

Report to the North Carolina General Assembly

Feminine Hygiene Products Grant Program

§ 115C-377. (a) Program; Purpose. – The Department of Public Instruction shall establish the Feminine Hygiene Products Grant Program (Program) to assist public school units participating in the Program in providing students with feminine hygiene products at no charge to the student. (b) Grants. – To the extent funds are made available for the Program, the Department of Public Instruction shall award public school units grants of up to five thousand dollars ($5,000) on a first-come, first-served basis, and the Department shall prioritize awarding grants to public school units that did not receive an award pursuant to the Program in the previous fiscal year. No public school unit shall receive more than one grant per fiscal year.

(c) Reporting. – No later than March 15, 2023, and every year thereafter that funds are made available for the Program, the Department shall report to the Joint Legislative Education Oversight Committee on the public school units receiving grants under the Program, the specific feminine hygiene products purchased with the grant funds, and the impact of the Program on student health and well-being. (2022-74, s. 7.10(a).)

students have reported missing school or know someone who has missed school because of their period.

FY 25 Grant Program Highlights

Number of PSUs funded

In the 2024-2025 school year, NCDPI awarded 139 PSUs with a Feminine Hygiene Products Grant. More than double the awards made in the previous year.

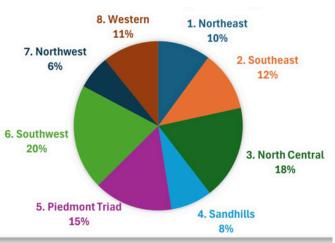

Funding and Award Amounts

Funding limit increased to $500,00 and grant awards to PSUs ranged from $100-$5,000/PSU.

Products Purchased

Most applicants indicated that they planned to purchase at least tampons and pads, and many indicated that they would also purchase other reusable products, such as period underwear, menstrual cups, reusable pads, and extra clothes and underwear.

Regional Distribution by SBE Region

Student Health and Well-Being

"Access to feminine hygiene products in public schools reduces anxiety and stress, allowing students to focus on their studies instead of worrying about menstrual issues. This access can improve attendance and foster a supportive environment, enhancing self-esteem and a sense of belonging. Additionally, it encourages open dialogue about menstrual health, reducing stigma and empowering students." - Pitt County Schools

INTRODUCTION

An estimated 16.9 million menstruating women in the United States are living in poverty. Of these women two-thirds struggle to afford basic necessities, including food, clothing, and period products. In North Carolina, 1 in 6 women and girls between 12 and 44 live below the federal poverty line, and 67% of female students in grades 7 to 12 attend Title I eligible schools. With menstrual products costing about 20 dollars per cycle, North Carolina students experiencing poverty are not always guaranteed access to products at home. Students who do not have access to products are more likely to miss school, in fact, 4 out of 5 students have reported missing school or know someone who has because of their period. Providing access to menstrual products in schools limits disruptions to instructional time, increases attendance and ensures students are able stay in school during their cycle, and takes financial burden off teachers and educators to provide supplies.

The codification of the Feminine Hygiene Products Grant Program was a huge step toward making an impact on period poverty in North Carolina by increasing access to supplies for students. The Department of Public Instruction's (DPI) NC Healthy Schools Section of the Office of Academic Standards provided an application to all public school units (PSUs) to apply on a first-come, first-served basis for the Feminine Hygiene Products Grant Program for funding of up to $5,000 to purchase feminine hygiene products. A total of 235 applications were received, with requests for funding amounts ranging from $100 to $5,000. With a funding limit of $500,000, NCDPI was able to award a total of 139 PSUs with a Feminine Hygiene Products Grant. The additional funding allowed NCDPI to more than double the awards made for the FY 2025 grant cycle.

The grant awardees indicated that they would use the funding to purchase products ranging from tampons and pads to underwear and educational materials on puberty. The PSUs also noted that the grants would provide much needed support for students to stay in school during the time of their menstrual cycle; ensure students can maintain good hygiene and reduce unnecessary infections; make products more accessible to students with transportation constraints or to those experiencing homelessness due to natural disasters; provide feminine hygiene supplies for those who cannot afford the expensive products, especially those in rural and low-income areas; reduce embarrassment associated with menstruation and not having necessary supplies; and offset teacher and support staff expenses for such products. Many awardees indicated that some students rely on their school to provide the feminine hygiene products they need, as their families may not have the financial means to purchase the products. Awardees also noted the toll on student mental health and self-esteem that not having access to feminine hygiene products can have, and how that correlates to increased time out of school.

