership of space.

The ownership of the space above the lands and waters of this State is declared to be vested in the several owners of the surface beneath, subject to the right of flight described in G.S. 63-13. (1929, c. 190, s. 3.)

CASE NOTES

Purpose of this section was to subject the common-law rights recognized and described therein to the right of flight established in § 63-13, not to prohibit a conveyance of air rights independent of the land beneath. Cheape v. Town of Chapel Hill, 320 N.C. 549, 359 S.E.2d 792 (1987).

Flight of Planes over Property as Taking. — Holding that flights by planes at low levels over plaintiff's land deprived plaintiffs of use and enjoyment of their property and constituted "taking" entitling them to compensation was not inconsistent with this section. United States v. Causby, 328 U.S. 256, 66 S. Ct. 1062, 90 L. Ed. 1206 (1946), discussed in 25 N.C.L. Rev. 64.

Cited in Wall v. Trogdon, 249 N.C. 747, 107 S.E.2d 757 (1959).

§ 63-13. Lawfulness of flight.

Flight in aircraft over the lands and waters of this State is lawful, unless at such a low altitude as to interfere with the then existing use to which the land or water, or the space over the land or water, is put by the owner, or unless so conducted as to be injurious to the health and happiness, or imminently dangerous to persons or property lawfully on the land or water beneath. The landing of an aircraft on the lands or waters of another, without his consent, is unlawful, except in the case of a forced landing. For damages caused by a forced landing, however, the owner or lessee of the aircraft or the aeronaut shall be liable as provided in G.S. 63-14. (1929, c. 190, s. 4; 1947, c. 1001, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Section 63-14, referred to at the end of this section, was repealed by Session Laws 1947, c. 1069, s. 3.

CASE NOTES

An aircraft can lawfully fly over the land and water of this State, unless done in violation of the provisions of this section. Wall v. Trogdon, 249 N.C. 747, 107 S.E.2d 757 (1959).

And flying a plane over the land or pond of another does not constitute a trespass unless the flight is at such low altitude as to interfere with the then existing use to which the land or water, or the space over the land or water, is put by the owner, or unless so conducted as to be injurious to the health and happiness, or imminently dangerous to persons or property below. Wall v. Trogdon, 249 N.C. 747, 107 S.E.2d 757 (1959).

Proof of Adverse Use. — A use, to be adverse, must be over property as to which another possesses the right of lawful control. This section restricts the right of an owner to control the airspace over his property. Plaintiff, to establish adverse use, thus has the burden of proving that planes overflew defendant's property at such heights as to interfere with the then existing use of the land or airspace, or as to be injurious to the health and happiness, or imminently dangerous to persons or property lawfully on the land. City of Statesville v. Credit & Loan Co., 58 N.C. App. 727, 294 S.E.2d 405 (1982).

The burden of proof is upon the party asserting a violation of this section, and evidence merely that the plane engaged in crop spraying operations was seen flying over the land of plaintiff at an altitude of 100 feet or more, without evidence that such flight disturbed any person on the ground or was imminently dangerous to persons or property, is insufficient to make out a cause of action for trespass. Wall v. Trogdon, 249 N.C. 747, 107 S.E.2d 757 (1959).

§ 63-14: Repealed by Session Laws 1947, c. 1069, s. 3.

§ 63-15. Collision of aircraft.

The liability of the owners of one aircraft to the owner of another aircraft, or to aeronauts or passengers on either aircraft, for damages caused by collision on land or in the air shall be determined by the rules of law applicable to torts on land. (1929, c. 190, s. 6.)

CASE NOTES

This section appears merely to declare the common law. Jewell Ridge Coal Corp. v. City of Charlotte, 204 F. Supp. 256 (W.D.N.C. 1962).

Liability of a carrier of passengers by aircraft must be based on negligence. Such carrier is not an insurer of the safety of its passengers. Jackson v. Stancil, 253 N.C. 291, 116 S.E.2d 817 (1960).

Any recovery for wrongful death must be based on actionable negligence under the general rules of tort liability. Mann v. Henderson, 261 N.C. 338, 134 S.E.2d 626 (1964).

Causal Connection Between Negligence and Injury. — There must be a causal connection between the negligence complained of and the injury inflicted. Mann v. Henderson, 261 N.C. 338, 134 S.E.2d 626 (1964).

Res Ipsa Loquitur Inapplicable. — In a case involving an airplane crash the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur does not apply. Jackson v. Stancil, 253 N.C. 291, 116 S.E.2d 817 (1960).

In a case involving an airplane crash the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur does not apply, it being common knowledge that airplanes do fall without fault of the pilot. Mann v. Henderson, 261 N.C. 338, 134 S.E.2d 626 (1964).

§ 63-16. Jurisdiction over crimes and torts.

All crimes, torts, and other wrongs committed by or against an airman or passenger while in flight over this State shall be governed by the laws of this State; and the question whether damage occasioned by or to an aircraft while in flight over this State constitutes a tort, crime or other wrong by or against the owner of such aircraft shall be determined by the laws of this State. (1929, c. 190, s. 7; 1971, c. 936, s. 3.)

CASE NOTES

Jurisdiction Where Crash Occurs in Another State. — A court of this State has jurisdiction of an action between residents to recover for negligent injury and death in an airplane crash occurring in another state while the plane was on a trip under contract made in this State. § 63-17. Jurisdiction over contracts.

All contractual and other legal relations entered into by airmen or passengers while in flight over this State shall have the same effect as if entered into on the land or water beneath. (1929, c. 190, s. 8; 1971, c. 936, s. 3.)

§ 63-18. Dangerous flying a misdemeanor.

Any airman or passenger who, while in flight over a thickly inhabited area or over a public gathering within this State, shall engage in trick or acrobatic flying, or in any acrobatic feat, or shall except while in landing or taking off, fly at such a low level as to disturb the public peace or the rights of private persons in the enjoyment of their homes, or injure the health, or endanger the persons or property on the surface beneath, or drop any object except loose water or loose sand ballast, shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1929, c. 190, s. 9; 1947, c. 1001, s. 2; 1971, c. 936, s. 3; 1993, c. 539, s. 493; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 63-20. Qualifications of operator; federal license.

The public safety requiring, and the advantages of uniform regulation making it desirable, in the interest of aeronautical progress, that a person engaging within this State in operating aircraft, in any form of aerial navigation for which a license to operate aircraft issued by the United States government would then be required if such aerial navigation were interstate, should have the qualifications necessary for obtaining and holding such a license, it shall be unlawful for any person to engage in operating aircraft within the State, in any such form of aerial navigation, unless he have such federal license. Applicability of Federal Regulation Placing Responsibility on Pilot. — The federal regulation that the pilot in command of the aircraft shall be directly responsible for its operation and shall have final authority as to the operation of the aircraft is made applicable to all flights in North Carolina by state statute. No in-flight negligence of the pilot can be imputed to the passengers who chartered the plane. Nothing short of physical interference with the pilot's operation of the plane would remove the pilot from actual control. Haley v. United States, 654 F. Supp. 481 (W.D.N.C.), aff'd, 829 F.2d 1120 (4th Cir. 1987).

§ 63-21. Possession and exhibition of license certificate.

The certificate of the license, herein required, shall be kept in the personal possession of the licensee when he is operating aircraft within this State and must be presented for inspection upon the demand of any passenger, any peace officer of this State, or any official, manager or person in charge of any airport or landing field in this State upon which he shall land. (1929, c. 190, s. 12.)

§ 63-22. Aircraft; construction, design and airworthiness; federal registration.

The public safety requiring, and the advantages of uniform regulation making it desirable, in the interest of aeronautical progress, that aircraft to be operated within this State should conform, with respect to design, construction and airworthiness, to standards then prescribed by the United States government with respect to aerial navigation of aircraft subject to its jurisdiction, it shall be unlawful for any person to operate an aircraft within this State unless it is registered pursuant to the lawful rules and regulations of the United States government then in force, if the circumstances of such aerial navigation are of a character that such registration would be required in the case of interstate aerial navigation. (1929, c. 190, s. 13.)

§ 63-23. Penalties.

A person who violates any provision of G.S. 63-20, 63-21 or 63-22 of this Article shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor; provided, however, that acts or omissions made unlawful by G.S. 63-20, 63-21 or 63-22 of this Article shall not be deemed to include any act or omission which violates the laws or lawful regulations of the United States. (1929, c. 190, s. 14; 1993, c. 539, s. 494; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 63-24. Jurisdiction of State over crimes and torts retained.

Provided that this Article shall not be construed as a waiver of jurisdiction of the courts of the State of North Carolina over any crime or tort committed within the State of North Carolina, and provided, further, that the General Assembly of North Carolina may at any time amend, regulate or control any of the powers which may be assumed by the United States Department of Commerce under this Article. (1929, c. 190, s. 15.)

Article 3.

Stealing, Tampering with, or Operating Aircraft While Intoxicated.

§ 63-25. Taking of aircraft made crime of larceny.

Any person who, under circumstances not constituting larceny shall, without the consent of the owner, take, use or operate or cause to be taken, used or operated, an airplane or other aircraft or its equipment, for his own profit, purpose or pleasure, steals the same, is guilty of a Class H felony. (1929, c. 90, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 1278; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

Cross References. — As to punishment, see §§ 14-1.1 and 14-2. As to larceny generally, see § 14-70 et seq.

§ 63-26. Tampering with aircraft made crime.

Any person who shall, without the consent of the owner, go upon or enter, tamper with or in any way damage or injure any airplane or other aircraft, or any personal property under the control of or being used by any public or private airport or aircraft landing facility shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor, and the showing of willful or malicious intent shall not be necessary to sustain a conviction hereunder. (1929, c. 90, s. 2; 1987, c. 818, s. 3; 1993, c. 539, s. 495; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 63-26.1. Trespass upon airport property made a crime.

(a) It shall be unlawful for any person to trespass upon airport property. For purposes of this section "airport property" means property that is under the control of or is being used by any public or private airport or aircraft landing facility.

(b) A person commits the offense of trespass upon airport property if, without authorization, he enters or remains on airport property that is so enclosed or posted or secured as to demonstrate clearly an intent to keep out intruders. Violation of this section is a Class 2 misdemeanor. (1987, c. 818, s. 4; 1993, c. 539, s. 496; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 63-27. Operation of aircraft while impaired.

(a) Offense. — A person commits the offense of operation of an aircraft while impaired if he operates an aircraft, whether on the ground or in the air or on water, within this State:

(1) While under the influence of an impairing substance; or

(2) After having consumed sufficient alcohol that he has, at any relevant time after the operating of an aircraft, an alcohol concentration of 0.04 or more.

The relevant definitions contained in G.S. 20-4.01 shall apply to this section.

(b) Defense precluded. — The fact that a person charged with violating this section is or has been legally entitled to use alcohol or a drug is not a defense to a charge under this section.

(c) Pleading. — In any prosecution for operating an aircraft while impaired, the pleading is sufficient if it states the time and place of the alleged offense in the usual form and charges that the defendant operated the aircraft within this State while subject to an impairing substance.

(d) Chemical Analysis. — Any person who operates an airplane or other aircraft, whether on the ground or in the air or on the water within the territorial limits of this State gives consent to chemical analysis if he is charged with the offense of operating an aircraft while impaired. The charging officer must designate the type of chemical analysis to be administered, and it may be administered when he has reasonable grounds to believe that the person charged has committed the specified crime. The chemical analysis shall be performed pursuant to the procedures established under Chapter 20 of the General Statutes applying to motor vehicle violations with the exception that if the person charged refuses to be tested, the charging officer shall, in writing, notify the local office of the Federal Aviation Administration of the individual's refusal. The results of any chemical tests administered pursuant to this section will be admissible into evidence at trial on the offense charged and a written report of the test results shall be made available to the local office of the Federal Aviation Administration.

(e) Punishment. — A person violating this section shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. Provided, however, for a second and all subsequent convictions of this section, a person shall be guilty of a Class I felony. (1929, c. 90, s. 3; 1953, c. 675, s. 8; 1987, c. 818, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, ss. 497, 1279; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 63-28. Infliction of serious bodily injury by operation of an aircraft while impaired.

(a) Offense. — A person commits the offense of infliction of serious bodily injury by operation of an aircraft while impaired if, while in violation of G.S. 63-27, he does serious bodily injury to another.

(b) Defense precluded. — The fact that a person charged with violating this section is or has been legally entitled to use alcohol or a drug is not a defense to a charge under this section.

(c) Pleading. — In any prosecution for infliction of serious bodily injury by operation of an aircraft while impaired, the pleading is sufficient if it states the time and place of the alleged offense in the usual form and charges that the defendant did serious bodily injury to another while operating an aircraft within this State while subject to an impairing substance.

(d) Punishment. — Violation of this section is a Class F felony. (1929, c. 90, s. 4; 1953, c. 675, s. 9; 1987, c. 818, s. 2; 1993, c. 539, s. 1280; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

Article 4.

Model Airport Zoning Act.

§ 63-29: Repealed by Session Laws 1971, c. 936, s. 1.

§ 63-30. Airport hazards not in public interest.

It is hereby found and declared that an airport hazard endangers the lives and property of users of the airport and of occupants of land in its vicinity, and also, if of the obstruction type, in effect reduces the size of the area available for the landing, taking off and maneuvering of aircraft, thus tending to destroy or impair the utility of the airport and the public investment therein, and is therefore not in the interest of the public health, public safety, or general welfare. (1941, c. 250, s. 2.)

CASE NOTES

Cited in Barrier v. Troutman, 231 N.C. 47, 55 S.E.2d 923 (1949).

§ 63-31. Adoption of airport zoning regulations.

(a) Every political subdivision may adopt, administer, and enforce, under the police power and in the manner and upon the conditions hereinafter prescribed, airport zoning regulations, which regulations shall divide the area surrounding any airport within the jurisdiction of said political subdivision into zones, and, within such zones, specify the land uses permitted, and regulate and restrict the height to which structures and trees may be erected or allowed to grow. In adopting or revising any such zoning regulations, the political subdivision shall consider, among other things, the character of the flying operations expected to be conducted at the airport, the nature of the terrain, the height of existing structures and trees above the level of the airport, the possibility of lowering or removing existing obstructions, and the views of the agency of the federal government charged with the fostering of civil aeronautics, as to the aerial approaches necessary to safe flying operations at the airport.

(b) In the event that a political subdivision has adopted, or hereafter adopts, a general zoning ordinance regulating, among other things, the height of buildings, any airport zoning regulations adopted for the same area or portion thereof under this Article may be incorporated in and made a part of such general zoning regulations, and be administered and enforced in connection therewith, but such general zoning regulations shall not limit the effectiveness or scope of the regulations adopted under this Article.

(c) Any two or more political subdivisions may agree, by ordinance duly adopted, to create a joint board and delegate to said board the powers herein conferred to promulgate, administer and enforce airport zoning regulations to protect the aerial approaches of any airport located within the corporate limits of any one or more of said political subdivisions. Such joint board shall have as members two representatives appointed by the chief executive officer of each political subdivision participating in the creation of said board and a chairman elected by a majority of the members so appointed.

(d) The jurisdiction of each political subdivision is hereby extended to the promulgating, adopting, administering and enforcement of airport zoning regulations to protect the approaches of any airport or landing field which is owned by said political subdivision, although the area affected by the zoning regulations may be located outside the corporate limits of said political subdivision. In case of conflict with any airport zoning or other regulations promulgated by any political subdivision, the regulations adopted pursuant to this section shall prevail.

(e) All airport zoning regulations adopted under this Article shall be reasonable, and none shall require the removal, lowering, or other change or alteration of any structure or tree not conforming to the regulations when adopted or amended, or otherwise interfere with the continuance of any nonconforming use, except as provided in G.S. 63-32, subsection (a).

(f) A political subdivision may not adopt an airport zoning regulation in violation of G.S. 63A-18. (1941, c. 250, s. 3; 1945, cc. 300, 635; 1991, c. 749, s. 3.)

§ 63-32. Permits, new structures, etc., and variances.

(a) Permits. — Where advisable to facilitate the enforcement of zoning regulations adopted pursuant to this Article, a system may be established by any political subdivision for the granting of permits to establish or construct new structures and other uses and to replace existing structures and other uses or make substantial changes therein or substantial repairs thereof. In any event, before any nonconforming structure or tree may be replaced, substantially altered or repaired, rebuilt, allowed to grow higher, or replanted, a permit must be secured from the administrative agency authorized to administer and enforce the regulations, authorizing such replacement, change or repair. No such permit shall be granted that would allow the structure or tree in question to be made higher or become a greater hazard to air navigation than it was when the applicable regulation was adopted; and whenever the administrative agency determines that a nonconforming structure or tree has been abandoned or more than eighty percent (80%) torn down, destroyed, deteriorated, or decayed: (i) no permit shall be granted that would allow said structure or tree to exceed the applicable height limit or otherwise deviate from the zoning regulations; and (ii) whether application is made for a permit under this paragraph or not, the said agency may by appropriate action compel the owner of the nonconforming structure or tree, at his own expense, to lower, remove, reconstruct, or equip such object as may be necessary to conform to the regulations or, if the owner of the nonconforming structure or tree shall neglect or refuse to comply with such order for 10 days after notice thereof, the said agency may proceed to have the object so lowered, removed, reconstructed, or equipped. Except as indicated, all applications for permits for replacement, change or repair of nonconforming uses shall be granted.

(b) Variances. — Any person desiring to erect any structures, or increase the height of any structure, or permit the growth of any tree, or otherwise use his property, in violation of airport zoning regulations adopted under this Article, may apply to the board of appeals, as provided in G.S. 63-33, subsection (c), for a variance from the zoning regulations in question. Such variances shall be allowed where a literal application or enforcement of the regulations would result in practical difficulty or unnecessary hardship and the relief granted would not be contrary to the public interest but do substantial justice and be in accordance with the spirit of the regulations and this Article.

(c) Obstruction Marking and Lighting. — In granting any permit or variance under this section, the administrative agency or board of appeals may, if it deems such action advisable to effectuate the purposes of this Article and reasonable in the circumstances, so condition such permit or variance as to require the owner of the structure or tree in question to permit the political subdivision, at its own expense, to install, operate, and maintain suitable obstruction markers and obstruction lights thereon. (1941, c. 250, s. 4.)

§ 63-33. Procedure.

(a) Adoption of Zoning Regulations. — No airport zoning regulations shall be adopted, amended, or changed under this Article except by action of the legislative body of the political subdivision in question, or the joint board provided for in G.S. 63-31, subsection (c), after a public hearing in relation thereto, at which parties in interest and citizens shall have an opportunity to be heard. At least 10 days' notice of the hearing shall be published in an official paper, or a paper of general circulation, in the political subdivision or subdivisions in which the airport is located.

(b) Administration of Zoning Regulations — Administrative Agency. — The legislative body of any political subdivision adopting airport zoning regulations under this Article may delegate the duty of administering and enforcing such regulations to any administrative agency under its jurisdiction, or may create a new administrative agency to perform such duty, but such administrative agency shall not be or include any member of the board of appeals. The duties of such administrative agency shall include that of hearing and deciding all permits under G.S. 63-32, subsection (a), but such agency shall not have or exercise any of the powers delegated to the board of appeals.

(c) Administration of Airport Zoning Regulations — Board of Appeals. — Airport zoning regulations adopted under this Article shall provide for a board of appeals to have and exercise the following powers:

(1) To hear and decide appeals from any order, requirement, decision, or determination made by the administrative agency in the enforcement of this Article or of any ordinance adopted pursuant thereto;

(2) To hear and decide special exceptions to the terms of the ordinance upon which such board may be required to pass under such ordinance;

(3) To hear and decide specific variances under G.S. 63-32, subsection (b).

Where a zoning board of appeals or adjustment already exists, it may be appointed as the board of appeals. Otherwise, the board of appeals shall consist of five members, each to be appointed for a term of three years and to be removable for cause by the appointing authority upon written charges and after public hearing.

The board shall adopt rules in accordance with the provisions of any ordinance adopted under this Article. Meetings of the board shall be held at the call of the chairman and at such other times as the board may determine. The chairman, or in his absence the acting chairman, may administer oaths and compel the attendance of witnesses. All meetings of the board shall be public. The board shall keep minutes of its proceedings, showing the vote of each member upon each question, or, if absent or failing to vote, indicating such fact, and shall keep records of its examinations and other official actions, all of which shall immediately be filed in the office of the board and shall be a public record.

Appeals to the board may be taken by any person aggrieved, or by any officer, department, board, or bureau of the political subdivision affected, by any decision of the administrative agency. An appeal must be taken within a reasonable time, as provided by the rules of the board, by filing with the agency from which the appeal is taken and with the board, a notice of appeal specifying the grounds thereof. The agency from which the appeal is taken shall forthwith transmit to the board all the papers constituting the record upon which the action appealed from was taken.

An appeal shall stay all proceedings in furtherance of the action appealed from, unless the agency from which the appeal is taken certifies to the board, after the notice of appeal has been filed with it, that by reason of the facts stated in the certificate a stay would, in its opinion, cause imminent peril to life or property. In such case proceedings shall not be stayed otherwise than by a restraining order which may be granted by the board or by a court of record on application on notice to the agency from which the appeal is taken and on due cause shown.

The board shall fix a reasonable time for the hearing of the appeal, give public notice and due notice to the parties in interest, and decide the same within a reasonable time. Upon the hearing any party may appear in person or by agent or by attorney.

The board may, in conformity with the provisions of this Article, reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or modify, the order, requirement, decision or determination appealed from and may make such order, requirement, decision or determination as ought to be made, and to that end shall have all the powers of the administrative agency from which the appeal is taken.

The concurring vote of a majority of the members of the board shall be sufficient to reverse any order, requirement, decision, or determination of the administrative agency, or to decide in favor of the applicant on any matter upon which it is required to pass under any such ordinance, or to effect any variation in such ordinance. (1941, c. 250, s. 5; 1981, c. 891, s. 11.)

Local Modification. — City of Wilson: 1961, c. 635; 1963, c. 151.

§ 63-34. Judicial review.

(a) Any person aggrieved by any decision of the board of appeals, or any taxpayer, or any officer, department, board, or bureau of the political subdivision, may present to the superior court a verified petition setting forth that the decision is illegal, in whole or in part, and specifying the grounds of the illegality. Such petition shall be presented to the court within 30 days after the decision is filed in the office of the board.

(b) Upon presentation of such petition the court may allow a writ of certiorari directed to the board of appeals to review such decision of the board. The allowance of the writ shall not stay proceedings upon the decision appealed from, but the court may, on application, on notice to the board and on due cause shown, grant a restraining order.

(c) The board of appeals shall not be required to return the original papers acted upon by it, but it shall be sufficient to return certified or sworn copies thereof or of such portions thereof as may be called for by the writ. The return shall concisely set forth such other facts as may be pertinent and material to show the grounds of the decision appealed from and shall be verified.

(d) The court shall have exclusive jurisdiction to affirm, modify, or set aside the decision brought up for review, in whole or in part, and if need be, to order further proceedings by the board of appeals. The findings of fact by the board, if supported by substantial evidence, shall be accepted by the court as conclusive, and no objection to a decision of the board shall be considered by the court unless such objection shall have been urged before the board, or if it was not so urged, unless there were reasonable grounds for failure to do so.

(e) Costs shall not be allowed against the board of appeals unless it appears to the court that it acted with gross negligence, in bad faith, or with malice, in making the decision appealed from. (1941, c. 250, s. 6.)

§ 63-35. Enforcement and remedies.

Each violation of this Article or of any regulations, order, or ruling promulgated or made pursuant to this Article, shall constitute a Class 3 misdemeanor, and each day a violation continues to exist shall constitute a separate offense. In addition, the political subdivision within which the property is located may institute in any court of competent jurisdiction, an action to prevent, restrain, correct or abate any violation of this Article, or of airport zoning regulations adopted under this Article, or of any order or ruling made in connection with their administration or enforcement, and the court shall adjudge to the plaintiff such relief, by way of injunction (which may be mandatory) or otherwise, as may be proper under all the facts and circumstances of the case, in order fully to effectuate the purposes of this Article and of the regulations adopted and orders and rulings made pursuant thereto. (1941, c. 250, s. 7; 1993, c. 539, s. 498; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 63-36. Acquisition of air rights.

In any case in which:

(1) It is desired to remove, lower, or otherwise terminate a nonconforming use; or
(2) The approach protection necessary cannot, because of constitutional limitations, be provided by airport zoning regulations under this Article; or
(3) It appears advisable that the necessary approach protection be provided by acquisition of property rights rather than by airport zoning regulations, the political subdivision within which the property or nonconforming use is located or the political subdivision owning the airport or served by it may acquire, in the manner provided by the law under which municipalities are authorized to acquire real property for public purposes, such an air right, easement, or other estate or interest in the property or nonconforming use in question as may be necessary to effectuate the purposes of this Article.

If any political subdivision, or if any board or administrative agency appointed or selected by a political subdivision, shall adopt, administer or enforce any airport zoning regulations which results in the taking of, or in any other injury or damage to any existing structure, such political subdivision shall be liable therefor in damages to the owner or owners of any such property and the liability of the political subdivision shall include any expense which the owners of such property are required to incur in complying with any such zoning regulations. (1941, c. 250, s. 8.)

§ 63-37. Short title.

This Article shall be known and may be cited as the "Model Airport Zoning Act." (1941, c. 250, s. 10.)

§ 63-37.1. Airport obstructions illegal.

Any person, other than the owner or operator of an airport, who intentionally obstructs the lawful takeoff and landing operations and patterns of aircraft at an existing public or private airport shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1995, c. 507, s. 19.5(m).)

Aeronautics Commission; Federal Regulations.

§§ 63-38 through 63-44: Repealed by Session Laws 1949, c. 865, s. 1.

§ 63-45. Enforcement of Article.

It shall be the duty of every State, county and municipal officer charged with the enforcement of State and municipal laws to enforce and assist in the enforcement of this Article. (1945, c. 198, s. 8.)

§ 63-46: Repealed by Session Laws 1949, c. 865, s. 2.

§ 63-47. Enforcement of regulations of Civil Aeronautics Administration.

In the general public interest and safety, the safety of persons receiving instructions concerning or operating, using or traveling in aircraft, and of persons and property on the ground, and in the interest of aeronautical progress, the public officers of the State, counties and cities shall enforce the rules and regulations of the Civil Aeronautics Administration. (1945, c. 198, s. 10.)

Article 6.

Public Airports and Related Facilities.

§ 63-48: Transferred to § 63-1 by Session Laws 1971, c. 936, s. 2.

§ 63-49. Municipalities may acquire airports.

(a) Every municipality is hereby authorized, through its governing body, to acquire property, real or personal, for the purpose of establishing, constructing, and enlarging airports and other air navigation facilities and to acquire, establish, construct, enlarge, improve, maintain, equip, operate, and regulate such airports and other air navigation facilities and structures and other property incidental to their operation, either within and without the territorial limits of such municipality and within or without this State; to make, prior to any such acquisition, investigations, surveys, and plans; to construct, install, and maintain airport facilities for the servicing of aircraft and for the comfort and accommodation of air travelers; and to purchase and sell equipment and supplies as an incident to the operation of its airport properties. It may not, however, acquire or take over any airport or other air navigation facility owned or controlled by any other municipality of the State without the consent of such municipality. It may use for airport purposes any available property that is now or may at any time hereafter be owned or controlled by it. Such air navigation facilities as are established on airports shall be supplementary to and coordinated in design and operation with those established and operated by the federal government.

(b) All property needed by a municipality for an airport or restricted landing area, or for the enlargement of either, or for other airport purposes, may be acquired by purchase, gift, devise, lease or other means if such municipality is able to agree with the owners of said property on the terms of such acquisition, and otherwise by condemnation in the manner provided by the Chapter entitled Eminent Domain, full power to exercise the right of eminent domain for such purposes being hereby granted every municipality both within and without its territorial limits. If but one municipality is involved and the charter of such municipality prescribes a method of acquiring property by condemnation, proceedings shall be had pursuant to the provisions of such charter and may be followed as to property within or without its territorial limits. The fact that the property needed has been acquired by any agency or corporation authorized to institute condemnation proceedings under power of eminent domain shall not prevent its acquisition by the municipality by the exercise of the right of eminent domain herein conferred when such right is exercised on the approach zone or on the airport site. For the purpose of making surveys and examinations relative to any condemnation proceedings, it shall be lawful to enter upon any land, doing no unnecessary damage. Provided that municipalities building airports after the ratification of this Article shall not acquire by condemnation any property of any corporation engaged in the operation of a railroad or railroad bridge in this State if such property is used in the business of such corporation.