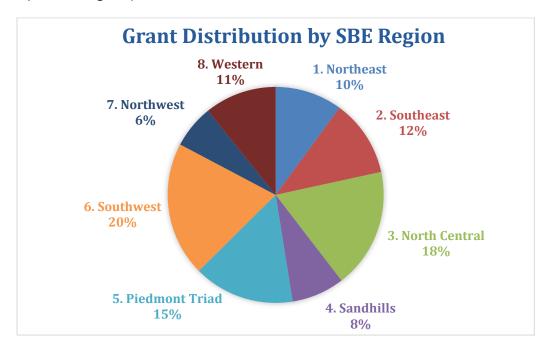

The following sections outline in greater detail the PSUs that received a grant and the amount they received; the types of products that PSUs indicated they would use the funding to purchase; and how the grant would impact student health and well-being. Appendices are also included to provide additional information on each awarded PSU's application responses and feedback on grant impact.

PSU GRANT RECIPIENTS

Within one week, DPI received 235 applications for the Feminine Hygiene Products Grant Program. Of the 235 applications received, DPI was able to award 139 grants to PSUs from each of the eight State Board of Education (SBE) Regions. Grant awards were distributed to 67 LEAs, 70 Charter schools, and 2 Lab schools. The following chart outlines the grant distribution by region (please refer to Appendix A for a detailed map of SBE regions):

The table below provides a detailed list of the awarded PSUs, their region, and the amount of funding they each received:

PRODUCTS PURCHASED

The PSU grantees indicated that they would use the funding to purchase basic feminine hygiene products, including tampons, pads, menstrual cups, reusable pads, and period underwear. Many grantees indicated that in addition to purchasing these menstrual collection products they would purchase other much needed hygiene products including panty liners, feminine hygiene wipes, period hygiene kits containing products, extra underwear and clothes/leggings for accidents, deodorants and soaps, puberty and menstruation education materials, product dispensers and receptacles, and reusable heating patches for menstrual pain. The following chart outlines which products PSUs said that they would purchase:

IMPACT ON STUDENT HEALTH AND WELL-BEING

Responses to the grant application demonstrated a great need for feminine hygiene products to be available in school, as school may be the only place some students have access to these products. Most grantees noted that access to supplies greatly improves attendance and academic outcomes. Grant recipients noted that the funding would help cover costs the district and/or staff and teachers incur to purchase feminine hygiene products; to alleviate reliance on and to supplement community-based donations; to expand or implement PSU budget for supplies to better meet student needs; and to ensure that all students feel safe, comfortable, and able to learn at school.

"JCPS serves approximately 3,600 students in our rural district. Many of our students were impacted by Hurricane Helene and accessing basic needs has been challenging. Having consistent access to feminine hygiene products will allow many students to remain in class and in school more consistently without disruption and will eliminate one more stressor from their lives.

-Jackson County Public Schools

Grantees in Western North Carolina noted that many students lost consistent or reliable access to hygiene supplies due to the impact of Hurricane Helene. Many grantees noted that a lack of access to feminine hygiene products resulted in embarrassment, anxiety, and negative mental and/or emotional health outcomes for students. The majority of grantees indicated that the funding would support students and families in their school community living below the poverty line or in rural or low-income areas. For these students and families, feminine hygiene products are an expense they cannot afford and therefore must rely on their school to provide these products.

Several grantees also noted the stigma, shame, anxiety, and embarrassment students experience surrounding menstruation because they do not have access to supplies and therefore are absent from

"This grant will provide necessary items to students and reduce the stigma and embarrassment often associated with menstruation and puberty. Allowing students to have access to hygiene products will increase their attendance as they will not have to stay home with menstruation-related issues. Access to proper feminine hygiene products can help prevent health issues related to poor menstrual hygiene. This grant will also help alleviate the financial burden on families by providing the resources needed to manage their menstrual health effectively."

school during their cycles. Most grantees also noted that the reliability of access to hygiene products in school would help students stay in school when they are menstruating and would alleviate negative mental health outcomes. Other grantees highlighted that having products on hand at school will better support younger students who start their period at school or may not have regular cycles yet. Grantees also noted that the funding will help support menstrual health education and hygiene. In addition, grantees commented on the impact the grant would have on students to maintain good hygiene and reduce the number of unnecessary infections from lack of access to feminine hygiene products. The following summary points outline in greater specificity awardee comments on how the grant would impact student health and well-being:

- Alleviate financial hardship for both schools, educators, and students.
- Give districts, schools, and teachers the ability to genuinely meet the needs of students when it comes to availability of hygiene products in school.
- Provide much needed support for families and communities that already rely on schools to provide feminine hygiene products to students.
- Support the most vulnerable students, including those experiencing homelessness and poverty and those living in low-resource areas.
- Decrease instances of multiple absences and continue to support students and families who continue to be impacted by the pandemic.
- Increase educational opportunities and academic growth because students can stay in school when they are menstruating.
- Remove stigma, anxiety, and embarrassment related to menstruation and period poverty.
- Improve student mental health, including reducing anxiety and stress when students do not have needed supplies.
- Increase awareness and education on the importance of maintaining good feminine hygiene practices, and reduce instances of poor feminine hygiene and health risks, such as infections.

"We have over 900 students experiencing homelessness, most of whom are females Some are in hotels, motels, cars, and doubled up. In addition, we have one of the highest numbers of foster care students in NC as well as students in poverty. These products will help reduce absenteeism brought about by not having period products, will enhance confidence and selfesteem of our girls as early as 5th grade who are menstruating and will reduce the financial cost to schools and the district."

- Cumberland County Schools

Address needs of younger elementary students who are starting their periods and may not yet understand the changes occurring in their bodies or have hygiene products with them at school.
 A complete list of grantee application responses on the impacts of student health and well-being by PSU, as well as additional information on their funding resources for hygiene products prior to receipt of the grant can be found in Appendix B.

"Access to feminine hygiene products in public schools reduces anxiety and stress, allowing students to focus on their studies instead of worrying about menstrual issues. This access can improve attendance and foster a supportive environment, enhancing self-esteem and a sense of belonging. Additionally, it encourages open dialogue about menstrual health, reducing stigma and empowering students."

CONCLUSION AND RECCOMENDATIONS

Based on the application responses and needs of the districts, the Feminine Hygiene Products Grant Program provided much needed support for PSUs, staff and teachers, students, families, and communities. As many grantees indicated, there is a direct link between student academic success, attendance, and the provision of hygiene products in school. When students know that they can access hygiene products at school and do not experience anxiety and fear of not knowing when or where they will have the products they need, they are able to learn better and are more likely to stay in and come to school during their periods. The grant program has not only helped students stay in school during their menstrual cycles but also has helped provide educational opportunities for maintaining good hygiene to increase knowledge and understating of menstruation and reduce instances of infections. The grant program has helped to support PSUs and students by removing financial barriers to products; decreasing stigma, anxiety, and embarrassment due to lack of access to products, and ensuring health and well-being is maintained so that students can continue their academic growth.

The DPI receives inquiries about the Feminine Hygiene Products Grant Program throughout the year, including inquiries on applying for funding and when or if funding might be available at multiple points during the school year. Since the program's inception, applicants and awardees continue to note the great need for the availability of menstrual supplies in schools, the positive impact on attendance and student well-being access to supplies can have, and the alleviation of financial burden on teachers and educators. The additional funding in FY 2025 has allowed us to fund more PSUs than ever before. Even with the increase in funding, NCDPI is still only able to cover a portion of the funding requests received for the grant. Continued expansion of the program would allow DPI to provide more PSUs across the state with grants for feminine hygiene products. It is rare that there is a solution so tangible with widespread impacts on student attendance and health and well-being as the Feminine Hygiene Products Grant Program. An increase in the program funding could have the potential to make statewide impacts on chronic absenteeism, academic success and outcomes, and the overall mental and physical health of students across North Carolina.