(c) Where necessary, in order to provide unobstructed air space for the landing and taking off of aircraft utilizing airports or restricted landing areas acquired or operated under the provisions of this Article, every municipality is authorized to acquire, in the same manner as is provided for the acquisition of property for airport purposes, easements through or other interests in air space over land or water, interests in airport hazards, or airport hazards outside the boundaries of the airports or restricted landing areas and such other airport protection privileges as are necessary to insure safe approaches to the landing areas of said airports or restricted landing areas and the safe and efficient operation thereof. It is also hereby authorized to acquire, in the same manner, land for the removal of airport hazards and the right of easement for a term of years or perpetually, to place or maintain suitable marks for the daytime marking and suitable lights for the nighttime marking of airport hazards, including the right of ingress or egress to or from such airport hazards for the purpose of maintaining and repairing such lights and marks. This authority shall not be so construed as to limit any right, power or authority to zone property adjacent to airports and restricted landing areas under the provisions of any law of this State.

(d) It shall be unlawful for anyone to build, rebuild, create, or cause to be built, rebuilt, or created any object, or plant, cause to be planted, or permit to grow higher any tree or trees or other vegetation which shall encroach upon any airport protection privileges acquired pursuant to the provisions of this section. Any such encroachment is declared to be a public nuisance and may be abated in the manner prescribed by law for the abatement of public nuisances, or the municipality in charge of the airport or restricted landing area for which airport protection privileges have been acquired as in this section provided, may go upon the land of others and remove any such encroachment without being liable for damages in so doing. (1945, c. 490, s. 2; c. 810; 1981, c. 919, s. 8.)

§ 63-50. Airports a public purpose.

The acquisition of any lands for the purpose of establishing airports or other air navigation facilities; the acquisition of airport protection privileges; the acquisition, establishment, construction, enlargement, improvement, maintenance, equipment and operation of airports and other air navigation facilities, and the exercise of any other powers herein granted to municipalities, are hereby declared to be public, governmental and municipal functions exercised for a public purpose and matters of public necessity, and such lands and other property, easements and privileges acquired and used by such municipalities in the manner and for the purposes enumerated in this Article, shall and are hereby declared to be acquired and used for public, governmental and municipal purposes and as a matter of public necessity. CASE NOTES

A municipality is liable for torts committed by it in the operation and maintenance of a municipal airport, since such activity is a proprietary or corporate function of the municipality, and this section, declaring such activity to be a public, governmental and municipal function exercised for a public purpose, does not purport to exempt it from tort liability. Rhodes v. City of Asheville, 230 N.C. 134, 52 S.E.2d 371, rehearing denied, 230 N.C. 759, 53 S.E.2d 313 (1949).

§ 63-51. Prior acquisition of airport property validated.

Any acquisition of property within or without the limits of any municipality for airports and other air navigation facilities or of airport protection privileges heretofore made by any such municipality in any manner, together with the conveyance and acceptance thereof, is hereby legalized and made valid and effective. (1945, c. 490, s. 4.)

§§ 63-51.1, 63-52: Repealed by Session Laws 1973, c. 695, s. 10.

§ 63-53. Specific powers of municipalities operating airports.

In addition to the general powers in this Article conferred, and without limitation thereof, a municipality which has established or may hereafter establish airports, restricted landing areas or other air navigation facilities, or which has acquired or set apart or may hereafter acquire or set apart real property for such purpose or purposes is hereby authorized:

(1) To vest authority for the construction, enlargement, improvement, maintenance, equipment, operation and regulation thereof in an officer, a board or body of such municipality by ordinance or resolution which shall prescribe the powers and duties of such officer, board or body. The expense of such construction, enlargement, improvement, maintenance, equipment, operation and regulation shall be a responsibility of the municipality.

(2) To adopt and amend all needful rules, regulations and ordinances for the management, government and use of any properties under its control whether within or without the territorial limits of the municipality; to appoint airport guards or police with full police powers; to fix by ordinance, penalties for the violation of said ordinances and enforce said penalties in the same manner in which penalties prescribed by other ordinances of the municipality are enforced. It may also adopt ordinances designed to safeguard the public upon or beyond the limits of private airports or landing strips within such municipality or its police jurisdiction against the perils and hazards of instrumentalities used in aerial navigation. Such ordinances shall be published as provided by general law or the charter of the municipality for the publication of similar ordinances. They must conform to and be consistent with the laws of this State and shall be kept in conformity, as nearly as may be, with the then current federal legislation governing aeronautics and the regulations duly promulgated thereunder and rules and standards issued from time to time pursuant thereto.

(3) To lease such airports or other air navigation facilities, or real property acquired or set apart for airport purposes, to private parties, to any municipal or State government or to the national government, or to any department of either thereof, for operation; to lease to private parties, to any municipal or State government or to the national government, or any department of either thereof, for operation or use consistent with the purpose of this Article, space, area, improvements, or equipment on such airports; to sell any part of such airports, other air navigation facilities or real property to any municipal government, or to the United States or to any department or instrumentality thereof, for aeronautical purposes or purposes incidental thereto, and to confer the privileges of concessions of supplying upon its airports goods, commodities, things, services and facilities; provided that in each case in so doing the public is not deprived of its rightful, equal, and uniform use thereof.

(4) To sell or lease any property, real or personal, acquired for airport purposes and belonging to the municipality, which, in the judgment of its governing body, may not be required for aeronautic purposes in accordance with the laws of this State or the provisions of the charter of the municipality governing the sale or leasing of similar municipally owned property.

(5) To determine the charge or rental for the use of any properties under its control and the charges for any services or accommodations and the terms and conditions under which such properties may be used, provided that in all cases the public is not deprived of its rightful, equal, and uniform use of such property. Charges shall be reasonable and uniform for the same class of service and established with due regard to the property and improvements used and the expense of operation to the municipality. The municipality shall have and may enforce liens as provided by law for liens and enforcement thereof, for repairs to or improvement or storage or care of any personal property, to enforce the payment of any such charges.

(6) To engage, on an airport, in commercial and industrial land development projects which relate to, develop, or further airborne commerce and cargo and passenger traffic, and, in connection with any project, to improve real estate on an airport and lease that improved real estate to public or private commercial and industrial enterprises, or contract with others to do so.

(7) To exercise all powers necessarily incidental to the exercise of the general and special powers herein created. (1945, c. 490, s. 6; 1991, c. 501, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Constitutionality. — Subdivisions (2), (3) and (5) of this section are not violative of equal protection as being devoid of appropriate standards. Pinehurst Airlines v. Resort Air Servs., Inc., 476 F. Supp. 543 (M.D.N.C. 1979).

Although the standard set out in subdivision (2) of this section for the enactment of managerial rules and regulations is limited to the word "needful," such a standard is sufficiently definite to serve as a reasonable and workable guide to an administrative body, whose activities require flexibility and a practical approach, without leaving that body to its own unfettered discretion. The standard for municipal action with respect to safety ordinances is definite enough to withstand constitutional scrutiny. Pinehurst Airlines v. Resort Air Servs., Inc., 476 F. Supp. 543 (M.D.N.C. 1979).

Subdivision (3) of this section is not constitutionally infirm on its face. Pinehurst Airlines v. Resort Air Servs., Inc., 476 F. Supp. 543 (M.D.N.C. 1979).

The requirement of some flexibility in landing fees must be considered implicit in the concept of reasonableness which forms the foundation of subdivision (5). Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Delta Air Lines, 429 F. Supp. 1069 (E.D.N.C. 1976).

A fee reasonable under subdivision (5) will also meet the test of reasonableness under the commerce clause of the United States Constitution. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Delta Air Lines, 429 F. Supp. 1069 (E.D.N.C. 1976).

There are no constitutional infirmities in the fixing of landing fees and space use charges so long as the municipality complies with the provisions of subdivision (5). Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Delta Air Lines, 429 F. Supp. 1069 (E.D.N.C. 1976).

Municipality May Award Franchise for Limousine Service to and from Airport. — The provisions of this section and §§ 63-2, 63-49, 63-50, and 62-260 authorize a municipal corporation to award a franchise contract granting the right to provide limousine service to a municipal airport upon certain terms and conditions set forth in the franchise ordinance. Harrelson v. City of Fayetteville, 271 N.C. 87, 155 S.E.2d 749 (1967).

A municipal corporation, owning and operating a public airport, is authorized to grant an exclusive franchise for the operation of a common carrier limousine service for the transportation of passengers and their baggage to and from the airport. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Stewart, 278 N.C. 227, 179 S.E.2d 424 (1971).

And, in so doing the municipality is acting in a proprietary capacity. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Stewart, 278 N.C. 227, 179 S.E.2d 424 (1971).

Under Like Rules and Regulations as Pursued by Private Individuals. — When given authority to do so a governmental entity is expected to perform a proprietary function under like rules and regulations as those pursued by private individuals. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Stewart, 278 N.C. 227, 179 S.E.2d 424 (1971).

Municipality may grant one or more concessions to car rental companies. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Stewart, 278 N.C. 227, 179 S.E.2d 424 (1971).

Or Taxicab Concession. — The authority of a municipality extends to the granting of an exclusive taxicab or limousine or car rental concession at the airport. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Stewart, 278 N.C. 227, 179 S.E.2d 424 (1971).

And may permit them to enter and remain upon its airport premises for the solicitation of business. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Stewart, 278 N.C. 227, 179 S.E.2d 424 (1971).

While Denying Such Privilege to Other Such Companies. — See Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Stewart, 278 N.C. 227, 179 S.E.2d 424 (1971).

But it may not forbid the other companies to enter its premises and remain thereon for such time as is reasonably necessary to discharge an outgoing passenger, with his baggage, or to pick up an incoming passenger, with his baggage, pursuant to an actual, previously made contract or a previously received request for such service. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Stewart, 278 N.C. 227, 179 S.E.2d 424 (1971).

A municipal corporation, operating a public airport, or other public transportation terminal, has no more extensive authority to exclude persons or vehicles from the terminal grounds than does a privately owned common carrier operating such a terminal for the use and convenience of its passengers. There is no basis for a distinction in this respect between an airport and a railroad or steamship terminal. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Stewart, 278 N.C. 227, 179 S.E.2d 424 (1971).

The operation of an airport by a county is a proprietary function. Pinehurst Airlines v. Resort Air Servs., Inc., 476 F. Supp. 543 (M.D.N.C. 1979).

A municipality operating an airport acts in a proprietary capacity. Piedmont Aviation, Inc. v. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth., 288 N.C. 98, 215 S.E.2d 552 (1975).

Fixing of Fees Not Administrative Decision. — The fixing by a municipal airport authority of fees it will charge for the use of its property is not an "administrative decision." Piedmont Aviation, Inc. v. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth., 288 N.C. 98, 215 S.E.2d 552 (1975).

In determining the fee it will charge for the privilege of landing an aircraft upon its runway and the rent it will charge for the use of its properties, a municipal airport authority is acting as the proprietor of the property, not as a regulatory agency. Piedmont Aviation, Inc. v. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth., 288 N.C. 98, 215 S.E.2d 552 (1975).

Unilateral fixing of fees under subdivision (5) is nowhere prohibited in this section, and no set procedure is required or commanded. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Delta Air Lines, 429 F. Supp. 1069 (E.D.N.C. 1976).

And Notice Not Required. — Nothing in this section requires a municipal airport authority to give notice to present or prospective users of its properties that the authority is contemplating a change in such fees and rental charges. Piedmont Aviation, Inc. v. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth., 288 N.C. 98, 215 S.E.2d 552 (1975); Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Delta Air Lines, 429 F. Supp. 1069 (E.D.N.C. 1976).

Nor Hearing. — No provision in this section requires that a municipal airport authority conduct a hearing, receive evidence and make findings of fact or that it follow any other procedural course in determining the landing fees or rentals to be charged by it. Piedmont Aviation, Inc. v. Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth., 288 N.C. 98, 215 S.E.2d 552 (1975); Raleigh-Durham Airport Auth. v. Delta Air Lines, 429 F. Supp. 1069 (E.D.N.C. 1976).

The proviso at the end of subdivision (3) contemplates that limits of some sort will be placed upon the activities of municipalities while engaged in the proprietary activity of operating a publicly owned airport. Pinehurst Airlines v. Resort Air Servs., Inc., 476 F. Supp. 543 (M.D.N.C. 1979).

Federal Antitrust Scrutiny of Exclusive Grant. — The legislative intent behind this section was not to direct or authorize a grant by a county of an exclusive fixed base operator status at an airport. Thus federal antitrust scrutiny of such an alleged arrangement would be proper. Pinehurst Airlines v. Resort Air Servs., Inc., 476 F. Supp. 543 (M.D.N.C. 1979).

Where a night watchman at a municipal airport kills a person on the property in the nighttime, the question of whether he was acting in his capacity as servant or agent of the airport, or in his capacity as a police officer, is a question of fact to be determined by the jury on an issue raised by proper pleadings. Rhodes v. City of Asheville, 230 N.C. 134, 52 S.E.2d 371, rehearing denied, 230 N.C. 759, 53 S.E.2d 313 (1949).

§ 63-54. Federal aid.

(a) A municipality is authorized to accept, receive, and receipt for federal moneys and other moneys, either public or private, for the acquisition, construction, enlargement, improvement, maintenance, equipment, or operation of airports and other air navigation facilities and sites therefor, and to comply with the provisions of the laws of the United States and any rules and regulations made thereunder for the expenditures of federal moneys upon such airports and other air navigation facilities.

(b) The governing body of any municipality is authorized, if necessary, to comply with any federal law or regulation of any agency thereof to designate the North Carolina Aeronautics Commission as its agents to accept, receive, and receipt for federal moneys in its behalf for airport purposes. Such moneys as are paid over by the United States government shall be paid over to said municipality under such terms and conditions as may be imposed by the United States government in making such grant.

(c) All contracts for the acquisition, construction, enlargement, improvement, maintenance, equipment, or operation of airports or other air navigation facilities made by the municipality shall be made pursuant to the laws of this State governing the making of like contracts, provided, however, that where such acquisition, construction, improvement, enlargement, maintenance, equipment or operation is financed wholly or partly with federal moneys the municipality may let contracts in the manner prescribed by the federal authorities, acting under the laws of the United States and any rules or regulations made thereunder notwithstanding any other State law to the contrary. (1945, c. 490, s. 7.)

§ 63-55. Airports on public waters and reclaimed land.

(a) The powers herein granted to a municipality to establish and maintain airports shall include the power to establish and maintain such airports in, over, and upon any public waters of this State within the limits or jurisdiction of or bordering on the municipality, any submerged land under such public water, and any artificial or reclaimed land which before the artificial making or reclamation thereof constituted a portion of the submerged land under such public waters, and as well the power to construct and maintain terminal buildings, landing floats, causeways, roadways and bridges for approaches to or connecting with the airport, and landing floats and breakwaters for the protection of any such airport.

(b) All the other powers herein granted municipalities with reference to airports on land or granted to them with reference to such airports in, over, and upon public waters, submerged land under public waters, and artificial or reclaimed land. (1945, c. 490, s. 8.)

§ 63-56. Joint operation of airports.

(a) All powers, rights and authority granted to any municipality in this Article may be exercised and enjoyed by two or more municipalities either within or without the territorial limits of either or any of said municipalities and within or without this State, or by any municipality acting jointly with any other municipality therein either within or without this State, provided the laws of such other state permit such joint action.

(b) Any two or more municipalities may enter into agreements with each other, duly authorized by ordinance or resolution, as may be appropriate, for joint action pursuant to the provisions of this section. Concurrent action by the governing bodies of the municipalities involved shall constitute joint action.

(c) Each such agreement shall specify its terms; the proportionate interest which each municipality shall have in the property, facilities and privileges involved, and the proportion of preliminary costs, costs of acquisition, establishment, construction, enlargement, improvement and equipment, and of expenses of maintenance, operation and regulation to be borne by each, and make such other provisions as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section. It shall provide for amendments thereof and for conditions and methods of termination; for the disposition of all or any part of the property, facilities and privileges jointly owned if said property, facilities and privileges, or any part thereof, shall cease to be used for the purposes herein provided or if the agreement shall be terminated, and for the distribution of the proceeds received upon any such disposition, and of any funds or other property jointly owned and undisposed of, and the assumption or payment of any indebtedness arising from the joint venture which remains unpaid, upon any such disposition or upon a termination of the agreement.

(d) Municipalities acting jointly as herein authorized may create a board from the inhabitants of such municipalities for the purpose of acquiring property for establishing, constructing, enlarging, improving, maintaining, equipping, operating and regulating the airports and other air navigation facilities and airport protection privileges to be jointly acquired, controlled, and operated. Such board shall consist of members to be appointed by the governing body of each municipality involved, the number to be appointed by each to be provided for by the agreement for the joint venture. Each member shall serve for such time and upon such terms and as to compensation, if any, as may be provided for in the agreement.

(e) Each such board shall organize, select officers for terms to be fixed by the agreement, and adopt and from time to time amend rules of procedure.

(f) Such board may exercise, on behalf of the municipalities acting jointly by which it is appointed, all the powers of each of such municipalities granted by this Article, except as herein provided, subject, however, to such limitations as may be contained in the agreement between such municipalities. Real property, airports, restricted landing areas, air protection privileges, or personal property costing in excess of a sum to be fixed by the joint agreement, may be acquired, and condemnation proceedings may be instituted, only by authority of the governing bodies of each of the municipalities involved. The total amount of expenditures to be made by the board for any purpose in any calendar year shall be determined by the municipalities involved by the approval by each. No real property and no airport, other air navigation facility, or air protection privilege, owned jointly, shall be disposed of by the board, by sale, or otherwise, except by authority of the appointed governing bodies, but the board may lease space, area or improvements and grant concessions on airports for aeronautical purposes or purposes incidental thereto.

(g) Each municipality is authorized and empowered to enact such ordinances as are provided for by this Article, and to fix by such ordinances penalties for the violation thereof, which ordinances shall have the same force and effect within the municipality which enacted them, and on any property controlled by it, either separately or jointly with another municipality, or adjacent thereto, whether within or without the territorial limits of it, or either or any of them, as ordinances of the municipality involved, and may be enforced in such municipality in like manner as are its other ordinances.

(h) Condemnation proceedings may be instituted in the names of two or more municipalities jointly, and the property acquired by such joint condemnation proceedings shall be held by the municipalities as tenants in common, each municipality being entitled to a pro rata interest in said property as the value of its contribution to the acquisition of said property bears to the total cost of acquiring said property, and in the event one municipality desires to acquire property for expansion of or addition to the facilities, and the other or others do not elect to join in the acquisition of such property, such municipality may institute condemnation proceedings in its name individually, and all property now owned or hereafter acquired by a municipal corporation for additions to or expansions of aeronautical facilities operated jointly shall be and remain the sole property of the municipal corporation acquiring same.

(i) For the purpose of providing funds for necessary expenditures in carrying out the provisions of this section, a joint fund shall be created and maintained, into which each of the municipalities involved shall deposit its proportionate share as provided by the joint agreement, and into which shall be paid the revenues obtained from the ownership, control and operation of the airports and other air navigation facilities jointly controlled.

(j) All disbursements from such fund shall be made by order of the board, subject, however, to such limitations as shall be contained in the agreement between such municipalities.

(k) Specific performance of the provisions of any joint agreement entered into as provided for in this section may be enforced as against any party thereto by the other party or parties thereto.

(l) In the event any property is now held or may hereafter be acquired by two or more municipalities for aeronautical purposes, and such municipalities do not agree upon the terms of an agreement, as heretofore provided, and shall not agree to create a board as heretofore provided, then and in that event a board of not less than five nor more than seven members shall be created from the inhabitants of such municipalities, each municipality being entitled to appoint as nearly as possible the proportionate number of representatives on said board as the value of its contribution shall bear to the entire amount of money or property so held by such municipalities for aeronautical purposes. In determining the value of the contribution of any municipality, the value of any funds or property used for the development of said property or the building of facilities on said property shall be taken into consideration.

(m) The said board shall have all powers given by this Article to boards created by agreements between municipalities, provided, however, that any funds appropriated by a municipality and turned over to the board for aeronautical purposes shall only be used for these purposes designated by the municipality furnishing such funds.

(n) The actions of such board shall be determined by a majority vote of the members thereof, and a majority of the members shall constitute a quorum for any meeting of the board, and such boards so created shall have full control of all revenues received by reason of the airport or other aeronautical facilities, and shall have power to expend all sums so received for such aeronautical purposes as the board deems proper, and pay over any surplus to municipalities in proportion to their respective interests.

(o) In the event the aeronautical facilities or any part thereof shall cease to be used for aeronautical purposes, such of the facilities as are jointly owned by two or more municipalities shall be sold, and each municipality shall receive its pro rata proportion of the sums realized from the sale of facilities jointly owned.

(p) In the event aeronautical facilities are now owned or hereafter acquired by two or more municipalities, and are operated under a board as hereinabove provided, and one or more of such municipalities deem it advisable to expand or enlarge the facilities or invest more money in such facilities, all of the municipalities then having representation on the board shall be entitled, if they so desire, to contribute their pro rata part of such additional investment and maintain their pro rata representation on said board, provided, however, that if one or more of the municipalities involved shall fail to contribute its or their proportionate part of such additional investment, the representation of such municipality on such board shall be readjusted, to the end that the representation of each municipality on said board shall represent as nearly as possible its pro rata contribution to the entire investment.

Provided further that where one municipality at the time of the passage of this Article shall have invested more than one half of the total investment in a jointly owned airport, then, and in that event the minority owner or owners shall be allowed five years from the date of the passage of this Article in which to pay over to the majority owner a sum sufficient to equalize the amount of ownership of the present minority owner or owners with the total ownership of the majority owner. Provided further that this Article shall not be construed to amend or impair in any respect contracts or agreements in effect at the time of the adoption of this Article.

(q) In the case of an airport board or commission authorized by agreement between two cities, as defined in G.S. 160A-1(2), pursuant to this section, one of which is located partially but not wholly in the county in which the jointly owned airport is located, and where the board or commission provided water and wastewater services off the airport premises before January 1, 1995, the board or commission shall have the authority to acquire, construct, establish, enlarge, improve, maintain, own, operate and contract for the operation of water supply and distribution systems and wastewater collection, treatment and disposal systems of all types, on and off the airport premises. In no event, however, shall such a board or commission be held liable for damages to those off the airport premises for failure to provide such water or wastewater services. (1945, c. 490, s. 9; 1995 (Reg. Sess., 1996), c. 644, s. 1.)

§ 63-57. Powers specifically granted to counties.

(a) The purposes of this Article are specifically declared to be county purposes as well as generally public, governmental and municipal.

(b) The powers herein granted to all municipalities are specifically declared to be granted to counties in this State, any other statute to the contrary notwithstanding. (1945, c. 490, s. 10.)

Further, airport terminal and security areas, seaplane bases, and heliports are also eligible for State financial aid.

(2) Loans and grants of State funds shall be limited to a maximum of fifty percent (50%) of the nonfederal share of the total cost of any project for which aid is requested, and shall be made only for the purpose of supplementing such other funds, public or private, as may be available from federal or local sources provided, however, using one hundred percent (100%) State funding in its discretion the Department of Transportation may purchase, install and maintain navigational aids necessary for the safe, efficient use of airspace and may conduct other projects or programs to improve the safety and planning of the air transportation system, including but not limited to, marking serviceable runways and taxiways. Further, the Department of Transportation may contract out the maintenance and installation of state-owned navigational aids when necessary and may give or transfer such aids to the Federal Aviation Administration.

(3) Loans and grants of State funds shall be made from General Assembly appropriations specifically designated for aviation improvement, and from no other source. (4) Notwithstanding the provisions of this section or G.S. 63-67, the Department of Transportation may allow up to ten percent (10%) of State aviation grant funds to be used for maintenance on General Aviation and Air Carrier Airports having a Department of Transportation approved maintenance plan on a seventy-five percent (75%) local — twenty-five percent (25%) State basis.

(5) Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, the Department of Transportation may allow loans and grants of State funds up to eighty percent (80%) of the nonfederal share of the total cost of the development of new or unpaved publicly owned airports identified in the North Carolina Airport System Plan, provided that such funding shall be limited to land acquisition, site preparation, basic runway, taxiway, and apron system construction, together with associated lighting and navigational aids, and construction of the primary airport access road. Electronic navigational aids, terminal buildings, access taxiways, and other items eligible for State airport aid at the rate of fifty percent (50%) of the nonfederal share of project cost shall not be eligible for the foregoing eighty percent (80%) State funding, even though constructed as part of the initial airport development.

(6) Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, the Department of Transportation may allow loans and grants of State funds up to ninety percent (90%) of the total cost of the development of new or unpaved publicly owned rural airports identified in the North Carolina Airport System Plan and receiving no federal funding. authority to comply with federal-aid provisions, to obtain and to disburse said grants in accordance with applicable federal laws and regulations, and to enter into contracts with the federal government, municipalities, counties, or airport authorities in connection with said grants. The Department shall also have the authority to enter into contracts with the Federal Aviation Administration or its successor agency for aeronautics related purposes, including joint acquisition and installation of aviation related equipment in accordance with the procurement procedures of the Federal Aviation Administration where such method of acquisition would result in a cost savings to the Department.

(b) The Department of Transportation shall have authority to act as an agent of any public agency which, either individually or jointly with one or more other public agencies, submits to the Secretary of Transportation of the United States an application for federal aid in connection with airport development, improvement, or planning. § 63-79. Definitions.

As used in this Article, the following words and terms shall have the following meanings, unless the context shall indicate another or different meaning or intent:

(1) "Aeronautical facilities" means airports, runways, terminals, hangars and other facilities related thereto;

(2) "District" means a special airport district created under the provisions of this Article;

(3) "District board" or "board" means a special airport district board established under the provisions of this Article as the governing body of a district;

(4) "Governing body" means the board, commission, council or other body, by whatever name it may be known, of a unit of local government in which the general legislative powers thereof are vested;

The district shall comprise the territory of the participating units. The district shall be designated "Special Airport District of ____" and shall be of such duration as the participating units shall determine.

(b) Prior to the adoption of any resolutions creating a special airport district, there shall be held a joint public hearing convened by the governing bodies of each of the participating units of government concerning the creation of the proposed special airport district. The presiding officers of the governing body of the units proposing to create such district shall name a time and place within the proposed district at which the public hearing shall be held. The presiding officers shall give prior notice of such hearing at the courthouse of the county or counties within which the district lies and also by publication at least once a week for two successive weeks in a newspaper having general circulation in the proposed district, the first publication to be at least 30 days prior to such hearing. (c) Following the joint public hearing but prior to the adoption by a unit of local government of any resolution creating a special airport district, the governing body of such unit may submit the question of the unit's participation in a special airport district to the qualified voters of such unit. The governing body of _____ and the governing body of _____ passed resolutions on _____, ____, and on _____, ____, respectively, creating the Special Airport District of _____. Notice of the creation of such special airport district is hereby given on the date hereof. Any action or proceeding questioning the validity of the resolutions or the creation of the special airport district must be commenced within 30 days after the publication of this notice.

After the expiration of such period of limitation, no right of action or defense founded upon the invalidity of the resolutions or the creation of the special airport district shall be asserted nor shall the validity of the resolutions or the creation of such airport district be open to question in any court upon any ground whatever, except in an action or proceeding commenced within such period. (a) Appointment of Board for District. — The board of the special airport district shall be composed of two representatives from each of the participating units of local government appointed annually by the governing body of each of said units of local government, respectively, from among their members at the first regular meeting thereof in January. Each member of the district board must be a member of the governing body of the unit of local government by which he was appointed. Membership on the district board may be held in addition to the offices authorized by G.S. 128-1 or 128-1.1. Said representatives shall hold office from their appointment until their successors are appointed and qualified, except that when any member of the district board ceases for any reason to be a member of the governing body of the unit of local government by which he was appointed, he shall simultaneously cease to be a member of said district board. Upon the occurrence of any vacancy on said district board, the vacancy shall be filled within 30 days after notice thereof by the governing body of the participating unit of local government having a vacancy in its representation. Within 30 days after the expiration of the period set forth in G.S. 63-80 hereof, the governing body of each participating unit of local government shall appoint its representatives to hold office until successors shall be appointed in the manner hereinbefore provided. Each member, including the chairman, shall be entitled to vote on any question.

After the expiration of such period of limitation, no right of action or defense founded upon the invalidity of the amendatory resolutions or the inclusion of the unit of local government in the district shall be asserted, nor shall the validity of the amendatory resolutions or the inclusion of the unit of local government in the district be open to question in any court upon any ground whatever, except in an action or proceeding commenced within such period. Provided that no such action or proceeding to set aside such amendatory resolutions shall impair or otherwise affect the conclusivity of the concurrent resolutions as provided in G.S. 63-80.

(e) Immediately following the inclusion of any additional unit of local government within an existing district, members representing such additional unit of local government shall be appointed to the district board in the manner provided in G.S. 63-81 hereof.

(5) To rent, lease, purchase, acquire, own, encumber, dispose of, or mortgage real or personal property, including the power to acquire property by eminent domain pursuant to G.S. 63A-6.

(6) To establish, construct, purchase, maintain, equip, and operate any structure or facilities to aid commerce associated with a cargo airport complex, including the construction of highways, bridges, shipping facilities, electronic cargo transfer systems, mass transit systems, and other transportation facilities. Before constructing a highway or a bridge, the Authority shall consult with the Department of Transportation.

(7) To create and operate agencies and departments needed to implement this Chapter.

(8) To pay all necessary costs and expenses in the formation, organization, administration, and operation of the Authority.

(9) To apply for, accept, and administer loans and grants of money from any federal agency, from the State or its political subdivisions, or from any other public or private sources available, to expend the money in accordance with the requirements imposed by the lender or donor, and to give any evidences of indebtedness that are required. No indebtedness of any kind incurred or created by the Authority shall constitute an indebtedness of the State or its political subdivisions, and no indebtedness of the Authority shall involve or be secured by the faith, credit, or taxing power of the State or its political subdivisions.

(10) To adopt, alter, or repeal its own bylaws or rules implementing the provisions of this Chapter.

(11) To execute financing agreements, security documents, and other instruments necessary in exercising its power under this Chapter.

(12) To fix, charge, collect, pledge, or assign revenues of the Authority.

(13) To employ consulting engineers, architects, attorneys, real estate counselors, appraisers, and other consultants and employees as may be required in the judgment of the Board and to fix and pay their compensation from funds available to the Authority, and, when approved by the Local Government Commission under G.S. 159-123(e) and (f) as if the Authority were an issuing unit, to select and retain financial consultants, underwriters, and bond attorneys in connection with the issuance of any bonds and to pay for their services out of the proceeds of any bond issue for which their services were performed.

(14) To issue bonds or notes of the Authority as provided under this Chapter to pay the costs of a project.

(15) To issue revenue refunding bonds of the Authority as provided under this Chapter.

(16) To procure and maintain adequate insurance or otherwise provide for adequate protection to indemnify the Authority and its officers, directors, agents, employees, adjoining property owners, or the general public against loss or liability resulting from any act or omission by or on behalf of the Authority.

(17) To purchase or finance real or personal property in the manner provided for cities and counties under G.S. 160A-20.

(18) To enter into agreements with counties pursuant to G.S. 63A-15.

(19) To exercise the powers granted political subdivisions under Article 4, Chapter 63 of the General Statutes, and to exercise the powers granted to municipalities and counties under Article 6, Chapter 63 of the General Statutes, governing public airports and related facilities.

(20) To act as agent for the United States of America or any agency of the United States in any matter within the purpose of this Chapter. When acting as agent for the United States or one of its agencies, the Authority shall keep the interest of the State paramount.

(21) With the approval of any unit of local government, to use officers, employees, agents, and facilities of the unit of local government for the purposes and upon the terms as may be mutually agreeable.

(22) To issue obligations, without Local Government Commission approval, to finance the purchase or acquisition of land or options on land, or the construction of buildings or facilities. An obligation may be secured by the land purchased or acquired, or by the buildings or facilities constructed, may be unsecured, or may be made payable from revenues, the proceeds of notes, bonds, or the sale of any lands, the proceeds of any bonds of the State or moneys appropriated by the State, or any other available moneys of the Authority. An obligation to finance the purchase or acquisition of land or options on land, or the construction of buildings or facilities, may be sold only to the Escheat Fund as an investment of the Fund pursuant to G.S. 147-69.2(b)(11).

(23) To receive and use appropriations from the State, including an appropriation from the proceeds of State general obligation bonds or notes.

(b) To execute the powers provided in subsection (a) of this section, the Board shall determine the policies of the Authority by majority vote of the members of the Board present and voting, a quorum having been established. Once a policy is determined, the Board shall communicate it to the executive director, who shall have the sole and exclusive authority to execute the policy of the Authority. No member of the Board shall have the responsibility or authority to give operational directives to any employee of the Authority other than the executive director. (1991, c. 749, s. 1; 2000-67, s. 25.3.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2000-67, s. 1.1, provides: "This act shall be known as 'The Current Operations and Capital Improvements Appropriations Act of 2000.'"

Session Laws 2000-67, s. 28.4, contains a severability clause.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2000-67, s. 25.3, effective July 1, 2000, inserted "or by the buildings or facilities constructed" and substituted "land, or the construction of buildings or facilities" for "land" twice in subdivision (a)(22).

§ 63A-5. Taxation of property of Authority.

Property owned by the Authority is exempt from taxation in accordance with Article V, § 2 of the North Carolina Constitution. Property that is part of or is located on a cargo airport complex site and is not owned by the Authority, including property that is part of a special user project, is not exempt from tax due to its location. (1991, c. 749, s. 1.)

§ 63A-6. Acquisition, disposition, or exchange of real property.

(a) General. The Authority may acquire real property by purchase, negotiation, gift, devise, or eminent domain. Any acquisition by eminent domain by the Authority of real property or an estate or interest in real property must be reviewed and approved by the Council of State before it can become effective. When the Authority acquires real property owned by the State, the Secretary of the Department of Administration shall execute and deliver to the Authority a deed transferring fee simple title to the property to the Authority.

(b) Eminent Domain. To exercise the power of eminent domain, the Authority shall commence a proceeding in its name and may follow any procedure set by law by which a State agency or a political subdivision of the State may exercise the power of eminent domain. The Authority's exercise of the power of eminent domain is subject to review and approval by the Council of State.

The Authority's power of eminent domain applies to all property, including property that is owned by a State agency or a political subdivision of the State and is already devoted to a specific use other than as an airport established under Chapter 63 of the General Statutes. The Authority may acquire by eminent domain property that is owned by a political subdivision and is used as an airport established under Chapter 63 of the General Statutes only after obtaining the approval of the governing body of each political subdivision that established the airport. The Authority may not begin an eminent domain proceeding before it obtains the Council of State's approval for the acquisition of the property to be condemned.

(c) Exchange. The Authority may exchange any property it acquires for other property usable in carrying out the powers conferred on the Authority and also, upon the payment of just compensation, may remove a building, a terminal, or another structure from land needed for its purposes and reconstruct the structure on another location. The Authority may not use the power of eminent domain to acquire property for exchange.

(d) Site Selection. In selecting a site for a cargo airport complex, the Authority shall consider comprehensive plans and land-use regulations adopted by local governments and the capability of local governments to provide services as specified in subdivisions (1) through (3) of this subsection. This subsection shall not be construed to require the Authority to comply with any local ordinance, regulation, or plan except as may be otherwise specifically provided by federal or State law, regulation, or rule. Plans, regulations, and capabilities to be considered are:

(1) Local comprehensive plans, including education, emergency response, law enforcement, water supply, stormwater management, solid waste management, and wastewater treatment.

(2) Local land use regulations, including appearance, floodplain zoning, subdivision zoning, and watershed protection elements.
(3) The capability of local governments to provide services and manage growth and development related to establishment of a cargo airport complex. (1991, c. 749, s. 1; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 900, s. 108(f), (g).)

§ 63A-7. Police power.

(a) The Authority has jurisdiction within a cargo airport complex site. The Board may adopt ordinances regulating traffic and parking within the cargo airport complex site and for the safety and welfare of those using the cargo airport complex. An ordinance adopted under this subsection shall be recorded in the minutes of the Board. A copy of the ordinance shall be filed in the office of the Attorney General of North Carolina and shall be posted at appropriate places in the cargo airport complex site. Any person who violates an ordinance of the Authority is guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor.

(b) The executive director of the Authority may designate employees of the Authority as special police officers. A person designated as a special police officer has jurisdiction within the cargo airport complex site to arrest a person who violates any federal or State law or any ordinance of the Authority and has other powers to the same extent as police officers of incorporated municipalities. An employee designated as a special police officer shall take the oath of a law enforcement officer set out in G.S. 11-11. (1991, c. 749, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 499; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 63A-8. Authority funds.

All Authority funds shall be deposited in one or more banks to be designated by the Board. Funds of the Authority shall be paid out only upon warrants signed by the treasurer or assistant treasurer of the Authority and countersigned by the chair, the acting chair, or the executive director. No warrants shall be drawn or issued disbursing any of the funds of the Authority except for a purpose authorized by this Chapter and only when the account or expenditure has been audited and approved by the Authority or its executive director. (1991, c. 749, s. 1.)

§ 63A-9. Bonds and notes.

(a) The Authority may provide for the issuance, at one time or from time to time, of bonds and notes, including bond anticipation notes and renewal notes, of the Authority to carry out its corporate purposes including financing the costs of projects. The principal of and interest on the bonds or notes shall be payable from funds provided under this Chapter for their payment. A bond anticipation note may be made payable from the proceeds of bonds or renewal notes or, in the event bond or renewal note proceeds are not available, from any available Authority revenues or other funds provided for this purpose. Bonds and notes may also be paid from the proceeds of any credit facility.

All bonds, notes, or refunding bonds or notes of the Authority are subject to this section and G.S. 63A-10. All bonds, notes, or refunding bonds or notes to finance or refinance a special user project are also subject to G.S. 63A-11.

The bonds and notes of each issue shall be dated and may be made redeemable prior to maturity at the option of the Authority or otherwise, at one or more prices, on one or more dates, and upon the terms and conditions set by the Authority. The bonds or notes may also be made payable from time to time on demand or tender for purchase by the owner upon terms and conditions set by the Authority.

A bond or note shall bear interest at a rate or rates, including variable rates, as determined by the Local Government Commission with the approval of the Authority. A bond or note may be secured by a reserve fund created for that purpose and funded from proceeds of the bond or note, revenues, or any other source of funds available to the Authority.

(b) In fixing the details of bonds or notes, the Authority may provide that the bonds or notes may:

(1) Be payable from time to time on demand or tender for purchase by the owner of the bond or note if a credit facility supports the bond or note, unless the Local Government Commission specifically determines that a credit facility is not required because the absence of a credit facility will not materially and adversely affect the financial position of the Authority and the marketing of the bonds or notes at a reasonable interest cost to the Authority.

(2) Be additionally supported by a credit facility.

(3) Be made subject to redemption or a mandatory tender for purchase prior to maturity.

(4) Be capital appreciation bonds.

(5) Bear interest at a rate or rates that may vary, including variations permitted pursuant to a par formula.

(6) Be made the subject of a remarketing agreement whereby an attempt is made to remarket the bonds or notes to new purchasers prior to their presentment for payment to the provider of the credit facility or to the Authority.

(c) Notes and bonds shall mature at the times determined by the Authority, not to exceed 40 years from the date of issue. The Authority shall determine the form and manner of execution of a bond or note, including any interest coupons to be attached to the bond or note. The Authority shall fix the denominations and places of payment of principal and interest of the bond or note. The principal of and interest on a bond or note may be paid at any bank or trust company, whether located inside or outside the United States of America.

(d) The validity of a bond, note, or coupon that has the signature or facsimile signature of a person who was an officer when the bond, note, or coupon was signed or the facsimile signature attached but who is not that officer when the bond, note, or coupon is delivered is not affected by the change in officers. A bond, note, or coupon may bear the signature or facsimile signature of a person who will be the proper officer to sign the bond, note, or coupon when it is executed but who is not the officer on the date of the bond, note, or coupon.

(e) The Authority may provide for any of the following:

(1) Authentication of a bond or note by a trustee or other authenticating agent.

(2) Issuance of a bond or note as a certificated obligation, an uncertificated obligation, or both.

(3) Issuance of a bond or note in coupon form, in registered form, or both.

(4) Registration of a coupon bond or note as to principal alone or as to both principal and interest.

(5) The reconversion of a bond or note registered as to both principal and interest into a coupon bond or note.

(6) The interchange of registered and coupon bonds or notes.

(7) A system for registration in accordance with Chapter 159E of the General Statutes.

(8) Replacement of a bond or note that has been mutilated, lost, or destroyed.

(f) The Authority may not issue a bond or note under this Chapter, other than an obligation permitted under G.S. 63A-4(a)(22), unless its issuance is approved by the Local Government Commission, and it is sold by the Local Government Commission. To obtain approval of a bond or note, the Authority shall file an application for approval with the Local Government Commission. The application shall contain the information required by the Local Government Commission.

In determining whether to approve a proposed bond or note issue of the Authority, the Local Government Commission shall consider the following:

(1) For bonds or notes to finance airport projects, the criteria for its approval of revenue bonds under G.S. 159-86.

(2) For bonds or notes to finance special user projects, the criteria used for its approval of industrial bonds under G.S. 159C-8.

(3) The effect of the proposed financing upon any proposed or scheduled sale of obligations by the State, another State agency, or a unit of local government.

The Local Government Commission shall approve the proposed bond or note issue if it determines that the proposed financing for the issue meets the criteria and will effect the purposes of this Chapter.

When the Local Government Commission approves a bond or note issue of the Authority, the Authority may submit a written request to the Local Government Commission to sell the approved bonds or notes. Upon receiving a written request, the Local Government Commission shall consult with the Authority on the manner in which the bonds or notes will be sold and the price or prices at which the bonds or notes will be sold. With the approval of the Authority, the Local Government Commission shall sell the bonds or notes either at public or private sale in the manner and at the prices determined to be in the best interest of the Authority and to effect the purposes of this Chapter.

Bonds or notes may be issued under this Chapter without obtaining, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Chapter, the consent of any department, division, commission, board, body, bureau, or other agency of the State or without any other proceedings or conditions except as specifically authorized by this Chapter or by the provisions of the resolution authorizing the issuance of, or any trust agreement securing, the bonds or notes.

(g) Each bond or note that is represented by an instrument shall contain a statement signed by the Secretary of the Local Government Commission, or an assistant designated by the Secretary, certifying that the issuance of the bond or note has been approved under this Chapter. The signature may be a manual signature or a facsimile signature, as determined by the Local Government Commission. Each bond or note that is not represented by an instrument shall be evidenced by a writing relating to the obligation that identifies the obligation or the issue of which it is a part, contains the signed statement certifying approval of the Local Government Commission that is required on an instrument, and is filed with the Local Government Commission. A certification of approval by the Local Government Commission is conclusive evidence that a bond or note complies with this Chapter.

(h) The proceeds of a bond or note shall be used solely for the purposes for which the bond or note was issued and shall be disbursed in accordance with the resolution authorizing the issuance of the bond or note and with any trust agreement securing the bond or note.

(i) Prior to the preparation of definitive bonds, the Authority may issue interim receipts or temporary bonds, with or without coupons, exchangeable for definitive bonds when the bonds have been executed and are available for delivery.

(j) The Authority may secure a bond or note issued under this Chapter by a trust agreement between the Authority and a corporate trustee. The corporate trustee may be any trust company or bank having the powers of a trust company inside or outside the State. The Authority may secure a bond or note issued under this Chapter by a deed of trust. The trustee of the deed of trust may be an individual who is a resident of the State. A bank or trust company that is incorporated in this State and is a depository of the proceeds of obligations, revenues, or other money of an Authority may furnish indemnifying bonds or pledge securities required by the Authority.

The pledge of any assets, income, or revenues of the Authority to the payment of the principal of or the interest on any obligations of the Authority is binding from the time the pledge is made, and any assets, income, or revenues of the Authority are immediately subject to the lien of the pledge without any physical delivery or other act. The lien created by a pledge is binding against all persons who have claims of any kind against the Authority, regardless of whether they have notice of the lien.

(k) A resolution authorizing the issuance of a bond or note and a trust agreement securing a bond or note may provide that any moneys held under the resolution or trust agreement may be temporarily invested pending disbursement. Any officer with whom, or any bank or trust company with which, the moneys are deposited is considered a trustee of the moneys and must hold and apply the moneys for their stated purpose in accordance with this Chapter and the resolution or trust agreement. The Authority may invest any moneys, other than the proceeds of bonds issued to finance special user projects, as allowed in G.S. 147-69.1 for investments of the State Treasurer or in this subsection. The proceeds of bonds issued to finance special user projects may be invested as provided in the security document for the bonds.

In connection with or incidental to the acquisition or carrying of any investment relating to bonds, program of investment relating to bonds, or carrying of bonds, the Authority may, with the approval of the Local Government Commission, enter into a contract to place the investment or obligation of the Authority, as represented by the bonds, investment, or program of investment and the contract or contracts, in whole or in part, on an interest rate, currency, cash-flow, or other basis, including the following:

(1) Interest rate swap agreements, currency swap agreements, insurance agreements, forward payment conversion agreements, and futures.
(2) Contracts providing for payments based on levels of, or changes in, interest rates, currency exchange rates, or stock or other indices.
(3) Contracts to exchange cash flows or a series of payments.
(4) Contracts to hedge payment, currency, rate, spread, or similar exposure, including interest rate floors or caps, options, puts, and calls.

The Authority may enter a contract of this type in connection with, or incidental to, entering into or maintaining any agreement that secures bonds. A contract shall contain the payment, security, term, default, remedy, and other terms and conditions the Board considers appropriate. The Authority may enter a contract of this type with any person after giving due consideration, where applicable, of the person's credit-worthiness as determined by a rating by a nationally recognized rating agency or any other criteria the Board considers appropriate. In connection with, or incidental to, the issuance or carrying of bonds, or the entering of any contract described in this subsection, the Authority may enter into credit enhancement or liquidity agreements, with payment, interest rate, termination date, currency, security, default, remedy, and other terms and conditions as the Authority determines. Proceeds of bonds and any moneys set aside and pledged to secure payment of bonds or any of the contracts entered into under this subsection may be pledged to and used to service any of the contracts entered into under this section.

(l) Bonds and notes are exempt from all State, county, and municipal taxation or assessment, direct or indirect, general or special, whether imposed for the purpose of general revenue or otherwise, excluding inheritance and gift taxes, income taxes on the gain from the transfer of bonds and notes, and franchise taxes. The interest on bonds and notes is not subject to taxation as income.

(m) Bonds or notes issued under this Chapter shall not constitute a debt secured by a pledge of the faith and credit of the State or a political subdivision of the State and shall be payable solely from the revenues, income, or assets of the Authority that are pledged for their payment. The face of each bond or note issued shall contain a statement that the Authority is obligated to pay the bond or note or the interest on the bond or note only from the revenues, income, or assets pledged in payment of the bond or note and that neither the faith and credit nor the taxing power of the State or any political subdivision of the State is pledged in payment of the principal of or the interest on the bond or note.

(n) The State pledges to the holder of a bond or note issued under this Chapter that, as long as the bond or note is outstanding and unpaid, the State will not limit or alter the power the Authority had when the bond or note was issued in a way that impairs the ability of the Authority to produce revenues sufficient with other available funds to do all of the following:

(1) Maintain and operate the project for which the bond or note was issued.

(2) Pay the principal of, interest on, and redemption premium, if any, of the bond or note.

(3) Fulfill the terms of an agreement with the holder.

The State further pledges to the holder of a bond or note issued under this Chapter that the State will not impair the rights and remedies of the holder concerning the bond or note.

(o) Obligations issued under this Chapter are made securities in which all public officers and public bodies of the State and its political subdivisions, and all insurance companies, trust companies, banking associations, investment companies, executors, administrators, trustees, and other fiduciaries may properly and legally invest funds, including capital in their control or belonging to them. The obligations are made securities that may properly and legally be deposited with and received by any State or municipal officer or any agency or political subdivision of the State for any purpose for which the deposit of bonds, notes, or obligations of the State is now or may be authorized by law. (1991, c. 749, s. 1; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 1030, s. 16; 1995, c. 46, s. 2.)

§ 63A-10. Refunding bonds or notes.

(a) Issuance. — The Authority may issue refunding bonds or notes for the purpose of refunding any outstanding bonds or notes issued under this Chapter, including any redemption premium on the bonds or notes and any interest accrued or to accrue to the date of redemption. Refunding bonds or notes shall be issued in accordance with the same procedures and requirements as bonds or notes. Refunding bonds or notes may be sold or exchanged for outstanding bonds and notes issued under this Chapter.

Refunding bonds or notes may have different interest rates and maturities than the bonds or notes being refunded. The proceeds of refunding bonds or notes may be applied to any of the following:

(1) The payment, purchase, and retirement of the bonds or notes being refunded by direct application to the payment, purchase, and retirement.

(2) The payment, purchase, and retirement of the bonds or notes being refunded by the deposit in trust of the proceeds.

(3) The payment of any expenses incurred in connection with the refunding.

(4) For any other uses not inconsistent with the refunding.

(b) Proceeds. — The proceedings providing for the issuance of refunding bonds or notes may limit the investments in which the proceeds of a particular refunding issue may be invested. Unless prohibited by the proceedings, the proceeds of refunding bonds or notes that are deposited in trust for the payment, purchase, and retirement of outstanding bonds or notes may be invested in any of the following:

(1) Direct obligations of the United States of America.

(2) Obligations whose principal and interest are guaranteed by the United States of America.

(3) Evidences of ownership of a proportionate interest in an obligation that is described in subdivisions (1) or (2) of this subsection and is held in a custodial capacity by a bank or trust company organized under the laws of the United States of America or a state.

(4) Obligations of the State or a unit of local government of the State when payment of the principal of and interest on the obligations has been provided for by depositing with a trustee or other escrow agent obligations that meet all of the following:

a. Are described in subdivisions (1), (2), or (3) of this subsection.

b. When due and payable, will provide enough money when added to any other money held in trust for this purpose to pay the principal of, premium, if any, and interest on the State or local obligations.

c. Are rated in the highest category by Standard & Poor's Corporation and Moody's Investors Service, Inc.

(5) Obligations of the State or a unit of local government when payment of the principal and interest on the obligations is insured by a bond insurance company rated in the highest category by Standard & Poor's Corporation and Moody's Investors Service, Inc.

(6) Full faith and credit obligations of the State or a unit of local government of the State that are rated in the highest category by Standard & Poor's Corporation and Moody's Investors Service, Inc.

(7) Any obligations or investments in which the State Treasurer is then authorized to invest funds of the State.

(c) Scope. — This section does not limit any of the following:

(1) The period for which the proceeds of refunding bonds or notes may be held in trust to retire the bonds or notes that are being refunded and have not matured, are not redeemable or, if redeemable, have not been called for redemption.

(2) The power to issue bonds or notes for the combined purpose of refunding outstanding bonds or notes and of providing funds for any other corporate purpose. (1991, c. 749, s. 1.)

§ 63A-11. Special user project bonds or notes.

(a) The Authority may, subject to the provisions of this section, G.S. 63A-9, and, if applicable, G.S. 63A-10, issue, at one time or from time to time, bonds and notes to finance or refinance special user projects. Bonds and notes to finance or refinance special user projects may be sold irrespective of the interest limitations in G.S. 24-1.1.

(b) Bonds or notes issued by the Authority under this section are special, limited obligations of the Authority payable solely from the following:

(1) The Authority's revenues, income, or assets that it specifically assigns or pledges for payment.

(2) The funds, collateral, and undertakings of a private party that are assigned or pledged by that party.

(c) Bonds and notes issued under this section may be secured by one or more agreements, including foreclosable deeds of trust and other trust instruments. An agreement may pledge and assign to the trustee or the holders of its obligations the assets, revenues, and income provided for the security of the bonds or notes, including proceeds from the sale of any special user project or part thereof, insurance proceeds, condemnation awards, and third-party agreements, and may convey or mortgage the project and other property and collateral to secure a bond issue.

The Authority may subordinate the bonds or notes or its rights, assets, revenues, and income derived from any special user project to any prior, contemporaneous, or future securities or obligations or lien, mortgage, or other security interest.

(d) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Authority may agree that all contracts relating to the acquisition, construction, installation, and equipping of the special user project shall be solicited, negotiated, awarded, and executed by the private parties for which the Authority is financing the special user project or any agents of the private parties subject only to approval by the Authority as the Authority may require. The Authority may, out of the proceeds of bonds or notes, make advances to or reimburse the private parties or their agents for all or a portion of the costs incurred in connection with the contracts.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2000-169, s. 37, effective July 1, 2001, rewrote subsection (e).

Session Laws 2001-218, s. 5, effective July 1, 2001, repealed subsection (e), which read: "Article 9 of Chapter 25 of the General Statutes applies to transactions under this section but not to transactions involving the issuance of bonds for airport projects."

§ 63A-12. Public hearing requirements.

To the extent federal tax law requires public hearings to be held with respect to the issuance of bonds to finance projects, the hearings may be called for by the executive director and held before one or more members of the Board of the Authority. The hearings may be held at any place within the State pursuant to public notice given in accordance with current federal tax regulations. To the extent federal tax law requires approval following the hearing of the issuance of bonds to finance a project, the approval shall be sought from the Governor following a report to the Governor of the results of the public hearing accompanied by information relating to the purposes for the proposed bond issue. (1991, c. 749, s. 1.)

§ 63A-13. Financing agreements.

(a) Every financing agreement shall contain provisions ensuring all of the following:

(1) That the amounts payable under the financing agreement are sufficient to pay, when due, the principal of, redemption premium, if any, and interest on the bonds issued to pay the costs of the special user project.

(2) That the operator pays all costs incurred by the Authority in connection with the financing and administration of the special user project, except costs paid out of the proceeds of bonds or otherwise, including, but without limitation, insurance costs, the cost of administering the financing agreement and the security document, and the fees and expenses of the fiscal agent or trustee, paying agents, attorneys, consultants, and others.

(3) That the operator pays all the costs and expenses of operation, maintenance, and upkeep of the special user project.

(4) That the operator's obligation to provide for the payment of the bonds in full is not subject to cancellation, termination, or abatement until the payment of the bonds or provision for their payment is made.

(b) The financing agreement, if in the nature of a lease agreement, shall either provide that the obligor shall have an option to purchase, or require that the obligor purchase, the special user project upon the expiration or termination of the financing agreement subject to the condition that payment in full of the principal of, and the interest and any redemption premium on, the bonds, or provision therefor, shall have been made.

(c) The financing agreement may provide the Authority with rights and remedies in the event of a default by the obligor including, without limitation, any one or more of the following:

(1) Acceleration of all amounts payable under the financing agreement.
(2) Reentry and repossession of the special user project.
(3) Termination of the financing agreement.
(4) Leasing or sale of foreclosure of the special user project to others.
(5) Taking whatever actions at law or in equity may appear necessary or desirable to collect the amounts payable under, and to enforce covenants made in, the financing agreement.

(d) The Authority's interest in a special user project under a financing agreement may be that of owner, lessor, lessee, conditional or installment vendor, mortgagor, mortgagee, secured party, or otherwise, but the Authority need not have any ownership or possessory interest in the special user project.

(e) The Authority may assign all or any of its rights and remedies under the financing agreement to the trustee or the bondholders under a security document.

(f) The financing agreement may contain additional provisions as in the determination of the Board are necessary or convenient to effectuate the purposes of this Chapter. When, as provided in G.S. 63A-9 and G.S. 63A-11, the Local Government Commission approves the issuance of bonds by the Authority, the Commission shall also approve all financing agreements and security documents. (1991, c. 749, s. 1; 1997-456, s. 27.)

§ 63A-14. Security documents.

Bonds issued under the provisions of this Chapter may be secured by a security document which may be a trust instrument between the Authority and a bank or trust company or individual within the State, or a bank or a trust company outside the State, as trustee. The security document may pledge and assign the revenues provided for the security of the bonds, including proceeds from the sale of any project, or part thereof, insurance proceeds and condemnation awards, and may convey or mortgage the project and other property to secure a bond issue.

The revenues and other funds derived from the project, except for any part as may be necessary to provide reserves therefor, if any, may be set aside at regular intervals as may be provided in the security document in a sinking fund which may be pledged to, and charged with, the payment of the principal of and the interest on the bonds as the same shall become due and the redemption price or the purchase price of bonds retired by call or purchase as provided. The pledge shall be valid and binding from the time when the pledge is made. The revenues pledged and received by the Authority shall immediately be subject to the lien of the pledge without any physical delivery or further act, and the lien of any pledge shall be valid and binding as against all parties having claims of any kind in tort, contract or otherwise against the Authority, irrespective of whether the parties have notice. The use and disposition of money to the credit of the sinking fund shall be subject to the provisions of the security document. The security document may contain provisions for protecting and enforcing the rights and remedies of the bondholders as may be reasonable and proper and not in violation of law, including, without limitation, any one or more of the following:

(1) Acceleration of all amounts payable under the security document.
(2) Appointment of a receiver to manage the project and any other property mortgaged or assigned as security for the bonds.
(3) Foreclosure and sale of the project and any other property mortgaged or assigned as security for the bonds.
(4) Rights to bring and maintain such other actions at law or in equity as may appear necessary or desirable to collect the amounts payable under, or to enforce the covenants made in, the security document.

It shall be lawful for any bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of this State which may act as depository of the proceeds of bonds, revenues, or other funds provided under this Chapter to furnish indemnifying bonds or to pledge securities as may be required by the Authority. All expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of the security document may be treated as a part of the cost of the project in connection with which bonds are issued or as an expense of administration of the project.

The Authority may subordinate the bonds or its rights under the security document or otherwise to any prior, contemporaneous, or future securities or obligations or lien, mortgage, or other security interest. (1991, c. 749, s. 1.)

§ 63A-15. County agreements.

Any county in which all or part of a cargo airport complex site is located may enter into an agreement with the Authority providing for payments to be made by the county to the Authority. A county may not enter into an agreement to make payments to the Authority until after the Authority designates the cargo airport complex site. The county's obligations under the agreement shall not constitute a pledge of its faith and credit. (1991, c. 749, s. 1.)

§ 63A-16. Remedies.

Any owner of bonds or notes issued under the provisions of this Chapter or any coupons appertaining thereto, and the trustee under any trust agreement securing or resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds or notes, except to the extent the rights given may be restricted by the trust agreement or resolution, may either at law or in equity, by suit, action, mandamus, or other proceeding, protect and enforce any and all rights under the laws of the State or granted hereunder or under the trust agreement or resolution, or under any other contract executed by the Authority pursuant to this Chapter; and may enforce and compel the performance of all duties required by this Chapter or by the trust agreement or resolution by the Authority or by any officer of the Authority. (1991, c. 749, s. 1.)

§ 63A-17. Status of bonds and notes under Uniform Commercial Code.

All bonds and notes and interest coupons, if any, issued under this Chapter are made investment securities within the meaning of and for all the purposes of Article 8 of the Uniform Commercial Code, as enacted in Chapter 25 of the General Statutes. (1991, c. 749, s. 1.)

§ 63A-18. Zoning power of Authority.

(a) The Authority has exclusive zoning jurisdiction within a cargo airport complex site. The Authority has zoning jurisdiction within six miles of the boundaries of a cargo airport complex site.

(b) No State agency and, in accordance with G.S. 63-31, no political subdivision may adopt, without obtaining the approval of the Authority, an airport zoning provision or other land use regulation that affects real property within six miles of any cargo airport complex site if it conflicts with a zoning provision or land use restriction adopted by the Authority.

A zoning provision or land use restriction adopted in violation of this subsection is not effective. (1991, c. 749, s. 1; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 900, s. 108(h).)

§ 63A-19. Goals for participation by minorities, women, and the disabled.

(a) The Authority shall verify its efforts to achieve the goals established in this section for participation by minority business enterprises, women's business enterprises, and disabled business enterprises in the total value of contracts awarded by the Authority in each of the following categories:

(1) Contracts for capital construction or repair projects.

(2) Contracts for goods.

(3) Contracts for professional and other services.

(b) The goals for the Authority are as follows:

(1) Ten percent (10%) participation by minority business enterprises.

(2) Five percent (5%) participation by women's business enterprises.

(3) Two percent (2%) participation by disabled business enterprises.

In determining participation in contract awards, a contract shall be counted as participation by a minority business enterprise without regard to the gender of the owner, but only if the business does not qualify as a disabled business enterprise. A contract shall be counted as participation by a women's business enterprise only if the business does not also qualify as a disabled business enterprise. A contract shall be counted as participation by a disabled business enterprise without regard to the race or gender of the owner. The goals in this section, instead of any goals in Article 8 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes, apply to the Authority. With respect to projects for which the Authority would not receive federal funds if it adhered to the goals in this section because the goals are contrary to or are inconsistent with 14 C.F.R. Part 152, Subpart E, Nondiscrimination in Airport Aid Program, the federal law and regulations supersede this section to the extent it is contrary to or inconsistent with the federal law and regulations.

(c) The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Disabled business enterprise. — A legal entity, other than a joint venture, that is organized to engage in commercial transactions and is at least fifty-one percent (51%) owned and controlled by one or more disabled persons.

(2) Disabled person. — A handicapped person as defined in G.S. 168A-3.

(3) Minority business enterprise. — A legal entity, other than a joint venture, that is organized to engage in commercial transactions and is at least fifty-one percent (51%) owned and controlled by one or more minority persons.

(4) Minority person. — A member of one of the following groups: African-Americans, Hispanic-Americans, American Indians, or Asian-Americans.

(5) Women's business enterprise means a legal entity, other than a joint venture, that is organized to engage in commercial transactions and is at least fifty-one percent owned and controlled by one or more women. (1991, c. 749, s. 1.)

§ 63A-20. Officers not liable.

No member or officer of the Authority shall be subject to any personal liability or accountability by reason of his execution of any bonds or notes or the issuance of any bonds or notes. (1991, c. 749, s. 1.)

§ 63A-21. Conflicts of interest.

If any member, officer, or employee of the Authority shall be interested either directly or indirectly, or shall be an officer or employee of or have an ownership interest in any firm or corporation, not including units of local government, interested directly or indirectly, in any contract with the Authority, the interest shall be disclosed to the Board and shall be set forth in the minutes of the Board. The member, officer, or employee having an interest shall not participate on behalf of the Authority in the authorization of any contract. Other provisions of law notwithstanding, failure to take any or all actions necessary to carry out the purposes of this section may not affect the validity of any bonds or notes issued under this Chapter. (1991, c. 749, s. 1.)

§ 63A-22. Cooperation by other State agencies.

All State officers and agencies shall render the services to the Authority within their respective functions as may be requested by the Authority. (1991, c. 749, s. 1.)

§ 63A-23. Annual and quarterly reports.

The Authority shall, promptly following the close of each fiscal year, submit an annual report of its activities for the preceding year to the Governor, the General Assembly, and the Local Government Commission. Each report shall be accompanied by an audit of its books and accounts. The audit shall be conducted by the State Auditor. The costs of all audits shall be paid from funds of the Authority.

The Authority shall submit quarterly reports to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations. The reports shall summarize the Authority's activities during the quarter and contain any information about the Authority's activities that is requested by the Commission. (1991, c. 749, s. 1; 1996, 2nd Ex. Sess., c. 18, s. 26.)

§ 63A-24. General laws apply to Authority; exceptions.

Except as provided in this section, the general laws that apply to State agencies apply to the Authority. The following general laws, to the extent provided below, do not apply to the Authority:

(1) Article 3 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes does not apply to contracts for services listed in 49 U.S.C. § 2210(a)(16) or contracts for special user projects. That Article also does not apply to other contracts for projects, but, with respect to these other contracts, the powers and duties established in that Article shall be exercised by the Authority and the Secretary of Administration, and other State officers, employees, or agencies shall have no duties or responsibilities concerning the contracts.

(2) Article 8 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes does not apply to public building contracts of the Authority, but, with respect to these contracts, the powers and duties established in that Article shall be exercised by the Authority and the Secretary of Administration, and other State officers, employees, or agencies shall have no duties or responsibilities concerning the contracts.

(3) Except for G.S. 146-29.1, 146-79, and 146-80, Chapter 146 of the General Statutes does not apply to the Authority. (1991, c. 749, s. 1.)

§ 63A-25. Dissolution.

Whenever the Board shall by resolution determine that the purposes for which the Authority was formed have been substantially fulfilled and that all bonds issued and all other obligations incurred by the Authority have been fully paid or satisfied, the Board may declare the Authority to be dissolved. On the effective date of the resolution, the title to all funds and other property owned by the Authority at the time of the dissolution shall vest in the State and possession of the funds and other property shall be delivered to the State. (1991, c. 749, s. 1.)

To such list shall be added a list of the public cemeteries in the rural districts of such counties which have been abandoned, and it shall be the duty of the boards of county commissioners to furnish to the division of publications in the office of the Secretary of State copies of the lists of such public and abandoned cemeteries, to the end that it may furnish to the boards, for the use of the persons in control of such cemeteries, suitable literature, suggesting methods of taking care of such places. Removal of Graves.

§ 65-13. Removal of graves; who may disinter, move and reinter; notice; certificate filed; reinterment expenses, due care required.

(a) The State of North Carolina and any of its agencies, public institutions, or political subdivisions, the United States of America or any agency thereof, any church, electric power or lighting company, or any person, firm, or corporation may effect the disinterment, removal, and reinterment of graves as follows:

(1) By the State of North Carolina and any of its agencies, public institutions, or political subdivisions, the United States of America or any agency thereof, when it shall determine and certify to the board of county commissioners in the county from which the bodies are to be disinterred that such removal is reasonably necessary to perform its governmental functions and the duties delegated to it by law.

(2) By any church authority in order to erect a new church, parish house, parsonage, or any other facility owned and operated exclusively by such church; in order to expand or enlarge an existing church facility; or better to care for and maintain graves not located in a regular cemetery or burying ground for which such church has assumed responsibility of care and custody.

(3) By an electric power or lighting company when it owns land that is to be used as a reservoir on which graves are located.

(4) By any person, firm or corporation, which owns land on which abandoned cemeteries or burying grounds are located after first securing the consent of the governing body of the town, city or county in which such abandoned cemeteries or burying grounds are situated.

(b) The party effecting the disinterment, removal and reinterment of a grave containing a decedent's remains under the provisions of this Chapter shall, before disinterment, give 30 days written notice of such intention to the next of kin of the decedent, if known or subject to being ascertained by reasonable search and inquiry, and shall cause notice of such disinterment, removal and reinterment to be published at least once per week for four successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the county where such grave is situated and the first publication shall be not less than 30 days before disinterment. Any remains disinterred and removed hereunder shall be reinterred in a suitable cemetery or burial ground.

(c) The party removing or causing the removal of all such graves shall, within 30 days after completion of the removal and reinterment, file with the register of deeds of the county from which the graves were removed and with the register of deeds of the county in which reinterment is made, a written certificate of the removal facts. Such certificate shall contain the full name, if known or reasonably ascertainable, of each decedent whose grave is moved, a precise description of the site from which such grave was removed, a precise description of the site and specific location where the decedent's remains have been reinterred, the full and correct name of the party effecting the removal, and a brief description of the statutory basis or bases upon which such removal or reinterment was effected. If the full name of any decedent cannot reasonably be ascertained, the removing party shall set forth all additional reasonably ascertainable facts about the decedent including birth date, death date, and family name.

The fee for recording instruments in general, as provided in G.S. 161-10(a)(1), for registering a certificate of removal facts shall be paid to the register of deeds of each county in which such certificate is filed for registration.

(d) All expenses of disinterment, removal, and acquisition of the new burial site and reinterment shall be borne by the party effecting such disinterment, removal, and reinterment, including the actual reasonable expense of one of the next of kin incurred in attending the same, not to exceed the sum of two hundred dollars ($200.00).

(e) The office of vital statistics of North Carolina shall promulgate regulations effecting the registration and indexing of the written certificate of the removal facts, including the form of that certificate.

(f) The party effecting the disinterment, removal, and reinterment of a decedent's remains under the provisions of this Chapter shall ensure that the site in which reinterment is accomplished shall be of such suitable dimensions to accommodate the remains of that decedent only and that such site shall be reasonably accessible to all relatives of that decedent, provided that the remains may be reinterred in a common grave where written consent is obtained from the next of kin. If under the authority of this Chapter disinterment, removal, and reinterment is effected by the State of North Carolina or any of its agencies, public institutions, or political subdivisions, the United States of America or any agency thereof, any electric power or lighting company, then such disinterment, removal, and reinterment shall be performed by a funeral director duly licensed as a "funeral director" or a "funeral service licensee" under the provisions of Article 13A of Chapter 90 of the North Carolina General Statutes.

(g) All disinterment, removal and reinterment under the provisions of this Chapter shall be made under the supervision and direction of the county board of commissioners or other appropriate official, including the local health director, appointed by such board for the county where the disinterment, removal and reinterment take place. If reinterment is effected in a county different from the county of disinterment with the consent of the next of kin of the deceased whose remains are disinterred, then the disinterment and removal shall be made under the supervision and direction of the county board of commissioners or other appropriate official, including the local health director, appointed by such board for the county of the disinterment, and the reinterment shall be made under the supervision and direction of the county board of commissioners or other appropriate official, including the local health director, appointed by such board for the county of reinterment.

Due care shall be taken to do said work in a proper and decent manner, and, if necessary, to furnish suitable coffins or boxes for reinterring such remains. Due care shall also be taken to remove, protect and replace all tombstones or other markers, so as to leave such tombstones or other markers in as good condition as that prior to disinterment. Provided that in cases where the remains are to be moved to a perpetual care cemetery or other cemetery where upright tombstones are not permitted, a suitable replacement marker shall be provided.

(h) Nothing contained in this Article shall be construed to grant or confer the power or authority of eminent domain, or to impair the right of the next of kin of a decedent to remove or cause the removal, at his or their expense, of the remains or grave of such decedent. (1919, c. 245; C.S., ss. 5030, 5030(a); Ex. CASE NOTES

This section is much broader than the older C.S. 5030, and reflects a recognition of the need for broad authority by church authority to meet the needs of a growing membership in relocating graves which would restrict that growth. Singletary v. McCormick, 36 N.C. App. 597, 244 S.E.2d 731 (1978).

The phrase "in order to" in subdivision (a)(2) of this section is synonymous with the phrase "as the means to." Singletary v. McCormick, 36 N.C. App. 597, 244 S.E.2d 731 (1978).

Relocation of Street to Enlarge Church Facility. — Though graves proposed to be relocated were within the area of a relocated street, the street was to be relocated "as the means to" expand or enlarge an existing church facility, and therefore relocation of the graves was permissible. Singletary v. McCormick, 36 N.C. App. 597, 244 S.E.2d 731 (1978).

Section Not Exclusive Grounds for Disinterment. — This statute does not provide the exclusive grounds for the disinterment of a body. The statute speaks to the situation where a body had been properly interred, but for some reason justified by the public interest or by some compelling private interests it is necessary to effect a disinterment, removal, and reinterment. This statute nowhere provides for the situation where there has been an improper interment. Strickland v. Tant, 41 N.C. App. 534, 255 S.E.2d 325, cert. denied, 298 N.C. 304, 259 S.E.2d 917 (1979).

Action for Removal of Grave in Violation of Former Provision. — See King v. Smith, 236 N.C. 170, 72 S.E.2d 425 (1952).

The building of a new vestry room of a church to be used with the one as presently located in relation to the use of the choir, etc., comes within the purview of the statute permitting the removal of the bodies buried in the churchyard by the proper authorities of the church, when necessary or expedient to do so, in carrying out the arrangement. Mayo v. Bragaw, 191 N.C. 427, 132 S.E. 1 (1926).

§§ 65-14, 65-15: Repealed by Session Laws 1971, c. 797, s. 2.

Cemetery Associations.

§ 65-16. Land holdings.

All cemetery associations or corporations created by any local, private or special act or resolution before January 10, 1917, are authorized and fully empowered to hold amounts of land in excess of the limitation provided in the local, private or special act or resolution incorporating or chartering such cemetery association or corporation. (1923, c. 76, s. 1; C.S., s. 5030(b).)

§ 65-17. Change of name of association or corporation.

Any corporation or association chartered or incorporated by any special act of the legislature, as set forth in G.S. 65-16, is authorized and fully empowered to change the name of such association or corporation by a majority vote of its directors, and upon such change in name it shall be the duty of the officers of the board of directors of such corporation or association to file with the clerk of the superior court a copy of resolution changing the name, which resolution must show the act of the legislature creating or incorporating the same and the reasons for the change thereof. (1923, c. 76, s. 2; C.S., s. 5030(c).)

§ 65-17.1. Quorum at stockholders' meeting of certain nonprofit cemetery corporations; calling meeting; amendment of charter.

Notwithstanding any conflicting provision of law or of the charter or bylaws of any corporation affected by this section, in the case of any nonprofit cemetery corporation chartered prior to the year 1900 whose charter has expired prior to May 18, 1955, a quorum at any meeting of stockholders called for the purpose of electing directors, or of amending the charter of such corporation, or both, shall consist of the holders of ten percent (10%) or more of the outstanding shares of the capital stock of such corporation having voting powers, present in person or represented by proxy; and a meeting of the stockholders of such corporation for such purpose or purposes may be called by any two stockholders after 10 days' notice by registered mail to all stockholders of record at their last known addresses as shown by the stock book of such corporation. The concurrence of a majority of the shares represented at such meeting shall be sufficient to authorize an amendment or amendments to the charter of such corporation in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 55-31. (1955, c. 1084.)

Editor's Note. — This section refers to former § 55-31 as it stood prior to the 1955 revision of former Chapter 55. As to amendments of bylaws of nonprofit corporations, see now § 55A-10-01 et seq.

Said town or municipality shall have power and authority in such cases to cause the same to be subdivided and to lay off and allot for family burial plots any property heretofore appropriated or used for burial purposes for or by different families without any charge therefor, and to cause the remainder of said property to be subdivided and laid off into lots; and shall have the power and authority to sell to any person or persons for burial purposes, any of said lots so subdivided and surveyed, except those heretofore appropriated as referred to in this section of this Article, and use the proceeds of such sale for the improvement and upkeep of said cemetery property. CASE NOTES

Above-Ground Burial Facilities Did Not Change the Nature of Cemetery Property Use. — Where the zoning ordinance provided for the continuation of pre-existing nonconforming uses of property, a cemetery construction of above-ground burial facilities related to the process by which the nonconforming activity was conducted and did not amount to a change in the nature and kind of use to which the property was devoted. Stegall v. Zoning Bd. of Adjustment, 87 N.C. App. 359, 361 S.E.2d 309 (1987).

Cemetery was not estopped from asserting that no special use permit was required for the construction and installation of facilities for above-ground burial since such facilities were not an unlawful extension of its nonconforming use of its cemetery property. Stegall v. Zoning Bd. of Adjustment, 87 N.C. App. 359, 361 S.E.2d 309 (1987).

§ 65-49. The North Carolina Cemetery Commission.

There is hereby established in the Department of Commerce a North Carolina Cemetery Commission with the power and duty to adopt rules and regulations to be followed in the enforcement of this Article. (1975, c. 768, s. 1; 1989, c. 751, s. 7(5); 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 959, s. 19.)

CASE NOTES

Quasi-Judicial and Quasi-Legislative Duties. — The duties of the Commission are neither political nor executive. They are predominantly quasi-judicial and quasi-legislative. James v. Hunt, 43 N.C. App. 109, 258 S.E.2d 481 (1979), cert. denied, 299 N.C. 121, 262 S.E.2d 6 (1980).

Commission Must Act with Impartiality. — Since it is charged "with the power and duty to adopt rules and regulations to be followed in the enforcement" of the North Carolina Cemeteries Act, including the licensing of cemeteries operating in this State, it must act with entire impartiality. James v. Hunt, 43 N.C. App. 109, 258 S.E.2d 481 (1979), cert. denied, 299 N.C. 121, 262 S.E.2d 6 (1980).

Members are required to exercise the judgment of experts in the field appointed by law and informed by experience. James v. Hunt, 43 N.C. App. 109, 258 S.E.2d 481 (1979), cert. denied, 299 N.C. 121, 262 S.E.2d 6 (1980).

§ 65-50. Cemetery Commission; members, selection, quorum.

(a) Membership. — The Cemetery Commission shall consist of nine members. The General Assembly shall appoint two members, one of whom shall be recommended by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and one of whom

(1) Two members who own or manage cemeteries in North Carolina.

At the end of the respective terms of office of the initial members of the Commission, their successors shall be nominated in the same manner, selected from the same categories and appointed for terms of four years and until their successors are appointed and qualified. Any appointment to fill a vacancy on the Commission created by the resignation, dismissal, death or disability of a member shall be for the balance of the unexpired term.

(c) Removal. — The appointing authority shall have the power to remove any member of the Commission appointed by that authority from office for misfeasance, malfeasance and nonfeasance according to applicable provisions of law.

(d) Quorum. — A majority of the Commission shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

(e) Chair. — At the first meeting of the Commission held after September 1, 1975, the Commission shall elect one of its members as its chairman and another as its vice-chairman, both to serve through June 30 of the next following year. (1975, c. 768, s. 1; 2001-486, s. 2.1.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2001-486, s. 2.1, effective December 16, 2001, rewrote the section.

CASE NOTES

Administrative Procedure Act Not Applicable to Removal. — This section gives the Governor the power to remove a member of the Cemetery Commission for cause "according to the provisions of § 143B-13 of the Executive Organization Act of 1973." There is no reference to the Administrative Procedure Act. Nor does § 143B-13(d), which gives the Governor power to remove for cause any member of a commission, refer to the Administrative Procedure Act. Had the General Assembly intended for the Governor to be bound by the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act, it could have referred to that act rather than the Executive Organization Act. Absent a specific legislative enactment requiring removals by the Governor to be subject to the Administrative Procedure Act, the act is not applicable to removals by the Governor. James v. Hunt, 43 N.C. App. 109, 258 S.E.2d 481 (1979), cert. denied, 299 N.C. 121, 262 S.E.2d 6 (1980).

§ 65-51. Principal office.

The principal office of the Commission shall be in the City of Raleigh, North Carolina. Notice of all regular and special meetings of the Commission shall be advertised 10 or more days in advance in at least three newspapers in North Carolina having inter-county circulation in the State. Each member of the Commission shall receive per diem and allowances in accordance with G.S. 138-5. The administrator of the Commission, other employees required to attend and legal counsel to the Commission shall be entitled to actual expenses while attending regular or special meetings of the Commission held other than in Raleigh, North Carolina. All expenses of the Commission shall be paid from funds coming to the Commission pursuant to this Article. (1975, c. 768, s. 1.)

§ 65-52. Regular and special meetings.

The Cemetery Commission shall meet at least once in each quarter and may hold special meetings at any time and place within the State at the call of the chairman or upon the written request of at least four members. (1975, c. 768, s. 1.)

§ 65-53. Powers.

In addition to other powers conferred by this Article, the Cemetery Commission shall have the following powers and duties:

(1) The administrator shall be appointed by the Governor upon recommendation of the Cemetery Commission. The compensation of the administrator and such other personnel as is necessary to operate the Commission is subject to the provisions of Chapter 126 of the General Statutes of North Carolina. The Commission is authorized and empowered to employ such staff, including legal counsel, as may be necessary.

(2) To examine a cemetery company's records when a person applies for a change of control of the company.

(3) Investigate, upon its own initiative or upon a verified complaint in writing, the actions of any person engaged in the business or acting in the capacity of a licensee under this Article. The license of a licensee may be revoked or suspended for a period not exceeding two years, or until compliance with a lawful order imposed in the final order of suspension, or both, where the licensee in performing or attempting to perform any of the acts specified in this Article has been guilty of:
   a. Failing to pay the fees required herein;
   b. Failing to make any reports required by this Article;
   c. Failing to remit to the care and maintenance trust fund, merchandise trust fund, or preconstruction trust fund the required amounts;
   d. Making any substantial misrepresentation;
   e. Making any false statement of a character likely to influence or persuade;
   f. A continued and flagrant course of misrepresentation or making of false promises through cemetery agents or salesmen;
   g. Violating any provision of this Article or rule promulgated by the Commission; or
   h. Any other conduct, whether of the same or a different character than specified in this section, which constitutes fraud or dishonest dealing.

(4) In all proceedings under this Article for the revocation or suspension of licenses, the provisions of Chapter 150B of the General Statutes shall be applicable.

(5) At such time as the Commission finds it necessary it may bring an action in the name of the State in the court of the county in which the place of business is located against such person to enjoin such person from engaging in or continuing such violation or doing any act or acts in furtherance thereof. In any such action, an order or judgment may be entered awarding such temporary or permanent injunction as may be deemed proper; provided, that before any such action is brought the Commission shall give the cemetery at least 20 days' notice in writing, stating the alleged violation and giving the cemetery an opportunity within the 20-day period to cure the violation. In addition to all other means provided by law for the enforcement of a temporary restraining order, temporary injunction, or permanent injunction, the court shall have the power and jurisdiction to impound and to appoint a receiver for the property and business of the defendant, including books, papers, documents, and records appertaining thereto or so much thereof as the court may deem reasonably necessary to prevent further violation of this Article through or by means of the use of said property and business. The Commission may institute proceedings against the cemetery or its officers, whereafter an examination, pursuant to this Article, a shortage in the care and maintenance trust fund, merchandise trust fund or mausoleum and belowground crypts preconstruction trust fund is discovered, to recover said shortage.

(6) Whenever any special additional audit or examination of a licensee's premises, facilities, books or records is necessary because of the failure of the licensee to comply with the requirements imposed in this Article or by the rules and regulations of the Commission, to charge a fee based on the cost of the special examination or audit, taking into consideration the salary of any employees involved in the special audit or examination and any expenses incurred.

(7) Promulgate rules and regulations requiring licensees to file with the Commission plans and specifications for the minimum quality of any product sold. The sale of any product for which plans and specifications required by the rules and regulations have not been filed or sale of any product of a lesser quality than the plans and specifications filed with the Commission is a violation of this Article.

(8) When the Commission finds that failure by a licensee to maintain a cemetery properly has caused that cemetery to be a public nuisance or a health or safety hazard, the Commission may bring an action for injunctive relief, against the responsible licensee, in the superior court of the county in which the cemetery or any part thereof is located. (1943, c. 644, s. 17; 1971, c. 1149, s. 8; 1973, c. 732, s. 2; 1975, c. 768, s. 1; 1977, c. 686, ss. 4-6; 1979, c. 888, ss. 1-3; 1981 (Reg. (1975, c. 768, s. 1; 1977, c. 686, s. 7; 1987, c. 488, s. 1; 1991, c. 653, s. 1.)

The applicant shall pay the costs of this hearing as assessed by the Commission unless the applicant notifies the Commission by certified mail at least five days prior to the scheduled hearing date that a hearing is waived. Any appeals from the Commission's decision shall be to the court having jurisdiction of the applicant or the Commission.

The application shall contain the name and address of each proposed new owner. The Commission shall issue a certificate of approval only after it determines that the proposed new owners are qualified by character, experience, and financial responsibility to control and operate the cemetery company in a legal and proper manner, and that the interest of the public generally will not be jeopardized by the proposed change in control. CASE NOTES

Stated in Stegall v. Zoning Bd. of Adjustment, 87 N.C. App. 359, 361 S.E.2d 309 (1987).

§ 65-60.1. Trustees; qualifications; examination of records; enforcement.

(a) The term "corporate trustee" as used in this Article shall mean either a bank or trust company authorized to do business in North Carolina under the supervision of the Commissioner of Banks or any other corporate entity; provided that any corporate entity other than a bank or trust company which acts as trustee under this Article shall first be approved by the Cemetery Commission and shall be subject to supervision by the Cemetery Commission as provided herein.

(b) Any corporate entity, other than a bank or trust company, which desires to act as trustee for cemetery funds under this Article shall make application to the Commission for approval. The Commission shall approve the trustee when it has become satisfied that:

(1) The applicant employs and is directed by persons who are qualified by character, experience, and financial responsibility to care for and invest the funds of others.

(2) The applicant will perform its duties in a proper and legal manner and the trust funds and interest of the public generally will not be jeopardized.

(3) The applicant will act as trustee for cemetery funds which will exceed five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) in the aggregate.

(4) The applicant is authorized to do business in North Carolina and has adequate facilities to perform its duties as trustee.

(c) Any trustee under this Article, other than a bank or trust company under the supervision of the Commissioner of Banks, shall maintain records relative to cemetery trust funds as the Commission may by regulation prescribe. The records shall be available at the trustee's place of business in North Carolina and shall be available at all reasonable times for examination by a representative of the Commission. The records shall be audited annually, within 90 days from the end of the trust fund's fiscal year, by an independent certified public accountant, and a copy of the audit report shall be promptly forwarded to the Commission.

(d) Whenever it appears that an officer, director, or employee of a trustee, other than a bank or trust company, is dishonest, incompetent, or reckless in the management of a cemetery trust fund, the Commission may bring an action in the courts to remove the trustee and to impound the property and business of the trustee as may be reasonably necessary to protect the trust funds.

(e) Any trustee shall invest and reinvest cemetery trust funds in the same manner as provided by law for the investment of trust funds by the clerk of the superior court; provided, however, that cemetery trust funds held in a fund designated as Trust Fund "A" pursuant to G.S. 65-64(e) may be invested and reinvested in accordance with G.S. 36A-2. (1977, c. 686, s. 15; 1979, c. 888, s. 9; 1995, c. 509, s. 135.3(a).)

§ 65-61. Required trust fund for care and maintenance; remedy of Commission for noncompliance.

No cemetery company shall be permitted to establish, or operate if already established, a cemetery unless provision is made for the future care and maintenance of such cemetery by establishing a trust fund and designating a corporate trustee to administer said fund in accordance with a written trust agreement. If any cemetery company refuses or otherwise fails to provide or maintain an adequate care and maintenance trust fund in accordance with the provisions of this Article, the Commission, after reasonable notice, shall proceed to enforce compliance under the powers vested in it under this Article; provided any nonprofit cemetery corporation, incorporated and engaged in the cemetery business continuously since and prior to 1915 and whose current trust assets exceed seven hundred fifty thousand dollars ($750,000) shall not be required to designate a corporate trustee. The trust fund agreement shall contain and include the following: name, location, and address of both the licensee and the trustee showing the date of agreement together with the amounts required deposited as stated in this Article. No person shall withdraw or transfer any portion of the corpus of the care and maintenance trust fund without first obtaining written consent from the Commission. (1943, c. 644, s. 9; 1957, c. 529, s. 3; 1967, c. 1009, s. 9; 1975, c. 768, s. 1; 1977, c. 686, s. 13.)

§ 65-62. Individual contracts for care and maintenance.

At the time of making a sale or receiving the initial deposit hereunder, the cemetery company shall deliver to the person to whom such sale is made, or who makes such deposit, an instrument in writing which shall specifically state that the net income of the care and maintenance trust fund shall be used solely for the care and maintenance of the cemetery, for reasonable costs of administering such care and maintenance and for reasonable costs of administering the trust fund. (1975, c. 768, s. 1.)

§ 65-63. Requirements for perpetual care fund.

A cemetery company may not cause or permit advertising of a perpetual care fund in connection with the sale or offer for sale of its property unless the amount deposited in the fund is at least forty dollars ($40.00) per grave space, niche, or mausoleum crypt sold. Nothing may prohibit an individual cemetery from requiring a perpetual care deposit for grave memorial markers to be deposited in the perpetual care fund so long as the same assessment is uniformly applied to all grave memorial markers installed in the cemetery. (1943, c. 644, s. 5; 1957, c. 529, s. 1; 1967, c. 1009, s. 3; 1971, c. 1149, s. 3; 1975, c. 768, s. 1; 1979, c. 888, s. 4; 1987, c. 488, s. 5; 1991, c. 653, s. 5.)

§ 65-64. Deposits to perpetual care fund.

(a) Deposits to the care and maintenance trust fund must be made by the cemetery company holding title to the subject cemetery lands on or before the last day of the calendar month following the calendar month in which final payment is received as provided herein; however the entire amount required to be deposited into the fund shall be paid within four years from the date of any contract requiring such payment regardless of whether all amounts have been received by the cemetery company. If the cemetery company fails to make timely deposit, the Commission may levy and collect a penalty of one dollar ($1.00) per day for each day the deposit is delinquent on each grave space, niche or mausoleum crypt sold. The care and maintenance trust fund shall be invested and reinvested by the trustee in the same manner as provided by law for the investment of other trust funds by the clerk of the superior court except that such investments may be made through means of a common trust fund as described in G.S. 36A-90; provided, further, that cemetery trust funds held in a fund designated as Trust Fund "A" pursuant to G.S. 65-64(e) may be invested and reinvested in accordance with G.S. 36A-2. The fees and other expenses of the trust fund shall be paid by the trustee from the net income thereof and may not be paid from the corpus. To the extent that the said net income is not sufficient to pay such fees and other expenses, the same shall be paid by the cemetery company.

(b) When a municipal, church-owned or fraternal cemetery converts to a private cemetery as defined in G.S. 65-48, then said cemetery shall establish and maintain a care and maintenance trust fund pursuant to this section; provided, however, the initial deposit for establishment of this trust fund shall be an amount equal to ten dollars ($10.00) per space for all spaces either previously sold or contracted for sale in said cemetery at the time of conversion or twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), whichever sum is greater.

(c) Repealed by 1991 (Regular Session, 1992), c. 1007, s. 35.

(d) In each sales contract, reservation or agreement wherein burial rights are priced separately, the purchase price of said burial rights shall be the only item subject to care and maintenance trust fund deposits; but if the burial rights are not priced separately therein, the full amount of the contract, reservations or agreement shall be subject to care and maintenance trust fund deposits as provided herein, unless the purchase price of said burial rights can be determined from the accounting records of the cemetery company.

(e) When the amount deposited in the perpetual care fund required by this Article of any cemetery company shall amount to one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000), anything in this Article to the contrary notwithstanding, the cemetery company may make all deposits thereafter either into the original perpetual care trust fund or into a separate fund established as an irrevocable trust, designated as Perpetual Care Trust Fund "A," and invested by the trustee, in accordance with G.S. 36A-2, as directed by the cemetery company. Funds in a trust fund designated as Trust Fund "A" may not be invested in another cemetery company.

(f) For special endowments for a specific lot, grave, or a family mausoleum, memorial, marker, or monument, the cemetery may set aside the full amounts received for this individual special care in a separate trust or by a deposit to a savings account in a bank or savings and loan association located within and authorized to do business in the State; provided, however, if the licensee does not set up a separate trust or savings account for the special endowment the full amount thereof shall be deposited in Perpetual Care Trust Fund "A." (1943, c. 644, s. 10; 1957, c. 529, s. 4; 1967, c. 1009, s. 10; 1971, c. 1149, s. 5; 1975, c. 768, s. 1; 1977, c. 686, s. 14; 1979, c. 888, ss. 5, 6; 1987, c. 488, ss. 3, 6; 1991, c. 653, s. 6; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 1007, s. 35; 1995, c. 509, s. 135.3(b), (c).)

§ 65-65. Trust fund; financial reports.

Within 60 days after the end of the calendar or fiscal year of the cemetery company, the trustee shall furnish adequate financial reports with respect to the care fund on forms provided by the Commission. However, the Commission may require the trustee to make such additional financial reports as it may deem advisable. (1975, c. 768, s. 1.)

§ 65-66. Receipts from sale of personal property or services; trust account; penalties.

(a) It shall be deemed contrary to public policy if any person or legal entity receives, holds, controls or manages funds or proceeds received from the sale of, or from a contract to sell, personal property or services which may be used in a cemetery in connection with the burial of or the commemoration of the memory of a deceased human being, where payments for the same are made either outright or on an installment basis prior to the demise of the person or persons so purchasing them or for whom they are so purchased, unless such person or legal entity holds, controls or manages said funds, subject to the limitations and regulations prescribed in this section. This section shall apply to all cemetery companies or other legal entities that offer for sale or sell personal property or services which may be used in a cemetery in connection with the burial of, or the commemoration of the memory of, a deceased human being, but shall exclude persons holding a license under Article 13D of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes.

(b) Any cemetery company or other entity entering into a contract for the sale of personal property or services, to be used in a cemetery in connection with disposing of, or commemorating the memory of a deceased human being wherein the use of the personal property or the furnishing of services is not immediately requested or required, shall comply with the following requirements and conditions:

(1) The cemetery company or other entity shall deposit an amount equal to sixty percent (60%) of all proceeds received on such contracts into a trust account, either in the form of an account governed by a trust agreement and handled by a corporate trustee or in the form of a passbook savings account, certificates of deposit for time certificates, and/or money-market certificates with a licensed and insured bank or savings institution located in the State of North Carolina until the amount deposited equals sixty percent (60%) of the actual sale price of the property or services sold. Such accounts and/or deposits shall be in the name of the cemetery company or other entity in a form which will permit withdrawals only with the participation and consent of the Cemetery Commission as required by subdivision (4) of this subsection.

(2) All funds received on account of a contract for the sale of such personal property or services, whether the funds be received directly from the purchaser or from the sale or assignment of notes entered into by the purchase or otherwise, shall be deposited into the trust account as required by subdivision (1) of this section.

(3) All deposits required herein shall be made into the trust account so established on or before the last day of the month following receipt of the funds by the cemetery company or other entity.

(4) Withdrawals from a trust account may be made by the depositor, but only with the written approval of the Commission or officer or employee of the Commission authorized to act for the Commission. Withdrawals may be made only upon delivery of the merchandise or services for which the funds were deposited, cancellation of a contract, the presence of excess funds in the trust account, or under other circumstances deemed appropriate by the Commission. The Commission shall promulgate rules and regulations governing withdrawals from trust accounts, including time and frequency of withdrawals, notice to the Commission prior to withdrawals, the number and identity of persons other than the owner who are authorized by the owner to make withdrawals, the officers and employees of the Commission authorized to approve withdrawals, and any other matters necessary to implement the provisions of this subdivision. Withdrawals will not be allowed if the amount remaining in the trust account would fall below sixty percent (60%) of all proceeds received on account of contracts for the sale of such personal property or services.

(5) If for any reason a cemetery company or other entity who has entered into a contract for the sale of personal property or services cannot or does not provide the personal property or perform the services called for by the contract after request in writing to do so, the purchaser or his heirs or assigns or duly authorized representative shall be entitled to receive the entire amount paid on the contract and any income if any, earned thereon by the trust account.

(6) Every year after September 1, 1975, the cemetery company, the trustee or other entity shall within 75 days after the end of the calendar year, file a financial report of the trust funds with the Commission, setting forth the principal thereof, the investments and payments made, the income earned and disbursed; provided, however, that the Commission may require the cemetery, trustee, or other entity to make such additional financial reports as it may deem advisable.

(c) Whenever a contract for the sale of personal property and/or services allocates payments to apply to one item at a time under a specific schedule, the contract shall be considered divisible. Title to each item of personal property or the right to each item of services shall pass to the purchaser upon full payment for that item regardless of the remaining balance on other items under the same contract.

(d) Any contract for the sale of personal property and/or services shall state separate costs for each item of personal property, for each act of installation required by the contract, and for each other item of services included in the contract.

(e) All contracts for the sale of personal property and/or services must be printed in type size as required by the Truth in Lending Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1601 et seq., and regulations adopted pursuant to that act.

(f) In the event of prepayment, interest charged shall be no more than the interest earned on the unpaid balance computed on a percent per month basis for each month or part of a month up to the date of final payment. Any excess interest which has been paid by the purchaser must be refunded to him, his assigns, or his representative within 30 days after the final payment. No penalty or additional charge for prepayment may be required.

(g) In lieu of the deposits required under subsection (b) of this section, the cemetery company or other entity may post with the Commission a good and sufficient performance bond by surety company licensed to do business in North Carolina and in an amount sufficient to cover all payments made directly or indirectly by or on account of purchasers who have not received the purchased property and services. Money received from the sale or assignment of notes entered into by the purchasers, or otherwise, shall be treated as payments made by the purchasers.

(h) The Commission shall have the power and is required from time to time as it may deem necessary to examine the business of any cemetery company or other entity writing contracts for the sale of the property or services as herein contemplated. The written report of such examination shall be filed in the office of the Commission. Any person or entity being examined shall produce the records of the company needed for such examination.

(i) Any provision of any contract for the sale of the personal property or the performance of services herein contemplated under which the purchaser or beneficiary waives any of the provisions of this section shall be void.

(j) Repealed by Session Laws 1991, c. 653, s. 7.

(k) Nothing in this section shall apply to persons or legal entities holding licenses under Article 13D of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes when engaging in activities for which a license is required under that Article.

(l) If any report is not received within the time stipulated by the Commission or herein, the Commission may levy and collect a penalty of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) per day for each day of delinquency.

(m) Within 30 days following the execution of a contract for the sale of personal property or performance of services, a purchaser may cancel his contract by giving written notice to the seller. The seller may cancel the contract, upon default by purchaser, by giving written notice to the purchaser. Within 30 days of notice of cancellation, the cemetery company or other entity shall refund to purchaser the principal amount on deposit in the trust account for his benefit on any undelivered merchandise or services. This amount (no other obligations owed the purchaser by the seller) shall constitute the purchaser's entire entitlements under the contract. The seller may not terminate the contract without complying with this subsection. (1975, c. 768, s. 1; 1979, c. 888, s. 7; 1987, c. 488, s. 7; 1991, c. 653, s. 7; 1995, c. 509, s. 135.1(j), (k).)

Editor's Note. — Former sections 65-36.1 through 65-36.8 were recodified as 90-210.30 [Repealed] through 90-210.37, effective October 1, 1985, by Session Laws 1985, c. 12, s. 1. References to these sections in the text above were changed to reflect their current placement, in light of the 1985 recodification.

§ 65-67. Applications for license.

Applications for renewal license must be submitted on or before July 1 each and every year in the case of an existing cemetery company. Before any sale of cemetery property in the case of a new cemetery company or a change of ownership or control as indicated in G.S. 65-59, an application for license must be submitted and license issued. (1975, c. 768, s. 1.)

§ 65-68. License not assignable or transferable.

No license issued under G.S. 65-67 shall be transferable or assignable and no licensee shall develop or operate any cemetery authorized by this Article under any name or at any location other than that contained in the application for such license. (1975, c. 768, s. 1.)

§ 65-69. Minimum acreage; sale or disposition of cemetery lands.

(a) Each licensee shall set aside a minimum of 30 acres of land for use by said licensee as a cemetery, and shall not sell, mortgage, lease or encumber the same.

(b) The fee simple title, or lesser estate, in any lands owned by licensee and dedicated for use by it as a cemetery, which are contiguous, adjoining, or adjacent to the minimum of 30 acres described in subsection (a), may be sold, conveyed, or disposed of, or any part thereof, by the licensee, for use by the new owner for other purposes than as a cemetery; provided that no bodies have been previously interred therein; and provided further, that any and all titles, interests, or burial rights which may have been sold or contracted to be sold in such lands which are the subject of such sale shall be conveyed to and revested in the licensee prior to consummation of any such sale, conveyance or disposition.

(c) Any licensee may convey and transfer to a municipality or county its real and personal property together with moneys deposited with the trustee; provided said municipality or county will accept responsibility for maintenance thereof and prior written approval of the Commission is first obtained.

(d) The provisions of subsections (a) and (b) relating to a requirement for minimum acreage shall not apply to those cemeteries licensed by the Commission on or before July 1, 1967, which own or control a total of less than 30 acres of land; provided that such cemeteries shall not dispose of any of such lands. A nongovernment lien or other interest in land acquired in violation of this section is void. (1975, c. 768, s. 1; 1991, c. 653, s. 8.)

§ 65-70. Construction of mausoleums and belowground crypts; trust fund for receipts from sale of preconstruction crypts; compliance requirements.

(a) A cemetery company shall be required to start construction of that section of a mausoleum or bank of belowground crypts in which sales, contracts for sale, reservations for sales or agreements for sales are being made, within 48 months after the date of the first such sale. The construction of such mausoleum section or bank of belowground crypts shall be completed within five years after the date of the first sale made; provided, however, extensions for completion, not to exceed one year, may be granted by the Commission for good reasons shown.

(b) A cemetery company which plans to offer for sale space in a section of a mausoleum or bank of underground crypts prior to its construction shall establish a preconstruction trust account. The trust account shall be administered and operated in the same manner as the merchandise trust account provided for in G.S. 65-66 and shall be exclusive of the merchandise trust account or such other trust accounts or funds that may be required by law. The personal representative of any purchaser of such space who dies before completion of construction shall be entitled to a refund of all moneys paid for such space including any income earned thereon.

(c) Before a sale, contract for sale, reservation for sale or agreement for sale in the first mausoleum section or bank of underground crypts in each cemetery may be made the funds (one hundred twenty percent (120%) of construction cost) to be deposited to the preconstruction trust account shall be computed as to said section or bank of crypts and such trust account payments must be made on or before the last day of the calendar month following receipt by the cemetery company or its agent of each payment. The trust account portion of each such payment shall be computed by dividing the cost of the project plus twenty percent (20%) of said cost, as computed by a licensed contractor, engineer or architect by the number of crypts in the section or bank of crypts to ascertain the cost per unit. The unit cost shall be divided by the contract sales price of each unit to obtain a percentage which shall be multiplied by the amount of each payment. The formula shall be computed as follows:

Cost plus twenty percent (20%) divided by number of crypts = cost per unit

Cost per unit divided by contract sales price = percentage

Percentage x payment received = deposit required to preconstruction trust account.

(d) The cemetery company shall be entitled to withdraw the funds from said preconstruction trust account only after the Commission has become satisfied that construction has been completed; provided, however, that during construction of the mausoleum or bank of belowground crypts the Commission may, in its discretion, authorize a specific percentage of the funds to be withdrawn when it appears that at least an equivalent percentage of construction has been completed.

(e) If a mausoleum section or bank of underground crypts is not completed within the time limits set out in this section the corporate trustee, if any, shall contract for and cause said project to be completed and paid therefor from the trust account funds deposited to the project's account paying any balance, less cost and expenses, to the cemetery company. In the event there is no corporate trustee, the Commission shall appoint a committee to serve as trustees to contract for and cause said project to be completed and paid therefor from the trust account funds deposited to the project's account paying any balance, less cost and expenses, to the cemetery company.

(f) In lieu of the payments outlined hereunder to the preconstruction trust account the cemetery company may deliver to the Commission a good and sufficient completion or performance bond in an amount and by surety companies acceptable to the Commission. (1975, c. 768, s. 1; 1977, c. 686, ss. 16, 17; 1979, c. 888, s. 8.)

§ 65-71. Penalties.

(a) Except as provided in this subsection, a person violating any provisions of this Article, of any order or rule promulgated under this Article, or of any license issued by the Commission is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. Each failure to deposit funds in a trust fund in accordance with this Article is a separate offense. A person who has failed to deposit funds in a trust fund in accordance with this Article and whose delinquent deposits equal or exceed twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) is guilty of a Class I felony.

(b) The officers and directors or persons occupying similar status or performing similar functions of any cemetery company, cemetery sales organization, cemetery management organization or cemetery broker, as defined in this Chapter, failing to make required contributions to the care and maintenance trust fund and any other trust fund or escrow account shall be liable for any offense based on the failure and upon conviction for the offense shall be punished in the manner prescribed by law. (1943, c. 644, s. 14; 1967, c. 1009, s. 13; 1975, c. 768, s. 1; 1991, c. 653, s. 9; 1993, c. 539, ss. 501, 1281; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 65-72. Burial without regard to race or color.

(a) It shall be the public policy of the State that all cemetery companies or other legal entities conducting or maintaining public or private cemeteries shall sell to all applicants and bury all deceased human beings on equal terms without regard to race or color. Anything contrary hereto is void and of no legal effect. Bylaws, rules and regulations, contracts, deeds, etc., may permit designation of parts of cemeteries or burial grounds for the specific use of persons whose religious code required isolation. Any program offering free burial rights to veterans or any other person or group of persons shall not be conditioned by any requirement to purchase additional burial rights or merchandise.

(b) Any cemetery company or other legal entity violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor, and each violation of this section shall constitute a separate offense. (1975, c. 768, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 502; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 65-73. Validation of certain deeds for cemetery lots executed by suspended corporations.

Any deed for a cemetery lot or lots which was executed prior to January 1, 1979, and which would have been valid if the charter of the grantor corporation had not been suspended at the time the deed was executed, is hereby validated. (1979, c. 225, s. 1.)

§ 65-75. Entering public or private property to maintain or visit a private grave or an abandoned public cemetery without consent.

(a) If the consent of the landowner cannot be obtained, any person listed in G.S. 65-74(1), (2), or (3) may commence a special proceeding by petitioning the clerk of superior court of the county in which the petitioner has reasonable grounds to believe the deceased is buried, or in the case of an abandoned public cemetery, in the county in which the abandoned public cemetery is located, for an order allowing the petitioner to enter the property to discover, restore, maintain, or visit the grave or abandoned public cemetery. The petition shall be verified. The special proceeding shall be in accordance with the provisions of Articles 27A and 33 of Chapter 1 of the General Statutes. The clerk shall issue an order allowing the petitioner to enter the property if the clerk finds all of the following:

(1) There are reasonable grounds to believe that the grave or abandoned public cemetery is located on the property or that it is reasonably necessary to enter or cross the landowner's property to reach the grave or abandoned public cemetery.

(2) The petitioner, or his designee, is a descendant of the deceased, or that the petitioner has a special interest in the grave or abandoned public cemetery.

(3) The entry on the property would not unreasonably interfere with the enjoyment of the property by the landowner.

(b) The clerk's order may:

(1) Specify the dates and the daylight hours that the petitioner may enter and remain on the property;

(2) Grant to the petitioner the right to enter the landowner's property periodically, as specified in the order, after the time needed for initial restoration of the grave or abandoned public cemetery; or

(3) Specify a reasonable route from which the petitioner may not deviate in all entries and exits from the property. (1987, c. 686, s. 1; 1991, c. 36, s. 1; 1999-216, s. 12.)

(a) The thermostat of any new residential water heater offered for sale or lease for use in a single-family or multifamily dwelling in the State shall be preset by the manufacturer or installer no higher than approximately 120 degrees Fahrenheit (or 49 degrees Celsius). A water heater reservoir temperature may be set higher if it is supplying space heaters that require higher temperatures. For purposes of this section, a water heater shall mean the primary source of hot water for any single-family or multifamily residential dwelling including, but not limited to any solar or other hot water heating systems.

(b) Nothing in this section shall prohibit the occupant of a single-family or multiunit residential dwelling with an individual water heater from resetting or having reset the thermostat on the water heater. Any such resetting shall relieve the manufacturer or installer of the water heater and, in the case of a residential dwelling that is leased or rented, also the unit's owner, from liability for damages attributed to the resetting.

(c) A warning tag or sticker shall be placed on or near the operating thermostat control of any residential water heater. This tag or sticker shall state that the thermostat settings above the preset temperature may cause severe burns. (b) No individual, firm, corporation or business shall install, sell, or offer for sale any water baffles or heat traps, which are not constructed and tested to withstand a temperature of 400 degrees Fahrenheit without deterioration in any manner and such baffles or heat traps to be so labeled by the manufacturer. § 66-27.4. Local regulation of hot water heater safety features.

Nothing in this Article shall be interpreted as relieving any individual, firm, corporation or business from complying with additional protective regulations relating to the safety features of hot water heaters as may be prescribed by local law, county or municipal charter or ordinance; provided, however, that no local law, county or municipal charter or ordinance shall fix or govern the temperature or pressure settings of a pressure-temperature relief valve on an automatic hot water tank or heater covered by this Article if there is installed on such tank or heater a pressure-temperature relief valve having settings in compliance with the North Carolina Building Code. (1965, c. 860, s. 4.)

Article 4B.

Safety Features of Trailers.

§ 66-27.5. House trailers to have two doors.

(a) In order to provide greater protection from the dangers of fire, every new house trailer having a body length exceeding 32 feet and manufactured or assembled after January 1, 1970, and sold in this State shall, if such house trailer is to be used as a residence or dwelling within this State, be equipped with at least two doors. These doors shall be located in the vicinity of the front and rear rooms of the house trailer. Provided, however, this section shall not apply: to any (i) travel trailer which is factory equipped for the road and designed to be used as a dwelling for travel, recreational or vacation use, if such travel trailer does not exceed 32 feet in length; (ii) to any house trailer of any length sold in North Carolina for use in a state other than North Carolina.

(b) It shall be unlawful for any dealer to sell in this State any house trailer manufactured or assembled after January 1, 1970, having a body length exceeding 32 feet which does not conform to the specifications set forth in subsection (a). Any dealer who violates this section shall be guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor. (1969, c. 463; 1993, c. 539, s. 511; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 66-27A: Recodified as 66-27.01 by Session Laws 1997-456, s. 27.

Article 5.

Sale of Phonograph Records or Electrical Transcriptions.

§ 66-28. Prohibition of rights to further restrict or to collect royalties on commercial use.

When any phonograph record or electrical transcription, upon which musical performances are embodied, is sold in commerce for use within this State, all asserted common-law rights to further restrict or to collect royalties on the commercial use made of such recorded performances by any person is hereby abrogated and expressly repealed. When such article or chattel has been sold in commerce, any asserted intangible rights shall be deemed to have passed to the purchaser upon the purchase of the chattel itself, and the right to further restrict the use made of phonograph records or electrical transcriptions, whose sole value is in their use, is hereby forbidden and abrogated.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to deny the rights granted any person by the United States copyright laws. The sole intendment of this enactment is to abolish any common-law rights attaching to phonograph records and electrical transcriptions, whose sole value is in their use, and to forbid further restrictions of the collection of subsequent fees and royalties on phonograph records and electrical transcriptions by performers who were paid for the initial performance at the recording thereof. (1939, c. 113.)

Legal Periodicals. — For article on antitrust and unfair trade practice law in North Carolina, with federal law compared, see 50 N.C.L. Rev. 199 (1972).

CASE NOTES

The effect of this section was to eliminate any common-law right to restrict the use of a recording sold for use in this State. Liberty/UA, Inc. v. Eastern Tape Corp., 11 N.C. App. 20, 180 S.E.2d 414, cert. denied, 278 N.C. 702, 181 S.E.2d 600 (1971).

"Use," as employed in this section, means the use for which a recording is intended; i.e., the playing of the recording. Thus, under this section, any record sold in commerce for use in this State may be played privately, publicly, and commercially without restriction. It does not follow that the performance contained on the record can be rerecorded onto another record and the rerecording sold in competition with the original producer. Liberty/UA, Inc. v. Eastern Tape Corp., 11 N.C. App. 20, 180 S.E.2d 414, cert. denied, 278 N.C. 702, 181 S.E.2d 600 (1971).

Copying Sound Recordings. — In North Carolina the conduct and techniques employed to copy and appropriate sound recordings are not justified either under this section or by the fact that such recordings are in the public domain. United Artists Records, Inc. v. Eastern Tape Corp., 19 N.C. App. 207, 198 S.E.2d 452 (1973).

(1901, c. 678; Rev., s. 3029; 1919, c. 212; C.S., s. 5118.)

CASE NOTES

Cited in Champion Shoe Mach. Co. v. Sellers, 197 N.C. 30, 147 S.E. 674 (1929).

§ 66-36. Bond required.

Every person or every corporation organized under G.S. 66-35, to become a public warehouseman, except such as shall have a capital stock of not less than five thousand dollars ($5,000), shall give bond in a reliable bonding or surety company, or an individual bond with sufficient sureties, payable to the State of North Carolina, in an amount not less than ten thousand dollars ($10,000), to be approved, filed with and recorded by the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the warehouse is located, for the faithful performance of the duties of a public warehouseman; but if such person or corporation has a capital stock of not less than five thousand dollars ($5,000), then it shall not be required to give the bond mentioned in this section. (1901, c. 678, s. 2; 1905, c. 540; Rev., s. 3030; 1908, c. 56; 1919, c. 212; C.S., s. 5119.)

§ 66-37. Person injured may sue on bond.

Whenever such warehouseman fails to perform any duty or violates any of the provisions of this Article, any person injured by such failure or violation may bring an action in his name and to his own use in any court of competent jurisdiction on the bond of said warehouseman. (1901, c. 678, s. 3; Rev., s. 3031; C.S., s. 5120.)

Warehousemen are liable under the general law for their negligence causing damage to articles stored with them. Motley v. Southern Finishing & Whse. Co., 122 N.C. 347, 30 S.E. 3 (1898); A.H. Motley Co. v. Southern Finishing & Whse. Co., 124 N.C. 232, 32 S.E. 555 (1899).

Care Required of Bailee. — Where it was known to bailor at time of storage that the bailee knew nothing about tobacco, and had no experience in handling it, the bailee will not be held liable for injury resulting from want of skill and experience; but will be bound to use such ordinary care as a prudent man would exercise to guard against moisture in the structure of the warehouse and the location of the tobacco. A.H. Motley Co. v. Southern Finishing & Whse. Co., 126 N.C. 339, 35 S.E. 601 (1900).

Provision Against Liability. — A provision in a charter of a warehouse corporation to the effect that such corporation shall not be liable for loss or damages not provided for in its warehouse receipt or contract attempts to confer exclusive privileges and is therefore unconstitutional and void. Motley v. Southern Finishing & Whse. Co., 122 N.C. 347, 30 S.E. 3 (1898).

The measure of damages for property damaged while in the care of a storage or warehouse company is the difference between the market value of the property in its damaged condition and what it would have sold for, if undamaged, on the day of its return to the owner. Motley v. Southern Finishing & Whse. Co., 122 N.C. 347, 30 S.E. 3 (1898).

Carrier's Liability as Warehouseman. — See Poythress v. Durham & S. Ry., 148 N.C. 391, 62 S.E. 515 (1908); Citizens & Marine Bank v. Southern Ry., 153 N.C. 346, 69 S.E. 261 (1910).

§ 66-40. Unlawful disposition of property stored.

If any person unlawfully sells, pledges, lends, or in any other way disposes of or permits or is a party to the unlawful selling, pledging, lending, or other disposition of any goods, wares, merchandise, or anything deposited in a public warehouse, without the authority of the party who deposited the same, he shall be punished by a fine not to exceed two thousand dollars ($2,000) and by imprisonment in the State's prison for not more than three years; but no officer, manager, or agent of such public warehouse shall be liable to the penalties provided in this section unless, with the intent to injure or defraud any person, he so sells, pledges, lends, or in any other way disposes of the same, or is a party to the selling, pledging, lending, or other disposition of any goods, wares, merchandise, article, or thing so deposited. CASE NOTES

Enforcement of Section. — Governmental units created by the state have no duty or authority to attempt to enforce the provisions of this section by ad valorem taxation of State property. In re University of N.C., 300 N.C. 563, 268 S.E.2d 472 (1980).

Section Does Not Create Private Cause of Action. — Although businesses claimed university, through its trademark licensing program, violated this section by engaging indirectly in the sale of goods, the court declined to find that the statute created a private cause of action; subsection (e) denominating violation of section a misdemeanor provided an exclusive remedy and there was no clear indication that the section was intended to protect any special class of which businesses might have been members. Board of Governors v. Helpingstine, 714 F. Supp. 167 (M.D.N.C. 1989).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

The North Carolina State Fair exemption in subsection (b) of this section applies to the buildings and grounds on a year-round basis. See opinion of Attorney General to Governor James B. Hunt, Jr., and the Council of State, 53 N.C.A.G. 36 (1983).

Concessions on Ferries. — Section 136-82, which authorizes the Department of Transportation to provide certain items at concessions on ferries and at ferry facilities, must be read in conjunction with the clearly expressed public policy stated in subsection (a) of this section that prohibits government agencies from competing with private industries in business. See opinion of Attorney General to E.H. McEntire, P.E., State Highway Chief Engineer, 59 N.C.A.G. 53 (1989).

TACIT Program Not Violative of Section. — The TACIT Program, offered by North Carolina State University's Department of Urban Affairs to units of local government to educate employees with respect to selecting appropriate computer equipment, does not violate the provisions of this section. See opinion of the Attorney General to Mr. George E. Tatum, Register of Deeds, Cumberland County, 55 N.C.A.G. 101 (1986).

Miscellaneous Provisions.

§ 66-65. Indemnity bonds required of agents, etc., to state maximum liability and period of liability.

Wherever any person, firm, or corporation, engaged in the business of merchandising any articles whatsoever, shall require of its agents, solicitors, salesmen, representatives, consignees, or peddlers, or other persons selling or handling its merchandise, as a condition precedent to selling or handling any of the merchandise of said person, firm, or corporation, that such agents, solicitors, salesmen, representatives, consignees, or peddlers should furnish and provide a bond or guaranty or indemnity contract guaranteeing the full and faithful accounting of moneys collected from such merchandise, such bond or indemnity contract shall state specifically therein the maximum amount of money or other liability which the principal and the sureties or guarantors thereof undertake thereby to pay in event of default of said bond or indemnity or guaranty contract; and said bond or indemnity or guaranty contract shall also state specifically the period of time during which liability may be incurred on account of any default in said bond or indemnity or guaranty contract.

Any bond or indemnity or guaranty contract which does not comply with the provisions of this section shall be null and void and no action may be maintained against the surety or guarantor to recover any sum due thereon in any court of this State. (1943, c. 604, ss. 1, 2.)

Legal Periodicals. — For comment on this section, see 21 N.C.L. Rev. 362 (1943).

§ 66-66. Manufacture or sale of antifreeze solutions compounded with inorganic salts or petroleum distillates prohibited.

The manufacture or sale of antifreeze solutions which are designated, intended, advertised, or recommended by the manufacturer or seller for use in the cooling systems of motor vehicles or gasoline combustion engines, and which are compounded with calcium chloride, magnesium chloride, sodium chloride, or other inorganic salts or with petroleum distillates is hereby prohibited.

Any person, firm, or corporation violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1943, c. 625, ss. 1, 2; 1993, c. 539, s. 515; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 66-67. Disposition by laundries and dry cleaning establishments of certain unclaimed clothing.

(a) If any person fails to claim any garment, clothing, household article or other article delivered for laundering, cleaning or pressing to any laundry or dry cleaning establishment as defined in G.S. 105-85, or any dry cleaning establishment as defined in G.S. 105-74, for a period of 90 days after the surrender of such articles for processing, the laundry or dry cleaning establishment may dispose of such garments, clothing, household articles or other articles by whatever means it may choose, without liability or responsibility to the owner, 30 days after a notice has been mailed by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the last known address of the owner of the garment, clothing, or other article, stating that the article will be disposed of unless it is redeemed within 30 days of the mailing of the notice. Provided, however, that before such laundry or dry cleaning establishment may claim the benefit of this section it shall at the time of receiving such garments, clothing, household articles or other articles, have a notice of dimensions of not less than eight and one-half by 11 inches, prominently displayed in a conspicuous place in the office, branch office or retail outlet where said clothes, garments or articles are received, if the same be received at an office, on which notice shall appear the words "NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR GOODS LEFT ON HAND FOR MORE THAN 90 DAYS".

(b) If any person fails to claim any garment, clothing, household article or other article delivered to any laundry or dry cleaning establishment described in subsection (a) of this section and displaying the notice described in that subsection, for a period of 180 days, the laundry or dry cleaning establishment may, without giving notice to the owner, dispose of such garment, clothing, household article, or other article by whatever means it may choose, without liability or responsibility to the owner.

(c) The provisions of this section shall also be applicable with respect to the storage of garments, furs, rugs, clothing or other articles after the completion of the period for which storage was agreed to be provided. (1947, c. 975; 1953, c. 1054; 1967, c. 931; 1987, c. 158; 1991, c. 531, s. 1.)

§ 66-67.1. Disposal by repair businesses of certain unclaimed property.

(a) Disposal Authorized. — Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 1 of Chapter 44A of the General Statutes, a person who repairs, alters, treats, or improves personal property in the ordinary course of his business pursuant to an express or implied contract with an owner or legal possessor of the personal property may, upon compliance with the notice requirement of subsection (b), dispose of any personal property of a value of five hundred dollars ($500.00) or less, other than a motor vehicle, that has not been claimed by the owner or legal possessor for a period of sixty days or more after his receipt of written notice that the property is ready to be claimed.

(b) Notice Requirement. — The repair business shall, at the time the property is surrendered, have a written notice of dimensions of not less than eight and one-half by eleven inches prominently displayed in a conspicuous place in the office or shop where the property was surrendered containing the following message: "NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR GOODS LEFT ON HAND FOR MORE THAN 60 DAYS". When the property has been repaired or otherwise processed, the repair business shall notify the owner or legal possessor of the property, by certified mail with return receipt requested, that the property is ready to be claimed.

(c) Liability. — A person who disposes of property in accordance with this section is not liable for damages to the owner of the property disposed of.

(d) Definitions. — As used in this section, the terms "legal possessor" and "owner" have the meanings provided in G.S. 44A-1. (1987, c. 386.)

§ 66-67.2. Persons who sell used goods on consignment must keep certain records.

(a) A person who is engaged in the business of selling used tangible personal property on consignment must keep a record of each piece of property consigned to that person for sale. The record must contain all of the following information:

(1) A description of the property, including any model or serial number of the property.
(2) The name, residence address, telephone number, and drivers license number or other identifying number of the owner of the property.
(3) The date the property was consigned.
(4) The owner's stated value of the property.

(b) The consignee shall provide the owner with a copy of the record required by subsection (a) of this section.

(c) A person who fails to keep the records required by this section is guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor. A law enforcement agency may examine the records required to be kept under this section during business hours.

(d) This section does not apply to a motor vehicle.

(e) This section does not apply to any nonprofit organization exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code (26 U.S.C. § 501(c)(3)). (1991, c. 536, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 516; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 66-67.3. Disposal of dies, molds, forms, and patterns.

(a) Definitions. — The following definitions apply in this section:
(1) Customer. — Either of the following:
a. A person who causes or caused a molder to fabricate, cast, or otherwise make a die, mold, form, or pattern.
b. A person who causes or caused a molder to use a die, mold, form, or pattern to manufacture, assemble, or otherwise make a product.
(2) Molder. — A tool or die maker or any other person who does either of the following:
a. Fabricates, casts, or otherwise makes a die, mold, form, or pattern.
b. Uses a die, mold, form, or pattern to manufacture, assemble, or otherwise make a product.

(b) Ownership and Transfer. — A customer has all rights, title, and interest to a die, mold, form, or pattern made or used by a molder on behalf of the customer unless an agreement provides otherwise. If the customer does not claim possession of the die, mold, form, or pattern from the molder within three years after the last time it is used, the molder may choose to obtain all rights, title, and interest to the die, mold, form, or pattern by operation of law unless a written agreement provides otherwise.

(c) Procedure. — If a molder chooses to have all rights, title, and interest to a die, mold, form, or pattern transferred to the molder by operation of law, the molder must send a written notice, by registered mail, return receipt requested, to the customer and to any known secured creditor. The notice must state that the molder intends to terminate the customer's rights, title, and interest in a mold, die, form, or pattern by having those rights, title, and interest transferred to the molder by operation of law pursuant to this section. The notice to the customer must be sent to the customer's last known address or, if the customer has designated in writing a different address for receipt of the notice, to the designated address. If a return receipt cannot be obtained for a notice that is mailed, the molder may give notice by publication in accordance with G.S. 1A- 1, Rule 4(j1). The rights, title, and interest in a die, mold, form, or pattern are transferred by operation of law to a molder who gives notice as required by this section unless, within 30 days after the date the molder receives acknowledgement of the return receipt of a notice that is mailed or 45 days after the date of first publication of a notice made by publication, the customer takes possession of the die, mold, form, or pattern, or makes other contractual arrangements with the molder for taking possession of or for storing the die, mold, form, or pattern.

(d) Use Upon Transfer. — A molder to whom the rights, title, and interest in a die, mold, form, or pattern is transferred by operation of law under this section may destroy or otherwise dispose of the die, mold, form, or pattern as the molder's own property without any risk of liability to the customer. The molder may not use the die, mold, form, or pattern for any other purpose.

(e) Scope. — This section does not affect a right of a customer under federal patent or copyright law or any state or federal law pertaining to unfair competition. (1993, c. 541, s. 9.)

Article 14.

Business under Assumed Name Regulated.

§ 66-68. Certificate to be filed; contents; exemption of certain partnerships and limited liability companies engaged in rendering professional services; withdrawal or transfer of assumed name.

(a) Unless exempt under subsection (e) hereof, before any person or partnership engages in business in any county in this State under an assumed name or under any designation, name or style other than the real name of the owner or owners thereof, before any limited partnership engaged in business in any county in this State other than under the name set out in the Certificate filed with the Office of the Secretary of State, before any limited liability company engages in business in any county other than under the name set out in the articles of organization filed with the Office of the Secretary of State, or before a corporation engages in business in any county other than under its corporate name, such person, partnership, limited partnership, limited liability company, or corporation must file in the office of the register of deeds of such county a certificate giving the following information:

(1) The name under which the business is to be conducted; and

(2) The name and address of the owner, or if there is more than one owner, the name and address of each.

(b) If the owner is an individual or a partnership, the certificate must be signed and duly acknowledged by the individual owner, or by each general partner. If the owner is a corporation or limited liability company, it must be signed in the name of the corporation or limited liability company and duly acknowledged as provided by G.S. 47-41.01 or G.S. 47-41.02.

(c) Whenever a general partner withdraws from or a new general partner joins a partnership, a new certificate shall be filed. For limited partnerships, the requirement of this subsection (c) shall be deemed satisfied if the partnership is identified as the owner as provided in subsection (a) and the partnership's certificate of limited partnership is amended as provided in G.S. 59-202.

(d) It is not necessary that any person, partnership, limited liability company, or corporation file such certificate in any county where no place of business is maintained and where the only business done in such county is the sale of goods by sample or by traveling agents or by mail.

(e) Any partnership or limited liability company engaged in rendering professional services, as defined in G.S. 55B-2(6), in this State, shall be exempt from the requirements of this section if it shall file annually with the licensing board responsible for regulating the rendering of such professional services, or at such intervals as shall be designated from time to time by such licensing board, a listing of the names and addresses of its partners or members. The listing shall be open to public inspection during normal working hours.

(f) Any person, partnership, limited liability company, or corporation executing and filing a certificate of assumed name as required by this section may, upon ceasing to engage in business in this State under the assumed name, withdraw the assumed name or transfer the assumed name to any other person, partnership, or corporation by filing in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the certificate of assumed name is filed a certificate of withdrawal or a certificate of transfer executed as provided in subsection (b) of this section and setting forth:

(1) The assumed name being withdrawn or transferred;
(2) The date of filing of the certificate of assumed name;
(3) The name and address of the owner or owners of the business;
(4) A statement that such owner or owners have ceased engaging in business under the assumed name;
(5) If the assumed name is to be withdrawn, the effective date (which shall be a date certain but not more than 20 days from the date of filing) of the withdrawal if it is not to be effective upon the filing of the certificate of withdrawal; and
(6) If the assumed name is to be transferred, the name and address of the transferee or transferees, and the effective date (which shall be a date certain but not more than 20 days from the date of filing) of the transfer if it is not to be effective upon the filing of the certificate of transfer. This subsection does not relieve a transferee of the obligation to file a certificate of assumed name as required by this Article. (1913, c. 77, s. 1; C.S., s. 3288; 1951, c. 381, ss. 3, 7; 1967, c. 823, s. 28; 1977, c. 384; 1985, c. 264; 1987, c. 723, ss. 1, 2; 1987 (Reg. Sess., 1988), c. 1031, s. 4; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 1030, s. 18; 1999-189, s. 6; 2000-140, s. 101(t).)

Cross References. — As to prohibition of use of title "certified public accountant" by partnership or association unless all members qualified, see § 93-4.

Editor's Note. — Subsection (a) was amended by Session Laws 1987 (Reg. Sess., 1988), c. 1031, s. 4, in the coded bill drafting format provided by § 120-20.1. It has been set out in the form above at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Session Laws 1999-189, s. 7, which amended this section, as amended by Session Laws 2000-140, s. 101(t), effective July 21, 2000, provides: "This act is effective when it becomes law [June 18, 1999], applies to limited liability companies in existence or formed on or after the date the act becomes law, and applies to actions commenced on or after October 1, 1999."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 1999-189, s. 6, effective June 18, 1999, added "and limited liability companies" to the catchline; inserted "limited liability company" once in subsection (a), once in subsection (d), and once in subsection (f); inserted "or limited liability company" twice in subsection (b), and once in subsection (e); in subsection (a) inserted "before any limited ... the Secretary of State"; added "and" to the end of subdivision (a)(1); and added "or members" to the end of the first sentence in subsection (e). See editor's note for applicability.

CASE NOTES

Statute Is Highly Penal. — Chapter 77, Laws of 1913, codified as §§ 66-68 through 66-71, is of a highly penal character, and its meaning will not be extended by interpretation to include cases that do not come clearly within its provision. Jennette v. Coppersmith, 176 N.C. 82, 97 S.E. 54 (1918); Security Fin. Co. v. Hendry, 189 N.C. 549, 127 S.E. 629 (1925).

And the courts will not lend their aid to extend a highly penal statute, although it is within the police power, unless the case comes within the letter of the law, and also within its meaning and palpable design. It is just as clearly the policy of the law that it will not lend its aid in enforcing a claim founded on its own violation. Security Fin. Co. v. Hendry, 189 N.C. 549, 127 S.E. 629 (1925).

Intent of the statute is to prevent fraud or imposition upon those dealing with a business conducted under an assumed name, and to afford them means for knowing the status and responsibility of the concern with which they deal. Price v. Edwards, 178 N.C. 493, 101 S.E. 33 (1919).

The statute was enacted as a police regulation to protect the general public from fraud and imposition. Courtney v. Parker, 173 N.C. 479, 92 S.E. 324 (1917); Security Fin. Co. v. Hendry, 189 N.C. 549, 127 S.E. 629 (1925).

The statute manifestly is for the protection of creditors of persons who fail to comply with its provisions, or of others who do business with them. The consequences of a violation are prescribed by § 66-71. They seem to be limited to punishment as a misdemeanor, for it is expressly provided that failure to comply with this section, shall not prevent a recovery in a civil action by the person who shall violate the statute. Farmers' Bank & Trust Co. v. Murphy, 189 N.C. 479, 127 S.E. 527 (1925).

This section is intended to protect the public and creditors against fraud. Wilder v. Hobson, 101 N.C. App. 199, 398 S.E.2d 625 (1990).

Statute does not apply between partners who are presumed to know the status and responsibility of the partnership; and a surviving partner may maintain his action against the heirs of the dead one to recover his share in the assets of a partnership in a legitimate business, notwithstanding the business had been conducted in the name solely of the dead partner, and the requirements of the statute had not been complied with. Price v. Edwards, 178 N.C. 493, 101 S.E. 33 (1919).

Where a partnership in a legitimate business has been conducted in the name of one of the partners alone, as between themselves the statute does not apply; and an action of the silent partner to recover his share of the assets from the other is not founded upon any wrong avoiding his recovery. Price v. Edwards, 178 N.C. 493, 101 S.E. 33 (1919).

Association Must Be Registered Under Section to Bring Suit Concerning Real Property. — Under the wording of § 39-25, unincorporated, unregistered association may hold real property in its common name; however, if the association wishes to bring suit concerning this property, it must be registered in accordance with § 66-68. Cherokee Home Demonstration Club v. Oxendine, 100 N.C. App. 622, 397 S.E.2d 643 (1990).

Filing of Certificate Does Not Manifest Intent to Form Partnership. — Filing of a certificate to transact business under an assumed name, pursuant to this section, does not manifest intent to form a partnership. Wilder v. Hobson, 101 N.C. App. 199, 398 S.E.2d 625 (1990).

Controlling Effect of § 1-69.1 over § 39-24. — Section 39-24 was enacted in 1939. The amendment to § 1-69.1, which added the requirement of an allegation of recordation under this section before suit may be brought by an unincorporated association in its common name, was enacted effective October 1, 1975. In the face of any irreconcilable conflict between the provisions of these two statutes, § 1-69.1, being the later enactment, will control or be regarded as a qualification of the earlier statute. Cherokee Home Demonstration Club v. Oxendine, 100 N.C. App. 622, 397 S.E.2d 643 (1990).

Failure to Comply with § 1-69.1 Held Fatal to Complaint. — Failure of plaintiff unincorporated association to comply with the directives of § 1-69.1 was fatal to its complaint. Section 1-69.1 requires an allegation of a recordation under this section before suit may be brought by an unincorporated association in its common name. Cherokee Home Demonstration Club v. Oxendine, 100 N.C. App. 622, 397 S.E.2d 643 (1990).

Requirement That Unincorporated Association Allege Its Registration. — While it is true that § 1-69.1 requires unincorporated association to allege its registration for purposes of bringing suit in its collective name, there is no concomitant requirement attached to its right to hold property under § 39-25. Cherokee Home Demonstration Club v. Oxendine, 100 N.C. App. 622, 397 S.E.2d 643 (1990).

Where a partnership is being conducted under the surname of the proprietors in such manner as to afford a reasonable and sufficient guide to a correct knowledge of the individuals composing the firm, the statute does not apply. Befarah v. Spell, 176 N.C. 193, 96 S.E. 949 (1918).

In Jennette v. Coppersmith, 176 N.C. 82, 97 S.E. 54 (1918), it was held that the title of the plaintiffs' firm, Jennette Bros., afforded a reasonable and sufficient guide to correct knowledge of the individuals composing the firm, and therefore did not come clearly within the doctrine of "assumed" names within the meaning of this statute.

Delay in Substituting Correct Name Not Fatal. — Where plaintiffs sued and served the appropriate party, their delay in substituting the correct name of that party was not fatal. Tyson v. L'eggs Prods., Inc., 84 N.C. App. 1, 351 S.E.2d 834 (1987).

Sufficient Service on Corporate Agent. — Where at the time that plaintiffs instituted their action, corporation had not complied with this section, but was actively conducting business under an assumed name and holding itself out to the public and to its employees under that name, and where service of process was accomplished upon a corporate agent who might have been expected to know that the assumed name was a name used by the corporation, corporation was adequately served with sufficient legal process under its assumed name, and the trial court had jurisdiction. Tyson v. L'eggs Prods., Inc., 84 N.C. App. 1, 351 S.E.2d 834 (1987).

Where corporation failed to comply with the provisions of former § 55-13 (see now § 55-5-01) and this section, it was estopped to complain that it did not receive complaint and summons forwarded to it by the Secretary of State, as its own dereliction resulted in those documents being returned undelivered. South Carolina Ins. Co. v. Hallmark Enters., Inc., 88 N.C. App. 642, 364 S.E.2d 678, cert. denied, 322 N.C. 482, 370 S.E.2d 228 (1988).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

There is no authority for allowing a foreign limited partnership to operate under any more than one assumed name, and the assumed name under which it operates must be the one registered with the Secretary of State. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. Clyde Smith, Deputy Secretary of State, 57 N.C.A.G. 21 (1987), issued under the law in effect prior to enactment of the 1987 and 1987 (Reg. Sess., 1988) amendments.

Domestic limited partnerships may not operate under assumed names in North Carolina. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. Clyde Smith, Deputy Secretary of State, 57 N.C.A.G. 21 (1987), issued under the law in effect prior to enactment of the 1987 and 1987 (Reg. Sess., 1988) amendments.

§ 66-69. Index of certificates kept by register of deeds.

Each register of deeds of this State shall keep an index which will show alphabetically every assumed name with respect to which a certificate is hereafter so filed in his county. The index shall also contain notations of any certificates of withdrawal or certificates of transfer filed in the county. (1913, c. 77, s. 2; C.S., s. 3299; 1951, c. 381, ss. 4, 7; 1967, c. 823, s. 29; 1987, c. 723, s. 3.)

§ 66-69.1. Copy of certificate prima facie evidence.

A copy of such certificate duly certified by the register of deeds in whose office it has been filed shall be prima facie evidence of the facts required to be stated herein. (1913, c. 77, s. 2; C.S., s. 3299; 1951, c. 381, ss. 5, 7; 1967, c. 823, s. 30.)

§ 66-70: Repealed by Session Laws 1969, c. 751, s. 45.

§ 66-71. Violation of Article a misdemeanor; civil penalty.

(a) Any person, partner or corporation failing to file the certificate as required by G.S. 66-68(a) or G.S. 66-68(c) —

(1) Shall be guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor, and

(2) Shall be liable in the amount of fifty dollars ($50.00) to any person demanding that such certificate be filed if he fails to file the certificate within seven days after such demand. Such penalty may be collected in a civil action therefor.

(b) The failure of any person to comply with the provisions of this Article does not prevent a recovery by such person in any civil action brought in any of the courts of this State. (1913, c. 77, s. 4; 1919, c. 2; C.S., s. 3291; 1951, c. 381, ss. 6, 7; 1987, c. 723, s. 4; 1993, c. 539, s. 517; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

CASE NOTES

Contracts in Violation of Statute Not Void. — It is clear that the legislature intended, by adding what is now subsection (b) of this section, that the punishment should be confined to the fine or imprisonment set out, but that contracts made by persons carrying on or conducting or transacting business in violation of § 66-68 should not be void. Security Fin. Co. v. Hendry, 189 N.C. 549, 127 S.E. 629 (1925). See also Williamson Real Estate Co. v. Sasser, 179 N.C. 497, 103 S.E. 73 (1920); Farmers' Bank & Trust Co. v. Article 15.

Person Trading as "Company" or "Agent".

§ 66-72. Person trading as "company" or "agent" to disclose real parties.

If any person shall transact business as trader or merchant, with the addition of the words "factor," "agent," "& Company" or "& Co.," or shall conduct such business under any name or style other than his own, except in case of a corporation, and fail to disclose the name of his principal or partner by a sign placed conspicuously at the place wherein such business is conducted, then all the property, stock of goods and merchandise, and choses in action purchased, used and contracted in the course of such business shall, as to creditors, be liable for the debts contracted in the course of such business by the person in charge of same. Provided, this section shall not apply to any person transacting business under license as an auctioneer, broker, or commission merchant; in all actions under this section it is incumbent on such trader or merchant to prove compliance with the same. Article 16.

Unfair Trade Practices in Diamond Industry.

§ 66-73. Definitions.

For the purpose of this Article:

(1) A "diamond" is a natural mineral consisting essentially of pure carbon crystallized in the isometric system and is found in many colors. Its hardness is 10; its specific gravity approximately 3.52; and it has a refractive index 2.42.

(2) "A member of the diamond industry" shall be construed to mean any person, firm, corporation or organization engaged in the business of selling, offering for sale, or distributing in commerce, diamonds (other than industrial diamonds), whether cut, polished, or in the rough, synthetic diamonds and imitation diamonds, and of any jewelry items or other products containing diamonds, synthetic diamonds, or imitation diamonds.

(3) "The diamond industry" or "the industry" as used in this Article is a trade, industry or business which shall be construed to embrace all persons, firms, corporations and organizations engaged in selling, offering for sale, or the distribution in commerce of diamonds (other than industrial diamonds), whether cut, polished or in the rough, synthetic diamonds and imitation diamonds, and of any jewelry item or other products containing diamonds, synthetic diamonds or imitation diamonds.

(4) "Unfair trade practices" as referred to herein are unfair methods of competition, unfair or deceptive acts or practices and other illegal practices which are prohibited by law. (1957, c. 585, s. 1.)

Legal Periodicals. — For article on antitrust and unfair trade practice law in North Carolina, with federal law compared, see 50 N.C.L. Rev. 199 (1972).

§ 66-74. What constitutes unfair trade practice.

It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the diamond industry:

(1) To use, or cause or promote the use of, any trade promotional literature, advertising matter, guarantee, warranty, mark, brand, label, trade name, picture, design or device, designation, or other type of oral or written representation, however disseminated or published, which has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers or prospective purchasers with respect to the type, kind, grade, quality, color, cut, quantity, size, weight, nature, substance, durability, serviceability, origin, preparation, production, manufacture, distribution, or customary or regular price, of any diamond or other product of the industry, or which has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving the purchasing or consuming public in any other material respect.

(2) In the sale, offering for sale, or distribution of products of the industry to use the unqualified word "diamond" as descriptive of or as an identification for any object or product not meeting the requirement specified in the definition of diamond hereinabove set forth, or which, though meeting such requirements, has not been symmetrically fashioned with at least 17 polished facets.

The foregoing provisions of subdivision (2) have application to the unqualified use of the word "diamond." They are not to be construed as inhibiting:

a. The use of the words "rough diamond" as descriptive of or as a designation for, uncut or unfaceted objects or products meeting the requirements specified in the mentioned definition of diamond; or

b. The use of the word "diamond" as descriptive of or as a designation for objects or products meeting the requirements of said definition of diamond, but which have not been symmetrically fashioned with at least 17 polished facets when in immediate conjunction with the word "diamond," there is either a disclosure of the number of facets and shape of the diamond or the name of a type of diamond which denotes shape and which usually has less than 17 facets (e.g., "rose diamond"); or

c. The use of the words "imitation diamond" as descriptive of or as a designation for objects or products which do not meet the requirements of said definition of diamond but have an appearance similar to that of a cut and polished diamond.

When the word "diamond" is so used, the qualifying word or words shall be of at least equal conspicuousness as the word "diamond."

(3) To use the words "reproduction," "replica," "diamond-like," or similar terms as descriptive of imitation diamonds.

(4) To use the term "synthetic diamond" as descriptive of any object or product unless such object or product has in fact been artificially created and is of similar appearance and of essentially the same optical and physical properties and chemical structure as a diamond, or to apply the term "diamond" to any man-made objects or products unless it is immediately preceded in each instance with equal conspicuity by the word "synthetic."

(5) To use the word "perfect" or any other word, expression or representation of similar import, as descriptive of any diamond which discloses flaws, cracks, carbon spots, clouds, or other blemishes or imperfection of any sort when examined in normal daylight, or its equivalent, by a trained eye under a 10-power corrected diamond eye loupe or other equal magnifier.

The use with respect to a stone which is not perfect of any phase (such as "commercially perfect") containing the word "perfect" or "perfectly" is regarded as misleading and in violation of this subdivision, and this subdivision shall not be construed as approving of the use of the word "perfect," or any word or representation of like import, as descriptive of any diamond that is of inferior color or make. Nothing is to be construed as inhibiting the use of the word "flawless" as descriptive of a diamond which meets the requirements for "perfect" set forth in this subdivision.

(6) In connection with the offering of any ring or rings or other articles of jewelry having a perfect center stone or stones, and side or supplementary stones which are not of such quality, to use the word "perfect" without clearly disclosing that such description applies only to the center stone or center stones.

(7) To use the term "blue white" or any other term, expression or representation of similar import as descriptive of any diamond which under normal, north daylight or its equivalent, shows any color or any trace of any color, other than blue or bluish.

(8) To advertise, offer for sale, or sell any diamond which has been artificially colored or tinted by coating, irradiating, or heating, or by use of nuclear bombardment, or by any other means, without disclosure of such fact to purchasers or prospective purchasers, or without disclosure that such artificial coloring or tinting is not permanent, if such is the fact.

(9) To use the terms "properly cut," "proper cut," "modern cut," "well made," or expressions of similar import, to describe any diamond that is lopsided or so thick or so thin in depth as materially to detract from the brilliance of the stone.

(10) To use the unqualified expressions "brilliant," or "brilliant cut," or "full cut" to describe, identify or refer to any diamond except a round diamond which has at least 32 facets, plus the table above the girdle and at least 24 facets below.

Such terms should not be applied to single or rose-cut diamonds, either with or without qualification. They may be applied to emerald (rectangular) cut and marquise (pointed oval) cut diamonds meeting the above stated facet requirements when, in immediate conjunction with the term used, disclosure is made of the fact that the diamond is of emerald or marquise form.

(11) To use the terms "clean," "eye clean," "commercially clean," "commercially white," or any other terms, expressions, or representations of similar import in advertising, labeling, representing, or describing any diamond when such terms are used for the purpose, or with the capacity and tendency or effect, of misleading or deceiving purchasers, prospective purchasers, or the consuming public.

(12) To misrepresent the weight of any diamond or to deceive purchasers or prospective purchasers as to the weight of any diamond.

The standard unit for designation of the weight of a diamond is the carat, which is equivalent to 200 milligrams (one-fifth gram). While advertisements may state the approximate weight or range of weights of a group of products, all weight representations regarding individual products shall state the exact weight of the stone or stones and be accurate to within 1/200th of a carat (one-half "point").

(13) To state or otherwise represent the weight of all diamonds contained in a ring or other article of jewelry unless such weight figure is accompanied with equal conspicuity by the words "total weight" or words of similar import, so as to indicate clearly that the weight shown is that of all stones in the article and not that of the center or largest stone.

(14) To use the word "gem" to describe, identify or refer to any diamond which does not possess the requisite beauty, brilliance, value and other qualities necessary for classification as a gem.

Not all diamonds are gems. For example: Small pieces of diamond rough or melee weighing only one or two points are not to be described as "gems." Neither should stones which are grossly imperfect or of decidedly poor color be so classified unless they are of such a size as to be rare and desirable and valuable for that reason.

No imitation diamond can be described as a gem under any circumstances.

(15) In connection with the offering for sale, sale, or distribution of diamonds or articles set with diamonds, to use as part of any advertisement, label, packaging material, or other sales promotion literature, any illustration, picture, diagram or other depiction which either alone or in conjunction with accompanying words or phrases has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers or prospective purchasers concerning the type, kind, grade, color, cut, quality, size, weight, or character of any diamond, or which has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading the purchasing or consuming public in any other material respect.

(16) To use as part of any advertisement, label, packaging material, or other sales promotion literature, any illustration which exaggerates the size of a diamond inset or enlarges it out of proper proportion to the mounting, without clearly and conspicuously stating either the amount that the diamond has been enlarged in the illustration, or that the diamond in the illustration has been "enlarged to show detail."

(17) To represent, directly or indirectly, through the use of any statement or representation in advertising or through the use of any word or term in a corporate or trade name, or otherwise, that said member is a producer, cutter, or importer of diamonds, or owns or controls a cutting plant, or has connections abroad, through which importations of rough or cut stones are secured, or maintains offices abroad, when such is not the fact, or in any other manner to misrepresent the character, extent, volume, or type of business being conducted.

(18) To publish or circulate false or misleading price quotations, price lists, terms or conditions of sale or reports as to production or sales which have the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading purchasers, prospective purchasers, or the consuming public, or to advertise, sell or offer to sell diamonds or articles set with diamonds at prices purporting to be reduced from what are, in fact, fictitious or exaggerated manufacturer's or distributor's suggested retail selling price, or that contains what purport to be bona fide price quotations which are in fact higher than the prices at which such products are regularly and customarily sold in bona fide retail transactions. It is likewise an unfair trade practice to distribute, sell or offer for sale to the consuming public in such manner diamonds or articles set with diamonds bearing such false, fictitious, or exaggerated price tags or labels.

(19) To offer for sale, sell, advertise, describe, or otherwise represent diamonds or diamond-set merchandise as "close-outs," "discontinued lines," or "special bargains," by use of such terms or by words or representations of similar import, when such is not true in fact; or to offer for sale, sell, advertise, describe or otherwise represent such articles where the capacity and tendency or effect thereof is to lead the purchasing or consuming public to believe the same are being offered for sale or sold at greatly reduced prices, or at so-called "bargain" prices when such is not the fact.

(20) To advertise a particular style or type of product for sale when purchasers or prospective purchasers responding to such advertisement cannot readily purchase the advertised style or type of product from the industry member and the purpose of the advertisement is to obtain prospects for the sale of a different style or type of product than that advertised.

(21) To use sale practices or methods which:

a. Deprive prospective customers of a fair opportunity to purchase any advertised style or type of product; or

b. To falsely disparage any advertised style or type of product or, without the knowledge of the customer, to substitute other styles or types of products which the advertiser intends to sell instead of the advertised style or type of product.

(22) To advertise or offer for sale a grossly inadequate supply of products at reduced or bargain prices without disclosure of the inadequacy of the supply available at such prices when such advertisement or offer has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers or prospective purchasers.

(23) To describe, identify or refer to a diamond as "certified," or to use respecting it any other word or words of similar meaning or import unless:

a. The identity of the certifier and the specific matters or qualities certified are clearly disclosed in conjunction therewith; and

b. The certifier has examined such diamond, has made such certification and is qualified to certify as to such matters and qualities; and

c. There is furnished the purchaser a certificate setting forth clearly and nondeceptively the name of the certifier and the matters and qualities certified.

(24) To aid, abet, coerce or induce another, directly or indirectly, to use or promote the use of any unfair trade practice specified in this Article. (1957, c. 585, s. 2.)

Any person, firm, corporation or organization engaging in any unfair trade practice, as defined in this Article, shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor; and each and every unfair trade practice engaged in shall be deemed a separate offense. Article 17.

Closing-Out Sales.

§ 66-76. Definitions.

For the purposes of this Article, "closing-out sale" shall mean and include all sales advertised, represented or held forth under the designation of "going out of business," "discontinuance of business," "selling out," "liquidation," "lost our lease," "must vacate," "forced out," "removal," or any other designation of like meaning; "distress sale" shall mean and include all sales in which it is represented or implied that going out of business is possible or anticipated, in which closing out is referred to in any way, or in which it is implied that business conditions are so difficult that the seller is forced to conduct the sale; and "person" shall mean and include individuals, partnerships, voluntary associations and corporations. (1957, c. 1058, s. 1; 1981, c. 633, s. 1.)

§ 66-77. License required; contents of applications; inventory required; fees; bond; extension of licenses; records; false statements.

(a) No person shall advertise or offer for sale a stock of goods, wares or merchandise under the description of closing-out sale, or a sale of goods, wares or merchandise damaged by fire, smoke, water or otherwise, or a distress sale unless he shall have obtained a license to conduct such sale from the clerk of the city or town in which he proposes to conduct such a sale or from the officer designated by the Board of County Commissioners if the sale is conducted in an unincorporated area. The applicant for such a license shall make to such clerk an application therefor, in writing and under oath at least seven days prior to the opening date of sale, showing all the facts relating to the reasons and character of such sale, including the opening and terminating dates of the proposed sale, the opening and terminating dates of any previous distress sale or closing-out sale held by the applicant within that county during the preceding 12 months, a complete inventory of the goods, wares or merchandise actually on hand in the place whereat such sale is to be conducted, and all details necessary to locate exactly and identify fully the goods, wares or merchandise to be sold. Provided, the seller in a distress sale need not file an inventory.

(b) If such clerk shall be satisfied from said application that the proposed sale is of the character which the applicant desires to advertise and conduct, the clerk shall issue a license, upon the payment of a fee of fifty dollars ($50.00) therefor, together with a bond, payable to the city or town or county in the penal sum of five hundred dollars ($500.00), conditioned upon compliance with this Article, to the applicant authorizing him to advertise and conduct a sale of the particular kind mentioned in the application. The license fee provided for herein shall be good for a period of 30 days from its date, and if the applicant shall not complete said sale within said 30-day period then the applicant shall make application to such clerk for a license for a new permit, which shall be good for an additional period of 30 days, and shall pay therefor the sum of fifty dollars ($50.00), and a second extension period of 30 days may be similarly applied for and granted by the clerk upon payment of an additional fee of fifty dollars ($50.00) and upon the clerk being satisfied that the applicant is holding a bona fide sale of the kind contemplated by this Article and is acting in a bona fide manner; provided, however, that the clerk may not grant an extension period as provided in this subsection if (i) the applicant conducted a distress sale immediately preceding the current sale for which the extension is applied for and (ii) the period of the extension applied for, when added to the period of the preceding sale and the period of the current sale, will exceed 120 days. No additional bond shall be required in the event of one or more extensions as herein provided for. Any merchant who shall have been conducting a business in the same location where the sale is to be held for a period of not less than one year, prior to the date of holding such sale, or any merchant who shall have been conducting a business in one location for such period but who shall, by reason of the building being untenantable or by reason of the fact that said merchant shall have no existing lease or ownership of the building and shall be forced to hold such sale at another location, shall be exempted from the payment of the fees and the filing of the bond herein provided for.

(c) Every city or town or county to whom application is made shall endorse upon such application the date of its filing, and shall preserve the same as a record of his office, and shall make an abstract of the facts set forth in such application, and shall indicate whether the license was granted or refused.

(d) Any person making a false statement in the application provided for in this section shall, upon conviction, be deemed guilty of perjury. (1957, c. 1058, s. 2; 1981, c. 633, ss. 2-4; 1987, c. 387, s. 1.)

§ 66-78. Additions to stock in contemplation of sale prohibited.

No person in contemplation of a closing-out sale shall order any goods, wares or merchandise for the purpose of selling and disposing of the same at such sale, and any unusual purchase and additions to the stock of such goods, wares or merchandise within 60 days prior to the filing of application for a license to conduct such sale shall be presumptive evidence that such purchases and additions to stock were made in contemplation of such sale. (1957, c. 1058, s. 3; 1981, c. 633, s. 5.)

§ 66-79. Replenishment of stock prohibited.

No person carrying on or conducting a closing-out sale or a sale of goods, wares or merchandise damaged by fire, smoke, water or otherwise, shall, during the continuance of such sale, add any goods, wares or merchandise to the damaged stock inventoried in his original application for such license, and no goods, wares or merchandise shall be sold as damaged merchandise at or during such sale, excepting the goods, wares or merchandise described and inventoried in such original application. (1957, c. 1058, s. 4; 1981, c. 633, s. 5.)

§ 66-80. Continuation of sale or business beyond termination date.

No person shall conduct a closing-out sale or a sale of goods, wares or merchandise damaged by fire, smoke, water or otherwise or a distress sale beyond the termination date specified for such sale, except as otherwise provided for in subsection (b) of G.S. 66-77; nor shall any person, upon conclusion of such sale, continue that business which had been represented as closing out or going out of business under the same name, or under a different name, at the same location, or elsewhere in the same city or town where the inventory for such sale was filed for a period of 12 months; nor shall any person, upon conclusion of such sale, continue business contrary to the designation of such sale. As used in this section, the term "person" includes individuals, partnerships, corporations, and other business entities. If a business entity that is prohibited from continuing a business under this section reformulates itself as a new entity or as an individual, whether by sale, merger, acquisition, bankruptcy, dissolution, or any other transaction, for the purpose of continuing the business, the successor entity or individual shall be considered the same person as the original entity for the purpose of this section. If an individual who is prohibited from continuing a business under this section forms a new business entity to continue the business, that entity shall be considered the same person as the individual for the purpose of this section. (1957, c. 1058, s. 5; 1981, c. 633, s. 6; 1987, c. 387, s. 2.)

§ 66-81. Advertising or conducting sale contrary to Article; penalty.

Any person who shall advertise, hold, conduct or carry on any sale of goods, wares or merchandise under the description of closing-out sale or a sale of goods, wares or merchandise damaged by fire, smoke, water or otherwise or a distress sale, contrary to the provisions of this Article, or who shall violate any of the provisions of this Article shall be deemed guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1957, c. 1058, s. 6; 1981, c. 633, s. 7; 1993, c. 539, s. 519; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 66-82. Sales excepted; liability for dissemination of false advertisement.

The provisions of this Article shall not apply to sheriffs, constables or other public or court officers, or to any other person or persons acting under the license, direction or authority of any court, State or federal, selling goods, wares or merchandise in the course of their official duties; provided, however, that no newspaper publisher, radio-broadcast licensee, television-broadcast licensee, or other agency or medium for the dissemination of advertising shall be liable under this Article by reason of the dissemination of any false advertisement prohibited by this Article, unless he has refused, on the written request of any law-enforcement officer or agency of this State, to furnish to such officer or agency the name and address of the person who caused the dissemination of such advertisement. (1957, c. 1058, s. 7.)

§ 66-83. Restraining or enjoining illegal act.

Upon complaint of any person the superior court shall have jurisdiction to restrain and enjoin any act forbidden or declared illegal by any provisions of this Article. (1957, c. 1058, s. 8.)

§ 66-84: Repealed by Session Laws 1981, c. 633, s. 8.

Article 18.

Labeling of Household Cleaners.

§ 66-85. Labeling cleaners containing volatile substances capable of producing toxic effects; definition.

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation manufacturing household cleaners which contain volatile substances capable of producing toxic effects in or on their users when used for their intended domestic purposes to sell or offer for sale any such cleaner unless such cleaner shall be labeled with the word "caution" or other word of similar import and unless directions shall plainly appear thereon as to the safe and proper use of the contents. Such label shall identify the particular substance contained therein. The phrase "volatile substances capable of producing toxic effect" as used herein shall include, but shall not be limited to, the following: benzene (benzol), toluene (toluol), coal tar naphtha, carbon tetrachloride, trichlorethylene, tetrachlorethylene (perchlorethylene), tetrachlorethane, methyl alcohol, and aromatic and chlorinated hydrocarbons of comparable volatility and toxicity. (1957, c. 1241, s. 1.)

§ 66-86. Penalty for selling product in violation of Article.

Any person, firm or corporation selling or offering to sell any product in violation of the terms of this Article shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1957, c. 1241, s. 2; 1993, c. 539, s. 520; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 66-87. Injunctions.

Upon complaint by the Department of Health and Human Services, the superior court shall have jurisdiction to enjoin any sale or offer of sale which is in violation of the provisions of this Article. (1957, c. 1241, s. 3; 1973, c. 476, s. 128; 1997-443, s. 11A.118(a).)

§ 66-88. Application of Article after enactment of federal legislation.

If the Congress of the United States shall, at any time hereafter, enact in any form legislation designed to regulate the interstate distribution, labeling and sale of hazardous articles in packages suitable for or intended for household use, the Department of Health and Human Services shall, upon so determining, issue a proclamation to such effect and, from and after the date of such proclamation, this Article shall be applicable only with respect to intrastate manufacture, distribution, sale and labeling by persons, firms or corporations who do not comply with the federal legislation as to interstate distribution, labeling and sale of the materials or articles described in G.S. 66-85. (1957, c. 1241, s. 31/2; 1973, c. 476, s. 128; 1997-443, s. 11A.118(a).)

§§ 66-89 through 66-93: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Article 19.

Business Opportunity Sales.

§ 66-94. Definition.

For purposes of this Article, "business opportunity" means the sale or lease of any products, equipment, supplies or services for the purpose of enabling the purchaser to start a business, and in which the seller represents:

(1) That the seller will provide locations or assist the purchaser in finding locations for the use or operation of vending machines, racks, display cases or other similar devices, or currency-operated amusement machines or devices, on premises neither owned nor leased by the purchaser or seller; or

(2) That it may, in the ordinary course of business, purchase any or all products made, produced, fabricated, grown, bred or modified by the purchaser using in whole or in part the supplies, services or chattels sold to the purchaser; or

(3) The seller guarantees that the purchaser will derive income from the business opportunity which exceeds the price paid for the business opportunity; or that the seller will refund all or part of the price paid for the business opportunity, or repurchase any of the products, equipment, supplies or chattels supplied by the seller, if the purchaser is unsatisfied with the business opportunity and pays to the seller an initial, required consideration which exceeds two hundred dollars ($200.00); or

(4) That it will provide a sales program or marketing program which will enable the purchaser to derive income from the business opportunity which exceeds the price paid for the business opportunity, provided that this subsection shall not apply to the sale of a marketing program made in conjunction with the licensing of a federally registered trademark or a federally registered service mark, or when the purchaser pays less than two hundred dollars ($200.00).

Provided, that "business opportunity" does not include the sale of an on-going business when the owner of that business sells and intends to sell only that one business opportunity; nor does it include the not-for-profit sale of sales demonstration equipment, materials, or samples, for a total price of two hundred dollars ($200.00) or less. (1977, c. 884, s. 1; 1981, c. 817, s. 1; 1983, c. 421, s. 2; 1991, c. 74, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

In order for the Business Opportunity Sales Act to apply there must be a sale or lease of products, equipment, supplies, or services, for the purpose of enabling the purchaser to start a business; in addition, the seller must make one of the four types of representations listed in this section to the purchaser. Bunting v. Perdue, Inc., 611 F. Supp. 682 (E.D.N.C. 1985).

Violation Predating Effective Date of Article. — Where plaintiff initially contracted with defendant in June, 1976, over one year before October 1, 1977, the effective date of the Business Opportunity Sales Act, and all further contracts between plaintiff and defendant enabled plaintiff to continue and/or expand his business as an independent contract grower, none of them being for the purpose of starting a business, any violation of the Business Opportunity Sales Act, assuming its applicability, occurred before the statute became operative. Bunting v. Perdue, Inc., 611 F. Supp. 682 (E.D.N.C. 1985).

Precontract Dealings Regulated. — This section is not confined to regulating the behavior of the seller at the time the contract of sale is signed, but seeks to regulate precontract dealings as well. Martin v. Pilot Indus., 632 F.2d 271 (4th Cir. 1980).

When seller guaranteed income from a franchise, it came within statute's scope and had to comply with the act in its dealings with purchaser. Seller could not then remove the sale of the franchise from the act's requirements by later disclaiming any guarantee of profit. Martin v. Pilot Indus., 632 F.2d 271 (4th Cir. 1980).

Act Held Inapplicable. — Where the trial court found that no representations were made until after the sale was consummated and that the agreement was for sellers to be sales and purchase agents on a commission basis, based on these filings, the transaction did not come within the purview of the Business Opportunity Sales Act and plaintiffs were not required to comply with the provisions of the Act. Anchor Paper Corp. v. Anchor Converting Co., 79 N.C. App. 144, 338 S.E.2d 821, cert. denied, 317 N.C. 332, 346 S.E.2d 134 (1986).

§ 66-94.1. Responsible sellers exemption.

CASE NOTES

Purchaser's Remedies for Failure to Make Disclosures. — Where seller failed to make the disclosures required under this section, purchaser was entitled under § 66-100(a) to void the contract and receive all sums paid to seller. Martin v. Pilot Indus., 632 F.2d 271 (4th Cir. 1980).

Cited in Wiggins v. Triesler Co., 115 N.C. App. 368, 444 S.E.2d 245 (1994).

§ 66-96. Bond or trust account required.

If the business opportunity seller makes any of the representations set forth in G.S. 66-94(3), the seller must either have obtained a surety bond issued by a surety company authorized to do business in this State or have established a trust account with a licensed and insured bank or savings institution located in the State of North Carolina. The amount of the bond or trust account shall be an amount not less than fifty thousand dollars ($50,000). The bond or trust account shall be in favor of the State of North Carolina. Any person who is damaged by any violation of this Article, or by the seller's breach of the contract for the business opportunity sale or of any obligation arising therefrom may bring an action against the bond or trust account to recover damages suffered; provided, however, that the aggregate liability of the surety or trustee shall be only for actual damages and in no event shall exceed the amount of the bond or trust account. (1977, c. 884, s. 1.)

§ 66-97. Filing with Secretary of State.

(a) The seller of every business opportunity shall file with the Secretary of State two copies of the disclosure statement required by G.S. 66-95, accompanied by a fee in the amount of ten dollars ($10.00) made payable to the Secretary of State, prior to placing any advertisement or making any other representations to prospective purchasers in this State. The seller shall update this filing as any material change in the required information occurs, but no less than annually.

(b) Every seller shall file, in such form as the Secretary of State may prescribe, an irrevocable consent appointing the Secretary of State or his successors in office to be his attorney to receive service of any lawful process in any noncriminal suit, action or proceeding against the seller or his successor, executor or administrator which arises under this Article after the consent has been filed, with the same force and validity as if served personally on the person filing the consent. Service may be made by leaving a copy of the process in the office of the Secretary of State, but is not effective unless (i) the plaintiff, who may be the Attorney General in a suit, action or proceeding instituted by him, forthwith sends notice of the service and a copy of the process by registered mail to the defendant or respondent at his address on file with the Secretary of State, and (ii) the plaintiff's affidavit of compliance with this section is filed in the case on or before the return date of the process, if any, or within such further time as the court allows.

(c) If the seller of a business opportunity is required by G.S. 66-96 to provide a bond or establish a trust account, he shall file with the Secretary of State two copies of the bond or two copies of the formal notification by the depository that the trust account is established contemporaneously with compliance with subsections (a) or (d).

(d) The Secretary of State may accept the Uniform Franchise Offering Circular (UFOC) or the Federal Trade Commission Basic Disclosure Document, provided, that the alternative disclosure document shall be accompanied by a separate sheet setting forth the caption and statement and any other information required by G.S. 66-95.

(e) Failure to so file shall be a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1977, c. 884, s. 1; 1981, c. 817, s. 3; 1993, c. 539, s. 521; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 66-98. Prohibited acts.

Business opportunity sellers shall not:

(1) Represent that the business opportunity provides income or earning potential of any kind unless the seller has documented data to substantiate the claims of income or earning potential and discloses this data to the prospective purchaser at the time such representations are made;

(2) Use the trademark, service mark, trade names, logotype, advertising or other commercial symbol of any business which does not either control the ownership interest in the seller or accept responsibility for all representations made by the seller in regard to the business opportunity, unless it is clear from the circumstances that the owner of the commercial symbol is not involved in the sale of the business opportunity;

(3) Make or authorize the making of any reference to its compliance with this Article in any advertisement or other contact with prospective purchasers. (1977, c. 884, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Evidence Required. — Trial court erred by failing to make findings of fact as to whether defendant made representations of income or earning potential and whether it further failed to disclose information substantiating those representations. Wiggins v. Triesler Co., 115 N.C. App. 368, 444 S.E.2d 245 (1994).

CASE NOTES

Borrower Not Estopped from Contesting Compensation Paid. — The language in subsection (a) obviously contemplates that a borrower has received some form of "benefit" or service for which a broker received compensation; therefore, it logically follows that the fact that a broker rendered the agreed upon services to a prospective borrower would not estop the borrower from seeking recovery under the provisions of this section. § 66-112. Scope.

The provisions of this Article shall apply in all circumstances in which any party to the contract conducted any contractual activity (including but not limited to solicitation, discussion, negotiation, offer, acceptance, signing, or performance) in this State. (1979, c. 705, s. 1.)

(2) Have a duration of service that is a precisely measured period of years or any definite part of a year;

(3) Contain a full statement of the buyer's rights under G.S. 66-120;

(4) Contain, in immediate proximity to the space reserved for the signature of the buyer, in bold face type of a minimum size of 10 points, a statement of the buyer's rights under G.S. 66-121, in substantially the following form:

"You the buyer, may cancel this contract at any time prior to midnight of the third business day after the date of this contract. To cancel, you must notify the seller in writing not later than midnight of _____."
(1979, c. 833, s. 1.)

§ 66-120. Buyer's rights.

Every seller of a prepaid entertainment contract must:

(1) Deliver to the buyer all information of a personal or private nature, including but not limited to answers to tests or questionnaires, photographs, evaluations, and background information, within 30 days after request therefor;

(2) Refund to the buyer at least ninety percent (90%) of the pro rata cost of any unused services, within 30 days after request therefor, if:
   a. The buyer is unable to receive benefits from the seller's services by reason of death or disability; or
   b. The buyer relocates more than eight miles from his present location, and more than 30 miles from the seller's facility and any substantially similar facility that will accept the seller's obligation under the contract and this Article; or
   c. The seller relocates his facility more than eight miles from its present location, or the services provided by the seller are materially impaired.

(3) Refund to the buyer the pro rata cost of any unused services under all contracts between the parties, within 30 days after request therefor, if the aggregate price of all contracts in force between the parties exceeds one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500). Provided, if the contract so provides, the seller may retain a cancellation fee of not more than 25 percent (25%) of the pro rata cost of unused services on all contracts, not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500.00). (1979, c. 833, s. 1.)

§ 66-121. Buyer's right to cancel.

(a) In addition to any right otherwise to revoke an offer or cancel a sale or contract, the buyer has the right to cancel a prepaid entertainment contract sale until midnight of the third business day after the buyer signs a contract which complies with G.S. 66-119(4).

(b) Cancellation occurs when the buyer gives written notice of cancellation to the seller at the address stated in the contract.

(c) Notice of cancellation, if given by mail, is given when it is deposited in the United States mail properly addressed and postage prepaid.

(d) Notice of cancellation need not take a particular form and is sufficient if it indicates by any form of written expression the intention of the buyer not to be bound by the contract.

(e) For purposes of this Article, business days are all days other than Saturdays, Sundays, holidays, and days on which the seller's facility is not open to the buyer. (1979, c. 833, s. 1.)

§ 66-122. Rights and responsibilities after cancellation.

Within 30 days after a prepaid entertainment contract has been cancelled in accordance with G.S. 66-121, the seller must tender to the buyer any payments made by the buyer and any note or other evidence of indebtedness. (1979, c. 833, s. 1.)

§ 66-123. Prohibited practices.

(a) No person shall sell any prepaid entertainment contract or contracts which, when taken together with all other contracts in force between the parties have an aggregate duration of service in excess of three years.

(b) No person shall sell any prepaid entertainment contract unless performance of that contract is to begin within 180 days. (1979, c. 833, s. 1.)

§ 66-124. Bond or escrow account required.

(a) Prior to the sale of any prepaid entertainment contract for services which are available on the day of sale, the seller shall purchase a surety bond issued by a surety company authorized to do business in this State, as follows:

(1) The amount of the surety bond shall be equal to the aggregate value of outstanding liabilities to buyers, or ten thousand dollars ($10,000), whichever is greater. For purposes of this section, "liabilities" means the moneys actually received in advance from the buyer on or after January 1, 1993, for contract costs, less the prorated value of services rendered by the seller. The bond shall be in favor of the State of North Carolina and in a form approved by the Attorney General. The surety company shall have a duty to disclose the amount and status of the bond to the public upon request. Any person who is damaged by reason of the closing of a facility or bankruptcy of the seller, may bring an action against the bond to recover damages suffered; provided, however, that the aggregate liability of the surety shall be only for actual damages and in no event shall exceed the amount of the bond.

(2) The amount of the bond shall be based upon a written sworn statement by the seller under penalty of perjury stating the seller's outstanding liabilities to buyers. A corporate seller's statement shall be signed by the president of the corporation; the statement of a partnership shall be signed by a general partner; and the statement of a sole proprietorship shall be signed by the sole proprietor. The statement and a copy of the bond shall be filed with the Attorney General within 90 days after the first contract is sold and at 180-day intervals thereafter.

(3) The amount of the bond shall be increased or may be decreased, as necessary, to take into account changes in the seller's outstanding liabilities to buyers on a semiannual basis.

(4) The bonding requirement of this section applies to each location of the seller in any case where a seller operates or plans to operate more than one facility in the State. A separate bond for each separately located facility shall be filed with the Attorney General.

(5) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, no seller is required to purchase a bond in excess of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) per facility.

(6) A change in ownership shall not release, cancel, or terminate liability under any bond previously established unless the Attorney General agrees in writing to the release, cancellation, or termination because the new owner has established a new bond for the benefit of the previous owner's members, or because the former owner has paid the required funds to its members.

(7) In lieu of purchasing the bond required by subdivision (1), an irrevocable letter of credit from a bank insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, in a form acceptable to the Attorney General, may be filed with the Attorney General.

(8) Claims and actions by a buyer of prepaid entertainment contract services:

a. A buyer of prepaid entertainment contract services who suffers or sustains any loss or damage by reason of the closing of a facility or bankruptcy of the seller shall file a claim with the surety, and, if the claim is not paid, may bring an action based on the bond and recover against the surety. In the case of a letter of credit that has been filed with the Attorney General, the buyer may file a claim with the Attorney General;

b. Any claim under paragraph a. of this subdivision shall be filed no later than one year from the date on which the facility closed or bankruptcy was filed;

c. The Attorney General may file a claim with the surety on behalf of any buyer in paragraph a. of this subdivision. The surety shall pay the amount of the claims to the Attorney General for distribution to claimants entitled to restitution and shall be relieved of liability to that extent;

d. The liability of the surety under any bond may not exceed the aggregate amount of the bond, regardless of the number or amount of claims filed;

e. If the claims filed should exceed the amount of the bond, the surety shall pay the amount of the bond to the Attorney General for distribution to claimants entitled to restitution and shall be relieved of all liability under the bond.

(9) The seller shall be exempt from the bonding requirement if all of its unexpired contracts and present membership plans meet the following criteria: (i) no initiation fee or similar nonrecurring fee is charged, and (ii) at no time is any member charged to pay for the use of facilities or services more than 31 days in advance.

(b) If, for any reason, services under a prepaid entertainment contract are not available to the buyer on the date of sale, then:

(1) The seller shall establish a surety bond issued by a surety company authorized to do business in the State or shall establish an escrow account with a licensed and insured bank or savings institution located in this State. The surety bond or escrow account shall be in the amount of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) per location or in an amount equal to all contract costs received from the buyer, whichever is greater. The bond or escrow account shall be in favor of the State of North Carolina and a copy of the bond or escrow agreement shall be filed with the Attorney General prior to the sale of any prepaid entertainment contracts. The bond or escrow account shall remain in force until 60 days after all services of the seller are available to the buyer, at which time the seller shall comply with the bonding requirement of subsection (a) of this section. The escrow account shall be established and maintained only in a financial institution which agrees in writing with the Attorney General to hold all funds deposited and not to release such funds until receipt of written authorization from the Attorney General. The funds deposited will be eligible for withdrawal by the depositor after the facility has been open and providing services for 60 days and the Attorney General gives written authorization for withdrawal. Any person who is damaged by any violation of this Article, or by the seller's breach of the contract for sale or any obligation arising therefrom may bring an action against the bond or escrow account to recover damages suffered; provided, however, that the aggregate liability of the surety or escrow agent shall be for actual damages only and in no event shall exceed the amount of the bond or escrow account.

(2) The buyer's right to cancel the contract pursuant to G.S. 66-121 shall be extended until midnight of the third business day after the date upon which the services become available and the buyer is notified that the services are available. (1979, c. 833, s. 1; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 1009, s. 2.)

§ 66-124.1. Record keeping; provision of records to the Attorney General.

(a) Any person or business bonded under this Article shall maintain accurate records of the bond and of premium payments on it. These records shall be open to inspection by the Attorney General at any time during normal business hours.

(b) Any person who sells prepaid entertainment contracts shall maintain accurate records, updated as necessary, of the name, address, contract terms, and payments of each buyer of services. These records shall be open to inspection by the Attorney General, upon reasonable notice not to exceed 72 hours, at any time during normal business hours.

(c) On the permanent closing of a facility, the seller of the services shall provide the following information to the Attorney General within 15 business days:

(1) A list of the names and addresses of all buyers holding unexpired contracts;
(2) The original or a copy of all buyers' contracts; and
(3) A record of all payments received under buyers' agreements. (1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 1009, s. 3.)

§ 66-125. Remedies.

(a) Any buyer injured by any violation of this Article may bring an action for recovery of damages, including reasonable attorney's fees.

(b) The remedies herein shall be in addition to any other remedies provided for by law or in equity, but the damages assessed shall not exceed the largest amount of damages available by any single remedy.

(c) The violation of any provisions of this Article shall constitute an unfair practice under G.S. 75-1.1. (1979, c. 833, s. 1.)

Article 22.

Discount Buying Clubs.

§ 66-131. Definition.

For the purpose of this Article, a "discount buying club" is any person, firm or corporation, which in exchange for any valuable consideration offers to sell or to arrange the sale of goods or services to its customers at prices represented to be lower than are generally available. "Discount buying club" shall not include any cooperative buying association or other group in which no person is intended to profit or actually profits beyond the benefit that all members receive from buying at a discount; nor shall any person, firm or corporation be deemed "a discount buying club" solely by virtue of the fact that (i) for fifty dollars ($50.00) or less it sells tickets or coupons valid for use in obtaining goods or services from a retail merchant, or (ii) as a service collateral to its principal business, and for no additional charge it arranges for its members or customers to purchase or lease directly from particular merchants at a specified discount. (1981, c. 594, s. 1.)

Legal Periodicals. — For survey of 1981 commercial law, see 60 N.C.L. Rev. 1238 (1982).

§ 66-132. Contracts to be in writing.

(a) Every contract between a discount buying club and its customers shall be in writing, fully completed, dated and signed by all contracting parties. A copy of the completed contract shall be given to the buyer at the time he signs it. The contract shall in clear, conspicuous and simple language:

(1) State the duration of the contract in a definite period of years or months. If the contract may be periodically renewed, the contract shall state specifically the terms under which it may be renewed; and the amount of any renewal fees must be stated unless the contract meets the requirements of subsection (b) of this section.

(2) State that the buying club will maintain a trust account and bond in compliance with G.S. 66-135, and identify the location of the trust account and the name and address of the surety company.

(3) Contain, immediately above the customer's signature in boldface type of not less than 10 points size, a statement substantially as follows:

"You, the customer, may cancel this contract at any time prior to midnight of the third business day after the date of this contract. To cancel you must notify the company in writing of your intent to cancel."

(4) List the categories of goods and services the buying club contracts to make available.

(5) State the procedures by which the customer can select, order, and pay for merchandise or services and state the time and manner of delivery.

(6) State the method the discount buying club will use in setting the price customers will pay for goods or services.

(7) List any charges, however denominated, which are incidental to the purchase of goods or services and which must be paid by the customer.

(8) State the discount buying club's obligations with respect to warranties on goods or services ordered.

(9) State the customer's rights and obligations with respect to the cancellation or return of ordered goods.

(b) The written contract required by subsection (a) above need not be signed or dated by the customer if the following requirements are met:

(1) The total consideration paid by each member or customer does not exceed a one-time or annual fee of one hundred dollars ($100.00);

(2) The member or customer has the unconditional right to cancel the contract at any time and receive within 10 days a full refund of the one-time membership fee, or the annual membership fee covering the current membership period, whichever the case may be;

(3) Instead of the notice required in subsection (a)(3), above, the written contract contains on its first page in boldface type of not less than 10 points size, or not less than the point size of the contract terms or information printed immediately adjacent thereto, whichever point size shall be larger, a statement substantially as follows:

"You, the customer, may cancel this contract at any time and receive a total refund of any fees or consideration already paid for the current membership period. To cancel you must notify the company in writing of your intent to cancel."; and

(4) The written contract is mailed to the buyer on or before the date the membership is first charged or billed. (1981, c. 594, s. 1; 1989, c. 495, s. 1.)

Cross References. — As to contracts requiring writing, see §§ 22-1 through 22-4.

§ 66-133. Customer's right to cancel.

(a) In addition to any other right to revoke an offer or cancel a sale or contract, the customer has the right to cancel a contract for the services of a discount buying club until midnight of the third business day after the buyer signs a contract which complies with G.S. 66-132.

(b) Cancellation occurs when the customer gives written notice of cancellation to the discount buying club at the address stated in the contract.

(c) Notice of cancellation, if given by mail, is given when it is deposited in the United States mail properly addressed with postage prepaid.

(d) Notice of cancellation need not take any particular form and is sufficient if it indicates by any form of written expression that the customer intends or wishes not to be bound by the contract.

(e) For purposes of this Article, business days are all days other than Saturdays, Sundays, holidays, and days on which the discount buying club is not open for business. (1981, c. 594, s. 1.)

§ 66-134. Prohibited acts.

Discount buying clubs shall not:

(1) Represent to any potential customer that his opportunity to join is limited in time or that his delay in joining may subject him to an increased price. This shall not preclude reference to a general price increase that will take effect on a specified date.

(2) Discourage or refuse to allow potential customers to inspect all of their current merchandise catalogs and price lists during normal business hours at their place of business.

(3) Compare their prices for goods or services with other prices unless the comparison prices are prices at which substantial sales of the same goods or services were made in the same area within the past 90 days, and unless a written copy of the comparison is given to the buyer to keep.

(4) Fail upon the customer's request to cancel without charge any purchase order for:

a. Services, if such services have not been substantially performed;

b. Goods to be specially manufactured, if such manufacture has not been substantially performed; or

c. Any other goods, if they have not been delivered to the customer or consigned to a certified public carrier for delivery; within 90 days after the purchase order was received by the buying club. This provision shall not be construed to limit a customer's right to earlier performance created by contract or by any other applicable law or regulation.

(5) Charge any amount in excess of demonstrable actual damages upon a customer's cancellation of an order. (1981, c. 594, s. 1.)

§ 66-135. Bond and trust account required.

(a) Every discount buying club shall obtain and maintain a bond from a surety company licensed to do business in North Carolina. Such bond shall be in an amount not less than one hundred times the one-time or annual membership fee, or fifty thousand dollars ($50,000), whichever is greater.

(b) Every discount buying club shall hold advance payments for goods and services in trust in a separate account used solely for that purpose. The funds in such account shall be held free from all liens. Records of such account shall be kept by the buying club in the regular course of its business sufficient to identify the amount held for each customer, the dates of the receipt and withdrawal of funds, and the purpose of withdrawal. Such records must be retained for a period not less than four years following withdrawal. Funds may not be withdrawn from the trust account unless and until (i) the ordered goods have been actually delivered to the customer or consigned to a certified public carrier, or (ii) ordered services have been provided in full, or (iii) the buying club has refunded the customer's payment. Provided, the discount buying club shall not be required to comply with the foregoing trust account requirements if the discount buying club meets the requirements of G.S. 66-132(b), bills its customers through a credit card account and obtains and maintains an additional bond in the amount of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) from a surety company licensed to do business in North Carolina.

(c) Any person who is damaged by any violation of this Article, or by any breach by the discount buying club of its contract, may bring an action against the bond, provided that the aggregate liability of the surety shall not exceed the amount of the bond.

(d) Violations of subsections (a) or (b) of this section shall constitute a Class I felony. (1981, c. 594, s. 1; 1989, c. 495, ss. 2, 3; 1993, c. 539, s. 1282; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 66-136. Remedies.

(a) Any person injured by a violation of this Article, or breach of any obligation created by this Article or contract subject thereto, may bring an action for recovery of damages, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

(c) The remedies provided herein shall be in addition to any other remedies provided by law or equity. (1981, c. 594, s. 1.)

§ 66-137. Taxes.

Discount buying clubs must pay North Carolina sales taxes and other applicable North Carolina taxes. (1989, c. 495, s. 4.)

§§ 66-138 through 66-141: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Article 23.

Rental Referral Agencies.

§ 66-142. Definition.

For the purposes of this Article, a "rental referral agency" is a person or business which offers to assist any person in locating residential rental property in return for any consideration from a prospective tenant. (1981, c. 610, s. 1.)

§ 66-143. Fees and deposits.

(a) A rental referral agency shall not charge or attempt to collect any fees or other consideration from any prospective tenant except where rental housing is in fact obtained by such person through the assistance of that agency. For the purposes of this Article, such housing is obtained when the prospective tenant has contracted to rent the property.

(b) Deposits to be applied toward fees may be required by a rental referral agency pursuant to a written contract which includes provisions stating:

(1) The specifications of housing sought by the prospective tenant, including maximum rent, desired lease period, geographic area, number of bedrooms required, number of children to be housed, and number and type of pets;

(2) That the deposit will be refunded within 10 days of the prospective tenant's request should the specified housing not be obtained through the agency's assistance within 30 days of the date of the contract;

(3) That the rental referral agency will maintain a trust account or bond in compliance with G.S. 66-145, and identifying the depository institution or bonding company by name and address.

(c) Notwithstanding subsections (a) and (b) of this section, a rental referral agency may charge or retain from any deposit a fee, not to exceed twenty dollars ($20.00), even if the prospective tenant fails to obtain rental housing through its assistance, provided that the following conditions are met:

(1) Any and all advertising for the rental referral agency discloses in a clear and conspicuous manner the agency's name, the fact that it is a "rental referral agency" using that term, and the fact that it charges a fee; and

(2) If a prospective tenant contacts the rental referral agency in response to an advertisement for a specific property listed by the agency and inquires about that property, the rental referral agency shall neither collect a fee nor obtain the prospective tenant's signature on a contract without first verifying that the advertised property remains available and disclosing to the prospective tenant whether or not it is still available.

(d) Prospective tenants shall apply in writing for a refund no sooner than 30 days after the date of the contract and no later than one year after the date of the contract. If the prospective tenant does not apply for a refund before one year has elapsed, the fee shall be deemed earned by the rental referral agency and may be removed from the trust account. (1981, c. 610, s. 1; 1991, c. 737, s. 1.)

§ 66-144. Representations of availability.

(a) A rental referral agency shall not make any representation that any property is available for rent unless availability has been verified by the agency within 48 hours prior to the representation. The availability of property described in media advertisements shall be verified within eight hours before being submitted to the advertising medium and in no event earlier than 96 hours prior to publication of the advertisement.

(b) Notations of the time and date of verification and the verifier's identity shall be recorded by the agency and made available for inspection by any person from whom the agency has received a deposit or a fee. (1981, c. 610, s. 1; 1991, c. 737, s. 2.)

§ 66-145. Bond or trust account required.

(a) Every rental referral agency before beginning business shall establish a trust account with a licensed and insured bank or savings institution located in the State of North Carolina. Each deposit to be applied towards a fee collected under G.S. 66-143(b) shall be placed in the trust account and shall be withdrawn only to refund the deposit to the applicant pursuant to G.S. 66-143(b)(2) or when a fee is earned by the agency as provided in G.S. 66-143(a).

(b) A rental referral agency may elect to post a bond in lieu of the trust account required by this section. The amount of the bond shall at no time be less than the amount that would be required by this section to be held in trust. In no event, however, shall the bond be less than five thousand dollars ($5,000). The rental referral agency shall file the bond with the clerk of the superior court of the county in which its principal place of business is located.

(c) Any person who is damaged by any violation of this Article, or by any breach by the rental referral agency of its contract, may bring an action for the remedies referred to and provided in G.S. 66-146 against the bond or trust account; provided that the aggregate liability of the surety or trustee shall not exceed the amount of the bond or trust account.

(d) Violation of subsections (a) or (b) of this section shall constitute a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1981, c. 610, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, s. 524; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 66-146. Remedies.

(a) Any person injured by a violation of this Article, or breach of any obligation created by this Article or contract subject thereto, may bring an action for recovery of damages, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

(b) The violation of any provision of this Article shall constitute an unfair act or practice under G.S. 75-1.1.

(c) The remedies provided herein shall be in addition to any other remedies provided by law or equity. (1981, c. 610, s. 1.)

§§ 66-147 through 66-151: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Article 24.

Trade Secrets Protection Act.

§ 66-152. Definitions.

As used in this Article, unless the context requires otherwise:

(1) "Misappropriation" means acquisition, disclosure, or use of a trade secret of another without express or implied authority or consent, unless such trade secret was arrived at by independent development, reverse engineering, or was obtained from another person with a right to disclose the trade secret.

(2) "Person" means an individual, corporation, government, governmental subdivision or agency, business trust, estate, trust, partnership, association, joint venture, or any other legal or commercial entity.

(3) "Trade secret" means business or technical information, including but not limited to a formula, pattern, program, device, compilation of information, method, technique, or process that:

a. Derives independent actual or potential commercial value from not being generally known or readily ascertainable through independent development or reverse engineering by persons who can obtain economic value from its disclosure or use; and

b. Is the subject of efforts that are reasonable under the circumstances to maintain its secrecy.

The existence of a trade secret shall not be negated merely because the information comprising the trade secret has also been developed, used, or owned independently by more than one person, or licensed to other persons. (1981, c. 890, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Section 75-1.1 Applicable to Violations of This Act. — Section 75-1.1 is applicable to violations of the Trade Secrets Protection Act. Drouillard v. Keister Williams Newspaper Servs., Inc., 108 N.C. App. 169, 423 S.E.2d 324 (1992), cert. denied, 333 N.C. 344, 427 S.E.2d 617 (1993).

Duty to Maintain Trade Secret. — Subdivision (3)(b) of this section places upon trade secret owners an affirmative duty to take reasonable measures to maintain the information's secrecy as a definitional element of the property right. Glaxo, Inc. v. Novopharm Ltd., 931 F. Supp. 1280 (E.D.N.C. 1996), aff'd, 110 F.3d 1562 (Fed. Cir. 1997).

Establishing a Trade Secret. — Subdivision (3) of this section, defines a trade secret as valuable business or technical information that a) is neither "generally known nor readily ascertainable through independent development or reverse engineering," and b) has been subject to "efforts that are reasonable under the circumstances to maintain its secrecy." In order to resist a motion for summary judgment, plaintiff must allege facts sufficient to allow a reasonable finder of fact to conclude that his concept satisfies these two requirements. Bank Travel Bank v. McCoy, 802 F. Supp. 1358 (E.D.N.C. 1992), aff'd sub nom., Amariglio-Dunn v. McCoy, 4 F.3d 984 (4th Cir. 1993).

Factors in Determining Whether Information is Trade Secret. — Proper factors to consider when determining whether information is a trade secret are: (1) the extent to which it is known outside the business; (2) the extent to which it is known to employees and others involved in the business; (3) the extent of measures taken to guard its secrecy; (4) its value to the business and competitors; (5) the amount of money or effort expended in its development; and (6) the ease or difficulty with which it could properly be acquired or duplicated by others. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. MCI Telecommunications Corp., 132 N.C. App. 625, 514 S.E.2d 276 (1999).

A trade secret need not be comprised of positive information, such as specific formula, but can include negative, inconclusive, or sufficiently suggestive research data that would give a person skilled in the art a competitive advantage one might not otherwise enjoy but for the knowledge gleaned from the owner's research investment. Glaxo, Inc. v. Novopharm Ltd., 931 F. Supp. 1280 (E.D.N.C. 1996), aff'd, 110 F.3d 1562 (Fed. Cir. 1997).

Plaintiffs showed that projected launch dates and marketing plan for new drug was competitively valuable information, not generally known, sufficient to enjoin disclosure by former employee to his new employer, plaintiff's competitor. Merck & Co. v. Lyon, 941 F. Supp. 1443 (M.D.N.C. 1996).

Trade Secret Properly Found to Have Been Misappropriated. — The plaintiff, a lawn and landscaping corporation, presented sufficient evidence to support a finding that its historical cost information was a trade secret as defined by this section and that the defendant, an ex-employee, misappropriated the information in order to underbid and compete with the plaintiff. Byrd's Lawn & Landscaping, Inc. v. Smith, 142 N.C. App. 371, 542 S.E.2d 689 (2001).

Establishing Misappropriation. — Plaintiff proved a real threat of misappropriation of information by former employee to competitor where plaintiff showed employee had access to trade secret information, employee's new position involved similar responsibilities as his former position, and employee was not entirely forthright with his former employer regarding his new employment. Merck & Co. v. Lyon, 941 F. Supp. 1443 (M.D.N.C. 1996).

Trade Secrets Not Shown. — Plaintiff did not present sufficient evidence that its processes were trade secrets where defendant came forward with evidence that it could purchase the same technology on the market from three or four other vendors. FMC Corp. v. Cyprus Foote Mineral Co., 899 F. Supp. 1477 (W.D.N.C. 1995).

Where drug manufacturer's choice of solvent system, pH, temperature and seeding could or would determine the polymorphic form of ranitidine hydrochloride was generally known, it could not be a secret. Glaxo, Inc. v. Novopharm Ltd., 931 F. Supp. 1280 (E.D.N.C. 1996), aff'd, 110 F.3d 1562 (Fed. Cir. 1997).

The trial court correctly denied plaintiff's motion for a preliminary injunction where plaintiff did not establish a likelihood of success on the merits regarding its claim for trade secret protection because it failed to produce any evidence to show that company took any special precautions to ensure the confidentiality of its customer information. Novacare Orthotics & Prosthetics E., Inc. v. Speelman, 137 N.C. App. 471, 528 S.E.2d 918 (2000).

A prima facie case of misappropriation existed so as to support a preliminary injunction where defendant helped to develop software during his employ with plaintiff, had access to copies of the software source code prior to his resignation, and where it was practically impossible to make any substantial modification to the software without access to the source code. Barr-Mullin, Inc. v. Browning, 108 N.C. App. 590, 424 S.E.2d 226 (1993).

Animals in Research Projects. — What type and how many animals are going to be used in a particular research project is not a trade secret, nor is whether surgery is going to be performed or the type of anesthesia to be used. Pre and post operative procedures are not trade secrets, nor is how the animal's pain and discomfort are to be minimized nor the method of euthanasia, if any. S.E.T.A. Unc-Ch, Inc. v. Huffines, 101 N.C. App. 292, 399 S.E.2d 340 (1991).

An employee will not be enjoined from working for its former employer's competitor under the doctrine of "inevitable discovery" absent some showing of bad faith, underhanded dealing, or employment by an entity so plainly lacking comparable technology that misappropriation can be inferred. FMC Corp. v. Cyprus Foote Mineral Co., 899 F. Supp. 1477 (W.D.N.C. 1995).

Where price lists in a contract between a public hospital and a private HMO were not property of a private person within the meaning of 132-1.2(2), they were not trade secrets as defined by this section and were subject to disclosure under the North Carolina Public Records Act, pursuant to § 132-1 et seq. Wilmington Star-News, Inc. v. New Hanover Regional Medical Ctr., Inc., 125 N.C. App. 174, 480 S.E.2d 53 (1997), appeal dismissed, 346 N.C. 557, 488 S.E.2d 826 (1997).

§ 66-153. Action for misappropriation.

The owner of a trade secret shall have remedy by civil action for misappropriation of his trade secret. (1981, c. 890, s. 1.)

§ 66-154. Remedies.

(a) Except as provided herein, actual or threatened misappropriation of a trade secret may be preliminarily enjoined during the pendency of the action and shall be permanently enjoined upon judgment finding misappropriation for the period that the trade secret exists plus an additional period as the court may deem necessary under the circumstances to eliminate any inequitable or unjust advantage arising from the misappropriation.

(1) If the court determines that it would be unreasonable to enjoin use after a judgment finding misappropriation, an injunction may condition such use upon payment of a reasonable royalty for any period the court may deem just. In appropriate circumstances, affirmative acts to protect the trade secret may be compelled by order of the court.

(2) A person who in good faith derives knowledge of a trade secret from or through misappropriation or by mistake, or any other person subsequently acquiring the trade secret therefrom or thereby, shall be enjoined from disclosing the trade secret, but no damages shall be awarded against any person for any misappropriation prior to the time the person knows or has reason to know that it is a trade secret. If the person has substantially changed his position in good faith reliance upon the availability of the trade secret for future use, he shall not be enjoined from using the trade secret but may be required to pay a reasonable royalty as deemed just by the court. If the person has acquired inventory through such knowledge or use of a trade secret, he can dispose of the inventory without payment of royalty. If his use of the trade secret has no adverse economic effect upon the owner of the trade secret, the only available remedy shall be an injunction against disclosure.

(b) In addition to the relief authorized by subsection (a), actual damages may be recovered, measured by the economic loss or the unjust enrichment caused by misappropriation of a trade secret, whichever is greater.

(c) If willful and malicious misappropriation exists, the trier of fact also may award punitive damages in its discretion.

(d) If a claim of misappropriation is made in bad faith or if willful and malicious misappropriation exists, the court may award reasonable attorneys' fees to the prevailing party. (1981, c. 890, s. 1.)
